Drive Said Stopped Red Invaders Sweep Up Two More Bases

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese forces lost two more bases in their northernmost province today as U.S. air and naval forces hit the invading North Vietnamese.

The South Vietnamese commander in the north said the enemy invasion across the demilitarized zone had been stopped after five days.

But Associated Press correspondent Holger Jensen reported from the front that the South Vietnamese navy abandoned its northern base at the mouth of the Cua Viet River Monday night after three days of heavy enemy attacks.

And today Fire Base Anne, eight miles southwest of Quang Tri City, was reported to have fallen.

This raised to 14 the number of South Vietnamese bases reported lost since the North Vietnamese invaded last Thursday.

The South Vietnamese command denied reports earlier from Vietnamese military sources that government troops had made an amphibious landing at the Cua Viet estuary, which is nine miles northeast of the main enemy invasion force at Dong Ha.

The reports apparently resulted from misreading of an operational plan not yet put into effect.

Jensen reported that U.S. destroyers shelled the area around the mouth of the river this morning after several enemy amphibious tanks tried to cross from the northern bank. The abandoned base was on the south bank.

Other Democrats on the ballot were Sen. Vance Hartke of Indiana, Reps. Patsy Mink of Hawaii and Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas and Mayor Sam Yorty of Los Angeles.

The South Vietnamese command said one of its armored columns ran into heavy fighting just below Dong Ha and reported 95 North Vietnamese killed and 13 captured.

"We have stopped them now," Lam declared, "but we don't know if they will attack more. They have taken very heavy casualties. They have stopped for resupply and reorganization."

Heavy clouds north of the DMZ were gradually lifting, and informed sources said massive retaliatory U.S. air raids on North Vietnam might begin tonight or Wednesday morning.

Meanwhile, U.S. fighter-bomber pilots said they logged more than 300 strikes along the frontier and in neighboring Laos, and U.S. B52s dropped 750 tons of bombs on North Vietnamese positions around Quang Tri City.

The U.S. Command said American jets attacked five anti-aircraft missile sites just above the DMZ and destroyed at least one of them.

Lam estimated that allied air, ground and naval forces had killed 2,000 North Vietnamese troops in six days of the bloodiest fighting since the South Vietnamese invaded Laos 13 months ago. He said 200 South Vietnamese troops had been killed and 600 wounded.

The general said the northernmost defense line set up by South Vietnamese marines on the south bank of the Dong Ha River was holding. But he said 40,000 to 50,000 enemy troops were believed between the river and the DMZ 10 miles to the north.

REACT TO OFFENSIVE—The U.S. has put together a massive air and sea force to strike back at the continuing North Vietnamese offensive in the northernmost province of South Vietnam. Air strikes have begun at Quang Tri, from a carrier force in the Tonkin Gulf. U.S. planes are waiting for clearer skies to strike hard in retaliation for the offensive from the North that began last week. (AP Wirephoto)

Estimated 1.5 Million To Vote In Wisconsin Today

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — About 1.5 million Wisconsin voters are expected to cast ballots today in the state's presidential primary election. Gov. Patrick J. Lucey, a Democrat who has remained neutral, predicted Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota would be the Democratic winner.

A McGovern victory could thrust the South Dakotan into the front rank of his party's candidates, while a triumph by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota could help the Minnesotan overcome a "loser" image and gain recognition as the Democratic front-runner. Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, conceding he needs "a miracle" to win, hoped to avoid a repetition of his fourth-place showing last month in Florida.

That state's winner, Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, hoped for a strong showing in Wisconsin that would demonstrate national appeal.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, third in Florida, and New York Mayor John V. Lindsay, fighting to keep his presidential candidacy alive, sought to crack the upper ranks ahead of McGovern, Humphrey or Muskie.

In all, 12 Democrats are on the primary ballot, along with three Republicans. President Nixon is expected to be an easy winner in the GOP race.

With no registration by party in Wisconsin, many Republicans were expected to cross over and vote in the Democratic contest. Wallace could be a major beneficiary of those votes.

Sixty-seven delegates to the Democratic National Convention will be chosen today with 11 going to the statewide leader and the others allocated among the state's nine congressional districts.

On the GOP ballot, where 28 delegates are being elected, Nixon was expected to swamp Reps. John M. Ashbrook, an Ohio conservative, and Paul N. McCloskey, a California liberal. McCloskey dropped out of the presidential race after the New Hampshire primary. Ashbrook didn't campaign here.

The most debated issue in the primary campaign was taxes. All the leading Democratic contenders called for reforms that would increase taxes on the wealthy and big corporations while easing them on the middle classes. Wisconsin has one of the highest property taxes in the nation.

President Nixon's economic programs were a major target. School busing, the big issue in Florida three weeks ago, was hardly mentioned in Wisconsin, which has only a small black population and no school desegregation controversy.

Of the 12 Democratic candidates, only the six major candidates conducted full-fledged campaigns. Only former Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, among the others, campaigned at all, and he urged backers to support Rep. Shirley Chisholm of New York or Lindsay.

Other Democrats on the ballot were Sen. Vance Hartke of Indiana, Reps. Patsy Mink of Hawaii and Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas and Mayor Sam Yorty of Los Angeles.

European Talks By Sec. Rogers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House says Secretary of State William P. Rogers will travel to Europe early next month to confer with allied leaders before accompanying President Nixon to Moscow May 22.

Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told reporters Monday Rogers will visit Britain, France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Luxembourg and Iceland during the one-week trip.

The upcoming U.S.-Soviet summit talks, a proposed European security conference and East-West mutual and balanced force reductions will be discussed during the trip.

Scott Leaves On Trip To Japan

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Gov. and Mrs. Bob Scott left today for a 10-day visit to Japan during which Scott hopes to talk with Japanese officials about textile trade agreements with the United States and about increased trade with North Carolina.

The Scotts left by commercial airliner for Chicago, Seattle and Tokyo, where they will stay in the Imperial Hotel.

They will join 10 other governors and their wives for the visit, which is being sponsored by the National Governors' Conference and the National Governors' Association of Japan.

Commissioners Adopt Ordinance Regulating Mobile Home Parks

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

Pitt County Commissioners today approved an ordinance regulating the establishment of mobile home parks throughout the county, okayed an ordinance requiring health department approval of lots before temporary electrical service can be obtained, and set a public hearing on a proposed ordinance regulating development of subdivisions.

Commissioners approved the mobile home ordinance after county planner Phillip Michaels told the board the proposal had been approved and recommended by the county Planning Board.

Michaels, citing an increase of 800 per cent in the number of mobile homes in the county from 1960 to 1970, explained that under the ordinance, facilities for two or more house trailers constitute a mobile home park.

Basically the ordinance requires first that construction permits be obtained by a trailer park developer. In order to acquire a permit for construction, sewage, disposal streets, lot sizes and other aspects of the proposed park must be approved.

Secondly operating permits are required under the ordinance for the trailer park to be operated.

The second ordinance approved by the board of commissioners this morning requires that officials of the Pitt County Health Department inspect and approve a building site for water and sewer facilities before the county's electrical inspector can issue a permit for temporary electrical service.

The ordinance is designed to prevent persons from constructing homes and other occupied dwellings on lots with inadequate sewage disposal systems or water supplies.

The two ordinances approved by the board this morning will not be applicable within municipal limits of towns in the county unless municipal governing boards give their approval to the regulations.

A public hearing was set for May 1 for review of a proposed subdivision ordinance for the county.

The ordinance was presented to the board this morning with the recommendation and approval of the Planning Board.

Michaels said basic requirements of the proposed ordinance provide that subdivisions first meet certain design standards; provide a requirement for plat approval and finally require approval by the Board of Commissioners.

Michaels said that a subdivision under the ordinance is generally considered any land sold and developed for building purposes.

In other business, the board heard Pitt County School Superintendent Arthur S. Alford who outlined proposed plans for a building to house administrative offices of the Board of Education.

The school head said the proposed building would be located at the site of the present school bus garage on U.S. 264 by-pass.

"We would be happy to relocate..." Alford said. He noted that scattered offices, need for more storage areas and problems with parking now hamper the present office location in the court house annex.

The commissioners, too, would presumably be happy with the move. It would provide space in the court house for expanding cramped services of several county departments.

The primary consideration seems to be where will the money come from to construct the school facility.

According to Alford, projected cost for the 17,600 square feet facility has been set at $275,000 (Continued on page 6)

Prize Is Blocked

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Soviet novelist Alexander Solzhenitsyn will not receive his 1970 Nobel Prize for Literature in Moscow April 9 as planned because the Soviet government won't give a visa to the Nobel Foundation official who was to present it.

Karl-Ragnar Gierow, the secretary of the foundation, said today that the Russians had refused him a visa. He made no other comment.

Gierow had planned to deliver the prize medal and diploma at a private ceremony at the Moscow home of a friend of Solzhenitsyn. The Soviet government was angered by the award to the author because of the anti-Soviet tone of his writing, and he refused to come to Stockholm for the prize ceremonies because he feared his government would not let him return home.

Gierow said the Soviet authorities gave him no reason for refusing a visa.

Solzhenitsyn's Nobel cash prize of $80,000 was deposited in a Swiss bank.

Viet Cong And Hanoi 'Demand' Parleys Resume

By DAVID MASON
Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP) — North Vietnam and the Viet Cong demanded today that the United States return to the negotiating table. But the American delegation indicated it will reject the demand because of the enemy offensive in Vietnam.

The Communists demanded that the 148th session of the Paris peace talks be held next Thursday, ending a three-week suspension.

The United States indefinitely suspended the talks March 23 on grounds the Communist side refused to negotiate seriously. A spokesman for the U.S. delegation recalled today that the State Department had warned the talks will not resume under military pressure.

The North Vietnamese note said "along with the undermining of the Paris conference on Vietnam, of late the Nixon administration not only ceaselessly attacked the territory of North Vietnam with its Air Force, Navy and artillery, but, calling black white, it also spread impudent allegations that slander the Vietnamese people and prepared for still more massive and violent raids."

The "slander" apparently was a reference to U.S. charges that the North Vietnamese have invaded the South. North Vietnam has never admitted it has troops in the South.

The U.S. delegation spokesman said a formal response to the Communist's notes is being prepared.

No Game

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds today officially canceled their opening National League baseball game against the Houston Astros scheduled for Wednesday. The cancellation was a result of the strike by major league baseball players.

The Reds and Houston were to have opened the season a day ahead of the other major league clubs.

