The fund-raiser is intended to help erase the party's $9.3 million debt.

Brown said those scheduled to appear on the telecast include Glen Campbell, Andy Williams, Warren Beatty, Paul Newman, Alan King, Carol Burnett and Shirley MacLaine.

The telethon will be aired by American Broadcasting Co. on July 8-9, the eve of the Demo-

Grid Game On TV?

East Carolina University's October 14 football game with the Citadel reportedly will be regionally televised by the American Broadcasting Company.

The Citadel had agreed to the proposal and that final approval from ABC is expected sometime this week.

College officials said that no agreement has yet been signed with ABC, and until then they could make no comment on the situation.

The game, to be played in Ficklen Stadium, would be the second televised game for the Pirates, but the first on ABC. Last year's Davidson game was taped and replayed a day later, the first time the Pirates appeared locally. Several years ago they also appeared when playing in the Tangerine Bowl.

A reliable source, however, says that both East Carolina and

"The court case still being heard in New Bern concerning the channelization of Chicod Creek is a landmark case and one which can drastically affect

He endorsed small watershed projects and said, "The soil and water conservation programs have been invaluable to North Carolina, and they are no less important today than yesterday."

Opportunities Offered By New School Lauded In Sunday Dedication

By BLANCHE HARDEE
Reflector Staff Writer

"You deserve genuine recognition for having committed yourselves, through positive action, to the proposition that all boys and girls, without a single exception, are entitled to a decent educational opportunity," Robert Strother told those attending the dedication of the new Ayden-Grifton High School Sunday afternoon.

Strother, assistant superintendent of the State Department of Public Instruction, continued, "They are entitled to this opportunity through which they can grow and develop commensurate with their abilities and compatible with their personal needs and the needs of society."

"During the past year I have followed with interest your course of action leading apparently to successful consolidation of black and white schools into a truly integrated system," Strother explained.

"Many times in recent months I have suggested to persons outside this county... that they visit your schools to see and learn firsthand what you are doing and how you are doing it."

"The true objectives are seen only by home folks, but after all, home folk build buildings, plan programs and educate children," Strother noted.

"I want to pay respect to you parents, citizens, taxpayers—the real owners of this school plant—for providing the money...and for taking positive action," the assistant superintendent stated.

Strother said he felt the people who used the school plant most would bear in mind that buildings, buses, equipment... are all secondary to the teaching-learning process.

"Except that these facilities are used maximally in behalf of sound, thorough scholarship and character development, the purposes for which this impressive school plant has been constructed will not be realized," Strother pointed out.

"The people of Pitt County and the Ayden-Grifton area have an educational tradition and heritage extending over many decades... it is only natural that you should continue to make more and better provisions for the education of the children and youth of this community."

"Education begets education," Strother stated. "A county with a good school educational program is far more likely to move ahead than if it had to begin anew."

"This school building is important, it is a necessity, but it is not of prime significance. It has one basic and justifiable reason for existence and that is to facilitate and effectuate the teaching and learning processes that go on within it."

Strother pointed out that the primary importance of the whole educational process are definite ideas and plans with respect to what is going to happen in the school plant, what could and should happen, by and to and for whom it shall happen, and why any of it should happen at all.

"Decisions along these lines determine purposes and objectives to be served, and thereby give value to the plant itself," he explained.

"A good school does not just happen, it is the product of vision, labor, and determination. A poor school can be imported, but a good school is largely a home-grown product. A school succeeds in proportion to its resources.

"In a good school the pupils, as a result of stimulation by their parents and teachers, are given to understand. Achievement and proficiency are the fruits of hard work," the speaker said.

T. G. Worthington, chairman of the Pitt County Board of Education when the project was initiated, said the new school was a dream come true.

"A few years ago, a group of interested taxpayers had a dream...this dream was of the county," Worthington said.

"Our aim was to give every boy and girl in this county as good an opportunity for a good high school education as could be gotten anywhere."

Worthington said the building program was made possible by SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnam's first provincial capital fell to the North Vietnamese today after five days of savage assaults in the northern sector by troops of four divisions. It was Hanoi's biggest victory of its 38-day offensive.

South Vietnamese troops abandoned Quang Tri and into enemy hands went territory stretching down from the demilitarized zone 27 miles to the south.

This May Day triumph followed the enemy's seizure of full control of the population and important rice crops along the central coast; the cutting of Highway 1 in crucial points north of Da Nang, site of the big U.S. air base; and renewed enemy pressure on Kontum, another provincial capital in the central highlands.

With the fall of Quang Tri, population 27,000 a threat became more imminent to the old imperial capital of Hue, now only 24 miles south of the northernmost defensive line of the Youth Vietnamese on Highway 1.

All American advisers were safely evacuated by helicopter shortly before it was decided to abandon plans to defend Quang Tri. Most of the civilians had long since fled and only a very few remained.

At last report there were 89 U.S. advisers in Quang Tri but some were said to have left earlier.

U.S. Army helicopters landed and flew them out, and there were no reports of any aircraft being shot down despite enemy anti-aircraft guns ringing the city. They were flown to a safer location farther south.

A mauled battalion of South Vietnamese rangers moving south from Quang Tri broke and fled after a day-long battle with troops of two North Vietnamese regiments near Highway 1.

But U.S. advisers said South Vietnamese marines moving north to link up with the rangers attacked a nearby regimental post and killed 160 enemy soldiers with help from U.S. bombing strikes. The marines were forced to pull back, however, when the rangers turned off the pressure from the south.

The enemy drive in the northern sector is believed part of a plan to seize South Vietnam's two northern provinces and to use this as leverage in the Vietnam peace talks in Paris. The Communist command also is believed aiming at seizing major cities in the central highlands and central coast, effectively cutting South Vietnam in half.

Director Of CD Named

Pitt County Commissioners this morning reorganized the county Civil Defense agency and named county fire marshal Bobby Joyner as CD director.

Joyner replaces the late J. H. Rose as head of the CD agency. Under the re-organization Joyner will continue as fire marshal working with the various volunteer fire fighting organizations in the county but will also devote part of his time to CD agency requirements.

The present CD office will be closed June 1. Part of Joyner's salary as CD director will be paid by the federal government.

Commissioners, in other action this morning renewed $750,000 in bond anticipation notes with North Carolina National Bank. The notes were issued earlier this year to help fund expenses connection with construction of the new county hospital until hospital revenue bonds can be sold later this year.

Reports were heard from various county agencies and departments during the morning session.

Commissioners also reviewed information presented dealing with planned sanitary landfills and were told that an access road to a landfill now under lease by the county in the Littlefield area between Ayden and Grifton would cost an estimated $3,675. The road, according to the proposal would be 20 feet wide constructed on a 45-foot wide right-of-way.

The board scheduled a meeting May 10 at 5 p.m. to devote to the sanitary landfill topic.

A public hearing on a proposed subdivision ordinance for the county was scheduled for the commissioner's 2 p.m. session today.

Moving Into 4 Primaries

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey and George S. McGovern seek support in Ohio's major cities today in last-day campaigning for Tuesday's presidential primary. McGovern said an upset over Humphrey could be "the catalyst we need to go all the way to the nomination."

With 153 delegates to the Democratic National Convention riding on the Ohio outcome, Humphrey plans to campaign across the state's northern industrial belt—Toledo, Canton and Cleveland—while McGovern hits several of the same spots and also takes in Cincinnati and Dayton.

Ohio leads the list of four primaries Tuesday.

Humphrey is also competing in neighboring Indiana, where his main rival for 76 delegates is Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace. Wallace is the target of loyalist Democrats in the Alabama primary.

In the District of Columbia, Democrats will elect 15 national convention delegates. The candidates are all running uncommitted.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, who dropped out of active primary campaigning last week, remains on the Indiana ballot and has a full slate running in Ohio. Sen. Henry M. Jackson is the other principal Democratic contender.

Jackson plans a Cleveland news conference today before returning to Washington, D.C. Wallace plans a series of airport stops around Indiana.

Budget Is Submitted

The one million dollar plus budget for the Greenville City Schools for the forthcoming school year, adopted by the Greenville School Board April 25, is now in the hands of County Manager Reginald Gray.

Dr. Clet C. Cleetwood, Superintendent of the Greenville City Schools, superceded the budget with the county manager on Friday. He notes the next step is a conference to be scheduled by the county manager, with ultimately a budget hearing to be held before the county commissioners.

At the same time the Greenville superintendent delivered a copy of the budget, he informed Gray by letter of background work that has been accomplished on the site of a new middle junior high school.

After furnishing the background information, Dr. Cleetwood noted "It is my sincere hope that you will act favorably on this matter at your next meeting that we may move forward with the acquisition of the land and begin formal plans for the new school."

The cost of the site for the proposed school is approximately $150,000. This money is now in escrow for the project.

One Board Member Sees ECU First In Line For Med School

By NOEL YANCEY
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH (AP) — A member of the new Board of Governors of the North Carolina University system believes if the state would decide to establish a new four-year medical school, it will be located at East Carolina University.

State Rep. J. P. Hunkins, D-Iredell, said in an interview he feels as a result of action by the General Assembly and the governor that "decision has already been made" and "East Carolina is in on the ground floor."

Another board member, Macco Sloan of Durham agreed with Hunkins, but still another, Watts Hill Jr. of Durham, disagreed.

Hill pointed out that the state already has three four-year medical schools "and the time when the state can afford a fourth medical school is so remote that I wouldn't want to speculate on where it will be located."

We can educate more doctors for less money by increasing the number of one-year medical schools and expanding the existing four-year schools than by any other means," Hill added.

Hunkins noted that the University of North Carolina Medical School is now sending its fourth-year students to train in hospitals in Greensboro and Charlotte and is expected to begin such programs in hospitals in Raleigh, Greenville, Wilson, Goldsboro, Rocky Mount and Tarboro.

In the future, he said, the program could be expanded by instituting one-year medical school programs at the University of North Carolina, at Charlotte and at North Carolina State University.

Hunkins said the new statewide university system will be able to "develop medical programs on as many campuses as the needs will justify" but "I don't see any big medical schools springing up in any given community, in addition to East Carolina University."

Both Hunkins and Hill agreed that the new university governors may decide to offer doctorate degree training, now confined to UNC at Chapel Hill, UNC at Greensboro and North Carolina State, to some other campuses.

Hill expressed the hope that a result of establishment of the board of governors will be a further concentration of doctoral programs rather than expansion. He added "this does not mean that there should not be doctoral level work on more campuses but it does mean that if there is then it should be limited to special competencies."

"...can't see them being frozen forever on the three campuses of the original consolidated University," said Hunkins. I think we'll reach the day when doctoral programs in certain fields will be approved at Appalachian State, Charlotte, East Carolina—anywhere they have the staffs and backgrounds to do it."

But Sloan said he thought the doctoral level work should be restricted to UNC at Chapel Hill, State and UNC at Greensboro. "I don't think the state can afford doctoral programs at all institutions," he said. "I think this was one of the purposes of restructuring."

