Order Open Meetings

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — The Durham Board of Adjustment is under temporary court order to hold its meetings in public.

And further court action is scheduled Monday in a suit brought by the Durham Herald Co., Inc., which publishes Durham's morning and afternoon newspapers.

Superior Court Judge Thomas D. Cooper Jr. signed a temporary restraining order Wednesday compelling the city agency to conduct its meetings in public pending further action.

The judge scheduled a hearing for Monday on whether a preliminary injunction should be signed to keep meetings public until the Herald suit comes to trial.

The suit is aimed at stopping the board's practice of meeting in secret. It contends that James Lasley, a Durham Morning Herald reporter, was ordered to leave board meetings in April and May while it discussed whether to grant requested changes in zoning regulations.

'Forbidden To Enter'

VALDESE, N.C. (AP) — Twelve-year-old Jean Garrou and her friends were forbidden to play in the concrete bomb shelter in her yard. The door of the shelter was kept locked.

But investigators say that Jean or one of her friends discovered where Garrou, a textile executive, kept the key.

They had played in the shelter for about 10 minutes Tuesday night and had left, when they remembered they had left a light on.

They went back, tidied up the shelter and turned the light out, so Garrou would not know anybody had been there when he next inspected it.

Then there was a tremendous explosion which killed five of the six children, including Jean.

Investigators now say it was caused by leaking gasoline fumes probably set off by a spark from the light switch. A gasoline line led from a tank to the generator in the bomb shelter.

The only survivor, 10-year-old Cynthia Picou, was quoted by Jack Williams, a federal agent, as saying the children had gone into the shelter alone for the first time last Saturday.

Ignores Frinks' Order

RALEIGH (AP) — The president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference in North Carolina, O. A. DuPree of Raleigh, says he will ignore an order from Golden Frinks, firing him as president.

Frinks, field secretary for the SCLC, said Tuesday night in Greenville that he had dismissed DuPree as acting president because DuPree had followed policies and programs without considering all the membership.

DuPree said Wednesday, "I have had no adverse comments from any member of the board of directors. I shall continue as president of the North Carolina Chapter of the SCLC."

Delays Resentencing

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge Lansing Mitchell said today he has postponed the resentencing of H. Rap Brown—probably until Friday—because Brown's defense attorney is unable to appear today in court.

Mitchell said attorney William Kunstler has a case pending in New York which prevented him from being in New Orleans for today's scheduled hearing.

Brown, a black militant leader, was moved to New Orleans Wednesday from a New York jail amid heavy secrecy and over strong objections from his attorney.

Anxious To Be Jailed

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — William Seals, who tried to get back into jail by throwing a brick through a glass door at Miami police headquarters, has been freed after a $150 fine.

Seals, 67, was convicted Wednesday on a charge of destruction of public property and sent back into the streets where he said "life is tougher than behind bars."

The former furniture repairman, who was released from the Dade County stockade May 15 after serving almost a year for arson, walked into the Miami police station Sunday and begged policewoman L. W. May to lock him up. The officer told Seals he had committed no crime so he committed one by tossing the brick.

"That was the only way I knew to get back in," he said. "I ain't got nobody, money, or nothing. I just want to be put away."

Seals, who police said has no record other than the arson charge, may still get his wish, however. He must pay the fine within 30 days.

ARRESTED THREE

DUBLIN (AP) — Authorities of the Irish Republic arrested three leaders of the Irish Republican Army's Provisional wing Wednesday and today, but were unable to find a fourth.

Check Tracks After Derailment

CUTTING IT CLOSE ... Norfolk-Southern Railroad workmen check track and ties on the Charles Street overpass after nine cars of a freight train derailed and came close to toppling over the edge of the trestle this morning. The wheels of cars that left the rails 20 to 30 feet West of the trestle gouged a trail in the cross ties and guard trail on the overpass as they traveled westward across Charles Street. The first of the de-railed cars came to rest about 1,000 feet from the end of the overpass while the last of the cars, shown above, was about 90 feet west of Charles Street. Several hundred feet of track were damaged by the derailment. Rail company employees said the cause of the mishap was not known and no estimate of the damage caused to the track was available. Workers were in the process of clearing the track late this morning. (Reflector Staff Photo)

An Elimination Of 54 Tax Loopholes Offered Congress

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gradual reform or abolition of 54 tax loopholes or special deductions, including the oil-depletion allowance, has been proposed by Rep. Wilbur Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Despite its concurrent introduction in the Senate by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and the sway Mills holds in the House on tax matters, most observers give the proposal little chance for passage during an election year. It even appears doubtful the measure will be aired in the current session of Congress.

In any case, the reforms would be spread out over three years, not beginning until Jan. 1, 1974.

They would require Congress to re-enact some loopholes, modify them or let them die at the rate of 18 for each of the three years.

Introduction of the legislation was in apparent response to growing demands from members of Congress and others for broad tax reforms, including abolition of special breaks to business and wealthy persons.

There was no official estimate of the amount of revenue the government might save, but one source said about $47 billion of tax deductions would be wiped out in 1974 if the reforms were enacted.

Included over the three years such categories as the oil-and mineral-depletion allowances, accelerated business-depreciation rules, capital gains, sick-pay exclusion, the $25,000 corporate surtax exemption, and extra exemptions for the aged and blind, children with income in excess of $750, child-care costs and charitable contributions.

Also affected would be political campaign contributions and deductions for nonbusiness interest and taxes.

Mills said he wants to guarantee an orderly and systematic review of tax laws.

He said some tax breaks would be repealed unless Congress re-enacted them. Many "appear to me to be desirable under present circumstances," Mills said.

Bigger-Than-Ever Boys Club Program Shaped Up For This Summer

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

A bigger than ever program has been shaped up for the Greenville and Pitt County Boys' Club for the summer of 1972. David Wilcox, director of the Boys' Club, today announced details for the multi-faceted program that will give the 600 members activities in physical, social, educational and special events.

The summer program at Boys' Club headquarters on Skinner Street opens Monday and will continue full force through August 25.

A two-segment camping trip to Kerr Dam Reservoir in Virginia inauguerates the three months of excitement for the young lads. "Because of the number, we had to make the camping trip a two part one," Wilcox said. "The first group goes Monday and returns Wednesday, with the second group going Wednesday and returning Friday." Quotas for both trips are already completely filled.

Out of town trips are among the most popular of all Boys' Club activities. After the initial camping trip, other special trips, some with firms dates, others still tentative are: Washington, D. C. during August; Cherry Point Marine Base, June 13 and June 14; a visit to the battleship U.S.S. North Carolina at Wilmington; a trip to the Cliffs of the Neuse River near Kinston; and a trip to Atlantic Beach.

Among special activities planned are: the regional Boys'

Nixon Reports To America Tonight

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

WARSAW (AP) — President Nixon flew out of Warsaw for home today to report to Congress and the American people on his summit talks in four nations and the break-through arms limitation accords with the Soviet Union.

The President is to address a joint session of Congress at 9:30 p.m., half an hour after his jet is scheduled to land at Andrews Air Force base near Washington. The touchdown will end a 13-day summit tour that took Nixon to Austria, the Soviet Union, Iran and Poland.

