Only Technicalities Left In Restructuring Effort

By MELVIN LANG
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina's General Assembly gave its approval Thursday to a new organizational concept for the state's 16 institutions of higher education, leaving unsettled only technicalities dealing with the composition and election of a board of governors.

The Senate set the stage for enactment of the restructuring law when it passed an amended House bill 37-7 Thursday night. With amendments attached, the bill was returned to the House and final approval was expected today.

Changes made by the Senate subject to House approval dealt with the addition of a 33rd member for the board of governors, the method of electing the strong state board and institutional representation on the board.

With Gov. Bob Scott listening to the debate through a special telephone link, the House passed the administration-backed bill 75-30 Thursday afternoon.

For nearly a year Scott has put the major effort of his administration into winning legislative support for his proposal to restructure the higher educational system.

Rushing to meet an unofficial adjournment deadline of Friday afternoon, the Senate sent the House bill to committee Thursday afternoon and then met Thursday night to pass it. The Senate, in its hurry, acted so rapidly it did not have engrossed copies of the House bill.

Debate over representation for the tiny North Carolina School of the Arts in Winston-Salem stalled Senate progress on the bill, prompting charges of a "sell-out" from Sen. Ruffin Bailey, D-Wake. Bailey later apologized to the Senate.

Bailey contended that he and other senators had given their approval Thursday afternoon to an amendment by Sen. Gordon Allen, D-Person, under the impression it was the same as one adopted by the House.

The Allen amendment, approved by the Senate, called for election of 15 governors from the existing trustee board of the Consolidated University of North Carolina, 15 from the regional universities and two from the Board of Higher Education. The school of the arts was not included.

Under the House version, UNC trustees would have 16 members and the regional universities and the school of the arts would have 16 members. The Board of Higher Education was not represented.

Allen said his proposal would provide a board member for each 3,000 students at the universities. "We had to take a close look at the school of the arts, where we found only about 350 college-parallel students," he said.

Sen. Herman Moore, D-Mecklenburg, and Sen. Hamilton Horton, R-Forsyth, objected to the school of arts' exclusion, contending it would be lost without representation.

Horton said it would become "the sole institution...to be cut out completely of that crucial planning process that will make the board work."

The Senate settled the issue by approving an amendment by Sen. Eddie Knox, D-Mecklen-

Britons Still Split On Common Mart

LONDON (AP) — Parliament's historic vote to take Britain into the European Common Market left both major political parties split today and the outcome of the move into Europe in doubt.

With its vote Thursday night, the House of Commons accepted the principle of Common Market membership on the terms negotiated by the Conservative government, serving notice Britain is prepared to give up some of its centuries-old independence for a role in a united Europe.

But a year-long battle remains to push the enabling legislation through Parliament, aligning British laws with the rules of the European Economic Community, before Britain can actually join on the target date of Jan. 1, 1973. All signs pointed to cliff hangers on the more controversial terms of entry.

Prime Minister Edward Heath won approval in principle for entry by a vote of 356 to 244 in the Commons with 22 abstentions. The big majority of 112 exceed event the government's more optimistic forecasts.

But only massive help from Labor party rebels swelled the majority to that unexpected size. Heath has no guarantee that he can push through the bills that must follow on the strength of his own party alone.

The Conservatives have a majority of 25 in Commons and 39 of them voted against entry. Many of these say they will also vote against the enabling legislation, even if that means bringing the government down.

Former Prime Minister Harold Wilson and his Labor party are also committed to fighting these bills all the way. Nearly a third of the Laborites voted with the government or abstained Thursday night. But most of these defectors are now expected to return to the party line on the future votes; otherwise the party could be split irreparably.

Wilson's strategy is to delay and eventually defeat the government on this legislation, forcing a general election. With the Conservatives trailing Labor by 12 per cent in public opinion polls, and the polls showing a majority of voters against joining Europe, Wilson figures he would be returned to office.

He said Thursday night that a future Labor government would not pull out of the market but would not cooperate with it until better terms for participation were negotiated.

Trouble could also come for Heath on one of the entry terms still to be negotiated, the question of fishing rights in territorial waters.

Hear Pros, Cons Over Annexation

By JERRY RAYNOR

Action is now due no sooner than seven days nor later than 60 days from October 28 on the annexation of two areas of Greenville north of the Tar River.

At last night's public hearing, a Special Call meeting of the City Council, interested citizens from the two areas were heard.

Area 5, the first to be considered, consists of land lying between N.C. Highway 11 and Greene Street extended, and land areas both north and south of Pactolus highway, with the areas being considered south of Pactolus highway, extending in an irregular pattern down to Mumford Street.

Councilman Percy Cox offered a recommendation that annexation of the area between N.C. 11 and Greene St. extended and north of Pactolus highway not be considered at this time due to lack of interest on the part of property owners.

Property owners with land adjacent to the south boundary of Pactolus highway — H. L. Roberts, Richard Glisson and a representative for Miss Rosa Briley, appeared before the council and gave reasons they feel their property should not be included in the annexation. One property owner, Jimmy Brewer, of Brewer Brewer-Marshall Concrete and Construction Firm, asked that the property of the firm be included in annexation plans.

On Area 6, the area known as the Dudley Farm, consisting of about 230 acres, a delegation of local residents and property owners appeared, all speaking in favor of the proposed annexation. Matthew Lewis headed a delegation of about 20 interested persons.

Mayor S. Eugene West, said "We realize it will be a hardship on the city to take you in, and we want property owners in the area to know the requirements they have to comply with. Some may not like the requirements as they will be forced to spend money and it's liable to work a hardship on them."

The mayor stressed that though he realized the group present was eager for annexation, he wanted to be certain that all the property owners were aware of the requirements. "I must say these things now. It will be too late for anyone to complain later on."

Lewis assured the mayor that several community meetings had been held and that all residents had been given ample opportunity to discuss pros and cons of annexation. Lewis pointed out that city councilmen and other city officials had been at some of the meetings to explain requirements to residents of the area.

Councilmen will consider annexation action at a future date, either at a regular meeting or a Special Call meeting.

An agreement for publication of supplemental pages to the City Code was approved. The agreement, with Mitchie City Publications Company, provides for a fee of $11.50 per page for supplemental pages. This fee covers preparation, printing and shipment costs of 100 copies of any individual supplemental page.

A second agreemnt, with the N.C. State Highway Commission, approved by the Council, involved a delay from October 1, 1971 to October 1, 1972 for first payment of planned improvements on Cotanche and Charles Street. Work will not begin on that project until after the 1972 date.

Councilmen also authorized Mayor West to make an application for positions under the Emergency Employment Act. The mayor explained that any positions approved under the act involves funding for the positions with federal funds paying 75 per cent, state funds 12 and one half per cent, and city funds 12 and one half percent.

Positions that might be available include a Human Relations Director, a dog warden, an Assistant Director of Recreation, and others.

In voting agreement for the mayor to pursue this matter, it was noted that any or all of the positions that may be granted under the Emergency Employment act can later be accepted or turned down. Last night's action only paves the way for the mayor to determine positions available for Greenville to consider.

Low bids for two new police cars were approved. Both go to Hastings Ford, one for a net price of $2,83.32, the second for $2,783.32. Both involved trade in of old model police cars.

Blood Quota Topped

East Carolina University students again went over the top in giving blood to the Pitt County American Red Cross Bloodmobile.

Douglas Morgan, chairman of the bloodmobile, announces a total of 329 units collected — 59 above the goal set for the two day campus drive held on Wednesday and Thursday.

The total collection would have been considerably higher, except for a high percentage of rejects — 41 on Wednesday and 70 on Thursday. Altogether, 440 donors reported to the bloodmobile for the two day period.

"The ECU volunteer student nurses did a marvelous job in assisting," Morgan commented. "Members of the Greenville Service League, the AFROTC And Angel Flight also did an outstanding job in making this a successful drive."

The two day campus visit was sponsored by the AFROTC, with Cadet Steve Lee in charge of the drive.

Request Turned Down By Adjustments Board

The Joint City-County Board of Adjustments, in a session that lasted more than three hours in City Hall Thursday night, denied a request by John H. Wellons for special use permit and variance in order to construct an apartment complex south of Red Banks Road across from Aycock Junior High School.

A motion by Leslie Evans, seconded by Howard Porter that special use permit and variance be granted was defeated by a vote of three against and six for granting the requested conditions. The vote on this issue was taken in executive session following a lengthy discussion with several proponents and a large number of opponents heard by the board.

A total of eight affirmative votes on requests for special use permits and variances is required for passage.

M. E. Cavendish represented Wellons. He presented the request which covers a proposal for the construction of 26 apartment buildings with 226 units, and 365 parking places. Others appearing on behalf of Wellons were Collice Moore, a real estate appraiser who testified property in the area had increased since the construction of Oakmont Apartments in the area; and Bill Churchill, who explained the technical points of variances being sought.

The first opponent to offer objections was Mrs. S. B. Tucker, a property owner in the area. Mrs. Tucker voiced feelings that the construction would result in safety hazards for Aycock Junior High School, that the sewer system shown on the plan was poor, and that the proposed apartment complex would devalue her property.

Other residents of the area voiced opposition principally on the basis of increased traffic, safety hazards to the children at Aycock Junior High School, and devaluation of property.

Among those making statements of opposition were William R. Bunting, Mrs. Elmora Baker, Clifton W. Everett, Jr., Dr. John T. Richards, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Fuqua, Jr., Mrs. Ernest F. Stine, Alton R. James, Melvin Buck, Glenn Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tronto, Linwood E. Whichard, Billie T. Briley, James F. Florence, Jr., Mrs. Roy Berbert, Mrs. Larry C. Talbert, and Mr. and Mrs. John F. Robinson.

In two public hearings conducted by the joint board, a request for special use permit by Allied Petroleum Corporation was granted. The request calls for construction of self-service gasoline pumps at two locations outside Greenville.

Mail Service?

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The possibility of the state setting up its own courier service to transport mail between state agencies, hospitals, universities and correctional institutions is under study.

Secretary of Administration W. L. Turner said today that the service being considered now costs the state more than $240,000 a year.

"It is appropriate to study this problem at this time," he said. Cost of postage has increased sharply and there is good reason to believe that the cost will continue to increase."

Turner pointed out that a public utility operating in North Carolina is now experimenting with hand delivery of its monthly bills as a result of increased mail costs.

Turner said if a state service is established it will be financed through appropriations made to state agencies for postage.

Turner said no state courier service will be undertaken unless "a savings in cost can be clearly demonstrated."

Senate Clears Way For Passage Of Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Crushing the first of several expected attempts to cut the U.S. contribution to the United Nations, the Senate also has discarded a new end-the-war bid and cleared the way for final passage of a $3.2 billion foreign aid bill.

In a long series of roll call votes lasting well into Thursday night, the Senate decided, in addition, to retain restrictions on U.S. spending in Cambodia that were written into the bill by the Foreign Relations Committee.

Earlier Thursday Henry Kissinger, the President's top foreign affairs adviser, warned that Nixon might veto the entire measure unless the Senate eliminated the Cambodia restrictions and dropped an antiwar provision drafted into the bill by Sens. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., and Frank Church, D-Idaho.

The Cooper-Church provision would have limited all funds for the U.S. military in Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia to those needed for withdrawal.

It was struck from the bill in a 47-44 vote despite a strong attempt by antiwar forces to reverse the decision.

Senate Republican leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania managed to hold his finger in the dike of antiwar sentiment, pleading with senators to listen to what the President has to say in his Nov. 15 troop-reduction speech before they commit themselves.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield—reciting what he called the "monotonous—deadly monotonous—litany of the war"—55,000 dead, more than 300,000 wounded, 35,000 totally disabled—pleaded for action to end at last "this ghastly, misbegotten conflict."

Angered by the United Nation's decision to oust Nationalist China and seat the Peking regime, a group of conservative senators, led by Sens. James Buckley, Con-R-N.Y., and Peter Dominick, R-Colo., was to try again today to cut U.S. funds for the world organization.

In contrast to the almost jubilant mood of the ouster vote at the U.N. General Assembly Monday night, the Senate was undemonstrative as members voted, 55 to 28, to reject a Buckley amendment cutting off $101.5 million of the $139 million in funds for the U.N. agencies earmarked in the bill.

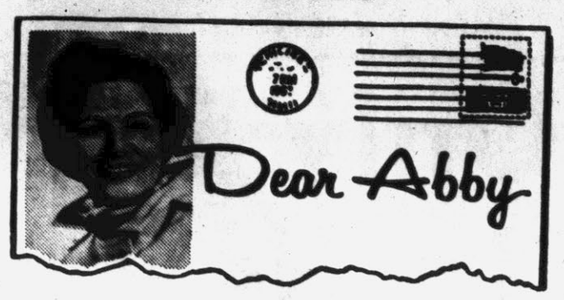
His Consideration For His Mother Is Admirable



By Abigail Van Buren

[© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.]

DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law is a very lovely, well-bred woman who is employed as a housekeeper. Her days off are somewhat irregular. Since my husband is her only child we include her in most of our plans, outings and vacations. She always spends her days off with us, and sometimes we have no notice whatsoever and have already accepted a dinner invitation or weekend with friends. When this occurs, my husband calls the hostess for the dinner [or weekend] and tells her that he is bringing his mother.

I think it is very presumptuous to bring uninvited guests, but my husband says as long as it's his mother it is perfectly all right. What is your opinion? "M"

DEAR "M": I think your husband's obvious consideration for his mother is admirable, even tho some hostesses would regard it as an imposition.

DEAR ABBY: What should a mother do when she knows her unmarried daughter is taking birth control pills? This daughter doesn't even have a steady boyfriend.

She works, pays room and board and is paying for her own car. Altho her friends have always been welcome at home [tho I admit lately I have criticized the appearance of some of them], she seldom has a date call for her at home anymore.

I just don't know what to do. She leaves these pills in plain sight. Do you think this is her way of asking for help? Or doesn't she give a damn? HER MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: How old is this "unmarried" daughter? If she's 18, she could be asking for help. If she's 28, she may not give a damn. You would worry less if you had more communication and a better relationship. For openers, resolve not to criticize her friends. She sounds like a responsible girl, and there is a chance that she is doing nothing of which she's ashamed.

DEAR ABBY: I have a neighbor [I refuse to call her a "friend"] who uses people.

She represents a direct-selling cosmetic company and she is always trying to sell the line to everybody she knows. [I bought some.] She also sells a line of cookware. [I bought some of that, too.] Her son recently started selling subscriptions to magazines, so she sent him around to all of her friends and neighbors, and naturally we couldn't very well turn him down.

She also sells Christmas cards, and gets into people's homes by offering to "collect" for every worthwhile cause you can think of. How can I say, "I've had it" to a woman like this? MILWAUKEE

DEAR MILWAUKEE: In English. Unless you can speak a language she understands better.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HURT" IN MINNEAPOLIS: It takes an enemy and a "good friend" to hurt you to the quick. The enemy to say something rotten about you. And the "good friend" to tell you she said it.

Miss Beth Miller Weds Stephen Weems Saturday

GRIFTON — On Saturday afternoon at four o'clock at St. Mark's Episcopal Church, Miss Beth Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miller, and Stephen Wilson Weems, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Weems of Royal Oak, Md., were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony.

The Rev. William Barrett officiated at the ceremony.

Mrs. Alex Warren, organist, presented a program of nuptial music.

Altar vases were filled with mixed flowers in autumn shades of gold, red and yellow.

Mrs. Michael Harding of Federalsburg, Md., sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore an apricot gown of crepe designed formal length, princess style, scooped neckline and empire waist. The A-skirt featured a demi-train. She carried a bouquet of red, gold and yellow fall flowers.

The bridegroom had as best man, his brother, Joseph Lee Weems, of Royal Oak.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of bridal satin overlaid with alencon lace. The gown was designed with a scooped neckline, long fitted sleeves fastened with tiny buttons. The lace in front was scalloped to form a panel from neck to hemline, outlined with pearls and crystals. The chapel train fell from the empire waist.

Her veil of illusion was elbow length and was attached to a rosette of satin with pearls and crystal trim. She carried a bouquet of carnations tinted to match the color of her attendant's gown.

The bride is a Grifton High School graduate and was employed at the Grifton Insurance Agency.

The bridegroom, a graduate of St. Michaels and Chesapeake College, is presently employed by Weems Brothers, Trappe, Md.

After a wedding trip, the couple will be at home in Royal Oak, Md.

A reception was given after the ceremony by parents of the bride at the parish house for the wedding party and families.

Signs Of A Major Withdrawal

There are signs that a major new withdrawal plan for bringing American troops out of Vietnam will be announced by the president next month.

Recently the Associated Press reported that the Air Force was advising personnel that some Vietnam tours might be cut short. The message said that future "operational programming in Southeast Asia may result in considerable turbulence in the assignment of personnel to and within that area.

"It cannot be predicted at this time just how much our normal assignment policies and procedures will be affected, the message said. "However, it is to our advantage to prepare Air Force personnel for any contingency by alerting them to some of the measures which may become necessary ... on a short notice."

Since it has been anticipated that air support would be needed until the last stages of the American withdrawal, this message was interpreted to indicate that withdrawals might be speeded up."

The next day the Associated Press reported that the U.S. Navy had nearly completed its Vietnamization program. It has only 24 river craft, four bases and 14 radar stations still to be turned over to the South Vietnamese.

There are only 200,000 American military men remaining in Vietnam and it is likely that the remainder of these will be withdrawn as rapidly as possible, particularly with an election coming up in the United States next year. It is probably that the next presidential announcement will be that troops will be withdrawn to leave only a small force of volunteers for technical positions.

Opine Annual Sessions Ahead

By BRYAN HAISLIP

RALEIGH — Is North Carolina fixed on an irreversible course to annual legislative sessions?

Some General Assembly leaders think so, and see it coming in the '70s. Demands to deal with complex public issues and to budget tax dollars efficiently, they say, will bring it about.

BRYAN HAISLIP

In the eyes of many legislators, the case for annual sessions has been strengthened by the current adjourned session. It was sent to deal solely with higher education restructure, but lawmakers come back to Raleigh to find a number of other problems crying for attention.

House Speaker Philip P. Godwin of Gates said it may well be time to think seriously about departing from the biennial format.

"I've been opposed to annual sessions in the past," he recalled. "The many issues discussed for action certainly brings to the surface the fact that many legislators may feel two years is too long between sessions."

Might Save Money

Budgeting is an area which might be better served if the General Assembly met every year, he added. That could reduce the likelihood of error in revenue estimating, Godwin noted, and save tax dollars.

Necessity and not desire will bring on annual sessions, predicted Sen. John T. Henley of Cumberland, Senate Appropriations chairman. "We'll have to come to it in order to deal with the problems of a changing society and a growing state," he said.

Before this decade ends, Henley forecast, annual sessions will be an accomplished fact.

The experience of higher education committees meeting out-of-session to draft its bill, Henley added, will prove the beginning of standing committees. That evolution in legislative structure, he said, will pave the way for annual sessions.

Some influential legislators see the future differently. Sen. Ralph Scott of Alamance said the present system serves well enough. Extraordinary matters can be handled at a special or recessed session, in the manner of higher education restructure, he said. "Issues like this don't come along every day," Scott observed.

Senate Dan Says No

Negative sentiment was echoed by Sen. Claude Currie of Durham, dean of the upper chamber. "I see no pressing need for it," he said. "States which have annual sessions meet about as long every year as we do every two years, they're no better off."

Another "no" was voiced by Rep. Perry Martin of Northampton, House Higher Education chairman. There is merit in standing committees, but none in annual sessions, he contended.

Annual sessions would end the role of citizen-legislators, and require full-time, professional lawmakers as in Congress, he said. "I feel we can better represent the interests of the people under the present situation," he added.

Selling the concept to the public is the tough assignment, said Sen. Gordon Allen of Person, newly-elected Senate President Pro-Tem. "An awful lot of people are not ready to accept annual sessions," he said.

Still, the trend is visible and its culmination in sight within the next 10 years, Allen said.

Cost Is A Factor

Money is the barrier, said Sen. Charles Larkins of Lenoir, who's not keen on annual sessions. People thing the legislature costs too much now, and doubling the expense by meeting every year hardly would be popular, he speculated.

Pay for legislators would have to be raised, agreed Sen. Zeb Alley of Haywood. A freshman, he didn't get involved in this session's unsuccessful push for a bill sponsored by Sen. Marshall Rauch of Gaston for annual sessions. Next time, Alley said, he'd be active for such a measure.

"Our budget is getting too big to handle meeting every two years," he said.

Big, but not yet big enough, said Sen. John Burney of New Hanover, Senate Finace chairman. The state budget now is in the neighborhood of $4 billion. "When it reaches $8 or $9 billion, we'll have to have annual sessions," said Burney.

People are asking whether biennial sessions are sufficient and efficient, said Rep. Nancy Chase of Wayne. "I've had people put the question to me on the street," she said.

Open-end annual sessions could get out of hand. She would favor it only with rigid restrictuions on length and mode of operation.

Often discussed in the past, annual legislative sessions remain a lively possibility. It's certain to get close study in '73, and may find the time ripe for the break with tradition.

Underscored Need For Another Junior High

Aycock Junior High Principal Paul H. Rasberry underscored the need for another junior high school building here in a talk to the Lions Club.

A second junior high is one of Greenville's most pressing needs, he said. Aycock, he reported, was built for 1,200 students, but has an extra 400 to 500 students.

It has become clear that a second junior high is required and the sooner we get it underway the better.

Agnew Willing To Step Aside

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — In a private motel dining room here on the night of Sept. 23 Vice President Spiro T. Agnew astonished his staunchest Republican allies in Congress with an earnest pledge that under no circumstances would he run for reelection next year if his presence on the ticket would damage President Nixon's own reelection.

To some 35 Republican Congressmen who heard him, Agnew's pledge was totally credible. Coming at a time of rising talk about the possibility of Mr. Nixon naming Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally as his 1972 running-mate, the Vice President's words were a potent sign that he is preparing himself, both privately and with his political allies, to be eased off the ticket.

The pledge from the Vice President was given to a group of conservative Congressmen headed by Rep. Samuel L. Devine of Ohio, who frequently — and secretly — meet with top Administration officials about political matters.

Dinner at the Twin Bridges Motel was largely uneventful as Agnew discussed routine party matters, touching on his forthcoming trip to Greece. The drama came when one of the Congressmen asked Agnew for assurance that he would be Mr. Nixon's running-mate.

Agnew's answer was long and well thought-out. He recalled the threat to Mr. Nixon's own renomination in 1956 and his decision to fight to stay on the Eisenhower ticket. He praised Mr. Nixon for having refused to buckle to liberals who wanted to dump him.

But 1956 was far different from 1972, Agnew went on. In 1956, President Eisenhower was certain of reelection. Not so, he said, for Mr. Nixon in 1972.

With only 43 per cent of the vote in 1968, President Nixon would need every asset he could get his hands on to be reelected next year, Agnew said. One such asset could be a Vice Presidential nominee not named Spiro Agnew.

After dropping that world, a bombshell to Devine and his pro-Agnew Republican cohorts, Agnew listened as one after another in his audience rose to predict party disaster if Agnew were dropped from the ticket. Agnew strongly dissented. There would be no "dumping," he said. Rather, he himself would insist on a replacement if polls and other political data showed that he would be a drag on the ticket.

To all protests, Agnew was utterly immune. When he fielded the last question, he was given a standing ovation. At least some in his audience carried away the distrint feeling that Agnew had no mental reservation about what he had just said: in effect, that his words were more in the nature of a prediction than a remote possibility.

That feeling, moreover, is shared by some of the most astute politicians who have entree to Mr. Nixon's White House. They reason that the chief attraction of Agnew on Mr. Nixon's 1972 Presidential ticket is to put the icing on the cake of the President's Southern strategy. But they now think the cake may need no icing.

The President finally has redeemed his pledge to powerful Southern textile interests to stem textile imports from Japan. Each of his six nominations to the Supreme Court, two of them defeated in the Senate, carried out his 1968 pledge for strict constructionist Justices satisfying to the South. By repeated and angry denunciations of public school busing to advance racial desegregation, Mr. Nixon and his top aides have ingratiated themselves with the South. Finally, the White House now believes that the odds are better than even that Gov. George Wallace of Alabama will not try another third-party Presidential race.

Cables To White House

WASHINGTON — "Mr. President, I have some cables I would like to read to you."

"Yes, Mr. Rogers. Go ahead."

The secretary of state started to read:

"Because of recent actions taken by your government, I must warn you that we are going to take strong measures that might eventually lead to a break in relations between our two countries."

"Is that from Kosygin?" the President asked anxiously.

"No, it's from Premier Trudeau of Canada."

"He's probably bluffing, but alert our SAC command anyway."

"Here's the next one, Mr. President. 'Your perfidious and outrageous behavior toward our country has forced me to take action which will cause grave consequences for the entire world.' "

"It sounds like a note from North Vietnam."

"I'm afraid not, Mr. President. It came from Japan."

"But Hirohito didn't seem mad when I saw him in Alaska."

"This was just delivered this morning, Mr. President. 'The running dogs of the United States imperialism will soon realize that we will not be pushed around and that we are not paper tigers who can be sacrificed on the altar of the American dollar.' "

"Let me think who that could be from," the President said. "I know — it's from Chile."

"You're wrong again, Mr. President. It's from Denmark."

"Little Denmark?" the President said. "But they're in NATO."

