

New Mekong Delta Front Opened By Red Offensive

Rezoning Request Is Denied After Two-Hour Hearing

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops captured a district town 75 miles north of Saigon today and opened a fourth front in their nine-day-old offensive with more than a dozen attacks on towns and bases in the Mekong Delta to the south.

U.S. warplanes meanwhile hammered North Vietnamese forces in North and South Vietnam and neighboring stretches of Laos with more than 600 strikes. Two Navy fighter-bombers and a big rescue helicopter were shot down, the U.S. Command said, and six Americans were missing.

The district town of Loc Ninh fell after fighting so close that an air spotter overhead reported the defending South Vietnamese were calling artillery fire in on their own positions.

The spotter reported eight to ten North Vietnamese tanks attacking the town, and later the South Vietnamese command announced that Loc Ninh was abandoned during the morning after four days of heavy attack.

The Viet Cong radio claimed that the South Vietnamese garrison surrendered after Communist forces killed, wounded or captured 400 of the defenders. But Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien, the chief spokesman for the Saigon command, said the government troops "moved out to an area outside the city."

Casualties on both sides were reported heavy.

Government forces also abandoned Fire Base Hung Tam, five miles southwest of Loc Ninh and 10 miles below the Cambodian border, to the enemy.

Field reports said elements of four North Vietnamese divisions had crossed the Cambodian border in force and penetrated at least 20 miles into South Vietnamese territory.

Small enemy units slipped to within 20 miles of Saigon and damaged a bridge on Highway 13, the north-south road from the border. A bypass was being used.

After two hours of testimony from proponents and opponents in a public hearing on rezoning a 200 by 200 foot lot in the Tar River Estates from R-6 residential to neighborhood commercial, members of the City Council denied the request by a three to two vote.

The request, made by W. E. Dansey to place a convenience center in the apartment complex, to be located at the northeast corner of Oak and First Streets, was Dansey's second request for this action within a year's period.

Councilman Dansey asked and was granted permission to be dismissed from taking part formally in the hearing.

Principals for arguing points on each side were David (Dave) Gordon representing proponents and W. H. Watson for the opponents.

Primary points offered by Gordon included the need for a convenience center to serve what will be 400 families by the end of the summer; minimizing the amount of traffic in the area; and the manifest desire of residents both within the apartment complex and the adjacent area for the facility. Gordon presented a petition with 274 signatures.

Watson, in giving the opposition's viewpoints, cited a recent Supreme Court ruling for a similar situation in Raleigh in which the court rules that the Raleigh's council approval was illegal; Watson also emphasized that approval of the request would violate the council's expressed attempt to avoid spot zoning within the city; and stated that residents in the area had ready access to other shopping facilities. The petition he presented contained 348 signatures.

After the presentation of the two principal spokesmen, about a dozen individuals from each side were given an opportunity to express their reasons for desiring or objecting to a convenience facility within the residential neighborhood.

Mayor West, prior to the council's vote, expressed his appreciation to the packed audience for their tolerant, thoughtful conduct and attitude.

With Councilman Dansey and Mayor West abstaining from voting on the issue, the vote was three for and two against Councilman's Percy Cox motion for denial of the request.

Voting for the denial were Cox, Dr. Frank Fuller and Mrs. Mildred McGrath. Voting against the denial were John Taylor and Clarence Gray.

In an unusual move, each councilman gave resume of their individual motive for voting for or against the denial.

Councilman Fuller also made a suggestion that the council seriously consider a proposal for future study in which consideration would be given to incorporating a convenience facility in the basic plans of any large apartment complex in its development stage.

Two other public hearings on rezoning, both without opposition resulted in unanimous approval by the council for requested rezoning.

One was the dual request to rezone the Harold Dail property at 417 West Third Street and also to rezone the entire area south of Third Street and east of Pitt Street to a line between Fifth and Fifth Streets running east to the Seaboard Coast Line Railroad. The approval of the request now makes the entire area Downtown Commercial Fringe for the area that formerly was R-6 residential.

The second request approved for rezoning was for the Leroy Cherry property, on U.S. 264 bypass, adjacent to Devonshire Apartments. Rezoning was from Shopping Center to R-6 residential to permit Cherry to construct apartments.

In an addendum item, councilmen approved a resolution to condemn, under the law of eminent domain, an easement and right-of-way for the construction of an underground sanitary sewer outfall line along the low ground across the Greenville Golf and Country Club.

Council members approved the condemnation resolution after hearing Greenville Utilities Chairman Charles Horne explain that he had for some time attempted negotiations for the action with

Employment Is Up, Price-Rise Slows

WASHINGTON (AP) — The total number of Americans with jobs posted the largest gain in March in nearly five years and the rise in wholesale prices slowed sharply, the government reported today.

Wholesale prices are generally indicators of later developments in retail consumer costs.

The report that total employment rose 620,000 to 81.2 million and that wholesale prices of food and industrial raw materials increased a modest one-tenth of one per cent indicated more favorable developments for President Nixon to defend his economic policies.

The reports by the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics also said that the nation's unemployment rate edged up from 5.7 to 5.9 per cent last month, but this was due to seasonal factors and the actual number of jobless edged down some 200,000 to 5.2 million.

The report on wholesale prices included the news that farm products and processed foods declined four-tenths of one per cent in March after several months of sharp increases.

The over-all one-tenth of one per cent increase in the wholesale price index was the smallest in five months and followed three consecutive sharp increases of eight-tenths each in December and January and nine-tenths in February.

The report on jobs said half the employment gain was among men and was their largest monthly gain in more than five years. Another one-third of the gain in jobs went to teenagers and the rest to women.

The report also said average hourly earnings of some 45 million rank-and-file workers, more than half the nation's total work force, rose two cents in March to $3.57. This was 21 cents or 6.3 per cent above a year earlier.

The rise in hourly earnings plus a small increase in the length of the average work week boosted average rank-and-file pay by $1.09 per week to $131.73, the report said.

The "Shad Queen" contest will be held from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. in the Grifton School auditorium. A street dance will be held from 8 p.m. to midnight.

Events that will be going on all day include the flea market and craft display, located on Queen Street.

The festival is being sponsored by the Grifton Chamber of Commerce in conjunction with other organizations in the Grifton Resources Improvement Program.

Censor's Puzzle

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — Authorities seized illicit imports of Playboy magazine this week, but were puzzled over what course to take with a braile version of the banned magazine.

The last Playboy legally brought into South Africa was the September 1963 issue, but this doesn't stop local fans from smuggling copies in their luggage when returning from other countries.

Police mounted a roadblock to check motorists returning from Easter vacations in Swaziland, where Playboy is legal, and more than 20 motorists handed over copies. The culprits were mostly middle-aged, middle-class whites.

One turned in four copies. He said he was a commissioner of oaths at a magistrate's court and expressed concern about the effect of the confiscations on his job.

"But the worst thing is that the damn things weren't for me at all," he protested. "They were for the public prosecutors I work with."

Jose Feliciano, a blind American musician, posed a different problem when he arrived with a braile Playboy. The publication carries the text but not the pin-ups from the regular edition.

Feliciano still has his magazine and the censors declined to comment on whether it was legal or not.

LBJ Is Hospitalized

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson was admitted to the University of Virginia Hospital's cardiac unit early today suffering from chest pains.

Dr. Richard S. Crampton, associate professor of internal medicine at the hospital here and Johnson's physician, said the former president is comfortable, his condition stable, and he is undergoing tests.

Dr. Crampton declined to say specifically that the ex-president had suffered a heart attack.

Johnson had been visiting his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Robb, in this university city and apparently began suffering chest pains shortly before 4 a.m.

A rescue squad was summoned and, about 4 a.m., a mobile coronary care unit from the University of Virginia Hospital was sent to the Robb home in the fashionable Farmington section outside Charlottesville.

Johnson was brought to the hospital about 5:30 a.m., members of the family said.

Johnson had planned to go from here to Washington Saturday to attend a wedding. He had arrived at the Robb home Thursday.

Robb, married to the former Lynda Bird Johnson, is a student at the University of Virginia School of Law.

FARMVILLE—Enthusiasm was high and many spectators stayed the entire two hours to view watermelon eating, egg tossing, soft drink chugging, and to hear hog-calling as Farmville's Centennial Week opened yesterday.

Bob Smith and Jack Connell conducted the contests and school children were the participants.

Several grades lined up for the watermelon eating and the competition was among the grades rather than among individuals. The cumulative time for every member of each grade to put his face right down to the table and eat a wedge of the juicy fruit was judged and Mrs. Joyce Hardison's homeroom was the winner with five minutes exactly.

Miss Claudia Moore's fifth grade homeroom won the soft drink-chugging, consuming four in 1.8 seconds.

Egg tossing was a highlight, with about a dozen teams beginning the competition in the middle of Main Street. One partner would toss to the other and if the catch was successful, they would back a parking space further apart to try again. The next to the last toss, only four girls were left unslattered, but each missed the next time, so the four were declared the winners. They are H. B. Sugg Middle School sixth graders, Evelyn Reid and Sheila Newton and Betsy Ellis and Carlene Morgan. Jackie Hedgepeth stole the day with her hog-calling that broke up the crowd and brought the only response from a tiny

Appointed To Offices

JESSE E. HARRIS

MAYO ALLEN

Two new appointed city officials, two replacements of members on city boards, three new members of the human Relations Council and reappointment of one member to a board here announced at the April meeting of the City Council on Thursday night.