The Reds said no opening date will be set until the strike ends.

Pistol Permit For 96-Year-Old

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP) — Belle Washington, 96 and confined to a wheelchair, has been granted permission to buy a revolver after being robbed twice at her home.

"All we needed were signatures of two character witnesses—which we got—and we gave her the permit," said Mrs. Estelle Linebaugh of the Buchanan County sheriff's office.

British Soldiers Fight IRA Gunmen In Belfast

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Irish Republican Army guerrillas fought British troops today in a Belfast district where the IRA has lost some of its Roman Catholic support.

No one was hurt in the Andersonstown gunfight, and the shooting was seen as a defiant IRA gesture to show that its word is still law in the heavily Catholic district.

It came after more than 2,000 Andersonstown Catholics attended a funeral Monday for a slain mother in a protest against the IRA's continuing violence despite British peace moves.

Catholic women trying to hold a meeting Monday night to urge an IRA truce were drowned out by jeering IRA women sympathizers.

In Dublin an IRA leader assailed an appeal by William Cardinal Conway, Catholic primate of all Ireland, for an end to the IRA's war of independence in the north.

Despite fears of major trouble, Northern Ireland got through the long Easter weekend without fatalities.

William Whitelaw, Britain's new government minister for Northern Ireland, moved into his provincial headquarters at Stormont Castle, completing a transfer of power that ended 51 years of local majority Protestant rule and opened the way to granting concessions to the minority Catholics.

One of Whitelaw's first tasks as peacemaker will be deciding how many IRA suspects he can release from the controversial internment camps where men are being held without trial. Phasing out internment is a key part of the British peace plan.

Chilean Congress To Probe ITT 'Plot'

SANTIAGO (AP) — The Chilean Congress names a 13-member committee today to investigate Washington columnist Jack Anderson's report that the International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. plotted with the U.S. government to prevent Marxist Salvador Allende from becoming president of Chile in 1970.

Allende's regime Monday night distributed the documents about the alleged plot that Anderson published earlier. They were issued in a 93-page book of photostats containing translations into Spanish.

In a foreword, the government said the material was "eloquent proof of economic and political penetration in dependent countries by the large imperialist companies and the governments connected with them."

It urged the citizens of Chile to "analyze and meditate on the extraordinary gravity of the facts described, inasmuch as they bear on our country's independence, sovereignty and right to self-determination."

One of the major documents purports to be an ITT memorandum saying the Nixon administration was prepared to do everything possible short of armed intervention to prevent Allende's election.

As published by Anderson, it said the State Department on Sept. 15, 1970, gave Edward M. Korry, then the U.S. Ambassador to Chile, "maximum authority to do all possible—short of a Dominican Dominican Republic-type action—to keep Allende from taking power."

The State Department has described this memo as "hearsay and opinion" and denied that the U.S. government engaged in any improper activities during the Chilean election.

Another document published by Anderson and attributed by him to ITT officials suggested that officials of the company were cooperating with U.S. government officials in an attempt to cause economic chaos in Chile and provoke a military coup that would block Allende.

Anderson's columns have been a boon to militant leftists demanding nationalization of ITT holdings in Chile, worth an estimated $200 million. ITT reportedly has asked $120 million for its 70 per cent interest in the Chilean telephone system, and the government has offered $70 million.

Husband Is A Real Television Nut

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a sports nut. He monopolizes the color TV and the children and I miss some of our favorite programs.

Last Christmas I thought I would solve that problem, so I bought him a portable TV. This worked fine for a while, but pretty soon he started setting the portable on top of the big one, and he'd watch both of them, tuned in to different sports channels. He is the only man I know who can watch a hockey game and a football game at the same time!

By the way, the small TV has ear plugs, so I only have to contend with the noise of the big one.

Any suggestions! ANTI-SPORTS IN ARIZONA

DEAR ANTI: You have a super-selfish husband there, lady. Tell him that as long as the family can afford only two TVs, it's one to a customer.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who is about my age, 55. Adele lost her husband last year, so she went to California for the winter to visit her sister. When Adele came back, nobody recognized her. She looked like a 25-year-old girl. And beautiful! She had a whole new face and a new figure. It was unbelievable! Adele admitted to having her face lifted, which was obvious, but she said she also had her bust and behind lifted!

Now I have heard of silicone implants to lift and fill out sagging breasts, but I have never heard of anyone having her behind lifted, have you?

What kind of doctor does this work? I would really like to know because if it can be done I might want to have mine lifted. LOW SLUNG IN BROOKLYN

DEAR LOW: Yes, it can be done. Some plastic surgeons do it. Since Adele appears to speak so frankly about it, ask her who lifted her behind. She'll probably be glad to tell you unless she intends to sit on it forever.

DEAR ABBY: This is the first letter I have ever written to your column, but your reply to the woman who wondered if she should make a report when she saw a pocketbook being stolen really hit home.

When I learned that my teen-age daughter [and her friends] were stealing clothes from the local department store, I called the store's protection office and tearfully requested an appointment to bring my daughter in with the clothes. The merchandise was priced, and I paid for it. My daughter was given a stern lecture and told what would happen to her if she ever repeated this act in their store again. And I, incidentally, was told by the young lady in the store's protection office that in the two years she had worked there I was the first mother ever to do this, even though she was certain that there were other mothers who had found strange merchandise in their homes that they knew their money did not buy.

Abby, that was four years ago, and I thank God that I had the backbone to do what I did because from that day to this I have never had any reason to suspect my daughter of taking a penny that does not belong to her. It was a bitter lesson for both of us, but an effective one.

I would like to quote the words from a sign I saw in the protection office on that eventful day:

"To watch a crime in silence is to commit it."

Sincerely,

WITHHOLD MY NAME AND TOWN

CONFIDENTIAL TO "ASHAMED OF MY HUSBAND:" Tell him that a man who does not take care to sit in a gentlemanly position can be as offensive as a woman who doesn't sit in a ladylike position.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

No Peace Talks Under Hanoi Pressure

By SPENCER DAVIS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is serving notice on Hanoi that President Nixon is not going to negotiate a peace settlement of the Indochina war under mounting military pressure from North Vietnam.

Rural Store Was Robbed

The Pitt County Sheriff's Department is investigating the weekend theft of some $3,059 worth of cigarettes and other merchandise from Branch's Trading Post on Rt. 3, Greenville.

Sheriff Ralph Tyson said that the owner reported the theft of 850 cartons of assorted cigarettes, 24 watches, nine cases of beer, and nine tires from the business.

The sheriff reported that entrance to the store was gained by forcing a lock on the front door. Damage to the door was estimated at approximately $25, he said.

Sheriff Tyson said that the store manager reported the break-in around 2 p.m. Saturday. He added that the theft occurred sometime before the store was opened at 7 a.m. but was not discovered until later in the morning.

U.S. officials say Ambassador William Porter's return to Paris is open-ended and that the current North Vietnamese offensive does not argue for his early appearance at the conference table. Porter was summoned back to the United States shortly after Nixon suspended the Paris talks March 23.

State Department spokesman Robert S. McCloskey said Monday that the United States "remains prepared to talk, and to seriously negotiate in Paris, but (we) do not intend to do so under military pressure."

This word, not previously stated as U.S. policy, apparently emerged from the special session of the Washington Special Action Group chaired by national security adviser Henry Kissinger.

The United States takes the position that the Paris talks were not broken off by this country but broke down while the North Vietnamese were undertaking to mount a military offensive in the South.

Nixon administration officials say the upsurge is a clear test for the South Vietnamese and the Vietnamization program.

There is sharp consciousness also over the political impact on the President in a campaign year. Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., already has claimed that the offensive proves the Vietnamization program will not work.

State and Defense Department officials who anticipated such an attack developing weeks ago during the Tet holiday say they are sure the measure of success cannot be determined in the first few days of the Communist offensive.

Among questions being raised: How far can the North Vietnamese forces get into South Vietnam? How much territory can they control? What

Afraid To Spend Stolen Money

COPENHAGEN (AP) — A 28-year-old mailman confessed Monday to stealing $70,000 in cash and checks from a suburban postoffice 29 months ago. He said he had been afraid to spend the money.

"It was hell," said Bjarno Reib. "I didn't dare buy an extra beer for my lunch in case someone got suspicious."

He had been questioned along with 200 other postal employees after the robbery but apparently was never suspected.

will it cost them?

Some allied military observers here say that the North Vietnamese want to accomplish a hard assault before the Americans have lowered their strength any further in order to claim that they have driven U.S. forces out of South Vietnam.

In Paris, a Viet Cong spokesman said Monday that Nixon had sabotaged the peace talks with plans to step up the war.

MEET THURSDAY

The Pitt County Safety Council will have its regular monthly meeting Thursday at 12:30 p.m. at Parker's Restaurant.

The meeting is a dutch luncheon.

GOVERNOR-ELECT James Harris is congratulated by Moose Governor Mayo Allen.

Moose Select New Officers

James Harris, Sr., was elected Monday night as Governor of the Greenville Moose Lodge for 1972-73.

His election marked the first time the lodge has chosen a former governor to serve a second term. Harris previously filled the post in 1964-65.

Other officers chosen were: Garland Beppard as Junior Governor; Jack Morgan as Prelate; Linwood E. Everette as Treasurer; and Wilbur Murphy as 3-year Trustee.

Installation of the new officers will be held on the last Saturday in April. State Moose Association President Sherman Windsor, of Spencer, will serve as the Installing Officer.

Other business before the lodge was the final preparation for the visit next Monday night of the Moose fraternity's Supreme Governor, Edward C. Boyle, of Pittsburgh.

Sponsors were reminded to have their candidates for enrollment present for the special class being gathered in Boyle's honor.

Eighteen area lodges are expected to have representatives in Greenville for the Supreme Governor's visit. Many of them are bringing candidates for enrollment into the Moose at that time.

Boyle will be spending all of next week in North Carolina, and will be visiting lodges in Burlington, Greenville, Wilmington, Pamlico County, Boone, Waynesville and Hickory. North Carolina Moose are aiming at the enrollment of one thousand new members during the week.

A dinner will be served at the Greenville lodge following next Monday's meeting.

Vote Scheduled

Pork and beef producers throughout the state will vote tomorrow on whether or not to continue their producer-financed promotional programs.

Pork producers are asking for a six year continuance of the five cents per head assessment on all hogs sold for slaughter. Beef producers are requesting a 10 cents per head assessment on all cattle sold in North Carolina.