The speech will be broadcast nationwide.

The White House would not disclose the content, but all indications pointed to a presidential effort to sell Congress and the public on merits of the strategic-arms-limitation treaty signed by Nixon and Soviet Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev.

Although the two leaders agreed to implement the pact immediately, it cannot take effect permanently unless ratified by two-thirds of the Senate.

Senate liberals and moderates greeted the treaty-signing with generally favorable comment, but conservatives were skeptical and some denounced it as a giveaway to the Russians.

The treaty, hammered out over two years of U.S.-Soviet negotiations, freezes the number of offensive nuclear missiles at the existing levels including those under construction, and limits each nation to two defensive antiballistic-missile sites, one to protect the national capital and the other to guard a field of offensive missiles.

In Washington, congressional leaders speculated that Nixon would use the rare joint-session address to muster support for the second phase of the SALT talks as well as to urge speedy action on the initial treaty.

SALT's Phase 2, authorized by the treaty which also spells out its procedures, aims for a future U.S.-Soviet agreement limiting other weapons, such as bombers.

Tonight's presidential message, the first such summit report to Congress since 1945, also puts Nixon the candidate before the voting public under a condition he is known to favor: on prime-time television cast in the role of statesman rather than politicans.

Few doubt that Nixon places high hopes on a summit success to boost his chance of re-election in November.

On the last leg of the four-country journey Wednesday, Nixon was greeted warmly by thousands as he rode into Warsaw in a motorcade. Crowd estimates varied, but some said the turnout equaled or exceeded the quarter of a million Poles who welcomed Nixon on his first visit to the Polish capital 13 years ago.

Later he spent 90 minutes in a private discussion about trade and economic assistance with Polish Communist leader Edward Gierek.

Two Tar Heels Bagged MIGs

SAIGON (AP) — An Air Force veteran of nearly 300 combat missions told today how he fired a missile into the forward fuselage of a North Vietnamese MIG 21 and saw it go down in flames during an engagement 30 to 40 miles south of the Chinese border.

Capt. Richard Steven Ritchie, 29, an Air Force Academy graduate from Reidsville, N.C., on his second flying tour in Vietnam, downed his second MIG Wednesday. He got the first of his career May 10.

Discussing his latest kill, the F4 Phantom pilot said, "I got a radar lock on the No. 1 MIG out of a flight of two and fired my missiles. One hit the MIG in the forward fuselage area. The front half of the plane broke off and it began to spin. I saw a large fireball right after the missile hit."

A second MIG 21 was reported downed with missiles fired from an F4 Phantom flown by Capt. Bruce Leonard, 29, of Kitty Hawk, N.C., on his 206th combat mission, and Capt. Jeffrey Feinstein, 27, of East Troy, Wis. It was the second MIG kill this year credited to Feinstein, a weapons system operator who rides in the back seat of the F4.

The Air Force F4s that downed the MIGs are from the 432nd Tactical Reconnaissance Wing based in Thailand.

They were escorting bombers on raids in the Hanoi area when they encountered the MIGs east of the KEP air base at points roughly 50 and 70 miles northeast of Hanoi.

Pitt 150 Pints Behind On Blood

There were only 115 units of blood collected by the American Red Cross Pitt County Bloodmobile in its recent two day drive in Farmville and Greenville.

On Tuesday at Farmville, a total of 52 units were accepted, with 10 rejects. The Farmville collection effort was sponsored by the Farmville Jaycees, assisted by the Junior Womans Club and the Senior Citizens group there.

In Greenville, on Wednesday, the collection total was 63 units with 10 rejects. The Greenville collection, as usual, was conducted at the Greenville Moose Lodge, with Moose Lodge members and members of the Greenville Service League giving their assistance.

"This poor showing leaves us behind our annual quota," Douglas Morgan, chairman of the Pitt County Bloodmobile commented. "At this point we are 150 units behind."

Morgan noted that earlier efforts had been highly successful, with the county forging ahead in their quota in the early part of the fiscal year.

"We close out for the current year after our last collection to be made on June 20 at Burroughs Wellcome," he said. "I'm hoping the response there will bring us back to par with our quota."

Three Break-Ins Here In Night

Greenville Police Department officers are investigating three house break-ins reported to the department early today.

Chief Glenn Cannon said the illegal entries occured at the Delta Sigma Phi fraternity house at 562 Cotanche St.; at the Kinchen Benton Cobb residence at 214 South Pitt St.; and at the Steven Drum home at 14 Contentnea St.

Both the Cobb break-in and the Drum entry were reported at 12:25 a.m., while the incident at the Delta Sigma Phi home was reported at 1:05 p.m., the chief explained.

According to Cannon, entry at the Drum home was made by forcing open the front door. A stereo console and amplifier valued at $400 were reported stolen.

Entrance to the Cobb dwelling was gained through an unlocked front door Cannon said, noting that a tape player and speakers as well as a small quantity of clothing — all valued at about $109 — were reported missing.

An estimated $50 worth of items, including clothing and beer, was reported taken from the fraternity house where entrance was gained by forcing open a rear door.

Success In Falure For This Couple

ROTTERDAM, Netherlands (WNS) — Sophie Vos married Rolf van Kempen in 1945 but divorced him two years later. "After the divorce we were apart for only three weeks when we missed each other so much that we got together again," she recalled. "We never remarried and have just celebrated our 25th anniversary of living in sin." Van Kempen, who received a "divorce ring" from his wife for the anniversary, said, "For us, the marriage failed, but the divorce was a big success. I'm sure our example has helped other couples."

Wedding Invitation

Mrs. James Edward Mumford requests the honor of your presence at the marriage of her daughter, Pamela Kaye, to Dewey Wade Keel, on Sunday at 3:30 p.m. in the Calvary Baptist Church, Greenville. No invitations were mailed.

Who Could Contrive Spouse-Swap?

By Abigail Van Buren

[© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.]

DEAR ABBY: I think I can top the story about the couple who announced at their 25th wedding anniversary party that they were getting a divorce:

On Sunday, March 5th of this year, our minister announced from the pulpit that he was leaving in June for a new assignment. He said that he and his wife were being divorced, after which he would marry a local medical doctor's wife, who was going with him to his new assignment.

He also announced that the doctor, who was standing beside him in the pulpit, would marry HIS wife. [There were five children involved.]

The minister and his wife had sung a duet that day, and the doctor, who was a church official, had read the scriptures for the service.

The above is absolutely true. I witnessed it, and am enclosing the names of all the parties involved if you wish to check it out. Being unable to stay in such a church, I left it immediately and joined another one.

"TOPPER" IN TAFT, CAL.

DEAR TOPPER: I am frequently accused of making up letters, but I have neither the talent nor the imagination to come up with anything as fantastic as some of the real life situations that readers send me. Thanks for writing.

DEAR ABBY: My son has just become engaged. His mother and I are divorced and I am remarried. My son has invited my wife and me to his wedding.

However, the bride's mother has decided that she wants only four others in the reception line with the bridal couple, namely the parents of the bride and the parents of the groom.

That means I am asked to stand in line with my former wife while my present wife has no part in it.

My son is urging me strongly to go along with this although I have told him that I do not feel right about it.

