Nixon Pulling Out 70,000 More Men

Stage Set For Declaring 'War Is Over' By April

WITHDRAWAL PROGRESS — Chart traces the history of U.S. troops stationed in South Vietnam. President Nixon announced a projected withdrawal, dotted line, of forces to bring the total to 69,000 by May 1. In the President's last announcement he set a goal for February 1 of 139,000 troops. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's latest Vietnam troop-withdrawal order sets the stage for what could be an April announcement to pull back another 35,000 to 45,000 troops, declare the war over and place remaining GIs in an advisory role.

Nixon announced Thursday that 70,000 more troops will be withdrawn by May 1. The President thus would need to pull out only 35,000 or 45,000 more troops to reach the residual force of 25,000 to 35,000 men he indicated two weeks ago.

Thursday's announcement, covering February, March and April withdrawals, will reduce the U.S. commitment in Vietnam to 69,000 men on May 1. And the President said he will make another pullout announcement before that date.

This is likely to come in mid-April, leaving 35,000 men to withdraw before reaching this summer's planned residual-force level. That level is expected to be maintained until U.S. prisoners are freed by the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong.

This would be in keeping with the troop-withdrawal plan drawn up by the administration in early 1969. Although administration officials dropped hints from time to time that the President was reviewing the plan and might delay further withdrawal decisions as a means of keeping the enemy guessing, there has been little deviation from the original plan.

Under the phaseout program, the residual force would revert to an advisory role to assist the South Vietnamese, as was done before the big U.S. buildup began in 1965.

And, to enhance the idea that the ground war is over for the Americans, the U.S. Military Assistance Command, Vietnam (MACV), would be downgraded to an assistance group.

This would give the President an opportunity to bring home Gen. Creighton Abrams, U.S. commander in Vietnam for the past five years, and, perhaps move Abrams in as Army chief of staff when Gen. William C. Westmoreland completes his four-year tour in June.

There's Studying To Do

ARMED WITH TEXTBOOKS — President Nixon clutches two volumes of a textbook set, "Modern Chinese for Elementary Schools", a gift he received Thursday from a group of fifth graders from Ascension Academy of surburban Alexandria, Va. Nixon told the students, all of whom are studying Chinese, "I'll take this (the textbook) and study on the airplane on the way to Peking." The President will visit China in February. (AP Wirephoto)

Expelled

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union ordered today the immediate expulsion of a visiting U.S. congressman who attended a dinner at the home of a Jewish professor trying to emigrate to Israel.

Rep. James H. Scheuer, a New York Democrat, was held for two hours by police after the dinner Wednesday night. He has left Moscow for Leningrad.

The U.S. Embassy said the order for Scheuer's expulsion was delivered by Georgy Kornyenko, chief of the U.S. section of the Soviet Foreign ministry.

"Kornyenko stated that the Soviet government was expelling Mr. Scheuer for engaging in improper activities while visiting the Soviet Union as a member of the subcommittee of the House of Representatives, headed by Congressman Brademas and sponsored by the U.S. government," an embassy statement said.

Rep. John Brademas, D-Ind., headed the congressional group.

"The Foreign Ministry demanded that Congressman Scheuer leave the Soviet Union immediately," the embassy statement continued.

Scheuer is believed to be the first elected American official ever expelled from the Soviet Union.

Laird Reminds Withdrawal Is Nixon Program

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — It took Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird only two weeks into this presidential-campaign year to climb off his nonpolitical perch.

Laird has been giving the impression for some time that he would stay above the political battle in 1972. That's been the traditional stance of secretaries of Defense and State.

But there were skeptics who knew of Laird's unabashed love of politics, his zest for partisan cut-and-thrust while a GOP leader in Congress and a top strategist in past Republican presidential campaigns.

So there was little surprise Thursday when Laird took out after Sens. Edmund Muskie of Maine, Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota and other Democratic presidential hopefuls who have been demanding that President Nixon withdraw all American troops from Vietnam by a fixed date, and soon.

"When we took office in 1969 there was no program to withdraw American forces from Vietnam," Laird told White House reporters.

"Strangely enough, some of those individuals that are going around the country today criticizing programs to withdraw Americans from Vietnam were silent in 1968 and before when we were on the escalator, going up and up and up ....

"Now that we are going down, down, down, seems that they have changed their position and are critical of the President and the program ... to withdraw Americans from Southeast Asia and from Vietnam."

Later, in a Public Broadcasting Service television interview, Laird spoke more harshly, charging critics with "either knowingly or unknowingly aiding the enemy and not helping our prisoners of war" by saying the U.S. prisoners would be released by the North Vietnamese if the United States offered to pull out all its troops.

Although Laird mentioned neither Muskie nor Humphrey by name, it was clear he meant them.

Testimony Begins In Voter Hearing

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer

Hearings on the appeals of 32 East Carolina University students whose voter registration applications were denied here began this morning before the Pitt County Board of Elections.

The three-man board, in hearing each student individually as to his contention that he be registered, pointed out that the sole purpose of the hearings was to determine residency on a permanent basis.

Each student told the board that he or she lived in Pitt County, considered the county permanent residence, and had no plans to live in another place at a definite date in the future.

Board chairman J.B. Spillman Jr. said that the elections body was acting under a directive issued by the State Board of Elections stating that "students shall not be registered in counties where they are temporarily residing while attending a business school, trade school, college or university..." He said the question of residency is the only matter under consideration by the board.

John Brooks, Raleigh attorney, contended that there is no provision in the state constitution saying that students are not eligible to be registered and challenged the memorandum received from the state board.

He said that the constitution does not require that permanent residents meet any time durations other than the 30-day requirement of living in the county precinct and one-year requirement of living in the state.

Brooks told the board that the students, in claiming Pitt County as their permanent residencies, were not eligible to register in any other county since residency can only be claimed on one place.

In the case of one student, James H. Hughes who told the

Mrs. Courtney Receives Young Educator Honor

Mrs. Carolyn Courtney was honored last night as the Outstanding Young Educator for 1971 at the annual OYE Banquet sponsored by the Greenville Jaycees.

Dr. Joe Pou, vice-president of Wachovia Bank Greenville was speaker for the occasion. Dr. Pou presented Mrs. Courtney with the OYE plaque and Greenville Jaycee president Dave Gordon made presentation of the $100 scholarship check given each year. OYE chairman Joe Cannon presented each nominee with a certificate of appreciation.

In addition to Mrs. Courtney, the other nominees present for the event included Mrs. Linda Bennett, Mrs. Lane C. Hartley, Mrs. Emalynn Colardo, Mrs. Barbara Luce and Jasper Perry.

Not present for the presentation were Miss Faye Cregan, runner-up, Miss Floretta Casey, and Raymond Williams.

Jailed 16 On Contempt Count

AYDEN — Sixteen blacks were ordered jailed here yesterday for contempt of court by Judge Herbert O. Phillips after the group allegedly caused a disturbance outsdie the District Court Room while court was in session.

Included in the group ordered jailed for 12 hours was civil rights worker George Kirby. Kirby was arrested in Greenville earlier this week on disorderly conduct charges that stemmed from an incident in a hallway at the Pitt County Court House.

Judge Phillips had asked several times that people in the hallway outside the court room be quiet. When the disturbance continued, the jurist ordered those outside brought before the bench and ordered them jailed for 12 hours.

Launch 5-Year Program To Develop Resources

PRESENTS COPY OF STUDY . . . Billy Phillips presents a copy of Impact '76 to Charles Gaskins, chairman of the Pitt County Commissioners. Impact '76 is a five-year study of growth and development for Pitt County. Ed Yancey, right, looks on.

A kick-off campaign to launch Impact '76 was held last night by the Pitt County Agricultural Extension Service advisory board and several Pitt County leaders.

Impact '76 is a five-year program designed to help develop the country's economic, natural and human resources.

The Pitt County program is part of a statewide extension effort, which was officially launched in Raleigh yesterday. The program has been named Impact '76 because it is expected to have a big impact upon the state by its termination date of 1976.

Ed Yancey, Pitt County extension chairman, said the program establishes goals in five major areas: agriculture; family living; 4-H; community resource development; and environmental quality.

"We planned the local goals with the help of more than 150 Pitt County citizens," Yancey said. "We invited groups of people in over a six-month period and sought their opinions on our needs and opportunities."

Statewide, more than 10,000 local citizens helped the Agricultural Extension Service plan for Impact '76.

Yancey described some of the specific objectives of Impact '76 in Pitt County as follows:

—$71.6 million in agricultural income;

—More profitable agricultural production;

—Improved housing for families now in substandard units;

—More effective use of county, and community services;

—158 leaders involved in 4-H youth activities;

—2,184 young people involved in special interest and 4-H programs;

—125 leaders trained to organize and administer a community development program.

The statewide goals call for nearly 20 per cent increase in gross farm income between 1970 and 1976. Most of the increases are expected in income from livestock, forestry and horticultural crops.

"Continued progress in agricultural income will depend on how well farmers meet such

Sec. Of Army Expects Political Spectaculars

SAIGON (AP) — Secretary of the Army Robert F. Froehlke predicted today that Communist forces will stage some "spectacular" attacks in Indochina for political purposes because they are unable to achieve military success.

He said the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong leaders "aren't unmindful that we are in an election vear in the United States."

