

An Loc Battle Is Resumed; 2 U.S. Ships Take Hits

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Heavy fighting erupted anew today on two sides of An Loc, 60 miles north of Saigon, after a 1,600-round enemy artillery bombardment of the war-torn provincial capital. Six North Vietnamese tanks were reported destroyed.

U.S. spokesmen disclosed meanwhile that ships of the U.S. 7th Fleet battled North Vietnamese MIG planes, torpedo boats and shore batteries this week in some of the heaviest sea action of the Indochina war.

The destroyer Higbee and the 7th Fleet flagship, the cruiser Oklahoma City, were damaged. Four Americans were wounded. A MIG jet that bombed the Higbee was shot down by a missile, the Navy said, and it was believed that three North Vietnamese torpedo boats were sunk and a fourth was damaged.

The allied commands also reported that the North Vietnamese offensive, now in its 22nd day, pushed Vietnamese casualties on both sides last week to their highest levels since the 1968 Tet offensive. The South Vietnamese command reported 1,002 of its troops and 7,117 enemy killed; the U.S. Command reported 12 American battlefield deaths for the second week in a row, the biggest total in six months.

The South Vietnamese command said that its paratroopers and rangers were locked in heavy fighting at midway half a mile north and half a mile east of An Loc.

Twenty U.S. B52s dropped 500 tons of explosives on three sides of the city, trying to break up the enemy concentrations besieging the city.

Field reports said North Vietnamese troops spearheaded by tanks renewed the attack from the north and from the south-east.

One battle 2½ miles south-east of the city around a paratrooper position known as Hill 169 was described as "close combat," and casualties were believed to be heavy on both sides.

The ground attacks were preceded by a 1,600-round artillery barrage from dawn until dusk Wednesday, and the enemy bombardment was renewed today.

First Lady Given Warm Robersonville Response

By JERRY RAYNOR

ROBERSONVILLE — "It's great to hear the wonderful bands, to see the flag lined streets," Mrs. Richard Nixon told a warmly receptive crowd of about 3,500 in Robersonville Wednesday afternoon.

The First Lady, looking radiant in a lovely white on white cotton brocade dress, was in the Martin County town for an hour and a half as a special guest honoring the town's centennial.

Her first act on arrival was accepting a bouquet of flowers from two small youngsters.

In her brief platform remarks, Mrs. Nixon mentioned the pleasure of "seeing your lovely flowers and the dogwood, your state flower, in bloom. I'm delighted to have even this brief time with you."

Following the playing of the national anthem, with members of Boy Scouts Troup 72 raising the flag, Mayor Wilson Wynne welcomed Mrs. Nixon to Robersonville, saying, "Your visit is the most important part of our centennial."

Donnie Hardison, Centennial Executive Chairman, presented Mrs. Nixon with red roses, and Mayor Wynne's wife gave the First Lady a crisp red centennial bonnet edged with white ruffle, which she immediately donned. She also signed the official centennial register for the time capsule, and was given certificate No. 1 of the Centennial Souvenir Fund.

A brief entertainment on stage featured a Kangaroo Court sentencing a woman to do a load of laundry. At the conclusion of the skit, Mrs. Nixon stepped forward, taking the washboard out of the wooden tub. Holding it aloft, she said "I would not want to do a laundry on this. I understand it's 100 years old and is all wood."

For more than an hour, in the rather uncomfortable heat heightened by powdery white sand underfoot and the press of people, Mrs. Nixon worked slowly through the crowd, shaking hands and chatting briefly, first with the young scouts, then with members of the band before moving down the line of people pressed against the retaining ropes. On several occasions she kissed the cheeks or hugged the necks of young children.

At one point, while observing a square dance group go through a few spirited numbers, the First Lady reacted, perhaps unconsciously, to the contagious rhythm moving her feet slightly in time to the music.

Seven local senior citizens — Mrs. Emma Teele, 95; Mrs. Mattie Gray, 92; Mrs. Magda Osborne, 89; Mrs. Lucy Jenkins 89; Samuel T. Everett, 86; Mrs. Dorothy Everett, 85; and Mrs. Carrie Roberson, 85, all were presented presidential signature pens.

The First Lady lingered with the elderly citizens, taking time to speak a minute or two with each. She was obviously moved

Young, Duke Now In Lunar Lander

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Two Apollo 16 astronauts transferred into their lunar ship Orion 40 minutes early today and prepared to descend from orbit to explore where man has never been—a mountain region of the moon.

John W. Young and Charles M. Duke Jr., eager for their surface adventure, donned their space suits early and climbed through a tunnel from the command ship to Orion shortly before 9 a.m. EST.

Mission Control advised them to take more potassium to avoid possible irregular heart beats.

Mission Control emphasized there was no concern about the health of the men and that the move, was merely precautionary.

Capsule communicator Don Peterson told them medical analysis indicated "your potassium levels are running a little low and we recommended you drink more orange juice. You've got a long day ahead, so we recommend you eat more food."

A potassium-laced diet was ordered for Apollo 16 after the Apollo 15 moon walkers suffered episodes of irregular heartbeats last summer.

John W. Young and Charles M. Duke Jr. were set for an afternoon drop to a rugged, undulating plateau high in the Descartes Mountains where they seek proof of ancient volcanic activity and hope to find the source of original lunar rock.

Touchdown of the landing ship Orion was scheduled for 3:41 p.m. EST, leaving Thomas K. Mattingly II alone in lunar orbit.

As the landing neared, Young expressed some concern about zipping up Duke's moon suit. He had trouble during a dress rehearsal Tuesday and asked Wednesday night if he could use pliers.

Mission Control objected and expressed the opinion that the problem was associated with weightlessness and would clear up in the one-sixth gravity on the moon.

The astronauts got a preview of what would be ahead when they passed over the landing site shortly after firing into lunar orbit Wednesday.

"The crater Descartes stands out much bigger than you'd expect," Duke reported. "The area has a much blockier, jumbled appearance than in the photographs."

"It's fantastic. Boy, is that rough," added Young.

Demo 'Censure'

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democrats voted tentatively today to condemn the U.S. Haiphong-Hanoi bombing as "a dangerous escalation of our role in the Indochina war" and took their strongest action yet to set a deadline for a U.S. pullout.

The House Democratic Caucus' tentative approval of the proposal by a roll call vote of 135 to 66 came at a meeting of the caucus which then began voting on a motion by Rep. Sam Gibbons, D-Fla., to add a condemnation of Hanoi's invasion of South Vietnam.

The first vote was made tentative pending outcome of the vote on Gibbons' proposal.

Wilbur Hobby Addresses Responsive ECU Group

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

"East Carolina University should get a four-year medical program as soon as possible, and a two-year school should be instituted immediately," Gubernatorial candidate Wilbur Hobby told a student crowd in front of the University Union yesterday afternoon.

His major stands are to raise a state rated fifth in workers' productivity and 49th in wages to a high general income range and to raise money for better educational and other programs by raising corporate taxes and clamping down on "big boy" tax evaders. A corporate tax raise from 6 to 7 per cent would give the state much more money to work with, would keep us competitive with our sister states of South Carolina and Virginia and would still leave North Carolina below the national average, he said.

He proposes better consumer protection including checking on certain questionable practices by insurance and other large corporations and whether monopolies should be allowed to spend large amount of advertising even as they ask for rate increases.

Hobby found a responsive student audience at ECU. He could not be riled by the few who tried to heckle him. Asked if he wasn't a union "big boy" he answered, "Son, you don't call me a big boy. I probably don't have as much money as you do now. My mother had to put me to bed early every evening so she could wash my one pair of dungarees. I finished high school on a ship in the Pacific at the age of 29 and got through college (Duke University) on the GI bill and by working nine hours a night in a tobacco factory while I carried a full course load."

He had high praise of the union system, but he said he disagrees with many national union leaders. He spoke out vehemently against the air war in Vietnam and on busing, he said, he would try to correct the causes, but that he would obey the law of the land on the subject.

'Like Lazarus'

ROBERSONVILLE, N.C. (AP) — In 1960, when the Rev. Tommy Payne and four other residents of Robersonville in heavily Democratic eastern North Carolina announced they had voted for Richard Nixon, they were buried in effigy.

Mrs. Nixon came to Robersonville Wednesday to help the community of fewer than 2,500 residents celebrate its 100th birthday. And she spoke at the spot where crosses had been erected 12 years ago bearing the names of the Baptist minister and the others.

"I feel like Lazarus rising from the grave," Payne said.

Fight Erupts At Rose High Again

By JERRY RAYNOR

Four male Negro students were arrested at Rose High School this morning following a disturbance beginning at 8:40 a.m. that eventually involved approximately 150 students.

Principal Robert Alligood stated all the students involved in the fighting were black students.

Three of the youths arrested are Ronald Forbes, 20; Jeffrey Hines, 17; and William Hansley, 17. The fourth arrest involved a juvenile. Two white female students were injured, not as a direct part of the fight in the hallway. One of the girls was taken to the hospital with an eye injury and later taken home. The other girl, (Continued On Page 12)

Pledge Of Support Is Given Governing Board

President Leo W. Jenkins today pledged cooperation of the East Carolina University administration with the newly created Board of Governors of state-supported institutions but asked "understanding of our capabilities."

In remarks to the visiting members of the newly appointed board which will assume broad powers in public high education July 1, Dr. Jenkins said:

"We hope that this initial visit of the governing board is the beginning of your understanding of our capabilities and of a strong partnership for future service."

He said that, "We at East Carolina University do not regard our situation as static."

"In the future we will propose to you that we be allowed to perform the tasks that society asks us to perform and that we feel competent to perform."

Jenkins stressed that while:

"we have developed rapidly at East Carolina University we have been careful to provide a sound base for our growth."

"We are confident of our ability to serve education in this state in our particular way."

The ECU president reviewed in detail many of the innovative programs instituted since the school became a multi-purpose educational institution in 1951 and some of those which are in the planning, formative or recommended stage. He spoke of the School of Allied Health, the budding medical school, study programs in environmental health, marine science and research, international studies expanded developments in drama and art, continuing education, and experimental programs.

He said the recent recommendation of the Pitt County Bar Association to study the need for a law school on the ECU campus brings about "an obligation on our part to evaluate this proposal ... to discuss it ... to process it through our internal policy-making machinery and eventually (if found to be worthy and we believe we are or can become competent to offer such a program) to present a program proposal to our board of trustees, then if approved, to you as the new state agency for allocating such programs ..."

"We live and operate under the constant challenge to offer meaningful and relevant education to all who enter," Jenkins said.

"We recognize the magnitude of the job we must do and we are sincerely striving to do it well."

At another point in his remarks, Dr. Jenkins said, "We have been equipping ourselves to train the broad masses of students to cope with a broad range of societal problems." He pointed to "unique public service contributions" by the university.

Thirteen Warrants Signed, 7 Issued, Charging Benefits-Abuse

Thirteen warrants have been signed and seven served charging false representation regarding Pitt County Social Service benefits, according to Sheriff Ralph Tyson.