Another board member, William A. Johnson of Lillington, said, he felt it "is pretty well agreed the state does not have the resources, financial or otherwise, to provide doctoral programs at all of these institutions."

Hill, Johnson and Sloan agreed that during its meetings thus far there has not been a tendency among the board of governors to split along the lines of whether the members came from the UNC board of trustees or from one of the regional institutions.

"I really believe that every single one is making a conscientious effort to be completely objective," said Johnson.

Order Of Eastern Star Chapter Observes Golden Anniversary

The Golden Anniversary of Greenville Chapter No. 149, The Order of the Eastern Star, was celebrated at a special meeting on Saturday evening at the Masonic Temple here.

Approximately 175 members of the local chapter and other affiliated chapters filled the chapter room for the meeting, which was called to order by L. F. Stokes, Worthy Patron, and presided over by Mrs. Mary J. Freeland, Worthy Matron.

The chapter room was decorated with the words "Our Golden Year" in gold on a green background above the east. An arrangement of yellow and white flowers on the secretary's desk completed the setting.

Following the ritualistic opening and the salute to the flag, Mrs. Freeland extended a welcome to those assembled.

The Rev. Adrian Brown gave the invocation, after which charter member, Mrs.

Josephine Rawl read the history of Greenville Chapter.

The Chapter was instituted on the evening of April 29, 1922, with 26 members and the charter was granted on June 12, 1923. The Masonic Temple was located at the corner of Fifth and Washington Streets at that time.

In 1947 the Chapter moved its meeting place to the corner of Fifth and Pitt Streets where they stayed until the spring of 1964. At that time the Masonic Temple, at the corner of 12th and Charles Streets was finished, and the membership moved its meeting place to its present location.

There are two charter members still living and in good standing and the chapter has been honored by a number of Grand Chapter appointments over the years. The present membership is 129.

Following the reading of the history, a solo "Star of the East" was sung by Joe Ray of Ayden Chapter No. 52. He was accompanied by Mrs. Carabob Turnage, also of the Ayden Chapter.

Fifty-year pins were presented to Mrs. Rawl and Mrs. Harris by Mrs. Chloe L. Phillips, Worthy Grand Matron, who pinned Mrs. Rawl's pin on her dress while Mrs. Lillie Joyner was accorded the privilege for Mrs. Harris. Two other 50-year members were unable to be present for the festivities: Mrs. Iva S. Brown of Altoona, Pa., Charter Member, and Mrs. Vera M. Sutton of New Bern, whose pin was presented to her previously in the New Bern chapter.

The Worthy Grand Matron spoke briefly with congratulatory remarks for the 50-year members and for the Chapter and spoke on the subject of "Light As It Affects Our Lives As Individuals and As An Important Part of Our Eastern Star Work."

The Worthy Grand Patron offered his congratulations as well, comparing the lives of our two 50-year members to the growth and development of individuals as they go through the several stages of living. Mr. Runion, the Worthy Grand Patron of Virginia, offered his best wishes to the Chapter and its honored members and expressed his pleasure at being present for the festivities.

Gifts of "Apples of Gold" were presented to the 50-year members, as well as yellow num corsages, from Greenville Chapter No. 149, by the Worthy Matron. The honorees expressed their appreciation and the pride

Don't Believe Stories Of 'Old Hens'

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Charles Scribner's Sons, Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I have some good news for that husband who wrote in to say that his pregnant wife was scared stiff by those old hens who told her horror stories about the pain and torture of childbirth.

It doesn't have to be that way! I had my first baby seven months ago, and it was the most beautiful experience of my life. My husband and I prepared ourselves for it by enrolling in a class at the "Y." (It was called "Childbirth Education.")

The reason so many women fear childbirth is because they don't know what to expect. We were shown movies, and we were even taken on a tour of the hospital to see the labor and delivery room, and finally the nursery.

Please, Abby, let others know about these wonderful educational courses. Every doctor is aware of what is available in his area. It is free, too. You cannot believe how much it helped my husband and me. GLAD I LEARNED

DEAR ABBY: About that girl expecting her first baby and being frightened by old ladies who told her how rough it was: Don't let the old biddies scare you, Honey. The inconvenience of not being able to clip your toenails for about four months is worse than the short pain of labor, which is something like all the menstrual cramps you missed all rolled into a couple of hours!

How can I speak with such authority? Simple. I am writing this from the hospital where I had my first baby just three days ago!

It really wasn't so bad. But even if it had been as rough as some of those old biddies said it would be, it would have been worth it. You should see my beautiful baby boy! HAPPY IN FLORIDA

DEAR ABBY: I can just hear those old hens telling that poor pregnant girl how terrible it is to give birth to a baby! I'll bet they didn't tell her how they made their husbands, doctor and nurses suffer right along with them. Nor how they overate during their pregnancies and delivered great big, oversized babies. Labor and delivery is too miraculous a time to waste by thrashing and screaming, trying to prove that a "good mother" has to suffer for her child.

These martyrs are the reason I no longer work on the maternity floor. AN R. N. (AND-MOTHER)

DEAR ABBY: Good grief! Nobody has to suffer in childbirth any more. All an expectant mother has to do is ask her doctor about the various classes that are offered in her community. She can practically take her pick of the "method" she wants to use.

I chose the Lamaze method, which is natural childbirth. It takes some studying and practice, but it is worth it to have a healthy baby that hasn't been struggling to be born of a mother who is so doped up and out of it she makes it rough on herself and the baby.

The husbands are included in these courses, too. My husband took it, and he stayed right with me the whole time.

We recommend it for all expectant parents. M. AND J.

Clam Supply Unable To Keep Up With Demand

By TOM HOGE Associated Press Writer

Americans are said to eat more clams than the people of any other country, probably because the bivalves of their homeland are considered the finest in the world.

When Captain John Smith was exploring the coast of New England in the 17th century, he became an enthusiastic amateur clam digger. Later he wrote to his countrymen: "you shall scarce find any bay or cove of sand where you may not take any clamps or lobsters or both at your pleasure."

The era of abundance that John Smith wrote about has passed. Today, thanks to ruthless harvesting over the years, the clam is becoming scarce and the supply no longer can keep pace with the demand.

There are several varieties of the popular bivalve in America. The soft-shell clam, used for steamers or chowder, is found in Atlantic coastal waters from North Carolina to Greenland. They dwell in the shallows between tidemarks and burrow several inches below the sandy surface.

The hard-shell variety, which the Indians called the quahog, is found from Cape Cod all the way to Texas, as well as in waters off the coasts of Maine and New Brunswick. The hard-shell clam usually lurks beyond the ebb-tide mark in waters up to six fathoms deep.

Quahogs are harvested by raking or are dredged up like oysters. Young quahogs are known as "little necks," and the small ones are referred to as "cherry stones." Small and medium size quahogs are eaten on the half-shell, raw or cooked. The big ones are usually cut up for chowder.

There are other lesser known varieties of clam along America's West Coast, but the Atlantic specimens have proven so popular that they have been transplanted successfully to the waters of the Pacific.

The only shortcoming of the clam is its tendency to secrete sand. It was once believed that clams would disgorge their sand, if placed in a mixture of cold water and cornmeal. A more realistic—and simpler method is to scrub each clam with a small brush and hold it under running cold water before preparing it for the table.

One of the most popular dishes made from the cherry stone is Clams Casino, and an Armenian named Al H. Gadargian has developed it into a culinary delight in his New York restaurant.

Al is owner of a midtown Manhattan spot known as the Camel Driver. It seats only 50 persons in the muraled dining room and the atmosphere is warm and friendly.

Here is Al Gadargian's recipe for Clams Casino.

- 2 dozen little necks
- 1/2 pound butter
- 2 tablespoons bottled pimientos, chopped
- 1 ounce bread crumbs
- 1/2 teaspoon parsley
- 6 slices lean bacon, half broiled

Soften butter by warming slightly and mix in pimientos, bread crumbs, parsley and salt and pepper to taste. Place clams in empty shells in flat cookie pan and spread butter mixture over mollusks. Bake in

The word is "loud" for prints coming up in the 1972-73 fashion picture, according to trends at the 26th Fabric Fair held in Frankfurt, Germany. Flowers, stripes, plaids and geometrics are among the loud prints.

350-degree oven until butter is thoroughly melted. Take out of oven and place quarter strips of half-broiled bacon over each clam and put under broiler until bacon is crisp. Serves four. Good with a chilled, Alsatian Sylvaner.

Efficient Development Move

Establishment of boundaries for water system service of Greenville Utilities Commission in areas outside the city is another positive step to assure adequate and efficient development of water systems in Pitt County.

The development of the boundaries by representatives of the Commission and the Pitt County Planning Board should assure in the future a minimum overlapping of planning and financial outlay as additional community water systems are developed and expanded in rural areas of the county.

The boundaries developed are generally in accordance with the comprehensive water and sewer study prepared for the county two years ago.

In recent years a number of community water systems have been developed in rural areas throughout Pitt County. In several instances these systems have been expanded and their lines extended to serve an increasing number of rural residents. At the same time several of the municipalities of the county have continued to extend their water systems, and in some cases sewer systems, into adjacent rural areas outside their corporate limits.

There can be little doubt that the time will come when most of the rural areas of the county will be served by water systems. Unless basic boundaries are drawn for the various systems, such as has now been done for the Greenville Utilities system, considerable confusion and expensive problems could develop.

It is important that the water systems be developed to serve residents throughout the county. It is also important that such development be carried out in the most practical and least expensive manner possible. By setting out now areas of service and responsibility, better planning can be done for providing service for all areas of the county either through municipal systems, the expansion of community systems already in operation, or the development of additional community water systems to serve designated areas.

In this particular field, as in many others, it is becoming increasingly evident that county-wide planning is important to Pitt as the county continues to move forward with its overall development.

Sanford Campaign Is Given A Needed Lift

Gov. Scott quickly endorsed Terry Sanford's candidacy for president following Sen. Muskie's announcement of last week.

Thus it appears that Sanford can expect strong support from most elements of the Democratic Party organization as he faces Gov. Wallace on Saturday.

Wallace has a loyal following in North Carolina; however there is no question but that Sanford's task has been made considerably easier by Sen. Muskie's withdrawal.

Sudden Surge For Humphrey

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON—A sudden surge in Sen. Hubert Humphrey's prospects for another bout with Richard M. Nixon is more the product of Sen. George McGovern's spectacular landslide in Massachusetts than Humphrey's own more modest victory in Pennsylvania.

After McGovern won the Wisconsin primary April 4, regular Democratic politicians assured us the convention would nominate "anybody but McGovern." But a telephone check around the country in the wake of McGovern's Massachusetts triumph now reveals a hardening perception of Humphrey as the only viable alternative.

That's because McGovern is now being taken with infinitely more seriousness. Since Wisconsin, his eager and talented volunteers have flooded precinct conventions in such non-primary states as Kansas, Missouri, Vermont and Idaho to ambush the regulars. With Sen. Edmund S. Muskie fading and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy still aloof, the regulars must turn to the only visible alternative: Humphrey. They fear McGovern as the Democratic party's Barry Goldwater.

