A Show Of Strength

SAIGON (AP) — The United States marshaled its biggest armada in months today as a warning to North Vietnam and sharply stepped up its air strikes in South Vietnam to counter recent increases in Communist ground attacks.

The show of aerial strength was intended as a warning to North Vietnam of heavy retaliation in the event of the big Communist offensive predicted this month. Nearly 400 fighter-bombers and B52 heavy bombers were in Vietnam, Thailand and off the coast of North Vietnam, and about 40 more B52s were ordered from the United States to the western Pacific.

The U.S. Command reported that Air Force and Navy fighter-bombers flew 84 combat strikes in South Vietnam, more than eight times the daily average inside the country for the past four months during which the American fliers have been concentrating on the Ho Chi Minh trail in Laos.

The South Vietnamese air force flew another 85 strikes.

Thieu Confirms 'Rift'

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu confirmed today a split between his government and the United States over the latest allied peace plan, attributing the differences to statements made by U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

He said he had asked for official clarifications of Rogers' Feb. 3 statement that the United States remained "flexible" on details of a political settlement, and added: "If he did say it, it is a violation of Vietnamese sovereignty."

He said he believed Rogers "misunderstood" the allied agreement and added: "If Mr. Rogers did say it, I will discuss it with Mr. Nixon."

Official sources in Saigon said two days ago that Thieu had been enraged by Rogers' assertion that the United States was "flexible" on provisions of the proposal under which Thieu would resign and new elections would be held a month later, with all political factions, including the Communists taking part.

Jetliners For Sale

MIAMI (AP) — Eastern Air Lines has announced it is putting its entire $100 million fleet of four-engine jetliners on the auction block.

Eastern described it as a "crash sale" to raise capital to buy newer three-engine jets it considers more suitable for its routes.

"It is part of a jet re-equipment program by which we plan to simplify our inventory to three basic aircraft types," said company official George R. Dutton.

"All are presently in service and fully qualified for passenger service," he said.

Eastern will repaint the airplanes, train pilots or provide other necessary services for buyers. The firm believes it is the first U.S. airline to dispose of all four-engine jets in favor of two and three-engine aircraft.

CASUALTY REPORT

SAIGON (AP) — Two Americans were killed in action last week and 31 were wounded, the U.S. Command announced today. The Command also reported seven deaths from nonhostile causes.

Reelection Bid By Mrs. Allred

Mrs. Elvira Tyson Allred, Pitt County Register of Deeds announced today that she will seek reelection to the post she has held since 1962.

ELVIRA ALLRED

The county official made the announcement after filing with the Pitt County Board of Elections for inclusion on the May 6 primary election ballot.

Mrs. Allred was appointed Register of Deeds by the Board of County Commissioners February 10, 1962 to fill the unexpired term of the late Mrs. Blair Cox Wheless and was elected for a four year term in 1964 and again in 1968.

Prior to her appointment as Register of Deeds, Mrs. Allred had been employed in the Register of Deeds office since March 1952.

A Farmville native, Mrs. Allred attended Farmville High School and Campbell College.

She has served as Treasurer of the North Carolina Register of Deeds Association and is a member of the First Baptist Church in Farmville.

Mrs. Allred's husband, Harold Allred, is a Farmville business man.

Charge Grandma A Cat Burglar In Miami Hotels

MIAMI (AP) — Grandmotherly, 54-year-old Adele Borsierine was released on $5,000 bond Wednesday after being charged with cleaning up Miami Beach hotel rooms "in more ways than one," police said.

A spokesman for the Dade County sheriff's department said the 115-pound Kansas City, Mo., widow used maid's uniforms and pass keys to burglarize rooms in hotels along the tourist strip.

"She was spending her month's vacation in Florida," a spokesman said. "She apparently has uniforms for all the hotels on the strip, and she'd just walk into a room, clean up, and split with anything that took her fancy."

"Then she'd wrap the stuff up in brown paper packages and mail it home to Kansas City," the spokesman said.

Mrs. Borsierine was arrested Tuesday and charged with possession of stolen property, possession of burglary tools and possession of stolen credit cards.

"She had a set of screwdrivers and pry bars along with the pass keys, just in case," the police spokesman said.

Officers investigating the case said Mrs. Borsierine's new car was filled with furs, jewelry, traveler's checks and keys from 33 hotels.

The sheriff's spokesman said officers watched Mrs. Borsierine mail a package to Kansas City just before she was arrested. When postal authorities opened the package, they said it contained a $2,000 mink coat that had been reported stolen from a hotel.

Police said Mrs. Borsierine had spent her vacation in Miami for the past six winters, renting the living room sofa in a local woman's home.

"She just looked like a typical, nondescript grandma," one officer said.

Strike Law Is Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill forcing an end to the West Coast dock strike through compulsory arbitration is on President Nixon's desk for use if a tentative agreement already reached by negotiators falls apart.

Leaders of the striking longshoremen are scheduled to vote Saturday on whether to accept the agreement and end the 125-day strike, and Nixon plans to delay signing the bill to see what happens.

A coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats rushed the bill through the House by a vote of 214 to 139, saying the measure would serve as insurance to back up the agreement.

But pro-labor Democrats, who urged the House to postpone action for a week, called it a club over the heads of union leaders and said it could jeopardize a settlement.

The bill, which passed the Senate 79 to 3 Tuesday, calls for an immediate end to the strike and selection of an arbitration panel with power to declare a binding settlement of all issues in the dispute.

The negotiated agreement awaiting a union vote would settle all the major issues

Hanoi Assails Nixon Vietnam Reference

By DAVID MASON
Associated Press Writer
PARIS (AP) — North Vietnam assailed sharply today President Nixon's references to Vietnam in his State of the World message, saying "he repeated his old slanderous and fallacious allegations."

The United States in turn accused the Communists of being fearful of elections in South Vietnam, as proposed in Nixon's peace plan, although the Communists boast of controlling 80 per cent of the country. The U.S. delegate also declared the North Vietnamese were deceitful on the prisoner of war issue.

Nguyen Minh Vy, assistant chief of the North Vietnamese delegation, told the 144th session of the peace talks that Nixon "tried to shift responsibility for lack of a settlement to the other side."

Nixon said in his message Wednesday that if North Vietnam thought it could take over South Vietnam with American help, then negotiations could not succeed. If the Communists are ready to compete fairly in the political arena "they will find our side forthcoming," he added.

Vy, sitting in for the chief delegate, Xuan Thuy who was reported to be ill, asserted that Nixon's peace plan was "not designed to be accepted by the other side."

Instead he said the allies use "nonacceptance as a pretext to pursue the policy of Vietnamization of the war."

U.S. Ambassador William J. Porter retorted that "you expect the South Vietnamese people to stand defenseless while you impose your will."

This was an apparent reference to the Communist demand that the United States stop all military aid to South Vietnam and withdraw its forces, while North Vietnam would continue to receive Chinese and Soviet aid.

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong officials, entering the 144th session of the talks, jumped on word from Saigon and Washington that three U.S. aircraft carriers, are on station in the Gulf of Tonkin instead of two and that the number of B52 bombers available for raids in Indochina is being nearly doubled.

Faster Rise In Food Costs

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumers will see 1972 food prices rise much faster than last year, but farmers are due for a big financial lift, according to a new Agriculture Department diagnosis.

Groceries which showed a 2.4-per-cent price gain in supermarkets last year are expected to go up around 4 per cent in 1972, said a department report issued Wednesday. Overall, the department predicts that food prices including restaurant meals will go up 4.5 per cent this year.

Farmers, who had no gain in net incomes in 1971, will see profits soar by $1.5 billion to $2 billion this year, the department forecast.

Last year, as farm income staggered, retail food prices rose only 2.4 per cent. Overall, including restaurants, the 1971 gain was 3.0 per cent, according to USDA.

The predicted boost in farm income is much more than the billion-dollar gain previously forecast by Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz and other administration officials.

A $2 billion income gain would mean a record $17.7 billion net for farmers this year, topping the previous high of $17.1 billion in 1947.

Administration officials, including Butz, have pledged that farmers will do better in 1972, but the election year promise is clouded by rising consumer food costs.

Meat products, for example, probably will continue moving up from current supermarket prices, at least in the near future, according to one USDA spokesman.

Prices of raw farm products are not subject to regulation under Phase 2 economic policies, and storekeepers can pass added costs on to consumers.

CANDIDATE

RALIEGH (AP) Phillip I. Ellen of Southern Pines says he will seek the Democratic nomination for North Carolina labor commissioner in the May primary.

Morton Endorses ECU Two-Year Med School

Democratic gubernatorial candidate Hugh Morton pledged yesterday his support for a two-year medical school at East Carolina University.

Morton's announcement that he would press for the creation of such a medical facility came after he emerged from a lengthy conference with ECU president, Dr. Leo Jenkins.

"I think Dr. Jenkins is right in pressing for a two-year medical school at this university," Morton said. "If I am elected governor, I certainly will do what I can to help him make it a reality."

Morton said Dr. Jenkins was "very persuasive" in outlining the importance of increasing the ECU program to a two-year medical school as soon as possible in order to gain federal funds available only to two-year institutions. "Dr. Jenkins told me it would not be necessary to have any new construction and that the building now being used for the medical school at East Carolina is all that is necessary to increase to a two-year school," Morton said.

"It is an undeniable fact that Eastern North Carolina is a medically deprived area."

"There are fewer doctors, dentists, hospital beds, and other medical facilities and services in this area than anywhere else in the state."

He said, "No governor in a single term of office would be able to complete a project as large as that envisioned at ECU. Both Dr. Jenkins and I recognize this fact, but we feel that the two-year facility is urgently needed and will come in due time. We ought to begin the foundation for it as soon as we can."

