LEAPS TO SAFETY — A crewman from the Flagler leaves the sinking vessel for the safety of the Marianne The Flagler, bearing the body of her late captain, Joseph Serzan, who died last week, was piloted out to sea 50 miles off Daytona Beach (Fla.) and sunk.

Mrs. Flagler Matthews, owner of the Flagler, said the unusual funeral was a tribute to the late captain. (AP Wirephoto) Story on Page 6.

Completing Preparations For War, Declares Sadat

CAIRO (AP) — President Anwar Sadat told a political meeting Tuesday that Egypt is completing preparations to go to war against Israel, but he did not close the door on diplomatic efforts for a peace settlement, the semi-official newspaper Al-Ahram reported today.

"The battle of liberation is a must and we have already taken an irrevocable decision for it," Sadat declared. "But the question of timing is connected with delicate internal and international assessments that are the competence of the leadership and not for public debate."

expressed cautious optimism after reading reports of Sadat's speech.

"We don't know yet if there has been any change of direction," one Israeli official said. "It seems, however, that Egypt has, for the time being at least, decided to continue the search for a political solution."

Sadat, who has pledged that 1971 will be "the year of decision" in the Middle East, spoke at a meeting of members of the Peoples Assembly—parliament—and the central committee of the Arab Socialist Union, Egypt's only political party.

"The decision is now under implementation and the battle of liberation will be long and bitter," Sadat emphasized. "But it does not mean that political moves will be halted because to do so will paralyze part of our effective potential." Sadat was strongly critical of U.S. policy in the Middle East and made clear he rejects suggestions for the resumption of U.S.-sponsored negotiations for an interim Suez Canal settlement.

Sadat's line was echoed in reports presented to the meeting by cabinet ministers and in a statement issued later by the party's central committee.

Deaths Top 1970

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Highway Patrol reported that four persons were killed in traffic accidents in North Carolina Tuesday night and early today, bringing the state's traffic deaths for the year to 1,792. This is 25 more than were killed in the same period of last year.

A 23-year-old Newton man, Kermit Vincent Leatherman, was killed early today when his speeding car overturned on a rural paved road eight miles west of Newton. The patrol said he was thrown from the vehicle and it overturned on him.

A 71-year-old Rockingham man, Wesley Ingram, was killed near his home around 12:35 a.m. when he stepped into the path of a tractor-trailer truck.

Three cars piled up on a bridge on N.C. 268 near North Wilkesboro Tuesday night, and the driver of one of the vehicles, Cecil Maurice Brown, 29, of Hayes, was killed.

The patrol said that a car ran a stop sign on N.C. 24 near Richlands in Onslow County Tuesday evening, and Elaine Sanders, 21, of Rt. 3, Jacksonville, was killed.

Air Blows Continue For The Fourth Day

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — The heaviest American air attack on North Vietnam in more than three years continued for the fourth day today with no letup in sight.

U.S. diplomatic sources reported that the armada of 350 planes and helicopters flew more than 500 attack strikes and hundreds more support missions in the first 3½ days of the round-the-clock bombing that began Sunday.

To keep the attack force at full strength, a scheduled port leave for the carrier Constellation was delayed and it continued to launch its planes from the Tonkin Gulf, along with the carrier Coral Sea.

The Constellation and the Coral Sea are supplying about 150 fighter-bombers to the force attacking North Vietnam. The rest of the aircraft come from bases in South Vietnam and Thailand.

Radio Hanoi claimed that a seventh U.S. plane was shot down Tuesday, in Quang Binh Province just north of the demilitarized zone. It said nothing about the crew. Radio Hanoi reported earlier that five planes were shot down on Sunday and a sixth on Monday. It said a number of the pilots were killed or captured.

The U.S. Command refused to comment on the report of the number of strikes flown, Hanoi's claims of seven planes downed or its report that the raiders had killed or wounded many civilians. The command said that for security reasons it would disclose no details of the operation until it was completed.

Hanoi claimed that in Thanh Hoa Province on Sunday the U.S. planes killed 24 civilians and wounded 47. A broadcast said most of the casualties were caused by steel-pellet antipersonnel bombs dropped on workers in the fields; and that targets for the bombs included the Thanh Hoa hospital.

Despite the magnitude of the campaign, the U.S. Defense Department denied that it had turned the clock back to 1968, before President Lyndon B. Johnson halted the bombing of North Vietnam.

"We have not resumed the bombing campaign of the North," Pentagon spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim said in Washington. "Our operations are limited duration strikes. They are limited as to geography and targets."

When newsmen pointed out that Johnson's officials also claimed bombing attacks were limited as to targets, Friedheim replied, "They were not nearly as restricted as now."

Both Friedheim and U.S. Command spokesmen in Saigon repeated earlier official claims that the strikes are aimed at protecting the diminishing American forces in Vietnam. But it appeared that their chief purpose was to aid Laotian, Cam-

Bhutto Brings Zest To Style Of Governing

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN
Associated Press Writer

RAWALPINDI (AP) — "It's been rather like Kennedy, at least to us Pakistanis," said the dapper man in the Foreign Office after Zulfikar Ali Bhutto's first week as president of Pakistan.

The fiery, fast-moving Bhutto, a wealthy landowner turned populist, is giving his people a whirlwind style of government they have never before experienced.

"This is a government of insomniacs," thundered a television official after Bhutto swore in his cabinet at 3 a.m. Friday.

The president, 44 next month, has swept his predecessor, Gen. Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan, and other members of his junta into retirement, eliminated every active admiral from the navy and moved the East Pakistani leader, Sheikh Mujibur Rahman, from jail to house arrest.

He also has distracted the Pakistanis from the humiliation of their shattering defeat in the East and unconditional ceasefire in the West with promises of reform to help the common people.

The government television network went on the air seven days a week instead of six; under Yahya diplomats joked that it was possible to invite the military president to dinner only on Mondays when the television screen was dark.

Bhutto's governor in the Punjab ordered the tea break in his secretariat limited to 20 minutes at 11 a.m., responding to an order in Bhutto's first presidential speech that "tea parties must come to an end."

The same day the new finance minister, Dr. Mubashir Hasan called his first news conference to announce he was stripping 19 persons of licenses the previous government had given them to start factories.

Also the same day, the government cooled down 1,500 strikers in Karachi who had demanded to see the new Sind Province governor, Bhutto's Oxford-educated cousin, Mumtaz Bhutto. Officials explained Mumtaz was too busy to see them because he was formulating revolutionary plans to help them.

Contract OK'd

Congressman Walter B. Jones today announced the approval of the Department of Housing and Urban Development of a low-rent public housing contract with the Greenville Housing Authority.

According to the announcement, the project will cost $1,393,337 and will consist of the construction of 78 housing units, of which 16 will be for the elderly.

The contract, it was reported, obligates the federal government through annual contributions to pay the principal and interest on bonds over a period of time issued by the local housing authority in the amount of 100 per cent of the total development cost.

bodian and South Vietnamese forces fighting the North Vietnamese on several fronts.

In addition to the anti-aircraft batteries menacing U.S. planes along the Laotian border, the targets include vast stores of war materials awaiting shipment through the Barthelemy and Mu Gia passes to Communist troops in northern and southern Laos, Cambodia and South Vietnam.

The situation is critical again in Laos, where the North Vietnamese have recaptured the Plain of Jars in the northern part of the country and control much of the southern panhandle.

There is a massive buildup of troops in the triborder region where Laos, Cambodia and South Vietnam join, and the South Vietnamese government expects a major offensive across the middle of the country.

South Vietnamese forces on a new sweep in the central highlands clashed with an estimated 100 North Vietnamese troops at the Cambodian border Tuesday. A communique said 28 of the enemy were killed with the help of U.S. air strikes and 17 weapons were captured. No South Vietnamese casualties were reported.

The U.S. Command disclosed that an Army OH6 observation helicopter was shot down on the Cambodian side of the border while supporting the South Vietnamese operation. Two Americans were reported wounded.

$166 Million Go To Roads

RALEIGH (AP) — The state Highway Commission said today the $166.1 million in road construction contracts it awarded this year was the second highest on record.

The commission said the 1971 figure has been topped only by the $173 million total for 1970.

Commission spokesmen said the main reason for the drop was that 1970 saw more contracts financed under the 1967 highway bond issue. They said bond contracts in 1970 totaled $26.7 million while in 1971 they amounted to only $5.3 million.

They added that virtually all of the $300 million bond issue has now been committed.

Other factors which held down the 1971 road construction program, spokesmen said, was increased costs of highway maintenance and new federal requirements, including statements on environmental effects.

The commission reported that 1971 also saw the opening of interstate highway links between Charlotte and Concord, Durham and Henderson and Raleigh to the Research Triangle. These links brought the total interstate mileage in the state open to traffic to 571 out of a projected total of 638 miles.

The commission said several new bridges were opened during the year, including the new high-level span across Bogue Sound from Emerald Isle to the mainland.

According to the highway commission, secondary road paving was off sharply during the 1970-71 fiscal year. The work totaled $10 million for paving of 514 miles of road and stabilization of 231 miles. During the previous year, Gov. Bob Scott increased the secondary road allocation to a record $32 million.

Maintenance costs for 1971 rose to more than $85 million as a result of inflation and the increase in the number of miles of paved highways in the state's road system.

Violent Crimes Up 10 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Crime in the United States increased 6 per cent during the first nine months of this year, the FBI reported today.

Violent crime was up 10 per cent and property crime up 6 per cent compared with the same period last year.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, in releasing the FBI's statistics, said the percentage increase was the smallest in five years. He noted that 52 cities with more than 100,000 population reported fewer crimes than in the first nine months of 1970.

The largest cities, those with more than 250,000 population, reported an average increase of 3 per cent during the period. Suburban and rural areas reported crime increases of 11 per cent and 6 per cent respectively.

Murder, rape, robbery and assault—the violent crimes—all rose during the nine months, as did the property crimes of burglary, larceny and auto theft. Murder increased 10 per cent, rape 7 per cent, robbery 12 per cent and assault 8 per cent. Burglary rose 7 per cent, larceny 6 per cent and auto theft 2 per cent.

The Western states recorded the greatest over-all nine-month increase of 10 per cent, with crime up 9 per cent in the Northeastern states and 3 per cent in both the North Central and Southern states.

The 20 cities between 500,000 and one million in population reported an over-all decrease of 3 per cent in recorded crimes during the nine months. Only one crime, aggravated assault, showed an increase in those cities. It was up 1 per cent.

The FBI said armed robbery, reported an average increase of 17 per cent, while assaults with firearms, accounting for one-fourth of serious assaults, increased 11 per cent.

The 6 per cent over-all increase for the nation compares with percentage increases in the past five years of 10 in 1970, 11 in 1969, 19 in 1968, and 16 in 1967.

Nixon's State Of The Union Message Will Be Delivered Jan. 20

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon plans to deliver his election-year State of the Union message to Congress on Jan. 20, and the Democratic majority is at work on a televised assessment of its own, to be delivered a day or two later.

The White House has advised Senate Republicans of the date but has not yet sent word as to whether the President will speak at mid-day or will make the speech in the evening, on prime television time.

The expectation on Capitol Hill is that the Nixon message will offer no dramatic, new proposals, but will concentrate upon urging a Democratic Congress to act on what he already has offered.

One Republican legislative tactician said Nixon won't get anything new out of Congress anyway. He said a Congress controlled by the Democratic party that will be challenging Nixon for the White House in 1972 will be in no mood to deal with new administration proposals.

But there is plenty of leftover business on the domestic agenda already presented by the President, with welfare reform, health care and insurance, and federal revenue shar-

Farmville Bank To Acquire New Name

FARMVILLE — The Bank of Farmville will officially change its name at the close of business on Friday, becoming the Farmville office of First Union National Bank of North Carolina.

The merger of the two institutions has been approved by the U.S. Comptroller of the Currency, according to a joint announcement by C. C. Cameron, chairman and president of First Union National and W. A. Allen, president and chairman of the Bank of Farmville.

The banks voted to merge in May of this year, the announcement pointed out.

First Union is the 56th largest banking operation in the nation with total assets in excess of $1.2 billion. It currently operates 160 offices in 75 North Carolina communities.

C. C. Simpson will continue to serve as chief executive officer of the Farmville office of First Union National, it was announced, and employees will continue in their positions.

The Farmville bank, organized in 1904, will begin operations as First Union National Bank on Monday, Jan. 3.

Conservative Welfare Bill Signed; Becomes Effective July 1

By ROBERT L. CAMPBELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has signed into law a bill initiated by congressional conservatives which requires many healthy welfare mothers to work or accept job training.

Critics of the measure say Nixon's signature kills any chances for enactment of the other key parts of the President's welfare reform plan: a guaranteed annual income and welfare benefits for low-income job holders.

The bill Nixon signed at the Florida White House Tuesday during the congressional recess goes into effect July 1. It makes it mandatory for many of the 2.6 million parents in the controversial aid to families with dependent children program to sign up for available jobs or training.

