Scott Plans 'For All 16'

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Gov. Bob Scott says his proposals for restructuring higher education in North Carolina would allow one board—including representatives of predominantly black and small schools—to speak for all 16 public universities in North Carolina.

Scott told a news conference Tuesday that the board, regardless of what it is called, would have control of the budgets and programs of the institutions.

He said those are his main considerations and that he would announce his complete plans in a week or ten days. He said he would do so after further meetings of the legislative committees on higher education, which recently held public hearings on restructuring proposals.

A proposal recommended by State Sen. John Burney of Wilmington, the governor said, would not solve the problems of "eliminating all the boards of trustees coming to the General Assembly and scrambling for funds, and of a system within a system."

The Burney report in general has recommended a strong overall guiding group for the state universities, along with the continuance of the consolidated university.

Shifting to other subjects, the governor said he would not endorse anybody in the race to succeed him, nor in the race for the U.S. Senate seat now held by Sen. B. Everett Jordan.

Scott was in Charlotte to attend a dinner Tuesday night marking the opening of the Knight Publishing Co.'s $21 million building housing the Charlotte Observer and the Charlotte News.

Scott said he would not commit himself on whether he favored liquor by the drink in the state instead of the present system of brown-bagging in some localities.

But he said if mixed drinks are voted in, care should be taken to see that gangster elements do not move in.

PETITION
CARTHAGE, N.C. (AP) — A petition with more than double the number of signatures needed has been submitted, asking for a vote in Moore County legalizing liquor by-the-drink.

Darden Is Named To Role In UF

Carl Darden, who moved to Greenville in July of this year, has been named by Ed Warren as Publicity Chairman for the 1971-72 Pitt County United Fund campaign.

A native of Newton Grove township in Sampson County, Darden, a bachelor, is a graduate of Hobbton High School. After serving a tour with the Army in the early 1960's, he attended Louisiana College and East Carolina University.

Before coming to Greenville, he was with the American Red Ball Transit Company in Goldsboro. He is now employed with the General Insurance and Realty Company in Greenville.

He is a member of Newton Grove Methodist Church and was a member of the Goldsboro Jaycees.

"I believe in community improvement," Darden commented, "and the United Fund serves this purpose. It will be a challenge to serve as publicity chairman, and I hope to do a good job in this capacity." As publicity chairman, Darden will be responsible for coordinating information for the press, radio and TV in connection with the various phases of the 1971-1972 United Fund campaign.

Another Fight After Draft Vote Military Hardware Bill 'Next'

WASHINGTON (AP) — After a long, long, debate, the Senate has decided to extend the draft, but another war of words looms over the controversial $21 billion bill for military hardware.

Behind the torrent of words, the talk of young men or manned bombers, pay raises or payloads, the issue remains the same—how to force an end to U.S. involvement in Indochina.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who spearheaded the unsuccessful drive to call for a total withdrawal from Indochina in nine months provided that all American POWs are released, plans to try again, perhaps next week, sources said.

In the final version of the draft bill sent to President Nixon Tuesday, Mansfield's watered down amendment calls on the President to negotiate a total withdrawal from Indochina "at the earliest practicable date."

But one Senate war critic, Democrat Mike Gravel of Alaska, said the vote Tuesday means any further effort this year to set a deadline for withdrawal will be futile.

"I don't think there is any real clout or muscle or backbone in the Senate this year to do anything," he told reporters.

He noted conferees on the military procurement bill are senior members of the Senate and House Armed Services committees, likely to be the same as those who watered down the earlier Mansfield Amendment after the House rejected it.

"When it comes down the real crunch," Gravel said, "we'll have a reoccurrence of what went on today."

Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Armed Services Committee and floor manager of both the draft and procurement measures, predicted the debate on the latter would take quite a while too.

In the past two years, consideration of the measure, which authorizes funds for major weapons systems and research and development, has lasted well over a month.

The long draft debate, which began in the Senate May 5, came to a surprisingly swift end.

Senate leaders had predicted it would take at least two tries to produce the two-thirds needed to invoke cloture and limit debate on the draft measure.

AYDEN — Officers here early today arrested 33 blacks on charges of parading without a permit as they marched along East Avenue.

The march, which began about 12:35 a.m. was the latest in a series of protests which began August 25 and until last night had seen more than 290 arrests on similar charges.

The marchers have been protesting the August 6 shooting of a Negro by a Highway Patrolman. A coroner's jury, after hearing evidence presented at an inquest, said the officer, Trooper Billy Day, acted in self defense and recommended no criminal action be taken against him.

Protesters have asked that Ptl. Day be fired. Those arrested last night ranged in age from 13 to 32. There were three juveniles among the group. Most of the protesters were 16, 17, 18, and 19.

Before midnight Greenville attorney Jerry Paul, who has been representing the protesters in court, was charged by Ayden Police Department Sgt. J. W. Pridden with assault and battery and placed under a $100 bond.

But the vote was 61 to 30, giving supporters of the draft bill victory by a single vote.

Then, as Gravel and Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., conferred on the floor on whether to fight further, the Senate went promptly into a second vote — on the draft measure itself — and passed it 55 to 30.

Frinks, state field secretary for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference and one of the protest leaders, exhibited a statement and list of 13 demands he said the students wanted made known.

In part, the statement termed the walkout an "escape" and said it was "an act against the repressive and exploitive system known as a school."

Among other things, the list of grievances included: "We demand that Billy Day be fired from the Highway Patrol," the

August Prices Slightly Rose For Consumers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government said today in its first consumer price report since President Nixon ordered the wage-price freeze that both living costs and wages rose in August.

Living costs increased three-tenths of one per cent, largely because of a sharp boost in gasoline prices, but the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said the report did not reflect the price freeze because many of the figures were compiled before it was announced Aug. 15.

Wages of some 45 million rank-and-file workers rose two cents hourly and $1.43 weekly to $129 per week. Purchasing power after deduction for price increases was up seven-tenths of one per cent for the month and 1.1 per cent from a year earlier and was only five-tenths of one per cent under the 1968 all-time high, the report said.

The rise in living costs, slightly larger than in July, pushed the government's consumer price index up to 122.2 per cent of its 1967 base of 100. The figure means that it cost $12.22 last month for every $10 worth of typical family purchases four years ago.

On a seasonally adjusted basis, the August rise was four-tenths of one per cent, double the size of the July increase, but still well below the increases in May and June, the bureau said.

Grocery prices were unchanged in August, the first time since January there had been no increase.

In other major price categories, housing costs rose five-tenths of one per cent, transportation was up five-tenths, including a 3.7 per cent hike for gasoline, medical care increased five-tenths, and recreation rose one-tenth of one per cent.

Clothing prices declined three-tenths of one per cent but there was a rise of five-tenths of one per cent for shoes.

The bureau said future price reports during the freeze are likely to show change because some items are not frozen and others are not priced every month and will later show changes from before the freeze.

Captured Stranger In Pitt Pecan Tree

He's a Coati-Mundi and was rescued from a pecan tree at Frog Level. At this point, according to Pitt County Dog Wardens Willie Bell and Jarvis Worthington, no one has any idea who the owner of the animal might be.

"We received a call that a strange looking animal was up a pecan tree at the Leslie Humbles home at Frog Level," Bell commented.

A native of Central and South America, the racoon like animal with a long tapering snout and a long ring-marked tail seemed a little nervous with so many people around. He allowed himself to be handled, but seemed not eager to be petted.

Bell said they hoped the owner will contact them by calling the Health Department by telephoning 752-4141. He is being held there for the owner.

Memorial Building Fund Formed For Contributors To New Hospital

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

A memorial building fund has been established to accept donations toward equipment for the new Pitt Memorial Hospital.

The Pitt Memorial Hospital board of trustees approved last night the setting up of a special account at the best interest rate available to be held until the time for purchasing of equipment for the new hospital arrives.

Hospital board chairman Woodrow Wooten said that he and other board members have been approached by persons inquiring as to how gifts for use in the new hospital might be given. Usually these gifts are intended as memorials to some friend of family member of the donor or donors. Such money definitely will not be used for operating expenses but for tangible equipment to be used for long periods of time. Suitable plaques will indicate the donor or donors and the person in whose memory each gift was made, Wooten said.

Operating room superintendent Mrs. Bessie McLamb reported on her growing department. She said that when she came to Pitt Memorial in 1958 there were 13 O.R. personnel and 12 surgeons. Now there are 23 surgeons and 26 O.R. personnel. It is expected that at the end of the month, more than 4,680 operations will have been performed in the one major, two minor and one cysto room in the operating suit, some 800 more than performed during the previous October through September period last year.

She explained a little of the staff's sterile procedure how a skeleton staff is on call at all times. Operations occur steadily from 7 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. each weekday and of course emergency operations may be done at any hour.

The J. S. Moye family, donors of the site of the present hospital, registered, in a letter read to the board, their disapproval of any part of the hospital grounds being leased or sold for a parking lot. A discussion began at last month's meeting of a request by doctors practicing in the Medical Pavilion that a portion of the grounds between the drive to the hospital from N.C. 43 north, the pavilion, and W. Sixth Street be leased or sold to the doctor-owners for development of the parking lot. The board recognized the families comments but no decision was made.

Stormy Season

MIAMI (AP) — Hurricane Ginger swept toward Bermuda today while a tropical depression east of Barbados appeared to be blossoming into the Atlantic season's 10th tropical storm.

The National Hurricane Center said the system near Barbados would be given a name—Janice—later today if it continued to strengthen.

Reports from an Air Force plane indicated Ginger was less than 24 hours from striking Bermuda and people in the British crown colony some 670 miles from New York were urged to take immediate precautions.

Gale force winds, briefly approaching 75-mile-an-hour hurricane strength in passing squalls, were expected to begin later this afternoon or tonight.

At midmorning, Ginger was centered around 350 miles east-southeast of Bermuda near Latitude 31.1 north, Longitude 59.3 west.

Satellite pictures received at the National Hurricane Center confirmed date from a Navy reconnaissance plane that the depression 830 miles east of Barbados was growing stronger and better organized.

Maximum sustained winds were near 40 miles an hour when the system was pin-pointed near Latitude 28 north, Longitude 47.5 west.

A Record?

If blood donors maintain their pace today, a record may be set for a single blood collection drive in Pitt County.

Yesterday, the first of the 2-day drive, reliable sources said 230 units were collected from a total of 301 persons reporting to the Moose Lodge.

The bloodmobile will be operating until 4:00 p.m. today.

Ten Students Attained Scholarship Semifinals

Ten Pitt County high school students — eight from Rose High School in Greenville, and two from Farmville High School, have been named as National Merit Scholarship Semifinalists.

Two boys and six girls from Rose appear on the list. These are: Sally C. Boyette, Anne M. Petrie, Roger D. Billica, Robert L. Carraway, John G. Daugman, David N. Howell, Christopher O'Connell, and Joe O. Swain, Jr.

The two Farmville students making the semifinalist list are Robert L. Eason and Bobbi L. Schlatter.

One student from each of two adjoining counties — Greene and Martin, also made the list, Sherry L. Hall of Greene Central High School and Russell D. Roberson of Bear Grass High School.

These students will be among the 15,000 high school students competing for the approximately 3,000 Merit Scholarships to be awarded in the spring of 1972.

Semifinalists are the highest scorers on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test which was given last February to more than 655,000 students in about 16,600 schools across the nation. The semifinalists constitute less than one percent of the graduating secondary school seniors in the U. S.

Having passed the initial test, semifinalists must now advance to finalist standing to be considered for the Merit scholarships to be awarded next spring. To achieve this, each candidate needs to substantiate his performance on a second examination, provide information about his achievements and interests and receive the endorsement of their school.

A Family Planning Program Succeeds In State Of Louisiana

By MIKE DUFFY
Associated Press Writer
NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Jane Doe had her first child when she was only 13 and had 14 more children before Family Planning, Inc. taught her how to make effective use of birth control. Mrs. Doe was one of millions of women throughout the country whose background hadn't exposed her to modern birth control methods.

But Family Planning taught her and an estimated 98 per cent of the indigent women of New Orleans about birth control. Statistics show that statewide, the program has reached more than 70,000 women or about half the indigent women in the state and has the ambitious goal of reaching them all.

"This is the highest response to any voluntary program of any large population in the world," says Dr. Joseph D. Beasley, the program's creator, who is also chairman of the Planned Parenthood-World Population organization based in New York. The success of the Louisiana program is all the more remarkable in light of the fact that six years ago it was against the law to disseminate birth control information in the state.

Beasley and a group of associates at Tulane University set out to gather the facts that would lay the foundation for a change in the law.

They found that in New Orleans, women in the lower socioeconomic level constituted only 26 per cent of the total female population of reproductive age but accounted for 56 per cent of live births, 88 per cent of illegitimate births, 72 per cent of stillbirths, 80 per cent of maternal deaths and 68 per cent of infant deaths.