Judge Says Residents Can Help Cause Of Justice

Chief District Judge J. W. H. Roberts today urged that local residents help the cause of justice — and in many cases makes things easier for themselves — by appearing in court when their cases are scheduled to be heard.

According to the jurist, persons failing to appear in court when their cases are scheduled for trial are becoming a major problem. He said persons who receive citations — the little pink tickets handed out by various police agencies for traffic and other minor law violations — seem to be the biggest offenders although a number of persons who fail to appear have posted bonds.

Judge Roberts cited Monday's District Court calendar as an example. He said of the 78 cases docketed for trial that day, 27 defendants failed to appear in court.

"We have a high percentage of relatively small cases ... bad checks or minor traffic violations ... that fail to show up."

By the officers action in issuing citations rather than jailing a defendant and requiring a bond for his release, the law enforcement officer is giving courtesy treatment to the alleged law violator, Judge Roberts indicated.

He said in cases where a person who has not been placed under bond fails to appear, a capias is issued for his arrest and then the individual is required to post a bond before he is released.

In cases where a bond has been posted and the defendant fails to come to court, the bond may be forfeited and the individual may still be taken into custody and brought trial.

"I would guess it costs the county $20 per man to get him here," Judge Roberts said of individuals who fail to come to trial and have to be found.

Local Presbyterian Churches Merging

BOYD MEMORIAL PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH. .near Greenville, which will in the future serve both it's congregation and that of the former West Greenville Presbyterian Church as a result of consolidation of the two churches. The service of reorganization takes place Sunday evening. (Reflector Photo by Tommy Forrest)

A service of reorganization for consolidation of two Greenville Presbyterian churches will take place Sunday at 7:00 p.m., according to Rev. Russell R. Davis, currently the pastor of West End Presbyterian Church and Boyd Memorial Church, the two churches being consolidated.

Following the service of reorganization, the merged facilities will be known as the Boyd Memorial Church, with the congregation of both churches then becoming members of Boyd Memorial.

Founded in 1947, Boyd Memorial Presbyterian Church was named in honor of the late Dr. Robert Sherman Boyd, a former minister of Greenville's First Presbyterian. When first formed, the congregation met in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Whitehurst. Shortly afterwards, land was obtained and a small wooden church built on the site. In recent years the present brick structure was erected under the leadership of Rev. William Morton.

The West Greenville Church was organized in 1952 at the former City Market, now housing the West End Fire Department. The congregation also met in Agnes Fullilove School until the church building on Skinner Street was completed. Since the sale of the church building to the Greenville Boys' Club in 1969, the West End congregation has been meeting at the Presbyterian Den.

"The concept of the merger came from the people themselves," Rev. Davis remarked. "It was in a real spirit of charity and patience that members worked, attending long meetings, working out details in a spirit of mutual accommodation."

Rev. Davis, a native of Lexington, grew up in Danville, Virginia. He is a graduate of UNC-Chapel Hill and received the divinity degree from Union Theological Seminary in Richmond. Recently, Davis earned the M.A. in Education from East Carolina University. He is married to the former Jane Doubles of Richmond. The Davis' have three children.

Participants scheduled to take part in the service of reorganization on Sunday are Rev. Thomas M. Davis, Greenville, Chairman of the Commission to reorganize the church; Rev. Richard Gammon, First Presbyterian Church; Rev. Laurence Avent, Wilson; Rev. William Gordon, Farmville; Rev. David Jenkins, Goldsboro; and Rev. Marshall Treadway of Fountain.

Lay elders slated to take part are Dr. Ralph Brimley, Dr. Charles Price, Bancroft Moseley, Harding Sugg, all of Greenville; Charles Baucom, Farmville and William Gravely of Washington.

Rev. Davis also noted that if possible, a program of special music will be provided for the evening service.

Church Music Workshop Will Be Held Feb. 14

Church musicians, clergymen and students interested in church music are invited to attend a workshop in church music at East Carolina University Monday, Feb. 14, from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

Workshop faculty are Dr. E. Robert Irwin, chairman of church music in the ECU School of Music, and Rev. Dr. M. Alfred Bichsel, chairman of church music at the Eastman School of Music, Rochester, N.Y.

On Sunday, February 13, Dr. Bichsel will officiate and preach in a reconstruction of the Bach Leipzig Liturgy at the First Presbyterian Church in Greenville at 4:00 p.m.

Further information and registration forms are available from the ECU Division of Continuing Education, in Erwin Hall on the ECU campus, or by mail, at Box 2727, Greenville.

The ecology class of D. H. Conley is sponsoring a waste basket sale to help raise money for an educational trip to Washington, D. C.

The trash cans come in three designs and are very colorful. The three kinds are office baskets, those with D. H. Conley on the front side, and mud baskets. Even though the sale is primarily to raise money, the theme is "Help Keep America Clean."

If someone tries to sell you a trash can, please buy one to help keep America clean.

Aviation Science

Conley's aviation science class has been tabbed as the "best in the state" by David Mallette, science consultant for the State Department of Instruction. The class has been involved in many activities throughout the school year. Class instructor Ron Braxton met in Raleigh this summer with several other teachers to help form the aviation science class.

The course is designed to introduce the students in the class to the opportunities in the field of aviation.

The class plans to travel to Washington, D. C., at the end of February.

Task Force

Four Conley students have been named to serve on the Pitt County Student Task Force. Rudy Morris, Brooks Barwick, Vickie Hawkins and David House were chosen to serve on the committee by teachers and students at Conley. The Student Task Force was designed to give students an opportunity to voice their opinions in forming school

A Review Shakespearean Play A Valentine 'Gift'

For the men in Greenville trying to come up with something different, something sure to please his best girl or wife for Valentine, there's no need to look further.

$2.00 will buy a ticket to Much Ado About Nothing, the most delightful event to take place in Greenville since 1972 began. Of course each man will want to get a ticket for himself so he can escort the object of his affection to McGinnis Auditorium on campus where it all takes place.

The East Carolina Playhouse production of Much Ado About Nothing is marked by exuberance — a cheerful, bouncy approach that makes the old favorite as fresh and exciting as the prospect of daffodils beginning to emerge.

Everything about Michael Hardy's production adds to the effectiveness of some of the wittiest lines ever penned in English. First, there's Robert Williams' splendid set, a spacious airy thing of regal beauty, one that gives the players plenty of room to scamper about. At first, I found myself apprehensive lest one of the players become blockaded on stage by one of the fast moving pieces of scenery, but the players adroitly avoided this possibility by indulging in the fastest exuents you're likely to see anywhere on stage. The peacock splendor of Robert Joyner's costumes are perfectly contrasted against the stark white of Williams' set.

The magnificence of the externals of Much Ado About Nothing is, happily, more than matched by outstanding performances from a very fine cast. Camille Hardy's portrayal of Beatrice is wonderfully incisive, alive and probing. She is spicy, feminine, provocative, and at times, pathetic...the kind of Beatrice we often hope for, but do not always get.

The role of Benedick, the bachelor doomed to lose his heart to Beatrice despite his good intentions not to do so, and who struggles valiantly to outdo Beatrice in exchange of outrageous witticisms, is solidly performed by Richard Bradner.

Veteran Mark Ramsey lives up to expectations in turning in a superlative performance as Dogberry, the flustered, blustery constable who saves the day in his own bumbling way and in the process has great fun in wrecking the English language.

Lower Jury Age Limit Is Signed

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus signed a bill Wednesday lowering from 21 to 18 the minimum age at which a person can serve on a jury in Idaho.

The measure is the first of a series reducing to 18 the age at which a person receives rights of an adult. Others are in the legislative process.

Drugs Talked By Students

Several members of the Student-To-Student Drug Abuse Project of the School of Pharmacy of the University of North Carolina held conferences with students of Rose High School last week.

Last year 125 schools and organizations were visited by this group of advanced pharmacy students who had received special training in the dangers of drug abuse. Over 55,000 North Carolina secondary and junior high school students heard their presentations. The project received national attention, including a personal letter of appreciation to one of its members from President Nixon.

More than 60 pharmacy students will take part in the group discussions this year. These students are all volunteers and receive no pay for their participation in the program. The Student-To-Student program is supported by a grant from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare at no cost to North Carolina schools.

Designer Reproduced Chinese Furniture Before Ping Pong

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

In evaluating predictions that Chinese furniture might be a trend in 1972, you might say that Frank Van Steenberg has a "chou-in."

Known as the dean of furniture men, the tall chairman of the board of Baker Furniture Co. did truly authentic reproductions of Chinese furniture "long before the ping-pong games."

His career in furniture reproductions has spanned more than a half-century in seeking out European and Oriental pieces that would make fine reproductions. Because he stresses authenticity, his firm is known to be the most widely copied in the world.

Chinese furniture may have a simple design, but its miterings and fittings are delicately contrived, he says, adding that any piece of furniture to be reproduced must be taken apart and studied.

The company introduced their Far East collection in 1946, but there was so little interest in the Chinese designs then that the line was called "modern." Later it was lacquered and sold as Chinese.

"These designs are the truest reproductions we ever made, but more of it will be copied," Van Steenberg predicts.

Van Steenberg says Chinese

Newcomers Hear Guest Speakers At Luncheon

The February luncheon of the Welcome Wagon Newcomers' Club was held Tuesday at the Woman's Club building with approximately 50 members and guests attending.