Only the aged, the sick or disabled, those in school or mothers of children under school age are exempted.

The measure, attached as an amendment to a larger bill, was quietly passed by the House and Senate Dec. 15 with little debate or advance notice.

Welfare administrators say the problem is not finding welfare recipients to sign up for jobs, but finding any jobs at all for those who will or are able to work.

In signing the bill, Nixon acknowledged it amounts to something less than half a loaf.

The welfare system, he said, "is yet in need of reform."

"Further economic incentives must be provided to keep families together, rather than to break them apart; to encourage welfare recipients to take jobs rather than to discourage them from working," Nixon said.

But he said the work-incentive measure "represents a significant step in the direction of welfare reform."

At the same time, he called for quick congressional passage of the rest of his welfare proposals.

for a guaranteed minimum annual income of $2,400 for a family of four.

Southern Democrats say the guaranteed income, based on a sliding scale according to family size, would encourage illegitimate births. Some liberals also oppose the over-all bill, saying it is not generous enough.

Miss Bobbe Sue Martin Exchanges Vows Tuesday

The marriage of Miss Bobbe Sue Martin and Robert Dixon Rouse III was solemnized Tuesday evening at seven o'clock in the Evangelistic Tabernacle in Greenville.

The double ring candlelight ceremony was performed by the Rev. T. L. Byrd, pastor of the church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lafayette Martin of Bethel, and the bridegroom is the son of Superior Court Judge and Mrs. Robert Dixon Rouse Jr. of Farmville.

Traditional wedding music was presented by Mrs. W. R. Humnicutt, organist, of Bethel. Mrs. T. R. Andrews Jr. of Bethel, soloist, sang "A Wedding Blessing," "As We, O Lord, Have Joined Our Hands" and "The Wedding Prayer."

The chancel of the church was graced with a background candelabra of tall burning tapers. Tall standards of greenery and bouquets of white chrysanthemums completed the setting. The altar was centered with a prie-dieu decorated with satin-tied greenery. White satin bows marked the pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of candlelight silk faced peau de soie. The empire bodice was accented by a high collar and a bib effect designed in re-embroidered alencon lace. The fitted traditional sleeves were embellished with matching lace highlights. The A-line skirt was fashioned with an overlay of matching lace which ended in a scalloped border. The skirt extended into a chapel train and was accented by a sash embellished with lace motifs.

A cathedral length mantilla of English net graced with pearl accents and bordered with re-embroidered alencon lace was the bride's headpiece. She carried a full tapered bouquet of white gardenias surrounding white orchids, and intertwined with gardenia leaves and tied with ivory satin.

Mrs. Marcus Clifton King, sister of the bride, of Raleigh was matron of honor, and Miss Margaret Ann O'Neill of Fayetteville was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Katherine Howard Barnes of Lewiston, Miss Ruth Virginia Faggart of Charlotte, Mrs. Gwen Cameron Balk of Broadway and Miss Faith Hall of Bethel.

The attendants wore floor length sleeveless emerald green velveteen dresses fashioned with empire waistlines and fitted bodices featuring high necklines embellished with jeweled gold braid. They wore emerald green wide brim, gold braid hats and carried velvet muffs decorated with forever Yours Dutchess roses tied with matching bows.

Miss Melissa Pollard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Albert Pollard of Farmville, was flower girl. Her attire was similar to that of the attendants, and she carried a white ribbon showered basket filled with rose petals.

Michael Kelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Kelly of Greenville, served as ring bearer. He carried a white satin pillow embellished with red sweetheart roses.

The bridegroom's father was best man and ushers were J. P. Burnette and James Ivey Smith of Farmville, Marcus Clifton King of Raleigh, and Sheppard Allen McKenzie III and Richard Thornton Hood III of Chapel Hill.

Mrs. Martin, mother of the bride, wore a Fiesta pink all over French-pleated chiffon evening gown accented with a jeweled neckline and midriff. Her headpiece consisted of ostrich feathers attached to a bow of corresponding color, and her corsage was a white orchid. Mrs. Rouse, mother of the bridegroom, wore a Mandarin blue silk chiffon formal gown. The bodice of the empire silhouette was embroidered in self-colored paillettes and juggle beads. Her corsage was a white orchid.

Mrs. Robert Dixon Rouse Sr., paternal grandmother of the bridegroom, wore a Regal blue delustered satin formal gown and a white orchid corsage.

The bride attended East Carolina University, where she was a member of Alpha Delta Pi sorority. She was graduated from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and is enrolled presently in the graduate School of Clinical Psychology at East Carolina University.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, where he was a member of Sigma Nu fraternity. He is presently attending the University of North Carolina School of Law at Chapel Hill.

For travel to unannounced points, the bride wore a heaven blue gaberdine dress with blazer jacket and matching accessories.

Reception Following the wedding, the parents of the bride entertained at a reception at the Greenville Masonic Temple in honor of the bridal couple and their attendants.

Wedding motifs graced the rooms and the refreshment table was covered with a white satin cloth, garlanded with improved smilax and centered with a large arrangement of white snapdragons.

The bride's table was covered with white satin and appointed

Believe Freely In 'Free' Country

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: A 17-year-old former Baptist who chose to become one of Jehovah's Witnesses, and because of it was being persecuted by her family, asked for your views on the matter. I want to thank you for saying, "I think everyone should be allowed to serve God in his own way."

I have a quotation by Theodore White which may encourage her (and all the world): "To go against the dominant thinking of your friends, of most of the people you see every day, is perhaps the most difficult act of heroism you can perform."

Abby, isn't it an outrage that in this so-called "free country," one must be a "hero" to believe freely? Yours truly, MRS. GINNY IN JAMAICA

DEAR MRS. GINNY: Alas, it is.

DEAR ABBY: I enjoyed the letter from "Still in Shock in California," and your reply.

I am a transvestite, and it is harmless fun. There are thousands of men who enjoy occasionally dressing as a woman and going out for the evening. Most are good husbands, fathers, workers, and producers. In many cases, their wives encourage them, and assist in this activity.

I often assume the role of a woman on weekends and in the evening hours. Dressed as a woman, I attend concerts, art shows and lectures. I go shopping and dine out—and always in the company of my wife, who doesn't object one bit. We do not attract attention, and we mind our own business.

Nobody seems to mind. Do you?

PART-TIME WOMAN

DEAR PART-TIME: Not particularly. But doesn't it create a problem when you want to use the "powder room"?

DEAR ABBY: May I offer another suggestion to action that should be taken with possible child molestation? The Social Service Departments, formerly referred to as "Welfare," offer Child Protective Services in cases of child neglect and abuse. When a report of child molesting occurs, a thoro investigation is made and no charges are brought unless there is ample evidence.

Social workers are alerted to many cases of molestation when the reasons for young girls running away from home are investigated. Frequently these young girls have told their mothers that the father or stepfather is "bothering" them, but the mother is afraid to take any action against her spouse. It concerns me to think of the number of young girls who do not realize they have a place to turn.

The Social Service Department is an impartial agency that can help find solutions to these social problems. Sincerely, A SOCIAL WORKER

DEAR S. W.: The public would not believe the number of letters I receive concerning this problem. Thank you for writing.

DEAR ABBY: Please give this message to "Married a Year," who is upset over the prospects of her sister in law wearing her wedding gown:

My wedding gown cost $600, and I've never seen a wedding gown in or outside of the movies that was more beautiful than mine. The bridesmaids' dresses cost $200 each. And there were eight of them. My husband wore a $200 set of tails. And his ushers wore suits that must have cost every bit as much.

I had the big church wedding I had always dreamed of. After the wedding I didn't have to have my gown cleaned and stored at my mother's house. Nor will my daughter be expected to wear a gown that's 20 years old.

I took it right back to the rental shop where I got it! MARRIED IN STYLE IN FARMER'S BRANCH, TEX.

Speaking For Many Americans

Love that Lady from Maine!
 Senator Margaret Chase Smith stepped on toes of many of her colleagues last week in denouncing absenteeism, "moonlighting" speakers and the junket-prone.

The facts she cited are only too obvious, and her surmises are close enough to the truth to make the artists of absenteeism wince and voters smoulder.

Senators are paid $42,500 a year, plus a goodly allowance for what are supposed to be official expenses. With pinching a bit here and there, a person could get along on that kind of income. There is really no need to hit up the speech-making circuit for pocket money.

It is particularly disgusting to recall reading that in the final days before the Congressional Christmas holidays, the Senate was limping along dangerously close to the borderline of having enough members on hand to conduct its business; which included, we remember, the highly important tax measure.

Senator Smith suggested expulsion of any member who skips more than 40 per cent of a year's roll-call votes. That is a little bit strong for our stomach, though the lady's ire and our own feelings make the idea almost palatable.

However, the senators who do not tend to their official business were sent there by voters of their home states, not chosen by that "most exclusive club in the world." So the onus of being poorly represented is borne by the electorate of their respective states. It's up to the voters to do the housecleaning.

Still, we would like to see the Senator from Maine (who holds the record for consecutive roll-call votes — 2,941) rise from time to time to read chapter and verse about the flagrant dereliction of duty she touched upon last Monday...naming names, and adding a generous libation of indignation in behalf of the American people at large.

Incentive Plan Results Seen

By CLIFTON M. CRAIG
 N.C. Commissioner of Social Services

RALEIGH — The Work Incentive Program (WIN) adopted by the 1967 Session of Congress to provide jobs or job training for adult public assistance recipients in the Aid to Families with Dependent Children Program has begun to reap results in North Carolina.

The program was scheduled to go into effect in ten North Carolina counties on July 1, 1969, but due to start-up delays and problems with county participation, it did not start until September, 1969, and then with only six counties participating.

The ten counties selected by the U.S. Labor Department to participate were Cumberland, Durham, Orange, Mecklenburg, Wake, Craven, Forsyth, Guilford, Jones and Beaufort. Four of these counties, Guilford, Forsyth, Jones and Craven, refused to participate and the Attorney General filed a suit on behalf of the State Department of Social Services against Jones County. The Court ruled that Jones should participate but an appeal was made by the county. Meanwhile for fiscal year 1970-71 Gaston County was also selected to participate and it refused and, at the same time, Beaufort County dropped the program and refused to participate.

Financing for the WIN program was 80 per cent Federal, 10 per cent State, and 10 per cent county. The 1971 session of the General Assembly changed this, however, and the State picked up the counties' share and relieved them of any financial responsibility for the program. This action, coupled with the Labor Department's decision to drop the requirement for participation by the six balking counties, cleared up the pending court appeal by Jones County and the program is presently operating in Wake, Cumberland, Mecklenburg, Durham and Orange Counties.

Program Reaches 800
 The county departments of social services in these five counties have been assigned a total of 800 slots for the current fiscal year. Their responsibility is to select 800 AFDC recipients and refer them to the Employment Security Commission for participation in the WIN program. The Employment Security Commission's special WIN team operating in these counties then screens each referral and develops an employment plan based on the individual's qualifications for employment. If further training is necessary before employment is feasible, this is provided. This training includes not only vocational training but academic training for high school equivalency certificates. Most of the training is provided in Community Colleges and Technical Institutes.

The county departments of social services provide comprehensive social services for WIN participants and funds are provided for care of their children and a training allowance of $40 per month is provided those who are participating in a training program.

On September 30, 1971, there were 614 recipients enrolled in the WIN program in the five participating counties.

Results Summarized
 What has been the results and accomplishments of the WIN program since its beginning? The accomplishments have been many considering the program was a new endeavor on the part of the Department of Social Services and the Employment Security Commission. As mentioned earlier, the beginning was slow but the program is now reaping many worthwhile results in all five counties.

Since the program started in September, 1969, 350 AFDC recipients were placed in jobs by June 30, 1971. Of this number 209 were still employed on June 30. The continued employment of these 209 recipients has terminated the AFDC payments for 79 cases at a savings of $9,462 per month. Payments have been reduced for another 75 cases at a savings of $6,519 per month.

A look at what is happening to the 614 persons enrolled in the program on September 30 shows that 120 of these are enrolled in an academic training program working toward their high school equivalency certificates. Another 223 are enrolled in vocational training, 15 are receiving other training and 12 are receiving on the job training.

Attack On Poverty Cycle
 There are many significant contributions the WIN program is making in these five counties. The actual direct placement in jobs of some of the participants is an important phase of the program. These people are provided a thorough orientation which includes how to apply for a job interview and other helpful pointers in seeking employment. Many of these people are placed in excellent paying jobs. The two most significant accomplishments of the program, however, are the training programs that provide a high school diploma as well as vocational training for many of the mothers and

Jones Went To Bat For Tobacco Farmers

Congressman Walter Jones went to bat for the tobacco farmer with the Department of Agriculture recently after the ASCS tightened the procedures for one year leasing of tobacco allotments.

As a result now only one of the parties involved in the lease arrangement has to have his signature witnessed and if it works a hardship the arrangements can be made by mail.

Also the lien holder on the transferring farm no longer must sign the one year lease.

