Fierce Ground Fighting Goes On U.S. Jets Attack Across DMZ

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — The United States unleashed today the heaviest air attack on North Vietnam since the bombing halt in 1968, trying to cut off the base of the growing North Vietnamese offensive in South Vietnam.

On ground fronts, North and South Vietnamese battled for a district town 75 miles north of Saigon. The enemy attack rolled into its eighth day on the northern front. Fighting continued in the central highlands.

U.S. sources estimated 400 planes had attacked targets in North Vietnam, half from 7th Fleet carriers and half from bases in South Vietnam and Thailand. The sources said the attacks were ordered by President Nixon.

Three carriers were committed to the air campaign. Five destroyers offshore added their 5-inch guns to the bombardment.

Targets were anti-aircraft batteries and radar stations, surface-to-air missiles, long-range artillery that has been firing across the demilitarized zone, and storage areas.

The North Vietnamese radio said 10 U.S. jets were shot down over North Vietnam during the day.

The U.S. Command declined to say whether any planes were lost.

Sources said all the strikes were south of the 20th parallel, which is 200 miles north of the demilitarized zone dividing the two Vietnams.

Planes also attacked the North Vietnamese on the northern front of South Vietnam and adjacent areas in Laos.

ting heavy resistance outside Loc Ninh. One officer in the field said casualties on both sides were heavy.

Vietnamese sources said Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Minh, commander of the 3rd military region, met with Gen. Creighton W. Abrams to request more American air support.

Informed sources said the only U.S. air support available is a squadron of American A37s, which are small subsonic fighter-bombers; and some helicopter gunships.

The South Vietnamese planes are all in the north and the highlands, and the bulk of the U.S. jets and helicopter gunships also were operating above and below the DMZ.

The U.S. Command said the attacks on North Vietnam were "in response to the invasion of the Republic of South Vietnam by North Vietnamese forces who cross the demilitarized zone." It added that they were ordered "to help protect the lives of diminishing U.S. forces."

Cave-Dwelling Tribe's Home Put Off-Limits

MANILA (AP) — President Ferdinand E. Marcos declared the newly discovered homesite of the cave-dwelling Tasaday Tribe off limits to outsiders today, reserving the area in the southern Philippines for the gentle Stone Age people.

At a ceremony at the presidential palace, Marcos said he was reserving a 24,700-acre area in Cotabato Province in the southern Philippines island of Mindanao for the Neolithic Tasadays and another more advanced tribe living in the general area, the Manobo Blit.

He said another 23,000 acres might be set aside later following surveys to determine the exact extent of the Tasaday area.

Marcos said he planned next week to visit the Tasaday area which he proclaimed would be free from "entry, sale, lease, exploitation or other disposition."

The proclamation followed widely publicized expedition sponsored by the presidential office on national minorities, Panamin, which found the Tasadays living in three large caves deep in the Tasaday rain forest.

Manuel Elizalde Jr., Harvard-educated president of Panamin, led a 47-member expedition that included the American aviator and conservationist Charles A. Lindbergh to the caves of the Tasadays on March 23. A U.S. Air Force helicopter rescued the group Sunday after its helicopter broke down and food began to run low.

Elizalde, 36-year-old member of one of the Philippines' most prominent families, first found the Tasadays at the edge of their forest last summer. He feared that logging and other interests would eventually destroy the Tasaday forest and the culture and civilization of the 24-member band.

In setting the area aside, Elizalde added, "There will be occasional contact with the Tasadays for specific scientific purposes and to insure the Tasadays and their forest are being protected."

There are 11 adult Tasadays and 13 children. The adults said Elizalde's party was the first outsiders ever to visit their cave homes high up a steep mountain, deep in the forest.

Their Neolithic culture is so basic that they have no agriculture, no idea of counting or numbers and rely on stone tools.

Blame Both Sides

LONDON (AP) — A judicial inquiry into the causes of Northern Ireland's violence today blamed extremist agitators of both the Protestant and republican sides.

The tribunal set up after the riots in the spring and summer of 1969, said there was no evidence of plans to mount an armed insurrection. Those riots set off the present strife.

Accusations of a plot to overthrow Northern Ireland's Parliament were made by the prime minister at the time, Maj. James Chichester-Clark.

Nearly 300 persons have died since security was bolstered by the arrival of British troops in August 1969—a month of bloody street violence and death.

Headed by Judge Leslie Scarman of Britain, the three-man tribunal presented its two-volume report today after interviewing more than 400 witnesses.

There were planned individual acts of violence by both camps, the tribunal found, but no organization of mob disturbances.

Neither the outlawed Irish Republican Army, now fighting a guerrilla war to reunite divided Ireland, nor any Protestant organization, nor any other party planned a campaign of violence, the report said.

Private School Aid Is Pledged

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Writer
PHILADELPHIA, Pa. President Nixon, declaring private schools face a crisis of the first magnitude, promised today to help preserve them but warned it will take time to find workable and equitable legislative solutions.

Speaking before the National Catholic Education Association's 69th convention, the President said he came to reaffirm his commitment in the strongest possible terms that he intends to help preserve the nonpublic school system in the United States.

He outlined the possible consequences of a total collapse of that system—which he said educates 5.2 million youngsters—as a means, he said of emphasizing "the stake all Americans have in preventing any such collapse from taking place."

He warned such a collapse could saddle the American taxpayer with $3 billion a year in school operating costs and as much as $10 billion in new school construction.

Nixon promised that when the Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations completes a study of school financing problems he will make specific legislative recommendations for relief of property taxes, finding alternate ways to finance public schools and "specific measures designed to preserve the nonpublic school system in the United States."

But, he said there are very grave constitutional questions over government aid to the nonpublic schools, "extra difficulties which tax measures encounter in Congress during an election year" and he feels it is necessary to "take the extra time required to guarantee that the legislative recommendations which we finally submit will be equitable, workable and constitutional."

Injunction Not Granted Against Elections Board

RALIEGH (AP) — Seventeen East Carolina University students have lost a round in their court battle to require that the Pitt County Board of Elections register them to vote in Greenville.

U.S. District Judge Frank T. Dupree Jr. Wednesday denied a motion that a preliminary injunction be brought against the Pitt board for refusing to register the 17 students.

At the same time, Dupree rejected a motion by the Pitt board that the students' complaint be dismissed.

The action means the suit will now go to trial, but no date has been set.

A spokesman for the student group said, "The injunction would have given us the chance to vote in the (May) primary, but now we will have to go for the November election."

Jerry Leonard, one of the attorneys for the students, said, "We will continue to pursue this thing all the way."

Dupree noted the elections board had submitted counter-affidavits that registration rights were not denied solely because they were students, and that other students who proved they were legal county residents were permitted to register.

Dupree added, "In view of the fact that the plaintiffs may in any event still register and vote in the communities they list as their 'homes of record' with the school authorities, irreparable damage has not been made to appear."

EXTENDED OUTLOOK

Chance of rain Saturday, becoming fair Sunday and Monday. Daytime temperatures mostly to range up to the mid-60s.

Regional Center

ELIZABETH CITY, N.C. (AP) — The North Carolina Board of Education today announced that it will establish an eastern regional center in Pitt County to serve 22 counties in the northeastern part of the state.

The board is meeting at the College of the Albemarle in Elizabeth City.

This will be the third regional center in the state. The others are in Canton and Wilkesboro.

The facility will be situated at the Grifton Education Center and will serve the first and part of the second educational districts.

The director will be F. L. Britt, who resigned Wednesday as superintendent of the Edenton-Chowan school system.

Hanoi Plans Said Spoiled

By RICHARD BLYSTONE
Associated Press Writer

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — A South Vietnamese drive against enemy staging areas in the A Shau Valley last month spoiled Hanoi's plans for a simultaneous blitz in both of South Vietnam's two northernmost provinces and kept the enemy's spring offensive from being worse than it is, a senior U.S. officer says.

"The general situation has improved tremendously for the last two days," the officer said Wednesday. "I'm kind of optimistic right now."

He added that government lines were holding and casualties were lower than feared.

The enemy's main objective is Hue, the former imperial capital 52 miles below the demilitarized zone, the officer said. He observed that as a prize it would be "bigger psychologically than Da Nang," South Vietnam's second largest city 50 miles farther south, because of its historical importance.

"But they're not going to take it," the officer emphasized, despite day-long fighting Wednesday in mountains 15 miles southwest of Hue. "We are concerned about a threat to Hue. On the other hand, at the present time I don't consider it the gravest threat."

The most critical area, he said, is the Ba Long Valley, 22 miles below the DMZ, along which the enemy is trying to move to cut off Quang Tri City, the provincial capital.

Hanoi's plan is believed to have called for attacks toward Hue at the same time as the invasion across the DMZ, the officer said. But he said the March operation of South Vietnamese troops around the A Shau Valley ruined the plan and "forced the enemy to fight two weeks ahead of schedule."

"I think it spoiled their coordination," he said, "but it made it easier for us because we didn't have to handle both attacks at once."

The waning rainy season is hampering allied air power less and less, and improving weather is making bombing raids more effective, he continued. The tapering off of enemy rocket and artillery attacks in Quang Tri Province indicates the enemy is having problems moving supplies and also may have lost a lot of munitions to air strikes, he said.

He reported that South Vietnamese casualties in the DMZ offensive probably number about 1,000 killed, missing and captured. The officer declined to speculate on enemy losses because there has been little opportunity to count bodies. But other allied officials estimate 2,000 to 3,000 enemy killed.

Planning-Zoning Board Acts At Special Meeting

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

For the first time in recent months, members of the Greenville Planning and Zoning Commission conducted their meeting without the presence of a sizeable audience of interested persons. Wednesday night's meeting was a special call meeting to consider an earlier agenda not acted on.

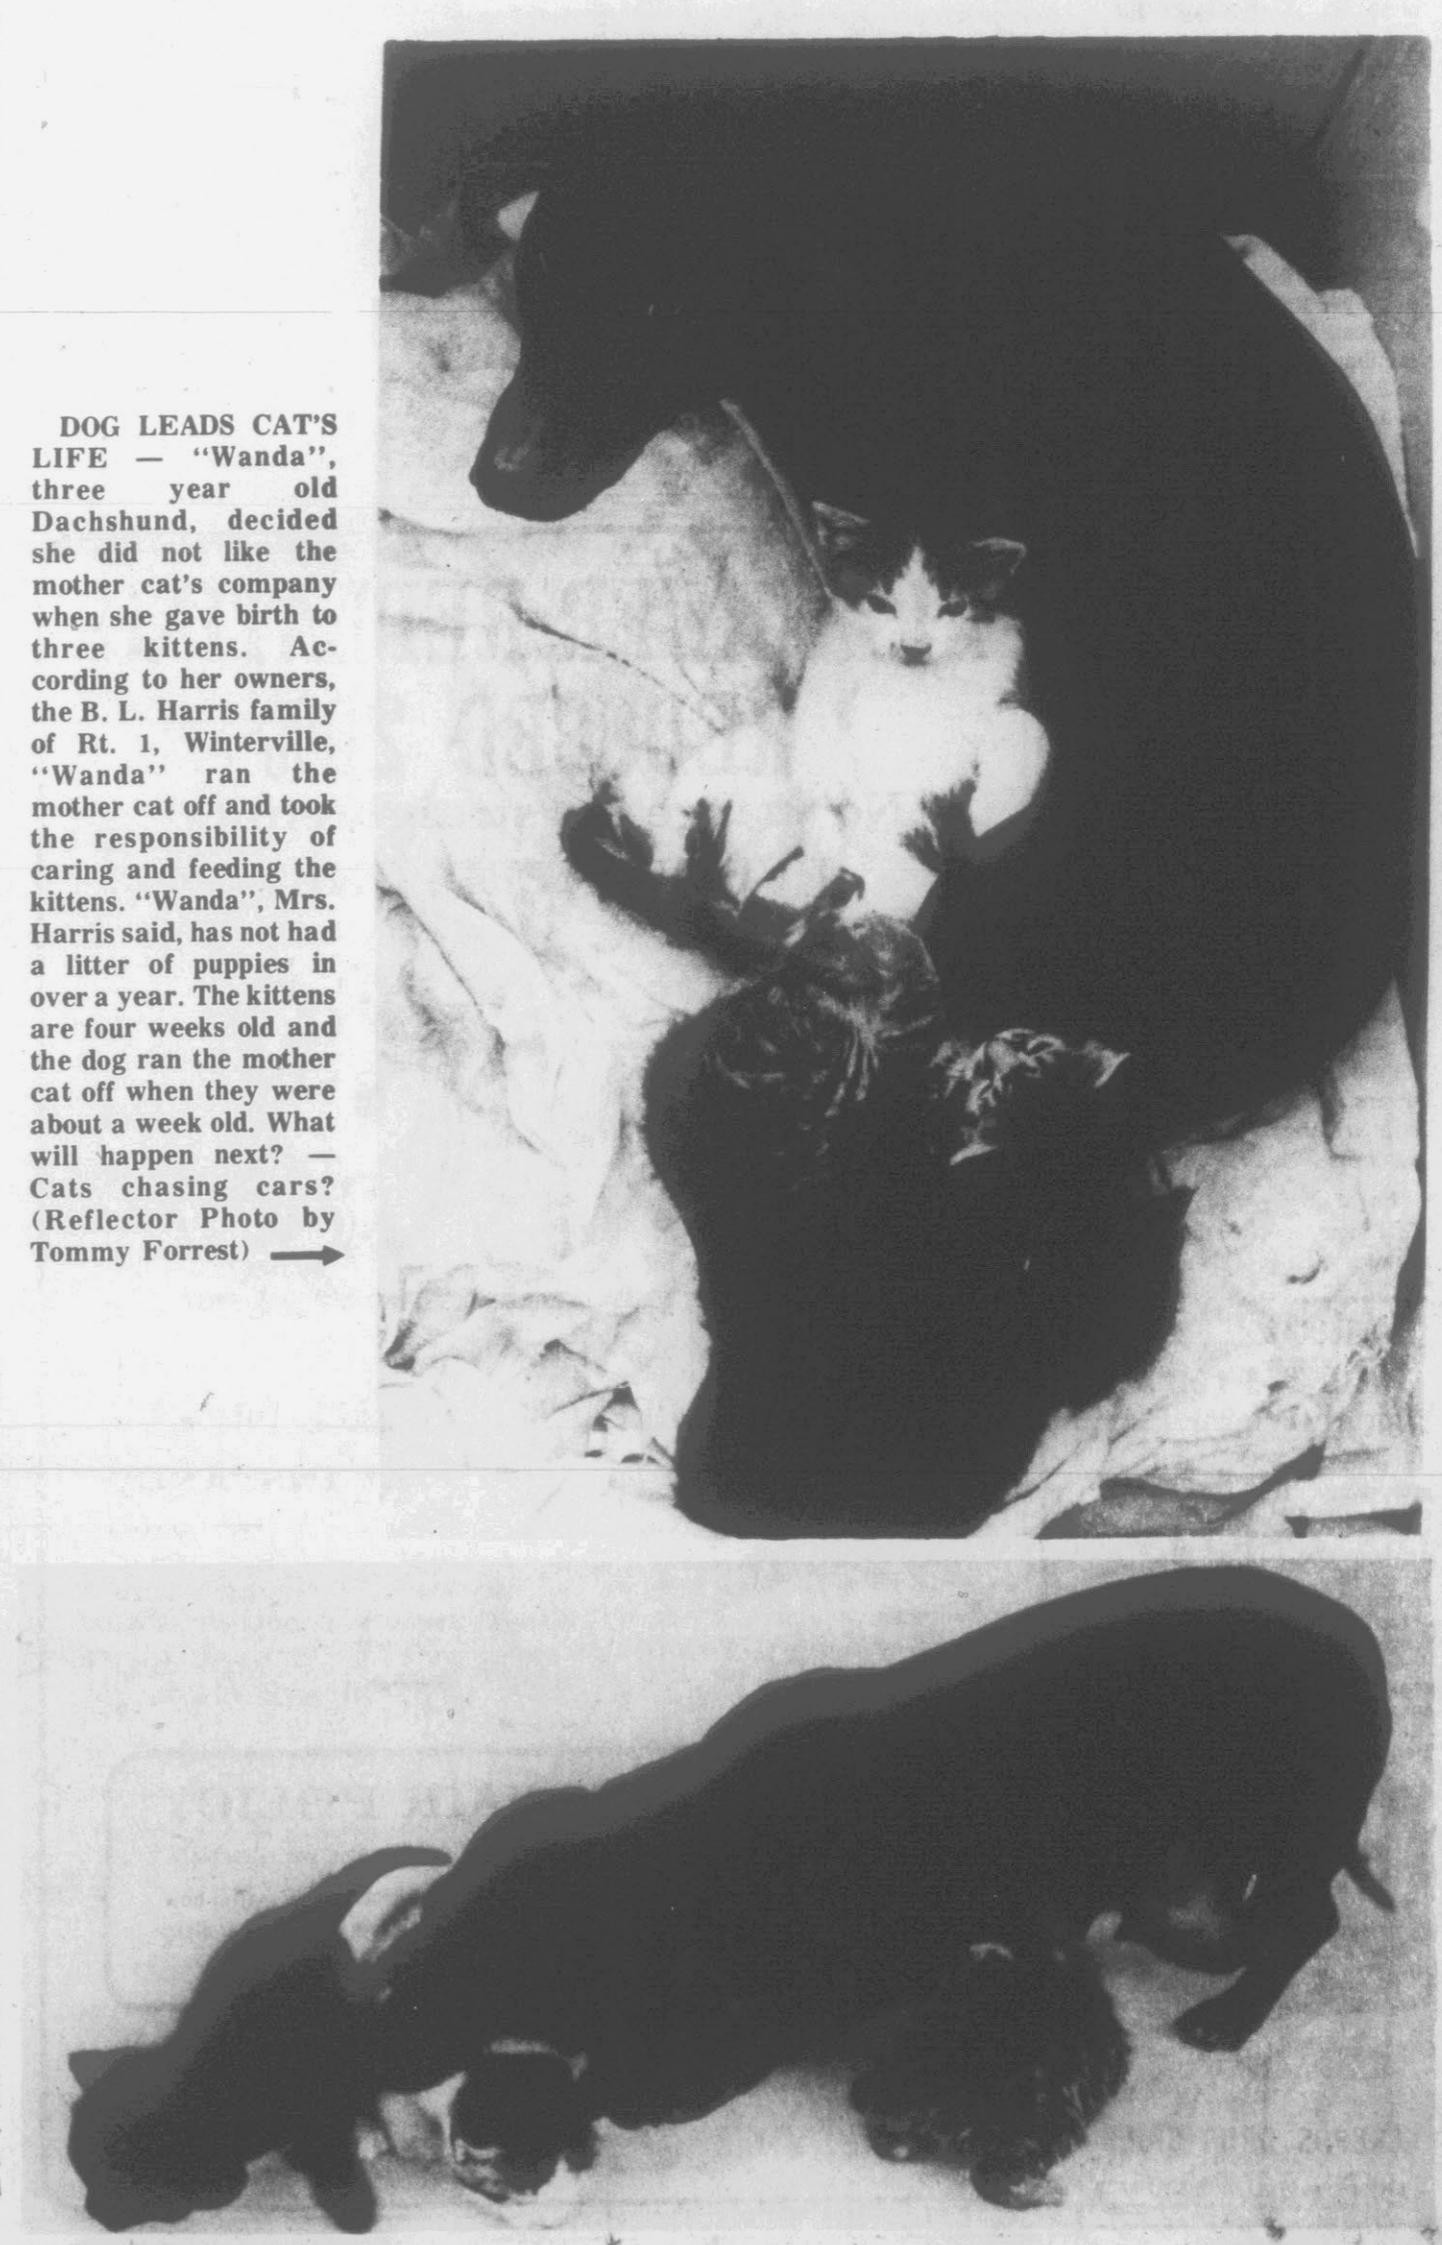

The commissioners acted on eight items, tabling two for the regular April meeting on April 26 and recommending approval of six items for the City Council's consideration.

