Tax-Cutting Bill On Way To Enactment

By EDMOND LeBRETON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill cutting taxes $15.8 billion over the next three years and postponing beyond 1972 the hardfought issue of tax financing for presidential campaigns apparently is on its way to enactment.

A Senate-House conference finished fashioning the measure Thursday, making a deep concession to President Nixon's opposition—backed by a veto threat—to the dollar checkoff campaign financing feature.

The White House strongly implied Nixon would sign the bill, but reserved the right to seek repeal or some other means to prevent the campaign-checkoff provision from going into effect.

The provision would allow individuals to contribute $1 to a presidential campaign fund by checking a box on their income tax returns.

The conference committee bill would give Nixon essentially what he sought in tax changes designed to stimulate the economy.

But it is a blow to Democratic hopes that the checkoff plan they devised could yield their deficit-plagued party $20.4 million for the 1972 campaign.

The conference voted to postpone the checkoff until 1976. And even for future elections the actual disbursing of the funds would require appropriation legislation by Congress, which could be subject to presidential veto.

For individuals, the bill would mean an extra $25 personal exemption this year, an extra $50 next year.

For low-income persons, the special minimum deduction would be boosted next year from $1,000 to $1,300.

The excise tax on automobiles and light trucks would be repealed, an average saving of $200 for car buyers and a stimulus to the big-employing automobile industry.

Industry generally would benefit from a revived investment credit, permitting a 7 per cent tax writeoff for spending on productive equipment.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, DArk., of the House Ways and Means Committee offered the compromise on campaign checkoff.

Mills told newsmen afterward he was not convinced the House would pass the bill in its initial form and was convinced Nixon would veto it.

A veto, he said, would be devastating to the economy, since all the tax provisions would be in doubt for months.

Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, senior Republican member of the Ways and Means Committee, denounced the compromise as "monstrous gimmickry" and said an effort still might be made to kill it on the House floor.

But others on both sides of the controversy predicted the House and Senate will approve it.

Council Approves ECU Closing Off Part Of Streets

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

In light of assurance from Dr. Leo Jenkins, president of East Carolina University, that the university would be responsible for paving a ten foot portion of the 20 foot alley running north of and parallel to East Ninth Street, members of the City Council last night approved the closing of portions of streets in the area.

This action includes sections of East Eighth Street, Charles Street, and East Seventh Street. A university spokesman assured council members that the university had now acquired all property adjacent to the sections of streets being closed.

Sanford H. Smith, a communications consultant, presented recommendations on communications equipment for the use of the Greenville Police Department. After reviewing technical factors of equipment offered by two competitive bidders — Motorola and General Electric, Smith, earlier contracted to conduct a communications study, recommended that based on facts relative to technical requirements and availability of maintanance service, that the bid go to the high bidder, Motorola, at $28,233. The General Electric bid was for $24,110. Mayor S. Eugene West and members of the council questioned the recommendation. Smith pointed out that recommendation of the high bid was contingent on expansion capabilities and other factors not involving immediate objectives.

Dan Street, representative of the General Electric Company in Raleigh, noted that in the pre-bid conference on this project, his company did not take the specifications requirement for solid state consoles to mean consoles without tubes, a technical factor which Smith noted had influenced his recommendation. Mike Worthington, Motorola representative, explained that Motorola console equipment made possible expansion to 20 channels from the present six channels with a simple addition of plug-in units.

In accepting the high bid recommended by Smith, the City Council members are acting

Pitt's United Fund Drive Tops Target

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

The goal has been reached — the Pitt County United Fund drive is being wound up well over the $141,299.04 target amount. A total of $148,110.50 has been donated or pledged as of today, campaign chairman, Ed N. Warren said.

This is the third consecutive year the goal has been reached in Pitt County, but this is the earliest the goal has been met in any of these campaigns. All final reports should be in by Dec. 10.

Warren said there are still several businesses and individuals who are completing their collections and who have promised to have their contributions in within the next several days. "Also, we have a few solicitations that have not been made as yet, and naturally, we want to give everyone the opportunity to participate in this united way," he said.

He cited Jack Bircher, industrial division chairman, and C. D. Ward, county division chairman, both of whom have surpassed their goals, as ECU chairman Karl Faser did a few weeks ago. The 65 employees of Garner-Wynne-Manning were praised for having 100 per cent payroll deduction, holding up a record begun in 1967.

Warren said, "Our goal could not have been reached without the full cooperation of the hundreds of volunteers who have helped in the campaign and the generous donations made by the citizens and business firms of the county. Our city and county campaign chairmen have made an excellent team. It has been very rewarding for me to have worked with the many leaders in all our communities in Pitt County. Our county now becomes an example to others and an inspiration to ourselves."

Add 288 Units Of Blood

The two day Pitt County American Red Cross Bloodmobile drive has netted a total of 288 units of blood donated, according to word received from Douglas Morgan, chairman of the bloodmobile.

On Wednesday at the Moose Lodge, citizens of Greenville turned out in relatively small numbers — 52 volunteers, resulting in the acceptance of 45 units, with seven rejects.

The second of the two day collections, at Du Pont near Kinston, had a total of 267 donors reporting to the collection point. Of this number, 243 donors were able to give, with 24 rejects.

Morgan said, "We are extremely pleased with the generous turn out by employees at Du Pont. Like East Carolina University, Du Pont consistently makes a fine response to each drive."

The chairman also expressed appreciation to members of the Greenville Moose Lodge, Women of the Moose, members of the Greenville Service League, and officials at Du Pont for their assistance in making the drive one "that we are well pleased with."

Snow Falls On N.C.; Could Be Developing Into Real Crippler

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The season's first severe statewide snowfall hit North Carolina early today and it gave promise of developing into a crippler.

Newfound Gap in the Great Smoky Mountains National Park reported 15 inches snow accumulation and Maggie Valley in Haywood County 11 inches by midmorning. Asheville had over three inches of snow, with more falling.

Drifts in Transylvania County were three feet deep in some sections. Snowfall was expected to continue throughout the day.

Chains were advised for travel anywhere in western North Carolina.

In the first three hours after dawn three inches had fallen in Charlotte, with more on the way.

Virtually all schools were closed in western North Carolina. Systems closed included those in Buncombe, Iradell, Union and Mecklenburg counties. Iradell pupils reported for school but were sent home immediately.

The weather service reported at midmorning that show had begun falling in Fayetteville and was expected to sweep upstate, reaching the coast sometime tonight.

Heavy snow warnings were in effect for Greensboro, High Point and Winston-Salem.

Snow, mixed with sleet, ending tonight was expected in the Triangle area and northeast Piedmont, with an accumulation of four inches or more.

Midmorning temperatures generally were in the mid 20s, with the high of 40 reported at Jacksonville.

Gale warnings were posted this morning on the coast with winds expected to reach 35 to 45 miles an hour. Seas were rough.

The storm came up from the Gulf Coast. It met cold air over North Carolina, producing the snow.

Highs generally in the 40s were expected Saturday.

Appointed To State Board

Mrs. F. P. Jackson of Greenville is one of 10 persons appointed to the state board which will develop policies and procedures for licensing of child day care facilities in North Carolina.

The appointment was made Thursday by Governor Bob Scott.

The 1971 General Assembly created the 15-member board. Five members will be state officials or their representatives.

Certain health and safety standards are to be met under the new law.

A fifth grade teacher at Sadie Saulter Elementary School, Mrs. Jackson operated the first day care center in Pitt County to be licensed. The Meadowbrook Day Care Center, which she started in 1963, now accommodates 44 children.

Mrs. Jackson also works with the Pitt County Good Neighbor Council, the Pitt County Interracial Committee, Operation Sunshine, the Pitt-Greenville Council on Aging, the North Carolina Joint Council on Health and Citizenship, the Sadie Saulter PTA, the Meadowbrook Mothers' Club, the League of Women Voters, and various other teachers' organizations.

Mrs. Jackson's husband is a tailor at a local dry cleaning plant. They have two children, Georgilene, secretary in the Department of Juvenile Corrections in Atlantic City, N.J., and George Jr., a graduate of A & T State University, who is now a law student.

