Becomes A Democrat Lindsay Switches Party

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay switched to the Democratic party today "to fight for new national leadership." But he said he did not know if he will seek the Democratic presidential nomination next year.

"In a sense, this step recognizes the failure of 20 active years in progressive Republican politics," the mayor said in a statement.

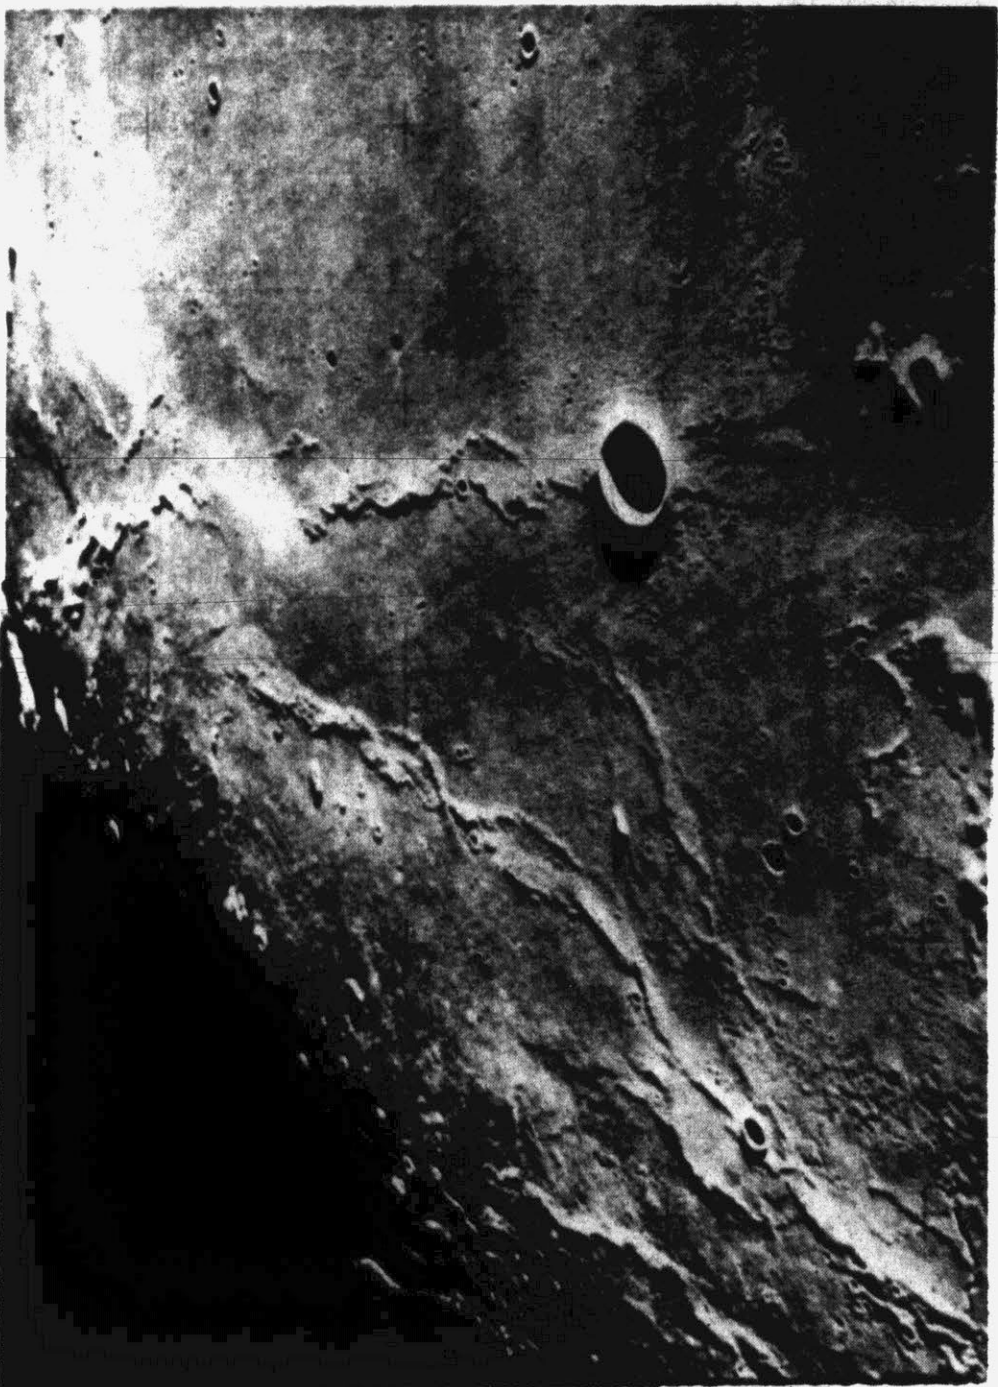

"In another sense, it represents a new decision to push for new national leadership," he added.

The tall, handsome mayor, who will be 50 in November, said he had "no illusions about the Democratic party," but that he would "work as a Democrat without abandoning my personal independence."

Lindsay, who served four terms in the U.S. House of Representatives as a Republican, was elected in 1965 as the city's first GOP mayor in 20 years. He was defeated for renomination in the 1969 Republican primary, but won in November over both major party candidates as a Liberal-Independent.

At a news conference in his residence, Gracie Mansion, Lindsay said the 1972 Democratic convention should be "as open as any in American history."

"Whether this means I will run for president, I do not know," he said. "But it does mean that I am firmly committed to take an active part in 1972 to bring about new national leadership."

Wilson's Tobacco Strike Is Threatening To Spread

WILSON, N.C. (AP) — A strike among workers in the tobacco processing industry at Wilson threatened to spread after members of the Tobacco Workers International Union rejected a company offer Tuesday.

Lionel J. Dugas, an international representative of the union and strike coordinator at Wilson, said union workers at the Jas. I. Miller Tobacco Co. had rejected a company offer to boost wages by 10 cents per hour.

The workers also authorized their union committee to call a strike "whenever they deem it necessary," Dugas said. He said the company will employ about 500 workers when the seasonal business of tobacco reprocessing gets into full swing.

According to Dugas, the union had originally asked a 50-cent hourly boost, but had scaled this down to 25 cents. He said the workers now get from $1.82 to about $2 an hour.

In commenting on the rejection of the company offer, Dugas said the workers took the position that the offer "is just not acceptable at this time because of the low wages they are paying."

An official of the company, Rutherford Polhill, had no comment on the situation.

Meanwhile, a strike continued at the Export Leaf Tobacco Co. where union officials previously had rejected the offer of a 10-cent hourly boost.

Dugas said union officials would meet Friday with representatives of the Imperial Tobacco Co. and plan to meet with union members after the negotiations session ends to "determine what action to take."

Will Confer On Higher Education Plans

RALEIGH (AP) — Legislative leaders will meet with Gov. Pat Taylor, the Senate's presiding officer and House Speaker Phil Godwin also are expected to attend.

Sen. Russell Kirby, D-Wilson, chairman of the Senate committee, said he expects a schedule of public hearings on restructuring higher education to be worked out.

The governor next Wednesday. Lt. Gov. Pat Taylor, the Senate's presiding officer and House Speaker Phil Godwin also are expected to attend.

Sen. Russell Kirby, D-Wilson, chairman of the Senate committee, said he expects a schedule of public hearings on restructuring higher education to be worked out.

He would like very much for the committees to come up with a recommendation that we can live with, and I have a firm opinion that we can do that," Martin said. "If the committees can't reach some solution, there is no reason for the legislature to reconvene. But I think we will reach a solution."

Kirby said he hoped the public hearings and committee action would lead to a short session.

"Certainly, I would contemplate less than a week," he said. "The length of the session will depend on how well the committee work is done before the General Assembly gets to Raleigh."

Scott has proposed that all of the state's 16 state-supported universities be placed under a single governing board.

Guerrilla Warfare Takes 20 Lives In Northern Ireland

By COLIN FROST
Associated Press Writer

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — British troops shot and killed two more gunmen in Belfast early today, raising death toll to 20 in the guerrilla warfare that has raged in Northern Ireland since early Monday.

More than 100 other persons have been wounded in gunfights, bombings and burnings triggered by the roundup Monday of more than 300 suspected members of the outlawed Irish Republican Army. Forty-eight persons have been slain in the communal warfare this year.

The British government announced in London that it was dispatching 550 more troops to reinforce the 12,000 soldiers hard pressed by the worst bloodshed since Ulster's six Protestant counties were separated from the rest of Ireland, which is Roman Catholic, half a century ago.

Gunmen believed to be from the IRA fired on troops and police. Mobs of Protestants and Catholics battled each other. Rival factions of the IRA clashed. And troops and police fought all of them in attempts to restore order.

The soldiers sealed off the Falls Road, Ballymurphy, Ardoyne and Ola Park Road areas of Belfast as those Catholic districts cracked to the sound of gunfire under the flickering light of burning buildings.

The two gunmen were shot when they opened fire on army patrols, military headquarters said. Three men were captured in the fight just before dawn. A few hours later troops moved into the area to flush out snipers and arrested 35 persons for questioning.

More than 100 shots were fired in Leeson Street off Falls Road in what appeared to be a battle between rival IRA factions.

Mobs of Protestants and Catholics tried to get at each other across Crumlin Road Tuesday night, but troops drove a wedge between them. As the mobs retreated, the soldiers came under sustained sniper fire. The troops flattened themselves on the sidewalk and poured bullets into the surrounding rooftops, which were lit by flares.

Police reported a civilian died in a truck overturned during another clash between Protestants and Catholics hurling rocks and bottles. A youth lost a leg.

As Belfast's night fell streets were deserted except for combatants. Troops came under "really vicious, highly controlled" fire, the army said.

Explosions damaged a movie theater and a garage. A bank blazed, and several homes were in flames, stripped of valuables as their occupants fled.

The Irish Republic reported 1,000 Catholic refugees had crossed the border seeking sanctuary. They were housed in converted army camps.

More violence hit Londonderry, Northern Ireland's second city, and Newry, its third. A sniper killed a soldier in Derry, and two other troops were wounded there.

A boy of 11 and another of 14 were seen placing a package outside an army recruiting office in Londonderry. Seconds later a powerful explosion wrecked the building and hurled a car 30 yards across the street.

Four other explosions filled the night air in less than seven minutes. One hundred rioters assaulted troops with rocks, flaming gasoline bombs and gelignite nail bombs.

At Newry, firemen who tried to tackle the work of arsonists found their hoses severed by rioters with axes and knives. In London, Foreign Minister Patrick Hillery of the Irish Republic was to meet with British Home Secretary Reginald Maudling.

Hillery was expected to urge a roundtable conference of all interested parties—the British government, the Republic and leading representatives of Northern Ireland's Protestant majority and Catholic minority.

British police kept close watch on power stations, gas plants and chemical plants in England in case the IRA tried to expand its sabotage operations. IRA supporters demonstrated in London outside the Home Office and said they would turn London streets "into Falls Road or Ballymurphys."

Utilities Budget Given Final Okay; Planning Line Is Recommended

Utilities commissioners Tuesday night gave final approval to the 1971-72 fiscal year budget and recommended a planning line between the Greenville and Winterville areas.

The $7,875,000 budget received tentative approval at last month's meeting. It was approved with some minor adjustments.

The zoning and utilities boundary between Greenville and Winterville resulted from a conference between representatives of the two municipalities. The conference was called because the planning and utilities areas of the towns have begun to overlap.

The group recommended a line from Cannon's Cross Roads west along White Road to N.C. 11. It would then run north along N.C. 11 to Reedy Branch Road, then south to the H. L. Bowen property and then west along the southern property line to Swift Creek.

If the city limits of either town are extended over the line, representatives will meet again to consider possible revisions.

The recommendations will be submitted to the Greenville Planning and Zoning Commission, the City Council and the Winterville Board of Commissioners for final approval.

Chairman Hoover Taft appointed Dr. Ray

Minges and City Manager Harry Hagerty to a committee to work on a plan for combining the tapping and main fees.

A committee was also appointed to begin study of converting to a data process billing operation for the Utilities. The possibility was raised of using a computer for combined Utilities and city billing.

Chairman Charles Horne reported on the $150 million bond issue authorized statewide in the Clean Water Bond act. If approved by the voters, the bond issue will provide funds for sewer and water work.

The allocation to Pitt County would be $1,087,500.

Chairman Hoover Taft indicated concern over complaints about electric bills.

He pointed out that Greenville Utilities recently adopted the same retail rate schedule that Veeco maintains. Since the schedule allows a lower price block for users of large amounts of electricity during winter months, this has the effect of bringing about a higher rate for large users during summer months.

