

ABE LINCOLN? — The resemblance caused comment by everyone who saw Jay Brumbelee who came out for the beard-judging Wednesday. (Reflector Photo)

Centennial's Fun Is Ended

FARMVILLE — Rain ushered out Farmville's Centennial Week yesterday, but it did not dampen spirits here.

It was Men's Day and many whiskered gentlemen turned out at J. Y. Monk Park for beard judging, log sawing, horseshoe throwing, and checkers. The beard judging was quite involved, with three judges, two local barbers, Chester Outland and James Taylor, and an out-of-town lady, a Mrs. Davenport of Emerald Isle, judging beards on a point system.

The winners were as follows with first, second, and third in order: Best full beard — Dr. Charles Fitzgerald, Dr. Bert Warren, and James Jones. Best Abe Lincoln beard — Jay Brumbelee, James Kilpatrick, and Hugh Farrior. Most comical beard — Tammy Tucker, Marvin Jones, and Bob McGaughey. Most Colorful — Bill Brady (bright red) George Allen, and James Lewis. Most Pointed Goatee — Arch Flanagan and Tommy Bullock. Best Van Dyke Beard — Alex Allen, Jennis Harper, and Bob Smith. Best muttonchops — George Beckman. Dressediest-looking Beard — Jack Yelverton, Donnie Carraway, and Andy Martin Jr.

Dr. Fitzgerald walked away with two blue ribbons, because besides having the best full beard, he won the checkers competition. Linwood Cobb won the horseshoe contest, with I. Z. Cobb coming in second.

As the Men's Day activities were ending, the auction at the National Guard Armory was beginning. Many would-be bidders were somewhat disgruntled because it soon became apparent that only those who had a thousand or so Centennial dollars had a chance in the bidding. Items like a lamp, a fishing rod, and a radio went for 1600 to 2,000 dollars. The "dollars" were those given out by local merchants for about the last month for every real dollar spent with them.

After the auction, the time capsule to be opened 25 years from now was buried in J. Y. Monk Park. In it mementoes of the Centennial and some families' legacies to their children were placed. A barbecue and fish supper at the Armory wound up the week's activities, except for the shaving and putting away of pantaloons and hoop skirts that must have gone on in many a Farmville home last night.

YOUNG VICTIM
CHARLOTTE (AP)—Police reported that five-year-old Gerald McIlwain died Wednesday of an accidental pistol wound in the chest. He had found the pistol between cushions of a couch.

SAIGON (AP) — Thousands of North Vietnamese troops stormed An Loc with tanks at dawn today and by late afternoon had taken half of the provincial capital 60 miles north of Saigon, field reports said.

Heavy fighting raged in the streets at dusk, according to the reports.

Official reports reaching Saigon late today said the northern half of the town was in North Vietnamese hands and tanks had taken over the airfield.

Some reports said the 12,000 South Vietnamese troops in the town were rallying under the cover of hundreds of American air strikes. Field reports said the North Vietnamese had lost 34 armored vehicles.

It was the first time in the 15-day-old Communist offensive that the enemy had been able to drive into a provincial capital. President Nguyen Van Thieu ordered the defenders to hold at all cost.

Field reports said an armored column sliced into An Loc from the northeast and infantrymen from the north in a two-prong drive. The town is divided by Highway 13, with the newer portion and airfield on the north and the old section and provincial headquarters on the south.

The biggest gunship the U.S. Air Force has, the four-engine AC130, attacked the advancing troops. American jet fighter-bombers pounded the armored column. The American planes braved heavy anti-aircraft fire, but none was reported shot down.

Field reports said the seven of the armored vehicles destroyed were Soviet T54 tanks, the most powerful the North Vietnamese have.

Several of the armored vehicles blasted their way into the city before they were knocked out.

South Vietnamese officers claimed 200 North Vietnamese had been killed.

Incomplete reports said 15 to 20 South Vietnamese soldiers were killed and about 30 were wounded.

South Vietnamese rangers were reported in heavy, close combat with enemy forces a mile east of An Loc.

Elsewhere in the war, the North Vietnamese shelled four U.S. bases along the central and northern coast and the

Nominee Said In 'Trouble'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some Senate Democrats say the nomination of Richard G. Kleindienst to be attorney general may be in trouble because the White House won't permit staffer Peter Flanagan to testify in the controversy surrounding International Telephone & Telegraph Corp.

The latest to join the growing opposition to the nomination is Sen. Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia, the assistant Democratic leader and a member of the committee.

Sources close to Byrd said Wednesday he would vote against Kleindienst unless Flanagan testifies in the Judiciary Committee on his role in the out-of-court settlement of three antitrust suits against ITT, one of the biggest corporations in the United States.

Byrd told newsmen he would be influenced by either Flanagan's refusal to appear before the committee or the refusal of his superiors to let him testify.

John W. Dean III, counsel to President Nixon, in a letter to the committee released Wednesday, said the White House was refusing an informal telephone request for Flanagan to appear.

Subsequently, the committee rejected four Democratic efforts to have Flanagan, Nixon's liaison with the business community, called to testify.

Long Road Of Enforced Quiet

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson faces a long road of enforced quiet as he recuperates from a major heart attack, but doctors indicate he may be able to return to a fairly active life.

"I expect him to recuperate and convalesce in a very satisfactory fashion and I am very optimistic about the outcome," his attending physician, Army Col. Robert L. North, said Wednesday.

Johnson, 63, flew to Brooke Army General Hospital Wednesday after suffering a heart attack last Friday in Charlottesville, Va.

There was no indication when he will be discharged.

33-MILE BARRIER
SEOUL (AP)—North Korea has built a barrier nearly 33 miles long inside the Korean demilitarized zone in violation of the 1953 armistice agreement, a U. S. Army general charged today.

coastal city of Qui Nhon, 275 miles northeast of Saigon. A rocket attack on the Da Nang air base killed 14 Vietnamese civilians, wounded 11 American servicemen and 25 Vietnamese civilians, destroyed an American plane and damaged nine U.S. and South Vietnamese aircraft. Another American was killed and two were wounded in other attacks.

The United States sent its B52 bombers deeper into North Vietnam than ever before to attack the Bai Thuong MIG air base 150 miles northwest of the demilitarized zone plus fuel and supply depots. Radio Hanoi claimed that four U.S. planes were shot down, including a B52, but informants in Saigon said no U.S. planes were lost.

The fall of An Loc would have a major political impact on the Saigon government because of its proximity to the metropolis. Two district towns to the north and northeast of An Loc were lost earlier, but they were not considered militarily or politically important.

The North Vietnamese were reported to have ringed the town with anti-aircraft guns to use against the allied fighter-bombers.

U.S. B52s made heavy strikes for two days within one and two miles of An Loc but apparently failed to dislodge elements of two and possibly three North Vietnamese divisions besieging the town since last week. The enemy strength in the area is estimated at 30,000 troops.

A relief column led by tanks and armored personnel carriers from Saigon was pinned down for the third day about 13 miles south of An Loc.

Associated Press correspondent Lynn C. Newland reported the column was in heavy contact with North Vietnamese troops two miles north of Chon Thanh, another district town.

On the northern front, Fire Base Bastogne was reported still after three days of siege. It is 12 miles southwest of Hue on the most likely invasion route to the former imperial capital.

CRISIS BATTLE—A critical battle is developing at An Loc, 60 miles north of Saigon, where tank-led North Vietnamese infantry stormed into the town. A South Vietnamese relief column was pinned down for the third day two miles north of Chon Thanh. U.S. B52 bombers have attacked the North Vietnamese around An Loc but the town is said ringed with anti-aircraft guns to use against allied fighter-bombers. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Told Deaths 'Approved'

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP) — Annette Gilly, confessed participant in the 1969 murders of United Mine Workers insurgent Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski and his wife and daughter, said today she was told "the union" was behind the killings.

"My father told me that the Yablonski murders had the approval of the 'big man,'" Mrs. Gilly said in a lengthy statement detailing her knowledge of the killings that was read in Washington County Court.

"To me that meant Tony Boyle, president, United Mine Workers," the blonde, 31-year-old Cleveland housewife said.

Boyle has repeatedly denied any connection with the killings.

Mrs. Gilly, who pleaded guilty to state murder and conspiracy charges here Tuesday and agreed to turn state's evidence, did not say why she interpreted the term "big man" to mean Boyle.

That was her only reference to him in the statement.

Casualty List Up

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnam's offensive sent allied casualty figures soaring last week with the U.S. Command reporting the highest American weekly toll in six months.

The weekly casualty summary said 12 Americans were killed in combat last week, 32 were wounded and 19 were missing in action. All the missing apparently were aboard aircraft lost to enemy action.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported a 73 per cent increase in casualties over the previous week with 641 government troops killed and 2,166 wounded. And enemy casualties claimed by the government increased nearly 40 per cent.

Arrest Two Men In Connection With Assault On A Coed

Pitt County Sheriff's deputies yesterday afternoon arrested two 23-year-old men in connection with the rape of an 18-year-old East Carolina University freshman early yesterday morning.

Sheriff Ralph Tyson identified the two charged in connection with the assault as Marvin E. Bryan, of Farmville and Roy T. Murphy, of Maury.

They were taken into custody about 4 p.m. charged with assaulting Donna Marie Hinton, 1402A Chestnut St. Miss Hinton's parents live in Rocky Mount.

Sheriff Tyson said Miss

Hinton, employed by an all-night restaurant, was driving home after work about 2 a.m. when she saw two men pushing a car down Tenth Street. She stopped, asked if they needed help, then drove the pair to a service station.

One of the men then got behind the wheel of the Hinton car and drove it to a spot near the Farmville sewage disposal plant — near Bryan's home — where the alleged assault occurred.

The two alleged assailants then left on foot. Miss Hinton drove back to Greenville where she reported the incident to police.

Amateur Boxing Ass'n Proposed In Greenville

An idea that could lead to a program for Greenville was introduced to the Greenville Recreation Commission at their monthly meeting on Wednesday night.

Jesse Daniels, accompanied by Tom Lawrence of Winston-

Salem, Chief of Police Glenn Cannon and City Councilman Clarence Gray, told about plans of a group interested in forming an Amateur Boxing Association in Greenville.

The formation of such an association. Councilman

William E. Dansey explained in a prefatory statement, would not be connected with the Recreation Department's programs. Dansey noted the reason the group was appearing before the Recreation Commission was to familiarize the commission with plans now being developed.

In speaking of the success of the Winston-Salem program, one that has gained national attention, Lawrence said when he first conceived the idea it did not gain immediate acceptance.

"When I first started the program I walked the streets, four to 12 miles a day, trying to get support," the big man, known in Winston-Salem as "Big Tom," remarked. "People laughed. But I knew what I wanted, what I could do with my idea," he continued, "and now I can get whatever I need for this program."

Lawrence expressed pride that "my boys, ranging in age from 8 to 46, 90 percent of them with former court convictions, were not involved, not a single one, in the riots and disturbances that swept over Winston-Salem a few years ago."

"Now," he commented, "when there's a problem, the first people the mayor and the police send for is me and my boys. We go out and we help any cause. All my boys help, black and white, we go anywhere to help keep trouble down."

The founder of the Winston-Salem program revealed that the program first began with young boys, but now encompasses older men, girls and women, anyone, young or old, rich or poor, who has a need to be part of an organization.

"We don't take sides," he said, "with the police, the troublemakers, or any one group. We're there to help everybody. It's our town."

From the initial beginning as an amateur boxing program for boys in trouble, Lawrence's program has been expanded to include a large variety of sports and technical training programs, housed in the old Winston-Salem Armory.

For the local program, Daniels revealed that a start had been made by securing a building on Albemarle Street. At this beginning stage, Daniels noted that he hopes to be able to raise $12,500 to get the program underway. Once on its feet, he noted, "we hopefully could work into a wide range program, and find sources of help."

Speaking of boxing specifically, Daniels with a lot of kids. I know that through boxing the mind becomes disciplined, and once a kid gets a taste of boxing in the ring, he doesn't want to fight on the street any more."

In his remarks, Councilman Dansey said that he had approached the Greenville Jaycees about Daniels' proposal and the Jaycees had unanimously recommended the idea. "If the Jaycees can be successful in sponsoring about ten amateur boxing matches in Greenville," Dansey commented, "they have spoken of plans to get Jaycees in surrounding towns and counties interested in forming similar matches to build up an area wide program."

The Tailored Head Returns

THE TAILORED HAIRDO is about to make a comeback, according to Helene Curtis's experts in Paris. According to them, the watchword for hair is refinement. At left, Jacques Dessange portrays his version of this look with the simplicity of a page-boy with long flowing lines. At center, he shows a version for shorter hair, which features long bangs, and gives a thick and supple feeling because of a squared-off cut. At right, Alexandre, who styles hair for some leading designers in Paris, shows a hair-do that is cut short, parted in the middle and pinned down with over-sized combs.

'Life Is Lovely' Says Carol

By RENA PEDERSON

DALLAS (UPI)—Carol Channing, like many a working mother, worries that her career takes her away from her family too much.

"I guess all career mothers feel guilty," she said, batting her 2 big brown eyes, "but I've read where the most well-adjusted children come from homes where both parents have careers and that made me feel better."

Miss Channing, 5'-9" of arms, legs, eyes and Broadway bounce, is married to television producer Charles Lowe. Their 18-year-old son, Channing Lowe, currently is studying at Williams College.

"He wants to be a writer and I'm so proud. I don't guess this has been the worst training in the world for him," Miss Channing said.

No Dishwashing

Their family life is one of suitcases and hotels—one-third of the year at the Beverly Wilshire in Hollywood, one-third at the Waldorf Astoria in New York and one-third in London.

"It's a lovely life," she said, "people are always dying to feel sorry for me, but I haven't washed a dish in years and I don't intend to."

At their suite at the Fairmont Hotel in Dallas, a copy of "Variety" dominated the coffee table, but the television and desk top were covered with family pictures.

