

Drastic Measures Imposed For Economy Cure

Nixon Abandons Dollar-Gold Exchange

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, declaring that "America is at her greatest when she is called on to compete," has imposed a largely voluntary 90-day wage-price freeze and invited world reshuffling of exchange rates—changes that would amount to devaluation of the dollar.

In a hastily arranged television and radio address to the nation Sunday night, Nixon pictured his far-ranging program—much of which he put into effect immediately—as a bid to cut unemployment, stem inflation, protect the dollar and make American goods more competitive with foreign products.

The President's historic announcement that the United States is abandoning its long-standing policy of selling gold to foreign governments at $35 an ounce, and the wage-price-rent move, were among the measures that took immediate effect.

So too was a "temporary" average surcharge of 10 per cent on many imported products, which should result in corresponding hikes in the amount Americans pay for Volkswagen and Toyota autos, Grundig and Sony electronic equipment and a host of other items. Exempt would be such quota-subject imports as petroleum, coffee, ores, cotton textiles, sugar and fish.

Nixon also proposed new tax breaks for consumers and businessmen, including repeal of the 7-per-cent federal excise that adds an average $200 to the cost of a new car. But Congress must act on these recommendations.

He asked Congress to postpone implementation of his highpriority revenue-sharing and welfare-reform proposals for three months and one year respectively. Congress has shown a reluctance to approve either measure.

On his own, Nixon promised to cut federal employment by 5 per cent, impose a six-month freeze on federal pay hikes scheduled for Jan. 1, and take other steps designed to reduce spending by $4.7 billion.

The surprise moves, which Nixon claimed were the most comprehensive in four decades in the economic sphere, were viewed as the President's reply to Democratic critics who contend the state of the economy—not Vietnam—will be the major political issue in the 1972 election.

It was noted, too, that Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally, who collaborated closely with Nixon in drafting the package, was trotted out to brief newsmen on the development. This could only have the effect of adding to speculation that Texas Democrat Connally may supplant Spiro T. Agnew as the 1972 GOP vice presidential candidate.

Congress was out of town for a month-long recess when the President made his announcement and reaction from lawmakers was slow in coming.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., who as chairman of the Ways and Means Committee ranks as most influential tax man in Congress, called Nixon's new economic plan excellent and predicted favorable committee action on the President's call for reinstituting the investment tax credit to spur business spending.

Heavy Blow For Japan

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese officials said today that President Nixon's new import tax will be a heavy blow to Japan's export trade.

Chief Cabinet Secretary Noboru Takeshita told a news conference the government hopes the 10 per cent surtax will be lifted as soon as possible. He said the government has no plan to revalue the yen upward, and the Bank of Japan will buy dollars in case there is excessive selling on the Tokyo foreign exchange market.

Other officials and business leaders predicted that the emergency economic measures Nixon announced Sunday night would seriously affect U. S. Japanese trade, which in 1969 totaled $4.9 billion in exports to the United States and $3.5 billion in goods shipped the other way.

An official at the semi-official Japan External

Trade Organization said the import surtax is "one step short of a total suspension of imports on the part of the U.S."

A Finance Ministry official said Nixon's action could have a deflationary effect on the Japanese economy, which has been sluggish for some time. The willingness of Japanese businessmen to invest in new plants and equipment may be seriously curtailed, he added.

Officials of the Ministry of International Trade and Industry said the Japanese government would not take any action in retaliation for the import surtax, at least for the time being. But Shige Kurebayashi of the Fuji Bank termed the surtax a "partial revaluation of the yen" and said pressure for a full upward revaluation of the Japanese currency is likely to increase.

Economists Give Mixed Reviews On Nixon Plan

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Economists have given mixed reviews to President Nixon's proposals to stimulate the economy, with comments ranging from enthusiastic endorsement to predictions that the program will not work in the long run.

The broad steps outlined by the President Sunday night also drew general—although in some cases highly qualified—approval from a number of leading bankers.

"We're better off this Monday morning than we were Friday night," summed-up Nobel Prize winning economist Paul Samuelson. He said he approved all eight points in the President's plan except the cut-back of $4.7 billion in federal spending.

"I hope the President's arithmetic is wrong," said Samuelson at his Belmont, Mass.,

home. "If he cuts expenditures by $4.7 billion to match the tax cuts, that won't create negative jobs... That would completely emasculate his whole program."

John Kenneth Galbraith, the Harvard economist who was ambassador to India during the Kennedy administration, termed the program "one step forward (the wage-price freeze) and two steps backward (the investment tax credit and the international segment)."

Of the wage-price freeze he noted: "The question here is the energy with which efforts will be made to make things permanent. After all, this is only for 90 days."

"On balance, his proposals for expanding jobs will probably lead to a contraction in the number of jobs," said Galbraith in Newfane, Vt.

"Eliminating the automobile excise tax, accelerating the investment credit and advancing the income tax exemptions are very inefficient ways of expanding the economy because they put money in the hands of people who don't need it," he said.

Milton Friedman, the conservative economist at the University of Chicago, said he approved of the spending and tax cuts but called the wage and price freeze "purely cosmetic."

"The effect will be to conceal price and wage increases, not prevent them," said Friedman from a vacation retreat in Ely, Vt. "Our experience from World War II and other times proves that people will find ways to evade the freeze."

Wilbur Mills Hails Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wilbur Mills, the key tax man in Congress, says President Nixon's new economic plan is excellent and "looks like he has been following somebody's advice."

Mills predicted the House Ways and Means Committee, which he heads, will approve Nixon's recommendation for investment tax credits. The committee has virtual life-and-death control over all tax legislation.

The Arkansas Democrat last month proposed the tax credit, other tax reductions and wage and price guidelines.

At his home in Kensett, Ark., Mills commented only briefly, saying Nixon's "game plan is excellent."

Other congressional reaction to Nixon's wage-price-rent freeze and other economic proposals was generally favorable, although some Democrats said he should have acted sooner.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana called Nixon's program "a harsh but very necessary reaction. I'm delighted that his patience has run out."

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Police dispatchers here feel they may have solved a woman's sleeplessness and, at the same time, saved her the effort of writing to Dear Abby.

The woman, dispatchers reported, called at 3 a.m. and requested a policeman be sent to make her husband stop snoring. She couldn't stop him and the noise was keeping her awake.

A fast-thinking dispatcher, who couldn't see that any law had been violated, asked if the house had another bedroom and was told it had. "Why don't you go sleep in it?" he asked.

"By golly, I will," the sleepy wife replied and hung up.

the cooperative program with Pitt Technical Institute; and a progress report from the special committee on site selection for the proposed new middle-junior high school.

Also being considered are a review of School Food Services policies for 1971-1972; the schedule of fees for pupils; and a presentation on professional staff development and procedures for the evaluation of school personnel.

Warplanes Attempt To Curb Reds Along DMZ

By GEORGE ESPER

Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. warplanes tripled their air attacks today and Sunday in efforts to stop North Vietnamese attacks along the demilitarized zone, and B52 bombers were reported striking in the southern half of the DMZ.

The big B52s and the smaller fighter-bombers made up to 200 strikes on elements of four North Vietnamese regiments.

The North Vietnamese forces made new shelling attacks and ground assaults for the fifth day today after driving South Vietnamese troops from a mountain outpost with heavy losses.

TRIAL BEGINS

NEW BERN — The case of Robert Thonen, former editor-in-chief of the Fountainhead, campus newspaper of East Carolina University, and student William Schell, versus Dr. Leo Jenkins, ECU president and other university officials, opened this morning at 10:00 a.m. in the U.S. District Court in New Bern. Judge John Larkins Jr. is hearing the case.

Civil Disobedience Campaign Is Urged In Northern Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Roman Catholic political leaders called Sunday night for a campaign of non-violent civil disobedience until the government of Northern Ireland releases all the prisoners it is holding without trial or charge.

Nine of the 13 opposition members of the provincial parliament signed a statement urging the province's 500,000 Catholics to embark on a Gandhian disobedience campaign against the internment law invoked a week ago by Prime Minister Brian Faulkner.

British soldiers rounded up more than 300 persons suspected of being fighters for the terrorist Irish Republican Army, and at least 26 persons were killed in the week of rioting that followed.

The legislators said their plans include refusal to pay local taxes and rents. Meanwhile, Bernadette Devlin, the fiery 23-year-old Catholic member of the British Parliament from Northern Ireland, called for protest strikes against the Protestant provincial government and the 12,500 British troops trying to keep down the violence in the six Ulster counties.

There was a weekend lull in the rioting, but snipers fired at an army patrol near the center of Belfast. There were no injuries. Two bombs were planted in a university residence, but did not go off.

Other explosions were heard in the capital and in Londonderry. Stores and buildings were damaged, and street mobs confronted the troops in both cities.

Masked terrorists reportedly kidnapped a Londonderry policeman as a hostage for the interned prisoners and took him across the border in an ambulance to the Irish Republic.

The kidnap victim was reported to be Constable Daniel Barr.

Vietnamese positions continuously. Half a dozen B52s struck before dawn today, dropping 180 tons of bombs within half a mile of the mountain while fighter-bombers attacked the mountain itself.

Meanwhile, North Vietnamese forces shelled virtually all the 10 South Vietnamese bases stretched along the 45-mile northern, frontier, and heavy fighting was reported around Fire Base Fuller, at the western end of the defense line. Flights of B52s hammered suspected North Vietnamese concentrations menacing Fuller.

