

Tobacco Transplanting Gets Underway

TOBACCO TIME AGAIN — Workers on the Steve Barrington farm near Grimesland set out tobacco in the first days of spring. Barrington and Willie Brame have approximately 25 acres of tobacco, and approximately one acre was set out today. Barrington stated that he was planning to wait till the first week in April, but decided to go ahead and start setting out the transplanted hills of tobacco today. (Reflector Staff Photo)

Britain Sending More Troops Bomb Wrecks Belfast Street

BELFAST (AP) — A giant explosion wrecked a main street in Belfast, killing a British army officer, and bombers tried to assassinate a Protestant leader in the Roman Catholic civil rights movement today as London formalized its takeover of Northern Ireland.

The British House of Commons voted 191 to 13 to endorse the peace plan of Prime Minister Edward Heath. The measure giving the British government complete control over the embattled province was passed by the House of Lords an hour later and then given approval by Queen Elizabeth II to become law. As the violence flared in Northern Ireland, the British Defense Ministry announced it would send 600 more troops to the province to help restore order, bringing the number of soldiers in Ulster to 15,100.

The blasts in Belfast were the third and fourth to shake Northern Ireland within hours. The explosion on Wellington Street, 100 yards from City Hall, went off in car and tore a huge section of the thoroughfare. It sent parts of the car soaring over four-story buildings into nearby streets and hurled the officer, a bomb disposal expert, against a wall. Maj. Bernard Calladene, 39, died in a hospital. He was the 292nd person killed in 32 months and the 56th British soldier to die in the Ulster troubles.

Police said the car was stolen in the Lower Falls area of Belfast, a stronghold of the Irish Republican Army, and blamed the IRA for the blast.

In Londonderry, guerrilla bombers tried to assassinate Ivan Cooper, a Protestant member of Northern Ireland's now-defunct parliament and a leading figure in the Roman Catholic civil rights movement.

Police said a bomb blew up Cooper's car outside his home minutes after he received a phone call telling him he was urgently needed at a hospital.

Earlier in the evening, a 150-pound gelignite charge exploded in a truck in downtown Belfast, demolishing the vehicle and blowing out windows for hundreds of yards, and three men bombed a Protestant-owned food store after warning employees and customers they had five minutes to clear out. No casualties were reported.

The army was preparing for the Easter weekend, traditionally a tense time for Catholic-Protestant relations in Northern Ireland.

House Clean-Water Bill Faces Compromise Talks Following Easter Recess

By JAMES PHILLIPS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has given quick approval to a $24.6-billion clean-water bill designed to purify the nation's rivers, streams and lakes.

Following Wednesday's 378-14 vote, the chief sponsor, Rep. John Blatnik, D-Minn., said a House-Senate conference will go to work to hammer out a compromise after the Easter recess.

But major differences between the House version and the Senate bill passed last November are expected to delay agreement for weeks.

The House version calls for the federal government to spend $18.3 billion during the fiscal years 1973-75 to help communities finance construction of sewage-treatment works and sewage-collection systems.

The Senate bill authorizes total construction grants of only $14 billion. None of the Senate money is earmarked for sewage-collection systems.

The Senate also called for industries to utilize by 1981 the best available technology to treat wastes discharged into waterways. The House, by comparison, calls on the National Academy of Sciences to complete within two years a cost study to determine if the 1981 requirement would be economically disruptive.

If it is found economically feasible, Congress would set the 1981 deadline.

The Senate also gave industries until 1985 to eliminate discharges into waterways.

The House merely cited the 1985 no-discharge deadline as a national goal and not governmental policy.

Another significant difference is abolition of the 1899 Refuse Act permit system under the House measure. It would be replaced with a joint federal-state permit system under which industries would receive permits from the states operating under federal guidelines.

The Senate version does not eliminate the Refuse Act permit system, but simply adds an additional federal-state system. House backers consider the Senate version duplicative.

The House bill also prohibits persons from filing suits against polluters unless they could prove their direct interests were involved.

The Senate bill authorizes the courts to decide who has the right to sue for clean water.

The defeat of several amendments backed by environmental groups prompted a spokesman for the Environmental Policy Center to say passage of the House bill was a "fraud on the public, to pass a dirty-water bill in a clean-water wrapping."

The Drunk Patrol Goes To Work As Night Falls

By TOM WELLS
Associated Press Writer
CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — When the sun goes down, the drunk patrol comes out.

And if you've ever been to a party, had a few drinks and hugged the side of the road while driving home, then you're just the guy the drunk patrol is out to get.

Charlotte and 28 other cities are using special police units in an experimental program to round up drunk drivers. If it's successful, federal funds may be spent for drunk patrols in other cities.

The money comes from the Highway Safety Administration of the Department of Transportation.

Twenty-four city, county and state officers in Charlotte and Mecklenburg County have been given two weeks of training for the drunk patrol, whose real name is the Alcohol Safety Action Program.

The force roams the city and county from 6 p.m. to 4 a.m. It has been trained to look for more than just cars that zig-zag. Drivers that hug the side of the road are suspects. So are drivers who poke along and ones who slow down before green lights.

The officers also prowling the parking lots of nightspots to nab drunk drivers before they even make it to their cars.

There usually are about 1,200 arrests for drunken driving each year in Charlotte and Mecklenburg County, or an average of about 100 a month.

The drunk patrol itself made 234 arrests for drunken driving from Dec. 29 when the program began to Feb. 24, the date of the last report. That's an average of about 120 arrests a month for the small force.

The ASAP force also has been trained how to determine if a driver is drunk after he has been stopped. A breathalyzer is used to measure the alcohol content of the blood.

The policemen also ask drivers to try to walk a straight line or attempt to pick up coins that have been tossed on the ground.

Meanwhile, the U.S. Command reported that one American soldier was killed just before dusk Wednesday when enemy troops attacked the position of the 3rd Brigade, 1st Air Cavalry Division, 30 miles east of Saigon. Small arms and automatic weapons fire was exchanged. Enemy losses were not known.

Bolivia Orders Russians To Go

LA PAZ (AP) — Bolivia's right-wing military government has ordered 119 Soviet Embassy personnel out of the country after implying the mission was financing leftist rebel movements.

It is the largest such contingent expelled from any country in recent memory. Last September, Britain kicked out 105 Russians after a defecting Soviet agent blew the lid on a spy network.

Foreign Minister Mario Gutierrez said in a nationwide broadcast Wednesday the Russians have seven days to leave the country and that the ouster rectified "a situation capable of disturbing the public tranquility."

He said documents had fallen into his hands which outlined a plan for "foreign intervention in Bolivia," and that one of the papers gave instructions for the "landing of men" Tuesday in various parts of Bolivia.

He said there had been concern among the Bolivian military over the large size of the Soviet delegation, and that the ouster involved a "question of sovereignty."

"We hope that the Soviet government will understand our decision," he added.

Gabriel Heatter Is Dead; Long Illness

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — Gabriel Heatter, who kept wartime audiences turned to their radios with "there's good news tonight," died today at the age of 82 at the Miami Heart Institute following a five-year illness.

Heatter, whose deep baritone brought the London blitz and the Pacific jungle into American living rooms, died of pneumonia, said son-in-law Ralph Daniels.

The pioneer newscaster retired from his national nightly broadcast on the Mutual network in 1961. His last broadcast, over a Miami radio station, was May 23, 1965.

Heatter suffered a stroke that partially paralyzed his right side five years ago.

The broadcaster called Winston Churchill and President Franklin D. Roosevelt his friends, and when birthdays rolled around during his later years, often borrowed the British prime minister's birthday quote for his own: "In view of the alternatives, it feels pretty good."

The newscaster used to open every broadcast during the dark days of World War II with "Ah, yes, there's good news tonight," and the news of lost battles and death counts was always saved until later.

Big Computerized Gunship Shot Down By Missile

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — An enemy surface-to-air missile shot down one of the United States' biggest computerized gunships, the spearhead of the secret electronics war in Laos, and all 14 crewmen aboard are missing, the U.S. Command announced today. A search-and-rescue mission proved unsuccessful, and fighter escort pilots said they observed no parachutes after the AC130 gunship was hit by one of three surface-to-air missiles fired at the flight during a predawn mission Wednesday. There was little hope that any of the men survived.

It was the first AC130 reported downed by a surface-to-air missile. Two other AC130s were lost to an-tiircraft artillery fire, in May 1969 and April 1970.

Armed with television cameras and infrared sensing devices that can pierce the darkness, the AC130 was roaming over the Ho Chi Minh trail looking for North Vietnamese supply trucks.