"I know sir. It surprised us too. Here is another one. 'The betrayal by the Americans, though it did not come as a surprise, has not gone unnoticed in this part of the world. We shall reciprocate in kind until we have you on your knees begging for mercy and screaming for forgiveness.' "

"That has to be Castro," the President said.

The secretary of state shook his head. "It's from Chiang Kai-shek in Taiwan."

"Well, you can't win them all," the President said.

"This one was delivered verbally to our ambassador: 'Tell your President that his recent actions can only be interpreted as a personal affront to 40 million people, and we shall demand full compensation for any losses suffered by his unilateral action.'"

"That has to be Egypt," the President said.

"Would you believe it came from the Vatican?"

"Connally said the surcharge would cause some difficulties, but I didn't think we'd be in this much trouble. Mr. Rogers, don't you have any cables with good news in them?

The secretary kept going through the flimsies.

Finally he came up with one. "Here you are, sir. It reads: 'Dear Mr. President. I

Other Editors Say Twin Trailers?

(Raleigh Times)

The 1973 General Assembly might have to face a familiar issue: whether to legalize twin-trailers.

The 1969 legislature had this issue, and it was the subject of a long and hard-fought battle which the anti-twin-trailer forces won by a narrow margin in the Senate. The 1971 session didn't have to face it.

In a recent news story, the United Press International reported from Hickory that the trucking industry is studying the use of twin-trailers. The story quoted M. C. Benton, president of the North Carolina Motor Carriers Association, as saying that the industry is studying the twin-trailers. He said that the combination of a truck-tractor drawing two 27-foot trailers exceeded by 10 feet the length allowed on trucks by North Carolina law.

The news story said that such combinations are permitted in all western states, most midwestern states and two eastern states. Benton said, the UPI reported, that "in billions of miles of service, twin-trailer equipment has proven itself safe and extremely efficient."

It is difficult for a layman to see how a three-unit vehicle, 10 feet longer than the present big trucks on the highways, could be that safe. It is easy to see how it could be efficient from the point of view of the truckers, since the one driver could transport that much more freight along the highways.

If this matter is to be brought before the 1973 General Assembly, it should be discussed thoroughly in the primaries and in the general election campaigns of 1972. The trucking industry is never bashful about presenting its points of view to the legislature, both in the State House and outside the legislature building. The truckers buffet has become justly famed for its hospitality to legislators in recent years. The truckers usually have one of the most skilled corps of lobbyists on hand for the legislative sessions.

It would be entirely in order for the voters to ask legislative candidates — and candidates for Governor and other State offices, too — how they feel about legalizing the twin-trailers. The truckers won't hesitate about asking for support if they decide to bring this issue to the 1973 Assembly. The voters who will be sharing the highways with these super-size trucks shouldn't hesitate to find out how their legislative candidates feel — and why.

Brood With Taste

NEW YORK (AP) — How are you coming along with your worry list?

The difference between the amateur brooder and the serious brooder is what they worry about. The amateur worrier worries about anything and everything. He doesn't get wrinkles fretting over trifles. He concentrates on the big worries.

With this in mind, it is a good idea for a fellow to weed out his worries periodically so he doesn't waste his time.

Here are a few problems and issues we've decided to put in our discard file and let somebody else worry about:

Is Lassie taking the pill?

Would the U.S. foreign policy improve if we gave our diplomats overtime pay?

What, if anything, is being done to improve the working conditions of laboratory mice?

If we are to close the generation gap, does that mean adults will have to learn to act like teen-agers, or teen-agers learn to act like adults?

Why do they still call it the cocktail hour when sometimes it lasts till darned near morning?

Would it help solve your dog's identity problem if you fed him food from a personalized can with his very own name on the label?

Is golf taking the place of sex in the American way of life?

It was revealed by records in the office of the Pitt County Department of Health this morning that no new cases of scarlet fever have been reported in Pitt County since the first of the week. Fifteen cases were on record at the department Monday morning but they were confined to widely separated areas and caused no alarm to health officials.

"Charter Night" will be observed at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis Club at the Woman's Club building Friday evening. The program will be in charge of Charlie Harvey and will deal with the important occasion ten years ago when the club received its charter.

Dr. G. W. Gasque of Atlanta, Georgia, who is coming to Greenville to begin an evangelistic meeting at St. Paul's Church on Sunday morning, will arrive in Greenville Saturday at noon. Dr. Gasque is accompaniec by Charlie Tillman, the well known Methodist gospel singer and song writer.

As Light As The Buying Power

By ELMER ROESSNER

It might be timely for Treasury Secretary John B. Connally to consider replacing coins now in use with aluminum coins.

It would be easy to make a shift now that coins in use have little or no intrinsic value.

Advantages of aluminum coinage would be there:

—Copper, used in pennies and sandwish coins, may become costlier as Chile takes over American-operated copper mines in that country and may divert copper production to Russia and other communist countries.

—Aluminum production now exceeds demand, and the price is weakening. Use of aluminum in coinage would be a reverse of our recent pattern of exporting jobs. It would mean more jobs in the aluminum industry at home, fewer jobs supported by American buying in Chile.

—The lightness of aluminum would save wear on pockets.

—That lightness would encourage the return of

dollar coins, coins which would save the government millions because they would last longer than paper money.

Save Counting

—The weight of aluminum coins could be proportionalized so that a mixture of coins could be totaled by weighing, eliminating counting by banks, stores, etc.

There would, of course, be screams of protest, such as:

—The coin industry would bellow because most coin machines would have to be adjusted to handle the new coins. In many machines, new mechanisms would be required because of the lighter wieght of aluminum coins. The convenience of the general public is paramount over the interests of a single industry, especially one that frequently unintentionally cheats the public. Furthermore, adjusting old mechanisms and making new ones would help the unemployment situation.

—There would be complaints that aluminum is softer than the present sandwich metals, causing faster wear, rejection by coin machines and possible jamming of them. This could be overcome by anodizing aluminum coins. Furthermore, they could be colored in the anodizing process, making recognition faster.

Confusion

—There would undoubtedly be considerable confusion in changing from one coinage to another, as was demonstrated when Britain changed from shillings and pence to its new decimal system.

But aluminum money is practical, as was demonstrated in France in World War II. The Germans took all the gold and silver coins and bullion (as well as much of the champagne and cognac) and the captive French government was forced to issue aluminum coins. At the same time, the captive nation suffered great inflation.

British Vote Brings United Europe Nearer Reality

By FRED COLEMAN
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — A democratic vote in the British Parliament Thursday night moved the age-old dream of a united Europe further than the armies of Charlemagne, Napoleon or Hitler ever advanced it by force.

The British decision to join the Common Market brought Western Europe to the threshhold of its strongest union since the nations involved were tied together as part of the Roman Empire 15 centuries ago.

This time they were moving together by choice, on relatively narrow grounds at first,building a free trade group that would rival the economic power of the United States or the Soviet Union.

Market advocates in Britain and on the continent also saw the expansion of the Common Market as a key step toward a politically united Europe that eventually could take its place among the world's superpowers. But even the most ardent European admitted this was still a long way off.

It took 10 years just to agree on terms for British entry into the Common Market. But that agreement marked fundamental changes of attitude—on both sides of the English Channel—likely to favor future political cooperation.

For Britain it meant admitting that the twin pillars of its foreign policy since 1945—special relationships with the United States and the British Commonwealth — had been downgraded in favor of a European role.

The United States and the Commonwealth nations, like Britain, have been increasing trade and other ties with the European community.

For the French, who twice vetoed British membership in the Common Market, the welcome mat now out also marks fundamental changes of attitude. No longer are the British viewed as a Trojan horse, building a bulkhead in Europe for the United States.

The monetary and trade crisis this year has underscored this change in relationships, with Britain lining up on the European side against the United States. Britain and the Europeans want an end to the 10 per cent U.S. import surcharge and seek a devaluation of the dollar against gold as part of a general currency realignment.

Britain in the Common Market is expected to strengthen the European hand—provided they can agree—in future talks with the United States on these and related questions, like defense cost sharing.

Italy and the low countries—Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg—have long welcomed British entry as a counterforce to French-German domination of the Common Market decision-making. Some Germans see the British as a counterforce to the French, and some French see the British as a counterforce to the Germans. All are agreed that once Britain joins, political relationships within the community are sure to change.

Defense normally remains outside the Common Market's discussions. But both President Georges Pompidou of France and Prime Minister Edward Heath of Britain favor a Common Market summit meeting next year at which defense questions, such as nuclear sharing, could be discussed.

An Associated Press survey of Common Market nations showed that the economic consequences of Britain joining are almost universally expected to be a boost of trade for everyone, with little serious effect on the cost of living or other domestic problems.

The French expect to sell more butter and dairy products to Britain and probably will buy more British processed foods such as frozen fish, canned goods or dried soups.

The French currently sell more cars in Britain than they buy. Some British retail chains are more efficient and can be expected to undercut French rivals.

Italy expects to sell ore fruits and vegetables to Britain, and buy more processed foods.

Germany hopes to sell more manufactured goods in Britain to make up for the lost American sales from the import surcharge.

Vote Dancey As Chairman

WASHINGTON — William E. Dansey, Greenville real estate developer and building contractor, was recently elected Republican Party chairman for the First Congressional District.

Dansey succeeds John A. Wilkinson, a Washington attorney who had held the GOP post for the past ten years. Wilkinson elected not to run again this year.

Balloting that gave Dansey his win over Garvin Hardison of Minnesott Beach took place at the First District Republican Convention in Washington.

Frank Steinbeck of Greenville was elected to represent Pitt County on the 10-member executive committee. E. C. Newcomb of Greene County and Jack Revels of Martin were also named to serve on the executive board. Mrs. Betty Poole, of Kinston was elected vice chairman and Don Pollock, a Kinston attorney, was elected secretary-treasurer.

But in addition to these clear political gains in the South, all of which tend to reduce Agnew's importance to the ticket, the White House is on the recieving end these days of strong enthusiasm from Republican businessmen for Democrat Connally to replace Agnew.

Nor is Connally anathema to the South, as one Southern Republican who was in Agnew's audience that evening told us: "If it's Connally instead of Agnew, we could accept that in the South."

The President, of course, will make no decision for many months. But as of now, Agnew has convinced his political allies that, if the President's decision is against him, he will go out like a lamb.

wish you to know how grateful we are for everything the United States is doing and how all of us here consider that you are not only a great President, but a brave one, who will do the right thing, even if it's unpopular and could hurt you politically. Your courage has been an inspiration to our country and we sincerely hope we will be friends for years to come.' "

"That's more like it," the President smiled. "I knew Prime Minister Heath would come through."

"This isn't from Prime Minister Heath, sir. It's from Chou En-lai. He gave it to Henry Kissinger last Thurday."

ALL IS READY FOR HALLOWEEN — The Eddie Utley family, of Shady Knoll Mobile Homes Estates, has created a scene in the front yard which depicts the family of three. The yard characters are amid a scene of two smiling jack o'lanterns, gourds and Indian corn. The man in the scene is holding a pitchfork to work in the hay, the woman is churning butter as the little boy looks on. Miniature ghosts, attached to a tree limb above, dance in the air. Gideons Make A Bible Handy For People Away From Home

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Three traveling salesmen, chatting one night to Wis., hotel lobby, started the idea. Today, 72 years later, it is a worldwide movement of 33,500 men, making the Bible handy for people away from home.

"It's a tremendously growing challenge," says M. A. Henderson, Nashville, Tenn., executive director of Gideons International, made up of business and professional men of various Protestant denominations.

Although its distribution of Bibles has tripled in the last decade, its membership doubled and its budget quadrupled, it recently has been unable to match the expanding need both to replace worn or pilfered books and to stock the fast-increasing new motel rooms.

"Frankly, we just haven't been able to keep up," Henderson said in an interview. "But we're constantly working to get our members to beat the bushes and try to catch up with the huge growth in opportunities."

"It's a never-ending process," said Henderson, 49, a Presbyterian, and the Gideons' operational executive for 15 years. But the "spiritual fruits" are great, he added, citing the constant flow of letters from travelers and others, telling of lives enriched by the book left for them to read.

Besides seeking to keep a Bible in every hotel and motel room in the land, the interdenominational organization also supplies Bibles in airliners, prison cells, physicians' offices, hospitals, to military personnel, nurses, and schoolteachers. It also now operates in 87 foreign countries.

Last year, it distributed 7.8 million Bibles and Testaments, up 8.3 per cent from the year before, and three times as many as 10 years ago. The total since its founding passed 100 million in August, a point marked by presenting a copy to President Nixon.

The Gideons are organized into 1,185 local "camps" in this country, so called in memory of their namesake, the Biblical leader whose small band triumphed over a huge army through daring and faith. They must be active church members, committed to witnessing personally to Jesus. About a third of them still are traveling salesmen, although other business and professional men, doctors, lawyers and professors, now are included.