"You see, when my family gets angry with me for being late to go to the movies, I don't have to bake them brownies or darn their socks," she said. "I just give an extra special performance and they always know. They forgive and tell me afterwards I'm not so bad after all."

The Details

Miss Channing kept her giant red hat, bolero style, tied on her blonde bouffant while she chatted and her husband worked at the desk on all the details necessary to keep her on stage, on screen, in style.

The red hat matched her red boots, and she wore a polka dot blouse and black leather gaucho pants. At 51, she still has those great legs.

"I admit I have to treat myself like a boxer in training. Exercise and diet are the important things. But every one has to find out what schedule fits with their body and stick with it," she said.

Her act at the Fairmont, a strenuous, one-woman sing-and-talk-athon, with eight costume changes, broke her old attendance records at the hotel.

Her show is a combination of all the things that made her famous: "Diamonds Are A Girl's Best Friend," and "I'm Just A Little Girl from Little Rock" from "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes"... "Hello Dolly"... a show-biz medley of old tunes like "Ain't Misbehavin'" ... plus her famous imitations of Marlene Dietrich, Carmen Miranda and Cecilia Sission.

Careers Mesh

"If I could have any wish in the world, it would be to keep on performing," she said and she blinked those three-inch false eyelashes to show she meant it.

"I'm terribly lucky my husband is gifted as a producer-organizer and I'm gifted as a performer and our child likes both of us. That way my career meshes with the family instead of tearing it apart."

Right now, her whirlwind, three-ring career includes upcoming television performances on "Laugh-In," "The Flip Wilson Show," "The Dick Van Dyke Show." And then there's that musical David Merrick is working up for her in New York, and another play being scripted for her in London, and a possible sequel to "Thoroughly Modern Millie" and maybe a movie version of Thornton Wilder's "The Skin of Our Teeth."

"The thing I'm the most excited about is an album of country western music we're working on. I can feel the music right down to my toes. And besides, my son wants me to do it," she said.

Club Members Hear Program By Dr. Cramer

"Through N.C. With Slides" was the program topic for the monthly luncheon meeting of the Welcome Wagon Club of Greenville on Tuesday.

A member of the ECU Department of Geography, Dr. Robert Cramer was the guest speaker. In addition to slides representing the farming, business and industrial sites around the state, he showed scenes of the coastal area, the Piedmont and mountains of the state.

Many vacation spots and historical sites were also shown.

During the business session, officers for the coming year were elected. Plans were announced by Mrs. Rolf Kannen for a trip by the Gad-Abouts Group to Tryon Palace, New Bern.

Mrs. John Huber, president, informed the club that beginning with the May luncheon, a bridge party would precede each of the luncheons. She reminded the members of the Spring Fling dinner-dance on Friday April at the Candlewick Inn.

Mrs. Stroud Gives Program

Mrs. L. A. Stroud was the speaker for the meeting of the Fine Arts Department of the Woman's Club Tuesday afternoon. Her program topic was "The Bible as Literature."

Mrs. W. E. Avery, vice chairman, conducted the meeting. Mrs. Delphia Corbett announced that Susie Hill won third place in vocal music at the State Fine Arts Festival held in Raleigh.

Art selections on display for the month were a painting by Catherine Garrett "After Audubon" and Jim Deal's "Pottery."

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. I. L. Alexander, Mrs. Helen Snyder, Miss Nettie Brogdon, Mrs. R. L. Humber and Mrs. Nancy Willard.

Card Party Set For Wednesday

The Greenville Woman's Club will sponsor a bridge and canasta party on Wednesday, April 19, at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m.

Tickets, priced at $1.00, may be purchased from club members or purchased at the door. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. J. E. Ricks, 758-4025, Mrs. Ann Phillips, 756-2011, or Mrs. L. L. Rivers, 752-3019.

Who Should Take Care Of Mother?

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I would like to know who is responsible for the care and entertainment of an elderly mother who lives alone and has no hobbies or interests.

There are five of us children, all married and living in the area. I feel that the responsibility should be shared equally among the two sons and three daughters. My brothers feel that a mother is the responsibility of her daughters. What would you suggest I do about this situation?

TROUBLED DAUGHTER

DEAR TROUBLED: Who is "responsible?" You all are. What should you do about the situation? Exactly what I presume you have been doing. Giving your mother all the time and attention you can, and reminding your brothers that she is also their mother, and they ought to be ashamed of themselves for neglecting her.

DEAR ABBY: This concerns saying grace at the table. My husband and I never had said grace, however we do thank the Lord for our food, along with all our other blessings in our prayers at night.

When we invite a certain couple over for supper, they always say grace out loud at our table. Correct me if I am wrong, but I think this is very impolite. If they feel like saying grace, they should say it to themselves because by this time they know we don't say it.

If you agree with me, Abby, what would you suggest I say to these people?

QUIET AT MEALTIME

DEAR QUIET: It would be impolite of you to discourage your guests from saying grace aloud at your table if that is their custom. If you wish to remain silent, that's your privilege.

DEAR ABBY: My boss [a woman] invited me to a bridal shower for a coworker. I brought a shower gift to the party, which was a small buffet supper. My boss gave the bride a very nice clock radio.

The next morning at work I found a note on my desk from my boss. It said I owed her $1.50 for my share of the clock radio and $1.75 for the food at the shower.

When I was invited, nothing was said about chipping in for the food or the clock radio. And since I brought my own shower gift I didn't see why I should be expected to chip in for another one.

Never in my life have I gone to a party where I was later asked to chip in for the refreshments. I am only 17, and this is a lot of money for a working girl. If you were me, would you pay it and keep your mouth shut, or refuse to pay it and risk getting on the bad side of the boss?

HAD IN HARTFORD

DEAR HAD: [And you were.] If you're telling it like it is, and I believe you are, refuse to pay it.

DEAR ABBY: In response to the waitress who wonders why people will sit at a table with dirty dishes when there are clean tables:

I am one of the offenders. Often a particular table is better lighted, roomier or has a better view than the others. Also it can be out of the traffic, or quieter. [Why did the previous diners sit there?]

If a person is just grabbing a quick bite, he can sit anywhere, but if one intends to enjoy a lingering meal, he should have his choice of tables. Dirty dishes or not.

Final Tributes To Jas. Byrnes

By ROB WOOD
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Jimmy Byrnes, who for more than half a century helped mold the history of his nation, was buried Wednesday in the shadow of the state capitol of his native South Carolina.

He was given a final tribute by national and state dignitaries who remembered James F. Byrnes as a congressman, a member of the U.S. Supreme Court, as U.S. secretary of state, and the man Franklin D. Roosevelt called "the assistant president."

He was honored by the people of this Deep South state who remember him as governor and a man who spent his final years providing financial help for orphan children who wanted a college education.

But, most of all, he was honored as a man who had influenced the futures of his nation as he sat with the great leaders from throughout the world to discuss the future of all.

Retired Gen. Lucius D. Clay, in his eulogy at a noon memorial service in the rotunda of the State House, said it:

"There are only a few—a very few—in a world of many people who can by virtue of both character and achievement be called great. Justice Byrnes was such a man."

Then Clay added, "Of the few who are recognized as great, there are an even small number who are both great and good. Justice Byrnes was also a good man."

Clay said Byrnes, with the support of President Harry Truman, "saw immediately it was no longer possible for America to live alone and that even a partial return to isolationism would be a serious threat to world stability and to lasting peace."

Attending the short memorial service and the funeral at the historic Trinity Episcopal Church nearby were Mrs. Richard Nixon, the nation's first lady, who sat beside Mrs. Byrnes, and touched her hand and her shoulder on several occasions.

There was an imposing list of dignitaries—Warren Burger, chief justice of the Supreme Court; evangelist Billy Graham; Army Chief of Staff William Westmoreland, who was appointed to the U.S. Military Academy at West Point by then Sen. Byrnes; Charles Bolten, former ambassador to the Soviet Union; Sens. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., and Ernest Hollings, D-S.C.

There were prayers inside the church by the Rt. Rev. Gray Temple, Bishop of South Carolina, and the church rector, The Rev. James Stirling. At the grave site, the Rt. Rev. John A. Pickney, Bishop of the Upper Diocese of South Carolina, committed Byrnes' remains.

D.H. Conley HIGHLIGHTS

By DUANE WILLIAMS
Impressed by the results of their first movie showing, Myrtle Allen's English class presented another movie to the student body. It was a thrilling murder mystery, BEYOND A REASONABLE DOUBT.

The movie kept its viewers in suspense till the very end. The purpose of the showing was to aid literature students in their analysis of fiction and understanding their responses to literary techniques.

Having already mentioned this in a previous article, I will just remind you about the play to be given. OFF THE TRACK will be presented April 19-20 in the D. H. Conley Auditorium by our speech and drama class. Tickets will be on sale this week and next. Advance tickets are $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. At the door, tickets will be $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for students.

All who attend will enjoy this Felicia Metcalfe comedy, beginning each night at 8:00.

Task Force
The Pitt County Student Task Force met here Tuesday.

Students from Ayden-Grifton, North Pitt, Farmville Central, and D. H. Conley attended the meeting held in the library.

The meeting was held to discuss results of earlier projects and to talk about future projects, especially concerning the drug problem. After the meeting was adjourned, refreshments were served and good-byes exchanged.

The next HIGHLIGHTS column will carry a complete writeup on the Task Force.

Some seniors at Conley were overjoyed this week when their jewelry was received. Seniors had ordered school bracelets, necklaces, and key chains earlier, and they were eagerly awaiting their arrival.

Graduation is approaching and seniors are waiting for invitations and caps and gowns. Just think, seniors, only 36 more days of school.

Sports
Conley's baseball and track teams are showing great improvements. Over the past few weeks the baseball team has beaten Farmville Central and Eastern Wayne.

Conley's cindermen have finally got a first place finish by stomping C. B. Aycock and Greene Central. Good work, boys, keep up the winning streak!

Premier Had Naked Guest

NEW DELHI (AP) — A naked holy man was in the audience of a religious meeting addressed by Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, but she apparently was not aware of it. Acharya Desh Bhushan Maharaj, spiritual leader of the Jain religion, strode into Parliament House totally nude Wednesday for a meeting called to commemorate Mahavira, founder of the Jain religion.

The Jain pontiff was undressed because he, like other advanced members of the sect, considers clothing a badge of mankind's lost innocence and a barrier to communion with nature and God.

Security officials said they couldn't do anything about his presence because of his large following and the fact that he was a guest of the government.

But one of Mrs. Gandhi's aides said the naked guest was blocked from Mrs. Gandhi's eyes by a table.

Talks Scheduled By Rep. Bundy

Rep. Sam D. Bundy will speak at the annual dinner meeting of the Federal Land Bank Association in Clinton Friday.

Next Tuesday he will be in Wilmington to address the NMA Division of the N. C. Pharmaceutical Association Convention. Friday, Apr. 21, he will be featured speaker at the banquet session of the annual conference of District 771 of Rotary International. The next day, he will speak in Greenville to the Northeast Spring Regional Convention of Jaycees.

Signed Warrant In Fatal Attack

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Arthur "Spuggy" Gary Jr., 46, who was under indictment on a charge of possession of heroin and barbiturates for sale, died Wednesday, two days after he was shot in the stomach in front of his home.

Police said that after the death a warrant was signed charging a man with murder.

Gary had operated the Matorador Club in Charlotte, which was padlocked in 1970 on drug charges.

Doctor Develops Home Treatment that

RINSES AWAY BLACKHEADS HELPS DRY UP ACNE-PIMPLES

In 15 Minutes or Your Money Back!

Queen Helene Mint Julep Masque 15 Minute Treatment
Must Show Immediate Improvement or — YOUR MONEY BACK!

A New York Doctor, working with a cosmetic laboratory, has developed a simple home-treatment that rinses away blackheads in a matter of minutes. It was demonstrated recently on five teen-age girls and three boys.

The results were breath-taking. Blackheads really rinsed away. In fact, many could be seen on the cloth used to wash off the Masque. But this wasn't all! Acne-pimples improved after one application, enlarged pores reduced, and rough complexions became cleaner, clearer and smoother looking. These results certainly indicate why teen-agers are now saying "this is one product that really works"... and why mothers of teen-agers have endorsed its use.

QUEEN HELENE MEDICATED MINT JULEP MASQUE

The Masque-Cream Treatment is indeed a remarkable discovery, not only for clear healthy skins, but also for the self-confidence, poise and self-esteem a fine complexion brings to teen-agers!

Anyone Can Use It
If you suffer the agony of teen-age blackheads, acne-pimples and rough unsightly complexions, give yourself this home treatment at our risk. Apply this delightfully Mint-Scented Cream and within 2 or 3 minutes an absorbing agent, called Argilla, dries and turns this cream into a plastic-like masque. You will now feel as though hundreds of "tiny fingers" were softly kneading the skin, loosening pore-caked dirt, blackheads and foreign impurities.

As it firms and hardens, its suction-action draws out waste matter from the pores... In 15 minutes you simply rinse the masque away with lukewarm water which dissolves it immediately. When you wipe your face, you can see that blackheads and other pore "filler" actually come off on your towel. And your skin feels clean... really clean... refreshed, smooth like velvet!

Start Now Improve Your Complexion
Don't take a back seat or be a wall-flower because of bad skin. If you want to get your full share of fun and parties... clear up your complexion and let Mint Julep Masque "Lead the Way"! You certainly owe it to yourself to try a single fifteen minute home treatment to convince yourself that this new Queen Helene masque-cream can work wonders for you.

Attention! MOTHERS of Teen-Agers

Queen Helene Mint Julep Masque is a MUST for you, too! It will help tighten sagging skin on face and throat, relax tired face muscles and stimulate a fresher, cleaner, more youthful complexion. Try a medicated Mint Julep Masque Treatment YOURSELF. You'll be delighted with the skin-tightening experience and more alive feeling that comes with every treatment.

