

Living Cost Index Rises, But Rate Of Gain Down

By STERLIN F. GREEN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of living climbed again in January, the second full month of Phase 2, but the rise was smaller than in December, the Labor Department announced today.

Consumer prices rose 0.1 per cent with increases for meats and new cars pushing up the over-all price level. After allowing for seasonal trends, the January bulge was 0.3 per cent, or equivalent to an inflation rate of 3.6 per year.

Since the start of the wage-price freeze in August, the index has climbed at a rate of 2.6 per cent, and in the six months preceding that it rose at an annual rate of 4.1 per cent.

Though disappointing to those who hoped for a better Phase 2 performance in holding the price line, the increase was no surprise to White House economists. They said December's 0.4 per cent increase was expected, and added that the post-freeze bulge could get worse before it got better.

The rise of 0.3 per cent in the adjusted index was equivalent to nibbling another 3 cents out of each consumer's $10 bill. The increase carried the index to 123.2 per cent of the 1967 average, which means that it cost $12.32 for the average city housewife to buy the same assortment of foods, goods and services that cost $10 in 1967.

The rise in meat prices, which has touched off consumer protests in Washington and elsewhere, was reported as 1.5 per cent in January. The increase in new car prices was 1.6 per cent.

There were some decreases as well. Lower prices were reported for fresh vegetables, clothing, used cars and gasoline.

The food price index actually declined 0.2 per cent in January, after allowing for seasonal factors; it had risen 0.7 per cent in each of the two preceding months. The index for food purchased in grocery stores, which usually increases at this season, was unchanged in January. This was largely due to a sharp drop in the prices of eggs and fresh vegetables—both exempt from price control.

Prices of dairy products, fresh fruits, and processed fruits and vegetables increased, but the cost of restaurant meals and snacks went up 0.2 per cent.

The price index for non-food commodities declined 0.3 per cent. This was smaller than the usual drop in the season of white sales and post-holiday clearances. However, the January sales did reduce the prices of apparel and textile house furnishings.

Gasoline prices were lower in some areas and used car prices dropped for the third month in a row. The increase in new car prices—which usually decline in January—reflected increases approved by the Price Commission.

The prices of houses also rose; the cost of home ownership went up 0.6 per cent and rents rose by 0.2 per cent.

More than half the 0.5 per cent increase in the cost of services was caused by higher property taxes and auto registration fees, both of which are exempt from price control, together with increases in local transit fares in New York and some other cities.

The department's Bureau of Labor statistics announced also that average over-all weekly earnings dropped in January to $129.20, a decrease of $1.35 from December caused by a decline of seven-tenths of an hour of an average work week.

However, the spendable earnings of a married worker with three dependents rose by 62 cents in January to $115.61, because of federal tax-relief provisions which took effect in January. Compared with a year ago, spendable earnings of such workers were up by 6.9 per cent.

Gasoline Changes Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reporting the lead content in the air of 27 cities already has passed the danger point, the Environmental Protection Agency has proposed reducing the lead content of gasoline starting in 1974.

In addition, proposals outlined Tuesday by EPA head William D. Ruckelshaus would require refineries to provide at least one grade of unleaded gasoline at all large service stations by July 1, 1974.

The schedule for reducing the lead content of premium and regular gasoline would begin with a two-grams-per-gallon limit on July 1, 1974; then drop to 1.7 grams per gallon in 1975; 1.5 in 1976; and finally to 1.25 on Jan. 1, 1977.

Present lead levels are about 2.5 grams per gallon.

The proposals also would require that a leaded gas be colored and unleaded clear, as is now the practice, and that some auto gas tanks and pump dispensers be made to prevent the discharge of leaded gasoline into cars designed only for unleaded.

EPA would have authority to assess fines of up to $10,000 per day on refiners, distributors or stations violating the regulations.

Ruckelshaus told a news conference the schedule of lead reductions would cut the lead content in city air 60 to 65 per cent by 1977.

Some Sort Of Accomodation Ahead?

Lengthy Talks By Nixon And Chou En-lai Today

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

PEKING (AP) — Another four-hour session today between President Nixon and Chou En-lai left the impression that China is ready to reach some sort of friendly accommodation. So far as outsiders knew, the question of Vietnam was still dangling.

The friendliness of the Chinese, coupled with the fact that Chou agreed to hold this third conference at Nixon's guest house instead of the Great Hall of the People, lent strength to a look of progress.

For the second night in a row, Chou personally escorted the Nixons to a Chinese spectacular—an exhibition of gymnastics, table tennis and badminton at the 18,000-seat Capital Gymnasium. The previous night it was a ballet in the Great Hall of the People.

While the Chinese intent behind all this cordiality is hard to understand, one object undoubtedly is the Russians.

It can hardly be lost on the leaders in the Kremlin that Nixon had a visit with Mao Tse-tung on the day of his arrival, and that the Peking press opened up Tuesday with smash play on the Nixon visit.

Chou offered today to allow U.S. correspondents to stay on for a look at China after Nixon departs next Monday.

Despite all this, no one expects that all aspects of cleavage between the two nations, built up over more than two decades, can vanish any time soon.

No word has come from behind the closed door of what Nixon and Chou have touched on in discussing the nature of future U.S.-Chinese relations. But all signs indicate that something positive will come from the first visit to China of any U.S. president.

When President and Mrs. Nixon and Chou arrived at the Capital Gymnasium there were a good many empty seats in the huge hall. But it was the largest number of Chinese as a group to see Nixon since his arrival Monday. Many school children were present. There were no introductory speeches before the skilled Chinese gymnastic teams began their two-hour exhibition.

With Chou between them and a woman interpreter just behind, the Nixons joined the crowd in enthusiastic applause for each athletic routine.

Absent tonight were China's two first ladies—Chiang Ching, Mao Tse-tung's wife, and Teng Ying-chao, Chou's wife. Both were no introductory speeches before the skilled Chinese gymnastic teams began their two-hour exhibition.

The newsmen who heard the premier had no opportunity to question him about his remarks, and soon after they were ushered from the conference room.

Nixon's one-hour meeting with Chou Monday and their four-hour talk Tuesday had been held at the Great Hall of the People in downtown Peking. Today the President was the host at the Peking White House, the big government guest house in the western suburbs at which the President and Mrs. Nixon are staying.

Chou arrived promptly at 2 p.m., and the President greeted him with a hello in Chinese. After responding with a smile, Chou slipped out of his overcoat and, standing with the President for news pictures, asked the newsmen through an interpreter: "How are you all?"

The President cracked: "They're better than they deserve."

Once inside the conference room, Chou commented: "The press must have their time." He added that the photographers should take more pictures of the President than of him.

Nixon responded that American photographers had plenty of pictures of him, and if they had any more "they would burn them."

had attended the ballet performance given for the Nixons Tuesday night.

Nixon's meeting this afternoon with Chou was the third of their daily private talks and lasted a bit longer than their meeting Tuesday. Nixon said before he arrived that he expected these sessions to last two hours, and their extended length was taken as an indication that the two leaders were making a searching examination of a wide range of issues.

At the outset of the meeting today, Chou dropped what could be a hint that some U.S. newsmen may be allowed to stay on after Nixon leaves.

"If the press wants to see any more places, they can apply to the Department of Information," Chou remarked to the American reporters and photographers as he sat down with Nixon for their third private conference.

"You don't have much time here," the premier added.

Chou's remarks sent many of the 87 visiting journalists to the Information Department seeking permission to remain after Nixon leaves China next Monday. These newsmen interpreted Chou's reference to the seven-day limit on their visit and their three-city itinerary as a hint that his government might be prepared to let some of them stay on for a wider look.

The newsmen who heard the premier had no opportunity to question him about his remarks, and soon after they were ushered from the conference room.

Senate Approves Equal Employment

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed a bill providing enforcement authority for the federal ban on job discrimination based on race, religion, sex or national origin.

In an unusual procedure made necessary by the die-hard resistance of two Southern opponents, the Senate actually passed the identical bill twice Tuesday by votes of 73 to 16 and 72 to 17.

The effect of the double vote, forced by Sens. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., and James B. Allen, D-Ala., may be to complicate further action on the legislation in the House, which passed a companion bill last September.

Both Ervin and Sen. B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., voted against ending the filibuster and against the bill.

The Senate version of the measure is more to the liking of civil-rights forces, even though it is a compromise of the original bill brought up for debate on Jan. 19.

It provides new powers to enforce the prohibition against discriminatory job practices written into the 1964 Civil Rights Act and also extends coverage to additional millions of employees, including those of state and local governments.

Senate passage followed quickly after a 73-21 vote, 10 more than the required two-thirds majority, ended debate on the bill.

On the first passage vote, 38 Democrats and 35 Republicans voted for the bill and 10 Democrats and six Republicans voted against it.

The second vote was identical except that Sen. James L. Buckley, R-Con.-N.Y., switched and voted against passage.

The major issue in the long Senate fight over the bill was the type of enforcement.

The original Senate bill would have armed the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, now limited to seeking voluntary compliance, with power to issue cease-and-desist orders against employers and labor unions.

In the end, the Senate knocked this out of the bill and voted—as the House had—to require the EEOC to bring suits in the federal courts to enforce its findings. Adoption of this amendment made it possible to muster the two-thirds majority necessary to cut off debate.

Another compromise was in the extension of coverage. The original bill would have brought businesses and labor unions with as few as eight employees or members under the law, instead of 25 as at present. As finally passed by the Senate, coverage is provided for those with 15 or more.

Meet Thursday

PARIS (AP) — The United States and South Vietnam agreed today to a Communist proposal to hold a session of the Vietnam peace talks on Thursday.

Last week's session was called off by the United States in a protest of an antiwar assembly held in nearby Versailles Feb. 11-13. The United States contended that the assembly affected the neutral atmosphere in which the Vietnam conference is to be held.

South Vietnamese officials confirmed a report that Dr. Tran Van Do, a former foreign minister, had met here secretly Dec. 19 with Xuan Thuy, head of the North Vietnamese delegation to the Paris talks.

Youths Hold Up Bank In Durham

DURHAM (AP) — Three youths wearing stocking masks robbed a Durham bank at gunpoint about 10:30 a.m. today.

Police said the youths fled on foot into a wooded area near the bank in east Durham.

No information was available on how much money was stolen in the state's 10th bank robbery of the year. The holdup occurred at a branch of Wachovia Bank and Trust Co.

Scott Plans Expansion Of Child Care Centers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Bob Scott of North Carolina says the people are calling on government to provide more and better services "to our very young children and their parents."

Scott said this Tuesday in a talk to the Human Resources Committee of the National Governors' Conference.

As a result, Scott said, North Carolina plans to provide federal and state funds "to broaden several of our kindergartens into comprehensive child care centers."

"We will expand the operation from just a school hour operation into a full day program, opening at dawn and continuing until 6 or 7 o'clock in the evening," Scott said.

The governor said the "expanded programs will involve a full range of services rather than a purely educational focus."

In addition, Scott said, "We are establishing a demonstration child development program in the 26 counties in the Appalachia region of North Carolina. This project will involve the establishment of 62 centers for children. The centers will include services from prior to birth to five years of age. The initial cost of this project is $5 million."

"It is our intention," Scott said, "to seek both federal and state funds to expand our child development program to cover the entire state. We have identified the needs. Now we must meet our obligations to our children, and to our future as a state and a nation."

Revive Plan To Issue Bonds For School-Building

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina's school superintendents have revived the idea of seeking the people's approval of a $200 to $300 million bond issue for building schools.

At a meeting of the 152 superintendents in Raleigh Tuesday, some said such a bond issue would provide "a badly-needed shot in the arm." The 1971 General Assembly narrowly defeated a school bond proposal.

Another major concern of the school heads was a proposal to ask the General Assembly for $8 million to buy enough school buses for separate elementary and secondary school bus routes. Many elementary pupils across the state now have to rise early and wait as late as 4 p.m. to catch buses they share with junior and senior high school students.