The study convinced state officials of the need for birth control information, and in 1965 the state attorney general reinterpreted the law to allow the spread of such information.

Beasley and his group immediately opened an experimental clinic in rural Lincoln Parish (county).

Within 18 months, Lincoln Parish showed a 32 per cent decrease in the number of births to indigent women and a 40 per cent drop in the number of out-of-wedlock births. In four surrounding parishes, births to indigent women dropped by only 6 per cent and illegitimate births went up 2 per cent.

On June 27, 1967, a major Family Planning clinic opened in New Orleans, and the same success story was written.

The program grew rapidly and by last fall attained statewide status with 170 clinics and centers staffed by more than 600 employees.

Family Planning, Inc. is a private corporation funded through state and federal grants as well as private sources such as the Ford and Rockefeller foundations.

Women learn about the program through hospital visits following childbirth, through the program's "outreach" staff, through referrals from other agencies or simply by word of mouth.

Treatment is free and the only criteria for participation are that a woman meets Office of Economic Opportunity levels of indigency, has delivered in a Charity hospital in the previous five years or is currently eligible for maternity services in a Charity hospital.

Beasley attributes the success of the program to the fact that it offers a wide variety of health services. Besides birth control information, Family Planning offers pre-and postnatal care, cancer checks, family counseling and referrals.

"This is a health program," Beasley says. "It's a very positively oriented program."

Another major factor of the program's success is its blending of computer technology and human compassion.

Patients in the program are treated with respect and concern. From the time she is greeted at the door of the clinic through the entire process, a woman is treated as though she were a paying client in an expensive middle-class suburban clinic.

In a first appointment, she gives her medical history to a nurse, attends a slide show and lecture on family planning, undergoes a physical examination by a gynecologist, is presented with the option of several forms of birth control and is instructed in the use of any form she may choose.

Those who fail to show up for an appointment are contacted personally by an "auxiliary worker," one of a team of poverty area residents who speak the language and know the troubles of such a life.

"We've found that some of the neighborhood people had some of the strengths we needed in terms of communication," Beasley says.

The personal attention is matched by a modern managerial system with all the techniques necessary to keep the program from degenerating into an ineffective "do-gooder" program.

Beasley thinks he has found a formula that succeeds in bringing the power of birth control to the poor, without restoring to the external "incentives" ranging from tax breaks for small families to mandatory sterilization urged by others.

The concept, and Beasley's success, have impressed the federal government.

"We were asked by HEW (the Department of Health, Education and Welfare) to help them design a national center to do a similar job in the rest of the nation," he says.

COOKING IS FUN!

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
DEAR CECILY: I notice that on a brunch menu you suggest serving Eggs Benedict. How do you prepare this dish?—BRUNCH BUFF.

DEAR BRUNCH BUFF: Eggs Benedict is a delectable combination of toasted English muffins, ham, poached eggs and Hollandaise sauce. But we've given the classic recipe a new twist by substituting Canadian bacon for the ham. Eggs Benedict is indeed delicious for brunch or lunch; the only problem is in assembling the ingredients so they are all served hot. However, if you prepare the dish in the streamline fashion we suggest you should have no trouble doing just that.—C.B.

EGGS BENEDICT
Hollandaise Sauce, see recipe
Poached Eggs, see recipe
16 slices Canadian bacon
8 English muffins
Butter

Make Hollandaise sauce and poach eggs; keep warm as directed in recipes. Pan-fry or broil Canadian bacon according to package directions and wrap in foil to keep warm. Split English muffins by piercing them all around with fork tines and then gently pulling apart. Toast cut side of muffins in broiler; spread generously with butter; wrap loosely in foil to keep warm. To assemble each serving, place 2 muffin halves on an individual plate. Place 2 slices of bacon on a muffin half. With a large slotted spoon lift a poached egg from water and place on bacon. Spoon a generous 1/4 cup Hollandaise sauce over egg. One muffin half is served plain. Makes 8 servings.

HOLLANDAISE SAUCE:
1 1/2 cups (three 1/2-pound sticks) butter
6 egg yolks
1/4 cup lemon juice
Dash of salt

Cut butter into 6 equal parts. Place egg yolks in the top of a double boiler over hot, not boiling, water; add lemon juice and salt; beat slightly with a wire whisk. Beat in 1/6th of the butter at a time. (If sauce should curdle add 1 ice cube and stir until smooth again; remove ice cube unless melted.) If sauce should become too thick, stir in 1 tablespoon hot water at a time, until desired consistency. Hollandaise Sauce may be made ahead and kept warm for about an hour; to do so place sauce in a wide-mouth vacuum bottle or hold over hot water (but not over heat) or in a heavy sauce dish on a warming tray. Makes about 2 1/2 cups—enough for 8 servings.

POACHED EGGS
Pour water to a depth of about 2 inches into an electric skillet. Bring water to a boil; reduce heat to simmering. Break each egg into a sauce dish or cup and quickly slip into water at the surface. Cook 3 to 5 minutes depending on firmness desired—yolks should be at least partly runny. (Cook only 3 minutes if eggs are to be held and reheated.) To hold eggs, turn off heat and add 1 cup cold water. Cover until ready to use. To reheat eggs before serving, turn heat control to simmer just until eggs are heated.

Synthetic wigs need the same kind of good treatment that you give fine lingerie when you launder it, wig makers say.

DEAR ABBY: Can you help me? I cry easily, and once I get going, I can't control myself. My son is getting married soon and I don't want to start crying.

Sermons in church make me cry. By mistake I went to a graduation mass and didn't know anybody graduating, but I cried just as if one of my kids was graduating.

And when I go to a wedding, the minute I step inside the church I start to cry, and I cry all the way thru the reception. At funerals and wakes nobody cries but me. A couple of times I went to funerals with my friends and I hardly knew the deceased, but I cried so hard everyone thought I was a relative.

In school here a parent-teacher conference is necessary even if your child has no problem, so while the teacher was telling me good things about my child I started crying. Now they don't even ask me to come to school for conferences.

I went to a doctor six years ago about this, and after listening to me for half an hour he said, "So everyone knows you're a crier. Just don't let it bother you. Think this way, you will never have an ulcer or a nervous breakdown because you express your emotions."

Can you give me any advice, Abby! CRIES A LOT

DEAR CRIES: I can't give you any better advice than the doctor gave you. Take it.

DEAR ABBY: Ellen, my 8-year-old daughter, was recently released from the hospital and confined to her bed, so I asked my regular sitter to come over while I did some shopping and errands.

When the sitter arrived, I noticed she had her needlepoint with her. Before I left, I instructed the sitter to read to Ellen and then play some quiet games with her.

When I returned home, the sitter was working on her needlepoint and Ellen was practically in tears, watching television.

After the sitter left, Ellen told me the sitter didn't read to her at all—she had played only one game with her, and then told her to watch television because she wanted to work on her needlepoint.

This really burned me. Abby, exactly what is a sitter supposed to do?

ELLEN'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: She's supposed to sit—unless she's asked to do something more and has agreed to do it.

DEAR ABBY: My mother, my married sister and my best friend who is married all tell me no matter how well a woman treats a man, or how good the man is, he will be unfaithful to his wife or girl friend sooner or later.

They say it is something every woman must accept, and know how to deal with. Is this true, Abby?

Maybe I'm too idealistic, but it is hard for me to believe all men are too shallow to carry on a pure relationship with only one woman. I am engaged to be married soon, and absolute faithfulness means a great deal to me. So, if what they say is true, how should it be dealt with? HAS FAITH

DEAR HAS: They are wrong. And don't worry about

Eat-And-Run Meal Habits Can Create Behavior Problems

By JEANNE LESEM
UPI Food Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Eat-and-run meal habits of Americans can create behavior problems as well as nutritional deficiencies, says Dr. Nathan J. Smith, a professor of pediatrics at the University of Washington.

At a seminar here on baby foods, Dr. Smith said the decline of traditional family meals shared by parents and children may well be responsible for currently disturbing behavior patterns when it deprives family members of a platform for airing problems and talking about their day's activities.

Dietary and weight problems often begin in infancy, he said.

Mothers trying to meet their babies' increasing nutritional needs introduce adult-type, high-calorie foods at too early an age. Ironically, the problem arises at a time when babies grow faster and are freer from disease than their counterparts were a generation or more ago.

Dr. Smith also said "automated automobilized living" has led to nutritional deficiencies of suburban housewives and to under-nutrition of lonely, isolated senior citizens.

He said devastating health problems associated with obesity have led many persons to adopt low-calorie diets. But in lowering their food and caloric intake, many persons substitute nutrition-free alcoholic beverages or soft drinks for the high-nutrition foods and beverages they need on a low-calorie diet.

Dr. Smith, a hematologist, said the United States was showing "a marked decrease in the total consumption of fruits, dairy products, vegetables, flours and cereal products while sugar consumption per capita remained the same or rose slightly. He said sugar makes only a caloric energy contribution to a population that already has an excess caloric intake.

A forecast made by another pediatrician at the seminar could help establish better eating habits. Dr. William B. Weil, Jr., predicted programmed feeding, or diets tailored to each individual's specific needs from infancy onward.

Tobacco Exports Need A Push

While we are presently enjoying high prices being paid for tobacco on area markets, we must also look at the doleful facts about tobacco exports.

Elmer Roessner, business columnist—whose work appears on this page, reported Monday that U. S. tobacco exports were off sharply last year.

Citing "Foreign Agriculture" magazine, Roessner noted that in 1969 sales abroad were 577 million pounds valued at $539.6 million. Last year, however, exports amounted to 510 million pounds worth $488.4 million.

The decline was in flue cured tobacco and stemmed from two long term factors — increased competition and smaller markets.

The article pointed out that Great Britain cut flue-cured imports from 328 million pounds in 1968 to 284 million pounds in 1970 and is expected to further reduce its need for U. S. tobacco.

West Germany's imports went from 300-to-340 million pound range in 1965-69 to 270 million pounds in 1970.

Roessner says that world production has soared 44 percent since 1965, but U. S. production has declined 13 percent. He sees a continuance of the decline in exports trend in the years ahead.

It may be that exports will continue to decline, but if the United States is to continue as the major exporter of flue-cured tobacco, then it must do so by aggressively selling its product. That is a task made difficult by the current anti-tobacco campaign in this country, but the truth is that from an economic standpoint the United States sorely needs to continue maintaining and expanding its share of the tobacco export market.

We have a superior product to sell and it should be promoted properly. Our tobacco farmers have for many years been carefully producing the kind of flue cured tobacco which has become preferable throughout the world. The soil and growing conditions are uniquely suitable for growing fine tobacco.

With a world wide promotion campaign it should not be difficult to persuade smokers to demand cigarettes which include the superior American leaf. United States tobacco cannot continue to compete against foreign grown tobacco unless we can show that our tobacco is worth the difference in cost. We believe that U. S. grown tobacco is of higher quality. With a strong promotional campaign we can reverse the trend of declining exports.

Demos Watch Tides Come In

BY BRYAN HAISLIP

ATLANTIC BEACH — Tar Heel Democrats watched the tides coming in last weekend, and liked what they saw.

They were by the sea for the Governor's Down-East Jamboree, a fund-raising and fun-raising affair designed to fill party coffers and inflate partisan spirits for the '72 campaign.

Leaders read the size of an overflow 550-plus and enthusiastic temper of the gathering as signs that the

Unanimous Optimism

Three other gubernatorial hopefuls — Lt. Gov. Pat Taylor, State Sen. Skipper Bowles, and Hugh Morton, businessman and travel promoter — were active on the scene. Like Morgan, they all radiated optimism and reported encouragement.

At the forefront in politicking for the state's number two job were Jim Hunt, Wilson attorney and former YDC leader; Roy Sowers, C&D director; and Rep. Allen Barbee of Nash.

Most of the politically attuned expect at least a couple of others to make the race. House Speaker Phil Godwin of Gates said he's still thinking about it. Mrs. Margaret S. Harper of Southport, state Democratic vice chairman, is contemplating a try for office and it could be the lieutenant governorship. Gene Simmons of Tarboro, former state party chairman, hasn't ruled out the possibility.

Another crowded field is in prospect for attorney general, the office Morgan will give up to run for governor. Two state senators, Hector McGeachy of Fayetteville and Tom Strickland of Goldsboro, are unannounced but running.

Elton Edwards of Greensboro, former state senator, is looking at the race. State Sen. Bill Staton of Lee didn't make the Jamboree, but has said he'll try for the office.

Looking For A Contest

Mayor Howard Lee of Chapel Hill gave the impression of a candidate in search of an office.

"If I had a hospitality room, I'd have to put a question-mark on the door," joked Lee, a black and party vice chairman for minorities. State AFL-CIO Chief Wilbur Hobby said he is encouraging Lee to run for state labor commissioner.

Gov. Scott said he has told his forces to make a free choice of candidates to support. He will take no active part in state primaries, he said, though he expects to be accused to doing so.