Queen Helene Mint Masque is only $3.00 for the six ounce jar, enough for over 3 months of daily home treatments. Buy it today! Start using it immediately! Prove it to yourself at our risk, for one full month. If, at any time during the month, you are not completely satisfied, simply return the unused portion and you will get back every penny of your purchase price. Now Available at

Can't Have Too Many Byrnes'

The James F. Byrnes legend has been with us a long time, and though he is now gone, it's safe to assume the legend will grow with time.

No doubt about it, the long Byrnes political life covered a span of historical events that still leaves participants breathless when reminiscing.

The South Carolinian went to Congress in 1910, serving in the House for 14 years. A Senate seat was almost inevitable, and then there was appointment to the Supreme Court, a high-point in the life of but a handful. Byrnes dropped that post on request of

A Test Of Age And Seniority

By BRYAN HAISLIP

RALEIGH — Whether age is a liability or seniority of service an asset in running for office is being tested in the current Democratic race for the U.S. Senate.

B. Everett Jordan, a Methodist preacher's boy and Saxapahaw textile manufacturer, is in the fight of his political life for his Senate seat. His chief opponent in the party primary is Nick Galifianakis of Durham, the son of a Greek emigrant and a law professor turned politician.

Jordan is 75. Galifianakis is 43.

If Jordan wins, as he is favored to do, it will be largely on the basis of the influence he has accumulated since his appointment of the Senate 14 years ago.

If the aggressive campaign waged by Galifianakis is successful, and observers rate his chances improving as the showdown nears, it undoubtedly will be because voters are convinced the office needs the energy of a young man.

Age To The Fore

The matter of age, in the background from the start, has come to the fore as the May 6 primary approaches.

"I have refrained from making age an issue, but people do raise the question," said Galifianakis, who got into the Senate contest rather than go after another term as Fourth District Congressman.

"The Senator's age and my age is not an issue. It's a fact," he added.

Jordan said the voters have a right to consider age and any other factors in making up their minds between candidates.

"Age is a relative thing," he said, naming off other Senators who have served undiminished into their 80s and 90s.

Since an operation last year for cancer of the colon, Jordan has bounced back to a schedule demonstrating his repeated assertion that he never felt better in his life.

This Last Time?

Neither he nor his family has any qualms about his ability to serve another six-year term, Jordan said. Whether he'd run again in 1978 is doubtful, he added.

"I don't think it would be wise for me. It's a strenuous life, and I'd be due a rest," he observed. Further, he said, his wife would like for him to save some time for them to do things they'd like together.

Two other candidates for the Democratic nomination are Dr. Eugene Grace of Durham and J.R. Brown of Greensboro. In the view of most political observers, their votes' their votes aren't likely to weigh heavily in the outcome.

The decision rests between Jordan and Galifianakis, and seems almost certain to come in the first primary.

COP Challenge Ahead

The winner will face another battle in the fall. Republicans have given notice they will make capture of the Senate seat a high priority objective.

The GOP nomination will be settled in a three-way primary between James Johnson of Concord, a Republican state legislator; Jesse Helms of Raleigh, a broadcast executive and TV commentator; and William Booe of Charlotte, a school board member.

The Jordan campaign lays heavy stress on the benefits of his seniority, which ranks him 32nd among the 100 Senators. He is chairman of the Senate Rules Committee, and holds membership on numerous other committees and subcommittees.

Although he has sniped at Jordan's record, notably on the vote for 18-year-olds, Galifianakis picks no real quarrel with the Senator's service.

"I think the Senator has done well. I can do better," the Congressman asserted. "I simply have more vitality and energy to give to the job."

Galifianakis partisans point out that his experience, in the state legislature and in Congress, very nearly matches that of Jordan. He was elected a Durham County state representative in 1961 and served three terms before winning a seat in Congress in 1966.

Jordan had never run for public office when Gov. Luther Hodges named him in April, 1958, to the U.S. Senate upon the death of Kerr Scott.

In recent days, Galifianakis has hinted the same method of selection might repeat if Jordan is elected. "It is time for the people of North Carolina to bring a halt to the old political practice of handing Senate seats down from heir to heir through the process of gubernatorial appointment," he said.

The implication, of course, is that should the place become vacant in the next six years it would be filled whoever is then governor, not by the people. That possibility is more likely, Galifianakis suggested, if Jordan wins rather than himself.

President Roosevelt to serve as a wartime director of economic stabilization.

That was followed by a stint as secretary of state and, as the story goes, he came within a hair's breadth of the presidency.

He ran for governor at the age of 71, and won. While governor, he was appointed to the United Nations General Assembly.

The Byrnes dedication to political life did not end suddenly; rather, the sapping effect of Time ... withstood for more decades that most people live... saw him every-so-slowly withdraw to an unfamiliar and unappreciated private life. It just wasn't his "thing".

He lived a life rich in rewards and honors bestowed on few: giving in exchange an accumulation of knowledge, experience, a brilliant mind and an absolute fearlessness of work.

And, there must have been also a strong motivation to serve people, his state and his nation.

No country can have too many of that breed of man.

City Council Provided Date For Bicentennial

While we wonder if the City Council has picked the valid founding date for Greenville, at least the March 19, 1774 date gives us a target for planning a bicentennial.

The Colonial Assembly authorized laying out the Town of Martinsborough in 1771 and the widow of Richard Evans sold and deeded land in July 1772. In 1774 the Colonial Assembly ratified action which had taken place and authorized removal of the county court, prison and stocks to Martinsborough.

So it appears that Greenville was already a functioning town by 1774.

Mayor West this week appointed Councilmen Frank Fuller and William Dansey to begin planning for a 1974 celebration.

From the standpoint of pure history it might be a bit late; however certainly an adequate observance of the city's 200th anniversary should be planned.

Gardner Sees November Win

By JOHN KILGO

ON THE CAMPAIGN TRAIL—Republican gubernatorial candidate Jim Gardner is supremely confident that he will be his party's nominee. And he thinks the Democrats can be had in '72.

"The Bob Scott administration has been one of the poorest in North Carolina's history," Gardner told me between stops that would keep him on the campaign trail for 16 hours this day. "Everything Scott has done has been politically motivated. He's filled his administration with party hacks who aren't capable of running the state."

Gardner says the Scott administration has been "distinguished chiefly by its lack of business management."

"The people have a tremendous lack of confidence in government and in the Governor," Gardner said. "They see people like Gene Simmons up there in Raleigh with a big fat job that's not needed and they wonder what's going on. Scott has been playing political games and the people are fed up with it."

Before Gardner gets a chance to go one-on-one against a Democrat, he must beat Jim Holshouser for the GOP nomination. Why should the 400,000 registered Republicans in North Carolina choose Gardner over Holshouser?

Says Gardner: "Who can win in November? I think I showed in 1968 that I can win. "I got 48 per cent of the vote against Scott in '68 and he was the strongest political name in the state at the time. Our polls showed that we could have beaten anyone in the state but Scott. The people weren't voting for Bob Scott. They were voting for Kerr Scott. We carried 44 per cent of the vote in the East in 1968, which means that a lot of Democrats will vote for us."

Holshouser has offered to debate the issues with Gardner but Gardner won't be accepting. He says his campaign schedule was made up three weeks in advance and it doesn't leave time for that. He also says his poll shows him with a good lead in the primary.

"The Republicans can't afford the luxury of splitting up during this primary," Gardner said. "When it's over, we must be united."

After his 1968 campaign, Gardner had told me that he had "a bitter taste" in his mouth for the Republican Party. Gardner felt at that time that the GOP hierarchy had shut his supporters out of positions of leadership.

I asked him about that and Gardner replied: "As a party, we're in the best shape ever. Frank Rouse is the best chairman we've ever had. The party is in the black and he has us moving. We're moving as a party for the first time."

Gardner says he finds the people are concerned with high taxes, with roads, with job opportunities, and the number one issue in his opinion, involuntary school busing.

"If I'm elected Governor," Gardner told me, "I will ask the North Carolina (Continued on page 5)

An Old Pro Criticizes

James Keogh's new book, "President Nixon and the Press," is scheduled for publication this weekend. The next wind that blows from Washington will bring the honing sound of steel on stone. Keogh has carved up his onetime brothers. They will soon be slicing back.

Keogh's credentials as a critic of the press go back to 1938, when he left Creighton University to join the Omaha World-Herald. After 13 years he moved on to New York as a writer on national affairs for Time. He was the magazine's executive editor when he left in 1968 to begin three years in the White House as a research and writing aide to Nixon.

In defending the President he served, Keogh risks the old brush-off as a bootlicking flack. Such a response won't do. Keogh has earned his hash-marks; he is an old pro, and his stinging indictment is a thoroughly professional job.

He charges major elements of the American press, including the TV networks, with a deliberate, pervasive and persistent bias against the Nixon administration. He acknowledges that every president has felt himself mistreated by the press, but he insists that in the case of Nixon, the mistreatment has been so gross and so constant as to reflect upon the integrity of the press itself.

Keogh's pattern of unfairness is woven of such major issues as Vietnam and of such trivial matters as the Rumsfeld private bath. This latter incident involved Jack Anderson's charge on September 22, 1969, that anti-poverty czar Donald Rumsfeld had diverted money from the poor in order to give his executive suite a "more luxurious look," including "the ultimate in executive status symbols: A private bathroom." Keogh denounces the Anderson column as "a total fabrication, utterly and completely untrue."

More serious, perhaps, was the incident of July 7 and 8, 1970, when ABC and more particularly NBC gave heavy play to a story involving Vanderbuilt's Chancellor Alexander Heard and Howard University's President James Cheek. They were said to have warned Nixon in a private meeting with him that campus unrest had reached such a critical level that numerous colleges might not even be able to open in the fall; Berkeley, they purportedly told the President, was already dead, and Columbia University dying.

Keogh, who had sat in on the meeting, says flatly that the network account "was just not true." Dr. Heard himself denounced the story as "totally unfounded" and "completely inaccurate."

But it was not until August 25, seven weeks later, that NBC's John Chancellor delivered himself of two sentences agreeing that "part of what we reported was based on misinformation."

Whatever damage the press may have inflicted on Nixon, in Keogh's view the press has done much greater damage to itself. In his closing pages, Keogh dwells soberly upon the "lack of confidence," in Kenneth (Continued on page 5)

Advice To Any Buyer

By CHET CURRIER
Associated Press Writer
KANSAS CITY (AP) — Caveat emptor: Let the buyer beware.

In Latin or English it is good advice, but sometimes a little difficult to put into practice.

I read consumer magazines. I check warranties and dutifully mail in the little cards within three days of the date of delivery. I shop around before I buy.

But after the last few weeks—during which I took my first trip abroad and "celebrated" a birthday—I'm in the market for a new approach.

The story begins in England on the morning of that birthday.

For more than two hours my wife and I tried unsuccessfully to start the car we had obtained a day and a half before from a rental agency.

The company eventually provided us with a substitute and reduced our $50 bill by about $8. But by the time we had had to cancel most of our plans for the last day of a brief and expensive vacation.

"Let's not let it bother us," my wife counseled. "So we lost some time. We've had a great trip otherwise. We're bound to have some problems."

Unlucky words, those last. Skip now about 24 hours onward to our return home, and our discovery that our $400 television set had celebrated a birthday of its own. Less than two months after the expiration of its one-year warranty, it had stopped producing a picture.

"You've got problems," said the man who came to take it away, muttering something about high-voltage deficiencies and discarding a couple of blackened tubes.

He wasn't our only visitor that week. There was the man from a block down the street, who came to tell us there was a package from a department store-mail order firm in his driveway.

"I'm glad I found you. It's been sitting there about a week," he said.

"Ah," my wife said. "That's the cabinet my parents ordered for your birthday. It was supposed to come last week. We've been trying to get the store to tell us what happened to it."

It wasn't long after we finished laboriously lugging home that large largesse when the mailman brought another gift.

Not many days before, he had come with a letter from the state Revenue Department, suggesting that the $30 consultant had been wrong when he advised us how to file our tax returns.

This time he had a book I had been wanting very much, sent by my mother from Pennsylvania.

I had just enough time to savor the thought of reading it when I discovered it had two each of pages 21-144 and none of pages 97-120.

The book was by sports columnist Larry Merchant. It is called "... And Every Day You Take Another Bite."

Strength For Today

RELAX

The Greek word for "angels" is aggelos, which means "messengers." The angels are God's messengers. They run the Lord's errands. Although angels are not visible to the human eye, we can be sure that the world is full of them. How about guardian angels? Does each and every one of us have a "guardian angel"? Undoubtedly so. Jesus in speaking of children said that "in heaven their angels do always behold the face of my Father which is in heaven" (Matthew 18:10). If we think that because we have reached "maturity" we have no need of guardian angels we had better banish that thought and begin facing the truth as it is displayed in our life and in the life of the world. If we needed angels to guide us some decades ago, we certainly need them now.

Angels played an important part in the life of Jesus and of the whole human race in ancient times. After Jesus had experienced profound temptations we read that "angels came and ministered unto him" (Matthew 4:11). Angels held a large and important place in the life of Jesus.

Angels are real. If we believe the Biblical message we are practically forced to believe in angels—round about children and adults, in times of important events and in the daily walks of life. There would be a lot more happiness in the world if we could just take the plain Biblical message about angels and resign ourselves to their influence and services.

C-of-C Keeps A Straight Face

By ELMER ROESSNER

Labor's charges that American firms are exporting jobs are false, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States declares. The chamber bases its conclusion on a survey of 159 multinational firms. In the 1960's, these firms increased employment for domestic operations more than 31 per cent, while the national average was just over 12 per cent, the chamber said. These firms also increased United States exports more than the national average, it added.

COMMENT: This same theory has been advanced by several interested groups, including one governmental agency.

It is, of course, nonsense. The export of American jobs is not necessarily confined to multinational companies; that is, those that have manufacturing facilities abroad. The distributing company that buys shirts in Japan, Taiwan and Hong Kong and sells them in America at half the price at which an American mill can produce them; the electronic company that buys its transistors in Japan, and the auto company that buys steel in Germany are all exporting American jobs, even though they do not maintain production of their own abroad.