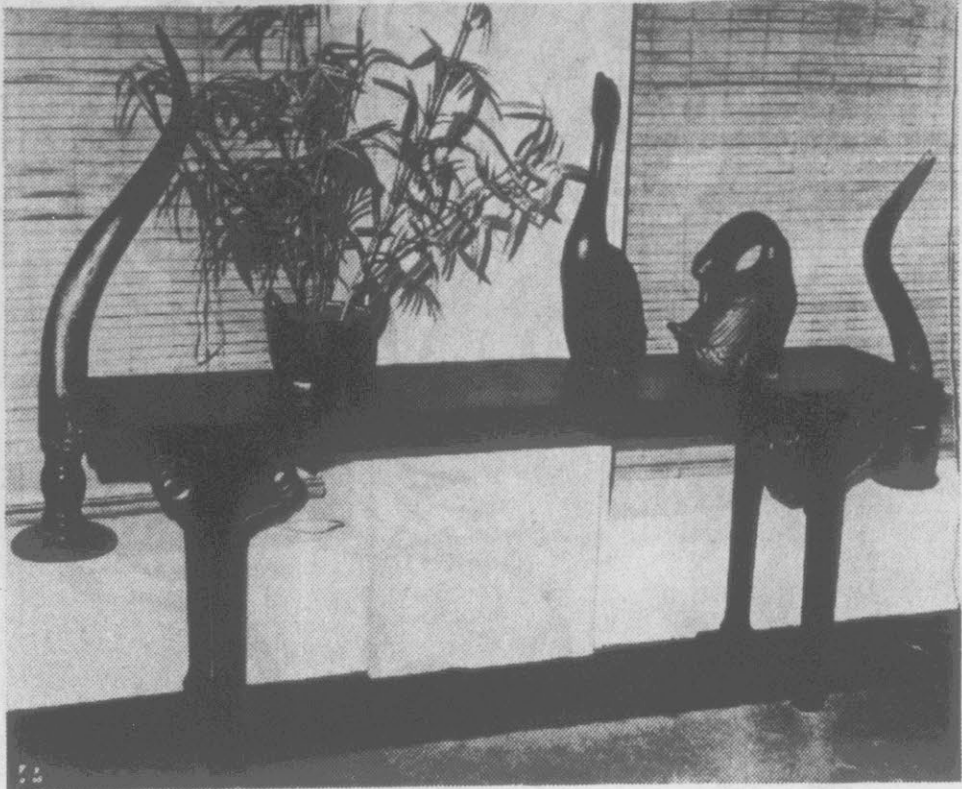

Addressing the group were Dr. Malene Irons, director of the Developmental Evaluation Clinic, and Skeet Creekmore, director of REAP.

Slides were shown and the program here in Greenville explained. Children with developmental disabilities are examined, tested, and their needs diagnosed. With this knowledge, the staff can then help the child overcome these disabilities, whether physical or a learning problem, said the speaker.

A short business meeting was held. Mrs. John Huber, president, announced that two new hobby groups have been formed, a book club and "the Gadabouts", which is a group making trips to nearby places of interest.

The club plans to again send at least one person from the Sheltered Workshop to camp next summer and homebaked items were raffled to help raise money for this project.

Next month's luncheon will be held March 14 at the Woman's Club Building. Larry Whitlow will be speaking on "Rugs and Carpets."

furniture makes a lot of sense for our time because even though the culture is so old, the furniture looks modern and is compatible with other styles.

"We think of modulars as modern design, but the Chinese did modulars in the 1600s," he notes. "We think of armoires as French, but the Chinese did those wardrobes in 1650. They wanted shelves because they folded their clothing—and in such a precise way, it didn't wrinkle."

Van Steenberg's own decorating taste is eclectic. "The real joy of putting a room together is in assembling the things you like," he ex-

Mrs. Snyder Gives Program

Mrs. George Snyder presented the program at the meeting of the Fine Arts Department of the Woman's Club held Tuesday at the Woman's Club.

Chairman of the Fine Arts Department, Mrs. Snyder spoke on the early folk music of Hawaii. Her granddaughter, Miss Carolyn Greene, who is a graduate of Punaloa School, Honolulu, sang several selections. Miss Greene is now a junior in the ECU School of Music.

The art selections on display for the month were: a wood cut by Leroy Daniels, 11th grade; and a linoleum cut by Gary Butts, 10th grade.

The following announcements were made: February is the month for new members; the club's Fine Arts Festival will be held Feb. 19 and items to be entered should be taken to the club building on Feb. 18; the Author's luncheon will be held April 29; and the Sidewalk Art Show will be held May 5-6.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. T. I. Moore, Mrs. Thomas Cole, Mrs. Myrtle Clark, Miss Eunice McGee and Mrs. Roy Batchelor.

plains. It is a message he passes to young people because "motivation studies have shown they are fearful of making mistakes."

With youth in mind, he frequently strips a showroom of everything but a rug, and then sets it up completely with furnishings of perhaps five decades to show how well good classical things fit together.

Van Steenberg had a head start in the furniture business—he was born in Grand Rapids, Mich., then the furniture center of the United States. Before he was 21, he had worked at six jobs, making less money as he went along because his goal was to learn various aspects of the furniture business.

"In fact I took the job with Baker 45 years ago, not to go to work for them especially, but to learn another step from a man who had served as apprentice under Hepplewhite.

He has had every job in the company and says he could still reproduce a piece of furniture, starting from scratch.

At one point, as a free lance furniture designer, he was told that designing furniture is like flipping through a stack of sheet music—you play your way through it and then you turn it over and play it again. There is truth to it, he says, because "it often happens that the material you have seen many times takes on a different look and new meaning at another time."

"But I always said that I would get out of the furniture business if that ever happened," Van Steenberg says.

Don't Lie—Even To See Grandchildren

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I am so heartbroken and confused I don't know where to turn.

My son and his wife divorced two years ago, and my former daughter-in-law took my two small grandchildren to a distant state. [I must admit, my son wasn't a very good husband or father.]

His former wife recently remarried, and her new husband is adopting the babies.

I wrote and asked her if I could come out and visit for a few days, explaining that I would be no trouble as I would stay in a nearby motel. I just wanted to see my grandchildren. I miss them so.

To my amazement, she said I could come, on the condition that I do not tell the children that her present husband is NOT their father. She says the children think he is, and that's the way she wants it.

Abby, what am I to do? I can't lie to them about who their father is, and who I am. Yet I want to see my grandchildren. Can you help me? HEARTBROKEN GRANNY

DEAR GRANNY: Try to persuade your former daughter-in-law to be honest with the children for their sakes. Tell her it's not likely that she can deceive them indefinitely, and when they learn the truth, it could be traumatic. Don't agree to lie. Even to see your grandchildren.

DEAR ABBY: Since others use your column to air their pet gripes, may I? It's repairmen who set up appointments to repair your television, refrigerator or whatever, and they don't call to say they can't make it. They just don't show up.

I left work early last Monday to be home at 3 p. m. when the TV repairman said he'd be there. I waited until 7 p. m. and he never showed up! I called him the next day and made another appointment with him. Again I got off work early, and again he didn't show. [Always an excuse. Car trouble, got tied up, had to go to the dentist, etc.] He had my number at work and could have called me.

Antique Show Is Postponed Until October

The Junior Woman's Club has announced that the Antique Show and Sale, planned for April 26-27, has been postponed until Oct. 11-12.

The show had been scheduled to be held again this spring at the National Guard Armory. However, due to recent governmental orders, the armory will be in use by the National Guard's summer camp during the weeks of April 24 through May 13.

Therefore for the convenience of antique dealers, the show has been rescheduled for October at the National Guard Armory.

Abby, I paid someone to cover me at work so I could leave early for these appointments. My friends tell me they've had the same lousy experiences with repairmen. What's the matter with people nowadays? Their word isn't worth a thing. DISGUSTED IN SHERMAN OAKS

DEAR DISGUSTED: Sorry that you [and your friends] have had such rotten luck with service repairmen. There must be some who have integrity, or businesses that sell service wouldn't survive very long.

DEAR ABBY: For years I've enjoyed your column, and many times have felt the urge to write to you, but never more than when I read the letter from "Old Fashioned," who worried about whether her virgin fiancé would know what to do at the right time.

I'd like to add my reassurance to hers. When my husband and I were married, we were both virgins, altho we had done some experimenting, listening and reading. Believe me, "Old Fashioned," you have nothing to worry about. My husband was soon a "pro," and I didn't do too bad myself.

Now, 11 years later, we have five lovely children, and we're still very much in love.

So, never fear, "Old Fashioned," nature gives special help to those who keep chaste until their Big Day.

No Limits On Total Spending

The nation may be making some progress in the field of high campaign costs under a new campaign spending law signed by the president Monday.

Taking effect in 60 days the law requires that candidates for the White House and for Congress must disclose every campaign contribution over $100 and reveal how the money is spent.

The law limits to 10 cents for each eligible voter the sum a candidate can spend on campaign advertising in a primary or general election. Not more than 60 percent of that amount may be spent for television and radio campaigning.

Since the law also requires that broadcasters charge their lowest rates for political advertising,

Couldn't Cope With The Rush

By BRYAN HAILSIP
RALIEGH, N.C. — If every criminal case pending in North Carolina court were tried within the next 90 days and only one-fourth of the defendants sentenced to prison, it would take a corrections system double the present capacity to handle them.

That's the size of the challenge for criminal justice reform.

Methods of dealing with prisoners other than incarceration must be developed. Probation and parole must be used more effectively. Rehabilitation must aim for the reduction of recidivism — repeaters who come into the system again and again.

These steps go hand in hand, according to Gov. Bob Scott, with the effort to clear jammed court dockets and assure every defendant a speedy trial.

The alternatives, he cautioned, is the kind of disaster which faced Florida recently when officials said they could not accept more inmates into filled prisons.

Backlog In Courts

Atty. Gen. Robert Morgan has estimated that 42,000 cases are backlogged in the judicial system, including the district court. He contemplates asking the 1973 General Assembly to set a statutory requirement that every case be tried within 90 days.

The present population of North Carolina prisons is 10,000. The prospect of many thousands more, without proper planning, would compound problems of inadequate facilities and personnel.