All persons who share in the proceeds from the sale of cattle or hogs are eligible to vote in the referendum.

An Enormous Job To Be Done

When one considers the enormous job of monitoring and preventing water and air pollution in North Carolina, it is evident that the secretary of the Department of Natural and Economic Resources is not just "crying wolf" when he points to the need for greatly expanding the state's staff assigned to environmental protection.

Secretary Charles W. Bradshaw, Jr. has pointed out that in his department the state has only 55 people in the division of air quality and only 81 in the division of water quality.

"You can't monitor 40,000 miles of streams ... with a staff of 72 including clerical personnel or be a watchdog and provide technical assistance at the source of 6,000 air emissions with less than 50 per cent of the necessary people," Secretary Bradshaw has asserted. And most North Carolinians would have to agree that he is probably correct.

If North Carolina is to meet its existing environmental problems and prevent further pollution of its water and air, the state must move forward to provide the necessary personnel to adequately handle the job. And it is a big job that will continue to grow in years to come as the state continues to grow in terms of population, industry and business.

Over a period of years, North Carolina has made significant strides in placing adequate laws on the books to protect its water and air resources. In many instances its laws and regulations are looked upon as models for other states. But unless the state likewise has the manpower and facilities for seeing that the regulations are complied with, the regulations in themselves mean little.

In North Carolina as in every other state, it is going to require considerably more money in the future than in the past to provide adequate protection. There is the matter of correcting adverse situations which have existed for years, in addition to preventing further pollution as the state continues to move forward with its economic development.

Secretary Bradshaw's plea for additional personnel for this important division of his Department should not be ignored by the people of this state, nor should it fall on deaf ears when the legislation convenes next January.

Tornado Time In N. Carolina

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALIEHG, N.C. — An April day between 4 and 8 p.m. is the peak danger time for tornadoes in North Carolina.

The fourth month's weather brings more than showers for May flowers. It ushers in the tornado season with hazards to life and

Conditions For Trouble
"We know that severe thunderstorms tend to form in masses of unstable air — where there is a large temperature spread between warm surface air and cold upper air," he said. "Also, there must be a certain amount of moisture available in the lower atmosphere and a certain amount of wind shear — that is, winds moving in contrary directions — between lower and upper levels."

Those elements at the maximum spell trouble, Pearson said, but even then you can't tell precisely where individual storms will develop.

Most people think of a tornado as a dark, funnel-shaped cloud like the one which took Dorothy to the Land of Oz. Don't count on it, said Pearson.

"I wish it were that simple," he remarked. "Unfortunately, the funnel cloud is often obscured by driving rain or clouds of dust, or completely invisible because it firms after sundown."

Danger Signals Cited

He suggested an alertness to a sudden darkening of the sky, perhaps accompanied by a rapid increase in wind noise, pounding rain, hail and severe thunder and lightning. These, as well as the funnel cloud, can single the approach of a tornado.

"When it's night, listen for a loud roar like a freight train or a formation of jet planes. This is the characteristic sound of a tornado," he said.

The warning system used by the Weather Service includes a tornado watch, which means that storms are expected to develop in an area; and tornado warning, which means a tornado has been sighted or indicated by weather radar.

The alerts are helpful only when they reach the public. Under the most favorable circumstances, less than half the people in a danger zone are watching TV or listening to the radio when the alerts are given.

The big obstacle is apathy, Pearson said. "Statistically, your chances of being un a tornado here in North Carolina are about once in 2,000 years. You build up defense mechanisms. No one wants to believe that they will be hit," he explained.

Long odds are no comfort when your number comes up, as Greensboro learned that April day in 1936. Then, only foreknowledge can dictate safety measures.

Time For The Public To Support Its Theatre

The season ticket drive has begun for the ninth year of the ECU Summer Theatre.

This year the theatre starts without the state subsidy that helped keep it going during the past two years. Thus this year the outstanding summer theatre is doubly in need of support from area citizens.

A goal of 4,000 season tickets has been set and if we are to continue to have such entertainment as this, the goal must be reached.

The ECU Summer Theatre has offered great entertainment for our area. It must be supported.

Fed-Up Voter Is Vital Factor

By ROWLANE EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

MILWAUKEE — Typifying the anti-Establishment politics of 1972, today's Wisconsin Presidential primary depends on how many blue-collar workers defy their labor union leadership to vote for the two opposite poles of the Democratic party: Sen. George McGovern and Gov. George Wallace.

In the confusion of seven active Democratic candidates here, it became clear late last week that only McGovern and Wallace were gaining. McGovern has won enough support among working class voters disillusioned with the Establishment to challenge Sen. Hubert Humphrey for first place. Wallace, seemingly gaining even faster, could finish ahead of fading Sen. Edmund S. Muskie for third place.

The appeal among labor's rank-and-file of Wallace, stalwart of the Old South, has been obvious for eight years. Far more remarkable is the strength among them of McGovern, darling of the Democratic left in the rich suburbs and colleges. Indeed, the unreality of Wallace and McGovern competing for the Archie Bunker vote reflects today's irrational Democratic politics.

That's bad news for organized labor's hierarchy in Wisconsin. McGovern is nearly as obnoxious as Wallace to the union chiefs. Consequently, in the closing days of the campaign, they redoubled their efforts for old friend Humphrey to fight the McGovern-Wallace protest movement.

Actually, politicians here considered Humphrey a clear favorite until the disclosure last Wednesday of a statewide telephone poll by Oliver Quayle, commissioned by the state AFL-CIO, showing McGovern in first place narrowly leading Humphrey. Although far from conclusive, the poll was a siren in the night for big labor.

The union chiefs, regarding Sens. Muskie and Henry M. Jackson as acceptable but out of contention here, grouped more solidly behind Humphrey. State AFL-CIO president John Schmitt, nominally neutral, turned up at head table of a Humphrey luncheon last Thursday. That night, labor's No. 2 man here, John Giacomo, attended a Humphrey dinner.

The effectiveness of such quasi-endorsements is doubtful. Even before the Quayle poll, Humphrey — lacking either McGovern's grassroots organization or Muskie's endorsements from top politicians — relied heavily on union support. His campaigning has focused on visits to local labor temples. Nevertheless, his support in Wisconsin has remained constant and around 20 per cent, consisting of loyal Humphreyites (especially along the Minnesota border). Clearly, a good many workers were not following their leaders advice to back Humphrey.

Of Populism And Power

MILWAUKEE — We have been busy out here exorcising demons, in a burst of old-fashioned political religion that merits at least a passing amen. The fervid incantations have their phony aspects, but their underlying theme is sound.

The demons, of course, are the filthy rich and the great corporations. These are familiar devils. William Jennings Bryan was fighting them with bell, book and candle 80 years ago. Franklin

Delano Roosevelt used to scourge the malefactors of great wealth. The banker's high silk hat forever tempts the guy with a snowball

All of a sudden, the candidates on this sawdust trail have rediscovered sin. They are against it. Their new religion is "tac reform, tax reform!" By this is meant, "Soak the rich! Lay the mighty low!"

George McGovern, the soft-spoken Senator from South Dakota, started this seasonal revival. Many months ago, long before New Hampshire, he was denouncing tax loopholes and demanding new hooks for the big fish who slip through them

McGovern's trouble in this campaign—it has been his trouble all along—is that he comes on like a small spring breeze. No one paid much attention to him.

Then the tropical storm known as George Corley Wallace hit Florida. On the night of March 14, when the primary returns came in, it was apparent that a hurricane was blowing. Wallace claimed a stunning 42 percent of the Florida vote.

He swept 11 of 12 congressional districts. The busing issue was at the bottom of his victory, but this was more than busing. It was a cry from the gut of 516,000 guys named Archie Bunker. It was a howl against all the harassments, frustrations, and inequities suffered by the little guy who feels overwhelmed by bigness. How to respond? Hit bigness.

That's what they've been hitting in Wisconsin. Not big government, mind you. The liberal Democrats who are preaching the evils of the vast conglomerates are simultaneously pitching for nre Federal programs of greater reach and power.

Neither are the candidates against big labor. Against the concentration of union power they sing their rituals sotto voce.

But, ah, those malefactors of great wealth! Hubert Humphrey spent last week inveighing the 100 largest corporations. Their profits for 1971, he declared, were 75 percent above their profits of 1970. "What about your (Continued on page 6)

Other Editors Say A Drastic Remedy

(Christian Science Monitor)

We most sincerely trust that economic conditions in the United States will never reach the point where it would be necessary to apply the drastic remedy proposed by Chairman Wilbur Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee.

"The situation is so serious we almost have to go back to some sort of freeze across the board ... not just on prices and wages, but on everything," he said.

Mr. Mills was talking to an audience acutely conscious of the startling current rise in the price of beef. But the rise in beef prices also proves how many Americans can still afford the luxury of beef when cheaper sources of protein are abundant (chicken, eggs, fish). We trust that both common sense about the nonindispensability of beef plus the vigorous Texas style "jawboning" applied to the matter by redoubtable Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally will mitigate the beef price problem.

What neither Mr. Connally nor the Mills formula can or could solve is the continuing lethargy in the American economy. It is still not responding to the broad range of encouragements applied to it from Washington as well as hoped and expected. It has been out of kilter since Lyndon Johnson tried to fight a big small war without raising taxes or mobilizing the economy. Try as he has, Mr. Nixon hasn't yet been able to get it back in kilter.

Underlying both Johnson mistakes and Nixon underestimates lies, we suspect, a deeper cause. Americans were once the most competitive of peoples. In today's world the big economic success stories are being written by the Japanese and Germans who are in fact more effectively competitive right now than are Americans. Americans want security now, above all else. Are they in fact slipping behind because to so many of them security has replaced success as the prime goal in human endeavor? We wonder.

It Only Takes Time

EAST HAMPTON, Conn. (AP) — I finally got Ed Barton's Christmas card.

Neither rain nor snow nor the waters of Long Island Sound—not even a band of mail thieves could stay this yule greeting.

There was a slight delay, however. It was postmarked Dec. 23, 1970.

Ed writes he's fine. The card isn't.

It looks like it was stomped on, chewed and used as a raft. The ink is smeared, the right-hand side is gone and stamped in purple ink above the address are the words: "This piece of mail, stolen while in custody of the Postal Service, is being delivered after recovery from waters of Long Island Sound."