At about 4 a.m., three SAMs were fired at the AC130 and its escorts about 10 miles southwest of Sepone, a key transshipment point on the Ho Chi Minh trail, about 25 miles from the South Vietnamese border and an equal distance south of the demilitarized zone. One of the 37-foot long, Soviet-built missiles scored a direct hit.

The AC130, called the "Spectre," is the Air Force's biggest destroyer of North Vietnamese trucks moving supplies southward down the 250-mile long Ho Chi Minh trail.

Most of the North Vietnamese truck traffic moves at night, and the AC130 has television that allows the crew to watch the ground illuminated only by moonlight. It also carries infrared devices that can pick up the heat from truck engines.

Congressman's Wife Enjoys Campaign Trail

"I am having the time of my life campaigning and enjoying every minute of it," said Mrs. Nick Galifianakis, whose husband is running for the U.S. Senate.

Mrs. Galifianakis stopped over in Greenville yesterday morning for a coffee break at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Moore. Moore is Pitt County campaign manager for the congressman.

She spends five-six days a week on the campaign trail traveling by car or flying statewide. She spends the rest of the time at home in Durham with her children.

"While at home, I take care of housewife duties—I have almost a week of household chores to do in one or two days," she added.

Mrs. Galifianakis' daily activities might include political rally appearances, receptions, luncheons, campaigning on the street and in country stores, speaking engagements mostly to women's groups, visiting college campuses, touring various manufacturing concerns, television talk shows and newspaper interviews.

"One reason I enjoy campaigning so much is because people have been very nice and receptive to me in every place I have been.

"Thus far I have visited about 47 of the state's 100 counties and I plan to spend sometime in the remaining counties in the next five weeks," she remarked.

"One of the most exciting things in this campaign, to me, is the fact that my husband's candidacy gives North Carolinians an opportunity to break the pattern of being represented in the U.S. Senate by appointees," stated Mrs. Galifianakis.

Another exciting topic of conversation to Mrs. Galifianakis are her children, Jon Mark, five, Katie, eight, and Stephanie, 18. "Each of our children does their own thing campaigning," she added.

Congressman Galifianakis represents the Fourth District of North Carolina.

EYE OF THE BEHOLDER
NEW YORK (UPI)—What makes a bride beautiful? In a survey, the Bridal and Bridesmaids Apparel Association put the question to psychiatrists and psychologists. One psychiatrist answered: "The groom, I guess."

Homemaker's Haven By Evelyn Spangler Pitt Home Agent

Children who ate breakfast with other family members ate much better than those who ate alone. When more ate together, the better the breakfast.

Mother's presence was most important. If they helped Mother prepare breakfast or had Mother prepare it for them, they ate better than when another person did the job.

Children like to look to adults for their eating habits. "Do as I say not as I do" doesn't seem to do the trick.

At the end of the study the youngsters were asked what would help them eat a better breakfast. Their answers were: "getting up earlier", "not eating before bedtime", "having the kind of food I want", "going to bed earlier", "someone to prepare breakfast for me", and "someone to eat breakfast with me".

SOME SUGGESTIONS FOR BETTER BREAKFASTS

1. Get the family up in time so that they will not have to eat on the run.
2. Have a variety of foods. This should include different kinds of breads, cereals, meats and fruits.
3. If every minute counts, set the table the night before. Have canned or frozen juice open, measure any quick-cooking cereal.
4. Have different members of the family help with the preparation and clean up.
5. Make breakfast time a fun time for the entire family.
6. Be sure that the breakfast is attractive looking.
7. Make breakfast at your home worth getting up for.

Doctor's Day Being Observed

Governor Robert Scott has proclaimed today as Doctor's Day in North Carolina.

In this annual observance, doctors living and those who have died are being remembered for services rendered to their communities.

The idea of a day to honor members of the medical profession originated in Georgia in 1933, when Mrs. C. B. Almond of Winder introduced a resolution setting aside March 30 of each year as Doctor's Day.

In Greenville, the primary method of marking the day for the past years has been the giving, by doctors' wives, of some gift which will serve a public need as well as being of lasting value to the community.

This year, the Pitt County Medical Auxiliary has purchased a book for the Health Affairs Library. Mrs. Michael Bell, librarian, accepted the volume, "The Medical Messiahs," on behalf of the library.

Mrs. John L. Winstead Jr. served as chairman for the Doctors' Day for the local auxiliary.

Last year, a framed print by Donald Sexauer, was presented to the Greenville Art Center.

Mrs. J. Edwin Clement is president of the local auxiliary.

Bell Ringer Receives Ring

ST. HELENS, England (WNS)

— Barbara Hosker met soldier Martin Moylan at a friends wedding here six months ago. Romance blossomed, but Moylan had to return to army duty in Belfast the next day. Barbara called him six times a day from the phone booth just down the block from her home. When Martin got leave for a date with Barbara, he brought a wedding ring with him. On their third date, they were married. "I spent about $200 on phone calls, but it was worth it," smiled the bride.

No One Proposed This Marriage

By Abigail Van Buren

(c 1972 by Chicago Tribune-M. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: About a week ago my boy friend and I finally set our wedding date. Nobody was surprised because we had been going together nearly three years.

My mother asked me how he "proposed" to me, and I told her I didn't think he proposed at all. She looked at me like I was crazy, and asked, "YOU didn't propose to HIM, did you?"

Then we got into a big discussion, and I told her that nobody proposed to anybody, we decided a long time ago to be married. My mother insisted there had to be a "proposal". I still can't remember any.

I have since asked my married friends, and they can't remember their "proposals" either.

Can it be that proposals have gone out of style? Please put your answer in the paper. My mother still thinks I'm crazy. And sign me "GETTING MARRIED WITHOUT A PROPOSAL", or

DEAR SALLY: You're not "crazy", I'll bet, that nine out of ten couples who have gone together for a long time have no recollection of a "proposal." (If any of you readers can recall the time, place [and words] of YOUR proposal, I'd like to hear from you.)

DEAR ABBY: I do not want to go to my funeral! I have devised the following plan to avoid it:

While my funeral service is being preached at the church, I have instructed the undertaker to take my body to the cemetery and bury it. Should anyone care to look at my grave after the services have been concluded at the church, they may do so.

It is grief enough to lose a loved one without having to follow a closed box in and out of the church, and then slowly to the cemetery. And then have to stand there and watch it lowered into the ground.

Not for me! Some of my family thinks I am nuts. What do you think? I'd like the opinions of others, too.

MRS. M. B. B.
GREENWOOD, S. C.

DEAR MRS. B.: I am with those of your family who do NOT think you are "nuts".

DEAR ABBY: Our 12-year-old son is our problem. He refuses to participate in any sport. My husband says his coordination is good and he could do well in sports if he tried. My husband was an outstanding athlete and it kills him to see his only son shy away from it.

Our son is interested in sports as a spectator, however; he begs to go to the games with his father, and he gets his homework done ahead of time so he can watch sports on television.

How can we get him to participate? He's been this way since he was very young.

HIS MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: As I see it, the problem is your husband, not your son. In his eagerness to have his son become an outstanding athlete, he's turned the boy off.

Your son, rather than fail and disappoint his father, is protecting himself by refusing to participate.

Perhaps if your husband emphasized the fun and exercise of playing rather than the importance of winning, your son would become a participant instead of an observer. I hope so.

CONFIDENTIAL TO DECATUR DREAMER: Don't tell your husband about your dream. You may give him ideas he never dreamed about.

DEAR ABBY: Please answer YES or NO. Do you think marijuana should be legalized? I have a bet riding on your answer.

SAN JOSE

DEAR SAN JOSE: Don't spend the ten yet. I would have to see more evidence before answering one way or the other. I do believe, however, that the LAWS concerning marijuana should be updated.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Crepe Uses Vary From Appetizer To Desserts

By TOM HOGGE

Associated Press Writer

The French call them crepes but those tissue-thin, lacy pancakes are among the most international dishes in the world.

The Chinese stuff them with shrimp, pork and vegetables to make their famed egg roll; the Russians fill them with sour cream and caviar to create the blinshiki; the Hungarians cram them with various sweet fillings and call the result palacsinti; and Jewish cooks fill them with sweetened cottage cheese and fruit for blintzes.

Tender crepes serve as the basis for a number of famed French dishes. .led with cheese, meat, creamed chicken or seafood, these egg-enriched pancakes can be offered for luncheon or as a first course for dinner. Glaced and flamed with liquors, they become dessert.

But whatever form they take, crepes are looked on as among the most elegant of dishes.

Some of the most delicious crepes I have sampled are produced in the kitchen of a friendly New York bistro run by an amiable Breton couple, Albert and Lisette Deniel.

