

Nixon, Russians Talk Long Range Issues

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
MOSCOW (AP) — President Nixon and Soviet leaders, pushing toward the heralded arms curb climax of their summit talks, are conferring quietly about longer-range European and Asian issues dividing their countries. The fact that agreements carefully prepared for "finalization" during the President's visit were but a fraction of the summit picture was underlined by Nixon's surprise journey Wednesday evening to a country dacha for dinner and conversation with Communist party chief Leonid Brezhnev and others. The session began about 7 p.m.

and continued for five hours. Nixon spent the morning conferring with his staff at his suite in the Kremlin, spokesman Ronald L. Ziegler reported. A meeting with the Soviet leaders previously announced for 11 a.m. was put off until afternoon, Ziegler said.

The press secretary said Nixon's Wednesday night discussions centered on international matters, among them Vietnam. He reported that the President and the top Soviet chiefs talked first while cruising on a lake near the dacha and did not sit down to dinner until about 11 p.m.

In keeping with the timetable for what Nixon has termed the most carefully planned summit ever held, the fifth in a series of U.S.-Soviet accords was ready for announcement today.

This deals with rules to prevent accidental confrontations between American and Soviet warships on the high seas. The subject, like the other past and prospective summit agreements, was carefully talked out by lower-ranking officials from both countries before Nixon arrived Monday.

On Friday, if all goes well, a two-part agreement limiting the deployment of strategic offensive and defensive nuclear weapons will be signed.

Left for last is the question of increased U.S.-Soviet trade, a thorny economic thicket unlikely to be raked clean here. There will, however, be an agreement to set up machinery for tackling the trade question in further detail, and quite possibly to arrange for moderately large U.S. grain sales to the Soviets.

Nixon's marathon session with Soviet leaders Wednesday night brought him together informally not only with Brezhnev but also with President Nikolai V. Podgorny, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and Andrei Aleksandrov, the Soviet leaders' Henry Kissinger.

With Nixon were Kissinger, chief assistant for national security affairs, and at least two members of the National Security Council staff. One of them was a specialist on Southeast Asia.

Nixon originally had planned to spend Thursday afternoon at the nearby city of Zelenograd, but press secretary Ziegler told newsmen he changed his mind and decided to leave the daylight hours free for further talks with the Soviet officials.

The President and Mrs. Nixon were to attend a performance of "Swan Lake" tonight by the Bolshoi Ballet.

367-Acre Area Certified

Redevelopment Step

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

The first official act to pave the way for rehabilitation and redevelopment of a 367 acre area north of Tar River in Greenville has taken place.

Based on past appeals of residents living in the area, lying between State Highway 11 and Greene Street extended, the resolution outlines facts substantiating the need for rehabilitation and redevelopment to bring new life to the area, said to be one of the most dilapidated in the city.

The facts, assembled from field surveys made by the staff of the Greenville Redevelopment Commission, shows:

—the area contains approximately 367 acres of which approximately 100 acres are devoted to residential and related uses, approximately 20 acres are devoted to nonresidential uses and about 10 acres are devoted to streets and alleys;

—the area contains 176 buildings, of which 153 are residential and related buildings and 23 are nonresidential buildings;

—of the 153 residential buildings, 113 are blighted ... the number of blighted nonresidential buildings is 19; —there are 161 dwelling units in the area; 127 are blighted and 34 are standard;

—it is estimated there are 128 non-white families ... and eight

white families, making a total of 136 families;

—the area described ... is a blighted area ... by reason of dilapidation, deterioration, age or obsolescence (with) inadequate provision for ventilation, light, air, sanitation or open space; defective or inadequate street layout ... unsanitary or unsafe conditions; which factors substantially impair the sound growth of the community and have seriously adverse effects on surrounding development.

Following consideration of these and other factors, the Planning and Zoning Commission members unanimously approved the resolution certifying the area as a redevelopment area.

In the resolution, the area was designated "The Northside Rehabilitation Project."

With this action, the way is now open for the Greenville Redevelopment Commission to proceed in a series of actions that will, if federal certification is granted, result in a major rehabilitation and redevelopment of the area.

Support Pledged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Stricken Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace has reassured Democrats that his delegates to the national convention will support the party's presidential nominee.

"Wallace has publicly committed his delegates to comply totally with the call of our convention," said Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien.

"That commitment included the provision that no delegate can take part and later support a candidate other than the Democratic nominee."

But he added that Wallace has not promised his own support for the Democratic nominee.

O'Brien's statement Wednesday came one day after he visited Wallace at Holy Cross Hospital, in Silver Spring, Md., where the governor is recuperating from gunshot wounds following an attempted assassination last week during a campaign rally in Laurel, Md.

Wallace's condition is showing marked improvement and speculation mounted that he would be transferred today to Montgomery, Ala.

Gardner Claims 'Hoax'

RALEIGH (AP) — Jim Gardner today accused his Republican gubernatorial opponent, Jim Holshouser, of sending or having sent bumper stickers reading "Wallace-Gardner" to some Republican voters during their first primary campaign.

In a prepared statement at a news conference in Raleigh, Gardner said the bumper stickers "were mailed in envelopes with Gardner for Governor return address on the front."

Holshouser, campaigning in Greensboro, called the charges "ridiculous."

"It's just more red herring tactics to keep from talking about the real issues of the campaign," Holshouser said.

The bumper stickers were mailed to at least one local Gardner headquarters, in Hendersonville, in late April, but Gardner for Governor committee chairman Fred Mason said he did not distribute them.

The stickers were printed in black letters on red paper and did not bear any marks to indicate where they were printed.

Gardner said in the prepared statement today that, "The Republicans who believe that Jim Gardner had sent out these bumper stickers were deceived by the man who sent them out, Jim Holshouser."

"In order to find out exactly where these stickers came from, I hired a handwriting expert, James R. Durham, who has been one of the leading document examiners for 20 years with the North Carolina State Bureau of Investigation."

Durham is retired from the State Bureau of Investigation and is now a private handwriting analyst.

"Mr. Durham compared the handwriting on the envelopes that contained the false bumper stickers with the handwriting on the envelopes sent out of the Holshouser for Governor committee headquarters."

"The results were that the handwritings were the same," he said. Gardner added that the information had been turned over to the United State attorney.

Watch Exploding Star

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Astronomers have discovered the brightest exploding star observed in 35 years and alerted observatories around the world to watch its fiery convulsions of death.

They hope the unique observations will unravel puzzles about the still poorly understood process through which a star burns up its nuclear fuel, collapses, explodes and then becomes one of the strange pulsars that emit regular bursts of radio energy.

"This may turn out in the next two years to be one of the most studied objects in astronomy," Charles Kowal, a member of the staff at the Hale Observatories of the California Institute of Technology, said Wednesday.

Kowal first observed the exploding star, called a supernova, May 13 in a photographic plate of a galaxy in the constellation Centaurus 60 billion miles from earth. It was so bright on the plate he thought an asteroid just a few million miles from earth might have been passing across the field of view of the Hale telescope atop Mt. Palomar.

"Whatever it was, it sure leaped out at me," he said in an interview.

Two nights later, the astronomers trained a larger Palomar telescope on the galaxy and confirmed that they were seeing an exploding star.

Exploding stars are observed several times a year. But until now, they've always been too distant to be valuable research tools.

Defenders Repulse Attack On Kontum

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese sappers, backed by tanks, attacked Kontum today but by dusk all of them had been killed, driven out, or had withdrawn, South Vietnamese military spokesmen said.

U.S. sources reported, however, that at last report the sappers still controlled part of the city's air strip.

Two assaults against South Vietnam's northernmost defense line at My Chanh, 20 to 25 miles north of Hue, were reported repulsed. South Vietnamese spokesmen at Hue said 166 North Vietnamese troops were killed by government troops and artillery in what one U.S. adviser described as a "turkey shoot." South Vietnamese losses were reported as 15 troops killed and 43 wounded.

The spokesmen also reported that two Soviet-built BTR50 amphibious personnel carriers were destroyed, marking the introduction of another new weapon to the Indochina war.

The BTR50 is a 14½-ton carrier with a crew of two. It carries 12 infantrymen.

At An Loc, on the southern front 60 miles north of Saigon, field reports said up to 4,000 civilian refugees were able to get out of the besieged city. The refugees, mostly old women and children, walked south to Tau O, a village nine miles below An Loc. They said about 50 had been killed by North Vietnamese shelling during their escape.

American planes, retaliating for the enemy offensive now beginning its ninth week, smashed the two biggest power plants and a major bridge in the Hanoi-Haiphong industrial complex for the first time since the 1965-68 bombing campaign.

Considered New Zoning District

At the request of the City Council, members of the Planning and Zoning Commission Wednesday night considered a proposal for a new zoning district, to be designated Residential-Mobile Home (R6-MH).

City Planner Dillon Watson, outlining basic requirements for the proposed new zoning district, told commission members that "many people seem to be in favor of this idea."

The City Council's concern about establishing a new zoning district grew out of accelerating requests, especially from certain residential areas of town, for a code that would make mobile homes a permitted rather than a special use, along with two family duplex dwellings.

Watson pointed out that such a zoning district would have applicable restrictions, such as a minimum lot size of 6,000 feet; standards for the type of mobile homes to be placed on an individual lot; and other restrictions to insure that mobile homes would be an upgrading factor within any area zoned as Residential-Mobile Home.

In connection with the proposal, another agenda item dealt with a request for rezoning of property north of Mumford Road, east of North Pitt Street, south of the canal, and extending west to the city limits from the current R-6 residential zoning to the proposed R6-MH zoning.

Commission members will hold a public hearing on this issue, which is also scheduled for a public hearing by the City Council.

On Saturday

Hugh Winslow, chairman of the Pitt County Democratic Executive Committee, said that the Biennial Pitt Convention will be held Saturday at the courthouse.

Winslow reported that the convention, which follows biennial precinct meetings held earlier this month, will get underway at 2 p.m.

On June 10, the chairman added, the First Congressional District Convention will be held here at the Moose Lodge with activities scheduled to begin at 1 p.m.

The Biennial State Convention has been scheduled for June 10, 11 a.m., in Dorton Arena, Raleigh.

Remove Three-Foot City Enclosure Limits

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

Greenville residents are no longer violating the city code by having walls, hedges or fences more than three feet high around their homes.

The Planning and Zoning Board, meeting Wednesday night, approved a number of amendments to Zoning Ordinance No. 322, including the deletion of a provision that formerly prohibited an enclosure more than three feet high.

The list of proposed amendments was recommended for approval, with the exception that a part of the proposed amendment for Section 10-13 covering convenience commercial uses in multi-family complexes, was approved only in concept. Commission member Earl E. Howell voted against the motion. Howell had opted for an amendment to the motion that would have removed reference to approval of Section 10-13 pending a rewrite of the portion in question.

Commission members agreed that the phrase dealing with the total area allocated for commercial use needs further study and rewording of the language setting out the details.

If eventually approved by the City Council, the proposed amendments in Section 10-13 could provide a means for multi-family complexes to have convenience commercial facilities as a permitted use subject to certain requirements. Primary would be that a complex would have to contain 72 or more units and be allocated only certain type shops in a complex of limited total area.

Other important changes proposed are to make multi-family swelling and duplexes a permitted use instead of special use in RA-20 zoned areas; to add multi-family dwellings as permitted use in downtown commercial fringe zones; to add restaurants as a special use in neighborhood commercial; and to allow churches as permitted use in districts where they are now allowed as special use.

For the proposed amendment that would make multifamily dwellings and two family dwellings permitted use in RA-20 zoned areas, the Planning and Zoning Commission set a public hearing for the June meeting.

P and Z public hearings in addition to City Council public hearings are not required, but are sometimes used as a means of determining reaction to a proposal or issue.

Another amendment that will have substantial consequences for Greenville residents is one proposed that requires a greater space between a principal structure on a lot and any accessory type building. The amendment calls for a distance of at least ten feet between any principal structure and an accessory structure.

A new section proposed for Zoning Ordinance 322 is Section 9-6 — Approval of Plans by the Planning and Zoning Commission for Multi-family Dwelling Units and Shopping Centers. The provisions of this proposal would put into print certain development standards that in fact are now in effect.

An added provision is that of greater control over the design and lay-out of parking lots, with developers in the future being required to break up large parking lots into separate sections intersected with median strips, traffic control flow lanes and other devices to avoid acres of asphalt which commission members label a safety as well as an aesthetic hazard.

City Planner Dillon Watson emphasized the safety point when he commented, "The need of a criteria of safety is pretty clear to anyone who has ever been run down in one of the huge

Homemaker's Haven By Evelyn Spangler Pitt Home Agent

Different patterns are often found combined in one outfit. This is a fashion trend that will continue.

What is the designers key to successful coordination? It's this. When different designs are used, color is the factor that pulls them together. The color or colors are repeated in each piece of fabric. When different colors are used, design is the factor that pulls the fabrics together. The same design is repeated.

It's a tricky business but can produce a lovely outfit when this designers tip is followed.

The Tie Hunt

Shirts and ties may be the fashion trend setter for 1972, but for many - both men and women - they are still a disaster area. The problem is universal: PICKING THE "RIGHT" TIE TO GO WITH THE "RIGHT" SHIRT. Some of the guesswork has been taken out of this daily challenge by some of the top brains in neckwear and shirt designing. Here are a few of the suggestions in selecting shirt and tie combinations.

The Easy Way Out: Just wear a solid shirt with any kind of solid, striped or patterned tie. Make sure the tie repeats at least one of the shirt colors. Or, the other way around, pick any kind of plain or textured weave solid color tie for a patterned shirt.

Acceptable: Color is still the key that locks up the shirt-tie combination. However, ties with midjet prints or motifs look well with widely set stripes; ties with huge motifs are safe with thin stripes. In short, opposites attract, and the same theory works for wearing a stripe shirt WITH a striped tie. Shirts with wide set awning stripes can take a tie with tight, narrow stripes and vice versa.

The Pro: For the person who makes his own rules as he goes along, shirts with powerful stripes look surprisingly well with huge paisleys or abstract prints. The trick is to choose washed-out colors. With jacquard weave shirts or even prints, tie designs that repeat the same motifs are the answer. Here again, exact pick-up of the colors has to be carefully worked out.

LOSE 20 POUNDS IN TWO WEEKS!

Famous U.S. Women Ski Team Diet

During the non-snow off season the U.S. Women's Alpine Ski Team members go on the "Ski Team" diet to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. That's right - 20 pounds in 14 days! The basis of the diet is chemical food action and was devised by a famous Colorado physician especially for the U.S. Ski Team. Normal energy is maintained (very important!) while reducing. You keep "full" - no starvation - because the diet is designed that way. It's a diet that is easy to follow whether you work, travel or stay at home.

This is honestly a fantastically successful diet. If it weren't, the U.S. Women's Ski Team wouldn't be permitted to use it! Right? So, give yourself the same break the U.S. Ski Team gets. Lose weight the scientific, proven way. Even if you've tried all the other diets, you owe it to yourself to try the U.S. Women's Ski Team Diet. That is, if you really do want to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. Order today. Tear this out as a reminder.