Froehlke also mentioned President Nixon's trip to Communist China during the last week in February. Some analysts believe that Hanoi may launch an offensive to discourage China, which has backed North Vietnam with military and financial aid, from making any deals with Nixon on the future of Indochina.

Winding up a five-day visit to Vietnam, Froehlke told a news conference:

"I presume there will be, as Secretary Laird describes it, some spectaculars for primarily, I believe, political purposes .... I don't think they can achieve military success and therefore I have to assume they're doing it for political purposes.

"Based on what I saw, I am confident that from a military standpoint the majority, the vast majority of these spectaculars will prove to be unsuccessful.

"Also being realistic, I assume that in the weeks, the months ahead, that on occasion the South Vietnamese will lose an occasional skirmish. But I'm completely confident they're going to win most of them and they're going to win the battle."

Froehlke said the Vietnamization program "is proceeding with perhaps amazing success."

He said that morale among the remaining U.S. troops "generally speaking, is pretty good."

This Is A Chinese Motif Year

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

In China 1972 will be the year of the Rat, but in the United States it will be, no doubt, the year of the Chinese Look in fashion, home furnishings, entertainment. Interest in the theme is high and could accelerate with President Nixon's trip to China.

The Chinese influence is just in time for the winter social season. Oriental fashions include everything from the authentic Chinese work suit to elegant Mandarin jackets that will no doubt be worn by hostesses as they serve lichee nuts at the buffet.

One of the "in" things to provide extra seating will be platforms. In China one of the earliest uses of platforms was incorporating them into the structure of the house to run from wall to wall. These are heated below and provided a place to recline. The idea of a platform evolved into the couch as we know it with arms and backrest.

But back to the American pagoda-pad. This easy inexpensive way to provide seating should have big appeal for young married people who haven't yet completely furnished their homes.

The home handyman version begins with a box frame—some designers use plywood. Or, one can use wood or plastic cubes as a base for the fabric cover. Many designers use carpet on the platforms. A well-known designer suggests carpet tiles for amateur workmen. The platforms can be built to accomodate the tiles you plan to use and no cutting will be involved. A new snip and stick carpet may provide the exact size.

One designer covers the platforms with foam and uses expensive velvet and silks over them. It all depends on the effect one wants to achieve. It even may be a good way to use a fabric that is no longer useful in its present style.

All sorts of looks may be achieved with platforms. A long low platform used against the wall with others of different heights on either side of it can replace a sofa. And the three pieces are available for moving about in any fashion you choose. Youth likes low-seating so if platforms are adopted, another level can be evolved with floor cushions.

As for decorating the house for parties, one might adopt a Chinese theme on a table cloth by emblazoning it with a set of Chinese characters (strokes that make the Chinese words). If one has a Chinese friend or knows a Chinese businessman who will cooperate, one might get one's name written in Chinese, and since it will be a matter of a few strokes, no doubt, the large characters might be sewn to the center of a cloth with bias binding or ribbon. Or, one might like to sew small characters around the border of a cloth. If one can't get characters to use as models for the cloth one might think pagoda-type Ts. Two Ts one below the other might produce the desired effect.

If paper cloths are to be used, the idea is even simpler. Make the characters with a brush and indigo ink.

Chop sticks might be used on the buffet table with silver flatware kept handy for hungry types who can't cope. (Silver chopsticks are being shown in gift shops.)

For table lighting, a row of jade colored tapers placed in large red apples could be charming. One great thing about Chinese decorating may be the probability of the return of big Oriental lanterns to the party scene. But one can find strings of little lantern lights that might be placed around the buffet skirt.

Wines Are Featured In Delightful Tale

By TOM HOGE
Associated Press Writer

There is a delightful tale of a German bishop journeying to Rome about five centuries ago who decided to make the trip more pleasant by providing for an ample supply of good wines along the route.

The churchman instructed his valet-secretary to travel ahead, drop into the local inns and chalk "Est" (it is) on the walls of those taverns where the wine was particularly good.

The aide was so taken by the wines of Montefiascone that he wrote Est! Est!! Est!!! on an inn located in the region. The bishop stopped as soon as he saw the jubilant sign and apparently came to the same conclusion. He never left the area for the rest of his days and to this day the town's vintners pour a barrel of the wine on his tomb each year.

The story and the wine itself caught up with me at a tasting given in New York a few weeks ago in honor of the Marchese and Marchesa Piero Antinori, a handsome young couple who dwell in an ancient palazzo in Florence.

The 33-year-old nobleman's family has been producing distinguished wines for more than 400 years, including the one that tickled the palate of the bishop. I was served a 1969 vintage.

After trying it, I could see why the prelate liked the wine so much. It is a golden-hued moscatelo that seems to have caught the rays of the sun, and it has an elegance that is memorable.

There were other wines from the Antinori vineyards worthy of mention.

—Such as the Castello La Sala 1969, a pleasant light-bodied wine with a slightly bitter undertone. It was said to have been a favorite of the popes of the Middle Ages.

—Or the Bianco Della Costa Toscana 1967 a light, medium dry wine that comes in a fish-shaped bottle and is fancied by seafood lovers.

The reds featured a number of Chiantis including the well known Riserva 1962. There also was a 1969 tangy Bardolino and a ruby, fresh 1968 Valpolicella more full bodied than the Bardolino.

The pretty, 28-year-old Marchesa Francesca Antinori is one of the best-known hostesses in Florence and presides over many elegant suppers. But when alone with her husband and two small daughters, she often likes to prepare her own meals. Here is a recipe she gave me for artichokes.

TUSCAN FRIED ARTICHOKES

5 artichokes
1 egg
Three tablespoons flour
Salt to taste
Cup of water

Peel out leaves from artichokes, leaving only heart and cut off upper sharp edge. Divide into fourths. Combine egg, flour, salt and enough water to make a creamy mixture. Roll artichokes in mix; dry quickly in very hot oil. Good with a bottle of Bardolino.

Bon Voyage Wreath Went To Funeral

By Abigail Van Buren

[© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.]

DEAR ABBY: Now I know that I have truly seen everything! My husband and I have owned and operated a small florist shop for the last 15 years, and I have encountered some unusual situations. But the one I had yesterday beats them all.

Two middle-aged women came into the shop together and asked what I had to offer in the way of a "Bon Voyage" wreath, so I showed them what I had in my catalog. I asked if a man or a woman was going abroad, and one of the women replied, angrily: "It is for my sister's FUNERAL!"

I must have shown my amazement because she then added: "If you were a true Christian you would consider death as the beginning of a long, happy trip."

Abby, I do consider myself a Christian, and I refused to sell that woman a "Bon Voyage" wreath for her sister's funeral.

When my husband came in, I told him what had happened and he laughed and said: "You should have sold it to her."

I was very much upset by my husband's response as I have always considered death to be a very solemn occasion. Maybe you or some of your readers could tell me what they would have done.

SHOCKED IN ALBUQUERQUE

DEAR SHOCKED: I vote with your husband. How one views death is a highly personal matter. If the woman wanted to wish her deceased sister a happy trip, I'd have sold her a "Bon Voyage" wreath.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been friends with another couple for a number of years. We are in each other's homes frequently. Lately the woman has been doing something that I find very annoying. After we arrive at her home, by invitation, she picks up her latest knitting or needlepoint project and starts working away, stopping occasionally to count stitches, consult the instructions, and to admire her handiwork.

She does join in the conversation, but rather half-heartedly, as tho she feels obligated to make a token comment now and then.

I think she is being somewhat rude. Am I right or wrong?

BUGGED

DEAR BUGGED: Right. She is making a statement: "The company isn't sufficiently fascinating to warrant my total attention."

Don't let the annoyance build up. Tell her. But don't you use a needle.

DEAR ABBY: My wife just had a hysterectomy. Does that mean it is the end of her sex life? She is only 34.

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Absolutely not! In fact, it could very well be the beginning of a better sex life because she no longer has to worry about becoming pregnant.

DEAR ABBY: The ink is still drying on my final divorce papers, and already the neighbors and acquaintances are nosing around as to "why" we got the divorce, and "what happened?"

It wasn't over "another woman," or "another man," and since I am the one who instigated the divorce, I am getting the "what happened?" question from all sides.

I would really rather not offer any explanations because I feel it's nobody's business. How can I tactfully put this message across?

SANDY

DEAR SANDY: Simply say: "If you will forgive me for not answering, I will forgive you for asking."

School Dedication Scheduled Sunday

The new Wahl-Coates Elementary Laboratory School, one of the North Carolina's outstanding elementary educational institutions, will be officially dedicated at 4:00 p.m. on Sunday.

Founded in 1927 in the building constructed on campus at East Carolina University, the elementary school has for more than 40 years served as a center for practice teaching and observation of teaching methods and programs.

Constructed at a cost of $1,235,000, the major share of this amount, $1,150,000 was received from the State in direct appropriations to East Carolina University. The City of Greenville provided the land site for the new facility and also has contributed $100,000 for use in building and furnishings costs.

Operated jointly by the university and the city school system, the university provides the building and pays for maintenance and utility costs. For their part, the city is responsible for teacher and staff salaries and for instructional supplies.

The new Wahl-Coates school occupies 58,100 square feet of enclosed space, consisting of 22 general classrooms, a library, cafeteria, auditorium, special education rooms, and other specialized areas. It is fully air conditioned.

