Families Of Eighteen Servicemen At Last Know They Are Alive

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

For the families of 18 American servicemen the edge of anxiety was eased today, the agony of not knowing was gone. Their men are prisoners of the Viet Cong in South Vietnam, but their men are alive.

"I feel grand, I can't tell you how grand I feel," said Mandy Davis in Clayton, Ala., after learning Wednesday that her son, Thomas, missing in action since March 1968, was among the 18.

"How would you feel if it was your son?" replied Jerhardt Mehrer of Omaha, Neb., when a reporter asked his reaction to the news that his son Gustave was one of the prisoners.

Some of the families had not heard from their men in years. One man had been listed officially as killed in action. Sixteen had not been heard from as prisoners previously.

The names were released by Cora Weiss, cochairman of the Committee of Liaison With Families of Servicemen Detained in North Vietnam, which serves as a conduit for mail from the prisoners.

Letters from the 18 were among 1,001 letters from 332 war prisoners brought to New York Tuesday by the Rev. Richard Fernandez, a member of the committee, from North Vietnamese and Viet Cong representatives in Paris.

In Omaha, Mehrer said his son was captured on Christmas Day in 1968. The only clue the family had to his fate came in 1969 when another American prisoner was freed.

The prisoner who was released had memorized the names of other prisoners including one "Gussie from Omaha." Since then they had let themselves believe that their son was alive, Mehrer said.

Since the summer of 1967, the family of Sgt. Alfonso Ray Riate has believed him dead. The Marine Corps listed Riate as missing for 60 days, then notified the family he had been killed in action.

"It's really hard to believe. It's really shocking," said Riate's half sister Zella Lovinto in Bell Gardens, Calif. Mrs. Mary Pepper, a sister, added, "It's really a good time of year to hear something like this—if it's true."

Mrs. Valerie Kushner of Danville, Va., wife of Army doctor Maj. Floyd Harold Kushner, said a telephone call from New York Tuesday was the first direct word she had received about her husband since 1967.

She said the caller told her that her husband had sent a Christmas letter. "Open it quickly and read it to me," she said.

When the woman caller hesitated, noting that the contents might be personal, Mrs. Kushner said she replied, "After all this time, what's personal any longer? Read it!"

A Boy Brings Help

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — His pregnant mother ill and no phone available in their little community of mountain homes west of here, 8-year-old Jimmy Evans ran three miles through heavy snows to summon help.

"If he hadn't gotten help, I probably wouldn't have made it," Mrs. James Evans said Wednesday from her bed in Boulder Memorial Hospital.

Jimmy, a second grader, ran down the Left Hand Canyon Road Monday trying to find a neighbor whose phone service hadn't been knocked out by the weekend's bad weather.

One distant neighbor, George Sibley, offered to drive Jimmy to a telephone but the boy, trained not to ride with strangers, ran back home to ask his mother's permission before racing back to accept Sibley's offer.

Finally Jimmy reached his father on the phone and the elder Evans drove home and took his wife to the hospital. "It was one of the most remarkable things I've ever seen a boy do," said Sibley.

Bald Eagle In Zoo Was Slain

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Someone shot and killed one of the two bald eagles in a Knoxville zoo.

Jim Caut, security chief at the Chilhowee Park Zoo, theorized a shotgun was fired Sunday, possibly from a car, on a maintenance road that runs near the large enclosure where the eagles were kept.

greatest confidence" that "sincere and deep love, with suffering for the Church, will be capable of bringing about constructive and positive results."

The pontiff closed his address by invoking Christmas blessings on "all men" and inviting them all to work for peace.

RALEIGH (AP) — Officials of Electric Power in Carolina (EPIC) say their plans for a fourth power network are "prodigious in scope" but electrical demands are so great the new network would not displace any existing power supplier.

Gary Tabak, executive vice president of EPIC, told representatives of state agencies Wednesday the $1.75 billion plan to build a fourth power network will pay close attention to the environment.

"Coordinated power agreements with other power suppliers will, I suggest, strengthen rather than diminish the roles now played by the existing power companies," Tabak said. Forty-five Tar Heel cities that have their own power distribution systems banded together with 29 rural electric cooperatives in March, 1970, to form EPIC. It would serve two million customers.

EPIC officials held a "get-acquainted" session with representatives of state agencies. Tabak told them feasibility studies on the project are expected to be finished by October, 1972. Construction of the first generating plant for bulk power sales could begin in 1973.

Tiny Bundle Of Christmas Joy Flew In, Too

By H. JOSEF HERBERT
Associated Press Writer

Another group of U.S. servicemen flown home from Vietnam for the holidays arrived in Chicago early today and brought with them a tiny bundle of Christmas joy—an 11-month-old war orphan being adopted by an American couple.

"We've been waiting for this for a long time," said Sgt. Jimmy Tope of West Union, Iowa, who carried the orphan off the plane after it landed at O'Hare International Airport following the 28-hour flight from Saigon.

Tope and the 247 other servicemen with him were greeted by about 60 persons, including Mr. and Mrs. Gary Allen of Bowie, Md., who are adopting the child.

"We didn't think this would ever happen," Mrs. Allen exclaimed. "It's just a fantastic Christmas."

Tope, a legal clerk at Long

Binh base near Saigon, was on his way home to be with his wife and agreed to bring the child to Chicago.

"We didn't have any trouble at all," he said. "The baby didn't even cry one time."

The Allens had been working more than two years toward adopting a Vietnamese orphan, but it was not until midnight Tuesday that they were informed transportation had been arranged.

"When we found out, we flew here (to Chicago) from Washington," Mrs. Allen said.

Most of the servicemen hurried through the airport's international terminal to seek connecting flights home.

Since the two-week stateside leave program began a year ago, more than 10,000 servicemen have used it, said Barry Shura, an official of Trans International Airlines, one of two charter companies handling the flights. Each round-trip costs about $400.

Other groups arrived at various points around the country Wednesday.

Tied Them Up With Pantyhose

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — A pistol-wielding man held up a Fayetteville bank Wednesday afternoon and tied up four women employees with their own pantyhose before escaping.

Police and the FBI said the man entered the Eutaw branch of First Union National Bank just before 1 p.m. He had an automatic pistol.

The man tied the women with their pantyhose and shut them in a restroom. Officers said he did such a thorough job that they did not notify police for nearly an hour.

Holiday

The Daily Reflector's Christmas edition will be delivered Friday morning.

The newspaper's business, advertising and news office will be closed all day Friday.

The regular Sunday morning edition will be issued and the newsroom will be open from 6:00 to 9:00 Christmas night. All other departments will be closed all Christmas Day.

Business, news and advertising departments will open as usual Monday morning.

Election Due For Taiwan

TAIPEI (AP) — Nationalist China's ruling Kuomintang party has decided to hold the first national elections since 1947, but details will not be decided until after President Nixon visits Communist China in February, party officials reported today.

The decision is a concession to intellectual and press circles which have been calling for political reforms since Nationalist China was expelled from the United Nations Oct. 25.

For 21 years President Chiang Kai-shek refused to hold national elections until his regime returned to the mainland and all Chinese could participate.

The official said the party's central standing committee at a meeting Wednesday also decided to postpone local elections that had been scheduled for May 6.

The Kuomintang will meet March 6 to nominate its candidates for president and vice president, who will then be assured of election by the National Assembly on March 20.

Chiang and Vice President C. K. Yen are expected to be the choices.

Fire Possibly Case Of Arson

BEAUFORT, N.C. (AP) — Authorities were investigating the possibility of arson in a fire which badly damaged the Beaufort Middle School early today.

Policeman Jimmy Willis said that glass, perhaps from a firebomb, was found in the back of the school.

A wing built last winter was virtually destroyed, and other portions of the structure were damaged.

The act provides for retroactive payment of some contracted wage increases that came due during the 90-day freeze which ended last month.

Whether those increases would be paid retroactively for the freeze period had been a bone of contention among Pay Board members.

Other parts of the act state: —Consumers who believe they have been willfully overcharged may sue for triple the amount of the overcharge.

—In future wage contracts, the government will not consider such fringe benefits as pensions, insurance and profit-sharing as increases.

—When the President exerts controls over wages and prices, he must also order regulations to stabilize interest rates or explain why he is not doing so.

Nixon said he does not interpret the measure to mean that a stepup in federal pay scales would take effect in October as planned. He said he has signed executive orders placing a 5.5 per cent lid on wage hikes for federal civilian workers and military personnel and to grant them additional raises in October would be "preferential treatment."

In the related rent thaw, the Price Commission gave landlords and tenants a complex set of rules which take effect Dec. 29.

The guidelines permit an automatic 2.5 per cent annual increase in residential rents.

Commission Chairman Grayson estimated that the average of all rent hikes would be no more than 3 or 3.5 per cent. He said the guidelines might permit some increases as high as 15 per cent, but he took issue with a Rent Advisory Board member who said guidelines would permit rent hikes as high as 30 per cent.

In other economic developments Wednesday: —The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported that the consumer price index rose by .2 of a point in November, the same rate as in October.

—The Interstate Commerce Commission rejected a request by the nation's railroads to impose a 2.5 per cent surcharge on freight rates Jan. 1, but gave conditional approval for adding the surcharge after Feb. 4.

—The IRS said Christmas bonuses will not be affected by wage and price guidelines if the employer has given them previously.

PINEAPPLE SAUCE

This sauce benefits cake delectably.

1 can (8½ ounces) crushed pineapple in heavy syrup

2 egg yolks

½ cup sugar

1 teaspoon lemon juice

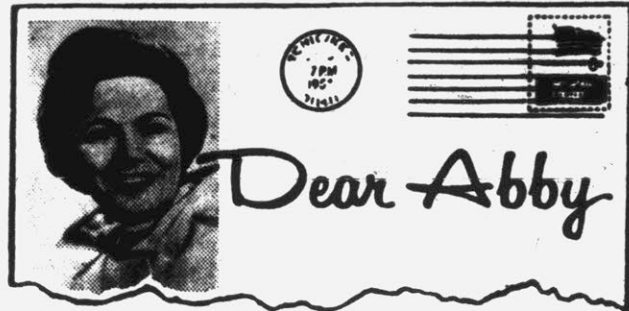

1 container (8 ounces) heavy cream

In a strainer thoroughly drain pineapple, mashing down with a spoon. Reserve ¼ cup of the pineapple syrup; also reserve the crushed pineapple (there will be ¾ cup). In a heavy 1½-quart saucepan, with a wooden spoon, beat egg yolks slightly; stir in the sugar and lemon juice, then gradually stir in the reserved ¼ cup pineapple juice, keeping smooth; cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly, until thickened—about 5 minutes. (Mixture won't curdle even if it comes to a boil.) Cool. Several hours before serving, beat the cream until stiff; fold it into the cooked egg-yolk mixture, 1-3rd at a time. Fold in the reserved crushed pineapple. Turn into a serving bowl. Cover and chill. Serve over slices of sponge, angel food or daffodil cake. Makes about 3 cups—about 9 servings.

Sleeves for spring are a fashion story in themselves. They include the widest range in many a season. Samples—ruffles, puffs, semi-raglans, kimono shapes, caps.

Five Cheers For The Idea Of Male Secretaries

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: To answer the lady who wanted to know what kind of "man" would become a secretary, let me tell you one kind. A man who was once a self-respecting mathematician at The National Aeronautics and Space Administration Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston, Tex. He was told that due to cutbacks he would no longer have a job unless he would accept a secretarial position. Due to the present economy and its lack of jobs, he accepted. Now just sign me

"FLO IN TIGHT PANTS"

DEAR ABBY: Tell ANONYMOUS that male secretaries, altho scarce and costly, are in demand because they are superior.

Males excel at deft exactness. All diamond cleavers are men. So are the best cooks, seamsters, and lacemakers. All telephone chief operators in the U.S.A. are males. [The girls who answer your "chief operator" call are only assistants.]

The big trouble is that most male secretaries eventually go on to more glorified jobs. My father told me that the most efficient shorthand wizard and most accurate typist and most dependable secretary he ever employed was Joe E. Brown. And no one who knew Joe would dare call him a "queer."

A. M.

DEAR A. M.: And didn't the late Billy Rose, the great showman, once hold the world's record for speed and accuracy in shorthand?

DEAR ABBY: I have been a private secretary to a top-notch business executive for 17 years. During that time I have never missed a day's work because of periods, pregnancy or menopause depression. Neither did I have to quit because my spouse was being transferred to another city.

