

Dr. Ralph Bunche India Claims Advances As Dies Early Today In N.Y. Hospital

E. Pakistan Troops Flee

NEW YORK (AP) — Ralph Johnson Bunche, 67, under-secretary-general of the United Nations and winner of the 1950 Nobel Peace Prize for mediating an end to the 1949 Middle East war over Palestine died today in New York Hospital.

Death came at 12:40 a.m., the hospital said. No cause of death was given but Bunche had been ill many months.

The grandson of an American slave, Bunche rose to world prominence in 1949 when he hammered out armistice agreements between Israel and the Arab nations that ended the Palestine War.

He later oversaw both the U.N. military and civilian operations in the Congo when the organization went into that African nation in 1960. He also played a key role in 1956 negotiations that led to the stationing of the U.N. Emergency Force in Palestine after the Suez crisis.

At the time of his death,

Bunche was the highest-ranking American on the U.N. secretariat and had charge of special political affairs.

Bunche's hand in settling the 1949 Palestinian War came at a crucial time in the history of the then-fledgling United Nations.

He took over as acting mediator of the dispute after assassins gunned down the U.N. mediator, Swedish Count Folke Bernadotte, in Jerusalem and also killed the man at his side, wrongly assumed to have been Bunche.

Refusing the protection of an armed guard, Bunche gathered all parties on the Island of Rhodes and wrote the settlement that finally ended the fighting after seven weeks.

Col. Mohamed Ibrahim Seif Eddine of Egypt later hailed him as "one of the world's greatest men," and Israeli diplomat Walter Eytan called his efforts "superhuman."

Bunche, himself, marked the occasion by presenting each delegate at the Rhodes talks with a reproduction of ancient Greek pots made in a local factory. Asked what he would have done with the gifts if the talks had failed, he replied: "I would have smashed them over your heads."

Bunche joined the United Nations at its inception, first as a technical adviser in 1946 on loan from the U.S. State Department, where he had worked two years as a specialist on African and colonial affairs.

He joined the U.N. staff full time in 1947 and after a series of special missions was appointed undersecretary without portfolio in 1955.

Living in New York, he gave himself freely to the cause of equal rights for Negroes, delivering countless speeches and taking part in civil rights demonstrations.

In 1965, he marched alongside Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. in the Freedom March from Selma to Montgomery, Ala.

India claimed today its troops had pressed to within 25 miles of Dacca, that thousands of fleeing Pakistani soldiers were trying to cross the Ganges River to that East Pakistan capital, and that enemy planes had been driven from the skies.

Indian troops were reported holding their ground in Kashmir on the western front.

Pakistan's eastern command in Dacca countered with reports of fierce fighting on most fronts in the east and said "enemy thrusts are still being successfully countered by Pakistani troops."

An Indian army communique reported its troops had advanced to the Meghna River 25 miles from Dacca.

Lt. Gen. Jagjit Singh Aurora, commander of India's eastern front, said in Calcutta that thousands of Pakistani troops under air attack were trying to reach Dacca or the port of Chittagong in the east in an armada of sampans, barges and river boats.

Of these eight Pakistani battalions, about 7,000 men, were attempting to cross the Ganges from the west to make a stand at Dacca, he reported.

Aurora told reporters that Indian forces were making a swift advance and were isolating many Pakistani troops.

India earlier reported the capture of the major towns of Comilla in the east and Sylhet in the northeast. Pakistan's command in Dacca was still reporting fighting in Jessore 24 hours after foreign newsmen from Calcutta visited the southwestern town and found the Pakistani army had fled.

Associated Press correspondent Peter O'Loughlin reported that the feeling in Dacca "was that the Indians, attacking from several directions, are tightening the noose." India claimed Wednesday its forces were within 28 miles of Dacca.

Defense Minister Jagjivan Ram told the Indian parliament that Indian troops and their allies in the East Pakistani secession movement have "freed large areas of Bangla Desh from the occupying forces of Pakistan." Bangla Desh—the Bengali nation—is the name given to East Pakistan by the rebels and India.

"The forces of our army and the Mukti Bahini guerrillas acting not only in concert but under a unified command are forcing the Pakistani forces to pull out from their strongholds in confusion," Ram asserted.

Ram said Comilla, southeast of Dacca, and Sylhet, in the northeast corner of the territory, fell Wednesday. He reported that the capture of Rangpur and Dinajpur in the northwestern part of the province was imminent.

The Pakistani command in Dacca claimed that its forces in the Dinajpur and Rangpur areas repeatedly defied enemy attempts to achieve a major breakthrough. A spokesman claimed that in the Sylhet area Indian forces were pinned down at a number of points.

Except for the trip to Jessore, newsmen were barred from the battle zones and there was no way to check the opposing claims.

NATO Ministers Open Annual Winter Session

By CARL HARTMAN Associated Press Writer

BRUSSELS (AP) — The foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization opened their annual winter meeting today, with the proposed conference with the Soviets on security and cooperation in Europe at the top of the agenda.

The East-West parley Moscow wants seems unlikely before 1973. The Western powers have made plain they would not start to prepare for a meeting until the new Berlin agreements are firmly nailed down, but Moscow refuses to sign the supplementary Berlin agreements East and West Germany are now working out until West Germany ratifies its 1970 non-aggression pact with the Soviet Union.

The West German parliament is unlikely to complete this before next summer. If preparations for the security conference don't start until then, the conference probably could not begin until the next year.

Authoritative sources said the 15 NATO ministers in their usual conference communique Friday would strike an optimistic note on the situation in Germany and the idea of a conference with the Russians. But on the subject of mutual reduction of armed forces in Europe, they have less ground for optimism.

There still has been no Soviet invitation to exploratory talks two months after NATO appointed former secretary-general Manlio Brosio of Italy to represent it. The communique is expected to remind Moscow that the alliance is still interested in mutual, balanced force reductions and is ready to start talking.

One economic issue may be settled in talks parallel to the main meeting. U.S. Secretary of State William Rogers has brought with him Nathaniel Samuels, deputy under-secretary for economic affairs, to negotiate with Axel Herbst of the West German foreign ministry on the U.S. bid for $2.4 billion worth of help with the expense of keeping 200,000 U.S. troops in West Germany for the next two years.

Christmas Tree Cut Down, Taken

MARSHALL, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. W. L. Minor looked out her window Wednesday morning to gaze at her beautifully decorated 15-foot cedar Christmas tree.

Only it wasn't there on the front lawn.

Someone had sawed it down and taken it away.

Mrs. Minor, who said she heard no noise during the night, was left only with a six-inch stump.

Orphans Suffer Bombing

By PETER O'LOUGHLIN Associated Press Writer

DACCA (AP) — High-altitude Indian bombers today made a direct hit on a Dacca orphanage which housed 400 children and a staff of 100.

A stick of four bombs landed in the middle of the Moslem Mission home. Frantic rescue workers clawed into the wreckage with their hands and have so far recovered 17 bodies. Many boys were reported missing.

The children living there, 300 boys and 100 girls, were 7 to 16 years old. A staff of doctors and missionaries also lived on the premises.

The founder of the orphanage, Mohammed Rahman, who said he had been an associate of Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's grandfather in Calcutta, said the bombs landed at 3:15 a.m.

"I heard a sound and thought it was a helicopter," he said. "Then suddenly the explosions came—one, two, three, four... children were screaming. It was dark and we couldn't see them in the mud and under the wreckage.

"The girls were safe because they were in a building at the back. But many boys are missing.

"We can't have a roll call because our registers were destroyed."

Rahman, his head cut by flying debris, said at least one bomb lay unexploded in the mud.

The bombs blasted craters more than 20 feet deep and more than 20 feet wide. Bodies lay in the mud covered with bright cloth.

The orphanage is about a mile from the Dacca airport which has been under frequent Indian air attack since Saturday.

Antarctica Test For Instruments

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Instruments that will be used in an unmanned landing on Mars in 1976 will get a tryout in the next several weeks in Antarctica.

Prof. Wolf Vishniac, a University of Rochester space biologist, and a graduate assistant, Stanley Mainzer, of Philadelphia, Pa., leave Friday to spend five to six weeks in Antarctica.

Vishniac said Antarctica, earth's driest and windiest continent, approaches Martian conditions but in comparison is still a "tropical paradise."

Besides testing instruments, the pair will study soil bacteria in a valley about 500 miles from McMurdo Station, the main U.S. base in Antarctica.

Funds Cutoff

RALEIGH (AP) — Federal highway officials have notified the North Carolina Highway Commission that no additional federal road funds will be approved for projects in the state until further notice.

The word came Wednesday from E. G. Oakley, acting division engineer for the Federal Highway Administration in Raleigh. He quoted instructions received from his agency's program analysis division in Washington, which said no additional projects funded under the interstate, urban system, bridge replacement and other programs could be approved after the close of business Tuesday.

There was no indication from the federal agency how long the hold would last. Such freezes have been used before as an inflation-slowng device.

Highway Commission Chairman Lauch Faircloth declined to comment on the development. Other state highway official said they weren't too concerned about what they believed would be a short-term delay in fund approvals.

The officials did express some concern over possible delays in seven or eight federally aided construction projects scheduled to be let in January.

Cheerleaders Told To Stand To Shovel Snow

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Creighton University officials have ordered cheerleaders to stand for the National Anthem at home basketball games or resign.

The word came from Tom Burke, vice president for student personnel, who said the cheerleaders are designated representatives of the university.

At Creighton's first two basketball games a group of students stayed seated while the anthem was played.

Women Allowed To Shovel Snow

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The city's Bureau of Sanitation has agreed to abandon its prohibition against employing women to shovel snow.

Superintendent Howard Thompson, who had rejected job applications from four girls a year ago, said Wednesday he will hire women shovelers if they are "18 or older, at least taller than the shovel, have a Social Security number, and—very important—come dressed for the weather."

Jenkins 'Urged' $3,000 Contributed To City's Tot Lot Project

By JERRY RAYNOR Reflector Staff Writer

The City of Greenville Wednesday night received a substantial pre-Christmas gift designed to provide a much needed Tot Lot for the youngest citizens of the town.

Curtis Hendrix, vice-president of the North Carolina National Bank in Greenville, presented a check in the amount of $3,000 to Director Boyd Lee of the Recreation Department at the monthly meeting of the Recreation Commission.

Recalling that it was Tom Foreman, a commission member and employee of NCNB who first broached the subject of the bank's sponsoring a tot lot more than a year ago, Hendrix noted "we were elated when two months ago the corporation indicated they might be able to help."

Hendrix said that the NCNB Coordination Committee in Charlotte was known to be interested in assisting recreation projects as part of its use of corporate funds, but that it nevertheless came as a pleasant surprise when the check arrived for the full $3,000 for the project.

"On behalf of the firms granting this, it gives me a great deal of pleasure to give you this check for a tot lot," Curtis remarked in giving Lee the check.

Lee noted that the $3,000

NCNB gift means the Recreation Department will have $6,000 at its disposal, as such gifts are matched by federal funds. "This means the bank is responsible for furnishing one sixth of the $36,000 cost estimated for the development of the park," Lee commented.

Lee commented that to the best of his knowledge, since his tenure as director of the Recreation Department, that this marks the first occasion a firm or business has donated money to the Recreation Commission. "I hope this will not be the last time," he added.

Lee explained that the Tot Lot will be enclosed by a split rail

NCNB Reports State's Economy Is Recovering

"The North Carolina economy is showing broadly based improvement, recovering steadily if not dramatically from the August slump," economists for North Carolina National Bank report.

According to Alfred G. Smith III and Donald H. Snyder, current gains are noted in most sectors of the state economy, with business in the textile and apparel industries rebounding less slowly than in other sectors.

The economists reported that "textile employment has increased for the last two months, reflecting improvements in orders and production in the state's largest manufacturing industry."

The Trendicator, NCNB's index of coincident indicators of the state economy, advanced to 119.8 in October from the September figure of 119.5. The July mark, just before the summer slump, was a record 120.1, it was reported.

Total personal income, according to the indicator, reached $1.48 billion, seasonally adjusted. July's figure was a record $1.49 billion, and August experienced a plunge to $1.45 billion. The economists asserted that October gains in income were due to increased employment, hours worked, and arise in agriculturally related income.

Figures show North Carolina's unemployment rate dropped from 3.9 per cent in September to 3.6 per cent in October. They reported that the state's unemployment figures are consistently lower than that of the nation as a whole.

November Proved Busy Building, Permit Month

November was a busy month for issuance of building permits in Greenville. Building Inspector J. W. Wilson notes that a total of 43 permits were issued, compared to a total in the preceding ten months of 140 permits.

"This is the highest number and the largest amount involved for any single months since I've been with the city," Wilson commented, speaking of the total listed $3,073,870 in construction value for the 43 permits. Wilson has been with the city for more than 14 years.

Wilson noted the permits resulted in $2,997 in fees turned over to the City Clerk, which brings fees collected for building permits to date for 1971 to $6,499.50.

Of the 43 permits, three issued for apartment construction account for more than two thirds of the construction value. A 180 apartment unit at Nichols Drive and Devonshire; a 108 unit apartment on East 10th Street and an eight unit apartment at Avery and Baker Streets accounted for $2,460,000. A series of permits for various construction and renovation projects at East Carolina University accounts for $425,000 and nine residence permits amounted to $156,000.

Stay-At-Home Wives Can Help Their Husbands

By BETTY YARMON
NEW YORK (WNS)—If you're a wife concerned about the family's finances, and yet for one reason or another you can't go to work yourself to help out, there are other ways in which you can contribute. For example, you and the children can help your husband directly in his job if he's in the sales end of his company.

By handling detail work. Few of us like to devote much time to details even though detail work pays off handsomely. Salesmen prefer to be out in the field, and that's where you or the older children can help. For example, you can take over such time-consuming stints as keeping records, making schedules of appointments, reading trade magazines and other literature for leads. A wife can stretch her husband's selling day by relieving him of tasks that eat up productive hours. She can assume his household duties, such as driving the kids to school or watering the lawn, giving him sometimes as much as an extra hour or so a day.

By demonstrating products. The most effective way to build sales is through product demonstrations, and often you and the children can help out here. For example, a woman whose husband sells sewing machines can "just happen to be finishing this little dress" when the neighbors come over for some coffee and gossip. It's the most natural thing in the world for them to get excited over the machine you're using and its handy attachments. Or, the wife of a car salesman who volunteers to take a group of mothers to the next PTA meeting may pick them up in a new station wagon, and give an enthusiastic account of the car's new features along the way.

By getting leads. This is where the kids can shine. One cash register salesman asked his son to visit local stores to see which ones had antiquated registers or none at all. From Junior's report, he was able to compile a list of prospects. In another case, a newspaper delivery boy kept tabs for his father, a storm window salesman, on which homes had no storm windows.