State School Supt. Craig Phillips told the superintendents he has called for a "summit conference" between his office, the North Carolina Association of Educators and leading legislators on the question of 10 months employment for teachers.

While more money for kindergartens, occupational education, buses and salaries continue to be major concerns of educators, many superintendents indicated they are losing the battle for money for the routine business of operating the schools.

"It's high time we got enough money to provide clean restrooms in our schools," said Supt. Malcolm Brown of Shelby. "It's ridiculous that boys and girls should have to use dirty restrooms."

Standing out in a list of priorities drafted by the superintendents was more money to keep the schools clean and heated and to hire secretaries and clerical help to handle the increasing mass of paperwork.

Surprisingly, kindergartens and occupational education fell below the first order of priority of most of the superintendents. The state school officials attributed this to the superintendents' worries over financing routine school operations.

"We've got to have money to do a better job of what we're already trying to do before we can move into some of these new program areas," one superintendent said.

Soviet Moon Ship Now Flying Rocks To Earth

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet moon ship Luna 20 scooped up rock samples from the rugged lunar highlands and started them back toward the earth today in a rocket, Tass announced.

The Soviet news agency said the spacecraft's landing stage remained on the moon but did not indicate what further tasks it might carry out.

Tass said the container holding the rock samples will separate from the rocket and parachute to earth in the Soviet Union on Friday. The agency did not say where the craft is expected to land, but Soviet spacecraft are usually recovered in the steppes of Kazakhstan.

Tass announced Tuesday that Luna 20 had landed on a mountainous isthmus between the Sea of Fertility and the Sea of Crisis, a site it said was ideal for the study of the origin of the moon.

Today's announcement said the unmanned spaceship "has successfully carried out a program of operations on the moon."

Tass said Luna 20 relayed pictures of the lunar surface back to earth, a site for the taking of samples was chosen, and "operations to take the samples were started on a signal from the ground."

"A device for taking samples drilled lunar rock and took the samples," the report continued. "Because of the great strength of the rock, the drilling was done in several stages with intervals during which the drilling rig was stopped."

It added that the returning rocket was traveling on a course close to that planned for it.

It is the second time that a Soviet moon ship has collected samples of the lunar surface for return to earth. Luna 16 landed in the Sea of Fertility in September 1970, scooped up 3.5 ounces of sandy soil and returned to earth.

Charges Dropped, But He Still Pays

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Five years ago, when he was a senior in high school, my brother Billy was arrested in a police raid on a house where a group of kids were smoking marijuana and using LSD. Billy wasn't using any, but the police took everybody in and booked them. Only two of the kids were convicted, and charges were dropped against the rest, including my brother.

Billy graduated from college last June with very good grades, but he can't get a job because all the forms he has had to fill out specifically ask if he's ever been arrested, and when he has put down "Yes," and why, he was passed over. Once he didn't put down yes, was hired, and a month later they let him go because they found out he had been arrested that one time.

Billy is so disgusted he doesn't know what to do. He went to a lawyer to see if that one arrest could be wiped off his record, and the lawyer told him that in this state they couldn't do it. He said that all he could do was write the legislators to try to get the law changed.

Isn't it cruel for something like this to happen to a nice kid? The law presumes you to be innocent until found guilty, but everyone thinks if someone is arrested he's a poor risk for employment, and since there are about 10 people for every job these days, they'll hire the one who hasn't been in any kind of trouble. Don't you think this is unfair? And have you any advice for Billy?

BILLY'S SISTER

DEAR SISTER: If Billy was only "booked" and not charged after the drug raid, was not a user or in possession of drugs, it is certainly unfair to use such a "record" against him.

But fair, or unfair, when illegal drugs appear on the scene, I would advise any individual to promptly leave the scene.

DEAR ABBY: My heart beat a little faster when I read that letter in your column from the divorced woman who was still in love with a wonderful Marine she hadn't seen since 1944.

You told her to try to locate him, and if he was also single and felt the same way about her, maybe they could pick up where they left off. That was good advice.

I hope she finds him. And I hope he's single, and I hope they get together again.

Would you believe I found my wonderful gal again after a silence of 50 years? Sign me, LUCKY IN ELGIN, ILL.

DEAR LUCKY: Thanks for your encouraging testimony. It's only "too late" for those who think it is.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please help settle an argument between my husband and me?

We were invited to dinner at the home of some new friends, and after dinner it was suggested that we play cards, which we did.

After the game started our hostess brought a book to the table and proceeded to read while playing cards. Most of the time she was so absorbed in the book she nearly forgot about the card game.

After we got home, my husband said she was the rudest woman he had ever met, that she might just as well have told us to go home the way she read that book in our faces all evening. He also said if they ever invite us back he will refuse to go.

Abby, I agree, she wasn't very polite, but I can understand how she could have started a book and become so fascinated with it she could hardly wait to get back to it, so I really don't hold it against her.

Do you agree with my husband that we shouldn't go back there again? I really like this woman.

OUTPLAYED IN DETROIT

DEAR OUTPLAYED: If you "like" her, see her on your own time. I agree with your husband.

GOOD BEEF LOAF — It may be shaped into a round and garnished with wagon-wheel macaroni.

This Beef Loaf Hits The Spot

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

If you're tired of the recipe for beef loaf that you've been using, or dissatisfied with it, consider trying this one. It makes a loaf that is moist, cuts well into wedges and has fine flavor.

A small can of stewed tomatoes is used in the loaf to give moisture and seasoning and soft bread crumbs help to give good texture. Our tasters' comment on the loaf was, "Make it again!"

GOOD BEEF LOAF

1 egg
1 can (8 1/4 ounces) stewed tomatoes

1 1/2 cups soft bread crumbs
1 1/2 teaspoons salt

2 tablespoons minced scallion (green onion) or 1 tablespoon finely grated onion (pulp and juice)

2 tablespoons minced parsley
1/4 teaspoon dried Italian herb

1 1/2 pounds ground lean beef

In a medium mixing bowl beat egg just enough to combine yolk and white. Add tomatoes (including liquid in can); with a fork thoroughly break up the tomatoes. Add bread crumbs, salt, scallion, parsley and herb seasoning. Let stand until bread absorbs some of the liquid—10 minutes or longer; with a fork, beat well. Add beef; mix well with your fingers until blended.

Oil a shallow baking pan; or line pan with foil and grease foil. Turn meat mixture into the center of the pan and shape into a round loaf about 7 inches in diameter and 1 1/2 inches deep.

Bake in a preheated 400-degree oven for 40 minutes. With 2 wide spatulas remove loaf to serving plate. Garnish, if you like, with wagon-wheel macaroni mixed with butter and grated Parmesan cheese; serve remaining macaroni with beef loaf.

Makes 6 servings.

NOTE: When you make the soft bread crumbs for the beef loaf you can do so by cutting sliced bread fine with a knife; crusts may be left on.

THREE RULERS...are Prime Ministers Golda Meir of Israel, Mrs. Indira Ghandi of India and Mrs.

Women Prime Ministers Have Proven To Be Tough Leaders

By JOHN F. BARTON

United Press International

The world's three women prime ministers have put the lie to the old adage that women are the weaker sex.

Mrs. Indira Priyadarshani Gandhi of India, Mrs. Golda Meir of Israel and Mrs. Sirimavo Bandaranaike of Ceylon have proven themselves to be tough leaders when their countries faced political crises.

All have been married. All are grandmothers. But in her own way, each has shown that the hand that rocks the cradle can also slap down political enemies.

Mrs. Gandhi, who has ruled as prime minister since 1966 following the death of the late Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri, recently led her nation to military victory over Pakistan, turning the former East Pakistan into the new nation called Bangladesh.

It was the greatest feat of strength yet by a woman who has displayed unexpected political courage and stamina since becoming prime minister.

The 'Doll House Caucus'

Mrs. Gandhi, who says she used to deliver political lectures to her dolls as a small child, has accomplished political changes that her father, the late Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, was reluctant to do despite his enormous prestige and influence.

Mrs. Gandhi, hindered and later politically threatened by the conservative old guard of the ruling Congress party, dropped the old guard from important cabinet positions and took her case directly to the people by calling early general elections in 1969. Her bold action split the Congress party, but the old guard was swept out of office by the people, almost without exception. Mrs. Gandhi had eliminated her opponents within her own party and won a landslide election mandate from the public at the same time.

Born Nov. 19, 1917, Mrs. Gandhi spent much of her early life following her father's political career. Despite his frequent lengthy jail sentences during British rule, her father became one of the strongest influences in her life. One of her fondest memories, Mrs. Gandhi told reporters in Washington recently, is of the world history her father wrote especially for her while he was in a British jail. Her marriage to Feroze Gandhi in 1942 at age 25, considered late by Indian standards, was not happy. After raising two sons, she and her husband, who was not related to the late Indian leader Mahatma Gandhi, had been living apart for some time when he died in 1960.

Her Political Infancy

Mrs. Gandhi founded the Congress Children's Organization (Vanar Sena) when she was only 12 years old. With her father's encouragement, she became a member of the Indian National Congress in 1938 and a member of its working committee in 1955, by which time her family duties were no longer so demanding of her time. She became president of the Congress party in 1962.

Although he probably never dreamed it would occur, Nehru thus prepared his only child to be his political as well as his family heir. With the sole exception of the 18-month premiership of Shastri, the office of prime minister of India has been in control of the Nehru family since independence from the British in 1947. It appears that it will be in the control of Mrs. Gandhi for as long as she wants it, at least for the foreseeable future.

Like Mrs. Gandhi, the marriage of Golda Meir was pleasant, but not blissful. It is seldom, preferably never, referred to nowadays by Israeli officials, who quickly add, however, that her son and daughter and grandchildren are a source of great joy to the matronly prime minister.

"Her husband was a pleasant, rather ordinary sort of fellow," one Israeli official told UPI recently. "But he was not ambitious. Mrs. Meir was ambitious, and she is not ordinary." Prime minister since 1969 and a member of Parliament since 1948, Mrs. Meir has long been known as a tough political activist.

Tough As Any Man

When she was foreign minister, the then prime minister David Ben Gurion reportedly told newsmen: "I have but one man in my cabinet, and her name is Golda Meir." She sponsored tough policies as foreign minister, and has taken a no-nonsense attitude as prime minister.

Golda Meir was born in 1898 in Kiev, in then Czarist Russia. She came with her family to the United States as a youngster, and was educated in the Teachers Seminary in Milwaukee, Wisc. Later she became a teacher and leading member of the Poalei Zion (Zionist Labor Party) there.

Mrs. Meir also was a delegate to the U.S. section of the World Jewish Congress until 1921, when she emigrated to Palestine. There she joined the Merhavia Collective Farm Village and later became active in the Labor Federation (Histadruth). She was in charge of contracting and public works enterprise from 1924 to 1926.

Her rise in influence and power increased. In 1928 Mrs.

Meir was appointed secretary of the Women's Labor Council of Histadruth, and held high office in the Federation of Labor from 1929 until 1946. She also became chairman of the board of directors of the Workers Sick Fund in 1929.

Her Rise to Power

A pivotal position, however, was her appointment as head of the political department of the federation of labor. She became a labor party delegate to the World Zionist Organization in 1936, a member of the War Economics Advisory Council of the Palestine government, and a leading member in the Hagana struggle. After serving as head of the political Department of the Jewish Agency for Palestine in Jerusalem from 1946-48, she served as Israeli minister to the Soviet Union from August, 1948 to April, 1949. After her soviet assignment she became minister of labor and social insurance in the cabinet and general secretary of the Israeli Labor party in 1966.

Sirimavo Bandaranaike, the world's first woman prime minister, is also the least well known internationally.

A shy, plump, matronly woman whose major interests centers on her family, Mrs. Bandaranaike succeeded her husband, the late Solomon West Ridgeway Dias Bandaranaike, as prime minister following his assassination in 1959.

A Strong Leader

Although she delegated much authority to her nephew, Felix Bandaranaike, during her first term of office, Mrs. Bandaranaike has since earned a reputation for outspoken political views and swift, decisive action when she deems it necessary.