The tightened procedures apparently were working a hardship on farmers. The new procedures will make things a little easier.

Dirty Word In Union Circles

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Although President George Meany of the AFL-CIO and other top labor leaders accuse Arnold Weber of being an Administration "agent" on the Pay Board, the real source of labor's grievance against him is his stalwart work to open up construction unions to blacks.

Before being named one of five public members of the 15-member Pay Board, Weber had served high Nixon administration posts (most recently as executive director of the Cost of Living Council). Since then, the labor brass have repeatedly accused President Nixon of planting an inside Administration man on what was supposed to be an autonomous Pay Board, free from White House pressure.

In fact, however, it was Weber's achievement as Assistant Secretary of Labor for manpower programs that set big labor against him. He won construction union approval, after months of footdragging, to the "Philadelphia Plan" forcing the construction unions to open up their apprenticeship-training programs and their union lists to a specified number of Negroes. This was a breakthrough in the Federal government's long battle to break the color barrier in construction unions.

Accordingly, Weber's name had become something of a dirty word in union circles by the time he left the Labor Department to return to teaching law at the University of Chicago just before the Pay Board was created. A footnote: Weber is credited by sources inside the Pay Board as the main reason the board has not completely collapsed under the weak chairmanship of Federal Judge George Boldt.

Tunney Trouble
 Sen. Edmund Muskie's campaign is learning that its endorsement by Sen. John V. Tunney of California, though a great boost to the Muskie Bandwagon, is not an un-mixed blessing.

To the amazement of Muskie staffers, Tunney has moved in to try to take over the entire Muskie Campaign for the June 6 California primary. He had no sooner endorsed Muskie than he attempted to insert Tunney men throughout a campaign structure that has been in being for a full year.

Specifically, Tunney wanted Nelson Rising, a Los Angeles lawyer who managed Tunney's 1970 Senate campaign, to become Western states coordinator for Muskie. What soon became clear to Muskie men was that Rising wanted authority over the California campaign and over the veteran Paul Ziffren, who recently was named head of Muskie's campaign in California.

Acrimonious discussion between Tunney and Muskie agents followed with no solution at this writing. The two top national Muskie managers — George Mitchell and John F. English — were in Los Angeles with Muskie last week to try to sort things out.

Strength For Today

GOOD CHEER

"If God be for us, who can be against us?" (Romans 8:31)

The Apostle Paul wrote an epistle to the Christian community in Rome setting forth his beliefs. If it can be said that a single statement in this wonderful epistle sets forth the whole of its teaching then this one statement about getting right with God and staying right with God would seem to be a summary of everything Paul believed and taught. We are, indeed, in a bad way if God is not for us. And we can have no excuse for such a situation because the whole Bible testifies that God is more anxious to love us and save us than He is to punish us. He sent his only begotten Son into the world that whosoever believeth in him should not perish but have everlasting life. Furthermore, God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world but that the world through him might be saved. Christianity is a religion of good cheer. We often plunge ourselves into a deep mood of depression thinking about God as Judge and Punisher. It is true that we shall some day have to give an account of our acts and motives but we need always to remember that the God who will judge us is a loving God who is more anxious to give his blessing than to pass any harsh judgment upon what we think or do. Jesus was constantly urging his followers to be of good cheer. "In the world ye shall have tribulation," he said, "but be of good cheer. I have overcome the world." (John 16:33)

HALF-TIME PEP TALK!

By ART BUCHWALD

After Peking, Moscow

WASHINGTON — Is President Nixon going to peak too soon? There is some concern in Washington that after President Nixon goes to Peking and then to Moscow it will be hard for the Republicans to keep up interest in him until Election Day.

Not so, say the people who are programming the President's political campaign. The trips to Peking and Moscow are just warm-ups for the main event. Which will probably take place two weeks before Election Day.

I can now report that the Republicans have in store for their candidate.

"This is Walter Cronkite speaking to you from Cape Kennedy, where final preparations are being made for a space shot to the moon. The astronauts have been suited up, and they are now coming out of their dressing room to board the trailer and...wait a minute! One of the men in an astronaut's suit looks like President Nixon. Mike Wallace is down there by the trailer. Mike, doesn't one of the astronauts look exactly like like President Nixon?"

"It is President Nixon, Walter. Ron Ziegler has just informed us that the President has decided to visit the moon personally as a gesture toward world peace."

"Mike, is there any chance of speaking to the President?"

"I'll try, Walter. Mr. President, could you tell us why you have decided to go to the moon at this time?"

"Mike, I've always felt the President can find out more about a situation if he goes there himself. Now this is not to downgrade our fine astronauts who have done a magnificent job in exploring the moon. But I feel that if I see the moon first hand, I will be able to report personally to the American people as to what our position on the moon should be."

"Mr. President, who are you talking with you on the mission?"

"As you know, Mike, the Apollo space capsule can take three people including myself, and everyone wanted to go. Billy Graham made a strong case for going to the moon, as did Secretary Connally and Vice President Agnew, and I did have trouble with the Secret Service, who wanted to send 10 agents. The reporters from the White House insisted on sending a pool to cover the event. But I had to make a hard decision, (Continued on page 6)

Other Editors Say In Deep Trouble

(Washington Daily News)

Shaw University in Raleigh is 106 years old. Throughout its history, it has been a sort of lighthouse for educational accomplishment in the minds of educators familiar with the problems of a predominantly Black student body.

Last Summer quietly and without announcement, Shaw University cut its staff by 20 percent. Instead of a faculty and administration of 240 people, the number was cut to around 200.

Now another drastic and even tragic announcement has been made. Shaw University is to cut its faculty and administration in half, leaving only 100 members to do the job.

Throughout America in years gone by when they talked about predominantly Negro institutions, Shaw has been high on the list.

We have called attention before to the plight many private institutions are facing in this matter of ever rising costs. Shaw, along with many other institutions, cannot keep open their doors unless help is forthcoming soon. That is a dynamic statement to make, but we must face reality.

What is very likely to happen is that more and more students each succeeding year in the future is going to seek admission to state supported colleges and universities. And the big reason is that the costs of obtaining an education there are much cheaper. But what we usually neglect to realize is that the taxpayers of our state are paying an average of $1,283 per student per year to educate our young people in state supported institutions.

If demands become ever greater on state supported institutions, and as private institutions close their doors, it is going to cost the taxpayers much more over the long run. Of that fact, we feel certain.

There are facilities and a faculty available now at Shaw University. There are the students to be educated. But money is just not available. If we allow Shaw University and other institutions in similar circumstances to close their doors or even to cut down, then we are playing with educational fire. Not only will educational opportunity suffer, but the North Carolina taxpayer in future years will find his tax burdens increased.

North Carolina has no choice. We have the responsibility to offer education to our young people of all races and colors. We can accept our responsibilities fittingly and practically by keeping open the doors of private institutions.

Shaw is but one. There are a score or more others in our state now feeling the pinch. The moment of truth for many of them might not be too distant.

Those Job-Killing Sales Taxes

By ELMER ROESSNER

State governments collected $51.5 billion (B) in taxes during the fiscal year ended June 30, an increase of $3.5 billion or 7.3 per cent over the previous fiscal year, the Census Bureau reports.

More than half of this tax consisted of sales, selective sales and gross receipts taxes, a total of $27.4 billion. Like this:

General sales,	$15.5 billion
Motor fuels	6.6 billion
Tobacco products	2.5 billion
Alcoholic beverages	1.5 billion
Insurance	1.3 billion

In addition, there were many sales taxes imposed with state authority in cities and counties.

Since it seems likely that school district taxes will soon be declared illegal, states will face the problem of raising state taxes to cover the costs of education. This probably will mean sharp increases in sales taxes, states' easiest and quickest ways of raising money.

Sales taxes now run up to 7 per cent generally and up to 100 per cent on specific products, such as cigarettes. With the costs of operating educational establishments shifted from school districts to states, it is likely that sales taxes will swell to 10 or 12 per cent generally and run to several hundred per cent on tobacco and alcohol.

Thrust May Change
 In addition, despite the Wage Board and the Price Commission, wages states must pay and prices they must meet will continue to rise. The freeze (freeze?) hasn't been much help and the colder winter gets the less of a freeze there appears to be. So demands on states may be so great that there will be limits on sales tax increases. States may have to turn to other sources, such as increases in income levies or larger death duties. It is already too expensive to die in many states.

However, there is so much likelihood that sales taxes will meanwhile be increased that the question presents itself: Isn't it time to reconsider whether sales taxes are a competent answer in the first place?

There are many things wrong with such a tax. It is easy to evade. It adds hundreds of thousands of collectors to the tax system, many of whom will pay themselves for their trouble. Millions, perhaps billions, are lost each year in pilferage, yet almost no tax tappers go to jail. Sales taxes drive customers from high-tax to low-tax areas, often bankrupting merchants on

Ordeal Of The Nerves

By LOUISE COOK

Associated Press Writer
 NEW YORK (AP) — All it takes to turn the most law biding citizen into a quivering bundle of nerves, searching his conscience for crime, is a session with the customs inspector.

You know you haven't done anything wrong. You didn't have enough money left to spend more than your $100 duty-free allowance even if you wanted to. And you're not smuggling Cuban cigars or Oriental opium.

But let the customs inspector fix his beady eye on your battered suitcase and the guilty feeling begins.

Contributing to the intimidation, at Kennedy International Airport at least, is the baggage-checking system itself. You give your declaration card to the first inspector and he gives you a colored card in return.

One color means you and your baggage pass without checking; another means a cursory search; the third means a piece-by-piece examination.

Receiving anything other than the free-pass card immediately sets up a nerve-wracking train of thought. "Do I look like a smuggler?" "Why didn't he believe me?" "Is there anything I forgot to declare?"

Then comes the actual search. I always find myself babbling with nervousness, ready to declare the most inane thing. Like the 96-cent bottle of nail polish I bought in France.

In addition, there's always the problem of items purchased and dutifully declared on previous trips. Or foreign-made goods bought in the United States.

Any customs inspector with an eye in his head can tell that my battered and scuffed Italian shoes are victims of long-term wear.

And my white kid gloves from Christian Dior include the label (Continued on page 6)

By GWYN COGHILL
 Dec. 29, 1931

After observance of the holidays, the Greenville tobacco market will re-open for business Tuesday, January 5th, it was announced today by K. W. Cobb, supervisor of sales. The market suspended operations for observance of the holidays Friday, December 18 in order to give its employees a chance to spend Christmas with relatives and friends.

Impressed by the seriousness of the situation confronting the poor of the country, Greenville Rotarians last night contributed to the fund being raised by the local relief committee. Holding "Open House," the Rotes denied themselves of the regular supper and contributed the sum usually devoted to this cause to the relief campaign. The regular program was omitted, club members merely registering themselves as present and returning home for dinner.

Now playing at the State Theatre is William Powell in "The Road to Singapore."

what is the definition of a private brand?

To some people, it is a retailer's own brand created with selling price first in importance and quality second.

To us at A&P, it's the opposite.

Quality comes first.

Value...the best for the least is the rule for our private brands.

If this wasn't true, how foolish we'd be to invest, as we have, literally millions of dollars in processing plants and testing laboratories.

If all we wanted were products we could sell cheaply without quality control, anybody could produce them for us.

The idea of quality private brands isn't new at A&P.

As a matter of fact, it's one of our oldest policies—and by golly, we're proud of it.

Are A&P Private Brands a good reason for shopping A&P? They're one of many.

Yacht, Skipper Buried At Sea

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The motor yacht Miss Flagler has carried the body of her captain to the bottom of the Atlantic Ocean on the last voyage of their 18-year partnership at sea.

The $60,000, 48-foot yacht died hard. Seamen from a vessel that acted as the Miss Flagler's pallbearer had to smash holes in her deck and top before she slid under the waves Tuesday to become Capt. Joe Serzan's oceanic tomb.

Serzan died at the age of 62 on Dec. 20 after 40 years in the employ of Florida's Flagler family. The last 18 years he was captain of the Miss Flagler.

Mrs. Flagler Matthews, Evans-Novak . . .

impact outside California than inside the state. Because of Tunney's close personal friendship with Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, his move to Muskie was widely interpreted as the clearest signal yet that Kennedy would not run — exactly as Muskie strategists had hoped.

Losing A Seat

Collapse of a deal to give Democratic Rep. W. S. (Bill) Stuckey of Georgia the vacant seat on the seven-member Federal Reserve Board may cost him his seat in Congress.

Stuckey, a close friend and former neighbor of White House aide Charles W. Colson, inside political adviser and hatchman for President Nixon, let it be known last fall that with the Federal Reserve Board appointment seemingly in hand, he would not run for reelection.

But despite the sponsorship of one of the President's most potent operatives, the appointment has now been killed. Even Colson was unable to overcome the opposition of powerful Republicans from Georgia — notably Under Secretary of Agriculture J. Phil Campbell, and Howard H. (Bo) Callaway, the state's Republican national committeeman. Both refused to sanction appointment of Democrat Stuckey for the $40,000-a-year job.