He was right. Murmurs backstage said Scott is committed to Taylor, and giving quiet assistance in campaign organization.

Gov. Marvin Mandel of Maryland, the Jamboree speaker, forecast Democratic recapture of the White House but said it was too early for him to pick a favorite among contenders for the nomination.

Scott reaffirmed his choice of Sen. Ed Muskie of Maine. "My only second thoughts," said Scott, an early Muskie booster, "Have been that my first endorsement was not strong enough."

Scott said he'll work to nail down North Carolina votes for the Maine Senator in the state's initial presidential primary next spring.

current is running strong for victory next year.

Agriculture Commissioner Jim Graham brayed like a donkey to illustrate the confident prediction of Joe Yates, acting state chairman, that 1972 will be "the Year of the Democrat in North Carolina."

Gov. Bob Scott took up the theme. He said the party is vigorous and in shape to go through a hard-fought primary next spring, then regroup forces to beat the Republicans in the fall.

Some have expressed foreboding that so many Democrats are in the running for nominations to state offices at stake, but Scott said it doesn't bother him at all.

Primary Without Bitterness

"I'm rather proud that we have such a reservoir of talent qualified and willing to serve the public," he said. "We can conduct a spirited primary without bitterness and divisiveness."

He encouraged those planning to run to avoid personalities, appeals to racism, and tactics which would "not be a credit to North Carolina, the party, or the candidates themselves."

For whatever impression it made, the Governor's advice was heard by some two dozen prospective bidders for various offices.

They were the ones making waves during the weekend. Hospitality rooms offered food and drink, buttons and bangles for those on the brink or in the swim for governor. Lieutenant governor, and attorney general, flags and trial balloons were aloft for others considering or committed to races for U.S. Senate, Council of State Offices, and what-have-you.

If the biggest splash seemed to be that for Atty. General Robert Morgan for governor, his boosters had a territorial advantage. Down-East is home country for the Lillington attorney, and it's conceded he will run strong there.

A Victory For Battered Laos

By ROWLAND EVANS

and ROBERT NOVAK

PAKSONG, Laos — At 10:30 a.m., Sept. 14, a visibly worried Col. Southchay Vongsavanh grabbed his M-16 rifle and jumped aboard a helicopter on a mission central to his country's chances for survival — Laos against the inexorable invasion of North Vietnamese legions.

Col. Southchay was attempting the impossible, moving the Royal Lao Army into battle against North Vietnamese. Specifically, the 7th and 9th Infantry Battalions had ignored orders to circle south of Communist-held Paksong in support of Lao irregulars — trained by the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) — who were battling into town from the east. His mission affected not only the bloody campaign to recapture Paksong but also the drive to invigorate the hitherto somnolent regular army.

Typically for Laos, the outcome was mixed. After Southchay's prodding, the two battalions belatedly got moving but managed to avoid the thick of battle. Paksong finally fell two days later, but thanks mainly to irregulars not the Royal Army. And by the time the town was recaptured, its North Vietnamese defenders had drifted northward into the jungle.

Yet in terms of the decade-old Laos war, it was a famous victory, one of very few against North Vietnamese aggressions. For the first time in the Southern Laos panhandle, Lao forces had harried and finally defeated North Vietnamese regulars — a victory coming amid increasing doubts over how long Americans will honor their commitments here and deepening pessimism that the days of an independent Laos may be numbered.

What made Paksong so important politically was a dramatic change early this year in southern Laos. Until then this region had seen precious little fighting. The commander of Military Region Four (the southern half of the panhandle), Maj. Gen. Phasouk Somly, had worked out secret accommodations with local Pathet Lao Communists which had the effect of shielding populated areas from the war.

But such accommodations were shattered this winter when North Vietnamese troops began pressing westward in southern Laos to secure the Ho Chi Minh Trail to the east — a movement accelerated by the South Vietnamese invasion against the trail. For the first time the North Vietnamese seized Paksong and moved westward to the gates of Pakse, the provincial capital. Government control in southern Laos had nearly disappeared.

Gen. Phasouk, a semi-feudal warlord more skilled in the arts of politics than warfare, was kicked upstairs to be the army's largely honorific chief of staff by his cousin, Defense Minister Sisouk na Champassak. Phasouk's successor as Military Region Four commander was very junior, indeed — Col. Southchay, a handsome 6-foot-tall product of American military education with a brilliant record commanding irregular forces.

Thus, when the campaign to recapture Paksong began July 27, elements of the largely inactive 50,000-man Royal Lao army were taking the offensive for the first time, seeking some element of government control in the panhandle.

The beginnings were sheer disaster. Royal Lao battalions ran away in the face of the veteran, brilliantly commanded 9th North Vietnamese Regiment, requiring reinforcement from the better-led 30,000-man Lao irregular forces. As the Lao death toll grew around Paksong, complaints (Continued On Page 5)

Strength For Today

FIGHT ON!

Everyone has troubles.

So often when calamity strikes, or poverty threatens, or sickness flattens us, we wonder why it had to happen to us. We look at our neighbor a few houses away and ask, "Why can't I have his good luck and be as happy as he is?"

But he has troubles too, though you may not know what they are. The man whom you envy in his big mansion on the hill probably has as much difficulty paying his taxes as you do. And the man in the tenement over the corner store looks at you and wishes he were in your shoes.

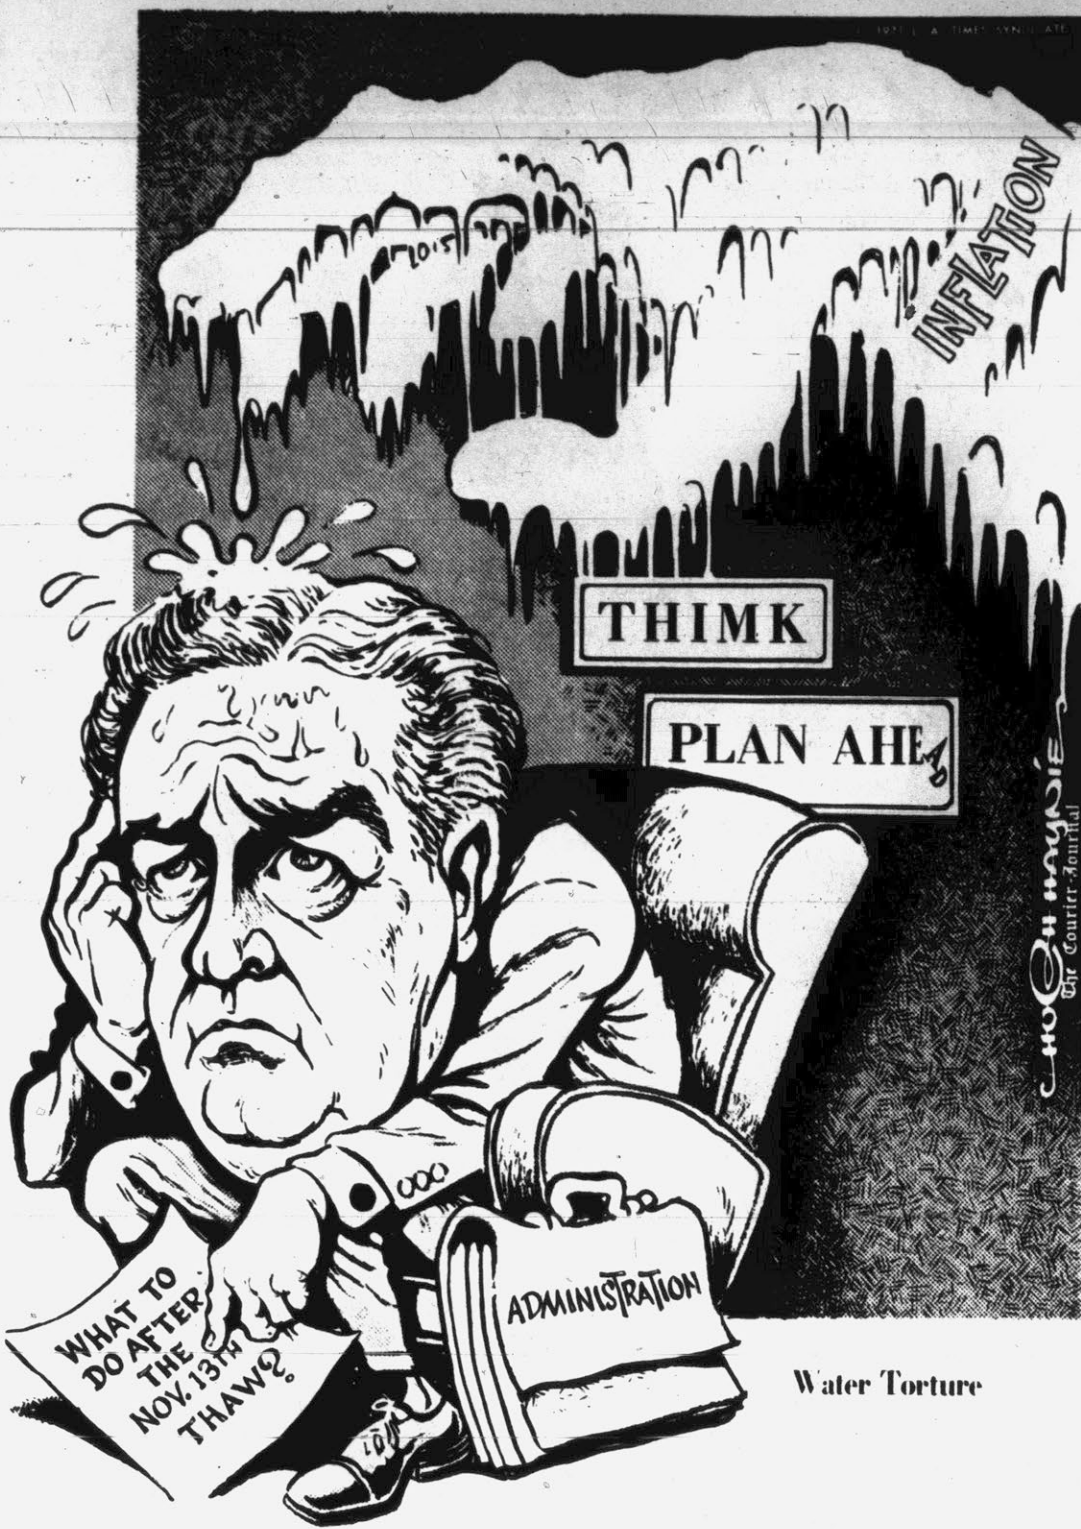

Everyone has troubles. Human life and human nature combine to keep us from being perfectly satisfied with what we are and have. What makes the difference is how we face our troubles, and sometimes it helps to realize that we are not alone, not the only unlucky ones, not the only people on whom misfortune lights. Knowing this, we are less likely to feel sorry for ourselves and whine about our lot. Instead we can count our blessings as well as our burdens and brace up to do our best.

So don't despair. All around you, others are fighting the same battle and winning it. You can win yours, too.

It's not what happens to us but what we do about it that counts.

No Psychology Majors

WASHINGTON — One of the problems with today's economy is that it's very hard to find young people who are good salesmen. Many students coming out of college are more interested in a customer's motivation than they are in closing a sale. They also have a tendency to be too honest, which can play havoc in the retail business.

A friend of mine has a dress shop here in Georgetown and she told me of the problems she had with a young lady, a psychology major, whom she hired as a salesgirl.

This, in essence, is what happened:

The first day a lady came in the store, and the salesgirl (let us call her Miss Brampton) asked if she could be of help.

"I'd like a suit for the fall," the lady said.

"What price range?" Miss Brampton asked.

"It doesn't make any difference," the lady replied.

"Well, let me ask you this question: Do you want the suit because you need it? Or have you just had a fight with your husband and are trying to get even by making a very expensive purchase?"

"I beg your pardon?" the lady said.

"Perhaps you suspect him of some infidelity, and you think this is the only way you can get back at him."

"I have no idea what you're talking about," the customer said.

"Spending money in anger is a very expensive form of hostility. My advice to you is to think it over for a few days. Try to patch up your differences. Buying a new suit won't save your marriage."

"Thank you very much," the customer said frostily and left the store.

"She's angry with me now," Miss Brampton told the dress shop owner, "but in a week she'll be grateful I talked her out of it."

My friend the shop proprietor decided to let the incident pass, but that afternoon another customer came in, and Miss Brampton asked if she could be of help.

The lady said, "I need something really exciting. I'm going to the Kennedy Center and I want a dress that will knock everyone dead."

Miss Brampton said, "We have some lovely evening dresses over here for insecure people."

"Insecure people?"

Promising Source Of Protein

By ELMER ROESSNER

The seas are not teeming with fish to feed mankind's hungry, contrary to popular opinion.