Although she lost the premiership to Dudley Senanayake in a close election in 1965, she was returned to office in general elections in 1970 on a revolutionary platform.

When young dissidents felt Mrs. Bandaranaike was following a revolutionary foreign policy—she granted diplomatic recognition to the Viet Cong, North Vietnam, North Korea and East Germany within a fortnight of her election—but had failed to adopt a promised revolutionary domestic program, they set off nationwide riots.

Mrs. Bandaranaike quickly made it clear she would not tolerate revolutionary activities against her own regime. She declared an emergency and ordered the armed forces to restore law and order. Accusing North Korea of fomenting the riots, she broke relations with Pyongyang.

Appealing to the dissidents as her children, she went on national radio and urged them to stop their activities, behave themselves and return to the national family.

Sirimavo Bandaranaike was born April 17, 1916. Her father, Barnes Ratwatte, was a member of the Ceylonese senate. Educated at the Ratnapura Ferguson School and the St. Bridget's Convent in Colombo, she married Bandaranaike, a young political activist, in 1940.

A Phoenix-like Re-election

She devoted her entire time to raising her children and supporting her husband in his political career. Following his assassination in 1959, she became president of the Sri Lanka (Freedom) party and succeeded him as prime minister in 1960. She also retained the portfolios of foreign minister and minister for information and at different times until she was defeated in the 1965 general election. Her government had fallen shortly after her decision to include communists in her cabinet, particularly in the finance ministry.

Mrs. Bandaranaike succeeded Senanayake as prime minister following general elections in 1970.

Vice Chairman

Will Be Dropout

Mrs. Jayne Spain, industrialist from Cincinnati, Ohio, who is now serving as Vice Chairman of the U.S. Civil Service Commission, will become a school dropout the end of this month.

Last fall she signed on at the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Graduate Night School to study Mandarin Chinese a skill she figured just might come in handy after President Nixon's announcement last summer he would visit Peking.

It didn't work out, the lady bureaucrat explains, because her new job requires her to travel so much within the United States she couldn't get to enough classes to make it worthwhile.

Food Designer Says 'Display Natural Shapes And Colors To Best Advantages'

By JEANNE LESEM

UPI Food Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — The more you fuss, the worse it looks, says Maggie Waldron, who cooks and styles food for advertisements.

In an interview here, the San Francisco home economist and food designer said it's best to treat everything very simply, to display the natural shapes and colors of ingredients to best advantage.

She said overcooking is the most serious offense in preparing dishes for ads.

Food photography techniques can help home cooks give a professional look to family and party fare, she said. But no homemaker is likely to confront some of the problems a food stylist faces in day-to-day work.

Food Washed Out

Miss Waldron said she may have to prepare as many as 50 items for an illustration that will contain perhaps 10.

"Not everything works the way you picture it in your mind," she said. "Things sometimes have to be discarded."

And sometimes they're discarded for you. She recalled a project that called for 15 fish dishes photographed on a rocky beach. Soon after she's arranged the food, a wave washed everything out to sea. Nobody had remembered to check the tides.

In the days of black and white television, Mrs. Waldron said, she often worked with bright green cakes because they photographed better than white ones. Color television put an end to that but food photography still presents some unique problems. Mrs. Waldron said she fortifies molds with enormous amounts of gelatin if the dishes must be under lights for long, and she places ice cream on great sheets of dry ice to keep it from melting.

Tricks a home cook can use include a glaze for poultry and ham that tastes as good as it looks. Mrs. Waldron said melted currant jelly and soy sauce makes a beautiful mahogany-colored glaze if you use the mixture for basting two or three times during the last 20 to 30 minutes of roasting. A half cup of jelly melted with 1 tablespoon of soy sauce makes enough for a 10-12 pound turkey or ham.

Poultry Tip

Mrs. Waldron said it's best to cook poultry breast side up without basting until the glaze is added.

She said she prefers fresh fruit and vegetables for garnishes and especially likes natural shells as food containers. She molds fruit-flavored gelatin in melon or avocado halves or grapefruit shells, then cuts each into wedges for serving. Juice squeezed from grapefruit can be substituted for part of the liquid in making gelatin.

She recommended fresh grapes as a garnish—either plain or frosted, caramelized or chocolate-dipped. To frost grapes, dip them in unbeaten egg white, shower with plain or cinnamon sugar and let dry at room temperature.

Grapes to be caramelized or chocolate-dipped should be washed and dried thoroughly. Dribble melted sugar carefully on them and let dry on waxed paper. Or dip grapes in semisweet chocolate melted over hot but not boiling water.

Let dry on waxed paper. Use either kind within a few hours. If your kitchen is warm, refrigerate the chocolate-dipped variety until serving time.

Wine, beer, barious fruits and Idaho potatoes are among the products for which Mrs. Waldron develops recipes at Botsford Ketchum, Inc., an advertising agency. She is creative director of the foods division.

"It's a lot of trouble to scoop and fill baked potatoes," she said, so she prefers to slice partly baked ones almost all the way through and fill the cuts with cheese, partly-cooked bacon or ham strips, then finish baking.

"Nothing is more satisfying to a dieter than a baked potato," she added, and described her low-calorie preparation. Dip wedges of unpeeled raw potato in either melted butter OR whole egg or egg white beaten until frothy, and then into wheat germ or other grains. Wedges bake in about 20 minutes in a preheated 400-degree oven and contain fewer calories than you get from the same amount of baked potato mashed with butter or sour cream.

Annual Bridge Benefit Set For April

Plans for the annual bridge benefit were discussed at the meeting of the Alpha Omega Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha held Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Barbara Woods.

A tentative date of April 6 was set. The benefit will be held at the new Bank of North Carolina NA. Proceeds from the event will be given to the Eastern Carolina Workshop.

Mrs. Lucille Moore, president, conducted the meeting. A steak cookout was set for May 13 to entertain sorority members, their husbands and guests.

An Easter egg hunt and party will be held on March 25 for the children of sorority members. The party will be held at the home of Mrs. Nellie Taylor.

The progress of an ESA scrapbook was reported. After the closing ritual, refreshments were served by Mrs. Woods.

Don't Change The Definition

When some elements of American society talk about "political prisoners" in the U.S. they have their own definition. Maybe.

It isn't the definition in common usage anywhere else.

A "political prisoner" in the United States today appears to be one imprisoned or in the process of being tried for such diverse things as shooting at law enforcers, murder, assisting in a prison break wherein people are killed; or it may be helping the escape of prisoners in which people are slain...and it might even be a charge of conspiring to damage or destroy federal property and possibly kidnap a man.

This is pretty strong meat; and a far cry from the meaning of "political prisoners"....mere critics of government or opponents of the regime in power...in any other land on the globe.

Is Sirhan Sirhan a political prisoner? He killed a U.S. Senator. How about James Earl Ray? He killed a man too. And there have been a number of trials involving people charged with crimes one could link to the political or social arenas; but they were not tried as enemies of the "system" but for crimes as explicit as a shooting, a mugging or robbery on Evans Street here in Greenville.

The Harrisburg trial and the Angela Davis case do not involve opposition to or criticism of the government. The people involved are being tried on charges that they participated in or were parties to criminal acts and criminal conspiracies.

In this country just about everybody at one time or another criticizes "the government", plays an active role in trying to unseat an officeholder, works to right wrongs in the social order, condemns a political group, becomes angry over taxes, services and ideas that run counter to their own.

We live with it. We take it for granted. But these things could be called "political crimes" in the greater part of the globe.

When some zealot proclaims somebody or some people to be political prisoners in the United States, he's wrong. Dead wrong.

The world learned from very evil men that if you repeat the Big Lie often enough people will begin to accept it as Truth.

There are times when it seems that lesson is being applied here and now.

Sounding Board Of Aspirations

By BRYAN HAISLIP
DURHAM — "My assignment is not to sell the Democratic Party to black voters, but to sell the aspirations of black voters to the Democratic Party."

That summed up the view of A. J. H. (Howard) Clement, III, on his appointment as a state party vice chairman, representing declared.

Working In The System
Working it out in the system is the political philosophy pursued by Clement, an executive of North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance Company. His family has been identified with the black-owned firm for 60 years.

He came to his position with the state Democratic party as successor to Mayor Howard Lee of Chapel Hill, a friend and political associate who stepped aside to run for Congress.

Before that, Clement was president of the Durham County Young Democratic Club for two years, secretary of the county executive committee, a member of the state study commission on party reorganization, and a member of the state executive committee.

"The Democratic party has been open to me in terms of participation," he said. "I just don't see enough of us coming along with me."

He also took over from Lee as chairman of the North Carolina Black Caucus, formed to promote black goals in politics.

Black Caucus Meeting
The group will meet in Raleigh on Feb. 26 to select delegates to the National Black Political Convention which meets March 10-12 in Gary, Ind. The national gathering will adopt positions on issues to be submitted to Democrats and Republicans for consideration in drafting their platforms.

While his party office will keep him neutral in the primary, Clement already is on record in support of black candidates — Rep. Shirley Chisholm for president, Dr. Reginald Hawkins for governor, and Lee in the Second Congressional District.

"I'm doing nothing to erase that record," Clement said.

Black voters, particularly younger ones, will be inclined to vote for black candidates in Campaign '72, Clement predicted. "I am hopeful that the day will come when black citizens will be in all camps, but I doubt we have reached that stage of political development as yet," he said.

The white complaint that blacks vote as a bloc doesn't disturb him. "After all, whites have been voting as a bloc for years and years," he remarked.

Competition among the parties for black support is a healthy sign, as Clement sees it. "I know Republicans are adopting new strategies on the state level. I think this is good. It will stimulate the Democratic party to its obligation," he explained.

Nixon's Power Base In South

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON—The staggering task confronting the Democratic Presidential nominee in capturing even a single Southern state against President Nixon in November can be seen in the necessarily feeble efforts by Sen. Edmund S. Muskie against the reelection campaign of South Carolina's Sen. Strom Thurmond, the Dixiecrat-turned-Republican.

Muskie's political operatives have now helped talk State Sen. Nick Ziegler, lacking a statewide reputation, to run against Thurmond. Their purpose: to give Thurmond credible opposition and limit his campaign activities next fall to his own state rather than the whole South.

Until Ziegler agreed to take on Thurmond, Muskie's advisers worried that Thurmond might have a virtual free ride to reelection, with no credible Democratic opponent. The state's grass roots Democratic organization would then sit on its hands, costing the Democratic Presidential nominee even the black and youth vote.

Just how thin a reed this Democratic strategy is, however, can be seen from the results of two separate, unconnected polls.

One poll, taken for the state Democratic party during the past two weeks, gives Thurmond a staggering 61 per cent to 16 per cent margin over Ziegler (and a 25 point edge over former Gov. Robert McNair, who is not running but has been considered Thurmond's strongest possible foe).

But a Republican poll, taken for the White House as far worse news for the Democrats. It shows Mr. Nixon running so strong in South Carolina that not even a massive turnout on election day, spurred by an active Senate campaign, would make any difference. In a three-way contest the President gets 44 per cent, Gov. George Wallace of Alabama 24 percent, and Muskie 20 per cent, with 12 per cent undecided. With Wallace out of the race, Mr. Nixon tops Muskie almost 2-to-1. And it shows that Thurmond will get a bigger lift from Mr. Nixon's coattails than the President will get from Thurmond's.

Moreover, White House polls taken in Arkansas and North Carolina tell a similar story, with the President running only slightly less well in those states than in South Carolina.

The truth is that, despite the impressive resurgence of centrist Democratic strength in the 1970 elections, particularly in races for governor, there seems to be no way the national party can exploit its new Southern talent to stop President Nixon's rise to a peak of popularity in Dixie. The Southern strategy charted by Barry Goldwater in 1964 is being realized eight years later.

