SEARCH CONTINUES — Members of the Greenville Rescue Squad continued to probe the waters of the Tar River downstream from the Memorial Drive bridge today in their search for the body of a 20-year-old Route 4, Greenville, man missing since his truck was found abandoned on the bridge about 2:30 a.m. Monday. Greenville Police Chief Glenn Cannon said

George Charles Simpkins left a note containing a message to his wife which led officers to believe he may have jumped into the river. Dragging operations began yesterday morning after a search of the lowland area near the bridge by police and rescue workers before dawn Monday failed to turn up any trace of Simpkins. Relief Agencies Buckle Down To Help Thousands

By CRAIG AMMERMAN

MAN, W. Va. (AP) — The commander of National Guard troops working in the area where 16 Appalachian coal camps were devastated by floods said today the death toll, which now stands at 67, probably will not exceed 90.

"Most of those that were reported missing are probably alive," said Col. William F. Maroney.

There still were about 250 persons listed as missing or unaccounted for after Saturday's flash flood in Buffalo Creek Hollow, but Maroney said he believed most of those were alive but had not come out from the hollow. Normal access to the stricken area was cut off.

Relief agencies began in earnest today the task of finding living quarters for the thousands of homeless from the valley coal camps.

It was reported earlier in the day that 30 survivors had been discovered by rescue workers huddled in a coal shaft. The report, which was supplied by an aide to Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr., later proved erroneous, however.

More than 4,000 persons were left homeless following the flood, caused when tons of water broke through a mining company dam and spilled through the hollow.

Officials of federal and relief agencies Monday night cleared the books out of the public library and began setting up offices to provide emergency aid.

Monday afternoon the Federal Housing Administration began taking applications for emergency housing. By midnight they had received 150 with more still coming in.

National Guardsmen manning bulldozers and other heavy equipment, continued to sift debris in search of bodies and survivors.

Surveying the splintered buildings and twisted metal frames of cars in the community of Lundale, perhaps hit hardest by the raging floodwaters, State Police Cpl. Walter Garrett said: "We estimate that 1,000 people or more lived here. Now there's nothing left but the company store."

Officials reported Monday night they had accounted for 158 survivors from the community of Lorado who had escaped the flood by scaling a hill to another town.

Pay Board Gets Threat From Dock Workers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Longshore leader Harry Bridges says dock workers will strike every U.S. port if the Pay Board refuses to approve full raises recently won in a new contract.

The Los Angeles Times reported today that the West Coast longshoremen's pact calling for a 22 per cent pay increase is running into serious troubles with members of the Pay Board and is not likely to win approval.

Bridges, chief of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, said Monday in the union newspaper, The Dispatcher, "Stand by to march out as a solid body along with the East Coast if the Pay Board cuts our negotiated settlement by as much as one cent."

The International Longshoremen's Association in the East has agreed to joint action, he said. ILA spokesmen were not immediately available for comment.

The contract agreement the ILWU reached Feb. 16 with the Pacific Maritime Association, ending a 134-day strike by 13,000 dock workers at 24 West Coast ports, is canceled if the Pay Board does not give its approval within 30 days, Bridges said.

A report in the Los Angeles Times quoted Virgil Day, a management member of the 15-man board, as saying he sees "no way for the board to avoid cutting down" the contract.

The contract will "undoubtedly create difficulties" in getting approval the Times quoted Pay Board Chairman George H. Boldt as saying. The board has said it will approve only contracts calling for 5.5 per cent increases.

Bridges noted that the wage boost exceeded board limits.

But he said that the new 17-month contract comes after two long-term pacts over five years, greatly increased productivity and a shrinking work force.

Have Markers

If you lost your driveway reflector last night, the Greenville Police Department may have it.

Greenville police said a local resident reported this morning that when he got out of bed he found 38 small driveway markers sticking up in his front yard.

Chief Glenn Cannon said the reflectors had apparently been taken from beside a number of area drives and placed in the yard.

So if you can't find your drive marker, yours might be at police headquarters.

Resolutions calling for an investigation into the dam break were proposed Monday in the legislature.

Beef Prices Climb

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supermarket beef prices rose three cents a pound in January, including a sharp gain in what farmers get for cattle, according to the Agriculture Department.

A USDA report Monday said choice beef cost consumers a record $1.11 per pound last month, compared with $1.08 in December. Of that, farmers got 82.5 cents compared with 80.3 in December. Compared with a year earlier they received nearly 23 per cent more for their share of what consumers paid.

Department economists have predicted net farm income will rise this year to a record level, largely because of higher livestock prices.

The breakdown of what farmers receive from the supermarket was included in a "market basket" report on food prices. The market basket is a list of commodities used to show how much it costs to feed a typical family for one year.

At January's rate, the market basket cost $1,275 compared with $1,268 in December. The farmers' share in January was $512 compared with $491 in December. The middleman share in January was $763 compared with $775 in December.

Pork prices also went up last month to a retail average of 76.3 cents per pound, with the farmer getting 44.1 cents.

In December, the retail price averaged 72.9 cents, with farmers getting 37.1 cents.

The farmers' share of each dollar consumers spent on food last month was 40.2 cents compared with 38.7 cents in January and 37.5 cents a year earlier, the department said.

Nixon Avers Seeds Of Peace Are Sown

By GAYLORD SHAW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Returning from his historic journey to China, President Nixon has told the nation his talks with Communist leaders sowed the seeds for "a more-enduring structure for peace" without secret deals undercutting any ally.

He sought upon his return to soothe conservatives fretting about his pledge to ultimately withdraw all U.S. troops from Taiwan—an effort being continued today in a meeting with congressional leaders.

"We did not bring back any written or unwritten agreement that will guarantee peace in our time," Nixon said in nationally televised remarks minutes after he concluded his 12-day, 20,395-mile trip to the long-hostile and isolated Asian nation.

But, he said to the cheers of several thousand persons jammed into a hangar at Andrews Air Force Base for star-spangled welcome-home ceremonies, "We made some necessary and important beginnings."

Nixon delivers a more-detailed private report today at a mid-morning meeting with congressional leaders, then meets with his Cabinet.

Even as he flew home from China and what he called a "week of intensive talks at the highest level," several congressional leaders praised his journey. Among the warm endorsements was one from a longtime administration critic, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

But some conservatives in Nixon's own Republican party fretted about his pledge to ultimately withdraw U.S. troops from Taiwan.

Nixon sought in his airport speech to reassure them that the communique pledge would not undermine the Nationalist Chinese regime of Chiang Kai-shek.

The communique restated "established policy" toward Taiwan, he said, adding: "We will not negotiate the fate of other nations behind their backs, and we did not do so in Peking. There were no secret deals of any kind."

The President cited his agreements with Premier Chou En-lai to broaden trade, to develop cultural, educational and journalistic exchanges and to expand contact between the two governments.

Beaming and waving to the crowd after his blue-and-white jet, the "Spirit of '76," poked its nose into the crowded hangar, Nixon went before the television cameras "to sum up the results of the trip and ... put it in perspective."

"We have started the long process of building a bridge across that gulf" which for 22 years has separated the United States and mainland China, he said.

"We have demonstrated that nations with very big and fundamental differences can learn to discuss those differences calmly, rationally and frankly, without compromising their principles. This is the basis of a structure for peace, where we can talk about differences, rather than fight about them."

He said the communique, issued before he left Shanghai where he said his week in China "changed the world," was unique "in honestly setting forth differences rather than trying to cover them up with diplomatic double talk.

"We made no attempt to pretend that major differences did not exist between our two governments, because they do exist," Nixon said.

Referring to redwood saplings planted in Hangchow as a gift to the Chinese people, Nixon said it takes centuries for redwoods to grow to become giants of the forest.

"Just as we hope that ... those tiny saplings that we left in China will grow one day into mighty redwoods," Nixon said, "so we hope, too, that the seeds planted on this journey for peace will grow and prosper into a more-enduring structure

Busing Dispute In Senate Is Resumed

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sharply divided Senate today returns to the bitter dispute over busing of school children for desegregation purposes.

Forces supporting a tough antibusing stance appeared nearly evenly matched against those backing a milder approach. Because of a complex parliamentary situation, it will take at least five separate votes to produce a settlement, but that could come by day's end.

The Senate Monday considered other aspects of the bill authorizing $23 billion for higher education and $1.5 billion for school desegregation. Senators adopted a proposal aimed at ending discrimination against women from grade school through graduate school.

The Senate has agreed to wind up all work on the bill Wednesday.

Civil rights forces were cautiously hopeful they had the votes to reverse a 43-40 tally last Friday in favor of a far-reaching antibusing rider. They hope to knock it out of the bill.

This rider, sponsored by Republican Whip Robert Griffin, would strip federal courts of the power to issue busing orders in desegregation cases.

If its foes can defeat it, they plan to substitute a compromise sponsored by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Republican Leader Hugh Scott.

The compromise would preserve the present powers of the courts to use busing as a remedy if necessary to end state-imposed school segregation.

Both the Griffin and Scott-Mansfield amendments have been adopted tentatively but neither has been finally riveted into the bill.

Senate leaders said they expected at least 97 senators to be on hand for these tests.

Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., absent more than two years because of a stroke, will be missing, as will Sens. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., and Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash.

Hartke was campaigning in New Hampshire for the Democratic presidential nomination, and his staff said he was not planning to return. Jackson did not plan to interrupt his Florida campaign.

All five Democratic senators running for the presidency missed the first vote on the Griffin rider. All said they would have opposed it had they been there.

Paper Says Highway Commissioner Selling Stone To Commission

FRANKLIN, N.C. (AP) — The Raleigh News and Observer said Monday on a copyright story it had learned that crushed stone taken from a quarry owned by state highway commissioner E. J. Whitmire is being sold to the state Highway Commission.

