Scott Questioning N.C. Presidential Primary Decision

By YVONNE BASKIN
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Bob Scott said today he now has "serious reservations" about the idea of North Carolina holding a presidential preference primary every four years.

"I frankly am having some second thoughts about it," Scott told a news conference. He noted that he had supported the proposal when it was adopted by the 1971 General Assembly.

He said that he is concerned about the mixing of state and national politics and has always thought that the presidential primary should have been on a different date than the state primaries. Both will be held May 6 this year.

Asked if he would support a move to repeal the law creating the primary, Scott said: "I'm not willing to go that far yet. I may have more to say after it's all over."

Scott said he believes that primaries are "becoming less meaningful" now that more and more states are holding them. He said the candidates "stretch themselves so thin" that it is not good.

And he said that primary laws differ so much that results are misleading. He said the news media is now calling Sen. Edmund Muskie the underdog when he actually has won more delegate votes in the primaries than any other candidate.

Scott reiterated his "unswerving support" for Muskie even though the Maine senator has decided not to campaign personally in North Carolina in order to concentrate on other primaries.

"I am committed, and I will stay committed," Scott said. "I have not regretted my decision for a minute. As long as Ed Muskie is in it, I am in it."

Scott said he was naturally "disappointed" when Muskie revised his strategy in the North Carolina primary, but he said he understood the decision and had had to make similar ones in his campaign for governor.

Apollo 16 Sweeps On To Begin Moon Orbit Today

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Apollo 16 astronauts, firmly in the grip of lunar gravity, snapped pictures of their cratered target today and sped on toward an afternoon orbit of the moon.

The problems of flaking paint, a locked guidance system, plumbing troubles, a balking dock latch and a faulty radio antenna were behind them and their spaceship was running smoothly.

John W. Young, Charles M. Duke Jr. and Thomas K. Mattingly II awoke an hour early today to begin their own countdown for the engine-firing that would thrust them into orbit to start six days of scientific adventure in the vicinity of the moon.

In midmorning, about 17,900 miles from that alien world, Mattingly used a camera equipped with special film and filters to take pictures of the moon.

They were not ordinary tourist snapshots, but scientific photos to obtain information on the lunar atmosphere and radiation emitted from the surface.

The moon took gravitational control of Apollo 16 at 12:07 a.m. when the astronauts passed through a so-called "twilight zone" in which the gravitational influence of the earth and moon is equal.

They zipped through a so-called "twilight zone" in which the gravitational influence of the earth and moon is equal at 12:07 a.m. EST. When Apollo 16 crossed this invisible line, the moon won the gravitational tug-of-war and the spaceship's speed accelerated after slowing from 24,500 to 1,600 miles an hour on the long outward journey from the earth. The speed was to increase to about 5,700 m.p.h. as the astronauts loop behind the moon and out of radio contact with earth, they were to fire the engine of the command ship Casper to whip into lunar orbit.

Hospital Bd. Defers Program UNC Offer Turned Down

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

The Pitt Memorial Hospital Board approved last night prior action by the hospital's medical staff to reject an offer from the University of North Carolina to institute a physician's teaching program in the hospital.

Dr. Earl Trevathan said that decision had to be made hurriedly after notification on April 12 that an answer would be needed by April 18. Not sure of the implications for cooperation with ECU and not willing to move so quickly into such a large teaching operation with so little space in the old hospital, the staff decided to decline the offer for this year, he said.

It was voted that a representative of the Trustees would work with the medical staff on future decisions of this importance.

Co-administrator Rick Gilstrap spoke on personnel relations and payroll administration at the hospital. There are some 585 persons on the payroll now, 110 men and 475 women, who receive 13 checks each per year. He said an orientation program is given once a month to familiarize new employees with the rest of the hospital and to make sure they know and understand everything in the employee's handbook. Major medical staff privileges were approved following recommendation by the medical staff for these physicians:

Dr. J. A. Koontz, general medicine; Dr. Farnk Martin, internal medicine; Dr. B. G. Shapley, pediatrics; Dr. R. L. Timmons, neurosurgery; and Dr. R. H. Knott, otolaryngology.

A model of the new hospital was viewed by the Trustees and some places where it may be seen by county citizens were announced. Today it is being taken to N. C. National Bank at Five Points where it will be displayed until April 17. Future places and times for display of the model include Home Savings and Loan in Bethel, April 27-May 4; the Winterville Town Hall, May 4-11; and Home Savings in Greenville, May 11-18. Other places will be announced later, Hospital Administrator Jack Richardson said. Richardson said a working drawing of the new hospital is due in November and that beginning of construction is slated for February of next year. The Trustees were reminded that the May meeting will be at 8 p.m. in the new meeting place, the Education Building, downstairs of the former Nurses' Residence.

Board At ECU

The Board of Governors of the North Carolina University system will meet here tomorrow.

The Board members are scheduled to leave Raleigh at 8 a.m. and be here to tour the East Carolina University campus at 10 a.m. They will convene in Room 105 of the Home Economics Building immediately after the tour and will be welcomed by Dr. Leo Jenkins. They will have lunch here, also.

Teacher Honored

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — The national teacher of the year is 29-year-old Durham High School history teacher James M. Rogers.

Rogers' honor was announced by the state Department of Public Instruction, which said he will receive the award at White House ceremonies sometime next week.

Rogers earlier was named North Carolina teacher of the year and his citation noted the lively, personal and often unorthodox way he conducts classes. He has been teaching only two years, after discovering, he says that dropouts need help most in the classroom before they leave school.

He had been a career counselor for dropouts. His duties at Durham High include teaching four U.S. history classes and one black studies class.

The national award is sponsored by Encyclopedia Britannica, Ladies Home Journal and the Council of Chief State School Officers.

State Director Visits County Health Offices

State Board of Health director Jacob Koomen and several State Board staff members visited the Pitt County Community Health Department yesterday afternoon.

The other visitors included Dr. W. Burns Jones, assistant director; Dr. Ronald Levine, director of community health division; and J. P. Johnson, assistant personnel officer.

Dr. Robert W. Muiy, the Community Health Department director, welcomed the men and had a staff member take each on a tour of the department, pointing out changes that have been made in the past few months. He explained how the Department has been reorganized and that weekly division meetings have been instituted.

The men were invited to sit in on several division meetings. Dr. Koomen officially open a Health Department Employees Arts and Crafts Exhibit. Other special guests for the exhibit opening were Charles Gaskins, chairman, Sammy Carson, and H. R. Gray, all members of the County Board of Health, Pitt Memorial Hospital representatives, Miss Jean Owens, director of nursing, and Dr. Earl Trevathan, chief of staff; and Coastal Plain Mental Health Center representatives, Philp Clark, Murray Chesson, Pat Singleton, and Ron Bergman.

Many Visitors Drawn To Pitt Tech Center

Almost 900 people attended the Pitt Technical Institute Library Resource Center for the four sessions of Open House Monday and Tuesday during the day and again in the evening.

For the occasion, a number of special exhibits and displays to give a visual representation of the varied and growing number of programs and courses were shown.

Many of the exhibits were actual projects or items made by students enrolled in PTI programs, courses and classes.

Altogether nearly 40

exhibits and displays were shown on the third floor library covering basic curriculum areas.

Among these were displays outlining one of the newest courses, that of air and water resources technology. Others included commercial art, agricultural business and chemicals, mechanical drafting, architectural drafting, electronics, police science, practical nursing, data processing, auto mechanics, mental health, teacher assistant, and machinist.

Extension programs included fire service training, industrial training, aviation, and management development programs.

General Adult Education courses, those designed for creative and home craft type of study had exhibits in crewel embroidery, needlepoint, crochet, string art, copper tooling, aluminum etching and sewing.

Of particular interest were showings of selected items from among the library's large media reference materials. The Pitt Tech microfilm collection, for example, encompasses early

Hanoi Forces Score Economy Up, Inflation Up

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnam's three-week-old offensive scored today in coastal Binh Dinh Province east of the central highlands as Communist forces overran a South Vietnamese battalion headquarters and captured the nearby district town of Hoai An.

It was the first major success on the central coast for the offensive, in which the North Vietnamese previously have taken a 10-mile strip below the demilitarized zone and captured two district towns near the Cambodian border north of Saigon.

The defender of Hoai An, 300 miles northeast of Saigon, and Landing Zone Orange, the battalion headquarters two miles away, fled in confusion. Field reports said that in a week of fighting prior to the climactic thrust, at least 80 government troops were killed and 80 were wounded.

Hoai An is the sixth of South Vietnam's 242 district towns lost by the government in the enemy offensive, while Landing Zone Orange is the 18th government military position given up. Landing Zone Pony, just south of Hoai An was abandoned under pressure two days ago, field reports said.

Three American advisers were evacuated by helicopter from Hoai An and Orange. One of them was slightly wounded. A battalion of South Vietnamese troops from the 22nd Division fled from Orange under heavy fire. "They broke up and ran," said one field report.

In the air war, meanwhile, U.S. fighter-bombers returned in force to North Vietnam's skies after a two-day curtailment and flew between 100 and 150 strikes against fuel and supply depots in the southern panchland.

The planes stayed away from the Hanoi-Haiphong heartland for the third straight day, U.S. military sources said. Despite denials from Washington, sources in Saigon say President Nixon has put the area above the 20th parallel off limits to American bombers in hopes that Hanoi will wind down its offensive in the South.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's economy recorded a strong gain in the first three months of the year, but the post-freeze rate of inflation surged to a sharp 6.2 per cent, the government said today.

The Commerce Department reported that Gross National Product, market value of the nation's goods and services, rose $30.3 billion in the January-March quarter, advancing at an annual rate of 11.8 per cent.

But well over half the increase was attributed to inflation, as prices soared following the close of the wage-price freeze and the onset of President Nixon's Phase 2 economic controls.

GNP is the broadest measure of the economy. The Nixon administration has projected that it will rise by 9.4 per cent for all of 1972.

The $30.3-billion gain brought GNP to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $1.103 trillion, the department said.

The increase was about in line with administration projections although the rate of inflation was sharply above the forecast.

According to administration projections, about two-thirds of the expected 9.4 per cent growth is supposed to be a non-inflationary gain.

But the figures for the first quarter showed that the gain in that period, with inflation discounted, was 5.3 per cent.

This was slower than the 5.8 per cent recorded in the last three months of 1971, when the economy quickened after a mid-year slowdown.

GNP increased $19.5 billion in the last three months of last year, but the rate of inflation was only 1.7 per cent.

The 6.2 per cent figure on price increases the first quarter was the highest since the 6.3 per cent recorded in the fourth quarter of 1970, Commerce officials said.

