State Of Emergency In Korea

SEOUL (AP) — The South Korean government proclaimed a state of emergency today, charging war preparations by North Korea.

President Chung Hee Park declared South Korea must "re-posture" its defense arrangements in view of Communist China's admission to the United Nations and uncertainty over the level of future American support.

A government proclamation informed South Koreans their constitutional freedoms may be restricted and "social unrest that risks the national security will not be tolerated."

The major opposition party, the New Democrats, took issue with Park. A party spokesman said the president's aim appeared to be the security of his government rather than the security of the nation. If the situation was serious enough to warrant emergency measures, the spokesman added, it should have been discussed in the National Assembly.

Park said North Korea has increased infiltration of armed agents to South Korea and has carried out a massive military buildup of more than 2.5 million troops, including a regular military force of 500,000 men, a militia of 1.4 million and 700,000 Red youth guards.

He noted that Communist China as a U.N. member is supporting North Korea's demands for dissolution of the United Nations Command in Korea and the U.N. Commission for the Unification and Rehabilitation of Korea.

"We must foresee thorny trails that might come in the path of our national security," he said.

As for South Korea's major ally, Park said: "The United States is running into a difficult position to allow us to depend on or ask for the same level of support for our national security as before."

The balking by the American Congress over the foreign aid bill is a warning to countries receiving aid to assume more responsibility for their national security requirements, the president said.

Sadat Says He Pledged To Send Soviets Home

NEW YORK (AP) — Egyptian President Anwar Sadat says he has twice promised to send home all Soviet missile crews in Egypt and to restore full diplomatic relations with the United States as soon as Israel carried out the first phase of a withdrawal from the Sinai Peninsula.

Sadat charges that the Nixon administration misled him into thinking that the United States could in turn wrest major negotiating concessions from Israel. None materialized, Sadat notes in an interview in the current Newsweek magazine, adding, "We are now back to square one."

In the interview with Newsweek senior editor Arnaud de Borchgrave, Sadat says he first made the promise to send Soviet missile crews home in talks with Secretary of State William P. Rogers in Cairo last May.

The pledge was reaffirmed during a July meeting with Michael Sterner the head of the State Department's Egyptian Affairs Desk, Sadat says, and quotes Sterner as having told him that President Nixon had decided the United States would "now take an active role and cease to play the part of mail-man between the two sides."

"Then we had a 70-day black-out from America," Sadat continues. "Absolutely nothing from anyone."

Meanwhile, in separate television interviews Sunday, Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir and Egypt's foreign minister, Mahmoud Riad, disagreed sharply on conditions under which the stalled peace efforts could get under way.

Riad insisted that Israel must agree in advance to withdraw from all the Egyptian territory she occupied in 1967 before starting talks.

"We do not commit ourselves to anything without negotiations. We have one precondition: No conditions," Mrs. Meir said.

On another point, Riad denied that Egypt had threatened to renew hostilities after Dec. 31 if there was no solution. Sadat had said recently that 1971 would be a "year of decision."

Mrs. Meir was questioned on te NBC TV-radio program "Meet the Press," while Riad was interviewed on CBS's "Face the Nation."

The Kind Of Guy Who May Give His Last Dollar

By BOB INGLE
Associated Press Writer

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Harry L. Jones is the kind of guy who'd give a stranger his last dollar. And does, frequently.

He's a policeman who, for the last 17 years on duty, has seen life at its worst. But he's not discouraged. He says he thinks people just need a little help.

Last week, for instance, Jones answered a routine report of family trouble. He said he found a woman and five ragged children—three girls and two boys, ages 10 years to 19 months—huddled in an attempt to keep warm in a freezing mist.

Inside the house, he said, was the children's father, drunk.

Earlier that day the woman had taken four of her husband's last $11 and sent one of her children to the store for groceries. When the child returned, Jones said she told him, the man snatched the food away, stomped it to bits.

"I kicked the door open," Jones said. "Those folks were living there with just wall-to-wall floor—I mean no furniture at all, no food."

Jones said he radioed headquarters he was going to the grocery store, then spent the only money he had—$6—on food for the family.

"None of that comes as a surprise to me," said Mrs. Jones, who has been married to the big-hearted Birmingham native for 18 of his 43 years.

"I recall one occasion he called home one night and asked if we had any money in the bank. I told him we had a little bit. He said he had found a young woman who had no place to go, so he paid her room rent at the YMCA for a week with a $30 check.

"I had to go out and borrow the money the next day to cover the check," she said.

Recalling his experience last week, Jones says, "I was really touched by that family. I'm going to work with the man ... try to help him get rehabilitated. I've talked to him about Alcoholics Anonymous and he seems acceptable to it.

"The Fraternal Order of Police is going to see that the kids have a Christmas this year.

"You should have seen the eyes of those kids when we mentioned Santa Claus to them ... they lit up like diamonds."

The Jones have two daughters, Teri, 17, and Carol, 13. When they outgrow their clothes, their father always finds someone who needs them.

Bombay Bombed

Bangla Desh Rebels Recognized By India

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Pakistani jets attacked Bombay, India's largest city, United News of India reported today.

It said the attack came just after nightfall. Earlier in the day, India recognized the Bangla Desh rebels as the legal government of East Pakistan and claimed victory in a major tank battle on West Pakistan's border.

Bombay, a city of 5.6 million, is on India's west coast about 500 miles south of West Pakistan.

United News of India said Indian antiaircraft guns and coastal batteries opened fire as the Pakistani planes approached Bombay.

The dispatch, apparently filed to New Delhi while the attack was under way, gave no idea of the extent of the raid.

Air raid warnings sounded over western India after sundown as Indian radar picked up sightings of what appeared to be a massive air strike, New Delhi dispatches reported.

In another development, Pakistan broke diplomatic relations with India in retaliation to its recognition of Bangla Desh.

A spokesman for India's Foreign Ministry in New Delhi said earlier the Indian government had no plans to sever diplomatic ties with Pakistan.

India has supported the Bangla Desh rebels since March and has gained backing for this stand from the Soviet Union.

There was no immediate word from Moscow on whether the Soviet Union would follow India in recognizing the rebels. Premier Alexei N. Kosygin said Sunday the question of Kremlin recognition had not been considered.

The Soviet news agency Tass carried a New Delhi dispatch reporting that India had done so and noted that Prime Minister Indira Gandhi had told her Parliament that recognition signifies an important turning point in the history of national liberation movements.

The Pakistanis claimed their forces had made a general advance in all sectors along the border between India and West Pakistan and had crossed the Tavi River in the Jammu sector of Kashmir.

Pakistan reported earlier that it had seized 20 Indian border posts in Kashmir.

Russian Vetoes May See Peace Plea In Assembly

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States and other nations are considering asking the U.N. General Assembly to intercede in the India-Pakistan war following two Soviet vetoes of Security Council resolutions calling for a cease-fire and withdrawal of the opposing forces.

The 106th and 107th vetoes cast by the Russians in U.N. history came in weekend meetings at which Chinese Ambassador Huang Hua charged Soviet Ambassador Jacob A. Malik with filibustering to give India time to advance into Pakistan, and Malik called Huang

"an imperialist jester."

The council scheduled another meeting this afternoon to take up another resolution calling for a cease-fire but no withdrawal. But as of Sunday night, the U.S. government had instructed Ambassador George Bush not to vote for anything that omitted the call for withdrawal of forces.

The assembly's 1965 "Uniting for Peace" resolution provides for an emergency session on the vote of any nine of the 15 council members whenever a veto prevents the council's acting in the interest of peace.

Somali Ambassador Abdulrahim Abby Farah said African, Asian and Latin American members of the council were considering this course in the belief that a big majority in the assembly would vote for a cease-fire and withdrawal.

Bush, asked whether he would go to the assembly with the issue, replied, "I would say it's a live option."

"We're keeping all our options open."

Bush had just come from the council meeting at which a Soviet veto killed an eight-nation resolution calling on India and Pakistan for an immediate cease-fire and withdrawal and also calling for an early political solution in East Pakistan.

The vote was the same as on a U.S. cease-fire-and-withdrawal motion early Sunday: 11 for, the Soviet Union and Poland opposed and Britain and France abstaining.

NETTED GANG

NEW YORK (AP) — A series of raids over the weekend netted the gang that held up a Harlem bank and stole weapons from a Yonkers armory last week, police said. One suspect was shot and killed.

Relations Worsening

NEW DELHI (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Kenneth B. Keating met Indian Foreign Secretary T.N. Kaul today as Indian American relations worsened.

Kaul had said he was going to summon Keating to complain personally about the U.S. stand on the war in the United Nations Security Council.

But a U.S. Embassy spokesman said Keating had requested an appointment with Kaul, the top civil servant in the Foreign Ministry.

"The meeting was cordial," the spokesman said, but added he could give no details.

The two met for about a half hour.

Keating had been expected to complain to Kaul about what the United States claims was the "indiscriminate strafing and bombing" of an American merchant vessel caught in Chittagong harbor last Saturday during an Indian air and naval attack.

A U.S. Senate Department spokesman in Washington said the captain and two crew members were injured and were due in Rangoon aboard the ship.

Buckeye State, this morning. Indian naval authorities in Madras described as "utterly false" American allegations that another U.S. merchant ship, Expedito, was intercepted on the high seas during the weekend and escorted to Madras for inspection of her cargo to see if it included anything that might be useful to Pakistan, its next scheduled port of call.

The naval authorities, according to United News of India, said the ship had reached Madras on Dec. 1 and was in the outer harbor waiting for a berth.

U.S. Embassy sources, however, said the ship's agents in Calcutta were claiming that the Expedito had been intercepted by Indian naval ships.