And if the boss asked me to work late, or go to lunch with him to discuss business matters, I never worried about what my spouse (or his) or anybody else might think. I have also accompanied my boss on many out-of-town business trips without fear of gossip.

Can any female secretary make that statement? I doubt it.

MALE SECRETARY

DEAR ABBY: Wow! The things I don't learn from reading your column. Now, you've given me a brilliant idea. A male secretary! How stupid of me to have not thought of it myself. That could very well be the answer to one of my problems.

You see, I run a very successful business, and I could use a little pleasure with my business. My secretary has become very crotchety and complaining lately. I think I'll replace her with a MALE secretary. Thanks, Abby, baby.

FEMALE BOSS

DEAR ABBY: Until I read your column about MALE secretaries, it didn't occur to me that if I had a male secretary I could eliminate a lot of hassling with my wife.

You see, she is the jealous type, altho I assure you she has no reason to be jealous of any secretary I ever employed.

Now, if, as a matter of policy, I were to hire only MALE secretaries, that would put an end to all her foolish accusations. Right?

ON THE BALL IN ST. PAUL

DEAR ON: Not necessarily.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

President's Wife Is For Old Folks

PARIS (WNS) — Claude Pompidou, wife of President Georges Pompidou, has established the Claude Pompidou Foundation for old folks and youngsters.

"In our present society it is the old and the young who most need protection," she explained, then confided that she has already raised $1.4 million by writing letters four pages long in her own hand to wealthy people. At the opening of the first of five Paris clubs for the elderly she confessed, "I feel more at ease here than at official receptions where I sometimes know nobody."

Mme. Pompidou is now excited about the home for old folks that she will open next year in Tonnerre.

"Everything from the cafeteria to the movie house will be open to the young as well as the old," she said. "We must not close our elderly citizens into ghettos restricted to themselves."

Parents of the couple are Mrs. David Southerland of Goldsboro and the late Mr. Southerland and Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hines Jr. of Winterville.

The bride came down the staircase and entered the living room with the bridegroom. She wore a street length dress designed with a candlelight lace bodice and emerald green velvet skirt. The dress featured long puff sleeves and a Victorian neckline.

She wore a green illusion veil attached to a matching bow headpiece. She carried a bouquet of red and white carnations.

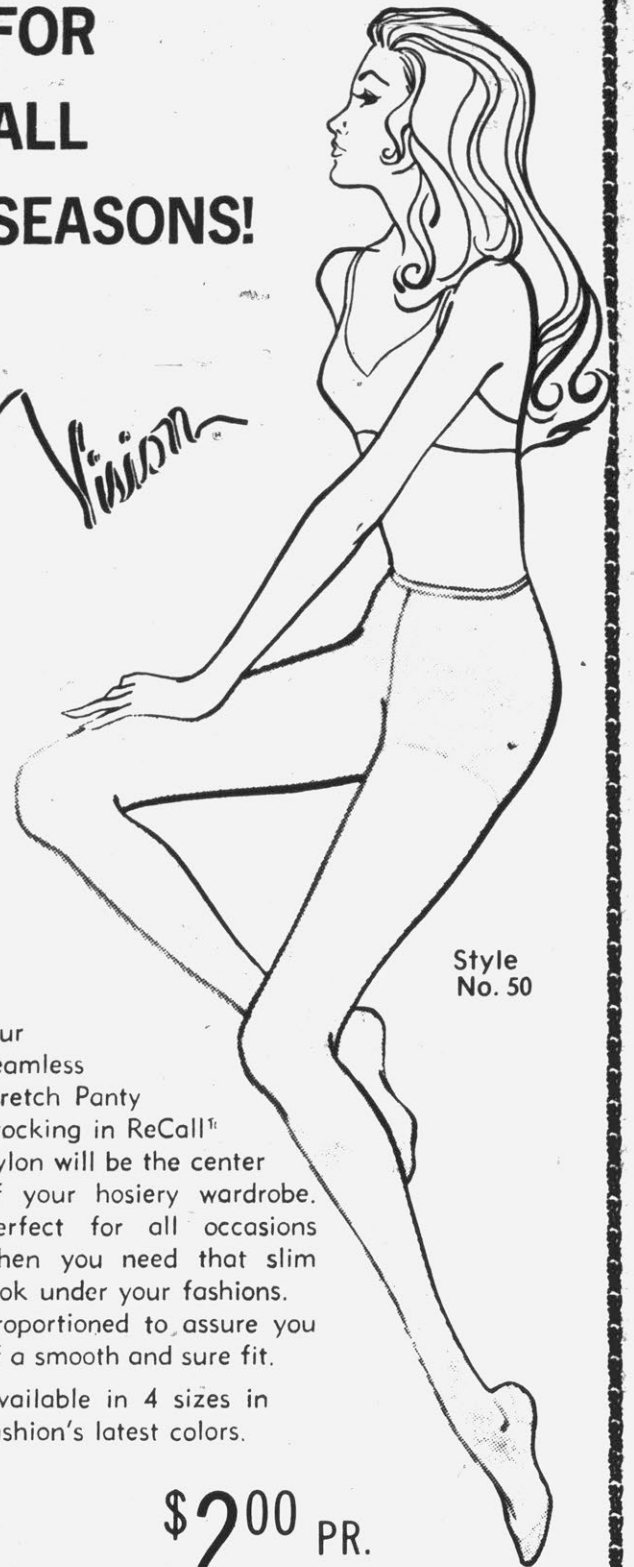

Following a wedding trip to Williamsburg, Va., the couple will reside in Greenville.

A reception followed ceremony at the home of the bride given by her mother.

Assure Safe, Happy Holidays

Christmas is a time of peace and tranquility. It is a time for visiting loved ones and renewing family ties.

This holiday season is a time for giving and sharing. It is a time while the merry laughter of children signifies pleasure at the gifts they have found under the tree on Christmas morning.

Christmas is a time when lovers gently exchange the gifts which they have so carefully picked out in the busy stores.

It is a time when even the family's pet dog comes in for a new collar or a toy bone.

This is a time for families to be together.

Christmas is also a time when many families are on the highways traveling to reunions with parents and loved ones. All too often the trip that starts off so full of joy and happiness turns into tragedy before the destination is ever reached.

Happiness can be quickly shattered by the grinding of metal, the crashing of glass and the twisting and breaking of bodies as vehicles collide on the busy highways.

Such tragedies are needless and they can be prevented if everyone will do his part to drive carefully over the holidays.

Cites Era Of Great Excesses

By JACK CHILDS
Duke University
News Bureau

Durham, N. C. — The things that trouble Dr. Joseph J. Spengler might be lumped into a category called "wretched excesses."

An internationally known expert in population studies, the Duke University professor has spread the message for years that the greatest threat to mankind is the species' own overabundance.

An economist and a teacher for more than four decades, Spengler recently began speaking out against the excesses in his own establishment, American education. What he sees is a system "shot through with mismanagement and waste, and facing a precarious future."

In Spengler's opinion, the vast amount of money being expended on primary, secondary and higher education — 7.1 per cent of the Gross National Product in 1970 — could be reduced by about one-fourth with a corresponding increase of $25,000 to $50,000 or more in the lifetime earnings of high school and college graduates.

Noting (happily) that the school-age population, booming over the last 20 years, is entering a period of decline, Spengler says the time is ripe to reconstruct and reorient the nation's entire education system to make it meet "the nation's real educational needs at minimum cost."

Cut Time In Schools
Declaring, "We use too much to do what we do," he advocates reducing from 12 to eight years the time a youngster spends in elementary and secondary school and from four to three or even 2½ years the normal time required for earning an undergraduate college degree.

At all levels, he maintains, there are courses that should be eliminated and others that could be accelerated. "It is also possible, at least at the university level, to reduce significantly the typical university's administrative personnel," he maintains. "Furthermore, by getting rid of proliferating classes, small and relatively useless, we can reduce the size of university faculties by perhaps a fifth."

"Teachers don't teach as much as they did 20 years ago," he says. "People are taching half as many classes and not doing a bit more research. Universities need to quit hiring faculty members and increase the teaching loads."

A second source of waste, says Spengler, is "overeducation — training a man to do a boy's job. We now try to put everybody through high school and close to one-half to college, although only 20-25 per cent of college age have the mental and moral qualities essential to college work. Actually, not over one job in 10 calls for a college education or more, and not over one job in three calls for more than two years of high school."

College Wastes Time
Many youngsters, he says, are wasting their time in college. "We need more people going to technical and vocational school instead of college. We need people who can fix things."

Overeducation is traceable largely, says Spengler, to a "monopoly-forming philosophy of Symbolic Credentials...College and high school diplomas are devices to win people jobs and guard them against competition on the alleged ground that certified credentials guarantee quality of performance. This is responsible for the denial employment to hundreds of thousands of potential workers."

Some professional people, such as doctors and teachers, are over-educated at the outset of their careers, Spengler believes. He says medical schools could train more physicians if they quit concentrating so largely upon training "more specialists than are required" and instead turned out more general practitioners to operate under group practice arrangements.

"After all," he says, "most of the bodily and mental ills that afflict people can be handled by general practitioners." Much college teaching could be done by people with master's degrees, he says.

Too Many Professionals
Waste in education, he says, also flows from creating and educating more professionals "that could be needed in a rational and efficiently run society." He is particularly critical of legal education and lawyers, claiming "they do many things expensively or badly which can be done better and at less cost to society and persons affected."

For example, he says computers could administer speedily and economically such things as workmen's compensation, liability and medical malpractice insurance.

What America needs, says Spengler, "is not less expenditure upon education, but a reallocation of such expenditure along more useful and moral lines. We need to replace our one-shot approach to education by a continuing lifetime approach."

Thoroughfares Make It A Good Year Here

As the year draws to a close, it is possible to conclude that one of the best things Santa has brought to Greenville are some highway thoroughfare projects to ease mounting traffic problems here.

The big Eastern bypass project, with a bridge across the Tar, got underway during the year. A portion of Greenville Boulevard multilaning was completed and the part from Frog Level to Memorial Drive is well along. The long needed Tenth Street project is under construction and the Charles Street project is expected to go out for bids next year.

Greenville went for years with little local thoroughfare construction, but with the coming of Gov. Bob Scott and Highway Commissioner Arthur Tripp the draught seems to be broken for this growing city.

Simmons Just Has Job To Do

By JOHN KILGO

RALEIGH — Eugene Simmons, the controversial new director of the department of Conservation and Development, says: "I didn't elbow my way to the public trough. I have a job to do and I'm going to do it."

Simmons, of course, has become the first issue in the 1972 gubernatorial campaign. He was appointed to the C&D post by Gov. Scott, at a salary in excess of $25,000 a year. Some critics say the job Simmons holds was supposed to have been abolished in the reorganization of state government.

"I've been working in politics for many years," Simmons said. "I'm rather thick-skinned. All of the criticism didn't bother me much for myself but it bothered me for my wife and children. I'm sorry they had to go through this."

Simmons resents implications that Gov. Scott paid him off with this job. "I've been in business since I was 12 years old," Simmons told me. "I didn't have to have a job. We're going to turn this thing around. There's a job for me to do in this office and hopefully I can do it."

Simmons says he strongly favors the reorganization of state government. "I stood at a press conference with Jim Holshouser and said as much," Simmons says. "I would hope that the next legislature, or a proper committee, would call me before them and I would have some ideas on how to streamline this department even more...how to cut corners."

(The press conference with Holshouser took place when Simmons was chairman of the North Carolina Democratic Party and Holshouser held a similar post with the Republicans.) Simmons says of his job: "I'm working at it now. I'm boning up on all the departments. While I served on the C&D board for eight years, there are still some things that aren't familiar to me. It's keeping me busy."

Did he have trouble with state employees in C&D, coming in under such heavy fire?

"When a new man comes in under such heavy criticism," Simmons says, "there are some career people who are going to look at him with a cocked-eye. I knew that before I accepted the appointment. But I'm busy meeting these people now, learning the names of their wives and children. Before I get through, I hope that people will know that I did the job I was appointed to do."

The Simmons appointment came under heavy fire from many North Carolina newspapers.

"All of these newspapers didn't skunk me," Simmons says. "I've not had one piece of critical mail and I've received about 150 letters and Christmas cards. People are telling me to hang in there or stick with it."

Simmons makes it clear that he didn't have to have a job.

"I'm not what you would call broke," he said, and then he laughed, "but I don't know if you ought to put that in the paper. My creditors would be around asking if that's the case, how come I don't pay what I owe them."

How long will Simmons stay in the job?

"I'd rather not go into that," he said. "I have work to do and I'm going to do it."