Send only $2.00 ($2.25 for Rush Service) Cash is O.K. to: Ski Team Diet, P.O. Box 15493 San Diego, California 92115. Don't order unless you expect to lose 20 pounds in two weeks! Because that's what the Ski Team Diet will do!

Park Landscaping Needs Help

It is encouraging that some efforts are underway to develop the Town Commons, the river-side park opened after the area was cleared of slum dwellings.

The Pitt-Greenville Board of Realtors has given 35 flowering crepe myrtles to be planted on the Commons.

Landscaping is an important part of the park type development planned for the area and City Manager Harry Hagerty said the first phase of development will include the planting of trees along First Street and on Greene.

The second phase will include further landscaping with shrubs, flowers and trees and the installation of walking paths and park benches.

Future developments seen are a gazebo with public toilets underneath and possibly a boat house for the ECU crew team.

Overhead lines now running through the property are to come down when a new feeder line is completed along the Eastern bypass, and lights are to be installed along the waterfront.

Hagerty said its development calls for an outlay of approximately $129,000; however this cost may be cut by donations such as the one made by the realtors.

The park cannot be developed any too rapidly. It is already used to a considerable extent on balmy afternoons and the installation of walks and benches would increase its use.

Interested clubs would do well to consider gifts to the park, but also the city should begin now to plan for inclusion of at least a part of the development money in the coming fiscal year's budget.

Our Town Commons park already attracts the attention of visitors to our city. When it is fully developed it will be a great asset to the community.

Heroin Hotline Aims To Catch The Pushers

A number every responsible citizen should remember is this one:

(800) 368-5363.

This is the "Heroin Hotline" number announced by the president. It is a toll free telephone number which American citizens can call to report information on heroin pushers.

The phones are manned around the clock seven days a week. Callers need not identify themselves and Myles J. Ambrose, special assistant attorney general, says that the rights of all callers will be fully protected.

It has often been said that the pushers are the ones the law should go after.

The number is (800) 368-5363.

Needless Risk Taken By Nixon

By ROWLANDE EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON

Democrats demoralized by fading prospects against President Nixon in November can take some heart from the political ineptitude, internal conflict and general confusion displayed at the White House in its feckless intrusion into the New York state struggle over abortion.

Out of the miasma of secrecy and contradictory statements flowing from the White House, these conclusions can safely be drawn: The intervention into New York abortion was authorized by Mr. Nixon himself, lacking either a full appreciation of the political realities involved or advice from his top lieutenants. Then, having belatedly realized the error of this misadventure, the President covered his tracks in a way that revealed the shortcomings of his political operation.

The New York abortion question, of course, will not make or break Mr. Nixon's reelection. Nevertheless, the episode reveals that the President, so astute and daring in international politics, has not lost his heavyhanded touch in dealing with delicate domestic questions, nor has the political skill of the White House's senior staff improved all that much since the chaotic early days of 1969.

The recommendation that Mr. Nixon intrude into the bitter New York fight over state abortion laws came from Presidential speechwriter Patrick Buchanan, a dedicated conservative amidst the White House non-ideologues. The President was more than agreeable. On May 5, he signed a Buchanan-drafted letter to Cardinal Terence Cooke of New York supporting his campaign to repeal the state's liberal abortion law.

That same day, Cardinal Cooke's office asked Buchanan whether the letter could be made public. Buchanan said it could, and the Cardinal's office released the political bombshell the next day. A prudent man careful about exceeding his authority, Buchanan would not have moved without an explicit green light from the President.

In fact, Mr. Nixon scarcely gave his endorsement of the New York Archdiocese's anti-abortion campaign a second thought. Philosophically, he is anti-abortion. Politically, he was convinced that support of the Cardinal would accelerate the trend of Catholics, nationwide but particularly in New York, away from the Democrats and towards the Republicans.

So automatic was Mr. Nixon's reflexive response that he did not even bother to consult John Mitchell, his campaign manager and chief political adviser. Had he bothered, Mitchell could have explained to the President that the justification for anti-abortion politics is simplistic on two counts.

First, pro-abortion sentiment is substantial — even among Catholics. According to New York state government sources, between 40 to 50 per cent of the women who have availed themselves of the liberalized law are Catholics. Since abortion is a question of state rather than Federal law, this would seem to be one issue that the President ought to duck.

Second, the letter to Cardinal Cooke unthinkingly rebuffed Gov. Nelson Rockefeller (who later vetoed the legislature's repeal of the

Dove Is Talented Bird

Clark Clifford, the eminent dove, last week flew a classic course through the House Foreign Affairs Committee. It was a dazzling performance, much applauded by the evening TV news and by the Sunday papers, but it invites a few dissenting observations nonetheless.

I happen to live quite literally in dove country, up in the Blue Ridge Mountains, and would tell you something of this marvelously talented bird. Unlike the quail, which is constantly heard but not so often seen, the dove is highly visible. Unlike the bashful woodcock, which hides in shady places, the audacious dove delights in public attention.

Yet the dove is notoriously the most difficult prize of the upland hunter. The dove owes his survival not so much to sheer speed, though he is deceptively swift; the genius of the dove lies in his skill in shifting direction — left, right, backwards; now skimming, now soaring. The dove always lights, as if by magic, just ten yards out of range. He can vanish in a second.

Observe the flight of Clark Clifford: "The national security of the United States is not threatened in Vietnam, regardless of the outcome of the fighting." Here he is skimming the truth. He maintains his speed: "The small, underdeveloped non-industrial nation of North Vietnam constitutes no threat to us..." True enough; true enough. Now he soars: "And it is equally clear that Russia and China are not on the march in Southeast Asia." But how did that get to be equally clear? It is communism that is on the march, communism in whatever mask it wears.

Clifford veers: "The American people have two major interests: To get our forces — all our forces — safely out of Indochina, and to get our prisoners back." There, if you please, is the dove in perfect flight, simple, swift, misleading. The sentence flashes by and disappears before the possibility of other major interests might be injected. One such interest, at least arguably, if the preservation of small islands of freedom against engulfing waves of Communist aggression.

Clifford has another idea. No matter what Mr. Nixon's stated goals may be, the true commitment is "to provide indefinite support for the Thieu regime." The purpose of the President's recent countermoves is not to deny the enemy the weapons of war — that dangerous prospect has the witness fluttering in dismay. No, Mr. Nixon has mined the harbors and stepped up bombardment and destroyed rail lines, and "he has done all this to preserve his insistent goal of a secure regime in Saigon."

To which one might respond, if one had a shot, that Nguyen Van Thieu is not immortal, that he is serving a four-year term; that he has offered to resign as part of a peace settlement; and that, meanwhile, a secure regime in Saigon is better than an insecure regime in Saigon — better, that is, if one is interested in preventing Communist conquest.

Middle Years Better

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Middle age is the least appreciated period of life. People often act as if they thought if they paid no attention to it, it would go away like a bad dream.

Well, it won't. On the other hand middle age is no 24-hour-a-day, around the clock nightmare. After they get used to it, many of its victims find middle age more enjoyable, in some ways, than youth.

You don't have to be daffy to recognize that the middle years of existence have their consol-ing rewards as well as their demerits.

Here are a few reasons why you shouldn't dissolve in tears on arriving at your 40th birthday:

You don't have to call up an electronic dating bureau to find out which girl would be best for you to take out some evening. Your wife will nominate herself.

It isn't necessary to start searching for a bigger apartment or a larger house if you see a stork's wing on the horizon. The stork no longer keeps your address in its address book.

You probably have become familiar with the symptoms of some kind of chronic disease with which you'll keep company in your old age. And it doesn't seem as terrible as you thought it might be.

You have lost much of the insecurity that secretly plagued your youth. Therefore you don't make a nuisance of yourself by trying to top every witty remark you hear at a cocktail party.

Unless you have become an alcoholic, you have learned to take only two last ones for the road instead of five.

Your children are either out of their teens, or near the end of them, and now and then do something thoughtful that leads you to suspect they may turn

Plans have been made and completed today for the sale of poppies by the Auxiliary of the Pitt County Post of the American Legion here Saturday. Mrs. D. M. Clark, chairman of the poppy committee, appointed a group of eleven committees here and in other parts of the county to conduct the sale of the poppies made by veterans and their families.

W. J. Bundy, Greenville lawyer, has been appointed chairman of the Pitt County Chapter of the American Red Cross. It was announced today through the national headquarters of the organization. He succeeds Mrs. J. L. Hassell.

An Old Slogan Is Out Of Date

By BRYAN HAISLIP

RALEIGH. — "Caveat emptor" is a Latin phrase which means "let the buyer beware."

It used to describe the marketplace, where the consumer had no defense but his wits against practices which might deceive and cheat him.

The slogan is outmoded in North Carolina, one of the first states to adopt legislation patterned after the Federal Trade Commission to combat unfair and plaint, each merits a reply. Hafer said. When only a private controversy is involved, he added, the parties are advised that the attorney general cannot act as the advocate of one. "We can pursue those matters which we determine involve protection to the general public, but the private citizen has his own remedy," he explained.

The best of these is a 1969 law which permits a citizen injured by a deceptive trade practice to sue for treble damages.

For example, Hafer said, a Union County family bought a new house from a builder and discovered serious misrepresentations about the house had been made to them. They won their suit against the builder. The jury awarded them $3,500, and the court entered a 110,500 judgment against the builder.

Unfair Practices Banned

The division itself has gone to court to halt recruitment of high school seniors by an out-of-state computer school making false promises of high-paying jobs, door-to-door sale of cookware liable to explode on contact with direct heat, and other instances of fraud and deception.

Hafer has business as well as legal experience, a background which helps him see consumer protection in perspective. He spent five years as an auto dealer in Newton, and engaged in private law practice in Raleigh before joining the attorney general's office.

Consumer protection aids the free enterprise system, Morgan said. In its three years, the effort to eradicate unethical or deceiving practices has received the support of consumers and the business community alike, he said.

"If our economic system is to be retained, and each citizen is to receive the opportunity to earn and profit financially from his own efforts, we need to provide some governmental control over those unfair business practices which stifle competition and cause widespread distrust of the system itself," the attorney general explained.

"I believe that the concept of free enterprise has never included an authorization for any businessman to deliberately deceive the public."

deceptive business practices.

"The new standard spelled out in the 1969 act declares the purpose 'to maintain ethical standards of dealings between persons engaged in business and the consuming public... to the end that good faith and fair dealings between buyers and sellers at all levels of commerce be had in this state.'"

To translate the policy into action, Atty. Gen. Robert Morgan created in his office the Consumer Protection Division. It has demonstrated dramatically the concept that the Attorney General is not just the lawyer to the governor and agencies of state government but to the citizenry of the state.

Tar Heels Responded

Tar Heels bought the idea. Apparently consumers had been looking for a place to take their troubles because they responded with a flow of complaints and requests for help in settling disputes between buyers and sellers.

In a report for the first quarter of this year, the consumer protection division said it received 1,673 requests for assistance. Files for investigation were set up for 916 cases. A total of 655 cases were closed, resulting in savings of $37,491.24 for consumers of the state.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Gene Hafer said in many instances a letter is sufficient to bring an amiable solution to the problem. Where circumstances warrant, a legal action can be initiated to end an unfair or deceptive practice.

Strength For Today

THE DIVINE CURE

The greatest problem in the life of every individual is the sin problem. This does not mean that we are engaged in criminal acts. It only means that most of us are at the center of our own lives, engrossed by our own problems. We are pretty selfish a great deal of the time. Our homes may be models of good cheer and good living. Our business practices may be above reproach. All this is good but not good enough. God the Creator has not gone away and left His creation to get along as best they can. Both the Old and the New Testaments declare that God is in the midst of the life. He created. What we worry about is having the grade cards passed out. Where will we stand? You have never committed a criminal act? You have never committed a great sin? Fine, but that does not take in the whole of one's life. What do the kids say about us? What do the neighbors on your street say about us? What do the people with whom we spend our leisure hours say about us?

Plenty, we can be sure. Sometimes their estimate is gossip. That's bad. Sometimes we raise our noses to a hundred-and-eighty degree angle and whisper to ourselves or others: "Who are you, anyway?"

Jesus spoke about giving a cup of cold water in his name, and he made it a thing of great importance. The big contribution cast into the coffers of the Temple amid the blast of trumpets was nothing at all. The widow's mite, which she gave and then hurried away ashamed of its being so little, was on the right side. It was great because it was all her living (Mark 12:42; Luke 21:2).

Majority Favors Superiority

PRINCETON, N.J.: A sizable majority (68 percent) of the American public believe that the United States should be militarily stronger than Russia. Assuming they learned that Russia had gained military superiority over the U. S., 56 per cent of the public say they would favor spending an additional $20 billion per year to regain the military edge. Among a list of ten areas of federal activity, national defense is the fifth most frequently selected area deserving highest priority. One out of ten (11 per cent) believes national defense deserves top priority. These are among the highlights of a recent nationwide survey conducted by the Opinion Research Corporation of Princeton, New Jersey, for the American Security Council.

When asked "Do you believe that the United States should have a policy of military superiority over Russia?" 68 per cent answer yes; 23 per cent answer no, 6 per cent say they don't know, and 3 per cent give other answers. Of the 68 per cent who answer yes, 75 per cent say they feel strongly in their views, 24 per cent say they feel not very strongly, and 1 per cent say they don't know.

Of interest to political candidates is the finding that 37 per cent of the public say they would be more likely to vote for a candidate for public office who strongly favored a policy of military superiority over Russia. 17 per cent say they would be less likely to vote for a candidate who strongly favored military superiority over the Soviets. An additional 37 percent say such a candidate's views would not affect their vote. The group favoring a candidate who supports a policy of military superiority over Russia includes 42 per cent of the people age 30 and over and a larger percentage of non-whites than whites. The group less likely to vote for a candidate who favors a strong military posture over the Soviets contains a larger degree of young people 18 to 29 years of age, college educated, and professional people.

When given a hypothetical situation in which it is learned that Russia has gained military superiority over the United States and that it would cost $20 billion a year more for the U.S. to regain the lead, 56 per cent say they would approve spending the money, 32 per cent oppose spending, and 12 per cent give no opinion.

The public is somewhat divided regarding actual military and missile strength of the United States as it compares to that of the Soviet Union. 36 per cent of the public feel that the United States has either a big or small lead in military strength, and 39 per cent feel we have a big or small lead in missile strength. 14 per cent feel Russia has a big or small lead in military strength, and 18 per cent feel this way toward the Soviet missile power. Those who feel the U.S. and Russia are about even break down to 40 per cent on the question of overall military strength and 28 per cent on the missile issue.

The results of this survey were obtained by personal interviews among a nationwide probability sample of 2,195 men and women 18 years of age or over living in private households in the Continental United States. The interviews were conducted during the period March 15 to April 8, 1972.

NEW YORK (AP) — Warm, "cuddly" unlined coats were the winners at the Pauline Triggere fall collection showing.