Fresh Setback For Cambodian Troops Today

PHNOM PENH (AP) — North Vietnamese troops dealt the Cambodian Army another setback today, forcing it into retreat from a district town only 16 miles northwest of Phnom Penh. At least 50 Cambodians were killed or wounded.

About 150 troops fled from Bat Dœung in the darkness before dawn after two days of fierce fighting.

About 50 of the survivors were reported to have reached safety at the nearby outpost of Phnom Baset.

Last week the Cambodian army's northeast front collapsed, sending thousands of troops and civilians fleeing north to the besieged provincial capital of Kompong Thom. The North Vietnamese were left in control of 25 miles of Highway 6.

Reports during the weekend said hundreds of the fleeing soldiers and civilians and were killed during the retreat. The army abandoned three more hill positions during the weekend and withdrew the rest of its surviving force in the sector into Kompong Thom.

In Saigon, it was learned that U.S. Navy planes have nearly doubled attacks against the Ho Chi Minh trail in Laos since the dry season began. The aim of the air campaign is to reduce the movement of North Vietnamese reinforcements and war materials into Cambodia and South Vietnam.

The Pacific Fleet's two most powerful carriers, the nuclear-powered Enterprise and the Constellation, are sending more than 100 planes a day against the supply trail. Military sources anticipate an increase in North Vietnamese attacks on the aerial raiders, and more U.S. attacks on North Vietnam in retaliation.

Hearing On ACLU Petition Is Begun In Superior Court

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer

A hearing on a petition filed by the American Civil Liberties Union to have the State Bureau of Investigation's report into the shooting of a black man on Aug. 6 released began this morning in Superior Court here.

Charles J. Cain of Greenville, chairman of the local chapter of the N.C. Civil Liberties Union, testified that the chapter feels the release of the report would help restore "peace and tranquility" to Pitt County in view of questions that have been left unanswered concerning the shooting.

Cain told the court that "until 'conclusive scientific evidence' is shown, particularly as to where the victim was shot, questions will 'remain in the public mind.'"

Asked by Deputy attorney general James Bullock if the SBI report was shown to be inconclusive, would public release of the investigation still serve to restore peace and tranquility to the area, Cain said that he understood the report was thorough but if it was thought to be inconclusive, a statement from the SBI to that effect would be helpful.

Cain told the court that, by direction of the board of directors of the Civil Liberties Union, a request for a grand jury hearing into the matter had been withdrawn on the grounds that the secrecy of the hearing might "jeopardize due process."

County superintendent of schools Arthur Alford was called to the stand shortly before noon. He testified that Pitt schools had been experiencing disorder since the Aug. 6 incident and cited bombings at two schools, "changing attitudes" on the part of students, and several walk-outs by students as occurring since the shooting.

Exceeded Goal In Record Time

The Pitt County United Fund has exceeded its goal — the largest in its history — in record time. Campaign Chairman Ed Wareen reported Friday that a total of $148,110.50 has been collected, well over the goal of $141,299.04.

There are still some additional funds to be collected and pledged, as a few businesses and individuals make reports within the next few days. Warren said final reports should be in by Dec. 10.

This is the third consecutive year that United Fund has exceeded the goal here and it is a welcome change from the years when, despite all that

One Birthday Is Remembered

By BRYAN HAISLIP
HENDERSON — Everybody remembers the day Henry A. Dennis was 50 years old.

It was Sunday. After dinner and birthday cake, the family moved from the table. Someone turned on the radio.

The Japanese had bombed Pearl Harbor.

Dennis telephoned a co-worker on the Henderson Daily Dispatch to ask what he thought of the stunning news. "It looks like the fat's in the fire," the friend replied.

BRYAN HAISLIP

"Yes," said Dennis. "Now, that we're in it, we're going to have to show them a thing or two."

He chuckled in recollection. "I had no idea then it was going to take four years to do it," he said.

Looking forward to his 80th birthday on Dec. 7, Dennis said that fateful incident which launched the U.S. into World War II probably ranks as the top story in his newspapering career that sweeps backward 60 or so years.

Started As Student

He started while a student at Trinity College in Durham, now Duke University. A youth of limited means from Cabarrus County, he had to put himself through college the best way he could. One way was writing as correspondent for various papers across the state.

He worked for papers in Greenville, Rocky Mount, and Raleigh before settling in Henderson. He acquired majority interest in the Dispatch, and serves as its editor and president.

He doesn't contemplate quitting any time soon. "I'll be here as long as my health holds out, physically and mentally," he said firmly.

Dennis may well be the senior member of the working press in North Carolina.

"I don't know of anyone older than I am who is as active in the day-to-day operation of a paper," he said.

He drives to the office each morning, writes all the editorials, and on a typical day may prepare as many as a dozen local stories. As a reporter he goes out to cover the county commissioners, boards of education, and events such as the Christmas Parade.

No Retirement Plans

He's thought about retirement, but only with disgust. "I get fed up with the idea that you have to retire just because you reach a certain age," he said. "I reckon the best way to live longer is to have something to do."

Too many people at 65 are turned out to pasture when they have abilities and talents which ought to be put to use, he added.

Dennis doesn't lament the good old days. Tar Heel newspapers do a better job today than 50 years ago in keeping the people informed, he said. They have more space, more staff, and provide more news.

"There wasn't as much going on in those days," he recalled.

Another difference is pay. He got his baptism in newspapering hanging around a Durham newspaper as a college student. An editor going on vacation asked him to fill in six nights. His remuneration, after he asked for it, was $5.

"I ought to have cussed him out, but I didn't," Dennis said.

His first salaried job was at the scale of $17 per week.

Young fellows today just out of journalism school host as the salaries small papers can afford, which makes recruitment tough, Dennis said.

Local Ownership Best

The veteran editor feels strongly that local ownership keeps a newspaper close to its community. It's a disturbing trend, he said, to see papers passing into the hands of owners outside the state.

It gives him satisfaction that younger generations of his family are involved in the Henderson Daily Dispatch. His son, William B. Dennis, is city editor. Two grandsons have worked summers, and show an inclination for newspapering.

The Dispatch, circulation 6,600, survived disaster 25 years ago when fire destroyed its plant. Three or four days publication was missed, then for five months a four-page edition was printed by The Raleigh Times and hauled to Henderson.

"We lost money every day for five months," Dennis said.

The present one-story Dispatch building was occupied in 1957, the year Dennis served as president of the North Carolina Press Association.

His hearing isn't as good as it used to be, and roving arthritis takes a toll of pain. Henry Dennis at 80 keeps a glad heart.

He's taught Sunday School and served other ways as a devoted Methodist. "I thank God for good health and work to do," he said.

"Birthdays don't bother me," he added. "I hope they keep coming."

chairmen and workers could do, the county still could not meet its goal.

We feel that there is a better understanding of the agencies which United Fund supports now, and also an appreciation of this convenient method of giving one time to support a wide variety of community agencies.

"Our goal could not have been reached without the full cooperation of the hundreds of volunteers who have helped in the campaign and the generous donations made by the citizens and business firms of the county," Warren said in announcing that the goal had been met. "Our county now becomes an example to others and an inspiration to ourselves."

It has been said often before that the United Fund goal could be reached before we turned our thoughts to the Christmas season. This year we have done just that and it is to the credit of all Pitt County citizens that the goal has been met so early.

A Distinct Honor For Greenville From A&T

It is a matter of pride to us that North Carolina A&T State University has named Dr. Andrew Best, Greenville physician, and Howard C. Barnhill, a Greenville native now living in Charlotte, to serve on the board of governors for higher education.

The 32-member board is being made up representatives from the boards of trustees of regional universities and from the board of the Consolidated University.

East Carolina University has three members of the board who have already been elected, and, as it happened, none of the three were from Greenville.

It is anticipated that the 32 members elected will take a state-wide view of higher education as they set state-wide policies. It is an honor to our city, however, that the A&T trustees have chosen these two men with Greenville backgrounds.

Nixon Stared Down Congress

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Atty. Gen. John Mitchell's presence at the White House Monday morning when President Nixon met his congressional lobbyists was the tipoff to the political nature of a bold and, so far, eminently successful gamble.

Mitchell, the President's campaign manager, was strongly in favor of vetoing Mrs. Nixon's own tax cut bill if it contained the Democratic plan for government financing of Presidential campaigns. Mr. Nixon thoroughly agreed. With none of the President's economic advisers present, the discussion over whether or not to veto was wholly political despite grave economic implications of delaying the tax cuts.

Thus, with no opposition expressed, the President decided to issue his veto threat — to the horrified wonder of businessmen, Congress and a good many of his own officials. Equally surprising, it was Congress that blinked first in the confrontation. Within 24 hours of the decision, Mr. Taxation on Capitol Hill — Rep. Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas — was seeking an alternative to the political checkoff.

Such a train of events scarcely seemed possible the week before. Knowledgeable White House aides agreed with the outside world that Mr. Nixon could not risk further confusion of the uncertain economy with a veto merely to dispose of a Democratic campaign slush fund.

In fact, as we reported, White House staffers were fashioning a counterplay. Although Mrs. Nixon would sign the bill, a court suit would be instituted against the political financing checkoff that might prevent it from being used in 1972.

But Mr. Nixon was having none of this. For Democratic leaders to attach the checkoff to the tax bill, the President told intimates, was pure and simple blackmail. And if he could be blackmailed now, he went on, he could be blackmailed later on other issues. He could not cave in, no matter what the economic consequences.

Moreover, since June 1970, Mr. Nixon has harbored regrets for having signed the 18-year-old veto provision rather than veto the Negro voting rights bill to which it was attached. Never again, the President vowed, would he approve any political measure to his disadvantage.