The reason is given by one liberal Senator, whose voting record differs little from McGovern's. He feels McGovern's surging popularity depends on public ignorance of his acknowledged public positions. "The people don't know McGovern is for amnesty, abortion and legalization of pot," he told us. "Once Middle America—Catholic Middle America, in particular—finds this out, he's dead."

This Senator long ago endorsed Muskie publicly and, like many others, will stay committed to Muskie—not out of belief that his candidacy can be revived but as a shelter in the storm. But like many other Muskie endorsers, he concedes he probably will end up backing Humphrey.

Thus, the Humphrey strength is greater than anemic delegate counts in the weeks ahead will indicate. Gov. Wendell Ford of Kentucky will honor his commitment to Muskie, but the delegates he is trying to elect in precinct conventions seem earmarked for Humphrey. Gov. David Hall of Oklahoma will try to elect uncommitted delegates in precinct conventions May 5, but he also now seems likely to end up supporting Humphrey.

This Humphrey accretion is aided by his conscious attempt to build himself as the leader of the "progressive center" between the two Georges, McGovern and Wallace, aided also by Wallace's surge on the right. In Texas, for example, Sen. Lloyd Bentsen is concerned

Born And Bred In 'Briarpatch'

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH — Mountain politics made a fighter of Jim Holshouser.

Like Bre'r Rabbit in the briarpatch, he was born and bred in the scrappy atmosphere of two-party politics in Watauga County. At 28, he won election as Representative to the state legislature. He hasn't lost an election since.

Now he's in the fight of his life, and in his own party.

BRYAN HAISLIP

He's matched against Jim Gardner of Rocky Mount for the Republican nomination for governor in a bout that rates top attention in the May 6 primary.

Republicans are watching closely because they believe 1972 is the year to win with the right candidate. Democrats are looking on to gauge the caliber of competition to face in the fall.

For a time the field looked clear for Holshouser. He wanted the nomination. Four terms as a legislator and six years as GOP state chairman gave him the credentials.

Late Hour Entry
At a late hour, Gardner made it a contest. After losing to Gov. Bob Scott in 1968, he had subordinated politics to business interests. His decision to try again gave Republicans a choice in May for the man they think most likely to win in November. Holshouser's gloves-off campaign style put spirit and heat into the race. After a twoparty start, he began swinging directly at his opponent.

He drummed at the theme that Gardner has flip-flopped on issues, blue the opportunity to be elected governor in 1968, and then copped out on rebuilding the party.

"The people of North Carolina are ready for the change we have been talking about, but they don't want to jump from the frying pan into the fire," said Holshouser. "They want somebody that they feel they can trust and believe."

It's clear he isn't talking about Gardner.

Lessons In History
To admonishments for party unity, Holshouser returned a mild reply. "I'm not making personal attacks. I'm just reciting history," he said with the boyish grin that is a trademark.

An incident of history he likes to recall is the 1968 presidential election. He managed the successful effort which carried North Carolina for President Richard Nixon. "I saw what it takes for a Republican to win statewide," he said.

For the same period, Holshouser reminded, Gardner switched from Nixon to Ronald Reagan at the GOP national convention, then carried on what he called a flirtation with third party forces for Gov. George Wallace of Alabama in the eastern part of the state.

That hasn't been forgotten in Washington, he said. "I'm sure there's a little black book somewhere with the names of those of us who supported the President down the line, and another little black book with the names of those who did not," he said.

Both Are Confident
Holshouser is confident his aggressive tactics have paid off. A recent telephone canvass in selected areas showed him ahead although there was a high percentage of undecided voters, he said. Gardner forces are equally optimistic, which leaves the impression the race is headed for a close finish.

Holshouser's candidacy got a boost with the endorsement of Charles R. Jonas, the dean of Tar Heel GOP Congressmen who is retiring after 20 years. On the other side, Gardner received the blessing of Robert Gavin of Sanford, twice the party's candidate for governor.

The race is more than a test of Holshouser's mettle as a campaigner. It has the shape of an Old Guard-New Wing confrontation that can influence the future of the party.

Holshouser comes of mountain Republican stock. Party byalty rates high in his scale of values. His leadership has emphasized building the GOP structure that can win offices from the local level on up.

Gardner is an Easterner who switched over. Since leaving the Democrats in 1963, he has won once (for Congress) and lost twice in campaigns characterized by personal magnetism and professional techniques such as advertising and polling.

The Painkilling Truth

WASHINGTON—The Federal Trade Commission has attacked the advertising claims of the nation's leading nonprescription painkillers. In a strongly worded complaint, the FTC accused the major drug companies of making misleading and false claims about the effectiveness of their products. The main thrust of the complaint is that while most of the painkillers work, the drug companies, through advertising, give the false impression that there is a "significant difference between the products."

My friend, Prof. Heinrich Applebaum, believes that the FTC has gone too far. While he is an advocate of truth in advertising, he feels the government could do more damage than good by making

ART BUCHWALD

Laboratory located at the end of the runway at National Airport.

"In my studies, I have discovered that people are dependent on outrageous claims for painkillers to rid themselves of headaches. Let me show you," Applebaum took two volunteers and made them stand next to a plane taking off.

"This is the fastest way we have of giving people headaches," he explained. After the plane took off, he said to one volunteer who was holding his head, "I am going to give you two aspirin." To the other volunteer he said, "I'm going to give two Bufferin which relieves pain twice as fast as aspirin." Now tell me when your headache is gone."

The person who took the Bufferin said in three minutes, "My headache is gone." The person who took the aspirin waited six minutes and then said, "My headache is gone."

"You see," Applebaum beamed. "The psychological factor worked!"

"But how can you be sure?" I asked.

Other Editors Say Strange Behavior

(Rocky Mount Telegram)

Isn't it strange that in all of the screamin' and blatherings now going on, both in the U.S. Senate and on the streets of America's cities, over the bombing of military targets in Haiphong Harbor and the city of Hanoi, nothing—not one peep—is said in protest over the actions of the Communists in launching the major offensive into South Vietnam?

It is bad enough that the offensive constitutes a blatant and flagrant act of aggression—unopposed by the Fulbrights and the Kennedys in the Senate and by the ragtag rabble in the streets who carry signs saying "Avenge Hanoi!"

But what is even worse is that these same pro-Communist doves are stone silent over the atrocities being committed by the North Vietnamese in their drive southward.

Field reports have come in of wholesale slaughter of civilians in the towns overrun by the Communists.

Field reports have come in of brutal throat-cutting of civilians by Communists—and the victims included women and children.

But has this been protested by the doves on the floor of the U.S. Senate? Did any of the "peace lovers" who took to the streets last Saturday to protest U.S. bombing of Red Military targets carry signs protesting the atrocities by the Reds? They did not.

Such behavior has got to make Americans wonder what is going on in this country. Unless they are total imbeciles, the people who read of these strange goings-on must conclude that a significant part of the protesters are pro-Communist and anti-American. There can be no other conclusion, for the protesters' claim to concern for humanity is as bankrupt as their reasoning in pressuring the United States to get out of Southeast Asia.

Those who claim concern for North Vietnam, in the wake of U.S. bombing raids, but do not express equal concern for South Vietnamese victims of Red atrocities, had no claim to unbiased sentiment. Their loyalties lie elsewhere, for they certainly don't lie with America.

Strength For Today

THE WAY LIFE IS
If we think we can get through life without stress and conflict we are utterly mistaken. The rich and the poor, the old and the young, people of high station and of low all have their problems. Sometimes these are problems which arise from the committing of crime. But only a few people confront such a serious situation and realize that they have the law to deal with. Most of us are just plain—and often petty—sinners whose sins begin with the fact that we are all wrapped up in ourselves.

Occasionally our country has been threatened by invasion. When this has been the case millions of young men have shouldered guns and gone into battle. The old and the infirm have supported them in every way that physical limitations permit. But we should not deceive ourselves into believing that the crises in which our nation has been involved have been the only times when courage and dedication were needed.

If we have any discernment at all we must know that we are frequently our own worst enemy. What we need to fear is not arrest and imprisonment. We need to fear a wrong estimate of ourselves, an eagerness to go on amusing ourselves with this little weakness and that. We assure ourselves that we are as good as our neighbors—and possibly better. We chuckle and remind ourselves that the sins we commit are not matters of much importance. The policeman's hand on our shoulder would be a serious matter indeed, but this besmirching of our imagination, this little compromise of decency and truth—these things we believe will not hurt us very much nor will God and our contemporaries pay much attention to them.

Wrong.

Economic Indicators Creep Up

By ELMER ROESSNER
A recent flurry of reports on business indicators seems to show that the economy is still plodding towards higher ground.

Gross national product during the first quarter rose about $30 billion, or 11.9 per cent, to $1,103 billion. But almost half of the gain was caused by inflation. The advance was only about 5.3 per cent in constant dollars. Personal income was up $66.5 billion, or eight per cent, to $900 billion during the quarter. But, again, this was in terms of inflated dollars.

Steel production and automobile output also improved in the first three months of the year at a fairly slow, steady pace, although still a bit under the first-quarter 1971 level.

One of the brightest spots was a sharp rise in machine-tool orders in March. At $117.7 million, they were 37.3 per cent above February and 72.5 per cent above March a year ago. Machine tool orders in the first quarter came to $274.2 million, up 51 per cent over the first quarter last year.

ELMER ROESSNER

Machine tools are considered an important clue to future business activity because current orders indicate manufacturing levels three, six and nine months ahead when the equipment is in place and starts producing. However, some of the present rise is probably "catch up" orders to counterbalance low orders in the past. In addition, machine-tool orders are sensitive to borrowing rates and with rises in interest in the offing, some businesses may be trying to lock up orders and payments early.

On the disappointing side, the rise in business inventories slowed to $100 million in February. And sales were off $200 million. The jobless rate went back to 5.9 per cent in March after dipping to 5.7 per cent in February.

In all, the economy continues to grope its way painfully upwards with gains outweighing setbacks—but not by much.

Here are other look-aheads in business. Pork prices will start rising soon. The expected increase has nothing to do with inflation but will result from short supplies. Fairly good production at the moment is likely to decline into mid-summer, when the new crop will be coming in. However, the

Hazard Of The Clocks

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Today is a special sort of day. It's like getting off work early for the ball game. Or sneaking out ahead of quitting time when the boss has his head turned the other way.

Look around you at the short shadows and the warmth of the air and you will sense that you've been released for a mini-vacation.

It's the first working day after Daylight Saving Time resumes.

Not everyone will be happy about setting the clock ahead an hour.

The freshest, most provocative complaint comes from a man who says Daylight Saving may be the ruination of the nation's morals, or slightly so. He is Bill Rau of San Antonio.

For a proper understanding of his position, you should know that he operates a drive-in motion picture lot.

His argument is that the sun darkens drive-in movie screens so late in the evening that the only customers he can lure into his place are adults who plan to make a night of it anyway.

Children should be in bed by the time the screen grows dark enough to show motion pictures.

