

Muskie, McGovern Swap Claims

Handshaking Tours For N.H. Campaign

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
AP Political Writer
NASHUA, N.H. (AP) — In the last campaign day before Tuesday's presidential primary, Sens. Edmund S. Muskie and George S. McGovern went handshaking through New Hampshire's factories today after swapping claims about who was the first to disclose campaign finance sources.

Supporters of both candidates saw little impact on Tuesday's outcome from the first face-to-face meeting of the two, along with their three rivals, in Durham Sunday night, and a sampling of factory workers confirmed that.

As Muskie shook several hundred hands at the Doehla Reading Card factory in this industrial town, a heavy majority of workers told reporters they hadn't watched the debate. Most who had weren't swayed. While Muskie went through plants here and in Manchester, McGovern followed a similar pattern. The admitted underdog, he started an hour earlier. Asked about McGovern's charge that it was a "farce" to say he revealed his 1970 contributors but stopped when the South Dakota senator failed to follow, Muskie said he had learned that disclosure can't work "if one candidate can set the guidelines."

He said the rules must apply equally to all. In criticizing Muskie, McGovern called on the Maine senator to match McGovern's recent disclosure of all of his 1971 and 1972 contributors, a listing which a Muskie aide termed "phony and self-serving."

The issue proved the chief difference between the two senators on a 90-minute televised debate here Sunday night.

They were joined in the year's first campaign debate by the three other Democrats listed on Tuesday's primary ballot—Sen. Vance Hartke of Indiana, Mayor Samuel F. Yorty of Los Angeles and anti-poverty worker Edward Coll of Hartford, Conn.

Muskie, from neighboring Maine, is favored to lead the field Tuesday, but political analysts will be watching his percentage. Early in the campaign, aides talked of 50 per cent as a minimal goal, but a poll published Sunday by the Boston Globe gave Muskie 42 per cent, McGovern 26 and other Democratic candidates a total of 12 per cent with 20 per cent of the vote undecided.

The Democratic contenders planned a busy last day of campaigning today.

In the Republican primary, President Nixon is expected to win easily over Paul N. McCloskey of California and Rep. John M. Ashbrook of Ohio. Nixon may also get some Democratic write-in votes—he got 5 per cent of them four years ago.

So will Rep. Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas, who told several hundred backers in Manchester Sunday he plans to fight actively for the Democratic nomination in other primaries. Backers have conducted a well-financed write-in campaign in New Hampshire for the Arkansas congressman.

Pitt Board Takes Steps

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer
Pitt County commissioners this morning approved, in principle, a proposal by the Pitt County Planning Board which would require Pitt County Community Health Department inspection of construction sites before temporary or permanent electric service is installed.

County planner Phillip Michaels in presenting the Planning Board recommendation, told commissioners that the proposal would insure that the property will accommodate a sewage disposal system before construction is begun. He said this would prevent persons from building houses or other structures on property — expecting to use septic tanks — and find out too late that the land will not accommodate septic tanks.

Under the proposal, the health department would be required to approve the site for septic tank use before the county's electrical inspector makes his inspection for temporary electrical service.

Final adoption of the proposal was postponed by commissioners until county attorney W. W. Speight has had an opportunity to study the proposal. Commissioners also approved construction of a 150-foot tall self-supporting radio tower to be placed on court house property. The tower would support law enforcement and other county two-way radio antenna and prevent further marring of the court house dome.

Cost of the tower will be funded through federal Law and Order grants at no cost to the county.

Commissioners tabled action and postponed discussion on the proposed site for a new junior high-middle school site for the Greenville City Schools, and on a proposal to increase insurance protecting the county against loss from burglary.

The present county burglary policy provides $75,000 coverage for thefts from the court house, $25,000 for thefts from the county office building (old hospital building) and $10,000 protection for the county messenger while transporting good stamps. The proposed change would up the coverage to $100,000, $40,000 and $25,000 respectively.

Approval was given by the board to a Planning Board recommendation that the Town of Winterville be given permission to enforce the model housing code within the one-mile extrajurisdictional town planning area.

Commissioners also ratified an agreement with the federal government for assistance in constructing and operation of the Greenville Regional Rehabilitation Center. The center will be a part of the new hospital complex.

The agreement approved today provides for federal assistance in constructing the facility and federal participation in its operation for the first five years by providing up to 62 per cent of salaries required to staff the 50-bed center.

Burney Tucker of Winterville, appointed by the board last week to fill the unexpired term of the late Vernon Cox, took the oath of office as a commissioner as the meeting opened this morning.

Senate Panel Is Told Lobbyist Can Tell Story

By TOM SEPPY
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Lobbyist Dita D. Beard's heart surgeon said today she could give testimony from her hospital bed to Senate investigators looking into accusations about acting Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst.

But Dr. Victor L. Liszka said Mrs. Beard "still has signs of severe coronary heart disease," and that a doctor should be present during any questioning sessions.

A purported memo by Mrs. Beard, now in a Denver hospital, said the Justice Department dropped an antitrust suit against International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. after the firm agreed to underwrite some costs of the Republican National Convention.

Dr. Liszka said that it would be extremely hazardous for Mrs. Beard to come to Washington to give testimony to the Senate Judiciary Committee, which is holding up confirmation of Kleindienst's nomination to be attorney general until the matter is cleared up. He told the committee she could testify better in her home, but if the committee wanted early testimony the hospital would be the best place with a physician present. He said she would be hospitalized another one or two weeks.

"The nature of the disease is that she will respond to emotional stress," he said. "And any emotional stress will jeopardize her health."

A physician could electronically monitor her heart while she gave the testimony in a hospital, he said.

The panel had been scheduled to resume taking testimony Tuesday on allegations made by columnist Jack Anderson, but committee counsel John H. Holloman III said the inquiry would resume today.

He declined Sunday to explain the reason for the change or who will appear. But it was learned the first to testify at today's hearing would be Dr. Victor L. Liszka, of Arlington, Va., who has been treating Mrs. Beard.

Gubernatorial Entries Given Briefing By Scott

By MELVIN LANG
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Bob Scott staged a governmental briefing today for candidates of all parties in the May 6 primaries, offering them a chance of becoming better informed about the state's financial condition.

Scott, plagued by a "first class head cold," told candidates for governor and lieutenant governor, or their representatives, that he had often wished he had received such a briefing when he ran in 1968.

"All of us sense what has been said by others besides me, that people have some little hesitancy to believe what candidates are saying," Scott said. "I want them to have faith in the Democratic process, to have faith in the American scheme of electing officials, to know that this system is right."

Scott issued invitations Feb. 25 to all 13 gubernatorial candidates and all hopefuls for the new fulltime lieutenant governor's post.

Candidates for governor at today's briefing were Democrats Reginald Hawkins of Charlotte, Gene Leggett of Harker's Island, James Gardner of Rocky Mount, and Wilbur Hobby of Raleigh; Republican Leroy Gibson of Jacksonville, and Arlis Pettyjohn of Booneville, who is running on the American party ticket.

Democrats Pat Taylor and Hargrove "Skipper" Bowles and Republican Jim Holshouser sent representatives.

The candidates were given an over-all view of state government planning and budgetary expectations during the coming months, including a review of state government reorganization presented by W. L. Turner, director of the Department of Administration.

State Budget officer Frank Justice and Dr. Leigh H. Hammond, deputy director of the Department of Administration, also spoke to the candidates.

Turner labeled reorganization of state government "truly one of the most important and needed legislative acts of our times."

Stressing that a cost reduction was anticipated, Turner said the fiscal impact of reorganization "has yet to be identified or documented."

"Although all 19 departments will be activated by July 1, 1972, I am certain that you will concur in the fact that we will have a long way to go before 1975," Turner said.

In another presentation, Alvin M. Cruze, senior economist for the Research Triangle Institute, discussed projections indicating North Carolina's state budget may exceed $5.7 billion in the 1975-77 biennium.

Cruze also said the projections indicate a general fund deficit of $475 million by 1977 if hypothetical requirements based on recent trends should occur. The projections include increases in such costs as teacher pay, higher education, salaries and highway needs.

He said the projections were designed to signify "what is expected to occur in the future if recent trends continue and no major shifts in policy are exercised by either the federal or state government."

Gov. Wallace Is Entered In N.C. Primary

By NOEL YANCEY
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Supporters of George Wallace took no chances today on getting the Alabama's governor's name of the ballot in North Carolina's presidential primary.

Two Wallace men showed up at the office of the State Board of Elections to enter the name of the Alabama Chief Executive as a Democratic candidate for president.

One of them was Michael Griffin of the Wallace staff who brought the elections board a check for $1,000 to enter Wallace's name as a candidate.

The other was Gene Leggett of Harker's Island, who is running for governor as a Wallace supporter and is heading up the Wallace movement in the state. Leggett had a big roll of money in his pocket and said he was prepared to pay Wallace's filing fee if that had been necessary.

"We were going to make sure that he got on," Leggett said.

Griffin said Wallace will visit the state to campaign actively for the support of North Carolina's delegates in the Democratic National Convention.

"I can assure you the governor has no intention of ignoring North Carolina," Griffin said, and "we will be actively campaigning here in the near future."

Leggett, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, said the Wallace forces planned to wage an intensive campaign and would set up offices at Raleigh and Charlotte and probably Morehead City.

"I feel confident we will carry the state for Wallace over (former governor) Terry Sanford three to one," Leggett said.

Supporters of President Nixon, headed by Charles R. Jonas Jr. of Charlotte, were scheduled to visit the elections board office this afternoon to get Nixon's name on the presidential preference primary ballot.

Irving Before A Grand Jury

NEW YORK (AP) — Author Clifford Irving went before a federal grand jury again today, presumably to tell more about his "autobiography" of Howard Hughes.

Both the federal jury and a county grand jury were reported ready to take joint action in the case this week, sources close to the proceedings said.

Three Children Burned To Death By Fire Bomb

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — Three children of a prison inmate burned to death after a gasoline bomb sent flames streaking through a bedroom. Investigators said they knew of no motive.

"I heard a dull plop and a window breaking," a neighbor said after the early Sunday blaze. "Then I could hear the children screaming. But by the time I got my pants on, they weren't screaming any more."

Killed were Cynthia Warren, 9, and her brother and sister, Lawrence, 8, and Marlene, 7.

Authorities said a pop bottle filled with gasoline was thrown through the bedroom window of the home of the children's grandmother. It smashed into a wall four feet from the youngsters' bed and burst into flame.

