ARVN And Reds Fight For Control Of Highway Link

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Heavy fighting erupted today for control of vital Highway 14 in the central highlands.

Spokemen said 75 North Vietnamese and one South Vietnamese were killed in the fighting.

By dusk, field reports said the fighting had tapered off to only light contact. Thousands of refugees who tried to leave Kontum were turned back because of the fighting.

The fighting at the Chu Pao mountain, which dominates Highway 14 seven miles south of Kontum, broke out less than 24 hours after spokesmen said the roadway had been cleared and one convoy had moved through from Pleiku.

South Vietnamese paratroopers swept down the highway Thursday from Kontum behind an armada of U.S. bombers using top secret weapons to root North Vietnamese troops from caves in the mountains overlooking the pass. South Vietnamese infantry reinforcements seized the high ground, with no resistance, but were attacked by North Vietnamese forces this afternoon.

The highway is the only overland supply route to Kontum, which is threatened by two North Vietnamese divisions. Should the highway remain cut and the North Vietnamese ring Kontum with antiaircraft guns, it would be difficult to supply the defenders of the city. The provincial capital of Quang Tri on the northern front fell last Monday after it was cut off from both overland and air supply.

Scores To Choose From

Voters Face A Long List

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

Pitt County voters — especially registered Democrats — will face a long list of political hopefuls when they go to the polls to vote in tomorrow's primary election.

Sixty-three candidates will be listed on seven ballots available at the 26 county polling places as voters select nominees for various national, state and district offices.

In addition, voters, on two other ballots, will select four members of the Pitt Couty Board of Education and have an opportunity to vote for or against two state-wide bond issues — one a $150 million Clean Water bond proposal and the other a $2 million issue to finance a state zoo.

The four Board of Education members will be elected from a slate of eight candidates — two from each of four areas including the Bethel-Belvoir, the Greenville, the Grimesland-Chicod-Swift Creek, and Winterville districts. Although the candidates will represent the areas in which they live, the four board members will be voted on county-wide and voters should vote for one person from each of the areas.

Employment Virtually Unchanged

Drop In Wholesale Food Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government reported today the biggest drop in wholesale food prices in eight months for April, due largely to a sharp decline in meat prices.

In another report, the Labor Department said the nation's total employment and unemployment remained virtually unchanged last month, with the jobless rate holding steady at 5.9 per cent of the work force.

The report on wholesale prices said the average cost of meats, poultry and fish declined 2.9 per cent in April. This was the major factor in an over-all decline of seven-tenths of one per cent for all farm products and processed foods.

Wholesale food prices are generally reflected fairly soon at the supermarket.

The report said a broad range of prices of wholesale raw materials and manufactured products rose three-tenths of one per cent.

All wholesale prices of food and industrial commodities average out to a rise of one-tenth of one per cent, boosting the Wholesale Price Index to 117.5 of its 1967 base of 100. This meant it cost $117.50 on the average for wholesale goods worth $100 five years ago. The latest index was 3.7 per cent above a year ago.

The report on jobs said the total number of employed Americans actually rose some 400,000 to 80.6 million and unemployment dropped more than half a million to 4.7 million. But these developments are expected for April and the Bureau of Labor Statistics figured no change in both employment and unemployment on a seasonally adjusted basis.

The report also said average earnings of nearly 50 million rank-and-file workers—more than half the nation's work force—rose two cents per hour to $3.59 and increased $1.10 per week to $132.83.

The average weekly paycheck was $8.78 or 7.1 per cent above a year ago. After deduction for the 3.5 per cent rise in living costs over the same period the gain in purchasing power was a little over $4 per week.

Mobile Home Problem Dominates City Council Meet Thursday Night

To apply a paraphrase of a line from Edna St. Vincent Millay to the Greenville City Council, "all they could see from where they stood was mobile homes and more mobile homes."

At the council meeting Thursday night, council members were faced with nine separate requests for mobile home permits, some renewal requests, others initial requests.

The renewal request by the Pitt County Board of Commissioners for the mobile home used as a Magistrates Office on the Buck Lot adjacent to the County Courthouse became a focal point of mobile home discussions.

City Manager Harry Hagerty, explaining the renewal request, said "the county's plans are so far behind. They have a need for the magistrates office handy to the jail."

A E Dubber, Executive Director of the Greenville Redevelopment Commission, called attention of council members that a trailer at "that site is not in conformance with redevelopment plans." Dubber added that in building and parking lot plans for the area, "the county is in default."

Further discussion also revealed that the original one year permit for the county to have a trailer at that point expired on April 7, and the county had failed to notify the Redevelopment Commission of its intent to apply for a renewal. "We were assured by the County Commissioners at the time of the original request that the trailer would be needed for one year at most," Dubber said.

Dubber also touched on the county's failure to pave the parking lot adjacent to the Courthouse where buildings have been torn down. "I don't want to be vindictive," he said, "but for over a year we've had an eyesore in the middle of where we plan to spend eight to ten million to improve downtown Greenville."

Mayor S. Eugene West noted the county is committed to the Redevelopment Commission to

Tabulating Votes

The Daily Reflector will tabulate returns from the primary election tomorrow night.

Polls will close at 7:30 and returns will be posted as rapidly as they come in.

The election board will be mounted facing the south parking lot at The Daily Reflector building, and the public is invited to be on hand during the evening. Major races will be posted on the board during the night.

Poll holders are asked to call 752-6166 periodically during the night to keep the figures as current as possible. The poll holders are particularly urged to call prior to 12:30 a.m. with results available until that time, so that stories being prepared for the Sunday edition can be current.

Due to the large number of figures to be tabulated, callers other than poll holders are urged to limit their calls so that telephone lines can be kept available fore receiving returns.

Rep. Chisholm Denies Vote For Her Is Vote For George Wallace

"A vote for Shirley Chisholm is not a vote for George Wallace as the rumors have been put out in sheer desperation," Mrs. Shirley Chisholm, Democratic candidate for President told listeners at East Carolina University last night.

The New York Congresswoman who is running against former North Carolina Governor Terry Sanford and Alabama Governor George Wallace said her several days of campaigning in this state have been fruitful and that hers is a race against Terry Sanford, since George Wallace has his own following.

Mrs. Chisholm says she stands on her record as a Congresswoman and as one who

Galifianakis Calls For Action On Peace Talks

NICK'S VISIT...U.S. Senate hopeful Nick Galifianakis, Congressman from the Fourth District, talks with a student during his campaign visit to Greenville and the East Carolina University campus Thursday afternoon. (Reflector Photo by Tom Baines)

U.S. senatorial candidate Nick Galifianakis says that he has made a recommendation to the White House "to get the Paris peace talks moving" through discussions involving a mutual exchange of prisoners of war in Vietnam.

Addressing students during a campaign stop at East Carolina University Thursday, the congressman said that we have to "place a certain type of pressure on the communists that we have never placed before. And that is, if they would surrender our prisoners of war then we would be in a position to follow our Vietnam policy."

Asked by newsmen at the airport on his arrival here to comment on speculation about possible escalation of the war in Indo-China, he said that the administration is at a junction now in trying to determine what U.S. policy has been.

He said that he feels our "avowed policy is one of withdrawal and certainly protection of American troops. The bombing, up to this point, hasn't proven very effective and I certainly do not favor escalating the war by increasing the number of troops there..."

Galifianakis said that we need to concentrate on the diplomatic aspects of the war now since it is a "two pronged proposition." He said that a return of our prisoners would help end our involvement in Southeast Asia, and let us proceed with our withdrawal policies.

The congressman, who is opposing incumbent Sen. B. Everett Jordan, in the Body Of Bear Grass Man Found Floating In River Yesterday

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

The body of a 24-year-old Bear Grass man was found floating in the Tar River about a quarter-mile South of Warren Street here between 6 and 7 o'clock last night.

He was identified by Pitt County Coroner and Medical Examiner E. W. Harvey as Bradley Martin Vaughan, employed as an electrician with Weyerhauser Co. in Plymouth.

Harvey, who emphasized that investigation of the death is continuing, said the body has been sent to Chapel Hill for an autopsy in an effort to determine the cause of death.

Pitt County Sheriff Ralph Tyson said Bradley was last seen April 27 at his home by a neighbor.

Investigators said he was driving a white-over-blue 1969 model pickup truck owned by Brenda Hoffman of Williamston, an employee of the Town and Country Restaurant in Williamston and the Beaufort County Department of Social Services in Washington.

The vehicle, bearing license number 3099-TE, had not been located late this morning.

Vaughan's wallet, containing a $20 bill, drivers license and other papers was found on the body. Sheriff Tyson said Vaughan allegedly made a bank deposit on April 27.

His body was found between 6 p.m. and 7 p.m. by two fishermen — John McDaniels and Billy Askey — as they were returning up-river from a fishing trip.

Vaughan was not married, according to Coronor Harvey. His parents live on Route 2, Washington.

'Anti-War' Rally Staged By Young Protest Group

N.C. Distinguished Service Award For Local Man

HIGHEST HONOR . . . 1st.Sgt. Mayo Allen of the 514 MP Company here receives the North Carolina Distnguished Service Award, the National Guard's highest honor, from Maj.Gen. Ferd Davis, the Adjutant General of North Carolina.

By direction of Gov. Robert Scott, the North Carolina Distinguished Service Award has been presented 1st. Sgt. Mayo E. Allen of the 514 Military Police Company of Greenville.

Maj. Gen. Ferd L. Davis, the Adjutant General of North Carolina, made the presentation of the National Guard's highest honor during an inspection of the 167 MP Battalion's annual two week training session.

Allen was cited for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of service to the National Guard from June 1, 1950 until the present date.

Davis remarked that, "His (Allen's) patience and cooperative spirit gained the respect and admiration of superiors and subordinates alike. Sgt. Allen's notable achievements are in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and reflect distinct credit upon himself, the North Carolina National Guard, and the State of North Carolina.

Allen's military background includes 22 years of service with 13 of those as a full time technician with the Guard. His unit won the coveted Eisenhower Trophy for outstanding service.

He has attended 13 military schools and is currently an instructor for the National Guard Recruiting School, as well as First Sergeant of the 514 MP Cmmpany here.

Allen and his wife, Evelyn are the parents of a son, Douglas, and a daughter, Pat. He is Director of Public Works for the City of Greenville.

was elected not with money, but with brainpower. A speechwriter for 15 years for many New York politicians, Mrs. Chisholm says she has been behind the scenes and has seen much that turns people off on the system. She said, "America, and young people in particular, our country needs new political blood infused into its bloodstream on a national level. I'm not warmed over with a new image like most of those running for reelection. Most politicians are elected on words put together by someone else every four years to pull you in. You go to the polls and pull the lever. Then five months later the mumbling and grumbling starts. Who told you they were going to respond to you in the first place?"

Her campaigning will take her into 26 states primaries, Mrs. Chisholm said. She said she concentrates on visiting the minority groups, speaking to Mexican Americans in fluent Spanish, to Indians and poor whites in Appalachia, who have the same dirt floors, the same malnutrition, the same outdoor toilets as many of her black brothers and sisters.

She spoke out against the Vietnam War, saying, "Over 44,000 of our boys have gone never to come back, giving their lives in a war that has nothing to do with the security and defense of this country. This is a war we cannot win. Over 65 per cent of the people say, 'We want out.' But our leaders fail to respond to what the people say and the war continues. Sure we now have a minimization of foot soldiers. But the air war goes on. So we continue to prop up a government involved in all kinds of corruption. I have the courage and the commitment to end this war. And I have no attachment to interest groups who would have it continue."

On space exploration, she commented, "Where in heaven's name are we going? We are failing to feed the hungry and failing in mental hygiene and hospital. How much better it would be to take the money spent in space and build a transporation system necessary for people to get to work. Many people in this country now spend more than four hours a day just getting to work and back. Our priorities are all mixed up when we have problems on earth like this and we send billions of dollars up into space.

Controversy swirls about my head I know, because this is a country traditionally run by white men and here comes a black person, and a black woman at that. But armchair citizens never bring about change. And those who are benefited by the status quo don't want change.

"I don't measure this country by its achievements, but by its potential. Maybe it will take a little black woman to bring us together. We've had politics, and politics, and more politics—now let's try soul, which is compassion for one's fellow man. Can Mrs. Chisholm guide this country? You give me those votes and I'll show you how to straighten a lot of things out."

Dr. Reginald Hawkins, Democratic candidate for North Carolina Governor, introduced Mrs. Chisholm.

Armed Clash On Borders

NEW DELHI (AP) — India and Pakistan accused each other today of the most serious cease-fire violations in Kashmir since last December's war, only five days after agreeing to a summit meeting to discuss peace.

The mountainous province of Indian-controlled Kashmir has been the center of a dispute between India and Pakistan since 1947

The Indian Defense Ministry claimed a battalion of Pakistanis, supported by artillery, attacked a position held by India and that a second attack was reported in the afternoon with fighting going on into the night.

In Rawalpindi, Pakistan said at least two battalions of Indian troops crossed the cease-fire line that has existed since last Dec. 17 and that fighting was going on, with casualties on both sides.

William Earl House and hopeful Willie Mae Carney from the Bethel-Belvoir area; incombent Robert D. Stokes and hopeful William Tom Edwards from the Grimesland-Chicod-Swift Creek district; and incumbent Kenneth K. Dews and opponent William "Sleepy" Carmon from the Winterville area.

Richard Worsley, now representing the Greenville area on the board is not seeking reelection. Instead, Douglas R. Jones, an East Carolina University professor and Edward C. Carter are facing each other as candidates for Worsley's seat.

Listed on the district Democratic ballot are candidates for District Court Judge, member of the State House of Representatives, and Pitt Register of Deeds.

Vying for the District Judgeship are incumbent Robert D. Wheeler, J. Russell Wooten and William "Bill" Whitehurst. Wheeler is from Grifton while both of his opponents are Ayden residents.

In addition to Pitt voters, residents of Pamlico, Craven and Carteret Counties which are included in the Third Judicial District will have an opportunity to help select the winner in that race.

H. Horton Rountree, and Sam D. Bundy, who currently represent Pitt in the state House of Representatives, and I. Bruce Koonce of Greenville are seeking the two House seats now allotted to Pitt and Greene Counties, while incumbent Register of Deeds Elvira T. Allred is being opposed in her bid for re-election by O. James Rooks, a Greenville minister.

The longest ballot to be used tomorrow's election is the Democratic primary ballot for state officers.

That list includes: for Governor, Wilbur Hobby, Gene Leggett, Hargrove "Skipper" Bowles, Zeb Vance Kitchin Dickson, H.P. "Pat" Taylor and Reginald A. Hawkins; for Lieutenant Governor, James B. "Jim" Hunt, Margaret Harper, Allen C. Barbee, Roy G. Sowers and Reginald Lee Frazier; for Secretary of State, incumbent Thad Eure and Louis M. Wade; for State Treasurer, incumbent Edwin Gill and Jack Jurney; for Commissioner of Insurance, Johnny R. Clark, John Ingram, E. Russell Secrest, George A. Belk, George B. Cherry and Cecil Duncan; for Commissioner of Labor, John C. Brooks of Greenville, Robert C. "Bob" Folger, W. C. "Billy" Creel, John B. Wardell, Phillip Ellen and John S. Blanton; and for Superintendent of Public Instruction, incumbent Craig Phillips and John H. O'Connell.

The Democratic ballot for United State Senator—for which voters will select one nominee — includes the names of incumbent B. Everett Jordan and hopefuls Nick Galifianakis, J. R. "Joe" Brown and Eugene "Gene" Grace.

The official Republican party primary ballot for state offices also includes candidates for governor, Lieutenant Governor, Commissioner of Insurance, United States Senator and member of Congress from the First District.

The candidates include: for Governor, James E. Holshouser, Leroy Gibson, James C. "Jim" Gardner and Thomas E. Chappell; for Lieutenant Governor, John A. "Johnny" Walker and Norman H. Joyner; for Commissioner of Insurance L. W. "Buddy" Douglas and C. Edley Hutchins; for United States Senator William H. Booe, Jesse Helms and James C. "Jim" Johnson; and for First District Congressman Mack Howard and J. Jordan Bonner.

For the first time this year, North Carolina voters will have an opportunity to name their choice of nominees for President of the United States.

Democrats, on one ballot, will have the opportunity to choose from a field including former North Carolina Governor Terry Sanford, Henry M. Jackson, Edmund S. Muskie, George C. Wallace, and Shirley Chisholm, while Republican voters will have the opportunity to choose between incumbent president Richard Nixon and hopeful Paul N. McCloskey.

The third presidential ballot — one for American Party members — carries the names of Arlis F. Pettyjohn and Bruce E. Burleson.

