Checkpoints Prove Worth

PATROL COMMANDER Col. E.C. Guy says that checkpoints often turn up motorists who are driving with expired, suspended or revoked licenses. (AP Wirephoto)

RALEIGH (AP) — Several months ago Col. E. C. Guy, commander of the North Carolina Highway Patrol, and another patrol officer were driving in the western part of the state when they saw a young woman jump out of a car at a point where a patrolman was halting traffic.

The woman ran across the highway median strip and jumped into a patrol car. In a few minutes the colonel learned via patrol radio that the woman had been kidnaped in Raleigh by an escaped convict and that she had seized her opportunity at the checkpoint and escaped.

"In all likelihood it saved her life," Guy commented in an interview.

The patrolman set out in pursuit of the driver and other patrolmen set up roadblocks. Shortly the alleged kidnaper was arrested.

That incident was a sample of the things that can happen when patrolmen set up checkpoints for routine checks on passing motorists.

"The main purpose of such checks is to see that motorists have valid driving licenses and that they are not driving with suspended or revoked licenses, to check the car's safety equipment and to see if the cars are in compliance with the registration laws," Guy stated.

"It's the most effective way we have to make such checks," Guy added.

The checks frequently turn up motorists who are driving after their driving licenses have expired, or who are driving after the licenses have been suspended or revoked. Frequently, the checks reveal defects in the car's safety equipment.

Warrants are issued for those caught driving after their licenses have been suspended or revoked, but warnings are usually issued for those whose licenses have expired or where there are defects in a car's safety equipment.

"We use a little common sense and issue warnings instead of tying up the courts with these cases," Guy explained. He noted that when a motorist is cited to court because of a defect, he can get his case not pressed by showing that the defect has been repaired.

"We are now issuing over 100,000 written warnings a year," Guy said.

Guy pointed out that if a patrolman has any reason to suspect that a car has been stolen or that a motorist is wanted he can get a check made via radio from the National Crime Information Center in a matter of minutes.

"Quite frequently we turn up stolen cars or wanted persons," Guy stated.

Sometimes the patrolman at a checkpoint sees a driver turn around and flee instead of stopping at a checkpoint.

"I've seen that happen quite often," Guy said. "When it does, the trooper gets in his car and pursues the motorist. Usually it's a person operating without a license, or the car has been stolen, or there's some other violation of the law."

Alerted To Red Attacks

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Signs of an enemy offensive in the Tet lunar new year multiplied today and the big U.S. military base at nearby Bien Hoa has been placed on increased alert.

Field officers said the alert at Bien Hoa, 15 miles northeast of Saigon, was ordered after captured enemy prisoners told interrogators attacks were being planned in that area during Tet, which falls on Feb. 15.

In the central highlands, North Vietnamese troops were reported moving into positions to encircle a fire base on the frontier, a possible forerunner to a big attack.

The U.S. Command indicated that a higher state of readiness would be ordered shortly for all American forces throughout South Vietnam to guard against increased enemy rocket, mortar, sapper and terror attacks during Tet.

The command also reported the 20th air strike inside North Vietnam this year and the loss of two American aircraft due to mechanical failures.

Collision Kills Greenville Man

BAILEY — A 22-year-old Greenville man, Travis Hooker Flanagan Jr., was killed in a two-car collision 6½ miles north of here about 9:40 last night at the intersection of two rural paved roads.

Highway Patrolman G. B. Conwell said the Flanagan car apparently failed to stop for a stop sign and collided with a car being driven by Benjamin Earl Sherrod, 38 of Route 2, Bailey.

Sherrod, the officer said, suffered only minor facial lacerations in the collision which demolished both of the cars.

Says Hanoi Is Analyzing

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda's correspondent in Hanoi reported today that President Nixon's peace plan is being "attentively analyzed" by North Vietnamese leaders.

"Outwardly these proposals could be seen as something new," correspondent A. Serbin wrote, "but here, in the political circles of Hanoi, their real contents are being attentively analyzed and note is being taken of what is hidden behind the new cover."

He said Nixon's offer to withdraw all U.S. forces within six months after an agreement does not reply to the Viet Cong demand for an unconditional U.S. withdrawal after a firm date has been named.

Serbin said the cease-fire proposed by Nixon is regarded in Hanoi as "a striving on the one hand to retain pro-American regimes in countries of Indochina and on the other hand to deprive the peoples of these countries of the opportunity to fight for their rights of self-determination."

Nixon's proposal for new elections in South Vietnam came in for the sharpest criticism.

"Local political circles note that the so-called 'elections' ... will only repeat the farce of the presidential elections held in Vietnam last October," Serbin said.

Funds To Hanoi Still Possible

WASHINGTON (AP) — North Vietnam was told last year it might get up to $2.5 billion of a potential $7.5-billion, five-year U.S. postwar reconstruction program for Indochina following a peace settlement, Nixon administration officials have disclosed.

Administration strategists said also that the test still lies ahead on whether Hanoi will negotiate seriously on President Nixon's eight-point peace offer.

A current theory here is that North Vietnam and the Viet Cong, reportedly building up for an offensive next month, will want to decide first whether South Vietnam can defend itself without U.S. troops and whether Nixon's offer has wide public support in the United States.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers told newsmen Thursday he was somewhat encouraged because North Vietnamese negotiators did not reject Nixon's plan as it was publicly presented at Paris that morning, though they piled invective on it. He said it was a good sign that they asked questions about it.

But Rogers acknowledged the continuing clash of goals. He said the North Vietnamese insist that a "Communist government takeover" in Saigon and "we can't accept that."

In his Tuesday night disclosure of secret negotiations by presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger in Paris, Nixon said an aid offer was made last July 26, but he gave no figures.

Administration officials said that the "illustrative" figure of $7.5 billion over 5 years for Indochina's reconstruction, with up to one-third going to North Vietnam, was given after Hanoi envoys had presented their secret nine-point settlement plan. One of the nine points called for reparations, the officials said. They said the reparations demand was rejected

OYF WINNER . . . Wayne K. Stokes (center) was named the winner of the 1971 Outstanding Young Farmer award Thursday night. Jaycee project chairman John M. Gray (L) made the announcement and Rep. Sam D. Bundy presented the engraved OYF plaque to the 27-year-old farmer.

Jaycees' Annual Young Farmer Award Is Made; Won By Wayne Stokes

A Rt. 3, Greenville man was honored by the local Jaycee chapter Thursday night as Pitt County's Outstanding Young Farmer.

Wayne K. Stokes, 27, received this year's OYF award from guest speaker, State Rep. Sam D. Bundy. Stokes was presented a plaque signifying his selection as Pitt's top young farmer.

According to OYF project chairman John M. Gray, the Pitt winner will be entered in competition for the state outstanding young farmer award to be presented in Wilmington on Feb. 4 and 5.

Stokes, who has been engaged in farming since 1962, operates his farming program on some 650 acres on which he produces tobacco, corn, peanuts and soybeans. The young farmer also has an extensive poultry operation.

Since beginning farming operations, Stokes has conducted experiments with multiple purpose drying barns, tobacco production, minimum tillage and liquid fertilizer and poultry management.

The farmer reported that soil testing experiments are conducted on his farm every two years, and state recommendations on fertilizer and lime usage are followed. Water management has centered around the installation of tile wet land, waterways and new drainage ditches.

Stokes, for two years a Farm Bureau director, has been a member of the Eastern Pines Fire Department for eight years. He has served on the advisory board of the Pitt County Agricultural Extension Service and is a member of the Moose Lodge.

The award winner is married to the former Lindsay Gay and they are the parents of two children.

The selection of Stokes as the outstanding young farmer was made by a five-man committee composed of Greenville businessmen.

Co-sponsors with the Jaycees on this year's project were the Pitt-Greene Production Credit Association and Wachovia Bank and Trust Co.

SURVIVES FALL — Yugoslav stewardess Vesna Vulovic survived a fall of 31,000 feet when her Yugoslav Air Transport DC 9 exploded over Czechoslovakia Wednesday night. Experts theorized that she fell with tailpiece of the plane which slid down a snow-covered slope. The 27 others in the plane were killed. (AP Wirephoto)

Plan No Change In Tokyo Policy

By MARK KURAMITSU
Associated Press Writer

TOKYO (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko's "smiling diplomacy" in his six-day visit to Japan achieved initial success by paving the way for closer relations between the two countries, Foreign Ministry officials said today.

But they said they anticipate no change in Japan's basic policies as a result of Gromyko's visit. They said Prime Minister Eisaku Sato will deliver a keynote speech in parliament next week stressing that relations with the United States remain the basis of Japanese foreign policy.

The officials said the Soviet agreement to discuss the territorial dispute over the islands off northern Japan and to begin negotiations on a peace treaty this year was a step forward.

For four years, the Soviets had refused to hold what were to have been annual Soviet-Japanese consultations. The Russians objected to Japan's insistence on discussion of its claims to four islands the Russians seized at the end of World War II.

Then came Japan's disenchantment with President Nixon's administration as a result of Washington's anti-Japanese economic measures and his overtures to Peking without letting the Japanese know so they could adjust their China policy. Seeing a chance to step into the breach, Gromyko came to Japan last Sunday and met with Prime Minister Eisaku Sato, Foreign Minister Takeo Fukuda and other Cabinet ministers, and with economic and industrial leaders.

Before he left for home today, Gromyko told a news conference he is convinced that relations between Japan and the Soviet Union will continue to develop, and "the Japanese people should be optimistic about it."

The Soviet minister showed concern about relations between Japan and China and said: "We have no objection to other countries improving their relations with China. However, the talks for improving relations with China should be conducted so as not to impair the interest and security of the Soviet Union."

Cambodia Sees Difficulty In Keeping Army

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Cambodian army, often praised by top U.S. officials for swift growth and performance, is reported having difficulty getting and holding recruits.

Pentagon sources say recent setbacks suffered by the Cambodian army under attacks from North Vietnamese forces appear to be turning Cambodian youths against military service.

Reports reaching the Pentagon also tell of Cambodian youth expressing disillusionment with corruption among their army's officers. There were allegations, too, that some Cambodian commanders were listing more men than actually were in their units, a form of payroll padding.

Although U.S. involvement in Cambodia is much less than in Vietnam, this country has a considerable stake in the outcome of the Cambodian-North Vietnamese struggle. Among other things, the United States has allocated and spent nearly $400 million in Cambodia in about two years, with millions more proposed under President Nixon's new budget.

There is no over-all Cambodian army recruiting organization. Each commander is expected to fill his own unit's ranks.

U.S. sources said commanders are paid a certain amount for each man they recruit. Sometimes young men are offered bonuses to join up, then desert with the bonus money and their weapons.

U.S. officials have consistently given highly favorable public assessments of the Cambodian army.

News dispatches from the field have indicated a much less optimistic situation, with at least one Cambodian army brigade recently reported to have virtually disbanded.

PICKET LINE

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Longshoremen and Teamsters Union members opened a picket line today at the Mexican border that stopped cargo from crossing into California from the Baja California port of Ensenada.

Restraining Order Hearing Waived On Watershed Project

A hearing in U.S. Eastern District Court in New Bern on whether or not to grant a temporary restraining order to stop work on the Chicod Creek watershed project as requested by several environmental protection groups was postponed today.

Greenville attorney Frank Wooten, who is representing the watershed in the proceedings, said all attorneys involved in the court case "agreed to waive the hearing." He indicated that additional briefs will be submitted to the court and indicated that Judge John Larkins would probably rule on the question of the temporary restraining order "in a week or 10 days."

According to Wooten, if a temporary restraining order is issued by the judge, a hearing on a permanent restraining order as requested by the group of environmentalists would be held "at some later date."