The grandmother, Ruby Jamison, 62, said she awoke to the screams of the children and found the bedroom engulfed in flames. She said she was driven outside by the intense heat.

Authorities said the children were staying at their grandmother's because their mother, Victoria Warren, had gone to visit the father, Robert, an inmate at the Riverside County Industrial Road Camp in Banning. He is serving time for check fraud.

Investigators noted there had been other unsolved firebombings in the neighborhood.

N.C. Devising Policy To Provide For Dispersed Population

By YVONNE BASKIN
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Bob Scott's administration has decided that a man who leaves the farm shouldn't be forced to go to Charlotte, New York or Chicago to make a decent living.

Using this basic premise, the state is putting together a far-reaching statewide development policy that will encourage continuation of a dispersed population.

The idea is to channel state and federal funds for public services and development efforts into designated small urban centers throughout the state to bring jobs and services to where the people live.

State planners say this would help stabilize the current urban population of North Carolina and give the remaining rural population a "nearby alternative for migration."

A man could leave the farm and go to Boone, Franklin, Tarboro or Dunn, for example, and find the kinds of jobs and services that before have been available only in larger, distant cities.

The preliminary draft of the plan designates 207 urban "growth centers" throughout the state to be the principal recipients of federal and state allocations for water-sewer facilities, schools, hospitals, transportation and other needed services.

The plan has been in the works for the first three years of Scott's term, and a final draft is expected to be made public within a month.

"We simply must channel our resources in such a way as to reap the advantages of a dispersed population," Scott said in a recent speech. "If we do not give closer attention to our numerous governmental expenditures, we will simply encourage the trend towards more and more people moving into larger and larger urban centers."

"We simply must establish a balance between where people live, where they can find work and where they can obtain the public services that we have come to expect in today's world," he said.

Dr. Leigh Hammond, deputy director of state-federal relations in the Department of Administration, said, "In the past we've built highways where the people go. Now we're talking about putting roads where we want the people to go."

Hammond, who is directing the state planning division in developing the plan, stressed that it will be a dynamic, flexible document.

"We want to be careful not to give the impression that we've found a landscape we like and this is where we're going to spend all our money," he said.

He said the effort is "very touchy" since it is aimed at bringing some direction and consistency to decisions that before have been haphazard, and often political and shortsighted.

He said, "Our idea is not necessarily to get Charlotte to stop growing. But we want to give someone a chance to get a job in a smaller urban center if he'd prefer."

Hammond said everyone wants the "good life," but no one has laid out a policy for government to help people achieve it. He said federal, state and local agencies often take actions that are at cross purposes with actions of other agencies.

The idea of the development plan, he said, is "unified decision making based on common goals."

The plan will be presented as background material to the state Council on Goals and Policies, which will begin work March 14. The 15-man council will listen to the needs and goals of state agencies and private organizations across the state and try to come up with long-term economic and environmental goals for state government.

The success of the effort will depend largely on how much support it gets from future governors and how consistent state, federal and local governments are in basing their decisions on the plan.

But Hammond said, "I think we're really at a time in history when the governor can't ignore the need to know what our alternatives and goals are."

Policy Report Puts Rogers In Limelight Tomorrow

By LEWIS GULICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers steps into the public limelight Tuesday, and for many of his State Department colleagues it is not a moment too soon.

A massive annual foreign-policy report will be issued under Rogers' name, to be followed by his personal presentation of it at a Senate Foreign Relations Committee hearing Wednesday and to the House Foreign Affairs Committee next week.

Publicity for the secretary of State will be a welcome switch for those lower-ranking U.S. diplomats who fretted during President Nixon's China trip over the noted absence of their boss from much of the summit talk.

"Where's Rogers?" was a question posed in influence-conscious Washington with the front-page display of Nixon's historic meeting with Chairman Mao Tse-tung.

Premier Chou En-lai was in the photo. So was presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger. But no secretary of State.

The question of Rogers' role in the China discussions kept popping up at the State Department's news briefings in Washington and spokesman Charles Bray sought to fend off unfavorable comparisons.

"Secretaries of State do not ordinarily participate" in such chief-of-state gatherings as a matter of protocol, Bray said. He pointed out that Rogers met five times with his Chinese foreign-minister counterpart, Chi Peng-fei.

Bray noted that Chou called on Rogers for about an hour in Shanghai before the Americans left. "In all the summit meetings that Rogers has participated in this was the first time that a head of government had displayed this courtesy," Bray said.

Nonetheless, the smash impact of the public coverage of Nixon's journey—with the spotlight seldom pausing on gery—sunk deeply into the State Department's rank and file. The relative fanfare for Kissinger added to the blow. From early in the Nixon administration, there has been controversy over whether the presidential national-security-affairs aide has eclipsed the secretary of State's role.

Unhappiness by many U.S. career diplomats with what they conceive to be the diminished role of the State Department dates far back, however. Particularly since World War II they have chafed at the mushrooming foreign activities of old and new federal agencies ranging from the Defense, Treasury and Agriculture departments to the Central Intelligence Agency and the Peace Corps.

And since the 1960s, presidents have had active advisers in the position Kissinger now holds—McGeorge Bundy under John F. Kennedy, Walt W. Rostow under Lyndon B. Johnson. The historical rule of thumb on secretaries of State is that their relative role in making foreign policy depends on how actively interested the president is in doing it himself. The last three presidents have a record as their own decision makers in major foreign-affairs issues.

President Dwight D. Eisenhower left a lot to his secretary of State, John Foster Dulles.

President Harry S. Truman leaned heavily on Dean Acheson.

Setting Rules Part Of Political Gamesmanship

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer
MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — For the candidates, the managers and the analysts, the New Hampshire presidential primary is an exercise in political gamesmanship.

Writing the rules is part of the game.

Since everyone assumes that Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine will win the Democratic primary and that President Nixon will sweep past two challengers in the Republican balloting, the problem for the players is to determine how big a victory the favorite should be expected to score.

Muskie is complaining to voters that he faces a phantom opponent in the suggestion that to score a significant victory he must capture a percentage of the vote that will be determined by newsmen and commentators only after the ballots are counted.

"The way we win an election in Maine is to get more votes than anybody else," he said.

But in a presidential preference primary it isn't that simple. The outcome of New Hampshire's preference vote will elect no one to anything and will not award a single nominating vote at the Democratic National Convention.

Delegates are elected separately. The impact will be on the political psychology of Democrats watching the leadoff voting, and a major question to be answered is whether Muskie's front-running campaign will be boosted or slowed.

Whatever happens, there are 23 primaries to follow, and unless New Hampshire's verdict is a major surprise, it will be filed and forgotten as the primary season wears on with a contest almost very Tuesday.

Muskie has said that a defeat in New Hampshire would be a disaster that his campaign probably could not survive. But he is expected to run well ahead of his closest rival, Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota.

A minority showing, even in victory, would be no help to Muskie, who needs a big win on his New England home territory to boost his campaign in the primary contests ahead, particularly the tough race coming up in Florida March 14.

McGovern has set a target for himself, saying that anything over 25 per cent of the vote would be a respectable showing.

The other Democratic entries trail far behind, and the major question about their showing is whether they will cut into the Muskie vote.

In separate balloting, New Hampshire Democrats will award 18 nominating votes at the national convention. Muskie's managers expect to sweep the delegates.

In the Republican primary, President Nixon appears headed for a landslide victory in the state that started him on his political comeback in 1968.

Charged With Slaying Two

DELAND, Fla. (AP) — An extradition hearing was scheduled by Florida authorities today for Karl DeGregory, charged by Charlotte, N.C., police with the murder of an elderly couple in their home Thursday.

Warrants charging the 27-year-old resident of Ormond Beach with slaying Mr. and Mrs. Clovis S. Powell were taken to Deland Sunday. Meanwhile, a Velusia County sheriff's department spokesman said DeGregory was being held on a charge of stealing a car in North Carolina.

The bodies of the Powells were found by a neighbor Friday. Police said they had been shot. Their car was missing.

Officers later said they found the car at the Greensboro-High Point, N.C., airport Saturday and brought it back to Charlotte.

It was expected to be examined today.

The Powells, married nine years ago after their spouses died, lived in a Charlotte suburb. He was a 70-year-old retired textile products salesman who previously lived in South Carolina. Mrs. Powell, 58, worked at a women's clothing store.

Majority Said To Be Opposed

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The president of the Christian Action League of North Carolina says he is confident any bid for a local option, state-wide liquor-by-the-drink bill will be defeated in the 1973 General Assembly.

"The Christian Action League will be better prepared for the 1973 General Assembly than it has ever been," the Rev. Coy C. Privette said in a prepared statement Saturday. "Never before has our organization been so far advanced in its plans for the legislature."

Privette said he is arranging conferences with candidates for governor and lieutenant governor to find out how they stand on liquor by the drink and on other issues in which the league is interested.

He said questionnaires are being sent to candidates for state-wide office and the General Assembly and the results will be made public.

In predicting defeat for any liquor-by-the-drink bill, Privette said: "Ten senators who have opposed liquor-by-the-drink in the past have no opposition ..."

He said this means only 16 of the remaining 40 candidates in the Senate "will be needed to stop any liquor-by-the-drink bill."

Privette deplored two events scheduled in Charlotte this month by the North Carolina Travel Council, leading advocate of mixed drink legislation. One is a "Bloody Mary Party" and the other a President's Reception to be hosted by Schenley Distiller Inc.

The Travel Council has invited candidates for governor to appear before the convention to outline their platforms.

Spacecraft Set For Change In Course Tuesday

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Pioneer 10 has completed two maneuvers leading up to the course change Tuesday that will determine whether the spacecraft will fly by Jupiter as planned.

The 21-month, 620-million-mile journey began Thursday as Pioneer roared aloft from Cape Kennedy, Fla. Over the weekend controllers at the California Institute of Technology's Jet Propulsion Laboratory here ordered the maneuvers as the craft was a million miles from earth traveling at 20,500 miles an hour.

Scientists said the thrust rockets to be used Tuesday worked properly in a test and that a rotation system keeping a radio beam for Pioneer in constant contact with the earth was activated.

At the same time the sixth of 11 scientific instruments aboard the craft began operation. It is a telescope sending back data on cosmic rays.

Olive, 76, was attending a judicial conference when he was stricken at a Pinehurst motel.

