An Instant Holocaust

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — "It was instant holocaust. The whole damned world turned orange," says Houston Post newsman Jim Bishop.

One man died and 38 other persons, including Bishop, were injured Tuesday when a fireball from an exploding tank car enveloped firemen, newsmen and bystanders.

The explosion occurred in a heavily populated southeast Houston area after 18 cars of an 83-car Missouri Pacific freight train jumped the track at a crossing.

A small explosion in one overturned tank car containing chemicals drew firemen and newsmen to the scene, then came the larger, deadly blast. Flames shot 200 feet into the air.

The blast destroyed a $45,000 fire truck and several other vehicles and set a house afire. Firemen had evacuated most residents of the neighborhood.

The blast threw part of one tank car a quarter mile, a Missouri Pacific official said.

Top Marine Retiring

EL TORO MARINE CORPS AIR STATION, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon probably will name a new Marine Corps commandant in the next month, Gen. Leonard F. Chapman Jr., the present commandant, says.

Chapman, who is retiring Jan. 1 after 36 years in the Corps, refused to speculate on who his successor might be, although he said he was certain the man will continue rigid standards of military discipline.

"The Marine Corps maintains strict discipline, not for discipline's sake itself, but because it is disciplined units that win and survive in combat," he told a news conference Tuesday.

Chapman, on his last official inspection trip to El Toro and other West Coast Marine installations, said Marines "accomplished what we were sent to Vietnam to do."

"Now we must continue our high state of readiness and efficiency and be ready to mount out on short notice," he said.

Bases Are Harassed

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese gunners continued harassing allied artillery bases along the Cambodian border today and shelled U.S. Fire Base Pace for the 26th consecutive day.

Pace, 60, miles northwest of Saigon, has been hit by more than 600 rounds of mortars and rockets since the North Vietnamese launched an offensive in the region four weeks ago.

Field reports indicated the well-entrenched American artillerymen have suffered fewer than 30 wounded.

The base commander, Maj. Joseph Dye, 33, of Portland, Ore., told Associated Press photographer Richard Merron: "General activity has gone down. My patrols haven't been running into anything lately, and the number of incoming shells has decreased."

"They continue to harass us but there is no real pattern."

Enhanced The Beauty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. John A. Kellenberger of Greensboro, N.C., has been cited as chairman of a commission that restored historic Stanley House of the Tryon Palace restoration in New Bern, N.C.

Stanley House, where George Washington spent two nights, was among 15 projects which were honored Tuesday as enhancing the beauty of the environment. Tryon Palace was the home of colonial governors of North Carolina.

Also among the 15 projects was a Humble Oil and Refining Co. service station in Wilson, N.C.

Mrs. Richard M. Nixon presented the annual awards in the White House East Garden in behalf of the American Association of Nurserymen.

Mrs. Kellenberger was the only woman among those who picked up the winning certificates. She got the judges' award for an outstanding environmental contribution, a special honor given only for the second time in the 19-year history of the landscape awards.

The president of the nurserymen's association, Joseph Klupenger, said the Stanley House restoration was a work of ingenuity, imagination and intuition.

Arraigning Rap Brown

NEW YORK (AP) — H. Rap Brown, accused of trying to rob a Manhattan bar, was to be arraigned today in his room at Roosevelt Hospital.

The 28-year-old black activist was still listed in fair condition following the removal of bullets from his abdomen and thigh. No bail was set for Brown pending the arraignment.

The three men arrested with Brown early Saturday morning after a shootout with police at the bar are being held in lieu of $100,000 bail for grand jury action.

Brown, who gave his name as Roy Williams when he was arrested, was still insisting that he was not Brown, detectives reported.

Drawings Of New Pitt Hospital Are Approved By Board

By CAROL TYER

Reflector Staff Writer

Schematic drawings of the new Pitt Memorial Hospital were approved by the full hospital board last night.

This action gives the architects, Freeman and White Associates of Charlotte, the go-ahead to further plan the hospital.

There was some discussion of the intensive care unit's not being close enough to the operating suite, radiology, etc., but no formal recognition of the matter was made. The architects may consider it, however.

The plan at present contains two spoked-wheel-shaped nursing towers and various departments along a connecting corridor. The towers will be three stories high, but all other buildings will be one story. Architect Beverly Freeman said estimators of a contracting firm have said that not using a high-rise structural plan is saving $4 a square foot, since heavy piling, stairwells, elevators, etc. are the usual big items in hospital construction costs.

The present proposed cost of the hospital is $10,873,085. A vocational rehabilitation building approved by this past legislature to be built in conjunction with the hospital will cost an estimated $1,952,350 — total $12,825,435.

The amount of a grant that will be available from the federal government through the N. C. Medical Care Commission is uncertain at this time. The amounts, $2 million and $1.5 million have been tendered, but William Henderson of the Medical Care Commission assures the Board and the Commissioners that no action can be taken until final plans are completed. He said it probably will be after the beginning of the new fiscal year, July 1, 1972, before any money will be available. Plans will be completed by this time, Freeman said.

The hospital proper will contain 314 beds and the rehab center will house 55 more.

Rehab funds are $1,143,000, federal, and $350,000 state. Duke Endowment historically has been generous with new hospitals, Freeman said. And there should be other grants from foundations, memorial funds, etc. it is hoped, Board chairman Woodrow Wooten, said.

The County Commissioners met with the Hospital Board to hear the schematic drawing of the new hospital discussed. Chairman Vernon Cox said the Commissioners will act soon to approve or disapprove the drawings, but that 48-hour notice of a Commissioners' meeting must be given.

A resolution of appreciation to C. D. Ward, Pitt Memorial Hospital administrator for 20 years, drafted by the Pitt County Commissioners was read. Also read was a resolution of congratulations to Mrs. Maggie Mercer, head ob-gyn nurse, for being named "Pitt County Nurse of the Year" by the Pitt Medical Association.

Courtesy staff privileges were extended to Dr. Alfred H. Woodworth who is staffing the emergency room every other weekend.

G. R. Gurganus, the trustee who is heading a committee to work with doctors practicing at the Medical Pavilion who wish to buy or lease some of the hospital grounds for a parking, reported. He said the doctors are meeting tonight to consider the Board's offer of a three-year lease for $2,000 per year. A landscape rendering will still be required from the potential leasers, he said.

Fire At Nursing Home Fatal To 15

HONESDALE, Pa. (AP) — Fifteen elderly persons, most in their 80s and 90s and many of them bedridden, perished Tuesday night in a fire that swept rapidly through a private nursing home near this tiny northeastern Pennsylvania community.

Wayne County Coroner Robert Jennings said he would ask for a state investigation.

All of the victims, trapped in their rooms on either side of a corridor, were believed to have died of smoke inhalation, Jennings said.

Only a licensed practical nurse, on duty alone at the time, escaped the blaze as it filled the residential wing of the Geiger Nursing Home with thick, black smoke.

"I intend to request the state Department of Labor and Industry and the Department of Welfare to conduct an immediate investigation at the state level," Jennings said.

"If there is any criminal negligence involved here it will be brought out in the investigation," he said.

Abernathy In Ayden To 'Lend National Support'

AYDEN — Southern Christian Leadership Conference President Ralph David Abernathy spoke to a group of about 200 persons at Zion Chapel F.W.B. Church at the intersection of Sixth and Venters Streets here late this morning.

He told the group he was here "to lend national support" to the protests in the Pitt County area that had stemmed from the Aug. 6 shooting of a black man by a highway patrolman.

He said, "We had rather be in jail than walking the streets condemned for being on welfare." He demanded Governor Scott fire Highway Patrolman Billy Day, the officer involved in the shooting incident.

He advised the governor to "take action now, to fire or suspend Billy Day" in order to prevent further unrest in Pitt County.

Abernathy's schedule this afternoon called for a visit to the site of the shooting; a mail-in protest in Ayden; and a meeting in Ayden tonight to plan further strategy for the protests here.

Peace Prize

OSLO, Norway (AP) — West German Chancellor Willy Brandt today won the 1971 Nobel peace prize.

The 57-year-old Socialist head of the Bonn government receives the equivalent of $88,000 from funds endowed by Alfred Nobel, the inventor of dynamite. The peace prize is awarded annually by the Norwegian parliament.

Danish Socialists and fellow German Social democrats had recommended Brandt for the prize, saying his efforts to improve his country's relations with East Europe were the most important initiative for relaxation of tension in the last decade.

Shuns Role Of Censor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government intervention in radio and television programming could be more dangerous than the stations rigging the news themselves, the chairman of the Federal Communications Commission said today.

"No government agency can, or should, try to authenticate the news," FCC Chairman Dean Burch said. "Therefore ... we have consistently and repeatedly stated that we will shun the censor's role and will not try to establish news distortion."

In testimony for the Senate subcommittee on constitutional rights Burch, the former Republican National Committee chairman, said the FCC essentially ignores complaints it gets that radio and television news and documentary programs are deliberately slanted.

"Deliberate distortion cannot be established by determining what is 'true' and then comparing it with what was broadcast," Burch told the panel headed by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C.

The subcommittee's hearings on freedom of the press have spread over nearly three weeks. Today was the last day.

SUPPORT TAIWAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sixty-nine senators, including B. Everett Jordan and Sam J. Ervin of North Carolina, have signed a statement supporting continued membership of the Republic of China in the United Nations.

It's Official

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Bob Scott has officially proclaimed Saturday night as "trick or treat night in North Carolina."

The governor did this as he noted that Halloween falls on Sunday this year.

He pointed out that "it is not proper for ghouls, ghosts and goblins to be flitting about on the Sabbath, and besides that, the next day is a school day."

In officially proclaiming Saturday night as trick or treat night, Scott said, "It is desirable that all trick or treating be done the same night across the state and Saturday is a good night to do it."

Time To Be Mean

ROCKY MOUNT, N.C. (AP) — Resources Secretary Roy Sowers said today "the time for being nice to polluters has passed" in North Carolina.

Sowers, head of the new state Department of Natural and Economic Resources, said his agency "will not be as reticent as in the past to carry guilty parties to court."

"It is time to get mean whenever necessary, whenever a polluter indicates he wants to drag his feet rather than quickly making an effort to be in compliance with the laws and regulations enacted on behalf of all of the people of North Carolina," Sowers said.

Sowers outlined his approach to pollution control in a speech prepared for a chamber of commerce "Conference on Environmental Legislation and Enforcement" in Rocky Mount. He urged citizens participation in the enforcement program, including initiation of court suits. Sowers noted there are 6,500 classified streams in North Carolina and only six state water inspectors.

Massive Preventive Measure

CONTAINMENT — Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Ontario Provincial Police and Ottawa municipal police combined forces Tuesday to keep an estimated 10,000 demonstrators under control during their six-block march to protest the treatment of Russian Jews. The nonviolent protest coincided with the visit to Ottawa of Russian Premier Alexei Kosygin, and was the biggest of several demonstrations since Mr. Kosygin arrived in Ottawa Sunday. (CP Wirephoto)

Local Chapter Has Rush Party

The Alpha Omega Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority held its Rush Party Wednesday at the home of Jeanette Cox. A Halloween theme set the atmosphere for an informal cookout.
President Lucille Moore formally welcomed the members and guests. A short business session was also held. Nellie Taylor presented an informative program about ESA and Alpha Omega on a local basis. She explained the sorority's project, the Eastern Carolina Sheltered Workshop. The sorority gives several parties each year for the clients of the workshop plus a donation to the workshop each year.
Mrs. Taylor discussed other social and educational aspects of the organization.
Guests included Mrs. Angeline Venters, Mrs. Ellen Hobbs and Mrs. Barbara Zicherman.
The sorority sponsors a spring bridge benefit and a Tom Watt kit sale to earn money for its projects.