The paper noted that state law makes it a felony for a highway commissioner to furnish or sell "any supplies or materials directly or indirectly" to the commission. Violation of the law is punishable by a fine of not more than $20,000 or three times the value of the transaction, or both fine and imprisonment.

The paper said Whitmire, 56, told it in an interview he is "reasonably sure" he has not violated any state law.

"I wouldn't try to get any man such as the governor in the position of having appointed a damn crook to office," he said.

The News and Observer said that through interviews and records it has learned the following on the transaction:

—Stone from a quarry at Penrose is being sold to the state Highway Commission. Whitmire has owned half the quarry since before he was appointed to the commission in 1969 and bought the other half last fall.

—Payments for the stone are made by the state to Ernest Childers who worked for Whitmire for many years.

—Childers says he is the head of Macon Equipment Co. and that Whitmire "signed over" the corporation to him in January 1970.

—Whitmire says that at the time Macon Equipment's book value was virtually nothing. But in January of this year the replacement value of Macon Equipment's property in Transylvania County alone was appraised for tax purposes at $403,200.

—Whitmire says he charges Childers nothing for the use of equipment of the quarry at Penrose but does receive payment in stone for back debts.

—Highway Commission records show that the mailing address for Macon Equipment is the same as that for Macon Construction Co., a corporation which Whitmire says he owns.

—Whitmire and Childers share the same office in Franklin and have the same bookkeeper.

—Last month, Whitmire listed Macon Equipment's property for taxes in Transylvania County. Last year, Whitmire signed the firm's tax listing in Macon County.

—Records in the secretary of state's office list Whitmire as the registered agent for Macon Equipment.

—A Transylvania tax appraisal made last month names Whitmire as the owner of Macon Equipment.

Svetlana Urged To Ask Divorce

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Svetlana Peters, daughter of Joseph Stalin, was urged by her husband on her 46th birthday to announce that their marriage cannot be saved.

"She objects in toto to the life I lead," architect William Wesley Peters, 59, said Monday.

"There is no possibility of picking up the pieces."

Svetlana disclosed last week that she had left her husband because the life at Taliesin West, a communal living complex, reminded her of living in the Soviet Union. She and her 10-month-old child now live in a private home here.

Another Delay In Launching Of Pioneer 10

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The liftoff of Pioneer 10 toward Jupiter has been postponed again this time until Wednesday night.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration came within five minutes of launching the explorer rocket Monday night, but a late weather report showed winds of 115 miles per hour 43,000 feet above the launch site.

High altitude winds and a power failure also forced postponement of a planned Sunday night liftoff for Pioneer 10 and its Atlas-Centaur booster rocket.

NASA had hoped to try again tonight, but facilities were tied up at the Cape because the Air Force hoped to launch a spy satellite into orbit early Wednesday.

Bulldozers Said Altering Island

RALEIGH (AP) — A state official says bulldozers have begun altering the landscape of Bald Head Island and this has caused the State Department of Natural and Economic Resources to review the state's position on the development of the island.

Dr. Art Cooper, assistant secretary of the department, said recommendations on the issue would be forwarded to Gov. Bob Scott within a week to 10 days.

"In light of what is happening on Bald Head we are evaluating the situation towards the future development of the island and will be in contact with the governor's office as to the recommendations we will have," Cooper said.

Meanwhile, Dr. James Wallace, president of the Conservation Council of North Carolina, called on the governor to condemn the island and for the state to buy and preserve it.

"It seems to me this is the last opportunity to save the island," Wallace said. "I'm afraid that as more money is invested in the island and the development continues there will be less enthusiasm for disturbing the development." Cooper would not say whether the alternatives being considered by his department included condemnation or other proposals for halting the construction.

"After reviewing all the alternatives available, our recommendation could possibly be that the state should do nothing in regards to the island," Cooper said. "I cannot say that we will recommend specific action be taken."

Claim Attempt To Stir Up White Resentment

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — Campaign officials for Sen. Edmund S. Muskie charged today there is a movement under way in Manchester to stir up a "white resentment" vote against the candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in the March 7 New Hampshire primary.

They said several persons have notified the Muskie headquarters that they have received telephone calls late at night from persons identifying themselves as blacks and representing themselves as volunteers for the Maine Democrat.

One of the calls reached the wife of State Rep. Leo Dion, D-Manchester. "A voice in the accent of Harlem said, 'We're calling from the Muskie headquarters. We just arrived from Harlem, and we want to ask you to vote for Muskie', " Dion said.

Maria Carrier, state coordinator for the Muskie organization, said there have been reports of "many calls of this nature" indicating an attempt to create resentment against Muskie among Manchester Democrats.

Asked if he thought the identification as blacks would hurt the Muskie cause, Barry Wang-er, news secretary of the Muskie group, said, "Yes, I do."

"I don't want to say the people of New Hampshire are racist, but they are conservative," he said. "You don't have to be a racist to not like calls at 11 at night. The people have told us they have been upset on both points."

"It's not a new tactic ... and it hurts," he said. "You tell your neighbor and soon a couple of hundred people know about it. Word of mouth in this state is incredible."

Students Recruited In 'Versatile Field'

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI)—Three women at Stanford University may claim credit if distaff enrollment at business schools rises greatly during the next few years.

Susan Phillips, Anne Thornton and Barbara West feel that business management offers one of the most versatile careers for women. They have introduced a somewhat unorthodox approach to get more women to come to the business school.

Mrs. Thornton said the three started recruiting when they got tired of being asked why they were studying business. They put together a multimedia presentation complete with slides and a sound track, to show to the whole school.

Dramatic Technique Using a battery of slide projectors synchronized with a rock music sound track, with music and pictures as a backdrop, they talk about their managerial aspirations and about what it's like being female in a male-dominated environment.

The production is entitled, "What's a Nice Girl Like You Doing in a Place Like This?"

We put together the show so that we could say what we wanted to say in the way we wanted to say it, do it in an entertaining way and reach the widest audience," said Mrs. Thornton, who is enrolled in Stanford's business-law degree program.

Offers Variety She said women are usually turned off about studying business because they equate business with an impersonal corporate image.

"But," she said, "not everyone at Stanford wants to work for General Motors. In talking to prospective applicants, we make it clear at the outset that business education is a foundation for management in a variety of organizations.

"Women with a strong interest in the helping professions, for example, can apply business school skills to work in hospitals or nonprofit foundations."

A Radcliffe College graduate, Mrs. Thornton, 23, wants to work in real estate, developing housing for low-income people. Miss Phillips, 23, a Stanford graduate, will receive her Master's degree in psychology in June, while 32-year-old Miss West operates her own business directory advertising service. She was graduated from Reed College and plans to work in medical or social research.

Pleased By Reaction The women returned recently from a recruiting trip to eastern states.

They said reaction to their presentation surprised and delighted them.

"The school's awareness of women and women's problems has really exploded," said Miss Phillips.

She Can't Break The Let The Bachelor Be Wary Christmas Gift Cycle The 29th Day Of February

DEAR ABBY: I sure do agree with "Sick of Christmas." And your advice on how to break the endless cycle of giving gifts to relatives and friends you never see was the only sensible solution.

We tried to do it in our family three years ago. We all said, "Okay, no more Christmas presents!" Then at Christmas time here comes my husband's sister with gifts for everybody! Then we all had to rush out and buy her and her family something. I could have kicked her in the teeth!

Right now I have four waffle irons, five electric blankets, and three steam irons that have never been out of their original boxes. I won't even tell you how many bottles of perfume and toilet water I have stuck away on my shelf. What's wrong with people, Abby?

Why can't they be more sensible?

ALSO SICK OF CHRISTMAS

DEAR ALSO: They? You should give to the needy—not the greedy. Why don't you give some of those duplicate gifts to some poor soul who could use them?

DEAR ABBY: We work in a large, busy office where 14 girls are employed. During the year, many salesmen call on our boss. When the boss is tied up we girls will make small talk with these salesmen to make their waiting more pleasant.

Around Christmastime many salesmen send us presents, we assume, to show their appreciation for making them feel at home in our office. Last year there were 14 boxes of chocolates, and as many bottles of good perfume, but these gifts were sent to "the company" and not addressed to us girls individually, so the boss took everything home to his wife!

Our question: What do we say to these salesmen who come in and ask us how we liked their presents?

THE OFFICE GIRLS

DEAR GIRLS: Ask, "What presents?"

DEAR ABBY: I think you owe us beauty operators an apology! One grabby hairdresser wrote to say she would much rather get a few dollars from each of her patrons for Christmas than some of those costly, but useless doo-dads she receives. And you agreed it would be nicer.

Well, we are six hairdressers who are insulted. We welcome any gift from a patron. After all, it's the thought that counts at Christmas.

ANGRY WITH ABBY

DEAR ANGRY: Sorry. Please read on:

DEAR ABBY: I heartily agree with that hairdresser who said she'd prefer a gift of cash at Christmas.

I am a secretary-bookkeeper for two gentlemen who have a thriving business. Each year one of their wives selects a Christmas gift for me, and I have yet to receive one that I can use.

One year it was a tablecloth, purchased on one of their trips to Europe. It was expensive, I am sure, but I neither needed nor wanted it. Nor did it fit my table. Of course, I couldn't return it.

Another year I received a piece of modern sculpture, also purchased abroad. I didn't care for it, but couldn't return that, either.

A gift of cash, even a more modest amount than the price of either gift, would have been so much more appreciated.

PREFERS CASH IN N. Y. C.

DEAR ANGRY AND PREFERS: My mail ran two to one in favor of cash!