Luncheon And Fashion Show Given Members

A luncheon and fashion show highlighted the meeting of the Pitt County Medical Auxiliary held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Jim Bowman.

Mrs. Miriam Moore narrated the script written by Mrs. Eddie Smith. Fashions included sportswear, evening and daytime wear and pants.

Fashions from a Wilson dress shop were shown. Models from Wilson were Mrs. Paul Berry, Mrs. Robert Dew and Mrs. Jean Harris. Greenville models included Mrs. Bill Dansey, Mrs. Ledyard Ross, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Clarence Tugwell and Mrs. Wiley Corbett. Mrs. Eric Fearington assisted the models.

Mrs. Edwin Clement, president, conducted the meeting and read a letter from Mrs. Wallace Woolles, who thanked the auxiliary for the coffee given March 21 to honor the ECU medical faculty wives.

Mrs. Bowman announced that the local auxiliary had won the following state awards: AMARERF, first place; membership increase, second place, and Health Careers, honorable mention.

New officers for 1972-73 are: Mrs. Steven White, president; Mrs. R. Lee West, president-elect; Mrs. Jan Woodworth, secretary; Mrs. Will McConnell, treasurer; and Mrs. Judy Murad, yearbook.

Mrs. Clement was thanked for her leadership during the year.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Bowman, Mrs. West, and Mrs. John Winstead Jr.

Couple Exchanges Vows In Ceremony

FORT KNOX, Ky. — The Fort Knox Post Army Chapel here was the setting for the wedding of Capt. Mary Lamar Simpson and Capt. Malcolm Roberts III Saturday, May 13.

The Rev. James C. Grant officiated at the double ring military ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. John Fletcher Simpson of Farmville, N. C., and the late Mr. Simpson, and LTC and Mrs. Roberts Jr. of Stonington, Conn.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Paul Koonce Ewall, of Farmville, N. C., the bride wore a gown of silk peau de soie embellished with elencon seeded lace motifs. Lace with interwoven pearls formed the scalloped neckline. The long sleeves of lace ended in a point over her hand. Covered buttons accenting the sleeves were matched by the long row tapering the back of the gown.

The bride wore a Venetian lace mantilla and carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, mums and gypsophila.

Miss Camille Boston Simpson of Jacksonville, Fla., was maid of honor for her sister. The sister of the bridegroom, Miss Nancy Hibbard Roberts of Wellesley, was bridesmaid.

Capt. Garry Owen Doolittle of Radcliff, Ky., was best man.

Chapter Officers Installed At Tuesday Meeting

The Alpha Iota Chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa, honorary sorority for women educators, installed new officers at a dinner meeting Tuesday night at the Woman's Club.

Mrs. Elizabeth Savage installed the following: President, Mrs. Vivian Mills; Vice President, Mrs. Mickey West; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Elizabeth Avery; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Katie Lee Gardner; Chaplain, Mrs. Pauline Spain and Mrs. Janie Gold Starling; Treasurer, Mrs. Dorothy Brown; Sergeant-At-Arms, Mrs. Becky Groome; and Historian, Mrs. Joyce Worthington.

The scholarship recipient is Miss Cathy Marie Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wilson, who was presented by Mrs. Groome. Miss Wilson will be a 1972 graduate of Rose High School and will attend East Carolina University.

At Rose High School, Miss Wilson has been a member of the Drama Club, French Club, chorus, choral ensemble, Birdanle Singers and Future Nurses.

She has served as secretary of her home room and as secretary of the United Christian Youth Movement for two years.

Miss Anita Todd, head mistress at Pace Academy, was initiated as a new member. Groomsman were Capt. Donald W. Appler of Huntsville, Ala., Lt. Edward Morgan Owens Jr. of Falls Church, Va., Lt. Com. John B. Lewis Jr. of Farmville, N. C., cousin of the bride, Capt. Charles Rogers and Capt. Donald Smith, both of Fort Knox, Ky.

The bride is a graduate of UNC, Greensboro with a B.S. degree. She graduated from the Army Therapy Course and has practiced physical therapy in the Army for three years.

Mrs. Malcolm Roberts III

The bridegroom, an instructor at the Armor School at Fort Knox, was graduated from the Hoosack School, Hoosack, N.Y., and from Windham College, Putney, Va.

Following their release from service, he will continue his studies and she will practice civilian physical therapy.

Mrs. Robert L. Doolittle of Radcliff, Ky., directed the ceremony.

Bride-Elect Entertained

Miss Emily Holt, bride-elect of Joseph Michael Lucas, was entertained at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. J. O. Derrick.

Guests were greeted by the hostesses, Mrs. Ernest Stine and Mrs. Derrick.

Upon arrival, the honoree and her mother, Mrs. Ernest H. Holt Sr., were presented corsages of yellow and pink rosebuds respectively.

The shower gifts were presented to the honoree by Miss Linda Stine. The gifts were arranged on a white and gold tea cart adorned with a topiary tree decorated with bridal favors.

After gifts were opened, Mrs. J. Fred Hamblen read bridal quotations. Guests were remembered with a bridal favor.

The refreshment table was decorated with magnolias and Danish candles. Mrs. James Hecker poured punch and Miss Stine assisted the hostesses in serving.

Mrs. Joseph Lucas of Ashboro, mother of the bridegroom-elect was a special guest.

Husband Makes Her Afraid To Get Sick

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-H. V. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: My husband has many fine qualities, but he has one serious hangup. He absolutely refuses to let me go to a male doctor!

For some reason, he believes that male doctors are in the profession to get their kicks from viewing the anatomies of their female patients.

When I became pregnant, my husband insisted that I go to a woman doctor. There was only one, and she wasn't a specialist in obstetrics or gynecology. She was a general practitioner. And she was in a town 75 miles from where we lived. I went to her, but complications set in after I went into labor, and she called in an obstetrician (a man) and when my husband got the news he nearly left me. The fact that this obstetrician saved my life and my baby's life didn't matter to my husband.

Don't tell me my husband needs to see a psychiatrist. He'd never go. He thinks they are all quacks.

What do I do if I need a specialist again?

AFRAID TO GET SICK

DEAR ABBY: Get the best professional care available, and if it happens to be a man, and your husband leaves you because you had a male doctor, you haven't lost much.

DEAR ABBY: Now that women have demanded equal rights, particularly in the area of employment, I wonder how many females will apply for jobs as ditch diggers, plumbers, coal miners, garbage collectors and slaughterhouse butchers?

I am aware that not all women in the world are pushing for equality, but those who are have made so much noise about it that I can no longer give up my seat on a bus to a lady. And I will never stand back and let a lady go first, unless, of course, she wants to jump out of a window, or off a bridge.

Sincerely Yours,
JOHN IN OREGON

DEAR JOHN: After you, sir!

DEAR ABBY: We had a family party and invited my daughter's widowed mother in law, Anna, and we told her to bring Henry (her boyfriend). Well, Henry was so rude and obnoxious, we were embarrassed before our friends.

Our problem is that our daughter is being married, and we want to invite Anna to the wedding, but we sure don't want her to bring Henry. Would it be proper to invite Anna and tell her not to bring Henry because he might spoil it for all the other guests?

How can this be done without hurting anyone's feelings? When I say Henry is obnoxious, I am not exaggerating. Even my husband, who doesn't get upset often, said Henry really got to him.

TOUGH DECISION

DEAR ABBY: There is no way to tell a woman that her gentleman friend is "obnoxious" and therefore not welcome to accompany her without hurting her feelings. I say, invite Anna and let her bring Henry. I doubt that Henry would "spoil" the wedding for all the other guests.

CONFIDENTIAL TO S. J. S. AT STANFORD: The late W. Beran Wolfe, an American psychiatrist, put it this way:

Doctor Develops Home Treatment that

RINSES AWAY BLACKHEADS HELPS DRY UP ACNE-PIMPLES

In 15 Minutes or Your Money Back!

Queen Helene Mint Julep Masque 15 Minute Treatment
Must Show Immediate Improvement or — YOUR MONEY BACK!

A New York Doctor, working with a cosmetic laboratory, has developed a simple home-treatment that rinses away blackheads in a matter of minutes. It was demonstrated recently on five teen-age girls and three boys.

The results were breath-taking. Blackheads really rinsed away. In fact, many could be seen on the cloth used to wash off the Masque. But this wasn't all! Acne-pimples improved after one application, enlarged pores reduced, and rough complexions became cleaner, clearer and smoother looking. These results certainly indicate why teen-agers are now saying "this is one product that really works" and why mothers of teen-agers have endorsed its use.

The Masque-Cream Treatment is indeed a remarkable discovery, not only for clear healthy skins, but also for the self-confidence, poise and self-esteem a fine complexion brings to teen-agers!

Anyone Can Use It

If you suffer the agony of teen-age blackheads, acne-pimples and rough unsightly complexions, give yourself this home treatment at our risk. Apply this delightfully Mint-Scented Cream and within 2 or 3 minutes an absorbing agent, called Argilla, dries and turns this cream into a plastic-like masque. You will now feel as though hundreds of "tiny fingers" were softly kneading the skin, loosening pore-caked dirt, blackheads and foreign impurities.

As it firms and hardens, its suction-action draws out waste matter from the pores. . . In 15 minutes you simply rinse the masque away with lukewarm water which dissolves it immediately. When you wipe your face, you can see that blackheads and other pore "filler" actually come off on your towel. And your skin feels clean, . . . really clean, . . . refreshed, smooth like velvet!

Start Now Improve Your Complexion

Don't take a back seat or be a wall-flower because of bad skin. If you want to get your full share of fun and parties, . . . clear up your complexion and let Mint Julep Masque "Lead the Way"! You certainly owe it to yourself to try a single fifteen minute home treatment to convince yourself that this new Queen Helene masque-cream can work wonders for you.

Attention! MOTHERS of Teen-Agers

Queen Helene Mint Julep Masque is a MUST for you, too! It will help tighten sagging skin on face and throat, relax tired face muscles and stimulate a fresher, cleaner, more youthful complexion. Try a medicated Mint Julep Masque Treatment YOURSELF. You'll be delighted with the skin-tightening experience and more alive feeling that comes with every treatment.

Queen Helene Mint Masque is only $3.00 for the six ounce jar, enough for over 3 months of daily home treatments. Buy it today! Start using it immediately! Prove it to yourself at our risk, for one full month. liberal law), jeopardizing the Nixon-Rockefeller entente carefully built since the 1968 election. Rockefeller, who as Nixon reelection campaign manager for New York is key to the President's rising hopes of carrying the state, was outraged by the White House intrusion. So too was Mitchell, who has a close personal-political relationship with Rockefeller and wanted immediate amends to be made. John Ehrlichman, White House domestic policy chief, conferred with Buchanan on what could be done. Buchanan agreed that Rockefeller ought to be mollified.

But he was not prepared for Ehrlichman's May 10 interview with the New York Times claiming the President never had intended that the letter be made public and that its disclosure resulted from "sloppy staff work."

Beyond the interview, there was communication at the highest level between Albany and Washington. Rockefeller's inner circle was given the impression — an erroneous impression, based on our reporting — that some very high-level White House aide (not Buchanan) had authorized the release of the letter without the slightest authorization from the President.

The entire gamey story, reminiscent of Mr. Nixon's frustrating first two years as President, suggests nothing should be taken for granted in 1972. In a career of campaigning, the President has displayed a talent at pulling defeat from the jaws of victory. The needless mishandling of the abortion issue was a sign that not much has really changed. On larger issues, the political penalties could be immense.

three members of the staff of the Robeson County Church and Community Center tell about the center's program.

Founded in 1969 by a task force from the county who wanted the church to take the lead in doing something about the poverty in Robeson County, the center works in every way possible to help existing agencies without duplicating what they do.

Robeson is a poor county. Census statistics place it as the fifth poorest in the nation—not the state, but the nation. The founders of the program had quite a job of convincing Robesonians that they did not have a hopeless project, but the Center was opened with local funds plus a generous contribution from Fund for Reconciliation of the United Methodist Church, according to Miss Kathy Mitchum, a worker at the Center.

During his days as secretary of defense, Clifford set no records for infallibility. It is thus unclear why he should be regarded as a fount of perfect truth and wisdom when he insists that Nixon's measures "will have no immediate effect on the outcome of the fighting in the South, and probably no effect for many months."

On the contrary, when account is given to the totally different kind of war now being waged, there is reason to believe that Nixon's relatively bloodless measures of "denial" may seriously inhibit a flow of fuel and heavy weapons to the enemy. To some observers, whose record at least matches Clifford's, it seems worth a try.

Clifford's own solution, as he testified, is "short and simple." He flies circles around its essence, but essentially his plan is for the United States to admit defeat and to surrender the whole of Southeast Asia to the Communists. This he describes as an "overall settlement" not incompatible with the interests of Hanoi. It is a solution, one is bound to concede, perfectly in keeping with the swerving flight of the fleeing dove. Now you see him; now you don't.

The Center is an old warehouse. There are five staff members who do everything from making appointments with the Department of Social Services for persons needing food stamps, to witnessing for Christ by giving a copy of Good News for Modern Man to everyone who comes in, to carrying ill people to faraway hospitals if need be.

They have published a directory of all agencies, civic clubs, church groups and individuals who offer services for the public and do considerable speaking and publishing of facts about just how bad the poverty in the county is. One staff member is an expert in applying for grants and loans and gives her time to any group in the county which needs help in writing proposals.

A good relationship has been arrived at with Social Services the county mental health center, Pembroke University, and other agencies in the county, Miss Mitchum said and has come to be known as a place where anyone can come with any emergency. Hopefully relations between the white, black, and Lumbee Indian population have been improved also because church people are continuing this center for those in need, she said.

Crops Increased For Philippines

MANILA (UPI)—The Philippines total production of food and commercial crops in 1971 rose to 15 million tons or three per cent over the previous year's yield, according to the Philippine News Service (PNS).

The PNS report, attributed to the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, said the 1971 crop production largely consisted of food items such as rice, fruits, vegetables and root crops which comprised two-thirds of the total yields.

into human beings, after all. Some months you are even able to pay their phone bills without crying out to high heaven in financial agony.

There is no inclination to jump on the bandwagon for every new intolerance or promised reform that parades by your door. You may even be willing to drop some old outworn prejudice that kept you snug before.

The fact that you will probably be doing the day after tomorrow pretty much the same thing you did the day before yesterday becomes more of an assurance than a punishment.

It occurs to you that the rest of mankind is not engaged in a mass conspiracy to foil you, but that each man is more probably simply trying to take care of himself, just as you are.

You do miss some of the high excitement and keen despair of your younger years, when your moods rode a roller coaster every day.

But you do find instead a quiet ecstasy in spending more time admiring God's tremendous architecture than in carping at His misdeeds and oversights.

All in all, there is as much about middle age to enjoy as there is that needs to be forgiven.