The North Vietnamese began attacking along the DMZ last Thursday, breaking a 42-day lull. Intelligence sources estimate that three North Vietnamese infantry regiments and one heavy weapons regiment, perhaps as many as 10,000 troops, are operating in the region.

In another development, a U.S. Air Force reconnaissance jet was fired on by a 37mm anti-aircraft battery just above the DMZ Sunday. The U.S. Command said F4 fighter-bombers escorting the unarmed reconnaissance plane attacked the battery, but the results were not known. The command said there was no damage to the U.S. planes.

Murder Charged

FARMVILLE — A 23-year old man of Route 4, Greenville died of stomach wounds in Farmville early Sunday morning, according to information received from police sources.

At 2:06 a.m. Sunday, police answered a call, and upon arrival found Moses Dixon lying on the sidewalk. The victim was taken to Dr. Thomas Patterson and immediately transferred to Pitt Memorial Hospital where he was pronounced dead on arrival at 3:25 a.m.

At 6:35 a.m. Sunday, Mark C. Olds, a 21-year old male of Route 1, Snow Hill, was arrested in Greene County on charges of murder. Farmville Chief of Police Carl Tanner and Deputy Sheriffs Billy Breswell and Brooks Oakley made the arrest.

Olds was taken to the Pitt County jail. No bond has been posted for the arrested man.

Foreign Exchanges Close; Dollar Feels Pressure

By LOUIS NEVIN

Associated Press Writer LONDON (AP) — The dollar came under fierce pressure abroad today and major European money exchanges closed awaiting clarification of President Nixon's action to defend the U.S. dollar.

Exporters from Europe to the Orient expressed concern about the effect of the 10 per cent surcharge on dutiable goods not subject to import quotas. The closing of money markets, triggered by Nixon's decision to suspend settlement of international transactions in gold, left many American tourists abroad hard-pressed to buy foreign exchange.

They felt the devaluing effect of the financial measures when they had to pay premiums at commercial outlets.

In Japan, which will certainly feel the impact of the measures, the Central Bank supported the dollar at its official rate of 357.37 yen and the foreign exchange was still open.

Britain, West Germany, Switzerland, Sweden, Norway, Italy and South Africa among others closed their foreign exchange and gold markets. France, Belgium and Luxembourg had a bank holiday for the Roman Catholic Feast of the Assumption.

In Frankfurt, shares of companies likely to be affected by the surcharge dropped sharply, including such automobile makers as Volkswagen. The Swiss Cabinet was told the surcharge would affect about 90 per cent of all Swiss exports to the United States, which totaled $455 million last year.

Japanese officials in Tokyo said the import taxes would seriously affect trade with the United States. A member of the Japan External Trade Association said the tax was "one step short of a total suspension of imports on the part of the United States." Japanese exports to the United States were $4.9 billion in 1969 compared to $3.5 billion imports.

An international monetary conference appeared to be shaping up to study charges in the international system set up in 1944 at Bretton

Woods, N.H.

Generally, American Tourists in Europe took the crisis in stride, although the cashier of one of Paris' most exclusive hotels said: "There's a real panic."

Tourist agencies and banks met the situation in different ways. Some imposed limits on the amount of dollars they would accept. Others devalued by the dollar by 10 per cent "to protect ourselves."

Give Neighbor A Break, Get Your Own Telephone

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I've been a faithful Abby reader for years and have never known you to flub so miserably as when you answered, "Alone by the Phone."

A trucker's wife said her husband always promised to call her at a set time. She didn't have a telephone, so she'd go to her neighbor's and wait for as long as three hours for his call. If he didn't call that night she'd go back three and four nights a week!

All you said was, "Most truckers are dependable. You must have picked a lemon."

In my opinion, she's a bigger lemon than he is. The idea of imposing on a neighbor for hours at a time, three and four nights a week—waiting for a phone call! Where was your sympathy for the poor neighbor? And where were her children all this time? Does she take them to the neighbors while she waits by the phone? Or does she leave them home to fend for themselves?

I'd have said, "Get yourself a telephone!" And use those long evenings sewing, or baking cookies or putting up pickles. And for goodness' sake, give your long suffering neighbor a break!—KATIE IN ORLANDO

DEAR KATIE: You sound more like Ma Bell. You're right. I should have told her to get her own telephone. But I still say she picked a lemon.

DEAR ABBY: First let me say some of my best friends are homosexuals, so I have nothing against them, but how about this? I received an engraved invitation in the mail inviting me to a wedding between two such people. It read:

"You are cordially invited to a celebration of love of [name withheld] and [name withheld] on Sunday, the twenty-first of August at two o'clock, Metropolitan Community Church, 625 Polk Street, San Francisco, California"

Abby, when did they pass a law making marriage between two people of the same sex legal?

—FLABBERGASTED

DEAR FLABBERGASTED: A celebration of love is simply a ceremony and does not constitute a legal marriage.

Miss Bonnie Everett Is Bride

The marriage of Miss Bonnie Lou Everett and James Michael Rogerson was solemnized Sunday afternoon at five o'clock at Memorial Baptist Church.

The Rev. C. Norman Bennett Jr. officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Curley Jones Everett of Greenville and Mr. William Earl Everett of Chesapeake, Va. The bridegroom's parents are Mrs. Mary Pearl Rogerson of Winterville and the late Mr. James Gus Rogerson.

A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Ruth Taylor of Greenville, organist, and Rev. R. Graham Nahouse of Our Redeemer Lutheran Church, soloist. He sang "O Promise Me," "Wither Thou Goest" and "The Wedding Prayer" was used as the benediction.

Vows were spoken before a background of a tree candelabra holding burning white tapers, flanked by standing floor baskets of white mums, gladioli and sprays of greenery. The pews were marked by a white satin bow. The couple knelt during the benediction on a white prie-dieu, adorned with a white satin bow.

Given in marriage by her grandfather, Henry Jones of Greenville, the bride wore a chantilly lace gown. It was empire style with a high neckline and yoke accented with seed pearls and full bishop sleeves. The back enhanced with a built-in train from shoulder flowed chapel length.

She used a matching lace petal headpiece edged with seed pearls attached to an elbow length silk illusion veil. She carried a white Bible covered with bridal lace centered with a cascade bouquet of carnations and pom poms with lily-of-the-valley tied with streamers of white satin lace.

Mrs. Joan Williams of Richmond, Va., sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a formal length maize dotted swiss gown embellished with lilies-of-the-valley with long bishop sleeves and with lace at neck, bodice, and wrist. Her matching veil of maize illusion was attached to a headpiece of a maize bow. She carried a colonial nosegay of yellow and white summer flowers, tips of fern tied with green velvet streamers.

Maid of honor was Miss Kaye Everett of Greenville, sister of the bride. She wore a similar dress with a low neckline with lace at the waist line. She carried a bouquet identical to the matron of honor. Bridesmaid was Miss Jackie Warren of Greenville. She wore an identical color and style dress as the matron of honor.

Miss Debra Carr of Farmville was junior bridesmaid. She wore a maize dotted swiss floor length dress with an empire bodice with a full skirt trimmed with white and yellow edging. The bridesmaid and junior bridesmaid wore headpieces styled identical to those of the honor attendants and carried similar bouquets.

Miss Gina Prescott of Greenville was flower girl. She wore a floor length dress and headpiece identical to the junior bridesmaid. She carried a white lace basket showered with yellow and white carnations and ribbons.

Lewis Roberson of Greenville was the ring bearer. He carried a white heart-shaped satin pillow adorned with lace and the rings were attached with a bow.

The bridegroom's brother, Ronnie Rogerson, was best man. Ushers were Jerry Williams of Richmond, Va., brother-in-law of the bride, Brooks Mills of Black Jack, Johnny Brown and Lenward Wetherington, both of Ayden.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Everett wore a blue satin dress with matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother selected a mint green lace dress with matching accessories. Both wore shoulder orchid corsages.

The wedding was directed by Mrs. Joyce Cherry of Kinston. Miss Karen Gordon of Greenville presided at the register.

For a wedding trip to the mountains, the bride changed into a yellow dress-coat suit with matching accessories. She wore a corsage of white roses.

After the wedding trip, the couple will reside in Winterville.

The bride is a graduate of J.H. Rose High School and is planning to attend Mitchell's Hairstyling Academy.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Winterville High School and is employed by Burroughs Wellcome.

Can you find the Volkswagen hidden in this picture?

If you can, you'll make us very sad.

Because we've troubled ourselves no end to hide it from you.

Our quest for the invisible Volkswagen took us all the way to Turin, Italy.

Where we asked the famous Ghia Studios to design us a sporty Italian body.

They did.

Their drawings clutched tightly in hand, we secretly prowled about Europe for the best coach builder we could find.

Success. To the Karmann Coachworks of Osnabrück we handed over Ghia's sketches with the injunction:

"Make it beautiful." (Or else.)

They did. They welded. And burnished. And sculpted. And sanded. And painted.

Until they had shaped in steel what Ghia had shaped in pencil.

Smug in the knowledge that nobody could ever mistake this beautiful car for a Volkswagen, we made it a Volkswagen.

By concealing our air-cooled engine in back. (For better traction.)

And making it go about 26 miles on just one gallon.