The irony for Stuckey is that he was prepared to turn Republican after the 1968 election if the Republican party had come close to capturing the House. It did not, and he stayed a Democrat.

a tough decision, a decision that probably no President of the United States has ever had to make before. I had to choose two people to go with me, and I concluded the two who would be the most helpful are Henry Kissinger and my wife Pat."

"How did you arrive at your choice, Mr. President?"

"Since the moon is considered a foreign matter, it seemed to me Henry Kissinger would be the most informed on the subject. Henry has been urging me to go to the moon and felt the climate was right after he made a secret trip there himself last May. As for Pat, ever since we first started dating, she has always expressed a great interest in the moon, and I believe it's important for America that the First Lady accompany the President on an historic trip of this kind."

"Mr. President, are there any political implications to be read in your decision to go to the moon just two weeks before Election Day?"

"Mike, there are always going to be people who say that everything I do has a political motive. I know they're going to accuse me of making a grandstand play, and they're going to say I'm trying to steal the headlines for election purposes."

"But my answer to them, Mike, is that the bag of rocks I bring back from the moon will benefit all Americans, Democrats as well as Republicans, the old as well as the young, the poor as well as the rich, the blacks as well as the whites, the farmers in Texas, the factory workers in Michigan, our brave men overseas in the armed forces, the people who live in New York as well as the people who live in California. I intend to do what no other American President has done since the creation. And if that's politics, let them make the most of it."

granddaughter of railroad baron Henry M. Flagler and owner of the yacht, often had heard Serzan express a wish that he be buried at sea.

She never told him that she meant to honor his wish by giving him a funeral that would also send the yacht to the ocean depths.

Mrs. Matthews got permission from the Coast Guard to scuttle the Miss Flagler Dec. 22, but high winds and rough seas kept the boat at her moorings until Tuesday.

Just after dawn, Mrs. Matthews, a Roman Catholic priest and several mourners boarded a fishing boat that took the Miss Flagler to a point about 30 miles off shore.

She was anchored in 180 feet of water and men opened sea cocks that allowed water to gush into her hull.

The water soon covered the three new engines that had been installed in the white hull two weeks before Serzan died. Soon, waves washed over her foredeck, but the Miss Flagler stopped sinking when her cabin top was barely awash.

from the New York department store where I bought them at twice the Paris price. Descriptions and serial numbers of all the cameras are neatly listed on the customs form obtained a week before departure. (But did I remember to bring the form?)

Invariably, all turns out well. Despite my babbling, the inspector decides I'm not a hardened smuggler.

The only things he decides to inspect closely are my three-year-old fake fur, safely tagged with the name of an American manufacturer, and a gold ring, also American and also several years old. I'm finally on my way, sputtering over and proud possessor of all my miscellaneous parcels. Next year, I tell myself, I won't be nervous. After all, I haven't done anything wrong. Have I?

the early childhood development experience many of the children in these families are receiving in excellent day care centers while their mothers are enrolled in the program. This amounts to a double attack on breaking the poverty cycle. Adequate education is really the answer to breaking this cycle. A recent study showed that the AFDC mothers in this State have a median educational attainment of grade 9.5. Only approximately 14 per cent have finished high school and none have finished college.

WIN is providing these mothers who are dependent on public aid with a second chance and their children with a first chance to enhance their lives by escaping the poverty cycle. When one looks at the statistics in just these five counties, it is easy to see what the tremendous effect of such a program would be if it were implemented in all 100 counties.

A part of the welfare reform legislation before Congress that is referred to by some as "workfare" contains a national program designed after the Work Incentive program.

Complete Data Of 1970 Census Not Yet Available

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — It's been nearly two years since the government counted you, your neighbor and the guy down the street. But chances are your legislature still doesn't know how many live on your block.

The census of April 1, 1970, was a one-day snapshot of the country. The picture still is being developed, and waiting for it are state and local governments under the gun to reapportion.

The material that's sought is called "block data,"—literally a count of people who live on a given city block, arranged with neat little quick-glance maps. The Census Bureau is tabulating 1,500,000 such blocks, a staggering task even with computers.

Census data is a basic tool for redistricters. It provides the answer for the courts' demand that every person be represented equally in city and county councils, in the state legislature and in the U.S. House of Representatives.

"People are paying attention to population data as never before," said a key official at the Census Bureau. "When people did their redistricting after the 1960 census, there was no rush because there were no legal mandates."

Then came the Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote rulings of the 60s and "anybody is able to take a state legislature into federal court," he said. "People want to redistrict as fast as possible. A lot more people are knocking at our door and they want data earlier than the Census Bureau can give it to them."

On the day of the census, the bureau set 180,000 people to counting noses. Preliminary data was released in the fall of 1970. By February this year, each state had the figures for its part of the 250,000 "enumeration districts" the bureau tabulates.

"The Master Enumeration District list was available," the census official said. "Some states picked it up, some didn't. But a lot of older politicians, particularly the ones that worked on redistricting in the 60s, were used to using block data. And some states could not use the MED list because it averages 800 people per district."

National Guard Studies Possibility Of A Draft

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Top Pentagon officials are studying the possibility of drafting young men into the Army National Guard.

There are some legal and political hangups, but guard sources say the draft may be the only way to bolster a sagging but critical part of the nation's military establishment.

Army Guard strength has dipped to its lowest level in six years—384,000, 16,000 below the authorized level.

Guard officials think they may lose another 80,000 citizen-soldiers before next fall and then face serious manpower shortages.

Slain While With Family

LUMBERTON, N.C. (AP) — A Robeson County man was shot to death Tuesday as he sat in his car with his wife and children waiting for a ride to work. A neighbor has been charged with the murder.

Eugene Hammonds, 25, of the Clyburn community was shot once in the face at close range with a double-barreled 12-gauge shotgun as he waited for a ride to his Wilmington construction job.

He was pronounced dead on arrival at 5:10 a.m. at Lumberton hospital.

Deputy Sheriff Hubert Stone said George Bell, 55, is being held without bond. Stone said the shooting took place at a rural intersection. Four of Hammonds' five children were in the car, along with his 24-year-old wife.

Stone arrested Bell about three hours after the shooting as he emerged from a wooded area near his home. Stone said it was reported that Hammonds had quarreled earlier with Bell's nephew.

Marriage . . .

with a tiered decorated wedding cake encircled with smilax, clusters of white pom poms, flanked by a decorated cake knife and toast glasses. Mr. and Mrs. Clifton White Everett Sr. greeted the guests at the door and Mrs. Wadie T. Carson and Mrs. F. L. Andrews Jr. presided over the register. Punch was poured by Mrs. Walter Edward Beverly and Miss Rosa Martin, paternal aunts of the bride. Wedding cake was served by Mrs. James Gardner and Mrs. T. L. H. Holland, maternal aunts of the bride.

Goodbyes were said to Mr. and Mrs. James Dupree. Others who assisted at the reception table were Mrs. J. R. Bunting, Mrs. Horace Tetterton and Mrs. Reuben Taylor.

On Tuesday at twelve-thirty in the afternoon at the Masonic Temple in Greenville, a wedding luncheon was held in honor of the Rouse-Martin wedding party and out-of-town guests.

Hosts and hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. Clifton White Everett Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Barnhill, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bruton Edmondson, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. James Dupree, Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Simmons, Mrs. Wadie T. Carson, Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Clifton King, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Edward Beverly, Mr. and Mrs. James Gardner, Mrs. Reuben Taylor, and Mrs. Horace Tetterton.

The bride's table was centered with an arrangement of white snapdragons, yellow daisies, blue Dutch iris interspersed with miniature doll bridesmaids. Auxiliary guest tables were graced with floral arrangements similar to that of the bride's table.

For the luncheon the bride chose a Chianti wine velvet dress and corresponding accessories.

On Monday evening at the Candlewick Inn, Judge and Mrs. Rouse, parents of the bridegroom and Mrs. Rouse Sr., paternal grandmother, entertained at a rehearsal dinner in honor of the bridal couple, their wedding party and out-of-town guests.

Laird would hold off on any decision regarding the draft and the guard until he has had a chance to gauge the effects of recent military pay increases, which trickle down to guardsmen, and of a recruiting campaign.

In any event, officials agree the law is hazy as to whether there is now authority to draft men into the National Guard.

But Pentagon officials do not see any necessary conflict. They contend the government can continue to cut the size of the regular forces only if it can maintain a strong guard and reserves to meet crisis situations.

If the country and Congress can accept that reasoning, they may also accept drafting young men into the guard, the officials say.

But until that becomes necessary, officials are banking on what they call an "incentive package," chiefly a proposed re-enlistment bonus, to stem guard manpower losses.

With congressional pressure on to hold down the defense budget, guard officials fear that the bonus, costing $55 million, will fall by the wayside. Defense sources indicated the state Office of Economic Opportunity is looking for 300 families it plans to set up with 10-acre fruit farms and minimum incomes of $7,000 a year.

If the program is successful, several thousand more Oklahoma families will receive the same deal within five years.

Gov. David Hall stresses that the program requires hard physical labor and perseverance.

To acquire title to 10 acres in southeastern Oklahoma you have to clear the land of black jack and scrub oak.

The OEO will provide free use of chain saws and other equipment for clearing, plus instructions on how to run the equipment. Then the OEO will help grade the land and provide vines and trees for an orchard.

OEO officials say the orchards will produce at least $7,000 a year for each family in the program.

Breath-Testing Packet Advised

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Local police suggest that New Year's Eve parties include one of their free disposable breath testing packets.

The packets include a balloon and a tube. When a guest blows up the balloon, his breath passes through chemically treated crystals, and their changing color determines his sobriety or lack of it.

The Albuquerque Police Department says the perfect host will drive guests who flunk—but only after the host blows up his own balloon.

Oklahoma Offers Fruit Farms To Unemployed

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — If you are unemployed, but would like to earn your way and don't mind working hard, the State of Oklahoma has a proposition for you.

The state Office of Economic Opportunity is looking for 300 families it plans to set up with 10-acre fruit farms and minimum incomes of $7,000 a year.

To qualify, you must earn less than the federal poverty guideline, which ranges from $1,600 for a farm family of one to $5,600 for a nonfarm family of seven. You also must receive some type of subsistence income, such as welfare assistance, Social Security or a private pension.

The subsistence income is necessary because first-year income from a berry crop will total only about $1,500 per family. In addition, the OEO will offer $200 per month for part-time work clearing land on adjoining property.

In the third year a family can expect an income of $7,000 or above with a fully producing orchard, officials estimate. OEO Director Rex Sparger has obtained 3,100 acres nine miles east of Stringtown to accommodate approximately 310 of the vineyards and fruit orchards.

Buddies Enlist; Stick Together

MONROE, N.C. (AP) — Nine youths from Union County and two from neighboring Lancaster County, S.C., have been recruited for the Army on the buddy system, and will stick together as a squad.

The squad will be called the Carolinas All-Americans. The young men will be sworn in next Tuesday in Monroe by Maj. Gen. George S. Blanchard, commander of the 82nd Airborne Division.

They have been promised that after training they will be together at Ft. Bragg for at least 16 months. They will be with the 82nd Airborne "All American" Division at Ft. Bragg.

"This has been an incredible census," he said. "About 18,000 cities and towns and it seems like that many had complaints about the count. This slowed up the census by 4-5 months while we checked out complaints."

The bureau brought part of this problem on itself. "In 1967 the bureau made a sample study, highly theoretical, and admitted to missing people for the first time in its history," said the official.

"It believed it missed five million people in 1960. It caused every city, county and state to think that part of that miss was in their area and they watched this time."

Another factor, the official said, was that "a lot of states had impossible deadlines. Pennsylvania was in this bind. They had to have block data and they couldn't redistrict last year. New York had to do the same thing. California, which is just as big, has done very well with the MED list. But California is angry about not getting data on Spanish-Americans.

"Some legislatures have laws saying they must redistrict after release of census data. But the question is, what is census data?"

The Census Bureau has six different counts. The first is a basic tabulation of people in large areas, such as counties. Next come the enumeration districts, then the block data. Still to come is a further breakdown of detailed characteristics such as farm income, ethnic groups, occupational levels—the kind of information sought by sociologists. Then another count by Zip Codes, the information that marketing people want. And finally detailed characteristics for large urban centers, data needed by such government departments as Health-Education and Welfare and Housing and Urban Development. "We dump everything in that one," the Census Bureau official said.

HALF HIS FORMER SELF — A year ago, Wayne Monroe, a 6-foot, 2-inch, 34-year-old sports writer, weighed 464 pounds (left). Today he weighs 236 (right). His doctor, who performed surgery last December enabling Monroe to lose almost half his weight, says his patient may go as low as 185 pounds. (AP Wirephoto)

LONDON (AP) — The British government today rejected further financial demands by Malta and ordered British forces to prepare to pull out of the Mediterranean island.