At the dedication program Sunday, officials participating will include Dr. Leo Jenkins, Dr. Cleet C. Cleetwood, Dr. Douglas Jones, Junius H. Rose, and Dr. E. Rexford Piner.

The public is invited to attend the dedication ceremony and to make a tour of the new Wahl-Coates facility to be conducted following the dedication.

Transportation Policy Backed

James L. Ross, assistant to the president of Forbes Transfer Co. told the Coastal Plains Traffic Club here Thursday that for the first time in history, rail, truck and water carriers have united in support of an industrywide transportation policy for the nation.

Rose asserted that there is an "impelling necessity" for the Surface Transportation Act of 1971, which has been introduced into the U.S. Senate and Congress, to be enacted into law.

The program, he said, can benefit all of North Carolina's 100 counties. He explained that ten cents of every dollar spent involves freight transportation costs and the act would save money in the long run.

Rose cautioned that the nation's transportation capacity must be doubled within the next 15 years to meet the demands of the people but under present laws and circumstances, there is no way trucking, railroad and water carriers can meet the demand unless there are changes.

The bill, it was pointed out, would establish in the Treasury Department a "Revenue Financing Division," which would assist carriers in improving transportation service. The legislation would also extend economic regulations to truck transport of livestock and certain processed agricultural products.

Another feature of the act supported by the three modes of transportation would require publication of rates for transportation of dry bulk commodities by water carriers, Rose said. Such rates are now secret, he added.

The official noted that the bill would also require that the state use at least five per cent of the annual Federal Highway Trust Fund Allocation for railroad-highway grade crossing protection. This, he asserted, should reduce the total of 1,500 people killed and another 3,700 injured each year in railroad crossing incidents.

Rose said, "Our present tranpsortation laws are old, outdated and not consistent with public need and welfare. This program is a must in order to overhaul the National Transportation System and provide a much better and more efficient, economical transportation system for the consumers and shippers alike."

Youth Rally Set Tonight

Miss Atlanta, Miss Kay White is in Greenville this weekend to conduct a youth rally at the Salvation Army Citadel here at 7 o'clock tonight.

All young people, including those from all churches, are invited to the event. Miss White will speak and will sing religious folk songs.

She will also speak at the Sunday 11 a.m. Salvation Army service.

A 1968 graduate of Evans High School in Orlando, Fla., Miss White went to Atlanta in the summer of 1968 at the invitation of the director of youth activities of the Salvation Army. She worked as a secretary and traveled evenings with a musical evangelistic team. In the summer of 1970, she worked in Mexico as a member of the Youth Crops, singing and conducting classes in music, Bible and English at a children's home in Torreon. # Sacrificing Jobs For Ecology

It shouldn't come as a surprise that some industries faced with the alternatives to meeting new environment protection requirements or closing their plants will choose the latter.

At least one such announcement has been made by Weyerhaeuser in connection with its sulphite pulp mill at Everett, Washington.

Three years ago the State of Washington gave the company until March of this year to determine which of three alternatives it would choose for the mill to meet pollution control requirements. The company was told it could replace the old mill with a new one which would meet the requirements, convert the mill to a recovery process which would properly dispose of wastes, or close the mill by 1973.

A few days ago the company announced to its 330 hourly and salaried employes at the plant that it has decided to close the plant rather than make the investment necessary to meet the new pollution control regulations. Neither of the other alternatives is economically feasible, the company said.

The decision made by Weyerhaeuser for its Everett, Wash. plant is probably the forerunner of many similar decisions that will be made by industries as enforcement of pollution control regulations becomes more rigid throughout the nation. Where it is not economically feasible to bring old plants into compliance with new regulations, they will be closed and jobs will be lost. In the same process sources of pollution will be eliminated, and hopefully better environmental conditions which result will attract new operations that will more than make up for the jobs which disappear.

In the short term, however, a number of people, such as those employed in the Everett, Wash. plant, will see their jobs sacrificed for the sake of bettering environmental conditions.

Insurance May Be Big Debate

By BRYAN HAISLIP

RALEIGH — Insurance may be the most debated topic in the Tar Heel '72 political campaign.

North Carolinians are worried about the cost and availability of insurance, with particular emphasis on auto liability coverage, and frustrated by the so far fruitless search for solutions.

What promises to be a keen race for State Insurance Commissioner will provide the forum for an airing of complaints, along with proposals and promises for action.

As many as half a dozen candidates could be in the running for the Democratic nomination to the post, one of the eight Council of State offices at stake in the May primary. Three have announced. Three others, including Edwin S. Lanier, the incumbent, are likely to join the field.

E. Russell Secrest, a 16-year veteran in the insurance department, already has filed as a candidate for his boss's job. George Belk, a Greensboro appraiser and adjuster who ran second to Lanier in the 1968 primary, is set to try again. Rep. John R. Ingram of Randolph, a freshman in the '71 legislature, recently announced his candidacy.

Norton Considers Race

State Sen. Clyde M. Norton of McDowell is giving serious consideration to the race. The four-term senator headed an insurance study commission which reported to the last session, and also chaired the Senate insurance committee.

Dewey Sheffield, a Wilson insurance agent, has scheduled a Jan. 20 news conference in Raleigh and is expected to announce for the office.

Lanier, at 70 rounding out a decade as insurance commissioner, said he will make known before January ends his decision on whether to seek another four-year term. The filing deadline for state offices is Feb. 21.

As for the prospect of a rough campaign, that won't influence his decision "one bit in the world," Lanier replied. "Other considerations than that" are on his mind, he added.

Insurance touches the lives and pocketbooks of all citizens, the commissioner said, and for years has been a subject of great interest.

Vigorous Debate Anticipated

"The campaign could be a time for a robust, critical examination of all facets of insurance problems," Lanier observed. "That's what I'd like to see."

On the other hand, discussion of rates opens the door for candidates "to deal in a lot of demagoguery, if they've a mind to," he said. "I hope that won't happen."

If Lanier does run, other candidates can be expected to take as their target his record as commissioner since his appointment by Gov. Terry Sanford in mid-1962.

Thus far, the insurance post is the only one among the Council of State offices which has a primary contest assured. Although there have been rumblings of challenges to come, none of Lanier's fellow state officials has announced opposition.

The incumbents who have filed for reelection include: Secretary of State Thad Eure, senior in tenure among the group; State Auditor Henry Bridges; Treasurer Edwin Gill; Supt. of Public Instruction Craig Phillips; Atty. Gen. Robert Morgan; and Agriculture Commissioner Jim Graham.

Labor Commissioner Frane Crane has not filed. If he should step aside, that would set off another scramble.

Study Commission At Work

The campaign for insurance commissioner won't be the only platform for the insurance issue. A study commission, authorized by the General Assembly and named by Gov. Bob Scott, already is at work on its assignment to draft recommendations for the '73 legislature.

State Sen. F. O'Neil Jones of Anson is chairman of the panel, which is plowing over the ground covered by the earlier commission.

A major area to be covered by the study is the no-fault concept for auto liability insurance. Massachusetts, the pioneer, now has nearly two years experience with a no-fault plan. Basically, it provides for the settlement of damage claims by each motorist's insurer without regard to whom was at fault in the accident.

The theory is that premium reductions can be realized through cutting down legal fees and litigation on the question of responsibility.

A point to be considered, Commissioner Lanier cautioned, is whether the public under no-fault would get reduced coverage as well as lower premiums.

Discussion of insurance premium rates, he added, must take into account factors which have pushed rates upward. These include inflation, and higher claims due to hospital and auto repair costs.

While the public complains that rates are too high, companies insist they are not high enough to keep pace with escaling costs. How to balance those two views is the challenge to the politicians and state officials.

Some May Feel They Have Suffered Enough

North Carolina can expect an outbreak of flu this winter, Dr. John MacCormick, chief of the communicable disease control section of the state Board of Health says.

"It's likely to give us some problems this winter," he added.

Healthy Tar Heels will have to take their chances with the upcoming flu outbreak. Those of us who have already had the miseries feel like the outbreak has already come.

U.S. Favoring A NATO Fleet

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — With arms shipments to the Middle East about to escalate, top Pentagon strategists are now increasing the pressure on U.S. allies for a permanent NATO fleet in the Mediterranean to counter not just Soviet naval power in the Mediterranean itself but growing Soviet air power in Egypt.

The paradox of this American effort, which started last month at the North Atlantic Council meeting in Brussels, is that the imminent resumption of U.S. Phantoms promised to Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir during her December meeting here is almost certain to be used by Moscow as an excuse to send more aircraft to Egypt.

The intensive U.S. effort to build a permanent NATO fleet in the Mediterranean is a direct result of the Pentagon's fear that Soviet air bases in Egypt and the TU-16 bombers sent to Eygpt last November are designed not for use against Israel but as a long-range threat to the "southern flank" of NATO.

Although details of the new Phantom deal are cloaked in high secrecy, arrangements for the first shipment of Phantoms to Israel are now in final preparation. To Mrs. Meir, the new batch of Phantoms is seen as essential to give Israel a strong bargaining position in the indirect talks expected to start next month aimed at a partial Israeli withdrawal from the Sinai peninsula and the opening of the Suez Canal.