Postal Inspector Robert DeLong related the card's journey:

It began in Ithaca, N.Y., and was uneventful till it reached the New Haven, Conn., post office for delivery to Norwalk, where I lived at the time.

It was loaded aboard a "star route" truck, a private vehicle under contract with the Postal Service to carry mail—and there it met its fate.

DeLong said seven drivers and one of the wives formed a gang and began rifling first-class mail pouches. They took money, credit cards, even firearms, he said, and threw the remains in the Quinnipiac River where they floated into the Sound.

Altogether, 50,000 pieces of mail, including my card, got thrown in the river between Thanksgiving and New Year's. The mail started showing up along the banks Christmas Day, but some of it floated across to New York State before it was found.

All eight were arrested, three served time, four got suspended sentences and the last case was dismissed for lack of evidence.

The inspector said the court held the mail for evidence for more than a year. Then the postmen had to put it all together, matching card with envelope. I'm sure they had no trouble with Ed's handwriting. It is unique.

About 95 per cent of the mail was returned, although some people just got envelopes.

Sam Dudley, member of the Board of Commissioners, is the possessor of a perfectly formed tomahawk found on his farm a few miles north of Greenville. The tomahawk, weighing about a quarter of a pound, is perfectly formed and indicates expert workmanship. Mr. Dudley plans to send it to the state museum.

Major Charles H. Schoeffel of the New York state police and Charles A. Lindbergh, visited Scotland Yard this morning to investigate the possibility of Lindbergh's kidnapped son being in London.

Strength For Today

PATHWAY TO DESTINY

The day in May, 1940, when Winston Churchill found himself Prime Minister of Great Britain was a real turning point in history.

The description Churchill gives us in the last paragraph of his book, "The Gathering Storm," of how he entered upon his duties, leaves us with the feeling that here was a man who had long expected greatness to descend upon him and was willing to meet it when it came. He was confident of his powers. He declares that he felt as though he were walking with Destiny and that all his past life had been in preparation for the duties which now confronted him. It seems that throughout his life Churchill had felt himself called to the achieving of great deeds. When at last the opportunity was placed in his hands it was nothing more than he expected and he was ready for it.

We can observe Destiny working in the lives of the great, but we cannot often observe it working in our lives. Of course, for the Christian the word "Destiny" becomes "Providence." "Every man's life a plan of God" is an axiom upon which all Christian reason and action is based.

There is as much Destiny, or Providence, manifested in the lives of the most humble of us as in the lives of the great.

Car-Of-Tomorrow Race Begun

By ELMER ROESSNER

The display of a rotary-engine line of autos at the International Automobile Show at the New York Coliseum has renewed speculation over which new motor will drive the car of the future? Will it be the rotary engine, the steam engine, a tamed internal-combustion engine, or some other device powered, perhaps, by atomic energy?

The rotary engine car line at the show consists of the world's first rotary-engine station wagon, a coupe and a four-door sedan, called the Mazda, from Mazda, a Zoroastrian deity, and produced by Mazda Motors of America. Last May a heavier series was introduced on the West Coast. The maker claims about 30,000 Mazdas are now on the road.

The Williams Research Corp. of Walled Lake, Mich., has also at least one car on the streets of New York City, built for New York City as a low-polluting vehicle. The car consists of a turbine engine installed in an American Motors Hornet four-door sedan. It is claimed to be a functional car providing a vibrationless ride with a low-emissions engine.

Virtually every major auto maker in the world is working with gas-turbine motors, according to Croning Glass Works, which makes heat exchangers for the turbines.

Just a year ago, the Euroliner, a 735-foot long ship powered by gas turbines, set a new speed record for transatlantic crossing. It sailed for Seatrain Lines. It made the trip from Bremerhaven, Germany, to Seatrain, N.J., at 28 knots.

The gas turbine engine compresses and heats a mixture of gasoline, kerosene, or diesel oil and air, creating an explosive force that spins a turbine. The two heat exchangers, after heating the mixture, provide fuel economy and cool the almost completely burned exhaust before it enters the air.

The old Stanley Steamer was a success in the early days of the century but is declared to be impractical today for several reasons, including the fact that it requires frequent refilling of water.

However, the Pritchard Steam Power Pty. Ltd. of Australia has developed a road-tested steam power system within the exhaust emission levels set for 1975. It has attracted the interest of the United States Senate.

There is still one bug to kill: the water supply is in danger of freezing in northern climates. The engine emits no hydrocarbons, and the emission of carbon monoxide is said to be 47 of a gram a mile, less than one-seventh of the U.S. limit for 1975 and 1976. It needs no special chemicals and no treated water.

The deadlines for the race for a low-polluting car are for the 1975 model year, the 1976 model year and the 1977 model year, each deadline requiring fewer pollutants. The Environmental Protection Agency has authority to grant one-year extensions of the deadlines, but no more.

Already auto makers are cying that they cannot meet the deadlines, hoping Congress will grant delays as it has on safety requirements.

Evans-Novak

(Continued from page 4) he was warmly received at the Armour Leather plant in Sheboygan, considered a hotbed of conservative workers. Although a few workers pasted up Wallace-for-President signs, the reception was exceedingly friendly for McGovern.

While making inroads into the Archie Bunker vote, McGovern has not deviated from uncompromisingly leftist policies. Yet, workers at Armour Leather, deeply concerned with runaway welfare costs and other government spending, still perceive super-liberal McGovern as an instrument of protest.

But many view Wallace the same way. His audiences at giant night rallies dwarf those attracted by the other candidates. While United Auto Workers (UAW) officials distributed anti-Wallace literature outside Racine's Memorial Hall last week, UAW members poured inside to cheer.

As McGovern passed down factory aisles the last two weeks, worker after worker told him his choice was between Wallace and McGovern. Indeed, operating from opposite ends of the spectrum, their rhetoric is strikingly similar. McGovern in Green Bay: "I'm fed up with things as they are. I'm fed up with this cold war baloney." Wallace in Racine that same night: "I'm sick and tired and fed up to here with giving money away to those nations who spit in our face."

Thus, the Wisconsin primary depends on the "fed-up" vote — plus one added factor. With no real Republican Presidential primary contest, a high-cross-over of Republicans to the Democratic primary is inevitable, including enough for Wallace to probably push him above the 13 per cent figure in Quayle's poll.

Humphrey and Muskie last week were still playing old politics, seeking unobtainable endorsements from neutral politicians — Muskie from Gov. Patrick J. Lucey, Humphrey from Mayor Henry Maier of Milwaukee. But such endorsements will not affect the angry, alienated blue-collar worker of Wisconsin whose decisions will not only determine the outcome of this primary, but deeply influence the confused fight for the Democratic nomination.

McGovern also bore down on the 100 largest corporations. He demanded in Milwaukee that these wicked creatures be compelled to add a public director to their boards, the better to protect consumer concerns. He damned the monopolies that produce 60 percent of our manufactured goods.

Edmund Muskie saw their 100 corporations and doubled the bet. He concentrated on the 200 largest corporations.

Governor Wallace, of course, was smiting the giants hip and thigh. Senator Henry Jackson was overcome with outrage that a hundred millionaires pay no Federal income taxes. John V. Lindsay, was carrying on like Eugene V. Debs. John Kenneth Galbraith, no candida he, was wandering about in the snowstorm adding his bass growls to te hallelujah chorus.

Now, a lot of this was hokum. Price and wage controls have not been as wickedly imbalanced as Humphrey would have us believe. Corporate profits are improving, to be sure, but heaven knows they were sink in 1970. Excess profits taxes tend to be self-defeating. Confiscation of individual wealth, which McGovern seems to endorse, would produce relatively little additional Federal revenue.

Yet much of this noisy problem is not hokum. The American people are indeed disturbed by their total tax burden. They know instinctively that power is the name of the game, and the feel ground down by power. The Democratic hopeful who hears this cry most clearly, and responds most warmly to it, is likely to win his party sweepstakes in July. Richard Nixon, are you listening, too?

Pirates Gain 5-3 Win Over Carolina

Deac Coach Off To Pro Ranks

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Jack McCloskey has given up trying to turn Wake Forest into a contender in the Atlantic Coast Conference and taken on the task of coaching the hapless Portland Trail Blazers in the National Basketball Association.

The Blazers ended their two-month search for a coach Monday by hiring the 46-year-old McCloskey.

Portland's new coach was 70-89 at Wake Forest but has the reputation of producing well-prepared, well-disciplined teams.

"He gets more out of his material than most coaches do," said a rival Atlantic Coast Conference coach, North Carolina's Dean Smith of McCloskey recently.

McCloskey, a native of Mahanoy, Pa., played minor league baseball and basketball after his graduation from Penn in 1948.

In 1950, he got his only National Basketball Association experience when he played one game with the Philadelphia Warriors.

His problems at Wake Forest are attributed by some to his difficulties recruiting players for the small Southern Baptist school while having to compete with the likes of North Carolina, North Carolina State and Duke in the ACC.

McCloskey had six seasons at Wake Forest after 10 years at Penn during which his record was 146-105.

In the Blazers, McCloskey has a team that finished in last place in the NBA's Pacific Division and was 51 games away from the top.

Earlier this year, Blazer coach Rolland Todd got his dismissal notice after the team's management noted an apparent budding rebellion among the players.

Stu Inman, the man who recruited Geoff Petrie and Sidney Wicks for the Blazers as director of player personnel, took over the job and the team perked up as the season drew to a close.

Attendance also increased during Inman's short rule, but Inman made it clear when he took the job that he would not keep it.

In Winston-Salem, N. C., Wake Forest Athletic Director Gene Hooks said McCloskey's successor would come from outside the university and the search would begin immediately.

"Right now, no particular person is under consideration," Hooks said. "I just have a group of names."

Hooks praised McCloskey and said he "has done a fine job for Wake Forest and we will miss him. He has represented the university with real class and his teams have given our athletic program some of its finest and exciting moments."

McCloskey's best finish in the rugged Atlantic Coast Conference came in 1969 when the Demon Deacons tied for third in the regular season with an 8-6 record. The team had an overall record of 18-9 that year.

Hooks was asked if McCloskey's resignation came as a surprise to him.

"After this year, I'm immune to surprises," Hooks replied.

He was alluding to the decision in January of Wake Forest football Coach Cal Stoll to return to his alma mater, the University of Minnesota.

Little Chance Of Opening Year On Time

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Any chance that the baseball season could open as scheduled Wednesday seemed gone today as more charges and accusations flew back and forth between striking players and club owners following the owners' rejection of a proposed settlement by the players' association.