At Monday morning's meeting, Mitchell called the political fund checkoff unconstitutional. But Mr. Nixon did most of the talking, making clear from the outset his mind was made up. The veto decision would be announced and business enlisted to convince Congress that the political fund checkoff should be removed from the bill in order to let the tax cuts take effect.

When Mr. Nixon's veto decision was announced Monday afternoon, angry Democratic leaders were all the more determined to pass the checkoff, veto threat or not. If vetoed, they said, Congress would pass it again. Mills publicly speculated that the President might just be bluffing.

Whatever doubt existed as erased Tuesday morning just before the convening of the Senate-House conference on the tax bill presided over by Mills. A Presidential aide relayed this message to Mills through a Washington tax lawyer close to him: If the chairman has any doubts about the President's seriousness, he should realize

Coach Calls A President

WASHINGTON — In spite of all he has to do, President Nixon still takes time out of his busy day to telephone football coaches and offer them encouragement and advice.

While the President does this on the spur of the moment, it has never occurred to any football coach to telephone Mr. Nixon and offer him words of inspiration and solace.

I imagine if a coach did, the call would go something like this:

"Hello, Mr. President, this is Coach Harold Elkins of the John V. Lindsay High School football team. I just wanted to call you and tell you to keep your chin up and don't get discouraged because you've lost a few lately."

"Thank you, Coach."

"The most important thing to remember is that when you're on the five-yard line and you're fumbling, the other guy still has to recover the ball."

"I never thought of that,

ART BUCHWALD

Coach."

"Mr. President, my team has lost 39 out of its last 40 games, but I learned one thing. Never give up. You have to say to yourself, 'I may be losing the battle for inflation or the economy; or the right with labor or with Congress,' or whatever you're losing at the moment, but I'm going to stick in there and give as good as I get, because I'm a pro."

"Those are inspiring words, Coach."

"Now, I want to tell you something Mr. President, that you probably don't know about me. I always wanted to go into politics. But I wasn't light enough to make the team. I played some sandlot politics, and in my freshman year in college, I ran for a couple of offices, and so what I tell you now comes not from the heart, but from experience."

"The game of politics is just like the game of football. You win some and you lose some, and you usually lose more than you win. But what counts is not when you're winning and the crowd is cheering, but when you're losing and you're still willing to play. You have that spirit, Mr. President. You've lost a

(New York Times)

With the nation's bicentennial less than five years off, it is astonishing that the United States has yet to protect the environs of one of its historic treasures, Mount Vernon. There was a brief uproar (recently) when the Soviet Government sought to purchase the estate adjoining Mount Vernon as a recreation center for its Washington embassy employees, a proposal which became moot when the owner withdrew the property from the market.

Yet across the Potomac River there remains a distinct danger that an industrial or commercial development may ruin the view which is now much as it was in George Washington's time. Congress thought it had solved the problem a decade ago when it created Piscataway Park. But not all of the promised scenic easements have materialized. The most serious holdout is the politically well-connected owner of an amusement park who periodically threatens to build a Disneyland or an industrial park on riverfront acreage.

Senator Case and Representative Frelinghuysen of New Jersey have introduced a bill to remove the financial ceiling for land acquisition at Piscataway and thus enable the Federal Government to acquire this land outright. Ten years of broken promises and avaricious haggling over easements are quite enough. It is time for the National Park Service to commit itself on this issue and for the Senate and House Interior Committees to hold hearings and take definitive action.

An industrial development opposite Mount Vernon, power lines at Antietam, an intrusive viewing tower overlooking Gettysburg, the prospect of a supermarket at the entrance to the Roosevelt home at Hyde Park — the threats to the nation's hollowed ground are seemingly endless. Congress could constructively celebrate the nation's bicentennial by devising a law to provide comprehensive and reliable protection for the scenic approaches to all the nation's historic sites.

Those Old Controls Never Die

By ELMER ROESSNER

The wage and price freeze will not suddenly collapse, at least for some time yet. But the process of erosion, that began well before Nov. 15, nay, before Aug. 15, is proceeding apace.

It almost seems as if someone forgot that 1972 is an election year and that union men have votes. There seems to be no end of the heat that may be applied to the wage freeze. Coal miners are getting something less than three times the 5.5 per cent minimum increase. Other unions are getting more than the minimum, and the construction workers are playing ball in a park where the 5.5 rule does apply.

It was stated here, with finer accuracy than the writer suspected at the time, that the 5.5 per cent boost would be a minimum, not a maximum. And few settlements are within the limit.

Prices Escalate

The same thing is happening in prices. The cost of living, by the government's own figures, has inched up. And curiously, farm products, which are not controlled, have dipped. Most of the rises have been in controlled prices.

raise your bread price to $1 a loaf today. You may not sell many loaves, but wouldn't it be fun to charge that?

And there are thousands of ways of increasing prices. A maker of frozen TV dinners could add a little bell that rings when the dinner is heated through. Or easier yet, he can't put 5.5 per cent less meat in his trays of stew.

There's a lesson in our sieve-like control. Next time the government finds it necessary to freeze prices and wages, it can make the freeze absolute as of a certain past day, hour minute, affecting everything.

There will be squeals and howls, of course. But they will be drowned out by the cheers of consumers.

What did Czar Nicholas II, Kaiser Wilhelm II, King Edward VII and Lady Randolph Churchill, mother of Sir Winston Churchill, have in common? All had themselves tattooed during the late 19th century when the fad became popular among European nobility. Lady Churchill had a snake tattooed around her arm.

Violence. Cops against kids. Youngsters against their parents. Drop-outs against their teachers — well, here we are back at the old theme again. Life is hard. Life is unjust. Nobody loves me. Somebody's picking at me all the time.

Okay. Now turn the record over. Isn't there some nice, sweet music on the other side? Why don't they listen to me? I could tell them a thing or two.

Oh no. If that's what the other side of the record is saying, then press the button, stop the record and see what the newspaper has to say.

Heavens above! That's worse than the record. Why can't we have a little happiness in life for a change? Listen, Brother (or Sister). Life has always been this way. It started in the Garden of Eden when one of Adam and Eve's sons, Cain, slew his brother Abel. Don't forget the famous statement made by a famous man that people are just about as happy as they make up their minds to be. There are people starving today even in our own wonderful country. There is hideous starvation at far distant places. War never settles anything, but we seem to keep at it in the hopes that this time it will settle something.

You don't like our educational system? Then suggest another and put it into operation. You don't like this? You don't like that? Okay. Let's hush up and perhaps most of life's problems will settle themselves.

Studying Nat'l Food Bank Plan

By CARL C. CRAFT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress, with an eye on the political scale, is weighing whether to create a national food bank stocked with about $1.5 billion worth of vital grains at an average annual storage cost of $215 million.

The Nixon administration, taking its own approach toward easing farm problems, has joined the American Farm Bureau in opposing the Democrat-backed plan that would set up a strategic reserve supply of up to 300 million bushels of wheat and 25 million bushels of feed grains. Agriculture specialists on Capitol Hill said they expected a close call for the measure in the House Rules Committee, which moved today toward its decision on whether to dispatch the legislation to the floor for action.

The bill, which emerged from the House Agriculture Committee on a 21-10 vote, has the backing of the Farmers Union, the National Farmers Organization, the National Grange, National Association of Wheat Growers, National Corn Growers Association and the Grain Sorghum Producers Association.

Maneuvering on the bill could include attempts to tack onto it a measure which cleared the Agriculture Committee last Thursday by 19 to 6. This would provide that when the government announced wheat and feed-grain programs that add to reserve stocks, the minimum loan level or rate available to producers during that crop year would be hiked by at least 25 per cent.

In addition, it is expected that Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., will try to attach a $20,000 limit on all farm-subsidy payments.

Under the base bill for a national food bank, the secretary of agriculture would buy wheat and feed grain at prices not exceeding the average price for the previous five years.

DOING THEIR STRING ... Digital Dexterity Champions Debbie Patterson and George Goldbeck do the see-saw with string at the N.C.

Folklore Society meeting in Raleigh where they won their title.

Share Fun Day Digital Dexterity Championship

By BETTY CASEY

Two ECU students, George Goldbeck and Debbie Patterson won the First Annual Digital Dexterity Finger Bowl championship Friday during a "fun" contest held in connection with the sixtieth annual session of the N.C. Folklore Society held in Raleigh.

The contest involved making geometrical designs with string—Jacob's ladder, crow's foot, cup and saucer and a see-saw—and was conducted by Dr. C.B. Wilkerson of Raleigh.

Flurries of snow and Christmas music enlivened the atmosphere for some dozen members and friends of the Coastal Plains Folklore Society—recently organized in Greenville—who attended the meeting and other events held in conjunction with North Carolina Culture Week.

Greenville area residents at the Raleigh session included: Dr. Rachel Kilpatrick, Miss Janice Hardison, Miss Marguerite Wiggins, Dr. Douglas J. McMillan, Royall Newton, Karen Charmaine Blansfield, Dr. Neill Ross, Mr. and Mrs. John Casey and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Starling.

Other highlights of the meeting, attended by people across the state included, a "clog dance" exhibition by John Blanton; folk songs such as "Josiah and Kercherger" by Hugh B. Johnston Jr. of Wilson; and "bird and animal imitations" by Jimmy Gray. John Foster West of Boone, author of "Tom Dula" and "Time Was" was elected incoming President.

If Connally can pull off Phase II, and Agnew doesn't get hurt, and the stock market goes up and you can block George Meany, and if you can score some points against George Wallace, I believe you're going to be very tough to beat."