Thus, the Israeli Prime Minister gave President Nixon certain secret pledges that Israel would bargain in good faith for an interim settlement of the Sinai-Suez Canal issue after the U.S. agreed to resume shipments of the Phantoms.

The key to Mr. Nixon's Mideast policy has always been to end the Arab-Israeli struggle as the first step toward ending the alarming growth of Soviet influence in Egypt. In short, once Israel is persuaded to withdraw from occupied Egyptian territory, so Mr. Nixon feels, President Sadat will begin to reduce the vast Soviet military presence in Egypt.

Hence the paradox: Israel has made an open Phantom pipeline the essential first step for serious talks on an Israeli-Egyptian solution, but one effect of that open pipeline almost surely will be an increase of Soviet power inside Egypt.

That explains the intensive, new American effort to build a NATO fleet on a permanent basis in the waters off the North African coast. High Pentagon officials now feel that Israel is secondary in the Soviet Union's plans for its Egyptian bases.

Moreover, the NATO pressing Moscow hard for a mutual troop pullout from Eastern and Western Europe, the Russians are perceived as eager to enlarge and make permanent their air and naval bases in Egypt. Their purpose: to outflank Southern Europe from the North African coast after the U.S. begins to withdraw from Europe.

To counter this Soviet air and naval force, Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird and U.S. NATO officials put the case hard at the Brussels

Strength For Today

TELEVISION

Is television a blessing, a curse, or a waste of time? On the whole it would certainly appear to be a blessing. There may be at times too many gun fights and bad examples for youngsters who don't know what to do with their spare time.

On the whole, however, television brings the world into our living room. It gives us the news, and since we can see what is going on there is not much that can be hidden. To see events taking place at the ends of the earth is a marvelous circumstance. To listen to interviews given by people of importance may open up our minds and make it possible for us really to do some straight thinking about world events.

If we tried to figure out how many old and infirm people watch television by the hour we would soon get mixed up in our arithmetic Television is indeed a blessing to such people.

The world is an imperfect place, and we have to take it as it is Certainly we are in a better position to guard against evil tendencies in the world if we know what is goingh around us. The people that waste hours ssittingh before the television set are in the minority. If we did not have television they would find some other way of wasting their time.

We live in an imperfect world and television is part of that imperfection. On the whole its advantages would seem to outweight its disadvantages.

THE BIRDS ARE COMING...AGAIN!

By ART BUCHWALD

The President 'Tilted'

WASHINGTON — The revelations concerning the United States' role in the India-Pakistani war, as told by columnist Jack Anderson, explained everything except why the Americans chose to support Pakistan instead of India.

We know from the Anderson papers that the President was furious because he felt he wasn't getting enough support from the State Department on "tilting" toward Pakistan. And we also know that Henry Kissinger said he was catching hell from the President because we weren't strong enough in expressing our feelings of antagonism toward the Indians. But neither the Anderson papers nor anything the Administration has said gives us a clue as to why the President "tilted" the way he did.

Through sources I cannot reveal at this time, I can disclose how the United States made its fatal choice to go with the military dictator Yahya Khan of Pakistan who, as with most leaders the United States supports, is now under house arrest.

A few days before hostilities broke out between India and Pakistan, the President's National Security Council met at the White House. Here are the minutes of that meeting:

1—The CIA reported that they expected war to break out at any time in East Bengal between India and Pakistan.

2—The President asked the council members which country they thought the United States should support.

3—The Joint Chiefs of Staff said they could go either way. If the President wished to support India they would send the United States fleet to Pakistan. If, on the other hand, the President wanted to support Pakistan they would send the fleet to India. In any case, they would announce they were doing it to protect American lives.

4—The United States Information Agency said it was prepared to charge either Pakistan or India with aggression as soon as it got the word as to which way the President wanted to tilt.

5—The President said he was prepared to tilt, but since neither country had football teams he could not get emotionally involved.

6—Henry Kissinger said that since the Chinese were supporting Pakistan and the Soviets were supporting India, he thought it would be a nice gesture before the President's Peking visit to come out for Pakistan.

7—The State Department objected on the grounds that India was a democracy and if the President tilted toward Pakistan, the United States could lose all its influence in Asia.

Other Editors Say End Late Reports

(The Durham Herald)

Deadlines for filing statements on political contributions and spending have practically no meaning unless they are met — and also unless there is a penalty, rigidly enforced, for late filing and for failure to file.

That is an old story in North Carolina every election year. Numerous candidates for office fail to meet the deadline. Some seem to regard the filing law with disdain. There is the usual plea for delinquents to get their statements in. There also is the reminder that they are subject to prosecution. That doesn't happen, though.

The familiar story of late filing, and of having to beat the bushes to get the delinquents in, is repeated in the federal government. Under the Corrupt Practices Act, organizations soliciting and disbursing funds for political purposes are supposed to file by Jan. 1 statements showing where the money came from and where it went during the previous 12 months.

The latest installment in the federal government story shows, according to a Washington report, that statements of a number of politically motivated organizations had not arrived on the Jan. 1 deadline. Among them were the AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Action, the American Medical Association's Political Action Committee, the Christian Nationalist Crusade, the Council for a Liveable World, and Another Mother for Peace.

Among others failing to make it were the Trust for Agricultural Political Education of San Antonio, Tex., the Trust for Special Political Agricultural Community Education of Louisville, Ky., and the Agriculture and Dairy Education Political Trust of Springfield, Mo., dairy-oriented farm organizations that contributed liberally to the Republican party shortly before the Nixon administration reversed itself last year and granted an increase in milk price supports.

Whether in Washington, Raleigh, or elsewhere, there is no excuse for late filing practices. The fact that they continue year after year points up again and again the need for stiff laws and meaningful penalties, but with politics the name of the game there would seem to be little hope that government — whatever the level — will get really serious with the delinquents.

Winter, looking like an old man after a bad night, squinted at the thermometer today, rubbed his eyes in disbelief, snatched angrily at the spring flowers tangled in his whiskers and decided it was time to get rough. Today winter shook off the fair and warm temperatures that have prevailed through the state with the mercury dropping to lower temperatures.

Devaluation Not A Job-Creator

By ELMER ROESSNER

The devaluation of the dollar may not create as many new jobs as was hoped. That, as well as correcting the balance of payments, was one of the purposes of devaluation. Donald Rumsfeld, director of the Cost of Living Council (CLC), has said that devaluation would create 500,000 to 667,000 new jobs.

The temporary 10 per cent surcharge on imports and the later agreement to devaluate were intended to make foreign imports cost more, thereby encouraging the manufacture and sale of American-made-products, thereby increasing the number of jobs.

But neither the 10 per cent surcharge nor the 7.89 per cent rise in the price of gold has or can overcome the differential between foreign and American wages. And American wages are still going up.

A survey of members of the National Association of Purchasing Management (NAPM)—those tough guys who do the buying for American corporations—found only 21 per cent saying that the Administration's program would cause them to curtail foreign purchasing. Seventy-nine per cent said it would not.

The principal reason for this position is that the purchasing men are dollars-and-cents men, or they are out of jobs quickly. If steel from Osaka of Frankfurt can be laid down in Chicago cheaper than it can be brought in from Pittsburgh, a corporation purchasing agent buys the import. And imported steel, even with transoceanic shipping costs, is frequently cheaper than American steel.

Another reason is that devaluation has made many raw products cheaper in America. For example, Japan buys iron ore, scrap, coke and nickel on the world market for their steel production.

Devaluation has made those products cheaper. With the lower Japanese wage rate, Japan can still buy those materials in the United States, pay for shipping them to Japan, convert them into steel, and pay for shipping them back to the United States and undersell American-made steel.

Quotas can limit imports of steel, textiles, meat and several other products. But quotas have ways of being exceeded, as the steel import quota was last year.

It is apparent that wages are a key factor in the situation. Neither the 10 per cent surcharge not the 7.89 per cent devaluation were enough to bring foreign and American wage rates to parity. There isstill a major differential between the cost of producing a ton of steel in Germany and in Pittsburgh, a transistor in Tokyo or St. Louis.

And as long as there is, manufacturers will buy in Germany and Japan and unemployment will continue large in the United States.

The purchasing manager said that business is continuing to improve. Employment rose in December, but not as much as the labor force. The labor force will increase by 1.5 million to 2 million this year. And even if Rumsfeld is correct in predicting up to 667,000 new jobs, there still remains a big problem.

Scott Dealing In Red Herrings, Avers Holshouser

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Bob Scott was accused of dealing in "red herrings" after he strongly hinted Thursday that he considers an Internal Revenue Service probe to possible illegal campaign contributions to be politically inspired.

During a brief news conference, Scott said he did not know if any corportions contributed to his 1968 campaign. He added that District IRS director J. E. Wall had told him of the IRS probe and that he told Wall he did not "know all of those who contributed to my campaign.

"I did not know because during the campaign I insisted on this fundamental rule: a contribution would not in the future affect my judment as governor," Scott said. "It hasn't in my three years in this office. It will not in my last year."

Wall confirmed Thursday that IRS agents were making "some investigations into what we believe are improper handling of contributions. I wouldn't want to identify candidates or contributors."

Wall emphasized, however, that Scott himself was not under investigation.

But he declined to say whether Scott's 1968 campaign aides were under investigation.

Scott said he admired the timing of the IRS probe, saying "it is beautiful."