CHRISTMAS IN OCTOBER?
It may seem unreasonably early, but we are urging patrons to come in now and pose for Christmas portraits. It's one gift you cannot rush out and purchase at the last minute, because good professional portraits cannot be hurried. And because they do take time and extra special care, few gift choices for Christmas are as warm hearted and loving and truly welcome.

Men's Lib Is All Right, Too

By Abigail Van Buren
(© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: How can you tell if a man is a homosexual? My husband's partner [they are CPA's] hired a male secretary. What kind of man would hire a male secretary? And what kind of man would BE a secretary? My husband's partner is a married man and he doesn't seem "faggy," but I've heard that sometimes this doesn't mean anything.

Should I make an issue of this?
I'd like an answer, but please don't use my name.

ANONYMOUS

DEAR ANONYMOUS: You can't tell if a man is a homosexual from his appearance, but if you really think it's your business, why don't you ask him? Homosexuals as a group are honest.

All kinds of men hire male secretaries. And no "special" kind of man pursues secretarial work any more than any special kind of woman does.

And don't make an issue of it. A man who is bright enough to be a CPA can take care of himself.

DEAR ABBY: I was invited to attend the wedding of a girl who works where I started working about a month ago. [I'll call her Rosie.] I accepted. Another co-worker who was also invited asked if we could buy Rosie a wedding present together. I said okay. We bought the gift and had it delivered to Rosie's home.

Both the co-worker and I got a "thank you" note for the "shower gift". We weren't invited to any shower, and the card we enclosed with our present plainly said, "FOR YOUR WEDDING." Well, anybody can make a mistake, so I didn't care about that, but listen to this:

The day before the wedding, Rosie calls me up and asks me NOT to come to her wedding because she "over-invited" and there wasn't enough room. She called the other co-worker and told her the same thing.

Do you think Rosie should have offered to return our gift? Or at least try to patch things up by offering to bring us a piece of wedding cake? Thank you.

"LOST OUT" IN N. J.

DEAR "LOST": Either your friend Rosie has corn flakes where her brains belong, or she became addled by her forthcoming nuptials. Forget it.

DEAR ABBY: My mom likes to have company, and when she knows someone is coming over, she spends the day fixing refreshments.

The problem is that some people do things like the following: Mom had her club over last Thursday, and she made some real fancy sandwiches, chocolate-covered brownies and all kinds of cookies. Well, I wish you could have seen those ladies!

One said, "I can't eat very much because I'm on a diet, but I'd sure like to carry something home to my Herman." [Then she wraps up a whole lunch in a paper napkin.]

Then someone else says, "My Milton loves sweets. Mind if I take him a few?"

My mom is too nice to say anything. So the company carries out all the treats. What is your opinion of this?

BUGGED

DEAR BUGGED: If it doesn't bug your momma, it shouldn't bug you.

DEAR ABBY: May I have the last word about the policy one church had of allowing the preacher exactly one hour in which to deliver his sermon, and if he talked longer, he would be automatically "drowned out" by chimes?

In my opinion, the world has enough Saturday and Sunday Christians, and could certainly use more who practice their religion seven days a week, 24 hours a day.
If I want to pray, I don't want to wait until Saturday or Sunday. It might be too late then.

J. J. O., WAUKEEN, ILL.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Changing Role Of Women Is Program Topic

"International Understanding" was the theme selected by the committee on World Affairs for the program given at the Greenville Business and Professional Women's Club Thursday night.

Mrs. Ruth Scott is chairman of the World Affairs Committee. Miss Vince K. Merhandoni, Bombay, India; Miss Dianne Cameron, Guyana; and Allen Chen, Hong Kong; were guests of the club and spoke on the subject "The Woman's Role in the Home, Church, Community and Government."

Since Guyana gained its independence in 1966 three women have been ministers of education and minister of health, according to Miss Cameron.

Miss Merhandoni said "India is a progressing country and some women are now working in the businesses and professions."

Chen, who has lived in Japan, explained, "Women's roles are changing in China and Japan."

Chen feels marriage should be on a 50-50 basis. He discussed the traditions in China, such as the bridegroom's family paying for the wedding expenses.

Mrs. Repsy Baker, president, welcomed Dr. Bessie McNeil, a former member, who is now making her home in Santa Barbara, Calif.

Egyptians Worry About Child Brides

By NABIL MIGALLY
CAIRO (AP) — In rural Egypt a girl may marry at 10 and be considered a spinster if she is not married by 16.

In urban Egypt the sociologists are worried. Such youngsters, they contend, are too immature to cope with many of the problems of marriage.

"The problem is one we have to cope with if our efforts to weed out backwardness in the countryside are to succeed," says Ahmed Hazem, a researcher at the Ministry of Social Affairs.

Gamal Abdel Nasser tried to outlaw child brides in 1962 by requiring that a girl be at least 16 before being permitted to marry.

But some villagers reportedly forged birth certificates of their children, or found a friendly doctor to sign a certificate of their daughter's age.

Theology, as interpreted by Cairo's 1,000-year-old Al Azhar University, is on the side of the villagers.

"Prophet Mohammed himself married a girl who was 11," says Sheikh Mohiddin Abdel Hamid, Senior Mufti religious advisor at Al Azhar.

A large family is considered a sign of a man's wealth, provides free help on the farm and guarantees some form of social security or pension in rural Egypt, as it does around the world in rural areas.

Devout Moslems, found in greater intensity away from the perplexities of city life, feel their fate is in Allah's hands, not theirs.

But medical doctors and sociologists contend a girl of 11 or 12 is not physically as able to bear children as an older female, and runs the dangers of lowering the health of both mother and offspring.

"Miscarriages, high infant mortality rates and broken homes are common manifestations in most child bride cases I have come across," says Dr. Mustapha el Diwani, a noted Egyptian pediatrician.

But in Egypt, where the rural life expectancy is not high, a man and wife are still anxious to see their children married, and meet their grandchildren.

Premise In Celebration Story

Maybe the utter insanity of Pittsburgh's mobs last Sunday night and early Monday morning explains a lot of things that appear to have gone wrong in America.

Remember the story?

The World Series victory celebration turned into an orgy of "destruction, looting and sex-in-the streets".

Cars were demolished and many more seriously damaged. . . one motorist (who survived the incident) said "they climbed on the car like a bunch of animals. They tried to turn the car over — they wouldn't even let the kids out".

Teacher Power Is Mobilizing

By BRYAN HAISLIP
GOLDSBORO — Teacher power is being mobilized for political action in North Carolina's primaries and general election next year. The aim is to raise a $250,000 campaign chest, weld the state's 50,000-plus for a workshop in December, Paschall reported. Candidates for governor and lieutenant governor will be invited to sit down for private interviews. "We'll get real specific at that time," he promised.

Hard-Nosed On Commitments

"We're not buying the old story that they're all for education and then have them change their minds later on," he added. PACE will ask for details and firm commitments.

Already some informal talks have been held with candidates, Dr. Paschall said. "The discussions have been rewarding, for us and for them," he added.

There'll be no public announcement when PACE makes its endorsement, but the word will get around.

We're taking a leaf from the book of the banks, utilities and big business in politics. They don't say who they're supporting but they're in there," Paschall said.

Teachers could swing tremendous vote potential, he surmised. If the 50,000 teachers stick together, and each influence five other voters, it could mean a ballot force of 300,000, he pointed out.

Non-Partisan Approach

PACE is non-partisan, concerned only with supporting those candidates judged the most sincere friends of education, Dr. Paschall said.

"We are not closing the door to any candidate on the basis of affiliation with any political party," he emphasized.

The rumor has circulated that Dr. Paschall might be a candidate himself, running for Democratic nomination for the office of State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

"I've heard it," he said, laughing. "It's just that, a rumor."

His one ambition now, he said, is to solidify PACE as an instrument for teachers to have in-put in political decision. Personal ambitions will wait on that, he said.

Political frustration in the past, more recently when the legislature held the line on pay proposals, led educators to talk about sanctions and boycotts. Dr. Paschall rejected that as a negative route.

"I prefer the positive approach. Teachers are crying to be heard. Through the exercise of their rights as citizens, they can have a voice at the polls," he said.

To those who ask what if PACE backs a loser, he replied: "You can't take nothing from zero." The chance of involvement, he said, is better than the certainty of doing nothing.

Well, that spirit of violence and malevolent deeds seems to lie fallow in many American hearts, awaiting only an excuse to be freed to express itself.

That might explain how and why in the midst of what are supposed to be peaceful demonstrations the unbalanced element readily finds an excuse to "turn on".

We have read that as many as one in four Americans is believed to suffer some form of mental aberration; and it's easy to rationalize that figure with the riotings, mob activities, looting and other disorders that have become almost commonplace.

It follows that the one-in-four element needs but a little goading, a little hysteria, or a little excitement, and some of the peace-loving gentle souls among them turn into something irrational.

This premise poses dire prospects for any community, and worse yet, not even a hope of solution.

No Let-Up In Efforts To Restore Economy

The Nixon administration's post-freeze anti-inflation package carries a lot of teeth to assure compliance, "or else".

Its fate in the Congress is something only the future can tell, but the effort to control inflation is not being taken lightly by the President and his advisors.

It would perhaps be more satisfying if the elements of inflation-fighting could be simply left to the semi-watchdog, semi-voluntary freeze on prices and wages invoked for the original 90-day period. There was and is a minimum of red tape and sense of repression in the freeze order; for everybody felt involved and everybody felt a sense of personal responsibility.

The proposed post-freeze measures carry with them new rules and enforcement procedures which might rob the private citizen of his feeling of involvement. That would not be so good.

What is good, and what is important about the post-freeze thinking, is that there is no let-up in the determination to set the American economy on an even keel.

Today that is more important than anything going on outside our country's borders.

Nixon Painted Self In Corner

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's astonishing attitude toward the Supreme Court, which has now painted him into a political corner, was revealed Oct. 8 when he met at the White House with top advisers to discuss filling the two vacancies.

Blatantly mediocre prospects were suggested and, consequently, the possibility of disapproval by the American Bar Assn. (ABA) was raised. Mr. Nixon bristled and, startling his unbelieving aides, made clear in uncharacteristically colorful language just what the ABA could go do about it. In short, the President was not going to let questions of legal quality intervene with his political designs for the Supreme Court.

That led to two incontestably mediocre selections, a wave of public and professional repugnance and, finally, a White House decision to rethink the whole business. At the weekend, Mr. Nixon had dug himself into another hole on court appointments.

At the heart of Mr. Nixon's court troubles is his determination to appoint law-and-order conservatives pleasing to the old segregationist South without regard to ability. That determination is shared, with monomaniacal inflexibility, by Mitchell and Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst.

Kleindienst, in particular, is convinced of boundless political capital flowing from anti-liberal court selections. In charge of recommending judicial appointments, Kleindienst sought out hard-liners without worrying about quality.

Two weeks ago, during a session of top Administration officials, a fascinating possibility for the court was put forward: Elliott Richardson, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare. A former attorney general of Massachusetts, the greatly respected Richardson would be an adornment on the court. Under no conditions, said Kleindienst. The reason: Richardson is too liberal on civil rights and, therefore, would displease the South.

Later, moderate Administration officials proposed Edward Levi, president of the University of Chicago. A renowned legal scholar, Levi is a strict constructionist and scarcely a wild-eyed radical. Besides, he would end the absence of any Jews on the court, an absence begun under Mr. Nixon in 1969 for the first time in 53 years. But Levi too was vetoed. The reason: he did not fit the law-and-order, anti-civil rights formula.

The wholly political nature of the selection process can be seen in the attitude toward a woman justice. Originally, Mr. Nixon had no intention of appointing a woman but, gradually, realized that would be bad politics, indeed.