"Coach, I have to ring off now . . ."

"I want to make one thing perfectly clear, Mr. President. You're going to goof between now and 72 — everyone goofs in politics, as in football, but the man who wins is the one who says, 'I've goofed, but I'm still in the ball game.'"

"No, I don't."

Simultaneously, businessmen informed members of the Senate-House conference that Mr. Nixon's veto threat was ravaging the already troubled economy. The auto industry, depending on excise tax relief in the bill, complained that sales stopped with Mr. Nixon's veto threat Monday afternoon.

Mills concluded this was too high a cost to pay and immediately set off in search of a substitute for the checkoff. Besides, under pressure from business, the checkoff stood to lose the vote in the House. And Congressional Democratic leaders were coming to feel the President had the whip hand.

Every one of us uses an average of three gallons of oil every day. So do all the other 205 million Americans. Oil and natural gas supply 75 percent of our energy needs: almost all transportation, most of what is used for cooking and heating, more than 40 percent of all our electricity.

MERGER ANNOUNCED

North Carolina National Bank and Carolina Bank of Commerce in Eden have agreed in principle to a proposed merger, according to a joint announcement by Thomas S. Harrington of Eden, acting chairman of Carolina Bank, and Thomas I. Storrs of Charlotte, president of CNB.

The proposal, it was announced, is subject to approval by shareholders of both banks and by the U.S. Comptroller of the Currency.

Carolina Bank reported total deposits on Sept. 30 of about $23 million. The bank, with headquarters in Eden, has seven offices in Rockingham County and a recently established office at Elon College in Alamance County.

CNB, with 110 offices in 34 North Carolina communities, has deposits of approximately $1.3 billion. The bank is the major subsidiary of NCNB Corp., a holding company with seven other subsidiaries.

TAX ASSESSMENT

Don Collier, local manager of Carolina Telephone, reported that the company's Pitt County taxes for 1971 amounted to $158,057, one of the largest assessments in the country. Collier said that the tax payment covered ad valorem taxes on the company's property located within the county.

According to Collier, municipal ad valorem taxes were also paid to Greenville, Ayden, Farmville and Grifton. These taxes, he said, exceeded $70,000.

County and municipal 1971 taxes paid by the company in its 40-county operating area totaled over $3,162,500. Carolina Telephone's entire operating tax bill for 1971, including all state and federal taxes, is expected to amount to over $20,000,000, it was announced.

BANK PROMOTIONS

Bank of North Carolina, N.A. regional vice president, Corbett Padgett, announced the promotion of three of the personnel at the Bank's Lillington office, effective immediately.

Padgett said that Charles V. Sikes has been named assistant vice president and manager of the Lillington branch. Assistant vice president Charles D. Burnette Jr., manager of the Lillington office since 1967, has been transferred as manager of the BNC Greenville branch. Dennis W. Alexander, loan officer at the Lillington branch, was promoted to assistant manager, Padgett said.

Moving Tribute To Movie-Maker

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "The American West of John Ford," CBS' special Sunday night, was a warm, sentimental tribute to a man who has been making western movies since 1917.

Ford's films have earned him four best director Oscars—curiously not one for any of his westerns. He appeared periodically through a program well laced with fight scenes from his films. A crusty individualist, Ford first was shown returning to Monument Valley—scene of many of his films—with John Wayne who worked with him first there in his 1938 "Stagecoach." James Stewart and Henry Fonda, two more of his favorite actors, recalled his style as a director in the course of a leisurely half-kidding interview.

It was a delightful hour. "Miss Teen-Age America," cute, dark-haired Colleen Fitzpatrick, was chosen Friday night in the usual tedious, 90-minute live coverage of the pageant finals. The girls are a bit younger than the "Miss America" contestants and the show's production values less opulent. But the show itself adheres rigidly to the torrid format. After all, you can sell more commercial time during a 90-minute spot than during an hour.

One had to feel sorry for most of the 55 finalists as they were introduced: A highly partisan audience in a Fort Worth auditorium broke into applause only for girls from Texas. Singer John Davidson and Lucie Arnaz handled the hosting chores, their eyes firmly on the cue cards. The program will undoubtedly get a great rating: The public apparently enjoys trying to outguess the judges.

CBS announced that it would replace the late evening "Merv Griffin Show" with old feature movies, starting in mid-February, a move widely anticipated for months. Griffin months ago made a deal to move his program to Metromedia broadcasting for syndication when he wound up his CBS contract.

The move will take Merv out of head-on competition with Johnny Carson and Dick Cavett, and put him in a battle for stations alongside Mike Douglas and David Frost.

Pauline Frederick, NBC's veteran United Nations correspondent, was hurrying to a broadcast booth to report U.N. activity Saturday in connection with the India-Pakistan conflict when she tripped, fell and broke her kneecap. She was hospitalized and NBC expects she will be out of action for some weeks.

Auto Show Set Next April 1-9

NEW YORK (AP) — The 16th International Automobile Show will be held in the New York Coliseum next April 1-9, show president Charles Snitow has announced.

Snitow says the New York area accounted for almost 25 per cent of the total U.S. car market for imported cars in 1970. The total sales were 138,496 imports. New York's five boroughs produced 31,921 sales while 106,675 imports were sold in the northern New Jersey suburbs, Long Island, Rockland and Westchester counties of New York, and Fairfield County in Connecticut.

Michigan Bank Savings Grow

LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — Assets of Michigan's 230 state-chartered banks increased by 6.3 per cent to more than $11 billion during 1970, the State Commerce Department reports. Most of the increase was registered in time and savings deposits which grew by more than $573 million during the year.

Assure Day Care Center Here

Operation of a Day Care Center at the Moyewood Social Services Center has been assured by action taken by Greenville's City Council at their Thursday night December meeting.

Deputy Director of the Redevelopment Commission,

T. I. Wagner, explaining that the City Council had already earmarked $15,000 in funds for the operation of the Moyewood Social Services Center, need only to give approval to the use of a portion of the already obligated funds to be used for the Day Care Center which would function within three rooms of the service center.

The amount said needed to get the program going is $9,000. The $9,000, which would be turned over the the Pitt County Commissioners, would in turn generate state and federal funds amounting to $72,000 annually for the operation of the day care center.

The way budgeting is set up, the city would be reimbursed approximately 60 percent of the $9,000 — so that in reality, the program would cost the city something in the vicinity of $3,600 or slightly less for a one year period.

Wagner further explained that the county, with city agreement, will place the operation of the Day Care Center at Moyewood under the direct supervision of Miss Dorothy Bolton, director of the Pitt County Department of

Youth Charged After Chase By City Policeman

Greenville police yesterday charged an 18-year-old local youth, Anthony Wayne Brown of 1709 Treemont Dr., with a half-dozen violations following a chase in the Elmhurst-Englewood area of the city Sunday afternoon.

Officers reported Brown allegedly attempted to out-run a police car which finally caught the vehicle driven by Brown behind the Hooker Memorial Christian Church on Greenville Blvd.

Brown was charged with speeding, careless and reckless driving, failing to stop for a blue light and siren, no operators license, failing to stop for a stop sign and assault with a deadly weapon.

Another youth who was a passenger in the vehicle, Aluah Lewis Salisbury, 16, of 2000 Brook Rd., was charged with aiding and abetting in careless and reckless driving.

Technique May Solve Shortage

GOLDEON, Colo. (UPI) — An ore refining technique developed in Mexico may help solve the United States' shortage of bauxite, a raw material from which alumina is derived.

Officials of Colorado Central Mines, Inc., are hopeful that chemical refining techniques originated at the University of Guanajuato will unlock sizeable quantities of alumina from alunite deposits controlled by the mining company in southwestern Utah. Alumina is converted at smelters into aluminum, which ultimately is used for myriad products ranging from airplane wings to lightweight household tools.

Social Services.

Miss Bolton would be responsible for management of the center, to include screening of the 40 children the number permitted to be enrolled in a facility this size. In response to questions from council members about the method of selecting children who would receive the benefits of day care, Miss Bolton noted that the Moyewood center was by law available to all Greenville citizens, although designed primarily for citizens of West Greenville. She said a basic consideration would be placing children in the day care program whose mothers had the best chances of securing regular employment which in turn would make possible their being removed from the welfare rolls.

The Moyewood Social Services Center, which has been open and in operations since last April, has not had a day care program due to the fact no responsible agency has been available to operate the program. With the county's offer to place the program under the supervision of Miss Bolton, the city councilmen agreed to designate the $9,000 portion of the $15,000 budget item for operation of the Day Care Center.

Seek Reduced Handling Costs

NEW YORK (UPI) — The handling of raw materials and finished goods may be costing American industry as much as $30 billion yearly, according to Clark Equipment Company, manufacturer of material handling equipment. To reduce handling costs and increase efficiency, the company now builds and markets an automated storage system that enables one man to control the flow of goods into and out of storage through use of a pushbutton, computer-guided machine.

County Commissioners so that plans could be put into effect. Wagner noted this would be done on Monday, so that the program could go into effect at the earliest possible date.

The entire program is subject to review each year, with city, state and federal funding subject to renewal on a yearly basis.

Ground Is Broken For New Office Building

Ground-breaking ceremonies kicking off the first phase of construction of the Wheless & Moore Inc. office building on Evans and Second Streets were conducted Saturday morning. According to H. W. Wheless, development of the property, located on Evans north of and adjacent to the county courthouse, is expected to be in three phases with a modern one-story masonry office building which will eventually contain about 35,000 to 40,000 square feet with private parking.