"My guess is that it would not have come to the forefront at this time had not the news media revealed it. I think it would have come out later on this year."

Without directly saying so, Scott implied that the material was being gathered for use before the general election this fall.

This brought from Republican gubernatorial candidate Jim Holshouser the answer that Scott "never responds to any charges except with red herrings."

Holshouser said in a statement that reporters attending the Scott news conference "drew the inference that politics was behind the investigation."

The Republican leader said the record showed that the U.S. Justice Department and the IRS "have conducted investigations in a number of states among members of both political parties."

"I can state categorically that I knew absolutely nothing about this investigation until I heard about it (from newsmen)," Holshouser continued.

Scott said the IRS "will determine whether or not the law was violated as to some (campaign) expenses coming from corporations. I read this in media reports but I know nothing of it."

Scott said he did not have time during the campaign to worry about financial details and added that he did not "have any knowledge of the receiving of contributions or the paying of expenses."

Disclose Two Types Of Flu Circulating

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The bug is back.

And, "if you just feel like hell, you've probably got the flu," says a spokesman for the National Center for Disease Control in Atlanta.

Hong Kong flu, which killed 27,900 persons the last time it toured the United States in 1968-69, has returned, the center says.

The first signs of a flu epidemic appeared several weeks ago and a nationwide survey conducted by the center revealed that Kong Kong flu has been diagnosed in 22 states, the District of Columbia and New York City.

The center said there are two major types of influenza viruses making the round this winter—type A2 Hong Kong and type B. The victim, however, can't tell the difference; the viruses are distinquishable only in the laboratory.

The center said that, of the confirmed Hong Kong cases this year, the outbreak is widespread only in Rhode Island, Connecticut and New Jersey. Regional outbreaks are reported in Michigan and Wisconsin.

Isolated cases have been found in the District of Columbia, New York City, Maine, Vermont, New York State, Illinois, Ohio, Kansas, Iowa, South Dakota, Florida, Tennessee, Texas, Louisiana, Colorado, Utah, Montana, California and Oregon.

meeting for a permanent NATO fleet similar to the NATO Atlantic fleet.

The heart of that fleet would, of course, be elements of the U.S. Sixth Fleet. Until the Arab-Israeli six-day war of 1967, the Sixth Fleet used the Mediterranean as its private lake. Now, however, the ever-expanding Soviet fleet has become a major political and military force in the Mediterranean, with access to Egyptian bases for fuel and supplies.

American officials argued at Brussels for a total abandonment of the "boundaries" that now dictate the assignment of naval power by members of NATO to specific waters. Instead of occasional joint fleet maneuvers, the proposed NATO Mediterranean fleet would operate with the same freedom as the Soviet fleet, would exert a powerful political pressure and would serve as a major deterrent to the growing Soviet threat from bases in Egypt.

The prospect of an escalating arms race in the Middle East has now given this U.S. initiative an urgent push forward.

Profit taking is a factor that continues to hang over the market, traders said, as it did in Thursday's slide in prices.

Prices on the Big Board included Chrysler off ¼ to 28¾; Great Atlantic & Pacific, off 1⅛ to 18⅞; Standard Oil of California, down ⅜ to 59⅜; American Telephone, off ⅛ to 47⅜; and Memorex, up 1¼ to 30½.

board that his parents moved to Pitt County when he was a junior in high school and that although they moved from the county when he was a freshman at ECU, he remained here and has lived here continuously since 1967, the board indicated that his situation as a student resident may be different. Notification of the board's findings on his appeal, as in the appeals of the other students, will be mailed in "two or three days," the board said.

If the board, consisting of Spillman; Burney Baker, Democratic representative; and Henry T. Smith, Republican representative, denies the appeal of any of the students, further appeals will be heard in Superior Court, and if registration denial is rendered there, the cases could be taken to the Supreme Court.

Mrs. Ann Paul, board executive secretary, said that the voter registration applications were denied because students are not considered permanent residents of the county as defined in the memorandum from the state board.

PTI Growth Rate Talked

At the Winterville Kiwanis Club meeting last night, Willard C. Finch, Assistant Dean of Instruction at Pitt Technical Institute, discussed the growth of PTI and the role of the Technician.

Finch showed a film titled "Importance of the Technician in Today's World and Support of Technicians to the Professional."

He said "the growth at PTI revealed that more emphasis is being placed on vocational and technical education because of the availability of jobs."

To back up his statement, Finch told the Kiwanis members that for the first time at PTI, the winter quarter enrollment exceeded the fall quarter.

"As our student enrollment has continued to increase, the need for additional space and facilities has also increased." He cited having to use off-campus facilities for many classes, such as the facilities at Robinson Union School. "The need for additional space to handle the classes desired by Pitt County citizens is pressing and critical," Finch stated.

Given $2,500 To Buy Polar Bear

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — St. Paul's Como Zoo has been given $2,500 to obtain a male polar bear to replace 19-year-old Whitey, the polar bear shot to death early Tuesday as he was mauling a man.

Como Zoo will use the donation from Theodore Hamm Co. to purchase a polar bear from the Abilene, Tex., Zoological Garden. The bluish-white male weighs 1,400 to 1,800 pounds and stands more than 8 feet tall.

challenges as labor shortages and mechanization, environmental concerns, urbanization and changing markets," Yancey pointed out.

The disposal of animal wastes and the control of pests without polluting the environment are other challenges faced by farmers.

Under Impact '76 the Extension Service will try to involve as many as 200,000 young people in 4-H programs.

Yancey said home economists will provide information on such subjects as consumer competence, health, ecology and family relationships to all families.

"Emphasis will be placed each year on programs that are tailored to the needs of specific family groups," Yancey said. "Areas that will be emphasized include young couples who are beginning their first home, families with preschool children, families with children ages six to 12, and families with teenage children."

Impact '76 places more emphasis on North Carolina's many disadvantaged citizens. The disadvantaged will be helped through 4-H program, nutrition and housing improvement and agricultural opportunities for families with limited resources.

"Through its community resource development program, the Extension can help rural communities and small towns through organizational assistance," Yancey noted, "and through leadership training and economic analyses."

The program will also help to promote vocational training, health, recreation, water and sewer facilities.

Problems caused by animal wastes, pesticides, trash and garbage disposal and poor land use will be tackled in an effort to preserve the environment.

The advisory board and the chairmen of the various study groups involved in working with the five-year plan viewed a telecast of the news conference held last night to kick off the statewide program.

During the television program, Governor Bob Scott talked about the thoroughness of the planning in the five-year program. He commended the Extension's efforts in the planning, especially in the new areas of concern such as bringing 4-H type programs to urban youth and programs in environmental quality.

A copy of Impact '76 presented to Charles Gaskins, chairman of the Pitt County Board of Commissioners, by Billy Phillips, chairman of the Extension's advisory board.

In other business last night, the board elected new officers. Robert Pierce of Farmville was named president. The new vice president is Mrs. Sylvia Wheless of Greenville and Mrs. Norman Hawkins of Rt. 1, Grimesland, was named secretary.

Committee reports were also presented.

Big And Furry

DREXEL, N.C. (AP) — A Catawba County deputy said today that while on patrol before dawn this morning he saw a big, furry "something" that appeared to have no head.

Deputy Joe Colvin, who was on patrol with volunteer deputy Jerry Pruitt, said they were parked at a roadside near Drexel with the patrol car's engine and lights off.

They saw something directly in front of the car in the dark, and Colvin turned on the lights.

"It was something like I've never seen before," Colvin said. "It was a great big, huge object — kind of gray."

Colvin said the nearest he could describe it was like a six-foot man with a fur coat pulled over his head. But he said it wasn't that, and it wasn't a bear either.

Colvin said the thing turned around and walked down a path into the woods, but when the deputies got to the woods, the thing was gone.

Bucs Hosting Paladins On Saturday

East Carolina University's Pirates return to Minges Coliseum on Saturday night, hoping to pull off another upset victory in the Southern Conference.

The first Buc conference game of the year brought about a win over defending champion Davidson. Saturday night, the Bucs have a chance to knock off league-leading Furman.

The Paladins, off to a slow start, have put things together, winning three of their last four games. And the only defeat in the string game last Saturday to third-ranked North Carolina.

Last night, the Paladins romped to a 92-66 victory over the University of Richmond, on the Spiders' home court. Richmond earlier beat the Bucs by a point in Minges Coliseum.

The Pirates return to action following their 98-80 loss to St. Peter's of New Jersey on Wednesday night. The Bucs were victims of a torrid full-court press in the game. They had led much of the first half in the contest, only to fall behind in the second.

A rally, however, had pulled them even at 78-78 with 6:05 to go in the game, but St. Peter's had forced turnover-after-turnover after that, and outhit the Bucs, 20-2, the rest of the way.

Overall, the Bucs had 33 turnovers in the game, 21 in the second half. This has been one of the major Pirate problems of the year, and has helped account for many of their nine losses. The Bucs have won just four games.

Furman comes into the game with a 7-5 record, 4-1 in the Southern Comference. Most of their wins have come at home, however, as they have a 5-2 mark there. On the road, they've won only two of five starts.

Ron Hunt has been the sparkplug of the Paladins so far this year. He was hitting at a 22-0 point per game clip for the Furman five going into the Richmond contest. Hunt had 20 points last night. Roy Simpson is next with a 16.2 average, but he added to that by being the leading scorer against Richmond, hitting 24. Simpson also picked off 18 rebounds in the game.