I don't wish to oppose my son on this day of all days, but I cannot help but feel that such a decision clearly disregards my feelings and the feelings of my present wife.

What can you advise me? UPSET

DEAR UPSET: Go along with your son's wishes. Often, when mother and dad are divorced and remarried, Number Two is not even invited to the wedding.

DEAR ABBY: Pertaining to the woman whose hair was all chopped off in a beauty parlor—she wanted to know what recourse she had—I would like to relate my experience:

I went to a beauty parlor and told the operator that I wanted her to just cut off the dead ends, but she gave me a haircut so short I looked like a man. I had to buy a wig in order to go to work.

I took that beauty parlor to Small Claims Court for the price of the wig and court costs. I'll admit there was quite a bit of time and trouble involved, but it was well worth it. I won my case.

It wasn't the money, it was the principle of the thing!

AVENGED

DEAR AVENGED: You could be the exception, but when somebody says, "It's not the money, it's the principle of the thing," it's usually the money.

DEAR ABBY: I have always heard that girls dig guys who have a lot of hair on their chests. I am 26 years old and I don't have any hair on my chest at all, and that's my problem.

Do you know of anything that will grow hair, Abby? I am so hairless I am ashamed to take off my shirt.

APACHE IN OKLAHOMA

DEAR APACHE: I know of nothing that will grow hair on your chest, but I am told that you can buy a "stick on" hairy chest that looks and feels like the real thing. Inquire where hair goods are sold.

History Unchanged By Edward

The death of the Duke of Windsor in Paris last weekend ended one of the gripping personal dramas of our time.

It was easy to forget that this man once served as King Edward VIII, sovereign head of the British empire. The Duke succeeded to the throne in January, 1936 and gave it up 11 months later for "the woman I love", Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson.

At that time King Edward VIII reigned over an empire was indeed still that, although the monarchy had long since lost most of its powers.

His love for Mrs. Simpson created a crisis in the British government and the Church of England but it was followed around the world by an interested public. The king's words were electric as he said in a radio talk that he would abdicate the throne in order to have Mrs. Simpson at his side.

There were those who questioned if the marriage would last, but last it did and apparently it was happy until the Duke of Windsor's death.

The Duke's brother became King George VI following the abdication and he was followed by the presently reigning Queen Elizabeth II.

It is doubtful if the abdication of King Edward VIII did much to change the course of history. If he had remained, no doubt World War II would have still come in the post war period the empire would have still dwindled away.

His personal story however, was one of the most poignant of all the monarchs. It was a great love story with a happy ending.

Campaign Had Some Switches

By BRYAN HAISLIP

RALEIGH — A campaign that has refused to follow the script comes to a close Saturday (June 3) when North Carolina Democrats choose their candidate for governor.

A surprise finish would fit the pattern for the contest which has taken unexpected turns in its protracted course.

Odds in the run-off would seem to favor Hargrove (Skipper) Bowles. He got 45 per cent of the May 6 vote and finished ahead of Pat Taylor, the man polls and politicians had figured as the front-runner.

That upset galvanized Taylor out of his folksy style and into a combative posture, full of fight and promises.

How much of an impact the transformation had on a public whose dominant political attitude seemed indifference will be answered by the balloting.

Whatever the outcome, the '72 primary campaign will go into history as a mixture of new techniques and old issues, a scramble of labels and alliances, and a race shadowed by candidates who didn't run.

Surprised Early and Often

Surprise, a consistent element, came early on the scene.

Friends of Atty. Gen. Robert Morgan spent months laying groundwork for his candidacy. Morgan himself appeared inclined, and polls indicated he could win.

At the eleventh hour, he opted for another term as attorney general. He said he had unfinished business in the consumer protection area which he has emphasized in the office.

Hugh Morton's in-an-out sortie caused another flurry. A travel promoter with political interests, Morton made a spending splash and lined up an extensive organization.

On the eve of the filing deadline, he stunned supporters by bowing out. The money wasn't in sight, said the Wilmington and Linville businessman, for the campaign it would take to win.

One final surprise before the field was complete came with the entry of Wilbur Hobby, state AFL-CIO chief. His populist platform with the slogan "Keep the Big Boys Honest" got a mild response, and he finished fourth.

Hobby was joined by Dr. Reginald Hawkins of Charlotte, a black dentist who ran third, in endorsing Taylor in the run-off.

Neither Morgan nor Morton openly endorsed another candidate. Their followers scattered over the landscape.

What Might Have Been?

The unavoidable question as the campaign ends is how it would have changed things if Morgan and Morton, either one or both, had stayed in the race. Some partisans of the attorney general still insist he could have had the prize if he had reached for it.

Blurred labels gave a puzzling aspect to the campaign. Voters who like to choose on the basis of liberal or conservative identification were left in confusion.

As an official in the administration of former Gov. Terry Sanford and as a state senator from Guilford County, Bowles has been classed as a liberal in the past. As a gubernatorial candidate, his position on state spending and other issues made him look like a conservative.

Taylor Switched Image

Taylor has been part of the political establishment as Anson County legislator, House Speaker, and now lieutenant governor. That adds up to a conservative image.

His candidacy took on a liberal tone in the run-off with the embrace of the eliminated black and labor candidates and with promises for tax reform to benefit lower income groups and pay raises for state employees and teachers.

Bowles linked Taylor to Gov. Bob Scott, and Taylor labeled Bowles a member of the Terry Sanford wing of the party. In point of fact, old alliances were less apparent than in most recent primaries. Emerging new factions seemed more likely than revival of old ones.

The dollar mark was the symbol summarizing the campaign. It stood for the escalating cost of reaching the voter, and the issue which seemed to have most potency with him — taxes.

"No new taxes" was Bowles' theme. Taylor called it unrealistic, but stopped well short of proposing new revenues.

Campaign costs set records. Before the run-off, Bowles reported spending $684,000 and Taylor's expenditures were set at $541,000. Heavy use of television in the final days promised to boost the figures higher.

Clear Weather Really Needed On N.C. Farms

Farmers are worriedly casting glances at the skies these days.

Heavy rains of recent weeks have kept them out of the fields and caused extensive crop damage.

"Some good, clear, hot, dry, weather would be the best thing we could get," Agriculture Commissioner Jim Graham stated.

Most of us would like to see some sunny weekends but for the farmer clear weather is a necessity. Hopefully there will be some improvement soon.

Scott Must Be Biting His Lip

By JOHN KILGO

RALEIGH—Gov. Bob Scott must be biting his lip to keep from popping off as the Democratic gubernatorial race draws to a close.

Scott expected to catch the devil from the Republicans. But the Democrats in the race have been rougher on Scott than Jim Holshouser and Jim Gardner.

Skipper Bowles was never very close to the Scott camp. He was highly critical of the Governor during the last session of the legislature.

But is was assumed by many people that Gov. Scott and Lt. Gov. Pat Taylor were fairly close. Not so, says Taylor.

Taylor's poll during the first primary—at least his early polls—indicated that it sould be nice for him to have Scott as an ally in the campaign. The poll indicated that Gov. Scott was highly respected by some 56 to 60 per cent of the state's voters.

During the early days of the campaign, Taylor refused to be critical of Scott's appointment of Gene Simmons to a $25,000 a year job as head of Conservation and Development. Bowles was ripping that appointment in all parts of the state.