It is possible that they can employ more people than competitors who manufacture their own components in the United States, but that would be coincidental and possibly because they have more money to invest in expansion.

About the same time that the United States Chamber made its charges, Magnavox filed a complaint with the Treasury under the countervailing duty law, charging that the Japanese government is now and has been granting substantial export subsidies to Japanese manufacturers of TV sets shipped to the United States. It asked immediate levying of a 10 per cent duty on Japanese-made receivers.

It points out that as of the end of 1971, there has been an "absolute" loss of 109,200 jobs in the United States consumer electronics industry from the peak years of 1966 and 1969. Loss of domestic production of radio and TV receivers alone cost 26,400 United States jobs from 1966 through 1971. The number of United States firms producing TV receivers declined from 20 to 15.

As a multinational company, Magnavox is low on the totem pole. It has a record turntable plant in England and recently opened a plant to make electronic components in Nogales, Mexico, that will be assembled in the United States.

Meanwhile, you happy taxpayers are paying to retrain scores of former workers in piano factories, shoe factories, glass factories and other plants that have been closed down in the United States because they couldn't meet competition from imports.

Their jobs, regardless of what the United States Chamber says, have been exported.

Varied Role Seen For Area Education Center

The eastern regional center to be established in Pitt County will bring some of the services offered by the Raleigh office closer to this area.

Offer Tax Help

The North Carolina Department of Revenue office in Greenville will be opened Friday and Monday to assist area residents with state income tax problems. According to E. R. Carraway, who heads the local revenue office, the period for filing North Carolina income tax returns has been extended until Monday. Persons seeking information to aid them in filing their state tax return may call or visit the revenue department offices on the third floor of the Pitt County Court House. The offices will be opened from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. Friday and Monday. They will not be closed during lunchtime.

Kilpatrick . . .

Clark's phrase, that "more than anything else, kills a civilization." If our own civilization declines, says Keogh, "history will not let American journalism escape its large share of the responsibility."
His argument here is that as the 1970s began, many persons "were beginning to perceive that they were too often getting a distorted view of current history from those who were supposed to be their best sources of information." Keogh is convinced that many top reporters have lost sight of their first duty, which is simply "to tell the people what is going on — not to sell a point of view, but to inform and explain."
The indictment, sad to say, has much validity. One of the things that are going on right now is an outright Communist invasion of Laos, Cambodia, and South Vietnam. This warfare is conventional warfare, not to be explained as the acts of mere guerrillas or revolutionaries. But it is part of the liberals' uncontainable contempt for South Vietnam rarely to see the enemy troops either as Communists or as invaders. This is the blinkered vision that troubles Keogh. All of us who count ourselves part of the working press should be troubled, too.

According to Arthur Alford, superintendent of Pitt County Schools, the center will be located at the Grifton Education Center which also houses the migrant education offices for the eastern part of the state and the special education instructional materials center.
"The Pitt County Board of Education is making the facilities available in order to assist the State Board of Education in bringing closer to the people some of the services of the Raleigh office," Alford explained.
To be housed in the facilities will be the area occupational consultant (now located in Williamston); school food services coordinator (now in Greenville); additional personnel and supervisors; and two additional employees for the special education materials center.
F. L. Britt, who resigned last week as superintendent of the Edenton-Chowan school system, will serve as director of the new facility.
"We see this office as a good means of making available immediately to Pitt County these services by having them located here," Alford said. "There will also be less travel for our people. Films and audiovisual teaching aids will be available there that our personnel in the county are making use of."

Under the agreement, the State Board will be responsible for all maintenance and operation of the facility. It will also pay the insurance.
Alford said there is no long range lease agreement. At any time the local board has need of the facility, the State Board, within a reasonable period of time, would release the building to the local board.

The center will serve 22 counties in the northeastern part of the state. It is the third regional center in the state. The others are in Canton and Wilkesboro.
Alford said the facility will probably be officially occupied July 1.

He added that microfilm is also an important part of the library's holding. "All these are used in our various classes," Smiley commented.
The volume of material in the library — books, visual aids, and equipment is growing at rapid rate. Smiley observed that "the Library personnel to be on hand for the open house, are Mrs. Barbara Clark, librarian; Mrs. Doris Phelps and Miss Vivian Dean, Assistant Librarians; Scott Smiley, Audio-Visual Coordinator; and Clifton Moss, Mrs. Sammy Eure, and Mrs. Gwendolyn Harris, all members of the library staff.

Members of the Greenville Recreation Commission this spring, as last spring, tackled the problem of trying to formulate a workable policy to deal with the increasing use of Greenville's recreation facilities by non-Greenville residents.

At the April meeting of the commission held in Elm Street Gym Wednesday night, members of the commission heard Director Boyd Lee explain that last year's effort to get the County Commissioners to support the recreation program had not yet produced tangible results.

"We presented three alternatives to the County Commissioners last year," Lee said, "one was that the county furnish us support for our program, the second was to charge county participants a fee, and the third was to cut off county use of the facilities.

"What we're really seeking," Lee said, "are suggestions on how to stop the current congestion with the last ill feelings."

Suggestions on setting up controls by the use of I.D. cards for Greenville residents were felt to be impractical.

The problem area is basically that of time set aside as "free play" for use of the gyms, tennis courts, and other facilities are used by persons involved in programmed activities.

Following the lengthy discussions, Commission Chairman Mrs. Clay Burnett asked that City Councilman

William Dansey, Director Lee and commissioner Jim O'Brien form a committee to again approach County Commissioners on the problems, with recommendations for possible solutions. The recreation committee will report their findings back to the Recreation Commission, at which time further discussions and possible decisions will be made.

A request from the newly formed Senior Babe Ruth League, whose members are in the 16-18 year old age group, for use of Guy Smith Stadium with a waiver of customary fees, was approved by the commissioners. Member Mrs. Louis Gaylord, Jr. commented the commission was obligated to make the same exception in the case of this request as had been made to the American Legion League.

Noting that ever, single moment of playing time has been taken up for use of Guy Smith Stadium, Director Lee remarked "the way it is set up now it can't rain all summer."

A second request for an exception to Recreation Commission policy, a request to use the newly established Police Club center (the old Eppes Gym) for a dance was denied.

In making the denial, commissioners noted the request was for a private affair, and that the hours requested, from 10:00 p.m. to 2:00 a.m., was not in keeping with established policies and that an activity of this type would very likely create problems for residents living in the area.

Personnel Of Blind Commission Wind Up Two-Day Program Here

District personnel of the North Carolina State Commission for the Blind yesterday afternoon wound up a two day program here.

The highlight of Tuesday's session was a presentation by the Commission's Executive Director, W. E. (Sam) Early. Early termed the needs of the agency's clients as having top priority, and he felt that its goal should be to become a model for all organizations engaged in work for the visually handicapped.

The balance of the program was a workshop on services delivery by Harry Wicker, the Commission's Supervisor of Service Programs. Wicker, of Raleigh, explained new systems of accountability. He reviewed a plan to disassociate the Commission's social workers from the agency's function to administer one of the states public assistance programs, Aid to the Blind. He said that this move is designed to enable the social workers to spend full time in helping blind people with the many problems developed by the nature of their handicap.

Actress Waives Alimony Rights

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Edie Adams has waived alimony in winning a divorce from her husband of 7½ years, photographer Martin Mills.

The 41-year-old actress told a brief Superior Court hearing Wednesday that she and Mills had agreed to divide $200,000 in property and Mills agreed to child support payments of $200 a month for their 3-year-old son Joshua.

Miss Adams also has a daughter, Mia Susan, by her first marriage to the late comedian Ernie Kovacs. She also has custody of Kovacs' two daughters by a previous marriage, Bette and Kippie.

He cited the Commission's progress over the past year and mentioned the fact that its services had enabled more blind persons to attain rehabilitated status than any other program being operated in the southeastern United States. He said that he had received inquiries from several other states about recent program innovations. Among the new ideas is a system of personal identification for the blind to take the place of a drivers license. Another recently developed plan involves coverage under the state retirement system for all blind commission stand operators.

Early felt that one of the most pressing needs of the Commission was to better inform the public on what it has to offer.

The Commission for the Blind is a public agency with the purpose of providing social, medical, and rehabilitation services and employment opportunities to the state's legally blind and visually handicapped. It is aligned with the recently created State Department of Human Resources. It maintains a district office at 1201 South Evans Street. In the northeastern part of the state, the Commissions social workers are headquartered in Elizabeth City,

Earl Warren On Campus Again

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Earl Warren, retired U.S. chief justice and former California governor, has returned to the University of California's Berkeley campus as regents' lecturer in the department of rhetoric.

Warren, a 1912 graduate, is conducting six informal discussion sessions with groups of about 20 graduate and undergraduate students planning careers in law. The first of the hour-long sessions was held Wednesday and the last is scheduled for next Thursday.

While on campus, the 81-year-old Warren is to receive the Clark Kerr Award for contributions to higher education and membership in Phi Beta Kappa, national fraternity for scholastic achievement.

Citizens Council Reviews Results Of Questionnaire

The Citizens Advisory Council Monday night, discussed three principal items—a review of the school budget; a report on the preliminary results of the public questionnaire; and a report on railroad crossing safety.

Virgil Clark, vice-chairman of the council and spokesman for the council, said, "We could not go into depth in the matter of the school budget because of lack of information."

Clark said that Dr. Cleet C. Cleetwood had sent a prepared general statement concerning the budget, which was read by school staff member Charles Dickens in Dr. Cleetwood's absence. "There were a number of comments made concerning the budget, and we had questions to ask, but there was no answers available," Clark remarked.

The vice-chairman, also mentioned that members present "strongly emphasize the importance of committee members attending the meetings. For instance, one of the appointed members has not attended a single meeting." Clark also added that elected members who do not attend meetings are failing to give representation to the communities they represent.

On the questionnaires sent out by the council to parents community wide, a preliminary result of the survey was prepared and presented to board members.

Although a complete survey will be made and published at a later date, the preliminary one shows that some of the major concerns among Greenville citizens are the need for a new junior high; air conditioning at all the schools, a need for improvement of school maintenance; and concern over the number of poor teachers although most people indicated they felt that teachers in the schools were good ones;

One of the ideas expressed by some parents is a need for more vocational programs in the schools, and ones to come earlier in the student's school years; a need for more physical education programs, and more programs in art and music. Several persons pointed out the feeling that foreign language instruction should begin in elementary school.

There were more parents indicating need for more discipline than those expressing satisfaction with the job being done; and a majority of those replying to the portion on changes desired opted to stop bussing. The preliminary study showed this idea was usually coupled with the feeling that students should be able to attend the school nearest their home and that freedom of choice should be the "assignment" procedure.

These were some of the major trends noted in the survey, which Clark emphasized is "only a preliminary study" and may be altered when a complete summary is made of all questionnaires. Many people have failed to return questionnaires, so the information reflects opinions only of those who have answered.

Action is progressing by the committee in charge of Railroad Crossing Safety. At Monday night's meeting, in addition to committee members from the Advisory Council, persons attending the discussion of the report included City Manager Harry Hagerty; City Planner Dillon F. Watson; W. W. Speight, attorney for Norfolk Southern Railway Company; and representatives from the railroads. These were, from Norfolk Southern — M. B. Dowdy, vice-president, H. R. Parrott, traffic chief, and J. A. White, chief engineer; and from Seaboard Coast Line, Bobby D. Jackson, safety supervisor, and J. S. Wilkes, assistant train master.

On specifics outlined by the committee, a number of agreements were tentatively reached: The Norfolk Southern will make every effort to prevent use of its tracks between 8:00 a.m. and 9:00 a.m. and 3:00 to 3:45 p.m. The Seaboard will add Howell Street to their flagging activities, and no Greenville streets will be blocked for a period longer than five minutes except in emergencies; and both railroads will inspect crossing signs and signals to insure they are freshly painted and properly located.

Other tentative agreements reached included the Advisory Council's recommendation for intensified instruction of drivers, both private vehicles and school buses, concerning safety at railroad crossings; and the City Manager is to investigate the possibility of signalization of the railroad crossing at U.S. 264 by-pass and the Norfolk Southern Railway line, and the crossing at Brownlea Drive.

FDA Orders Recall Of Two Food Items

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration has announced the recall of frozen strawberries laced with glass slivers and cornmeal contaminated with a potent cancer-causing substance.

The FDA said Wednesday it learned of the hazardous strawberries after a Mead, Wash., woman cut her mouth while eating some of them.

The recall affects more than 35,000 pounds of sliced, frozen strawberries packed in 10-ounce containers by Pacific Frozen Foods of Los Angeles and distributed in the state of Washington between Feb. 10 and Mar. 10, the FDA said. All lots were coded with the number 14071.

Another 1,000 cases, or 15,000 pounds, were embargoed voluntarily at the manufacturer's warehouse, the FDA said.

The FDA said it did not know the source of the glass, which showed up in six of 10 samples tested.

Aflatoxin contamination prompted the recall of 15,590 pounds of enriched white cornmeal produced by Dittlinger Roller Mills Company, a division of Flour Mills of America, at New Braunfels, Tex., between Feb. 17 and Mar. 27.

The FDA said about 10,000 pounds were distributed to Sequin Milling Co., Sequin, Tex., for repackaging, and the remainder was distributed to the firm's four warehouses.

Aflatoxin, shown to cause cancer in some laboratory animals, occurs naturally in the mold of nuts, corn and oil seeds under certain conditions of time humidity and temperature.

The FDA said it found the white corn contained 114 parts per million (PPM) of aflatoxin, and the Dittlinger cornmeal contained more than 77 ppb. The FDA's tolerance is 20 ppb.

Irish Bomb Kills Woman

BELFAST (AP) — Guerrillas set off a time bomb on the main street of a Protestant town early today, killing a 60-year-old woman and slightly injuring her husband.