Building more prisons is not the answer, either in economic or human terms, said Fred Morrison, legal counsel to Gov. Scott. Confinement alone ranks as the most expensive and least successful means of dealing with most offenders.

The Penal System Study Committee of the N.C. Bar Association, formed at the Governor's request, will turn its attention to the area as soon as it completes an investigation of juvenile corrections, Morrison said.

Juvenile Report Next Month

The Governor anticipates the juvenile study report next month. Then, the bar committee will pick up its work in adult corrections with the aim of drafting recommendations in time for the 1973 legislature, Morrison explained.

Taking those convicted of "victimless crimes" out of the system is one approach to be explored. For example, Morrison noted, persons convicted of public drunkenness and drug addicts might well be routed to treatment centers rather than prison.

A recommendation to do away with the crime of public drunkenness passed the House in the '71 session, but failed in the Senate.

Prison population has remained fairly constant in North Carolina over the past decade, due largely to expanding use of probation, parole and work release.

Parole Use Expanding

From 1961 to 1971, the number on parole went from 1,535 to 2,262. The work release program, started in 1961 with 161 inmates, swelled to 1,701 last year. Another 577 were under a conditional release program for committed youthful offenders.

Approximately 22,500 persons convicted in the courts are on probation. Expansion of the probation staff looks to its wider and more effective use. Twelve new officers are now in training for addition to the force of 236 officers and 17 supervisors; another dozen will be added next July 1, and 13 more new positions are in the budget for Jan. 1, 1973.

Under other circumstances, all of those on probation, parole and work release could be inside prison walls. That would be an intolerable burden on present facilities.

A promising new program, funded with grants of about $95,000 from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, is called "late parole assistance." An inmate within 90 days of release is placed on parole and given help in finding a job and a place to live. The funds added two new parole officers in each of the state's six divisions.

The transition back to society goes better under parole supervision, Morrison said. The man with parole experience also is less likely to return to prison.

The recidivism rate for parolees is around 20 per cent, compared to 70 per cent for those released without parole, Morrison explained.

there may be just as much of it in the national campaigns this year as there was four years ago.

There are still loop holes, however, the advertising limit covers television, radio, newspaper, magazine, bill board and paid telephone campaigns, but it does not cover direct mail costs. There is also no limit on a candidate's total campaign spending.

It is becoming more and more obvious that it costs too much to run for most political offices in this nation. It has also been true that major contributors to election campaigns were not usually known to the public. The voters have a right to know who is financing candidates for office and any citizens also has the right to be able to seek public office without facing exorbitant campaign costs.

The new law which will take effect in 60 days will not cure all the ills of political campaign financing; however it is a step in the right direction.

A Better Response By Blood Donors Needed

The Ayden visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile was one of the most disappointing in some time.

Despite a strong effort by the Ayden Jaycees, only 24 units were collected and four donors were turned down. The quota for the day was 135 units.

If Pitt County is to keep the blood program there will have to be better response on future visits. The Red Cross Blood program is too vital to lose. We must meet our quota.

Diplomats For Rockefeller

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — The unprecedented loss of prestige and influence of the once-preeminent State Department has now produced a surprising consensus among middle-level U.S. diplomats: only Nelson Rockefeller can reverse the decline of the State Department in a second Nixon administration.

That strictly private consensus is fed by the growing opinion that President Nixon may actually have decided to tap the Republican governor of New York as successor to Mr. Nixon's intimate friend, William P. Rogers.

More important, however, it rests on a conviction that only Rockefeller has the clout and guts to match Henry Kissinger who, as the President's national security adviser, is the real Secretary of State in terms of raw power and influence over U.S. policy abroad.

The loss of the State Department's dominant role in foreign policy goes well beyond Mr. Nixon's reliance on the remarkable Dr. Kissinger, however. For example, in a highly unusual White House reversal, a debt-rescheduling negotiation has been taken away from State. The U.S. delegation now in Paris for talks with Western European creditor nations on rescheduling the massive external debt of Chile is under the chairmanship of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury John Petty.

The reason given privately for this new slight to the State Department is that Secretary John B. Connally's men at Treasury "will keep Chile's feet to the fire" in a delicate negotiation complicated by Chile's expropriation of Kennecott and Anaconda copper properties in Chile worth half a billion dollars.

The White House gave the top negotiator's job to Treasury because it felt State might pay too much heed to diplomacy, not enough to money.

Moreover, the decline of State has reached the point where ambassadors accredited to Washington from abroad are in a constant state of apprehension about how to conduct their diplomacy with the Nixon administration.

They fear that if they go to the regional assistant secretaries of state, where important matters are traditionally handled, nothing will happen. These highly responsible and intelligent officials seldom can make decisions without the approval of Dr. Kissinger's powerful secretariat at the White House.

But if foreign ambassadors bypass State and take their business direct to Dr. Kissinger, as frequently occurs, they risk serious deterioration in their relations with the State Department bureaucracy — a profound risk for any ambassador.

Beyond that, Rogers's loyalty to the President, based on years of intimacy, sometimes acts as a choke on the flow of essential information from State to the White House that might conflict with policies or "tilts" known to exist inside the White House.

A case in point is the apparent White House decision to withhold U.S. recognition of Bangladesh until after Mr. Nixon's visit to China. While conceding that that decision may well be correct, high officials at State claim that the full diplomatic impact of the delay is not known by the President because State has not been asked for its opinion. Worldwide diplomatic reports on the issue are gathering dust in a State Department filing cabinet. Such shyness for battle in the bureaucratic wars is not Rockefeller's strong point, a fact that demoralized State Department diplomats are well aware of.

Moreover, Rockefeller, now in his fourth term as governor, was schooled in the Order On The Campuses

MOUNT PLEASANT MICH. — This is Thursday, so it must be — where? Central Michigan University, somewhere north of Saginaw, the country sheeted in snow, flat as a queen sized bed. It is the sixth campus since the lecture trail resumed the first of the year, and everywhere the story is about the same: things are quieter now.

The peripatetic lecturer operates like a beetle on a grapevine of shared impressions. He talks with students and professors who have just talked to other speakers who have talked with other students and other professors. The word gets around. The word this year is sober.

That was not the word three years ago. Then the word was, maybe, crazy. It was as if master chef had marshalled the ingredients and given instructions: In a bowl of young people, mix together four parts Vietnam, two parts draft, two parts Nixon, two teaspoons Swahili, seasoned with sex, marijuana and Mao Tse tung; and bring to a rolling boil.

In those days you felt the ferment, the pot tops trembling, the hall full of steam. Campus bulletin boards were shingled with notices, nailed on with bang-marks: "Rally! This means you!", ad hoc committees were huddling everywhere, for black studies, for pass-or-fail grading, for anti-war demonstration, for open dormitories. A visiting activist — Jane Fonda, Dick Gregory, William Kunstler, Julian Bond, Jerry Rubin — could expect an audience churning with hot blood and bursting in wild acclaim.

The heat has been turned down. Not off. Just down. The campus revolution has not ended, but the burner now is set at simmer. Here at Central Michigan, primarily a teacher-training institution, the mood is anxious; teaching jobs are not easily found today. Faculty members share the disquietude; a young speech instructor active with the American Civil Liberties Union, wants a new post in the fall at a livelier institution, but in what is known as the academic slave market, bodies are selling poorly. The supply of hungry teachers far exceeds the demand.

The economic outlook, a visitor is told, is only one among a dozen factors that have contributed to the new sobriety.

Vietnam has almost ceased to be an issue with the draft effectively ended, the risk of personal commitment has lost its cutting edge. There is some concern about amnesty, but the concern is not keen. A number of Vietnam veterans have returned to campus; few of them, it appears, have much interest in launching political combat.

Faculty members, after a long period of permissiveness are recovering a sense of values, as Will Herberg and Sidney Hook recently have observed, in a report on academic freedom prepared for The American Enterprise Institute, order is indispensable to the teaching process. A year or so ago professors began to comprehend the threat to their freedom posed by the new barbarians; and they have

Other Editors Say Unrealistic Demands

(Jacksonville Daily News)

Ludwig Erhard, the man who masterminded West Germany's post-war economic miracle, turned 75 today and concluded that his people have lost all sense of proportion.

Erhard blames the Social Democratic party government of Chancellor Willy Brandt for "awakening unrealistic demands by the governed."

"All sense of proportion is missing," Erhard complained in an interview released by the German news agency (DPA).

That was what Erhard contended during most of 1966, his last year as West German chancellor, and he still thinks so although few paid much attention to his fears then of now.

Nevertheless, Erhard's name remains synonymous with the seemingly miraculous recovery of the West German economy from the ruins left by the fighting and monumental bombing campaigns in World War II and the removal of much of what had been left of the defeated nation's industrial plants.

Leaders of all political parties, including Social Democrats who fought his program to throw off the shackles of government economic regimentation a generation ago, paid tribute to Erhard today.

And as we continue to pour endless tax demands into an ever-increasing U.S. Budget that plunges this nation deeper into debt with each succeeding second it would profit all to take a closer look at the words of this 75-year-old statesman. "All sense of proportion is missing... (in) awakening unrealistic demands by the governed."

Niche 61 In Living

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — There's much to be done at 61.

But with my 61st birthday looming on the horizon, I feel pretty much inclined to relax and let the other fellow do it. If a man hasn't been able to reform the world in 60 years, it is only wisdom to pass the problem on to other hands.

Frankly, right now I'd rather float along with the world than fight it. I feel like the guy who rode over Niagara Falls in a big rubber ball. He didn't change them—but he did survive them. That's my goal, too.

Being 61 doesn't call for much celebrating. It's pretty much of a blah birthday, just another niche and foothold in a long climb up the mountain.

There aren't many notable days in a man's life really. They are the day he is born, the day he first goes to kindergarten, the day he first puts on long pants, the day he gets his first real job, the day he marries, the day his first child is born, any day he pays off a mortgage, the day he retires and the day he dies.

