'Crash Hearings' Set In House

Nixon, Key Congressmen Confer On Tax-Cut Plans

By BROOKS JACKSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today summoned key congressional figures to sell them on the tax-cut portion of his new economic policy—a policy that already has disgruntled some labor leaders and given the stock market its best day ever.

Among those asked to the White House was Chairman Wilbur D. Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee, who Monday called the President's new economic program "absolutely necessary" and scheduled crash hearings on it for Sept. 8, the day Congress returns from vacation.

Monday brought a worldwide whirlwind of reaction to Nixon's announcement Sunday that he would cut the dollar loose from gold, order a 90-day wage-price freeze, increase tariffs, reduce federal spending and ask Congress to cut taxes for auto buyers, businessmen buying new equipment and, starting next year, the average taxpayer.

—The New York Stock Exchange rocketed to a record single-day gain of 32.93 points in the Dow-Jones industrial average. Foreign stock markets suffered.

—AFL-CIO President George Meany said the new Nixon plan favors business and is "patently discriminatory as far as American workers are concerned." Other labor leaders were generally cool.

—Consumerist Ralph Nader called Nixon's package "a mixture of successful special-interest pleading and anticonsumer policies."

—Foreign industrialists that sell in the United States expressed displeasure, with some calling for retaliation against U.S. goods.

—Importers and foreign embassy officials beseiged the Treasury Department with inquiries about specific applications of the new trade policy.

—Money exchanges in Europe, Africa and Latin America closed. American tourists took a beating exchanging their dollars for local money in informal transactions in hotel lobbies. But the administration said it remains to be seen whether the floating dollar will amount to a devalued dollar.

Reaction from Congress continued generally favorable although some Democrats said the wage-price freeze won't work. Chairman Wright Patman of the House Banking and Currency Committee said the freeze should include control of interest rates. Treasury Secretary John B. Connally said such controls might prompt lenders to hoard their money, and he called on them to furnish "reasonable" interest rates voluntarily.

Connally said the administration expects to make exceptions for the wage-price freeze only in event of "catastrophic" hardship.

He said a severe balance-of-payments deficit, on top of a sluggish economy and unsatisfactory unemployment and inflation, prompted Nixon's new policy.

Hours later, the government announced the deficit climbed to its worst level ever for April, May and June, reflecting an outflow of dollars seeking higher interest rates abroad and America's first deficit in merchandise trade in years.

In another bit of gloomy economy news, the Commerce Department said output of the nation's factories slipped 0.8 per cent in July, worst since the 1.1-per-cent drop during last November's General Motors strike.

School Fees Increased To Meet Budget

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

Greenville School Board members resorted to a combination of increased fees and cutting budget items to come up with $25,707.57 chopped off the current city schools expense budget by the County Commissioners.

The budget balancing act for the coming school year entails raising the general instruction material fee for every school child in Greenville to $4.00. This is a $2.00 per pupil increase over the $2.00 rate of last year. With about 6,000 students in the city schools, this will provide approximately $12,000. Of that amount, $6,000 is being earmarked to help balance the current expense budget, with the other approximately $6,000 to be used within each school for purchase of instructional material.

Three basic options were given full discussion by board members — one, to make an outright commitment of $25,707.57 from the reserve operating balance that now stands at about $65,000; a second option was to trim some items on the budget and dip into the operating balance for the remainder; and the third, to trim the full amount from budget items. The third option, combined with adoption of increased instructional material fees, was the solution chosen by board members.

Deleted from the budget are: a third elementary physical education teacher and a third band or string teacher to replace Thomas Smith who has resigned. This action cut $14,000 from the budget. Also deleted were: $1,000 of a $1,080 budget item for attorney's fees; a proposed maintenance position amounting to $1,500; a reduction of $1,000 in local support for the kindergarten program; and the remaining amount of $2,207.57 from the elimination of a salary of $3,500 for an additional supervision of custodians on an evening shift.

Explaining that the budget items chosen for presentation as possible cuts from the 1971-1972 budget, superintendent Dr. Cleet C. Cleetwood said these were the items that could go first, but added "I don't mean to say we don't need them or to imply that we can do as well without them."

The school superintendent told the board members his personal desire in the options available was to dip into the reserve operating balance funds to come up with the $25,707.57 cut by the commissioners.

In addition to the $4.00 general instructional fee, other student fees approved for the coming school year are: physical education (or towel fee), grades 7-12, $2.00; home economics fee, $2,50; and bookkeeping fees for practice sets, $3.00. The foregoing are the same as last year.

New fees adopted are: arts and crafts, $2.00, for grades 9-12; an industrial arts and cabinet making fee, grades 9-12, $2.50; and a fee of $1.25 for eighth grade students taking the one semester offering in home economics or industrial arts. All these fees are of course applicable only to students participating in the program for which fees are charged.

Pupil insurance charges, a voluntary program, is as previously announced, $3.25 per pupil for school-day coverage, and $15.00 per student for a comprehensive 12 months, 24 hour coverage.

The plight of public schools in securing sufficient insurance for legally required coverage of buildings and equipment was highlighted at the Monday night meeting when board members were informed immediate action had to be taken to secure coverage expiring August 16 on school property value totaling $1,282,500.

"As of the anniversary dates of August 16-17, we are losing over $1,000,000 in insurance that has been cancelled," Dr. Cleetwood informed the board. "The companies simply will not renew."

To meet the deficit coverage, Dr. Cleetwood offered for board consideration a plan for specific coverage of four school properties — C. M. Eppes Gym and cafeteria; Agnew Fullilove (main building and cafeteria); Sadie Saulter School; and the new Home Economics Building at J. H. Rose.

This specific coverage approved by the board will give the $1,282,500 needed, along with general coverage of $6,029,000 still in effect, the required 90 percent coverage, which for the Greenville City schools means a total insurance of $7,311,500 based on a valuation of $8,010,450 for all buildings and equipment.

Board member Lester Turnage noted that "companies do not want school properties any more." Dr. Cleetwood mentioned that the Greenville schools had fared far better than many schools, pointing out that in some situations all regular policies had been cancelled and that schools having to take state insurance were having their premiums doubled.

The premium cost for the Greenville City School insurance now stands at $10,455.

British Moving To Forestall 'Retaliation'

LONDON (AP) — The British government today sought two international meetings in an effort to stave off worldwide protectionist retaliation against President Nixon's emergency program to strengthen America's trading and financial position abroad.

Prime Minister Edward Heath and his Cabinet met in special session Monday night, and informants reported the Conservative government would seek:

1. A meeting of the "Group of 10" leading industrial nations —the United States, Britain, Canada, West Germany, Italy, France, Belgium, the Netherlands, Sweden and Japan—to discuss revision of the 27-year-old international monetary system based on fixed exchange rates with the dollar.

2. A meeting with finance ministers of Britain's prospective partners in the Common Market—France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

The Common Market's monetary committee was meeting today in Brussels to study Nixon's new monetary policies, and Dutch Finance Minister Roelof Nelissen said the finance ministers of the six nations would meet in Brussels Thursday.

Although the Nixon administration maintains that it is too early to talk about devaluation of the dollar, most Europeans view the suspension of America's promise to change foreign dollar holdings into gold as just that.

Judge Hears Evidence In ECU Editor's Suit

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

NEW BERN — U. S. District Judge John Larkins yesterday heard testimony in a case against East Carolina University officials brought by Robert Thonen, former editor of the ECU student newspaper "Fountainhead", who was suspended last spring for allowing abusive language to be published in the paper.

Thonen and William Schell, author of the letter which contained the four-letter word in the salutation, filed the complaint with the U. S. Eastern District Court several months ago, seeking among other things $25,000 in damages from ECU president Dr. Leo Jenkins, Dean of Student Affairs James H. Tucker, Associate Dean of Students Jim Mallory and student Attorney General Henry Gorham.

Thonen, currently employed in the production department of the paper as a type-setter, was readmitted to school under a temporary restraining order issued by Judge Larkins as was Schell, pending the final disposition of their complaint.

Thonen testified that he had had conversations with Dr. Jenkins about the use of four letter words and was told it was "not a good idea . . ." to use them, prior to the publication of the Schell letter.

But Thonen told the court it was the policy of the Publications Board (the publishers of the paper) and his personal policy to publish anything that was not illegal.

Under cross examination of Thonen by N. C. Assistant Attorney General A. A. Vanore, Thonen said, "I disagreed with the effectiveness . . ." of using four letter words, but termed it "unethical for me to dictate opinion. . ."

The former editor said that in a survey of students last January, more than 50 per cent indicated they supported the policy of allowing four letter words to be published, but less than 50 per cent said they should be used.

"I personally don't use four letter words . . . I think it hurts . . . but others have a different opinion."

A history major from Alexandria, Virginia, Thonen said the school newspaper has a "captive audience" and all students should have "an equal opportunity to be heard."

Dr. Jenkins testified that he felt the salutation using the four letter word was "offensive, in poor taste and not in the best interest of our institution."

The university president said Thonen had indicated he ". . . didn't think much of its effectiveness (the use of four letter words) . . . but had the duty to do this type of thing (publish comments and opinions of others)."

Jenkins said Thonen was suspended by the University Board after Thonen was charged with violating the campus code prohibiting the use of abusive language. Schell, the university president explained, dropped out of school on his own accord, then applied for re-admission for Summer School.

Judge Larkins, who gave both the plaintiff and the defendants until August 30 to file briefs in the case, is expected to enter a judgment sometime in early September.

Order Testing Of N.C. Oysters

RALEIGH (AP) — A state official said today tests have been ordered of oyster beds along North Carolina's coast to make certain the oysters are safe to eat.

Roy Sowers, secretary of natural and economic resources, said 10 testing centers had been set up to determine if oysters were absorbing "toxic materials derived from mercury lead, zinc, arsenic, antimony and cadmium.

"We have no evidence of any major contamination dangerous to human life. We just want to make sure that none ever occurs," Sowers said.

Sowers discussed the oyster tests in an address prepared for a statewide workshop on toxic metals in water.

He said the tests were being conducted eight times a month under a program operated jointly by the Division of Commercial and Sports Fisheries and the state Agriculture Department.

NO CASUALTIES

The 'Endeavour' Is Back In U.S.

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The USS Okinawa, prime recovery ship for the Apollo 15 splashdown, has brought the Endeavour spacecraft back to the United States.

The capsule, which carried astronauts David R. Scott, James B. Irwin and Alfred M. Worden to the moon and back, arrived Monday and will be deactivated at North Island Naval Air Station. On Friday it will be taken by motor transport to North American Rockwell at Downey where it was assembled.

Firemen On Hand When Gasoline Truck Righted

FIREFIGHTERS WERE READY... had the gasoline truck that overturned on a Greene County rural road ignited as it was being set on its wheels. There was no fire, however. Firemen from Castoria, Farmville, and Snow Hill participated. (Photo by Jim Hubbard)

MOUNT HERMAN CHURCH — Two fire departments stood by and a third provided a foam generator yesterday afternoon as a gasoline truck was uprighted after it overturned about a mile west of here.

Highway Patrolman Gary Perkins said Russell Letchworth, a driver for the Stocks Oil Company of Snow Hill, lost control of the truck in a curve on this rural road connecting U.S. 258 and N.C. 91 during a rain and went out across a field to keep from colliding with an oncoming car. Letchworth apparently pulled sharply to the right, he said, but the weight of the truck made it swerve to the left and overturn about ten yards from the road.

The Farmville Fire Department got special permission to go into Greene County to participate in the precautionary measure instigated by the Castoria Fire Department. Its participation was requested because it has foam equipment needed in fighting petroleum fires. A generator of foam from the Snow Hill Fire Department was also sent out to escort the truck back to Snow Hill.

Letchworth was taken to Wilson Memorial Hospital for treatment of minor injuries.

Tropical Depression Brings Wind, Rain

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — A tropical depression battered the Carolina coast with wind and rain today after forcing about 100 families to evacuate their homes in low-lying areas of Savannah and Chatham County, Ga.

Savannah and the vicinity had 7.04 inches of rain in a 12-hour period. Between four and eight inches of rain was expected today in the coastal area between Charleston, S.C., and Morehead City, N.C., and an area 100 miles offshore.