By lending moral support. Few of us need psychiatric training to appreciate the effect of having the family's unqualified moral support. On his part, Dad should be urged to share with you and the children an overall picture of his job and its problem. In that way you'll understand when he phones to say he's stuck with a prospect and can't make the 5:15. You'll know this time that it's more important he follow through on the sales pitch than be home before his dinner gets cold. Once he's home, you can act as a sounding board for him, giving him a chance to review what he's done, and possibly even spot mistakes or omissions in his sales approach.

But no matter what area of business your husband is in, there are ways in which you can help him get started. Here are some questions to ask yourself, to help you determine if you are really giving him and the family a lift:

- 1.—Do you take an active interest in your husband's career? This is basic.
- 2.—If your husband travels for business, do you complain? Executives are constantly called upon to travel in the interest of their company.

3.—Do you enjoy entertaining business associates at home? A gracious and capable hostess is an important asset to the aspiring young businessman.

4.—Do you feel you can keep pace with your husband's climb up the social and economic ladder? Dress grooming, decor at home, social graces at the table—these become increasingly important as a young executive rises.

5.—Would you move if this would help your husband's business career? Relocation often means the difference between advancement and remaining in a rut.

6.—Do you join community activities if you know this helps him in business?

7.—Do you relieve your husband of major household and child-care tasks once basic decisions have been made?

8.—Do you keep within a family budget or do you spend beyond your husband's means? A wise and helpful wife will control the family's financial outlay so that it gets the most from its dollar. A man hamstrung by financial worries can't do full justice to his career.

Lack Of Trust Forces Conflict

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I am a 20-year-old girl. I have a good secretarial job, my own car and I live at home and pay room and board.

My parents frequently go away on weekends, and my boy friend comes over, and sometimes stays until after the late show on television. Everything is on the up and up, and I never lie about what time he goes home, but now my parents say I can't have him over unless they are home.

Abby, this is ridiculous. Dad says it "looks bad" for the neighbors. Mom says in a few years I'll be married and gone, but they will have to face the neighbors and all that gossip.

I told my parents if I couldn't have my boy friend over unless they were home, I'd move out, and they said if I moved out, I could never set foot in their house again.

Abby, that's the way we left it. I would like your opinion of the situation.

DEAR HAD IT: I think you should be allowed to entertain your boy friend at home whether your parents are home or not. And for them to have laid down such a rule because of what the neighbors might think is narrow-minded and shortsighted. As well-intentioned as they are, they are literally driving you out of the house.

DEAR ABBY: About two years ago, an older male relative started taking a great deal of interest in our little girl. It never entered my mind that something could be wrong because this man is a well-known, well-liked prominent citizen.

After putting four or five little incidents together, they all added up to one thing. Child molesting! When it finally dawned on me I didn't know who I hated more. The man, or myself for having been so stupid.

Because I never actually caught him, we decided the best thing to do would be to watch him very carefully, to make sure he never was alone with our child for even a minute.

I hope he reads this. I will be happy when he dies, then I won't have to worry anymore. Please print this so other mothers will be on the lookout for sick people who are around them every day. Sign me DAZED

DEAR DAZED: Waiting for him to "die" is no solution. [He may outlive you.] And making sure he isn't alone with your child "for even a minute" isn't the answer either. What's to stop him from molesting other children? Confront him with the facts as you know them and insist that he get professional help. He is sick, sick, sick.

DEAR ABBY: This is for the lady who wondered if it would be all right to post a sign near her doorbell, requesting guests to please remove their shoes before entering her house. [She had just installed wall-to-wall carpeting and wanted to keep it nice.]

I think it's a great idea! I was in Japan early this year and it's a custom to remove one's shoes before entering the house. I was wearing high lace-up boots, and did a lot of lacing and unlacing, but I didn't mind it one bit. In fact, it felt good to take my shoes off and walk around in my stocking feet.

Needless to say, the Japanese have the cleanest carpets in the world. So, tell people to quit being so stuffy. To remove their shoes and discover a whole new world at their feet. BAREFOOTER

Designer Says: 'Women Want A More Dressed Up Look'

By ANN HENCKEN

AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Hot pants may be dead and knickers passe but the slicked-up slacks suit has survived.

It is becoming more important, especially in such lush fabrics as cashmere, designer Halston said after his spring showing Tuesday.

"All the chic ladies wear slacks," he said, and he's tried hard to please his long list of chic clients.

For awhile many designers got bored with the original

If you have a troublesome scalp condition, make it a point to wash your hands after each time you brush or comb your hair. This precaution will help prevent infection from spreading when you touch your face.

slacks suit. When it reached everyone from stewardesses to nurses, they figured it was time for something new. They've shown pants in every possible length and just about every material.

Halston, known for his simple, elegant styles, sticks to one length in slacks—long. He gives them high waists or flared cuffs and concentrates on some dramatic tops.

The loose top to his Chinese slacks suit is fastened only at its mandarin collar. Halston shows a lot of skin with halters or deep V-necks, sometimes covered with loose jackets. Or he reveals the outlines of the body through a layer of chiffon caftan.

"Anything to show the skin. They love the skin game," says Halston. He describes his look as "nudity without being nude."

For day, he likes cashmere sweater sets over pants or long, full, lush skirts. There are suede suits and easy belted jackets.

In general, his clothes are looser this year, from drooping dolman sleeves to full-backed coats.

"Something that doesn't grab the body, that's a trend," he says, and he brings back many chiffon ponchos and caftans to slit skirts, cut-out midriffs and all.

Women are beginning to want a more dressed up look in clothes, says Halston—from slacks suits to evening wear.

Commissioner of Agriculture Jim Graham sees a bright future for agriculture, despite many problems which beset the industry.

Speaking to the Farm-City Week meeting of the Greenville Rotary Club Monday night, Graham said, "I am proud of the industry of agriculture in North Carolina. My request to you... is this — let North Carolina farmer continue his production through fair wages.

"I am optimistic about the future of agriculture and I am grateful for my opportunity to have a part in it."

Graham said that he had read where the U.S. Department of Agriculture would be phased out.

"I do not believe this will happen. Certainly not in North Carolina while I am commissioner and neither will it happen on the national level. It will not happen because agriculture is basic and... it is our job to educate the people of this state and country to that simple fact.

"The country that is strong agriculturally is strong totally. Look at those who are not, for your proof."

"Today's farmer is feeding nearly 50 of his fellow men and the consumer is payment only 17 cents of his dollar for food. The American farmer deserves more. He must have more if he and all of us are to survive.

"For too long the price the farmer has received has gone down and the prices he must pay for supplies and equipment has gone up."

He told the local people that agriculture has played an outstanding part in local success.

"I commend your farmers for top production in tobacco, soybeans, swine and corn. If everyone in the nation realized as you do the importance of agriculture in overall economy I don't believe this great industry, the largest in the nation, would be on the brink of being relegated to second rate status."

The commissioner is correct. The agricultural industry is still the backbone of Greenville's and Pitt's economy. We have made progress in bringing in other industries and they supplement the millions of dollars which agriculture pours out to our people each year.

We must recognize that agriculture is an industry, and a very valuable one at that. The farmer deserves a fair return on his investment and his efforts, and the farm worker deserves a fair wage.

Agriculture is basic and it needs all the support it can get.

Scott Tackles School Unrest

BY BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH — Restless students come from a restless society. They bring to school the attitudes which give rise to tension and flare into violence and disruption.

BRYAN HAISLIP

which rates a high priority in North Carolina.

Upon that premise, Gov. Bob Scott is mobilizing a task force of citizens to chart a plan of action.

Invitations will go out soon to 75 or 100 leaders representative of a cross-section of Tar Heel life to meet in Raleigh on Dec. 17. Their charge will be to develop recommendations to strengthen community support and enhance the learning atmosphere in the public schools.

"We will involve as many people as possible," said Scott, who will serve as the task force chairman.

"Throughout the state I have found a great deal of feeling that there is a problem, and a willingness to do something about it."

Race No Sole Factor

Race is a factor in unsettled schools, Scott acknowledged, but is not alone to blame for unrest.

Busing has shifted large numbers of students, thrusting them into unfamiliar settings and breaking loyalty ties for pupils, parents and teachers. Consolidations have created large schools where students feel overlooked and frustrated by uninvolved demands for student rights, superseding the concept of school attendance as a privilege, have found administrators without clear guidelines for response.

While some school disorders are rooted in real causes, Scott said, there have been incidents reported "which were just plain hoodlumism."

The time may have arrived when a statewide code for student conduct is needed, he added, in light of the high mobility of students from school to school.

In any case, he added, disciplinary action at school must be supported at home and in the community to be effective.

Young people will be among those selected to serve on the task force, assuring student input for its deliberations.

Communication Help Asked

As a step towards activating the task force, Scott assembled a news media group this week for lunch at the Executive Mansion and an explanation of the mission. Its success, he said, will depend upon effective communication with the public.

Preliminary plans are being formulated by a steering committee drawn from the Governor's staff, the state Department of Public Instruction, and the North Carolina Association of Educators.

To measure the dimensions of school unrest, principals and superintendents are being surveyed on number of days lost, student suspensions, and other disruptive effects.

"This will give us a clearer picture of the cost in time and impaired operation," Scott said.

The cost is not confined to the schools, he added, but spills over into the community with the impact of unrest on business and municipal operation.

The work of the task force can be significant for the future of public schools, through renewal of public confidence in their role in society, Scott said.

Public Schools Advocate

"I am a strong believer in the public schools," he asserted. "A lot of good things are going on in the 2,000 schools of our state. On balance, I think they are operating very well and the vast majority are doing the job they are supposed to do.

"We want to give our attention to ways in which we can enhance their basic purpose, which is teaching our children."

To rally citizen involvement in schools, the task force may stage a mass meeting in Raleigh early next year. Such a gathering could be the forum to air views on the causes and prevention of school unrest.

The Governor indicated he looks for the task force to move expeditiously. Perhaps 60 or 90 days may be spent in research and study, he said, before an action plan is modeled.

A report should be ready to implement, Scott said, by next spring when the season will add its own restiveness to school campuses.

His concern with school unrest begins as a father, a level of involvement shared by parents of the 1.4 million children enrolled in public schools.

The four Scott children attend Raleigh schools. This fall, like many other Tar Heel youngsters, they went to new schools under a busing plan to achieve racial balance.

Scott said he's talked about school unrest with his high school and junior high daughters, and got the response heard by many parents.

"They say if we adults would just leave them alone, the students can take care of their own problems," he said.

Anti-Kennedy Boomerang?

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The virulence of a private attack on Sen. Edward M. Kennedy by a deputy chairman of the Republican National Committee late last week has left some powerful Republican politicians chagrined and infuriated others.

Employing language seldom used even in the heat of an election campaign, deputy national chairman Lyn Nofziger lashed into Kennedy in a private memorandum distributed to Republican Congressmen as follows:

"The fact that a man with Senator Kennedy's record of cheating, of lying, of cowardice and of ignoring the law could have the gall to level personal attacks against (President Nixon) never ceases to amaze me."

Nofziger's memorandum appeared on the desks of many Republican members of Congress last Thursday under the official imprimatur of the National Committee. Significantly, however, Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas, chairman of the National Committee, and some top aides of President Nixon emphatically told us they not only had not approved the diatribe against Kennedy but did not know about it in advance.

More important, some party leaders in Congress and some political operatives close to Mr. Nixon privately denounced the Nofziger assault as all but certain to boomerang against the Republicans and build sympathy for the brother of the murdered John and Robert Kennedy. To these Republicans, moreover, Nofziger's brass-knuckle attack signaled a consensus within the Republican party that Kennedy is a far stronger prospect today to be the Democratic Presidential nominee than at any time since the Chappaquiddick tragedy.

Nofziger, who heads the National Committee's political propaganda and publications section, is a tough, clever and irrepressible political operative who gave up newspaper reporting to handle Ronald Reagan's gubernatorial campaign in 1966. He joined Mr. Nixon's White House staff in 1969 and the National Committee in 1971.

An expert in the arts of black propaganda, Nofziger has titillated political Washington by using the National Committee's weekly publication "Monday" as a platform for flogging Democrats in an aggressive, irreverent and sometimes amusing way.

But Nofziger's crescendo of attacks on Kennedy recently reached a point where some Republicans started complaining that he was hitting below the belt. In his memorandum to Congressional Republicans, Nofziger refers to these protests and states: "Personally, I am at a loss to understand the objections in light of Sen. Kennedy's attacks on President Nixon." Proceeding to attack Kennedy as a cheater, a liar, a coward, and a law-breaker, Nofziger then quoted nine

Strength For Today

NO IVORY TOWER
The Christian religion consists of believing certain truths and putting these truths into practical application. We can betake ourselves to an ivory tower and there spend our time praying for everything under the sun. This, however, is not true prayer. It is not the manifestation of faith which God wants us to have. There is a well-known statement that sound Christian living consists in getting down on our knees and praying as if everything depended upon God and then getting up and facing the challenge of life as if everything depended upon us. Faith without works is dead (James 2:17).

A prominent minister was once heard to remark that if he came down from the pulpit after pronouncing the benediction and someone stepped up and told him what a wonderful sermon he had preached that day he knew that he had not touched that person's real needs. He hadn't touched his pocketbook, for one thing. He hadn't touched a deep-seated grudge which the enthusiastic parishioner had for years been turning over in his (or her) mind.

It's not easy to live the Christian life in season and out of season, and no one knows this any better than the people who are honestly trying to live the Christian life. Jesus declared that we are to love God with all our hearts, souls and minds — and we are to love our neighbor as ourself. "On these two commandments," he declared, "hang all the law and the prophets" (Matthew 22:34-40).

New Education Currents

Phillip V. Sanchez, new director of the Office of Economic Opportunity, delivered himself last month of a speech that merited more attention than it got. His general purpose was to describe certain experiments that OEO is trying to launch in the field of education. His particular target was the formidable lobby that is fighting to prevent these experiments from getting off the ground.

There was something here of the news that results when man bites dog. Sanchez happened to be speaking to a committee of the National Association of Manufacturers. At one time, as he observed, the NAM would have personified the entrenched "establishment," opposed to any newfangled experiments in education. Until a few years ago, you would have expected to find classroom teachers and federal officials in comfortable alliance.

In recent years, however, roles have suddenly reversed. Now the OEO is urging a fresh look at the whole field of education; the business community is cooperating cheerfully; and such outfits as the National Education Association and the American Federation of Teachers are stubbornly dragging their heels.