State officials who will serve on the board or designate their representatives to serve are the state health director, state superintendent of public instruction and commissioners of insurance, social services and mental health.

Pakistani Raids

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pakistani warplanes attacked three airfields in western India today, an Indian spokesman reported. The Indian capital, New Delhi, went dark in an unexpected air raid warning but there was no sign of an attack.

The Indian spokesman said one Pakistani air attack was against Srinagar, capital of Kashmir, a territory long in dispute between Indian and Pakistan.

The other air attacks were carried out against Amritsar in western Punjab and at Pathankot, also in Punjab, the spokesman reported.

He added that the attacks were under way as he spoke and had no details of them.

Sirens sounded in New Delhi and air raid wardens ran from house to house warning residents to take cover.

"This is no practice drill, ladies and gentlemen," the spokesman told reporters.

Earlier in the day, the Indians reported Pakistani air strafing of the airport at Agartala in northeast India for the second straight day. Informants said Indian troops had crossed into East Pakistan near Agartala on Thursday and that the new Pakistani air attack was an attempt to blunt the Indian advance.

Dr. Best Named To Serve Board Of Governors

GREENSBORO — Greenville physician Dr. Andrew A. Best and Howard C. Barnhill, formerly of Greenville, have been selected by the North Carolina A&T State University trustees as the school's representatives on the board of governors which will oversee higher education in North Carolina.

Dr. Best, a native of Lenoir County, was graduated summa cum laude from A&T State University with a bachelor of science degree. He received his medical education from the Meharry Medical College in Nashville, Tenn.

A practicing physician in Greenville since 1954, Dr. Best is chairman of the Pitt County Interracial Committee, a member of the Pitt County Good Neighbor Council and a member of the North Carolina Human Relations Commission.

A member of the A&T board of trustees and local president of Alpha Phi Fraternity, Inc., Dr. Best is a Methodist and a bachelor.

"It was with reluctance that I accepted the responsibility for a position on the board of governors, but I did because of the opportunity to accept the challenge for the promotion of education throughout the state," Dr. Best stated.

"Here was an opportunity to do more good for more people in pursuit of the betterment of education in its totality," Dr. Best explained. "Therefore, it was impossible to decline the position."

A native of Greenville, Barnhill is an official with the Mecklenburg County Health Department.

DR. ANDREW BEST

He is a member of Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity and past president of the National Alumni of A&T State University.

Barnhill has been named "Employer of the Year" of the Mecklenburg-Charlotte area.

A member of the First Baptist Church of Charlotte where he serves on the board of trustees and is superintendent of the adult department, Barnhill is married to the former Lois Clay of Roxboro and they have two children, Howard C. Jr. and Angela.

More Marchers Arrested For Parading Without A Permit Here

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

Thirty-one more marchers were arrested here yesterday on charges of parading without a permit in two separate demonstrations — one of them the first night protest held here since blacks moved their protest movement to Greenville, Monday.

The marches here this week have been billed by Southern Christian Leadership Conference field secretary Golden Frinks as the beginning of a trek to Raleigh to protest what he termed "police brutality". The demonstrations in the county began in August, after a Highway Patrolman shot a black man on a rural road South of Ayden.

The first of yesterday's marches began about 1:25 p.m. and resulted in 22 persons being taken into custody. As they have each day since Monday, the blacks gathered at St. Gabriel's Catholic Church and began walking down Fifth Street.

As officers moved in yesterday, a number of the marchers ran. These broke into two groups, one sitting in the street about a block West of the main body, while the other group chose to sit in the street more than a block to the East. All were finally rounded up, however, and taken to jail.

The second march occurred about 9:30 p.m. when a band of nine persons left the church and began walking toward downtown Greenville. They were stopped and placed under arrest at the intersection of Fifth and Davis Streets.

Following the afternoon demonstration, Frinks told a group of blacks, gathered on a service station lot across from St. Gabriel's Church "We are going to raise hell in Greenville until they let us march out of here." But he cautioned those listening, "let's don't talk that violent mess." He said protestors should be non-violent. "If you want violence, start your own movement," he said, "mine is non-violent."

Frinks, talking to newsmen, indicated some of the marchers yesterday were among a group of about 15 blacks that walked out of the Ayden-Grifton High School following first period classes yesterday.

School officials said that in addition to the students that walked off the campus "there were some problems with others in going to class."

Yesterday afternoon, bomb threats were made at North Pitt as well as the Ayden-Grifton High School.

Students were evacuated at the Ayden-Grifton school — the scene of a bombing in early September — following the 2 p.m. threat there, according to Arthur S. Alford, superintendent of Pitt County Schools.

He said as students were returning to the building, several black students jumped several white students and "proceeded to bang them up." Alford indicated that at least four students were injured as a result of the incident and that two students have been expelled and three suspended.

Only a few of the participants in the demonstrations here this week have been from Greenville. Most have come from the Ayden area, with others from other

Information Needed About Face-Lifts

By Abigail Van Buren

[© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.]

DEAR ABBY: I am seriously considering having a face-lift. I am 45 years old and have crow's-feet around my eyes and a few wrinkles around my upper lip.

Would I have to be hospitalized for this type of operation? And if so, for how long? Also, how long does a face-lift usually last?

I have two children. My husband has told me repeatedly that he doesn't love me, and that as soon as the youngest [who is now in the 10th grade] graduates from high school he is leaving me.

Please answer because I want to look my best when he leaves. Thanking you in advance, I remain,

Very truly yours,
"G" IN BATON ROUGE

DEAR "G": Make an appointment with a reputable plastic surgeon and ask him in person. It depends upon the doctor, his method of operation, and your face. Good luck.

DEAR ABBY: It all started when a woman I knew only slightly showed up at a country club dinner party wearing a dress exactly like the one I was wearing. [May I add, it was a very expensive dress?]

When we saw each other, I laughed, and said, "Well, it just proves that we both have good taste."

She didn't laugh, however. Instead she appeared to be very much embarrassed and ill at ease, and within a matter of minutes she had disappeared. The next time I saw her she was wearing a different dress! Would you believe this foolish woman had actually rushed home and changed her dress?

How would you have felt had you been in my place? Insulted? Or relieved? GREENWICH, CONN.

DEAR GREENWICH: Neither. I'd have felt a little sorry for a woman who placed so much importance on what she had on her back.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend I'll call "Dottie" who is NEVER on time for an appointment. I realize it's possible to have a legitimate reason for being late once in a while, but Dottie is ALWAYS 30 minutes to an hour late. It is positively maddening because I am always prompt. I'm not the only one she keeps waiting. Dottie has a reputation for always being late, and her friends have come to accept it.

What makes a person act like this, and is there a cure for it? PROMPT AND ANGRY

DEAR PROMPT: The "cure" for chronic tardiness is simple. Give her fair warning that you'll wait only 10 minutes—and if she's not there, you'll leave. Then do it. Don't look for any deep psychological reason for chronic tardiness. It's a combination of inconsideration, lack of organization and a touch of conceit.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "BIG DILEMMA": Yes, you should express sympathy to the family of your friend who took his own life. Make no reference to the circumstances, but be assured they would be far more hurt were none of his friends to send their condolences.

Couple Exchanges Vows In Ceremony

Miss Betty Catherine Stocks became the bride of Danny Ledrew Boyd in a private ceremony Thursday, Nov. 25, at 2:30 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Tucker Fornes.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Stocks of Ayden. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Ledrew Boyd of Greenville.

The Rev. R. M. Stewart, pastor of the couple, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white peau de soie. The bodice featured an empire waist with a mandarin collar of alecon lace. The full bishop sleeves were also cuffed in alencon lace. Her full length matching mantilla was attached to a satin bow headpiece.

She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow button pom pons, miniature carnations centered with a white mum accented with long white bridal satin streamers.

For traveling, the bride changed into an orange and white three-piece ensemble and wore the mum corsage lifted from her bouquet.

After a wedding trip to Virginia, the couple will reside in Ayden.

The bride is a graduate of Grifton High School and is a student at East Carolina University, where she plans to continue her education.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Chicod High Schol and Pitt Technical Institute. He is employed by Texifill Polyester Plant, New Bern.