It was the first bombing in Ballymoney, in County Antrim, and raised the death toll to 301 in the three years of communal warfare in Northern Ireland.

An alarm was raised after an anonymous caller said there was a bomb in a bar. Police located the bomb in a truck parked on the street but were unable to disarm it immediately and set out to evacuate residents of nearby buildings.

Glass and rubble from smashed stores littered the street after the bomb went off, flash fire ignited by the blast destroyed one store and the couple's apartment above. The husband escaped death because he had come downstairs to answer the police hammering at his door. He suffered cuts and bruises.

The bombing was blamed on the Irish Republican Army.

Elsewhere in the province, British troops came under fire in Belfast and near Londonderry, and a bomb destroyed a telephone exchange at Newtown Butler, in County Fermanagh.

Church Assembly Begins Friday

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Investment policies of the church, youth representation and community problems will be discussed at the Christian Church's 1972 North Carolina General Assembly, which opens Friday.

Twelve hundred delegates representing 135 Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ) are expected for the weekend meeting.

Among the speakers will be Dr. Walter D. Bingham of Louisville, Ky., moderator of the Disciples of Christ. He is the first black to head the 1.4 million-member denomination.

Jim Gardner, Republican gubernatorial candidate, will speak at the Bar-B-Que dinner which will be at the Kinston J.C. Fairgrounds on Highway 70 South.

Interested persons are asked to telephone Dr. John East (752-6866) for tickets or tickets may be purchased at the Rally.

Said 'Richest'

CHICAGO (AP) — Sepia magazine says the Black Muslims religious sect has become the "richest black organization of all time."

Sepia, a monthly which claims a circulation of 100,000, reported the group has assets totaling $75 million.

The main sources of income for the Black Muslims, the magazine said in its May issue, are dues which require "individual Muslims as part of their membership to give at least 10 per cent of their income," and sales of Muhammad Speaks, a Muslim weekly publication.

Mrs. Alice Hunt Daniels of 12-B Mitchell Court, Kinston, died Monday at the Durham Rehabilitation Center in Durham after a brief illness.

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday at 4 p.m. at Zion Chapel Free Will Baptist Church in Ayden by Elder Stephen Jones. Burial will be in the Ayden Cemetery.

Mrs. Daniels was the widow of the late Mr. Joe Daniels and the daughter of the late Mr. Fielding and Mrs. Pattie Wright Hunt. She was born in Vance County and reared in Craven County, but had made her home in Kinston for the past four years. She was a member of Morning Star AME Zion Church of Ayden and Wisdom Chapter No. 37 OES of Ayden.

She is survived by a son, Thad Daniels of Baltimore, Md.; eight sisters, Mrs. Maggie Strong of Ayden, Mrs. Elizabeth Quinerly and Mrs. Florence Dawson, both of Kinston, Mrs. Prudence Pugh of Detroit, Mich., Mrs. Emma Jane Wright and Mrs. Myrtle Gray McQueen both of Baltimore, Md., Mrs. Effie M. Flowers of Boston, Mass., and Mrs. Odessa Hunt of New York City; three brothers, Saul and Rev. Willie Hunt, both of New York, and Rev. Isaac Hunt of Boston, Mass.; and five grandchildren.

The body will be at the Norcott and Company Downtown Chapel from 6 p.m. Friday until one hour of the funeral. Family visitation at the chapel will be from 8 to 9 p.m. Friday.

Faison

Mr. William Walter Faison Jr., formerly of Ayden, died Tuesday at Martland Medical Hospital in Newark, N.J. from burns received in an automobile accident.

Funeral services will be conducted Friday at noon at Wigham Funeral Home, 580 High Street, Newark by the Rev. Robert Lee Blount, formerly of Ayden, officiating. Burial will be in the Newark Cemetery.

The son of Mr. William "Bud" Faison of Greenville and Mrs. Ruth Gladys Pope Faison of Ayden, he was born and reared in Ayden but had made his home in East Orange, N.J. for the past 12 years. He was a member of the Emmanuel Pentecostal Church in Jersey City, N.J. and a former student at Ayden High School.

Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. Linda Williams Faison of the home; a daughter, Miss Kim Rasberry of Newark, N.J.; his parents; a sister, Miss Carolyn Jean Faison of Ayden, and a brother, Harold Edward Faison of New York City.

Messages of sympathy may be sent to the home of Mrs. Larry Smith, 10 Cusper Place, Newark, N.J. 07114.

Extra Hours

Hilton E. Boyd, supervisor of the Greenville Internal Revenue office, announces that all Internal Revenue offices in the state, including Greenville, will extend their hours of operation during the final four days of the filing period, with the exception of Sunday.

The Greenville office will open at 8:00 a.m. and remain open until 9:00 p.m. on Thursday, Friday, Saturday, and Monday.

The reason for the extended hours is to afford tax returns preparing assistance to taxpayers who have not yet filed.

The Greenville office is located at 211 Evans Street.

Boyd states that taxpayers who are unable to visit the Greenville office, or need only a question or two answered, may call long distance, toll free, by dialing 800-822-8800.

Natalie Wood Is Single Again

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Actress Natalie Wood has ended her marriage to film producer Richard J. Gregson.

Gregson, 41, and Miss Wood, 33, were married in 1969.

She was married previously to actor Robert Wagner with whom she attended the Academy Award presentations Monday night.

Seminar Set For Tuesday

A seminar for Recreation and Park Commissioners, Board Members and Advisory Committees from a large number of eastern North Carolina towns and counties will be held in Greenville on Tuesday afternoon.

As host city, the Greenville Recreation Department and the Greenville Recreation Commission will be in charge of arrangements. Mrs. Clay Burnett, chairman of the local Recreation Commission, will be presiding officer.

The seminar is sponsored jointly by the Board Commissioner Lay Member Division of the N.C. Recreation and Park Society and the Office of Recreation Resources, Department of Natural and Economic Resources.

Beginning at 2:00 p.m. the seminar will continue until 5:00 p.m. and will be held in the Elm Street Gymnasium.

Featured speakers will include James S. Stevens, Jr., of the Division of Recreation, Office of Recreation Resources; and consultants Steve Moler, Bob Amos, Harold Moses, John Howell, and Boyd Lee.

Mrs. Burnett expressed a hope that a large representation from officials in Greenville would be in attendance for the seminar.

The island of Trinidad joined with its neighbor Tobago in 1962 to become an independent nation.

Chips and putts from area golf courses:
Ayden

A Super-Ball Tournament was held at Ayden Golf and Country Club last Sunday. The team of Tom Boyd, Earl Smith, Adrian Waters and Alton Cherry took top honors, coming in with a score of 66.

A six-way tie developed for second place as all six carded 67's. The teams were: Lindsey Hardee, Don Jackson, John Duke and Oscar Edwards; Thomas Heath, Mac Carmichael, Joe Summerall and J.R. Taylor; Emmett Koonce, Marvin Baldree, Woody Smith and Tom Wheeler; Dallas Jackson Dick Cherry, Don Carson and Glen Strickland; Bill Brantley, Mac Edwards, Richard Riddick and Bill Cleve; Sidney Roberson, Jim Wright, Nelson Gravatt and Don Russell.

A total of 23 teams took part in the tournament. The next tournament at the club will be April 30, when a Member-Member tourney will be held.

Brook Valley

Roy Honeycutt had his first eagle recently at the Brook Valley Country Club. Honeycutt hit the shot on the par-five 17th hole at the club, putting a nine-iron into the cup on his third shot.

Ladies clinics are now underway at the club. An advanced class will get underway Monday and last through Friday. It will run from 9:30 a.m. until 11 a.m. daily. A beginners course is now underway at the club.

Greenville

The Eastern Carolina Ladies Golf Association played at Greenville Golf and Country Club today.

Entries for the Greenville Invitational Tournament, to be played April 22 and 23, are coming in fast, and pro Boyd Huff warns golfers who wish to participate to get their entries in quickly. The first 140 will play.

Robersonville

The Roanoke Golf League play has already begun in the area, with three weeks of play behind it. This weekend, the Robersonville team will travel to Williamston for its match.

Lady Ump Receives
A Favorable Ruling

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Bernice Gera, who struck out before, finally has connected.

The 40-year-old Mrs. Gera struck a blow for the middle-aged female set—not to mention women's liberation—when she received a favorable court ruling Wednesday in her bid to become a baseball umpire.

With the court behind her, it appeared that she would at last get approval from the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues to umpire in the Class A New York-Pennsylvania League.

Mrs. Gera signed a contract in 1969 with league president Vince McNamara, only to have it rejected by Hank Peters, president of the NAPBL, which controls minor league baseball.

She said the decision discriminated against her because of her sex. Mrs. Gera carried her fight to the New York Commission on Human Rights and filed a court suit against baseball, naming Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and McNamara among the defendants.

Her long fight finally culminated as she left court clutching her contract Wednesday.

McNamara described the agreement as a "normal one-year pact," but declined to reveal details. It was signed a week ago.

If finally approved to wear a baseball chest protector, Mrs. Gera will have succeeded in a lifelong dream.

"I'll keep trying until I'm 80," she once said.

Mrs. Gera became interested in baseball umpiring when she officiated Little League and semi-pro games on Long Island. In 1966, she attended an umpiring school in Florida and finished with high honors.

"My only trouble was finding a chest protector," she said. "They don't make them for women."

Her gregarious nature also posed another small problem. "People said I talked too much to the players," she said.

BUTCH COLSON, who set a Southern Conference rushing record as an ECU sophomore, will be among some 70 alumni players returning to play in Saturday's first Varsity-Alumni Game. The contest is set for Saturday at 8:00 p.m. in Ficklen Stadium.

Expects Accord
By Tennis Pros

NEW YORK (AP) — A top official of the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association said Wednesday he expects warring factions of the professional tennis world to make peace this weekend at a meeting of the International Lawn Tennis Federation in Copenhagen, Denmark.

Federation rules bar contract pros from playing at Wimbledon and in U. S. championships, and from competing for the Davis Cup.

"Hopefully, we'll be able to have open tennis after the meetings," Walter E. Elcock, first vice president of the U. S. association said in a telephone interview Wednesday with the New York Times.

Elcock and several other U.S. association officials have drawn up a peace proposal with Lamar Hunt, owner of the World Championship Tennis, the contract pro group.

The proposals, which will be presented to the international association, would let Hunt coordinate the international tournament calendar for the first four months of 1973 and the federation the last eight months.

In return, Hunt would agree to quit signing contracts with leading independent pros and would release players from existing contracts if they desired to compete for the Davis Cup.

"I'll keep trying until I'm 80," she once said.

Michigan set a national single game attendance record in 1971 when 104,016 fans saw its game against Ohio State.

Brian Desatnik, a member of South Carolina's 1972 tennis team, is from Johannesburg.

Nearly 70 former East Carolina University football players will be in Ficklen Stadium Saturday night for the first Varsity-Alumni spring game. Kickoff is set for 8 p.m.

The game is a change from the traditional Purple-Gold contest, held in the past, where the varsity is split into two units. In this format, the varsity will all be together, working against the alumni unit.

Bill Cain, business manager of athletics, and former freshman coach, will serve as the head coach of the alumni. "We've had a couple of practices," Cain said. "There have been about 28 or 30 at each. They're mostly the seniors and those players who are in this area," Cain said.

Cain said that 68 former gridders have indicated that they would take part in the game, including 19 of the 23 seniors on this past year's team. The four who will not play are Jim Krivonick who'll be on a trip with the lacrosse team; Will Mitchell, who'll be taking an Air Force test; and Pete Woolley and Monty Kiernan, who declined play.

"We have fixed up a tentative offensive and defensive depth chart," Cain said. "The first unit, of course, will consist mostly of those who are here working. The rest of them will play about as much as they want to."

Cain noted that the team will run only basic plays. "We hope to have about 90 per cent of them in here on Friday night and hold a workout under the lights. Then we'll have a meeting Saturday to go over our plans.

Cain added that the alumni for the most part are taking the game seriously and are not going to roll over and play dead. "One thing I can say for sure," Cain added, "East Carolina will win this one."

While the coach didn't want to go into his game plan, he admitted that he thought the defense would be the strong suit of the team.

Following the game, a party is being planned for the alumni, and four trophies will be presented, to the Outstanding Offensive Lineman and Back, and to the Outstanding Defensive Lineman and Back. They are being donated by Ike Bullard, a former player.

Cain lists his probably offensive starting lineup as having Dick Corrada and Dwight Flanagan at wide receivers; Paul Haug and Grover Trustlow at tackles; Ron Peed and Worth Springs at guards. Mike Kopp at center; Tony Maglione at tight end; John Casazza at quarterback, and Rusty Scales and Billy Wallace at running backs.

Defensively, the Alumni may start Jim Gudger and Ted Salmon at ends, Rich Peeler and George Wheeler at tackles; Danny Wilmer, Ralph Betesch, Wayne Lineberry and Don Mollenhaur at linebackers, and Mike Stephens, Jack Patterson and Carl Gordon at defensive backs.

Tony Guzzo and Earl Clary will handle the kicking.

Other alumni who have indicated they will play include Bob Millie, Mark Pohlen, Chuck Zadnick, Tim Tyler, Ike Bullard, Ed Emory, Butch Colson, Jerry Brooks, Bill Cline, Roger Bost, Neal Hughes, Nelson Gravatt, Jerry Tolley, Paul Weathersbee, Butch Britton, Kevin Moran, George Whitley, Bill Bailey, Glenn Bass, Mitchell Cannon, Johnny Anderson, Mike Mills, Tom Michel, Colon Quinn, Bill (Sticks) McPhaul, Dinky Mills, Jim Gudger, David Smith, Dave Alexander, Lee Atkinson, Paul Hutchins, Bill Wightman, Corie McRae, Richard Honeycutt, Lou Hollow, Charlie Cook, Clayton Piland, Bob Jaronezyk, Dave Bumgarner, Wes Rothrock, Bob Hileman, Harold Glaetli, Sonny Baysinger, Jim Adkins, and Stu Garrett.