Strength For Today

AS THE BIBLE TELLS IT

"Now the birth of Jesus Christ was on this wise: When as his mother Mary was espoused to Joseph, before they came together, she was found with child of the Holy Ghost."

"Then Joseph her husband, being a just man, and not willing to make her a public example, was minded to put her away privily."

"But while he thought on these things, behold, the angel of the Lord appeared unto him in a dream saying, 'Joseph, thou son of David, fear not to take unto thee Mary thy wife: for that which is conceived in her is of the Holy Ghost.'

son, and thou shalt call his name JESUS; for he shall save his people from their sins."

"(Now all this was done, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken of the Lord by the prophet, saying,

"Behold, a virgin shall be with child, and shall bring forth a son, and they shall call his name Emmanuel, which, being interpreted, is, God with us.")

"Then Joseph, being roused from sleep, did as the angel of the Lord had bidden him, and took unto him his wife;

"And knew her not till she had brought forth her first-born son: and he called his name JESUS." (Matthew 1:18-25)

FIRST, THE GOOD NEWS...THEN THE BAD NEWS!

By J.J. KILPATRICK

Greeks Seeing A Light

It is a familiar part of politics, known to every student of the ancient art, that the people seldom have a choice between two courses almost equally good, or between one course that is altogether good and one that is altogether bad. Politics, alas, ordinarily offers little more than a choice among evils.

The trusim may be seen in Greece today. Since the revolution of April, 1967, the country has been dominated by a junta of right-wing military leaders. These are the famous, or infamous, "colonels," led by George Papadopoulos. Arrayed against them are the several left-wing counter-revolutionary factions identified with former Premier Andreas Papandreu.

If the people were in a position to make a peaceful free choice, what would they do? Would they turn upon the colonels and throw the rascals out? It seems highly improbable — not so long as their only alternative is to throw the Papandreu rascals in. With all its repressive aspects, the present regime is infinitely better, which is to say infinitely less evil, than the gang that would like to take over.

Two events in recent weeks tend to buttress this view. I have in mind the speech by Papadopoulos this past Saturday, and a letter — a curiously unpublished public letter — addressed by Papandreu on October 10 to a meeting of his exiled followers in Vienna.

In his Saturday message, the prime minister made several gestures that merit a favorable word. To be sure, he did not proclaim the resumption of a freely elected parliament; he did not invite the exiled King Constantine, much less the monarch's meddlesome mother, to come back to Athens; he did not empty the prisons of all persons under political detention. But Papadopoulos did announce the end of martial law over two-thirds of the country and he did grant pardons to 69 exiles, including both military and political foes, who may now return to their homes. It is not much, perhaps, but it is something — a small step in the right direction!

By contrast, one may contemplate the direction indicated by Papandreu in his October letter to his followers. For nearly five years, Greece has enjoyed internal peace, public order, and general stability. What does the leftist Papandreu have to offer instead?

He writes from exile in Ottawa: "There is absolutely no possibility for an evolutionary solution of the Greek problem." How, then, can change be achieved? Papandreu, taking a leaf from Richard Nixon, wants to make his position "perfectly clear." It is impossible, he says, for change to be achieved without "a dynamic armed struggle and harsh confrontation" — in brief, by

Books On Gift List?

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — A book can be one of man's best friends.

Unlike a dog, a book doesn't bark or bite. It doesn't have to be taken for a walk or fed. In fact, a book can feed you and take your mind on a journey.

So, if you are a last-minute shopper and are out of your mind about what to give someone for Christmas, why not give him the great gift of a book? It is certain to surprise him, and it may even please him.

It is more likely to do this if you select a book that is keyed to his interests. Here, for example—and all in fun—are a few books you might find suitable for some celebrities on the current scene:

- "The Exorcist"—Billy Graham
- "The Sensuous Woman"—Phyllis Diller
- "Wheels"—Any New York cab driver
- "Our Gang"—The New York Police Department
- "Honor Thy Father"—Producer Richard Zanuck
- "An Old-fashioned Darling"—Mia Farrow
- "Theirs Was the Kingdom"—The Democratic party
- "The Vantage Point"—Daniel Ellsberg
- "Any Woman Can"—Gloria Steinem
- "Don't Look Now"—Richard Nixon
- "A Rose for Virtue"—Gen Omar Nelson Bradley
- "The Winds of War"—Prime Minister Indira Gandhi of India
- "Flashes of Merriem"—Dick Martin and Dan Rowan
- "Talking to Myself"—U.N. Ambassador George Bush
- "Ring Bells! Sing Songs!"—Hubert H. Humphrey
- "Those Were the Good Old Days"—Lyndon B. Johnson
- "The Frustration of Power"—Spiro T. Agnew
- "Teeth, Teeth, Teeth"—Liberal
- "Trust Me with Your Heart Again"—Eugene J. McCarthy
- "Oh, How They Played the Game"

Dec. 23, 1931

Tomorrow night school children will visit the hospital and homes of the sick, sing several Christmas carols, and then return to Five Points to sing under the Christmas tree and watch Santa Claus parade majestically through the crowd determining the wants of the children. The exercises are sponsored by the Kiwanis Club and are under the direction of Mrs. Ray Tyson.

There is only one shopping day left until Christmas.

Price-Rise Pleas Are Coming

By ELMER ROESSNER

The substantial rise in steel and chemical prices granted by the Price Commission and the large hike in coal miners' wages granted by the Wage Board will generate thousands of additional requests for price increases.

COMMENT: These requests will not come until January. First, there is a lot of work involved in compiling a case for a price increase, and holidays will slow processing. Second, the complications involved in higher steel, chemical and coal prices are vast and as soon as one company calculates its need for higher prices, another factor will enter the formula and somebody will have to start all over again. Third, it will be poor public relations to seek price increases in the midst of the holiday season.

Justice Would Bar Bank's Taking Over Factors
The Justice Department has urged the Federal Reserve Board to reject the

First National Boston Corp. from taking over Crompton-Richmond Co., a factor concern. It added that the board should sharply restrict bank holding companies from taking over existing factors. However, it said that the board should encourage bank holding companies to form new factoring companies.

COMMENT: Justice may be doing bank holding companies a favor. Factors operate by purchasing and collecting accounts receivable. This is a valuable service in some industries, notably in dress goods. A manufacturer has to bring out new styles many months in advance and he has to sell almost as much in advance. Retailers order the styles they think will sell. Most manufacturers have to finance the making of selected styles. To do this, they turn over the accounts receivable from retailers to a factor, who advances funds to the manufacturers and collect from retailers as goods are delivered.

Accounts receivable are hazardous security for advances. Styles retailers count on may prove dubious; local conditions may hurt sales, and there is always the danger of bankruptcies. Therefore, factors must charge a high price for their services.

Many conditions can arise under which almost any business needs money to tide it over. Yet a bank will be unwilling to lend money if accounts receivable constitute a large portion of its assets. In these cases, it is common for a bank to refer a would-be borrower to a factor. But if the factor is owned by the same holding company that owns the bank, there is always a danger that the borrower will not understand the risks involved and suspect the holding company is simply trying to squeeze a higher interest rate out of the borrower.

"A Gift In Your Name"
There is a sharp rise this year in the number of companies sending out cards saying, "A gift in your name" has been sent to Care, the Red Cross and other charities instead of the usual gifts of liquor, and other gifts. Some companies have replaced Christmas parties with similar "gifts in your name."

COMMENT: Of course, a company can pare its costs of Christmas giving by making such gifts. A gift can cost only $1 or less a name, while a bottle of scotch, plus delivery, can be $7 or more. However, money saving is not the only purpose. A "gift in your name" card often elicits notes of thanks. There are people who think that business giving is wasteful and overdone. Some people resent the flood of liquor bottles. And the office party is definitely on the way out

Plan Christmas Eve Communion

Holy Communion will be celebrated at Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church Christmas Eve from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Participants are asked to come as families, including small children, share in Communion and pray for the family, and then depart or remain in the sanctuary for meditation. This service is open to all.

Billionaire Eyes 'Simple' Gifts

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Oil billionaire H. L. Hunt says he plans to give "my children something simple" for Christmas.

Hunt, 82, who plowed millions from the oil fields and turned those dollars into billions in investments, is still a firm believer in long hours of work.

Christmas Day will include services at the First Baptist church then "a quiet turkey dinner" with a son or daughter.

Hunt says his fondest Christmas was near Eldorado, Ark. in 1923. Hunt was drilling an oil well Christmas Day and had a sandwich for lunch. The well came in and Hunt called the day "a constructive Christmas."

Postal Service Trims Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Postal Service will operate reduced schedules and services during the three-day Christmas holiday period.

The Postal Service said Wednesday multiple trip business routes may be held to one delivery Christmas Eve, and only special delivery service will be handled Christmas Day.

Normal Sunday service will be in effect Dec. 26, with collections, post office box and special delivery services operating but no routine delivery or window services.

Plan Christmas Eve Communion

Holy Communion will be celebrated at Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church Christmas Eve from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Participants are asked to come as families, including small children, share in Communion and pray for the family, and then depart or remain in the sanctuary for meditation. This service is open to all.

Billionaire Eyes 'Simple' Gifts

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Oil billionaire H. L. Hunt says he plans to give "my children something simple" for Christmas.

Hunt, 82, who plowed millions from the oil fields and turned those dollars into billions in investments, is still a firm believer in long hours of work.

Christmas Day will include services at the First Baptist church then "a quiet turkey dinner" with a son or daughter.

Hunt says his fondest Christmas was near Eldorado, Ark. in 1923. Hunt was drilling an oil well Christmas Day and had a sandwich for lunch. The well came in and Hunt called the day "a constructive Christmas."

Postal Service Trims Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Postal Service will operate reduced schedules and services during the three-day Christmas holiday period.

The Postal Service said Wednesday multiple trip business routes may be held to one delivery Christmas Eve, and only special delivery service will be handled Christmas Day.

Normal Sunday service will be in effect Dec. 26, with collections, post office box and special delivery services operating but no routine delivery or window services.

Air Attacks Draw Ever Closer Hanoi

By GEORGE ESPER

Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. air attacks in North Vietnam drew closer to Hanoi Wednesday as an American fighter-bomber attacked a radar station 73 miles from the North Vietnamese capital, military sources reported today. Another such attack 82 miles from Hanoi Wednesday had been reported earlier.

Both attacks were made by planes escorting U.S. bombers operating over northeast Laos. They raised to 102 the number of U.S. attacks on North Vietnam reported this year.

The U.S. Command said that in the 102nd attack, an Air Force F105 fired a Shrike missile and probably destroyed the radar site 16 miles east of the Laotian border.

Although the U.S. Command said it was "a protective reaction against the hostile actions of an enemy air defense radar site," other sources reported that the radar was not one that could control the firing of surface-to-air missiles or anti-aircraft guns.

In the earlier attack Wednesday, the U.S. Command said the enemy radar was 10 miles from the border and had been tracking a bombing flight preparatory to firing. The command said two F105s each fired a Shrike, but the results were not known.

U.S. B52 bombers were reported making attacks in eastern Cambodia north of Highway 7 between Krek and Dam Be, hitting menacing units of the North Vietnamese 9th Division.

Senior South Vietnamese officers said the North Vietnamese troops, after inflicting heavy losses on Cambodian forces on the western side of the Mekong River, had crossed to the eastern side. Officers said at least one battalion was trying to outflank the South Vietnamese force in eastern Cambodia.

Cambodian forces reported a victory, however. The Cambodian command said reinforcements broke through encircling Communist forces and relieved the garrison at the village of Peam Chhok, on the Tonle Sap River 46 miles north of Phnom Penh.

In Laos, families were streaming out of Long Cheng, 78 miles northeast of Vientiane, after Communist sappers raided the airstrip at the base the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency operates there for Gen. Vang Pao's army of Meo tribesmen.

The attack indicated that the base 15 miles south of the Plain of Jars may be the next target, of the North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao forces who captured the strategic plain earlier this week. It was the initial thrust

Heath Secretly Visits Troops In North Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Prime Minister Edward Heath flew secretly to Northern Ireland today to visit British troops locked in a struggle with guerrillas of the Irish Republican Army.

British government officials refused to give details of the British leader's movement in the province wracked by 28 months of shooting and bombing. But they said no political consultations had been planned.

A spokesman for Heath said: "The prime minister has gone to pay Christmas calls on British troops serving in the province. He went this morning and he will be returning later today."

Shakeup Given Armed Forces

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Zulfikar Ali Bhutto continued his shakeup of Pakistan's defeated armed forces today, retiring the commander-in-chief of the navy and eight other admirals, commodores and generals, Radio Pakistan reported.