"Why do these education groups oppose experimentation?" Sanchez asked. He answered his own question: "Some of them have begun to get old and tired and they are not fighting, in this case, for educating children better, but for their own constituencies. In community after community, some teachers' unions and their professional organizations have waged frantic campaigns replete with wild rhetoric to stave off — what? Two rather small-scale experiments designed, of all things, to help children!"

One of the OEO's experimental programs, in performance contracting, is now finished and awaiting evaluation. The other, in the use of tuition vouchers, is scheduled for the 1972-73 school year. Both programs feature certain elements of the free enterprise system, which doubtless accounts for their appeal to the NAM.

Other Editors Say Union Costs

(Richmond News Leader)

The cause of voluntary unionism won a point the other day when a federal court awarded $342,000 to Dale Richardson, of Omaha, for damages arising from union harassment.

Richardson, who voluntarily belonged to the Communications Workers of America, left the union in 1966 when he could get no information about possible misuse of union funds. His resignation from the union led to a union campaign of harassment and malicious abuse against him, followed six months later by his dismissal by his employer, Western Electric. He took the issue to court.

A federal district court found in favor of Richardson and awarded him $20,000, subsequently reduced to $1,500. Richardson considered the award too small, and appealed to the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals, which found, "When an employee's expectancy of employment is challenged by invidious discrimination of the company or the union arising from his non-union membership, the law should not react niggardly as to the realization of his whole damage... The evidence is that the plaintiff was subject to malicious treatment for over six months before his discharge."

The union will have to pay Richardson $250,000 of the damage award. In addition, the union will pay 70 per cent of $92,000, with Western Electric paying 30 per cent, to Richardson to repay him for lost wages and other considerations.

Even in right-to-work states, employees who refuse to join a union, or who, leave a union after voluntarily belonging to it, often find themselves subjected to abuse and harassment from union members. Because unions carry so much clout with employers, these workers often find themselves out of a job as well, even if they have a right not to join a union.

Richardson's successful legal fight for his right to work without belonging to a union will do much to discourage such practices. Unions may have a lot of money at their disposal, but not many of them would enjoy paying awards of several hundred thousand dollars to every non-union member they may care to harass.

Effects Of Dollar Devaluation

By ELMER ROESSNER

It begins to look as if the United States will agree to devaluation of the dollar. At the Group of Ten meeting in Rome, a convocation of the 10 wealthiest nations in the noncommunist world, the United States made noises to the effect that it would talk about the devaluation of the dollar and would discuss the matter further on Dec. 17 and 18 in Washington. Only that and nothing more.

There was no promise of devaluation. In fact, there was a big, implied IF: The U.S. would devalue the dollar partly if the other nations would increase the values of their currencies. There was not even a suggestion of an amount.

There has been talk that the dollar should be devalued by 10 per cent. Even that is only a starting point for dickering. The dollar, according to the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co., has been devalued about 7.23 per cent since President Nixon began to act in the crisis. That's a figure based on hard currency valuation.

Where's The Blame?

Since the U.S. has shown some softness, it may be that other countries will press for 10 per cent. But if the U.S. made any unilateral devaluation, nothing would be permanently settled, because some foreign currencies are stronger than others, notably the Japanese and Germans, and we'd have the whole problem of unbalanced currencies to wrestle with all over again.

But let's, solely for the purpose of understanding what may happen and how it would affect you, suppose the U.S. devalues the dollar by 8 per cent and the other nations up the value of their currency by an average of 2 per cent.

This would be a dollar devaluation of about 10 per cent and this is what would happen:

The Treasury would increase the price it would pay for gold from $35 an ounce to $37.80. That's the technical step in devaluing the dollar.

The value of all gold held in coin collections, in jewelry, in bric-a-brac would automatically go up 8 per cent. Because human nature is what it is, the more valuable pieces will go up considerably more.

The $10,132,176,496.81 held in Fort Knox, the Treasury and Federal Reserve system would automatically go up 8 per cent in dollar value to $10,942,750,618.62.

There would likely be a moderate rush of foreign investors to buy American stocks and bonds, thereby realizing an 8 to 10 per cent gain on the book value of their money.

Many marginal gold mines would reopen since they could get 8 per cent more

Score Is Not So Bad

By JOY STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — What can you say about a 20-year-old girl who is a far more accomplished cook than her mother?

You can say "hooray" and turn over to her the mixing spoons, apron and keys to the pantry.

In addition to acquiring a knowledge of history, psychology and French at college, our daughter has learned everything she always wanted to know about cooking but was afraid to ask.

Since I myself didn't become acquainted with the facts of kitchen life until after I was married and the little I know I picked up in supermarkets and on park benches, I admit to being both uninformed and up-tight on the subject.

But from the time Gay first noticed there were two kinds of cake—bakery and homemade—I've tried to answer her questions honestly and keep the lines of communication open.

Being admittedly inhibited in the baking department, I may have looked a bit embarrassed the first time she asked me why I couldn't produce a coconut cream pie like Joan's mother down the block, but I didn't register shock when she asked me what made a soufflé different from a casserole, and I didn't blush at all when she demanded to know where little cupcakes come from.

It wasn't until her junior year in college, when she had moved out of her dorm and was sharing an apartment with two other girls, that we realized she was reading cookbooks as well as schoolbooks.

On one of her visits home she offered to make Swedish pan-cakes with whipped lime butter. Since I cook from a freezer rather than from a cabinet, this

Work of placing strings of electric lights along streets in the main business district got underway Monday and will be completed this afternoon. Thirty-five strings of lights are being placed at the various street intersections. Each string contains twenty-five watt vari-colored lights and will convert the district into a thing of beauty and splendor. A huge Christmas tree, dangling with scores of lights and tinsel, was erected at Five Points and four strings of lights were placed at each of the most important intersections.

Sleet, which fell here last night, melted as fast as it hit the ground and turned into a steady rain with the coming of higher temperatures during the morning. A slight drizzle still fell today but continued fall of the mercury relieved the sting of winter.

The Greenville Rotary Club was host Monday night to the young folks attending East Carolina Teachers College who are sons and daughters of Rotarians.

Senate Rehnquist Vote Is Scheduled Tomorrow

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate will vote Friday on a Republican-initiated move to cut off debate on the Supreme Court nomination of William H. Rehnquist and force a vote on his confirmation.

President Nixon's nomination of Rehnquist, an assistant attorney general, has been before the Senate since the confirmation Monday of Richmond attorney Lewis F. Powell Jr. for another vacancy on the Supreme Court.

Republican Leader Hugh Scott, who has accused Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., of leading a filibuster against Rehnquist's confirmation, filed a petition late Wednesday to invoke the Senate's debate-closing rule.

If the required two-thirds majority puts the rule into effect, it could open the way for a vote on Rehnquist's confirmation late Friday.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he will vote against the cutoff petition.

The petition was signed by 27 senators, all Republicans except for Chairman James O.

Eastland, D-Miss., of the Senate Judiciary Committee, and Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C. Scott and Mansfield have assured Nixon a vote on confirming Rehnquist will be taken before Congress adjourns. Scott says the vote is the only road-block to adjournment, scheduled this week.

Bayh has denied filibustering. He maintains that opponents of Rehnquist's nomination should have an opportunity to lay their case before the Senate before a vote is taken on confirmation of the former Phoenix, Ariz., lawyer.

Evans-Novak . . .

specific Kennedy attacks on Nixon policies ranging from the President's handling of campus unrest to his recent Supreme Court nominations.

"I think the public needs to be reminded from time to time what kind of a man it is who makes such attacks," Nofziger's memo said. "That is what we try to do."

But unanimously, party politicians we talked to took major exception to Nofziger's strategy as "overkill," drastically "premature," and as bad politics that could well boomerang against the Republicans by building potent pro-Kennedy sympathy.

Asking not to be quoted by name, one party leader said the White House was "shocked" by the most recent California poll (by Mervin D. Field) showing Kennedy beating Mr. Nixon in his home state by 45 per cent to 42 per cent. That "shock," he said, immediately penetrated the National Committee and may have prompted Nofziger's attack.

Whether that is true or not, the Nofziger assault smacks of the simplistic, expedient politics that afflicted the Republicans in the 1970 campaign: a passion for immediate political gain at immeasurable future cost. If, as some politicians feel, President Nixon really perceives Kennedy, with his obvious political liabilities, as the easiest-to-defeat Democratic opponent next November, he should veto all official political attacks on his character and let the record speak for itself.

And if, as some other Republicans feel, Mr. Nixon now really fears Kennedy in 1972, political attack that smacks of character assassination to rank-and-file voters will make him more, not less, formidable, particularly with the record number of young voters. "A few more blasts at Kennedy like that" one Democratic politician told us, "will blast him right into the nomination."

The resolution will be sent to the chairman sponsoring the bill as a statement of support when it comes up for voting in Congress.

Lee presented for the commission's consideration a petition received from Aycock Junior High School students, bearing a total of 310 signatures. The young people are requesting the Recreation Commission endorse their efforts, which they will place before other city bodies, to secure a building where young people can meet in large groups for social affairs.

Recreation facilities in Greenville are now operated on a full schedule of sports activities that does not make possible the use of Elm Street or South Greenville facilities for social gatherings on a regular basis.

The concensus of commission members was to arrange a meeting between the Area and Facilities Committee with a representative group of the students to talk about this request in more detail.

The same committee also agreed to meet soon with Greenville School Superintendent Dr. Cleet C. Cleetwood to consider further negotiations about possible lease arrangements for the gym at the former Eppes Junior High School. Two approaches were recommended — one to seek information on lease estimates for the building and adjoining nine acres of land; and a second approach involving only lease arrangements for the building alone.

Lee reported that earlier negotiations were now at a standstill as the commission's previous offer for a purchase price was termed by Dr. Cleetwood to "be so low as to be patently unacceptable."

Commission members gave approval to tentative plans to hold an area workshop among commission members of Greenville and nearby recreation commissions sometime in the spring. The workshop would be designed for a layman type exchange of common problems and comparison of approaches and accomplishments realized.

Men Turning To Nursing Careers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mother is thrilled when her son decides to become a doctor. But what if Johnny wants to be a nurse?

Once, the reaction would have been tears. But now, increasing numbers of men are making the once feminine profession of nursing a respectable male pursuit.

"Frankly, I look to them as the saviors of our profession," says Nancy Lockwood, a pediatrics instructor at Children's Hospital here.

At California State College at Los Angeles, among the largest college training centers for nurses in the United States the male enrollment has doubled this year.

Stilley Col. . . .

necessitated the purchase of all kinds of raw materials, including flour.

Her efforts met with such enthusiastic response that the next trip she proceeded to make bread—the real thing, starting with yeast.

All the neighbors were called in to admire my talented child and to hear the satisfying "woosh" when she pushed down the risen dough.

But it turned out there was still something she could learn at her mother's knee. It seems she and her roommates always used instant coffee and she wanted instructions on making the percolator kind. I proudly explained to her how to measure, and put her on her own.

A while later I heard a few soft plops and turned to find her dumping the coffee into the water instead of into the basket.

It helped my inferiority complex in the cooking department no end.

"Some are coming to nursing from such fields as teaching, aerospace, communications—where the economic squeeze has been sharp," says Dr. Lucie S. Young, chairman of Cal State's nursing program. "Others have come out of the service with a bonus experience as medics."

The male nursing force isn't huge. Of 1,062 persons enrolled in the Cal State nursing program, 57 are men. And of the 150,505 registered nurses in California, an estimated two per cent are male. Dr. Young says, however, that this represents approximately 10 per cent of all male nurses in the country.

Dr. Young hopes there will be more. She says men provide qualities sometimes missing from an all-girl nursing corps.

"Even with career orientation women do not always provide a stable continuity within the profession. They may marry—most nurses do and most have children." A man, she says, "goes into this with the idea that it is a career and he wants to advance in it."

Sky 'Falling' In Capitol Dome

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The sky is falling at the Oklahoma Capitol—literally.

The "sky" in this case is the blue-green portion of the painting inside the Capitol dome. It was repainted about a year ago during a major renovation program, but began flaking off several weeks ago.

Allie Isom, state Board of Affairs engineer, said the painting contractor has taken samples of the peeling paint to discover the problem and will repaint the dome—free—when he finds out why the paint isn't sticking.

Bayh and other opponents contend Rehnquist has not demonstrated a commitment to civil rights and civil liberties, but they concede they don't have the votes to block confirmation.

Scott has said he knows of 73 solid votes for confirmation.

Britt Is . . .

president and manager of the Time Payments Department at Wachovia Bank and Trust Company.

A member of St. James United Methodist Church, Britt is married to the former Sallie Gail Hines of Faison. They have three children.

Britt, commenting on goals for the coming year for the steadily growing membership comprising the Boys' Club, said "our major goal for the next calendar year is to work toward coming completely under the funding program of Pitt County United Fund."

In making this statement, Britt stressed such an arrangement would be the most logical one. "At the present time, 47 per cent of our revenues come from businessmen in Greenville, with 25 per cent being received from projects sponsored by various civic clubs and the balance coming from interested individuals."

"Funding under the United Fund has proven the most practical method in many other communities," he said, "and this arrangement would leave officers and board members free to concentrate on work on needed projects instead of having to devote a great deal of time to the continual need to raise funds." He also noted that since most businesses and individuals contributing to the Boys' Club are generous donors to the United Fund, it would simplify giving for them, and also serve to equalize support of the club which is one that serves a large segment of the public.

Other primary goals mentioned by the new president include continuing the "outreach" program, already underway with 65 members from Winterville regularly taking part in the club's programs; the possibility of building basketball courts for the boys who now have three basketball teams but no court; a continuation of the wrestling matches sponsored by the Greenville Jaycees for the benefit of the Boys' Club; and a correction of building deficiencies in the present site of the Boys' Club.

ZERO POINT
MANILA (UPI)—The monument of Philippine national hero Jose P. Rizal at Luneta Park, by Manila Bay, marks the zero point from which all distances in the largest island, Luzon, are measured.

Kilpatrick . . .

Traditionally, as Sanchez remarked, education has been measured in terms of input — how many dollars, how many teachers, how many square feet of space, how many seats in the gym. Performance contracting, by contrast, turns this around. It measures output. At the end of a school year, it asks the blunt question: Did the children learn? Can they add?

Under the OEO experiment, six private contractors were hired to teach math and reading to 27,000 pupils in 18 communities. The contract totaled $5.6 million, or about $200 per child. This was roughly the deal: If his pupils reached national averages, the contractor got paid; if they didn't, he didn't.

Goaded by this incentive, the contract teachers fell to work in September of last year — in Anchorage, Athens (Ga.), Dallas, Fresno, Grand Rapids, Hammond, Hartford, Jacksonville, Las Vegas, Philadelphia, the Bronx, Portland (Me.), Rockland (Me.), Seattle, Wichita, McComb (Miss.), Selmer (Tenn.), and Taft (Texas). The children were tested in June by independent evaluators not associated with the contracting firms. Results will be made public next month.