Then we gave this Volkswagen its final disguise:

We named it the Karmann Ghia.

'Port-A-Pool' Was A Good Deal

That "Port-a-Pool" operated by the Greenville Recreation Department is paying its way. We assumed, and probably so did many people, that the pool would be a summer cooker for kids ...to wade and jump and splash; a safe alternative to treacherous ponds and the river.

End Is In Sight For Road Gang

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH — The end may be in sight for road gangs under the gun in North Carolina.

Research may yet substitute the solid guidance of experience for the haphazard hunch of theory and opinion in the rehabilitative process. Overall direction for the state's whole correctional system may mold agencies mediately available for staff meetings on a direct, man-to-man basis.

Everybody's An Expert
He learned in law school bull sessions at the University of Virginia that while there is recognition of expertise in medicine and business, everyone is his own expert on how to treat criminals.

"When everyone knows, no one knows," he added.

Bounds confessed he does not know. "We think we've done some sound planning," he said, "but right now all we're doing is based on opinion."

Funds provided by the legislature for expanded research activity will look for answers. There will be an effort to clearly state goals, and objectively evaluate programs for their achievement.

An area to be explored is recidivism — the repeated return to prison of those who have served time.

A disappointment in the legislative record was the failure of a recommendation to decriminalize the public drunk. The penal study committee said the "revolving door drunk" was clogging the system and obviously deriving no benefit from the experience. Differences between House and Senate over legislation to accomplish the purpose doomed the measure.

Road Labor Changes
The General Assembly wiped out the statutory requirement for the corrections department to contract with the highway commission for prison labor, effective July 1, 1973.

Bounds takes that as legislative intent to do away in the next biennium with the obligation to assign a specific number of prisoners to road work in exchange for financial support from the Highway Fund. At present, he said, the practice means many inmates eligible for work release must be used for road work instead.

A request for an additional $1 1/2 million from the General Fund to reduce the road labor quota was denied. Bounds hopes for improvement through negotiation. Now, the contract calls for 2,440 prisoners per day for $4.8 million annually from the Highway Fund. He proposes a reduction to 1,600 prisoners for the same amount of money.

A major advance was the grouping of all agencies in the corrections field, including probation and juveniles, in a single department. This should serve unified direction and coordination in rehabilitation efforts, Bounds said.

Capital improvement funds of some $3 1/2 million will further the goal of single occupancy quarters, moving towards elimination of the old dormitory or bullpen facilities.

But the pool was made into more than that. It is an instrument for teaching the rudiments of swimming. Nothing flashy, just the basics. That is most important.

By summer's end there may be three, four or five dozen small fry who will have learned a little bit more than how to keep their heads above water. They will also have absorbed some elementary water safety.

We have a lot of water in eastern North Carolina and it can be a curse or a blessing. It is very much a part of our lives, and it follows that every child should have some swimming know-how, not only in the name of safety but for the pleasure our water resources can provide.

Best of all, once you learn how to swim you never forget.

The city made a good deal when it purchased the Port-a-Pool. The Recreation Department is more than meeting its obligations by providing swimming lessons for the children.

Low Pollution Car Is Bound To Be Costlier

The government has come up with a low pollution auto which will be about 95 percent free of emission. Eleven of the vehicles, powered with liquid natural gas, have been put into service.

The system is apparently working well with the only drawback being the cost. This runs about $750 for equipment and $100 to $150 for labor to install it.

Thus there is some question as to whether the system will be suited for private autos. Car owners may as well be warned, however, that any pollution control unit added to an automobile is going to be expensive. It is a price we must pay if we are to make our air breathable again.

Hussein Chose To Risk Claim

By ROWLANE EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

AMMAN — King Hussein's victory over the Palestinian commandos in bloody fighting last month extinguished the last bitter remnant of civil war here, but it has cost him heavily in his ultimate claim to the Israeli-occupied part of his kingdom lying west of the Jordan River, the so-called West Bank.

In fact, some officials high in the King's government sadly admitted to us that any serious uprising against Israel by Arab Palestinians living on the West Bank under Jerusalem's thumb never was a real possibility, even with an aggressive, successful commando operation. Now that the fedayeen have been obliterated by Hussein's army, all chance for an anti-Israeli rebellion has receded out of sight. The hard fact is unavoidable, that the West Bank Palestinians never were so contented under Jordanian rule that they would fight Israel to restore it.

A further fact is equally important: the trader-farmer population on the West Bank does not contain within itself the flame of rebellion. Under an Israeli occupation that, despite some outrageous excesses, has generally been reasonable and shrewdly planned, the west-bankers have conspicuously failed to respond to the liberation forces operating from this side of the Jordan River.

Thus, the original concept of the fedayeen commandos is now seen here as doomed from the start. That concept reversed the normal sequence of liberation wars. Instead of having its roots in the Israeli-occupied West Bank, the liberation movement started outside the occupied territory, in the Jordanian East Bank. The hope was that it could be exported, root and branch, into enemy-held Palestine. By contrast, other "liberation" campaigns aimed at expelling foreign power have indigenous roots. The communist-controlled Vietcong apparatus in South Vietnam, for example, was built on southerners in the south, then given its vital support in arms and supplies from the north.

Here in Jordan, the fedayeen found themselves unable to penetrate Israeli defenses. When, on rare occasions, they succeeded, West Bank Palestinians who gave them so little help as a meal and a place to hide were ruthlessly dealt by the watchful Israelis.

But that doesn't mean that Israeli-occupied Palestine ignored King Hussein's war against the commandos. To the contrary, Palestinians here, some in the King's government, have received a stream of angry, emotional protests from families and friends across the river denouncing the King for his liquidation of the commandos. That resentment reached one peak last September, when the commandos forced the King into full-scale civil war.

It reached another peak two weeks ago when 96 fedayeen, all but a handful of whom were Palestinians, raced in terror across the Jordan River into Israeli arms, pursued by the King's efficient army.

Hence, the dilemma of King Hussein. He could not brook competitive sovereignty in his own country, a threat posed by the fedayeen, but to deal with it he had to risk the loss of goodwill from his former subjects on the West Bank. He chose to protect his sovereignty.

For the future, the King has seriously if unavoidably

Strength For Today

DAY BY DAY

"It's nice to be important, but it's more important to be nice." It reminds us of the youngster whose prayer always was, "God, make the bad people good and the good people nice."

He was about three years old, and he owned the world, or at least he thought he did. He stuck his tongue out at me as he passed, but he held on tight to his mother just in case.

There's a weak, disgusting form of goodness that is not hypocritical but just plain tiresome. There was a woman years ago who when she went to the store to buy groceries carried a basket and in that basket, a Bible. We would be willing to bet a nickel against a dollar that she always asked for trading stamps and when the man behind the counter gave her too much change she never returned any but went out of the store smiling.

Sour on humanity? Not at all. Most of the evil in life is so petty as to be ridiculous. All our little weaknesses need to fertilize them into vices is a shrug of the shoulders, a whispered inquiry, "Do you know what they're saying about Mrs. So-and-So?"

A nine-year-old youngster asked recently: "Do you think they're going to outlaw marijuana?" Well, they had better if they don't want stronger habit-forming drugs to lay hold on millions of people and tear their lives to pieces.

While they talk, the "pushers" will be on hand to enslave and ruin.

SET 'EM UP IN THE OTHER ALLEY!

By ART BUCHWALD

The New Wave Western

(When Art Buchwald went on vacation he decided to leave behind his own guest columns.)

As people who have followed motion pictures know, there is a new type of film, made by a new type of director, in which nothing happens. This lack of communication between the main characters is the essence of the film.

They are now starting to make westerns like this.

The story opens as the tall stranger (Peter Fonda) rides into town on a hot dusty afternoon. The street is empty. As he passes the hotel the man whittling a piece of wood looks up and there is a certain recognition in his eyes. Then he goes back to whittling again.

The stranger stops at the saloon and ties up his horse. This takes 10 minutes. Once the horse is securely tied, the stranger walks into the bar, where the tables are crowded with men playing cards. But the bar itself empties as he walks up to it and says to the bartender:

"Gimme a shot."
"Double or single?" the bartender asks.
"What's the difference?"
"You save 5 cents if you have the double."

"I better have a single, and plenty of ice and water, please."

At this moment Blackie Jones (Jack Nicholson), the town bully, steps up to the bar.

"You a stranger here, stranger?"
"Yup."

"You want to have a fight and wreck the saloon?"
"No reason to do that. I got no quarrel with you."

"Well, would you like to see who's the fastest on the draw?" Blackie says.

"What for?"
Blackie thinks a minute.
"You've got a point. Would you care to play some poker?"

"Don't mind if I do."
They sit down at a table with five of Blackie's henchmen. Blackie deals. The stranger asks for two cards. Blackie takes four.

They bet heavily. The stranger calls and Blackie says, "I've got five aces." "There are only four aces in the deck," the stranger says.

"You calling me a cheater?" Blackie asks.

"Yes, I am," the stranger says.

"Okay, I'll deal over. No sense getting mad." Two hours later both men have broken even and decide to call it quits.

As the stranger gets up, he spies a beautiful dance-hall girl (Ann-Margaret), who beckons to him from her room on the second balcony of the saloon.

"I wouldn't go up there if I were you," Blackie says.

"Why not?" the stranger asks.

"No special reason," Blackie says.

The stranger goes up to the girl's room. She's crying.

