

July Figures Have Hopeful Note Slower Living Cost Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The rise in Americans' living costs slowed markedly in July to an increase of two-tenths of one per cent—the smallest hike in six months, the government reported today.

The report, covering a period before President Nixon froze all wages and most prices on Aug. 14, said a decline in prices of clothing and transportation partially offset continuing increases for food, housing, medical care and recreation.

The report was issued amid a revolt by organized labor which complained the freeze covers all wages but not all living costs. The July increase, only one-third the size of June's six-tenths boost, brought the government's consumer price index up to 121.8 of its 1967 base, meaning it cost $12.18 last month for every $10.00 worth of typical family purchases four years ago.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics also said average weekly earnings of some 45 million rank-and-file workers fell 35 cents to $127.22. This was still $5.77 per week above a year earlier, but after deduction for the year's rise in living costs was only worth 38 cents more. However, the bureau said that, when the effects of both inflation and federal taxes were deducted, the average weekly take home pay was 49 cents less than a year ago.

AFL-CIO President George Meany and other top labor leaders have complained that workers suffered most from inflation and that the wage-price freeze would hurt them even more.

Living costs, the bureau's report said, were 4.4 per cent above a year ago, compared with a 5.5 per cent rise for calendar 1970 and 6.1 per cent the year before.

The bureau said grocery prices rose six-tenths of one per cent because of increases for pork, beef, fruit, vegetables, and sharp hikes for eggs, bakery and some dairy products.

Eggs and fresh fruits and vegetables are among items Nixon exempted from the price freeze both at the farm and supermarket levels.

Housing costs rose four-tenths of one per cent, including a two-tenths rise for rent and increases for mortgage interest, property taxes and insurance.

Rents now are frozen by Nixon's 90-day freeze, but interest rates and state and local taxes are exempted. The administration asked for a voluntary curbing by banks of interest rates during the freeze.

Clothing prices dropped seven-tenths of one per cent, mostly because of summer clearance sales. U.S.—made clothing was covered by the price freeze, but imported clothing prices, including the 10 per cent tax surcharge imposed by Nixon were not frozen and increases during the freeze can be passed on to American consumers.

Medical care costs rose five-tenths of one per cent in July and recreation costs were up three-tenths of one per cent, the bureau said.

Compared with a year earlier, prices for major categories of living costs were 3.1 per cent higher for groceries, 4.4 per cent for housing, 3.5 per cent higher for clothing, 5.4 per cent more for transportation, medical care was up 6.6 per cent and recreation 5.2 per cent higher.

The value of the dollar in July, compared with 1967, was 82.1 cents. The value of the 1967-69 dollar last month was 70.6 cents.

The bureau said its report on August prices will cover the period both before and after the wage-price freeze was imposed at mid-month. That report will be issued in late September.

Destroyed Eggs

RALEIGH (AP) — A state spokesman said today North Carolina poultry producers have destroyed more than 120,000 dozen fresh eggs found to be contaminated by the industrial chemical polychlorinated biphenyl (PCB).

Dr. William Cobb, the state chemist, said other eggs were being destroyed as they are produced in contaminated flocks.

"We think we've pretty well covered them all now, but there's no way of telling how long it will take for the flocks to clear up," Cobb said in an interview.

Cobb said some of the eggs reached market before the PCB contamination was discovered, but emphasized there was no immediate danger to consumers.

Vaccine Funds Sought

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina's agricultural officials said today they are seeking federal monies to provide vaccine against Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis (VEE) for the state's 140,000 horses and mules.

Agriculture Commissioner Jim Graham said the vaccination program would be voluntary, but could be made mandatory if owners failed to take advantage of the free vaccine.

Graham said he is initiating the program as a precaution against the spread of VEE from Texas, where it has cut heavily into that state's horse population.

"There is no cause for alarm at this time," Graham said. "It is most gratifying that the disease has still not been detected outside of Texas. Our concern is that it stay that way."

Graham said North Carolina, which ranks in the top 10 states in the number of horses, "is considered a state where spread would be likely if VEE were introduced."

Large concentrations of insects, especially mosquitoes, along the coast increase the danger of such diseases, Graham said.

BRUSSELS (AP) — Britain and the Common Market countries agreed early today to reopen their foreign currency exchanges on Monday, but failed to agree on a unified policy for determining the value of the dollar.

Boy Says He Can See With Eye Removed 3 Years Ago By Doctor

BLACK MOUNTAIN, N.C. (AP) — Nine-year-old David Pelletier Jr. says he can see out of his left eye, which was removed three years ago after it was damaged in a fireworks explosion.

His father, David L. Pelletier Sr., says he was advised by an eye surgeon in nearby Asheville, Dr. Sprinza Weizenblatt, that all nerves which might contribute to vision were taken out.

Weizenblatt acknowledges performing the surgery, but declines further comment.

The father says the "miracle" occurred the evening of last July 6 when the Pelletiers were talking with friends in the living room and David came running down the hallway exclaiming, "Daddy, I can see out of my bad eye."

Later, Pelletier said, it was found that David could "see" as well with his plastic eye in place as well as with it removed.

The family believes it is a miracle brought in answer to prayer.

An Asheville eye specialist, Dr. William F. Powell, says extrasensory perception is a possibility.

He has suggested that tests be made at a recognized eye institute.

David was asked what he thought about his partial restoration of vision.

"That Jesus loves me," he answered. A reporter and a photographer for the Asheville Times said that this week they saw the boy demonstrate his ability to locate, identify and describe a variety of objects while a black patch was over his good right eye.

Photographer Bert Shipman gave the father an object, and while Pelletier held it about 18 inches from David the boy was asked the describe it.

Shipman and reporter Ed Spears said that David cocked his head slightly sideways and said he saw some film, that the package was yellow, and that the big writing was the brand name, Kodak.

Shipman and Spears also related that David then said correctly that the smaller writing on the other side was "Tri-X pan" and "fast black and white film."

Dr. Powell, an ophthalmologist who examined David Aug. 13, reported:

"Examination of his vision revealed an acuity in the right eye of 20-15. With the right eye completely covered, and with my thumb pressing at the nasal edge of the black mask, David was able to read (a word) which represents a visual acuity in the left eye of 3-24 at 13 inches."

Parliament Asked Take Up N. Ireland Problem

By RODNEY PINDER

LONDON (AP) — The Labor party opposition formally requested Prime Minister Edward Heath today to recall Parliament from vacation for an emergency two-day debate on the worsening Northern Ireland problem.

The debate would be during the first week in September. Heath indicated he would accede to such a request if the party made it.

Former Prime Minister Harold Wilson, the Labor party leader, conferred with James Callaghan, one of his top colleagues, and then sent the request to Heath through Bob Mellish, the opposition chief whip of the House of Commons.

The debate would deal with conditions in ravaged Northern Ireland and also the latest political developments surrounding a sharp exchange between Heath and

Friends Provide A Trip To Paris

TWIN FALLS, Idaho (AP) — Twins Falls Chamber of Commerce Manager Ray Rostron, mentioned Tuesday morning he always wanted to travel to Paris, but couldn't afford it. On Thursday, he was handed $1,700 and told there was "more to come" for a European trip for Rostron and his wife.

Vern Routh, a local businessman who overheard Rostron's remark, said he collected the money from other businessmen and had promises of more. There was no special reason for the gift except "we think he is a great guy," said Routh.

Prime Minister Jack Lynch of the Republic of Ireland.

Lynch had cabled Heath warning against attempting "military solutions" in the British province and announcing support for a campaign of nonviolent civil disobedience by the Roman Catholic minority in Ulster.

Heath replied Thursday night that Lynch's cable was "unjustified in its content, unacceptable in its attempts to interfere in the affairs of the United Kingdom and can in no way contribute to the solution of the problems in Northern Ireland."

As the two leaders clashed, a 16-year-old youth died of bullet wounds in Londonderry. He was the 29th person killed since fighting erupted after more than 200 suspected members of the outlawed Irish Republican Army were interned without formal charges 11 days ago. He was believed wounded in a gun battle between republicans and British soldiers Wednesday morning.

Two masked raiders broke into a home in Belfast's Roman Catholic Ballymurphy district and shot three men, two of them British soldiers on leave from West Germany. One of the soldiers was seriously wounded. The gunmen — believed to be an IRA "execution squad" — escaped.

In his cable to Heath, Lynch said the 12,500 British soldiers in the North and the Protestant Provincial government's internment order had failed to solve Ulster's problems.

"In the event of the continuation of existing policies of attempted military solutions, I intend to support the policy of passive resistance now being pursued by the non-Unionist population," Lynch declared. He referred to the Catholic minority's intention to plague Prime Minister Brian Faulkner's government with a campaign of store boycotts and non-payment of bills and taxes.

Heath answered that Lynch's support for disobedience was "calculated to do the maximum damage to the cooperation between the communities in Northern Ireland."

Their Children In Seven Schools

PERU, Ill. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bastian's eight children attend seven schools.

It came about this year under consolidation of the Roman Catholic school system in Peru to save funds and make the most use of available teachers. Several grade levels were lumped together and each grouping assigned to one school.

Seven Bastians attended elementary and secondary schools and one goes to nursing school.

Bastian, a compositor at the LaSalle-Peru Daily News-Tribune, said they will have to learn to live with the situation.

Thieu's Only Rival Quits Race; Aid Loss Threat

By GEORGE ESPER

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnam faced the threat today of a cut in U.S. aid because of the withdrawal of President Nguyen Van Thieu's only opponent in the presidential race.

The threat was underscored by Sen. Robert J. Dole, chairman of the Republican National Committee. He told reporters he had indicated to Thieu that there will be a critical reaction from Congress, which controls the purse strings.

The Kansan visited Thieu along with U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker a few hours after retired Gen. Duong Van Minh announced his withdrawal from the presidential race, leaving the president the only candidate.

Minh charged that Thieu was rigging the election, set for Oct. 3. He said the campaign was being turned into a "dirty farce that can only make the people disbelieve in a democratic regime."

The U.S. Embassy expressed regret that Minh had withdrawn, adding, "Beyond that, we have no further comment." But unimpeachable sources said

Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker had returned from Washington Thursday with a warning from President Nixon that it would be difficult to get Congress to approve more aid to the Saigon government if only one candidate is in the race.

The sources said Bunker conveyed this information to Thieu Thursday night and also to Minh in a futile, 11th-hour attempt to persuade the general to stay in the race.

Sources said the Nixon administration might elect to withhold or reduce portions of the aid program to forestall such a move by Congress. They suggested there might also be more pressure on Nixon to speed up the withdrawal of U.S. forces.