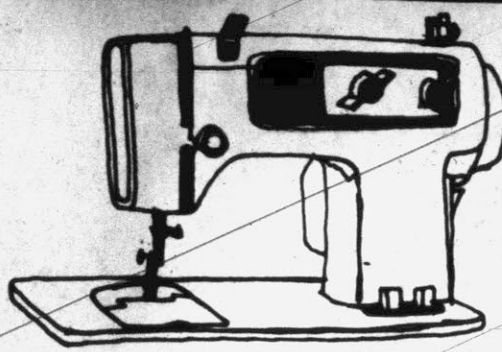

Farms Owned By Corporations

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI)—Corporations own and operate about one-third of the 12.5 million acres in commercial farms in Florida, according to the State Chamber of Commerce.

Executive vice president Ronald S. Spencer Jr., said corporations, ranging from one-person ownership to large conglomerates, own 1,215 farms in Florida, covering 3,864,000 acres. Of these farms, 673 are family owned, 284 are business owned, 203 are owned by single individuals and the other 55 are listed as "unclassified."

The state chamber said no other state in the continental United States has so great a proportion of farms under corporate ownership as does Florida.

$4.80 Fifth.
$3.00 Pint.

If you happen to think all American whiskeys are pretty much the same, you're in for a pleasant surprise.

Because new Barton's QT is unlike any whiskey ever produced in this country.

It's similar in character to the other popular American whiskeys, but lighter and milder than any whiskey you've ever tasted.

Barton's QT is the American whiskey that's literally made to taste smoother. Its secret is being distilled at a higher proof, and then stored in seasoned oak casks.

What you get is the mellow, full-bodied flavor of American whiskey, with the new smoothness of the Quiet Taste.

And once you make the comparison, you'll see.

The Quiet Taste is as smooth as you can get.

Munition Plant Blast Sees Five Women Killed

By BILL CRIDER
Associated Press Writer
KILN, Miss. (AP) — Five women have been killed in a series of explosions at an ammunition manufacturing plant which one survivor described as a "nightmare Fourth of July."

Company officials said they did not know what touched off the first blast Wednesday at the Ingram Industries facility in sparse piney woods near this southwestern Mississippi village.

The plant employs 145 persons, mostly women.

Star shell flares and tracer bullets produced by the company were set off and sailed through the sky in a specacu-lar but dangerous display. They set fires in the grass and pine trees on the 20-acre plant site, touching off more explosions as slowly spreading flames reached sheds and bunkers where explosives were stored.

Even firemen were ordered out of the area when flames menaced a 60-pound drum of lead styphnate, described by company officials as more dangerous than nitroglycerin.

Firemen, civil defense officials, highway patrolmen, sheriff's deputies and city police from Gulfport and Biloxi waited all afternoon and into the night for the big blast of the threatened drum.

But the only sound was the crackle of bullets in the distance, popping off in the heat, and the occasional "whoomp" of an exploding phosphorus flare.

John Hogue of New Orleans, Ingram's plant safety supervisor, said the first explosion occurred in a small building where five women were mixing chemicals to go into star flares. He said all five were killed.

Mildred Carroll, 43, of Kiln said she was in a nearby building at the time.

"First I heard the explosion and it blew all the flares in the air," she said. "Some were blown into other areas, where black powder and phosphorus are stored. Then I saw a big ball of black smoke, then a big mushroom shaped cloud of white smoke went up. Then all the star flares went up."

Hogue said the plant had "an elaborate safety system we had to live by. There were federal inspectors around frequently."

He said there was no immediate estimate of damage.

Elder James Vance of Newport News, Virginia, scheduled to appear at York Memorial A.M.E. Zion Church in a "Song Revival" tonight, should have been referred to in an article in Wednesday's paper as a "noted singer and evangelist." make sense to me to continue as a one-year school."

Operation of the school would be more economical on a two-year basis he indicated.

Taylor said the one-year program at ECU costs $33,000 per year per student, while a two-year program would cost $18,000.

Taylor said the cost figures are based on studies made by ECU president Leo Jenkins and other college officials.

He called for planned development of North Carolina. "We don't want to end up with all the problems of Washington, D.C., New York and Philadelphia," he stated.

Taylor advocated the "toughest position possible" on the drug problem. He mentioned the possibility of education programs in the public schools and he said churches, schools, civic clubs "everyone we can get" will have to tackle the problem.

parking lots."

The proposed amendment would also strengthen the "physical" requirements of standards for shopping center plans with particular reference to design, storm drainage, and access to public streets.

Other agenda items considered and action taken included approval of a request by Collice C. Moore of Wheelless and Moore, Inc. to rezone two lots located at Ninth and Cotanche Street from Office and Institutional to downtown commercial fringe.

Both lots front on Cotanche Street. Moore did not indicate the type of business planned for these lots and was not questioned on this point by commission members.

Philip E. Carroll received approval for rezoning of two small triangles of land west of Evans Street where Arlington Boulevard will join Evans. The triangles were created as a result of straightening out and rechanneling Green Mill Run on this property. Carroll requested an 80 foot strip be left in flood plain zoning.

Rouse, in Greenville for a scheduled Gardner news conference that was later called off, said that a "...look at the record" shows that Holshouser has been deceptive in implying that he is the "president's man in North Carolina."

The GOP official, who broke party tradition recently in announcing his endorsement of Gardner, said that in campaigning for the first primary, Holshouser "led many people to believe that he was totally committed to the president. Let's take a look at the record."

Rouse pointed out in his statement that last November, the GOP National Committee held a series of "Salute to the President" dinners across the nation and each state Republican chairman was asked by the party's national finance committee "not to hold any type of state fund raising event within six weeks" of the dinners.

"North Carolina was the only state in the country that violated this request," he continued, "and it was violated by none other than our state chairman Jim Holshouser. He held a 'Holshouser Appreciation Dinner' one week before on Oct. 29, 1971."

Rouse charged that state GOP headquarters made no attempt to support the "Salute to the President" dinner because all efforts were centered on the Holshouser affair.

He added that the state officials refused to cancel the "salute" dinners and, "with no help from Jim Holshouser or state party headquarters," money was raised for the event and Holshouser attended it on a "free ticket after personally pocketing approximately $25,000 the week before at his own dinner."

Rouse said Wednesday that he was aware that his endorsement of Gardner was unprecedented for a party chairman but he said that after careful analysis, he decided that it was the best way for him to work for a "winning spirit in the Republican party" in November.

As to the party chairmanship following the primary, Rouse said that he would honor the wishes of the GOP nominee, whether it be Gardner or Holshouser. The chairman is elected by the party executive committee.

"The Republican Party in North Carolina has to be concerned with winning this year and not just making another good showing," he emphasized. Gardner also leveled an assault on Holshouser Wednesday, saying in Charlotte that defeated U.S. Senate candidate William H. Boone's "reason for supporting me is because of my record as a fighter against forced school busing. Boone feels that my opponent...is not only weak but, for political purposes, has shifted his position on school busing."

Gardner said his first act as governor "would be to ask all legislators to pass a resolution against Congress...to call for a constitutional amendment to prohibit forced school busing."

The Rocky Mount businessman topped Holshouser, a Boone attorney and state representative, by a little over 1,000 votes in the May 6 primary.

NOTICE

The Pitt County Board of Equalization and Review will meet in the Commissioner's Room in the Pitt County Courthouse Monday, June 5, 1972 at 2:00 P. M. This is for the purpose of reviewing the assessed value placed on property for the first time in 1972 in all townships within the county.

You may examine your appraisal on file in the office of the Tax Supervisor prior to the meeting of the board. If, after your examination, you feel the value placed on your property is not comparable with the value of similar property in the county, you may appear before the Board of Equalization and Review and present your case.

The board expects to complete its hearings and adjourn July 3, 1972. In the event of a later adjournment, notice to that effect will be published in this paper.

Very truly yours,

Cub Scouts Give Trees To Park

Ten members of a Greenville Cub Scout den on Wednesday made a donation of three young flowering crepe myrtle trees for Town Commons. This contribution to the beautification of the town's downtown park area followed the Monday contribution of crepe myrtles by realtors of the city.

The members of Cub Scout Den 1, Pack 330 were able to give the small flowering trees as a result of their work in collecting and selling aluminum cans for recycling.

The ten are — Sterling Ashby, Mark Barber, Chip Davis, Steve Woodward, Robert Still, Jim Hodge, Jim O'Donnell, Peter Ostrow, William Sneed and Norwood Still.

Mrs. George Ostrow, den leader of the young scouts, accompanied the Scouts to the site for the four o'clock ceremony Wednesday.

Original plans had been for the Scouts to plant the trees themselves. Because of uncertainty of the weather, however, workmen planted the trees before their arrival.

Representing the city were City Manager Harry Hagerty and Consultant Ken Beatty, former Public Works Director, now working with the city in the area of parks and landscaping.

Hagerty expressed his appreciation to the young boys and their den mother for their concern and their work in collecting money for the project. Beatty told the Scouts about plans for developing the area and the necessity of watering and taking care of trees and plants in the city's parks.

Raleigh Twins Win ECU Scholarships

(The following was written by Jessica Hanchar of the Raleigh Times)

RALEIGH—Two Raleigh identical twins have won identical four-year scholarships totaling $8,000 to attend East Carolina University.

Gale and Marie Chamblee, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Scales Chamblee of 3359 Hampton Road, earned their awards by placing at the top of their class at Broughton High. Gale placed first; Marie, third.

The scholarships were based entirely on academic merit.

"I thought if either of us got it, it would be Gale because her average is better than mine," said Marie.

Their high academic ranks and Honor Society membership were attained in between working afternoons at a Raleigh drugstore and participating in several extracurricular activities. Both are active in sports, as members of the school's intramural basketball and volleyball teams, and members of the Intramural Sports Committee.

They also are active in the Raleigh Women's Recreational League as members of a newly created softball team which plays games twice a week.

"We stay up late" is the solution to finding time for all these activities and studying, too.

The girls, who both plan to double major in mathematics and physical education, chose East Carolina after a weekend visit to the school, during which they were interviewed for the scholarship.

"I think our father was more nervous about the interview than we were," Gale laughed.

"We loved the campus and were impressed with the good P.E. and math departments," they said in an interview.

ECU also has a good intramural program, the girls said. They hope to make the women's volleyball and basketball teams at the school.

Both would like to receive masters degrees, probably in physical education, and teach in college.

"I'd rather teach those that are interested," said Gale. "People who take P.E. in college take it because they're interested in it, not like in high school where they take it because it's a requirement."

The identical twins, although alike in several respects, are not carbon copies of each other. "We just happen to like lots of the same things," they stopped dressing alike in first grade, they said, except for three years which they spent in Peru from second through four grades, where they were required to wear uniforms.

Their father, an agronomy professor at N.C. State University, moved the family to Peru in connection with his profession.

The 17-year-old twins, who will graduate June 2, will live at their home with one brother, Gary, a sophomore at UNC at Chapel Hill, until they leave for East Carolina late this summer.

Board Suspends ABC Permit

The State ABC Board, at its Monday meeting, suspended a permit issued to James Hayes Smith for Smith's Pool Room and Grill, Route 2, Greenville, for a 90-day period.

According to a report from the State ABC Board, the permit was suspended for 90 days, effective June 5, because: "permittee, through an employee, sold and or allowed the sale of beer and permitted beer to be consumed on his...premises during illegal hours on or about...February 27...at 4 a.m....and failing to give his retail licensed premises proper supervision..."

ChargeDriver In Car Collision

Granville Hobson Spray III, 19, of Salisbury was charged with failing to stop for a stop sign following investigation of a 3:57 p.m. mishap here yesterday at the intersection of Fourth and Pitt Streets.

Police said the Spray car collided with a vehicle operated by Ernest Melbero Harris, 42, of 420 Pittman Dr., causing an estimated $200 damage to each of the two cars and injuring Harris.

IN BONN, GERMANY ... Donald B. Gerock of Newport, N. C. receives certificate from Dr. Han H. Indorf. Robert B. Morgan congratulates him.

Year's Activities End At ECU Bonn Campus

The success of the first year at East Carolina University's most distant campus, located at Bonn, Germany was spot-lighted last week with appropriate ceremonies marking completion of the year's activities.

Robert B. Morgan, North Carolina Attorney General and Chairman of the East Carolina University Board of Trustees, presented certificates of completion to the 37 students comprising the first year's class. Dr. Fred Wrigley, Deputy Chairman of the Wellcome Foundation, Limited, presented a gold medal to Mark Griffiths, of Bethesda, Md., as the most outstanding student.

Dr. Wrigley also announced that three top students would be invited to visit London for one week as guests of the Wellcome Foundation upon completion of their studies at Bonn. The names of the second and third ranking students were not known at the time of the awards ceremony pending outcome of final examinations for the quarter.

Dr. Hans H. Indorf, Resident Director, said, Bonn students received instruction in seven disciplines from seven different East Carolina University professors. They conducted 58 interviews, and were addressed by 32 guest speakers.

No statistics were available on the number of miles traveled in Europe. The students visited England, France, Belgium, Russia, Austria, the Netherlands, and Spain, and also journeyed by bus through Luxembourg and East Germany.

In West Germany, field trips were conducted to Hamburg, Cologne, Dortmund, Munich, and Berlin, in addition to the nearby towns of Ahrweiler, Koenigswinter, and Bonn itself. By the end of the school year, the students will have spent 258 days abroad.

Dr. Wrigley was a recent visitor to North Carolina, having participated in the dedication of the new multi-million dollar Burroughs-Wellcome Company research and administrative facility in the Research Triangle.

Pot Growing In City's Planter

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Police Lt. Otis Adkins, chief of Huntington's narcotics unit, has been bragging "like father, like daughter" since his 14-year-old daughter Vicky made the department's latest find.

Miss Adkins was shopping with her mother when she noticed what she thought was marijuana growing in a downtown flower planter.

Taking a leaf home to her father, she had her suspicions justified. It was pot in that pot.

The four marijuana plants were removed from the city-owned planter.

Lots Of Mustard For Hot Dogs

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI)—Fans of the Indy 500 are expected to cut the mustard in record numbers during the auto racing classic this year. The world's largest producer of prepared mustard says the Indianapolis Speedway ordered 2,400 gallons of its product to be served with hot dogs during the four days of time trials and the big race itself on Saturday, May 27.

A spokesman for the R.T. French Co. said it's the firm's largest single order from a concessionaire. The 12 tons of mustard is enough to paddle 1 1/2 million hot dogs, an average of 300,000 a day or 1 1/2 hot dogs per person per day when the stadium is filled to capacity.

N.C. Campaigners Travel Around The State Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
North Carolina's major political candidates galloped around the state today in hopes of corraling enough stray votes to put them in the General Election roundup this fall.

With the June 3 runoff primary closing in, the candidates blazed some new trails and retraced wellworn paths in the search for votes.

Republican gubernatorial candidate Jim Gardner was in Raleigh today, while his opponent, Jim Holshouser, hit Davie County, High Point, Greensboro and Winston-Salem.

Congressman Nick Galifianakis continued his trek through the Piedmont in his effort to defeat Democratic Sen. B. Everett Jordan. Jordan looked for hands to shake in tobacco industry factories in Durham.

