Chief Law Officer For 48 Years

J. Edgar Hoover Dies In Night; 'Natural Causes'

WASHINGTON (AP) — J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation since 1924, died Monday night at his home at the age of 77, the Justice Department announced.

Hoover, the nation's chief law officer for 48 years, had become a legend in the United States, shaping the FBI into a massive, powerful federal agency.

Acting Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst issued a one-paragraph statement in which he said Hoover's body was found by his maid at approximately 8:30 a.m. today.

"It is with profound personal grief that I announce that J. Edgar Hoover passed away during the night at his residence," Kleindienst said. "His personal physician informed me that his death was due to natural causes."

The jut-jawed FBI head was permitted by presidential order to continue in his $42,500-a-year government job after reaching the mandatory retirement age of 70.

Hoover, unmarried, dominated the bureau during his lifetime as no man in any other federal agency. Wielding vast power, he was said to lavish on the FBI the pride and possessiveness of a stern and watchful parent.

He joined the bureau as its acting director in 1921 after several years as a $990-a-year Justice Department law clerk, and became director three years later. Born in Washington, D.C., on Jan. 1, 1895, Hoover received his law degree from George Washington University and lived all his life in the District of Columbia. He had a fondness for dogs, for his garden and for horse-racing, confining himself to two-dollar bets. But nothing transcended his devotion for the FBI.

As much as he loved the bureau, Hoover hated communism. He reduced the Communist party in the United States to a shell, ridding the organization with agents so that members never were sure who they were talking to.

The FBI grew from a small government investigative arm—founded in 1908 after demands by President Theodore Roosevelt that something be done about political and business frauds—to a massive organization of some 15,000 employees, including 6,700 special agents. When Hoover took command in 1924, the number of agents totaled less than 500.

And the bureau Hoover joined was badly organized. Politics played an important role in its functioning, and violations over which the bureau had jurisdiction were few.

Within the government, there were growing reports of corruption and scandal among high officials. Even the Bureau of Investigation was said to be touched.

Atty. Gen. Harlan F. Stone picked Hoover to clean house, and Hoover did so—writing his own ticket.

Over the years there have been demands from critics that Hoover step out as FBI chief. Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., in his current campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination, has said he would replace Hoover.

Only this week columnist Jack Anderson told a congressional committee that Hoover prepared dossiers on prominent Americans not accused of crime. Anderson said he had seen copies of FBI reports on sex activities, and said some of these were given to President Lyndon B. Johnson during his term in the White House for bedtime reading.

Hoover groomed no one for his shoes, but he often expressed the wish that the next director come from within the FBI ranks.

During the years of Hoover's reign there never was a known case of scandal inside of the FBI and Hoover's stock remark about his agents was: "They can't be bought."

Hoover's parents, Dickerson Naylor Hoover, a Coast and Geodetic Survey employee, and the former Anna Marie Scheitlin, niece of the first Swiss consul general to the United States, came to Washington in the early part of the 19th century.

Subdivision Standards In County Set

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

An ordinance setting minimum standards for subdivisions in Pitt County was adopted by the Board of County Commissioners yesterday afternoon.

The board's action was taken following a public hearing at which several individuals voiced the opinion that the ordinance was a good, workable plan.

Although surveyors Irving Station of Tarboro and W. B. Duke of Beaufort County—both of whom do work in Pitt—questioned how certain sections of the ordinance would be interpreted, both men praised the set of regulations.

Duke told commissioners, "It is a minimum standard you are setting here," and said such standards are needed.

Willard Dean, head of the Farmers Home Administration in Greenville and Ed Yancey, Agriculture Extension Service chairman also praised the Board's action in establishing regulations for subdivisions.

The subdivision ordinance—recommended by the Pitt County Planning Board—is designed to "guide and regulate the subdivision of land within..." the county "in order to preserve the public health, safety and welfare."

The new law sets standards and regulations for coordinated street systems, dedication of utility easements and rights-of-way, for the planned arrangement of streets, structures and open spaces, "in an effort to avoid congestion and overcrowding."

Minimum area for lots under the new ordinance has been set at 10,000 square feet - with no lot having less than 75 feet frontage (except those fronting on a cul-de-sac) or less than 100 feet in depth. Larger lot sizes (a minimum of 20,000 square feet) will be required in areas not served by public water systems.

Following passage of the subdivision ordinance, Commissioners held a meeting as the Board of Equalization and Review; however no one appeared at the session and the meeting was adjourned until June 5 at 2 p.m.

The board discussed briefly the proposed four-lane of N.C. 11-U.S. 13 North of the Tar River and how the road project would affect the Pitt-Greenville Airport if the widening was carried out on the West side of the present two-lane road.

Highway Commissioner Arthur Tripp met with the board and said Highway Engineers are SAIGON (AP) — Flushed with victory in the far north, North Vietnamese troops launched new attacks today in the populous coastal lowlands and forced South Vietnamese troops from another base in the central highlands to the west.

With all of northernmost Quang Tri Province in enemy hands, the North Vietnamese radio boasted that the new province to the south, Thua Thien, which includes the old imperial capital of Hue, was doomed.

The South Vietnamese were trying to set up a defense line north of Hue and 35 miles south of the demilitarized zone. Hue is 32 miles south of Quang Tri.

Authorities began a drive to weed out suspected Viet Cong agents in Hue, a city of 200,000 now swollen with 150,000 refugees. Officials disclosed 600 suspected Viet Cong agents had been seized in Hue the past two days.

The North Vietnamese conquered Quang Tri Province by using a wide variety of weapons new to the war, tanks, long-range artillery, and sophisticated antiaircraft artillery. To this was added today a heat-seeking missile.

Brig. Gen. Thomas W. Bowen, deputy senior U.S. adviser in the far north, said the missile, fired from a hand-held launcher, was used for the first time in the war and brought down a U.S. helicopter. The four-man crew, a U.S. adviser and two Vietnamese were killed.

With the battlefield situation deteriorating rapidly in parts of South Vietnam, top U.S. and South Vietnamese officials met to review the 34-day-old North Vietnamese offensive and map their next move.

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, conferred with President Nguyen Van Thieu for over an hour in Independence Palace.

The battlefield situation at noon was:

—Communist forces pressed their drive to conquer all of northern Binh Dinh Province along the central coast with new assaults on Landing Zone English, a regimental headquarters that is the last strong point in the region.

—Fire Base Lima, on Highway 14 about six miles north of the provincial capital of Kontum City, was abandoned after heavy attacks. Up to 800 defenders fell back to tighten their defensive ring around Kontum City.

The Saigon command announced that more than 400 shells slammed into Landing Zone English on Monday, inflicting moderate casualties.

The attack was resumed early today. North Vietnamese troops drove to the barbed wire perimeter where they locked in heavy fighting with the government defenders. All U.S. advisers had been evacuated Monday.

Communist forces have extended their control to about 200,000 people along South Vietnam's central coast following the capture of the three northern districts in Binh Dinh Province.

The U.S. 7th Fleet announced that a fifth aircraft carrier, the Midway, had arrived from its base in Alameda, Calif., to join in air operations over North and South Vietnam aimed at slowing the North Vietnamese onslaught. It marked the first time in the war that five carriers, each with 65 to 75 planes, were operating off Indochina at the same time.

U.S. fighter-bombers flew 649 strikes against North Vietnamese positions across South Vietnam, about two-thirds of them along the critical northern front below the DMZ.

U.S. B52 heavy bombers carried out another 75 strikes and moved their attacks closer to Hue. Several raids were 10 to 15 miles west of Hue.

The targets were enemy troop concentrations and staging areas, and the raids were the heaviest in more than four years.

UMW Election Of 1969 Is 'Overturned'

By VERNON A. GUIDRY Jr.
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal district judge has overturned the 1969 election of United Mine Workers President W.A. "Tony" Boyle for "flagrant violation" of the law and ordered a new vote.

The date and the machinery of the new election will be settled later, after all parties submit proposals. Judge William Bryant, who tossed out the election, will fix the details.

Bryant issued a 33-page opinion Monday which held that the activities of Boyle and other incumbents violated the law and may have influenced the election, the test required by federal law before a union election may be set aside.

Boyle had argued that he had done nothing wrong. In order to find in favor of the union incumbents, Bryant wrote, "The court would be forced to swim upstream against the tide of evidence too strong to resist."

John Owens, union secretary-treasurer, and George J. Titler, vice president, the two other international officers of the union, also will face a new election. Boyle's present term was to expire in 1975.

At the end of the bitter 1969 campaign, Boyle emerged winner over an insurgent faction led by presidential candidate Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski.

Yablonski, his wife and daughter were shot to death Dec. 31, three weeks after the election.

The election case began after complaints from Yablonski forces brought an investigation by the Department of Labor. The secretary of Labor then filed the suit, challenging the election on grounds that the incumbents used union facilities and money to win re-election.

A spokesman for the union had no comment on Bryant's decision.

In Beckley, W.Va., James Leeber, President of UMW District 29, said: "I don't think the election should have been thrown out." Leeber also said "there is no question" the Justice Department is harassing Boyle.

Another district president, Leonard J. Pnakovich, head of District 31 in Leonard, W.Va., said there were some irregularities in the election, "but there are irregularities in all elections—state, city, and national."