Richardson-Parnell Vows Spoken Sunday Afternoon

Miss Cynthia Diane Parnell and Chandler Ottis Richardson were united in marriage Sunday afternoon at three o'clock at St. James United Methodist Church.

The Rev. Christian White officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Parnell. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Astor Charles Richardson.

The church was decorated with a background of bridal palms and nine branch candelabra holding lighted cathedral tapers. The Reredos was decorated with a large basket of white spring flowers with single candelabra on either side. Pews were marked with bridal satin.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Miss Linda Pescatore, organist. Mrs. G. Douglas Ray sang "Love, I Come to You," "One Hand, One Heart," and the "Wedding Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a floor length gown of double silk organza styled with an empire waist accented by satin. The shirred bodice and sleeves were finished at the neck and wrists with self-ruffles.

Her finger tip length veil was held in place with bows of satin and organza. She carried a cascade of pixie carnations and marguerite daisies, centered with a white orchid, tied with streamers of white satin and ivy.

Miss Patricia Ann Parnell was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a long sleeve peasant style gown of Kelly green peau de soie, accented at the empire waist and cuffs with pink and green embroidery. She carried a cascade of mixed spring flowers in shades of pink and green with matching satin streamers.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Robert Tapley Bostrom, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Charles Astor Richardson. They wore gowns fashioned after that of the maid of honor's and carried identical cascade bouquets.

The mother of the bride wore a street length dress of sky blue brocade with matching accessories and a corsage of blue tinted carnations. The bridegroom's mother wore an ensemble of mint green with matching accessories and a corsage of green carnations. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. George C. Swilley, of Bastrop, Tex., was dressed in rose with white accessories and a matching corsage.

Serving his brother as best man was Charles Astor Richardson of Sanford. Ushers were William Christopher Council Jr. of Graham, Hugh Cornelius Winslow Jr. of Greenville, S.C., Robert Tapley Bostrom, Donald Lee Gray, Edwin Elzy Rawl III, Julian White Rawl and Edgar Winslow Taft, all of Greenville.

After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Calhoun invited the guests into the church fellowship hall for a reception honoring the couple. The refreshment table was covered with a white linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of white snapdragons and pom poms with tall lighted tapers. Mrs. Glen Miller poured punch and Mrs. Diane Thompson cut the wedding cake.

Presiding at the guest register were Mrs. Hugh C. Winslow Sr., Mrs. Edmund Durham, and Mrs. Herbert Carter. The bride changed into a cranberry red pants outfit of wide-wale corduroy with matching accessories. She wore the orchid corsage lifted from her bridal bouquet. Following a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will make their home in Sumter, S.C.

The bride is a graduate of J.H. Rose High School and attended East Carolina University. Her husband graduated from J.H. Rose High School and attended the University of Hawaii. He is presently serving in the United States Air Force.

Pre-nuptial activities honoring the Richardson - Parnell wedding party included an after-rehearsal dinner in the Red Room of the Candlewick Inn on Saturday evening. The dinner was given by the parents of the bridegroom.

Following the rehearsal dinner, the couple was honored at a party given by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bostrom. Miss Patricia Parnell honored the bride-elect at a bridesmaids' luncheon at her home on Saturday.

A miscellaneous shower was given for the bride on Monday night at the home of Mrs. Glen Miller.

Compromise On Vacation Plans

By Abigail Van Buren

(c 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Already I am worried about our next summer vacation.

My husband gets three weeks off, and he wants to take me and the children on a picture-taking trip to the Western Parks region, as he is a camera buff.

Our children are 7 and 10, and they do not get along with each other, so you can imagine what an automobile trip with them is like for three weeks.

I realize that my husband works hard all year and deserves the kind of vacation he enjoys, but I don't relish the idea of being referee for the kids while Father pursues his hobby which involves looking for places to photograph and endless waiting for perfect sun directions.

What is your advice?

PLANNING AHEAD

DEAR PLANNING: Why not compromise and spend part of your vacation doing his thing, and the other part doing whatever you prefer?

A suggestion: On long motor trips with kids who don't get along, instead of putting them both in the back seat, let one sit in front with Dad, and keep the other in the back with you. Then switch.

DEAR ABBY: My husband just turned 60. We have been married for 18 years. A year ago he took up with a widow he used to go with 40 years ago. She broke up with him when the doctor told him he would have to have his foot amputated. She said she couldn't bear the thought of marrying a man who couldn't dance. She married someone else and moved out of town.

When her husband died last year she moved back to town and made contact with my husband. That's when he started seeing her behind my back.

My husband took a week's vacation and he and this lady went off on a "honeymoon" together. Meanwhile I was home laying the bricks for our patio.

When I found all this out I told him to make a choice. Her or me. He said he "loved" me and was only having "fun" with her.

How much more "fun" should I let him have before I kick him out?

STAY-AT-HOME WIFE

DEAR STAY: I would say that he has had more "fun" than he's entitled to already. Tell him to shape up or ship out.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow in my seventies and have not been in the social swim for the past few years.

I was invited to a party at the home of a friend and was told that we would play cards and have a nice buffet supper.

I went and had a delightful time, until the hostess sat down at a card table and asked every guest for $2.50 to "defray expenses." [One guest had to borrow the money to pay as she didn't have that much with her.]

I would like to know if this is the customary thing to do now. Sign me

BEHIND THE TIMES

DEAR BEHIND: "Dutch treat" parties are fine, when the guests are told in advance that it's "Dutch," but there's something rotten in Denmark when the hostess "surprises" her guests with a bill.

Bride-Elect Entertained At Shower

Miss Judy Elaine Kovalchick, April bride-elect of Steven Williams Bailey, was honored Saturday night at a floating miscellaneous bridal shower.

The shower was held at the home of Mrs. Billy S. Tedder. Hostesses were Mrs. Perry T. Jones of Thomasville, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Tedder.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. John A. Kovalchick, mother of the bride-elect, Mrs. Merryman P. Bailey, mother of the bridegroom-elect, Mrs. Fred I. Sutton, maternal grandmother, and the bridegroom-elect.

The honoree was remembered with a yellow cymbidium orchid corsage and gifts from the hostesses.

The serving table in the dining room was covered with a green cloth with a white net overlay and centered with an arrangement of white and yellow flowers.

The family room, where the gifts were displayed, was decorated with an arrangement of yellow and white jonquils. The foyer table featured a hurricane glass globe filled with white miniature bridal rice bags with a bride and bridegroom centered on top. Magnolia leaves interspersed with yellow jonquils were used around the base of the globe.

Assisting and serving during the evening were Miss Terry Ann Kovalchick, sister of the bride, Mrs. Frank Harrington, Miss Sandra Daniels, Miss Deborah Tetterton, Miss Vicki Tedder and Miss Rachael Jensen.

TODAY'S MOOD AND MODE

Many decorating experts feel that romanticism has been absent from the home scene for much too long. Nobody wants to turn a home into a spaceship aloft to the moon. Even youngsters look to softness in their attire, adopting easy draping or a founce or two, to express the mood as well as the mode of our times. Dig into the past for inspiration. You can use a number of accessories which touch many periods of design and yet are at home in a myriad of decorating motifs. This mixture can show the importance of accessories as final touches. They add character to the room.

Reds Bolstering Troop Mobility

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union is acting to strengthen the ability of its Communist European allies to move troops and war gear by air, U.S. intelligence sources report.

At the same time, U.S. sources said, the Russian-led Warsaw Pact nations are undertaking major improvement of their highway and rail networks, especially those connecting the Soviet Union with forward areas facing West Europe.

The moves reportedly were decided at a meeting of Warsaw Pact defense ministers last month. Besides Russia, active Warsaw Pact members are East Germany, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria.

The upgrading of Warsaw Pact military aid and ground-transport capabilities appears aimed at enhancing what Western military experts claim is a Communist quick-mobilization advantage over the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

This development comes at a time when NATO is trying to persuade the Soviet Union to start negotiations on balanced force reductions on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