At 6 a.m. (EDT) the depression was centered 50 miles west of Charleston, and was moving northeast at 15 miles per hour. The track was parallel to and slightly inland from the coast, and the National Hurricane Center in Miami said it would take only a small change in direction to carry the storm offshore. In this case it would pick up intensity over water and, the center said, would probably become a tropical storm within a few hours.

The advisory said winds of 35 miles per hour in squalls were likely, with tides between one and three feet above normal.

For a tropical storm, winds of 48 knots, or about 50 miles an hour, are necessary.

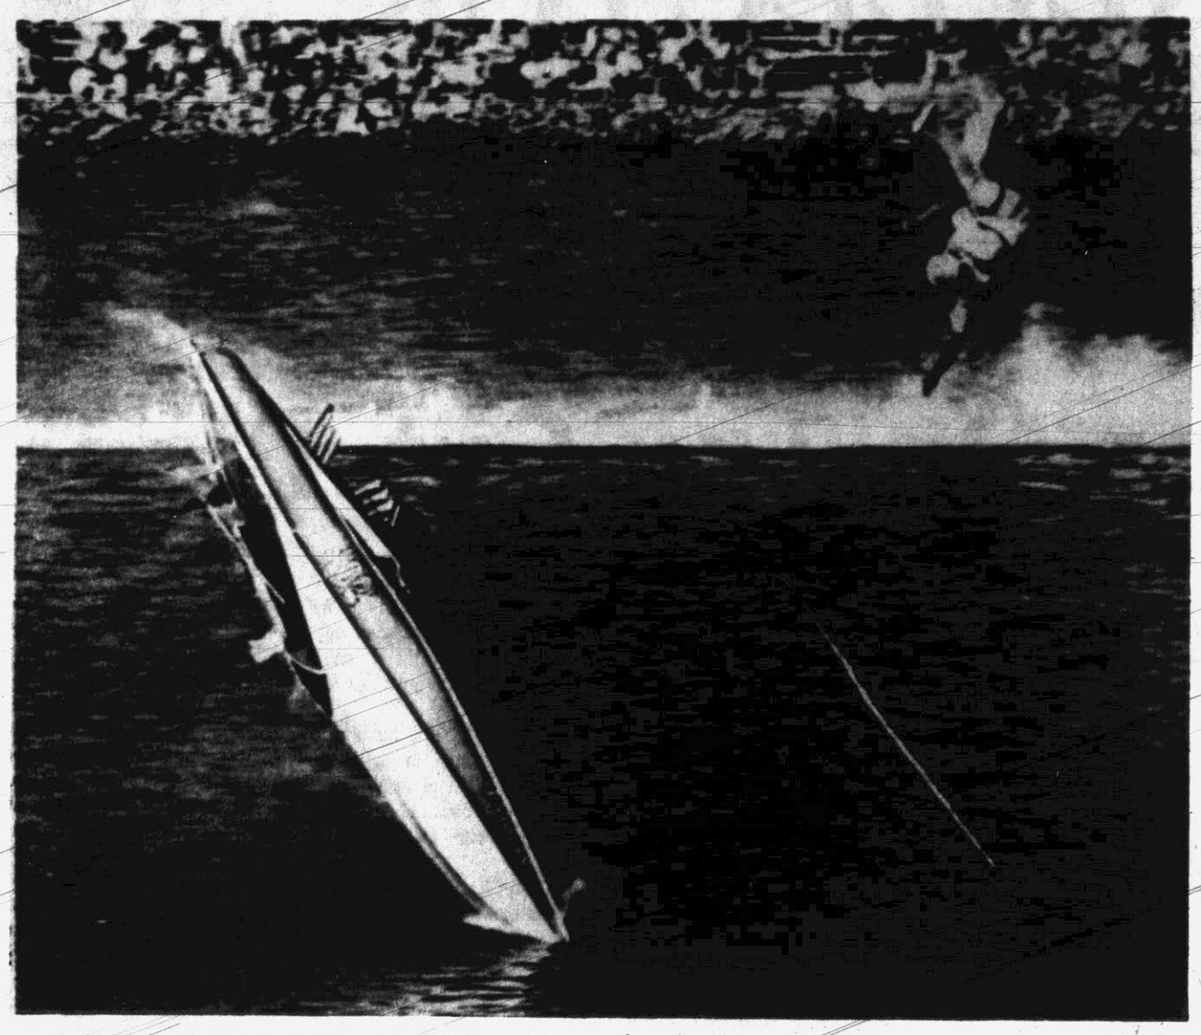

The National Weather Service advised small craft to remain in port from Savannah to Cape Hatteras, N.C.

A flash flood watch was in effect for the coastal plains of South Carolina, and for eastern North Carolina.

The storm swept into Georgia and the Carolinas after soaking northwestern Florida for three days.

Showers and thundershowers also fell today in portions of North Carolina other than the coastal area. High temperatures generally were in the comfortable 70s and lower 80s, and that was the range forecast for Wednesday.

Questions And Answers On Wage-Price Order

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite President Nixon's wage-price freeze, importers will be allowed to pass on to American consumers the cost of the new 10-per-cent duty on foreign-produced goods.

The Treasury issued the ruling late Monday, after being bombarded with queries from importers who feared they would be caught in a squeeze between the price ceiling and the increased tax surcharge.

The flood of inquiries touched off by Nixon's mammoth economic package continues unabated at the Treasury and Labor departments and at the Office of Emergency Preparedness.

The following questions and answers on the freeze are based on official texts and statements and the replies of agency spokesmen concerned.

Q. How can a consumer check on whether a merchant is complying with the freeze?

A. The presidential order requires that all persons in the business of selling or providing goods or services must "maintain for public inspection a record of the highest prices or rents charged for such or similar commodities during the 30-day period ending Aug. 14, 1971."

Q. Are dividend payments and interest charges also frozen to previous levels?

A. Nixon has asked the nation's bankers to hold the line on interest. Lacking authority to control dividends, he is asking corporations voluntarily not to raise their dividend payments.

Q. What about profit margins?

A. Not covered. The ban on price increases is expected to hold profits down.

Q. What is the ceiling level?

A. Until Nov. 12, no price or wage may exceed the level that prevailed in the month ended Aug. 14, 1971. A lower price may be charged, but not a higher.

Q. Does the freeze apply to wages paid and services provided by state and local governments as well as private businesses?

A. Yes. Texas and some other states have approved pay increases for state government workers to take effect Sept. 1, but the presidential order calls for postponement of the increase until freeze ends.

Q. Can state universities raise tuitions to take effect when school starts in September? Can state public utility commissions grant rate increases?

A. The rates can be raised, but the increases cannot take effect until expiration of the freeze on Nov. 12, 1971.

Q. What about school teachers who have signed pay contracts to take effect with the opening of school in September?

A. The official answer, at this moment, is that the pay increase must be postponed. But a Treasury statement is reported in the works and may modify or clarify the government's position.

Q. Will Nixon's proposed repeal of the 7-per-cent excise tax bring a rollback in the price of new cars?

A. Yes, but only when Congress actually enacts the repeal legislation. Nixon said he will insist that the excuse saving, averaging about $200 per car, he passed on to consumers.

Q. If a scheduled wage increase is deferred because of the freeze, can the workers get the increase retroactively when the freeze ends?

A. No ruling has been made. There is no language in the President's order or White House explanatory statements providing for retroactive payment.

Q. Oregon has a cigarette tax scheduled to take effect Sept. 9. This would raise the price of cigarettes. Is such a tax increase blocked by the freeze?

A. The presidential order does not mention tax increases, and some officials doubt that a federal order could legally interfere with a state tax action.

Q. What about the 1972 model auto prices, announced by most of the companies but not yet in effect?

A. Unless the increased prices were in effect on Aug. 14 they must wait until the freeze ends.

A. That's the way the presidential order reads.

Q. What happens when the 90-day freeze expires?

A. Secretary Connally says: "I don't know." The followup procedure is to be worked out by the new cabinet-level Cost of Living Council. Nixon has directed its members to work with industry and labor leaders "to set up a proper mechanism for achieving continued price and wage stability."

Q. Does that mean some kind of wage-price guidelines, or a wage-price review board, or what?

A. Officials so far have not even given any hints.

MURDERS INCREASE

NEW YORK (AP) — Homicides in the city have risen 30.1 per cent for the first six months of 1971 as compared with a similar period last year, says Dr. Milton Helpern, chief medical examiner.

The borough of Manhattan led with 389 murders. Brooklyn was next with 388. Homicides from January to June totaled 714. Most of those murdered were Negroes.

Organize For Big Fight

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Drys organized Monday night for a stiff fight against liquor by the drink in Mecklenburg County.

They decided to fight from the pulpit, over TV, and in mass rallies at the Charlotte Coliseum.

A referendum on mixed drinks will be held in the county in November.

The Coliseum, which has a capacity of 13,000, has been booked for four rallies, in September and October. They will be filmed, and will be shown over local television.

About 250 persons representing more than half a dozen churches met and appointed Charlotte lawyer Allen Bailey as leader of the drive. He previously was named the legal representative of the drys, to bring a court test of the constitutionality of the referendum as special legislation.

Supermarket executive W. T. Harris, a member of the Board of County Commissioners and a former president of the Charlotte Chamber of Commerce, was appointed chairman, to raise money for the campaign of the drys.

The Chamber of Commerce is leading the wet forces. Two weeks ago it named insurance man and Democratic party stalwart Raymond King to lead its campaign.

Rescue Five On Grounded Yacht

HATTERAS, N. C. (AP) — The Coast Guard rescued five persons Sunday after a 60-foot yacht went aground six miles from the Hatteras Lighthouse.

The Coast Guard reported that the yacht Nike, owned by Wes Worsham, had been reported overdue. While search efforts were being made, it radioed it was aground.

Coast Guard boats from the Hatteras Inlet Station attempted to reach the grounded vessel, but were prevented by shallow water. The five passengers, clad in life jackets, managed to reach two life boats about 50 yards away.

The vessel later capsized on its side, but Coast Guardsmen were able to pump out the water and refloat the vessel.

Jamboree Scouts Given Unexpected Japan Tour

By ROGER BILLICA

The past two days have been packed with some bonus activities for the scouts of the 13th World Jamboree in Japan. The typhoon that supposedly brushed past the Jamboree early Thursday, swung back around and unleashed its full force upon the 23,700 scouts attending the Jamboree.

By Thursday evening most scouts had lashed down everything they owned so that it would not be blown away by the strong winds. The full impact of the typhoon arrived Thursday night and lasted through most of Friday. Many troops began evacuating their campsites Thursday afternoon while others decided to try and wait it out. Our troop, 634, was one of the ones that stayed. However by early Friday morning the situation was so bad that the decision was made to evacuate the complete Jamboree. At 2:00 a.m. Friday morning we moved out.

Being in a hurry, we were only allowed to take with us the clothes we were wearing. The headquarters was very crowded with troops waiting to leave, but in a couple of hours we were put on a military truck and shipped out. We soon arrived at a nearby Buddhist temple that was already packed with 9,000 scouts from the Jamboree. Staying there for most of the morning, all of us tried to get as much sleep as possible. However, at 11:30 we were again moved, this time on a bus, to a small college near the Jamboree site. The students there were very nice and helpful, letting us take showers in their dorms and other things. We stayed in a classroom, ate Japanese food with chopsticks in a cafeteria, and learned quite a lot about Japan from talking with the students. We slept in the classroom that night, grateful for the many acts of kindness shown us that day.

Saturday morning we left the college to head back to the Jamboree site, not knowing what to expect. The rain was still coming down lightly, off and on but the campsite was not in really bad shape. A lot of equipment was wet but nothing was ruined by the rains. During the typhoon our campsite had been under six inches of water. Some camps had been under more than a yard of water. A few tents had been torn by the high winds but the scouts began cheerfully to do the many things necessary to get the camp back in shape. Tents had to set back up, trash picked up, equipment dryed out, and clothes needed washing. Right before noon the sun came out for the first time in three days and everything went a lot easier after that.

By Saturday evening all was back in shape. We had three more days left in the Jamboree and were going to make the most of them.