The administration says the post-freeze bulge in inflation already has subsided and the slower rate should show in later statistics.

In another report, the department said personal income of all Americans increased $3.3 billion in March to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $905 billion.

The department also said personal income in February actually increased by $9 billion instead of the $5 billion reported originally.

It said the unusually large February revision took into account estimates of retroactive pay increases approved by the Pay Board.

In March, wage and salary payments increased $2 billion.

Port Closed As Freighter And Barge Collide

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — A freighter and a gasoline barge collided in the Cape Fear River near Wilmington before dawn today, forcing the port to be closed for about two hours after hundreds of gallons of gasoline spilled into the river.

Lt. Cmdr. Donald Krug of the Coast Guard said the collision occurred in heavy fog about 10 miles downstream from Wilmington.

He said the freighter M. V. Arad struck the barge, which was being pulled by the tug boat Hawk. Both vessels were headed to sea.

The leak in the barge was repaired and it was towed to the Gulf Oil terminal at Wilmington.

The freighter ran aground after the collision and was awaiting high tide to break free.

SEEKS NATIONALIZATION

SANTIAGO (AP) — In another aftermath of the Anderson papers, President Salvador Allende says he will ask the Chilean Congress to nationalize International Telephone and Telegraph Corp.'s holdings in Chile, valued by the company at $200 million.

School Fights Flared

About 20 Rose High students became involved in scuffling and fighting early this morning at Rose High School.

Assistant Principal David Bumgarner said that the problem started just before school took in, beginning on the school grounds. He noted that boys and girls, black and white, joined in and that police were called in to the scene.

Principal Robert Allgood said that an investigation of the incident reveals that initially a small group of juniors and seniors were playing, and that some on-lookers, mistaking the play for fighting, turned the situation into a real fight. "It was unfortunate that what started out as play ended in a scuffle," the principal stated. "Some of our kids have not reached the point of having a built-in reserve that would make it possible to avoid such situations."

Police Chief Glenn Cannon said he dispatched six officers to the school shortly before nine o'clock.

Both Bumgarner and Cannon said the situation seemed to be under control and that the situation had quieted down late this morning. Cannon is keeping three policemen on duty as a safeguard until it is certain there will be no further flare-ups resulting from the disturbance.

Bumgarner said that a number of students were reluctant at first to go to classes, but that all students had reported to their classes.

In addition to police, a number of parents were called in to be present at various points in the school.

One of the students, football player, Reggie Perkins, was taken to a doctor to check on a possible shoulder injury. Bumgarner said Perkins had received a kick in the shoulder. There were other injuries reported but the exact number had not been determined.

Job-Hunting Boys Acquire Police Record

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Three teen-agers trying to make a little pocket money by mowing lawns after school now face 30 days in the pokey and criminal records because they failed to purchase city identification cards.

Next Monday Pershing "Kip" Williams Jr., Rick Sigler and Danny Walters are scheduled to appear in Hollywood Municipal Court for violating Hollywood's ID law. If convicted, each of the 17-year-old high schoolers can receive a maximum penalty of 30 days in jail and a $500 fine.

The boys, all from neighboring Miami, ran afoul with the law while ringing doorbells April 12. A police cruiser pulled up to their lawnmower laden auto and the officer asked if they had the necessary credentials which cost about $2.50.

"Kip" Williams recalled, "We said 'No,' and he said 'You're under arrest.'"

"We couldn't help but smile because it was such a ridiculous thing," he said.

The smiles quickly disappeared as the officer ordered the teens to spread eagle against the car for frisking and then placed them in the cruiser while he searched their auto.

Later a tow truck hauled Williams' auto off to the pound while the young suspects were hustled off to jail.

After being mugged and fingerprinted, the three were released on $55 bond. The parents were perplexed.

"I'm bewildered about the whole thing," said Pershing Williams Sr. "The police should have at least told them about the law and ordered them to beat it. Then, if they came back, okay, run them in. But to treat them like big-time criminals..."

Young Williams says he and his pals are considering retaining a lawyer to prevent a permanent police record.

"They've already got our fingerprints and photographs," the youth said. "That's not going to help us later on when we go looking for jobs. You just check the box which asks if you've ever been arrested and that's it. They don't even give you a chance to explain."

"We were just doing it for extra money because we didn't want to ask our parents for money," the Norland High senior explained.

Meanwhile, Hollywood police defended the ID law, noting, "door to door solicitation is an excellent cover for potential burglars."

Federal Judge Sarah Hughes Encourages Women To Run For Office

By RENA PEDERSON
DALLAS (UPI)—If there ever were an honor of First Lady of American Law, Judge Sarah T. Hughes of Texas would be in the running.

When Judge Hughes was appointed a district judge back in 1931, women in Texas were not even allowed to sit on juries. Her opponents said she should be "at home washing dishes."

Sarah Hughes said no soap. And she went on to win re-election every year until 1961 when President John F. Kennedy appointed her to the federal bench. Ironically, when Kennedy was assassinated two years later, she had the task of swearing in his successor, Lyndon B. Johnson.

"I wouldn't say that was the highlight of my career although

I got more publicity from that than anything," she said. "I'd rather be remembered by something I did."

Cites Woman's Progress
Which would include three terms in the Texas legislature and, most recently, presiding over a complicated Texas stock fraud scandal case. She also was the first woman federal judge appointed in a state and is currently one of four women serving on the federal bench.

And in 1952 there was a lot of talk about running the scrappy little lawyer for the vice presidency at the national convention.

"It was such a delightful idea," she mused in an interview. "But I knew it was not a serious campaign. Luckily so much progress has been made in women's rights, it could be serious today—just look at Shirley Chisholm."

At 75, Mrs. Hughes keeps trim by bicycling in the morning or jogging around her pool. Last Thanksgiving she went on a rigorous raft trip down the Big Bend Canyon and she plans to go mountain climbing in Norway this summer. At an age when most women are cooing over grand-baby pictures, she swims daily and says she plans to continue taking art appreciation and Spanish courses "until I die."

She is an outspoken advocate of prison reform and of alleviating poverty as a source of crime. She also is one of the nation's strongest advocates for equal rights for women.

No Congratulations
"I'm all for women's liberation. It's focusing attention on a great waste of woman power in the United States. Our women are a resource we've neglected for too many years," she said with a sharp finger-tap on her desk.

She points out that since she first arrived in Texas in 1922 women have gained the right to sit on juries, the right to make contracts and more property rights.

"There has been a marked improvement for women's rights, but progress has proceeded at a snail's pace. And there is no cause for congratulations," she said.

She supports proposed equal rights measures for women and advises women will need "the zeal of the early suffragettes to get what they deserve in society."

She pointed out that there are only 13 women in Congress today, six less than a decade ago, and that when President Nixon appointed 200 top jobs, only three were filled by women. She has always encouraged more women to run for public office and seemed particularly pleased that this year there are more women running for state office than ever before and that Rep.

Frances Parethold is running for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

"There are more women in Texas than men," Mrs. Hughes said. "If we were to get out and work we can elect more women than ever before, but it is important to support qualified women."

Her blue eyes sparkle wide open when she talks about elections and she said with a wry smile that she misses politics "terribly."

She used the same wide-eyed look to say she'd "never even thought" about retiring.

Quick Bread Has Apple-Orange Flavor

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Something new has happened to apple quick bread. We've just tested a delightful recipe that adds slivered orange rind to the loaf and it's a great addition.

Another feature of this bread cooks will like—it's flat on top with only a few slight cracks.

We like this bread spread with cream cheese but you may want to serve it with butter or even plain.

APPLE ORANGE BREAD
2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 cup butter or margarine
3/4 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
2 eggs
2 tablespoons milk
1 cup finely diced pared cooking apple
1/4 cup lightly packed slivered orange rind, see note below

On wax paper sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg.

In a large mixing bowl cream butter and sugar. Add eggs one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add milk and stir in apple. Blend in flour mixture. Stir in slivered orange rind. Mixture will be on the stiff side. Turn into a greased loaf pan (9 by 5 by 3 inches) and spread evenly.

Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean—about 1 hour. Place pan on a wire rack to cool, for 10 minutes; turn out of pan onto wire rack; turn right side up. Cool completely.

Note: To prepare slivered orange rind, remove outer rind in thin strips with a vegetable peeler; cut into slivers with scissors or knife.

APPLE ORANGE BREAD — Finely diced apple and slivered orange rind help to give this quick loaf fine flavor.

Special Program Given BPW Club Thursday Night

Mrs. Ruth Scott, chairman of the World Affairs Committee, introduced the program based on kindness, understanding, hospitality, and charity for others at the meeting of the Greenville Business and Professional Women's Club on Thursday night.

"BPW Melting Pot" was the theme discussed as the idea progressed relative to people of other lands, who are either studying here or have become citizens. Mrs. Betty LeRoux told of her husband, who is French and was born in South Africa.

Mrs. Le Roux and Mrs. Doris Marlowe entertained by singing a duet.

Mrs. Popsy Baker, president, welcomed Miss Donna Smith and Don Scurnch as guests of the club.

Scurnch described some of his work with the "foreign" students at the university.

The slate of new officers was presented by Mrs. Ruth Garner, chairman of the nominating committee. These officers will be installed in May.

Delegates were chosen for the state convention to be held in Pinehurst during the first part of June.

Symphony Ball Set For Saturday In Pinehurst

PINEHURST—The 12th annual North Carolina Symphony Ball will be held at the Country Club of North Carolina here Saturday night.

The guest list was released this week by Gov. and Mrs. Bob Scott, host and hostess for the event, and Symphony Ball Co-Chairmen Irwin Belk and Mrs. Edward Town Taws Jr.

Local area patrons are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee West and Frank M. Wooten Jr. of Greenville and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon R. Whitley of Williamston.

The N. C. Symphony Ball is held each spring to benefit the maintenance fund of the North Carolina Symphony.

A featured attraction of this year's ball will be the Bill Harrington Orchestra, the group who played for both the Nixon daughters' weddings and has performed at social and charity balls all over the United States. The orchestra will play for cocktails and after-dinner dancing.

Other events on tap for the gala occasion include the first annual North Carolina Symphony Golf Tournament, 18-hole competition on the famous CCNC course; buffet dinner; and a mini-concert by the North Carolina Symphony Chamber Players.

The Symphony Ball was established in 1960 by Gov. and Mrs. Terry Sanford as a means of raising funds to compensate for income-expense differential. Over the past decade it has become one of the preeminent social events in the Tarheel state, annually attracting hundreds of North Carolinians.

Shower Given Miss Turnage

A shower was given in honor of bride-elect Miss Sue Turnage on Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wilson.