Immediately following the ceremony, the parents of the bridal couple entertained with a reception at the Fornes home.

The bride's table was covered with a white lace cutwork cloth and featured an arrangement of yellow and white pom pons and greenery.

After the bridal couple cut the first traditional slice from the three tiered wedding cake, Mrs. Boyd served the cake and Mrs. Stocks poured punch.

Good-byes were said by Mrs. Joe Fornes.

Season Of Higher Traffic Risk

As North Carolina moves into the last month of 1971, it does so with the death toll on its highways standing above that of a year ago. During the first 11 months of this year more than 1,600 lives have been snuffed out in traffic accidents in this state.

Traffic deaths have become so much a part of the daily routine in this modern society that the figures, staggering as they are, cause all too little concern among most of the motoring public. It is only when tragedy hits close to home through the loss of a family member, friend or acquantance that the average person gives much thought to the daily toll.

During this final month of the year driving conditions will be more hazardous than in most other months. More vehicles will be on the highways, particularly during the holiday periods. Larger numbers of automobiles will be attracted to shopping areas during the pre-Christmas rush, and more of the drivers will be under more pressure, in a greater hurry than usual.

These factors add up to a greater potential for accidents and traffic deaths.

Not one of us thinks he or anyone he knows will wind up a traffic statistic before this month is over. No one thinks he will even be involved in a minor traffic accident. Unfortunately, all of us in North Carolina cannot be right in our thinking.

Even so, each motorist can contribute to his own safety and that of others by exercising greater than normal caution on the streets and highways during this month. Law enforcement personnel will be increasing their efforts at accident prevention during this month. But what they are able to accomplish is only a drop in the bucket compared with what could be accomplished if every driver in the state would diligently try to drive as carefully as he knows how during the remainder of this year.

Highway safety, in the final analysis is up to the drivers, individually and collectively. None of us can be sure of the other fellow's attitude toward December driving, but at least we can make a positive contribution to a safer traffic record during this final month of the year by recognizing that the increased driving hazards require that we exercise greater than normal caution each time we get behind the wheel.

Spirits Lifted By December

By BRYAN HAISLIP

RALEIGH — "Christmas is coming, the geese are getting fat.

"Please put a penny in the old man's hat."

We never ate roast goose, but we always sang the ditty when December came down in the country.

Anticipation heightened

every sense. Fingers tingled with the cold, bringing in firewood after school. Pungent fruitcake smells seasoned the kitchen and pantry. When supper was over, the lamplight glowed on the magical mail order catalog as we poured over its wonderful pages of toys.

In those hard times for a farm family with six children every dollar spent during the year was measured against need. Only in December could desire be given rein, and hopes raised for things you wanted whether they were useful or not.

Then Mother encouraged us to talk about what we'd like for Christmas, wisely suggested modification of impossible dreams, and promised to try to get the message to Santa Claus. Closets became off limits as brown paper packages disappeared to back shelves, and a bouyant and hopeful air filled the household.

December Brings Memories

Memory brings back those days, now in December, and they do not seem so distant.

My spirits lift when the calendar turns to the final month. Whatever the year's frustrations, I feel the days rushing to fulfillment and a burst of joy in hopes realized.

"It's time to make the Christmas list," Mary Allen announced one recent evening. "Let's get everything done early this year."

I went along with the game. "A great idea," I said. "No sitting up late Christmas Eve to finish projects."

"Mind your own business," she replied crisply. "And none of you better go poking around in the sewing room from now on."

Zesely said he hoped to get a ten-speed bike and a pair of chamois boots. Teresa said she wanted a heat-comb to fix her hair, and an assortment of clothes and cosmetics dear to the hearts of teenage girls.

Season Gets Commercial

Gift-giving commercializes Christmas. I know that as well as anyone. I've said, "Bah, humbug," to over-insistent advertising, the pushing crowds of harried shoppers, the mind-wracking strain of what to get for someone hard to please.

Still, I'm not sure the way to put Christ in Christmas is to take Santa Claus out. After all, the birthday of the Man called the Hope of the World is an appropriate time to make wishes come true.

And you can, as long as you remember the giving is more important than the gift.

The Baby Jesus and Santa Claus were on very good terms in my childhood world. That one was the Saviour and the other a pagan gentleman hadn't yet been explained to me.

I knew they were friends because both were at the Sunday School Christmas Party, the climax of our holiday.

Country Church Christmas

A cedar cut from the woods and decorated with tinsel and colored paper chains stood at the front of the frame church, a safe distance from the reddening pot-bellied stove. Actors wrapped in blankets enacted the Nativity, and children chosen for good behaviour and aptness at recitation came forward to say their pieces.

When suspense became unbearable, the back door flung open and a red-suited visitor bounded in on a blast of cold air.

Eventually, the cigar odor identified him to me as the Sunday School superintendent, fattened with pillows, but all the same I accepted his gift of candy and oranges gratefully.

I can recite today the first poem I learned for the Christmas program.

Why do bells at Christmas ring?
Why do little children sing?
Once a lovely, shining star
Seen by shepherds from afar
Gently moved until its light
Made a manger cradle bright.
And the Mother sang and smiled!
"This is Christ, the Holy Child."
Therefore bells at Christmas ring.
Therefore little children sing.

Yes, thank God, the children still sing. December comes again, and in the cold and dark of winter we hope for a Star.

Political Tax Fight Studied

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Shrinking from the horrible consequences of vetoing the Democratic scheme for government financing of Presidential campaigns, the White House is now fashioning an ingenious scheme of its own to prevent the bill from affecting the 1972 election.

No final decision has been made, but under serious consideration by President Nixon's inner circle is this counterploy: sign the tax bill containing the checkoff of tax funds to finance Presidential campaigns, then order the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) to completely ignore the checkoff provision on grounds of constitutionality.

That would propel an outraged Democratic National Committee into Federal court to force the IRS to distribute the money. With consitutional issues raised, the lawsuit might remain in the courts long enough to prevent the checkoff from being used in the 1972 campaign.

A less audacious scenario, keeping the President above the battle, is also being thought through at the White House. The Republican National Committee, at the President's private urging, would bring a "citizen's suit" against the checkoff. This, too, might prevent the plan's operation for 1972.

Such war-gaming reflects the gravity with which the White House regards the checkoff, which would have each taxpayer choose whether or not the government could use $1 of his tax payment to fund Presidential campaigns. That would yield up to $20.4 million each for the Republican and Democratic nominees in 1972.

The political explosiveness of the checkoff is appreciated at the White House. In tandem with a separate reform bill (up in the House this week) limiting campaign contributions and spending for Congressional candidates, it revolutionizes financial aspects of American politics. Specifically, Mr. Nixon's huge money advantage for 1972 would be nullified and the cloud of bankruptcy hovering over the Democratic party since 1968 would evaporate.

Hence, the immediate White House reaction after Senate passage of the checkoff a week ago was to veto the entire tax bill even though it includes the tax cuts Mr. Nixon regards as essential for economic recovery. The tax cuts would then be quickly passed in a new bill before Congress adjourned for 1971.

But this veto sentiment subsided within 48 hours after the Senate vote. High economic officials brought reality home to the White House inner circle. A veto of the tax bill would grievously add to the present economic uncertainty, which even now is depressing the stock market and impeding strong economic recovery. A veto, they warned, would be catastrophic.

What's more, it quickly became clear that the increasingly truculent Democratic leadership on Capitol Hill would not permit a new bill containing the tax cuts to pass without the political checkoff. To Democrats, the checkoff has become a matter of life and death.

Accordingly, by the middle of last week, a new consensus had developed at the White House: if the massive revenue loss of the Senate-passed tax bill were reduced in conference, as expected, the bill should not be vetoed merely because of the political checkoff.

That triggered an eleventh hour White House effort to generate Southern Democratic opposition to the check off in the House that would influence the final version drafted in the Senate-House conference. Would not the checkoff push both parties leftward, since neither would depend upon business contributions? Would it not splinter the left wing of the Democratic party into ideological factions, each wanting to take advantage of the Federal bonanza by running its own Presidential candidate?