"If people will just be patient and not use so much electricity in the summer, in the fall they will see the bills come down," he said.

New Low-Pollution Cars Put In Service By GSA

By HARRY EISENBERG
Associated Press Writer

BOSTON (AP) — "You could get your face right next to the exhaust and not see or smell anything," a government inspector said of low-pollution cars being put into use by the General Services Administration.

"These cars are about 95 percent emission-free," added Robert W. Kelly, an automotive inspector for the GSA.

Eleven of the vehicles—powered by liquid natural gas—were put into service this week by the GSA and long-range plans call for the agency to convert all of its 49,500 vehicles across the country within the next five years. Eighty-nine more are expected to be ready here within a few months.

The fuel system, however, still is — at best — some distance from the public market.

Under the Clean Air Act of 1970, manufacturers are required to produce a virtually pollution-free auto by 1976. But automakers have said it will be impossible to mass produce a substitute for the internal combustion engine in that time.

"Detroit is watching this experiment closely," said Robert L. Kunzig, GSA administrator. "Perhaps Detroit will come up with something similar, or better."

The government cars have their liquid natural gas stored—at 259 degrees below zero—in an insulated 20 gallon tank in the trunk. The gas cost the government about 16 cents a gallon, the same price it pays—tax free—for regular gasoline. The gas is purchased from a local company and stored in a fuel truck at the GSA center.

Mileage is about the same as regular gasoline, but there is no lead in the fuel and less wear on the engine.

Cost of the unit and installation, however, is the problem. The price of the tank, tubing and carburetor adapter is about $750. Installation takes two men a day, adding another $100 to $150.

"It's expensive," said James Mullin, a GSA official. "For the ordinary guy to put one of these in his car, he'd have to be pretty civic-minded."

Kelly doesn't contend the liquid natural gas cars are the solution to the auto emission problem.

"Look," he said, "anything that can get rid of pollution—even a little bit—in cities like this has got to be a good thing."

ARVN Rangers Are 'Surprised'

SAIGON (AP) — A Communist force surprised a company of South Vietnamese rangers during the night in the Mekong Delta, killing 13 and wounding 10, military sources reported today.

The 100-150 rangers were camped for the night 45 miles southwest of Saigon, and the enemy troops hit them before dawn Tuesday with grenades and machine-gun fire, then withdrew under fire from helicopter gunships and artillery.

The Saigon command said five enemy soldiers were killed and two were captured.

Ranger reinforcements pursued the enemy force and made sporadic contacts later in the day two to four miles from the camp. Eight more of the enemy were reported killed and five prisoners were reported taken. Sources said one more ranger was wounded.

Eleven more Viet Cong were reported killed in the delta during a sweep by 1,000 South Vietnamese soldiers 120 miles southwest of Saigon. Two South Vietnamese soldiers were reported killed and nine wounded. The drive was launched Tuesday after Viet Cong "tax collectors" invaded the village of Long Tanh demanding money.

At the northern end of the country along the demilitarized zone, South Vietnamese infantrymen clashed with North Vietnamese troops near Fire Base Fuller and reported killing three enemy. South Vietnamese losses were put at one killed and eight wounded.

Yard Sales Are Proving Popular

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

The cliché, "One man's trash is another man's treasure," seems to be confirmed by the success and increasing frequency of yard sales in this area.

A garage and yard sale held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Langley in Red Oak Subdivision on a recent Saturday is an example. Slated to begin at 9 a.m., the sale was underway at this time because browsers were already there, their cars lined up away down the street.

Mrs. Langley said all the items advertised earlier during the week in a Daily Reflector classified ad were sold when the sale began. A golf cart priced at $4 was the first sale of the day.

The Langleys had invited several of their friends to clean out their attics and come sell what they could. Everything from old picture frames to never-used percolators to children's books to ladies' wigs were displayed in the garage and in the back yard.

Most of the prices were ridiculously low. "None of us were out to make a profit," Mrs. Langley explained. "We just wanted to pass on things we no longer wanted ourselves to persons who might have some need for them. Sell, give, or trade — it didn't matter.

All kinds of shoppers showed up: antique buffs (There were some fine old pieces among the junk — some carnival glass, some well-preserved ornate frames, etc.) hard-core bargain hunters, people who were just passing by who had seen the sign. Even one or two antique dealers were spotted among crowd. They ended up giving more advice than accumulating items for resale.

"It was just a lot of fun," Mrs. Langley said, "something we'd talked of doing for quite a while because we enjoy attending other people's yard sales so much. There were no commissions, no set price scales, no rules at all. We did it just for our own pleasure and for the enjoyment of people who like this kind of thing. You could say we know the victorious feeling of having found a real bargain and we like to share it with others.

"We were surprised at the results, though. We cleared about $100 ourselves and our storage space is much nearer vacant than it's been in a long time.

Guess we'll just fill it up again, though, with our purchases at sales and auctions in the future. Why don't you have a yard sale? I can promise you all the people who participated in this one will be there, plus many who attended. They've got the fever now," Mrs. Langley said.

A Sad Tale Of An Affair, A Divorce And 'True Love'

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I am 41 and Viva, my wife, is 36. After 12 years of marriage, Viva had an affair with a guy at work. (I'll call him Roy.) It wasn't her first affair, and I don't think it will be her last. I couldn't take it anymore, so I divorced her and got our three kids. Meanwhile, Roy's wife wouldn't give him a divorce because she said she wasn't going to deprive their four kids of a father. Viva begged me to go with her and try to talk Roy's wife (I'll call her Minnie) into giving Roy a divorce so he could marry my ex-wife.

I went, and the minute I saw Minnie and she saw me, we knew we were meant for each other. We've been seeing each other, and she says she loves me, but she won't give Roy a divorce. I am going crazy!

So what do I do? Stop seeing Minnie? I can't. I love her. Or do I drive my car off a cliff? —GOING CRAZY

DEAR GOING: Don't look for any cliffs. In time, Minnie will realize that the kind of father she doesn't want to deprive her children of is not worth hanging onto. And if you and Minnie were indeed meant for each other, love will find a way.

DEAR ABBY: We live in a very nice apartment building, and our problem is the couple directly above us. They are "show people" and they don't come alive until 1 a. m. Abby, we know show people have to live, too, but we have to get our sleep between midnight and 7 a. m., and that's the time they do their house cleaning and listen to stereo and TV. And when they have company it's really impossible to sleep!

I have hinted a few times. ("Boy, that must have been some party you had last night!"), but that hasn't helped. We don't want to get nasty about it, but we were here first, and since our hours are more normal than theirs, we think they should be the ones to either move, or hold down the noise. So how do we get this across to them without making enemies? They are really very nice people otherwise. —UP NIGHTS

DEAR UP: Quit hinting and let them know that they are disturbing you. But don't expect instant silence. It's practically impossible to hold down the noise of normal living.

DEAR ABBY: I want to know if there is any way I can get either a legal separation or a divorce without having to spend a fortune. I could pay a few hundred dollars, but no more. I do not qualify for legal aid because my husband makes too much money. Of course what HE makes is not doing me any good because he refuses to give me any money, and I have none of my own. We have three children at home and I am extremely unhappy with my husband and want him out of my life, legally.

Please answer at once because I just can't take it any more. Thank you. —WITHHOLD MY NAME

DEAR WITHHOLD: I don't know where you live, but I suggest that you make an appointment with one of the most reputable lawyers in your community. Tell HIM your problem. You may get a pleasant surprise.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ART: Don't expect anyone to pin a rose on your nose. Conscience gets a lot of credit for that which belongs to cold feet.

Memories Of Irish Childhood Bring Thoughts Of Good Food

By TOM HOGE
Associated Press Writer

Rosaleen Fitz-Gibbon of New York's Irish Pavilion bubbles over with memories of her native Ireland, and one recollection is "fishless Fridays."

"Somehow Irish country people, even those living in coastal towns, ate fish only on Fridays," Mrs. Fitz-Gibbon recalled when I paid a recent visit to her colorful restaurant in midtown Manhattan.

"A fishless Friday meant that the day had been preceded by a heavy storm which prevented the fishermen from putting out to sea. How we children loved those days, because it meant a day of sweets," she laughed.

"Our mother never really thought of eggs as a substantial substitute for fish and, to our delight, would add fritters to the menu.

bringing the famous man a couple of pounds of Irish sausage and a bottle of Irish whiskey to wash it down.

Another anecdote tells of a reporter from an Irish newspaper who telephoned poet William Butler Yeats to inform him he had won the Nobel prize for poetry back in 1923. It meant winning about $28,000, the reporter added.

"Splendid, my good man," said Yeats. "You must come round to celebrate with us. We are having sausages for tea."

"One of my favorite sausage recipes is sausage pudding," said Mrs. Fitz-Gibbon. We serve it once in a while.

2 slices of bacon
1 tablespoon tomato ketchup
1 ounce cooking oil
salt and pepper

Dice bacon and mix with breadcrumbs, parsley, ketchup and gravy. Add sausage meat and sprinkling of salt and pepper and mix well. Put mixture in a baking tin well greased with the cooking oil and bake 30 minutes in a moderate oven. Turn into a large hot dish and surround with mashed potatoes sprinkled with parsley and chives. Platter can also be decorated with broiled halved tomatoes and small mounds of peas. Serves two persons. Good with chilled ale.

Mrs. Fitz-Gibbon smiled dreamily at the image of all those fritters.

"To us a platter piled high with sugar-dusted, golden coated morsels was heaven," she said. "Until you broke open the crust, you never knew what was inside.

"Sometimes it was pineapple, or orange or some kind of jam. More often it was banana or apple, or perhaps both. Anyhow, we all ate as if it was our last fishless Friday."

Other foods, particularly products of the pig, emerged from Mrs. Fitz-Gibbon's memory. Ham, pork, bacon and sausages, she reminded me, all are historic Irish fare. In times of need—and Ireland has had its share of such times—the pig was known as "the gentleman who pays the rent."

"When I was young," said my hostess, "we used to kill our own pigs and cure our own bacon. For days afterward, mother occupied the entire kitchen table making black puddings, boiling crubeens, or pigs' feet, and salting sides in crocks."

The making of pork sausage has been a tradition in Ireland. In fact, it is said that no compatriot ever visited Irish author James Joyce in Paris without

There's Never A Dull Moment With Careers

By KELLY O'BRIEN
Philadelphia Inquirer Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — What would you do if all of a sudden you found yourself in a phone booth at Kennedy International Airport talking to a contact in the underground resistance movement in Greece?

Well, is you were Jill Marti, writer, actress and producer of a talk show for WCAU-TV, Philadelphia, you would naturally catch the next flight to Greece and film a documentary for NBC's "First Tuesday" series.

"For a girl like her, it's all in a day's work.

Actually she hasn't always been a superwoman. After taking her B. S. (with honors) in political science at the University of Wisconsin, she says, "I didn't know what I wanted to do. I didn't want to go to work. I didn't want to stay at home either. Then I thought, why not go into communications?"

"As a political science major I was interested in government, particularly in the developing nations, and I thought, why not communications in this area?"

That's why Jill Marti came to Philadelphia—to get her master's degree at the Annenberg School of Communications at the University of Pennsylvania.

"While I was in a class one day there was a speaker from TV Guide Magazine—well I went up to him after his lecture, introduced myself and told him I needed a summer job. He said he'd see what he could do. He talked to the dean about me, but by that time he'd already decided he liked my smile, and I got a job as a researcher in the magazine's editorial department.

"I worked there the rest of the summer doing rewrites, features, columns and articles till one day I got a phone call from the top brass at the magazine. They told me, very politely, they were sorry but they really wanted to let me go.

"I was so upset. I couldn't imagine what I had done.

"That's when they told me Cleveland Amory was leaving the magazine (he was a critic) to do his own television show and he wanted me to go with him as a writer.

"I was so relieved, and I couldn't believe this was happening to me."

With the Amory show Jill went from writer, to associate producer, to producer.

When the show went off the air, Jill kept busy as writer, co-host and associate producer for a number of WCAU-TV prime-time specials. When she wasn't on the air she wrote and produced other shows. But even with all her talent, she eventually

Education TV Moves Nearer

Contracts have at last been let for construction of the transmitting station for UNC television near Farmville.

Motorists on U.S. 264 have for some time been able to see the transmitting tower which has already been constructed on the site south of the Farmville bypass.

It is anticipated that construction of the building will take approximately 120 days and four or five weeks will be needed to install and test equipment.

The station will telecast UNC-TV programs including in-school programs during the day and in-service and industry-directed programs for training in the early afternoon. Children's programs will be telecast during the late afternoon and informative, cultural and dramatic presentations during the evening.