Mrs. Rodney Johnson, Mrs. Don Mills, Miss Susan Hice and Miss Barbara Fussell served as hostesses.

The refreshment table was covered with a white linen lace cloth centered with a spring bouquet of yellow and white daisies and baby mums accented with greenery. Two yellow candles outlined the arrangement to accent the green and yellow decor.

The honoree and mother of the bride were presented with corsages of white carnations.

Social Workers Are Dropouts

BIRMINGHAM, England (WNS)—Stanley Williams, secretary of the Margery Fry Trust, has complained because lady social workers employed in its rehabilitation centers for ex-prisoners fall in love with the men and resign so that they can marry and become housewives.

"I suppose that it proves we are succeeding in helping these men," admitted Williams, "but we have trouble finding replacements."

No More Nights Out For Men

RINGWOOD england (WNS)—Because husbands no longer stop at their local bar for a drink or two on their way home from work 38 pubs here have requested government permission to open 30 minutes later in the evening. "Women's Lib is the reason" said Mary Jones of the Lambs Inn. "In the old days wives didn't have authority but now they want hubby at home while dinner's still hot."

Sandra Thompson of the Railway Pub added "Drinks with the lads is finished unless they include the ladies too. After supper today's young groom takes his wife out to have a pint with him."

A Civil War Historian Calls Confederacy Women Strong-Willed

By KATHRYN JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The women of the Confederacy, strong-willed, enduring, and often fierce in defense of their husbands and the South, could well be called forerunners of women's lib, says a well-known Civil War historian.

"They were among the most ardent advocates of secession and often the most bitter and vengeful," said Dr. Bell I. Wiley, an Emory University historian and author of numerous books on the Civil War.

Wiley said that while preparing a series of lectures on "Women of the Lost Cause," he realized these southern women did much to aid the lib movement of today.

He obtained his material from letters and diaries and an interview, he told what they revealed about Confederate women.

In the spring of 1861, a Wisconsin officer encamped near Fredericksburg, Va., wrote a friend, "You have no idea, Libby, how bitter these people are in their hatred of us Yankees. They hate us all the way through ... particularly the women."

In New Orleans and other southern cities occupied by the federals, women cursed the men in blue and pretended to be nauseated when they met them on the streets. Some even doused the Yankees from a second floor window with the contents of chamberpots.

Some southern women were opposed to slavery and said so, Wiley said, but they still remained loyal to the South and its cause.

Mary Boykin Chestnut, wife of a U.S. senator who later was military aide to Jefferson Davis was one of those. "Her principal reason for loathing slavery was its corrupting influence on the white men of the south," Wiley said.

In 1861, Mrs. Chestnut wrote in her diary, "God forgive us, but ours is a monstrous system, a wrong, an inequity. Like the patriarchs of old, our men live in one house with their wives and their concubines, and the mulattoes one sees in every family partly resemble the white children.

"Any lady is ready to tell you who is the father of all the mulatto children in everybody's household but her own. Those she seems to think dropped from the clouds. My disgust sometimes is boiling over."

Even in Civil War days, women accompanied husbands who were running for public office on the campaigns. Virginia Tunstall Clay accompanied her husband, Clement Claiborne Clay on his campaign for U.S. Senator. On impulse, she persuaded an innkeeper's daughter to exchange her country sunbonnet for Mrs. Clay's pretentious stylish city hat.

She later credited the green bonnet, lined in pink and stiffened with pasteboard slats, with being the "political master stroke" in winning Clay a rural county that previously had been for the incumbent.

Wiley said Confederate women who ran plantations and large farms while their husbands were at war often managed with great proficiency.

With only the help of their children, many planted crops, plowed fields, reaped harvests, killed hogs, cured meat, cut and hauled firewood and spun material for clothes. They also had to tan leather for shoes and treat family illnesses with medicine made from roots and herbs.

One Virginia woman, while struggling to provide for herself and her children, wrote her husband, "Don't be uneasy about us. We will try and take care of ourselves as best we can. I don't mind what I do just so you can get back safe."

While the war did not transform the South to a patriarchy, Wiley said the war and Reconstruction did weaken the South's patriarchy.

"The southern male, whose dominance both sexes accepted in antebellum times, lost caste by suffering defeat in the war that he made and conducted," said Wiley. "When he came home from that war, he could not logically regard and treat as utterly inferior the women who had successfully managed a farm or plantation during his absence."

Wiley said women made more progress in the 49 years following the Civil War to the first World War, than they had in the 78 years from Revolutionary days up to the Civil War.

Second Start At Age 85

PARIS (WNS) — Berthe Boyv 85 who was the Brigitte Bardot of the Belle Epoque has agreed to come out of retirement in order to play the role of Voltaire. "It appears that I have the voice and profile of Voltaire but I'm only going to do this on French radio," she said. Mme. Boyv was discovered at the age of 13 by Sarah Bernhardt and played her first male role with the Comedie Francaise in 1905. "I started writing my memoirs but realized that they are not worth the writing when I recalled my meeting with Andre Gide in Vittel in 1933" confided the actress. Gide saw her performance of Jean Cocteau's "The Human Voice" in Vittel and told her she was "marvelous." But in his published journal he wrote, "1933. Vittel. Nobody here worth prolonging life for."

Waitress Unravels Restaurant Mystery

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Someone wanted to know why some people come into a restaurant and sit at a dirty table when there are clean tables they could just as easily sit at. Well, I'm a waitress, and I think I know.

- Some folks like to have a table that is NOT near the rest rooms. [And some want one NEAR the rest rooms.]
- Some like to sit near the music. [Others sit as far away from the music as they can get.]
- They don't want to be near the kitchen. [Too noisy and too much hustling and bustling of the help.]
- Some like to sit where they can watch the door to see who comes in.
- Some want a table where they can be seen.
- Others prefer an out-of-the-way table where they're less conspicuous.
- Some like to sit near the window so they can look out.
- Some like to sit where they can keep their eye on the clock.
- Some like to sit near the exit in case of fire.

I'm sure there are other reasons, but I've got to go now because I'm on duty and must clear a certain table. It's the favorite with many customers because [if you'll forgive me for bragging], it's my station. LOVE, LOIS

DEAR LOIS: It's easy to understand why customers like you. Thanks for writing.

DEAR ABBY: "ON THE VERGE," who complained because his wife was frigid, gave a good physical description of himself. [Six feet two, well-built, a full head of hair, gray in the temples, good looking.] But he didn't describe the psychological conditions his wife had to live with.

A man who doesn't let his wife make any decisions in their marriage will soon find that he is living with a robot, and robots make very poor bed partners.

I know, because my husband has made all the decisions in our marriage. I have become very angry, and I take my anger out on my husband by not responding to his emotional needs, especially those related to sex.

I am a college graduate with a good mind, but somehow my husband has always smothered and belittled everything I've ever tried to do. I wonder where in the world my husband thinks my head was before I married him?

RESIGNED ROBOT

DEAR ROBOT: You don't say how long you've been married, but if you have resigned yourself to being a "robot" for the rest of your life, your head is not where it's doing you the most good.

DEAR ABBY: Perhaps "ON THE VERGE," that handsome, athletic husband who couldn't get his wife into the bedroom, should evaluate his "game" in the bedroom.

He may have a headful of premature gray hair, play golf, tennis and handball—and still be a complete dud in bed. Even two heads of gray hair wouldn't make up for a nothing performance in bed.

It just might be that 25 years of nothing, nothing, nothing has produced a frigid wife.

Believe me, most frigid wives did not get that way by themselves, and I'll bet "On the Verge's" hunger can't hold a candle to his wife's.

DEAR ABBY: I read the letter from "ON THE VERGE" and I got the shock of my life.

DEVILED EGGS WITH SOUR CREAM
Attractive and satisfying combination.
6 large eggs
1/4 cup butter, soft
1 teaspoon instant onion, crushed fine
1 tablespoon minced parsley
1/4 teaspoon salt
1-16th teaspoon white pepper
1 1/2 teaspoons prepared yellow mustard

1 container (8 ounces) commercial sour cream
3 tablespoons packaged flavored fine dry bread crumbs
3 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

Hard-cook eggs and halve lengthwise; remove yolks and mash fine with 3 tablespoons of the butter, the onion, parsley, salt, pepper and mustard. Refill white cavities with yolk mixture. Place stuffed side up in a buttered oblong 1 1/2-quart glass baking dish (10 by 6 by 1 3/4 inches) or similar utensil. Spread sour cream over eggs so their tops are covered. Melt remaining 1 tablespoon butter

It could have been written by my husband, except for the color of his hair and his age. My husband is 33. I love my husband and have no reason or excuse for treating him this way. I just never felt like going to bed when he did, so I'd stay up and do something else until he'd fall asleep. I never realized that he would get the notion that I was avoiding him.

After reading that husband's letter I realized that if he could be considering looking elsewhere for love, so could mine. [If he hasn't already.]

My husband's birthday is the last of next month, but he is going to get his gift early. A changed wife!
I just hope and pray I'm not too late. STUPID IN B'HAM

DEAR ABBY: I am tired of reading letters in your column from self-confessed "great" lovers who complain because their wives are frigid.

The sexual prowess of the American male is a myth, perpetuated by men who think they know all there is to know about women.

Your stock answer is, "Talk it over with your mate." Well, forget it.

If a wife says one word to her husband about what arouses her, or what turns her off, he will regard it as a brutal assault on his masculinity. For no American man will admit that he is no good in bed.

There is an old saying, "There are no cold women. Only clumsy men." How true! But it took a Frenchman to say it. After twenty years of marriage, you may sign this wife either "DISGUSTED," or "SLEEPING ALONE IN W. VA."

A Different Situation Today

The renewed bombing of North Vietnam has made some politicians nervous and certainly these new assaults are not without risks. It might help to calm fears of a renewed involvement by the United States to recognize that the situation in Vietnam today is far different from what it was at the peak of the war.

Then there was bombing in the north, but also U.S. ground troops were carrying the heavy part of the fighting on the battle fronts. Now American bombers are striking at the enemy, but our total forces in Vietnam have shrunk well below the 100,000 mark and it is a certainty that U.S. ground troops are not going to be committed to battle again. At the peak of the U.S. involvement there were real doubts as to whether the South Vietnamese troops would stand and fight against their northern brothers and, in fact, whether the populace was even interested in avoiding a take over by the north. This time the South Vietnamese troops have already shown that they are capable of standing up to the Communist forces and actually fighting back to retrieve areas taken by the north. There is also much to indicate that South Vietnamese people do not want to live under the Hanoi regime.

We feel that the United States should continue to disengage from the Vietnam war. We should have been there long enough to accomplish our purpose, which was to allow South Vietnam to gain strength to stand up to the North. In addition the war issue has been divisive in our own country and its continuation can create more internal problems for us.