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for two years to a man who has a habit of doing something which infuriates me. If he loses his temper, he will kick me or slap me. It is always for something petty like if he wants me to stop talking or do something faster.

I have told him how much this upsets me, and he keeps promising he won't ever do it again, but the next time he loses his temper, he forgets his promise.

To teach him a lesson, I have considered refusing to get up at 5:30 the next morning to fix him a big breakfast. Do you think it would do any good? I just hate to be kicked and slapped.

L. IN FLUSHING

DEAR L.: Try it. And if he forgets again, try "forgetting" to get up to fix him a big breakfast for a month.

It's open season all Leap Year For female hunters to bag a "dear." If your goal is wedding banding (The Women's Lib thing notwithstanding), Your opportunity's more than equal If you don't wish to be a free gal. Is it trapping tips you need? Here's advice that you should heed: If you want a man beside you Do not let your conscience guide you. All is fair in love's pursuit — Help Cupid aim that bow and shoot. Should you hesitate or falter, You'll never get him to the altar. If your friends aren't good at matching You, yourself, must do the catching. Every single man's a candidate For this year's election as your mate. That guy you thought was just a crony May be a bet for matrimony; Office boys, bank clerks or salesmen — Fair quarry for the girl who trails men. Doctor, lawyer, merchant, cook — Better leap before you look. If you don't act you're in a fix: It's your last chance till '76.

Relatively Quiet Pitt Contest

Compared with some election years, 1972 promises to be a relatively quiet political year for Pitt County.

The reason, of course, is lack of contests for various local political offices. In most years Pitt has seen a number of races for local offices and for legislative positions. This year, however, local contests are few.

A side from one legislative race, one district judge race and one county office contest, the forthcoming party primaries in Pitt promise to focus on the choice of candidates for state offices.

Incumbent Representatives Horton Rountree of Greenville and Sam Bundy of Farmville will be in a three-man race with I. Bruce Koonce of Greenville for the two House seats.

Women Pose A Special Need

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH — A man can be a rolling stone; the woman needs to make a home.

Even when a rocky path leads to prison, nine out of ten women will want to go back home to their community when the debt is paid, said Mrs. Juanita Baker.

"We need rehabilitation programs which will make it

15 per cent of the center's inmates are repeaters. For the system as a whole, the rate is around 70 per cent.

Times are changing. In her years at the center (eight as a teacher of business subjects, then assistant superintendent, and two years as superintendent) Mrs. Baker has seen a difference in the women received as inmates.

"They used to be passive. Now they are out-spoken. More of them are well educated. As a group, they are younger. It's a new breed," she explained.

Another difference is in the role the woman plays in society. Once the man was looked on as the breadwinner, she remarked. Nowadays, more women work outside the home and many must support themselves and their families.

Vocational Training Needed

That creates the need for more vocational training as a part of rehabilitation, Mrs. Baker said. Sewing and laundry are the two principal enterprises at the center. There is an educational program, from basic through high school. A study-release program also permits inmates to take their schooling further.

"We need greater variety, so that the woman who needs vocational training will find the opportunity suited to her aptitudes," she explained.

She remembered with satisfaction the inmate who trained as a laboratory technician on study-release, and went home to a $500-per-month job. "If you have ten failures and then one success like that, you know it is all worthwhile," she said.

Expanding work release and community involvement are objectives Mrs. Baker has followed.

Under work release, an inmate holds down a job and serves time at night and on weekends. Halfway houses for women at Charlotte and North Wilkesboro have been opened to create more opportunities under the program.

Both men and women are on the center staff. "I feel very strongly there has to be men—not just old, ugly men, either," said Mrs. Baker. "Our inmates are still women, and they react to the presence of the male as any woman would."

A smoother operation follows then there is normal contact between the sexes, and not the unnatural isolation which prevailed in prisons of the past, she said.

Incumbent Register of Deeds Elvira Allred is seeking reelection and is being challenged by the Rev. O. J. Rooks of Greenville for the Democratic nomination.

A three-way race has developed for one of the district judgeships with incumbent Judge Robert Wheeler of Grifton being challenged by Russell Wooten of Ayden and W. E. Whitehurst of Ayden.

This will be different from years in which there have been a full slate of contests for local offices. The local races, in all probability, will be overshadowed by the races for governor, lieutenant governor and other state posts. Then too, there will be the first presidential primary for North Carolina which is certain to attract considerable attention from voters.

Even with the relatively few local races, compared with other years, Pitt voters will have plenty of campaign material hurled at them from many directions during the remaining months of 1972. By primary day a couple of months from now, political interest throughout the county will be considerably higher than indicated by the relatively little interest exhibited during the final days before the filing deadline.

Needed A Meeting So They Could Walk Out

It's a funny from any angle except upside down: Last Feb. 17 the U.S. and South Vietnamese declined to attend the weekly meeting of the so-called peace conference in Paris on grounds a Red-front end-the-war convention was held nearby, spoiling the neutral-ground atmosphere.

The Communist side was upset and demanded the conference be held as scheduled on Feb. 24.

So.....

It was. And the Communists walked out on it.

Ah so.

Selected For Follow-Up Trip

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON —

President Nixon has tentatively picked the two party leaders of the Senate — Democrat Mike Mansfield of Montana and Republican Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania — for a high-level, follow-on trip to China if justified by the results of his own "journey for peace."

Mansfield and Scott, in fact, nearly made the trip with the President, on two grounds: first, their presence would have involved Congress in Mr. Nixon's spectacular policy switch; second, Mansfield would have added a bipartisan touch.

Whether to take along the two Senators, both with unique connections to China, was argued up to the day of the President's departure. But Mr. Nixon finally decided not to invite them, confiding to aides that the House of Representatives might resent being left out. Moreover, since his mission to Peking would definitely not result in any treaty requiring Senate confirmation, he saw no concrete need for the Senate leaders.

No date for the Mansfield-Scott visit has been set, but the most probable time is late July, between the Democratic and Republican national conventions.

A footnote: Mansfield, who taught Oriental history at the University of Montana before entering politics, did Marine Corps duty in China in 1921 as a private first-class and returned for a visit as Congressman in 1944. Scott, a collector of Oriental art, published "The Golden Age of Chinese Art" in 1967, a copy of which is in Mr. Nixon's White House.

Scoop's Florida Rise
New private surveys by pollster Oliver Quayle of the Florida and Tennessee Presidential primaries give Gov. George Wallace substantial leads in both states but show surprising gains for Sen. Henry M. (Scopp) Jackson in Florida.

Quayle's most recent survey taken for Jackson in Florida, based on fresh interviews, has Jackson rising after nearly two months' campaigning. Starting out with a pitiful 7 per cent last November, Jackson moved to 11 per cent last month on a telephone check of voters interviewed in November. The new sample gives Jackson 15 per cent.

That puts Jackson within hailing distance of Sen. Edmund Muskie, 20 per cent, and Sen. Hubert Humphrey, 18 per cent, in the critical race for second place in Florida March 14. Wallace seems unassailable with 33 per cent. The two most liberal Democrats running, Mayor John V. Lindsay and Sen. George McGovern, have 6 per cent and 5 per cent, respectively.

In Quayle's Tennessee survey (not taken for any of the candidates), Wallace is in front for the May 4 primary with 33 per cent followed by Muskie, 25 per cent, and Humphrey 23 per cent, in a state where there has been little campaigning so far.

Despite heavy support from state Democratic leaders, Jackson is a poor fourth in Tennessee with 8 per cent — about where he (Continued on page 5)

Calif. Court's Decision

WASHINGTON—By a 6-1 vote, the Supreme Court of California has declared the death penalty to be unconstitutional in that state. The immediate effect of the decision is to give (literally) a new lease on life to 107 death row inmates, including such luminaries as Sirhan B. Sirhan, the assassin of Robert F. Kennedy, and mass murderer Charles Manson. A side effect has been the release on bail of Angela Davis, who is charged with murder, kidnapping and conspiracy in connection with the Marin County Civic Center shoot-out in which four people lost their lives. It is earnestly to be hoped that the authorities lay eyes on Miss Davis again.

The death penalty is still permissible in 40 states, although the United States Supreme Court is expected to rule soon whether executions violate the federal Constitution's Eighth Amendment prohibition against "cruel and unusual punishment." There have been no executions in the United States since June, 1967, and 588 men and two women convicted of capital offenses await the decision of the High Court.

However the U.S. Supreme Court may rule, the California verdict will stand in that state barring an amendment to the California constitution. The state court's ruling was in contravention of the frequently expressed will of the elected representatives of the people of California, who on several occasions in recent years have defeated in the state legislature bills which would have abolished capital punishment.

The California court's ruling was based on a clause in the state constitution virtually identical to the federal charter's Eighth Amendment. Chief Justice Donald R. Wright, speaking for the majority, partially based his finding that execution is "cruel" on the long time-lag between conviction and implementation. The obvious reply to that is that the appeal process ought to be speeded up.

Judge Wright held that the death penalty is "unusual" largely because of the declining number of executions in the United States (down from a high of 199 in 1935 to two in 1967) and the fact that there is a trend toward abolition throughout the world. To which one might reply that the imposition of the death penalty in this country has remained relatively stable (averaging about 100 annually for the past decade) and that the problems of Britain (for an (Continued on page 5)

Greenville High School will play its last basketball game of the conference season tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at the Campus Building of East Carolina Teachers College. They will take on the strong Washington team. The locals lost to the Pamlico County team in Washington by the score of 31 to 20 and are anxious to get revenge for that defeat when the two teams meet again tomorrow night. At the present time Washington is tied for the conference leadership with New Bern. If both teams win tomorrow night they will play off for the championship.