The findings of the OEO experiment parallel the findings of a similar experiment in Gary, Ind. You can expect fresh howls from the "new power blocs" that Sanchez has denounced. In Gary, the city entered into a four-year contract with Behavioral Research Laboratories to take over instruction in Banneker School. The school houses 800 children, almost all of them poor and black, and most of them under-achievers. After a year and a half of intensive instruction, School Superintendent Gordon McAndrew reports some phenomenal gains.

These new currents could not come at a better time. America's public schools are in trouble, the victims of racial busing, union militancy, and taxpayer rebellions. Parents everywhere, aroused and angry, are demanding better performance in terms of their heavy investment in educational institutions. In their self-serving hostility to the whole concept of accountability, the teachers' unions are doing their own image no good, and they are doing their vital and respected profession great harm.

ence. Over the entrance a sign will read Kid Corral with an inscription that funds for the facility were donated by the North Carolina National Bank.

Prior to the presentation ceremony, Lee had given a report on progress being made at the city recreation park under construction at the Evans site on Hooker Road. He noted that conditions were more encouraging with the break in weather following the heavy October rains that had hampered construction. He reported that the major portion of the fence had been erected and that much of the land had been cleared, adding, however, that more recent rains had created problems in efforts to work on the tennis courts.

Commission members approved a resolution in support of H.R. 7180, a recently introduced bill that would amend the Federal Property and Administrative Services Act of 1949. The proposed amendment would permit for the first time direct purchase by Recreation Departments and Commissions of surplus government properties — including items such as vehicles, furniture and recreational equipment.

The resolution will be sent to the chairman sponsoring the bill as a statement of support when it comes up for voting in Congress.

Lee presented for the commission's consideration a petition received from Aycock Junior High School students, bearing a total of 310 signatures. The young people are requesting the Recreation Commission endorse their efforts, which they will place before other city bodies, to secure a building where young people can meet in large groups for social affairs.

Recreation facilities in Greenville are now operated on a full schedule of sports activities that does not make possible the use of Elm Street or South Greenville facilities for social gatherings on a regular basis.

The concensus of commission members was to arrange a meeting between the Area and Facilities Committee with a representative group of the students to talk about this request in more detail.

The same committee also agreed to meet soon with Greenville School Superintendent Dr. Cleet C. Cleetwood to consider further negotiations about possible lease arrangements for the gym at the former Eppes Junior High School. Two approaches were recommended — one to seek information on lease estimates for the building and adjoining nine acres of land; and a second approach involving only lease arrangements for the building alone.

Lee reported that earlier negotiations were now at a standstill as the commission's previous offer for a purchase price was termed by Dr. Cleetwood to "be so low as to be patently unacceptable."

Commission members gave approval to tentative plans to hold an area workshop among commission members of Greenville and nearby recreation commissions sometime in the spring. The workshop would be designed for a layman type exchange of common problems and comparison of approaches and accomplishments realized.

Farmville Central High School Dedication Is Held

ON THE MOVE—A family flees their home in Belfast Wednesday as firemen battle a fire in a bus depot in the background. A wall of the depot, which caught fire after a bomb blast, fell on a nearby house, injuring an elderly man. The flags flying from the houses at right are unionist flags, flown by many of the militant Protestants. (AP Wirephoto)

FARMVILLE — "This school building is important, it is a necessity, but it is not of prime significance," State Representative Sam D. Bundy told those attending the dedication ceremonies Sunday afternoon at Farmville Central High School.

"This building has but one basic and justifiable reason for existence and that is to facilitate and effectuate the teaching and learning processes," Bundy said.

"Except that these facilities are used to the fullest in behalf of sound, thorough scholarship and character development, the purposes for which this impressive school plant has been constructed will not be realized."

"Our task is to renew our commitment to educating our children," Bundy said.

"Apprehension must not turn to apathy. Action, not inaction, is the way out. In our backward look into history we noted that things happened when people became involved. This will always be true. Constructive involvement is the only approach to understanding, and understanding opens doors to solutions."

Mark Owens, chairman of the Pitt County Board of Education, said, "On behalf of the Pitt County Board of Education, it is my privilege to accept the dedication of this Farmville Central High School building."

"I believe that a building does not constitute a school but rather it is the sum of the county staff, teachers, students and parents. It is up to these people to come together to form an education system of which we can be proud," Owens said.

"By this acceptance, I issue a challenge to our people to use all resources and abilities to prove that we have an excellent system of education in Pitt County," Owens said.

Also participating in the dedication ceremonies were: Rev. Alfred W. Dixon; Pitt County Schools Superintendent Arthur Alford; Mrs. Chester Outland, chairman of the Local Advisory Committee, Farmville; G. E. Trevathan; Robert Pierce; Principal Russ Cotton; Rev. Marion Lark; and the Farmville Central Band.

Leroy Redden and Sam O. Worthington Jr. are assistant principals at Farmville Central. Located on a 42.80 acre site, the Farmville Central facility contains 121,859 square feet and cost a total of $1,911,035 (less furniture, fees and movable equipment). The facility has a pupil capacity of 1,050 students, a lunchroom with a seating capacity of 400 and an auditorium that will seat 396 people.

Dudley and Shoe Architects of Greenville designed the facility and Dawson Construction Company, Inc., of Kinston, was the general contractor.

Rumor Campaign Aimed At Black School Pupils

A reported house to house rumor campaign Tuesday night in the black communities of Greenville resulted in a sizeable number of black students not attending school Wednesday or not remaining after reporting to school in the morning, according to principal Robert Allgood of Rose High School.

Allgood said he and school staff members were told by black students that either by telephone or personal house calls, the students were warned it would be best if they did not go to school on Wednesday, that there might be some problems.

A number of students who did report to school, the principal noted, evidently had second thoughts after coming to school and asked to be excused based on the reason they felt it would be best if they went home.

Ayceck Junior High Assistant Principal, Gene P. Baker also confirmed reports that junior high black students had been subjected to the same rumor campaign with the result that attendance was below normal.

Both principals stated no problems evolved at the school as a result of the rumors, which were said to include warnings there would be a bomb scare during the day.

A bomb scare did not develop, and conditions were reported normal at both schools except for below average attendance by black students for the day.

Attendance today in both schools were reported back at normal, with the usual number of absences expected this time of year due to seasonal colds.

To Offer Surveying Course At Pitt Tech

A new curriculum, surveying, is now being offered at Pitt Technical Institute, beginning this quarter, according to Joe Downing, extension director.

It is designed for persons interested in developing or upgrading skills to assist surveyors or engineers in land, forest, highway, marine, and other types of surveying.

Beginning tonight the course will meet on Tuesday and Thursday nights from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m., in room 124, new classroom building. Some Saturday morning field experience will be necessary but will be held to the minimum. The instructor will work out the schedule for the Saturday classes with the members of the class.

Cost for the course will be $10.00 plus cost of the textbook.

Present plans call for operating the new curriculum on a part-time basis, at night. Basic courses include the different phases and types of surveying, and Technical Math and Drafting. Elective courses include Surveyor Practices, Technical Calculations, Forest Surveying and Codes, Contracts and Specifications.

Individuals may elect to take one or more courses or complete the entire curriculum and receive a Certificate.

Interested persons are urged to go to Pitt Technical Institute tonight for the first class meeting. Additional information may be obtained by contacting the Director of Student Personnel or the Extension Division of PTI, Telephone 756-3130.

Textile Import Quotas Extended

LONDON (AP) — Extended quotas on textile imports were announced Wednesday by the British government, which said it is afraid more cotton goods would come into Britain from Asia because the American market is now restricted.

John Davies, secretary of trade and industry, told Parliament that the Dec. 31 expiration date on textile quotas will be extended, in addition to new surcharges beginning Jan. 1.

Record Enrollment Seen For University College

The ECU University College, undergraduate evening program at East Carolina University, has for the second consecutive quarter recorded a record number of enrollments.

During the recently completed fall term, 181 adults were enrolled in evening courses, and 150 adults are registered in current winter term courses. These figures represent increases of about 25 per cent.

The University College program, offered through the ECU Division of Continuing Education, provides an opportunity for individuals within commuting distance of Greenville to complete their first two years of college credit with night courses.

The program also provides for persons who wish to take occasional courses for self-enrichment.

Credit earned in the University College is resident credit, the same as that earned in the ECU day program; and individuals who have never attended college may enter on the basis of their high school diplomas.

The program is approved for veteran benefits.

Adults interested in continuing their education in the University College should write the Division of Continuing Education, ECU, Box 2727, Greenville, or telephone 758-6321.

Exhibit Art At Pitt Tech

An art exhibit, titled "Figure Compositions," is currently on display in the Pitt Technical Institute Library.

The exhibit is a group of reproductions of outstanding paintings in the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D. C.

Included in the "Figure Compositions" are The Adoration of the Magi by Botticelli, St. George and the Dragon by Raphael, Laocoon by El Greco, Holy Family on the Steps by Poussin, Apollo Pursuing Daphne by Tiepolo, The Picnic after the Hunt by Lancret, The Artist's Studio by Corot, The Biglen Brothers Racing by Eakins, Gare Saint-Lazare by Manet, The Boating Party by Cassatt, Quadrille at the Moulin Rouge by Toulouse-Lautrec, and The Lovers by Picasso.

The 12 paintings, ranging from the Renaissance to this century, show the major stylistic changes in Western art. The figure composition, calling for great versatility, has always been considered the artist's greatest challenge and achievement.

Open Monday-Thursday, 8:00 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. and from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Friday, the Library is located on the third floor of the new classroom building.

'Bedside Medicine' Aiding Transplants

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science
Editor

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP) — "A return to bedside medicine" is credited here with helping more people live longer with borrowed hearts.

Here means the Stanford University Medical Center where Dr. Norman E. Shumway and associates have performed 37 heart transplants, more than any other team in the world.

And at least half these new-heart recipients are living for a year or more, more than double the percentage achieved here four years ago.

Indeed, 15 out of the 37 are alive, including 11 out of 12 given hearts in 1970, and seven out of eight with hearts transplanted so far this year. Results are improving, says Shumway, at a time when some other surgical teams have at least temporarily suspended heart transplantation.

"Bedside medicine," Shumway explained in a recent interview, means careful attention, seeing the patient at least twice a day, using all available tests to look for the very first signs the patient may be starting to reject the new heart.

If rejection is beginning, quick steps are taken. Dosages of antirejection medicine are increased, and this way "95 percent of all rejection episodes can be halted and reversed," before damage occurs to the new heart.

"We are bringing bedside medicine back to its proper place," says Shumway, a relaxed, soft-spoken surgeon whose laboratory was the cradle of much of the knowledge, from animal experiments, that opened the door to human heart transplants.

Four years ago, on Dec. 3, 1967, burst the stunning news that a man's ailing heart had been cut out of his body and replaced with the healthy heart of a young woman killed in an automobile accident a few hours before.

The surgical era of transplant hearts had begun. The accolade of being first went to young Dr. Christiaan N. Barnard of Cape Town, South Africa, who has done seven more transplants since then. Initially, surgeons rushed into attempts to help people with diseased hearts, with 99 men and women in 17 countries being given new hearts during 1968, an Associated Press tally shows. At last reports, 12 are still living.

In the next year, 47 people received new hearts, but the annual number has declined—except for operations at Stanford. The American Heart Association reports a worldwide total of 180 heart transplants in the four years with 30 survivors.

Enthusiasm waned in face of the stark roadblock of the immune reaction, the fact that the human body tries to throw out a transplanted heart much the same way as it defends itself against an invading virus or bug of the common cold, flu or other disease.

But Shumway and associates quietly persevered, and "our patients are doing better now, though we're not quite sure why. We know that if a patient can go for six months, with no problem from rejection, the number of rejection episodes diminishes.

"Something happens to reduce the reactivity between the patient and the transplanted heart. The body seems to say, 'Okay, you're here and you mean business, so you're here to stay.' Some kind of acceptance or tolerance is worked out."

Shumway thinks time will bring more people wanting heart transplants, some because they have benefitted for a time from surgery that takes a vein from the thigh and makes it a bypass channel for obstructed arteries carrying blood to the heart muscle. New hearts are still expensive. The hospital cost for a first admission that may last for months runs to about $22,000, and there is no way to estimate professional fees, says Shumway. A federal grant of $250,000 a year to the medical center helps defray costs, and medical or hospital insurance pays for quite a few patients.

But for some, the rewards of extended life are considerable. The longest-lived patient is Louis B. Russell Jr., Cleveland, who was given a new heart in Richmond, Va., by Dr. Richard Lower on Aug. 24, 1968.

There are pessimists about future of heart transplants—at least until scientists discover how to disarm the rejection mechanism selectively, so a heart can be welcomed in a new body.

But others, including Shumway, think long-term beneficiaries even before then may become a majority, not a handful.

Order Increase Of Intrastate Telephone Rates

RALEIGH (AP) — More than 30 North Carolina telephone companies have been ordered to increase their intrastate toll rates Dec. 13 to the same amounts being charged by Southern Bell Telephone Co.

The order by the North Carolina Utilities Commission will mean rate hikes of varying amounts for customers of the state's smaller telephone firms.

The action is an attempt by the commission to return to its longtime policy of maintaining uniform intrastate rates, upset by an August order granting Southern Bell higher rates.

Because Southern Bell has the major share of telecommunications equipment in the state and toll revenues earned by other companies are either reported to or collected by it, the whole delicate rate structure was thrown out of balance.

At a hearing Oct. 28, spokesman for various telephone companies noted that persons calling from the Bell system to another city outside the system often had to pay a different rate than persons calling from the second city back into the Bell system.

The commission said disparity in toll rates results in an "unmanageable number" of intrastate tariffs, creates operating problems and confusion for subscribers and ultimately means higher costs for rate payers.

Under agreements between the companies, toll revenues are handled by Southern Bell and later apportioned according to the money each company is entitled to receive for services rendered.

In its order the commission directed General Telephone Co. of the Southeast, North Carolina Telephone Co. and Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Co. to file data showing the revenue effects of the higher intrastate rates. The commission said it wants to consider this new revenue along with pending rate cases involving the three firms.

GET RHYTHM
MANILA (UPI)—The Philippine National Economic Council and the U.S. Agency for International Development (AID) have approved a one-year family planning program which will promote the rhythm method among couples in the rural areas of the nation.

Views Differ On N.C. Economy

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Two North Carolina banks have different ideas about the performance of the state's economy in October.