The education programs are now being carried on Channel 4 at Chapel Hill and Channel 2 at Columbia. However, reception of these two stations is difficult in this area.

The new station will be ultra high frequency, the first in Eastern North Carolina. Since all television sets manufactured since 1964 have had UHF tuners installed, reception should not be a problem in our area.

Since the tower has been standing for some time near Farmville area residence have been wondering when the new station would go on the air. It will still be a few months; however the actual construction will soon be underway and then public television will be a reality for our area.

Eligibility Is To Be Tested

By BRYAN HAISLIP

RALEIGH — North Carolinians 18 to 21 years old can run next year for any office except governor, lieutenant governor, and the State Senate.

It could be a one-time opportunity. In the same election when their names would be on the ballot, voters would be deciding a Constitutional amendment to set the eligibility to hold office out of their reach.

That gives rise to the possibility that a person 18 or 19 years old could be elected eligible to hold office.

Defeat of the amendment would keep the option open; at the same time, it would leave in the state Constitution the invalid 21 age limit for voting.

"Every Qualified Voter"

The Constitution spells out specific eligible ages of 30 for governor and lieutenant governor, and 25 for the State Senate. All other offices — Chief Justice of the State Supreme Court to county commissioner — are open to "every qualified voter."

Lowering the voting age to 18, accomplished by an amendment to the federal Constitution which was ratified by the General Assembly, automatically put 18-21 year olds in that group.

The amendment is one of five authorized by the General Assembly for a vote of the people. The other four are to be submitted at "the next general election."

Similar wording would have offered a way out of the dilemma on the eligibility to hold office question.

Brock takes the view that, under such a designation, those amendments could be voted on this fall in the event Governor Bob Scott calls a statewide referendum then on two pending bond issue proposals. The bond questions are $150 million for water supply and sewage treatment facilities; and $2 million for a state zoo.

Remedy Foreclosed

As it is, the set date of Nov. 7, 1972, for the voting age-eligibility amendment precludes any remedy. When the legislature comes back in session this fall would be too late, Brock surmised.

The other four Constitutional amendments approved at the recent session are:

To require the General Assembly to prescribe maximum age limits for justices and judges, thereby fixing mandatory judicial retirement.

To empower the General Assembly to prescribe procedures for the removal of justices and judges for incapacity and intemperance.

To limit the incorporation of cities and towns within one or five miles of the corporate limits of certain other municipalities.

To set state policy for conservation and protection of natural resources: the so-called "environmental bill of rights."

Still another may come out of the fall meeting to deal with problems of higher education. There is strong sentiment for placing the mandate for higher education restructure within the Constitution to avoid legislative tampering.

Scientific Approach Justifies Moon Program

The Apollo 15 moon mission was spectacular. There were enough problems to make it dramatic and the superb television pictures which were beamed back may have made it the greatest television show of all time.

We should keep in mind, however, that the mission was first a scientific one and there is reason to believe that some of the rock samples brought back will unlock new secrets of the formation of the Universe and the beginning of life.

Study of the rock samples by our scientists will add immensely to mankind's knowledge and this is the only way that the huge cost of the moon exploration program can really be justified.

Columnists Say Firm Was Helped

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — A Louisiana restaurant cited by Senate foes of the Lockheed loan as the horrible example of the Nixon administration discriminating against small business while helping corporate giants has been, in fact, the recipient of very special government treatment because of political pressure.

Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee who fought the Administration's loan guarantee to save the Lockheed Aircraft Corp., brought up Bob and Jake's Steak House in Baton Rouge, La., during Senate debate on the Lockheed loan.

Long and Sen. William Proxmire of Wisconsin, who joined debate to shed a few tears for Bob and Jake's, tried to depict the restaurant as an example of small business discriminated against by the Republican administration. Inadvertently, however, they exposed a classic case of how much political pressure influences government loan policy.

Furthermore, it showed bad management rewarded by government subsidy is not limited to Lockheed-sized giants.

In his unsuccessful fight against the Lockheed loan, Long declares: "If you're going to help Lockheed, you ought to do something for Bob and Jake's restaurant in Baton Rouge, La." With Proxmire cheering him on, an arm-waving Long implored: "Why can't I get some help for Bob and Jake?"

The truth is that Bob and Jake Staples, friends and political supporters of Long, have been granted three loans by the Small Business Administration (SBA) totalling $363,700. What's more, a recent review by the SRA investigator showed several indications of apparent political pressure."

In a private memorandum, the investigator asserted that the original loan of $265,000 in 1963 "should have been declined." Considering subsequent rule violations and missed loan payments, he expressed surprise that an $85,000 loan was granted as late as 1967.

Actually, the $85,000 loan was rejected by the SBA on March 29, 1967. But after a telephone call from Long's office a few days later, the SBA reversed itself.

With such political clout, Bob and Jake have been able to thumb their noses at government regulations. SBA investigators found that the Staples brothers, owning expensive homes in Baton Rouge, doubled their salaries (to $30,000 each) while not repaying what they owe the government. At the same time, the restaurant's expenses soared with entertainment costs, including bands and floor shows. By midsummer 1971, the Staples were delinquent on 15 installments totalling $41,805.15.

As recently as April 27, Long's veteran top aide, Robert Hunter, telephoned SBA to urge more delay in repayment by the Staples brothers. But SBA's patience was running out, and, on July 8, it finally turned the case over to the Justice Department.

That did not end the political pressure. State Sen. Jamar Adcock, president pro tem of the Louisiana Senate and a candidate for governor, immediately contacted SBA in Bob and Jake's behalf.

Then came Long's harangue on the Senate floor, prompting John B. Connally, Secretary of the Treasury, to ask SBA why it was riling up Russell Long while the all-important Lockheed bill was still pending.

Other Editors Say Balancing Act

(The Raleigh Times)

President Nixon's "delicate balancing act on Southern school desegregation" — the definition aptly applied to it by the Associated Press — isn't going to help anyone concerned. It won't even help the President.

The President said, in his latest statement on desegregation, that "while the executive branch will continue to enforce the orders of the court, including court-ordered busing, I have ordered the Attorney General and the secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, that they are to work with individual school districts to hold busing to the minimum required by law."

Just what does that mean?

It doesn't forbid busing, though undoubtedly many would wish to interpret it that way.

It does hold out false hopes to people now in great and genuine distress because of busing, hopes that somehow the White House will prevent busing. It is so easy for people to forget that the President said that he would continue to enforce court orders, including court-ordered busing.

This sort of balancing act actually is just that, an attempt to walk a tightrope. And, everyone should remember that the most skilled tightrope walker in the world accomplishes nothing by his skill except walking a tightrope. He starts nowhere and he gets nowhere.

The President has shown an unwillingness to face up to the hard facts of the American civil rights charges. He has tried his balancing act on busing and on other phases of civil rights. He has tried valiantly to appeal to the deep South of his Southern strategy in politics thus rousing false hopes in the hearts of thousands of people.

Other presidents have faced up to their unpleasant civil rights decisions. Eisenhower sent federal troops into Little Rock. Kennedy sent federal troops into Ole Miss. Johnson supported extensive civil rights legislation, and backed up federal civil rights actions.

Unfortunately, Mr. Nixon appears unable to face many unpleasant facts. He hasn't faced up to inflation. He hasn't faced up to employment. He never did squarely face up to the railroad strike crisis. He hasn't faced the fact of the huge deficit, explaining it away that it wouldn't actually have been a deficit if there had been full employment, which is similar to a man saying we wouldn't have had full employment, which is similar to a man saying we wouldn't have had a drought if it had rained.

It is unfortunate, to say the least, that Mr. Nixon is trying a valueless balancing act on civil rights. The country is going to have to solve this problem and the country was on the road to a solution before too many more years. A balancing act can only delay finding that solution and delay can only mean more tension and more heartbreak for all concerned.

made the other day when a group of American State Department people found a new country named Red China. For years there had been rumors that there was a country in the Far East with a population of 800 million people. Yet no one in the United States would believe it.

But an expedition of senators led by Marco Fulbright came across it accidentally while looking for a new route to North Vietnam.

When the existence of Red China was reported, a meeting of all the top policy people in the State Department was called.

"If this is true," said one of the assistant secretaries, "that means the world is round."

"Hogwash," said another secretary. "We all know there is a country called China already, so how could there be another China? Look at our maps. China is right here in the Formosa Strait."

"That's right," a secretary said. "And our maps are all up to date."

"What's that large land mass across the water from it?" someone asked.

Taxes Flow Through Loopholes

By ELMER ROESSNER

The American tax burden is not only heavy, but unfairly uneven.

It was pointed out here last week that the total of federal, state and local taxes was approximately 44 per cent of the total personal income.

And a few weeks ago, Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., obtained data from the Treasury showing that preferential tax treatment gave beneficiaries tax deductions and exemptions totalling almost $44 billion (B) in fiscal 1971.

And the treasury omitted three of the biggest loopholes of them all!

Perhaps it didn't want to embarrass Senator Proxmire or other Congressmen who had voted for the loopholes, perhaps they have become so much a part of the tax system that they are generally accepted. In fact, you may hate me for bringing the matter up.

Two Big Loopholes

The first is the split-income provision for married couples. A couple can add their incomes, divide by two and pay tax on each half. Unless a husband and wife earn approximately the same amounts, this reduces their total taxes, especially when there is only one wage-earner in a family. In another way of looking at it, this means higher taxes for bachelors and spinsters.

The second unmentioned loophole is the exemption from income taxes of churches and religious organizations, educational disputed oil-tax exemptions, which saved investors a little less than $1 billion (B) in fiscal 1971.

The biggest loophole in the Treasury report to Proxmire is the deduction allowed taxpayers for payments of state and local taxes. This amounts to a Treasury loss of $5.6 billion (B) not counting owner-occupied homes!

Other big loopholes listed: excess of standard deductions over minimum, $3.5 billion (B); deductibility of charitable contributions, except for education, 3.5 billion (B); net exclusions of pension contributions and earnings for employees, $3 billion (B); deductibility of interest on mortgages on owner-occupied homes, $2.8 billion (B); costs of exemptions, retirement income credit and excluded Social Security payments, $2.9 billion (B); exemption on interest on municipal and state bonds, $2.3 billion (B); deductibility of property taxes on owner-occupied homes, $2.9 billion (B); $25,000 corporate surtax exemption, $2 billion (B); and 44 lesser deductions and exemptions.

These loopholes have the pattern of a grand scheme: everybody gets a few small loopholes so they won't complain about the bigger loopholes given to others. Even Senator Proxmire could be the beneficiary of some of these loopholes, including the stationary and other allowances given all Congressmen and not counted as taxable income.

Two Bills Would Curb Coin Reproductions

Reproducing foreign coins has become such a large and sometimes fraudulent business that two bills to curb it have been introduced in Congress. Representative Seymour Halpern, R-N.Y., has introduced H.R. 9780 requiring all reproductions to carry the year in which they were reproduced. H.R. 5360 by Representative James A. McClure, R-Idaho would prohibit the manufacture or importation of reproductions unless clearly so marked.

Both Congressmen expect there will be a flood of early American coins during the American bicentennial.

And Don't Take Change: It Wears Out Counter institutions, charitable organizations, certain foundation income, and a variety of other institutions.

The third is the initial deduction for individuals and couples, which makes some of the poor tax-free.

I cannot find current data on the total of these tax escapements, but perhaps Proxmire can. I have heard estimates ranging from $20 billion (B) to $40 billion (B) for the three. If the three loopholes were closed (they never will be!), the federal tax gouge could be reduced 20 to 25 per cent and state income taxes reduced proportionately.

Other Loopholes

In any event, each of these is far larger than the much-

Strength For Today

AN ALL-IMPORTANT TRUTH

The doctrine of the deity of Christ is basic to Christian thought and life. We often hear people say that they believe Jesus to be the greatest man that ever lived, the wisest teacher—in fact the only person of perfect character ever to have walked the earth—yet they cannot accept him as a Divine Being equal with the Heavenly Father in power and glory.

When one takes that position, he stands on shaky ground. We know nothing about Jesus, be he great Teacher or Saviour, except from our reading of the New Testament. There is no reference to him in literature contemporary with his career. But the New Testament does not present Jesus just as a great man and teacher but as the only begotten Son of God, the divinely promised Messiah, the Saviour of mankind from the eternal catastrophe of the eternal catastrophe of unforgiveness. No mere man, be he great as Jesus, can forgive sins. Only God can do that, which means that this Jesus was the incarnation of God Himself. In his teachings, Jesus repeatedly affirmed that he was indeed the Divine Son, the one into whose hands God had committed all power in heaven and on earth.