The several environmental groups are seeking to halt the Chicod Creek drainage program because they say it will harm fish and wildlife habitats.

Supporters of the channelization project — most of them farmers who live in the 25,100 acres area of Pitt and Beaufort Counties that would be affected by the drainage program — say that at present, much damage is caused by flooding in the area because of poor drainage. The clearing of the street, they contend, would make many acres of land more usable.

Seven denials, three approvals and two requests tabled was the record of action by the Greenville Board of Adjustments Thursday night.

Facing an unusually heavy schedule of 12 requests for variances and special use permits, the four members present heard the presentation of requests and considered comments from opposition before going into closed session to make their decisions.

About 50 persons were on hand to oppose James E. Sutton's request for a special use permit to construct multi-family dwellings at the southwest intersection of Red Banks Road and East Fourteenth Street extended. Sutton's plans called for 200 units on a 14 acre site. The request was denied by the Adjustments Board.

Those opposed cited increased traffic and safety hazards due to congestion as the primary reason for offering opposition.

In the case of E. Hoover Taft, III, seeking requests for variance in six instances for minimum space requirements in construction or residences on various sites on Tyson and Ford Street, the board considered all six requests as one item. Their denial was based on the fact the lots fail to meet minimum space requirements set forth in the city's zoning ordinance.

The request for special use permit made by the Phillip

Church of Christ was tabled for further study. The board wants to look into the size of the lot and space for off-street parking before making a decision. The property is located at the northeast corner of Bancroft Avenue and Farmville Boulevard.

The second matter tabled was J. J. Perkin's request for variance on minimum space requirements for constructing multi-family dwellings at the intersection of Avery and Baker Streets. This request will again be considered after Perkins furnishes a site plan in accordance with Section 15-3 of the zoning ordinance.

Requests approved at the January meeting were: A request for special use permit by Holy Trinity United Methodist Church to locate a church on the south side of Red Banks Road; a special use permit for Memorial Baptist Church to build a church on the south side of Greenville Boulevard; and Linwood E. Baker's request for special use permit to use a building at 1306 North Greene Street as a barber shop.

Prior to the city meeting, the joint County-City Adjustments Board considered one item, a request by G. V. McLawhon to locate two self service gasoline pumps outside the city limits on the Ayden Highway. The special use permit was granted by the joint board.

Board Of Adjustments Faced A Heavy Schedule

Democrats Advised To Drop 'Irrational' Comments

By ROBERT L. CAMPBELL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A high-ranking Nixon administration official is giving out advice on the handling of Democratic presidential candidates critical of President Nixon's Vietnam peace plan. "If the Democrats as a party are to earn respect for sound and constructive criticism, they should seek the means of quieting the irrational line of comment such as emanating from the presidential candidates' lineup," Herbert G. Klein, White House director of communications, said Thursday. "When one reads the comments of some of the Democratic presidential candidates, such as Sens. Muskie and McGovern, one can only conclude that they feel they were in a desperate race to see whether or not their criticism of the President's peace plan would be published more quickly than that of Hanoi," Klein said in an address in the nation's capital to alumni of

Washington & Jefferson College. Sen. George McGovern, meanwhile, also in Washington, continued his battering of Nixon's peace plan providing for withdrawal of all American forces from Vietnam within six months if Hanoi would agree to release U.S. prisoners of war. McGovern said the President was "exploiting the heartaches" of the families of POWs by making it appear the war is being fought to free prisoners.

Sen. Edmund Muskie, on the campaign trail in Florida, meanwhile, told newsmen he could not say whether he would choose a woman, a black, or a representative of any special group as his running mate if he gets the Democratic nomination.

son of Washington, also after the Democratic nomination, said in Florida Nixon's new peace plan is similar to one he suggested more than a year ago. He said a letter signed by himself and 29 other senators in September of 1970 urged Nixon to set a date for total withdrawal, secure the release of prisoners of war and call for a new election in South Vietnam.

"That statement I made about a black was to a question at a private meeting and I gave an honest answer," the Maine senator said.

Another Democratic aspirant, Sen. Vance Hartke of Indiana, accused Democratic party leaders of wanting him out of the primaries.

Hartke told a news conference in Washington that members of the executive committee of the New Hampshire Democratic party advised him to leave the race there and "asked me why I wanted to upset their situation. They said it was cut and dried."

Hartke said he would not leave the New Hampshire race, and, moreover, will enter all the remaining preference primaries.

Other presidential contenders spent the day in various parts of the country:

HUMPHREY—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota told a Milwaukee news conference that Nixon's new peace plan held some hope of ending the war, but that Nixon's new budget has little hope for an economic recovery. Humphrey said Nixon's wage and price control policy is "like taking a pain reliever to cure a disease."

LINDSAY—New York Mayor John Lindsay, seeking the Democratic nomination, was jeered in Miami, Fla., when he told a group of Cuban exiles "the ultimate goal is normalization of relations between the two countries (the United States and Cuba.)"

"You're a hypocrite," a woman called from the audience. "You're forgetting 13 years of slavery." Lindsay replied that normalization of relations was not possible immediately, saying: "There has to be some gesture from Cuba before this can happen."

ASHBROOK—Rep. John M. Ashbrook of Ohio, making a conservative Republican challenge to President Nixon, told a high school audience in Claremont, N.H., that draft evaders should be "willing to accept the reasonable consequences of their action." Ashbrook also said the United States is spending enough money on defense, but that Nixon is assigning national defense a lower priority than it should receive.

JACKSON—Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington, also after the Democratic nomination, said in Florida Nixon's new peace plan is similar to one he suggested more than a year ago.

YORTY—Mayor Sam Yorty of Los Angeles said that Nixon should "lay out the facts before the American people concerning the economy." He told about 500 students at the University of Montana that the President "either doesn't know what he is doing economically or he just doesn't care." Yorty starts a five-day campaign swing today in New Hampshire.

CHISHOLM—Rep. Shirley Chisholm, D-N.Y., was in Newark, N.J., where she said she will not vote for any more money for military purposes as long as defense spending is the nation's number one priority. She called for a 25 per cent cut in the defense budget, saying: "The number one priority must be the people."

Unemployed Youths And Dropouts Find A Place

By NATE WEGODSKY
Associated Press Writer
BREVARD, N.C. (AP) — Unemployed youths and high school dropouts are building and maintaining roads, government buildings and campgrounds in the Pisgah National Forest. They also learn a trade and the academic skills needed to function in a society that has passed them by.

The youths are students at the Schneck Civilian Conservation Center near Brevard in the western North Carolina mountains. The Job Corps center functions both as a trade school and as an academic school.

Some of the youths are functional illiterates when they arrive, but after a stay of 12 to 14 months they can read and write well enough to get along in their everyday activities, including their trades.

Of the others, who had a little more academic training when they arrived, 80 were able to obtain high school equivalency certificates during the last year.

There are about 200 young men at the center now and 85 per cent of them are black.

The acting director, Joe Ferguson, says there is no racial friction whatsoever. Ferguson, a former high school principal at Nashville in south Georgia, says there is a two-man fight from time to time, as might be expected when 200 young men live closely together, but the fights are from personal and not racial causes.

Ferguson joined the Job Corps program at the start because he believed in the idea. The corps was part of the anti-poverty Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) program under President Lyndon B. Johnson's Great Society blueprint.

Before coming to Schneck two years ago, Ferguson was assistant director of the Pine Knot Job Corps Center in Kentucky. The Schneck center is named for Carl Schneck, who founded America's first forestry school about 1900. The school buildings, five miles north of Brevard on U.S. 276, are now a museum, open weekends only.

Other states use federal employment offices to get candidates for the Job Corps. North Carolina uses welfare agencies. Attendance is voluntary, and a young man may stay for up to two years. Youths aged 16 to 22 are accepted.

The Schneck center opened in April of 1965. The young men live in trailer units which have been linked together to form three dormitories of 35 men each, and in two buildings of pole design which house 56 men each. The buildings were built by outside craftsmen, but in July youths at the center will begin constructing one themselves.

The center teaches carpentry, masonry, welding, operation of earth-moving heavy equipment, building maintenance and cooking.

All vehicles and heavy equipment at the center are maintained by the students.

Ferguson says there is much demand for students regarded as ready for outside jobs.

"We don't place them at the federal minimum of $1.60 an hour; they get $2.25 or so to start," he says.

The Schneck center has 55 teachers, who are under Civil Service. In addition, unions in the area have a contract with the U.S. Department of Labor to teach painting and carpentry.

The students have built roads in the Pisgah National Forest, a Forest Ranger district office, and are constructing a campground with 200 trailer spaces at Davidson Flats. The Forest Service plans to open the first 100 units next July 1. The campground will contain 13 buildings each with rest rooms and showers.

The students work from 8 a.m. to noon, and from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. They rise at 6 a.m. and lights-out time is 10 p.m.

They get $1 a day and are paid twice a month. However, raises can bring pay to $50 a month instead of $30. There are automatic raises of $5 a month for satisfactory completion of 30 days and for four months of service. There are also $5 merit raises and leadership awards.

Those who get the leadership awards become crew chiefs in the work-training programs. Students are given weekends off, and most go to Brevard and Asheville.

About once every two months they are taken by camp bus to a youth center for girls in Marion, N.C., about 60 miles away.

There also is an athletic program in football, basketball, baseball and softball against teams from other Job Corps centers in rural areas. These centers are Oconoluftee at Cherokee, N.C.; Arrowdood in Franklin, N.C.; Pine Knot and Great Onyx in Kentucky; Flatwoods in Virginia and Jacobs Creek in Tennessee.

Awards recognizing athletic ability, educational improvement and the month's best camper also help maintain esprit de corps.

Girl's Body Frozen To Await Future

By BILL STOCKTON
AP Science Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — The father of an 8-year-old girl who died of a kidney disorder says her body has been frozen in hopes science later can revive and cure her.

"Personally, I have a feeling that science will be able to do something," Guy de la Poterie, 36, of Montreal said Thursday.

His daughter Genevieve died Tuesday in a private Los Angeles hospital after a two-year illness.

"I'm trying to be realistic about this, but I sincerely think one day they'll be able to revive her. When, I don't know," said De la Poterie, a drug salesman.

When Genevieve died, a medical team stood by to certify her death. Then experts of the Cryonic Society of California packed her body in ice.

The body was taken to a CSC facility "somewhere in the Los Angeles area" and her blood replaced with dimethyl sulfoxide, a biological preservative. Then the body was cooled to 327 degrees below zero.

The body now is stored in a cryogenic-refrigerated—vacuum bottle.

Genevieve is the first child ever frozen cryogenically, said Robert Nelson, an electronics engineer who is president of the society.

Cost of the process is estimated at between $15,000 and $20,000, Nelson said.

Society members hope that medical science will perfect a means to thaw out a frozen body, renew life and then cure the malady which brought clinical death.

The first success, Cryonics Society members believe, may come with a child such as Genevieve. Biologists say the primary problem in thawing a human body is to bring every cell up to a life-sustaining temperature at the same moment. Genevieve weighed only 35 pounds, so there would be less tissue to thaw at one time.

Six Injured In Four-Car Pileup

BESSEMER CITY, N.C. (AP) — Lewis Fisher, 44, of Rt. 1, Dallas, had trouble starting his car early today and telephoned his son, Gary Fisher, of nearby Gastonia, to drive by and pick him up.

Gary hopped into his car and headed for his father's house — but they met unexpectedly on North Carolina 27 at the intersection of that road and a rural paved road.

His father finally had started his car and driven off. The vehicles sideswiped and in the next few seconds two more cars came along and plowed into the wreckage.

