Not Guilty Plea Heard

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Arthur H. Bremer pleaded innocent today in U.S. District Court to federal charges in the May 15 shooting of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace and three other persons at a political rally.

The 21-year old unemployed busboy appeared relaxed and smiled several times during the 16-minute hearing before Chief Judge Edward S. Northrup. Bremer replied in a strong voice to Northrup's formal questions concerning his name, age, attorney, education and whether he understood the four charges against him contained in an indictment handed down Tuesday by a federal grand jury.

Senate Blocks Stronger Anti-Busing Provisions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has crushed attempts to strengthen antibusing provisions of a $23.1-billion higher-education bill.

Senate passage, considered likely this afternoon, would set the stage for a confrontation with the House which has tackled tougher antibusing provisions onto its version of the bill. By a 44-26 vote Tuesday, the Senate defeated an attempt by Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., to send the bill back to conference with instructions to accept all the House amendments.

Study Group Will Consider Earlier Tobacco Market Openings

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A three-member study group will consider proposals and come up with recommendations on the question of earlier tobacco market openings in the Carolinas and Virginia.

The three members were elected Tuesday and instructed to report by June 7 to the full subcommittee of the industrywide Flue-Cured Tobacco Marketing Committee. They are Bill Michaels of Danville, Va., a buyer; W.A. Allen of Farmville, a grower, and S.S. Edmondson of Rocky Mount, warehouseman.

Carolina growers want their tobacco markets opened earlier. John W. Sledge, spokesman for the North Carolina Farm Bureau Federation, said that in the past the Farm Bureau has opposed a federal marketing order to obtain earlier opening of markets. But he said that "unless relief is granted in the form of earlier market openings, don't know how much longer we can continue opposing such an order."

A marketing order, if approved by a two-thirds majority of growers after public hearings, would empower the U.S. secretary of agriculture to regulate markets with the assistance of an advisory committee representing all segments of the tobacco industry.

Mrs. Harry B. Caldwell of Greensboro, State Grange master, recommended that all markets in the state be opened when local crops are ready and be kept open until a majority of the tobacco in the area has been sold. W.L. Williamson of Kenly presented a plan sponsored by the North Carolina Farm Bureau which called for the phasing out in of marketing operations on all belts.

Leroy Simmons of Albemarle, a grower, proposed abolishing all belt lines in North Carolina for crop reporting purposes. He told the subcommittee all type 14 tobacco — grown in Georgia and Florida — should be sold before any other markets are opened. Under Simmons' proposal, each farmer would be allowed to sell 9 per cent of his crop each week on any market he chose. All markets in the Carolinas and Virginia would open simultaneously.

Twelve sets of buyers would be assigned to the 11 markets in the South Carolina, 60 sets to the 45 markets in North Carolina and eight sets to the 10 markets in Virginia. Roy B. Davis Jr., Virginia tobacco marketing agent, offered a proposal for rotating buyers to "phase in" some markets while others were being "phased out."

Arms Curb Agreement In Moscow Rumored Near

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
MOSCOW (AP) — President Nixon summoned his chief strategic arms negotiator today amid reports the Moscow summit had virtually reached agreement on curbing defensive missile sites and freezing offensive nuclear missiles at present levels.

Ambassador Gerard Smith is coming to Moscow Thursday from Helsinki, Finland, where he has been negotiating with Soviet envoys in the strategic arms limitation talks. The chief Soviet envoy at Helsinki, Vladimir Semenov, also is expected to return here.

As President Nixon met for the fourth time in the Kremlin with Communist party chief Leonid Brezhnev, the sources said the negotiators hope to be ready for the signing Friday of a treaty covering the ABM curb and a less formal agreement for the freeze on offensive missiles, both those based on land and those on submarines and surface ships.

The agreement apparently would not bar either country from installing improved missiles at existing launch sites. It is expected that the agreement will provide for the use of reconnaissance satellites to verify that missile emplacements are not being increased by either country.

Nixon and Brezhnev are expected to hold both morning and afternoon sessions today and then to participate in the signing of an agreement for cooperation in space exploration, the third accord produced during Nixon's visit to the Soviet capital.

There was speculation that one of the goals of the space agreement might be joint orbital trips by U.S. and Soviet astronauts before the 200th birthday celebration of the United States in 1976.

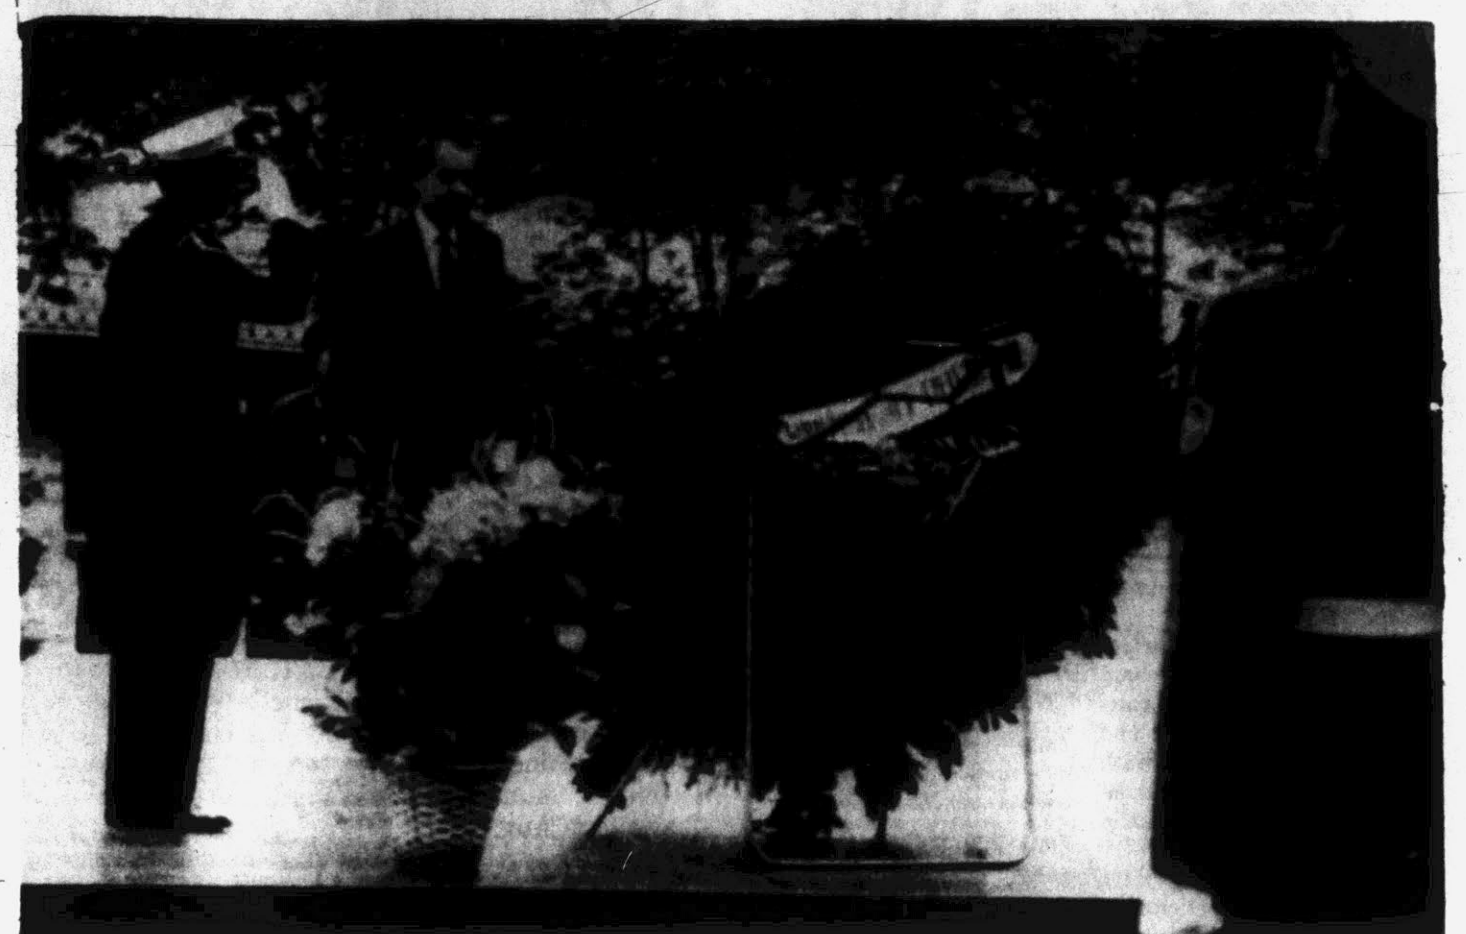

The President emerged briefly from the Kremlin today for the first time since he arrived in Moscow on Monday to place a wreath at the tomb of an unknown soldier killed in the defense of the Soviet capital in 1941. The general public was barred from the area alongside the Kremlin Wall, but about 150 Muscovites watched impassively as Nixon's motorcade made the short trip through closed-off streets.

Mrs. Nixon continued to do the sightseeing for the first family. Her itinerary today included Moscow University, the big GUM department store and a night at the circus. The summit bore its first modest fruits Tuesday with the signing of two agreements—for American-Soviet cooperation in combating killer diseases and environmental pollution.

Nixon and President Nikolai V. Podgorny signed the pollution accord at a brief ceremony in the Kremlin. Then Secretary of State William P. Rogers and the Soviet health minister, Boris V. Petrovsky, initialed the other.

The far-ranging pollution agreement covers reduction of urban noise levels as well as such obvious items as cleaning up the air and water. The United States and the Soviet Union agreed to exchange scientists and research scholars, technical and scientific information and to engage in joint development of programs in pertinent basic and applied sciences.

Heart disease and cancer are the major targets of the health agreement.

McGovern Wins Oregon And Rhode Island Votes

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
AP Political Writer
PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Sen. George McGovern, an overwhelming victor in the Rhode Island and Oregon Democratic primaries, heads south today to battle Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey in California's June 6 showdown.

McGovern takes the momentum he sought, and he says that if he can win California with its 271 delegates, he might be able to wrap up the Democratic presidential nomination before the national convention opens July 10 in Miami Beach, Fla.

The two victories Tuesday gave McGovern 56 more delegates—22 in Rhode Island, 34 in Oregon—and he added 11 more from Missouri district meetings to swell his first-place total to 502½ of the 1,509 votes needed to capture the nomination. In Rhode Island, where the South Dakota senator never campaigned but relied on his usual spirited volunteer organization and appearances by his wife Eleanor, he polled 41 per cent of the vote. McGovern's total was more than the combined sum for Sens. Edmund S. Muskie and Hubert H. Humphrey, who finished second and third.

In Oregon, where he was the only major candidate to campaign, McGovern's percentage hovered at about 50 per cent in an 11-candidate field. Gov. George C. Wallace, beneficiary of a substantial media campaign, while still hospitalized after being shot eight days ago, was a surprisingly strong second, with Humphrey third. President Nixon easily won the Republican primaries in the two states.

"We have lots to celebrate tonight," McGovern told 500 cheering supporters at a downtown Portland hotel, "and two weeks from tonight, I want you to know we are planning a great celebration in the state of California."

Asked if he thought he could go to Miami Beach with the nomination wrapped up, McGovern said that "depends largely on whether we win in California two weeks from tonight." He added: "I expect to win in California after a hard effort."

He planned to fly to Sacramento to start his California drive with a speech to a Press Club luncheon on the problems of Mexican-Americans, the largest minority group in the state.

Like Humphrey, he pledged to appoint a Spanish-speaking American to his Cabinet and said he would fill California's first federal judicial vacancy with a Mexican-American.

Humphrey, already campaigning in California after conceding Oregon in advance to McGovern, congratulated his rival but said "California is a separate arena all to itself."

Testing For Sickle Cell Anemia Set

Testing for sickle cell anemia will begin in earnest here this week with a clinic set up at Moyewood Social Services Center Thursday from 5 to 8 p.m.