Booked Wife And Paid Fine

MIAMI (AP) — Patrolman Otis Pitts booked his wife on two driving charges, testified against her in traffic court Monday, then paid her $10 fine and promised to baby sit while she attends drivers' school.

Pitts said he was called to an accident Friday—the 13th—and found his 28-year-old wife, Dorothy, had crashed into the rear of another auto.

The patrolman charged his wife of nine years with careless driving by failing to have the vehicle under control and not having a valid driving license.

Mrs. Pitts pleaded guilty and Judge Frederick Barad sentenced her to a $25 fine or three days in jail suspended on condition she go to drivers' school. He fined her $10 for not having a Florida drivers' license.

Rate Protestors Have Generator

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C. (AP) — A couple who had their electricity cut off last week to protest rate increases at Fayetteville won't be reading by kerosene lamps anymore.

Mrs. John Simmons said Monday she and her husband have borrowed a gasoline-powered generator from her brother in Rockingham.

"It's just great," she said. "You plug the thing in and all the lights go on ... just as bright as you could want."

Many Fayetteville citizens are protesting the rate boost which averaged 22 per cent.

Quake Changed Children's Lives

By NAOMI RUBINE

LOS ANGELES (WNS) — "I just can't explain it — the devil is in her," said Mrs. R., the distraught mother of an 11-year-old girl. "She used to be an angel."

Sixth-grader Karen, the angel-turned-devil, is one of the many young children in Los Angeles whose lives were changed by the February 9 earthquake that rocked their homes, woke them from their dreams, and generally turned their life into a nightmare.

"She wouldn't sleep through the night," continues her mother, one of the many parents who took their children to the San Fernando Valley Child Guidance Clinic during the first weeks after the disaster struck. The Clinic offered free counseling services, and as a result received over 600 phone calls and held group therapy sessions for another 600 children and adults who suffered fears and anxieties after the quake.

Now, five months later, Karen is one of those youngsters still suffering. While she has finally adjusted to sleeping through the night, she has, nonetheless, undergone what her mother sadly describes as "a complete personality change."

"She was always a competitive child," explains her parent, pointing out that Karen has a six-year-old brother who slept right through the quake itself, and thereby hasn't shown any signs of disturbance.

Hostile

"But now she is hostile, extremely fresh. She constantly complains about her teachers, something she never did before." Although Mrs. R. is still attending therapy sessions with Karen and a trained guidance counselor, she is beside herself.

"I'm told that I must be more strict with her, something I never was before. But, then, there was never any need to be strict before. That's what makes it so difficult."

Less difficult is Mrs. B's problem. Her daughter is 6; she has a son who is 3. He has no problem. The little girl is just getting over hers.

"Diane wouldn't sleep through the night. She would wake up her brother and take him into her room with her, or else she'd come and sleep on the floor in the hall outside our bedroom," explains Mrs. B. "I took her to the clinic immediately, and it helped for the time being, but then the problem started again."

Well-Adjusted

It was especially trying for Mrs. B, who had always bragged about what a marvelously well-adjusted child she had. And that was, she admits, part of the problem. "I guess I just couldn't face the fact that she had a problem I didn't know how to handle."

What Mrs. B found out was that while she was telling her child to go back to bed, she was also feeling very sorry for the "poor thing." Diane sensed her mother's pity, and even liked it.

As Dr. Stephen Howard, Director of Clinical Services at the Clinic, points out: "There is something called 'secondary gain.' Sometimes a child continues to behave in a certain way — such as fearful — even after the fear has subsided or disappeared. What happens is the attention received because of the fear is very rewarding. The child likes his parents' pity — and continues to 'milk' it — even though this may be done subconsciously.

"As soon as I became more forceful," explains Mrs. B, "Diane responded. Now she is back to normal, and I think I'm a stronger mother as a result."

Fears To Surface

Is it possible to perceive the earthquake as being good in a way, in that it brought out anxieties that perhaps needed to come to the surface?

Dr. Howard smiles. "The point is well-taken, but I would still have to say 'no'. Let's face it. Practically everyone in this society — child or adult — is harboring some kind of fear or apprehension about something. That does not mean that those problems necessarily need ever be dealt with.

"I think the saddest part about this earthquake situation — or any natural disaster situation — is that really well-adjusted children, with parents who are totally unprepared for crisis, are sort of mentally uprooted, forced to face fears that for most of us never have come to the surface."

Supreme Officer Visits Greenville Shrine No. 7

On Wednesday evening Greenville Shrine No. 7 Order of White Shrine of Jerusalem was honored by a visit from the Supreme Watchman of Shepherds, Rev. Sinclair Tebo, of Camel Shrine No. 5 of Winston-Salem, at the Masonic Temple.

"Tebo Friendship Night" began with a buffet supper prior to the regular meeting at 6:30 p. m. in the dining room.

Members from Coastal Shrine of New Bern, Fort Macon Shrine of Newport, Onslow Shrine of Jacksonville, North State Shrine of Raleigh, Gate City Shrine of Greensboro, and Camel Shrine of Winston-Salem were present along with Greenville members to show appreciation.

The Rev. Tebo was educated in grammar school in Canada and Detroit, Mich., receiving an A. B. degree from Alma College, Alma, Mich., B. Th. M. R. E. from Auburn Theological Seminary, Auburn N. Y. He is an ordained Presbyterian minister and held pastorates in Michigan, New York, and Winston-Salem.

He is a Past Master of Pioneer Lodge No. 685 AF & AM Winston-Salem, Past High Priest, Past Master and Past Commander of York Rite Bodies, Past Grand Chaplain of Grand Lodge of N.C., Past Grand Master of Grand Council R. & S. M. of N.C., a Shriner, a member of Allied Masonic Degrees.

He is also Past Worthy Patron of W. C. Kearns Chapter 298 O. E. S., a member of Triad Court No. 13 Order of the Amaranth, and a Past Watchman of Shepherds of Camel Shrine No. 5 of Winston-Salem.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Alma Paramore, Worthy High Priestess of Greenville Shrine. Distinguished guests were introduced by Mrs. Blanch Jackson, Past Worthy High Priestess of Greenville Shrine.

Distinguished guests presented and introduced were: Rev. Sinclair Tebo, Supreme Watchman of Shepherds; Joe Reilly, Deputy Supreme Watchman of Shepherds; Oscar Sermons, Supreme Obituary Committee; Mrs. Ethel Reilly, Supreme Special Obituary Committee; Mrs. Sue Gardner, Supreme Special Music Committee;

Worthy High Priestesses, Mrs. Agnes Stephenson and Mrs. Ruth George; Richard Pearson, Watchman of Shepherds; Past Worthy High Priestesses, Mrs. Winifred Holt, Mrs. Lillian Hendrix, Mrs. Eva Corbett, Mrs. Thelma Maxwell, Mrs. Nell Moore, Miss Annie Turner, Mrs. Hazel Chadwick, Mrs. Mae Moore, Mrs. Betty Lupton, Mrs. Mamie Sermons; Past Watchman of Shepherds, T. I. Moore and Jack Holt.

A program carrying out "Tebo Friendship Night," which included a monetary gift, was presented by officers of the Greenville Shrine. An honorary membership was presented to the Supreme Watchman of Shepherds by Mrs. Nancy Willard, Noble Prophetess of Greenville Shrine.

Following a talk on the principles of the Order by Rev. Tebo, the Shrine adjourned to the dining room for refreshments and a social hour.

Should Couple Have Wedding Reception?

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: My fiance and I have been engaged for four years [he was in Viet Nam] and we are getting married in November. The problem is my mother died five months ago and my father says he will give me away, but he doesn't want us to have anything except a ceremony in the Methodist church because he just couldn't face people without mom. My aunt who has been like a mother to me says I should have a reception afterward regardless of what dad says, and I really would like to, but I hate to go against dad's wishes. I've got to consider my fiance's family, too. They deserve something more than a twenty-minute ceremony.

I've saved my own money for this wedding, Abby, so it's not costing daddy a penny. Please help me decide.

BLUE BRIDE

DEAR BRIDE: If your father doesn't want to greet people after the ceremony, he doesn't have to, but he shouldn't deprive you and your fiance of a reception following the ceremony.

DEAR ABBY: The other night my boy friend took me to a nightclub to see one of our favorite entertainers. Unfortunately we couldn't enjoy the show because of a loud drunk in the audience who kept shouting and making a disturbance.

The manager threatened to put him out if he didn't quiet down, but it didn't help much. Finally the entertainer told the loud drunk to shut up. At that point my boy friend became so exasperated he took a piece of ice out of his drink and threw it at the drunk, hitting him on the head.

I told my boy friend it was up to the management to handle the drunk, and even tho they didn't do a very good job of it, he had no right to take the matter into his own hands.

My boy friend said he paid to see a show, and if anyone tried to deny him of that right, he was justified in handling the matter himself. Who is right?—HAVING WORDS

DEAR HAVING: You are.

DEAR ABBY: The other night some friends of ours and my husband were at a party. Everyone had a few drinks, and I had enough to make me woozy so I went into the bedroom and stretched out on the bed. I was lying there with a cold wash rag over my face and my eyes closed when someone came into the bedroom and kissed me. I was afraid to open my eyes to see who it was, but I am sure it wasn't my husband.

I am afraid to ask any of the men who were at the party for fear of asking the wrong one. What must I do?

SURPRISED

DEAR SURPRISED: Forget it. Maybe it was one of the girls.

DEAR ABBY: I have just discovered a very important fact I hope you will print to save many people from unhappiness.

Marriage is not for everyone. I think this is mainly true of men, but it applies to some women, too. I was married for several years to one of the prettiest and nicest women on earth, but this didn't keep me from being attracted to other women. We are now divorced for that reason and now I realize I never should have been married in the first place. Some people are simply incapable of being faithful.

No conceit intended, but I am a very desirable man, and it is impossible for me to be around an attractive woman without flirting with her. Now that I am a bachelor I can do as I please without worrying about hurting anyone as I will limit my attentions to unmarried women. BORN SWINGER

DEAR SWINGER: Boys flirt. Men prefer a deeper, more mature relationship. No one is incapable of being faithful. But many are unwilling.

DEAR ABBY: For that lady who wanted to know how to discourage door-to-door religious salesmen who ring your doorbell and expect to be invited in to sell their brand of religion.

Here is how I solved that problem: I tell them I am a nudist, and if they will come in and take their clothes off and listen to my story, I will then listen to theirs. So far, no takers.

Lindsay Is Bad News To Some

New York Mayor John Lindsay's switch to the Democratic Party may have some party faithful jumping with joy, but it is definitely not good news to those Democrats now expressing an interest in their party's presidential nomination.

Lindsay will have to be considered a potential rival to several prominant Democrats who have laid groundwork for some time in preparation for seeking the nomination.

Lindsay himself did not make the rivals feel better about it in making his switch announcement.

He said the Democratic convention will be open next year.

"Whether this means I will run for president, I do not know. But it does mean that I am firmly committed to take an active part in 1972 to bring about new national leadership."

To us, he sounds like a candidate.

One Returns To Beginnings

By BRYAN HAISLIP

BATH — We went East to our beginnings.

Through flat, rich farmlands and still verdant pine woods we traveled to the mouth of the Pamlico River where the first incorporated town in North Carolina keeps unspoiled the treasure of our heritage.

Here men dreamed of commerce and culture in a raw wilderness, endured the hardships of war, natural disaster and disease, and survived with fortitude and saving humor.

Bath today is placid in the August sun. The tenor of its life is even and unruffled either by the legendary parson's curse which blighted its promise of greatness or the increasing flow of visitors to its historic sites.

Mayor Ray Brooks made us welcome.

He gave us the run of the Jacob Van Der Veer house, an 18th century dwelling of significant architectural interst that awaits restoration. He took us through the Palmer-Marsh house whose hospitality warmed Governor William Tryon and various colonial notables. He directed us to the St. Thomas Church, built in the first third of the 1700's and the oldest in continuous use in North Carolina.

100-Year-Old Fig Bush

We ate figs with him from a bush which has shared its fruit with Bath citizens and visitors for more than 100 years.