Wake Forest
Offer Said To
Marshall Coach

HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (AP) — Marshall University basketball coach Carl Tacy has been offered the head basketball coaching job at Wake Forest University in North Carolina, the Huntington Herald-Dispatch said today.

The newspaper quoted "informed sources" at Wake Forest as saying a news conference would be held at 2 p.m. today in Winston-Salem to announce the outcome of interviews with Tacy and Roanoke College coach Charles Moir.

The Herald-Dispatch said its source described Tacy "by far the most impressive of the two."

The newspaper said the Wake Forest coaching job, including fringe benefits, summer camp and television shows, pays about $35,000 a year. It estimated Tacy's salary at Marshall at "about $13,000."

Aaron Given A Chance In Open

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) —

"Tommy Aaron's got a good chance," the guy said, looking over the field for the $150,000 Monsanto Open Golf Tournament.

"A real good chance—just so long as he doesn't tie with George Archer."

Aaron has lost to Archer in playoffs two times this season after they had matched leading scores over the regulation 72 holes. Surprisingly, he doesn't feel he's playing that well.

"I haven't been at all consistent this year," the 35-year-old Aaron said.

Still, his two second place finishes, when he lost to Archer over 18 holes in the Glen Campbell-Los Angeles Open and again on the second hole of a sudden death playoff at Greensboro, have helped him win $43,844 this season.

Second is nothing new to Aaron. He's finished there numerous times and it got to be something of a burden until he won the 1969 Canadian Open and the 1970 Atlanta Classic for his only two tour titles.

He had the tag "Perennial Bridesmaid."

"But, you know, like I used to say: with the competition we have out here now, with all the good players, you have to play pretty good to finish second."

In 12 years on the tour, Aaron has accumulated more than $550,000 in earnings, and ranks in the all-time top 20.

His best was 1970, when he had winnings of $97,827. He slipped to a little over $71,000 last season when he failed to record a victory—or even a second.

He appears to be back in gear this season, however, and ranked as one of the men to beat in the Monsanto, which started today on the 6,679 yard Pensacola Country Club Course.

Lee Trevino, the 1971 Athlete of the Year, and Archer, with some $99,000 in winnings already this season, were the two top choices.

Other leading candidates for the $30,000 first prize included Australian Bruce Crampton, who tied for second in last week's Masters, Jimmy Jamieson, who challenged Jack Nicklaus for the Masters title, 1972 winners Tony Jacklin, Homero Blancas, Grier Jones and Jerry Heard, and rookie Lanny Wadkins.

Nicklaus, along with Arnold Palmer and Billy Casper, are taking time off this week. Gary Player has gone home to South Africa. The 1971 Monsanto winner, Gene Littler, is recovering from surgery.

Girl Golfer To Be Competitor

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — If schoolgirl Debbie Reed doesn't make the boys golf team at Norfolk, Neb., High School this season, it will not be because she's a girl, but because her golf isn't up to par.

A federal judge Wednesday temporarily enjoined school officials from refusing to allow Debbie to compete against the boys.

Norfolk High has no girls' golf team.

The suit, based on an allegation that Debbie was being unconstitutionally discriminated against because she is a girl, was brought on her behalf by her father, George D. Reed.

Claims Plan
'To Destroy'

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The owner of the Virginia Squires of the American Basketball Association says there is "a concerted plan on the part of the National Basketball Association to destroy the ABA."

An angry Earl Foreman made the statement Wednesday as he confirmed reports that his star rookie Julius Erving had signed with the NBA Atlanta Hawks.

Foreman said he would ask the Justice Department to look into the signings of Erving and high-scoring Charlie Scott, who jumped from Virginia to Phoenix of the NBA last month. He also said he is seeking a meeting with Virginia's congressional delegation to look into the Erving and Scott cases.

Both Foreman and Erving confirmed reports that Erving, who quit the University of Massachusetts last year to turn professional had signed a contract estimated at $2 million with the Hawks.

UNSER GETS POST

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Race car driver Bobby Unser, former Indianapolis 500 champion, has been named to New Mexico's aviation Board.

Unser has been a private pilot since 1959. He has more than 2,500 hours flying time with a multi-engine rating, said Gov. Bruce King in announcing the appointment. Unser makes his home in Albuquerque.

Lakers Even-Up Playoff Series With Milwaukee

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — "That was probably the most significant victory of the year for us," declared Los Angeles Laker Coach Bill Sharman following his club's 135-134 triumph which squared the playoff series with Milwaukee at one apiece.

But as the clubs headed for Milwaukee and Friday's game No. 3 in the best-of-seven National Basketball Association Western playoff finals, controversy still raged over the play that brought the final two Los Angeles points Wednesday night.

Happy Hairston scored the field goal with six seconds left after a pass from Jerry West. "Hairston traveled along the baseline," argued Buck Coach Larry Costello. "He ran at least 2½ steps and never put the ball down."

Costello also asserted that official Manny Sokol was out of position when West lost control of the ball, which hit the official before West retrieved it.

In any event, Hairston's lay-up put the Lakers ahead 135-132. Before the buzzer, Kareem Abdul-Jabbar added the final two of his game production of 40 points for Milwaukee.

He was outscored, however, by the Lakers' Jim McMillian, who hit a career high of 42, including 17 in the third quarter when the Lakers built a 10-point lead.

Sharman commented, "When you lose the way we did on Sunday, it can really affect your confidence, but this game should help us get it back."

That's why he called it the most significant victory of a season during which the Lakers won a record 33 in a row and 69 overall for another NBA mark.

All told, the lead changed hands 14 times during the Forum struggle Wednesday before a capacity crowd of 17,505. The score was knotted on nine occasions.

At the end of the third quarter, the Lakers led 106-96. But when Bob Dandridge of the Bucks fouled out, Jon McGlocklin came on to lead a Milwaukee rally with 12 points. The clock showed 1:17 left when his sixth field goal of the period put the Bucks ahead 130-129.

But then McGlocklin fouled

McMillian, who sank two free throws, and a 20-foot West jumper gave the Lakers a three-point lead.

Jabbar cut it to one before Hairston's decisive basket.

Hairston finished with 17 points. Gail Goodrich had 25 for the Lakers and West 28. Following Jabbar for the Bucks was Lucius Allen with 23.

Wilt Chamberlain grabbed 17 rebounds for the winners while Curtis Perry had 12 and Jabbar seven for the Bucks.

Following Friday night's game, the clubs meet again in Milwaukee Sunday afternoon as a matter of record, the Lakers have played in Milwaukee 10 times since Jabbar joined the Bucks, winning only once.

Dim View Of Wimbledon

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Billie Jean King gave Britain's Wimbledon tournament a backhand slap Wednesday and threatened to quit playing in the famed tennis tournament if prize money isn't increased.

"The top prize for women at Wimbledon is $3,600," said the 28-year-old pro, "yet they gross $1.3 million during the two-week event."

Mrs. King is in St. Petersburg for another stop on the Virginia Slims tour, from which she earned over $100,000 last year.

Billie Jean, a three-time Wimbledon winner, was upset last year by Australia's Evonne Goolagong. As a result, Miss Goolagong is now rated as the world's No. 1 woman tennis player.

"I go crazy when I'm introduced as the No. 2 player in the world," said Mrs. King. "I had my best year in 1971. How can they name a champion from only one tournament?"

Billie Jean, although singling out Wimbledon by name, lashed out at tennis in general.

"People have to realize that big business and sports are one and the same," she said. "The ones getting short-changed are the players. Tennis purses must go up."

Billie Jean hasn't been as successful this year. She hasn't won in the last four tournaments.

"I've had trouble getting psyched up," she said. "I like being on top, enjoy the challenge, but when you're up there, the other 30 or so players are trying to shoot you down every week."

Mrs. King said she planned to play Wimbledon this year, but "it might be my last unless their format is changed."

Racer Is Owned By Corporation

By PAT THOMPSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Three Minnesota men heard about people taking stock in world heavyweight boxing champion Joe Frazier and decided to try it with a 1971 Gurney Eagle race car.

If the newly named Minnesota Invader, which will be driven on the 1972 U.S. Auto Club circuit by Larry Dickson of Marietta, Ohio, wins the Indianapolis 500 next month, there won't be enough room in the winner's circle for all the owners.

"This is the first time in the history of the Indy 500 that there's been a car owned by a public corporation consisting of many, many stockholders," said James C. Rogers, secretary-treasurer of Minnesota Invader, Inc.

Rogers, 40, owner of a St. Paul insurance agency, joined Dale Maloney, 37, official of a suburban retail trailer company, and Ronald C. Larson, 35, equipment supervisor for a suburban company in forming the corporation eight months ago.

Maloney serves as president, Larson as vice president.

"All the principal officers have been avid fans of auto racing for a number of years, more or less involved in sprint-car racing as fans and also as participants," said Rogers.

"We're very active in our businesses and very active in the financial community. And we found that Joe Frazier went public seven or eight years ago before his first pro fight."

"We decided that nobody has ever gone public with championship auto racing and auto racing is the No. 1 sport in the country."

Rogers said that, after a thorough investigation, the three men decided to purchase the Eagle from Dan Gurney of Santa Ana, Calif., for $50,000, including engine. Bobby Unser piloted the car last year.

"We picked Bobby Unser's car because of the many track records it set last year and because it was available for sale."

Minnesota Invader then chose Dickson to pilot the car and named Paul Leffert of St. Paul, Ind., as chief mechanic.

The car, now at Santa Ana, is being prepared for shipment next week to Indianapolis for the 500 time trials next month.

Because of Securities Exchange Commission regulations, Rogers said Minnesota Invader, Inc., isn't allowed to publicly tout its stock—for example, say how many shares are available and at what price.

But Rogers added, "Minnesota Invader is a public corporation composed of great numbers of Minnesota stockholders. The sale of stock is in the process of being completed."

Now that Minnesota Invader has stock, a machine and a driver, can it be competitive?

"We feel we'll definitely qualify," said Rogers. "There's no question about it according to our driver and chief mechanic. If we can keep the car going mechanically, we should hit the top five."

Running Ace Obtains Job

BERLIN, Ohio (AP) — Tommie Smith, who says he has been looking since the 1968 Olympics for a meaningful position, has been named head track coach and assistant athletic director at Oberlin College.

Smith set 11 world running records, more than any runner in history, but is probably best known for his black-gloved, raised fist salute during the playing of the Star Spangled Banner at the Olympics at Mexico City.

Jack Scott, who was recently named athletic director and chairman of Oberlin's department of physical education, appointed Smith. He said Smith visited Oberlin last week and "received tremendous response from students, faculty and administration."

"The fact that Tommie was never offered a meaningful position before now is appalling," said Scott, an author who has been an outspoken critic of sports and the alleged failure of the system to provide a dignified, meaningful experience for athletes.

Smith, 27, set a world record in winning an Olympic 200-meter run gold medal in 1968.

NEW YORK (AP) — The continuing melodrama of baseball's stalled season shifted scenes to Chicago today where the 24 major league owners were to consider another proposal designed to end the player-strike as it moved into its 13th day.

"We have worked out a new offer and we are closer to a settlement," reported Marvin Miller, executive director of the striking Players' Association, following two separate meetings Wednesday with John Gaherin, negotiator for the owners.

Miller scotched early reports that the strike had been settled but indicated the two sides were edging closer toward an agreement.

Gaherin, on his way to Chicago for the meeting of owners, said the only matter still in contention was the question of paying the players for any games postponed by the strike but made up later in the season. "Everything else is in place," Gaherin said.

The players reportedly have softened their rigid stand that they be paid their full salaries if they play a full 162-game schedule. One report said that Gaherin was carrying with him

MERCURY MONTEGO

The personal-size car with the ride of a big car.

In our latest blindfold test 100 car owners compared the ride of Mercury Montego against our competitor's best selling full-sized car... almost a foot longer than Montego.

The official results showed Montego's overall ride superior to the larger, more expensive car by almost a two-to-one margin.

How can our personal-size car ride better than someone else's full-sized car? Because it's a Mercury!

Come in today and sample Montego's superior ride for yourself. You'll see why Road Test Magazine named the '72 Montego "Car of the Year." And you'll see how you can enjoy "big car" ride without paying a "big car" price.

Women Educators Attend Greensboro Convention

Seventeen members of Greenville chapters of Delta Kappa Gamma Society were among 474 delegates attending their state convention in Greensboro last weekend. Delta Kappa Gamma, founded in Austin, Texas is a society honoring women educators.

One of the delegates, Mrs. Louise Ashton Levey, instructor in the Department of Special Education at East Carolina University, was awarded the annual Gilbert-McNairy Scholarship at a Saturday night banquet. Mrs. Levey will use the award of $2,500 to continue doctoral study at the University of Virginia in the Administration and Supervision of Programs for Learning Disabled Pupils.

Sanitation Officer Is Club Speaker

WINTERVILLE — Clay Haislip, sanitation officer with the Pitt County Health Department, talked to the Ruritan Club here Tuesday night.

He discussed sanitation problems in Pitt County.

The speaker pointed out that air, water and soil pollution is on the increase due largely to the growth in population.

"New residential and industrial development requires a pure water supply and adequate sewage treatment," Haislip said.

He reported his department will inspect home sites that require septic tanks to see that drainage is sufficient. It will design systems so that the drainage field is at least 200 square feet per bedroom.

The speaker recommended that wells be at least 100 feet deep.

A retired Army sergeant, Haislip has been with the local health department for two years. He lives in Winterville. Tom Mann presented the speaker.

Preston Corey reported to the club that the project to secure a girl scout building has been successful. He said that the old Episcopal Church property, located on Church Street, has been acquired from the Pitt County Board of Education by the club.

The building will be designated as a memorial to the late B. Vernon Cox, who at the time of his death was a Pitt County Commissioner. Cox was the grandson of A. G. Cox, founder of Winterville and the son of Roy T. Cox, former register of deeds and county commissioner.