Recent research indicates that 90 percent of the oceans apparently are biological deserts devoid of nutrients. Most sea life is clustered on the relatively narrow, shallow continental shelves.

The total global fishing catch in 1968 reached an estimated record 70.5 million tons. But there was a decline in 1969 and concern is growing that we may be overfishing, disrupting sea life cycles and reducing basic fish stocks.

While the world may be approaching the limit in fishing, it has barely rippled the surface of aquaculture, or fish farming. Some highly successful fish farming ventures already exist.

In Japan the raft culture technique is used to produce as much as 50,000 pounds of oyster meat per acre annually. The method consists of a large wooden raft from which are suspended numerous ropes. Shellfish attach themselves to the rope and are harvested simply by pulling up the lines.

Bumper Crops

The raft method is used in Spain where they harvest up to 250,000 pounds of mussel meat per acre a year. Another common fish farming technique is growing milkfish in seaside ponds. This is practiced in Asia where output of 700 pounds a year per acre is common. The addition of fertilizer to promote the growth of algae can increase output to 4,000 pounds an acre.

In one place or another more than 50 species are farmed commercially, including mollusca, crustaceans, mullet, tilapia, salmon, pompano, catfish and trout.

Any substantial expansion of aquaculture hinges on the solution of a number of problems. Among them, according to the maritime magazine "Surveyor," are:

Limited knowledge of life cycles of many fish and shellfish.

Some species have not been induced to breed in captivity.

Varieties that feed on vegetable matter are fairly simple to nourish but protein eaters can be expensive to grow.

Fish diseases and parasites spread rapidly in water and may devastate a crop in a few days.

Progress in chemotherapy treatment of fish diseases is hampered because certain drugs can be transmitted to the consumer and others lose their usefulness when resistant strains develop.

Biggest Killer

But pollution — chemical, biological and thermal — is the big stumbling block. Its worst effects are in coastal waters where most fish live. It kills marine life either directly or by upsetting the complicated interrelations between various forms.

Lake Erie is the prime American example of what can happen. Pollution there has caused excessive algae growth. The algae, in turn, discolors the water, generates foul odors and kills off all fish.

In certain circumstances, however, marine life will thrive on pollution and help reduce it at the same time. If sewage is properly treated it provides rich nutrients to grow herbivores such as oysters, scallops and clams.

main ways women compensate for insecurity?" "I'm not insecure," the lady said angrily.

"Then why do you want to knock them dead at the Kennedy Center? Why can't you be accepted for yourself instead of what you wear? You are a very attractive person and you have an inner beauty you try to disguise. I can sell you a new dress that will attract attention, but then you would never know if it were you or the dress that made people stop and stare."

By this time the dress shop owner decided to step in.

"Miss Brampton, if the lady wants an evening dress, let her see our evening dresses."

"No," the customer said. "Your girl is right. Why spend $500 to get a few compliments from people who really don't care what I wear? Thank you for helping me, young lady. It's true I've been insecure all these years and didn't even know it."

The customer walked out of the store.

The final straw for the

mounted from politicians such as Phoui Sananikone, president of the National Assembly in Vientiane. On Sept. 13 Phoui told us the Paksong campaign was a mistake, strongly implying that Lao soldiers simply are no match for the Vietnamese.

Moreover, the replaced Gen. Phasouk had not left the south for his new post in Vientiane, but was hanging around, second-guessing his young successor. There was well-founded suspicion that Col. Soutchay's problems commanding the 7th and 9th battalions could be traced to Phasouk. Clearly the careers of Soutchay and Defense Minister Sisouk (perhaps the next prime minister of Laos) — as well as their efforts to reform the Royal Lao army — were in jeopardy.

They were saved by sustained airpower over Paksong (U.S. Air Force jets and Lao Air Force T28s) and the insertion of the four CIA-trained guerrilla battalions of Group Mobile 32, dropped east of Paksong by helicopter Sept. 12. Late in the afternoon of Sept. 14, with Lao forces having sustained nearly 1,000 casualties here since June, Group Mobile 32 fought in the outskirts of Paksong.

Early the next evening in a clearing on the edge of Paksong, while house-to-house fighting continued a few hundred meters away, we watched a jubilant Defense Minister Sisouk pin a brigadier-general's stars on the victorious Soutchay.

With the dry season offensive by the Communist invaders nearing, Paksong may not stay in government hands for long. Nevertheless, this was a rare victory to be savored. Ancient feudal regionalism had broken down with Soutchay, a northerner, leading southern forces and guerrilla battalions from other military regions brought here by airlift. Most of all, it was a desperately needed morale boost, considering dire forebodings elsewhere in this tragically beleaguered country — subjects for future reports from Laos.

dress store owner took place an hour later when a coed came in to buy a hotpants outfit, and Miss Brampton gave her 30 minutes on Women's Lib and then said, "All you do when you buy hotpants is become a sex object."

Phenomenon Of Country Music

By NANCY SHIPLEY

Associated Press Writer

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — At least one Tom T. Hall-written song has been in the country music charts every week for seven years. A phenomenal accomplishment — but Hall is a phenomenon.

Prior to last year he had been known primarily for his songwriting talent. Now he is known all over the world for his own recordings as well.

The growing success of his recordings was reflected in his acceptance in February as a regular member of the Grand Ole Opry.

Hall writes and sings of life as he has seen it firsthand. And the unique aspect of his latest Mercury album, "In Search of a Song," is that each song is based on a personal experience or on someone he has known.

In a sense, the album is a travelogue since he literally went out "in search of a song" for several months prior to recording the album. He traveled through Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana and West Virginia, all places he had worked in the past.

He also went to the West Coast, which prompted his version of "L.A. Blues" in the album. Another trip took him to the South and West, where he busied himself with meeting people.

Some songs in the album, such as his current smash, "The Year That Clayton Delaney Died," are written about real people he has known, while others such as "Ramona's Revenge" are written about people about whom he has heard.

Hall, 35, is one of the most provocative composers in the field of country music.

He wrote his first song at age 9 after hearing a fight between a neighboring couple in his home town of Olive Hill, Ky. Like a lot of poor boys, Hall, one of 10 children of a minister, fled poverty by joining the Army in 1957.

He says he really got serious about song writing while stationed in Germany. A couple of titles he remembers from his Army-song-writing days are "Short-Timer's Blues" and a picture of service life called "Thirty-six Months of Loneliness and 3,000 Gallons of Beer."

While later working as a disc jockey in West Virginia, Hall wrote a song called, "D. J. for a Day," which was recorded by country singer Jimmy Newman. And Hall was on his way to commercial success.

January 1, 1964 — that was the day Tom T. Hall moved to Nashville.

"I came on the first just because I thought it would be interesting," he quips.

Panel Today Begins Deliberating Fate Of Medina

By KATHRYN JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
FT. MCPHERSON, Ga. (AP) — The long weeks of testimony over, only the summation and the judge's charge remain before a panel of five officers begin deliberating today the fate of Capt. Ernest L. Medina.

The military judge Col. Kenneth A. Howard, said he would charge the jury after opposing lawyers give their final arguments.

The jury — all Vietnam veterans — will weigh one count of premeditated murder against the 35-year-old Medina, who commanded Charlie Company during an infantry assault on the South Vietnamese hamlet March 16, 1968.

If convicted of premeditated murder, Medina, the holder of the Silver Star for gallantry in Vietnam, would face life imprisonment. The government decided in June to make the case a noncapital one, ruling out the death penalty.

The jury must also weigh an involuntary manslaughter charge in the deaths of at least 100 My Lai civilians and two counts of assault against Medina for firing two shots over the head of a Viet Cong suspect during interrogation.

The judge said he would not sequester the jury unless the defense and government lawyers requested that he do so. He said they could continue the deliberations into the night if necessary, at least the first night.

Lt. William L. Calley Jr. remains the only American veteran of Vietnam held responsible in the My Lai massacre. Calley, 28, one of Medina's platoon leaders, was convicted of 22 murders at My Lai last March and sentenced to life imprisonment. His sentence later was cut to 20 years by a convening authority.

The judge radically altered Medina's case last week when he dismissed outright one murder charge and reduced to involuntary manslaughter a charge of premeditated murder in the death of 100 My Lai villagers. Involuntary manslaughter carries a maximum of three years' imprisonment.

On the single charge of murder facing him, Medina testified he shot a woman lying on a rice paddy because he saw her move and thought she had a hand grenade. The judge agreed Tuesday that he would instruct the jury to acquit Medina of the murder charge if the jury decides that the captain acted out of fear for his life.

The Army charges Medina was responsible for the deaths of the 100 civilians because he knew his troops were killing but chose not to intervene.

Howard ruled, however, that the government failed to prove the 100 civilians were slain as the result of any premeditation on Medina's part.

The defense contended that Medina had no knowledge that innocent civilians were being killed, and Medina testified that when he became aware of the killing, he issued a case-fire order.

Howard met in formal court session Tuesday, in the absence of the jury, to discuss with lawyers and hear their suggestions on the charge he will present to the panel.

"There has to be some recognition in your instructions that this was a battlefield," said defense attorney F. Lee Bailey.

"I think the flicker of an eyelid might be cause (to shoot) if you thought an enemy were dead," Bailey said.

Testimony in the five-week-old trial ended last Friday after 31 witnesses had testified for the government and 29 for the defense. The trial began Aug. 16, and had a number of recesses and one 11-day recess. The actual trial totaled 18 days. The jury was selected in three days — July 26 through 28.

Calley's trial, also often recessed, was 4½ months long, the longest in military history.

His jury deliberated 13 days before returning a verdict.

Earlier, both Ervin and Jordan had voted to apply cloture and limit further debate on the draft extension bill.

Lions Hear W.T. West

Lion Wallace T. West of Wilmington, North Carolina, Past Director of Lions International, addressed the Greenville Lions Club at its meeting Monday night.

West reminded the members of the local club of four qualities, all of which must be possessed by a successful member of any service club. Pride, faith, enthusiasm, and service to mankind are qualities to strive for in Lionism, he said. One must always exhibit great concern for his fellowman. A Lion will gain satisfaction for his efforts toward the blind, sick, stricken, and handicapped. Every member of the Club must have sufficient faith to develop understanding and to overcome discouragement in troubled times and in periods of change. The members of every club must forever be on the alert to conquer new areas of need, warned West.

The local Lions were challenged by the speaker to demonstrate that they are men of faith and dedication.

Thurston Perry of the East Carolina University Personnel Office was inducted as a member of the Greenville Lions Club. O. E. Dowd, Sr. was in charge of the induction ceremony.

'Private Roads' On School Bus Routes

Pitt County school buses may be using private roads in subdivisions and in trailer parks in the future to serve students going to and from county schools.

According to Superintendent of Schools Arthur S. Alford, in some cases it is better to route buses into subdivisions or trailer parks rather than to have the buses stop on busy highways.

"However, these private roads — roads not on the state system and not maintained by the state — must be in acceptable condition so as to insure safe routing of buses on these roads," Alford said.

Alford said the possibility of routing school buses on private roads is possible under state law.

He cited the opinion of the North Carolina Attorney General's office being: "If it is more advisable for safety reasons to route some public school buses on highways that are not maintained by either the state or a municipal government, you may route these buses on private roads."

The superintendent said in light of the legal opinion it may be better to route buses into subdivisions and trailer parks rather than to have the buses stop on busy highways.

"Students and parents should impress upon the owners of the trailer parks or the subdivisions the necessity of keeping these routes in good shape in order that we might continue to route the buses into the area," Alford emphasized.

He said, "I am certain that the parents will appreciate the effort to insure the safety of their children and I know that they will make every effort to assist us in this matter."

See Little Delay In Draft Calls

WASHINGTON (AP) — Men with low draft numbers who have lost their deferments—primarily students graduated from college in June or dropouts—are expected to be the first called when the Selective Service resumes inductions.

Draft officials gave no indication when the first men would be called, but said men would be in uniform within two weeks after President Nixon signs the draft measure approved Tuesday by the Senate.

Nixon is expected to quickly sign the bill extending the Selective Service System.

The impact of other major provisions of the act will be slow to materialize, officials said. Included are the phasing out of undergraduate deferments, the right of a man to present witnesses before his board, requiring a local or appeal board to have a quorum when hearing a registrant, and lowering the maximum length of service on boards from 25 to 20 years.

Pentagon officials have said that about 20,000 draftees would be needed during the remainder of the year, including a 16,000 July-August request left hanging when the draft authority expired June 30. That would bring this year's total to less than 110,000, the smallest callup since 107,500 were drafted in 1964. When the draft was suspended the Pentagon had asked for 88,000—aside from the July-August 16,000 call—and the draft boards had provided 83,000.

Selective Service officials said nearly every qualified man with lottery no. 125 or lower would be called. Whether it will reach 140, the current limit for ordering preinduction exams, depends on the Pentagon manpower requirements. The draft bill sets a limit of 130,000 inductions in the current fiscal year that began July 1 and 140,000 in the next fiscal year, both well above this year's expected callup.