Jesse E. Harris was named to head the newly organized Human Relations Council for the City of Greenville and Mayo Allen was named Director of Public Works, both positions appointments by the City Manager, Harry Hagerty.

Council members approved W. W. Speight to fill the unexpired term of the late Junius H. Rose on the Greenville Foundation; Earl E. (Eddy) Howell as a member of the Greenville Planning and Zoning Board to fill the unexpired term of F. D. Duncan who recently resigned due to health reasons; and Larry Early, Mrs. Jean Darden and Miss Evalina Clark to fill three vacancies of the Human Relations Council.

In addition, the council also reappointed George Lautares for a first full five year term on the Greenville Parking Authority. Greenville's first Executive Secretary of the newly established Human Relations Council, Jesse E. Harris, to be known by the title Director of Human Relations, is a 26 year old native of Farmville.

A graduate of H.B. Sugg High School, Harris attended A and T University in Greensboro, followed by 27 months service in the Marine Corps from 1968 to 1970.

A veteran of service in Vietnam, Harris received the Navy Commendation Medal for his part in evacuating Vietnamese civilians from a critical area on the occasion of the ammunition dump explosion at Da Nang. He was also the recipient of other meritorious citations.

Harris is married to Myriam Caraway, a native of Bethel. He is an enthusiastic sportsman, listing basketball, tennis and swimming as his favorite sports.

The Human Relations Council office is to be located on Evans Street in the CBD building. Hagerty announced at the council meeting last night that a special press conference would be held 10:30 a.m. Tuesday in City Hall for Harris to meet the public.

"I think this office will help to accomplish better understanding among all citizens of Greenville," Harris remarked. "I believe everyone will benefit in every aspect from the work and the programs that will now be possible by having such a program in our city."

Candidate Backing 2-Year Med School

Republican gubernatorial candidate Jim Gardner has gone on record as being committed to a two-year medical school program at East Carolina University if he is successful in his bid for the governor's seat.

Gardner, in an interview earlier this week with a New Bern television station, said that state government would have to start recognizing that there is an Eastern North Carolina and one of the things he would be committed to as governor would be the two-year program at ECU.

A Gardner aide in Raleigh said that the GOP candidate is "well aware of the crisis in medical health services, particularly in Eastern North Carolina," but also across the state and nation.

The aide noted that Gardner has stated that it will be his job as governor to efficiently administer funds, without asking for increased taxation, and channel funds into priority medical avenues.

The campaign official said that Gardner, a Rocky Mount businessman, plans to spend a great deal of time, if successful in the May primary, examining the budget picture in North Carolina with emphasis on medical funds.

City Council Sets Return Engagement Monday

The agenda for the City Council's April meeting last night proved such a hit that it was necessary to schedule another performance for Monday night.

Following the long public hearing on the W. E. Dansey rezoning request, Mayor S. Eugene West announced that it was his desire the council consider only the items that required immediate attention and to table other items until 8:00 p.m. Monday.

Agenda items tabled until Monday night are a public hearing on street abandonments for portions of Main, Factory, Center, Cross and Wade Streets; a request for a mobile home permit by Ashely A. Jones for 1401 Van Dyke Street; recommendations to the City Council by the Planning and Zoning Commission's Special Meeting on April 5; and a request for additional special appropriation by the N.C. Army National Guard;

Also tabled until Monday were a request for payment by the East Carolina Art Society for the 1971-72 appropriation; a waiver of privilege license requested by the Greenville Jaycees for the Clyde Beatty Circus coming on April 21; status of the Greenville Foundation; the date of foundation of the City of Greenville; and an ordinance on no-parking regulations on the State Highway systems.

Three of the seven items added by addendum to the regular 20 agenda items were also tabled until the Monday meeting. These are a resolution modifying certain details of the design of the Central Business District; a resolution establishing responsibilities for the construct on phase of CBD; and a petition for street improvements on Van Dyke, East Gum Road and North Pitt Street.

Shortly before 11:00 p.m. Mayor West recessed the meeting until 8:00 p.m. Monday.

Garden Party Set For Monday

FARMVILLE—An old-fashioned garden party is one of the events of Ladies' Day of Centennial Week here.

Monday following a luncheon at the First Baptist Church and a fashion show of costumes worn in the past, the social will be held in the formal gardens of the Robert T. Monk residence at 300 West Church Street here.

Entrance to the gardens is a colonial wooden gate and guests will pass down a brick walk canopied by clipped cherry laurel trees. Azaleas, jonquils, tulips, and dogwoods, plus numerous other shrubs and trees are blooming now. Flowers are arranged in, geometric plots designed for formal beauty at all season, and a fountain, a box parterre compartment, bronze statuary, topiary, and urns enhance the symmetry of the varied garden greenery.

The large spreading magnolia trees at the entrance to the Monks' English Georgian red brick home were planted by Monk's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore L. Turnage when their white frame colonial home occupied the site. A prized crepe myrtle tree was brought from one of the farms of Maj. Benjamin May, a forefather. Maj. May, a soldier in the Revolutionary War, member of the Halifax Convention of 1776, and a member of the House of Commons from 1804 to 1809, settled on a tract of land south of Contentnea Creek in 1750, three years after crepe myrtle was introduced in the colony from China in 1747.

Attendance at the party is by advance ticket only.

Her Cat And Dog Are Too 'Friendly'

By Abigail Van Buren

(c 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I have news for "one of the finest vets in the profession, Dr. Salk of Palm Springs, California," who states there are no homosexual cats.

We have a male dog [name withheld] and a male cat [name also withheld] who have no sex lives other than their gay lives together. We, and our family, and what friends we have left can attest to this after many years of embarrassed observation.

I would make a film of these two consenting adult animals for you and Dr. Salk, but the Georgia pornography laws are too stiff.

DEAR ASHAMED: No need to be ashamed. Don't apply human behavior codes to animals. They haven't read the Bible and know nothing about incest taboos and homosexuality. Given a choice, your male pets would choose partners of the opposite sex.

DEAR ABBY: I am 74 years old and have been a widower for four years. I live alone and am able to look after myself nicely, so don't get the idea that I need a cook and housekeeper.

I have been keeping company with a very nice widow of 65. She is an intelligent woman, gets along well with people, and would make an ideal companion. But there is one problem. I am a college graduate and she has had only a sixth grade education. You would never know it by her conversation, but she has written me a few letters, and, Abby, her spelling is terrible.

How can I get her to improve her spelling without losing her?

DEAR ON: If the lady's poor spelling is a problem to you [and apparently it is], gently suggest that she try to improve it. And if you lose her because of it, you really didn't want her much in the first place.

DEAR ABBY: I am guilty of being one of those people who will say, "Why don't you come over some time?" Only, I am very careful who I say it to.

I have a husband I can never pin down. If I try to plan something, he says, "Maybe I'll be tied up late at work," or, "I don't like to make any commitments too far ahead." But just let someone drop in, and my husband is the grandest host you could imagine, and he really enjoys himself.

I admit, there are some people you can't ask to "drop in" without having them move in with you like the man who came to dinner. But when I say, "Why don't you come over some time," I really mean it.

LIKES COMPANY

DEAR LIKES: I'm sure you do. But most people appreciate a little advance notice.

DEAR ABBY: It will not help "Practically Untouched in Tulsa" to "see" a lawyer or a judge. [Lawyers are generally too busy, and judges are usually too old.]

What she needs is to "see" a young construction worker.

I SAW A JUDGE

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off

The Use Of Beer In Baking Bread Enhances The Flavor

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

We've heard a tall tale or two about what beer does in bread-baking. What is the truth of the matter?

Here is what an expert in bread-baking has to say: "The use of beer in baking bread gives the bread a rather subtle flavor. It especially enhances the flavor of rye bread. And it does give the bread a deliciously brown crust and helps it stay moist for a slightly longer period of time than usual. But beer does not shorten rising time."

After trying the following recipe for Beer Bread in our test kitchen we are inclined to agree with the above remarks.

BEER BREAD

4½ to 5½ cups unsifted flour
2 packages instant blend dry yeast

1 can or bottle (12 ounces) beer

¼ cup water
2 tablespoons shortening
2 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons salt
1 egg white, lightly beaten
Yellow or white cornmeal
Into large mixer bowl turn 2 cups of the flour and the yeast; stir well to mix.

Into a 1-quart saucepan turn the beer, water, shortening, sugar and salt. Heat until warm (120 to 130 degrees), stirring constantly. Pour into flour-yeast mixture. Beat ½ minute at low speed, scraping bowl. Beat 3 more minutes at high

BEER BREAD — It's especially delicious when sliced and spread with a snappy cheese mixture.

With a wooden spoon, gradually stir in enough more flour to form a fairly stiff dough. Turn out onto lightly floured smooth surface. Knead until smooth—5 to 10 minutes. Place smooth side down in a greased bowl; turn over. Cover. Let rise in a warm draft-free place until doubled—about 1 hour. (Dent will be left when finger is pressed deep into side of dough.)

Punch down dough. Let rest 15 minutes.

Grease a large cookie sheet. Sprinkle with cornmeal.

Divide dough into 2 even halves. Pat one-half of the dough into a 10 by 6 inch rectangle. Starting at 10-inch side, roll up tightly. Pinch edges of dough into roll, then turn to bottom. Taper ends by placing palms of hands on sides, then roll back and forth. Shape second half of dough the same way.