A light docket was scheduled for the regular session of county court here tomorrow in spite of the fact that no session was held last week due to the regular term of Superior Court.

Against one of the strongest Y.M.C.A. basketball teams in North Carolina, the East Carolina Teachers College cagers put up a valiant though futile battle here Saturday night to lose to the Rocky Mount team by the score of 37 to 30.

Strength For Today

POLITICS
"Politics and politicians—they're always corrupt."

They are nothing of the sort. Politics is the employment of making policies work. There is politics in industry, in education, in business, and most of it is honest and above board. The politician who turns crooked gets the boot and his picture on the front page of the newspaper.

There is plenty of room for criticism in this age and every other, but let us stop calling everybody a crook who doesn't happen to agree with us. Our first President, George Washington, was aghast at the idea of parties in government. He let it be known that he believed in one nation with no parties. What he did not realize was that sitting at the same table with him were Thomas Jefferson and John Adams, each of whom would be starting parties. The party system is basically good, the "ins" and "outs" opposing one another and in the end getting better conclusions than would be otherwise possible. Communism is the only form of government that has one party. If you try to start a second party you get the concentration camp of the salt mine.

One of the discouraging things of modern life is the way we pound one another. Political parties are inevitable and on the whole good for any nation. But we seem to take delight in going beyond legitimate criticism and picking fights with our fellow countrymen. The defeated candidate for President in the USA always sends a message of congratulations to the victor. That's fine — and we ought to keep it so.

The Variable Insurance Policy

By ELMER ROESSNER
Variable life insurance proposals have been moved from the back of the stove to the front burner. And because the economy is in the try anything stage, the proposal may be accepted this time. The Securities and Exchange Commission has set hearings to start April 10 on whether variable life insurance policies may be sold without SEC regulation.

Variable life insurance policies would provide that the principal at death would, above a certain minimum, rise or fall depending on the stock market. Thus, a $10,000 policy issued today would pay at death in 1982 $10,000 plus the increase in value generated by stocks in which the policy's reserves were invested.

Such a life insurance policy would be a hedge against inflation. There is no doubt that life insurance values have been slashed by inflation. A man who took out a policy for $10,000 in the 1930s might then think that his family had been well provided for. But if he died today, that might not be enough to send a grandson through college. If the reserves against the policy had been invested in common stock, the policy might provide for the education of a whole brook of grandchildren.

The Life Insurance

Association of America and the American Life Convention have asked the SEC for a favorable ruling on the sale of variable life policies. Several major life insurance companies are reported to be ready to offer such policies at the "go" signal.

However, while it is likely that the SEC is eager to stimulate the stock market and the Administration is willing to try anything to get the boom rolling, the SEC is certain to move cautiously, and to insist on maintaining controls over such ventures for these reasons:

These policies would lead to more powerful blocs on the stock market. It would mean new huge accumulations in addition to mutual funds, pension funds, bank reserves, foundations and insurance reserves which already dominate the stock and bond markets of America, making little investors whirligigs on the hot stove of Wall Street.

Variable life insurance may compete seriously with mutual funds, savings banks and savings and loan associations, since they would offer possibilities of investment growth plus life insurance protection.

This would lead mutual funds to insist on the right to sell life insurance to protect investors' equities.

Unless variable life policies are closely regulated by the SEC, there is always the danger that new insurance companies will be formed on which to unload doubtful stock issues.

Consequently the April hearings will see some fireworks.

CUCUMBER MEETING: The annual meeting of cucumber growers will be held Tuesday, February 29, at 7 p.m., at the Pitt County Courthouse. Mr. George Hughes Extension Horticultural Specialist, N. C. State University, will lead the discussion and will cover many cultural practices. Such important topics as the use of fumigation for nematode control, supplemental honey bees for pollination, and planting on raised beds to avoid drowning, will be discussed.

March is garden preparation month. Much of the success in growing vegetables depends on providing good conditions for the seed to germinate. Little or no germination can take place if moisture, heat, and oxygen are absent. Good seeded preparation improved conditions necessary for seed germination and growth of the young plants.

Poor stands in gardens are often due to one or more of the following: poor seed, insects, diseases, or fertilizers injury. A good way to prevent fertilizer injury and prepare damage to the root system of the young plants. Another way is to apply fertilizer in two rows about six inches apart and three to four inches deep. The seed are then planted between the rows. Remember, the amount of fertilizer needed depends on the soil, and a soil test should have been taken earlier.

If you did not have your soil tested, put 20 to 30 pounds of a 10-10-10 or 8-8-8 fertilizer per 1000 square feet of garden area, or three to five quarts per 100 feet of row.

Another mistake made by many gardeners is that they plant the seed too deep. Most seed should be planted two to three times as deep as the thickness of the seed. There are always exceptions—lettuce seed should only be planted with a small amount of soil on them because light is required for them to germinate.

If you like more information of gardening, call the Extension Office 758-1196.

Greek Clampdown Employing tactics admirably suited to a military dictatorship, the Greek junta denied a passport to a former parliamentary leader invited by the U.S. Congress to attend the national prayer breakfast in Washington Feb. 1 — scarcely a subversive occasion.

The invitation to Emmanuel Kothris, who served in the Greek parliament 20 years and was a minister in several pre-junta governments, was signed by Sen. Everett Jordan of North Carolina, chairman of the Senate Rules Committee.

Kothris accepted. But just before he was to fly to New York, the junta denied him a passport. In a letter to Jordan Jan. 25, Kothris apologized for his absence with this stinging rebuke:

"This is the type of democracy we are enjoying today in Greece! They would not allow me ... to travel abroad only because I dislike the present regime. They didn't even take into consideration that the reason I asked for a passport was to participate, following your invitation, in a spiritual event held in a friendly and allied country."

"The present regime, which governs our country mainly because of your government's support, is only interested in our submission to it."

A Footnote: Moore than 100 foreign leaders attended the prayer breakfast. Kothris prayed alone.

Fraternity Will Sell Balloons To Aid MD Drive

Members of East Carolina University's Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity will be selling balloons when the windy days of March arrive, in an effort to collect funds for the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

On March 10, 11 and 12, the fraternity members have been authorized to sell the balloons throughout the city between the hours of 10:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. in a program designed to benefit the Greenville Heart Fund.

This drive follows the one conducted on Sunday, February 27, which was designated as Heart Sunday in Greenville with volunteers collecting funds in a house to house campaign.

City Manager Harry Hagerty, is granting authorization for the Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity balloon selling event, noted that individuals taking part would need to be properly identified as being associated with the Heart Fund.

Boyle . . .

(Cont'd from Page 4) hinted at dark and awful secrets in his life he didn't dare trust himself to put down.

A pretty girl was often described as "a real humdinger."

Flowers played a bigger role in the ordinary lives of people. If someone in the family was ill, the neighbors trooped in with armfuls of home-grown flowers as well as gifts of home-cooked food.

If you got something in your eye and couldn't get it out yourself, you went to the drug-gist instead of to a doctor or hospital clinic.

A juvenile delinquent was a kid who won all the marbles from the other members of his school class and wouldn't give any of them back.

Everybody thought the neighborhood hired man was getting too big for his britches when he announced he would no longer cut the grass for less than 75 cents.

A woman teacher who went to the school picnic wearing slacks could figure she'd better start looking for another job in another town next year—unless she was the niece of the president of the school board.

It was all right to lock your front door if you left your home, but the neighbors thought you unfriendly if you didn't leave the back door unlocked—just in case someone wanted to drop in and borrow something.

A CHAIN OF 100 dollars formed the ribbon of Burger King, being cut by Greenville Mayor S. Eugene West at opening ceremonies Monday morning.

With the mayor are at left, Tracy Martin, owner-operator of the new Greenville eating establishment; and at right, Bill Lange.

Ribbon-Cutting At New Burger King

The bright red and gold newness of Burger King glistened in the warm sun Monday morning as Mayor S. Eugene West formally opened the eating establishment by cutting a ribbon formed of one hundred one dollar bills.

Mayor West, assisted by owner-operator Tracy Martin and his assistant Bill Lange, carefully snipped tape holding two bills together to avoid defacing the currency.

"The bills represent our contribution to be made to a local charity of the mayor's choice," Doug Eller stated. Eller is representative for the chain which has establishments in Georgia, North and South Carolina.

Mayor West expressed appreciation for the charitable donation and said he has requested the check be made to the Meadowbrook Day Care Center. "I know this contribution will be most helpful to their program," the mayor remarked.

Eller mentioned Martin came to Greenville from the Burger King in Wilmington. "We had been looking for some time for the best place to locate in eastern North Carolina," Eller remarked, "and after making extensive studies we decided Greenville is a town we like."

The Burger King will specialize in hamburgers, soft drinks and milk shakes. Seating capacity is 76 persons, and parking space is provided for 55 to 60 cars.

Burger King is located on the north side of Greenville Boulevard at number 321. Architecture of the building is by the Burger King Corporation. Eller said "this building is our typical design that is used in all the buildings." The First Florida Builders of Miami was the construction firm erecting the building.

N.C. Drops Appeal On 'Topless' Ruling

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina attorney general's office has withdrawn its appeal from the ruling of Superior Court Judge Maurice Braswell that topless dancing is legal in North Carolina.

Christine Denson, an assistant attorney general who represented the state ABC Board in the case, withdrew the appeal last Friday.

On Feb. 14, Judge Braswell held that the ABC Board could not suspend the beer or wine license of any tavern operator for "the mere allowance of topless dancing (bare breasts) on its licensed premises."

The judge also said in his order that the revocation of a club's privilege license for permitting topless dancing is "an administrative effort to enforce a statute in an unlawful way ..."