That set off a mad search for a law-and-order woman judge. Perhaps the best qualified prospect, Judge Shirley Hufstader of the U.S.

Strength For Today

THE LAST WORD

Regardless of what one may feel about the Christian religion it is an amazing and overwhelming fact that a humble carpenter in a little corner of the world has changed the course of history. Time has been dated from the birth of Jesus. Even non-Christians everywhere admit that this Jesus was certainly the outstanding personality of the ages, the most influential human being that has ever lived. His ministry lasted for a few brief years. He was first accepted, acclaimed, then criticized, persecuted and at last brought to a cruel death.

The resurrection makes all the difference between a philosophy and a religion. If Jesus had not risen from the dead he would be classed with the greatest teachers of all ages. The resurrection put him in an exalted position that has never been reached by anyone else. The act of the resurrection is the climax of the gospel story, but it is not the last word. Even the ascension of Jesus is not the last word. There are two further circumstances — one taking place right now and another which we believe will come later. What is taking place right now is that this risen Jesus is still in the world. His promise was that He would be with his followers even unto the end of the world (Matthew 28:20). Furthermore, His spirit is in the human heart. Christians look to Jesus for guidance. It is a firm Christian belief that Christ has overcome sin.

The last word will be spoken when Christ returns to make the kingdom of the world His own.

TV Crime Rate Rising

WASHINGTON — The first crime figures for the fall television season are now in, and it has been confirmed that there were increases in all categories of crime in prime time from rape to involuntary homicide.

For example, there were twice as many murders committed on the networks in September of this year than in all of 1971.

Aggravated assaults were up 176 percent, and robbery rose 320 percent, if you include the reruns of old Cagney movies.

The report indicated that while guns were still the chief weapons in television crime, writers were introducing more sophisticated methods of doing away with victims. These included holding their heads under sewer water, throwing gasoline on them and setting them afire, pushing them into bubbling vats of molasses and running them down in 1938 Buicks in dark alleys.

A spokesman for the criminal division of television broadcasting said, "It's true that there has been an up-surge of crime on TV as compared to last year, but I would like to point out that despite the increase, every crime committed on one of our shows has been solved in 90 minutes or less."

The spokesman was asked why most of the crimes this year were solved by private investigators and not by the police.

He said, "The reason for this is that the private eye, as we like to call him, has more flexibility than a city detective. A private eye doesn't have to worry about such things as applying for a search warrant, using brutality on a suspect, lying to the police or making out with the wife of the victim."

"The recent Supreme Court rulings have made it impossible for us to use the city police in our shows other than in supporting roles or for comic relief."

"Why do the police in all TV crime shows arrive on the scene of the crime five minutes after the private detectives?"

"We have found from experience that if the police arrive late, it gives the private eye an opportunity to find the needed evidence that will lead him to the killer. If the police arrived at the same time as the private eye, they would find the evidence first, and then you would have no show."

A reporter asked the spokesman if he were concerned that there is more violence on television than ever before.

"We're always concerned with violence, and we try not to overdo it. But at the same time there are just so many

Dionne Changes Name

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — "People like to spread wings," said singer Dionne Warwick, whose last name last year lacked its present last letter.

"I don't believe in putting people in pigeonholes and expecting them to stay there. It stunts their growth."

That's why the vibrant and versatile young Negro vocalist doesn't like to be classified as a single type of singer. She doesn't want to be confined to any type of music—such as blues and rhythm, folk, rock folk, pop, middle of the road, straight blues, jazz or acid rock.

"I don't categorize myself, and I don't like to be categorized by anyone else," said Miss Warwick. "I simply sing to the listening ear."

A strong individualist in anything she undertakes, Dionne added a final "E" to her name this year because of her interest in numerology, the occult science of the significance of numbers.

"The name Warwick carried good vibrations," she said, "but putting an 'E' at the end should produce even better vibrations, numerologically speaking, and speed sooner to me the things promised."

There may be no connection with the changed spelling of her name, but the latest album by Dionne, issued three weeks

"Charter Night" was celebrated by members of the Rotary Club last night. President Howard McGinnis presided and the program was in charge of B. S. Warren. The occasion was marked by talks by four of the six charter members who at the present time hold membership in the club.

The student body of East Carolina Teachers College, accompanied by members of the faculty, visited the Greenville tobacco market this morning to get first hand information concerning Carolina's greatest industry. The students followed the sales for sometime and expressed amazement at the rapidity with which the golden leaf was sold.

Meanwhile, with the largest amount of tobacco here in history of the market, Greenville tobacco men set two separate records yesterday. One was the all time record for volume and the other was the setting of the highest price average of the season. The market yesterday sold 1,581,904 pounds of tobacco with an average of $13.02 per hundred pounds.

Shoe On Other Foot Is Hurting

By ELMER ROESSNER
Western European nations and Japan are screaming about the 10 per cent surcharge on imported goods, and Taiwan, South Korea, Hong Kong and other nations are putting in a few yelps.

The United States is being accused of protectionism, selfishness and unfriendliness in limiting imports.

This is a lot of nonsense. The free countries of the world have been doing it to us for years.

As the current Dun's magazine points out, foreign nations have long been restricting the imports of American goods with "an ingenious maze of protectionist devices with hardly a word of criticism being heard."

It points out that instead of "openly drawn duty barriers," Europeans rely on subtle non-tariff barriers to keep out American goods. They have also acted against sales of European subsidiaries of American companies abroad. Three Villains

The Dun & Bradstreet monthly names France, Italy and England as the most adept in barring American products. Besides technical standards used to keep out U.S. goods, it says, "There are hundreds of other wholly or partially protectionist barriers in such areas of government, customs procedure and border red tape, labeling, weights and measures, quotas and embargoes, plus extra levies on imports (like our surcharges), discriminatory subsidization of local industries and indirect tax rebates. For example, the French pharmaceutical industry is protected by health regulations that embargo drugs packaged for the retail trade. Bulk shipments must be tested before entry and there is always a shortage of testers. France bans whiskey advertising but not brandy."

Many European governments refuse to accept all but local bids for services and products required. And foreign standards for dimensions, nomenclature, evaluation, tolerance, etc., are used to keep American goods out.

France at one time had a law against auto fins, which kept American cars off the highways.

Broilers Barred

American ingenuity devised methods of converting grain and vitamins into broilers in six weeks and rushed tons of chickens at low prices to European markets

Nation after nation found ways to limit imports of American poultry while native farmers found out how to produce poultry as cheap.

Road taxes are imposed on American cars in many European nations. Italy classified tractors as "agricultural machines" instead of "construction vehicles," thereby almost doubling the duty.

And until recently, Japan has restricted American investment into many Japanese enterprises.

And around the world, local politicians have been inventing sly ways of keeping out American goods that might compete with local enterprises. Yet when the U.S. tries to limit imports, with a modest 10 per cent surcharge which does not begin to equalize the difference in labor costs, foreign nations scram as if they have just sat on a hot poker.

If they have, it may reduce unemployment in America.

The Lady Works Big Lift Truck

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — Where regulations call for a two-man crew on crane operations, the B&B Construction Co. gets away with one.

But it's all legal, because the pilot of the lift truck which holds steel joists for Bernard Ellinger's crane is Bertha Ellinger, his wife and the other "B" in the company title.

The two have been operating as a steel construction team for three years, mainly as a result of Bertha's desire to save money—and her family's laughter when she first suggested donning a hard hat.

Now that she's there, she'll be hard to get rid of. "I own the equipment," she said as she pulled a stool up to a drafting table at the Westwood Shopping Center construction site.

Her three sons and son-in-law also are involved in the business, based in Kalamazoo.

Bertha had to overcome more than her family's skepticism, however.

Although she had "tended welders and lifted buckets," the union which had to license her was unwilling to accept her until she worked a year under union supervision on a sub-contracting job.

"I wouldn't go away," Bertha said. "They told me I was a female. I told him it was my equipment and that I was going to operate it."

She said at least one other woman in the state has qualified for the work since a union representative gave her an operator's license.

Although she weighs only 118 pounds and her feet barely reach the truck pedals, Bertha

Her latest hit is no surprise to the industry. Since she hit the big time with "Don't Make Me Over" and "Anyone Who Had a Heart," Dionne has been regarded as the most consistently successful feminine recording star since Patti

"Can we expect a new TV crime wave in 1972?" a reporter asked.

"It's too early to say. Perhaps when the ratings are in, we'll know how much crime the public will stand. I personally predict there will probably be fewer family murders, and we may have more crazed killers in '72."

"Why more crazed killers?"

"The TV writers are running out of plots. When you have a crazed killer, you don't need any motivation for his crime. He does it because he's crazy. You can't imagine how that simplifies a story line."

"What happens if the crime shows don't get high ratings?"

The spokesman looked steely eyed at the questioner and rasped, "Then we'll kill them."

Evans, Novak .

(Continued From Page 4) Court of Appeals in Los Angeles, was immediately ruled out as a liberal Democrat. Finally, Kleindienst hit pay dirt. He gleefully told associates he had found in California state Appeals Judge Mildred L. Lillie a very tough lady with no use for the Warren Court's libertarianism.

The line was finally drawn at conservative Democratic Sen. Robert Byrd of West Virginia, who has never practiced law and is not a member of the bar. He was just too unqualified for Mitchell. The upshot last week was the selection of Mrs. Lillie and Herschel H. Friday of Little Rock, Ark., best known as attorney for anti-integration suits.

Four other names were sent to the ABA for approval, in case trouble developed over Friday or Mrs. Lillie. Until the last minute, the list also included U.S. District Judges Arlin Adams of Philadelphia (who is Jewish) and the highly regarded Frank Johnson of Montgomery, Ala. Finally, however, they were eliminated for being too liberal. Their inclusion might generate a late campaign for them. Thus, the six names sent the ABA were uniform in both mediocrity and acceptability to the segregationist South.

Mr. Nixon was ill-prepared for what happened when those names were published last Thursday. The press and the bag condemned the choices. Even high White House staffers were heart-sick. Moderate Republicans wondered out loud whether Mr. Nixon's interest in excellence, meager in many other governmental appointments, had hit bottom. Prominent Jewish Republicans were furious that no Jew was on the list. The furor forced Mr. Nixon to rethink his position. Although Judges Friday and Lillie definitely had been picked, the White House issued a smokescreen statement that 15 names were still under consideration. So, at this writing, the President must either stick to his undistinguished selections or ignominiously retreat. Once again, playing politics with the Supreme Court has proved the worst politics of all.

Lion Country Safari Sees Unexpected

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
LAGUNA HILLS, Calif. (AP) — A pair of rhinos whet their horns together, then saunter in front of your car. An ostrich pokes its beak against your windshield. A hippo gives your fender a nudge and heads for the water.

These are the unprogrammed, happenings that can be experienced at Lion Country Safari, a new and prosperous addition to the industry aimed at the leisure dollar.

Walt Disney started it 15 miles away at Disneyland. There the beasts are made of plastic but Harry Shuster is attracting tourists to his transplanted veldt with real, live animals that actually roar, belch, bite and occasionally scrape the paint on automobiles that pass through their lairs.

Lion Country Safari is the latest of the attractions that have made Orange County the most cleverly manufactured tourist mecca in the United States. The safari is the brainchild of Shuster, 36, Latvian-born, reared in South Africa, a lawyer with a perception for what will attract the public.

His inspiration: "I knew the wild life game preserves in Africa, and I realized how many tourists were coming to them, just to look at the animals. I then realized how few Americans could afford the trip. So I devised a plan by which I could transfer an African preserve, which normally occupies from 100 to 300 square miles, into one square mile in America."