In all, six persons were hurt, none seriously.

ATTEND SHORT COURSE . . . Wiley Ray Hardee Jr., left, and Marvin Stephenson Jr., right, talk with Dr. Joe Pou about the Modern Farm Short Course they will participate in at N. C. State University, Raleigh.

Two Area Farmers Crash Course For Police

Bankers in North Carolina are continuing their award-winning service to agriculture through the sponsorship of the two-week Short Course in Modern Farming at N. C. State University. The 20th annual session is set for January 31-February 11 in Raleigh.

Scholarships for 2,089 young North Carolinians involved in agriculture have been provided by the home-town banks since the short course began in 1953. This week, the County Key Banker, Joe Pou, for Pitt County, announced that the banks in this area will send two young farmers to Raleigh for the short course. All expenses will be paid by the banks. Attending the short course from this county will be Wiley Ray Hardee, Jr., Ayden, Rt. 1, and Marvin Stephenson, Jr., Greenville, Rt. 2.

The short course begins Monday morning and ends on Friday, February 11. A total enrollment of more than 90 is expected. While in Raleigh these young farmers from all sections of North Carolina will learn to recognize and evaluate modern technology in a changing agribusiness environment. The program covers broad areas of interest to agricultural leaders and specific commodity information.

MT. CLEMENS, Mich. (AP) — Upset by his department's accident record, Chief Jack W. Mast of the Clinton Township police department wants to enroll his men in driver-training school.

"I don't think we have an unusual problem compared with other police departments," Mast said, "but I'd like to see the accidents down to a more acceptable level."

In three years, Mast said, members of the 27-man department have been involved in 61 accidents and wrecked patrol cars 43 times.

His men have been at fault in about 60 per cent of the accidents, the chief added.

Had the officers wrecked their private cars, the chief said, they would have lost their driver's licenses by now.

Policemen found to be at fault in traffic accidents while driving on duty in Michigan are immune from prosecution.

As a result of his department's driving habits, Chief Mast said, annual insurance payments have risen from $200 to $500 for each squad car.

Gunmen Kill Two N.Y. Policemen

NEW YORK (AP) — Two policemen on foot patrol in the East Village were shot fatally Thursday night in what police called a "brutal, unprovoked attack" by unknown gunmen.

Witnesses told police that they saw one man run from the scene waving his gun aloft and firing into the air as if in glee. The attackers took the service revolvers from both patrolmen.

Police scoured the area and within an hour of the 10:50 p.m. shooting had seized at least 30 men, some armed, for questioning. None was listed as a suspect, however.

Killed were Patrolman Gregory Foster, 22, who was hit eight times, and his partner, Rocco Laurie, 25, who was hit seven times, police said.

Police said the two patrolmen, both members of a neighborhood police team on foot patrol in the racially mixed precinct, had gone into a luncheonette to inquire about an illegally parked car. The luncheonette owner told them he did not know whose car it was, police said, and the officers left. Moments later the owner heard rapid gunfire and rushed out to find the officers sprawled on the sidewalk.

Hosiery Mill To Close Down

SHELBY, N.C. (AP) — The Chadburn hosiery mill in Shelby will close at 6 a.m. Saturday after the third shift.

A spokesman cited bad market conditions as the reason for the closing of the women's stocking and panty hose plant.

About 100 persons have been employed recently, down from a peak of 250 employees.

The plant was built in 1946 by the Hudson Co. and was acquired by Chadburn in 1969.

Arsonist Is Suspected

MONTREAL (AP) — Police say that a downtown office fire Thursday that killed four people and sent 13 others to the hospital may have been started by an arsonist.

Firemen rescued about 250 people in the rush-hour blaze at the 10-story headquarters of Canadian Liquid Air. Heavy traffic and near-zero temperatures hampered the firefighting and rescue work.

Police Lt. Larry Levis said investigators had not established the cause of the fire but arson was a prime suspicion.

"There have been 20 fires in the last 15 days in the area bounded by Guy, Peel, Sherbrooke and St. Catherine streets, always between 3 p.m. and 6 p.m.," he said.

The fire Thursday started between 4:30 and 5 p.m. at the corner of Drummond and Sherbrooke streets.

Fire Chief Rene Plaisance said most of the damage was confined to the second floor where the blaze started, and damage there was considerable. He said there were indications of an explosion at the start of the fire, but this was not definite.

Julie And David Plan Reception

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Julie and David Eisenhower have scheduled a $100-a-couple reception here March 22 to aid President Nixon's re-election campaign fund.

The chairman of the event, George Champion Jr., said the reception at the Deerwood Country Club would be limited to 175 couples.

During the five months they have lived here, the President's daughter and her Navy officer husband have been generally shielded from the general public by Secret Service agents.

Fine Arts Festival Open To Junior And Senior High School Students

The Fine Arts Festival, sponsored by the Greenville Woman's Club, will be held at the club building on Saturday, Feb. 19 at 10 o'clock in the morning.

This is the final notice to junior and senior high school students of the opportunities in music, art, sewing, public speaking, and the Sallie Southall Cotten Scholarship. Candidates for the scholarship must be recommended by counselors, teachers, and principals. For information, call Mrs. J. L. Rives, Greenville, 752-3019.

Open to seniors only, there are five divisions in the music contest: girl vocal; boy vocal; piano; strings; or any other orchestral instrument.

Winners in the local contest will be eligible to participate at the district level early in March.

Mrs. Earl Beach will head the Service Guild as president and will be assisted by Mrs. W. E. Avery, vice president; Mrs. Charles Whiteford, secretary; and Mrs. Everett Congleton, treasurer.

Provisionals Honored At Coffee Hour

A coffee hour honoring Service League Provisionals was held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. W. S. Bost, chairman of sustaining members.

Hostesses for the event were sustaining members. Guests were greeted by Mrs. Morris Brody, president of the league, and Mrs. Bost.

The living room was decorated with an arrangement of red tulips. The dining table was centered with an arrangement of red and white carnations and baby's breath.

Mrs. Ed Harris poured coffee and other sustaining members received throughout the house.

Provisional members are: Mrs. John Duffers; Mrs. Frank Layne; Mrs. Bill Dansey; Mrs. Frank Meachum; Mrs. Charles Kuehn; Mrs. Harry Leslie; Mrs. James Graham;

Mrs. William Sneed; Mrs. Norman Bennett Jr.; Mrs. Lawton Nisbet; Mrs. R. W. McConnell; Mrs. Stephen Barry; and Mrs. Don White.

Special guests were members of the Advisory Board, Mrs. J. Ficklen Arthur, Mrs. J. B. Kittrell Sr., Mrs. Walter Harrington, Mrs. H. L. Ormond and Mrs. Karl B. Pace.

(date to be announced later), and winners at the district level will compete at the State Fine Arts Festival, which will be held at Meredith College, Saturday, March 25.

Awards in each category are, first place, $100; second place, $75; third place, $25.

There are many opportunities in the field of art for junior high students, 10 and 11 grade students, and for seniors.

Teachers of art will please call Mrs. Wellington Gray, 756-0013, for details. At the state level, awards are: first place, $200; second place, $100; and third place, $50, for senior art students. For junior high, and 10th and 11th grades, the awards will be $50 and a silver bowl or a cup.

The topics for public speaking, open to juniors and seniors, are:

- (1) "Where's the Gap-Generation of Communication?"
- (2) "Pornography — Privilege of Punishment?"
- (3) "May I Present a 1972 Presidential Platform?"
- (4) "Youth's Cop-Out for Today."

Students are expected to write their own speeches, and limit them to eight minutes. Awards at the state level are $100, first place, and $50, second place. Call Mrs. George Snyder, 752-6956, on or before Feb. 15 for music, public speaking or sewing.

The sewing contest falls into the following categories: Class A: any garment made for self by a club member 18 years of age and over;

Class B: any garment made for self by a student in junior or senior high school; Class C: any garment made by a club member 18 years of age and over for a person 12 years of age and under.

Contestants may select patterns, materials and notions of their choice from any store. Judging will be based on general appearance, 30 points; styling, 20 points; selection, 20 points; and basic construction, 30 points.

Any garment made since March 27, 1971, is eligible for consideration. Winners at the state level in each class will receive a $50 Savings Bond given by Burlington Industries.

FAMILY DINNER
Swedish Meat Balls

Rice Salad
Green Peas

Whipped Farina Pudding
WHIPPED FARINA PUDDING

In Sweden they call this dessert Klapprog and make it with lingonberry juice.

2 cups cranberry juice cocktail

1/2 cup sugar

1/4 cup farina

1 teaspoon vanilla

1/2 teaspoon salt

In a 2-quart saucepan bring cranberry juice to a boil.

Sprinkle in sugar, then farina, stirring constantly. Boil gently, stirring constantly, for 10 minutes. Remove from heat. Stir in vanilla and salt. Turn into large bowl of electric mixer.

Beat at high speed just until mixture is light and fluffy and holds very soft peaks—about 10 minutes. Do not overbeat or mixture will get rubbery. Turn into individual serving dishes.

Chill. Serve with whipped cream, light cream or milk. Makes 2 1/2 cups—5 servings.

COMPANY DINNER
Potted Burgundy Beef

Potatoes
Mixed Cooked Vegetables

Salad
Lemon Pie

Beverage
POTTED BURGUNDY BEEF

The gravy is made with a mix.

3 1/2 to 4 1/2 pound chuck or blade beef roast

1 1/2 teaspoons salt

1/4 teaspoon pepper

1 tablespoon shortening

3/4 cup red burgundy wine

1 container (8 ounces) commercial sour cream

2 tablespoons flour

1/4 teaspoon leaf oregano

1 large onion, sliced

1 envelope (3/4 ounce) brown gravy mix

1/4 cup cold water

Season roast with salt and pepper. Brown on both sides in hot shortening in large heavy skillet with a tight fitting lid or in a Dutch oven. Reduce heat; pour wine over roast. Blend together sour cream, flour and oregano. Place sliced onions over top surface of roast. Spoon sour cream mixture over onions. Cover tightly; cook over low heat until meat is tender—2 1/2 to 3 hours. Turn meat after first half hour of cooking; baste occasionally during remaining cooking. Place roast on serving platter. (You should have about 3 cups of liquid in pan.) Combine gravy mix and water; stir until smooth. Add gradually to liquid in pan, stirring constantly. Bring to a boil; serve hot with roast. Makes 8 servings.

Grandmothers Don't Like Their Term

LIEGE, Belgium (WNN) — High school students here polled 620 grandmothers and reported that "the great majority" of such ladies do not like to be called "grandmother" or anything like it "by their children's offspring." The term obviously makes grandmothers feel older than they really are.

sympathized Colette Deval, 16, leader of the pollsters. "We teens have agreed to wait until a woman is 80 before calling her grandmother."

Put a thick rubber band around a jar lid to make it easier to turn.

Engagement Announced

MISS JANET SUE TURNAGE... is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Earl Turnage Jr. of Greenville, who announce her engagement to James Gillespie Hood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Erskine Hood of Brunswick, Ga. The wedding will take place May 13.

Lifestyles Subject Of New Etiquette

By PEACE MOFFAT
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — How do you cope with the new morality?

With the new etiquette, of course—the kind of etiquette that doesn't tell you when to wear white gloves and a hat, but rather what not to wear under your see-through blouse. How to travel with a man to whom you're not married and even how to have an affair—politely. And it's all set forth in a new book, "The Cosmo Girl's Guide to the New Etiquette."

"In this book we don't talk about the morality of a situation—just given that situation, how to handle it," says Gael Greene, a major contributor to the guide.