Administration officials rejoice that Rep. Joe D. Waggoner, Jr., of Louisiana,

Strength For Today

A CALL TO JOY

The word "family" is a beautiful word although some people have turned it into a thing of chaos and evil. There are professional criminals in the world whose gangs operate under the name "family". There can always be found a heavy-handed and conspiring individual ready to organize his associates into groups that will steal, destroy property and sometimes destroy life.

It's a wonderful thing to be a member of a good family and a fearful thing to do anything against family life that will turn a thing of beauty into an instrument of evil.

A divided family or a broken home is something to be regarded with grief. The modern home is far different from the home known to our ancestors. In many ways it has improved. In other ways it has deteriorated. The changing of its form, with the father being separated from his children as he goes to his office or place of business each day, has made a profound difference in family life.

Up until recent decades most nations in the world have been predominantly rural. The father and his sons worked together in the field. The mother and her daughters worked together in the house. Now all that has changed. No use to remonstrate and claim we have taken a plunge downward. Many of the homes today are the finest humanity has ever seen. A small percentage of them are bad.

Advice? Don't try to dominate your home too much. Enjoy it and let it enjoy you.

WAIST DEEP IN AN EARLY WINTER BLIZZARD!

By ART BUCHWALD

The Lawyers Love Nixon

WASHINGTON — Awhile back I wrote an article in favor of no-fault insurance laws, which provide for people to be compensated for automobile accidents without the expensive process of litigation. To no one's surprise I received about 100 indignant letters from lawyers telling me I was trying to take the bread out of their mouths.

Well, I have good news for the legal profession. Whatever fees they lose on no-fault insurance, they will make up on President Nixon's Phase II economic plan. As a matter of fact, no matter what happens to the economy, lawyers stand to gain the most from whatever Mr. Nixon and his advisers have in store for the country.

This realization dawned on me when I tried for three days to get through to a lawyer friend of mine named Branch Brewmaker. Everytime I called the line was busy, so I decided to go over to his office to find out if he was all right.

Was he all right? He was absolutely dancing around his office. "It's beautiful," he cried. "It's a lawyer's dream."

"What do you mean it's a lawyer's dream?"

"Phase II. No one understands it."

"No one?"

"No one," Brewmaker chortled. "My clients don't understand it, I don't understand it, no one in the government understands it. Do you have any idea of what this means in legal fees?"

"I guess it must mean something or you wouldn't be bouncing up and down on your couch in your stocking feet."

"Remember six months ago? How lousy I told you things were for lawyers? Well, everything has changed. Thanks to Mr. Nixon we will soon own the world."

"Brewmaker, I can understand a certain amount of elation, but why are you throwing $5 bills out your window?"

"I'll show you why," he said, jumping off the couch. He went over to his intercom. 'Miss Ramsay, whom do we have on 'hold'? Minow of Minow Earplugs, Inc? Good, put him on ... Hello Minow, Brewmaker here ... What's that? You want to know if you can raise the price of plastic earplugs? I can't tell you offhand, but I'll find out for you ... What's my fee? The usual $100 an hour ... Right, I'll get back to you as soon as I have the answer."

Other Editors Say Trouble In Pitt

(Greensboro Daily News)

The tensions in Pitt County that began building up in August when a state highway patrolman shot and killed a black farm laborer have grown to a dangerous point. There were more arrests this week as Greenville police sought to stop a march on Raleigh. It seems to us time that Governor Scott and Attorney General Morgan follow the lead of the North Carolina Civil Rights Advisory Committee and see what can be done — and be seen to be done — to ease them.

The circumstances of the shooting are disputed. A visiting New York Times reporter observed, in a story dated November 21, that "it is almost as difficult for a visitor to unscramble the complicated events of the last month as it is for a resident to remain neutral." Perhaps the truth about the shooting cannot be discovered. A Coroner's inquest ruled "justifiable homicide." That finding apparently was sustained in a report by the State Bureau of Investigation, but the SBI report has not been made public. The highway patrolman has been shifted to the West.

The immediate problem is that the belief persists among Pitt County blacks, who have enlisted state and national leaders of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference and a number of college students in their cause, that justice has not been rendered in the shooting. Demonstrations have resulted in hundreds of arrests; dynamite blasts have been detonated in a school; and altogether a confusing and potentially ugly situation has worsened with the passage of time.

Without prejudice to the case, it can be said that the attempt to keep a lid of secrecy on the SBI report has done little to quiet the situation and may have agitated it. If there is good reason why the SBI report must be secret that reason should be made clear. Otherwise it ought to be released.

In asking for federal and state investigations (and the FBI is already involved) the State Advisory Committee has also called for certain modifications in law-enforcement procedures in Pitt County — including "a vigorous program of recruitment of non-whites" and a bi-racial "civilian review board" for disputed episodes in law enforcement. Certainly law enforcement agencies ought to be broadly representative of both races.

Of the merits of a thorough and impartial inquiry into the initial homicide and its aftermath there can be no doubt. Properly conducted, that inquiry ought to satisfy reasonable observers whether there is merit in the charges of "police brutality" or the mere exploitation of an unfortunate incident for political purposes.

In either event, the attempt to sit on the lid has brought animosities to a dangerous level and intervention at the state level would be amply justified.

Claus Needs Votes

By CARL C. CRAFT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Capitol Hill's political pros are openly buying votes in a wild Christmas campaign piting a haunted pennypincher against a bearded toymaker.

Posters are proliferating, committees are mapping political strategy, charges are flying among liberals and conservatives, and the absentee candidates are issuing statements through dummy addresses.

It's a mock campaign for an at-large seat in the House, matching:

—Underdog Ebeneezer Scrooge, a wealthy English businessman who gained considerable repute following a sudden personality transformation allegedly prompted by ghosts.

—Early favorite, Santa Claus, a far North manufacturer and world-wide distributor of toys to youngsters who heed their parents.

According to the first day's tabulations of the $1 votes being solicited by the Congressional Staff Club, Scrooge leaped into an initial lead but was quickly overtaken by a big batch of ballots bought by Claus backers. By Christmas, all money will go to charity.

Each voter receives a badge and is asked to explain his stance to others who are in turn urged to cast their own ballots for the candidate of their choice.

Sources reliably close to the North Pole said Scrooge is seeking big labor votes on a reform platform, but the Claus forces point to Scrooge's early anti-labor stance.

The Claus advisory committee, meanwhile, denied reports that airline pilots had filed a confidential complaint about potential mid-air collisions with frequently stopping, animal-drawn air vehicles.

Through separate statements of candidacy, the contenders provided these appeals for votes:

Claus—"I sincerely feel that the House of Representatives could use my experience and my philosophy, not just on Dec. 25 but throughout the entire year ... I think America needs

Personal Bankruptcies A Drain

By ELMER ROESSNER

More than one and a half million bankruptcies were filed in the United States in the last 15 years. More than 90 per cent were for or against wage earners.

In the fiscal year ended June 30, 1971, there were 201,352 cases filed, the highest number except for fiscal 1967 when 208,329 cases were filed.

There are many reasons:

1. A TV set, bedroom furniture or an auto proves a lemon. The buyer protests to the seller who will do nothing. His promisory notes have been sold to a bank or a finance company. The buyer of the notes has no interest in the sale. And the buyer of the property, rather than go on paying for years for a lemon, goes through bankruptcy.

2. A man loses his job, there are no other jobs in sight and his unemployment insurance won't feed his family. He takes the bankruptcy bath.

The Oversold House

3. A man and his wife yearn for possessions. Slick salesmen assure them they will have no trouble paying for a car, a dishwasher, a piano. Soon the payments, rent and food become impossible. Bankruptcy is the only way out.

4. A salesman sells a lot, a set of tools, an antique with assurances that the price will go up. The price doesn't. Bankruptcy.

5. A plant shuts down, as hundreds have done in the last two years. There is unemployment insurance and welfare as well as bill collectors. A man may find more pride in filing for bankruptcy.

6. Many organizations, including unions, have debt councilling services. When a worker can work himself out of a financial mess through a consolidated loan, doing a little moonlighting or working himself out of debt in other ways, he is encouraged to. But if it looks impossible, he is guided in filing for bankruptcy and a fresh start. "Joe did it and he's getting along fine," he is told.