But after Bowles led the first primary, Taylor was quick to point out that he had not been a part of the Scott administration. He said that Gov. Scott had called him and urged him not to call for a runoff. Taylor added that Gov. Scott "had just about killed me."

Also during this runoff, Taylor has run a TV commercial in which he says: "Back in 1968 Gov. Scott was saying there would be no new taxes. The first thing he did was slap the people of North Carolina with $80 million worth of new taxes."

Taylor, of course, was trying to show that Bowles' pledge not to raise taxes shouldn't be taken seriously by the voters.

For all practical purposes, the campaign for Governor—as far as the primaries go—is over. Gov. Scott was made the heavy. No way the man from Haw River enjoyed that.

There was an interesting change of positions between the two Republican candidates for Governor. During the first primary, Holshouser was always challenging Gardner to a debate. Gardner replied to us by saying: "My campaign schedule is made up three weeks in advance. There's just no time in it for a debate with Mr. Holshouser. I wish it was."

Last Sunday, a Charlotte TV station offered the four candidates an hour to talk and field questions from a panel of newsmen. Taylor and Gardner showed up. Bowles and Holshouser stayed away.

Holshouser said in a taped interview that a debate at this stage of the campaign would serve no purpose other than to further divide the Republica Party.

Gardner said during the program that he favored such formats and wondered where Holshouser was.

"Is he afraid to discuss the issues?" Gardner asked.

There's nothing quite like politics.

Strength For Today

LOVE MAKES THE DIFFERENCE

The story is told of a brilliant pianist who in spite of his great distinction seemed to have something lacking in his art. He was a lonely, taciturn man, and critics often remarked that a certain coldness and aloofness characterized his playing. One day an older woman who was also quite distinguished as a pianist laid her hand on the shoulder of the brilliant young performer and said, "Will you let me tell you, my boy, that your playing lacks one thing? So far you have missed the greatest thing in the world, and unless you fall in love there will always be a certain cold performance about your music. Unless you come to love another human being passionately and unselfishly you will never touch human hearts as deeply as you might."

This same illustrious lady pianist had a pupil who one day at the close of her lesson looked up into the face of her teacher and told her she had a secret to reveal "I know you have" replied the instructor, "although it is no secret." Then the girl told of her engagement. "Yes," answered the teacher, "but you have been engaged now for several months." "That is so," replied her pupil, "but how did you know?" "I noticed the difference in your playing at once, and I have observed the change ever since. I was wondering when you were going to tell me."

When the human soul is swept by the passion of love, new and unsuspected powers usually spring into activity and fruition. And to that new release of power is added a new rapture and a new outlook on life.

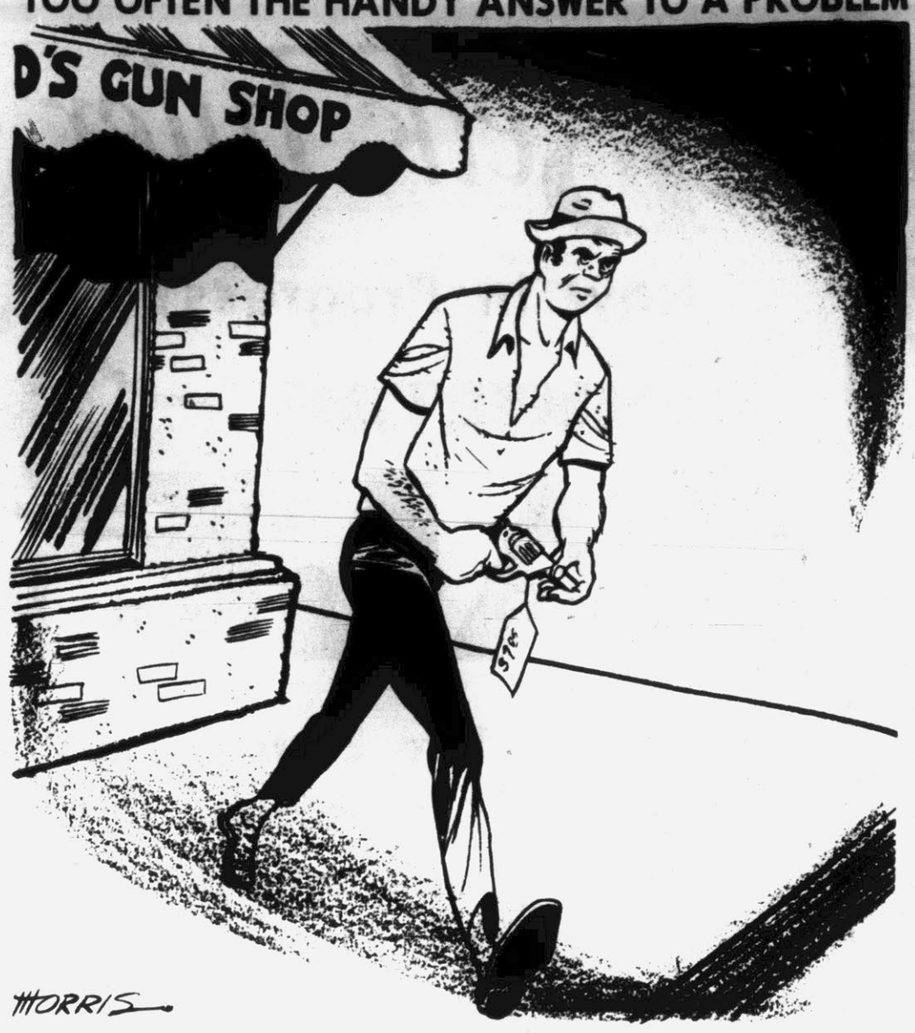
TOO OFTEN THE HANDY ANSWER TO A PROBLEM



By J.J. KILPATRICK

Accountability Wanted

If there is one clause in the U.S. Constitution that is singularly untouchable, it is the clause in Article III which says that Federal judges "shall hold their offices during good behavior." This is the life tenure provision. Traditionally it has been given the reverence accorded a sacred cow.

It seemed almost blasphemous, therefore, when Virginia's Senator Harry F. Byrd, Jr., appeared a few days ago before a Judiciary subcommittee with a modest proposal for consitutional amendment. He proposed that Federal judges be appointed henceforth for terms of eight years only, subject to reconfirmation by the Senate.

Well! A couple of agitated law professors followed the Senator to the stand, protesting, objecting, and charging that the Virginian was trying to undermine the very pillars of judicial independence. You might have supposed that Byrd had proposed to abolish the writ of habeas corpus.

Yet Byrd is on the right track. His resolution merits serious consideration by those persons who give thought to the very essence of government. That essence is power.

The Senator's premises are sound. He argues that for a variety of reasons, Federal judges have assumed great power in our public life; that our fundamental law now provides no effective restraint against the abuse of that power; and that a system which fails to provide such restraint is defective and should be repaired.

Byrd also argues persuasively that in a democratic republic, it simply is wrong in principle for any official to hole his office for life. Moreover, he asks, if life tenure for judges is so wonderful, why have 47 of the 50 States rejected life tenure in setting up courts of their own?