The Deniels operate La Grille, a cozy little spot on New York's West Side. It is a simple, unpretentious place, but it has a fine cuisine that is truly French.

The fillings for Crepes Al La Albert Deniel run the spectrum from shellfish to sugared fruit with whipped cream. Here is his recipe for the pancake with a mushroom filling.

Those Voting Machines, Again

We've talked about voting machines for Pitt County in the past. It's time to do it again.

The advantages are obvious enough: the process of actually casting a vote is speeded; and the counting of votes is something that can be done in minutes.

Tallying votes is painfully slow, when at day's end the ballots are removed from their boxes and counted, and counted, and counted.

On occasions when the turnout is good, the counting process can last until well after midnight. It isn't anything to look forward to by a team of pollholders, and it's a strain on the patience of interested voters who are anxious to know results, any kind of results.

It's an overtime job for people in the news business too. They wait, and wait and wait. They tell impatient voices on the telephone that "No, we haven't anything yet from that precinct."

And "I'm sorry, but the returns are coming in slow tonight; they have a big job out in that section."

Why no voting machines in Pitt?

It's the expense. Practical people just haven't been able to harmonize the facts of spending many thousands of dollars for the machines which are relatively seldom in demand. Elections are not monthly or even annual events.

But now Martin County has arranged to acquire voting machines. Martin County, with a 1970 census of 24,730 people as compared to Pitt's 73,900...Somehow, Martin County equated the convenience of voting machines for its relatively small population to the cost.

You can count on it: the people who are responsible for tabulating the 1972 votes in Pitt County, and the people responsible for disseminating that momentous news, are going to be casting convetous eyes on our neighboring county.

Low-Key Race For Governor

By BRYAN HAISLIP

RALEIGH, N.C. — "I'm Pat Taylor. I'm running for governor."

The candidate comes on folksy and low-key. If the drawl and amiable manner leaves the impression of a country lawyer in the city on business, it's because that's what he is.

Hoyt Patrick Taylor, Jr., followed his father as a Wadesboro attorney, state legislator, and lieutenant governor. Now he aims a pace beyond the paternal footsteps.

Polls and political observers rate him the front-runner in the field of six for the Democratic nomination in the May 6 primary.

The Taylor campaign style is shy of theatrics and short on promises. "I've never said I could solve all the problems," he insisted.

"I'm not going to do or say anything in this campaign that would tend to divide the people of our state. A divided people can't accomplish much..."

Questions and Answers

The following question-and-answer exchanges, drawn from a recent interview, gives Taylor's views of a variety of subjects.

Q: State planners project a $200 million deficit by 1975 at the present level of spending. Will new taxes be necessary in the next governor's administration?

A: I've seen those figures, but I somewhat doubt that's going to be the case.

The existing revenue structure has been well able to support our level or services. As a matter of fact, almost every two years we have had a credit balance. I believe an expanding economy will take care of our present level of services.

Q: As governor, would you simply maintain present services?

A: I certainly would do more than just keep the status quo in state government. We need certain programs. It would be a question of what new services and whether money is available. A credit balance of $140 to $150 million is within the realm of a good prediction.

Revenue sharing also could mean substantial sums from Washington which would change our revenue picture.

Q: You have said you are reluctant to see a governor elected by public relations techniques. How should voters decide?

Personal Campaigning Favored

A: I wish all candidates could just talk to the people and let them get our views on things, rather than have an advertising agency make you look like something you're not — and mine may be just like all the rest.

What the people of North Carolina want to know is how good a governor you're going to be.

Q: Would a debate serve a good purpose?

A: It would suit me fine. I've said I would debate any candidate if the issues and the time were appropriate. It would have to be right well structured to be meaningful.

I remember the Kennedy-Nixon debates in 1960. All they talked about was Quemoy and Matsu. I haven't heard of word about those islands since. I'd hate to think the people had to decide which one would be president on an issue no more important than that.

Q: Has there been discrimination against blacks and women, as some of their spokesmen claim, in state appointments?

A: Their number in state government is far out of proportion to their percentage of the population. Figures show that.

I'm not going to do it strictly on a basis of percentages, but I certainly mean to increase the number of appointments of women and blacks.

Q: Do you favor the reduction of penalties for the use of marijuana?

A: Drugs scare me literally to death. I've always had the suspicion that the relationship between marijuana and heroin might be the same as that between beer and whiskey. One leads to the other.

I would not be opposed to reducing the penalty for the use of marijuana from a felony to a misdemeanor, under certain circumstances. I'm not in favor of reducing the penalty for those who sell it.

Q: As governor, will you support development of a medical school at East Carolina University?

A: A committee of doctors is preparing for me a survey of medical services in the state. That's one of the things they are looking at. I will say before May 6 specific recommendations I will make to the '73 General Assembly.

We've got to do something to try to get doctors in rural North Carolina. Conventional methods apparently are not working. Some kind of incentive may be an answer.

Anyone May Buy Piece Of The Capitol Dome

Now it appears that Tar Heels, or anyone else, may have the chance at a piece of the 132 year old State Capitol dome.

The copper dome is to be removed as a part of the Capitol's remodeling and State Archivist H. G. Jones has suggested that the copper be converted into commemorative coins and medals making the bicentennial of the Declaration of Independence.

The idea really attracts our attention because Mr. Jones feels the profits could offset the cost of repairs to the Capitol.

It selling off the dome in this manner will bring in revenue, we are all for it!

Child Abuse Is Quite Common

By JOHN KILGO

RALEIGH — Child abuse is prevalent in every North Carolina county and Gov. Bob Scott hopes to be able to do something about it.

After Gov. Scott cited the problem, I contacted Judy Bowers, acting supervisor of Protective Services for State Social Services.

"On some days," Miss Bowers said, "this department gets as many as 20 reports of child abuse or child neglect. We're getting more such cases reported now than ever before."

Gov. Scott says in the past eight months in North Carolina, parental abuse has killed 23 children and injured 356 others.

The North Carolina legislature passed a law last July that makes it mandatory for citizens to report suspected cases of child neglect or child abuse to their county social services office.

"Before last July it was a voluntary thing," Miss Bowers said, "but now people are required by law to report such cases and we have many such reports coming in."

Since the law went on the books, the State Social Services office has received reports of mistreatment of children in 89 of North Carolina's 100 counties.

"I would say from that statistic that we aren't getting 100 per cent compliance with the new law," Miss Bowers said, "because we know that child abuse and child neglect is happening in every county in this state. But we are getting many, many more referrals because of the law."

Just as child abuse is not limited to any one section of the State, it's also not limited to any one section of society.

"We have child abuse and child neglect in lower income families," Miss Bowers said, "but we also have cases in middle and upper incomes. The cases occur in white and black families."

Child abuse involves the child being beaten severely. Child neglect covers a child not being fed of clothed adequately, not given proper medical attention educational opportunities, etc.

What does the State hope to do to reduce the number of child abuse cases?

"First," Miss Bowers tells me, "we must get the story told to the people of this State. They need to understand that the new law requires them to report cases of child abuse or child neglect to their county social services office. The law no longer allows them to turn their head and say it's none of their business."

Miss Bowers says a trend seems to indicate that many pre-school children are victims of child abuse or child neglect.

"If these cases aren't corrected soon," Miss Bowers says, "the repercussions might be felt for a lifetime. We need to learn about these cases as quickly as possible and then get with the families and stay with

Equal Rights Of Women

By J.J. KILPATRICK

It was late on the afternoon of Wednesday, March 22, when the Equal Rights for Women amendment finally came to a vote in the Senate. Delaware's William Roth happened to be presiding.

"On this vote," he announced, "the yeas are 84, the nays are 8. Two-thirds of the Senators present having voted in the affirmative, the joint resolution is passed."

The packed galleries broke into happy applause. It took several minutes of gavel-pounding to get things quieted down. After more than 50 years of unrelenting effort, proponents of the ERA had swept the field. By Thursday morning, Hawaii had become the first State to ratify. Half a dozen others since have leaped aboard. The ERA may well break the 100-day record set last year in ratification of the 18-year-old vote amendment. There is no army so irresistible, as they say, as an idea whose hour has come.

Very well. The amendment, by its own terms, will become effective two years after ratification. This would indicate an operative date in the summer of 1974. A prediction may be ventured: By the summer of 1976, the jubilation singing will have died; March 22 of summer of 1972 will be denounced here and there as Black Wednesday; and you will be hearing anguished cries for repeal.