"This is good news for all rank-and-file miners," proclaimed Yablonski's campaign manager, Mike Trbovich, in a statement. "We, the Miners for Democracy, are planning a steering-committee convention in Charleston, W.Va., within the next two weeks. It is possible we will come out with a slate of candidates for the new election."

USIA Budget Survives Committee's Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Information Agency has survived a Senate committee's effort to cut spending for propaganda films, broadcasting and pamphlets by 25 per cent.

The 57-15 vote Monday to restore the money to the USIA budget ended lengthy debate on the propriety of the agency's propaganda role.

As that fight ended, the stage was set for another long debate on whether Congress should cut off funds for the Indochina war.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., offered an amendment late Monday to kill a provision denying money for U.S. military operations in Indochina after Dec. 31.

By restoring $45 million to the USIA authorization bill, the Senate overturned cuts made by the Foreign Relations Committee and pushed the spending ceiling up to $200 million for the three propaganda activities.

"As our opposition steps up its efforts to influence the world, the need for an effective information program on our part is infinitely greater," said Sen. John Tower, R-Tex.

That was the essence of the speeches of several senators in favor of the amendment offered by Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., to restore the money. Opponents argued that the cut was a test of principle because President Nixon had ordered the USIA, on grounds of executive privilege, to withhold planning documents from the committee.

"The decision to withhold the information lays the groundwork for a dangerous precedent," said Foreign Relations Committee Chairman J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark.

Crumpler Is Elected New Chairman Of City Housing Authority

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer

Marshall W. (Woody) Crumpler Jr. was elected chairman of the Housing Authority Monday night during the commission's annual elections and business session.

M.W. CRUMPLER, Jr.

Crumpler succeeds Dr. John L. Wooten, Greenville physician who has completed two five-year terms on the board and nearly a year as chairman. Dr. Wooten will continue to serve as a commissioner until a successor is appointed by the mayor.

Commissioners elected Dr. Charles Price, a professor in the History Department at East Carolina University, to the vice chairman post formerly held by Crumpler.

The new chairman, a district engineer with Carolina Telephone, has been with the company 17 years. He joined the firm in his hometown of Fayetteville and held posts in Whiteville and Williamston before moving to Greenville in October of 1966.

Crumpler is appointed to the board in August of 1970 to fill the seat vacated by Charles Howard. He is married to the former Chloe Peters of Marion and they have two children, Marshall III, 11, and David Pridgen, six.

The authority's executive director, Col. A. E. Dubber, who has tendered his resignation effective June 1, attended his last regular Housing Authority meeting last night. His successor, Joe M. Laney Jr., was introduced to the board.

Dubber, who had served as executive director of both the Housing Authority and Redevelopment Commission since 1962, attended 108 regular commission meetings during his ten-year tenure and ten annual sessions.

Dr. Wooten said that Dubber had been "faithful, diligent and progressive" as director and had pushed the authority through "some difficult times."

In business during the regular session, commission attorney Kenneth Hite reported that he is closing out the last three parcels in Newtown and should be ready to take a deed in the area in a few weeks. He noted that there are still several streets that have to be closed there but that matter will come before the City Council.

Dubber said that he had been notified by the Department of Housing and Urban Development that plans for the 78 units in Newtown have been mailed back to the authority. He added that the commission should be able to advertise the units for bids by the first of June.

Mrs. Saffye C. Streeter, director of tenant affairs, reported that all 65 units in N.C. 22-1 (Meadowbrook) were occupied.

ECU To Open Nationwide Training Plan

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

Details of a comprehensive nationwide training program to combat alcoholism in industry were announced yesterday by Congressman Walter B. Jones and East Carolina University president Dr. Leo W. Jenkins.

The $295,000 program, sponsored by the National Institute of Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism (NIAAA) could make East Carolina University a national center for the training of occupational alcoholic consultants, Dr. Jenkins said. It is the first project of its type to be dunded under legislation designed to combat the growing U.S. alcohol problem, Congressman Jones said.

East Carolina University will have full responsibility for overall administration and coordination of the training program. The training institute will be known as the National Occupational Alcoholism Training Institute.

Four key men are on the East Carolina University staff. William Byrd, director of continuing education for the School of Allied Health and Social Professions, will be program director. The day-to-day functioning of the program will be the responsibility of Brayom Anderson.

The chief program consultant will be Jerry F. Lotterhos, director of the Alcohol Training Program for North Carolina. Overall development and design of curriculum will be done by Harry Campbell, director of the Mental Health Training Institute of the University.

Program director Byrd pointed out that this program is expected to result in the establishment of programs and policies which will enable employers to identify alcohol problems early in the work force. Early identification and referral will put the employee in contact with community counseling services at a time when he still is able to hold a job and can be motivated to accept help.

The employer becomes an active ally of the helping agencies in the process and allows the employee to continue on the job while receiving medical and counseling assistance, he said.

A 19-day training conference will begin June 11 at a North Carolina site yet to be announced. Two participants from each state in the United States will attend. They will be full-time employees in their respective states, one working with business and industry and one with state and local government employment systems.

Illustrating the scope of the problem, Dr. Jenkins said that the recent HEW report on "Alcohol and Health" reported that alcoholism is costing industry between $8 and $10 billion a year, not considering the human suffering involved. "This pioneering effort must reduce this tragic toll," he said.

Stasavich To Head Pitt Mental Health Month

Clarence Stasavich, director of athletics at East Carolina University, has been named head of Mental Health Month by Pitt County Mental Health Association, according to David E. Reid, Jr., president.

The annual observance in May is part of National Mental Health Month being conducted throughout the nation by mental health associations.

Stasavich came to Greenville in 1962 from Lenoir Rhyne College as the Pirates' head football coach. A year later he assumed the dual role of director of athletics and football coach. In December of 1970 he relinquished his football duties to devote full time to directing an athletic program.

Stasavich was honored in 1959 and 1964 as National Coach of the Year and was named District Coach of the Year five times. He is a member of the Helms Hall of Fame, and was inducted into North Carolina Sports Hall of Fame in December, 1970.

A native of Georgetown, Ill., he is married to the former Helen Warlick of Hickory and they have three grown children, Rebecca Ann, Mary Helen and Walter Lewis.

In accepting the appointment Stasavich said: "I am happy to serve in this capacity for I consider mental health the most

Hearing Is Set In Winterville

WINTERVILLE — The Winterville Town Board Monday night set May 15 as the date for a public hearing to discuss rezoning of the Ed Fleming property from residential to general business.

The property, located on the northeastern corner of the N.C. 11 and Boyd Street intersection, is listed in the tax books as lots 11 through 17 on tax map 208.

The rezoning, recommended by the Winterville Planning and Zoning Board, will be done so that a radio and electronics shop can be established on the property.

The hearing will be held at 8 p.m. in the municipal building. The tax lien sale for 1971 delinquent taxes will be held June 12 at 12 noon in front of the municipal building.

The property will be advertised for sale in the local newspapers on May 15, 22, and June 5.

J. P. Corey and Cecil Worthington, representing the safety council of the Winterville Chamber of Commerce, petitioned the town board about establishing crosswalks for pedestrians in the town. They also asked that additional parking spaces be added in certain areas of the town.

The matter was taken under advisement by the board.

The town board went on record as favoring the clean water bond. The town has two projects under consideration which would be helped by the passing of the bond issue.

It was reported that water, sewer and electric lines have been installed in Robinson Heights No. 2. To date, 10 building permits have been issued for that subdivision. Electric lines have been installed at Shamrock Terrace.

Mayor Walter Dail was authorized to contact Rivers and Associates, Inc., to obtain the cost of a pre-treatment plant at the Winterville Machine Works.

The board accepted the town election returns from Rommie Mallison, registrar.

Pitt Student Is Elected To Post

ELIZABETH CITY — Ruby Jean Murchison, a junior at Elizabeth City State University, was elected treasurer of the Student Government Association at the school last week.

Miss Murchison is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Redmond of Rt. 5, Greenville. She is a graduate of Stokes-Pactolus High School.

Miss Murchison is currently serving as treasurer of Delta Sigma Theta and treasurer of Thaila Sororitis, honorary fraternities.

She was named to the dean's list for this marking period at the university.

critical aspect of total health today. Society has become more complex, making communication very vital to 'getting along'. In recent years it has been learned an individual can be mentally ill, just as illness effects other functions of the human body. It behooves each of us to give this problem our attention by attacking it in a positive way. We need to support our Mental Health Association in Pitt County, continuing to keep it one of the best chapters in the State."

Stasavich said he encourages the public to give thought to the 20 million victims of mental illness in the United States when they view the scenes in local store windows painted by a client from Cherry Hospital, the "briefs" to be carried by television station WNCT during May, and the movie "Only Human" which will be telecast over Channel 9, WNCT, at 12 noon on May 21.

Dawkins Speaks At Durham Meet

DURHAM—Howard G. Dawkins, director of the Eastern Carolina Sheltered Workshop and Rehabilitation Center, Greenville, is participating in the community programs for the mentally retarded, being held here this week.

Sponsored by the Mentally Retarded Training Institute of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, the workshop is being held for persons involved in mentally retarded programs in the southeastern United States.

Speaking before the group this afternoon, Dawkins explained the operation of Eastern Carolina Workshop.