Tests will be made first to see if the individual carries the sickle cell trait. Then if the test is positive, a test for the disease will be done. The trait is carried by one in every 10 black Americans in the United States, but only when both parents of a child have the trait is the child prone to have the disease. Persons with sickle cell anemia have such symptoms as poor physical development, frequent illness, and severe pain. There are many medical procedures that they may not safely undergo. The Pitt County Community Health Department is conducting the testing for the trait and Dr. Garland E. Pendergraph and his medical technology students of the East Carolina University School of Allied Health and Social Professions are doing the testing for the disease. Persons wishing to be tested at the Community Health Department may go in at any time and request the test. Knowing whether one has the trait and-or the disease may save his life or that of his or her child says Tony Harris, who is heading the Task Force on Sickle Cell Anemia in the county. Because testing kits are limited at this time, only persons between the ages of six months and 16 years may have the test at the Moyewood clinic Thursday, but hopefully every black person in the county may be tested in the near future, Harris said.

He said the Greenville Junior Woman's Club, Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity of East Carolina University, the Student Council of the Pitt County Schools, ECU student nurses, and other interested citizens have assisted the Health Department greatly in soliciting both funds for and participation in the project.

Invited To Quiz Lt. Gov. Taylor

Lt. Gov. Pat Taylor will answer questions from the public on a 30-minute television program Thursday morning over WNCT-TV here.

According to the Democratic gubernatorial candidate's state campaign manager Lindsay Warren, Taylor will be available for questions over WNCT from 8:30 until 9 a.m. Warren said that citizens of Pitt County are invited to telephone questions to Taylor during the program by calling 756-6315.

Government Workers Use Ms. When In Doubt

By ANN BLACKMAN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — When in doubt, use "Ms."

That's the philosophy of an increasing number of government workers when they need to refer to women in correspondence and other official documents.

A survey of more than a dozen government departments and agencies indicated no official policy exists on the use, or nonuse, of the title which some women's rights organizations have proposed as a substitute for the titles "Miss" and "Mrs."

Most of those interviewed expressed the view of Pentagon spokesman John Becker, who said, "We have no objection to 'Ms.' But in routine correspondence, we use 'Miss' or 'Mrs.' according to our policy book. However, if a woman signs herself 'Ms.' in a letter, we address her that way in the reply."

Those government workers who do use "Ms." regularly say it simplifies record keeping, saves time and avoids embarrassing mistakes.

"For one thing, it's efficient when you make lists," said Roslyn Kleeman at the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. "It saves so much time, and the time saves money. We use it in our office automatically."

Ms. Kleeman, acting director of HEW's Woman's Action Program, personally prefers the new title. She said it eliminates the possibility of discrimination against married women.

"We don't ask men if they're married or plan to raise families," she said. "So why should we ask women?"

Several personnel directors said it is often necessary for insurance purposes to know if an employee is married and has dependents, but that for divorced women the title can be misleading.

At the White House, there appears to be some debate about whether "Ms." is appropriate.

Barbara Franklin, who's in charge of recruiting women for top government positions, said she uses it. Roland Elliott, who handles the President's correspondence, said he uses it if a woman signs herself that way.

But a member of the first lady's staff, Gwen King, said, "We certainly don't do it in Mrs. Nixon's correspondence. We have ways of finding out whether a woman is married or not."

Mrs. King said she asked Mrs. Nixon who told her "to continue as we have been going. We'll keep in the same groove."

Mrs. King noted that not every woman wants to be addressed as "Ms."

For example, a Connecticut woman addressed a letter to HEW's "Miss" Kleeman who is actually a "Mrs." to complain that she must be illiterate.

The woman said that in a letter she received from HEW, Ms. Kleeman had misspelled "Miss" in two places.

Big Is The Word For Fall Fashions

By ANN HENCKEN
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Big sleeves, big coats, big shoes—some fall fashions have ballooned in size.

"I concentrated on big sleeves," said designer Issey Miyake, following his fall show for Paris Collections Monday. His clothes are a great blend of familiar and strange looks. He showed big-sleeved lamb wool jackets—very short—over high-high wrapped platform boots and pants in an unusual cotton, woven to look quilted.

"It took me a year to develop the fabric," said Miyake, who used it for reversible jackets, in bright blocks of color, as well as peddle pushers and even shorts.

His sleeves got even bigger and rounder for evening—in snow and rain print blouses and pants.

Miyake likes man-made suede combinations, sometimes in monotones, ending in peculiar shoes and boots which he designs. They are large platform styles, some with turned up toes and ankle lacing.

The thick soles are made of cork so they're very light, says Miyake. However, it's not easy to develop an undulating walk in them. A clip-clop step is more like it.

His midi pants showed off the shoes to their best or worst advantage—depending on how you feel about them. And you're bound to feel strongly one way or the other. Actually, they grow on you.

For his generous, blousy evening dresses, he used a mathematical print, designed by Makiko Minakawa—instead of the popular plaids.

"Everyone was going checked and stripes. Pop prints were finished. What could we do?" said Miyake, who previously worked for Givency in Paris, then Geoffrey Beene in New York, and finally went to Tokyo to do his own designs in 1970.

The collection is priced $40 for blouses, up to $300.

Designer Scott Barrie has his own version of the larger, easier coat.

He does an extended shoulder. It looks like the coat is too big for the model, but it holds the attention because you keep trying to figure out what is going on. It's very casual-looking. Scott keeps the loose look with his short dolman sleeved sweaters, and dresses with tucked shoulders and flaring skirts.

His version of the short evening dress defies that stifled look. He does dresses with tiers of pleated chiffon which show more leg than the mini ever did.

His clothes are priced up to $250.

Fall classics on the drawing board indicate a big wool season ahead. Pendleton, the fabric pace-setter, has in its new fall line supple flannels, fleeces, tweeds, meltons, coatings, doubleknits and blanket fabrics in heathers, plaids, jacquards, stripes, patchworks and herringbones.

For Her Happiness, Call Her 'Ta Ta'

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: My mother in law is 47 years old. Two years ago when our first child was born she became a grandmother for the first time.

When people congratulated her on becoming a grandmother, she'd say, "I am not a grandmother. I am the mother of a new father!"

We thought that was rather clever at first, but she continued to make such a point of not letting anyone refer to her as a grandmother, we realized that she wasn't kidding.

When our child began to recognize her, she insisted that he call her "Ta Ta," and she said she never wanted him to call her "Grandma, Granny, Nana," or anything related to grandmother. Then she goes into that silly routine about her not being a grandmother, she's the mother of a new father.

We don't want to make a big thing out of it, but we'd like to know how to tactfully handle the situation.

SMALLTOWN, USA

DEAR SMALLTOWN: Call her "Ta Ta" to keep her happy. But whether she likes it or not, she is a grandmother, and she'll not be able to avoid that label forever, which will be her problem, eventually. Not yours.

DEAR ABBY: What makes a woman cheat on her husband? He's a hard worker, gives her all he can and has never mistreated her in any way. They have gone thru a lot of rough times together and have six beautiful children: from 10 years old down to 2.

The woman is myself, Abby. I am not in love with my husband, but I can't tell him that or it would kill him.

I have met another man who means everything to me. It's not just sex. We enjoy being together, talking on the phone, and a lot of little things.

He is leaving the state soon and has asked me to go with him. I told him I would go. I love my children, Abby, but there is no way I can take them with me.

What can my husband do to me if I leave him with six children? Don't tell me to see a head shrinker. I am not crazy, I just don't want to pass up the only chance I've ever had for real happiness. Help me. SAD BUT HAPPY

DEAR SAD: You need much more help than I can give you in a letter. Discuss this with someone whose opinions you respect. [A clergyman.] Just talking things out will enable you to see them more clearly. Without knowing him, I would say that a man who would ask a mother to leave six small children is no bargain.

DEAR ABBY: There is a question I have been wanting to ask you for a long time.

DEAR TONGUE-TIED: I say, "You're absolutely right! Who are you?"

DEAR ABBY: I am a 17-year-old high school senior who still gets bare-bottom hairbrush spankings from her father. Many times it's for minor offenses. Is it possible to take my problem somewhere or to someone who could make him stop? Is it legal for him to continue such punishments even on a teen-ager?

DEAR DESPERATE: Tell your mother. If she is helpless (or if you have no mother) tell your father that you are too big to be punished that way, and you will seek help from your school counselor, family doctor, family lawyer, clergyman, and since you're a minor, the child welfare department if he tries it again.

Momentous Meeting In Moscow

A momentous meeting is going on in Moscow, one which could lead to an era of international cooperation and peace.

President Nixon has journeyed to Moscow for a meeting of heads of state of world super powers. A surprising meeting was held early between Nixon and Leonid Brezhnev, general secretary of the Communist party.

The talk was of "international problems", "relaxation of international tensions" and "strengthening universal security," official spokesmen said.

These generalities cover almost all of the troubles which plague the world today. However, it is safe to assume that these first and subsequent talks will involve reducing of world problems through some arms limitation, trade between the two giant nations and settling the Vietnam war, as well as reducing Middle East tensions.

This is not to suggest that all these problems will be solved during the presidential visit. The likelihood is that none of them will be, but the groundwork can be laid as world leaders meet face-to-face for future negotiations which can bring improvement in all these areas.

The president made a bold move in his recent announcement of the mining of North Vietnamese harbors. It was a calculated risk and it could have meant the end of the Moscow visit. The visit is underway, however, and obviously the president won the gamble.

Right now there seems to be a comparative lull in Vietnam fighting, either by design or because North Vietnam has already thrown everything it had into the pre-Moscow visit offensive.

Almost everyone agrees that the time is right for arms limitation agreements between the United States and the Soviet Union. As for trade, both countries have products which the other wants and this should give impetus for agreement here.

It is also possible that, if the North Vietnam offensive is spent, then some agreement can be reached here, too. The war has been embarrassing and disruptive for the United States, but it has been quite expensive for the Soviet Union which has had to furnish the supplies that have been blown up by the Americans.

We could be closer to a Vietnam agreement than we dare to hope.

At any rate the opening of the Moscow conferences has been encouraging. We can now believe that good results will be forthcoming.

Infighting Can Be 'Fratricide'

By BRYAN HAISLIP

RALEIGH — Is the Republican Party in North Carolina coming of age or coming apart?

Whatever the answer — and it will have to come after the current primary for governor and the fall general election — the Tar Heel GOP clearly is at a crossroads juncture.

The fierce contest between Jim Gardner and Jim Holshouser for the gubernatorial nomination has the overtones of a struggle between elements of the party for control of the structure.

Gardner and Holshouser

the gubernatorial race.

Repercussions At Convention

There were predictions that Rouse's action will have repercussions next month at the GOP state convention.

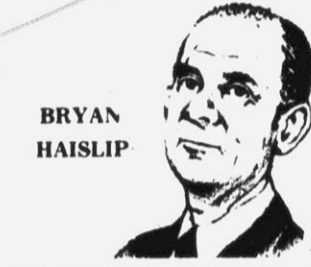

While Gardner looked an easy winner, Rouse promoted the idea of a primary as healthy for the party. He said he became an active participant because of the tone of Holshouser's attacks.

On the other hand, a Holshouser supporter quoted Rouse as saying he would "tear the party apart" to win the runoff for Gardner.

Rouse, a Kinston contractor, went to considerable effort and expense last fall to win the chairmanship. His victory gave insurgents the feeling they were in the saddle, but Holshouser's dramatic finish in the first primary set them back on their heels.

The irony is that Rouse succeeded Holshouser as state chairman. Prior to Holshouser's six-year tenure, Gardner served briefly as state chairman.

GOP Gains Noted

BRYAN HAISLIP finished in that order but less than 2,000 votes apart on May 6. The latter exercised his prerogative for a runoff. That assured Republicans that before June 3 they will get a taste of the primary fratricide that Democrats take as a fact of life.

They are unaccustomed to it. Only one before has there been a GOP primary for governor; a second primary, never.

Some leaders are fearful the intensity of the in-fighting will demoralize the party and slow the movement to a viable two-party system in the state. Others take the optimistic view that, copying the Democrats, hard-fought primaries can contribute to the party's growth.