Eleven of the cases involved misrepresentation of eligibility for Food Stamps and two involved false representation in use of a Medicaid card, Miss Dorothy Bolton, director of Pitt County Social Services, said.

The 11 persons charged with false representation of their income to appear eligible for Food Stamps were notified three times two months apart by letter to go into the Social Services Department and make arrangements to start paying back the amounts believed fraudulently taken, Miss Bolton said.

The names and addresses (as given at the time of application) and the amount each is charged with taking are as follows: Mrs. Lucille Crandall of Rt. 3, Box 526, Washington, $2,539; Elijah Harris of Rt. 2, Farmville, $606; William Mewborn of Rt. 1, Box 101-A, Grifton, $831; Mrs. Sadie Chapman of 1924-B Norcott Circle, Greenville, $343; Kermit Suggs of Rt. 1, Box 270, Ayden, $1,851.75; Leary Galloway of Rt. 2, Grimesland, $328; Booker T. Joyner of Rt. 2, Greenville, $344; Benjamin Nichols of 606 W. Church Street, Farmville, $122; Henry Lee Rosenboro of Rt. 1, Box 390, Grifton, $312; William T. Roach of Rt. 3, Box 424, Greenville, $460; and Ernest Mullins of Rt. 1, Tarboro, $1,201.

Late this morning Mrs. Crandall, Mewborn, Mrs. Chapman,

Suggs, and Roach had had warrants served them, according to Sheriff Tyson.

Miss Judy Elaine Ward of 904 West Third Street, Greenville is charged with false representation concerning the use of an Aid to Dependent Children Medicaid card. Charged with aiding and abetting her is the person to whom the card allegedly belonged, Mrs. Louise Battle Jenkins of 1009 West Sixth Street, Greenville. Both warrants have been served.

All 13 cases are scheduled to be heard in Greenville District Court May 10 at 9:30 a.m. Bond is $100 for each person, Sheriff Tyson said.

Miss Bolton said a thorough investigation of all Food Stamp and Medicaid files was made before these persons were notified and finally charged. More persons have received either one or two warning letters, she said, and will be charged later if no action on their part is taken to correct erroneous issue after a third notification.

"The Social Services Department is committed to help people in Pitt County who are in need," Miss Bolton said. "Action like this is hurtful to everyone involved, but abusers jeopardize the well being of every recipient and certainly of the taxpayers who foot the bills."

"We feel, now that sufficient time has been given for these people to at least let us know that they are interested in setting things right, that we must press charges."

Which Is Better: Hotel Or Motel? Father And Son Have Growing Up To Do

By BETTY YARMON
NEW YORK (WNS)—With the heavy vacation season just ahead, this is an appropriate time to ask the inevitable question: hotel or motel, where should you stay?

The question has particular relevance today, with the entire industry — hotel and motel — generally in a period of change as it tries to meet such challenges as overbuilding, declining occupancy rates (especially over week-ends) and convention business down an estimate 40 per cent across the country.

The motel has substantial savings to offer you and your family:

- 1.—Motel rooms generally cost less than comparable rooms in hotels.
- 2.—You have no garage costs.

- 3.—You won't find a doorman or bellman, so the pressure to tip isn't there. You park your own car, and you bring your bags in and out by yourself. Generally you are expected to find your own room. True, you should leave a tip for the chambermaid, but that's about it.
- 4.—You will find far less temptation to spend money when you stay at a motel. Very few motels include elaborate lobby shops or displays, and many do not have room service, instead providing vending machines that offer ice, soft drinks, candy and cigarettes.

- 5.—Food normally is cheaper at a motel. Motels offer less formal dining service, menus with less variety, and plainer food.

- 6.—You save on clothing. As a rule, roadside motels have neither lobbies nor other public rooms, so there is little pressure on you to wear anything but casual attire.

- 7.—Motels frequently save you time; a traveler can generally get on his way earlier by by-passing downtown traffic. Most motel guests pay when they check in, but check-outs are quicker even where you don't pay in advance.

On the other hand, the very factors about the motel that seem so attractive to some of us are the factors that make others prefer hotels. Among them:

- 1.—Some travelers want an attendant to carry their bags and to garage their cars, particularly after a long, tiring drive.

- 2.—Many travelers look for room service and the other niceties that motels generally lack. They want to know that, simply by picking up the telephone, a number of services can be theirs, such as doctor or dentist, meals, beauty parlor or barbershop, theater and sports tickets, drugstore.

- 3.—Hotels usually are in the center of town, which means you can do your sightseeing or visiting directly, without having to drive in and out from where you are staying.

- 4.—Hotels offer lobbies and other public rooms, where you can meet your friends in an atmosphere of some grace.

- 5.—Then, many hotels retain a certain prestige value, which often makes a traveler seek out the most famous one in town just so he can write the folks back home and tell them he is staying.

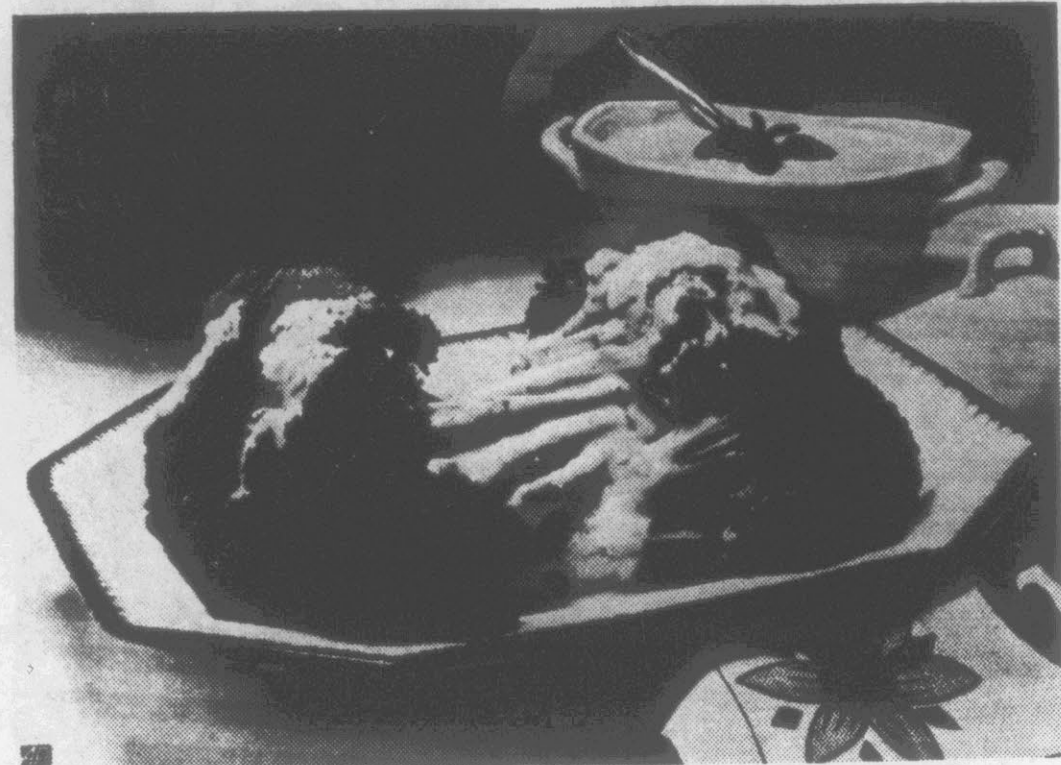

What is most intriguing about this hotel-motel debate is that the two gradually are approaching each other. Both, as they fight depression, are offering convention facilities, group discounts, and special prices aimed at attracting visitors over week-ends and during off-season period. Beyond that, motels are getting to be more like hotels and hotels more like motels.

On their part, motels are rising in downtown areas, particularly units of the big chains, where they often are forced by high land values to charge for garage facilities. Room service is becoming more common, they are opening large cocktail bars and elegant restaurants, and some are even offering lobbies with shops, beauty parlors, and ticket brokers.

At the same time, the hotels have been revamping themselves in the effort to compete — among others, the San Francisco Hilton, New York's Plaza, and Atlanta's Regency Hyatt House have just finished costly programs. Meanwhile coffee shops have been installed as supplementary to the expensive dining rooms, separate entrances often are provided for families that don't want to parade across the lobby looking bedraggled from a long trip, and some hotels have set up special motor registration desks and even free parking lots across the street.

As a result, it is getting increasingly difficult to pinpoint the differences between a new motel and a new hotel in a comparable location, and in time the distinctions may just about disappear except for the few downtown or resort luxury hotels and the lonely motel on an out-of-the-way road.

Nutritionists recommend one serving of a citrus fruit or vegetable be served every day.

BROCCOLINI — Serve it with a Lemon Cream Sauce.

Broccoli And Lemon Cream Sauce Make A Good Team

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
It's strange that broccoli didn't come into its own until the 1920s, although it had been grown in America for around 200 years. Nowadays it's one of our most popular vegetables.

Broccoli is often served with butter (melted or browned), cheese sauce or Hollandaise.

But if you want a new accompaniment, try this Lemon Cream Sauce.

BROCCOLI WITH LEMON CREAM SAUCE

1 bunch broccoli
Lemon Cream Sauce, see below

To prepare broccoli, cut off leaves and trim the bottom of the stalks. With a swivel-blade vegetable peeler, remove the outer covering of the stalks up to the flowerets. If stalks are more than 1/2-inch in diameter, make 2 lengthwise slits almost to the flowerets.

Cook broccoli, covered, in 1 inch of boiling salted water until tender-crisp—about 10 minutes. Drain. Serve with Lemon Cream Sauce; pour the sauce over the broccoli or offer separately. The broccoli and sauce are also good served cold as a salad course.

Makes 4 to 6 servings.
LEMON CREAM SAUCE
2 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon minced fresh mint, if desired
1 cup light cream
1 egg yolk

1/4 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice

In a small saucepan melt butter and, if used, add mint; gradually stir in cream. Bring to a boil, stirring often; boil for 5 minutes to reduce the cream. Stir a small amount of the cream into the egg yolk, then slowly stir the egg mixture into the cream in the saucepan. Add salt and lemon juice. Cook, stirring constantly, over very low heat for 2 minutes.

Father Fires His Daughter

PONTYPRIDD, Wales (WNS) — Mary Evans, 18, has complained because she has been fired by her father from her secretarial job with the Amalgamated Union of Engineering Workers here. Her father is the union's district secretary and is enforcing a rule that officers cannot employ relatives. "But," said Mary, "I was working here for nine months before Dad got his post. I'm shocked, and I'm going to fight this tooth and nail." Clerical workers are threatening to strike in her behalf.

Alexandre Tells All In Book

PARIS (WNS)—Alexandre, France's most famous hairdresser, has arranged for publication of his memoirs here. Titled "Under Alexandre's Drier," the book is dedicated to his mother, to his "master" (coiffeur Antoine) and to the Duchess of Windsor, his first "great head." In a chapter entitled "Ingratitudes," he lists three of actor playwright Sacha Guitry's wives as ladies who did not always pay their bills. The last of them, Lana Marconi, notified Alexandre after her husband's death, "I am not responsible for debts left by my late husband." In his book Alexandre announces that he will retire in five years and live off the profits of his beauty products.