If the order to go is finally given, British forces will be pulled out of the tiny island for the first time since it was wrested from Napoleon Bonaparte 170 years ago.

The Foreign Office said Maltese Premier Dom Mintoff made his new demand for more money on Christmas Eve, asking for an immediate $11 million.

Funeral Home to the Church one hour prior to the time of services.
Mr. Lewis was born and spent all his life near Vanceboro and was a retired farmer. He was a member of Palmetto Free Will Baptist Church.
Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Winnie Belle Lewis; three daughters, Mrs. Herman B. Tripp of Newport, Mrs. Huey Midgett of Washington, and Mrs. George J. Peters of Garrett, Ind.; three sons, Joseph L. ## Test Study For School

Falkland Grammar School has been chosen by the U. S. Office of Education to participate in a test study. The U.S. Office of Education in cooperation with Educational Testing Service is conducting the project to attempt to correlate seven reading tests that are used most frequently nationally in such a way that results can be translated from anyone of the seven into a score on any of the other tests. The test will be for fourth, fifth and sixth grade students. The study will provide new nationally representative norms for each of the seven tests. Wyatt Highsmith will serve as Pitt County coordinator. The test administered may be anyone of the seven most widely used reading tests which include: California Achievement Test, Comprehensive Achievement Test of Basic Skills, Iowa Test of Basic Skills, Metropolitan Reading Test, Sequential Test of Educational Progress, SRA Achievement Series, and Stanford Reading Test. The test will be administered during the week of April 17-21, 1972.

Post Office Sets Holiday

The Greenville Post Office and ECU Station will close their windows 12 noon Friday and remain closed Saturday.

No window service will be provided after noon on Friday but all outgoing mail will be dispatched as usual. Normal lock box, delivery, collection and special delivery services will be provided.

No window service will be provided Saturday and no rural or city deliveries will be made. Special delivery mail will be delivered within the city.

Mail will not be collected from street letter boxes Saturday and all mail deposited at the Main Post Office will receive normal dispatch.

Normal service will be provided Sunday. A self-service postal unit located in the lobby of the Main Post Office will supply the needs of most postal customers.

Toledo Rips Spiders, 28-3

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Toledo quarterback Chuck Ealey, the man who never loses, now looks ahead to pro football with a personal victory streak of 65 in a row.

"I can't recall too much about my last defeat," he said. "It was in the ninth grade and, at the time, who would have ever guessed my luck would have been so good?"

Ealey and All-American defensive tackle Mel Long led the Rockets to their 35th consecutive triumph Tuesday night in a 28-3 smashing of Richmond in the Tangerine Bowl.

"Sure, I want a shot in pro football," said the 6-foot Ealey. "Some people say I can't make the pros as quarterback, but I'd sure like to try."

Richmond, Southern Conference Champions despite a 5-6 record, was not completely shocked at losing to the team that hasn't tasted defeat in three seasons.

But the gritty Spiders took a 3-0 lead and stayed close until Toledo made it a rout with two fourth quarter touchdowns.

Joe Schwartz ran for two scores on short first bursts of 1 and 3 yards. And Ealey, who completed 14 of 23 passes, rammed over from the one for a touchdown.

Still, the 230-pound Long was the man who turned the game around. He had predicted it would be a memorable night.

Long told coach Jack Murphy before the game, "I'm gonna go out and win the most valuable award." And, he did.

Ealey was acclaimed the outstanding back.

The muscular tackle gave Toledo a 7-3 lead early in the second quarter when he crushed Richmond quarterback Ken Nichols, causing a fumble in the end zone. Long leaped on the ball for a touchdown.

Gamecocks Surge By Boston College Five

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

When you've coached college basketball as long as Frank McGuire and Bobby Knight have, you notice the little things.

McGuire noticed some familiar faces watching Tuesday night as his third-ranked South Carolina Gamecocks charged into the finals of the Quaker City Basketball Tournament by ripping Boston College 86-64.

And Knight noticed Brigham Young's zone and knew the only way to beat it was a deliberate offense that went only for the good shot. So that's the way his seventh ranked Indiana club whipped eighth-rated BYU 61-50 in the opening round of the Old Dominion Classic.

Tom Riker, 6-foot-10 senior, and Danny Traylor, 7-foot sophomore, led South Carolina to an early 22-8 bulge against over-matched BC, combining for 15 points in the early surge.

The Gamecocks, 7-0, controlled the boards so thoroughly that Boston College was shut out completely in offensive rebounds in the first half and trailed by 20 points at the intermission.

Traylor finished with 22 points and Riker had 15 for SC. Bob Carver added 16 for the Gamecocks.

In other Quaker City semifinal action, Villanova ran off 12 straight points in the second half and defeated No. 20 Tennessee 76-67.

Chris Ford's pinpoint passing led the Wildcats' spurt that turned a one-point Tennessee lead into an 11-point bulge for Villanova.

In the Old Dominion Classic, Indiana's deliberate attack wore down Brigham Young.

Steve Downing scored 23 points and grabbed 23 rebounds for Indiana while Joby Wright added 18 points and 12 rebounds. That was enough to contain BYU's Kresimir Cosic, the 6-foot-11 Yugoslavian pivot, who had 21 points.

"I realize it was a slow game for the crowd to watch," said Knight, "but when you come down against a zone like was faced most of the night and go for the good shot, you're not going to have a high-scoring game."

In the other first round game of the Old Dominion tournament, Old Dominion walloped Rice 114-86.

Second-ranked Marquette won the Milwaukee Classic, edging No. 17 Marshall 74-72 in the title game. It was the fourth straight tourney title for the host Warriors.

Bob Lackey and Allie McGuire combined to convert 17 of 19 second half free throws and the foul line accuracy doomed Marshall. McGuire's last two free throws with 17 seconds left, gave Marquette a four-point edge and clinched the victory. Lackey finished with 23 points to top the Warriors.

Fifth-ranked Southern California was jolted by No. 14 Penn 88-67 in the opening round of the Kodak Classic. Phil Hankinson hit 21 points and Bob Morse added 20 for the Quakers.

In the other Kodak Classic opener, St. Bonaventure slugged host Rochester 84-60.

Controversy dotted play in other holiday tournaments.

Fordham and Louisville gained the finals of the Holiday Festival at New York's Madison Square Garden with the Rams eliminating Providence 77-72 in overtime and the 15th-ranked Cardinals whipping St. Peters, N.J. 126-80.

Louisville refused to come onto the court until after the National Anthem was played, citing "superstition," and causing a walkout by veteran Garden public address announcer John Condon, who refused to work the game after the incident.

Ron Thomas' 26 points led Louisville, which won its seventh straight since losing its opener to Florida. The National Anthem affair was "just a matter of superstition," according to Louisville Coach Denny Crum. "My team once honored the National Anthem and we lost. Now we just won't come out until it's played."

Tom Sullivan's five-straight overtime points led Fordham past Providence. Bart Woytowicz contributed 21 points to the Ram attack and Ken Charles dropped in a pair of free throws with 30 seconds left, forcing the game into overtime.

In the consolation game of the Astro-Bluebonnet classic, winless Louisiana State was tagged with five technical fouls and bowed to Texas A&M 73-68. Jeff Overhouse led the Aggies with 26 points.

Referee Bob Smith ejected LSU Coach Press Maravich, tagging him with three consecutive fouls in the final minute of the first half. Then, consecutive technicals against LSU in the final minute of the game gave Overhouse two more free throws which he converted to put the game away.

"The only thing I can say," said Referee Smith, "is that the LSU coach started it. Coach Maravich, isn't that his name, was moaning about inconsistency. I struck a technical on him and he said, 'Give me two.' I warned him that the third technical would put him out of the game and he said, 'Give me three.'"

Houston won the tournament for the ninth straight year, blasting Michigan State 104-73. Steve Newsome's 21 points led the Cougar attack.

Stanford ripped Valparaiso 80-66 to capture the Motor City Tournament with Claude Terry's 16 points topping the scorers.

Wyoming downed Utah State 92-85 to capture the Utah State Classic.

In the Far West Classic's first round, it was Washington State 81, Michigan 67; and New Mexico 76, Oregon 61.

In first round play at the Gator Bowl, Illinois rallied for a 74-72 victory over North Carolina State and Florida breezed to an 87-47 romp over Columbia. Illinois plays Florida for the title tonight.

In the Big Eight tournament, Iowa State topped Kansas 91-88 and Kansas State nipped Oklahoma 62-60, completing the first round. Both winners moved into the tournament's semifinals.

In the All-College tourney, Eastern Kentucky topped Texas Tech 95-92 and Santa Clara ripped No. 16 Jacksonville 109-88, finishing the first round.

Southern Teams Return To Floor

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The holiday ends tonight for five Southern Conference basketball teams who will take part in tournament competition, three of them as the host clubs.

Serving as hosts will be The Citadel's Bulldogs to the Palmetto Classic, Furman's defending league champion Paladins to the Poinsettia Classic and Davidson's Wildcats to the Charlotte Invitational.

The Citadel, 2-4 over-all takes on Air Force and 11th-ranked Virginia, 7-0, meets Xavier of Ohio in the Palmetto Classic.

Furman, 4-2, takes on Auburn and Clemson meets Holy Cross in the Poinsettia Classic.

The Charlotte Invitational has Davidson, 3-3, meeting Georgia

Tech and Virginia Tech, 3 - 3, facing Rutgers.

William and Mary's Indians, who lead the conference at 2-0 but are 2-5 over-all, play Stetson in the opening round of the Tangerine Bowl Classic at Orlando, Fla., where Rollins meets Miami of Ohio in the other first-round encounter.

East Carolina's Pirates, 1-4, tackle Loyola of Los Angeles in the first round of the Oral Roberts tournament at Tulsa, Okla. Host Oral Roberts meets Connecticut in the other game.

Three league teams — Appalachian State's Mountaineers, Richmond's Spiders and Virginia Military's Keydets — don't return to action until next week.

State, Duke Beaten In Holiday Outings

ACC clubs, North Carolina State and Clemson.

Virginia, undefeated in its seven games this season and ranked No. 11 nationally, meets Xavier of Cincinnati, 5-2, in the Palmetto Classic in Charleston, S.C. Xavier has lost only to Kansas and Dayton. In the other game, the Air Force, 3-2, plays The Citadel, 2-4.

The Xavier coach is Dick Campbell, formerly at The Citadel.

Maryland, 6-1 and No. 16, is in its own Invitational Tournament at College Park, meeting Western Kentucky in the second game of tonight's double-header. St. John's of New York, 7-1 and ninth ranked, plays Harvard in the first game.

Wake Forest and Clemson also open in tournaments tonight.

Wake Forest, 2-4, plays in the Steel Bowl in Pittsburg against Duquesne, which received votes in The Associated Press poll for the top 20 teams, but not enough to make the list. Pitt and Navy meet in the other game.

Clemson, 2-2, plays Syracuse and Furman plays Auburn in the Poinsettia Classic in Greenville, S.C.

The North Carolina State Wolfpack, ahead by nine points with 16 minutes left to play, fell 74-72 to Illinois in the Gator Bowl Tournament in Jacksonville, Fla., Tuesday night. Nick Weatherspoon of Illinois, an outside sharpshooter, not only scored 22 points, but many times outjumped Tom Burleson, the nation's tallest college basketball player at 7 feet, 4 inches.

Burleson was the game's high scorer with 24 points, including 10 on goaltending calls when Weatherspoon, 6-foot-6, and Bill Morris, 6-foot-9, leaped above the giant and blocked his shots.

Weatherspoon had nine rebounds and Burleson had 11.

N. C. State meets Columbia in the consolation game tonight.

In the championship game, Illinois will play Florida, an 87-47 winner over Columbia.

Duke lost 74-72 to Syracuse in a consolation game of the Holiday festival in New York Tuesday night. Gary Melchionni's layup put Duke ahead 72-70. Then Gary Kohns put in a tying field goal for Syracuse with 34 seconds left to play. Syracuse then stole the ball under the Duke basket and Dennis DuVal dribbled the length of the court for the game-winning shot. Syracuse is 7-2 and Duke 4-5.

Duke was upset 77-74 the night before by St. Peter's of Jersey City in the opening round of the double-elimination tournament.

Chicago forged its triumph over Milwaukee before a record home crowd of 19,497 and sliced the Bucks' Midwest Division lead to four games. The Bulls ran off nine consecutive points early in the final period, paced by Jerry Sloan, to take an 89-82 lead and were never headed.

Baltimore, helped by cold Cincinnati shooting, steadily pulled away from the Royals behind the scoring of Archie Clark and Jack Marin and Wes Unseld's rebounding. The Bulls led by nine after one period, 16 at the half 20 after three and 31 at one stage in the final period. Clark scored 26 points, Marin 21.

Cleveland trailed Portland 83-66 in the third period but cut the deficit to nine entering the final quarter. Walt Wesley then scored 11 points to spark the final rally, including the winning point on a free throw when he was fouled by Charley Yelverton at the buzzer. John Johnson tallied 29 points and Wesley 22 for the Cavaliers while Geoff Petrie's 26 was high for Portland.