The first agenda item tabled was a request for approval of a street pattern for the Croom, Peede and McGlohon property located on the west side of Memorial Drive and south of Country Club Apartments. Commissioners asked Bill Peede, representing the property owners, to seek another possibility for a right of way location from the property in question to Memorial Drive. The access street plan presented by Peede provides for a right of way of only 37 feet, and commission members expressed a need to have available a wider right of way.

The second item tabled was a request for rezoning of the W. J. Moore property on the south side of Greenville Boulevard across from Hooker Road and adjoining Brentwood Subdivision. Commission members asked Philip E. Carroll, who represented Moore, and Brentwood resident John Bell, who briefly stated points of opposition to the rezoning request, to meet with other residents of Brentwood in an attempt to come up with an alternative plan for rezoning of the property in question.

Agenda items receiving the stamp of recommended approval at last night's meeting included two final plats. One is the Tuckahoe Subdivision, Section Two, located on East 14th Street extended. It was pointed out that the plat met all requirements. Although no recreation area is provided for Section Two, the preliminary plat was approved at a date prior to the adoption of the city ordinance (Continued On Page 12)

DOG LEADS CAT'S LIFE — "Wanda", three year old Dachshund, decided she did not like the mother cat's company when she gave birth to three kittens. According to her owners, the B. L. Harris family of Rt. 1, Winterville, "Wanda" ran the mother cat off and took the responsibility of caring and feeding the kittens. "Wanda", Mrs. Harris said, has not had a litter of puppies in over a year. The kittens are four weeks old and the dog ran the mother cat off when they were about a week old. Her Problem Is Carried To Extremes

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)
DEAR ABBY: We have two fine sons, 13 and 16. The 13-year-old is very large for his age, and unfortunately, the 16-year-old is extremely small for his age.

When we introduce them to friends, some will ask, "Are they twins?" Others just assume that the smaller one is the younger one, and I know the older boy is hurt and embarrassed. When it's possible to do so, we tip off our friends in advance so they don't make that mistake when they meet the boys, but when we're not able to, I can see the hurt in the older boy's eyes.

Will you please print this in your column so thoughtless people will not make that mistake. You'd rate a big thanks from a lot of little fellows. Thank you. A MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: It's done. But don't be overprotective. You'll not be able to run interference for the smaller boy all his life. Little fellows often compensate by trying harder, and therefore make it big, in spite of their size.

DEAR ABBY: I am the wife of the ex-Marine whose old girl friend, "Semper Fidelis," wrote, asking you if she should try to get in touch with him after all these years. She said altho she hadn't seen him since 1944, she still felt the same about him, and if he happened to be single (as she was), maybe they could pick up where they left off.

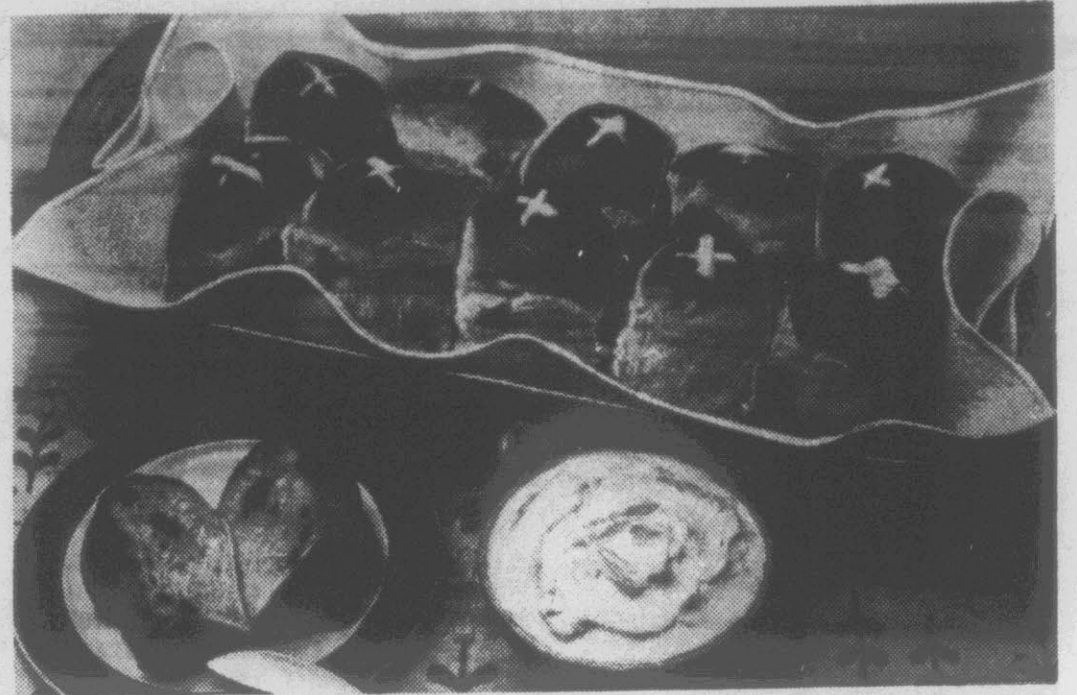

Please tell her she would be doing me a big favor if she would take this ex-Marine back. He hasn't changed much. He's lost a few teeth, a lot of hair, and most of his zip. But to make up for his losses, I'll throw in the 30 pounds he's gained, all his debts, and his mother. HIS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Don't be too hopeful.

DEAR ABBY: The best belly laugh I've had in years came from two of your letters. The first from "Practically Untouched in Tulsa" complaining that her husband had made love to her only five times since Jan. 1, 1970. (You advised her to see a lawyer.) The second letter, signed "Anonymous Attorney" said that you would have earned the undying gratitude of the nation's judges had you advised her to see a judge instead, as judges had fewer social contacts than lawyers.

Your readers might like to know that in St. Louis County we had a case where the woman did exactly that. The resulting criminal trial of the judge was widely reported in daily installments that nearly destroyed the ratings of the soap operas on television. Eventually the whole affair acquired a name, taken from the town where the trial was held—"Clayton Place."

HOT CROSS BUNS — You can make a couple of dozen from the recipe.

Here Come Hot Cross Buns

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
 Associated Press Food Editor

These hot cross buns are called old-fashioned because mashed potato and potato water are called for in the recipe. The potato helps to give the buns excellent texture. The method of making, however, is up-to-date: the yeast is not dissolved, just mixed with some of the dry ingredients.

OLD-FASHIONED HOT CROSS BUNS

- 4 1/2 to 5 1/2 cups unsifted flour
- 1 1/2 cup granulated sugar
- 1 1/4 teaspoons salt
- 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
- 2 packages active dry yeast
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1/2 cup potato water
- 3/4 cup butter
- 3 eggs, at room temperature
- 3/4 cup lukewarm mashed potatoes, packed down (about 2 medium potatoes)
- 3/4 cup raisins
- 2 tablespoons water
- 1/2 cup (about) unsifted confectioners' sugar

In a large mixer bowl thoroughly stir together 1 1/2 cups flour, granulated sugar, salt, lemon rind and undissolved yeast.

Into a small saucepan turn the milk, potato water and butter; heat over low heat until liquids are very warm (120 to 130 degrees); butter does not need to melt. Gradually add to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl several times. Add 2 eggs, mashed potatoes and 1/2 cup flour. Beat at high speed for 2 minutes, scraping bowl several times. Stir in enough additional flour to make a stiff dough.

Turn out onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic—about 8 to 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm draft-free place until doubled in bulk—about 1 hour.

Punch down dough; knead in raisins. Divide dough in half. Divide each half into 12 equal pieces. Shape into balls. Arrange in 2 greased 9-inch square baking pans. Separate remaining egg; set white aside. Beat yolk with 2 tablespoons water; brush on rolls. Cover; let rise in warm draft-free place until doubled in bulk—about 1 hour.

Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven until browned—25 minutes. Turn out of pans on wire racks; turn right side up.

Beat enough of the reserved egg white with the confectioners' sugar to make good spreading consistency. While rolls are still warm, decorate tops with frosting to form crosses. Makes 2 dozen.

Despite Changing U.S., Girl Scouts Keep Growing

By REBECCA MOREHOUSE

NEW YORK, (WNS)—In a time of almost frantic change, with youth erupting all over the world, one thing at least is constant: the Girl Scouts of America. There are four million of them in this country, the highest enrollment ever.

"We have an increase every year," said Mrs. Douglas H. MacNeil, national Girl Scouts president. "The basic interests and needs of girls go on. Certain values do not change. But you may need new words to interpret your values."

Among the changeless values are good citizenship and service to others; both have been high-ranking goals of Girl Scouting since 1912, when the organization was founded by Mrs. Juliette Gordon Low in Savannah, Ga. "Yes, this is our 60th anniversary year," said Mrs. MacNeil, "and we still have something very precious to offer young people. The program we're offering now is what girls need now; it's different from our programs of 10, 20, 30 years ago. Our girls play an active part in decision making."

New Tasks
 Girl Scouts do more than sell cookies and camp out, although camping remains important to their training. "We have Spanish-speaking girls who are helping Puerto Ricans and Mexican-Americans become familiar with English," she said. "In Miami, where there is a large Cuban population, our girls are right in there helping the assimilation process."

"We want our girls to recognize human needs and do something about it individually, and they're doing it, person to person. Youth needs this. The present generation is very altruistic."

They're fighting the ecology battle, too: "We've been conservationists for years."

In Bergen, N.J., 20 Girl Scouts decided to do something about the unsightly, debris-ridden Hackensack River. They wound up with 2,000 volunteer helpers, including scuba divers, cleaned a seven-mile stretch of the river in 1970 and again in 1971.

In Michigan last year, a Girl Scout troop led the clean-up of a section of the Clinton River near Detroit. In Seattle, Girl Scouts blazed a hiking trail around the city.

Ten Sleep
 "We have superb demonstration projects, we know about reforestation and maintenance of parks," said Mrs. MacNeil. "We have a new national center in Wyoming, 13,000 acres of beautiful, undeveloped country that we'll keep in its natural state."

"It's at Ten Sleep, called that by the Indians because it was ten nights from a fort. Girls go there from all over the country. The five camp sites have cabins, but it's a rough and ready type of camping. We'll have an area for family camping, too."

There are 335,000 volunteer troop leaders. Mrs. MacNeil herself is a volunteer. White-haired, sturdily built, with a serene face as free of makeup as a child's, she looks the part of No. 1 leader. She was born in Natchez, Miss., has a stately home there and another in Princeton, N.J.

Girl Scouts are participating in the "Help Young America" campaign, along with the Boy Scouts, the Boys Clubs, the Girls Clubs, the Camp Fire Girls. All will share in a $250,000 contribution from Colgate-Palmolive Co., but the American public will decide which gets a larger portion by voting for the local unit they would most like to see helped.

"Only adults can vote and they do this through ballots in national magazines," Mrs. MacNeil said. "It's the first time a major business has given part of its advertising budget to youth. Each group has already received $20,000. The national voting will determine how the rest is distributed."

Her Natchez home, Elms Court, dates from around 1810. It figures in this year's pilgrimage and is known as "The House of a Thousand Candles," for its candle-bearing crystal chandeliers. The debuts of her two daughters were candle-lit balls.

"I was born in the house," she said. "It was given to my parents as a wedding present; it's been in the family through the years. The widow of my plantation manager and one of her children live in the house. I live in Princeton part of the year, I travel a lot, and you can't love a house and leave it alone."

"When I'm not in Princeton, I have a house-sitter, sometimes a graduate student, sometimes it's a couple. They're responsible for the house and my cats." Her late husband was a Princetonian.

Has the drug problem touched the Girl Scouts? "With four million girls, between the ages of seven and 18, it would be strange if it hasn't. But I hope we have the kind of activity that keeps a girl from doing that sort of thing."

First item of care for measuring spoons and cups is to keep them from getting out of shape. Keep plastic away from heat—it melts. Metal spoons bend and plastic spoons break, so handle with care.

The Lady Runs A Betting Shop

LIVERPOOL, England (AP) — A woman running a betting shop? You've got to be kidding. But Mrs. Paula Fudge isn't. You go into a betting shop on a side street and place your bet, and there she is—a pretty young woman bookie. Her friends told her she would never make a success of it. But after four years she has done so well that she's opened a second shop around the corner and has a staff of five to help her. But Paula went about it cautiously. She was unmarried when she started her business, and had her name—"P. Whelan" put above the shop. She figured that if bettors didn't know P stood for Paula they wouldn't worry about betting with a woman. They might even think it was her brother Pat Whelan who has bookies' shops of his own.

inviting fans to have a bet. "That's something I couldn't do," Paula said. "I couldn't hold my own with men at the tracks. But when I was a teenager I acted as clerk for my brother at his pitch on the dog tracks, so I learned the business from the inside."

More and more of Britain's betting shops are being taken over by nation-wide combines. But Paula keeps her independence. One day Malcolm Fudge called at Paula's shop and offered to sell her his bookies' security service, including time clocks, cameras and spot checks on betting slips. Paula bought his service and then married him. They live at Woodford, near London, and she commutes to Liverpool.

"I've built up my staff now, so I can take a few days at home occasionally and leave it to them to run the business," she said.

"It was Pat's idea in the first place," Paula said. "We weren't sure what people would think about betting with a woman. I mean, if there was an argument over a bet they might think a woman wouldn't pay up. But there was no need for me to worry really. All my clients know me now, and I'm friends with all of them."

Bookmaking is in Paula's blood. Her grandfather was a bookie on the racing tracks, long before betting shops became legal in Britain. The bookies set up their stalls at the side of the racetracks, shouting odds on the horses and

Finances Should Be Managed Together

NEW YORK (UPI)—No one's ever done a scientifically accurate survey of what causes the first serious marital argument. But talk to any newly-marrieds and you'll come away with the impression that tempers reached the highest boiling point the first time that one spouse looked to the other and said:

"You've been writing checks without filling in the stubs."

The time for such a non-romantic utterance usually coincides with the arrival of the statement from the bank, the first statement since they entered into that unholy agreement known as a joint account.

With bills to pay and the spouse in charge of such things not being able to figure the balance, the castle soon turns unhappy.

of truth, but it also can be a time of increased understanding.

Budget Savings

While paying bills, it's important for the new husband and wife to practice some basic caution and check each bill against the original purchase receipt. It's also rather necessary to date and mark the bills "paid" as they are paid.

In addition to budgeting their spending, including that part of the spending done on credit, the new husband and wife ought to budget their savings, too. Once living expenses are determined, it shouldn't be too difficult to set aside a certain percentage of income for savings.

Beware of fondue instructions indicating cooking oil is ready when it bubbles—it could flame first. If the oil begins to smoke, you know it's too hot. Remove from heat.

First Rule

To avoid such blissless episodes in marriage, the bride and bridegroom owe it to one another to have some kind of agreement about money management. The first rule: each vows to fill in the stub when writing a check.

One authority in money management, Mrs. Lillian Helling, of Denver, suggests that the first rule of effective budgeting and money management is that the newly wedded couple attend to finances together, trying to put into effect a budget. Some couples work at this a lifetime but the important thing is to keep trying to make it come out the way you both plan it.

Mrs. Helling, consumer education representative for Master Charge, says this means determining your total expected yearly income and adjusting expenses accordingly. Usually, a few concessions must be made. First off, you must level with the spouse about the amount of money you earn. You must also compromise on any unnecessary extravagances indulged in before being married—like periodic payments to the "keep my sports car in showroom condition club."

It's also important, says Mrs. Helling, for newlyweds to pay the bills together and on time. At first this can be a moment

Dog Psychologist Wants People To Raise Pets Not To Be Canine Delinquents

By PEACE MOFFAT

AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Would you believe a dog psychologist?

Who once prescribed a box turtle to fulfill a poodle's maternal instincts—

Who says having a dog is like having a child—

But who takes his work so seriously that he has written a book called "Understanding Your Dog."

"The purpose of the book is to show an animal is an individual," explained Dr. Michael W. Fox, associate professor of psychology at Washington University and associate director for research at the St. Louis zoo. "A dog is easy to read. He's very honest about expressing himself, but people often presume to know too much. And any animal or person in a close relationship can lose his separate identity."

Fox told on a recent visit here, of a case where a young couple owned a dog and the dog wouldn't let the husband into the bedroom. And in his book, he wrote about a dachshund who had a catatonic fit whenever the couple who owned him had a fight.

Fox says dogs even develop like young children in many ways, and that their body language is similar to humans'. He also says dogs, like humans, have different abilities to tolerate closeness.

Dogs develop through several stages, Fox points out, adding that the best time to get a puppy is when he is between six and eight weeks old. "Don't bother with a puppy older than 10 weeks, unless he's been raised with a lot of people around," he advises.

Before buying a dog Fox says one should see how he interacts with other puppies. "Beware of the most outgoing one," he warns, "because he might be the most aggressive. Take the puppy out of the pen and put him in a completely strange place—does he cower, or does he get up and investigate? Take along an old scarf or a glove, and after he's investigated it, see if he'll have a 'tug of war.'"

Fox says there is no point in discipline training for a puppy at five or six weeks, because he won't remember it, but he says that's a good time for tender, loving care and seeing that the puppy has a lot of different experiences, so his environment will be enriched.

At eight weeks, there is a sensitive fear period, Fox says, and at that time the dog owner should avoid any undue trauma for his puppy, such as taking him to the vet for the first time.

By 12 weeks, Fox says a dog is emotionally bonded to his owner, so discipline training then is not likely to break his spirit or attachment.

Fox, who holds a veterinary degree and a doctorate in psychology from London University, has several breed recommendations for people in different situations. For instance, for a family with children in a house, he recommends a golden retriever; for a young couple, any of the terriers; for an apartment couple, a schnauzer, Yorkshire terrier or poodle; for an older couple, a Yorkshire terrier, Pekinese or pug.

"But," Dr. Fox says, "you used to be able to tell about the temperament of a dog from the breed. Now you can't. That's because there is less quality control in breeding, which is rather tragic. For example, in some cases, dogs are selected for their small size—or the shape of their legs, which doesn't help their behavior."

Fox calls dog breeders who get together and decide to change the standards of a breed "a bunch of cranks. People have a responsibility not to change standards without knowing the result," he says. "But," he adds, "there's an emphasis now that the prize dogs should have some kind of test before being named the best in the breed. That way you would know you weren't giving a prize to zombie."

Avoid using a higher heat than necessary when cooking anything on an electric stove. And keep the drip pans clean.