Polls will open Saturday at 6:30 a.m. and close at 7:30 p.m. — thus giving the 31,606 registered voters in the county one hour longer than usual to get to the polls to cast their ballots.

Included in the list of registered voters are 27,119 Democrats, 3,883 Republicans, 36 American Party registrants, 343 Independents and 225 voters who registered with no party affiliation.

Will Present Folk Musical

On Sunday at 7 p.m., the Mount Pleasant Solid Rock Foundation will present "Natural High", a folk musical, composed by Ralph Carmichael and Kurt Kiaser.

The Solid Rock Foundation (youth choir) is under the direction of Mrs. Ronnie Woolard and the accompanists are Miss Alice Kepler, pianist, and Chris Furlough, guitarist.

Members of the choir are: Amy Clifton; Linda Coburn; Mary Dare Forbes; Teresa Harrell; Donna Holder; Geneva Holder; Linda Sue Mayo; Rita Ross; Ann Spain; Jimmie Sue Spain; Lida Spain; Nancy Spain;

Teresa Thomas; Ray Harrell; Paul Jarrett; Jeff Lanier; Mike Lanier; Skipper Lanier; Don Moore; Howard Stocks; and Ronnie Woolard.

The program Sunday will be held at the Mount Pleasant Christian Church, located a halfmile off the Belvoir Highway. Other appearances have been scheduled and will be announced by the congregation sponsoring the appearnce. The group will present the program to other congregations in eastern North Carolina.

To The People of Pitt County:

I sincerely appreciate the honor and privilege of representing you in the 1971 General Assembly. I did my best to represent you and to justify your confidence in me. With the experience gained in the 1971 General Assembly I believe that I can render a greater and more effective service in the 1973 General Assembly. I promise my best efforts and my full time. I promise to represent all segments of our society to the best of my ability. Your support and vote will be sincerely appreciated. Thank you so much.

May 5, 1972

Dear Friends:

So many of our friends have asked that we please let them know if there was ever any way that they could help in regard to our son Billy, who has been a prisoner of war since September 1965. We along with other families of men who are prisoners of War and Missing in Action, feel we have found a plan and someone who can and will execute it. Now you can help us if you so desire. If you remember the six and eleven o'clock news cast, Friday April 28th on the three local T.V. stations this plan will be familiar to you. Mr. Mack Howard of Greenville, N.C. who is a Candidate for the 1st District U.S. Congressional Seat in Washington, has challenged the news media of North Carolina to form a non-partisan organization of the top journalist in the State to conceive a plan to go to North Viet Nam, China, Russia and any other foreign countries, meet with their news representative and hopefully get tape, pictures and news of the families to the boys who are being detained and bring back to the families current tapes, pictures and news of the boys. If this plan goes through, we may even be able to get an impartial inspection of the prison camps and a lot of the names of the men who are missing in action.

Mr. Howard has served two tours in Southeast Asia and is familiar with the plight of boys and feels very close to the families here at home. This is a personal thing with him, not political, for which the families are very grateful, but we know he will be able to help us more from the Congressional seat than any other place. The P.O.W. - M.I.A. issue is strickly non-partisan. We know this man and feel he can fill the seat he is seeking better than anyone we know, so it is not purely for selfish reasons that we ask you to go to the polls on May 6th and cast your vote for him.

This letter is not from a candidate, but from a Mother and Father, whose son has been in prison in North Vietnam for 7 years, pleading for help.

Thank you for your concern.

Sincerely,

Bill and Jessie Robinson

GREENVILLE VISITORS . . . at the Bowles Campaign Headquarters Thursday morning were Holly and Martha Bowles, left to right.

Holly And Martha Bowles Visit Greenville Thursday

By ROSALIE TROTMAN
Reflector Woman's Editor

Wearing a yellow campaign button printed in black that read 'Please vote for my daddy,' Martha Bowles visited in Greenville yesterday and was accompanied by her sister, Holly.

The young ladies have traveled approximately 6,000 miles by compact bus here in North Carolina campaigning for their father, Hargrove 'Skipper' Bowles, Democratic candidate for governor.

The sisters have traveled an additional 2,000 miles through other means of transportaion. Their campaigning on the bus ended last week and they visited all 100 counties across the state. Now they are going back into the various areas a second and third time where they are "striving for person-to-person contact."

"We want to meet as many people as possible to tell them about daddy and to reassure them that he is serious about what he says and wants to get done if he is elected.

"He has never let us down and we know he would not let the people in North Carolina down. He's slow to make a promise, but once he does, he will keep it," said Martha.

"Daddy's a very practical and fair man. He considers all sides of the issue before he takes a stand, but, he will take a stand — he never sits on the fence," added Holly.

Their bus trips were planned by Holly's husband, John Geil, who is a second law student at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

The girls, who have spent about four days a week campaigning, were asked if campaigning interferred in their personal lives. Martha, who is a rising sophomore at UNC-CH, said, "By my own choice, I have fitted my class schedule into my campaign schedule."

"Campaigning has not bothered us because I have an understanding husband, who also supports daddy," replied Holly.

In addition to their personal campaigning, the girls have also filled in for their parents if they were unable to make an appearance at the opening of a campaign headquarters or other events.

In telling about first public reactions to the 'Please vote for my daddy buttons,' Martha remarked, "Some of the reactions were funny, now the recognition to who we are and to who daddy is is much quicker."

NCAEHE Meeting Opened On Thursday

NAGS HEAD — Home economics extension agents from the Northeastern District are hosting the annual meeting of the N. C. Association of Extension Home Economists.

The meeting, which opened yesterday and will continue through today, is being held at the Carolinian Hotel here. The program theme is "Created by God and Man."

The meeting is under the leadership of Mrs. Jane M. Taylor, home economics extension agent from Hertford County, 1972 president of the NCAEHE.

During the two-day meeting, home economists from across the state will view exhibits prepared by the Albemarle Craftsman's Guild and the Seafood Industries, a division of Commerce and Industry; tour the Christmas Shop at Manteo, Fort Raleigh, Elizabethan Gardens, Wright Memorial, and the Prayer Garden;

Hear luncheon speakers Dr. Tom Haggai of High Point and Rev. Hank Wilkerson of Kitty Hawk; and attend a fashion show sponsored by the Galleon at Kill Devil Hills.

Miss Nettie Ruth Brown, first vice president of National Association of Extension Home Economists, will install the 1973 NCAEHE officers today. She has worked for the Extension Service in Tennessee and Florida with a total of 20 years service.

Pitt County agents attending the meeting are Miss Addie Gore, Mrs. Evelyn Spangler, Mrs. Phyllis Wooten and Mrs. Sue May.

Bride-Elect Entertained

Miss Vashti Phelps of Plymouth, June 4 bride-elect of Tommy Forrest, was entertained at a floating miscellaneous shower Saturday night.

The shower was held at the home of Mrs. Adrian Adams Jr. Assisting hostesses were Miss Sara Branch and Mrs. Harvey Branch.

Receiving guests upon arrival were Mrs. Adams and Mrs. J. Tom Forrest, mother of the bridegroom-elect.

The honoree was remembered with a red rose corsage and a gift of china in her chosen pattern by the hostesses.

The refreshment table was covered with a white lace cloth over green and centered with an arrangement of tulips, dutch iris and other spring flowers. Mrs. Branch poured punch and Mrs. Adams served cake squares.

Mrs. William Phelps of Plymouth, mother of the bride-elect, was a special guest.

Hot Telephone Line Has Cooled Their Friendship

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Five months ago a gal [I'll call her Betty], age 27, moved in with my next door neighbor. Betty came here to get a divorce.

Since my neighbor has no telephone, she asked if Betty could use mine to keep in touch with her lawyer. I said, "Sure." Well, in these last five months, Betty has given my phone number to just about every guy in Las Vegas and out.

She comes in, without knocking, and starts making these collect calls all over the United States, and she talks for hours.

Also, I am expected to go next door and get her at all hours if her boyfriends call. Guys have called me in the middle of the night direct from California, and they get mad at me if I say it's too late to run next door to get Betty.

Abby, I have been insulted by phone a number of times but I kept my cool because I like the neighbors Betty is living with. Well, last Friday, when some drunk from Texas called for Betty at 3 a. m., I lost my cool, and I really let her have it.

Now she wants to make up. She says friends don't let a little thing like that come between them. Abby, is this what you call "a little thing?" I'd like your unbiased opinion.

LOST MY COOL IN VEGAS

DEAR LOST: Five will get you ten, there is no way you can spoil the "friendship" between you and Betty. [As long as YOU have the telephone, that is.]

DEAR ABBY: We are Jewish. Our son has recently become engaged to a lovely girl who is converting to the Jewish faith.

For an engagement gift, I was planning on sending her a gold necklace with the Hebrew word for "LIFE" on it.

My husband disagrees with my choice of gift. He feels that we should not emphasize the religious aspect.

What do you think, Abby? We have never met the girl. Do you think that this would be an appropriate gift for her or not?

IN DOUBT

DEAR IN: When in doubt, don't.

DEAR ABBY: I need help! My husband works the night shift and I am absolutely petrified from the moment he leaves the house until daylight the next morning.

He calls me "foolish" and laughs at me because I am such a "fraidy cat" but I just can't help it. I have been so afraid that I have actually cried!

I have close neighbors, guns, a telephone at my elbow and even a dog, but these things don't make me sleep any better. I also work [during the day] and I can hardly keep my eyes open at work any more because I don't get any sleep at night.

I am about to crack up. I don't have anyone I can ask to stay with me at night. Nobody understands why I am so afraid. My husband [whom I really love very much] refuses to understand how frightened I am when I am alone and it's dark outside. Even I can't understand it. Please, please, help me. I am not crazy, I am just . . .

AFRAID OF THE DARK

DEAR AFRAID: It's probably an overactive imagination combined with some unresolved fears from your childhood. If I were you, I'd see a psychiatrist. It's a lot cheaper than a nervous breakdown.

Program Given By Mrs. May

GRIFTON — Mrs. Sue May presented the program at the meeting of the Grifton Extension Homemakers held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Margaret Moore.

The program topic was on window treatments. Mrs. F. W. Davenport spoke on landscape gardening and Mrs. Dewey Wall gave tips on fruit and vegetable growning.

The club voted to hold a baby sitting course in June.

Mrs. Catherine Condon presided at the meeting and Mrs. Percy Boyd gave the devotional.

Birthday Party Held On Tuesday

GRIFTON — Ashton Suttle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Suttle, celebrated his third birthday Tuesday at his home here.

During the morning party, guests were given miniature parachutes and balloons as favors.

Award Presented Local Club, NCFWC Junior Editor Named

GREENSBORO — A special award was received yesterday by the Junior Woman's Club of Greenville at the N. C. Federation of Woman's Club Convention being held here.

The club was named Junior International Affairs Department winner in the CARE Division. The award was presented to Mrs. William Fuqua, president of the Greenville club.

The local club was also presented an award in the CARE division for clubs under 45 members contributing the most money to CARE.

Mrs. Stuart Savage of Greenville, and a member of the Junior Woman's Club, was named NCFWC Junior Editor during the Thursday election.

Mrs. Savage will publish an article in the NCFWC Clubwoman magazine and will be editor of the Junior Bulletin Board.

A Greenville native, Mrs. Savage graduated from Greenville High School, attended East Carolina College, and graduated from the Medical College of Virginia as a medical technologist. She works in the Pitt Memorial Hospital laboratory.

She is the wife of Stuart Savage and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Barry Sumrell of Greenville and has two children, Tracy, seven, and Gregory, five.

A member of the First Presbyterian Church, she was a charter member of the Junior Woman's Club of Greenville and has been president and a junior director of District 15 of the organization.

The 45th annual business session of the convention opened at one o'clock yesterday at the Sheraton Motor Inn.

Mrs. Stuart Savage

Mrs. James D. White, junior director of the NCFWC, presided during the session. Greetings to the assembly were made by Mrs. Paul Keller, NCFWC president, followed by an address "Look to This Day" by Miss Joan A. Buchanan, director of Junior Clubs, GFWC.

Attending the convention from the Junior Woman's Club in addition to Mrs. Fuqua and Mrs. Savage was Mrs. Phil Nordan, first vice president.

During yesterday's activities, Mrs. Nordan was installed as junior director of District 15 for two years.

She has been a member of the Junior Woman's Club of Greenville for a year and is currently serving the club as first vice president. Mrs. Nordan attended High Point College and is secretary for National Graphics, Greenville. The Nordans have a daughter, Ashley, age five.

An Important Duty For Voters

Tomorrow is election day and every registered voter in North Carolina will have important decisions to make.

In Pitt County voters will be choosing from an array of 71 candidates in various races and on Democratic, Republican and American Party tickets.

Among the candidates will be those who are running in the presidential preference primaries, which North Carolina will be conducting for the first time. As a result the eyes of the entire nation will be on our state as television networks and newspapers record the results of the primary.

Thus we can see that voting, while a right, is also a responsibility of citizenship.

Most voters are registered as Democrats, Republicans and American Party members. They will be deciding which of the many candidates involved will represent their party in the November elections. It is important that each of us study carefully what the candidates have been saying and then making our decisions tomorrow as responsibility as possible.

Voters will receive several ballots when they go to the polls. Since there will probably be large numbers voting, it is important that voters study the list of candidates beforehand and vote as rapidly as possible, if we are to keep the lines from piling up at the polling place. Sample ballots were published in last Sunday's Daily Reflector.

Choosing our leaders at the polling places is a cherished right. We urge all registered voters to go to the polls tomorrow and cast there ballots for the candidates of their choice.

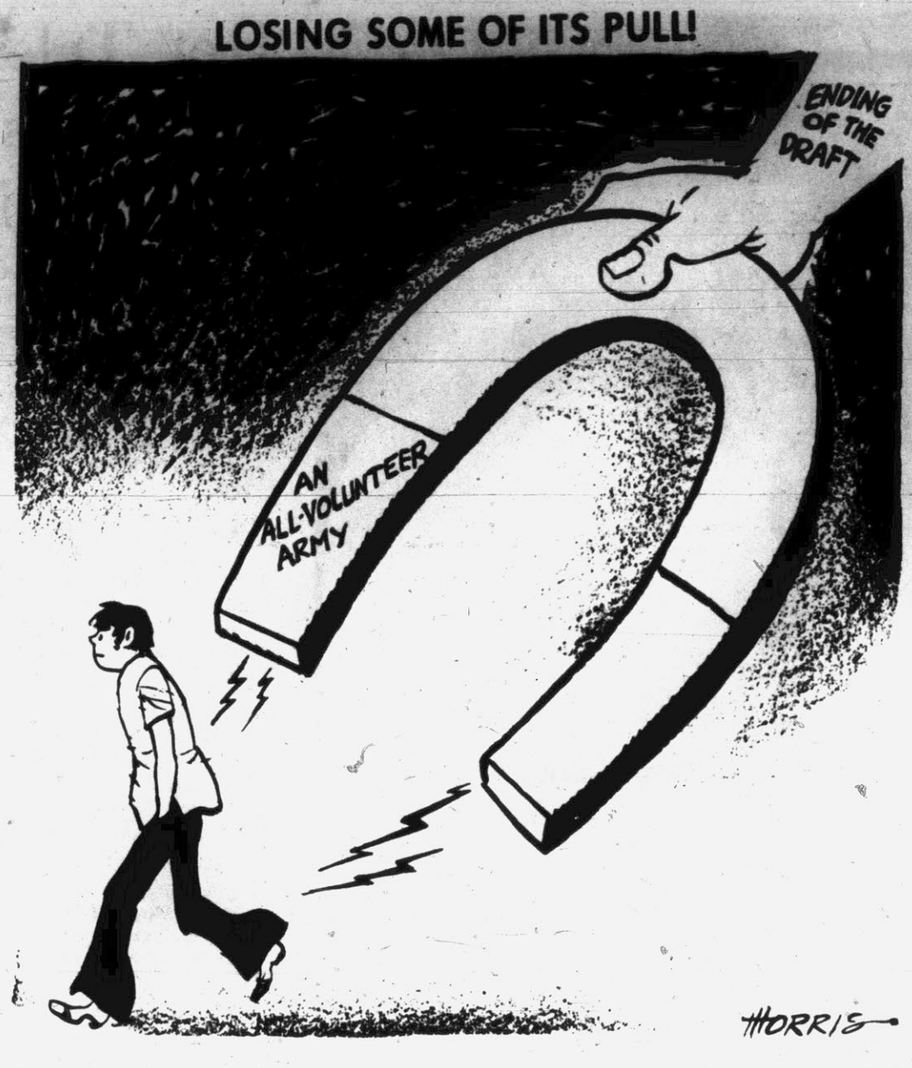
Zoo And Water Bonds Are On Ballots, Too

With the huge number of candidates on ballots voters will recieve tomorrow we should not forget the Clean Water Bonds and the Zoo Bonds.