His first such venture was in West Palm Beach, Fla., in 1967. He expected the $2-million enterprise to require three years to make a profit; he says it made the black within a year. Shuster was encouraged to attempt a more ambitious project—the $11.5 million Lion Country Safari.

"During our first year, which ended in June," Shuster reports, "our attendance was 1.2 million."

Admission is not cheap: $3.25 for adults.

Shuster admits that his idea was unusual: caging tourists in their automobiles to observe wild animals that are allowed to roam. The device works—to a certain extent. Most fascinating are the ambulatory animals—ostriches, rhinos, hippos, antelope, giraffes, elephants some of whom come close to your car.

Disappointing are the cats—lions and cheetas—which are somnolent by day and offer little excitement.

The lions are confined to their own preserve; the other animals pretty much fraternize at will. "Our only problem with cars," said Shuster, "was with a couple who were going through the lion preserve when their car heater started burning. They were surrounded by lions and it became a real dilemma about what they should do. Fortunately the game rangers observed their predicament and arrived to put out the fire."

Old Houses Had Witches' Seats

ST. PETER PORT, Guernsey (AP) — Those stone blocks sticking out of the walls of some of the old houses in Guernsey are not evidence of faulty workmanship—they're witches' seats.

The old folk on this British Channel Island off the coast of France knew that witches got tired on their flights around the island and needed somewhere to rest.

Householders who did not provide these handy seats were likely to incur the witches' anger. If they found nowhere to perch when they were weary, the witches would go into the houses and create havoc.

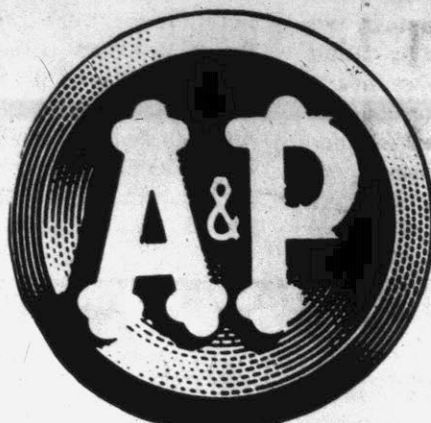

Elective Body Governs Navajos

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. (AP) — The Navajo tribe, largest in the United States, is governed by an elective body consisting of a chairman, vice chairman and 74 council members.

They are elected to four-year terms in reservation-wide elections in which paper ballots are used.

The last election was in mid-November, 1970, when Peter MacDonald was elected tribal chairman and Wilson Skeet, vice chairman.

Navajos have been voting in county, state, and federal elections since 1924.

PROPOSED POOL . . . of the Woodmen of the World Camp at Fort Barnwell to be opened soon.

Youth Camp Being Set Up By Lodges Of WOW

More than 100 Woodmen of the World lodges in this area have underwritten the establishment of a youth camp and have purchased the complete facilities of a surplus school property at Old Fort Barnwell School.

According to Harvey Bedsole, Woodmen state manager for eastern North Carolina, the WOW Eastern Tar Heel Youth Camp has been incorporated and work has begun on renovating the site. The site is being fenced in and preparation of the 12 acres of land surrounding the school building has begun. Excavation and construction for a junior olympic-sized Z-shaped swimming is imminent. The school gymnasium will be used extensively for athletic events, planned to be a vital part of the physical education aspect of the summer camp program.

C. S. Forbes Jr. of Greenville and Harry J. Byers of Farmville are two members of the camp's board of directors. All lodges throughout Eastern North Carolina are participating financially in the project, Bedsole said. A campaign to organize at least 40 boys and girls' units among the eight-to-16 year-old children of Woodmen has been launched. Known as Woodmen Rangers and Rangerettes, these youngsters will comprise most of the camp population. Qualifying to attend will depend on the member's performance during the rest of the year, Bedsole said.

If some member is not contacted and would like to have a son or daughter enrolled in a local lodge unit, he should contact his Woodmen secretary or local field representative, Bedsole said. Greenville area persons may contact C. S. Forbes Jr. at 752-7751 or 752-6629.

Plans Refunding An Old Favor

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Gov. Marvin Mandel says his son, Gary, a Baltimore attorney, plans to refund a state scholarship granted him when he attended a private military school in 1959.

The scholarship was awarded while the elder Mandel was serving as speaker of the Maryland House of Delegates. The governor said it was based on financial need.

Anniversary Events Set

Eleven days of services to celebrate Bishop Wyoming Wells' 16th anniversary as pastor of Wells Chapel Church here will begin Thursday at Wells Chapel.

Services at 8 p.m. each evening, except Sunday, are as follows: Thursday — Bishop J. F. McLaurin of Philippi Christian Church; Friday — Elder D. Jones of Holy Temple Church of God in Christ in Rocky Mount; Sunday at 3 p.m. — Rev. W. L. Jones of Mount Calvary Free Will Baptist Church; Monday — Elder C. D. McNeil of the Goldsboro District Revival Center; Tuesday — Rev. L. Dudley of Holy Trinity Church; Wednesday — Rev. J. A. Collins of Morning Star Holiness Church; Thursday, Oct. 28 — Elder W. Washington of Rocky Mount Church of God in Christ; Friday, Oct. 29 — Elder L. Sutton of Winton Church of God in Christ; Saturday, Oct. 30 — Elder E. C. Cooper of Roper Church of God in Christ; Sunday, Oct. 31 at 3 p.m. Elder H. G. Swain of Edenton Church of God in Christ; and Sunday night — Elder L. B. Davenport of Davenport Temple.

Herd Of Steers Munch On Plane

FORESTBURG, Tex. (AP) — Postmaster Rex Anderson lost part of the tail of his airplane to hungry steers after parking his four-seater in a pasture.

Much of the fuselage was made of linen treated with banana oil. Anderson believes the banana oil attracted six steers who were munching on the fuselage. Repairs cost $150.

DR. OWEN GINGERICH

Astrophysicist To Lecture Here

A world-famous astrophysicist will lecture at East Carolina University on Oct. 25 on the 400th anniversary of the birth of Johannes Kepler.

Dr. Owen Gingerich, astrophysicist at the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory, Cambridge, Mass., and professor both in Astronomy and History of Science, Harvard University, will lecture on Kepler as "Physicist or Metaphysicist?"

The lecture is expected to give a fresh perspective on the roles of aesthetics, observations and cosmology in Kepler's astronomical achievements. Gingerich is a recognized expert in Kepler studies.

The lecture will be sponsored by the East Carolina Sigma Xi Club. Sigma Xi is an organization dedicated to achievement in the sciences. The general public is invited free of charge.

Four Collisions Are Reported Yesterday

As estimated $1,825 property damage resulted from four collisions Greenville police officers investigated yesterday.

Cars driven by Brenda Locks Wooten, 22, of 606 McKinley Ave. and Stephen Wiley Ragsdale, 19, of Rome, Ga., collided about 5:40 p.m. at the intersection of Fifth Street and Memorial Drive.

Damage was set at $350 to the Wooten car and $250 to the Ragsdale auto.

Mrs. Wooten was charged with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety.

Danny Leon Gardner, 19, of Ayden was charged with failing to reduce his speed enough to avoid an accident following investigation of a 5 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Tenth and Cotanche Streets.

Officers said the Gardner car collided with a vehicle driven by Odell Sermons Evans, 803 Hooker Rd. causing damage estimated at $400 to the Evans car and $200 to the Gardner vehicle.

Vehicles driven by Wayland Brien Briley, 22, of Route 1, Ayden and Carol Parks Levinson, 20, of Logan, W. Va., were reported involved in a 5:35 p.m. collision at the intersection of Fifth and Holly Streets.

Damage to the Briley car was set at $175 while damage to the Levinson auto was placed at $150.

Briley was charged with failing to reduce his speed enough to avoid an accident.

No charges were reported in a 3:45 p.m. collision at the intersection of 14th and Elm Streets.

Police identified the drivers involved as Louise Hortense Moye, 16, of 1017 West Wright Rd. and James Daniel Nicholson, 50, of Bethel.

Damage was set at $250 to the Moye auto and $50 to the Nicholson car.

No injuries were reported in the series of collisions.

LeConte Named To Committee

Dr. Joseph N. LeConte, professor of chemistry at East Carolina University, has been appointed to serve on the Scholarship Committee of the N. C. section of the American Institute of Chemists.

He will attend the first executive committee meeting of the section at Bowman-Gray Medical School in Winston-Salem, Oct. 30.

School Ass'n Is Holding Event

The Home and School Association of the Brookhaven Seventh Day Adventist School is sponsoring a homemade ice cream social and bake sale for the benefit of the school's project.

The ice cream and bake sale will be held on Sunday, from 4:00 p.m. until 5:30 p.m. at the school, located at 2621 East Tenth Street.

Board Suspends ABC Permit

SNOW HILL — An ABC permit issued to Thomas E. Mozingo for the Fat Frogg on Second Street here has been suspended by the North Carolina ABC Board for 30 days effective November 1.

The board's action came at its regular meeting in Raleigh Monday.

The suspension was ordered on the basis of "permittee and other persons engaged in gambling on the retail licensed premises on or about July 17, 1971 at 8 p.m. ... and failing to give the retail licensed premises proper supervision..."

Israel's diamond sales totaled $23 million in June, up 50 per cent over June, 1970.

Trailer Case Now Settled

BRYSON CITY, N.C. (AP) — The case of the buried house trailer has been settled. A 90-year-old mountain man, Cannon McCall, agreed Tuesday to dismissal of a charge of willful and malicious damage against Dan Hile, a ranger for the U.S. Forest Service.

Hile had been accused of directing a crew which bulldozed a hole and buried a trailer in which McCall's 41-year-old son, Vernon McCall, had been living.

The trailer was on an acre which the Forest Service claimed was part of the Pisgah National Forest. The service said the McCalls had ignored numerous notices to vacate.

Cannon McCall said he had a deed to the property, once the site of a schoolhouse.

When he agreed to dismissal of the suit against the ranger in U.S. District Court, he deeded to the Forest Service any rights he might have to the land. He received a check of $3,600 from the service.

And the civil suit brought against him over ownership of the acre, which is in the Balsam Grove community of Transylvania County, was dismissed.

Vernon McCall was killed in an automobile accident in the county last June.

Snowden On Assignment

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — Lord Snowden, brother-in-law of Queen Elizabeth, is traveling through the Pennsylvania Dutch country on a photographic assignment for a national magazine.

Snowden, husband of Princess Margaret, refused to acknowledge his identity Tuesday to photographers or to a woman shopper in a market who recognized him from photographs.

"It's unfortunate this got out," said Donovan Smith, a local businessman and director of the Pennsylvania Dutch Tourist Bureau which helped arrange the visit.

"He's a real nice guy and he wanted to work under cover."

Smith said he and other members of the tourist bureau spent about eight hours with Snowden Monday acquainting him with the area "and some of the back roads."

"Once he knew where everything was, he wanted to be on his own," Smith said.

Helen Markel, art director of McCall's, confirmed that Snowden was in the area on an assignment for the magazine. She declined to say what the nature of the assignment was or how long he would be in the area.

Textile Accords Sees Gaps In

NEW YORK (AP) — The president of Duplan Corp., a yarn manufacturer, says the new Far East textile quota agreements are a "temporary stop-gap which will still allow a flood of low-cost imports."

The president, T. Nash Broadus, said Tuesday the agreements would continue to be a "major disruption" to the United States textile industry. He told a meeting of the Textile Salesman's Association that the 5 to 7 1/2 per cent annual import growth rate permitted under the agreements is at least 60 per cent more than the 2 1/2 to 3 per cent growth rate of the domestic textile market.

Duplan has plants in Winston-Salem, N.C., and Cleveland, Tenn.