The biggest change in the draft provided in the bill gives the president authority to phase out undergraduate student deferments. Students who entered college or trade school this summer or fall won't be eligible for deferments, nor will future undergraduates, officials said.

Undergraduates who received deferments before the past summer may keep them until they graduate provided they make satisfactory progress toward a degree or don't reach age 24.

Only medical students can still be deferred under the new bill.

New undergraduates will be permitted to complete the current term or semester before reporting, officials said. If a senior, a student may complete the school year, a spokesman added.

Six Straight

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A Greensboro, N.C. truck driver, Cletus Frank, is the first driver to win a sixth national championship in a truck rodeo.

Frank's unprecedented victory came in the straight truck class competition at Houston Tuesday afternoon. Frank, 42, joined another Tar Heel driver in the winners' circle, Richard Brafford of Charlotte, in the five-axle tank competition.

A driver for Akers Motor Lines, Frank said that with 17 accident-free years and six national rodeos behind him, "The real key to safe driving in addition to watching what other drivers on the highways do, of course, is courtesy."

Offer Help For King Cobra Fans

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A group of researchers have found help for those who want to keep king cobras as house pets.

Researchers from the University of Utah, Veterans Administration Hospital and Hogle Zoo in Salt Lake City have developed surgery to remove the snake's venom ducts.

The researchers told the annual conference of the American Association of Zoological Parks and Aquariums all snakes in the Hogle Zoo have had the treatment and keepers have been bitten with nothing more resulting than painful fang wounds.

Zoo Director Gerald DeBary died in 1964 of a bite from an African puff adder.

Grand Ville 4-door Hardtop

1972 Grand Ville. Our most luxurious Wide-Track ever... with a new kind of bumper to help protect it.

As on all full-size '72 Pontiacs, the new Grand Ville has an advanced front bumper system that actually "gives" on minor impact and then returns to position. Grand Ville also features an elegant formal roof. Our smoothest, quietest ride. Our richest appointments. A 455 V-8. Power steering. Power front disc brakes. And Turbo Hydra-matic transmission.

1972 Grand Prix. You'll have to decide what's better... the style or the ride. It won't be easy. The styling's timeless. The ride, smooth and stable. There's a cockpit-styled interior, a 400 V-8, power steering, power front disc brakes and Turbo Hydra-matic. So it's quite a choice. Maybe that's what makes Grand Prix so interesting to drive. 1972 Luxury LeMans. All the luxury you want without buying more car than you need.

Time was, the only way to get a truly luxurious car was to buy big. No more. Now there's Luxury LeMans—a new mid-size Pontiac with full-size luxury. A distinctive grille, deluxe wheel covers, rear-wheel fender skirts, generous chrome accents, plush carpet, unusually rich fabrics and the look of teak on the dash.

1972 Firebird. Pontiac has taken the rough ride out of the road car. For good. Considering Firebird's low-slung good looks, that's quite an accomplishment.

But Pontiac engineers redesigned the suspension to help provide a big-car ride and created fantastically comfortable bucket-type seats. You'll also appreciate Firebird's new low price.

1972 Ventura II. The new small Pontiac with the small-car price. Lots of people build small cars.

But Pontiac offers you a small car with prestige and great styling—all at a small-car price. What's more, Ventura II is tough, roomy, stingy with your gas money, and with Body by Fisher, it's built to last. If you like small cars, you'll love the new Ventura II.

That's what keeps Pontiac a cut above. Don't forget to buckle up for safety.

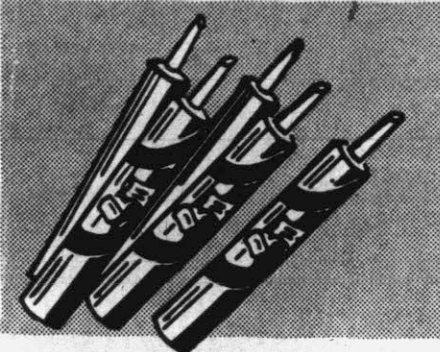

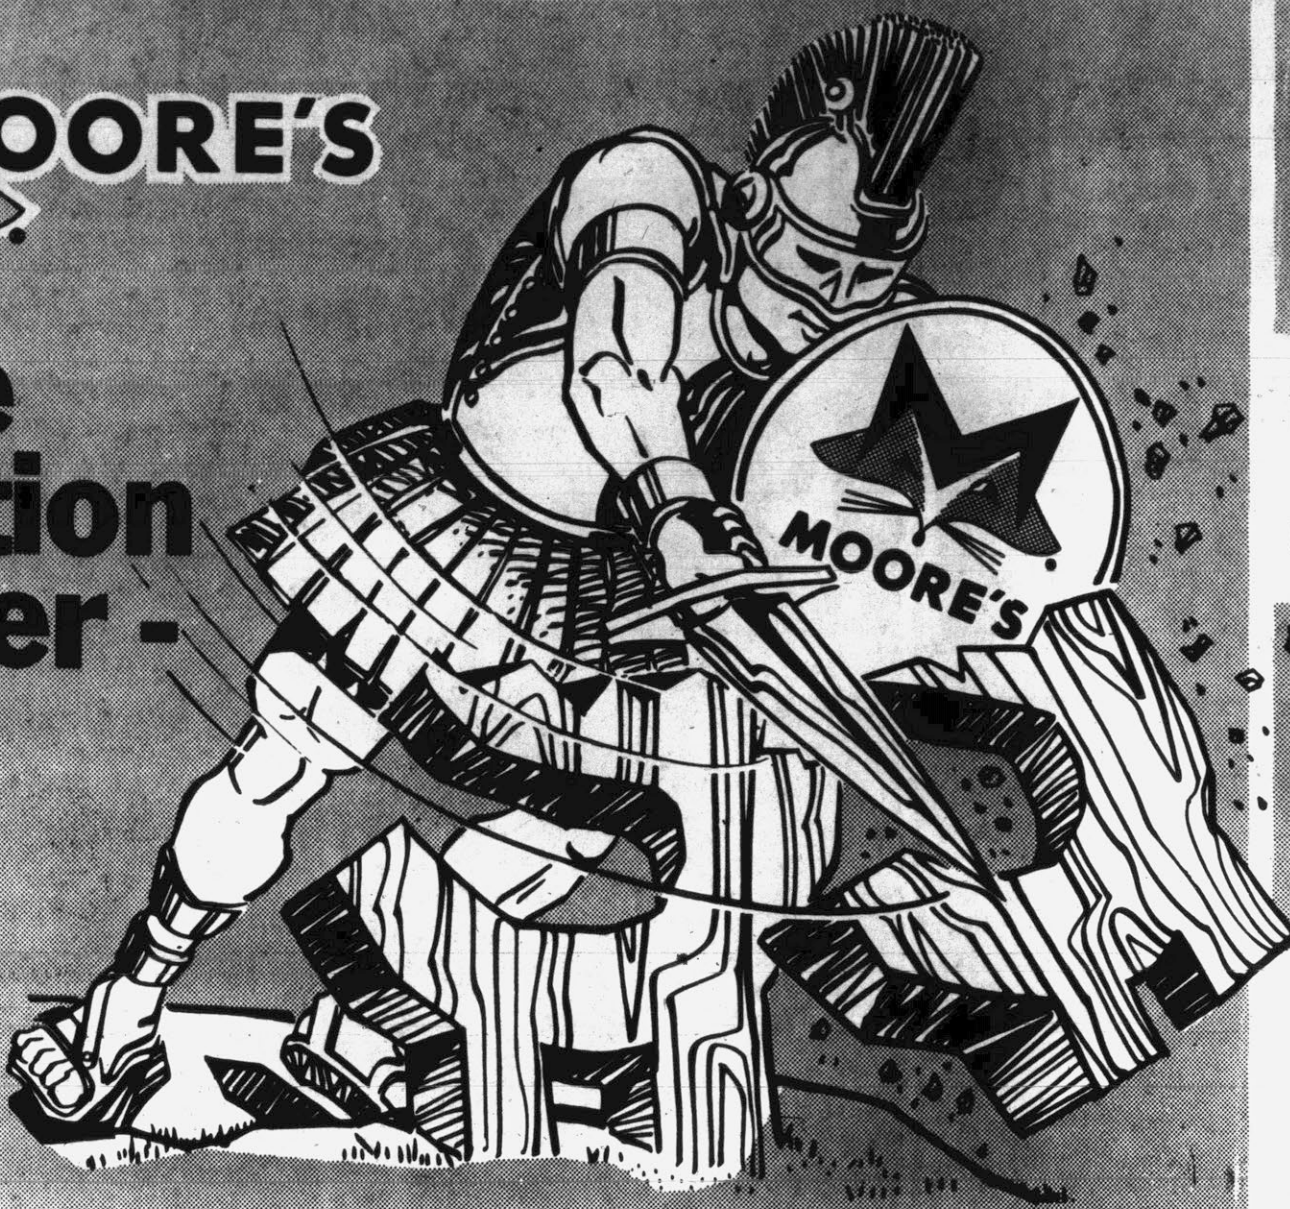

They're all at your Pontiac dealer's now.

Basic Skills Emphasis Is Underscored

CAMP LEJUENE — Dr. Leo Jenkins last night urged public school educators to place emphasis on the basic skills of reading and writing even at the expense of teaching other subjects.

"Failure to be well-rounded in reading and writing handicaps the student in all disciplines," Dr. Jenkins told a gathering of elementary school principals and educators here for a symposium. Jenkins is president of East Carolina University, which ranks high nationally in teacher graduates.

"The battle of reading and writing has not yet been won," Jenkins said. "The importance of this subject must be recognized from the kindergarten through the senior year."

"You... the elementary school principal and the teachers under your direction and you alone become the fortress for language accuracy within our society."

Free Course For Women Drivers

STERLING HEIGHTS, Mich. (UPI)—A grandmother, 68, was the first one to show up at a free course on the basics of cars. Next came a secretary, 20, wearing a University of Michigan sweatshirt. By the time the class started about 25 women were present —and just two or three men.

The free course given at the Sterling Heights Dodge dealership, is designed especially for women. Subjects of lectures include changing a flat, starting a flooded engine and how to spot symptoms of an ailing car.

SONIC 1 — "The Spirit of America-Sonic 1," driven to the world land speed record of 600.601 miles an hour by Craig Breedlove in 1965, will be in Greenville Monday as part of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company's "Meet the Hot Ones" exhibit, now on a nationwide tour.

Racing Exhibit Will Be At Local Store Monday

The 1971 version of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company's "Meet the Hot Ones" racing exhibit will be in Greenville Monday at the Goodyear Service Store on Dickinson Avenue.

The exhibit, housed in two large Goodyear vans and currently on a tour of 64 American cities, offers the general public an opportunity to view some of the racing and competition machines that have been seen by sports fans around the world, the company announced.

This year's exhibit features, in addition to five authentic racing cars, a life-sized exhibit depicting an Apollo 14 astronaut pulling the MET (Modular Equipment Transporter), over the lunar surface.

The lunar exhibit will offer the opportunity for close public inspection of a full-sized model of the MET vehicle and a replica of the space suit worn by the Apollo astronauts, Goodyear said.

The 34-foot-long, 8,000-pound "Spirit of America-Sonic 1" is among the racing machines to be displayed. The "Spirit," powered by a turbojet engine, attained an average speed of 600.601 miles an hour in 1965 at the Bonneville Salt Flats, setting a world land speed record that stood until 1970.

The exhibit also features an AA fuel "rail," a dragster that burns a combination of nitromethane and alcohol as fuel. The rail belonged to Don Garlits who drove to speeds up to 235 miles an hour in events at Watkins Glen, N.Y., and Laguna Seca, Calif.

Trans American Championship race driver Swede Savage will be represented by the Plymouth "Cuda" which he raced at speeds of 160-170 miles an hour in events at Watkins Glen, N.Y., and Laguna Seca, Calif.

Goodyear announced that for fans of the Canadian-American Challenge Cup sports car series,

STATE VISIT
BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Queen Elizabeth of Britain and her husband Prince Philip will pay a week-long state visit to Thailand next February, the Foreign Office announced today.

the exhibit features New Zealander Dennis Hulme's car. The 650-horsepower machine raced in events at Elkhart Lake, Wisc., and Riverside, Calif., reaching speeds up to 200 miles an hour.

The Dan Gurney Indianapolis Eagle, which saw competition at the Indianapolis 500 and the recently inaugurated Ontario 500 in California, will also be on display. The Gurney Eagle develops 650 horsepower in its turbo-powered Offenhauser engine, and can attain speeds of 215 miles an hour, according to the announcement.

The Goodyear exhibit will also include movies of several of the world's greatest racing events, it was pointed out. Films of LeMans, Daytona, Sebring, Indianapolis, Darlington and the Spirit of America's land speed record run will be shown during the exhibit's visit.