A denial of the deity of Jesus Christ is much more than the denial of one doctrine. It is the denial of Christ himself and of the solemn statements he made about himself and his work. The doctrine of the deity of Christ is, therefore, important for many reasons.

Bayh's Hoosier Troubles
One of several statewide polls secretly commissioned by supporters of Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York shows a startling outcome in Indiana: Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine several percentage points ahead of Sen. Birch Bayh of Indiana.

That not only exhibits the impressive popularity of Muskie in almost any state but points up the wisdom of his chief political organizer, Jack English, in proposing that Muskie challenge Bayh in his home state's Democratic primary instead of ducking it.

Moreover, as word of the Lindsay poll has circulated through Indiana Democratic circles, it has not helped Bayh's problem of convincing home-state supporters that he really is a credible candidate for President.

A Footnote: Bayh was irked by the recent trip to California by his senior Hoosier colleague, Sen. Vance Hartke. Many California Democrats got the idea from that trip that Hartke considers himself a darkhorse prospect for President. Deeply annoyed, Bayh passed word to Hartke that one Presidential candidate from Indiana in 1972 ought to be sufficient.

"It's marked 'unexplored.'"

"Perhaps that's where Red China is."

"I'm an old China hand, and I say there is no place called Red China. The only China is located on the island of Formosa."

"What proof do we have that there really is a country with 800 million people in it, except for the word of a few disgruntled senators?" an undersecretary demanded. "They're only trying to discredit our foreign policy anyway."

"There is no proof," a Far East expert said, "except the West Germans have announced they plan to build a $150 million steel mill there. I don't think they're put in that kind of money if the country didn't exist."

The secretary of state spoke up. "That is a point. The only thing I can't understand is how we could have missed it all these years."

"Perhaps there is a cloud cover over it all the time," someone suggested.

"Does the CIA have anything on it?"

"No Sir. They're as much in the dark as we are. The French, the British and the Canadians have all reported that they believe there is a Red China, but the Russians now claim it isn't there."

The old China hand spoke up. "Mr. Secretary, I believe we're only looking for trouble by following up the rumor. We already have a China. It's our kind of China. Another China would only mean trouble."

"But," said one of the other men, "if the reports are true that this land mass contains 800 million people, won't we have to deal with it sooner or later? I think we should announce that we don't believe there is a Red China, but if there is, we intend to contain it, but not isolate it."

The secretary of state said, "That's a good phrase, 'containment but not isolation.' I think I'll use it in my next press conference. Our only problem is that if we admit there is such a place, we might be forced to admit her into the United Nations."

"Precisely, Sir," a secretary spoke out. "Besides, we've told the American people for 17 years that there is no Red China. If we admit there is a Red China now, we would only confuse them."

One of the advisers said, "Seventeen years ago, the American people didn't believe in flying saucers either. Perhaps we could announce the existence of Red China and flying saucers at the same time."

ly ran out of things to do. There she was. Twenty-four years old, out of work and not a thing to do.

"My parents were planning a trip to Greece, and my mother suggested I go with them. Big whoop. What's a girl like me going to do in Greece with her parents? But the longer I sat there with nothing to do, the better the Greece trip started to look. I decided to go."

"Then something extraordinary happened. I got hold of an issue of Life Magazine and saw a Norman Mailer story in it I wanted to read. I started going through the magazine, and there was another story, one about Greece; 'Government by Torture. I was horrified. If this story is true, then I didn't want to go there and give them a dime of my money,' I thought.

"I made a bunch of phone calls—the writer of Life, the embassy and got hold of no one, they were all out.

"Well I didn't cancel the trip. I checked into Kennedy for my flight to Athens—and made one last effort to get in touch with Life Magazine reporter Christopher Rand.

"I got him on the phone and explained who I was and that I had read the story. I told him I didn't have a legitimate outlet for a documentary film just then, but that if his story checked out, I wanted to do one. I gave him the phone number in my booth.

"The next thing I knew I was talking to someone in the underground resistance movement in Greece. I explained my situation to them. They asked me to change my flight from Athens to Geneva and go to a different phone booth—the line might be bugged.

"The whole trip to Greece was like something out of a spy movie, only it was really happening. I did film a report and when I got back to the states I walked into 'First Tuesday,' and they bought my film."

After her free-lance work with "First Tuesday," Jill settled into a job as producer-reporter of another WCAU-TV daily talk and variety show hosted by the wife of New Jersey's Governor Hughes, "Betty Hughes & Friends."

The associate producer of the program says the show's her life—she lives with it during the day and takes it home with her at night.

Jill agrees. She says, "I'm always listening to what people are talking about and interested in. I try to incorporate that into our programs."

The last of the season's "Betty Hughes & Friends" was shot not long ago and the show is in its summer reruns. That means Jill was forced with another two months with nothing to do.

But she wanted to travel, so she called the American Friends Service and asked them that if there was anything she could do, they should let her know.

"I'm not a Quaker," said Jill. "I just like the things they stand for. They called me back and asked how I would like traveling in the East. The East—I thought they meant New York, Boston, Washington—no, they said, they meant the Far East. It seems the Quakers have projects they sponsor all over the world. And in addition, there is a diplomatic conference scheduled in the Philippines this summer to discuss the problems of Southeast Asia.

"Of course I said I would go."

Kidnap Warrant Issued Against A 16-Year-Old

EDEN, N.C. (AP) — The Federal Bureau of Investigation says a kidnap warrant has been issued against a 16-year-old Eden boy who forced an Eden woman to drive him to Virginia.

FBI spokesman said no arrest has been made yet in the abduction of Mrs. Robert Jerome Reynolds, who told police she was freed at Christiansburg, Va., after telling the youth she was going to pass out and wreck the car she was driving.

Police said Mrs. Reynolds told them the youth then drove off in Mrs. Reynolds' blue Volkswagen.

The FBI kidnap warrant was issued at Greensboro, N.C., according to the FBI office at Richmond.

Mrs. Reynolds returned to her Eden home late Monday after he husband drove to Christiansburg when police notified him of his wife's release here.

The youth entered Reynolds' home shortly before 9 a.m. Monday after Reynolds had left for work, according to Eden Detective Lt. Garnet Smart.

Mrs. Reynolds gave this account of subsequent events to police:

The youth demanded the keys to the Reynolds car, pulled a pistol and ordered her to get dressed to accompany him. He asked for money, but she told him her husband had banked all the money and she had none.

In Stuart, Va., the car stopped for gas but the youth forced Mrs. Reynolds to speed away from the station after getting the gas, because they had no money. When she complained that she was going to pass out, the youth let her out of the car in Christiansburg about 11 a.m. and drove on. Edens is some 20 miles south-east of Martinsville, Va., just below the Virginia-North Carolina boundary.

List 5 Persons Injured In 3 Accidents Tuesday

Five persons were reported injured in three traffic mishaps here yesterday.

Greenville police reported heaviest damage resulted from a 12:52 p. m. mishap on Memorial Drive at the Greenville Boulevard intersection that involved cars driven by Harvey Randolph Speller Jr., 21, of Windsor, and Margaret Burden Whitehurst of 1302 East Wright Rd.

Damage to the cars was set at $300 each by officers who charged Mrs. Whitehurst with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety.

Police said a passenger in the Speller auto was injured.

Drivers involved in a 4:30 p. m. collision on Memorial Drive, 100 feet South of the Arlington Drive intersection were identified as Edward Lee Godley, 21, of Washington, N. C. and Thomas Avert Williams Jr., 41, of Rocky Mount.

Investigators reported both drivers and a passenger in the Williams vehicle were injured. Damage was set at $200 to the Williams truck and $175 to the Godley car.

Godley was charged with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety.

Sarah Roache Penley, Route 2, Ayden was charged with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of a 3:03 p. m. mishap at the intersection of U. S. 264 and Evans Street.

Police reported the Penley car collided with a motorcycle driven by William Carlton Boyd, 22, of 1123 B South Washington St.

Boyd was reported injured. Damage to the motorcycle was set at $130 while damage to the car was set at $60.

Dr. Bland Will Deliver Paper

An East Carolina University biologist will deliver a paper and present a scientific display at the first international Mycological Congress in Exeter, England, next month. The conference is scheduled Sept. 6-16.

Dr. Charles E. Bland, associate professor of biology at ECU, will present a paper, "Scanning Electron Microscopy of Coelomocytes," which he co-authored with Dr. J.N. Couch. An exhibit will accompany presentation of the paper.

Varied Items Taken Up By Ayden Board

AYDEN — The Town Board here held its monthly meeting Monday night.

The board was asked to check on the regulations regarding the use of trailers and modular units inside the city limits if they are to be placed on permanent foundations.

It was requested that the board take some action in order to get a back ditch in Montclair Subdivision cleaned out. The board was also requested to condemn a house on West College Road so that it can be removed.

The board decided to buy an ad in the Ayden-Grifton High School football program, which will cost $50.

A public hearing on the Planning Board's plan to rezone the district between the bypass and highway 11 from residential to industrial was planned for the next regular meeting, which will be held the second Monday night in September.

Several appointments were made by Mayor Don Russell: Recreation and Town Promoting Committee Commissioner, Rex Smith; Library Commissioner, J. D. Allen; Fire Department and Industrial Development Commissioner, Harry Mumford; Commissioner of Recreational Services and Community Appearances, Paul Gipson; the Commissioner of the Good Neighbor Council, Downtown Development, and Junior Police Club Project, J. J. Brown.

North played cat and mouse in today's hand. When the first round of bidding revealed that his partner had a spade suit, he anticipated spirited competition, so he decided to give the appearance of taking a sacrifice by merely bidding one more than the opposition every time it was his turn to call. When he finally bid six spades, he was reasonably confident of success despite the paucity of high cards, for all South needed was a good spade suit and no more than one diamond—to be in position to establish the dummy, and restrict his loss on the deal to one club trick.

Had West opened the ace of clubs, declarer must go down to defeat, inasmuch as East's king of spades is securely placed behind the dummy's ace. West is not open to criticism however for leading the king of hearts. North ruffed with the three of spades and a small diamond was returned for declarer to trump in his hand as West followed suit with the jack. The queen of spades was led and when West showed out, discarding a heart, it became apparent that East held a trick in the trump suit. South must, accordingly, find some way to eliminate his club loser. This could be accomplished only by obtaining three discards in the diamond suit.

The ace of spades was played from dummy and South cashed the diamond ace next, discarding a club as West played the queen of diamonds. The ten of diamonds was led and East followed with the four. It appears that there may be a guess at this point regarding the distribution of the adverse diamonds—but South discarded the six of clubs without a moment's hesitation. West also discarded a club.

[Observe that if the diamonds are divided three-three, declarer cannot make the hand, because when the fourth round of diamonds is led, East will be in position to ruff in with the master trump and lead back a club while South still retains one card in that suit.]

East's king of diamonds, was trumped out next and a heart was ruffed in dummy; to lead one of the established diamonds on which South disposed of the king of clubs. East ruffed with the king of spades and returned a club. Declarer ruffed and claimed the rest, announcing that he would enter dummy via a heart ruff, and run the diamond suit to discard his remaining hearts.

Drug Traffic In Southeast Asia Heavy, Complex

By BERNARD GAVZER and PETER ARNETT

Associated Press Writers SAIGON (AP) — It was a scene long familiar in the war. Infantrymen lined the banks of a canal, their weapons trained on three boats in the coastal village of Rach Gia, where Viet Cong are known to roam.

But this was not a clash between the South Vietnamese army and the guerrillas. Both the infantrymen and the men on the boats were government forces. They were on opposing sides in a contest for a very special cargo: one of the largest drug shipments ever seized in Vietnam.

The July 26 confrontation, not described before in detail, highlights one of the problems of curbing the traffic of drugs to American GIs here:

A month-long study of the drug traffic in Asia produced these major conclusions:

—Chinese living in Southeast Asia form the well-buffered top level of narcotics traffic.

—The traffic operates with the tolerance and sometimes the cooperation of some South Vietnamese generals.

—The heroin is an end product of opium grown in safety in remote upland regions of Burma, Thailand and Laos, with Burma ranking No. 1. Meo tribesmen there harvest and produce an estimated 600 tons of opium a year.

The narcotics traffic is so deeply woven into the social and economic fabric of Southeast Asia that it has become a sort of native industry on which many depend for a livelihood.

At the center of the tense 15-minute confrontation in Rach Gia was a sampan carrying narcotics agents and part of the largest seizure of heroin and opium in Southeast Asia.