These threats might force Thieu to postpone or cancel the election, some sources said. But another said he thought this unlikely.

"I think that Thieu has already made up his mind," the source said. "He anticipated that he might be the only candidate and had apparently decided to ride it out."

Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky was kept out of the race by a new election law requiring more endorsements on the nominating petition than he could muster.

Some Americans anticipated that Minh's withdrawal would trigger street demonstrations against both Thieu and the United States.

Govm't Clamps Lid Tighter On Nation's Wage-Price Controls

By JOHN STOWELL

Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — The government, clamping the lid even tighter on the nation's economic freeze, has barred longevity pay raises for the armed forces and retroactive pay hikes in labor contracts.

Treasury Secretary John B. Connally, President Nixon's chief economic spokesman, said exemptions will be the exception during the 90-day wage-price-rent freeze.

He said Thursday that rule also applies to foreign governments. He rejected Canada's bid to escape the new 10-per cent import surtax and spoke out against favored treatment for British-made Rolls-Royce engines for troubled Lockheed Aircraft Corp.'s Tri-Star Airbus.

Connally, whose Cabinet status makes him head of the new Cost of Living Council which issues guidelines during the freeze, reversed the Defense Department's previously stated pay policy.

For 2.7 million men and women in uniform, that means giving up an estimated $12 million in automatic pay boosts based on their rank and length of service, ranging from $47.40 a month for a private with two years to $174.30 for a four-star general with 26 years.

The Pentagon said, however, it will continue to give pay raises for promotions, hostile fire pay, re-enlistment bonuses and special allowances.

To Be Reduced

WASHINGTON (AP) — The life sentence of 1st Lt. William L. Calley Jr., convicted of the murder of 22 civilians at My Lai, will be reduced by 3rd Army Commander Lt. Gen. Albert O. Connor, it was learned today from Pentagon sources.

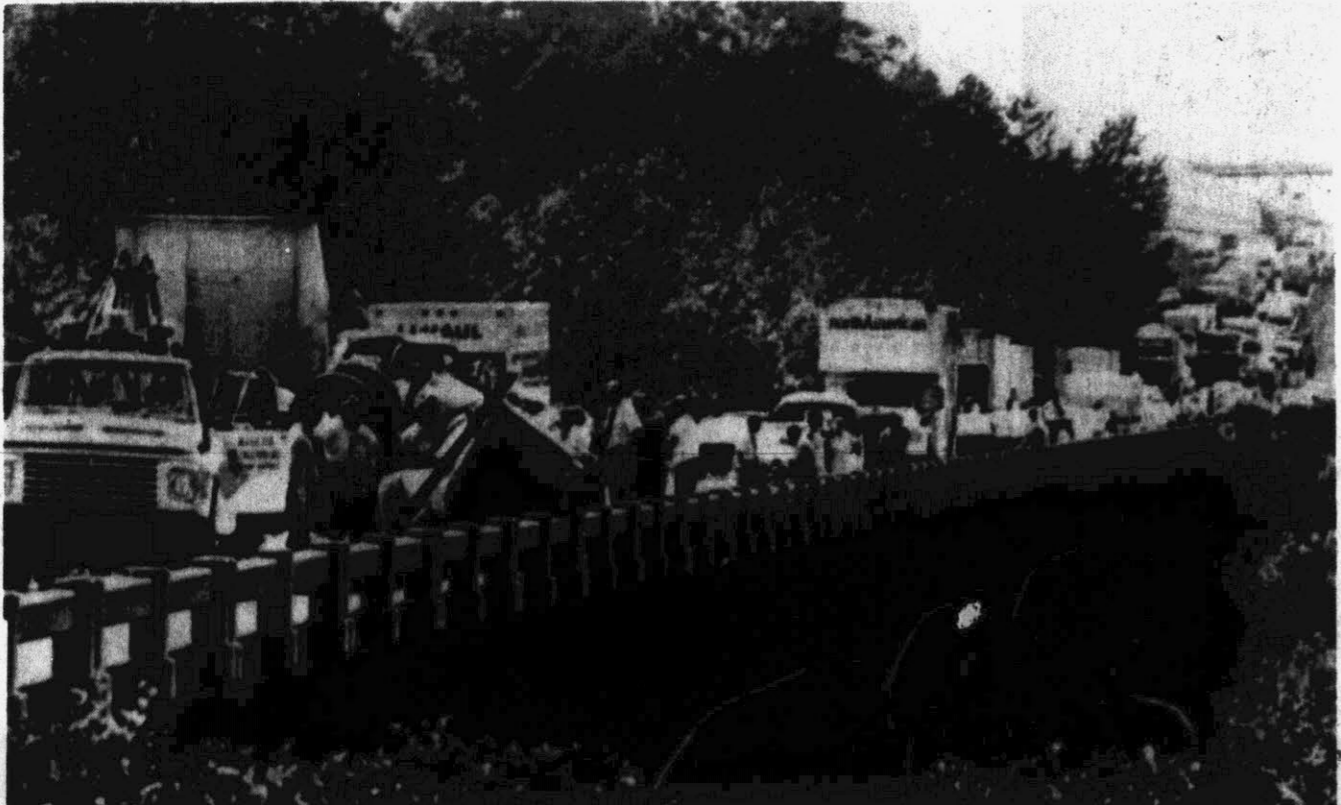

The sources said an official announcement would be made later in the day from Connor's headquarters at Ft. McPherson, Ga. The Army said it had no comment at this time.

It was not certain what the reduction in sentence would be but the new term is believed to be 20 to 30 years.

This completes the first step in the long review process in the Calley case. President Nixon has announced he will personally review the case and make the ultimate finding.

Calley is confined to his quarters at Ft. Benning, Ga., while his case works its way through the review chain.

With a 20-year sentence Calley could be eligible for parole after serving nearly seven years, about one-third of the time.

Miss Nancy Williams Is Bride

Miss Nancy Elizabeth Williams became the bride of Mrs. Robert Earl Mzingo on Sunday at 3:00 p.m. at the Piney Grove Free Will Baptist Church.

The Rev. Adrian Grubbs officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. James A. Williams of Greenville and the late Mrs. Joyce Jackson Williams. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Mildred B. Mzingo of Bethel and the late Mr. Bill W. Mzingo.

Organist for the wedding was Mrs. Eloise Jackson, aunt of the bride. Vocal music was presented by Joseph A. Ray Jr. of Ayden, who sang "Because," "More" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The church was decorated with bridal palms and candelabra. The altar was centered with a standing basket of mixed summer flowers in pastel shades. The couple knelt on a gold and white prie-dieu.

Mrs. W. E. Stocks, aunt of the bride, presided at the register in the church vestibule.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white formal peau de soie gown trimmed with rosepoint lace. The gown was styled with a bishop neckline, lantern sleeves and a natural waistline. The chapel train was attached at the shoulders.

She wore a shoulder length veil of illusion extending from a crown of velvet leaves edged with pearls and centered with iridescents. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of tube roses, pom poms and carnations tied with streamers of satin and tulle.

Miss Darlene O'Geary, stepsister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a formal gown of mint green dotted swiss. The empire waist and sheer puffed sleeves were trimmed in lace and accented with dark green ribbons and bows. Her veil of white illusion was attached to a matching lace bow accented with dark green ribbon and bows. She carried a nosegay of mixed flowers in yellow and green with accents of pastel tied with green ribbon streamers.

Miss Grace Lee Ross and Miss Anges Whichard, both of Greenville, were bridesmaids. Their formal gowns of pale yellow dotted swiss and headpieces were styled as the honor attendant. They carried nosegays similar to the maid of honor and wore antique gold lockets, a gift of the bride.

C. L. Bland of Bethel, grandfather of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Turner Gray of Greenville, cousin of the bridegroom, and Pete Neal of Englehard.

The stepmother of the bride chose a street length pale pink silk dress. The dress featured sheer puff sleeves with petal appliques edged in pearls. She wore matching accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

The bridegroom's mother selected a street length turquoise dress and jacket ensemble. The jacket was trimmed in corded braid. She wore matching accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

For a wedding trip, the bride changed into a light blue knit dress with white accessories. She wore a corsage lifted from her bouquet.

The couple will reside in Greenville.

After-Rehearsal Party
Following the rehearsal, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Williams entertained the bridal party and guests at an after-rehearsal party at the Piney Grove Community Building.

The bridal table featured a decorated three tier wedding cake. After the bride and bridegroom cut the traditional first slice, Mrs. Williams served cake to the guests. Mrs. Mzingo, mother of the bridegroom, poured punch. Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Tyson said the good-byes.

Reasonably Good Tobacco Year

As the opening day of the big Eastern Belt nears, there are high hopes that record prices will be seen.

However as John H. Cyrus of the N. C. Department of Agriculture points out North Carolina tobacco producers will probably see their margin of profit no higher than last year because production costs are up.

"The biggest cost is labor," Cyrus said recently. "The prices of farm supplies and farm equipment are up along with interest rates. It will cost a farmer $800 to $1,000 per acre to produce tobacco, depending on his operation and the amount of labor he is using."

Too, many farmers will have less tobacco to sell because of smaller quotas caused by adjustments to overmarketing last year. The state's crop is estimated at about 700 million pounds which is a drop of 97 million pounds from last year.

Cyrus expects the high prices which have characterized the belts already opened to continue in North Carolina. He also expressed the opinion that the ban on cigarette advertising has had no effect on cigarette sales. In fact, he reported cigarette sales were running three percent above the first three months of last year.

So it still looks like tobacco farmers in this area can expect a reasonably good year when they take their tobacco to the markets for sale.

There are some who speculate that the 10 percent surcharge on imports recently announced by the president could bring retaliation from foreign countries which buy tobacco from the United States. This, of course, is possible. Still it seems that our farmers have produced a good crop this year, the kind that the companies want and the prospects are good for high prices.

An Aggressive Voice In GOP

By BRYAN HAISLIP
KINSTON — The Republican Party needs a strong hand at the top to shape up the statewide organization for victory in 1972.

The man who said it believes he's the one to do it. Frank A. Rouse is a 33-year-old Kinston businessman of round-the-clock drive. He started with a loan and pushed SMS, Inc.,

This series of party gatherings will elect state convention delegates, and thus determine the outcome of the contest to pick Holshouser's successor.

Encouraged So Far Rouse reported encouragement from contacts to date. He said he's found support for his bid in the west and piedmont as well as his native eastern area.

His leadership credentials were earned in Young Republican ranks, dating from student days at North Carolina State University in Raleigh. He reactivated the campus chapter, won for it recognition as the outstanding club in the state.