Good-Bye Charlies

And then there's the irresponsible guy who buys what fancy dictates sometimes selling one item to make a down payment on another, finally going broke, changing his name and moving on.

Easy bankruptcies are the cause of many evils.

A crush of customer bankruptcies can bankrupt a merchant.

Reports of a bankruptcy can follow a family across the United States. A bankruptcy can ruin the credit of a family with a similar name.

Somebody must make up the sellers' losses or they, too, will go bankrupt. The losses are made up by high prices and by higher interest rates on charge accounts. Revolving credit might be 15 per cent instead of 18 per cent a year if purchasers' credit were more closely examined. Higher down payments might reduce defaults.

And of course guarantees that would continue to be the obligation of the seller, not the purchaser of the credit, would do a lot. So would loud protests to the Better Business Bureau, State Attorney Generals Offices and local consumers organizations.

Put these on your Penney charge, America's favorite Christmas card. And have a happy holiday.

an increasingly influential conservative Democrat, actively opposes the checkoff. But the even more influential Rep. Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas is all for the checkoff. Thus, odds for its final adoption are overwhelming.

That leaves the courts as the last resort for the Republicans, who would challenge the checkoff as a violation of the 14th Amendment's equal protection provisions.

The most dramatic route to a court test would be for Mr. Nixon to instruct the IRS not to obey the new law. Ever more turbulent relations between the Democratic Congress and Republican President would be exacerbated by such a ploy. But considering the political stakes, Mr. Nixon may well take the risk.

Brewmaker hung up. "Now watch this," he said to me, placing a clock in front of him. He dialed a number. "U. S. government? I wish to speak to someone in charge of raising the price on plastic earplugs... No, don't hurry ... I'll hold on.

An hour and a half later Brewmaker had yet to find anyone in charge of earplugs. He said to me. "It usually takes about three days to get anyone to talk to me." He laughed. "Then it takes another three days to explain the problem. Then they always demand more information. Then I have to go over and see the guy. It takes a half-day to find him and a day to get in to see him. Then when I finally do, it turns out he's the wrong guy, and I have to start all over again."

"And all the time the clock is ticking," I said.

"I've had cases since Phase II started and I've yet to get an answer out of anyone in the government on what my client can do. My phone is ringing day and night with desperate businessmen asking for guidelines. The only thing I can do is put them on the meter."

"Nixon's been good to you," I said to Brewmaker.

Brewmaker's secretary came in. "Mr. Saladash of Saladash Corkscrews, Inc. has just hit a Cost of Living Councilor on the jaw and wants to know if you'll defend him."

Brewmaker shook his head sadly. "I told Saladash not to appear at the Cost of Living Council without a lawyer. But I guess I can't blame him. If I made corkscrews and tried to find out from the government what I could charge for them, I'd eventually hit somebody, too."

Rose High Senior Is Honors Finalist

Christopher Ian O'Connell of Rose High School is one of 11 North Carolina high school seniors announced by the North Carolina Department of Public Instruction in Raleigh as a final winner in national honors for excellence in writing performance and literary insight by the National Council of Teachers of English.

O'Connell, son of Dr. and Mrs. James O'Connell of 110 S. Woodlawn, Greenville, is one of 800 winners from among about 7,000 high school students nominated by their schools for the Achievement Awards competition.

Mrs. Linda Harvey, Director of the Achievement Awards, said "We are confident that the finalists are among the most competent high school students of English in the country and that the English Departments of the schools they attend provide a superior quality of instruction."

Each competitor had to submit several different types of writing to be considered for the annual competition, entered by students from each of the 50 states, territories and from students in American schools in overseas areas.

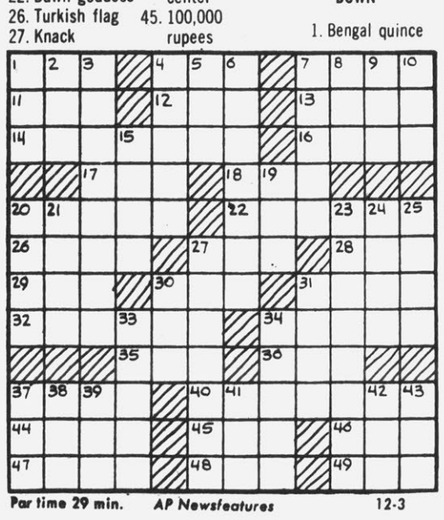

North Carolina winners this year were fairly evenly divided — with six boys and five girls winning. Geographically, the state was represented by different areas.

In addition to the Greenville winner, eastern North Carolina has winners from Rocky Mount — Robert E. Dozier; and Morehead City, James David Knight.

only to give first approval to the bids. The bids and information will go to the Governor's Highway Safety Commission for final review, appeal and approval. The commission is funding the project.

In the case of the maintenance of a screening fence between Brentwood subdivision and King's Plaza, a dozen citizens were on hand to tell the council they had not been able to receive satisfaction in attempts to have the firm maintain the fence in the conditions required by city ordinances. They noted that in addition to improper maintenance of the fence, action had never been taken to plant shrubs, a requirement of city ordinances for screening between commercial and residential areas. Council members directed that immediate action be taken to strictly enforce requirements of the screening ordinance, both for this particular site and any others in Greenville for which standards have not been met.

The council approved changes recommended by the Planning and Zoning Board in connection with the city's Thoroughfare Plan. This includes — elimination of a suggested bridge at Washington Street and substituting the originally planned bridge at Pitt Street; elimination of a two-way exchange on Fourth and Fifth Streets, with Fifth Street remaining two way; elimination of a bridge at Elm Street; inclusion of the continuation of Red Banks Road westerly to U.S. 264 By-pass on to Memorial Drive; elimination of a southerly loop around Pitt Plaza to Bell Forks area; and realignment of a portion of Arlington Boulevard from Greenville Boulevard south to where Arlington Boulevard would intersect the proposed Red Banks Road; and realignment of the proposed location of Howell Street.

Overtime pay for city policemen in the amount of $1,705.68 was approved, as was a request by William M. Nobles for the waiver of $93.75 interest on a $312.50 invoice for paving on Howell Street, and refund of $9.91 to Mrs. Naomi Burney Harte in 1971 taxes.

Several items were set for public hearing at the January 1972 meeting. These include: withdrawal from dedication of a portion of Allen Street; request for rezoning of an area north of Greenfield Terrace; request for rezoning a portion of Bob's Mobile Estates; request for rezoning property north of Tar River in the case of E. L. Clark; and request for rezoning of an area in the vicinity of Home Builders Supply Company.

Council members delayed until January the appointment of a board member on the Library Board to replace William Brewer, who will be resigning due to a resident move out of the city limits.

Approval was given for renewal for one year of a mobile home permit for Huey L. Harrison at 152 West Gum Road, and a one year permit given for the use of a mobile home for the pastor of a church located on Memorial Drive.

parts of Pitt County and some from the Washington, N.C., area.

Among those arrested yesterday was 16-year-old Cherry Brown, the daughter of J. J. Brown, the only black member of the Ayden town board.

Ayden magistrate Russell Wooten said this morning that warrants charging assault and battery have been issued for four blacks in connection with the afternoon incident at the Ayden-Grifton School.

He also said persons seeking warrants for five other blacks have been to his office but these warrants, he explained, have not been issued due to the lack of sufficient identification.

Members of the Ayden Good Neighbor Council met last night, spokesman said, to discuss the possibility of securing an injunction to prevent the United Front Coalition—backers of the protest movement in the county—from activities causing disruption in the schools.

The spokesman said some members of the council and other interested citizens have requested the Pitt County Board of Education to take steps to secure an injunction. In the event the school board fails to act, the spokesman said, Ayden citizens will attempt to secure an injunction on an independent basis.

Mrs. Louise Wooten said this morning "as a member of the Good Neighbor Council I along with other members . . . plan to petition the resident superior court judge for an injunction restraining the black coalition of Pitt County from engaging in any activities in the county which result in disrupting normal school activities.

"This action," Mrs. Wooten said, "will be taken by statutory privilege providing that the Pitt County school board continues to refuse to take such action themselves."