The agents called for infantry help when, according to a police official, three South Vietnamese navy speedboats tried to free two sailors arrested in the raid and also take the drug haul for their own profit.

With 100 infantrymen lined up on each side of the canal, the Navy boats backed off and the seizure was completed, according to agents who were at the scene.

Since then, South Vietnamese authorities have said nothing publicly about the arrested navy men or any investigation of their higher-ups.

Details of the incident were pieced together through interviews with American, Thai and Vietnamese police, officials and narcotics agents.

"We were sure the navy men wanted to capture the sacks of pure heroin and prepared opium which were found hidden in Rach Gia," said Col. Pramal Vanigbandhu, head of the Thai narcotics police in Bangkok.

Rach Gia was one of the key spots struck in the course of a 48-hour raid in which three nations—Thailand, United States and South Vietnam—took part of the first time. The 50 kilos pure heroin had a market value of $4 million.

In one phase of the operation, agents seized a Chu Chow Chinese—a group referred to as the Chinese "Mafia"—named Tap Vinh. The wealthy owner of a Saigon plastics factory, he was accused of being the financier and brains behind a major narcotics ring.

The Americans made no arrests. They have no authority to do so, though there is new urgency to American efforts to curb the flow of drugs. But they were with the Vietnamese special narcotics police who arrested a total of 10 Chinese and 15 Vietnamese, including the 2 South Vietnamese sailors.

With the seizure of the heroin and opium, authorities were able to put together the jigsaw pieces making up a secret, illegal narcotics smuggling ring characteristic of Asian drug traffic.

"The opium was harvested in Burma, in the uplands of the Shan State area," said Col. Pramal. This is territory in the hands of insurgents and remnants of left-behind units of the Nationalist Chinese Koutintang forces.

The KMT oversaw, for a fee, the caravans hauling raw opium to processing refineries in the Ban Houei Sai border district of Laos.

"We determined from records seized at Tap Vinh's factory that the heroin was aimed for the American GI market in Vietnam and there is sound reason to believe the opium was for Asian users," said the colonel.

The shipment moved along Thailand's Nong Kai Highway, getting through some 47 checkpoints undetected, to Paknam, the Bangkok port, where it was loaded in 22 sacks aboard a Thai fishing vessel. The boat put out to the Gulf of Thailand and on May 3 it rendezvoused off the little island.

Polonanyant, with a Vietnamese fishing boat which took on the cargo.

The large cache was split into seven loads and hidden mostly in Rach Gia and on Phu Quoc Island.

In Tap Vinh's operation, according to enforcement officials, once the heroin reached Saigon it would filter toward the Americans through his buffer echelons. He had five key subordinates, also Chu Chow Chinese, through whom it would first pass. Then it would go to wholesalers, who receive it in 350 gram plastic bags and buy it in "packs." A pack consists of two 350-gram bags.

Then it would go to Vietnamese retailers, who break it down into small vials containing from one quarter to one third gram of heroin. The street peddlers, bar girls, cycle drivers and usual street people then sell to the users.

Census Planned In New Guinea

PORT MORESBY, New Guinea (AP) — A census will be taken shortly in New Guinea following the recent Australian census.

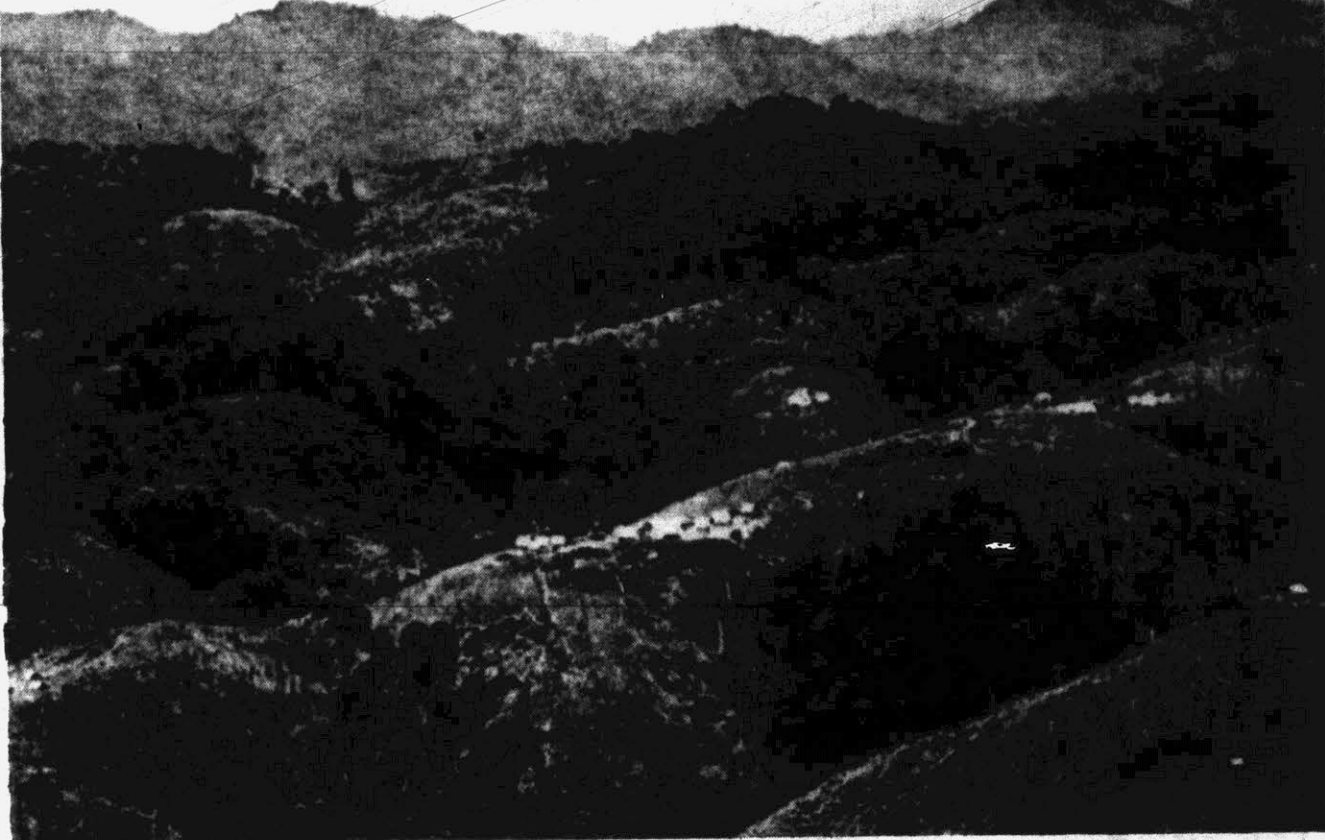

The government estimates the population at 2,312,000.

Even with the census, the number will still be an "estimate" because the government acknowledges census-takers will be unable to make a complete head count, and reach every one of the approximately 12,000 villages.

The speaker of parliament John Guise, claims census questions are too personal, and that he, for one, will not record his name, race or religion.

A Monument Will Mark Country Music's Start

By NANCY SHIPLEY Associated Press Writer

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The Carter Family and Jimmie Rodgers started it all in Bristol 44 years ago, and Bristol residents will unveil a 7-foot granite monument Aug. 16 to mark the birth of country music as we know it.

It was in August 1927, in the upper story of a three-story house on State Street's Tennessee side — the middle of the street marks the Virginia-Tennessee state line — that Ralph Peer supervised the first recordings of the Carter Family and Rodgers, the legendary "Singing Brakeman."

The Carter Family — A.P., his wife Sara, and his sister-in-law Maybelle — had come from the Macy Springs, Va., home in response to an advertisement in the Bristol Herald offering auditions to local musicians on the Victor Talking Machine. Rodgers, who had gotten wind of the auditions supervised by Peer, a talent scout for the old Victor Corp., made his way from his native Meridian, Miss., to the town.

The Carter Family, whose singing has been distilled from years of country music heritage, recorded six songs on that hot Augusta day. The songs that were soon to make them known from one end of the country to the other, were "Bury Me Under the Weeping Willow," "Little Log Cabin by the Sea," "The Poor Orphan Child," "The Storms are on the Ocean," "Single Girl, Married Girl" and "Wandering Boy."

Rodgers, already suffering from tuberculosis that was to claim his life six years later, talked Peer into letting him record solo two songs — "Sleep Baby Sleep" and "The Soldier's Sweetheart."

From their first recording session in 1927 to their last one on Oct. 14, 1941, the original

Carter family recorded more than 250 songs.

Typical Carter songs that became country standards were their version of "Wabash Cannonball" and A.P.'s original compositions, "I'm thinking tonight of My Blue Eyes," "Lonesome Valley" and "Jimmy Brown the Newsboy," among others.

Rodgers immediately became one of the hottest artists in the country after that first session. For the rest of his life he was one of the country's performing royalty. When he died in 1933, he had rolled up sales of almost 20 million records.

The Carter Family went separate ways in 1943. A.P. returned to Macy Springs where he lived until his death in 1960. Sara moved to California and Maybelle formed a new act with her three daughters — June, Helen and Anita.

GARAGE SALE

If we have it in stock, you get it on sale.

One of the nice things about a garage sale is that everything is a bargain. Well, your Chevrolet dealer's Garage Sale is no exception.

Except at this Garage Sale, every bargain is brand new. Because right now your Chevy dealer is busy cleaning out his entire inventory of '71 models to make room for the '72s. That's why now is an especially good time to save.

Plus, you'll have an especially good selection of new Chevrolets to choose from. Everything from Impala (America's most popular car) to Chevelle (America's favorite mid-size car) to Camaro (America's sportiest 4-seater).

So stop by your Chevy dealer's now, while his Garage Sale is going on. Chances are he's got the Chevrolet that's just right for you.

At a price that's just right, too.

Impala

Chevelle

The one option that fits every new American or imported, large or small or medium car or truck is a quick Wachovia Auto Loan.

And buckle both seat and shoulder belts. That's an idea you can live with.

You're back on Chevrolet Savings Time.

Soviet Isn't Aiding Arab Communists

By ALY MAHMOUD
Associated Press Writer
CAIRO (AP) — Communist infiltration in the Arab world is a mixture of success and failure. It has given the Russians a big voice in the area, but it hasn't done the Arab Communists any good.

For 15 years the Soviet Union has been the main supplier of arms to many Arab states. Thousands of Soviet technicians, army officers and diplomats roam about freely in some Arab countries.

The Soviets have undertaken mammoth construction schemes in Egypt and Syria. Egypt's billion dollar Swan High Dam, its near-billion dollar iron and steel complex at Helwan are examples.

The Soviets have gained strong footholds in the Middle East and at the northern gates of the African continent. But there is a growing trend in the Middle East toward rejecting local Communists, their ideology as well as their physical presence.

The 74-hour red coup in Sudan last month aroused so much resentment in Egypt and Libya that vigorous efforts were quickly mobilized to quench it. After Maj. Gen. Jaafar el Numairi was restored to power, he ordered a ruthless hunt for all Communists in his country.

Sudan's Communist party, although officially banned, counted more than 20,000 followers and was considered the largest and best organized in Africa and the Middle East. The failure of the coup has reduced its strength substantially.

Numairi's crackdown on the Communists and his execution of the Sudanese party's top leaders angered Moscow, which attacked Numairi violently in its newspapers. Numairi expelled Soviet and Bulgarian diplomats from his country, recalled his ambassador to the two Communist countries and sent his defense minister to Peking to discuss economic and military aid, previously supplied by Moscow.

At the onset of the coup, the Soviet ambassador to Egypt, Vladimir Vinogradov, was reported to have called on President Anwar Sadat and urged him to support the rebels. Sadat is said to have reacted angrily, telling the ambassador he could never do so.

Hours later, Boris Ponomarev, a secretary of the Soviet Communist party, met Sadat in Cairo and again appealed for support for the coup. Informed sources say Sadat replied that communism could never be accepted in the Arab world, and he would fight it unflinchingly.

Libya's leader, Col. Muammar Kaddafi, publicly attacked Arab Communists and declared he would oppose communism throughout the Middle East.

Sadat differentiates between friendship with the Soviet Union and acceptance of Arab communism.

Because its stakes in the Arab world are high, the Soviet Union seems, to have toned down attacks on Numairi and pressure on Sadat, and decided to drift with the Arab currents for the moment. Experienced observers of Communist trends in the Middle East say Moscow has always realized the futility of trying to implant communism in the Arab mentality, which is basically religious and conventional.

First Arrivals Came From Asia

CHICAGO (UPI)—Whatever the challenge of Leif Ericsson to Christopher Columbus as discoverer of America, "foreigners" came to the New World long before either.