They're Far Apart

The distance between Gardner and Holshouser is greater than the mileage from Rocky Mount to Boone, their respective hometowns.

Gardner represents an insurgent force, intent on statewide victory through modern campaign techniques with muted emphasis on party label.

Holshouser comes from the ranks of the regular organization, keen on loyalty and sensitive to party obligations.

Party direction becomes an open issue last week when Frank Rouse laid aside duties as state GOP chairman to campaign for Gardner. He intended to leave the office in the hands of the hired help, but Mrs. Grace Rohrer of Winston-Salem quickly moved into the void.

As state vice chairman, Mrs. Rohrer said it plainly was her place to serve in the absence of the chairman. She promised strict neutrality in the gubernatorial race. There were predictions that Rouse's action will have repercussions next month at the GOP state convention.

While Gardner looked an easy winner, Rouse promoted the idea of a primary as healthy for the party. He said he became an active participant because of the tone of Holshouser's attacks.

On the other hand, a Holshouser supporter quoted Rouse as saying he would "tear the party apart" to win the runoff for Gardner.

Rouse, a Kinston contractor, went to considerable effort and expense last fall to win the chairmanship. His victory gave insurgents the feeling they were in the saddle, but Holshouser's dramatic finish in the first primary set them back on their heels.

The irony is that Rouse succeeded Holshouser as state chairman. Prior to Holshouser's six-year tenure, Gardner served briefly as state chairman.

GOP Gains Noted

The Holshouser years saw Republicans carry the state for President Nixon, North Carolina's first time outside the Democratic column in 40 years, and the election of two more GOP Congressmen.

While there was a waning of Republican strength in the state legislature, Holshouser claimed a strengthening of the party in the number of local offices held.

The factional alliances for Gardner and Holshouser could have an important bearing on the outcome of the primary, in which only registered Republicans may vote. Whether it will carry over to the general election is another question.

Democrats still outnumber Republicans by better than three-to-one in registration. To win in the fall, the GOP nominee must court the Democrats.

On that score, too, Democrats have far more to lose from post-primary bitterness in their own hard fight between Hargrove (Skipper) Bowles and Lt. Gov. Pat Taylor. Disaffected Democrats could cross party lines or stay away in numbers sufficient to change the outcome of the general election. That kind of danger, in the same degree, does not face Republicans.

In the final analysis, political parties can stand a lot of strain in the competition for internal leadership as long as they find the candidates who can prompt the citizen to pull the right lever on the voting machine.

Rouse Willing To Be Bloodied

By JOHN KILGO

RALEIGH — Frank Rouse, the controversial chairman of the North Carolina Republican Party, says one main reason he took a leave of absence to join Jim Gardner's campaign for Governor is because Jim Holshouser has implied directly and indirectly that he has White House support for his candidacy.

"Holshouser made it sound like he had the support of the White House," Rouse told me in an interview, "and that just ain't so."

"I thing it's stooping to a low level to drag the President into a campaign for Governor and then try to run on his coattails, especially when it might hurt the President."

At the age of 33, Frank Rouse of Kinston is a financial success. He's made big money in the construction business. He also made headlines several months ago when he campaigned for and won the chairmanship of the GOP.

At that time, Rouse told me in an interview that he was willing to get his head bloody to preserve party unity. Rouse might get his head bloody over his latest move but party unity is hardly a topic of discussion among Tar Heel Republicans these days.

"I know what I did was dramatic, controversial and unprecedented," Rouse said. "I went through pure hell trying to decide the right thing to do and I made the decision I felt was best for the party. I could have taken the easy way out but I didn't."

Rouse says his short political career has been filled with unprecedented moves.

"I campaigned for the chairmanship and that was unprecedented," he said. "I was a full-time chairman and that was unprecedented. If Wallace isn't on the ballot in November, Nixon will get 60 to 65 per cent of the vote in North Carolina. Our nominee for the U.S. Senate (Jesse Helms) might already have his race won. And we have our best chance ever of electing a Republican Governor.

"All of those things are unprecedented."

Some people have charged that Rouse wasn't exactly neutral in the first primary, when he was serving as Party chairman. He disputes that and says that he ran a straight ship.

He admits, however, that he was surprised that Holshouser ran such a strong race on May 6.

"The Gardner people were grossly overconfident in the first primary," Rouse said. "They didn't bother to work, vote or contribute. That seems to be turned around now. Gardner people are enthusiastic and willing to work this time."

As an official part of the Gardner team, Rouse says he'll work in the background. "I think I've shown that I have no interest in running for public office," Rouse said. "If there was ever any doubt, I cleared that up when I came out for Gardner."

"If Gardner is nominated, I'll probably return as party chairman. If Holshouser should win, I would return to the job if he asked me."

Even Rouse had to laugh when he said that. But he did say he would support Holshouser in November, if the Boone attorney wins on June 3.

How about after the runoff, will the Republicans ever be able to get back together?

"Look," Rouse says "the Democrats have been through these things time after time and they manage to get together after it's over. The Democrats have their own fights to worry about this year."

Handguns For Everybody

WASHINGTON — There are now 90 million handguns in the United States, excluding the two that were taken from Arthur Bremer last week. This means that there are still 110 million men, women and children in this country who don't own a handgun. These people are being deprived of the pleasure of shooting at targets and cans, as well as defending themselves against intruders, hippies and Communists.

Unless everyone in America owns a handgun there will never be peace in this country.

The problem with supplying everyone with a handgun is money. Many people would rather spend their salaries on such luxury items as food, clothing and housing. They fail to see that a handgun is a necessity and essential to the safety and well-being of the American family. By making the ownership of a handgun optional, the government is leaving 110 million persons unarmed and at the mercy of the 90 million persons who do own handguns.

The only solution to this problem is for Congress to pass a law making it mandatory for everyone in the United States to own a gun.

There may be cries from the antigun lobby that by forcing people to own handguns Congress is trying to infringe on the rights of the electorate. There will be other complaints that handguns are expensive and many people cannot afford them.

But these are red herrings which will not hold up under examination. You can buy a handgun in this country for as little as $10. Ammunition costs less than a penny a bullet.

No country in the world offers its citizens a greater choice of guns than the United States.

There are snub-nosed guns that can fit in a woman's handbag, semiautomatics that fire eight slugs at a time, .38s that can hit someone at 50 feet, .45s that can make holes as large as a fist and very light .22s that a 6-year-old can fire.

We are blessed because anyone in America can have the gun of his choice at a price he can afford.

For those who are on relief and unemployed the government could supply surplus weapons from the armed forces at the same time they give out food stamps and unemployment checks.

There is absolutely no reason why everyone in this country could not be armed by 1973.

The opponents of handguns will argue that if everyone owns a gun there will be an increase in crime.

This is balderdash. Everyone knows that guns don't kill people—people kill people. You don't eliminate crime by keeping guns out of the hands of law-abiding citizens in this country.

It's time to stop talking about handguns and do something about them. In addition to a law making owning a gun mandatory, we must have an educational campaign pointing out the good things about guns.

Not only do they give pleasure to people, but they also contribute heavily to our

Other Editors Say Slanting Is Obvious

(Goldsboro News-Argus)

A friend of ours who usually presumes the best in everyone looked up from successive copies of a national magazine.

On one copy was a drawing of President Nixon, scowling, menacing. The cover had silhouettes of war scenes in the background.

Clearly, it cast Nixon as a modern day Thor.

The other had a picture of Senator George McGovern.

The background of this cover, as our friend saw it, was a shining light from the heavens.

In still a subsequent issue little things tended to stand out. Perhaps this was because our friend, who usually doesn't look for such things, had called the earlier instances to our attention.

The subsequent issue features a portrait of a North Vietnamese general. The inside story spoke glowingly, and perhaps justifiably, of him. He was called "fabulous" in the story. It came out like "wonderful".

In the same issue was a picture of Alabama's George Wallace.

He glowered beneath an American flag. What appeared to be smoke blotted out part of the picture. Wallace, dark shadows under his eyes, looked like a Hollywood makeup artist's dream of the devil himself.

Thumbing on through the magazine, which ostensibly offers a discussion of the "news" we could not help but see a picture of U.S. warplanes loaded with bombs.

The caption under this "news" picture was "The need was negotiation, the prospect bloodshed".

The stark suggestion was that the United States chose bloodshed over negotiation.

Warily, we cancelled our subscription.

Cites 'No. 1 Consumer Fraud'

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) —

Herbert Denenberg, the Pennsylvania insurance commissioner, believes that the No. 1 consumer fraud in America is the manner in which government is operated.

Not government itself, mind you. He thinks that will work, given the right people and programs. But he claims government is failing "because the special interest groups are calling the shots."

"Look," he said as he reviewed figures called from The Statistical Abstract, "government spends more than $300 billion on $1,500 per person each year, more than we pay altogether for food, beverages, clothing, jewelry."

"It takes 13 million employees to spend that money. Why then did it take Ralph Nader instead of the government to spread the word on the problem of automobile safety?"

The views of Denenberg, 42, are worth listening to. He is a lawyer, insurance man, consultant, author, former professor. Even more to the point, he claims the formula for putting government to work is hardly a mystery.

He has in a matter of months, attacked lawyers, doctors, hospitals, Blue Cross, Blue Shield, health insurers, life insurers—all, he says, in the interest of efficiency and consumer welfare, mainly in the form of lower rates.

He forced Blue Cross to cancel its contracts and negotiate new ones aimed at forcing hospitals to seek efficiency. He issued guides to show consumers the real rates they paid for insurance. He promoted no-fault auto insurance as good for the public but bad for trial lawyers.

tomobile safety?"

The views of Denenberg, 42, are worth listening to. He is a lawyer, insurance man, consultant, author, former professor. Even more to the point, he claims the formula for putting government to work is hardly a mystery.

He has in a matter of months, attacked lawyers, doctors, hospitals, Blue Cross, Blue Shield, health insurers, life insurers—all, he says, in the interest of efficiency and consumer welfare, mainly in the form of lower rates.

He forced Blue Cross to cancel its contracts and negotiate new ones aimed at forcing hospitals to seek efficiency. He issued guides to show consumers the real rates they paid for insurance. He promoted no-fault auto insurance as good for the public but bad for trial lawyers.

With such an attitude on government's part, he claims, the old-fashioned virtues of thrift, efficiency and responsibility will be instilled in the special interests, with resulting public benefits in better service and lower costs.

A great problem, however, says Denenberg, is that the heads of government agencies fail to conceive of themselves as public servants. "Regulatory agencies," he maintains, "have been converted into devices to protect industry."

While this situation continues, he believes, the public will hardly be served. But even when the regulator has no special commitments to special interests, he may fail to do a good job.

This, says Denenberg, is when he fails to appreciate his obligation to serve the public, to provide it with information, to serve as a compensating power against that of pressure groups.

In his opinion, government works best when the regulator develops sound programs aimed at resolving public problems. If the programs are poorly conceived, no amount of selling will do the job.

The next step in Denenberg's approach is to mobilize support. You do this by appointing consumer advisory panels. You hold hearings. You seek the testimony of experts.

When the public recognizes that you mean business they provide more information. They know something will be done, and in so thinking they make your job easier. You reciprocate, always keeping the communications open.

With public support, says Denenberg, "you have strength with the governor, the legislature, the special interest groups. We couldn't take on all this without public support. We'd be wiped out."

But when you have that support, he adds, government works. "It almost scares me how much action you can get."

Strength For Today

REAL COURAGE

If there is one thing we can all agree on it is that habit-forming drugs are a curse. If this curse is going to fall upon our people—and especially our young people—then the future of our country and world is dark and foreboding. Methadone is not the answer. We can't taper off on anything as dangerous as habit-forming drugs of any kind. They will tear the life of the individual into pieces, and the life of the nation also, if addiction is allowed to get a real hold on any considerable portion of our population.

This is a good time for us to ponder past history. There has always been some menace hanging over every nation and in most cases bringing it at last to extinction. Although history does not repeat itself, there are certain patterns to which individuals and nations must conform. Self-indulgence brings us in the end nothing but unhappiness. As long as our lives are centered within ourselves we are in for a bad time. Blaming others for our discomforts or failures will only make these discomforts and failures harder to bear.