Vice Adm. Muzaffar Hasan, under whose command the navy took a severe beating in the two-week war with India, was replaced by Commodore Hafiz Ahmad.

Bhutto, who took over Monday from President Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan, retired the navy chief of staff, two rear admirals and two senior commodores. In addition, he retired three more army major generals, bringing to 14 the number of generals purged.

Bhutto on Wednesday announced restrictions on the nation's industrialists to stem the flow of foreign capital from Pakistan. He ordered the passports picked up of the members of 22 families "known to be the richest in Pakistan." He did not identify the families, but they are reported to control 97 per cent of the country's insurance business, 80 per cent of the banking and 66 per cent of industrial assets.

Still Probing Store Theft

Greenville police are continuing their investigation into the theft of a reported $210 in cash from a local grocery store operated here December 17.

According to Chief Glenn Cannon, James E. Collins Jr. of 105 West 13th St. reported to police that two masked men jumped him as he crossed the street in front of his home about 7:45 p.m. He said he had just parked his truck on the North side of the street and was walking to his home on the south side when the two men approached him.

He said one of the robbers hit him several times on the head, Chief Cannon noted. His attackers ran when his wife came out of their house in response to Collins' calls for help.

Collins was treated at Pitt Memorial Hospital for head lacerations and released.

The money, according to investigators, was contained in his wallet.

Traffic Mishap At Intersection

An estimated $1,100 property damage resulted from a 12:15 p.m. mishap here yesterday at the intersection of Memorial Drive and Airport Road.

Drivers involved in the collision were identified by investigators as Dorothy Ward Barrett, 26, of Farmville and Alex Bryan Hill, 71, of West End Trailer Park.

Damage to the Barrett auto was set at $600 while damage to the Hill car was set at $500.

Police charged Hill with failing to reduce his speed enough to avoid an accident.

BOMB THREAT

CANBERRA (AP) — Prime Minister William McMahon's residence was the target of a gasoline bomb today, but the fuse went out and it did not explode.

NYACK, N.Y. (AP) — Actress Helen Hayes has lost to burglars the famous emeralds her late husband, Charles MacArthur, gave her to make up for a time he could give her only peanuts.

Meanwhile, the government of India's West Bengal state announced that the more than nine million East Bengalis who took refuge in India will begin returning to their homes on Jan. 1 and that all are likely to be back in Bangla Desh within two months.

A spokesman said the refugees will be given sufficient food and money to care for themselves during the trek home.

A government spokesman said earlier this week that the refugees would have to return on foot—the same way most of them reached India—because it would be impossible to arrange rail or truck transportation for so many people. Most of the refugees are Hindus, and many observers think millions of them will resist repatriation since Bangla Desh will be governed by Moslems.

Commended For Action

John F. Gleason, chief engineer and fire marshal for the Bridgeport Fire Department of Bridgeport, Conn., recently cited a Greenville man for his part in extinguishing a fire there in October.

According to a letter written to the commanding officer of Battery B, 1-26 FA, A.P.O. New York, of which Capt. David E. Williams of Greenville is a member, the captain extinguished a fire set by vandals in the cab of a fuel oil truck on Oct. 9 and averted "what could have been a large fire of serious consequences."

The letter pointed out that the prompt actions of Williams, who was on leave from the Army at the time of the incident, were responsible for keeping property damage to a minimum in detecting, extinguishing and promptly notifying the city's fire department.

Williams is married to the former Mary Mizelle of Robersonville and they are presently assigned overseas in Darmstadt, Germany.

Youth Shot To Death In Holdup

WINSTON-SALEM (AP) — A 16-year-old youth was shot to death Wednesday night when three men held up the restaurant where he worked.

Police said Carl Creech died shortly after being taken to a hospital. He had been shot in the head.

The robbery occurred at Paul Myers Restaurant. Police said about 15 to 20 customers were present when the trio entered, one from a side door and the others from the front, and told customers to lie on the floor.

81-Year-Old Is Prison Visitor

DETROIT (AP) — A blind 81-year-old woman was Santa Claus for inmates of Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson.

Rose Richards took crates of fruit, candy and 50 brightly wrapped packages of clothing to the prisoners Wednesday, the fourth time this year she made the 85-mile trip from Detroit to visit the inmates.

Mrs. Richards was driven there in an auto. She makes the trip at least four times a year.

Three Drown In This Is Ayub, He Lost An Arm Trawler Wreck

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP) — Three men have apparently drowned amidst the wreckage of their shrimp trawler and seven others have been rescued from a flaming tug off the coast of North Carolina.

Uncertain winds and heavy seas kept the Coast Guard busy Wednesday answering distress signals.

The Coast Guard said the shrimp boat Lane radioed early Wednesday she was being driven onto shoals in Oregon Inlet by 30-knot winds.

By the time a Coast Guard helicopter arrived at the scene, the 58-foot trawler had broken up and wreckage was strewn for miles.

Two bodies were retrieved by the helicopter, but efforts to find the third member of the trawler's crew were fruitless. The bodies were identified as the Lane's operator, McKinley Kirkman of Merritt, N.C., and a crewman, Louis Harold Jones of Mayboro, N.C. The missing crewman was identified as Hubert Forscal of Merritt.

Late Wednesday, the tug Gaylor Palmer broadcast an SOS after fire erupted in her engine room.

A Coast Guard spokesman said a helicopter airlifted two injured crewmen from the burning vessel while five others remained to fight the blaze. The remaining five were forced off the tug a short time later and were airlifted one at a time to a light station.

From there they were taken to a hospital at Elizabeth City, N.C., where one was reported to be seriously injured.

The Coast Guard said the tug continued to burn into the night with the fires fed by the tug's load of 40,000 gallons of fuel oil.

The Gaylor Palmer had the bow section of a tanker in tow and was en route from Beaufort, N.C., to Norfolk, Va., when the fire began.

'Area 1' Plans Tues. Meeting

Another area of the 26 Citizens Advisory Committee areas in Greenville has announced the time and place of their meeting for the purpose of electing a representative to the committee.

Howard Shearin, Area Coordinator for Area 1, announces the area's meeting for Tuesday, December 28 at 7:30 p.m. in the American Legion Building. The American Legion Building is located on St. Andrews, just off Greenville Boulevard.

Area 1 comprises the neighborhood areas of Club Pines, Belvedere, Fairlane Area and Westhaven.

When the Citizens Advisory Committee was approved by the Greenville City School Board at its November meeting, a decision was made to have 30 representatives from 26 designated areas within Greenville. With the announcement of the meeting scheduled for Area 1, this brings to 18 the total number of areas who have announced meetings to elect their representatives.

Charter Plane Flying Scotch

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP) — Six thousand bottles of scotch—believed to be the largest whisky consignment ever flown out of Scotland—left on a charter plane for Bangkok today.

The $46,800 load must reach Thailand by Christmas Eve.

"They must have developed a raging thirst for scotch in Bangkok, because usually orders of this size are shipped by sea," said Michael Allen, director of Far East sales for distiller William Grant and Sons, who was given the order Wednesday.

The air freight is costing $15,600 for the Thai agent who wanted the liquor for "general distribution."

BONGAON, India (AP) — From his wooden hospital bed, 9-year-old Ayub watches the soldiers returning from the war. The soldiers laugh, talk and are cheered by the happy people on the roadside.

For the soldiers the war is over.

For Ayub the war will last a lifetime.

A razor-edged splinter of an artillery shell sliced off his right arm.

Ayub Ali Mangal, his year-old sister and their mother, Mrs. Anware Khatun, 25, lived in a one-room house of bamboo matting and corrugated iron roof at the village of Jagannathpur, not far from the border of India

Singaporeans Enthused Over Music Of Birds

SINGAPORE (AP) — They may not make the top of the pops but to many Singaporeans the sounds of the white eye, shama or red vented bulbul are more stirring than those of popular singers.

When they rave about birds, they mean the male variety of the feathered species.

Bird singing contests have become a favorite Singapore pastime. This year some 300 winged sopranos chirped in the national championships in a large Singapore soccer stadium.

It was a contest of voice, talent, beauty and grace. Grim-faced judges marked down points for the pitch and timbre of a bird's voice, a chirp's melodious quality, his head and body movements during the song as well as poise and grooming of body and features.

Birdowners, lovers and watchers, peered intently through the fence, eyes and ears glued to their favorite bird as he performed. Few voices were heard when the cacophony of twittering birds sounded for the finale of the two hour competition. Birdowners who tried to whistle their candidates in Bangla Desh, the former East Pakistan.

They had no electricity, never owned a book. Even today Ayub does not know what toys are. His village had no school. Ayub had not learned to read or write. He had never left the village and the paddyfield around it.

Almost every day he accompanied his mother to the fields where she worked as a farm laborer to earn 1½ rupees a day—18 cents. That was just enough to keep away hunger.

As he grew older, Ayub helped his mother plant rice and husk grain.

"We were very happy until my husband died," the mother says. "This was about a year ago. He was coughing and spitting and became very sick until he died."

He probably had tuberculosis, but she is not certain.

"We sold the land that we owned from grandfather's time to pay for medicine and the bus fare to the hospital. All the money was spent before he died."

With that, Ayub and the small family became one of the very poor and the dream of sending him to school was forgotten.

"A few more years and Ayub would have been strong enough to work alone in the fields," Mrs. Khatun said, "but with one arm ... how can he help me now?"

Ayub pushed back tears as he told what happened when he lost his arm.

"I was in the house with my mother when suddenly there were many shellings," he said in Bengali. "I cried when there was a very big noise very near us. My mother held my hand and we were running."

"I looked at my arm and much blood was running out of it. My head started swinging and I fell down. Then I woke up and my arm hurt. There were many sick people and my mother and sister were sitting beside me."

During the war days, as doctors operated on Ayub and sewed his wound, wards at Bongaon quickly filled with hundreds of civilian war victims.

A nurse found a blue and white checked shirt, trousers and a towel for Ayub and a dress for his mother and the baby.

A few days ago they were transferred to a postoperative care hospital of the Christian Association for Social Action.

That hospital, crowded with victims of war and famine, consists of three bamboo sheds with plastic sheet roofing.

Since his injury Ayub has lost weight. Several fever attacks weakened him. Then, for the first time in four days, he ate half an egg and rice.

Dr. Dilip Mukherjee, 26, who is treating Ayub, reports the boy still suffers from loss of blood.

"Unfortunately," he said, "we have no setup here to give blood transfusions."

The doctor said it will be impossible to fix an artificial limb on the stump where Ayub's arm was—"Only about three inches below the shoulder joint are left."

Ayub must stay in the hospital two weeks more.

Hold 2 For Bogus Bills

BEIMONT, N.C. (AP) — Two men from Fayetteville were arrested on counterfeiting charges Wednesday night after police said $1,340 in bogus $20 bills was found in their possession.

Neither Secret Service agents summoned from Charlotte nor Belmont police would release the names of the men pending completion of the investigation.

The police said the two originally were arrested on charges of public drunkenness after residents had complained they were sitting in a parked truck and honking the horn.

Police said when the men emptied their pockets in the police station, one bill without printing on the back and others that also were found to be counterfeit turned up. The other bills were of good likeness, police said.

Indians Lead In Cup Race

ARLINGTON, VA. — The College of William & Mary is off to a flying start as it seeks to capture its third consecutive Commissioner's Cup.

The Cup is awarded annually to the Southern Conference school with the best overall athletic record.

In the first year of competition William & Mary tied with East Carolina for the honor. In 1970-71 the Indians won the trophy outright. At the conclusion of the three fall sports the defending champion is out in front by four and a half points over second place East Carolina.

William & Mary finished first in cross country and second in both football and soccer; East Carolina as runner-up gained a second place in cross country, third in soccer and fourth in football.

In third place is The Citadel with 13½ points followed by Furman in fourth place, Davidson in fifth, Richmond sixth, and VMI in the seventh position.

Championship winners in addition to William & Mary were Richmond in football and Davidson in soccer.

The Winter Sports Competition is now underway in four (4) sports: basketball, indoor track, rifle and wrestling.

POINT TOTALS FOR THREE FALL SPORTS

	Football	Cross Country	Soccer	Totals
1. William & Mary	6	7	6	19
2. East Carolina	4	6	4½	14½
3. The Citadel	5	4	4½	13½
4. Furman	3	5	3	11
5. Davidson	1	2	7	10
6. Richmond	7	—	—	7
7. V.M.I.	2	3	—	5

Eau Claire Is Making Move

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wisconsin-Eau Claire's basketball team now is the top challenger for Kentucky State's No. 1 ranking and will soon have a first-hand opportunity to deliver the knockout blow.