To national Democratic strategists, the President's growing power base in the South, epitomized in South Carolina, begins to add up to one horrendous fact: Mr. Nixon will sweep all 11 Southern states, giving him 130 electoral votes (almost halfway to the 270 needed for election) if Wallace stays out. But even if Wallace runs again as a third-party nominee, an unlikely event from today's perspective, Mr. Nixon would still have a chance to capture the entire South, possibly with the sole exception of Alabama.

The arithmetic facing Muskie then becomes unbearable. Given a solid South, Mr. Nixon need capture only Ohio and Indiana among the Northern industrialized states. Put another way, Muskie could win New York, California, Pennsylvania,

Richard Nixon's Poems

WASHINGTON—President Nixon is prepared for any emergency that might arise while he is in China. His staff has been working for months on every contingency the President might face. I can now reveal that the President, after hearing that Mao Tse-tung writes poetry, is carrying poetry of his own in his briefcase to read to Mao when the occasion presents itself. These are the poems that Nixon could spring on Mao Tse-tung at anytime:

If I must fly in a Chinese plane, will Air Force One be far behind?

I stand at the Great Wall with Pat at my side.

And as I breathe the centuries of history,
the New Hampshire primary looks very small.

There are no clouds in the sky,
the wind is but a whisper in the trees,
lakes sparkle as birds sing,
it's a good day to bomb Cambodia.

The journey of a thousand miles must begin with one single step.
Unless you go to school and have to take a bus.

Daybreak comes quietly, sneaking up on the dark.

The sun finally commands the earth.
I hope Kissinger had a good night.

A dog barks, an eagle cries.
The birds take flight,
the deer stand frightened.

I told them Phase II would work.

The streams rush down from the mountain washing the rocks with blue.

The woods are filled with buds
as spring wipes the frost from their eyes.
I wonder if it's too early in the year to call a football coach.

I made this journey into yesterday because I must think about tomorrow.
If I should trip or lose my way
I'll deny it.

When I look at the universe,
I am nothing.
When I look at a rose, I am nothing.
When I look at a newborn baby, I am nothing.
When I look at the ocean, I am nothing.
When I look at the polls, I am 49 percent.

As the sun sets over the Yellow River and the moon rises in the China Sea,

I reach to the stars with both hands knowing I will be on American TV.

Boyle Views Life

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — How can you tell if you're middle-aged?

Not by the calendar—who lets his life be ruled by a calendar?—but by how you feel and what you think and do.

You're probable middle-aged if—

You cross to the other side of the street when you see three rowdy-looking teen-age boys coming your way.

You have been such a frequent visitor to the dentist lately that you and he call each other by your first names.

On the other hand, your wife

now addresses you half the time as "Father," and every once in a while you absently address her as "Mother," and then you hate yourself afterward for slipping into such matrimonial jargon.

You get so short of breath while tying your shoes each morning that you decide you simply must get more exercise—"one of these days."

Now and then when you hear a ringing you have to pause and consider whether it's the telephone or just something in your ears.

Every politician who makes a speech reminds you of some other politician who delivered the same speech—but more impressively—some time ago.

When urchins at play in the streets ask you what time it is they call you "Pops."

The old-timers at the office slowly and silently begin to accept you as an equal at the water cooler.

You don't find fault with people your own age so much. You feel that about everything anyone does can be blamed either on his glands or his heredity, neither of which he can control.

Strength For Today

UNSEEN BLESSINGS

There was a story while the First World War was in progress of a guy in the trenches who said to his buddy, "If you know of a better hole, go to it." To be living in a free country in the midst of the twentieth century is the greatest privilege that has ever come to a generation of human beings. To hear some people talk, however, one would think that this is the worst age humanity has ever confronted. It is nothing of the sort. Our problems are gigantic. Our intelligence is of such a questionable variety that we have to admit frankly that we know practically nothing. Wouldn't it be wonderful to live in a land blessed by the "advantages" of communism? No. It would be hell a million times over. If there is a better country somewhere than the one in which we live, let us take the guy who is always talking about that "beautiful country," send him there at public expense and tell him never to come back. If he wants the "heaven" of collective ownership, let him have it. We will manage to stumble along under free enterprise and with a joyful lot of people who believe that the country in which we live is the best ever. Problems? Mistakes? Stupidity? Lots of it. Let us see if we can't send them more patients, but look out that we don't become one of the patients ourselves and find ourselves being fitted for a strait jacket.

Man was made in the image and after the likeness of God. Let him live up to his heritage. These are times when we need to shout "Hallelujah." Even the problems we have to solve and the burdens we have to bear are blessings — if we make them so.

By Earl L. Douglass

By ELMER ROESSNER

If God hadn't made Ralph Nader, it might have been necessary to invent him. This paraphrase of Voltaire may be deduced from a striking article by economic Lewis Mandell in the University of Michigan Business Review.

America, he declares, is in the midst of a nonviolent revolution that is being exported abroad and is radically changing the economic, political and social institutions of the world.

It is the consumer revolution.

The economist did not name Nader as the Lenin of the new revolution. Rather, he argued, it is a spontaneous revolt resulting from the fact that the consumer has more income than he needs for immediate necessities. He attributes the power of the revolution to the consumer's increasing income and the relative stability of the cost of the so-called bare necessities, a condition that leaves the consumer with a huge surplus to be used on what economists call "discretionary expenditures." "...Among such discretionary expenditures are purchases of televisions, washing machines and boats, as well as expenditures for vacations and additions to the house.

"The pervasiveness and magnitude of these discretionary expenditures are overwhelming. In 1970, according to data collected by the University of Michigan Survey of Consumer Finances, nearly three-quarters of all American families reported making expenditures on cars, household durables, and additions and repairs to housing with a mean outlay of more than $1,300. And of those who made no such discretionary purchase, a large proportion were unable — but not necessarily unwilling — to do so.

This trend, Mandell went on, has given consumers power to dictate to manufacturers and to the government itself. It has been largely unchallenged by the disaffected young, the hippies and even the academic community.

"The intellectual disdains the collar television set," Mandell continues, "but spends several thousand dollars on his stereo equipment. Even (noted economist John Kenneth) Galbraith, who calls this age a period of private splendor and public squalor, has his chalet in Switzerland.

"The size of this discretionary power is so great that our economy has come to depend on it. Yet a great threat is also presented by this discretionary purchasing power. Being discretionary, it need not be spent at any particular time which means that consumers collectively have great power over the economy. If they are happy and keep spending, all is well. Yet if something upsets them and they hold off making their discretionary purchases, the economy is in trouble."

A corollary might be: If people are unhappy about war, politics or crime, they can force government action for change, just as they can force the government to recall defective autos.

Short & Significant Business News Items

The Labor Department has decided the level of poverty is $215 higher than a year ago; a nonfarm family of two is poor if it doesn't make $2,600 a year; of four, if it doesn't make $4,000.

An AAA survey shows families tend to return to places where they spent previous vacations.

Wage increases in major collective bargaining settlements last year averaged 8.1 per cent over the life of the contract, the Bureau of Labor Statistics calculates.

(Continued From Page 4) Illinois, Michigan and New Jersey—and still lose the election. Even more impressive from the Republican viewpoint is the fact that the polling results cited in South Carolina and elsewhere were based on interviews taken before Mr. Nixon conferred with anti-busing advocates in the White House last week and pledged to demand action from Congress that will further heighten the President's towering Southern stature.

No wonder, then, the Muskie political managers are reduced to recruiting Southern Senatorial candidates in an attempt to slow down Mr. Nixon's Southern juggernaut. That also explains why some Muskie lieutenants want Gov. Reubin Askew of Florida for Vice President, giving Muskie a fighting chance for Florida's 17 electoral votes. Askew, however, seems a harbinger of a brighter Democratic future rather than present. He and the other new centrist Democrats—Dale Bumpers of Arkansas, Jimmy Carter of Georgia and John West of South Carolina—may help elect a Democratic President in the years ahead. It is hard to see how they can help very much this year.

World Day Of Prayer Services Scheduled March 3

Friday, March 3, is World Day of Prayer and an East Carolina University vice president, a local minister and 10 church women will have leading roles on the morning worship program at 10:30 o'clock in downtown Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church. Merchants and citizens are asked to attend.

The special day for people of every denomination is sponsored by Church Women United here and is "designed to help make the purpose of World Day of prayer more meaningful in Greenville," said Mrs. Charles R. Ross, program chairman.

Maj. Gen. John Albert Lang Jr., vice president of External Affairs at East Carolina University, will speak on the "Affirmation of Joy" at the morning service. He will be introduced by Mrs. J. William Byrd.

Friday evening, March 3, at 8 o'clock, the Rev. W. B. Moore, pastor of the Cornerstone Baptist Church, will speak also on the "Affirmation of Joy" at the Mt. Calvary Free Will Baptist Church here. Music will be furnished by the Crusaders.

Ten church women and one minister on the morning program at Jarvis Memorial will include Mrs. J. Herbert Waldrop Jr., soloist; Mrs. Paul Toll, organist; Mrs. Winton Hill, program leader; Mrs. George Fuller, Mrs. Curtis Howell, Mrs. Walter Woodward, Mrs. W. M. Myers, and Mrs. Bancroft Moseley, readers; the Rev. Troy Barrett, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, who will give the closing prayer of dedication; and Mrs. Boley Farley, who will pronounce the benediction.

Other committee members making preparations for World Day of Prayer in addition to Mrs. Ross are Mrs. Charles H. Moore, Mrs. Leroy Cherry, program chairmen for the morning service; Mrs. Linwood Woodward and Mrs. W. M. Myers, program chairmen for the evening service; and Mrs. Charles Kavanaugh and Mrs. Byrd, publicity.

World Day of Prayer can be described as the most important ecumenical occasion during the year. The goal of Church Women United is to form a visible fellowship of believers in Christ, and move in every community and nation as instruments of reconciling love.

The offerings on this day will benefit women and children in need of education and better nutrition, minority women in new careers, 13 women's colleges in Asia and the Near East, international students, American Indians and Spanish-speaking people, migrants, refugees, people on vacation in National Parks, future church leaders interested in ecology, and women leaders in Africa and Latin America.

The material for this service was compiled by Gudrum Diestel of Germany, chairman of the International Committee. Women from at least ten eastern and western European countries contributed material. The service is adapted by the national committees to fit the individual needs of each country.

An 'Imbalance' In Conference

The launch of Apollo 16 in April will be the subject of special cancelled envelopes that will be available to collectors desiring one of the philatelic mementoes of the event.

In order for collectors to make certain they have their requests in on time, covers must be received before March 25 in Norfolk or San Francisco.

The method of sending envelopes is as follows: Send no more than two envelopes per person to either or both of the two area coordinators. For the Atlantic area, the address is: Apollo 16 Covers, Task Force 140, Naval Air Station, Norfolk, Virginia 23511. For the Pacific area, the address is Chief-in-Charge (Apollo16), Task Force 130, Navy Terminal Post Office, Fleet Post Office, San Francisco, 96610.

Envelopes should be standard-sized three and five-eighths by six and one half inches, and space should be left for a three inch square area on the left of the envelope for the special cachet.

Each envelope must be self-addressed and already stamped with an eight cents or eleven cents stamp. The sender's address should be in the lower right corner.

For Apollo 16, there will be no indication of an Atlantic recovery ship, since the Atlantic Recovery Force composition will not include a ship with postal facilities.

Other committee members making preparations for World Day of Prayer in addition to Mrs. Ross are Mrs. Charles H. Moore, Mrs. Leroy Cherry, program chairmen for the morning service; Mrs. Linwood Woodward and Mrs. W. M. Myers, program chairmen for the evening service; and Mrs. Charles Kavanaugh and Mrs. Byrd, publicity.

World Day of Prayer can be described as the most important

Advance registration for a conference on stream channelization here next week is "excellent" but official spokesmen feel that thus far it is unbalanced.

"It has been surprising to us to watch the applications come in," says T. W. Willis, Director of the East Carolina University Regional Development Institute.