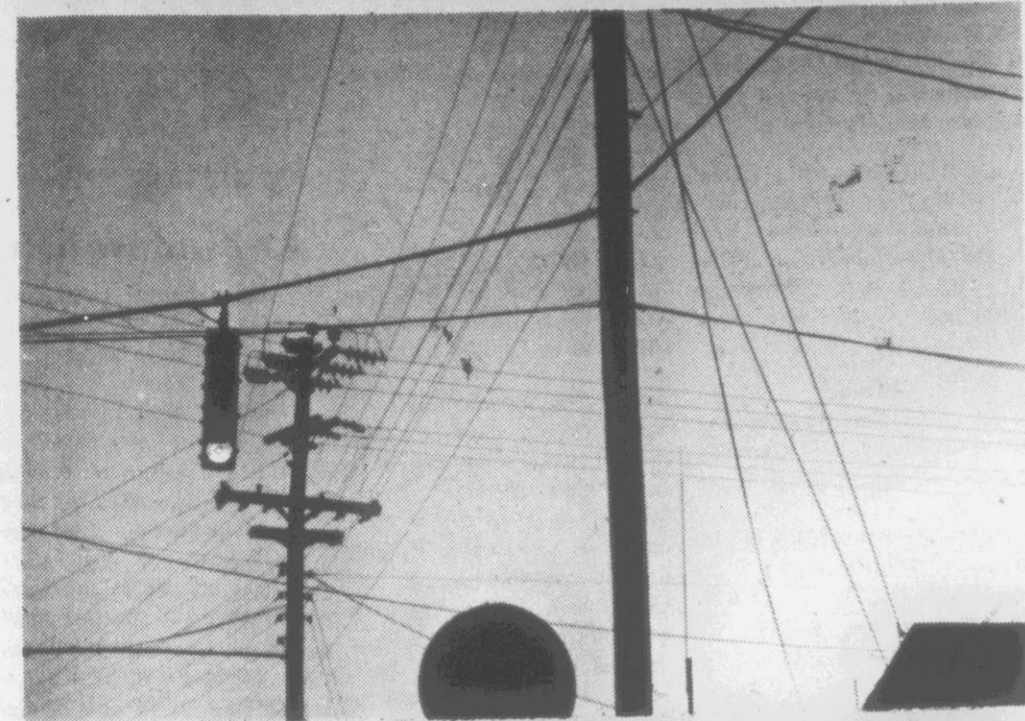

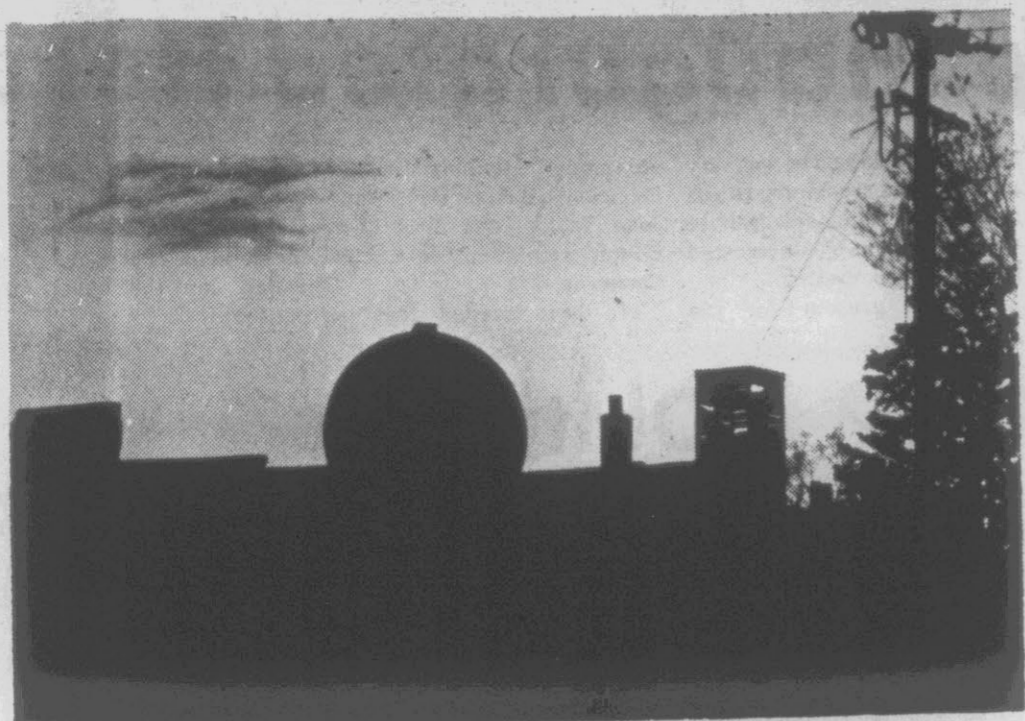

According to the U.S. intelligence sources, the Warsaw Pact defense ministers agreed to creation of new military air-transport regiments in Poland, East Germany, Czechoslovakia and Hungary. Those regiments will come directly under the Western estimates.

Another facet of the program involves improving military airfields throughout East Europe, U.S. intelligence sources said.

The planned modernization of ground-transportation routes was said to cover highways and railroads in Russia as well as East Germany, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

The new plan also calls for increasing the number of helicopters in East European air forces, which now can muster fewer than 250, according to

Pollster Claims Most 'Opposed'

NEW YORK (AP) — A poll taken for Newsweek magazine shows that a majority of Americans—North and South—favor the principle of desegregated schools but oppose compulsory busing to achieve that end.

The telephone survey conducted by the Gallup organization showed that the opposition to busing cuts across geographic, economic and racial lines, Newsweek reported Sunday.

Northern and Southern whites were about equally opposed to busing, 68 per cent and 74 per cent respectively. Nearly half of the Negroes in the sample also were opposed, Newsweek said.

The poll also found that a strong plurality favored a constitutional amendment to ban racial busing. The breakdown showed 45 per cent in the North and 48 per cent in the South would support an antibusing amendment.

The first question in the poll of 548 adults was: "Do you believe that schools in this country, both North and South, should be desegregated so that black and white pupils attend the same school?"

Over-all, 66 per cent agreed, 24 per cent disagreed and 10 per cent had no opinion.

The second question in the poll was: "Do you favor or oppose compulsory busing of some children, both black and white, so that school desegregation can be achieved?"

Over-all the results were 20 per cent in favor, 69 per cent opposed and 11 per cent no opinion.

the Middlesex Club of Boston, the country's oldest Republican club.

When the invitation arrived at Treasury, it was routinely regretted along with hundreds of others. Club president Charles Morin then sought help from Republican Rep. Margaret Heckler of Massachusetts, a friend of Connally's. She advised Connally that the Middlesex Club includes not only Boston's Republican Brahmins but also the state's top political pros. He then accepted.

The Boston speech marks not only Connally's first appearance before a partisan Republican audience but also the first time in the club's 107-year history that even a nominal Democrat has taken its platform. March 24 will be an important way station on Connally's road to Damascus.

Underlying all this is Mr. Nixon's unabashed fondness for John Connally. At White House meetings, Mr. Nixon has amazed other Administration officials by roaring at every Connally joke and never being reticent or bored when Connally speaks. The President leaves no doubt that the advice of Connally, far more politically skilled than any other Presidential intimate, counts most.

That intimacy was briefly endangered late last year, when other Presidential advisers warned Mr. Nixon that Connally was using too much stick in the international monetary crisis. Today, however, it has been restored and embellished to the point that Connally is likely to make an even greater impact in a second Nixon administration than he has in the first. And beyond that, the future looks even brighter.

IRA Denies Any Role In Restaurant Bombing

By COLIN FROST
Associated Press Writer
BELFAST (AP) — The Irish Republican Army denied today that it was responsible for the Belfast restaurant bombing that killed two women and wounded 136 other persons. The IRA accused Protestant extremists of trying to whip up public anger against the Catholic guerrillas.

Police said Sunday they believed IRA terrorists had planted the gelignite charge in the Abercorn restaurant Saturday. But a spokesman in Dublin for the Provisional wing of the IRA called the bombing "a deliberate act of terror against uninvolved civilians."

A spokesman for Sinn Fein, the political organization of the IRA's Official wing, said in Dublin: "We have consistently condemned attacks upon civilian installations and we would very strongly condemn this one."

As a wave of revulsion swept Ireland, Prime Minister Jack Lynch of the Irish Republic appealed to the IRA to suspend its campaign of violence in Northern Ireland. But he made clear he was not accusing the underground organization of responsibility for the blast.

Detectives leading a manhunt for the bombers appealed today for "the slightest scrap of information."

Meanwhile, a man accused of a part in the bombing of the British Army barracks at Aldershot, England, Feb. 22 was scheduled to appear in court there today. Five women, a gardener and a Roman Catholic chaplain were killed in the IRA bomb blast, and the man was charged with murder.

He was arrested Friday in London.

Two other men have been charged with conspiracy in connection with the Aldershot bombing.

Adjutant General Davis Here Tuesday

Maj. Gen. Ford L. Davis, the Adjutant General of North Carolina, will be here Tuesday night to speak to members of Greenville's two National Guard units, their families and interested friends.

Davis is scheduled to meet with parents, wives and children of guardsmen and other local citizens at the Armory at 6:30 p.m. during the regular guard drills.

Cystic Fibrosis Topic Of TV Drama Series

Charles L. McCullers, president of the North Carolina Chapter of the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation, announced that "Marcus Welby, M.D.," ABC Network television show, has scheduled for Tuesday night a drama of interest to all parents and prospective parents on the subject of cystic fibrosis.

Entitled "A Taste of Salt," the story examines a family's reaction to the birth of a cystic fibrosis afflicted baby. It offers glimpses of the disease's symptoms, treatment, and the parental adjustment to the baby's condition.

McCullers explained that the title refers to one of the basic diagnostic tests for cystic fibrosis, analysis of the sweat, which has an abnormally high salt content in cystic fibrosis patients.

He noted that one in every 20 persons is believed to be a carrier of the disease which affects the respiratory system and in many cases, digestive functions as well.

The TV show, McCullers added, was filmed on the West Coast, with a director of one of the 110 cystic fibrosis centers across the United States acting as medical consultant.

The Pitt County Chapter of the national foundation was formed recently with Tom Reese of Greenville elected president.

Five Injured In 2 Wrecks

Five persons were reported injured and more than $1,000 property damage caused in two collisions here yesterday.

Officers reported James Peaden, 33, of Farmville was injured when the car he was driving collided with a parked vehicle owned by James Henry Ward, Route 5, Greenville, about 2:20 p.m. on Mumford Road, 50 feet East of the Greene Street intersection.

Five persons in the Ward car at the time were also injured, police reported. Damage to the Ward vehicle was placed at $400 while no estimate of damage was listed for the Peaden car.

An estimated $300 damage resulted to each of two cars involved in a 10:05 a.m. mishap at the intersection of Third and Contentnea Streets.

Drivers involved in the mishap were identified as Robert Guy Dayton Jr., 42, of 207 Dalebrook Cir. and Lester Brown Jr., 29, of 207 Contentnea St.

Brown was charged by investigators with failing to yield the right of way.

Medal Given Local Man

A Greenville resident was among seven career National Guardsmen awarded the North Carolina Distinguished Service Medal Sunday at the Guard's Military Center in Raleigh.

Receiving the medal was Lt. Col. Dawyer D. Gross, who retired from the Tar Heel Guard after 17 years of service. His last position was Division Chaplain.

Others receiving the award were Col. Lee Roy Barnes of Durham; Lt. Col. Henry S. Lougee of Durham; Lt. Col. Albert G. Hall Jr. of Wallace; Lt. Col. Joseph E. Orland Jr. of Kannapolis; Lt. Col. William S. Murdoch of Kannapolis; and Lt. Col. John B. Pittman of Rockingham.

The awards were presented by Maj. Gen. Dan K. Edwards of Durham, Commanding General of the 30th Infantry Division.

Accompanying each medal was a citation, signed by both Gov. Robert Scott and Maj. Gen. Ferd L. Davis, the Adjutant General, which read in part, "For exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service to the North Carolina National Guard."

New Recreation Site Inaugurated Here

A large group of well wishers and interested persons turned out Friday night to inaugurate Greenville's newest recreation site, the Police Club Center.

Located in the gym of the former Eppes High School, the Police Club Center will provide an indoor recreation center for residents of West Greenville, although citizens from any part of town are welcome to make use of the new facility.

Recreation Director Boyd Lee expressed his pleasure at "getting the newest recreation center off to a good start."

Lee explained the history of developments leading to a decision to use the site for a recreation center. It is leased from the Greenville City Schools for a token $1.00 a year fee, with the Recreation Department responsible for the operation, maintenance and insurance requirements.