Li. Gov. Pat Taylor was to appear on a live, half-hour television program at Greenville where he would invite viewers to question him by telephone about his campaign for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Taylor's opponent, Hargrove "Skipper" Bowles, was to be in Asheville today.

Bowles attacked Taylor Wednesday on the lieutenant governor's plan to widen U.S. 17 on the North Carolina coast. Bowles said it would take a five- or six-cent increase in the state's gasoline tax or a halt in funds for other state-federal road projects to finance the widening from two lanes to four lanes.

Bowles jabbed home the point Wednesday as he spoke in several northeast North Carolina towns.

Taylor, meanwhile, took a slap at the campaign spending of Bowles, saying he would do everything he could as governor "to put a limit on campaign expenses." Bowles spent about $500,000 in the first primary.

The two Republican candidates for the gubernatorial nomination exchanged old charges and counter-charges in a joint appearance Wednesday before the Mecklenburg County Republican Women's Club in Charlotte.

Again Gardner denied that his campaign headquarters in 1968 when he ran for governor was the source of bumper stickers linking Gardner with George Wallace.

Sen. Jordan and Rep. Galifianakis attacked each other's performance in Washington. Galifianakis said at a Charlotte news conference that Jordan's recent announcement to co-sponsor a bill to increase social security by 20 per cent is a "remarkable turnaround."

Galifianakis said Jordan voted three times "against the majority in a callous attempt to kill medicare."

Jordan, in Greensboro Wednesday, replied to his opponent's claim that Jordan has no responsible position in the Senate. Jordan said he was chairman of the Rules Committee and chairman of five subcommittees. He questioned why Galifianakis has "never been chairman even of a subcommittee."

Says Better Days Ahead

PINEHURST, N. C. (AP) — The new president of the North Carolina Medical Society says the training of family nurse practitioners and physician assistants offers a "significant resource for unmet medical care needs."

Dr. John Glasston told the society Wednesday he feels the organization "will and should continue in the forefront in the support of these efforts toward increased manpower for the most efficient delivery of medical care."

Glasston said the physicians assistant concept "has had much impetus from the pioneer program at the Duke Medical Center."

He noted that based on projected calculations, North Carolina should have 6,157 practicing physicians by 1975 and 7,111 by 1980, an increase of 32 per cent over the 1970 level.

Glasston cited the gains in medical education in North Carolina. The entering class at Bowman Gray Medical School in 1968-69 numbered 61 students and will be 84 in 1972-73, an increase of 38 per cent. For the same period, Duke's Medical School will jump from 86 to 114, a 33 per cent gain. The University of North Carolina School of Medicine enrollment will rise from 72 in 1968 to a class of 110 by the 1972-73 school year.

Margaret Irene Lassiter, health director in Harnett County, was presented a special award by the society for distinguished service to nursing. Miss Lassiter was Harnett's first public health nurse more than a third of a century ago.

Plan Expanded Campus Housing

DURHAM (AP) — Construction is scheduled to begin early next fall on the first 500 units of a new campus housing facility at Duke University.

James A. Ward, university architect and director of physical planning, said Wednesday the Valley Forge Corp. of Valley Forge, Pa., will design and construct the first phase of the multi-apartment living community.

Ward said the first completed units will be available in the spring of 1973. When fully developed, the project will have some 700 units. Ward said cost of the first phase is estimated at $6.3 million.

Boy Charged In Theft Of Watch

Greenville police have arrested a 14-year-old boy on charges of taking a watch from a locker room at E. B. Aycock Junior High School Monday.

According to Chief Glenn Cannon, police were called to investigate when a local jeweler thought he recognized the watch.

Chief Cannon said the boy charged in connection with the case allegedly tried to sell the jewelry store owner the watch.

Value of the watch was set at $30.

Judge Winifred Wells Completing Pitt Term

JUDGE WINIFRED WELLS

Judge Winifred Wells has the distinction of being the first woman to ever serve in Pitt County as a Superior Court judge. Her term here ends today.

In fact the Wallace attorney, who was appointed by Gov. Robert W. Scott in January of 1970, is the only woman Superior Court judge in North Carolina. She has practiced law for 26 years and began when there were few women attorneys. The wife of Dr. D. L. Wells, a dentist in Wallace, she has two sons, Leon, who is stationed at Patrick Air Force Base in Florida, and David, a student at western Carolina University.

She says being judge keeps her traveling a lot and her husband does not like this too well, but that she is able to do it since her sons are no longer at home. She is resident judge of Jones, Onslow, Duplin, and Sampson Counties but has sat numerous places throughout the state, she said.

Her primary interest outside her work is related to her work. "I am a member of the N. C. Bar Association's Penal System Study Committee and have worked primarily on a report on the North Carolina Juvenile Corrections system," she said. "I have deep feelings about the wrongness of our present training school system. Except for a few incorrigibles, I feel almost all offenders should be kept in the community, either in their own homes, in foster homes, or in cottage situations, similar to those at Boys' Home and some orphanages."

"The dormitory life and the institution atmosphere and treatment make most juvenile offenders more maladjusted and bent toward crime than they were when they were committed."

"We're meeting in Raleigh this weekend and have just recently published a report entitled, 'As the Twig Is Bent,' which states the views of the committee. Now it will be up to the next legislature to begin to put these recommendations into action."

Suspend Permit In Snow Hill

The State ABC Board has suspended a Snow Hill man's permits for 30 days, effective June 5, for violations of the state ABC regulations.

The Board's action, taken at its Monday meeting, was to suspend permits issued to Toufic Alawar for Harry's Restaurant on Main St. because "permittee did sell and or allow the sale of beer to minor (person under 18 years of age), on his retail licensed premise on or about February 11...at 10 p.m....and did fail to give his retail licensed premise proper supervision..."

Governors Plan Campus Visits

RALEIGH (AP) — The new Board of Governors of the University of North Carolina System slated visits to the campuses of University of North Carolina at Asheville and Western Carolina University at Cullowhee today. Later, it will go to Boone where it meets this afternoon on the campus of Appalachian State University.

GRADUATING 71,323
RALEIGH (AP) — Upwards of 1,500 North Carolina Jaycees and their wives will begin assembling in Raleigh today for their annual state convention.

Robersonville Nips Norlina By 5-4

By WOODY PEELE

Reflector Sports Editor
ROBERSONVILLE — The Robersonville Golden Eagles survived a sixth inning rally by Norlina and went on to take a 5-4 victory over the Blue Waves and gain the Eastern Finals of the Class 1-A Baseball Playoffs.

The Eagles are tentatively scheduled to meet Saratoga High School Friday night in Harrington Field at East Carolina University. Game time will be 8 p.m.

The game had a little for everyone, except perhaps the purist. It was filled with errors, seven by Norlina and four by Robersonville. They figured in nearly all of the scoring. Three of the five Eagle runs were earned, however, while only one of those scored by Norlina was.

The game also was under protest from the middle of the second inning on. Robersonville's Noland Respass requested it following a controversy over a runner who missed a base in a scoring play. The protest will now be dropped, however, since the Eagles won.

Doyle Farmer, who won his 10th game against no losses, was hit hard in the contest, but managed to come through when it was necessary. Only some poor fielding behind him got him into real trouble.

Robersonville got the scoring started in the bottom of the first inning. Edward Warren led off, and was hit by a pitch. He stole second and Ricky Brown walked. Then, it all started.

A pitch got by the catcher, and Warren and Brown advanced.

The catcher retrieved the ball and tried for a throw to third, but it was off the mark, and Warren scampered home with the first run. Then, with one out, Matt Wilson struck out, but managed to make first when the strike was errored by the catcher.

Brown moved to third on the play. Wilson stole second, and when a pickoff attempt was made on Brown, it too was thrown away, and Brown came in. Wilson moved to third on the play, and when the relay was also thrown away, he came in with the third Robersonville run.

To top it all off, Summy Mobley followed with a double, but died at second as the next two men went down.

Norlina came up with two of their own in the controversial top of the second. With one out, Jeff Edgerton reached on an error. Gus Hunt slammed a double into right center, moving Edgerton to third. Earl Allen's grounder to third got through on an error, and Edgerton and Hunt came around to score.

Then, the fun began.

Hunt missed third and everyone saw it. The ball was played there and the field umpire ruled the man out. The Norlina coach, however, protested that the ball had to go to the mound, then to third, for an appeal play. In the meantime, he sent Hunt back across the field to tag the bag. The plate umpire ruled that was true and that the touch had been properly made and the run counted.

But that brought Respass out. He claimed that the runner had to touch home again too, which he hadn't and an appeal was made again both at second and third, each from the pitcher's rubber. The plate umpire said the run was still good, and the protest was made.

(According to the rule book, a runner who misses a base must touch intervening bases in going back and forth. This was not done, as Respass cited, and the runner should have been ruled out, according to former East Carolina University baseball coach Jim Mallory, who is now an umpire during his spare time.)

Norlina nearly tied it up after that. Mike Wimbrow slashed a hit into center, and Allen tried to score from second. Phil James made a perfect throw, however, nailing him at the plate.

Robersonville got a threat in the fourth. James led off with a single and moved to second when the ball was errored. He advanced to third on an out, but failed to score.

In the fifth, however, the Eagles did push in a run, making it 4-2. Brown reached on a fielder's choice and took second on a passed ball. Loyall Corey walked and with two away, Mobley singled to center, scoring Brown. Oddly enough, the throw to home was on target, but Norlina pitcher Purcell Jordan cut the throw and that let Brown just squeeze in.

Norlina then exploded for two in the sixth on more Robersonville mistakes, and that tied it up. Gibby Floyd led off, slamming a ball into right. Matt

Wilson, going after it, fell on the skippy grass and by the time it was retrieved, Floyd had a triple. The relay to third was overthrown, and that let Floyd come on in with the third Blue Wave run.

Mike Martin struck out, but like Wilson in the first, he reached when the ball got by the catcher. Jordan singled and Walker Coker walked to load the bases with none out. Farmer fanned the next batter, but then walked Hunt, bringing in Martin with the tying run.

Robersonville threatened in the sixth, as Mike Matthews walked and Warren singled, but it died there.

Finally, in the seventh, they pushed over the winning run.

With two away, Mobley reached when his grounder was errored at short. James then cracked a long drive into deep right, and Mobley raced all the way from first, just sliding in under the tag to end the game.

The winner of Friday night's game will play host to the western champ in the state finals, a best-of-three affair.

Four Claim Victories In City League Play

Shirley's, Huey's, Parker's and Hardee's all picked up victories in the City Softball League last night.

Hardee's downed the Jaycees, 18-4; Parker's beat Burger King, 16-3; Huey's ripped Greenville Utilities, 22-6; and Shirley's shut out Fieldcrest, 17-0.

Shirley's got all they needed in the second inning of play, scoring one run. Randy Phillips doubled and scored on another two-bagger by Jimmy Medlin.

Shirley's then added two in the third, nine in the fourth, and five in the sixth.

In the second game at Evans Field, Huey's pushed over six runs in the first inning, while GUCo got a solo run.

Babe Ruth Postponed

The Babe Ruth League game between Home Builders and College View, scheduled for last night, has been postponed.

The contest will be played as part of a triple-header Friday night at Guy Smith Stadium.

The third proved to be the decisive one as three more Huey's runs came over. Stu Rhodes homered to lead off the inning and Mike Saylor's got a hit. Ron Hogue finished it up with another homer for a 9-1 lead.

Huey's then added seven in the fourth with Tom Tucker homering, along with two in the fifth, three in the sixth, and three more in the seventh. GUCo got one in the fifth and four in the seventh.

The third game saw Burger King take a brief lead with two runs in the second. They got only one more in the fifth, and by then, it was all over.

Parker's pushed over eight in the second. Wayne Avery walked and Charles Meeks tripled. Tommy Meeks doubled and Carl McLawhorn got a triple. Jay Boswell singled and Jimmy Evans got a hit. William and Robert Nichols both singled, and a double by Johnny Carraway brought in with the seventh and eighth runs.

Parker's added four in the fourth, one in the sixth and three in the seventh.

In the lone game at Guy Smith, the Jaycees gained the lead with a run in the second, but lost it when Jesse Long got a solo homer for Hardee's in the third.

Then, in the fourth, Hardee's struck for four more and the lead for good. Jerry Grant singled and Brent Michaels doubled. Tim Eldridge doubled as did Jimmy Suggs. Pat Morgan reached on a fielder's choice, scoring Suggs with the last run, making it 5-1.

Hardee's added three in the fifth on a homer by Grant, then picked up seven in the sixth with Eldridge homering. Three more scored in the seventh. The Jaycees added three on a homer by Bob Turner in the sixth.

Indians Take Southern Cup

ARLINGTON, Va. — For the third consecutive year, the College of William and Mary has won the Southern Conference Commissioner's Cup.

The cup is awarded annually to the team that attains the best overall athletic record in the conference. This is the third year of its existence.

Three years ago, in the first competition, William & Mary and East Carolina shared the honors, tying in the competition. Last year, William & Mary won it outright, and did it again this year, besting East Carolina by five points. The Pirates were also runner-up last year.

Furman finished in third place, followed by The Citadel, Richmond, Davison, and VMI.

William & Mary won conference titles in cross-country, indoor track and outdoor track. They finished second in football, soccer, wrestling and tennis.

They were third in basketball and rifle and fifth in baseball.

East Carolina won two titles, in wrestling and golf. Richmond won two titles, in football and baseball, while Davison won soccer and basketball. VMI captured the rifle championship, while Furman won in tennis. The Citadel was the only league team to fail to capture a title.

William & Mary, in winning, collected 53 points, while East Carolina had 48. Furman had 42, The Citadel, 35; Richmond, 34; Davison, 29; and VMI 21. Appalachain, not eligible this year, will enter the competition next season.

Rams Play On Friday

SNOW HILL — Greene Central's Rams will take on Hamlet Friday night in the continuation of the 3-A State Baseball playoffs.

The contest will be played at Campbell College, beginning at 8 p.m.

Greene Central gained the semi-finals of the state playoffs with a 9-3 win over Southern Durham last Friday. Hamlet got into the game by finally beating Hope Mills, 5-2, last night in an off-delayed contest.

Greenville Legion Opens Play Saturday

Blue Makes First Appearance But Doesn't Make Much Impression

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Here comes Vida Blue.

Ball Was In Play

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — It's too late now, but the official scorer and umpires missed one a couple weeks ago when West Jefferson High won the state high school baseball championship.

Frank Steele of losing Walker High hit a fly with two out in the last of the sixth. The ball struck a pigeon, which fell dead to the ground, while the ball was caught by the second baseman.

"Out," shouted the umpire. But he shouldn't have. The recently published book called "Knotty Problems," based on professional baseball rules, has a section called, "fly strikes bird, is caught."

It reads "the batter is not out since the ball no longer is legally 'in flight' and therefore is not legally caught, the ball remains in play and the batter can advance at his own risk."

There is no word on what would have happened if the fielder caught the pigeon.