"Things haven't changed much," Brooks said cheerfully. His 59 years all have been spent in the village. "It's a good place to live. Our problem is that we don't have industry or anyting for jobs to keep our young people here."

Population is 236, recently figured for the town's annual allotment of Powell Bill money from the state for street work. That's not much changed over the past century or so. "We about held our own for the last 10 years," Brooks added.

History is proving good for the economy of Bath, chartered as the state's first municipality in 1705 and inhabited by first Indians and then colonists for uncounted years before. Since the Historic Bath Commission was formed in 1959, an enlarging complex of historic buildings has been preserved and restored.

More and more visitors find their way off the beaten track to Bath. For the fiscal year ended last July 1, the total was around 18,000, almost double the previous year.

Prayer and Laughter

There is poetic appropriateness in the fact that a man of faith and a man of humor led the efforts to preserve colonial Bath, a town that owes survival equally to the ability to pray and to laugh off disaster.

They were the Rev. A. C. D. Noe, pastor emeritus of St. Thomas, an Edmund H. Harding, a renowned wit and after dinner speaker.

Harding served as chairman of the Historic Bath Commission from its creation until his death last September 20. The commission plans completion of the Van Der Veer restoration as a memorial to him.

An immediate goal is to raise $15,000 to match a $7,500 challenge grant from the Smith Richardson Foundation of Greensboro. Mrs. W. R. Roberson, Jr., of Washington is chairman of a committee making a statewide appeal for the project.

Harding's distinctively Tar Heel humor and his unflagging devotion to the state's heritage gives a memorial to him far more than local interest, Mrs. Roberson noted.

Mrs. Ruth Smith of Bath and Raleigh donated the Van Der Veer house, built around 1790 by Dr. Ephriam Whitmore and named for an early 19th century owner. When restored, it will be the only gambrel roofed building in the village and a sixth important historic structure to be preserved.

Walking With Ghosts

We left the Palmer-Marsh house and its massive elms who shade fell on colonial legislators when the General Assembly met in Bath. Only the lack of a Senate vote failed to name Bath the permanent capital.

We walked up Water Street past the decaying Buzzard's hotel, dating from the mid-18th century. Its simple quarters sheltered settlers who thronged Bath for court sessions and trade.

No one was in sight.

"Don't you feel someone is with us?" Mary Allen asked.

Dim spirits crowded the sunlight... John Lawson, one of Bath's first commissioners, explorer and author of an early description of New World natural hisotry... Edward Teach, notorious as Blackbeard the pirate... George Whitefield, the Anglican gosepelizer said to have laid on Bath the curse never to prosper beyond a village.

And Edmund Harding, smiling among the motley crew and fashioning funny stories to edify and entertain.

"Yes," I said. "They're friendly ghosts. When you know the past, you can't be afraid of it."

How Many More Must Die In North Ireland?

To outside observers it appears that citizens of Northern Ireland seem bent on self destruction.

The animosity there goes back to ancient rivalries between Protestants and Catholics and, while we recognize that the differences are very real to the people involved, we wonder how many more will have to die before a settlement is reached.

As with all internal strife it is obvious that one day the bloodshed will have to be settled with reasonable men negotiating around a conference table.

It does not seem that the belligerents in Northern Ireland are ready for this yet, however. And so the destruction and death will go on until the majority of the citizens come to realize that violence is a futile way to settle differences; that negotiation is the only way.

Jackson Liked By Youth Group

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Leaders of the youth arm of the Socialist party of the U. S. paid a secret visit last week to Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, ridiculed by the Democratic party's current tastemakers as a "conservative" and a "hawk," and came away enamoured.

The nine-member delegation from the Young People's Socialist League (YPSL) made no commitment to back Jackson. Indeed, they are also favorable to Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota (whom they visited the next morning) and, less surely, to Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine. But, unofficially, the heart of the Young Socialists now belongs to Scoop Jackson.

Such backing from a relatively obscure left-of-center youth group puts a new perspective on the candidacy of dark-horse Jackson. Support from a young socialist group suggests he is scarcely the reactionary he is currently portrayed.

Moreover, YPSL typifies the voters the Democratic nominee needs to defeat President Nixon. Unlike the New Left campus organizations, YPSL consists of working-class, predominantly Roman Catholic students, whose parents are labor union members, and who have been an effective counterweight against New Left campus excesses.

As such, they have been attracted by Jackson's assault on the New Left, his traditional bread-and-butter liberalism, support for organized labor and strong anti-Communism. They are doubtful about his hawkishness on Vietnam and his devotion to civil liberties. To help resolve those doubts, a meeting of the YPSL leaders was arranged by Ben J. Wattenberg, a key Jackson political adviser, in Jackson's Capitol hideaway.

Jackson began by telling his young visitors (whose "socialism" is akin to the Britist Labor party and the German Social Democrats) that he is no Socialist. He next noted that both McCarthys, Joe and Gene, had come into Washington to try to defeat him — Joe in 1950 because he was too soft on Communism and Gene in 1970 because he was too hard on Communism.

The Social Democrats in Norway (home of his ancestors), said Jackson, neglected national defense and in World War II fell victim to "the hobnail boot." Thus, he rejected as a "test of liberalism" how soft on defense a politician can be. "Despite the fiasco in Southeast Asia," said Jackson, "The great majority of Americans will not turn tail on our obligations to the world."

Asked about Vietnam, Jackson replied he had always opposed protracted conflict on the Asian mainland. But he also opposed a deadline on troop withdrawals (advocated by his Democratic rivals) to give Mr. Nixon more flexibility, but only so long as the President keeps pulling out the troops.

When asked about Jackson's vote to continue the Subversive Activities Control Board, Jackson replied he did so only to pass the overall appropriations bill. He pointed out he was one of a handful of House members to vote against the old House un-American Committee a generation ago and was strong on civil liberties.

The No. 1 priority, said Jackson, is "economic growth — to generate the engine." He had no sympathy with environmentalists unconcerned about unemployment. He is worried about the poor, he went on, but expressed fear that "the affluent person is losing some moral strength and fiber."

The Young Socialists were delighted. Josh Muravchik, a recent CCNY graduate and national president of YPSL, said Jackson came over "as a guy advocating a very progressive domestic policy and not falling into the neo-isolationist bag on foreign policy." Yvone Nieman, New York organizer for YPSL, said, "I was even more impressed with him after talking to him."

While acknowledging more dovish views on Vietnam, the YPSL members felt that they and Jackson had now reached a compatible position on the

Strength For Today

THE SCOFFER

Scoffing. It represents a poor way to criticize an opponent and to establish the fact that we are right. There are some evils in the world that can be swept aside with a hearty laugh, but most evils are too serious for that. The scoffer usually finds himself, or herself, thoroughly disliked. There may be some truth in what the scoffer says, but he could say it in a more pleasant fashion. "He's crazy." "When I hear him sound off I get going as fast as possible." "That's an old argument that was answered a hundred or two hundred years ago." "Now why are you bringing that up again? Don't you have something better to talk about?"

Well, let him go on scoffing if that is his bend of mind. It will not be necessary to refute him because he is refuting himself. What a nasty guy he is. You'd think he had sense enough to see how seldom people agree with him or like the way he presents his arguments.

There is very little scoffing in the Bible. The word "scoff" appears to be used only once in the Bible. "And they shall scoff at the kings, and princes will be a scorn unto them" (Habakkuk 1:10). And in II Peter 3:3, the word "scoffer" means "a childish trifler." The word "love" appears in the Bible hundreds of times, as do the words "faith" and "goodness."

Get on the celestial bandwagon. It's going places and there are no scoffers aboard.

'Obscenity' Unresolved

The United States Supreme Court will open its new Term in October with a docket of 180 cases to be disposed of. The appalling fact is that no fewer than 20 of these, or more than one out of ten, will deal with the issue of obscenity.

This is — let me search out a charitable word — this is preposterous. It is also the fault of the high court itself. From the time of its landmark decision of June 24, 1957, in the famous Roth-Alberts cases, the Court has managed only to dig itself deeper into a swamp of baffling contradictions and earnest confusions.

Three of the pending cases — they are coming up from Ohio, Alabama and Florida — involve the film, "I Am Curious (Yellow)." Cases from Arkansas and Tennessee deal with obscene movies generally. A South Carolina case presents this solemn question to the greatest court in our land: "Are 'girlie' publications which depict no sexual acts not obscene as a matter of law?"

What makes one despair is that all of the pending obsceneity cases, including several Federal cases involving customs procedures and use of the mails, present important constitutional questions. These questions, once accepted by the Court, have to be dealt with. But such questions would not be arising, year after year, if the Court had not left so many loose ends of law dangling in a legal limbo in the past.

For example: One of the criteria laid down by Justice Brennan in Roth-Alberts was that trial courts, in determining the obscenity of a given item, should apply "contemporary community standards." This seemed clear enough at the time, but immediately the question arose: What "community" are you talking about? Was the Court saying that, in Florida, the law would recognize one set of standards for Duval County and another for Dade? If so, could the same movie be obscene, as a matter of law, in virtuous Jacksonville, and not obscene in sinful Miami? How could the First Amendment, a part of the supreme law of the whole land, apply differently in different cities?

In the 14 years that have passed, though it has had many opportunities, the Court never has met these questions squarely. Thus, once more, this fall, in a case from California, we find the same issue returning like the cat that comes back: "Is use of a 'statewide' standard to establish alleged obscenity of printed materials distributed by defendant a violation of First Amendment?"

It has been at least 10 years since the Court first faced the question of the forewarned adult. The question is back. Chief Justice Warren dug a pit for the Court in his Ginzburg decision of 1966; this was the "pandering" decision — it wasn't what Ginzburg sold, it was how the man sold

Other Editors Say Include All Crime?

(The Raleigh Times)

It is customary when talking about increases in crime to limit the conversation to crimes of violence in the streets, to assaults, rapes, robberies, arson, etc. And, it is customary to link such talk of the need for law and order to minority groups.

In view of this custom, it shouldn't hurt to remind that all crime isn't committed by minority groups and that all crime isn't of the street variety. Recently, for example, the Associated Press reported that Justice Department figures for the first six months of 1971 show that nearly half a billion dollars worth of federal and private stocks and bonds have been stolen. The actual figure was $494,174,640, which was nearly $90,000,000 more than the totals for all of 1969 and 1970.

That is a whale of a lot of money. It is a great deal more than could be accounted for in thousands of armed robbery cases, in cases of damage by arson in riots. And, it most surely hasn't been the work of the black minority of our country.

Why hasn't there been a great law-and-order outcry about this half-billion dollars in robberies? Surely this kind of robbery must be at least as serious as robbery in the streets?

It sometimes seems to be a matter of who is robbing who. As a people, we don't seem to get all excited about those who are caught in income tax frauds, where they are robbing the public treasury and thus, at least indirectly, taking money from all taxpayers who do put up their share of taxes.

Yet, when some prominent man is exposed by the internal revenue people and brought into court on charges that he owned thousands of dollars in taxes that he didn't pay, there are no cries of law and order. In all too many cases, the man is allowed to pay what he owes, plus some interest and charges and doesn't have to spend any time in prison. Yet, he was as guilty of a serious crime as was the street robber, the only difference being that he didn't use a gun.

While we're on the law and order kick, we should extend it to all crime, not just to selected crime.

40 Years Ago Today

By GWYN COGHILL

August 17, 1931

Two candidates today were formally registered to run in North Carolina's 1932 gubernatorial derby while the public confidently awaited announcement that others would go to the barrier. C. B. Ehringhaus, Elizabeth City attorney, Saturday added his name to the entry list that previously had contained that of Lieutenant Governor Richard T. Fountain of Rocky Mount.

The monthly meeting of the Pitt County Post of the American Legion will be held at the Rotary Club tomorrow night at 7 o'clock.

The Greenville city schools will open for the 1931-32 session on Monday, September 14. The week preceding the opening will be used for the registration and enrollment of all pupils who did not attend the Greenville city schools last year.

U.S. Textiles Take A Beating

By ELMER ROESSNER

Transistors are probably the first thing that comes to the average mind when the export of jobs is mentioned. It is true that transistors and other electronic devices made abroad by cheap foreign labor are one of the causes of present unemployment.