Alford said discussions were held this morning with the school board's attorney to discuss a possible restraining order. But, he said, the question of a possible injunction would be taken up when the board of education meets Monday. He indicated no action was planned until that time.

Discover 5 Bodies

GOLDSBORO, N.C. (AP) — A 21-year-old Goldsboro mother and her four children were found dead at their home Thursday night and police charged the woman's husband, Albert Cooper Sr., 27, with five counts of murder.

Maj. C. M. Gilstrap, Goldsboro assistant police chief, said Cooper was taken to nearby Cherry Hospital for examination.

A police spokesman said the cause of death was not immediately determined. He said the bodies were sent to a Chapel Hill hospital for autopsies. He said there was no apparent evidence of gunshot wounds on the bodies.

Victims were Mrs. Catherine Cooper; Pamela, 6; Albert Jr., 5; Dawn, 3; and Josephine, 7 months.

Police found the bodies at about 8 p.m. Thursday in the Cooper home in a housing development. Authorities were alerted by neighbors who notified them after noticing a lack of activity about the Cooper residence.

Pirates Open Home Slate With Dolphins

East Carolina University's cagers open their home season Saturday night at 8 p.m. when they entertain the second team in their "Murderer's Row" schedule, the 11th-ranked Dolphins from Jacksonville University.

Jacksonville, which led the nation in scoring last season behind the play of now-graduated Artis Gilmore, has shown no signs of letting go of their title. They started things off Wednesday night with a 110-75 victory over Biscayne.

The Pirates, however, hope to blunt their scoring attack, and hold it in check. Tom Quinn and his team remember the 127-69 pasting handed them by the Dolphins last season, and would like nothing better than to gain revenge for it.

There are some different faces on both teams, however, although several starters return.

The Bucs will be coming into the game following Wednesday night's opening loss, 103-86, to the University of West Virginia, another strong team with national hopes.

It was the first game for the Bucs, and it showed. A total of 34 turnovers was the big problem that probably had more effect than anything else in the contest. "It was a game we had to play and get out of our system," Quinn said. "I would have rather it had been in a scrimmage game, but we had too many games on our schedule to set up a scrimmage. West Virginia had just enough to allow them to have a scrimmage with Dusquesne, and they made their mistakes then. They are a good team, too."

Quinn did see some good things in the game. "We shot out free throws well, and we shot a lot of them. And we didn't commit many fouls. (Jim) Fairley also played 36 of the 40 minutes at a rapid pace, and also got 19 rebounds. He apparently has recovered from his injury."

Quinn also thought the playmaking was pretty good, despite the number of turnovers. "We are trying to play a rushing type offense and this is bound to produce some turnovers, but not that many. It also will cause the opposition to foul us more. But you can't expect to win making 34 turnovers against anybody. So we've got to improve here and get off more than 60-odd shots per game. We need to be taking 80-90 at the pace we playing," the coach said.

The Pirates do expcet to slow down a little against Jacksonville. "It'll be a pace somewhere between what we played Wednesday and what we played all last year. Naturally, we'll take the fast break when we get the opportunity, but we don't want to join it."

Quinn flet that the two newer members of the team, Jerome Owens and Earl Quash played very well. "Jerome is going to improve. Remember he didn't play at all last year. Quash is going to play better too. And with Fairley coming back like he did, this will help.", "The whole team played well in sports, but we didn't maintain it, although we never lost our composure," he added.

Quinn noted that Al Faber, the Buc center, was caught off-balance by three quick fouls and this hurt his game. "Fortunately, he only has two or three of these a year," Quinn said. "(Dave) Franklin played pretty well, but I think that except for Fairley all of them could have done better on the boards."

The Dolphins will not present much of a different problem for the Pirates. They, too, have a 7-foot center, and a high-scoring guard. "They have talent in every area," Quinn said. "Harold Fox (of Jacksonville) and Wil Robinson (of West Virginia) are in a class by themselves as guards. They are as good as any we'll see this year.

"While many people don't notice it, their defense is also good," Quinn added.

But the Bucs remember last year. "They embarrassed us. We went down there crippled up, and they played their first team the entire game. So this one means a lot to us."

The Dolphins, 22-4, last year, are slightly taller than they were last season, exchanging a 6-5 guard for a 5-11 one. But their effective height may not be quite as good.

Replacing Gilmore is sophomore Dave Brent, 7-0, who scored 23 points, grabbed off 22 rebounds and blocked 11 shots against Biscayne. Reports say he doesn't dominate the game as Gilmore did, but is improving.

Joining his are Fox, a 6-2 senior, who had 27 points Wednesday, including 12 of 13 baskets from the floor. His backcourt mate is Leon Benbow, a 6-5 sophomore, who scored 12 points.

In the forecourt are Ernie Fleming, a 6-7 senior who scored 21 points, and either Abe Stewart, 6-6, or Kevin O'Riodan, 6-7, who alternated the other night, neither breaking into double figures.

The Pirates all will be ready to go, with the possible exception of Nicky White. Tbe sophomore wingman is recovering from a sprained ankle sustained last week.

Prior to the varsity game, the East Carolina freshmen will entertain Mt. Olive at 5:45 p.m.

Tar Heels Romp To 127-69 Win Over Rice In Opening Contest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"North Carolina deservedly is No. 2 in the nation; they were just a tremendous team here tonight," said Rice University basketball Coach Don Knodel after his Owls lost 127-69 to the Tar Heels.

North Carolina tied a school scoring record although the first team was pulled early in the second half of Thursday night's game in Chapel Hill, N.C., which opened the season for both clubs.

"It's a tough situation to bring a young club into this kind of a setting for an opening game," said Knodel, whose team was forced into frequent turnovers early in the game by a relentless North Carolina man-to-man defense and a backcourt press.

Coach Dean Smith of North Carolina said, "Everything went well for us and badly for Rice. Our young players showed a lot of poise and did well (including two sophomore starters, Bobby Jones and Robert McAdoo). Rice plays the sort of game that tends to set a fast tempo. That is why it was such a high-scoring game.

"We have a tough challenge facing us. We go to Pittsburgh Saturday night against a very good team. I am anxious to find out how well our team can play on the road. We have always been a good road team."

For North Carolina, Dennis Wuycick had 24 points, McAdoo 17 and Jones 16 in a balanced attack which placed six men in double figures.

Steve Emshoff was high man for Rice with 16 points.

It was the only game of the night involving an Atlantic Coast Conference team.

ACC clubs are idle tonight. On Saturday night, besides the North Carolina at Pittsburgh game, Maryland will be at George Washington, Rice at Wake Forest, Georgia at North Carolina State, Clemson will meet Davidson in the Charlotte Coliseum, and Virginia will be at Duke in the first league game of the season.

Duke will be without Dave Elmer, a 6-foot-10 sophomore center. A university spokesman said Thursday that he has quit the squad for personal reasons. He was the leading scorer for the Duke freshmen last season, averaging 21 points a game and 10 rebounds.

Citadel Faces UCLA's Bruins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Citadel's new head basketball coach, George Hill, faces an interesting question tonight.

If his Bulldogs can't beat College Division opponent Campbell on their own home court, what will they do when they go to Los Angeles to do battle with UCLA's Bruins, rated No. 1 in the nation in preseason polls and winners of seven of the last eight NCAA University Division titles.

The Citadel, not a Southern Conference favorite but a team which has six lettermen back from a club that went 8-15 last year, dropped its opener at home Wednesday night to Campbell 79-77 in overtime.

That isn't guaranteed to make Hill feel any better when he sends the Bulldogs out on the floor tonight at UCLA.

It's the only game scheduled tonight for conference teams.

Richmond's Spiders evened their record at 1-1 in Thursday night's only action with a 58-54 victory over Belmont Abbey. The Spiders had lost their opener Wednesday night at Duke 54-42.

Clark Wiseman broke a 47-47 tie with 4:58 left and added three more points in a short span that put the Spiders in front for good, although Belmont Abbey kept it close all the way.

Sophomore Gus Collier had 18 points, while Wiseman scored 11 and he and Roger Hatcher grabbed 10 rebounds each for the Spiders. Jim McDede had 16 points and 13 rebounds for Belmont Abbey.