The amendment is unmitigated folly. It cannot be compared with the 19th Amendment, which in 1920 guaranteed the woman should have an equal right to vote. The legal effect of that amendment was clear, crisp, and incapable of misunderstanding. In the case of the ERA, though thousands of pages of law review articles have been written about it, the legal effects are beyond calculation. Harvard's Professor Paul Freund, a great constitutional scholar, has said that the Equal Rights Amendment "will open a Pandora's box of legal complications," but the hoary allusion paints an inadequate picture.

What we are talking about, in terms of this amendment, is "equality of rights under the law." Such equality henceforth shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of sex. The phrase has a beautiful bell-like ring. Who could oppose equality of rights under the law?

Senator Sam Ervin could — and he had the courageous assistance, at the last ditch, of Senators Bennett, Buckley, Cotton, Fannin, Goldwater, Hansen and Stennis. Mississippi's James Eastland

Other Editors Say Check The Violence

(Raleigh Times)

Now that college basketball has temporarily taken a back seat for five months, coaches, players, athletic directors and other officials should brainstorm methods of preventing violence next season.

Normally cool and calculated referees are expressing disgust with the aggressiveness some participants are showing.

When fights like Ohio State-Minnesota and South Carolina-Marquette keep cropping up, something must be done to change the style of officiating or the temperaments of the players. The basic fouls for physical contact have remained the same, but the game has become much rougher physically. This trend should be halted.

One veteran ref of six NCAA finals said he gets angry when he sees kids on playgrounds poking the man with the ball in the ribs and "other sly stuff." Jabbing on the college court seem to justify this type of unsportsmanship to many boys playing basketball.

This official also scorns the "win no matter what" attitude in collegiate athletic circles. A great deal of this attitude is generated by the coaches whose job and financial security rest on winning. The pressure from the coaches bears down on the players, and the intensity of the hope stars cannot be hidden from the spectators.

In response to some foul calls, the audience throws objects on the court such as a dead cat, another referee recalled.

Several factors are causing this accentuated passion for winning, interlaced with violence. Pointing solely at the players for the solution is inadequate. To call a foul on every physical contact between players would turn the games into a foul-shooting match.

The coaches have a deep responsibility to stop the violence. They should have the control over the players that would give them that leverage.

Part of the cause lies with the audience. As they goggle at the fights, it reflects the unhealthy nature of our society. Unfortunately, our country's passion for violence shows up in the basketball arena as what we are looking for.

Living In A Garden

By JOY STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP). — With our apple-poinsettia plant—a product of my husband's original approach to gardening—as the drawing card, any day now the world's scientists should be beating a path to the door of our vine-covered cottage.

Only it's not a cottage—it's an apartment—and it's not vine-covered. The vines are all on the inside, along with other assorted greenery in planters, clay pots, coffee cans, muffin tins, paper cups, painted tea canisters, aluminum foil pans and cut-off milk cartons.

Our piece de resistance of the moment is a small apple tree and a large poinsettia plant, compatibly sharing a flower pot, rainwater baths and the loving attention of the gardener in residence.

Originally the pot was solely the property of a poinsettia we received for Christmas, which continued to bloom defiantly for two months after the holiday. Even then, though the red leaves finally fell off, new green ones started sprouting.

Since in our household no member of the plant kingdom can be discarded until a panel of three horticulturists has certified that it is no longer capable of photosynthesis, this particular pot retained a place of honor on the dining room window sill.

No little plot of land, even one already occupied by an out-of-date yule plant, goes wasted in our house. Thus my Johnny Applesseed utilized the extra space for the beginnings of an apple orchard, and the poinsettia-cum-apple-tree is already the talk of local botanical circles.

This, however, is but a minor sapling in our extensive forest.

Every ledge, tabletop, bookcase, dresser and countertop has its share of vegetation, and when the flat surfaces ran out

40 Years Ago Today

By GWYN COGHILL

March 30, 1932

The Pur-Old Company of Norfolk has made Greenville a distributing point for their products and will begin erection of a plant in the western section of the city immediately, it was announced today. The company is at present operating the Dail filling station at the corner of Fifth and Cotanche Streets and will also occupy a station now being erected at the site of the miniature golf course at the corner of Washington and Fourth Streets.

The new Ford V-8 Tudor Sedan will be on display tomorrow at the John Flanagan Buggy Company on east Fourth Street. A distinguishing feature of the new automobile is the V-type radiator shell with its attractive grill.

J.S. Ficklen, prominent Greenville tobaccoist, was re-elected president of the Greenville Country Club at the annual meeting of stockholders of the organization yesterday afternoon. J. T. Little was re-elected vice president.

Strength For Today

SACRAMENT

"And when the hour was come, he sat down, and the apostles with him."

In these simple words St. Luke introduces the account of our Lord's institution of the Last Supper. He took the bread and wine, declaring the former to be his body and the latter his blood, and commanded his disciples to partake of these in remembrance of him.

That was a little over nineteen hundred years ago, and to this day the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper is observed in every branch of the Christian Church. It is the reenactment in symbolic form of the crucifixion. It is designed to hold fast in our memory the realization that our Lord's death on the cross is the most important circumstance in the whole of Christian belief and practice. Furthermore, it emphasizes the unity which exists between Christ and his followers. As the bread and wine, consumed, becomes part of the worshiper's body, so Christ, spiritually partaken of, becomes part of the worshiper's life.

Also, this sacrament teaches us that the human soul can feed on nothing less than Christ himself. He is our spiritual sustenance.

These facts need to be recalled to our minds on Thursday of Holy Week. In the quiet of these hours we remind ourselves that this man who claimed to be our Lord is our Lord indeed, that he is one with us and that, spiritually, we feed upon him and upon him alone.

Handicap In Getting Mortgage

By ELMER ROESSNER

There is still prejudice against granting a mortgage to a woman, John P. Farry, president of the United States Savings and Loan League concedes. "But generally speaking, the working woman or the divorcee or widow with her own financial resources has a far better chance of getting a mortgage today than she would even two or three years ago," he said.

Reasons for refusing to grant mortgages to women have been doubts about her job-holding ability, the danger of idleness (and missed payments) because of pregnancy, lower average earning power, and doubt that a woman can keep mortgaged property in repair.

The increasing number of women holding good jobs, the Women's Lib and consumer movements, and the increase in condominiums, in which upkeep is prearranged, have all helped lenders reconsider

Furthermore, by the years it takes for the sex amendment to be ratified by the states — if it ever is — women will be as accepted in the mortgage market as readily as they are in the corner supermarket.

Compensating Balances May Embarrass Banks

Chairman William J. Casey of the Securities and Exchange Commission has announced that it may require corporation filings to disclose compensating balances on deposits with banks. When banks make loans to corporations, they often require that a certain percentage be left on deposit as a "compensating balance." This, in effect, increases the interest rate the bank gets.

COMMENT: This could be useful information. If a corporation's compensating balance was unduly large, say 35 per cent, it would be a tip-off that the bank didn't have confidence in the new project. On the other hand, publicizing compensating balances might embarrass banks if they tended to show favoritism.

It's Too Early To Tell

There is not enough evidence yet to be optimistic or pessimistic about the recovery possibilities during 1972, the National Association of Credit Management says.

COMMENT: Right! There has been an overload of wishful thinking about the future of business, worsened by political bias and efforts to bull or bear the market. There have been a lot of straws blowing in all directions, but almost no solid gold indicators.

Returning For Consultations

PARIS (AP) — U.S. Ambassador William J. Porter, head of the American delegation to the Vietnam peace talks is returning to Washington today for consultations, his office announced.

Porter's trip comes a week after he indefinitely suspended the peace talks, claiming the Communist delegations were not negotiating seriously.

Porter informed the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong he would resume the talks if they are "disposed to engage in meaningful exchanges on the various points raised in your and our peace-proposals." He said he would await "some sign" the Communists are willing to accept the U.S. plan.

The North Vietnamese insisted Wednesday, however, that the United States take the first step toward resuming the talks.

A New Look For Troopers

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina Highway Patrolmen will be sporting a new look in about two months, when they trade in their gray uniform shirts for ones with black shoulder straps and pocket flaps.

The new shirts will also have a newly designed shoulder patch. It will be black outlined in gold with a red, white and blue state seal surrounded by a gold outline of the state. The patch will carry the words, "North Carolina Highway Patrol." Patrol Commander Col. E. C. Guy and Motor Vehicles Commissioner Joe W. Garrett announced the uniform changes Wednesday.

Guy said troopers had been shown samples of the new attire and "The change received unanimous approval."

A spokesman said, however, that the old gray uniform shirts will not go to waste. The troopers will wear them in winter under their jackets.

Kilpatrick . . .