Place loaves well apart on the cornmeal covered cookie sheet. Let rise as previously for 15 minutes, then with a sharp knife or a razor blade make 3 or 4 diagonal slaces, ¼-inch deep, on top of each loaf. Brush with egg white. Let rise until doubled—20 to 30 minutes longer. (Dent will be left when finger is pressed lightly on side of dough.)

Just before baking, brush loaves again with egg white.

Bake in a preheated 400-degree oven until well browned—25 to 35 minutes. Remove from pans to wire rack to cool.

Makes 2 loaves.

Note: To make 4 loaves, double all ingredients except the yeast. The rising times will be about 1½ times as long as for 2 loaves.

Shower Honors Recent Bride

GRIFFON—Mrs. Michael L. Miller, a recent bride, was honored at a floating bridal shower Monday night in the fellowship hall of the Christian Church here.

Hostesses were Mrs. Curtis Ward, Mrs. Jackson Ward and Mrs. M.D. Allen.

A variety of mixed flowers carried out the green and white color scheme.

Mrs. Curtis Ward greeted the guests and presented them to the honoree and her mother, Mrs. Cecil Lilley.

The refreshment table was covered with a white linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of white pom poms.

Miss Linda Lilley, sister of the honoree, poured punch and Miss Debbie Allen served cake squares. Miss Nancy Ward assisted in serving.

Mrs. Butler Is Club Speaker

GRIFFON—Mrs. L.A. Butler presented the program at the meeting of the Griffon Extension Homemakers Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Butler gave a talk on home and garden beautification.

Mrs. John Condon presided at the meeting. She read reports on outdoor air conditioning.

The members were urged to seek new members and to visit the sick and shut-ins when ever possible.

Mrs. Merle Latham, hostess for the meeting, served refreshments.

One More Demo 'Frontrunner'

The Democratic circus has moved through Wisconsin and with it still another "frontrunner" has been established.

Sen. George McGovern was recognized by the pundits as a major contender for the Democratic nomination after he garnered 30 percent of the Democratic votes and picked up 54 of the state's 67 votes to the Democratic national convention.

McGovern did this even after pretty well bearing out the one-issue charges hurled at him by critics, with a television blooper on the Sunday before the primary.

The senator asserted on a nationwide show that the Securities and Exchange Commission records showed that International Telephone and Telegraph, Inc. deducted a $400,000 contribution to the Republican National Convention from its taxable income.

United Press International reported that as soon as the "Face the Nation" program ended a distraught aide rushed to the senator to tell him the statement was wrong,; that the 1971 report with the SEC had not been filed. McGovern admitted the error and termed it an honest one.

At any rate McGovern did win in Wisconsin and as a result he picked up the bulk of the votes to the Democratic National Convention.

Now too, far behind, was none other than George C. Wallace of Alabama who got 22 percent of the vote and behind him was the old pro Hubert Humphrey with 21 percent of the vote.

Sen. Muskie, who many thought at one time had a clear shot at the nomination, came up fourth with only 10 percent of the vote.

There were other assorted candidates including Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington and Mayor John Lindsay of New York.

The Wisconsin primary did accomplish one thing, Lindsay's poor showing after a similar poor showing in Florida convinced him to give up the race for the nomination. Thus the huge field of candidates is reduced by one.

So coming out of Wisconsin there is one less candidate in the Democratic field, Sen. McGovern has 54 more convention votes Sen. Humphrey has 13 more convention votes, Sen. Muskie has additional problems and Gov. Wallace has a moral victory of sorts.

We suppose the real message from this hodge-podge is that it is still anybody's guess as to who will be the Democratic nominee for president in this election year.

An Amendment Carries Burden

By J. J. KILPATRICK

Pity the Fourteenth Amendment! The poor old thing is taking a beating again.

Time was, and it wasn't so awfully long ago, when judges went at the task of constitutional interpretation with one cardinal rule in mind. They would search for the meaning and the intention of the farmers and ratifiers of the provision in question. Michigan's famed Judge Cooley once called this rule the very "polestar" of constitutional navigation.

The purpose of this wholesome principle manifestly was to prevent judges from substituting their own notions of desirable policy for the wishes of the people themselves. What did a Congress mean when it approved a resolution of amendment? What did the ratifying States intend the amendment to accomplish? These used to be the overriding questions. The search for honest answers was known as judicial restraint.

Well, alas for judicial restraint. The Supreme Court couple of weeks ago took the battered Fourteenth Amendment and gave it one more belting around. The amendment was framed in 1866 and ratified (or so it was decreed) in 1868. But a majority of the Court last month cared not a fig for the rule of meaning and intention.

It would come as a stunning surprise to the gentlemen who framed and ratified the Fourteenth to know that they intended to create "the constitutional right of married persons to use contraceptives." They would be staggered to learn that one purpose of their handiwork was to prevent the States from imposing a one-year residency requirement on new voters. But this is what the high court has held.

Most of us had understood, back in the days of strict construction, that the Fourteenth Amendment had but one broad purpose: It was intended to prohibit the States from denying the black man certain civil rights the States had denied him in the past. These civil rights did not even include the black man's right to vote; that had to be protected by the Fifteenth nearly two years later.

Surely, we may believe, the Fourteenth Amendment never was intended to function as a kind of soft-clay Constitution within the Constitution itself. But that is what it has become over the past fifty years. The judges have molded its words to suit themselves. What the amendment says, in its key provision, is that no State shall deprive any person "of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

Behold what marvels are wrought in the name of due process! See what our judicial magicians can contrive with the incantation of equal protection!

William Baird lectured on birth control three years ago at Boston University. At the close of his lecture, he gave a young woman a sample package of vaginal foam. He was arrested and convicted for dispensing a medicinal article without a license to do so. On Marv 22, over Chief Justice Burger's lonesome dissent, the Court voted 6-1, to reverse his conviction. The young woman had been denied her liberty without due process of law.

The residency case came from Tennessee, where the State had imposed a one-year requirement on new voters. A Vanderbilt law professor James F. Blumstein newly arrived in Nashville, challenged the requirement. By the same 6-1 division, the Court on March 21 held that Tennessee had no substantial or compelling reason for such a rule; and this being so, Blumstein could not be denied the equal protection of law extended to other persons.

Now, the Massachusetts law may have been foolish; but judges are not suppose to be concerned with folly, but with law. Tennessee's durational requirement may have been unfair. This is not the point. Was it unconstitutional? Was the Tennessee law within the State's power to enact? In 1904 a unanimous Court had upheld precisely such a requirement.

Who had amended the Fourteenth Amendment? Not the people. Only the judges. And let it be said another ten thousand times: This they have no right to do.

Nixon Is Major Hanoi Target

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The spectacular objective of Hanoi's attack across the neutral demilitarized zone (DMZ) against a weak, newly-formed South Vietnamese division is to force President Nixon into crucial war-settlement talks, on Communist terms, before his May 22 trip to Moscow.

Thus, the biggest battles in Vietnam since the 1968 Communist Tet offensive could affect not only Mr. Nixon's campaign for reelection but threaten his highly successful moves toward detente with the Soviet Union.

There are, to be sure, less dramatic Communist goals — undermining the credibility of President Thieu's Saigon regime and embarrassing Mr. Nixon by forcing the endless war back onto American television screens and newspaper banner headlines.

But the consensus high in the Nixon administration is this:

The Hanoi government hopes by lightning attacks in the Northern provinces of South Vietnam, in the central highlands and in the area west of Saigon, to capture and hold territory that will vastly strengthen its bargaining position for peace talks on the eve of President Nixon's historic visit to Moscow.

With the Soviet Union supplying heavy arms and equipment now being used against the Army of South Vietnam (ARVN), the President would then be pushed into a ghastly diplomatic squeeze would either be compelled to negotiate under highly unfavorable terms, confronting an enemy in physical possession of substantial hunks of South Vietnam, or risk a major setback in his Moscow talks.

High-level analysts here see these immediate Communist battle targets: physical possession of the capitals of three provinces — the northernmost Quang Tri, just south of the DMZ; Kontum, in the highlands; and Tay Ninh, between Saigon and the Cambodian border.

The Communists, in short, seem to be mounting a coordinated assault in three sparsely populated areas, the loss of which would mean little strategically to Saigon, but very much indeed to Saigon and Washington in political terms.

It was precisely to delay these long-awaited assaults that Mr. Nixon ordered the daring intervention by U. S. troops two years ago against the Cambodian sanctuaries used by the Communists to cache weapons, food and other supplies for use in both the Tay Ninh and Kontum areas. The foray against the Ho Chi Minh Trail in Laos one year ago was likewise designed to break up supply lines and force the enemy to deplete the very forces now in action against Quang Tri city.

During both those engagements, the U.S. still had powerful military units in the field. This month, those forces are scheduled for a reduction to 69,000. Thus, whether Hanoi can succeed in its spectacular objective depends on the fighting quality of Saigon's own forces and the military competence of ARVN commanders. At this writing, that competence is in question.

Some experts here question Saigon's refusal to move backup troops into Quang Tri province weeks ago, when all signs pointed to invasion from the north. Reinforcements have now been sent, but the enemy is already on the approaches to Quang Tri City.

The failure to send those reinforcements weeks ago, moreover, may reflect a dangerous preoccupation by South Vietnam's President Thieu with security for Saigon and its environs. If the Communists succeed in investing the three provincial capitals, Hanoi's strategy to force President Nixon to the wall before his Moscow summit meeting will have taken its first step.

It is, of course, far too early to forecast whether Hanoi can seize the territory it wants. Moreover, even if the three cities are seized, they must be held for weeks against counterattacks by South Vietnam's million-man army, backed by U.S. air power.