Few persons would challenge Byrd's observation on the steady growth in the power of our Federal judges. The process began in the days of John Marshall — Thomas Jefferson bitterly denounced the high court for its "insidious mining and sapping of the Constitution" — and it continues to this day with accelerating become a whole new Constitution in itself; by disdaining the intention of its framers, today's appellate judges give the Fourteenth Amendment has become a whole new Constitution in itself; by disdaining the intention of its framers, today's appellate judges give the Fourteenth whatever meaning they please. Our judges have become our unaccountable masters; and they serve for life.

No such prospect was foreseen when the Republic was formed. Hamilton supposed that the judiciary always would be the weakest of the three branches. The doctrine of "separation of powers" was universally admired. How could this weak and impotent branch be protected from possible invasion by the executive and legislative branches? Life tenure was an answer. And the few prophets who their ablest spokesman — were put down as the paranoids of their time.

Henry was right; and Jefferson also was right in denoucing the device of impeachment as a scarecrow. Except throught the tedious, costly, and often ineffective aventies of appeal, our lower Federal judges are immune even to rebuke. Such a judge may be incompetent or tyrannical; in the constitutional sense, this is not "ungood" behavior. At the level of the Supreme Court, justices are subject to no built-in restraints whatever.

Byrd's plan is not radical. Except for Massachusetts, Rhode Island and New Hampshire, every State in the Union adheres to a system of fixed terms subject

Other Editors Say Laws Should Help

(Wilson Times)

Child abuse has reached the point that laws have been passed to assure the rights of children. It is hard to realize that parents, relatives or adults will be cruel to children. They are the nearest to being perfect of anything on earth, and they respond to kindness and reward you with so many little expressions of love.

Parental rights are well-known, for the child has no recourse against adults, especially if there is no love and affection there. But children have rights and they are listed thusly:

The right to food, shelter and clothing.

The right to love, protection and guidance.

The right to an atmosphere that will promote emotional growth.

The right to be educated.

The majority of difficulties come in the homes where the income is low, and often the parents spend unwisely the little that is there. If the father drinks and does not work, if work is available, there will be no welfare payments. So the sins of the father will be visited upon his children.

Often the situation goes so far as to deprive the family and the children of sufficient food. The majority of states have statutes protecting neglected children of children subject to child abuse. But the sentiment runs in favor of parental rights. The lack of statutory and case law authority for implementing children's rights tend to tip the scales in favor of parents in all but the extreme cases of neglect.

Public opinion favors children's rights. As soon as the courts, legislatures and other public officials whose duty is to deal with children realize that children have the favor of public opinion, this will influence the way they are treated.

Children's rights are intitled to enforcement as much as are adults' rights and the courts have the right and obligation to act when the real parents fail in their obligations.

Businessmen Showing Concern

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The possibility that Sen. George McGovern will be the Democratic presidential candidate is being considered much more seriously in Republican business circles.

Concern or perhaps even fear seems to be showing.

"This is one time when the victor will make a difference," says Dr. Pierre Rinfret, a Republican, sometime adviser to President Nixon and full-time economic analyst and consultant for a list of blue-chip corporations.

McGovern's election, says Rinfret in a confidential report to his clients, could create a recession.

"The senator is talking about redoing and restructuring society. Such far-reaching changes as the senator is suggesting could create enough uncertainty and cutbacks in capital spending to lead to either economic stagnation or a recession."

The South Dakotan's election, says Rinfret, "would create hesitancy, fear and uncertainty." The parallel, he stated, "would be the economic inaction among businessmen which followed the election of Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Rinfret prefaces his analysis with the comment that "we want to make it quite clear that we neither espouse nor denounce" the McGovern candidacy. But he states "we are convinced that the election ... could materially change the short-term outlook for business in 1973."

The main reasons for Rinfret's view are summarized in what he concedes is a greatly abbreviated analysis of the McGovern platform, which he says calls for:

—An increase in corporate taxes that would, in effect, return the tax rate to the 1960 level and draw $18 billion from corporate treasuries.

—An increase in personal taxes for the "rich," which Rinfret interprets to mean anyone earning moe than $12,000 a year.

—An increase in government spending. By closing "loopholes" and by raising taxes on the "rich" and on corporations, federal receipts would be increased by $80 billion, to be used for social programs and public investment.

"People like to kid themselves," says Rinfret. "Many people are aware of the fundamentals of the McGovern platform, but they say he could never enact it."

Rinfret isn't so certain. He suggests that McGovern "as a newly elected president would be flushed with victory, the new leader of the Democratic party with a Democratic Congress behind him. He would have to, and would deliver all or a major part of his economic program."

Raleigh Police Close Inquiry Into Sniper Slayings

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — Raleigh Police Chief Robert Goodwin says his department has closed its investigation of the sniping incident which left four persons dead and eight wounded at a shopping center Monday.

Goodwin told a news conference Wednesday that an investigation by police and state and federal law enforcement agencies had served to "eliminate any possibility" that Sen. B. Everett Jordan was the target of black gunman Harvey Glenn McLeod.

McLeod, a janitor at a Raleigh high school, opened fire from the parking lot of North Hills Mall Monday moments after Jordan had entered the mall to do some unannounced campaigning. McLeod killed three persons and wounded eight others before turning his newly purchased rifle on himself.

Goodwin said investigations had turned up no political activities or motiviations on McLeod's part that would indicate malice toward any candidate. McLeod was not even registered to vote, he said.

He said such facts and circumstances indicated that further investigation "would not, in our opinion, serve any useful purpose."

Goodwin stuck by his Tuesday statement that he did not believe the shootings were racially motivated, even though a social worker who examined McLeod last July said in his report at the time that McLeod was "extremely prejudiced" and "doesn't trust white people at all."

The social worker, Charles N. Berry Jr., examined McLeod when he entered prison to begin serving a six-month sentence for attacking a white man with a knife. His report also said McLeod was so emotionally constituted that he might "go off the deep end" in the even of an emotional upset.

Last Saturday night police arrested McLeod for making a false report of a stolen car. Goodwin said McLeod's behavior appeared entirely normal at that time.

But Detective Lt. E. L. Randolph said McLeod "was upset about the possibility that he might have to go back to prison."

Berry, asked if the prospect of going back to prison would have been enough to drive McLeod "of the deep end," refused to comment directly on his report.

But he said, "the idea of going to prison would cause an emotional upset to almost anybody. I know it would create an upset for me."

An aunt of McLeod's, Mrs. Glendale Williams, told a reporter Tuesday that McLeod had "said he would rather die than go back to prison.

Meanwhile, Wake Memorial Hospital reported Wednesday that the condition of one of the victims, Mrs. Jessie B. West, 77, of Raleigh was critical and that her survival was "touch and go."

Another victim, David E. Waby, 30, improved from serious to fair condition. Wes Hayden, press secretary for Jordan, had first been reported in critical condition but by Wednesday had improved and was listed as fair.

Mrs. Ralph Moody, wife of a deputy state attorney general, had also improved from serious to fair. Three other victims of the gunman were reported in good condition.

Eastern Swing By Holshouser

By LESLIE WAYNE
For The Associated Press

RALEIGH (AP) — Republican gubernatorial candidate Jim Holshouser, like his opponent Jim Gardner, is concentrating on the eastern vote in the last days of the runoff campaign, and scheduled a flying tour today of six eastern cities.