Oops—there goes Vida Blue. Oakland's illustrious left-hander made his long-awaited debut Wednesday night, but he didn't make it very good.

Pitching one inning of relief in a brief warmup for his first start, Blue gave up two hits and two walks and took the defeat as the California Angeles beat the A's 6-5.

"He had to be nervous," said Oakland Manager Dick Williams. "The first time out, he's got to have a lot of pressure on him."

Blue, a 24-game winner who claimed both the Most Valuable Player and Cy Young awards last season in the American League, was a stubborn holdout this year and didn't sign his contract until several weeks of the season had elapsed. He's slowly peaking toward his first start this weekend.

In the other American League games Wednesday night, the Chicago White Sox defeated the Texas Rangers 5-1; the Minnesota Twins nudged the Kansas City Royals 1-0 in 12 innings; the Baltimore Orioles trimmed the Boston Red Sox 4-1; the Detroit Tigers topped the Milwaukee Brewers 5-3 and the New York Yankees beat the Cleveland Indians 4-2.

Blue got the call against California while sparse crowd of a little more than 3,000 at Oakland Coliseum applauded his entrance. The score was 4-4 when the stylish shouthpaw came in and threw four straight balls to Art Kusnyer.

Then he fired a wild pitch, allowing Kusnyer to take second, before walking Sandy Alomar. Ken Berry and Vada Pinson followed with run-scoring singles, both solid shots.

Those two runs proved to be the winning margin, giving Don Rose his first major league victory. The young California pitcher entered the record books with a night's work that included a home run on the first pitch thrown to him in the big time. Only six others in the history of major league baseball have done it.

Rick Reichardt doubled home three runs to cap a five-run burst in the first inning that carried hot Chicago past Texas for its 12th victory in 13 games. Tom Bradley stopped the Rangers on four hits, including Dick Billings' ninth-inning home run.

Texas starter Bill Gogolewski was rached for five hits and all five runs in the White Sox' decisive rally.

Rod Carew's run-scoring single broke a scoreless tie in the 12th inning, lifting Minnesota over Kansas City. The single scored Danny Thompson, who had opened with a double off Dick Drago.

The rally gave the victory to Jim Kaat, who had pitched a five-hitter for 11 innings and worked out of tight squeezes in both the 10th and 11th. Wayne Granger pitched the final inning for the Twins to save Kaat's fifth victory in six games.

Andy Etchebarren's two-run single capped a four-run rally in the eighth inning as Baltimore erased a one-run deficit and came back to beat Boston. The Oriole rally was aided by an error by Red Sox second baseman Doug Griffin that allowed Terry Crowley to score from third with the tying run.

Belvoir, Trinity Collect Victories

Belvoir and Trinity picked up victories last night in the Church Softball League. Belvoir nipped Mt. Pleasant, 10-8, while Trinity beat First Christian, 7-3.

The results left Belvoir with a 2-4 record, while Christian is also 2-4. Trinity is 3-2 and Mt. Pleasant, 2-3.

In the opening game, Belvoir pushed ahead with three runs in the first inning. Mr. pleasant came up with two in the second and it stayed that way until the fifth. In the fifth, Belvoir added three more, gaining a 6-2 lead. A homer by James Pollard helped the cause during the inning. In the sixth, Mt. Pleasant came up with five runs including a homer by Harold Barnes to take the lead, 7-6 but it wasn't enough.

Belvoir came up with four in the top of the seventh to take the lead for good. Pollard singled and John Tripp got a hit. Bud Coggins singled and Ralph Pollard added another. Tony Coggins walked and Joe Hathaway reached on a fielder's choice, scoring Ralph Pollard with the 10th Belvoir run.

Mt. Pleasant added another in the bottom of the seventh, but couldn't pull even again. In the other contest, Trinity moved ahead with one in the first, but Christian tied it with one in the second.

Trinity then came up with three in the third to move ahead, 4-1, an insurmountable lead. Al Davis reached on an error and Smith Worthington walked. Donnie Bowen then homered to account for all three runs.

Trinity added two in the fourth on a homer by Davis, then picked up one in the seventh. Christian got one in the fourth and one in the sixth.

Greenville's American Legion baseball team will open its season Saturday and Sunday at Harrington Field in a pair of doubleheaders.

Saturday, the team will play host to Wilmington, then on Sunday, they'll meet Winter Park. Both doubleheaders will begin at 3 p.m.

The 1972 season for Greenville is largely one of rebuilding, after a number of losses last year. Only three regulars return to this season's entry, Bill Lee, Stanley Cobb and Phil Blount.

"We are largely inexperienced," Coach John Holt said. "If we win 10 games, I'll feel that we've done well."

But he also added that if the pitching staff comes through it could be another banner year for the team.

"Things are looking pretty good now. We have some real good athletes, and we've just got to get it all together," Holt said. One of the surprises so far has been the pitching of Randy Potter of Aurora. "He's looked real good," Holt said. Potter is a 6-2, 205-pounder, who throws right-handed. "He's really smoking them," Holt added.

Another pitcher who has looked good is Rose High School's Lee Cherry. "He's looked outstanding," the coach said. "He shut us out in a scrimmage game for seven innings the other day."

Cobb, one of last year's returning aces, is looking good too, but has been hampered by a leg problem. Another veteran, Lee, the shortstop, has been out of action for several days with a cold, but Holt feels he's going to be coming through shortly.

"Duncan Charlton (of Kinston) and John Barwick (of Greenville) are our best athletes," Holt said. Charlton is slated to share the catching duties with Jerry Griffin, and also play some first base.

Barwick, meanwhile, can play either at second, third or short, and will probably open the season at second.

Another big surprise has been Robert Brinkley, another Rose player. "In the scrimmage, we didn't quite have enough for two teams, so we let the batters stay in until they made three outs each. The only way we could get a bat away from Brinkley was to force him to steal to get him out."

Three other pitchers are also expected to see a lot of duty for the Greenville team. They are Vic Corey of Conley and a pair from Williamson, Mike Weaver and Mike Bundy.

In the outfield, Robbie Cox of Greenville and Blount (of Jamesville) will be holding down regular duty. They'll be joined by either Weaver or Cobb, depending on who's on the mound.

Saturday, Holt plans to go with Potter and Cobb on the mound. He'll come back Sunday with Locke Conrad of Kinston in the first game and either Weaver or Corey in the second. Cherry is slated to see duty as chief relief pitcher.

As far as the Area One, Eastern Division title picture is concerned, Holt looks at Wilson and Rocky Mount to be the teams to beat. He gives a little more edge to Wilson. "They won the 4-A area title, and they'll be drawing from Saratoga and Black Creek, two of the 1-A titlists and Greene Central, a 3-A playoff team. So they'll be loaded with talent."

Rocky Mount has a great deal of experience, and its high school people were co-champions in 4-A with Wilson. Ahoskie should be ranked about even with Greenville. "Tarboro is probably hurting the worst," Holt said. "They have a limited area to draw from, and this can't help them."

Besides the members of the team now playing, Holt hopes to pick up some from Roberstonville when that team completes its schedule.

Elks Remain Unbeaten, 6-2

The Elks remained unbeaten in the Tar Heel Little League yesterday with a 6-2 victory over the Exchange.

The win gave the Elks a 3-0 record, while the Exchange fell to 1-2.

The game was a scoreless deadlock until the fifth inning when the Elks finally broke the ice with three runs. John Cleetwood of the Exchange and Reggie Spain of the Elks were engaged in the hurling duel. The Elks had picked up two hits and the Exchange just one until that point.

Then, in the fifth, Mack Stocks, walked with one away and Jarvis Campbell bunted his way aboard. Jimmy Lee singled to score Stocks, and Spain reached on a fielder's choice, loading the bases. Lance Cain reached on an error, scoring Campbell, and a walk to Len Jackson brought in Lee with the third run. The Elks added their remaining three in the top of the sixth. Greg Hargett reached on a fielder's choice and Stocks singled. Campbell reached on an error, scoring both Hargett and Stocks, and a double by Lee brought in Campbell, making it 6-0.

The Exchange tried to get a rally going in the bottom of the sixth, but fell short. Boat Greene was hit by a pitch and Thil Hurley reached on an error. Both Advanced on a passed ball, and Bobby Boseman singled to score Greene. Jay Cox reached on a walk and Allen Clark singled in Hurley, but the rally died there.

Lee led the Elk hitting with three, while Campbell had two. Spain limited the Exchange to only three hits.

Jaycees Down Lions By 4-1

The Jaycees gained their second victory in the North State Little League yesterday with a 4-1 win over the Lions.

The win gave the Jaycees a 2-1 record, while the Lions fell off to 1-2.

The Lions gained the lead in the top of the second, pushing over the only run they were to get. Dennis Simko singled with one away and moved up on a passed ball. Jim Arnett was walked and Marty Worthington singled, driving in Simko for a 1-0 lead.

It didn't last long, as the Jaycees came back with one in their half of the second to tie it up. Danny Boyd led off with a double. Lance Weatherington walked, as did Joey Mathias, loading the bases. Then, with two away, Bill Collier singled, scoring Boyd to tie it up, 1-1.

It stayed that way until the fourth, when the Jaycees came up with another run to take the lead, 2-1. Greg Guthrie reached on an error and moved to second on a passed ball. Collier then doubled, driving him over.

The Jaycees added two insurance runs in the fifth. Charles McLawhorn singled and took second on a passed ball. Boyd singled, and McLawhorn scored on Weatherington's infield out. A passed ball then let Boyd score the final Jaycee run.

Collier and Boyd led the Jaycee hitting with two each, while Simko and Worthington each had two for the Lions.

Life Is Slow And Basic, As He Wanted In A Company Town

By ALLEN NACHEMAN
Associated Press Writer
GILCHRIST, Ore. (AP)—The Franklin stove is crackling. The living room has a homewarmth about it as Bud Keown settles into an easy chair and hauls his daughter, Kelly, into his lap.

Outside, a late model pickup camper is parked in the driveway. A motorboat and trailer, a new car and two motorcycles are in the garage.

Less than 50 yards from the back door is a thick forest, laced by a rushing stream. The forest air is tangy with the scent of pine, the stillness broken only by the roar of an occasional log truck, a scampering deer, the whoosh of the wind through the towering Ponderosa pines.

Bud Keown takes stock of all this and smiles.

"You know," he says, "I got everything I want here."

It is precisely as Frank R. Gilchrist had intended.

In 1937, after the last tree was cut in Laurel, Miss, Gilchrist pulled up stakes and moved his timber company onto 85,000 acres of lush, south-central Oregon woodland.

Gilchrist was not about to build his new timber empire, as he had the old, on a foundation of itinerant mill hands with nothing but a pay envelope to hold them to a job, little to look forward to at day's end but a lonely shack in a desolate, snowbound labor camp.

Gilchrist built his mill. And he built a town.

His workers would have most everything they wanted right at the doorstep of the mill. A man could settle his family here, send his children to school, build his life and his future in Gilchrist. He would have no reason to leave.

Thirty-three years have proven Gilchrist essentially correct.

Bud Keown was born 33 years ago in a hospital in Bend, 50 miles to the north, then, as now, the location of the nearest medical care.

Keown went to work in the mill 14 years ago and married Mary Ann two years later.

He earns $9,600 a year plus overtime, which puts him on the high side of the average mill salary.

"Sure there are people in the cities making more," he says. "But I think they're missing something. If a guy is happy in what he's doing, why go looking for something else?"

As U.S. 97 snakes through the eastern foothills of the Oregon Cascades, Gilchrist materializes as a trim, model railroad village off to one side, with the sprawling mill complex on the other.

There is no welfare in this community of 500. No unemployment, no traffic congestion and little pollution.

Crime?

"It hardly exists here," says Cpl. John Hall, head of the four-man state police office which, from Gilchrist, patrols a broad surrounding area of

Just No End To The Dust

CHICAGO (UPI) — Keep sweeping—there's more dust where that came from.

Scientists, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica, estimate that about 43 million tons of dust settle in the United States each year, and some of it is from out of this world.

The main sources of dust are soil blowing, volcanic activity, combustion processes, vehicle exhaust and meteoric matter penetrating into the earth's atmosphere from outer space.

Dust even comes from the sea. Spray from the world's oceans annually bring about 2 billion tons of salt dust into the air. The blue Mediterranean may have supplied some of the particles of dust on your window sill.

Whatever the experience of housewives who live on dirt roads, the worst dust problem is in urban areas. Measurements in heavily polluted cities show from 30 to 80 tons of dust fall per square mile per month.

By one measurement, the dust rate of cities is four times worse than that for towns and 15 times worse than the countryside—just on the average. The concentration of dust indoors normally is higher than in the free atmosphere, and variations generally follow the outdoor changes.

In cities with especially heavy industry, as much as 200 tons of dust per square mile has been measured. If the concentration is worse indoors, no telling how much grime gathers per month on each square inch of dresser top.

The world's biggest dust bin, however, may be in China. Geologists estimate that loose deposits there, carried by wind as dust, sometimes reach a thickness of 700 feet.

TOLL PREDICTED
CHARLOTTE (AP) — The North Carolina State Motor Club predicts that 22 persons will die in traffic accidents in the state over the Memorial Day weekend, from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Monday.

northern Klamath County.

Life in Gilchrist is slow and basic, easily sorted into small pigeon holes of do's and don'ts, goods and bads.

Keep up the car installments. Pay the gas, electric and grocery bills.

The company takes care of the water and sewers, collects the garbage, keeps the newly paved streets whistle clean and pays all the property taxes.

And it conveniently deducts your rent from your paycheck. Because if you live in Gilchrist, as do 125 of the 200 mill families, you live in a company-owned house.

The Keowns pay $45 a month for their comfortable four-bedroom house.

Rents range from $29 for a one-bedroom cottage to $45 for the most luxurious of the larger homes provided for supervisory personnel. They haven't been raised in 17 years.

The company is the landlord. It also owns and operates the movie theater, the gas station and the two-lane bowling alley.

There is no government here. "We don't need any," says Bill Steers, who's worked here 16 years. "The company provides just about everything a government would—water, sewers, garbage collection, road maintenance—all free."

Cost to Gilchrist is somewhere around $40,000 a year.

Steers, 43, who holds a forestry degree from Michigan State University, is "wood boss," in charge of logging the company's 85,000 acres.

"I wouldn't live anywhere else," he says. "We go to Portland four or five times a year. We hit all the good restaurants and night clubs. We do plenty of window shopping. We love it. But after three days we can't wait to get the hell back here."

BIG-HEARTED — When Beebe, a white poodle owned by Mr. and Mrs. John Sernik of Harstown, Pa., lost her own two puppies at birth, she took over the task of nursing two Setter pups who had lost their mother. Then, when a deformed piglet was born on the Sernik farm, Beebe extended her motherly chores to include the tiny porker. (AP Wirephoto)

"I don't think so," says Jerry Bennett, the school's 33-year-old principal. "True, they may be underexposed. But on the other hand, did you ever think city kids might be overexposed?"