While he served as organization chairman for Young Republicans, the number of clubs doubled and membership tripled throughout the state.

Next year's campaigns and restiveness within the party are factors which give particular significance to the race for state chairman.

Tar Heel Republicans in '68 carried the state for President Nixon, picked up a Congressional seat, ran a good race for governor, and increased their state legislative delegation.

'70 Saw Setbacks The '70 general election was a disappointment. Despite visits by President Nixon and Vice President Agnew, the only gains were at the local level. GOP membership in the General Assembly was cut back sharply.

The aftermath gave rise to complaints that the party was not broad enough in its appeal to blacks and other groups, and that too few shared leadership. Tension became apparent between the Old Guard, and the newer party element primarily identified with Jim Gardner, the '68 gubernatorial candidate.

It will be up to the party chief selected in November to identify and motivate candidates for the various offices at stake, and to draw together GOP forces for a unified campaign effort.

His boosters see Rouse as cut out for the role. "He's a gutsy kind of guy," said a party co-worker. "He's hardheaded, persistent, outspoken, undiplomatic. He's not much before a crowd in public, but head-to-head he's terrific."

For his part, Rouse has no ambition for the public spotlight. "I wouldn't be comfortable as a candidate myself," he said. "I'd rather be in the background, working to get somebody else elected."

If he wins the chairmanship, he'll have his hands full doing just that.

N.C. Group Honored A Knowledgeable Man

Robert W. Martin has served ably for a number of years as a Pitt County commissioner. Thus it is fitting and deserving that he was elected last week as president of the North Carolina Association of County Commissioners.

Martin has served as a county commissioner since 1956 and he has been a member of the board of directors of the state association for three years. No one could be more knowledgeable in the affairs of county government than he is.

The N. C. Association of County Commissioners is an influential group and we feel they have made an excellent choice in Bob Martin as the new president.

A New Day For N.C. Politics

By JOHN KILGO

A new day had dawned in North Carolina politics and if the people aren't careful they'll be dazzled by the footwork of the candidates.

It used to be that a man would decide he was going to run for high office, would discuss that with his close associates, would take a couple of trips around the state and then announce.

But that is no longer the trick. Look at what's going on now.

Fourth District Congressman Nick Galifianakis announced last week that he is on a 26-day tour of Tar Heel country, from the mountains to the seashore, to renew old acquaintances. Translated, this means Galifianakis has started his campaign for the U. S. Senate without saying as much.

If not, why has the Congressman hired former newsman George Thomas to work on his staff?

In the gubernatorial picture, Hugh Morton has spent a large sum of money traveling by helicopter to touch base in each of North Carolina's 100 counties. Morton gets a group of people together at each stop, feeds them lunch or dinner, and then says he is seriously thinking about running for Governor.

You don't take such tours without spending a lot of money.

Then there is the business of popularity polls. State Sen. Herman Moore of Mecklenburg is another who is thinking of running for the U. S. Senate next year. Moore has been jumping back and forth across the state, talking to people and in the vernacular, "testing the political waters."

Moore plans to be doubly safe. He is having two polls taken.

Gubernatorial hopeful Morton told people in Charlotte last week that his state-wide poll cost him $9,000.

"To my untrained eye," Morton said, "the results of the poll look mighty encouraging."

Lt. Gov. Pat Taylor is another who is running for Governor but hasn't announced yet. He just had his own poll taken and says it shows him with a large margin over runner-up Robert Morgan, with Skipper Bowles third and Hugh Morton fourth.

It's certain that Bowles and Morgan will be taking their own polls soon, if indeed they aren't in the process of taking them now.

A Greensboro public relations firm released results of its gubernatorial poll two weeks ago that had Morgan in front, Bowles second, Taylor third and Morton fourth.

In other words, this is the era of the political poll and don't you forget it.

Secretary of State Thad Eure has been involved in Tar Heel Democratic politics longer than the legendary donkey that symbolizes the Party.

"There seems to be no doubt about it," Eure said, "polls have a psychological effect among the people. But do you think I'd turn loose a poll that showed me on the bottom of the heap?"

Eure notices other changes in politics now and this might be considered a bright spot. "It used to be," he said, "that you could go into a county and talk to three or four people and know exactly how that county would vote. You can't do that any more. There isn't any political news these days. People are going to do what they want to do."

Strength For Today

ASCRAMBLE

There is a constant scrambling for goods going on at all times. Some people have ambition to be wealthy. Others want to have a position carrying with it a great amount of prestige and power. Others are just waiting around for the settlement of somebody's estate that will make it possible for them to travel all over the world, live in a fine home, spend the summers at a resort that puts one definitely in a high social class.

The lust for power is so immense that those who do not have it stand in wonder as they see people reaching out for every kind of power on which they can lay hands. In the early nineteenth century Napoleon Bonaparte terrified the world with his lust for power. In the 1930's Adolf Hitler built up an empire of domination and cruelty that shocked the world. We can see other despots gazing fondly at the horizon. Give them a little more of this or a little more of that and they will take over industries and governments.

Yet the happy people are usually not scrambling for goods. If they own a comfortable home, draw a reasonably good salary, have enough to travel about, if they care for travel, or take what leisure they have in another way — this is all they ask for.

People can make themselves fearfully unhappy as they scramble for goods of all kinds.

Why Fathers Go Broke

(By popular request we are printing Art Buchwald's famous article on Barbie dolls.)

I have nothing against toy companies. In their own way, they bring happiness to the hearts of our young ones and they give employment to thousands of people all over the country. It is only when they try to bankrupt us that I feel we should speak out. If my situation is duplicated around the nation, every father who has a daughter between the ages of 4 and 12 is going to have to apply for relief. This is what happened: My 7-year-old daughter requested, 4 months ago, a Barbie doll. Now as far as I'm concerned one doll is just like another and since the Barbie was only $3 I was happy to oblige.

I brought the doll home and thought nothing more of it until a week later when my daughter came in and said, "Barbie needs a negligee." "So does your mother," I replied. "But there is one in the catalogue for only $3," she cried.

"What catalogue?" "The one that came with the doll."

I grabbed the catalogue and much to my horror discovered what the sellers of Barbie were up to. They'll let you have the doll for $3, but you have to buy clothes for her at an average of $3 a crack. They have about 200 outfits, from ice-skating skirts to mink jackets, and a girl's status in the community is based on how many Barbie clothes she has for her doll.

The first time I took my daughter to the store I spent $3 on a dress for her and $25 to outfit her Barbie doll.

A week later my daughter came in and said, "Barbie wants to be an airline stewardess."

"So let her be an airline stewardess," I said. "She needs a uniform. It's only $3.50."

I gave her the $3.50. Barbie didn't stay a stewardess long. She decided she wanted to be a nurse ($3), then a singer in a nightclub ($3), then a professional dancer ($3).

One day my daughter walked in and said, "Barbie's lonely."

"Let her join a sorority," I said. "She wants Ken."

"Who is Ken?" She showed me the catalogue. Sure enough, there was a doll named Ken, the same size as Barbie, with crew-cut hair, a vinyl plastic chest and movable arms and legs.

"If you don't get Ken," my his speciality highway construction firm, to front rank in the southeast in six years.

He's going after the GOP state chairmanship in the same aggressive fashion.

"We're ready for a strong state party organization. We need a chairman without political ambitions of his own, above factions and regionalism, who will work at the job full-time," Rouse said. "I intend to do just that."

Rouse is that relative rarity, an easterner who is Republican by inheritance rather than conversion. He sees the time as ripe to extend the GOP in the East, traditional Democratic stronghold. What that would amount to, he said, is bringing voting habits in line with the basic political philosophy of the region.

He'd be the first easterner in recent times to hold the GOP's top state party post.

Others Are Running First he has to get it. Others are interested, including William T. Graham of Winston-Salem and Ted Dent of Asheville, former state senator.

The choice will be made when the GOP state convention meets in Charlotte, Nov. 19-20. At that time, the expectation is that Jim Holshouser of Boone will step down as state chairman to concentrate on running for governor.

While the selection is three months away, the race already is sharpening for the chairmanship. Rouse and Graham are regarded as the prime contenders, and their partisans are working to line up support.

Precinct meetings will give the first test of strength. They will be called by county chairmen within the period Sept. 1-23. County conventions will follow, Sept. 25-Oct. 9, and district conventions are scheduled Oct. 23-Nov. 6.

Other Editors Say Nixon's Bold Move

(Henderson Dispatch) After trying other remedies without effect, President Nixon made a bold move Sunday in an effort to strengthen the nation's economy. Some phases of the action he has stoutly opposed until now. It might be said, even with tongue in cheek, that he has pulled all the stops in the hope of halting inflation, supporting the dollar in world markets and arresting the increase in unemployment.

As to freezing of wages and prices, he limited this move to a ninety-day trial period. It was not a matter of "thus far and no farther" as to payments and prices. In some quarters, it is speculated that the ten percent surtax on imports will either slow imports or decrease American buying abroad by bringing foreign prices more into line with those here. On the other hand, foreign quotations could be raised to cover the surcharge, but the extra could be added even to that.

Only way unemployment could be reduced by Nixon's move would be greater demand for workers as a result of sharper sales of home products on home markets rather than buying abroad at lower prices.

Generally, it appears to us the President has acted wisely. The fault we find with his move is that he waited too long. Wage and price fixing could well have been imposed a year or two ago. That would to some extent have checked inflation. Many of the major employers have already made settlements with employees at large increases and will not be affected. Others are awaiting their turn, but under the freeze they are prevented from any action for ninety days.

Management of money and trade is a complicated procedure which is clearly understood by relatively few people. That is true of the present action. As for wage and price fixing, it proved beneficial during World War II and may be helpful now.

Everybody will be affected in varying degrees by the President's action. Many so-called money experts commend Nixon. In some instances persons who were clamoring for substantially what the chief executive has now done are critical of his move. It seems that the chaff cannot be separated from the wheat, and that politicians are concerned primarily about their own interests.

Some in North Carolina profess surprise at what has happened. But if it displeases them, what would they have Nixon do and what would they offer as a better plan?

The big question for business, of course, is what will happen after President Nixon's 90-day wage-price-dividend freeze. Something will. Mr. Nixon has not solved the problem of inflation and all its little puppies, but he has shown he has recognized the necessity for strong action.

W. W. Lee, president of the Greenville Insurance Exchange, announced today that Greenville had been selected by the North Carolina Insurance Department as one of eight cities where all new insurance agents will have to stand examinations before entering this field of business.