North Carolina National Bank said Wednesday its "Trendicator" showed an increase to 119.8 from September's 119.5. Wachovia Bank and Trust Co. said last week its North Carolina Index showed a decline to 115.2 from 115.4 in September.

Both institutions say economists prepare their reports on the basis of new car sales, employment, personal income and other statistics that show the general direction of the economy in North Carolina.

Christmas Shopping Time Busy Days For Burglars

NEW YORK (UPI)—It's better to be taken than to give, say the burglars of the land at Christmas shopping time.

If you're not careful some of those presents you tote in a shopping bag may wind up under someone else's tree—the burglar's. The thieves lift from shopping bags in department stores, at bus stops, on buses.

Pickpockets find the hectic shopping daze engulfing many shoppers much to their delight, too. With all the crowding, bumping and pushing that goes on in stores one hardly notices when the thieves help themselves, with a touch that's lighter than elves'.

The professional sneaks also are attracted to homes during this merry season. December is the favorite month of burglars, as any experienced detective on a burglary detail can testify. So you've got to take extra precautions on the home front, too.

What attracts them: The homes loaded with gifts. What helps them: The added hours of darkness, made to order for a thief. What else aids them: The increased numbers of strangers in neighborhoods as deliveries of packages from stores pick up. People grow accustomed to seeing unfamiliar faces.

There are many ways to thwart a would-be burglar or pickpocket, according to Stephen Jance, of CNA-Insurance in Chicago. Some of his recommendations:

—Carry a purse that's hard to open. A bag with one handle and a snap-clasp is a cinch for a pickpocket, particularly when it's slung over someone's elbow and arms are full of view-blocking bundles. More theft-proof are purses with tricky clasps and two handles, one on each side.

—Before starting out, make a list of all your credit cards and their account numbers. Keep it in a safe place, not your purse. That way, if your purse is lifted, you'll be able to report the thefts speedily and accurately to those who have issued you charge cards.

—Never put your purse inside a shopping bag. This is an open invitation to both professional thieves and amateur kleptomaniacs.

—With shopping bags, limit what you carry. The more overloaded the bag, the more likely a loss, either by theft or broken bag. Also, the more you carry, the less able you will be to keep track of everything. Your shopping will be more theft-proof if you have some packages sent to your home.

Tips for burglar-proofing your home include: —Make sure all doors, especially those leading into the house from enclosed patios, are well lighted after dark. —Leave lights on inside when leaving home. Lock all windows and doors. Lock the garage door, too. An open garage door is a sure sign no one is home. Also, don't close draperies completely. The closed drapes make a good screen for a burglar's activities.

Christmas shopping time is a good time to take your house keys off the key ring with the car keys. Then, when you put your car in a parking lot that requires you to leave the car keys, you can be sure no one will take an impression of your house keys. Some burglars harvest same for parking lots.

B-W Move Progressing

Burroughs Wellcome Co. announced that the move to new corporate headquarters and laboratory buildings in the Research Triangle Park will be completed soon.

The company reported that approximately 120 persons will relocate from the former State Capitol Insurance building on Hillsborough Street between Dec. 14 and 17. The relocations will bring the total in the new building to approximately 400.

Ground was broken and construction begun in August of 1969 with occupancy of the laboratory portion commencing in the Fall of 1970. Administrative functions have been carried on in Raleigh since the company's formal transfer of operations from Tuckahoe, N.Y. in August, 1970.

The new building is a modern design created by Paul Rudolph of New York City. The exterior walls, which slope inward at a 22.5 degree angle are covered with a beige stone aggregate. Special features in the building include a three-story lobby, 200 seat auditorium, training room, cafeteria, library and technical data center and a unique board of directors room.

Judge Robert Wheeler announced that no action could be taken on the parade violation cases until a ruling is received from the Federal Court.

Records show the holdup was the 33rd bank robbery in North Carolina this year.

North Viets Mauled In Cambodia Fighting Today

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — U.S. helicopter gunships and South Vietnamese troops battered North Vietnamese forces in Cambodia today, and a spokesman reported 73 North Vietnamese killed and 26 weapons captured.

The spokesman, Lt. Col. Do Viet, said there were no South Vietnamese casualties. It was the second big enemy loss in as many days claimed by the South Vietnamese north of Highway 7 in the enemy's Dam Be base camp area about 30 miles from the Vietnamese border. Another 39 North Vietnamese were reported killed Wednesday by South Vietnamese ground forces and U.S. helicopters. The South Vietnamese toll then was two killed and 28 wounded.

Col. Viet said it was the most significant action since the 25,000-man South Vietnamese force drove into eastern Cambodia on Nov. 22 to keep North Vietnamese forces away from the borders of South Vietnam.

The U.S. Command said American helicopters flew 400 missions, nearly all of them gunship, in support of the South Vietnamese forces in eastern Cambodia. But the only other battle actions reported were North Vietnamese shelling attacks on four South Vietnamese base camps and a defensive position in the area. Viet said only one of the attacks caused casualties and these were very light, with no fatalities.

H. C. Cranford, vice president of Blue Cross-Blue Shield, said that McMahon sent a telegram to Jordan Wednesday asking for an explanation and the estimated amount of the savings.

Cranford said his firm, which does the processing on a non-profit basis, will handle 1,175,000 Medicaid claims in the state this year at a processing cost of $1.14 per claim.

See Savings To Taxpayer
RALEIGH (AP) — The Department of Social Services says it plans to save the taxpayers money by processing Medicaid claims itself instead of contracting the work to North Carolina Blue Cross-Blue Shield.

The president of Blue Cross-Blue Shield, John Alexander McMahon, said Wednesday, however, that he questions the state's claim that it can make a savings.

The company received a letter Tuesday from John Jordan, chairman of the Board of Social Services, saying the processing contract would not be renewed after Jan. 1. Jordan said the state, however, wants Blue Cross-Blue Shield to continue auditing the program.

Jordan gave no details of the "substantial savings" he said the agency hoped to gain.

Meanwhile, some 250 U.S. warplanes attacked the Ho Chi Minh trail in Laos, keeping up the strong air effort to intercept North Vietnamese war materials and reinforcements moving south to Cambodia and South Vietnam.

With improved weather there is more truck traffic along the trail, and a strong U.S. air effort is being made to intercept and interdict the enemy," said one informant.

Scores of support planes also were in the skies over Laos, including rescue aircraft and escort fighters on the lookout for North Vietnamese MIG's.

One F105 escort fired a Shrike missile at a North Vietnamese antiaircraft radar site 15 miles north of the demilitarized zone and 15 miles east of the Laotian border. Results of the attack were not known, the U.S. Command said.

The command reported that the plane's electronic gear indicated the radar was tracking the plane.

It was the fourth such incident along the Laotian border in two days and the 88th American air attack on North Vietnam.

U.S. B52 bombers struck again in the southern half of the demilitarized zone at the junction of the borders of Laos and South Vietnam. The targets included storage areas and bunker complexes, the U.S. Command said.

The First Continental Congress assembled at Philadelphia Sept. 5, 1774.

East Carolina Downs Davidson, 67-57

Hey, Get Off My Back

Davidson's Joe Sutter comes down on the back of East Carolina's Ray Peszko during first half action in last night's game between the two teams in Minges Coliseum. In the background, ECU's Nicky White (30) has just pulled down a rebound and is getting in outside to another Buc over the outstretched arms of John Falconi. The Pirates beat Davidson for the first time last night, 67-57. (Reflector Photo by Tommy Forrest)

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

Offensively it was not a well-played game. The tension on the court and the torrid defense that was played by both teams had a great effect on the scoring. But when it was all over and the smoke had cleared, the myth of the Davidson Wildcats was destroyed.

For years, the Pirates of East Carolina have struggled to break the myth that the Wildcats were unbeatable by a Buc cage team. They have come close. But last night, as Minges Coliseum shook from the delighted screams of the Pirate fans, it finally happened.

The Pirates downed the Wildcats, 67-57. It was East Carolina's first win of the year after two losses against powerful West Virginia and Jacksonville. For the Wildcats, it was their first loss in two starts.

The win also boosted the Pirates into a tie with William & Mary for the early Southern Conference lead, both are 1-0 in the league.

Neither team shot well. The Wildcats hit on only 32.8 per cent of their shots from the floor, and their coldness carried over to the free throw line, where they got only 46.4 per cent.

The Pirates hit on 39.2 per cent, a little better, and made good on 65.9 per cent of their shots. And the foul line was where they really counted.

The Wildcats were charged with 28 fouls, sending the Pirates to the line 41 times, where they hit on 27. At the same time, the Bucs had four less fouls, and Davidson got only 28 shots, hitting 13 of them. The 14 point difference won the game.

East Carolina also outrebounced the Wildcats, 51-41. Big Al Faber had his second straight fine night on the boards, getting 15, while Jim Fairley played another strong game, pulling down 12.

Earl Quash sparked the scoring, hitting on 20 points, while Fairley added 13, and Faber and Dave Franklin each had 10.

John Pecorak had 10 to lead Davidson, while Mike Sorrentino had 10. Eric Minkin led the Wildcat rebounding with 12.

The Bucs got the opening lead in the game, as Faber hit just 15 seconds into the game. But the Pirates then went on a seven-minute famine from the floor, and got only two free throws in the meantime.

At the same time, Davidson was charging out into a 10-point lead, 14-4. But the Bucs came roaring back and finally tied it with 9:11 left in the period. Jerome Owens broke the scoring ice with a basket with 12:51 left, and Quash got a three-point play, cutting the lead to five. Franklin followed with a rebounding shot and Owens hit from the line, cutting the margin to two. Franklin hit on a jumper to finally tie it a 14-14 before Davidson could score again. T. Jay Pecorak put Davidson back on top, but the Pirates fought back, tying it twice more at 18-18 and 20-20 before finally moving into the lead for good at 22-20.

That came on a jumper by Quash with 3:04 left in the half. Fairley followed with a pair of free throws raising it to four, 24-20. Seconds later, Quash missed his first free throw of the year, after hitting 12 in a row, and Davidson was able to come back and cut the lead to one on a shot by John Falconi. Fairley got a free throw, and Ray Peszko added a basket to raise the lead to four, but a shot by Mike Sorrentino with one second left cut the lead to 28-26 at the half.

The Pirates came back and ran off four straight to go out by six, 32-26. Faber got all four, with one field goal and two free throws. Davidson cut it back to four, but two free throws by Faber and another by Owens raised it to seven, 35-28. The Wildcats refused to give up, however, and cut it back to four before the Bucs pulled away again, this time going out by eight. That came on two more free throws by Quash, raising it to 42-34 with 13:13 to go.

Davidson still fought back, cutting the margin to three. Steve Gadaire hit on a jumper and Minkin got a free throw. A jumper by John Pecorak then cut it to three, but that was as close as the Wildcats could come.

Baskets by Franklin and Fairley, and another by Quash ran the lead out to nine. Fairley followed with two free throws with 9:01 showing to make it 11, 50-39. Davidson again fought back, this time to within five on a basket by T. Jay Pecorak and four straight free throws, finally making it 52-47 with 5:27 to go.

But the Pirates then streaked away again, and this time went out of reach. Owens hit from underneath, and Quash added three free throws. Franklin hit a jumper and two more free throws by Owens and one by Quash ran the Pirate lead out to 15, 62-47 with 2:32 to go.

After that, the Pirates worked on holding the ball, but fouls and turnovers worked up the final 10-point victory margin.

"Davidson is a better team than last year," Coach Tom Quinn declared afterwards. "This is a tremendous victory for us. The defense was torrid on both teams. Both were picking up baseline-to-baseline. It was that kind of game."

Quinn praised the composure of the Pirates for coming back after being down by 10 early in the contest. "We respect Davidson as an outstanding team, the equal of those we've lost to. We're playing the type of teams that makes it tough on us, but it's also making us tougher. This is the third game we've been under full-court pressure and we're learning to get by with it." The coach praised Owens for his excellent field general's job. "His ball-handling was great," Quinn said. "We're asking a lot from him to do the ball-handling, play pressure defense, and all that."

He also singled out Faber for his fine job on the boards, and noted that Franklin continues to improve. "Fairley continues to play well. He's in the best physical condition since he's been at East Carolina."

"We missed some shots, but we made the important ones. We could have moved out there at the end, but we were trying to control the ball instead. We're still a very young team, just learning each other. We still need more experience together," Quinn added.

The Pirates get the fourth team in the "Murderer's Row" schedule come Saturday. They travel to Durham to meet the Duke Blue Devils, a team that came within a basket of upsetting 10th ranked Pennsylvania in its last outing.

Jaguars Take Pair From Southern Nash

FARMVILLE — Farmville Central High School rolled to a pair of victories over Southern Nash High School last night in an Eastern Carolina Conference meeting. The Jaguars won, 80-69, while the girls took a 41-16 win.

For the Lady Jaguars, it was their first win of the season. They pushed out into a 12-2 lead in the first period of play and were never caught again. They outdid the Lady Firebirds, 7-3, in the second frame, and led, 19-5 at the half.

In the third period, Farmville Central outdid Southern again, 15-4, and powered out to a 34-9 lead. The two teams matched points in the final period with each getting seven.

Gloria Pope led the scoring however, getting 10 for Southern.

In the boys contest, Farmville edged out by four points in the first period, getting 21 points while the Firebirds got 17. Oddly enough the same thing happened for the next two periods. Farmville got 21 and Southern Nash got 17. That upped the lead to 42-34 at the end of the half, and 63-51 at the end of the third period.

In the final period, the mold was finally broken, but it didn't help Southern Nash much. They did outscore the Jaguars, 18-17, but not enough to make any difference in the final outcome.

Robert Tripp led the Jaguars with 29 points, while McCoy Williams added 15. Charles Rasberry and Connie Tripp each had 11 and Melvin Bunch added 10.

For Southern, Marcellus

Thompson and Donnie Andrews each had 16, while Steve Bryant had 13 and Milton Mack had 10. The Jaguars host unbeaten Conley on Friday.

Late Surge Carries Wildkittens By Bucs

Tom Marsh played most of the final half with four fouls on him, but when he fouled out, it spelled the doom of the East Carolina freshmen cagers last night.

The Baby Bucs were in the lead by six points when Marsh finally drew his fifth foul, and the Davidson Wildcats came back to take a 69-66 victory afterwards.

The game was fairly tight most of the way, with Davidson leading by as much as nine in the first part of the second half. The Bucs had lead by as much as 10 in the first half of play.

After gaining the opening lead, the Baby Bucs went out by 10 at 14-4, but Davidson came back and finally tied it up at 21-21 and moved ahead. East Carolina tied it back up three times before the half, but the Wildkittens, behind the shooting of Sheldon Parker moved out into a four-point edge at intermission, 32-28.