The writer, who is married to a journalist, but prefers to be known as Ms. Greene, lives in New York City and in a "liberated" church near Woodstock, N.Y. She says she has been "publicly attacked" for some of the views she expresses in her articles. Known in Manhattan primarily for her restaurant articles in New York Magazine, she also contributes regularly to other national magazines, and recently wrote, "Bite: A New York Restaurant Strategy."

"I think this etiquette book is very daring," she admits, "but I think it's legitimate too. For instance, we tell a girl who is pregnant that blackmailing the father is wrong, whether for marriage or for money, and not to involve anyone in her troubles who will be devastated—like her mother."

"And no other book tells how to travel with your lover. Obviously a lot of people are doing this, but they might not know that in some cases it's still difficult to get a room together."

Ms. Greene says one thing the book didn't solve was how to refer to the man you're living with if he's not your husband, but she notes that it does provide a guide for an unmarried couple's living together.

"You have to decide whether to keep his apartment or yours or whether to get a new one," Ms. Greene points out. "It might be rather helpful to keep both apartments for a kind of retreat."

Ms. Greene says she herself was raised in a very "liber-

Widower Reweds, Should He Have Waited?

By Abigail Van Buren

(c 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd. Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Here is the situation. A man in his middle sixties and a woman in her early sixties have recently married. She was the town's most attractive widow for many years. The man's wife had been dead exactly 7 months to the day he remarried.

I always thought that out of respect to the dear, departed mate it was customary to wait a full year before remarrying. I would appreciate your opinion.

KNOWS BOTH

DEAR KNOWS: How one treats his mate when he (or she) is living is the only meaningful way in which one can show "respect". And waiting one year (or 10) isn't going to make one bit of difference. Time is precious. And if two people feel they can find happiness together, who am I to count the days since their dear ones have departed? [And who are you?]

DEAR ABBY: A relative of mine, now widowed and in her late forties, keeps asking me to get her a date with a certain attractive eligible bachelor she knows I know.

I am absolutely positive that this man would have no interest whatsoever in this woman, but of course I can't tell HER that.

Don't suggest I have a party and ask him to "escort" her because if I asked him to pick her up and take her home he would consider it a dirty trick.

I suppose I should tell you that this woman is overbearing, overdressed, loud and aggressive, but she thinks she's witty, hip, friendly and the life of the party.

So what can I do when she says, "Just introduce me to him—I'll do the rest."

Abby, I just couldn't!

STUMPED

DEAR STUMPED: You need not ask him to "escort" her, but you could invite them both to an informal gathering at your home. She will then meet him, and if he doesn't ask her out, she'll have had her chance. And you'll have her off your back.

DEAR ABBY: I have looked in every etiquette book I could find, and I can't find the answer to this question: When you invite someone to a party, is it proper for them to ask, "Who else will be there?"

I would never think of asking such a question when someone invites me to a party, but I have had it put to me many times. Is it proper?

WANTS TO KNOW

DEAR WANTS: No. When extending an invitation, the thoughtful hostess mentions what kind of party she's having in order to clue the guests in on what to wear, but if she doesn't say who else will be there, it's impolite to ask. [One just goes and takes his chances.]

CONFIDENTIAL TO "THINKING IT OVER IN PALM SPRINGS": Be sure you think it over thoroughly. Money isn't everything. Sometimes it isn't even enough.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Dinner-Dance Planned For Early February

The second annual East Carolina University Women's Club dinner-dance will be held Friday evening, Feb. 11, at the Candlewick Inn.

Mrs. William Grossnickle is chairman for the plans of the dinner-dance and Dr. and Mrs. Grossnickle will be the official host and hostesses for the evening.

The theme for the evening will be "Hearts and Flowers for St. Valentine's Day." This will be depicted by centerpieces for the tables done in hearts and flower arrangements.

The decoration committee includes: Mrs. Karl Rodabaugh, chairman; Mrs. Robert Morrison, Mrs. William Collins; Mrs. Bobby Boseman; Mrs. Robert Bunker; and Mrs. Allen Harrop.

The 16-piece Shriner's Dance Band will be providing the dance music for the evening's entertainment.

Reservations must be made by Feb. 1 and may be done by telephoning: Mrs. John Ellen, 756-0761; Mrs. Charles Broome, 756-2894; or Mrs. Douglas Wilms, 756-5438.

Paper Says Not All Of Scott Campaign Contributions Told

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The Raleigh News and Observer says Gov. Bob Scott failed to report completely a tow sack full of money given to him at a breakfast in Franklin during his gubernatorial campaign in 1968.

The paper reported today that a tow sack containing small bills and some checks was handed to Scott at the campaign breakfast on Oct. 3, 1968 by Oscar J. Ledford, chairman of the Macon County Board of Commissioners.

According to the newspaper, Ledford said in recent interviews that the sack contained "four thousand and some few hundred dollars" contributed by 35 to 40 persons.

Scott's statement of campaign contributions for that period, signed by his campaign treasurer John A. Williams Jr. of Raleigh, lists a $500 contribu-

PUFFING DANES
COPENHAGEN (UPI) — More than 200 tons of pipe tobacco was puffed into the air by Danes every month in 1970, the Tobacco Board reports. The monthly consumption of cigarettes was 500 million, or 100 per capita out of a population of 4.9 million.

German Wrestlers Featured Thursday

Kurt and Karl Von Steiger, a German brothers combination, will star in the main event of the Jaycee sponsored wrestling match coming to Greenville on Thursday, at 8:15 p.m.

Again being held in Memorial Gym on Tenth Street, ECU campus, the match will have a varied card designed to appeal to wrestling fans of every stripe.

In the main event, the Von Steiger brothers will face a popular opposition, Paul Jones and The Kentuckian. The Von Steigers, noted for their rough-house tactics, will need a full measure of skill to match the capable combination of Jones and the Kentuckian. The wrestlers are expected to have to be on their toes every minute of an evenly matched quartet.

As usual, the big tag team main event will be the best of three falls with an hour time limit.

Luther Lindsay and Frank Hester, two noted Negro wrestlers, will join forces to take on two determined veterans, Frank Morrell and Tinker Todd in a second tag team bout scheduled for the evening.

The opener for the evening pits Abe Jacobs against Bobby Pau.

Another singles will be a sure-fire attraction, as Man Mountain Mike, registering in at 600 pounds (including his overalls), will face an Oriental favorite, wrestler Joe Soto.

Tickets are on sale at Maxwell Brothers, Western Auto, House of Suites, Eckerd's Drug Store and at the Boys' Club on Skinner Street; in Farmville at Rose's; and in Ayden at Tropigas, Ayden Nitrogen and Ayden Transit. Tickets will also be available at the door prior to the hour of the match.

Proceeds as usual go to the Boys' Club of Greenville-Pitt County.

There aren't any men like that left.

What you have to settle for, dear, is a new-fashioned man. This is the kind of man who doesn't want to fight the liberated woman.

You can't win this new type of man by winsome charms or romantic appeals. His attitude toward marriage is cold, crass and realistic—just the same attitude that women used to have before they lost their minds and decided to run the world rather than relax and enjoy it.

I suggest that if you have found the man of your dreams you simply make him the following Leap Year speech:

"Harry, baby, you're living in a fool's paradise, letting all those girls turn your silly head with their gifts of roses, and candy. Yes, they're willing to wine and dine you cow, but when your good looks fade they'll go for a newer and prettier face and leave you with nothing but a handful of stale memories.

"Harry, I got a better deal for you, honey. I want to marry you. Now, don't look so startled, honey. Here, let me light you up a four-bit cigar.

"I don't want a fly-by-night affair with you, pet. I want to work my heart to the bone forever for you. I'm making $15,000 a year now. I'll buy you more expensive suits and a snazzier apartment. You can spend every day improving your pool game if you want to, honey, just so you're home when I get there.

"I won't turn you out when you're old and gray and 60, Harry. My $150,000 insurance policy matures then, and you can have it all, my captivating darling. Oh, please, say yes!"

He'll say yes, all right. It would be cheaper for you to buy a cat and become an old maid. But if you want a husband today, Miss Wallflower, you have to move with the times and make it worth his while—or some other liberated woman will.

Bowl, and I gave Pakistan a play and they lost half their country.

"But this time I'm sure my plan will work. Will you at least give it a try?"

"Neigh."

"Oh, by the way, Ack-Ack. Mrs. Nixon and I would like to ask you to a special prayer breakfast for horses at the White House next Sunday. I've invited Black Jack, Tom Fool, Native Dancer, Canonero II and all the U.S. park police horses in the Washington area.

"Billy Graham will conduct the service and his sermon is titled, 'What Good Is It to Win the Kentucky Derby if the Devil Is Waiting for You in the Paddock?'"

Soviet General Ruled 'Insane'

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet dissident sources report that Maj. Gen. Pyotr Grigorenko, charged with anti-Soviet activities and declared legally insane, has been ordered detained in a mental asylum for another six months.

Grigorenko, a retired army officer with a distinguished record in 34 years of service, was arrested in 1969 after he became a leader in the Soviet dissident movement.

Dissident sources said Thursday night that he appeared before a panel of Soviet psychiatrists earlier this month and that the panel ordered his continued detention at an asylum in Chernyakhovsk, in Soviet Lithuania.

Rev. Bradshaw Preaching Here

The Rev. Francis C. Bradshaw will preach at Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church Sunday at the 11 a.m. service.

He is pastor of the City Road United Methodist Church in Elizabeth City and a former resident of Greenville. He is son of the late Robert W. Bradshaw, pastor of Jarvis Memorial from 1942 to 1948.

Other members of the Bradshaw family will be present for the special worship service at which a painting will be presented to the church as a memorial to the late Mr. Bradshaw.

Astronaut Now Brig. General

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Astronaut Thomas P. Stafford became one of the youngest general officers in the Air Force Thursday night when he received a surprise call from Vice President Spiro T. Agnew telling him of his promotion from colonel to brigadier general.

Stafford's promotion is subject to Senate confirmation.

"It will be quite a while before I'll be able to put on the stars," he said.