The North Carolina Highway Commission today forwarded a new ordinance setting forth the state's position on the "truck Tag" war which has been in progress between North Carolina, Georgia, Kentucky, and South Carolina since last week. Under the new ordinance all out-of-state automobile operators will be exempt from licensing them in North Carolina if they are licensed in the state in which the operator is a resident.

M. K. Blount, W. H. Woolard and G. V. Smith were among the Greenville men who attended the "booster meeting" of the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce at Kinston last night.

Y. V. Fleming left yesterday for New York, Niagara and Canada.

More Decisive Actions Ahead

By ELMER ROESSNER

The big question for business, of course, is what will happen after President Nixon's 90-day wage-price-dividend freeze. Something will. Mr. Nixon has not solved the problem of inflation and all its little puppies, but he has shown he has recognized the necessity for strong action.

Even before the 90 days end, further steps will have to be taken; in fact, some were anticipated in his original announcement.

As one who had minor involvement in the price freeze in World War II, I do not believe the present freeze will be very effective. The Office of Price Administration directed a price freeze with police powers and it was supported by a patriotic fervor. Even at that there was considerable chiseling and evasion. A favorite device was to add a gadget, a twist or an ingredient to a product and effective only as far as tenants fight for it, and so far they have no resort to the courts. Even if they have, experience in World War II and in New York's present vestigial control demonstrate the ineffectiveness.

However, during the 90-day period, the Administration may have considerable voluntary support for these freezes. But after that, to be effective at all, they would have to be fully mandatory and by Congressional action.

At this writing, Mr. Nixon has taken no action to control the supply of money, which has been increasing at an astounding rate. One of the reasons it has been increased is to provide funds for the purchase of government bonds and notes. Not only do sizeable billions fall due this year, requiring further borrowing to pay them off, but the government must borrow an estimated $25 billion more for the predicted deficit in the current fiscal year. Effects. Not Cause

Mr. Nixon's program so far appears to attack the effects of inflation rather than the cause. The basic cause is the fact that the governments, state and city as well as federal, are spending more than they take in. With bonds and other promissories, spending power has been and still will be inflated.

In postponing government pay increases and promising to reduce federal spending, Mr. Nixon is lessening inflationary pressures, but in reducing taxes by increasing the deduction for capital investments and calling for the end of the auto tax, he is contributing to inflation.

Inflation could be ended and the dollar stabilized by cutting government spending and increasing taxes until they balance.

But neither President Nixon or anybody else dares do that.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I recently turned 18, so last night when I was out with my boy friend and another couple, I mentioned that I was going to register so I could vote.

The other couple (both of them are old enough to vote) said they had no intentions of registering because politics are so rotten these days there is no point in voting. And my boy friend agreed with them!

I just bit my tongue and said nothing because I was outnumbered. I read your column every day, Abby, and I've never run into a problem like this.

Maybe if you say something it will change the minds of people like my friends?
CONCERNED AT 18

DEAR CONCERNED: No one said it more brilliantly than Edmund Burke: "The only thing necessary for the triumph of evil is for good men to do nothing."

In a democracy, the place to improve the quality of leadership is in the voting booth. You should have spoken up.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has recently started a catering business and we have a question we would like to have you answer. When we serve weddings, the orchestra expects to be fed just like the guests. We think they are paid to come and do their job, not to eat. Right?

NO NAME, PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: The caterer takes his orders about whom to feed from the person who foots the bill. But it seems only fair to feed musicians who work over a period of time which includes a meal. [Or would you have them bring hot dogs in their clarinet cases?]

DEAR ABBY: Two months ago I quit a job I really liked and took another one which paid twice as much money. Outcome: I hated my work and by the time you get this I will have quit.

My problem is that I am 21 years old and will be getting married in two weeks, and everyone including my fiancée will be disappointed in me for not keeping the job that paid so well.

Abby, how can I explain to people that the only true luxury in life is peace of mind, and without it, all the extras which can be purchased with money are useless?

I know we would be much better off financially if I stayed with my old job, but if I have to practically beat myself with a whip to go to work, I don't think I could be much of a husband.

Is it too much to ask that other people understand why I am changing jobs to make less money and be happier?

SAN ANTONIO ED

DEAR ED: I understand and respect your values, but then I am not your wife. Your problem is worrying too much about what "other people" will think.

daughter cried, "Barbie will grow up to be an old maid."

So I went out and bought Ken ($3.50). Ken needed a tuxedo ($5), a raincoat ($2.50), a terry-cloth robe and an electric razor ($2), tennis togs ($3), pajamas ($1.50) and several single-breasted suits ($27).

pretty soon I had put up $400 to protect my original $3 investment.

Then one evening my daughter came in with a shocker.

"Barbie and Ken are getting married. Here is the list of wedding clothes they'll need as well as a picture of Barbie's dream house."

"Seven ninety-five for a house?" I shouted. "Why can't they live on a shelf like the rest of your dolls?"

The tears started to flow. "They want to live together as man and wife."

Well, Barbie and Ken are now happily married and living in their dream house with $3,000 worth of clothes hanging in the closet. I wish I could say that all was well, but yesterday my daughter announced that Midge ($3) was coming to visit them.

And she doesn't have a thing to wear.

Altho North's double of West's four spade opening bid is intended primarily for penalties, South is at liberty to bid himself if he has attractive distribution. Altho North has only a singleton club, his raise to six clubs is reasonable, for partner may be expected to have a good suit when he bids it at the five level. With North holding five spades himself, there is an excellent chance that South is void in that suit.

West opened the king of spades and declarer ruffed with the five of clubs. A diamond was led to test that suit and West's jack was covered by North's queen. The appearance of the missing honor cleared up any possibility of a potential loser in that suit and South was now ready to draw trump.

The ace of clubs was cashed and the closed hand was reentered by ruffing another spade with the nine of clubs. Declarer attempted to split out the trumps by cashing the club king and queen. If that suit divided evenly, he intended to cross over to the king and ace of diamonds to clear up the block in that suit, ruff a spade with his remaining trump and then take the last four tricks with the ten and eight of diamonds and dummy's high hearts.

When East discarded a heart on the third round of clubs, South's hopes were apparently dashed. It is now necessary to use up his last trump, the jack, to pull West's remaining trump, and with the diamond suit blocked, it appeared that there was no way to get back to the closed hand.

South had one string left in his bow, however. He drew the last trump, crossed over to the king of diamonds, cashed the ace and then led a heart away from the ace, king. East was obliged to put up the queen, but since he had only red cards left, there was no way that he could keep declarer from regaining the lead. East returned a heart, South won the trick with the jack and cashed the jack and eight of diamonds. His only loser was the queen of hearts.

trouble, Murphy, but that little lady sitting at the corner table looks pretty lonely. Is it all right if I go over and try to cheer her up? What's that? Well, you don't have to lose your temper. How did I know she's your wife?"

"Well, I guess I've had all I need for the road. Show me which one of those cars out there is mine and I'll drive home."

"Murphy, did you hear the one about the convicted Irish rebel who tripped as he was being led up an English scaffold. He stopped, kicked the offending step and swore, 'These bloody Protestants will be the death of me yet!' Not bad, eh?"

Kilgo . . .

Modern-day campaigning might well require a state-wide candidate to be in Asheville in the morning and in Greenville that afternoon. The candidates now travel by private plane or helicopter. One gubernatorial candidate told me: "The easiest thing in the world to get is use of an airplane. Some company might not want to donate a lot of money to a campaign so they offer the use of the company plane."

Any way you slice it, the ever-present political poll, the rapid travel, the public relations staff, and the hula-boo before a candidate announces has changed the political picture in North Carolina.

It's all very spectacular and very expensive but maybe Thad Eure is right when he says there is no political news any more. People are going to do what they want to do.

James Hoffa Makes Third Bid For Parole From U.S. Prison

By MARK BROWN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Teamsters Union boss James R. Hoffa, his ties with the world's largest union severed, today makes his third bid for parole from federal prison.

The U.S. Board of Parole, which will hear Hoffa's case in executive session, last month moved the review ahead by nearly a year on the basis of undisclosed "new and substantial evidence" presented by his son.

When it denied Hoffa's last parole bid on March 31, the board had said it would not consider his case again until June of 1972.

Since then, however, Hoffa has resigned as president of the two million-member International Brotherhood of Teamsters and dropped his ties with the Michigan locals that provided his power base in the union.

In early July, as the Teamsters were electing a new president, the board said it would hear Hoffa's case ahead of schedule.

Hoffa is serving a 13-year term in the federal prison at Lewisburg, Pa., for mail fraud and jury tampering. He entered the prison in March 1967.

Acting as Hoffa's lawyer will be his son, James P. Hoffa, a Detroit attorney for the Teamsters Union.

Parole Board Chairman George J. Reed said the younger Hoffa has not scheduled any witnesses to appear before the board on his father's behalf.

In addition to dropping his ties with the Teamsters, Hoffa also testified before a New York federal grand jury that later indicted one of his former associates for alleged misuse of the union's pension fund.

While refusing to comment specifically on Hoffa's case, Reed said such cooperation is among factors weighed by the board in determining whether to grant parole.

Among alternatives open to the eight-member board are approving Hoffa's application, denying it or paroling him under conditions set by the board. Reed said other options were open but refused to discuss them.

DMZ Continues To See Fighting

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese tanks and infantrymen battled North Vietnamese forces along the demilitarized zone for the eighth day Thursday and fighting also erupted in the flatlands of eastern Cambodia, military spokesmen reported today.

Thirty-seven North Vietnamese and 17 South Vietnamese soldiers were reported killed and three South Vietnamese wounded in the second major battle this week around Camp Carroll on the western end of the DMZ.

The fighting broke out shortly after noon Thursday about 1 1/2 miles northwest of Carroll, headquarters of the 2nd Regiment of the 1st South Vietnamese Infantry Division and a base for American artillery.

Later in the day, a South Vietnamese armored column, clashed with North Vietnamese troops farther east just outside of Fire Base Charlie 2. The cavalrymen reported killing eight enemy without suffering any casualties.

Revised reports from the field said that South Vietnamese artillery—rather than American as previously reported—had been lifted out of Fire Base Sarge, west of Camp Carroll. There was speculation the move was made in anticipation of a ground attack on Sarge. Nearby bases including Carroll, have enough artillery to support Sarge.

U.S. B52 bombers mounted heavy strikes along the DMZ for the ninth consecutive day in campaign to slow the North Vietnamese offensive.

In eastern Cambodia, a South Vietnamese armored column with infantrymen battled North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops 11 miles northeast of Neak Luong, astride the Saigon-Phnom Penh highway.

Six South Vietnamese were killed and 21 wounded, while five enemy troops were reported killed.