Students Win A $6 Refund

BOONE, N.C. (AP) — Students at Appalachian State University have won a $6 refund on the $12 campus auto registration fee on the contention the increase was levied in violation of the federal price freeze.

The Office of Emergency Preparedness agreed with the Student Government Association. The university will make refunds totaling $16,000 to almost 2,700 students who operate vehicles on the campus.

The fee is used to improve campus parking lots, sidewalks and similar facilities.

creaking old Ryman Auditorium to give and receive country music's most coveted awards.

There was excitement, glitter and glamor enough to please the most avid fan. But perhaps even more important, there was a feeling of dusty majesty about the old Opry House, which will stand only one more year before it is replaced by a glamorous $10 million building at Opryland.

There were a number of surprises for those watching the live telecast to a national audience, the vehicle for the fifth Country Music Awards show.

Jerry Reed had been nominated seven times for six awards—and won one. Charlie Pride was the only double winner.

There was as much excitement before and after the show as there was on stage.

—Minnie Pearl and her pink hot pants outfit. "When a woman gets to be my age, she'll do anything for a little attention," Minnie was heard to say after the show.

—Glen Campbell walked in the rear stage door amid flashing bulbs and autograph seekers with not a hair out of place. Just as a newswoman asked him about his "Photoplay Award Show," Debbie Reynolds walked out and mused his hair completely.

—Before the show Jerry Reed was asked how he felt about receiving so many nominations.

"Oh, I'm just tickled to death," he said. "It feels great for somebody like me to be nominated." After the show, commenting on his one award: "Well, when you're not, you're not." His top hit song of the year was "When You're Hot, You're Hot."

—Bonnie Owens (Merle Haggard's wife) said Haggard had been plagued with a sinus condition which troubled him all summer, and would soon undergo surgery to correct it. She said Haggard had been practicing on the fiddle and had introduced it into their act with their duet of "Faded Love" and a number of Bob Wills tunes.

—The son of June Carter and Johnny Cash is probably the most-traveled child in the world. Thus far, the youngster has logged 350,000 air miles traveling with his parents since the age of 3 weeks to such places as Hawaii, New Zealand, Australia, England, Scotland and Scandinavian countries.

—The most decked-out couple award goes to Porter Waggoner and Dolly Parton for their matching blue velvet outfits. Did you know that Dolly gives 80 per cent of her salary to church work and charitable organizations?

Vote No Lease To Stage 'Hair'

CHARLOTTE (AP) — The governing body has voted 3-2 not to lease Charlotte's Ovens Auditorium for a performance of the rock musical "Hair," which has a nude scene.

One member of the Auditorium-Coliseum-Civic Center Authority, Everett Suddreth, who voted with the majority Tuesday, said, "I can't consider nudity and obscenity good theatre."

—The near-fatal accident of Loretta Lynn was still fresh on her husband's mind. The couple was skimming along the Buffalo River when the boat overturned, almost drowning Loretta. Her husband found her under the boat, unconscious and revived her with artificial respiration.

—And it was confirmed that Loretta Lynn and Conway Twitty will have their own syndicated television show the first of next year. Loretta will not appear on the Wilburn Brothers show.

—Jeannie C. Riley certainly has changed her image since divorcing her husband and dropping her manager. She has gone from "little girl" to sexy. And her new song, "Good Enough to Be Your Wife" is quite a change from "Harper Valley PTA."

Overflow Audience Hears Visiting Educator

By JERRY RAYNOR

Reflector Staff Writer

Dr. Kermit King, in collegiate as an outstanding athlete and a noted American Negro educator, was guest speaker at the Carolina University Tuesday afternoon. Dr. King's appearance is part of the week series of events of the Black Festival at the university. A member of the State Department, Dr. King has had experience in educational work in Africa, both as Chief Education Officer with the packed audience that overflowed the auditorium and spilled into hallways outside, "are useful in serving specific needs and are of great importance in wholesome developments in human resources areas." He said that major foundations in the U.S. are more and more moving into this area, and labeled the combined efforts of universities, government and foundations as significant elements "for the dispersal of American isolationism."

Dr. King observed "this approach is the cornerstone of work for an international world, where focus on culture, behavior, and motivations of other nations can be achieved without losing allegiance to our own codes and ideals."

He lauded the increasing number of programs where students and others are "taking part in activities that put us face to face with other peoples of the world."

Dr. King said the term "Black Africa" commonly referred to Africa south of the Sahara. The continent has 44 countries and 336,000,000 million inhabitants.

Briefly tracing the history of pre-Colonial tribal life in Africa, Dr. King attributed many of the virtues of stability and solidarity to their tribal systems. "The harmony of folk-lore and tribal lore created a reverence for life and for things," the educator said. "This system of education gave them their own constitutional know-how, and distinct principles of life."

With the coming of Western civilization to Africa, Dr. King said African tribes to a great extent "lost their primitive vitality and solidarity of tribe. Where ceremony broke down, disillusionment set in. Western educators depreciated the indigenous system of education."

The basic problem seen by Dr. King in our time centers around basic conflicts between Western and African values within each of the two systems.

He spoke of a problem deeper than black versus white, pointing out it was often a case of "Belgian Blacks, French Black, British Blacks, Muslim Blacks" and other separate groups in emerging nations being in "opposing camps."

Education in Africa today, according to Dr. King, faces advocates of many camps of thought in approaches to education and development. He cited as instances "die hard conservatives" who decry any type of Western education, claiming it "led to demoralization;" advocates in the "liberal camps, who are seeking new adjustments to conditions in the 20th century." This group, Dr. King added, is exhibiting "caution."

A final instance the educator mentioned was one of "negrotude," as exemplified by Leopold Sedar Senghor, poet-president of Senegal, whom Dr. King said was a proponent for "education animated with the mystical values of the African past," a past "indelibly stamped on the character on all black men."

The American Negro

educator, who has had first hand experience working to revitalize education in Africa, both in his role as president of an African University and in assignments with the State Department's AID program, told his audience that such divergent approaches were not indicative of failure in achieving ultimate solutions. "Conflict is helpful," he said, "it points up alternatives." He believes that in the past 10 to 20 years, the time span in which most new African nations have come on the world scene as independent nations, there can be detected an Africa that "is increasingly speaking with one voice."

Dr. King also expressed viewpoints of a practical realist, observing that very real obstacles must be overcome, ones which obviously have no immediate solution.

He said some African nations expect immediate spectacular industrial growth, which was an impossibility.

Circumstances that would prevent a rapid transition period from the present social and economic conditions into the fore-front of industrialized nations all reflect back on the status of education in Africa. "Illiteracy is 89 percent in Africa," he revealed, "The people are poorly qualified to take part in technology. Africa is still basically a rural area, with a need to improve village life outside the cities, and to eliminate the waste of manpower."

The visiting lecturer concluded his talk on a note of hope for the future of meaningful education in Africa. "Many innovations are sweeping African education," he commented, "and some of these may provide for Africa answers to their problems and also to problems that are perplexing the world."

Synod Hears U.S. Policies Attacked

VATICAN CITY (AP) — A Vatican commission attacked the U.S. government today for its recent unilateral changes in the financial system and voiced support for those who refuse to fight for the United States in Vietnam.

The Pontifical Commission on Justice and Peace, in a document submitted to the World Synod of Roman Catholic Bishops, urged the synod to deplore recent "monetary decisions taken by some rich countries which involve the well being and the development of 2 billion persons" in poor countries.

The 64-point message also called on the synod to support those who "refuse to participate in certain wars or certain acts of war, such as the bombardment of civil populations." It called for "understanding of those who, in the name of their faith or their conscience, refuse to bear arms."

Although neither clause mentioned the United States by name, its intent was clear.

The message also condemned colonialism and neocolonialism, racial discrimination, particularly in South Africa, and increasing armaments and nationalism.

The outline of recommended policy positions was submitted to the assembly of 209 bishops as they took up the second major topic in their month-long meeting, social justice. During the first two weeks of the synod the bishops discussed problems of the priesthood, recording massive opposition to the ordination of married men but strong support for acceptance of priests who marry as "laymen in good standing."

Man Is Charged In Heroin Death

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) — A man has been charged with murder in the death earlier this month of a 17-year-old girl from an overdose of heroin, Dist. Atty. Elbert Watrous said Tuesday.

Watrous said the indictment handed down by a county grand jury against Clifford Johnson, 34, was first in the state in connection with a heroin overdose.

Johnson had been charged Thursday with second-degree sale of a dangerous drug—a felony—to the girl, Debra LaLongo. Her body was found Oct. 8 in a parking lot behind a laundry, police said.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA) — North Carolina egg markets steady to one cent higher Tuesday.

Supplies adequate. Demand fair to good. Price paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:

Grade A Large whites: 39½ to 40.
Medium whites: 36 to 37.
Small whites: 26 to 27.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA) — North Carolina hog markets today are mostly a quarter lower. Tops of 19.75 to 20.25 at Rocky Mount; 18.75 to 19.25 at Bethel; 18.25 to 19.25 at Tarboro; 18.50 to 19.50 at Kinston; New Bern, Benson, Newton Grove, Albemarle and Lumberton 18.50 to 19.50; Salisbury, Greensboro, and Mt. Olive 19.50.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA) — Market conditions generally unchanged. Too few sources reporting to release prices.

NEW YORK (AP) — A cut in the prime lending rate by several of the nation's major banks helped the stock market to recoup some of its earlier losses today. Trading was active.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks, which had been off 4 points before the bank's announcement, was off only 0.51 at 867.92 by noon.

Among issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange, declines commanded a 3-to-2 lead over advances. But the lead of the decliners was reported to be narrowing quickly.

The banks, led by New York's Morgan Guaranty Trust Co., cut to 5½ per cent from 6 per cent the interest they charge their most creditworthy borrowers. Easier credit is considered a market stimulant because it promotes business and consumer spending, they noted.

The market had declined in the five previous sessions for what analysts described as technical reasons. They said the market was retracing the ground it had won in the Nixon rally last Aug. 16, when the Dow industrial average leaped 32 points to 888.

Gainers included airlines, building materials, and aircrafts. Farm implements were lower.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange's most-active list included Presley Development, off 1 at 61½; Tesoro Petroleum warrants, up 1½ at 25½; STP Corp., up ¾ at 19½; and Trans World Airlines Warrants, up ¾ at 21½.

Abernathy Fogged Out

Foggy conditions at the Kinston airport Tuesday night resulted in a cancellation of the scheduled lecture of Dr. Ralph Abernathy at Wright Auditorium on campus at East Carolina University.

Rudolph Alexander, Assistant Dean of Student Affairs, said that Abernathy's flight, due in Kinston at 6:35 p.m., was not able to land in Kinston because of the fog and that the flight continued on to Washington, D.C.

Alexander will contact Dr. Abernathy, and if the speaker's schedule permits, the lecture will be rescheduled at a later date.

Shortly after 9:00 a.m. this morning, Golden Frinks informed the press that Dr. Abernathy had arrived in Pitt County and would hold a press conference at 11:30 a.m. in the Zion F.W.B. Church in Ayden.

Dr. Leo Jenkins, ECU president, also affected by the fog. He was unable to take a scheduled flight Tuesday night out of Kinston in connection with a scheduled speech in Ohio today. He was, however, able to get an early flight out of Raleigh-Durham this morning in time to make his speaking engagement.

'Bookfair' Now Being Conducted

The Farmville Central High School Library Club is sponsoring its eighth annual "Bookfair" this week. Offering nearly 200 paperback books from biographies to fiction and classics to sports stories, the bookfair has as its theme, "Don't Let Books Spook You — Read!"

Seniors Nan-Et Lewis and Ed Newton, backed by a committee, have worked with Mrs. Beverly Batchelor, Librarian, to organize and produce the Bookfair which also includes maps and copies of the United States Constitution.