Test Of Will In South Vietnam

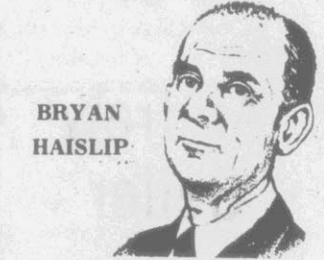

The military situation in Vietnam at the DMZ is confused at best and grim at worst. North Vietnamese troops, complete with armor, have poured across the DMZ and the South Vietnamese, in their first big test of taking over the fighting, have fallen back. The South Vietnamese and the United States had long known that an attack would be coming from the north. American troops have been steadily pulled out of Southeast Asia and the burden of ground fighting has gradually been turned over to South Vietnamese forces. It was clear that North Vietnam would sooner or later test the will of the South Vietnamese troops to defend their country. Now the major attacks have come and at this writing it is still not clear how well the South Vietnamese will do in staving off an invasion of their territory. It is obvious that the South Vietnamese will continue to need U. S. air support and certainly they need continued supplies of arms and supplies if they are to stand up against the attacks from the North. Granting this, however, the strongest piece of advice we could give President Nixon would be to continue the withdrawal of American ground troops from Southeast Asia. And somehow in this election year we do not think that advice will be necessary. We think that the American withdrawal will continue. U. S. troops have been in South Vietnam for a number of years and the plan was to give South Vietnam time to build its strength so that it could stand up to the North. Even since U. S. troops withdrew there has been careful planning for the day with South Vietnam forces would have to stand up to a major offensive. Now the United States has done all it can do to insofar as direct involvement of its own ground troops. South Vietnam must take the brunt of the fighting and its soldiers must stand up to the north, if they believe in what they are fighting for. American troops will not be there to fight the battles any longer. We have a feeling that if South Vietnam forces withstand this latest assault, there will be a different feeling in the Communist world toward negotiating a settlement of this long and tragic war.

Auto Insurance Reform Needed

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH — North Carolina's administration of auto liability insurance laws needs an overhaul to meet the demands of the times. "Massive reorganization" of the state insurance department to make it responsible both to the consuming public and the industry it regulates has been recommended to the Governor's Study Commission on Automobile Insurance and Rates.

Michael S. Olson, executive director of the Carolinas

Association of Mutual Insurance Agents, said the present composition and funding of the state's insurance agency is "simply not sufficient to effectively and promptly discharge the proper duties of the department."

He urged the study commission to consider and recommend changes in the department's internal structure, and suggested it look at recent staff changes in the South Carolina insurance department for ideas.

Olson's presentation reflected a widespread feeling, shared by many legislators and citizens, that administration of insurance laws is unwieldy and frustrating. In particular, the rate-making process has been a source of complaint and controversy.

System Needs Overhaul While the "no fault" concept has been the most talked-about aspect of auto liability insurance reform, most of those close to the subject agree a lasting solution must reach deeper into the system of insurance regulation.

Some degree of departmental restructuring is ahead via the political route. Insurance Commissioner Edwin S. Lanier is retiring after 10 years on the job. Six Democrats, two Republicans and one American Party candidate are in the running as his successor.

The winner will be certain to give his own stamp to the department, in terms of personal and policies. Shaping up the insurance department was one of the five areas of recommendation offered by Olson on behalf of the 1,000-plus membership of the Carolinas Association of Mutual Insurance Agents in his appearance before the study commission last week.

Other Areas of Recommendation His proposals also embrace licensing and qualifications of agents, the assigned risk plan, the rating system, and guidelines for a no-fault insurance program. Olson noted the CAMIA has pursued its own study of auto insurance problems since 1969. It filed findings with the 1971 study commission, and has continued its studies since that time. Only a small portion of the findings and recommendations of the 1971 study commission have been enacted legislatively or implemented administratively, Olson pointed out. "Our own organization has been keenly disappointed over the lack of attention and action to the previous report, he said. William Craft of Greensboro, chairman of the CAMIA study group, outlined proposed guidelines for no-fault insurance. He said the association "strongly believes that no fault insurance is the road to travel; that it will provide the most responsive and equitable protection for the motoring public."

Recommendation

At the same time, Craft said confusion and misunderstanding has been created by the "reckless abandon" with which the term "no fault" has been thrown about. Rather than a specific plan, Craft said the association study committee agreed to present guidelines which should be part of and no-fault program. "We feel that these minimum guidelines, if implemented, would insure prompt, equitable payment of claims directly to the accident victim; every accident victim would be compensated for his losses; costly, time-consuming and sometimes impossible tasks of establishing fault would be eliminated; investigation and litigation cost which seriously erode settlements to accident victims under the tort system would be eliminated; our crowded court calendars would be relieved, permitting them to concentrate on other important business; and the practice of overpaying small claims and underpaying large claims would be minimized," he said.

The recommended guidelines included provision that any no fault plan be compulsory for all motorists, and that it extend to cover bodily injury and property damage protection. A bodily injury threshold at an absolute minimum of $2,000 for medical and hospital expenses was proposed. It is estimated, Craft said, that $2,000 would take care of more than 98 percent of medical claims on a nationwide average.

No-Fault Confusion

Because this shapes up as possibly the most interesting primary the Republicans have ever had in North Carolina, I got with the three men and talked about their campaigns. Jimmy Johnson: He is concentrating his efforts in 14 counties where the vast majority of the Republican vote is. Johnson has written 20,000 personal letters, urging Republicans to support him in the Senate primary.

"This is more than a race among these men," Johnson told me. "The Republicans will decide what type of men and philosophy they want for their party."

Johnson is considered a moderate. His two opponents are ultra conservatives. Without saying as much, Johnson definitely believes the man he has to beat is Helms.

He is in the process of studying some editorials that Helms has read over WRAL-TV Raleigh, and is particularly interested in several where Helms was extremely critical of President Nixon. "You might say that WRAL has not made it easy for me to get these editorials," Johnson says, "but we're getting them from other sources. I plan to cite them chapter and verse. I have one where Helms was virtually calling President Nixon a liar. He has sat in his Ivory Tower at WRAL for 12 years dishing out criticism. Now that Helms is running

Helms, Booe And Johnson

By JOHN KILGO
RALEIGH—In the words of one of the men running for nomination, the Republican primary for the U.S. Senate "will be the meanest race going in North Carolina."

The three men running are as different as the seasons of the year. But they have one striking similarity: They all claim to be ahead.

The combatants are James C. Johnson, a Concord attorney; Jesse Helms, a Raleigh broadcast executive; and William Booe, a Charlotte attorney.

Because this shapes up as possibly the most interesting primary the Republicans have ever had in North Carolina, I got with the three men and talked about their campaigns.

for public office, he should be called on to defend his remarks. It looks like this is going to be the meanest race going."

Johnson also plans to make an issue of the fact that both of his opponents are recent converts to the Republican Party. He views them as opportunist, who switched to the GOP only when it seemed they could benefit personally from the change.

Jesse Helms: He is running with the gas pedal on the floor. He's been successful winning endorsements of some big Republican names, the most notable of which has been 9th District Congressman Charles R. Jonas.

"Personally," Helms told me, "the Jonas endorsement means a great deal to me. Charlie Jonas is so highly respected, if I implement the endorsement will have a great effect on the campaign."

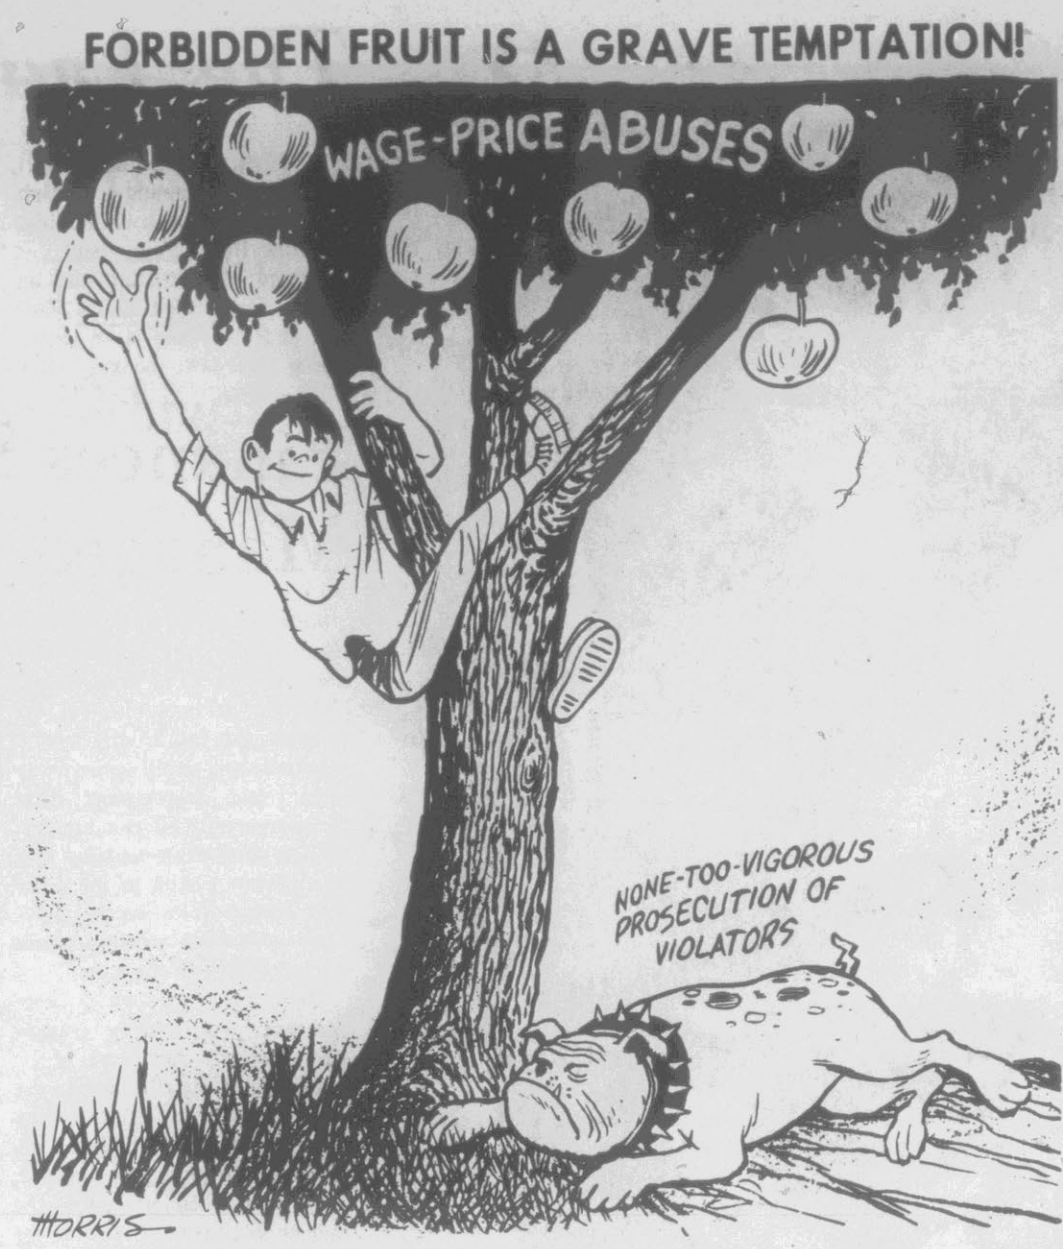

Helms says he is traveling as much as possible, on the weekends and at least one day during the week. He says the issues appear to be bus, the economy, the war, and Gov. Bob Scott.

"You must remember that I am traveling in highly partisan circles," Helms says. "But Bob Scott's name is mocked in some of these places. Some people refer to him as the Hee Haw from Haw River."

Helms says that he finds President Nixon to be very popular in North Carolina, although there are a few who are "disenchanted because of his China trip and they don't feel he's done enough to stop the school busing."

Says Helms: "I'm not going to fight with anyone. I'm offering to serve. If the Republicans want me, I will. If they don't, I won't. It gets down to that."

McGovern's Major Step

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — For nearly 15 months, Sen. George McGovern has been telling people his political game plan would work and send him into the front rank of Democratic presidential candidates. McGovern made them believers with a sweeping victory in the Wisconsin presidential primary Tuesday, installing himself as a formidable contender in the contests ahead.

The South Dakota senator has a long way to go, but so does everybody else in the race. And he has come a long way in a campaign he declared on Jan. 17, 1971.

His rating in the national public opinion polls has been low; he said he would change that in the primaries. The politicians called him a nice guy who wouldn't win; he said he could and would prove it. He said he was too far left for the taste of the Democratic establishment; McGovern set out to show that he was viable, acceptable—and that the establishment doesn't count that much any more.

As Gary Hart, McGovern's national campaign director described it, the political plan was based on the premise that there are two wings in the Democratic party and that in the end, there would be two prime presidential contenders.

"Our goal has always been to occupy one of those wings, and then shoot it out with whoever occupied the other wing in the last two or three primaries," Hart said.

The Wisconsin win was a major step in that effort, but there will have to be more in primaries ahead. For if Wisconsin proved that McGovern can be a winner, it also showed that the impact of one Tuesday's outcome may not be persuasive on the next Tuesday or the one after that.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, an also-ran in Wisconsin, came to the state with the lift of a victory in adjacent Illinois where he captured 60 convention delegates and left McGovern only 13.

It did him no good Tuesday, and after a battering that was almost as bad as that he suffered in Florida on March 14, the one-time frontrunner was put in the position of denying that he might quit the race.

Muskie said he expected to find "more favorable ground" in Massachusetts and Pennsylvania on April 25. McGovern will be his chief contestant in Massachusetts.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota in Pennsylvania.

Other Editors Say A Sound Policy

(Raleigh News & Observer) Keeping obstreperous minded college students in place is not an odious idea, if the word place is fairly defined and applied. So, there is reason to applaud the statement of Atty. Gen. Robert Morgan, trustee chairman of East Carolina University, who says he will vigorously oppose a lawsuit brought against the school and its president by two suspended students.

William Schell, now back in school, and Robert Thonen, who failed for academic reasons to gain readmittance, are seeking $25,000 damages as a result of a dispute over a published obscenity that got them suspended.

The two were put out of school last year, one for writing, the other for printing in the campus newspaper, a letter containing a vulgar expletive aimed at ECU President Leo Jenkins. In a legal sense, the school lost that round because the row ended up in federal court where Eastern District Judge John Larkins ruled in favor of the student's right to obscenity that is not significantly disruptive of an orderly and disciplined educational process.

What is at stake in the damage suit, though, is not just the question of whether the students are due compensation for their treatment. Also at stake is the practice, if not the right and responsibility, of campus administrators to police questionable student conduct.

Morgan, speaking as chairman of ECU trustees, was not just indulging popular sentiment in saying: "I want to make it clear to the hundreds of people who protested the use of such vulgar language (aimed at President Jenkins), that the trustees will continue to use every legal means to prohibit

How To Join A Circus

By KAY BARTLETT
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — So you want to run away and join the circus. And you're thinking of starting at the top.

Here's how. —Don't show circus owner Irving Feld every trick you ever learned. Stick to the three or four best ones, perhaps starting off with the piece de resistance to get his attention.

—If you're going to one of the circus schools, let him know about the act you hope to perfect by the time you graduate. He might take an option now.

—Tell him you're not interested in that old center ring concept. Be enthusiastic about three rings. Say you understand that the best act sometimes plays Ring 1 or Ring 3.

—A high wire act or lions or tigers? Let it run. Otherwise, keep it under five minutes.

—Ask for a lot of money if you think he likes you.

"Anyone I've ever seriously wanted, I got," said Feld. He's the owner of Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus, the biggest in the world.

He once seriously wanted Gunther-Gebel-Williams. It took a $2 million deal to break up the Circus Williams and get its star and his tigers.

Feld, his 23-year-old son, Kenneth, and an agent in Europe look at every act that is hired.

He sees 50 European circuses every year, visits eight or nine circus schools and watches his own production maybe 100 times.

Never gets tired of clowns and trapezes, sawdust and horses, etc., he says.

"You can be away for a week and then see new things happening when you watch the performance again," says Feld, a short man of 53 with thick

40 Years Ago Today

Actress Gloria Swanson and her husband, Michael Farmer, wealthy Irish sportsman, were getting acquainted today with a new daughter, born last night at their home on Farm Street in the fashionable Mayfair section of London. It is Miss Swanson's second daughter. Her first child, Gloria, daughter of her second husband, Herbert Somborn, film executive of Chicago and California, was born ten years ago. She also has an adopted daughter.

It was announced today by E.F. Arnold, director of the Farm Department, that "Blue Mold" tobacco plant disease is gaining an alarming foothold in Pitt County. Tobacco plants suffered considerable damage by the recent cold wave accompanied by high winds and the prevalence of the disease has intensified the plant shortage facing hundreds of growers. The disease has already caused widespread damage in Bell Arthur, Farmville, Beaver Dam, Chicod and other parts of Pitt County.

Furthermore, the clout McGovern showed in Wisconsin, is sure to help him raise money, not only for Massachusetts, but to keep him in funds all the way to the costly California primary on June 6 and New York on June 20.

Muskie may face increasing financial difficulty. He needs a big win and soon. Humphrey didn't do himself any good with his third place Wisconsin finish behind Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace.

Court Supports Antitrust Laws

By ELMER ROESSNER
The supreme Court, by a vote of 7 to 0, ruled that Ford Motor Co. must sell its spark plug factory at Fostoria, Ohio, and not manufacture spark plugs for 10 years. Ford's ownership of the factory violates antitrust laws because it limits competition. On the same day, the Supreme Court held, 6 to 1, that the Topco association of about 25 supermarket chains could not prohibit the chains from selling the Topco private brands in each other's territory. That violates antitrust it decided.

COMMENT: These antitrust decisions by the Supreme Court give to wonder what the court would have done had the Nixon Administration taken the International Telephone & Telegraph cases to the Supreme Court instead of comprising them.

On That Second-Largest Trade Deficit
The United States foreign trade deficit was at a seasonally adjusted deficit of $597.6 million in February, second only to the $821.4 million last October.

COMMENT: While this is causing some concern among foreign traders and is embarrassing to the money controllers of the United States, it should be noted that the seasonal adjustments do not include adjustment for the West Coast dock strike or any adjustment for the decline in the value of the dollar. Dock strikes hit exports worse than imports because imports can be diverted to other ports but only a small amount of exports can.

Meatless Days Impossible Today
Several do-gooders have urged the government to restore "meatless Tuesdays," or some other day of the week as a meatless day.

COMMENT: It won't work. It didn't work very well in World War I and II, when there were waves of patriotism to carry it forward. There were almost no freezers during World War I and few in World War II. Today there's one in almost every kitchen and meat buying has become a once or twice a week operation. Under present conditions, a call for a meatless day might have a reverse effect outside of controllable restaurants. However, it might cut overtime in butcher shops.

Housing Boom

Figures Questioned
The census Bureau has questioned the validity of figures on housing starts, though it agrees that the boom is still on. It reports that housing starts, sometimes don't get very far. For example, last December's original figure was 214,000 starts, but only 205,000 units actually got started.

COMMENT: As Census agrees, there are still enough valid starts to keep the boom going. And this is confirmed by McGraw-Hill's construction award figures. It reports that $2,633,963,000 (b) worth of construction award contracts were signed in February, compared with $1,821,942,000 (b) in February, 1971. So there was an extra day in February, this year! But the increase was 46 percent, and last year was a boom year. That spells boom on top of boom.