Eau Claire, which added two more victories to its undefeated record last week, bumped Evansville out of second place Wednesday in the college division poll.

A nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters gave Eau Claire five first-place votes for 266 points and the Wisconsin Team climbed within 14 points of Kentucky State's 280.

The teams meet in a holiday tournament Dec. 29-30 with the top ranking at stake.

Kentucky State, who defeated Marquette College 114-90 last week, garnered seven No. 1 ballots.

Evansville lost its runnerup ranking after losing two games — 72-63 to Seattle Pacific and 92-79 to Weber State. The Purple Aces got three top votes and 233 points.

Louisiana Tech, the No. 4 team, was the only other to receive a No. 1 ballot in the voting. The voters gave Louisiana Tech a total of 200 points.

Tennessee State moved up one notch to No. 5 and Assumption climbed from seventh to sixth. Cheyney State slid from fourth to No. 7 and Akron remained No. 8.

Stephen F. Austin and Eastern Illinois wound up No. 9 and No. 10, respectively, reversing their positions in last week's poll.

Birds Retire Frank's Uniform

BALTIMORE (AP) — Uniform No. 20, worn by Frank Robinson for the past six years, was retired today by the Baltimore Orioles.

In announcing that the number no longer would be used—the first retired by the club—the Orioles paid high tribute to the player they traded to the Los Angeles Dodgers earlier this month.

"During Frank's tenure in Baltimore," said Manager Earl Weaver, "but Frank contributed so much more to this ball club, both on and off the field."

"His individual game performances are all a matter of record," said Manager Earl Weaver, "but Frank contributed so much more to this ball club, both on and off the field."

"He was a great morale booster and his competitiveness, his intelligence, and his total commitment to winning baseball set fine examples for the younger players to follow."

The Orioles had never won a pennant until Robinson was obtained in a trade with the Cincinnati Reds following the 1965 season.

In 1966, he won the Triple Crown of batting in the American League with a .316 average, 49 home runs and 122 runs batted in, and was named the Most Valuable Player. Frank also was named the MVP in the World Series as Baltimore swept four straight from the Dodgers.

The only player ever to be named the MVP in both leagues, Robinson last year became the only one ever to hit a homer for both the American and National leagues in All-Star competition as he was named the MVP in the 1971 classic.

Participants in the 1971 Grand American trapshooting championships fired more than 2,088,000 shotgun shells. The event lasted nine days.

Despite Only Two Starters Back, Paladins Battle For League Title

By WOODY PEELE

(29th of a series)

Without height, but with the backbone of the team back from last year, Pitt Technical Institute is shooting for the Northern Division Crown of the Eastern Carolina Community College Conference title again this year.

The team is not tall at all. The tallest man is 6-4 Wayne Brown and Coach Bob Turner feels that he's playing out of position in working the center slot. "He's really a forward, but we don't have anyone else to start there," Turner said.

There are only two returning starters back from last year, but Turner calls them the backbone of the team. "We are in business with them," he said.

The two are Eddie Stokes, who averaged 24 points per game last year, and quarterback Leslie Saunders. "We don't have anyone else at all back from last year,"

So, Turner must turn to newcomers to the school to make up the balance of the team. The three who have moved into the starting lineup include Wayne Brown and Frank Brown, a pair of former teammates of Stokes at North Pitt High School. Joining them is Marvin Hardy in the fifth starting spot.

Stokes, who was All-Conference last year, was expected to be the bread-and-butter man for the Paladins this year, but both of the Browns have come through with good scoring and helped take a lot of pressure off Stokes.

But height could be one of the biggest problems the team may have to overcome. "We just don't have any big men," Turner said. "So far we've been able to rebound most of the teams we've played." The team lost its second game of the year, then dropped its last outing, to be 3-2 for the season. But height was a problem in only one, when Roanoke-Chowan sent a 6-6, 6-5, 6-4 front line up against them.

The team has good speed and this has been one of the assets. "We're not moving the ball as well as I think we can," Turner said. "I've seen some indications that things are coming around, and we go to the break as often as we can to take advantage of our speed."

The shooting ability is also good. "Stokes has a tremendous floor average," Turner said. "Wayne is also a high percentage man. Frank has a good average, but he's not consistent. He'll be real hot one time, and cold another. Saunders hasn't found his eye yet, but we're letting him run the team and not worry about scoring."

But if the field goal shooting is good, the foul shooting is terrible. "We're really bad off here, and I think our practice conditions are to blame a lot for this." The Paladins, who play their home games in the old Bethel High School gym, practice at the old Robinson Union gym. "There are no side baskets there, and we have to take turns using the two regular ones, and we really don't get enough free throw practice."

Defensively, the Paladins opened the season with a 2-1-2 zone, but has moved into more man-to-man situations recently. "The zone is stronger for us, and the man is not what I want it to be. We really don't have a strong defensive player, so if one team has a really high-scoring player, I don't have anyone I can put on him to hold him down. In other words," Turner said, "we have to out-offense them instead of out-defense them."

Top reserves for the Paladins include Henry Beamon and Mitchell Brown, with Charles Coburn next. Coburn, who lost an arm while in Viet Nam, still managed to play a good game, the coach says. "He's been a real inspiration to all of us. Going into the last game, he had hit all three of his field goal

Did Bad Calls Bring Victory?

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — An assistant coach at Arkansas said Wednesday night that film of Monday night's Liberty Bowl game indicated officials probably made mistakes on both of the controversial calls that allowed Tennessee to gain a 14-13 victory over the Razorbacks.

The coach, who asked to remain unidentified, said, "Nothing can be gained by talking about it or by making any protest. It's just a shame."

He said the film showed Tom Reed of Arkansas clearly recovered a Jon Richardson fumble on a third-down play at the Arkansas 37-yard line.

Officials awarded the ball to Tennessee and the Volunteers subsequently scored a touchdown.

The coach said Preston Watts, the official who signaled that it was Tennessee's ball, was standing on top of the play, and should have seen it all. He said Watts stayed there after he made a weak signal in favor of Tennessee.

Referee McDuff Simpson arrived to help untangle the players and Reed handed Simpson the ball, the coach said.

The Arkansas Gazette reported that Simpson questioned Watts about how it could be Tennessee's ball when an Arkansas player had possession and Watts' only reply was, "It's Tennessee's ball."

Watts also was the man who called holding on Bobby Nichols when Bill McClard kicked a 48-yard field goal that would have put Arkansas ahead 16-7 with 5:51 to play.

"Our film shows us nothing that could be construed as holding by Nichols," said the Arkansas coach.

He's Got Massive Gift For Game—Nice Field

By PAT THOMPSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL, (AP) — Richard Ericson has a massive Christmas present all wrapped up for the Minnesota Vikings and Dallas Cowboys, and he warns explicitly: "Don't open until Christmas."

Ericson's gift is the Metropolitan stadium playing field, hidden somewhere beneath a giant tarpaulin and insulated pads. "The visiting coaches become quite concerned when they want to see the field," said Ericson. "They come straight from the airport and can't see a thing—it's all covered up. No openings. But they still question what kind of shape it will be in. "We'll lift off part of the tarp to show them what's underneath, but I still think it keeps them guessing."

When the Vikings and Cowboys play at 1 p.m., EST, in their National Football Conference semifinal Saturday, Erickson predicts they will find sure footing.

Ericson, superintendent of Met Stadium since its construction in 1956, has become a specialist in providing excellent playing conditions for games in Minnesota's wintry weather. "If it starts getting colder," said Ericson, "we'll start blowing the hot air underneath. The warmer we keep it, the better shape it will be in... the longer it will take to freeze."

"If the sun's out, it shouldn't freeze."

Ericson's last playoff assignment was in December of 1970 when the San Francisco 49ers defeated the Vikings 17-14 under sunny skies with temperatures in the teens in a NFC semifinal.

"It will be ideal if it's 20 degrees and sunny. Actually—and I'd hate to eat my words—you're better off in snow flurries than if you had to play in a good hard rainstorm somewhere else.

Somewhere else perhaps would mean on an artificial surface in another city.

"You're better off on a natural field if it snows because the players can still dig their cleats in. An artificial field gets slippery in snow."

"You may get better footing on artificial fields if it stays below freezing. But it's like buying a new carpet. When it's new, it's great. It may start to curl, get slick as it gets older."

Ericson thinks Minnesota's image is hurt by publicity of playing football in cold weather when the state's citizens take to the outdoor with relish during winter months.

"There's probably too much talk of playing in this weather," Ericson said. "It looks worse, sounds worse than it really is. But it's something to talk about. It's a matter of getting used to it."

Saban Returning To Buffalo Bills

By BEN THOMAS
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The coaching merry-go-round in the National Football League is spinning merrily along.

In a day of many developments Wednesday, Ed Hughes lost his job as head coach of the Houston Oilers and it was learned that Lou Saban, whose latest stint was with the Denver Broncos, is returning to the Buffalo Bills.

And Bill Peterson, the Rice University coach, was reported by the Denver Rocky Mountain News and others as the new head coach of the Broncos.

The Associated Press learned from reliable NFL sources Wednesday that Saban would be named head coach of the Bills, the team he coached to two American Football League championships.

A spokesman for the Bills had no comment and refused to say if a news conference would be held sometime this afternoon to announce Saban's hiring. Other sources, however, said the team would hold a 3 p.m. EST, press briefing.

Saban flew into Buffalo

Wednesday night and admitted he would talk today with Ralph Wilson, the Bills' owner. "I think everything will be resolved tomorrow," Saban said.

Hughes got the ax from Oiler owner Bud Adams after he and Adams couldn't reach accord on what Adams said was one major obstacle.

The one major obstacle turned out to be two people—trainer Warren Arian and former equipment manager Johnny Gonzalez. Adams wanted Arian fired and Gonzalez rehired. Hughes wouldn't do it.

Adams said he has no replacement immediately in mind for the Oiler coaching job. He said he would be interested in Peterson but understood the Rice coach "would take the job in Denver."

It was learned that Peterson may be having problems getting out of the last four years of his five-year contract at Rice.

The names of George Blanda and Sid Gillman were being tossed around as likely prospects for the Houston job in NFL circles Wednesday night.

Lakers Win For New Mark

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Los Angeles Lakers have set a modern professional sports record with 27 consecutive victories, but Wilt Chamberlain doesn't really think they have accomplished anything yet.

"I played with the (Harlem) Globetrotters when they won 445 in a row," Chamberlain joked after the Lakers had defeated the Baltimore Bullets 127-120 Wednesday night and raised their National Basketball Association record to a fabulous 33-3.

Los Angeles Coach Bill Sharman called the Lakers' victory "a great accomplishment."

But Chamberlain was not impressed. "We could care less about records," he said seriously. "Our main concern now is that we finish with a better record than Milwaukee. That would mean something."

It would mean that the Lakers would have the home court advantage if the two teams meet in a seventh game of the Western Division playoffs.

The Lakers currently are making a runaway of the Pacific Division race, while Milwaukee is well ahead in the Midwest Division.

However, the Bucks' record slipped to 30-5 as Boston ended their nine-game winning streak with a 104-98 victory Wednesday night.

Elsewhere in the NBA, Detroit whipped Cleveland 104-94, Atlanta edged Cincinnati 106-103, and New York trimmed Seattle 120-104.

The Lakers' victory enabled them to surpass the previous record of 26 victories in a row, set in 1916 by the New York baseball Giants. "We never even heard about the 1916 Giants until we got the NBA record," said Chamberlain.

Jerry West paced the Lakers with 37 points and nine assists. Gail Goodrich contributed 28 points and Jim McMillian added 25. Archie Clark topped the Bullets with 35 points.

John Havlicek scored 18 of his 26 points in the second half, helping Boston upend Milwaukee. Kareem Jabbar led the Bucks with 30 points.

Bob Lanier, playing despite a sore shoulder and knee, fired in 34 points for Detroit as the Pistons rallied to beat Cleveland after blowing a 19-point lead. Butch Beard and John Johnson each had 20 points for the Cavaliers.

Cincinnati Coach Bob Cousy protested the Royals' loss to Atlanta after a field goal by Sam Lacey was disallowed. Pete Maravich was high for Atlanta with 28 points, while the Royals' Nate Archibald scored a career high of 40 points.

Walt Frazier' 28 points sparked New York to its first victory in Seattle in three years.

Furman, W&M Both Losers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Although five Southern Conference basketball teams return to action next week in holiday tournaments, they may be just as happy to have a few days off to figure out where they're going wrong.