"You've got to help me. Blackie is holding me prisoner against my will, and if you don't help me escape I'll have to marry him."

"Well, you got to get

Boyle Views Life

By HALE BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) —

Jumping to conclusions: If man lives long enough, he often goes through two childhoods. In his mature middle years he looks back and fondly idealizes his first childhood; he looks forward apprehensively to his second childhood. In a way this is unrealistic, because of his two childhoods the second is far less likely to be painful.

HAL BOYLE

If human nature isn't inherently combative and contentious, why is it that when one person announces what time it is, everybody else is hearing distance looks at his own watch to see how wrong the other fellow was?

Ever notice how many superstitious men, when they can't find a piece of wood nearby to knock on three times in order to avert a peril or bring good luck, will rap on their head instead? This actually does nothing but shake up their dandruff, but it pleases them as much as if they had bruised themselves on a redwood tree.

The modern newspaper is one of today's miracles that have become commonplace through familiarity and therefore taken for granted. But with what else can you wrap a fish, line a shelf, and inform a human mind of the truth?

When a hen lays an egg, she wants to cackle the glad news to all the barnyard. When a man lays one, he'd rather let anyone else get the credit. This is what is known as modesty.

A yawn may be impolite, but there is no more honest form of criticism.

Hell hath no hidden fury like that of a secretary whom the boss takes out once—but never again.

Among the two most "unionized" professional people today are schoolteachers and doctors. One wonders what would happen if preachers were as well organized. How long could the nation hold out if a vast majority of its priests and ministers refused to deliver church sermons, baptize the young, pronounce a couple man and wife, or conduct services for the dead.

The American peoples' curious preoccupation with sex remains one of the most puzzling phenomena of our times. Three-fourths of them don't know what it's all about—and the other fourth don't know where it went.

A liberated woman is one who doesn't mind standing in any line so long as she's ahead of a man—unless it's a breadline.

Devalued Dollar Effect Abroad

By ELMER ROESSNER
Much has been said about the effects on business if the United States devalues the dollar. Now here is what will happen to foreign economies if the U.S. devalues:

They will lose much of the American market, depending on the size of the devaluation. They will have to increase prices approximately in the same measure as the value of the buck is shaved. They will lose markets for components and for finished products.

They will also face more American competition in other foreign markets, as U.S. producers are able to lay down goods at lower prices.

They will face a rise in unemployment as they lose American and other foreign markets and as American-owned factories, making shirts, transistors and a hundred other things, reduce production or close.

They will lose lush U.S.

travel spending (although travel in U.S. will be cheaper for their nationals.)

Foreign nations will get bargains in U.S. foodstuffs. However, when they earn fewer dollars by sales here, they may have to reduce purchases.

ELMER ROESSNER

Other Look-Aheads
Here are more look-aheads in domestic business:

The employment picture is not bright. Steel production has been cut in half with resulting layoffs and users work off inventories. The West Coast dock strike is beginning to force layoffs in other fields in that area. East Coast longshoremen's negotiations, starting next week, may result in a strike.

Housing money is about to get tighter. Both savings and loan and savings bank deposits have slowed down, according to preliminary reports, after increasing $21 billion (b) in the first half of the year. The money is not pouring into the stock market, nor are consumers yet on a buying spree. Higher costs of living may be responsible. However, President Nixon has ordered the release of unspent funds for government-backed housing loans.

First significant declines in the cost of living are ahead. Both Kellogg and General Foods have cut wholesale prices of dry cereals and cuts may soon appear in the markets. The dry cereals have been under considerable attack from the Federal Trade Commission and consumer advocates for high exploitation costs and minimal nourishment.

Eggs, Too
While egg prices have inched upward in the last few weeks, they are still a bargain food. In an era when ice cream cones have gone up from 10 to 35 cents and hot dogs the same, eggs are still around a nickel each in the markets. Chickens are also a fine protein buy.

Bill paying is slowing down. The New York Journal of Commerce reports that banks have increased interest rates. And a large number of government-backed loans are in default. These include loans by the Small Business Administration, Federal Housing Administration-backed loans, Veterans Administration-guaranteed housing loans ($3,000 in fiscal 1971) and Farmers Home Administration loans.

Economy Cure

Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota, the only announced Democratic candidate for president, called the new program "economic madness.... The President has shown a total lack of confidence in the American economy."
The Nixon maneuver to invite alteration of the $35-an-ounce gold-dollar ratio by international monetary operators clearly was the most startling of his multiple actions.

Since Franklin D. Roosevelt, all American presidents, including Nixon, had been firm in avowing that the United States would honor the $35 price. Nixon changed the picture without an advance leak on a summer weekend when financial markets here and abroad were closed.

At home, the wage-price-rent freeze seemed certain to claim at least equal attention. But this program is largely voluntary, being handled only by a small staff in the Office of Emergency Preparedness, and violators—if prosecuted and convicted in civil courts—would face a maximum penalty of a $5,000 fine.

The Nixon "freeze," authorized under the Economic Stabilization Act of 1970, could be extended beyond 90 days or, said the administration, there could be a transitional return to "free markets without inflation."

In any case, interest rates, dividends on common stock and the prices of agricultural commodities are exempt from the restraints.

However, Connally today was expected to call upon lenders to voluntarily put a lid on current interest rates. And Nixon asked for a similar temporary ceiling on dividend payments.

On the tax front, besides calling for repeal of the auto excise retroactive to Sunday, Nixon: —Proposed that businessmen be allowed rapid first-year tax writeoffs to cover 10 per cent of the cost of investments in new plants and equipment, which he said would create jobs and make domestic industry more competitive internationally. The writeoffs would be in addition to normal depreciation deductions. This plan would be in effect for just one year, retroactive to Sunday, and after that would be replaced by a permanent 5-per-cent quick-write-off proviso.

—Asked Congress to advance by one year, to next Jan. 1, the effective date of an already-approved measure to permit a $50 hike in personal exemptions for individual income taxpayers and their dependents.

Declaring that global speculators "have been waging an all-out war on the American dollar" in recent weeks, Nixon said he was abandoning the $35 price tax because, "I am determined that the American dollar will never again be a hostage in the hands of international money speculators."

married sometime," the stranger says.
"But you don't understand. Blackie is an evil man," she cries.

"A man that drinks the way he does, cheats at poker and steals girls and locks them up can't be all bad."
Just then a cry of "Indians!" is heard in the street.

Two hundred fierce, painted Apaches come riding out of the hills waving their tomahawks and spears. They ride right through the main street and out again into the other hills.

"Gee," says one cowboy to another, "I wish I could ride like those Indians."

"I'd give anything to be an Indian," the other says. "I can't stand wearing these heavy cowboy clothes in this heat."

We cut back to the stranger. The bed's pretty messed up and the girl is combing her hair.

"Well, see you around," the stranger says, making a notch on his pistol.

"What about me?" the girl cries. "Blackie will kill me."

"That's life," the stranger says as he climbs out the back window quietly and leaves the girl crying on the bed.

want to adopt children is dwindling, and many adoption agency administrators blame liberalized abortion laws.

The state medical society says there were four times as many abortions in North Carolina in 1969 as in 1970. Even more are expected in the future because of further easing of the abortion laws by the 1971 General Assembly.

At the same time, some of the state's adoption agencies say they may be able to place only half as many babies this year as last year.

None of the agencies has stopped taking applications from adoption-minded couples, but each agency has a waiting list several months long.

Ed Nordelman of Charlotte, executive director of Family compromised his position in the occupied territory of West Bank Jordan. He has also alienated the paper-tiger Arab states of Syria and Iraq, whose leaders have been screaming at the fedayeen to get in there and fight the Israelis while they sat in their comfortable offices in Damascus and Baghdad.

If these Arab states should decide to avenge the fedayeen by refusing transit of goods into and out of Jordan, King Hussein would be trapped in a potentially disastrous economic squeeze. He has already lost some $66 million a year in aid from Libya and Kuwait.

But the ultimate cost could be much higher when (if ever) Israel restores sovereignty to the occupied West Bank. The west-bankers most surely will choose independence, or at least semi-autonomy, rather than a return to King Hussein. For Israel, that would be a highly important strategic gain.

and Children's Services, said that two years ago his agency was placing more than 50 white babies each year. Last year the agency, one of four privately operated in the state, placed 35. This year it expects to place 20, and next year, only 12.

A spokesman for Family Services in Winston-Salem said that agency placed 29 babies last year. The organization has placed eleven so far this year, and hopes to reach 20.

Mrs. Peggy Patterson, of Harnett County, supervisor of adoptions for the North Carolina Department of Social Services, in Raleigh, said her agency, through its county offices, placed 790 children last year. But she doesn't foresee reaching that many this year.

One advantage, she said, is that children traditionally hard to find homes for — blacks, handicapped children, and those of mixed racial background—are now easier to place.

Sister Ann Catherine of Scotland, a supervisor for the Catholic Social Service in Charlotte, says she "might be able to place half" of last year's total of 40 babies.

The Children's Home Society of North Carolina, Inc., based in Greensboro, placed 325 children last year, but has been able to place only 154 with more than half of this year gone by.

"Abortion is a heavy factor in this decline," Nadelman said. "We also feel that many more girls are keeping their babies born out of wedlock as it becomes more socially acceptable."