Americans Acquire Property In Canada

OTTAWA (AP) — Americans already control much of Canada's industry, and The Canadian Press says Americans are buying wilderness and recreational areas "in amounts that are alarming more and more Canadians."

After a cross-country survey, the national news cooperative concluded: "As the United States becomes more crowded and its own wilderness dwindles, many Americans yearn for the lakes, the cottage lots and the islands to be found north of the border. So they buy here. And many Canadians ... wonder what's going to be left for them and their children."

The survey indicates that such sales are not frequent in Quebec and the Prairie provinces. The accent is more on Ontario, which is adjacent to the populous belt running from

New York to Michigan, and on coastal areas.

Canada's federal government keeps no record of property sales to Americans, and did not touch on that factor in this year's census.

Prince Edward Island, an east coast province with fine beaches, is said to regard American ownership—just over 2 per cent of total acreage—as a serious concern. Nova Scotia, seeking details on ownership, finds many nonresident owners are Canadians from other provinces rather than Americans.

In the prime beach-land area near Fort Erie, Ont., the Canadian Press survey found, "up to 90 per cent of the property is American-owned."

roll. There was speculation the move was made in anticipation of a ground attack on Sarge. Nearby bases including Carroll, have enough artillery to support Sarge.

Trucker Dies In Highway Crash

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Charles Lefler, 53, of Charlotte, was killed Thursday when his tractor-trailer jackknifed and collided with a state Highway Commission truck on the Catawba River Bridge linking Mecklenburg and Gaston counties.

The collision caused a massive traffic tie-up on Interstate 85.

The Highway Commission truck was being used to pick up roadside litter. The driver, Clyde Slough, 54, of Kannapolis, and two inmates of the Huntersville Prison Camp were treated at a hospital and released. The prisoners were Roy Willeford, 49, and James Gibson, 51.

Scholarship For Pitt Graduate

Bennie Lee Bryant, a sophomore at St. Augustine College, Raleigh, has been chosen to receive the Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity Scholarship.

To qualify for the award, a student must be in good standing academically, possess leadership qualities, and be a member of the fraternity Crescent Club.

Bryant competed with 15 other students for the scholarship, which totals $100. The award is presented each year by the Phi Beta Sigma graduate chapter.

Majoring in physical education, Bryant is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman L. Bryant of Rt. 1, Winterville. He is a 1970 graduate of Robinson Union School.

Special Venire From Pitt For Murder Trial

BEAUFORT — A number of Pitt County residents will be bussed here beginning September 20 as part of a special venire ordered by Superior Court Judge Robert D. Rouse in an effort to select a jury for the trial of a murder case here.

Judge Rouse signed the order for the out-of-county jury last week. Under terms of the order, 195 jurors will be chosen from Pitt County. The first 65 will be summoned to report for jury duty at 10 a.m. September 20. Another 65, if needed, are to report at 2 p.m. September 20, with the final 65 slated to report at 10 a.m. September 21 if necessary.

Scheduled for trial is Louis Pierson Willis of Morehead City. Willis is charged with first degree murder in the August 10 pistol slaying of Marine GySgt. Eugene Thomas Givens of Ho-Ho Village.

Coroner Defers Inquest Date

An inquest into the death of William Earl Murphy, shot by a Highway Patrolman during a scuffle over the officers gun August 6, has been postponed.

Pitt County Coroner E. W. Harvey said today that the inquest, originally scheduled for Monday night, will be held at a later time.

Car Collided With Tractor

AYDEN — Roy Lee Gardner, 26, of Route 2, Ayden has charged with failing to reduce speed enough to avoid an accident following investigation of a 9 p.m. mishap seven miles east of here on rural road 1725 yesterday.

Highway Patrolman D. R. Taylor said the Gardner car collided with a farm tractor being operated by David Hardee, 37, of Route 2, Ayden.

Both Hardee and Gardner were injured, the officer said.

Damage to the car was placed at $450 while damage to the tractor was estimated at $300.

Movie Tickets For The Blind

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Florida Auditor General Ernest Ellison has questioned the practice of a state agency in buying movie tickets for blind people.

The Bureau of Blind Services center at Daytona Beach bought 15 tickets at $1 each for "Airport," and 12 tickets at $2 each for "Patton."

The agency said the purchase was part of a "mobility and motivational program for newly blinded individuals."

"The necessity is not readily apparent," Ellison said Thursday.

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — The leaders of Egypt, Syria and Libya put their signatures today on a constitution that will bind their countries in a federal union.

The constitution will be submitted to a referendum in the three countries Sept. 1 and is certain to be overwhelmingly endorsed.

The new union, to be known as the Federation of Arab Republics, will have a population of more than 43 million.

The three countries will try to work out a common military strategy against Israel and a common foreign policy.

Each will be responsible for its own internal affairs.

Presidents Anwar Sadat of Egypt, Hafez al Assad of Syria and Libyan leader Col. Muammar Kadafi signed the federal constitution document in the state guest palace, winding up a three-day conference in the Syrian capital.

Firm Short Of Broom Winders

SPENCER, Mass. (AP) — The Town Broom Manufacturing Co., Inc., has called a temporary halt in production at the end of this week for lack of broom winders.

Walter J. Reynolds, manager of the company that has been in business since 1890, said all the firm's broom winders are retired or physically unable to work and attempts to find younger men for the job produced no applications.

The broom winder, Reynolds explained, shapes the broom straw and secures it to the wooden handle.

Business is good, said Reynolds, and he is looking into ways to resume production.

THREE WERE INJURED . . . The driver of this car, identified as Henry Horace Foskey, 19, of Route 6, Greenville, his 18-year-old wife and 8-month old girl were reported injured when the vehicle went out of control on N.C. 11 a mile south of Greenville this morning, skidded 660 feet into a utility pole, then traveled another 21 feet before coming to a stop. Highway Patrolman S. F. Padgett charged Foskey, admitted to Pitt Memorial Hospital in serious condition, with careless and reckless driving and driving after his license had been suspended. The collision occurred about 2 a.m.

Woman Dies Of Injuries

A 40-year-old Negro woman, Mary Jones Randolph of Bell Arthur died in Pitt Memorial Hospital last night from injuries received in a July 31 wreck near Bell Arthur.

Pitt County Coroner E. W. Harvey said Mrs. Randolph died of injuries that included a fractured spine and head injuries. He said investigation of the death is under way.

Highway Patrolman D. R. Taylor, who investigated the accident charged the driver of the car in which Mrs. Randolph was a passenger with careless and reckless driving.

Trooper Taylor said the car was driven by Melvin Douglas Spell, 1220B Battle St.

According to the officer, the spell car failed to make a curve, ran off the road and struck a culvert then overturned.

Spell and two other passengers in the car were injured.

Fountain Police Chief Resigning

FOUNTAIN — Floyd Lucas, who has been police chief here for ten years, has tendered his resignation to become chief of police in Ahoskie.

Lucas expressed his regret at leaving Fountain, but said he cannot turn down the challenge of heading a force of 13 officers that has been offered him in Ahoskie.

Richardson Tops Final Batting

CHAPEL HILL — Rick Richardson, slugging first baseman of the third-place Louisville Hurricanes, is the batting champion of the North Carolina Collegiate Summer Baseball League.

Richardson finished with an average of .358 and a 25-point bulge over the runnerup, third baseman Greg Dalton of UNC-Wilmington, who hit .333.

Champion University of North Carolina placed five players in the top ten in final batting statistics. The averages do not include the playoff games in which the Tar Heels topped Wilmington twice to sweep the championship.

Bobby Guthrie, slick-fielding shortstop at Carolina, finished third with an average of .317 and Mike Roberts, the Tar Heel catcher, was fourth at .316. Rounding out the top five was Ralph Lamm, third baseman at East Carolina, with an average of .314.

Carolina lefthander Jim Chamberlain completely dominated the pitching statistics. He finished with a 9-1 record and an earned run average of 0.63. He allowed only six earned runs in 85 and one-third innings on the mound. Chamberlain had 70 strikeouts, but was second in that department behind Louisville's Bob Becher, who had 81.

Chamberlain earlier this week was named the league's Most Valuable Player in a close vote of the players. Richardson was second in the voting.

In addition to leading in average, Richardson was the league champion in four other categories. He had the most runs, 37; hits, 48; doubles, 10; and home runs, 12. Carolina's Guthrie and Roberts tied for the runs batted in title with 28 each, and the Tar Heels' Mickey Hickerson had the most triples, four.

Here are the final averages:

Hebner's Three-Run Homer Wins For Bucs

CINCINNATI (AP) — Pittsburgh's Richie Hebner, who couldn't fight out of a slump last week after a stint with the Marines, finally found he still has some ammunition left—the home run ball.

The Pirates third baseman went 0-16 in one stretch last week and struck out eight consecutive times in the span. But Thursday night he rifled a three-run homer in the ninth inning to help Pittsburgh bombard Cincinnati 5-1.

"I hadn't been hitting at all since I got out of the service a week ago Sunday," Hebner said in an understatement. "I got absolutely no practice in while I was at Camp Pendleton (Calif.), but now I feel like I'm getting my stroke back. I just didn't seem to be able to make any connection at all."

Hebner's eight straight strikeouts tied a Major League record and he jokingly said Thursday night that "I might as well have struck out the ninth time so I could have broken the record."

The homer, his 17th, came off Cincinnati reliever Wayne Granger who hadn't yielded a run in his previous 14 1-3 innings, and the round tripper helped snap the Reds winning

Transaction Is Being Questioned

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The National Football League and the Kansas City Crime Commission were reported at odds Thursday night over a business transaction involving all-pro safety Johnny Robinson.

The commission has questioned whether the NFL should have allowed Robinson to enter into a transaction that resulted in a corporation he heads owing $275,000 to a Kansas City man with a police record.

The transaction involves the purchase of the Mirror Lake Town Club, now Johnny Robinson's Swim and Tennis Club.

This was done with a $75,000 down payment and a promissory note signed by Robinson for $275,000, payable to Edward P. "Eddie Spitz" Osadchey and his wife.

The NFL told The Associated Press Thursday it had already investigated the matter, regarded the transaction as a "simple purchase of property," and criticized the crime commission for having raised the issue.

In New York, the NFL office said: "This office has been fully aware of the details of Johnny Robinson's property purchase since last Dec. 3 At that time he voluntarily requested our assistance in obtaining information relevant to the then proposed transaction. At no time have we determined that the transaction is anything more than a simple purchase of property and our investigation established no sufficient cause for taking the drastic action of directing Robinson to divest himself of the property. It is unfortunate that a volunteer organization should see fit to issue self-serving statements which tend to confuse rather than to clarify the situation."