The center has been named the Police Club Center by virtue of funding support received through the Mid-East Law and Order Division. Grant money of this type is being made to local recreation departments for the purpose of hiring police personnel to work in a recreation setting.

Lee noted the Law and Order Division program is designed to upgrade the image of policemen among local residents, and to provide policemen an opportunity to work constructively with young people in recreation matters.

Ronald Darden, Recreation Supervisor for the center, was introduced by Lee. Darden, a young Greenville native, is a graduate of Eppes, and of Elizabeth City State University. His assistant at the center is George Merriott, a local police officer.

After explaining the mission and background of the new center, Lee opened the floor for suggestions. He said he was very pleased about recommendations received, and by pledges of support given by interested persons at the opening.

Officials present for the ceremony included City Councilmen William Dansey and John Taylor, and Recreation Commission member Sidney Carraway.

Lee has reported that on Saturday, the first full day of operations, large numbers of youngsters came in all during the day, with a result that for the entire day the center was packed.

Free Dental Advice

Would you like to know how you can eliminate gum disease, cavities, bad breath originating in the mouth, and those dental bills you're so aware of now that income tax time is here?

Dial 758-3485 any time this week and you'll hear a two-minute message from your local dental association on how bacterial plaque buildup is responsible for all dental ills.

For each of the next five weeks, a different "Dr. Dial" message hopefully will inspire those interested enough to call to seek a way to learn about the flossing and crevice brushing technique that all local dentists are teaching now.

"We don't care if you learn it from one of us when you come for a regular checkup or whether you get a friend to show you or what," said Dr. Jay Collie, a dentist who has been teaching his patients the technique for about two years. Many Greenville dentists began the education program in their offices only in the last month or so, but all are involved now.

Local drug stores are cooperating by offering free pamphlets on the subject and by stocking disclosing tablet (red food dye that shows up the plaque on the teeth); unwaxed floss, two-row of bristles brushes, and the like.

N.C. Policy . . .

population, economic and industrialization trends have already been prepared as background for the policy. Scott recently made public a study by the Research Triangle Institute which forecast that if revenue sources and state services remain at current levels, the state will face a $411 million deficit by 1980.

The prediction is based on trends which show the state's personal income level will not increase during the 1970's as rapidly as it did during the 1960's.

The plan notes that the greatest population growth in the past two decades came in townships with urban clusters more than 50,000 in population. Urban clusters are incorporated towns plus the areas surrounding them which have a population density of more than 200 per square mile.

The plan also said, "There has been a tremendous migration from rural to urban townships inside nearly every county in North Carolina. It is the strength of this movement which reinforces the viability of many small towns throughout the state."

The studies projected that agricultural employment will drop below 4 per cent by 1980 and said, "There are ample indications that manufacturing employment will level out as a share of employment by 1980, while services, government, transportation, communications and public utilities and construction will significantly increase their share of the employment base."

Another study, not yet released, has suggested a series of alternative economic growth patterns that could provide a more dramatic increase in personal income than the projected trends would bring. The alternatives are expected to be controversial since some would involve changes in the tax structure to attract high-wage industry.

Reappointed To Committee

William M. Moore and Dr. Sam T. White II were both reappointed for another one year term to serve on the Firemen's Relief Committee.

Their reappointment took place Thursday night at the March meeting of the City Council. Each year the City Council has the responsibility to appoint two members to serve on the committee for a one-year period.

The 18th (Prohibition) Amendment went into effect Jan. 16, 1920.

Fairley And Pope All-Tourney Inside Strength, Rebounding Tenacity And Good Bench Gave ECU Triumph

By KEN ALYTA
Associated Press Sports Writer
GREENVILLE, S.C. (AP) — Inside strength, rebounding tenacity, balanced scoring and a good bench all played a part in East Carolina's initial Southern Conference basketball championship and NCAA tourney berth.

The manner in which Coach Tom Quinn's scrappy Pirates first stayed alive and then won the tournament championship final over Furman in overtime 77-75 Saturday night underscored their inside strength. Each time a missed shot, scooped up by East Carolina, was laid into the basket—right at the buzzer. The first bit of heroics came from Jim Fairley, the team's only senior starter. He climaxed a second half East Carolina battle from eight points down with 12 minutes left by dropping in the tying basket to make the score 66-all as the buzzer ending regulation time sounded.

Super-sub Ernie Pope, whose three-game showing earned him a place on the all-tournament first five picked by newsmen, had missed a shot, but Fairley scooped up the ball and just beat the clock.

It was a sweet moment for the Laurinburg, N.C., product, who missed last year's tournament because of knee surgery. East Carolina fell behind 75-74 After four overtime ties and the loss of Fairley on fouls with eight seconds left when East Carolina fell behind 75-74

Russ Hunt hit his 11th straight free throw to put Furman ahead. But he was short with his second and 6-foot-10 Al Faber pulled down his 17th rebound for the Pirates.

East Carolina had no timeouts left, so Faber, an unlikely hero from long range, cut loose with a desperate 40-footer that wasn't even close.

But sophomore Nicky White, another valuable reserve, grabbed the rebound, banged in the winning basket and heard the sweetest sound he'd heard all night—the game-ending buzzer.

Hunt fouled him on the play and White added a unneeded point after time had run out. The crowd of 4,875 surrounding Furman's home court was shocked and it took East Carolina and its followers a few seconds to grasp the significance of what had happened, before the madhouse erupted.

Now the Pirates, who'd lost four in a row going into the tournament, including a 35-point pasting by North Carolina State of the Atlantic Coast Conference, carry a 14-1 record into NCAA Eastern Regional opening round play against Villanova next Saturday night at Princeton, N.J.

The Pirates had lost to Davidson in the finals two years ago, then dropped two-pointers to Richmond in the first round in each of the last two tournaments.

East Carolina had no ace some ace such as Roy Simpson, who hit 15 of 26 shots and scored 36 points for Furman, but much better balanced scoring and outstanding rebounding that choked off the Paladins' fast break turned the tide.

Earl Quash wound up as the scoring leader for East Carolina in the finals, scoring 18 points, 13 in the furious final 14 minutes of regulation play. Fairley added 13 points and Pope and Faber 12 each.

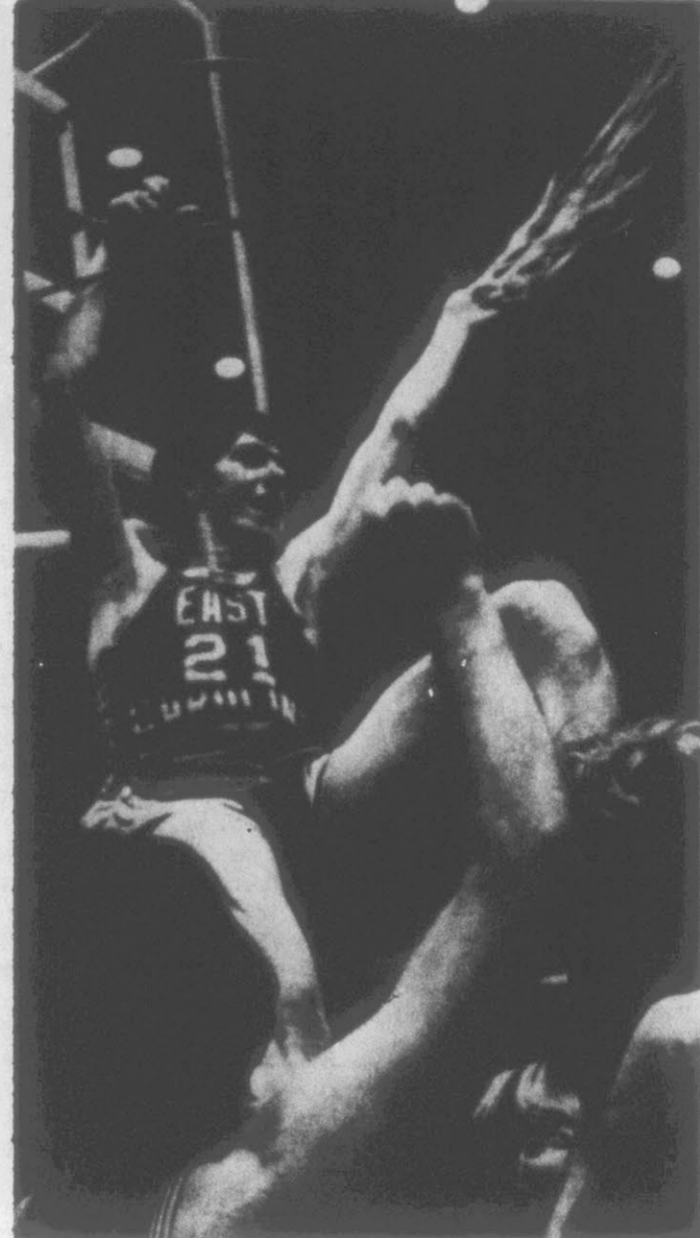

Fairley scored 56 points in three games; Dave Franklin collected 39; Pope 37; Jerome Owens 35; Quash 32; and Faber 21 as no one man had to carry the load.

Furman was beaten on the boards, 55-35. East Carolina's "F-men" were consistently effective throughout the tournament. Faber snared 35 rebounds, Franklin had 32 and Fairley 26.

In contrast, Simpson scored 94 points and had 30 rebounds in three games to win the most valuable player award in a vote of newsmen.

Fairley and Pope represented East Carolina on the newsmen's all-tournament team, along with Simpson and Hunt of Furman and Jeff Trammell of William and Mary.

The second team: Stan Davis, Appalachian; Jerry Fisher, William and Mary; Dave Franklin, East Carolina; John Falconi, Davidson; Don Jackson, Furman.

A Passing Game

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — North Carolina's football team can be expected to do a lot of passing next season if spring practice is any indication.

Quarterback Nick Vidovic threw two touchdown passes to fullback Sammy Johnson to lead the Blues to a 38-21 victory over the Whites Saturday in the annual game winding up spring drills.

The first quarter scoring passes came on plays of 8 and 22 yards. Johnson also rushed 12 times for 74 yards and was voted by newsmen as the game's outstanding offensive player.

Billy Hite was the game's leading rusher with 122 yards in 24 carries for the Blues. Senior end Gene Brown of the Whites was voted the outstanding defensive player.

Barry Parkhill Is Unanimous Choice

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Virginia's high-scoring Barry Parkhill was the only unanimous choice on the All-Atlantic Coast Conference basketball team chosen by members of the Atlantic Coast Sports Writers Association.