Kathleen Hasty of Charlotte, a supervisor for the Children's Home Society, said she believes many of these babies may be referred to adoption agencies later "as they become more of a burden on their unwed mothers."

The administrators also mentioned the increased access to and education in the use of contraceptives, and the feminist movement as other causes in the decline of adoptable babies.

The first liberalization of North Carolina's abortion laws came in 1967. Before that time, the state's law was patterned after the old English law which made abortion a crime unless childbirth would result in the mother's death. A woman could not legally obtain an abortion even if her pregnancy was the result of rape or incest.

The 1967 liberalization made it legal for a woman to get an abortion if continued pregnancy threatened her mental or physical health, if there were medical indications that her child would be born with some serious defect, or if her pregnancy was the result of rape or incest.

A woman had to be a resident of North Carolina for at least six months before she could obtain an abortion, and two consulting physicians in addition to her regular doctor had to agree that the abortion was necessary under the provisions of the 1967 law.

After the liberalization, the number of abortions began to increase rapidly.

Taylor Says First Lady Off Poll Data Is On Parks Travel In His Favor

RALEIGH (AP) — According to Lt. Gov. Pat Taylor a poll he had made shows if the 1972 primary were being held now, he would win the Democratic nomination for governor.

The lieutenant governor said the poll, which he commissioned, revealed that 32 per cent of those interviewed said they would vote for him, 24 per cent said they favored Atty. Gen. Robert Morgan and 24 per cent favored other possible contenders for the Democratic nomination.

Twenty per cent of those contacted said they were undecided, Taylor said.

"I'm very encouraged by the results of the poll," Taylor commented in an interview.

Oliver Quayle of New York, a professional pulse-taker, conducted the poll.

Taylor, presiding officer of the State Senate, said he has been traveling throughout the state the past three weeks sampling public opinion on his prospects if he enters the gubernatorial race.

The 47-year-old Wadesboro attorney and son of a former lieutenant governor, announced in April that he was seriously considering entering the gubernatorial contest. He said he would make a formal announcement after the General Assembly had adjourned.

Now, he expects to make the announcement within six or seven weeks, Taylor said.

"I've found strong support and encouragement in my talks with people about the state," Taylor added.

Other possible candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in addition to Taylor and Morgan include Sen. Hargrove "Skipper" Bowles, D-Guilford, and Hugh Morton, Wilmington and Linville resort developer.

Morton said last week a poll he had taken showed that if the primary were held now, Taylor would come out in front, he would be second and Bowles third.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Richard Nixon is off today on a cross-country trip promoting the President's "Parks to the People" program by turning over $10.5 million worth of federal land in five states for recreational use.

The first stop on the three-day trip in nearby McLean, Va. accompanied by the President's top domestic adviser, John D. Ehrlichman, Mrs. Nixon will drive from the White House to take part in the McLean ceremonies, transferring 230 acres of federal highway department land near the George Washington Memorial Parkway to the National Park Service.

Ehrlichman will make the formal speech, citing the administration's efforts to give unused federal properties to state and local governments for public leisure-time use, particularly in areas near congested cities.

Mrs. Nixon will present the official certificate of transfer to National Park Service Director George Hartzog so the acreage can be put to public use for walking and biking trails, baseball park and picnic spot.

After that, the President's wife will take off from Dulles Airport for Battle Creek, Mich., for afternoon ceremonies turning over 2,937 acres or about one-fourth of the land at famed Ft. Custer Military Reservation.

With an overnight stop in Minneapolis, Mrs. Nixon will visit Fort Snelling, Minn., and Camp White in Medford, Ore., Tuesday and Border Field, Calif., Wednesday for similar activities. Altogether she will officiate at the turnover of 4,243 acres of federal property.

At the windup Wednesday she'll go to the Western White House at San Clemente, Calif., for a two-week stay. Nixon will join her there Thursday after a three-day speech making cross-country trip of his own.

Mrs. Nixon is flying aboard a

Boeing 707 jet of the presidential fleet, accompanied by her staff and 14 newsmen.

Her press secretary, Constance Stuart, said the first lady's trip is NOT political. But Frank Leonard, director of publications for the Republican National Committee, went along to give Mrs. Nixon's journey a splash in the GOP's publication "Monday."

Drug Abusers

CULLOWHEE, N.C. (AP) — The director of the North Carolina state Bureau of Investigation says housewives are the biggest misusers of drugs as a group. Charles Dunn said Sunday at a seminar of the Southeastern States Rescue Squad that television commercials exhort the use of drugs for every ache, ailment and problem. "Look in your own medicine cabinet," he said.

The drug problem in North Carolina will become worse, Dunn said, adding that every child will have to decide whether to use drugs abusively.

Hard narcotics such as heroin are the fastest-growing drug problem in the state, he said.

Pedestrian Deaths Boost Traffic Toll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A double fatality and four fatal accidents involving pedestrians pushed the weekend traffic toll in North Carolina to at least 18.

The state Highway Patrol said 1,044 persons have died so far this year, compared to 1,014 at this time a year ago.

Two passengers were killed in a car the patrol said was speeding, went off U. S. 401 a mile south of Raeford and hit a tree. They were Willie Johnson, 29, and Cotrena Johnson, 2, both of New York, N. Y.

One of the pedestrians killed was Lewis Edward Craig, 43, of Rt. 6, Asheville. The patrol said he was fixing a flat tire on U. S. 74 a mile east of Asheville at the time.

Others struck by cars were Marshall M. Gaither, 62, of Baltimore, Md., who was hit while walking along a rural road near Mocksville in Davie County; Johnny Currie Averette, 51, of Rt. 3, Fayetteville, who was on N. C. 59 four miles west of Fayetteville; and Russell Lee Harding, 46, of Aurora, who walked into the path of a car on a rural road three miles north of Aurora.

Other victims included Charles D. Wilson, 14, of Arapahoe, who was on a bicycle hit by a car on N. C. 306 south of Arapahoe; and Anthony D. Abbott, 11, of Rt. 1, Walnut Cove, who was a passenger on a minibus hit by a car on a rural Stokes County road.

Victims of one-car wrecks included:

William Carroll Harmon, 29, of Boone; James Wesley Williams, 62, of Durham; Patsy Richardson, 28, of Rt. 1, Hollister; Jesse E. Ryals, 32, of Rt. 2, Kenly; Edwin DeWayne Edwards, 22, of Rt. 1, Cerro Gordo; Tyree Morgan, 51, of Freehold, N. J., near Henderson; Sam Lewis Burton of Stokesdale; Gregory Ransom Rinehardt, 20, of Rt. 1, Mount Pleasant; Silas Caudle, 31, of Rocky Mount; and Randy Jean Hill, 16, of Rt. 2, Deep Run.

Alou's Homer Puts Cards Past Pirates

By BERT ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Sports Writer
Little Matty Alou has the St.

Louis Cardinals thinking big.
The diminutive native of the Dominican Republic blasted a three-run homer Sunday to cap

a five-run eighth inning rally and give the Cardinals a 6-4 victory over his former Pittsburgh teammates, pulling St.

Louis within four games of the slumping first-place Pirates in the National League East.

As the ball cleared the right field wall at Pittsburgh's Three Rivers Stadium, Alou clapped his hands and jumped for joy.

"I knew it was going out as soon as I hit it," said the 5-9, 160-pound first baseman-outfielder.

The victory gave the Cards a sweep of the four-game series and moved them closer to first place than they have been since June 15.

Elsewhere in the National League, San Francisco beat
New York 6-1; Montreal downed Atlanta 6-3; Cincinnati topped Chicago 5-1; Houston edged Atlanta 5-4; and San Diego nipped Philadelphia 5-4 in the first game of a doubleheader and completed a sweep with a 3-2 triumph.

In the American League,
Oakland defeated New York 6-4; Chicago edged Baltimore 2-1; Kansas City trimmed Boston
5-1; Detroit whipped Minnesota
7-5; Milwaukee decided Cleveland 4-2, and California took Washington 4-3 in 10 innings.

Alou, one of three brothers in the major leagues (the others are first baseman-outfielder Felipe with the New York Yankees and outfielder Jesus with Houston) came to the Cards on Jan. 29, 1971 in a trade that also brought pitcher George Brunet to St. Louis in exchange for outfielder Vic Favalillo and pitcher Nelson Briles.

His decisive homer followed singles by Ted Simmons and Joe Hogue off Pirate starter
Bruce Kison and Ted Kubiak's single and pinch hitter Jerry McNertney's two-run single off reliever Bob Miller. The drive, Alou's fourth hit of the game and fourth homer of the season, was the first homer off Miller in 72 2-3 innings this season.

Before the Cards' winning uprising, the Pirates had built a 4-1 lead, with the help of Willie Stargell's 40th and 41st homers, accounting for three runs.

Despite the loss, Pittsburgh's
13th in 17 games, Manager Danny Murtaugh said, "There's no reason to panic. Every club
I have ever managed has had slumps like this."

Nevertheless, the Pirates' lead which was once 11 1/2 games, now is four.

In the NL West, the Giants victory over the Mets rebuilt their lead to six games over Los Angeles.

Juan Marichal pitched his second complete game victory for San Francisco after going winless since June 23. He allowed only five hits.

Willie Mays and Bobby Bonds supplied the Giants' batting punch. Mays slammed a three-run homer, his first since July 18 but his 16th of the season and his 644th lifetime, second only to Babe Ruth's all-time record of 714. Bonds smashed his 22nd homer, a booming 425-foot drive to deep center field at San Francisco's Candlestick Park.