Jaguars Pin Southern Wayne

DUDLEY — Farmville Central High School won its second straight wrestling match yesterday, downing Southern Wayne, 38-22. It was the first Eastern Carolina Conference match for the Jaguars.

The Jaguars fell behind in the early matches, finally catching up near the mid-way point. The lead changed hands back and fourth but Farmville captured the final four matches to sew it up.

Farmville Central won eight matches, five by pins, and one by forfeit, and drew in another.

The Panthers captured the first nine matches before Ayden-Grifton managed to gain a victory. Oddly enough, every match was decided by a pin, except for one recorded as a forfeit.

North Carolina Crushes Frosh

CHAPEL HILL — The East Carolina University freshmen opened the 1971-72 basketball season last night, and were riddled by the Tar Babies of the University of North Carolina, 97-51.

The Pirate freshmen were unable to keep up with the Tar Babies, who ran away from them right from the start. The Heels picked up a quick lead at the start and East Carolina never was able to do anything with them.

By the end of the half, the Heels had built up a 49-29 lead, and almost had all they needed then. They came back to outscore the Baby Bucs, 48-22, in the second half.

Donald Washington led the Tar Baby scoring with 21 points, while Ray Harrison had 15, Brad Hoffman had 14, Ed Stahl had 12 and Craig Swanson had 10.

For the Baby Bucs, Fred Stone had 21, while Bob Raynor and Tom Marsh each had 10 points.

The Baby Bucs play host to Mt. Olive Junior College on Saturday at 5:45 p.m. as a preliminary to the ECU-Jacksonville varsity game.

Rain Washes Out Texas Qualifying

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Five drivers who already have clinched stockcar racing titles were among some 50 hopefuls planning to make qualifying runs today for the Texas 500 Grand National Event.

Weather permitting, the top 40 spots in the 50-car lineup were to be decided, leaving the bottom end position open for latecomers Saturday.

Rain washed out first round time trials Thursday, and also put a crimp in practice plans for drivers entered in a pair of preliminary races Saturday—the Permatex 200 for sportsman sedans at 2 p.m. and the Alamo 200 for grand touring cars.

The Alamo 200 will begin at 9 p.m. Saturday, utilizing the 3.4 mile track-road course at Texas World Speedway.

Qualifying for 40 positions in the Permatex 200 also was on today's card.

Heading a list of candidates for the Texas 500—a $90,000 event that will close out NASCAR's richest season—was Richard Petty, who has won the grand national title for the third time and along with it about $325,000 in prize and championship point-fund money.

Others include Tiny Lund, who won his second NASCAR grand American title in three years; Red Farmer, the NASCAR sportsman champ; Ramo Stott, who repeated this year as top man in the Auto Racing Club of America; and Ray Elder, for the second straight year the champion of NASCAR's West Coast Division.

North Pitt Wrestlers Set Sights On Eastern Carolina Championship

(12th of a series)

BETHEL — A year ago North Pitt High School began its wrestling program with high hopes, and by the time the season was over, a number of those hopes had been realized.

Behind the coaching of Clem Williams, the Panthers became a good team in a short period of time. Now, with the 1971-72 season underway, Williams is thinking in terms of a conference championship this year, as the Panthers move into the Eastern Carolina Conference.

At present, however, there are only five teams in the league that field a wrestling team. Four of those are in Pitt County, and two are fielding wrestling teams for the first time. The other team is Southern Wayne.

"The rest of the schools in the conference are expected to add wrestling in the next year or two," Williams said. "It is expensive to get started, however, since a good mat costs several thousand dollars."

Williams is looking for a real good season from his Panthers. "We'll have some good competition, both inside and out of the conference," he said. "We had a scrimmage with Rose, and I was real pleased with the way we did in that.

"We've improved 100 per cent over last year, and we lost only three people off last year's team," Williams added.

That leaves a lot of experience on the team, and there is even better things coming along. The team has 25 people on it, and there are only five seniors among that group. Six others are juniors, while the rest are sophomores and freshmen.

"Bethel and Belvoir both have established feeder programs, too," Williams said, "and this is a real big help." Johnny Pinner and Horace Gordon are handling these programs.

In the conference battle, Williams expects Farmville Central and North Pitt to be the top teams, with the possibility on Conley joining in too.

Looking at his team by classes, Williams summed things up for each weight.

In the 98-pound class, David Brown is the top candidate. "He's very quick and strong, but he's getting competition from Henry Little."

Wesley Manning, who was 8-4 last year, returns in the 105-pound class, and Williams notes that he's greatly improved. "He really looks good now," he said.

At 112 is another veteran, Linwood Brown, who was 11-1 last year, finishing fourth in the sectionals. "His only loss was to the sectional winner."

Another strong veteran, Andrew Daniels will handle the 119-pound weight. "He's probably the best in the league," Williams said, "possibly in the East." Daniels was 12-0 during the regular season last year, and finished fourth in the sectionals.

Three people have been working at the 126-pound class, but one of them, Jimmy Nelson (1-3 last year) broke his collarbone this week, and will miss the rest of the season. The other two include Ronnie Howell (4-6) and newcomer Dallas Gilbert. "Howell is very smart on the mat, while Gilbert, a freshman, is one of the stronger boys for his weight, but he needs experience."

At 132 is Ken Shaw, a freshman, but one with a lot of promise. "He could go all the way. He's strong, but he's having some problems keeping his weight." Larry Brown backs him up, and is almost as good. "It's a shame they're both in the same class," Williams said.

Senior co-captain David Perry handles the 138-pound class. "He was 4-7 last year, and should do well this season."

The other co-captain, Ray Sharpe, is the 145-pound leader. "He could be one of the best in the conference, too," Williams said. Seven-five last year, Williams feels he could go all the way. Jesse Brown is his back-up man, but is still in the learning stages.

At 155, there are two good candidates, Wilbur Edwards, and Charles Wynn, a letterman who was 4-7 last year. Williams rates them both good. Wynn however, is still working toward the class in weight.

At 165, is Clarence Mooring, a newcomer, who is strong and quick, but needs experience. M. C. Wilson, a senior could take over when he makes his weight.

Jerry Howell returns at the 185 slot, and will win a lot if he works hard, Williams states.

Johnny Griggs, "quick as a cat," holds down the 195-pound class, but may move up to the heavyweight class. "We con't have anybody at heavyweight, so we may have to move some people around," Williams said.

Overall, Williams rates Brown, Daniels, Shaw, Sharpe and Edwards as definite candidates for sectional honors. "Any one or all of them could place well in the meet," he said.

Houston Is Upset; Long Beach State Wins Among Top Ten Teams

By BERT ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dean Smith, University of North Carolina coach, and Don Knodel, Rice coach, can take credit for two of the biggest understatements of the young college basketball season.

"Everything went well for us and badly for Rice," said Smith after his Tarheels had opened their campaign with a record-tying 127-69 rout over the Owls Thursday night.

"It is obvious we can do nothing but get better," commented Knodel.

"We knew this could happen," added the Rice Coach," but hoped it wouldn't. North Carolina deservedly is No. 2 in the nation. They were just a tremendous team tonight."

The No. 1 team, UCLA, winner of the last five NCAA championships, opens its season tonight at home against the Citadel.

Two other members of the Associated Press Top Ten were in action Thursday night. Houston, No. 7, was upset by California 84-81 in double overtime, and eighth-ranked Long Beach State crushed Corpus Christi 91-51.

North Carolina, last season's National Invitation Tournament champion, equalled two school records with its 127 points and 52 field goals against Rice. Both records had been set in a 127-76 romp over Richmond in 1966.

"Rice plays the sort of game that tends to set a fast tempo," explained Smith. "That was why it was such a high scoring game."

Smith also said he was pleased with the performances of two sophomore starters, Robert McAdoo and Bobby Jones. McAdoo scored 17 points and Jones 16. Dennis Wuycik led the Tarheels with 24 points.

Bill Chamberlain, the Most Valuable Player in last season's NIT event, did not play. He was suspended Nov. 24 for failing to run the last wind sprint during a workout.

Eric Long's foul shot with 15 seconds to play in the second overtime enabled California to upset Houston. Substitute Harry Brown came into the game midway in the second half for the Bears and scored 13 points, including two baskets that helped overcome a four-point deficit in the second extra period.