Wheless said that the first phase structure will be situated on the corner of Evans and Second Streets and will be situated on the corner of Evans and Second Streets and will contain about 9,600 square feet.

The property, to be managed by Wheless & Moore Inc. is owned by the real estate appraisal firm and several local businessmen, it was pointed out. Architects for the project are Shields-Wyatt-Associates of Rocky Mount and contractor is Chapin Construction Co. of Greenville.

Wheless pointed out that it is anticipated that construction on the initial phase of the office complex will begin immediately with completion projected in the spring of 1972.

Student Poll Set During December

Current issues considered to be the most important issues of the day will be the subject of a referendum co-sponsored by the Southern Universities Student Government Association (SUSGA) and the ECU Student Government Association (SGA) to be held on campus at East Carolina University in December.

Jim Hicks, vice-president of the ECU SGA, today announced plans for a two day referendum to be held on December 14 and 15.

Hicks explained that the purpose is to seek student opinions on current issues which involve the students on the state and national levels.

Among several subject areas mentioned by Hicks were topics such as the U.S. involvement in Southeast Asia, pollution, presidential candidate choices, and the 18 to 21 year old vote.

Hicks added the poll will attempt to discover both the majority and minority views of students, and that similar polls are being taken on university and college campuses across the South under the leadership of the SUSGA.

Hicks observed it is hoped during the referendum period to discover something about

Clergyman Suggests 'Giving Christmas Back To The Pagans'

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Give Christmas back to the pagans. That's the suggestion of a Roman Catholic clergyman, who says the holiday has become a "grotesque counterfeit" of its intended meaning.

A lot of people partly agree but most of them don't go along with his idea of switching the date.

"With all the changes we have had to bear, a major step such as this would be just too much," responded a Lima, Ohio, woman.

The suggestion was put forth in an article in the U.S. Catholic, a Chicago monthly, by the Rev. Peter J. Riga. He says the Christmas season has been "perverted so grossly" that it has become a "threat to mental and emotional well-being."

"The modern commercial pagans have destroyed not only the religious basis of this feast, but also the human warmth and merriness that grew up around it," he writes.

"As Christians we should have the courage to leave this lifeless carcass to the vultures of commercialism and to choose another date on which to celebrate the true meaning of Christmas."

A sampling of readers showed that most of them agree the holiday has been seriously blighted by materialism, but 75 per cent of them definitely don't want it shifted to another date.

The Rev. Francis A. Ziehlinski, Plymouth, Mich., said he agreed that "Christmas is fake, phoney, commercialized and unhealthy" but the idea of another date for it "will have about the same effect as a direct assault on motherhood or banning hot dogs ..."

Father Riga noted that the Dec. 25 date for Christmas was not set by early Christians, but was adopted in the Fourth Century, by joining the observance to the pagan Roman celebration of "Sol Invictus," the sun god.

Since the exact date of Jesus' birth isn't known, Father Riga suggested that Christmas be transferred to the date observed by Eastern Orthodox, Jan. 6, Epiphany, marking the manifestation of the Christ child to the Magi.

It is time to "come out of the land of Babylon which the hucksters of wares and materialism have taken over ... and leave Dec. 25 to the pagans," he says.

He says the proper religious message of Christmas, which is the gift of God's love for men

Big Day For Ellison As Rams Whip Saints, 43-28

GETTING GRIESE — New England Patriots Ron Berger and Art May (71) trap Miami quarterback Bob Griese (12) for a nine-yard loss in action Sunday at Foxboro (Mass.) Stadium. The Patriots jumped to a 17-7 first quarter lead and were never headed after that point. (AP Wirephoto)

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Los Angeles running back Willie Ellison started things off in grand style against New Orleans Sunday.

The five-year veteran raced 80 yards for a touchdown early in the first quarter and then rushed 247 yards in 26 carries for a National Football League record.

"It took a lot of extra effort and stamina. It's the happiest day of my life," the 200-pound Ellison said after the Rams upended New Orleans 43-28.

Ellison's performance stole attention from a 105-yard kickoff return by Travis Williams and three touchdown tosses by Roman Gabriel.

He broke the standard of 243 yards set by Cookie Gilchrist of Buffalo against the New York Jets on Dec. 8, 1963 in the American Football League and the mark of 237 yards established twice by former Cleveland standout Jim Brown.

"Just about everybody told me at halftime that I would get the record," he said. "The line did a tremendous job of blocking and Gabriel did a great job of selecting plays against the New Orleans defense."

In other contests Sunday, San Diego upset Minnesota 30-14, New England stunned Miami 34-13, Philadelphia edged Detroit 23-20, Cleveland nipped Cincinnati 31-27, Atlanta defeated Oakland 24-13, Houston swamped Pittsburgh 29-3, Washington crushed the New York Giants 23-7, Denver downed Chicago 6-3, Green Bay and St. Louis battled to a 16-16 tie and Baltimore blanked Buffalo 24-0.

In Saturday's game, Dallas swarmed over the New York Jets 52-10.

The San Francisco 49ers entertained the Kansas City Chiefs in Monday night's nationally televised game.

The Dolphins' setback spoiled their bid to clinch the American Conference's East Division title and moved them into a showdown with the Colts.

Minnesota's unexpected loss stopped them from sewing up the National Conference's Central Division crown.

Quarterback John Hadl led his team 63 yards in seven plays to set up the go-ahead touchdown as the Chargers barreled from behind to reel off 20 points in the final quarter. With the Steelers' upset over the Lions, Minnesota could have secured Central Division laurels by winning.

Several Miami miscues and precision passing by rookie Jim Plunkett snapped the Dolphins' eight-game victory streak.

Mercury Morris took the opening kickoff 94 yards for a touchdown to give Miami an early lead, but Plunkett then rifled eight straight passes to set up a touchdown. Plunkett, who celebrated his 24th birthday Sunday, completed 16 of 23 passes for 223 yards.

Leroy Kelly plunged four yards with 1:48 remaining as the Browns garnered the AFC's Central Division title, which they will retain even if they lose their final two games.

Norm Bulaich's one-yard lunge capping a 78-yard march broke a scoreless tie in the third period and veteran Johnny Unitas then fired a fiveyarder to Ray Perkins for his first scoring pass of the season. The Falcons intercepted Dar-yle Lamonica twice and recovered three fumbles in handing the Raiders their second straight loss. Atlanta also suffered five turnovers but sealed the win after Oakland couldn't score after grabbing a fumble on the Atlanta four.

Washington snagged four interceptions in the first half and Larry Brown scored twice while picking up 129 yards. New York's sole touchdown came when Otto Brown recovered a blocked punt in the end zone.

The Oilers' rigid defense turned three Terry Bradshaw interceptions into points as safety John Charles made his fourth and fifth interceptions and defensive tackle Leo Brooks pilfered another.

Pete Liske hit Kent Kramer with a five-yard pass in the final minute as the Eagles came from behind to ruin Detroit's NFC Central Division playoff aspirations. Moments before Liske's scoring pass, the Lions went ahead 20-16 on quarterback Greg Landry's five-yard run.

Rookie Tim Webster's 27-yard field goal as the final gun sounded hoisted the Packers into a tie after both teams scored touchdowns in the final seven minutes.

Rain Didn't Cut Allison's Texas Profit

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Bobby Allison, stock racing's No. 2 money winner, was the only driver to profit from a rainy weekend in Texas.

That is, if you don't count a youthful newcomer from Mexico City named Juan Izquierdo. Allison, 34, won a 200-mile race for older-model Sportsman stock cars at Texas World Speedway on Saturday and added $3,200 to a bank account that already includes $231,170 from Grand National racing and $30,000 from short-track Sportsman competition.

Allison had a fifth-race start in the $90,000 Texas 500 for current model sedans that was scheduled for 1 p.m. Sunday.

But a weather front that deposited rain and snow on central Texas caused a one-week postponement of the race. It is now set for 1 p.m. Dec. 12. Allison and the 45 other starters will be allowed a lengthy warmup session Saturday.

In the meantime, the race cars will be closeted in the garage-impound area.

The Texas 500 pole position was won during qualifying trials Friday by Pete Hamilton in a Plymouth at 170.830 miles per hour. Benny Parsons got the other front-row spot in a Chevrolet entered by Texas A.J. Foyt.

Allison posted an average speed of 143.318 m.p.h. in winning Saturday's Permatex 200 by three laps over Jack Ingram, of Asheville, N.C.

It was his 29th victory of the year. He was driving a Dodge.

POOLE LED IN PURSES
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Trainer George Poole saddled seven winners, including four stakes winners for C. V. Whitney, at the 1971 Hialeah meeting. Former jockey Poole's horse training and saddling efforts made Whitney the meet's leading money winner with $199,856.25 in purses. Poole's total effort brought owners $218,041.

TOP INTERCEPTOR
DETROIT (UPI) — Dick LeBeau of the Lions currently ranks fourth in the National Football League's ten top lifetime pass interceptors. Coming into the 1971 season, LeBeau had picked off 56 enemy airmen during his 12 year NFL career. The all-time NFL leader is Emlen Tunnell of the Giants with 79.

SWIM MEET
EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — The 1972 Big Ten swimming championship meet will be staged at Michigan State University's IM Building pool.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — John Brodie and Len Dawson, veteran quarterbacks whose teams are fighting for playoff berths, meet in tonight's crucial National Football League game.

The nationally televised contest brings Brodie's San Francisco 49ers and Dawson's Kansas City Chiefs together for the first time.

The 49ers, 7-4-0, need a victory to stay ahead of Los Angeles, 7-4-1 and winners Sunday over New Orleans. Meanwhile, Kansas City needs a victory to move ahead of Oakland in the AFC West. The Raiders, 7-3-2, lost to Atlanta Sunday and Kansas City is 7-3-1.