Gary Sutherland keyed a three-run first inning with a two-run single and belted a homer in the eighth, leading Montreal past Los Angeles. Bob Bailey also homered for the Expos, while Jim Fahey collected three singles in support of Steve Renko's nine-hit pitching.

Rookie Ross Grimsley stopped Chicago on four hits, while homers by Johnny Bench and Hal McRae powered Cincinnati's offense against the Cubs.

Ron Santo, Chicago's usually sure-handed third baseman, committed three errors, helping the Reds score two runs.

Jim Wynn's two-run single in the eighth inning, following a single by Bob Watson and Denis Menke's second straight double, enabled Houston to overcome a 4-3 Atlanta lead and beat the Braves. Doug Ra-der's homer with one on in the second produced the first two Astro runs and Larry Howard delivered the other run with a sacrifice fly in the seventh.

The Braves' Hank Aaron extended his hitting streak to 22 consecutive games by smacking his 32nd homer of the season and 624th lifetime in the sixth inning, breaking a 2-2 tie.

Rookie Earl Williams also homered for the Braves in the sixth. It was his 23rd. Nate Colbert's 390-foot single drove in two runs in the bottom of the ninth inning and gave San Diego its first-game victory over Philadelphia. It followed two walks and an infield singles
by Clarence Gaston.

Gaston had lashed a two-run homer in the fifth, while Colbert had a run-scoring single in the seventh.

In the nightcap, Larry Stahl's homer following singles by

Enzo Hernandez and Dave Campbell in the third inning were the only runs Dave Roberts needed to win his 11th game. Roberts allowed only seven hits, and one earned run on Willie Montanez' 25th homer—in reducing his earned run average to 2.04—the lowest in the National League among starting pitchers who have worked 100 or more innings.

Patriot Running-Back Leads Win Over Giants

By LARRY ELDRIDGE
Associated Press Sports Writer
FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) —
Even a new stadium, a record crowd of 60,423 and a monumental traffic jam couldn't steal the spotlight from Carl Garrett.

The hard-running New England back exploded for three long broken field jaunts to lead the way as the Patriots opened their new home with a 20-14
National Football League exhibition victory over the New York Giants Sunday night.

Midway in the first period he returned a kickoff 53 yards, then burst through the line and streaked 44 yards from scrimmage on the next play for his team's first touchdown.

In the third quarter he got loose again, racing 51 yards to help set up a nine-yard run by Jim Nance for what proved to be the decisive score.

"He's beautiful," said Nance of his running mate. "He's there already, no doubt about it. He was just great tonight.
Unreal."

Fran Tarkenton, who came off the bench in the second half and directed a late surge which almost pulled the game out, said it wasn't easy going in that way.

"I'd rather be a starting pitcher than a relief pitcher."

Roger Staubach and Norm Snead made strong bids for starting quarterback berths on the Dallas Cowboys and Minnesota Vikings, respectively, in Saturday night exhibition games.

Staubach, a former Heisman and Maxwell Trophy winner from Navy who is battling to unseat Craig Morton, fired three touchdown passes, including a 69-yard bomb to Bob Hayes and an 81-yarder to Mar-gene Adkins to lead Dallas to a 36-21 triumph over the New Orleans Saints.

Snead, meanwhile, completed 19 of 26 aeriels for 251 yards as Minnesota romped past San Diego 34-7. A former regular with Washington and Philadelphia, Snead was acquired from the Eagles during the offseason and is battling incumbent Gary Cuozzo for the starting job with the Vikings.

Place kickers proved that the foot remains in football in other games.

Jan Stenerud showed he's in mid-season form by booting four field goals including a 50-yarder and accounting for all of Kansas City's scoring in a 12-10 squeaker over Atlanta. Jim Bakken and George Jakowski combined for three field goals to give St. Louis a 16-14 victory over the Houston Oilers in another close one. And Curt Knight's kicking was the difference as the Washington Redskins shaded the Denver Broncos 17-13.

Terry Bradshaw's 33-yard touchdown pass to Dave Smith gave the Pittsburgh Steelers a 16-13 decision over Green Bay, and Earl Morrall's 37-yard scoring toss to Ray Perkins—with 2:22 remaining—helped the Baltimore Colts down the Chicago Bears 21-13.

Rookie quarterback Ken Anderson fired two touchdown passes and running back Jess Phillips ran for two more scores as Cincinnati topped Detroit 31-24. Another rookie, Oakland's Clarence Davis, returned a kickoff 100 yards for a score to break open a 24-20 game and lead the Raiders to a 41-20 triumph over the New York Jets.

Slavic Netter Beats U.S. Star

By MIKE HARRIS
Associated Press Sports Writer
INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Zeljko Franulovic, the calm but relentless Yugoslav tennis star, showed little emotion but exulted in his sensational victory over American star Cliff Richey here Sunday.

Franulovic won his second National Clay Courts Open singles championship with his 6-3, 6-4, 0-6, 6-3 victory over the United States Lawn Tennis Association (USLTA) top ranked male.

"For me," the long-haired,
mustachioed Franulovic said,
"this tournament is more important than Wimbledon. I don't play well on grass, but I play better on clay."

"The two tournaments I most like to play in are here and in Paris at the French Open," he added.

Franulovic won $8,000 for his victory over Richey in a rivalry that has become epic. It is a knock-down, drag-out battle when the two meet, and the two of them have made this tournament almost their personal property.

Richey, from Sarasota, Fla., won the tournament in 1966 and in 1970, when he beat Franulovic in the quarterfinals. Zeljko won here in 1969 when he beat Richey in the semifinals.

The USLTA's top woman player, Billie Jean King, Long Beach, Calif., did just what she was expected to do, beating defending champion Linda Tuero, 6-4, 7-5, to win the women's singles.

In her first appearance in the National Clay Courts Open,
Mrs. King won $5,000 to raise her year's earnings to $72,000, more than any other non-contract professional, men or women.

Franulovic and Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia won the men's doubles, 7-6, 5-7, 6-3, over the top-seeded team of Clark Graebner, New York City, and Eric Van Dillen, San Mateo, Calif.

Mrs. King teamed with Judy Dalton of Australia, one of the world's best doubles players, to win the women's pairs. They routed Miss Tuero and Julie Heldman, Houston, Tex., 6-1, 6-2.

The total payoff for the seven-day tournament was $58,000.

Semi-Pros Get 3-1 Win

Greenville's Semi-Pro team
squeaked by Speed yesterday 3-1. The game was a tight contest all the way through.

Greenville got a run in the fourth and added two more in the fifth as Al Gurganus reached on an infield hit. Grant Jarman slapped a double scoring Gurganus and an error on the play allowed Jarman to score.

Speed got its only run in the eighth inning.

Drivers Add To String Of Wins

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer
The latest chapter in the Allison and Petty show was played in Michigan Sunday, but the auto racing weekend also saw Mark Donohue wrap up his second Trans-American sedan title and Bobby Unser break into the winner's circle for the first time since June 17, 1970.

Bobby Allison beat stock car king Richard Petty by three car lengths to win the Yankee 400 mile stock car race at Michigan International Speedway, making it the third time in three weeks these two have battled to the wire.

Petty's car-length triumph over Allison in the Dixie 500 at Atlanta Aug. 1 propelled the ac-knowledgeed stock car king past the $1 million mark in career winnings.

Allison out-duelled Petty in a short track vent a Winston-Salem, N. C., the next week and Petty came back to beat the newest of his rivals in another small track affair at Ona,

W. Va., last weekend.
And there was doubt at Cambridge Junction, Mich., Sunday as to who would hit the checkered flag first. Allison led 156 of the 197 laps around the banked oval, but in the end had to chase Petty down with only three laps to go in order to take the victory.

Allison's average speed was a record 149.799 miles per hour.
His $15,695 first prize check boosted his season's earnings to $150,480—the best year he has ever had. Petty now lacks only $75 of climbing past the $200,000 mark for the first season in his career.

Buddy Baker, Petty's teammate, was third in a Dodge.
Maynard Troyer of Spencer-port, N. Y., who narrowly escaped with his life in a wreck at Daytona Beach in February, was fourth in a Mercury. Fifth place went to Joe Frasson of Golden Valley, Minn., in a Dodge.

Unser, almost always the fastest in qualifying but seldom a finisher in recent races, beat venerable A. J. Foyt by 12 seconds in the 200 mile Tony Bet-tenhausen Classic at Milwaukee.

The 1968 Indianapolis winner and USAC driving champ led all but eight laps of the race in an Olsenite Eagle owned by exracer Dan Gurney. His average speed for 200 laps around the one-mile oval was 109.386 mph.

Third place went to Gary Bettenhausen, son of the driver for whom the race is named.
Fourth was Wally Dallenbach and fifth was George Snider.

Donohue, probably America's best road racer, won his sixth Trans-Am race of the season at Watkins Glen, N. Y., and practically assured American Motors the manufacturer's championship for Javelin.

Branch, Greenville defeated
Spender 6-1, 6-2.

Irwin, Greenville, defeated
Nance, 6-2, 6-2.

Smithwick, Washington,
downed Beall 4-6, 6-4, 6-3.

Moore, Washington, beat
Hussey, 4-6, 7-5, 6-4.