Manufacturers having components made abroad instead of in the United States are not entirely to blame for the situation. The big push toward foreign manufacture came when manufacturers faced the double-headed problem of a labor shortage and escalating wage demands. There have always been unemployed but few of them could at that time handle a delicate, skilled job.

But the export of electronics jobs is less than the export of textile work. The Department of Commerce reports that the equivalent of 571 million (m) square yards of man-made fiber, cotton and wool were imported into the United States in June.

That is 47 per cent above

the June 1970 amount, and 10 per cent more than in May of this year.

Billions Of Yards

The total imports in the first six months of the year were more than three billion (b) square yards, 43 per cent greater than the first half of 1970.

Yarn imports in the first half of 1971 were 98 per cent higher than in the first half of 1970, fabric imports were 32 per cent higher and apparel imports 31 per cent higher.

Imports of man-made fibers in June were 468 million (m) square yards, 66 per cent more than in June, 1970.

The total value of these imports in the first six months was $1,166 million (m) compared with exports of $347 million (m). This trade deficit is one of the reasons for the weakness of the dollar abroad.

The sharp increase in imports is surely due to the fact that foreign manufacturers and American importers have been fearful that Congress would act to limit textile imports with quotas or tariffs or both. Congress probably will.

Trouble On Another Front

Meanwhile, the Department of Agriculture has reported that exports of cotton to Britain fell to a 100-year low of 48,000 bales in the year ended July 31, 1970. It estimated that between 80,000 to 90,000 bales were exported to Britain in the year ended July 31, 1971. During 1950-54, the British imported an average of 466,000 bales a year.

The principal reason for the decline of U. S. cotton sales to Britain is that Britain, like the United States, has been importing increasing amounts of cotton fabric from low-wage areas.

There are two lesser reasons: the shift from cotton to synthetic fabrics and the fact that other nations lay down cotton in Britain cheaper than U.S. exporters.

The U. S. Commodity Credit Corp. price support and reselling prices have put a floor under the U. S. prices. There have also been complaints that U. S. quality is uneven.

Name Bazemore PNB Executive In Greenville

J. Hugh Bazemore, vice president of Planters National Bank, has been named to succeed Robert A. Henley as city executive of the bank's Greenville operation.

Henley has been named to manage the bank's new Raleigh office, which is scheduled to open early next year. Archie W. McLean, PNB president, made the announcement.

Henley, affiliated with Planters since early 1970, was previously employed by the Irving Trust Company in New York City, Wachovia Bank and Trust Company, and Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith. He and his family will be moving to Raleigh in the near future.

J. HUGH BAZEMORE

Bazemore has been associated with Planters in Ahoskie since 1961. He has held various management positions in the bank including assistant cashier and assistant manager before achieving his current position as vice president and manager of the Ahoskie office. In Ahoskie he has been active in civic affairs as president of the Ahoskie Jaycees, president of the Roanoke-Chowan Campbell College Alumni Association, and vice president of the Chamber of Commerce, as well as being involved in various other community activities.

A native of Hertford County, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Bazemore of Cofield. Prior to joining PNB, he attended Ahoskie High School, Campbell Junior College, East Carolina University, and the Carolinas School of Banking at Chapel Hill. He has an A.B. degree in Business Education.

He has served with the U.S. Army and Pilot Life Insurance Company.

Bazemore has the unique distinction of having been awarded the Distinguished Service Award (Young Man of the Year) for two years. In addition, he was secretary-treasurer of the Ahoskie Little League Association, treasurer of the Hertford County Heart Association, member of the Ahoskie High School Band Association, and coach of the Ahoskie Little League team for a number of years.

He married the former Merle Council of Fayetteville, and they have one child, Bradford Hugh. The Bazemores are Baptists and plan to move to Greenville around the first of September.

Goldsboro Guard Unit Said Best

FT. STEWART, Ga. (AP) — Gov. Bob Scott Monday honored a Goldsboro unit as the best in North Carolina's National Guard during the past year.

Scott, who flew to the Georgia military post Monday to inspect 30th Infantry Division units in training here, presented the Eisenhower Award to Headquarters and Company A, 105th Medical Battalion of Goldsboro.

The governor presented the North Carolina Distinguished Service Medal to Lt. Col. James C. Kannan of Goldsboro, for his service in the guard since 1947.

Scott planned to visit field training sites today before returning to North Carolina.

it. That same pit still yawns in October. Justice Marshall created still another swamp in Stanley v. Georgia, holding that a citizen could not be prosecuted for possession of dirty books in his own library. Well and good. But how, then, can one consistently prosecute the dealer who sells him the books in the first place? Half a dozen appeals seek clarification of the Stanley rule.

This cannot continue. Granted that the pending cases present important questions: The questions aren't all that important to that many people. The Court cannot possibly review all the constitutional cases offered on appeal; it has to pick and choose those of the highest significance. The great right of "free press" will not be materially strengthened, or materially weakened, if the people of Alabama can see "I Am Curious (Yellow)" in Birmingham but cannot see it in Mobile.

It is time to cut through the fog. If the Court would trust a little more in the ancient virtues of federalism, and let the States and localities pass final judgment in the great bulk of these cases, justice would be roughly if not perfectly served. Simply by refusing to accept appeals, except in the most extraordinary cases. the Court could fumigate its docket and turn its awesome authority to issues greater than the sale of girlie magazines in South Carolina. Both the Constitution and the Republic would survive.

Two Fires In County Monday

Fire Marshall Bobby Joyner noted that "things have slowed down a little bit", referring to fires in Pitt County yesterday and this morning. Only two fires were reported in the county.

Yesterday at 10 p. m. the Black Jack Fire Department received a call from the Claude Milns Farm. A tobacco barn there was a total loss.

Another tobacco barn was demolished on the Sam Bundy farm this morning. The Farmville Fire Department received the call at 7:03 a. m.

Also Frozen?

RALEIGH (AP) — Whether pay increases of many North Carolina school teachers will be held up by President Nixon's 90-day freeze on wages and prices is still uncertain.

Dispatches from Washington said that such pay raises must be postponed until the end of the freeze, now set for Nov. 12, but that the Treasury was preparing a new statement that could qualify or modify the ruling.

The President's action also apparently postponed until the end of the freeze sharp increases in tuition charges at state supported institutions.

State Budget Officer Andrew Jones, who said his comments were "pure speculation," had theorized earlier that whether the teacher pay boosts would be frozen would depend on each individual teacher's contract.

Name Is Legally 'Jay Silverheels'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The actor who played the Lone Ranger's sidekick Tonto for almost a decade on television is now Jay Silverheels—officially.

Superior Court Commissioner Harold Boisvert agreed Monday to let the actor change his name from Harold J. Smith after he said Jay Silverheels is his true tribal name.

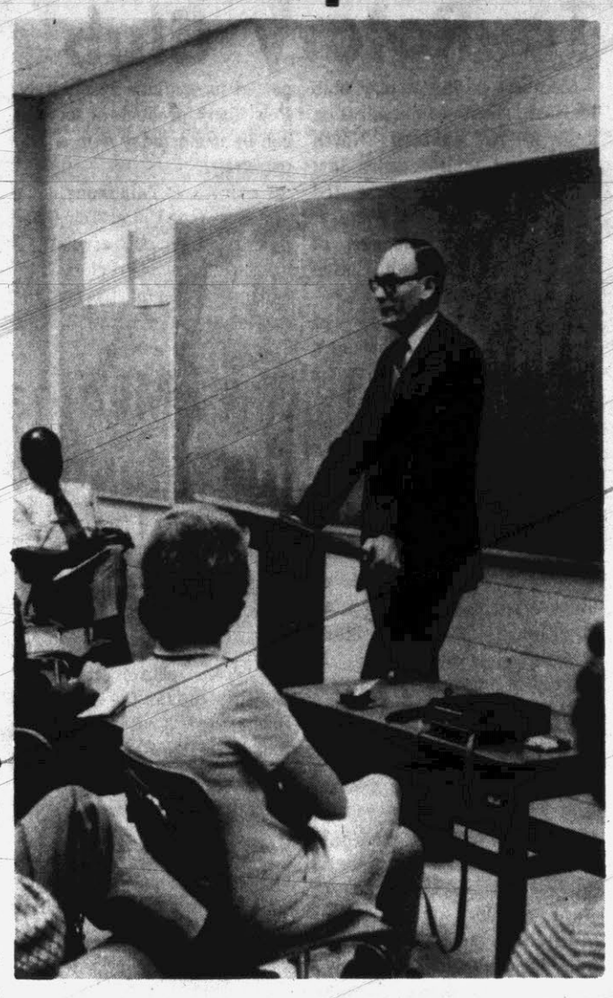

The actor, 59, a Mohawk born in Ontario, Canada, at the Six Nations Reserve, said the Canadian government had inisted that he list a nontribal name when he emigrated to the United States.

Silverheels, who runs the Indian Actors Workshop in Hollywood, is a proponent of Indian cultural identity.

Plan Worldwide Memorial Drive

Workshop Held For Educators

AT WORKSHOP . . . Dr. Jerome Melton, State Assistant Superintendent of Schools leads school staff members in discussion.

Pitt County school principals, assistant principals and central office staff members attended a three-day inservice training session last week at D. H. Conley High School.

On Wednesday, Dr. Osborne Fields, director of management and leadership for the State Department of Public Instruction spoke to the group on "Principals as School Managers, emphasizing the laying of long-range plans, setting objectives, and adopting strategies for reaching them."

That afternoon, East Carolina University staff members, Dr. Maylon McDonald, Mrs. Esta Johnson, Dr. James Batten, Dr. Ed Carter and Dr. Frank Arwood, led small group discussions on the topic "The Roll of the Principal."

Thursday, four members of the State Department of Public Instruction led discussions of "The Principal as the Student's Advocate" and "The Principal as the Community's Advocate."

Friday those attending the session heard Dr. Frank Fuller speak on "How to Conduct a Conference" and participated in discussions on "The Principal as the Teacher's Advocate."

Some 50 persons attended the three-day workshop.

Ask Board For Reconsideration

RALEIGH (AP) — Piedmont Natural Gas Company of Charlotte has asked the state Utilities Commission to reconsider its denial of the company's request for a rate boost of 0.7 per cent.

In its motion, filed last Friday, the company emphasized that the increase was requested only to offset three boosts made by its pipeline supplier in the price of natural gas. The company said these boosts would increase its cost $618,765 a year.

New Teachers Are Approved

As school opening day draws near, the Greenville City School Board, Monday night, made yet a few more approvals of resignation and elections of new teaching personnel.

Six teachers, including Rose High band teacher Thomas Smith have resigned. The other five are Christine M. Fuss, Patricia C. Johnson, Gary A. Nicholds, Ann E. Odom and Joyce O. Weathington.

Elected are seven new teachers — Miriam T. Bailey and Mary B. Shires for the elementary schools; Mary E. Boone for elementary art; Marilyn W. Love for trainable courses at Wahl-Coates; Cecil A. Heath for the I.C.T. program at Rose High; and two teachers for Aycock Junior High School, Judy W. Carawan for math and Bobby A. Pettus for science.

Tiny Tim Joined Tree-Planting

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Singer Tiny Tim, wearing wrinkled brown trousers, orange socks, a blue trench coat and canvas shoes with tassled strings, wielded a shovel Monday to help beautify downtown Baltimore.

He joined William Donald Schaefer, the city's acting mayor, for a tree-planting ceremony. "Now that you've started this, we'll try to get all dignitaries who come to Baltimore to follow this tradition," Schaefer said.

The singer planted three myrtle trees.

The ceremony, during the height of rush-hour traffic, ended with a flourish as three cars were involved in rear-end collisions while passing Tiny Tim and several Playboy bunnies.

MOVIE MAGNATE DIES

Collier Speaks To Rotary Club

Members of the Rotary club learned about communication growth in eastern North Carolina at their meeting last night from a slide illustrated talk entitled Fact and Fantasy.

Don A. Collier, Manager of Carolina Telephone discussed the thirteen year period 1957-1970. It was during this span of time that Carolina Telephone's facility investment rose from $79 million to nearly $300 million. Telephones almost tripled in the same period and numbered 439,551 at the end of 1970.