Oh, yes, and the day his father tells him about sex. This day didn't take long in my case.

"Son, your mother thinks it's time I told you about sex," my father said unexpectedly. "What do you know about it?"

"Well, I know a little boy isn't supposed to get a little girl in trouble," I said. My father thought that over for a moment.

"Well," he conceded, "I guess that's about all you need to know. But if you do get one in trouble, come and tell your Dad about it first."

As it turned out, I never had

Strength For Today Impact Of Devaluation Delay

PRAYER

In one of his Epistles, Paul urged his followers to pray without ceasing (I Thessalonians 5:17). Did the Apostle mean that we should spend our lives on our knees? Not at all. Our everyday lives are full of problems, situations, errands to be run, persons to be contacted and conversed with, which would appear to mean that we would never have much time left to praying. Yet the Apostle Paul urges us to pray without ceasing.

Undoubtedly he means that we must be constantly in a state of prayer. We must be filled with the realization that God exists, that He is still completely in our every act, that He is bringing the universe and all He has made therein to a triumphal end.

We can tell the prayers when we encounter them. Some few people go through life never uttering a prayer or at least not uttering a prayer until they find themselves in trouble with apparently no way out. Then even most of the atheists drop to their knees and begin silently to petition God for help.

Our lives are characterized by moods. We have moods of exaltation and moods of dejection. We have moods of worry (which are generally sinful for we would not worry if we trusted God implicitly). A person whose life is characterized by continual moodiness is a sick person. Maybe he needs to see a doctor — or a psychiatrist.

A necessary attitude for the growth of the spiritual life is that we should glorify and enjoy Him forever.

By Earl Douglass

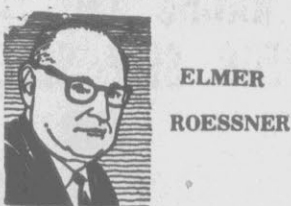

By ELMER ROESSNER

The price of gold abroad this week hovered around $50 an ounce and the Administration showed signs of delay in asking Congress to raise the price of gold from $35 to $38 an ounce. The Administration is blaming misadvised speculators for bidding up the price of gold.

COMMENT: Speculators are undoubtedly influenced by Treasury Secretary John B. Connally's recent statements that the federal deficit this fiscal year would be in the neighborhood of $40 billion, that the deficit would be $25 billion in the next fiscal year, that $50 billion rise in the debt limit probably won't be adequate past February, 1973, and that taxes need not be raised next year.

That sounds like a thumping lot more inflation and has been read as a warning that there will be another devaluation of the dollar ahead.

The Administration's delay in asking Congress to increase the price of gold $3 an ounce, i.e.: devalue the dollar, has given rise to fears or hopes that the Administration must ask for a larger increase. Obviously, some foreign speculators believe the increase will or should be $15 an ounce.

In its action toward devaluation, the United States overlooked the textbook axiom on devaluation: When such a step becomes necessary, action should be instantaneous. The announcement that the dollar was to be devalued should have been followed in minutes by the request to Congress for an immediate increase in the price of gold, with a demand for immediate action. Such moves would have eliminated that current attack on the dollar abroad.

However, the Administration thought it necessary to first negotiate satisfactory trade agreements with Common Market nations, Japan and Canada. These have not yet been completed.

Says Big Store Closing No Aid To Competitor

Saks Fifth Ave. store in New York expected big rains

when its neighbor Best & Co. closed, but its own business fell off in certain areas, Allan R. Johnson, Saks chairman, told the Federal Trade Commission. He was testifying on behalf of a competitor, Bergdorf Goodman, which was asking approval of its purchase by Broadway-Hale, Inc. He said this proved that when stores go out of business, their customers usually do not go to their competitors.

COMMENT: That's a conclusion that should not be accepted blindly. It may prove true in some circumstances, but not in others. There are hundreds of cases in which retailers profited greatly by buying out and closing down competitors. It has even happened in newspaper publishing.

The old Rockefeller-Kissinger alliance of pre-Nixon administration days, when Kissinger was the governor's foreign policy adviser, is still intact. For precisely such reason, Kissinger would be far more likely to stay in the White House for a second Nixon administration with Rockefeller as Secretary of State than with any one else.

But with or without Kissinger in the White House, U.S. diplomats now look to Rockefeller as their best hope to rebuild the State Department's fallen image and restore its dangerously low morale.

to bend Dad's ear.

No great illumination dawns on a man at 61. He can see little or perhaps no farther into the human forest. It is a betwixt and between age.

It is a time when a man remembers passion but now feels he'd rather be in the throes of serenity.

He retains his sense of humor, but now every new joke he hears is an echo of an old one heard before.

It takes him 15 minutes longer to get up in the morning and go through the motions of reading himself to face another day.

There are at least three kinds of food he enjoyed at 40 that he now avoids because they make him burp.

He has almost lost his fear of losing his job. They wouldn't turn a guy out at 61, would they? Or would they?

His terrors about his errors lessen too. At 61 he has too much caution—and too little energy—to make any major new mistakes.

Above all, he is glad that if the world goes to hell from now on they can't blame him. He isn't in the driver's seat. He is only going along for the ride—and happy to be healthy enough to enjoy the view.

Some Peace Alternatives Seen Akin To Surrender

By KENNETH J. FREED
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has left little doubt it views some proposed alternatives to its Vietnam policy as akin to surrender, even while backing away from strident language applied to some critics.

President Nixon outlined this policy Wednesday when, in discussing his State of the World message, he said there should be debate but his prospective presidential opponents should be careful they don't play into Hanoi's hands.

"I do not question the patriotism or the sincerity of those who disagree with my policy to bring peace," Nixon said. "There should always be free debate and criticism so that our policy will represent the best thinking of our nation."

This was a far cry from earlier statements by a top aide, H.R. Haldeman, that Democratic presidential hopefuls were "consciously aiding and abetting the enemy of the United States" by their attacks on Nixon's peace plans.

Yet, the President indicated that while his wording might be softer, he doesn't think those same candidate are fully aware of the harm their attacks might be causing.
"A candidate for president," according to Nixon, "has a higher responsibility than the ordinary critic. A candidate should make any criticism he believes would contribute to an honorable peace."

"But I would hope that anyone seeking the presidency would examine his statements carefully to be sure that nothing he says might give the enemy an incentive to prolong the war until after the election."

Henry A. Kissinger, the President's chief adviser on national security, took the opportunity while briefing newsmen on the State of the World message Wednesday to drive home the administration point.

When asked about one of the most-constant opponents of the President's Vietnam plans, Kissinger responded: "Everyone who knows Sen. (George) McGovern knows he's held these views consistently ... with integrity and conviction and patriotism over most of his public life."

That was several degrees milder than Haldeman's remarks and Secretary of State William P. Rogers' statement last week that candidate Edmund S. Muskie's speech "will be very harmful to the prospects for successful negotiations to end this war."

But Kissinger quickly followed his conciliatory language about McGovern by saying the alternatives offered by the South Dakota senator amount to joining with the enemy to destroy the South Vietnamese government.

"Sen. McGovern apparently believes the need to end the war is so urgent he'd be prepared to take this step," Kissinger said, emphasizing the administration never will.

Putting together all that has been said by Rogers, Haldeman, Kissinger and Nixon, the administration attitude toward its Vietnam critics may be summed up this way:

Presidential aspirants have a right, without having their patriotism doubted, to criticize the President's policies and offer alternatives; but they run the risk of having these alternatives labeled clear calls for surrender.

Telephone Co. Outlines $52 Million 1972 Budget

TARBORO — Carolina Telephone has announced a construction and expansion program in excess of $52,000,000 for 1972 which will result in new service features and provide for normal growth, along with continued equipment modernization.

H. Dail Holderness, president of the company, said that this extensive effort will follow 1971 expansion, also amounting to more than $52,000,000.

The largest single item in the firm's 1972 budget will be local and long distance central office equipment, for which $18,128,100 has been allocated.

Additions to outside plant facilities and lines within individual exchanges will require an expenditure of $19,747,000.

Another large item of expense will be the purchase and installation of telephone instruments and private branch exchanges — a total of $10,609,800.

Land and buildings, long distance lines, and general equipment will amount to $4,515,100.

These expenditures are expected to increase Carolina Telephone's plant investment to about $385,030,000 by the end of 1972.

It is anticipated that the company will gain about 1,582 long distance circuits for a total of 74,302 circuit miles in 1972, and approximately 47,000 telephones.

Locally, the company proposes to spend about $820,600 for outside plant facilities and central office equipment in Greenville.

Kilpatrick . . .

stopped supporting the crazies.

Leadership is a tidal force; it comes and goes. Now it ebbs. A part of this phenomenon is attributed to the media; student radicals have lost their role as romantic novelties; they no longer can summon the red-eyed genies of TV; they have run out of hot-blooded causes.

The trouble is, says a frustrated rebel that many of the old campus wars have been won a few years ago, student leaders are demanding departments of black studies; they wanted to sit on boards of trustees, they cried out for curriculum reform for greater personal freedom, for an end to quasi parental controls. They got most of what they sought, but it proved to be no millennium after all. Like the Shropshire Lad, they had thrown their bungee at Ludlow Fair. They woke again; hi-ho, they found the old world yet.