Spender and Moore defeated
Branch and Irwin 7-9, 6-2, 6-3.

Nance and Smithwick defeated Winn and Bonn 6-4, 10-8.

Blue Gets 22nd; Perry Gets 8th

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
It was Blue Sunday in New York and just another black day for Jim Perry in Minneapolis-St. Paul.

Vida Blue, leading candidate for the Cy Young Award as the American League's best pitcher, responded to a "Blue Day" crowd at Yankee Stadium by leading the Oakland A's to a 6-4 victory over New York.

While Blue continued an amazing success story with his 22nd victory, Detroit stopped Minnesota 7-5 and pinned the eight straight loss on Perry, last year's Cy Young winner.

Perry, who joined the pitching elite last season with a 24-12 won-lost record and led Minnesota to a Western Division title, failed for the 10th straight time to win his 13th game this year. The loss was his 14th. His last victory was June 30, 10-4 over Oakland.

In the other American League games, the Kansas City Royals tripped the Boston Red Sox 5-1; the Chicago White Sox turned back the Baltimore Orioles 2-1; the California Angels defeated the Washington Senators 4-3 in 10 innings and the Milwaukee Brewers bounced the Cleveland Indians 4-2.

In the National League, the St. Louis Cardinals downed the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-4; the Cincinnati Reds clouted the Chicago Cubs 5-1; The Houston Astros trimmed the Atlanta Braves 5-4; the San Francisco Giants ripped the New York Mets 6-1; the Montreal Expos beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 6-3; and the San Diego Padres whipped the Philadelphia

Phillies 5-4 in the first game of a doubleheader and completed a sweep with a 3-2 victory in the night-cap.

A crowd of 45,343 turned up at Yankee Stadium as New York celebrated Oakland's fabulous southpaw with a special day. Thousands wore blue and anyone named Blue was admitted free.

Stockton 'Lucks Out' As He Wins Classic

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer
SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — Dave Stockton hit a young girl with an errant shot and gained a new admirer en route to a $33,000 victory in the $165,000 Massachusetts Golf Classic.

"I lucked out," Stockton said Sunday after his one-stroke victory over Ray Floyd in a pressure-packed finish at Pleasant Valley Country Club. "I got a very good break and it may have been the turning point."

After taking the lead with a 14-foot birdie putt on the 60th hole, Stockton hit a five-iron shot which appeared headed for a hazard off the seventh green.

The ball struck a girl, though, and dropped on the fringe, enabling Stockton to hold his par.

"The girl, about 10 years old, wasn't hurt," he said. "I holed out and gave her the ball. She followed me around the rest of the way. I saw her several times after that."

"You know, that's another

They saw Blue battle the its effects on the 22-year-old Yankees with both his arm and bat. He knocked in the first Oakland run with a squeeze bunt single in the second inning, then survived a four-run New York seventh, before bunting for another hit and eventually scoring the winning run in a four-run Oakland eighth.

The victory was not without good thing about playing near the end of the final round. There are always crowds around the greens. If you hit the ball low and call 'fore' softly enough, a bad shot will hit somebody and you can stay out of trouble."

Stockton, a former Southern California star who will be 20 in November, was in a joking mood after his first victory since he won the PGA championship one year ago.

However, he had to be all business on the course to ward off the challenge by Floyd, Rod Funseth and Bruce Crampton down the stretch of the 72-hole tournament.

Stockton, playing with Funseth ahead of Floyd, applied the pressure from the outset, sinking a 12-foot birdie putt to start the final round.

He moved into a tie for the lead with a 16-foot birdie putt on the 58th hole and went ahead to stay on the 60th.

He added birdies on the 11th, 14th and 15th greens for a sizzling 66 and a total of 13 under par 275, breaking Pleasant Valley's tournament record of 276 set by Arnold Palmer in 1968.

He had earlier rounds of 69, 71, 71 as he pushed his career earnings over $425,000.

Floyd, winless on the tour since he captured the PGA championship in 1969, got a birdie on the final hole for a fine 68, enabling him to pick up second money of $18,810.

Funseth had a 69 for 278 after a 69 finish worth $11,715, while Crampton took a bogey six on the final hole and settled for fourth and $7,755.

Tied for fifth, good for $5,467 each, were Charles Coody, Lionel Hebert, Mike Reasor, Mike Hill and Homero Blancas. Graham slipped to a closing 75 and a share of a five-way tie at 282.

Favorites Take Tournament Wins

CHAPEL HILL (AP) — Raleigh's Tommy Dixon took only 35 minutes to defeat Greensboro's Chip Stam Sunday in the finals of the State Junior Closed Tennis Tournament.

Dixon won the first set 6-0 and took a 4-0 lead in the second set before Stam could win a game in their contest for the title in the 18-and-under division.

Dixon then teamed with Stam in the doubles, and they defeated the combination of Jerry Robinson and Sammy Martin of Raleigh, 6-1, 7-5.

Second-seeded Jane Preyer of Greensboro had little trouble in taking the title in the 18-and-under girls' division by defeating Barbara Keller of Hickory, 6-1, 6-1.

Miss Preyer and Stuart Smith of Winston-Salem won the title in the doubles by defeating Lucy Rose of Goldsboro and Jo Ann Flair of Chapel Hill 6-3, 6-3.

In 16-and-under boys' play, top-ranked Bob Koury of Burlington trounced Joe Merritt of Lexington, 6-3, 6-0.

Favorites took the remainder of the singles matches except in 16-and-under girls where second-rated Nina Cloaninger of Charlotte bested top-seeded Sally Schwepe of Shelby, 6-3, 2-6, 6-1, and in the 10-and-under girls where unseeded Mary Shuford of Hickory easily disposed of top-seeded Dorothy Hamrick of Shelby, 6-2, 6-1.

single, triple and three-run homer as the Royals continued a spell with their ninth straight triumph over Boston and 10th over two season. It was Kansas City's eighth victory in nine games but the red-hot Royals have failed to gain ground on front-runner Oakland in the AL West because the streaking A's have won seven straight.

Steve Huntz delivered a tie-breaking single with two out in the sixth inning, lifting Wilbur Wood and Chicago over Baltimore.

Jay Johnstone opened the decisive sixth with a double and was sacrificed to third. Bill Melton bounced out and Rick Reichardt walked before Huntz singled off loser Pat Dobson, and helped Wood to his 15th victory.

Sandy Alomar led off the 10th inning with a single and eventually scored the winning run on pinch-hitter Billy Cowan's force-play bounce to help California break a four-game losing streak.

After Alomar got his hit, Mickey Rivers beat out a bunt, pinchhitter Ken Berry sacrificed and Johnny Stephenson was intentionally walked before Alomar raced home with the game-winner as Washington failed to complete a double play on Cowan's roller.

Bob Heise doubled home a fifth-inning run and drove in the winner with an infield out in the sixth to give Milwaukee a victory over Cleveland and Sudden Sam McDowell.

Andy Kosco walked with one out in the Milwaukee sixth and took third on Mitchell's double. Ellie Rodriguez was intentionally walked to load the bases and Heise bounced into a force play as Kosco came home with the go-ahead run.

Area Golfers Take Wins

Three local senior golfers took wins in three separate divisions in a tournament held here at Brook Valley Country Club yesterday.

In Class B (65-69), John Proctor took top honors in with a low gross of 155. He had rounds of 76-79 for his winning total. In the 60-64 age bracket, Ercell Webb compiled the low gross with scores of 72-78 for a two-round total of 150.

Reynolds May was low gross winner in the 55-59 class. May shot scores of 74 and 76 for his tally of 150.

Class A winner (70 and over) was Johnny Roycroft of Durham who compiled a score of 171 for the two rounds of play.

Worry Clinic The Secret Is 'Horse Sense'

Ada is a Quaker. She and her husband often discuss this column after they go to bed at night! Which is indirect evidence of its sound psychiatric aid in preventing tragedy. For herein you find surefire techniques by which to solve your own problems and thus prevent divorce, delinquency and failure!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

Case R-535: Ada Q., aged 36, belongs to a Quaker Church.

Recently I addressed its Sunday service and then later came back for an afternoon speech to a convention of its regional Society of Friends.

"Dr. Crane," Ada generously praised my talk, "I certainly enjoy your psychological sermon.

"But my husband and I are avid readers of your daily column."

"In fact, we often discuss it after we go to bed at night!"

Newspaper Counseling
When I launched this column,

its first purpose was to PREVENT divorce, delinquency and family maladjustments.

Note Ada's final sentence! For this column offers you surefire prophylactic psychiatry and psychology.

Which is why I delve behind the obvious symptoms that are leading to a divorce and show you specific techniques for nipping that tragedy in the bud.

Flip answers and pert wisecracks are not what grieving wives or angry husbands desire as their marital feuds keep snowballing.

No; they want to have a helpful diagnosis, with the main background elements that are driving them toward divorce.

Remember, we shall never have enough psychiatrists to step in and personally solve all your domestic problems!

Nor can our Welfare funds even attempt to furnish such widespread free medical service.

So you laymen need to learn the technique by which to employ psychiatric "horse sense" and thus dissect your own problems scientifically.

Many sophisticates, however, resent this approach, feeling that it may deprive them of costly fees.

Others are hostile because they fear their own prestige will be lowered if you intelligent readers become informed and adept at "do-it-yourself" psychiatry.