Bubba Lives In Gino's Shadow

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Bubba Smith impresses opposing players and coaches, but in Baltimore he still lives in the shadow of Gino Marchetti.

As a result, Baltimore fans are seldom satisfied with the performance of the current defensive end of the Colts.

Marchetti, rated as one of the best defensive ends in the history of the National Football League, was an All-Pro choice for nine consecutive seasons, 1956-64, with the Colts.

"It's difficult to be compared with Gino," said John Sandusky, Baltimore's defensive line coach, as the Colts arrived here today to begin final preparations for Sunday's American Conference title game in Miami against the Dolphins.

"Gino was the best I've ever seen, but he was blocked out at times, too," Sandusky said. "But he wasn't great from the start."

Sandusky says Smith has improved steadily in each of his five seasons with Baltimore, but contended "that's only natural."

"If you don't improve with experience, you're going downhill," he said. "I believe Bubba has the talent and the physical attributes to have people talking about him the way they talked about Gino."

Although the fans sometimes get on Bubba at home, he has been voted by rival AFC coaches to the Pro-Bowl team for the past two seasons.

"I admit that Bubba has loafed sometimes," Sandusky said, "but he hustles more and more all the time."

"Sometimes, though, he's assigned to stay in the area and watch for a reverse, and almost always he's double teamed by blockers."

Bubba had one of his better games last Sunday as he harassed Cleveland's Bill Nelsen in Baltimore's 20-3 playoff victory and blocked two field goal attempts by the Browns.

"I'm not at my peak yet," Smith said. "At least, I hope I've got better seasons in me. I'm still doing some things wrong. Like I have trouble beating the double team."

Lakers Capture 29th In A Row

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Lakers are alone at the top of the pro basketball world. But Coach Bill Sharman keeps looking for new mountains to climb.

"Seattle is the team we have to beat," the coach said Tuesday night after the Lakers had lengthened the National Basketball Association's longest-ever winning streak to 29 games with a 105-87 victory over Buffalo.

The SuperSonics, Los Angeles' next opponent in Seattle Thursday night, have been the victims three times during the streak, but Sharman reminded his listeners, "They are the only team to beat us on the road this year and they are No. 2 in our division."

What he didn't mention was that Seattle trails the Lakers by 14 games in the Pacific Division.

The Lakers' fantastic streak is overshadowing some other burgeoning winning skeins. The Boston Celtics, down by 16 points in the third period, rallied to make it nine in a row with a 120-116 triumph over Philadelphia.

The New York Knicks ran their string to seven, pulling away from Detroit in the second quarter and trouncing the Pistons 119-100. And Chicago's streak reached six as the Bulls turned back the Milwaukee Bucks 116-105 with Bob Rule getting 27 points in the second half and outscoring Kareem Jabbar 41-35.

Elsewhere, Baltimore walloped Cincinnati 119-87 and Cleveland nipped Portland 112-111.

The expansion Braves gave the Lakers an argument most of the way and might have won but for 30 turnovers. A rash of Buffalo ball-handling mistakes helped the Lakers on a 25-6 blitz in the final 10 minutes of the first half, and another series of errors by the Braves kept the Los Angeles lead safe after it had dwindled to 89-82 with 5½ minutes to play.

Elmore Smith, Buffalo's 7-foot rookie from Kentucky State, scored 17 points in the first quarter, when the Braves took a 34-27 lead. He wound up with 32 points and 20 rebounds, both game highs.

The Lakers parceled out the points more evenly, with Jerry West leading at 24. Chamberlain adding 23, Gail Goodrich 20 and Happy Hairston 19. Hairston had 14 rebounds and Chamberlain 13.

The Lakers are now within one victory of their second straight flawless month.

After Boston wiped out Philadelphia's 16-point lead, the 76ers rallied and nosed in front 116-115 with 1:17 left. But John Havlicek regained the lead for the Celtics with 37 seconds remaining and Jo Jo White added three free throws. Havlicek's 36 points led all scorers. Billy Cunningham had 24 for the 76ers.

New York's rout of Detroit spoiled the return to action of the Pistons' Dave Bing, who underwent surgery for a detached retina following the season opener. Although he had not even scrimmaged since the injury, Bing scored 21 points. Walt Frazier paced the Knicks with 30.

Chicago forged its triumph over Milwaukee before a record home crowd of 19,497 and sliced the Bucks' Midwest Division lead to four games. The Bulls ran off nine consecutive points early in the final period, paced by Jerry Sloan, to take an 89-82 lead and were never headed.

Scott Rallies Virginia To Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Virginia Squires got Charlie Scott back in the nick of time but the Pittsburgh Condors had to suffer without John Brisker.

Scott, leading scorer in the American Basketball Association, got in early foul trouble but came off the bench to score 18 points in the final quarter of Virginia's 129-126 victory over Carolina.

Without the injured Brisker, their leading scorer and the No. 3 point-maker in the league, the Condors put up a game struggle and led Denver by five points with less than five minutes to play. But the Rockets scored 13 straight points in the final two minutes and salted away a 114-105 triumph.

downed the Pros 111-104.

Although rookie Julius Erving tallied a career high 39 points for Virginia, Scott sealed the Squires' victory with a steal and two free throws with four seconds left. He finished with 27 points. Jim McDaniels starred for the losers with 35.

George Thompson's 35 points was high for Pittsburgh but Denver's Ralph Simpson sparked the Rockets' winning rally and wound up with 30.

Indiana trailed Memphis by as many as 10 points in the first half but had the margin down to one after three periods. Mel Daniels put the Pacers ahead for good at 97-96 and Rick Mount's jumper with 59 seconds left iced matters. Roger Brown scored 27 points for the winners, Johnny Neumann 24 for Memphis.

Craig Morton Not Unhappy Over Role As Long As Cowboys Win

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer
DALLAS (AP) — Dallas fans voted him their "favorite Cowboy"—but that was a year ago.

Now, 51 weeks after he quarterbacked the Cowboys to a National Conference championship, Craig Morton sits in the shadows.

More precisely, he stands in them, conferring with Coach Tom Landry and watching the action from the bench while Roger Staubach does the quarterbacking.

"We're winning, aren't we? That's the important thing," Morton said as he and the rest of the Cowboys went through a workout in preparation for their NFC title rematch with the 49ers Sunday at Texas Stadium. The personable, soft-spoken seven-year veteran from California, who lost the No. 1 job to Staubach midway in the season, expressed mixed emotions about his back-up role.

"Sure I want to play," declared Morton, who directed the Cowboys to a 17-10 triumph over San Francisco a year ago and came close to doing the same in the Super Bowl before Baltimore eked out a 16-13 decision.

"Any man who said he didn't want to play wouldn't be true to his profession," Morton said. "And I wouldn't be telling the truth if I didn't say I want to be in there awful bad. "But let's face it—Roger's doing the job. He's brought up to where we are today, so naturally we've got to go with him."

It was on Oct. 31, after the Cowboys had lost to Chicago, that Morton became No. 2. Prior to that, Dallas didn't have a No. 1, so Landry decided to experiment against the Bears, shutting his quarterbacks in and out on alternate plays.

After that debacle, Landry—calling the plays from the bench as he had all year—went with Staubach. The result was a 16-13 victory over St. Louis, followed by seven more victories in succession, including last Saturday's 20-12 romp against Minnesota in the NFC semifinal.

"I don't really know why I lost the job," Morton said. "Coach Landry just never explained it to me." But a check of the statistics shows that while Morton's were good, Staubach's were better.

"Now I just stay in shape, keep up with the training, the studying and everything, just as though I was No. 1. After all, you never know what might happen . . ."

Tie Sales Go Up For Garo

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
MIAMI (AP) — There's been a big boom in tie sales for Garo Yepremian since he kicked his winning field goal in pro football's longest game. But the little Miami kicker knows that a guy like Bubba Smith can cause an instant recession.

"People who are selling my ties tell me they're very happy," Yepremian reported today before the Dolphins' workout for Sunday's American Conference Championship game against Baltimore. "A lot of people are calling the stores ordering my ties."

They are doing so in the wake of Saturday's 37-yard field goal that produced a 27-24 victory over Kansas City after 22 minutes, 40 seconds of sudden-death overtime. That kick made the 5-foot-7 soccer-style booter the No. 1 local hero.

That has meant immediate increase in sales for Yepremian's tie business—one he began following the 1967 season when he was cut by the Detroit Lions.

"When I lost that job I started making ties," said Yepremian, a Cypriot of Armenian heritage who left the island during the civil war in 1960 and landed in London with his family.

"My parents had always been in the fabric business," Yep-remian explained. "When we arrived in London I went to work in a factory as a cutter making tunics for the guards at Buckingham Palace. When Detroit cut me I started the tie business."

Business sometimes rises and falls with his kicks, so his current concern is Smith, mammoth defensive end of the Colts.

Yepremian kicked the winning field goal in a 17-14 victory over Baltimore the first time the teams met this season, but had one blocked by the 6-foot-7, 295-pound Smith during a 14-3 loss in their second meeting.

Smith also blocked two field goal attempts in the playoff game against Cleveland in which the Colts advanced to the AFC championship game and has a total of four for the season on a club that has blocked an unusually high number of seven.

"He does that a lot of times," Yepremian acknowledged. "What I have to do is concentrate more on my kicks and kick higher than I normally do. You lose about five yards distance, but when you know the other team has a terrific rush you have to do that."

Still, the balding, unlikely looking hero has supreme confidence in his ability, a product of the way the Dolphins have treated him since he joined them as a free agent in 1970.

Neither Vince Nor Bill Will Predict Scoring For Gator Bowl

By F. T. MACFEELY
Associated Press Writer
JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — When two football teams as alike as brothers meet in a bowl game, it isn't easy for the coaches to figure how many points will go up on the scoreboard.

Georgia and North Carolina, opponents in the Gator Bowl Friday afternoon, may be so much alike because they are coached by brothers, Vince and Bill Dooley.

However, their hesitation to predict the point production is based more on the similarity of their offenses and defenses than it is on their personal relationship.

"We are both able to move the ball pretty well," said Georgia's Vince Dooley after bringing his Bulldogs to town Tuesday evening.

"You would think from both our offenses, there should be a number of points scored," he said. "On the other hand, both our defenses are good against rushing and rushing is the forte of both teams."

"I just don't know," he concluded as to the predictable scoring.

Brother Bill, whose Tar Heels went through their second stiff workout at Jacksonville Beach, said he has no idea whether to expect a low scoring or a high scoring game.

"I found out some time ago it's hard to predict how much scoring there will be in any game, let alone this one," Bill said. "I've quit trying to predict points."

The rival quarterbacks, younger and less experienced than their coaches, aren't so reticent. Both indicated they expect low scoring.

"We will have to be at our best to do much scoring," said Georgia's sensational sophomore Andy Johnson. "They play a lot of man defense, which leaves eight men on the line against us. When they do that, we are outmanned up there."

Paul Miller, North Carolina senior who went to the air more than Johnson during the season, still sees a hard nose-to-nose battle by a pair of tough lines.

"I imagine you will see a low scoring, tight game," Miller said. "It will be their running against our running; their defense against our defense." Impartial observers see Georgia, with a 10-1 record, better by a little more than one touchdown.

For one thing, North Carolina went 9-2. For another, Georgia plays in the Southeastern Conference, a tougher league than the Atlantic Coast Conference. Another barometer is their performance against two mutual foes. Georgia beat Tulane 17-7 and Clemson 28-0. North Carolina was upset by Tulane 37-28 and beat Clemson 32-20.

Jenkins Honored

TORONTO (AP) — Ferguson Jenkins, 28-year-old right-hander for Chicago Cubs, was named Canada's outstanding male athlete of 1971 Tuesday, only the second man ever to win the honor three times.

Jenkins, who won the award in 1967 and 1968, joins Maurice "The Rocket" Richard, retired star of the Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League who was picked in 1952, 1957 and 1958, as three-time winners.

Jenkins is from Chatham, Ont.

The poll is conducted by The Canadian Press among sports writers and broadcasters across the country.

Jenkins, a 20-game winner in each of the last five seasons, won with 232 points. Phil Esposito of hockey's Boston Bruins was second with 187, and world-record harness racing driver Herve Filion, was third with 150.

South Captures 9-0 Grid Win

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — While the South all-stars were wrapping up their final game as collegians with a 9-0 victory in the Blue-Gray football classic, their head coach was also pacing the sidelines for what was probably his last time before stepping into the professional ranks himself.

Bill Peterson, who guided the Gray squad through a giant defensive battle Tuesday night, had learned earlier in the day that Rice University was not going to put up a legal fight to keep him as their head football coach.

His send-off in the nationally televised game in Cramton Bowl was on a winning note, but the victory was earned in a manner which Peterson is not known for.

He has been one of college football's biggest proponents of the pro passing style, and under his command on the Gray squad were two quarterbacks with proven passing abilities—Steve Judy of Texas Christian and Joe Gilliam of Tennessee State.