Name Change Is Rejected

PARIS (WNS)—In France, Jean is a popular first name for a man. A French electrical engineer with that name just requested that it be changed to Charles because "I am going to work in America where the name Jean is feminine and will produce confusion if not damage on the moral plane for me." His lawyer added, "It is in the legitimate interest of this man to change a situation and to avoid complications." The French court rejected the request.

DEAR ABBY: We are a family of six. All healthy and normal, I think. Our eldest son is 16. (I'll call him Bill.) Last summer Bill started putting on an act in public which I have found utterly disgusting. He puts his glasses on askew, shakes, trembles, crosses his eyes, slurs and giggles and pretends that he is retarded. This isn't a once-in-a-while thing; he can't walk a half a block on the sidewalk without going into his act. His father thinks it is hilarious.

I think it is a cheap, sick way of getting attention. Last Saturday at the shopping center, Bill was so "retarded" he could hardly get out of the car, and when he finally got everyone looking at him, he straightened up and acted normal.

If we attempt as a family to watch TV, Bill lies prone on the chesterfield with his eyes crossed, slurping and giggling until it's just a nightmare. Meanwhile his father is holding his sides. I think they are both sicker than they know. Or is something wrong with my sense of humor? Perhaps I should tell you that we have no retardation in the family anywhere. What on earth is the matter with this boy?

CANADIAN

DEAR CANADIAN: He obviously doesn't realize that he is ridiculing the handicapped. But what's his father's excuse? I hope they both grow up soon.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for nearly four months. He is a wonderful man, but we have a problem. Our sex life has been nil.

On our honeymoon, all we did was sleep, but I thought we were just exhausted from the wedding.

We have never had sex. I consulted our minister and he said he was "amazed"—but he offered no solution.

My husband is a very shy person. Could this have anything to do with it? I am told I am nice looking. Could it be MY fault? Is this unusual? Can you help me? I would sure appreciate it.

DON'T USE MY NAME

DEAR DON'T: I am amazed that all your minister could do was tell you that he was "amazed." You and your husband should see a doctor. Like IMMEDIATELY.

DEAR ABBY: For some months I have kept the letter in your column signed, "NO NAME, PLEASE" who has been (and probably still is) taking care of an aging parent. She wants to know why nobody offers to stay with the parent so she herself can have a little break in her routine.

Abby, nobody needs to be in such distress. I am a volunteer in a program which helps people in just such circumstances. This woman has only to tell her story to her pastor. He surely knows of organizations and agencies that provide such services.

There is FISH, also VOLUNTEER FRIENDLY VISITORS, and others, listed under "City of," or "County of," or "State of," followed by an appropriate title.

If I knew that that woman was in my neighborhood, I would go at once and offer to stay with her elderly parent so she could get some relief. If we don't hear about these people, their loneliness, and their related problems, we cannot offer to help.

Please tell her, and others that the world has many willing, generous people who will come when they are needed.

FLORENCE IN HADDONFIELD, N. J.

DEAR FLORENCE: Thank you for telling them.

DEAR ABBY: My husband prefers long hair, so I let nine grow long. Recently, I decided to get a little trimmed off the ends to get a permanent.

I called a beauty shop and made an appointment. The owner of the shop told the operator what I wanted done, and then I told the operator that I wanted only a little trimmed off the ends.

I then took off my glasses so they wouldn't be in the way. The operator then proceeded to chop off my hair, and I ended up VERY short. I was upset, but said nothing, thinking if the end result looked nice it would be all right.

When I tried to tell the operator what style I wanted for my hair, she said they didn't do that there, and then she gave me an awful, childish hairdo.

When I complained to the owner, all she said was, "I'm sorry." What recourse do I have? Can an operator in a beauty shop just chop off hair without any responsibility to the customer? I'd appreciate any help you can give me.

Board Bears A Heavy Burden

It's safe to assume that the East Carolina University campus visit was the first for some members of the new board of governors for the North Carolina system of higher education.

For them, the size and scope of the fledgling university may well have been an eye-opener. It frequently is, for first-timers. To a surprising number of Tar Heels in the west, ECU is still thought of as a small but rather "noisy" institution.

Visiting the several N.C. campuses is a most sensible approach to the questions that exist and those yet to arise before the board of governors. A broad perspective, attainable only by such tours, is necessary. We trust this is not the last such circuit-riding foray by the distinguished body.

Some controversial decisions are pending. They are decisions that have to be made; for ignoring them, or shoving them under a rug, will be more dangerous to the board's future than the fire and fury their rulings will invoke.

For a starter—

There are those regional universities who do not measure up to their name. The legislature built that coming decision into the system, and the question hangs like the Sword of Damocles over the board of governors and the schools involved.

Alumni and supporters of former all-Negro institutions saw this next one on the horizon: the pre-requisites of practicalities and business sense mean campus-duplication and no-longer-needed courses and institutions must be chopped down.

With the demise of racially designated schools, old loyalties are bound to be outraged over closing of any such now surplus institution, or the limiting of its services.

The School of Medicine at East Carolina got off the ground only after years of hard fighting. It isn't really flying yet; and the new board of governors could create a whole new ballgame. This is a most serious matter for the East, and it is certain that similarly dear dreams are in the minds of far-sighted people in each segment of North Carolina.

There are many other issues, of greater and lesser importance, pending. No one can envy the responsibility they entail.

Some very tough verdicts are going to have to be handed down in the foreseeable future. We hope the board measures up to tasks that lie ahead.

Gubernatorial Race A Circus

By BRYAN HAISLIP

RALEIGH—The Tar Heel '72 gubernatorial circus is a three-ring event with a dozen acts vying for voter attention.

While a half-dozen candidates in the Democratic and Republican primaries get the most headlines and TV time, as many again are making promises and offering programs in campaigns for the state's top office.

They are minor contenders in spending and political impact, but each shows confidence that a majority of the people will turn to him for leadership out of the wilderness of current problems. What their platforms lack in plausibility, they more than make up for in novelty and unorthodox approach to government.

Take, for instance, Bruce E. Burleson of Charlotte. He's a 270-pound, one-time wrestler running on the American Party ticket in his eighth (or maybe ninth try for public office.

Hubcap Money-Raiser

Other candidates debate raising taxes. Burleson's better idea is a set of hubcaps, engraved with the state seal and the gubernatorial signature.

"For $400 anybody could get a set of hubcaps, come to Raleigh and have dinner with me at the Mansion, and I'd find them a job," he explained. That would raise money for the state and reduce unemployment at the same time, he said.

The American Party race, added to the traditional Democratic and GOP contest, makes it three primaries on the May 6 ballot for selection of gubernatorial nominees.

The 6,500 or so third party members of the state will choose between Burleson and Arlis Pettyjohn is party chairman, it looks like Burleson has a hard row to hoe.

Six Democratic hopefuls are running for the party's nomination. At the head of the pack is the quartet of Lt. Gov. Pat Taylor, Hargrove (Skipper) Bowles of Greensboro, State AFL-CIO Chief Wilbur Hobby of Durham, and Dr. Reginald Hawkins, Charlotte black dentist.

The two other aspirants are Zeb Vance K. Dickson of Eden and Gene Leggett of Harkers Island.

Four in GOP Race

The spotlight in the Republican primary is on Jim Holsouser of Boone and Jim Gardner of Rocky Mount. Their competition to head the party's state ticket is Leroy Gibson of Jacksonville and Thomas E. Chappell of Guilford College.

The paradox is that while running for office is more complex and expensive than ever before, the turnout of candidates also is larger. By any standard, many of the candidates can only make ripples instead of the waves it takes to win. Yet they are investing money of their own, and contributions from friends in what is certain to be an exercise in futility.

Reflection of Frustrations

The explanation offered by political observers is the rash of candidates reflects a deep sense of public frustration with politics as usual. Ordinary citizens are led to try the impossible because no other alternative appeals to them.

To a man, the lower echelon candidates for governor are opposed to busing to achieve racial balance in schools. Whatever differences they have, in background and outlook, that gives the common theme for their campaigns.

Most of them, whatever their party designation, favor Gov. George Wallace of Alabama for president. With an exception such as Burleson, who numbers the presidency among offices he has tried for, they have never run before and they have switched parties once or more in the past.

All promise to end busing. Gibson, founder of the Rights of White People organization, would bring to trial judges who have ordered busing. Chappell, manager of an auto agency, advocates negotiations and use of the state's purchasing power as a lever.

Not unexpectedly, Burleson has the most ingenious solution. "I will have the state doctor issue a blanket medical excuse from school busing on the ground that it is a hazard to the health of children," he declared. "No court in the land will go against it."

A Chat With Wilbur Hobby

By JOHN KILGO KOSYNDICATE

ON THE CAMPAIGN TRAIL—Wilbur Hobby had just finished wolfing down a motel hamburger and he loosened his necktie, propped his feet up on the bed and said: "I'm gonna finish first or second on May 6."

Come on, Wilbur! Do you really think you can win or are you just trying to discuss some issues?

"I think I can win. I'm the only man talking about pocketbook issues."

Wilbur Hobby, president of the State AFL-CIO, is also a Democratic candidate for Governor of North Carolina. He's been hard on the campaign trail, catching three hours sleep here, five hours there.

"I've got to be given the opportunity to tell my message to the people," Hobby told me. "The Big Boys seem to be cutting me out of the press coverage. They're shutting me to the side, cutting down my press releases."

Whether Hobby is in Smithfield or Kannapolis, Wilmington or Burlington, he talks about the Big Boys. They're trying to do this, attempting to do that.

Who are the Big Boys?

"They're the utility companies who are going up on electric rates," Hobby said. "They're the bankers and the other big financial interests. They're the insurance companies that don't tell all the facts to the consumer and cancel policies at their own whims."

Hobby says if he's elected, he won't be obligated to the Fat Cats, just the ordinary citizen. But at least one candidate in this race thinks Wilbur Hobby is a Big Boy. That would be Reginald Hawkins, who says Hobby should resign as president of the union, because keeping that office and being a candidate is a conflict of interest.

"It's funny," Hobby says, "but the press always gives Doc (Hawkins) his best coverage when he's criticizing me. It is no conflict of interest. Pat Taylor's being lieutenant governor is no conflict of interest. He'd be a fool to resign. Wonder if the Governor died in an airplane crash? I've not had a single dues-paying member of the union complain about me running for Governor. Not one."

Most people would figure that Pat Taylor and Skipper Bowles are the front runners in the Democratic primary. Hobby says those men are being backed by the auto insurance companies, by the textile industry, by utility companies, and to some extent by the tobacco industry, "even though the tobacco people don't trust either one of them."

"Taylor seems to have more of this kind of support than Skipper," Hobby says. "Taylor has more of the courthouse gang. But I think Taylor can be beat. I think I can beat him."