At the same time, our withdrawal should be orderly, giving the South Vietnamese enough support as they take over the war effort to survive if they have the will to do so.

This latest offensive was purely the work of the Communist and so far the South Vietnam forces have conducted themselves surprisingly well. We would rather not have seen the increased bombings by our planes, but they may have given the South Vietnamese the boost they needed to hold on in the ground fighting.

A Problem In The 12th Man

By BRYAN HAISLIP
CHAPEL HILL—Solving the 12th man mystery is the goal of the Center for Alcohol Studies at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Eleven out of 12 social drinkers stay that way, taking pleasure in moderate drinking and leading useful lives (perhaps slightly longer ones, in fact, than total abstainers.)

The 12th drinks to excess with hazards to his health, his family and job, and the society in which he lives.

"What makes him different?" asked Dr. John A.

Ewing, the center's director. "If we knew that, we could attack the problems of alcoholism from the angle of prevention rather than treatment and rehabilitation."

Some authorities say body chemistry is involved, that the tendency to become an alcoholic is inherited. "There are indications that alcoholism runs in families," Dr. Ewing agreed.

Some blame the society; yet the 11 live under essentially the same social pressures without becoming alcoholics which makes a problem of the 12th. Others point to personality traits and psychological make-up, but so far research has provided no valid conclusions, Dr.

A Multi-Faceted Answer
The answer probably lies in a combination of factors, he speculated, rather than a single cause which can be identified and isolated.

Finding the answer, Dr. Ewing added, requires scientific studies to determine how people drink and why they drink, and what effect legal controls and educational programs have on drinking patterns.

The center was created to do the detective work, drawing on UNC resources in the schools of education, medicine, law, public health and social work.

To the degree that it is successful, it can accomplish savings in tax dollars as well as reduce the multi-million social costs of alcoholism in wrecked lives.

One indicator of alcohol's destructive force, Dr. Ewing noted, is the fact that heavy drinking is associated with at least 50 per cent of all violent deaths in the state, whether by automobile, accident, or murder.

Prior Emphasis On Treatment

Over the past 20 years, he observed, North Carolina has spent millions of dollars trying to rehabilitate alcoholics but hardly pennies to prevent or even understand their problems.

Rep. Sam Johnson of Wake, a leader in passage of the 1969 act which established the alcohol studies center, now serves as president of its 18-member Citizen Advisory Council. "Public attitudes are the most significant factor regarding alcoholism," he said, "and there should be an effort in North Carolina to provide long range leadership and accurately presented facts."

The center got started with a $40,000 annual budget, doubled by the 1971 legislature.

Substantial federal funds which had been anticipated late last year failed to materialize. Other applications are being prepared, and grants to expand the center's work may yet be forthcoming.

Alamance-Caswell Study
Meanwhile, the center is giving major attention to a study in Alamance and Caswell counties on public attitudes on health and drinking practices. The sampling will cover one per cent of the area's population 15 years of age and older.

Geared for completion this summer, the survey will "offer a vast amount of useful data as well as baseline information against which future studies can be compared," Dr. Ewing explained.

Drinking styles vary around the world, said Dr. Ewing, a native of Scotland. As a rule, the European looks on it as a part of everyday life; the Southern American is apt to feel guilty when he imbibes.

A national study a few years ago showed that in the South fewer people drink and more people are total abstainers, yet the rate of excessive drinking was slightly higher than for the country as a whole.

Despite the ambivalent attitudes on alcohol, Dr. Ewing added, "I don't think man will do without it. Prohibition was an enormous failure."

The search, then, is for the means to cope with it, the Center for Alcohol looks in that direction.

Their Opportunity To Build Better Relations

Despite the U.S. problems in Vietnam, ties between the United States and China continue to strengthen.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Republican leader Hugh Scott, left last Saturday for a 16-day visit.

As Sen. Scott said, the trip is to "listen, respond and exchange ideas."

The visit was arranged during the President's trip. These two high ranking government officials can continue to build on the beginning of relations between the two countries.

Nixon To Set Tougher Price

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON—Instead of weakening President Nixon's bargaining position at the Moscow summit next month, the Communist invasion of South Vietnam is hardening his demands for an embargo of offensive Soviet arms to North Vietnam and other Soviet allies.

If Hanoi's invasion is contained by Saigon's forces in the next month as well as it has been during the first three weeks, the President will be in a stronger position to pressure Moscow on this vital point than he would have been if the invasion had never taken place.

The effort at top levels of the Administration to compel the Kremlin to limit the use of Soviet arms shipped to other nations has been pushed hardest by Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, but with conspicuous lack of success until now.

Thus, it was Laird and the Pentagon who opposed licensing the export of U.S. machinery for the Soviet truck plant on the Kama River. Soviet trucks, Laird agreed, are a major export item of North Vietnam, indispensable to Hanoi's military operations throughout Indochina. As a condition for granting the license, Laird wanted Soviet guarantees that exported trucks would not be used for military operations outside North Vietnam.

Laird lost that battle, but he has never stopped fighting for this principle: the Soviet Union ought to follow the U.S. example in limiting its export of arms for defensive, not offensive, purposes.

The first sign that President Nixon is now prepared to pressure the Russians on this point came during White House ceremonies last week at the signing of the anti-biological warfare convention. Every "great power," Mr. Nixon said, must follow the principle of not encouraging "directly or indirectly other nations to use force or armed aggression against its neighbors." Thus did he obliquely criticize Soviet complicity in Hanoi's assault.

The words were put together with special care by Mr. Nixon and Henry A. Kissinger, his foreign policy aide, to put Moscow on notice that Hanoi's invasion had escalated the question of Soviet arms shipments to a far higher level.

That means the Administration will be much tougher in the bargaining sessions on such high-priority submit items as trade, credits and other economic arrangements that Moscow desperately wants from Washington. The earlier prospects for a major breakthrough in economic cooperation, in other words, must now be conditioned on Moscow's willingness to limit the export of "wars of liberation."

The Russians, for example, are seeking up to $200 million a year in U.S. grains, partly to offset a poor Soviet harvest this year due to an unusually cold winter and dry spring. Moscow wants the purchases financed with long-term credits at about one-third normal interest rates.

REQUIREMENTS

Here is one of the most glorious verses to be found in the whole of the Bible: "God hath showed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?" (Micah 6:8).

The Prophet Micah, who wrote these words, did not stand exceptionally high in the regard of his contemporaries. Micah was a contemporary of the great Prophet Isaiah. Isaiah probably did not know that this Minor Prophet Micah even existed. Micah was a man of the people who sympathized deeply with the peasants in their suffering. He took up the cause of the poor and denounced the nobles and rich proprietors among his contemporaries. Micah knew only too well that his fellow countrymen had largely forsaken God and fallen into sin. He reminded the people to whom he spoke that they were a redeemed people. They had been delivered from the hands of the Egyptians.

Micah was a level-headed preacher who set himself to the task of reducing a religion to its most elementary terms. If religion did not make people better, then it was a false religion. If it dealt only with church worship and the following of certain ritual, then it was a waste of time. Micah regarded religion as a divine power which made people better — pure in thought and act and merciful toward the needs of their neighbors. Justice, kindness, humility — these were the basic factors which God took into consideration as He dealt with his Chosen People.

Neutral Ground Sought

WASHINGTON—As of this writing, the Senate Republicans are trying to work out a compromise on the ITT hearings, which have become snarled over the question of whether Peter Flanigan and other White House aides can testify before the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The problem seems to be a case of "executive privilege." The White House has refused, up until now, to allow any of its staff to testify before a congressional committee on Capitol Hill.

The compromise would be for Flanigan and anyone else in the White House to be questioned on "neutral ground," away from Capitol Hill. This would save face for the executive branch and at the same time placate those senators who refuse to confirm Richard Kleindienst as attorney general as long as the White House will not allow Flanigan to testify.

The question is, what "neutral" ground would be satisfactory to all parties? Jack Anderson has offered to lend his offices on K Street to the committee, but for some reason the Republicans have turned him down.

Someone has suggested questioning Flanigan under the cherry blossoms by the Tidal Basin. But the park department has refused a permit on the grounds that the hot air produced by the hearings could hurt the flowers.

Another idea was to hold the hearings in Lafayette Park across the street from the White House. But the objection to this location is that there are a lot of pigeons flying around the park at this time of year.

ITT has offered to let the committee use one of its Avis garages, but the Democrats feel it would downgrade the hearings if they held them in a car rental agency that is only number two in the business.

The one neutral ground that is being given careful consideration is the RFK Stadium. Since the Washington Senators left town, the stadium is empty until the fall, when the hearings could possibly be over.

The consensus here is that without baseball the public might go big for a congressional investigation.

The stadium seats 60,000 people and would probably be sold out for a sporting event of this kind.

The witness stand would be at home plate, and the committee could sit around the infield. Questions would be pitched from the mound. Many people think the fans would pay as much as $10 a seat to hear Flanigan's version of how he became involved in the ITT business.

To placate the Republicans, who might feel the Democrats wanted to turn the hearings into a circus, it has been suggested that all receipts from the event be donated to the Republican National Committee to finance their convention in San Diego.

The promoters of RFK Stadium have added something to assure a big crowd. They would permit the fans to participate in the hearings. If they believed Flanigan answered a question truthfully, they would raise their thumbs up. If they felt he was hedging on a question, they would put their thumbs down.

On the basis of the thumbs, the Senate committee could decide whether Flanigan was telling the truth or not. At the end of the day, if the thumbs-down have it, he would have to fight the two giant pandas that Mao presented to President Nixon.

Equal, Except In This

NEW YORK (AP) — I'm all for equal rights for women, with a single exception. I am perfectly willing, nay, eager, to continue giving my husband exclusive rights in one department: going out to get the Sunday papers.

This is a task that must be performed 52 weeks a year, rain or shine and there seem to be 49 rainy Sundays to three shiny ones. Not only do I dislike going out in the rain, hail, snow, sleet or gloom of morning, but I am prepared to admit that the male is more suited than the female to fetching and carrying New York's hefty pile of Sunday news print.

Of course, going to the corner stationery store to purchase the papers is a minor effort compared with the major problem of getting them read.

By means of a well-researched system, a precise time schedule, a course in speed reading and a 14-hour shift I have managed to eyeball my way through the three massive newspapers we regularly buy on what should be a day of rest.

But now, a Long Island paper has started a Sunday edition, which complicates my modus operandi. The first decision I was faced with upon this newcomer's appearance was where to fit it into the routine. Should I read it first? Should I sandwich it in between Paper A and Paper B and upset a succession of many years' standing? Should I save it for the finale?