The crime commission had written the NFL earlier this week about the transaction, saying "it was not in the best interests of professional football or the Kansas City Chiefs."

Osadchey's police record shows a conviction in 1964 of conspiring with four others to defraud the government of taxes on alcohol while operating the Mirror Lake Golf and Country Club.

Contacted following the team's night practice at William Jewell College in Liberty, Mo., Robinson said: "On the advice of Coach Stram, I have no comment to make."

German Grabs Fourth Position In Surprise

By BLOYS BRITT — AP Auto Racing Writer
TALLADEGA, Ala. (AP) — German Grand Prix driver Rolf Stommelen doesn't want to be accused of "pinning anyone's ears back," but he is happy with his first just wouost with the South's top stock car pilots.

The 27-year-old from Cologne had never sat inside one of the 600 horsepower stockers until Thursday. But he had accepted an invitation to drive in Sunday's $120,000 Talladega 500, extended by Bill France, president of NASCAR and owner of the 2.66-mile Alabama International Motor Speedway, fastest closed course on earth.

Stommelen, a regular driver for Alfa Romeo in endurance racing and a newcomer to the Formula One Grand Prix circuit this year, got only three laps of practice and some hurried advice from stock car veteran Tiny Lund before making his qualifying attempt.

Would you believe 183.286 miles an hour for a fast lap. It put the tall, blond German into the third row beside Richard Petty, the all-time NASCAR great and a $1 million winner, for Sunday's start.

"I've never seen a foreign driver come down here and do that well," Petty said with admiration. "With no more practice than that, and showing that much ability his first time out, he'd be a winner before too long."

The Allison brothers, Donnie and Bobby, came over from their nearby Hueytown, Ala.,

garage and won the two front-row positions in Mercurys.

Donnie, winner of the spring 500-miler here, won the pole position at 187.323 m.p.h. Bobby, who finished second to his brother in the Winston 500 here in May by the margin of a car hood, posted 186.444.

Then followed Charlie Glotzbach in a Chevrolet, Pete Hamilton in a Plymouth, Petty's Plymouth and Stommelen's Mercury.

Twenty drivers made the lineup in the first session. Twenty more positions were open today. Only the 50 fastest cars will be allowed to start.

Stommelen admits he's "a bit out of place" on an oval track. His bread and butter has been the fast road courses of Europe.

"It's all so strange," he said in surprisingly good English. "I'd like to make a good showing, but there are many things to learn about oval track racing."

His car was built by the Holman and Moody shops in Charlotte, N.C., and his crew is headed by Dick Hutcherson, a former top stock car driver. Lund, a two-time NASCAR champion, gave the German some points to remember before he went out for practice.

"Everybody has been helpful," Stommelen said. "But after all, I have to do the driving Sunday. I just hope I can do well."

streak at four games.

The homer was only the fifth hit of the contest for the Pirates who had been shackled on two hits through eight innings by starter Jim McGlothlin who was lifted for a pinchhitter. McGlothlin, who was charged with the loss, had given up only one run—a homer by Al Oliver in the seventh inning.

Meanwhile, Bob Johnson was coasting along and until the eighth inning, the Reds were able to put only one man beyond first base. Johnson, 8-8, hurling his seventh complete game of the season, scattered nine hits and allowed just a ninth-inning homer to Lee May.

Johnson, who registered an 8-13 mark and a 3.07 earned run average with Kansas City in the American League last season, said, "It was tough last year with Kansas City because they didn't score many runs. It's a little different with this club."

"But I thought I pitched better tonight than I have most of the year. I managed to throw to spots better. Basically I'm a control pitcher."

The triumph was Johnson's second of the year without a loss to the Reds and it hiked Pittsburgh's series record this season to 7-2 against Cincinnati.

Oddly enough, the game marks the first time since July 29 that the National League Eastern Division leading Pirates have won two games in a row.

It was the only contest played in the Major League Thursday night.

Bucs To Report

East Carolina University's head football coach Sonny Randle, will begin welcoming in his 1971 crop of players Sunday.

The Pirates are scheduled to come in this weekend and begin drills on Monday morning.

They will continue pre-season practice through the first weeks of September, building toward the opening game of the season, against the tough Toledo Rockets of the Mid-American Conference.

Toledo, unbeaten in the past two seasons, and twice winner of the Tangerine Bowl, will bring the nation's longest current winning streak into Ficklen Stadium. The Rockets have won 23 in a row.

Guiding their attack will be All-American Chuck Ealey, twice named the Player-of-the-Year in the Mid-American Conference.

Tickets for this and the other five home contests of the Pirates are now on sale in the Minges Coliseum Ticket Office.

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — Herve Filion drove both ends of the winning 3-5 daily double, worth $33.20, at Roosevelt Raceway Thursday night. He won the first with Hawk Lobell $5.80 and the second with Varsity Bill, $14.40.

Youth Bumps Veteran Golfer

By ED SHEARER
Associated Press Sports Writer
ATLANTA (AP) — Laura Baugh, a pretty blue-eyed blonde from Long Beach, Calif., was a 14-month-old toddler when Barbara McIntire lost a playoff in the 1956 U.S. Women's Open near the beginning of her illustrious amateur career.

It was a big day, however, for Miss Baugh, who started playing golf at the age of two. She disposed of the 1949 Amateur champion, Mrs. Mark A. Porter of Riverton, N.J., 3 and 1 in the second round.

Then came Miss McIntire, the Colorado Springs, Colo., veteran who won this event in 1959 and 1964, captured the British Amateur in 1960 and played on five U.S. Curtis Cup teams.

Each won two holes on the front side of the rugged 6,117-yard, par 36-36-72 Atlanta Country Club course to make the turn even. Miss Baugh recorded a birdie three at No. 7 when she knocked in a 25-foot putt.

Miss Smith advanced with a 5 and 3 victory over Mary Elizabeth Shea of Los Angeles following her 2 and 1 triumph over Jessie Finucan of Summerville, S.C., in a morning second round match.

The youngest went 1-up at 10 when Miss McIntire bogeyed, but the match was squared again at 13 when Miss Baugh missed her seven-foot par putt. She regained the lead at 15, two-putting from 10 feet for a par while Miss McIntire had a bogey after sending her tee shot into the rough. Each then parred the final three holes.

Mazur Is Given Tough Job: Rebuild Patriots

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer
FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — John Mazur is neither a maochist nor a starry eyed kid. He's a seasoned pro, taking on possibly the toughest job in the National Football League—rebuilding the New England Patriots.

Hired as a chief assistant in 1969, Mazur inherited the head coaching job of the Patriots when Clive Rush was "relieved" of his duties midway through last season.

Mazur did his best, but damage, both in the morale and injury departments, had been done. The Patriots finished with a 2-12 record, the worst in the NFL.

Mazur was given a new one-year contract, causing cynics to wonder. Is he a sacrificial lamb? An interim head coach while a bigger name is sought? Or is he trying to qualify as a kamakaze pilot?

A one-time Notre Dame quarterback and former assistant coach at Marquette, Tulane and Boston Universities before serving as offensive coordinator for the Buffalo Bills from 1962 through '69, Mazur is ignoring the cynics, concentrating on the big job ahead.

With the help of new general manager Upton Bell, 33-year-old former player personnel director of the Baltimore Colts, Mazur is remodeling the Patriots, starting with a tough training camp designed to weed out players who do not give 100 percent effort.

Mazur's campaign already is paying off, with a 20-14 victory over the New York Giants and a 17-10 loss to the Minnesota Vikings in exhibition games.

Despite last year's record, only one rookie, 14th draft pick Alfred Sykes of Florida A&M has managed to crack the starting lineup so far. Sykes, a skinny wide receiver, has been the biggest surprise in training camp.

Most veterans, healthy once again, are battling to hold starting jobs.

Bell, son of the late NFL commissioner, Bert Bell, is trying to do as much as possible "right now to make John's job easier and, maybe, win a few games right away."

In that department, the Patriots have acquired in deals such players as Mike Haggerty of the Pittsburgh Steelers, Willis Crenshaw of the Denver Broncos, Steve Kiner of Dallas, and Rich Moore of the Green Bay Packers.

The Patriots' enthusiasm also has been boosted by the arrival of quarterback Jim Plunkett and a new 62,000-seat stadium in Foxboro, about 20 miles south of Boston. Until now, the Patriots have been vagabonds. Bouncing from one inadequate stadium to another.

The walkout of veteran quarterback Joe Kapp hurt, but Mazur shrugs it off in typical fashion. He just went about his business at hand, promoting Mike Taliaferro to the No. 1 job. Taliaferro was displaced when Kapp was signed last October.

Plunkett, the Heisman Trophy winner from Stanford, was late in arriving because of the College All-Star Game. Backing up Taliaferro, he has been used, sparingly in exhibition games, but he is expected to get more work gradually as the season progresses.

Next: Atlanta Falcons.

Cowboys Can't Afford To Relax

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — When the starting offense of the Cleveland Browns is announced to Dallas Cowboy fans in the Cotton Bowl tonight, there is apt to be a few cheers—or sighs, anyway—when Mike Phipps is announced as starting quarterback.

That will mean the Browns' veteran signal caller, weak-kneed Bill Nelsen, is not at the helm.

Nelsen, should any Cowboy fan have forgotten, guided the Browns past the Cowboys 31-20 in the 1968 NFL Eastern title game and humiliated them the following year, 42-10, in the game for the same marbles.

Nelsen may see some action, his first of the season.

But before Cowboy enthusiasts get too excited, they had perhaps take a second look at Phipps.

The second-year veteran from Purdue took the Browns on three touchdown drives, all over 70 yards, in the San Francisco game which they lost 38-24.

The Cowboys will be hoping to keep their winning streak going after easily beating Los Angeles and New Orleans.

The road-weary Browns—this is their third pre-seasoner away from home—have also lost to the Rams.

Dallas Coach Tom Landry says he will go with quarterback Craig Morton, since Roger Staubach has a few bruised ribs.

Dallas will be without tight end Mike Ditka and linebacker Lee Ray Jordan, while the Browns will be missing offensive tackle Dick Schafrath and defensive end Jack Gregory.

Quite a few veterans switched teams via the waiver route Thursday, including Jerry Rhome, Jack Clancy and Eugene Moore.

Rhome, who spent five years with Dallas and one with Houston, was picked up by the Los Angeles Rams on waivers from the Oilers. Rhome will battle Karl Sweetan and John Walton for the job as Roman Gabriel's back-up man.