Traveling by single-engine airplane, the Boone attorney was to make campaign stops in Wilmington, Wilson, Greenville, Fayetteville and Clinton before ending the day with an evening rally in Dunn.

This territory has generally been considered Gardner territory, and has been credited with giving the Rocky Mount businessman a slight edge over Holshouser in the May 6 primary.

Before setting out on his airplene jaunt, Holshouser planned to greet the 6 a.m. shift at Erwin Mills and make a campaign walking tour of downtown Raleigh. He had campaigned in Randolph County on Wednesday, capping it off with a rally in downtown Asheboro Wednesday evening.

Holshouser considers the eastern vote crucial to winning the governor's seat in November, and has been closely linking his name with Raleigh broadcaster Jesse Helmes, a popular eastern figure and Republican nominee for the U.S. Senate.

Stickers proclaiming "Give 'em Helms and Holshouser" have been popping up with greater frequency at Holshouser rallies, and in a television interview in Chapel Hill Wednesday, Holshouser said that Helms' candidacy will "provide the necessary balance for a strong ticket this fall."

"Victory in November is dependt on having attractive candidates from all sections of the state," he said.

While admitting that the east was traditionally a Gardner stronghold, Holshouser added that "we ran strongly in some larger eastern cities."

Leukemia Hopes Said To Be Up

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — New "shotgun" medical treatments are raising prospects of permanent cure for some children stricken with leukemia, the blood cancer, researchers reported today.

One shotgun approach is double-barrelled. One barrel is a combination of drugs that combat leukemia. The other barrel is X-rays of the head and spinal column to prevent leukemic invasion of the central nervous system. This invasion is often a fatal complication in leukemia.

Through it, some children have been disease-free long enough to suggest the possibility they are permanently cured of acute lymphocytic leukemia, a major form of the disease, said Dr. Joseph Simone of St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital in Memphis, Tenn.

Another approach using combinations of drugs has brought remissions or freedom from the same kind of leukemia in 70 per cent of children, with 90 per cent of them alive 3½ years after beginning of treatment, said Dr. James F. Holland of Roswell Park Memorial Institute, Buffalo, N.Y.

Both spoke at opening sessions of the National Conference on Cancer Chemotherapy sponsored by the American Cancer Society and National Cancer Institute.

Simone credited a strong dose of X-rays with preventing or delaying the involvement of the central nervous system by leukemic cells, thus prolonging the remissions that can be won through drugs.

The radiation plus two or three years of combination drug treatment has put some young patients into remission with the chance of relapse apparently being small, he said.

One system of treatment made 70 per cent of children free of their leukemia at least temporarily, and a new program combining the principles established in earlier studies "is giving even better results at one year," Holland said.

to reconfirmation. The concept of fixed terms for State judges has been urged by the American Judicature Society since its founding in 1913. The plan won endorsement from the American Bar Association in 1937. The system has worked admirably: It has added to the desirable principle of judicial independence the equally desirable principle of public accountability. This is what Byrd has in mind for Federal judges of the future. His idea merits respect, and it deserves far more attention than it has received so far.

Chicod Creek Statement Said 'Not In Compliance'

The Research Triangle Group of the Sierra Club has stated that the Chicod Creek Environmental impact statement has not compiled with the National Environmental Policy Act.

In a letter to Jesse Hicks, state conservationist, the group said the alternatives to stream channelization have not been seriously evaluated nor have all the adverse environmental effects of the project been listed.

The letter, dated May 22, further stated that "the comments of the Fish and Wildlife Service, U.S. Department of Interior, have been largely ignored by the Soil Conservation Service in preparing their statement."

Justified on the basis of benefits exceeding costs, the Chicod Creek Watershed Project is estimated to cost close to $3,000,000. About 250 farms are estimated to benefit an average of $300 per year from which they must pay their share of the cost of easements, on-farm-land improvements and maintenance. The latter is estimated by SCS to cost $76 per farm per year, according to the letter.

The Sierra Club listed several alternatives to channelization of the creek, and asked that the SCS give top priority to the conservation of Chicod Creek as a natural resource.

Joan Willey, chairman of the streams subcommittee of the Research Triangle Club, said her club had reviewed the draft environmental impact statement of Chicod Creek and asked that a number of comments be filed with the final statement.

Included in the comments were:

—Recovery of the lower 2.5 miles of Chicod Creek and Cow Swamp in six years cannot be predicted on the basis of one sample. The two channelized streams in the Tar River Basin, Grindle Creek and Conetoe Creek, show very minimal recovery of game fish after four and eight years;

—The Sierra Club disagrees that ditching will improve aesthetic and environmental values;

—Disagree that channelization will provide for better utilization of land and water resources; there is no guarantee that flooding in the area will be reduced.

Alternatives listed by the Sierra Club include selective clearing and snagging; suction method of removing silt and sand from bottom such as that being done experimentally in Georgia; true peripheral channels; crop insurance; seek funds for establishing the water bank in North Carolina; seek federal funds for reforestation of wetlands; and secondary sewage system.

The parishoners are asked to bring food for their families plus.

For further information or transportation, persons should call the Parish office, 752-3482.

Over-Exercise Can Add Pounds

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Too much exercise may make a person fatter, not thinner, says Dr. Richard Ahrens, an assistant professor of food and nutrition at the University of Maryland who recently completed a five-year study of the interaction of diet and physical activity.

Ahrens said his research with rats indicated that a too vigorous exercise program, like too much relaxation, could cause a person to gain weight.

"Once exercise became so vigorous that it was actually stressful, that the animals did not enjoy it any more because it was a real chore, then they began to put on more fat," Ahrens said.

Ahrens said the rodent study suggested that the average American on an average diet is likely to stay slimmer weeding his garden or walking his dog than running five miles a day.

His findings were published in Agricultural Research magazine.

Carp Estimated 25 Years Old

LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—The new record carp for Michigan, a 61-pound, 43-inch trophy speared last June, is the oldest fish of its species ever taken from the wild in this country, report fish biologists of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

A careful examination of the carp's scales showed the true age of the fish was close to 25 years, making the carp speared in Klinger Lake of St. Joseph County the granddaddy of all wild carp known to have been taken in the United States.

Much Of Yellowstone Park Is Missed By Tourists

By JAMES L. OVERTON

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK, Wyo. (UPI)—Indians upon first seeing its wonders trembled and called it sacred, a dwelling place of the spirits.

The first white man to stumble into its wilderness domain in 1807 returned to civilization describing steaming waters, trees of stone and walls of glass. Trapper John Colter was ridiculed and the place he described was derisively labeled "Colter's Hell."

Today the area remains unchanged after untold millennia of geologic history. And seeing its wonders for the first time, visitors continue to be awed by the natural wonders of this place called Yellowstone.

Encompassing an area larger than Delaware, Rhode Island and the District of Columbia, Yellowstone National Park covers two and one-third million acres in more than 3,400 square miles.

It contains the world's greatest collection on geysers and thermal phenomena, the largest petrified forests in the world, and a 24-mile Grand Canyon with a waterfall twice the height of Niagra Falls. Niagara Falls.