Helen Keller was one of the greatest women our country has ever produced. Stricken as an infant with an illness that left her blind, deaf and mute, Miss Keller became a fountain of strength and courage to hundreds of millions. "Love" and "joy" were her favorite words, and "war" the word she most despised. "I get more eager," she declared, "and climb higher and begin to see widening horizons."

There's courage, common sense, faith in God and humanity all lumped together.

Jordan Stumps In Greensboro

By RAY ROLLINS
For The Associated Press
GREENSBORO (AP) — Sen. B. Everett Jordan, not to be outdone in person-to-person campaigning, sought the mill-gate and fire station votes in Greensboro today.

"Help me out on June 3," Jordan urges. "I've been in Washington nearly 15 years and have experience, and there's no point in sending somebody else up there to train when I'm already trained."

And through the crowds he goes, with a brisk shuffle, ever mindful that there has been frequent mention of his age, 75, and physical condition.

"I'm feeling fine. Not a thing wrong with me that I know about. The people who have been with me campaigning have had a hard time keeping up," Jordan says at the least opportunity.

"Anybody who can stoop down like this and get back up without any trouble can't be in too bad a shape," said Jordan, as he retrieved a pair of scissors from a cutting-room floor in a textile plant.

His Greensboro stumping today was to include a visit with office workers at Burlington Industries, store-to-store hand shaking, mingling with diners in the cafeteria in a Western Electric plant, and a visit to a cigarette factory this afternoon. "I can't vote for you," a young lady told Jordan at a shopping center in High Point Tuesday. "I'm on my lunch hour."

Jordan held news conferences Tuesday in High Point, where he spent much of the day before going into private huddles with campaign aides in Raleigh.

At the news conferences he continued his second-primary theme that he has been busy on legislation in Washington while his opponent, Rep. Nick Galifianakis, has been concentrating more on campaigning than on fulfilling his duties in Congress.

Busing Endorsed By Nat'l PTA

NEW YORK (AP) — Delegates to the National Congress of Parent and Teachers have voted 302-296 to support busing to achieve racial integration in schools.

The vote came Tuesday night at the annual convention by delegates who represent 8.5 million Parent-Teacher Association members throughout the nation.

Recommend Fund Cutoff For Troops In Vietnam

By HARRISON B. HUMPHRIES
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has voted to require a total withdrawal of all United States military forces from South Vietnam by Aug. 31.

The fund cutoff for U.S. combat and support forces in South Vietnam was recommended to the Senate by a 7-2 committee vote. It would become part of a $1.7 billion foreign-aid authorization bill. President Nixon had recommended a $2.24 billion foreign aid bill for the 12 months beginning July 1.

The withdrawal deadline was presented to the committee in an amendment by Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana. It calls for an end to all land, sea and air involvement by U.S. military forces in Indochina upon agreement between the United States and North Vietnam on a ceasefire, release of American prisoners of war and an accounting of Americans missing in action.

Chairman J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said addition of the Mansfield amendment to the foreign aid bill could help clear the way for action on a pending State Department authorization bill. Mansfield has introduced a similar amendment to the State Department bill but is not expected to press that issue now. The committee also added two other administration-opposed amendments to the foreign aid bill.

One amendment would cut off funds for the implementation of "executive agreements" reached last December with Portugal and Bahrain until those agreements have been submitted to the Senate for ratification as treaties. The agreements are for U.S. naval bases. The other amendment would require that all future arrangements for military bases or the storage of nuclear weapons on foreign soil be presented for ratification as treaties.

Both were introduced by Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J.

As Many As 600 Soviet Tanks In Vietnam War

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. analysts estimate the North Vietnamese army has sent as many as 600 Soviet-built tanks into the Indochina war.

This is about twice the estimate used by Defense officials a month ago and apparently represents a refinement of intelligence since the big enemy spring offensive against South Vietnam began in late March.

South Vietnamese and U.S. military authorities have claimed destruction of well over 250 enemy tanks and other heavy tracked vehicles such as self-propelled artillery.

Some of these destruction claims, particularly by the South Vietnamese, are regarded with skepticism by certain U.S. analysts, although they acknowledge that South Vietnamese soldiers have scored well with a light, U.S.-supplied antitank rocket.

North Vietnamese use of armor and heavy artillery on a major scale for the first time in the war contributed significantly to enemy gains earlier in the offensive, particularly in the rout of the South Vietnamese 3rd Infantry Division at Quang Tri.

By now, a senior U.S. general said, "the South Vietnamese have gotten over the psychological shock of fighting eye to eye with tanks." Rocket-firing U.S. helicopters and fighter planes have become more effective against North Vietnam's tanks as air crews have gained experience in dealing with them, the general said.

Intelligence sources deny they were caught by surprise when the North Vietnamese brought in armor. These sources claim they alerted top government officials well over a year ago that Hanoi was sending tanks into southern Laos near South Vietnam. However, these were mainly thin-skinned, 15-ton PT6 amphibious vehicles, regarded by the U.S. Army as undergunned.

Last October, about six months before the enemy's spring offensive opened, U.S. military intelligence reports told of 40-ton T54 battle tanks, armored assault guns and other heavy weapons moving into the North Vietnamese region above the demilitarized zone.

At that time, U.S. analysts thought Hanoi was positioning armor defensively, perhaps to counter any new South Vietnamese push against the Ho Chi Minh supply-trail network in southern Laos.

Song Revival Guardsmen Back On Thursday From Ft. Bragg

"A Song Revival" is scheduled Thursday evening at York Memorial A.M.E. Zion Church beginning at 7:30 p.m. Elder James Vance of Newport News, Virginia, billed as a "noted sinner and evangelist" will be guest speaker for the revival which will include the Holy Scriptures, prayer and message in the song service.

To furnish music for this one-night service, choirs from the city and county have been drawn on to form a 500 voice choir, under the direction of Johnny Wooten.

The service is under the auspices of "The Voices of Zion" a newly organized group of vocalists and instrumentalists

Some 48 enlisted men and two officers of Detachment One of the 213th Military Police Co. stationed here have returned home following their annual two weeks summer training at Ft. Bragg.

According to S. Sgt. Mack

Tripp of the Greenville based detachment, the National Guardsmen spent the two weeks pulling military police duty with the regular Army's 503rd MP Battalion, stationed at Ft. Bragg, and working in various capacities at the post's new stockade.

Tripp said that first week duties included road and traffic military police patrols as well as furnishing men for desk sergeant, vehicle registration and provost marshal assignments. Men of the 213th also served as clerks and in other capacities as needed during the opening week, it was pointed out.

The sergeant pointed out that the second week of training involved stockade duty with members of the regular Army's assigned personnel. Each job and position held by a Guard member during the training is normally manned by Army personnel, he said.

Station commander is 1Lt. Robert Grant of Mt. Olive. The 213th is part of the 167th Military Police Battalion.

Heat-Sensing Devices Used To Locate Cancer

One-Fourth Of Elderly In Poverty

By CRAIG PALMER
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Of the nation's 20 million persons aged 65 and older, about 4.7 million or one-fourth of them live in poverty with annual incomes of $2,328 or less for a couple and $1,852 for an individual living alone.

Older persons make up about 10 per cent of the total population but 20 per cent of the poor. In other words, if you're old, you're twice as likely to be poor.

Such statistical characteristics of aged Americans are from Herman B. Brotman, assistant to the Commissioner of the U.S. Administration on Aging. He also reports:

VOTING—Of the number of persons who cast ballots in the 1968 presidential election, 17 per cent were age 65 and older. As a group, larger percentages of older persons voted than younger persons. For example, of all persons 55 and older, 70.2 per cent voted in 1968 while only 66.7 per cent of persons aged 54 and younger voted.

HEALTH COSTS—In fiscal year 1970, of the $58 billion spent on personal health care, over $15.7 billion or 27 per cent was spent on aged persons. On an individual basis, older Americans spent $791 a year for health care and persons under 65 spent $226. Of the $791, public sources like medicare and medicaid provided $534 and private sources like personal income and savings provided $257. The biggest chunks of the $791 went for hospital care ($372) and doctors' services ($136).

MARRIAGE—Most older men are married; most older women are widowed. Among 100 wives aged 25 with husbands aged 30, about 31 will be widows before the husband reaches age 65 and 42 will be widows after the husband reaches age 65.

NEGRO AGED—The 22.7 million black Americans of all ages represent 11.2 per cent of the population but the 1.6 million older Negroes account for only 7.8 per cent of the older population because of a shorter life expectancy for blacks. One unexplained exception: life expectancy for black men after 65 is better than for white men.

GEOGRAPHIC DISTRIBUTION—Only one state, Montana, had exactly the same percentage of older persons in 1970 as the nation's average of 9.9 per cent. One-fourth of all older Americans lives in just three states—New York, California and Pennsylvania.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Heat-sensing devices developed to stalk the enemy in Vietnam are being used in a medical hunt to spot breast cancer before it's too late.

The new technique is so promising that some doctors think medicine may now have a way to conduct mass screening ranked in order of their older populations. States with the lowest percentages of old people are Hawaii and Alaska.

of women, a project they believe might eliminate the disease as a major killer of American women.

Estimates are that this year 71,000 women will learn they have breast cancer and 30,000 will die from it.

The heat-sensing instruments measure infrared radiation. In Vietnam they're used in weapon systems and for enemy detection at night. In medicine, they've become part of a machine called a thermograph.

"We feel that thermography is going to prove to be of the same value in breast cancer detection as the Pap smear in cervical cancer," predicted Dr. Alfonso Zermeno, a biophysicist at the M. D. Anderson Hospital here where more than 3,000 women have been studied with thermography since the mid-1960s. Other doctors have expressed reservations about thermography.

Mass screening of women for cervical cancer using the quick, inexpensive and easy to administer Pap smear has brought a dramatic reduction in the disease in recent years. Cervical cancer was a leading killer of women 30 years ago.

Doctors have recognized for some time that early detection of breast cancer through mass screening is a secret to conquering the malady, which particularly strikes women over 40. But the necessary devices have been lacking.

Even the most skillful doctor's fingers can't locate a tiny, new tumor. An X-ray technique called mammography can spot tumors, but it has limitations, is expensive and controversy-ridden because of the radiation involved. It has never gained acceptance as a mass screening technique.

The principle involved in thermography is simple. For some reason cancer tumors generate more heat than surrounding body tissues. This heat is radiated outward from the body as infrared radiation. It will show up on an infrared scanner just as the heat from an enemy truck engine in Southeast Asia will appear. The thermograph, which sits on a tripod and looks like a portrait photographer's camera, measures only the body's natural radiation.

Not all doctors are ready to accept thermography, however. And even its most avid proponents warn it should be used in a mass screening program only in conjunction with a physical examination of the breasts either by a doctor or a highly trained paramedic.

Thermography's detractors argue that it still isn't sophisticated enough and that some breast tumors can slip through.

Thermal Station For Pakistani

KARACHI (UPI)—Pakistan's future view of the Soviet Union may be brightened by a thermal station which, when completed, would be a source of light for the entire southern region of Sind.

Said to be the biggest in Asia, the Gudu thermal station will contain five power supply units to be constructed in three phases at a total cost of about $300 million.

Czechoslovakia and Russia, reports said, have agreed to complete the first two phases of the project, which is to start by March, 1973. Russia's contribution will be a 200 megawatt unit.

When fully completed, the thermal station will have a total power supply capacity of 820 megawatts—"enough power to set up new industrial plants of all types throughout the Sind province," an official said.

Kangaroos Pose Highway Hazard

SYDNEY, Australia (UPI)—A newly-paved stretch of highway across the lonely Nullabor Plains in Australia's outback has created a unique driving hazard—kangaroos.

Motorists driving the 350-mile stretch near Billadonia in West Australia report several narrow escapes from bounding kangaroos feeding on the green vegetation alongside the road.

Highway engineers say the asphalted road apparently collects early morning moisture which seeps to the roadside, providing greenery for the local animal life.