Saying "there will be approximately 400 Vietnam veterans returning to Greenville and the surrounding area within the next year," A. B. Whitley, chairman of the newly formed "Jobs For Veterans" Task Force remarked "this is one of the most important undertakings we, as business and community leaders, have ever faced."

Meeting Tuesday night at Greenville Post 39 of the American Legion, about 30 local and professional people appointed to serve on Mayor S. Eugene West's task force, heard Whitley sum up some of the problems and challenges to the community in helping returning veterans.

Whitley asked whether the community "will meet this challenge by offering them good jobs," or "will we turn our back on these men, who have been in Vietnam doing the dirty work for us?"

"If these young men come back from Vietnam and we tell them we have nothing for them here, could we blame them if they joined the rebellious crowd of social drop-outs?"

The chairman emphasized that by good jobs he does not mean a "hand-out" . . . "but there is always a need for good, qualified labor and talent and these men have talent."

Whitley said the challenge to the community "is to match these veterans and their skills and qualifications with the many existing needs of our business community."

He outlined ten primary objectives to work toward in efforts to place returning veterans.

Robert Morgan's Car Is Looted

RALEIGH (AP) — Raleigh police are investigating the theft of articles from a state-owned car assigned to Atty. Gen. Robert Morgan.

The officers said thieves used a coat hanger to jimmy a window while the car was parked Monday near the North Carolina Museum of Art.

Decline Act On Picket Request

FARMVILLE — The Farmville Board of Commissioners yesterday refused to act upon a request from the Southern Christian Leadership Conference for a permit "to picket Farmville."

The application for a permit was made Monday but commissioners said the application was not in order.

Town administrator Carl Beaman said he will attempt to contact SCLS leaders to inform them why the application was not approved.

In other business yesterday, the board allocated $300 for the Farmville Little League and Basketball Program.

Farmville native Bryan Pippin was hired as a police department patrolman.

Prisoners Slay Two Hostages

CLAIRVAUX, France (AP) — Gendarmes blasted their way into the prison hospital early today and authorities said they found two hostages held by two mutineering prisoners had been killed—their throats cut.

The prisoners had overpowered a guard and a female prison nurse and held them hostage for 20 hours. The convicts demanded their freedom.

The French penitentiary director, Jean le Corno, had gone to prison to attempt to negotiate with the convicts, Claude Buffet and Roger Bontemps. They demanded arms and ammunition. Le Corno said they could leave the prison, but without arms.

Finally, the door leading to the prison hospital, where the convicts held the hostages, was blasted open with a plastic explosive. The guard, Guy Giardot, 25, was found dead, and the nurse, Nicole Comte, 35, was dying. The two convicts were injured and were taken into custody.

Le Corno had been sent to the prison by Minister of Justice Rene Pleven. Le Corno said the convicts demanded that they be given three revolvers, a submachine gun and 250 shells. They also asked that they be allowed to take the hostages with them as they left the prison.

"After the two prisoners refused all of our propositions, including one to let them free but without arms, it was decided to enter the prison hospital by force," Le Corno said.

The two convicts were taken to a nearby hospital for treatment. Six prisoners who were patients in the hospital were uninjured and were evacuated.

Buffet and Bontemps had overpowered Girardot and Mrs. Comte Tuesday and tied them to chairs in the prison hospital. They began negotiating with prison officials by telephone, demanding their freedom.

Prices High At Farmville

FARMVILLE — The Farmville Tobacco Market continued to set new records for high averages and low stabilization this week.

"Our Monday average was the highest on record and Tuesday's average was a close second," stated Louis Williams, sales supervisor for the Farmville Tobacco Board of Trade.

"Most of the volume yesterday consisted of leaf grades," Williams said. "Primings and nondescript grades continued to decrease in volume."

The top practical price paid yesterday was 89 cents per pound.

Stabilization receipts yesterday accounted for 1.2 percent of gross sales.

A total of 520,541 pounds of leaf was sold on the Farmville market yesterday for $419,492.92, yielding an average of $0.59 per hundred pounds.

So far this season, the Farmville Market has sold 8,235,157 pounds of tobacco for $6,500,037 for a season average of $78.94.

Frinks said "I don't approve of the language..." used in the student's statement. "This is on the fringe of aggravation," he noted. "I haven't seen this type of thing in North Carolina."

Saying he was not connected with the student protest yesterday in any way, Frinks added, "but I support it."

Gov. Robert Scott called for an investigation of the shooting after a bomb exploded at the Ayden-Grifton school September 8 while more than 800 students and 47 staff members were in the building. A number of persons have been taken into custody on charges stemming from that blast.

Yesterday Frinks said the governor was "dragging his feet" and said the statement was "deceiving."

According to Frinks, Scott's statement was made only after local leaders, including Pitt County Schools Superintendent Arthur S. Alford and Alford's administrative assistant, John Taylor, met with the governor in Raleigh, the afternoon of September 9.

Frinks said Taylor "has worked hard for the schools" in trying to keep the protests from spilling over into them, "But don't expect Taylor to get anything out of it (his work)." Frinks said, "until Billy Day is fired. We still can't compromise."

"He's got a pretty tough row to hoe," Frinks said of Taylor. "We are just talking about getting Day off the Highway Patrol."

Hospital . . .

(Continued From Page 1) Building and grounds committee chairman G. R. Gurganus said his committee will meet with Dr. M. W. Aldridge, vice president of Pitt Medical Associates, and other pavilion physicians to discuss the matter. The board will request a detailed sketch of how the group would develop and further landscape the area if an agreement were to be reached.

The board was informed that business office staff members are now using the car previously driven by retired hospital collector W. E. Gibson for errands around town. Trustee Delton Perry expressed shock that the hospital has never had a car to use and suggested that the executive committee look into having the county acquire a better car for the hospital.

A routine transfer of $15,000 levy funds from the county was requested.

Hospital administrator Jack Richardson said that final revisions are being made this week so that submission of the architectural plans for the new Pitt Memorial soon may be made to the N.C. Medical Care Commission. William Henderson of the commission will be here Oct. 4 to meet with trustees and county commissioners. Hopefully, Richardson said, Henderson will tell about funding prospects at that time.

Chief of Staff Dr. Earl Trevathan expressed alarm that with plans so near completion, radiology already has some doubts about being allowed enough space. "We want a sound X-ray and pathology backbone, and a critical care unit with the same superb monitoring equipment used to track the Apollo astronauts," he said. "We want this even if we have to sacrifice beds in the new hospital. I'd rather start out putting beds in the old Pitt County Fire Marshal Bobby Joyner, back on duty after a short absence, has reported three recent fires in the county.

At 1:30 a.m. Monday morning, the Winterville Fire Department responded to an alarm for Nick's Cabinet Shop on North Mill Street in Winterville. A fire of undetermined origin in a back room of the shop damaged a pile of hardwood lumber stored there. Extent of the damage has not been determined, and an investigation is now underway.

Winterville Chief of Police Earl Curry, questioned on Tuesday about this fire, stated he had "no comment" to make. At 2:32 p.m. Tuesday, a fire at the site of Red Oak Church on U.S. 264 by-pass damaged a pile of lumber. The fire reportedly resulted from efforts to burn a wasp nest. The Red Oak Fire Department answered the call.

Also on Tuesday, at 9:40 p.m. the Black Jack Fire Department answered an alarm for a fire at the James Smith Pool Room, located near Chicod School in the Black Jack Community on Rural Road 1786. Origin of the fire is undetermined, and investigation is continuing.

Chargers, Jaguars Hit In Key Game

A traditional battle with "new" trappings highlights the Eastern Carolina Conference battlefield for this weekend, with everyone looking for a way to catch North Lenoir, the current front-runner.

That traditional battle sends Farmville Central against Ayden-Grifton. In days gone by, a Farmville-Ayden or Grifton battle took on the markings of a great rivalry, and now that consolidation has been affected, it does not seem that this rivalry will be diminished at all.

Other games of the weekend send C. B. Aycock to Greene Central, Eastern Wayne to North Lenoir and North Pitt to Southern Nash in the conference games, while D. H. Conley hosts West Craven, and Southern Wayne takes on Goldsboro in non-league activities.

North Lenoir has grabbed the lead in the league with a pair of early victories over North Pitt and Aycock, the first expected and the second a surprise. The Aycock win came on an 8-6 score and left North Lenoir with a 2-0 league record.

Southern Wayne, a 20-8 victor over Greene Central is second with a 2-0-1 mark. In other games last weekend, Eastern Wayne ran over North Pitt, 35-0; Farmville took Southern Nash, 16-0, and Ayden-Grifton whipped Conley, 52-0.

The Ayden-Grifton battle with Farmville Central will put one of those two teams behind in the conference race, while the other could move into a tie for first place in the league, depending on the outcome of the Eastern Wayne-North Lenoir game.

Farmville coach Gene Brewer was not pleased with his team's performance against Southern Nash, despite the 16-0 score. "We were pleased to win, but we're still making too many mistakes," he said. "We're not making as many as we have, but enough to bother me. We didn't move the ball as well as we wanted to. Mistakes and penalties stopped us on several occasions," Brewer added.

He singled out defensive tackle Lee Johnson for his play, and noted that the team came through the game in good condition.

Turning to his opponent of this week, Brewer noted that A-G has "a real good ball club." He pointed out that they have a lot of veterans and a good field of sophomores. "As big and strong as they are, they'll probably run a lot at us. But we expect them to throw some too. They have a well-rounded offense, and we don't look for them to concentrate on any particular phase of the game."

Across the county, Ayden-Grifton coach Nelson Gravatt also wasn't real pleased with his team, despite the 52-0 victory. "We were a little sloppy," he said.

Gravatt heaped praise on Conley, even though A-G won handily. "They've done a good job over there in getting ready this year," he said. "The team just made a lot of mistakes and about every one turned into a touchdown for us. They are not really that bad for a first year team. They hit hard, and they came out fighting. We really didn't look that sharp, but we got to play a lot of people."

The coach praised Robbie Pinner for his play at quarterback, after switching from center. He also praised Carlton McCarter and Jim Herring for their receiving and Milton Brown and Bobby Delong on defense.

"Farmville is small, but quick," he said. "They have only one starter over 200, but they seem to be doing a good job defensively," he added.

"They can hurt you outside and they have a good passing game in the swing pass, which is one of our weaknesses. We look for a real tough game, especially since both of us are still in contention," he said.

George Wheeler, the Conley mentor, was unhappy with his team's performance in their 52-0 defeat. "We just quit," he said. "They got two quick scores against us, and we had a time keeping 11 players on the field after that. They have a real good football team."

Wheeler did single out tackle Stencil Hines and center Stacey Evans for their play in the game. This week, Conley goes out of the conference to take on another new school, West Craven. The new team does have football roots, however, since Vanceboro is one of the schools that it came from.

But so far, West Craven has had problems, winning none of their first three. "They have a real small squad," Wheeler said, "with just 17 out. They run from the power-I, but they're not nearly as strong as in the past. We feel like we have a real good chance to win this one. If we don't, well, it could be a long year."

North Pitt's scheduled home opener with Southern Nash, has been switched to the Firebirds' field, since the Panthers' new field has not been completed. Coach Danny Wilmer is hopeful that the field will be ready for the next scheduled home affair, against Aycock on October 15.

Wilmer felt his Panthers hit well in the first half in their loss to Eastern Wayne, but gave up in the second half. "We wore the wrong color jerseys when we got there, and it upset our tempo having to change them," the coach said. "Then, we just didn't go after them." Wilmer singled out defensive halfback Andrew Daniels and safety Ronnie Briley for their play in the game.

"Minor injuries bother us a lot. We need to develop a tougher mental attitude," he said.

This week, against Southern Nash, Wilmer hopes his team will get into a winning spirit. "They haven't won yet either, and this may be our best chance. If we lay down, we can get beaten bad again."

Elsewhere, Robersonville, after disposing of the team it is supposed to have the hardest time with, takes on Bath in another Tobacco Belt game, while Williamston has a tough home game against Weldon.

Dallas-Fort Worth Is New Home Of Senators

By DAVE O'HARA

BOSTON (AP) — Owner Bob Short and his financially troubled Washington Senators are headed for the lush Dallas-Fort Worth area and the nation's capital faces a lack of major league baseball for the first year since 1901.

Short who claims to have lost $3 million since he purchased the club nor a reported $9.4 million in 1968, won his fight to move, late Tuesday night as American League owners voted 10-2 in his favor, with only the Baltimore Orioles and Chicago White Sox opposed.

League President Joe Cronin, who as a young player-manager led Washington to its last pennant in 1933, announced the action after a marathon meeting of owners, their top aides, attorneys and baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

The transfer marked the second time in a decade that Washington has been voted out of baseball.

However, after the franchise moved to Minnesota in 1961, the league found another club for the capital by expanding.