We feel that a positive vote on both these issues will be in North Carolina's best interest.

The Clean Water bonds will provide badly needed funds for better water supplies and improving waste water collection and treatment works.

The Zoo Bonds will initiate a unique zoo for the state which will provide entertainment and education for all of us.



Baton In The Heart

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Every man holds a magic baton in his heart.

It is called memory.

With it he can dismiss fears of the future and calm the turbulence of today by restoring and enjoying the serenity of a past time. It is perhaps only by the reassurance that memory provides us that human beings are able to endure this world with the fortitude we do.

You've got a lot to conjure up if you can look back and remember when—Only an exhibitionist changed his underwear more than once a week.

More corn was popped at home over the kitchen stove than in electric machines in the lobbies of movie houses.

One of the nice things about being born into a small family was that a hungry kid usually could have seconds at dinner. In a large family a boy who didn't put enough on his plate to satisfy him at the first passaround was out of luck.

The straw boss in the factory always gave you a lighter work load if you both played on the company baseball team on Sundays.

A husband didn't necessarily wind up in the divorce courts if he told his wife that a woman's place was in the kitchen. But, all in all, women really ruled the roost in those days, just as they do now, but but they did it without climbing up on the roof and bragging about it.

The height of anonymity in America was to carry the big bass drum in a small town band for the guy behind you to beat.

As vitamins were discovered one after the other, it was widely predicted that soon everybody in the nation would be healthy and stay that way.

Justice Seeing A Rocky Road

By BRYAN HAISLIP

RALEIGH, N. C. — North Carolina has a unified system of courts taken as a model by other states.

Yet complaints continue that the course of justice does not run smooth, and that trials are delayed while cases accumulate on the dockets.

"The number of criminal cases pending in the superior court is increasing at an alarming rate," said the 1971 annual report of the administrative office of the courts.

In the 83 counties of the state where the unified system, including district courts, has been fully implemented for three years, the report noted, the number of pending criminal cases in superior court rose from 9,179 to 15,586 over the two calendar years of 1970 and 1971, an increase of nearly 70 per cent.

"Although the state of the civil dockets of the superior court is improving, the situation cannot be viewed as satisfactory," the report continued. "At the end of 1971, there were more cases pending than were disposed of during the year."

31,146 Pending Cases

For all 100 counties, a total of 31,146 cases were pending in superior court at the end of 1971. That included 18,907 criminal cases and 12,239 civil actions.

What can be done to expedite the administration of justice is one of the objectives of public hearings next month before the N. C. Courts Commission.

For the first three weekends in June, the commission will meet at the State Legislative Building in Raleigh to hear the views of officials and citizens on the operation of the courts. The first two sessions, June 2-3 and June 9-10, are reserved for justices, judges, solicitors, court clerks and other directly involved in the judicial process. The final hearing, June 16-17, will be open to the general public.

State Sen. Ruffin Bailey, Raleigh attorney and courts commission chairman, said the purpose is "to study in detail present operations of the court system, particularly the entirely new district court system, and where deficiencies are noted, to examine proposals for corrective action."

Legislation May Result

The hearings may serve to develop the basis for recommendations to the 1973 General Assembly, he added.

Atty. Gen. Robert Morgan is among those who have expressed concern over the number of cases waiting for trial in the courts.

He proposed that the legislature consider a 90-day statutory limit within which a case must be brought to trial.

Superior Court Judge W. K. McLean said in Charlotte this week that delay is disposing of cases tends to circumvent justice and undermine the system.

As illustration, Judge McLean said he tried two men in Mecklenburg County recently who had waited in jail for eight months and then were found not guilty by a jury.

Crime Increase Impact

Population growth and a rising crime rate have contributed to the crush in the courts. In particular, the drug problem has brought a flood of cases.

Trying a case takes longer nowadays because of procedures required by U. S. Supreme Court rulings over the past several years.

Taking an overall view, North Carolina courts are functioning well, said Bert M. Montague, director of the administrative office of the courts.

The structure is sound, judicial manpower is adequate, and progress is being made in coping with the flow of cases, he said.

While the rate of increase in criminal cases in superior court is a matter for serious concern, Montague said he does not regard pending dockets as unreasonably heavy.

As of Dec. 31, 1971, there were 18,907 criminal cases pending in superior court; by the end of the first quarter of 1972, the figure had been reduced by some 1,100 cases to a total of 17,800, he said.

Based on the total of approximately 37,000 cases disposed of last year, the pending docket amounts to about six months work. "I'd hardly call that a backlog," Montague commented.

Hanoi Efforts Underestimated

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — As President Nixon tries to save his Moscow summit from the Vietnam crisis, evidence grows every day that U.S. intelligence grossly underestimated both Hanoi's resources and its goals in the invasion of South Vitnam.

Authorities here now concede those miscalculations may result in enemy successes within the next three weeks that could so weaken Mr. Nixon's bargaining position as to force him to cancel or postpone his visit to Moscow. Such a calamity, coupled with a precarious political balance in West Germany, might in turn lead to a dangerous resumption of a full-scale cold war and an end to Mr. Nixon's careful movement toward East-West detente.

When the offensive was launched, American officials predicted limited enemy objectives — the caputure of three underpopulated provincial capitals. Now, five weeks later, these same officials privately speculate that Hanoi's real objective is no less than the destruction of Saigon's army (ARVN).

That was precisely the Communist strategy in encircling and destroying the flower of the French Indochina army at the critical battle of Dien Bien Phu in 1954. Although the French did not know it at the time, the Viet Minh had committed nearly all their front-line troops to Dien Bien Phu. In short, had the French held out and turned the tide of that historic battle, the road to the defeat of the Communists would have been open.

Today, Hanoi's go-for-broke decision to commit nearly all its major combat units to the invasion of South Vietnam seems cut from the same cloth: destruction of Saigon's best fighting units, notwithstanding the great risk of leaving the homefront unprotected.

The second miscalculation in the hazardous intelligence game was gross underestimation of the types and mounts of military equipment available — in seemingly endless supply — to the North Vietnamese.

Thus, basing forecasts on intelligence estimates from the field, officials here felt the offensive launched across the demilitarized zone (DMZ) March 30 would run out of steam within five or six weeks. The reason: Hanoi could not keep its troops supplied with tanks, long-range artillery and artillery shells.

Tanks and guns destroyed, it was felt, could not be replaced. Accordingly, it would only be a matter of weeks before the Communists, denied back-up supplies in critical equipment, would fall back.

As of today, officials here know they underestimated the enemy's ability for resupply, either from stockpiles far larger than imagined or via truck convoy from the north less vulnerable to U.S. air interdiction than expected.

Accordingly, the early estimate of only "weeks" before the offensive would run out of steam has been radically revised. Hanoi is not believed capable of waging full-scale aggression at least into early June, possibly much longer.

A third miscalculation, well known by everyone, was the assumed knowledge that the spring offensive would be launched into the unpopulated central highlands A direct assault across the DMZ was ruled out as an unthinkable breach of the understandings reached in Paris in the last days of the Johnson administration.

After five nervous weeks, military officials here now worry about the safety of the 69,000 U.S. Troops still in South Vietnam. For example, some 2,500 Americans at the airbase in Phu Bai, near Hue, may soon be imperilled by Haoi's famed division 324B, presumed to be moving eastward toward Hue.

An emergency airlift to take the Phu Bai Americans out of the fighting zone is a 50-50 possibility. Such a rescue operation would heighten the crisis at home and possibly

Kissinger's Real Trip

WASHINGTON—The White House announced today that Henry Kissinger has just returned from a secret trip to the moon. Ron Ziegler said that Kissinger was the fourth crewman on Apollo 16 and spent 20 hours exploring the moon for President Nixon, who plans to go there just before Election Day.

How Kissinger managed to pull it off is one of the best new stories of our time. The White House had announced that Mr. Kissinger was going to Hollywood to attend the 1972 presentation of the Academy Awards.

When he did not show up at the awards, the Western White House at San Clemente said he had a cold and was being nursed back to health at the home of Tuesday Weld.

A check at Tuesday Weld's house revealed that Kissinger had left on Wednesday with his girl, Friday, but no one knew where he had gone.

A rumor started by the CIA indicated that Kissinger had returned to Peking to pick up his dry cleaning. But Chou En-lai's press secretary said he hadn't seen Kissinger in weeks, and if he was in Peking the Chinese didn't know about it.

The White House correspondents started pressing Ziegler as to Kissinger's whereabouts. Ziegler said with a straight face, "He went to Moscow to talk to the people in the Kremlin about President Nixon's trip."

This sounded logical, but when the Washington newspaper, magazine and TV people checked with their Moscow correspondents, they hit a stone wall.

A press secretary for

ART BUCHWALD

Brezhnev said no one had seen Kissinger in Moscow and, as far as the Soviets knew, he hadn't been to Leningrad or Kiev, either.

Now angry, the White House correspondents attacked Ziegler for lying to them.

Ziegler said he had made a mistake and that Kissinger was really in Paris holding secret talks with the North Vietnamese delegation.

While the American press was being led on the wild goose chase, Kissinger was down at Cape Kennedy dressed in white coveralls, disguised as one of the workers who would help the astronauts into Apollo 16. At the last minute, just before the hatch was closed, Kissinger jumped into the capsule and said, "I am on a secret mission for the President. Let's get out of here."

The astronauts, who hadn't been in on the plan, protested that there wasn't enough food for four men on the space journey.

"Don't worry," Kissinger said, holding up a bottle of orange juice. "I brought my own 'Tang.'"

While they were hurtling toward the moon, Kissinger briefed the astronauts on what they were to do. He told them to go about their business on the moon as if nothing had happened; under no condition were they to focus their TV cameras on

To The Editor:

To destroy that which we cannot create, to scar, deface, and lay waste those creations we cannot then heal and reclaim, is to unrightfully assume the role of creator. Unrightfully, because often we can only destroy and haven't the power of God and nature to create and set aright those beautiful faces of earthupon which we so frequently trespass and violate. Many such violations of nature are indeed quite small, but many are not so small, and all of them add up to a monstrous devastation of our only home, so far, earth. I refer you to the channelization projects (Time, April 17th) in North Carolina and many of our neighboring states, and the well-documented ruin they have created of wildlife, trees, and natural beauty. Visit the great western forests of sequoias, so magnificent, so representative of those God-forces of creation and so remindful of our limited abilities to create anything so enduring. Walt Disney Enterprises would destroy part of this natural heritage, with our government's consent, so a relatively few people can make a great deal of money. One needs only to breifly survey his state and community to witness equally meaningful destruction on a smaller scale by apartment-builders, home owners, those who would pave and concretize out of existence our rapidly diminishing green earth (with "apologies" to those feeble, but expensive, efforts at $300 per tree). We must awaken to the economic and ecological craziness being perpetrated by profit, political, and convenience motives.

'Dominion over' does not mean or imply the right to destroy. I suggest we rein-in this mad dash toward greater "afluence, civilization, and convenience," and cautiously examine the fate we are preparing for ourselves. We must all be dedicated environmentalists, for without it, we are not.

After seizing counterfeit copies of $2,000,000 worth of E. I. Dupont stock in a surprise raid, police in New York announced today they had nipped a plot to flood the financial markets of the nation with the bogus securities. Five men were taken into custody and after a night of questioning four of them were taken into jail and booked on charges of forgery. Two special type printing presses, a quantity of colored inks, five plates and other printing apparatus were also seized in the raid along with fifty completed counterfeit stock certificates and six hundered partly finished certificates.

Strength For Today

THE WORLD'S BEST HOPE

Most people, when they think about God, think only of what God can do for them, not what God can do with them. They are beggars seeking alms, not comrades seeking fellowship or soldiers anxious to follow brave and resourceful leaders.

But look out over the world and ask yourself how God is ever going to make anything out of this sorry mess unless some of us get to work and are willing to be used by the gigantic and humbling enterprise of doing the impossible. If we like praise and reward let us stay away as far as possible from the needy. If we long for the thrill of leadership let us forget about lifting burdens from the backs of our brothers. Work of this sort has to be done by people who forget themselves.

Jesus told his friends that unless they became bond-servants they were of precious little use in His kingdom. He placed all his hopes and built His kingdom on the disposition and efforts of humble men. But they were men whom God could use. Through them he could work. They were not always thinking of what God could do for them. They were willing that God should do something with them and through them.

There are not many who have this willingness, but that little remnant constitutes the world's best hope.

Brazil's Meat Prices Soaring

By ELMER ROESSNER

Brazil, with the third largest number of cattle in the world, suffers seasonal meat shortages which, along with chronic inflation, have sent meat prices soaring to record levels. Only the well-to-do can afford to meat with any regularity.

Brazil's cattle for 1971 was estimated at 97.1 million head, third to the United States and second to the Soviet Union, according to Harold Rabinowitz, U.S. Foreign Agricultural Service officer at Sao Paulo.

The Brazilian government has from time to time established ceiling prices on beef, limited slaughter, limited exports, imported beef from Argentina, eliminated tariffs on beef and threatened to close slaughterhouses that did not comply with government regulations. These measures have failed to make beef available to everyone at prices they can afford on a regular basis.

Northeastern Brazil is always short of beef and central Brazil is short in the dry season, when cattle are in poor condition. The state of Rio Grande del Sol has ample beef, but most is earmarked for export.

Brazilian meat prices have gone up steadily during the last 12 months, because of world beef prices, shortages and inflation. Last August feeder calves in San Paulo were up 53 per cent over a year ago; calves under one year old were up 75 per cent, fat steers were up 29 per cent and fat cows up by 31 per cent. There is no government grading of beef in Brazil, although some packers grade their own beef.

Brazil's cattle yield less meat than other nations. The United States, for example, with 1.2 times as many cattle as Brazil produces about six times as much meat.

Despite domestic shortage, Brazil has exported large quantities of meat in recent years, largely because it needed foreign currencies. In 1971 it exported 77,7700 metric tons of frozen beef and 42,000 tons of processed beef, for a total value of about $150 million. Because foot and mouth disease is epidemic in Brazil, the U.S. allows the importation of only cooked beef.

Brazil is trying to make more meat available to the public this year by limiting exports and at the same time requiring storage of beef for sale during the dry season.

A study by the Brazilian Institute of Statistics shows that annual per capita home consumption of beef is approximately 38.5 pounds. With annual per capita income estimated at $370 in 1970, few Brazilians can afford meat at today's prices. However, there is a growing demand among the upper and middle classes for high-quality, lean red meat. But, Rabinowitz concludes, unless the government acts to increase average income and increases cattle productivity the average Brazilian will get less and less meat each year.

Tire Buyers Warned To Be Sure Purchase Is Registered

The Department of Transportation has warned all motorists to make sure, when buying new or retreaded tires, that the dealer completes a written record of the buyer's name and address and tire identification number. These sales records are the major source of information when a recall of defective tires is necessary.

FESTIVAL SITE — The third annual Woodmen Fraternal Festival will be held Saturday and Sunday at the dedication of the WOW Youth Camp at Fort Barnwell. The camp is for Woodmen boys and girls between 8 and 15 years old. National President Nick T. Newberry of Omaha, and Harvey Bedsole, Eastern North Carolina manager, will be guests of honor. All Woodmen and their families have been invited.

Water Bonds Endorsed By Grifton Mayor

GRIFTON — North Carolina voters will be increasing their share of federal funds if they approve the Clean Water Bond tomorrow Mayor David Bosley indicated here this morning.

Mayor Bosley added, "We are basically voting on whether to get our own tax money back from Washington. They have this money already and have attached a condition on how it is returned. If the state provides 25 per cent grants for sewer projects, the federal share is 55 per cent; if the state does not participate the federal share is 33 per cent."

"While ecology and clean water have their merits, the compelling reason for voting yes on clean water is that North Carolina will donate $66 million to other states if the bond referendum fails," Bosley said.

Galifianakis . . .

Democratic primary Saturday, said that one of the main themes of his campaign has been that some parts of the state, "especially the east and far west, have suffered from years of neglect by some public officials."

"Throughout the campaign...people have said they have seen me more times in the last few months than they have seen Mr. Jordan in the two terms he has been in the Senate," he contended.

Galifianakis continued, "If I am elected to the U.S. Senate, and all the major polls are indicating that I will be the victor on May 6, I will not abandon this practice of meeting regularly with my constituents around the state."

He said that after assuming office he will either open a full-time district office in the eastern part of the state or maintain a mobile office in a self-contained motor home.

The representative noted that if the mobile home proves more feasible, he will travel throughout eastern North Carolina "on a regualrly scheduled basis so that people of this area can meet with me and my staff without having to undertake the expensive trip to Washington, D. C."