Pre-Christmas action wound up Wednesday night with front-running William and Mary dropping an 88-76 decision at Rice and defending champion Furman bowing at Georgia Tech 108-81.

The two defeats left conference teams with a woeful 9-22 record against outside opposition for the season thus far. None is scheduled to play again until next Wednesday.

William and Mary's Indians and Richmond's Spiders have lost five times each outside the conference. Only Furman at 2-1 has a winning record, while Davidson, Virginia Military and Appalachian State are even.

The Indians led Rice 38-33 at intermission Wednesday night, but the taller Owls took control in the second half with a 55-point outburst.

Rice went ahead for good at 69-68 with 5:10 left in the game on a pair of free throws by Mark Werhle.

A nine-point spree a few minutes later put it out of reach. Sophomore Kim Kaufman had 18 points and Dan McGuire and John Kabbes 17 each for Rice. The Indians' Jeff Trammell led all scorers with 30.

Furman ran into the same player at Georgia Tech, Bob "Peanut" Murphy, who had been the Yellow Jackets' big gun in an 83-71 victory Monday night over William and Mary. Murphy scored 32 points Wednesday night as Georgia Tech ran up its highest score of the campaign.

The Yellow Jackets broke open the game late in the first half, taking a 53-35 lead at intermission and leading by as much as 25 points later in the game. Furman never got closer than 13 as Georgia Tech hit a school-record 46 of 56 free throw tries.

Russ Hunt had 27 points and Roy Simpson 18 for the Paladins.

Cougars Fall To Memphis Pros

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Jones boys provided the "punch" for the Dallas Chaparrals Wednesday night.

Steve Jones and Rich Jones contributed the offensive punch with 29 and 25 points, respectively, while Collis Jones rained punches on Indiana's Roger Brown as the Chaps won a double overtime decision over the Pacers 123-120 in their American Basketball Association game.

Jones and Brown, who had scored 15 points, were ejected after exchanging blows in the second period.

At the end of regulation time, the score was tied 103-103, and at the completion of the first overtime, the score was 111-111. In the second extra period, Simmie Hill hit a field goal and foul with 30 seconds remaining, clinching Dallas' victory.

Donnie Freeman added 25 points for the Chaps, while Mel Daniels was high for Indiana with 43.

Elsewhere in the ABA, Kentucky defeated New York 95-91 and Memphis downed Carolina 113-102.

Kentucky, after trailing New York 66-59 with five minutes left in the third quarter, overtook the Nets on field goals by Dan Issel and Louie Dampier plus Artis Gilmore's free throw in the final 1:21.

Issel paced the Colonels with 30 points, while Rick Barry topped the Nets with 31.

A 10-point spurt in the fourth quarter enabled Memphis to pull away from Carolina. Charlie Williams led the Pros with 29 points. Rookie Jim McDaniels was high for the Cougars with 30.

Irish Buried For Second Time

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
The last time they met, Notre Dame upset UCLA. The Fighting Irish should have quit while they were ahead.

It was UCLA all the way Wednesday night as the nation's No. 1 team buried the misfiring Irish under a Bruin blitz 114-56 in college basketball.

Avenging last year's only defeat—89-82 at Notre Dame—UCLA made sure it wouldn't happen this time at cozy Pauley Pavilion. The Bruins blanketed their outgunned visitors with a man-to-man press from the start, helping to build an outrageous 53-16 halftime lead.

So lopsided was the score, in fact, that Coach John Wooden sent in his reserves with six minutes still left in the first half. The UCLA humiliation came on top of last Saturday's 94-29 loss to Indiana.

"I think we're coming along pretty good," said UCLA Coach John Wooden, whose club has scored more than 100 points in each of its five victories this season and has beaten opponents by an average score of 45 points.

"Our kids played like gentlemen," said Notre Dame Coach Dick "Digger" Phelps, "but we're not physical."

The coach had high praise for UCLA center Bill Walton, who didn't miss a field goal attempt and scored 20 points while nailing 19 rebounds.

"Walton is just fantastic," said Phelps of the Bruins' 6-foot-11 sophomore. "He's the best big guy in the nation. He has no weaknesses."

The Bruins were one of four Top Ten teams to play Wednesday night. Seventh-ranked Brigham-Young stopped Utah State 87-84. No. 8 Indiana turned back Butler 85-74 and 10th-rated St. John's N.Y., clobbered Creighton 94-73 in an opening-round match of the Lobo Invitational Tournament at Albuquerque, N.M.

Center Kresimir Cosic scored 35 points, including a last-second, game-winning hook shot, to help Brigham-Young beat Utah State.

Utah State led 84-83 with 12 seconds remaining, but Cosic was fouled after his hook shot and hit both ends of a one-and-one situation to extend the winning margin to three points.

Indiana ran off nine straight points in the closing minutes to choke off a Butler rally. The Hoosiers led the entire game, but had their margin cut to 74-71 with about three minutes to play.

Then Joby Wright, who scored 22 points in the game, led the Indiana splurge at the end. Steve Downing had 23 points for the winners while Oscar Evans of Butler led all scorers with 26.

Mel Davis poured in 34 points to help St. John's race away from Creighton in the final nine minutes.

"We were a little sluggish early in the game and I can't explain why," said St. John's Coach Frank Mulzoff. "It wasn't a case of not respecting Creighton.

In other games, 15th-rated Maryland smashed Holy Cross 102-79 and No. 19 Louisville blasted Southern Methodist 96-62.

Jim Price had 25 points and Henry Bacon, 20 for Louisville. "I felt we could win without a lot of trouble," said Louisville Coach Dennis Crum, whose team has won five straight games after an opening-day loss. "Physically, we're better."

Maryland had five players in double figures, led by Len Elmore's 17.

"It was our most satisfying win," said Maryland Coach Lefty Driesell. "Holy Cross is a good team, an experienced team, and it makes it doubly satisfying that we won on the road. We were more aggressive than we've been all season."

Heels Opening Spanish Play

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Fourth-ranked North Carolina played in a basketball tournament in Spain today. The other Atlantic Coast Conference teams are resting until all participate in holiday tournaments between Christmas and New Year's.

North Carolina, 5-1, played Juventad of Barcelona on the opening day of a three-day round-robin international tournament in Madrid.

Two ACC teams beat inter-sectional competition Wednesday night.

Maryland's Terrapins, ranked No. 15, ran their record to 6-1 by trouncing Holy Cross 102-79. Duke came from behind to defeat Dayton 68-66, led by sophomore Chris Redding, who scored a career-high 25 points.

Here is the holiday tournament lineup:

Duke is in the Holiday Festival in New York's Madison Square Garden Monday through Thursday.

North Carolina State plays in the Gator Bowl Tournament in Jacksonville, Fla., Tuesday and Wednesday.

Wake Forest is in the Steel Bowl Tournament in Pittsburgh Wednesday and Thursday.

North Carolina plays in the Sugar Bowl Classic in New Orleans Wednesday and Thursday. Before that, the Tar Heels will return from Spain to meet Harvard on Monday in the Charlotte, N.C., Coliseum.

Maryland will play in the Maryland Invitational at College Park Wednesday and Thursday.

Virginia is in the Palmetto Classic in Charleston, S.C., Wednesday and Thursday.

And Clemson is in the Pointsettia Classic in Greenville, S.C., Wednesday and Thursday. In defeating Holy Cross, Maryland shot a red-hot 61 per cent from the floor in the sec-

Olsen Leads NFC Selections

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Defensive tackle Merlin Olsen of the Los Angeles Rams named for the 10th time in his 10-year National Football League career, and 23 newcomers were among those named today to the National Conference squad for the AFC-NFC Pro Bowl game at Los Angeles, Jan. 23.

Olsen did not play last year because of knee surgery but kept his string intact nevertheless. Another longtime repeater is cornerback Mel Renfro of the Dallas Cowboys, making it for the eighth time in eight years.

Both quarterbacks for the NFC team—Roger Staubach of Dallas and Greg Landry of Detroit—were among the new faces selected in balloting among the conference's 13 head coaches, who were not permitted to cast votes for players on their own team.

Staubach and Landry will be able to hand the ball off on running plays to three 1,000-yard ground gainers—John Brockington of Green Bay, Steve Owens of Detroit and Willie Ellison of Los Angeles. Larry Brown of Washington also was selected at the running back post.

The receivers will be Dick Gordon of Chicago, Bob Grim of Minnesota, Roy Jefferson of Washington and Gene Washington of San Francisco.

Dallas, which won the Eastern Division title, has the most players on the team, eight. New Orleans and the New York Giants were the only teams not represented.

Besides Staubach and Renfro, the other Cowboys on the squad are tackle Rayfield Wright, guard John Niland, defensive tackle Bob Lilly, linebacker Chuck Howley, safety Cornell Green and punter Ron Widby.

St. Louis cornerback Roger Wehrli received enough votes to make the team, but was not included on the playing squad because of late season knee surgery.

Civic And Service Organizations Marked Yuletide

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

Greenville's civic clubs and service organizations have once more been instrumental in efforts to make the Christmas season of 1971 one in which less fortunate persons in our local area can realize in a tangible manner that there are those who care enough to share.

Most of the groups conduct continuing projects, with the Christmas activities added as special projects during late November and December. For many groups, money to provide the assistance they give to needy people comes from projects where the public supports their efforts through purchase of certain items or by donations and contributions.

A brief look at activities of several groups in Greenville shows highlights of activities connected with or related to the Christmas season:

—American Legion Post Number 39 ... Working in conjunction with the Ladies Auxiliary, members of the American Legion post have provided assistance to several needy individuals and families.

—Civitan Club ... Working with proceeds from its annual "Laxton fruit cake sale, Civitan members are repeating their yearly contribution to the Boys' Home at Lake Waccamaw and to the Greenville-Pitt County Boys' Club. They have also contributed to the cause of the Sheltered Workshop in Greenville. One of their prime projects this year was the sale of charcoal buckets to the public a task in which they received assistance from members of the Boys' Club.

—Exchange Club ... For the Christmas season, members of the Exchange Club voted to make cash donations to agencies devoted to helping people in need. This meant contributions to the Salvation Army and the Pitt County Mental Health Association. They also staged a party for members of Operation Sunshine. Their major fund raising activities are the operation of a fair booth. This year the Exchange Club had an added feature — selling advertisements to go on seat cushions. A spokesman for the Exchange Club said the biggest part of their efforts is devoted to helping needy and underprivileged children, which has been reflected not only in Christmas activities, but in contributions to the Boys' Club twice during the year and to several other activities.

—Jaycees ... Greenville's Jaycees, with a membership of 177 younger citizens, reflects the youthfulness of their group in a year round program. A spokesman noted the bulk of their club's working capital is raised from sale of light bulbs which the public consistently supports in a generous measure. Among numerous Jaycee activities, members this year voted a contribution of $500 to the Salvation Army; $100 to the Department of Social Services; $225 to the Boys' Home at Lake Waccamaw, with one half of this going to the Jaycee cottage and the other half to a needy boy there; $100 to Operation Sunshine; and a new clothing booth at Pitt Plaza for use by the Salvation Army, an item costing $280. One joint project of members was a pre-Christmas party for a family, held at the Flynn Christian Fellowship

Home. A large contingent of Jaycees attended, taking presents, clothes and refreshments. The Boys' Club of Greenville-Pitt County is a major year long recipient of funds raised by the Jaycees, and in December the wrestling match resulted in a sizeable proceed donation of $1,500 for the Boys' Club. With donations from Greenville businesses, the Jaycees again this year arranged for and sponsored the annual downtown Christmas parade.

—Kiwanis ... The spokesman for the Greenville Kiwanis Club pointed out that Christmas related activities were centered primarily on three things — manning the Salvation Army kettle uptown and at Pitt Plaza; a cash contribution to the Salvation Army for use at their discretion in assisting needy persons; and a contribution in support of Boys Home at Lake Waccamaw. The Kiwanis has a continuing support project for the Boys' Home. Its public support project each year is the sale of specially bagged and labeled peanuts in the fall. Some of these are still on sale around town.

—Lion's Club ... Programs to assist the blind people of Greenville and Pitt County is the Lion's primary concern. At Christmas each year the Lion's make a special effort to bring cheer to those handicapped in this manner. For this Christmas 48 blind people, an increase from the number assisted last year, will receive hefty food baskets. Most year's, members of the Lion's Club man a local sales booth of items made by blind people. This year, however, it was not possible to bring this service to Greenville due to the shortage of items for statewide distribution. Each year over 200 children are screened to check on eyesight defects through support given by the Lion's Club in providing equipment used by the Health Department. Year round glaucoma detection tests are furnished in efforts to prevent blindness. The Lion's Club spokesman observed that this year the club is also giving assistance a little outside their field by helping furnish an artificial limb to a blind lady.