The Baby Bucs fell further behind in the opening minutes of the half as Larry Horowitz and Craig Crosswhite boosted the lead out to nine at 41-33 with 16:32 to go. But after that, the Pirates came back and finally pushed ahead on a jumper by Marsh at 43-42. Mike Smith hit on two more to push the Bucs out by five, but Davidson came back again to regain the lead. The Bucs got it back on a jumper by Fred Stone with 10:11 to go, 53-52, and built that out to six at 60-54 with 7:22 left.

But shortly afterwards, Marsh fouled out and Davidson stormed back to tie it at 62-62, and then move ahead on a shot by Greg Dunn at 64-62. The Bucs were unable to catch up after that.

Horowitz led the Davidson scoring with 19 points, while Parker and Dunn each had 15. Stone led the Baby Bucs with 22, while Marsh had 18 and Smith had 10.

The Pirate freshmen, now 0-3, travel to Durham Saturday to meet the Blue Imps.

have watched from the sidelines the rest of the way. They outthit the Ewes, 5-3, in the second frame and led, 25-3 at halftime.

In the third quarter, the Pantherettes outthit Greene Central, 15-1, and upped the margin to 40-4. They did it again, 11-3, in the final period to complete the romp.

Debbie Pollard led all scorers with 10 points for North Pitt. Greene Central hosts Aycock on Friday, while North Pitt plays host to Southern Nash.

North Pitt In Pair Of Wins

BETHEL — North Pitt High School gained a pair of victories over Greene Central last night, slipping to a 49-47 win in the boys game, while rolling, 51-7, in the girls contest.

In the boys game, Greene Central slipped out into a slim three-point lead in the first period of play, 16-13. They held onto that through a tight second period that saw both teams dump in nine points. That made it 25-22 at the half.

In the third period, neither team could gain an advantage again. This time both scored 11, and the score climbed to 36-33. But in the final period, the Panthers pushed ahead, and then held off a late surge by the Rams to take the win. The Panthers outscored them, 16-11, in the final period.

Daniel Highsmith and Ulice Jordan led the Panthers with 17 points each, while Joe Wright had 11.

For Greene Central, Lacy Ward had 21 and Ervin Spivey had 13.

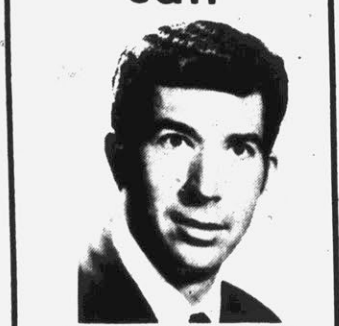

In the girls contest, North Pitt had it all wrapped up before the first period was over. The Big Orange Machine ground out a 20-0 lead in the period and could

Young Eagles Still Are Favored

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
(17th of a series)

ROBERSONVILLE — While Robersonville High School's girls' basketball team is generally felt to be the best in Martin County, Coach Churchill Briley terms the 1971-72 season as a rebounding one.

The reason is simple. He has only six lettermen back from last year's strong team, and just one of those was a starter, Jennie James.

"We're very weak in experience," he said. "You've got to term this a rebuilding year." In their first two games, the Golden Eagles didn't look like they were rebuilding, winning easily. But the third game saw them badly beaten as the inexperience showed up.

One of the biggest problems, aside from the experience, is the lack of height. The tallest girl on the team is Ruth Goins, and she's only 5-7.

"We've been outrebounded in every game," Briley said. "This is definitely hurting us, especially offensively. We come down and get one shot and that's all."

The team speed is just fair overall, according to the coach. But he does have good speed from his guards, Elaine Forrest and Miss James. "Both of them have pretty good speed and we try to run the fast break whenever we can. This helps make up for some of the lack of height." But shooting also hasn't been real good. "It's the weakest we've had in a long time," the coach said. "We have no real good shooters, and no one we can look to for consistency. In the past we've had someone who could score consistently from the outside, but we just don't have anyone this year."

For this reason, Briley is hoping that the defense will be able to do the trick. "It's looked fairly well so far," he said. "One of our freshmen, Beth Green, has done a good job for us on defense, and we hope the overall defensive strength will continue."

Currently, Briley is starting Misses James and Goins, along with Peggy James, Miss Forrest and Roberta Everett. Miss Green is listed as the top reserve.

"We have another girl who probably will be starting after Christmas," he said. "Brenda James has missed some games because of being sick and then hurting an ankle, but we feel she'll help us when she gets back."

Still, despite his outlook overall, Briley feels that the Eagles are probably the team to beat, as in most past years, in the conference. "Jamesville will probably be our biggest challenge," he said.

Briley, like most of the other girls' coaches around, likes the new five-girl, full-court rules. "It makes for a better game," he said.

For Robersonville to do well outside of the Martin league, Briley feels the team must hold onto the winning attitude of the past. "Desire will do a lot for us," he said. "And we're just going to have to hustle and use speed to make up for some of our problems."

Virginia Pulls Upset Of Maryland

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Yes, Maryland, there is a Virginia.

The Virginia Cavaliers were bigger than life Wednesday night, burying the fifth-ranked Maryland Terrapins 78-57 in college basketball.

Leaving no doubt as to their authenticity, the Cavaliers clouted the highly-touted Terps with a 67 per cent shooting percentage that built a 13-point halftime lead.

The bruising battle of Atlantic Coast Conference clubs highlighted a busy night of basketball, although only one other ranked team was in action.

Louisville, the nation's No. 16 team, ripped Dayton 88-60 behind guard Jim Price and forward Ron Thomas.

Kansas, led by Bud Stallworth's 34 points, pounded Notre Dame 88-72; Danny Beard poured in 23 to pace Kansas State to an 87-60 success over Texas and East Carolina defeated Davidson 67-57 for the first time in its history.

Junior Barry Parkhill, who scored 21 points overall, directed the hot-shooting Cavaliers to a 42-29 halftime lead over the heavily-favored Terrapins.

The crowding Virginia offense shut off Maryland star Tom McMillen. The 6-foot-11 sophomore sensation could only score four points, several below his average.

A six-point binge midway through the second half moved Virginia's margin to 22 points and Maryland was out of it by that time.

The winners finished with a 58.6 shooting percentage in the game.

Price had 12 of his 26 points and Thomas delivered 13 of his 14 in the second half as Louisville pulled away from a 32-31 halftime margin over Dayton's Flyers.

Stallworth's point-making helped Kansas' Jayhawks rub out a 34-33 halftime lead by Notre Dame; Beard hit nine of his 11 first-half field goal attempts to spark a commanding 48-27 halftime edge for Kansas State and East Carolina defeated Davidson for the first time in 10 tries as Earl Quash scored 20 points.

American Wants Finley To Move

CHICAGO (AP) — Some major league baseball executives are maneuvering to help Charles O. Finley break his long-term lease on Oakland Coliseum and move his baseball and hockey teams to Washington D.C., the Chicago Sun-Times says.

The newspaper on Wednesday quoted a "highly placed National League executive" as saying that the league is anxious to relocate Oakland because, "It's obvious that the Bay area can't support two major league baseball teams."

The San Francisco Examiner, meanwhile, quotes Finley as saying, "I don't want to say anything about it. I don't want to get into hot water here with the people of Oakland."

Robert T. Nahas, president of the Oakland-Alameda County

Coliseum Complex Board, said that Finley has "a firm" contract to keep his Athletics at the stadium for another 16 years. He said that Finley's California Golden Seals of the National Hockey League have a contract running another three years.

"I cannot conceive of either Finley or any other baseball's owners or officials attempting a move that would prejudice the good name of baseball," Nahas said in reacting to the published reports.

He added, "Our contract with the Oakland A's is a firm one. It is a 20-year contract which still has 16 baseball seasons to run."

The paper did not identify any of the executives or owners.

Lakers Capture 18th In A Row

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"As we win more games, we become more confident, we work harder and hopefully play better," said Los Angeles Coach Bill Sharman. "Winning also takes pressure off the team because our position in the standings is secure."

If Sharman's philosophy is correct, the Lakers are to be supremely confident and extremely relaxed—and apparently they are.

The rampaging Lakers tied the second longest winning streak in National Basketball Association history, holding off the surprisingly stubborn Houston Rockets 125-120 Wednesday night for their 18th consecutive victory.

105-104 with 7:38 remaining and were not beaten until the Lakers' Jerry West hit six free throws in the final two minutes.

West finished with 33 points, but yielded game scoring honors to teammate Gail Goodrich, who poured in 42 points.

"This team is winning because of enthusiasm, pride and dedication to hard work," said Sharman. "And also, this is one of the most intelligent group of players I've ever been associated with."

John Havlicek's 28 points, 12 in the first quarter, Jo Jo White's 27 paced Boston's victory and moved the Celtics 2½ games in front of the idle Knicks in the Atlantic Division.

Kevin Loughery scored 11 straight last-period points for Philadelphia, enabling the 76ers to stave off Cincinnati. Loughery wound up with 20 points, one less than teammate Bob Rule. Cincinnati's Nate Archibald was high for the game with 26 points.

Waters Under Attack At Duke

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Duke basketball coach Bucky Waters is under attack from some students who want him fired.

Mimeographed sheets were distributed among fans at Tuesday night's game with 10th-ranked Penn—which the Blue Devils lost in overtime, 50-49—saying: "The time for action is now. Bucky Waters must go."

Another was entitled "Fire Bucky Waters Christmas Carols."

Waters, 36 in a week, is entering his third season at Duke. So far, his team has a 1-2 record. In the past two years it was 17-9 and 20-10 and played in the National Invitational Tournament twice.

He said Wednesday, "I don't know how talented we are, but the players we have are team players and are giving 100 per cent. I'm pleased and proud of their performance against Penn. We can't ask any more of them."

Waters, asked about five players who have left the team in the past two years, said, "None...did so because of problems with the coaching staff."

The latest to leave was 6-foot-10 sophomore Dave Elmer, who has indicated he will go to another school. Waters used only seven players—three sophomores, two juniors and two seniors—in the Penn game.

Junior guard Gary Melchionni is out indefinitely with a sprained ankle and did not see action.

Panthers Sink Kinston Matmen

BETHEL — North Pitt High School's wrestlers edged past Kinston, 33-31, Tuesday night.

North Pitt captured the first four matches in the meet, then won three out of the next four to insure the victory. Kinston came back with five in a row at the close of the meet, but couldn't quite pull it out.

Summary:

98: David Brown (NP) won by forfeit.

105: Wesley Manning (NP) pinned Greg Manley, 2:58.

112: Linwood Brown (NP) decisioned Charlie Hardy, 12-5.

119: Andrew Daniels (NP) decisioned Jeff Taylor, 14-2.

126: James Nobles (K) pinned

Charles Jenkins, 3:58.

132: Ken Shaw (NP) pinned Fernel Williams, 3:24.

138: David Perry (NP) decisioned Jim Mapier, 23-4.

145: Ray Sharpe (NP) decisioned Harvey Cox, 16-0.

155: Gary Greene (K) decisioned Wilbur Edwards, 4-3.

167: Ray Rouse (K) decisioned Charles Wynn, 21-9.

185: Dennis Hogan (K) pinned Wayne Pearce, 4:30.

195: Gary Gardenhire (K) pinned John Griggs, 5:39.

Heavyweight: Charles Coward (K) pinned Jerry Howell, 2:49.

In junior high school action, Bethel and Belvoir wrestled to a 12-12 tie.

The triumph enabled Los Angeles to equal the 18-game winning skein compiled by the New York Knicks two seasons ago and put the Lakers within two of the NBA record of 20 set last season by Milwaukee.

The Lakers can move within one victory of tying the Bucks' mark by beating Golden State tonight at Oakland. The Warriors were the last team to beat Los Angeles, edging the Lakers 109-105 on Oct. 31.

Elsewhere in the NBA Wednesday, Boston whipped Cleveland 126-107, Philadelphia downed Cincinnati 115-109, and Baltimore walloped Portland 115-97.

The Rockets, whose 6-22 record is the second worst in the NBA, gave Los Angeles unexpected resistance. They led Baltimore, behind Archie Clark's 30 points and 10 assists, ended a three-game losing streak in beating Portland. Rookie Sidney Wicks scored 24 for Portland.

George Blanda of the Oakland Raiders has had 21 seasons in pro football.

Seek Modify Pay Board Rules

By-MICHAEL J. REILLY
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A joint committee will assume the task of bringing the Pay Board and the Construction Industry Stabilization Committee closer together in wage-control policies.

The development comes a week after the Pay Board took away from the committee the power to grant retroactive wage increases. Members of the board were reported upset at a large number of big pay increases and retroactive wage agreements approved by the committee despite the administration's avowed 5.5-per-cent limit on yearly wage boosts.

"Both parties agreed on the importance of Pay Board wage controls as a means of controlling inflation," said Pay Board Chairman George H. Boldt after meeting Wednesday with a delegation from the committee.

"The CISC indicated a willingness to continue to work within the framework of the Pay Board policies and to administer those policies."

The board and committee agreed to set up a subcommittee consisting of three members of each panel, to work out details of governing construction-industry wage pacts.

In Detroit, Henry Ford II said that if effective Phase 2 policies are carried out, he believes "the present slow recovery from the 1969-70 recession will build to a faster pace in 1972."

In his year-end statement, Ford, chairman of Ford Motor Co. said there is a danger the economic program "will do little to limit underlying cost pressures."

"If these pressures are not contained, either inflation control will turn out to be short-lived or profits will be severely restricted," Ford said.

In Los Angeles, a member of the Pay Board, economist Neil

Jacoby of UCLA, said prospects of reaching the administration goal of 2-or 3-per-cent rate of inflation are fairly good. But he said this would only occur with firm control by the Pay Board, "noninflationary monetary and fiscal policies by the Federal Reserve authorities, the Congress and the administration."

Jacoby said he believes the recent 12-per-cent first-year wage increase in a new contract for North-American Rockwell workers probably won't be approved.

Jacoby, one of five public members of the Pay Board, said the big 16.8-per-cent agreement approved for soft-coal workers was highly inflationary and appeared to have been made with the idea of achieving "peace at any price."

The North American pact, signed Monday, is viewed as the pacesetter for the broad aerospace field.

Continuing its string of price announcements, the Price Commission said Wednesday it had approved two requests for price increases, bringing the total to 104. Sixty-four new applications were received from 39 companies, making the total of applications 683 from 529 companies.

Nurse Receives $10,000 Prize

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Mary Lee Mills, 59, of Wallace, N.C., was awarded a $10,000 prize Wednesday by the Princeton University Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs.

Mrs. Mills is a nurse and consultant with the Community Health Service in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Six awards were given at ceremonies in Washington. The prizes were established by John D. Rockefeller III and are called Rockefeller public-service awards.