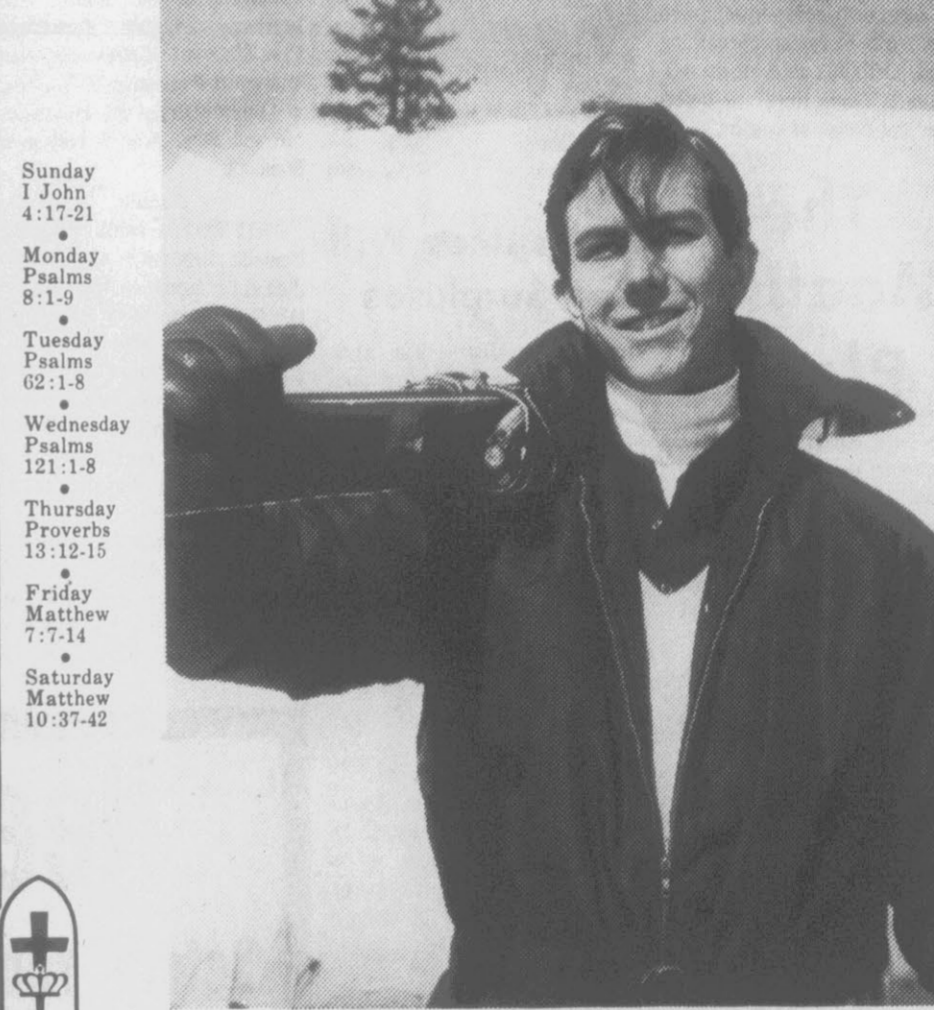

A veteran of 19½ years service, the 41-year-old spaceman was born in Weatherford, Okla.

FARAWAY PROBLEMS?

The snow is just the way it should be — and the sky's so blue, it's unbelievable. The air is fresh and clean and it's hard to realize that pollution exists. All the world's problems seem far away.

But for this young man there will be a tomorrow and a next tomorrow. Circumstances won't be the same. Perhaps John is a little more aware than most of us of the ills that beset this world — for he is a theological student. He is determined to make things better. And he is equipped with enthusiasm, understanding, a keen mind and a deep faith.

How about you — and your tomorrows? Certainly the best way to begin doing your part is to cover that short distance to church next Sunday.

Marine Dies In Training Course

QUANTICO, Va. (AP) — A Marine student at the officer candidate school here collapsed and died Thursday while participating in physical training with his unit, The Marine Corps Development and Education command announced today.

Joseph W. Crank, 23, of Philadelphia, was pronounced dead on arrival at the U. S. Naval Hospital at Quantico, a spokesman said.

Crank reported for officer schooling here Jan. 9 and had just begun the running phase of physical training when he collapsed, officials said.

Mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and oxygen were administered but efforts to restore breathing failed. Officials said an investigation is being made to determine the cause of death.

GRIFTON — Plans for the second annual shad festival were made at a meeting Tuesday night.

Committees named Tuesday night and their chairmen include: Parade, Dick Moore; hospitality, Henry Oglesby; food, Lions Club; games and contests, Jaycees; traffic control, safety, sanitation, Rescue Squad; golf tournament, Clifton Gentry; shad queen contest, Ken Carter; fishing contest, George Sugg; street dance, Dick Price; publicity, Janet Hasely.

The event is scheduled to take place April 8 and Clifton Gentry was named overall chairman of the project. Two new activities added for this year's festival are a golf tournament and a pancake supper.

Airline Service To Be Restored

OTTAWA (AP) — Full airline service over Canada is expected to be restored by midnight following an agreement by the nation's 1,600 air controllers to return to work and submit their demands for higher wages and shorter hours to arbitration.

International and domestic carriers announced resumption of flights on the heels of the agreement Thursday to give mediator Noel Hall arbitrator's authority in the dispute between the Canadian Air Traffic Control Association and the federal Treasury Board. Hall has a deadline of March 17 to make an award.

The end of the 11-day walkout meant a return to work for some 15,000 idled airline employees.

Subpoena Author

NEW YORK (AP) — Martin S. Ackerman said today author Clifford Irving has been subpoenaed to testify before both city and federal grand juries in connection with his purported autobiography of Howard R. Hughes and because of this, Ackerman said he has withdrawn from the case.

A play on drug abuse, "The Underground Bird" was presented at the annual meeting of the Pitt County Mental Health Association last night.

Produced by Edgar R. Loessin, the play had in its cast East Carolina University drama students, Russell Womble, Alan Oatley, Bill Doeg, and Bruce McKeown. Jaunda Halley was stage manager.

The play centers around a confirmed addict of "Nose." With his spray can hung around his neck, he has withdrawn underground. He tries to get another to join him, but in the end he is left alone in his miserable state.

Mrs. Sylvia Newell, regional vice president of the State Mental Health Association, was present to explain the rechartering of all chapters. This will be accomplished by May, she said.

Volunteer service awards were presented to Mrs. John Guy, who voluntarily staffs the front office of the Coastal Plain Mental Health Clinic; to the WSCS of St. James United Methodist Church for their participation in many MHA activities, including the adoption of seven forgotten patients at Cherry Hospital; and to Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority for their kindness to patients at Cherry Hospital, including arranging for Pitt Unit patients to attend the State Fair. Mrs. Frank Steinbeck Sr. accepted the award for the WSCS and Miss Addie Gore accepted the Alpha Kappa Alpha award.

Class of 1974 members were introduced. These new Board members represent several towns in the county.

A report of the year's activities was given by David E.

Reid Jr., president. The four programs being emphasized for mental health associations are improved care and treatment of mental hospital patients; aftercare and rehabilitation services; treatment, education, and special services for mentally ill children; and community mental health services, he said.

Improvements of the Pitt Unit at Cherry Hospital done by the Pitt Chapter include: providing draperies and curtains for seven windows in the day room and for 33 sleeping area windows providing colorful spreads and scatter rugs for each bed; giving 50 polyester jackets for patients; purchasing a sewing machine for adjusting and repairing patients' clothing and as a tool in the Unit's therapy program; giving good used clothing throughout the year, adoption of all 21 forgotten patients; bringing Pitt unit patients to Greenville for a shopping spree, cookout, and movie; taking Pitt patients to the State Fair; having a Christmas party in the unit, taking a dancing group to entertain all Cherry patients; providing gifts at Christmas through Operation Santa Claus, and contributing to the Pitt Unit General Fund.

The intersensory reading tutorial program held in cooperation with the Greenville City Schools PTA is the Mental Health Association special service to children. Begun last year in the elementary grades, the service was extended to the Junior High School level this year.

Special recognition was given to Mrs. Willie Mae Hawkins for being chairman of a highly successful Operation Santa Claus campaign.

Will Receive Award For Corn-Growing

Ira Ellis of Rt. 1, Farmville, has been named to receive a special award for excellence in corn growing.

Announced by Royster Farm Service, Farmville, representing the Producers of Funk's G-Hybrids, the award is in recognition of Ellis' production of a 144 bushel corn yield. This yield is being officially entered in the nationwide record books of Project: 200. Project 200 is a high-yield corn growing program aimed at increasing corn yields and per-acre profits. Over 5,000 corn growers throughout the U.S. and Canada are participating.

LADY MILKMAN
 DARTMOUTH, N.S. (AP) — Beverly Himes likes people and the outdoors so what better job could she find than delivering milk for a dairy?

Mrs. Himes, 29, said she would stagnate if she was "put behind a desk and saw nothing but files." She drove a dry-cleaning firm's truck in Thunder Bay, Ont. for three years before returning here in 1969.

She says that for a married woman with two school-age children delivering milk is almost the perfect job.

Ellis' yield was made with Funk's G-506W, a high capacity hybrid variety specially suited to this area. The field was planted on April 8, 1971, in 38-inch rows. Plant population at harvest was 19,500 per acre.

Ellis' total combined fertility program included 175 lbs. actual N, 45 lbs. actual P and 90 lbs. actual K per acre.

The Project 200 was harvested on August 25, 1971, at which time the grain had reached 27 per cent moisture.

Under the national Project 200 rules, a minimum of two acres must be machine harvested from not less than four adjacent rows running the full length of the field, shelled and converted to No. 2 corn.

Pirates Begin Trip, Facing Keydets

Oak City Gets Half-Game Lead

OAK CITY — Oak City High School moved away, at least temporarily, into sole possession of first place in the Martin County Conference last night. The Trojans stopped Bear Grass, 70-54, for a half-game lead over Jamesville.

The Bear Grass girls, however, pulled off a 49-45 upset over the Trojanettes, and avoided elimination in the title race.

In the girls game, Oak City led for most of the way, but a fine rally by Bear Grass in the final half, pulled it off. Oak City jumped off to a 10-3 lead in the first period of play. They continued to lead through the second period, but enjoyed only a 9-8 advantage in scoring for a 19-11 halftime lead.

In the third period, Bear Grass continued to warm to the task and outscored Oak City, 15-12. That cut the lead to 31-26. Then, in the final frame, the Bears outthit Oak City, 23-14, and that proved enough for the Bear Grass team to pull out the victory.

Anna Mizelle led Bear Grass with 19 points, but Oak City's Sylvia Jones was high for the game with 29.

In the boys contest, Oak City jumped away to an early lead and was never in trouble. They outthit the Bears, 24-10, in the first period, and then coasted through the second frame. Bear Grass held a 16-15 edge in points in the period, but was still behind, 39-26 as the half ended.

Oak City again moved away in the third period, outshooting the Bears, 19-9 for a 58-35 lead. Bear Grass was able to rally in the final period, 19-12, but it wasn't enough.

Ronald Duggins led Oak City with 17, while Wayne Jones had 16. Vann Rogerson led Bear Grass with 19, while Charles Mobley had 15 and Nathaniel Armstrong had 11.

Trio Capture Church Wins

Oakmont, Piney Grove and Black Jack picked up victories in the Church Basketball League last night. Balck Jack rolled to an 86-59 win over Trinity, Piney Grove nipped St. Paul's in an overtime, 66-64, and Oakmont nailed St. James, 66-60.

Presbyterian continues to lead the league with a 7-0 record, while Immanuel is second at 6-1. They are followed by Piney Grove, 5-3; Oakmont, 4-3; Black Jack, 4-4; Trinity and St. James, both 2-6, and St. Paul's, 0-7.

In the opening game last night, Black Jack eased into a 41-36 lead at the half. Then, in the second half, they outthit Trinity, 45-23, to win going away.

Tal Adams led Black Jack with 40 points, while Steve Peele had 15 and Randy Hudson had 10. For Trinity, Lewis Hardee had 18, Donald Bowen had 16, Jim Adams had 12 and D. R. Daniels had 11.

Throughout most of the second game, it was basket-for-basket, as St. Paul's struggled to pick up its first win. At halftime the two teams were tied at 25-25, and both hit 39 points in the second half for a 64-64 deadlock in regulation time. In the overtime, however, only one basket was scored, by Wayne Avery of Piney Grove, and that gave Piney Grove the win, keeping St. Paul's winless.

Tom Meeks led Piney Grove with 21, while William Nichols had 14, Avery had 11 and Buddy Allen had 10. For St. Paul's, Larry Land had 26, Jack Wall had 21 and Dave Bungarner had 13.

In the final contest, St. James pushed out into a 33-30 lead in the first half, but could not hold to it. Oakmont rallied with a 36-27 advantage in the second half, and took the win.

Bobby Hall led Oakmont with 21, while Doyle Daughtry had 18. R. T. Harry led St. James with 18, while Guy Howell had 16.

Bears Rally To Nip Rampants

New Bern High School's wrestlers rallied from a 30-6 deficit to take a 36-30 victory over Rose High School last night. The Bears swept the last five matches to gain the victory.