The Fourth District congressman said that there is a need for an updating of the seniority system in the Senate whereby longevity would not be the principal criteria for committee chairmanships.

He said that he advocates, as a supplement or alternative to the seniority system, an election by members of a committee to determine its chairman.

"While some aspects of seniority are important," he said, "it shouldn't be the single factor. I think a person's knowledge and background about specific subject matters ought to be just as important as longevity."

Galifianakis asserted that the whole congress is a "little bit antiquated. It is not streamlined and it needs to be. We are living in a changing and complex society and the congress has been very slow in chaning."

Following the rally at ECU, he was scheduled to attend a luncheon at Parker's Barbecue and then meet supporters and students at Pitt Technical Institute.

Other items on his Pitt County agenda included stops at D. H. Conley High School, Winterville, and Pitt Plaza and a plant tour before leaving for Wilmington later in the afternoon.

reverse the temporary halt of retaliatory bombing against Hanoi and Haiphong. It might also encourage talk of landing ARVN troops, Inchon-style, in North Vietnam.

Although some officials here believe battlefield reports are far too pessimistic, the majority of top-level experts privately concede that a potential for real disaster exists. The potential disaster is diplomatic as well as military, considering Mr. Nixon's strong aversion for undertaking sensitive negotiations with the Russians from a position of grave weakness.

It is no wonder, then, that one shrewd foreign diplomat here describes the month of May 1972 as the most dangerous time in world polities since Hitler's invasion of Poland 33 years ago. That is something U.S. intelligence scarcely imagined five weeks ago.

BETTER TO BE BALD

The majority of people were more afraid of dying of pneumonia or tuberculosis than of heart disease.

Every small boy thought the best way to win a girl's heart was to ride nonchalantly past her home on Saturday afternoon on a bicycle without holding on to the handlebars. This probably caused more broken bones then than skiing does today.

Most people didn't expect they'd ever inherit much. If they did, it usually was only a few sticks of furniture, a mortgage, and a couple of mules— not money, stocks or bonds.

It was pretty hard to find a business tycoon who hadn't, as a boy, either delivered the local newspaper or sold the Saturday Evening Post on weekends. There just didn't seem to be any other sure ways to success in later life.

It was common for a man to hold the same job—and stick to the same job—all his life. He didn't like to change either.

him, and while they were picking up rocks and going through the motions of setting up scientific experiments, he would make arrangements for the President's visit to the moon.

The astronauts played their parts perfectly, and there wasn't one person watching TV who suspected that Kissinger was on the moon at the same time as the Apollo 16 mission.

The only time the secret was endangered was when Kissinger tripped over a wire on the moon and messed up a million dollar experiment. Fortunately all spacesuits look alike, and everybody throught it was astronaut John Young who goofed.

On the way back, Kissinger splashed down first by parachute into Key Biscayne and was picked up out of the water by Bebe Rebozo.

It was only after Kissinger made a full report to the President that Ziegler admitted to Henry's true whereabouts for the past 10 days. Thanks to one of the best kept secrets of the decade, Ziegler confirmed that the President would be able to go to the moon this fall as scheduled.

To Concerned Citizens of Pitt County:

Pat Taylor Cares About the People of Eastern North Carolina.

We Believe Pat Taylor is the best qualified man for Governor because:

Pat Taylor has called for the immediate expansion of the East Carolina University Medical School to a two year medical school looking to the eventual establishment of a full 4 year medical school at ECU.

Pat Taylor played a leading part in relocating the Eastern Regional Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center in Pitt County.

Pat Taylor actively supported locating the new Vocational Rehabilitation Center in Pitt County.

Pat Taylor as State Chairman of the Mental Health Association was instrumental in helping to establish mental health clinics in rural areas of North Carolina.

We believe Pat Taylor is the best qualified man for Governor. He knows Eastern North Carolina and has worked to promote the interest of Agriculture. He is from a small rural town. His father was a native of Hertford County and his mother from Columbus County.

Pat Taylor's interest in Agriculture is evidenced by the fact he appointed as chairman of the Important Senate Agricultural Committee, Senator Vernon White, from Pitt County, the largest tobacco county in the state.

What does the record show Skipper Bowles has done for agriculture and Eastern North Carolina:

1. Bowles voted for the cigarette tax in the 1969 legislature.
2. Bowles voted for the soft drink tax.
3. Bowles voted for the 2 cent increase in the gasoline tax.

'Undecided Voters' Apparently The Major Factor

By REESE HART
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH (AP) — A high percentage of undecided voters apparently holds the key to the outcome of several races in North Carolina's primary Saturday, especially the Democratic battle for governor.

Spurred by the state's first presidential primary and the gubernatorial races, a record 1.3 million votes is expected.

Alex Brock, North Carolina elections director, said, "Knowledgeable people in the various counties say the number of undecided voters is the highest that anybody can recall, perhaps 40 to 45 per cent."

This could drastically alter the outcome of the six-man race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. Lt. Gov. Pat Taylor and former state Sen. Hargrove (Skipper) Bowles are regarded as the front runners. Others are labor leader Wilbur Hobby of Durham, Dr. Reginald Hawkins of Charlotte, Gene Leggett of Harkers Island and Zeb Vance Kitchin Dickson of Eden.

"This is an unprecedented primary," Brock said. "Never before have had as many candidates. Not only that, but voter registration is at an all-time high. 2.2 million. The presidential primary is going to bring out people who normally wouldn't vote."

Brock predicted one million Democrats and 300,000 Republicans will cast ballots.

The polls open at 6:30 a.m. and close at 7:30 p.m. Because of the expected record turnout, Brock said the returns may be late coming in. However, the 24 largest counties in the state, where 55 per cent of the population is concentrated, have automatic voting machines. This will mean quicker returns from those areas.

Several hotly contested statewide races, including the five-candidate Democratic battle for lieutenant governor, will help lure the vote. The lieutenant governor's post, boosted to a $30,000-a-year salary, offers five Democratic candidates—Jim Hunt of Wilson, Roy Sowers of Sanford, Margaret Harper of Southport, Allen Barbee of Spring Hope and Reginald Lee Frazier of New Bern.

There is considerable attention on the four-man Democratic race for U.S. Senate, where the major candidates are incumbent Sen. B. Everett Jordan and Congressman Nick Galifianakis.

Others seeking the post are J. R. (Joe) Brown of Greensboro and Gene Grace of Durham.

In addition, there are many congressional and legislative contests as well as races for state insurance commissioner and labor commissioner.

Voters will also decide whether to issue $150 million in "clean water" bonds and $2 million in bonds for a state zoo.

Most of the Republican attention is centered on the four-man race for the party's gubernatorial nomination. The candidates are Jim Gardner of Rocky Mount, who lost to Democrat Bob Scott in the 1968 election for governor; Jim Holshouser of Boone, Leroy Gibson of Jacksonville and Thomas E. Chappell of Greensboro.

For the first time, Tar Heel voters will have a chance to make their choice for president in a primary. The Democratic campaign boiled down to a two-man race between Alabama Gov. George Wallace and former North Carolina Gov. Terry Sanford, now president of Duke University.

Other Democratic hopefuls are New York Rep. Shirley Chisholm and Sens. Edmund Muskie and Henry Jackson. Republicans will decide between Richard Nixon and Rep. Paul McCloskey of California.

Three candidates are seeking the Republican nomination for U.S. Senate. They are Jesse Helms of Raleigh, James C. (Jim) Johnson Jr. of Concord and William H. Booe of Charlotte.

Six Democrats are battling for the commissioner of insurance nomination. They are Russell Secrest of Cary, John Ingram of Asheboro, George A. Belk of Greensboro, George B. Cherry Jr. of Raleigh, Cecil Duncan of Charlotte and Johnny R. Clark of Morganton.

A half dozen Democratic candidates are running for commissioner of labor. They are J. C. (Billy) Creel of Raleigh, John G. Wardell Jr., of High Point, Phillip Elien of Southern Pines, John S. Blanton Jr. of Raleigh, John C. Brooks, also of Raleigh and Robert C. (Bob) Folger of Dobson.

State Supt. of Public Instruction Craig Phillips is opposed for the Democratic nomination by John O'Connell of Raleigh.

The Fourth District congressional seat being vacated by Galifianakis is being sought by six Democrats—William A. (Bill) Creech of Raleigh, Ike F. Andrews of Siler City, Archie McMillan and Jyles Coggins, both of Raleigh, Wense Grabarek of Durham and Charles J. Bullock of Rt. 1, Knightwale. The winner will oppose Republican Jack Hawke in the general election.

Other races include:

1st congressional district: Republicans Mack Howard of Greenville and Jordan Bonner of Rt. 1, Hertford.

2nd District: Democratic incumbent L. H. Fountain of Tarboro and Howard Lee of Chapel Hill.

3rd District: Democratic incumbent David N. Henderson and Joseph Edwards of Mt. Olive.

7th District: Democrats Hector McGeachy, Charles Mose and Doran Berry, all of Fayetteville; Republicans Jerry C. Scott of Whiteville and William M. Nixon of Barnesville.

9th District: Democrats Jim Beatty and Jack H. Firpo, Charlotte; Republicans Graem Yates of Charlotte and James G. Martin of Davidson.

Lieutenant governor: Republicans John A. (Johnny) Walker of North Wilkesboro and Norman H. Joyner, Rt. 1, Statesville.

Secretary of state: Democratic incumbent Thad Eure and Louis M. Wade of Durham.

State treasurer; Democratic incumbent Edwin Hill and Jack Jurney, Rt. 4, Durham.

Insurance commissioner: Republicans L. H. (Bud) Douglass, Maiden, and C. Elley Hutchins, Black Mountain.

Virtually No Options Left On Viet Policies

By KENNETH J. FREED
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The failure of all diplomatic efforts, private and public, to make any progress toward a Vietnam settlement has left the United States with virtually no options that could affect the course of the war, according to U.S. government officials.

These sources acknowledge a likely increase of American air raids against battlefield targets in the South as well as more strategic areas in North Vietnam, but they say these are not expected to be decisive in thwarting the invasion.

"You can say the outcome will be determined on the ground," one official said, and while the American bombing will help morale and perhaps slow the Northerners, "it's not really going to change the outcome."

Although the standard American position is that President Nixon is keeping all options open short of using nuclear weapons and reintroducing U.S. ground troops, the officials said the most likely and immediate actions will be these:

—Intensification of the air strikes against the North Vietnamese units in the South.

—A strong effort to cut the oil and gasoline supply lines from the North, including a pipeline originating near the Hanoi-Haiphong area.

—"A searching of the woodwork" for any sign of a negotiating possibilities.

This last point was acknowledged by the officials as probably beating a dead horse, particularly in light of the U.S. assessment Thursday that the most-recent negotiating efforts, both at the public table in Paris and in private channels, were entirely fruitless.

It was learned that a try at obtaining Soviet intervention to convince Hanoi to negotiate seriously had ended with no results, a development that led officials to gloomy assessments of the situation.

If it is true the outcome is going to be determined by the South Vietnamese ability to fight off the attack, the officials were asked, then what are their chances?

The responses varied from complete skepticism to relative optimism that the change in some commands in combination with alleged heavy losses by the other side will change the tide of fighting.

But the consensus was that the outcome cannot be predicted and it is now a matter of waiting, a position voiced Thursday by White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler.

Two Initiated Into Chapter

The Delta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma held its orientation and initiation meeting Saturday at the First Christian Church.

The meeting was called to order and the welcome given by Mrs. Bonnie Harrington, chapter president.

The program was the re-orientation for old members and an orientation for new members. Several members of the chapter took part in the program.

Following the program was the initiation of two new members to the Delta Chapter, Mrs. Selina Longhorn Davenport, French Department, Rose High School, and Mrs. Rosalind P. Britt, guidance counselor, Rose High School.

A tea in honor of the new members followed the initiation ceremony. Hostesses for the tea were Ruth White, chariman, Miriam Little, Elizabeth Mums, Frances Smith, Elizabeth Dowd and Evelyn Perry.

RALEIGH (AP) — Even before voters have their say, the North Carolina gubernatorial primary has broken all records.

Never before have there been so many candidates, and the spending by some has been at a millionaire's pace.

In all, 12 candidates are running — six Democrats, four Republicans and two American party hopefuls. Although dull at times, the campaigning has been vigorous.

The final outcome in Saturday's balloting may hinge on the large number of citizens who have not decided how they will vote.

Alex Brock, North Carolina elections director, estimates the number of undecided voters may be as high as 45 per cent.

A month ago Lt. Gov. Pat Taylor was easily regarded as the front running Democrat. Observers now agree Hargrove (Skipper) Bowles has pulled even with him and may be out front.

What is responsible for the dramatic rise of Bowles?

For one thing, he has concentrated on the theme that he is opposed to any tax increase or new taxes. This has affected the average voter. Secondly, Bowles has exposed himself on television with a mass saturation campaign. His image has come off smoothly.

In contrast to the hard-hitting campaign of Bowles, Taylor has employed a soft-sell approach to a large degree, pointing out his 17 years of governmental experience.

Surprisingly, the campaign, both Democrat and Republican, has been exceptionally free of personality clashes.

State AFL-CIO President Wilbur Hobby, regarded as third man in pre-election predictions, can be credited with injecting a little life into the campaign.

Hobby, a portly man with a high-pitched voice and squinting eyes, hammered on the slogan, "Keep the big boys honest."

His commercials have drawn almost as much conversation as some of the Alka Seltzer ads. One of his favorites goes like this: "What kind of week did you have last week? The big boys had a big week. The power rates went up 14 per cent and auto insurance rates increased eight per cent."

In another commercial, Hobby pledged that as governor "I will see to it that the only power the power companies have is electric power."

In a pre-election expense report, Bowles said he had spent $573,000, a record for a primary. His final total will probably surpas $750,000.

In addition to Taylor, Bowles and Hobby, Democratic hopefuls include Dr. Reginald Hawkins of Charlotte, who ran unsuccessfully in 1969; Gene Leggett of Harkers Island and Zeb Vance Kitchin Dickson of Eden.

Jim Gardner and Jim Holshouser have conducted strenuous campaigns for the Republican nomination. Others in the race are Leroy Gibson of Jacksonville and Thomas E. Chappell of Greensboro.

Gardner, seeking to repeat his victory in the 1968 primary, has predicted he will get 70 per cent of the vote Saturday.

A runoff seems virtually certain for the Democratic nomination and possibly on the Republican side.

One thing is certain. The 1973 General Assembly is expected to be asked to enact legislation placing a ceiling on campaign spending.

'Grass Screams' When Mower Cuts, Says Boy

By BILL CRIDER
Associated Press Writer

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Did you ever eat a cookie made of grasshoppers? Watch a geranium have a nervous breakdown? Ponder the mysteries of cybernetics, try to beat a robot at tic-tac-toe?

You could do all these things and more Thursday at the 23rd Annual International Science and Engineering Fair, where 378 exhibits by teen-age students were set up in a vast convention hall.

The budding scientists range in age from 14 to 19 and came from every state, plus Puerto Rico, Japan, Canada and Sweden.

They stand by their exhibition cribs most of the day, ready to explain it all to whoever pauses. It isn't always easy. Some of them haven't seen a fellow expert since the 450 judges browsed through the hall Wednesday, marking their score cards and talking shop.

Awards, given in 11 categories, are handed out in various ceremonies Thursday and Friday, with the show to close Saturday.

Many spectators gaped at eye-popping exhibits, but the most intriguing expressions were won by those who stopped to talk to cookie pusher Clarissa A. Giegel and wound up eating one.

Clarissa is a pretty 16-year-old brunette of uncertain English from Caguas, Puerto Rico. Hec cookies are made of grasshopper flour.

She admires grasshoppers because they are 62.4 per cent clean protein, compared to 20.2 in beefsteak, 18.6 in poultry and 15.9 in pork.

In case you're wondering, the cookies looked and tasted like the blandly sweet cookies your mother used to bake around Christmas time.

The nervous geranium was owned by John A. Gow, 17, of Ardmore, Okla., whose exhibit was one of several that delved into whether plants have some kind of heretofore unsuspected intellect.

His potted geranium, when hooked to a polygraph, gave definite reactions to danger, love, sympathy.

"There's evidence that they can read my mind," he says. "They know what I'm going to do before I do it.

It has happened a lot of times. I just can't ignore that."

In future experiments, he plans to see if his geranium or some other bright plant can't communicate in some way — perhaps via polygraph printouts.

If it develops that plants are indeed thinking, feeling critters, what then? What are vegetarisns to do? Who'd want to mow the lawn?

"I've thought about that, what the grass must think," said Gow, whose exhibit was entitled Physioemphathetic Reactiokns to Plants.