Meanwhile, the heads of the 24 major league teams scheduled a strategy session in Chicago tonight. But even if the pension dispute were settled, it was unlikely that Wednesday's traditional Cincinnati opener between the Reds and Houston Astros could be played.

Sixteen other teams are slated to open Thursday, the rest on Friday.

"I doubt that we'll make any new proposals," said Calvin Griffith, owner of the Minnesota Twins. "We're staying with our original offer."

The owners rejected Monday night a proposal by the Major League Baseball Players Association, whose members have been on strike since Saturday, to fund the proposed 17 per cent increase in retirement benefits mostly from increased interest which the pension-plan is earning.

The plan is designed to earn 4 1/2 per cent annually from its investments but in recent years the rate has gone up to 9-9 1/2 per cent, figuring out to an over-all average of 6 per cent.

Marvin Miller, head of the players' group, said the difference between 4 1/2 and 6 per cent is $660,000 a year.

However, both the players' association and the club owners must agree to its allocation and Dick O'Connell, general manager of the Boston Red Sox, said transfer of the funds "would jeopardize the entire pension plan."

O'Connell said two owners—Griffith and August A. Busch Jr. of the St. Louis Cardinals—indicated the players' latest proposal would take money away from players already retired.

Miller called those charges "outrageous."

The owners have offered $400,000 for the health care segment of the pension package, plus $90,000 to pay for the increased coverage cost for retired players, who must buy the coverage themselves. This would bring the owners' total annual contribution to the over-all plan to $5.94 million.

Miller said an independent William R. Komlo, former Maryland fullback, owns and trains thoroughbreds.

actuary hired by the pension committee, which consists of two owners and two players, reported that an annual $5.94 million contribution together with the plan's earnings would provide "ample money" for both the health care increase and the 17 per cent in retirement benefits.

Miller said that since most of the assets of the pension plan are in long-term mortgages at the 9-9 1/2 per cent rate, even if that rate went down—say to 8 1/2 per cent—the average rate would continue to rise as long as the yearly rate stayed above 6 per cent.

"We are not asking for any more money than the owners offered in our final meeting at Phoenix March 29," Miller said Monday in making the new proposal.

"We have said all along that money is not the issue. We are accepting the owners' money offer ($5.94 million) and, in addition, offering to guarantee the difference between the 4 1/2 per cent interest the plan is designed to earn and the 6 per cent it is earning.

"It's the same amount of money, but the difference is how we apply the money."

CHAPEL HILL — The Pirates of East Carolina University used eight timely hits and four North Carolina errors to hand the Tar Heels a 5-3 defeat yesterday.

The win was a personal highlight for Buc coach Earl Smith, who was winning his first regular season game against the Tar Heels on their home field.

The victory brought the Pirate record to 7-2 for the year and also left them with a 5-1 mark against Atlantic Coast Conference teams.

East Carolina got only two earned runs in the game, as most of the errors helped them push runs across. The Bucs, at the same time, made just two errors, but they helped to score one of the Tar Heel runs.

Tommy Toms, in going the distance, scattered nine North Carolina hits and was in serious trouble only three times, in the first, fourth and eighth innings. North Carolina scored off him in the latter two.

Toms himself was the hitting leader for the Pirates, getting two. Both of them were bunts as he attempted to sacrifice, but laid the ball down so well that it was unplayable each time.

The loss was tagged on former Ayden High School hurler Paul Miller, who was making his second start of the season. Miller went seven innings before being pulled, giving up four runs, four hits, two walks, and striking out two.

The Pirates started the scoring in the first inning as Ron Leggett led off, reaching on an error which moved him on to second.

Miller struck out the next two, but a wild pitch let Leggett move on down to third. Mike Aldridge then cracked a single into left, easily scoring Leggett for a 1-0 lead.

The Tar Heels came back with a serious threat that almost knocked Toms out before he got started. Dallas Branch singled to deep short and Peter Franklin walked. Dale Lydecker sacrificed them up, but Mike Roberts hit a chopper into the dirt in front of the plate and was thrown out at first without either runner advancing. Jack Leachman then walked to load the bases, but Bobby Guthrie popped up to second to end the inning and get Toms out of the jam.

The Pirates came back with two more runs in the second inning as the Carolina misfielding continued. With one out, Mike Bradshaw walked. Rich McMahon grounded to third, but Dickie Witt, trying for Bradshaw go on to third. Toms then laid down a perfect bunt, scoring Bradshaw, moving McMahon to second, and putting himself on first.

Leggett then hit what appeared to be an easy grounder to short, but the ball went right between the legs of Guthrie as McMahon came all the way from second to make it 3-0.

Carolina finally got on the boards in the fourth, scoring a run. Roberts led off with a single, and with one away, Guthrie grounded to short, mowing down Roberts at second. Tom Gillis got a check-swing single just over third and Witt followed with a hit into right, scoring Guthrie from second. That cut the lead to 3-1.

East Carolina got what proved to be the winning run in the sixth. Aldridge led off with a walk and stole second. Larry Walters then singled to center, scoring Aldridge to run it to 4-1. Walters later made it as far as third before the Tar Heels chocked off the rally.

Carolina got off another mild threat in the sixth. With one out, Leachman walked and Guthrie was safe when his fly to center was dropped by Matt Walker. But the next two went down in order to end it.

But in the bottom of the eighth, Carolina did score, coming up with a pair to close the gap to just 4-3. With one away, Leachman singled to center and Guthrie followed with another hit in the same place. Gillis hit a grounder to second, but Leggett muffed the ball as he prepared to throw it, with Leachman scoring on the play. Witt reached on a fielder's choice that did erase Gillis and Jim Chamberlain singled to left to score Guthrie, pulling the Heels to within one. But Toms got the next batter to ground out to the mound, ending the rally and saving his lead.

The Pirates came up with another run in the ninth to finish it off. McMahon led off with a single to right and Toms, bunting again, laid it between the mound and first before Chamberlain could react and beat it out for the hit. Then, with one away, Ralph Lamm slammed the ball hard against the left field fence for a double, easily scoring McMahon from second, giving the Bucs their final run and a 5-3 advantage.

East Carolina hits the road again on Thursday traveling to Durham to meet the Duke Blue Devils. Then, Saturday they open up a six-game home stand against Southern Conference opponents with a single game against Furman University.

Triple Bogey Won't Haunt

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Arnold Palmer has come up for air after the nightmarish triple bogey that cost him his first tournament victory of the year—insisting that the numbing experience will not blunt his bid for a fifth Masters golf title.

"I didn't feel like walking on the moon but I wasn't all that unhappy," the 42-year-old veteran said, adding that he'd like to dispel any notion that he left the course in a huff Sunday at Greensboro, N.C.

"It wasn't a case that I was so disappointed that I didn't want to talk. I did talk—I talked to several people, in-

Register Players

Registration will be held both days from 4 until 6 p.m.

All candidates must be accompanied by at least one parent or legal guardian, and must present proof of birth at the time of registration. They may be original birth certificates, notification of birth registration cards or certified copies. Baptismal and hospital certificates are not acceptable.

To complete eligibility, candidates must attend at least 50 per cent of the practice sessions, to be held beginning April 17 at 4 p.m. They must provide their own shoes and gloves.

cluding a newspaper columnist. But I was in a hurry to get home. It was Easter Sunday.

"People ask me if this is going to be a psychological let-down for the Masters. Well, I can only say that this way. In 1958, I played at Wilmington (N.C.) the week before the Masters. I tied Howie Johnson for first place and then shot a horrible 78 in the playoff.

"I came over to Augusta and won my first Masters. No, I don't think what happened at Greensboro will make any difference here."

The aging yet still popular Palmer had a two-stroke lead over the leaders, George Archer and Tommy Aaron, with three holes to play. At the narrow, par three 16th, Arnie hooked his tee shot into a creek, played out of the water, dumped his third shot into a bunker and finished with a triple bogey six.

He tied for third money behind Archer and Aaron, with Archer winning on the second hole of the sudden death playoff—in this case, the same treacherous 16th hold of the Sedgewick Course where Aaron also hit into the water.

"I had a shot from the water," he said. "I thought I'd get over the trap. The one I blew was my third shot—I dead fluffed it."

If Palmer is discouraged, he didn't show it when he appeared at the Augusta National Course—his favorite—Monday with a second pair of eyes and what he hopes to be a new seeing-eye putter.

The extra eyes come in the form of contact lenses, which Palmer has been wearing for 12 days.

"They help me a lot," he said. "I believe I judge distance much better. The only problem is when I address the ball on a putt. I look down and get a kind of hazy image.

Dawson Said Trying Again

By ROBERT MOORE
Associated Press Sports Writer
KANSAS CITY (AP) — Len Dawson, the aging field general of the Kansas City Chiefs who has been pondering retirement, is expected to be back at his old quarterback post next season.

Dawson, 36, was scheduled to make his plans public today at a mid-morning news conference.

Sources close to the Chiefs' star have indicated in recent weeks that Dawson would sign a new contract and continue to play professional football.

Dawson completed a four-year contract in 1971, one of his finest in 15 years in the pros. It is believed that contract was for approximately $250,000 or about $62,500 a year.

A former Purdue ace, Dawson was picked up by the Chiefs—or the old Dallas Texans as they were known at that time—in 1962 as a free agent. He started his pro career as a first round draft choice with the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1956 but saw little action and moved on to the Cleveland Browns in 1960.

Dawson has been called by Chiefs Coach Hank Stram as "the most accurate passer in pro football."

He has been dogged by injuries in recent years. Dawson missed six games during the 1969 season because of a knee injury.

However, he recovered in time to lead the Chiefs to a 23-7 Super Bowl victory over the Minnesota Vikings and was named the most valuable player in that game, completing 12 of 17 passes.

Since his 1969 injury, Dawson's wife, Jackie, has wanted him to retire.

Knee ailments bothered Dawson again in 1970. Last season, he teamed with wide receiver Otis Taylor to form one of the most feared aerial combinations in pro football.

Littler Fights Against Cancer

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Gene Littler, who six years ago said he had resigned himself to the fact that he wasn't going to be the world's greatest golfer, isn't resigning himself to the fact that cancer may have ended his professional playing days.

"We're all holding good thoughts," he said on the eve of surgery at Mercy Hospital today. He has cancer of the lymph glands.