As of today, Mr. Nixon can do little but put his faith in an Asian army of U.S. design and manufacture but never before put to the present test.

Getting Press Coverage

By ART BUCHWALD

Washington—When you get right down to it, the Democratic primary races are really a fight for press space and free television time. Because there are so many candidates in the race and none of them has said anything new since they started running, it's very hard for a presidential aspirant to get on the tube or in the papers unless he does something unique.

Mayor John Lindsay, for example, spent the night sleeping on the couch of a $6,000-a-year worker in Milwaukee "to identify with the little man." He was offered the worker's bed, but Lindsay said he'd rather sleep on the couch because he tossed and turned a lot at night.

As time goes on, each candidate's staff is going to have to escalate the type of stunt which will attract press and TV coverage.

I can imagine in the next few months the following conversation in a candidate's office:

"Senator, we've come out with a dandy idea which will get us on the local CBS station. We've entered your wife in a roller derby Saturday night against the Bloodhaws."

"My wife can't roller skate."

"It doesn't make any difference as long as she can fight. We've set it up so 'Hated Hanna,' the captain of the Bloodhaws pulls your wife's hair out. Then your wife hits her in the solar plexus and Hated Hanna will go right over the railing."

"Two other Bloodhaws will attack your wife from the rear and start stomping on her, but her teammates will come to your wife's aid and kick the two across the rink."

"I'm not sure Penelope is up to that."

"It's essential, Senator. This state is bananas about roller derbies, and if your wife gets beaten up by the Bloodhaws, we'll pick up 5 per cent in sympathy votes alone."

"Well, I'm going to go there to see that Penelope doesn't get hurt needlessly."

"You can't, Senator. We've booked you to perform a heart transplant at the General Hospital on the same evening."

"A heart transplant?"

"Yes, we've found a retired factory worker who says you can operate on him. It will be a good chance for you to dramatize your concern of the lack of decent medical treatment in the country. The NBC station is sending out a film crew, and Sander Vanocur will cover it live."

"All right, if you think it will help. Tell my wife I'll meet her back at the hotel after the operation."

"Oh, we forgot to tell you. You're not sleeping at the hotel Saturday night. You're sleeping at the zoo. They have a white leopard out there that everyone is crazy about, and we think if you spend a night with him you'll get your picture on every front page in the state."

"Good grief, isn't there any 'other' way of getting exposure?"

"Believe us, Senator, if there were, we wouldn't put (Continued on page 5)

Other Editors Say A Postscript

(Goldsboro News-Argus)

This is a postscript to a national "Week of Concern".

It was a week in which many of us attempted to focus attention on the fact that we have upwards of 2,000 U.S. servicemen either in prison or listed as missing in action.

It has been years for most of them and their families.

The most difficult burden is being borne by the families of those listed as missing in action.

For many it has been years without knowing whether the loved one is dead or a prisoner.

Even in instances in which there has been nothing to indicate that the missing person might have survived, the government will not presume them dead.

There have been instances in which a person for whom no hope was held suddenly showed up as a prisoner or being reported by a released prisoner as being alive.

One Army officer was a prisoner for five years when he escaped.

We heard of a case in which a plane was destroyed by a missile and there was no visual or radio indication that anyone got out before it crashed. A few days later one of the men in the plane was exhibited at a press conference in Hanoi.

This is not intended to raise false hopes for anyone. It is to put focus on the dilemma with which so many of our people and our government must live.

Much of the anxiety and uncertainty could be eliminated if the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong could give a full listing of prisoners and permit inspection of the POW camps.

Lists that have been made public were short of names of people known to have been captured.

And this is written to remind all of us that the end of the Week of Concern should not be a signal for us to forget.

Our concern for the POWs and the missing in action and their families must be continuous. Our efforts to come up with some way to win their freedom must be unflagging.

At this moment, men who have been prisoners of war for years still wait. Families who do not know also wait...

Sadat's Face-Saving

By HARRY DUNPHY
Associated Press Writer

BEIRUT (AP) — Egypt's break in diplomatic relations with Jordan is an attempt by President Anwar Sadat to divert attention from his failure to make good on his promise to get the Sinai Desert back by the end of 1971 or go to war with Israel.

The Egyptian leader told a special session of the guerrilla-dominated Palestine National Council in Cairo Thursday night that King Hussein's plan to create a Palestinian state is a betrayal of the Arab cause and Egypt had no choice but to break relations.

Sadat told the wildly cheering crowd that Egypt "is holding wide consultations to bring about joint Arab action against King Hussein's deviation from Arab unity." He suggested Israeli's deputy premier, Yigal Allon, had a role in the king's action.

There have been numerous reports, repeatedly denied by both sides, of meetings between Hussein and Allon, who suggested a peace settlement with Jordan similar to the one the monarch proposed March 15.

Egypt's federation partners, Libya and Syria, cut ties with Jordan after Hussein cracked down on the Palestinian guerrillas in his kingdom in 1970 and then drove them out last July. But Sadat's move could threaten the Hashemite kingdom's economic future and its air links with Europe.

When Syria closed its air space to Jordan last July, the only practical air route left was over Egyptian territory after a detour around Israeli-held Sinai. Syria recently eased restrictions on overland traffic, but Sadat's action may force it and neighboring Iraq to tighten them again.

A Jordanian government spokesman expressed regret at Egypt's decision but said there would be no comment on practical effects of the move until all related information was studied.

The Egyptian move left Jordan with only one ally among its Arab neighbors, Saudi Arabia, which along with the United States has been keeping Jordan afloat economically.

An Israeli radio commentary on Sadat's speech said his decision to break relations did not mean much because Jordan has been isolated from much of the Arab world and is accustomed to pressure. But the broadcast suggested that Palestine guerrillas might now infiltrate into Jordan to harass the regime.

Sadat's speech, his most beligerent in months, was strongly reminiscent of those he made last summer promising a "year of decision" in 1971.

He said Egypt can not stand by while Israel establishes a gateway into the Arab world through Jordan.

"Egypt will fight on land, sea and in the air," he declared. "from house to house, if need be, paying the price in blood for honor and freedom."

Strength For Today

WE CAN BE CERTAIN
The Lord will guide us.

If we can but come to believe in the guidance of God it will change our lives and make everyday a thing of joy instead of a thing of anxiety and worry. To know that we shall be guided if we trust in the power of the unseen and try without faltering to do the right thing day by day is the greatest support anyone can ever have in life. Many who have few of this world's blessings can go through the day with a song upon their lips because they have this confidence in their hearts. Others whom the world regards as privileged amid wealth and social position have the most tragic unhappiness written all over their faces because they have nothing unseen and eternal in their lives to hold to.

So let us say today that after we have done our best we will leave the issues of life in the Lord's hands. We will be diligent, faithful and sacrificing, and we will allow nothing to still in our hearts the assurance that God will do his part without fail, thus enabling us to achieve what human effort unaided can never achieve.

"God is our refuge and strength."

Ecology Fight Is Inching Ahead

By ELMER ROESSNER

After three years of working for a better ecology, it is now safe to swim in Lake Erewhon, to catch trout up to three feet, and even to drink the waters of the lake. Trouble is, nobody knows exactly where the lake is.

The victories in the fight for a decent ecology are few and sparse.

True, it's been a lot of fun collecting old tin and aluminum cans, considerable paper has been recycled, and thousands of miles of free publicity has been generated by corporations' announcements of vast ecological plans that have never been heard of again.

There have been some even more substantial gains. Plans have been made for converting waste-disposal plants into generators of power. Prof. John D. Mackenzie of the University of California at Los Angeles has been given a grant of $5,000 for further development of his process of combining cow dung and glass bottles to produce bricks and tiles for home construction. The professor may be 75 years late; a cabin with walls of empty green beer bottles was long ago constructed at Goldfield, Nev.

There has been other progress. Pollution-free engines are being worked upon by almost every major auto company, to which bicycle makers say, "So what?" pointing out that last year they made more than nine million bicycles, not one of which emitted carbon monoxide or sulfur compounds.

It is now safe to swim in the Santa Barbara Channel without turning black, and some doctors are allowing patients to visit New York City for 24 hours when the wind is right.

On the other hand, one of the greatest threats to American ecology is poised to endanger Alaska. The Interior Department has finally come up with a yes-and-no report on the Alaska oil pipeline and, this being an election year and the oil industry being one of the richest sources of campaign funds, it is likely that the verdict will be yes.

Meanwhile, oil spills continue to wash the Atlantic and Gulf coasts those sea-going tankers surely seem difficult to steer.

The Administrative Management Society surveyed 710 small and medium size American, Canadian and West Indian companies and found that 79 per cent do not separate or recover any of their office paper waste.

Elliott M. Estes, General Motors vice president in charge of overseas operations, told the London Institute of Mechanical engineers that if every vehicle were removed from the road, "about 60 per cent of the air pollution problem would remain. Even more important, about 90 per cent of the health problems caused by air pollution would still remain."

A 72-page book on pollution published by the Bank of America states that major sources of air pollution are roughly: automobiles, 60 per cent; industry 17 per cent; electric power plants, 14 per cent; space heating, 5 per cent; and municipal incineration of refuse, 3 per cent.

Of course, two different points of view are apparent here: GM makes auto, the Bank of America doesn't.