They themselves contribute 40 per cent of the organization's budget, now $4.5 million annually, four times what it was a decade ago, raising about 60 per cent of its through contributions of local churches. The English-language Bibles are purchased from the National Bible Press, of Philadelphia, at $1.20 each.

Church To Hold Groundbreaking

MACCLESFIELD — Ground breaking, homecoming and harvest Sunday will be held Sunday at the Webb's Chapel Baptist Church.

The pastor has announced the following schedule: Sunday School at 9:45 a.m., worship service at 10:15, ground breaking at 12:15 and a picnic luncheon at 12:30 p.m.

The Rev. Cecil Baugham is pastor and will conclude a week long revival during the morning worship.

The church was founded in 1915 and services have been held in a church building located on the same site since it was founded. The congregation, now numbering in excess of 300, has purchased land one mile south of Macclesfield and will begin construction in November.

Participating in the ground breaking ceremony will be Mrs. Sallie Phillips and Mrs. Carrie O. Webb, the two oldest living members in the congregations, former pastors and their families, former members and members of other churches in the community.

The congregation established a building fund six years ago for the purposes of constructing a new building. The new facility will include an educational building, fellowship hall and sanctuary.

Chairman of the Building Committee, Linwood C. Owens, will deliver the messages during the ground breaking service.

Fellowship Will Hold A Dinner

The Unitarian Fellowship of Greenville will have a covered-dish dinner beginning at noon on Sunday.

Following the dinner, there will be a short business session to elect interim officers for 1971-72 and evaluating the need to reactivate their Religious Education Program (Sunday School).

Persons interested in attending the dinner and families wishing to participate in the Sunday School are asked to contact Vincent Bellis, 758-1979, for further information.

17-Year-Old's Death Said Due Natural Causes

RALEIGH (AP) — The Department of Corrections says a 17-year-old inmate of the Harnett Youth Center died Thursday of "apparent natural causes."

The prisoner was identified as Waitus Webb Jr. of Rt. 1, Reigelwood.

Robert Hinton, executive administrative assistant in the department, said Webb was stricken at the center in Lillington and was declared dead on arrival by ambulance at the Central Prison Hospital in Raleigh. He said the cause of death was listed as respiratory insufficiency.

Hinton said, "He had had an asthmatic condition."

The youth had been in prison since June, serving three indeterminate sentences ranging up to eight years for breaking, entering and larceny.

The window of the little antique shop is filled with lovely colors, sparkling in the sunlight. They could smash into bits in an instant if one were careless. But this fragile glassware has outlasted the men who made it. It would seem that things are more durable than people.

Things — all things — are the products of men's minds and talents. But they have no will of their own, no feeling. No matter the obvious evidence, it is impossible that objects could outlast man — even if you didn't believe in eternal life.

Where is the answer? Perhaps you can find out in the church of your choice.

Increased Alert For Thieu's Inaugural

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — More than 40,000 South Vietnamese troops and police were mobilized today as part of a tight security network in and around Saigon for the inauguration Sunday of President Nguyen Van Thieu.

Across South Vietnam, 202,000 U.S. troops went on an increased alert in anticipation of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong attacks during the inauguration.

The alert also was intended to keep American troops away from any hostile demonstrations by anti-Thieu forces who blame the United States for his unopposed re-election.

About 1,500 South Vietnamese reinforcements were brought to the capital for the inauguration.

The other forces are part of Saigon's normal defense network but have been mobilized as a citywide security force, with the majority of them in the downtown area.

Representatives of foreign governments began arriving for the inauguration ceremony. Treasury Secretary John B. Connally, representing President Nixon, is due Saturday and in advance U.S. Secret Service agents made elaborate preparations.

On the battlefields, the U.S. Command reported that an American observation helicopter was shot down 21 miles northeast of Saigon, but the crew survived.

South Vietnamese troops battled about 100 Viet Cong for nine hours 42 miles northeast of the capital, and spokesmen said 16 enemy troops were killed. One South Vietnamese soldier and a hamlet chief were killed and six government troops and four civilians were wounded, field reports said.

In the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh, military sources said at least 50 Cambodian soldiers were wounded in fighting along a 25-miles stretch of Highway 6 during the third day of an enemy counteroffensive in northeastern Cambodia.

The sources said the heaviest fighting was at the village of Kiri Andeth, about 54 miles northeast of Phnom Penh. The high command claimed that government troops, backed by allied warplanes, were inflicting heavy losses on the enemy.

In other developments, the U.S. Command announced that another unit of the Americal Division, the 1st Battalion, 14th Artillery, had been pulled out of combat as part of Nixon's disengagement of American forces from the war. The authorized strength of the battalion is 640 men.

The Americal Division is being disbanded and its base camp at Chu Lai in the northern sector of the country is scheduled to be turned over to the South Vietnamese next month.

North Pitt Notes

By FAITH HAMM

North Pitt has been busy this week taking care of the responsibilities that go along with being "distinguished" high school students.

Public relations is the big word around North Pitt this week and will be for a while.

Jimmy Nelson is presently employed as a part-time public relations man for North Pitt High School.

The project now underway and planned by Nelson, is to have visitors (including club officers, parents, leaders of the community, and others) to visit the school campus and observe the various activities.

The visitors are treated to lunch and given a tour of the school facilities.

The visitors offer suggestions and give advice that will lead to better relations and attitudes in the school.

The guests for this week were six ministers from the surrounding communities. They were Dr. Robert F. McKee, Rev. David Payton, Rev. J. H. Hyman, Rev. J. H. Carraway, Rev. Jack Mayo and Rev. Daniel Boone.

The Student Government Association met and agreed to sponsor a series of mini-courses in the spring.

Courses will be chosen according to the main interests tallied from the student body.

North Pitt is grieved to report its first major injury which occurred in the junior varsity football game Thursday night with D. H. Conley.

Marion Barnes suffered a fractured pelvis. He is expected to be released from Pitt Memorial Hospital this week.

Report cards were distributed Monday.

After 2 Years, 'Hypo' Finally Finds A Home

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — The nurses at Northwest Texas Hospital are going to miss old Hypo.

"He walks with me up to my door and stands there until I'm inside and have the light on," one nurse says of Hypo, the loyal honey-colored collie which the dogcatcher and police finally collared on the hospital grounds.

Hypo had been a celebrated character around the hospital for more than two years. When nurses quit work at night he escorted them to their cars. Hypo also was sort of an unofficial guard in front of the nurses' dormitory.

As the story goes—and no one can confirm it—Hypo's owner died in the hospital. Hypo stayed on.

Further, according to local folklore, his owner drove a Volkswagen which was taken away after his death. This is the reason, some say, Hypo chased cars, but only Volkswagens, then faithfully turned around and trotted back to the hospital.

When Hypo was cornered by the dogcatcher Tuesday the nurses were furious. Hypo was taken to the animal shelter and faced a dismal future. He would have been put to sleep if not claimed by his owner within 72 hours.

When the Amarillo News and Globe-Times splashed the story on Page 1, this city of 127,000 went into an uproar.

Mayor L. Ray Vahue made a statement explaining the situation. Hospital Administrator F. S. Walters had to explain why the hospital couldn't assume ownership of Hypo.

Merrill Buckles, director of the animal shelter, issued running accounts of the latest developments.

The nurses pooled their nickels and dimes for money to buy a dog tag. But Walters explained the hospital could not take the responsibility in the event Hypo caused an injury.

As the 72-hour deadline neared, the sheriff's office, police headquarters, the newspapers and animal shelter were swamped with calls from people who wanted Hypo.

First in with a bid to adopt Hypo were Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Wilhite.

So, says shelter director Buckles, Mrs. Wilhite will pick up Hypo today.

Calls President, Mitchell Thugs

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Dr. Benjamin Spock, baby doctor and antiwar activist, says President Nixon and Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell are thugs because, he said, they broke the law in allowing mass arrest of peace demonstrators in Washington on May 1.

Addressing about 2,500 students at the University of Texas at Arlington on Thursday, Spock said:

"When I call Nixon and Mitchell thugs, what I'm talking about is the fact that they hesitate—do not hesitate—in the slightest to break the law themselves when it is something that they believe in. I was referring to the fact that last May Day I was one of the 12,000 arrested without the slightest legal excuse or the slightest legal procedure because they wanted us off the streets of Washington."

Many Holidays In Lebanon Observed

By GERARD LOUGHRAN

BEIRUT (UPI)—There may be other countries with as many legal holidays as are observed in Lebanon, although it seems unlikely.

The number of days off stem from Lebanon's character as a half-Moslem, half-Christian state and an extraordinarily generous governmental attitude in a non-welfare state towards the needs of private citizen.

Almost all the holidays are paid for government employees and in the private sector employers usually find themselves forced to pay overtime if they need staff.

First, there are five national holidays, namely Arab League Day, Labor Day, Martyrs' Day, Independence Day and Evacuation Day, which fall respectively on March 22, May 1, May 6, November 22 and December 31.

All are official holidays and employers must give staffs time off or overtime if they are willing to work. In the case of Independence Day and Labor Day, an employer faces a jail sentence if he does not allow the holiday or pay double time in lieu.

Then there are 20 religious holidays, every one of them official and all taken by adherents of both religions, not to mention non-believers.

They are: New Year, Al Adha Feast (4 days), St. Maroun, Moslem New Year, Good Friday (Western), Easter Day (Western), Ascension Day, Good Friday (Eastern), Easter Day (Eastern), Assumption, Prophet's Birthday, Ashoura, All Saints Day, Al Fitr Feast (3 days), and Christmas Day.

Every Sunday, of course, is a day off, and the official yearly vacation is 20 days. And there are innumerable other "off" days or times.

A Moslem is entitled to leave his place of work at 11 a.m. each Friday for prayers at the mosque which becomes a half-day loss totalling some 26 days per year. Armenians get an extra day to celebrate the feast of their patron, St. Vartan.

A bride or bridegroom gets one week off for a honeymoon in addition to annual vacation and a pregnant mother is entitled to three months for childbirth.

If a close relative dies, three days may officially be taken from work and if a distant relative dies, one day.

So it just could happen that a Moslem woman takes her national holidays (5 days), her religious holidays (20), every Sunday (52), and vacation (20), prays each Friday (26), gets married (7), has a baby (90), loses a close relative (3) and a distant one (1), to give herself a total 225 days off in a year which has only 365 days.

Light Sale At Farmville

FARMVILLE — The volume of sale yesterday on the Farmville Tobacco market was the lightest of the season.

"As the end of the 1971 auction draws to a close, sales are expected to be lighter for the remainder of the season," explained Louis Williams, sales supervisor for the Farmville Tobacco Board of Trade.

Offerings on the Farmville market yesterday consisted of an unusually large quantity of damaged tobacco which is an indication that more growers are cleaning out their pack houses, according to Williams.

"Low grades and nondescript grades accounted for most of the volume yesterday," Williams said. "Stabilization receipts were lighter than any previous sales day this week. Receipts consisted of leaf, smoking leaf, cutters and some grades of lugs."

The Farmville market yesterday sold 384,373 pounds of leaf for $292,448.98, yielding an average of $76.08 per hundred pounds. So far this season, the market has sold 19,752,688 for $15,670,335, for a season average of $79.33 per hundred pounds.

Filing Suit To Present 'Hair'

CHARLOTTE (AP) — An attorney said Thursday he hoped to file a suit in U.S. District court in Charlotte today to force the Charlotte Coliseum Authority to permit the presentation of the stage musical "Hair."

The attorney, Stanley Gertzman, represents Robert Cherin of Southeastern Promotions. A member of the Coliseum Authority, Arthur Newcombe, said Thursday that the authority would fight any suit filed against it.

The authority voted 3-2 to ban the stage show from Ovens Auditorium, with those voting against the musical objecting to a sex-second nude scene.

STORED WEATHER

NEW YORK (UPI) —Air conditioners that store, or hold, cold at night for daytime use could cut summer power consumption by 15 per cent, say researchers at the University of Pennsylvania's National Center for Energy Management and Power.

Rap Brown Goes To Prison Ward

NEW YORK (AP) — H. Rap Brown, recovering from bullet wounds suffered in a police shootout, has been shifted to the prison ward of Bellevue Hospital.

Brown was shifted Thursday from Roosevelt Hospital where he had been under treatment since seized earlier this month with three other men in an attempted bar holdup.

Brown was arraigned on charges of attempted robbery, attempted murder, and possession of a dangerous weapon. He is held in lieu of $250,000 bail.

Although identified through fingerprints as Brown, the prisoner claims to be Roy Williams.

The Twin Cities Campus Assembly is made up of 60 students and 125 faculty members from the St. Paul and Minneapolis campuses of the university.

burg, that would give the school of arts a board representative until June 30, 1973—when the seat would be abolished.

Knox, attempting to win approval of his amendment, said it was needed in the name of fairness. He noted that, in presession interviews and statements, legislative leaders had pledged restructuring would be carried out without political motivation.