Dudley Flood Speaks Sunday

Dudley E. Flood, director of Human Relations of the State Department of Public Instruction, will be the guest speaker at the Holy Trinity United Methodist Church Sunday at 11 a.m.

The services will be held in the library of the E. B. Aycock High School on Red Banks Road.

Prior to his association with the North Carolina State Board of Education, Flood was principal of the Bethel Union School, Bethel, for two years. He also served as chairman of the Pitt County Good Neighbor Council. He and his family presently reside in Raleigh.

Mrs. H. M. McGrath, a member of the Greenville City Council, and chairman of the work area on Christian Social Concerns of Holy Trinity Church, will be participating in the special services.

The public is invited to attend.

education from Eastern Connecticut State College and her M.A. degree in special education from East Carolina University. She is a member of Delta Chapter of Greenville.

Mrs. Antoinette S. Jenkins, retired member of the ECU English Department, gave "The Recipe for Conducting Society Business in the International Committee on Professional Affairs from 1966-1968" at the luncheon.

Activities of the convention Saturday night included a speech on present unrest entitled "From Here to Where" by Miss Catherine Rathman, executive secretary of the society, and the initiation of state honorary member Mrs. Margaret Harper, of Southport, candidate for lieutenant governor.

Ten of the delegates from this area who played important parts in the convention activities, who are or have been members of the ECU faculty, follow:

EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT: Mrs. Louise Ashton Levey, Department of Special Education;

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT: Dr. Hermine Caraway; Mrs. Antoinette S. Jenkins;

BUSINESS DEPARTMENT: Dr. Frances Daniels; Mrs. Ouida Deber; Dr. Audrey Dempsey;

FOREIGN LANGUAGE: Mrs. Elizabeth Mims; LIBRARY: Mrs. Phoebe Owens;

WAHL-COATES: Mrs. Myrtle Clarke; Mrs. Sally Klingenschmitt.

Those attending from the Greenville City Schools were: Mrs. Kemp Baldwin; Miss Laura Bell; Miss Agnes Fullilove; Mrs. Bonnie Harrington; Mrs. Evelyn Moye; Mrs. Frances Smith; and Mrs. Betsy West.

Will Lecture At Dental School

Dr. M. W. Aldridge of Greenville will lecture Saturday, Alumni Day, at the University of North Carolina Dental School in Chapel Hill on "Behavioral Change in the Preventive Concept."

"All this really means," Dr.

Aldridge said, "Is 'How do you get people to do what they ought to in order to save their teeth?'"

Dr. Aldridge is president of the North Carolina Chapter of the National Society for Preventive Dentistry, a group which promotes the idea that once-a-day flossing and crevice brushing can insure good tooth and gum health for the rest of one's life.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The morning is excellent for putting in motion whatever new arrangement seems feasible to you, but the afternoon and evening finds an element of doubt present. This requires much more study and work on it if you are to avoid making serious mistakes.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You are able to make much progress in the morning. Later in the day you have to be sure not to take any risks. Being as practical as you can is important. Don't argue with mate.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You have a good idea in the morning that could take you away from more important things, so schedule your time wisely for best results. Don't neglect correspondence.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You can go ahead with ideas for advancement provided you first handle present responsibilities well. Obtain the views of mate before putting plan in operation. Be wise.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) An associate has a fine idea for progress in the morning but you have to study it carefully later to really understand it. You can obtain the data you need easily.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) An early start on all that work ahead of you is fine. Take in stride any snags that may arise later in the day. Show that you are equal to the test. Take time to improve your health.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Plan that recreation with people you like sensibly so that you can really enjoy it with them. Show more affection for closest tie and increase happiness. Be careful in travel.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Morning is the best time to clear up a problem with family that has been difficult in the past. Buy those new appliances for the home. Show that you are a sensible and kind person.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have to become more practical if you are to succeed in today's world. Amusements should be forgotten for the time being. A good time to make necessary repairs in the home.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Plan how to have more income in the future while cutting down on expenses and your problem is licked. You can get expert advice early, which you should follow without fail.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You can gain your aims better now if you listen to the advice of business experts. Get your appearance enhanced first so that you can make a good impression. Use that smile.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Put your good judgment to work instead of relying so much on your intuition. Then you can come to right decisions about important matters. Help one who needs your assistance.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You have to prepare early for an important social affair to which you have been invited. You can make a fine impression if you are careful with your language. Show that you have poise.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those wise youngsters who will appreciate your words of wisdom. Teach how to be practical and how to work, so that these valuable lessons will not be given forcibly by others later in life. Much vision is in this chart. Education should be directed toward business pursuits. Great wealth is possible during lifetime.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

'Habitual Violator' Target Of Candidate Secret

Russell Secrest, Democratic candidate for Commissioner of Insurance, says that liability insurance rates should be based on a person's driving record whereby the habitual violator "would pay the premium or stay off the road."

Secrest said here Tuesday that the present commissioner, Edwin Lanier has been given a mandate by the General Assembly to adopt a plan that would "better charge the individual" according to his record more closely than it is now.

A second mandate, he said, is to "balance the safe driver's plan" or emphasize the placing of insurance rate increases on the man who is the "drunk driver, the man who has had all these accidents," Lanier, Secrest added, is holding hearings on the matter now and it is hoped these plans are implemented immediately. If they are not done, the candidate said, "if and when I am elected and take office in January it would be the first thing I would do."

Secrest, who has served for 16 years as a Deputy Insurance Commissioner, said that he is confident that Lanier "gave all consideration to not giving any rate increase or at least holding it down to the level where it is now but apparently after hearing the evidence he felt that he could not do that and he did award the 7.7 per cent" increase in liability insurance recently.

No-fault insurance, he said, is the only possibility of "holding the line" on insurance premiums. "There is a slight possibility, and I emphasize the work slight, that it might decrease some rates." The main thing, the candidate asserted, is that it would come closer to keeping insurance rates in line.

"As we seek ways of solving our immediate insurance problems and restoring order and stability for the years ahead, the advice and counsel of all our people will be needed," Secrest added.

"For that reason, I have pledged to install a toll free telephone in the Insurance Department so that the people from all over North Carolina can communicate with me directly at any time without cost."

Another area of concern to North Carolinians, he continued, is health insurance cost. "In this area, we must begin to look immediately at the cause and reasons for such tremendously high medical cost in this state and if we don't do it now, we are going to be in the same position as we are with automobile liability problems now," Secrest asserted.

Insect Control System Expands

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—An insect control method based on sex appeal will be available to Michigan farmers on a wider basis this summer.

A. J. Howitt, Michigan State University entomologist, says the method uses a sex lure called pheromone to coax male insects into traps which provide means of estimating insect populations, trends and potential damage. This eliminates much of the guesswork in spraying time needed to knock off troublesome fruit insects.

New Candidate For Winterville Office

WINTERVILLE — Clinton Ray Anderson has entered the race for alderman in the May 1 election.

A native of Winterville, Anderson will face E. C. Hines, who is seeking his fifth term on the board of aldermen, in the May 1 election.

The 36-year-old brick mason attended the Greenville City School and Winterville Schools.

He also attended Wayne County Technical Institute.

He is a member of the NAACP where he serves on the executive board of the local branch and is chairman of the Political Action Committee.

Anderson is a Prince Hall Mason member of Winterville Lodge No. 232, a member of the United Order of Odd Fellows, Anderson Lodge No. 11972 of Greenville.

Anderson serves on the D. H. Conley High School Advisory Council. He is a member of Good Hope F.W.B. Church, Winterville, where he serves on the board of deacons, the board of trustees as recording secretary, and the finance committee.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Babe Anderson of Greenville. He is married to the former Betty G. Carmon of Winterville and they have 10 children. The Andersons reside at 100 Jones Street here.

If elected, Anderson pledges he will not vote for any tax increase, will see that every street in the town is improved and that the light bills will be reduced.

Old Church's Last Service

The final worship service in the present building of Red Oak Christian Church will be held Sunday.

On April 16, 101 years ago, the church was organized on April 16 with 11 charter members. At present, the membership is approximately 200.

Dr. Milan Johnson of East Carolina University will be the guest minister. A special invitation is extended to persons interested in attending the service.

The following Sunday, the congregation will worship in a new sanctuary across the road on the 264 By-Pass. The new church complex will consist of four basic units arranged around a northex.

The fellowship and worship areas will be connected to the central area and the education-office units will be connected by enclosed porticos.

Three of the units are completed and the fellowship hall will be constructed in the future.

The new church minister, Rev. Ronald Nichols, will begin his service at Red Oak on April 23.

Local Principal Among Chosen

Bettie T. Forrest, principal of Elmhurst School, Greenville, is one of 50 principals selected to participate in a principals' conference to be held April 17-19 at the North Carolina Advancement School, Winston-Salem. The conference is designed to allow participants to explore the role of schools in meeting the changing needs of students in North Carolina public schools.

South's decision to finesse in trumps, while not without merit, was made before all the evidence was in and wound up costing him a vulnerable four heart contract. Had he mapped out his campaign with greater care, the game could have been salvaged even with the mis-guess in hearts.

West opened the ten of spades, East played the queen and continued with the king and ace—South ruffing the third round with the eight of hearts as West followed suit. Declarer cashed the ace of hearts on which East dropped the queen. A small heart was led, West played the seven and—after some thought South put in the ten from dummy, losing to the jack.

East exited with the ten of diamonds which rode around to North's queen. The king of hearts was cashed and a diamond returned to the king. The ace of diamonds was led next and East showed out. South played his last two trumps in an attempt to squeeze West in the minor suits, but West retained the jack of diamonds and discarded clubs. The nine of clubs was finally led to the ace, but the king remained outstanding and East took the setting trick at the end with that card.

While we do not criticize South's decision to take the heart finesse after East's initial false card—the play was somewhat premature. Declarer should first test the lie of the diamond suit, by playing the ace and king, followed by a small diamond to the queen.

In the present instance, East shows out on the third round and if he ruffs with the jack of hearts and returns a club, South can win the trick with the queen. A fourth round of spades by East permits declarer to dispose of his losing club while ruffing in dummy. If East discards on the queen of diamonds, declarer can ruff a fourth round and now if he chooses to finesse in hearts, the same end position develops when East goes in with the jack of trumps and—having only black cards left—is end played. South loses two spades and one heart.

If the diamonds divide three-three, then South can forego the luxury of the trump finesse altogether. He cashes North's king of hearts and even if the jack of hearts does not drop, dummy's long diamond is available for the discard of declarer's losing club.

Finally, if it proves that West has the doubleton diamond, he will presumably discard on the third round to prevent the establishment of dummy's queen. South can force an entry back to his hand, by leading a fourth diamond and discarding the nine of clubs. The ace of clubs and a club ruff puts him back in to play a heart and he still retains the option of finessing West for the jack.

While everyone was talking about smoother taste,

a new smoothness happened.
Barton's QT.

$4.80 Fifth.
$3.00 Pint.

Several years ago, we at Barton began storing away a whiskey unlike any other ever produced in this country.

A new whiskey distilled at a higher proof than most traditional American whiskey, and then stored in seasoned oak casks.

The result is the new smoothness of Barton's QT. The Quiet Taste. A whiskey made to give you all the mellow, full-bodied flavor you drink whiskey for. But with a noticeably smoother taste.

It's similar in character to the other popular American whiskeys, but lighter and milder than any whiskey you've ever tasted.

Because Barton's QT is the American whiskey that's literally made to taste smoother. Not just sound that way.

The Quiet Taste is as smooth as you can get.

The Worry Clinic

A Salary Hike Is Up To You

Morris asked God to help him obtain a wage increase. But God works through standard laws of economics. So see what happened when the factory superintendent invited Morris into his private office. And use "horse sense" reware boosts!

By GEORGE W. CRANE

Ph.D., M.D.
Case T-550: Morris K., aged 35 worked in an auto plant. Since he had a family and needed more money for living expenses he wanted a raise in pay. Having recently heard Dr. Billy Graham's sterling revival sermons Morris decided to ask God to help him get a higher pay check. And after a couple of weeks Morris was delighted to have the factory superintendent call him into the latter's private office. "Morris" the superintendent began "is it true that you have been asking the Lord to see that you get a boost in your pay check?" Morris eagerly nodded assent. "Then you are fired as of this very moment!" thundered the superintendent.

Morris was dumbfounded! "Bu—ut why?" spluttered Morris.

"Because it is my standard personnel policy never to employ a man who tries to go over the head of his boss!"

Personnel Psychology Another cardinal rule of Personnel Psychology is this: "The person you see in your bathroom mirror must give you your boost in wages; not the boss!"

Which means that salary increases as well as higher school marks are not "given as a mere whim of the employer or the school teacher. No indeed! They must be earned!

And usually because you have improved your output at the lathe or sales counter or have increased the number of correct words or math problems on your school exams. Most employers are eager to promote workers and thus raise their salaries, IF.

And that big "IF" means IF the employees produce enough increase output or sales to warrant an additional boost in their pay checks.

Alas many shortsighted labor leaders are now trying to "force" wage increases by the coercion of "strikes" or political pressure on Congressional candidates.

But such artificially boosted costs merely drive a corporation nearer bankruptcy. For foreign goods such as European and Japanese automobiles plus textiles steel etc., can easily undercut the prices that are required on similar American merchandise, produced at much higher labor costs!

Remember, a basic law of economics (little understood by average Americans) is this:

Unless you can increase your sales or output proportionately you do not merit a boost in wages!

Labor leaders however try to high-pressure Congress by claiming wages are far too low while they say profits are sky high.

You literate Americans (who can read and think) already know that corporation profits of 5 per cent are still about the rule in America.

And that 5 per cent is in inflated dollars that are actually only about 3 per cent (or even less) in purchasing power.

Meanwhile, labor leaders blindly demand an increase in the minimum wage law to make employers pay $2.25 per hour yet the small town shops and employers can't afford it.