—Moose Lodge ... Greenville's Moose Lodge, with a large active membership, is one of the organizations in Greenville that depends solely on membership fees and contributions for their source of income to assist others at Christmas time. The Moose Lodge spokesman said this year the annual tradition of sending flowers to widows of former members was being carried out. In addition, the lodge sent baskets of fruits to persons at Greenville's Nursing and Convalescent Home; and a large number of Christmas stockings, 250, to the Salvation Army for their distribution to needy individuals. The stockings contained candies, fruits and nuts.

Contract Ends 3-Day Strike

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Striking employees of General Tire and Rubber Co. at Charlotte began returning to their jobs Wednesday after the company and a union agreed on a three-year contract.

Local 850 of the United Rubber workers said it won an agreement that no overtime work will be mandatory. That was the key issue in the 37-day walkout. The union said it agreed to help find employees who want overtime work and the company won permission to cross departmental lines looking for overtime candidates.

Pay increases for the average employee making $3.90 an hour will be 35 cents the first year, 25 the second and 25 the third, officials said.

Optimist Club members open the Christmas season with the sale of Christmas trees. With proceeds from this project, members this year, as in past years, were able to sponsor Christmas for two local boys and for a boy at the Boys' Home at Lake Waccamaw. The Optimist spokesman also noted that Christmas trees were given to a wide range of philanthropic organizations, to clubs and agencies operating for the public service. This included trees for places such as Operation Sunshine, the Mental Health Association and the American Red Cross. Like other civic groups, the Optimist members voted a cash contribution for use by the Salvation Army in its annual service to needy people. The Optimist Club supports the Boys' Home on a year round basis and also cooperates and helps sponsor a number of annual assistance projects.

—Rotary Club ... The work of members of the Rotary Club is closely related to work carried on by the Rotary Foundation, an international one which promotes an active exchange of good will and fellowship through student scholarships in more than 50 countries. On the local level, Rotarians give active support to the Salvation Army, both in supporting the agency's Christmas program and through membership of Rotarians on the Salvation Army's board.

Christmas Eve Service Planned

A Christmas Eve worship service, with the use of favorite Christmas carols, hymns and candle lighting, will be held at Immanuel Baptist Church Friday at 7:30 p.m.

People of Greenville, who are not participating in services in their churches, are invited to attend this special worship service.

The church is located at 1101 S. Elm St.

Gumball Machines That Aid The Blind Are Being Damaged

Among all the heart cheering reports of assistance given to needy persons and families in Greenville during the Christmas season, there was one report that brings a note of sadness at this time of good will and sharing with others.

Charles Waller, president of the local Lions Club, noted that in recent months vandalism of the familiar Lions Club gum ball dispensing machines was becoming a problem of serious proportions.

"We have 96 of these machines distributed locally," Waller said, "and we depend on proceeds from these penny machines as our major source of income to provide for our projects for the blind."

Saying he feels certain that if those responsible for breaking into the machines understood the importance of the assistance provided by the day by day collection of pennies, he added that he feels "they would have second thoughts about destroying the machines and taking the money."

Waller said public support through purchase of the bright gum balls has for a long time been most generous, and that the entire future effectiveness of help to the large number of blind persons and the program for detecting eye problems would be seriously hampered if the wanton vandalism continues.

Waller explained that every single copper collected from the machines goes to direct assistance for persons suffering blindness, or to the detection program, and that no part of the money goes to the Lions Club for its own personal use or to any members of the club. "Perhaps with this understanding," Waller commented, "we can hopefully look forward to a time when these vital machines are no longer the subject of thoughtless vandalism."

Offices To Be Closed

All city, county and state offices will be closed Friday and Monday in observance of the Christmas holidays, while federal offices will be closed only on Friday.

The local banks will observe their holiday on Monday and normal operating schedule has been announced for Friday.

Most of the Greenville retail stores will be open Monday.

According to C. K. Beatty, director of public works, the city garbage department will have Saturday and Monday off for the holidays. Normal garbage pickup will be held Friday. That department will return to work Tuesday morning.

Beatty said temporary garbage service will be available. He explained the city dump will be open each day from 7 a.m. until 5 p.m. if anyone has any trash to dispose of.

Abuse Probe Medical School Nearing End Funding Urged

RALEIGH (AP) — Director Charles Dunn of the North Carolina Bureau of Investigation says a probe into allegations of abuse of patients at the O'Berry Center in Goldsboro is about complete.

"We should be finished within a month," Dunn said Wednesday. "Most of the work is done, although we are still tracking down one or two leads."

He added the report will be turned over to the governor and attorney general who will decide "whether to make the report public, or what course of action to follow."

The SBI also is checking into reports of patient mistreatment and drug misuse at Broughton Hospital in Morganton and Cherry Hospital in Goldsboro.

Parents of patients at the O'Berry Center have complained that the center fails to provide adequate supervision and therapeutic care for their children. About 25 parents aired their complaint last March before the state Senate Mental Health Committee. They asked that appropriations to the center be increased.

Avers Ocean Level Rising

WASHINGTON (AP) — A scientist of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration of the Department of Commerce says the level of the Atlantic has risen faster in the past eight years than ever before.

Stanley D. Hicks says measurements from Maine to Virginia show a rise in water level of about three inches. Whether the amount of water is increasing or the land is sinking is in dispute, however.

Hicks monitored 115 spots on the United States coasts. He said the level has risen one foot on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts in the last century, but since 1963 it is going up at a rate of about three feet per 100 years from Virginia to Maine.

Measuring points included Charleston, S.C., where in the last 49 years the sea has risen 7.6 inches. At Hampton Roads, Va. it is up 9.84 inches in 43 years, and at Pulaski, Ga., near Savannah, the increase is 4.44 inches in 35 years.

DIGNIFIED CAMEL
WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) — Islam's holy book invokes Allah by 99 "beautiful names," and only the camel is believed to know the 100th name, reports the National Geographic Society's new book, "Great Religions of the World." It says that Moslem legend recounts that this is why the camel has such aloof dignity.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are some details of the Price Commission's rent rules in question-and-answer form.

Q—Is there a fixed limit on rent increases?

A—No. Landlords are entitled to an automatic 2.5 per cent increase, plus more under certain circumstances. But the rules are complicated, and in some cases rents may even be rolled back.

Q—As a practical matter, how much is my rent likely to increase?

A—Price Commission Chairman C. Jackson Grayson predicts the average rise should hold below 3 or 3½ per cent. The average increase nationwide in the year before the price freeze was 4.8 per cent.

Q—What is the biggest increase the rules are likely to permit?

A—Grayson conceded that some might hit 15 per cent. Mrs. Rosetta Wylie, a dissident tenant member of President Nixon's Rent Advisory Board, says some could hit 30 per cent. She calls the rent rules "a boondoggle for landlords."

Q—When do the guidelines go into effect?

A—Dec. 29.

Q—Can rent go up then?

A—Landlords must give 30 days' notice, in writing, of any rent increase. They must include detailed information specified by the Price Commission, including the reason for the increase.

Q—What would allow my rent to go up?

A—There are a number of ways. In brief, landlords may raise rents 2.5 per cent to cover non-government costs, but must swallow any such cost increases over that.

In addition they are entitled to pass along every penny of any increase in property taxes or certain governmental fees. There are provisions for added rent increases in hardship cases, or where improvements are made on the property.

Furthermore, all these allowable increases are added to the "base rent," which could be higher or lower than present rent.

Q—How is this base rent figured?

Outstanding Young Farmer Award Will Be Made Jan. 27

John M. Gray chairman of the Jaycees' Pitt County Outstanding Young Farmer project, announced that the 1971 award will be presented at the Jan. 27 Jaycee meeting.

Gray announced that State Representative Sam D. Bundy will be on hand to make the presentation to this year's outstanding young farmer.

The chairman said that the award winner will receive a gift certificate from the Pitt Green Production Credit Association and Wachovia Bank and Trust Co.

The Pitt County winner, Gray pointed out, will be entered in competition for the state outstanding young farmer award to be presented in Wilmington on Feb. 4 and 5.

Gray said that any young farmer in Pitt County is eligible for the award and should contact the chairman or any other member of the Greenville Jaycees. He noted that the purpose of the project is to promote better relations between the residents of the city and the farmer by increasing urban understanding of the farmer, his life and his problems.

The selection of the outstanding farmer will be made by a five-man committee composed of Greenville businessmen.

NCNB Proposes 36-Story Home

CHARLOTTE (AP) — A 36-story bank and office complex in the center of downtown Charlotte was proposed Wednesday by North Carolina National Bank.

NCNB officials made a presentation to the Charlotte Redevelopment Commission for the structures on the corner of Trade and Tryon streets. The block is designated urban renewal property.

The commission, which took the proposal under advisement, must report to the Charlotte City Council, while will make a final decision.

The building would be four stories higher than the tallest building now in Charlotte—the new First Union National Bank tower.

The selection of the outstanding farmer will be made by a five-man committee composed of Greenville businessmen.

Furthermore, all these allowable increases are added to the "base rent," which could be higher or lower than present rent.

Q—How is this base rent figured?

A—For weekly or monthly rentals, it is the rent charged on Aug. 15. Some weekly and monthly rents have been allowed to rise since then, but must now be rolled back before any new increases are added. No refunds will be required.

For leases longer than one month, the base rent is the average charged in new leases and renewals just before the freeze. This permits landlords who had begun to raise rents before the freeze to bring rents on all similar apartments up to the new level, provided they are rented on long-term leases and not monthly or weekly.

Q—How does all that apply?

A—As an example, an apartment that rented monthly for $100 a month on Aug. 15 may go up after proper 30 days notice, to $102.50.

It can go up even more if property taxes go up, the place is remodeled or the landlord can qualify as a hardship case.

Another example might be a leased apartment that went for $100 a month before the freeze. Say the landlord, perhaps pressed by rising costs, upped rents to $110 in a couple similar apartments before the freeze. He may now charge $110 for our hypothetical apartment, and might be doing so already under previous rules. He can Stowaways Reach N.C.

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Two Cubans who stowed away on a ship leaving Santiago arrived at Wilmington Wednesday on a Coast Guard cutter.

The pair, who had hidden on the Salvia until discovered last week, was placed in the care of a priest. Neither had been aware the other was on the Cyprot ship until after it sailed.

Anna Mildred Gaenza-Contreras, 22, said she fled to be with her husband, a Greek seaman. She said she swam under a fence guarding the Santiago de Cuba harbor to board the Salvia.

She said she is asking for temporary asylum in this country.

Jorge Balbuena Fernandez, 20, is seeking permanent asylum in the United States. He said he intends to learn English and get a job.

Fernandez said he left Cuba because "there was too much work and not enough money for it."

Immigration officials are considering the situation.

Meanwhile, the two have $260 for Christmas, collected from crewmen on the cutter McCulloch which brought them from the Salvia.

Orphans Bear World Troubles

By STEWART KELLERMAN
SAIGON (UPI)—She looks up with those big, sad brown eyes and wraps her tiny fingers around your rough hand. You try to get away, but she won't let go. She keeps holding on until you promise to come back.

The gate clanks closed and she begins to cry. As you drive away you look back and there she is, the little tear-stained face squeezed between the rusty iron bars.

It is a heart-wrenching experience to visit one of South Vietnam's 100,000 orphans. Most are victims of the war and seem to carry all the troubles of a troubled land on their little backs. They want so much to be loved.

Some lost their fathers in combat and mothers in shelling. Others were crippled by mines and abandoned. Still others were left by their American soldier fathers and bar-girl mothers.

Nguyen Thi No, the child with the big, sad eyes, was eating lunch at an old wooden table in The Vinh Son Phao Lo orphanage in Saigon when this visitor came. The 8-year-old girl, wearing a faded, floppy pink dress, was having a hard time keeping the hundreds of flies away from her rice and sardines.

"Nobody seems to care about me," she said, shooting a fly off a spoonful of rice. "I'm so scared it's awful."

No, whose soldier father was killed in the war and whose mother abandoned her, cries all night long and scampers under her steel army bed whenever a car backfires.

"You know what I'd like," she said, her bare feet playing with each other under the table.

"I'd like to have a doll. I don't have one. I never had a doll. I'd like one that can talk. That's what I'd like."