"We thought that both the farmers and the environmentalists would lead the field in applying. However, so far, this has not been the case. "It appears as of now that private engineers and government employees make up the bulk of the applicants," Willis said.

As now planned, the conference will offer a forum for discussion and debate of all issues involved in the controversy over stream channelization projects and practices. The issue has been brought lately by legal action against further channelization of Chicod Creek in Pitt and Beaufort Counties. The court decision is pending.

Willis further stated, "we do hope that more farmers and environmentalists will apply (for registration) in order that all sides can at least hear the other side of the position."

"This is the purpose of the conference."

The conference is being co-sponsored by the ECU Regional Development Institute, the Greenville-Pitt County League of Women Voters, the Pitt County Soil and Water Conservation District and the National Wildlife Federation.

Willis emphasized that advance registration is necessary for the daylong program, including luncheon, and that registration should be made through the ECU Regional Development Institute, P. O. Box 2703, Greenville, Telephone 758-6650.

If Disturbed, Avoid Driving

CHICAGO (UPI)—When very angry, depressed or anxious, one should think twice about driving a car, says the National Safety Council.

Instead of driving, try a long walk to work off such feelings. If you must drive, be aware of your vulnerable condition and make every effort to keep your emotions under control.

Suicide Plane Attempt Fails

GASTONIA, N. C. (AP) — A construction worker armed with a rifle commandeered two light planes Tuesday evening, police said, and crashed them, one after another, while trying to take off.

The man, who apparently had no flying knowledge, was disarmed after the second try by a detective who was at the Gastonia Airport for a flying lesson.

Authorities said Roger Dale Wensil, 29, said he intended to kill himself by flying a plane into the ground at his home town of Indian Trail, about 30 miles away.

Wensil, 6-4 and 250 pounds, was charged with armed robbery and held in lieu of $25,000 bond.

Detective L. W. Cartrett of the Gaston County police said he shot at Wensil as he was crawling from the wreckage of the second plane. Cartrett said the man had turned towards him holding the rifle.

Wensil dropped the gun after two shots were fired, police said. He was not injured.

Airport manager Dick Caldwell said Wensil came to the airport about 6 p.m., and demanded a plane, and fired a shot into a wall as a threat.

Wensil boarded a single engine Cessna and Caldwell started the engine. He said the aircraft taxied across a road, narrowly missing a car, rose several feet and crashed upside down in a field.

A careful of bystanders rushed to the rescue, but Wensil forced them to take him back to the runway.

On his second try, Wensil failed to make it off the ground, and crashed the aircraft into another plane parked on the strip. It was then that the detective got Wensil to drop his weapon.

The second plane Wensil seized was a Cessna 172 nicknamed "Cuban Queen." It has been hijacked to Cuba several years ago by a young couple who had hired the pilot for a pleasure flight.

Authorities said damages to the three planes were estimated at $13,000.

Large rubies of superior quality are among the most valuable of gems, exceeding even diamonds in price.

One Day In Experience Of A 'New China Hand'

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Special Correspondent
PEKING A(P) — One day in the life of a New China Hand: Well, what do you know, it's dawn and already the people of the People's Republic of China are on the rooftops and in the streets doing calisthenics. The 6 a.m. news in Chinese mentions the names President Nixon and Premier Chou En-lai several times in a 15-minute broadcast that is immediately followed by an exercise program done by the numbers to revolutionary martial music.

Peking is up and doing by the time President Nixon leaves the government guest house for his morning meeting with the Chinese premier at the Great Hall of the People. The women sweeping the streets with their long brooms scarcely notice the U.S. President behind the dark drawn curtains of his red flag limousine, a massive black vehicle that looks like the love child of an aging Rolls-Royce and 1959 Buick Special.

In a country of 800 million you wonder where everybody

Wreck Injures Car Passenger

Evelyn Green Hopkins of 1913 Norcott Cir. was charged with failing to yield the right of way yesterday following investigation of a 1:35 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Fourth and Tyson Streets.

Police reported the Hopkins auto collided with a vehicle driven by Joyce Faye Williams, 18, of 405 Darden Dr., causing an estimated $400 damage to the Williams auto and about $600 damage to the Hopkins car.

Officers reported a passenger in the Williams car was injured in the collision.

is. The Chinese capital that Marco Polo seven centuries ago called the greatest city, in the world lacks the teeming life of a modern Asian metropolis. Traffic along the broad boulevards is a whisper of bicycles and trolley buses and a few horn-honking Shanghai-brand green sedans, which look like Checker cabs.

Peking is a city where you seldom see a television antenna, a flock of sparrows, a girl wearing make-up or a dress. Juke boxes are nonexistent, and pianos almost as rare since party Chairman Mao Tse-tung remoulded the musical scene and decided: "In our world the piano is not required."

Pig tails and top knots went out of style long ago. Girls wear their hair braided in two long locks or cut short in a non-nonsense mannish coiffure, and everywhere, even at the ballet, they effect the unisex boiler suit popularized by the chairman. Sparrows bit the dust several years ago by the millions when the whole society was organized against vermin and pests. People spent days on rooftops and trees beating drums and screaming them into constant frightened flight until they dropped from exhaustion, only to have hordes of destructive caterpillars thrive in the absence of their natural enemy.

Aside from the tiled roof palaces of the Forbidden City and what's left of the old city wall, Peking is a drab city of massive neo-Stalinist office buildings and depressing factories, communes and apartment complexes. In levelling away luxury and upgrading the city's poverty to just about subsistence level, the Communist reformers in two decades have come up with an architectural style best described as institutional grim.

"Why does socialism have to be so drab?" asks a pretty White House secretary. "You should have been here before the revolution," an old China hand advises her, "when the morgue truck made its rounds picking up the bodies of beggars who had died in the streets during the night."

Chairman Mao's poems and portraits are everywhere in billboard size, but James Reston of the New York Times might have trouble recognizing the city where he left his appendix last summer. The Anti-Imperialist Hospital where he made like a porcupine for the acupuncture anesthetists has been renamed the Capital Hospital and a lot of the old anti-imperialist running dog invective has been removed for the Nixon visit.

Off the main drags, out of view of the Nixon motorcades, some of the more vituperative signs have been only lightly white washed over. The Chinese press guides and interpreters, however, go suddenly myopic when asked to translate the characters showing through, just as they pull up lame and halt at the language barrier when asked an embarassing question, such as what ever became of Lin Piao, once groomed as Mao's successor but missing from the Politburo since last June.

Arab Hijackers Release Hostages On Jumbo Jet

ADEN, South Yemen (AP) — "It wasn't the worst moment of my life," said young Joe Kennedy after his release by Arab plane hijackers Tuesday, "I've been scared before, but it never lasted as long."

For 18 hours Kennedy, the eldest son of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, and 117 other male passengers were held aboard a commandeered German jumbo jet parked on a runway at sweltering Aden airport. Five Palestinian hijackers had rigged the plane with explosives before it landed.

Women and children and one elderly man were released hours before the male passengers, and those who didn't wait for their husbands were flown to Beirut to be picked up there today by a flight to Frankfurt.

Lufthansa, the West German airline, sent another 707 jet to Aden to pick up the rest of the passengers. It was due in Frankfurt tonight.

But the 16 crew members remained hostages aboard the plane. The hijackers' demands were not made public, but British Ambassador Arthur Kellas said there were indications they want Arabs held in West Germany released.

Rawl Appointed Safety Award Area Chairman To Ayden Plant

RALEIGH — Edwin E. Rawl, Jr., President, Ed E. Rawl and Associates, Greenville, was named Area Vice Chairman for the American Cancer Society's Annual Crusade today by H. A. (Bones) McKinney, State Crusade Chairman. Rawl accepted the position because of his "deep concern for the urgent need to control cancer and the necessity to help win the battle through widespread public education."

"Our theme is 'We Want to Wipe Out Cancer in Your Lifetime' ", declared Rawl, "and I dedicate my service to help win the war against cancer. Great advances have been made in recent years with new drugs and more advanced methods of surgery and radiation."

"Every dollar that is given to the American Cancer Society helps support vital programs of public education, research and patient services", expressed McKinney during the Mid-Winter Conference at the Sir

In recognition of their outstanding safety record, employees at the Ayden plant of FMC Corporation's Niagara Chemical Division have received the corporate-wide FMC President's Award.

The plant, which is managed by Billy E. Gray earned the recognition for successfully completing 1,100 days since January 1, 1969 without a disabling injury.

The award was made by Robert H. Malott, President of Walter Hotel in Raleigh to approximately 300 North Carolina volunteers.

In presenting Rawl, Mr. McKinney stated his area will include the following counties: Beaufort, Craven, Dare, Greene, Hyde, Johnston, Lenoir, Pamlico, Pitt, Tyrrell, Washington, Wayne and Wilson.

FMC Corporation. In an accompanying letter to Ayden employees, Niagara Division Manager Edward K. Hertel stated, "Your having worked over three years without a disabling injury is the result of your careful attention to the many factors that go to make up an effective safety program. This is a superb example of what can be done when an organization works together to accomplish a goal."

The Ayden plant is one of ten Niagara locations throughout the United States and Canada to receive the President's Award. Having earned the President's Award the plant is now eligible to compete for the FMC Board of Directors Award. This, the company's highest safety award is presented for successfully completing 2100 injury-free days from January 1, 1969.

Primary Has Few Entries

RALEIGH (AP) — Spokesmen say Sen. Edmund Muskie, Alabama Gov. George Wallace and Rep. Shirley Chisholm of New York plan to enter North Carolina's presidential primary.

Spokesmen also indicated there is a possibility that two challengers of President Nixon — U.S. Reps. John Ashbrook of Ohio and Pete McCloskey of California, might run in a Republican ballot.

A survey of the candidates showed Tuesday U.S. Rep. Wilbur Mills of Arkansas is unlikely to run in North Carolina.

It also showed that Sen. Hubert Humphrey and George McGovern have no intention of entering the North Carolina campaign as long as Duke University President Terry Sanford is a candidate.

Three others, Mayor John Lindsay of New York and former Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota have no plans to enter the North Carolina primary.

The 13 candidates were designated Monday as nationally recognized by the state Board of Elections. They have until March 7 to decide whether to pay a $1,000 fee to get on the ballot in North Carolina.

Girl Lost Legs In School Bus Mishap

SCOTLAND NECK — A Scotland Neck girl has had both legs amputated at the knee at Pitt Memorial after injuries sustained when a school bus pinned her against a service station wall Friday afternoon.

Miss Betsy Purvis, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Purvis of RFD, Scotland Neck was hit by a bus which had its brakes fail just as the driver, identified as Peter Gregory, pulled into the service station lot.

Witnesses at Coleman's Gulf Station here said Miss Purvis, a driver of an Enfield Academy bus, had left her bus for refueling and had walked to a vending machine. Gregory, also driving an Enfield Academy bus, pulled into the lot and found he could not brake. He told Scotland Neck Police he swerved to avoid hitting a jeep with passengers, cleared some gas tanks, missed Miss Purvis's bus, and then saw her only the instant before impact.

Besides the injured legs, Miss Purvis sustained a broken hip and pelvis.

Investigation showed that a rear wheel brake cylinder on the bus had failed. There was a pool of brake fluid where the bus came to rest, police said.

The accident was declared unavoidable and no charges were filed.

Last night was his turn to be catered to.

Some 365 persons attended the party honoring Nelson Hopkins on his 80th birthday. They included doctors, lawyers, state legislators, county officials and just plain average people.

Before the supper started, they came in continuous streams to wish Hopkins, better known to everyone as "Nep", well. And friend Nep called them by name.

And there was always a flattering comment for the ladies. Sitting there, with well-wishers coming by, Nep, who caters for parties said "my specialty is cheese biscuits." He has catered many a country-style meal over the past years to both big and small gatherings.

Those coming by remembered. They talked of his cheese biscuits.

"Everybody wants a good decent country style meal," Nep said. "That's what I try to give'em."