Strength For Today

BIG MEN DON'T WORRY
Success usually overtakes men who have very little concern about failure.

This was admirably illustrated in the life of Lincoln. All during his first administration he knew that a coterie of his most intimate advisors were plotting his political downfall. They were willing to see almost anybody get into the White House if only Lincoln could be dropped. On day an admirer of President Lincoln burst into his office and said, "President Lincoln, do you know where Chase is?" "Yes," replied Lincoln. "Do you know that he has gone to the Republican convention in Ohio? That he will make a speech and that that speech will get him the nomination? You ought to keep him at home."

naturally. "He has just as good a right to be the President as any man in America. If the people want Chase to be President, then I want him to be President."

Certainly Abraham Lincoln was on the side of the angels, and that was equally significant, the angels were on his side. No man was ever more surely defeated than Lincoln the summer of '64. But powers over which no human had any control caused his fortunes to turn in the early fall, and he was swept into victory in November. Everyone was concerned over the outcome except Lincoln. He had done his best, and if the people wanted someone else for President, it would be perfectly satisfactory to the big-hearted man in the White House. —By Earl Douglass.

New Campaign Spending Law Takes Effect Friday

By H.L. SCHWARTZ III
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A broad new election law takes effect Friday, peeling away some of the secrecy that has cloaked campaign contributors and setting limits on how much candidates can spend for television and other advertising.

While the law is the first major election reform in half a century, its disclosure provision has a loophole that has left the way clear for millions of dollars to pour anonymously into the campaign treasuries of presidential candidates, senators and congressmen.

Shortly before the New Hampshire primary, Sen. George S. McGovern made public a list of contributors to his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination, and challenged his rivals to do the same. Sens. Edmund S. Muskie and Hubert H. Humphrey and Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York followed suit. Sen. Henry Jackson has said he will not name his financial backers. Gov. George Wallace of Ala-glasses. In defending the three-ring concept, he says he's perhaps the only person who can be sitting in front of Ring 1 and missing the action in the others.

Feld hires 20 per cent of his new talent straight from the big circus schools of Europe, the rest from existing acts. The recruitment really isn't difficult.

"It's like in old vaudeville. Once you played the Palace you were pretty well set. Now you are in if you've played Ringling Brothers," says Feld.

Feld has been instrumental in cutting down the average age, from 46 when he started hiring in 1969 to 23 now. "When I came here half the clowns were over 70," he says.

Feld, whose lifelong ambition was to own the circus, has learned a few things too, since his first pitch as a snake-oil salesman at age 13.

Other Eds . . .

such vulgar language from being published in the college newspaper.

It must be understood that a public institution such as ECU campus newspaper are not something that students may or may not have. Though most students undoubtedly want them, the newspapers are in fact imposed by a policy of compulsory student fees that guarantee publication.

These newspapers serve numerous useful purposes, including the sometimes difficult one, for campus administrators, of allowing students to vent their anger in unusual fashion. It would be vindictive and short-sighted of trustees to react by removing the forced financial support of an offending campus publication. (The state legislature considered, but rejected, a statewide bill to end the policy last year.)

At the same time it would be widely misunderstood, and it would misinstruct students, if campus administrators did not take steps to rebuke acts of gross incivility.

The ECU administration went too far, legally speaking, is suspending the students now seeking damages for the bother that suspension put them to. But the error seems to have been one of degree, not misplaced concern about tolerable student conduct. Morgan and the other ECU trustees are being assertive, not defensive, in saying they will use very legal means to prohibit gross vulgarity on the Greenville campus.

the race for the Senate nomination.

"The poll was taken for our use, not for newspaper circulation," Booe told me. "I have already traveled in 65 counties. I'm far ahead of my two opponents in building an organization, and also in the race."

"My opponents are not discussing the issues," Booe said.

And what are the issues? "Just what I'm talking to the people about," Booe said. "Education, busing, the economy, the war. I've worn out tires on my car and leather on my shoes talking to the people about these issues."

Booe says he has just about discontinued his law practice to give full attention to the campaign.

"I'm a poor boy," he says. "But the money is coming in nicely. We have a media campaign planned. I'm getting tremendous publicity all over the state. And you know I've challenged Jesse Helms to a debate on the issues. I'll meet him anywhere from Murphy to Manteo."

bama has said he will, but he hasn't.

The new law does not cover campaign contributions made prior to its effective date, April 7. There have been published reports that Republican fund raisers, headed by former Secretary of Commerce Maurice H. Stans, have been contacting party contributors and pointing out that they can remain anonymous by giving now.

Such contributions, to any presidential candidate, can be made through dozens of dummy Washington committees which, through a loophole in the expiring Corrupt Practices Act, do not have to file public accountings.

"We're aware that candidates across the country are using this," said Russell Hemenway, director of the National Committee for an Effective Con-

Mears Col. . .

McGovern came on strong in the waning days of the campaign, could have installed him as the national frontrunner.

Now there is none.

And in the current situation, the Nebraska presidential primary on May 16 is likely to take on new significance as a Midwestern battleground to test McGovern against Humphrey.

McGovern's early announcement of candidacy was designed to give him time to gain national recognition before the campaign year.

He fashioned strong organizations in New Hampshire, where he gained 37.1 per cent of the vote in the showing that began to slow Muskie, and in Wisconsin.

He proved himself a tough campaigner, homed in on points that proved vulnerable, as in his New Hampshire demand that Muskie match his disclosure of campaign contributions. Dismissed as a one-issue, end-the-war candidate, McGovern talked about other issues, and campaign director Hart said the old image is gone.

He said McGovern was perceived by the Wisconsin voters as a candidate committed to change at a time when the people want change and a vehicle for something more than protest.

As McGovern told it, Wallace got protest votes, while the senator claimed "a combination of protest and hope."

gress which played a key role in writing the new law. "There is not much we can do about it."

John Gardner, chairman of the self-styled Citizens Lobby which has announced plans for monitoring compliance with the law, said "there is some evidence that before the new law takes effect, the President will have collected the biggest war chest of political contributions in the history of the country."

Nixon aides have said the President plans to comply fully with the law, but would make no disclosures of pre-April 7 contributions.

Musk Oxen To Red China

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Matilda and Milton, young musk oxen from the San Francisco Zoo, leave their birthplace today for a journey to a home in Red China in a swap brokered by President Nixon.

The two were traded to Chian for a pair of giant pandas during the recent presidential visit.

They were to be loaded aboard a Military Airlift Command jet at Travis Air Force Base for the 28-hour flight to Peking.

Matilda is 21 months old and weighs 400 pounds, Milton 9 months and 100 pounds.

The two are being escorted by Dr. Theodore H. Reed of Washington, D.C., director of National Zoological Parks.

The Chinese requested the musk oxen—shaggy, massive animals which look like a cross between an ox and a sheep. Red China has none.

A pair of giant pandas will be sent by the Chinese to the National Zoo in Washington.

may never be known, but the public will get an indication on June 10 of how much was collected for presidential candidates, and for Senate and House candidates.

That's when the first quarterly report will be required of all political committees that have raised or spent more than $1,000 for any campaign. The reports will include all contributions of more than $100 and must show balances on hand as of April 7.

Prior to the June 10 filing, all committees will be required to register and candidates in primaries will be filing detailed contribution-spending reports 15 and 5 days before each election.

The new law is far tougher than the Corrupt Practices Act, but it has a loophole or two of its own, particularly in the enforcement provisions.

For example, candidates for the U.S. Senate will file their reports with the secretary of the Senate; congressmen with the clerk of the House, and presidential candidates with the General Accounting Office, an arm of Congress.

These three offices are charged with investigating any complaints, then referring cases they believe to be valid to the Justice Department for prosecution.

"The built in conflict of interest in having Congress monitor its own activities is clear," Gardner said. "So is the fundamental inconsistency of assigning an employee to investigate and supervise his employer."

During the 47-year life of the Corrupt Practices Act, the attorney general never brought a case against a congressman, he said, and "there is no reason to

Prison Sentence Ruled Excessive

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The Oklahoma Court of Criminal Appeals held Wednesday that a 25-year prison sentence for the theft of one carton of cigarettes was excessive punishment.

The court reduced David Edward Terrill's sentence to 15 years.

Terrill was convicted of breaking into the cigarette vending machine in the Kerr-McGee Building here. He was charged with burglary after a former conviction.

believe that this will change much under the new act."

Besides the law's disclosure provisions, its other key features:

—Limit to 10 cents per eligible voter spending on television and other advertising (but not direct mail which both parties plan to use extensively) with no more than 6 cents on radio and television. Congressional candidates are limited to this formula or $50,000 whichever is greater. It is unlikely, however, that any district has 500,000 eligible voters and the limit already has grown to $52,000 because of a cost-of-living escalator clause.

—Repeals the widely circumvented $5,000 limit on campaign contributions, but imposes a ceiling on how much a candidate or his family may spend out of their own pockets. The limits are $50,000 for president or vice president, $35,000 for senator and $25,000 for congressmen.

Greenville Day At Camp Hardee

Saturday is Greenville Day at Camp Hardee, the Girl Scout camp on the Pamlico River, and all Greenville Scouts and their parents and friends are invited.

From 11 to 2:30 p.m., the camp will welcome Greenville people. Those attending should bring bag lunches and their own beverages.

At 2 p.m. "The Legend of Camp Hardee" will be presented by a Greenville Senior Girl Scout Troop and later a plaque will be presented recognizing the contributions of the people of Greenville to Camp Hardee.

NEW FIRE DEPARTMENT — A new rural volunteer fire department has been formed in Gardnerville in the southern part of Pitt County. The new department was formed in November of 1971, and covers Gardnerville, Coxville, Clayroot, and Stokestown. The equipment for the new station cost approximately $23,333 and the building cost approximately $3,500. A water truck was donated by a local business, Stokes and Lane Farm Center (truck on left).

Employing a 750 gallon per minute pump, the new truck is also capable of carrying 700 gallons of water at all times. The Gardnerville community is having a barbecue chicken dinner Saturday April 8 from 10 - 3, with plates costing $1.25 to raise money for the department. This brings the total rural departments to 18 in Pitt County. (Reflector Staff Photo)

Lengthy Agenda Awaits City Council Meeting

The City Council tonight will consider a resolution to condemn under the law of eminent domain an easement and right of way for construction of a sanitary sewer line along the low-ground across the Greenville Golf and Country Club property.

The Council meets at 8 o'clock in the City Hall.

Four public hearings are in order: The first is on rezoning the Lerry Cherry property, located on U.S. 264 by-pass from Shopping Center to R-6 residential. The next is rezoning of the Harold Dail property at 417 West Third Street from R-6 residential to downtown commercial fringe, with consideration also to be given to rezoning in the same manner a larger area bounded on the north by West Third Street, in the south by the zoning district line between West Fourth and West Fifth Streets, on the west by the Seaboard Coast Line Railroad, and on east by the present zoning boundary line.

The third public hearing under old business is the W. E. Dansey request for rezoning the northwest corner of Oak and First Streets from R-6 residential to neighborhood commercial; and the fourth is a public hearing on abandonment of portions of Mill Street, Factory Street, Center Street, Cross Street and Wade Street.

The final items under old business are a request by Mrs. P. O. Allen for renewal of a mobile home permit at 105 Church Street, and appointments to board and commissions.

A variety of agenda items are on the calendar for new business, including a resolution to establish the official recognition of the date of the foundation of the City of Greenville; and the city attorney's report on the Greenville Foundation as a tax-exempt, non-profit organization.

Rezoning issues include D. G. Nichols' request for rezoning Oakhurst Subdivision on U.S. 264 from RA-20 residential to highway commercial for one portion and R-6 residential for the other portion of the property; and a request by Dallas McPherson to rezone property adjacent to Greenville Golf City from RA-20 residential to highway commercial.

Also to be considered is a request for additional special appropriation by the North Carolina Army National Guard, Greenville units; a request by the East Carolina Art Society for the 1971-72 appropriation; assessment roll on East Fifth Street for the area from Forest Hill Circle to Green Springs Park; and a request for approval of payment for court time by regular police officers on off-duty time.

Additional new business items include recommendations to the City Council by the Planning and Zoning Commission's Special meeting of April 5; an ordinance establishing cast iron sewer pipe as the only acceptable material for sewer pipes on private property; proposal of two ordinances relative to no-parking regulations on state highway systems; a request for tax refund by Mrs. Janet H. Peterson; a mobile home permit request by Ashley A. Jones, 1401

Van Dyke Street; and the waiver of privilege license, requested by the Greenville Jaycees for the Clyde Beatty Circus coming to Greenville on April 21.

Probable Sound Waves On Sun

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A California Institute of Technology scientist says gigantic waves recently found radiating from sunspots are probably sound waves.

Harold Zirin, Caltech professor of astrophysics, said Wednesday the expanding waves travel at speeds between 18,000 and 25,000 miles per hour and are about 1,600 miles apart between crests. The waves emanate at 270-second intervals, Zirin added.

He said these were the first "running" waves ever observed on the sun. Waves seen in the past stayed in one location, he added.

They have been named Stein waves after Alan Stein, a 22-year-old Caltech graduate student who first spotted them in movies of the sun taken at Big Bear solar observatory, headed by Zirin. Because they maintain a constant speed, scientists believe they are sound waves, since magnetic waves tend to lose speed as they expand.

Burroughs Wellcome To Dedicate New Building

Burroughs Wellcome Co. will dedicate its new Corporate Headquarters and Research Laboratories Friday in Research Triangle Park.

The company's production facilities, located just north of Greenville on N.C. 13, were dedicated on Oct. 30, 1970.

Former Secretary of Commerce and Governor Luther H. Hodges of the Research Triangle Foundation of North Carolina, will lead the official welcome of the company to North Carolina. The principal address will be given by The Rt. Hon. Lord Franks, former British Ambassador to Washington, who is chairman of The Wellcome Trust.

Convention At Church Sunday

The mid-session of "The Eastern Gospel Convention" will convene Sunday at 1:00 p.m. at Cornerstone Missionary Baptist Church. Speaker for the occasion will be Rev. J.B. Crandal, pastor of Hayes Chapel Missionary Baptist Church in Pictolus.

Johnny Wooten and Jasper Payton, co-directors for the program, announce that rehearsal for the convention will be at York Memorial A.M.E. Zion Church on Albemarle Avenue instead of at Cornerstone Church, as previously announced. Rehearsal will be at the time and date previously announced.

The new building, designed by the world renowned architect, Paul Rudolph, contains corporate offices, some 140 laboratories and support-activity rooms, an auditorium, technical data center, library, cafeteria, and other service areas.

The structure is located on a 66-acre site on the highest elevation of Research Triangle Park which lies within the triangle of Durham, Chapel Hill, and Raleigh.

The laboratories employ a staff of 275 scientists and technicians. Its studies over the years have led to discoveries for the treatment of a wide range of human illness including the common headache, leukemia, gout, and rejection of organ transplants.

An open house at the new facilities in Research Triangle Park will be held on Saturday 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. and on Sunday 1 p.m. until 6 p.m.

Fred A. Coe Jr. is president of Burroughs Wellcome Co. and Dr. George H. Hitchings is vice president in charge of research. Charles Pressel is vice president of production at the Greenville plant and Harry Leslie is plant manager.

Archives A Key Lode Of Information

By H. G. Jones, Director
N.C. Dept. of Archives
Written For The AP
RALEIGH (AP) — A particularly rich source of information for both the serious historian and the average citizen is found in the collection of newspapers on microfilm in the State Archives.

The project to copy and preserve on microfilm all of the early newspapers of the state was begun in 1959. Today, virtually all of those published in the state prior to 1901 of which copies could be found have been filmed, with the exception of those papers still being published.

A copy of each roll of the microfilm is made available for public use in several major libraries around the state and at the State Archives in Raleigh. More than 1,000 separate newspaper titles have been copied, and a list of them has been published in a 105-page booklet entitled "North Carolina Newspapers on Microfilm." It can be seen in almost all North Carolina libraries, or individuals may purchase personal copies from the Department of Archives and History for $2.00.

The oldest newspapers copied under the project date back more than 200 years. A copy of the North Carolina Gazette published at New Bern takes the honor of being the oldest paper in the collection with a date of Nov. 15, 1751. Other papers published prior to 1800 come from the towns of Edenton, Fayetteville, Hillsborough, Salisbury, and Wilmington.

During the 1800s the number of newspapers in the state increased dramatically. Numbers almost defy belief. Salisbury, for instance, has had more than 50 separate newspapers; Wilmington has had more than 40; and both Charlotte and Greensboro have had about 30 each. Most phenomenal of all is the fact that our capital city has had almost 150 separate newspaper enterprises, including some of intriguing titles such as Blasting Powder, Ad Valorem Banner, Friend and Templar, Hayseeder, Live Giraffe, and Rasp. Needless to say, many of the papers that came into being in this period of great proliferation all over the state were short-lived.

Even though all known papers published prior to 1901 have been copied, many individual dates and in some cases long runs of dates are missing. Persons having any old papers which may help to fill these gaps are invited to contact the state Department of Archives and History in Raleigh.

Youths Charged With Setting Forest Fires

WAYNESVILLE, N. C. (AP) — Three of four youths accused of intentionally setting forest fires will be given preliminary hearing in Haywood County District Court Thursday.

The state Forest Service said Tuesday that charges were filed against Ronnie L. Ramsey, 18, Ronnie Allen Moody, 18, and Donnie Lee Sutton, 19, after three fires were set along the Cove Creek Road on March 24. The forest service said the fourth youth involved was a juvenile and his name was not made public. All four are from Waynesville, Rt. 2.

Preliminary hearing will be held Thursday for young Ramsey, Moody and Sutton. A hearing date for the juvenile has been set.

SCUBA Club To Meet Monday

The newly formed East Carolina Skin and SCUBA Diving Club will meet Monday at 8 p.m. at Minges Coliseum.

Summer diving activities and plans will be discussed. Area divers interested in joining the club are invited to participate.

Youth And Adult Rally On Friday

AYDEN — A youth and adult rally will be held Friday at the Community Baptist Church here.

A gospel film will be shown and refreshments will be served. Stanley E. Wingard is pastor of the church.

The public is invited to attend.

Consecration Of Presbyterian Church Sunday

Consecration services for the new First Presbyterian Church at the intersection of Elm and 14th Streets will be held at the 11 a.m. worship service Sunday.

Dr. Fred Rogers Stair Jr., president of Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, Va., will conduct the services. An open house will be held from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Ground was broken for the new sanctuary November 2, 1969 and the first service was held in the new church home December 12, 1971.

The $650,000 structure replaces the church's old home at the intersection of Fifth and Pitt Streets. The old building was constructed in 1928.

According to First Presbyterian's pastor, the Rev. Richard Gammon, the contemporary design of the new house of worship is "expressive of the age in which we live."

The new sanctuary seats 450 people (400 on the main level and 50 in the choir balcony) and houses a pipe organ built by W. Zimmer Company of Charlotte.

In addition to Dr. Stair, the Rev. Tom Davis, general secretary of Albemarle Presbytery will take part in the service according to Rev. Gammon. Milton L. Grigg of Charlottesville, Va. architect for the building, will present the keys to the new church to the church's building committee who in turn will present the keys to Billy Weston, chairman of the Board of Deacons.