Emery LaDean Meher, 16, of Mott, N.C., had an exhibit in the botany section entitled, Can Plants "Scream?". He thinks they can, in their own peculiar way. He had no doubt what grass does when the mower approaches.

"It screams," he said.

Seek Bids On Road Projects

RALEIGH — The State Highway Commission today released details of 12 projects in 14 counties containing 117 miles on which it plans to ask for bids this month.

The announcement said that bids on the projects will be opened on May 23, in the Auditorium of the State Highway Commission Building at 10 a.m. to determine the low bidders.

The list of bids includes:

BEAUFORT-PITT COUNTIES — 21.55 miles of sand asphalt base and surface and bituminous concrete surface for surfacing 4 sections of Secondary Roads and resurfacing 4 sections of Primary Roads and 3 sections of Secondary Roads on U.S. 17-264 and 33 (Part).

Evangelization Congress Set

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A group of evangelical leaders from five continents including Billy Graham, announced here that an International Congress on World Evangelization will be held in Europe in the late summer or early fall of 1974, with up to 5,000 delegates from throughout the world.

They said its aim will be to call the church to "finish the task of proclaiming the Gospel to the world in our generation." A similar congress was held in Berlin in 1966.

A comparison between Congressman Nick Galifianakis and his principal opponent for the U. S. Senate.

	Nick Galifianakis	B. Everett Jordan
AGE:	43	75
PROFESSIONAL BACKGROUND:	Practicing lawyer, Assistant Professor of Business Law, Duke University; Officer in U.S. Marine Corps.	Owner of textile mill; World War I veteran.
EXPERIENCE IN PUBLIC OFFICE:	12 years	14 years
NORTH CAROLINA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES:	Elected in 1960; reelected in 1962 and 1964.	0
UNITED STATES HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES:	Elected in 1966; reelected in 1968 and 1970.	0
UNITED STATES SENATE:	0	Appointed by Governor in 1958; Elected in 1960 and reelected in 1966.
SENIORITY:	After only four years in the U.S. House of Representatives, was elected to the powerful House Appropriations Committee. Has the respect and potential to achieve meaningful seniority in the years ahead.	Ranks 32nd in seniority among 100 Senators. Has announced he is seeking only one more term, therefore has no possibility of achieving real power in the U.S. Senate.

When you compare Congressman Galifianakis and Senator Jordan, a number of important differences are immediately apparent.

For example, although Congressman Galifianakis is more than 30 years younger, his legislative and congressional experience almost equals that of Senator Jordan.

Another important difference is Congressman Galifianakis' experience in the State Legislature. During six years as a representative from North Carolina's heartland, he gained a thorough knowledge of the needs of our state. It was this experience, gained on the state level, that enabled him to become one of North Carolina's most effective congressmen.

If we're serious about wanting seniority in the U.S. Senate, we must make an investment now in leadership that can solve our problems today and in the years ahead. We must elect Nick Galifianakis to the U.S. Senate. It's our future.

Rose Nips Kinston On Cox's Home Run

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

KINSTON — Rose High School snapped its three-game losing streak yesterday, but it was a struggle for the Rampants to gain a 1-0 triumph over Kinston and avoid falling into last place in the league.

Rose, trying to find some combination that will pay off in hits, failed again, coming up with only three. But one of the was a home run and that proved to be the only scoring tally of the afternoon, with Robbie Cox doing the honors.

After that, it was a question of keeping Kinston from scoring, and it took an outstanding third inning doubleplay to do it. Otherwise, the game was a pitching duel between Rose's Lee Cherry and Kinston's Locke Conrad.

Cherry was tagged for more hits, seven, but he was able to come up with the outs when they were needed to keep Kinston from scoring. He walked two in going the route, while striking out six. Conrad, in allowing fewer hits, also walked two, but struck out only five.

The lone Rose run came in the first inning. With one out. Cox stepped in and slammed the ball high to right field. Rob Jones drifted back, but the ball continued to soar in the wind, finally dropping just over the fence at the 350-foot mark for a homer.

And it ended the scoring threats the rest of the way, in the sixth and seventh innings. Randy McKinney reached on an error in the sixth and Stanley Cobb followed with a basehit, moving McKinney to second. The next man flew out, however, ending the inning.

Then, in the seventh, Rose tried one more time. John Barwick reached on a fielder's choice and stole second with two away, but also died there.

But it didn't matter because Kinston couldn't manage a single run. They did come close, however.

The best threat came in the third inning when the Vikings loaded the bases. Rob Jones led off with a single to right and Jeff Head hit a ball just a few feet in front of the plate. Harding Sugg, in chasing down the ball, slipped and was unable to make the throw, giving Head a hit.

Dave Mills then grounded to third, but the tall infield grass held up the ball and by the time it was fielded, all hands were safe, loading the bases with none out.

Charlton Duncan then lifted a fly into short left center. Cox rushed over, made the catch, then threw off balance, making a perfect peg to the plate where Sugg put the tag on the charging Jones to complete the double play. The next man popped up, ending the threat.

Another threat came in the fourth. With one away, Conrad singled and Aubrey Parker got a hit Collie McDuffy walked, loading them again, but the next two went down on a popup and a ground out to keep the shutout going.

That proved to be the last time Kinston was able to move a man beyond first base, and the Rampants had their victory.

The win boosted the Rose record to 3-4 in the Division II standings. They traveled to Goldsboro today to meet the Cougars.

Conley Falls To Farmville, 2-0

FARMVILLE — Farmville Central's Jaguars slipped past D. H. Conley yesterday 2-0, in a hard-fought Eastern Carolina Conference game. The contest was the first of two played by the Vikings yesterday as they met league leading Greene Central in another game. (See story elsewhere on the sports pages!).

Vic Corey of Conley and Cloyce Wilson of Farmville Central tied up in a pitching duel in the game that Farmville finally broke in the fourth scoring a run.

Glenn Dwyer reached on an error and Bobby Daniels singled. Ed Wells walked loading the bases. Barry Johnson then reached on an error scoring Dwyer for a 1-0 lead.

The Jaguars padded that with another run in the fifth. Cloyce Wilson singled and Phil Lewis bunted but was thrown out as Lewis made it all the way to third. Dwyer walked and stole second and an error on the play let Wilson score.

Conley had only one runner to reach third when their best chance evaporated in the fifth inning.

Bryant Hines led Conley hitting with two while Daniels had two for Farmville.

The Jaguars are now 9-6 in the conference and 9-7 overall.

Greene Central Rallies For Win

SNOW HILL — Greene Central added another victory to its chain last night with a 5-4 victory over D. H. Conley's Vikings. It was the second game for Conley during the game. They earlier played Farmville Central (see story elsewhere on the sports page).

The Rams, now 14-1 in league play, opened the game with a run in the first. Robert Ivey singled, stole second and scored on Mike Perry's single.

In the fourth, Greene Central added three more runs for a 4-0 lead. Elwood Grant was hit by a pitch and Donnie Taylor walked. Both moved up on a sacrifice and Ivey walked, loading the bases. Stevie Williamson then doubled, driving in all three runners.

Conley came up with two runs in the fifth, however. Vic Corey walked and Prince Bunting got a single. Cleve Averette singled in Corey and Willie Streeter got a hit to score Bunting, making it 4-2.

Then, in the seventh, Conley came up with two more, tieing it up. Bunting singled and Randy Adams was hit by a pitch. Averette reached on a fielder's choice, getting Adams at second. Streeter doubled in Bunting, but Averette wa sput out trying to score on a squeeze. Bryant Hinds walked and a wild pitch scored Streeter with the tieing run.

The Rams pushed over a run in the bottom of the frame, however, to win it. Billy Williamson singled and stole second. After Danny Whiteley walked, Elwood Grant's grounder was errored, and Williamson scored with the winning run.

Streeter led the Conley hitting with three, while Bunting had two and Averette also had two.

Williamston In No-Hit Victory

WILLIAMSTON — Williamston used three pitchers to gain a no-hit victory over Northwest High School yesterday. Only two members of the opposing team reached base during the afternoon, as the Tigers rolled, 6-0.

Joe Roberson started the game, going three innings. He struck out seven and walked none. One man reached against him, on an error. Mike Weaver came on to start the fourth and went the next two innings. He fanned four and walked none, and no one reached base. Dean Harrell went the final two innings, striking out four. One man reached against him, hit by a pitch.

Williamston pushed over one run in the first inning to take the lead. Mike Bundy singled and stole second. He gained third on an out and scored on Rock Cherry's single.

In the fourth, the Tigers came up with five more runs, completing their scoring. Vann Andrews reached on an error as did Cherry. Jimmy Raiford was hit by a pitch, loading the bases. A wild pitch then scored Andrews. Mike Weaver singled, scoring Cherry, and Eddie Rogerson's hit scored Raiford. Hubert Smith reached on an error, scoring Weaver, and another miscue on the play let Roberson come in also.

Cherry led the Williamston hitting with two.

The Tigers are now 11-3 overall and 9-1 in the Albemarle Conference.

Frosh Rule Discussed

BOONE, N. C. (AP) — The Southern Conference was to vote today on regulations for freshman participation on varsity, junior varsity and freshman teams.

These were the policies apparently agreed upon Thursday: Each school will be limited to five freshman or junior varsity games in football. If a school has both a freshman and a jayvee team, which is not anticipated, it still will be limited to a total of five games for both squads.

Freshmen and jayvee football players will be limited to 11 games during the season, including varsity play.

It was expected that no limitation would be placed on participation in more than one game in a week.

Pepsi Wins Ruth Opener

Pepsi-Cola jumped into the opening lead in the Babe Ruth League last night, gaining a 12-4 victory over Carolina Dairy.

The other four teams in the league open play tonight.

Bobby Dough tossed a two-hitter during the victory. Both hits were picked up by Dickie Johnson.

Carolina Dairy got the opening lead, however, scoring once in the first inning. Johnson singled and stole second. Griff Garner and Kevin Walker both walked and a passed ball let Johnson score for a 1-0 lead.

Carolina Dairy came up with two more in the second. Chris Garrett walked and Wesley Deal reached on an error. Both moved up on a wild pitch, and Johnson singled in Garrett. Deal and Johnson tried the double steal, but Deal was but down at the plate with Johnson making it all the way to third. He scored on Garnet's ground out making it 3-0.

Pepsi finally came to life in the fourth, scoring three to tie it up. Levy Brock walked and Tommy Payne doubled. A balk brought Brock home, and David Dixon walked. Bill Ellington was hit by a pitch and Curtis Lee singled to score both Payne and Dixon for a 3-3- tie.

In the fifth, Pepsi pushed ahead with a run. Doug Causey reached on an error and stole second. He gained third on a passed ball and scored when Payne reached on an error.

Pepsi clinched the win with three more in the sixth. Lee doubled and Macon Moye reached on an error. Dough walked and a wild pitch scored Lee. Causey sacrificed in Moye and Mike Brewington singled in Dough for a 7-3 lead.

Pepsi then added five more in the seventh, while Carolina Dairy got one more in the seventh.

Lee and Brewington led the Pepsi hitting with two each.

Robersonville Rips Edenton

EDENTON — Robersonville High School's high flying Golden Eagles rolled to a 21-0 victory over Edenton High School yesterday.

Jimmy Stalls tossed a three-hitter at Edenton, striking out one and walking four.

Robersonville got the scoring started in the second inning, scoring five times. Summy Mobley walked and Matt Wilson singled. Larry Jackson reached on a fielder's choice and Mike Matthews singled in Mobley. Jimmy Stalls got a hit to score Wilson, and Ed Warren was hit by a pitch, bringing in Jackson. Ricky Brown reached on a fielder's choice, scoring Matthews and Phil James walked to bring in Stalls.

In the fourth, the Eagles came up with four more runs. Warren walked and moved up on an out. Lloyal Corey then sinlged to score him. James and Mobley both walked and Wilson reached on a fielder's choice that cut down Corey at the plate. Jackson then tripled, scoring all three runners. That boosted the Robersonvillle lead to 9-0.

The final three came in the fifth inning. Warren singled and moved up on an error and an out. James singled to score him and Mobley reached on an error. Wilson then doubled in James and Mobley for the final 12-0 total.

Wilson and Corey led the Robersonville hitting with two each.

The Eagles are now 10-1 on the season.

Bucs Go On Road

East Carolina University's Pirates travel to Davidson Saturday to close out the 1972 Southern Conference season. Apparently the only thing at stake will be second place in the standings.

Richmond's Spiders, 11-3 in league play, beat William & Mary in a pair of games yesterday to clinch no worse than a tie for first in the league. It would take a sweep of a doubleheader today by William & Mary for the Pirates to have a chance to tie for the title.

Following Saturday's game, the Bucs visit Appalachian on Sunday. They close the season the following Sunday, hosting Appalachian.

North Pitt In Comeback Win

BETHEL — North Pitt High School lost a 4-1 advantage, then rallied in the final inning to take a 10-9 victory over Eastern Wayne High School yesterday.

The Panthers held the lead after five innings, but Eastern Wayne came up with eight runs in the sixth to take a 9-4 lead. But a run in the bottom of the inning and five more in the seventh let the Panthers pull it out.

North Pitt moved into the lead in the first with a run. Linwood Brown singled and moved up on a sacrifice. John Grimes then singled him home.

The third saw another run across. Little walked, then took off when the catcher missed on a pick-off attempt at first. He moved to third on the play, and when the relay was also errored, he came in for a 2-0 lead.

North Pitt then added two in the fifth, after Eastern had picked up one in the top of the inning. But in the top of the sixth, the Warriors came up with eight to move ahead.

Robbie Price singled and stole both second and third. David Steele walked and also stole up a base. Ray Taylor reached on an error to score Price. Ron Chadwick reached on another miscue, scoring both Steele and Taylor. Steve Paine singled in Chadwick and Tom Long walked. Kim Kough reached on a bunt single and Price singled to score Paine and Long. Steele then singled in Kough and Price for a 9-4 lead.

North Pitt came back with a run in the bottom of the inning, then scored five in the seventh to win it. Grimes led off the seventh with a walk and Steve Fuchs slapped a homer. Rick Harrell walked and Ken Tetterton did too. Clint Lewis singled scoring Harrell and Craig McLawhorn walked to load the bases. Brown singled in Tetterton and Little got a hit to bring Lewis across with the game-ending run.

Brown, Grimes and Fuchs led the North Pitt hitting with two each.

North Pitt is now 3-10 in the league and 4-11 overall.

Riva Ridge Favored In Derby

By ED SCHUYLER Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Riva Ridge, a winner of many important stakes and over $500,000, will oppose 15 other 3-year-olds in the Kentucky Derby Saturday including Dr. Neale, a sore-heeled veteran of four races and earner of $6,347.

Riva Ridge, Meadow Stud's 1971 2-year-old champion is the early favorite while Dr. Neale, owned and trained by Chuck Nicholas, was put in the mutuel field after being entered Thursday for the 98th running of the Derby at Churchill Downs.

Riva Ridge's toughest competition is expected from Mrs. Maribel Blum's Hold Your Peace, the Flamingo and Stepping Stone winner; J. R. Straus' No Le Hace, first in the Arkansas and Louisiana Derbies, and Paul Mellon's Head of the River.

Others entered were Joseph and William Stavola's Middletown Stable's Freetex; Forrest H. Lindsay's Sensitive Music; Corbin J. Robertson's Introductivo, Robert Michell's Our Trade Winds, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Reinhold's Big Brown Bear, Preston Madden's Kentuckian Bruno Ferrari's Pacallo, Dr. Hassi Shina's Hassi's Image, Robert Lehmann's entry of Majestic Needle and Napoise and Max Gluck's Big Spruce.

If there are no scratches, the Derby will gross $182,800, making it second only to last year's $188,000 renewal as the richest Derby ever. Saturday's winner's share will be $140,300.

Each starter will carry 126 pounds over the 1¼ miles on a track expected to be fast. The Weather Bureau now predicts no rain in Louisville on Derby Day. Missing from the Derby will be Mellon's Key to the Mint, winner of the Derby Trial Tuesday in his first start since being injured March 15.

Riva Ridge will start from the No. 9 post under Ron Turcott; Hold Your Peace with go from the third slot under Carlos Marquez; Phil Rubbicco will take No Le Hace from the outside post; Head of the River will leave the No. 14 gate under Mike Hole, and Freetex will go from on the rail under Chuck Baltazar.

Bobby Kotenko was named on both Majestic Needle, who drew the 12th post, and Napoise, who got No. 13.

Riva Ridge, who won the Hibiscus and Blue Grass in three starts this year, worked five furlongs in 1:01 2-5 Thursday to the satisfaction of trainer Lucien Laurin.

Tar Heel Takes Houston Lead

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — Chuck Thorpe, a rookie pro who once had a brief fling as a first baseman with a Pittsburgh Pirates farm team, held a one-stroke lead going into today's second round in the $125,000 Houston Open Golf Tournament.