But the basic aim of all medicine is to eliminate the need for doctors by showing people how to remain healthy and happy.

Although that is their publicized goal, counselors often grow unduly scared lest they then be out of a job!

In fact, many physicians are still irate that you laymen are allowed to read medical books and buy aspirin without their prescription!

You followers of this column have long realized that I expose errors not only in your own homes, but among the clergy, the college professors, doctors and others who have long enjoyed the status of "scared cows."

So when I describe boudoir dilemmas, I analyze the different sexual outlook of the husband versus the wife.

Thus, I don't give you a flip answer or a wisecrack, but delve into the deeper psychological factors that can make little quarrels grow into divorce cases, unless correctly understood.

Ada thus admitted that she and her mate often feuded because of his greater desire for eroticism.

She had tried to dictate his bedroom behavior according to her own feminine outlook.

But now she realizes the different male hunger for erotic calories and boudoir cheesecake.

So she knows she must function as a one-wife harem.

For in sexual monogamy, a 4-horsepower husband is yoked to a one-horsepower wife. To be successful, she must prod herself into being a 4-woman harem.

Once this essential sex difference is clearly understood, the basic cause for divorce vanishes.

For divorce starts in the bedroom!

So send for the booklet "Sex Problems in Marriage," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

First Hospital Is Inaugurated

LIMA (AP) — Peruvian and Cuban officials have inaugurated the first of six hospitals donated by the Cuban government to survivors of the May 31, 1970, earthquake.

The 30-bed hospital was built in the town of Supe, 110 miles north of Lima, and will serve an estimated 5,500 persons in the area, many of whom were left homeless by the quake, the worst in Peru's history.

Belks Will Be Butler, Maid At Special Party

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Charlotte Mayor John Belk and his wife, Mecklenburg District Court Judge Claudia Watkins Belk, will be the butler and maid at a "something special" party planned by Charles R. Willard.

Willard bought the services of Mayor and Mrs. Belk with a $530 bid Saturday at a televised auction. The benefit, sponsored by station WBTV, raised more than $100,000 for Boys Town in Mecklenburg County.

Willard said the Belks would be a butler and maid at his party. He said the mayor would greet callers and Mrs. Belk would help out with drinks, hats and coats. He said the date for the event hasn't been set. The Belks volunteered their services for the auction.

Farm Scene

By S. J. WEEKS

Witchweed is a parasitic plant that attacks corn and other plants in the grass family. This weed is a serious pest in several North Carolina counties, especially in the southern Coastal Plain area. The nearest counties with severe witchweed infestations are Lenoir and Wayne. This pest has been observed on only one farm in Pitt County. To the best of my knowledge this infestation has been completely eradicated.

The witchweed plants above ground are small and bright green. The leaves are slightly hairy and the upper and lower leaf surfaces look alike. The stem is square. Most witchweed plants grow to a height of about eight to nine inches. The flowers are small and brick red or scarlet.

This parasitic plant is grown from seed that can be spread by wind, water or anything that moves seed infested soil. A single witchweed plant can produce up to half a million seeds.

In order for the seed to germinate, it is stimulated by secretions from roots of host plants. When the witchweed seedling germinates and starts to grow it must contact, attach to, and penetrate the roots of the host plant. It normally takes about 30 days for the plant to emerge from the soil after germination. During this period the parasite causes severe damage to the host plant. Flowering begins 20 to 30 days after the seedling emerges. Mature seeds are present nine days after blossoms open. The life cycle of the parasite from germination to release of first seeds takes 70 to 90 days.

As of this date, witchweed has been observed on only one farm in Pitt County. Measures have been taken by the Pest Control Service of the USDA to eradicate the parasite at this location. No witchweed has been observed on this farm since that time. However, the Pest Control Service surveys the county for witchweed each year on a systematic spot check basis.

Currently, two young men are visiting farms in Pitt County to survey certain farms for the presence of the parasite.

If you observe stunted areas in your corn field with weeds appearing as described above, notify the Agricultural Extension Office and we will notify the Pest Control Service to check the area on your farm.

dicating that when the tobacco stubbles are plowed out immediately after harvest, the nematode population can be reduced 70 to 90 percent. Use of this practice alone will not give adequate nematode control, but supplements control obtained with crop rotation and soil fumigation. In a winter management test conducted at the Oxford Experiment Station, where the roots were plowed out, the per acre value was $248 more than the per acre value in plots where the roots were plowed out and oats were used as a cover crop, the per acre value was $889. The use of the oat cover crop, in addition to plowing out the roots, also lowered the root knot index. In all these test plots tobacco was being grown continuously.

Plan now to do your part in making OPERATION R-6-P A SUCCESS in Pitt County. In addition to helping control nematodes, you will be assisting in the control of five other pests to the tobacco plant when you cut your stalks, plow out the stubbles, and two weeks later disc and seed a cover crop. These six pests are: Brown spot, Mosaic, hornworms, budworms, and flea beetles. In order for maximum results to be obtained from OPERATION R-6-P (Reduce 6 Pests) 100 percent participation by you and your neighbors is essential.

BRIDGE QUIZ ANSWERS

Q. 1—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

AKJ10874 ♠ 5 AAK1042

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

2 ♠ Pass 2 NT Pass

3 ♠ Pass 4 ♠ Pass

4 ♠ Pass 4 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?

A—Pass. You have told your story and to proceed with the bid would be somewhat indiscreet. Partner's values, such as they are, do not fit your hand. His spade preference is in the nature of a forced bid, and he can be assumed to have at best a worthless doubleton.

Q. 2—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠64 VAJ86 OK3 AKJ92

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?

A—Two clubs. This is admittedly an underbid but no other call is desirable. You are not strong enough either for the reverse bid of two hearts or a jump to three clubs. Partner should be given the chance to proceed without undue pressure.

Q. 3—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠2 VAJ10532 AQ974 ♠8

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South

1 ♥ 2 ♠ ?

What do you bid?

A—You should first bid two diamonds and no matter what partner responds, you should then employ the Blackwood convention, and partner's response to that will allow you to determine how far you will eventually go in the heart suit. If partner should raise to three diamonds and then subsequently show two aces in answer to your Blackwood bid, you will be in a position reasonably to bid a grand slam. Our second choice for the first response would be an immediate Blackwood bid of four no trump.

Q. 4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

AKJ10965 ♠7 OK643 ♠52

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♥ Pass 1 ♠ Pass

2 NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—Three spades. This hand must play in your suit, and if partner continues to three no trump you must persist to four spades.

Q. 5—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

AKQ5 VAQ5 4 ♠ AKQ10764

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♠ Dbble. Rdbl. 1 ♥

Pass 3 ♠ 4 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?

A—In view of partner's very strong bidding, we recommend a cue bid of four hearts. If partner in turn shows the spade control, you would then rebid clubs and leave the final decision as to slam to partner. It is not sufficient to bid merely five clubs over four diamonds, for such a bid would not show the excess values which your hand contains.

Q. 6—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

AK102 VAQJ74 OK5 AKQ8

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♥ Pass 1 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?

A—With this hand you should insist upon a game contract, and the manner of doing it is to make a jump shift. The indicated call is therefore three clubs. An immediate jump in spades is not acceptable, inasmuch as you have only three trumps.

Q. 7—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

AK1097 VAQJ AQ8 ♠A96

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

2 NT Pass 4 NT Pass

What do you bid now?

A—Pass. You must reject partner's invitation because your two no trump bid was minimum. If anyone in the class treated the four no trump bid as a request for aces, stay after school and read the chapter on the Blackwood convention.

Q. 8—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

AKAQ32 VA9542 OK6 ♠74

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♠ 2 ♠ Dbble. Pass

What do you bid now?

A—This is a close call. We are normally reluctant to leave in doubt a low contract when we have an unnamed five card major, but our defensive values are so good that the penalty may be worthwhile. The deciding factor is the single ace in the two clubs. If the minor suit holdings were reversed, we would lean toward showing the hearts.

Man Drowns In Pamlico

PAMLICO BEACH — A Kingston man, Donald Carroll Mooring, 22, drowned Saturday while boating on the Pamlico River near here.

Mooring and Walter C. Arbogast Jr. of Greenville went out in a 16-foot boat to fish. Beaufort County Coroner J. M. Woolard said. Two other men were ahead of them in a larger boat. Apparently, Woolard said, the smaller hit the wake of the larger one and flipped, throwing the two men out. The occupants of the larger boat managed to pick up Arbogast. A shrimp boat located Mooring's body about 2 a. m.

There's Gold In Milk Cans

JACKSON, Calif. (AP) — Where gold once made men wealthy, Richard Tone is amassing a small fortune by selling 30-cent milk cans for 6¢ each.

Tone, who runs an antique shop in this old gold rush town, bought 7,044 old galvanized cans from the state for $2,000, basing his buy on the simple philosophy that "everyone in the world wants a milk can."

Apparently he's right. The 56-year-old entrepreneur says in just 22 days he made a quick $18,000 by selling 3,000 cans to people who turn them into umbrella stands, washing machines, coffee tables and even "a place for storing dog food."

And Tone, cans stacked in his house, garage, chicken coop and backyards figures he hasn't milked the market dry yet.

"Basically, milk cans are scarce and when things get scarce, people want them. Milk cans are part of the vanishing American scene. And they're so useful," he said.