"The purpose of this workshop is to provide personnel services and facilities for evaluation and training of the mentally retarded and physically handicapped persons to enable them to perform useful and remunerative work which shall include, but not be limited to the establishment, maintenance and operations of a facility for the mentally retarded," Dawkins said.

A major purpose of the workshop, according to Dawkins, is to facilitate the economic and social adjustment of the mentally and physically handicapped individuals 16 years of age or older whose needs are not being met by existing facilities.

Dawkins discussed the procedures of the evaluation program and the acceptance of new clients.

The curriculum at the workshop includes: furniture refinishing, chair caning, picture framing, sub contract and assembly; social adjustment; academics; carpentry; commercial housekeeping; welding; home nursing; work activity; and brick masonry.

"The capacity of our facility is 125. We have 68 clients at the present time," Dawkins said. "The clients we train are the mentally retarded, cerebral palsy, deaf, physical and emotionally handicapped."

"It is felt that we are developing one of the best evaluation programs in our area," Dawkins added.

The program will end Friday with an evaluation of the training institute.

Candidate At Pink Hill

Mack Howard, Republican First District Congressional candidate, was guest speaker at the annual Loyalty Day ceremonies sponsored by Pink Hill Veterans of Foreign War Post Number 9514 on Sunday.

Howard, a veteran of Viet Nam and a member of the Greenville VFW Post, stated "I think it is fitting that this Loyalty Day is sponsored by such a tremendous organization as the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Perhaps more than any other organization in our society today, the members of the VFW can stand tall and say 'God Bless America' because they are the men who have put their lives on the line for her."

The Republican candidate, who resigned from the Army in January to run for Congress, said of the VFW members "they are the men who went to the trenches in 1919 the men who crushed the Nazis and the

Vote Censure Of 4 Officers

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (AP) — The Student Congress of Whitman College voted Monday to censure four student body officers who last week demanded that President Nixon return a football jersey presented to him by the school's football team last September.

The censure motion, which cited the officers for "gross misrepresentation of the student body in a knowing and secretive manner," was approved in a 16-5 vote.

The congress rejected a motion to censure the football team for giving the President its jersey No. 1 when he stopped in Walla Walla on route to a meeting with Japan's Emperor Hirohito in Alaska.

The student body officers said last week they wanted the jersey back to protest the President's "recent expansion of the war in Vietnam."

BikeBeatCar In Rush-Hour Race

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A ten-speed bicycle whipped a 1959 model car Monday in a 4½-mile race at rush hour Monday to publicize Bikeology Week.

Les Gesell, a graduate student in physics at the University of Cincinnati, finished two minutes ahead of Jerry Bonecutter, an industrial supervisor.

Gesell said he won the trek from the university to the Northside area because he was able to move through stalled traffic and made all the green lights.

Initial service of a proposed Christian Coffee House ministry in Greenville was launched Saturday night, with Ricky Mill, district supervisor of Campus Crusade for Christ, as guest speaker.

The Music Factory, on East 14th Street, was site of the rally, with music, testimonies, and Christian witness supplementing the principal message of Ricky Mill.

Among the active participants on the inter-faith program at the first rally were a group from the Black Jack Free Will Baptist Church, Wayne and Ruth West and a group from Plymouth, and Barney Cline of Winston-Salem.

Other groups will be included in succeeding programs.

Main emphasis of the messages was the motivation that Jesus Christ has given to persons whose lives have been changed by the Christian commitment.

Participants in the Christian Youth rally noted the relaxed, informal, and happy atmosphere in the meeting. Light refreshments were served during the evening.

The event was sponsored by Christian student groups from East Carolina University, augmented by concerned laymen and ministers of the Greenville area.

Serve Up An Election Year Stew With Democratic Caucus Cookbook

By RICH OPPEL
Associated Press Writer
TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Want to serve a good "political stew?" It'll be easy, with Myrna Shevin's new "Democratic Caucus Cookbook," which has recipes from political personalities such as Sens. Allen J. Ellender and Stuart Symington and others from wives of political figures such as Muriel Humphrey and Cornelia Wallace.

Mrs. Shevin, an opera singer, mother of three and the wife of Florida Atty. Gen. Robert Shevin, said she hatched the cookbook idea last summer, and got the cooperation of the Democratic Womens' Clubs of Florida.

"I sent out requests to about 700 persons—governors, senators, congressmen, mayors, state officials and party officials," she said. "We got about 200 recipes back."

The book goes to the printers in June, and Mrs. Shevin hopes to begin sales at the Democratic National Convention. About 250 pages long, it will sell for $5.50. It is illustrated with ink sketches of scenes from the Florida presidential primary by Fred Alhert.

POLITICAL SOUFFLE — Mrs. Robert Shevin, wife of Florida's attorney general at left spoons up a little cheese soufflé for Florida's first lady, Mrs. Donna Lou Askew, in a recipe check for a cookbook Mrs. Shevin is compiling for the Democratic National Convention.

Mrs. Shevin said proceeds would be distributed among the Democratic women's organizations in Florida, with some going to the national committee.

Here are a few recipes from the same kitchens that serve George Wallace, Mayor John Lindsay and Sen. Edmund Muskie:

Conductor Reacted To Child's Behavior

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Recently, during a symphony concert there was a child in the audience who laughed, spoke loudly and behaved boisterously not once, but several times during the performance.

The parents did not have the sense, or consideration for others, to lead the child from the auditorium after the first offense, tho many in the audience were visibly irritated.

Finally, the conductor himself turned on the podium and looked into the audience with disbelief!

I have had the same experience during church sermons with crying babies, despite the fact that the church provides nursery facilities.

Conductors, ministers, and speakers spend hours in preparation, and such interruptions spoil the mood of the audiences completely.

When will selfish parents realize that they should not bring children to affairs of a serious nature until they are old enough to be an acceptable part of the audience?

IRRITATED IN CAMP HILL, PA.

DEAR IRRITATED: Never, unfortunately.

DEAR ABBY: I have this terrible complex about being small bosomed. Where did I get this complex in the first place? From my husband, that's where.

He's all the time looking at the pictures of those big bosomy girls in the magazines. And whenever a stacked girl walks by, he practically twists his neck off looking. I feel like crawling into a hole somewhere, or hitting him for making me feel so inferior.

Would a small girl like me feel better if she had her bosoms surgically enlarged? It's crossed my mind a few times. How long would it take? I might want to surprise my husband.

CHEATED

DEAR CHEATED: I don't recommend "surprising" your husband. If you're considering that type of surgery, talk it over with him first. Some men like to look, but they prefer their wives as Nature made 'em.

DEAR ABBY: Someone asked why so many people walk into a restaurant and sit at a table with dirty dishes when clean tables are available. You suggested that it might be the coziness of clutter.

You were too polite, Abby. You could have said because they feel more at home in messy surroundings. Or perhaps, they hope to snatch a tip left for the waitress by the previous diner.

By so doing, you possibly would have shamed a few people out of their habit.

"JUST SUGGESTING" IN SAN DIEGO

DEAR JUST: You could be right. It never occurred to me. And I'm sure it has never occurred to others who would never consider doing such a lowdown thing. But I'll bet after this hits print, a lot of Abby readers will never again sit at a messy table in a restaurant.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L. A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Family Collects Frogs Of All Shapes, Sizes

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — If the fairy tale of the princess and the frog were true, the princess could wear out her mouth trying to turn Mable Winters' frogs into princes. Mrs. Winters has 3,124 of them.

"We're just a frog-buying family," she said. "I've been married for nearly 46 years to a wonderful, frog-buying husband."

Her husband, Quinn, isn't the only frog-buyer in the Winters clan. Their son, Leroy, also often purchases additions to the family collections.

The frogs come in all sizes and shapes. One weighs 70 pounds; one is only a dot.

They are made from agate, turquoise, jade, onyx, opal, obsidian, ivory, candy, tallow, straw, silver, bronze, gold, pewter, brass, wood, shell, iron, glass, rubber, china, mother of pearl, even volcano ash.

"I also collect any pictures, books, jokes, postcards and greeting cards that are about frogs," said Mrs. Winters.

The collection includes frogs emblazoned on beach towels, beach bags, other towels, shopping bags and aprons.

Mrs. Winters, 64, said the collecting of frogs began in 1936 when she and her daughter, Louise, then four years old, were in Mexico.

"She put a coin in a gum machine and got a plastic frog as a prize," Mrs. Winters said. "She gave it to me."

More than 600 of the frogs in her collection come from Mexico, and 96 are stuffed-type frogs.

Friends in six countries have sent frogs to her, Mrs. Winters said.

The collection occupies a dozen show cases and three rooms of the Winters house. There are 84 frog-shaped banks, 72 frog-shaped salt and pepper shakers, a frog-shaped straw end table, frog-shaped egg-holders, jewelry, you name it.

There's even a nine-piece froggy orchestra depicted playing "Bullfrog Blues."

Mrs. Winters' knowledge of frogs does not end with the stuffed or manufactured variety. There are, she said, 250 species of real frogs ranging in size from less than an inch to about one-yard.

Primary System's Value Tested

It is no joy to kick a man when he is down, but the withdrawal of Sen. Edmund Muskie from the presidential primaries may again prove the need for the gruelling presidential primary system. The senator was his own worst enemy as he proceeded through the various state primaries. He said and did things which lost him support.