Brodie, who has thrown 21 interceptions this season compared to 10 all of last year, has taken much of the blame for the 49ers' four frustrating losses.

But Chiefs Coach Hank Stram calls the 36-year-old passer, last year's Most Valuable Player in the NFL, "one of the great quarterbacks in the business."

And the 49ers' receiving team of Gene Washington, Dick Witcher and Ted Kwalick has an edge in experience on the Chiefs' trio of starters, Stram says.

"But remember, I'm talking only of experience," the coach adds.

Otis Taylor, with 40 receptions for 861 yards, is one of the NFL's top pass catchers and the other Chiefs' wide receiver, rookie Elmo Wright, is starting to show the form that made him an All-American at the University of Houston.

The Chiefs have been off since Thanksgiving Day, when their defensive backfield was humiliated in a 32-21 loss to Detroit. Their pass defense is 12th in the AFC, but has come up with 21 interceptions.

San Francisco's defense ranks second to Dallas' in the NFC. And the 49ers have out-gained their opponents in three of their four losses this season.

Drugged?

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Erbito Salavarría, flyweight champion of the World Boxing Council, may be stripped of his title following a hearing Dec. 13 on reports he was drugged during a recent title bout, a WBC official said Sunday.

Robert L. Turley, WBC vice president, said if Salavarría, of the Philippines, loses his title, a tournament will be held between top contenders to determine a new champion.

Turley said fighters would include Betulio Gonzalez, Venezuelan challenger who tied with Salavarría in the controversial Nov. 20 title bout in Maracaibo, Venezuela.

Another would be Masao Ohba of Japan, recognized as champion by the rival World Boxing Association, Turley said.

There's a very good reason for our name.

Ayden-Grifton Chargettes Are Being Molded To New Play Rules

By WOODY PEELE

(14th of a series)

LITTLEFIELD — The Ayden-Grifton High School Chargettes are not exactly starting from scratch this year, but at the same time they do represent a new team in the girls' basketball circuit.

Formed from the combination of three schools, Ayden-Grifton is in its first year of operation, and has a new head coach for the girls team, Debra Pfeil.

"Several people have told me who the old starters on the two teams were, and I guess there were six or seven of them. There are about nine people who lettered at one school or the other, but I'm not real sure about that either," Miss Pfeil said.

What interests her more this year, is the team she is building at the school; one which she hopes will challenge the top teams for the title before the year is over.

So far, however, her first meeting with the big team, North Pitt, didn't come out so well, as the Big Orange Machine ground out a 54-27 victory. "We didn't play up to par in the game," Miss Pfeil said. "We should have done a lot better."

The Chargettes have fairly good experience on the team with so many lettermen returning, but they must be molded together into a single unit rather than two. "The only thing we're not used to is going full court, since I have a few girls who were stationary forwards or guards from last year," she said. The rules have been changed this year, allowing just five girls on the court at a time, with all going full court.

"Everyone likes the new rule," Miss Pfeil said. "It's great. The girls like it better and so do the spectators."

think Charles B. Aycock and Eastern Wayne will also have good teams. And we should be right up there too."

But to get to the top, Ayden-Grifton must improve on its quickness and get into the air more in rebounding. "If we can do this," Miss Pfeil said, "we'll be in every game we play."

Indians Not Yet A Title Contender, Avers Mitchell

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Just one Southern Conference basketball game has been played so far in the young season, and William and Mary knocked off Furman's defending champion Paladins in that one, but Indian coach Warren Mitchell is a long way from labeling his team a title contender.

"We still have to take the attitude that we must scrap and get every game we can," said Mitchell after the Indians knocked off the Paladins 110-91 Saturday night. "This doesn't put us up on a pedestal."

Mitchell admitted the Indians were up for the game and psychologically caught Furman "at a good time"—the Paladins were missing starters Roy Simpson, bruised calf; Bernard Collier, flu; and Don Jackson, broken hand that has kept him out of both their games.

Still, Mitchell had to be encouraged by five starters in double figures, a 53.2 per cent shooting average from the floor and a 42-35 edge in rebounding. Jerry Fisher had 25 points, George Spack 21, Jim Warns 19 and 11 rebounds and Jeff Trammell 18 and 11 retrieves for the Indians, who took a 14-point lead in the first half and never let up. The Paladins were led by Russ Hunt and Cary Clark with 19 points apiece.

Davidson's Wildcats officially opened their season with a 76-65 victory over Clemson, while Appalachian State's Mountaineers—the league's new member—routed UNC-Wilmington 106-67.

Leading only 30-28 at intermission, the Wildcats scored 46 points in the second half, Joe Sutter getting 20 and Eric Minkin 11 and 17 rebounds. Sophomore Mike Sorrentonio had 11 assists for Davidson.

Three conference teams wound up losing—Richmond's Spiders to Virginia Tech 83-58, Virginia Military's Keydets to Atlantic Christian 105-101 in overtime and East Carolina's Pirates to 10th-ranked Jacksonville 77-68.

There are three nonconference scraps tonight with The Citadel's Bulldogs at Rice, Furman playing host to College of Charleston and Appalachian at home against Pembroke.

Jacksonville didn't take the lead at East Carolina for good until a jumper by Leon Benbow made it 70-68 with 2:41 left. Seven free throws padded the margin. Ernie Fleming had 25 points for Jacksonville and Harold Fox 19, while Nicky White led the Pirates with 15.

Allen Bristow had 22 points and Charlie Lipscomb 16 as Virginia Tech shot 52.9 per cent and limited Richmond to six field goals in the first half. Sophomore Bob Jacobs led the Spiders with 18 points.

VMI shot only 34.6 per cent from the floor and missed 21 of 48 free throw attempts in bowing to Atlantic Christian, which got 23 points from Brian Chalk. The Keydets' Charlie Tyler had a game-hit 35.

Most ACC Teams Met Outsiders, Fared Well

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Most of the action by Atlantic Coast Conference basketball teams Saturday was outside the league with ACC teams putting on a show of strength.

Virginia defeated Duke 86-77 in the first conference game of the season.

ACC teams won four of the five games out of the conference, with Clemson suffering the only defeat, 76-65, to Davidson. North Carolina State defeated Georgia 92-81, Wake Forest beat Rice 100-62, Maryland whipped George Washington 117-96 and North Carolina State defeated Pittsburgh, 90-75.

Virginia, Maryland, North Carolina and N.C. State all have 2-0 over-all records. Wake Forest and Duke are 1-1, and Clemson is 0-1.

The only ACC game this week that could affect the standings is Maryland at Virginia Wednesday night.

The other nine games involving conference teams are North Carolina at Princeton and North Carolina State at West Virginia tonight; Penn at Duke Tuesday night; Wake Forest at William & Mary on Wednesday night; Purdue at North Carolina State on Friday night; and Purdue at Clemson, East Carolina at Duke, Virginia Tech at North Carolina and Baldwin-Wallace at Virginia on Saturday.

Both North Carolina, ranked No. 2 in the last Associated Press poll, and Maryland, ranked No. 6, had little difficulty in their Saturday night victories.

Maryland hit the century mark for the second time in defeating George Washington. The Terrapins' Tom McMillen scored 35 points, including 27 in the first half.

North Carolina led only 39-37 at halftime against Pittsburgh, but led 70-55 at one time in the second half. The Tar Heels Robert McAdoo scored 27 points. Dennis Wuycik got 21 points.

Virginia's victory over Duke was only its 20th win against 54 losses to the Blue Devils and was the first victory ever for the Cavaliers at Duke Indoor Stadium. Virginia's Jimmy Hobgood scored 25 points. Virginia never trailed in the game, but blew a 10-point margin to lead only 43-42 at halftime.

N.C. State's 7-foot-4 center, Tom Burleson, overwhelmed Georgia, and scored 37 points. It was Burleson who scored six straight points to break a 72-72 tie late in the game.

At Wake Forest, the Deacons' Sam Jackson contributed 23 points and Willie Griffin scored 22 to help defeat Rice.

Clemson led, 30-28, against Davidson, but Davidson scored 46 points in the last 20 minutes to turn back the Tigers.

Medical Schools Do Need Cadavers, As ECU Does

By DR. WALLACE R. WOOLLS
Dean, School of Medicine

The 1971 Session of the General Assembly of the State of North Carolina passed appropriate legislation which designated that the School of Medicine of East Carolina University is now a member of the North Carolina Board of Anatomy.

The representative of the School of Medicine is Dr. Michael R. Schweisthal, Professor and Chairman of the Department of Anatomy. Dr. Schweisthal will serve on this board with similar representatives from the Schools of Medicine of Duke and Wake Forest University and the University of North Carolina. The law provides that the School of Medicine can receive bodies bequeathed to it by individuals. Furthermore, the School is also authorized to receive the unclaimed bodies of persons dying in eastern North Carolina.

Each year medical schools all over the United States need approximately 12,000 cadavers for teaching purposes. These cadavers are used by medical students, dental students and students of the allied health professions as part of their educational programs. Similarly these cadavers are used to further the education of interns, residents and practicing physicians.

Many people are understandably hesitant about donating their body to a medical school either for personal or religious reasons. However, most religions have agreed that this is a noble and worthwhile use of the body after death. Most people who have willed their body for medical education purposes feel that they will be contributing to the advancement of medical knowledge and will be rendering an important service to mankind.

In every medical school, without exception, the cadavers are treated with the utmost dignity and respect. After use they are interred, with proper services, on land set aside for this purpose with the proper reverence and services.