When to read it, however, is not as pressing a question as how to get it read at all. In the past I have barely managed to find time to prepare lunch between the travel and entertainment sections of one paper and Ragged baseball players of Greenville High School will not be ragged much longer. In a few days they will appear on the diamond in brand new uniforms. The campaign to raise $100 to buy uniforms for the club met with success today with spirited citizens raising $75 this morning. It is believed that by nightfall all of the money will be raised.

Three carloads of flour will be distributed among the poor people of Pitt County under supervision of the American Red Cross, it was announced by a representative who was in Greenville today making plans for distribution. The flour is a part of the government relief program conducted through the Red Cross.

The Pitt County Post of the American Legion last night voted unanimously for cash payment of veterans' compensation certificates as provided for in the bill of Representative Wright Patman that is now before Congress.

To the Editor:

I read with interest your lead editorial in the Sunday, April 16th, edition of the Daily Reflector in which you commended Democratic gubernatorial candidate Pat Taylor for his support of a two-year medical school at East Carolina University.

I thought it might be of interest to your readers to point out that on April 3 Republican gubernatorial candidate Jim Gardner became the first candidate for Governor in either party to come out foursquare for the two-year medical school at East Carolina University, and it should be noted, this fact was duly reported in the Reflector at that time. It was five days later on April 8 that Pat Taylor made his announcement of support.

All of this would seem to suggest the benefits to eastern North Carolina of a competitive two-party system.

Zero Growth Goal Challenged

By ELMER ROESSNER

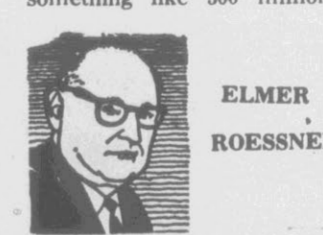

Zero income growth cannot provide the answers to environmental problems, at least not in the United States. That is the conclusion of one commentator — Henry C. Wallich of the Department of Economics, Yale University.

Zero growth to protect the environment has two facets. One is zero population growth and the other is zero growth of the GNP. Zero population growth is not much of an issue, Wallich indicates, because the country is large and relatively empty and because we appear to be headed for a stabilized population anyway.

Overcrowding has taken place mainly in the large metropolises and is the result of economic and social factors. One out of three counties is actually losing population. The concentration of people in densely populated strips is aggravated by poor public policies and planning.

Wallich also notes in an article in the MGIC Financial Corp. newsletter that, "What demographers call the 'intrinsic' rate of population growth is now close to the replacement rate, which, in the absence of immigration, should cause the U.S. population to level off at something like 300 million people as we approach the middle of the next century."

He attacks zero income growth on two fronts. First, it would be impossible to achieve. Second, the problems affecting environment can be better and more easily solved by applying incremental income to them than by reducing the income.

Research cannot be terminated and therefore is bound to increase productivity one way or another. This could be countered by reducing work hours correspondingly. But then, what can be done about those who moonlight or turn to do-it-yourself procedures to improve their lot? Moreover, if incomes were stabilized it would lock in income inequalities (unacceptable to the less fortunate) or require arbitrary income equalization (unacceptable to the more fortunate).

The more sensible procedure, Wallich contends, is to allow growth to go forward and even accelerate it. Part of the new resources can then be used to undo the damage done to the environment by the growth.

The annual growth dividend, at full employment, would amount to something like $40 billion. A little over $10 billion tends to be absorbed by our present population growth. This would leave about $30 billion each year that could, in an extreme case, be devoted to environmental protection. There would be $60 billion in three years, and so on. No estimates of environmental requirements match these magnitudes.

The answer, the writer concludes, is not zero population growth, and certainly not zero income growth. It is a high rate of income growth that supplies the resources to protect the environment, with enough left over to meet people's wants.

Higher Education Gifts Set Record

A survey of gifts to colleges and universities during the academic year ended last June showed a 4.5 per cent rise over the previous year to a new high of $1.86 billion. The increase was due to parents, alumni and friends, who more than offset a decline in contributions by corporations, foundations and other sources.

Four-year state and municipal colleges and universities gained 12 per cent. Contributions to private elementary and high schools also rose. There was hardly any increase in giving to private four-year colleges, but they still accounted for the major share of gifts, $1.16 billion.

 the prospect for just such a deal looked excellent. Now, Communist party leader Leonid Brezhnev is going to be asked to pay dearly for it with an agreement not to sponsor new invasions by North Vietnam.
 Moreover, the Administration's hardening posture on arms for Soviet allies will deeply affect summit negotiations on the Middle East. Mr. Nixon has long pressed Moscow for an agreement that would limit Soviet arms for the Arab countries and U.S. arms for Israel as a first step to defuse the Middle East.

The problem for Moscow in this hardening U.S. position is obvious. Just before hanoi kicked off its invasion, high-level Russian officials in the North Vietnamese capital included the commander of Soviet anti-aircraft missile forces, and a top-ranking Soviet expert in anti-aircraft radar. The leader of that Soviet military mission was a deputy defense minister who commands Soviet air defense forces.
 In short, Soviet involvement in the offensive included not only modern, sophisticated arms but technical advisers at the highest level to advise on their use. If Moscow really expects the U.S. to go along with major economic deals, as the White House believes it does, Mr. Nixon will first have to obtain guarantees against any repeat of the current offensive in Vietnam, made possible by Soviet weapons.

Asserts Vietnam Force Will Impress Orientals

Mack Howard, a two time veteran of Vietnam seeking the Republican nomination for U.S. Congress from North Carolina's First Congressional District, spoke out on the Vietnam issue at a political rally honoring Republican gubernatorial candidate Jim Gardner in Kinston on Monday night.

 "Having spent several years in Southeast Asia, I feel that I have some understanding of what it takes to impress the Oriental mind," Howard declared. "The North Vietnamese Communist only understand we mean business when we use brute and destructive force."

The former Army major, who resigned early this year from 13 years service to seek the congressional candidacy, further stated that "I believe Vietnamization may work. We have already invested too much in American manpower and materials to allow this massive Communist invasion to break the back of the struggling South Vietnamese Army.

 Howard concluded his remarks by say "The Communists will not negotiate freely, Power and destructive force alone will cause them to sit down for meaningful negotiation."

Antiwar Protests

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Campus antiwar protests rekindled by the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam have erupted into violence at Harvard and led to scattered confrontations with police at the University of Maryland.

Demonstrations elsewhere Tuesday were generally peaceful and some drew little response but the reawakening antiwar movement called for student strikes on Friday.

At Harvard about 30 demonstrators split off from a peace march in Cambridge, Mass., to stage a 10-minute assault on the university's prestigious Center for International Affairs.

Police fired at least 15 rounds of tear gas over a two-hour period to disperse a crowd of 1,500 to 2,000 demonstrators who gathered outside the building. Three persons were arrested.

The center, where presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger formerly had an office, was littered with broken glass and overturned furniture. Slogans such as "Avenge Hanoi" and "NLF Wins" were sprayed on the walls.

A fire set with papers was confined to a second floor of office.

The march began with a 4 p.m. rally on Boston Common where President Nixon was burned in effigy. Later the demonstrators marched five miles to Harvard Square in Cambridge where they broke windows in a few stores and a post office before going to the center.

Day-long demonstrations at the University of Maryland resulted in the arrest of 14 persons on charges of assault and carrying deadly weapons—rocks.

Windows were broken in an ROTC building during a rally and later about 500 students blocked U.S. Route 1 for an hour. About 100 riot-equipped state policemen used tear gas and dogs to break up the demonstration.

Police said one lieutenant suffered a broken elbow and several others received minor injuries in the clash. Two students were reported injured.

About 1,000 students at Columbia University and Barnard College voted Tuesday night to go on strike starting today but said they would not try to bar others from classes.

Arrest 2 In Liquor Raid

Pitt County ABC officers assisted by Beaufort and Craven County ABC officers arrested two men and destroyed an illegal distillery in the Clark's Neck Section yesterday afternoon.

Arrested at 5:30 p.m. raid were Adrian Cox, 42, 741 W. Second St., Washington; and Dean H. Gohring, 33, Rt. 3, Washington.

Officers said Cox was arrested at the still site while Gohring was arrested on the path leading to the still.

In operation when the raid was conducted, the 150 gallon still was complete with two 55-gallon coolers, copper condensers and 400 gallons of mash. About one-half gallon of non-tax-paid whiskey had been run off before the raid.

Officers used dynamite to destroy the illegal equipment.

Bond for the two men, charged with possessing illegal distillery equipment, was set at $300 each. They are scheduled to appear in district court in Greenville on May 6.

REJECT REFERENDUM

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Edward Heath's campaign to take Britain into the Common Market got a big boost early today as the House of Commons rejected a referendum on the issue by a vote of 284 to 235.

URGES BOYCOTT

RALEIGH (AP)—The president of the North Carolina State University student body has called on all college students in the state to boycott classes Friday in protest to the bombing of North Vietnam.

Highways Menace Antiquities

LONDON (AP) — The march of time—progress and all that—is stirring up a large segment of Britain's population who worry about yesterday rather than tomorrow.

Giant motorways are under construction. They infringe on plots the Angles and Saxons once peopled. They threaten the sectors the Romans built.

The historic site or archaeological "dig" is coming into its own and Britain's Department of the Environment has been learning how involved this can get.

To stop a new highway or an airport or just a simple bulldozing job is expensive. To stop the people, many of them banded together in "preservation" societies, is not as simple as it may seem in this history-ridden land.

Arguments cropping up involve such disparate characters as Hadrian and St. Patrick.

That is about as far apart as anyone can get and Liverpool University has a team of young archaeologists working actively to step in before the bulldozers do. They have had some success, and have saved some known historical sites but are worried about those they miss for lack of advance information.

The prime need, the university says is to "at least record and investigate sites before they are destroyed."

Some figures cited by the archaeologists:

A survey for a 75-mile stretch of new motorway revealed 124 unknown remnants of the past although only two archaeology sites had been thought to be involved; of 100 Roman settlements in Wiltshire, not more than 10 survive.

The kind of things the historians worry about often conflict with 20th century demands.

For instance, landowner David Steele bought up some land near Daventry in the middle of England and brought in bulldozers to create a hotel and sports center.

A bulldozer uncovered some Roman pots and coins. The experts said it was one of several Roman towns called Banna-venta. St. Patrick was born in one Banaventa in 385 A.D. only to be kidnaped to Ireland when he was 15 and thence to become what he is today—the patron saint of that troubled land.