"I'm just gonna go out and try to play the same," the big, rangy guy said.

Thorpe, one of the few black players on the pro tour, dominated the par fives on the Westwood Country Club course Thursday en route to a six-under-par 66 and a one stroke margin over Don Bies and Hale Irwin.

Dapper veteran Doug Sanders, out of action with a wrist injury for the last month, Jack Ewing and Jim Ferriell followed at 68 with Australian Bruce Devlin, rookie Lanny Wadkins and Bob Menne at 69.

Frank Beard, one of the few big name players to enter this event which replaced the old Houston-Champions Invitational on the pro schedule, withdrew after six holes because of a hand injury.

The hard-hitting Thorpe, a 6-foot-3, 190-pound son of a greenskeeper at Roxboro, N.C., is making his second try on the pro tour. He played briefly in 1968, before running out of money. He returned to the tour this year under the sponsorship of Walter Burkemo, an old PGA national champion, after spending a couple of seasons playing on the Negro tour and in Canada.

Immanuel Gets Second Victory

Grace, Oakmont and Immanuel picked up victories in the Church Softball League last night. Grace downed Maranatha, 26-6, Oakmont nipped Trinity, 14-13, and Immanuel beat Mt. Pleasant, 14-9.

In the National League, Immanuel leads with a 2-0 record, followed by Grace and Black Jack, both 1-0. Oakmont is 1-1, while Mt. Pleasant and Trinity are both 0-1. Maranatha is 0-2.

In the American Division, Presbyterian and Meadowbrook are both 1-0, while St. James and Christian have yet to play. Belvoir and St. Gavriel are both 0-1.

In the first game, Grace pushed over nine runs in the first inning to take the lead for good. Robbin Coggins singled and Billy Peace doubled. Donald Hudson tripled and Danny Hardee singled. Lewis Hardee got a two-bagger and Rudy Thomas tripled. Redden Jones and Doug Randlett both singled and Coggins got a hit. A double by Kenneth Smith brought in Coggins with the ninth run of the frame.

Grace added eight in the second, three in the third, five in the fourth with Lewis Hardee homering, and one in the fifth. Maranatha got four in the third and two in the fourth.

Hudson led the Grace hitting with five, while Coggins, Peade, Thomas each had four and Randlett had three.

Trinity scored three in the first, but Oakmont came right back with three of their own, then took the lead with four in the second. Trinity came back with four in the third, then scored another in the fourth. Oakmont scored once in the fourth, then Trinity added two in the fith while Oakmont got four. Trinity got three in the sixth, with Oakmont getting one, leaving the teams tied at 13-13.

Then in the seventh, Oakmont got the winning run. Bill Berry reached on an error, moved up on an out and a double by William Rogers. Bobby Hall was intentionally walked and Dann Singleton hit a sacrifice fly, scoring Berry with the winning run.

Rogers and Berry led the Oakmont hitting with three each, while Donald Palmer, Roy Shelby and Rus Cayton each had three for Trinity.

In the final game, Mt. Pleasant pushed over two in the first inning, but Immanuel came back with four. Mt. Pleasant came back with one in the third, then scored three in the fourth to take a 6-4 lead.

Imm nuwl rhwn wzplosws doe ninw euna in rhw didth to wrap it up. William Dean singled and Dick Evans reached on a fielder's choice. Sid Carraway doubled and Charles Camp followed with the same thing. Jim Harris reached on an error and after two outs, Drew Rumley singled. Bert Aycock got a hit as did Chop Lambeth, and Dean got another hit. Evans and Carraway both got singles, scoring Dean with the ninth run, making it 13-6.

Immanuel added another in the sixth, while three more crossed for Mt. Pleasant in the seventh.

Dean and Carraway led the Immanuel hitting with three each.

Pair Holding Ladies Lead

The Little Mint and Beltone remained in a tie for first place in the Ladies Softball League with wins last night. Little Mint rolled over Piggly-Wiggly 23-3, while Beltone downed Azalea Mobile Homes 20-2. In the other game Coca-Cola beat Three Steers 13-4.

The Little Mint and Belton are now 2-0 in the league, while Coke and Azalea are 1-1. Piggly-Wiggly and Three Steers are both 0-2.

In the opener Coke pushed over five runs in the first inning to get all they needed. Linda Summerlin singled and Gloria Clark tripled. Gay Garris also got a three-bagger and Rhonda Mills singled. Kathryn Phillips walked and Regina Pollard singled. Connie Summerlin reached on a fielder's choice scoring Phillips with the fifth run.

Coke went on to add two in the second five in the fourth and one in the fifth. The Three Steers picked up one in the fourth and three in the fifth.

Summerlin led the Coke hitting with four.

In the second contest Beltone scored three in the first to take the lead for good. Jovce Sawyer singled and Cynthea Averette reached on a fielder' s choice. Sandy Barnhill doubled and Cathy Anthony singled. Peggy Morris reached on a fielder's choice as Barnhill scored the third run.

Beltone then added 13 in the second and four in the fourth. Azalea got both of its runs in the second.

Anthony led the Beltone hitting with four, while Sawyer Barnhill and Nancy Tripp each had three.

The Little Mint pushed over seven in the first inning also wrapping up their win there. Darlene Briley singled and Carol Manuel got a hit. Dorcas Carter singled and Linda Tripp doubled. Saundra Kelly singled and Bobbie Jones got a hit. Wanda Oakley tripled and scored the final run on a hit by Doris Garrish.

The team added 10 in the second one in the fourth and five in the seventh with Tripp homering. Piggly-Wiggly picked up one in the sixth and two in the seventh.

Manuel led the hitting with five while Tripp and Jones each had four and Carter had three.

SANFORD — The East Carolina University golf team has captured the Southern Conference championship for the second straight year.

The Pirates had to overcome an eight stroke deficit after the first round of the two-day tournament, and did so. They also captured the individual championship, making a clean sweep for the first time.

The tournament had a one-day break in the middle, caused by rain on Wednesday, but finally was completed yesterday.

Eddie Pinnix took the medalist honors in the tournament, carding a 73 on the first day and a 76 on the second for a total of 149.

Overall, the Pirates carded a score of 783, beating out Furman University, which had 786. The Citadel, which had led the first day, fell off to a 790 total, while Richmond was fourth with 801. Davidson finished fifth with 811. Virginia Military Institute and William & Mary each withdrew following the first round.

Harry Helmer was the second place finisher for the Pirates finishing with 81-74—155. He was followed by Jim Brown, 79-78—157. Next came Carl Bell with 80-78—158 and Bebo Batts, 81-83—164.

The championship was the third golf crown won by the Pirates during the past four seasons. The Bucs are coached by John Welborn, who also coached this year's Southern Conference wrestling champions.

Perez, Tolan Aid Red Win

By PAUL LEBAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — "Thank God for Bobby Tolan," Sparky Anderson said, but the Cincinnati Reds also owed a debt of gratitude to Tony Perez' glove.

Tolan's line-drive triple cemented a 9-5 Reds' triumph Thursday over the troubled St. Louis Cardinals after Perez, a former All-Star third baseman playing first base, kept them in the game.

St. Louis had battled to a 4-4 tie in the seventh when Perez made his move.

A shot off Matty Alou's bat seemingly headed for the right field corner was instead speared by the 6-foot-2 Perez and Alou was held to a single.

The bases were jammed as a consequence, but sinker ball specialist Clay Carroll came on to fan Joe Torre on four pitches and turn the tide.

After the game, Anderson exuded. "I was just telling the guys on the bench, 'Thank God for Bobby Tolan. He's leading us in hitting, he's leading in doubles, he's leading in triples and he's leading in most hits.

Tolan, whose hits boosted his major league-leading average to .438, struck his most telling blow as the Reds exploded for five runs in the eighth.

Overshadowed by Tolan's hit but not forgotten by Anderson was Dave Concepcion's winning single, boosting his RBI count to 13. He had 20 all last year.

The sticker prices of the imports have increased. But Mercury Comet's price is lower.
Mercury designed Comet to be the better small car. We didn't design it to be in the same price class as the little imports. It just turned out that way, thanks to recent monetary developments and cost increases. Now the sticker prices of the imports listed above have increased by at least $170 since January 1971. But Mercury Comet is $35 lower.

Mercury Comet's longer wheelbase gives you a solid, smooth, comfortable ride.
Comet is a lot more automobile than the imports listed. It has a longer wheelbase, greater length, wider stance and bigger tires. So you can get an amazingly smooth and comfortable ride in Comet.

Mercury Comet's bigger engine has six cylinders, not just four.
Comet's standard six-cylinder engine operates economically, yet packs up to 73.4 more cubic inches. Optional engines available include 200 and 250 cu. in. Sixes or a 302 cu. in. V-8.

Look at all the convenience and luxury features that are standard on Mercury Comet.
On the outside you get a bold, handsome grille, wheel lip moldings, heavy bumpers and dual body paint stripes. Inside you'll find deep, 100% nylon carpeting, armrests front and back, foam-padded front seat cushion, deluxe steering wheel and a lighted front ashtray. All standard.

Comet is built to Lincoln-Mercury's high standards.

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, MAY 6, 1972

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are under adverse aspects early in the morning, devoid of any changes, but later in the day you find that everything starts working in your favor. Then you can enjoy the company of others, especially with good friends who are in a position to help you attain personal goals that mean so much to you.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Sociability is the keynote now. Showing others your affection for them brings excellent results. Accepting invitations at this time can lead to making interesting, new contacts.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) The morning starts slowly but then all speeds up and you see your way clear to gaining goals where career is concerned. Know what a higher-up expects of you and do your utmost to please.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) A good day to seek new activities that are interesting and worthwhile. Obtain periodicals that have the data you are looking for. Avoid the limelight this evening and relax.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) There are bigwigs who can help put obligations behind you quickly now instead of laboring over them. The evening can be a happy time in the company of the one you love.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Instead of toying with the idea of change, be sure you go along with the expertise of an associate and get the best results. Put your pride in your pocket, where it belongs. Be wise.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Carry through with work you could not finish during the work week. Do so enthusiastically and reap the benefits. Take time for healthy exercise to restore your energy. Have fun tonight.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Ideal day for having fun with congenials at mutual enjoyment. Engage in a hobby you enjoy. Don't neglect to handle an important chore at home for mate and increase harmony there.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) An excellent day for fixing things up at home. Be wise and get an early start. The evening is then fine for entertaining and making an excellent impression on others. Be poised.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec 21) Don't step out too early for shopping or running errands, since the mid-morning is best and you can also meet interesting people. Don't neglect important correspondence later in day.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Study financial affairs more accurately now and know how to proceed in the future. Be more modern in your dealings. A business expert can give you fine monetary advice.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Anything of a personal nature can be handled accurately now. You are able to gain your fondest desires easily. Attend the social tonight and show your finest attributes.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You need to prepare yourself if you are to let new situations that have cropped up bring you more success. Assisting those who are in trouble is wise and good.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she may appear to be out of the norm early in life. Take this in your stride, since upon reaching a more mature age, your progeny could come up with something new and interesting that he or she could have success in whatever is of the modern era. Give enough leeway for self-expression and discipline is wise for developing true character.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Growers Favor Earlier Market

RALEIGH (AP) — An estimated 350 North Carolina farmers turned out Thursday to let it be known they want tobacco markets opened earlier.

The farmers, many bearing petitions signed by dozens or, in some cases, hundred of other farmers, said in effect: "Let's get the market open early."

The growers addressed their remarks to a subcommittee of the Flue-Cured Marketing Committee.

The subcommittee took no action. However, Chairman Frank Bryant of Boonville announced that the group would meet in Raleigh again on May 23 to receive and consider "specific proposals" for the 1972 marketing season.

Those speaking included state Agriculture Commission James A. Graham. He reiterated calls for earlier market opening dates.

Kendall Hill of Kinston brought a petition from farmers in his area. It asked for a July 10 opening date for the Eastern Belt. This would be five or six weeks earlier than the belt's usual opening date.

Hill said that since buyers are not made available in the Eastern Belt until they have completed sales on the Georgia-Florida Belt, the Eastern Belt opening is actually set by the governor of Georgia who sets the opening date in his state.

"He doesn't know when our tobacco is ready," Hill said.

William V. Griffin of Rt. 3, New Bern, who said he spoke for farmers in five counties, also called for a July 10 opening for the Eastern Belt. He added that markets in all areas should be opened — at least on a limited basis — as soon as local tobacco is ready.

Directors Call For Water Bonds Vote

The Board of Directors of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce and Merchants Association has passed a resolution urging its members and other citizens of Greenville to support the Clean Water Bond Act which will face the voters of the community on Saturday.

The Chamber Board passed the resolution after facts about the need for approval of the Bond Issue were presented by Greenville Utilities Commission Director, Charles Horne, and Pitt County Development Director, James Horne.

The members of the Board were informed that "this referendum gives voters the opportunity to approve the issuance of $150 million in bonds that would provide State matching fund grants. The matching grants would make it possible for local governments to receive badly needed assistance for constructing and impvoing water pollution control and water supply systems necessary to insure adequate, clean water for North Carolina."

Directors were told that "if the referendum carries, the City of Greenville will be eligible for 25 per cent matching grants for water and sewer projects as well as additional federal grants.

Passage of the bond issue will enable Greenville and other cities and communities across the State to obtain money needed to improve their water and sewer systems without necessitating an increase in state or local taxes."

Seek Better Coin Telephone Service

TARBORO — Carolina Telephone is launching an all-out effort to improve public coin telephone service.

As part of the program, supervisory personnel of the company will perform regular inspections of public telephone installations.

In order to assure the best possible service these inspectors (Known as booth watchers) will determine on a scheduled weekly basis that the instrument is in good working order, the directory is readable, the lights are burning, and the entire facility is clean.

Since bent or mutilated coins cause as much as on-eourth of all trouble reports, the inspectors will check the money chute for obstructions.

The program is directed toward service improvement and reduction of repair service calls by coin telephone customers.

Carolina Telephone provides 3,344 public phones in eastern North Carolina. With the peak months of usage, July and August, when more tourists and vacationers are on the highways and in the beach resort areas rapidly approaching, it is appropriate to begin this program in early May.

Brenner, began arriving shortly before noon and remained until about 2:00 o'clock. Earlier, a protest permit has been issued to Miss Brenner, one that did not include a march permit.

The young protesters were joined by several Greenville residents, including Father Hugh C. Mulholland, an active figure in various movements in Greenville and the surrounding area.

"This an emergency moratorium," Holmes said, "an anti-war protest demanding the withdrawal of U.S. troops in Vietnam and an end to the blood bath caused by bombings."

Asked about their personal opinions on the current invasion of South Vietnamese by North Vietnamese forces, neither Holmes or Father Mulholland categorically included the North Vietnamese action as a plank in the anti-war protest.

Holmes, however, said "both sides are wrong, there's violence in both." The young Edenton native made it clear that the main thrust of Thursday's local protest is aimed at American involvement, the use of American manpower and the resultant loss of lives.

Father Mulholland said he feels "it is important that we try new methods." The Catholic priest quoted figures on sums spent on the recent phases of the Southeast Asian conflict.

"Last year we spent $14 billion in Vietnam, and over a ten year period one million people have been killed." He also made reference to other American military spending. "Last year the American government made available $44 billion to 45 nations in military aid."

Father Mulholland expanded on the "new methods" concept he had mentioned. "We must try some new method of relating to the world. So far the major thrust has been security through military power. We must try to find instead security through the rightness of our cause."

"To sum up one of our reasons for protest," Holmes remarked, "Nixon is totally disregarding election promises about Vietnam. By using bombs, I think he hopes to force concern. But we feel he is playing politics with human lives, and he ought to be tried for this."

In the course of the two hour rally, some people remained on hand for the entire period — others stayed awhile, left, and newcomers arrived.

Following an opening prayer by Father Mulholland, several persons spoke. In addition to Holmes and Miss Brenner, others scheduled to speak at the courthouse site were Jim Stodder of Fayetteville; the Rev. L. C. Nixon of New Bern and George Lofquist of Greenville.

Holmes said in response to letters sent out earlier by the anit-war group, several replies had been received, including ones from Wilbur Hobby, Senator B. Everett Jordon, and George McGovern.

"We also had a letter from Senator Sam Ervin supporting the war," Holmes said. "The senator expressed his regret that he was not able to be here to express his views."

An unidentified young man appeared on the scene and displayed a Viet Cong flag. Holmes said this was "not part of our plan."

A board coffin covered with an American flag, and five or six people dressed in white sheets with white facial make-up were used as symbols of the anti-war protest theme.

"The white symbolizes the dead, all the dead," Holmes explained. "The coffin has no particular significance."