The best method of making the bequest of a body to a medical school in North Carolina is to make it an item in the will or a codicil to a will drawn by an attorney. This permits the wishes of the donor to be stated in as much detail as is desired.

Experience has shown that it is important that the bequest be known to at least one member of the family, to the family physician and to the minister. If it is not days or weeks may elapse before a will is read, a circumstance that could defeat the intended purpose of the bequest.

The law specifies that anyone over 18 years of age and in sound mind may donate all or part of his body for the purposes specified by the law. The law also provides that various members of the family or others responsible for the disposition of the body may donate all or part of the decedent's body.

The pertinent sections of the law:

90-22-2. Persons who may execute an anatomical gift.—(A) Any individual of sound mind and 18 years of age or more may give all or part of his body for any purpose specified in G.S. 90-220.3, the gift to take effect upon death.

(B) Any of the following persons, in order of priority stated, when persons in prior classes are not available at the time of death, and in the absence of actual notice of contrary indications by the decedent or actual notice of opposition by a member of the same or a prior class, may give all or any part of the decedent's body for any purpose specified in G.S. 90-220.3:

- (1) The spouse
- (2) An adult son or daughter
- (3) Either parent
- (4) An adult brother or sister
- (5) A guardian of the person of the decedent at the time of his death
- (6) Any other person authorized or under obligation to dispose of the body.

For further information concerning the bequeathal of bodies to medical schools, write: Dr. Michael R. Schweisthal, School of Medicine, East Carolina University, Greenville, N.C. 27834

N.C. Traffic Claimed 12

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Several disastrous accidents pushed North Carolina's weekend traffic death toll to at least 12 during a period when roads were wet and slushy, if not impassable.

The traffic toll for the year now stands at 1,642, compared to 1,610 at this date last year.

In the worst accident, four members of a Washington, D.C. family drowned when their car skidded off an icy portion of Interstate 95 near Dunn. The victims were identified as Faye Haynes Stephens, 26, and her three children, Walter, 7, Ricky, 2, and Cecilia, 5 months.

Three Marines from the Cherry Point Air Station died when their car ran off a highway near New Bern. They were identified as Joseph S. Barca, 20, William L. Mine-Moyer II, 20, and Dale Vessels, 22.

Carmel Winstead, 17, of Roxboro, and Thomas N. Armwood, 22, of Mt. Olive, were killed near Roxboro Sunday when the car they were in hit a utility pole.

A Wake County couple died in a Saturday accident of N.C. 561 near Centerville. They were identified as Geroge A. and Barbara S. McManus of Rt. 7, Raleigh.

James Edward Barrett, 39, of Rt. 3, Lincolnton was killed when a car he was riding in plunged down an embankment on N.C. 18 near Morganton. Police blamed the accident on the snow.

Adult Education Class To Form

Pitt Technical Institute has an organizational meeting for a class of Adult High School Monday night at 7 p.m.

The class will meet each Monday and Wednesday from 7:00-10:00 p.m. This course will prepare individuals to take the High School Equivalency Examination. Instruction will be given in Math, Science, Language Arts and Social Studies. Students are given placement tests to determine where they should begin study.

All interested persons are urged to be present Monday night. For further information visit or telephone Pitt Technical Institute 756-3130, extension 38.

Big Backlog In Housing Units

MANILA (UPI)—The Economic Development Foundation says Philippine contractors build from 200,000 to 300,000 new housing units annually to house a population that is growing at the rate of from 3.2 to 3.5 per cent each year. The backlog in housing was estimated at 2.8 million units for the last year.

SUFFER THE LITTLE CHILDREN — Children remove rubble from McGurk's Bar in Belfast, Northern Ireland, Sunday, as a British soldier is seen in the background. Officials said a 50-pound gellignite bomb exploded in the bar

Saturday night and the death toll has now risen to 16, the largest number of victims in a single incident to date in the Northern Ireland disturbances.

The Legislature Is Over BUT State Business Continues

Even though the N.C. General Assembly has adjourned, people still have business with State Government. I hope that you will continue to call upon me as your State Representative to assist you whenever possible. Keep in mind also that now is the time to start planning legislation for next term. Therefore, please call upon me now in order to assure successful passage (or repeal) of needed law changes.

I greatly appreciate the opportunity of serving as your representative in the N.C. General Assembly and hope you will contact me on State matters in which I might aid you.

On the basis of my record and experience in the 1971 General Assembly, I believe that I can render a greater and a more effective service in the 1973 General Assembly. Therefore, I plan to be a candidate for re-election in the 1972 May Primary.

FOOD for WORK

Shanty town of Usaquen, on a hillside near Bogota, Colombia, now being transformed by its residents' own hard work.

They're not only building a better life for themselves with bricks and stones, picks and shovels—they get paid for their work with nourishing food. They are several hundred low-income families of a shanty town on a bleak hillside near Bogota, Colombia. Young and old, able-bodied folk of all ages, are volunteering their labor to transform their surroundings into a more livable environment.

They are putting up a dam to provide a dependable supply of good, clean water. They are already adding more rooms to a school they've built themselves. They are struggling to maintain and improve the twisting mountain road which is an essential line of communication for their neighborhood. Many of those taking part in these community projects have weekday jobs and do their volunteer work on Sundays.

And the helping hand they're getting in the form of food is from a U.S. foreign assistance program. For each 20 hours of labor, a worker receives one box of basic foodstuffs. The boxes are supplied by the U.S. Agency for International Development's "Food for Work" program, and they're distributed by Catholic Relief Services. In this case, there's a local priest who hands out the food and pitches in himself with the work—as well as saying the mass on Sundays.

The Worry Clinic Substitute For Tranquilizers

Lon wonders if America's tranquilizer binge is due to our mechanized modern age. If not, he asks why tons of tranquilizer pills are swallowed each day to relieve tension and strain. The best tranquilizer is free and doesn't impose more work on your liver or kidneys! Scrapbook this case!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.

Case S-535: Lon D., aged 27, is a radio announcer.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "why is America on such a barbiturate binge?"

"Most of my friends are taking tranquilizers, even though they have not yet reached middle age."

"And a lot of business leaders must take a nip of whiskey to soothe their nerves before they reach home at night for dinner.

"Is this due to our high speed mechanical modern era?"

"Or is there some other psychological explanation?"

Neurotic Uncle Sam

Uncle Sam is growing more neurotic all the time!

Which is why he (meaning the public) swallows millions of tranquilizer pills every day.

And takes a shot of whiskey to soothe his frayed nerves.

The underlying reason is more psychological than due to high speed machines or population explosions.

For tranquility of soul can be attained even in our hectic society without whiskey, cigarettes, tranquilizers or sleeping pills. How?

By teaming up with the Almighty as Junior Partners!

As America becomes more Godless, it swarms into our medical offices, wanting us

M.D.s to replace God with pills!

Back in childhood, most of us felt little tension because we knew that "Mom and Dad" ran the show, so we didn't need to fret about decision-making.

Later, we may become executives, with hundreds or even 10,000 employees looking to us as a glorified "Dad," which is how bosses function for the millions of carefree employees, who merely punch time clocks and have little responsibility.

When the constant pressure of making decisions finally wears the big boss down too much, then he leaves his factory and drives down to the old home place to visit "Mom and Dad" over the weekend.

For in so doing, he makes a psychological shift to his former carefree childhood outlook.

His aged Mom may thus "boss" him around again and send him to the store for her groceries, as of yore.

And he, though head of a vast factory, meekly takes orders and thus escapes the strain of formulating them.

But when "Mom and Dad" both die, then this escape route from his daily tension is barred.

Thereafter, he can either shift his thinking and realize he can become a Junior Partner with a much larger "Mom and Dad", namely God Almighty, thereby

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, the dealer, you hold:

♠ 8 6 4 2 ♥ 7 ♦ A 10 4 2 ♣ A J

What is your opening bid?

A.—Pass. While this hand ostensibly contains 13 points, enough for an optional opening, flaws are present in the form of the impeding quality of hearts and the A-J doubleton of clubs. There is the further consideration that no convenient rebid will be available if partner responds with two hearts over a one spade opening.

Q. 2—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠ K 6 3 ♥ K Q J 4 3 2 ♣ K Q 4 3

Your partner opens with two no trump. What is your response?

A.—Four clubs. This is the type of holding that calls for use of the Gerber convention. All your problems can be solved by ascertaining the number of partner's aces. If he responds with four diamonds, showing all four, you can confidently bid seven no trump and be prepared to spread your hand after the lead.

Q. 3—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠ 7 3 ♥ A Q 6 4 2 ♦ A Q 10 9 7 ♣ K

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East

1 ♥ Pass 1 ♠ Pass

2 ♦ Pass 3 ♦ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Partner's three diamond bid is highly constructive since your rebid was not forcing on responder. Game aspirations should, therefore, be entertained and our choice is for a bid of four diamonds. If responder happens to have a hand containing three small hearts, he will have the opportunity to try four hearts over four diamonds.

Q. 4—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

Dble. Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. We have not lost sight of partner's previous pass, but in view of the fact that he was willing to double the no trump bid he must be just under an opening bid himself. This means that West will show up with a practically trickless dummy and East will have to operate completely from his own hand.

Q. 5—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠ K Q 7 ♥ 7 ♦ A Q 6 3 2 ♣ K 6 3

What do you bid?

A.—Pass. Don't crowd a fellow who might be working for you. Give him plenty of elbow space. Any action by you that tends to impede the opposition is bound to prove to your material detriment.