However, the expected aerial fireworks were dampened by fierce defensive work, and it took a 7-yard touchdown scamper by Stahle Vincent of Rice, and a 19-yard field goal by Tennessee's George Hunt to nail down the hard-fought win.

The Gray quarterbacks completed eight of 17 attempts and had three of them picked off. The Blues, with two good arms in quarterbacks Neil Graff of Wisconsin and Gary Fox of Wyoming, fared even worse, completing only seven of 25 tosses. However, they registered no interceptions.

Pointing up the defense's contributions to the victory was the selection of defensive end Guy Roberts of Maryland as the game's most valuable player. The choice of the 6-foot, 225-pounder marked the first time in the classic's 34-year history that the award went to a defensive player.

Stahle's touchdown bolt on the first play of the second period climaxed a 74-yard drive which was highlighted by hard charges from Vincent and Art Cantrelle of Louisiana State as well as timely completions by Judy.

Hunt's field goal came late in the fourth quarter, shortly after the Blue's muffed their best chance of the night by running out of downs at the South 18.

Afterwards, North head coach John Jardine of Wisconsin voiced an opinion which most fans at the game would have agreed with considering the Blue squad's offensive talents. "One thing I thought we'd at least be able to do," he said, "was put something on the board."

Memories Don't Bother Hardman

By ERIC PREWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Cedrick Hardman, a Texan on his way home for a weekend, recalls, "I used to like the Dallas Cowboys."

"When I was in college they gave us passes to their games," the 6-foot-3, 255-pound defensive end of the San Francisco 49ers said Tuesday.

But in last year's National Football Conference championship game, the Cowboys picked on Hardman, a rookie, by aiming a lot of running plays in his direction. Dallas won 17-10 to reach the Super Bowl.

On Sunday in Dallas, the teams meet in a title rematch.

"I haven't let that game bother me too much," Hardman says now. "The only thing that I don't like when I look back is the final score."

"The films showed I was doing my job on their sweeps. But we didn't readjust our whole defense when we should have in some situations."

Coach Dick Nolan agrees. "They threw some new things at us, and it takes experienced players to read those things quickly," he said Tuesday. "We had Hardman, Jim Sniadecki and Bruce Taylor on the right side, with a total of four years experience," he added. "On Sunday, we'll have seven years experience there."

Cornerback Taylor also was a rookie last season, and Sniadecki, in his second season, was filling in for injured Skip Vanderbundt at right line-backer. Vanderbundt, a starter all three of his seasons with the 49ers, is back on the job now.

Taylor sprained an ankle last Sunday in the 24-20 victory over Washington in the opening round of the National Football League playoffs.

"I probably won't know until just before the game whether Bruce will play," Nolan said. "But he's a lot better."

Hardman, 23, is from Houston and played college football at North Texas State. He was the 49ers' first draft pick before the 1970 season.

He and Tommy Hart, 27, give the 49ers one of the youngest pair of starting defensive ends in the NFL. They are also two of the fastest men at their trade.

Teams Trying To Boost Marks

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — All four teams in the ninth annual Charlotte Invitational Basketball Tournament opening tonight will be seeking to climb over the .500 mark.

Davidson, 3-3, plays Georgia Tech, 2-3, in the first game. Then Virginia Tech, 3-3 plays Rutgers, 3-4. The consolation and championship games will be Thursday in the Charlotte Coliseum.

Davidson has won the tournament five times but in the last couple of years it has been no longer a nationally ranked team.

Forward Joe Sutter and guard John Falconi are leading Davidson in scoring on an average of 16.4 points each.

Georgia Tech opened with three losses but then defeated two Southern Conference teams, William and Mary and Furman. The leading scorers for the Yellow Jackets are Steve Post, averaging 19 points, and Bob Murphy, averaging 17.6. Murphy scored 32 points against Furman.

Allan Bristow of Virginia Tech has the best scoring average in the tournament, 27.8.

When are you going to start salting away some of your good intentions?

Everybody wants to save money. Unfortunately, most of us seem to have a rough time actually doing it. We start, then we stop. The money never piles up.

The Payroll Savings Plan is the easy way to start saving; the painless way to keep saving. Your money gets a chance to pile up because the amount you specify is automatically set aside from your paycheck and used to buy U. S. Savings Bonds.

You actually salt away savings, paycheck after paycheck. And now there's a bonus interest rate on all U. S. Savings Bonds—for E Bonds, 5½% when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year).

That extra ½%, payable as a bonus at maturity, applies to all Bonds issued since June 1, 1970 . . . with a comparable improvement for all older Bonds.

Join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. It's a great way to make today's good intentions pay off tomorrow.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until redemption. And always remember, Bonds are a proud way to save.

Grass Fires Are More Numerous

Grass fires are once more occurring with frequency in Pitt County as farmers get an early start in operation due to the warm dry weather. In a report of recent county fires, grass fires accounted for five of the nine fires reported in the past five days. County Fire Marshal Bobby Joyner today furnished details of fires occurring in the county since the early morning of December 25. The record shows:—Saturday, December 25: 2:45 a.m. An automobile fire resulted in the total loss, with an estimated value of $2,500, of a car belonging to Earl Taylor. The Farmville Fire Department answered the alarm, reporting to the scene on Rural Road 1200. —Sunday, December 26: At 3:21 a.m., an outbuilding on the John B. Rouse property at Portertown was a total loss with a value estimated at $1,500. Eastern Pines reported to the scene. A grass fire at 11:02 a.m. occurred at Haddock's Cross Roads. Winterville Fire Department reported to the scene. At 1:05 p.m. Staton House Fire Department extinguished a grass fire at the intersection of highways N.C. 11 and N.C.903. —Monday, December 27: A 5:15 p.m. alarm received by Grifton Fire Department was for a grass fire alongside N.C. 11 north of Grifton. —Tuesday, December 28: A 9:10 a.m. Eastern Pines, assisted by the Simpson Fire Department, fought a blaze in the Charles Gray home. Damage to the $25,000 home was estimated at about $5,000. Black Jack Fire Department reported to a grass fire at the Peggy Relyea home at 11:56 a.m. A second grass fire on Tuesday was at 2:43 p.m. on the Rob Jones farm on Statonsburg Road. Bell Arthur responded to the scene. At 3:06 p.m. Eastern Pines received a false alarm on a grass fire at Pine View Trailer Park. The Black Jack Fire Department reported at 3:20 p.m. to a grass fire on the Fred Cox property.

Retires From Social Services

RALEIGH — Mrs. Gertrude Anderson, supervisor of standards and procedures for the Social Service Division, N.C. State Commission for the blind, has retired after 27 years of service with the agency. During that time, Mrs. Anderson has supervised social workers and legally blind clientele in 30 northwestern North Carolina counties and has served twice as acting supervisor of Social Service, one of four divisions of the state's agency working in prevention of blindness and service to the blind. A native of Columbus, Ga., Mrs. Anderson graduated from the University of Alabama. She attended the University of Chicago and the University of North Carolina, studying in schools of social work. Mrs. Anderson began working with the Commission for the Blind in 1944. She remained in Williamston, the home town of her late husband Oscar S. Anderson, until 1953 when she moved to the Greenville District Office. Mrs. Anderson resides at 402 Hillcrest Dr., Greenville, where she plans to reside permanently. She is also planning to become more active in Greenville's Arlington Street Baptist Church, where she has continued to serve as financial secretary. Mrs. Anderson has three stepsons, Oscar Anderson Jr., Martin and Arthur Anderson; nine grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Little Red Stocking Plea Short Of Goal

GREENSBORO — Two days before Christmas the Little Red Stocking appeal of The Children's Home Society of North Carolina, Inc. had reached 77 per cent of its goal. According to Richard L. Wharton, Society president, gifts to the Stocking Fund totalled $91,484.60 as of December 23. The statewide services of the Society are supported by allocations from United Funds across the state and by voluntary contributions from adoptive parents and friends directly to the Society. Traditionally, the Little Red Stocking appeal during the Christmas season is a major source of direct contributions needed to meet the Society's operating expenses for each current fiscal year, ending December 31, and to insure the continued level of services in the forthcoming year. During the first eleven months of 1971, the Society placed in adoptive homes 239 children, of whom 79 were referred from other agencies for homefinding. The expanded program to effect permanent plans for children with special needs has resulted in the security of an adoptive home and family for an increased number of school-age children, groups of brothers and sisters, black and bi-racial children, and youngsters with physical or developmental problems. "As the year draws to a close, we are confidently hopeful that North Carolina citizens who are concerned for our state's homeless children will fill the Society's Little Red Stocking and thus share in the continued efforts to bring the security of a permanent home to the boys and girls who are waiting," Wharton stated, and added, "I'd like to remind our friends that all gifts to the Society are tax-deductible."

According to Chief Glenn Cannon, Greenville officers arrested John Jeffery Lee on a public drunk charge at the intersection of Fifth and Cotanche Streets shortly after midnight. As Lee was being booked at the Pitt County Jail about 12:20 a.m., he bolted out of the jail door with officers in pursuit. Policemen who "tried to cut him off on the grass" in the Shore Drive area before he reached the river failed. One officer finally succeeded in tackling Lee and bringing him to the ground, only to injure his leg — an injury that required about 19 stitches to close. Lee jumped up, then dove head-first into the river to make good his escape.

Sorority Held Holiday Dinner

Members of Gamma Delta Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha held a buffet dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Cassick Thursday night. The house was decorated with a holiday motif. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Barlow, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Collins, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Amos Evans, Mrs. Bill Goin and Mrs. Helen Sermons. Members of the sorority gave parties one afternoon last week for the children in the three TMR classes in Greenville. Christmas stockings were given to each child. The sorority also helped a needy family in Pitt County. Sumrell is teaching eighth grade math at Graham Middle School in Graham.

Prefers Jail To Probation Terms

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP) — The 20-year-old woman said she would rather be in jail for six months than be watched for three years. She told the judge Tuesday that was why she had violated the terms of her probation on a shoplifting charge. Judge Robert Kirby obliged.

CASALS BIRTHDAY

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — Pablo Casals, the Spanish cellist, celebrates his 95th birthday today. A special concert in his honor will be held this evening at the governor's mansion.

Critics Pick Best Movies

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Film Critics have voted "A Clockwork Orange" as the best motion picture of 1971 and named its director, Stanley Kubrick, as the year's best director. Jane Fonda was voted best actress for her portrayal of the harried call girl in "Klute" and Gene Hackman won as best actor for his characterization of the tough detective in "The French Connection." Ben Johnson was chosen best supporting actor and Ellen Burstyn as best supporting actress, both for their roles in "The Last Picture Show," in the critics' 37th annual poll Tuesday. Voting in the screenwriting category ended in a tie between the filmmakers for "The Last Picture Show" and "Sunday Bloody Sunday." The 22 critics who participated in the voting represented newspapers, magazines and other media. The winners will be presented plaques at a reception at Sardi's restaurant on Jan. 23. In the best picture category, "A Clockwork Orange" edged "The Last Picture Show" by 31 to 24 in the critic system of weighted voting. Other runners-up were "The French Connection," 11 votes; "Sunday Bloody Sunday," 8; and "McCabe and Mrs. Miller" and "Claire's Knee," 5 each. In the voting on best director, Kubrick won easily with 38 votes to 31 for Peter Bogdanovich, the cocenarist as well as director of "The Last Picture Show."

Another School Area Meet Set

The Area Coordinator of Area Number 10 of the 26 areas encompassing the Greenville School District for the purpose of Citizen Advisory Committee representation has announced the time and place of a meeting to elect a representative. Area coordinator Alton E. Warren has revealed that residents of Village Grove and Stantonsburg Road area, the two communities making up Area No. 10, are asked to attend a meeting to be held Tuesday, January 4 at 7:00 p.m. in the Multi-Purpose Room of Sadie Sautler Elementary School. With the announcement of this area meeting, this brings to 18 to date the number of areas taking action to elect their representative to the Citizen Advisory Committee, which will have its first general meeting on January 10.

The Worry Clinic False Passion In Secret Fear

Helen thinks women are just passionate as men. Notice what she says about her married girl friends and their illicit afternoon affairs. In ancient Egypt Joseph resisted one of these nymphomaniacs, who lied and sent him to prison because of her affronted feminine vanity!

"Wasn't it his employer's wife who tried to seduce him into an affair?"

Nymphomanias
Excessively erotic wives are called nymphomaniacs. But such women, though apparently hyper-sexed, are actually goaded by an inferiority complex!

Ph.D., M.D.
Case S-557: Helen F., aged 29, is protesting.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "you say that women are naturally not as passionate as men."

"But I disagree!"
"For I know a number of wives among my acquaintances who are sexually dissatisfied at home."

"So they slip out during the afternoon for a clandestine affair."

"Because they get home before their husbands arrive from the factory or office, their mates don't even suspect anything."

"And if you also wish a historical precedent, what about Biblical Joseph in Egypt?"