Although massive U.S. bombing will be unleashed against Hanoi's supply lines and troops as weather permits, no one here expects the President to return to the heavy bombing of the 1960s in the Hanoi and Haiphong areas. To do so could have drastic repercussions in the U.S. and in Peking and Moscow, both of which are now being assiduously courted by Mr. Nixon.

Hanoi has enough backup supplies to support one month of hard fighting in the three contested areas, a month that will make or break the President's vaunted Vietnamization program and perhaps determine the fate of bloody Indochina.

RAWALPINDI (AP) — Despite the stunning December defeat which split the country and crushed its economy, Pakistanis talk of another round of war with India.

"It is not true we can't fight against India," said a retired air marshal, Nur Khan. "Despondency and self-depreciation must yield place to hope."

Pakistan military sources said the army has started a buildup to replace the 74,000 regular army men among 93,000 war prisoners held captive in India after their surrender in what became Bangladesh, East Pakistan.

The army has formed a new infantry division and created another from independent brigades, including a unit once the private army of the Amir of Bahawalpur, ruler of the princely state which sits strategically at the center of the West Pakistan-Indian border.

Military sources have reported that Libya supplied American-built Freedom Fighter F5 jets to the depleted air force and China has delivered T9 tanks, missile patrol boats and surface to air missiles since the end of the December fighting.

On paper, the army has 14 divisions, one more than it claimed in March 1971 when civil war erupted in the East. This does not include at least four divisions held captive. A Pakistani division contains at least 18,000 men.

Committee Meeting Set

The April meeting of the Greenville Citizens Advisory Committee has been set for Monday night at 8:00 p.m. in the library of E. B. Aycock Junior High School.

Sam Sewall, chairman of the committee, announced that the first item on the agenda is an orientation period dealing with school finance, focusing on the 1972-73 budget for the Greenville City Schools.

On the subject of the school budget, Dr. Cleet C. Cleetwood has also noted that the public hearing meeting on the budget will be announced soon. It is understood this will be on a date prior to April 25, the date of the next regular school board meeting.

Two reports will be given at the advisory committee's meeting. The first is one by Virgil Clark, an interim report on railroad crossing safety. The second is a report on questionnaire survey to be made by Dr. Dennis Roberts.

Appointments are also scheduled to be made for three committees — by-laws; attendance; and quality education.

The final item named on the agenda is discussion on an orientation subject for the May meeting.

Most of the army is facing an Indian force along the 900-mile frontier from mountainous Kashmir in the north to the Sind Desert in the south. The Pakistanis claim the Indians violate the cease-fire almost daily along that line.

Training centers, such as the Baluch Regiment cantonment in Rawalpindi, are jammed with young men.

Sandbags still protect public buildings such as the telegraph office in Rawalpindi and the military intelligence headquarters in Islamabad. Private homes still wear coats of camouflage paint.

President Zulfikar Ali Bhutto speaks of building the best army in Asia, although insisting it will be only for defense.

Many Pakistanis seem to believe India will attack first. A Cabinet minister asked a foreign journalist, "What will the United States do when India attacks?" The question was the one most frequently raised recently when an American Embassy official went on a brief speaking tour in the Punjab, the populous province closest to the Indian border.

Others believe the fight will start over the refusal of India to meet the Pakistan demand for immediate return of the war prisoners. Some believe eventually Bangladesh will rise against what the Westerners believe will be Indian domination, triggering a war from Pakistan.

"We will come to the aid of our Moslem brothers in the East," said a youthful Punjabi member of the National Assembly for the ruling Pakistan People's party.

Holshouser Urges 'Updating' Assembly

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Jim Holshouser, Republican candidate for governor of North Carolina, says "it's high time that we brought our state legislature into the 20th century" with modernization.

He told a Winston-Salem civic club Thursday the General Assembly needs adequate research staff, electronic voting and a modern committee system.

Holshouser said the legislature is too often "a rubber stamp for the governor's proposals and for special interests." He endorsed a legislative code of ethics and limited annual sessions.

There was considerable activity on other political fronts. Lt. Gov. Pat Taylor, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, said Thursday night the voice of the farmer needs to be heard in Raleigh.

Taylor said more farmers should be involved in state government, particularly on boards and agencies involved with agriculture and environmental policies. He spoke to a large group of farmers and their wives in Raleigh.

Taylor said that if elected he wants a "committee of farmers to work with me during the next four years" so I can be constantly advised about things at the state and federal level which I need to know about."

Another Democratic gubernatorial hopeful, Wilbur Hobby, said at a rally in Jacksonville that taxes are not divided among citizens "in an equitable manner."

"Taxes paid by the low and moderate income people inevitably are used to favor the big boys of business, banking, insurance, and so on," the labor leader said in a prepared talk.

Jim Hunt, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, said at a news conference in Burlington that the 1973 General Assembly should enact a tax relief bill for elderly citizens. "Though we must jealously guard and preserve our state's tax base," Hunt said, "I believe this is one area in which we can well afford to award some relief."

Allen Barbee, also seeking the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor, told the students at Alamance Technical Institute that education is the key to North Carolina's future.

Russell Secrest of Cary said in a speech at Charlotte that the state commissioner of insurance "has the authority he needs to straighten out the mess" in North Carolina's assigned risk auto insurance plan.

Secrest, a Democratic candidate for insurance commissioner, addressed a group of business and professional people at a luncheon. He said, "If we crack down on the insurance companies and force them to provide adequate coverage for most motorists on a voluntary basis, we can do much to solve the problems that exist in the assigned risk plan."

Agnew Confident South Viets Will Survive Battlefield Test

By GEORGE HACKETT
Associated Press Writer
FORT CAMPBELL, Ky. (AP)

— Despite renewed pressures against the South Vietnamese on the battlefield, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew says he is confident they will survive the test.

He made the assessment Thursday in a welcome home address to the 101st Airborne, the last American division to be pulled out of combat.

The vice president strongly defended this country's intervention in the war and contended that history will show it was no mistake.

"It has been one of the most unselfish acts in the history of United States foreign policy," he told an estimated 14,000 spectators at this military base which straddles the Kentucky-Tennessee border.

Agnew credited the Screaming Eagles of the 101st and other fighting units with providing the time, the assistance and the chance for the South Vietnamese to prove themselves.

He pointed out that the 101st, which went to Vietnam in July, 1965, earned 10 campaign streamers and 12 Medals of Honor.

He mildly criticized the major news media for failing to "adequately report one side of the war."

He said little attention had been given to the extensive civil action and pacification programs which the 101st performed for the Vietnam populus. He said the paratroopers provided medical assistance, built schools and assisted refugees "in recovering from the trauma and tragedy of war."

The vice president was greeted by a 19 gun salute after he arrived here from Washington. He stood on the reviewing stand with Army Chief of Staff William C. Westmoreland, a former commander of the 101st. After his speech Agnew flew by helicopter to Chapel Hill, Tenn. to attend a funeral for former Tennessee Gov. Buford Ellington and then returned to Ft. Campbell for the flight back to Washington.

Gen. Westmoreland in a brief speech to the troops said he had asked that they be assigned to Vietnam in 1965 because he knew "you were a battle-ready and a tough outfit. You didn't disappoint me."

Among those attending the ceremony were Kentucky's Lt. Gov. Julian Carroll, Rep. Frank Stubblefield, D-Ky., Sen. Howard Baker, D-Tenn., and Tennessee's Gov. Winfield Dunn.

Another visitor was Mrs. William C. Lee, widow of the first commander of the Screaming Eagles and known as the "father of the United States airborne."

Mrs. Lee, brought here from Dunn, N. C. in a military aircraft, said "it was a most impressive day. My husband would have been proud to have been here."

Impure Cookies

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration is seeking a court order to enjoin production at the Sunshine Biscuit Co. here until equipment is cleaned and the manufacturing process revised.

The FDA said Thursday the U.S. District Court action was taken because it had found potentially dangerous levels of an insecticide in cookies and breakfast cereal made at the plant.

The court also was asked to order all contaminated stocks destroyed.

The FDA checked the Dayton plant after the chemical, ronnel, showed up in random tests at the company's Kansas City plant.

The chemical was found in Toy Cookies, Shredded Wheat breakfast cereal and cracker meal at the Dayton plant, the FDA said, but not in the raw products used in the manufacturing process.

Farmville Presenting 'Bright Leaf Saga'

FARMVILLE—"Bright Leaf Saga", Farmville's Centennial the work that went into such a spectacular, is evidence of smalltown pride, enthusiasm, and willingness to work together.

The extravanga, presented by the Farmville Centennial Corporation and directed by the Rogers Company representative Robert McCrary, boasts a cast of over 300 local persons. The press was invited to view a dress rehearsal last night.

There's lots of dancing, some humor, and very effective narrating, with more than a little moralizing at the end. It's the Yankee Doodle effect you'd expect. The one disappointment to this viewer is that more local history was not worked in. The stylized account of events from the antebellum days when the town was founded to the present is done in the light of national events. Sure Farmville had an interest and a part in these, but they also had some very interesting happenings and personages all their own that could have dealt with. Although a serious drama of the "Lost Colony" magnitude is not to be expected, some serious attention to the history provided in the Farmville's 100th Anniversary booklet being sold this week could have made the saga a more effective one.

It's all fun, however.

A graduate of Farmville High School, Allen has attended a number of military schools and completed two courses in the School of Public Health administered by the university of North Carolina.

"I'm looking forward to working as director of the Public Works Department," Allen commented. "I like dealing with the public, and I like outdoor work. I think there's a great future in this city, and the way its growing."