Long Beach State burst to a 54-27 halftime lead against Corpus Christi, then scored the first 13 points of the second half and coasted the rest of the way. Ed Ratleff and Lamont King led Long Beach with 21 points apiece.

Meanwhile, Bob Young's 33 points and 14 rebounds paced Rhode Island to an 88-70 victory over Manhattan, and Bob Sherwin's 28 points led Army to a 79-73 triumph over Niagara in a doubleheader at New York's Madison Square Garden.

Ken Boyd hit 15 of 25 field goal attempts and scored 35 points, helping Boston University edge Boston College 85-83, and Harvard nipped Northeastern 57-54 on Tony Jenkins' three free throws in the final 13 seconds in opening round games of the Beanpot Tournament at Boston. The winners meet for the title Dec. 13.

Maury John, coach at Drake University for the past 13 years, made a successful debut at Iowa State as the Cyclones blitzed Arizona 71-54 in the first game played at the $8.1 million Hilton Coliseum in Ames, Iowa.

Red Manning, beginning his 14th coaching season at Duquesne, was rewarded with his 200th victory as the Dukes beat Morehead State 76-63.

Sullivan Says Not That Short

NEW YORK (AP) — Pat Sullivan, the Heisman Trophy winning quarterback from Auburn, scoffed at suggestions Thursday he is too short to be successful in pro football and admitted he was disturbed at the criticism generated by his selection.

"I think the fuss bothers me a little bit," said Sullivan, here to accept the Heisman Trophy as the outstanding college football player in the nation. "But there have been quite a few successful quarterbacks—like (Fran) Tarkenton and (Bob) Greise who were just around 6 feet tall."

The concern over Sullivan's height stems from the fact the pro scouts are searching for quartersbacks well over six feet tall. Sullivan is 6-½. Tarkenton, the New York Giants' top quarterback, is 6-foot while Greise, the No. 1 quarterback for the Miami Dolphins, is 6-1.

"People have said that my size will hurt me," Sullivan said. "But the trophy is based on how a player does in college. I have confidence in myself that I can play in the pros even though I can't say how much my height will hinder me."

A pro scout, who asked not to be named, praised Sullivan as having a "strong arm, accurate thrower long and short, very heady, quick feet knows how to run and still protect himself and has a mature approach to football."

"What goes on in the beauty parlor? Bet you hear all the gossip in town." That's what my husband says.

Well, I'll admit it — there is talk. When people get together — whether in a beauty parlor, a barber shop or, in the old days, around the cracker barrel in the general store — tongues start flying. It is human nature to talk, to criticize, to complain.

But isn't it refreshing to hear something good about someone? Sometimes it takes a lot more strength to say something good than something bad! Sometimes it takes more strength to stand up and be counted as a churchgoer than it does to sit on the sidelines, espousing neither faith nor cause.

Which side are you on? If you're not sure, why not cast your vote for the Church? Try it next Sunday.

What's No. Carolina doing this weekend?

On the average, every man, woman and child will use three gallons of oil on Saturday, another three on Sunday. So will every other American.

The United States uses 600 million gallons of oil every day. Oil and natural gas supply 75 percent of all our energy needs.

A country that runs on oil can't afford to run short.

The Worry Clinic

The Emotional Cripple Lauded

Morton shows dismay at the growing attention focused on homosexuals. Homosexuality is a juvenile emotional stage, like bedwetting, from which normal human beings evolve. Instead of legalizing such immaturity, such victims need to be urged to grow up till they reach the mature heterosexuul state!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.

Case S-533: Morton J., aged 32, is a college English professor.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "why is homosexuality becoming so prevalent?

"Here in Minnesota, an avowed homosexual even ran for president of the college governing body.

"And out in California, my church is even considering the appointment of a couple of homosexuals to the ministry! Imagine!

"It seems to me that the public is leaning over too far to act benign and considerate of deviate minorities, whether of color, race or sexual habits.

"Are homosexuals 'born' that way?

"Should they be premitted to marry?

"And can they ever be changed into normal heterosexuals?"

Homosexual Binge

America is now on a homosexual binge.

Theatrical plays even depict them on the stage. And churches are indirectly fawning over them.

That's as stupid as to laud bedwetting!

For both enuresis and homosexuality are juvenile emotional habits that the mature adult should have outgrown!

Homosexuals are not born that way!

But boys and girls are born with a moderate degree of sexual ambivalence.

The males generally posess a 75 percent-25 percent ratio of masculine to feminine inclinations.

Normal adult women likewise swing 25 percent to 75 percent in favor of femininity.

But when older men coerce young boys into homosexual relations, those boys may finally become habituated to playing the submissive (female) role.

At birth, all of us are in the "egocentric stage" of our emotional growth.

At this time, we are selfishly interested in our own satisfaction, so we cry for a dry diaper or a bottle of warm milk, regardless of the fact we waken our distraught and overworked mother at 2 A.M.

By kindergarten age, we enter the "parental stage" wherein we now acknowledge that mamma and papa are dominant forces to which we must adjust.

But from about the age of 10 into the early teens, we next enter the "homosexual stage," as viewed psychologically.

For that's when we form one-sex gangs and secret societies, signing our names in blood and vowing to be loyal to our own sex.

But by the middle teens, most people evolve to the "heterosexual stage" and become anamoured of the oposite sex.

Alas, some folks never outgrow the egocentric stage and thus remain psychopathic personalities, so selfish they'll sell their own parents down the river.

Others remain fixated at the parental stage, and thus are so dominated emotionally by mamma or papa that they remain bachelors or spinsters forever.

It is at the gang stage that adult homosexuals are often fixated, for if they are then initiated into overt sexual relations by an older member of their own sex, they become the adult homosexual.

Since this means they retain their more juvenile emotional outlook, this condition should not be extolled or legalized, any more than bedwetting!

Such emotional "cripples" can deliberately train themselves to evolve onward to the heterosexual emotional stage by resolutely dating the opposite sex.

They must go through the heterosexual motions till they feel the corresponding emotions.

Send for my booklet "Sex Problems of Young People," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 ◇	Pass
3 ◇	Pass	3 NT	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: King of ♠

A substantial swing was scored in a team of four match in today's hand when one declarer found a psychological means to overcome a perverse distribution of the cards. The final contract of three no trump was reached at both tables on an identical bidding sequence.

At one table, West opened the king of spades and South paused to assess the situation before playing to the first trick. If he won West's lead with the ace to take the diamond finesse and it succeeded — he could take 10 tricks, five diamonds, three clubs and the major suit aces.

If the finesse lost and East returned a spade thru the jack, West could score four tricks to defeat the contract —provided that he held a five card suit. If he had only four spades, then the contract was safe.

In order to protect himself against the more adverse prospect, South ducked the first trick, following suit with the three. West realized that it would be disastrous to continue spades, inasmuch as partner was expected to drop the jack under the king if he held that card. West required a lead thru his opponent and he shifted to the jack of hearts in an attempt to get East in. The latter was pleased with West's play and he encouraged a continuation by signalling with the nine of hearts.

West led the ten next and the ace was played from dummy. A small club was led to the queen to put the queen of diamonds thru for a finesse. When East produced the king of diamonds, he cashed the king and queen of hearts to score the setting trick.

The result appeared unavoidable, for had South won the opening spade lead and then taken the diamond finesse, East can return a spade when he is in and West will mop up four more tricks in that suit.

The declarer at the second table uncovered a clever strategy to counter the adverse distribution. In order to encourage a spade continuation and discourage a heart shift, he merely followed to the opening king of spades lead with the jack! This made it appear that he had started with a doubleton and West could hardly resist the temptation to continue with the queen of spades, for it appeared that South would not merely be obliged to play the ace, but that East would have a third card in the suit to reach his partner once spades were established.

South won the second spade with the ace and took the diamond finesse, losing to the king. East was out of spades, however, and was forced to surrender the lead back to his opponent. Declarer ran for cover with nine tricks—one spade, one heart, four diamonds and three clubs.

Observe that South could not lose by his play, for if East does have a third spade to return—the defense is limited to four tricks, three spades and one diamond.