His biggest catering job? "George Cherry's parties...he'd have six or seven hundred at the party. (Cherry who died several years ago was a Pitt County Democrat who each year on his birthday would invite hundreds of people to his Pactivol house for supper and fellowship.)

"Sen. Jordan has eaten with me a many a time," Nep said. And there was a telegram from Pitt County Coroner and acting Medical Examiner E. W. Harvey said today that Norman Wilkerson of Greenville has been appointed assistant county medical examiner.

The appointment, according to Harvey, was made by the state's chief medical examiner Dr. Chieff Hudson and was effective February 1.

Dr. Hudson named Harvey as acting Medical Examiner for the county January 1 because no medical doctor in the county would accept the position.

As assistant to the acting medical examiner, Wilkerson will be responsible for investigating deaths in the county when Harvey is not able to do so.

the senator on the table in front of the Nep expressing his regret at not being able to make the party.

"I'm still interested in catering," Nep emphasized. "I've got a party Friday night." Dr. Charles Pace, who sponsored the party along with Ed Rawl, Dr. Herbert Hadley and Guy Evans, said Nep "has greatness of soul."

He continued, "I don't call Nelson Hopkins great because he has attained success, but because of greatness of soul. He has charm, and an undeviating since of loyalty and service to friends.

"We want to thank you for being our friend."

Nep, who is an honorary member of the Pitt County Bar Association, thanked the people for coming, and said, "The first 40 years I worked hard. The second 40 I took it slow. The third 40 I'm going to start on now."

Friends presented him with a big chair. And he plopped down into it and propped his feet up on the matching stool.

And he got a large silver bowl and engraved plaque.

The plaque read: "Nelson Hopkins, Humorist, Good Companion, Philosopher, Loyal Friend, Patriotic Citizen, Gentleman of Good Manner, Hater of Hypocrites, Philanthropist, Owner of that Jewel-Consistency, His motto is Integrity, 'Let me live in a house by the side of the road and be a friend to man. Colonials Stop Bucs; Rose Falls

Come Back Here, Ball

Rose High School's Lonnie Payton (in dark uniform) lunges after the ball as he rolls away from him and other players in action last night. Others include Rocky Mount's Roscoe Batts, FORT MEYER, Va. — Since yesterday was George Washington's Birthday, the East Carolina Pirates had second thoughts and decided to leave a gift.

The Bucs traveled to the edge of the nation's capital to meet the Colonials of George Washington University, but they may have thought they were meeting the General himself. At any rate, midway through the second half, the Bucs were cruising along with a seven-point lead. But by the time the game had ended, they had celebrated Washington's birthday by giving George an 84-74 victory.

Most of the victory margin came in the final minute of play, when the Colonials went from a tie to a 12-point spread that was cut to 10 only with a Pirate score with two seconds left.

The loss closed out any hopes the Pirates might have had for a winning season during the regular year. They now stand 11-13 for the year with one game left, a Saturday encounter with N.C. State in Raleigh. That means the Bucs will suffer their first losing season in three years, but it also brings nearer to an end one of the most grueling schedules the Pirates have ever had to face. Of their 25 games, 15 were on the road.

Oddly enough, in the past seven years, the Pirates have won only three non-conference road games, against Florida A&M two years ago, and against Connecticut and Southern Mississippi this year.

The shooting percentages in the game were nearly even from the floor and only two points separated the two teams in field goals. George Washington hit 34 field goals and made 49.3 per cent of their shots. The Pirates, hitting on 48.5 per cent, made 33, one less.

But the foul line made the big difference in scoring. The Bucs hit on eight of 16, while the Colonials made 16 of 20, enough to give them the victory.

And although the Colonials did come on strong late in the game on the boards, the Pirates held the advantage overall, 46-38. Jim Fairley again led the rebounding with 12, while Al Faber had 11.

Turnovers were also a big factor. The Pirates had 22 in the game as compared to 10 for the Colonials. Thirteen of those for the Bucs came in the second half, and most of those were in the final 10 minutes when GW was erasing the Pirate lead.

The game was fairly even throughout most of the first half. Ron Ninn put on the scoreboard with a 15-footer, but Dave Franklin tied it up and went on to provide most of the Pirate punch in the first half, as he played his best game of the season.

By the time the half was over, Franklin had dumped in a total of 17 points.

Slowly, the Pirates pulled ahead of the Colonials, and built up a 14-8 lead with 13:07 left in the half. But the Colonials rallied, and with 10:29 to go, tied it at 18-18. East Carolina then pulled away again, building up a 34-27 lead as Faber hit with 5:36 left.

But the Colonials refused to play dead, coming back again. Robbie Spagnolo cut the lead to 36-35 with a shot with 3:26 left, but again the Bucs eased out. Earl Quash hit a jumper with a minute left to make it 41-39, but a free throw by Mike Battle cut it to 41-40. Quash then got another 20-footer with five seconds left to provide the Pirates with a 43-40 lead at the half.

Maurice Johnson opened the second half by cutting it to 43-42, but East Carolina inched away after that, moving out to a 55-47 lead as Franklin hit with 16:45 to go. A minute later, the Bucs held a 56-49 lead, but the Colonials began to whittle away at it from there on in. They finally caught up at 72-72 with 2:25 left in the game as Johnson hit.

Turnovers then caused the Pirates to be outscored 14-2, in the final two minutes, and that was the game. Lennie Baltimore hit a jumper to put the Colonials ahead, 74-72 with 1:25 left, and Nunn came back with a basket. With 59 seconds to go, he hit two free throws to give the Colonials a six-point edge, and they added baskets by Spagnolo and Johnson, and free throws by Johnson and Nunn to wrap it up, 84-72. Franklin hit with two seconds left to make the final 10-point spread.

Franklin finished the evening with 29 points, while Fairley had 12, Quash had 11 and Faber had 10.

For the Colonials, Battle finished with 27, with Johnson adding 16 and Spagnolo hitting 15.

The Bucs close out the regular season in Raleigh against State on Saturday, then go into the Southern Conference Tournament in Greenville, S.C., the following Thursday.

Big Orange In Duplin Romp

DUDLEY — The North Pitt Pant-HERS opened play in the District II Girls Tournament at Southern Wayne High School last night, and let everyone know that they were to be the team to beat. They completely humbled North Duplin, 47-10, to roll into the semi-finals.

Their opponent in the next round of the tournament will be the host team, Southern Wayne, which the Big Orange Machine has already gobbled up three times this year. Southern defeated East Duplin to gain the semi-finals.

Tonight, D. H. Conley faces Roseboro-Salemberg at 7 p.m., with South Lenoir and Ayden-Grifton tangling at 8:30. The winners will meet Thursday at 8:30 p.m., with North Pitt and Southern Wayne meeting at 7 p.m.

North Pitt inched out into the lead in the first period, 10-4, and had the game well under control after that. During the second frame, they outthit North Duplin, 8-6, and held an 18-10 lead at the half.

And in the second half, the North Pitt defense became awesome. North Duplin was unable to score a single point in the entire half, as the Pant-HERS rolled steadily along. They outscored Duplin, 16-0 in the third frame, running up to a 34-10 lead, then did it again, 13-0, in the final period, to complete the rout.

Joy James led the North Pitt scoring with 11 points, while Phyllis Jenkins added 10 more.

Jamesville Nips Manteo By 70-68

PLYMOUTH — A short jumper by Larry Modlin with seven seconds left propelled Jamesville into the District One, Class A semi-finals with a 70-68 victory over Manteo last night.

Jamesville will now meet unbeaten Belhaven, which crushed Chowan, 78-58, in the other Tuesday night game. The two meet at 7 p.m. on Thursday. Tonight, Creswell and Mat-tamuskeet meet at 7 p.m., followed by the Oak City-Aurora clash, set for 8:30 p.m. The two winners meet Thursday at 8:30 p.m.

Jamesville had to battle with Manteo throughout the evening to pull out the victory. Manteo had taken a slim two-point lead after the first period, 23-21, but began to pull away in the second period. They outscored the Bullets, 17-13, and held a 40-34 advantage at halftime.

In the third period, Manteo continued to hold control of the game, outthitting Jamesville, 20-19. That left them ahead, 60-53. But in the final period, the Manteo offense ran out of gas, and they could only manage eight points. Jamesville meanwhile came back and finally tied it up and took the lead.

Manteo got it back, but two free throws by Tommy Mizelle tied it at 68-68. Then, with 1:24 left, Robert James stole the ball for the Bullets and they played for one shot. That finally came on an inside shot by Modlin with seven seconds left. It swished the net and gave Jamesville the two-point victory.

Mizelle led the Bullet scoring with 32 points, while Modlin had 14 and Alvin Grimes had 12. For Manteo, Darrell Collins had 24, Ralph Berry had 15, David Sarrow had 13 and Jesse Owens had 10.

Rocky Mount Blitzes Rampants By 106-76

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
ROCKY MOUNT — The Rocky Mount Gryphons rocked to the beat of the drumbeats echoing from the stands last night, and pounded out a 106-76 victory over the Rose High School Rampants. The loss eliminated the Rampants from the Division II Tournament, and would up their season.

For most of the first three quarters about everything Rocky Mount threw at the basket went in, and only in the late minutes of the third period did the pace begin to slow, and by then it was too late. But even then, the Rampants couldn't stop the Gryphons climb above the 100-point mark.

The Rocky Mount defenses proved to be another big factor. The Gryphons set up a stiff press against the Rampants, and it produced a number of turnovers that the Gryphons turned back into baskets for themselves.

Rose was unable to crack the press when they needed to, and they were unable to stop the fine Rocky Mount shooting, at the same time.

The Rocky Mount fans kept up a reverberation of noise throughout the evening, most coming from a set of bongos in the stands. Twice officials warned the crowd, but after only minutes, the beat had been taken up again.

Rose never led in the game, and managed to tie it only once, at 2-2. Cleveland Howard put Rocky Mount on the board first with a pair of free throws, then Lonnie Payton tied it up for the Rampants. Howard came back with two straight baskets, however, and that gave Rocky Mount a 6-2 lead. Rose got a basket on a goal-tending call, but Rocky Mount ran off five more points in a row to run out by seven. Phil Ford hit a free throw and then got a baseline jumper. Howard added another from the same spot, and with 4:03 left in the period, it was 11-4.

Rose got three straight free throws, but then, the Gryphons ran off another string, moving out by 11 near the end of the period. Dan Speight hit a pair of free throws, then hit a basket from underneath. He scored again when the press turned over the ball, making it 19-9. Rose got a free throw from J. C. Daniels, but a basket by Ford ran it out to 11, 21-20, and Rocky Mount held a 23-12 lead as the period came to an end.

If the Rampants thought they had it rough in the first frame, the worse was yet to come. In the second period, the Gryphons were even more devastating, dumping in 35 points while Rose was getting 24. That blistering pace of more than seven points per minute for the two teams was too much for the Rampants, who fell further and further behind.

Speight led off with a free throw, and then got a basket and two more from the line, making it 28-12. Rose finally hit the mark, but again Rocky Mount eased away. Ford hit to make it a 17-point lead, and baskets by Speight and Ford ran it out to 21 at 38-17 with 6:00 to go. Rose cut it back to 17, but again Rocky Mount moved away. Ford hit a basket and two free throws, and Randy Warrick hit on a hook. A baseline jumper by Ricky Bulluck connected and the Gryphons led, 48-23.

Rose, led by Payton, pulled off a small rally, cutting the lead to 16 late in the period, but they still trailed by 22 at the half, 58-36.

In the final half, it was just a question of how badly the Gryphons wanted to beat the Rampants. They pulled away to as much as a 36-point lead midway through the period, 78-42, and then the bench began to trickle in. By the end of the period, the Gryphons had again outthit the Rampants, 27-20, and held an 85-56 lead.

In the final period, it began to look as if the Gryphon bench might not hit the century mark, but Ricky Lucas finally did it with 2:42 left in the game.

Rose was paced as usual by Payton, who dumped in 28 points. Ed Johnson and Robert Kear each added 16. For Rocky Mount, Ford finished with a game-high 34, while Speight had 22, Howard had 16 and Bulluck had 14.