High Stakes For McGovern In California Primary

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer

Sen. George McGovern has won the final political warm-ups, and now the Democratic presidential game is called California. It could be decisive.

The stakes are high, its primary campaign is costly and difficult—and if past performance is a guide, California voters may not be persuaded by the preliminaries.

There are 17 presidential primaries behind the campaigners now. They have transformed Sen. Edmund S. Muskie from a winter favorite into a spring-time also-ran. They have helped catapult South Dakota's McGovern out of the field and into a hefty lead in terms of delegate commitments. They have awarded Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey his first primary victories in a presidential campaign career that dates back a dozen years. And they have proved the Democratic voter in a mood for protest—Gov. George C. Wallace has won six primaries and often ran strong when he lost.

The form chart to date:

McGovern won Tuesday in Oregon and Rhode Island, earlier in Nebraska and Massachusetts, after his underestimated campaign took off with victory in Wisconsin.

Wallace was the victor in Michigan, Maryland, Florida, North Carolina, Tennessee and his own Alabama.

Humphrey's victories came in Pennsylvania, in Ohio, narrowly, and over Wallace in West Virginia and Indiana.

That leaves Muskie, which is just what the primaries did. He won in New Hampshire, but McGovern began cutting him down with a strong showing there. He scored in Illinois, then went nowhere.

His slim hopes of nomination now are pinned to a convention deadlock; he is out of the primary campaign, although he edged ahead of Humphrey to run second in Rhode Island Tuesday.

All through the long primary season, McGovern has been doing better than his rivals in collecting delegates awarded outside the primary states. His national total is now 502½, a shade under one-third of the 1,509 it will take to win nomination. Wallace stands second at 323, Humphrey third at 290½.

McGovern said Tuesday night that whether he can build his vote into a first-ballot presidential nomination hinges largely on whether he can win in California. He could have skipped the "largely".

And Humphrey, who has been campaigning there for a week, noted pointedly that "California is an arena all to its own."

There is a record to support that contention. Four years ago, former Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy won the Oregon primary over the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and thought he had a big boost for California. Kennedy won the California primary the night he was assassinated.

Eight years ago, when the competition was Republican, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York captured Oregon's primary, went south and lost California to Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

McGovern claimed in his Oregon campaign, but not in his victory statement, that a primary win there would give him momentum that could prove crucial in California.

"I expect to win in California, after a hard effort," he said after the Oregon returns were counted.

There are three other primaries on June 6—in New Jersey, New Mexico, and McGovern's South Dakota, where he is unopposed.

Then comes the finale, in New York, for 278 delegates, elected by district. McGovern is expected to score heavily in that June 20 wrap-up, perhaps gaining 200 or more of the votes at stake.

Whether he can score heavily enough depends on the California contest. There, it's head-on with Humphrey.

A write-in move for the wounded Wallace is only psychological; he is not on the ballot and cannot win.

And in California, it is winner take all—perhaps all the way to the Democratic convention that opens July 10 in Miami Beach.

Air Pirate Is Shot Down

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — A group of soldiers slipped through the baggage compartment of a hijacked Ecuadorian airliner Tuesday and machine-gunned the hijacker to death. It was the second time this month air piracy has been thwarted with gunfire.

The hijacker, an Ecuadorian named Lomas, took over the Electra turboprop shortly after it left Quito for Guayaquil.

He forced the plane to return to Quito where he threatened to blow up the aircraft unless he got $40,000 ransom and a parachute. But he let the passengers get off.

Troops surrounded the plane. Nearly six hours later, some of the soldiers entered through the luggage compartment and killed Lomas with a burst of fire from their machine guns. The pilot, Fernando Valdivieso, was reported slightly injured.

The shooting of the Ecuadorian hijacker resembled the ending two weeks ago of the hijacking of a Belgian jetliner by four Arab guerrillas who held 97 persons hostage aboard the plane at Tel Aviv Airport. Israeli paratroopers got into the plane, killed two of the hijackers and wounded a woman guerrilla and two passengers. One of the passengers, a 22-year-old woman, died.

Says Tiny Tim Loved Publicity

NEW YORK (AP) — Singing star Tiny Tim's wife Miss Vicki blames what she calls his love of publicity for the breakup of their marriage.

In an article in the June issue of Ladies Home Journal, she said her love for the singer, whose real name is Herbert B. Khaury, began to wilt when he insisted that they be married to Johnny Carson's television show Dec. 17, 1969, over her objections.

She said she also opposed naming their daughter Tulip, after Khaury's theme song, because "I resented using our baby as a form of promoting his career."

"He was more excited by the publicity than by the fact that we had a daughter, she said."

Mrs. Khaury filed for divorce March 3.

Black General Heads Division

BAD KREUZNACH, West Germany (AP) — Maj. Gen. Frederic E. Davison has taken command of the 8th Infantry Division, becoming the first black divisional commander in Army history.

The 54-year-old Vietnam veteran, former deputy chief of staff for personnel for the U.S. Army Europe, took over as commander of the 15,000-man division in ceremonies Tuesday.

Davison is a native of Washington, D.C., and earned a commission in the Reserve Officers Training Corps at Howard University in 1938. He served in Vietnam from 1967 until 1969.

Marines' Chief Is Hospitalized

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. (AP) — The commandant of the Marine Corps, Lt. Gen. Robert E. Cushman, has been hospitalized here with a leg ailment.

Navy doctors said after his admittance Tuesday that he was suffering cellulitis of the soft tissue of both legs.

They said Cushman, who had been on an inspection tour of West Coast Marine facilities, is expected to spend only a short time under hospital care.

Closely Protect Nixon's Security

By GAYLORD SHAW
Associated Press Writer
MOSCOW (AP)—U.S. security agents made their usual careful search for electronic eavesdropping devices before President Nixon moved into his temporary headquarters in the Kremlin, informed sources confirmed today.

The sources were reluctant to discuss details of the U.S. security measures for the first visit of an American president to the Soviet capital. They insisted that no extraordinary precautions were taken.

But wherever the President goes, be it Chicago or Moscow, one of the items on the security checklist is an inspection with sophisticated devices to make certain his private conversations are kept private.

The check in Moscow was carried out by agents in the advance contingent which arrived weeks before Nixon. In addition to searching for electronic bugs, the specialists checked out such other details as the quickest route to the nearest hospital.

The visible show of U.S. Secret Service bodyguards during Nixon's Moscow visit has been no greater than on any of the President's visits to cities in the United States.

The same is true for Mrs. Nixon's security. When the First Lady visited a Moscow school Tuesday, her Secret Service agents were far outnumbered by Soviet plainclothesmen—including several who hovered around Mrs. Leonid I. Brezhnev, wife of the Communist party chief.

When Nixon's motorcade sped in from the airport Monday, Soviet security forces again were the most visible. The complement of American security agents behind the President's car was no greater than it is on visits to American cities. No rifles were visible but bulges at the security men's bellies made clear that they were armed.

Plan One-Day Diabetes Meet

DURHAM — A workshop on juvenile diabetes mellitus will be held Saturday, June 3 from 10:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at St. Luke's Episcopal Church on Hillandale Road in Durham.

Sponsored by the Western Triangle Diabetes Association, the one-day session is designed to teach the diabetic child and his parents about diabetes and the practical way to live with the disease which affects one in every 50 Americans.

Dr. James B. Sidbury, professor of metabolism in the pediatrics department of Duke University Medical Center and Dr. Elizabeth Allen, a Durham pediatric endocrinologist and child psychiatrist, will be on the program as will registered nurses, a dietician, a clinical pharmacist, and diabetic young people who cope successfully with jobs, school, and athletics.

Poets Of New Bern And Greenville Join Talents

Greenville and New Bern poets have been merging their collective talents with meetings in New Bern. Initially, the poets met in the homes of New Bern residents, but more recently the growing interest in the readings has necessitated their meeting at Craven County Technical Institute.

Maxim Tabory, a member of the ECU Poetry Forum, reporting on the most recent dual gathering, said that on that particular occasion "Most of the poetry read was of a gloomy nature. Most modern poets are like that. No more happy lyrics about spring life seems real and earnest, whatever its goal."

Citing typical examples of this trend, Tabory mentioned that poetess Karen Ray Dawes in one poem "lamented that she was like a Pepsi-Cola bottle."

Charles Griffin mourned for Florida. "... you are not alone. There are others like you decomposing under the sun."

"But," Tabory commented, "There were some Happier moments. Phil Smith cheered us with the thought that 'maybe garbage cans are happier than you think.'"

Tabory said that Vernon Ward, chairman of the ECU Poetry Forum as usual asserted a note of hope that marks his poetry, "Rich man great and poor man small - People are people - That's all."

Tabory, a Hungarian native, is working with a Canadian scholar, Dr. Watson Kirkconnell, in translating an anthology of Hungarian poetry covering 500 years. The volume, "The Hungarian Helicon" is due for publication later this year.

FARMERS SQUEEZED
ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI)—The cost-price squeeze affecting farmers since 1953 has caused more and more small farmers to go out of business with only 35,000 farms now in Florida compared to 50,000 just 20 years ago, according to statistics from the Florida Fruit and Vegetable Association.

Gaylord Perry Claims Eighth Victory As Yankees Fall; Lonborg Bumps Tigs

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
Jim Lonborg has a past, a present and ... a future.

The past: "I was really getting that old feeling", the Milwaukee right-hander said after blanking the Detroit Tigers 3-0 on four singles Tuesday night.

The present: "I'm not back to 1967; I'm back to 1972 because what happened in the past doesn't matter."

The future: "Can he pitch tomorrow?" asked manager Dave Bristol.

Elsewhere in the American League, Cleveland's Gaylord Perry tamed the New York Yankees on four singles by an identical 3-0 score, the Chicago White Sox edged Texas 2-1, Boston nipped Baltimore 6-5 in 10 innings and Oakland-shaded California 3-2. Minnesota and Kansas City were rained out.

It's been a long road back for Lonborg, who pitched the Red Sox to the pennant in 1967 with a 22-9 record and then won two more games in the World Series, including a one-hitter. The following winter, he wrecked a knee in a much-publicized skiing accident and then came an aggravating series of arm problems.

Over the next four seasons, which included two trips to the minors, his record with Boston was 27-28 and he was traded to the Brewers in a 10-player swap last winter. His first 1972 triumph came last week—over the Red Sox—and he now has a 2-1 record and sizzling 1.31 earned run average.

Lonborg was locked in a scoreless struggle with Detroit's Joe Coleman until the seventh, when George Scott singled and Johnny Briggs homered. Billy Conigliaro doubled and Ellie Rodriguez singled for the final run in the eighth.

The loss dropped the second-place Tigers 2½ games behind the surprising Indians in the AL East as Perry, 8-2 shut out the Yankees and joined Detroit's Mickey Lolich as league's only eight-game winners. It was his sixth straight.

The tall right-hander also led off the eighth inning with a double off Mel Stottlemyre, igniting a three-run uprising that snapped a scoreless tie.

The White Sox maintained their half-game lead over Oakland in the AL West, scoring two runs in the first inning on Pat Kelly's bunt single, Carlos May's double and Bill Melton's single to nip Texas. Don Mincher homered for the Rangers' run in the last of the first.

Stan Bahnsen, 6-4, went 7-2-3 innings for Chicago before giving way to Terry Forster and then Steve Kealey. The Rangers had the potential tying run cut down at the plate to end the game when Lenny Randle tried to score from second on Larry Bittner's infield hit behind the second base bag.

Mike Andrews' throw to Ed Herrmann rubbed out Gandz.

"We've won a lot of games on our speed and hustle," philosophized manager Ted Williams, "and we're going to lose a few like that."

The Orioles overcame a 4-0 deficit against the Red Sox before blowing a 5-4 lead of their own in the ninth inning. Home runs by Tommy Harper and Reggie Smith helped the Red Sox to their lead and the Orioles caught up on homers by pinch hitter Don Baylor and Terry Crowley.

Baltimore forged in front in the eighth but Ben Oglivie's pinch single tied the score for the Red Sox in the ninth and they won out in the 10th on a walk, sacrifice and Rico Petrocelli's single to break a five-game losing streak.