"But 90 per cent of what we've done here has been honest, hard-nosed politics," Knox said.

His amendment passed 44-3.

The Senate also passed an amendment by Sen. Lamar Gudger, D-Buncombe, authorizing the House to elect the 33rd member.

Both houses turned back efforts Thursday to strip the governing board of its budgetary power over all institutions. The House also rejected a proposal that would have spelled out powers of local boards.

Shift From Pot To Using Heroin

RALEIGH (AP) — Director Charles Dunn of the State Bureau of Investigation says North Carolina drug users are shifting from marijuana to heroin and include more younger persons.

"The trend in marijuana use is down. The problem drug now is heroin," Dunn told an audience at North Carolina State University.

But most disturbing, Dunn said, was the fact that "drugs are moving down into lower and lower age groups all the time."

He said a broad education program on drug abuse starting with children is needed to combat the problem.

Kill Gunman In Night Clashes

BELFAST (AP) — British troops killed a gunman and wounded a man and a woman in clashes with snipers during the night, British military headquarters reported.

The shooting occurred in the Roman Catholic Ardoyne district of Belfast. The wounded man was in serious condition, but the woman was only slightly hurt, the army said.

The death toll after two years of communal warfare in Northern Ireland has now risen to 140. Five people have been killed in the past two days.

Charge Woman In Gun Murder

WILSON, N.C. (AP) — A 29-year-old Wilson woman, Mrs. Lucille Talton, has been charged with murder in the shotgun slaying of her husband.

Police said they found Gerald Talton, 29, lying dead across a bed with two shotgun wounds in his chest. They said the shooting apparently followed a domestic quarrel.

Probe Slaying At Gas Station

KENLY, N.C. (AP) — Officers at Kenly are investigating the slaying of a gas station attendant early Thursday morning.

Robert Lee Cockrell, 38, was found at about 4:30 by three South Carolina women who stopped at the station to buy gas. Cockrell was working at the station alone.

Police Chief Blonnie Warbritton said between $200 and $300 was missing from the cash register.

Young Rider Wins State Fair Honors

BETHEL — Mary Tad Carson, eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Carson of Bethel, took first place at the North Carolina State Fair Horse Show in the English Pleasure Ponies class.

Miss Carson faced 24 other entries in the class, a performance class where riders ask their animals to walk, trot and canter both ways in the ring.

She also took first place in the English Horses and Ponies Fitting and Showmanship Halter Class for youth, ages 14 and under as well as Reserve Champion in English Horses and Ponies Fitting and Showmanship Halter Championship Class at the State Fair show.

Miss Carson, the youngest exhibiter in each of the classes, is in her first season of showing horses, and has been a consistent ribbon winner on the Coastal Plain Horse Show Circuit in other larger state shows.

Mary's instructor was Graham House of Greenville.

All But $20 Of Money Regained

LEBANON, Ore. (AP) — Amy Bressler has received a check for $390 from the Treasury Department—all but $20 of the cash she says she accidentally burned in the fireplace of her parents' home.

Miss Bresler earned $410 as a lifeguard instructor last summer, and last August she said she mistakenly threw her savings into the fireplace along with trash. Later, she and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Bresler, discovered the remains of the currency.

They sent the ashes to Washington with an affidavit saying what happened. Treasury Department investigators were able to verify the remains of $390 and sent her a check for that amount, Miss Bresler said.

TO BE CONSIDERED

RALEIGH (AP) — A bill to lift the $14 ceiling on the amount paid nursing homes for the care of indigent patients was scheduled for consideration in the Senate today.

Nuclear Testing Foes Push Case

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Another protest ship headed for remote Amchitka Island off the coast of Alaska today, expanding the wake of spreading controversy over a planned nuclear underground test.

The Greenpeace Two, a converted minesweeper, made a refueling stop at New West Minister near Vancouver, B.C., before sailing to a rendezvous just off the island with her sister ship, the Greenpeace.

Both ships plan to anchor off the three-mile limit at Amchitka the day of the blast—believed scheduled for next Thursday—to protest the test.

Meanwhile, dissent spread throughout Canada and Alaska over the test, which some fear might touch off an earthquake or tidal wave.

Another Canadian protest demonstration was planned by a group called the Amchitka Exodus Council. The group's initials mimicked the Atomic Energy Commission, which will conduct the five-megaton detonation.

A group of Vancouver, B.C. residents plan to lead a procession of cars, campers and trailers away from the British Columbia city starting Monday. Spokesmen said similar demonstrations were being organized in West Coast cities in the United States.

The University of British Columbia Alma Mater Society called for a peaceful demonstration Wednesday at the U.S. Consulate in Vancouver.

In Tokyo, the Japanese government said it told the United States today that the plan to conduct the test is "regrettable." The Foreign Ministry said a statement delivered to the U.S. Embassy complained that the test and the establishment of a warning area in connection with it largely restricted the freedom of the high seas and particularly an area used by Japanese shipping, planes and fishing boats.

The event is the annual autumn concert of the East Carolina Symphony Orchestra, and is not a recital. Miss Dalapas will appear as featured soloist in the program.

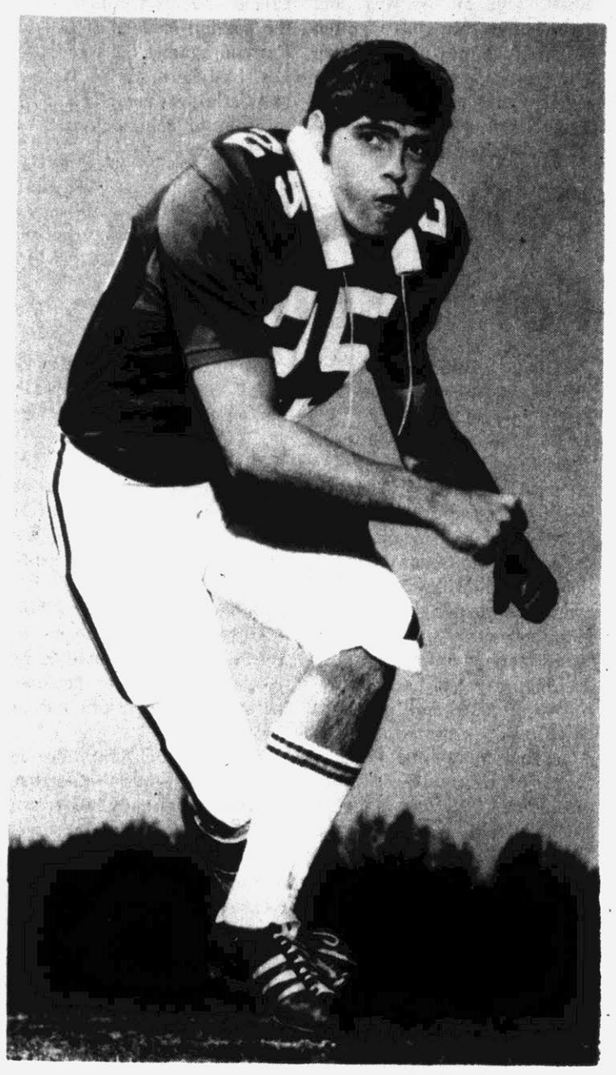
Pesky Paladins Invade Ficklen Stadium



There is something about East Carolina University that seems to bring out the best in the Furman Paladins. Not that Furman has won a lot of games against the Bucs—they are 2-6 in the series. They just seem to fight a little bit harder.

"This is the biggest game of the year for them," Coach Sonny Randle said of his opponent for this Saturday night in Ficklen Stadium.

And past tradition just might seem to point to that.

There have been eight previous meetings of the two teams. The first was in 1961 and was won by Furman, 29-8. East Carolina won the next, 34-13, and Furman took the next, 14-7.

Since then, the Pirates have swept five in a row. And of those five, four have been decided by a touchdown or less. The widest margin was in 1968, when the Bucs won, 24-13. Otherwise, the Pirates have had to settle for wins of 17-10, 34-29, 24-21 and 7-0.

The victory last year was one of the sweetest in the series. The Pirates were wallowing in a 0-7 year at the time, while Furman appeared heading for a Southern Conference football title, a rare thing in Paladin country.

But Rich Peeler turned in one of his most outstanding games (he was named Southern Conference Player of the Week for it), and sparked the Pirate win. The loss by the Paladins cost them the title as they went on to an 8-3 record.

This year, things are a little different. Furman comes into the game with a 3-3-1 record, while the Pirates are 2-5.

They only picked up their second win last week, but it was one of the greatest in the history of East Carolina, a 31-15 romp over N.C. State.

"It's been a happy week," Randle said, "but we haven't let it take over. We haven't really enjoyed it since Sunday. We've had to direct our attention toward Furman."

Randle pointed out that the victory over State won't mean much if Furman pulls off a victory over the Pirates. "Both the coaches and players realize this, and we're doing all we can to guard against a let down."

Randle added that the players were confidant but not cocky. "We know that if we play like we are capable of doing that we can battle the best of them. But if we just go through the motions, anybody can beat us."

And the Pirates haven't given up on a break-even season. It's still within their grasp. "But right now," Randle said, "we're more interested in making it 3-5. Then we can worry about 4-5, and after that 5-5. We have to take them one at a time."

The walking wounded of the Pirates forced a second week of light drills as they began to come around. Randle doesn't like this, but there is little he can do about it. "We've got to get them ready to play and we can't affort to hurt anyone," he said. Carlester Crumpler and Les Strayhorn, both injured in the State game, are reported ready to go, as are Robin Hogue, also hurt in the game, and Monty Kiernan, ill with the flu for a couple of days this week.

Randle also feels that the passing game showed a little improvement against State. "We had people holding onto the ball. This has been the trouble. We've gotten the ball to them, and they've run their patterns well. They just haven't held onto the ball."

The coach added that Carl Gordon's return had helped, but that the Buc split end still hadn't come up to his play of last year.

The Paladins will present a tough test for the Pirates, as usual. "We upset them last year, and I'm sure they'll want revenge for this. King (Coach Bob) just couldn't get them up for us in that game, but I'm sure they'll be ready this year."

Randle compared Furman as the equal to Richmond and William & Mary, two teams that have beaten the Pirates. Richmond downed Furman last weekend, 20-0, but it was in the middle of a muddy, rain-covered field. "I'd like to see what would happen on a dry field," Randle said. "It could have been a different story."

The Paladins mix up their offense well behind the play of quarterback John Deleo. "He's a fine quarterback who does a lot of things well," the Pirate coach said. Furman operates out of the veer, but Deleo will pass both from the pocket and on the roll-out. He can run too, as can be seen from the fact that he had picked up 164 yards rushing this year.

Overall, he has 720 yards and is the total offense leader for the Paladins. He had hit on 50 of 101 passes for 556 yards.

Deleo's chief receiver has been flanker Blake Carlyle, who has caught 20 for 235 yards and two touchdowns.

In the running game, the Paladins are no slouches either. Steve Crislip is the ground leader with 483 yards. Number two quarterback John Wolfrom has picked up 280 yards on the ground, while halfback Donnie Griffin has 124 yards.

The Paladin defense is good too. They rank second in overall defense in the conference, as compared to ECU's sixth place standing.

They lead the league in rushing defense, allowing only 167.7 yards per game. In passing they are second, giving up 118.1 yards. They are also tough against the score, ranking second in this, allowing just 14.6 point per contest.

All in all, the game shapes up to be a typical East Carolina-Furman contest. It's one that could go right down to the wire.

"It's going to be a fine battle between two fine Southern Conference schools," Randle said. "A touchdown could be the difference. I just know we're going to have to come up with a big effort to beat them."

Kickoff is scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

Aycock Ties Nash Central

ROCKY MOUNT — Aycock Junior High School scored late in the game to pull out a 6-6 tie against Nash Central Junior High yesterday.

Nash Central pushed ahead in the game in the second period, when Wayne Atchison took a nine yard pass from Steve Archibald for the score. A try for the two-point conversion failed.

It stayed that way until the final period, when Aycock got on the board at last. Lindberg Morris took a 20-yard pass from Mike Ball for the score. Aycock also tried for a two-point conversion, but missed, resulting in the tie.

Aycock threatened twice more in the game. Morris put them in good field position with a 52-yard punt return, and Aycock drove down to the five before giving up the ball on downs. Several plays later they got the ball back on a fumble, but again could not push it over.

The tie leaves Aycock with a 2-3-1 record for the year.

Nebraska Gets Toughest Test

By TOM EMORY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Nebraska and Oklahoma, both undefeated, ranked No. 1 and 2 in college football and bolting headlong for a Thanksgiving Day showdown, are watchful their opponents between now and then don't spoil the contest which could decide the national championship.