Men of Mongoloid stock entered the Americas at least 20,000 years ago, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica, probably from Siberia by way of Alaska.

More Foreigners In Three Towns

BRUSSELS (UPI) — Three towns in Belgium have more foreign residents, mostly immigrant workers, than nationals, according to official statistics. In the coal mining town of Eisden, 60.49 per cent of the 3,240 population is foreign. At Perennes-les-binche 52.33 per cent and at Glain 50.57 per cent are foreign.

The Phoenicians of Syria perfected the first practical alphabet.

Sums Given To Stroke Victim

Contributions appealed for in a Daily Reflector article last week have brought stroke victim Levy S. Harris, 63, home from St. John, Mich.

The Salvation Army asked for $600 to pay for sending an ambulance for Harris, who had suffered a paralyzing and speech-arresting stroke while visiting in Michigan. The Pitt Ambulance Service brought him to Pitt Memorial Hospital Saturday.

Capt. Smith of the Salvation Army said all but $183 of payment on the bill has been raised. The generosity of area people was heartwarming, he commented.

Member Of Original EC Faculty Is Dead

Miss Kate Watkins Lewis, 92, died in River View Nursing Home in Washington Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock.

Funeral services will be conducted at three o'clock Thursday afternoon at the First Presbyterian Church in Greenville by her pastor, the Rev. Richard R. Gammon. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery. The body will be taken from the Wilkerson Funeral Home to the Church at the funeral hour.

Miss Lewis, born in Halifax County, Virginia, was reared at "Alta Villa" near Milton, N.C. She was a graduate of Peace Institute in Raleigh.

One of the original faculty members to teach at East Carolina Teachers Training School when it was established in Greenville in 1909, Miss Lewis was the school's first art instructor. Miss Lewis was the last surviving member of the university's original faculty body.

When Rawl Hall was completed the autumn of 1959, Miss Lewis, then retired, attended the dedication ceremony at which the art gallery on the third floor was named in her honor. Dr. Wellington Gray, current chairman of the School of Art, indicates plans for the new art building to be constructed will have a gallery to be named in memory of Miss Lewis. Also, one of the entry gates to the university on Fifth Street is named in honor of Miss Lewis.

Miss Lewis was a member of the First Presbyterian Church in Greenville and was active in various phases of church work. She taught a Sunday School Class that was known as the "Kate Lewis Bible Class" for many years. She was also instrumental in teaching at Hollywood Presbyterian Church near Greenville before they had a regular minister. Miss Lewis was a life member of the First Presbyterian's Women of the Church.

Miss Lewis was initiated into the Delta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma International Teachers Honorary Society in Raleigh in October 1937 and was a charter member of the Greenville Society.

Surviving are a sister, Mrs. Sallie Lewis Davis of Henderson; and a number of nieces and nephews.

MAURY — Mr. Robert Lee Spikes, 90, died in a Farmville Rest Home early Wednesday morning.

A native of Greene County, Mr. Spikes was a retired machinist who had lived in Maury and Farmville most of his life.

Funeral services will be conducted Friday at 2 p.m. at Farmer Funeral Chapel in Ayden by the Rev. L. B. Manning. Burial will follow in the Snow Hill Cemetery.

Surviving him are three daughters, Mrs. Nora Lee Jones and Mrs. W. E. Cash, both of Maury, and Mrs. Claude Tyson of Snow Hill; three sons, Robert W. Spikes of Grifton, Hubert A. Spikes of Maury, and Marion Spikes of Hyattsville, Md.; 37 grandchildren; 13 great grandchildren; and three great great grandchildren.

Pierce

FALKLAND — Mr. Burt H. Pierce, 58, of Falkland died Wednesday morning at Pitt Memorial Hospital.

Mr. Pierce was a veteran of World War II.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. C. E. Pierce of Falkland, and four sisters: Mrs. L. C. Powell, Jr., of Wilson; Mrs. Hazel Chapman of Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. Anna W. Villwork of Atlanta, Ga.; and Mrs. Muriel Savage of Glenn Burnie, Md.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Participants and their hometowns include:

GREENE COUNTY, Snow Hill — Carolyn R. Newcomb.
 MARTIN COUNTY, Williamston — Peggy Cherry.

PITT COUNTY, Greenville — Ingrid P. Gibbons, Scott Smiley, Kyung Kim, Kay P. Taylor, Gayla Hunt, Dawn Flye, Ann Watson, Myra R. Farrow, Sharon Smith, Vivian Dean.

Held Hearing On Dismissal

An administrative hearing into the dismissal of a police department lieutenant here last week was held yesterday by City Manager Harry Hagerty.

William Waters requested the hearing last week after being dismissed from the department by Chief Glenn Cannon for what the chief described as "conduct unbecoming an officer and insubordination."

The city manager heard testimony from Chief Cannon, Waters and several witnesses tendered by Waters yesterday. Waters and his witnesses disputed testimony as presented by Chief Cannon.

Hagerty continued the hearing until possibly Thursday night in order to hear additional witnesses.

New Chief Takes Over August 15

WINTERVILLE — Earl N. Curry will begin duties as the Chief of Police here August 15. Curry was formerly employed as a security guard at Burroughs-Wellcome. He has been working with the police force part time for the past 30 days.

Curry, 41, his wife and their child presently reside in Winterville.

W. E. Ennis, the Current Chief of Police, will work with the police force on a part time basis.

Pirates Shutout Seahawks Behind Godwin

Number 500

KILLEBREW'S 500th — Harmon Killebrew of the Minnesota Twins became only the 10th player in major league history to hit 500 career home runs with a first-inning blast off

Baltimore's Mike Cuellar Tuesday night. Killebrew added No. 501 in the sixth inning, but the Orioles won 4-3 in 10 innings. (AP Wirephoto)

Orioles Take Lustre Off Killebrew's Feat

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Baltimore Orioles spoiled Harmon Killebrew's little party but the Chicago White Sox couldn't do much to dampen Sam McDowell's celebration.
Killebrew snapped a long dry spell with his 500th career home run and then added another for good measure Tuesday night, but it wasn't enough for Minnesota and the Orioles overtook the Twins 4-3 in 10 innings.
McDowell, absent in a contract dispute since July 31, returned to Cleveland and combined with two relievers for a six-hitter, beating the White Sox 4-1.

In other American League action Tuesday, Detroit walloped Milwaukee 12-3, California stopped New York 7-6, Kansas City swept a doubleheader from Washington 9-2 and 3-1, and Oakland took a pair from Boston 6-5 and 7-5.

In the National League, Chicago edged Pittsburgh 2-1, Atlanta shaded St. Louis 2-1, Houston topped Cincinnati 3-2, New York downed San Diego 6-4, Los Angeles defeated Philadelphia 6-1 and San Francisco edged Montreal 1-0.

Killebrew became the 10th man in major league history to reach 500 career homers when he unloaded on Baltimore left-hander Mike Cuellar in the first inning.

He had hit No. 498 on June 22 and No. 499 on July 25. When he got to the Twins' dugout after circling the bases to a tremendous ovation from the Minnesota fans, Manager Bill Rigney kidded him, saying, "don't let it be so long between 500 and 501."

Killebrew didn't. He unloaded on Cuellar again in the sixth inning, tying the score at 3-3. It stayed that way until the 10th when Merv Rettenmund broke the tie with a Baltimore homer—the 33rd of his career—giving the Birds and Cuellar, the victory.

"They don't matter," said Killebrew of his homers, "if you don't win."

McDowell, making his first start since July 27, remembered to win his game. The tall left-hander hurled six shutout innings before leaving the game and Alan Foster and Phil Hennigan finished up, nailing down Sudden Sam's 11th victory of the season.

McDowell allowed just four hits, struck out seven and walked two as he beat Chicago for the third straight time.

Dick McAuliffe, Norm Cash and Bill Freehan drove in three runs apiece, leading Detroit to its romp over Milwaukee.

McAuliffe contributed a triple and homer and Freehan and Cash also homered as Joe Coleman, 13-6, coasted to his sixth consecutive victory. He surrendered eight hits—four of them by Tommy Harper.

Freehan's homer—his 17th of the season—gave him four in the last two games.
Jim Spencer and Roger Repoz pumped a pair of eighth-inning homers, breaking a tie and moving California past the New York Yankees.

Peninsula On Top

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Peninsula is still on top of the Carolina League today because of a Burlington victory Tuesday.

Burlington rallied for five runs in the sixth inning, including three on a homer by Steve Eckinger, to whip surging Kinston 5-2 in the second game of a doubleheader after Kinston had won the opener 5-1.

If Kinston had won both games, it would have slipped ahead of Peninsula, which lost to Salem 6-5.

Salem rampaged in the first three innings for six extra-base hits and then stood off a Peninsula rally. Homers by Perry Dunn and Jose Gonzalez featured a four-run Salem spurge in the first inning.

Rocky Mount's Jim Harris pitched a 5-hit shutout in a 2-0 win over Winston-Salem. An unearned run in the second and a homer by Mark Geigler in the fifth gave Harris all the margin he needed.

Ron Davini clouted a two-run homer in the second inning of a 6-1 win by the Lynchburg Twins over Raleigh-Durham. The victory gave pitcher Arnie Johannes his 14th victory of the season.

Tonight's schedule: Salem at Peninsula, Winston-Salem at Rocky Mount, Burlington at Kinston and Raleigh-Durham at Lynchburg.

A Detroit Tiger has won the American League batting title 22 times.

WILMINGTON — East Carolina University's Phil Godwin survived a shaky first inning start against UNC-Wilmington here Tuesday night, then settled down to pitch the Pirates to a 4-0 win over the Seahawks.
The win halted a recent slump for the Pirates who saw their record slip to 14-20 prior to last night's game. The ECU ledger now stands at 15-20 with one game remaining, a home contest Thursday night against Campbell. Wilmington has a 22-13 mark with one game left.

The Pirates pushed across one run in the first inning without the benefit of a hit and, as it turned out, the run was all Godwin needed to gain his second shutout over the Seahawks.

Bradshaw led off the first for ECU and reached on an error. The Pirate shortstop moved down to second on a passed ball and on to third on a single by Ralph Lamm. A wild pitch allowed Bradshaw to come home.

Godwin hit the leadoff batter for Wilmington and issued a free pass to the second hitter but settled down to get out of the inning without any damage done.
In the fifth inning, Larry Walters drew a walk with two away and advanced to second and third on passed balls. Troy Eason then rapped a single to bring in Walters with the only earned run of the game.

pop up to short and retired the next batter on a strike out to put down the threat.

Wilmington revealed a prearranged plan to rotate pitchers after three innings of work and followed that schedule with Sanlin, Booth and Yelverton sharing the mound duties.

The Seahawks begin playoff action Friday night against the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. The two teams will play a best-of-three series.

Tarkenton Says Loan Would Solve Dispute

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Frank Tarkenton, the star New York Giants' quarterback who left the team over a contract dispute, says all he wants in his contract dispute is what many National Football League teams have given their quarterbacks—a loan.

"This loan thing should be obvious to anybody," he said in Atlanta Tuesday. "You take less salary and more loan, and that package could get you the top dollar." The loan would be a tax advantage and would allow more funds for investment.

Wellington T. Mara, Giants owner, said Monday after Tarkenton left the team that the quarterback had sought a six-figure loan and implied it had something to do with his business ventures.

"This contract has nothing to do with my business ventures," said Tarkenton, whose many business interests have reportedly made him a millionaire.

"When you get in a high tax bracket which I'm in, thankfully you don't need ordinary income," he said. "I was willing to sacrifice ordinary income for the advantages of the loan."

Meanwhile, Giants Coach Alex Webster said he was happy with Tarkenton's replacement Dick Shiner. "I think he can take the Giants to a championship."

The Oakland Raiders and New York Jets will be without the services of their top signal callers when they tangle Saturday in one of the weekend's NFL exhibition contests.

Jets quarterback Joe Namath, injured last Saturday against the Detroit Lions, will be out of uniform at least until mid-November and Raiders quarterback Daryl Lamonica has been sidelined with a twisted knee.

Al Woodall, who replaced Namath for the last nine games of last season after Namath broke his wrist, will have the starting nod for the Jets while Kenny Stabler, who tossed for 254 yards in the Raiders' losing 25-24 effort against Philadelphia last Monday, will call the plays.

Elsewhere in the NFL Tuesday, the Atlanta Falcons' scrimmage had some tense moments when linebacker Tommy Nobis scuffled briefly with rookie receiver Ken Burrow.

San Francisco 49ers Coach Dick Nolan, elated with his team's 38-24 victory last weekend over Cleveland, said he thought the 49ers are tougher this year than last. "They know they can win and that's a plus for any club," he said.