Reggie Jackson hit his seventh home run of the season on the first pitch from reliever Eddie Fisher in the ninth inning to propel the A's past the Angels. California scored the tying run in the top of the ninth on Ken McMullen's single and Leroy Stanton's double.

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Richmond's league champion Spiders placed four players, including one repeater from last year, on the All-Southern Conference baseball team announced today.

The 10-man team, selected by the league coaches and released by the Southern Conference Sports Writers Association, contains six seniors, three juniors and one sophomore.

Chosen from Richmond were shortstop Reggie Dunnivant, one of two holdovers from last year, and second baseman Marshall Owen, outfielder Les Keenan and pitcher Roger Hatcher.

The only other repeater is pitcher John Katona of Furman, who posted an 8-3 record. Hatcher was unbeaten in six decisions until he lost his final start, had an earned run average under 1.50 and also batted .326 and drove in 17 runs in the Spiders' first 25 games. Only The Citadel, besides Richmond, got more than one berth on the team. Chosen from the Bulldogs were first baseman Ron Sanders and catcher Paul Plunkett.

Rounding out the team are third baseman Ralph Lamm of East Carolina and outfielders Jeff Steckroth of William and Mary and George Weicker of Davidson.

The seniors are Sanders, Dunnivant, Lamm, Steckroth, Keenan and Katona. Weicker, Plunkett and Hatcher are juniors, while Owen is a sophomore.

Dunnivant batted .357 in Richmond's first 25 games and Keenan had a .337 average, as did Steckroth for William and Mary. Steckroth drove in 24 runs and Keenan 16.

The top individual vote-getter was Steckroth with 25, followed by Lamm with 22 and Hatcher with 20.

Katona edged The Citadel's Ray Yeoman, 16-14, for the second pitching spot, while Plunkett was a 17-13 winner over Furman's Don Leeger for the catching position.

Players winning honorable mention were Leeger, first baseman Peyton Barton and outfielder Mike Kaufman of Furman, Yeoman and pitcher Rusty Booth of The Citadel, pitch-

"I am making this move in order that I may return to school on a full-time basis and complete my graduate degree. I am convinced that this action will prove to be most beneficial to myself and my family in the years to come.

"I have enjoyed my close association with the coaches and athletes at East Carolina and hope to continue these associations as I remain here as a graduate student."

Pair Set New Vault Record

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Bob Seagren woke up Tuesday with no idea he would become a co-world record holder in a few hours.

After he and Sweden's Kjell Isaksson each set a new world pole vault record of 18 feet, 4¼ inches here, Seagren said his mother had read him a newspaper article about the special pole vault meet sponsored by the Border AAU organization.

The article quoted University of Texas-El Paso coach Wayne Vandenberg as saying the competition was organized Sunday.

"I didn't really believe it, but I had to check to make sure," Seagren said.

He called Vandenberg to ask if he could enter, and then caught a plane from Santa Monica, Calif., to El Paso when Vandenberg gave an okay.

Eight other vaulters also entered the meet, but all eight had been eliminated after Seagren and Isaksson cleared the first height they attempted—17-4.

Seagren made the first significant breakthrough, setting a new American record of 18½. That was his first time above 18 feet after a previous best of 17-9. Isaksson is the only other man to clear the height.

When Isaksson also cleared the 18½ barrier, the two set their sights on Isaksson's world's best of 18-2 set last month.

Both missed their first try at 5.59 meters, 18-4¼, but both cleared the height the second time around for a double world record.

The bar was then set at 18-6¼, from a scaffold rather than the usual ladder, and both missed all three times.

After the meet, Seagren returned to his home in Monterey Park, Calif.

Isaksson, who won the meet because of fewer misses at lower heights, said he will return to Sweden this weekend and will compete every week until the Summer Olympics in Munich, Germany.

Drivers Get Final Tests

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Drivers who will start Saturday's $1 million Indianapolis 500-mile race got their final chance to map battle plans today during a three-hour session of "carburetion" runs.

The 2.5 mile Indianapolis Motor Speedway, where more than 250,000 will gather for the 56th running of the richest motoring event in the world, opened at 10 a.m. for the first time since time trials ended Sunday.

The carburetion tests have been traditional at Indianapolis for years, but at least one car owner calls them "antiquated."

"We haven't used carburetors on these cars in years," said Lindsey Hopkins, a wealthy Coca-Cola bottler from Atlanta and a veteran of many years at Indy.

"It seems we could come up with a more imaginative term for what we do in this final day of practice."

What the drivers actually do is practice, the same as they have done all month. For their final day on the oval, however, they use their race day chassis setup, the new engines they have installed or reworked, and, incidentally, they check fuel consumption and tire wear.

Thus, it would be unlikely that pole-sitter Bobby Unser would run his Olsonite Eagle at anything like top speed and certainly not at the 195.940 miles per hour he put together for four laps 10 days ago to win the No. 1 starting position.

A broken engine or a wrecked car this late in the game would be disaster.

Hopkins, meanwhile, lost one of his regular drivers when Wally Dallenbach was selected Tuesday to drive Andy Granatelli's STP-Lola. Along with Mel Kenyon and Roger McCluskey, Dallenbach had formed the Indy team that Hopkins co-sponsors with Gilmore Broadcasting Co.

But of Hopkins' three pilots, Dallenbach found himself first on the bump list during the final flurry of qualifying, and actually was ousted from the lineup by ex-stock car driver Cale Yarborough.

Granatelli's Lola had been qualified in the middle of the fourth row by 45-year-old Art Pollard during the first round. He wrecked it two days later, however, and wound up in the hospital with a broken leg.

The car was repaired but was relegated to 33rd position when Pollard couldn't drive it. Dallenbach, who would have moved up from his first alternate status to fill the 33rd spot, had the Lola not shown, thus will make his sixth Indy start anyway.

Dallenbach probably will be the busiest driver at the Speedway today. Race officials directed that the Lola must run at least 100 miles before it is certified for competition.

The annual Babe Ruth League Queen Contest and the Bake Sale will be held Saturday at Guy Smith Stadium. The bake sale will get underway at 4 p.m., with the crowning of the queen between the two scheduled games. Shown here are three of the contestants for the queen title. Mets Come Back Down To Earth As Cubs Win

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer
"It's a loss—but not the end of the world," Tug McGraw of the New York Mets shrugged. "The law of averages didn't get me. They got me."

They were the Chicago Cubs and they got McGraw for a run in the eighth inning. That snapped a tie, giving the Cubs a 2-1 victory, and snapped the Mets back to reality.

It was their first loss in a dozen games, their second in the last 16 and only the ninth in the 33 games they've played this season.

In other National League action Tuesday, Pittsburgh blitzed St. Louis 6-2, Montreal flipped Philadelphia 6-2, Atlanta edged Cincinnati 2-1, Los Angeles topped San Francisco 8-5, and in a two-night doubleheader, Houston swept San Diego 7-0 and 2-1.

The Cubs nicked New York starter Gary Gentry for a run in the fourth inning on a walk and singles by Paul Popovich and Ken Rudolph but the Mets, unable to handle Ferguson Jennally tied it in the seventh on a walk and singles by Tommie Agee and Rusty Staub.

Then came the eighth. Carmen Fanzone started the winning rally with a one-out single. And when Popovich slammed a McGraw offering to right center field, Fanzone was off and running.

Staub, the right fielder, and Agee, coming over from center, converged on the liner and Staub made a lunging stab at the ball as it bounced up and toward the wall. Then he made a desperation play. Had it worked, it might have cut down Fanzone steaming for the plate. But not likely.

Staub, racing away from the infield and in no position to throw, flipped the ball at Agee as the center fielder sped by, hoping Agee might be able to gun it home. Agee wasn't prepared for it and the ball sailed over his head.

Despite the loss, the Mets still hold a healthy five-game lead over second-place Pittsburgh in the National League East.

Darrell Evans.

The Dodgers didn't take their victory so much as San Francisco gave it to them. The Giants committed five errors and Don Carrithers uncorked three wild pitches. But Los Angeles did some scoring on its own, with Frank Robinson contributing a healthy share on a pair of home runs. Undefeated Don Sutton picked up victory No. 6.

Bob Watson was the big gun in the sweep that enabled the Astros to widen their National League West lead over the Dodgers to 1 1/2 games.

In the opener he hit a homer and a double. Then in the nightcap he homered again and, in the sixth inning, singled and eventually scored the winning run on Tommy Helms' single.

Doug Rader and winning pitcher Tom Griffin, who hurled a four-hitter, also homered in the first game. Ken Forsch settled down after giving up the Padres' only run in the first inning of the second game to finish with a seven-hit-

NBA Clubs Threaten All-Star Competitors

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Most National Basketball Association teams have warned their players not to play in the scheduled NBA-ABA all star game under threat of suspension or fines, NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy said late Tuesday night.

The all star game, featuring the best of the NBA and American Basketball Association players, is scheduled Thursday night in Uniondale, N.Y.

Kennedy said most of the NBA club owners had informed him of their promised action to keep the players from participating in the contest, which was played for the first time last year. The commissioner said players were informed by registered mail.

Parts of the registered letter, said Kennedy, said, "Section 17 of your contract with us (the NBA club) denied you the right to participate in any exhibition game of basketball without written consent.

"Such consent has not and will not be granted for your participation in the so-called All-Star basketball game on May 25."

The letter further stated that application "will be made to the commissioner of the NBA that you be fined or suspended pursuant to Section 17" if a player went ahead to play in the game.

The NBA commissioner declined to disclose the number of club owners who threatened such action, saying only that most were involved.

The post-season clash between the rival leagues is being presented by the players associations of both leagues, and the respective teams were chosen by the votes of players in both the NBA and ABA.

Larry Fleischer, counsel of the NBA Players Association, said earlier Tuesday Jack Dolph, commissioner of the 5-year-old ABA had approved the game.

Fleischer had announced that the NBA squad would include Bob Lanier of the Detroit Pistons at center, replacing Kareem Abdul Jabbar who pulled out for no announced reason; Walt Frazier of the New York Knicks at guard; forwards John Havlicek of Boston and Dave DeBusschere of New York or Connie Hawkins of Phoenix. Wilt Chamberlain of the Lakers was also expected at center.

Others on the NBA's squad include guard Nate Archibald of Cincinnati, forward Bob Love of Chicago and guards Oscar Robertson of Milwaukee and Archie Clark of Baltimore.

The letter further stated that application "will be made to the commissioner of the NBA that you be fined or suspended pursuant to Section 17" if a player went ahead to play in the game.

The NBA commissioner declined to disclose the number of club owners who threatened such action, saying only that most were involved.

The post-season clash between the rival leagues is being presented by the players associations of both leagues, and the respective teams were chosen by the votes of players in both the NBA and ABA.

Larry Fleischer, counsel of the NBA Players Association, said earlier Tuesday Jack Dolph, commissioner of the 5-year-old ABA had approved the game.

Fleischer had announced that the NBA squad would include Bob Lanier of the Detroit Pistons at center, replacing Kareem Abdul Jabbar who pulled out for no announced reason; Walt Frazier of the New York Knicks at guard; forwards John Havlicek of Boston and Dave DeBusschere of New York or Connie Hawkins of Phoenix. Wilt Chamberlain of the Lakers was also expected at center.

Others on the NBA's squad include guard Nate Archibald of Cincinnati, forward Bob Love of Chicago and guards Oscar Robertson of Milwaukee and Archie Clark of Baltimore.

Haller Brothers Working Together

DETROIT (AP) — Haller hollered to Haller and Haller hollered back making the other Haller happy.

It was one of the few good moments for Detroit in its 3-0 loss to Milwaukee Tuesday night at Tiger Stadium.

Tom Haller was the Tigers' catcher.

Bill Haller, Tom's older brother, was the third-base umpire.

It was the first time Bill had worked a game in which Tom was playing in the major leagues—although it had happened in spring training before and in the minors.

In the third inning Brock Luch of the Brewers went partially around with his bat after having two strikes on him from Joe Coleman. Plate umpire Jerry Neudecker called it a ball.