100th Birthday As Park

This year marks the centennial of Yellowstone National Park's creation as the world's first national park by President Ulysses S. Grant, March 1, 1872.

President Nixon has been extended a special invitation to the celebration. Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton has officially confirmed he will be in attendance.

John McGuire, newly appointed chief of the U.S. Forest Service, will make a special presentation to National Park Service Director George B. Hartzog Jr.

As part of the celebration, preparations are under way to open new roads, parking areas and tourist facilities. A new Explorers Center will open this summer and a new Old Faithful Visitor Center will be dedicated June 24.

Near the end of the season, in early September, Yellowstone will be the site of the first annual governor's conference on tourism and the Second World Conference on National Parks.

Only Alaska can match Yellowstone with wilderness quality and variety and number of large mammals. Buffalo, moose, elk, deer, antelope, bighorn sheep and both grizzly and black bears exist in large numbers in their native habitat.

Wild Animals Abound

Yellowstone was established as a park to provide enjoyment for people and to preserve the environment. The two, however, are beginning to conflict as a result of overuse.

According to National Park Service Director Hartzog, Yellowstone is in jeopardy, partly because of its success.

To protect the park for future generations a master plan has been drafted by the National Park Service.

One of the most serious threats to Yellowstone, according to the plan, is the automobile and recreational vehicle.

During recent hearings in Wyoming and Montana, Park Superintendent Jack Anderson —a 22-year veteran of park service—said a mass transit system would provide an added dimension for visitors to learn what the park is really like.

He said it would provide a bypass concept for dispersing traffic around environmentally fragile zones.

Supporters of the plan feel "if recreation is to evolve into a permanent economic asset without damaging the environment, regional and local planning and subsequent zoning must be established and vigorously enforced."

Opponents feel, however, that the concept of the park for public enjoyment would be harmed if its use by people and cars was too sharply curtailed or regulated. Spokesmen say the proposed mass transit system simply demonstrates objection to the use of automobiles in the park.

Most See Little

It has been estimated only 3 per cent of the park's annual visitors are interested in "roughing it," and that few visitors see more than 5 per cent of the total land area.

In 1971 alone, more than 2.1 million visitors registered at the five park entrances. Some 7,000 people hiked off the main roads to camp at least one night, and during the summer months 6,000 tons of garbage was crated along the park's 300 miles of roadway. Taxpayers picked up a $48,000 cleanup tab and kept four teams of workmen busy daily.

In addition to efforts to protect the environment, a move also is under way at Yellowstone to restore the balance of nature to the animal kingdom.

Park officials are attempting to end a policy of artificial reduction through trapping and killing. A key part of the program is the return of predators to the park, such as wolves, and breaking the bear's dependency on garbage dumps and roadside feeding for his food.

Visitors see fewer bears today than once was the case because many have been trapped, tranquilized and moved to inaccessible areas so they will be forced to forage for themselves. Their removal also limits the chances of an overzealous tourist arousing the wrath of an animal and coming to harm.

Hunting Stamps To Cost More

NEW YORK (UPI)—Waterfowl hunters will have to shell out $2 more than last year when they buy new migratory bird hunting stamps this fall.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service has raised the price of the so-called "duck stamp" to $5 for the 1972-73 waterfowl season. Reflecting the need for additional revenue to buy wetlands and refuges for migratory birds.

Sunglasses Best In Green, Gray

CHICAGO (UPI)—Green and smoke gray are the best tints for sunglass lenses, reports the Illinois Society for Prevention of Blindness.

These colors absorb harmful sun rays and affect color perception the least. Wearing pink, yellow, orange, red or violet lenses can result in eyestrain, fatigue and inability to see clearly in bright sunlight. The society's recommendations are in the National Safety Council's current "Family Safety" publication.

Insects Avoid Garlic Oil, Too

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bothered by mosquitoes, house flies and other pesky insects? Try spraying yourself with a little garlic oil.

So says a group of biologists in Bombay, India. They claim garlic is a particularly deadly substance to mosquitoes and other insect pests. And because of its non-toxic nature for humans, it makes a good insecticide, they say.

Moment Of Fame For Camel Driver Burned Out

By LEMMY PINNA

KARACHI (UPI) — Outside Bashir Ahmed's ramshackle two-room bungalow stands the motorless chassis of a blue Ford pickup truck, the only thing left of the camel driver's brief moment of fame.

In 1961, then U.S. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson caught sight of Bashir among the thousands of Pakistanis who turned out to greet the important visitor on the road to the Karachi airport. Johnson stopped the motorcade, chatted with the illiterate man about his camel, and asked if he would like to visit the United States.

Much publicity was given the chance encounter, and in time a formal invitation came to Bashir's squatter town shack from Washington. The camel driver was frightened at the thought of being the guest of a "shah," but his friends persuaded him to make the trip. In preparation he learned to wear shoes.

The visit was a success and President John F. Kennedy received Bashir at the White House. He returned to Pakistan a famous man with many gifts, including the pickup truck. Bashir sold his camel and the U.S. embassy rented the truck, paying him $168 monthly—an income well above the middle class level in Pakistan.

New Status

Naturally Bashir could no longer live in a squatter's colony. So the government arranged for him to move to a small but adequate brick bungalow in a laboring class housing project in Korangi township, 14 miles outside Karachi. The former camel driver began wearing snow-white "ahalwars" (garments of leisure), treating his friends and admirers to tea in the bazaars, and drinking.

In spite of lavish spending to keep up personal appearances as a celebrity, Bashir spent no money on his new home, which to this day has only a few rickety chairs and "charpoy" cots. Finally his extravagances led him to demand more money from embassy officials for the use of his truck.

The embassy refused and returned the Ford to him when Johnson retired from the presidency with a request that he not visit the embassy again.

Callous Embassy

"But I am an American citizen and how dare anyone tell me not to enter the American embassy." Bashir complains to anyone who will listen. His claim to citizenship apparently is based on his friendship with Johnson.

Friends ran the pickup for Bashir for a while, at a loss and abandoned it in his barren front yard when the engine finally broke down. Today at 45 he is a prematurely aged man with a gray beard and no financial resources to support his wife and four children at home. Even the local press dismisses him as a sorry joke.

Bashir says he is trying to borrow money to fix the pickup, sell it and buy back a camel cart.

"What is there for me but to go back to what I was?" he asks.

Bashir and his 40-year-old wife, an anonymous woman who wears the veils of purdah, often go hungry for whole days and their only income is the $1.25 a week each earned by teen-aged sons Ghulam Jilani and Ghulam Rabani, weaving carpets after classes at a free government school.

Bahir's eldest son is 25 and married. The other children are daughter, Imanat, 16, and Ghulam Dastgir, 6, who is scrawny, barefoot and unkempt. The bungalow costs a monthly rental of $5.88 and Bashir has debts of $735 which he has no hope of repaying. His memories of New York, Washington and Johnson City, Tex., do little to temper his unhappiness.

"What will happen to us?" he asks.

Lily Pons Sings After 12 Years

NEW YORK (AP) — Lily Pons, reigning coloratura soprana of the Metropolitan Opera from 1931 to 1959, exhibited a remarkable voice during her first performance in New York in 12 years.