Nebraska, 1970's national top team, plays Colorado Saturday in a nationally televised (ABC-TV) game. The Cornhuskers' 7-0 record is impressive but if it were not for a 45-17 loss to Oklahoma, The Buffaloes would have the same mark.

Jerry Tagge heads the Nebraska offense which leads the Big Eight in total offense while the defense has given up just 5.7 points per game. Flanker Johnny Rodgers has scored 11 touchdowns for the Huskers and averaged 16 yards on every reception.

Colorado, ranked ninth, has two top signal callers in sophs Ken Johnson and Joe Duenas. Johnson is a top passer while Duenas is a running and option threat. Kickoff time is 1:50 p.m., EDT.

Oklahoma's offense grinds out yardage by the hundreds from the Wishbone-T as run by quarterback Jack Mildren, with backs Greg Pruitt and Joe Wylie. The Sooners, 6-0, face Iowa State, which also boasts a very respectable 5-1 mark for the season. The Cyclones appear to have the best chance of stopping the championship festivities on Thanksgiving by dumping Oklahoma.

Pruitt has rushed for a 12.1 average in the six games and a 185.5 yards per game average. He gained 294 yards last week against Kansas State breaking Gayle Sayers' Big Eight record. Oklahoma also claimed an NCAA record with 711 yards rushing in its 75-28 victory.

OU Coach Chuck Fairbanks expects the Cyclones to stay mainly on the ground but says he respects their passing ability. There is no change expected in the sooners' attack—it's all overland.

In other games involving Top Ten teams, Michigan, No. 3, hosts Indiana; fourth-ranked Alabama plays Mississippi State at Jackson, Miss. in a night game; Florida plays No. 5 Auburn; Penn State, No. 6, plays West Virginia; Georgia, ranked seventh, is at South Carolina for a night game; Arkansas, No. 8, hosts Texas A&M at Little Rock at night; and 10th-ranked Ohio State visits Minnesota.

Second Ten teams in action include Louisiana State, No. 11, versus Mississippi at Jackson; Navy at No. 12 Notre Dame; Air Force, No. 18, at Arizona State, No. 13; Texas, ranked 14th, at Southern Methodist; No. 15 Toledo at Miami of Ohio; Tennessee, No. 16, hosts Tulsa; 17th-ranked Stanford at Oregon State; Florida State, 19, at Houston; and Southern California, No. 20, at California.

Upsets Continue To Plague Poll; Newsroom Pulls Back Into Lead

Woody's Ramblin's

By WOODY PEELE

In glancing through another newspaper the other day, I noted another sportwriter who is picking (or trying to pick) the winners each week. He said that apparently, the way the upsets keep piling up, that the best way might be to put the names of the teams up on a board and throw darts to decide.

That just might be a good idea the way things are going around here.

After only a week of gloating, this writer tumbled down off his lofty perch as the newsroom's picker, Tom Baines returned to the top. We are hoping that his stay will be just as brief as ours was.

Baines, with a 9-3 week, climbed to a 39-21 overall mark, with a .650 percentage. This writer and Jack Whichard are tied for second with 37-23 marks and a .617 percentage. John Trotman is 36-24, for .600, while George Holland with another 9-3 week climbed out of the basement with a 35-25 mark and a .583 percentage. Our distaff member of the staff, Lauren Riddick falls to last with a 33-27 mark, and a .550 percentage.

(There's a sneaky rumor around that George's picks were made by his wife last week, but he heartily denies it.)

But before getting into this week's poll, let's take a look at the area high school schedule:

Greene Central, the latest victim of the Eastern Carolina Conference jinx, travels to North Lenoir, another former leader. The Rams still have an outside chance at the title left, but they must win this one. They will.

Conley travels to Farmville Central looking for another of its upset victories. The Vikings should be high for this one, and an upset could occur. But we feel the Jaguars will be too strong as they want to hang onto their share of the lead in the league.

Ayden-Grifton goes to North Pitt and about the only thing to predict here is whether the Panthers will be able to score. There's a good chance they might just do that. But Ayden-Grifton is the team that will win.

Robersonville goes for the Tobacco Belt Conference title against Mattamuskeet. The Lakers are the last team in the way of the Golden Eagles, and by the time it's over the Eagles will be crowned the champs.

Finally, Plymouth is at Williamston in a tough Albemarle Conference Game. Williamston and Plymouth are battling it out with Edenton for second place in the league and it should be quite a contest. We'll go with the Tigers to keep rolling in this one.

Now to the poll results:

First off, Rose plays its second game of the week, going to New Bern. It's the last road game of the year for the Rampants, and they'll surely be out to grab a win in this one. The Peerless Prognosticators apparently feel they'll do it. The vote is 5-1 in favor of a win. The one vote against . . . 'fraid it's mine.

The Pirates of East Carolina, coming off their fine victory over N. C. State, play host to Furman University. The Paladins always play a good game against the Pirates. Of the eight games the teams have played, only three have been decided by more than a touchdown.f This year could be no exception to the rule.

But the panel has decided. East Carolina is the choice, 6-0.

William & Mary, The Citadel Have Work Cut Out For Them

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Southern Conference's two high-scoring football teams, The Citadel's Bulldogs and William and Mary's Indians, will have their work cut out for them Saturday afternoon against a pair of defensively tough nonleague opponents.

The Bulldogs, 4-3, averaging almost 34 points per game, play host to Illinois State, which has averaged giving up 16.8 points per contest. William and Mary, 5-2, averaging 26 points per game, goes to Atlantic Coast Conference front-runner North Carolina, which has yielded 11.

In the only other afternoon action, Virginia Military's Keydets, 1-5, will be trying to snap a five-game losing streak at Maryland of the ACC. The Terps have won just once in seven starts.

Furman's Paladins, 3-3-1 over-all and 2-1 in conference play, will be at East Carolina, 2-5 and 1-2, Saturday night to meet the Pirates in the weekend's only league encounter.

A pair of Saturday night nonconference scraps have Richmond Spiders, 3-3, seeking to extend a three-game winning streak at Southern Mississippi and Appalachian State's Mountaineers, 5-1-1, going after their fifth in a row at Wofford. Davidson, 1-6, has the weekend off.

The passing and running of Harry Lynch, the running of Jon Hall and Bob Carson and the receiving of Brian Baima have been the keys to an offense at The Citadel that has averaged 448 yards per game.

Lynch has 1,127 yards in total offense, Baimi 44 receptions and Hall 725 yards and Carson 596 on the ground. Bulldog line coach Rusty Hamilton says "I wouldn't trade our offensive line for any" in the league.

"We know William and Mary has an outstanding team," says North Carolina coach Bill Dooley. The Indians have averaged 363.3 yards per game on offense on the passing and running of Steve Regan and the running of Phil Mosser and Dennis Camball.

In addition, the Indians' No. 2 runner last season—Todd Bushnell, injured in the first game—is ready to see action if needed.

Despite five straight defeats, VMI has yet to be beaten badly with Mac Bowman a constant threat to go all the way, and the Keydets may have gotten the incentive they needed when Maryland coach Ray Lester called them the weakest team on the Terps' schedule.

East Carolina has been better offensively, Furman defensively so far this season, but both have plenty of offensive threats.

It will be the running of Steve Crislip and John Wolfram and the passing of John DeLeo for Furman against the running of Les Strayhorn, Billy Wallace and Carlester Crumpler and the throwing of John Cassazza for the Pirates.

It Was Cold In The Sahara

By BOB GREEN

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — "I knew we were going to be in trouble when I looked out the hotel window in the morning and saw the white-capped waves in the swimming pool," Richard Crawford said.

"Cold? All the jackrabbits and roadrunners are heading north to get warm," said Gardner Dickinson.

"I'm so cold my hair hurts," said Lee Trevino.

The comments were typical Thursday as golf's touring pros battled through the most severe weather conditions on the tour this season in the first round of the $135,000 Sahara Invitational.

Lanky Bob Dickson, a former American and British amateur champion seeking his first pro title since 1968, emerged the leader with a brilliant, four-under-par 68 on the 7,143-yard Paradise Valley Country Club course.

"Unless I've got to say I like the weather," Dickson grinned. "It's got to be the best round I've played in a long, long time."

Trevino, emerging from a slump that has plagued him since his sweep of the American, Canadian and British Open titles three months ago, took second alone with a 69.

"I think I'm ready to go again," said Trevino, heavily bundled in several layers of clothing and a green ski cap.

Bob Goalby and Dale Douglass had 70s in the frigid weather with six players locked at 71, the only others in the field of 144 able to break par 72. They are Don January, Jim Jamieson, Deane Beman, Bert Yancey, Paul Moran and Fred Marti, who finished second in last week's Kaiser International.

Petty Trying For $300,000

NORTH WILKESBORO, N.C. (AP) — A $300,000 season for a stock car racing driver?

"Oh, I'm sure it will come some day, but not this year," Richard Petty says. "That is, unless I get awfully lucky."

Petty, generally regarded as favored to win Sunday's Wilkes 400 at North Wilkesboro Speedway, has garnered $269,730 in prize money this year and has three more races after Sunday in which to reach his goal.

Two of the events pay about $6,000 each to the winner. The other one, a 500-miler at Texas World Speedway Dec. 5, offers about $15,000 for first place.

"I'd have to win this one Sunday and the other three to do it, and I'd have to count on a lot of luck every time out," said the 33-year-old from Randleman, who virtually has clinched his third Grand National drive title. "But I have never entered a race to run for second place and I don't plan to start doing it now."

Petty's chief competition Sunday will come from a pair of drivers who have been among his toughest competitors all season.

Bobby Allison, with nine triumphs since May, is the No. 2 money winner with $224,800. Charlie Glotzbach, while far down on the money ladder, has had the fastest car in his eight starts since taking over a new Chevrolet built by Junior Johnson in May.

Glotzbach and Allison, among others, planned today to try to improve on their original qualifying times for the Wilkes 400, a fall classic that was rained out on its original date, Sept. 19.

The Indiana driver won the pole position when the 32-car field was set prior to the rainout and Allison placed his Mercury in third position behind Petty.

Officials of sanctioning NASCAR have ruled, however, that the 32 drivers who qualified can re-qualify for better positions, or stand on their original lap times.

Glotzbach and Allison decided to try to improve — Glotzbach because he already has collected the $500 bonus that went with the pole position in the original qualifying, and Allison because his Mercury wasn't performing up to par when the first round took place.

Petty hadn't made up his mind.

In any event, the track was to open at 2 p.m. for any driver who wanted to make a qualifying run. Another three-hour period will be set up Saturday afternoon.

Most Of Southeast Observing Halloween On Saturday Night

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Halloween will be celebrated in most areas of the Southeast Saturday night, except in Columbia, S.C., where even the governor couldn't buck a college football game.

Gov. John West's suggestion that South Carolina children make their traditional door-to-door shakedowns on Saturday night set telephones ringing in his office from irate parents who had planned to attend the South Carolina-Georgia football game at Columbia.

West and Columbia Mayor John Campbell held a hasty telephone conference and "concluded that the city of Columbia is in a unique position as related to the rest of the state." Thus, trick-or-treat night will be held Sunday—the calendar day for Halloween.

Police Chief William Cauthen also endorsed the Sunday night observance, noting that police are busy enough on Saturday night and will be particularly busy because of the sold-out football game.

In Alabama, there doesn't seem to be much of a problem and parents are expected to follow Gov. George Wallace's proclamation changing trick-or-treat night to Saturday, avoiding a conflict with the "serenity normally accorded the Sabbath Day."

The Auburn football team plays in the afternoon and the Alabama squad meets Mississippi at Jackson, thus preventing a duplication of the Columbia situation.

Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter also has asked parents to allow their offspring to trick-or-treat on Saturday night.

Carter also warned motorists to watch for children both on Saturday and Sunday and urged parents to caution children about unwrapped candy and apples potentially filled with razor blades.

"It is sad that we must warn our children...," said the governor, "but we have reached a point that makes such a warning absolutely necessary."

North Carolina Gov. Bob Scott injected a note of realism in his proclamation that trick-or-treat activities be held Saturday instead of Sunday.

"It is not proper for ghoulies, ghosties and goblins to be flitting about on the Sabbath," said Scott, "and, besides that, the next day is a school day."

In Tennessee, four cities—Nashville, Chattanooga, Knoxville and Memphis—have passed resolutions calling for Saturday night festivities.

In Memphis, Mayor Henry Loeb signed such a proclamation but declared, tongue in cheek, that he did so "completely without authority and with the concurrence of the chairman of the City Council."

Jacksonville, Fla., Mayor Hans Tanzler also issued a proclamation suggesting the observance be held on Saturday night.

He eliminated Friday night—"a lot of football games"—and Sunday night—"should be set aside for religious services"—in signing the proclamation.

Will Tighten Up Controls

WRIGHTSVILLE BEACH, N.C. (AP) — Starting Jan. 1, the North Carolina Board of Health will begin enforcing tighter standards for water and sewage systems.