A Knoxville, Tenn. native, Dr. Stair attended Davidson College where he received a B.S. degree (1939) and Union Theological Seminary in Richmond where he

Tournament Is Set By Explorer Scouts

The 1972 Explorer Basketball Tournament, sponsored by the East Carolina Council, Boy Scouts of America, will be held Saturday at Memorial Gym on the ECU campus.

Ray H. Parker, district scout executive, said that registration for this year's tournament will begin Saturday morning at 9:30. Competing in the annual event will be championship teams of Eastern North Carolina high school age boys, Parker reported. All participants are Explorer Scouts, he said.

The scout executive said that officials expect between ten and 15 teams to participate in the one-day tournament. Teams are sponsored by various scouting posts in the eastern part of the state and will come from Pitt, Martin, Beaufort, Edgecomb and other eastern counties, he said. A team of Explorers is also expected from Cherry Point, it was noted.

Parker said that the university is providing the facilities for the double elimination affair and is also helping scouting officials organize the tournament.

He encouraged interested fans to attend the games on Saturday and reported that there will be no admission charge.

Pay Up, Or—

Pitt County Tax Collector William R. Smith cautioned county property owners owing taxes to pay up or face the possible sale of their property to settle the accounts.

Smith said the lien sale will be held June 5—Three months earlier than in past years—in compliance with the current North Carolina tax law.

The property on which taxes are delinquent and scheduled to be sold at auction will be advertised four weeks in advance of the June 5 auction.

Smith said to prevent property from being advertised for sale, taxes should be paid as soon as possible.

Planning Bd.

 requiring an area to be set aside for recreation purposes.

The second final plat (erroneously listed on the agenda as a preliminary plat), concerned the Cherry Court Apartments to be located on Greenville Boulevard adjacent to Devonshire Apartments. The approval of this plat was subject to Cherry's providing a workable solution on the location of garbage pickup points for the dumpsters.

Preliminary plats considered and recommended for approval were those of D. G. Nichols for Oakhurst Subdivision and C.R. Sumrell for Oakgrove Estates.

On the Oakhurst Subdivision, plans related to the commissioners are for developing the subdivision in a pattern ranging from restricted covenant (possibly R-15 type residential) in the back area of the property, to R-6 residential for an area facing a final area, one that would be a commercial strip along U. S. 264. The property is located across the highway from Cliff's Oyster Bar. Recommended approval was subject to making necessary arrangements with the Greenville Utilities Commission for water facilities.

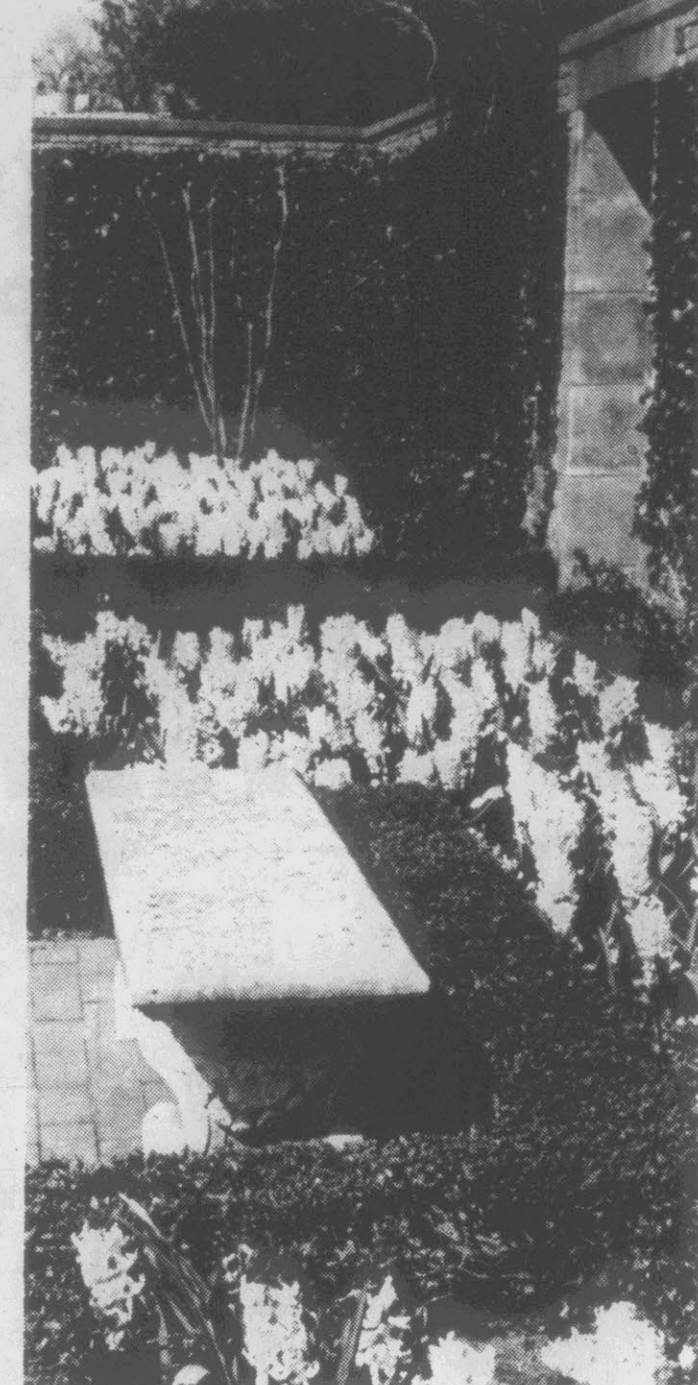

The Sumrell Oakgrove Subdivision, to be located approximately 2,000 feet west of State Road 1419 and on the north side of Greenville Boulevard, was recommended without any stipulations.

Two rezoning requests received recommended approval by the commissioners. The first heard was that of Eddie Harrington, for a change in zoning from the current R-15 to R-6 residential for property known as the R. L. Smith property located on Hooker Road across from the window property and adjoining Green Mill Run. In recommending approval for rezoning to a category compatible for construction of an apartment complex, the commissioners stipulated that the area along the stream currently zoned as flood plain remain unchanged.

The second rezoning request recommended for approval concerns an area recommended by the administration of the City of Greenville. This encompasses property lying between the intersection of South Washington Street and 14th Street, proceeding southwardly to the Norfolk Southern Railroad Company right-of-way, westwardly to the Seaboard Coast Line Railroad Company right-of-way; then northerly to the rear property line of property facing on 14th Street; then easterly along the rear property line of property facing 14th Street to the intersection of the southern boundary of 13th Street and Washington Street; and finally on a southerly line along the western right-of-way line of Washington Street to the point of beginning.

The area included in the above zone differs slightly from the original wording of the request in that the line of delineation follows the back property line of property facing 14th Street rather than along the southern right-of-way line of 13th Street.

The final agenda item was the naming of a committee to review the State Highway Commission's response to

AN APRIL TRADITION... in eastern North Carolina is a visit to the fabulous gardens of Tryon Royal Palace in New Bern during the early weeks of springtime. Michael Brantley, new director of the palace, notes that "the gardens are now at their high point with tulips, hyacinths, pansies in bloom." Brantley also noted the spring planting of the kitchen garden has taken place. The palace and grounds are open daily except Mondays. (Reflector photo by Jerry Raynor)

Local Plant Toured By Wellcome Trust, Foundation Officers

Representatives of The Wellcome Trust and The Wellcome Foundation Ltd. of London, England made an inspection tour of the Greenville manufacturing plant of Burroughs Wellcome Co. Wednesday.

The Wellcome Trust is the trustee stockholder of the worldwide enterprise headed by The Foundation which in turn is the parent company of B. W. Co. Profits from this organization are distributed by The Trust in support of medical research around the globe.

Charles Pressel, Vice President-Production and Harry Leslie, Plant Manager, with their wives conducted a comprehensive tour of this facility which is the largest of its kind among the worldwide group of companies.

The delegation arrived by chartered planes at the Greenville-Pitt County airport at 11:00 a.m. where they were met by Company officials.

Representing The Wellcome Trust were Sir John McMichael, Deputy Chairman, and Lady McMichael; Professor and Mrs. H. Barcroft; Professor and Mrs. R. H. S. Thompson; and Dr. P. O.

Williams, Secretary to the Trustees, and Mrs. Williams. From The Wellcome Foundation Ltd. were A. A. Gray, Chairman; Dr. F. Wrigley, Deputy Chairman; and Michael Rees. Accompanying the group was Fred A. Coe, Jr., President and Chairman of Burroughs Wellcome Co.

The tour of the plant was interrupted by lunch with members of the supervisory staff as well as representatives from the community and East Carolina University.

After the tour the group flew on to Raleigh for several days of activities surrounding the formal dedication of the new corporate headquarters and research laboratories building of B. W. Co. in the Research Triangle Park.

Among other events will be the presentation of a portrait of Queen Elizabeth II to the State of North Carolina by The Wellcome Foundation Ltd. in honor of this dedication.

Data Processors In Competitive Event

Two teams of Data Processing students from Pitt Technical Institute will travel to the Research Triangle, today to compete in a two-day Inter-Collegiate business game called "The Executive Game."

Barbara Dail of Robersonville, and Clifton Spruill of Bethel are members of one team and Robert Moye and Francis Pasell of Greenville and Emanuel Cooper of Jamesville make up the other team.

The members of the teams were selected by a vote of the students enrolled in Data Processing. Accompanying the Pitt Tech teams will be Sanky Painter, an instructor in Data Processing.

Competing with teams from 17 other technical institutes and community colleges, the Pitt Tech teams will be leaving today and be involved in the competition Friday and Saturday.

The top award is $100 of computer time from the N. C. Educational Computing Service for the winning team's school and second award is $50 of computer time.

The competition will take place at the Triangle Universities Computation Center in the Research Triangle Park, and is sponsored by the North Carolina Educational Computing Service.

Refresher Class On Breathalyzer

Fifth-five law enforcement personnel from eastern North Carolina have recently completed refresher training in the use of the breathalyzer at Pitt Technical Institute.

Having previously been certified to administer the breathalyzer test, the officers were enrolled in the first of two required refresher training courses.

Attending the four-day training were personnel of the County Sheriff Departments, City Police Departments, and North Carolina Highway Patrol.

The course consisted of 24 hours of instruction and practical exercises.

Aycock Holds Off North Pitt For Win

Pirates Runners Drop State, E. Stroudsburg

East Carolina University's track team rolled to a big victory over North Carolina State and East Stroudsburg State yesterday in a tri-meet held at the Piate track.

The Bucs won first place in 10 events, while State took six and East Stroudsburg won one.

Four records were set during the meet, two track and two school marks. Both of the track marks were established by the visitors. Wilkens of N.C. State set a new mark for the mile run, finishing in 4:11.3. Long of East Stroudsburg set a javelin record with a throw of 223 feet, five inches.

East Carolina's Eric Hoffman surpassed the ECU javelin mark with his second place throw of 197 feet, 5 1/2 inches. The other mark came when Roy Quick broke the high jump record with a leap of six feet, 7 1/4 inches.

Rich McDuffie also gained honors in the pole vault, winning with a leap of 14 feet, nine inches, the best so far this season in the state.

By the time it was all over, East Carolina had garnered 96 points, while State was second with 63. East Stroudsburg was a far distant third with just 21.

BETHEL — North Pitt's Panthers stopped a no-hit bid by C. B. Aycock's David Glover in the sixth inning, scoring three runs but fell one short and could not overcome the Falcons, losing 4-3.

Glover had pitched hitless ball until the bottom of the sixth when Ben Johnson slapped a pinch-hit single into center to drive in a pair of runs. The Panther rally was stalled right there and the Panthers could not get any more runs in the seventh.

Although Glover was relieved in the inning, he fanned six, and gave up the lone hit. Terry-Durham finished the game striking out two and walking two.

The Falcons banged out eight hits off the Panthers. They put men on in every inning but could only bring them around in the first, fourth, fifth and sixth innings. North Pitt, despite the pitching of Glover, put men on in all but two frames but the Aycock defense kept them from scoring.

The Falcons drew first blood as Danny Kirby ripped a two-out double into center in the opening frame. Glover helped himself out with a hit to move Kirby to third. The Panther centerfielder lost the ball and Kirby came around to score. Glover was caught as he tried to go to second.

North Pitt put a man on in its half of the inning on a walk but he died at first.

Aycock got a man in scoring position as Durham was hit by a pitch and moved up on a hit by Terry McFatter but that was as far as he got. In the third, the Falcons again put runners on. With one out, David Pittman got a hit and Kirby drew, a walk. Glover hit into a fielder's choice that got Pittman going to third. The next batter popped up to end the threat.

North Pitt loaded the bases in the fourth. Clin Lewis reached on an error on the first baseman. Steve Fuchs slapped a grounder to the third baseman who bobbed the ball but threw to second with plenty of time to get Lewis. The second baseman missed the ball and all hands were safe. After the Falcons pulled off a double play, Jeff Price and William Little each drew walks filling the sacks but failed to score.

Aycock pushed over two more in the fifth. Warren Finch singled and went to second as McFatter reached on an error. Tommy Herndon walked to load the bases. Another walk forced in Finch with the second run. Pittman then lofted a long fly to center that let McFatter score.

The Falcons got what proved to be the winner in the next frame as Richard Lancaster got a hit and moved up on a fielder's choice. A hit by Finch loaded the bases again. But on the throw-in from the outfield, no one was there to cut the ball off and Lancaster came across the plate standing up.

The Panthers put on their rally in their half of the sixth to cut the lead to a lone run. Lewis and Fuchs walked. John Grimes moved them along as his grounder was errored by the pitcher as he threw it into the dirt at first. Price grounded out to second but it drove in Lewis with the first Panther run. Johnson then stepped in and lined a hit back through the box to drive in Fuchs and Grimes. That was all the Panthers could get as Durham got forced out after walking two batters.

Aycock looked as if they were going to get another run in the seventh as Glover reached on an error and went to second on Lancaster's walk. Finch popped up to center and after Grimes made the catch for North Pitt. Glover took off for third. Grimes throw was late but the Panthers appealed to the base umpire that Glover had not tagged up. The ball was thrown to the base and Glover was called out. The North Pitt batters could not go ahead in the bottom of the inning and failed to pull off a win.

Glover besides getting credit for the win, got a pair of hits as did Finch.

North Lenoir Rips Conley

WHEAT SWAMP — North Lenoir held D. H. Conley scoreless while pusing over eight runs of its own to take an easy Eastern Carolina Conference victory yesterday.

North Lenoir got all the runs it needed in the first as it scored a pair of runs. Tillett led off with a single and Tripp walked. Both advanced on a wild pitch and Joyner singled to score Tillett. Joyner stole second and Braxton walked. A wild pitch then allowed Tripp to score the second run.

Two more Hawk runs came over in the second. Butts was hit by a pitch and Measley walked. Jarman also walked, loading the bases. Tillett then doubled, scoring both Butts and Measley. That left North Lenoir in command, 4-0.

They picked up the final four runs in the fifth inning. Tillett again proved a big blow, tripling to open it up. Williams walked as did Joyner, loading the bases. Battle then singled in Tillett and Williams, and Butts reached on an error, letting Joyner and Battle score.

Conley failed to offer a major threat, getting only three hits during the afternoon.

The loss dropped the Viking record to 1-5 both overall and in the league. North Lenoir is now 2-3 in league play.

Greene Central Ties For First

SNOW HILL — Greene Central moved into a tie for first place in the Eastern Carolina Conference yesterday with a 3-2 victory over Eastern Wayne.

The victory boosted the Rams conference mark to 5-0 for the season. They are 5-1 overall.

The game was scoreless until the third when Eastern Wayne put together four of its five hits for the contest to push over two runs and take the lead. Bobby Price left off with a single and

Kim Kough got a hit. Gary Davis flew out, but an error on the relay let Price come in with the first run. Ray Davis then singled to score Kough.

Greene came up with its first run in the fourth inning. Stevie Williamson, Johnny Earl Johnson and Billy Williamson all three walked, loading the bases. Donald Taylor then lifted a sacrifice fly to score Stevie Williamson to cut the lead to 2-1.

The tying run came in the fifth. Mike Perry walked and stole second. Danny Whitley brought him across with a double.

Finally in the seventh, Greene pushed over the winning run. Mike Perry reached on a two-base error. Bob Scott then singled to drive him in with the game-ending run.

Player Insists Blacks Must Play

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent
AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Gary Player, from apartheid South Africa, said today the Masters Golf Tournament cannot reach full stature until black men along with whites are walking Augusta National's fairways not just as caddies but as competitors.

"I don't want to create a controversy and I am aware rules are rules," added the rugged little pro from Johannesburg. "But with the number of good black players increasing on the tour I think it is a shame that none has enjoyed the experience others of us have experienced at the Masters."

"It is a wonderful tournament—a favorite tournament for me—but I hope soon the rules are relaxed so that a black man may qualify."

Player is one of 85 of the world's top professional and amateur golfers teeing off today in the 36th edition of the colorful event that came out of the head of the late Robert Tyre (Bob) Jones.

In the star-spangled field are yellow men from Asia, Latins from South America and Spain, foreigners from Canada, Britain, New Zealand and Australia.

But there are no black men—just as there have been no black men, except caddies and locker room waiters, since the tournament was born in 1934.

Clifford Roberts, the tournament chairman and its co-founder, insists there is no ban against black competitors, saying, "We will welcome a Negro player as soon as he meets our rules of qualifications."

"I understand and appreciate that," Player said. "I am merely saying that it will be a better tournament when there are better chances for black men to make it."

"As a former champion, I tried to get other former champions to join me in inviting Lee Elder. Then I discovered that this invitation category, in effect for years, was abandoned with the rule permitting all tour winners to play."

There have been black tour winners, aging Charles Sifford and Pete Brown, but before the new rule was put into effect this year. Lee Elder lost to Jack Nicklaus in a playoff. George Johnson won a satellite tournament. Curtis Sifford, Charles Nephew, and Chuck Thorpe are two of the better new black players on the circuit.

Players, perhaps the most popular foreigner ever to play golf in the United States, has been a strong force in helping erase racial barriers in South Africa.

He invited Elder, a 37-year-old tour regular from Washington, D.C., to play in South Africa last year and Elder responded by winning the Nairobi Open.

"Lee was a perfect gentleman—he did a great job," Player said. "I think his visit was good for my country and for the game."

Until recently, South Africa maintained a stiff ban against mixed black and white competition.

In addition to various major tournament champions of recent years, tour winners and members of the Ryder and Walker cup teams, the Masters Tournament automatically qualifies the first 24 finishers of the preceding Masters, the top 16 of the last U.S. Open and the top eight of the U.S. Amateur.

The entrance door thus is very narrow, although invitations are tendered annually to various overseas players, of which this year there are 17.

Player, 35, is the chief threat of these invaders, rated at 7-1 in the official odds just back of three-time winner, Jack Nicklaus, 6-1. Three players are figured at 8-1—Lee Trevino, the controversial player of the year in 1971; 42-year-old Arnold Palmer and putting whiz Bill Casper.

The defending champion, Charles Coody, is an outsider at 20-1.

"My president hit-and-run schedule cuts down on my chances of winning," Player said. "It takes about five tournaments to get your game into peak form and then I'm usually off for somewhere else."