Littler, 41, said a malignant tumor was removed from under his left arm March 15 and now doctors want to see if the disease has spread.

"It's highly unpredictable," the former winner of the U.S. Open said Monday. "They may not find anything. The test results have been pretty good so far."

Littler's wife, Shirley said: "All the signs are good. We're very hopeful, very confident."

But Littler said a question marks hangs over his 18-year career.

"There is a good chance it may interfere permanently with my golf, though nobody really knows," he said during an interview. "Nobody has gone through this operation before, then tried to play tournament golf. I'll be able to play golf again, but the question is, 'Can I play tournament golf?'"

Littler, who won the U.S. Open in 1961 and the U.S. Amateur in 1953, is known on the pro tour as a quiet, modest player who keeps his emotions in check and doesn't court the press. He covets his home life and his hobby of tinkering with antique automobiles.

"I've resigned myself to the fact that I'm never going to be the greatest," he said in April 1966. "And I don't want to give up what I'd have to play better. I've made a good living from golf and that's all I want from it. After all, you can only wear one pair of shoes, eat one steak a meal."

Littler won $98,687 in 20 tournaments last year and is one of the sport's top money winners with more than $800,000 in prizes collected over his career.

Coody Says Winning Masters Helped His Game Rest Of Year

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Notes from the pro golf tournament trail:

Being the Masters champion worked a change in the attitude of Charles Coody, who defends his title at the Augusta National Golf Club course this weekend.

"It made me want to play well," the rangy Texan said.

"Maybe it would be more accurate to say I didn't want to play badly. I think it improved my concentration. In fact, I'm sure it did."

Coody said he was "still in a state of excitement—I wasn't completely aware what was going on" when he went to the Tournament of Champions following his Masters triumph last year.

"Then we went to New Orleans and in a practice round I became more aware of what had happened. When my name was announced as the Masters champion, I got a bigger hand than I'd ever had there before.

"I don't know why, but as I stood there over the hall on the tee, I said to myself, 'Now, knock this in the fairway like you're supposed to, and not in the rough or a bunker.'

The Masters victory got him in the World Series of Golf, where he scored an upset victory over Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino and Bruce Crampton.

"It was a tremendous satisfaction," he said. "There's a good chance that winning the World Series made the public believe that the Masters wasn't a fluke."

"I read some papers after the Masters that said my victory wasn't a popular one. That is, with some people. It wasn't unpopular. It's just that everyone wanted Jack to win."

Sam Snead, just short of 60 years of age, will be playing in his 33rd Masters. So will Gene Sarazen, Snead holds the tournament record for completing 72 holes, 28 times.

Arnold Palmer, who will be making his 18th Masters appearance, has taken the most money out of the event: $118,688. Jack Nicklaus has collected $101,560.

Eleven American players are competing for the first time.

They include six amateurs, Martin West III, Eddie Pearce, James C. McLean, Richard A. Bendall Jr., Ben Crenshaw and Thomas J. Culligan III.

American pros making their first appearance are Jim Colbert, Jim Jamieson, Jerry McGee, J.C. Snead and DeWitt Weaver.

A change in format for qualifications this year makes all tour winners from the previous 12 months eligible.

Five players, who would not otherwise have been eligible—who would not have made it off the old format—gained a spot in the field through their victories. They are Hubert Green, DeWitt Weaver, Labron Harris, Paul Harney and Grier Jones.

Jack Nicklaus admittedly is gunning for a sweep of all the world's major championships this year, and the Masters is the first leg.

"I don't think it can be done," said Gary Player, who hastily added, "but if it can. Jack is the man who can do it. 'There's just so much luck involved,' Player continued. "You not only have to play well, you have to be lucky to win any tournament, particularly one of the big four."

"And to win all of them, you'd have to be fantastically lucky. The odds on it would be absolutely tremendous."

Tony Jacklin had planned to go home to England after the Masters, but changed his mind when he won the Greater Jacksonville Open and became eligible for the rich Tournament of Champions, two weeks from now.

"I'll now stay over for that one, then go home," Jacklin said.

Player, off his victory at New Orleans, also became eligible, but hasn't yet made up his mind about competing in the T of C at La Costa, Calif.

Griffith Says Owners Are Firm

CHICAGO (AP)—Minnesota Twins President Calvin Griffith, in Chicago today for a meeting of owners or representatives from the 24 major league baseball clubs, says the owners will reaffirm their rejection of a Major League Baseball Players Association proposal.

"All of the owners will reconfirm what our Players Relations Committee has already decided," he said prior to going to Chicago. "I doubt that we will make any new proposals. We're standing with our original offer—to continue the present benefits at a cost of $400,000."

Griffith said Monday that the decision to turn down the proposal to put the $490,000 offer originally made by the owners for health benefit improvements into the pension plan was made after a conference call among members of the Players Relations Committee.

"We went over it and our actuaries advised us not to accept it," he said. "It wasn't in the best interest of baseball overall."

Griffith maintained the money would have to come from money set aside for pension reserve, primarily for players already retired.

"The committee does not want to take money away from the players who have already retired," the Twins president said. "Those boys are entitled to as much as the ones playing now."

Griffith said the entire package would amount to $1,021,000. "We have a problem ahead," he said. "We're not going to restructure this pension plan overnight."

Priest Prays For Gil Again

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Nineteen years ago, Father Herbert Redmond, a Catholic priest, threw away his scheduled sermon. Instead, he told the parishioners at St. Francis Xavier Roman Catholic Church in Brooklyn to "go home, keep the Commandments and say a prayer for Gil Hodges."

Sunday night, Father Redmond said another prayer for Gil Hodges—the Catholic prayer for the dead.

The 63-year-old priest, long-time chaplain for the Nursing Sisters of the Sick Poor, learned of the death of Hodges, manager of baseball's New York Mets, while watching television Sunday evening.

"They flashed the news across the bottom of the screen," he said. "I remember the Brooklyn Dately said the Catholic prayer for the dead."

Father Redmond recalled that it was a hot, muggy spring day in 1953 when he decided to call off his sermon. Hodges, first baseman for the Brooklyn Dodgers, was mired in a batting slump, a carryover from the 1952 World Series, when he went 0-for-21 and became the first player ever to go hitless in a seven-game Series.

"It was just spontaneous," he recalled. "It was the only time I said anything without preparation. There was a little chuckle and everyone went home. But there was a reporter present, a member of the parish, and he wrote the story. I remember that Gil broke out of his slump that afternoon with two home runs."

Hodges, who would have been 48 today, collapsed and died Sunday at a motel in West Palm Beach, Fla., after playing 27 holes of golf. The scheduled exhibition game between the Mets and Montreal had been canceled because of the baseball players' strike.

Five names were mentioned as Hodges' managerial successor. They are Met coaches Yogi Berra and Rube Walker; Whitey Herzog, the organization's director of player development, and former major league managers Alvin Dark and Hank Bauer. Bauer currently is managing the Mets' International League farm club at Tidewater, Va.

Trevino Is Angry

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Lee Trevino, who boycotted the Masters Golf Tournament in 1970 and 1971 because he said his game wasn't suited to the long, hilly course, ran into a minor clash with the Masters' green coats on his first day back Monday.

He became incensed when a security officer threatened to expel his tour caddy-driver-vallet, Neal Harvey, because the latter didn't have proper credentials.

"If he goes, I go," said Super Mex, fuming. "I'll drive out the way I came in. I bought five season tickets."

Harvey was wearing one of those season tickets, a $25 badge good for only the tournament proper. He needed one of the $5 daily tickets for the practice rounds. It was a misunderstanding, later cleared up when Harvey, ineligible to caddy here where only local baggeters are used, was given a complimentary badge.

"How much is the first prize money here?" Lee said. "I may not have enough if this keeps up?"

The Worry of Young People Need Outlets'

Rev. Williams deserves a double compliment for his superb innovation at Danville, Ill. Church young people are full of zeal but often aren't shown creative outlets for their religious fervor. Use the following ideas for such "home missionary" projects!

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph.D., M.D.

Case T-536: Rev. James Williams, of Danville, Illinois, is a dynamo of religious zeal. "We have buses," he said, "to pick up the children for our Sunday School."

bodies, don't you agree?"

Church Efficiency

Yes; Rev. Williams deserves a double compliment. For he is bringing happiness to scores of elderly folks who would otherwise be shut-ins. But he is also keeping church property in more productive use on other days than just the Sabbath.

Many residents in Nursing Homes may be so far away from their nearest relatives, that they don't see any kinfolk very often. And seldom get to take even a short automobile trip.

So you can imagine their eager excitement at looking forward to this bus ride each week!

They anticipate it with almost the same glee that youngsters view a visit to the circus.

And the very act of riding in a school bus is often an exciting novelty, for many oldsters have never yet been transported in a school bus.

Up till almost 1920, children in the country rode in horse-drawn school "hacks," as they were called.

But the city youngsters walked to grammar and high school. When I attended Central High School at Ft. Wayne, Indiana, I hiked 2½ miles to the building and then 2½ back in the afternoon.

Maybe that would be a desirable innovation nowadays, too, for then the kids could work off some of their excess energy via the healthful habit of hiking.

So they'd not crave street rioting and vandalism to expend their pent-up energy!

Another splendid humanitarian project for the churches would be to send birthday greetings and other holiday cards to the residents of Nursing Homes.

This is an ideal form of "home missionary" work that is often forgotten by the church Women's Societies and Young People's Organizations.

Dr. Waugh's League of the Golden Pen is also a superb method for actively channeling religious zeal.

It involves writing a cheery note of greeting or sympathy or condolence to anybody who is not on your regular mailing list. It may be a total stranger about whom you have read in this newspaper.

Or it can be the soloist at church or a genial traffic officer at a school crossing.

But the words from your pen will then be golden in their effect, so join this Golden Pen League at once!

Send for my "Compliment Club" booklet, enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents, for it also describes the League of the Golden Pen. (Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Child's World Is A TV Screen

CHICAGO (UPI)—The PTA magazine, published by the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, tells this one:

Fourth-grade youngsters in a suburb were asked to draw a picture of life at home and add a statement on what the family meant to them. Out of the assignment came such descriptions of the family as "always fighting," "war," "nothing." One youngster drew himself looking out of a television screen, with bars before his face and his arms chained to a wall. His caption: "A family is TV."

"But during the rest of the week they are generally idle. So we decided to put them to constructive use even during week days.