Frank Gilchrist, 46, likes the town too, but for other reasons. "It's paid off," he says of his late father's idea. "We've been able to attract and hold a much higher caliber of worker. Fifty per cent of our employees have been with us more than 20 years."

Teachers Will Preview TV Class Series

CHAPEL HILL. . . North Carolina teachers will have a special week of television programs just for them when the Department of Public Instruction presents "Four Days of School Television Previews," May 30-June 2 over the University of North Carolina Television Network.

Teachers in the elementary and secondary schools around the state will be able to preview samples from the instructional television (ITV) series to be broadcast for use in the schools during the 1972-73 school year. Programs will be broadcast from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. during the four days over all seven UNC-TV stations.

This will be the first time since School Television began in North Carolina in 1957 that teachers will be able to see the television lessons before the school year begins. Over a quarter of a million students in North Carolina are using ITV courses in their classrooms. With the addition of the newest UNC-TV transmitter, Channel 24, Greenville, the number is expected to increase substantially next year.

During 1972-73 there will be sixteen courses broadcast, the largest number of ITV series ever offered in North Carolina.

School Television includes courses for all grade levels and covers a wide range of subject matter from science to the humanities. Most of the courses are not complete in themselves, but are meant to be used as supplements to on-going classroom instruction.

Courses are produced by the UNC-TV studios or purchased from outside ITV production agencies, such as National Instructional Television Center in Bloomington, Indiana. "Sesame Street" and "The Electric Company", produced by the Children's Television Workshop, will be included. All series broadcast are approved for use in North Carolina schools by the Department of Public Instruction.

Programs designed to explain individual course objectives and use will be broadcast along with the sample program for students. Announcements concerning ITV utilization in the classroom will be interspersed among the previews.

'Poor Pay-Off' On Investment

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UPI) — "We spend $40,000 on each baby and make our last payment on our child's education just in time to hear him lash out against our materialism."

That declaration of the pay-off for child-raising was made by Prof. Florence Kerckhoff at a debate on child-rearing during Purdue University's second annual Women's Day.

Army Experiments With Cycle Squad

FT. HOOD, Tex. (UPI) — The rural residents of the dusty plains of Central Texas have been noticing herds of motorcyclists racing across the countryside disdaining the use of appointed highways.

It was not, as many area folks figured, a gang of youths up to generally no good.

It was just the latest experiment of the U.S. Army — a motorcycle reconnaissance calvary unit employing many recruits who had never ridden a motorcycle before.

The theory is simple — airlift a platoon of 40 men and their motorcycles behind enemy lines, have the men reconnoiter the area on their two-wheeled vehicles and then be picked up by the helicopters.

Theory Tested

To test the theory the Army leased 36 motorcycles from the Sun-Fun Cycle Center in Dallas and created the Combat Support Company, 2nd Battalion, 7th Cavalry, 1st Cavalry Division.

"My platoon sergeant and squad leaders, just to mention a few key people who had never ridden, and at least half of my platoon had never ridden cross-country," said Lt. Angel Delahaut.

"We sustained two minor injuries during the initial training phase and two knee injuries occurred recently on an especially rough hill in the same area. Considering the inexperience of the men, we expected more injuries than have occurred. We have a few minor spills every day, but my men are in good shape and our helmets have prevented several serious injuries."

Maj. Joe L. Lewis, operations officer of the battalion, figures the motorcycle is ideally suited for reconnaissance work.

More to Come

"Several implementations will have to be devised during the testing," said Lewis.

"Each squad is equipped with a radio. How it will be mounted is something that must be worked out. We may be able to use the aviator's helmet to preclude any unnecessary use of hands during radio communication. We must work out a system of signals to be used and how to pack necessary equipment on the cycle."

Cost is a big factor in attempting to organize such units.

It would take less money for a whole platoon of 40 men on motorcycles than it would to equip one squad on an armored personnel carrier.

Each of the motorcycles cost the Army $750 while one M114 reconnaissance vehicle (minus a communication and weapons system) costs $35,000.

Few Volunteers In Teen-Agers

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UPI) — The nation's teen-agers don't go along with the Pentagon plans for an all-volunteer army, according to a survey. In fact, the number of high school pupils who plan to go into military service after graduation is at a 20-year low, the most recent Purdue Opinion Poll also reveals.

Seattle Joining In Klondike's Festival

By ELDON BARRETT
 SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—Seattle is trying to pump some life into its depressed economy this summer with a nostalgic turning back of the calendar 75 years to gold rush days.

The city is joining with Alaska, British Columbia, the Yukon Territory and the State of Washington in a two-year observance called the Klondike Festival. It is hoped the Festival, commemorating the days when the discovery of gold in Alaska and the Yukon made Seattle the gateway to the Klondike, will bring flocks of tourists.

The Fur Rendezvous in Anchorage, Alaska, and the Sourdough Rendezvous in Whitehorse, Y.T., have already been staged. Ahead, however, is the focal point of the first year's activity and that takes place in Seattle this summer.

There wasn't much going on in Seattle in the summer of 1897. In fact, historians say the world was in a state of economic depression and it was particularly grinding in the Puget Sound country and in the Fraser River Valley which Vancouver dominates.

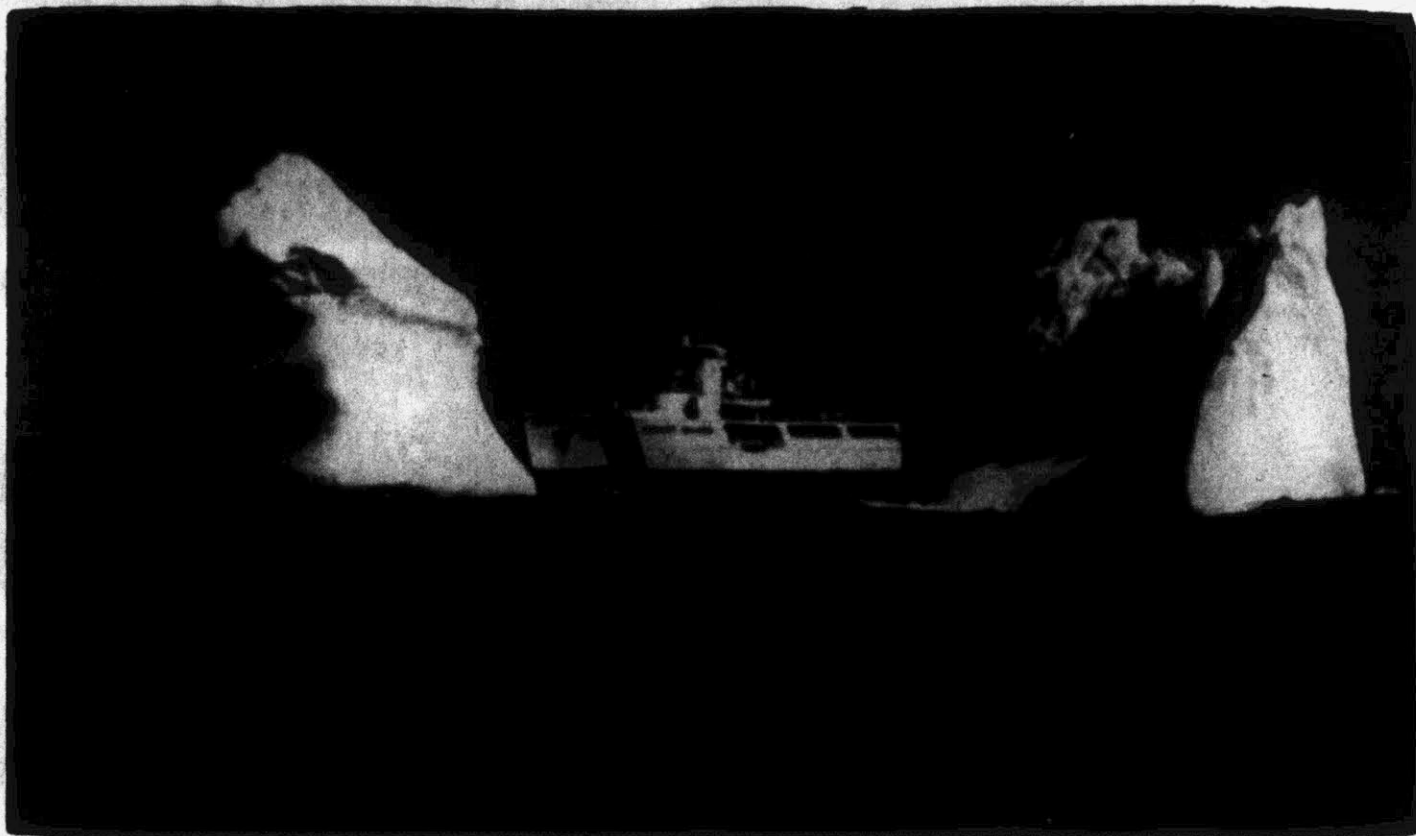

Hope Spreads

But rumors began to trickle out of the north. Gold! For several months, nothing much happened except the raising of hopes that gold times were coming. Then, on July 17, the S Portland steamed into Seattle with 68 miners and "a ton of gold" and the stampede was on. North to Alaska! Seattle's economy went skyrocketing and its role as the leading city in the Pacific Northwest was assured.

No one expects the Klondike Festival to duplicate the frenzy of 1897, but the Seattle King County Convention & Visitors Bureau, which has the responsibility of programming and promoting the local pjf celebration, believes it will be a solid attraction this summer.