Parkhill, shortest player on the team at 6-4, was named on all the 107 ballots. North Carolina's Robert McAdoo, 6-10, was chosen on all but five.

Rounding out the rangy team are Tom McMillen, 6-11, of Maryland; Dennis Wuycik, 6-6, of North Carolina; and Tommy Burleson, 7-4, of North Carolina State.

Wuycik, a repeater from last season, is the only senior on the team. McMillen and Burleson, two of the most widely recruited players in the nation, are sophomores.

Parkhill was a second team choice last season as a sophomore.

North Carolina's Bill Chamberlain was the top vote-getter on the second team and is the only senior of that unit. Other second team choices are Alan Shaw and Gary Melchioni of Duke, Len Elmore of Maryland and George Karl of North Carolina.

Most NASCAR Drivers Happy Foyt Departing

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer
ONTARIO, Calif. (AP) — A.J. Foyt goes back home to Houston to drive a midget in the Astrodome this weekend, and most of NASCAR's regular drivers will be glad to see him go.

The 37-year-old Texan romped off with his third major stock car victory of the season Sunday, beating Alabaman Bobby Allison across the finish line by four seconds in the $201,000 Miller High Life 500.

He collected $31,695 from the purse, led 145 of the 200 laps, averaged 127.60 miles per hour, and came away "as thrilled as I've ever been in my life."

Foyt, of course, always is "thrilled" to win a race. And his enthusiasm for stock car racing has grown by leaps and bounds the last two seasons.

He would up 1971 as NASCAR's fifth leading money winner, though he raced only seven times for the $93,000 he took back to Texas.

He's off to an even better start this year. He won $22,010 by taking the Western 500 at Riverside, Calif. in January and $44,600 for his triumph in the Daytona 500 two weeks ago.

Add the $31,695 he got for leading the pack again Sunday and it comes to $96,205 in four races since he buckled himself in a 1971 Mercury built by the famed Wood brothers of Stuart, Va., to start the season.

"Winning a race is never easy," the battle-weary Foyt said after driving one of the most brilliantly executed races in recent years. "But I don't like 'em to be easy. Sunday's race was the kind I like—a bit of fender-gangin' here and there, and someone always on your tail."

And someone was on his rear bumper all the way in the second big stock car event at the $23.5 million Ontario Motor Speedway.

The lead changed hands 36 times among seven drivers and, though Foyt left only a bit of loose change in the lap prize fund, he never mounted a comfortable lead.

First, it was all-time stock car money winner Richard Petty on his heels. He and Foyt battled bumper-to-bumper for more than 100 miles during the first half of the race, sending the crowd of 68,498 into a frenzy.

Petty, however, lost a lap when his crew failed to tighten the lug bolts on a right rear wheel during a pit stop and he never made it up.

Then it was Allison, who swapped the lead with Foyt several times during the final 200 miles but never could make it stick.

Allison led the parade several times but accumulated only 21 laps for which dividends were paid. Other leaders included

Petty, 16 laps; Bobby Isaac, 8; Buddy Baker, 6; Ray Elder 3; and Benny Parsons 1.

Isaac might have made it interesting down the stretch. But the 1970 Grand National champ tangled with Mark Donohue in the speedway's first turn on the 46th lap around. Both cars were wrecked but the drivers escaped injury.

At the finish, it was Foyt, Allison, Baker, Petty and Elder in that order, with only Allison and Baker in the same lap with the Texan.

Foyt's visit to the Astrodome Saturday will cause him to miss the Carolina 500 at Rockingham, N.C. Sunday. But the old pro will be back for the Atlanta 500 later this month, before leaving the circuit to concentrate on winning his fourth Indianapolis 500.

Has Already Beaten Deacs Twice Virginia Enjoys Opening Edge

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Only one team has a clear edge over its opponent in the opening round of the Atlantic Coast Conference basketball tournament at Greensboro Thursday.

Virginia, seeded third on a coin toss despite a 6-4 league record that is as good as second-place Maryland's, plays Wake Forest at 3:30 p.m. Twice this season the Cavaliers beat Wake Forest, once by 10 points and again by seven.

In the opening game Maryland plays No. 7 Clemson, which beat the Terps by two points in the early season at Clemson. Maryland won on its court by 10.

In the Thursday night game, Duke and N.C. State, who finished in a tie for fourth and fifth places, tangle for the fourth time this season. The Wolfpack owns two victories over the Blue Devils and rides a three-game winning streak—longest in the ACC—into the three-day competition.

Top-seeded North Carolina has a bye until Friday night. Then it plays the Duke-N.C. State winner.

The championship game will be Saturday night, with the winner advancing into the NCAA Eastern Regionals.

The Tar Heels clinched the No. 1 spot with a 93-69 romp over Duke Saturday. But it took a Maryland win over Virginia that night to insure North Carolina the sole top spot.

The Tar Heels' record in the league is 9-3, and the Cavaliers could have equaled that with a win at College Park. But North Carolina would have been seeded first anyway because it beat Virginia twice in the regular season.

One other game was played between ACC teams Saturday, and in it N.C. State won its fifth in the last six games, 66-78 over Wake Forest. In a non-conference encounter, South Carolina beat Clemson 77-64.

North Carolina beat the conference regular season championship a year ago but fell to South Carolina in the tournament finals. South Carolina became an independent last summer.

The Tar Heels are No. 3 in the Associated Press poll, have a 21-4 overall record and are eager to get past the ACC into NCAA play. They beat Wake Forest twice and Duke once on the Greensboro court where the tournament will be and already have three tournament titles in hand this year.

In rolling over the Blue Devils in Chapel Hill and avenging an upset a month ago, North Carolina's Robert McAdoo was the game's high scorer with 23 points. Dennis Wuycook added 14, while Duke's Gary Melchioni scored 17.

N.C. State beat the Deacons behind Tommy Burleson's 28 points. Eddie Payne scored 18 for Wake Forest.

Maryland won its 21st game of the season as Darrell Brown scored the last eight points for the 18th-ranked Terps. Virginia, which finished with 20 wins, is ranked No. 12.

Mike Browning of Clemson was the high scorer for both teams as the Tigers remained close to South Carolina until late in the game. Kevin Joyce led the Tar Heels in scoring. He played Joe Caldwell for only eight minutes, and Pogo Joe contributed one point. Larry Miller had eight points and sat out the second half.

"We had too much one-on-one play and nobody looked for the open man," Meschery said afterwards. He has been taking a beating from some North Carolina sportswriters for his lineup shuffling and substitutions.

Reschedule Play In Ladies League

The Pitt County Ladies Golf League play was rained out this past Friday and has been rescheduled for this Friday.

The league has asked that anyone who was signed up to play but will be unable to make this Friday's field, call Greenville Golf and Country Club, site of the meet, and let them know.

Showdown For Jack And Lee

By HUBERT MIZELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
MIAMI (AP) — It's a Nicklaus-Trevino gunfight at the O.K. Doral with the Over-the-Hill Gang in grizzled pursuit.

"I'd better shoot a 67 Monday," said Lee Trevino, "or I'm a dead Mexican. Jack Nicklaus is the best that ever picked up a club ... and what about them old fellows? When they gonna quit?"

Last year's two leading money winners sloshed into today's final 18 holes of the rain-hampered Doral-Eastern Open Golf Tournament in a deadlock at 10-under-par 206.

"It's rained so much here, I feel like I'm wading across the Rio Grande," said tour jester Trevino. "But, let me assure everybody, I'm happy to be tied for the lead after Nicklaus shot 64."

The stars were there ... as expected. Their supporting cast was a bit of a surprise as the old goats, for one week at least, shoved aside a few of the young lions.

For instance, bald-headed Sam Snead, 59, shot a 68 and stood one shot behind Nicklaus and Trevino at 207 after 54 holes.

For instance, silver-haired Paul Harney, a 42-year-old club pro, stood with Slammin' Sam as he, too, fired a four-under-par 68.

For instance, pudgy Bob Rosburg, 45, was only four strokes behind after finishing a Sunday round of 70 using his three-iron to putt. His putter's shaft snapped four holes from the finish and Bob one-putted all four with the sub club.

And, for instance, pot-bellied Julius Boros, 52, shot 70 to stick within striking range at five-under-par 211 along with Art Wall, a man of 47.

Nicklaus was finishing the final hole when Sunday's heaviest rains hit. He waited in the locker room and, when word came that the fourth round was postponed, the Golden Bear looked at his 10-year-old and said, "Let's go fishing, son."

Nicklaus dropped nine birdies and suffered only one bogey in one of his hottest rounds of the year.

Brooks Resigns As Cage Coach

WILMINGTON, N. C. (AP) — Bill Brooks resigned today as head basketball coach at the University of North Carolina at Wilmington after 21 years at the school.

His successor is assistant coach Mel Gibson.

UNC-W Chancellor William Wagoner said the change was made at Brooks' request. He said Brooks will continue to be athletic director, baseball coach and chairman of the physical education department.

Brooks came to the school in 1951 when it was Wilmington Junior College.

Gibson came to the Seahawks after being head basketball coach for four years at Baptist College of Charleston. He is a 31-year-old native of Rockingham and a graduate of Western Carolina.

He played pro basketball for a year and was on the United States' team in the Pan-American games in 1963 after leading Western Carolina to the finals of the NAIA national tournament.

What's behind Volkswagen's new low price?

The Best Warranty This Side of a Rolls-Royce

You can't put a price on the warranty you get with a Volkswagen. You see, a Volkswagen warranty runs twice as long as anybody else's small car warranty. And only one car, the Rolls-Royce, has one better.

Here's how ours works: All you do is maintain the car according to the Volkswagen maintenance schedule. If any factory part is found to be defective in material or workmanship within 24 months or 24,000 miles, whichever comes first (except normal wear and tear on service items) any U.S. or Canadian VW dealer will repair or replace it free of charge. See your dealer for details.

More Than 5,000 Inspections Per Car

The story behind our warranty starts at the factory. Where 1,104 nit-picking inspectors have one job, and one job only. To find something wrong with a Volkswagen before that Volkswagen finds its way out of the factory.

Every one of the more than 5,000 parts that go into a VW is carefully examined. Some of them get the once-over two or three times. If one of our inspectors is unhappy with only one of the parts, the whole car gets pulled off the line. Sometimes we pull as many as 225 VWs a day. But it's worth it. We pick the lemons. You get the plums.