(Continued From Page 4) was paired against the resolution. Time will prove their apprehensions and reservations well founded. They perceived that the ERA, as part of the supreme law of the land, necessarily must impose sexual equality by law upon a society that does not want sexual equality in fact.

Take one of the simpler legal complications. Under Social Security, women may retire at 62, men at 65. This distinction must now be obliterated. To achieve equalization by lowering the male retirement age would create serious social and economic consequences, and would play havoc with the actuarial soundness of the Social Security system. But to raise the women's age would set off political explosions.

The Senate debate heard much talk of compulsory military service for women. Once the ERA becomes effective, every 18-year-old girl will have to register for the draft. These young women then must be called into service under precisely the same terms and conditions now applied to men. This means combat duty; anything less would be constitutionally impermissible. As Hawaii's Senator Fong uneasily speculated, the privacy that might be accorded women, if any, "is uncertain." Legal complications at the Federal level, by comparison with those involved in State legislation, are models of simplicity. The Equal Rights Amendment overnight will abolish hundreds of protective statutes dealing with inheritance, marriage, child support, and industrial life. Some of these State laws are foolish; these laws might have been repealed through the normal legislative process. But the effect of the ERA will be to dump them all — rest periods, maternity leave, occupational limitations, the whole works. It is futile to object. The rush for ratification is on — Hawaii, Iowa, New Hampshire, Nebraska, Delaware, Idaho, Florida. Senator Ervin is no King Canute. The tide rolls in. But three or four years hence, when the impact of the ERA begins to be felt, a great many women will be finding that this beautiful equality is not so beautiful after all.

Count 1.5 Million Servants Of Church

VATICAN CITY (AP) — A million and a half persons around the world are in the direct service of the Roman Catholic Church as priests, friars or nuns, according to Vatican statistics made public today.

Still, the Church was suffering from a shortage. Thousands defect every year, and new additions hardly make up for those who die.

The figures were part of the first modern book of Church statistics prepared by the Vatican.

The book's abstract put the number of persons baptized into the Roman Catholic Church at 633 million, or 18 per cent of the world population at the end of 1969.

Priests totaled 425,000. Those who quit the priesthood to marry or for other reasons were 13,450 in the six years from 1964 through 1969, or 2,241 each year—"far less than the fantastic figures that have been circulating," commented the Vatican weekly Osservatore della Domenica.

However, the priests who defected or died outnumbered the ones ordained in 1969. There were 5,156 new diocesan priests against 5,014 who died and 1,780 who defected.

Annual Report Due On Social Security

People who got one or more monthly social security retirement or survivors checks in 1971 and who earned over $1,680 in 1971 are required to submit an annual report of their earnings to social security by April 17, according to William McClure, social security district manager in Greenville, N. C.

The annual report shows how much a social security beneficiary earned last year in wages and self-employment income, and what, if any, he expects to earn this year. The key word is "earn". Income from interest, dividends, other retirement plans, rent, or sale of real or personal property (unless received by a real estate dealer), should not be included in the report of earnings, according to Mr. McClure.

The annual report is used to determine if a beneficiary was paid the correct amount of cash payment last year. It's also used to adjust his monthly payments for this year according to his estimated earnings, the district manager said.

Disability beneficiaries are not required to make an annual report as they must report any work regardless of the amount if they get a job. Also beneficiaries who were over 72 during all months of 1971 do not need to make an annual report of earnings. "There are penalties for beneficiaries who file late or do not file an annual report when one is due, unless good cause can be shown. A penalty means a loss of benefits," Mr. McClure said. Annual report forms are available at any social security office.

Harrisbug Case Goes Before The Jury Today

By LEE LINDER
Associated Press Writer
HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — The Harrisburg seven conspiracy case, ringing with charges that the prosecution "twisted and tortured" its evidence in an effort to prove an alleged plot to kidnap White House aide Henry A. Kissinger, headed for the jury today.

Deliberations on the fate of the Rev. Philip Berrigan and six other militant antiwar activists were to begin following U.S. District Court Judge R. Dixon Herman's charge to the jury of nine women and three men.

"This is the first case I have ever seen—and I hope it is the last—in which the government of the United States tried to prove a crime by dramatic readings rather than evidence," chief defense lawyer, Ramsey Clark, a former U.S. attorney general, charged Wednesday in wrapping up his final argument.

Opposing lawyers agreed the case rested on the testimony of paid FBI informer Boyd Douglas Jr., the government's chief witness, and a pile of letters, most of them between the imprisoned priest and Sister Elizabeth McAlister.

While the defense argued the prosecution's case added up to zero, the government insisted it had proved an ongoing conspiracy to kidnap Kissinger, to bomb government property, and to destroy draft files.

"The case is built on Boyd Douglas and the letters," Clark said.

"Pure and simple, Boyd Douglas and the letters—a man you can't believe and letters that don't say what the government tried to twist and torture them into saying."

But chief prosecutor William Lynch, in a 90-minute rebuttal, said "Words are the trigger of action, and that is what these letters are about."

Berrigan, 48, is serving a six-year term for destroying draft records in Maryland. He and his codefendants are charged with conspiring in 1970 to kidnap Kissinger, to blow up government heating tunnels in Washington and vandalize Selective Service offices.

Douglas and Berrigan met in the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., where the government alleges the "revolutionary priest" masterminded the conspiracy.

Douglas, serving time on a bad check conviction, was a convict on study-release and able to attend daytime classes at nearby Bucknell University. He has testified that Berrigan recruited him to smuggle letters in and out of prison, and that he turned informer for the FBI after he was caught.

Big Inning Blitzes Bucs For UNC-W

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

The University of North Carolina-Wilmington pushed over eight big runs in the fifth inning, four of them unearned, and rolled to a 13-6 victory over East Carolina University yesterday.

It was the second straight loss for the Pirates, who had opened up with six straight victories. For Wilmington, it was their 11th victory in 14 starts.

Both teams hit the ball well. Wilmington banged out as many hits as they had runs, 13, while the Pirates came up with just two less, 11. But the difference was that the Pirates were not able to bunch theirs, and Wilmington was. The Bucs also made their four errors in key places, while Wilmington's didn't hurt them quite as badly.

One thing the game did do, however, was give ECU Coach Earl Smith a chance to see a lot of his players in action. He used 20, including six pitchers.

Bill Godwin, who started on the mound for the Pirates got the loss, his first in three games. Wilmington's Eddie booth, who went the first eight innings, won his third game in four decisions.

The Seahawks hopped on Godwin, a Wilmington native, in the first inning, pushing over three runs to take the lead — and they never let it go.

Howie Edgerton led off with a single into left, hitting the first pitch of the game. Bruce Cavanaugh walked, but was cut down at second on Billy Smith's grounder to first. Dave Sandlin then ripped one up the right-center alley, scoring both Edgerton and Smith. Sandlin finished up on third with a triple. Greg Dalton followed with a hit into left, easily bringing Sandlin in with the third run.

The Bucs came up with a threat in the bottom of the inning, but that was all it turned out to be. With one out, Ralph Lamm singled and went to second on an error. He was cut down going to third on Matt Walker's grounder to the mound.

Mike Aldridge followed with a single, moving Walker to second, but that ended it.

The Bucs finally broke the ice in the fourth inning, scoring twice to pull within 3-2. Aldridge led it off, hitting a home run to left. The blast cleared the fence and the trees that line it some 370-feet from home. Larry Walters followed with a walk and he moved to second on Mike Bradshaw's single to left. The Ball was errored on the relay, and Walters scooted all the way home to pull the Pirates within one.

But any ECU hopes were crushed in the top of the fifth as Wilmington exploded for eight big runs. Edgerton led off with a single to right. Cavanaugh got a hit into left, and was safe at second when Smith's grounder was errored there. Edgerton came in to score on the play, giving Wilmington its first run of the inning. Sandlin got another extra-base hit, this one a double, and it brought in Cavanaugh. reg Dalton followed with a hit to short, loading the bases. Booth aided his own cause with a single to right, which brought in Smith and Sandling. Bill Hutchinson was hit by a pitch, and Al Burnette brought in Dalton with a sacrifice fly.

The Pirates appeared to be snuffing it out there, getting the second out without damage. But Edgerton singled to right, scoring Booth and Cavanaugh singled to deep short, bringing in Hutchinson. The long throw to try and get Cavanaugh was off-target and Edgerton came around to score, finally bringin an end to the wild frame.

The Bucs came up with two more in the bottom of the frame. Buddy Ward singled to center and Lamm doubled up the left center alley to bring him around. Lamm moved on to third when the really trying to get Ward was missed at the plate. He then came across when Booth was charged with a walk. That cut the Wilmington lead to 11-4.