Mixed Bag In Congress Race

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALIEGH — This is the year of the second chance, newcomers and coalition politics on the Congressional trail. It also has the earmarks of a time when incumbents will fare comfortably in the elections to select North Carolina's 11-member delegation. The one exception in the May 6 primary is in the Second District. There Rep. L. H. Fountain of Tarboro is in a race with Mayor Howard Lee of Chapel Hill for the Democratic nomination. Lee, the state's only black candidate for Congress, has waged a vigorous campaign aimed to draw together intellectuals, blacks, and working people of both races.

Even so, it would have to be classed a major upset if he should knock off Fountain, the 20-year incumbent. Only one other present Congressman, Rep. David Henderson in the Third District, is involved in a primary. Joseph Edwards of Mount Olive, a first-time runner, is on the ballot with Henderson for the Democratic nomination. Henderson is regarded an easy winner.

Action In Open District
Three districts left open are where the action is on May 6 — the Fourth, where Rep. Nick Galifianakis chose to run for the U.S. Senate; the Seventh, where Rep. Alton A. Lennon, a Democrat, is retiring; and the Ninth, where Rep. Charles R. Jonas is stepping out after 20 years as a Republican Congressman.

Democratic races in both the fourth and Seventh districts are close, and run-offs may be necessary to decide the winner.

Six candidates are in the Fourth District scramble, and none has gained a clear edge. A second primary seems certain, but who will be in it remains impossible to tell.

Wake County, with the population advantage, has four in the running. They are: Charles Bullock, a business and political newcomer; William Creech, a lawyer who tried unsuccessfully for Congress six years ago; Jyles Coggins, a builder and State Senator; and Archie McMillan, attorney and former legislator.

The field is rounded out by Wense Grabarek, former Durham mayor, and Ike Andrews of Siler City, House majority leader in the '71 legislature.

With the big Wake vote split, Andrews or Grabarek may have a chance to get in a run-off.

Rose Tries Again
Charles Rose of Fayetteville is taking a second shot at the Seventh District seat. He challenged Lennon two years ago, but lost. Organization from his first try may give an advantage to Rose. His two opponents are Doran Berry, former Superior Court solicitor, and Hector McGeachy, a state senator who opted for the Congressional race after considering running for lieutenant governor and attorney general.

While Rose appears the leader, either Berry or McGeachy could force the race to a second round.

Jim Beatty of Charlotte, a state legislator and one-time star athlete, is favored in the Democratic primary in the Ninth District. He is opposed by Jack H. Firpo, a Charlotte businessman.

Republicans have primaries in the First, Seventh and Ninth districts.

Three GOP Primaries
In the First, Mack Howard of Greenville and J. Jordan Bonner of Hertford are matched for the nomination to oppose Rep. Walter B. Jones in the general election. Contenders in the Seventh are Jerry Scott of Whiteville and William M. Nixon of Barnesville. In the Ninth, James Martin of Davidson and Graem Yates of Charlotte are the contestants.

Those districts where all is quiet for the primary will see two-party action in the fall.

Eric P. Little of Wilson will run for the first time as GOP nominee in the Second District. Jack Hawke of Raleigh, defeated in a close race in 1970, will run again as the Republican candidate in the Fourth.

Other races shaping up include the Fifth, where Rep. Wilmer Mizell, the Republican incumbent, will face Brooks Hayes of Winston-Salem, former Arkansas Congressman; the Eighth, where Rep. Earl Ruth, Republican, will be challenged by Richard Clark of Monroe, state legislator; the Tenth, where Rep. James T. Broyhill Republican, will run against Paul L. Beck of Lenoir; and the Eleventh, where Rep. Roy Taylor, Democrat, will be opposed by James Ledbetter of Asheville.

"At the same time that we have a new training program for welfare recipients — to teach them a trade, the federal government comes out with the announcement that the minimum wage will soon be raised to $2. Imagine paying a minimum of $2 per hour to get your lawn cut." — Adams (N.Y.) Jefferson County Journal.

This is not to say that Sen. Muskie is not an able man. However the presidency is the most demanding position on earth. The man who holds it must be hard as flint, and the primary system helps steel him for what is ahead; either that or it eliminates him along the way.

Sen. Muskie made a blunder in Manchester, New Hampshire and perhaps again in attacking Wallace voters following the Florida primary. This helped erode his huge base of support.

Astronaut Splashdown Now Calmly Accepted

There was hardly a quiver of concern for the Apollo 16 astronauts last week as they returned through the atmosphere to splash down in the Pacific.

The maneuver has been done so well so many times that we have come to accept it as routine.

There is still nothing routine about a moon flight, however, and the Apollo 16 crew has brought back a cargo of priceless geological specimens which should give us further answers to our origins.

The crew and their associates can take satisfaction in a job well done.

Foreign Policy Tensions High

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — Sensitivities to ever-increasing ridicule of the once-powerful State Department and its boss, Secretary of State William P. Rogers, have now risen to a danger point so alarming to foreign embassies that Rogers and the all-powerful Henry Kissinger seldom are invited together to social or diplomatic functions.

A case in point were the two separate dinner parties that the Canadian embassy wisely gave in preparation for President Nixon's state visit to Ottawa on April 13.

The first, on March 10, was for Rogers. Kissinger was the guest of honor at a similar dinner just before both men accompanied Mr. Nixon to Canada.

The understandable reason: Rogers, denied the traditional role of the President's pre-eminent foreign policy adviser, has been so overshadowed by the glittering Kissinger for so long that he now instinctively avoids all but official encounters. Most of these are either over the telephone or in the White House.

Likewise, Rogers, a cool, dispassionate gentleman on the outside with iron self-control, has conspicuously boycotted traditional Washington forums such as the annual dinners given by the Gridiron Club and the radio and television correspondents where the press roasts Washington's high and mighty.

Again, the understandable reason: Rogers has been so shellshocked by invidious Rogers-Kissinger comparisons that he will go to almost any lengths to avoid them. In the words of sympathetic, long-time Rogers friend: "Bill takes the pain with grace and forbearance on the surface, but it ties his stomach in a knot."

If this tension were limited to Rogers himself, who long ago decided that loyalty to President Nixon transcended all else, the heightened sensitivities in Foggy Bottom would be little more than a footnote in history. In fact, however, the issue is far larger than Rogers.

Thus, Rogers' own inner resentment of the public dominance of Kissinger is only a pale reflection of the resentment throughout the higher ranks of the State Department bureaucracy. One target of this passion is Kissinger — not so much Kissinger the man but Kissinger the chosen instrument to plot and carry out Mr. Nixon's ambitious foreign policies. The other target is Rogers himself, fairly or not regarded as a passive Nixon agent in the State Department who out of loyalty, refuses to battle for his own constituency.

A prime example is the bitter struggle now going on between the State and Treasury Departments for control of U.S. economic policy abroad. Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally, a skilled and ruthless fighter, is seen by high-ranking State Department officers as filling a policy vacuum created by Rogers' reluctance to start a fight that would embarrass Mr. Nixon.

One result of this is the prediction now being privately voiced that State Department operatives themselves will soon take on the fight to preserve State's traditional influence over foreign policy.

"The idea that State is a supine bunch of cookie-pushers is inaccurate," in the words of one high official. "When the worm turns, it will turn with a vengeance."

The White House seems to be aware that resentments are rising at State and that Rogers' own dilemma is acutely embarrassing. Following Mr. Nixon's trip to China, when Rogers was left out of the single meeting with Mao Tse-tung, Mr. Nixon dispatched him to Capitol Hill to brief Congress on the Peking summit.

Likewise, Rogers was the

McGovern Defense Plan

Several months ago, not long before the primary in New Hampshire, Senator George McGovern called a press conference to release a 56-page statement of his views on national defense. Few persons were taking McGovern seriously then. The statement got a fair play in the press; it drew some editorial comment, pro and con; it faded from the news a few days hence.

McGovern went on to startle the experts in New Hampshire; he broke even in Florida; he swept to a solid victory in Wisconsin; and last week in Massachusetts he raced home with 52 percent of the vote. At this writing, he leads the field in terms of committed delegates. A great many persons are taking him seriously now.

The Senator's carefully detailed statement on "an alternative national defense posture" thus invites our reexamination. It represents the candidate's considered thinking on an issue of great national importance. This is what McGovern would recommend if he were elected President of the United States.

The Marine Corps now numbers roughly 207,000 men. McGovern would cut its strength to 140,000 by 1975, by reducing its three combat divisions to two.

He would recommend that the Air Force be cut from 753,000 to 476,000. He would reduce the number of interceptors "by slightly more than half." For the time being, he would preserve the Minuteman missile system, but "plans to upgrade Minuteman should be discontinued." Deployment of the Safeguard system

Other Editors Say Bond Issues, Too

(Goldsboro News-Argus)

Overshadowed by interest in major state and local races, two important issues also will be on the ballot on primary day.

North Carolinians are being asked to decide the future of proposed bond issues for a state zoological park and for assisting local communities in financing new and improved water and sewer facilities.

We regard both issues as important ones and deserving public support.

There was some dissatisfaction over location of the state zoological park at Purgatory, near Asheboro.

As one legislator to the News-Argus, "There isn't much enthusiasm for it east of Highway 301.