Therefore, said Rau, all he can show profitably are the X- and R-rated films.

In the winter, Rau told a recent legislative hearing, he largely shows family type pictures.

Now back to you office types. The first couple of days that you're free at what seems mid-afternoon is fun.

Then you realize you have an extra hour to mow the lawn, trim the shrubs and do other chores your wife has thought up for you. You can't beg off because "it's too dark to see." You can try to avoid the chores by claiming you're worn out because you lost an hour's sleep when the time changed.

But that plea can't stand up more than a couple of days. For you can look forward to re-gaining that hour of sleep the last Sunday in October when Standard Time returns. Just tough it out for five months. The self-discipline, or wife-discipline, will be good for your character.

Hal Boyle is ill.

British Visitor Teaches That Poetry Can Be Fun

A POET EXPLAINS... Oxford's poet Thad Stem, left, gives some timely pointers on poetry to two young ladies, Linda Cannon, center, and Mary Allen, right. Stem was at D. H. Conley High School all last week as part of a "Poetry in the Schools Program."

By SONNY McLAWHORN—Poetry can be fun. That was the thought behind Thad Stem's visit to D.H. Conley High School last week — to show high school students that poetry does not have to be awesome and stiff. Stem visited the local high school as part of a program called "Poetry in the Schools," sponsored jointly by the National Endowment for the Arts, the U.S. Office of Education, the State's Art, Council and local school districts.

The program is designed to place poets of professional stature in the schools.

Stem has written ten volumes of prose and poetry, every one of them winning some sort of literary prize. He has become well known throughout the state for the rock-wall editorials he has written daily for the Raleigh News and Observer for the past 16 years.

But at Conley, the Oxford writer concentrated on poetry. He spent the entire week in the classroom, instructing students in writing and appreciating good poetry.

Stem believes the student must write in order to learn poetry. "Try to use words to express what you think," he told the students.

In an exercise called "Take Five," students were instructed to form a poem around word meanings. The first line would be limited to just one noun. The second line would contain two verbs describing that noun. The next two lines would be comprised of three adjectives modifying the noun and an one adjectival phrase. And the fifth line would use simply a synonym for the original word.

This simple exercise requires the student to think in terms of using effective words, rather than becoming lost in a morass of say-nothing adjectives and adverbs.

Stem's own writing, rich with human experience, reflects his preference for making every word important.

"More than our praise," one writer has said, "Stem deserves our close attention. His work deeply merits it."

Stem, who described himself to one student as "a walking mass of hostilities," expresses dismay at the lack of interest Americans show in good writing.

"The Russians have more people at a poetry reading than we have at a college basketball game," Stem says, "Americans are spectators, not participants, because from our earliest awareness we come to depend upon conveniences."

Why did he pick writing as a

Stem says, "from the Stonybrook steepchase to the Symphony Ball to Benson's Mule Day."

When he approached the Florida editor's office, he noticed the name on the door: "L. Garland Biggers." "Since my name is Thaddeus Garland Stem," he relates, "I introduced myself as T. Garland Stem. I got the job, but I never got used to his calling me Garland."

In 1947, Stem published his first book, Picture Poems. He has published nine others over the past few years. And he is writing another, tentatively called North Carolina Social Calendar. "It's about various events that occur in the state,"

Stem says, "from the Stonybrook steepchase to the Symphony Ball to Benson's Mule Day."

Stem has traveled throughout the state over the years, developing a keen sense of what Tar Heels are really like. His new book, Entries from Oxford describes life in the small Granville County town he knew as a boy.

Thad Stem is a part of all that he has met. For him, the visit to Conley was another experience in a series of poetry sessions. For Conley students, it was a rare treat.

A Better Future For Engineers

NEW YORK (UPI)—Should our son or daughter study engineering — when you consider the dearth of jobs in that field at present? A good question.

And the answer: By the mid-1970s engineers will be as scarce and as courted by employers as they were in the heyday of the 1960s, says Chauncey Starr, dean of University of California at Los Angeles' School of Engineering and Applied Science. He estimates employment will be 20 per cent higher in 1975 than it was in the banner year of 1969. But schools are expected to graduate only about half the number needed.

Safety Tips On Kitchen Front

CHICAGO (UPI) — Nicks, punctures and gashes — 200,000 each year — are the unhappy result of misusing kitchen knives, the National Safety Council says.

Injuries come when knives are put to the wrong use — to pull out carton staples, open a can or pry up a lid. Slips are a common cause of knife injuries. To avoid them, grip the knife handle firmly and always cut away from your thumb or hand. And concentrate when working with a knife.

Seamstress For Space Program

MOORESTOWN, N.J. (UPI) — Mrs. Ann Bieroda's sewing is out of this world.

She's a space-age seamstress who designs, develops and finally sews the multi-layered plastic thermal insulation blankets that are wrapped around much of the hardware on spacecraft. The Brooklyn-born grandmother of four youngsters has worked in the electronics industry for more than 15 years, the last three with RCA's Electronics Division here.

Firemen in Dallas answered 24,115 calls during 1971.

came out and said, "Anacin starts relieving pain 22 seconds after it enters your bloodstream. That is why more doctors recommend Anacin than any other pain reliever." He gave the pianist two Anacin and a stopwatch. Exactly 22 seconds later the pianist started to hit the keys of the piano and played a Chopin sonata like it had never been played before.

Prof. Applebaum said, "If he hadn't known how long Anacin would take to work, that man could be sitting on his piano stool for the rest of the day wracked with pain."

"You've proved that psychology certainly plays its role, Professor," I said. "As far as I'm concerned, advertising is the most important ingredient in a painkiller. In the past, the only thing that saved the people in this country was the knowledge that no matter how bad things got, they could always go down to the drugstore and get 'fast, fast relief.' Now the government even wants to take the fun out of having a headache."

WOMAN POWER

CHICAGO (AP) — Methodist Bishop Ralph T. Alton of Madison, Wis., told a meeting of United Methodist women here: "You are a majority in the church and have the power to do whatever you want to do. Your role is your problem, so don't sit around and wait for someone to solve it for you."

Evans-Novak

(Continued from page 4) that McGovern and Wallace forces will swamp the state's precinct conventions May 6. If Bentsen drops his neutrality and tries to mobilize the Democratic establishment, he has no choice but to support Humphrey.

Working against this slow, undramatic Humphrey tide is the McGovern Phenomenon which we reported last week from Massachusetts: blue-collar workers who back McGovern even though they disagree with him on critical issues.

The McGovern Phenomenon is why Rep. Frank Thompson of New Jersey, a notably cool-headed Catholic liberal, may soon endorse McGovern. Thompson was particularly impressed by a story relayed to him by Rep. Thomas P. O'Neill of Massachusetts of how McGovern, challenged about abortion, tamed a hostile, Catholic, working-class audience during the Massachusetts campaign. As expected, McGovern swept blue-collar precincts in Massachusetts.

But the many Democrats who believe that there are finite limits to the McGovern Phenomenon point to his performance in Pennsylvania (where, to be sure, McGovern did not concentrate). Running only 10 per cent in white working-class wards and less than 20 per cent in black wards, McGovern scored best among affluent suburbanites and the young.

Accordingly, no matter how many delegates McGovern's activists collect nationwide, he will surely be doomed if he loses to Humphrey in California June 6. And even if he wins there and in New York June 20 to go into Miami Beach with over 1,000 delegates, he will confront diehard opposition working to prevent his reaching the 1,590-delegate majority.

That is the essence of Humphrey's strength. The supporters of McGovern and Kennedy coincide so closely that it is hard to think of the regulars stopping McGovern with a "draft Kennedy" movement. Nor do many politicians put serious credence in either a dark horse or a resurrected Muskie.

Whom else, then, but Humphrey? In his Pennsylvania triumph, he showed for the first time that he could run well in blue-collar precincts as well as among blacks, Jews and the old. If he can defeat McGovern in Ohio and Wallace in Indiana next week, his suspect vote-getting process will be enhanced. Nevertheless, Hubert Humphrey's most potent asset today is the fear by Democratic politicians of George McGovern as the alternative.

Buchwald

(Continued from page 4) "Because the person who thought he had taken the Bufferin really took aspirin. And the person who believed he had taken aspirin was really on Bufferin."

"You're a sneaky guy, Professor," I said with great admiration. "Now, watch this experiment." The professor took a schoolteacher and placed her on a school bus with 45 grammar schoolchildren. Her face became strained and irritable and she started to scream at the children.

"I don't know what's wrong with me," she cried.

David Janssen, the actor, got on the bus and gave her two Excedrin tablets and a glass of water. "A hospital study," Janssen told the teacher, "has revealed that it takes more than twice as many aspirin tablets to give the same pain relief as two Excedrin."

In just two minutes the teacher was smiling and clinging all over the school bus seats and shouting, "I hope this trip never comes to an end!"

"Fantastic!" I exclaimed. "Now, I'll show you another experiment." Applebaum had two of his lab assistants wheel a piano onto the runway. He then brought over a pianist whose fingers were wracked with arthritis. The pianist could not play a note. A man in a white coat

Take First Look Today At Apollo 16's Rocks

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Scientists take their first look today at rocks from the moon's highlands while the astronauts who brought them to earth continue technical debriefings on the Apollo 16 lunar mission.

Some of the rocks, in sealed containers, are to be placed in nitrogen-filled examination cabinets and one sample bag and one box will be opened late in the day.

John W. Young, Charles M. Duke Jr. and Thomas K. Mattingly II came back from their 11-day mission with a record 245 pounds of material. Young and Duke gathered it while making man's first exploration in the moon's mountains, in the Descartes highlands.

These rocks may be among the oldest on the moon, dating perhaps back between 4 and 4.5 billion years to the formative years. The rocks returned by four earlier Apollo crews ranged between 3 and 4 billion years in age, so the Apollo 16 samples could provide clues to an important chapter in lunar history.

Lunar geologists believe that during this early period the moon had a hot, active interior like the earth's and that volcanoes played a role in carving features such as mountains, canyons and plains.

Those who watched Young and Duke on the moon via television and listened to their descriptions believe there is a good chance the astronauts returned with the volcanic evidence they sought.

Experts expect to be studying the samples for years, comparing them with earlier Apollo samples and eventually piecing together the story of the history of the moon. This in turn could tell much about how our earth and solar system evolved.

The three astronauts returned here Saturday night after a flight from Hawaii, where they were taken after their successful Pacific Ocean splashdown Thursday.

After embracing their wives, the moonmen addressed a welcoming crowd of 3,000 persons at nearby Ellington Air Force Base. Young, the Apollo 16 commander, termed the mission "sort of a cliffhanger".

Alabama: Ten Years Of Wallace

George Wallace has come into North Carolina and talked a lot about his concern for the little man. But the words begin to taste sour when you look at the record.

Wallace Ignores The Working People of Alabama

- The people of Alabama have the second highest poverty rate in the nation.
- The people of Alabama have the 48th lowest per capita income in the country—only $2,853 a year.