Hobby says chances are good that he would not have run for Governor if Attorney General Robert Mrogan had become a candidate.

"I was supporting what Morgan was doing in the field of consumer protection," Hobby said. "I was surprised when he got out of the race. He was far ahead and I'm sure he wanted to be Governor. Bowles and Taylor don't talk consumer issues. Bowles did come out for no-fault insurance. I haven't seen Taylor come out for anything for the consumer."

"The Governor's organization is behind Pat. They really run state government. I take Gov. Scott at his word that he's not backing Pat. But people like Ben Roney and Wiley Earp are."

Hobby says Gov. Scott "hasn't been the great Governor that I hoped he would be. But he hasn't been all bad, either. He's had to work under some adverse conditions. I think maybe he delegated too much authority."

Hobby feels the Republican Party is getting stronger in the state and he says: "I might be the only man who could beat the Republican in November. I talk about pocketbook issues. I don't owe anything to the Big Boys, just the people. When May 6 comes, you'll see Wilbur Hobby on top or no lower than second. I plan to keep right on working."

Strength For Today

We are living in an age that puts great emphasis on liberty. In his Second Epistle to the Corinthians (3:17) the Apostle Paul declares that "the Lord is that Spirit; and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty."

Americans never sing so enthusiastically as they do when they are singing about "the land of the free and the home of the brave." This, of course, does not mean that we are the only free nation in the world. We are the freest nation and the one, we believe, which offers the greatest opportunity for advancement and happiness. We have our problems, and they are big problems indeed. We have our burdens to bear, but we are confident that we have the strength to bear them. We do not like despots, especially those who call themselves Communists and declare they are going to bury us and plow us under, as it were. We can get our coats off swiftly, roll up our sleeves and assume the posture of a pugilist. "If you want it that way, you can have it. You don't like us because we have a bit of wealth. We don't like you because you have a lot of stealth. We walk softly and carry a big stick."

We could have world-wide peace if we were willing to pay the price of peace. It may seem silly to say so, but we are determined to have peace even if we have to fight for it. Crazy perhaps, but satisfactory.

Keeping An Idea Alive

CHICAGO—Nearly 200 American writers and teachers, all of them identified with the conservative cause, gathered here in Chicago the other night to honor a benefactor and to renew old bonds. Liberals, of course, have such occasions also, they are indispensable to the keeping of any faith, and they remind us anew of the importance of ritual in the survival of civilized man.

Our own modest consistory was summoned to pay homage to Henry Regnery, founder and now chairman of the board of the publishing house that bears his name.

Henry is a diminutive fellow, maybe five-feet-six, slender as a snap bean, but he stands pencil straight and his placid face belies a stubbornness within. He is 60 years old, but in the past 25 years he has not gained a pound or added a wrinkle.

These were the 25 years we recognized last week—the quarter century since Henry, at 35, plunged into the perilous waters of the book publishing business. He set out in Chicago, of all places, to publish books by conservatives, of all people, and for nearly two decades, until Arlington House and the Conservative Book Club came along, Henry and Devin Adair Garrity in New York were the only two such lunatics in the land. Bless them, O Lord!

You have to be a professional writer, perhaps to understand that invocation fully. The act of writing, in itself, is among the most agonizing occupations ever contrived by man, but to write futilely—to write and not get published—is to know the tortures of the damned. It is like the tree that falls in the desert: Does anyone hear? Without a publisher, a writer is an unstrung fiddle; other instruments are playing. He is mute.

Henry Regnery made it his mission to string us up. He challenged the orchestrated liberalism of the whole book publishing world—not merely the houses themselves, but also the book reviewers, the periodicals, the critics who can make or break a title in the market. Then, as now, the media were dominated by intellectuals hostile to conservative thought. Henry took on the whole crew.

Other Editors Say Build The Pipeline

(Henderson Dispatch)

Why all the haggling and squabbling over building a pipe line south from Alaska to tap a virtually inexhaustible supply of oil has been fraught with mystery from the start. Major oil companies paid the State of Alaska some $700 to $800 million for concessions, only to run into political controversy later. What happens to the millions of dollars if the pipe line should never be built and if Alaska's oil should never become available is a horse of another color.

In all probability, the controversy will simmer out of existence and the pipe line eventually be constructed. It is essential to this country that other than present sources of supply be found and made usable.

Much of this country's present supply of oil comes from territory of the small sheikdoms of the Middle East. If Armageddon should break in that area, or if the sheiks should become wholly unreasonable in their demands for royalties, and all of them shut off the supply, a shortage of oil in this country would almost certainly result. If of a mind to do so, Soviet Russia might be able to browbeat the tiny kingdoms into denying Middle East oil to this country.

A vast amount of American industry depends upon oil for fuel. If it were to be denied, a major crisis could develop in short order.

All of which only emphasizes the necessity for developing the Alaskan reserves, and doing it without delay. No one can forecast an emergency that could become a serious threat here. Alaska is part of the United States, and no one else can dictate policy. The controversy is largely political and centered for the most part in Washington or among other interests in this country. It seems to us essential that the project get under way without further delay, to the end that this source of supply be opened for needs here at home.

Thus, when it was highly fashionable to praise the Chinese Communists, those agrarian reformers, he published Freda Utley's "The China Story," one of the most powerful anti-Communist works of our time. When progressive education was all the rage, he sought out Mortimer Smith, and thereby introduced in the groves of academe a cool voice of common sense. He breached the very citadels of the Eastern Establishment with Bill Buckley's "God and Man at Yale." In 1957, when liberals ruled the Southern roost, he sought a conservative in Richmond and let the young cock crow.

Chicken Recipe For All

By JOY STILLEY
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Take 11,000 chickens.

Skin, quarter, cut, slice, bone, halve, dice, cube, pound or grind. Add stuffings, seasonings, flavorings, sauces, fruits, vegetables, nuts, soft drinks, hard drinks, gelatine, cheese, soup, milk, eggs, molasses, cereal or ice cream. Boil, broil, barbecue, bake, roast, simmer, saute, fry or grill.

There's a chicken recipe for every taste among the 11,000 submitted in the National Broiler Council's chicken cooking contest. The nation's chicken cooks, male and female, young and old, have included among the ingredients in their entries almost every edible item in a well-stocked grocery.

Nostalgic for the days of your youth, the Saturday movie matinee, the county fair? Circus chicken may be just your dish, with a popcorn-peanut coating flavored with lemonade.

Something a bit more sophisticated, perhaps? There's chicken a la mode—with ice cream. If you like to think pink, try chicken topped with strawberry ice cream mixed with rose wine.

In fact, eating the dinnertime cocktail is in vogue in chicken munching circles this year. Alcoholic beverages—from beer to champagne—figure prominently in the recipes as cooking liquid or in sauce.

Those who prefer to keep their chickens sober can try banana caramel sauce. And chickens cooked in tea, coffee, cola, sauerkraut juice, cranberry juice, orange juice, sour cream or honey are guaranteed not to give fowl fanciers a hangover.

The stuffing could be rhubarb, chopped hot dogs or, for those who like the unusual, a combination of fish sticks, cream cheese and lemon gelatine.

Eight home economists screened the thousands of recipes in a process that will eventually lead to a cookoff among the finalists in 50 states and the District of Columbia. In addition to a few cases of queasiness from the stranger combinations panel members got some laughs.

"Take one whole friar," wrote one contestant, possibly under the assumption that ingredients could be acquired from religious orders as well as grocery orders.

Every part of the chicken except the peep has its champions. Aside from such delicacies as breast of chicken fixed in hundreds of ways, there's gizzard goulash, heart kabobs, wings Chinese style, crown roast of drumsticks, recipes calling for feet, and neck skins used for sausage casings. Plus 14-carrot chicken soup.

Despite the many off-beat recipes, one seasoning didn't get a mention. Nobody suggested putting pot in the chicken instead of putting chicken in the pot.

A Precarious FDA Compromise

By ELMER ROESSNER

Under new Food and Drug Administration regulations, cosmetic manufacturers are to provide information voluntarily about the secret ingredients they put in their products.

to identify hazards and remove potentially dangerous products from the market, and as long as cosmetic makers' secret ingredients are fairly well kept from competitors and, especially, the public.

The plan is modeled closely after a proposal by the Cosmetic, Toiletry and Fragrance Association. It is a compromise between what the manufacturers prefer and what the FDA and consumer advocates would like.

Given their druthers, the manufacturers would divulge little or nothing at all, to anyone. And the FDA and consumer advocates really want full, mandatory disclosure with the kind and amounts of ingredients listed on product labels.

Under the compromise plan, the manufacturers will inform the FDA of the ingredients. And if the manufacturers can present a good case for it, the FDA will not disclose the information.

COMMENT: This arrangement will last only as long as the FDA gets all the information it thinks it needs

Featherbedding Fight Shaping Up

The Penn Central Railroad has proposed reducing train crews by one man—eliminating about 6,000 jobs at a $90 million-a-year savings—in its efforts to reorganize and work its way out of bankruptcy.

The United Transportation Union and the AFL-CIO promptly assailed the idea, threatened to strike, and began hinting that perhaps nationalization is the only medicine for the ailing railroads.

A presidential emergency board has been established and the situation is frozen for 60 days, assuring there will be no job cuts or strikes for that period, at least.

COMMENT: This is going to be a tough, long-term battle. The UTU and AFL-CIO will fight down to the wire because the job cuts, even though achieved by attrition and not firings, would set a precedent for similar train crew reductions in all of the other railroads in the country. Penn Central, for its part, badly needs the cuts and the resulting savings, which are a major element in its reorganization plan.

Invoking the specter of nationalization shook up the Penn Central receivers and many others, as well. But, while it might tend to preserve featherbedding, it is hard to see how the unions would benefit in the long run.

Ersatz Steak, Anyone?

A fourth large demonstration plant for manufacturing edible protein is in the works for England.

Shell Oil Company has already put large amounts of money into bacterial protein culture through fermentation of natural gas. It is expected to shortly scale up its process again to a plant producing more than 1,000 tons a year.

The British are leaders in this field. Imperial Chemical Industries, Ranks Hovis-McDougall, and British Petroleum are already at work on large-capacity demonstration plants. Some processes use natural gas, methane, directly. Other convert the methane to methyl alcohol and grow the bacteria in that.

COMMENT: None of us will ever eat steak made from manufactured protein. The processes have numerous difficulties to face, including technical problems, cost, consumer resistance and competition from fish meal, plant protein sources and cattle on the hoof. The principal uses, if the process can be perfected, will be as a fortifier in flour-based foods such as bread and breakfast cereals, soft drinks, and some types of prepared foods.

Physics Instructors To Be Gathering At ECU

Four hundred physics instructors from about 100 colleges will be at East Carolina University this weekend for a conference on physics education during the first two years of college.

The conference is sponsored by the Eastern Carolina Cooperative in Physics (EC-COP), an organization of 11 two-year institutions, and the ECU Department of Physics.