The rest of the double-figure scorers for the Paladins include Bud Bierly at 12.3 and Gary Clark at 12.0.

Bierly is the leading rebounder with an 11.5 mark.

The Paladins haven't been a real sharp-shooting team, hitting only 43 per cent of their shots. They've not done well at the line either, making only 63 per cent. They've also been outrebounded, 59.1 per game to 52.1.

But in scoring, the Paladins have a 91.6 average, having gone over the century mark on four occasions so far this year. Only three times in 12 games have the Paladins failed to score at least 90 points.

Unfortunately, however, when they lose, they tend to lose big. They've allowed 97.3 points per game. Five opponents have topped 100 on them, and the least scored against them was 74 by the College of Charleston.

For the Bucs, the contest might be described as a key one if they hope to finish atop the Southern standings. While there are a lot of games to go, the Pirates cannot afford to lose too many since they play more games than anyone else in the league.

A victory for the Bucs would not knock Furman off the top, but could pull the Bucs into a three way tie for second.

Game time is 8 p.m., with a freshman preliminary between the Baby Bucs and Frederick Military Academy starting at 5:45 p.m.

Pitt Tech Rally Beats Martin

WILLIAMSTON — Pitt Technical Institute rallied in the second half and then rolled to an 81-69 victory over Martin Tech last night.

The victory was the fifth against three defeats in the Eastern Carolina Community College Conference for the Paladins.

Pitt broke away to a 6-0 lead, but Martin rallied and tied it up. The two teams swapped baskets until the score reached 15-15, and then Martin pulled out into the lead. They continued to hold it the rest of the half, working up a 45-32 lead in the period.

"We were flat," Coach Bob Turner said afterwards. "We had beaten them easily the first time, and this hurt us in getting ready. Also the officials were late and the game started a half-hour late. This didn't help us either, just standing around so long waiting."

In the second half, however, Pitt began to put things together and came roaring back. They finally tied it at 52-52 after about five minutes of play, then moved out into an eight point lead, 62-54.

Martin again came back, cutting the lead to 62-60, but Pitt pulled away again, and this time, never let up. They led by as much as 15 before the final 12-point spread.

Wayne Brown led the Pitt scoring with 27 points, while Eddie Stokes had 19 and Leslie Saunders had 13. For Martin, David Moore had 24, Larry Brown had 17, Sam Moore had 14 and Gable Brown had 10.

Pitt entertains James Sprunt on Monday night.

Nicklaus Takes Aim On Another Victory

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — "Well, we'll just see if we can make it five out of six, and then six out of seven ..."

Jack Nicklaus, winner of four of his last five starts, had just fired a brilliant six-under-par 66 for a three-stroke lead in the first round of the Bing Crosby National Pro-Am golf tournament Thursday and was looking ahead to the weekend.

"Sure, I'd like to keep it going, but it's not going to happen," the powerful Golden Bear said, then grinned.

"How many did (Byron) Nelson win in a row? Eleven? Well, if I won 10 I'd want to win 20, but it's not going to happen."

Nicklaus, making his first start of the season, had seven birdies, missed six other times from 12 feet or less and was threatening to run off and hide from the rest of the field until he suffered his only lapse on the 18th hole.

A six-iron second shot hit the branch of a tree and the ball dropped straight down. He chipped poorly and two-putted for his only bogey.

That reduced his four-stroke lead to three over 1971 PGA Player of the Year Lee Trevino, tied for second at 69 with Paul Moran and Larry Mowry,

The group of seven at 70 included England's Tony Jacklin, rookie Lanny Wadkins, Al Geiberger, Dale Douglass, Bill Johnston, Tom Weiskopf and Mike Morley.

But some of the game's big stars had their troubles on the three Monterey Peninsula courses being used for this unique event—Pebble Beach, Spyglass Hill and Cypress Point, where Nicklaus played.

Defending champion Tom Shaw had a fat 77. So did Sam Snead. Masters champion Charles Coody was well back with a 73. Billy Casper had a 75. George Archer, a playoff winner Monday in the Glen Campbell-Los Angeles Open, took a 76.

Arnold Palmer is not competing. It was all Nicklaus on the chill, sunny day, with big Jack missing the course record by a single shot.

"You can say it's the best start of a season I ever had," Nicklaus said. "I always start my season in this tournament and this is the best opening round I've ever had here."

Goldsboro Tops Aycock, 52-32

Goldsboro Junior High School rolled to a 52-32 victory over E. B. Aycock Junior High School here last night.

Goldsboro jumped into an early lead in the game and pulled out into a 17-8 lead in the first period of play. Aycock was able to improve its offense in the second period, but Goldsboro continued its pace, outscoring Aycock, 17-12. That put Goldsboro into a 34-20 lead at halftime.

The action slowed considerably in the third period, as each team put through just four points, and the score climbed to 38-24. Goldsboro again outscored Aycock, 14-8, in the final period to wrap up the victory.

Tyrone Taft was the only Aycock scorer in double figures, finishing with 10. For Goldsboro, Uzzell had 13, Hamilton had 11, and Artis and Davis each had 10.

Goldsboro — Uzzell 13, Hamilton 11, Artis 10, Davis 10, Crawford, Townsend 2, Hall, Streeter, Stroud, Swift.

Aycock — Taft 10, Dupree 6, Morris 6, Dixon 4, Hagans 2, Randolph 2, Heath 2, Jenkins, Garner, Creech, Moye, Branch, Brown, Barrett, Barnes.

Buc Club To Hire Director

In the hopes of finding more financial support for the East Carolina University athletic program, the Pirates Club, its main funding organization, has decided to hire a full-time director.

The move was made during the annual Pirates Club meeting held Wednesday night.

Bill Cain, business manager of athletics, said that the club has decided to hire a full-time director to handle the fund-raising programs for the Bucs. These will involve grass-roots projects, seeking to influence alumni as well as other interested people.

Cain said that the new director would be chosen as soon as possible.

DR. M. W. ALDRIDGE

In other action, the club elected its new slate of officers for the coming year.

Dr. M. W. Aldridge was named as the president for the coming year.

Named to the board of directors were Joe Hallow, Hugh Bazemore, Dr. Steven White, Gene Carson, Duke James, and Dr. William Monroe of Greenville, and Curtis Cavileer and Bill McLawhorn of Ayden, William Wallace of Rocky Mount, Bill Bailey of Tarboro, Dick Paul of Washington, and Jim Jackson of Richmond, Va.

Presbyterian Holds To Lead

Presbyterian continued to roll along in the Church Basketball League last night, while St. James won its first game of the year. St. James beat St. Paul's, 62-53, while Immanuel Baptist downed Trinity, 61-44, and Presbyterian beat Black Jack, 73-53.

Presbyterian is now 4-0, followed by Immanuel with a 3-1 mark. They are trailed by Piney Grove, 2-1, Black Jack, 2-2, Trinity and Oakmont, 1-2, St. James, 1-3, and St. Paul's, 0-3.

St. James edged out into a 25-23 lead in the first period of its game, and then pulled away in the second half. They outscored St. Paul's, 37-30, in the final frame for the win.

Guy Howell led St. James with 16 points, while J. T. Harris had 14 and Roy Carraway had 10. For St. Paul's, Dave Bumgarner had 20 and Colbain had 12.

Immanuel and Trinity battled to a 24-24 deadlock in the second game's first half. But in the second half, Immanuel took control and rolled to a 37-20 advantage to win going away.

Dick Evans led the Immanuel scoring with 19 points, while Butch Ricks and Ray Dunlap each had 12. Jesse Lang had 17 and Donald Bowen had 13 to lead Trinity.

In the final game of the evening, both Black Jack and Presbyterian scored 30 points in the first half. But Black Jack ran out of steam in the second half, scoring only 23 points, while Presbyterian put through 43.

Larry Graham led Presbyterian with 17, while Frank Freuler had 15 and Lawton Nisbet had 10. Tal Adams led Black Jack with 16, while Phil Smith had 12 and Steve Peele had 10.

Landry Not Pleased Over Dallas Being Named Super Bowl Favorite

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — "This is the ultimate—it's not just another game," says Dallas Coach Tom Landry.

For the Cowboys and Miami Dolphins, the ultimate—the kickoff for Super Bowl VI—arrives Sunday in Tulane Stadium at 2:30 p.m., EST, with national television coverage by CBS.

"You try to convince yourself that this is just one more game. You try to say you've got to look at it the way you look at any other one," says Landry.

"But you just can't, no matter how much you try. Let's face it, this is what it's all about. This is what 26 teams are shooting for at the start of the season."

For the Dolphins, a relatively young squad which has rocketed from an also-ran to the ultimate in just two seasons, it's a new experience.

For the Cowboys, it's just one more championship—and another chance to shake the not-wholly-deserved image of "blowing the big ones."

Dallas, which went into last year's Super Bowl as the favorite, then lost to the Baltimore Colts 16-13, are the oddsmakers' pregame pick again, this time by a touchdown.

But that doesn't please Landry, who says it can work against the favorite.

"Perhaps being favored can hurt a bit. It can make a team overconfident, can make them let up just a bit—although I don't think that'll happen in our case.