The books are published by the Educational Reading Service which gives the Library Club 20 per cent of the price of each book sold. In the past, the money has been used to buy a gavel and a world globe for the library.

The Bookfair is open for students from 7:45 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. and will be open to the general public from school closing each day until 4:00 p.m.

Guests At Dinner Meet

Foreign students and faculty members of East Carolina University were special guests of the Greenville Woman's Club and the Association of American University Women at the Woman's Club Monday night.

At this annual United Nations dinner, which has become a traditional annual one, Dean John Howell of ECU spoke on the problem of Chinese representation in the United Nations, and noted the question of whether to seat mainland China must soon be answered.

Foreign student and faculty members present for the dinner included Eun Hu Shim from Korea; Lilly Brignole, Argentina; Dianne Cameron, British Guiana; Mrs. Itzel Hamill, Panama; and Lewis Acevez, Mexico.

Mayor and Mrs. S. Eugene West and other guests were welcomed by Mrs. Wellington Gray, president of AAUW and Mrs. R.P. Rogers for the Woman's Club.

Greene Central Grabs Conference Lead

Southern Nash figures out a way to stop Southern Wayne Friday night, and now Greene Central is riding in the drivers' seat in the Eastern Carolina Conference.

The Rams sport a 5-1 record, as compared with 4-1-1 marks held by Southern Wayne and Farmville Central, tied for second place. But by no means do the Rams have the title sewed up.

They have a date with Farmville this weekend, then must play North Lenoir and Eastern Wayne. Southern Wayne has North Lenoir this week, then takes on Eastern Wayne and North Pitt. Farmville has to meet Conley and C. B. Aycock along with Greene Central.

And this leaves everything still far up in the air.

Ayden-Grifton was about knocked out of the title picture with a 7-6 loss to Greene Central, while Southern Wayne fell, 24-22 to Southern Nash. Farmville rolled to a 35-0 victory over North Lenoir, while Conley lost in the final seconds to Eastern Wayne, 22-18. C. B. Aycock rolled over North Pitt, 34-0.

Farmville Central coach Gene Brewer was pleased with his team's offensive effort. "I thought we did a pretty good job offensively," he said. "The defense didn't do as well as I had expected. The first half they kept us confused using a lot of new stuff. But we were able to make adjustments at the half and come through."

Brewer declined to single out any individuals, but instead praised the entire team for a job well done.

Injuries are still a problem for the Jaguars, however. Three of their regulars are hurt and are likely to miss this week's key game with Greene Central. The lone possibility of a return is with Chuck Finklea, but Brewer is pessimistic about his being back.

"Greene Central has a real good football team," Brewer said of this week's opponent. "They have a well-balanced offense that's hard to defense. They play good defense, and are hard to move against."

In their six games to date, three touchdowns have been the most the Rams have scored except against North Pitt, when they went on a 54-point rampage. But their defense is tough too. They have allowed just seven touchdowns in those six games, and have held three of their opponents scoreless.

"It's just another key game for us," Brewer said. "The winner will have a good shot to go for the title."

Nelson Gravatt of Ayden-Grifton was greatly disappointed in his team's loss to Greene Central. "We just don't have a backfield that performs up to the same par with our line," he said. "We have a number of average ballplayers, and no superstars, but there is a lack of team unity. Some of the players are out for personal glory and not for the team."

Gravatt also felt that problems in the school haven't helped things. "We just don't have any school spirit and the football team is getting little support from the student body. Those that really want to play and do a good job see this, and it hurts."

hurts."

Gravatt said he wasn't trying to take anything away from Greene Central, praising them as having a fine team. "They executed well, and they have a good defense. They are well coached and well-disciplined. Maybe they just wanted it more than we did."

The coach said a mistake on his part may also have cost the win. "We had third and goal to go on the four. We made a play and their was a flag. The official called piling on, and put the ball on the two. We thought it was still third down, and tried for the score and failed, but we figured we could either kick a field goal or try again. The referee then informed me that the penalty came after the whistle and it had been fourth down and Greene Central got the ball."

This week, the Chargers take on the Firebirds of Southern Nash and expect another tough game. "They are big and strong," Gravatt said. "They have a good defensive club and they do a good job of running the sweep and going off-tackle. They just run over you. I just hope they can't put it together twice in a row."

Another disappointed coach was Conley's George Whitley, who thought he had another upset win in his pocket late in the contest.

"We had them stopped at the two yard line with 2:24 left in the game," he said. "We were ahead by four points and we figured we could just about run out the clock on them."

After running three plays, the Vikings fumbled the ball away, but got it right back on another fumble. "We then ran three plays, but they held us. Since we were in a hole with so little time remaining, we figured that there was a possibility of getting our punt blocked, or having a good runback and it giving them good field position," Wheeler said.

"So we told the quarterback to just run around in the end zone, using as much time as he could, then take a safety. That would still leave us ahead, and would give us a free kick from the 20, letting us cover it better with no chance of getting it blocked."

The strategy appeared to work, putting Eastern Wayne on the other side of the 50 with just under a minute left. But Eastern came up with the bomb after two quick short passes, and that did it. "It really upset our kids," Wheeler said. "They thought they had the game and it hurt them badly to lose."

Wheeler singled out Laurence Harper, Charlie Speight, Stacey Evans, Stencil Hines, Roger Cates and Willie Hawkins for their play in the game.

This week, the Vikings host North Pitt in probably their key rivalry. "They hit hard on defense," Wheeler said. "But they haven't been able to put it together on offense. (Danny) Wilmer is a fine coach and I'm sure they'll be ready for us. We're down now after losing, and I just hope we can get up, or we might be embarrassed."

Wilmer, meanwhile, is still trying for his first touchdown of the season with his inexperienced Panthers. "Aycock was the worst team we've played, but we just weren't ready to play," he said. "Our guys have become convinced that they are not going to win. The only one ready to play was Lionel Carney, who nearly carried the opening kickoff back. I think if we had, it could have been the spark we needed and we might have won."

But the real trouble is that scoreless streak. "Everybody is trying to keep us from scoring now," he said. "Most everyone leaves their first defense in there all the way."

Wilmer looks to Conley as "the battle of the century" for North Pitt. Wilmer and Wheeler were classmates and played together at East Carolina, so it's a personal battle as well as a rivalry between the two schools. "I feel some of our guys will be ready. If we get fired up enough, we could do it."

Besides the four games above, North Lenoir is at Southern Wayne.

Alston Named NL's Manager Of The Year

By BERT ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Venerable Walt Alston of the Los Angeles Dodgers, who says, "I can't think of anything I'd rather do than manage," was named today as The Associated Press' Manager of the Year in the National League for the fifth time.

The 59-year-old Alston, in his 18th season as manager of the Dodgers, piloted Los Angeles to a second-place finish in the NL's West Division. Los Angeles wound up one game behind San Francisco after trailing the Giants by eight games going into the final month of the season.

Alston, whose 18 consecutive seasons with the same club is tops among active major league managers, received 72 votes from a nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters.

Charlie Fox, in his first full season as San Francisco manager, was a close second with 65 votes. Danny Murthaugh, the 1971 Manager of the Year who led the Pittsburgh Pirates to this year's World Series championship was third with 57 votes. The voting was based only on regular season performances.

The modest, effable Alston, however, paid tribute to Murthaugh's effort. "That guy in Pittsburgh did quite a job," said Alston from his home in Darrtown, Ohio.

But the Dodgers' pilot also was grateful to receive the award again. "It's quite an honor," he said. "I really appreciate it."

Alston also was named NL Manager of the Year in 1935, 1959, 1965 and 1966, all seasons in which he guided the Dodgers to the league championship. He also took them to the NL title in 1956 and 1963.

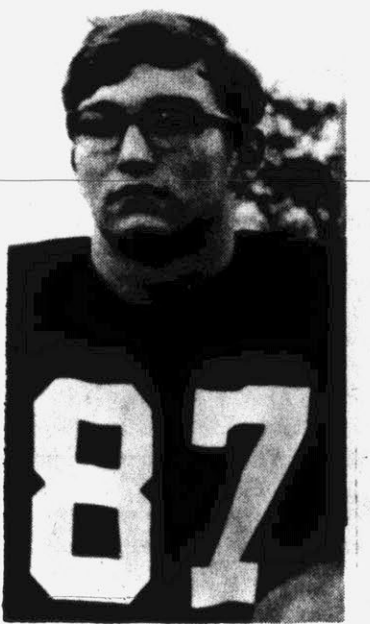

Alston, a former school teacher, has been working on one-year contracts since he succeeded Charlie Dressen as Dodgers' manager in 1954.

Sharman May Be Key For Laker Success

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Los Angeles Lakers never have won a National Basketball Association championship since moving to the West Coast from Minneapolis in 1961, although they have three of the league's all-time superstars in Elgin Baylor, Wilt Chamberlain and Jerry West.

Now, they have added a fourth star and he may make the Lakers shine more than ever.

The latest star on the club is Coach Bill Sharman, who guided the Utah Stars to last season's American Basketball Association championship.

Sharman, a former outstanding player with the Boston Celtics, has seen the Lakers produce three glittering performances in their first three games. The latest was a 123-106 romp over the Buffalo Braves Tuesday night.

In other NBA games, Milwaukee blitzed Cleveland 116-82. Seattle edged Cincinnati 101-100. New York downed Golden State 93-84. Boston trounced Baltimore 134-114, and Detroit nipped Portland 101-99.

In the ABA, it was New York 125, Pittsburgh 120; Utah 150, Carolina 93, and Indiana 122,

Cougars Drop Third Straight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Utah Stars, who won the American Basketball Association championship last season, are picking up where they left off.

The Stars, boasting a new coach this year in LaDell Anderson, whipped the Carolina Cougars 150-93 Tuesday night for their third straight victory in as many outings.

In other games, Indiana kept pace with Utah in the West Division with a 122-117 victory over Denver and New York turned back Pittsburgh 125-120.

In the NBA, it was New York 83, Golden State 84; Boston 134, Baltimore 114; Los Angeles 123, Buffalo 106; Seattle 101, Cincinnati 100; Milwaukee 116, Cleveland 82, and Detroit 101, Portland 99.

Utah finished in second place in the West last season, one game behind Indiana but went to win the playoffs from Kentucky in seven games. Anderson has taken over as coach, succeeding Bill Sharman.

Denver 117.

Sharman, trying to accomplish what neither Bill van Breda Kolff nor Joe Mullaney could do since Chamberlain joined the team in 1969, has led the Lakers to victories by 29 points over Detroit, 15 over New York and 17 over Buffalo. What has made his job easier is having his big three together in each game. In the previous two seasons, Baylor, Chamberlain and West had played together in only 13 games because of injuries.

Against the Braves, Chamberlain collected 20 points, West had 18 and Baylor contributed 14. Gail Goodrich led the balanced Los Angeles attack with 24 points.

Rookie Elmore Smith topped Buffalo with 20 points in 22 minutes but fouled out with 8:04 remaining.

Milwaukee's unbeaten defending champions raced to a 35-12 first-quarter lead against Cleveland and coasted to their fourth victory. Kareem Jabbar, formerly Lew Alcindor, paced the Bucks with 24 points. Bobby Smith topped Cleveland with 26.

Cincinnati. Dick Snyder was high for the SuperSonics with 24 points, while the Royals' Nate Archibald scored 25.

Dave Stallworth's three field goals during an 11-point New York streak and Bill Bradley's five fourth-period field goals enabled the Knicks to overcome the Warriors. Bradley led all scorers with 23 points. Cazzie Russell, playing his first game against his former Knick teammates, paced the Warriors with 17.