Americans have adopted about 200 of the orphans in the past two years despite an unbelievable amount of red tape necessary to bring a Vietnamese child to the United States.

The usual way is to work through a reputable relief agency such as International Social Service. Some Americans have friends in Saigon to help make the arrangements.

SAILING TO THE SUN

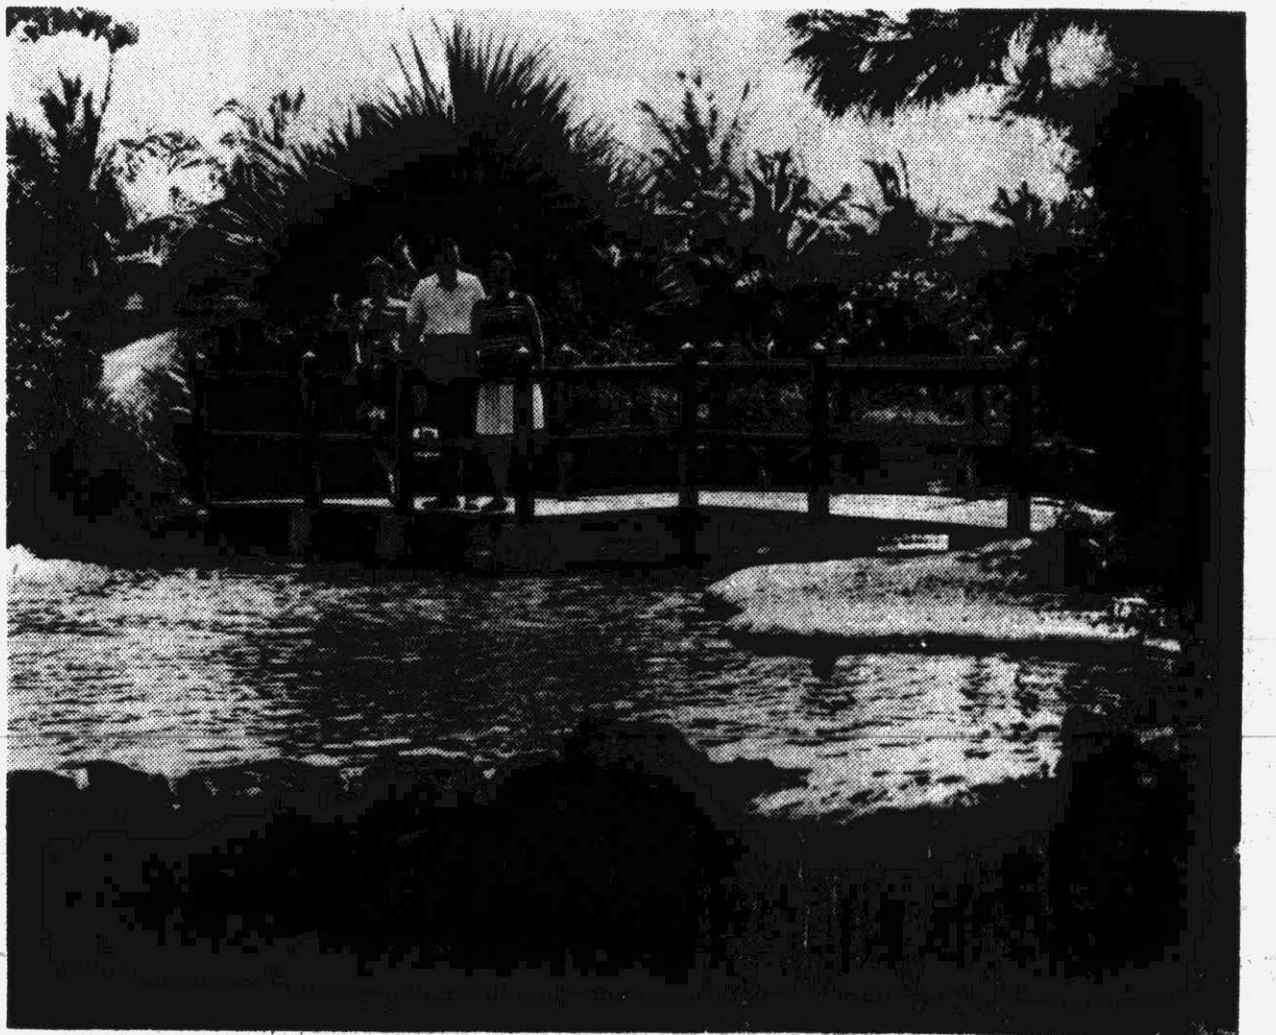

Hate the vacation to end? The Wheatleys do, too. So, at the end of their Caribbean cruises they just stay right on board and sail off again for a second round of sea and sun.

Mr. and Mrs. Marty Wheatley, who live in the Baltimore suburb of Catonsville, have been taking winter cruises since 1962. And for over four years they've been taking two of the shorter cruises back-to-back, for more than double the pleasure. An added convenience is that they're able to board their ship in Baltimore itself and then sail directly off to the springlike waters of the Caribbean or the Bahamas. The ships they sail in have become second homes to them over the years, and the crews are old friends. By now the family get affectionate little special attentions, such as invitations to the captain's table and private cocktail parties, to say nothing of menu suggestions at dinner or reserved deck chairs. "We really feel that we're just getting started when the first cruise ends," says Mrs. Wheatley, explaining the special lure of the second time around.

The Worry Clinic

Somebody Has To Keep Books

Fritz is a star salesman. As such, he uses verbal artistry to move merchandise across the counters and zoom our luxurious standard of living. But, like the usual salesmen, he is careless about credit. So make your wife the treasurer of your family corporation!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.
Case S-550: Fritz G., aged 35, is a star salesman.

"But my wife and I are quarreling," he telephoned, "so could we please come to see you for some counseling?"

His wife was a former office secretary and a very intelligent girl.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "Fritz keeps getting us into debt and fails to tell me of his unpaid bills."

"So I have had to hire a babysitter for our two kiddies and go back to work on two occasions to get us squared away with bill collectors.

"Now I find that he has run up some more bills, without having informed me about his purchases."

"So we are at the breaking point in our marriage, for I am always upset at being hounded by bill collectors."

Family Corporation
Fritz is like the usual superb salesman in having very little credit sense!

For a star salesman learns to paint beautiful verbal pictures and is thus akin to the artist.

Salesmen also function as the main sparkplugs of civilization. For they take the merchandise, plus inventions of cloistered scientists, and put them into our homes.

They are thus the main cogs in stimulating business, plus large factory employment.

As verbal artists, too, they tend to be extroverts and thus dislike being forced to perform bookkeeping chores.

But somebody needs to hold a tight rein on every star salesman.

If he has a smart wife, with former business experience, then it is generally wise to let her serve as treasurer of their family corporation.

Fritz should hand over all of his commission checks to her and then let her budget their income.

Meanwhile, she can issue him a weekly "drawing account" to handle his lunches and automobile expenses.

But Fritz will then be free to concentrate solely on his artistic task of verbal persuasion. And he will not be afraid to face his wife at night lest some bill collector has phoned her about an unpaid item.

As Fritz and his wife sat in my

Poor Season To Plant A Spruce

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Jackie Carlson says she should have waited until after Christmas to plant a 6-foot Colorado blue spruce in her front yard.

A few days after Mrs. Carlson planted the tree, she woke up to find it gone and surmised that it probably went to somebody's living room.

Just Follow Directions

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI) —Keep the instruction books that come with Christmas gifts, whether they're garments, camera equipment, washing machines or small appliances.

Extension home management specialists at the Pennsylvania State University say all those Christmas presents will give you far better service and longer wear if you follow the manufacturer's directions for their use and care.

If it's an appliance you won't get the best operation unless you maintain it according to instructions, understand its special features, and use the most appropriate cleaning agents or accessories.

If it's a fabric, the maker's instructions will tell you its fiber content and how you should launder or dry clean it. If it's a complex piece of electronic equipment, there are certain do's and don'ts to follow for correct operation.

office, they were both puffing on cigarettes.

"Why don't you cut out your tobacco?" I bluntly added. "For you two burn up at least $25 per month on your cigarettes."

"That's a minimum of $300 per year, which you could more profitably budget for all-family fun and recreation with your kiddies."

"Besides, Fritz will die 5 years early because of coronary attacks or cancer, so that will deprive the family of an extra $350,000, since he makes $10,000 annually."

The tobacco habit also complicates happy marriages by rendering the husband prematurely impotent. And if just one member of the marriage smokes, the other grows reluctant about kisses, for the smoke exhales stale tobacco halitosis, especially in the morning!

Indeed, Fritz and his wife were coughing frequently even while in my office, due to the irritation of the lining of their windpipes and bronchial tubes.

So send for my medical booklet "How to Stop the Tobacco and Liquor Habits," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

You can buy a small farm for family recreation and old age retirement on what you save by quitting tobacco and liquor! (Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

The bidding:
East South West North
Pass 1 ♥ 2 ♣ Pass
4 ♥ 4 ♠ 5 ♣ 5 ♥
Pass Pass Dble. Pass
Pass Pass

Opening lead: King of ♣. A very clever false card by West led to a substantial swing when today's hand was dealt in a recent team of four match.

The bidding followed a similar course at both tables. South opened the bidding in second position with one spade and West overcalled with two clubs—the only convenient call available, other than a trap pass. North did not have nearly enough to make a free bid and East jumped to four clubs as a preemptive measure, inasmuch as his holding was devoid of defensive values.

South was not to be shut out, however, and persisted to four hearts. West bid five clubs and North finally entered the proceedings by carrying on to five hearts. West doubled and that became the final contract at both tables.

West opened the king of clubs and continued with the ace, declarer ruffing the second round with the deuce of hearts. A spade was led out to the jack and West put up the queen to hold the trick. The shift was to the king of diamonds taken by North's ace.

Erosion Mars A Famous Statue Classified Ads

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—The famous Christ statue on Corcovado Mountain is suffering the effects of time, erosion and defacing by visitors. But local officials have promised to fix it up for next September's celebration of Brazil's 150th anniversary of independence.

FAMOUS STATUE — The famous statue of Christ on Corcovado Mountain in Brazil has suffered the effects of time, the elements and careless visitors. The city of Rio de Janeiro has promised to repair it for next September's celebration of the 150th anniversary of Brazil's independence.

ing the effects of time, erosion and defacing by visitors. But local officials have promised to fix it up for next September's celebration of Brazil's 150th anniversary of independence.

Although still impressive from a distance, the statue in its present condition is a let-down to some tourists who see it close up for the first time.

MOUNTAIN TOP — Seen from a distance the famous Christ statue on Brazil's Corcovado Mountain still looks as impressive as ever. The statue, however, is suffering from the effects of time and erosion.

the outstretched arms. Each arm weighs 80 tons, and each hand eight tons, contributing to the total weight of 1,145 tons. The monument was dedicated in 1931.

The project for restoring the statue calls for the installation of elevators or escalators from the train terminal and automobile parking area to the base of the monument. The guardrail and protecting walls will be repaired and the pedestal will be scrubbed clean. Officials pledge.

The Tourism Department said it is considering buying modern trains to replace the antiquated coaches that now go up and down the mountain.

Holidays At Old Castle

LONDON (UPI) — Britain's royal family will follow its usual custom of spending the Christmas holidays at Windsor Castle. This ancient fortress, on its hill beside the River Thames, now modernized inside, is equipped for everybody in the royal circle to assemble for the festival which Queen Elizabeth considers essentially a private family event.

The queen with Prince Philip, Princess Anne, Prince Andrew and Prince Edward will stay about 10 days at Windsor before going on to Sandringham House in Norfolk for a New Year's rest. The queen has scheduled a state visit to Far Eastern countries at the end of January.

Charles, the prince of Wales, now serving as a sub-lieutenant in the Royal Navy, will get three days' Christmas leave. He plans to fly from his Gibraltar base to join the party at Windsor.

New Clues Of Caveman

COLOGNE, Germany (UPI) — Cro-Magnon man, hitherto assumed to have lived only in caves, may actually have moved beyond their protection on to the open land, according to discoveries near here by archeologist Joachim Hahn.

Hahn reckons a fire site he located in a nearby valley is about 33,000 years old.

It is the first Cro-Magnon site discovered outside a cave, Hahn said, and probably will force revision of existing theories about how modern man's ancestor lived.

More than 1,000 flint tools, including double-edged knives, polished swords and animal skin scrapers, have been found at the fire site.

Cro-Magnon man is named after the cave in southern France in which bones of men and women who lived at the end of the Ice Age first were found.