"Thus, we visit the Nursing Homes and take the elderly folks for rides into the country.

"They get to see the farm crops growing and the beautiful foliage of autumn.

"We also tour the city to let them view the new buildings and even their old familiar home neighborhoods.

"This perks up their morale and serves as a good tonic for their minds, as well as for their

North had just enough to open the bidding as dealer with one diamond and inasmuch as South could win six tricks in his own hand, he was warranted in leaping to four hearts as an initial response—particularly with the vulnerability conditions in his favor. Altho we sympathize with West's frustration in being shut out of the auction holding 18 high card points, we do not feel that his double was well calculated to add substantially to the defensive ledger and would have been inclined to pass in hopes of achieving a small profit.

West opened the king of clubs and continued with the queen on which South dropped the jack as East followed suit, first with the three and then the seven. Inasmuch as his partner's play indicated that he held the missing club, West shifted at trick three to a small diamond. North played the ace

Carelessness In Boating Cited

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Texas Parks and Wildlife Department Executive Director James U. Cross says 1971 statistics show that in most cases carelessness caused more boating accidents than any other factor.

The average boating accident ironically involved an operator between the ages of 26 to 50 who had more than 500 hours of experience.

In addition to 65 fatalities, 128 boating-related injuries were recorded in 1971. Damage to boats and other property totaled $276,880.

Wear Bracelets For U.S. POWs

WILMETTE, Ill. (AP)—Prayer bracelets are being worn by some 400 girls of a Wilmette Catholic girls' high school to create interest in the American prisoners of war in North Vietnam.

They said they will wear the bracelets until the Americans are released.

Each bracelet has the name of an American prisoner for whom the wearer will pray until he is free.

The bracelets were blessed during a special mass attended by 1,000 students of Regina Dominican High School.

"The whole idea is to get people interested in the prisoners," said the Rev. Martin McCormick, the school's chaplain.

Wilbur Hobby Says Tax Hike Is 'Inevitable'

Witnesses On Stand In The Angela Davis Trial

By EDITH M. LEDERER
Associated Press Writer

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — A photographer and three law enforcement officers testified at the Angela Davis murder-kidnap-conspiracy trial that they heard shouted demands at the Marin County Civic Center shootout to free the Soledad Brothers.

But in testimony Monday the four men, who were in the same courthouse corridor, all remembered different phrases called out during the minutes when three black convicts and an accomplice took Superior Court Judge Harold J. Haley and four others hostage. Four were slain, including the judge.

The state claims that Miss Davis furnished guns and helped engineer the Aug. 7, 1970, violence because she was driven by passion to free George Jackson, one of the Soledad Brothers.

Jackson and the others—Fleeta Drumgo and John Cluchette—were accused of killing a white guard at Soledad Prison.

Drumgo and Cluchette were acquitted of the charges March 27 but Jackson was killed in what authorities said was an escape attempt.

Miss Davis, 28, has pleaded innocent. The trial will resume Wednesday.

Photographer James Kean of the San Rafael Independent-Journal testified that the kidnapers invited him to photograph the abortive escape try. He said convict William Christmas told him: "We are the revolutionaries." Kean said that as the hostages were being led to a courtroom elevator convict James McClain said: "Tell them we want the Soledad Brothers released by 12 o'clock."

Marin County Sheriff's Capt. Harvey Teague, who followed Kean to the witness stand, said he was also standing near the elevator when the kidnapers were leading the hostages out. Just as the elevator doors were about to close, Teague said, "I heard something about you have until 12 noon to free the Soledad Brothers and all political prisoners."

He said he could not identify the speaker but said the demand came "from the group of hostages."

Corte Madera Policeman Clifford G. Niederer, next on the stand, testified that one of the kidnapers standing at the elevator said "they wished the Soledad Three released by this afternoon." He said the demand was made in "a loud, distinctive" voice.

The final witness, Mill Valley Police Chief Dan Terzich, testified that he was disarmed by Jonathan Jackson, younger brother of George Jackson, and stood next to Teague as the hostages were led toward the elevator.

As they neared the elevator, Terzich said, McClain turned "and stated in a very loud voice, 'Free the Soledad Brothers by 12:30 p.m. or they all die!'"

Haley, young Jackson, McClain and Christmas died in shooting that followed outside the building.

Many TV Stars See Shows Fold

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Fred MacMurray, Glenn Ford, Glen Campbell, Tony Curtis, David Janssen, James Franciscus, Elizabeth Montgomery and Don Rickles are among the stars whose television programs have been canceled by ABC and CBS.

Add to these the names of James Stewart and James Garner, whose shows got the hook at season's end from NBC—plus Shirley MacLaine and Anthony Quinn whose ABC series lasted only until midseason, and it becomes obvious that the television audience has been saying something. It can only be one of two things: A film star is only as good in television as the material in his series, or that a program is only as strong as its competition is weak.

The three major networks have announced their prime-time plans for next September. They include 19 new programs with big emphasis on situation comedy, plenty of action shows and a little variety.

Generally, the proposed programs seem to be safe, bland and decidedly nonexperimental.

Julie Andrews will have an hour of variety on ABC. CBS hopes Bill Cosby will churn up for it the kind of excitement that Flip Wilson has created for NBC.

Since Archie Bunker has been a sensation on CBS, the network has produced a comedy about a relative of dingbat Edith named "Cousin Maude," who is as liberal as Archie is conservative.

Since most shows scheduled for showing five months hence are unmade, the most interesting aspects of the new schedules are the cancellations.

Two shows died essentially from old age but were hurried along by their networks. Both "My Three Sons," on CBS for 12 years, and "Bewitched," an ABC fixture for eight, came to dismal ends when they were forced to compete with two of the most popular shows—NBC's "Flip Wilson Show" and CBS's "All in the Family," respectively.

"The Glen Campbell Show," which started as a surprise hit four seasons back, came a cropper this season when it was put opposite ABC's "Mod Squad" and NBC's "Ironside."

Glenn Ford's "Cade's County" had to buck NBC's "Bonanza" with its hard-core audience plus ABC's often attractive feature film on Sunday nights.

Altogether, 15 programs have been canceled at the end of this season—not unusual and all of them victims of poor Nielsen ratings. Some, including ABC's "Longstreet," might have survived had they been given better breaks in the schedule.

Next season will bring a new series of struggles. "Mod Squad" on ABC has been moved into competition with Flip Wilson on NBC. "Alias Smith and Jones," which had a hard time this season with Flip's competition, has survived to be set against CBS's "All in the Family" next year.

Asserting that boosts in state taxes are inevitable, candidate for governor Wilbur Hobby has attacked Skipper Bowles' promise of no tax increases as "phony" and "terribly misleading to the citizens of this state."

Hobby, president of the state AFL-CIO and a contender for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, told a rally at Brevard Junior College Monday night that more money is needed for teacher salaries, mental hospitals, prisons, environmental protection and public health.

Saying he was not satisfied "with the minimal progress" the state has made, Hobby called for "new support and new public leadership to the area of state-supported community services."

No-Strike Pledged If Jacksonville Is Chosen Plant Site

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Labor leaders have pledged a moratorium on picketing, strikes or work stoppages during construction of a $250 million nuclear power plant factory—provided the facility is built in Jacksonville.

The pledge was signed Monday by leaders of 18 building trades unions in Northeast Florida and representatives of J. A. Jones Construction Co. of Charlotte, N.C.

Jones is construction managing firm for Westinghouse-Tenneco, which has announced plans to build such a $250 million factory at either Portsmouth, Va., or Jacksonville.

Vice President Richard Lee of the Jones Company said labor in the Portsmouth area has not yet signed a no-strike agreement. He said the one reached here "has made a favorable impression with out clients."

John Bowden, president of the Northeast Florida Building Trades Council, hailed the agreement as a sign that labor is as eager as business for community progress.

"Unions in Jacksonville have put the community ahead of their personal desires," Bowden said. "When we give up our right to strike we give up our ace in the hole."

As for what union men get from the agreement, Bowden said "we've got pretty good assurance from J. A. Jones Co. ... that the work will be done by local contractors and it will be done by union labor."

He called this the third such agreement ever made in Florida. The first marked the building of the missile testing base at Cape Kennedy. The second staved off a stoppage in construction of Walt Disney World.

Organized labor is moving away from strikes, walkouts and work stoppages, Bowden said, especially jurisdictional disputes between unions.

Westinghouse-Tenneco has been offered up to 900 acres of Blount Island in the St. Johns River at $2,000 an acre as a site for the plant. If it is located at that site, the company said it will eventually employ 12,000 persons.

About 3,000 construction workers will build it, and Bowden said they are available locally.

At Least Twenty Highway Deaths During Holiday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

At least 20 persons died in highway accidents in North Carolina during the three and one-quarter day Eastern weekend.

The North Carolina State Motor Club had predicted 21 deaths in the 78-hour period, from 6 p.m. Friday through midnight Monday.

The 20 deaths reported by the Highway Patrol increased the total for the year to 424, or 19 more than the similar period last year.

In the worst accident, four persons died in a four-car chain-reaction crash at Atlantic Beach. They were Mr. and Mrs. James B. Neal Jr. and Duncan Stephenson, all of Greensboro, and Kathleen Wreen, 26, of Burlington.

GermanWantAd Drew Response

CHARLOTTE (AP) — A help-wanted classified ad in German has drawn a dozen replies a day after it appeared in the Charlotte Observer and five South Carolina Sunday newspapers.

It was placed by the Orangeburg, S.C., plant of Mayer & Cie (USA), a German-based maker of circular knitting machines. It sought a process engineer who can understand German-speaking managers and relay instructions in English to production workers.

And it promised Ausgezeichnete Gehalt und gute soziale Sozialaufwendungen. Or, outstanding salary and good additional benefits.

now choking to death with cruel, regressive taxes? Or those who can afford to pay a more equitable tax share?"

"The most important thing separating me from my two opponents is that I will place the burden of new taxes on the 'big boys' where it belongs," Hobby asserted.

Meanwhile, candidate for lieutenant governor, Roy Sowers Jr. called for creation of a panel to investigate rising food prices in North Carolina.

In a talk to the Elizabeth City Rotary Club, Sowers said, "The cost of living eats at everybody's pocketbook and prices for food are going out of sight. And the curious thing about it is that the farmers, the people who are growing the foodstuffs, are barely making ends meet."

Congressman Nick Galifianakis, running for the U.S. Senate, told Iredell Young Democrats he is greatly concerned at reports that registration of young people to vote is lagging in North Carolina.