In Alabama The Little Man Is Taxed Until He Is Hump-backed

● The working people of Alabama pay a sales tax of 4 percent everywhere, and 6 percent in most cities—33 to 100 percent more than North Carolina's sales tax. ● The Wallace tax on cigarettes is 12 cents a pack — 600 percent higher than ours — a tax that hits the tobacco farmer directly, and the little man a lot harder than the wealthy people. ● Corporations in Alabama pay 16.6 percent less tax than they do in North Carolina, and pay only half the percentage to the budget that North Carolina corporations provide. This shifts more of the Alabama tax burden to the little man. ● Alabama gives corporations the tax breaks. The corporations get to deduct their federal taxes on their state returns, and businesses like building and loan companies don't pay any taxes. The "little people" make up the difference. ● Alabama's property tax is so unfair that the courts have ordered the state to quit discriminating against the working homeowner.

Wallace: The "Non-Education Governor"

Alabama spends less money per pupil on public education than any state in the country—only $489 a year. North Carolina spends 31 percent more.

If George Wallace has a message for America, it is that he says one thing out of state, and does nothing about it back home. The man from Alabama has run his state for a decade, and no one has suffered more from his three terms than working people and school children.

A Positive Message From North Carolina

"Our state has a rare opportunity to give leadership to the nation. The issue in this election is what kind of message we will send to the nation. Will it be a message of looking forward to progress, or will it be a negative message? America needs faith in itself. America needs a fresh message of hope.

We have in North Carolina a proud history of solving our problems — not just talking about them. For too long, politicians around the country have gotten away with telling the people one thing and doing something different. It's time to blow the whistle on that kind of deception. North Carolina can lead this nation. Your vote for Terry Sanford will get it started."

Investigating Assault Report

Investigation is continuing today in a reported assault case involving two East Carolina University coeds early Sunday morning.
 Raw Ann Williams, 19, and Susie Ann Lang, 19, reported they were accosted by two Negro males as they walked along Fifth Street at the Seaboard Coastline Railroad Tracks, Chief Glenn Cannon said.
 He quoted the girls as saying Miss Williams was struck on the head and knocked down by one of the assailants while Miss Lang told officers she was dragged down the railroad toward South Alley by the attackers who attempted to tie her feet together.
 The incident occurred about 4 a.m.

Law Day Observance In District Court

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer
 The annual observance of May 1 as Law Day USA was recognized here this morning in a special program prior to the regular District Court session. Presiding Judge Charles Whedbee told the court that Law Day is observed nationally on the first of May as a "day on which we take a look at our system of justice."

Judge Whedbee observed that "without law and order, there could be no civilization. Without it you would not be safe to come to this courtroom or go to your homes tonight."
 James T. Cheatham, president of the Pitt County Bar Association, pointed out that a joint resolution adopted by the 87th Congress and signed by the President established the day as a permanent national observance.

 According to the resolution, May 1 is set aside as a "special day of celebration by the American people in appreciation of their liberties and the reaffirmation of their loyalty to the United States; of their rededication to the ideals of equality and justice under law in their relations with each other as well as with other nations; and for the cultivation of that respect for law that is so vital to the democratic way of life."

 Mayor S. Eugene West, in a Law Day proclamation, said this morning that the "whole structure of our business, economic, social, religious and cultural life rests upon laws. Without these laws, predicated upon equal justice and administered by independent courts, our whole social order would collapse."
 Mayor West, in proclaiming

Law Day in the Greenville area, urged all citizens, organizations and schools to give recognition to the day.
 In brief remarks, Judge J. W.

H. Roberts, Chief District Judge, noted that last year, the local court disposed of 1,682 civil cases and some 15,186 criminal cases. He said that "we have no backlog" of cases and I'm especially proud in that we are recognized as having one of the outstanding districts in the state."

Dedication . . . Exceeded His Target

 Pitt County first, as a whole, assuming all the debts, and then the people who voted for an $8 million school improvement bond issue.
 "Now that this dream has come true, it is up to us as interested parents, dedicated instructors and willing-to-learn students, to make the most progress possible in this investment," the former board chairman explained. "The right spirit and strong determination of all concerned will make this possible."
 "Up-to-date high school buildings are a fine thing for making it easier and more comfortable to go to school but it takes more than fine buildings to get a good education," Worthington emphasized. "I would like to see Ayden-Grifton High School make this the best school in the Pitt County system. It can be done if everyone involved says it can be done and works hard toward that end."
 Also participating in the dedication services were: Arthur Alford, superintendent of Pitt County Schools; Mark Owens, chairman of the Pitt County Board of Education; William C. Wiggins, principal of the Ayden-Grifton School; the Rev. R. T. McCarter; Harry Jarvis; Sam Nelson, member of the Pitt County Board of Education; and the Rev. W. S. Brown.
 Special music was presented by Mrs. Clarissa May, Mrs. Myriam C. Harris and the Ayden-Grifton High School Ensemble.
 The Ayden-Grifton School, located on a 30-84 acre site between Ayden and Grifton on N.C. 11, contains 121,859 square feet and cost $1,913,189 (less fees, furniture, movable equipment).
 The new facility has a pupil capacity of 1,050. The lunchroom has a seating capacity of 400 while the auditorium will seat 396 persons.

Supporting Clean Water Again Using Safety Town

The Greenville Jaycees have passed a resolution urging the citizens of Greenville to give full support to the Clean Water Bond Act which will face the voters of the community on Saturday.
 The resolution, approved by the Jaycee membership, notes that Greenville residents will have an opportunity to approve the issuance of $150 million in bonds that would provide State matching grants.
 The matching grants would make possible assistance to local governments in constructing and improving water pollution control and water supply systems to provide adequate, clean water for North Carolina.
 The Jaycee resolution notes too that "the City of Greenville will be eligible for 25 per cent matching grants for water and sewer projects as well as additional federal grants, if the voters approve these bonds."
 Other benefits that would arise from the passing of the bond issue, according to the Jaycees, is that of reducing the local share of the cost for constructing and improving the city's systems without requiring an increase in state or local taxes.

The Safety Town Project is again being held at Agnes Fullilove Kindergarten School this spring.
 Under the sponsorship of the Pilot Club of Greenville, the program was initiated last spring and met with a successful response as a method of teaching young children the fundamentals of public safety.
 This year the project once more has the cooperation of the various departments of the Greenville City Government, including a member of the Greenville Police Department, Sergeant Douglas H. Ross, who will work with the Fullilove School Staff.
 In addition, members of the Greenville Pilot Club will also be giving assistance in operating the program.
 The prefabricated structures used as aids in conducting the program will go up today and remain up through May 12.
 The public is invited to come by and see the Safety Town Project in operation.

Richmond Spiders Leading League

'Week Of Decision' For Southern Conference Race

By MARSHALL JOHNSON Associated Press Writer
This is supposed to be the week of decision in the Southern Conference baseball race and to freshman coach Chuck Boone of Richmond's league-leading Spiders "it should be a good week." Boone, who took over the Richmond coaching reigns when veteran Mac Pitt stepped down last year after 37 years, saw his Spiders take over first place Saturday by defeating Virginia Military's Keydets 7-4 and 4-3 in 8 innings.

The victories boosted Richmond to 8-3 in league play in front of East Carolina's Pirates at 9-4, Furman's Paladins at 8-4, The Citadel's Bulldogs at 8-6 and William and Mary's Indians at 4-4.

Giving Richmond an assist was East Carolina. The Pirates knocked Furman out of the league lead and climbed into second place themselves by whipping the Paladins 7-0 and 4-1.

The Citadel, which shared the conference crown last year with Furman, was all but eliminated by splitting a doubleheader with Davidson's Wildcats. Davidson took the opener 1-0, the Bulldogs the nightcap 2-1.

Appalachian State's Mountaineers, who aren't eligible for the championship, knocked off William and Mary 5-1. The Mountaineers, were they in the running, would now be 3-1 against conference foes.

A crucial doubleheader today sent East Carolina to William and Mary, and a double defeat could eliminate the loser. Furman will be at The Citadel for a two-night doubleheader tonight that's critical also to the hopes of both teams.

Boone, who feels the race "should go right down to the wire," faces the unenviable task of playing three doubleheaders this week—at VMI on Tuesday, at home against William and Mary on Thursday and at William and Mary on Friday.

Asked whether he has the pitching depth to play six games in four days, Boone said, "I hope so. I've talked it over with our pitchers and we have a rotation all worked out."

Boone gives credit for the Spiders' success to his seniors, "who have really helped me. I have some boys who played under coach Pitt, who I think is the greatest coach in the country."

Additionally, says Boone, the players "have been picking each other up. And Roger Hatcher—the Spiders' ace right-hander—has done an outstanding job."

Hatcher scattered eight hits and drove in two runs with a pair of hits in the Saturday opener against VMI, in which Les Keenan—one of Boone's "picker-uppers"—contributed a two-run homer.

Another Spider hero emerged in the nightcap, Kenny Francisco, who got his first two hits of the season. His sixth inning single scored Hatcher with the tying run and his triple sent home Phil Roland, who had walked, with the winning run in the eighth.

Tommy Northam, called by Boone "a real smart pitcher," blanked the Keydets after the sixth on two hits, a walk and three strikeouts.

East Carolina got three-hit pitching from Tommy Toms in its opening victory at Furman and a six-hit effort by Bill Godwin in the nightcap as the Pirates boosted their title hopes.

Ronnie Leggett, hitting only .184 going into the game, drove in five runs in the first encounter with three hits. Ralph Lamm drove in two of East Carolina's runs in the after-game, the Wildcats five.

Davidson got the only run in the opener on a bad throw that allowed George Weicker to score from first after a long throw single by Harold Wilkerson.

With Ron Terry on first in the ninth inning of the second game, Chuck Cordell doubled for The Citadel and Terry raced home on a wild throw from the outfield.

Petty Credits One Car With Upsurge In Racing Attendance

By BLOYS BRITT AP Auto Racing Writer
MARTINSVILLE, Va. (AP)—Richard Petty—hot, tired and dirty—watched Sunday as an overflow crowd left Martinsville Speedway and observed: "It's that Chevrolet. That one car is responsible for the boom in attendance at stock car races."

Petty, who had just won the 17th Virginia 500 for the seventh time, was referring to a red and gold Chevy driven by Bobby Allison of Hueytown,

First Prize To Piston's Center

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bob Lanier, a 6-foot-11 center of the Detroit Pistons, defeated 6-3 Boston guard Jo Jo White 21-16 Sunday for the $15,000 first prize in the season-long National Basketball Association one-on-one tournament.

Lanier defeated Pete Maravich of Atlanta, Paul Silas of Phoenix, Mike Riordan of Baltimore and Mike Newlin of Houston to reach the finals; White beat four opponents who ranged from two to six inches taller—Ron Knight of Portland, Jack Marin of Baltimore, Connie Hawkins of Phoenix and Jeff Mullins of Golden State.

Ala. "The Allison car is the hottest thing, speedwise, on the Grand National circuit. The other drivers know it and the fans know it. So they come out in droves to see us try to beat it."