Rocky Mount advances to the semi-finals of the tournament, meeting Goldsboro on Thursday.

Williamston Girls Advance

EDENTON — A meeting was set up Thursday night as two unbeaten Giants captured victories in the first round of the District I Girls Tournament last night.

Williamston's unbeaten girls stretched their string to 24 in a row, as they bowled over Pantego, 50-44. In the other game, Manteo, also unbeaten, beat Gates County.

Tonight, Robersonville meets Columbia at 7 p.m. while Bath takes on Northampton at 8:30. The two winners will meet Thursday at 3:30, following the Williamston-Manteo game, set for 7.

The eventual winner of the tournament will advance to the State Tournament, to be held next week in High Point.

Williamston eased out into the lead in the first period of the game, gaining an 11-8 margin. Pantego came back in the second quarter, however, outthitting the Tigerettes, 14-10. That left the Lady Warriors ahead at the half, 22-21.

But in the third period, the Williamston five put it together, and roared away from the Warriors. The Tigerettes ran 20 points through the nets, while holding Pantego to just six. That ran the Williamston lead out to 41-28. Pantego tried for a rally in the final period, outthitting Williamston, 16-9, but it was not enough for them to catch up.

Joanie Rogerson led Williamston with 16 points, while Kathy Davenport had 13 and Mable Brown had 12. Susan Baynor led Pantego with 16, while Annette Peartree had 14.

No Difference In The Crowds

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Pittsburgh Condors have been finding it difficult to attract more than perhaps 2,000 people to their 12,939-seat home arena.

So on Tuesday night the American Basketball Association club decided to try out a new site—Tucson, Ariz.

The result? They attracted 2,000 fans.

The 1,800-mile trip wasn't entirely wasted, though, as the Condors rallied in the final minutes to beat the Dallas Chaparrals 112-105. In the only other ABA contest, Denver defeated Virginia 121-105.

When you're No. 2 you try harder—but when you're No. 6 and last in the East Division, you can't expect the fans to stampede their way to see you, especially when you're playing No. 3 in the West.

That's what the Condors faced in the game against the Chaps—but local promoters, testing out Tucson's pro basketball potential, said they weren't disheartened and added they will try to host Pittsburgh's final game of the season, March 28 against Kentucky.

The Condors were unable to seal their victory against Dallas until George Thompson scored a field goal and foul shot in the final minute. Thompson scored 32 points for Pittsburgh, while Donnie Freeman of the Chaps led everyone with 36.

The Squires trailed Denver by just 54-53 at the half before Byron Beck and rookie Marv Roberts, finishing with 21 points apiece, put together a second-half effort that made the Rockets easy winners. Charlie Scott of Virginia topped all scorers with 31 points.

The Hialeah Turf Cup, with $100,000 added at one mile and a half, will be held at Hialeah on April 8.

Ayden-Grifton Holds Off Southern Nash

By CHIP LAMBETH
Reflector Sports Writer
VANCEBORO — Southern Nash surprised the Chargers of Ayden-Grifton last night by storming back from 16 points down in the third period to pull within a point 51-50 with five seconds to go in their game, but the Chargers hung on to win by that one point as time ran out.

The A-G boys had led the whole game and near the end of the third quarter, were ahead 43-27. The Firebirds had not lost their flame yet and gnawed the lead to 51-48 with 30 seconds to play. Marcellous Thompson put the Firebirds just a free throw away, tapping in a rebound, 51-50. The clock would not wait for Southern Nash to catch up, however, and ticked off the final minutes of the Firebird's basketball season.

In the first game of the District Two 3A boys tournaments, the North Lenior Hawks pulled a win out of the fire at the last second as Joe Keys sank a basket giving them a 46-44 victory over East Carteret.

The Chargers outshot the Firebirds from the floor 21-19 but the Southern Nash got two more free throws than did A-G, 12-9. The free throw almost did it for the Firebirds.

Ayden-Grifton jumped off to a quick edge as Carlton McCarter scored form outside after the Chargers had controlled the opening tap. Thompson got the lead back for A-G but Thompson scored again to retie it. The Chargers finally took control of the game as McCarter canned a jumper putting A-G ahead to stay, 7-5.

McCarter added another basket but Donnie Andrews dumped in a pair of free shots pulling the Firebirds within two, 9-7. Garriss made a three point play and McCarter scored from the corner. Thomas Winstead and Andrews each got buckets to trail by three at the end of the quarter, 14-11.

Two quick baskets put the Chargers out by seven, 18-17, but the Firebirds cut the lead back to three on a pair of scores by Winstead, 18-15. Garriss hit two in the corner and after Andrews tapped in a rebound for Southern Nash, the Chargers went on a brief rampage, getting seven points to run out to a 12 point margin, 28-17.

A-G added five more in the remainder of the period to two free throws by the Firebirds to lead 34-19 at the half.

The Chargers continued to dominate the game through the third quarter, and moved out to their big 16 point edge with 4:22 to go in the frame. Southern Nash topped the A-G boys, however, getting 12 points to nine for the Chargers who still led at the start of the fourth quarter, 43-31.

Melvin Stewart sank a free shot to open the scoring in the period, pulling A-G out by 13, 44-31, but then the Chargers seemed to fall apart as they could not score for the next four minutes and 12 seconds and saw their lead quickly start to crumble.

First, Thompson sank a jumper from the corner and Andrews made a charity shot. Claudis Elmore stole the ball and scored on the fast break to cut the lead to eight, 44-36, with 5:56 to play. The Firebirds struck again on the fast break, this time it was Steve Bryant getting the basket. Elmore dumped in another pair of free shots narrowing the lead to four, 44-40.

The Chargers broke their cold spell when Jessie Smith scored on a drive down the lane and Garriss hit to make it 48-40. Winstead sank a jumper from the corner but Garriss got the points right back on a lay-up.

The Firebirds got a three point play Elmore and Thompson combined getting a free throw and a lay-up respectively. With 41 seconds to go in the game, Southern Nash was down by only four, 50-46.

On the inbounds play, McCarter could not find the handle and Elmore grabbed the ball as it skittered through McCarter's legs. He laid it in pulling the Firebirds with-in a bucket at 50-48 with 35 seconds to go. Elmore fouled Stewart as the Chargers tried again to get the ball in play. Stewart made the first of two shots from the stripe, but Thompson hauled down the rebound on Stewart's second shot. The Firebirds took the ball quickly down court and one their third try at the basket, Thompson tapped it in to be behind by one, 51-50. Thompson drew a foul on the play but missed the shot that might have forced the game into overtime. Again Thompson came down with the rebound and tried a shot from the corner that was not long enough. A scramble for the ball ensued and a jump ball was called. A-G controlled the tap but one of the Chargers had stepped across the line too early and instead of the game being over, Southern Nash had another shot at a win.

The ball went to Elmore who shot as the horn sounded but it was not good and Ayden-Grifton pulled off the victory.

Winstead and Elmore each had 11 to pace the Firebirds while Thompson had 10. Garriss led all the scorers with 19 points. McCarter had 14.

The Chargers may get a fourth chance to meet the boys of D. H. Conley if the Vikings win their contest with West Carteret tonight. The Hawks will advance to meet the winner of the Farmville Central-Jones Senior clash immediately following the Conley game.

Maryland Struggles To Victory Over Stubborn Richmond Cagers

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
"We can't get up for the little ones," sighed Maryland Coach Charles "Lefty" Driesell.

Fortunately, Lefty's 12th-ranked Terrapins got up after the intermission Tuesday night, outscored Richmond 10-2 in the opening four minutes of the second half and rolled to a 76-61 victory over the Spiders.

But collegiate basketball's biggest news of the day occurred not on the court but in one—in Minneapolis' U.S. District Court, to be precise—where Judge Earl Larson ruled that, unless the Big Ten Conference upholds the suspensions of Corky Taylor and Ron Behagen, the two Minnesota basketball players will be reinstated on the team.

The players were suspended by Minnesota and the Big Ten for their part in a brawl-marred game Jan. 25 between the Gophers and Ohio State.

Minnesota lifted the suspension three games later but the Big Ten maintained it and will conduct a hearing Thursday to decide the players' future.

"I hope we can get a fair hearing and get a chance to play again," said Behagen, who, along with Taylor, re-joined the Gophers Tuesday in practice for Saturday's key conference clash with Michigan. "Corky and I have been hurt," Behagen said, "but the team has been hurt more."

Richmond led 38-33 at the half before the host Terps, en route to their 19th victory in 22 games, went on their 10-2 tear, sparked by sophomore Tom McMillen, who scored 19 of his game-high 25 points in the second half.

Roger Hatcher scored 19 to lead the Spiders, 6-16.

In Tuesday night's other major action, Wisconsin rallied to whip Purdue 66-60 and Indiana raced away from Illinois 90-71 in Big Ten play; Southern Methodist ripped Texas Tech 87-73 and Texas A&M outlasted Baylor 101-95 in overtime in Southwest Conference play, and in a slowdown affair, Virginia Military edged William & Mary 37-35 in overtime.

Wisconsin blew a five-point halftime lead before Leon Howard, the Badgers' leading scorer with 16 points, sank two crucial field goals and a pair of free throws in the closing minutes to cool off the Boilermakers.

Indiana, with Jobie Wright scoring 26 points and John Ritter 23, posted its fifth straight Big Ten triumph, putting away Illinois in the opening minutes by streaking to a 21-9 lead.

SMU's Ruben Triplett led all scorers with 28 points, 14 of them at the free throw line, where the Mustangs hit 33 of 45 attempts to trip Tech.

Texas A&M, remaining in a tie atop the SWC with SMU, stalled its way to victory in the overtime against Baylor with Jeff Overhouse topping the Aggies with 22 points.

And VMI's Keydets, winning for the first time in 11 Southern Conference games, beat the Indians on a field goal with 1:28 to play by Bob Frank, the game's leading scorer with 12 points.

In other games, Texas topped Arkansas 92-86 in overtime on Harry Larrabee's six free throws in a 39-second span; Texas Christian outscored Rice 12-0 in the closing minutes for a 75-68 victory; Wichita State employed a torrid second-half fast break to run over Drake 95-71; Holy Cross withstood a second-half rally to beat St. John's, N.Y. 76-73, and a 16-point second-half scoring burst powered George Washington past East Carolina 84-74.

Presbyterian, Piney Grove and Oakmont advanced into the winners bracket in the Church Basketball Tournament last night. Presbyterian downed St. Paul's, 70-55, while Piney Grove beat Black Jack, 50-49. Oakmont downed St. James, 84-54. The losers fall into the losers bracket of the double elimination tournament.

Thursday night, play resumes with Immanuel meeting Trinity, Presbyterian taking on Piney Grove, and St. Paul's meeting Black Jack.

In the opening game, Presbyterian moved away early in the game and built up a 34-20 lead by the end of the first half. They then outthit St. Paul's, 36-35 in the second half to take the victory.

Mike Gwynn led Presbyterian with 20 points, while Larry Graham had 14. For St. Paul's, Dave Bumgarner had 20 and Jack Wall had 18.

In the second contest, Piney Grove moved out to a 28-23 lead in the first period, then had to hang on for dear life in the second. Black Jack outthit them, 26-22, but it fell just one point short.

Jim Mills led Piney Grove with 11 points, while Wayne Avery and Tommy Meeks each had 10. Black Jack was paced by Tal Adams with 14, while Steve Peele had 10.

Rounding out the evening, Oakmont slipped in front of St. James, 38-32 at the end of the first half. Then, in the second half, they outthit the Methodists, 46-32, to win going away.

Doyle Daughtry led Oakmont with 20, while Bobby Hall had 19, Don Parrott had 14 and Bobby Tunstall had 11. For St. James, Guy Howell and R. T. Harry each had 12, while J. J. Harris and Dave Wilcox got 11 each.