The board approved at a meeting Thursday new standards for design and construction of public water systems intended to give it better control over small systems.

It also amended sewage disposal regulations in order to prevent pollution.

In other action the board repealed a requirement that all food handlers have health certificates. Dr. Martin Hines, chief of the board's epidemiology division, said the certification program is cois and ineffective. He said county sanitarians will instead be asked to keep a closer check on food supplies.

The board also approved a licensing procedure for "mass gatherings for profit" such as rock festivals. The regulations will apply to gatherings of more than 5,000 persons and cover health, safety and water supply.

Processors Halt Maryland Plants

DOVER, Del. (AP) — A chicken processing company that operates plants in North Carolina is halting all of its operations in Maryland.

The company, Wilson Laurel Farms, Inc., cited financial problems as the reason for its plan to sell hatcheries, feed mills and processing plants in Berlin, Md., and Federalsburg, Md.

In addition to North Carolina, the firm has plants in Arkansas and Georgia.

Cancer Tale Suit Target

NEW YORK (AP) — Frank Sinatra's lawyers have filed a $5 million suit against the weekly newspaper "Midnight" claiming the publication defamed the retired entertainer by falsely reporting he had cancer and would soon die.

The suit in U.S. District Court in Manhattan claimed Sinatra "has never had nor does he have cancer, nor has any diagnosis been made by any doctor that he has cancer."

Cited in the complaint was a May 10, 1971 "Midnight" story headlined, "Frank Sinatra has cancer," that claimed the singer was forced to retire because he was "suffering from cancer of the throat; and that within a period of one year he would be forced to be confined to a hospital to await his death."

The complaint also said Sinatra was libeled by a Nov. 1, 1971 article in "Midnight" that reported the entertainer was secretly married and his new wife was pregnant.

Named in the suit were the Midnight Publishing Corp., a Canadian firm; Fawcett Publications Inc., Greenwich, Conn., the U.S. distributor, and Manhattan News Co., listed as the New York City distributor of "Midnight."

Pupils Tried To Take Car

BOONE, N.C. (AP) — A juvenile court hearing will be held at 4 p.m. Monday for three boys arrested after an elementary school teacher said they tried to take his car and that one shot at him.

Watauga County Sheriff Ward Carroll said Thursday night that a summons for each of the three eighth-grade boys and their parents would be issued today.

The teacher, Mickey Powers, said one of the boys making a disturbance in the school parking lot Thursday morning demanded the keys to the teacher's car when he went outside to investigate the noise.

Powers said he refused to give up the keys and that one of the boys whipped out a pistol.

"I backed away from them through the glass door to the school," Powers said. "He fired the pistol through the glass, and I got hit a little with glass. The bullet went down a hall beyond the door..."

Powers, a teacher at Parkway Elementary school near Boone, said about half of the pupils at the school were taken home early by parents who heard of the incident.

Powers said he had known the boys for a couple of years.

"I'm not mad," Powers said. "I just feel sorry for them."

Banished For Abortion In Fla.

MORGANTON, N.C. (AP) — Shirley Ann Wheeler, 23, convicted July 13 of violating Florida's anti-abortion law and banished from that state because she wouldn't get married, is living at her brother's five-room frame house in her native Morganton. But she indicated in an interview that her lifestyle is different from that of most people in the western North Carolina mountains and that she would like to get back to Florida. "I just don't belong up here."

Florida officials want the North Carolina Probation Commission to assign an officer to supervise Mrs. Wheeler until her two-year probation is up.

In Raleigh, the North Carolina state capital, the decision will be made by J. Rufus Strother, deputy administrator of the interstate compact entered into by the North Carolina Probation Commission. He says he will decide after Florida submits detailed information to his office, something he says hasn't been done.

James L. Blackburn, an assistant attorney general in North Carolina, says that having an illegal abortion is not a crime in North Carolina. He says the law in the state provides penalties for persons who perform such abortions, not for those who have them.

In the interview, the blonde Mrs. Wheeler gave this description of her life up to the time she was convicted in Florida and left her home in Daytona Beach.

Her mother died when she was young, and she lived with an aunt and uncle for much of her childhood. They were very strict, and didn't allow her to date. After a bitter argument with her uncle, she went to live with another family.

"I think a lot of these things would have never happened if my childhood had been a little better. Like if my mother hadn't died...I mean, there's no way of knowing."

When she was 18 she was raped by two boys whom she knew, and later learned she was pregnant. Three months after the child was born, she married a young truck driver. But the marriage didn't work out, and she never lived with him.

About two and one-half years ago she got on a bus and went to Florida. She just wanted to get away.

She met Robert Wheeler in Daytona Beach, and soon they were living together. When she became pregnant, he paid $300 for an abortion in Jacksonville. A second pregnancy brought her back to Jacksonville last May for another $300 operation.

Minor complications developed after the second operation and she checked into a hospital. She disclosed she had had an abortion—"I didn't even think it was against the law."—and she was tried and banished.

Mrs. Wheeler, the name she assumed while living with her boyfriend and the name under which she was tried, thinks she is still married to the truck driver.

"They told me that once I get my divorce up here I can go back (to Florida). We (she and Robert Wheeler) don't really believe in it (marriage). I guess I'd do it just to get out. I don't see why you have to have a piece of paper to say you love each other."

Heavy Bonds Set For Four

Four civil rights workers were arrested last night on charges of contributing to the delinquency of minors.

The charges, 12 against each of the defendants, stemmed from two protest marches in Bethel, Wednesday.

Arrested in Bethel last night were George Kirby, Willie Fleming, Golden Frinks, field secretary for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, and Bennie Rountree was taken into custody in Greenville.

The warrants were signed by Bethel Police Chief Walter Gray.

Gray said the warrants were based on the fact that 12 juveniles were among the 63 protestors charged with parading without permits in marches in Bethel Wednesday.

Bonds for the four totaled $6,000 each — $500 in each of the 12 cases against each of the defendants.

Thirty Cases Are Continued

AYDEN — Cases against 30 blacks, charged with parading without a permit, scheduled for trial here yesterday in District Court, were continued until November 9.

The blacks had been arrested in connection with marches staged here protesting the shooting of a black man by a Highway Patrolman on a rural road south of Ayden, August 6.

Five Hurt In 2 Collisions

Five persons were reported injured and $1,400 property damage reported in two collisions here last night.

Police said cars driven by Brenda Joyce Rogerson, 23, of 106 North Summit St. and Esther Baker Meiggs, 27, of Route 5, Greenville collided about 7:53 p.m. at the intersection of First and Greene Streets.

Two passengers in the Rogerson car and Mrs. Meiggs and one passenger in her car were reported injured.

Damage was estimated at $200 to the Roberson vehicle and $400 to the Meiggs auto.

No charges were reported.

Joe Martin Vann, 19, of Route 2, Williamston was charged with following too closely by officers who investigated a 7:10 p.m. mishap on Third Street 25 feet west of the Harding Street intersection.

Officers reported the Vann car collided with a vehicle driven by Paula Dianne McMattan, 19, of Route 3, Greenville.

Damage was estimated at $300 to the McMattan car and $500 to the Van auto.

A passenger in the McMattan car was reported injured.

Grand Dragon's Plea Considered

CHARLOTTE (AP) — A federal judge in Charlotte took under consideration a request Thursday that the grand dragon of the North Carolina Ku Klux Klan be reinstated in his city job from which he was fired last summer.

The KKK chief, Harold Murray, asked U.S. District Judge James B. McMillan to find that the City of Charlotte discriminated against him when it fired him from his job as a dispatcher with the building inspection department.

The city claimed in court Thursday that Murray was fired because public knowledge of his office would mean he could not "work effectively" with the black community, not because he is grand dragon of the klan.

Analysts Think Chinese Military Chiefs Purged

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Intelligence analysts say there are increasing indications some of Red China's highest ranking military leaders may have been ousted in an internal power struggle.

Reports from what were described as secret sources, presumably inside mainland China, claim that Huang Yungsheng, chief of staff of the Peoples' Liberation Army (PLA), has been purged.

The same undercover sources reported that Red Chinese Air Force commander Wu Fahsien and Navy political commissar Lee Tso Pang had been sent away for "re-education," the American analysts said.

The high-ranking trio has not been seen publicly since Sept. 10, shortly before signs of a possible upheaval in the leadership appeared.

According to recent intelligence assessments, the crisis appears still unresolved. Intelligence officials saying reports of such developments inside China are difficult to confirm, called the situation "murky as can be."

China-watchers have speculated that a power struggle was triggered by the reported illness of marshall Lin Piao, communist China's defense minister and designated successor to chairman Mao Tse Tung.

The military leadership is critically important because senior PLA officers play a dominant role in the party and government machinery throughout China.

U.S. Intelligence experts discounted the significance of an official Chinese magazine carrying pictures this week of Lin Piao and the three top military figures reported ousted.

In the Communist world, the political health of party and government officials often can be measured by the mention they get—or don't get—in official publications.

But, in this instance, American specialists said, the magazine was taken off the stands in Peking last month.

Fighting Again Among Students

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Sporadic pupil fighting broke out this morning at Charlotte's East Mecklenburg High School.

But officials reported order had been restored and students, except those brought to the principal's office for questioning, were in class.

Fighting at the city's Myers Park High School Wednesday resulted in injuries to 16 pupils and six policemen. Some 70 windows were smashed and desks and other equipment were damaged.

The school closed early that day and reopened to seniors Thursday, when attendance figures showed about one-third of the seniors absent.

CHERYL SAYS "FLY ME" — Cheryl Fioravante, 22-year-old stewardess who headlines National Airlines's "Fly Me" ad campaign as she walks past the huge tail section of a 747 Jumbo Jet. The National Organization for Women (NOW) attempted to halt the ad campaign claiming it to be suggestive filth. Cheryl disagrees and said the ads "are certainly not vulgar to me." (AP Wirephoto).

NewApproachTo Drink Problem

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Alcoholism among federal employes will be treated as an illness and sick leave granted for treatment or rehabilitation, the Civil Service Commission has announced.

Federal employes' personnel folders will not mention alcoholic problems unless the worker fails to improve performance.

The first penny chewing gum machines were placed in New York City elevated stations in 1888.

The Worry Clinic

Compress Your Sales Thinking

Hugh's problem confronts sales managers as well as editors and English Teachers. So try the famous "match test." It is novel, dramatic and forces you to compress your ideas! For more advice, go to your local library and read Chapters V, VII and XII in my textbook, "Psychology Applied."

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

Case S-505: Hugh T., aged 41, is a Sales Manager.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "we find that beginning salesmen often talk too much.

"Thus, instead of letting a prospect sign on the dotted line in the middle of the presentation, our salesmen may insist on reciting the rest of their canned sales talk, regardless.

"As a result, they may talk themselves out of the deal.

"And other tyro salesmen seem to lack perspective.

"They can't tell the difference between major sales points versus trivial details.

"How can we teach them to be concise as well as dramatic?"

Match Test

In my courses on "Sales Psychology" at Northwestern University and George Washington University, I routinely stressed "hitting the bull's-eye."

This means shooting at the most fundamental motive of the prospect in your opening sentence!

And to dramatize your sales presentation, as well as condense it remarkably, I taught my students to employ the salesman's "Match Test." If a busy executive says he hasn't time to listen to the salesman's palaver, then offer him this surprising challenge:

"Mr. Brown, I realize you are a very successful executive so you often make quick decisions."

Then pull out a pad of matches and tear one loose.

"As a sporting gamble, if I strike this match, won't you let me talk till it burns my fingers and I must quench the flame?"

Now notice what happens!

The executive usually relishes this novel approach.

Besides, he figures the salesman can't consume more than maybe half a minute of time.

Actually, an ordinary safety match will burn for 45 seconds and specially treated matches may last for 2 full minutes.

Meanwhile, the prospect keeps watching the flame, for the salesman should hold the match vertically to slow down its speed of burning.

But he may then need to turn the match horizontally a couple of times to be sure it doesn't go out prematurely.

All of which keeps the prospect's eyes, glued to the match flame, thereby letting the sales palaver be absorbed with less hostility or objections.

For sales talk received indirectly will arouse less aversion!

Meanwhile, the salesman must compress his talk into possibly 150 words!

So he will learn to avoid irrelevant comments and focus on fundamental motives.

If he has a legitimate product that falls within the vital needs of the prospect, he should thus "ignite" enough interest in the executive so that the latter will let the salesman complete the sale.

Another method I routinely used with my psychology classes was to let them enter various prize contests where awards were offered for the best 50-word letter describing why they liked a certain auto or cereal or shaving cream, etc.

Clever writers can thus make their 50-word letter convey 100 words of sales arguments, partly by suggestion, over and beyond the actual printed statements.

So send for my booklet "How to Write Salable Copy," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Opening lead: Eight of ♣

East gave his partner all the assistance that a defender could ask for in order to make the play required to defeat South's four heart contract.