Commenting on clinched fists painted on two sides of the confederate monument, Holmes remarked "the problem with that particular symbol is that it is considered the symbol of the black movement. We don't need a black movement and a white movement, what we want is one movement for peace."

At the end of the time alloted to the anti-war group at the courthouse site, they began dispersing. Holmes said they planned to reassemble at the Mall on campus at East Carolina University and to be there from about 3:00 until 5:00 p.m.

Second Disrober In Class Fired

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Another University of Oklahoma graduate English instructor, claiming "every one should have the right to take their clothes off," did just that Thursday.

Authorities said Wendy Berlowitz, a graduate student in English, disrobed before her freshman class. She was dismissed.

Another English instructor, Romney Phelps, undressed in front of his class last week. He was also fired and later admitted to Central State Hospital for observation.

One member of the class, a coed, said Mrs. Berlowitz announced she wanted to disrobe and asked if anyone would be offended. The coed said no one objected so the instructor undressed and read a short story aloud. She was nude about 30 minutes, dressed again and dismissed the class.

Classic Week Proclaimed

Mayor Eugene West and Charles Gaskins, chairman, Pitt County Board of Commissioners, today proclaimed May 7 through May 13 American Classic Week, and Saturday, May 13, American Classic Day in recognition of track and field championship competition scheduled here May 13.

The joint proclamation was issued on behalf of citizens of Greenville and Pitt Couty.

The first Annual Belk Tyler-Buster Brown American Classic will bring young people from 15 eastern North Carolina cities to Greenville, where they will compete in Olympic-style competition at East Carolina University's varsity track.

The proclamation cites the "unlimited cooperation and spirit in support of these activities" by both the sponsors and local community.

Noting the American Classic program "is designed to bring about increased good sportsmanship, healthier bodies and improved mental attitudes," the joint statement urges all citizens of the town and surrounding country to "lend their support and cooperation to this worthy event."

Showing Slides Sunday Night

The Rev. Joe Ingram, North Carolina Free Will Baptist Missions Director. will be at the Winterville Free Will Baptist Church Sunday at 7 p.m.

You could pass the tree a hundred times without seeing the bright little bird peeping out.

Nature neglected to give man such camouflage. In the scheme of things he is actually quite obvious. But God created man in His image —a much greater asset. He was given a strong body and a mind with which to think. And He has given us a very special gift; the miracle of Faith.

Yes, Faith is a gift. It comes only through our seeking, and the quest is not an easy one. Strangely enough, you might not find Faith in church. But there you will discover where to begin to look for it.

'Trigger' For Subconscious

Hilda, though engaged to Bob, was swept off her feet and into an illicit affair by emotional intoxication. She wonders what made her do wrong, especially when she doesn't love the strange boy. She suffered from subconscious sexual hypnosis.

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph.D., M.D.

Case T-569: Hilda B., aged 20, is a coed sex victim.

"Dr. Crane," she tearfully began, "I can't explain whatever made me act so foolishly.

"For I am really in love with a boy named Bob.

"In fact, I have been wearing his fraternity pin and had promised to marry him.

"But last weekend, while Bob was with the varsity ball team and playing at a distant university, I met a jolly type of fellow at the Union Building.

"He kidded me along and finally invited me to a soda with him.

"Well, I don't know what made me fall for him but I got intoxicated by his personality.

"So he took me to a Drive-In movie that night and started a heavy petting party when we parked in a 'Lover's Lane.'

"Although I had never succumbed before to a man's sexual demands, I confess I couldn't stop when this new boy friend insisted on my going all the way.

"Now, as I look back on what I did, I can't understand myself!

"It is just as if I had been intoxicated by liquor, though I never drank a drop.

"Dr. Crane, what is this emotional intoxication that makes people deviate from all their previous moral habits?

"For Bob would be crushed if he knew I had had this cheap affair."

Sexual Magnetism

Sometimes two people seem to be on the same exciting erotic "wave length," as it were.

Their entire previous backgrounds may be different and they may not even like each other afterwards.

So they may realize at the outset that they would never be happy if married to each other.

Yet a mere chance meeting may make their pulse pound and give them all the tingly emotional effects that true love also develops.

These include palpitation of the heart, butterflies in the tummy, tremors of the hand, a dry throat and sometimes an almost inability to talk!

"Dr. Crane," Hilda added, "when he looked deep into my eyes, I literally felt as if my knees had turned to water and I was going to collapse."

Childhood emotional brainwashing often is the explanation for this hypnotic sexual attraction to a total stranger.

In "earned" love, for example, mutual interests and many happy dates may ultimately create a true love romance.

But "love-at-first-sight" may occure in a moment of time, yet it really is predicated on early childhood experiences.

Sometimes it turns sour but again it may also develop into a permanently happy union, for I fell in love with Mrs. Crane at first sight.

But Hilda's romance was not even love-at-first-sight, for she admits she prefers Bob and wouldn't be permanently happy with this stranger.

Often, a girl stores away in her subconscious mind various romantic thoughts that have been generated by her father or brother or favorite cousin, all of whom may have "earned" her admiration.

Later, a stranger may "trigger" a sudden discharge of all those stored romantic motions because he happens to have a nose or eyebrows or gestures or tone of voice that resembles her beloved male kin.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East

4 ♡	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Four of ♠

Altho West failed to uncover the killing opening against South's four heart contract. East capitalized on a slight slip by the declarer to develop a second chance for his partner.

Altho a club lead would have cinched eventual defeat for South, West made the normal opening of the four of spades. The three was played from dummy and East paused to reflect before playing to the trick. If he put up the ace and returned the suit and his partner had the king, then the defense might reasonably expect to cash out two spades, one heart, and at least one club to defeat the contract.

On the basis of South's jump to four hearts, it appeared more reasonable to assume that the latter held the king of spades as well as the missing strength in the red suits. In an attempt to develop a reentry to West's hand, East alertly played the nine of spades at trick one—which dislodged declarer's king.

The queen of hearts was put thru for a finesse and East was in with the king. He now underled the ace of spades, returning the deuce. His efforts were rewarded when West won with the queen and realizing that his partner desperately desired a shift—he led back a club and East cashed out two tricks in that suit to set South down by one.

Declarer could have frustrated the defensive heroics by playing the jack of spades from the North hand at the opening gun. East is obliged to put up the ace, thereby assuring South of winning the return with the king. After the heart finesse, is taken and East gets in with the king, he has no way to put his partner in. If he leads back the ten of diamonds, South plays the queen and puts the remaining trump with the jack of hearts. The ace and king of diamonds are cashed, North's hand is entered with the ace of hearts, and the jack of diamonds provides a parking place for one of declarer's clubs.

South's losses consist of one trick each in spades, hearts, and clubs, East's takeout double clearly indicated that the ace of clubs would be off side and declarer should exert every effort to prevent West from getting a second opportunity to lead thru North's king.

Three Attended Conventions

Three members of the business education faculty of the East Carolina University School of Technology were at professional conventions last week.

Dr. Frances Daniels, associate professor, attended the national council meeting of Pi Omega Pi honorary business education society in New Orleans. She is a national organizer for the group.

Assistant professors Thadys Dewar and Velma Lowe attended the North Carolina Business Education spring conference in Charlotte on Saturday.

Mrs. Dewar also attended the spring meeting of the North Carolina Vocational Education Association in Raleigh Friday.

Damage By Nile Erosion Growing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Egyptians are learning it will take more than the Aswan High Dam to tame the Nile.

Because of the dam, the muscle of the mighty river flexes with new vigor, threatening to undermine 550 bridges built within the last 19 years as well as three diversion dams, old but still needed.

The dam has strained out the silt, washed down from Ethiopia and central Africa. Without this burden—110 million tons a year—the river surges through the valley of the Nile with new force, chiseling out river banks more than ever.

Ten new but smaller dams, costing about $22 million each, are planned downstream to slow the water on its way toward the Mediterranean. Otherwise, engineers say, damage from erosion will be severe in 10 to 15 years.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina egg markets steady to weaker Thursday.

Supplies fully adequate.

Demand fair.

Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:

Grade A large whites: 36 to 37, mostly 36½ to 37;

Medium, whites: 30 to 32, mostly 31 to 32;

Small, whites: 26 to 29, mostly 26 to 27.

RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA)— North Carolina hog markets today are steady to $.50 higher. Tops of $23.50-24.25 at Whiteville; 22.75-23.75 at Kinston, New Bern, Benson, and Lumberton; 23.00-23.50 at Rocky Mount; 22.00-23.00 at Siler City, Denton, and Tarboro; 22.25-22.75 at Bethel; 23.00 at Salisbury.

RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA)— North Carolina poultry markets today are weaker on heavy types and steady on light types. Supplies are fully adequate on both types and the demand is fair. Heavy hens at farm 12¾-14, FOB plants 16-16½. Light type at farm 4½-4¾.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices strengthened today as selective buying offset investor concern about the Vietnam war and recent actions by the Price Commission. Trading was moderate.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 2.11 at 939.42. Advances on the New York Stock Exchange were narrowly ahead of declines.

Prices on the Big Board's most-active list included Evans Products, up ⅜ at 27⅝; Amerada Hess preferred, up 1⅛ at 106⅛; Ford, up ¾ at 70½; and Amerada Hess, up ¾ at 48⅛.

pave the parking lot. Facts related by City Engineer C. A. Holliday and the city manager show that county officials have for several months had the required design for a parking lot furnished by the city.

At the conclusion of the discussion, Mayor West made a suggestion that thecouncil "consider not granting the permit, but assuring them that once the parking lot is in, the city would consider a trailer on the parking lot on a temporary basis."

On this request, councilmen moved to table further consideration until the June meeting scheduled for June 8. (By that date, the current one year permit will have been expired by two months).

On other mobile home permits, Ashley Allen Jones' initial request to place one at 1401 Van Dyke Street to be used as a residence for his son wasset for a public hearing in June.

Four request for renewal permits were approved. These are for — Planters National Bank at the intersection of East Tenth Street and Cedar Lane; Carr Motor Company on Memorial Drive; Mrs. W.R. Gladson at 512 East Gum Road; and Vernon R. Stalls at 134 West Gum Road. As a member of the Planters Bank board, mayor West abstained from voting on the bank's request.

Two other initial mobile home permit requests those of Wesley Earl Brown and D. G. Nichols, both in Meadowbrook, will be considered at a public hearing in June, not as individual requests, but as part of a public hearing scheduled for June in a council proposal to add a new permitted use category for certain R-6 residential areas.

Council members, taking note of the growing number of requests for mobile home permits, particularly in certain areas of town, agreed that a study for amending the ordinance was needed.

City Planner Dillon Watson was directed to draw up the necessary amendment and a map plan that will encompass the area bounded on the south by Mumford Road, on the north by the canal, on the west by North Pitt Street and on the east by the city limits.

The public hearing will center on this area as one in which an amended ordinance will be presented to the public. The presentation and hearing will be in two parts; one for the amendment itself, followed by a hearing for the outlined area.

Statistics were cited to show that currently in this area about 50 percent of all residences are mobile homes.

D. G. Nichols, asked for his statistics, said that "45 per cent of all housing sold in Greenville last year in the under $15,000 price range was trailers."

Street abandonments of Mill, Factory, Center, Cross and Wade Streets in the Newtown Redevelopment Project will have to go the rounds again. The project will be readvertised and heard again at a public hearing. City Attorney David Reid said this was necessary since he had been informed by attorney M. E. Cavendish that land owners David and Plato Evans had given notice they could not sign a waiver. The waiver had been sought by the city attorney because of an earlier failure t o send the land owners a copy of the registered letter notifying them of the intent to close the streets.

All four public hearings on rezoning requests were approved in the absence of opposition.

On the D. G. Nichols request for Oakhurst Subdivision, located on U.S. 264 east outside the Greenville City limits, Austin Birtt raised a question about a safety factor. Britt expressed his opinion that the access road from the proposed development onto U. S. 264 near a curve would be a safety hazard. Nichols said developers are working with highway people on realignment of the road in connection with the highway plan.

Oakhurst was rezoned from RA-29 to two zones, a highway commercial zone parallel to the highway, and the remainder of the area as R-6 residential.

The Dallas W. McPherson request was approved for zoning to highway commercial property previously zoned RA-20, located adjacent to the Greenville Golf City property.

Councilwoman Mrs. Mildred McGrath abstained from voting on the Eddie Harrington request for the R. L. Smith property on Hooker Road, which was approved for R-6 zoning for multi-family dwellings with one portion zoned flood plain.

Mrs. McGrath, noting the absence of Harrington or a representative, said "I don't like the idea of a rezoning request becoming so matter of fact that those requesting it do not bother to be represented at a public hearing." (Shortly after the request was heard, Harrington arrived and apologized for being late).

The final rezoning approved changes from R-6 to downtown commerical fringe an area at the intersection of South Washington Street and West 14th Street. Mayor West pointed out this brings the area into conformity with an adjacent downtown commercial fringe area.

Mattamuskeet Dredging Halted

LAKE MATTAMUSKEET, N.C. (AP) — Work on a drainage project between the 50,000-acre Mattamuskeet Wildlife Refuge and Pamlico Sound has been temporarily halted.

State officials said no state dredging permits have been approved for the year-old reconstruction work going on in three long canals, and they want to determine the potential impact on coastal fisheries resources in Hyde County before more dredging continues.

Local farmers generally are in favor of the project because they feel it will improve drainage of their fields.

Ordination Dream To Be Realized By 80-Year-Old

By STEVE WILSON
Associated Press Writer

ST. MEINRAD, Ind. (AP) — When just a small child, Michael William Murphy knelt to pray in his parents' living room. "I asked God that I get a gold watch and become a priest," he said.

Later his parents gave him the watch and he still carries it. Next week, at 80 years of age, he will be ordained into the Roman Catholic priesthood after a lifetime of hoping and praying.

Murphy will be one of the oldest persons ever ordained into the Catholic priesthood in the United States and perhaps one of the oldest persons to be ordained into the church's priesthood anywhere in the world, according to officials here at St. Meinrad College and School of Theology.

"I've been looking forward to it for a long, long time," said Murphy, a retired Detroit real estate developer who never married.

"I'm on the second shift, you see," he said, referring to his ordination at 80 when most priests have already died or are slowing down.

Still with an agile mind, firm voice and strong handshake, Murphy thingks he will live "at least to 100." After all, he points out, the doctors say he is perfectly fit, his mother lived to be 95 and some of his other relatives lived past 100.

The ordination will be at St. Margaret's Church, Maggie Valley, N.C., on May 11. It is one of two churches Murphy built in the Smoky Mountains region of North Carolina.

Murphy moved to North Carolina from Detroit in 1950 after his mother died.

He said he learned about the area's natural beauty, friendly people and its spiritual and financial need while traveling between Detroit and his family's winter home in West Palm Beach, Fla.

After moving south, the Most Rev. Vincent S. Waters, Bishop of Raleigh, N. C., provided much of his spiritual support as he made the decision to enter the priesthood, Murphy said in an interviw here.

It was not until late in 1970 that he finally made the final decision to become a priest. In December of that year he arrived here to study for his ordination. Since then he has studied with the Seminarians at St. Meinrad and he has also received special tutoring.

He will be serving after ordination in a parish in Williamston, N.C., in the eastern part of North Carolina.

The formal studying here for the priesthood "was easier for me than I expected," he said. "I have read so much during my life that it made it easier."

Murphy said his fellow seminarians, most of whom are a half century younger, have "been so kind to me that I'm embarrassed."

Lonliness after his mother's death was one of the factors which drove Murphy to the Smoky Mountains, he said.

St. Margaret's Church, which he built and where he is to be ordained, is named after his mother's patron saint.

It is located on a mountainside with a spectacular view of Maggie Valley. After seeing his mother's nickname, "Maggie," on a map, Murphy said to himself, "I'm going over to see what it's like."

"When I saw it," he recalled, "I knew that it was the greatest part of the eastern United States."

Before building the church at Maggie Valley, he built a church at Sylva, N. C., which is now staffed by Glenmary Missonaries.

He also bought a house and renovated it for a Newman Center at Western Carolina University. And he built a large motel in the valley to provide work for the mountain people.

When Murphy and his family lived in Detroit, the Holy See granted special permission for them to build a private chapel in 1932.

Mass was regularly offered there by the Jesuit priests from the University of Detroit or by Benedictine fathers from St. Sylvester's Monastery in Detroit.

Murphy was baptized and received his first communion in what is now St. Mary's of Redford in Detroit.

At 66, He Plans To Give Blood

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Alfred Ross who turned 66 today said he still would continue to donate blood despite Red Cross rules.

Ross, described by the American Association of Blood Banks as the nation's leading blood donor because he has given 135 pints of blood since 1943, said, "I'll have to start fibbing about my age."