Wonderful Juans Get Big Wins For Giants, Cubs

By BERT ROSENTHAL

Associated Press Sports Writer Juan Marichal and Juan Pizarro ... the wonderful Juans.

At least they were both wonderful Tuesday night. Marichal pitching a brilliant two-hitter as the San Francisco Giants edged the Montreal Expos 1-0 and Pizarro spacing five hits as the Chicago Cubs defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates 2-1.

In other National League games, Los Angeles downed Philadelphia 6-1; Atlanta topped St. Louis 2-1; Houston nipped Cincinnati 3-2, and New York trimmed San Diego 6-4.

In the American League, Oakland swept a day-night Doubleheader from Boston 6-5 and 7-5; Kansas City took a two-night twinbill from Washington 9-2 and 3-1; Baltimore shaded Minnesota 4-3 in 10 innings; California beat New York 7-6; Detroit routed Milwaukee 12-3, and Cleveland stopped Chicago 4-1.

Marichal, the enigmatic veteran Giants' right-hander, had started the season with the best winning percentage, .671 among active pitchers, with 203 victories and only 98 losses. He also led active pitchers in shut-outs with 46 and was third on the all-time earned run average list with a 2.68 mark, behind only Walter Johnson's 2.37 and Grover Cleveland Alexander's 2.56.

This was despite the worst season of his 11-year San Francisco career, when he won only 12 and lost 10 in 1970 and his ERA soared to 4.11.

This season, Marichal appeared to have overcome the illness that plagued him last year, as he got off winging with a 10-4 record through June 23. Then, his pitching took an inexplicable nosedive, and he had lost four in a row before blanking the Expos for his first victory in seven weeks.

Although he allowed only Rusty Staub's two-out double in the fourth inning and Bob Bailey's leadoff single in the seventh, he was locked in a scoreless duel with Bill Stoneman, who also had permitted only two hits, through the first eight innings.

Then, Stoneman, 12-10, who had been tough in the clutch, stranding nine runners in eight innings, finally cracked in the ninth.

Alan Gallagher's one-out single got the Giants started. Then, Marichal doubled down the third base line and Bobby Bonds walked, before Tito Fuentes broke up the scoreless battle with a single to right. Marichal walked three and struck out eight in helping the Giants preserve their 4½-game lead over Los Angeles in the NL West.

Pizarro was almost as sharp as Marichal in shackling the Pirates—the best hitting club in the majors. He also walked three and fanned six in hurling his third straight complete game victory and pulling the Cubs to within six games of first-place Pittsburgh in the East Division.

The much-traveled left-hander, now with his eighth major league club, is a quiet individual. He prefers to let his pitching be his talking point.

"Some people think I'm mean because I don't say much," he said. "But I'm not mean."

Only on the mound ... maybe. Pizarro has compiled a 4-1 record since the Cubs recalled him July 5 from their Tacoma farm club in the Pacific Coast League.

The Cubs, in winning their seventh game in the last eight and handing the Pirates their ninth setback in 12 games, scored both their runs in the seventh inning.

Jim Hickman started the inning with a double and Ron Santo walked. Brock Davis bunted and all three runners were safe when losing pitcher Bruce Kison fumbled the ball.

J.C. Martin followed with a sacrifice fly for one run, with Santo taking third on the play, and Pizarro hit a sacrifice fly for the second run.

The only damaging blow off Pizarro was Bob Robertson's 23rd homer in the fourth inning. But Pizarro had to pitch out of a serious jam in the ninth. Willie Stargell blooped a double with one out and Manny Sanguillen beat out a hit to deep short on which Don Kessinger made a sparkling stop to keep pinch runner Vic Davalillo from reaching third.

Robertson followed with a grounder which might have scored Davalillo had he been on third. Gene Alley then was intentionally walked, filling the bases. But Pizarro ended the game by striking out pinch hitter Al Oliver.

The surging Dodgers made it three straight victories and nine in 11 games, beating the Phils with the help of three runs batted in by Tom Haller and six-hit pitching by Bill Singer.

Haller singled in a run in the second inning and broke a 1-1 tie with a two-run homer in the fifth following a single by Willie Crawford. The Dodgers added three runs in the ninth, one on a single by Wes Parker and two on a single by Crawford.

Pitcher George Stone sparked Atlanta's victory over St. Louis, driving in one run with a single and helping build another with a sacrifice.

The Braves got a run in the fifth on Zoilo Versalles' single, a sacrifice and Stone's single, his second hit. Then they snapped a 1-1 deadlock in the seventh when Marty Perez singled, Stone sacrificed and both runners were safe on an error, and Felix Millan hit a sacrifice fly.

Stone and reliever Cecil Upshaw checked the Cards on seven hits.

Houston rookie Ken Forsch permitted only four hits—just one after the first inning—in beating Cincinnati for the third straight time this season. The only Cincinnati hit over the final eight innings was Dave Concepcion's single in the fifth.

The Reds had scored twice in the first on doubles by Pete Rose and Tony Perez and a single by Johnny Bench. The Astros tied it in the third on Joe Morgan's two-run homer and won it in the seventh when Jack Hiatt walked, Forsch sacrificed and Jesus Alou had a run-scoring bloop single.

Ken Singleton and Jerry Grote each drove in two Met runs while reliever Tug McGraw checked San Diego on one run—Nate Colbert's 22nd homer—over the final four innings. Mets' starter Gary Gentry had to leave the game in the fifth inning after complaining of a pain in his lower back.

Miller In Good Spot

By LEE MARGULIES

Associated Press Sports Writer SAN DIEGO (AP) — Relief pitcher Bob Miller, handed his walking papers by the Chicago Cubs at the beginning of the season, redeemed himself on a last-place club and is now in a position to share in some play-off money at the expense of the Cubs.

Miller, a 32-year-old right-hander in his 15th year of professional baseball, was traded by the cellar-dwelling, San Diego Padres to the division-leading Pittsburgh Pirates Tuesday.

The Pirates lead the Cubs by six games in the National League East and are trying to bolster their weakened pitching ranks before the playoffs arrive. They gave the Padres cash and two players who will be named Monday.

"It makes me feel very happy that a club as good as Pittsburgh is interested in me," Miller said after the trade was announced. "After being released by the Cubs earlier this year, it's nice now to be considered an important piece of property."

Miller is pitching as well as he ever has and realizes a pennant contender might be interested in him. After all, he says, that's why the Cubs picked him up from Cleveland last year when he wasn't doing nearly as well.

Miller joined the Padres as a free agent and became their top relief man, running up a 7-3 record with seven saves. In 62 1-3 innings he didn't allow a home run and had an earned run average of 1.41, one of the best in the majors.

Buzzi Bavasi, San Diego General Manager, said he hated to lose Miller but added that Pittsburgh made an "attractive" offer of two players "we've been interested in for quite a while."

Miller said he understands Bavasi's reasoning and is not bitter toward the club. "This is a thing expansion teams have to do," he said.

FOURTH GOLD MEDAL — Frank Heckl of Cerritos, Calif., center, waves after winning the gold medal event in the 100-meter butterfly swimming event in Cali (Colombia) Tuesday night. It was the fourth gold medal he had won in the Pan American Games now winding to a close. Jerry Heidenreich of Dallas, Texas, (left), won the silver, and Canada's Byron McDonald of Glenview, Ill., placed third for the bronze medal. (AP Wirephoto)

Graebner Moves Miss Aulisi Is Up After Win Junior Medalist

By MIKE HARRIS

Associated Press Sports Writer INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Clark Graebner, the youthful independent pro tennis player from New York City, is a relaxed and confident man as he faces the challenge of the 1971 National Clay Court Open Championships here.

Graebner easily moved into the second round of play Tuesday at the venerable Woodstock Country Club on this city's north side. The 28-year-old with the dark good looks was totally under control as he bested Jean Chanfreau of France, 6-3, 6-1.

This Graebner is a somewhat different man from the amateur who won the Clay Court title at Milwaukee in 1968.

In 1968, Graebner was a near look-alike to Superman's alter-ego, Clark Kent. He wore his black hair combed back with a nice neat part and he also wore dark-framed glasses. His manner of dress was somewhat subdued and his greatest flair was his temper, which was known to boil over on occasion.

Graebner, seeded third, was one of four men's singles players turning in victories in the $58,000 tournament Tuesday.

Top seed Cliff Richey of Sarasota, Fla., lost his service in his second set with Vicente Zarazula of Mexico, but rallied to take the match, 6-0, 7-5. Sixth seeded Frank Froehling, Miami, Fla., survived the longest and one of the toughest matches of the day, coming from a 3-1 deficit in the final set to beat Joaquin Loyo Mayo of Mexico, 4-6, 7-5, 7-5.

Jaime Fillol of Chile, seeded seventh, bumped Argentina's Lito Alvarez, 7-5, 6-2.

In the biggest men's upset of the day, eight-seeded George Goven of France fell to unseeded Eddie Dibbs, Miami, Fla., 6-3, 6-3. Goven joined fourth seed Tom Gorman, who lost Monday, on the outside, looking in.

Last year's medalist Louise Bruce of LaMesa, Calif., who led after the first 18 holes, skidded to an 81 and was tied with Miss Stacy.

The low 32 scorers begin match play competition today over the 6,062-yard, par 37-36-73 Augusta Country Club course. Two rounds are scheduled today with the finals on Saturday.

In featured matches today Miss Aulisi meets Marguerite Mahon of Rochester, N. Y., who qualified with 84-82-166. Miss Stacy, defending champion, meets April Bain of Williamsville, N. Y., who had 87-82-169.

The cutoff came at 172. Nancy White of Atlantic Beach, Fla., won a spot on the second extra hole and Denise Snellman of Mobile, Ala., took the last spot on the third hole in an eight-way playoff.

Miss Aulisi three-putted from 10 feet on the final hole for a double bogey. Miss Alcott also three-putted 18 for a bogey.

Trevino Keeps New Audience Laughing

TRUTH OR CONSEQUENCES, N.M. (AP) — Lee Trevino, who keeps the gallery laughing at golf tournaments, has a new audience—the nurses at St. Anne's Hospital.

Trevino, the PGA tour's leading money winner for 1971, underwent surgery for appendicitis early Tuesday and is reported in good condition.

"He keeps us laughing," said the nurse. She noted, however, that he hasn't given any golf lessons to the nursing staff yet. "He's not quite up to that," she said, and noted Trevino was a "wonderful patient."

A hospital spokesman said he was up and walking Tuesday and said there had been "no complications whatsoever." Trevino, one of the most talkative golfers on the pro circuit, was allowed to talk Tuesday only to family and close friends.

The spokesman said many well-wishers had sent him flowers and cards.

Trevino was in Truth or Consequences Monday to do some fishing when he was stricken.

A spokesman for Lee Trevino Enterprises in El Paso, Tex., about 65 miles south of Truth or Consequences, said the golfer is expected to be off the golf course "about three weeks."

N.C. Helps Its Prisoners With Corrective Surgery

By YVONNE BASKIN
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — Prisoners with injuries or deformities that might prevent them from holding a job or functioning normally in society are getting help through a plastic surgery program in North Carolina's prison system.

So far this year 41 operations have been performed and prisoners are coming to the clinic at Central Prison in Raleigh from units throughout the state at the rate of 15 to 20 a week requesting corrective surgery.

The operations range from complete facial reconstruction and rebuilding of useless hands to scar removals and ear remodeling.

"If we continue through this year at the present rate, we will do more operations this year than ever before," said J. R. Lee, clinic supervisor. "We're trying to increase the program as much as possible."

More operations are being done because the number of surgeons available is increasing. The work is done by surgeons from the plastic surgery department of the University of North Carolina Medical School in Chapel Hill. Most of the surgeons are residents who have just finished their education and do the work free for the experience.

The surgery falls into two of ten overlapping categories — that which is medically required and that which is cosmetic. Medically required surgery such as that to make a hand usable again or to straighten nasal passages often has the added effect of improving the person's appearance.

"Hands are a big thing," Lee said. "A person with hand problems can't do much work. If we didn't have any way to give him back the function of his hand, when he got back on the street he would have a hard time finding a job and might get into trouble again."

He said strictly cosmetic surgery such as a scar removal, chin phanges and face lifts "gives them more confidence in their personal appearance and hopefully that will help them to avoid the mistakes that put them in here."

Warden Dr. Stanley Blackledge said inmates have the same attitude about deformities as persons on the outside.

"They have a condition that sets them off from the rest of the population and they want it corrected, just like anyone else would," Blackledge said.