But the experts say they are not sure if Steele's Banna-venta is St. Patrick's. Nevertheless, Steele wants to preserve the site and turn it into a shrine. The idea would be to outdo Shakespeare's Stratford-on-Avon as a tourist attraction and a mecca for every Irishman in the world. The venture still is up in the air.

In ancient London, bulldozers were constantly turning up relics of the Roman times when the town was called Londinium. To desecrate the "Roman Wall" is like shooting the queen.

From London all the way to Crewe on the border of Wales is a highway the Romans built. It's called Watling Street. Historians see it as a treasure trove. But motorists have other views. Bit by bit, it has been incorporated into major motorways because it could be. The Romans built straight and well. Fooling around with Watling Street now, either to improve the road or dig up the past, means trouble from one side or another.

Then there is Hadrian's Wall. The Roman emperor built this 75-mile long barrier between 122-126 A.D., first as a series of detached forts and then linking them up. The idea was to keep the Scots from intruding. What is left today remains a tourist attraction. The purists are complaining because the British electric power system requires a series of high pylons along the "wall" to meet today's problems.

Behind all this is the British feeling for a tree. Anyone who thinks the British are concerned only with high prices, the Common Market, the Commonwealth, and all that should know how they really feel about a tree.

The Natural History Museum created quite a stir in discovering part of a tree trunk, fossilized of course, on the Isle of Sheppey. Dr. Horace Manley said it could be 50 million years old.

Small stuff, by comparison, shows up here and there, especially in Bath and Chester, great Roman occupation cities. In every case the fight goes on; the developer and his bulldozer versus the archaeologist, historian and scientist.

It's anybody's guess in each case, which wins: yesterday or tomorrow.

TOMMY NOBIS SAYS BUNKER HILL'S NEW FROZEN BEEF PATTIES ARE BIGGER AND JUICIER THAN MOST ANYBODY'S. ANY ARGUMENTS?

Nobody in the world likes a good hamburger any more than Tommy Nobis. That's why Tommy used to be disappointed with the kind of frozen beef patties he got at the store.

They were thin and scrawny. With a taste to match.

But then Bunker Hill came along with man-size patties and it was a whole new ballgame.

Bunker Hill's patties are bigger to begin with. A hefty half inch thick.

And they don't shrink away to nothing when you cook them because they're shrink controlled.

Instead of 2 or 3 to fill up a bun, all you need is one.

You try 'em on the ballplayers in your house.

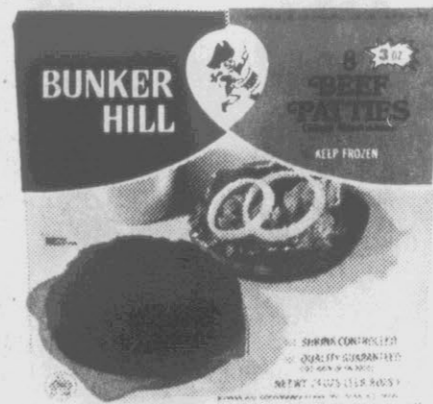

Buy a package of 8. Send the drummer boy on the front, with your name and address, to PATTIES, Bunker Hill, Bedford, Virginia 24523. We'll send you a dollar. (One to a family.)

Tommy Nobis says you'll love them.

And the guarantee on our package says you agree or your money back.

No arguments.

WE'LL PAY YOU A DOLLAR TO TRY THEM.

Unearned Runs Boost State Past Bucs

RALEIGH — N.C. State University broke open a 1-1 deadlock in the fifth inning with five unearned runs and then went on to beat East Carolina University, 11-1 yesterday.

The victory gained revenge for a pair of earlier losses to the Pirates at the beginning of the season in Greenville. The Bucs won those two, 8-5 and 2-0.

Of the Wolfpack runs, only four were earned, but they were enough for the win as pitcher Mike Dempsey managed to keep the Pirates from putting on too many threats.

And when they did threaten, the Pack was able to get out of it without damage except for the fourth inning when the lone ECU run came across.

The Pirates managed their first threat in the third, when, with two outs, walks were issued to Don Oxidine and Mike Bradshaw.

Then, in the fourth, the Bucs got their lone run. With two outs, Ron Staggs was hit by a pitch. Matt Walker drew a walk and Rick McMahon singled, driving in Staggs with the lone run.

The Bucs had opportunities in the sixth and eighth innings, but they came to naught. In the sixth, Ralph Lamm led off with a single and with two away, Walker again walked. But the rally died there.

In the eighth, Lamm again singled and Jimmy Paige singled to left. Both advanced on a passed ball, but State got the side out again without damage.

The Wolfpack, meanwhile, was getting more than it would need to post the win. Their first run came in the first, when Mike Baxter slammed a homer to left.

Then, in the second, the Wolfpack chased starter Steve Herring, who walked Phil Blount and Bill Glad after Ron Evans had reached on an error. Oxidine came on, striking out Dempsey and getting the next batter to ground into a force at home. He then struck out the final batter to retire the side without damage.

Oxidine cruised along without trouble until the fifth, when Dempsey greeted him with a triple to deep right. Then, with two outs, Jerry Mills, walked and Wayne Currin reached on an error by Oxidine, scoring Dempsey with all the Wolfpack really needed. Both runners moved up on a wild pitch, so Rich Richardson was given an intentional walk, loading the bases. Evans followed with a single to left, scoring both Mills and Currin. Blount was hit by a pitch, reloading the bases, and Bill Glad doubled to center, scoring Richardson and Evans, running the score out to 6-1.

The Wolfpack came up with two more runs in the sixth. Baxter singled and stole second. Mills reached on an error and moved up on an out. Richardson hit a single to left, scoring Baxter and Mills, and State held an 8-1 lead.

After a double and an error by Dempsey put the Bucs in trouble in the seventh (they got out), the Wolfpack closed things off with three more in the eighth.

Again, it came with two outs. Cuttin walked and stole both second and third. On the last steal, Ruc catcher Greg Fulghum errored the throw to third, and Currin came home.

Ken Sawyer followed with another walk and Evans doubled to left. A single by Blount drove in Sawyer and Evans, closing out the scoring.

The loss dropped the Pirate record to 10-7 overall, while State's record climbed to 14-12.

The Pirates return home on Friday to play a double-header with Virginia Military Institute in a crucial Southern Conference meeting. The first game is set to go at 6 p.m.

Ayden-Grifton Dumps Conley

HOLLYWOOD — Ayden-Grifton maintained a share of first place in the Eastern Carolina Conference baseball race with a 5-2 victory over D. H. Conley High School yesterday.

The Chargers now hold an 8-1 record in the league. The loss dropped Conley to 7-3.

The Ayden-Grifton nine pushed over its first two runs in the first inning. Ken Cleaton reached on an error and stole both second and third. He scored on Dale Manning's double. Manning then stole third and scored on a passed ball.

Conley came up with a rally in the bottom of the sixth, but got only two runs before it was choked off. Vic Corey walked and scored when Clennell Streeter tripled. Willie Streeter followed with a single, driving in Clennell with the second and final run.

Oak City Holds Lead In Martin

OAK CITY — Oak City stayed on top of the Martin County Conference standings with a 15-1 romp over Jamesville yesterday.

The victory was the second in as many games for the Trojans in the league. Jamesville was losing its first conference outing. Oak City is 8-3 overall.

Marty Smith, who went the first five innings of the game, hurled a one-hitter while striking out eight and walking three. Gene Scott, who came on for the final two innings, gave up the lone run, a hit, while striking out three and walking three.

Oak City pushed into the lead in the first inning, getting two runs. Billy Ross reached on an error and Gene Scott singled. Ronald Duggins followed with a base-loading walk and Smith won his own game with a two-run double.

In the second, the Trojans added another run. Ross reached on an error and Duggins brought him home with a triple.

Rams Hold To Share Of Top

SNOW HILL — Greene Central remained in a deadlock with Ayden-Grifton for the lead in the Eastern Carolina Conference with a 7-2 victory over Southern Nash yesterday.

The Rams now hold an 8-1 conference record. They are 8-2 overall.

Billy Williamson hurled the victory, scattering six hits. He struck out nine and walked five.

Southern Nash gained the lead briefly in the third inning, breaking the ice with a run. Tommy Winstead walked and scored on Robert Bissett's single.

But Greene Central came right back in the bottom of the third to score three and take the lead for good. Donnie Taylor singled and moved up on a wild pitch. Richard Holloman reached on a fielder's choice and Stevie Williamson brought in both runners with a triple. Bob Scott then singled in Williamson for a 3-1 lead.

The Rams added two more in the fifth. Williamson reached on an error, then came around when Billy Williamson tripled. An error let Billy come around with the other run, making it 5-1.

The sixth saw two more Rams cross the plate. Mike Perry singled and Taylor got a hit. Holloman reached on a fielder's choice, loading the bases. Robert Ivey singled, scoring both Perry and Taylor.

The final Southern Nash run came in the seventh.

The Jaguars, winning their sixth game in 10 starts in the league, had little trouble in dealing with their hosts.

Cloyce Wilson, who went the distance for the Jaguars, allowed only two hits by the Saints, while he struck out six and walked three. Wilson, along with Phil Lewis, also led the Farmville hitting as they each got two.

Rampants Ease Past Goldsboro, 3-2

By CHIP LAMBETH
Reflector Sports Writer

Rose High School overcame a stubborn Goldsboro team yesterday behind the four hit pitching of Stanley Cobb to take a 3-2 conference win from the Cougars.

Cobb went the distance for the Rampants, walking two and fanning 14 during the afternoon. Loser, David Flowers, struck out five and walked four.

The game was a pitcher's duel for the first two and a half innings until the Rampants finally go on the boards with a pair of runs in the third. Goldsboro came back to tie it up in the top of the fourth but the Rampants hung on and pushed over a lone score in the fifth to take the win.

The Rampants are now 2-1 in the conference and overall are 7-2. For Goldsboro, it was their first loop loss against one victory.

Rose put men on in every inning but one, the last. Robbie Cox got the Rampants started in the first, after Goldsboro went down in order, by reaching on an error. He stole up but that was all he could get and died at second.

The Cougars put a runner on in the next frame as Jerry Narron was safe on a Rampant miscue. They could not bring him around, however.

Larry Dixon got on for Rose in the third on an infield hit. He beat it out but the catcher threw the ball over the first baseman's head and into right field letting Dixon move all the way to third. The next batter struck out to end the side.

Then in the fourth, the Rampants broke open for two runs and the lead. Jim McDermott walked and went to second on Cox's hit to center. Both runners moved up a base when J. C. Daniel's pop up to left was dropped and all hands were safe. Bill Lee hit into a fielder's choice getting McDermott at the plate. The bases remained full.