West opened the eight of clubs, the five was played from dummy and—before he played to the first trick—East paused to consider. It was clear from his partner's spot card, that the latter held either a doubleton or a singleton in the suit. If he had only one club it did not matter what East did, but if West had two cards, there could be a problem if he regained the lead subsequently.

If West held a high honor in hearts, it would be important for him to shift to a diamond when he got in. The inclination, on the other hand, would be to return another club. If East did not get a diamond shift, South would have plenty of time to discard his losers on dummy's spade holding. In order to alert his partner to the necessity for a shift, East must do something dramatic at trick one—and once he stopped to consider the matter, it was not difficult for him to uncover an answer.

On the first trick, East put up the king of clubs. South covered with the ace, led the ten of spades—overtaking with dummy's queen—and returned the ten of hearts for a finesse. West was in with the king and, realizing the futility of a club continuation from partner's play to trick one, he shifted to a diamond. East cashed two diamond tricks followed by the queen of clubs and South went down to defeat.

If East had made the more normal play of the nine of clubs on the opening lead, West would have been induced to return the suit when he was in with the king of hearts. While it is true that the three of clubs would have been a discouraging signal and should induce West to come up with the appropriate suit, the play of the king of clubs could leave no doubt at all in partner's mind.

Everglades Renewal Surprises Experts

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A state biologist says he is "totally mystified" by the vast numbers of fish which survived the drought and fires that turned the Everglades into a desert of cracked mud last spring.

"I really just can't explain it," said Walter Dineen of the Central and South Florida Flood Control District.

"We found scads of small bass and other fish in one big pond. A few months ago, I pushed an air boat over eight miles of dry trails to that pond and there was absolutely no standing water there at all," he said.

The seven-month drought which dried up some of the world's most famous bass fishing areas last winter and spring may prove a boon to fishermen in the next year or two, Dineen said.

"There has been a population explosion in forage fish (small fish) on which the gamefish feed, largely because the predator population has been reduced," he said. "This will mean an overabundance of food for young bass, which will increase their growth rate."

In the past few months, rainfall has returned a near normal foot or so of water to the 3 million acres of sawgrass that form the Everglades, he said.

Thousands of acres that once were gashed by black fire scars are green once more, and nature seems to have picked up where it was interrupted.

Ask Used Toys For Renovation

Capt. Alvin Smith, commanding officer of the Greenville Salvation Army, has issued an appeal for used toys to be renovated for giving to needy children at Christmas.

"We'd especially like to have dolls and stuffed animals for some of our ladies to redress and repair for us to give at Christmas along with our new toys," he said. "They'd like to get started away, so the sooner persons wishing to contribute can bring toys to the Salvation Army Citadel on the Farmville Highway, the better."

Officers Are Voted By Retired Teachers

FARMVILLE — Officers of the Greenville-Pitt Chapter of the Retired Teachers Division of the North Carolina Association of Educators to serve in 1971-1972 were elected at the fall meeting Wednesday at the Shamrock Restaurant here.

Mrs. Jeanette Clapp of Greenville, was named to succeed Mrs. Sue C. Howell, also of Greenville, to serve as president. Two other officers were named to serve the chapter, Mrs. Myrtle Croom as vice president and Miss Deanie Boone Haskett as secretary-treasurer, both of Greenville.

The slate of officers was recommended by a nominating committee composed of Miss Alya Ray Taylor, Miss Elsie Seago, Mrs. Lillian D. Artis, and Mrs. Essie Wiggins.

Mrs. Howell presided at the meeting. She introduced O. E. Dowd, of Greenville who discussed the insurance programs of the National Association of Retired Teachers and other types of health insurance for retired school personnel.

Another speaker on the program was Past President W. W. Howell of the Retired Teachers Division of NCAE of Greenville, who told of membership benefits and objectives to serve retirees through legislative action and the Teachers and State Employment System of North Carolina.

The large attendance represented cross-section of retired teachers from across Pitt County. The chapter voted to request East Carolina University to grant retired school personnel the privilege of auditing classes or attending classes for credit tuition-free, as is being done in many state colleges and universities over the nation.

TENNESSEE TOURING

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)— Nearly 2 million more people used Tennessee's 21 state parks in fiscal 1970-71 than in the preceding year, Conservation Commissioner Bill Jenkins reports.

The department reported that 9,167,481 persons visited and used the parks' diversified facilities in the year ended June 30, compared with 7,983,094 in the corresponding period of fiscal 1969-70.

Sudden Births Usually Normal

CHICAGO (UPI) —Babies born suddenly at home usually have normal and easy births, Dr. J. P. Greenhill says in his new book, "The Miracle of Life" (Year Book Medical Publishers).

Dr. Greenhill, senior attending obstetrician and gynecologist at Michael Reese Hospital and Medical Center, says usually the baby will start crying immediately, a good sign. It means the infant is breathing on his own. At that stage it is okay to leave the baby and mother connected by umbilical cord until the doctor arrives.

Northern Ireland's Strife Has Raised Danger Of Bankruptcy

By DONALD FORBES
Associated Press Writer

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Commerce Minister Roy Bradford believes that the swift defeat of the Irish Republican Army in Northern Ireland is becoming an economic imperative as well as a political one.

Bradford has warned feuding Roman Catholics and Protestants in this province: "We could face bankruptcy in a matter of weeks."

While other members of the government believe Bradford was exaggerating, they are worried by the decline in foreign investment in Northern Ireland and the damage to business in central Belfast because of the IRA's terror campaign.

Tourist revenue has been waning since the trouble erupted in 1968.

Economic chaos destroying the foundations of Ulster's Protestant-based government is one of the objectives of the IRA, which is pledged to reuniting Northern Ireland and the Irish Republic to the South by bomb and bullet.

Government officials put the bill of Northern Ireland's economic havoc at $60 million up to the end of last year from August 1969. And the 1971 crop of bombings and dislocation could add at least another $36 million to that figure.

Northern Ireland is a province which has traditionally borne chronic unemployment. Because of Britain's economic stagnation and the IRA's policy of economic disruption, one man in 10 is already unemployed and the statistics go from bad to worse.

Nowhere is the effectiveness of the terrorist campaign more evident than in the center of Belfast. Big department stores—the equal of plush shops across Europe—are doing up to 40 per cent less business and are laying off employes.

The government now fears a wave of bankruptcies affecting even the prestige Belfast stores.

A Commerce Ministry spokesman said: "Before all the trouble blew up, we could reckon that half of the province's new jobs created annually came from the expansion of established industries and the other half from new sources. Now the ratio is up to 80-20 because of a slowdown in new outside investment."

He said American or European manufacturers who might have set up factories in Northern Ireland, where wage rates are relatively low and labor relations good, had probably been dissuaded by the violence.

A government committee is currently studying future economic development and methods of stimulating private investment and is due to make its report at the end of the year.

It is expected to press hard for increased public investment.

The rioting has had an inevitable effect on tourism, one of Northern Ireland's major industries.

Tourist revenue stood at $67.2 million in 1968 and dropped to $55.2 million last year.

Didn't Know His GunWas Loaded

CHARLOTTE (AP) — A Charlotte police recruit is recovering from a bullet wound today after being shot by a fellow recruit whom police say didn't know a pistol was loaded.

Charles Ralph Ryals, 23, was shot accidentally by Gale Murphy, according to police, as the two were checking their pistols before going to a shooting range.

The bullet struck Ryals in the stomach. He was in satisfactory condition at a Charlotte hospital following surgery.

Ask Court To Dismiss Charge

CHARLOTTE (AP) — An insurance company which owns television station WBTV asked U.S. District Court in Charlotte Thursday to dismiss a charge that it conspired to put another station out of business.

A formal denial to the conspiracy charges and an accusation of violation of federal antitrust laws was filed in federal court by the Jefferson-Pilot Corp. and subsidiaries Jefferson Standard Broadcasting Co. and Jefferson Carolina Corp.

The suit charges that Jefferson tried to monopolize the television industry and put UHF station WCTU out of business.

Resurgence Of Profits Underscored In Reports

By JOHN HENRY
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Sharply higher third-quarter earnings reported this week by the "Big Three" automakers further underscored a general resurgence of corporate profits.

Ford Motor Co., the second largest producer, reported Thursday its quarterly profit rose 16 per cent to $86 million from $73.9 million in the corresponding period a year ago.

Earlier in the week, General Motors reported third quarter earnings of $217 million compared with a loss of $77 million a year earlier when a strike against the company halted output. And Chrysler Corp.'s third quarter net income jumped to $6.2 million from $2.1 million last year.

A survey of 632 nonfinancial corporations by New York's First National City Bank showed profits in the latest quarter were 8 per cent above a year earlier—the same rate of advance over 1970 as in the first half of the year.

In addition to autos, industries showing the biggest improvement, the banks said, were building materials, textiles and apparel and rubber manufacturing.

Many companies cited increased sales and reduced costs as the reasons for the upturn. Auto industry observers said profits of the carmakers in the third quarter would have been even higher if they had not been prevented from raising prices during the wage-price freeze.

In Detroit, two financial experts specializing in automotive securities agreed. They explained that the effect of frozen prices was partially offset by renegotiation of contracts with suppliers, internal belt-tightening and increased volume.

"To oversimplify, by careful management—and sometimes cruel management—they managed to push back the effects of the freeze onto other people, suppliers and such," said Arvid Jouppi, securities analyst for W. C. Roney & Co.

David Healy, an analyst for Burnham & Co., agreed.

"I get tales of woe out of the steel industry and other people," Healy said.

Among the few really dark spots on the third quarter profit picture was the steel industry, where sales skidded as customers worfed off inventories accumulated in anticipation of a strike on Aug. 1. The strike was averted at the last minute.

U.S. Steel Corp., the No. 1 producer, reported a loss of $10.5 million in the third quarter compared with a profit of $33.6 million in 1970. Earnings of second-ranking Bethlehem Steel were $6.6 million, down $7.77 million from the year earlier period.

Desegregation Bill Scheduled

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration's $1.5 billion school desegregation bill has been scheduled for a House vote Monday but under terms that could lead to its burial rather than its long-delayed passage.

The bill will be brought up under a procedure that permits only 40 minutes of debate, prohibits amendments from being offered and requires a two-thirds majority for passage.

The procedure is designed for quick action on non-controversial measures, which hardly describes the desegregation bill. It has been mired in controversy on Capitol Hill for 18 months.

Of limited House appeal to begin with, since it would provide funds only for school districts that are desegregating, it has become acutely distasteful to many members since the busing of pupils to overcome desegregation became a burning national issue.

President Nixon, asking the House to add an amendment prohibiting the use of any of the money for busing, added further to the controversy. Northern liberals who have supported busing for the South but are now faced with mounting antibusing sentiment at home don't want to have to vote on the amendment.

at Treasure Cove's marina location

James Drury, The Virginian, hears plans for one of the finest installations in the Southeast.

Jim (who's helping us with our T.V. commercials) was impressed. "This area has everything you'd want. The 4-mile wide Neuse River, with access to Pamlico Sound and the ocean . . . great fishing . . . water skiing in Broad or Northwest Creeks. The first class marina planned for Treasure Cove will handle all types of craft, power or sail, and really complete the picture."

We think so too, Jim. And we'll have plenty of other facilities for Treasure Cove lot owners such as Sandy Beaches... gently sloping with protective markers.

Beautiful Waterfront Lots... with seawalls where you can dock a few steps from your front door.

Miles of Inland Canals and Waterways.

An 18-Hole Golf Course... with watered fairways.

A Country Club... with restaurant, bar, pro shop and locker facilities.

Two Olympic-Size Swimming Pools... supervised by a life-guard staff.

A Saddle Club... and miles of riding trails.

Tennis... on all-weather courts.

A 40-Acre Campground... with complete facilities, available only to property owners.

Additional Docks and Boat Launching Areas... around the Cove.

PLUS...

Private Parks... with playground and barbecue equipment.

A Central Water System... by the developer.

Underground Electric and Telephone Service.

A Private Security Force... patrolling the development 24 hours per day.

A Private Fire Department... with latest rescue and first aid equipment.

Hard Surfaced Roads... throughout the development.

Treasure Cove is a private recreational community for members and their invited guests . . . yet you need not build to enjoy all the facilities.

And while we're under construction with those bulldozers roaring . . . you can select a wooded waterfront lot at a special saving

. . . and financing is available!

Open 7 days a week • 9 A.M. till dark.

Treasure Cove has 8 miles of natural shoreline. Sail on the Neuse River right down to huge Pamlico Sound. Water ski in the protected waters of Northwest or Broad Creeks . . . swim from sandy beaches . . . fish in unspoiled waters.

Directions: Take U.S. 17 to Rt. 55 just north across the bridge from New Bern. East on Rt. 55 to 1600 and follow signs to Treasure Cove.