Clancy, a former starter with the Miami Dolphins and Green Bay Packers, moved from Green Bay to Atlanta on Waivers. Clancy caught 67 passes in 1967 with Miami, an AFL record for rookies.

Moore, a running back in his third season, was picked up by New Orleans from Baltimore. The Saints also picked up guard Jack Stambaugh on waivers from Cincinnati, and dealt rookie center Wimpy Winther to Green Bay for an undisclosed draft choice.

The New York Giants moved to bolster their receiving corps by acquiring Phil Odle from Detroit on waivers.

Georgia Students Given Greater Voting Rights

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Atty. Gen. Arthur K. Bolton ruled Thursday that students who are 18 may register to vote in the towns where they attend school. The ruling is viewed by some as the greatest extension of citizenship rights to the 18-to-21 age group since 18-year-olds were allowed to vote in Georgia in 1943. In the past, legal residence of such voters has been in the homes of their parents, even if they lived elsewhere. Bolton said, "If citizens under 21 years of age are prohibited from establishing a residence of their own for voting purposes, while citizens over 21 years are not, then in a very real sense voting rights are being denied to those under 21 on account of their age."

He ruled at the request of Secretary of State Ben Fortson, whose office oversees elections and voting registration in Georgia. The attorney general said his ruling is in line with recent opinions by the U.S. Supreme Court and the ratification of the 26th Amendment to the Constitution last month, which guarantees the right to vote to 18-year-olds throughout the nation. "For census purposes, college students no matter what age are considered residents of college communities in which they were residing while attending college," Bolton said. "It is this population figure which determines the amount of state and federal grants to the community as well as the population figure used in apportionment under the one-man, one-vote principal."

"If these communities rely on the students to gain more grant money and more representation in apportionment, then it may not be unreasonable to also consider them residents for the purpose of voting. It is our opinion that a person over 18 years of age but under 21 years can establish a residence apart from his parents." College students outnumber permanent local residents in several Georgia towns. The opinion is seen as having significant effect on Carrollton, home of West Georgia College, and Athens, home of the University of Georgia, which has 25,000 students.

Justice Black Defers Corpus Christi Busing

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Supreme Court Justice Hugo Black has stayed full operation of a desegregation plan for Corpus Christi schools which would have included the busing of 14,500 pupils. Black, acting as the justice presiding over the Texas district, held up Thursday part of a court order and let stand another part under which some 900 black pupils in the Corpus Christi school system will be reassigned. Dr. Dana Williams, Corpus Christi school superintendent, said that with Black's order, school will open as scheduled Sept. 1 with no change from last year for Mexican-American and Anglo pupils. Williams said the district "was not pleased with the effect on black pupils and we will attempt to resolve this in the next few days."

Black's order is good until a ruling is made on the merits of the entire case by the Supreme Court, which reconvenes in October, or a lower court. Williams emphasized the district remains under the court order to reassign about 900 black pupils. A maximum of 25 teachers will be reassigned to meet racial and ethnic balances, according to Dr. Leo Bradley, assistant superintendent for administration. Black acted at the request of the Justice Department, the agency's first move since President Nixon disavowed a busing plan for Austin, Tex., schools proposed by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. About 5 per cent of Corpus Christi's 46,000 pupils are black. The other 95 per cent is divided equally among Mexican Americans and Anglos. U.S. District Court Judge Woodrow Seals had issued an order earlier to effect a three-way racial balance by reassigning the 14,500 pupils. U.S. District Court Judge Owen Cox had set aside part of Seals' order but Cox was overruled by the appeals court. Corpus Christi school authorities say they can't afford purchase of the 109 buses needed to implement the court's order. They place cost at $1.7 million. At present, Corpus Christi has no school buses.

Teachers Talk Future Plans

The executive council of the Pitt County Unit of the Association of Classroom Teachers met Wednesday night to work on tentative plans for the coming school year. Objectives for the coming year include: — To support the program of the parent body, the NCAE; — To dignify the work and importance of classroom teachers; — To furnish leadership, in motivating and directing teachers' efforts toward becoming active participants in the work of local, state and national professional organizations. Four general meetings have been scheduled for the year: Sept. 16, four area schools; Oct. 21, Farmville Central; Jan. 13, North Pitt; and March 23, D. H. Conley.

The first meeting will be a workshop conducted by representatives from the state association: Louise Denmark, state president; Edna Richards, state director; James Abrams, state vice president; and Jim Cooke, state secretary. The officers for the Pitt County ACT are: Miss Isabelle Wicker, president; Mrs. Linda Whitehurst, president-elect; Mrs. Alice Clark, vice president; Mrs. Carolyn Edwards, secretary; Mrs. Martha Alcorn, treasurer; Miss Viola Vines and Mrs. Mattie Clark, past presidents. Committee chairmen include: RP and R, Mrs. Beulah Mebane; Teps, Mrs. Pansy Edwards; Citizenship, Mrs. Arlene Hott; election, Samuel Hemby; public relations, Miss Helen Johnson; resolutions, Mrs. Betty Frances Warren.

Speeding Trial Is Rescheduled

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — The trial of State Rep. R. C. Soles, Columbus County Democrat, on a charge of speeding 115 miles an hour in a 45 m.p.h. zone has been continued for two months. State District Court Judge Joe Dupree has rescheduled the case for Oct. 26. He also increased Soles' bond from $500 to $1,000 Thursday after noting the legislator from Tabor City was late for court. It was the second time Soles had obtained a continuance. A Spring Lake policeman stopped him in late July.

School Serves In Factory Loft

NEW YORK (UPI) — New York City's P.S. 211, serving grades one through four in a largely Puerto Rican neighborhood, is a fully carpeted, open plan, non-graded school. The school sporting the newest program in education is not in a brand new building. It is located in an old factory loft in which everything from candy and mattresses to dresses and plastic flowers were once produced.

"Pepsi-Cola's Value-Pak brings the nickel serving back"

"How?"

Every serving that you pour costs a nickel... not a penny more.

Pepsi-Cola taste. Pepsi-Cola quality. At a price you thought went out with the big-band sound. The reason for the value is simple. First, you're buying in quantity. Eight 16-ounce returnable bottles—an actual gallon of Pepsi. Enough so that you don't have to worry about running out when the gang runs in. Second, you're not buying the bottles. You merely leave a deposit. A deposit that's refunded when you return the bottles. And returning the bottles helps keep our country clean. So get Pepsi-Cola in the 16-ounce Value-Pak—and get a serving of at least five ounces for only a nickel. At participating stores.

Pepsi's got a lot to give.

Worry Clinic Emotions Not Subject To Will

Dr. Eff's wife has a good sense of humor. But she is smart and realizes that apple pie really does not supplant "cheesecake" in the boudoir! Wives, divorce starts in the bedroom! And the siren who seduces your husband doesn't use roast beef but serves him "cheesecake."

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

Case R-539: Dr. Eff and his wife attended the last Presidential Prayer Breakfast in Washington, D. C.

As Mrs. Crane and I were waiting for the dining room doors to open, Dr. Eff came over and graciously used the Compliment Club technique.

"Hello, Dr. Crane," he began, "it's good to see you again."

"The dental surgeons of Mississippi are still talking about your address before our recent convention.

"And I have an interesting follow-up to report."

"You may recall advising our wives that it isn't the roast beef in the dining room that holds a husband, but the cheesecake in the boudoir."

"Well, when I got back to my room that night, what do you suppose I found on my pillow?"

"It was a piece of apple pie!"

"Don't you think my wife was clever in so doing?"

Clever Wives

Mrs. Eff was certainly a clever wife with a good sense of humor.

But the "cheesecake" to which I referred was not the sort that comes from a commercial bakery!

Smart wives soon learn that divorce doesn't start in the kitchen, or dining room, nor living room.

But in the bedroom! Designing outside sirens don't win your husbands away from you by their culinary artistry in serving delicious roast beef. No, indeed!

They may not even be able to perk coffee or fry an egg!

But they are debt experts at serving cheesecake in the boudoir.

Repeatedly I find it necessary to warn grieving wives that they can usually beat any outside paramour at her own game, IF.

But that big "IF" means, IF they will fight fire with fire and apply our competitive "free enterprise" spirit in the bedroom.

"But, Dr. Crane," many tearful wives have protested, "don't men's promises mean anything?"

"For at our wedding, my husband promised to love, honor and cherish me all his life!"

Alas, girls, neither man nor woman can promise future delivery of emotions with any certainty thereof.

For emotions are not subject to our will!

Instead, they must be resurrected by the stimuli in the environment at that future date.

For example, you might promise to froth at the mouth in rage or quake with fear tomorrow noon.

But when 12 o'clock arrived, you would not be enraged nor terrified unless something at that very moment tomorrow noon evoked such emotions!

Thus, the wedding pledges of undying love cannot be counted upon to hold true in the future unless you reinstate or revive and resurrect love by what you do, say or are at that future date!

If you are now a listless, fat female at bedtime, unperfumed and in a flannel nightgown instead of a diaphanous nighty, how do you expect to excite your husband's erotic notions?

"Yes, Dr. Crane," you may reply, "but he is also fat, unshaved and maybe reeking of perspiration B.O."

True enough, but there is a shortage of men so you wives must realize 5,000,000 husband-less females above the age of 21 are ready to poach on your domain.

So send for my 200-point "Tests for Husbands and Wives," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Computer Links Minn. Schools

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—The nation's largest educational computer network, linking over 100 Minnesota schools to a complex service center in Honeywell's general offices here, will begin its second year of successful operation this fall.

The network includes educational levels ranging from elementary schools to state, public and private colleges. Each school has at least one computer terminal on its premises. The terminals resemble electric typewriters.

There are about 1,200 species of seaweed in Australian seas.

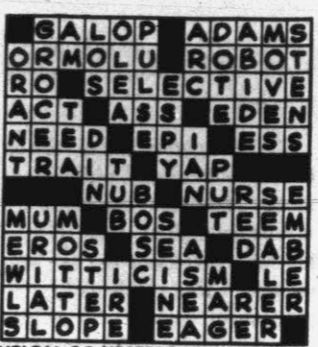

Varied Weather Seen In Hawaii

HONOLULU (UPI)—Hawaii is noted for its pleasant weather, but it is not always that way.

The islands have had tidal waves, floods and vicious wind and surf storms. At Haleakala, Maui, earlier this year, there was rain, thunder and lightning, sleet, hail, snow and 50-mile-an-hour winds—all in a space of five hours.