Of course there could be only one zoo and it couldn't be located in everyone's backyard.

But the zoological park at Purgatory is withing driving distance of most of the people of North Carolina.

At the zoo every effort will be made to create as closely as possible a habitat similar to the natural environment of each animal.

This is to assure happiness for the animals as well as pleasure for the visitors.

A $2 million bond issue is proposed for the zoo.

The other bond issue is for $150 million.

It will enable the state to share in the cost of local water and sewer projects.

But it goes far beyond that. If the state provides 25 per cent of the cost of such projects, the availability of federal assistance funds increases from 33 per cent to 55 per cent of total costs.

This means local governments have to put up only 20 per cent of the cost of such projects.

Both issues deserve favorable consideration.

A Poll For All Seasons

By F. RICHARD CICCONE
Associated Press Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — Another polltaker rang the doorknob again last weekend.

Some people are on the lists for photographic mail or invitations to all-expense-paid trips to Mexico to look at parking lots. I get all the polltakers. "Hi, are you watching television?"

"Yeah."

"Who are you watching?"

"Kareem Abdul Jabbar."

"What primaries is he entered in?"

"He's not in a primary. He plays professional basketball for the Milwaukee Bucks."

"I see. Well, I'm conducting a private poll on the presidential candidates and the primaries."

"But the Illinois primary was over a month ago."

"Yes, I know. But our client is very interested in learning who you would have voted for if you hadn't voted for the man you did vote for."

"Why?"

"Well, sir, you see since there are so many clients, excuse me, so many candidates, and so many primaries, it's very likely that some candidates will drop out of the race and that would strengthen our client's position, especially if he could secretly reveal the results of a private poll showing that he would have won various primaries that he lost."

"Oh."

"So, would you mind telling me who you would have voted for if you didn't vote for the man you voted for?"

"Don't you want to know who I voted for?"

"It's immaterial. It only matters who your second choice would be. Sometimes it's better to lose in New England, the South, the Midwest and the Far West as long as you can say you were the next choice. That shows broad appeal."

"What's the difference why you lost so long as you lost?"

"I think it's like sports. It's nice for managers and coaches to say they lost because of the layoff or because of the tight

A run-off election to settle the aldermanic race in the Third Ward was in prospect here today following the battle of ballots at the court house yesterday when voters were given a chance to select five members to the Board of Aldermen from a wide field of candidates. The election was conducted in a quiet orderly manner and nearly five hundred persons voted during the morning hours in spite of the overcast skies threatening rain at any moment. Voting picked up sharply during the afternoon when candidates launched their last roundup of supporters in all parts of the city.

The principal speaker at the meeting of the Rotary Club last night was J. J. White. Mr. White told of plans now underway for bringing a barrel manufacturing plant to the city and urged support of the club to make this possible.

Strength For Today

LIFE OF THE SPIRIT
The promise of Christian faith is not just improved life but new life. The Biblical declaration of that truth is "if any man be in Christ he is a new creature (or creation)." (II Corinthians 5:17). The Apostle Paul, who wrote these words, had experienced a transformation of life in almost a split second. He was the Great Persecutor one day and the next day he was starting out on a career that would cause him to stand out among the great personages of history. To the very end of his life, the Apostle Paul appeared to have troubles galore. Tradition has it that he died a martyr.

Augustine of Hippo had an instantaneous conversion. Dwight L. Moody, the great Evangelist, had a similar experience. For most people, however, spiritual growth is gradual. A good home, godly parents, decent friends, wise teachers—these give us the setting in which the spiritual life grows and achieves.

There were evangelists in the early Christian Church, and there are evangelists in the modern Christian Church. Most of these evangelists whom we either encounter or read about in newspaper or magazine appear to be sincere, honest and effective persons. Once in a while there is a drop-out. And what a cry goes up about such a drop-out. The word "hypocrite" is on hundreds, and perhaps thousands, of tongues. Some complain that they lost their Christian faith because of a hypocrite with whom they came in contact.

It cannot be denied that we live in an imperfect world and that we keep wondering why the world didn't go to pieces centuries ago. But Cheer up. There are a lot of bad people in the world but they are an insignificant minority compared with the good, honest, straight-forward men and women we encounter daily.

Paperwork Costs A Big Bundle

By ELMER ROESSNER
Paperwork is one of business' largest overheads and may also be one of the activities most mismanaged by management. That is the gist of a recent seminar sponsored by Oxford Pendaflex Corporation and Administrative Management magazine.

Business forms apparently are among the leading villains because of inefficient design. Almost two-thirds of the average company's business forms could be improved and the number reduced by about one-third. This, in turn, would lower their cost by as much as 25 to 40 per cent.

Because forms make up 75 to 90 per cent of a company's records, revising them would result in substantial savings.

One of the seminar panelists, Gloria Wilkes, vice president of Paperwork

Systems, ticked off a number of figures indicating how poorly paperwork is often handled:

- + A single misfile can cost the average company $68.
- + More than one-third of most companies' in-file reports are obsolete, duplicates or unnecessary.
- + Some 85 per cent of the average business office's records today will never be referred to again.
- + The run-of-the-mill company generates from one and one-half to two cubic feet of records per employee per year and there are about 3,000 documents in a cubic foot.
- + It costs four cents to file a document and one file drawer takes up to 4,500 documents — $180 a drawer or $900 per five-drawer cabinet.

- + A filing cabinet that takes six square feet of floor space costs another $48 in rent a year.
- + Only one-twentieth of the average office's records will ever be referred to again after three years and most could be destroyed after six years.

Roughly speaking, one third of the records in offices today could be thrown out today and another one-third put in dead storage outside of the office. This would leave one-third on hand that might be needed in operations sometime.

If this is the paperwork situation in business, imagine what it must be like in government where everything is done in triplicate, at the least, and

Angry Complaints Are Sounded In Housing Hearing

By G. C. THELEN Jr.
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — They came by the busful, these angry homeowners from the nation's major inner cities. Their complaint was about the Federal Housing Administration and the decrepit, FHA-certified and insured houses sold through the government's scandal-ridden inner-city home ownership program. Their official voice was the National People's Caucus, an infant amalgam of 368 grass-roots organizations representing white ethnics, blacks and Spanish-speaking Americans. The whites' concern was the blockbusting, deterioration and abandonment that struck their neighborhoods because of the home ownership programs. The minorities were angry about the shoddy housing foisted on them.

house she bought from a real-estate agent: "He took my husband to see the house on one occasion. There were people living in it at the time. Since the furniture was in place and carpeting on the floor, we did not notice any defects "The only thing we noticed was we had sand walls and a dirt floor in the basement. The real-estate agent told us not to worry because the owners would be made to make repairs in the basement in order to receive FHA approval. "I believed him. He called us up and told us the basement had been taken care of and that certifications had been issued on the plumbing, roofing, electricity and woodwork. "We made settlement and came directly to the house The basement had not been cemented and plastered. The real-estate man was notified, but he said there was nothing he could do. "I approached FHA and the mortgage company. Each said it was now my responsibility, even though FHA had 'approved' the house. No sooner had we moved in than the department of licenses and inspections came to our house and listed the existing building-code violations. "To comply with the building code, to date I have paid $1,000 for a basement floor and $270 for electrical work. I still have a $1,500 plumbing job yet to be done."

Gale Cincotta talked about a housing conspiracy she said is destroying her neighborhood on Chicago's West Side. "The first stage could be called the 'red-lining' process," said Mrs. Cincotta. "For some reason banks and savings-and-loan associations refused to give mortgages or even home-improvement loans to homeowners in our neighborhoods. They say the risk is too high. "What that 'red-line' is really saying is 'sell, move out; your neighborhood is going down the drain; blacks and Latinos are moving in and its going to cost you more to stay.' "So the people began to move. And the neighborhood real-estate agents left with them, leaving their once-prosperous neighborhood to the blockbuster and panic-peddler who delight in raping communities for a fast buck and who ply the streets of the ghetto, recruiting blacks and browns for the new slum-fated area. "Although FHA opened up the market for low-money-down government-backed loans, it also opened up the market for the wheeler-dealer, fast-buck artists using FHA as its tool of trade," Mrs. Cincotta said. "The end result is that the buyers are left with a federally insured home containing thousands of dollars in needed repairs with which they are unable to contend. The home becomes abandoned, the mortgage is bought up by the mort-

Crosby's Oscar Has Returned

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — The search for the Bing Crosby Oscar stolen from Gonzaga University a week ago has ended with the return of the golden statue.

Gonzaga officials said the Oscar, stolen from the school's library and replaced by a three-inch statue of Mickey Mouse, was found in the University Chapel by a priest Monday.

On Friday, the university's newspaper, the Gonzaga Bulletin, ran an interview with an anonymous person who said he had masterminded and carried out the theft because "I wanted to make people laugh."

Crosby, who won the award for his performance in the 1944 film "Going My Way," donated the Oscar, his gold phonograph records and other memorabilia to the Roman Catholic university here that he once attended.

Shot In Leg By Guerrillas

BELFAST (AP) — A man was shot in the legs during the night apparently as punishment for violating Irish Republic Army guerrilla codes, British army headquarters reported today. No details were available.

The incident at the town of Newry, on the border between Northern Ireland and the Irish Republic, followed a series of explosions Monday that killed one man, injured 15 others and caused $36.4 million damage to a Belfast textile factory.