"Conversely," he said, "being the underdog can cause a team to play over it's head, I just don't what effect, if any, it'll have on either of us."

Miami Coach Don Shula Agrees with Landry's assessemnt.

"I don't pay attention to odds. No team is going to lose to you. You have to go out and win. They certainly should be the favorites."

In the past three Super Bowls, the odds have had no relation to the outcome. Each time the underdog has come out on top.

Sunday's clash features two clubs with both solidly steady and potentially explosive offenses. On defense, too, they're remarkably similar, although the oddsmakers say it is defense which gives Dallas the edge.

At quarterback, each has a relatively young but highly polished performer.

For the Cowboys, it's Roger Staubach, a third-year player from Navy who won the starting role from Craig Morton in midseason and, with Landry shuttling in the plays from the bench, has taken Dallas to nine successive victories.

For the Dolphins, it's Bob Griese, a five-year veteran from Purdue, who calls his own game.

And, in each case, it's the respective conferences' top-rated passers who will be barking out the signals. Staubach led the NFC with completions on 126 of 211 attempts for a 59.7 percentage, 15 touchdowns and only four interceptions. Griese headed the AFC, hitting on 145 of 263 passes for a 55.1 percentage and 19 touchdowns with nine passes picked off.

Each has a target for the bomb. Griese will be aiming his at Paul Warfield, only the conference's No. 9 receiver with 43 catches—but they amounted to a 23.2 yards-per-catch average and 11 touchdowns, each category tops in the league.

Bob Hayes is the Cowboys' long-ball threat. He made 35 receptions for a 24 yards-per-catch average and eight touchdowns, including the NFC's longest aerial scoring play of the year, an 85-yarder.

On the ground, the Dolphins rely almost exclusively on Larry Csonka and Jim Kiick—and they don't need much more.

Csonka, the AFC's No. 2 rusher, ripped around and through the opposition for 1,051 yards and seven touchdowns and Kiick, ninth in the conference, added 738 yards and three touchdowns.

The Cowboys have more diversity in the backfield. Duane Thomas, the No. 7 rusher in the NFC, piled up 793 yards and a league-high 11 touchdowns on the ground.

Calvin Hill, who may see limited action Sunday due to a knee injury, and Walt Garrison, shared much of the rest of the running, Hill getting 468 yards and Garrison, technically Dallas' No. 3 runner, getting 429.

And Staubach was No. 4. The rugged quarterback scrambled 41 times for 343 yards.

In addition to Warfield, Griese threw heavily to Kiick coming out of the backfield and to wide receiver Howard Twilley and tight end Marv Fleming.

Staubach, who also goes to his backs quite a bit, will also be looking for wide receiver Lance Alworth and tight ends Billy Truax and Mike Ditka, the latter two operating as Landry's signal-carrying service.

On defense, the Cowboys and Dolphins finished second overall in their respective conferences. Dallas' Doomsday Defense was the best in the NFC against the rush but ninth against the pass while Miami was fourth in stopping both the ground and aerial game.

The edge the Cowboys would appear to have comes with experience. They've got an average of 8½ years on defense, some five more than the Dolphins, who will be starting five second-year men. Middle linebacker Nick Buoniconti, a 10-year veteran, is the man around whom Miami has built its defense.

One of the Cowboys' biggest threats is tackle Bob Lilly, who makes a habit of mauling quarterbacks and stopping runners dead in their tracks.

And behind 11-year star Lilly are more grizzled veterans, including eight-year cornerback Mel Renfro, whose main assignment will be to defuse the Warfield bomb threat.

Furman Rolls Past Richmond

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A pressing Furman defense that led to 35 Richmond turnovers has upped the defending Southern Conference basketball champion Paladins' lead in the league race to a full game.

"This was the key," said Furman coach Joe Williams after the Paladins whipped the Spiders 92-66 Thursday night to run their league record to 4-1 compared with Davidson and William and Mary at 3-2.

"We played much more consistently on defense than we have been playing," said Williams. "Every time we made a big play, it was on defense, especially getting back on their break. At least five times (near the end) we got the ball and scored on their break."

The game in a way was closer than the score indicated, for Richmond forced 28 Furman turnovers. But the Spiders hit only 37.9 per cent from the floor to 46.8 per cent for the Paladins.

The score was tied six times before Furman went in front for good with 5:46 left in the first half. The Paladins outscored the Spiders 15-4 to take a 42-31 lead at intermission.

After Richmond closed the gap to 61-56 with 7:09 remaining, Furman outscored the Spiders 31-10 the rest of the way.

"Half their points must have come on our turnovers," said Richmond coach Lewis Mills. "Our defense was good, but we did not do as good job of ball handling."

Roy Simpson scored 24 points and grabbed 18 rebounds and Russ Hunt added 20 points for Furman, now 7-5 over-all. The Spiders, 3-9, were led by Bob Jacobs with 18 points and Clark Wiseman with 16.

League Opens

The Ladies Baketball League opened play last night with two games. Beltone downed Azalea Mobile Homes, 18-12, and Greenville Utilities beat Fleetway — R.B., Jr., 23-15.

In the opener, Beltone slipped out into an 11-5 lead in the first period, then outscored Azalea, 9-7 in the second half.

Sandy Barnhill led the Beltone scoring with 8 points, while Pat Hamilton had four to pace Azalea.

In the second game, Greenville Utilites moved out into an 11-6 lead in the first period. They kept control of the game, outscoring Fleetway, 12-9 in the second half to win easily.

Carol Manuel led Greenville Utilities with 10, while Flo Casey had nine to pace Fleetway.

The Worry Clinic

Practical Side To All Idealism

Read Prof. Joel's dire prophecy! For many thoughtless do-gooders are wearing their hearts on their sleeves. They lack "horse sense." And they fail to understand Christ's advice about "feeding the hungry and healing the sick." Jesus showed what He meant by His own action!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D. M.D.

Case S-570: Prof. Joel teaches in a large seminary.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "I am becoming persuaded to your viewpoint regarding the need for more 'Horse Sense' in Christianity.

"By our excessive concern for the poor and hungry, both at home and abroad, may we not jeopardize the future of charitable Uncle Sam?

"Isn't it thus possible to kill the goose that lays the golden eggs of Welfare Aid to Dependent Children and starving Biafrans?"

Arab's Camel

Most of you readers may recall the classic about the Arab and his Camel.

On a frosty night, as the Arab was sleeping inside his warm tent, the Camel stuck its nose under the flap.

Its master started to boot it out, when the Camel is reported to have said:

"Master, I carried heavy burdens for you all day. And now it is so cold outside, don't you think I deserve to warm at least the end of my nose within your cozy tent?"

That seemed fairly reasonable, so the Arab consented.

But by gradual degrees the Camel then got its entire head inside.

Next, came its neck, plus one forefoot after the other.

Ultimately, its trunk and hind quarters likewise squeezed into the warm tent, thus pushing the generous Arab out upon the frosty sand.

That story should be reiterated before every college class and especially before all seminary students.

For a lot of do-gooders mean well but lack "horse sense."

They want Uncle Sam to go deeply into the red and shell out more billions for foreign nations, whose people then shout "Yanks, Go Home" after we have subsidized their own governments.

And we pour billions into welfare here at home when those same recipients of our largess would not raise a finger to defend good hearted Uncle Sam, if Russia were to threaten his existence.

And I am not joking!

Recently I reported that even our overly indulged and "kept" college youth on 12 typical American campuses were asked if they'd have us fight or surrender to Russia if a showdown occurred.

And a big majority on 8 of those 12 campuses said we should meekly surrender to Russia without firing a shot!

Such ignorance of the grim facts of life is appalling.

It shows the folly of further indulgence of such immature youth in 4 years on the campus.

Jesus urged us to feed the hungry and heal the sick!

But He didn't say deliver the food and medicines on a silver platter to their door.

He didn't search out the poor or sick but bestowed food and healing ONLY on those who showed enough ambition and interest to seek HIM!

Literally thousands of diseased folks were also within a few hundred yards of Christ's 3-year itinerary but Christ didn't go out, seeking them!

He started the first picnic just for the 5,000 who followed Him!

And he healed the lepers who asked Him specifically for aid.

But the Bible doesn't indicate that Jesus went around hunting recipients for free Medicare or Food Stamps!

Uncle Sam is beginning to stumble in carrying the torch of idealism for this planet!

Never let him become financially so anemic or militarily so vulnerable that selfish barbarians can kill the American goose with its golden eggs!

Opening lead: Ace of ♡

The defense seized on the opportunity presented by the opening lead to administer a lethal thrust to South's five diamond contract before the latter had an opportunity to launch his campaign.

North opened the bidding with one heart, the highest ranking of three touching four card suits. South held the equivalent of an opening bid himself and responded with two diamonds, his longest suit. North raised to three diamonds and South showed the heart fit by bidding three hearts.

North could not rebid a four card suit, so he showed his clubs next. When his partner merely returned to four diamonds, North carried on to game in that suit.

West opened the ace of hearts. It was obvious to East that his partner had led a singleton inasmuch as he was looking at nine hearts between his own hand and the dummy and declarer presumably held three hearts for his raise of that suit. The problem then, was for East to get in to give West a ruff.