"Being an old Washington ballplayer, I feel very sad there was no other alternative, but it is with pleasure we welcome Dallas-Fort Worth," Cronin said more than 13 hours after the meeting went behind closed doors.

Cronin said the transfer was conditional, but that merely appeared to be a formality.

The conditions include expansion of Turnpike Stadium in Arlington, between Dallas and Fort Worth, in the next two years and indemnity payment to the Texas League for displacement of the Dallas-Fort Worth franchise.

Those conditions were accepted by the American League.

In approving the franchise shift, the first since Charles O. Finley moved his Athletics from Kansas City to Oakland in 1968, the league owners rejected two Washington offers to purchase the Senators.

One by a group represented by public relations man Edward Kelly Jr., was rejected quickly.

A group headed by Washington Board of Trade President Joseph Dantansky made a strong pitch to buy.

The supermarket chain operator and lawyer made an hour-long presentation of offering $7.9 million for 80 per cent of the Senators' stock.

Dantansky said he had been approached by a person who "indicated that if we offered what Mr. Short had paid for the club, the league would be hard put to turn us down."

Cronin and Kuhn agreed that Dantansky had "made a fine offer, but their capitalization was thin."

Dantansky questioned the league's idea of his plan for financing and said he believed the club owners had come to the meeting "with their minds made up."

Kickers Are Not On Top

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

By contrast with last year, when a number of kicking specialists got into the act, the football scoring race in the Southern Conference so far this season belongs almost exclusively to runners and pass receivers.

With all but Richmond's Spiders and Virginia Military's Keydets having played twice, Brian Baima of The Citadel and Phil Mosser of William and Mary have taken the lead with three touchdowns and 18 points each.

Baima, a 185-pound junior split end, caught a pair of scoring passes last Saturday in the Bulldogs' 38-35 victory over Bucknell to move into a tie for the lead.

Mosser, the 192-pound senior fullback who was named conference player of the year last season when he set a league record by rushing for 1,286 yards, got two of his six-pointers in the Indians' season-opening 35-28 victory over The Citadel.

Giants And Dodgers Both Losers

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The San Francisco Giants and Los Angeles Dodgers continue to play like broken records, spinning around in circles and going nowhere very fast.

It is possible the Atlanta Braves can still waltz away with the National League's Western title? Well, it's highly unlikely—but not impossible—considering the way the Giants and Dodgers have been playing lately.

The Giants held onto a 1½ game lead over the Dodgers in the wild, wild West despite themselves: as they lost their 13th game in the last 16, a 3-1 decision to the Houston Astros Tuesday night.

The Dodgers also continued their inept play as they dropped a 9-3 contest to the Cincinnati Reds for their fifth loss in seven games.

The third-place Braves, meanwhile, kept their dim title hopes alive with a 5-2 victory over the San Diego Padres. The Braves moved within six games of San Francisco and in order to win the West, must take all their remaining six contests while hoping the Giants lose their last eight and the Dodgers slump badly.

Los Angeles Manager Walt Alston was rock-steady despite the latest loss.

"We're going to beat the Giants," said Alston, "I don't care what the margin is—one game or six. We'll still beat 'em."

San Francisco Manager Charlie Fox, meanwhile, wasn't so confident: "We're just not hitting the ball, period."

In another top National League game, the St. Louis Cardinals beat Pittsburgh 6-4 as the Pirates failed for the second time to nail the Eastern Division pennant. The Pirates still need just one victory to cinch the title.

Elsewhere, the Chicago Cubs downed the New York Mets 3-0 and the Philadelphia Phillies whipped the Montreal Expos 5-4 in the first game of a two-night doubleheader before losing the nightcap 4-3.

Rookie catcher Larry Howard was the difference for Houston, lashing a two-run, tie-breaking homer in the seventh inning off San Francisco starter John Cumberland.

The ball cleared the 406-foot marker in center field.

"I tried to get it inside," said Cumberland, "but I missed by six inches and that was the ballgame."

"That guy really clobbered the ball good," said Fox, whose own team hasn't been hitting the ball too well. The Giants have averaged only five hits per game in the last 17 outings.

Cincinnati's Lee May murdered Los Angeles with a home run and double, good for five runs batted in.

"There's nothing cheap about those Cincinnati runs," said Alston, "they hit us far too good. When you get behind 9-0, there's not much you can do."

May's three-run homer, his 38th clout of the season, capped a four-run fifth inning and then the brawny first baseman knocked in two more with a double in a three-run sixth.

Hank Aaron's 46th home run, a career high, plus a two-run shot by Darrell Evans and a solo blast by Ralph Garr led Atlanta over San Diego.

Aaron's first-inning homer, which put the Braves in front 1-0, erased a previous high of 45 with the old Milwaukee Braves in 1962. Evans unloaded a two-run shot in the second and Garr hit a homer in the third.

Jose Cruz broke a tie with a two-run homer in the seventh as St. Louis downed Pittsburgh.

Rookie Burt Hooton pitched a two-hitter and Ron Santo ripped his 300th career homer as Chicago beat New York. Pitcher Billy Champion capped a five-run seventh with a two-run double as Philadelphia beat Montreal in the opener and Bob Bailey knocked in four runs to bring the Expos the second-game victory.

Creator Of Women's Jewelry Is Greenville Visitor

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

The man who designed wedding accessories in metal and jewelry for four White House weddings — the two Johnson girls and the two Nixon girls, was in Greenville this past weekend for "a visit with old friends and a chance to rest a bit."

Don V. Carnevale, a vice-president of Harry Winston Inc. the renowned jewelers of New York City, has just completed a visit with Marvin K. Blount Sr. and his family.

The dark-haired bachelor admitted to having two main interests in life. "The first," he said, "is to create beautiful jewelry for women of discriminating taste." Carnevale explained that many factors entered into play when he created a piece of jewelry for a woman. "I view the individual who is going to wear the jewelry, to get a visual image of how the finished design will look on an ear lobe or finger."

"I take into account the size and shape of a person's hand, the facial structure, and other physical factors. These things are important in creating the right thing for the individual. I don't design simply to be creating designs."

The second object in life Carnevale referred to goes far beyond the realm of creativity. "I'm fortunate in my chosen work," he began, "in that I'm always meeting people in my travels, wonderful people."

"No matter where I go I make an effort to communicate with people. I'm convinced we all have a real contribution to make to each other and to our society. I'm not speaking of contributions in the political sense of communicating, but the basic bonds of relationships between people."

The designer paused. "What I'm trying to get across is that despite our national diversity we need to realize our problems are basically the same, only in different degrees. My experiences have shown me we have the means of truly cementing our personal relationships. Whatever I can do in my contact with people is one of the great pleasures of my work and travels."

A recent development that Carnevale is enthusiastic about is the utilization of American Indians in the cutting and polishing of jewels. "A few years ago we set up a center in Arizona," he commented. "The Indians have proven to be exceptional craftsmen in jewel cutting. I feel this is a natural reflection of their long background in crafts, but even the most optimistic have been amazed at the results." The jewel designer also noted that "in New York, the Indians are the ones, almost without exception, who have the capability to work on exposed steel beams in construction of skyscrapers."

Although still a rather young man, Carnevale expressed concern over the decline of apprentice programs in America. "There's no substitute in some fields for apprenticeships," he said. "We still have many fine older craftsmen who have much they could pass on to a young apprentice. I hope more attention will be given this possibility by younger people before it is too late."

A member of the Executive Committee of the New York Board of Trade, Carnevale was instrumental in coordinating with a committee from the Smithsonian Institute on the concept of a national state jewel room. "We now have that," he remarked, "and I'm convinced that in the coming years the American men and women creating outstanding works in and leaders will be able to avoid some of the heartbreak and problems that can arise from unguarded planning."

Young Salmon Put Into Lake

OLYMPIA, Wash. (UPI) — More than 10 million young Chinook salmon have been released in Capitol Lake this year, according to the Washington Department of Fisheries.

The young fish were reared in the department's Minter Creek hatchery and held in Deschutes River ponds before being released in the lake which is connected by a fish ladder with the southern tip of Puget Sound.

jewels will receive public recognition."

He described what can become a standard form of attribution and recognition in this field. "Any item accepted for display in the National Jewel Room at the Smithsonian would show the donor or sponsor, the workshop carrying out the work, and the designer and other craftsmen engaged in work on the item." This, he claims, would be a program without cost to the government. "Eventually, America will have a jewel room as attractive as any in the world."

And his reflections on Greenville? "You have here something really wonderful," he said, "space to grow outward instead of upward." He mentioned the pleasure he received in attending his first tobacco auction sale. "A real delight," he described it. And the New Yorker also had a note of caution. "It might surprise some people, but New Yorkers in the past have been the most naive of all people. We have always let everyone in to establish any kind of business without looking into their connections, their aims, or their merits. Everyone knows the results, what has happened to our city. I hope your planners

Eat the basic 4 foods every day.

TIPS ON LETTUCE

1. A good head of lettuce "gives" when squeezed lightly. The air pockets between the leaves mean it was harvested at peak quality. When the head is cut in half it will have a tunneled appearance.
2. A reddish discoloration at the stem end doesn't mean the lettuce is old. When the head is cut from the plant, a milky juice appears. The air turns it red and seals off the cut. It's nature's way to prevent loss of food value.
3. The greener the lettuce the higher its vitamin A and C content, so use all the outer leaves. Lettuce has almost no calories — a mere 47 per pound.
4. Refresh lettuce at home: rinse in cold water, drain thoroughly, store in a crisper or transparent bag. If storing several days, do not core.
5. Store lettuce in the refrigerator away from fresh fruit. A gas given off in the ripening process of many fruits may cause lettuce to wilt and to spot.

Little 'Correction' In U.S. Corrective Systems

The Daily Reflector, Greenville, N.C.—Wednesday, September 22, 1971—19

(Editor's note: The following article begins a three-part series on prison conditions underlying revolts such as that at Attica and reports on a growing movement toward effecting reforms.)

By MARK BROWN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — "The correction system in the United States is a national disgrace. It corrects little. It rehabilitates few. It does nothing for most of the people who serve time in it. And it does precious little for the society which hopes it will prevent crime."

The words are those of Richard W. Velde, associate administrator of the Justice Department's Law Enforcement Assisstance Administration. The view is a consensus held and expressed by state and federal officials alike: Degrading and brutal to those within, ignored and neglected by those without, America's prisons and jails are failing to rehabilitate criminals or protect the public.

From Attica in New York to San Quentin in California, 200,000 adult men and women are consigned to spend part of their lives behind prison walls.

From the Tombs in New York City to Orleans Parish Prison in New Orleans, another 1.5 million men, women and children pass through local jails each year, awaiting trial, sentencing or the end of a term. Inside those walls, many of them built 100 or more years ago, they are exposed at best to poorly financed rehabilitation programs and minimum living conditions. At worst, they live in subhuman squalor, suffering sadistic brutality at the hands of their keepers or fellow prisoners.

For most Americans, the minority behind bars is out of sight and out of mind. Out of mind, that is, until dramatically called to public attention by a riot or a revolt, such as that at Attica, where 40 men lost their lives.

Yet all but a mere 2 per cent of the prisoners will someday return to society where, according to official federal figures, 60 to 70 per cent of them will commit another crime. Expensive to maintain, even more expensive to rebuild, America's 400 prisons and 4,000 jails are breeding grounds of crime and violence that present, in the words of President Nixon, "a convincing case of failure."

In 1870, the American Correctional Association resolved that "the aim of the prison should be to make industrious free men rather than orderly and obedient prisoners."

Yet 101 years later, despite the urgings of Nixon, Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and scores of others, that aim is unfulfilled.

Of the $1.5 billion spent yearly on corrections in the United States, former Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark estimates that 95 per cent goes for custodial costs: walls, bars and guards. The balance, Clark says, is spent on rehabilitation: education, job training and health services.

To be sure, conditions have improved since the American Correctional Association adopted its statement of purpose.

Corporal punishment is no longer official policy. Prison architects are designing minimum security facilities that eschew Bastille-like grimness.

Innovative training and educational programs are being adopted. Twenty states have work-release programs. Prison populations have declined in the past 10 years. An estimated 800,000 offenders who in earlier times might be behind bars are free on probation or parole.

Yet despite an 8 per cent decline in prison commitments in 10 years since the peak of 213,000 in 1960, Velde says most prisoners don't belong behind bars.

"The fact is that only between 10 and 25 per cent of those now in jails and prisons really belong there," he said. "The bulk of the prisoners now in custody, whatever their offense, should be in properly supervised probation or parole situations."

With rare exceptions, such as Alcatraz, the fortress prisons built over the last century are still being used.

And all the enlightened penology of the 20th Century has not been able to prevent the disintegration of the human spirit among men subjected to privation and brutality.

Only last month, the Justice Department joined inmates at Mississippi's Parchman State Prison in seeking a court ruling that conditions in the institution constitute cruel and inhuman punishment in violation of the Constitution.