FREE WARMTH

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Let the sun shine in," and reduce the amount of fuel you use this winter, says the American Gas Association.

So, the association suggests when the sun is up, open the window blinds, shades and curtains. When the sun goes down or doesn't shine, keep the window coverings closed and let them form an insulation against the cold outside air.

Report $15,469 Income By Sheltered Workshop

The gross income from sub-contracts for the clients of the Eastern Carolina Sheltered Workshop and Rehabilitation Center for the year ending Oct. 1, was $22,900.

According to Howard Dawkins, director of the workshop, the gross income for the preceding year was $15,469. Materials used in subcontract totaled $5,500 as compared with $3,995 the preceding year.

"This year we paid our clients $18,281," Dawkins reported. Last year the clients were paid $14,944.

Dawkins stated a need for the facility to look for community resources and other financial resources for future assistance.

"Our initial staffing grant with Vocational Rehabilitation, was made with the expectation of the community assuming this full responsibility within a four-year period," Dawkins said. "The first year, the grant totaled $19,180.95. We have received funds allocated for three complete years. The fourth year, for which we have not received funds, will be $6,135.

"In this three-year period, there has been a substantial increase in salary cost, material cost and operational cost; therefore, I feel that we must look for community resources and other financial resources."

Dawkins said a self-contained evaluation program of the workshop will begin Jan. 4.

One of the highlights for the workshop this year, according to Dawkins, is the fact that 41 clients were placed in competitive employment.

The capacity of the living units at the workshop is 44 and at the present time 30 clients are living in the housing units.

Dawkins said the PTA at the workshop is proving to be a very beneficial experience for the staff and the parents of the clients. The PTA meets bi-monthly.

The intern program with the Mental Health Associates of Pitt Technical Institute, the Vocational Rehabilitation

Department of East Carolina University, along with the Pace and North Carolina Leadership Program have proved helpful to the program at the workshop, Dawkins reported.

"Additional subcontract work is needed so we can have a sounder financial foundation in order to employ more clients and provide a more diversified training program," Dawkins said.

The ash tree is sometimes called the "Venus of the Woods."

Tricia Sees No Generation Gap

NEW YORK (AP) — Tricia Nixon Cox says, "I don't think there is any generation-gap tension. I don't feel that there is any generation gap."

Mrs. Cox made the remark Wednesday while accepting a Salvation Army Association award that praised her parents, President and Mrs. Nixon, for raising their children free of "generation-gap tension."

The citation of merit cited the first family and its "children who are wholesome and well-mannered and who, with their husbands, reflect a lack of generation-gap tension and a refreshing absence of self-importance."

Temple Said Holiest In Hindu World

By HARIHAR KRISHNAN KATMANDU (UPI) —The Pashupatinath temple of Katmandu is to the Hindus in this Himalayan kingdom of Nepal what the Holy Land is to the Christians.

In terms of rituals and religious ceremonies at the temple, nothing seems to have changed since 2,000 years ago, where the temple is believed to have been founded.

Mythology says it was at the spot where the temple is located that Shiva, the Hindu god of creation and destruction and lord of the universe, came down from his heavenly abode in Kailasa (Mount Everest) and danced the terrible Thandava (dance of destruction). The dance won for him the hand of Parvati, the beautiful daughter of Daksha, lord of the Himalayas. All creation came from this holy union, according to Hindu teachings.

Pashu in the Sanskrit language means any living creature. Nath means the lord. Thus Pashupatinath translates Lord of Creation.

Master of all senses, Shiva shook his drums during his dance and thus created the phenomenon of sound from which came Sanskrit and other languages.

The temple is regarded as the holiest in the Hindu world stretching from Nepal to the islands of Bali in Indonesia.

Situated on the banks of the sacred Bagmati river, three miles east of Katmandu, it is elaborately carved in pagoda style, with gilt roof and massive solid silver doors.

Big Night
On the night of Shivaratri, biggest and most sacred festival in Nepal and neighboring India, hundreds of thousands of pilgrims flock to the temple.

Carrying a small bundle of provisions on their heads, they walk hundreds of miles for days to reach it to see the festival and offer their prayers. Some worshippers arrive barefooted despite the cold. Mothers carry babies at their breasts.

A naked, ash-smearing Sadhu, dressed only in his matted locks and flowing beard, was found lying in a pool of filth.

He was in deep meditation, a picture of health. Visibly disturbed when he was asked why he was lying there, the Sadhu muttered: "I must have loved this frame we call the body when I was young. It's a sin in the eyes of Shiva. So I must do this. Go away, don't disturb me."

Only Hindus are allowed inside the temple. They must walk in barefooted and wear nothing made of leather such as watch bands or belts. Leather is obtained from a living creature and that is taboo to Hindus.

Touts can be seen everywhere inside the temple exploiting unwary pilgrims.

Inside and outside the temple are hashish smoking Sadhus who will sell you that stuff for as little as 20 Nepalese rupees (less than $2) a kilo (about 2 pounds). The going rate for such a quantity in the West is perhaps more than $1,500.

Turned Land To Serve Wildlife

LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — Much of the credit for a good hunting season this year goes to Michigan farmers who during the last year turned about 65,000 acres of their land into wildlife habitat, reports B. Dale Ball, director of the Michigan Agriculture Department.

In addition, farmers planted 618,515 feet of hedgerow and 593,798 feet of field border which provides cover for deer and small game.

EXPANSION PLANS
DEARBORN, Mich. (UPI) — Multi-million dollar expansion plans for Greenfield Village and the Henry Ford Museum have been announced, including a 35-seat Early American restaurant, two perimeter trains, a riverfront street scene and recreation facilities.

Chet Atkins Will Teach The Guitar

By NANCY SHIPLEY
Associated Press Writer
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—An estimated 10,000 "pickers" will be learning to plunk guitars by mid-January—and they're being taught, in absentia, by Mr. Guitar himself, Chet Atkins.

The famed guitarist says he's been approached to teach guitar for years and years. And now, through his company—FAME, Inc.—he is teaching via an audio-visual system.

The method is already in nearly 60 markets as far west as Salt Lake City.

"Through the method, we have come up with a program that will work on a mass basis," he said.

"There are not enough guitar teachers and the guitar is what young people really relate to more than anything," added the master guitarist.

In a laboratory method, the students plug their guitars and headphones into floor stations and listen only to themselves and tape instructions as they follow illustrations on a color filmstrip on the screen in front of them.

A master unit contains a tape deck, amplifier-control panel and an automated filmstrip projector.

The system was developed by Famous American Musicians and Educators (FAME, Inc.) and founded by Atkins who serves as board chairman.

Up to 30 students can be taught in one class and the course covers 32 lessons. From the first one, the students play along with a combo on tape.

"Teaching budding guitarists, albeit on a mass basis, all reverts back to Chet's dream of trying to help kids learn how to play the guitar and his dream of helping them to learn about music," said Jim Atkins, Chet's brother.

Jim Atkins, a musician in his own right who back in the 1940s was with Les Paul and Fred Waring, remembers that when his brother was learning to play guitar, "he'd see someone's finger positioning and work for days or weeks trying to figure out what they did."

"Now, instead of taking months or maybe years to be able to play, through this system they can learn in a much shorter time," he said.

Jerry Glaser, president of FAME, said the course was tested over a number of years with 3,000 children throughout the nation, but it was actually introduced last spring.

"It's strictly for beginners and we think the benefit is that the beginning guitar player, after this course, will probably form his own combo, or he will just be able to play for his own enjoyment and others, but many will follow it as a career," Glaser said.

"Looks like we're going to have acres of guitar players," smiles the master.

Boards Meet

Both the City-County and Greenville Board of Adjustments meet tonight at City Hall, each with one item on their published agenda.

The joint session will conduct a public hearing on a request from Country Coaches, Inc. (Mike Buck) for special use permit to locate a mobile home court at the southeast intersection of Stantonsburg Road and Allen Road. This property, located outside the city limits, is zoned RA-20.

The city board will conduct a public hearing on Norman Eason's request for a special use permit to utilize a portion of his home at 301 Clairmont Circle for a home occupation purpose. An answering service for plumbing repair calls. The property is zoned R-6 usage.

MYF To Present Christmas Play

The St. James United Methodist Youth Fellowship will present a drama entitled "The Heart of the Matter" on Sunday night at seven o'clock.

The theme of the play revolves around the Christmas spirit of giving. White Christmas gifts may be brought to the service.

The youth will decorate their annual Christmas tree at the conclusion of the program. The public is invited to attend.

Sealed bids on confiscated firearms are accepted by the Tennessee Game and Fish Commission.

Aviation Pioneer Personally Rebuilding Old Plane

By WILEY MALONEY BOLINAS, Calif. (UPI)—Faces at the 1905 San Francisco Fair turned to the sky where 12-year-old Jack Irwin sat on a swing dangling under a hot air balloon.

collected his first "flying pay." From there the boy went on to have a place in the history of early flight, as a pilot and designer.

Jack Irwin is 79 years old now, and broke. But he's spent 18 years restoring a tiny wooden, 50-year-old airplane and he's going to fly it again next spring if it's the last thing he ever does.

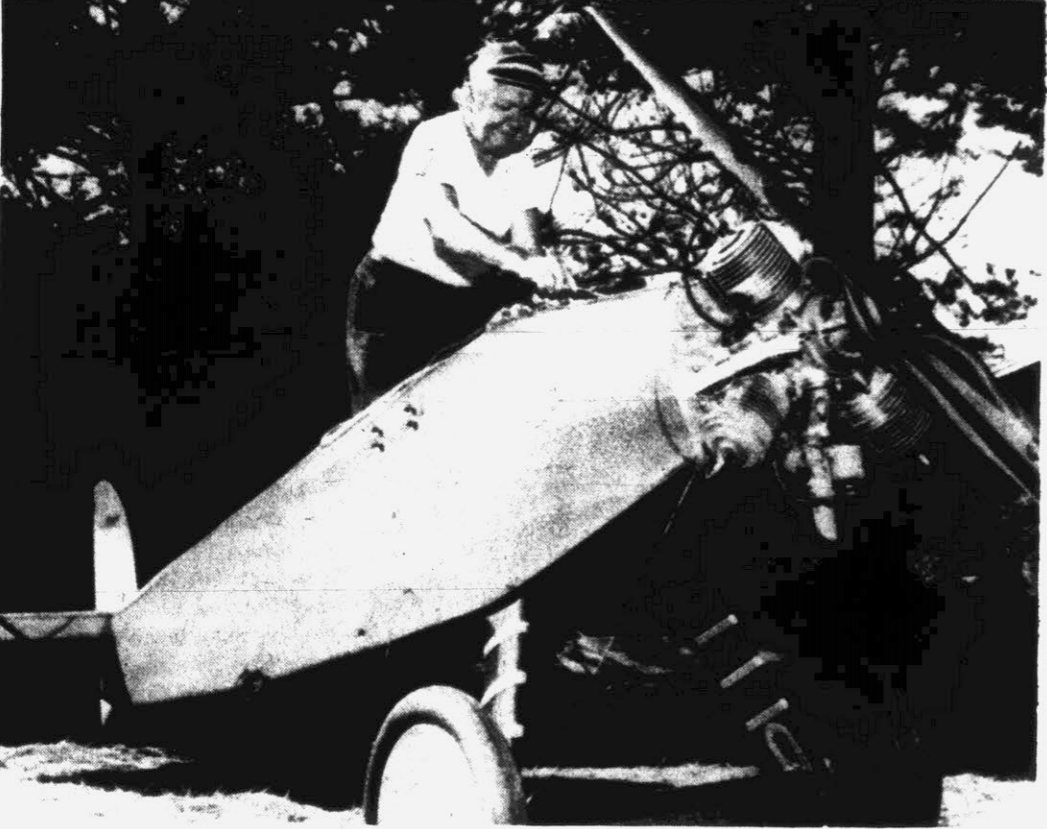

Why? "Well," Irwin said in an interview. "I designed, built, manufactured and created that plane, the first of its type. I'd like to see it in a museum—like Lindbergh's plane in the Smithsonian Institution. And I will. But it's got to fly again and I'll do it myself if nobody else will."

John Fulton Irwin, born in San Francisco in 1892, has been bugged on flying since 1904 when he fell under the spell of balloonist Jack Baldwin, who made a name for himself in San Francisco with the non-rigid airship, the "California Arrow." Irwin haunted the Baldwin camp doing odd jobs.

Then came 1905 and, "there was this balloon ascension and parachute jump planned at the fair that year," he said. I guess the guy that was supposed to jump got chicken or something, maybe drunk. The operator was hunting for a substitute.

"How much do you pay?" I asked. He said, "Twenty dollars, sonny. Cash on delivery." Hell, that was more than I could make in a year. I took the job. I got a $20 gold piece."

At 13, he decided to build a dirigible. Bedsheets began disappearing from homes in Jack's neighborhood. The Irwin basement was busy with schoolmates snipping, sewing, clipping. Once completed the huge bag was carried to the Irwin's back yard for inflation.

JACK IRWIN is 79, and broke, but he still works on a tiny wooden, 50-year-old airplane which he's spent 18 years restoring. (UPI Telephoto)

Irwin secretly tapped his home's gas line. It took two days to fill the 30-foot bag. The completed ship, which was supposed to look like a long cigar, resembled a huge lemon. A madeover bicycle frame was attached with a chain-driven propeller. Irwin took off in the craft, pedalling like mad. The craft rose slightly.

"There just was not enough power," Irwin recalled. "The wind caught the danged thing. It drifted into the hills ... luckily nobody lit a match. The newspapers called me 'The Boy Wonder,' but my parents gave me hell when the gas company turned in the bill at the end of the month. That's when I started thinking about other kinds of flying."

At 20, Irwin built a Curtiss-type pusher powered plane with a 40-horsepower Mitchell automobile engine; later a bi-plane, one of the first in California.

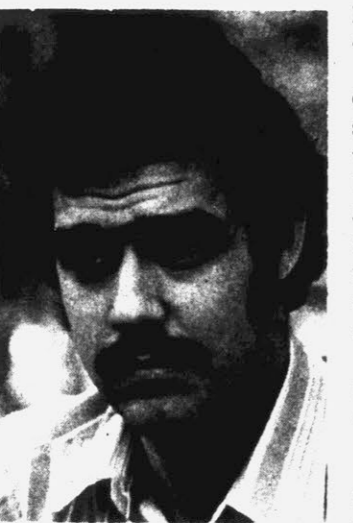

"But I didn't just want to fly planes," Irwin said. "I wanted to make them. But there were the barnstorming years. I made a thousand dollars one day at the Carson City Fair in 1914.