"Topless dancing is not unlawful merely because the female breasts are bare," Judge Braswell said.

When she announced that the attorney general's office would appeal Braswell's ruling, Mrs. Denson suggested that police arrest topless dancers under the state's indecent exposure law.

Braswell expressed the opinion in his order that an opinion of the State Court of Appeals in a topless dancing case is the law in North Carolina.

In that case, the Appeal Court held that female breasts do not constitute private parts within the meaning of the indecent exposure law.

Stanford University law professor Anthony G. Amsterdam argued the case for abolition before both the U.S. Supreme Court and the California Supreme Court. One of his arguments was that the only people who suffer the death penalty are "the poor, black, personally ugly and socially unacceptable."

All right. Forget Sirhan and Manson; their cases may be so emotive that it is impossible for any of us to render a balanced judgment. Take instead the case of Ernest J. Aikens Jr., who Amsterdam represented before the national and state supreme courts.

Does anybody really believe that Aikens was sentenced to death because he was "poor, black, personally ugly and socially unacceptable?" I do not know (or care) whether he was black or white, but I rather imagine that the severity of his sentence had something to do with the fact that he beat, raped and stabbed to death two women, one of them five months pregnant, and shot to death the driver of a car who gave him a lift.

In his opinion, Judge Wright stated that the California court's decision was "not grounded in sympathy for those who would commit crimes of violence but in concern for the society that diminishes itself whenever it takes the life of one of its members." A noble sentiment. But would the society of San Quentin let alone that of the United States as a whole, truly be diminished by the execution of Ernest J. Aikens Jr.? More importantly, can society afford to turn men like Aikens free after they have served eight or 10 years, which is what a life sentence frequently amounts to?

There's the rub. What is the alternative? To keep them caged for the remainder of their natural lives? In Judge Wright's eyes would that not, perhaps correctly, constitute "cruel and unusual punishment?"

Abolitionists like to claim that those who favor the retention of the death penalty do so largely out of an atavistic thirst for vengeance. There may be something in that but not much. What law-abiding people want—and have a right to expect from their government—is that men like Sirhan and Manson and Aikens should never walk the street again.

The U.S. Supreme Court's decision may not echo that of California. But if it does, Congress and the state legislatures are going to have to frame legislation which provides decent folk with the protection to which they are entitled in an imperfect society which has its share of depraved psychopaths.

Big Value Upsets Coke In Tourney

Big Value Discount stunned regular season champion Coca-Cola, 79-78, last night in the semi-finals of the City League Basketball Tournament. In the other game, Hallow's Distributing Co. beat Book Exchange 68-57, to gain the other finals berth.

Big Value and Hallow's will meet in the finals of the tourney on Wednesday night.

Coke, which lost only one game during the regular season, pushed out into a 33-29 lead during the first half. But Big Value came back with a 38-34 advantage in scoring to tie it up at the end of regulation time, 67-67.

In the overtime, Coke was able to score only one field goal, but did keep pace and hold the lead at the free throw line, hitting nine from there.

Big Value got three baskets and six free throws, with the final basket winning it for them. That came on a 10-foot jumper by Ivey Smith with one second left on the clock.

Ed Carraway led Big Value with 23 points, while Smith had 18, Lester Wells had 14 and Ronald Parker had 10. For Coke, Jim Modlin had 32, John Turner had 20 and Jack Warner had 14.

In the other game, Book Exchange inched out into a 30-29 lead by halftime. But Hallow's came back to outscore them, 39-27, in the second half, and win going away.

Gene Rackley led Hallow's hitting 26 points, while Bruce Tucker had 15 and Joe Gaddis had 11. For the Exchange, Jim Sermons had 18, Tom Jordan had 17 and Bill Stokes had 12.

Homesick Padre Heads For Home

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Buzzie Bavasi, general manager of the Padres, isn't about to jump off the roof of San Diego Stadium over Mike Ivie's attack of homesickness.

"I lived through Sandy Koufax' retirement when I was general manager of the Dodgers, so I can live through this," Bavasi said Monday after the Padres' 19-year-old catching prodigy flew home to Decatur, Ga., from the team's Yuma, Ariz., training camp after becoming depressed and homesick.

"I should be concerned about this I guess, but I'm not," said Bavasi, even though Ivie was conceded a shot at remaining with the National League West cellar-dwellers after batting .305 last season in the California League and .471 in a six-game stint with the Padres.

It was a bad day all around for the Padres, who lived up to their last-place status by losing baseball players as fast as other teams were gaining them.

While Juan Marichal signed with San Francisco, Billy Williams with the Chicago Cubs, Norm Cash with Detroit, Al Downing and Don Sutton with Los Angeles, Andy Messersmith with California and Deron Johnson with Philadelphia, the Padres were notified that infielder Tommy Dean, 26, was retiring and workhorse relief pitcher Al Severinsen, 27, might follow suit unless traded to an eastern team.

Marichal, an 18-game winner in 1971, agreed to a two-year contract with the Giants for an estimated $140,000 a year. Second baseman Tito Fuentes also agreed to terms and both players were expected in camp today.

Williams, the Cubs' slugging outfielder, signed for an estimated $115,000 after a 1½-hour session with John Holland, club vice president, during which the player said both sides "gave a little." Williams was the last Cub to sign.

Cash, Detroit's hard-hitting first baseman, got a reported $70,000 worth of his last name, leaving pitcher Mickey Lolich and infielder Cesar Gutierrez the only unsigned Tigers.

The signing of Downing and Sutton left pitchers Jose Pena and Mike Strahler as the only Dodgers outside the fold while infielders Ken McMullen and Sandy Alomar are the only unsatisfied Angels following Messersmith's signing for an estimated $70,000.

Two other teams signed the last of their recalcitrants when infielder Fred Stanley okayed his pact with Cleveland and Minnesota inked catchers George Mitterwald and Fred Rico.

But a number of players remained loth to put pen to contract including Oakland's Cy Young Award winner, Vida Blue.

The A's have offered $50,000 while Blue, still at home in Mansfield, La., is demanding $92,500, a raise of $78,000.

Atlanta reliever Cecil Upshaw stormed out of a contract meeting with vice president Paul Richards and told The Atlanta Journal:

"He's going to have to trade me, that's what he's going to have to do. And I hope he does. I don't like Atlanta that much. You've got to go where the money is."

Later, Upshaw said his outburst was "an emotional reaction and I was just upset."

UCLA Unanimous Pick For Top Spot On Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
And then there was one.

Marquette's stunning 70-49 defeat at the hands of Detroit Saturday left the UCLA Bruins as the only unbeaten major college basketball team—and the unanimous choice for the top spot in The Associated Press' nationwide poll of sports writers and broadcasters released today.

UCLA, 23-0 after defeating Pacific-8 rivals Washington State, Oregon and Oregon State last week, garnered all 41 first place votes to lead this week's poll with 820 points.

Marquette, which won its first 22 games of the season, had received one first place vote a week ago. But after bowing to Detroit in their second game since star center Jim Chones signed a contract with the New York Nets of the American Basketball Association, the Warriors dropped from the second spot in the poll to No. 5.

Louisville, 20-2, edged North Carolina, 20-3, for the runner-up spot, but both were well behind UCLA. The Cardinals, who whipped Cincinnati 93-73 in their only outing last week, received 637 votes while the Tar Heels, victors over Georgia Tech and Virginia last week, had 620.

Retaining the fourth spot in this week's rating was Pennsylvania with 573 points. The Quakers upped their record to 20-2 by beating Ivy League rivals Cornell and Columbia over the weekend. Marquette, 22-1 overall but 1-1 since losing Chones, was No. 5 with 442 points.

The next two spots were unchanged. No. 6 going to Long Beach State, 23-3, with 409 points, and No. 7 to Brigham Young, 20-3, with 354. South Carolina and Marshall exchanged the next two places, the 19-4 Gamecocks moving up to eighth with 321 points and Marshall 22-4, dipping to ninth with 271.

Florida State, 11th last week, climbed into the Top Ten with 235 points, beating out Southwestern Louisiana for the No. 10 spot.

Southwestern Louisiana, 22-3, headed the second 10 with 149 points. Virginia moved from 13th to 12th, Houston from 16th to 13th, Ohio State from 15th to 14th and Hawaii from 17th to 15th.

Michigan, a newcomer to the Top Twenty, grabbed the No. 16 spot, followed by Oral Roberts, Maryland, Missouri and Memphis State.

Game To Test Clock, Height

LOS ANGELES (AP) — All those basketball fans who think the big man is dominating the game and all those who feel stall games shouldn't be permitted will get their chance to find out soon what's what.

The rules committee of the National Association of Basketball Coaches has decided to take a look at two innovations that could change the entire complexion of the collegiate game—the 11-foot basket and a 30-second clock.

A March 22 "game" has been scheduled at Los Angeles State College.

Sam Snead has played in 32 Masters golf tournaments.

Grant Rips Nets For 68 In Ending Streak

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was happy birthday for Tom Riker, happy hunting for Southwestern Louisiana and a happy hot hand for Travis "The Machine" Grant in college basketball Monday night.

Riker celebrated his 22nd birthday by pouring in 31 points and leading eighth-ranked South Carolina to a 109-83 romp over Notre Dame—the 20th victory of the season for the Gamecocks.

Riker hit 12 of 16 field goal attempts leading six SC shooters in double figures. The winners shot 63.2 per cent from the floor. "It was the best exhibition of shooting we've had in my years at South Carolina," said Coach Frank McGuire. "It was sensational."

If Riker was hot, Grant was hotter. The Machine, leading small college scorer in the nation, exploded for 68 points in Kentucky State's 121-76 victory over Eastern Michigan. The output pushed Grant over the 3,000-point mark—only the fourth collegian in history to pass that plateau.