The program started in 1963 as a training experience for plastic surgeons. Only 29 operations were performed on inmates in 1970 although 217 requested it.

In 1969 operations totaled 65 and 232 inmates requested them. In 1968 some 211 inmates were screened and 58 operations performed.

So far this year 211 inmates have come to the clinic requesting corrective surgery.

Lee said the plastic surgeons talk to these inmates and often decide that they can't really help them enough to justify surgery. Others can be helped without surgery.

On requests for purely cosmetic surgery, the prisoners must talk with Chief Psychologist John Randolph, who determines why the man wants the surgery and what he thinks it will do for him.

Randolph said "facial disfigurement is very damaging to the self esteem. Many people get into difficulties with the law because of feelings of inferiority."

"If we can help them overcome those feelings of inferiority, maybe they won't get into difficulties the next time," he said.

Lee said many of the injuries the surgeons are asked to correct were suffered when the man committed the crime.

He said if a wrist has been slashed in a knife fight, the surgeons may have to transplant a new tendon so that the man will be able to move his fingers.

When the thumb is gone, the doctors can move a finger over so that the man has an opposable digit to grasp with.

He said six or seven operations have been performed so far on a man who murdered his wife then attempted to kill himself by firing a shotgun into his forehead. The doctors have rebuilt his nose, lips and mouth and are trying to reconstruct the rest of his face.

A man who received head injuries in an automobile accident has had four operations so far to remove ugly skin graft scars on his forehead and make him new eyebrows.

Lee said most of the inmates probably would not seek such surgery — especially that which is purely cosmetic — on the outside because they would not be able to pay for it. The cost to the prison system has been nominal since it must pay only for surgical instruments and materials.

Mecklenburg Dry Forces Map A Last-Ditch Fight

By NATE WEGODSKY
Associated Press Writer
CHARLOTTE (AP) — Wet forces hope to be able to buy liquor by the drink to celebrate the new year in Charlotte and Mecklenburg County.

week to pick a leader for their campaign in Mecklenburg County and perhaps to decide on when the test will be sought. They already have chosen Allen A. Bailey, Charlotte lawyer and churchman, as their court attorney.

The state ABC (Alcoholic Beverage Control) Board has notified the Mecklenburg County board that it has approved the county's comprehensive plan of rules and enforcement should mixed drinks be voted in.

Under the Mecklenburg bill, mixed drinks would become legal 60 days after they are approved by voters, which could be by the New Year.

Moore County is not hurrying toward any New Year's date. But the wet leader, Earl Hubbard, said its election probably also would be held early in November. Sixty days before implementation also is required in its bill.

In Moore, a petition of 15 percent of the number of citizens who voted in the last gubernatorial election is required to call the mixed drink vote. There were 11,969 people who voted in the 1968 race for governor, so about 1,800 petition signatures would be required.

Hubbard, a banker and mayor of Southern Pines, said his organization has not yet started circulating petitions, but will have no trouble getting 2,000 signatures when it does so.

"No petitions are required for the Mecklenburg County vote.

Both elections were sold to the legislature as pilot plans — Moore's for a resort county with the golfing winter colonies of Pinehurst and Southern Pines; Mecklenburg's for a large urban area, the biggest in North Carolina or South Carolina. Mecklenburg has a population of 354,656 and Charlotte 241,178.

Legislators who balked were told there would be no more enabling acts proposed until after the next session in 1973, when results of the Moore and Mecklenburg experiments could be analyzed — Assuming that mixed drinks were voted in. The Moore County bill was ratified May after winning by a single vote in the House.

The Mecklenburg bill was passed June 17, winning in the House by 54-48. Some House members who didn't want to vote for a mixed drink bill but owed favors to the Mecklenburg delegation, "took a walk" — left the chamber — when the voting time arrived.

The Moore bill was the first mixed drinks bill in the state since Prohibition in 1919.

Mecklenburg had tried to get a mixed drinks bill through in the 1967 and 1969 biennial sessions. In 1965 after a study of almost a year, the Charlotte Chamber of Commerce recommended mixed drinks for Mecklenburg County.

Among opponents of the bills in the session just closed was the Rev. Coy Privette, pastor of a Baptist church in North Kanapolis, who also is a state representative and the president of the Christian Action League.

The legislature killed efforts for a statewide referendum on mixed drinks and attempts to add on other counties, such as Guilford (Greensboro) to the Mecklenburg County bill.

Raymond King Jr., Charlotte insurance man who will head the campaign for mixed drinks in Mecklenburg, says liquor by the drink now is permitted in 44 states with 90 per cent of the population in the United States. The campaign will assert that mixed drinks will be another and better form of liquor control, and that the cash they bring to establishments will allow high-class restaurants and big-name entertainment. King heads the Chamber of Commerce Committee for Control of Mixed Beverages.

While pushing for mixed drinks, the committee will soft-pedal brown bagging but not recommend its elimination.

The Mecklenburg bill is twofold. Voters will decide not only for or against mixed drinks, but for or against brown bagging, if mixed drinks are approved.

However, there will be some form of public drinking in the county. If mixed drinks are voted out, brown bagging still will be retained.

If both brown bagging and mixed drinks are approved, no establishment could offer both.

The Mecklenburg bill differs from Moore's in that twofold vote, and also in that Mecklenburg's mixed drinks would be only in the form of 1.6 ounce minibottles.

In both counties, mixed drinks would be permitted only in Class A restaurants seating 50 or more, nightclubs and lounges, private clubs, convention centers and hotels.

However, the establishments would have to take in more money from food than from mixed drinks.

Big Ideas For This Girl

NEW YORK (UPI)—Margie Natal is a little girl who has big ideas about litter and the environment.

A Brooklyn brewery thought enough of a 9 by 12-inch drawing made by 12-year-old Margie in school to have it reproduced on a 40 by 60-foot mural in oils on the side of a building at a busy intersection.

Margie's theme was "Keeping Our City Clean Is Everybody's Job." Her drawing depicted six colored balloons aloft, each carrying a part of her message.

It was the winner among about 600 other drawings submitted by pupils in art classes in Margie's school. The annual contest is part of a joint effort by the school and the adjacent Rheingold brewery to keep the neighborhood clean.

Children Today Safer On Foot

DETROIT (UPI)—The number of children injured as pedestrians and bicyclists in Detroit traffic has steadily decreased in the past five years, but the number injured as passengers in their parents' car has gone up, reports the Traffic Safety Association of Detroit.

Child pedestrian and bicyclist casualties were cut from 1,989 in 1966 to 1,339 in 1970—a 33 per cent reduction. During the same period, child passenger casualties went up from 2,134 in 1966 to 2,723 in 1970, a 28 per cent increase.

PLASTICS BURN

NEW YORK (AP)—Plastics can be incinerated safely in existing municipal incinerators, reports Professor Elmer R. Kaiser, senior research scientist at New York University.

Saturday Bad Day

In Australia
 SYDNEY (AP)—There were nearly twice as many road accidents in Australia on the Saturdays of 1970 as on the Tuesdays.

Government statistics gave the totals as 7,100 for Tuesdays and 13,113 for Saturdays, and also reported 323 were killed on Tuesdays compared with 889 on Saturdays.

For the full year the figures reported were 3,798 dead and 91,554 injured equal to 30 and 728 per 100,000 of population, respectively.

Seek Entry Of 'Worker Priest'

NYBORG, Denmark (UPI)—Negotiations for admission of a guest "worker priest" for Yugoslavs working in Denmark are being conducted by the Serbian Orthodox Church, says a delegate to the European Church Congress held here. Drasko Todorovic, the denomination's expert in foreign worker problems, said he will ask his church to make contact with the Danish Church Ministry to get the plan started. Todorovic said he already has started such talks in Sweden, Holland and West Germany.

Worry Clinic Sees Monopoly In ADA, AMA

Dr. X may shock organized medicine and dentistry! For he thinks the anti-trust law should be invoked against both the A.D.A. and also the A.M.A. How do you readers react to his gripes, as outlined below? William Buckley must agree, for he recently filed suit to speak over TV without joining a monopolistic union!

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph.D., M.D.

Case R-533: Dr. X was president of his State Dental Society when I addressed its banquet session. "Dr. Crane," he grumbled, "our A.D.A., as well as your A.M.A., are too dictatorial because they are monopolies!" "Thus, the bureaucrats at the Home Office are becoming dictocrats!"

"For example, I was recently upbraided just for having my dental diploma hanging in my office. "For it cites my being awarded the D.D.S. degree. But I was warned not to say I was a dental surgeon! Imagine!" "Yet all dental graduates of first class dental colleges are specifically trained in such dental surgery to do extractions, straightening of teeth, endodontia, full dentures, etc.

members who resent brain-truster regimentation. "I understand that only slightly more than 50 per cent of America's licensed physicians belong to the A.M.A., yet Congressmen tell me the A.M.A. is the strongest lobbying group at Washington.

"Both the A.D.A. and A.M.A. are constantly lobbying for millions of federal handouts!" "Recently a rival dental organization has been started to give practicing dentists a choice. "It is called the American Association of Dentists (A.A.D.) so maybe it can restore wholesome competition in my dental field.

"But why can't we also have two competing associations in medicine—and maybe in law, engineering or all other professional fields, including labor unions.

"William Buckley recently filed suit against the autocratic demands that he join the broadcasters union or be denied freedom of the airwaves. "It is time we stopped this monopoly of all trades and professions, so please air my grievance in your column but withhold my name for the time being."

"Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Americans Are Frustrated And Restless With Elusive Goals

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Americans are a restless and sometimes disgruntled people despite their affluence.

They work long and hard and make good money. But they pay high prices and big taxes. And their ever-bigger dreams, year after year, seem to remain just beyond their reach.

A cursory investigation of affluence suggests some of the reasons.

First and obvious is the fact that many people are denied a sense of achievement because their desires are never satisfied. A goal achieved merely leads to another.

Despite good incomes and assets, some families find they still have little choice in how they spend their money. Many spend 20 per cent on food, more than 20 per cent on owning and operating their home, 10 per cent on taxes, 10 per cent on transportation and another 10 per cent on clothing.

That's 70 per cent for fixed expenses. And the rest isn't theirs to spend as they please. They must pay for medical and dental care, education and personal items such as books and cigarettes.

And to make certain they don't lose it all, a natural consequence of acquisition, they must have insurance policies. Moreover, tradition and common sense demand that they have savings.

The tiny percentage that is left theoretically can be used on recreation, vacations and gifts, but many families find these categories are always on the list of dreams that are just beyond their reach.

The strains of maintaining earning power—as well as the strain of holding onto it once they have it—also contributes to the restlessness and the sense of frustration. A growing number of families are achieving their goals only by means of additional incomes.

There are now more than 18 million wives at work, or 40 per cent of the total, and 10 million of them have children under 18. In fact, one-quarter of all wives with children under three are at work.

The primary breadwinner continues to be the man, but studies show his gross income often is boosted by holding an additional part-time job, and that his living standard would drop abruptly should he lose it.

But work also fulfills a need other than financial. Many people cannot help but work.

A study of workers whose schedules were changed from 5 days of 8 hours each to 4 days of 10 hours showed that many of them declined to use the free time to indulge themselves in the leisurely life they claimed to have been seeking. Instead, they hired onto another job to fill the time.

A good many family incomes are also supported by the efforts of teen-agers, and well they should.

Most parents are shocked to learn how much it costs to raise a child to the age of 18.

As this decade, began the tab ranged from more than $19,000 to about $25,000 in urban areas, with $5,550 to $6,500 of that for food alone.

Affluence, it appears, doesn't always mean the easy life. Instead, it is often achieved only through great effort, not just by one member of the family but sometimes by the entire family. And holding onto it may be just as exhausting.

No wonder so many people have that worn out feeling. They just don't know how well off they are.

Set Recount On ABC Election

LEXINGTON, N.C. (AP) — A recount will be made Thursday of returns of an election in which legal liquor sales in Lexington were approved by one vote.

ABC stores won 2,113-2,112 in unofficial returns from Tuesday's election.

In an election in 1965, which included balloting on beer and wine along with liquor sales, voters favored keeping the city legally dry.

The 4,225 voter turnout Tuesday was from a city registration of 9,792, including 165 between 18 and 21 years old.

Masonic Council Sets N.C. Meet

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — The National Supreme Council of Scottish Rite Masons will open its first convention in the South in Charlotte on Friday.

The 107th anniversary convention will run eight days, ending Saturday, Aug. 21. Fifteen hundred persons from 38 states, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and the Panama Canal are expected.

Headquarters for the council is in Detroit.

James Boone of Burlington, Masonic deputy inspector general for North Carolina, is in charge of arrangements.