Methodist Book Of Discipline Sets Personal Responsibility

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
DENVER (AP) — Those
hearty, tolerant-minded believers, the Methodists, gathered here this week from around the world, have often been called "the doers of Christianity."
They stress applying Christian ethics in concrete conditions of life and don't worry much about pinpointing exact theological formulas.

As their 18th century founder,
John Wesley, put it, "Methodists alone do not insist on your holding this or that opinion, but they think and let think."
As a result, the church has never fixed in a detailed doctrine its requirements for membership—other than belief in God and in Jesus Christ as God's son and every man's personal savior.
"From there on, theologically you are on your own," writes a Methodist historian, Hartzell Spence.

On the other hand, Methodists are expected to live up to one of the most thorough-going guides to personal responsibility, an 890-page Book of Discipline, laying down rules of Christian conduct in the world.
The contrast of free theological interpretation and extensive prescriptions for action has made for a high degree of practical efficiency in getting things done.
In this country alone, the church has started more than 300 hospitals and other health and welfare institutions and more than 125 colleges, plus other hundreds of them abroad.

The church's publishing house in Nashville, Tenn., is the largest such operation in the nation.
Altogether Methodism includes more than 50 million adherents and 65 church bodies in 87 countries. About 5,000 representatives are here for the world conference being held on the University of Denver campus.

The movement probably would have remained within the Anglican Communion, as did Wesley, if the British Church had accepted for ordination the many lay preachers he recruited.
However, it refused to do so and often it barred its evangelistic meetings from church facilities, forcing them into the market place and industrial compounds among working people.
The movement spread to the American colonies and pioneering Methodist "circuit riders" followed the frontier westward, bringing a note of order in saying put it, "the first human sound in the American wilderness was the ring of the fron-tiersman's ax—the second was the preaching of the circuit rider."
With its stress on social application of the Gospel, Methodists customarily have been at the forefront of struggles for labor justice, women's rights, racial equality, the abolition of war and similar causes.

Once considered the "Church of the Poor," Methodism is now largely middle class in this country. There are 19 Methodist bodies in the United States, largest of which is the 11-million member United Methodist Church.
The church affirms an "Open Bible," saying it contains all that is needed for salvation but insists on freedom of interpretation.

Doctors Are Diplomates

Two Greenville doctors, Dr.
Cary Frederick Irons and Dr.
Jack W. Wilkerson, have been named charter diplomates of the American Board of Family Practice.

Each became a diplomate by passing a certification examination administered under the aegis of the Board. An intensive two-day examination proved the ability of each in internal medicine, surgery, obstetrics-gynecology, pediiatrics, psychiatry, preventative medicine and other traditional specialties to certify them in medicine's newest specialty—a family practice.
Some 3,285 doctors throughout the nation have this diplomate distinction. They have agreed to accept responsibility for the patient's total health care and to serve as the natural point of entry into the complex medical system.

Family practice specialists have to be re-certified by passing an exam every six years.
Before taking the first exam, each must have completed a three-year family practice residency, have been in family practice a minimum of six years, and have successfully completed 300 hours of postgraduate medical education.
Dr. Wilkerson is in private practice here and Dr. Irons directs the student health services program of East Carolina University.

SOLITUDE but not SOLITARY

Quiet moments in solitude are good for the soul. Each of us needs those moments apart from the busy world—where we can distill our thoughts, reshape our purpose and revitalize our spirit.

This is not the same as living a solitary life—to be shut off from society, aloof and alone. We must remain in touch with the rest of mankind, or we will become lonely and selfish. We must be a part of the common flow of life.

In a society filled with patterns and cross-currents of both good and evil, where we dare not live in isolation, every person needs a strength greater than his own. That strength, derived from the presence of God in our lives, is the central concern of the Church. Spend some time in solitude with God before you attempt to meet the rush of life.

Associated Press Writer
FT. MCPHERSON, Ga. (AP) — F. Lee Bailey, defense attorney for Capt. Ernest L. Medina, says he will try to get the results of the captain's lie detector test introduced as evidence in the trial if he "has to take it as high as the White House."

Floating School May Be Cheaper

NEW YORK (UPI) — Schools that float on water may be more economical than schools built on land, concludes a study by Education Facilities Laboratories.

The study indicates that school space built on floating platforms or barges can be up to 15 per cent cheaper than conventional school construction, including land.

Bailey contends that the results of Medina's polygraph test support his claim that he is innocent or ordering civilians killed at My Lai.

The government, however, no longer contends that whether or not Medina gave orders to kill is an issue in the case.

Other than this, no other results of the tests have been made public.

The 34-year-old Medina, from Montrose, Colo., is charged with the premeditated murder of 102 civilians at the South Vietnamese hamlet of My Lai, March 16, 1968. Specifically, the Army accuses him of responsibility for 100 villagers allegedly

College Humor 'Nearly Dead'

NEW YORK (UPI) — College humor is nearly dead, according to Dario Politella, associate professor of English at the University of Massachusetts and author of "The Illustrated Anatomy of Campus Humor."

He cites student' preoccupation with the state of world affairs as the reason and contends that "whatever humor does exist is from innocence rather than inspiration.

killed by his troops, and that he shot and killed a Vietnamese woman and either shot or ordered the shooting of a small boy.

The jury of five officers had the day off Thursday while the defense and government lawyers listened to seven expert polygraph examiners testify as to the reliability of lie detectors.

The experts testified that lie detector techniques have been developed almost to the point of infallibility.

The lie detector experts were attending the American Polygraph Association convention here, which Bailey calls "a fortuitous circumstance," when he called on them to testify.

Among the experts was Robert A. Brisentine Jr. of Ft. Holabird, Md., who administered the lie detector test to Medina.

Considers Race In 4th District

DURHAM (AP) — Oliver W. Alphin, chairman of the Durham County Republican party executive committee, says he is considering running in the 4th Congressional District.

The Durham lawyer is the first Republican to show an interest in the seat held by Rep. Nick Galifianakis, a Democrat who is considering running for the Senate next year.

conversations with Medina totaled 999 hours.

Maj. William Eckhardt, Army prosecutor, argued about getting Brisentine to disclose certain results of Medina's lie detector test.

Bailey said he thought that was the purpose of calling Brisentine back to the stand. The military judge, Col. Kenneth Howard, agreed.

"I have no idea what the government plans," the judge said.

However, he refused to force the government to seek testimony from Brisentine. Bailey objected to Eckhardt's choosing "points out of context and said that if the prosecution plans to put Brisentine back on the stand, the defense must have prior knowledge.

Bailey later told newsmen outside the red brick courthouse that he would not hesitate to go to the White House to get the court-martial manual

Mecklenburg Publisher Dies

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Paul F. "Pete" Ellis, 67, editor and publisher of the weekly Mecklenburg Times, died Thursday after a period of declining health.

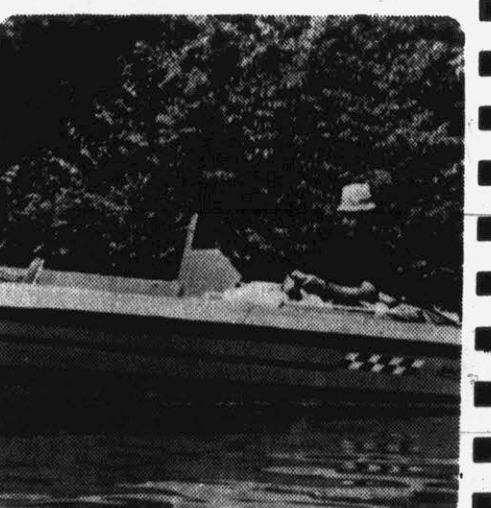

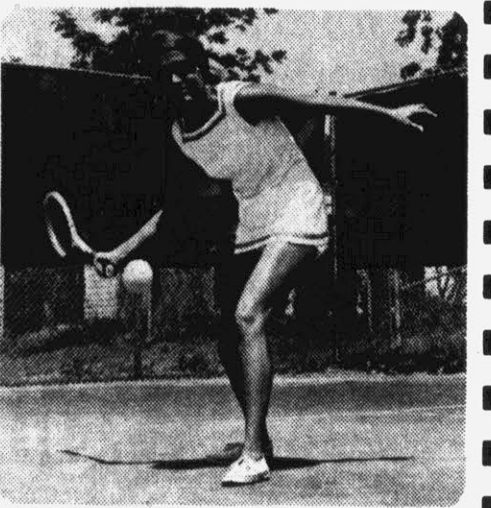

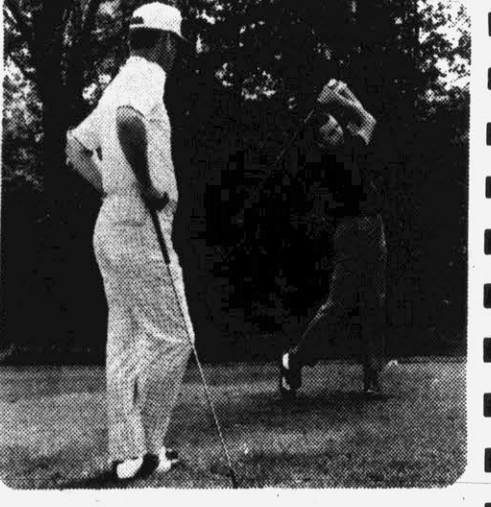

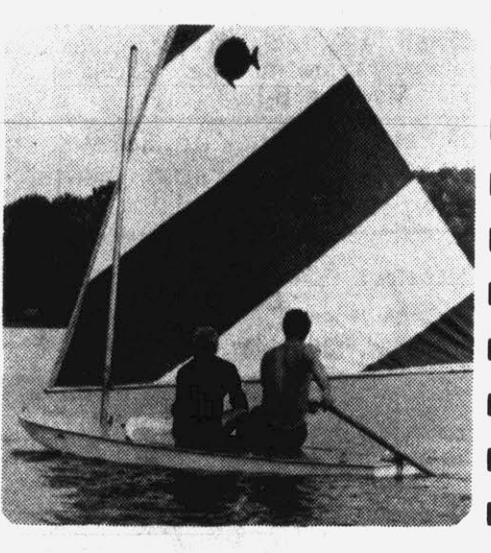

He had worked for the United Press in New York during World War II, and later for the Winston-Salem Journal and the Charlotte Observer.

changed in order to admit as evidence the results of lie detector tests.

Under military law, results of polygraph tests cannot be admitted as evidence. They can however, be introduced before charges are brought.

The other polygraph experts were Cleve Backster of New York City, John E. Reed of Chicago, Dr. LeMoyn Snyder of Paradise, Calif., Clayborne A. Lowry of Augusta, Ga., and Leonard Haralson of Miles, Ill.