Using several charts, Collier pointed out that this expansion took place during an inflationary period when all types of businesses were experiencing spiraling costs and higher prices.

He then reminded the members that local rates for Carolina Telephone service are virtually the same as they were in 1957. That's the last time a general rate increase was placed in effect by the company. On 12 separate occasions during the 13 year period, long distance rates were reduced.

"By comparison", he said, "the three major electric power companies in North Carolina have been granted rate increases since 1969."

Collier told the group that, "The fantasy of the 1957 telephone bills cannot be expected to continue indefinitely. Few, if any, products or services can be found today with a 1957 price tag."

Carolina Telephone, a member of the United Telephone System, has budgeted $51.8 million for construction and expansion in 1971. This is the largest single program in the Company's 71 year history.

School Fees . .

Rose High School and Pitt Technical Institute was adopted by the school board at last night's meeting. The basic change from the earlier proposed agreement deals with eligibility of students for the program.

In the revised agreement, administrative officials and guidance personnel of Rose will have the responsibility of determining that a student may become a drop-out because of a valid hardship necessitating withdrawal from high school. In such instances, with the knowledge and consent of the student's parents or guardian, the student may be offered an opportunity to continue high school work for the school year in session, by attending Pitt Technical Institute.

Dr. James Bearden commented that in his estimation the program is "not a program for drop-outs.... but is instead a drop-out prevention program."

Other agenda items considered and action taken were:

—Approval of the school food services program, similar in scope to last year;

—A report from Turnage on the status of a site selection for the proposed new middle-munior high school. Turnage said 10 or 11 sites had been surveyed with the assistance of H. T. Chapin, and that he would have a report on three or four most suitable sites soon;

—A report on school facilities was given showing that the Rose High Home Economics wing is due for completion about August 20; that units for air conditioning Aycock Junior High are due in today; that the expected completion date of the new Wahl-Coates Elementary school is slated for about October 15; and that buildings and grounds are in general readiness for school opening'

—The board gave approval to purchase a lot for $3,500 on Hooker Road to be used by occupational education students to construct a live project house. With the lot, in the Carolina Heights Sub-Division, are 5000 bricks and part of a foundation for a house.

Says Medina NotInformed Of Killings

By KATHRYN JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

FT. McPHERSON, Ga. (AP) — A radio operator at My Lai testified today in the court-martial of Capt. Ernest L. Medina that Lt. William L. Calley Jr., never at any time told him to report to Medina that civilians were being slaughtered.

Charles Sledge, 23, of Sardis, Miss., who was Calley's former radio operator, was asked if he had ever heard on the radio, "What's all that shooting?"

The witness said, "I don't remember."

At the Calley trial witnesses said that Medina had radioed and asked that question.

Sledge, a neatly groomed Negro with a trim mustache, said that at a briefing the night before the My Lai assault, Medina told his troops not to harm noncombatants.

Under cross-examination, defense attorney F. Lee Bailey asked Sledge:

"As a matter of fact, Capt. Medina told you not to harm them, didn't he?"

"Yes sir," the witness replied.

Q. You were somewhat surprised because they were harming civilians?

A. Yes, I was.

Sledge testified also that a white-robed monk and a small child were killed by Calley, one of Medina's platoon leaders.

"We came up to a priest, a monk, at least he looked like a monk. He was dressed like one," Sledge said. "Lt. Calley hit him in the face with his rifle and shot him."

"Someone hollered, 'There goes a kid.' Lt. Calley ran and got him and threw him in the ditch and shot him."

Sledge gave similar testimony at Calley's court-martial.

Another witness, Robert Mauro, of Brooklyn, N.Y., who was a rifleman at My Lai testified that he did not remember ever receiving a cease-fire order at My Lai.

Bailey repeatedly objected to some of the testimony of Monday's three witnesses, saying it was not "legally relevant to Medina."

Burton To Play Role Of Trotsky

LONDON (AP) — Richard Burton will play the role of Leon Trotsky, the Russian revolutionary, in a film called "The Assassination of Trotsky," American producer Josef Shaftel said Monday.

The film will be made in Mexico, where Trotsky was murdered in exile in 1940. His assassin was believed to be an agent of Stalin, Trotsky's archrival in a Kremlin power struggle.

Burton also is scheduled to play another Communist leader—Yugoslav President Tito—in a separate film about the Yugoslav liberation struggle in World War II.

Soybean Ass'n Retains Dilda

Stancil L. Dilda of Route 1, Fountain has been retained as executive vice president of the North Carolina Soybean Producers Association, according to an announcement by F. C. Laughinghouse, president of the Association.

Dilda, who has been active in Pitt County farm organizations for many years, will have duties dealing with public education and the obtaining of grants and legislative assistance in furthering research in the soybean field. He and his wife will move to Raleigh soon.

He replaces Jim S. Gardner, who resigned June 1 to become president of the National Peanut Council.

This week he and Mrs. Dilda are in Hot Springs, Ark. where they accompanied North Carolina's candidate in the Miss Soya contest.

Dismisses Bomb Threat Charge

SOUTHPORT, N. C. (AP) — District Court Judge Giles Clark has dismissed bomb threat charges against the chairman of the Southport Human Relations Council.

The judge said Monday there was evidence a call had been made to the Port Johnson Academy from a phone of Eugene Gore, a Negro who heads the council, but no evidence that the call was made by Gore.

Children at the academy were evacuated after the call, but no bomb was found. Police said they had traced the call to Gore's phone.

Reunion Set For Aug. 29

A reunion of all patients who successfully completed the program of the Walter B. Jones Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center here is planned for Sunday, August 29.

Don Watson, training specialist with the ARC, said all patients who participated since the Center opened its doors June 30, 1969 are invited. They total, 1,405 through July 31 of this year, he said.

"Usually," he said, "the ARC staff is made aware only of patients who have not been successful in staying away from alcohol. We want also to see our successful clients who are by far in the majority."

The Sunday affair will begin at noon and last until 6 p. m. There will be lunch on the grounds, plenty of time to visit around, and a program meant to challenge these successfully rehabilitated alcoholics to work in their own communities throughout Eastern North Carolina to further efforts to help those who still have alcohol problems, Watson said.

Honor Bestowed On Two Moose

The second-highest degree in the Moose fraternity, the Fellowship Degree, was bestowed on two members of the Greenville Moose Lodge over the weekend at the annual State Association convention in Raleigh. They were William Crisp and Gene Hart.

A large delegation from Greenville attended the sessions, described by Secretary E. M. Baldree as having probably the best attendance in the past 45 years.

Highlights of the convention included elections of Sherman Windsor, of Spencer, as State President; Douglas Coward of Fayetteville, re-elected Eastern Vice President and Robert Beal, of Hickory as Western Vice President.

John B. Copley, of Elizabeth City, was chosen President of District XI, of which the Greenville Lodge is a member.

Asheville was selected as the site for the 1972 state convention, and the mid-year meeting will be held, in March, in Durham.

Growth reports for the year indicated North Carolina lodges had seen membership increase of about 2500 in the fraternity; and two new lodges, in Sparta and in Louisburg, had been instituted.

The convention adopted as its new project the raising of $25,000 during the coming year to rebuild the sidewalks on the campus of Moosehaven, in Florida.

Resignation Is Accepted

William E. Waters, a former Greenville Police Department lieutenant dismissed August 3, has submitted a letter of resignation.

City Manager Harry E. Hagerty said this morning, "upon review of the evidence presented at the hearing which I conducted at the request of Waters ... I find that the grounds for dismissal ... were not sustained.

"However," Hagerty continued, "I have further found that as of July 31 ... Waters had failed to perform his duties as a lieutenant of the Greenville Police Department up to the standard required for the rank which he then held.

"Upon notification of this finding, Mr. Waters has withdrawn his request for further review of the dismissal and has submitted his resignation as of July 31, which resignation has been accepted."

Waters was suspended July 31 by Chief of Police Glenn Cannon and subsequently dismissed for what the chief described as "conduct unbecoming an officer and insubordination."

Waters requested a review hearing before Hagerty and a hearing was held August 10. That hearing was continued to allow an opportunity to hear other witnesses later in the week, but a further hearing was never held.

Waters had been associated with the department since March 1961 when he became a reserve officer. He was promoted to lieutenant in March 1969, four years after becoming a full-time policeman.

In 1878, the Indians held their last great buffalo hunt on the Southwest Plains of the present Texas and Oklahoma.

More Visitors At State Parks

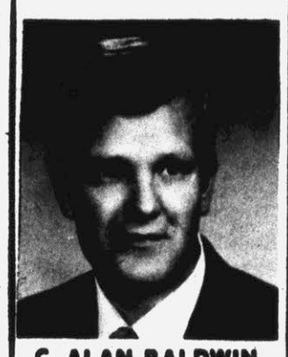

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina's 17 state parks had 514,034 visitors last month.

The state parks division reported Monday this was 42,655 more than visited 15 state parks which were in operation in July of last year.

State park visitors for the year rose to 1,677,533, or 91,970 more that visited the parks in the first nine months of last year.

Fort Macon State Park at Atlantic Beach continued to be the most popular. It had 137,956 visitors in July.

TEN TIMELY TIPS

For Air-conditioning Economically And Reducing Electric Bills

1. Keep air filters clean.
2. Operate at a reasonable temperature. (For every degree below 75 you can expect your cooling cost to increase approximately 10 percent)
3. Avoid allowing too much sunlight to enter through windows. Solar heat gain can account for about 30 percent of your cooling cost.
4. Turn up the thermostat not more than 10 degrees when home is unoccupied, unless you plan to be gone for more than 24 hours.
5. Do not place furniture, draperies, etc. in front of supply vents.
6. Avoid opening windows while air - conditioner is in use. If you have storm doors and windows, use them.
7. Allow the fan to operate continuously, at least during the day. You will be more comfortable at a higher temperature setting, thus reducing your cooling cost.
8. Use exhaust fans after bathing or while cooking. Exhaust fans remove both excess heat and humidity.
9. Be sure that attic is well vented, either by forced or natural ventilation.
10. Have a qualified mechanic service your air-conditioning equipment each Spring to be sure of proper and efficient operation.

Stargell's Bat Drives Pirates To 8-3 Victory

By BERT ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Sports Writer

Willie Stargell felt the vibrations—and the Houston Astros got the shock.

Ferguson Jenkins felt like swinging—and the Atlanta Braves got kayoed.

Stargell, the major league leader in home runs with 41 and in runs batted in with 108, cracked three singles and a double and drove in four runs Monday night, pacing the Pittsburgh Pirates to an 8-3 victory over the Astros.

Jenkins, the winningest pitcher in the National League, moved closer to his fifth consecutive 20-game season, hurling a two-hitter for his 19th victory as the Chicago Cubs blanked Atlanta 3-0 — with the help of a two-run double by the big right-hander.

In the other National League games, Cincinnati defeated St. Louis 6-5 and New York topped Los Angeles 6-0.

In the American League, Boston beat California 6-5; Baltimore edged Milwaukee 3-2, and Minnesota routed Cleveland 11-2.

The powerful 6-2½, 215-pound Stargell had been in a slump, going 10 days without a homer, before crashing two against St. Louis Sunday. He then felt he had shaken his slump. "I could feel it when I picked up a bat," he said. "My strength was coming back. Somehow when I do that a message goes to my brain and tells me if I'm ready to hit or not."

He certainly was ready against the Astros.

Pittsburgh starter Dock Ellis was forced to leave after seven innings because of a sore elbow, which has been bothering him the past few starts. However, he gained his 17th victory against six losses.

A more serious threat to Ellis' career is a blood disease called sickle-cell anemia. Unless a cure is found, Ellis reportedly will die at a young age.

Periodically, he undergoes a "crises," during which he feels faint and passes blood. "I'm not supposed to play ball," he says, "but I can control it. I rest when I feel a crisis coming on."

Otherwise, he says, "I don't think about it. I don't worry."

The victory ended a four-game Pirate losing streak and increased their National League East lead to five games over St. Louis.

Jenkins, the high-kicking 6-5, 205-pound Cubs' ace, limited Atlanta to only two hits—Ralph Garr's single in the fourth and Earl Williams' single in the fifth. He also stopped the 22-game hitting streak of the Braves' Hank Aaron, retiring him three straight times.