Two more came over in the sixth. Ron Staggs walked and Greg Fulghum also got a free pass to first. With two outs, Ward beat out a slow roller to third, and an error on the throw let Staggs come in, moving Fulghum to third. He scored from there on a passed ball, and the Bucs trailed 11-6.

Wilmington, which had

Pembroke on Friday and Monday to meet North Carolina. Durham before returning home against Southern Conference Saturday, then go to Chapel Hill Thursday they meet Duke in to open up a six-game stand competition.

Jaguars Win Track Meet

PIKEVILLE — Farmville Central High School rolled to a big victory in a tri-meet held at Charles B. Aycock High School yesterday. The Jaguars easily outdistanced their two opponents, rolling up 85½ points.

Saratoga Central finished second with 39 points, while host Aycock was last with 34½.

The Jaguars won first place in 10 events, including both relays. Saratoga won three of the remaining five, while Aycock took the other two.

There were three double winners in the meet, one from each school. Robert Tripp of Farmville Central won the hurdles events, while Aycock's Cox won the long jump and 220-yard dash. Davis of Saratoga won the shot and discus.

An important message for people who prepare their own income tax returns.

Maybe you've been cheating yourself all these years.

You see, when it comes to income taxes, amateurs should depend on H & R Block.

We'll sit you down over a free cup of coffee and show you some things about your income tax that you might never have known existed. For example, do you know all about deductions for child care or casualty losses? And maybe you aren't aware that if your income increased last year, you may be able to save tax dollars by "income averaging."

Well, when it comes to income taxes, H & R Block is aware of just about everything.

H & R Block's fees start at $5 and the average cost was under $12.50 for over 7 million families we served last year.

Robinson Will Make Difference In West

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Can Frank Robinson make up the difference of one game that left the Los Angeles Dodgers second best to the San Francisco Giants in the National League's West Division pennant chase?

You'd better believe he can. The Dodgers, who came so very close to catching the fading Giants in the final days of the 1971 season, figure they have the horses to overtake San Francisco this time out. And what's more, some other clubs may pass the Giants too.

LA did some prudent winter shopping, prying Robinson and reliever Pete Richert away from Baltimore for four young prospects. Football Coach George Allen said "The future is now," and the Dodgers obviously believe it.

The Dodgers also came up with Tommy John, a quality left-hander, to add to their pitching rotation. Pitching has always been LA's strong suit and John joins a staff headed by Al Downing, Don Sutton, Claude Osteen and Bill Singer.

With Robinson, Willie Davis and Wes Parker to head the offense, the Dodgers seem solid. Certainly one game better than they were a year ago.

In the East, Pittsburgh's biggest problem seems to be the old rule about only being allowed to play nine guys at a time. They have too many good ones to limit themselves to nine.

The Pirates won the world championship last year with a team that doesn't seem to have any weaknesses. And new manager Bill Virdon has a fistfull of talented youngsters to add to the cast.

Willie Stargell, Roberto Clemente, Bob Robertson and Richie Hebner produce the Pirate runs with plenty of pitching available from Series hero Steve Blass, Nellie Briles, Dock Ellis and others.

Pittsburgh sat out infielder Rennie Stennett for the Series and this young man only batted .353 in 50 games. Then there is rookie outfielder Richie Zisk, who was the training camp standout after a .290 season in the International League last year. But where do you fit them in this championship club?

Behind the Dodgers in the West, Houston seems strongest with several new faces to juice up the attack. San Francisco, a year older, may be due to slip some, perhaps to third. Cincinnati's Big Red Machine still has some kinks to work out while Atlanta and San Diego don't seem likely to cause more than a few ripples.

Joe Torre will have to go some to match his batting championship .363 season for St. Louis but he'll do enough to keep the Cardinals in contention.

The revamped Cubs should edge out New York's light-hitting Mets for third place with Montreal and Philadelphia bringing up the rear.

Houston may very well be the most improved team in baseball this season. And the Astros could overtake the Dodgers if the summer heat wears down Robinson, who'll be 37 in August.

Consider, for example, that of the top four earned run averages Thursday's College Baseball By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Duke 12, North Carolina 3 Virginia 2, Yale 1 N. C. State at Wake Forest Ppd., rain UNC-Wilmington 13, East Carolina 6 Belmont Abbey at High Point Ppd., rain ages in the National League last season, three now work for the Astros. Houston already had No. 3 Don Willson and No. 4 Ken Forsch. Then they came up with No. 2 Dave Roberts from San Diego in a winter swap.

Frank Robinson has been assigned uniform No. 36 with the Los Angeles Dodgers. No. 20, his number at Baltimore, belongs to Don Sutton, Dodger pitcher.

Roberts' 2.10 ERA was second only to Tom Seaver of the Mets last year and he is considered one of the best young arms in baseball.

The Astros also made an eight-player swap with Cincinnati which brings slugger Lee May and second baseman Tommy Helms to Houston. May's 39 homers last year gives the Astros a power man to go with Jimmy Wynn.

San Francisco came up with Sudden Sam McDowell in a winter deal with Cleveland but it cost them Gaylord Perry. That means they're still a little thin in pitching and that deficiency should shove them down the West ladder.

Age could start creeping up on the Giants too. Ace pitcher Juan Marichal is 33. Injury-prone Willie McCovey is 34 and, of course, Willie Mays will be celebrating his 41st birthday on May 6.

Bobby Bonds and Ken Henderson give the Giants two highly capable outfielders, offensively and defensively, but the picture seems bleak unless San Francisco can find a fountain of youth and some more pitchers.

Cincinnati has decided to switch images, foregoing sock for speed. That's why the Reds went after second baseman Joe Morgan during the winter. But they need a comeback from Bobby Tolan, who may have lost a step or two because of his Achilles tendon operation.

Speaking of comebacks, the Reds are depending on a big one by All Star catcher Johnny Bench, who slipped badly last year. Peppery Pete Rose and Rony Perez, switching from third base to first this year, head the offense with Bench.

The Reds are somewhat thin on infielders with Woody Woodward retired, and the pitching is questionable with much riding on recoveries by Wayne Simpson and Jim Merritt, who suffered through nightmarish seasons in 1971.

Hank Aaron starts his final countdown on the road toward Babe Ruth's home run record and that should add zest to what could become an otherwise bleak season for the Braves.

Ralph Garr's speed and the power potential of rookie of the year Earl Williams and Darrell Evans give Atlanta some promise but the pitching doesn't seem solid enough after knuckler Phil Niekro.

San Diego has a quality pitcher in Clay Kirby and a quality hitter in Nate Colbert, but not enough quality in the other positions to make any kind of a dent.

Torre, Lou Brock, Matty Alou and Ted Simmons give St. Louis a well-rounded attack blending speed and power. Rick Wise, acquired from Philadelphia in an even-up swap for Steve Carlton, fits in well with Bob Gibson and Reggie Cleveland and the Cards seem capable of making life interesting for Pittsburgh's loaded Pirates.

Chicago changed some faces, picking up outfielders Rick Monday and Jose Cardenal over the winter as well as journeyman relief pitcher Steve Hamilton.

The most important new Cub, however, may be Coach Hank Aguirre, designated as Manager Leo Durocher's liaison with press and players. If Joe Pepitone, Ron Santo and Billy Williams can supply the runs and Milt Pappas, Fergy Jenkins and Bill Hands the pitching, the Cubs could make progress. That's assuming, of course, that Aguirre keeps everybody happy.

The Mets hope they've solved their long-standing third base problem with the acquisition of veteran Jim Fregosi. But Fregosi, who never played third before, missed most of spring training with a broken thumb and could have a problem adjusting to the new position.

New York still lacks punch though and the burden of tight games could wear down the Seaver-led pitching staff. Jerry Koosman remains a question mark and relief ace Danny Friesella has arm problems, too.

Cleon Jones and Tommie Agee will produce some runs but not enough to keep the Mets in contention.

Bill Stoneman and Carl Morton head Montreal's pitching staff and Rusty Staub, Bob Bailey and Ron Fairly will get the Expos their share of runs. But there are too many gaps in the Montreal picture for the Expos to make a great deal of progress.

Philadelphia came up with a quality pitcher in Carlton but it cost the Phillies a quality pitcher in Wise. The Phillies will depend on some new faces like Greg Luzinski, who had 36 homers in the Pacific Coast League last year, to add zip to the offense. But that offense needs an awful lot of zip.

Ayden-Grifton Gains Win With Final Relay

DUDLEY—Ayden-Grifton High School won the mile relay by two-tenths of a second, and it propelled them to victory in a tri-meet held at Southern Wayne High School yesterday.