That prompted Tom Haller to jump up and point to Bill at third, yelling for him to rule.

Bill said Davis did swing and miss. Neudecker then changed his call to a strike three.

Bill was scheduled to umpire second base in tonight's game, and then first base Thursday in the last game of Detroit's current home stand.

"Was it planned that way so that he wouldn't work behind the plate, since maybe his brother might be catching during this series?" Tom was asked.

"No, it just worked out that way," Tom replied. "He was behind the plate in his game Sunday."

The Haller brothers had lunch together Tuesday but didn't talk shop.

"It's going to be ten times harder on him than it is on me," Tom said of the player-umpire game relationships. "When we're out there together the pressure is on him ... I don't envy him one bit."

Allen Given NFL Reprimand

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Naughty George Allen, who got caught with his draft choices down, has been subjected to what may have been the most embarrassing verbal reprimand in Pete Rozelle's 13-year reign as commissioner of the National Football League.

Rozelle revealed Tuesday night that Allen had been called on the carpet and his Washington Redskins had been slapped with a maximum $5,000 fine in two cases involving players acquired with draft choices the Redskins actually did not have.

It was the first time Rozelle ever had subjected a coach to a verbal reprimand before the NFL's executive committee—one executive from each of the league's 26 teams—and left Allen curt when he was asked to comment on the case.

"It's all over," said the Redskins' general manager and head coach. "It's history. That's all I have to say."

Rozelle apparently laid far more words on Allen when he appeared before the executive committee. Rozelle said he stressed "the importance of adhering to league rules and policies."

"While the problem could have been unintentional in nature, such practices are cause for deep concern," Rozelle explained. "We wanted him to know that we can't have violations on rules that could affect the competitive aspect of the game."

In making that statement, Rozelle sidestepped the issue—whether hanky-panky was involved in the transactions in question—but the implication of the heavy fine and severe reprimand seemed to indicate that was at the heart of the issue.

The two cases involved Allen's acquisition of defensive back Rich Petitbon from Los Angeles and Speedy Duncan from San Diego after taking over the Redskins last year and beginning a series of 19 trades in which he acquired veterans for draft choices.

NAIA Play Beginning

RED SPRINGS, N.C. (AP) — Two games were on today's schedule, getting the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics Area 7 baseball tournament under way with champions of four districts competing.

A 3:30 p.m. game matched Western Carolina against Morris Harvey of West Virginia and at 8 p.m., Pembroke State plays High Point.

Three games, with the first starting at 1:30 p.m., are on the Thursday round, which will eliminate two of the teams from the double elimination affair.

Other games are scheduled for 4 and 8 p.m. Thursday, setting the stage for Friday's championship competition starting at 3 p.m. Another game, if needed, will be played Friday night.

The Area 7 winner will move on to the national tournament starting June 5 at Phoenix, Ariz.

High Point carries a 31-7 record into the tournament. Pembroke State is 22-6, Morris Harvey is 14-9 and Western Carolina is 15-13.

Fight Is Important

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Joe Frazier is not taking unranked challenger Ron Stander lightly, the champion's manager assured the press Tuesday.

"Joe has trained just as hard for this fight as he did for Jerry Quarry, Bob Foster or Muhammad Ali," Yancey Durhod.

Frazier is rated a 10-1 favorite in Thursday's scheduled 15-round heavyweight title bout at Omaha's Civic Auditorium. The bout will be shown nationally by TVS over about 150 stations starting at 10 p.m. EDT.

"Joe will go into seclusion now, and just rest," continued Durham, who has sheltered Frazier from the press most of the week.

Challenger Stander of nearby Council Bluffs, Iowa, worked out at the Fox Hole gym, about 10 blocks across town from Frazier.

Both fighters had short workouts Tuesday, mostly going through light loosening up exercises and some work on the speed bag.

Stander, 27, who has a 23-1-1 record, but is unranked, continued to state he has a good chance against Frazier, who is 28-0 with 24 knockouts.

"I'm not going to make any excuses if I get beat," offered Stander. "I'm still going to be proud because I consider Joe one of the sport's greatest champions."

"But I still think I have a 50-50 chance of winning. I'll be in there all the way."

"It's a joy pitching for this ball club," Pittsburgh's Steve Blass said after the Buccs reeled off their eighth consecutive victory by capitalizing on St. Louis errors for a pair of three-run innings.

"You know they're going to score and they make the plays behind you," Blass said following his fifth victory. "You can't ask for more than that."

Gene Alley, Dave Cash and Vic Davalillo singled in second-inning runs after Cards' shortstop Ed Crosby opened the gates by booting Manny Sanguillen's grounder. In the fourth, Blass and Cash scored as both second baseman Ted Sizemore and right fielder Luis Melendez misplayed Davalillo's bouncer. Robert Clemente singled home the final run.

While St. Louis was losing its 10th game in the last 12, the Phillies were losing their eighth in a row, thanks to the hot bats of the Expos' Mike Jorgensen and Ron Fairly and the cool hurling of Bill Stoneman.

Jorgensen drove in three runs, two of them with his fifth home run of the year and Fairly socked a solo homer and singled home another run. Stoneman went all the way, scattering seven hits and chalking up six strikeouts.

Phil Niekro spun a six-hitter for the Reds and helped his own cause with a third-inning home run, the sixth of his career, to offset a first-inning run by the Braves on Joe Morgan's single.

But it was Marty Perez who boosted Niekro to his sixth victory, snapping the tie with an eighth-inning double that followed hits by Dusty Baker and Six of Wake Forest's 11 football games will be played at home in Winston-Salem, N.C., next season.

Stander, 27, who has a 23-1-1 record, but is unranked, continued to state he has a good chance against Frazier, who is 28-0 with 24 knockouts.

"I'm not going to make any excuses if I get beat," offered Stander. "I'm still going to be proud because I consider Joe one of the sport's greatest champions."

"But I still think I have a 50-50 chance of winning. I'll be in there all the way."

No Consistent Pattern In Growth Of Teen Muggers

By DENNIS STERN
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—A warm spring breeze drifted down 23rd Street, turning litter strewn along the way and causing the only movement along the virtually deserted sidewalks.

It was 11 p.m. A man, briefcase in hand and raincoat over his arm, turned the corner and walked quickly toward Ninth Avenue.

At midblock, two young boys sat in a darkened doorway. A third, several yards away, gazed through the steel security gates of a variety store window, admiring some of the merchandise.

As the man neared, Sonny, from his spot near the store window, cut him off and demanded a quarter. Instantly, as the man hesitated, the other two jumped out of the shadows and rifled his pockets. Then they darted off into the night.

The trio—Sonny, Louie and Duke—admit they are regulars at this game.

"I like to have some money in my pocket," Duke says. "I got to get some clothes, maybe buy a hot dog. It's my allowance, man."

Sonny, like the others, is 15 years old. He says he has been "stealing for as long as I can remember." He adds, in a slightly condescending tone, "Some dudes say they're 'ripping off,' but I just call it plain old stealing."

Sonny, Louie and Duke (not their real names) are representative of thousands of youngsters here and in cities across the country who in the last five years have contributed to a dramatic increase in the number of urban crimes committed by youths.

While police statistics in major U.S. cities seem to show no consistent pattern in the incidence of juvenile crime in recent years, policemen and social workers who work with delinquents insist such crimes are steadily increasing.

In Los Angeles, for example, 33,280 juveniles were arrested last year for crimes ranging from shoplifting to homicide, compared to 34,165 in 1970. But Policewoman Vivian Gomez, who has worked in the Los Angeles juvenile division for 2½ years, said she was certain the rate of delinquency was growing.

"Part of the problem with the statistics," she explained, "is that often neighbors are afraid to come forward when they witness crimes because they do not want to get involved."

In Denver, Colo., 11,995 juveniles were taken into custody in 1971, an increase of more than 1,000 in 1970. Chief William Halman, head of Denver's delinquency control division, said a major factor in the upsurge is "the laxity" in dealing with juvenile offenders.

He said he had made a study that indicated a juvenile had to be arrested eight times in Denver before he would finally be brought before a formal juvenile court. "They're committing crimes because they know they can beat the system," he declared.

In New York last year, 17,780 juveniles were arrested, about 150 less than 1970. Sgt. Julia Tucker, commander of the police youth division for Upper Manhattan for the last two years, said the figures are misleading. Not only as the number of juvenile crimes been increasing here, she said, but the average age of the youngsters involved has been decreasing.

In addition, officials say it is these same delinquents who will be the next generation of adult criminals.

Sgt. Tucker finds the increase in delinquency almost to be expected.

"Society itself is very aggressive," she said. "The fact that youngsters react this way reflects the way we live."

In addition, the policewoman declared two youths are being forced into a life of crime by the same factors that have been influencing youngsters for the last quarter-century.

Typically, she said, these kids come from broken homes or welfare families, attend dilapidated schools "where the teachers expect you to be delinquent," and are under a "very strong peer group influence" to get into trouble.

Drugs, too, may play a role by forcing a youngster to steal to support a habit. Statistics from New York's juvenile detention centers indicate that 39 per cent of those youngsters who became involved in the juvenile court system last year had some experience with drugs, compared to 19 per cent in 1968.

But just as frequently, as with

Duke, simply the desire to have some pocket money drives a kid to mug.

And the violent crimes aren't limited to boys. Sgt. Tucker said statistics indicate "a new role for young females in crime." She said this may be caused by an increased sense of freedom for girls, spurred by the women's liberation movement.

Lennie and Chico (also not their real names) are 14 years old and live in Harlem. They are in the same seventh grade class, but apparently they do not go to classes to often.

Lennie and Chico like to explore Central Park, panhandling for quarters and throwing stones at pigeons. One day last fall they spotted two bicycles leaning against a tree and a young couple lying nearby on the grass, quite involved with each other.

Within seconds they were at the tree, admiring the bikes.

Next minute they were riding away.

They headed for the stylish East Side to show off their new "purchases." They sped down Lexington Avenue in the upper 90s. It was a pleasant Sunday afternoon and the sidewalks were crowded.

Lennie spotted a young woman dangling a purse loosely in her hand near the curb and talking intently to a man at her side.

Without slowing down, Lennie swooped in on the bag and had it before the woman could call out. He and Chico rounded the next corner and never looked back.

They dress like most boys their age—dirty white sneakers, ankle high with brightly colored laces, blue jeans and T-shirts and maybe a denim jacket. Frequently, they sport an "applejack" hat, sort of a combination beret and cap.

They seldom carry guns.

Most often their weapon is a pocket knife, which, in the typical mugging, is drawn only if the situation becomes tense. They're not out to cause injury, they say, but every man has to protect himself. Sometimes, someone gets killed.

What kind of home life does a young mugger have? Ask Chico.

"I live with my grandparents—when I'm home. I used to stay with my parents, but then they got married and moved away.

"I've got an older brother, Pedro, who lives in Brooklyn with my uncle. And Dolores, she lives in Newark with some friends. My other sister—I can't remember her name. She's with my other uncle in Springfield Garden.

"I run away a lot. My grandparents treat me like I'm a baby. (He's 14.) You see, I've got this urge to be 18—I want to be on my own, be a big man."

Country Music Moving Uptown

By MARIAN SMITH
Associated Press Writer
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A troupe of veteran country music performers is packing for a trip to New York's Madison Square Garden where they'll tape an uptown show with downhome flavor.

The show to be filmed June 3 is produced by Show Biz Inc., a Nashville company. It's a "high-budgeted, network-type television special to be aired in early fall," according to William S. Graham, board chairman of the production firm.

Graham said the show will feature Lynn Anderson, Jim Ed Brown, Jack Green, Sonny James, Loretta Lynn, Jeannie Seely and Conway Twitty, along with master of ceremonies T. Tommy Cutrer, a Nashville television and radio personality.

The show, scheduled from 8 to 11 p.m. on a Saturday, will be the second annual Nashville country music show in the 19,000-seat arena. Last year's show, also produced by Show Biz, drew more than 16,000 persons and very favorable national reviews.