He walked just one and struck out seven, giving him only 26 bases on balls and 204 strikeouts in 243 2-3 innings this season.

Jenkins, on the threshold of being the first pitcher to string together five consecutive 20-victory seasons since the Braves' Warren Spahn did it from 1956-60, said he pitches about the same against all clubs except Philadelphia—the team that traded him to the Cubs in 1966.

"They (the Phillies) said I didn't have any fast ball," he said. "Well, now, I don't give them anything but hate."

Chicago scored its first run in the third inning when Glenn Beckert doubled and came home on Billy Williams' single.

They added two runs in the ninth when Johnny Callison walked, Brock Davis singled, Callison was out at the plate on a grounder by J. C. Martin and Jenkins dropped his double into left field.

The triumph moved the Cubs within one-half game of St. Louis in the NL East.

The Cards were beaten by Cincinnati on George Foster's run-scoring single in the ninth. The hit scored Tony Perez, who had walked and reached second on Johnny Bench's single.

St. Louis took a 3-0 lead on Joe Torre's 18th homer, a two-run shot in the fourth inning, and Lou Brock's run-scoring single in the fifth.

Bench got the Reds a run with a sacrifice fly in the sixth, and Cincinnati moved ahead 5-3 with four runs in the eighth, one on a sacrifice fly by Foster, another on a single by Tommy Helms and two on Pete Rose's bases-loaded single.

The Cards tied the score on Joe Hague's two-run homer with two out in the top of the ninth.

Conigliaro's Homer Snaps Red Sox String

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Controversial Billy Conigliaro settled one argument in a hurry and he didn't need a press conference to do it.

Conigliaro whipped a three-run homer in the bottom of the ninth inning Monday night, moving the Boston Red Sox to a see-saw 6-5 victory over California with his brother, Tony, watching from the stands.

The homer, Conigliaro's ninth of the season, sailed over Fenway Park's friendly left field screen, which hadn't been so friendly as the Red Sox had dropped seven straight—all of them at home.

Elsewhere in American League Monday night, Baltimore shaded Milwaukee 3-2 and Minnesota blasted Cleveland 11-2 in the only games scheduled.

In the National League, Chicago shut out Atlanta 3-0, Cincinnati edged St. Louis 6-5, Pittsburgh rapped Houston 8-3 and the New York Mets blaned Los Angeles 6-0.

Conigliaro had a falling out with some of his teammates last month about the same time that his brother left the Angels. Within a few days, the Conigliaros staged first separate and then a joint press conference to air their problems.

Red Sox owner Tom Yawkey suggested "The Conigliaros have called more press conference in one year than I have called in all the years I've owned this team."

Billy let his bat do the talking against Tony's ex-mates, and called his game-winning homer "my most satisfying hit of the year."

The Sox had rallied for three runs in the seventh inning on homers by George Scott and Joe Lahoud to wipe out a 1-0 California lead. But the Angels bounced right back for four in the eighth after an error by Luis Aparicio opened the doors.

That made it 5-3 California into the ninth but Rico Petrocelli and Scott opened with singles and Conigliaro ripped a 3-2 pitch for his game-winning homer.

Frank Robinson, not a bad hitter against anybody, raised his season's average against Milwaukee to .500—11-for-22—and helped Baltimore beat the Brewers.

Milwaukee was leading 2-0 in the fourth inning when Robinson doubled for Baltimore's first hit and came around to score on Brooks Robinson's single.

In the fifth, the Orioles loaded the bases on singles by Mark Belanger and winning pitcher Jim Palmer and a walk to Merv Rettenmund. Boog Powell forced Belanger at home but Frank Robinson delivered a two-run single.

Minnesota collected a season-high 18 hits to shell Cleveland for Jim Kaat's 10th victory of the season.

Petty Nearing $200,000 Mark

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Richard Petty needs only to gain a starting berth for Sunday's Talladega 500 in Alabama to become the first stock car driver to win $200,000 in a single year.

He has won $199,725 this season on 16 victories in 35 starts, plus being in the money almost every time he didn't win.

He recently became the first NASCAR driver to reach $1 million in career winnings.

In the Winston Cup Grand National point standings Petty is first with 3,157 points, a lead of 217 over James Hylton who has 2,490 points and has earned $45,395 this season.

Third through 10th:

3. Cecil Gordon, Arden, N.C., 2,697 points, $35,125.

4. Bobby Allison, 2,593, $150,370.

5. Elmo Langley, 2,484, $30,045.

6. Jabe Thomas, 2,238, $23,670.

7. Bill Champion, 2,015, $23,890.

8. J. D. McDuffie, Sanford, N.C., 2,086, $21,308.

9. Frank Warren, 2,024, $23,660.

10. Benny Parsons, Detroit, 1,892, $39,925.

How Will Policy Affect Sports?

By ALEX SACHARE
Associated Press Sports Writer

What effect will President Nixon's freeze on wages have on professional athletes?

So far nobody has come up with a good answer. Or any answer, for that matter.

Representatives of pro teams and leagues contacted Monday by the Associated Press were in a fog as to how President Nixon's moves to bolster the sagging economy would effect them.

One man in a position to know is Samuel R. Pierce Jr., general counsel of the Treasury Department. And even though all he gave was an off-the-cuff opinion—not an official policy ruling—it was good news for pro football's numerous holdouts.

"I would think the guy who has not signed would have to get what he received last year," Pierce said. Anyone who had signed by August 14 would be OK since "they're already under contract for the coming season." But the others, as Pierce put it, are "stuck."

Executives of pro teams remained in doubt as to what the freeze means. "I don't think the president meant it to apply to professional sports," said Vince Boryla, general manager of the Utah Stars of the ABA.

Mike Storen, president of the ABA Kentucky Colonels, agreed. "Pro sports is an unusual business," he said. "Our usual practice is to renegotiate every contract every year. This isn't like a normal job, where you have a regular salary."

"There have to be special considerations for sports," declared Bill Wirtz, president of the Chicago Black Hawks of the NHL. "We have players who have completed their contracts. There has to be some way to compensate the increase of their ability."

Other officials expressed similar doubts as to the impact of the freeze. "At this point, I don't see how it could affect baseball players," said a spokesman for the American League.

"We are not sure at this point," said Keith Allen, general manager of the NHL Philadelphia Flyers. "I don't think it would affect us."

Notre Dame's Cotton Bowl victory last January ended a 30-game winning streak for Texas.

Tennis Team In Loss To Wilson

Greenville's East Carolina Tennis Association team suffered its third loss of the season Sunday as they dropped an important match with Wilson 8-1. It was the last regular season match for both teams.

Both teams went into the match tied for first place in the eastern division of the league. The win gave Wilson sole ownership of first place and it will meet the winner of the western division for the league title at a later date.

Greenville, only in its first year in the ECTA, finishes the season with a 7-3 record which is good enough to assure at least them a tie for second with either Kinston or Camp Lejeune pending the outcome of their match tentatively scheduled for Sunday.

Summary:

Jimmy Rogers (W) defeated Ron Hignite 6-1, 6-0.

Tom Parham (W) defeated Tom Sayetta 6-3, 6-3.

Davis Miller (W) defeated Bill Still 6-1, 6-4.

John Hobgood (W) defeated Gil Davis 6-4, 6-4.

Wes Hawkins (G) defeated Bill Rand 6-1, 6-3.

Tyson Jennett (W) defeated Norm Rosenfeld 6-3, 3-6, 6-0.

Rogers-Parham (W) defeated Hignite-Hawkins 3-6, 6-4, 10-8.

George Flowers- Zeke Cozart (W) defeated Sayetta- Rosenfeld 6-2, 6-4.

Dan Hensley–Hobgood (W) defeated Still-Davis 7-5, 6-1.

Injuries Could Be Key To Colt Success

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — The Baltimore Colts, taunted in 1970 for playing an easy schedule and left for dead by some after the second game, open the 1971 National Football League season as defending champions.

Baltimore scrambled to an 11-2-1 record in regular season play a year ago without silencing their critics, but then defied the experts by winning the Super Bowl.

The Colts were hardly impressive as they edged eight opponents by margins of eight points or less. Only three Colts—all defensive players—were named to the Pro Bowl game, and not a single one made the All-NFL first team.

But they won.

They did it with a fine defense, special teams which provided good field position, and an offense which made the big play when necessary.

This season, the Colts will face a tougher schedule. Two of their six interdivision foes won championships last year and three others finished second.

For the second time in four seasons, venerable quarterback John Unitas will be sidelined by an injury as the campaign begins, with Earl Morrall taking over the No. 1 spot.

Unitas is progressing more rapidly than expected from a torn Achilles tendon suffered during the off season. But the team gains well behind Morrall, who like Unitas is starting his 16th NFL season.

An injury to Morrall, would be a problem, however, since he is backed up only by rookie Karl Douglas and Sam Havrilak, a third-year pro halfback who played quarterback at Bucknell.

The Colts, usually a bit weak on the running game, appear to be overloaded at that spot this year.

Tom Matte, sidelined most of last season with a knee injury after gaining 909 yards in 1969, is back for his 11th season. Starting with him in the backfield will be Norm Bulaich, who led the Colts as a rookie last year with 426 yards.

Backing them will be rookie Don McCauley, the No. 1 draft choice from North Carolina who gained an NCAA record 1,720 yards in college, and veterans Jerry Hill, Tom Nowatzke and Jack Maitland.

The corps of wide receivers has been depleted with the retirement of Jimmy Orr and the trading of discontented Roy Jefferson, who caught 44 passes last year.

That leaves Eddie Hinton, who led the team with 47 receptions, and Ray Perkins as the only experienced wide receivers, but John Mackey and Tom Mitchell form a potent one-two punch at tight end.

"We hope to have a more balanced attack this year," says Coach Don McCafferty, and the stable of runners may make this possible. Last season, the Colts gained twice as much yardage in the air as on the ground.

The offensive line is back intact with Bill Curry at center, Glen Ressler and John Williams at guard and Bob Vogel and Dan Sullivan at tackle.

But the strength of the Colts again appears to be the defense, which allowed an average of 13 points over the final 12 contests of 1970.

Ends Bubba Smith and Roy Hilton anchor the front four, which lost tackle Billy Ray Smith through retirement and has tackles Jim Bailey and Fred Miller coming off knee operations. Billy Newsome and George Wright are capable reserves.

The linebacking crew of Ray May, Mike Curtis and Ted Hendricks is excellent, as are safeties Rick Volk and Jerry Logan.

Cornerbacks Jim Duncan and Charlie Stukes are young and still learning. Rookie Leonard Dunlap of North Texas State, another first round draft-choice, has looked promising.

Duncan averaged 35.4 yards on kickoff returns a year ago and Ron Gardin averaged 11.8 yards returning punts—both Colt records.

Punter David Lee had a fine 44.7-yard average and place kicker Jim O'Brien, whose field goal defeated Dallas 16-13 in the Super Bowl, give the Colts an excellent kicking game.

If the Colts stay healthy at positions where they lack depth, they should be in contention for another division title despite the tougher schedule.

Ballman Shines As Philadelphia Runs Past Buffalo Bills, 34-28

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Gary Ballman was hit by President Nixon's wage freeze, but apparently it didn't have any effect on the performance of the Philadelphia Eagles' veteran wide receiver.

The 31-year-old Ballman has been squabbling over salary with Eagles' general manager Pete Retzlaff. He has refused to sign a new contract and apparently decided to play out his National Football League option.

But Monday night he caught nine passes for 166 yards and one touchdown in the Eagles' 34-28 exhibition victory over the Buffalo Bills.

"I'm not going to worry about it (the money)," Ballman said. "I learned a long time ago not to worry about anything until it comes into being."

The passing combination of quarterbacks Pete Liske to Ballman keyed the Eagles' second victory in two exhibition games. Liske played only two quarters, but completed 12 of 19 passes for 202 yards and two touchdowns.

The Eagles scored first when Happy Feller, the rookie from Texas, kicked a 25-yard field goal in the first period.

Buffalo came back to score a touchdown on a 10-play, 65-yard drive which featured the running of O. J. Simpson, who gained 29 yards, including the final two into the end zone.