Participants in the conference will represent these colleges as well as others throughout North Carolina and several other states as far as Wyoming.

Dr. Carl G. Adler of the ECU physics faculty, conference director, said the conference will focus on two of the most pressing problems facing physics departments in their roles as educators: the use of the introductory laboratory and the role of the nonscience student in physics.

The conference is supported by a grant from the National Science Foundation and will feature lectures by several nationally recognized experts in physics pedagogy, including: Dr. Bill Aldridge, member of the board of the American Association of Physics Teachers; Dr. Phil KiLavore, past member of the Commission on College Physics;

Dr. Arnold Strassenberg, a past divisional director of the American Institute of Physics, and Dr. Kenneth Ford, president of the American Association of Physics Teachers.

Member institutions of EC-COP are: Chowan College, Coastal Carolina Community College, College of the Albemarle, Kit-trell College, Lenoir Community College, Louisburg College, Mount Olive College, Pitt Technical Institute, Sandhills Community College, Southeastern Community College and Wayne Community College.

3-Day Meet For Agents

Area life underwriters will be in Raleigh Friday attending the 26th Annual North Carolina Sales Congress sponsored by the North Carolina Association of Life Underwriters.

The Sales Congress, consisting of three schools for underwriters underway today in Charlotte, tomorrow in Winston-Salem, and Friday at Memorial Auditorium in Raleigh, will utilize the three-day theme of "Meeting Change in Our Profession."

Some 1,500 to 2,000 life insurance agents are expected at the session in Raleigh that will feature a sales idea clinic Friday at 9 a.m., a new agents panel and a "Presidents Reception, Dinner and Ball." This affair, it was announced, will focus on local and state presidents and their wives.

Among the speakers for the Raleigh Sales Congress, as well as for the meetings in Winston-Salem and Charlotte, are The Rev. Paul D. Brinkley, pastor of Pike Avenue Baptist Church in Birmingham, Ala.; Fred R. Kissling Jr., C.L.U., general agent for Northwestern Mutual, Lexington, Ky.; and Dr. E. J. Leverett Jr., Head of the Department of Insurance at the University of Georgia.

Kilpatrick . . .

Mich., up in the burnt-woods country, a ruddy little Scot whose pedantic image concealed a quick and lively passion. This was Russell Kirk, teacher and philosopher. His seminal work, "The Conservative Mind," remains after nearly 20 years the one best starting point for an understanding of contemporary conservative thought.

What did Henry glean from his labors? Personal satisfaction, "little more. Relatively speaking, he rarely made a dime. In the whole of the 25 years, only a handful of his titles, by the most generous accounting, ever ranked as best-sellers. But he had a wonderful time.

So the clan gathered to pay him honor, and as such ritual proceedings go, this one went very nicely. The preliminary speakers rambled on too long, but Bill Buckley, as principal orator of the evening, was exactly right. He recalled Whittaker Chambers' vivid description of the typical tiny shop on a side street of a great city. Here no customer is ever seen. A curious visitor, wondering what the ship conceals, finds at a dimly lit desk in the rear an old man who lovingly offers a few bolts of hand-crafted cloth—fabric not meant to sell, but merely to endure. So, too, with Henry, keeper of the conservative store.

Every faith must have its Henry. The liberals have theirs, and I would pay them homage also. Someone has to keep the tablets, if only to preserve the possibility of enduring truth against the casual destruction of the passing hour.

Bike Safety Week Taken To Schools

Several activities will be conducted at four elementary schools in Greenville Saturday morning concluding this year's Bike Safety Week, sponsored by the Evening Optimist Club of Greenville.

Bike inspections and bike riding skills tests will be conducted between 9:30 a.m. and 12 noon at the following schools: Wahl-Coates; Elmhurst; South Greenville; and Third Street.

Optimist chairman Ross Knowles at Wahl-Coates, Jack Thornton at Elmhurst, C. T. Fleming at South Greenville and George Fuller at Third Street will each be assisted by five other Optimist members at each site as well as a member of the Greenville Police Department.

The children's bicycles will be checked for defects and Optimists members will encourage that necessary repairs be made. In addition, the child's ability to handle a bicycle will be tested.

The policemen will be on hand to register bicycles not previously registered and the charge of registering a bike is 50 cents.

A membership card in the Optimist Bicycle Safety Club, inspection sticker and safety creed will be presented to all children that pass the skills test and if their bicycle passes inspection.

The bike inspection and skills tests will be open to all Greenville children of all ages, who own bicycles.

LBJ'S Doctor

Has Gone Home

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson has improved enough from a heart rhythm problem to allow his heart specialist to return home to Georgia.

Dr. J. Willis Hurst of Atlanta flew here Monday after Johnson had a brief burst of rapid heart action while recuperating from a heart attack.

On Tuesday, Hurst said he probably would spend several days here, but officials at the Army's Brooke General Hospital said Hurst returned home Wednesday evening.

"President Johnson's irregular heart action (extra beats) has improved in a very gratifying manner," the hospital said Wednesday. "He continues to feel well and his progress is quite satisfactory."

Phone Takeover Question Posed

RALEIGH (AP) — The state Utilities Commission has asked the Southern Bell Telephone Co whether it is able and willing to take over the North Carolina Telephone Co.'s service area. However, it's only a preliminary move and does not mean the commission has decided to take any action on North Carolina Telephone's franchise, which is for Union, eastern Mecklenburg and five other counties.

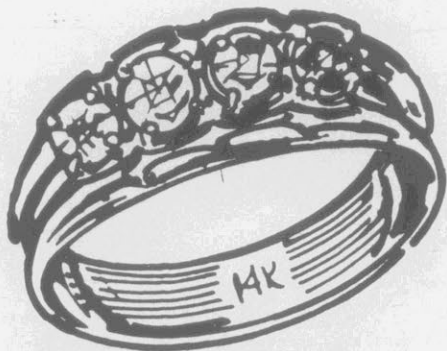

At North Carolina Telephone rate hearings this month, the attorney general's office asked that the commission consider taking the franchise away. Some customers testified that service was bad.

Air, Water Resources Curriculum Is Slated

Beginning September Pitt Technical Institute will offer a new curriculum in Air and Water Resources Technology, according to Dr. William E. Fulford Jr., PTI President.

Recognizing the need for technicians trained to assist in solving water and air pollution problems, the new two-year technical curriculum will be an option under the Agricultural and Environmental Science program.

Applications for enrollment in the fall quarter are now being accepted.

Commenting on the new program which offers an associate degree, President

Fulford said, "North Carolina has been blessed with an abundance of natural resources and we must continually provide the technology and trained technician to protect these valuable resources."

In announcing the new program, Fulford expressed optimism relative to employment opportunities for the graduates. Potential employment includes federal, state, county, and municipal government agencies dealing with environmental problems, as well as private industry.

The Air and Water Resources Technology program is designed to train students to fill positions as air and-or water pollution control technicians, sanitation aides, water plant operators, and waste plant operators.

Dean Painter, formerly chairman of Fayetteville Technical Institute's Environmental Engineering Technology Department, has been appointed chairman of the new PTI Department.

A graduate of Oregon State University, Painter has a M.S. Degree from Trinity University of San Antonio in Biology, majoring in Air and Water Pollution. He has 16 years of teaching experience.

Several articles relating to water and air pollution subjects, authored by painter, have been published in technical journals.

A textbook on Air Pollution Technology written by Painter is being published by Reston Publishing Company, the technical book division of Prentice-Hall Publishing company.

Persons interested in additional information about the Air and Water Resources Technology program, or wishing to register in the curriculum, are encouraged to contact Painter or the Director of Student Personnel at Pitt Technical Institute.

'Moto-Cross' Is Planned Sunday

Something new is coming up in Greenville on Sunday when the Moto-Cross at Cycleland of Greenville gets underway at one o'clock in the afternoon.

Cycleland, located on N.C. Route 30 past the airport off N.C. 11 (and U.S. 13), will be the scene of a race in three classes. Locally, this road is known as the Belvoir Road. The track is about one mile from the intersection on N.C. 11-U.S. 13.

Trophies for first three places in all classes will be given, with the division of classes falling into six categories. The first is that of "minibikes" followed by "0 to 100 cc's," after which comes "101 to 125 cc's," "126 to 200 cc's," "201 to 250 cc's," and the heaviest category, "251 to open cc's."

Moto-Cross is being sponsored by the Boys Club of Greenville and Pitt County, with all proceeds going to the Boys Club.

Riders under 18 must have written release from their parents in order to participate in the events.

Admission charges will be $2.00 general admission, $1.50 for students with I.D. cards, and for children under 12 accompanied by a parent, the price is 50 cents.

In the event of rain, a rain date for Sunday, April 30 has been set.

Doyle Hayes, one of the publicity directors of the Moto-Cross says that prospective riders would show up at the practice session at 10:00 a.m. in the morning if possible. This, he explained, will give them an opportunity to get registered and see what the course is like. However, participants can register in prior to 1:00 p.m.

Hayes said it is expected to have riders in the competition ranging in age from six year old kids on minibikes on up.

New Officers For District Rotarians

LAURINBURG — A. B. Johnson, of Dunn, who retires in June after 45 years of service as our educator in North Carolina, will become governor of District 773 of Rotary International on July 1. He succeeds Dr. Louis LaMotte, of Maxton, in this position. Johnson will head the 44 Rotary clubs in a 38-county area of eastern North Carolina.

Rotarians in their annual conference in Laurinburg also nominated their district governor for 1973-1974. He, too, is a retired educator, C. Reid Ross, of Lillington.

Roy D. Hickman, of Birmingham, Alabama, president-elect of Rotary International for 1972-1973, announced the theme of his year of administration as "Let's Take a Look at Rotary's Objective." Hickman will begin his term of office at Houston, Texas, 1972 convention site of the international organization which has a membership of approximately 715,000 members in 15,166 clubs in 149 countries and geographical divisions.

Three Pitt County Roatrians spoke at sessions of the district conference. They included Dr. Oscar Brown, Ayden club president; Dr. C. Fred Irons, Greenville club president; C. Harold Creech, district governor's area representative; Dr. James W. Butler, past district governor. Kenneth M. Watkins, Greenville club president-elect, also was in attendance.