Rose had won seven of the first eight matches, but they were unable to stop the Bears in the heavier weights. The Bears won the last five, taking four of them on pins and the other on a forfeit.

The loss leaves the Rampants with a 1-6-2 overall mark.

3-Way Tie For Lead

Azalea Mobile Homes downed previously unbeaten Greenville Utilities, 30-13, in the Ladies Basketball League last night. That game, coupled with Beltone's 30-21 win over Fleetway-R.B. Jr., threw the league into a three-way tie for first.

Azalea, Beltone and BUCo are all tied for first with 2-1 marks, while Fleetway is last with an 0-3 record.

In the opener, Beltone pushed out into a 19-9 lead, and then coasted to the win. Fleetway outthit them, 12-11, but to no avail, in the second half.

Sandy Barnhill led Beitone with nine, while Dolly Johnson had nine for Fleetway.

In the second game, Azalea outthit GUCo, 10-8 in the first half, and then shut the door on them in the second. Azalea outthit them, 20-5, in the second half, taking the win.

Faye Averett led Azalea with 15 points, while Carol Manuel had five to pace GUCo.

VALUABLE CARDINALS

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — When Joe Torre was named the National League's Most Valuable Player for the 1971 season he was the 12th Cardinal to win the award since Frank Frisch took it in the 1931 inaugural year. The Braves' late Bob Elliott (1947) and Ken Boyer of the 1964 Cardinals are the only other third basemen to win the honor.

Payton Takes Scoring Lead; Hawkins Second

Lonnie Payton of Rose High School has moved into the Pitt-Martin-Green scoring lead during the past two weeks. Payton has pushed past both David Pugh, the first round leader and Ernest Crandall, who led last time, to take the lead. Payton holds an 18.7 average thus far, over a point ahead of on-coming Dwight Hawkins of Conley, second with a 17.5 average. Crandall, of Robersonville, has slipped to third at 16.6 while McCoy Williams of Farmville Central has taken over fourth at 16.4. David Pugh, who led the initial standing, has fallen off to fifth at 16.0 for Conley.

In the team scoring race, Oak City leads the way with a 66.4 average. Rose is a close behind at 65.5, with Farmville Central next at 64.4.

In defense, Albemarle Conference leader Williamston is tops with a 46.5 mark. Eastern Carolina Conference leader Ayden-Grifton is second at 50.8, followed by North Pitt at 57.1.

In the girls scoring race, only three top 10 points on the season, Robersonville's Jennie James at 13.1, Oak City's Sylvia Jones at 12.9, and Williamston's Joanie Rogerson at 12.2.

North Pitt leads both the offense and defense with 50.1 and 21.2 marks respectively. Williamston, like North Pitt an unbeaten, is second in both with 45.2 and 26.9 averages. Conley is third with 37.9 and 29.6.

The leading scorers, team offense and defense and overall records (not counting last night's Bear Grass-Oak City game) follow:

White Oak Nips Conley Matmen

JACKSONVILLE — White Oak High School slipped past D. H. Conley's wrestlers last night, 33-31.

Conley grabbed an early lead in the match, but White Oak came on to take a 27-6 lead that the Vikings never overcame. The key to the match came, however, with Richie Joyner of Conley was disqualified while leading 9-2 in his match. That would have reserved the outcome.

The loss leaves Conley with a 7-3 overall record.

Summary:

100: Dyke Hatch (C) drew with Figura, 7-7.

A four-game road trip that will mean much in the Southern Conference standings opens Saturday night for the East Carolina University Pirates. That night, the Bucs play Virginia Military Institute in Lexington, Va.

The Bucs, currently tied for first place in the Southern Conference standings with Furman and Davidson, could move ahead of the pack, or settle further into the log jam right behind the leaders.

During the next two weeks, the Bucs will be meeting their two chief rivals, Davidson and Furman, along with one of the two that has beaten them so far in the league, Richmond.

Against VMI, the Bucs will be putting a three game victory streak on the line, and a similar mark in league play, too. (It was learned this week that a previous ruling by the conference that Appalachian's games would count in the standings has been rescinded and they will not count.)

The Bucs, after beating William & Mary, 79-71, last Saturday night in a stunning comeback after being down 15-3 in the early minutes of the game, took two days off for rest early in the week. "I think it did us good," Coach Tom Quinn said. "It got us in a good frame of mind for the rest of the season."

Quinn noted that it was the first time since before the Christmas tournament swing that the Pirates had taken a couple of days off.

"We worked hard on our defensive drills on Tuesday, and spent Wednesday roughing out some of the hard edges," Quinn said. Thursday's practice was preparatory for VMI.

"We don't expect to do anything new, just perfect what we already have," he added.

Quinn expressed surprise at both the way William & Mary moved away from the Bucs in the early minutes of the last game, and at the explosiveness of the Bucs in their comeback. They outthit William & Mary, 42-13 in the last 14 minutes of the first half. "It surprised me because we weren't in an all-court press," Quinn said. "We did a lot in a short period. We can get the ball often enough, there's no telling how much we could score."

The game this Saturday should be different, however. VMI used a very deliberate controlled offense against the Pirates, but fell before them, 62-57, in their last meeting. "We look for them to do the same thing," Quinn said. "We'll have to use more pressure offense, but on defense, when our big men get so far from the basket, we do make mistakes, so we'll have to press our offense."

The coach added that VMI will probably be more confident against the Bucs, having played them so close here. "But we were playing without Faber and with two sophomores in the lineup," he pointed out. "They should play better up there, but so should we."

VMI's big man is Charlie Tyler, who is expected to be back after missing some action with a wrist injury.

The Pirates are now led by sparkplug Jerome Owens, who has jumped his average to 14.5. Al Faber is right behind at 14.3, while Jim Fairley had a 12.1 mark. Earl Quash is right at 10 per game, while the fifth starter, Dave Franklin is hitting at a 9.5 clip.

Following Saturday's game, the Bucs travel to Davidson on Tuesday, then meet Furman on next Saturday.

Pitt Defeats Halifax, 89-79

BETHEL — Pitt Technical Institute took command in the second half and gained an 89-79 victory over Halifax Tech last night.

The victory boosted the Pitt Tech record to 9-3 overall and 8-3 within the league.

During the first 10 minutes of the first half, the Paladins continued the hot hands they developed during their last outing, running out to a 28-16 lead.

But in the second part of the half, they came back down to earth, and Halifax put on a rally that carried them into a 44-43 halftime lead.

In the second half, however, Pitt Tech began to take charge again, slowly building up a 10-point lead. But again Halifax made a dash at them, this time, however, coming only to within six at 62-56. Pitt then pulled away again, moving out to hold their 10-point spread the rest of the evening.

B. Vick led Halifax with 30 points, while L. Weaver had 16 and D. Carpenter had 10.

Eddie Stokes paced Pitt with 28, while Wayne Brown had 26, Brank Brown had 17 and Leslie Saunders had 11.

Pitt plays host to Johnston Tech in a non-conference game on Monday.

Bucs Host Seminoles

The East Carolina University swimming team will be going after its second straight upset victory tonight when it entertains the Seminoles of Florida State.

The Pirates came close to winning last year, but the Seminoles held them off to maintain their decade's dominance over the Bucs. The Pirates come into the meet after their upset of Army at West Point earlier in the week.

The meet starts at 7:30 p.m.

McGuire's Gamecocks Win For Him 'At Home'

By ALEX SACHARE
Associated Press Sports Writer
Some rather large leprechauns gave Irish Frank McGuire the kind of homecoming he dreams about Thursday night, when McGuire's 11th-ranked South Carolina Gamecocks invaded New York's Madison Square Garden and came away with a 100-77 romp over Fordham.

"I'd rather win in Madison Square Garden than any other place in the country," said a smiling McGuire after the game. "This is where you make the news."

This is also where McGuire hails from, and more importantly, this is where much of his recruiting is centered.

McGuire's most productive leprechaun against Fordham was 6-foot-10 senior forward Tom Riker, who poured in 42 points, a career high. Riker sank 19 of 21 field goal attempts against the Rams.

His biggest leprechaun was 7-foot junior center Danny Traynor, who scored only 10 points—he took only six shots—but picked off 15 rebounds as the Gamecocks outrebounded Fordham 48-31.

South Carolina is now 11-3, Fordham 11-5.
Forward Rick Aydtlett and guard Kevin Joyce scored 15 apiece for South Carolina, while Ken Charles paced Fordham with 26 points, although he missed 20 of his 32 shots.

Adding to the homecoming theme, three of McGuire's five starters—Riker Joyce and guard Brian Winters, come from suburbs of New York, as do reserves Bob Carver, Jimmy Powell and Billy Grimes.

In the only other game involving a nationally-ranked team, Southern California, No. 7, lost its second game in two nights, bowing to Seattle 65-64. Backcourtman Howard Ladd led all scorers with 22 points, including 18 in the second half, but it was a lay-up by Steve Bravard with 37 seconds to go which sank USC.

The Trojans, whose star guard, Paul Westphal, was sidelined with a bruised left knee, were paced by Ron Riley's 19 points.

In other major games, guard Larry Finch sank a 15-foot jump shot with five seconds showing on the clock to give Memphis State a 71-69 Missouri Valley Conference victory over Wichita State; Mike Laughna scored 24 points, including five in overtime, as Georgetown, D.C., slipped past William & Mary 85-79, and Duquesne sophomore Lionel Billings exploded for 32 points as the Dukes, 13-2, whipped Boston College 93-79.

Also, Cleo Kilgore's 22 points sparked Drake past North Texas 76-70, Tulsa used a tight full-court press to stifle Arkansas State 86-60 and Houston overwhelmed Southern Mississippi 102-63 as Dwight Jones scored 24 points and grabbed 20 rebounds.

The nation's top-ranked small college team, Eau Claire State of Wisconsin, boosted its record to 14-1 by overpowering St. Cloud, Minn. 86-69.

Apps In 3rd Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Appalachian State's Mountaineers have won their third game of the season—but just barely.

The Mountaineers were sailing along in the second half Thursday night with a 15-point lead over Carson-Newman when the bottom began sagging and was ready to fall out.

The Eagles cut the deficit to two points, but Appalachian pulled together for a belated spurt and a 96-90 victory that ended an 11-game losing streak. The Mountaineers are now 3-12.

Tim Parker paced the winners with 22 points, hitting all seven of his field goal attempts and connecting on all eight of his free throws. John Rutt added 19 points.

Mark Mason paced the Eagles with 18 points, scoring four consecutive field goals in the closing three minutes to pull his team within two points.

In the only other Southern Conference game Monday night, William and Mary dropped an 85-79 overtime decision to Georgetown.

The final score during regulation play came with 2:05 remaining when William and Mary's George Spack hit a 15-foot jumper to knot the score at 75-75.

The Hoyas got the best end of the overtime period, outscoring William and Mary 10-4.

Vince Fletcher led the winners with 22 points while Jim Trammell had 20 points and 10 rebounds for the Indians.

There are no conference games scheduled for tonight.

Tarkenton Goes To Vikings In Big Swap

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "Don't worry," one defensive lineman said to another after Fran Tarkenton had eluded them in a wild behind-the-scrammage-line chase. "He'll be back in a moment."

And so Tarkenton, the quarterback who turned the once-desperate act of scrambling into a fine art in the National Football League, is, indeed, returning from whence he came.

The New York Giants, who obtained Tarkenton from Minnesota in 1967, traded him back to the Vikings Thursday for a raft of present and prospective talent.