"I travel about 120,000 miles a year, always fighting time zones and eating habits. Right after the Masters, I must go home for about three weeks. Then I go to Tokyo. From Tokyo, it's back to the United States for a few tournaments and the U.S. Open and then to Britain. Later it's Australia."

"I never seem to stop. But I insist on periodically going home to my family. I don't even play golf while I'm there."

Gary is one of four players to have won all major pro championships at least once. The others are Nicklaus, Gene Sarazen and Ben Hogan.

He played in 14 tournaments in the United States last year, winning more than $120,000. So far this year in five events he has won more than $40,000.

The same size as when he broke into the American tour in 1957—5 feet, 6½ inches and 150 pounds all gristle—he keeps in trim by running two miles every day and watching his diet.

Viewing the 1972 Masters, Player, the first and only foreign winner in 1961, predicted the highest winning score in the last decade.

"The greens are very slick and have a lot of poa annua (wild grass) on them," he said. "The course is playing very long because of the heavy rains and thick fairways."

"If someone stuck a gun to my head and forced me to pick a possible winner I'd have to say Nicklaus, Palmer and Trevino. At the risk of being immodest, I might include Gary Player."

Coaching Clinic Set By Pirates

High school football coaches from North Carolina and Virginia will assemble on the East Carolina University campus this Saturday for the ECU Spring Football Clinic. The free program will be conducted by head Pirate coach Sonny Randle and his staff and will include a special session on the techniques of passing by New York Giant quarterback Norman Snead.

Other topics to be covered in the morning sessions include (1) The veer attack versus varied defense, (2) Blocking for the veer attack, (3) Front four play in the 4-4 defense, (4) Linebacker play in the 4-4 defense, (5) Secondary techniques, and (6) Off-season conditioning.

The instructional portion of the clinic will end at 1:00 P.M. with a buffet luncheon. In the afternoon session the participants will observe the East Carolina varsity scrimmage to be held in Ficklen Stadium.

Coach Randle called the clinic, "a very worthwhile experience for the visiting coaches and for me and my staff. It is hoped that the participants will gain some new insights into the current trends in collegiate football and be able to take some useful information with them when they leave. I am sure that our people will benefit from the clinic as they renew and establish both old and new relationships with these coaches."

Coaches interested in attending the clinic should be present for registration at 8:00 P.M. Saturday morning in Minges Coliseum on the ECU campus.

Count: 1 Strike; Everybody Out

By HERSCHEL NISSENON
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The second day of the season arrived today with no baseball yet but a count of one strike and with rival pitchers Marvin Miller and John Gaherin warming up again in the bullpen.

The players' walkout, which began Saturday and caused an early end to spring training, forced postponement of Wednesday's scheduled opener in Cincinnati between the Reds and Houston Astros, along with the eight contests on today's slate and two games listed for Friday—Philadelphia at St. Louis and the Chicago Cubs at Montreal.

With bitter feelings continuing to spew forth from both sides and with Paul Richards, vice president of the Atlanta Braves, warning that there might not be any baseball "for a long, long time," the only encouraging sign was a meeting scheduled here today—time and site unknown—between Miller, executive director of the Major League Baseball Players Association, and Gaherin, representing the 24 club owners.

Richards said the owners aren't against the players but are "fed up" with Miller and "simply aren't going to let Marvin Miller run over them any more."

Miller's target, meanwhile, was Earl Weaver, manager of the Baltimore Orioles. Weaver had said that 21 of his 26 players had been willing to defy the walkout and open the season on schedule. He added that 16 of those 21 had been willing to play an exhibition game last Saturday, the day the strike started.

Miller met Wednesday with 18 members of the Orioles at Brooks Robinson's house in suburban Baltimore and accused Weaver of illegal attempts to break the walkout.

"There's a fine point in labor laws and he's gone way overboard," Miller said. "His attempts to break the strike have been as a representative of management—which has nothing to do with being a field manager."

Robinson disputed Weaver's version of the balloting.

"Actually," he said, "the vote was 16-4 that we would be willing to play, but only if the owners would agree to accept figures of the actuaries on the amount of surplus already existing in the pension fund."

The latest move came Tuesday night when the owners met in Chicago and reaffirmed their rejection of an offer by the players that a surplus in the pension fund be used to meet their demand for a 17 per cent cost-of-living increase in retirement benefits.

Oak City Slips By Williamston

OAK CITY—Oak City High School outlasted Williamston's "B" team yesterday, taking a 4-3 victory.

The win boosted the Oak City record to 5-2 overall for the year.

Oak City pushed over a run in the first to take the lead. Billy Ross doubled and Ronald Duggins walked. Both runners stole up a base and Marty Smith's sacrifice fly brought Ross home.

In the fourth, however, Williamston came up with three runs to take the lead. Len Hardison singled and Kenneth Biggs doubled. Jones slapped another double, scoring both Hardison and Biggs. Don Whitehurst then reached on an error, scoring Jones for a 3-1 lead.

Oak City rallied for two in the bottom of the inning, tying it at 3-3. Walter Lang and Milton Baker both walked and Willie Baker doubled in Lang. William Dolberry and Ken Spivey both walked, forcing Milton Baker in with the tying run.

Then, in the fifth, the Trojans pushed across the winning run.

Smith singled and Lang moved him to third with a single. A passed ball then brought in Smith for the final 4-3 tally.

Biggs led the Baby Tiger hitting with two, while Ross had three for Oak City.

Buc Golfers Take Match

AYDEN — East Carolina University's golfers rolled to a 19-2 victory over Southern Connecticut State University yesterday at Ayden Golf and Country Club.

The Pirates captured every match in the event except one which they tied. In the three-point scoring, the Bucs lost only a half-point in the ones they won.

Medalist for the afternoon was Harry Helmer of the Pirates.

Summary: Eddie Pinnix (EC) defeated Wayne Lusix, 3-0. Jim Brown (EC) defeated Jeff Thaxton, 3-0. Phil Wallace (EC) defeated Steve DiBattisto, 3-0. Harry Helmer (EC) defeated Don Tillett, 3-0. Ron Pinner (EC) defeated Paul Maloney, 2½-½. Bebo Batts (EC) drew with Jack Hull, 1½-1½. Carl Bell (EC) defeated Dan Worrell, 3-0.

CAPRI. The sexy European at a shamefully low price!

Sold more cars the first year here than any other import in history.

Inside, Capri offers as standard, vinyl buckets, four-speed shift, and a no-nonsense dash with rocker switches. In a word, sexy!

Outside, the same story. Sexy! Right down to its styled steel wheels and radial tires. Plus rack-and-pinion steering and power front disc brakes. Just what you'd expect in an expensive European sports car.

Only Capri's not expensive! Maybe that's one reason why it sold more cars in its first year here than any import in history.

And now Capri comes on in an even more passionate version — the Capri 2600 with a fervent 2.6 litre V-6 under its bonnet. Come in and see our "hot" entry in the import sales race.

Area Students Take Top Honors In Science Fair

Several junior and senior high school science students won top awards at the 1972 Northeastern-Southeastern District Science Fair at East Carolina University Friday.

Forty-eight students won special awards for their projects. A total of 188 projects were entered at the 15th annual event.

First placed winners in the four divisions — junior and senior physical sciences and junior and senior biological sciences — will enter their projects in the state Science Fair in Raleigh April 14-15.

James D. Nicholson of the ECU Department of Science Education said the fair included "quite a variety of projects" and was well-attended by eastern North Carolina science students and teachers.

Judges were members of the ECU faculty and several physicians in the Greenville area.

Names and schools of the Science Fair award winners include:

Biological Sciences Senior Division
 GREENE COUNTY, Snow Hill — Patsy L. Carraway, first place, Greene Central High School

Biological Sciences Junior Division
 GREENE COUNTY, Snow Hill — Alan Bagley, food science award, Snow Hill Junior High School

PITT COUNTY Greenville —
 Eric Moore, first place, D. H. Conley High School.

Physical Sciences Junior Division
 GREENE COUNTY, Snow Hill — Connie Taylor, first place.

Snow Hill Junior High School; and Jackie Murphy, first place, Snow Hill Junior High School.

Recruiters' Open House

The local Army Recruiting Station will hold Open House this Saturday from 9:30 a.m. until 3 p.m. at 323 Evans Street, according to area recruiters S.Sgt. David Hughes and S.Sgt. George Washington.

The recruiters also extended a "cordial invitation to the seniors and their parents" from Ayden-Grifton High School, D. H. Conley High, Farmville Central, J. H. Rose and North Pitt.

Hughes and Washington will be on hand throughout the day to answer questions concerning the education, training and technical skills available to graduating seniors.

The recruiters announced that members of the 82nd Airborne Division from Ft. Bragg will be at the office on Saturday to show slides and explain changes that have occurred during the past year as efforts have been centered toward the attainment of an all-volunteer Army.

Dutch Lead All In Bike Traffic

By JOYCE VAN MEER
 AMSTERDAM (AP) — For every 10 people in the world, there is a bicycle. But the Dutch lead all countries with 5 1/2 bikes for every 10 citizens compared with 4 for every 10 in West Germany and 3.2 in the United States, according to the Bicycle Foundation of Amsterdam.

The main function of the foundation is to publicize bicycle usage and lobby for more bicycle roads. It publishes 70 special maps for bike tours in his country which has over 4,000 miles of special paths. In fact, Amsterdam is considering turning over special streets just for bike traffic to cut down congestion and pollution.

The Dutch lead all countries with 5 1/2 bikes for every 10 citizens, compared with 4 for every 10 in West Germany and 3.2 in the United States, according to the Bicycle Foundation of Amsterdam.

By 1817, a German had improved the bicycle, making his 57 pound bike steerable. He publicized the sport by making cross country bike trips, but in England, this "hobby horse" remained a toy for the wealthy.

In 1839, a Scot invented a lever movement like present day pedals, but it powered only one of the two wheels since they were not yet connected by a chain. That did not come until 1880 when an Englishman coupled the very big front wheel with the smaller back wheel, all of which allowed new speeds to be reached, but it took real skill to ride the thing and was not really safe.

The safest bikes were the "three-wheeled velocipedes" invented by a Frenchman in 1856.

Everyone could ride them, even ladies, and biking became a rage for the first time.

An American invented the first wire-spoke wheel in 1869, helping reduce the enormous weight of the vehicle.

An Austrian invented the folding bike in 1869 for use by the infantry and by 1888, the French army was using folding bikes too.

In 1883, an Englishman rode his velocipede from London to Dover where he adjusted it for water travel to cross the Channel, in a planned six hours. Bad weather made the crossing take 24 hours but he was still able to re-adjust his bike and continued on to Paris.

When James Buchanan was courting Lillian Russell, he gave her a gold bicycle with mother of pearl handlebars and diamonds on the spokes which fitted into a blue leather suitcase lined with plush and cost $10,000.

At the turn of the century, American police had bicycles built for three, two officers and one captured criminal.

The Bicycle Foundation has collected a lot of odd information about bikes. An American and his four sons rode over Niagara Falls on a bike in 1893. Queen Wilhelmina was a familiar figure on her bike and the first ride that Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard took together after their engagement was on a bicycle built for two.

In Apeldoorn, Holland, a bicycle built for 20 people exists. It is 18 feet long and only the first and last people need to pedal.

There are more than 80 modern supermarkets in Puerto Rico.

BIKES, BIKES, BIKES — The Dutch lead all countries in bicycle ownership. The Dutch have 5 1/2 bikes for every 10 citizens, compared with 3.2 for every 10 in the United States. Here, Queen Juliana of The Netherlands leads an official party during the opening a few years ago of a new bicycle path.

Offer 'Hot Line' For Re-Cycling

NEW YORK (UPI)—The nation's first "hot line" for citizens wishing to recycle used bottles and cans has been installed in Los Angeles, Calif., the Glass Container Manufacturers Institute reports.

All the citizen has to do is pick up the phone and dial "R-E-C-L-A-I-M" (which is the same as dialing 732-5246). The voice on the other end will be that of Mayor Sam Yorty, giving the locations of reclamation centers where used glass bottles and jars, metal cans and plastic milk bottles will be received for recycling.

Shed Light On Lights In 1922

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (UPI)—The "Brown Mountain Lights," celebrated in local song and legend, were explained away as natural phenomena as in a federal report issued in 1922.

The report, prepared by George Mansfield of the U.S. Geological Survey, said the lights, which appear to hover over Brown Mountain, were caused by atmospheric and topographical conditions acting on explainable sources such as fires and headlights.

The Grand Canyon is a mile deep in 26 places.

Berrigan Conspiracy Charges See Jury Deadlock

By LEE LINDER
Associated Press Writer
HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) —
The government's attempt to prove that antiwar priest Philip Berrigan and six others formed a conspiracy that included a plot to kidnap presidential aide Henry A. Kissinger has resulted in a deadlocked jury.

The jury found Berrigan and a nun who worked with him guilty on seven counts involving letters smuggled in and out of prison, but failed to agree on the 1,500-word conspiracy count that was the key element in the federal government's case.

That count charged that the seven "did unlawfully, wilfully and knowingly combine" to kidnap Kissinger, blow up heating tunnels under federal buildings in Washington and vandalize draft board offices.

Berrigan remains in prison on other charges while bail has been continued for the remaining defendants until the government decides whether to seek a new trial.

Chief prosecutor William Lynch declined to speculate on what further action might be taken, although before the jury came in he had said, "We would never drop these charges."

him Sunday, Berrigan was found guilty Wednesday of attempting to smuggle three other letters out of the federal prison in nearby Lewisburg, where he was confined in 1970 for destroying draft board files.
Sister Elizabeth McAllister, 32, an art history teacher from New York City, was convicted of attempting to smuggle three letters in to Berrigan.

criminary.
Herman, who pressed for a full verdict despite defense charges of "prejudice and coercion," told the jurors that there was nothing shameful about their deadlock. They deliberated the case for 59 hours over seven days.
The split verdict was hailed as "something of a victory" by the defense, while prosecutor Lynch cheerlessly commented,
"Seven out of 10 is pretty good."
None of the jurors would comment on the case.

AFTER JURY DECISION — Six of seven defendants hold a news conference late Wednesday after a federal jury convicted Elizabeth McAllister and Philip Berrigan of smuggling letters in and out of prison.

Other defendants went free due to deadlock on other counts. (Left to right: Eqbal Ahmad, Father Neil McLaughlin, Father Joseph Wenderoth, McAllister, Anthony Scoblick and wife Mary. (AP Wirephoto)

Jammed Courtroom Listens As Events Of Shootout Described

By EDITH LEDERER
Associated Press Writer
SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — A jammed courtroom at the Angela Davis trial listened engrossed as a bullet-crippled prosecutor told of fatally shooting three abductors and wounding a fourth after a judge was slain in the Marin County Civic Center shootout of Aug. 7, 1970.

ities said was an escape attempt from San Quentin Prison.
In his first public account, Thomas re-created the minutes after Jonathan Jackson and three armed black convicts led him, Haley and three women jurors to a van in the Civic Center parking lot.
Thomas said the van took off slowly with Jackson at the wheel and convict James McClain on the passenger side.
Thomas said he was sitting behind McClain, his 6-foot-2 frame cramped, and Haley was directly behind him.

shots were fired he noticed Jackson pulling his hand back inside the window, looking at it and noting blood. Thomas went on: "When I saw that I immediately turned and looked at Judge Haley ... I saw his face.
He was alive. An instant later I saw the right side of his face slowly pulling away from his skull."

ing. I shot again and the gun clicked. At approximately the same time, he stopped moving.
I shouted, "Stop, please stop,
please stop firing."
At about the same time, I felt sharp pains in my back. My legs gave out and I crumpled down.

His voice breaking at times,
Asst. Dist. Atty. Gary W.
Thomas of Marin County relived on Wednesday the violence in which Superior Court Judge Harold Haley and three others were killed—and Thomas was shot in the spine and paralyzed from the waist down.

Under questioning by prosecutor Albert Harris Jr., Thomas described the events that led to the deaths of Haley, McClain, Jackson and convict William Christmas, and to the wounding of another convict, Ruchell Magee, and his own crippling injury.

Thomas said there had been a sawed-off shotgun held under the judge's chin by Ruchell Magee.

Under cross-examination by defense attorney Leon Branton, the 34-year-old greying prosecutor said the shot that crippled him was fired from outside the van.

She is accused of furnishing four guns and plotting with 17-year-old Jonathan Jackson to engineer the abortive escape try of three convicts which ended in the shootout.
The state contends she was driven by passion to free Jonathan's older brother, George Jackson, one of the three black men then awaiting trial on charges of murdering a white Soledad Prison guard. Jackson was later killed in what author-

"Suddenly," Thomas said,
"the van stopped. I saw Jonathan Jackson. He had a revolver in his hand and put his right hand outside the driver's window. Then I heard a shot.
Then, I heard—I can't say whether it was one or two shots."

Asked if he'd seen the gun go off, Thomas replied:
A. Yes. It was as if it were in slow motion. All the outward appearances of the right side of his face completely moved away from his head.
Q. What did you do?
A. I turned to the right and took the gun that was in Jonathan Jackson's hand ... I took it out of his hand.

Watch Taken In Surprise Theft

MANILA (UPI) —A high ranking official of the Philippine equivalent of the FBI lost his wristwatch to a thief while waiting in his car for a green light at a busy intersection.
Dr. Lorenzo Sinico, deputy director of the National Bureau of Investigation said he had his left hand at the open window when a youth "come out of nowhere," grabbed the watch and fled.

Centennial Events Go On

FARMVILLE — Tomorrow is Fire and Police Day of the Farmville Centennial Week and a police demonstration will be held at the National Guard Armory at 11 a.m. and 1 and 3 p.m.

This is the last day of "old-fashioned bargain days," downtown and citizens decked out in their 100-year-ago attire and interesting window displays are to be seen. Zany contests to be held during the afternoon include pie-eating from 3:30 to 4, a water bucket relay from 4 to 4:30, beer chugging from 4:30 to 5, and a basketball shootoff from 5 to 5:30.

A rock band will play from 5 to 6 p.m. and the Sweet Adeline and Hominy Grits Singers will be on hand with renditions from time to time.

A cotillion dance at the National Guard Armory is set for 8:30 p.m., with music by the Esquires of Raleigh. It's for couples only — no stags allowed.

Anonymous Donor Helping Police

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Atlanta Crime Commission says an anonymous donor is helping the city fight drugs by paying for information that leads to arrests and drug seizures.

"You just can't lick narcotics without money," Lt. R.E. Nickerson, who runs the police department's narcotics section, said Wednesday.

Nickerson said about $1,000 in rewards has been paid out since the fund was established in January.

The first informant rewarded from the fund received $100 for a tip that led to the arrest of one person and the seizure of a quantity of heroin.

J. Robin Harris, chairman of the Crime Commission, said the fund will be replenished if the donor sees that his money is getting results.

The U.S. District Court jury of nine women and three men added six guilty verdicts Wednesday to the one it had returned Sunday, but said it could not agree on the other three counts in the 10-count indictment.

Left unresolved were the general conspiracy charge involving all seven defendants and two other charges that said two letters involved in the case contained kidnap threats which were mailed in violation of U.S. postal regulations.

In addition to the letter-smuggling conviction against

Pupil Aid In Trash Study

RALEIGH (AP) — For the next seven days, some 25,000
North Carolina school children will poke into their families' garbage to determine the relative amounts of glass, paper, metal and other materials.