The Red Cross bars blood donors over 66, claiming elderly persons might risk their health.

Ross, a drummer with the touring "Disney on parade" show, said he never had accepted money for his O—positive blood, which can be given to almost anybody.

Chet Atkins To Get Award

NASHVILLE, Tenn (AP)—Guitarist Chet Atkins will receive a National Human Relations Award on Tuesday from the National Conference of Christian and Jews.

The conference said it is giving Atkins the award for his work in furthering the careers of other musicians and for his music.

Entertainer Johnny Cash will present the award, which went last year to comedian Bob Hope.

Here's Why They're Saying It

Industry and Environment

As governor, Terry Sanford led the state to a record $1.3 billion in new industries, a policy of no pollution for North Carolina, and 120,489 new jobs. He brought the Environmental Health Laboratory to the Research Triangle and made North Carolina the national center of environmental concern.

Education

Terry Sanford's ideas on educational reform gained a national image for North Carolina. By increasing funds for public education and initiating innovative curriculum reforms, he lifted morale, quality, and interest in North Carolina education. He led in the creation of the Education Commission of the States, a nationwide body of governors, state legislators, and educators who work together for the improvement of education.

Transportation

Terry Sanford built and improved more primary roads than any previous state administration, and he paved more than 4,000 miles of secondary roads.

Farming

Terry Sanford protected the position of the small farmer. His creation of the nucleus of a whole new food processing industry gave the small farm a much bigger role in the state's economy.

Welfare

Terry Sanford's North Carolina Fund was the one state-based program for helping people break out of poverty and into jobs and independence. It worked. Designed for the community level, the Fund was a plan which, if followed nationally, would have eliminated the waste and inefficiency in the present federal welfare system.

Human Relations

Terry Sanford's Good Neighbor Council provided more and better jobs for black citizens and brought minority groups and community leaders together to solve problems on the local level.

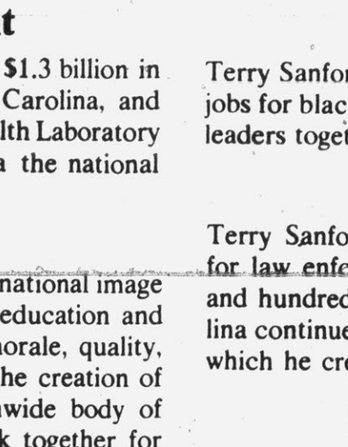
Law Enforcement

Terry Sanford organized and taught in the first full-time school for law enforcement officers in the state. All highway patrolmen and hundreds of local law enforcement officers from North Carolina continue to study at the Institute of Government Police School which he created.

Making Government Work

Terry Sanford's leadership in interstate activities such as the Southern Regional Education Board and The President's Appalachian Study Commission, and his leadership in the creation of the Education Commission of the States have made him an expert in helping states to work together for the common good.

Terry Sanford constantly has new ideas on how to make government work better. Last year, he designed the Southern Growth Policies Board which joins the southern states in working for a better future. His goal was simple—Don't duplicate the mistakes northern cities have made. His answer is unique—The right use of state power.



Taxes

Terry Sanford has a positive approach to the problems facing our economy. In order to reduce unemployment, eliminate the federal deficit and get the economy moving again, he would reduce taxes immediately for low and middle income families so that working people can have the money they need to buy family necessities.

Success Still Eluding U.S. Minorities

By WESLEY G. PIPPERT

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government's attempts to aid minority business enterprise—to make the American Dream come true for blacks, the Spanish-speaking and Indians—is a story so far of too little money and too little know-how.

But many people still cling hopefully to the dream and it shows occasional signs of coming true. In cold statistics, however, the minorities have a long way to go to become a meaningful part of the business establishment.

Blacks, the Spanish-speaking, American Indians and Orientals make up 17 per cent of the U.S. population, but they own only 4 per cent of the nation's eight million businesses. Most of these are barber shops, retail stores, the so-called "Mom and Pop" stores with an impoverished clientele. They handle less than 1 per cent of total business sales.

As President Nixon said: "These statistics starkly summarize the gross disparity of the minority enterprise imbalance, but they do not adequately outline the broader effects on our society at large. The human cost, in terms of lost potential and lowered horizons, is immeasurable."

The Government's Program

The government's efforts to help minority business fall into more than 100 programs. Some of the most important are:

—The Commerce Department's Office of Minority Business Enterprise (OMBE), whose goal, as Nixon put it, is "to forge an alliance of government, private sector and minority business interests."

—The Small Business Administration (SBA) which makes and guarantees loans to minority groups. In the last three years the SBA has approved $600 million in such loans. An official said 20 per cent of them are in trouble or delinquent.

—The Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) program of grants to community development corporations. There are about 40 such corporations which have helped establish 230 business "ventures." Only 5 to 10 per cent of them are on schedule, however.

This may add up to a lot of federal funds, but it still is only a miniscule portion of the Gross National Product of $1 trillion a year.

There is disagreement over how best to help minority businesses.

To oversimplify a bit, the so-called social philosopher holds that government should provide the minority entrepreneur with cash and other resources, let him make the decisions "and even give him the right to fail." Pride and self-determination are the important things.

On the other hand, the businessman approach asserts that the government must provide expert managerial assistance as well as funds, impose tough standards every step of the way, and even force into bankruptcy those who over a period of time show little prospect of overcoming their problems.

The Risks of Capitalism

New businesses are hazardous at best. About 80 per cent fail the first five years. This applies especially to new minority businesses.

As with white businesses, most fail because of incompetence. They also fail because of the lack of managerial experience and lack of experience in the field they're in.

The government has done little to help plug these holes. Neither has the white business establishment. There is a segregation in society, said Commerce Secretary Peter G. Peterson, former head of Bell & Howell, "and business is no exception ... I think it is fair to say that it has not only been segregated but in many respects it has not been equal."

Nick Oritz, SBA's deputy assistant administrator for minority enterprise, cites the typical white, middle-aged banker as an example. The banker is not used to doing business with the minority entrepeneur. He may not understand the five talk of the youthful ghetto entrepeneur. He doesn't know how to deal with a person who is not financially sophisticated, who does not have a business background matching his own.

Ortiz, a Puerto Rican who was a banker in New York's Bronx, says banks do not want to get involved in the detail associated with government programs. But he also says it's a matter of attitude.

Peterson said, however, that "most businessmen in leading positions, including banks, are beginning to understand, perhaps in a deeper way than they have before, that their success as businesses depends ultimately on the viability and success of the entire society, that is to say, the entire market.

"If you have nearly 20 per cent of the American population that is not part of that mainstream, that feel alienated, that are angry, that are not part of it, this could have an important effect on the total viability of the American society and, therefore, the total viability of the American market."

Nixon's 'Black Capitalism'

Nixon campaigned in 1968 on a platform embracing "black capitalism." After he took office, he established OMBE to plan and coordinate minority business development and directed federal agencies to buy from minority entrepreneurs when possible.

The Small Business Administration has increased the amount of its direct and guaranteed loans to minority businesses from $104 million in fiscal 1969 to $160 million in fiscal 1970 to $214 million in fiscal 1971, but critics call the increase misleading.

The percentage of the amount of all SBA loans to minority businesses dropped from 20 per cent two years ago to 18 per cent last year. SBA assistant administrator Arthur McZier, a black who was a marketing specialist for Ford and Seeburg Corp., says this means that both business communities are growing but that the white community is growing faster.

SBA is working with such groups as the National Alliance of Businessmen (NAB), SCORE (Service Corps of Retired Executives) and ACE (Active Corps of Executives). These organizations send volunteers to counsel the minority businessman.

Executive Unfamilarity

Even so, there are headaches. What, Ortiz asks, does an executive of one of the top 500 corporations know about setting up a shoe store in Watts?

BSU Facility NeedsExpanding

SAN MARCOS, Tex. (AP) — An increase in the number of students participating in Baptist student center activities at Southwest Texas State University has resulted in plans to expand facilities during the summer.

The Rev. D. Glen Norris, director of the Baptist Student Union, said attendance at Tuesday and Thursday evening vesper services warranted the planned expansion.

The proposed addition will cost $60,000, with the BSU raising half and the Texas Baptist general convention providing matching funds.

Millions Go For 'Better Ideas'

DETROIT (UPI)—Employees of Ford Motor Co. also have "better ideas" —$31 million worth, to be exact.

Since Ford began its Employe Suggestion Plan in August, 1947, awards totaling $31 million, including 319 new cars, have been paid to employes for their better ideas. More than 2 million ideas for improvements were submitted. About 367,000 of them were adopted.

About 33,000 foreign cars enter the port of Baltimore monthly, making it the world's leading auto importer.

A Non-Lawyer who believes that the Courts belong to the People

I believe that a better balance could be maintained in this district if a non-lawyer were elected. I have served for two years as Magistrate, and have, in those two years, experienced or observed every type of situation likely to come before District Court. As Magistrate, I have been trained in the District Court system and procedures at the Institute of Government at Chapel Hill. I make indictments for every court, accept pleas, and take bonds.

Our neighboring district of Greene, Lenoir & Wayne Counties have two judges who are not lawyers, and their record on the bench has been acclaimed by many.

Much more important than the degree held is the experience and the man himself. Can he make decisions without yielding to the pressures of friends and cronies? Does he or can he render fair & impartial judgements? Are defendants who are not represented by counsel treated as fairly as those who are?

What I Believe. . .

I believe that the solution (as nearly as possible) to the Drunk Driver Problem lies in the court. Law enforcement is doing its job, but too often the arresting officer seems to be the one being tried. I consider the drunk driver and drug abuse to be the most serious problems facing our district today, and largely because of laxity, diversity of judgment, etc., in our court.

I believe that Probation Officers are often grossly misused by the courts. They are too often simply asked to act as collection agents for the court, and cannot thus effectively do the job for which they are intended. They often do not receive the needed cooperation from the courts.

I believe that our citizens lose their respect for the courts when they see charges reduced for some defendants, while others must face the full penalty for their violation. This breeds contempt for a system that must stay above reproach.

Tennessee Williams Satisfied With His Writing

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Drama Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Tennessee Williams talking. Slowly, softly, intently. The same man you've met before, but different.

"When you've really had a mental crackup, it's a great catharsis of all the things that have troubled you. That is, if you survive it, and I barely did. ..." The words trail off.

The Williams spectacle of brilliant playwriting, physical illness, emotional turmoil and sybaritic splash has for a quarter-century delighted, distressed and diverted multitudes.

"I feel I have lived a full life," he ties it all together. The tone is measured assurance. Or resignation?

The distinguished dramatist last month passed his 61st birthday. His latest play, "Small Craft Warnings," more recently premiered Off-Broadway. The events together enticed him from preferred seclusion for a far-ranging conversation. The events, that is, plus palpable distress over what people may think of him today.

The mixed critical reception that greeted "Small Craft Warnings"—many reviewers found that play's characters were ghosts from dramas past—stirs a fervent rejoinder:

"What do they want, blood? At 61, I don't have blood to give. I gave them good writing, I achieved my purpose, which was to write a play that corresponded to a short story."

One scene he regards as "the finest writing I have done since the early plays." In it, an elderly homosexual describes his loss of all interest in life, of being unable any longer to be surprised by anything.

"That the man was a homosexual was only a kickoff for the speech. He's not my kind of homosexual."

Williams evinces reluctance to dwell on that aspect of human behavior, or to linger over any detailed pathology concerning past dire bodily ailments.

"I've covered all this," the statement echoes like a prayer. "You don't want to write much about this, do you?" Then gratefully, "No-o-o. I was really a wreck."

In appearance, Williams projects augmented confidence. He has sworn off the more exotic medicaments indulged in of yore, has "two or three drinks and I'm a great lover of wine. I do get tired at night." He writes every morning.

"I love traveling most of all. You can write anywhere you have a piece of paper."

But Williams has no intention of turning hermit.

"My doctor told me I should go to Key West and live like a crocodile." His arms paw the air in mime of a lethargic swamp dweller. "What was my answer? Well, I'm not doing it, am I?" Roar of laughter. The conversation frequently breaks for gleeful bursts.

"I have found again the ability to be surprised, which I lost during the 1960s. I feel much freer with people and I feel I have more friends."

What has it all to do with the inner man, the creator whose lyrical imagery has ever been strongly etched with burning compassion. Do demons of anguish still haunt him?

"Oh, you mean my neuroses, No, no, no, no, they don't any longer. I don't permit them to."

Has he found an anchor of serenity?

"Well, I'll tell you one thing. I'm not afraid of death any more. I used to be excessively afraid. Death doesn't frighten me. I have a great deal of longevity in my family, but I think in my particular instance that's going to be counteracted by this cardiac condition. I feel I have lived a full life."

As a technician he reports another change. During the middle years Williams notoriously kept compulsively working and reworking plays, even after they had been produced and published.

"I suppose you want an honest answer to that," he remarks. "Well, you're going to get it. I'm not going to knock myself out any more!

"I have a major play that I have finished, and I have other plays that I will possibly finish. They are things I've started and dropped, going back several years except for one I began in Paris last fall. I like to have several works going at once. It would be awful to have nothing left to say." More laughter.

"If critics constantly compare my work with past performance, then it is because they are totally unacquainted with the history of most American writers.

"American writers frequently do their most spectacular work early in their career. If they've got any sense, and their work declines, they quit.

"Now, I've never felt my work has declined to that degree. I couldn't quit anyway, because writing is my greatest satisfaction in life. I have others, but writing is the greatest. Why should I quit?

"My mother thinks I should. (He visited Edwina Williams, 88, last Christmas at her home near St. Louis.) She pretended to like my writing for a while. Then she saw 'In the Bar of a Tokyo Hotel' and said, 'Son, you must find some different occupation.' I said, 'What would you suggest, Mother?' and she was stuck for an answer."

All that he writes thereafter for the stage, the author also vows, will be first done far from the Broadway upon which he exploded with "The Glass Menagerie" in 1945. Two Pulitzer prizes and a dozen productions of other works over the next two decades solidified his artistic eminence.

"I'm not going to go through the hell of a New York production again if I can help it. It's absolute hell. Off-Broadway has the same strain.

"The producers of 'Small Craft Warnings' were exceptionally nice men. They did everything they could to make things easy for me, but still I was terrified.

"I have a pathological fear of failure, you see. Yes, yes, it was grown. It's reached a point now where I don't think it's worth trying in New York anymore."

Detroit Crime Sharply Down

DETROIT (UPI) —The largest reduction in Detroit crime in almost seven years was recorded in January, a drop of 26.1 per cent. Robbery was down 32 per cent, the biggest decrease in 16 years. Homicides were 9.6 per cent lower. Rape, the only category to show an increase, was up 21 per cent.

German Births Decline

WIESBADEN, Germany (UPI) —The birth rate dropped in West Germany in 1971, according to the Federal Office of Statistics. The office reported 776,500 babies were born, compared with 880,000 in 1970. It also said 727,400 persons died during the year.

Eyeful For Customers

SAN MATEO, Calif. (UPI)— The customer gets an eyefull as well as a tankful at a gas station here.

Carl Fava, owner of a Shell station, has beautiful girls in hot pants or short skirts pumping gas and he says "business is up 20 per cent since the girls started working."

"The girls are my answer to the gas wars," he said.

But Fava, 31, and his girls insist it's the service that counts. The customer gets all the windows scrubbed and a free vacuuming.

"It isn't a women's lib thing," said Cindy Logan, 25, who wears a micro-mini over hotpants.

"I just dig working on cars. I've been working on them all my life. I took auto shop when I was in school."

Beverly Zachreson, 19, works in a two-piece purple velvet hot pants outfit and says she is "not cold at all."

Miss Zachreson said in the two weeks she has worked she has learned to balance tires "and things like that."

"Everybody's real friendly," she said.

Insects Add To Cost Of Food

CHICAGO (UPI) —When complaining about food prices don't neglect to scold a group of particularly expensive villains —insects.

Despite centuries of fighting agricultural pests, says Encyclopaedia Britannica, insect activity still is costly, ranging from an estimated 6 per cent loss to wheat, to 12 per cent to corn and 15 per cent to potato crops in the United States.

Record Number Of U.S. Drivers

DETROIT (UPI) —Licensed auto drivers in the United States now total nearly 116 million, the Federal Highway Administration estimates. The record number of 115,800,000 drivers is greater than the 1920 total U.S. population, which was 105,710,000. The largest group of drivers is between the ages of 20 and 24, accounting for 13.2 per cent of the total.

Danish Population

COPENHAGEN (UPI) —The population of Denmark is expected to hit the 5 million mark in September. An average of 209 babies are born every day and 99 immigrants are given Danish citizenship daily. The population reached 4 million in May, 1945.