In return for their No. 1 quarterback, who ran and passed New York to a five-year, 33-37 record including last season's 4-10 last-place finish in the National Conference East, the Giants acquired:

—Bob Grim, the Vikes' All-Pro wide receiver whose 1971 performance was the best of his six-year career, —Norm Snead, a journeyman quarterback who, in his 11th pro year last season, was Minnesota's No. 3 signal-caller behind Gary Cuozzo and Bob Lee, —Vince Clements, a rookie running back who missed the entire season with a knee injury,

—One of the Vikings' two first-round draft picks in Tuesday's NFL draft of college seniors, and —Minnesota's second-round choice in the 1973 draft.

Tarkenton was delighted with the trade. Grim was not.

"We are very happy about going home to Minnesota ... back home, almost, to where we started," Tarkenton said from his home in Atlanta.

Grim, on the other hand, finding himself on the four-time NFC Central Division champion one minute and on an also-ran the next, hinted he might balk at the trade.

"Who knows at this time," the disgruntled wide receiver said from his parents' home in Red Bluff, Calif. "But should this trade materialize, I'd say the Giants came out way ahead."

"I'm a little upset about it. I'm not happy about leaving a contender. I don't think any two or three players can make a contender out of a club," Grim said of the Giants, adding that he felt Tarkenton is a fine quarterback "but I think Minnesota gave up too much to get him."

Vikings' General Manager Jim Finks agreed his team gave up a lot, "but I don't think we've destroyed the nucleus for our club."

Tarkenton came off the Georgia campus as the Vikings' No. 3 draft choice in 1961, their first year of play as an NFL expansion team. Six seasons later he went to the Giants in exchange for four valuable draft picks.

But he had only one winning year in New York—the 9-5 mark in 1970 when the Giants missed the divisional title by one game—then slumped last season to perhaps the poorest of his career.

He completed 226 of 386 passes for 2,567 yards and a 58.5 completion percentage in 1971 but had 21 passes intercepted while connecting only 11 for touchdowns.

Grim, meanwhile, blossomed last season as one of the more potent weapons in a generally shaky Minnesota attack.

The No. 2 draft choice from Oregon in 1967 caught 45 passes for 691 yards and seven touchdowns, then grabbed the NFC's only touchdown pass in last Sunday's Pro Bowl game.

Crowd Noises For Practice

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
They are making a lot of noise about Saturday's key Atlantic Coast Conference basketball game between Maryland and North Carolina.

Coach Lefty Driesell of Maryland has been having his team practice to tapes of crowd noise similar to the usual tremendous volume at North Carolina's Carmichael Auditorium, where the game will be played. It's a compact place which seats 8,212.

In addition, the Terps have been practicing at noon, the starting time for the game, which will be televised regionally.

The Tar Heels and the Terps, each 12-2, are nationally ranked, North Carolina Nov. 5 and Maryland No. 18. In the ACC, North Carolina is 3-1 and Maryland 2-2.

Maryland has lost 10 straight games to the Tar Heels, and has not won in Chapel Hill since the 1964-65 season.

Also making it a banner game is the presence of sophomore Tom McMillen in the Maryland lineup. He was the center of a recruiting war between North Carolina and Maryland. He announced his intention of enrolling at North Carolina, and then switched to Maryland.

"There is such talk about Maryland being a young, inexperienced team," says North Carolina Coach Dean Smith. "But it makes you wonder when you look at their roster and see Charlie Black as the 11th man. I remember well two years ago when he played a fine game against us."

ACC teams were idle Thursday night and only North Carolina State will play tonight, at home to Lehigh.

On Saturday night, Wake Forest will be home to Davidson and Clemson to Georgia Tech. Duke will play at home against Athletes in Action, a touring team of former college players sponsored by the Campus Crusade for Christ.

Bill Chamberlain, North Carolina forward, has the flu and Smith said he will dress for the game but probably won't play. The coach said Chamberlain will be replaced in the starting lineup by sophomore Bobby Jones.

Colonels Aid Utah's Cause

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Kentucky Colonels have a comfortable lead in the East Division of the American Basketball Association, so now they are giving help to Utah, the leader in the West.

The Colonels, sporting a 9½-game lead, played Indiana, No. 2 in the West, Thursday night and dispatched the Pacers 98-94 to drop them four games behind the division-leading Stars, Utah, for its part, defeated the Memphis Pros 127-120.

In other ABA games, Carolina defeated the Floridians 102-101, New York topped Virginia 114-112, and Dallas beat Denver 99-98.

Kentucky trained by as many as 12 points but came on strong in the fourth quarter behind the shooting of Dan Issel with 24 points and Cincy Powell and Artis Gilmore, each with 23. Mel Daniels had 23 points to lead the Pacers.

The Stars' Willie Wise and James Jones pumped in 36 and 35 points, respectively, in the victory over the Pros. Utah did not gain the decisive lead until just 1:45 remained in the game. Memphis had led most of the second half, and held a four-point margin with 4:29 to play. It was the biggest lead for either team until the end. Warren Davis and Johnny Neumann each scored 27 points to pace the Pros.

Jim McDaniels sank a pair of foul shots to give his team its one-point victory. The Cougars held off the Floridians for the remaining 1:30. The Floridians had three chances to score in that time but were subdued at each opportunity by Carolina.

McDaniels led the Cougars with 30 points, and Joe Caldwell had 21. Warren Jabali and Al Tucker scored 27 points each for the Floridians.

Rick Barry hit 44 points, 30 in the first half, to lead New York. The Nets scored 10 straight points in the last 2½ minutes to ice the game. John Roche contributed 20 and Bill Paultz 22 to the Net attack. Virginia's Charlie Scott had 33 points and rookie Julius Erving 28.

Two long passes from Rich Jones to Donnie Freeman to Al Hamilton resulted in the winning basket for the Dallas Chaps, giving them a fifth straight victory. The play came on a rebound of a foul shot by Denver's Al Smith with six seconds left in the contest. Freeman scored 33 points, and Hamilton 18.

Putting Key To Littler's Lead

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
SAN DIEGO (AP) — Gene Littler credited a resurrected putter that he "just pulled out of the barrel" for the two-stroke lead in the first round of the $150,000 Andy Williams-San Diego Open Golf Tournament.

"I had been putting just awful," the 41-year-old veteran said Thursday after putting together a six-under-par 66—including a string of five consecutive birdies.

"So I decided to go back to an old bullseye putter. I hadn't used it in something like five years. I used it off and on the first eight years I was on the tour."

He needed only 28 strokes on the greens at the 7,011-yard Torrey Pines Golf Course in his early-morning round that was completed before chilly winds hit the seaside layout and sent scores up as the temperatures dropped.

Paul Harney, now a club pro at Sutton, Mass., Jim Colbert, and a 27-year-old Japanese longshot, Takashi Murakami, tied at 68.

The group at 69 included Tommy Aaron, Tom Weiskopf, Bunky Henry, Homero Blancas, Dale Douglass, Phil Rodgers, Hale Irwin, Bill Brask and John Schlee.

All but Colbert, Harney, Brask and Schlee played in the morning under milder weather conditions.

"It was just too damn cold," said Lee Trevino, who had an afternoon 74 and must improve if he is to make the cut.

"The wind-chill factor made it so that you didn't have any feel," said Jaek Nicklaus, the pretourney favorite. Nicklaus, gunning for a sixth victory in seven starts, had a 73 and missed 10 putts inside 15 feet.

Billy Casper took a 73 and Masters champ Charles Coody matched par 72.

Littler, winner of 24 tour events including two last year, started early in the day on the back nine when he said, "the weather was just beautiful."

He had a three-putt bogey on the second hole he played, then reeled off five birdies in a row, beginning on the 14th where he punched an eight iron to within six feet.

The Worry Clinic Think Positive To Get Ahead

Wallace E. Johnson and his loyal wife, Alma, show what POSITIVE thinking, plus teamwork with the Almighty, can do. Even in the depth of our worst depression, and entirely broke, they started on their great building program that led to Holiday Inns, Inc.

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.
Case S-583: Wallace E. Johnson, head of Holiday Inns, is a real titan of our American "free enterprise" system. At the age of 18, he wanted to be a builder, so he started out as a carpenter. But he lost his meager $400 savings on the first house he constructed.

Then he and his loyal wife, Alma, headed into Memphis in the very depth (1838) of our worst depression.

"Dr. Crane," he told me, "there were 15,000 vacant lots in Memphis that year. Construction was at a standstill.

"For America was suffering economic stagnation. Alma and I had a used automobile and little else so I managed to obtain a loan of $300 on the car.

"Then I paid a printer to make 5,000 large cards with this inscription thereon: 'Let Wallace E. Johnson Build You A Beautiful New Home On This Site.'"

"With what was left of our $300 grubstake, I purchased 5,000 wooden stakes, some nails, and a big chunk of paraffin.

"We then melted the paraffin and dipped each one of our printed cards therein, to waterproof them.

"Next, we loaded the cards into the back of our auto and toured Memphis, looking for the most favorably located vacant lots.

"Then we'd drive a stake thereon, with one of our signs nailed thereto.

"Well, within a week, a couple of men went to their banks to negotiate loans for us to build houses for them.

"And they mentioned to the bankers that 'This Wallace E. Johnson must be the most successful builder in Memphis for we see his signs all over the city.'"

"Actually, Alma and I were broke and owing that $300 mortgage on our car!

"But our positive thinking, plus the aid of the Almighty, made us successful!"

God's Partners
"God helps those who help themselves," runs a pioneer adage.

And the Almighty prefers POSITIVE thinkers.

When the Apostle Peter saw Jesus walking on the water, Peter asked the Lord if he could walk over to meet Him.

Notice that none of the other Apostles ever thought of doing so!

And Jesus said, "Come." But Peter then looked at the angry waves until negative thinking overwhelmed him.

"Lord save me... he cried, as he began to sink.

The Bible says Jesus then reached out his hand and lifted up Peter.

No other Apostle thus was extended such a helping hand by Jesus for Peter alone though POSITIVELY.

Our psychological experiments prove that even your muscles will produce twice as much power under positive thinking as when overwhelmed by doubts.

Under hypnosis and with the instruction to grip a hand dynamometer as strongly as possible, a group of soldiers averaged 101 pounds handgrip. When told they were weak, sickly, etc., they averaged only 69 pounds.

Opening lead: Deuce of ♠
There is an honored dictum against doubling slam contracts reached voluntarily unless the doubler is assured of defeating the opposition.

Altho South's leap to six hearts was somewhat impulsive, East should have been content in the knowledge that he had probably pushed his opponents beyond their limits. Facing a partner who had taken preemptive action, the prospects for a substantial profit were meager and no action should be taken that might provide the declarer with a valuable clue in planning his campaign.

West opened the deuce of diamonds, and when the dummy was spread—East was somewhat unsettled that a high heart honor did not appear which would have assured him of scoring at least one trump trick. The four of diamonds was played from dummy and East, who was beginning to regret having doubled, impulsively played the ace and returned the ten.

The trick was won by North's king and the ten of hearts was led and covered by the jack and king. When West showed out, discarding a spade, East's trump holding became fatally exposed. Dummy was reentered with the king of clubs to put the seven of hearts thru—covered by the eight and nine. The ace of clubs provided access to repeat the finesse against East's queen and the latter's trump trick vanished. South drew the remaining heart and claimed his slam, having lost only one diamond.

East had played the nine of diamonds at trick one, it would have deprived his opponent of a key entry to dummy. South can get to the North hand only twice—with the ace and king of clubs—to lead hearts. By covering each time, East assures himself of scoring a trump trick. Altho the declarer can discard one of his small diamonds on the ace of spades, he must ultimately lose a diamond also and therefore go down to defeat.