Jo Jo White's 26 points led Boston to its first victory, although Baltimore's Earl Monroe took game-scoring honors with 28 points. The Bullets played without center Wes Unseld and newly acquired guard Archie Clark, both sidelined with injuries.

Bob Lanier pumped in 44 points and Jimmy Walker 34 in the Pistons' narrow victory. It was a career high scoring mark for Lanier who also grabbed a personal record 20 rebounds. Stan McKenzie had 25 points and Gary Gregor 21 for the Trail Blazers.

Regan Is Offensive

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP) — Diminutive Steve Regan of William and Mary has regained his status as the most offensive football player in the Southern Conference—as far as moving the ball is concerned, that is.

The 5-foot-8 Indian quarterback accounted for 301 yards, 297 by way of the air, in a 41-30 defeat at Virginia Tech last Saturday and took over the total offense lead from sophomore quarterback Harry Lynch of The Citadel, who had been in front the last few weeks.

Regan has accounted for 1,020 yards on 90 plays for a per-game average of 170 yards to 972 yards on 155 plays and a per-game average of 162 for Lynch. Neither has any competition at the moment.

The four other individual statistical leaders from last week held on to their top spots, but there are hot races in both the running and passing departments.

Defending champion Phil Mosser of William and Mary has rushed for 497 yards and a 99.4-yard average to 579 yards and a 96.5 average for Jon Hall of The Citadel and 577 yards and a 96.2 average for Clayton Deskins of Appalachian State.

Deskins Takes Scoring Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Clayton Deskins of Appalachian State has streaked into the lead in the Southern Conference football scoring race and has broken the stranglehold The Citadel and William and Mary had held since the season began.

The 172-pound senior from Arlington, Va., scored four touchdowns in the Mountaineers' 55-20 rout last Saturday of Catawba and moved to the top with nine touchdowns and 54 points.

Deskins tied two school records with his four touchdowns and 24 points. His scores came on runs of 15, 8 and 2 yards and on a 55-yard pass from Steve Loflin.

The spurge moved him ahead of last week's leader, Bob Carson of The Citadel, who was shut out in the Bulldogs' 24-23 defeat by Presbyterian. Carson has 50 points on eight touchdowns and a two-point conversion.

Brian Baima of The Citadel, the league's top pass receiver, is third in the scoring race with 42 points on seven touchdowns. He had one in the Presbyterian defeat.

William and Mary's ace running backs, Phil Mosser and Dennis Cambal, are tied for fourth with six touchdowns and 36 points each. Each had one TD in the Indians' 41-30 defeat by Virginia Tech.

Tied for sixth with 30 points each are Virginia Military running back Mac Bowman, who has five touchdowns, and William and Mary's soccer - style kicker, Mike Dodds, with 21 extra points and three field goals.

There's another tie for eighth with 24 points between running back Carlester Crumpler of East Carolina, with four touchdowns, and kicker Ruff Simpson of The Citadel, with 15 extra points and three field goals.

Last year's leader, Steve Crisp of Furman, didn't score in the Paladins' four games and is out of contention for the moment with 12 points.

Linebacker Gary Bryan was back at Furman's contact drills Tuesday after being on the sidelines since the opening game with a severe ankle sprain. He is expected to be ready for Saturday's crucial league game at Richmond, where quarterback Ken Nichols stood out in practice.

The emphasis at Virginia Military, which meets league-leading William and Mary Saturday, was on individual work in the performance of plays. Coach Bob Thalman said individual breakdowns in play execution "have been hurting us. . . and we are working to overcome our mistakes."

Rain shortened the drills at East Carolina, which had planned light workouts anyway because of injuries. The Citadel worked on play recognition and individual and team pass coverage.

Wake Forest Picked To Topple Carolina

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — This week it looks like the Associated Press' top ten teams will keep on winning.

Nebraska at Oklahoma State—State's Floyd Gass says the Cowpokes will "play well against Nebraska," but he didn't say which year. The fine sophomores may be in over their heads against the Cornhuskers, ranked by the AP as the best team in the nation. Gass isn't from Brooklyn but wait 'til next year, anyway. NEBRASKA.

Oklahoma at Kansas State—Everything may be up to date in Kansas City but things aren't even up to last year at Kansas State, when the Wildcats knocked off ... OKLAHOMA.

Michigan at Minnesota—Illinois just got through playing Ohio State and Michigan. Now it's Minnesota's turn to tangle with Michigan and Ohio State. MICHIGAN.

Houston at Alabama—Bear Bryant is running Bill Yeoman's triple option disguised as

Aycock, JV's Play

Rose High School's junior varsity and the Aycock Junior High School gridders each play games Thursday.

The Rampant Cubs travel to Rocky Mount, still seeking their first victory of the year. That game is scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

In the junior high game, Rocky Mount pays a visit to Aycock. Game time is 4 p.m. at Guy Smith Stadium.

the Wishbone. An upset is possible, such as last year's 30-21 'Bama victory over the favored Cougars. Surprise, surprise? Nope. ALABAMA.

Clemson at Auburn—Clemson has come alive the last two weeks but the reincarnation has to stop somewhere. Hold That Tiger is the theme, since both teams are nicknamed Tigers. Doing the legal holding ... AUBURN.

Southern California at Notre Dame—The Irish were 10-1 last season and the 1 was named Southern Cal to the tune of 38-28. It cost Notre Dame the national championship and, even though there's a freeze on, the Trojans will pay through the nose. NOTRE DAME.

Wisconsin at Ohio State—Badgers are on the rise and Buckeyes are hurting. That, however, is when Woody Hayes is most dangerous. Besides, how many times in one year can the Buckeyes lose in Columbus? OHIO STATE.

Arizona State at New Mexico—Both teams may have been looking ahead last week to this Western Athletic Conference showdown when the Sun Devils lost to Oregon State and New Mexico tied San Jose State. Frank Kush is one of the winningest coaches around. Add one win. ARIZONA STATE.

Wake Forest at North Carolina—Bill Dooley was awed by Notre Dame's defense last week. This week he gets a taste of offense as supplied by ... WAKE FOREST.

SOUTH—Duke over Navy, Army over Virginia, Georgia over Kentucky, Tennessee over Mississippi State, Chattanooga over The Citadel, Wofford over Davidson, Florida over Maryland, Florida State over South Carolina, Louisville over Wichita State, Memphis State over Southern Mississippi, Mississippi over Vanderbilt, North Carolina State over East Carolina, Furman over Richmond, Tampa over Villanova, Tulane over Georgia Tech, Virginia Tech over Ohio U., William & Mary over FMI.

Golfing Winners

A team composed of Scrappy Proctor Jr., Ralph Sullivan, Evelyn Ward and Maxine Hawley took first place in a Captain's Choice Scotch Foursome Golf Tournament held at Brook Valley Country Club over the weekend.

Second place went to the team of Charlie Bill Moye, Cleet Cleetwood, Mary Racheal Winslow and Louise Hodge. Third was the team of Don Cherry, Don Hayes, Joann Proctor and Doris Harbin. Jim Marlow, Grover Everett, Arnie O'Donnell and Mary Meade Powell finished fourth.

Five Brook Valley women were among winners in the recent Eastern Carolina Ladies Golf Association's monthly tournament at Macripines Country Club.

Jeanette Thomas took second low gross in A flight, while Jane Worsley was the low gross winner in C flight.

Helen Boyd won second low net in D flight. Ruth Billica won lot net and Ailene Hemblin took second low gross in E flight.

Kosygin, Ottawa Bear Up Under Demonstrations

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
OTTAWA (AP) — Premier Alexei N. Kosygin seems to be bearing up well under the strain of constant harassment by demonstrators. So, apparently, is the public in Canada's capital.

Despite the uproar produced by protesters, the people of Ottawa have managed to appear completely indifferent to it all. But surely there would have been no such indifference if Kosygin were the same sort of diplomatic barnstormer as his predecessor, the late Nikita S. Khrushchev.

Had it been Khrushchev subjected to such harassment, the sparks would have flown in all directions and people would have turned out in droves to watch in awe.

Harassing Kosygin seems somehow like kicking an in-offensive old grandpa in the shins. He has none of the dynamism that made Khrushchev a magnet for crowds. When anybody heckled Khrushchev, as happened during his stormy tour of the United States in 1959, Khrushchev heckled back with scorching blasts of peasant wit.

Kosygin's personality and background are unsuited to that sort of performance. He came up through the ranks of stolid Communist party "apparatchiks"—functionaries who plodded through their duties faithfully. Kosygin did get one small break Tuesday night as he was driven to the National Arts Center, only a short distance from his hotel, for a gala concert in his honor. As usual, demonstrators were gathered, this time dominated by young Maoists and assorted fringe rebels.

The security men had learned their lesson and played a successful game of hide-and-seek with the young protesters. The motorcade avoided the main entrance and entered the building through a parking area, leaving the protesters with nobody to protest against.

But the slings and arrows will continue to be aimed at him for the rest of his eight-day trip through Canada. The tour takes him to Montreal Thursday and thereafter to Edmonton, Vancouver and Toronto. Demonstration organizers vow they'll give him no rest.

Earlier Tuesday Kosygin made a camouflaged attack on President Nixon's economic policies which have bruised Canadian feelings. The Soviet leader did not mention the United States by name, but his remarks at a luncheon he gave in honor of Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau were clearly directed at Washington.

Kosygin told his Canadian guests that international trade "must be based on a stable system of foreign exchange rates, on a system which does not compel some countries to pay for it by slowing down their economic development, by curtailing their commercial operations, or by increasing unemployment on account of the economic miscalculations of others."

"This is all the more unacceptable when these miscalculations are not due to chance circumstances, but are in fact rendered inevitable by the pursuit of policies creating focuses of tension and conflict in various parts of the world," he said.

Kosygin attributed the United States' economic difficulties to the Vietnam war and the arms program, saying, "No country, no matter how rich, can afford ... unlimited expansion of the production of war materials."

War economies can give only temporary stimulus to employment and business activity, he said, and to think otherwise is to accept the "fatal inevitability of unceasing growth of

School Utilities Cost Dramatize Strain On Budget

The skyrocketing cost of everything was dramatically brought home by Superintendent of City Schools Dr. Cleet C. Cleetwood in remarks made at the School Board meeting Monday night.

"The cost of utilities for one school for one month is now greater than for the entire school system ten years ago," he observed.

The superintendent commented that rising costs and the average citizens' desire to hold the line in taxation were putting a greater pressure on school operating budgets. "Demands and expectations from the public far exceed willingness of the public to pay," he remarked.

These observations occurred during a discussion on two questions submitted to him by the Executive Committee of the Sadie Sautler PTA One, he noted, referred to prospects for additional land at Sadie Sautler. The other asked about the possibility of air conditioning the schools.

Dr. Cleetwood, in reporting on the reply he made to the group, stated that on the first question his reply had been that the school board had considered acquisition of additional land, but had not put it on top priority basis for the current budget. He also mentioned that the price of land for lots adjacent to Sadie Sautler additionally involved the expense of purchasing homes at replacement values; homes that would have to be demolished after purchase.

On the prospects of air conditioning Sadie Sautler, Dr.

Cleetwood said he wrote the PTA committee that all schools wanted air conditioning, and that at the time no serious consideration had been given to air conditioning Sadie Sautler or other schools in the system. The best informed estimate he could furnish the questioners was about $40,000.

Board member John Bizzell observed that a commitment had been made by the Greenville School Board to purchase more land for Sadie Sautler. He noted that at the time the school was constructed, minutes would show that the State Board approved the construction of Sadie Sautler on the small site only with the understanding that additional land would be purchased.

Cleetwood acknowledged the accuracy of Bizzell's statement, saying "we do have that commitment."