Door Is Opened To Fonda Troupe

TOKYO (AP) — Actress Jane Fonda and her antiwar troupe have been given permission to enter Japan for three days beginning Friday. Justice Minister Shigesaburo Maeo granted a provisional entry permit after the 33-year-old actress and her group filed an appeal with him when their official entry permits were denied by immigration officials. Miss Fonda and the troupe had been barred on grounds their planned activities in Japan were incompatible with their tourist visas. The group has been performing antiwar shows for U.S. servicemen.

Pledges Name On Primary Ballot

BOSTON (AP) — Eugene McCarthy has signed a document ensuring that his name will be on the ballot in the state's April presidential primary.

The Worry Clinic Words Carry Personalities

Wilma asks some questions that should interest all literate Americans! For words have distinctive "personalities," depending largely on the kind of company they have kept! Speakers, writers and even super mart customers should profit from Wilma's request.

By GEORGE W. CRANE Ph.D., M.D.

Case S-538: Wilma T., aged 22, works in an advertising agency. "Dr. Crane," she began, "I studied from your textbook while I was at college. "And I remember you stressed the importance of 'feeling tone' in the use of words. "Could you explain that more fully and also tell me why such trade names as 'Kodak' were created?"

Feeling Tone
Feeling tone refers to the harmonious "image" that you wish to create regarding your product or even your personality. In the latter regard, it is also well to heed the adage represented by the letters L-A-W, which refer to "Looks," "Actions" and "Words."

repeatedly, even though they didn't fully understand their meaning. For by use of such polysyllables, they thought they were raising their cultural standing in the eyes of their associates.

Note this classical example from my college textbook of violation of "feeling tone": "She was a skinny maiden." That word "skinny" suggests a freckle-faced sandlot youngster on a baseball club. But "maiden" has a poetical

Opening lead: King of ♦ Yesterday, we presented an example of correctly locating adverse honors as an essential ingredient for a successful campaign by the declarer. Today we have another example from a team of four match where one declarer made his five club contract whereas his counterpart went down to defeat.

North's two diamond overcall is a cue bid and is forcing to game. When he rebid two spades after South responded with two hearts, the latter was obliged to bid again. North relieved his partner of further pressure by raising three clubs directly to five.

West opened the king of diamonds and when a singleton appeared in dummy, he chose to exit with a small heart—so that declarer would have to find his own way on the deal.

One South chose to cash the ace and king of clubs in the hope that the queen would appear on the first or second round of the suit. When West showed out, the jack of clubs was led, permitting East to take his trump trick with the queen. Altho the latter could have safely forced out one of dummy's trumps by returning a diamond, he chose instead to exit with a heart to North's king.

South was obliged to use up his remaining trump by leading a club back to the ten so he could put the ten of spades thru for a finesse in that suit. West covered with the king and North played the ace. The queen and jack were cashed in an attempt to split out the suit. When West discarded a diamond on the third spade, East's nine became established as the setting trick.

At the other table, declarer adopted a more careful approach. Of the two outstanding honors in the black suits, he was more inclined to place the king of spades with West rather than the queen of clubs—on the basis of the latter's opening bid. Assuming that the spade finesse would succeed, he resolved to take measures to protect himself against a four-two division in spades.

After playing the ace of clubs at trick two, he continued with the deuce next—refraining from cashing the king. East put up the queen of clubs and returned a diamond. South played the ten, West covered with the jack and dummy ruffed with the jack of clubs. The eight of trumps was now overtaken by the ten so that declarer could lead the ten of spades.

West covered with the king, as at the other table. And after the A-Q-J were cashed, South retained a trump to ruff out East's nine. The North hand was now established and the only tricks lost on the deal were one diamond and one club.

Observe that had the clubs divided two-two, South would have surrendered a trick that he did not have to lose, however his contract would still be safe because the ten of clubs provides third round access to take the spade finesse and declarer retains a trump to ruff out the fourth spade to establish dummy's long card in the suit.

If a girl is dressed attractively but then acts vulgarly, she may also employ a cultured vocabulary but violates the "A" in that formula.

Again, she may look stunning and act properly but if she uses profanity, then there is a jarring or discordant effect.

So your "Looks, Actions and Words" need to harmonize or you will arouse doubt and suspicion. Words derive their distinctive "feeling tone" depending largely on their previous use and the company they keep.

As a rule, ignorant, uncouth people indulge in an excess of four-letter words, whereas college graduates tend to employ a poly-syllabic vocabulary.

In past years, many uneducated folks would thus eagerly size upon any big words they heard and try to use them connotation, so "skinny maiden" strikes a jarring note. "She was a slender maiden" would be more appropriate.

"He was a skinny kid" would likewise not be so jarring to the ears for "kid" tends to fit into that sandlot baseball picture.

Regarding the name "Kodak," it was composed of two nonsense syllables to produce a word not in the dictionary.

As such, it was thus available for registry (r) at our bureau in Washington, D.C.

For when a company coined a new term, not in the dictionary, it would then not violate the taboo against trying to register an English word in current usage.

"Sun-Kist" thus avoided the taboo that "Sun-Kissed" would have encountered.

Coca-Cola escaped that censure of dictionary terms by registering its trademark as "coke" spelled with a capital letter.

"For the fuel named 'coke' does not merit such a capital 'C.'"

ANOTHER P.I. PRODUCTION

By DUANE WILLIAMS
Voter Registration Program

Politics entered the scene at D. H. Conley this week as the voter registration program got under way. With the cooperation of all the schools, we hope to register young voters for the upcoming elections.

The presidents of the Honor Societies of the Pitt County schools met at D. H. Conley to discuss various programs and activities for this year. They also reported on the current activities in their schools. Schools represented were D. H. Conley, North Pitt, and Ayden-Grifton. After business was discussed and carried out, a short social followed.

Government Class Conducts Poll

The government class assisted by Richard McLawhorn is conducting a general survey of the students. The survey is helping to determine the political parties which meet the students' needs. Later in the year, the government class hopes to organize political parties within the school. This will consist of the young Democrats, the young Republicans, and whatever other political party would show enough interest to be organized.

Basketball and Wrestling

The D. H. Conley Vikings took over possession of first place in the Eastern Carolina Conference with a 72-69 win over the Ayden-Grifton Chargers. David Pugh and Dwight Hawkins took high honors with 22 points each. The girls' team and the J.V.'s made it a complete sweep with both recording easy victories. The Vikings will travel to Farmville Friday night to take on the Farmville Central Jaguars. Come on out and support the team!

The wrestling team under the instruction of Coach Steve Morgan opened the year with a victory over the Ayden-Grifton Chargers.

Coach Morgan states that if we gain much experience, we will challenge for the conference title. So as the sports picture looks now, D. H. Conley sports fans are in for an enjoyable time.

TOURISTS TO FINLAND HELSINKI (UPI)—The number of foreign tourists visiting Finland will nearly double from the present annual 2.5 million by 1975, the National Tourism Development Fund reports.

Picturephone

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — The older children can now "visit" mama and the new baby at Charlotte Memorial Hospital.

A Picturephone has been installed in a colorful booth in the lobby, five floors away from the maternity ward.

Six-year-old Marianne Reames of Charlotte and her mother were the first to use it Tuesday. Marianne asked her mother when the new baby girl was coming home, and how much milk she drinks. Her father, Craig Reames, also spoke with Mrs. Reames via the television and telephone arrangement.

The hospital decided on the Picturephone after a woman burst into tears when she learned that there was no way she could see her other children while she was a maternity patient. Children are not allowed on the maternity floor of the hospital to prevent spread of communicable disease.

D.H. Conley HIGHLIGHTS

By SUE HASELEY and ANNE DENSON

Mrs. McLawhorn's home economics students went on a field trip Wednesday.

Ayden-Grifton students who wanted to join the Drama Club met Tuesday afternoon. The members do not have to be taking drama.

Junior Varsity girls will have their first tryout practice Friday afternoon. Mrs. Pat Kilpatrick is the girls' coach.

The girls and boys varsity team won over Southern Nash last week. The boys' score was 46-40 with Milton Brown scoring 13 points, Jimmy May with 12, Melvin Stewart, seven, and Willie Stewart, four points.

High scorers for the girls were Jo Anne Dawson with 11 points, Deborah Harris, eight, Nancy Suggs, Maud Babington, and Wanda Wheeler, seven each. The girls finished with a 43-16 win over Southern Nash.

The Ayden-Grifton girls' lost to North Pitt last week. The boys won again with the score 62-50. This is their third win without a loss yet. The girls stand 2-1.

The Drama Club, Vocational Industrial Clubs of America, Future Farmers of America, Foreign Language Club and the Chorus met for the first time Wednesday, for organizational purposes.

The clubs at Ayden-Grifton will work on an activity schedule. Every Wednesday, 30 minutes will be set aside for club meetings.

Clubs will have certain activity periods each month to conduct their meetings. Several clubs will have to meet on the same day due to a lack of time. Therefore, a student can be a member of no more than four clubs.

The Betty Crocker Search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow Scholarship test was given to interested girls Wednesday.

The girl making the highest score from each school will receive an award. The State Homemaker of Tomorrow will receive a $1,500 scholarship and the All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow will receive a $5,000 scholarship.

PGEF Will Make Debut Ask Another Head Panel

RALEIGH (AP) — A civil rights leader has asked Gov. Bob Scott to appoint "a fair and impartial citizen" to head a task force on school unrest, saying that the governor is unsuitable for the job himself.

"Your lack of understanding of the real causes of unrest and tension in the public schools makes you unsuitable to chair the task force," said the Rev. Leon White of Raleigh, executive director of the North Carolina-Virginia Commission for Racial Justice, in a telegram to Scott Wednesday.

White suggested that a man such as Brooks Hayes, chairman of the N.C. Human Relations Commission, be named chairman of the task force which Scott plans to set up.

"Public school disruptions are not caused by hoodlumism, but by white racism and by direct failure of state and local school administrations to act responsibly to black student's just grievances," White said.

ELECTRIFICATION MANILA (UPI)—The Philippines has inaugurated its first major rural electrification project. Costing $1.9 million, it will furnish electric power to 10 municipalities and benefit 130,000 residents in the southern Philippines.

Make more than a small gesture for Christmas. Give someone the largest album of the year.

Chicago's Greatest Hits

In Stock For Christmas

The album that captures April 5—April 10, 1971, when Chicago became the first and only non-classical ensemble to perform six nights in a row at Carnegie Hall. When every night was sold out. When every night they played all the incredible songs their audiences came to hear. And when everything was recorded live.

This historic event is now available as a very specially priced 4-record set that includes a colossal 4 ft. x 6 ft. wall poster, two giant wall posters (22" x 33"), a full-color, 20-page photo album, plus a special 50-state voter registration chart.

It could have been called "Chicago's greatest hits live at Carnegie Hall." The complete works. Live. On Columbia Records and Tapes

CARE Help For Bedouins

By MICHAEL GROSS
TEL AVIV (AP) — What do you do with 70,000 nomadic Bedouins whose chief source of income is smuggling anything from drugs to transistor radios across the rugged wastes of the Sinai Desert?

That was the question facing the Israeli occupation authorities after the smoke of the 1967 Mideast War had cleared.

The Israelis turned to CARE (Cooperative for American Relief Everywhere), the non-profit, non-political relief agency, better known for its work in feeding and rebuilding the remnants of post-World War II Europe.

Working with the Jerusalem government, CARE devised a program aimed at prodding the Bedouins into the 20th century.

As primitive as the sun-baked desert in which they live, the Bedouins for centuries have existed under tribal law, ignoring the various rulers of Sinai. As one observer put it:

"The only job the Bedouin ever knew was smuggling ... and they specialized in drugs."

"They carried the aromatic sacks of Lebanese and Turkish hashish on camel back from Amman to the markets and smoke houses of Egypt."

Said David E. Jack, CARE's newly appointed mission director in Israel, "We didn't want to put them on the dole. CARE, and the Israelis, had to find a unique and flexible way of building up a viable economy."

The scheme they devised is called "Food For Work." It entitles every Sinai Bedouin to a monthly CARE food ration in exchange for salaried work on a wide-ranging number of desert projects geared to benefit the Bedouins themselves.

The labor force is paid the equivalent of 60 cents a day by the Israeli Government, for work on roads, building and repairing schools, clinics and water systems, and agriculture.

"Some of the projects have failed," said Brooklyn-born George Menegay, assistant CARE mission director. "For example, the Bedouins just weren't interested in certain types of planting, or in fishing."

The projects usually are suggested by the government. When they are reviewed and approved by CARE.

"Our latest work project," said Jack, "is a plan to change the entire ecological balance of the desert by planting eucalyptus trees to hold back the constant encroachment of the dunes on roads and fields."

While CARE distributes its food rations, and sets up schools, the Israelis have set up a medical program. A mobile clinic insures that a doctor gets to each of the more than 75 villages every week.

"The Israelis have even brought in helicopters to fly sick or injured villagers to hospitals in Israel," said Menegay.

CARE's food bill—paid for by donations by Americans and Canadians—was $1.63 million for operations in Sinai from November 1967 through 1971.

An average of 62,500 rations were distributed in Sinai alone. CARE also operates programs in the occupied Gaza Strip and the West Bank. These were initiated under the former Egyptian and Jordanian authorities.

The Bedouin's "CARE Package" includes 29 pounds of wheat flour, vegetable oil and two types of high protein blend: corn-soya-milk blend, and wheat-soya blend, to offset protein deficiencies.

The ration is supplemented by rice, sugar and tea from the Israelis, and occasional CARE extras such as soap and coffee. Distribution is handled by 30 local CARE employees.

"Only about one per cent of our rations are resold to local markets," says Jack, adding: "The Israelis are fast to confiscate any CARE goods found on local grocers shelves."

As for smuggling, the CARE officials admit it can't be stopped completely. "But the Israelis keep a pretty tight rein," explained Menegay, "because they know that any man who crosses into Egypt can very easily bring back a mine or a gun."

Mixed Chorus Is To Sing Friday In Mall Program

ROCKY MOUNT — The Mixed Chorus from J. H. Rose High School is slated to perform at Tarrytown Mall here as participants in the Seventh Annual Christmas Music Festival.

Lou Hoffer will direct the group in its performance at 7 p.m. Friday on the Mall.

The chorus will sing Christmas carols and other seasonal selections.

They will perform beneath the boughs of the Magic Christmas Tree.

Choirs and bands from all over eastern and central North Carolina will perform nightly. Over 70 groups will have participated when the music festival ends on Dec. 23.

CHINA TOURS COPENHAGEN (UPI) — Danish travel agencies hope to start cheap package tours to mainland China in the autumn of 1972. A seven-day trip to Peking or China would cost around $200, according to director Anders Helstrand of the Tjaereborg agency.