Choir Features Saturday Event

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A wonderful day and evening to show your affection for others. Good also for thinking out courses of action that require entertainment or charming others. Put in motion some plans of action that are vitally important to your welfare and happiness. Be jolly.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Be careful you do not take big risks where your finest creative capabilities are concerned; use every precaution and all works to your advantage. Plan what it is you most like to do and then schedule your time properly.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Your home and family are your first concern today, so if you have to be out for any time, put your best efforts there. Evening excellent for entertaining some good friend at home. Talk over whatever is uppermost in your mind.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You can do very well either in buying or selling today, so start early. Talk over with bigwigs just how you can expand in your own field of endeavor. Show that you are a sensible, intelligent person.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You can still benefit from yesterday's good aspects. Put practical ideas to work that bring advancement. Making a good impression on bigwigs in business is easy. Relax tonight.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You are anxious to make big headway now and can do so if you use that fine smile you possess, as well as other charms. It may be a little more costly than you expected, but the end result will be well worth it.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get busy with all those behind-the-scenes activities that will bring the results you want. Talk to the right people. You can be far more successful than you are now if you will only apply yourself more intelligently.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get together with the right friends now either for pleasure in handling mutual affairs, or securing data you need. The evening can be most enjoyable at social affairs. Don't go to bed too late tonight, though.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Go after the backing you need from bigwigs, then you can get your projects working well. Show you are a most conscientious worker. Become interested in some civic work you can handle well.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) This is the right day to find the new outlets that are truly for you and can bring you happiness and success. Discuss subjects with others whose ideas are different from your own. You can put your points across very well.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You know exactly what your responsibilities are now and how you can take care of them wisely and skillfully. Show generosity with mate and get better results than in the past. Make it a true relationship, partnership.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are thinking very clearly and can now handle whatever comes up intelligently. Good associates give fine support. Make a plan early that you can follow with little trouble.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You want to improve the situations at home and there is no better time than this to do so. Get an early start. The ideas you have are clever, so put your attention on those, too. Gain the backing you need.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those most generous and loving young people who can win almost anyone over to own way of thinking when so desired, and can become a force for good in such spheres as the government, big organizations, or wherever there is need for great scope and perspective. Encouragement should be given early in order to bring out the fine potential here. "The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

'Road Scholars' Of Pitt Tech Selected

Pitt Technical Institute has picked its "Road Scholars" for 1972. These are fellows who will represent Pitt Tech in this year's Plymouth Trouble-Shooting Contest, according to Dwight McGowan, automotive shop instructor at PTI.

Competing for Pitt Tech will be John F. Spivey of Hobbsville, and Thomas L. Blankenship of Millington, Md. The North Carolina Trouble-Shooting Contest will be held at 10:00 a.m. Friday, at the State Fairgrounds in Raleigh.

Sponsored by Bright Leaf Motors of Greenville, the team will be competing for more than $125,000 worth of scholarships and awards at the state and national level.

The purpose of the contest is to recognize and honor outstanding young auto mechanics students and to encourage them to make a career as automobile mechanics.

In the contest, participants take a written exam which counts as 40 percent of their team's score. They race the clock and the other teams to find and fix several malfunctions deliberately placed in new Plymouth cars. This mechanical challenge counts as 60 percent of a team's score.

The competition will include teams from high schools, community colleges, and technical institutes throughout North Carolina.

Arrest Trio For Assault

Three black students were arrested on assault charges following a fight in a hallway at Rose High School yesterday morning, according to Greenville police.

Chief E. G. Cannon reported Clarence Staton, 17 of 925 Legion St.; Lennon Earl Smith Jr., 18 of 910 Douglas Ave.; and Mark Wayne Streeter, 17 of 1211 Battle St. were taken into custody about 9:30 a.m. Warrants charging the three with assault were signed, the chief explained, by Rose High teacher C. B. West.

The police official noted that Streeter was also charged with disorderly conduct in a warrant signed by West.

The warrants charged the three with assaulting West during a hallway disturbance.

Several persons were reported injured in the outbreak, which began about 8:30.

The VIP Plane

Heads turned skyward as soon as the first sounds of the Lockheed Jet Star were heard. Aboard the jet was the First Lady of the United States, Mrs. Pat Nixon.

The jet landed at the Pitt-Greenville Airport, where Mrs. Nixon and her party were met by Mr. and Mrs. R. Frank Everett prior to traveling to the Robersonville Centennial festivities.

Wearing a light green spring ensemble, Mrs. Nixon stepped into an awaiting car bound for Robersonville. Seated in the back seat, Mrs. Nixon waved to the several persons at the airport as has left.

Comments from several of the spectators included "that's a big plane for one lady." The answering comment was "She's a very important lady."

hit in the back, was not taken to a doctor. Alligood said, the two girls were jumped by black girls in a bathroom. Identity of the black girls assaulting the two white girls has not been established.

Because of yesterday's disturbance, a decision was made to have police on hand in the school this morning. Police officials have not yet established a particular incident leading to the beginning of this morning's incident, which began at a side entry door and quickly spread among the black students to involve the approximately 150 in number.

In quelling the fights, three policemen received scratches and abrasions. The four students arrested were charged with assault on police officers, resisting arrest and failing to disperse.

A call went out for parents to report in to be on hand in the hallways. This system of parental monitoring has been used at Rose since the initial crisis at the school two years ago.

There were no further incidents following the initial outbreak of violence, and class changes just prior to ten o'clock were orderly.

Rose Rallies To Beat Farmville, 13-9

By CHIP LAMBETH
Reflector Sports Writer

FARMVILLE — It took a six-run seventh inning for the Rose High School Rampants to pass the tough Jaguars of Farmville Central last night, 13-9. The Jags had taken the lead in the fourth but could not hold on to it as the fired up Rampants won their eighth game of the season.

Rose grabbed the lead in the first inning with three runs. The Jags kept themselves in the game on a lone run in their half of the frame and then went ahead in the fourth, pushing over three runs to move out by 4-3. They built their lead to 9-3 in the next frame as the Jaguars rallied for five.

The Rampants had other ideas and pulled within two in the top of the fifth with a four-run inning. Then came the seventh and the Farmville Central defense seemed to fall apart as the Rampants pulled six runs out of the hat to take home the win.

Greenville used four pitchers in the game with last, Randy McKinney receiving credit for the win. After coming on in the fourth, he fanned four, walked as many, and gave up two hits. Farmville Central's Ed Wells started for the Jaguars but was lifted in the seventh when the Rampants went on scoring spree. He struck out five and walked four. He also gave up all but one of the Rose hits.

J.C. Daniels was the first Rampant to reach base in the first, getting on with a ground-rule double. Bill Lee drew a walk. Stanley Cobb singled to center, scoring Daniels and moving Lee to third. McKinney was safe on an error that let Lee score. Jim McDermott drove in the third run with a base hit through the middle, with Cobb coming in.

The Jaguars came back with a score in the bottom of the frame as Cloyce Wilson walked and advanced on a ground out. Glenn Dwyer smacked a double scoring Wilson.

In the third, Farmville Central took over the lead. Phil Lewis led off with a walk and went to second on a passed ball. Ben Joyner was hit by a pitch and another passed ball let both runners advance. Chuck Finklea slammed a single to center to drive in both Lewis and Joyner. Finklea moved to second as Barry Johnson was safe on an error. The ball was played to the infield, McKinney was standing on third and three runs had crossed the plate. Harding Sugg singled to drive in McKinney.

FC put two men on in the bottom of the frame on a walk and an error but could not bring them around. The Jaguars pushed over five more in the next frame to build their lead to six, 9-3. Wilson led off with a hit and Lewis hit a slow roller down the third baseline but beat it out for a hit. Joyner walked to load the bases. Dwyer reached on a Rampant miscue that let Wilson come across. The bases were still loaded with none out. Finklea walked forcing in Lewis and Jeff Cobb also drew a free ticket scoring Joyner. Heywood Joyner and Wells both walked to score Dwyer and Finklea.

Rose powered back for four in the fifth cutting the Farmville Central lead to a pair of runs. Robert Brinkley started the rally off with a single to center moving to second on a hit by Daniels. Cobb walked.

McKinney stepped in and rifled a shot into left-center field. Before the ball got back to the infield, McKinney was standing on third and three runs had crossed the plate. Harding Sugg singled to drive in McKinney.

With two out in the sixth, the Jags loaded the bases on a pair of walks and a single but again failed to score. Then in the seventh the last chance for the Rampants, Rose stormed back for six big runs and the win. With one out, Cobb got his third hit of the night, to center, and moved up as McKinney, now pitching, reached on an error.

McDermott singled to score Cobb and cut the lead to 9-8. Sugg walked to fill the bases. John Barwick smacked an opposite field single into right driving in McKinney and McDermott to put the Rampants ahead 10-9.

Larry Dixon hit what appeared to be an easy-out pop-fly to right but the ball popped out of the fielder's glove and Sugg came in on the play. Brinkley was safe on an error that scored Barwick and Daniels fled out to sacrifice in Dixon. The Jaguars got a man on by a walk in the bottom of the seventh but he died at first as the last man went down swinging to end the game.

Cobb and Daniels led the Rose hitting with three each. McDermott had two. Lewis led the Jags with a pair. McKinney knocked in four of the Rampant runs. Finkey brought in three for F.C.

Rose is at home this Friday when they host New Bern in a conference clash.

Greene Central Trims Chargers; Takes First

AYDEN — Greene Central High School romped to a 13-1 victory over Ayden-Grifton last night and took over first place in the Eastern Carolina Conference standings.

The Rams didn't allow the Chargers a run until the bottom of the seventh, and by then it didn't matter.

The victory left Greene Central with a 9-1 record, while Ayden-Grifton is now 9-2, half-game back.

Johnny Earl Johnson hurled the victory for the Rams, allowing only three hits by the Chargers. He struck out 10 and walked just two.

Greene Central moved into the lead in the second inning, getting a run. Bob Scott reached on a single and moved to second on an error on the play. Billy Williamson also reached on an error and Danny Whitley grounded out, scoring Scott.

In the third, two more Rams crossed the plate, giving the Greene Central nine a 3-0 lead. Johnson reached on an error and Robbie Ivey unloaded a home run. A three-run homer gave the Rams a 6-0 lead in the fourth frame. Scott walked and Whitley did too. Edward Grant then cracked the round-tripper, and the Rams were rolling away.

They went on to pick up five more in the fifth and two in the sixth before going scoreless in the seventh.

Scott led the Ram hitting with three, while Ivey, Billy Williamson, Donnie Taylor and Johnson each had two.

Bear Grass Is Nipped By 6-5

BEAR GRASS — The Williamston "B" team inched past Bear Grass yesterday, 6-5, with a seventh-inning run. It was the third straight loss for the Bears who saw their record drop to 4-5.

Williamston jumped into the lead in the first inning, scoring a run. G. Brown reached on an error and stole second. He scored when Keith Biggs singled.

Bear Grass came right back with a pair of runs in the bottom of the inning, however, and moved into a 2-1 lead. Keith Winn walked and stole second. Russell Roberson then singled him in. Charles Mobley followed with a walk and Bryan Bowen singled to score Roberson for the lead.

It didn't stand up, however, as Williamston came back with three runs in the second. Whitehurst walked and Griffin singled him in. Brown reached on an error and Shelby was hit by a pitch. Hardison then singled in Griffin and Brown for a 4-2 lead.

Bear Grass scored two in the third to tie it at 4-4 and both teams scored single runs in the fourth to make it 5-5.

Finally, in the seventh, Williamston pushed over the winning run. Hardison singled and stole second. He took third on a wild pitch. Then, as the Tigers attempted a suicide squeeze, the ball got away from the Bear catcher, and Hardison came home with the winning run.