Sunday's race drew a standing-room-only crowd of 29,500 and it was the ninth sellout or record crowd of the season on the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing circuit.

Petty beat Allison's Chevrolet, along with several other contenders, by playing a waiting game for the second time in as many races.

The 34-year-old veteran, NASCAR's all-time events winner and one of three $1 million career winners of record in auto racing, had started his red and blue Plymouth third in the 36-car field. He led the race three times for short periods during the early going, but appeared content to let Bobby Isaac, Allison and David Pearson set the pace.

But Allison lost a lap because of a time-consuming pit stop, and was penalized another lap after race officials said he ran through a stop sign as he exited pit row. Trailing by two laps and driving with poor brakes later, the Alabamian ceased to be a factor.

Isaac was the driver who suf-

N.C. Central Runners Pose Prolonged Threat

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The scary thing about North Carolina Central's superspeed performance at last weekend's Penn Relays is that three of the five runners who set two national collegiate and one meet relay records are freshmen. They'll be back, back, back.

The North Carolina Central runners shattered national marks in the mile relay with a 3:03.1, and the sprint medley with a 3:14.8. They established a new 880 meet record of 1:21.8, only one-tenth of a second off the national mark.

The most sensational speed performance in the 78-year history of the world's oldest relay carnival was accomplished by the five ironmen in less than three hours.

"These were the biggest wins in the history of our school," said North Carolina assistant coach Ted Hanley in somewhat of an understatement. Hanley directed the team in the absence of head coach Leroy Walker, who remained at home because of the death of his mother.

The NCC spree started with the sprint medley as the quartet of Julius Sang, Larry Black, Jeff Horsley and Robert Ouku won by some 70-yards over William and Mary. The 3:14.8 lowered the previous national record of 3:15.2 set by a Kansas team anchored by Jim Ryan in 1967.

Actually it was the fastest sprint medley ever run, but is not listed as a world record because many countries don't recognize the sprint medley in their competitive programs. It fails of an American record because Sang and Ouku are Olympians from Kenya. The splits for the race were 46.4 by Sang in the opening quarter, a combined 40.7 by Black and Horsley in 220s, and a 1:47.7 half by Ouku.

Ouku was replaced by Mel Bassett in the 880 about an hour later and this quartet missed a national record by one-tenth of a second with its 1:28.1. It did lower the meet mark of 1:23.3 set in 1970 by Texas El Paso, second this time in 1:22.5, also breaking the old mark.

The final event of the two day program was the mile and Ouku returned in place of Horsley. Bassett led off with a 47.5, Ouku ripped off a 46.2 second leg, and Sang a 45.6 third quarter. Black was so far ahead he could have coasted home on the anchor leg, but instead ran a 43.8, fastest quarter split ever run. The previous best was 43.9 by Villanova's Larry James in 1968.

Night Of Errors Costs Farmville

FRAMVILLE — A nightmare of errors allowed North Lenoir to pull out a 5-4 victory over Farmville Central High School Saturday nighty in 11-wild innings.

The Jaguars' fumbled the ball 10 times during the game, and then blew opportunities on the bases when they had the winning run on third base several times before it was finally over.

North Lenoir grabbed the lead in the first inning with a run. Sullivan and Kilette both walked and a single by Williams scored Sullivan.

Farmville came right back with a run in the bottom of the frame. Cloyce Wilson singled and reached when Phil Lewis's grounder was errored on the throw.

In the second, Farmville gained the lead, 2-1, when Chuck Finklea hit a solo home run.

But North Lenoir came up with a run in the third to tie it up. Tripp singled and came around when the ball was errored twice.

North Lenoir moved into the lead in the fifth inning, scoring once. Tripp doubled and after Williams walked, an error on Sutton's ball let Tripp in for a 3-2 lead.

Then, in the 11 inning, Jarman reached on an error and scored when Sullivan was safe on another miscue. Tripp also reached on an error and Kilette singled in Sullivan with what proved to be the winning run.

Farmville tried to rally, but could come up with only one run. Johnson walked and Wilson doubled him in, but Farmville's hopes died there.

Wilson led the Farmville hitting with a fine five hits during the evening. Daniels added a pair.

Saturday Win Kept Greene Out Front

SNOW HILL — Greene Central survived a scare by Ayden-Grifton Saturday night and remained in control of first place in the Eastern Carolina Conference with a 3-2 victory.

The win left the Rams with a 12-1 record in the league, while Ayden-Grifton fell off to 10-4, close to elimination from the title picture.

The Rams took the lead in the game in the third inning. Robert Ivey reached on an error and moved around to third on the play on a previous runner at home. A wild pitch then scored him.

Ayden-Grifton came back in the fifth to take the lead with a pair of runs. Ronnie Eason reached on an error and moved up on a passed ball. Ken Cleaton doubled, scoring him, and moved up on an error. Doug Phillips drove him in with a single, making it 2-1.

Greene Central tied it up with one in the sixth. Danny Whitley walked, as did Elwood Grant. Donald Taylor followed with a double, scoring Whitley with the tying run.

The Rams then got the winning run in the seventh. Robert Ivey walked and stole second. He moved on to third on a passed ball and ended the game when he came across on Mike Perry's single.

Donald Taylor led the Ram hitting with two.

Pittsburgh Continues To Spin

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
"It's just a matter of time before we start doing our thing," says Pittsburgh Pirate Manager Bill Virdon.

They'd better hurry—they've lost five straight games already.

The defending World Champions, who never dropped more than four in a row during last year's run to the National League pennant, continued to spin Sunday when beaten 6-1 by the Atlanta Braves.

Pitching, which helped them beat the Baltimore Orioles in the 1971 World Series, is no where in sight so far this year. None of the starters has lasted a full game.

In the National League's other games Sunday, the Chicago Cubs defeated the Cincinnati Reds 6-4; the Houston Astros beat the St. Louis Cardinals 7-6; the Los Angeles Dodgers downed the New York Mets 7-0; Montreal topped San Francisco 5-2 in the first game, then dropped the second to the Giants, 13-2 and the Philadelphia Phillies took two from the San Diego Padres, 6-1 and 3-1.

Atlanta's Ralph Garr drove in two runs with a home run and double as the Braves swept their three-game set at Three Rivers Stadium and won their sixth game in the last seven.

Pinch-hitter Carmen Fanzone's two-run double capped a four-run rally in the eighth inning that lifted Chicago over Cincinnati.

A sacrifice fly by Glenn Beckert and single by Billy Williams knocked in the first two runs of the rally before Fanzone batted for Rick Monday and delivered a two-bagger down the left field line. Williams and Ron Santo came in with the tie-breaking runs.

Doug Rader drove home one run in a key three-run rally in the third inning, then knocked in the winner with a seventh inning double for Houston.

Bill Russell homered and doubled and drove in four runs to support Don Sutton's seventh hit pitching as Los Angeles beat New York.

Sutton, pitching his second shutout, became the majors' first four-game winner.

Ken Singleton and Mike Jorgensen combined for five runs batted in as Montreal defeated San Francisco in the opener of their twin bill.

Bobby Bonds sparked a six-run fourth inning with a double and finished it with a two-run single as San Francisco bombed Houston pitchers for 17 hits in the second game.

Denny Doyle drove in three runs in support of Barry Lersch's five-hit pitching to give Philadelphia its first-game triumph over San Diego.

Billy Champion scattered eight hits and homered to start the winning three-run rally in the fifth inning to give Philadelphia the second game.

Hot Rod Ace Sets Record

ROCKINGHAM, N. C. (AP) — Drag racing's golden boy, Ronnie Sox of Burlington, N. C. set an International Hot Rod Association record Sunday at Rockingham in the group's 3rd annual Pro-Am Nationals.

Sox, driving the Sox and Martin car in the Pro-Stock division, turned in an elapsed time of 9.42 seconds at a speed of 144.23 miles per hour. He defeated Don Carlton, of Lenoir, N. C., who did :09.54 at 144.46 m.p.h.

Pat Foster, of Hickory, N. C., set a world record in the funny car competition.

Foster's performance in a car owned by Barry Setzer of Hickory was :06.40 at 223.83 miles per hour. He defeated Larry Arnold of Memphis who ran .06.76 at 214.14 m.p.h.

Billy Casper Now Relaxed

DALLAS (AP) — "I feel like I can play again now," Billy Casper said.

The veteran pro, winner of more than 40 tour titles but slump-ridden a year and a half, was talking about a changed mental attitude that he credited with helping him to a one-stroke lead after three rounds of the rain-delayed, $125,000 Byron Nelson Golf Classic.

"I'm more relaxed," Casper said after a one-under-par 69 in Sunday's third round that gave him with a 54-hole total of 202, eight under par on the Preston Trail Golf Club course.

"Everything seems easier now. Things that were banked against me before now seem to be going for me," said Casper.

"Mainly, I'm thinking better, better than I have all year."

And it was thinking—or lack of it, a mental lapse—that may have led to a triple bogey seven on the 17th hole that cost Canadian longshot Wilf Homenuik a share of the top spot in this chase for a $25,000 first prize, more than he has won in any of six previous seasons on the American tour.

Kindergarten Sign-Up Set

Registration for the 1972-73 school year at Agnes Fullilove Kindergarten school get underway Wednesday at 1:45 p.m.

Joseph Smith, Jr. principal of the school, announces that a pre-kindergarten orientation and an orientation-registration meeting for parents with eligible children will be held at 1:45 p.m. Wednesday.

Children eligible for kindergarten next year are any who will be five years old on or before October 15, 1972.

On that date, Smith notes that some transportation to and from Agnes Fullilove is being provided. The two school buses that bring and return children enrolled at Fullilove School will make their runs again on Wednesday starting at one o'clock in the afternoon. Generally, the buses will cover the areas of Greenfield Terrace, Meadowbrook, Greenville Heights, Moyewood, Hillsdale, Kearney Park, and along the west side of Evans Street up to Tenth Street.

Earlier, in April, a letter was mailed to all the parents who had turned in a completed preliminary census form which indicated they have children eligible for enrollment. With this letter, an admission form, a physical examination form, and a parent-guardian information sheet were also sent.

Air And Water Bd. Refuses Join Suit

MURFREESBORO, N.C. (AP) — The North Carolina Board of Water and Air Resources says it has no jurisdiction in the dispute between the cities of Salisbury and Winston-Salem over pollution in the Yadkin River.

The board Saturday turned down a request from the city of Salisbury asking it to join in a proposed suit against Winston-Salem. The request came in a letter from Salisbury city attorney James A. Hudson to board Chairman S. Vernon Stevens Jr.

Hudson wrote, "As a result of the pollution by Winston-Salem of the Yadkin River, the city of Salisbury had to take measures to treat the water that would not have had to be taken if the water quality had been up to classification standards."

The proposed suit would seek to recover the cost of the additional measures, estimated by Salisbury at more than $25,000.

The board passed a resolution saying it had no authority in the dispute. It also said Winston-Salem was actively pursuing a program of pollution abatement in accordance with an agreement with the board and was meeting the time schedule agreed upon.