The defeat ended an 18-game unbeaten streak for Eastern Michigan, the No. 5 small college team in the country.

Southwestern Louisiana, ranked No. 11 in the country, completed its regular season with a 90-73 victory over arch-rival Northwestern Louisiana. Dwight Lamar, the nation's No. 1 scorer, had 33 points and 11 assists for the winners, now 23-3.

"We really hated to lose any games," said Coach Beryl Shipley. "But looking back, three losses don't look that bad. In fact, it looks like a pretty good year. Now we can sit back and see what happens Wednesday when the post-season bids are extended."

Shipley and a flock of other collegiate coaches will be waiting by the telephone Wednesday when the National Collegiate Athletic Association extends its at-large bids for the post-season tournament and the National Invitation Tournament officials start making their bids.

Most conference champions, of course, automatically qualify for the NCAA showdown. Tennessee took a step in that direction, moving back into the Southeastern Conference lead by whipping Louisiana State 78-66 to slip past Kentucky as the Wildcats bowed to Alabama 73-70.

Tennessee, 12-3 in the conference, avenged an earlier loss to LSU with Len Kosmalksi's 26 points leading the attack. The Vols won the game on free throws, outscoring LSU 24-4 from the foul line.

Kentucky dipped to 12-4, one half game back, with Ray Odums hitting 20 points to pace the Alabama attack. The Wildcats were hurt by a late technical foul, assessed when they called a timeout after exhausting their timeouts. Bob Ellis canned the free throw and Alabama retained possession, eventually running out the clock.

Tennessee and Kentucky clash March 9 in a game that could determine the conference champ and NCAA berth.

Oral Roberts, ranked No. 17 in The Associated Press poll, just squeezed by Harvard, hanging on for a 100-99 decision on Ingram Montgomery's basket with 19 seconds left.

Richie Fuqua, the nation's No. 2 scorer, had 38 points as the Titans won their 19th straight. Harvard held a 76-50 rebounding edge against the winners, statistically the country's No. 1 rebounding team.

Marquette, rated No. 5, got by Xavier 63-55 on the shooting and rebounding of Bob Lackey. Lackey hit nine of 14 field goals and finished with 25 points and 11 rebounds as the Warriors bounced back from last Saturday's loss, their first of the season.

Houston, No. 13, dropped a 110-108 decision to Jacksonville with Harold Fox' jump shot in the final 13 seconds proving the difference.

Jacksonville, led by 7-foot David Brent, controlled the boards, with a 54-39 rebounding edge, and got 35 points from Ernie Fleming. Houston's Dwight Davis led all scorers with 40.

Morehead State clinched at least a tie for the Ohio Valley Conference crown and an NCAA tourney bid by whipping East Tennessee 124-99.

The Eagles wiped out a 10-point second half deficit, scoring 74 points in the last 20 minutes to nail down the victory with Leonard Coulter's 40 points pacing the attack.

Morehead can clinch the title Saturday at Eastern Kentucky.

Kermit Washington, the nation's rebounding leader, scored 30 points, grabbed 18 rebounds and blocked six shots, leading American University to an 88-83 victory over Rider College. Jim Bradley of Northern Illinois also had 30 points and 18 rebounds in a 102-82 triumph over Bowling Green.

Utah State used 12 straight points midway through the second half to whip Colorado State 93-84 with George Price hitting 30 points for the losers. Robert Lauriski's 19 points led a balanced Utah State attack that included six players in double figures.

Favorites Get Wins

The two teams that finished one-two during the regular season in the Industrial Basketball League won their way into the tournament finals last night. Champ State Highway dumped Empire Brush, 61-49, while Wachovia Bank downed Carolina Telephone, 70-45.

The two will meet Wednesday night for the championship.

State Highway eased out into the lead in the first half, holding a 30-26 lead at intermission. In the second half, they pulled away, rolling up a 31-23 advantage in scoring to win it easily.

Fred Mills and Clyde Elks led the Highwaymen, each scoring 17 points.

For Empire Brush, James Parker had 24 and Curtis Barrett had 10.

The second game saw Wachovia build up a nine-point spread by halftime, 31-22. In the second half, they were overpowering, outthumping Carolina Telephone, 39-23.

Terry Sparrow led the Bankers with 24 points, while Bill Baggett and Travis Russ each added 12. For Carolina Telephone, Willie Wallace had 18 points and Bobby Worthington had 12.

Wealthy Bachelors Are Tempting Fate Tonight

Dance Unit To Appear in Area

Local Arrests Average More Than 14 Per Day

By TAD BARTIMUS
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI (AP) — Fate will be tempted tonight when 35 wealthy bachelors entertain an exotic covey of international beauties aboard a sumptuous yacht featuring a Roman bath full of champagne.

It's a Leap Year lark. "No local talent allowed," says advertising executive Lee Rosen. "We want to entertain women who come from foreign countries and would normally be at loose ends when they're in Miami. We find it's culturally satisfying for us."

"Us" includes Rosen and fellow members of Bachelors International. Membership demands a minimum annual salary of $29,000 and single marital status. Fringe benefits are unlimited.

The setting for the extravaganza will be Dr. Sydney Sacks' plush houseboat.

Sacks personalized the Greek definition of a man of pleasure—a Sybarite—and christened his floating palace "Syd-barite." Its ornaments, beside a sunken marble tub, include a Swiss shower with 18 heads and a whirlpool bath.

There are no plans to activate either during the festivities, Rosen said.

How did he arrive at his guest list?

"We let the foreign consuls and the foreign airlines know we're around and ... well, you know," Rosen said modestly. "Latin stewardesses and other visitors are anxious to get acquainted."

A band will play softly as the guests sip French champagne, nibble caviar and whisper soft words in the world's romance languages.

Four years ago the club, then known as the Twenty Niners, tossed a similar—but more expensive—Leap Year bash at one of Miami Beach's more famous hotels.

Then they advertised for guests, and got 5,000 applications. Twenty-nine women were invited, and the couples made merry amidst strolling violinists and liveried waiters.

But Cupid's bow was off the mark. For when the bachelors held a post-mortem, only two of those at the party had decided to tie the lovers knot.

They were divorced within a year.

NORTH CAROLINA SCHOOL OF THE ARTS ... dancers. The six dancers pictured are among the dozen or more young dancers to appear in a ballet tour of several eastern North Carolina towns, including Vanceboro. (Photo Norling Studios).

Young dancers from the North Carolina School of the Arts in Winston-Salem will be making appearances at three local towns during the week.

At 1:00 p.m. Wednesday, the dancers will perform at West Craven School in Vanceboro; followed on Thursday with two performances at Maury School in Maury and two performances on Friday at the Williamston High School.

For this tour program of the east, the dancers will be presenting excerpts from ballets of varied styles rather than concentrating on one or two longer works. This will give young viewers, primarily school children, an opportunity to see dances that are based on different moods and styles of dancing.

Among dances from which excerpts will be taken for the traveling performances are Fliek-Flack, a light, lively dance involving ten dancers, set to Benjamin Britten's music; La Malinche, based on Mexican history and tradition with music by Norman Lloyd; and Love Song, a duet for a boy and a girl dancer, set to music by Josef Suk.

Other dances to be on the program include: Concertino.

music by G.B. Pergolesi, with six dancers; Screenplay, another dance for six with music by Charlie Mingus; Ten and Two, as it's name implies, a ballet for a dozen dancers, with Samuel Barber's music; "Pas de Trois" from Glinka, with Glinka's music; and In-Games, a ballet for five couples with music by Aaron Copland.

Not all the dances listed will appear on any one program. Each program will have five of the excerpts featured on individual programs.

Choreographers for the dances are Duncan Noble, Jose Limon, Pauline Koner, Job Sanders, George Balanchine, Andre Eglevsky, and Richard Gibson. In addition to the three local locations, the North Carolina School of the Arts dancers will also be making appearances in Dudley, Kinston, and Havelock as part of their eastern North Carolina itinerary.

Beatle George Harrison Hurt

LONDON (AP) — Beatle George Harrison and his wife Patti have been injured in an auto accident.

Their car struck a barrier dividing a superhighway near London Monday night during a power blackout that doused the highway lighting system.

Harrison, 29, had blood streaming down his face and his wounds were stitched at Maidenhead hospital. Patti, 27, was treated for a concussion. "They have had a lucky escape," a hospital spokesman said. "The injuries do not appear to be serious."

Unmarried Girls Take Over City

AURORA, Ill. (AP) — Aurora will have a short change of government today when an all-girl Leap Year City Council holds its quadrennial meeting.

Every Leap Year unmarried girls are named to all civic posts for one day of duty, Feb. 29.

Under orders of Dianna Hartman who has been designated mayor, the girls will arrest all unmarried men and bring them before a make-believe court on charges of misgamy. Violators will be fined $3 apiece, the money to go to the Aurora Heart Fund.

Arrests in Greenville during 1971 averaged out to a total of more than 14 a day, with 5,354 arrests made for the 365 day period.

A Police Department report for the year 1971 lists the overall total into two major categories of arrests, Part 1 Classes and Part 2 Classes.

Part 1 type of arrests covers those for more serious crimes and accounted for a total of 385 arrests. This group shows: rape 6, robbery 9, aggravated assault 94, breaking and entering 62, larceny 172, auto theft 15, murder 5, and burglary, 22.

In part 2, by far the largest number of arrests, 2,978, was the result of traffic and motor vehicle laws. Other individuals causes for arrest in this category were: Arson 2, vandalism 21, stolen property — buying, receiving, possession 16, other assaults 171, forgery 26, embezzlement and fraud 328, weapons — carrying, possession, etc. 26, offenses against the family and children 52, liquor laws 40, drunkenness 547, gambling 3, driving while intoxicated 257, narcotic drug laws 8, all other offenses 442.