Cobb helped himself out by flying out to center, but bringing in Cox with the first run. Randy McKinney singled to drive in Daniels with the second score.

The Cougars were not about to give up and they came up with a pair of runs of their own. Ronnie Percise led off the frame with a single and Flowers got a hit, also. Narron singled to center to bring in Percise, but David Hill hit into a force play that got Narron at second. Flowers was able to score on the play, however. Paul Baddour walked but the next batter went down swinging.

Rose put two on in the next inning but again failed to bring them around. Then in the fifth, they pushed over what proved to be the winning run. Daniels and Lee both walked and Cobb singled filling the bases. McKinney lofted a long fly to right to sacrifice in Daniels with the game winning score.

The Cougars were able to get a hit and a walk in the top of the sixth, putting men on first and second but Cobb fanned three batters in a row to end the threat.

No one for either team had more than one hit but McKinney drove in two of the Rampant runs.

The next outing for the Rampants will be tomorrow night when they travel to Farmville to take on the Jaguars in a non-conference match-up.

Giants Lose McCovey With Broken Arm; He'll Miss Two Months' Play

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The ball skipped off John Jeter's bat toward shortstop Chris Speier. It looked like a certain double play for the San Francisco Giants.

Speier scooped the grounder and pitched to Tito Fuentes, who stepped on second for one out and fired to first. Right after he let the ball go, the second baseman wished he hadn't. It cost the Giants their star first baseman, Willie McCovey.

In the other games Tuesday, the Chicago Cubs beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-4; the Houston Astros topped the Cincinnati Reds 8-4; the Los Angeles Dodgers trimmed the Atlanta Braves 3-1; the Philadelphia Phillies turned back the St. Louis Cardinals 6-3 and the Montreal Expos pounded the New York Mets 7-2.

The Giant dressing room was subdued after victory because the players obviously felt it was much too costly.

McCovey, 34, was the National League's Most Valuable Player in 1969 when he hit a career-high of 45 home runs. The strapping lefthander was limited to 18 home runs last year because of a knee injury that kept him out more than one-third of the season. He returned toward the end of the year to help the Giants win the West Division title.

denal smashed a two-run job to pull Chicago over Pittsburgh and spoil the Pirates' home opener before a near-capacity crowd of 47,489.

Tommy Helms and John Edwards, a couple of ex-Reds, and Doug Rader, Houston's young redhead, helped the Astros top Cincinnati. Helms and Edwards each knocked in two runs and Rader snapped a 4-4 tie with a sixth-inning homer.

Helms hit a two-run homer off Don Gullett, who was his teammate just last year.

Jim Lefebvre rapped a two-run single and Chris Cannizzaro hit a solo home run as Los Angeles beat Atlanta and gave Tommy John his first National League triumph. John was acquired by the Dodgers in a winter deal that sent Richie Allen to the Chicago White Sox.

Larry Bowa cracked three singles, stole two bases and scored a run as Philadelphia beat St. Louis. Billy Champion pitched a strong game until a Cardinal rally in the ninth knocked him out. Wayne Twitchell came in to get the final out.

Ken Singleton, acquired from New York in a trade recently, helped to beat his old mates by knocking in three Montreal runs with a triple and single. The victory was the third straight this year for the Expos and left them alone atop the National League East.

McCovey, diving forward trying to snare Fuentes' wild toss, broke his right arm in a collision with Jeter and was knocked out long before the Giants won a 5-1 baseball game over the San Diego Padres Tuesday night.

There's no way we can replace a Willie McCovey," said San Francisco Manager Charlie Fox. "But there's no use crying over spilled milk. Injuries are part of the game."

A doctor estimated that it would take six weeks for the fracture to heal and surmised it could be at least two months before the slugger returned to the lineup.

San Francisco got home run power from Bobby Bonds and Fran Healy to beat the Padres. Bonds delivered a two-run blast and Healy drilled a three-run shot.

Billy Williams unloaded a three-run homer and Jose Car-

League triumph. John was acquired by the Dodgers in a winter deal that sent Richie Allen to the Chicago White Sox.

Lakers Romp To Third Game Win

By RON ROACH
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Now Bill Sharman is talking about a six-game series as his Los Angeles Lakers have the defending champion Milwaukee Bucks on the ropes in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

The Lakers ran away from the Bucks 115-90 Tuesday night by rebounding—literally—from the 114-88 beating suffered Sunday in Milwaukee.

The best-of-seven Western Conference series moves back to Milwaukee Saturday with the Lakers leading 3-2.

"I've said all along that rebounding will decide the series," said Sharman in a hoarse voice after Wilt Chamberlain & Co. grabbed 23 more missed shots than Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and the Bucks, 70-57. "And if we can rebound them Saturday, we can end the series in six games."

Game No. 7, if the Bucks win Saturday, will be played next Wednesday night in the Forum, where there would be another sellout crowd of 17,505.

The partisan fans chanted "defense, defense" and "rebound, rebound"—apparently taking Sharman's cue. The coach had called for more vociferous support on the plane ride back from Milwaukee Sunday.

"It is easier to get up for this game than on Sunday," said Chamberlain, who made all eight of his free throws, a remarkable achievement for the 7-foot-2 veteran considered one of the league's worst free throwers. He finished with 26 rebounds and 12 points.

In all, the Lakers converted 35 of 44 free throws, including 19 of 22 in the third period when they broke things open. It was 55-51 Lakers early in the third period but Gail Goodrich led the spurt to a 23-point lead with a 13-point quarter.

Jim McMillian paced the Lakers with 25 points, with Goodrich and Jerry West adding 22 each. Jabbar had 28 and 16 rebounds. Boston, trailing the New York Knicks 2-0 in the Eastern Conference final, will try and get on the winning track at Boston Garden tonight.

The Celtics lost the opener at home 116-94, then dropped No. 2 106-105 at Madison Square Garden.

In the American Basketball Association, the Indiana Pacers meet the Utah Stars tonight in a do-or-die situation at Anderson, Ind., high school gymnasium. The Stars outshone Indiana 108-100 and 117-109 earlier and lead the West Division final series 2-0.

In the East Division, the New York Nets, trailing Virginia 2-0, are idle until next Monday when they play home at Uniondale, N.Y.

Robersonville Opens Defense

BEAR GRASS — Robersonville High School opened its defense of the Martin County Baseball championship with a 16-2 romp over Bear Grass yesterday.

The victory, the sixth in seven starts for the Rams, left them with a 1-0 league record, but good for only second place. Oak City, 2-0, holds first. Bear Grass is now 0-2 in the league and 4-4 overall.

Summy Mobley led the Robersonville hitting with four, while Jackson had two. Keith Williams had a double to pace the Bear Grass hitting.

Robersonville got all the runs it needed in the first, scoring four. Ed Warren reached on an error and Brown singled. An error on the play let Warren come around. Corey reached on an error and Mobley doubled to drive in Brown and Corey. Jackson singled to score Mobley.

In the third, the Eagles added two more runs for a 6-0 lead. Corey singled and Mobley got a hit. Jackson's single brought in both runners.

Robersonville went on to add two in the fourth, one in the fifth, five in the sixth, and two more in the seventh.

what is the definition of a private brand?

To some people, it is a retailer's own brand created with selling price first in importance and quality second.

To us at A&P, it's the opposite.

Quality comes first.

Value...the best for the least is the rule for our private brands.

If this wasn't true, how foolish we'd be to invest, as we have, literally millions of dollars in processing plants and testing laboratories.

If all we wanted were products we could sell cheaply without quality control, anybody could produce them for us.

The idea of quality private brands isn't new at A&P.

As a matter of fact, it's one of our oldest policies—and by golly, we're proud of it.

Are A&P Private Brands a good reason for shopping A&P? They're one of many.

CP&L President Says Power Supply Could Be Jeopardized

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's electrical power supply could be jeopardized this summer unless the utility companies are relieved of some environmental review requirements, says a spokesman for the private firms.

Shearon Harris, president of Carolina Power & Light Co. and chairman of the Edison Electric Institute, the national trade association of investor-owned power companies, made the statement Tuesday in Chicago.

He said in a speech prepared for the American Power Conference that "a number of court decisions and governmental actions" have placed in jeopardy the industry's ability to provide adequate power.

Harris said there is a "real possibility that power supply problem of extensive propor-

Corps of Engineers could not issue permits for discharges into navigable waters without first completing environmental impact statements.

"Based on the delay in operation of new generating capacity postulated in the NERC report," Harris said, "an aggregate of 25 million kilowatts, or one-third of the scheduled generation reserves in the United States, would be unavailable during the 1972 summer peak load period."

"This, he added, "would place in jeopardy the power supply of an area encompassing 40 per cent of the U.S. and 55 per cent of the total electrical load of the nation."

Harris went on to say that "five of the nine regional reliability groups throughout the country would have reserves of 10 per cent or less in the summer of 1972, and the situation would be even worse next summer. The Federal Power Commission has repeatedly stated that generating reserves of 20 per cent of power requirements are essential to assure adequate and reliable electric power supply."

Harris was critical of water quality legislation introduced by Sen. Edmund Muskie aimed at eliminating waste discharges into waterways by 1985. He said this could cost the electric utilities and their customers between $15 billion and $28 billion.

Harris also said the new sulfur emission limits set by the Environmental Protection Agency would in effect require coal-burning power plants to stop burning coal.

Forest Fire To Need Big Rain

JACKSONVILLE, N.C. (AP) — North Carolina Forest Service officials hoped to bring under control today a forest fire which has destroyed 17,000 acres of timberland and killed one firefighter.

Tom Hegele, a Forest Service spokesman, said firefighters succeeded late Tuesday in containing the fire which was discovered Sunday in Hoffman Forest about 15 miles north of Jacksonville.

"The fire won't be out until after a good rain," said Hegele. "A tremendous amount of mop up work is to be done."

James Melville Jones, 32, of Maysville, a firefighter, died early Monday when his truck was surrounded by fire.