It is all part of a regional study of the possibilities of recycling solid wastes.

The pupils in selected secondary schools throughout the state will be among 100,000 young people in six southeastern states who will assist in the program.

Paul Taylor, director of the division of science education of the Department of Public Instruction, said the pupils will separate their garbage and weigh and record the amount of each component such as glass or paper.

A questionnaire will be completed on how the family disposes of trash, whether it has a garbage disposal, whether any groups in the area collect materials for recycling and, if so, whether the family contributes.

Taylor said the data will be sent to the Cooperative Science Education Center in Oak Ridge, Tenn., for computer analysis.

Novelty Wearing Off, But Young Mayor Likes Job

Computer Mapping Is Only Few Years Away

By MATHIS CHAZANOV
OGDEN, Utah (UPI)—Let's say you want to put a road through a stretch of national forest land and you want to know just what resources there are there, how many people live in the area, how many animals, what kind, what's the vegetation like.

Within a few years, all you'll have to do is go to the Forest Service and ask for a COMLUP (Computer Mapping for Land Use Planning) map of the region.

Depending on what you and the forest service want to know about the area the map will show any combination of some or all of the following: Mountains, swamps, water, wildlife, political boundaries, fences, gas stations, sheep, cattle, what the view is like.

Only one COMLUP system has been perfected so far, for the White Cloud-Boulder-Pioneer Mountains of central Idaho. Don Nebeker, assistant regional planner for the Forest Service's Intermountain Region, says eventually all government-owned woodlands will be included.

Intelligent Land-Use
"This is really a pioneering effort," Nebeker said in an interview. "This thing puts us in a better position to make land-use decisions and handle the multitude of information we need."

Regional Forester Vern Hamre said the computerized system "can give land managers an instant inventory of all resources they are dealing with and show them what type of use the land will tolerate."

"It will also help them look into the future and determine the consequences of specific actions," he said.

Nebeker said the COMLUP system can carry "a whole variety of information."

"All the components of the eco-system will be put in," he said. "Geology, soil types, vegetation, wildlife, water, as well as any physical improvements such as roads, trails, fences and campgrounds."

The White Cloud system took a year to put together and "we're just putting it to use now," Nebeker said. "Eventually it should take no more than three weeks to program a forest area."

"The only limitation is the size of the sheet that the plotter can plot out."

Program Maps First
Nebeker said the first step is to run plain, every-day maps of small areas that make up the region through a digitizer—a machine that will record the coordinates.

Next, a human operator uses a stylus to trace the information that is to be stored, each fact recorded separately on a punch card or on magnetic tape.

"If you want to be real accurate your points are close together and if you needn't be accurate then the points can be

By RICK VAN SANT
NEWCOMERSTOWN, Ohio (UPI)—The novelty is wearing off and the work is piling up, but 19-year-old Mayor Ron Hooker says he couldn't be happier.

Further apart," Nebeker said. "They simply go around the map recording information they want and code it according to what it is and where it is and the digitizer records it at that particular point."

For the end product, the operator punches out the combination of factors desired and the computer spews out that information, displayed over a map of the target region.

"The advantage is you can recall data in different ways," Nebeker said. "The magnetic tape serves to drive the plotter and by virtue of having the information in different ways you can recall it by how you want it."

"Conceptually, it's a series of overlays, and we're working on a three dimensional model now," Nebeker said. "You might have five different classes of erosion hazard and in 3-D the most serious would stand out."

"I love being mayor of Newcomerstown," Ron said on the occasion of his first 100 days in office. "There's only one problem—not enough time to do everything I want."

The election last fall of a teen-ager to the community's top job put Ron in the national spotlight because of his age, but the new mayor would rather talk about the town than himself.

"There's been a lot of progress the last 100 days in Newcomerstown," he said of his eastern Ohio community of 4,500.

"We've got an 18-year-old on the fire department. We've got, for the first time in our history, a woman on city council."

Boy Mayor Speaks Often
But what Newcomerstown has most of is an energetic, outgoing, optimistic mayor. Ron has turned into a one-man, touring chamber of commerce for his hometown, making dozens of speeches in the eastern and central Ohio area.

"I feel these speeches are a big part of my job," he said. "I've got one main message—'Get involved.'"

"Everyone should take an active part in the community.

Whatever you're doing, do the best you can.

"Of course, I get in some plugs for Newcomerstown every chance I get.

"Why, do you know just how fine a town Newcomerstown is? We're sort of rural, but close to big cities. Forty-five minutes from the Akron-Canton airport. Less than two hours from Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Columbus.

Strategic Newcomerstown
"We're located right on the banks of the Tuscarawas River, which flows into the Muskingum River, which goes into the Ohio, on to the Mississippi and into the Gulf of Mexico, which means ..."

The Tuscarawas River? "Sure, we're right on the Tuscarawas."

Is it navigable? "Slightly," the mayor said. "You can canoe it."

"I'm not talking so much about industry," he said. "This is a big outdoor recreation area."

Ron is proud of the Memorial Day speech he's booked.

200, but they've got a lot of veterans there.

"I don't look for big places to speak, I just like to talk to people. I try to work on a first-come, first-serve basis. Plainfield asked me first for Memorial Day and I accepted."

Fulfills Campaign Promise
Despite the many out-of-town speeches and the three days a week at Ashland College pursuing a full-study load of 17 hours, Ron still spends many hours within the city limits.

"I ride around in the police cruiser about 15 hours a week," he said. "Just to check on things—to make sure things are under control."

Ron said enforcement of his widely-publicized campaign promise to rid the streets of noisy drag racers has been no problem.

"One of the first things I did was to recommend to council an anti-hot rodding ordinance. It was approved and is being enforced. We've had about 10 arrests this year on it and all have been convicted."

so I recommended him.

"I also recommended Olive MacQueen for city council when a vacancy came up. 'She's the first woman on our council.'"

Council is made up of three Democrats and three Republicans and Ron, an independent, said he likes it that way.

He Supports Muskie
The young mayor is running in Ohio's May 2 primary as a delegate to the Democratic National Convention for Sen. Edmund Muskie.

Ron's own term is four years and he refuses to speculate about his career beyond that.

"I want to be mayor for a full term and I might run for 'he job again," he said. "I won't make any commitment beyond that."

South's aggressive two heart overcall—over East's opening one no trump bid—landed the former in a four heart contract that appeared to be doomed to fail inasmuch as the lay of the cards subjects declarer to the loss of two spade tricks and two hearts. South, however, uncovered a brilliant coup to develop a successful end position.

West led the deuce of spades and East won the first trick with the queen. He continued with the king and ace. South ruffed the third round with the three of hearts. Inasmuch as declarer had lost the first two tricks, his only chance to make the contract was to confine his trump losers to one. This appears possible only if West holds the ace-doubleton in hearts. By leading out to North's queen and then a small one back, ducking the return to West, the ace will fall if the latter has the desired holding.

South realized that this hope was impossible if East's one no trump bid were to be given credence, inasmuch as there was no way to get the latter up to 16 points without including the ace of hearts among his assets. The only chance then was to find his opponent with a specific distribution—3-3-4-3—and he planned his campaign accordingly.

The ace and king of clubs were cashed and a third round led and trumped with the four of hearts. A small diamond to the jack put North in to lead a fourth club. East discarded a diamond and declarer ruffed with the five of trumps. The ace of diamonds followed by the queen over to the king set up the following end position at trick 11:

The ten of spades was led, and in desperation, East ruffed in with the jack of hearts, in the hope that West's trump holding was as good as the 10-8. South was in command, however, and overruffed with the king as West helplessly followed suit. The nine of hearts was returned. West covered with the queen and East won with the ace. South's eight of hearts took the final trick. He lost two spades and only one heart on the deal.

South Carolina Divided Over Santee Swamp's Fate

By AL LANIER
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBIA (AP) — After teaming up to prevent commercial logging, sportsmen, conservationists and public officials are now at odds over what should be done with South Carolina's Santee Swamp, a watery wilderness of great natural beauty and wild abundance.

Hunters and fishermen, the "swamp rats" who know how to get in and out, say nothing should be done with it. They want it left alone, accessible only to a knowledgeable few or strangers foulhardy enough to enter without a guide.

On the other hand, there are those who think the 16,500-acre state-owned swamp should be open to all who have boats and camping facilities. They envision managed hunts, directional markers, picnic areas and nature trails.

Sen. Allen Carter, D-Charleston, chairman of a special legislative committee which studied the timber-cutting proposal, and recommended against it, favors opening the swamp to all who want to enjoy it. His committee will make recommendations to the 1973 legislature on what should be done.

Carter further provoked the Swamp Rats by recently pushing through the legislature a resolution asking the state attorney general's office to seek the removal of approximately 50 squatters' cabins which have been erected in the swamp.

Carter, a Charleston real estate and insurance executive, claims he wasn't even sure where the swamp was located before he was appointed to the study committee. He said he started the investigation with an open mind and became convinced the moss-draped wilderness should not be maintained as the private hunting and fishing preserve of an elite few.

The swamp, located mostly in Sumter County, is part of the vast landholdings of the South Carolina Public Service Authority, the state-owned hydroelectric generating facility commonly known as Santee-Cooper. Last year the Authority entered into $800,000 contracts which would have permitted the Georgia-Pacific Corporation and Korn Industries to cut millions of board feet of swamp timber. The outcry against the possible effect logging would have on wildlife and the overall ecology was led by Rep. Alex Sanders, a tousled-haired Columbia attorney and nature lover.

The study committee recommended that the state ask Georgia-Pacific and Korn Industries to withdraw voluntarily from the timber contracts. Two weeks ago both firms voluntarily relieved the state of its legal obligation.

Mormons Begin World Session

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah — The Salt Lake Mormon Tabernacle will be the site of the 142nd annual World Conference of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints which opens today.

The conference will continue on Saturday and Sunday. The event will feature music by the Tabernacle Choir and messages of top church leaders. A program by the Tabernacle Choir will be broadcasted locally over WNCT-TV, Channel 9, in the near future.

Sanders, the "Mr. Conservation" of the legislature, does not hold with Carter's appeal for an "open" swamp.

"It's already open," Sanders said. "Anybody can go there now, and I certainly wouldn't want to turn it into a Disneyland."

"One of its values as a wilderness area is that it's inaccessible without some effort on the part of an individual who wants to go there," Sanders added. "We've already got enough places where everybody can get to — like the midway at State Fair."

He said he does not even favor directional markers, but does think boat landing sites should be improved to make it easier to embark on swamp trips.

Mac McLeod, sports editor of the Sumter Item, is another who believes the swamp should be left as is. He was on hand recently when Carter took several newsmen on a boat tour of the area.

McLeod has criticized the Public Service Authority for allegedly trying to slip the timber sale by the public without adequate notice. He said the PSA which serves the county that would have been most affected. Carter sees no conflict between summer sightseeing and fall hunting. He said good game management practices would actually benefit hunters, particularly a turkey restocking program.

Turkeys are now scarce or nonexistent in the swamp, although deer and other game are plentiful in the ridge areas. Last week, Jimmy Strong of Sumter killed a 450-pound wild hog which he said "was charging right at me."

To hunters, however, the Santee Swamp is synonymous with ducks. An estimated 150,000 migratory ducks used the Santee this past season. Towering water tupelos and cypress are dotted with the nesting holes of

Mrs. Bowles To Visit In County

Mrs. Hargrove "Skipper" Bowles, wife of Democratic gubernatorial hopeful, will be visiting in Pitt County on Saturday.

Her activities during the day will include: a coffee hour in Greenville from 10-10:45 a.m.; attending the Shad Festival in Grifton, 11 a.m. until 12 noon; a luncheon in Ayden from noon until 2 p.m.

She will be viewing the Farmville Centennial Parade which begins at 2:30 followed by being honored at an informal party at the Farmville Library from 5-6 p.m.

Nineteenth Century China Well Documented

China in the 19th century was well documented by European and American businessmen, travelers, government representatives and others whose careers took them to China in the years of attempted domination of the ancient empire.

Unlike modern writers who often spend only short periods of time in a place methodically amassing surface facts before going into print, these 19th century chroniclers generally spent several leisurely years in a country or an area, patiently observing and accumulating knowledge on which they later based detailed monographs or histories.

In the pre-photographic era, the traveling artist played a vital role in sketching scenes for illustrating books on Oriental nations that intrigued Western readers in those years when exploration and expansion of world commerce in the Pacific was an important factor in a new concept of international developments.

A good example of a broadly informative publication on China is a four volume history by the Rev. G.N. Wright, M.A., whose vignettes of life in China were published by in 1843 by Fisher, Son and Company of London and Paris.

To provide the 128 full page black and white illustrations based on original sketches made in China by Thomas Allom, scores of engravers were contracted to make plates from Allom's sketches for the four volume work. (Six of these are reproduced on this page).

At this distance in time from the first three decades of the 19th century, much of Rev. Wright's reportage has a trifle archaic flavor. Nevertheless, he gives delightful accounts of the incredible diversity of life in China in the 19th century.

The daily life of the peasant; of the small shopkeepers in towns and cities; the grand pageantry of the Imperial Court; descriptions of fantastic isles, temples and towers; teeming port cities and the thousand and one canals linking China; techniques of cultivation of rice and tea; details of silk farms and manufacture of that precious commodity; insights into the lives of scholars, mandarins, soldiers, and women cloistered in wealthy Chinese households who the author asserts were little more than sheltered servants; these are some of the revealing subjects the author wrote about.

Wright's series of vignettes also reveals a galaxy of favorite sports, games and customs that added color and excitement to the routine of hard work and meager standards of living. Dice playing, shuttlecock, kite flying, game cock fighting, fortune telling and the splendor of Chinese theater are among the chief attractions the author described in his history of China.

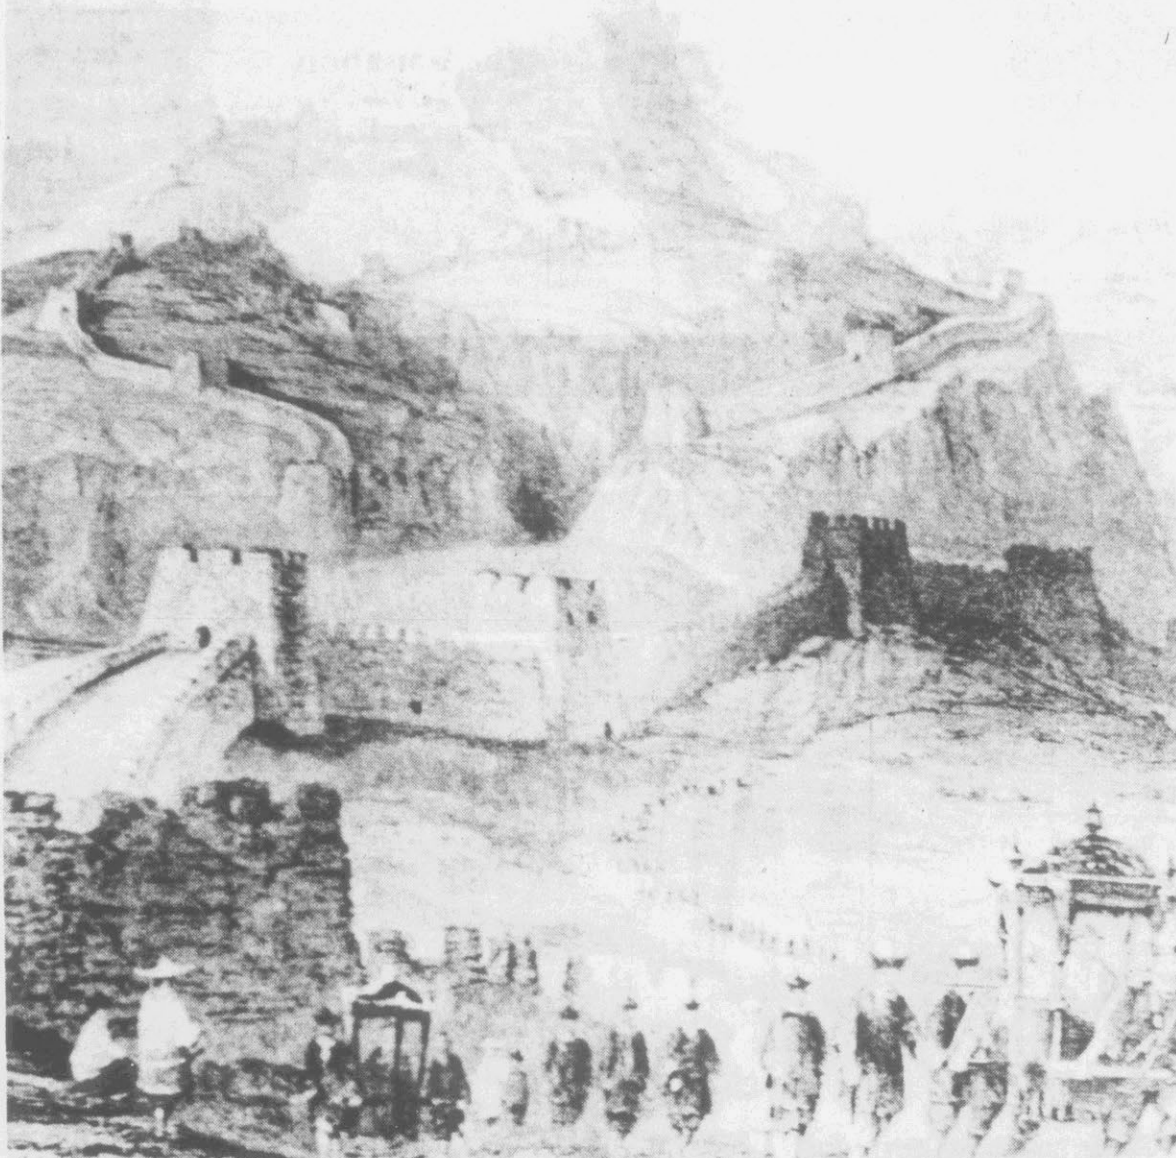

In one major respect Wright differed from many 19th century writers on China. Without explicitly condemning the underlying motives of European and American involvement in the Far Eastern empire, he strongly admonished the perpetrators of the infamous trade in opium and those who for selfish reasons sought to alter the established life pattern of China.

Wright emphasized a long tradition of outstanding accomplishments by the Chinese in agriculture, manufacture, architecture and art and praised the finer virtues to which he accredited the remarkable continuity of the world's oldest continuously existing civilization.

It would be interesting now, some 130 years later, to have available for comparison a similarly detailed history dealing with contemporary China in the same broad manner represented by Wright's observations shortly before the midpoint of the 19th century.

Perhaps with the doors to China being cautiously opened again, it might well be some enterprising scholar-writer or journalist will soon give us a study that will reveal insights into the current life patterns of the world's most populous nation.