Bizzell also commented that the Rose High PTA Sounding Board, at a meeting earlier in October, had brought up several recurring problems, the most important of which was the matter of a roof that needed attention due to a leakage problem. Other pressing problems mentioned by Bizzell as arising from the Rose PTA Sounding Board included that of low water pressure for water fountains, and a suggestion by the group that outside maintenance be permitted to help with some of the problems.

"The main way the public can give us help is through a financial level of support," Dr. Cleetwood observed.

New Asgrow RX Line hybrids—the corn-profit prescription you asked for

RX 115 prescription-bred for this area and your farm

Extremely uniform pure single cross, RX 115 performs well under MDM and high humidity conditions in the Southeast. It resists ear and stalk rots. Northern leaf blight and Race 1 Southern corn leaf blight. And, its hard kernels resist insect damage.

Medium - height plants have upright leaves and excellent ear retention. The hard - dent, orange - yellow kernels are moderately broad with excellent test weight. It's suitable for combine or ear harvest.

Hollywood Actor Is Seven-Footer

By GENE HANDSAKER
Associated Press Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — He ducks going through doorways. He sleeps northeast by southeast in a king-size bed. At 7-feet-2 and 300 pounds, Dick Kiel is beyond doubt Hollywood's biggest actor.

"You can't make the whole world fit you, you have to adjust to the world," says the soft-spoken gentle giant, philosophical about his size.

As for acting:

"My size was a big help getting started. Maybe it's a bit of a hindrance at times, but I like being big."

Then, with a grin crinkling massive features: "Of course, I play a lot of heavies."

His roles have included "Russian spies, the bad guy in Westerns, the dumb-bunny type who kills people and doesn't really know what he's doing. I used to resent playing demented characters, then began to realize that people enjoy them."

A role as a seaman who tucked two people under his arms and tossed them into a trash bin in TV's late "Man from Uncle" started him playing, he

Success Secret Is Not To Try

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — The secret to writing for children, says Ted Geisel, is not to try to write for children.

"I never set out to write for kids," says Geisel, better known to book lovers as Dr. Seuss. "In fact, I think that is the main reason most juvenile authors fail. They try to write for the kids and the children resent it."

"They can understand anything you say to them if you do it simply and concisely," the 67-year-old author of "The Cat in the Hat" said in an interview Tuesday. "I write for myself, at my own level, and then go back and shorten the sentences and change the structure to simplify it."

Fischer Takes Good Lead In Chess Matches

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Bobby Fischer of the United States outplayed former world chess champion Tigran Petrosian of the Soviet Union Tuesday night to win the seventh game of their match in 34 moves at the San Martin theater.

It was Fischer's second win in succession and his third in the 12-game match against one defeat. Three of the games resulted in draws.

Leading now by 4½ points to 2½, Fischer was strongly favored to clinch the match. He needs a total of 6½ points, with victories counting one point and draws a half point.

The game was a classic example of how a chess grandmaster, after attaining a seeming minor advantage, can gradually extend it, gain additional space or material, and finally score the full point.

The opening was a Sicilian defense, played by Petrosian with the black pieces. He varied on his fourth move from his play in the first game.

The variation actually chosen has been played by Fischer on previous occasions, which Petrosian must have known. It has generally favored the whites player.

If Petrosian had something new in mind, he did not show it. After several center pawns were exchanged he left two isolated pawns which needed constant protection.

Fischer, meanwhile, gradually improved the position of his pieces while Petrosian's men had to remain on the defensive.

The first break-through came when Fischer moved one of his rooks to the seventh rank, hampering Petrosian's forces.

Trying for a demonstration on the king's side, Petrosian advanced the pawns in front of his king but this only hastened the end.

When Fischer later moved his second rook to the seventh, in coordination with its mate, the black king was in danger for the first time.

Petrosian had relied on his knight for defense, but smart tactics by Fischer forced a quick finish. The Knight took a pawn, but could not return safely, nor could Petrosian find any other resource and he resigned.

The eighth game will start Thursday afternoon with others following on Sunday and Tuesday.

Again Invited To Duke Game

DURHAM (AP) — President Nixon has been sent a second invitation to attend the Duke-North Carolina football game here on Nov. 20.

Duke President Terry Sanford said Tuesday he wrote Mr. Nixon, a graduate of the Duke Law School, last August inviting him to the game. He got no answer.

When Nixon was in Charlotte last Friday, he told reporters that his next visit to North Carolina would be to attend the Duke-Carolina game, the football classic in these parts.

When Sanford read what Nixon had said, he promptly sent the President a second invitation.

The game has been a sellout for weeks, but Sanford figured he could find room for the President — if not the secret service men.

Actress Accepts Settlement

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Kim Novak accepted a $49,000 Superior Court settlement Tuesday in her $1 million personal injury damage suit against an automobile repair firm.

The 37-year-old actress said she suffered a concussion, cuts and abrasions in 1966 when a car she was driving overturned after a rear wheel came off.

She accused the company, Morgan and Sons, of negligence in failing to properly secure the wheel.

KEEPS ON TICKIN' — Albert Zirkelback enjoys a piece of apple pie on his 90th birthday, thanks to a new pacemaker sewn into his chest above his heart. Zirkelback, a retired truck farmer, has gone through three pacemakers since 1967. The device, which doubles his heartbeat from 30 to 60 pulses a minute, ordinarily last two years or longer; but, according to Zirkelback, "the second one was a reject and lasted only two weeks." FROM CIVIL WAR ERA — A brass candlestick, an ironstone saucer and a mustard jar are among items recovered from the confederate blockade runner "Ella" off Wilmington, N.C. (AP Wirephoto)

Numerous Artifacts Of Civil War Era Salvaged

By H. G. JONES, Director N.C. Department of Archives and History

RALEIGH (AP) — Numerous artifacts of the Civil War — several particularly significant — were recovered this summer as a result of state-authorized underwater archaeological excavation off the North Carolina coast.

Underwater Archaeological Associates, Inc., a nonprofit organization working under state permit, has been conducting recovery operations primarily on the shipwreck "Ella." It also made preliminary survey dives on the "Ranger" and the "Modern Greece."

The vessels are Civil War blockade runners chased aground by federal gunboats while attempting to bring war supplies for the Confederacy into the port of Wilmington.

The most unusual objects were found in the section of the "Ella" believed to have been the captain's quarters. They include a brass candlestick, an ironstone saucer, a glazed mustard jar and a spice bottle.

The spice bottle is intact, its original contents dry, and has an embossed lead foil seal.

The mustard jar has printed in French on its side, "The mustard and vinegar of the Queen of England and the Emperors of Austria and Russia."

Other artifacts recovered in this area of the ship include champagne bottles, fragments of a marble washstand top and a brass towel rack.

Materials recovered from the cargo area of the "Ella" include tailoring supplies such as buttons, corset hooks and brass straight pins and needles; pork bones and organic matter tentatively identified as beef; slate writing pencils; kegs of rivets and horseshoe nails; and an Enfield rifle bayonet.

Approximately 4,000 more commonplace artifacts were recovered this summer from the "Modern Greece." These include pocket knives, scissors, chisels, wood augers, kitchen knives and flatirons.

Austrian rifles and farm implements have been recovered from the wreck of the "Ranger."

State ownership of shipwrecks lying within three nautical miles of shore was clarified by the 1967 legislature.

The General Assembly named the Department of Archives and History as custodian of all such wrecks.

Various types of permits for exploration and salvage are issued by the department, and unauthorized diving on the state-owned shipwrecks is a misdemeanor punishable in court.

Underwater Archaeological Associates is the only organization currently holding a salvage permit. Its systematic diving operations are being conducted to yield the maximum amount of archaeological and historical data.

Two representatives of the Department of Archives and History — Leslie Eright of the Artifact Preservation Laboratory at Ft. Fisher and Sam Townsend of the Raleigh office — are working closely with the group above and below water.

Perhaps the most important aspect of the work is the survey of the excavation sites and the production of diagrams and scale drawings.

Special underwater cameras are used to record details of the wrecks on the rare occasions when ocean conditions allow visibility of more than one or two feet.

Divers mostly must work in virtual darkness. Suspended particles prevent natural light from reaching them and make artificial lighting useless.

A Review

international festival of Negro arts a few years ago.

In a film far too short to give more than surface coverage to the festival that embraced folk-art, ancient tribal art, dancing, and instrumental music — among other art forms, a good deal of attention is directed to sculpture, a field in which African artists are unsurpassed. The influence of Negro sculpture on international modern art has been significant. Music and dance, so often inseparable in African life, is glimpsed in fragments that whets the appetite to see and hear more.

The second film, "African Dances" is confined to one specific performance — a gala appearance of the Guinean Dance Troupe at the United Nations.

In both films the athletic beauty of the Africa's Black people and a corresponding muscular leanness in their works of art are striking. These films are good introductions to the lasting vitality of the arts of Africa — arts that are as young as today's rock and roll though rooted in times as distant in history as the Sahara cave paintings.

Area Masons At Statesville

Masons from Greenville recently attended the 101st annual communication of the Prince Hall Grand Lodge F. & A.M. of North Carolina in Statesville.

Those attending from this area were James Staton of Grimesland, W. C. Peterson of the Stokes-Pactolus area, W. E. Honeyblue of Williamston, Clinton Anderson of Winterville, L. B. Anderson of Greenville, and Lorenza Evans. All of these are either Worshipful Masters or Past Masters, except L. B. Anderson, who is now district deputy.

The group attending a memorial service for departed Lodge members, including four from the Greenville Mount Hermon Lodge — Samuel Hemby Sr., George Anderson, Eugene Hinton, and Frank Barnes.

The Most Worshipful Grand Master for the state, C. S. Brown gave greetings, the brotherhood's purpose, and comments on today's problems and what Masons can do.

A check for $12,500 was presented to Supt. H. V. Bryant for the central orphanage at Oxford. The Mount Hermon Lodge was recognized for their giving of a PACE grant for a worthy student.

Also recognized were all black persons now holding elective offices in the state.

An Order of Eastern Star professional was led by Grand Worthy Matron, M. L. Strong of Ayden and her Grand officers. She presented greetings on behalf of the O.E.S.

clarer a slight opening, on which he was quick to capitalize. West was allowed to hold the trick and, seeing the potential ruffing value in dummy, he belatedly shifted to a trump. East played the nine of hearts to dislodge declarer's queen.

South crossed over to the ace of diamonds and continued with a small diamond which he ruffed with the deuce of hearts. Next came the ace of spades and a spade ruff in dummy. Another diamond was trumped with the five of hearts for declarer's sixth trick and he subsequently scored the ace of hearts to fulfill the contract. The trick score was 160 points.

At the other table, West opened his singleton eight of hearts which East overlooked with the nine to assure South's playing the queen. The ace of spades was cashed, on which West alertly dropped the jack. This enabled him to follow suit with the nine on the next round. East overlooked with the ten of spades and returned the king of hearts.

Declarer played the ace, however he could reach the dummy only once—with the ace of diamonds—and accordingly obtained only one diamond ruff in his hand. Since he was also deprived of the spade ruff in dummy, the net result was a two trick difference on the deal because of the original trump lead.

South took, in all, three hearts, one spade and one diamond and suffered a 500 point deficit.

WHEN IT WAS OVER 80° OUTSIDE, THE LITTLE WOMAN KEPT PUSHING THE AIR CONDITIONER DOWN TO 65°—

WHAT'S WRONG WITH THIS THING? I'M HOT!

WELL, I'M NOT!

—AND NOW THAT IT'S DOWN TO 65° OUTSIDE, HOW COME SHE'S BOOSTING THE FURNACE UP TO 80°—

I'M CHILLY! WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH THIS THERMOSTAT?

NOTHING! IT'S YOUR THERMOSTAT THAT'S OUT OF WHACK!