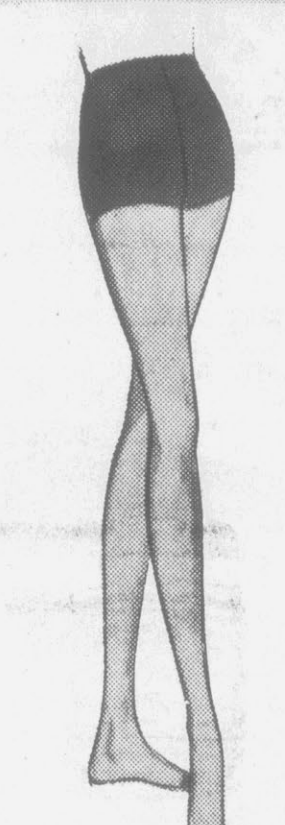

Here and there, the red fire flickers: Ed Muskie is shouted down at Wisconsin, otherwise the mood is quite different. Walking across the University of Missouri campus, the other night, a visiting newsmen heard wild halloos in the distance. A budding revolution, perhaps? Were these students out to hang a dean? No, indeed. Their basketball team had just downed Kansas. It was something, at last, worth shouting about.

Free Throws Squeeze Bucs By Richmond

What's That?

Richmond's Jeff Snider, who has just snared a rebound, looks around for someone to pass to in hopes of starting a fast break. From the expression on his face, however, he and East Carolina's Nicky White, might have caught a look at the Richmond witchdoctor, who nearly got his jinx over the Pirates going again. The Spiders erased a 16-point halftime lead by the Pirates to pull within two before the Bucs won, 80-74. (AP Wirephoto)

RICHMOND, Va. — Lou Mills' witchdoctor went into his second half dance last night in the hidden corners of the new Richmond City Coliseum, but apparently Tom Quinn had bought a little voodoo insurance along with him.

Mills, coach of the Richmond Spiders, has seemed to hold a jinx over the Pirates as of recent, coming up with heart-stopping victories right at the wire. In their previous two meetings, Richmond took a pair of one-point wins over the Bucs, once in last year's tournament, and the other at Minges Coliseum earlier this year.

Last night, Mills and his Spiders came roaring back from 16 points down to pull within two points right at the end. But Ernie Pope tossed in a pair of free throws with 16 seconds left and the spell was finally broken, 80-74.

After playing a nearly perfect first half, the Pirates found themselves hampered by Richmond's second half defense. At the same time, the Spiders began to solve the Pirate defense and work the ball inside to their big man, Jeff Snider, who scored 15 of his 19 points in the second half to spark the Richmond comeback.

East Carolina, by winning, moved back ahead of Wileam & Mary into third place in the Southern Conference standings with a 6-4 record. Richmond, now 3-5, remained in sixth place.

Oddly enough, should the two teams hold their positions in the league, they will meet again. For the third straight year, the Pirates and Spiders would be bracketed together in the first round of the league tournament, where Richmond has taken two one-point victories in as many years (that witchdoctor again).

The Pirates pulled away from the Spiders in the early minutes of play, and with their good defense, almost made it no contest by the end of the first half. Richmond was unable to get the ball inside against the Pirates and had only eight field goals during the first 20 minutes.

In the second half, however, the Spiders came back with a zone defense, and the Pirates were unable to get their new offense going against it. They fell back into older patterns, and their scoring began to fall off. Snider began to get the ball inside for the Spiders and as he began to hit, it sparked the Spiders into a comeback.

Slowly, the Spiders chopped away at the lead, cutting it back to eight on a number of occasions during the half, but no closer until the final minutes of play.

Then, Snider hit a couple that pulled them to within two points at 76-74. But the Pirates displayed a cool temper on the foul line, and that was where they won it.

East Carolina actually made one less basket than did Richmond in the game, but they hit on 30 free throws, as compared to 22 for the Spiders and there was the difference.

The key came, however when Pope hit his two free throws with just 16 seconds left. That upped the margin to four at 78-74, and put it out of reach for the Spiders. They got off a shot that missed, and the Pirates came down with the rebound. Pope was then fouled again right at the horn, making his final two points from the line to set the six-point margin.

The Bucs, using the line entirely in the final three minutes of play, did without a field goal during that period.

The Bucs also pulled it out with two of their starters, Al Faber and Jerome Owens, on the bench with their fifth fouls in the closing minutes. Owens missed much of the second half because of foul trouble.

Again, the big man for the Bucs was Dave Franklin, who canned 17 points. Jim Fairley had 14, while Nicky White got 12, and Faber and Owens each had 11.

In the rebounding department, the Pirates outrebounded Richmond, 48-44, with Faber having 10, White, nine, and Fairley and Franklin, eight each. Richmond was led by Gus Collier with 12, while Snider got 10.

For the Richmond scoring, Snider was high with 19, while Collier had 14, Clarke Wiseman had 12 and Mike Anastasio had 10.

Prior to the varsity game, the East Carolina freshmen gained their second win of the year with a 70-69 victory over the Spiders.

The Pirates, who had led by as much as 14 points in the game, fell off in the second half, and fell behind in the closing minutes. The Baby Bucs held a 34-24 lead at the half, and moved out by 14 from there. Richmond came roaring back however, and with 12 seconds left, held a 69-68 lead.

But with six seconds to go, Tom Marsh hit to award the victory to the Baby Bucs, their second in 11 starts.

Bob Ringer led the Baby Buc scoring with 17, while Marsh had 15 and Larry Russell and Fred Stone each had 12. Dave Williams led Richmond with 27, while Bob Haldeman had 16 and Steve Catlett had 11.

The Pirates return home Saturday to begin a final three-game home stand against The Citadel. The Baby Bucs will host Louisville in a 5:45 preliminary to the 8 p.m. varsity action.

Conley Captures ECC Wrestling Championship

FARMVILLE — D. H. Conley, in its first year of wrestling, came through with the Eastern Carolina Conference championship last night, at the first annual league tournament, held at Farmville Central.

The Vikings amassed 109 points in the meet, beating out North Pitt, which was second with 95. Host Farmville Central finished third with 85, while Ayden-Grifton had 43 and Southern Wayne had 37.

Only five of the 10 conference schools fielded wrestling teams this year. All are expected to next season.

Conley, in winning the title, won six of the 13 individual titles. North Pitt and Farmville Central each had three winners, while Ayden-Grifton had one. Southern Wayne failed to gain a champion, but did place two in the finals.

Individual champions from Conley include Melvin Tyson (108), Wayne Maness (135), Allen Swinson (141), Alton Nicholson (148), Billy Justice (158), and Stacey Evans (198).

The Farmville winners were Ricky Bundy (101), Carlos Moore (170), and Roger Eason (heavyweight). North Pitt's champions included Linwood Brown (115), Andrew Daniels (122), and Ronnie Howell (129). The lone Ayden-Grifton champ was Demetrius Edwards at 188.

Heavyweight: Roger Eason (FC) pinned Ed McGowan (C), 4:51; Danny Bass (SW) pinned Arnold (AG), 4:24.

Richmond came out in a man-to-man defense, and the Bucs, working with a new offensive pattern, tore it all to pieces.

Constantly the Pirates were able to work a man free under the basket, getting the high percentage shots.

Big Al Faber got the Pirates off at the start, hitting three in a row from the outside, and after that, nearly everything the Bucs got was from four to ten feet from the basket.

Throughout the first half, the Bucs were pulling away, moving out to a 16-point margin, 42-26 at the half.

And now a word about H&R Block's competition.

Because we think our competition represents more of a threat to you than it does to us, we're going to help you sort them out.

Your Family

The greatest people in the world. Most of the time. Unfortunately, most of the time doesn't include income tax time. Because the last thing you need when you're doing your taxes is an aunt who took an accounting course just before she dropped out of college. Or a father who thinks how much money you make and what you do with it is something the rest of the family should know about.

Your Neighbors

You know the type. The mild-mannered shoe salesman next door who suddenly turns into a mathematical genius just about the time income tax is due. He knows all the angles. Some of which even the Internal Revenue Service doesn't know about yet. And he's willing to share them with you, "Just to be neighborly."

You

Your own worst enemy. All year long you can't balance your check book, but that doesn't stop you. Armed with your W-2's, a few reams of paper and a couple of gallons of coffee you bravely attack that stack of forms. You may be taking deductions you're not entitled to, and entitled to deductions you're not taking. So, should you be doing your own taxes?

Us

We're H & R Block, with over 6,000 conveniently located offices manned by thousands of specially trained tax preparers who eat, sleep, and drink income tax returns. People who set out to save you money and much of the time do it. The cost? Fees start at $5 and the average cost was under $12.50 for over 7 million customers we served last year. Furthermore, if your return is audited we will accompany you, at no extra cost, to the Internal Revenue Service and explain how your return was prepared, even though we will not act as your legal representative.

And everyone is eligible to receive our year 'round service which is covered by our one time fee. No extra charge for help with audits, estimates, or tax questions.

We know the people we've just told you about will do your income tax return for less than we can but we don't think you can afford them.

DON'T LET AN AMATEUR DO H&R BLOCK'S JOB.

H&R Block.
The income tax people.

Washington Dumps Rampants By 58-40

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

Washington High School pulled away from Rose High School in the final period of play last night and made a dull basketball game even duller. By the time it was all over, Washington had taken a 58-40 win over the Rampants.

Washington held the lead the entire game and was constantly threatening to break it open, but failed to do so until the final period of play when they zoomed out to as much as a 21-point lead right before the end.

The Rampants were playing without their leading scorer Lonnie Payton, who did not dress for the game. And without Payton, the Rampants are reduced even further below their current level of play.

J. C. Daniels tried to take up the slack, but got little help from his teammates. He threw in 17 points to lead the scoring, while Al Hunter added 10. No one else had over five. In fact, only three had more than two, including Hunter and Daniels.

The Rampant ballhandling left a lot to be desired as Washington threw on a pressing defense that kept the Rampants from getting off too many shots. And again, without Payton, the rebounding power was reduced to nothing.

Washington pushed through its first three points from the foul line, a place they found accommodating all night long (they made only one more field goal than did the Rampants). Sam Leggett got the first after just over a minute, and Fred Jones added two more after another minute.