Sonics Looking For New Coach

SEATTLE (AP) — The Seattle SuperSonics, who have reached into the American Basketball Association to bolster their player strength, now are interested in an ABA coach.

Bob Houbregs, Sonics general manager, said Wednesday the National Basketball Association club is interested in Tom Nissalke, coach of the Dallas Chaparrals. But, he added, the Sonics "will not fight anyone for a coach under contract to another club."

Houbregs said Nissalke, 37, is one of "three or four" persons the Sonics are considering as a replacement for Lenny Wilkens, who gave up the coaching job in order to keep playing.

CHAPEL HILL — The University of North Carolina broke open a close game in the second quarter and went on to romp over the East Carolina lacrosse team, 17-3.

The Pirates played a good contest during the first period, according to Coach John Lovstedt, but mistakes began to take their toll in the second frame.

The Bucs took the lead in the match on a goal by Tom Christensen after 1:10 of the first period, with an assist by Mike Denniston. Carolina came back to tie it up, and then gained the lead in the second period.

The Tar Heels outthit the Bucs, 7-1, in the second frame for an 8-2 halftime lead. They did it again, 5-1, and 4-0 in the two second half quarters to win going away.

Rick Lindsay and Denniston accounted for the other two ECU goals, with Frank Sutton assisting on the last.

The Bucs, now 0-6, play to Raleigh Lacrosse Club Sunday in Raleigh.

Chowan Runs By Oak City Nine

OAK CITY — Chowan High School rolled to an 8-0 victory over Oak City High School yesterday.

The two Chowan pitchers, Steve Bass and David Bunch combined to hurl a three-hitter at the Trojans. Bass, who went the first five innings, gave up all three hits, while striking out three and walking two. Bunch, in the last two innings, held Oak City hitless. He walked one and struck out three.

Chowan got all they needed in the first inning, scoring twice. Don Spruill singled and Paul White got a hit. He stole second and Bass walked, loading the bases. Larry Parks then singled, driving in Spruill and White for a 2-0 lead.

Four more came over in the second. Spruill again led off, drawing a walk. White singled and Bass got a hit, driving in both runners. Parks doubled and Bob Bunch reached on an error, scoring Bass and Parks to up the score to 6-0.

Chowan added a run in the third and another in the fourth to complete their eight-run total.

Martin Swaps Blows With Fan; Perry Gains First Indian Win

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Billy Martin has stopped fighting with his players. He's now fighting with the fans.
The quick-fisted Detroit Tiger manager, who made headlines three seasons ago by knocking out pitcher Dave Boswell, mixed it up with a man on the street Wednesday night.
The fight, which ended in "no decision", came after the Tigers had been decked by the Baltimore Orioles, 5-2.
"I wasn't mad about losing or mad about anything," explained Martin, whose playing and managing days have been studded with battles. "But this guy was blocking my way to the team bus. He was swearing and I told him to get away. I pushed him. He called me a name, dove at me and knocked me against the bus."

With several Detroit players and a group of newsmen watching, the antagonists thudded to the hard ground with Martin's fists swirling. The brawl lasted about a minute before members of the Detroit group pried the two apart.

The fan identified himself as Jack Sears, 25, and said he has been a red-hot Detroit rooster from Pontiac, Mich., who has been living in Baltimore for 15 years.
"All I said was, 'You guys better win tomorrow night,'" said Sears. "He hit me first and I grabbed his legs when he went down because I'm not a fighter."
Martin and the Tigers weren't the only ones in action Wednesday night. Six other American League games were played as the Chicago White Sox beat the Texas Rangers 2-1; the New York Yankees trimmed the Milwaukee Brewers 3-2; the Cleveland Indians beat the Boston Red Sox 3-1; the Minnesota Twins crushed the California Angels 12-3 and the Oakland A's took a pair from the Kansas City Royals, 4-0 and 3-1.

Before the fireworks outside Baltimore's Memorial Stadium, the Orioles exploded for three runs in the eighth inning to defeat the Tigers. Boog Powell's opposite-field double to left knocked in the tie-breaking run and Paul Blair added two insurance runs with a single that chased Detroit ace Mickey Lolich.
An error by second baseman Lenny Randle in the ninth inning enabled Carlos May to score the winning run as Chicago beat Texas.
"It was sure good to win my first game with a new club," said Bahnsen, who was acquired during the winter from the New York Yankees. "And I especially was happy to get hurt in the early going because it always takes me a while to get in the groove."
Light-hitting Gene Michael lashed a three-run triple in the fifth inning.
"He hit the ball over my

Winning More Important Than Revenge For Phillies' Carlton

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
Revenge is sweet, but winning is the name of the game.
The source for that statement is left-hander Steve Carlton, who fired a three-hitter at his former St. Louis teammates Wednesday night, pitching the Philadelphia Phillies to a 1-0 squeaker over Bob Gibson, the Cardinals' ace.
"The incentive is to win," Carlton said after facing his former teammates for the first time. "That's my incentive, not beating any particular team. Sure, it's nice to come back and beat the team that traded you and beat a pitcher like Gibby. But it's just as nice beating any team."
Although Carlton played down the revenge angle, fellow pitcher Joe Hoerner let everyone in on Carlton's true feelings. "That," he said, flashing a sly grin, "is the last team in the world Steve would like to shut out." If you say so, Joe.
Elsewhere in the National League, Pittsburgh rallied to beat the Chicago Cubs 5-2, San Diego edged San Francisco 4-3, Los Angeles trimmed Atlanta 4-0 and Houston downed Cincinnati 7-5. The New York Mets were rained out in Montreal.
Carlton, a 20-game winner for St. Louis last season, was traded to the Phillies late in February in exchange for 17-game winner Rick Wise. The southpaw had been holding out for more money and Gussie Busch, the Cards' owner, reportedly ordered General Manager Bing Devine to deal him away.

The Phillies got their only run off Gibson in the sixth inning on a triple by Willie Montanez and Deron Johnson's single. Despite the defeat, the 36-year-old St. Louis ace fanned five batters and climbed past Bob Feller and Warren Spahn into fourth place on the all-time strikeout list.
The Pirates beat the Cubs with four runs in the eighth inning, highlighted by Bob Robertson's two-run homer.
Pittsburgh added two more runs before the inning was over on singles by Manny Sanguillen, Al Oliver and Rennie Stennett, with Oliver scoring as Stennett was thrown out attempting to steal second.

John Jeter's two-run homer in the bottom of the ninth off Juan Marichal turned things around for San Diego. The Padres were losing 3-2 before reaching the San Francisco ace.
The game-winning shot followed a single by Derrel Thomas and wiped out earlier heroics by the Giants' Ken Henderson. The teams were tied 2-2 until the eighth inning, when Henderson hit a tie-breaking single.
Don Sutton hurled Los Angeles past Atlanta with a two-hitter—Rico Carty's second-inning double and a bloop single in the third by Marty Perez. The Dodgers gave Sutton the only run he needed when Maury Wills opened the game with a triple—his first hit of the season after 18 fruitless at-bats—and Bill Buckner's infield out. Manny Mota singled two more across in the ninth.

LA's Frank Robinson left the game with a slight groin pull but said he felt he could play

Cowens Sparks Celtic Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Dave Cowens had that hungry look. He gobbled up rebounds. He gobbled up loose balls. He gobbled up points. Most important, he helped gobble up the New York Knicks.
The Boston Celtics' center did everything in his team's important 115-109 victory over the Knicks in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Conference finals Wednesday night.
The Celtics, down 2-0 in the best-of-seven series, needed the victory and Cowens provided the spark.
In the American Basketball Association, Indiana defeated Utah 116-111 in the Western Division final playoff series. Utah leads the series, 2-1.
New York entertains Boston Friday night, and Milwaukee is home against Los Angeles Saturday afternoon in the NBA's Western Conference series, which the Lakers lead 3-2.
Utah is at Indiana on Saturday night, while Virginia plays the New York Nets at Uniondale, N.Y., on Monday night in game three of their ABA Eastern Division series. The Squires lead 2-0.
Jo Jo White scored 29 points and John Havlicek had 26 but it was Cowens who made the difference for the Celtics.
Cowens got 16 rebounds and scored 23 points, including some timely baskets down the stretch when the Knicks had pulled into the lead.
"Cowens stood out," said Red Holzman, Knicks' coach. "He played very well, his best game against us, for sure."
The Celtics had a 55-47 lead at halftime but the Knicks rallied behind Bill Bradley's 14 points in the third quarter. Midway through the final period Boston got hot as Cowens and White tied the game with consecutive field goals, then Cowens put the Celtics ahead 99-96 with a hook shot and a free throw.

Bradley finished with 29 points, Walt Frazier with 28 and Earl Monroe 17 for the Knicks.
Indiana went ahead of Utah in the third quarter but needed four free throws by Freddie Lewis in the final 29 seconds to wrap up the game.
Roger Brown scored 13 of his 30 points in the third period. Indiana built its lead to 12 points in the final period but Utah fought back behind Willie Wise, who finished with 19 points, and Ron Boone, who had 18. Wise and Jimmy Jones ran into foul trouble and sat out long portions of the game.
Lewis had 15 points, while Mel Daniels had 16 point with the delight expressed on their faces in meeting their First Lady.

Long before Mrs. Nixon arrived, at 3:15 p.m., 15 minutes later than scheduled, the crowd who had gathered to greet her stood patiently on the street under a cloudless April sky. Their response to the First Lady was very warm. There were no incidents to mar the first-ever visit of the First Lady to this small agricultural town.

Earlier in the day, Mrs. Nixon had been the guest at the inauguration of Stanley House in New Bern, a renovated historical home in the Tryon Palace complex. On the completion of her appearance there, she flew to the Greenville Airport, where she was met and escorted to Robersonville by Frank Everett, a candidate in the last election for Congress from the First District. Everett escorted the First Lady at the Centennial site, introducing her to local people and Republican candidates, including gubernatorial candidate Jim Gardner.

In addition to local and out of state press coverage, the event was covered by a three-man French team making a documentary for Radiofusion Francaise, the French national radio television network.

'Walk For Development' Date Is Scheduled April 29

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

On April 29, the last Saturday of the month, the invitational walkathon, "Walk for Development in Greenville" will take place.

Robert (Bob) Clyde, Chaplain of the Baptist Student Center (BSU) in Greenville, and Miss Lynne Atkins, a student at East Carolina University, told about plans being made.

"This is the first time in Greenville for such an event," Clyde commented. "It's co-sponsored by the Young World Development and the Baptist Student Union."

Miss Atkins pointed out that "Young World Development is the youth branch of the American Freedom from Hunger Foundation. It is an international organization active in the U.S. and foreign countries."

Clyde emphasized that although the Baptist Student Union is a co-sponsor, "all the plans being made are strictly non-denominational. All areas of the community are coming into the planning and preparation stages."

The idea of walking as a means of highlighting the universal need to draw attention to world hunger was outlined by Miss Atkins. "The American Freedom from Hunger Foundation," she said, "was founded in 1961 following a suggestion made by President Kennedy."