C. K. (Ken) Beatty, whom Allen is succeeding, will continue working with the city on a part time capacity, according to the city manager.

Annual salaries for the two new city officials are $8,200 for Harris, 90 per cent of which is subsidized by the federal Emergency Employment Act, and $11,136 for Allen.

Duke Handcuffs East Carolina By 4-0

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

DURHAM — Duke University's Craig Buschman handcuffed East Carolina University's batters on five hits and didn't allow them a run as Duke took advantage of Pirate mistakes to post a 4-0 victory yesterday.

The win gained revenge for an earlier loss pinned on the Blue Devils by the Pirates in Greenville. It also dropped the Pirate record to 7-3 overall.

The Bucs open their quest for another Southern Conference championship on Saturday night at 7:30 p.m. when they entertain Furman University. It will be the first league meeting for the Bucs and the first of six during the coming week.

Steve Herring, who was tagged with the loss, pitched a fine, although inconsistent game, for the Pirates. Through the first five innings, he had allowed the Blue Devils only a lone hit, but they had gotten an unearned run off him during a shaky first inning.

Duke came up with two more in the sixth, putting together three hits, when they added another unearned run in the seventh. Glenn Forbes hurled the final inning for the Pirates, giving up one questionable hit, while striking out two.

Coach Earl Smith juggled his lineup in the game, giving a number of new faces a chance at the action. Three of the starters, including Herring, were freshman. The other two were second baseman Buddy Ward and first baseman Ron Staggs.

Only four times in the game did the Pirates threaten by moving men as far as second. They never reached third. The first, and perhaps best threat came in the third when Rich McMahon, who captured two of the five Pirate hits, opened the frame with a double. But the next three went down in order without advancing him.

In the fifth, he singled to reach and was safe at second when a steal attempt resulted in an error. In the sixth, Ralph Lamm reached on a fielder's choice and stole second. Then, in the seventh, Staggs singled and took second on a wild pitch. But in each case, the runners got no help from their teammates at the plate and died there.

Duke pushed over its first run in the first inning. With two away, Dan Phelan drew a walk. Then, John Poff worked up a full count. The next two balls were in the strike zone, but catcher McMahon failed to hold a foul-tick, and then dropped a pop-up. Herring then lost him to a walk, putting two on.

The next two batters also walked, Bill Furbush and John Johnston, bringing in Phelan with the first Blue Devil run.

Duke again threatened in the second. Buschman got the first hit off Herring, a smash through the middle. Bo Bochow, his courtsey runner, stole both second and third, but got no further.

In the fourth, another mild threat was made by the Blue Devils. Steve Warner walked and was sacrificed to second, but died there.

Finally, in the sixth, Duke came up with two more runs. With one out, George Barr singled to left, only the second hit off Herring. He was sacrificed up, and then Buschman hit a slow roller toward second base. Ward, over to make the play, kicked the ball, and it rolled behind both shortstop Mike Bradshaw and third baseman Ralph Lamm. By the time it could be retrieved, Barr had raced from second to score. Bochow again running for Buschman, stole second and scored after Dick Bersin walked and Jim Thompson singled to center. That made it 3-0.

The final Duke run came in the seventh inning. With two away, John Johnston singled to center. Then, Barr hit a pop-fly to behind first base. Both Staggs and Ron Leggett went after it, and Leggett finally called Staggs off, but apparently took his eye off the ball and missed it. Johnston, who had been off and running on the play, rounded third as Leggett picked up the ball and fired it home. Johnston slide in as McMahon appeared to make the tag, but the umpire signaled him safe, giving Duke its fourth run.

The Blue Devils got one more chance in the eighth. Bersin hit a grounder to short, but the throw was wide of the bag. Staggs, spinning to try for the tag, just missed, but the scorer credited Bersin with a single, the lone hit off Forbes.

Following the Furman game Saturday night, the Pirates play a doubleheader with The Citadel on Monday, a single game with William & Mary on Wednesday, and a pair with Davidson on Saturday, all at Harrington Field.

Robersonville Rolls By Bath

ROBERSONVILLE — Robersonville High School outlasted Bath yesterday, 15-8, in a non-league meeting between the two.

Robersonville built up a strong lead, however, before Bath really put on a late inning rally that pulled them back into range.

Robersonville took the lead in the first inning, scoring a pair of runs. Ed Warren, Loyal Corey, and Phil James each drew walks. Sammy Mobley reached on an error, scoring Warren. Matt Wilson then hit a sacrifice fly, driving in Corey for a 2-0 lead.

Bath came up with a run in the second, but five by Robersonville in the third put it out of reach. James opened the third half with a triple and scored when Mobley singled. Wilson reached on an error and stole second. Larry Jackson doubled, driving in both Modley and Wilson. Mike Matthews singled to score

Jackson, and an error on the play let Matthews come all the way around with the fifth run. That left the Eagles in a 7-1 lead.

After Bath had scored two more in the fourth, Robersonville added four more. Corey, James and Mobley each drew walks and Jackson singled to score Corey and James. Matthews walked to reload the bases and Jimmy Stalls singled in Mobley but Jackson was thrown out. Ed Warren and Ricky Brown both walked and that brought in Matthews with the final run.

Robersonville added two runs in the fifth and two more in the sixth. Bath put on one more rally in the seventh, scoring five runs, but the Eagles cut them down in plenty of time to win it.

Robersonville is now 3-1 overall.

Here we are. Right back where we started from.

We crawled out of the sea and it looks like we're crawling right back again. Half the world's known oil, huge mineral deposits and tomorrow's dinner are down there.

It isn't easy to go to work underwater. There's a lot of pressure. At only 200 feet with compressed air you feel like a senseless drunk. Go deeper and it can kill you. Union Carbide's Ocean Systems, Inc. has developed a helium oxygen mixture that allows divers to do a job even below 600 feet. We're experimenting with other gas mixtures to eliminate the squeaky duck-like voice that hampers underwater talk.

We designed and operate habitats that allow men to swim in for a little coffee break 600 feet under. And then go back to work without wasting time with decom-pression until the return trip home.

Ocean Systems has a lot of men under a lot of water a lot of the time. And not just fishing around. But working on practical jobs.

We have divers assisting in oil exploration off the coast of four continents, welding pipelines at the mouth of the Mississippi, inspecting cables sitting on the ocean floor.

We've even devised an underwater dry welding process that's as effective as welding on dry land.

The world knows more about the back of the moon than about the bottom of the sea. But if we can help put a man a quarter of a million miles away, we're not going to let a little water keep us up.

Good honest bourbon at a good honest price.

You don't really get more bourbon in a bottle of J. W. Dant. It just tastes that way. After 137 years of bourbon making, that's the only way we'd have it. Only the best Kentucky bourbon at a good honest price gets our name.

Rampants Edge By Bertie, 7-5

Rose High School spotted Bertie a 3-0 lead then stormed back to take a 7-5 victory over the Falcons and remain unbeaten yesterday.

The game was a makeup of an earlier rained-out contest.

With the victory, the Rampant record went to 10 for the year. They travel to Tarboro today for their final non-conference contest prior to the opening of Division II play next week.

The Rampants fell behind Bertie in the first inning as the Falcons pushed over two runs, then added another in the second. Then, in the third, Rose rallied to push over five runs and take the lead for good.

They had to scramble, however, to cut off a seventh inning rally by the Falcons that closed the gap to the final two-run margin. And then only a bases-loaded double play kept them from come any closer.

Bertie outthit the usually hard-hitting Rampants, who were making their first start since March 20, 7-6. Robbie Cox picked up two of the hits, the only Rampant with more than one. His bat helped account for four of the Rampant runs. He drove in three and scored one himself. Bertie opened up the scoring in the first inning. Tommy Davis reached on a fielder's choice that picked off Marshall Williford, who had reached on a single. Wayne Dawson walked as did Kent Williford. Allen White drew another walk off Stanley Cobb, and that forced in Davis. Cobb then hit Davis Summer, scoring Dawson with the second run.

Bertie added another in the second for a 3-0 lead. Tommy Sallenger singled and moved up on a wild pitch. Marshall Williford singled to left, scoring him.

The Rampants then came storming back in the bottom of the inning to take the lead and never let it go.

Cobb led off with a walk and came around on Randy McKinney's triple to left. Derek Dunn walked and Larry Dixon hit a sacrifice fly to left, scoring McKinney after the catch. Jim McDermott then singled and Robbie Cox followed with a double to right-center, driving in Dunn. J.C. Daniels finished it off with a ringing triple to right-center, and that scored both McDermott and Cox, pushing the Rampants into a 5-3 lead.

Bertie got off a mild threat in the third when two men reached with two away, but the Rampants choked it off.

They came back in the bottom of the third to add two more runs and they proved to be the winning margin. McKinney was hit by a pitch as was Dunn. Both advanced on a wild pitch and Dixon walked. Then, with two away, Cox unlimbered his bat again, cracked out his second double, and that brought in both McKinney and Dunn for a 7-3 lead.

Rose offered only two more threats the rest of the way. Dixon reached on a single in the fifth and moved around to third on a steal and a wild pitch. Cox reached on an error in the sixth and stole both second and third, but both runners died there.

Bertie came up with a run in the fifth to trim the margin to 7-4. Dawson singled to center and moved all the way to third when the ball got through centerfield. Kent Williford then singled to drive him across.

The final inning nearly brought on heart-failure to the Rampants as Bertie threatened to pull out the win. Marshall Williford led off with a walk and moved up on a wild pitch. With one out, Dawson singled to left, scoring him, making it 7-5. But the action wasn't over.