The old Portland is long gone but one of only two steam

RICKY'S WORLD

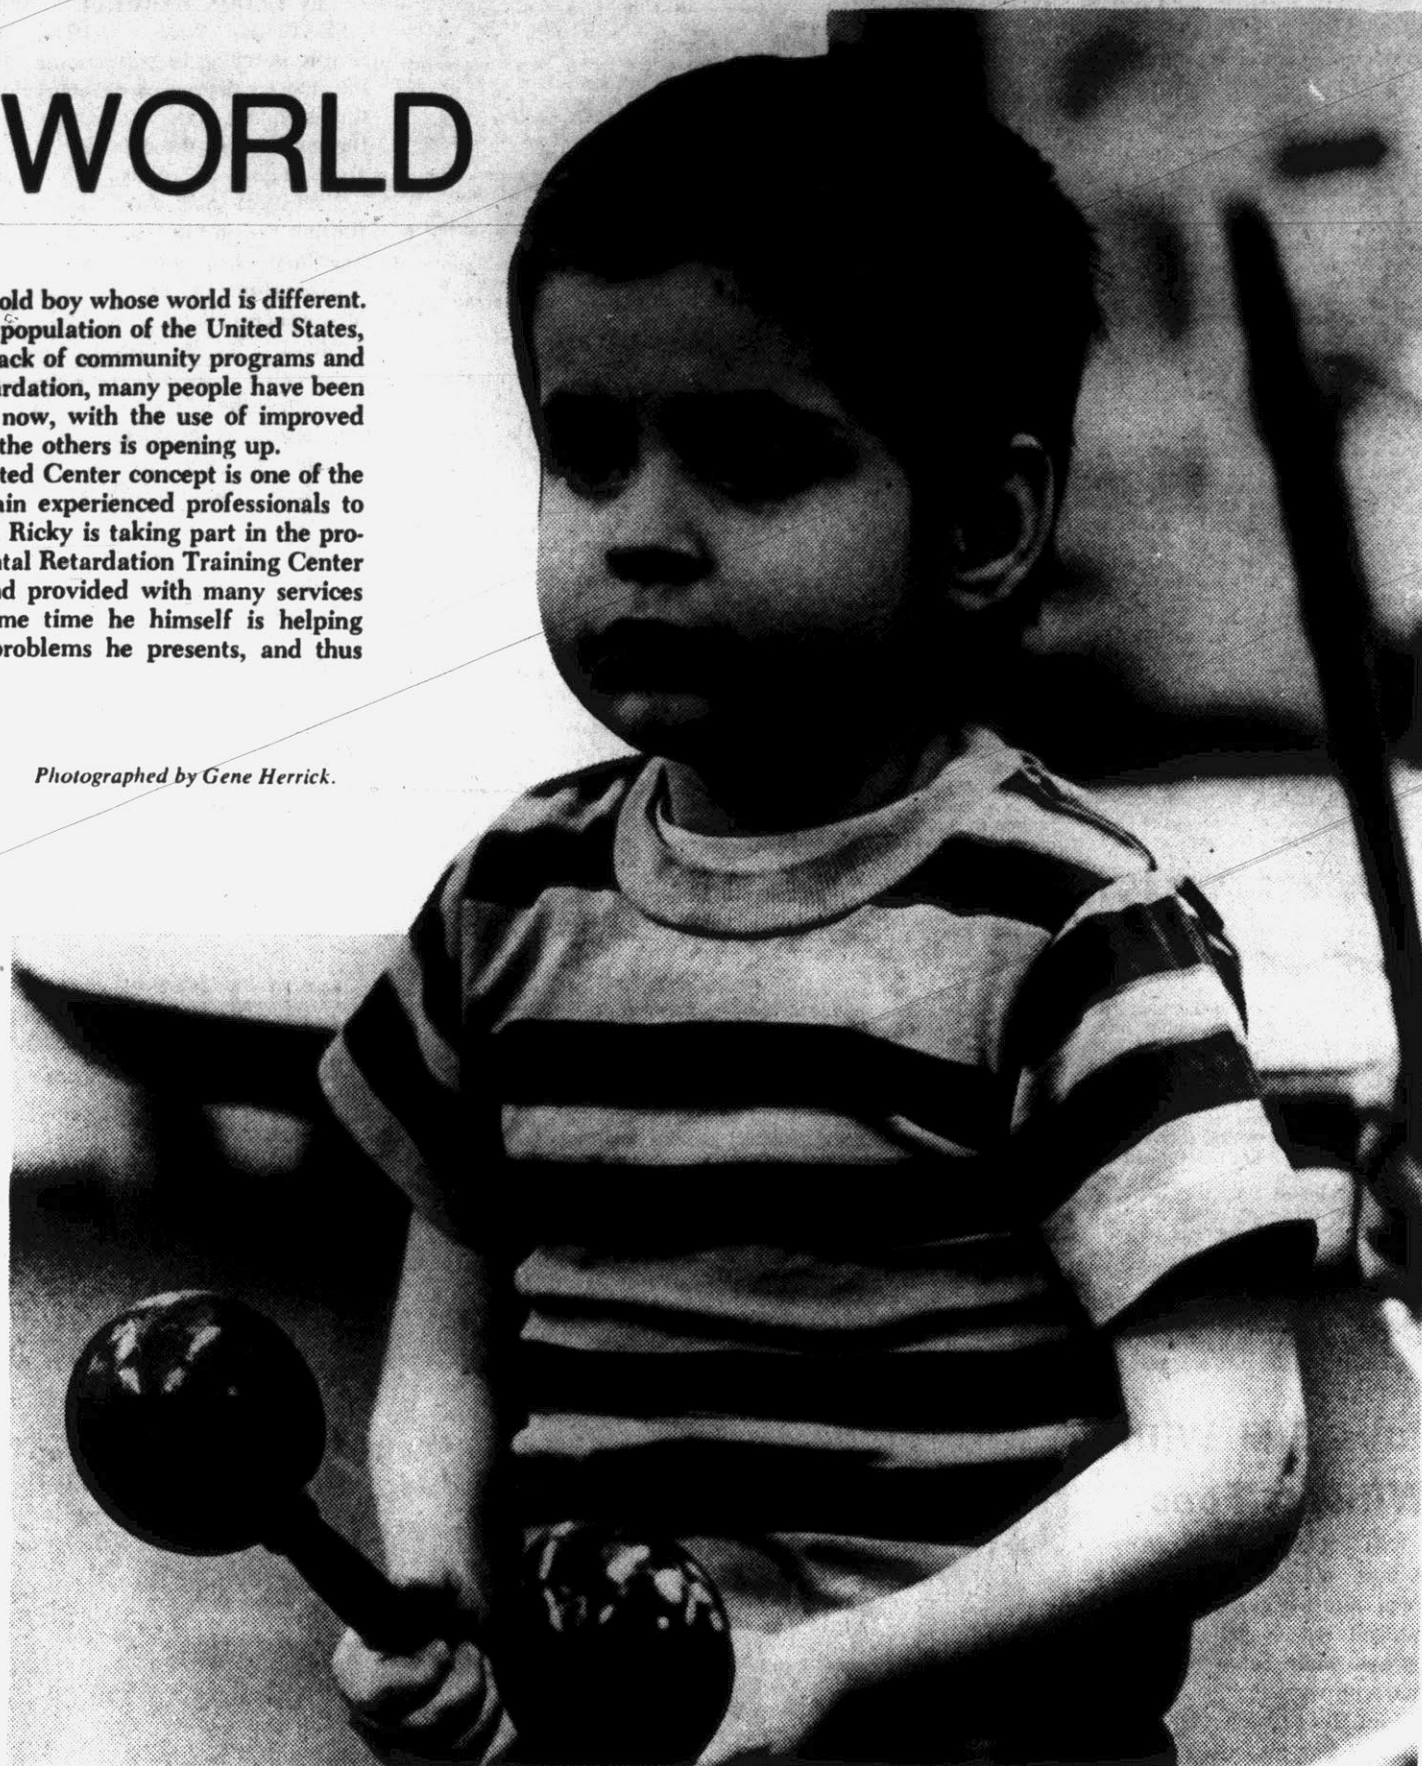

Ricky Cummings is a little 5½-year-old boy whose world is different. Like about three per cent of the population of the United States, he's mentally retarded. Because of a lack of community programs and a lack of understanding of mental retardation, many people have been inappropriately institutionalized. But now, with the use of improved techniques, Ricky's world and that of the others is opening up.

The nationwide University Affiliated Center concept is one of the new programs being developed to train experienced professionals to work with the mentally retarded. And Ricky is taking part in the program at the Ohio State University Mental Retardation Training Center in Columbus. He's been evaluated and provided with many services through the center—while at the same time he himself is helping students learn how to manage the problems he presents, and thus eventually to help others.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You have many small duties to perform which win goodwill and respect from those with whom you have usual duties and obligations. So be sure you handle all personal, business and governmental responsibilities well, then you will be free to look into new avenues of expression tomorrow.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Make the right plan now to keep all the promises you have made and please allies immensely thereby. Follow your intuition, which is apt to be most accurate now. Avoid one who has an eye on your assets.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Discussing with associates those policy and other matters of importance puts your relationship on a more satisfying and successful basis. Don't delay in handling that civic matter. Show you have great ability.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Get the cooperation of associates and co-workers so you clear up all that work ahead of you in jig time. Make sure you rest after the day's toil instead of going out for fun that could be strenuous, expensive as well.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) If you get your work done early, you have plenty of time later for joining with congenials at mutually enjoyable pleasure. Spend more time having fun with closest tie. A great deal of mental harmony can be built up this way.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) If you show you are understanding of the woes and anxieties of kin, you can diplomatically straighten out matters at home. Smile more and give credit where it is due, though. Evening is fine for reading.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) An ideal day for shopping for whatever it is you need the most, as well as for running errands for yourself and others. If you don't have a really comfortable chair, buy one. Relax tonight.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You can economize more now and also put new ideas to work that will add to present prosperity. Listening carefully to what a highly successful person has to suggest is fine. Let some of that success rub off on you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Visit the beauty or barber shop and improve your appearance, as well as your mood. Later glad about town and have a delightful time with others. Show you have much savoir faire.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You can get into all those secret matters you have delayed handling, with good results. Follow your intuition which is quite accurate now and let it help you immensely. Don't waste valuable time, yours or that of others.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Getting together with good pals or going out socially is excellent today, tonight, since you have time and opportunity for so doing. Use ingenuity in making your plans to reach most cherished aims. Advance.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You would do well to go straight to that bigwig where some aim in the business world is concerned and get the right results. Take care of that credit affair quickly and well. Don't take any chances.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You can expand along various lines today if you play your cards right, so stop wasting time foolishly. Study facts and figures carefully and you do not make mistakes later on. Preparation is the keynote.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those delightful young people who has a tremendous willpower and others will find it very difficult to dissuade him or her from such decisions as are made, so give the finest religious and ethical training you can early. Then the life will be properly directed and there will be fine accomplishments. The field of investigations, research and science is very good here. Sports for body building early.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

The Worry Clinic Rediscovering Chemical Need

Vivian is now gloating! For 16 years belatedly the Chicago TRIBUNE now announces as a "scoop" what we first released to you readers in 1955. And I've hammered on this subject many times, for our glands MUST have their chemical raw materials!

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph.D., M.D.
Case T-587: Vivian Edmondson is a Quaker housewife at Columbus, Ohio.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "I see your newspaper column 'scooped' the Chicago TRIBUNE by 16 years on trace chemicals!"

"For on the front page of the November 12, 1971 issue, its science writer now lauds the value of trace chemicals as a boon to health."

"Dr. Crane, you started this back in 1955 when you cited the 44 water soluble trace chemical elements in sea water."

"My husband then grew so enthusiastic that he contacted the Admiral Sea Salt company in Texas and obtained the Ohio franchise."

"For that evaporated sea salt had been recommended to you by Dr. A. L. Miller, head of the saline division of the Department of Interior."

"And my husband had distributed thousands of packages of that splendid sea salt, when the Food and Drug Administration suddenly vetoed its use."

"It even confiscated thousands of pounds of that superb salt, merely on its own whim, and without any scientific reason."

"And I saw where it later attacked you for suggesting that trace chemicals MIGHT be valuable as an antidote for the many deficiency diseases, not attributed to a germ or virus."

"Now the FDA is changing its tune!"

"For many scientists have shown the tremendous effect of trace chemicals in combating deficiency ailments."

"So the newspapers which carry your column have scooped the FDA and even the Chicago TRIBUNE by 16 years!"

Scientific Scoop
Mrs. Edmondson refers to a splendid front page article by Ronald Kotlak, of the TRIBUNE staff.

Therein he says that we may be getting an inadequate supply of the trace chemicals that once were in the soil but have largely dissolved and flowed back to the oceans.

He quotes Dr. E.B. Dawson, of the University of Texas, who cites the great reduction in psychoses (insanity) in the area where lithium is in the drinking water.

So the FDA now approves lithium carbonate as treatment for manic-depressive patients!

Dr. H. T. Shacklette, of the U.S. Geological Survey, also showed a doubling of heart attacks among men in Georgia who lacked 13 trace chemicals in their soil.

We reported this earlier in this column.

The National Research Council in its recommended Dietary Allowances now lists fluorine, iodine, iron, copper, zinc, manganese and cobalt as essential for man, and admits that chromium, molybdenum and selenium are possibly essential.

Kotlak also adds that tin, nickel, bromine, arsenic, cadmium, barium, vanadium and strontium may also be important.

... plus 20 to 30 other trace elements that have been found in living tissues although no one knows what they do."

Cancer, MS (multiple Sclerosis), arthritis, epilepsy, diabetes, and a dozen other ailments are not regarded as caused by germs.

Instead, modern medicine regards them as "due to some chemical lack."

But the blood, being essentially water, cannot absorb chemicals that are not water-soluble!

And those 44 such soluble elements are in the oceans, so send for my booklet "The Ocean's 44 Trace Chemicals," enclosing a long stamped return envelope, plus 25 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.) Copyright 1972.

Winterville Bd. Meets Tonight

WINTERVILLE — The Winterville Planning and Zoning Board will have a special meeting tonight at 8 p.m. in the municipal building.

The meeting is being held to consider changing some ordinances concerning industrial district zoning.

The bidding:

Pass	1 NT	Pass	3 ♠
Pass	4 ♠	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Ten of ♠

South employed information gleaned from the auction and his opponent's opening lead to make a highly unorthodox play in the trump suit which proved essential to the success of his four heart contract.

When West's opening bid of one spade was passed by his partner, South properly reopened the proceedings by making a takeout double.

North responded with one no trump. South's jump to three hearts was a distinct overstatement of his values.

Unless partner can proceed on his own initiative over a three heart call, it is unlikely that a game will be missed.

West opened the ten of clubs against four hearts and after the dummy was spread, declarer studied the combined holdings at some length and then played North's king. The three of hearts was led at trick two, East followed with the six and South promptly covered with the seven. West was obliged to win the trick with the ace and he returned the nine of clubs. Declarer was in with the jack and after drawing the remaining trumps with the king and queen of hearts, he conceded two diamonds to the opposition and claimed 10 tricks—having lost only the ace of hearts in addition to the diamonds.

In the post mortem discussion which followed, South had the following explanation for his rather extraordinary play in the trump suit.

"West's opening lead of the ten of clubs provided some interesting clues regarding the location of the outstanding high cards. If he had held the A-K-Q of diamonds, West would surely have led that suit. East was marked with at least the queen of diamonds—if not the king. Similarly, if West had the K-Q-J of spades, it may be assumed that he would have led the king of spades—so I consigned at least the jack of spades to East, if not the queen."

"The queen of diamonds and the jack of spades gave East a minimum of three points in those suits. If he also held the ace of hearts, he would assuredly have kept West's one spade bid open. Inasmuch as East passed, I felt confident in assuming that West had the ace of hearts, in which case I could not gain by playing the queen when trumps were led from dummy at trick two. My only chance to lose one heart trick was to play East for both the jack and ten."

"If East had split his honors when hearts were led by playing the ten, it would only have simplified matters for me. The ten is covered with the queen and loses to West's ace. Dummy is reentered subsequently with the ace of spades to lead another heart. East's jack can be picked up by finessing the seven and then cashing the king."

ANOTHER PLS PRODUCTION

Four-Day Fete For Washington

WASHINGTON, N.C. — p.m. until midnight.

Washington's annual early summer affair, the Summer Festival, is coming up in 1972 for a four day period in the first week of June.

With a theme this year of "Have Fun In The Sun," the festival opens in downtown Washington at 9:30 a.m. on Friday, June 2, with a sidewalk sale that last until 5:30 p.m.

Two other Friday events are also on the calendar—an All Day Fish Fry at Kugler Field; and the traditional Family Night event beginning late in the afternoon at 6:00 p.m.

On Saturday, the festive tempo steps up with two major events that have been big crowd pullers in past years—an Antique Car Show at Stewart Parkway that lasts all day, followed by four hours of dancing in a Street Dance from 8:00

For the sportsman, a golf tournament runs into two days, beginning Saturday and continuing through Sunday. This is scheduled for the Washington Yacht and Country Club.

The major attraction Sunday will be the annual Art Show held in conjunction with the Washington Festival. At 10:00 a.m. the show opens at the Seventh Street Recreation Center and works entered will remain on view until 6:00 p.m.

The annual Washington Summer Festival, according to the Festival Council sponsoring the event in conjunction with the Washington Chamber of Commerce, is designed to give residents of the Tideland area an opportunity to have some fun at the beginning of the summer. The public is invited to attend.

Invite Role For Russians

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The American Cancer Society has invited scientists and health workers from the Soviet Union and other countries to forthcoming scientific meetings of the society, following the signing of a Soviet-American health pact.

"Cancer knows no boundaries. It is the enemy of all mankind and through this agreement we hope that a more intensive and unified effort will be organized in the search for causes and cures for cancer," said Charles R. Ebersol, ACS board chairman.

Ebersol, in Memphis to attend five days of national board meetings, commented following the signing of a comprehensive health research agreement in Moscow by U.S. Secretary of State William Rogers and Soviet Minister of Health Boris V. Petrovsky.

The society's board, meanwhile, allocated $2 million to finance a pilot study to screen for breast cancer in women.

Win Awards At Festival

Four East Carolina University students won awards at the annual spring film festival sponsored by the campus Fine Arts Committee last weekend.

First place winner was Richard Griending, a senior commercial art major, for his science-fiction film "Next Stop: End of Universe."

Second place winner was Albert Dulin, senior art major for a documentary "Unless We Do It Again."

Third place was won by Neil Ross, a senior English major, for "Picture of an Exhibitionist," and fourth place went to Robin McDaniel, senior commercial art major for "Quick Grits."

Eleven student film-makers had entries in the festival. Included were 16, super-eight, and eight millimeter films, both color and black and white. Subjects ranged from documentaries to experimental and feature type films.

His Car-Lifts

LONDON (AP) — When Anthony Hoyle and his brother-in-law stole the wheels from a parked car they didn't need a jack to lift the vehicle.

Inspector Harry Glover told the Oldham, Lancashire, magistrates: "Hoyle is a powerfully built man—he lifted the car bodily while the other man took the wheels off."

Hoyle, 24, was fined $39 and his brother-in-law, George Davis, 28, was fined $52 and ordered to pay $104 restitution.

TIRE BELTS

NEW YORK (UPI)—More than one-third of the nearly 1000 different brands of passenger tires made in America are constructed with fiberglass belts.

Program To Be Saturday

Country Spotlight No. 3 will be held at the Ayden-Grifton High School Saturday, May 27.

Featured on the program, which is sponsored by the Ayden-Grifton and Greene Central Booster Clubs, will be Sonny James and the Southern Gentlemen, Freddie Hart, and Alice Creech and Band.

One show will be held, beginning at 8:30 p.m., in the school gymnasium.

Reserved seats are $5, $4, and $3.

Sonny James is famous for his multi-million seller "Young Love" and has released 27 number one records in a row since he started in the record business.

Freddie Hart wrote such hits as "The Whole World Holding Hands," "One More Mountain To Climb," "Easy Loving" (million seller which netted him a Gold Record) and "My Hangup Is You."

Miss Creech is a native of Snow Hill.

Are Punishable Stampede For Sheepskin Slows

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Applications for admission to the freshman classes of the nation's state universities and land-grant colleges for fall, 1972, are up only 1.37 per cent above last year's level—for one of the smallest increases in the past 10 years.

Financial difficulties for the student and an increase in the number of students choosing to begin their post high-school education at community colleges or vocational-technical schools are primary reasons for the slowdown, reports the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges (NASULGC).