Forest Service men and equipment from as far away as Asheville were summoned to help fight the blaze. They were aided by workers from three paper companies and nearly 100 marines from Camp Lejeune. The forest is owned by the

Scott To Talk At Ferry Dedication

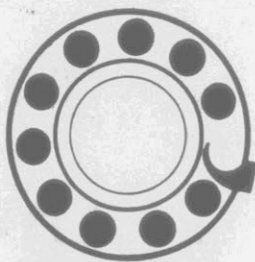

RALEIGH—Governor Robert W. Scott will deliver the principal address at Minnesott Beach Saturday, when a new ferry service on the Neuse River is to be dedicated.
 The ferry, which will run between Minnesott Beach and Cherry Branch will connect Pamlico and Craven counties. Actual ferry service will not start until June due to delays in completing the road to the ferry on the Craven county side.
 The dedication program will start at noon, with Arthur Tripp of Greenville, area highway commissioner, presiding.
 Others having a part in the program are Leland Brinson, Pamlico county sheriff, Doug Spears of the Pamlico Chamber of Commerce, Hugh Ragsdale, of Richlands, member of the Highway Commission and chairman of its ferry committee, Charles Snell of Greenville, division highway engineer and the chairman of the two county commissions, Grover Lancaster of Craven and Troy Potter of Pamlico.
 The U. S. Marine Band from Cherry Point will play. Docking facilities on both sides of the river are complete, having been constructed by state workmen.
 The road to the ferry, a 4.5 mile stretch from NC 101 to the Neuse River, is almost a year behind its completion schedule. Originally it was to have been completed in July, 1971, but the current estimate is June, 1972.

LPNs To Mark Ass'n Birthday

The State Association for Licensed Practical Nurses will celebrate their 25th anniversary in Durham at the Durham Hotel. Convention dates are May 11-12. All registrations must be made by May 1.
 LPN's desiring to drive up for one day or more are asked to notify someone in this area or call Ruby Norris, 756-0759.
 The forthcoming state convention will be discussed at the monthly area meeting on Thursday, April 20, which will be held at the Education Center, Pitt Memorial Hospital, at 8 p.m.
 The guest speaker will be Dr. Jones and his topic will be skin cancer.

Revival Series This Weekend

WINTERVILLE—Revival services will begin Thursday night at 7:30 at the Winterville Pentecostal Holiness Church. Evangelist Lotis Joyner will be the guest speaker for the weekend revival.
 The public is invited to attend the services.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Morning requires health care, but the afternoon and evening are beautiful for almost anything that you wish to do. Particularly good for big thoughts and deeds. Plans made now can be of real power and importance and most successful — especially in government.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) A day when you can understand what bigwigs explain to you and as a result can become more successful in your own field of endeavor. Put in a good day's work and then enjoy amusements you like in p.m. Congenials are in a fine mood.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Plan just how to have more accord with mate, family and show more cooperation than you have in the past. Relenting a little can bring you a world of happiness. Put those fine ideas to work where property is concerned.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Ideal day to state your aims with kin, business allies, and come to a fine understanding. This will make the future better and brighter for all concerned. Save some time for that hobby you like later. Relax in p.m.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Thinking big is important today if you really want to become big and have the success you long have dreamed about. Confering with experts can be most helpful. Learn to budget your money better.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Go after some personal desire that is vital to your wellbeing now. Dress with style and make the right impression on others. The future depends pretty much on your own vision and wisdom. Think logically.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Go after the advice which experts can give you so you can later go ahead with those plans you have in mind. If you follow your hunches, you find they are correct and can be most helpful. Make the evening a happy one with kin.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Much sociability will pay off well now, so be sure to make new and worthwhile contacts as well. Going after personal aims is mighty important so lose no time. Pick your friends wisely, though.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You are far better able to gain your aims of both a personal and practical nature now, so be sure to apply yourself enthusiastically. A bigwig can be of great help to you; be sure to contact this person. Relax tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have new ideas and plans to put in operation now. Start early for fine results. Set aside dull routines. Your intuition is working nicely so follow it and get ahead of the other person.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A new attitude is what you need to solve problematical affairs that have seemed difficult in the past. This will get fine results now. Get insurance matters well handled. Avoid some situation that is not to your liking.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) If you are friendly with others, you find you get excellent results with everyone now, particularly with your regular associates. Bring your finest talents before the most prominent persons you know and get their support. Grow.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Make your environs more attractive and bright and this will lift your spirits for some time to come. Do something about improving your health as well. Stop putting up with some annoying minor ailment for some silly reason. Think.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those very dynamic young people who can easily get what is desired from others because of the charm and magnetism in the nature, but nonetheless requires both discipline and encouragement if all the great potential is to be realized throughout the lifetime. Work with and for the government is ideal here, regardless of sex, with much success.

The Worry Clinic Stage Fright Can Be Beaten

Arthur suffers from stage fright! But so did Biblical Moses. Study the technique below in order to stop your hands from shaking. And use the 2-option method to get an audience engaged in more animated discussion.

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph.D., M.D.
Case T-554: Arthur F., aged 17, is a high school senior.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "I am to lead the meeting next Sunday night of our church Young People's Society. "But I blush and get such stage fright when I try to speak in public that my hands shake till I can't even read my notes. "I'd like to avoid this job next Sunday but I have given my word. "So how can I gain more poise and also produce more active discussion on the part of the crowd?"

Timid Moses
Even Moses in the Bible is described as a victim of such stage fright that he stuttered.

audience discussion, don't throw out general questions such as, "What do you think about God?" Instead, become specific and always offer the crowd 2 options, as:

- "Is God more kind or less kind than human beings?"
- Instead of a vague query such as "What about forgiveness?" inquire: "Are mothers more forgiving than are fathers?"
- "Are college coeds more likely to attend church while away at school than are college men? If so, why?"
- "Are men or women more likely to urge the use of liquor while on a date?"
- "Is it easier to talk out your problems with your mother or with your father? And why?"
- Send for my booklet "Public Platform Psychology," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents. (Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Opening lead: King of ♣
Altho South might have responded directly with four spades over his partner's opening bid of one diamond, possession of 12 high card points made his hand a bit too strong for preemptive action. When West overcalled with two hearts and North freely rebid three diamonds, South was unwilling to leave anything further to chance and now he jumped to four spades.

West opened the king of hearts and continued with the queen as everyone followed suit. The switch was to the six of diamonds and the ace was played from dummy.

The six of spades was led and when East followed with the nine, declarer chose to forego the finesse in favor of cashing the ace and king. East showed out on the second round, so South continued with the jack which dislodged West's queen. The latter exited with a club to lock his opponent in dummy.

South attempted to reenter his hand by ruffing a diamond with a small trump, but West overruffed with the eight to score the setting trick. If declarer had trumped with the ten of spades, it would have established West's eight as the master trump, so the final result may appear to be a natural one. Had South considered the possible consequences of a four-one division in spades, however, he could have taken precautions to prevent the opposition from pinning him in the North hand.

All that is required is for declarer to cash the ace of clubs at trick four. Now when a spade is led to the ace and the king and jack are continued, South can safely discard the king and queen of clubs from dummy—inasmuch as the jack and ten in his hand are equals in rank and control the suit just as effectively. The advantage of this unblocking maneuver is that when West goes in with the queen of spades, whether he exits with a heart or a club, declarer can win the return in his hand and immediately draw the last trump with the ten of spades.

Science Open House At ECU Set Next Sunday

East Carolina University will have a Science Open House on Sunday, April 23, from 1:00 - 5:00 P.M. The eight science departments participating in the open house are Biology, Chemistry, Computing Center, Geology, Physics, Psychology, Science Education and School of Medicine.

Each department will have its teaching and research laboratories open for inspection by the public. Science staff members will be present to give demonstrations and answer questions.

Some of the highlights of the Science Open House are as follows:

- 1) A 4 Mev Tandem van de Graaff accelerator is located in the Physics department. This machine accelerates charged nuclear particles to speeds approaching 1-10 the speed of light. These particles are then used to investigate the structure of atoms and nuclei. The facilities are presently being used to investigate trace element contamination in environmental and biological samples.
- 2) Also in the Physics department there are plasma instruments for examining the 4th state of matter and a mini computer which is being connected to the van de Graaff accelerator.
- 3) On display in the Biology department will be a Hitachi HS-8 Electron Microscope. This instrument has magnification capabilities of 102,000 times and a resolution of 6 to 9 Angstroms. This instrument is currently being used for teaching and research in biological fine structure at both the undergraduate and graduate level. The machine will be demonstrated and there will be a display of electron micro graphs representing research work in progress.
- 4) A LASER Raman instrument will be demonstrated in the Chemistry department. The LASER source is a Krypton ion LASER which has several brightly colored lines. The instrument is used for research investigations of molecule vibrations. Both the Raman instrument and the LASER

Eye Protection Measures Urged

Check water tank daily to make sure it is full of clean fresh water.

Always carry a small plastic squeeze bottle of water in your pocket when working with ammonia. This can be used to immediately flush ammonia from the eye, which will enable you to better find your larger water supply. The first 10 seconds is crucial.

Thoroughly understand how to operate any liquid fertilizer application equipment before using it.

Check all hose fittings and connections daily to be sure they are tight and that there are no leaks.

First Aid emergency procedures are as follows:

Get water onto injured area of eyes or skin immediately. The first 10 second following eye exposure to ammonia are crucial.

If victim is wearing contact lenses, be sure they are removed before flushing water into the eyes.

If burns are extensive and a water tank or pond is available, immerse victim immediately.

Flush or irrigate exposed area with water for at least 15 minutes. If ammonia solution is in eye, be sure lids are held open while flushing with water.

Do not apply salves, ointments, or oils to an ammonia burn for at least 24 hours.

When victim is taken to a physician, after exposed area has been flushed with water, advise doctor that ammonia caused the injury.

5) Also located in the Chemistry department is a Mass Spectrometer which will be demonstrated as it fragments molecules and separates and analyzes their component masses.

6) Experimental laboratories will be on display in the Psychology department. In this lab rats receiving selective brain damage are unable to learn behavioral tasks as well as normal animals. The area of the brain receiving the damage is the same area that is destroyed by chronic alcoholism.

7) The Geology department will display minerals and fossils. Movies will be shown on The Rise and Fall of the Great Lakes, Kilauea, and the Grand Canyon.

8) The Computing Center will have demonstrations on the IBM 360-30 computer. Viewers will be allowed to participate in the demonstrations.

In addition, laboratories will be on display in the Science education department and in the School of Medicine.

There will be directional signs as you arrive on the ECU campus. Maps and detailed programs will be available.

State AFL-CIO President Wilbur Hobby will take his bid for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination to eastern North Carolina today.

Hobby is scheduled to speak to an East Carolina University journalism class and meet with supporters in Roxobel before going to Greensboro for a "Meet the Candidates" program.

Tuesday, Hobby stumped shopping centers and plants in Gastonia, shaking hands with shoppers and workers. At two plants, he and his campaign workers met employees at gates coming off shifts after company officials said solicitation on the premises was forbidden.

Hobby told a group of supporters Tuesday night that he would continue to base his campaign on handshakes and speaking out on issues. He said he does not have the funds available to his opponents—"those sweet talking Democrats and those two sweet talking Republicans."

The labor leader again charged that state government is not working for the average taxpayer. Hobby accused the state of price-fixing in the areas of auto insurance and milk costs.