The raid was blamed on the IRA. Mrs. Ann Dickson, former member of Parliament for the area, said she believed the plant was picked out because it had brought "so much peace and happiness to the town."

"This tragedy," she said, "especially if it results in layoffs, will bring the whole community down again." Some 200 of the 1,200 jobs the plant provided were expected to be lost because of the damage.

Stanford Bars Shockley Course

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Dr. William Shockley has been refused authority to teach a course at Stanford University on research methods involved in his theory that blacks are less intelligent than whites.

A special faculty committee had recommended 3 to 2 that Shockley be allowed to teach a graduate course in the subject for one quarter without credit.

Lincoln E. Moses, dean of graduate studies, said Monday he vetoed the course because of doubts about Shockley's objectivity and expertise in genetics. Shockley shared the 1956 Nobel Prize in physics as a coinventor of the transistor.

Yet many experienced observers—men who could not possibly be ridiculed as Colonel Blimps or as victims of paranoia—disagree strongly with the basic assumptions that underlie the McGovern recommendations. They see potential danger to the national security that McGovern does not see. They are concerned, in ways that McGovern is not concerned, at the Soviet Union's relentless gains in first-strike nuclear capability.

Is McGovern an extremist as to national defense? In my view, yes. And voters may discover, as the campaign rolls along, that in such other fields as welfare reform, the gentleman from South Dakota is farther out yet.

principal Nixon spokesman to Congress after the Easter weekend Communist invasion of South Vietnam. Following his testimony on April 17 to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, President Nixon, Kissinger, and White House aides Charles E. Colson and Clark Mac Gregor all made a point of telephoning him congratulations for a masterful performance.

If that failed to make the point that the White House loves Bill Rogers, Mr. Nixon is now sending him on a tour of European capitals starting May 2, to end at the summit meeting in Moscow on May 22.

But in the rising sensitivities at the State Department, such flattery simply underlines the public humiliations of the past three years.

Indeed, as long as Kissinger remains Mr. Nixon's foreign policy alter ego, the only salvation for State is to have Kissinger take Rogers' job—a solution that both hard-headed realists in the State Department and some highly-placed Administration officials elsewhere now believe is a long-shot possibility in a second Nixon administration.

North Carolina can't afford an investment in the past.

Let's send Nick to the Senate. It's our future.

When Congressman Nick Galifianakis announced his intention to run for the United States Senate, he offered a profound reason why we should elect him to this important position.

"The fundamental issue in the 1972 election," he said, "is which among us is better equipped to move forward with our people during these rapidly changing times, for twentieth century problems must be met with twentieth century solutions."

Nick Galifianakis is a young man seasoned by 12 years of experience in Congress and the State Legislature. His leadership looks to the future, not the past.

His 75-year old opponent has asked for "just one more term" because of his seniority. But North Carolina can't afford an investment in the past.

If we're serious about wanting seniority in the U.S. Senate, we must make an investment now in leadership that can solve our problems today and in the years ahead.

We must elect Nick Galifianakis to the U.S. Senate.

LET'S SEND NICK TO THE SENATE

Judge Bars Reallocating SCS Funds

FAYETTEVILLE — U.S. Eastern District Court Judge John Larkins yesterday ordered funds earmarked by the U.S. Soil Conservation Service for the Chicod Creek watershed project in Pitt and Beaufort Counties be held for the project until a suit now before the federal court is settled.

Judge Larkins week before last issued a temporary restraining order holding the finds until yesterday's hearing after it was thought the SCS would reallocate the $500,000 set aside for the channelization project to fund similar projects in other parts of the country.

The project was halted in March when Judge Larkins — siding with the several environmental groups seeking to stop work on the project — said an environmental impact statement should be filed outlining the project's effects on the ecology of the area.

The statement has since been filed with the President's Council on Environmental Quality and Judge Larkins said he would rule on the issues involved "in the near future."

Larkins indicated he soon issued a ruling on a motion made April 26 by the U.S. Attorney's Office that the environmental groups not be allowed to bring suit in the case because they are not directly injured by the project.

Mourns Friend

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, in a personal and emotional tribute, today mourned the death of "one of his closest friends and advisers," FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover and ordered flags at all public buildings and installations lowered to half staff.

Within minutes after Hoover's death was announced publicly the President appeared before reporters at the White House to speak of his "profound sense of personal loss" at the death of Hoover. Nixon described him as a "truly remarkable man who served the country for 48 years under eight presidents with unparalleled devotion to duty and dedication."

Because of his indomitable courage against sometimes "vicious attacks, he made certain that the flag of the FBI will always fly high," Nixon said of Hoover whom he said had been his friend for 25 years since he came to Congress as a freshman legislator.

The White House also distributed a formal statement by the President in which Nixon said that Hoover could truly be called "a legend in his own lifetime."

School Budget Delivered Today

Dr. Cleet C. Cleetwood, Superintendent of the Greenville City Schools, today reported that the city's school budget, reported in a story in this paper on Monday to have been delivered to County Manager Reginald Gray on Friday, was not actually delivered until today.

The superintendent explained that on Friday he took the budget to Gray to place in his hands. Dr. Cleetwood noted that Gray indicated the agenda for the County Commissioners meeting on Monday was too crowded to permit consideration of the budget.

As a result, the school budget and the separate request for consideration relative to the site of the proposed new middle junior high school was delivered to the county manager today for future consideration by the County Commissioners.

One vacancy in the 188-unit N.C. 22-3 section of Moyewood existed in April, Mrs. Streeter said last night, and rent there averaged $29.02. All 40 units were rented in N.C. 22-4 (Moyewood) and rent averaged $35.71 for the month.

She said that her staff spent the month verifying and completing information on residents who are affected by the Brooke Amendment. The revisions on rent charges under the amendment has resulted in some decreases in monthly rents in the four housing areas, she noted.

Commissioners authorized the attendance of three persons at the SERC-NAHRO annual conference scheduled for June 11-14 in New Orleans. Normally, two staff members and one commissioner are authorized to attend the housing conferences.

Commissioners agreed to have representatives meet with representatives of the City of Greenville, the Airport Authority and Highway Commission officials in an attempt to work out a solution to the problem.

The Airport Authority has voiced objections to the construction of two additional lanes to the West of the present road. They said such a move will affect the required glide path to the airport's main runway as established by the Federal Aviation Authority.

In other action yesterday Commissioners set the week of May 7-13 at Volunteer Firemen's Week; proclaimed Senior Citizens Week in Pitt in honor of the 5,236 residents of the county who are 65 years old or older; and designated the month of May as Clean Sweep Month — encouraging all civic minded individuals and groups to join in projects and activities that will make the county a cleaner, more enjoyable place to live.

Commissioners last month passed a resolution encouraging voters in Pitt to cast ballots for the proposed $150 million state bond issue.

The money will be used to aid municipal governments in the state construct sewage collection and treatment facilities and build water supply systems.

Three More Are Charged

Three more persons have been arrested in connection with the April 15 breaking-entering and larceny of the W.I. Jackson service station and grocery on Rt. 1, Grifton.

Pitt County Sheriff Ralph Tyson said that deputies arrested Olander Garrett, 42, of Rt. 1, Grifton and Doretha Farrell, 46, Rt. 2, Grifton, on charges of receiving stolen property.

He said that Paul Bright, 36 of Rt. 1, Ayden, was charged with breaking-entering and larceny following his arrest Monday. Bond for Garrett and Bright was set at $3,000 each, the sheriff said, and at $1,000 for Doretha Farrell.

Sheriff Tyson said that a hearing has been scheduled for May 10 in District Court here. The three arrests brought the total to six arrested during the investigation of the break-in.

Deputies recovered a cash register that was stolen from the business and other merchandise, the sheriff noted.

WHITEHURST FOR JUDGE

Again, I would like to take this opportunity to let you the people of Pitt, Carteret, Craven, and Pamlico counties know that having been in law enforcement for 10 years as a member of The N. C. Highway Patrol gives me what I feel is an inside look from the stand point of the problems an officer has in enforcing the laws of our country. They are doing a good job in enforcing the law and bringing those accused of law violations to court. It then becomes the duty of the District Court Judge, after hearing the evidence presented, to determine the persons' guilt or innocence and to render judgment accordingly. This is where I feel, that having been a Justice of the Peace for 4 years, and having tried many cases; both civil and criminal during that period, all of which are now tried by a District Court Judge add to my qualifications to hold this position.

I feel that the 10 years I served on the Highway Patrol and the 4 years I was elected Justice of The Peace for Pitt County qualifies me more so than the year and a half I served as magistrate; since under the new court system the duties of a magistrate are limited only to writing warrants, setting bonds, accepting pleas of guilty to minor violations, and hearing minor civil actions, etc.

It will be impossible for me to contact each of you individually and ask for your vote, as this district covers a large area.

I have not at any time asked for contributions in my campaign as I feel your vote in helping me to become one of your next District Court Judges is more important than money, so I am asking you now, vote experience and vote W. E. Whitehurst for District Court Judge, subject to the May 6 Democratic Primary.

Your Vote & Support Will Be Deeply Appreciated.

Bucs Split With W&M; Watch Spiders

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. — East Carolina University's Pirates must wait and watch now, and then maybe pull out a victory of their own before the week is up.