The Most Advanced Service System In The World

No other car maker anywhere can offer you Medi-car, Volkswagen's ultrasensitive Electronic Diagnosis. It's designed to spot problems in your Volkswagen when they're at the minor adjustment stage. Long before they can do any real damage to your car or your wallet. Every one of our dealers has VW Diagnosis. And you get the first four check-ups free with a new VW.

The Highest Resale Value

Based on what's happened in the past, no other economy car on the road holds its value after 3 or 4 years as well as a Volkswagen. So, if you're thinking about buying a new car, think about what it's going to be worth when it's an old car. Because when the time comes to part company with your VW, you won't be left holding the bag. Unless that's what you carry your money in.

The Most Highly Developed Car Ever Built

Economy cars come and go. Volkswagens just keep going. One reason is our 1600cc aluminum-magnesium engine. It's rear-mounted for better traction on slick roads. And it's air-cooled for better performance in heat waves or cold spells. The underside of the Beetle has a steel, sealed bottom to protect its vital parts. The outside of the Volkswagen carries 13 pounds of paint. The body of the car is put together so precisely that it's practically airtight. In all, more than 2200 changes and advances have gone into today's Beetle. And most of them were designed to make the car run better and last longer. Not just look different.

No other car maker has put so much time and so many advances and changes into one car. You see, there's more to a Volkswagen than meets the eye.

The Worry Clinic A Dilemma In Pastor's Auto

Rev. Jim is now "on the spot." His church treasurer raises an objection that often appears in other parishes. You might debate this dilemma in adult Sunday School classes. For it has pro and con psychological nuances. Young clergymen; note well!

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph.D., M.D.
Case T-518: Rev. Jim is the talented pastor of a large city church.

"Dr. Crane," his church treasurer complained, "I doubt the wisdom of our pastor's big car."
"For he drives around in a Cadillac, yet most of us parishioners feel we can't afford such an expensive automobile."

"Is it good psychology for a clergyman to 'ritz' his parishioners by such a public display of affluence when they are really having to furnish the money for his car?"

PASTOR'S PROBLEMS
This is a moot question with some sound arguments on each side.

moral debate topic for adult Sunday School classes tomorrow.

Down in Texas a few years ago a similar situation arose during the political campaign for a seat in the U.S. Congress.

The incumbent who had held the seat for several preceding terms was now challenged by a newcomer.

The latter drove around the district, electioneering in a beat-up Ford jalopy.

He taunted the incumbent Congressman on the latter's big Cadillac.

But the Congressman swamped the Ford opponent at the polls by following him all over the district and saying:

"My friends, when I am your U.S. Representative at Washington, I am called to the White House occasionally and also to many important state functions where foreign diplomats attend."

"Do you want your Representative to arrive in a rattletap jolopy?"

"I consider you the finest folks in the land and I am right proud of this Texas district."

"So don't you also want me to drive as nice a car as the Congressmen from New York or Louisiana or Oklahoma?"

They apparently did! For they increased his majority at the

Robbers Beaten Off; Lost Cash

MANILA (UPI) — A 31-year-old college professor successfully fought off two young men who allegedly tried to rob him along a busy downtown avenue. But he lost his money to passersby anyway.

Jose Molina said during his struggle with the would-be robbers a box in which he was carrying 3,000 pesos to deposit in a bank broke open. He said pandemonium broke out among pedestrians who "tried to beat each other in picking up the scattered bills."

Quits Paper Route At 74

Peoria, Ill. (AP) — At the age of 74, Mary Bandy has quit her paper route.

"The doctor bugged me, my children bugged me and the route manager bugged me," the great-grandmother of eight said Sunday.

"So I just gave it up last week. Just retired, that's all, after 27 years of delivering the morning Peoria Journal-Star."

Mrs. Bandy said she plans to "spend time with my cat, Mitzie, work in my yard and cut wood. I can swing an ax as good as anybody."

She began walking her three-mile paper route in 1944. She took over as a temporary replacement for her youngest son, Marshall. She continued as a regular when Marshall had to report early for high school classes.

Her 43 customers—all of whom called her Mrs. Bandy—included bankers, lawyers and doctors.

She didn't throw the papers. She went to each doorstep, tucking the papers into places easy to reach.

The only time she missed deliveries was when her husband died in 1965.

"I only made about $2 a day," said Mrs. Bandy. "But it wasn't the money. I did it because I wanted to do it. I just loved it. I like to walk."

GOREN ON BRIDGE

BRIDGE QUIZ ANSWERS
BY CHARLES H. GOREN
(© 1972; By The Chicago Tribune)

Q. 1—As South vulnerable, you hold:
♠875 ♠QJ9 ♠A73 ♣Q885

The bidding has proceeded:
North East South
1 ♠ Dbie. ?

What do you bid?
A.—If you wait until later you will find it inconvenient to bid. The suggested call, therefore, is one no trump to advise partner that you have about 8 or 9 points evenly distributed.

Q. 2—As South vulnerable, you hold:
♠A103 ♠AKQ109 ♠953 ♣K6

The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♣ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Inasmuch as you have opened a hand worth 17 points, some strong action is indicated. Without a diamond stopper, no trump is not attractive. The near-solic heart suit is adequate for the purpose, and possession of the king in partner's bid suit should be an added inducement in taking this step. Bid three hearts.

Q. 3—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠Q1062 ♠AQJ8 ♠643 ♣72

The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♣ Dbie. Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Four hearts. This is a very strong hand opposite a player who has been able to double two bidding opponents with a passing partner. If you bid only three hearts, partner will almost surely be obliged to pass, inasmuch as such a bid by you might show absolutely no values at all.

Q. 4—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠A107 ♠QJ ♠AK865 ♠AK4

The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♣ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Some bid should be made which is forcing to game. A jump to two no trump is somewhat inadequate because you have 21 points. Furthermore, the hand has the disadvantage of lacking a true heart stopper. Our choice is therefore for a manufactured jump shift of three clubs. If partner rebids spades, you will go to game in that suit.

No Television, In Outback, But High Birthrate

SYDNEY, Australia (UPI)—The parched, outback area of Brewarrina seems to prove a theory that television has a definite impact upon population.

The 7,000-square-mile county 500 miles northeast of Sydney has the highest birthrate in the state of New South Wales, but no television.

The Brewarrina county health director, Robert Meadley, is convinced the Brewarrina birthrate of 36.8 per thousand would fall drastically if the towns of Muckerawa, Weilmoringle, Mulgararrina, Gnomery, Gongolon and the others had television.

"The average birth rate in New South Wales is 19.36 per thousand," explained Meadley. "Most of the rest of the state has television. We don't. That's the answer."

The total population of Brewarrina county is 3,100. Last year it produced 114 babies—60 girls and 54 boys.

Farm Scene

The new Ransom soybean variety is a high-yielding bean that many growers should strongly consider for planting in 1972.

Ransom was released in 1970 by the Crops Research Division of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and cooperating state agricultural Experiment stations. The original cross was made by Dr. C. A. Brim, USDA plant breeder at N. C. State University.

Ransom is similar in maturity to Bragg, and if you are in the area of Bragg adaptation, Ransom should increase your soybean yield potential. Ransom has produced significantly higher yields than Bragg in tests during the past several years. In addition to the yield advantage, Ransom has excellent lodging resistance. The variety grows about 6 inches shorter than Bragg which helps to reduce lodging.

The main disadvantage of Ransom is comparison to Bragg is its lack of root knot nematode resistance. Bragg has been a very useful variety in areas that are heavily infested with root knot nematode, and where this condition occurs Ransom may not perform as satisfactorily as Bragg.

Ransom is similar to Bragg in many characteristics. The maturity date for both varieties is around October 27. Both have good shattering resistance. Seed size is similar, and both varieties have a yellow seed coat and black hila (point of attachment of seed to pod wall). Both varieties have a tawny (brown) color at maturity.

Ransom has good disease resistance to purple seed stain, bacterial pustule, wildfire, and target spot.

The oil content of Ransom is a substantial improvement over that of Bragg. It has averaged approximately 2 percent higher than Bragg in overall oil content which should make it a very desirable soybean for processing with today's favorable soybean oil prices.

Like Bragg the Ransom variety will be quite useful for double cropping behind small grain and spring vegetable crops. Since its release in 1970, seed producers have continued to increase the seed supply of this new variety, and an adequate quantity of seed should be available for the 1972 planting season.

Tobacco TIPS

By SAM J. WEEKS

A good supply of healthy tobacco plants is an important part of a tobacco production program. When fertilizing your tobacco plant beds, enough nitrogen should be used for the plants to grow reasonably fast. But, do not use so much nitrogen that it will cause injury to the seedling roots and stems during dry, windy weather. Plants grown in the presence of too much nitrogen may be excessively tender, and they may not live as well when transplanted. Also, plants injured by fertilizer burn may be more subject to damping off in the bed and to certain stem rot diseases when transplanted in the field.

Sometimes additional nitrogen applied as a topdressing is needed to give the desired growth. Some factors that determine needs of nitrogen topdressing are: 1) fertility of the soil, 2) amount of fertilizer used before seeding, 3) material used for weed and disease control, 4) weather, and 5) appearance of the plants. During cold, wet springs, the quantity of nitrate nitrogen which is readily available to the plants may be quite low in the plant bed soils. The conversion of organic to ammonium and ammonium to nitrate form of nitrogen is slow under these conditions. It may become advisable to topdress with nitrate nitrogen.

Nitrate of soda supplies the desired nitrate nitrogen needed to stimulate early growth of tobacco plants. When additional nitrogen is needed, apply three to five pounds of nitrate of soda per 100 square yards of bed. Light applications of pelletized or granular nitrate of soda can be broadcast on the beds if the plants are dry.

Avoid the use of organics such as dried blood, feather meal, tankage and cottonseed meal in topdressing the tobacco plants. Before organic nitrogen can be used by the plants, it must be converted to usable form. Organic nitrogen also has a tendency to attract harmful insects.

Organics frequently increase difficulty from plant bed insects. They also increase the development of green algae and slime on the plant bed soil, which encourages the development of damping off and loss of plant stand.

Pronghorn antelope are the fastest runners of all North American mammals.

Farm Tips

By Dr. J. W. Pou
Agricultural Specialist
Wachovia Bank & Trust Co., N.A.