Earl Hubbard, assistant director of the Office of Water and Air Resources, said Salisbury has been sending Winston-Salem a monthly bill for the additional cost, which Winston-Salem has ignored. In other action, the board approved tentative criteria for the design, installation and operation of animal waste treatment lagoon in the state. The Soil Conservation Service will establish approval practices, and farmers who satisfy the requirements will be able to get financial assistance from the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

There were 779 local and long distances telephone calls for each man, woman and child in the United States in 1970.

Farm Tips

By Dr. J. W. Pou
Agricultural Specialist
Wachovia Bank & Trust Co., N.A.

At the flip of a switch, E. J. Bundy of Mt. Olive can all but solve on his farm what many people believe to be the number one problem on most North Carolina farms.

The switch activates big pumps that can gush 500 to 600 gallons of precious water per minute onto crops threatened by drought, frost or hot weather, according to Woody Upchurch, agricultural information specialist at N. C. State University.

Without irrigation, Bundy says he probably wouldn't be farming. "This irrigation system has meant the difference in staying in farming and getting out," he declared.

The Wayne County truck crops and tobacco farmer is one of a growing number of tar heel farmers who have become "converts" to irrigation, or water management, in recent years.

Even in "humid" North Carolina, risks are too great in modern farming to gamble unnecessarily with the weather. Every year, without exception, farmers get hurt by either too little or too much water — often both.

North Carolina State University irrigation engineer Ronald Sneed, his fellow extension specialists and county agents are pushing irrigation and total water management — which essentially means irrigation plus land forming to handle excessive water — as a priority need on most Tar Heel farms.

Bundy is ahead of the game. Working with Sneed and Wayne County Extension Agent Frank Baker, he put in the first of two deep-well systems four years ago. He has since added a second to increase his watering capacity to over 200 acres. He gets double use from it by double-cropping. He irrigates tobacco, cucumbers, Irish potatoes, snapbeans, strawberries and bell peppers with a movable sprinkler system. He would like to have permanent-set systems to reduce labor required for pipe-moving.

Bundy credits irrigation with increasing both quality and quantity of his produce and building a high degree of versatility into his overall farming operation.

"We ship produce to the large metropolitan areas of the Northeast," he explained. "They want quality. We're better able to give it to them with irrigated crops."

Irrigation enables Bundy to grow two crops of cucumbers and snapbeans. "I wouldn't attempt to grow a fall cucumber without irrigation," he said.

The watering system is used also for purposes other than increasing soil moisture.

It has meant a great deal to Bundy in preventing frost damage to strawberries.

The system is used frequently to lower field temperatures on very hot days. "Hot weather can be worse than dry weather," Bundy noted. "Plants really perk up in 90 to 95-degree weather when we turn on the water."

Bundy tried irrigating field corn last year for the first time. "We had a field that was burning badly," he said. "We watered 25 or 30 acres and I'm satisfied that it doubled the yield we could have gotten."

Farm Scene

By LEROY JAMES, AGENT

"Pure Live Seed" is a term that has been used in the seed trade for many years, yet the meaning is not clear for a lot of people.

The problems with soybean germination this year and the cost of good seed serve as a good example of the importance of being able to calculate the number of pure live seed in a bag.

This is especially true since soybean germination standards have been lowered to 60 per cent. For example: Suppose a bushel of soybeans seed is labelled 80 per cent germination and 98 per cent pure seed. By multiplying 80 per cent times 98 per cent, we end up with 78.40 per cent pure live seed in the bag. To put it another way, the bushel of soybean seed would contain 47 pounds of seeds that will actually germinate and grow (78.4 per cent of 60 pounds).

Suppose, on the other hand, that a bushel of soybean seed is labelled 60 per cent germination and 98 per cent pure seed. The pure live seed would be 58.80 per cent. This bushel of seed would contain 35.28 pounds of seeds that would germinate and grow.

What about differences in cost? If we say that seed germinating 80 per cent cost $7.50 per bushel and seed germinating 60 per cent costs $5.75 per bushel, the 60 per cent seed looks like the best buy.

But let's figure it out. At 80 per cent germination, the bushel of seed contains 47 pounds of live seed, which costs 16 cents per pound of pure live seed.

At 60 per cent germination, the 35.28 pounds of pure live seed cost 16.3 cents per pound. And you will need to plant more pounds of seed.

If you normally plant soybeans at the rate of one bushel (60 lbs) per acre for 80 per cent germination seed, then you will need 799 pounds per acre—one-third more—to plant the same number of pure live seed when you use seed with a 60 per cent germination rate. Planted to the same stand, then, the cheaper seed will actually cost more per acre for the seed than the 80 per cent seed.

N.C. Counts Road Deaths

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The North Carolina Highway Patrol says at least 13 people were killed on the state's roads over the weekend, bringing the toll for the year to 547. That is an increase of seven over last year's figure on this date.

Three of the deaths were pedestrians. Tony D. Willard, 5, of Pinnacle was killed when he ran into the path of a car on North Carolina 268 near Dobson. Jimmy D. Hughes, 25, of Ash was struck by a car on North Carolina 904 near Tabor City. Police said he was lying in the road. Joann B. Rogers, 47, of Bladenboro was killed as she walked along a rural road in Bladen County.

James R. Greene, 23, of Hamlet, died when his car ran off a rural Richmond County road. Franklin F. Farmer, 16, of Freeland and Sharon L. Jacobs, 14, of Bolton, died in a two-car wreck on North Carolina 87 at Riegelwood.

Sheila R. Roffe, 4, of Roanoke Rapids died when the car she was riding in tried to pass another on U.S. 158 and hit a tree. Donald W. Newkirk, 20, of Morrisville, died when his car hit a power pole off a rural road near his home.

A passenger, Lenora H. Kirkpatrick, 82, of Charlotte was killed when the car she was riding in plunged down an embankment off U.S. 29.

John B. Edwards, 43, of New Bern, died in a hospital after a wreck near Fayetteville that took three other lives. The other deaths were those of his daughter, Mrs. Nancy McLaney, 19, and her husband Robert, also 19, and the driver of the other car, Paul Dickson, III.

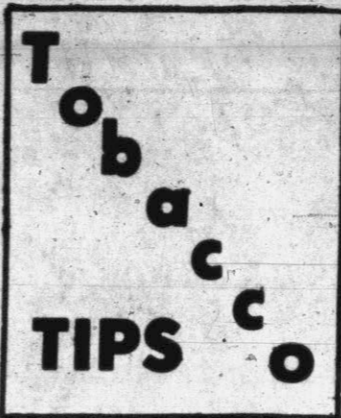

Dickson was state youth director of the campaign of Jim Hunt for lieutenant governor.

Woman Dies In Bridge Plunge

ASHEVILLE, N. C. (AP)—Police are investigating the death of a young Asheville woman who plunged 93 feet from the Smoky Park Bridge in downtown Asheville to the French Broad River.

The body of the victim, Mrs. Wanda Irving Johnson, was recovered about 2:30 p. m. Sunday after a 13-hour search by seven rescue squads.

An autopsy has been ordered by the Buncombe County Medical Examiner, Dr. Robert C. Moffatt.

By SAM J. WEEKS

The stored tobacco moth caused considerable damage on many farms in 1971. Their presence could be a potential threat to the 1972 tobacco crop, especially on the tobacco carried over from the 1971 crop. This insect generally prefers to feed on the lug and cutter grades of the tobacco, those high in sugar content.

The life history of the tobacco moth is similar to most other insects. The moth lays eggs in or near the piles of stored tobacco. The larvae are tiny when first hatched, but grow to about one-half inch in length. They are pinkish-white in color with a reddish head. When the larvae is full grown, it spins a weblike cocoon in which it transforms into a pupa and then emerges as an adult moth. Usually the tobacco moth passes the winter and migrates to cracks and crevices about the building, where they spin loose cocoons of silk in which to hibernate.

If you have not already cleaned the scrap tobacco from your packhouse, it should be removed and burned as soon as possible. Or, if corn or other grain has been stored through the winter in the packhouse, or has been moved from the building this spring, it is time to give the packhouse a thorough cleaning. When cleaning, all slats should be removed from the walls, then the walls brushed down.

As soon as the moths are seen flying in the packhouse one Vapona strip should be used for each 1000 cubic feet of space. For example, if the packhouse ceiling is 10 feet high, the Vapona strips should be hung 10 feet apart. These strips should be replaced every 4 to 6 weeks.

If the stored tobacco is severely infested, the infestation could be reduced by fumigating with methyl bromide. Use 2 pounds of methyl bromide per 1000 cubic feet of tobacco. Fumigate for 24 hours and let the tobacco air out at least 48 hours before handling.

The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 Pass 1 Pass
2 Pass 2 Pass
2 NT Pass ?
What action do you take?
A.—Four spades. Partner has shown a strong hand by his sequence of calls and thus far you have made only noncommittal bids. It is time for you to show signs of distinct strength and even if partner has no more than one or two spades your hand is playable for game in that suit.

Q. 2—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 Pass 2 Pass
2 Pass 3 Pass
4 Pass ?
What action do you take?
A.—Five spades. Partner seems under control, but allowance must be made for the remote possibility that partner has two diamond losers. Four no trump is not available in this case for you may have a slam; the partner is aceless. A singleton diamond in partner's hand will do the trick.

Q. 3—Both vulnerable, as South, with 60 part score, you hold:

The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 Pass 2 Pass
3 Pass ?
What action do you take?
A.—Four diamonds. This hand, opposite a bona fide two demand bid, offers fine prospects for slam and the ace of diamonds should be shown that a game contract has already been indicated.

Q. 4—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 Pass 2 Pass
2 Pass 3 Pass
3 Pass ?
What action do you take?
A.—Three spades. The partner's hand is not suitable for defense against clubs. It may be strong enough to justify a try for game. A single raise, therefore, is indicated.

Q. 5—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠Q864 ♠J743 ♠9 ♠AJ53
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
Pass Pass 1 Pass 1
Pass 2 Double Pass ?
What action do you take?
A.—Three diamonds. This is a bid which is forcing to game and suggests that partner bid any four card major he may hold. In view of your previous passes and partner's persistence, you should be confident that the partnership assets equal at least 26 points.

Q. 6—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠AJ4 ♠8732 ♣K652 ♠74
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 Pass 2 Pass
1 Pass 2 Pass
3 Pass ?
What action do you take?
A.—Four hearts. Your hand is worth nine points in support of hearts. After all, you might have had only seven or eight points. Partner's invitation should, therefore, be accepted.

Q. 7—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠A62 ♠KQ86 ♠3 ♠KJ865
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 Pass 1 Pass
1 Pass 1 Pass
2 Pass ?
What action do you take?
A.—Four hearts. You started out with a near minimum, but now that partner has bid hearts your hand has improved but not sufficiently to warrant a jump. It is worth only 16 points in support of hearts.