So those shops or stores must close up thus throwing more workers on relief where the remaining fewer employed men and women must finance such additional welfare costs! Send for my "Tests for Employers and Employees," enclosing a long stamped return envelope, plus 25 cents (Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper enclosing a long stamped addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

End Budget Study Chore

The Greenville City School Board of Education on Monday night completed its workshop and deliberation sessions of the 1972-1973 school budget after a series of work sessions considering all aspects of the budget.

With this phase completed, the board has now announced a public hearing meeting on the budget to be held Monday evening April 24 beginning at 8:00 p.m.

The budget public hearing will take place at the new Wahl-Coates Elementary School auditorium. Dr. Cleet C. Cleetwood, superintendent of the Greenville City Schools, commented that information concerning the proposed budget will be made available prior to the public hearing.

Following the public hearing on Monday night, the school board will hold its regular meeting for April on Tuesday evening, April 25.

Honors Awarded Three At WCU

CULLOWHEE — Academic honors at Western Carolina University have been conferred upon three students from Greenville. Greenville students are: Vickie C. McDaniel, 207 Martinsborough Rd.; Kerry J. Rodgers, 1304 Evergreen Dr.; and Jamie L. White, 1737 Beaumont Dr.

Students on the dean's list must earn a quality point ratio of 3.0 on a scale of 4.0 for a regular quarter's work of not less than 12 quarter hours. Academic honors were won by 1,219 students on the dean's list for the winter quarter of the current year.

So Far, Refunds Of $45 Million For Tar Heels

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Revenue Department has mailed 932,700 income tax refund checks totaling $45 million, Asst. Revenue Commissioner James P. Senter reported today.

Senter said this compares with 888,200 checks totaling $38 million for the same period last year. The average check this year is $48.23.

Senter said that since April 15 falls on Saturday, the deadline for filing state returns has been extended until midnight Monday, April 17.

"We're expecting a total of 2.3 million returns to be filed this year," Senter said. "Our biggest deluge will be next Tuesday when around 275 bags are expected. It will start tapering off after Wednesday."

A HAPPY MARRIAGE ST. MARTIN'S, Md. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Pierce A. Beam recently celebrated their 76th wedding anniversary.

Beam, 100, was asked how he and his wife, Della, 92, get along.

"We do not fuss much anymore," Beam replied. "We can't hear each other."

ACEI Work Described By Convention Delegate

The ACEI, supported by fees and contributions from some 50,000 members, is an organization concerned with children from infancy through early adolescence. Headquarters for the non-profit organization is in Washington, D. C., with a staff of 33 persons providing services to the association's membership and to children.

One vital part of the association's work is publication of handbooks on children and children's education. Some of these Miss Pate mentioned are "Learning Centers," "Children and International Education," "Toward Better Kindergarten," "Learning to Live As Neighbors," and a book Miss Pate said she "especially recommend," one entitled All Children Have Gifts.

The local chapter of the association, Miss Pate noted, is open for membership to any interested person in the Greenville area. For more information, Miss Pate can be contacted at 1806 East Sixth Street or by telephone 752-7789.

Antique Auto Show In Kinston

The Coastal Plains Chapter of the Antique Automobile Club will hold its second annual antique car show Saturday at Vernon Park Mall in Kinston. The show is free.

Anyone owning a car made in 1942 or before may join in the show and or become a member of the group. Registration begins at 10 a.m. and judging will be at 1 p.m., with the presentation of awards at 3:30 p.m. Some 22 trophies will be awarded in each class, including the "Best in Show."

Those participating have been asked to wear "Good Ole Days" costumes, if possible. For further information, one should contact the Club president, Tommy Elks of Chocowinity at 946-7539.

Miss Mildred Pate of Greenville, Association of Childhood Education International (ACEI) interpreter for North Carolina, has returned home after attending an international conference of the association in Denver, Colorado.

Miss Pate was one of 33 delegates attending from North Carolina. The association, concerned with education for children in the two to 12 age group, has chapters throughout North Carolina and the nation.

The theme of the national meet this year was "Beyond the Horizon — The Quest for Meaning."

ACEI, Miss Pate said, "has chapters in every state and in 20 foreign countries. Representatives from all these locations attend the international conferences each year."

Miss Pate said about 1,600 conferees were on hand in Denver for this year's meeting, and that as many as 2,500 had attended in years past. A past state president of the North Carolina ACEI, Miss Pate has attended a number of the international conferences.

Currently, the international president of ACEI is Miss A. Esther Morgan, sister of North Carolina's Attorney General. Miss Morgan is a faculty member at the University of Florida.

Poet Jas. Seay To Give Public Reading

James Seay, poet-in-residence of Vanderbilt University, will be guest reader at East Carolina University in a public reading on Monday, sponsored by The ECU Poetry Forum.

At 8:00 p.m. in the Biology Auditorium (103 Biology Building), Seay will read selections from his poems.

While at ECU, Seay will also conduct a workshop in poetry for local poets. Student and area poets are encouraged to attend the workshop and to submit manuscripts for Seay's criticism. Schedule for the workshop is at 10:00 a.m. Monday in Room 319 of Austin Building, and Room 223 of Austin at 12:00 noon on Monday.

The first collection of the young poet "Let Not Your Heart" was published in 1970 by Wesleyan University Press of Middletown, Connecticut. Individual poems by Seay have appeared in "The Nation," "The New Orleans Review," "Virginia Quarterly Review," "Roanoke Review," "Per-Se" and in many other magazines.

Among honors accorded Seay have been the Emily Clark Balch Prize, the Academy of American Poets poetry prize, and the Southern Literary Festival Prize.

Seay has read his poetry at a number of U.S. universities including Boston College, George Washington University, University of North Carolina, University of Mississippi, Princeton University, and the University of Utah. In 1970 he read at a meeting of the South Atlantic Modern Language Association in Washington, D. C.

The professor-poet is married to the novelist Lee Smith, and they are the parents of two children.

High school, university and area poets are invited to attend the poetry reading and to bring their poems to the workshop sessions.

SHELLEY IN TOP ROLE

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Shelley Winters, with two Oscars to her credit, signed for a top role in "The Poseidon Adventure" for 20th Century-Fox.

 North Pitt Notes *****

By ELLEN HEATH

The North Pitt Chapter of the Pitt County Honor Society held the 1972 induction recently.

The parents of the new members were invited to the ceremony.

Gail Michaels and Jimmy Hayes presided over the ceremony. Rosalyn Jones, Ernest Robertson, Johnny Edwards, Gary Beacham and Ellen Heath conducted the ceremony on the four keys necessary to an active Honor Society member.

Sophomores who have maintained a 4.5 average during the past three semesters, along with juniors and seniors who have recently transferred to North Pitt, or who have pulled their high school averages to 4.5 were inducted in the society.

The senior inductees are James Boone, Joyce Baker and Kenneth Gilbert.

Junior-Senior Prom
The juniors have only one month to work before the May 12 Junior-Senior Prom.

The invitation committee has been busy addressing the invitations.

The students on this committee are Janice Drake, Ricky Eakes, Willie Battle, Jesse Anderson, Barbara Moore, Denise Daniels, Larry Pippins, Louis Person, Mary Langley, Ella Hardy, David Harris, Bobby Howard, Ulice Jordan, Augustus Andrews, Cora Andrews, Debra Speight, Betty Hopkins, Edna Howard, Ellen Heath, Mary Little, Carl Battle, Vounghie Williams, Brenda Bullock and Linda Corey.

Juniors who plan to attend the prom must pay $1 fee by April 21 to either David Harrison, Brenda Bullock, Vera Bullock or Brenda Payton.

Robin McKee, a very outstanding student at North Pitt, has been accepted to attend Governor's School in Winston-Salem this summer.

In the program, Robin will study literature. Congratulations, Robin!

Last Thursday some North Pitt students visited the Walter B. Jones Center in Greenville. The following students participated in the event: Ulice Jordan, Johnny Worsley, Barbara Moore, Mary Langley, Edna Howard, Bennie Ward, Debbie Parker, Matthew Gordon, Minnie Glover, Gregory Bryant, Joe Wright, Louis Person, Mary Grimes, Mittie Everett, William Williams, James Worsley, Jacqueline Carmon, Anne Murchison, Ocalus Brown, Marcia Howard, Evelyn Andrews, Alice Howard, Nancy Brown and Judy Carmack.

The Student Involvement Committee discussed Earth Week at its meeting Friday morning. Possible projects include planting trees and shrubbery, cleaning buses, cleaning lockers, making posters, and making a display in the showcase. The Student Involvement Committee will sponsor a doughnut sale on Friday to cover the expenses.

The Army Band, sponsored by the Student Involvement Committee, presented a concert for students in the study hall Wednesday.

A doughnut sale was sponsored by the Pep Club Wednesday to raise money for a wooden plaque with a Panther painted on it. This will be placed in the gymnasium.

Brenda Bullock, Ellen Heath, and Linda Corey enjoyed visitation weekend at Peace College last weekend.

Weekend activities included swimming, meeting other girls, singing by the Peace Ensemble, and just learning about the school.

A talent show will be held Friday night at North Pitt. Tickets are now on sale at 75 cents for students and $1 for adults.

Auditions ended Monday and rehearsals for those selected to perform was held Tuesday afternoon.

Ayden Board Sets Hearing On Monday

AYDEN — The Ayden Board of Commissioners Monday night set May 1 as the date for a public hearing to study whether or not all reimbursement funds in the subdivision regulations to include curb and gutter should be repealed.

The hearing was set after a recommendation that the regulation be repealed came from the Ayden Planning Board. A request that the property at Strawberry Banks be rezoned from RA-8 to RA8-MH was heard from Tarheel Homes and Realty.

Charles Hart asked that the town run water lines to his new home, located on Gum Swamp Road.

The town agreed to run the lines but Hart will be responsible for maintaining them. It was also agreed that no once could tap on to the line without the approval of the town board.

The Auxiliary Police Force was increased from 12 to 15 men. It was reported that Tommy Burney, Ayden chief of police, will conduct a training session for the auxiliary force April 18-29.

Mrs. Lucy Smith was given 120 days to have the Smith Lumber Company building removed. The building, located on East Avenue, has been condemned.

A resolution was approved seeking a permit to continue operation of the Ayden Sewage Treatment Plant.

Les Short and Charles Langley were appointed to serve on the Planning Board. Gene McLawhorn and Lucy Smith were named to three-year terms on the Zoning Board of Adjustments.

It was noted that new electrical lines have been installed from the Ayden-Grifton High School to Hanharan.

Spring Revival Series Slated

WINTERVILLE — Spring revival services will be held at the Winterville Free Will Baptist Church beginning Monday night.

Services will begin at 7:45 p.m. and will continue through Friday April 21.

The guest evangelist will be the Rev. W. H. Willis assisted by the church pastor, Rev. James Lupton.

Special music will be featured and a nursery will be provided for small children.

The public is invited to attend.

An estimated 3,000 bears and countless wolves roam the forests of Japan's island of Hokkaido.

Old Pitt Prison Unit To Help Youthful Offenders

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

A $90,000 expansion program is under way at the old Pitt County prison unit here as part of plan to provide vocational and academic training to mentally handicapped youthful offenders.

The prison unit, which once housed inmates assigned to road gangs, was closed January 18, 1964. The prison was used for more than a year as the Pitt County jail while the present court house annex was under construction, but otherwise had gone unoccupied since that time.

An estimated $50,000 has already been spent in renovating the old prison dormitory and kitchen area which now houses vocational training shops and academic classrooms.

The $90,000 addition is designed to provide a canteen area and offices for instructors and supervisors at the new school.

K. B. Bailey, area administrator for the Department of Correction said the project is a joint venture of Corrections and the state Vocational Rehabilitation Division.

The project began more than three years ago at the Greene County prison unit at Maury, Bailey explained, funded by a federal grant. And plans at that time included the use of the Pitt facility as the eventual home of the program.

With the completion of the renovation of the old facilities here, clients housed at the Greene County unit were transferred to the Martin County camp near Williamston in mid-March. They are bussed to Greenville each week-day to attend classes, Bailey explained.

The Greene County facility is now being used as a diagnostic reception center for adult inmates. There they are processed into the prison system and assigned to units near their homes.

Department of Correction Region Q commander, Maj.

James Langley explained that offenders being schooled at the Greenville center are first processed and tested at the Harnett County and Polk (Walke County) Youth Centers.

Although the youthful inmates include both misdemeanor and felony prisoners, they are honor graders and classified as minimum custody prisoners and range in age from 17 to 20, Langley explained.

Capt. Thomas E. Edwards, superintendent of the Martin County unit and the man responsible for the custody of the trainees said supervisory personnel have been impressed with the attitude of the students. He indicated they show a willingness to improve themselves so they can take a more secure place in society.

Currently about 40 offenders are being trained at the Greenville rehabilitation center. However, Langley said, the Martin facility and the Greenville school can accommodate about 60 students.

Raymond Cox, a Vocational Rehabilitation employee is program director at the school and has headed the training program since its inception.

Facilities at the center, he explained, include carpentry, welding and brickmasonry shops as well as academic classrooms and counseling areas.

According to Cox, clients have intelligence quotients ranging from 50 to 85. Instruction at the center is designed to give the inmates job skills and take them academically — according to their individual abilities — from the first grade level through high school equivalency.

Completion of the 3,500 square feet addition at the rehabilitation center is expected the last of June, according to Bailey. Current space in use in the training program totals about 3,500 square feet also, the area administrator noted.

The corrections official said that at some future time, dormitories and kitchen facilities might be constructed at the site to make the complex self sufficient.

Bailey emphasized that the "main objective" of the return to society as useful program is to prepare inmates citizens," through adequate planning, training and teaching.

REHABILITATION CENTER . . . work progresses on the Department of Correction's rehabilitation center at the old Pitt County prison unit. The former prison camp now houses vocational and academic training facilities for mentally retarded youthful offenders. (Reflector Staff Photo)