The organization is based on a national voluntary effort to support the Freedom from Hunger campaign of the United Nations."

Clyde explained the reasoning behind choosing the theme of "Walk for Development Day in Greenville" rather than labeling the event a "Freedom From Hunger" march as these walks are usually called.

"It is our feeling that this would make people consider it more a community project. We want to stress that this is not just another project for a good cause, but something that can also mean a spirit of community involvement."

Clyde, Miss Atkins, ECU students Miss Charlotte Lynch, coordinator of the Greenville area, Miss Barbara Buffaloe and Charlie Rodgers have all been busy, along with many other volunteer planners, in laying groundwork for the Saturday walk.

"Our planning has to be thorough," Clyde commented, "but we've tried to keep it as simple as possible to permit a spontaneous feeling."

The beginning step for anyone who might want to take part is first to secure a "walk card." The walk card has a place for the walker's name and that of a sponsor, a map of the selected route, and the location of various checkpoints.

The concept of "sponsors" has intentionally been left flexible. A sponsor can be a member of the family, a friend, businessman, official—anyone willing to sponsor a walker. When the walker takes the "walk card" to a sponsor, the sponsor agrees to pledge a certain amount of money as a donation for each mile covered by the walker.

"We have set the amount at one cents a mile and up," Miss Atkins said. "We hope of course to get many sponsors to agree to more, but our aim is to make it possible to have a very wide range of sponsors, so we have left this matter to the discretion of the sponsor."

"Also," Clyde stated, "there will undoubtedly be some sponsors who wish to sponsor several people."

The walk route has been scheduled with a beginning point at Ficklen Stadium. From there the route will lead into Brook Valley, then back up Fifth Strrt, on to Moyewood, out to Meadowbrook and back around, ending at Baptist Student Union on East Tenth Street.

It will be something of an "early bird" affair, according to Clyde. "We would like to have walkers report to the stadium between seven and eight in the morning and plan to begin the initial stage of the walk at about 8:00 a.m."

The planned route covers a distance of approximately 25 miles. "However," Miss Atkins said, "we expect to have many people who will want to try only a part of the complete route. That's one of the reasons we have set up a number of checkpoints so that small children, housewives, older people or those who simply do not have the time to devote to the full walk can at least take part to some extent."

"We feel that younger children, probably those under ten, should have an adult for at least every five children to act as supervisor."

"We are requesting for minors a waiver form for parental permission," Clyde explained. "This is not to discourage young walkers, but is for their protection."

At the checkpoints, food, medical supplies and toilet facilities will be provided. There will also be a rest area at checkpoints for hikers who may be a

Cameras Given An Extra 'Eye'

NEW YORK (UPI)—They're giving cameras an extra "eye" to help them see in poor light. The device is a tiny box of circuitry about the size of a matchbox that clips onto any camera built to work with electronic flash.

The "eye," invented by Honeywell, contains a sensor that reacts to the light being reflected from an object being photographed and turns off the flash at the proper instant of perfect exposure.

bit weary and want to refresh themselves before starting out on a new leg of the route.

Clyde said that the city manager and the police department will approve the route and that necessary assistance in controlling traffic and maximum security will be arranged.

There is still a need for volunteer assistants. "We can use the services of volunteer nurses, of people to prepare sandwiches, and some old sheets to make into arm bands," Miss Atkins suggested.

"And people to man the checkpoints, trash cans and water coolers," Clyde added.

The two also expressed a desire to add a bit of dash and a touch of festiveness to the walk. "Hopefully," Clyde said, "we would like to get at least one person to run the course. Another thing we're hopeful of is to have music makers with instruments along the route to cheer up walkers and to entertain them."

Aside from the possibility of the "Walk for Development Day in Greenville" developing into a real fun day for lots of citizens, there is a deeper, practical reason behind the collection of funds.

A project will be chosen by a committee who has researched the needs of some community or area needing funds for a program designed to alleviate the common and continuing threat of hunger.

"But this will not be a case of a giveaway program with it ending there," Clyde said. "It has been found that a self-help type of program with chances for continuing benefits are really more effective."

The two planners cited instances of this nature—a herd of cattle; a supply of seed; sensible farm equipment. Projects such as these, Clyde pointed out, "are part of a continuing development, not just a here and now proposition. It really makes working on the "Walk For Development in Greenville" 25 mile walk planned for April 29. (Reflector photo by Jerry Raynor)

much more sense." Even before plans have been made publicly, numbers of people are pledging themselves to be a part of this initial Greenville walk program. Similar programs have been successfully carried out in a number of other North Carolina, American, and foreign communities.

Early in the year, when the proposal was presented by a couple of young East Carolina University students to the Greenville City Council, Council members heartily endorsed the idea.

Greenville and area residents wanting to get an early bid in for becoming a part of the April 29 event can now contact the Baptist Student Center, telephone 752-4646. Tables are also to be set up with "walk cards" at Rose High and Aycock Junior High.

"Everyone is hoping for a good walking day," Clyde said, "but even if it rains, we still plan to carry on."

The Worry Clinic Deadbeat Has Own Technique

Doris brings out an interesting point about the psychology of "deadbeats." So beware of lending money, even to your friends and relatives. For soon they may begin to change your "imagine" into that of an enemy and "bad mouth" you thereafter!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.

Case T-556: Doris D., aged 20, is a Dental Assistant. "Dr. Crane," she began, "how do you explain the fact that it is the false teeth that aren't paid for, that never fit?"

"Although I have worked in this dental office only nine months, I have already found that the patients who chronically complain, are those who haven't paid their dental bills."

Deadbeat Psychology
People who don't pay their bills are often called "deadbeats."

And deadbeats soon subconsciously evolve a technique for shielding their ego.

It involves buckpassing. When the doctor has conscientiously tried to fit an older patient with new dentures, the bill totals at least $250 to $500.

If the patient hasn't paid by instalments and is suddenly confronted with that total fee, he ego to its inflated 100 per cent status by another devious strategy.

If he can fabricate reasons to depict his creditor as an enemy, then he will immediately feel free of his sense of obligation!

For we never suffer embarrassment at outwitting a foe! Instead, we actually boast about such a maneuver, as the Indians prided themselves on stealing ponies from another tribe!

So the chronic deadbeat begins to fabricate a list of reasons why his former friendly doctor (or landlord, bank or store) actually was not a true friend, after all.

"Didn't he sandwich another patient in ahead of me one day?" is a subtle way to start destroying the "friendly" image of his benefactor.

"And he made me gag several times while taking the impression!"

"Besides, his Dental Assistant telephoned to postpone one of my appointments."

"And the false teeth don't work as well as my real teeth did."

By means of these and similar hostile arguments, the deadbeat thus pictures his former benefactor as an enemy.

So his own conscience then no longer twinges him about the unpaid bill.

"Actually, the doctor got what he deserved," is the flippant and illogical conclusion that the deadbeat evolves.

But if the patient has paid for his new dentures, then he is less likely to belittle them.

For we seldom depreciate our own ego and our possessions are really an extension of ourselves.

So customers, as well as dental patients, who pay as they go, are more inclined to help make their purchases function successfully!

Deadbeats, however, attack the merchandise they haven't paid for, as an indirect means of salvaging their wounded ego.

Renters, too, will often "bad mouth" their house or apartment, when they'd be praising it if they were the owners thereof!

Lib's Friend At Miss. College

COLUMBUS, Miss. (UPI)—Dr. Charles P. Hogarth, president of Mississippi State College for Women, supports equal work opportunities and equal pay for females—one aim of Women's Liberation.

The college he heads aims to provide intellectual freedom for women. It was established during the era of hobble skirts. That women still have a distance to go in their advancement route became evident when he called for a National Achievement Center to help speed up the advancement of women.

Order Obstacle For Children

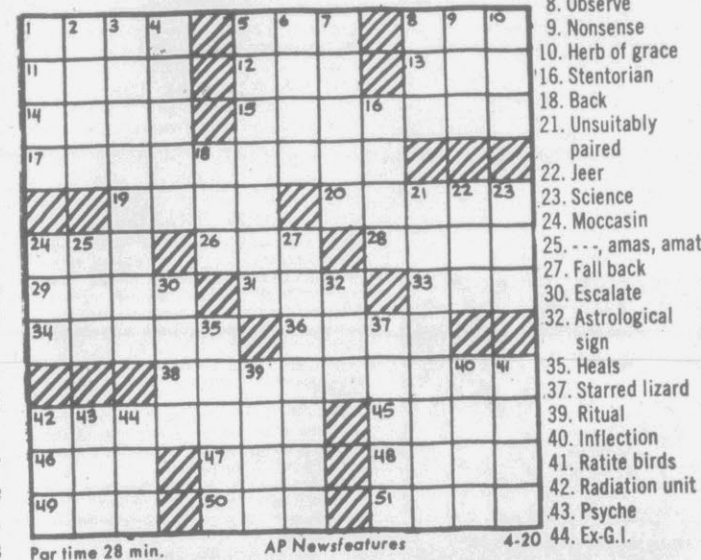

WASHINGTON (UPI) — By August 15, all packages for aspirin and products containing aspirin must be designed to be hard for children to open. This is according to requirements set by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) in February.

FDA said that although accidental ingestion of aspirin has decreased sharply in recent years, aspirin still is the leading cause of poisoning of children under five.

Opening lead: Seven of ♠
East need only have resorted to the rule book to uncover the play that would have prevented his partner from going wrong in today's hand and gifting South with a three no trump contract.

West opened the seven of spades. East played the jack and declarer won the trick with the king. South had eight top tricks—one spade, four hearts, two diamonds, and one club. Since the ninth must come from the diamond suit, he led over to the ace and then back to his hand. East showed out on the second round, and—after slight thought—parted with the deuce of hearts. South played a small diamond from his hand, permitting West to win the trick with the ten.

West was confronted with a problem, inasmuch as his opponent might well have false carded on the first trick—playing the king of spades from an original holding of K-Q-x. If such were the case, it would be disastrous to lay down the ace. In fact, a spade return by East trumps declarer's holding would not only clarify matters, but assure West's rummy the entire suit. The discouraging discard in hearts on the second diamond led West to play his partner for the ace of clubs and he shifted to the six of that suit. South was in with the ace and after dropping West's queen of diamonds with the king, declarer rattled off 10 tricks.

East contended that it was naive for West to play him for a quick entry in clubs, for if he held the ace, it would have been easy to discard a high club instead of the deuce of hearts. While East's point has merit, he could have eliminated partner's problem altogether by discarding the queen of spades—which was a marked play.

If East employs the rule of 11, all he has to do is to subtract the card originally led—the seven—from 11 to determine that there are four higher cards in the suit held by the other three players. He is looking at the nine of spades in dummy and the queen-jack in his own hand, so that South is marked with only one spade higher than the seven. This card becomes identified at trick one when declarer plays the king.

Since West is now known to have the A-10-8 of spades, the queen is no longer necessary to establish the suit and, East should hasten to rid himself of that card in order to resolve the situation for his partner.