The number one cost item of animal agriculture — feed — will be cheaper during 1972. This means prospects are generally good that beef, pork, broiler, turkey, egg and milk producers should see some degree of improvement in their "take-home" pay.

For many of these farmers, the improvement would have to be substantial in order to offset losses experienced in 1971 when feed costs were sent soaring by the 1970 corn blight epidemic. Practically all producers, with the possible exception of cattlemen who enjoyed a good marketing year, will be trying to recover this year.

Here in brief are prospects for the various animal commodities as seen by North Carolina State University extension economists:

Pork — Overall, the price outlook for both top hogs and feeder pigs shows good increases compared to the very low prices of 1971. Top hogs are expected to average well above $20 for most of the year.

Lower corn prices will be a big factor in improving net income for pork producers.

Beef — Cattlemen, particularly feeder cattle producers, had a pretty good year during 1971. The outlook for both slaughter and feeder cattle prices indicates another year of moderately increasing supplies offset by substantial increases in demand. Slaughter prices are expected to average roughly $32 for Omaha Choice steers.

Milk — North Carolina farmers can expect farm milk prices about equal to those of 1971 with a relative balance between increased production and sales. The average price received January through September, 1971, was $7.19 per hundredweight for milk testing 3.5 percent butterfat, compared to $6.96 a year earlier.

Broilers — Broiler production is expected to increase moderately, but not quite as rapidly in North Carolina during the first quarter of the year as in other states. Prices will be about the same as a year earlier for the first half of 1972. Prices may pick up over 1971 levels during the third quarter. Income should improve, but this improvement is expected to result primarily from lower production costs rather than higher prices.

Turkeys — Prices during the first half of the year should average well above the same period a year earlier. In the second half, prices will be about the same as a year earlier. Turkey production in North Carolina is expected to increase about 5 percent.

Eggs — Prospects look moderately brighter in 1972 following a period of unprofitable prices in 1971. The outlook is especially brighter for the last six months of the year. Improvement is expected through both lower production costs and higher egg prices.

N.C. Traffic Death Count Ahead Of '71

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A total of 270 persons have died in traffic accidents in North Carolina since Jan. 1. This was two less than had been killed in the same time a year ago. Eleven of the victims died over the weekend.

The state Highway Patrol says two of the victims died in a car-train collision, four others died in separate multivehicle wrecks, and the others were killed in single-car accidents caused by high speed.

Charles Hilton Gurganus, 21, and Larry Carroll Evans, 17, both of Wilson, died when a train hit their car five miles west of Wilson.

William Kelly Blevins, 24, of Rt. 2, Creedmoor, was killed in a head-on collision of two cars on U.S. 15 two miles south of Creedmoor.

Henry Clinton Perry, 19, of Rt. 1, Merry Hill, died when two cars wrecked on U.S. 17 a half mile north of Windsor.

Jimmy LeGrand Deaver, 33, of Rt. 1, Rockingham, was killed when a car in which he was riding ran a stop sign on U.S. 1 half a mile south of Rockingham and a second car hit his.

James Earl Murphy, 3, of Rt. 2, Maiden, was a passenger in a car which was hit by a vehicle on the wrong side of the road. The impact pushed the Murphy auto into the path of another on U.S. 64 four miles east of Hickory.

These persons were victims of one-vehicle wrecks: Jerry Allen Stephens, 17, of Rt. 4, Hickory; Kenneth Scott Horne, 18, Fayetteville; Samuel Clarence Davis, 29, Washington, D.C.; Andrew T. Bedlingmaler, 15, Rt. 2, Raleigh, and Beverly J. Cross, 15, Rt. 2, Asheboro.

Price Board Hints Utilities Need Big Rate Hikes

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Price Commission has decided strong evidence exists that

electric and telephone firms must be granted large rate increases to maintain service, a staff member says.
But, he added, the commission has not ruled out other changes in utility regulations, which presently require existing regulatory agencies to grant only the lowest rate increases that will guarantee continued service.

The commission debates the politically sensitive issue this week, working against a deadline of next Friday when its 30-day freeze of utility rates is scheduled to end.

The commission last month
froze all rates of privately owned utilities, including railroads, airlines and regulated trucks, as well as electric,
gas, telephone and telegraph companies. It held four days of public hearings on the subject and discussed the matter in general terms last Tuesday.

"They concluded they had seen substantial evidence that large-percentage increases are needed if there is to be continued service in this country," Price Commission counsel Michael Lang said in an interview. He said he referred to the "fixed" utilities, meaning electric, gas, telephone and telegraph companies.

Lang speculated the freeze would end as scheduled, even if the commission has not drafted new regulations. The commission would have until March 25
to order rollbacks of increases that went into effect and later were found out of line with new policy.

Present regulations generally say existing government regulatory agencies retain authority over utilities, but must make sure those increases granted are the minimum required to maintain service.

The freeze was ordered because the commission decided firmer guidelines are needed for the regulatory bodies. Lang said the commissioners have not yet rejected any of the alternatives proposed during hearings.

One such proposal almost certainly would stimulate competition and lower rates among railroads, airlines and trucks,

but might force less-efficient ones into bankruptcy or merger.

This proposal would require each firm be granted only the lowest rate increase it could justify by its own cost increases, rather than the lowest justified by some industry-wide average as in present practice.

Thus, the most efficient firms would get increases lower than the present industrywide average rate increases, and would in turn act as a competitive brake on other firms.

Lang said that the commission also is considering a proposal to deny rate increases to electric companies that promote increased use of power.

U.S. Warplanes Hit Two More North Viet Antiaircraft Nests

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — American
warplanes attacked two more antiaircraft batteries in North Vietnam Sunday, and B52
heavy bombers stepped up their raids in neighboring Laos,
the U.S. Command reported.

It was the fifth successive day of raids in North Vietnam and brought the year's total of strikes there to 80 so far.

The command said U.S. Navy fighter escorts bombed antiaircraft guns in the Ha Tinh region 96 and 106 miles north of the demilitarized zone after they fired on U.S. reconnaissance planes. Results of the strikes were not known, but there was no damage to the American planes, the command said.

The U.S. Command reported a total of 11 such strikes in the four previous days and said the targets were all antiaircraft defenses. The North Vietnamese Foreign Ministry in two statements charged that many of the strikes were in populated areas and killed or wounded

many civilians.

Meanwhile, the focus of the B52 bombing campaign shifted from South Vietnam back to supply routes in Laos and Cambodia.

Although the U.S. Command does not disclose targets of B52
raids outside of South Vietnam, the objectives were believed to be the North Vietnamese build-ups which U.S. sources said are continuing along the western side of the central highlands and farther north along the border.

A brigade of up to 5,000 South Vietnamese paratroopers moved from Saigon to Pleiku, in the highlands, during the weekend to reinforce government forces in the region.

The South Vietnamese Command reported scattered,
small-scale ground action Sunday and early today, with 39
North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed and two captured, and government casualties of six dead and 15 wounded.

An explosion in a river convoy 10 miles east of Saigon Sunday morning sank three barges loaded with 300 tons of ammunition and damaged two escort vessels. Three South Vietnamese were reported missing and six injured.

Enemy gunners fired three rockets into the Cam Ranh Air Base on the coast 200 miles northeast of Saigon, wounding one American and damaging one building, the U.S. Command said. It was the first rocket attack on the Cam Ranh base since Jan. 16.

In the political-diplomatic sphere, U.S. Asst. Secretary of State Marshall Green met for two hours with President Nguyen Van Thieu and told him that American officials held no meetings with North Vietnamese officials in Peking during President Nixon's visit, South
Vietnamese officials reported.
They said Green also assured Thieu no private arrangements concerning the Vietnam war were made between Nixon and Premier Chou En-lai.

Saigon is Green's fifth stop on his Asian tour explaining what happened during Nixon's visit to Peking.

There had been reports prior to Nixon's visit to China that the North Vietnamese politburo member who negotiated with Henry Kissinger in Paris, Le Duc Tho, might be in Peking when Nixon and Kissinger were.

100 Still Missing

MAN, W. Va. (AP) — The toll of known dead from the Feb. 26
flood in Buffalo Creek Hollow has risen to 183 and authorities say some 100 other persons are still missing.

Ten more bodies were found
Sunday as National Guardsmen used heavy equipment to comb
the wreckage of 16 coal camps which were in the path of a torrent of water released when a dam of coal mine wastes broke.

Guard officers estimated they have checked more than 70 per cent of the debris left in the wake of the flood down the 17-mile valley, but they declined to predict when the job will be completed.

Missing Man Finally Found

Greenville police officers found George Charles Simpkins, 20 of Route 4, Greenville about 2
a.m. Sunday morning.

Officers had been looking for the man since members of the Greenville Rescue Squad spent two days last week dragging the waters of the Tar River for Simpkins' body.

The dragging operations
began February 28 after Simpkins' truck was found abandoned on the Memorial Drive bridge crossing the river. A note on the vehicle's windshield, which contained a message for Simpkins' wife and signed
"Goodbye World", led officers to believe the man had jumped into the river.

A telephone call from Simpkins to members of his family

late Tuesday, after rescue workers had completed two days on the river, stopped further river searches.

Chief of Police E.G. Cannon noted this morning that Simpkins told officers yesterday that he had been in Orlando, Fla.
for the past week.

He was taken into custody as he rode into town with a man who had given him a ride from Wilson.

Simpkins was charged with abandoning the vehicle on the bridge and placed under a $50 bond for trial in District Court.

Only police and soldiers are allowed to carry guns in the Arabian country of Yemen.

It's bad enough being sick without having a sick health plan too.

Just ask someone who's been sick and then had to worry about paying medical bills. Sometimes it's enough to make you sick all over again.

The great thing about Blue Cross and Blue Shield coverage is that when you're sick, you're assured of the best health care protection there is. Whenever and wherever you need it. Getting well is your only concern. And paying the bills for your care and treatment is ours.

We've worked that way for a long time. Blue Cross in North Carolina was founded on the service benefit principle, back in 1933 when the idea of prepaid health care was brand-new. We were the first to offer it. And today, 39 years later, we still operate on the service benefit principle. We're also the largest, most experienced health service organization in the State. We offer a wide range of coverage, including not only hospital, surgical, nursing, and medical care, but outpatient care, emergency care, dental care, home care, and many others.

When it comes to prepaid health care, we're the experts. Because we've been at it longer — and done more of it — than anybody else. And we're still growing, still looking for new ways to improve and expand our service. For your protection.

Serving you is our only business.