Their supposedly excessive passion is due to the secret fear that they "are not all there as a woman," as they often confess.

Helen mentions the wives of her acquaintances who slip out during the afternoon for a stolen romantic interlude with a strange lover.

Do you readers think those women usually have small children at home?

We doctors find that they are generally childless!

For such a woman soon grows frightened that she is sterile.

This dread that she cannot bear children, is what formerly drove many menopausal women into mental sanitariums.

Admittedly, many women SEEM to be very passionate.

But I have never yet interviewed such a patient who really was physically erotic, as men view such matters.

Please remember, too, that I speak from medical experience based on actual patients; not on letters from newspaper readers!

Hundreds of "call" girls (many of them wives), as well as nymphomaniacs and commercial prostitutes have been my patients.

Yet they all were motivated either by money or by an underlying dread that they were below par in their feminine anatomy.

The latter women include those who have an infantile uterus and thus can't get pregnant.

Or who have fibroids that debar childbirth.

Or women with an amputated breast, due to cancer, or a hysterectomy (womb removal) or disfiguring burns and scars or even crippled limbs.

When such a woman begins to indulge in self-pity and imagine she is not normal, then she may try to enter into affairs, with other men besides her husband.

For she thus tries to test her feminine wiles in the hope of reassuring her wounded feminine ego.

In ancient Egypt, it is quite likely that Joseph's employer had a sterile wife.

Maybe she already had general disease (as is quite likely) and thus couldn't get pregnant.

When rebuffed, her feminine ego was so affronted, she lied about her attempted affair with Joseph and this had him sent to prison.

So send for my booklet "Sex Differences Between Men and Women," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

COLORED DIAMONDS

CHICAGO (UPI)—A diamond can be more than a girl's best friend if it's the right color.

Because of its other properties, says Encyclopedia Britannica, a diamond is the only gem which is valuable when colorless. But varieties which are red, green or blue are even more valuable.

Greater Safety If Eyes Tested

NEW YORK (UPI)—The number of Americans killed in car accidents far exceeds those who have died in military service throughout the nation's history. In 1970 about 4 million persons were killed or injured on the highways.

With 90 per cent of driving decisions based on sight, the Society for Visual Care advises that many road accidents could have been averted if licensed drivers' eyes had been examined professionally and corrective glasses obtained when necessary and prescribed.

Alpine Area New Natural Park

FUSINE, Italy (UPI)—A 125-acre corner of unspoiled Alpine landscape near the borders with Austria and Yugoslavia has been turned into a protected "natural park."

The park, including two tiny lakes known as Upper and Lower Fusine, and overlooked by 8,786-foot Mt. Mangart, includes beautiful forests and pastures. The fauna ranges from salmon to deer, eagle and a variety of fowl.

Farm animals in the United States create about 2 billion tons of waste a year.

West certainly not looking at any textbook when he selected his opening lead against South's three no trump contract in today's hand—and yet his choice was well calculated to achieve an upset on the deal.

The normal lead from West's hand is the king of clubs. North's bid of that suit suggested that the latter's length in that suit would probably include a secondary stopper in the form of the ten. There was an additional consideration that if, by some chance East held the ten of clubs, it would be necessary to get that card out of the way early before it blocked the suit.

Gives Away His Increased Pay

LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—State Rep. Richard Allen is donating his $2,000 legislative pay raise to charities and other good causes in his district.

Allen said he is giving up the pay raise because he supports the wage-price freeze and is in sympathy with teachers and other workers who were denied a scheduled wage increase.

South took an inventory of his tricks and observed that even if the heart finesse succeeded, he could not possibly come up to nine without first driving out the ace of diamonds. A small diamond was led to the ten and West was in with the ace. He promptly cashed the queen and five of clubs to set the contract.

Observe that if West leads the king of clubs originally, North's ten will eventually become a second stopper and prevent West from running the suit when he gets in with the ace of diamonds. The latter must put dummy in again with the ten in order to establish a long club and that gives South an opportunity to take 10 tricks—one spade, four hearts, three diamonds, and two clubs.

Gaudy Male Is Here To Stay
NEW YORK (UPI)—The gaudy plumage of today's male is here to stay, says Sartain Lanier, chairman of Oxford Industries, Inc. He sees no return to the gray flannel suit and the conservative tie, at least in the foreseeable future.
Oxford, Atlanta producer of men's and women's apparel and business machines, says even the "conventional" dress shirt is no longer conventional. Exclusive fabrics, colors and designs, as well as a variety of color styles, cuff and pocket treatments, give the modern man a far wider choice of distinctive looks than his forebears ever had, even in the days of plumes and ruffles, Lanier says.

Houseboat Colony Remains Sore Spot In Sausalito

By JAMES O. CLIFFORD Golden Gate from San Francisco that the visitor, busy in its fine art shops and restaurants, rarely sees. Hundreds of houseboats form a colony along the shore north of town which has disturbed authorities for years, resulting in a controversy that culminated last summer in one of the most unusual naval engagements in bay area history. No one knows exactly how many houseboats float — or seem to—on Richardson Bay. At low tide the stench of raw sewage along "houseboat row" permeates the air—hardly anything to snag tourist dollars.

NOTICE OF SALE OF FARM

The Hattie N. Avery farm located in Winterville Township, Pitt County, North Carolina, about 3.3 miles southwest of Greenville and containing a total of 55 acres, with approximately 33.6 acres of cleared land, and two dwelling houses suitable for immediate use, the same being Pitt County ASCS Farm Serial No. V-3955 with 1971 tobacco allotment of 4.17 acres (poundage - 7,318) and 19 acre corn base will be offered for sale to the highest bidder for cash at noon at the door of the Pitt County Courthouse, Greenville, North Carolina, on the 31st day of December, 1971. The highest bidder at this sale will be immediately notified whether such high bid is accepted and, if accepted, the highest bidder will be required to make deposit of ten per cent pending closing.

CHRISTOPHER ROBERTS, an artist who lives and works on a dilapidated former ferryboat, displays a model of a fantastically designed houseboat that is part of his dream of making Houseboat Row a Sausalito tourist attraction. (UPI Telephoto)

Volunteer Fleet

Tension between authorities and houseboat dwellers sparked the "Battle of Richardson Bay" last July, when Marin County sheriff's deputies, assisted by the Coast Guard, tried to remove five houseboats considered substandard under the building code.

A volunteer fleet made up of a Chinese junk, rowboats, kayaks, several sailboats and even a canoe, surrounded the five houseboats to repel boarders.

The owner of one boat held off deputies at knifepoint, and one man allegedly tried to ram the deputies' boat with a power vessel. A few of the combatants got dunked in the altercation and before it was over four arrests were made.

Star Attraction

After it was all over, the county board of supervisors agreed to avoid such direct tactics next time, if the owner of the houseboat wharf would install sewer connections. He has hooked up some since then.

The houseboats themselves can be best described as colorful. They range from rotting hulks to a floating abode that resembles a castle complete with ramparts.

But the star attraction is a fantastically designed houseboat that is part of an artist's dream of making houseboat row one of Sausalito's greatest tourists attractions.

The artist is Christopher Roberts, 33, who lives and works on the dilapidated former ferryboat Charles Van Damme, which also serves as his studio where he works to complete his "dream."

Floating Art Center

Roberts wants to turn some old World War II drydocks he bought for $20,000 into a floating art center, complete with studios, display areas, restaurants and shops.

He has also completed two steps toward this dream: a prototype section of the center and a model.

The prototype is a houseboat he is building for investor Andrew Loveman that has already been pictured in several national publications.

The all-redwood structure is made up of a series of crescent-shaped towers that give it the appears of a cathedral. Roberts simply calls the work the "tower" but critics have dubbed it "The Madonna" and he says that's fine with him.

Inside, the curved effect is everywhere, including some floors in the five-floor structure that have gigantic holes in the middle.

The eight by five foot model of the center shows how similar structures would fit over the sides of the four drydocks. Each section would have a 60-foot high, stained glass window.

The drydocks would be linked to form a square and the water in the middle used as a marina. Foot traffic would get from section to section over the marina by use of bridges.

"If I could complete the center I could write my own ticket after that," said Roberts, a native of Chicago and a graduate of Columbia University in New York.

"I think I could get some backers for it now, if the county authorities were more susceptible to the idea," he added.

So far, though, officials haven't shown much interest in the idea, and the uneasy truce between houseboaters and landlubbers goes on.

West, along an old road, 17.50 chains to a ditch; thence North 54 deg. 30 min. West, 2 chains to the center of State Highway No. 11; thence with the center of said highway South 20 deg. 15 min. West, 8.25 chains to the northeast corner of the C. W. Martin 57-acre tract of land which lies on the west side of said highway; thence with the center of said highway a southwesterly direction to the point of Beginning, and containing 58.75 acres, more or less, and being all that part of the tract of land conveyed by J. V. Taylor et al to C. W. Martin by deed dated March 4, 1929, and recorded in Book W-17, at page 367, which lies on the east side of State Highway No. 11, and being that same tract of land conveyed to Walter Wade Carson and wife, Frances R. Carson, by deed of C. W. Martin and wife, Ola Keel Martin, by deed recorded in the public registry of Pitt County in Book Z-30, page 549.

Second Tract: That certain tract or parcel of open land situate, lying and being in Bethel Township, Pitt County, North Carolina, lying on the run of Grindle Creek and adjoining the lands of C. W. Martin, W. C. Whitehurst and Grindle Creek and Beginning at a black gum corner in Grindle Creek marked by a cement post and running thence with the W. C. Whitehurst line North 86 Deg. East to the edge of the woods; thence southwardly and following the edge of the woods to the run of Grindle Creek; thence a northwesterly direction with the run of Grindle Creek to the point of Beginning and containing 6.26 acres of open land and being located in the northwest corner of that certain tract of land conveyed by J. V. Taylor, et al, to C. W. Martin by deed dated March 4, 1929, and recorded in Book W-17 at page 367 of the Pitt County Registry, and being the same tract of land conveyed to Walter Wade Carson and wife, Frances R. Carson, by deed of C. W. Martin and wife, Ola Keel Martin, recorded in the public registry of Pitt County in Book Z-30, page 547.

Group Seeks Save Fort

FORT ROSS, Calif. (UPI)—A group of Americans, ranging from housewives to bankers, has banded together to restore one of the last vestiges of Czarist Russia's little known effort to carve an outpost in the New World.

Few Americans outside of California are probably aware of it but a tiny wooden fort, just a few hours ride from San Francisco, was partly responsible for the Monroe Doctrine.

Arsonists have left little standing of Fort Ross, built in 1812 on a cliff overlooking the Pacific.

The small chapel was burned to the ground Oct. 5, 1970. Later fires, also set, badly damaged the commandant's house, the museum, the north blockhouse and the stockade itself.

The people who live in the area are a diverse lot scattered over a beautiful sprawling piece of country.

Now they've come together to save the old fort.

"If the chapel hadn't burned down, we'd have needed something else to bring this community together," said Joanna McLaughlin, editor of the bi-weekly Independent Coast Observer.

The federal government has offered $25,500 toward restoration if private sources can come up with matching funds.

So the Restore Fort Ross Fund was formed and has been busy with fund-raises that include picnics, jazz concerts and house tours.

Sea Ranch, a coastal home development firm here, contributed $1,000.

Christmas tree sales brought in some money and even square-cut nails from the ruined chapel were sold.

But the group needs help from the outside, having raised $8,607.66 so far.

The fund hopes the California Department of Parks and Recreation will set up a citizens advisory committee to shoulder the burden.

Meanwhile, the public can help by sending contributions to Restore Fort Ross Fund, Box 1824, The Sea Ranch, California, 95445.

THE IS HEREBY EXCEPTED FROM THE FOREGOING DESCRIPTION: That certain tract or parcel of land previously conveyed and released from the above mentioned deeds of trust, said tract or parcel of land being more particularly described as follows: Lying and being situate on the east side of North Carolina Highway No. 11 about seven miles south of the Town of Bethel, North Carolina, and beginning in the center of said Highway No. 11 at the W. C. Whitehurst corner running thence along the northern side of an old road and with a ditch South 50-30 East 761 feet to a corner, thence South 20-30 West 205 feet to a corner, thence North 69-30 West 735 feet back to the center of North Carolina Highway No. 11, thence along the center of North Carolina Highway No. 11 North 22-25 East 152 feet and North 20-30 East 300 feet to the point of beginning, containing 5.06 acres, more or less, and being a part of that farm conveyed to Simon Corbett and wife, Myrtle O. Corbett, by deed of Walter Wade Carson and wife, Frances R. Carson, and the same appears recorded in the Public Registry of Pitt County, said tract and parcel of land being the same conveyed to Robert Abbott in that deed of record recorded in Book K-33, Page 23 of the Pitt County Public Registry.

The highest bidder at said sale will be required to deposit with the Trustee the sum of Ten (10) per cent of the amount of his bid to show good faith pending the confirmation of this sale.

This the 23rd day of December, 1971.