The report also takes a look at arrests on the basis of sex and race. Males arrested were four times the number of females — 4,302 to 1,052; with whites numbering more than Negro for both male and female. There were 2,562 white males and 682 white females arrested; with the total for Negroes at 1,740 for males and 370 for females.

Optimistic Over University Plans

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Gov. Bob Scott says the first seven weeks of planning have made him very optimistic about the future of North Carolina's reorganized university system.

Scott reported to the University of North Carolina Board of Trustees Monday on the work of the university system's planning committee. On July 1, the committee will become the board of governors of the state's 16 public universities.

Scott said he is hopeful the committee will nominate a president for the new system at its meeting in March. The committee is expected to pick President William C. Friday of UNC.

Scott also appointed a committee to divide the consolidated UNC trustees into separate boards of trustees for the six UNC campuses. Sixteen members of the 100-member UNC board of trustees already have been elected to the board of governors. The other 84 will be allocated to the boards of the six UNC campuses.

Sen. Ralph Scott of Alamance County, the governor's uncle, will head the committee. Other members are Harold Bennett, Buncombe; Mrs. A. W. Thomas Jr., Cabarrus; R. D. McMillan, Robeson; Henry Redding, Randolph; Ashley Murphy, Pender; Francis Buchanan, Henderson; Mrs. Stewart Warren, Sampson; George Wood, Camden; and the president of the UNC-Greensboro student body, who is to be elected.

The consolidated UNC board will pass on the local trustee selections at its last meeting, on May 22.

The board also approved the appointment of Dr. Cameron West, director of the Board of Higher Education, as UNC vice president for planning, effective immediately. The appointment had been approved earlier by the executive committee and the planning committee.

Trudeau Again In Hot Dispute

OTTAWA (AP) — Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau has become embroiled in a dispute again over his vocabulary.

"That was your goddamned question," Trudeau fired back Monday during a discussion in Parliament over employment with Conservative leader Robert Stanfield.

Trudeau's outburst immediately caused a howl from members of Parliament, who demanded that the prime minister's remark be recorded.

Last year the opposition accused Trudeau of using a four-letter word in a heated Parliament debate. Trudeau contended, however, that all he had said was "fuddle-duddle."

Girl Slain In Robbery Attempt

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A Jacksonville, N.C., teen-age girl was shot to death Sunday night in what a motorist said was an attempted robbery.

Atlanta police identified the slain girl as Rene Lynn Skvaril, 19. The police said Delon DeWitt Price, 31, of Smyrna, Ga., told them that Miss Skvaril and another girl were hitchhiking and tried to take his car.

Price fired a pistol, police said. He has been charged with murder.

Snowballs For Florida Pupils

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — Second grader Steve Helgemo "got tired of just drawing suns" at school and told his teacher. As a result he and his classmates had a snowball fight in this Florida Gulf Coast city Monday.

Fifty-two snowballs packed in dry ice were shipped to Steve's class at Tanglewood Elementary School by a first grade class in the Detroit suburb of Livonia, Mich.

After Steve told his teacher, Miss Pat Redmon, "I wish I could see some snow," his request was relayed to Mrs. Sharon Eddy's first grade class at Lincoln Elementary School in Livonia. Miss Redmon and Mrs. Eddy once taught in the same school in Detroit.

IBM Building Is Bomb Target Of Terrorists

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — A fire bomb exploded early today outside an IBM building across the street from Harvard University, causing slight damage, police reported.

No injuries were reported. A small section of the building was slightly scorched and several windows were shattered, police said.

Two hours after the 1:40 a.m. blast, an unidentified man telephoned The Associated Press in Boston and said a bomb was planted in the same building and was scheduled to go off between 3:30 and 4 a.m. There was no second explosion.

The caller said the bombing was planned by the "Black Underground Military" and was the first of a series of bombings planned throughout the country for March."

Deny Borgnine Custody Of Two

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Ernest Borgnine has been denied custody of his two children pending the outcome of a divorce proceeding.

Borgnine is seeking custody of his daughter Sharon, 6, and son Cristofer, 5, from his fourth wife, Donna, who petitioned for divorce last September. The couple were married in Juarez, Mexico, in 1965.

The custody hearing in Superior Court was recessed Monday so Borgnine could appear in another court to have his first name legally changed from Ernes to Ernest.

The Worry Clinic

Handcuffs For Our Protectors

If you were the husband of this cruelly murdered young wife, how would you feel about the recommendation by the Chicago Police? Our faithful soldiers and police jeopardize their lives every day in our defense, so let's quit putting handcuffs on our protectors!

GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.
Case T-513: Stanley Kenney is a tall, handsome member of the Indiana State Police.
"Dr. Crane," he telephoned, "could you address our monthly luncheon at Lafayette?"
"It is held adjacent to Purdue

University and will attract the various sheriffs, deputies, parole officers and State Highway Police.
"In addition, the mayor of Lafayette will be there, plus other interested business and professional men."
Jesus Praised Police
Ever since I used to teach the psychology class at our Northwestern University Traffic Institute, I have retained a keen interest in police science.
In fact, Dr. Robert H. Gault, then head of our psychology department at Northwestern University, was for many years the editor of the "Journal of Criminal Law" and I often helped him with his editing job.

So I accepted Officer Kenney's invitation.

And told the crowd that Christ lauded the police, plus our military men, in the 7th Beatitude.

"Blessed are the peacemakers," Jesus stated, "for they shall be called the children of God."

And "peacemakers" are not pacifists or those who meekly indulge in wishful thinking or vain hoping for peace!

Nor are the peacemakers those New York City "chickens" who urge: "Better Red than Dead."

Peacemakers are the delegated guardians or protectors of women and children on our city streets, namely, policemen.

They are also the highway officers who safeguard our thoroughfares against drunken and reckless motorists.

And they certainly include our Soldiers, Sailors, Marines and Air Force men and women who shield us from despotic gangster nations that try to bully little neighboring peoples, as in Vietnam.

But some of our U.S. Judges are indulging in maudlin sentimentality and thus hamstringing the police, who must bravely stand out in uniforms as targets for "mad dog" humans.

Opening lead: Three of ♣
Altho South's six spade contract would have been a reasonable undertaking without an unfavorable trump break, a combination of a nimble performance with some shrewd guesswork enabled him to overcome all adversity and emerge with the prize.

North had 15 high card points, sufficient to make a slam try over a one no trump opening. With a balanced hand, he had the ingredients for a quantitative raise beyond game to four no trump. Holding a four card major, however, he attempted to probe for a suit contract first by bidding two clubs. When South showed his spade suit, North's rebid of three diamonds became a slam try, for—if it had been his desire merely to reach game, he could have proceeded without further ado to four spades.

South bid three hearts showing his second major and North's jump to four spades now confirmed the fit, altho a bid of three might have been adequate inasmuch as he has already made one forward move and several of his points consisted of queens and jacks. South's values were all top drawer and he could hardly be restrained from proceeding to six spades. Observe that if North had the king of hearts or even the queen-jack, the slam would be a strong favorite to make.

West opened the three of clubs which was covered in turn by the ten, jack, and king. The ace of spades was cashed, followed by a small spade to the queen. When East showed out, discarding a heart, prospects dimmed considerably for there was an apparent heart loser—as well as the spade—not to mention locating the queen of diamonds.

Declarer could play three rounds of clubs to discard a diamond and then attempt to ruff out the queen, but this might not succeed if one opponent held four diamonds to the queen—and there was still the matter of the heart king.

Altho it was a distinct long shot, South finally resolved to guess the location of the diamond honor, strip out the hand and ultimately throw West in to lead a heart. The closed hand was reentered with the king of diamonds and a small diamond was returned to the ten. When this held, the first hurdle was surmounted. A spade to the king left only the jack outstanding and another diamond brought forth the queen which was covered by the ace.

The ace and queen of clubs stripped out that suit and South discarded a heart as both opponents followed. The long diamond was led. South threw another heart and West disposed of his remaining club, since he was not anxious to obtain the lead.

A trump was led putting West in with the jack and inasmuch as he was down to the king-deuce of hearts, he returned his small card. South had to guess which honor to play his opponent for and he did not have much to go on. He finally decided that if West held the jack of hearts, he might have been less reluctant to trump the fourth diamond to play the heart a trick earlier. While this line of reasoning is hardly conclusive, it did influence South to put up the queen of hearts from dummy and thereby land his slam—losing only the one spade trick.

Advices Cut MH-30 Use

REIDSVILLE, N.C. (AP) — State Agriculture Commissioner Jim Graham said Monday night that rather than lose their best foreign customer, North Carolina tobacco growers should forego the use of MH-30 on their leaf.

MH-30 is a chemical used on an estimated 95 per cent of flue-cured tobacco to retard the growth of suckers on tobacco plants. However, the West German government is considering a ban on imports of tobacco with residues of MH-30.

"MH-30 has been a lifesaver for the tobacco growers," Graham told the Reidsville Lions Club, "but when its use threatens the largest buyer of U.S. tobacco, I say to you that we must discover alternate means to get the job done and still preserve this market."

"While we may not agree with West Germany that MH-30 residues are harmful, we must play by their rules if we are to keep their business," Graham said.

Graham also told the Lions that continuation of free trade is the key to the success of the tobacco industry in North Carolina. He noted that the United States leads the world in the production and export of tobacco and North Carolina is the biggest producer among the states.