Philadelphia regained the lead on a 75-yard drive that featured five pass completions by Liske, three to Ballman, who finished the drive with a nine-yard touchdown catch to put the Eagles ahead 10-7.

Buffalo, with Dennis Shaw leading the way, scored three second-period TDs to go ahead 28-10. The first came on a 25-yard pass to Simpson, the second on a 14-yard aerial to Bob Chandler and the third on a 23-yard pass to rookie J. D. Hill, the Bills' No. 1 draft choice.

The Eagles scored with 30 seconds left in the second quarter for a 28-17 halftime deficit.

Buffalo went scoreless in the second half and Liske and Ballman generated a two touchdown third-period for the Eagles.

Mark Moseley's 17-yard fourth-period field goal completed the Philadelphia scoring.

Joe Namath, recuperating in New York's Lenox Hill Hospital after knee surgery Aug. 8, is anxious to get back to football.

"I haven't even thought about giving it up," said Namath, who has undergone four knee operations.

Why?

"It's very simple. Right now I'm doing something I enjoy doing. A man's very fortunate when he makes a living at something he enjoys."

Namath thinks the Jets can still make a run at the Super Bowl, even though the team has lost its two exhibitions.

"I think we would have a better chance to win it with me—I'd be a fool not to feel that way," Namath said. "But I still think we have a good chance to go all the way."

Dr. James A. Nicholas, who has performed all four of Namath's knee operations, said a decision would be made in 12 weeks as to whether Namath can return to action this season.

The Dallas Cowboys lost two regulars in Friday's 36-21 exhibition victory over New Orleans. Tight end Mike Ditka fractured a bone in his wrist and will be out three weeks, while middle linebacker Lee Roy Jordan fractured a bone below his knee and will be sidelined one week.

But the Cowboys got good news on quarterback Roger Staubach, who boosted his chances to oust regular Craig Morton by tossing three touchdown passes against the Saints. X-rays showed his ribs were bruised during the game, but not broken.

He worked out with the team Monday and will not miss any exhibition action.

New Orleans acquired a linebacker and a wide receiver in a pair of trades. The Saints got linebacker Carl Cunningham from Denver in a deal for quarterback Jim Ward, then swapped cornerback Gene Heard and defensive tackle Clovis Swinney for wide receiver Charlie Williams and an undisclosed draft choice.

Quarterback Dennis Dummit, who set 15 school records at UCLA under Coach Tommy Prothro, was placed on waivers by the Los Angeles Rams Monday—by Coach Tommy Prothro.

Dummit, signed by Prothro as a free agent after all NFL clubs passed him by in the draft, completed only one of seven passes in an exhibition game against the Cleveland Browns Friday night.

COACH REMEMBERS

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C. (AP) — "We knew how to react when we were the underdog, now we've got to learn how to react as champion."

That's what Coach Cal Stoll told his 24 Wake Forest lettermen and 63 other football players the day they turned out for spring practice.

The Deacons won the Atlantic Coast Conference title last fall in Stoll's second year as coach. He had been an assistant to Duffy Daugherty at Michigan State.

Reds Want To Invent Football

By PAT THOMPSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — The Russian who introduced hockey into the Soviet Union wants to see the insides of a National Football League training camp.

Murray Williamson, the U.S. Nationals hockey coach who just returned from a trip to the Soviet Union, said he is trying to make arrangements with the Minnesota Vikings to allow Anatoly Tarasov to tour their facilities.

"He is interested in going to an NFL camp," Williams said. "I have a feeling that they want to start football over there."

Williamson, who spent six days with Tarasov inspecting the Russian training methods, has invited the Soviet coach to Minnesota in September.

"He didn't say he wants to see a training camp because they want to start football over there," Williamson said. "It may be he wants to get new ideas for his hockey training program.

"But 20 years ago they didn't have hockey in Russia and he's the man who started their program," said Williamson.

The Soviet hockey team has dominated the world tournament for years, and will be the favorite in the 1972 Winter Olympics in Japan.

"He claims his goal in life is to play a National Hockey League team," Williamson said.

"He made a toast to a proposition of playing three National Hockey League games.

"He said, 'We may not win. The outcome doesn't matter. We will learn from it.' "

A spokesman for the Minnesota North Stars hockey team said his club would be "very happy to play them."

Williamson said Tarasov "likes to hold court. He likes fun. He's very astute.

"They train 11 months a year," Williamson said. "Are they professional? It's not debatable. There's no such thing as an amateur or professional in Russia. They are just athletes.

"Tarasov's philosophy is that his players just can't be hockey players," Williamson said. "They are great basketball players. They look good in soccer. They play a lot of tennis.

"I'd hate to get in a fight with their players. They're brutes. Tarasov says he knows the Canadians and Swedes are faster skaters 'but we can outlast them.' "

During one three-hour ice workout, Williamson said, not one Soviet player left the ice for a drink of water. But the training also includes plenty of off-ice exercising, including ballerina-type calisthentics and workouts with lead hockey sticks and weights.

Two Needs Of Heart Patients

Mavis wants to know if a coronary heart patient needs the same Florida climate in winter as a high blood pressure victim. So study my answer carefully. For a coronary patient may not have any significant elevation of blood pressure. Cool air may actually be a boon to his heart.

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M.D.

Case R-532: Mavis G., aged 29, is a nurse.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "Daddy is a heart case.

"He has had two slight coronary attacks already so friends have urged him to spend his winters in Florida.

"But in our physiology class when I took nurse's training, I recall that a warm climate was prescribed for high blood pressure.

"So would that also apply to coronary cases? For Daddy's blood pressure is not abnormally elevated."

Heart Psychology

Heart patients need both psychology and medicine.

The psychology will relieve their minds and thus reduce their faster pulse, plus their higher blood pressure.

In a coronary attack the one essential need of your heart is more oxygen!

All our medical treatment of such a patient is directed toward a richer blood supply to the heart muscle, plus an increase of its oxygen content.

Nitroglycerine tablets under the tongue thus dilate those two coronary arteries that supply the blood to the heart muscle fibers.

Morphine or other sedatives reduce the apprehension and slow down the pulse rate, thereby helping the hampered "motor" (heart).

And a richer oxygen mixture in the air also benefits that injured heart.

Cold air contains more oxygen than warm air!

For cold air is relatively "thicker" and thus gives more buoyancy to the airplane.

Fish in farm ponds also are likely to die if those ponds have partially filled with mud from the spring and fall freshets that drain plowed fields.

By hot mid-summer, if the depth has been reduced to only 4 or 5 feet, the water grows so warm that large fish suffocate from lack of oxygen!

Cold air thus benefits the coronary patient via more oxygen but tends to raise blood pressure via constriction of the skin's capillaries.

You high blood pressure folks are urged to spend the winter in a warm climate so your surface vessels will dilate till your skin looks pinker.

Your blood pressure then drops.

It's like the situation where city fire hydrants are turned on in summer to let kiddies frolic in the streaming water, for then pressure in the water mains goes down.

And if too many citizens also turn on garden hoses, the faucets on the top floors of highrise apartment buildings may hardly drip any water at all!

This is a simple analogy of what happens in warm weather to the pressure in the blood vessels of a hypertensive patient.

Air conditioners are thus excellent medical aids in summer for patients with coronary heart trouble, for each breath of such cooler air brings more oxygen into the lungs.

But warm weather and southern vacations in winter, are good for hypertension patients.

However, with our modern heating, your home offers you Florida temperature even when it is far below zero outdoors!

So a Florida trip is not as medically important today as 50 years ago in the days of a single living room "base burner," fueled with anthracite coal.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed, envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Printing Is Big 'Small Busiess'

NEW YORK (UPI)—The printing and publishing industries in the United States comprise more than 40,000 businesses employing approximately 1 million persons. Yet the vast majority of these businesses are small entrepreneurs.

Only one of every five printing or publishing establishments has more than 20 employees, reports A.B. Dick Co., of Chicago, manufacturer on printing and paper supplies and related materials.

BOURBON BLUES

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI)—Kentucky is noted for the fine quality of its bourbon. But only 27 of the states 120 counties legally permits the sale of alcoholic beverages.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West

Opening lead: Ten of ♠

North's opening bid of one no trump is a shade unorthodox—holding two doubletons, but with his length in the minor suits, we are not inclined to criticize his choice. East doubled to show an opening no trump bid himself [17 high card points]. South's jump to four hearts is reasonable despite the paucity of high cards. His distribution should provide enough potential to provide a play for 10 tricks.

West opened the ten of spades, North played the six and East put up the king to win the trick. He resisted the temptation to play the ace and another heart, and instead, he returned a small heart which put West in again with the king. Had he shifted to either minor suit, it would virtually have assured declarer's eventual defeat on the deal, because the latter would have been deprived of any and all prospects for disguising his own distribution from East. In fact, had West opened the king of hearts originally—a reasonable choice from the bidding, incidentally—it would have greatly simplified the defense.

West actually chose to exit with another spade to dummy's ace when he was in with the king of hearts. The bidding clearly marked East with the king of clubs and it appears that declarer must lose one spade, two hearts and one club, but the latter was not inclined to give up without a struggle and he proceeded to play quickly and with complete assurance.

The ace of clubs was cashed on which East followed with the six, South the deuce and West the three. Now a small club was led. From East's point of view, it appeared that his opponent started with a singleton club and was trying to reenter his hand via a ruff in order to trump a small spade with the queen of hearts. To put up the king of clubs might be fatal if it established North's queen for a discard.

East chose to follow suit with the ten of clubs and South covered with the jack which held the trick. A small spade was ruffed with the queen of hearts and declarer's only other loser on the deal was the ace of hearts which he conceded and claimed his contract.

West was still in position to help East after he led a second round of spades. If, when the ace of clubs is cashed, West follows with the four, beginning an echo, it will reveal that the three of clubs is missing. Now when the second club is played, East will be aware that the three of clubs is outstanding. If West has started a high-low, this is a conventional defensive signal to show an even number of cards in the suit led—either two or four. In any case, it is safe for East to put up the king of clubs because he can be sure that South will follow suit. With the king of clubs in to complete the defensive book, East becomes assured of defeating the contract with the ace of trumps.

Inspection Removed Over 7,000 Vehicles

RALEIGH — Over 7,000 motor vehicles with defective equipment were removed from the streets and highways of North Carolina during the first six months of 1971.

Figures compiled by the License and Theft Division of the Department of Motor Vehicles, which administers the state's automobile inspection program, show that of the 1,417,098 vehicles inspected during the period, 1,410,059 were eventually approved.

On the vehicles approved, inspectors detected 569,948 items of defective equipment, which were corrected.

Lights headed the list of defective equipment with a total of 353,410. Signals — directional indicator — ranked second with 57,063.

Other equipment found defective included wipers, 54,254; brakes, 46,501; tires, 36,270; horns, 13,708; and steering mechanisms, 8,742.

Motor Vehicle Department officials point out that repair costs were less than $1.00 for each vehicle issued a sticker during the period. For the 1,410,059 vehicles approved, equipment repair costs totaled $1,383,200.

As of July 1, there were 5,737 stations and 17,327 mechanics licensed to inspect motor vehicles in North Carolina.

Leaf Prices Set Record

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Growers received an all-time high price average of $77. 9 cents a hundred pounds monday for flue-cured tobacco on the South Carolina and Border North Carolina belt.

The average was on 18 of the 19 markets from which the Federal-State Market News Service had reports.

Averages ranged up to $80.44 at Kingstree, S.C.

The previous high for the belt was $77.34 a week before.

Price increases by grades ranged from $1 to $2 as the belt began its third week of sales. Improved quality was reflected by a sharp increase in the percentage of fair leaf. Leaf grades made up nearly one-half the marketings. There also was a large quantity of lugs, and less primings and nondescript.

Volume was heavy, 10.5 million pounds at the 18 markets, and warehouses had more leaf than could be sold in the allotted time.

FOOTSORE BUT HAPPY — Susan Glenn and Nancy Brooks, footsore and weary after a 23.6 mile hike on Asbury Trail this past weekend, received the Asbury Bicentennial Award from the Rev. William K.