Motta Enjoys Beating 76'ers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Dick Motta, coach of the National Basketball Association's Chicago Bulls, takes great pleasure in the kind of shellacking his team handed Philadelphia Tuesday night when they wrecked the 76ers 119-88.

He figures everytime the Bulls beat the 76ers, it makes them a little more even for some of the things Philadelphia used to do to his club.

"I'd rather beat Philadelphia than any other team in the league," said Motta. "I remember when they used to beat us by 35 and 40 points and Jack Ramsay (Philadelphia's coach) used to get great delight from it."

Elsewhere in the NBA Tuesday, Boston downed Phoenix 114-103, New York took Portland 122-105, Buffalo edged Baltimore 99-98, Detroit squeezed by Los Angeles 135-134 in overtime and Golden State topped Seattle 120-104.

The Bulls raced to a 20-7 lead and coasted past Philadelphia with Bob Love tossing in 34 points to lead the attack. Motta stayed with his regulars and the lead bulged to 38 points before he went to his reserves.

"I didn't take my regulars out because I want to get the team used to working hard and not sloughing off with a comfortable lead," Motta said.

Bob Kauffman scored the last two of his 26 points by stealing in in-bounds pass and driving in for Buffalo's winning basket against Baltimore.

The Braves trailed 93-85 with about four minutes left, then scored four straight baskets to tie it. Jack Marin's basket and a foul shot by Archie Clark restored a three-point Baltimore edge with 27 seconds to play but Kauffman hit on a rebound and then scored the winner for Buffalo.

Walt Frazier's 29 points led the Knicks past Portland with a 12-0 New York string in the final period clinching the victory. It was the seventh victory in the last eight starts for New York.

Boston snapped a four-game losing streak by whipping Phoenix. Don Nelson hit 26 points including eight-for-eight from the field in the first half when the Celts ran off an 18-3 streak to take command. Connie Hawkins led the Suns with 30.

Bob Lanier scored 31 points, including the decisive jumper with only seconds remaining, and Dave Bing pumped in 33, including his 10,000th career point, to lead the Piston's past the Lakers. Lanier's hook shot with 22 seconds to play in regulation time had sent the game into the extra session. Jerry West of the Lakers led all scorers with 37 points.

Seattle cut a 15-point Golden State lead to one at 66-65 in the third quarter before Cazzie Russell, finishing with 26 points, woke up the Warriors for the victory. Len Wilkens of the SuperSonics equalled Russell's output.

ABA Orders Draft Delayed

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP) — Commissioner Jack Dolph has postponed the American Basketball Association draft a week to enable the Carolina Cougars to assess their situation in the light of Jim McDaniels' jumping to the Seattle SuperSonics of the National Basketball Association.

The ABA draft, by conference telephone, now is set for Thursday, March 2.

Carl Scheer, Cougar president and general manager who asked the postponement, said,

"There's no real rush to draft now because the NBA does not plan to draft until April. The commissioner made the decision, but the rest of the clubs were generally in agreement."

With McDaniels gone, the Cougars' draft plans have changed priorities. Scheer and Coach Tom Meschery both feel the team needs to go for a big center.

The Cougars could wind up with the No. 1 pick because the Feb. 20 standings will be the basis for the drafting order.

State-Duke May Be A Preview

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
North Carolina State is at Duke tonight in a game that may be a preview of their match in next month's Atlantic Coast Conference basketball tournament.

The Duke Blue Devils will be seeking revenge for their worst defeat of the season, 85-58, to the State Wolfpack in Raleigh on Jan. 12.

The No. 4 and No. 5 teams in the league will meet in the tournament's first round March 9 at the Greensboro, N.C. Coliseum.

Duke now is fourth on a 4-4 league mark, and is 11-9 in all games.

N. C. State is fifth at 4-5 and 13-8.

In other games tonight for ACC teams, North Carolina, fifth-ranked nationally on an 18-3 record, is home to a Georgia Tech team it walloped 118-73 in Charlotte 10 days ago, and Virginia, ranked No. 13 on a 19-3 mark, is home to Pittsburgh.

That will set the stage for Saturday's Virginia at North Carolina game for first place in the ACC. Virginia now leads at 8-2 and North Carolina is next at 7-2.

Maryland, third in the league at 6-3 and No. 12 nationally at 19-3, was the only ACC team to play Tuesday night, overcoming a five-point halftime deficit and defeating Richmond at home, 76-61.

The Terps outscored the Richmond Spiders 10-2 in the first four minutes of the second half. That enabled them to take the lead for good at 39-38 following a three-point play by Tom McMillen.

Sophomore McMillen hit 19 of his game-high 25 points in the second half, and was successful on his last seven field goal attempts.

Richmond has won 6 and lost 16.

After tonight's games, ACC teams will be idle until Saturday when, in addition to Virginia at North Carolina, Maryland will be at Duke, Wake Forest at Clemson and East Carolina at N.C. State.

Name February Music Month

February has been proclaimed as "American Music Month in North Carolina" by Governor Robert W. Scott.

Noting that "Music, often described as the universal language, is one of the great arts and its value is recognized as a source of enrichment for our lives," the Governor added "It is fitting we encourage and support worthy U.S. composers and give due recognition to America's music traditions by urging greater participation in music through performance and involved enjoyment."

The Parade of American Music, a program to support U.S. composers, provides extensive hearings for their work, and encourage their use by performing artists and students. The program was inaugurated in 1955.

Since then the organization has continued with ever-growing success under sponsorship of the National Federation of Music Clubs, as it seeks to widen public appreciation and knowledge of American repertory and musical tradition.

In preparation for National Music Week, to be observed this year from May 7-14, a theme "Music Creates New Horizons" has been chosen. President Nixon has already proclaimed the week, and reminds all Americans "of the tremendously important role of music in our lives and in the life of our country."

As part of the national program, there will again be a National Music Week Essay Contest for students in grades nine through twelve. Essays of 500 words or less on the theme "Music Creates New Horizons" are now being accepted and should be sent to NFMHC Hqs., Suite 1215, 600 South Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Illinois 60605. Entries must be received no later than March 1 and must be accompanied by entry forms that are available from the headquarters.

From entries received, the best essay from each state will be selected, and 14 district winners will also be named. District winners will receive a cash award of $25 and a record album, with an award of merit being presented to each district winner's school.

Another phase of the music observances is the 10th annual awards program for the performance and promotion of American music. In this field, awards will be made to educational institutions in the U.S. and territories in two categories—privately supported college, university or school of music; and state or municipal college or university.

The American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers are making available six $500 awards for the possible six winning institutions in the two categories.

For information on this competition, interested schools or universities must submit an entry form, no later than June 20, 1972. Forms and information can be obtained from the same address listed for the student compositions.

TV Tour Of Plant Slated

Burroughs Wellcome Co.'s manufacturing plant at Greenville, will be the subject of a 30 minute TV documentary to be presented on Saturday, at 8:30 p.m.

WNCN-TV (Channel 9) has prepared this film which consists of a plant tour guided by G. Henry Leslie, B. W. Co. Plant Manager. It will show the progress of a medicinal product from the basic chemicals to its finished form and will feature many of the Company's employees actually performing their daily activities.

Burroughs Wellcome Co. started operations in this large facility in 1970 and is one of the largest manufacturing employers in the greater Greenville area.

Burroughs Wellcome Co. manufacturers over 80 medicinal products, including analgesics, antihistamines, antihypertensives, cardiovascular drugs, muscle relaxants, and drugs useful in the treatment of diabetes, gout, leukemia, and certain forms of cancer. Its best known products are Empirin Compound and Lanoxin brand Digoxin. The Company has a branch office and warehouse in Burlingame, California, and a subsidiary in Monterey, Mexico.

Pencil-Chewers Should Beware

CHICAGO (UPI)—People who chew pencils because they are nervous should be nervous about chewing pencils. They could be eating poisonous lead.

"Family Safety," publication of the National Safety Council, says New York City Health Department tests showed that more than one-third of a sampling of wooden pencils sold in the city were coated with lead paint.

Big Breakfast Can Be Cheaper

ATHENS, Ga. (UPI)—Eating breakfast saves both cash and calories, the University of Georgia Cooperative Extension Service advises.

Persons who skip breakfast usually make up for it later in the day eating foods higher in calories, lower in nutrition and sometimes costlier.

Let's talk about budgets!

Budgeting is tough these days.

It seems that every time you turn around the cost of something is going up.

The economists tell us it's to be expected.

Maybe so, but it sure makes running a home difficult.

We wish we could tell you that A&P has the answer to all your difficulties, but we can't...no store can.

We can tell you this:

There is one guaranteed way to cut your food bill without sacrificing quality; buy A&P's own brands.

Hold it...don't scoff...we're serious.

We don't have our own private national brands just to have low prices.

If it isn't a quality product, it can't carry the A&P Seal.

Take A&P Brand Canned or Frozen Vegetables for example.

They're GRADE "A"...you can't buy better.

If you buy A&P Brands, we guarantee you'll reduce your total food bill.

We also guarantee every A&P product you buy...unconditionally.

The Worry Clinic Sociology Not For The Pulpit

Heed the sage remarks of Rev. Mark. For pulpits are not supposed to become sociology podiums. Besides, mere sociology in Russia is the same as sociology in the U.S.A. But America's moral code is radically different from Communist atheism! So it is religion, not welfare, that sets us apart from Russia!

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph.D., M.D.
Case S-524: Rev. Mark, aged 36, has a zooming church. And by "zooming," I mean its attendance keeps rising every month. Its budget is over subscribed. And it produces scores of "conversions." "Dr. Crane," he added, "we are an evangelistic type of church. And we expound the Bible precepts, instead of giving sociology lectures about the ghetto, drug addiction, etc. "Those latter items are very important but not until men and women have a change of heart and get right with God. "For we feel that a church pulpit is not to be confused with a sociology classroom podium!"

Christ's Preaching
Jesus, as the Bible tells us, went about doing good. But he didn't advocate street riots or overthrow of the Roman government.

In fact, he urged His followers to obey the laws, pay their taxes, and even warned the soldiers to be content with their wages.

Christ didn't even advocate socialized medicine, though He once tried it when He healed the 10 lepers.

And not one of them even offered to repay Him with a sandwich, not to mention a dinner invitation.

In fact, only ONE even came back to say "Thank you."

Jesus also started the first church picnic when He fed the 5,000 with the lad's loaves and fishes.

But He found that such mass welfare projects were futile!

When the crowd surged around Him again, looking for a second free meal, Jesus reproved them for being interested only in the free handout of the previous day, without ever appreciating its miraculous nature.

Like Confucius, who was born 551 years before Christ, Jesus realized that if you give a hungry man a fish, you feed him for one day.

But if you teach him how to fish, you feed him for 100 years. Alas, most of the poor in His day were not interested in learning how to feed themselves. No; they preferred continual free picnics, with no effort on their part.

Here in America, many welfare recipients have become so impudent that they even refuse to come down to the disbursing office for their relief checks.

Charge Cutting By Young Girl

A 14-year-old girl has been charged with assault with a deadly weapon following an incident at a school bus stop at the intersection of Pitt and Arthur Streets about 4:15 p.m. yesterday.

The juvenile was charged after allegedly cutting a 16-year-old girl, Barbara Joyce May of 309 West 13th St. about the head with a razor blade, according to Chief of Police Glenn Cannon.

The police official said the juvenile allegedly assaulted the older girl because Miss May had allegedly been fighting with the younger girl's sister.

Instead, they demand that their money be mailed to their door!

But far too many naive preachers are trying to change religion into mere welfare.

They wish to substitute sociological lectures for evangelism.

But Russia can also furnish bread and medical care, so it that is the extent of our concern, then where do we rate above the Communists?

Sociology is sociology whether in Moscow or Washington, D. C. Besides it is a violation of our Constitution for Uncle Sam to compete with private philanthropy, as formerly handled by the churches, Red Cross, YMCA, etc.

For Uncle Sam was not intended to compete with bankers, farmers, manufacturers or preachers, either!