The victory gave Ayden-Grifton a total of 70½ points, as they nosed out host Southern Wayne, which had 68½. D. H. Conley finished a distant third with 20 points.

There were two double winners in the event. Ayden-Grifton's Jesse Brown won the high jump and the 120-yard high hurdles. Cobb of Southern Wayne won both the 100 and 220-yard dashes.

In the mile relay, Ayden-Grifton overcame a 10-yard deficit in the final leg to win the event in 3:50.3. Southern Wayne finished in 3:50.3.

MERCURY MONTEGO

The personal-size car with the ride of a big car.

In our latest blindfold test 100 car owners compared the ride of Mercury Montego against our competitor's best selling full-sized car . . . almost a foot longer than Montego.

The official results showed Montego's overall ride superior to the larger, more expensive car by almost a two-to-one margin.

How can our personal-size car ride better than someone else's full-sized car? Because it's a Mercury!

Come in today and sample Montego's superior ride for yourself. You'll see why Road Test Magazine named the '72 Montego "Car of the Year." And you'll see how you can enjoy "big car" ride without paying a "big car" price.

Form Special Fund For Young Cancer Victim

BILLY RAY TRIPP... goes to school on days he feels up to it and is free to lie down when he must. The nine-year-old cancer victim is a Special Education student at Falkland Elementary School. (Reflector Photo by Carol Tyer)

FALKLAND — The Falkland Elementary School has set up a special fund and is soliciting help for the family of one of its students in fighting the nine-year-old's battle with cancer.

The Billy Ray Tripp Fund has been established at a Greenville bank by the school administration, according to the principal, William H. Moore. Billy Ray, a Special Education student at Falkland, transferred here in January from Sam. D. Bundy School in Farmville.

A handsome little fellow with a winning smile, he is listless now and often has to ask his teacher, Mrs. Elizabeth Langley, for permission to go lie down on a sofa in the school office. He underwent removal of a kidney at Pitt Memorial Hospital recently, but has malignancies in each lung, his doctors say.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Tripp of Rt. 1, Fountain. The family has four other children at home—Gary, three, Dennis, five, Betty, 11, and Bobby, 13.

Moore said that anyone wishing to donate to the fund for Billy's medical care should make checks payable to the Billy Tripp Fund and mail these to the Falkland Elementary School, Box 13, Falkland, N. C. 27827.

The school has also agreed to accept gifts of food, clothing, or other personal items for the family. These may be brought to the school, located about a quarter of a mile south of Bruce, which is about eight miles west of Greenville on Highway 43 North.

Asking Help For Church Holding Fire Victims Two Services

The Salvation army is requesting contribution in the form of furniture, clothing, and household items for a Winterville family whose home was completely destroyed by fire recently.

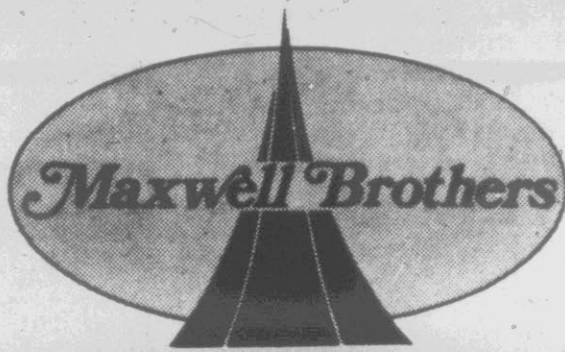

The family has nine children, ages two through 15. Seven of the children are boys and all are in need of clothing.

Contributions may be given to the Salvation Army or directly to the family at Rt. 1, Box 228, Winterville.

Two observances of the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be celebrated at Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church today.

The first service will be held at five o'clock this afternoon and the second service begins at 7 p.m.

Both celebrations will be "come and go," with communicants free to leave after receiving the elements. Participants are asked to come as families.

Lifesaving Course Will Begin April 4

The Pitt County Chapter of the American Red Cross will conduct a senior lifesaving course beginning April 4 at Memorial Gym on the East Carolina University campus.

Classes, taught by Dr. Edwin Roberts of the Kinston Du Pont Plant, will be held April 11, 18, 21, 25, 28 and May 2, and 5. Each class will be taught from 7-9 p.m. according to the Red Cross chapter, participants must have passed their 15th birthday or completed the ninth grade. Persons wishing to take the course must meet physical and preliminary swimming test qualifications and be able to perform a standing front dive, swim 440 yards continuously using a front stroke, side stroke and a stroke done on the back. In addition, participants must be able to dive from the surface to a minimum depth of six feet and swim 15 feet underwater and tread water for one minute with the hands beneath the surface.

Conley FFA Team Wins Pitt Contest

The Future Farmers of America Chapter of D. H. Conley High School placed first in the Pitt County Land Judging Federation Contest held Thursday.

The FFA Chapter of Ayden-Grifton High School won second place honors and third place was won by the FFA team of North Pitt High School. Farmville Central placed fourth.

The purpose of the land judging contest is to enhance the students in recognizing and evaluating the physical characteristics of the soil which affect crop growth and land use.

Student Named 'Coordinator'

Miss Freida Clark, a native of Cary, and a student at East Carolina University, was recently named East Carolina University coordinator for "Skipper" Bowles, candidate for governor of North Carolina, according to Mac MacKenzie, Pitt County Chairman.

Miss Clark has served on the Student Legislature Sexual Affairs and Student Affairs Committees, State Student Legislature representative, and is a member of the Law Society at ECU.

She is majoring in pre-law and plans to enter law school upon graduation.

MacKenzie said Bowles' efforts at ECU were picking up momentum and praised Miss Clark's committee for their excellent job thus far.

as well as give the students a chance to recommend which soil and water management practices to use.

The contest was conducted by J. B. Newman, soil scientist of Greenville, and sponsored by the Pitt Soil and Water Conservation District.

Members of the Conley team are: Riley Mills, Robbin Stokes, Johnnie Smith, Benjie Forrest and Robbin Allen. The team adviser is Sutton Austin.

The Conley chapter will compete in the state finals in Wilmington on April 8.

Charge Driver In Auto Accident

Jo Ann Baker Smith, Route 3, Greenville was charged with failing to yield the right of way following investigation of a 10:30 a.m. collision yesterday at the intersection of First Street and Woodlawn Avenue.

Police, who identified the driver of the second vehicle involved as Carol Sue James of Mullens, W. Va., estimated damage to the cars at $500 each.

WEAPONS BARRED
LONDON (AP) — Prince Mohammad, brother of Jordan's King Hussein, has been barred from boarding a plane to Bermuda because he and his bodyguards were carrying weapons, including three sub-machine guns, in their luggage.

The "Bill of Rights" was adopted Dec. 15, 1791.

Speaker . . .

Asia is continuing and even increasing," Harris said in an interview prior to his speech. "This is true because 45 per cent of all the Army, Navy, Air Force, and Marine bases in the United States are located in the Southeastern United States, so naturally people here are more closely involved with the military."

Harris, husband of folk singer, Joan Baez, spent 20 months in jail rather than let himself be drafted. Prior to his penitentiary stint, he was an organizer of draft resistance in California while a student at Stanford University. While serving time, he organized hunger strikes for better prisoner treatment. And since he has been out, he has been a leader of the People's Union, whose main victory so far has been getting a referendum run parallel to San Diego, Calif. general elections in which a large majority of the citizenry voted to keep the U.S.S. Constellation at home rather than have it go to the coast of Vietnam to dispatch planes for bombing.

"This kind of referendum is what we would like to see done throughout the nation," Harris said. "Of course, right now it's not policy-making, but it would let our elected leaders realize how the American people feel and in turn policy could be made. However, people need to vote not only for men to make policy, but directly on issues."

Fighting national policy that he feels is wrong is Harris' life. He has written two books, Goliath and Coming Out, and he says he travels about eight months of a year rallying people to his cause. His wife and son, Gabriel, born while he was in prison, stay at home in California because "three speeches a day and nothing but riding in between is no life for them."

Asked how he hopes to reach "older, straighter middle class America" with his facts about what national policy actually is concerning continuance of the Air War is, he said, "We are part of middle America. These are our beginnings. We must just get out and talk to everyone we can. We found out in San Diego, a town in which 30 per cent of the people are on military pay, that people will listen if you just bother to talk to them."

He cited Pentagon figures saying that there were three times as many bombing missions over Southeast Asia in the past year as there were three years ago. "Yet because Nixon has offered a 'Peace Plan' because ground troops are being withdrawn and because not so many American boys are coming home in plastic bags, Americans really want to believe the war is over. But the killing and the ruin of the land is being stepped up," he reemphasized. "And for what?"