Most of the Indians of the Five Civilized Tribes—Cherokee, Choctaw, Creek, Seminole and Chickasaw — sympathized with the Confederacy in the Civil War.

But he Judge, tried to mitigate the young man's crime by saying his mother had died when he was only 2 years old, and the boy had then been reared by his aunt and uncle.
So the Judge recommended that this young murderer be released on parole! Imagine!
In logic, we'd call the Judge's argument an example of the fallacy of "Ad Hominem," for he tried to inject maudlin emotionalism into a murder case.
When an orphan wrecks his car in a fatal smash-up, does the Almighty spare his life just because his mother died when he was 2 years old?
Isn't it time some of our sentimental Judges got a little more starch in their legal backbones?

Army Moves To Restrain Guerrillas

By FAROUK NASSAR
Associated Press Writer

BEIRUT (AP) — The Lebanese army moved into the stronghold of the Palestine guerrillas in southeast Lebanon Monday, raising the prospect that it would check guerrilla raids across the border into Israel.

"This time we intend to occupy the guerrilla positions and keep them," said a Lebanese colonel.

Guerrilla leader Yasser Arafat met with Arab ambassadors in Beirut. Egypt's Middle East News Agency reported he asked them to prevent the Lebanese government from curbing guerrilla activity in the 100-square-mile area which the government turned over to the Palestinians months ago.

The Lebanese troops advanced in the wake of withdrawing Israeli forces who claimed they killed about 50 guerrillas and wounded nearly 100 in four days of air and ground attacks that left the Palestinians' stronghold in the Arkoub region "in complete disarray."

An Israeli military spokesman in Tel Aviv said Israeli casualties totaled 11 wounded and that all had returned to duty.

Communiques from the guerrillas put their losses at 20 dead and 36 wounded, and Lebanese sources reported two civilians and 10 Palestinian refugees killed.

The Israeli attack began Friday in retaliation for guerrilla raids last week that killed five Israelis. As the Israeli forces withdrew Monday, they left leaflets in Arabic warning of further assaults unless the Lebanese government halted guerrilla activity. They also warned the villagers to remove the guerrillas from their midst or expect more damage to their homes and villages.

Killer Squads Wound Two

BELFAST (AP) — Guerrilla assassination squads seriously wounded two more Irish civilians Monday night. Police blamed the outlawed Irish Republican Army but were unable to give a motive.

Lawrence Murtagh, a city welfare department employee, was shot four times outside his father's tavern on a Protestant street. Police said a car drove up to the tavern, a man jumped out and fired the shots and then the car took him away.

A bomb exploded in the cellar of the pub three months ago, killing a 14-year-old boy who worked there.

The other man was shot at his home in a mixed Protestant-Catholic district. Police said a carload of masked men pulled up to the house, three ran inside and opened fire, hitting the man five times.

In Londonderry, armed terrorists set off three bombs in shops near the city center within 10 minutes today and caused extensive damage. They cleared the buildings before planting the charges and no injuries were reported.

Another blast in Belfast today wrecked a car and smashed windows in a nearby garage. Again there were no casualties.

Karachi Club Is Not Egalitarian

KARACHI (UPI)—President Zulfikar Ali Bhutto's egalitarian society is unlikely to invade the Karachi Gymkhana Club, which recently barred entry to a male member for being improperly dressed in the national "kurta-pyjama" costume.

"The chap looked decidedly plebeian," objected another Pakistani member.

Permit Students Adult Rights

BIG RAPIDS, Mich. (UPI)—Ferris State College students no longer have curfews and are allowed to have alcoholic beverages in their residence hall rooms under new regulations.

The regulations went into effect at the beginning of the year when the state of Michigan made 18-year-olds adults.

Cigars should be kept away from dampness and out of the sun.

Farmers and agribusiness leaders of the 10 county Coastal Plain Development Association met in Williamston Monday to plan the work of the Agricultural Committee for 1972.

The counties of Pitt, Beaufort, Martin, Hertford, Bertie, Northampton, Halifax, Edgecombe, Wilson and Nash make up the Association.

Dr. George Capel, assistant director of the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service, delivered a keynote address to the 135 leaders attending.

Lutherans Are Told Jesus Movement's Impact Shortlived

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — The Jesus movement is making campus ministry easier in some ways, but it is doubtful that it will have a long-lasting impact, the director of the National Lutheran Campus Ministry believes.

The Rev. Donald F. Hetzler of Chicago told the sixth annual convention of the Lutheran Council in the USA the movement is to be found nearly everywhere. He said campus pastors are in touch with its leaders.

Some campus pastors, he said, "hope for a broadening and deepening of the conservative, personalistic, and sometimes shallow presentation of the faith offered by the movement people."

"Some of the facets of the Jesus movement produce confusion, neglect serious and complicated issues of Christian life in a university setting and are antichurch in character."

"Unfortunately, the purported statistical success of such movements is exciting to many who in a time of confusion wish the Lutheran campus ministry would imitate the methods of these groups."

Pastor Hetzler said Lutheran campus pastors should stay in touch with these groups in hopes of complementing the stimulus they offer.

In another report to the council, made up of 43 voting delegates from the three major Lutheran bodies, The Rev. Edward A. Rauff said the emphasis for inter-Lutheran cooperation is shifting from the national to the regional and congregational level.

The head of the council's office of research, statistics and archives said the latest count showed about 90 local inter-Lutheran councils in existence and 50 more taking shape.

Army Critic Now Retired

FT. MCPHERSON, Ga. (AP) — Lt. Col. Anthony B. Herbert, the controversial Army officer who accused two fellow officers of covering up incidents of murder and torture of civilians in Vietnam, retired today from the Army.

"It's been an interesting and educational career," said Herbert, as he picked up his papers. He declined further comment.

An Army spokesman said Herbert will not be officially separated from the Army until March 1.

Herbert, a highly decorated officer, brought formal charges last year against Maj. Gen. John Barnes, who is assigned to the Office of Research and Development in Washington, and Col. J. Ross Franklin, still on duty in Vietnam.

He charged them of concealing war crimes against Vietnamese civilians.

After an investigation, however, the Army dropped the charges against Barnes and Franklin.

Queen Arrives In Golden Chariot

BRUNEI (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II arrived in dizzying pomp and color today, rolling into town on an 80-foot golden chariot drawn by 48 Malay footmen.

Sulhan Hassanalk Bolkiam escorted the queen, Prince Philip and Princess Anne into the chariot, built over a six-ton truck chassis for the sultan's 1968 coronation and remodeled for the arrival of the royal family.

Queen Elizabeth made the stop as part of a 46-day tour around Southeast Asia and the Indian Ocean.

years of effort," Capel stated. "Further, the same attention from research, education, and planning that helped transform the State's agriculture into a dynamic diversified industry is now being applied to other problems of rural development."

Capel outlined the agricultural phase, Agricultural Extension's "Impact '76," a five year plan for the development of North Carolina's human, agricultural, and natural resources. Tobacco and peanuts are projected for stable to slight income decrease, he noted. Corn, soybeans, cotton, eggs, hogs, and horticultural crops are expected to increase their share of the agricultural income gross. Hogs and vegetables will likely be the biggest gainers in this list.

Production was the big focus of the 50's and 60's, according to Dr. Capel. Management, however, will be crucial in the future. The biggest need in management is for better information as a basis for decision making. Good records have been talked about for years but have never been more important than now.

"Marketing of farm products can be approached by the organization route" with many obvious benefits," noted Capel. "Individually, however, farmers can do a lot to improve their marketing by investing more time in learning what their products are worth. Time spent trying to determine where the best markets are is usually very profitable."

Committees representing practically all the farm commodities produced in the Coastal Plain area spent time analyzing the problems and opportunities relating to their areas of concern. Recommendations for area programs were developed for each commodity.

Government policies, environmental concerns, marketing, and farm labor were among the chief problems identified by most of the groups. Animal waste management and more acceptable pest control programs were slated for program attention during 1972.

An area association for cattlemen was proposed during the workshop. Other groups have planned tours, workshops, and special co-ordinated county level programs. The annual agricultural tour will be held in June. Details will be announced at a later date.

Coordinator For Howard

Mrs. Nelson B. Crisp, vice-chairman of the Pitt County Republican Party, was today named by First District Republican Congressional candidate Mack Howard as his campaign coordinator.

Mrs. Crisp, attorney and housewife, is a native of Greenville, the daughter of Marvin K. Blount Sr. She is the wife of Dr. Sellers Crisp, a Greenville physician.

"It gives me great pleasure to announce that Mrs. Crisp will serve as my campaign coordinator," Howard said. "Not only as Nelson proven herself as a mother and attorney, but she is knowledgeable in the game of politics."

Howard said he feels Mrs. Crisp "will be a big asset to our campaign and I look forward to working with her."

"We of the Republican Party are exceedingly pleased with the tremendous gains we are making in Pitt County and all over eastern North Carolina," Mrs. Crisp commented in accepting the position. "I am especially happy that we have a candidate for Congress of Mack Howard's ability and experience."

Greenville police are investigating an apparent unlawful burning incident reported just after midnight last night.

Chief Glenn Cannon said two Negro men were seen pouring a quantity of gasoline around a house at 609 West Fifth St. about 12:01 a.m. and setting the flammable liquid on fire.

Greenville fire officers said an area of ground was burned and very minor damage resulted to the east side of the dwelling.

The house was owned by William J. France of Route 2, Greenville, police reported.

IN APPRECIATION

I wish to express my sincere gratitude to Dr. Charles Pace, Mr. Ed Rawl, Dr. Herbert Hadley, Mr. Guy Evans and all others for the thoughtfulness, kindness, labor, unselfishness and generosity in making my 80th birthday celebration a momentous occasion.