Specifically, the Justice Department alleged that Parchman guards "have permitted or ordered trustees to beat, shoot, shoot at and intimidate prisoners," and that prison officials have "failed to protect the prisoners from assault by other prisoners."

Speaking of life in prison, a California parole officer said "Things happen in there, terrible things, and a man has no redress. He is helpless when it happens, and his helplessness destroys him."

REAL-LIFE VILLAINS
BROCKVILLE, Ont. (AP) — Recent night-time visitors to the Never-Never Land young people's tourist attraction were not exactly nursery rhyme characters. The gift shop was broken into and $952 worth of transistor radios, toys, costume jewelry, Eskimo figures and other articles were stolen.

on Tuesday nights is a cut above that of most other nights—several pretty good action series, a couple of variety hours, a new movie-for-TV and a doctor show.

Since no one can see all the shows, viewers must make some difficult decisions.

A tough one involves the early evening when ABC's "Mod Squad" and NBC's "Ironside" are in head-on competition. This is deliberate programming by NBC—putting its most popular police action show against ABC's most popular police show. The winner of the ratings contest is likely to be CBS' Glen Campbell, with whodunit fans split between two programs of the same genre opposite him.

The singer's second program of the new season looked a lot like his variety hours of last season—lots of singing, a little comedy and brief turns by the guest stars—the ubiquitous Bob Hope, the Smothers Brothers and Dionne Warwick.

It is a nice, easy program with unfailing good taste and handsome production values, but also is quite bland.

That dedicated, understanding general practitioner, Marcus Welby, was busy on ABC at evening's end, mending the torn fabric of an 11-year-old orphan's life and patching up the deteriorating marriage of the couple who adopted her.

Robert Young continues to portray convincingly the concerned man of medicine—he was making a 2 a.m. house call in the episode—and the story was less drama than a lesson in human relations.

The show tugs at the heart, has a tendency to be sudsy—and should be good for a lot more seasons of television.

The new season has its first drop-out. "Quarterly Report," which had its premiere on NBC Sept. 9, will be a one-time program. The sponsor has pulled out of what was to be a series of four programs. Word around the network is that the underwriting company found the program too controversial.

The network news department plans to fill the periods reserved for the program in December, March and June with other actuality specials.

The initial program handled subjects ranging from the vote of 18-year-olds to the status of the death penalty in various states. While it did not seem to be very controversial, correspondents of the network appeared to have considerable editorial freedom in expressing viewpoints.

Baby Okapi For A Zoo In Dallas

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Poko the okapi, who resembles a small giraffe has joined the diaper set at the Dallas Zoo.

Poko was born last week to his mother and father, Kopo and Komono.

Zoo curator George Bulloch says "There are only 58 okapi in captivity in the world, and since his home has been turned over to the natives, there will probably be no more imported."

Bulloch said Poko, who has striped legs and hind quarters, will be 8 to 10 feet tall and weigh 1,000 pounds as an adult okapi.

Defer Meet 'Lemon' Fighter A Hero To Some To Oct. 6th

The Joint City-Council Board of Adjustments meeting, originally scheduled for Thursday night, has been postponed until October 6, when it will be held at 4:00 p.m. in the City Council Chambers.

The joint meeting will consider a request for variance and special use permit by John Wellons in connection with an apartment complex on Red Banks Road.

The Greenville Board of Adjustments will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. Two items are scheduled for their agenda — a public hearing on a request for special use permit by Mrs. Jackie H. Dail to use a portion of her house at 2201 South Village Drive for a beauty shop, and a public hearing for special use permit by Hodger-Bell Oil Company of Kinston. The oil company is seeking permission to install two self-service gasoline pumps and tanks at Huey's Restaurant on Charles Street.

By JAY SHARBUTT
Associated Press Writer
WHITTIER, Calif. (AP) —

Eddie Campos was talking about the problems he's had with his car when the phone rang. The caller was a man in San Bernardino who wanted to talk about the problems he's had with his car.

Campos didn't know the caller, but listened anyway. Then he shrugged his shoulders and said: "Well I feel sorry for you. I solved all my problems with one match."

Campos' problem was his 1970 Lincoln Continental Mark III.

He got so fed up at the things he said went wrong with it he burned it to a crisp on Aug. 31 with a great deal of ceremony and five gallons of gasoline. On the front lawn of a nearby Ford assembly plant.

Since then, Campos, married and the father of three, has become sort of a folk hero to some car-owners. His car trouble started about seven miles after he bought the auto in October 1969: His wife, Carletta, says the entire ignition assembly fell out when she tried to start the car.

From then on, says Campos, it was back and forth to the dealer with power windows that wouldn't go up or, if up, wouldn't go down, an air conditioner that wouldn't condition, a battery that wouldn't electrify, and more.

"It seemed like every time we took it in, something would go wrong with it two weeks later," said Mrs. Campos.

Campos, described by a deputy sheriff after the Great Car

Burn as "perfectly sober, perfectly rational and completely disgusted," denies he's on a one-man vendetta against Ford.

"I don't think it's that," he says. "It's more of a service to the consumers to help them stand up and demand their rights. As long as they remain silent I'll remain active."

A local spokesman for Ford would only say that a check with the dealer from whom Campos bought the car showed only one complaint had been received from Campos and that it had been handled satisfactorily.

Campos, meanwhile, put the charred black and rust-brown hulk of his $10,300 Lincoln—he's still making payments on it and has $1,812.43 to go—on display on the front lawn of his plastering business here.

A five-foot lemon tree sprouts from a hole he chopped in the car's roof.

Campos says he's at least saved another car maker, Chrysler, from an even gaudier display of consumer wrath.

"This lady called me up and said she'd been having trouble with a Barracuda she bought," he recalled. "She wanted to drive the car back to the dealer's showroom, set it on fire and burn the whole place down."

"Thank God I managed to talk her out of that."

CANCER IN THE SUN

NEW YORK (UPI)—Within the next year an estimated 130,000 Americans will be found to have skin cancer, Dr. Norman Goldstein, assistant professor of dermatology at the University of Hawaii School of Medicine, reports in CUTIS, a journal devoted to reports on skin disorders.

In most cases the cause can be directly attributed to sunlight. The sun's ultra-violet rays reach their peak intensity between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Five Items Await Board

Five items are scheduled to be considered by members of the Greenville Planning and Zoning Board at their regular September meeting tonight at 8:00 p.m. in the City Council Chambers.

The items include the consideration of a final plat of Greenville-American Land Company (G.A.L.C., Inc) property, to be presented by Phillip Carroll; a proposed apartment complex north of the Eastwood Subdivision; the consideration of rezoning Greenfield Terrace and an area immediately west of Greenfield Terrace from R-6 to R-9, an action initiated by the city manager and city planner; and the withdrawal from dedication of a portion of Eleventh Street, presented by the Greenville Tobacco Company.

The final item on the agenda is that of approved amendments to zoning ordinances.

Cadillac '72

Sedan deVille, more luxurious than ever. There's every reason to believe that Sedan deVille will continue to be the luxury car model enjoyed by more motorists than all others. It has the look of luxury—from its distinctive new grille to the new jewel-like interior metal surfaces. It has the feel of luxury—with even more comfortable seating. It has more of what adds up to lasting value. Like Cadillac's new bumper system for increased front-end protection. Sedan deVille—more than ever the popular choice.

One great car after another.

Eldorado, even more distinctive for '72. There's the incomparable Eldorado Coupe and the stunning new Eldorado Convertible, the only luxury convertible built in the land. They are even more elegant, even more exciting. Some things we didn't change. Such as the 8.2 litre V-8, the world's largest production passenger car engine. The precise handling of front-wheel drive and variable-ratio power steering. The Eldorados of 1972 are, more than ever, the world's most elegant personal cars.

Out of a 70-year tradition of excellence come nine great Cadillacs for 1972. In addition to the models above, there are the magnificent Fleetwood Sixty Special Brougham . . . the youthful new Coupe deVille . . . the new Calais Sedan and Coupe . . . and the most aristocratic of automobiles, the new Fleetwood Seventy-Five nine-passenger Sedan. Finally, there's the Seventy-Five limousine, the only limousine built in America specifically designed as a limousine. Cadillac '72 is one great car after another. Because Cadillac does not reject the past, but builds on it. Carefully. With Fleetwood coachcraft by Fisher. With styling continuity and contemporary flair that tells you at a glance that this is Cadillac. See for yourself at your authorized Cadillac dealer.

The Standard of the World still stands alone.

The Worry Clinic Motivation Is Critical Item

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., Md.
Bill's comment should challenge all leaders in business and the professions. For 5 basic laws of human motivation make or break a newspaper, store, or factory and even a church or doctor's practice! Yet those laws were never mentioned when I earned by Ph.D. in Applied Psychology at Yale and N.Y.

Case R-569: Bill H., aged 36, is a magazine editor.
"Dr. Crane," he began, "I heard you address our state newspaper convention.
"For I had been invited by a friend of mine who is Managing Editor of a large city daily.
"And I was especially intrigued by your 'Motivation Test,' whereby you rated us on how well we could anticipate the reader's reactions.

"Although I missed 5 of the 15 paired items, I found that I was still in the upper 10 percent of the entire group of editors.
"If the former editors of Saturday Evening Post could only have taken this test, they could have saved that magazine!"

Print Motivation
This "Motivation Test" deals with a national newspaper advertising campaign where readers saw 30 titles of books for sale.
It is taken from Chapter I. of my college textbook, "Psychology Applied," so borrow a copy from your city library.

Analyze this sample pair of titles that were used in successive years for the same book:
—The Facts About Fascism
—The Truth About Mussolini
One of those titles sold 24,000 copies the year it was run while the other produced only 14,000 sales.
Those 15 pairs of book titles illustrate 5 basic laws of human motivation.

In all my years of teaching "Advertising Psychology" at the university, as well as being a Sales Consultant, I have never run across as illuminating a test of motivation as this one!
That pair of titles just mentioned, reveals Law No. 1, which says:
"People are usually more interested in your product than in you!"
A psychological corollary of that axiom reads as follows:
"Customers want to buy what THEY like; not what YOU prefer!"
Bill's reference to the 90 percent of those high salaried Saturday Evening Post's ad executives go wrong by demise, means that its editors focussed on material that pleased them, instead of their subscribers.

This is a widespread error of many merchants, teachers, preachers, editors and even physicians.
But it is the customer, parishioner, reader or patient who must hand over the money to keep business zooming.
I have personally administered that "Motivation Test" to 500,000 editors, doctors, manufacturers and $50,000 per your topnotch advertising executives.
Alas, I have found that about 90 percent of those high salaried ad executives go wrong by picking the Mussolini title.

It sold only 14,000 books in contrast to the other's 24,000.
Editors operate what amounts to a "Print Department Store."
And local department stores soon realize that the counters that ring up the most business at the cash registers, should get the most floor space.
Saturday Evening Post died because it was trying to satisfy the "Manufacturer's (editor's) desires" instead of those of the customer.
This is a very common error in dealing with people, for we tend to feel that our likes and dislikes are typical of all Americans.
They aren't.

For manufacturers, editors, doctors and even clergymen comprise minority groups of very high I. Q. and specialized interests.
So send for that Motivation Test contained in my booklet "Vocational Guidance," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents, and use it to get the customer's viewpoint.
(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to when you send for one of his booklets.) Copyright 1971.

The bidding:

Opening lead: King of ♥
One of the more fascinating subjects regarding play and defense is the "ruff and sluff." This play when committed voluntarily by a defender is generally regarded as the mark of a tyro. However, there are occasions when it is not only not a blunder to present declarer with an otherwise unobtainable discard—but it may be the only defense to avoid surrender on the deal. Today's six club contract is an excellent case in point.
West opened the bidding with four hearts to make life difficult for his opponents and he lured North into making an unsound double. Holding 14 high card points and a balanced hand, North should have been content to pass and play for a modest profit on the deal. Altho his double is primarily intended for penalties, partner is not bound to pass. South had so much distribution, including the void in hearts, and a semi-solid six card suit that he can hardly be blamed for bidding six clubs. If North had another spade honor the slam would have been virtually unbeatable.

Dummy was entered with the ace of diamonds and a small spade was returned. When East followed with the six, South played the nine and West was in with the queen. Realizing that a heart return would give his opponent a ruff and sluff, West led back a small spade. The three was played from dummy and South topped East's ten with the jack. Declarer ruffed a diamond in dummy and claimed the balance with trumps.
Had West committed one of the "cardinal sins of bridge" by giving his opponent a ruff and sluff, it would have led to the defeat of the contract. South actually had two losers — one in spades and one in diamonds. The diamond can always be ruffed in dummy, but he can't ruff out both cards since North had only one trump left. If West returns a heart and South ruffs with the nine of clubs, he can discard either a spade or a diamond from his hand, but he is left with a loser, which must eventually be conceded.