Two walks, to Kent Williford and White, loaded the bases, but the Rampants managed to pull off a couple play and get out of the frame with their victory intact.

Following today's game with Tarboro, the Rampants move into league play. They play host to Rocky Mount on Tuesday, travel to Wilson on Friday and then go to visit Bertie on Saturday evening.

Old Sam Still Rolling Along

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — At 59, an age when many men are dreaming of Social Security checks and a rocking chair in the shade, Sam Snead is trying to win another Masters Golf Championship.

"The guy is incredible—he thinks he's 20 years old," commented Bill Campbell, the former Walker Cup captain from Huntington, West Va., after his neighbor shook up the game's new breed with a three-under-par 69 Thursday for an opening salvo over the Augusta National Course.

The score put the old bald eagle from the Virginia Hills just one shot back of the pace-setting tournament favorite, Jack Nicklaus, who had to pick up six shots on a stretch of six finishing holes for a 68, and one ahead of the revitalized Arnold Palmer, who peered through new contact lenses for a 70.

It's been a long time since this sports spectacle produced such a glamorous package at the head of the pack, and the famed course that the late Bob Jones built is quivering with excitement.

No one electrified the imagination like the honey-swinging hillbilly of another age, Slammin' Sammy, his bald head hidden by a familiar coconut straw, his once paunchy frame trimmed to a tough 185 pounds and his thinking geared to modern times.

"I play softer shots now," Snead said, in explaining his renewed lease on golfing life. "I never try to overpower the ball any more. When you try to swing too hard, something always goes wrong."

Snead said he also had adopted the modern technique of stepping off the course and fixing markers in order to take the guess work out of shots.

"I used to just put the ball down and hit it and measure the yardage by instinct," he added. "Now I mark the course off. I know exactly where the green is.

"If I'm hitting into the wind I add 15 yards. When I'm going with the wind, I take off 15 yards. I'm not like one guy I played with who kept throwing up grass but never looking at it. I said, 'Hey, man, what are you doing?' He said, 'I don't know. I see all the pros throwing up grass, so I thought I would, too.'"

Snead, winner of three Masters and more than 140 tournaments in a career dating back 35 years, is not being taken lightly by the two younger men who flank him going into Friday's second round.

"Surprised at Snead?" Nicklaus, 32, repeated a question. "I'm never surprised to see Sam anywhere. He is capable of winning a tournament every time he tees up the ball."

Palmer was asked how he viewed the super star structure at the head of the 84-man field. "It's not a bad idea," the 42-year-old Palmer, who built his legend largely by winning four Masters titles with dramatic finishes, replied. "I kinda like it, but I'd like to reverse the lead."

Palmer, who hasn't won a major title since the 1964 Masters, said he was satisfied with his 70 but added: "I drove only fair and my irons weren't sharp."

Nicklaus said he actually played two rounds—the first two holes after which he was two over par and then the next six in which he had four birdies and an eagle, sinking putts of 25, 28 and 30 feet, the last for his eagle on the 520-yard 15th.

Behind the three leaders, the only other players to break par over the 6,980-yard, par 72 course, came gray-haired, 42-year-old Paul Harney and amateur Jim Simons, with 71.

There were many disasters. Defending champion Charles Coody sank a five-iron shot at the 190-yard sixth for a hole-in-one and apparently became too flustered as he took a triple bogey seven on the next hole.

What ham did for Virginia, Old Crow did for Bourbon.

Even before Virginia's George Washington became President, Virginia was famous for the good taste of her country hams. Not long after, the good taste of Old Crow made Bourbon famous.

Before 1835, Bourbon was made every which way. That year, Dr. James Crow took it out of the hit-or-miss league and created the process that gave Bourbon its mellow taste — and good name: Old Crow.

TRANS EUROP EXPRESS

Even in the age of jumbo jets, Europe's famous crack trains are competing successfully with the airlines in their hold on passengers' loyalty—and imagination. For example, there's the elegant Trans Europ Express whose trains race through eight European countries connecting over 100 cities. TEE's 24 lines of all high-speed, first-class trains total nearly 10,000 miles and form a hexagon with Amsterdam, Hamburg, Munich, Genoa, Marseilles and Paris as the corner points. During summer the TEE trains are booked to 100 per cent occupancy, and even in winter to 40 to 45 per cent. Like the old Orient Express, the TEE symbol has come to stand for speed, luxury, prestige—even international mystery and intrigue at least enough for one of the trains to figure prominently in a James Bond movie. The Iron Horse may be as dead as the dodo in American passenger travel, but it's still hanging in there in other parts of the world.

International phone and cable lines keep business humming, too.

Crack European expresses urbanelly combine old-style comfort and new-style speed—with a dashing cosmopolitan air.

Study Problem Areas In Coordination Planning

WILLIAMSTON — Members of the Williamston Town Board are taking under advisement six problem areas in a study to be coordinated with Haywood Harris, Executive Director of the Martin County Community Action association.

Town Clerk J. B. Godwin, reporting on the town meeting held Wednesday night, said that the six problem areas under advisement are education, manpower, health, social services, housing, and economic development. The town board members will analyze the six areas and provide a report to Harris for coordination in these fields.

At the April meeting, approval was granted to J. E. Griffin for the dedication of a new street to be called Haines Street and for an extension of Roberson Street, located in a development northwest of Williamston.

Board members voted not to accept an appeal by O. B. Roberson of Robersonville, owner of a rental house on Broad Street in Williamston. In February, the town board voted to condemn the property unless the owner brought it up to standards "fit for human habitation." By virtue of not accepting Roberson's appeal, action will be taken to demolish the dwelling.

Also approved was a request to rezone from R-15 residential to neighborhood commercial one lot 160 by 100 feet along U.S. 17 south adjoining the corner of Country Club Drive. The lot is to be used as the site of an office building.

In a second rezoning action at which no opposition developed, members approved rezoning from unoffensive industrial to R-6 residential an area bounded by Sycamore Street to Washington, down Andrews and back to the Atlantic Coast Line railroad.

An ordinance that will prohibit parking on the west side of Houghton Street to Church Street was also approved by the board at last night's meeting.

Four applicants for a taxi license were considered, and approval granted to two applicants — Vandy Griffin and

An adding machine performs accurately for anyone who uses it correctly. Each person may record a different column of figures. Answers will vary accordingly but each will be correct.

Life also registers what we give it . . . produces results correspondingly. Sometimes we are so harried and hurried with whirling activities we forget to include worship.

When we do clear our minds for understanding and prayer with God, good results follow.

The Church has accurate answers for modern problems. Let it help you find correct solutions.

The Worry Clinic

Ancient Taboo

Now Debatable

Anne is a college coed who faces a widespread sexual crisis. Notice what Dr. Dunlap said about this type of sexual union! He shocked people by his liberal sex advice but see what you think of the logic behind his suggestion. How would you advise Anne?

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D. M.D.
Case T-545: Anne J., aged 21, faces a sex taboo.
"Dr. Crane," she moaned, "something terrible has just happened to me!"
"I am engaged to be married to a wonderful man whom I met last fall at a football game."
"We have dated ever since and are madly in love."
"But now I have just learned that we are second cousins!

"So my parents feel I should break off our engagement."
"What is your advice for you are both a psychologist and physician?"
Incest Taboo
Ever since Moses, the Bible has vetoed marriage between those who are closely akin.
Yet verneable Abraham married his own half sister.
And Jacob married his first cousins.
Moses himself was the offspring of aunt and nephew.
And Lot's two daughters, fearing they would be "old maids" because of their secret dwelling in a cave in a foreign county thus conived to seduce their own father.

So they go Lot drunk and then took turns mating with him until they conceived and bore sons to their own father.
Lot thus simultaneously became father of his own sons and grandsons!
So why did this ancient taboo ever arise against incestuous matings?
Well, our ancestors realized that by such inbreeding, we can accentuate the hereditary traits of the two parents.
They may both be normal, healthy specimens, yet be carrying such recessive characters as feeble-mindedness, diabetes, deafness, etc.
Thus, maybe one out of every 4 of their offspring, may be born deaf, diabetic, feeble-minded, etc.
By the same token, however, the parental good traits may also be just as firmly entrenched

He recommended intensive inbreeding as of marriage between father and daughter or brother and sister.

For this, he argued, would suddenly bring all those latent recessive traits out into the open.
Then, by institutionalizing the obvious feeble-minded or sterilizing them, Dr. Dunlap said we could soon rid mankind's eugenical stream of those defective genes.
In most of our states there are laws, however, against the marriage even of first cousins.

But when Anne and I went back over the direct ancestry of herself and her fiancé for the past 4 generations, we found no evidence of any defects.
So I told her she need not fear handicapped offspring by such a union.
In fact, it is eugenically safe to marry close relatives of good stock than to pick mates of random lineage where submerged recessive traits may still be present.
Cigarettes and other drugs are probably producing far more defective offspring than would happen by widespread intermarriage of our good stock.
For 250,000 defective babies were reported born last year! Why?
So send for my booklet "How To Break the Tobacco and Liquor Habits," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.
(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope, and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Five Pitt County women have been appointed to head the Pitt County staff of Mrs. Margaret Harper, North Carolina's only woman candidate for lieutenant governor.