The Southern Conference title is on the line. It boils down to East Carolina and Richmond, with William and Mary and Furman having outside chances.

Yesterday, the Pirates split a doubleheader with the Indians, bowing in the first game, 6-3, then winning the second, 5-3. The split boosted the Pirate record to 10-5 for the season. They have one game left, a road trip to Davidson on Saturday.

Richmond, now 7-3, plays a doubleheader today at VMI, then hosts William and Mary on Thursday in a doubleheader. They close on Friday with another pair at Williamsburg. Should the Spiders lose two of those games, they would be tied with the Bucs.

Furman more or less let itself out of the race with a 3-2 loss to The Citadel last night. The Paladins won the other half of the doubleheader, 3-2 also. They are now 9-5, and have a doubleheader with Davidson to make up, but have set no date for it. All games are to be played by Saturday according to league rules.

William and Mary's chances hinge on their taking all four games from Richmond.

By Friday night, the results will be known except for the Pirates' single game Saturday with Davidson. But the Bucs will know then whether they have a shot at the title or not.

The Bucs lost out on a good scoring opportunity right at the start of the game. Mike Bradshaw opened things up with a triple, but when the Bucs tried the squeeze, it failed and Bradshaw was cut down.

William and Mary then came up with three runs in the bottom of the first to take the lead. Mike Gratton led off with a single to right, and Hunter Robinson got a hit to center. Jeff Steckroth followed with a basehit, scoring Gratton for the first Indian run. Greg Bosiack singled to score Robinson, and Steckroth came over on a sacrifice fly by Corky Bishop, making it 3-0.

The Bucs lost a chance in the second on a double play, and the Indians got a threat on a two-base error, but neither paid off.

In the third, however, the Pirates scored three to tie it up. Don Oxidene singled and with one down, Jimmy Paige got a hit. Ralph Lamm singled in Oxidene, and a triple by Ron Staggs brought in Paige and Lamm, tying it up, 3-3.

The Indians threatened again in the fourth with a single and a sacrifice, but didn't get anything. They did in the sixth, however, pushing over three more to gain the 6-3 lead that won it.

Bosiack singled and Bishop reached on a bunt single. Charles Bish doubled, scoring Bosiack and Bishop, and he moved to third on an error on the play. Ferris Allen then singled to score Bish with the sixth Indian run.

The Bucs got off threats in the fifth when Lamm doubled and in the sixth, when Staggs singled and moved up on a sacrifice, but neither paid off for them.

Then, in the fourth, they moved into the lead with a run. Bishop singled to left and came around when Allen got a double. Then, in the fifth, the Indians came up with two more. Gratton and Robinson both singled and a hit by Steckroth brought in Gratton. Bosiack followed with another hit, scoring Robinson for a 3-0 lead.

East Carolina had a chance to score in the second erased by a double play. Larry Walters had singled, moved up on an error and gained third on a wild pitch. But he was cut down in the twin killing erasing the threat.

In the third, Bradshaw doubled, but died at second, and in the fourth, Staggs reached on an error and moved up on a passed ball, but got no further.

The fifth saw one more chance go by the boards. Bradshaw singled, Paige got a hit and Lamm walked to load the bases with two away, but again William and Mary got out without damage.

Finally, in the sixth, the Pirates could be contained no longer, exploding for all five of their runs. Staggs led off with a singled and Matt Walker got a hit. Both came around to score when Greg Fulghum doubled. Leggett singled, and a sacrifice fly by Lin Spears brought in Fulghum, tying it up.

Bradshaw, who had already singled, doubled and tripled during the afternoon, capped off his day with a two-run homer. His second in the past three days, and that was all the Bucs needed for the 5-3 win.

But now, all eyes focus on Richmond. The outcome of their next six games determine East Carolina's final chance on Saturday.

City League Opens Season

Greenville's new City Softball League opened play last night, with Parker's Barbecue, Four Seasons, Greenville Utilities, Fieldcrest Mills and Huey's Restaurant claiming first victories.

Four Seasons' best Shirley's Barbershop, 8-6; Parker's downed Hardee's 6-0; Huey's beat Harbin's, 10-1; GUCo beat Jaycees, 9-3; and Fieldcrest took Burger King, 5-1.

Fieldcrest grabbed the lead in its game in the second inning, getting all it needed. Junior Whitehurst singled and Larry Greene reached on a fielder's choice. Willard Jackson singled and James Ross got a hit. Graham House reached on a fielder's choice and Mike Strother on an error to account for the three runs. They added two more in the seventh on a homer by Ray Parnell.

The lone Burger King run came in the fifth inning. In the other game at Guy Smith, GUCo fell behind in the first as the Jaycees scored a run, but two runs in the third put them ahead. The Jaycees regained it with two in the top of the fourth, on a homer by Ratcliff, but GUCo came up with three in the bottom of the inning to take the lead for good.

In that game, Bynum and Harris both singled and J. Suggs hit a three run homer for a 5-3 lead. GUCo added four more in the sixth for the final total of nine runs.

Huey's got all they needed in the first inning scoring four runs. Woodard reached on an error and Draffin doubled him in. He scored on Rhodes sacrifice, and Saylor's reached on an error. Hicks singled and Helms got a hit, scoring Saylor's. Hungard singled to score Hicks for a 4-0 lead. Huey's then added two in the third, two in the fourth and two in the seventh on a homer by Helms.

The lone Harbin's run came in the third.

Parker's needed only one run, and it got that in the first inning. William Nichols reached on a fielder's choice and scored on John Caraway's double. Parker's went on to picked up three in the third with Wayne Avery homering. They added two more in the fourth.

Shirley's gained the lead in its game with Four Seasons in the second scoring five times. Four Seasons then came up with four in the third to tie it as Charles Vincent homered. They got what proved to be the winning run in the fourth.

That frame saw two come in. Ray Carawan singled and scored on Ron Vincent's double. Vincent came around on an error on the play to make it 7-5. Four Seasons added another in the fifth, while Shirley's got one more in the sixth.

Ali Fails To Knock Out Chuvalo But Wins

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — After battling Muhammad Ali the full distance for the second time, Canadian George Chuvalo predicted heavyweight king Joe Frazier will beat the ex-champion again.

The speedy Ali punched out a unanimous decision victory Monday night at the Pacific Coliseum over the 12-round route but couldn't achieve his goal of putting the tough Toronto fighter down.

Following the bout, somewhat similar to their meeting in 1966 when Ali won in 15, he was asked when he'd fight Frazier.

"I don't think he is quite ready for a rematch," Ali answered. "I'm going to be in even better shape when I fight Frazier than I was for Chuvalo. "And if I had been in this good shape for Frazier the first time, I would have laid him out."

Joe won the title fight, March 8, 1971, by decision.

Against Chuvalo, Ali danced and jabbed and put over some solid hooks and right hand shots.

Still, the 34-year-old Canadian declared, "I never was wobbly."

Ali, now from Cherry Hill, N.J., weighed 217½ while Chuvalo came in at 221. For Ali, the weight showed the result of hard training since his April 1 bout when he weighed 226 lb.

Immanuel Is Winner

Immanuel Baptist opened the 1972 Church Softball League season last night with a 19-9 victory over Maranatha.

The victory gave Immanuel early possession of first place in the league. The rest of the National League teams, along with the American league, open later this week.

Maranatha scored once in the first, but Immanuel came back with two in their half of the frame. Maranatha tied it up with a run in the second, then scored five in the third for a 7-2 lead.

Immanuel came back with three runs in their half of the third, including homers by Willard Dean and Charlie Camp. Maranatha then added two more in the fourth to lead 9-5.

Immanuel came up with eight runs in the fourth, however, moving into a 13-9 lead, and they never lost it. Phil Joyner singled and Dean tripled. Dick Evans doubled and Sid Carraway reached on an error. Camp doubled and Jim Harris got a hit. L. G. Cattin singled and Jimmy Mullin singled. Jim Smith singled to bring in the final run.

Immanuel then added two in the fifth and four in the sixth to wrap it up.

fore beating Mac Foster in Tokyo.

"A lot of people say that Chuvalo is washed up, but that's a lie," Ali declared in the post fight interview. "Anyone who can take my best shots is going to be around for a long, long time."

Chuvalo's best rounds were the fifth and ninth. In the sixth, when Ali came out fast, the Canadian suffered a one-inch gash on his forehead just over the right eye. The cut bled much of the rest of the fight but didn't appear to bother George.

A crowd estimated at 8,800 watched in person with closed circuit television and some home television beamed internationally. The gate was expected to approach $200,000, the amount guaranteed Ali. Chuvalo gets $65,000.

After this rematch, George declared, "Ali was in better shape than I thought he would be in, better shape than in our last fight."

Pressed for his choice between Ali and Frazier, he replied, "I've got to go with Joe."

Frazier stopped Chuvalo on facial injuries in the fourth round when they met, but George never has been knocked down in a career dating to 1956.

Under the 5-point-must system, referee Dave Brown scored the bout 59-51. Judge Tom Keys saw it 58-51 and judge Tommy Paenessa, 60-46. The Associated Press had 58-52 for Ali.

Rodriguez Is Playoff Winner

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
DALLAS (AP) — Chi Chi Rodriguez had a dream and, corny as it may seem, captured a sudden-death playoff from Billy Casper and lived happily ever after.