If East had quietly passed six hearts, West would probably have led the king of spades which provides South with an extra entry to dummy. It is doubtful, however, that he would have taken a first round finesse in hearts. The more normal play is a heart to the king, for if West has either the singleton jack or queen. The North hand can be reentered later to finesse against East for the other honor.

Unity Award To Tokyo Garbage Anglican Prelate Pile Is Rising

GARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — The archbishop of Canterbury has been named this year's recipient of the Christian Unity Award presented by the Franciscan Friars of the Atonement.

TOKYO (UPI) — The amount of household garbage discarded daily in Tokyo has increased 2.3 times in the past 10 years and now averages 13,000 tons daily, the metropolitan government reports.

The award to Archbishop Michael Ramsey says, "His diligence, honesty and compassion have won him the respect of his colleagues and friends in the Roman Catholic Church."

Garbage disposal costs also are up. It cost about 3,550 yen (about $10) to dispose of one ton of garbage in 1964. The tab now is about 6,002 yen per ton.

Pay-Price Controls Not Clear In Public's Mind

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has tried to make it perfectly clear that pay-price controls will stay until they work. But the controls themselves apparently aren't clear to the public.

The Internal Revenue Service has received more than one million inquiries about the rules, more than half of them on rents.

And the questions keep on coming. Latest figures show 117,000 inquiries were received by the Internal Revenue Service for the week ending Jan. 18.

The government's rules governing pay and prices are becoming increasingly complex. A recent booklet, published at 35 cents a copy and available through the U.S. Superintendent of Documents in Washington, takes more than 40 pages of fine print to list all the rules in place as of Jan. 1.

More rulings have been issued since then, and major additions and revisions are in the works.

It is far too early to tell if these rules will achieve the administration's goal of reducing last year's 3.4-per-cent inflation rate to between 2 and 3 per cent by the end of this year.

But the major outline of the administration's anti-inflation machinery, as it evolved over the past 2½ months, is now clear.

POLICY

President Nixon's Cost of Living Council, headed by Treasury Secretary John Connally, retains ultimate authority over the economy. Under it, the seven-member Price Commission regulates prices; the 15-member Pay Board, a dissent-torn body of business, public and union members, regulates wages and salaries. The IRS has assigned 3,000 agents to enforce controls.

Complicated Price Commission rules are aimed at bringing the average increase in all prices to no more than 2.5 per cent this year.

The Pay Board's general standard, which the board itself has frequently ignored for big, powerful unions, is that wages in new contracts can't go up more than 5.5 per cent a year, or 7 per cent in some narrowly defined special circumstances.

EXEMPTIONS

Not all wages and prices are subject to controls. The Cost of Living Council has exempted roughly 21 per cent of the average man's cost of living from federal controls.

The list of uncontrolled items includes raw farm products, raw seafood, life insurance and some individually contracted commercial insurance, postal rates, some custom products and services, exports, imports, damaged and used products, and sales of U.S. government property.

Also most real estate, rentals of new and rehabilitated housing, owner-occupied rentals of no more than four units, commercial and farm rents, stocks and bonds, stock brokers' fees, most tuition, interest, pay of Americans working and living abroad, pay of federal workers, federal fees and charges, wages below the $1.60 hourly federal minimum.

In addition, retailers with less than $100,000 a year in revenues aren't controlled.

PRICES

Price Commission rules say generally that manufacturers and service organizations can't raise prices except to cover increased costs, reduced to reflect gains in worker productivity, and can't increase their profit margins.

Retailers and wholesalers, except for the small retailers who are exempt from controls, cannot increase profit margins or markups, meaning their prices can't rise unless their suppliers' prices rise.

Although profit margins are frozen, actual profits may rise if sales go up. Also, firms that have been losing money are subject to temporary special rules allowing them to at least break even. Special rules also apply to utilities, doctors, hospitals, insurance and residential rents.

The nation's 1,500 biggest firms must notify the Price Commission in advance of any proposed price increases. Medium-size companies report quarterly and small firms are subject only to spot checks.

The administration relies mainly on voluntary compliance with the rules, but admits they are so complicated that it is all but impossible for the average consumer to know if he is being overcharged.

RENTS

The rules are complex. The smallest landlords, those who own no more than four units and live in one of them, are free from federal controls. Also, units that were previously subject to state or local rent controls, chiefly in New York City and around Miami and Boston, continue under those rules.

For others, rents generally may go up automatically by 2.5 per cent after 30 days' notice to the tenant. In addition, landlords may pass along any new state or local government taxes, and certain fees. Increases also are allowable for improvements. Special rules apply to formula-determined rents, and different methods are used for determining the base rent depending on whether rental is by the month or week, or by longer lease.

WAGES

The Pay Board has begun to apply its 5.5-per-cent wage standard strictly to small unions, after falling into a pattern of granting far larger raises to big, powerful unions.

Generally, the board's policy is that raises in new contracts can't exceed 5.5 per cent a year. Special circumstances, such as a proven need to attract or hold new employees or substandard raises in recent past years, may qualify some wage units for raises up to 7 per cent, but no more. Special rules also apply to merit pay, executive pay and other areas.

However, the full board can approve specific exceptions to its own rules anytime it chooses.

Segregationist Becomes Candidate For Governor

By MELVIN LANG
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH (AP) — Militant segregationist Leroy Gibson, leader and founder of the Rights of White People (ROWP), filed Thursday as a Republican "law and order" candidate for governor.

"We're going to have law and order in this state," Gibson said after paying $385 filing fee. "We don't today, but we will when we get in there."

Gibson said ROWP "troops," who figured in racial unrest last year in Wilmington and Ayden, have been used to spur local law enforcement agencies into action. Last fall Gibson said 2,200 ROWP troops were mobilized to patrol Wilmington streets.

"If you have a breakdown in law and order, sometimes it's necessary to encourage the law enforcement agencies to take proper steps," Gibson said.

Gibson became the third person to file for the Republican nomination in the May 6 primary. Rocky Mount businessman Jim Gardner and state Rep. Jim Holshouser of Boone filed earlier.

A Guilford County man, Thurman Willard, has announced for the nomination but has not filed.

Gibson said he would run on a platform calling for a return to neighborhood schools, lower taxes, reduced welfare programs and elimination of "filthy books" in public schools.

He said his plan for neighborhood schools could be achieved through constitutional provisions reserving undelegated powers "for the people." In an interview Nov. 13, 1971, Gibson said he would return children to neighborhood schools "by force if necessary."

Gibson, who said in 1970 that he was affiliated with Alabama

Gov. George Wallace's American party, told the news conference Thursday he switched his political registration from Democrat to Republican last year because he thought "I would do a little better."

He predicted his strongest support would come from Mecklenburg County and Charlotte, where forced busing has been a major issue.

Gibson said he would "consider myself a segregationist because God is a segregationist... But I'm not against blacks. I just don't believe in forced integration."

Gibson retired from the Marine Corps three years ago as a gunnery sergeant.

His only previous attempt for public office was in 1969, when he unsuccessfully opposed state Rep. Carl Venters of Onslow County for a legislative seat.

HE'S HAD SOME BANANAS — Larry Tavenor managed to down 21 bananas Thursday before he lost his taste for them. But his achievement was good enough to take second place in a banana-eating contest at Ryerson Polytechnical Institute's two-day carnival. (AP Wirephoto)

Scott To Travel For Sen. Muskie

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Bob Scott plans to tour seven Florida cities next month to campaign for Sen. Edmund Muskie in that state's March 14 presidential primary.

Scott announced his plans in Washington Thursday after conferring with members of the Maine senator's national staff. The tour tentatively includes appearances Feb. 9-10 at Pensacola, Fort Walton Beach, Panama City, Tallahassee, Jacksonville, Daytona Beach and Orlando.

The announcement brought sharp criticism in Raleigh from a Republican gubernatorial candidate, Jim Holshouser.

Holshouser said the "people of our state are paying Gov. Scott $35,000 a year to end to business, the state's business."

"North Carolina needs a full-time governor, not a full-time politician," he asserted. "While the governor is running out on North Carolina, times is running out on us. It is not as if the governor has solved all of our problems, or even many of them."

Scott told newsmen in Washington that Muskie's strength in Florida "is very apparent. We simply want to build on this strength and make his victory there as large as possible."

The governor said he also discussed with Muskie's staff "some of the mechanics" of the senator's campaign in North Carolina leading up to the state's May 6 primary.

"The senator, of course, has not definitely said that he will enter the primary," Scott said. "I have every assurance that he will make that statement, but the time is to be considered. And the statement, of course, would come from the senator and at a time of his choosing."

But, Scott said, "I think we can say Ed Muskie will be in North Carolina's primary and, obviously, he is going to win."

Tedious Pace In Choosing Jurors

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Chief prosecutor William Lynch says jury selection for the conspiracy trial of antiwar priest Philip Berrigan and six others accused of plotting to kidnap presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger is moving slower than he anticipated.

Lynch made the comment Wednesday after eight more persons were picked as potential jurors. Prosecution and defense attorneys plan to select 46 potential jurors, then from that group pick the 12 jurors and six alternates who will hear the case.

Berrigan and the other defendants are accused of conspiring to kidnap Kissinger, bomb heating tunnels under federal buildings in Washington and raid draft offices in at least nine states.

Defense attorneys said they

Tax Refund Distributed

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Revenue Department says it has distributed to 25 towns and counties the last $302,787 of funds collected under the old local option sales tax.

That tax, authorized by the 1969 General Assembly, was struck down by the state Supreme Court in 1971.

The court decision left the state Revenue Department holding $2.46 million in local sales taxes collected during January, 1971. The agency said Thursday that about $1.3 million had been returned to citizens who claimed refunds.

Some $25,501 went for the cost of administering the tax. Another $849,668 was distributed to the localities last July 7.

This left the $302,787, which has now been returned to the towns and counties which collected it.

The largest refund went to Cumberland County—$40,559. Buncombe County received $32,762; Onslow County, $22,717; Wayne County, $19,592; New Hanover County, $18,054; Asheville, $15,783; Lenoir County, $15,630; Durham County, $13,075; Fayetteville, $10,543; and Wilmington, $10,062.

The agency noted that since the old law was struck down, 72 of the state's 100 counties have imposed a new local sales tax under a law passed by the 1971 General Assembly.

were satisfied with the progress in selecting jurors—17 have been selected during the first four days—because they feel the questioning is uncovering all shades of opinion.

"You never know what a person thinks until you ask," said Leonard Boudin, one of the eight-man defense team, of the selection process before U.S. District Court Judge R. Dixon Herman.

Berrigan's codefendants include two priests; a nun; a former priest and his wife, who is a former nun; and a Pakistani student.

Among the potential jurors selected Wednesday were a woman with a draft-age son who admitted she was interested in the peace movement and a man who said his sister is a nun.

Among those excused as the original jury panel of 75 was cut to 52 were a physician's wife who said she had strong feelings about the war, a woman who spoke sharply for law and order and another woman who said she "couldn't pass judgment on anyone."

The names of all potential jurors are being withheld at the request of the judge.

Two women told the court they heard other prospective jurors say they believed the defendants were guilty. They said that those who expressed the views have since been excused.

The information came out during questioning by Ramsey Clark.

Beauty Salon Week Planned

The Pitt County Cosmetology Assn. held its January meeting Tuesday at Edna's Beauty Salon.

During the meeting, plans were made for National Beauty Salon Week, Feb. 13-20.

Mary Beck, the Wella Technician, will be the guest speaker for the February meeting to be held at Mitchel Hairstyling Academy. She will introduce new trends in hair-coloring.