Jail Brutality Probe Underway

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — A State Bureau of Investigation probe is under way into charges of alleged brutality at the New Hanover County Jail.
Special Agent Curtis Register is heading the probe, which was ordered Tuesday by Chief District Judge Gilbert Burnett. Attorneys for black activist Ben Chavis and 10 others arrested on charges growing out of racial violence in Wilmington protested that their clients had been mistreated.
The attorneys said the prisoners were sprayed with chemical Mace without provocation last Thursday night. Sheriff Marion Mills said Mace was used but only to quell an outburst of violence during which prisoners set fire to mattresses and blankets and flooded the cells.

A hold up play—somewhat off the beaten track—was an essential ingredient to the taking of nine tricks by South in his three no trump contract today.
West opened the seven of hearts, East played the ten and South won the trick with the jack. Declarer could count eight top tricks—three spades, three diamonds, and two hearts. The ninth would have to come from the club suit, so he led the nine of clubs at trick two. West played the six and East was in with the king. He returned the deuce of hearts and West topped South's six with the eight and led back the king to dislodge the ace.
Observe the effect of permitting East to win the first trick with the ten of hearts. He will presumably return the suit and South plays the nine which loses to West's queen. The latter cannot return the suit without surrendering a trick to declarer's jack. Since his only remaining entry is the ace of clubs, there is no way for West to ever cash his long card in hearts. When East gets in with the king of clubs, he does not have a heart to return and South is assured of setting up dummy's club suit, while limiting the defenders to two tricks each in hearts and clubs.

O'Brien Sees 'Anti-Establishment Vote' Evidence

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
AP Political Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien says the Wisconsin primary produced a massive anti-establishment vote that could shock President Nixon when he hits the campaign trail later this year.

"That is the story of Wisconsin," O'Brien said in an interview as he surveyed the 52 percent of the state's vote that went to Sen. George S. McGovern, the winner, and to Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace.

"It is anti-establishment and that's across the board," O'Brien added. "I've been talking for some time about the challenge to the system itself, and here it is."

The other thing Wisconsin shows, the Democratic chairman said, is "the broad base of McGovern support" across the state. "You can't put that down as some sort of aberration."

O'Brien, pledging strict neutrality as he concentrates on arrangements for the Democratic National Convention, said the presidential race is "a totally open situation" at this point.

"This is so open at this time," he added, "that it could well remain this way right up to the opening of the convention."

O'Brien sees developments in the Democratic race so far as a justification of the party's decision to reform its procedures and open up the nominating process, despite the perils this poses to party unity.

Noting Wallace's campaign plea to "send them a message," O'Brien said: "They're sending us a message and thank God there was some anticipation of this message."

"There has been a growing disenchantment with the political process for some time," he went on. "All you have to do is look at the registration figures" showing an increase in the number of voters who consider themselves independents, rather than Democrats or Republicans.

This is also reflected in the complaint of many Americans that the two parties don't offer a choice, O'Brien said.

He added this makes it imperative for the Democrats to wage a positive, constructive campaign this year instead of merely relying on criticism of President Nixon.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, meanwhile, spent Thursday in Philadelphia where he courted labor leaders for their support in the Keystone State's April 25 primary. He talked with labor leaders in a downtown hotel, telling them he admired the tenacity of Gov. Milton J. Shapp's backing of Muskie.

"Gov. Shapp's stand," the Minnesota Democrat said, "is strong and continuous and I respect that." Humphrey has called Pennsylvania "my key-stone state."

Only a few blocks away, Shapp, a maverick Democrat who has a history of bucking state party leaders, told newsmen not to count Muskie out.

"If you look at the six states that have had primaries, you'll find that Muskie has won four. Even Jack Nicklaus doesn't win every golf tournament he enters."

Muskie will visit Pittsburgh today where he will meet with Shapp. The Maine senator also is scheduled to visit the state capital, Harrisburg.

Another Democratic presidential contender, Washington Sen. Henry "Scoop" Jackson brings his campaign to Cleveland and Columbus, Ohio, today in an attempt to win support in that state's May 2 primary.

Ohio's chairman for McGovern, however, predicted that Jackson is out of the race and it has narrowed down to McGovern, Muskie and Humphrey.

Keith Thompson said the South Dakotan would "win a substantial portion of the Ohio delegation" of 122 in the Buckeye primary.

Cost-Of-Living Pay Hike Is NCEA Goal

GREENSBORO (AP) — Dr. Craig Phillips, North Carolina superintendent of public instruction, says the state Board of Education will recommend cost-of-living salary increases for teachers in the next budget.

He told the opening session of the annual convention of the North Carolina Association of Educators Thursday night that other recommendations will be more time to teach, more instructional materials, additional personnel, and increased occupational education.

The proposals will be made to the state Advisory Budget Committee early next year.

In an apparent allusion to efforts of the American Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, to organize teachers in North Carolina, Phillips said:

"More and more with the growth of other organizations contending for memberships outside of this profession, it has become more incumbent on those who lead our organization to speak more loudly, more eloquently, and more clearly than ever to the concerns and needs of those who teach, those who supervise, who administer in the schools of this state."

Rep. Shirley Chisholm of New York, a candidate for Democratic nomination for president, is to address the final general session tonight.

A meeting this forenoon was concerned with proposed amendments to NCEA constitution that proposed changes in internal organization.

The NCEA presented School Bell awards Thursday night to newspapers and radio and television stations for outstanding coverage of education during 1971.

Sets All-Beethoven Program On Sunday

An all-Beethoven program is being featured on Sunday as pianist Grant Johannesen appears as soloist with the East Carolina Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Dr. Robert Hause.

The concert, at 3:15 p.m. in Wright Auditorium, is one of few instances of music events on campus for which admission is being charged. Tickets, now available at the Central Ticket Office, are 50 cents for students and $1.00 for adults. Holders of ECU Artists Series Patrons are admitted free by showing their season tickets.

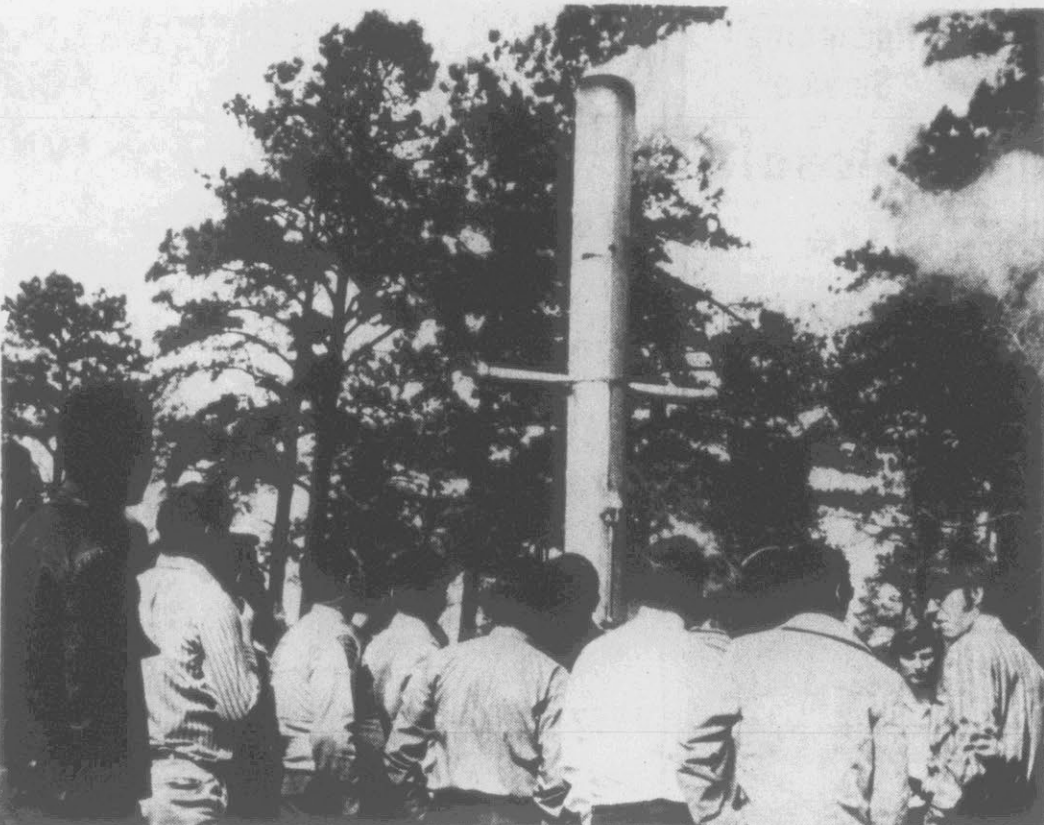

On the all-Beethoven program the orchestra will play "Symphony No. 7 in A Major," with Johannesen featured as soloist in the performance of "Piano Concerto No. 4 in G Major."

This marks the second successive year that one of the world's leading concert artists will appear as soloist with the ECU Symphony Orchestra's spring concert. In each instance, the artist performing with the orchestra also appeared in recital as part of the ECU Artists series. Johannesen performed Thursday night at Wright Auditorium at 8:15 p.m.

Grant Johannesen has an enviable record as a concert artist, having performed several times each with a number of the world's leading symphony orchestras both in the U.S. and throughout the world. He was also the most frequently featured soloist with the Bell Telephone Hour, a popular concert program that ran for several years.

In addition to his recital tonight and the Sunday appearance, Johannesen is conducting a master class on Friday at the School of Music.

"I am thrilled by the chance to work with Grant Johannesen in the Beethoven 'Fourth Piano Concerto,'" Dr. Hause commented. "I hope that every music lover in our area will avail themselves of the opportunity to hear this great artist."