The only quick potential entry card in East's hand was the king of spades and this would provide access only if West held the ace of that suit. The problem was to convey the message to partner that he could safely underlead the ace. East accordingly followed suit to the first trick with the eight of hearts.

This abnormally high card could not possibly be interpreted as a come-on and East hoped that his partner would therefore take his card as a suit preference signal requesting a shift to the higher ranking of the other two suits—spades.

West paused to consider whether it was possible that East held the queen of hearts, but he finally decided that if that were the case, partner could have made some milder signal than the eight. Since there appeared to be no tricks available to the defense in either diamonds or clubs, the ruff was the only chance to defeat South. West accordingly led a small spade at trick two. East put up the king and returned a heart and West scored the setting trick with the three of diamonds.

Object To Tax On Female Dogs

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP) — The women's libbers have a bone to pick with the City Council for doubling the tax on female dogs.

A group of them marched down to a council meeting Thursday and called the $10 tax—designed to reduce the dog population—discriminatory.

So the council made an exception. Women dogs who secure a veterinarian's note showing they're past the change of life will pay the $5 license fee just like the men dogs.

This year, Mercury Montego is "Car of the Year."

When you're hot, you're hot!

Not one, but two winners of Road Test Magazine's awards are now in our showroom.

Mercury Montego, the new personal-size car with big-car ride, was selected "Car of the Year" for 1972 by Road Test magazine. Its editors considered more than 40 models to determine the winner.

Last year Capri, the sexy European at a shamefully low price, won the "Import Car of the Year" award over all contenders.

Impressive? We think so . . . and we're sure you'll agree when you see and drive these outstanding cars. Visit us soon! Discover for yourself why Capri sold more cars in its first year than any other import did, and why Mercury Montego sales during November were up 147% over the same period last year.

Capri and Mercury Montego: both winners and just two of the many better ideas we have for you! Remember, nobody in the business has more kinds of cars for more kinds of people.

N.C. Voting Laws Thrown Out By Court; Declared Discriminatory

RALEIGH (AP) — A three-judge federal court has ruled that North Carolina laws prohibiting single-shot voting in some places and setting up numbered seats for some legislative districts are discriminatory and unconstitutional.

The three-judge panel issued an order permanently restraining the state Board of Elections from enforcing the laws. They said the statues "deny equal protection of the laws to the voters of North Carolina."

Judge J. Braxton Craven wrote the opinion with the concurrence of Judge Algernon Butler and Franklin Dupree. It said the laws are discriminatory because they apply to some areas of the state and not to others "and the state has shown no justification for this discrimination."

The decision came in a suit filed by 12 Negroes as a class action in behalf of all blacks in North Carolina. The judges heard arguments in the case Oct. 11.

Alex Brock, executive secretary of the elections board, said Thursday he had not seen the decision and did not know whether the state would appeal.

In single-shot voting, a voter votes for only one candidate in an election where more than one vacancy is to be filled, such as county board of commissioners. It is a tactic frequently used by minorities in the hope of concentrating their vote and possibly electing at least one minority candidate.

Laws thrown out by the judges prohibited single-shot voting for county and municipal officers in a number of cities and counties across the state.

The numbered seat law applied to certain General Assembly districts having more than one seat. Under the law, each seat in a district was given a number, and a candidate would specify which seat he was seeking.

In their decision, the judges said the numbered seat law "is constitutionally defective for there is no rational basis for applying it to some multi-member district and not to others."

Their comment on single-shot voting said similarly: "We think that the anti-single-shot law denied to voters in North Carolina the equal protection of the laws because it allows voters to single-shot vote in some areas of the state while prohibiting this manner of voting in others, and the state has shown no justification for this discrimination."

Loss In Tobacco Income Forecast For Tar Heels

RALEIGH (AP) — A long-range program drafted by the North Carolina Agricultural Extension Service says there are excellent opportunities for Tar Heel farmers to boost their income but warns them to brace themselves for a loss in tobacco income.

The service kicked off the program, called Impact '76, at a ceremony in Raleigh Thursday. It stressed development of the state's natural and human resources and set a 1976 farm income goal of $2.1 billion, nearly 19 per cent above the 1970 level.

Gov. Bob Scott, who participated in the kickoff ceremony along with farm and educational leaders, said the new program can be significant in the state's progress because it reflects "thoroughness, imagination and much citizens involvement."

Extension director George Hyatt Jr. said over 10,000 persons from throughout the state took part in drafting county programs and the over-all state program.

"I am convinced that 'Impact '76' offers the best county-by-county assessment of our economic and human problems and opportunities that has ever been made in North Carolina," said Hyatt.

The program outline said there are excellent opportunities for North Carolina farmers to boost their income by expansion in broilers, hogs, forestry, turkeys, cotton and most horticultural crops, especially those grown for processing.

It said gains also are possible in soybeans, eggs, milk, beef, corn and a number of other commodities.

However, it warned that production of flue-cured tobacco is expected to be off by 10 per cent by 1976 as a result of foreign competition, the health issue and a reduction in the amount of tobacco used per cigarette.

"Our real measures of progress over the next five years might be how well our farm people adjust to such challenges as urbanization, tobacco mechanization, environmental concerns, low net profits, overproduction, changing markets, competition for labor, 'engineered' foods, and inefficient production units," said Hyatt.

He added that opportunities still exist for operators of small farms if they will use their labor and limited land in the intensive production of specialized commodities.

Disclaim Skunks In U.S. Arsenal

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The newspaper of the Soviet Defense Ministry says the United States plans to drive Viet Cong guerrillas from underground shelters with skunks, and while the report is denied by a U.S. scientist, he says it might not be a bad idea.

"It is known that the first consignments of skunks, small animals with an evil smell, are being prepared for shipment to Vietnam," said an article in Krasnaya Zvezda or Red Star.

Dr. C Scott Johnson, the civilian who heads the Marine Life Sciences Division at the Naval Undersea Research and Development Center, said Thursday the report was untrue.

But he added: "We might have a winner there. That would come under the classification of chemical warfare, I suppose."

★★★★★★★ North Pitt Notes ★★★★★★★

By ELLEN HEATH

North Pitt students have been very busy this week finishing up this semester and preparing for mid-term exams. The exams will begin on this Friday and end next Wednesday. The Seniors were greatly disappointed Tuesday when they were informed that nobody would be exempt from exams. The Seniors had hoped that they would be exempt from the exams of the classes in which they had maintained a 93 or above average.

The Student Involvement Committee had a special meeting Friday at which they selected four students to serve on the Pitt County Student Task Force.

They chose Ervin Cogdell, president of the Student Involvement Committee, from the Senior class, Ann Murchison from the Junior class, Jeffery Price from the Sophomore class, and Pam Edmondson from the Freshman class.

These students will meet with the other members of this organization to discuss the complaints and problems of the schools.

A new club called the Teen Dems has been formed at North Pitt. This club includes those students who plan to register as Democrats. At their first meeting, officers were elected. Jimmy Nelson and Patricia Brown were chosen as co-presidents.

College Day will be held on January 20 at D. H. Conley. North Pitt Juniors and Seniors are invited to attend this. Different colleges of this area will have representatives there to help the students to choose the college they wish to attend. The students participating in this are asked to furnish their own transportation if possible. A bus will be provided for a limited number who cannot.

The December SAT scores are back. Many were pleased with their scores while others hope to improve on their score next time.

As part of the public relations program, the parents of the Student Government were invited to visit and have lunch at North Pitt on Thursday.

North Pitt's wrestling team is ranked number one in the conference. Last week they won matches against Farmville and D. H. Conley, Monday night they beat Southern Wayne. Their next match is Thursday night with Ayden-Grifton.

This week there are three home basketball game. Tuesday night, the Panthers played Southern Wayne. The "Big Orange Machine" won 73-34, and the Panther boys lost 65-62. Wednesday night, the Panthers played Robersonville in a make-up game, and Friday night, North Pitt plays North Lenoir.

A banquet for the football players and the cheerleaders will be held in the lunchroom on Monday night at 7:00.

Cattle Roundup In Urban Style

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Montgomery authorities, some riding horses, held an urban-style cattle roundup Thursday after a truck carrying 80 calves overturned and more than half the animals romped out into a busy thoroughfare.

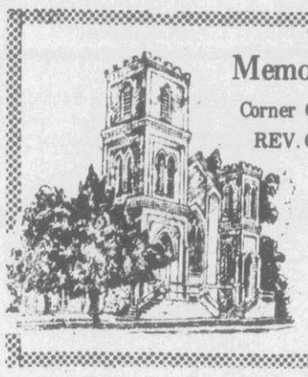

The accident on the city's South Boulevard occurred during the rush hour when the truck carrying the cattle hit a car. No one was seriously injured but two cows were reported killed when hit by cars.

The loose calves galloped down the lines of home-bound traffic, with some wandering into residential neighborhoods and a large shopping mall. An estimated dozen calves were still being sought Thursday night.

THE NUMBER'S GAME 1972

Here's the population explosion in personal terms. To the proud parents, it's their first child — and they love her! But to the statisticians, who deal only with cold facts, she's just one more person on an already crowded earth.

What a dilemma! We want children, but we want them to face a secure future. When almost no one is optimistic about the present, how can anyone look forward to the future?

Other generations have faced momentous problems, too. Yet, with God's help, they surmounted them.

And God — if we turn to His Church — will do the same for us!