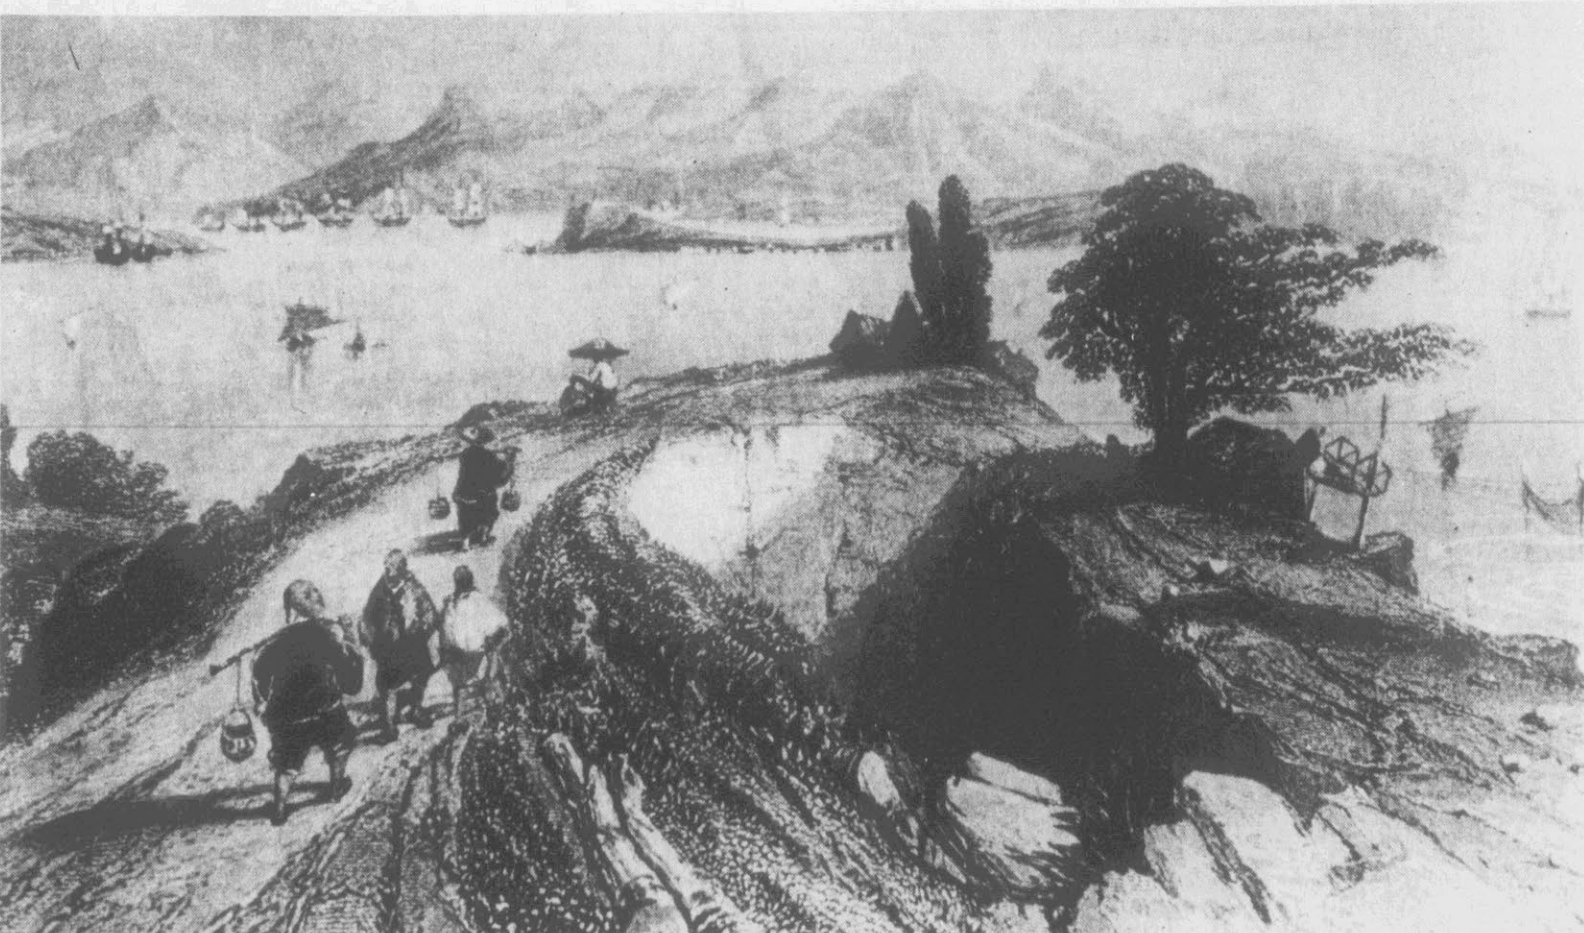

THE GREAT WALL OF CHINA . . . was said to have utilized the services of every third man in the empire during the years it was being constructed. Wright claims 400,000 died of hunger, ill-usage and excessive fatigue in building the famous 1,500 mile barrier.

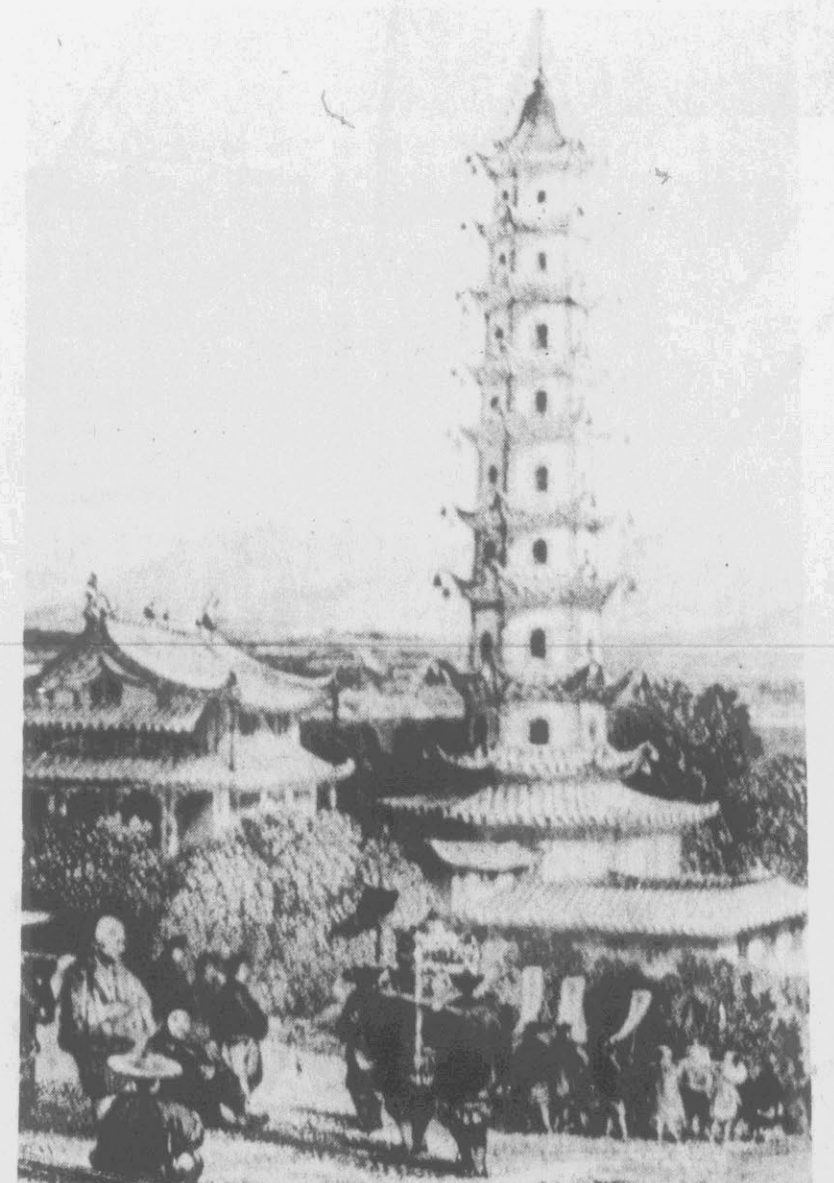

THE IMPERIAL PALACE AT TSEAOU-SHAN . . . built on picturesque and precipitous rocky islets is one of the many beautiful landscapes of China. In a romantic vein, legend has it the site, known as Floating Jade, was originally inhabited by a learned recluse mandarin.

HONG-KONG HARBOR . . . in the third decade of the 19th century, was described as a "good harbor with a fine water supply . . . a noble site, but one that can never become important as a port." About 4,000 "poor but industrious inhabitants" occupied the site at that time.

THE PORCELAIN TOWER . . . of Nanking, dating from 1412, survived numerous mishaps.

"That left the odds at 1 to 1, and finally even that final attacker passed away. "So I just outlived my opposition! And that is something all young people must keep vividly in mind. Even though you are brilliant and well trained for success, if other similarly star performers have had 10 years head start, you may need to bide your time.

This means, too, that longevity is a vital factor in your reading the top. Smokers, who die of a coronary at the age of 45 or 50 while they are still vice-presidents, obviously will never become the head of their firm!

Astute Gardner Cowles gave us some shrewd advice when he said:

"Things do not happen. They are made to happen!" "Which means it requires planning, adequate preparation, a lot of 'elbow grease' and longevity to be sure you reach the top.

So I have quoted Gardner Cowles at the foot of Page 703 in my college textbook, "Psychology Applied." Napoleon in a similar vein said:

"I am not a victim of circumstances for I make my own circumstances!"

Winston Churchill also explained England's long reign as a world power by stating:

England always wins the last battle! Taht wasn't quite true (as at Yorktown) but is basically correct.

So set your goal and don't be distracted by temporary fads, such as the indolent hippie philosophy, for Rome also had hippies, but Cato, Caesar and Cicero weren't among them!

Dietician Is Heard By Diabetes Ass'n

Mrs. Lorraine Nobles, dietician at Pitt Memorial Hospital, gave a program Tuesday night to the Eastern Carolina Diabetes Association on how a diabetic diet can be correctly charted using the exchange plan.

Dr. William Fore conducted a question and answer session on topics of interest to diabetics.

President Malcolm Maxwell announced that the approval of the application for charter of this Association soon will be approved and it will become affiliated with the North Carolina and the American Diabetes Association as a chapter.

Plans for a day camp for diabetic children aged 6-16 were announced. East Carolina University will co-sponsor the camp during the week of June 19. For full details, one should contact Mrs. Laurel Holloman, diabetes teaching nurse at Pitt Memorial.

Mrs. Holloman will conduct an out-patient clinic for diabetes at Pitt Memorial each Thursday form 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The fifth annual meeting of the N.C. Diabetes Association will be held in Winston Salem Friday, April 14 from 2 p.m. into the evening. Anyone wishing to attend should contact Mrs. Holloman.

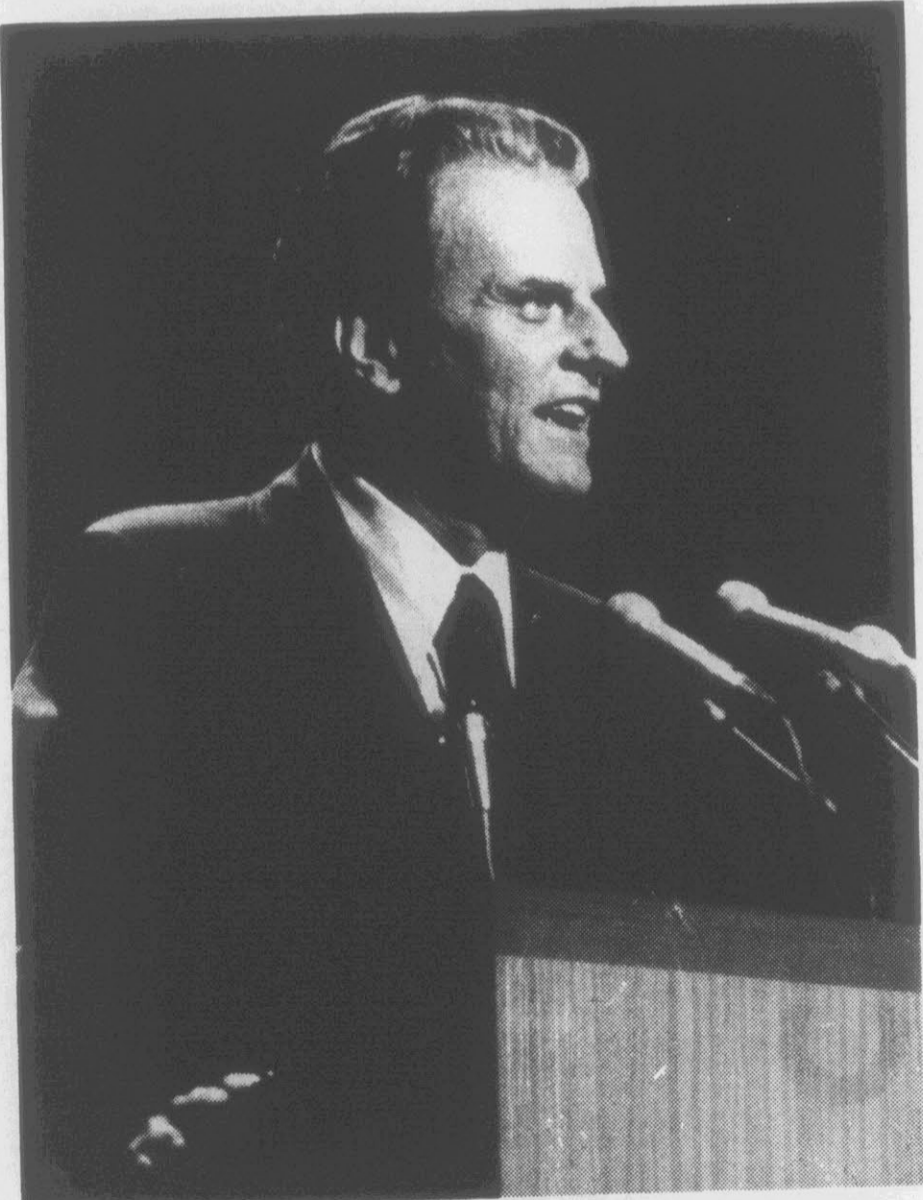

The next regular meeting of the ECDA will be held May 9 at 8 p.m. at the Moyewood Social Service Center, with a program on "Exercise and the Diabetic." The public is invited.

CARROLL RICHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Richter Institute
GENERAL TENDENCIES: Now you have a very good day and evening to get at worldly and business matters which claim your attention. You can handle them in such a manner that you gain the goodwill of those in high position and make headway in adding to your own prosperity. Think out repairs for your property.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Contact the most powerful people you know and state your ambitions so they will give you the support you want for them. Find right mechanisms, etc., that will make your regular job much more efficient. Derive more benefits therefrom.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) If you investigate new ideas and methods, you can make big headway now. Some letter you receive can give you the data you need at this time. Much care in driving is important today and tonight.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) A good day to make those payments that are important and improve your credit rating. Mate is in a fine mood now and you can have much happiness together in p.m. Buy that little gift that pleases.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Sit down with associates and plan the future more intelligently, talk out problems quietly. You can reconcile differences with those who have opposed you, clear up misunderstandings. The days ahead can be much brighter.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Analyze what your most important work is and then go ahead and perform well, scheduling your time properly. Come to a better agreement with a co-worker. Show you are right on the ball and gain the approval of others.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) If you forget all those dull things you are doing and get into those activities for which you are best suited, you make this a fine day, p.m. Get the joy out of life now that you need and should have. Do some studying, too.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Why are you afraid to tell those at home how you want everything to be there? Wake up, or they will soon be telling you what to do, even the little ones. Steer the ship well and straight and they will thank you. Be happy.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Listening to associates' gripes instead of pretending to be busy can now make your partnerships what they really should be. Cooperate and relieve frustrations, become more successful. Did you take care of that minor physical ailment yet?

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Clever people in business will now lend a needed hand so that you can

Winterville Board Votes Keep Resources Service

WINTERVILLE — The Winterville Board of Aldermen Monday night agreed to employ the services of the North Carolina Department of Natural and Economic Resources, Division of Community Services for another year.

The new contract will run from May, 1972, to May, 1973, and will be the fifth year these services have been utilized in the Town of Winterville.

The town's cost for the services is $1,560 for the year. The department offers technical assistance with code enforcement and planning implementation.

The board agreed to furnish gasoline for the local rescue squad until July.

Ashley Dail, captain of the rescue squad, will keep records on the amount of gasoline used and will be asked to report to the board during the time.

A new ordinance establishing building inspection procedures for the town were presented to the board. The new ordinance included building inspection fees.

The board will study ordinance for approval at a later date.

Town Clerk Elwood Nobles was given permission to attend the North Carolina Tax Collectors Convention in Chapel Hill April 19-21.

It was announced that Saturday is the deadline for filing for the office of alderman in the town's municipal election.

To date, incumbent E. C. Hines is the only candidate seeking the position.

The registration books will be open Saturday and again on April 15 for persons who are eligible but have not registered to register.

Auxiliary Plans Saturday Dinner

The Women's Auxiliary of the Bethany Free Will Baptist Church will have a chicken stew dinner Saturday afternoon from 5:30 to 7:30 in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

Plates will be sold by the auxiliary at 75 cents for children, 12 years of age and under, and $1.25 for adults.

straighten out those monetary affairs that have been bugging you for some time. Stretch your thoughts and become more productive. You are not living up to your big capabilities.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Why just toy with the idea of having people you really like as associates? Call them up and tell them so — they will be just as happy as you about it. Parties are fine tonight — become an integral part of them.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can best arrange your practical affairs by quietly and confidentially conferring with others, not by broadcasting your aims to an unlistening world. Have that serious talk with mate and stop being so sacrificing. Wake up!

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Congenials are your best bet for evening enjoyment, since you are too tired to enjoy needing the other kind. However, you may meet a newcomer also who has good ideas. Listen to this person instead of monopolizing the conversation.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY — he or she will be one of those very wise youngsters who is so practical that even friendship is put on a practical basis, so give the spiritual training early that will help your child understand there are certain things in this world money cannot buy. Then this becomes a successful chart, especially where property management, government work, politics, etc., are concerned.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Carroll Richter's Individual Forecast for your sign for May is now ready. For your copy send your birthdate and $1 to Carroll Richter Forecast (name of newspaper), Box 629, Hollywood, Calif. 90028.

for beautiful hair.

THEY LAUGHED
WHEN I SAID I COULD LOSE WEIGHT

says Mrs. Ken Schmidt of Norfolk, Neb.

"I was bulging fat. I weighed 205 lbs., ashamed to go swimming or play tennis. Then I heard about X-11 Reducing Plan. When I decided to take off that ugly fat, my friends laughed at me. They said it couldn't be done because they all know how I like to eat."

I LOST 80 LBS.

"Today, my weight is down to 125 pounds. Now even the friends who laughed at me don't recognize me right away. Sometimes they pass me by and then turn around and call me back, I smile, because they just can't believe it's the same old Marge."

NOW YOU, TOO, CAN EAT WELL
...and lose that fat!

The X-11 Reducing Plan is not a crash or starvation diet. You eat less, but you won't go around hungry. That's because this is a sound method to curb the appetite and still eat 3 satisfying, sensible meals a day — plus snacks. No longer will you be the prisoner of the evereating habit. You eat less — want less. You lose weight . . . while you eat well.

SATISFACTION GUARANTEED OR MONEY BACK

You have nothing to lose but pounds and inches. So hurry in for the X-11 Reducing Plan. If the first package doesn't work for you, simply return the empty package for an immediate refund. No questions asked.