Rose finally got on the boards after nearly three minutes of play when Daniels hit a jumper. Washington came back with a pair of baskets by Leggett, moving out by five before Rose could hit again. That came on a basket by Hunter.

Washington got two more free throws and then a jumper by Leggett to run the lead out to seven, 11-4, with 3:03 left in the period. Rose cut it back to five, however, by the end of the period, 13-8.

Hunter dropped in a free throw to trim the lead to four as the second frame opened, but Washington moved out by nine after that. Jones hit a rebound, and Donnell Mitchell hit two free throws before Rose got another charity shot, this one by Daniels.

Jones hit on another rebound and the Pam Pack held a 19-10 lead with 5:05 to go in the half.

Rose then rallied to within three points, the closest they came the rest of the way. Thomas Clark hit to start it (the only points that weren't made by Hunter or Daniels in the first half), and Daniels added two more, making it 19-16 with 3:47 left. But after that, it was all Washington.

A turnaround jumper by Leggett, followed by one from underneath by Jones and a pair of free throws by Leggett brought it back to nine, and Jones struck again to run it to 11, the biggest of the half, 27-16.

But Rose got baskets by Daniels and Hunter and cut it back to seven, where it stayed at the half, 29-22.

In the third period, Washington again moved out, as neither team was really able to get much offense generated. The Pack again built its lead out to 11, 36-25, after Rose cut it back to five at the start. Daniels hit from the corner after 14 seconds to drop it to that margin, but Washington got a free throw and a basket to up it to eight.

After another Rose free throw, baskets by Eddie Wilder brought it to 11 again, and the Pack held that lead, 39-28, as the quarter ended.

In the final period, Washington finally began to put things together and slowed the tempo down, working for the good shots. Rose was forced to foul more to get the ball, and as a result, the first eight points by Washington in the period came at the line, as they raised the lead to 14, 47-33.

They got three baskets in a row, two by Jones and the other by Harold Jackson to run the lead out to 20, 53-33. It reached the maximum with two minutes left when Leggett hit to make it 58-37. Rose got the only points the rest of the way, hitting three to cut the final margin to 18.

Leggett led Washington with 24 points, while Jones had 18.

In the junior varsity game, the Rose Cubs gained revenge for an earlier loss with a 78-57 romp over the Baby Pack.

Rose jumped into the lead right at the start and never lost it the rest of the way. They held a 20-14 lead at the end of the first period and were in command, 36-31 at halftime.

In the third period, they outscored Washington, 20-11, and built the lead out to 56-42. Another 22-15 advantage in the final period wrapped it up.

Herb Bynum and Phil Ragazzo led Rose with 16 points each, while Jackie Savage had 13. Luzon Perkins had 10.

Mark Gray had 20 and Mike Matthews had 15 to pace

Rose closes out its home season next Tuesday, playing host to New Bern.

Speed Skater Collects Second Gold Medal For American Team

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
SAPPORO, Japan (AP) — "I was impressed by her attractiveness and her fine skill in skating. I would like to emulate her from now on," said Vera Krasnova.

"She is a great champion although she is still so young," added Ludmila Titova.

The object of the Russian girls' praise was Anne Henning, who broke the Olympic 500-meter speed skating title not once but twice Thursday, giving the United States its second 11th Winter Olympic Games' gold medal in two days, compliments of Northbrook, Ill.

The 16-year-old whiz, who will be battling with teammate Dianne Holum for the gold in Friday's 1,000-meter race, whizzed around glittering Makomanai Stadium in 43.75 seconds, fast enough to win despite being fouled by Canada's Sylvia Burka.

And because of that foul—in interference on Miss Burka's part as the two skaters switched lanes—Miss Henning was given a second run and another shot at her own world mark of 42.75.

She didn't make it this time either, although she did manage to shave almost half a second off her first time, finishing in 43.33. Miss Krasnova won the silver medal with a 44.0 clocking and Miss Titova took the bronze in 44.45.

Anne's triumph, which demolished the Olympic mark of 45 seconds, came just 24 hours after Miss Holum, another Northbrook skating star, won the Games' first gold for the United States in the 1,500 meter.

In Thursday's other medal competition, Norwegian farmer Paal Tyldum won the tough 50-kilometer (31-mile) cross-country ski race in 2:43.14.75 and Gustavo Thoeni of Italy captured the men's giant slalom with a two-run time of 3:9.62.

In Thursday night's huge doubles finals, Italy's team of Paul Hildgartner and Walter Plaikner and the East German duo of Horst Hornlein and Reinhard Bredow finished in a flat-footed tie for the gold with identical two-run times of 1:28.35.

In hockey, the United States kept its hope of a bronze medal alive by beating Finland 4-1 with goalie Mike Curran, the hero of the Yanks' earlier 5-1 upset of Czechoslovakia, once again displaying brilliant goal-tending in the face of the Finns' 36-shot attack.

The victory, the second in four games for the United States, put the Americans one point back of third-place Sweden, which lost 2-1 to the Czechs.

The defending champion Soviet Union gained sole possession of first place in the Class A standings, a point ahead of the Czechs, with a 9-3 pounding of Poland.

Craig Sarner of St. Paul, Minn., put the United States on the scoreboard after just 15 seconds of play, but Lauri Mononen tied it for Finland four minutes later on a power play.

The United States took the lead for good midway in the opening period as Henry Boucha of Warroad, Minn., fired in a pass from Sarner.

Then, while Curran held off the rest of the Finns' attacks, Frank Sanders of St. Paul and Kevin Ahearn of Milton, Mass., wrapped up the American scoring.

Miss Henning's coach, Ed Rudolph, from—you guessed it, that same Chicago suburb—said the instant of the foul might have wrecked the winning chances of many competitors.

"How many girls of her age would have survived a moment like that? She came through it with the poise of a veteran. She's a marvel!" he said.

Anne, on the outside lane coming to the cross-over, had precedence. "We were pretty even ... maybe Sylvia was slightly ahead. She crossed in front of me and, to avoid a collision, I stood up and slowed down.

"I thought I had lost the lap. But I kept telling myself to keep skating and not look down."

Deacons Pull Upset Of Duke

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Look out, Virginia. Wake Forest will be no pushover in the regionally televised basketball game at Charlottesville Saturday afternoon.

The Deacons came on strong Wednesday night by upsetting Duke 62-57.

Meanwhile, sixth-ranked Virginia has its best record in 31 years, 17-1, thanks to a free throw by sophomore Steve Morris with four seconds remaining in overtime which beat West Virginia 89-88.

The teams were deadlocked at 80-80 at the end of regulation time in the game at Charleston, W. Va., Wednesday night, and each had leads of four points in the overtime.

Will Robinson had 40 points for West Virginia, now 9-7, and Jim Hobgood was high for Virginia with 22 points.

There was one other game involving Atlantic Coast Conference teams. Maryland, trying to get back into the top 20, defeated 20th-ranked Duquesne 85-71.

and was able to put together two straight victories for the first time this season. The Deacons upset Temple 57-51 Saturday night.

It was the first ACC victory for Wake Forest after five losses. Wake is 6-13 in all games. Duke is 3-4 and 9-8.

Willie Griffin had 19 points and Sam Jackson 18 for Wake Forest. Gary Melchionni paced Duke with 17 points, all but one in the second half.

Len Elmore scored 27 points and Tom McMillen 20 to lead Maryland to its 15th victory against three defeats. The Terps led 70-76 and then scored eight points in a row to put the game away. They choked off the Dukes with two field goals in the final 4½ minutes after switching to a zone defense. Duquesne is also 15-3.

Lionel Billingsy, Duquesne's top scorer and rebounder, injured his left ankle midway in the second half and left the game to a standing ovation with two minutes to play after scoring 20 points.

ACC teams are idle tonight.

Friday night, Clemson will play third-ranked North Carolina and North Carolina State will play Georgia Tech in what is billed as the North-South Doubleheader in the Charlotte, N.C., Coliseum.

They will switch opponents in the coliseum Saturday night, North Carolina playing Georgia Tech and N.C. State meeting Clemson.

William and Mary will be at Duke and Maryland will play Long Island University in New York's Madison Square Garden Saturday night.

Pair Tie For Early Hope Lead

By RON ROACH
Associated Press Sports Writer
PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Bob Rosburg thought of quitting pro golf early last year because his game had sunk so badly and young Jerry Heard said his problem was trying to get rich too quickly.

Rosburg, 1959 PGA champion from St. Louis, corrected the grips on his clubs and Heard, 24, of Visalia, Calif., feels he's snapped out of a slump and still on the pace that made him a first-time $100,000 winner on the tour last year.

They shot first-round 66s, six under par, for a one-stroke lead Wednesday in the $145,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic, a 90-hole tournament being played on four courses. At 67 were club pro Jimmy Powell of Yorba Linda, Calif., and Chuck Courtney, 31, of La Jolla, Calif., who like Rosburg played the Indians Wells Country Club's 6,500-yard course.

Heard played the 6,840-yard El Dorado course, where he had a 32-34, with his longest putt a 20-footer for a birdie on No. 10. He had no bogeys.

"I've had a dry spell," said Heard, who recently bought out his backers. "Now I'm on my own and I've been trying to rush it ... trying to make money too quickly."

The 45-year-old Rosburg, who had one bogey when he hit a bunker but sank seven birdie putts from up to 15 feet away, said, "I feel I'm playing better now than I have for 15 years."

"After San Diego last year, I was playing so bad that I was ready to quit. I came up here to see Claude Harmon and we talked about everything."

Harmon found Rosburg had pressure points on his grips in the wrong place. And Rosburg said, "It had been that way for 2-3 years."

Jack Nicklaus, shooting a 68 at 6,765-yard Bermuda Dunes, said it was "by and large a fairly solid round" without "too many chances" for improvement.