A story a fiction writer wouldn't touch turned into real life drama Monday as the drowsy Rodriguez, who hadn't won a tournament in four years, dreamed he would beat Casper in a sudden-death playoff for the $25,000 first prize in the Byron Nelson Golf classic and did it.

"I can't believe I dreamed the whole thing," said Rodriguez, the former clown prince of the PGA tour, who has turned serious so he can concentrate.

The 36-year-old Rodriguez rammed home a five-foot putt on the 15th hole for a birdie to beat Casper, who has been in a slump for a year but showed signs of being the portly par-buster of old. Both finished with seven-under-par 273 over the long Preston Trail Golf Club course.

devotion to mate tonight. Take health treatments.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Try and persuade associates to approve a fine plan you have. Taking unnecessary risks can put you in a bad situation, so doublecheck before taking action. Relax at home tonight.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Provided you exercise care in motion of all kinds, you can get much accomplished today and tonight. A health treatment may be expensive but well worth it and will bring out the real you.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You can engage in amusement you enjoy provided you are not extravagant. You have been in a rut for so long you need a change right now. Use utmost care in travel in the evening.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have fine talents you can commercialize on, but be tactful in dealing with others. Listen with care to what higher-ups have to say. Await a better time before making any changes.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) A good day to prove to associates that you want to continue the relationships far into the future. Forget worrying about the motives of others. Carry through with your own.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Convince your associates that you want to continue the relationships far into the future. Don't take any risks and avoid trouble. Follow the advice of business experts.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Follow your own intuition before you go to a bigwig for a favor you have in mind. Your judgment is good now so follow it. Make sure you behave in an orthodox fashion.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You need to be better prepared before you engage in a new activity that appeals to you. Study all available data. You have fine new ideas, but first get the advice of a specialist.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Rather than fuss and fume over some responsibility, go out and visit with a good friend or an older person of wisdom. You can gain personal aims earlier than you had thought possible.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those wise persons who understands the importance of using accepted procedures but will from time to time go off on a tangent. This can be avoided by more strict application, listening to the words of higher-ups and following their guidance. Ethics and religion should be taught early in life. Sports should not be too strenuous, since your progeny is somewhat delicate. Music and art are fine here.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Tickets are $2.00 for the general public, with a special price of $1.00 per person in groups of 20 or more. Curtain time for evening performances is 8:15 p.m. and for the Thursday matinee, 2:15 p.m.

Don Brady, recently elected president of the Greenville Jaycees, has been appointed Pitt County precinct chairman for Hargrove "Skipper" Bowles, Democratic candidate for governor.

According to Mac MacKenzie, Pitt campaign chairman, Brady will supervise over 50 volunteer precinct workers in the county on May 6.

Brady served as Jaycee state vice president during 1971-72 and has been recognized in the top ten Jaycees on a state level for Spark Plug competition during each of the past three years.

A 1966 graduate of N.C. State University with a B.S. degree in engineering, the precinct chairman is an independent building contractor in Greenville. He is a member of Oakmont Baptist Church.

Bowles Director For Farmville

FARMVILLE — Marvin Speight Jr. has been named director of the Bowles for Governor campaign in the Farmville community.

Bowles announced Speight's appointment to the post last week.

Speight is chairman of the Pitt County Planning Board and serves on the Farmville planning board and the Mid-East Economic Development Commission.

The Farmville businessman — an oil dealer and owner of an automobile parts store — has extensive interests in the Emerald Isle area and has served several terms on the Emerald Isle town board and is currently mayor pro tem of that coastal community.

Many Traffic Deaths

HAIFA, Israel (UPI) — The top cause of violent deaths among Israelis in the past five years, a period including the 1967 Middle East War, has not been Egyptian gun shellfire or Arab guerrilla attacks. Officials statistics show that while 1,391 died in combat or were killed by enemy fire in the half decade ended Jan. 1, almost twice as many — 2,419 — were killed on the highways, half of them pedestrians.

AERIAL PHOTOGRAPH . . . This photograph shows how the Soil Conservation Service now develops plans for water management systems. Aerial photographs save both time and money. (SCS Photo)

Soil Conservation Service Uses Aerial Mapping In Field Surveys

A new method of plotting field survey information is now being used by the Soil Conservation Service.

According to George R. Murrell, civil engineer with the SCS, the method saves the SCS time and the taxpayer money.

"Under Public Law 566, the SCS is authorized to furnish legal local organizations technical assistance in preparing total conservation and development plans for watersheds," Murrell explained. "As a part of this assistance the SCS helps develop construction plans, for water management systems including channel improvement."

Channel improvement usually consists of enlarging or cleaning out channels for drainage and flood prevention.

"In the past, the method of running field surveys required a considerable amount of time," Murrell said. "A survey crew followed along a stream's entire length using a transit and tape. The transit was used to indicate the magnetic bearing of the channel."

"The tape was used to measure the distances between each change in direction of the channel," he added.

The SCS is now using a method which virtually eliminates most of the transit and tape surveys. Using the new method, the location of the channels are being show on aerial photographs.

"Although the new method is saving time, the old transit method must still be used when the streams aren't clearly visible on the aerial photographs," Murrell said.

Savings Bond Sales Noted

Sales of U.S. Series E and H Savings Bonds in Pitt County for March totaled some $42,737, according to R. W. Howard, Pitt Volunteer chairman.

Howard reported that January through March sales amounted to $144,828, or some 50.1 per cent of the county's sales goal of $288,951.

March sales in North Carolina were over $7 million for the third consecutive month, it was reported. March figures were the highest monthly sales totals since January of 1947.

Sales of Series E and H bonds for the first quarter were $22,088,650 in the state, an increase of 18.6 per cent over sales for the same period last year. The sales represented another 27-year record.

Howard said that nationally, total March sales were over one-half billion dollars, a 13.3 per cent increase over 1971 sales. Total cash sales of E and H bonds for the first quarter of 1972 amounted to $1,640 million, some 19.3 per cent above a year earlier.

Damage Suit

RALEIGH (AP) — Barroughs Wellcome Co., an international pharmaceutical firm, is seeking $1.5 million damages for what it contends is "faulty and defective" construction work in its Research Triangle Park building.

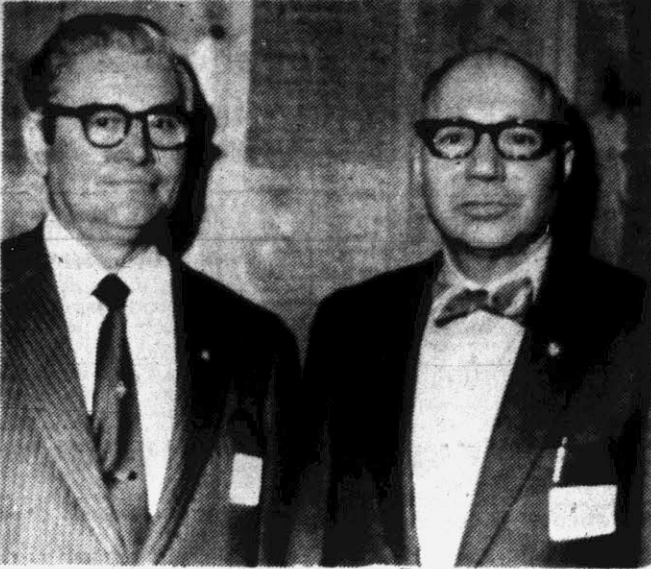

The suit was filed in U.S. Eastern District Court against two construction companies, a building materials firm and New York architect Paul Rudolph, who designed the building.

The company contends that a finish used on the outside of the $10 million structure is damaging the exterior.

Others named in the suit were Daniel Construction Co. Inc. of Greenville, S.C., the general contractor; William A. Duiguid Co. of Arlington Heights, Ill., subcontractor for the exterior walls, and M. and O Enterprises Inc. of Springfield, Mo., which supplied the exterior finish.

It would take about 200 years to produce a pound of Californium-252, an isotope of a rare man-made element heavier than plutonium.

Carpet Stains Can Be Erased

NEW YORK (UPI)—Paint, heavy oil and even heavy grease stains that often show up on indoor-outdoor carpeting as a result of spring house cleaning needn't be a cause for despair, says one carpet manufacturer.

These seemingly difficult stains can usually be cleaned away in minutes by acting fast and following simple procedures outlined by General Felt Industries, Inc. First, scrape up the excess. Then apply a household solvent sparingly and blot up, using an absorbent cotton cloth or towel. Follow with a detergent and water solution, if necessary. The same procedure can be used to remove chewing gum, shoe polish and asphalt from indoor-outdoor needlepunch.

The five-hour workshop conducted here by Deputy Supreme Secretary Bill Stanley and N.C. Director Nandor Kozma was one of 40 such programs conducted across the nation this year.

Greenville lodge Governor James Harris reports 72 were in attendance, with four coming from Rock Hill, S.C.

The course familiarizes newly-elected officers with the how-to, the whys and why-nots of lodge administration.

no holds bra-ed SYDNEY, Australia (UPI)— Sir Leslie Heron, Chief Justice of New South Wales, addressing the Rotary Club, said if he has his way with women's liberation leader Germaine Greer and her followers, he'd "put them all behind bars."