Galifianakis said he felt such apathy "is dangerous to our freedom" and said he is confident young North Carolinians "will register in large numbers during the remaining days of this week."

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Poor judgment about financial matters along with upsetting conditions connected with everyday matters can bring you problems hard to solve, so relax and take life as quietly and as easily as possible. Avoid getting into arguments or discussions, for no one would really win.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You are not sure just how to handle some financial affairs you have to take care of, so use every caution to avoid making expensive errors. Don't interfere in the affairs of others for they are not thinking clearly, either.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You are not in a particularly good mood so would do well to postpone any important decisions you may have to make. Do something to improve your health and attractiveness. Be more sure of yourself as a result.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You are under some pressure, but can carry through very well and be the winner just the same. Try to help those who are having some rough sledding. You have the right answer to their problems.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Your judgment is rather poor today so do not try to pass it along to others or you both get into trouble. Be clever even though the cards may seem stacked against you. Then you win out easily.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You are thinking negatively and could get yourself into all sorts of trouble, so take time to compose yourself early in the a.m. Then you can carry through admirably the rest of the day and p.m. Drive with care.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You are feeling discontented and can therefore come up with some fine new ideas you know are right which improve your future. Make the changes necessary in a positive way. Stop struggling so hard.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Impress others with the fact that you can discharge obligations in a most accurate way and gain their respect and approval. There is no need to argue so much with associates. Listen more to what they have to say and stop being so opinionated.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have to study those plans more carefully before you talk them over with partners and come to the right agreement. Newcomers have fine ideas, so listen and understand them, instead of just pretending to do so. Gain.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) That mood to do nothing while duties await you is just a state of mind, so change it. You are one who can persevere and be thorough, and this is the time to do just that. Your planets are testing you — be equal to the test.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) What makes you think you can leave important work and let others down just so you can have extracurricular fun? Get down to business, forget the tempter and by p.m. you will have the last laugh, instead of vice versa. Stop being the goat, actually.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are apt to treat family most contemptuously if you don't get hold of yourself and realize that your loyalty belongs at home. Faults there are small. Eliminate these quietly and kindly.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Control yourself and stop rushing around, talking too fast, saying the wrong things. Show you have your feet squarely on the ground. An ounce of control can save the day, p.m. for you, and others who depend on you as well. Wisdom.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she could very well be one of those fortunate youngsters unfortunate enough to be born in actual need. From this temporary background can come the fortitude and the will to succeed lacking in those with the silver spoon in the mouth who often fail to take it out on time and therefore do not know the ingredients for success, unless good fortune is forcibly taken away. Look for fame in this chart.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

PAT TAYLOR Urges You to Register...

The 1972 Primary Election will be held on Saturday, May 6 with the General Election to follow on November 7. Lieutenant Governor Pat Taylor strongly feels the need for every qualified voter to register and take part in our elections.

The exercise of the franchise remains as the primary responsibility of every citizen. In order to remind citizens to register and to familiarize them with the steps that they must take, the Taylor for Governor Committee is providing the following information.

Who May Register:

- Any person who — will be at least eighteen years of age by the date of the general election and — is a citizen of the United States either native born or naturalized and — who otherwise qualifies as a bona fide resident and — has not been convicted of a felony.

Any person who is seventeen years old but who will be eighteen at the time of the general election can register for the primary. These voters can vote in the primary election for all candidates but not on the bond issues.

Where You Register:

Each voter registers in the county where he maintains his legal residence. He may register at: (1) the county board of elections (usually in the county courthouse). The board of elections office is open five or six days a week except in smaller counties which are generally open three days a week. (2) You may also register by appointment at the home of your precinct registrar. (Call the board of elections for the location of your precinct registrar.) (3) With special registrars who, with the approval of the local board of elections, take the books to high school and college campuses, shopping centers or other places of convenience (Call your local board).

When You Register:

To vote in the primary election (or in the second primary should there be one), you must register on or before April 7 (the law requires that the books close 21 business days prior to an election.) Citizens who register after April 7 cannot vote until the General Election.

What You Register:

When you register you may declare your affiliation in the Democratic, Republican, or American Party and are entitled to vote in your party's primary and in the General Election. You may choose to register "Independent" but in doing so you exclude yourself from voting in any of the primaries and may only vote in the General Election. You may register "No Party" and then go to the polls on primary day and declare a particular party and vote in that party's primary. Your declaration will then remain on the books until you change it.

When To Vote:

The primary election will be held on May 6 and the polls will be open from 6:30 a.m. to 7:30 p.m.

Where You Vote:

You vote at your precinct polling place. Ask at the time you register or call the board of elections office for the location of your polling place.

Absentee Ballots:

A voter who applies for an absentee ballot in the 1972 primary can do so 35 days prior to the election and up until the Tuesday prior to the primary (between April 1 and May 2). The voter must be affiliated with the political party in whose primary he desires to vote at the time he makes a request for an absentee ballot. Make a written request which must be mailed to the county board of elections in which you state your legal residence in that county and the circumstances that require you to vote by absentee ballot. You will receive by U. S. Mail an official application for absentee ballots which you fill out and return by U. S. Mail to the county board. When the board approves your application, it will mail you a ballot. Your voted ballot must be received by the chairman of the board of elections no later than 12 noon on May 3.

NOTE: YOU ARE CAUTIONED NOT TO WAIT UNTIL THE DEADLINE (MAY 2) TO APPLY BECAUSE THIS WILL NOT ALLOW TIME FOR BALLOTS TO BE MAILED TO YOU AND SUBSEQUENTLY RETURNED.

Confidence Is N.C. GOP Candidate Jim Gardner

By MELVIN LANG
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — Supreme-ly confident of victory, Rocky Mount businessman Jim Gardner brushes aside charges that he "flip-flopped" his way to defeat in the 1968 gubernatorial campaign.

It's not that he doesn't agree part of the loss to Democrat Bob Scott was his own fault. But Gardner looks to the future and the benefit he may now have because of his mistakes four years ago when he polled 700,000 votes, and lost.

"I'm confident we're going to win the primary and I'm confident we're going to win the general election," he said in an interview. "I think we're going to win the first primary."

Gardner announced his candidacy for the Republican gubernatorial nomination just as the filing period was closing for the May 6 primary. Since then, he has devoted most of his effort to reenergizing the campaign organization he used in 1968.

"Now we've got every county in the state organized, not with a name but with someone I know will perform," Gardner said.

"I've been meeting a lot of Republicans, for after all it's the Republicans we need in the primary. "We've been going on a pretty hard schedule, talking about organization, talking about what it's going to take to win. In 95 per cent of the cases, we have people who performed for us in 1968."

He added, "We have a campaign organization with at least a 25 per cent greater capability than we had in 1968."

Gardner blames his loss in 1968 "on a number of reasons," but contends: "The reason I think I lost was that I was running against the strongest name in North Carolina at that time, in 1968, the Scott name ... I'm convinced to this date that I could have defeated any other Democrat running in 1968 but the name Scott, Kerr Scott, elected Bob Scott in 1968."

"There is no strong name now. My name is stronger than any other on the ticket right now so far as recognition throughout the state. It's a big plus factor," Gardner said.

Gardner's campaign strategy calls for an acceleration of public appearances this month. His aides, using computers to pinpoint Republican strongholds, have outlined an intensive 35-day schedule in which every hour of Gardner's working day is diagrammed.

The schedule emphasizes 50 counties, with particular attention to the 35 counties with the heaviest GOP voter registration.

In preparation for his second attempt at the governorship Gardner, a former congressman, said he severed his business connections with the Hard-ee food system and other enterprises. In addition to the quick-order food service, Gardner's business interests have included development of the Carolando Corp. in Florida and the Carolina Cougars of the American Basketball Association.

"I get into business to make a profit," he said.

"I like to be involved in things that are happening, and that's what bugs me so much about North Carolina. It's not happening. It should be but it's not."

Gardner said "part of the job of the governor is that he's selling North Carolina, and I think maybe we've got some qualifications in this area to do it."

Asked why he wanted to be governor, Gardner replied:

"I think basically because I have a great deal of faith in the state of North Carolina. It's my home and I hope it's going to be the home of my children. "I personally am not satisfied to see our state ranked in the bottom 15 per cent in education when I have children in school in North Carolina. I'm not satisfied to see our state rank in the bottom 15 per cent in per capita income when I know that things can be done and should be done to raise the standard of living."

"I feel that I have a responsibility, if I disagree with the way government is being run, to get involved and try to change it. So here I am."

Radioactivity In China's Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission says mainland China's nuclear test blast March 18 caused radioactive fallout across most of the United States, but the increase in radioactivity didn't present a significant health hazard.

"The fallout apparently reached a peak concentration during the last 10 days of March," the AEC said in a statement Monday, "and at most locations it has already decayed to levels which cannot be detected by the sampling network."

The explosion in the atmosphere, estimated by the AEC to be the equivalent of 20,000 to 200,000 tons of TNT, caused higher than normal radiation levels in the United States but only a small fraction of the amount received annually from natural causes, the commission said.

Good News Paper's Demise Announced

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A newspaper which printed only good news has folded after 16 months because of creditors who didn't look on the bright side of things.

And typically, the bad news of the demise of The Good News Paper will never be printed in the biweekly tabloid.

"It would be uncharacteristic of The Good News Paper to print the story of its own demise," said publisher Bill Bailey, a father of five who launched the venture with $100.

The decision to halt publication came while the next issue was being put together, "so it's just as well we weren't able to print it," Bailey told an interviewer Monday.

The paper was launched in 1970 "with a lot of optimism and very little money," Bailey said. "After 16 months of publication—sometimes spasmodically—and despite a circulation of 10,000 in all 50 states and nine foreign countries, we were unable to attract the national advertisers we needed to pay our bills. We have simply run out of time and money." He said it would take about $75,000 to salvage the newspaper.

Bailey, a vice president for a china and crystal firm before going into the good news business, said he intends to pay off all bills—from his own future earnings—including the balance of subscription payments from readers.

Bailey said his all-time favorite good news story was the first edition's lead item which began: "In the United States last year, 196,459,483 citizens did not commit a criminal offense, 4,896,720 college students did not participate in a riot or student demonstration and 201,489,710 citizens did not use illegal drugs."

"I learned a lot of things," Bailey said. "I learned that people want good news. I would do it all over again if I had the money."