"Last year's show was a trial run for this year's," said Graham. "We started to shoot last year's, but we figured we needed a year's experience."

"It will be a network-type show," said the production executive.

"That means it is going to be a prime-time show, and we want to get it in the best possible slot we can. If it looks as if a network might put it into a slot where we'll get clobbered in the ratings, we might try to put together our own network—like the syndicated 'Hee Haw' show has done—to do it," Graham said.

He said the show will be filmed by a six-camera crew from New York and with many network productions to its credit. Graham said he expected it will be the crew which filmed the long-running Ed Sullivan network series.

"He (Sullivan) came to the show last year, and he looked around and said he had no idea there were that many country

Pleads Guilty To Disturbance

WESTMORELAND, Calif. (AP) — Anna Kashfi, actor Marlon Brando's ex-wife, has pleaded guilty to a charge of disturbing the peace and paid a $125 fine.

The 38-year-old actress was not in the courthouse of this Southern California desert hamlet Tuesday but was represented by an attorney.

She was charged with creating a disturbance on a Calexico-to-Los Angeles bus March 8.

folks in New York," Graham said.

The general aim of this show, as well as last year's, has been to convince the New York advertising market of the popularity and drawing power of Nashville music, he said.

"We try to get as many of the decision makers there as we can," said Graham.

"Last year some of my friends in the advertising business up there told me we were making a big mistake coming into the arena. The only country radio station in the New York area had changed formats only a month or so before we went in, but the best seats in the house—all the downstairs seats—were sold out in the first two days after tickets went on sale," he said.

Graham said the 1971 show was successful not only as a crowd-pleaser but as the Madison Avenue attention-getter he wanted it to be.

He said that partly as a result of it, the Show Biz-produced weekly television show of Grand Ole Opry star Porter Wagoner drew a national sponsor in its 55 markets.

Wagoner was on last year's show. Also on the first-time-around roster were Brown, James Miss Lynn and Twitty, who's return for the performance this year.

HAS HIGH HOPES

THEBES, Ill. (AP) — Thebes' residents number only 442 persons, but the citizens have high hopes of restoring the old Alexander County courthouse as a tourist attraction.

The courthouse, built in 1848 at a cost of $4,400, has been vacant since 1860 when the seat of county affairs was moved to nearby Cairo, Ill.

Thebes is in the heart of one of the nation's most severely depressed areas.

Girls Once Not Adopted

CHICAGO (UPI)—The idea of adoption dates from antiquity but until recent times girls were not considered worth adopting.

Adoption as a child welfare measure is almost exclusively a 20th Century innovation, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica, although as an institution its roots extend almost worldwide.

In ancient times, however, and in certain later cultures the purpose of adoption was continuity of the male line in a particular family. The importance of the male heir stemmed from either political, religious or economic considerations, depending on the nation.

The adoption movement began in the mid-19th Century, when the first adoption statute was passed in Massachusetts. In New Zealand the first adoption law was enacted in 1895 and in Canada in 1896.

In France adoption of minors in the sense of creating permanent, comprehensive bonds between adopter and adoptee dates from 1923. In England adoption was first permitted in 1926.

Attitudes toward adoption changed materially in the period following World War I, when vast numbers of children were left homeless. Its popularity was reinforced by improved economic conditions of husbands and wives inspired by love of children—girls included.

Asphalt Tile Said Misnomer

Chicago (UPI)—If you wonder what the asphalt tile on your floor has to do with the asphalt on the street, the answer is probably nothing.

Asphalt tile, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica, is essentially a misnomer, since asphalt is used only in the very darkest shades of tile. But the first such tiles utilized asphalt and the name has persisted.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) A fine day for making collections and payments that will improve your credit and keep you from worry. Do not neglect government matters that are important. Much devotion to mate is wise in p.m.
TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Know what your true position is with a partner who is very vital to your scheme of things. Situations rise up that give you an inkling as to your position with the general public and kin. Use wisdom in handling.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Get right down to all that work ahead of you and accomplish a good deal on this rather strange day when nobody seems to be recreation minded. Try to please fellow workers, too. A happy day, p.m. just the same.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Ideal day for recreation, for you and your friends, so make the most of invitations, etc. Show mate that you are indeed devoted and affectionate. You have been a little standoffish lately.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You have plenty of vitality now and can make those repairs, etc., around the home that will beautify and make it more comfortable, too. Prepare for those ambitious projects you have in mind as well. Think.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Organizing all of your affairs now requires your gadding about seeing the right people mostly. Show that you are able to communicate easily with others. Plan that short trip today.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) If you want to add to present prosperity, you would do well to cut down on current expenses as a starter, and then look into new outlets you can handle. Sit down with business expert and listen to good ideas given you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You are highly magnetic today and can do almost anything you set your mind to, but first make sure it is exactly what you want to do. Many fascinating situations arise. Make the most of them.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Do more thinking than acting today, and get that new plan organized; study the details thereof for big success ahead. The evening should be spent quietly and happily with the one you love. Show you are very affectionate.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If you assist good pals to gain their aims, you find they give you a helping hand also with your own. Think and act constructively. A good friend comes through with the data you need now.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are able to get the support you want for some pet project from the president of some big company you know. Take more interest in whatever is of a philanthropic nature. Avoid one who is trying to play a trick on you.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You have fine plans which only require that you persevere in order to make a success of them. New contacts who have had much experience can be helpful to you. Coming to a meeting of minds early is fine.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those delightful young people who will be full of vim and vigor but will be very opinionated. This could irk others, if you do not teach your child while young to listen to what others have to say before coming to a decision, or taking a firm stand. Such training is the big clue to real success in this lifetime. The field of investigation is especially good here, whether man or woman. Send to the best schools you can afford.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Russian Diplomat Is A Guest Teacher

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (UPI) Catholic school in an unusual program initiated by Prof. Bruce D. Hamlett, a specialist in political science. Hamlett also has lined up other Soviet officials for four-day stays. Ereskovsky wanted to talk about more understanding between the United States and the Soviet Union and the expansion of trade between the two. But the students kept bringing up Czechoslovakia and Berlin. "The Soviet Union did not build the Berlin Wall," the well-dressed diplomat said.

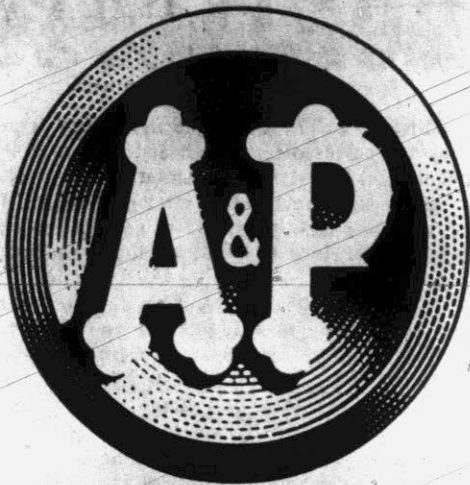

Updating Famed Geiger Counter

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—Scientists at the University of California have developed a radiation detector more sensitive than the Geiger counter. The new device is based on a principle first suggested by UC's Nobel Prize-winning physicist Dr. Luis Alvarez. Scientists say it may prove to be extremely useful in nuclear medicine, high-energy physics and cosmic ray studies. The Geiger counter uses gases to record the passage of charged particles. The new detector, developed at the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory, uses liquid xenon. The device works the same way as the old one but the liquid xenon, 500 times denser than the gases currently used, gives more accurate readings.

Lord Brougham, a vacationing Englishman, put the Riviera on the map when a cholera epidemic forced him into a detour in 1834. His fancy was taken by a fishing village named Cannes.

HOW CAN YOU MAKE A BETTER CUP OF COFFEE?

First, buy bean coffee...not pre-ground coffee.

At A&P, we sell bean coffee.

The coffee bean is nature's seal that holds the flavor.

Once that seal is broken by grinding, flavor fades...

NO MATTER HOW IT'S PACKAGED.

The shorter the time between grinding the beans and brewing your coffee, the greater the flavor.

Second, have the beans ground to fit your coffeemaker.

At A&P, we custom grind the beans in a choice of seven different grinds...not one or two.

If you're using pre-ground coffee, switch.

This week, have an A&P bean coffee custom-ground to fit your coffeemaker.

You'll make a better cup of coffee.

Want a suggestion?

Try our 100% Brazilian Eight O'Clock Coffee.

It makes a great cup...and sells at a great price.

The Worry Clinic Smart People Seek Bargains

Melvin offers some shrewd advice about the buying habits of rich folks vs. the poor. Smart people watch the newspaper ads for "bargains." But many young couples with a social inferiority complex try to "fritz" their neighbors!

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph.D., M.D.
Case T-586: Melvin G., aged 34, is an automobile salesman. "Dr. Crane," he began, "I

"This old coddler relished such a deal for he likes 'bargains.' "And he considers such a car to be hardly broken in."

"By contrast, a lot of young folks come in and want a brand new auto.

"They obviously shouldn't be spending much for such a costly machine, but they must be social climbers.

"Some of them don't even have flush toilets or running water in their houses.

"But they demand the shiny new autos with the flashiest colors!"

"Is this just to compensate for their inferiority complexes, Dr. Crane?"

Four-Flushing
Yes, and this is merely a form of four-flushing or bluff.

Remember, everybody is tattooed at birth across his chest with this motto:

"I WANT TO FEEL IMPORTANT."
So folks from an impoverished or illiterate background try to put on airs and thus drive swanky cars or schedule elaborate wedding ceremonies or even try to use 5-syllable words which they don't understand!
For such people want to gain a feeling of more importance by impressing their neighbors.
The wealthy old farmer, however, has learned the more desirable art of impressing himself by his own shrewd dealings.
That represents a higher level of psychological development! For it shows you feel elation at your own unselfish donations to charity or your shrewd decisions, without needing outside approval of the crowd.

Opening lead: Deuce of North's two club response to partner's opening one no trump bid is artificial, promises eight high card points and a four card major suit, and requests the opener to show a major himself if he has one. When East overcalled with two diamonds, it did not relieve South of his responsibility. A pass at this point would tend to deny possession of either four hearts or four spades. Therefore, despite the fact that his suit was not impressive, it was proper for South to bid two hearts. North had enough to bid a game and he promptly raised to four hearts.

West opened the deuce of diamonds and East—after a prolonged examination of the dummy—played the jack. He was looking at two heart tricks and the ace of diamonds in his own hand. There was no chance that his partner had so much as a face card because the North and East hands held 24 high card points between them—and it was to be presumed that the opening no trump bidder could account for the remaining 16.

The only chance to defeat the contract was to obtain a spade ruff. East can expect to obtain the lead twice in the trump suit. Initially, he may lead his singleton spade and then—the second time,

Bank Promotion
Sign Liberated
HANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Members of the National Organization of Women (NOW) have "liberated" a sign at a Bank of America branch here they said was derogatory to their sex.
The sign, a bank promotion for checks designed for use by women, advertised "checks for chicks."
Bank officials surrendered the offending sign.
Several summer activities were planned at the meeting of Alpha Omega Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha held Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Barbara Woods.
A dinner was scheduled for June 7 to be held at the country club for the purpose of installing new officers and new members will be pledged.
Final plans for a cookout for clients of the Sheltered Workshop were discussed. The cookout will be held June 15 and the sorority will present a check to Howard Dawkins, director of the workshop.
Mrs. Lucille Moore, president, presided at the meeting. Dr. G. Howard Satterfield Jr., gynecologist, was guest speaker. His topic was "Menopause and Its Treatment."
Mrs. Carolyn Crisp was hostess for the meeting.

certainly enjoyed your talk today on 'Sales Psychology.' "For I have been with my agency 11 years.
"And selling cars is certainly one field of practical psychology.
"For people are so different. "As an example, I have a customer who is a wealthy old farmer, worth at least a million dollars.
"But he doesn't care to show off his riches by driving around in swanky new automobiles.
"Instead, he will wait till he finds a good used car where an elderly widow may have driven it only to church and on special occasions.
"It may thus not have 20,000 miles on it, though the car may be 3 or 4 years old.