"Yet we wonder why the North Vietnamese won't accept our 'peace' proposals, why they won't let our prisoners of war go, why they don't see anything in a 'free election' in which a former U.S. exchange student is the only candidate. We're asking them to take what was theirs in 1954, except less, and be content."

On New Year's Eve, Chinese traditionally pay all debts incurred during the year.

Phillips Rebuts Rival's Claim

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
North Carolina Superintendent of Public Instruction Craig Phillips has denied charges by a political opponent that he used his state office to help pay off his political debts.

John O'Connell of Raleigh, who is opposing Phillips in the May 6 Democratic primary, charged Wednesday that Phillips helped Coronet Films of Chicago obtain a state contract after the firm furnished him a car and driver for his 1968 campaign.

O'Connell, a former employee in Phillips' office, said the superintendent had directed personnel in the office to purchase a film from Coronet, using money from a migrant education grant.

He said Coronet received $46,660.04 of the total purchase price of $67,542.85 and that there is no record of the purchase going through the state Department of Purchase and Contract "though the law states it should."

Phillips told a news conference that the charge was "a complete falsehood." He admitted that in the 1968 campaign he had been driven around some by Bobby Stott of Raleigh, whom he identified as a sales representative for Coronet Films. Phillips said he did not know who owned the car but assumed it was Stott's.

"There have been no special considerations, no directions as to purchase demands, no abuse, to my knowledge, of purchase and contract regulations," Phillips said.

O'Connell also claimed that while the legislature was in session, Phillips used personnel from his department to "lobby for the passage of certain bills."

Phillips replied that the lobbying was part of his job under state law, which requires him to "keep the public informed as to the problems and needs of the public schools."

And O'Connell charged that

Egg Hunt Is Set Sunday

All youngsters of Greenville and the surrounding area are invited to an Easter egg hunt Sunday at 3 p.m. in front of the Pitt County fairgrounds.

The event will be co-sponsored by Modern Woodmen of America, the Arlington Steet Baptist Church Acteens, and the Adult Camp of Modern Woodmen of America 13885. The invitation was extended today by Larry R. Stox, general chairman.

Participants are asked to gather at the award center for hunt instructions. Eight prizes will be awarded. A kite-flying contest will follow the egg hunt.

Stox said, "Modern Woodmen are assisting in the sponsorship of community Easter egg hunt in hundreds of towns and cities throughout the United States. This contribution is part of its program to further civic interest, enthusiasm, and pride in hometown endeavors.

an assistant superintendent under Phillips, Dr. H.T. Conner, was paid $3,000 on an evaluation contract—over the protest of a state accountant—to "entice" Conner to join Phillips' staff.

Phillips said in response that Conner was an employee of the Richardson Foundation in Greensboro and was working with several school systems as a consultant before joining the state.

"Final payment was made on a small portion of his contracts after he officially took office," Phillips stated. "This was questioned at the time by the controller's office and myself to be sure that he was legitimately in receipt of these funds. This is a matter of record."

In other political developments Wednesday, Republican gubernatorial candidate Jim Gardner told students at Rockingham Community College in Reidsville that school busing to achieve racial integration was not caused by the absence of open-housing laws.

Gardner said, "Forced busing was brought on by a group of Northern congressmen trying to put their finger on the South. Forced housing had nothing to do with it."

"You are going to have segregation by the races, nationalities, incomes, etc., as long as you live," he said.

Gardner said the only solution to busing "is to build good schools in areas where people live."

Democrat Jim Hunt, a candidate for lieutenant governor, said at a news conference in Winston-Salem that the state needs to provide more support for minority-owned businesses.

He recommended more publicity on existing federal assistance programs for minority

To Ease Hog Quarantine

RALEIGH (AP) — Limited movement of feeders and breeder swine in North Carolina will be resumed April 3, according to state Agriculture Commissioner Jim Graham.

Swine movement was halted after an outbreak of hog cholera in Robeson County about a month ago. Robeson County will be exempted from the new regulation, and no swine movement will be permitted there.

Graham said Wednesday that after April 3, movement of stock from farm to farm and from farm to approved market to farm will be allowed after a permit is obtained.

North Pitt Notes

By ELLEN HEATH
A statewide Teen Dem Rally was held last weekend in Fayetteville. The members of North Pitt's Teen Dem Club attending were Pam Edmondson, Kathy Martin, Leigh Switzer, Kim Manning, Christie Spear, Gail Michaels, Johnny Edwards, Jimmy Nelson, Myrtle Jenkins, Eula Hollis, Jackie Nelson, Becky Martin, and Margaret Ann Cannon.

University, spoke to several groups of juniors and seniors who have indicated interest in attending the University.

Candidates for the Summer Leadership program at Mars Hill College were interviewed Monday. North Pitt candidates are Edna Howard, Johnny Edwards, and Charles Young.

North Pitt's men faculty will play D. H. Conley's men faculty Wednesday night at D. H. Conley.

Jean Ramey of Rose High and Kay Galloway of D. H. Conley also attended.

This group was accompanied by Mrs. Betty Spear, a North Pitt counselor, and Sonny McLawhorn of D. H. Conley.

Eight East Carolina seniors are practicing teaching at North Pitt this quarter. Carol Richards and Jean Johnson are the English student teachers; Bobby Balkum, Ronnie Peed, and Charles Dempsey are the P. E. student teachers; Bob Capeci and Doug Sumrell are the history practice teachers.

While at the rally, they attended workshops, a banquet, and a dance. They were invited to meet all the major state candidates at the various refreshment centers.

Capeci, who is practicing teaching under the supervision of Mrs. Mary Everett, has a very interesting background. He is originally from Brooklyn, N. Y. Even though he is only 39 years old, he has spent 20 years in the Marine Corps, he served in Korea and in Vietnam. Capeci has also been stationed in Japan, Hawaii, Australia, Okinawa, and many parts of the United States. In the fall, Capeci hopes to enter graduate school.

Girls' Track
North Pitt has a girls' Track Team this year. Positions held by members of the track team include the long jump, the high jump, the high hurdles, the softball throw, the low hurdles, the mile, the 220, the 440, and the 880, and the 100 yard dash.

The girls on the team are Wendy Alexander, Sheila Coward, Susan James, Phyllis Jenkins, Pamela Lee, Jackie Nelson, Kitty Nelson, Brenda Pollard, Debbie Pollard, Alberta Paige, Mary House, Debbie Jones, Kathy Taylor, Ethel Grimes, Bonita Johnson, Betty Harrington, Lillian Highsmith, Earnestine Moore, and Flossie Gaynor.

The managers of the girl's track team are Joyce Glisson, Linda Graham, Patricia Little, and Phyllis Wilson.

Wrestling awards were presented to Linwood Brown for leadership, to Ronnie Howell as Most Improved Wrestling, and to Andrew Daniels as Most Valuable Wrestler.

A typing contest was held at the Farmville Central on March 23, with all Pitt County High Schools represented.

Carlton Outlaw was recognized as the Most Improved Junior Varsity Player.

The top students in North Pitt's Typing I and Typing II classes were contestants.

Donna Chauncey, Rita Lewis, Phyllis Bullock, Joy James, Cindy Rook, Donna Glisson, and Margaret Ann Cannon participated from the Typing I classes.

The Boosters presented medallions to the Girl's Basketball Team. Special awards were presented to Susan James as Most Valuable Player, to Debbie Pollard as Best Hustler, to Phyllis Jenkins as Most Improved Player, to Joy James for putting "Team Before Self," and to Bernadine Jordan as the Special Senior. Minnie Hollis received the Principal's Award.

Joyce Jones, Joyce Williams, and Deborah Speight were participants from the Typing II class.

In Varsity Boys' Basketball, Daniel Highsmith was named Most Valuable Player, Ronnie Briley was named Best Defensive Player, and Ulice Jordan Most Improved.

Congratulations go to Deborah Speight who placed first among the Typing II contestants.

Sponsoring 3 Egg Hunts

The Greenville Recreation Department is sponsoring Easter Egg Hunts Friday morning at 9:30 A.M. There will be hunts at three locations: Guy Smith Stadium, Eppes Athletic Field, and South Greenville Recreation Center.

Boys and girls age two through 12 are eligible to attend these hunts. They will be divided into three age groups: two through five, six through nine, and ten through 12 year olds.

Each age group will hunt in a different area at each location. The eggs are all wrapped and there are enough for all. Prizes will be given for children who find the two special eggs hidden for each age group.

In case of rain, the hunts will be held Saturday morning, April 1st at the same time and locations.