Q. 6—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠ A 6 3 2 ♥ K 4 3 ♦ A K Q 9 5 ♣ 6

The bidding has proceeded: East South West North East

1 ♠ Dble. Pass 1 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Inasmuch as partner has been forced to bid and may have only scant values, a jump is not in order. The best strategy calls for a bid of only two diamonds. If partner has any values he should make a further bid. If he happens to rebid hearts you may then go on to game in that suit. One should be reluctant to give an immediate raise with only three trumps where partner has been forced to bid.

Q. 7—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠ A K Q 6 ♥ A K 5 ♦ A Q 9 7 ♣ 4

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East

2 ♠ Pass 2 NT 3 ♣ ?

What do you bid now?

A.—A forcing pass is indicated at this point. Partner should be given the opportunity to double three clubs if he finds it to be to his taste. Furthermore, he might be able to bid three no trump which could conceivably be the only safe game contract. In any event partner is obliged to act.

Q. 8—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠ J 10 6 4 ♥ 3 ♦ K 8 5 2 ♣ Q J 7 3

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East

Pass Pass 1 ♥ Dble. ?

What do you bid now?

A.—With this mediocre hand we recommend no action whatsoever. It is good policy to make it easy for the opponents to take this proposition off your hands. The fear that one heart doubled would be left in is unfounded. It rarely happens and then you must presume that partner can take care of himself.

Farm Scene

By SAM J. WEEKS

The production of a good crop of quality tobacco is the dream of every tobacco grower. There are many factors that determine whether a good or poor crop is produced, including weather conditions, methods used in land preparation, fertilization, cultivation, sucker control, harvesting, curing, disease and insect control. Once we acknowledge that weather conditions cannot be controlled, we can safely say that the successful grower is one that puts all of these practices together in such a way as to maximize yield and market acceptability at the lowest possible cost.

Disease control is an important part of a successful production program. Tobacco diseases of one type or another are present on all farms. Also, the situation on most farms is both complicated and constantly changing. Diseases are numerous and frequently several occur in the same field.

To further complicate the situation, the presence of one often affects the development and severity of another. Much progress has been made in controlling tobacco diseases during the past five years, but the wise grower realizes that the fight against disease control is a never ending battle.

The new "systemic control" plan was developed to provide growers with an organized program of tobacco disease control. This plan is a result of many years of research. It is a combination of complimentary practices that fit the needs of a specific disease and production situation.

A complete description of this new program and how to use it is presented in Extension Circular 530 entitled "Systems Control, A Prescription for Flue-Cured Tobacco Diseases." Copies of this and other helpful publications are available at the County Agricultural Extension Office.

Tobacco TIPS

By SAM J. WEEKS

During the past few years, the tobacco farmers have not received as much net profit from their tobacco crops as was received in earlier years, for example 1951-60. One reason for this is that the production costs have increased more rapidly than the prices received for the cured leaf.

If we were to single out one production cost that is causing the largest reduction in profits, labor cost would be close to the top of the list.

New innovations in tobacco mechanization are being introduced each year. These innovations will help reduce the labor requirements, but not enough to counteract the high labor cost enough to bring the margin of profit back in line.

There are some management alternatives that should be considered on many farms that will help increase the margin of profit. Listed below are some of the practices that can be used:

- (1) Crop rotation, (2) Variety selection, (3) Selection of nutrient source, (4) replanting, (5) number of leaves produced per acre, (6) Chemical sucker control, (7) Harvesting at proper maturity stage, and (8) Application of insecticides on a needed basis. Most of these practices will require little or no additional investment.

There are also some alternatives that require investment that have a high probability of being profitable.

Farm Tips

By Dr. J. W. Pou
Agricultural Specialist
Wachovia Bank & Trust Co., N.A.

Winter is slow down time on most crops farms, and this often means income slows down, too. But the money needn't stop completely.

There are cold season projects, such as wintering beef calves, that can keep the crops farmer on the payroll.

North Carolina State University extension specialists cite the calf enterprise as one of the most widely adapted winter projects available. Contrary to the popular opinion that bigness is necessary in the cattle business, small farms can participate in the wintering program.

A typical wintering program involves buying beef calves in September or October, keeping them about 200 days and selling them as stockers in April.

Calves are usually fed silage, and some grain and protein supplement. Many crops farmers stretch their feed supplies by letting the cattle glean harvested fields in late fall and early winter.

The NCSU specialists point out that there is a ready market for stockers in the spring. Many Tar Heel stockers are shipped to other states to be finished. Others go to local feeders who finish the animals to slaughter weight by feeding limited grain while the cattle are still on pasture. Demand for stockers to go on grass each spring is expected to continue strong.

Wintering calves has several advantages for some North Carolina farmers. It can make profitable use of winter labor. It can utilize existing feed, such as field gleanings, that would otherwise be wasted. And the initial investment for facilities for wintering calves is low compared to other livestock operations.

The aim of a sound wintering program is to put one to one and a quarter pounds of weight per day on the calves. Care has to be taken in selecting calves with growth potential and extra precautions have to be taken in deciding how much to pay for the animals. A bad buy can ruin chances for making a profit.

The number of calves purchased should be based on the supply of feed available. One factor that makes the stocker program easy to plan for year to year is that the feed is produced before the calves are bought.

Year in and year out over a long period of wintering calves, a farmer who buys wisely and manages his animals well can expect a net return of about $20 per stocker sold. He should be set up to take less than that in some years. In others, the net may be larger.

It's not a "get rich" kind of wintertime farming but it can keep many farmers on the payroll between crop seasons.

Costly Next Steps Outlined In Cancer Virus Study

By BILL STOCKTON
AP Science Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Scientists say it will cost $1 million and require skimming 7,500 gallons of fluid off growing human cancer cells to complete the next experiment with a newly discovered cancer virus.

The researchers are almost certain they've discovered human cancer virus, which would be a significant step in understanding the causes of the killer disease. But their conclusions are based largely on circumstantial evidence and they need more direct proof.

The crucial confirmation could come from a difficult, months-long procedure under way that will produce less than an ounce of material for injection in 10 guinea pigs and several rats.

Dr. Robert Huebner of the National Cancer Institute in Bethesda, Md., said money is available for the procedure, largely because of a new emphasis on cancer research by the federal government.

"If this turns out to be conclusively a human cancer virus, if this works out the way we hope, we'll be light years ahead of where we stand now," Huebner said.

Such proof will be strong new evidence supporting a still unproven theory that each animal cell contains the seeds of cancer. Somehow, the theory proposes, genetic messages in a cell are unlocked, turn the cell cancerous and cause manufacture of cancer virus particles. These particles then infect other cells and pass along genetic information making them cancerous.

The virus particles discovered here were in human cancer cells growing in a kitten, where they were implanted before the kitten was born. The work was done by Dr. Robert M. McAllister of Childrens Hospital of Los Angeles and Dr. Murray B. Gardner of the University of Southern California.

CANCER RESEARCH PHOTOS — These microscopic photos were distributed by three doctors who believe they have discovered human virus, with the following information (figures indicate magnification power): upper left, human carcinoma cells (RD) making up a transplant tumor, arrow, in a kitten cerebellum

(3); upper right: kitten brain tumor made up of RD cells (250); lower left: extracellular C-type virus particles near an RD carcinoma cell in the kitten brain tumor (72,000); lower right: a C-type virus budding off an RD cell in culture from the kitten brain tumor (108,000). (AP Wirephoto)

Maddox Speaks To Congregation

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Lt. Gov. Lester Maddox of Georgia says the "faith of our forefathers in God" has been replaced in America by a preoccupation with material goods.

"Along with more wealth, we have more drug abuse, alcoholism and crime," Maddox said Sunday in a talk at Neuse Baptist Church near Raleigh.

"We've grown self-righteous," said Maddox, former Georgia governor. "This is a time for everyone on God's side to get together."

He told the congregation, "I don't want to be remembered as a public official but as a Christian."

Senate 'Sure' To Stamp Powell Nomination OK

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Lewis F. Powell Jr. is sure to get Senate approval today, perhaps by unanimous vote, to succeed the late Hugo L. Black on the Supreme Court.

The real controversy, over the nomination of Asst. Atty. Gen. William H. Rehnquist to the court, lies ahead.

Republican Leader Hugh Scott said the Senate will confirm him, too, and forecast an overwhelming vote.

But timing of that vote is another question, since opponents of Rehnquist have not agreed to any limit on their debate against him.

The Powell confirmation vote was set for 4 p.m. "I don't think a single senator is likely to vote against Powell," said Scott.

Indeed, Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., who will miss the roll call, set out to find an opponent in hopes of arranging a pair.

Arrest Seven On Drug Charges

STATESVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Police said Saturday seven persons have been arrested on drug charges following six weeks of undercover work.

Helped Driver Shot To Death

Charged with illegal possession of drugs and possession for purposes of sale were Grady Watson Graham, 29, of Statesville; Danny Jackson Frazier, 19, and Gary Wayne Stevenson, 18, both of Rt. 9, Statesville; Ronald Wayne Mills, 25, Rt. 1, Troutman; and Harry Bruce Tomlin, 20, Rt. 5, Statesville.

Leonard Dwight Tilly, 25, of Statesville, and Robert Gary Brown, 22, Rt. 1, Troutman, were charged with unlawful possession of drugs.

The drugs confiscated in the arrests Friday and Saturday included marijuana, hashish and LSD.

Troutman, N.C. (AP) — A man who police said helped another man free his car stuck in snow has been charged with shooting the motorist to death.

Iredell County deputies said the man charged with murder is McKinley Delcoe, 45, of Rt. 1, Troutman. The slain motorist was Floyd Young, 39, of the same area.

Sheriff's detective Lloyd Tate said the shooting occurred during an argument after Delcoe helped push Young's car.