Nicklaus, who won here in 1963 and has passed it up the last three years, was tied with Chi Chi Rodriguez, Dave Stockton and Mike Higgins.

Defending Hope champion Arnold Palmer, playing in only his third tournament of the year, shot a 69 at Bermuda Dunes despite what he called an "unbelievable cold" which he said he caught last Friday when he shot a 76 in the rain and cold of Hawaii.

Palmer was in a group of 12 at 69, including George Knudson of Toronto, Canada, the top scorer of the day at La Quinta, 6,911 yards and generally regarded as the toughest of the four layouts.

Seven states are represented on North Carolina State's basketball roster.

The Duke Blue Devils had beaten the Deacons twice this season, but this time Wake Forest was not to be denied on its home court in Winston-Salem. The Deacons held command throughout except for a five-minute period in the first half.

Wake Forest abandoned its deliberate style and went on a 10-point spurt in the first few minutes of the second half to open its lead to 38-25. Then Duke called time out and Wake returned to its pattern offense. The Blue Devils came closer, but Wake Forest kept its poise and was able to put together two straight victories for the first time this season. The Deacons upset Temple 57-51 Saturday night.

It was the first ACC victory for Wake Forest after five losses. Wake is 6-13 in all games. Duke is 3-4 and 9-8.

The Worry Clinic

Logical Voter Requires Facts

Tad's query should be spotlighted! For you new young voters can still save this Republic if you are familiar with the "10 Common Fallacies in Logic" and the usual clever tricks of selfish politicians. But logic depends upon facts! So tutor voters with the booklet below!

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph.D., M.D.

Case S-594: Tad B., aged 26, teaches Civics in high school. "Dr. Crane," he began, "what will be the psychological effect of lowering the voting age?"

"For example, now that young people can vote at age 18, will they merely divide about the same as the older segments of the population?"

"For when woman suffrage occurred, I find that the addition of those millions of women's votes merely added more expense for tallying the ballots but made almost no significant change in the outcome.

"Will that be what happens to these millions of voters between 18 and 21?"

Voters Under 21

Lest some cynical oldsters may think the new young voters can't think straight, let me remind you that the human brain reaches its adult development at approximately the age of 16 years!

That means the normal 16-year-old can perform all the logical processes of human beings who are middle aged!

"But logic demands facts, for logic is similar to mathematics, where you can't multiply, add or subtract until you first have some Arabic numerals to use in such arithmetic.

If young people can thus obtain a complete picture of all sides of an issue, then they can vote intelligently.

But this means they need to learn all the common fallacies in logic and also be warned in advance about the many political tricks used by politicians to stampede voters.

For example, there are two general classes of people with the right of suffrage.

One large group works for a living!

The other votes for a living! The welfare segment of our population thus tends to stampede in favor of anybody who promises them larger free handouts.

Young voters need to be shown that their own pay checks will be debited every payday just to furnish the funds for the Social Security checks being mailed out to millions of oldsters on the 3rd of every month!

For the money debited from the paychecks of those oldsters before they retired at 65, has been spent. It is gone!

Instead of placing it in a private insurance account, where it would rise in value and be available at age 65, it was spent.

So you oldsters would not get checks next month if it weren't for the deductions now being made from the pay checks of younger workers!

Uncle Sam merely robs Peter to pay Paul.

And "Peter" is the younger, employed Americans, whereas "Paul" is the retired group now drawing Social Security checks.

Young people also need to understand the "10 Common Fallacies in Logic," plus the sneaky tricks of selfish politicians.

So send for the booklet "10

Common Fallacies in Logic," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

Use it in high school classes! And you service men's organizations should disseminate it widely, for most American voters, even those far above the age of 21, can't name even 5 fallacies in logic!

The "Ad Hominem" is one fallacy, which John F. Kennedy cleverly used in reverse to defeat Nixon in 1960. The "Either-Or" fallacy is now being employed to disguise our zooming taxes.

The "Ad Populum" fallacy will also be spouted by most politicians in the 1972 election campaign!

Tutor new voters in shrewd voting so they can still save our Republic!

North's three club response is, of course, the artificial method employed to probe for a major suit fit after an opening bid of two no trump. South is expected to show a four card major if he has one, and to bid three diamonds if he does not. North was in position to bid three spades himself since he has five of them, however, it was his desire to protect the strong hand from being led thru by making South the declarer in the event that the latter held four spades.

If South had bid either three diamonds or three hearts, North still retained the opportunity to bid three spades himself. Observe that if North's five card suit was in hearts he should not use the three club convention, for if he does and partner rebids three spades — it deprives North of the opportunity to offer a choice of game contracts.

West opened the jack of hearts against four spades and when the dummy appeared, South experienced a slight regret at not being in three no trump. With eight top winners, he need score but one trick in diamonds to increase his total to nine. In a spade contract, however, he must find two tricks and both the diamond and club holdings left something to be desired.

Declarer decided his best chance was to strip the hand and compel his opponents to do some work for him. He proceeded to win the heart lead in his hand with the king and then drew the trumps in two rounds. A heart was led to the ace and a heart ruff completed the preliminary operations.

A diamond was led from the dummy and the jack was inserted from the closed hand, losing to the queen. West was reluctant to open up the club suit, so he exited with a diamond. East played the ace and another diamond and South was back in.

Everything hinged on the club suit, so declarer led a small club from his hand in the hope that West had the king in which case dummy's queen would stand up for the tenth trick. East turned up with the missing high card however, and South could not avoid losing another trick.

Had declarer cashed the ace first and then led a small club, East goes in with the doubleton king and has the dubious choice of returning either a heart or a diamond, enabling South to discard his remaining club as he ruffs in the other hand.

Driver Manuals Scarce Today

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Study manuals for the North Carolina driving license test are scarce. Many Highway Patrol stations in the state where the tests are given report they are almost out of the manuals both for new drivers and for drivers renewing their license after four years. The stations have asked borrowers to return them.

New editions of both books, incorporating recent changes in state traffic laws, will be printed soon. So the patrol is reluctant to buy more of the old

'Guarantee' In Set-Aside Acreage

Farmers who use the set-aside inspection and early measurement service offered by the County ASCS office will be guaranteed that their set-aside acreage in the 1972 farm programs will be of acceptable quality and sufficient acreage to earn full program payments.

"The quality guarantee is new," Stacy J. Evans, Pitt County executive director of the ASCS, said. "The guarantee of sufficient acreage, provided the staked measurements are followed, has long been a major reason for widespread use of the ASCS measurement service by farm program participants."

"Guarantee means just that," Evans said. "If a farmer gets set-aside inspection and early measurement — and follows those measurements when he makes his set-aside — then ASCS guarantees no deductions will be made from his program payments because of insufficient set-aside acreage or because the set-aside land was not of average productivity."

The quality and quantity set-aside guarantee was announced at the beginning of the sign-up period for the 1972 feed grain, wheat, and cotton programs. Sign-up opened Feb. 3 and continues through March 10 at local ASCS office.

Program participants who want measurement service usually request it when they sign up, since it is a convenient time.

"This year," Evans said,

"special consideration should be given to getting in early to sign up and to request set-aside inspection and early measurement. The service is provided at a nominal charge which covers the cost."

"The sooner set-aside inspection and measurement request is made, the sooner that farm will get the service, and with double guarantee on both quality and quantity of set-aside acreage, the local office expects more than the usual large number of measurement requests at sign-up this year."

The quality guarantee for set-aside acreage is important because of the average productivity requirement for set-aside land. Land designated for set-aside must have a productive capacity at least equal to the land on which program crops are grown this year, or the land on which program crops would have been grown. Failure to meet this requirement can result in reduction or loss of farm program payments.

Evans said the local office has been instructed not to accept for set-aside land any acreage which is known in advance to be of below average quality.

"Farmers participating in the voluntary feed grain, wheat, and cotton programs may plant their cropland almost as they wish if they maintain their set-aside acreage and conserving base," Evans noted.

Some crops which are under quota, such as peanuts and tobacco, may be grown only with farm allotments.

Travel Film About Korea

The next adventure-travel film in East Carolina University's Film Series sponsored by the Student Government Association is "Exotic Korea," Gene Wiancko's color film of the ancient land so familiar to many American males who served there during the Korean situation.

The film is being shown at 8:00 p.m. tonight, in Wright Auditorium.

In his travels in Korea, Wiancko covers the rich cultural heritage of song, dance and music that have become a major cultural export of the booming mainland Asian peninsula in recent years. Authentic music is recorded with the film, which is to be personally narrated by Wiancko.

"Exotic Korea" also reaches out to cover studies of the faces of the Korean people, young and old; an interview with a North Korean refugee; scenes of night time Seoul, with its modern emphasis on a new, imported (American) culture; and the lovely places of history, among numerous facets of Korean life.

Admission to the public is $1.00 and tickets may be purchased at the box office prior to the showing of the film.

NAACP MEETING

The Pitt County Branch of the NAACP will hold its regular monthly meeting Sunday at 7:45 p.m. at St. John's Baptist Church. The Rev. J. R. Person, the church pastor, will be host.

This year, Mercury Montego is "Car of the Year."

When you're hot, you're hot!

Not one, but two winners of Road Test Magazine's awards are now in our showroom.

Mercury Montego, the new personal-size car with big-car ride, was selected "Car of the Year" for 1972 by Road Test magazine. Its editors considered more than 40 models to determine the winner.

Last year Capri, the sexy European at a shamefully low price, won the "Import Car of the Year" award over all contenders.

Impressive? We think so . . . and we're sure you'll agree when you see and drive these outstanding cars. Visit us soon! Discover for yourself why Capri sold more cars in its first year than any other import did, and why Mercury Montego sales during November were up 147% over the same period last year.

Capri and Mercury Montego: both winners and just two of the many better ideas we have for you! Remember, nobody in the business has more kinds of cars for more kinds of people.