Q. 8—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠Q105 ♣AQJ72 ♠97642
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 Heart 1 Double ?
What action do you take?
A.—Pass. Nothing is to be gained by bidding in this situation. Action by you can lead only to complications. The fear that the double will be left in for penalties is fanciful. It doesn't happen often enough to worry about.

Church Members Going On Trial

MONROE, N. C. (AP) — The trial of 17 members of the True Light Church accused of keeping their children out of school is expected to begin in Union County Superior Court this week.

The parents were convicted on the charge in November 1970 in a lower court, and have appealed.

They said they kept children out of school to avoid exposing them to corruption. They are members of a sect of about 500 people who believe the end of the world is near.

Point Of Concern For Planning-Zoning Board

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

Concern over plans for the proposed opening of a pizza establishment at 407 East Fifth Street, the former J.B. James residence and more recently the fraternity house for Pi Kappa Alpha, was expressed at the Wednesday night meeting of the Planning and Zoning Commission.

Discussion on the possibility of a pizza establishment being placed at this locality was the outgrowth of comments made by City Manager Harry Hagerty relative to proposed amendments to Zoning Ordinance Number 322. The City Manager, noting that the entire list of amendments, listed for discussion as an item under new business, could not be presented due to the absence of City Planner Dillon Watson, informed the board that he wanted to present three of the proposed amendments for their thoughts.

These were proposed amendments that would — permit multi-family dwellings in RA-20 zoned areas without public hearings; take restaurants, with the exception of drive-ins out of the permitted use category and place them in special use category in office-institutional and downtown commercial fringe zone areas; and a recommendation that the boundary for the office-institutional zone now at Holly Street be moved westwardly to coincide with the eastern boundary of the Shore Drive Project.

Referring to the third of the above proposals for amendments to the zoning ordinance, Hagerty said "we made a mistake in the zoning map. My impression was that we had followed the eastern boundary of Shore Drive Project in this area, but the boundary actually slides over and gets on Holly Street." "What do you mean by an error being made?" Commissioner Clarence Tugwell asked. "Didn't this matter pass both the Planning and Zoning Board and the City Council?" Hagerty said that it had, but that in all the activity at the time, an error had been made resulting in the small strip being officially mapped as office and institutional instead of residential.

"It was certainly not a matter of intent on the part of anyone to split the area," Hagerty noted. "For example, this boundary now goes through the Episcopal Church property." The city manager referred to St. Paul's Episcopal Church on East Fourth Street.

In asking for the commission's consideration of the proposed amendment changing the category of restaurants in office and occupational zones to special instead of permitted use, the city manager noted it would serve the purposes of a better check against the possibility of error; and that requests for establishing restaurants in O & I zoned areas would have to go before the Board of Adjustments where a public hearing could be called for.

Councilwoman Mrs. Mildred McGrath, present as a spectator, asked permission to make a couple of remarks.

Mentioning that the location of the building at 407 East Fifth Street is directly across Holly Street from the Wesley Foundation (Methodist Center), McGrath said "I believe, despite any error, that the building will not meet the standards for a restaurant. There is no off-street parking, and it is within a short distance of a church facility." The building is also adjacent to Dunn Apartments at 405 E. Fifth Street.

Speaking of public hearings that would ensue if the proposed amendment was eventually adopted that would necessitate hearings for establishment of restaurants in O & I zoned areas, Mayor S. Eugene West commented that "public hearings sometimes present problems. 'It is so simple,' he noted, 'for one or two to object, then bring all their friends from here to Chocowinity to object and to sign petitions.'"

Earlier the mayor had stated that he "absolutely objected to any situation that constituted an abuse of an intended usage," in establishing any type of business anywhere in the city.

A motion was approved for the three recommendations explained by Hagerty and all other proposed amendments for the zoning ordinance be referred to a committee who will make a report to the Planning and Zoning Commission at the May meeting.

Juvenile Correction Centers Condemned In Report

RALEIGH (AP) — A North Carolina Bar Association report released today labels the state's training schools as "dumping grounds" and says that approximately half of the juveniles in these institutions should never have been placed there.

The report of the bar's penal system study committee was presented to Gov. Bob Scott, who said he is "taking steps at once to set in motion the machinery for achieving the goals set forth in the report."

The report said the "most pressing need is to assure that children are not confined to institutions and stigmatized as delinquent because they happen to be unwanted, have unhappy and unstable family relationships, are poorly motivated or have specific learning problems.

It said "The primary emphasis in most of the training schools is custody, not rehabilitation."

"Hence, the second most pressing need is to develop sound rehabilitation programs which will enable the delinquent child to adjust to society and develop into a productive, well-adjusted adult."

The committee said the state needs to change from the large institutions housing 300 or more children to smaller community oriented home type facilities.

The group found children as young as eight in the states training schools and said in the past some as young as six had been committed. It said the "danger of irreparable harm to the extremely young child is obvious" and recommended that no child under 10 be committed to a training school.

"The practice of assigning students to institutions on the basis of race is fairly commonplace despite official policy to the contrary, the report said. This practice should be discontinued."

The report noted that although no evidence was found to support "accusations of administratively sanctioned acts of corporal punishment or brutality," the authorities condone physical mistreatment of the errant student by his fellows."

It said this occurs when an unmanageable student runs away and the other residents of his cottage or dormitory unit lose privileges. "Consequently, they are allowed to pursue the fugitive and when they catch him, to rough him up, and return with a cover story such as, 'Well, he fell into a ditch,' or 'ran into a tree,' or some other such fabrication. This procedure is condoned, if not encouraged, by the officials of some schools."

Scott said he is asking the Governor's Advisory and Review Committee to the Juvenile Detention Study, chaired by Mason Thomas, to follow up with development of appropriate plans and legislation to carry out the recommendations.

Scott said the report makes some "very forward-looking recommendations" for solving problems in the juvenile justice system.

Among the committee's 17 recommendations are:

—Greater utilization of community based facilities and programs to deal with delinquent youth wherever possible in lieu of commitment to training schools.

—Establishment of reception units in the Piedmont and East similar to the reception and diagnostic unit at Swannanoa to aid in appropriate placement of delinquents.

—Replacement of all dormitory type accommodations in all institutions with individual rooms as soon as expedient.

—Improvement of pay schedules in order to attract and retain qualified cottage parents.

—Changes in the Department of Youth Development to relieve the "overly cumbersome" chain of command between it and training school directors.

—Expansion of the Board of Youth Development from nine to 14 members to include members with expertise of psychiatry, psychology, social work and law.

—Designation by chief district judges of one or more judges to specialize in the handling of juvenile cases.

—Special training for local law enforcement officers in dealing with juvenile offenders.

—Development of uniform guidelines for conditional release of students from training schools.

—Development of a unified probation and after-care system.

—Provision for adequate medical care and clinical treatment for juveniles in training schools.

—Minimize the use of segregated cells for punishment.

—Upgrade recreational facilities and make them available to all training school inmates.

—Assignment of students to appropriate rehabilitation programs based upon "mental capacity, behavioral characteristics, the particular offense for which he was committed, family history and past behavior, as well as chronological age and sex."

"The deficiencies of our training school system enumerated in this report should park concern, indignation — even outrage — among the people of North Carolina and a firm resolve to effect improvements the report includes:

"North Carolina must begin to dismantle the present system of juvenile corrections and develop a more effective way of dealing with young people in trouble. This must include the phasing out of the present large institutions which are relics of our past.

HEADQUARTERS OPENED — Mrs. Kelly Bowles, sister-in-law of Hargrove "Skipper" Bowles cut the ribbon formally open here Friday the Bowles for Governor headquarters at the intersection of Fifth and Cotanche Street. Assisting Mrs. Nowles are Mayor Eugene West and Miss Greenville, Pam Kilpatrick. The headquarters will be staffed from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. and will supply campaigning materials and coffee. ## Senate Race Has Become One Of State's Hottest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — As the North Carolina primary campaign enters the homestretch, one of the hottest races is for the Democratic Senate nomination. Both B. Everett Jordan, the incumbent, and challenger Nick Galifianakis, 4th District congressman, are running hard.

Galifianakis' 18-hour campaign days have worn out aides and reporters who don't have the ability to take quick catnaps between stops as he does. The Durham attorney is going to step up the pace this week.

He planned to begin today at 6:30 a.m. by greeting textile mill workers. Then he will board a helicopter for a 12-stop tour of the mountain counties that will end late tonight in Gastonia.

Jordan, who is asserting that, at 76, he still has a lot of stamina has begun to come close to matching the pace of his 44-year-old rival. He drives his own car between campaign stops, and has been putting in 16-hour days in his forays across the state.

Jordan was honored Sunday by nearly all the 2,000 residents of his home town, Saxapahaw, where he owns a textile mill.

With a few exceptions, most of the other candidates plan to work just as hard this week as the primary approaches. But Jesse Helms and Jim Gardner, who say they are supremely confident of victory in their races for the Republican Senate and gubernatorial nominations, will start slowly.

Helms plans to spend the first part of this week working at WRAL in Raleigh, where he is a vice president and editorialist. Gardner has scheduled staff meetings in Raleigh today, and will fly to Burke County for a rally this evening.

Democratic gubernatorial candidate Pat Taylor has revived an old idea for his campaign. Taylor has chartered a train that will take him on a whistle-stop tour of towns between Reidsville and Gastonia Wednesday.

A comparison between Congressman Nick Galifianakis and his principal opponent for the U. S. Senate.

	Nick Galifianakis	B. Everett Jordan
AGE:	43	75
PROFESSIONAL BACKGROUND:	Practicing lawyer, Assistant Professor of Business Law, Duke University; Officer in U.S. Marine Corps.	Owner of textile mill; World War I veteran.
EXPERIENCE IN PUBLIC OFFICE:	12 years	14 years
NORTH CAROLINA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES:	Elected in 1960; reelected in 1962 and 1964.	0
UNITED STATES HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES:	Elected in 1966; reelected in 1968 and 1970.	0
UNITED STATES SENATE:	0	Appointed by Governor in 1958; Elected in 1960 and reelected in 1966.
SENIORITY:	After only four years in the U.S. House of Representatives, was elected to the powerful House Appropriations Committee. Has the respect and potential to achieve meaningful seniority in the years ahead.	Ranks 32nd in seniority among 100 Senators. Has announced he is seeking only one more term, therefore has no possibility of achieving real power in the U.S. Senate.

When you compare Congressman Galifianakis and Senator Jordan, a number of important differences are immediately apparent.

For example, although Congressman Galifianakis is more than 30 years younger, his legislative and congressional experience almost equals that of Senator Jordan.

Another important difference is Congressman Galifianakis' experience in the State Legislature. During six years as a representative from North Carolina's heartland, he gained a thorough knowledge of the needs of our state. It was this experience, gained on the state level, that enabled him to become one of North Carolina's most effective congressmen.

If we're serious about wanting seniority in the U.S. Senate, we must make an investment now in leadership that can solve our problems today and in the years ahead. We must elect Nick Galifianakis to the U.S. Senate. It's our future.

LET'S SEND NICK TO THE SENATE