Miss Pons, now 68, sang with the New York Philharmonic Wednesday night. She had been invited by conductor Andre Kostelanetz to appear at one of the early summer promenade concerts "just for fun."

Most women's voices, with age, lose their soft, sweet coatings and become reedy and sinewy, like a stripped-away flower stem. But Miss Pons' voice, although slender and lacking the robust, full clarity of youth, is still soft and sweet.

Opening lead: Jack of ♠ Lest a casual examination of the bidding diagram presented above leads the reader to the conclusion that he is the victim of a typographical error, let me hasten to reassure him concerning its accuracy. A few years ago, C. C. Wei, born in China but a long time citizen of the United States, developed a new bidding system which he appropriately christened "Precision." It was designed to simplify bidding by dividing opening bids into two groups —strong hands and holdings of intermediate and lesser strength.

In the Precision system, an opening bid of one club is artificial and employed to designate a hand containing at least 16 high card points. Other opening bids are thereby limited to lesser values. If responder has less than 8 high card points, he bids one diamond if his partner has opened with one club. Any other response is positive and designates a minimum of eight points. There is of course much more to the system than this and anyone who is interested is invited to pick up a copy of my book on Precision [Charles H. Goren presents the Precision System] which in one year has become one of the all time best sellers in the bridge field.

The system has enjoyed a spectacular success in the field of tournament bridge since its inception. A team of relatively unknown and internationally inexperienced Chinese players using Precision finished second for two straight years in the International Team Championship in 1969 and 1970. More recently a group of young men from New York and Connecticut have won three of the last four major United States National Team Titles.

The hand presented today netted a huge swing to the Precision team in the final round of the Vanderbilt Team-of-Four recently held in Cincinnati.

Tom Stuart, seated South, opened the bidding with one club, describing a hand with 16 or more high card points [he held 18]. West made a subpar overcall of one heart and Eugene Neiger's jump response of three clubs, indicates at least eight high card points and a broken six card suit. Reinforced with this knowledge, Stuart realized that a small slam in clubs could hinge—at worst—on a heart finesse. Without further ado, then, he leaped to six clubs.

The play was routine. The jack of spades was opened and won by North's ace as South discarded a heart. The queen of clubs was led for a finesse and when West's ten appeared, declarer repeated the finesse—picking up East's king on the third round. Diamonds were led next and when the suit divided evenly, Stuart claimed 13 tricks, six clubs, five diamonds, one heart, and one spade. The profit for the vulnerable small slam was 1,390 points.

At the other table, the players seated North and South were using standard methods so South opened the bidding with one heart, North lacked the high card strength to respond at the two level, holding only nine high card points, so he bid one spade. Altho South's rebid of two diamonds left much in reserve, he felt obliged to proceed cautiously until a fit was uncovered.

North gave his partner another chance by bidding two no trump and now South chose to rebid three diamonds. North felt that any further action on his part would be throwing caution to the winds and he passed. The ten of clubs was opened and North's jack held the first trick. Altho 11 tricks were there for the taking with all hands exposed, South tried to ruff some hearts in dummy instead of drawing trump. The second round of trumps was ruffed with the ten of diamonds and overruffed by East's jack and a club return was trumped by West. By the time the play was completed, South ended up with eight tricks and a 100 point deficit on the deal. The total profit to the Precision Team was 1,490 points which represented two-thirds of their victory margin in the match.

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, JUNE 2, 1972

CARROLL RIGHTER'S horoscope

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: If you don't make any changes in the planned arrangements with other persons, this can be an unusually good day. Avoid the temptation to get involved with others in matters that do not concern you personally. Take care of your own affairs.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) An ideal day in which much can be accomplished if you avoid arguments at home or with associates in business. One who opposes you could make things difficult if you are not careful.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Try to please those higher-ups you like and don't argue with co-workers. Make this a productive day. Engage in civic work that will add to present prestige. Be poised.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Finding new methods of realizing your idealistic dreams, which are important to your nature, makes this a fine day. Don't take off on any tangents. You need to save more money.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Take the suggestions from experts in your field of endeavor and then use them wisely to better your position in life. Show affection to loved one and get right results.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Instead of worrying about limitations you may have, get busy and do something constructive. You may find that civic work is not to your liking, but push through determinedly.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have work that requires a more modern system to get it done properly. Put a new plan to work that makes fellow workers cooperate more. Show that you are a capable person.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Come to a better understanding with those you like. Be careful not to irritate a higher-up. This is not a good day for entertaining. Make better plans for such in the future.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Don't confide your worries with others but make an attempt to eliminate them once and for all. Those new activities you have in mind are not for you. Remain steadfast to present setup.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Do whatever will improve your surroundings and show that you are in a most cooperative mood. Avoid a person who gossips too much. A businesslike attitude is best now.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Become more practical so you can improve your position in life. A bigwig is irate and you could be blamed for something that is not your responsibility if you are not careful.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Improving your appearance before you go out for any important business appointments is wise. Try not to get into any arguments. Don't overwork. Remember, your health comes first.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Keep busy solving problems and you will get ahead. Avoid those who are envious of you and who like to criticize. Obtain the advice you need from experts, then put it to good use.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those charming and gregarious young people who attracts many friends and would do well in any field that deals with the public, be it it entertainment, government or whatever. The health is likely to be delicate and long trips without proper care should not be attempted. An artistic nature is very pronounced here.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

LOSE 20 POUNDS IN TWO WEEKS!

Famous U.S. Women Ski Team Diet

During the non-snow off season the U.S. Women's Alpine Ski Team members go on the "Ski Team" diet to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. That's right – 20 pounds in 14 days! The basis of the diet is chemical food action and was devised by a famous Colorado physician especially for the U.S. Ski Team. Normal energy is maintained (very important!) while reducing. You keep "full" – no starvation – because the diet is designed that way. It's a diet that is easy to follow whether you work, travel or stay at home.

This is honestly a fantastically successful diet. If it weren't, the U.S. Women's Ski Team wouldn't be permitted to use it! Right? So, give yourself the same break the U.S. Ski Team gets. Lose weight the scientific, proven way. Even if you've tried all the other diets, you owe it to yourself to try the U.S. Women's Ski Team Diet. That is, if you really do want to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. Order today. Tear this out as a reminder.

Send only $2.00 ($2.25 for Rush Service)—Cash is O.K.—to: Information Resources Co., Dept. 19, P.O. Box 173, Encinitas, Calif. 92024. Don't order unless you expect to lose 20 pounds in two weeks! Because that's what the Ski Team Diet will do!

Host Of Presidential Entries Await Calif. Ballot

By DOUG WILLIS
Associated Press Writer

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California has a king-sized slate of 30 officially recognized candidates for president in its Tuesday primary.

It happened because the 1968 "Mickey Mouse" amendment didn't work quite as well as state lawmakers had hoped.

That amendment is working only to the extent that votes for Mickey Mouse, Batman, Snoopy and other fictitious persons won't be counted.

But in addition to the 11 well-known contenders whose names are on the printed ballots, 19 write-in candidates met all the requirements to be certified. Votes for all 19 must be recorded in the 22,647 precincts in California and compiled in final official statewide returns.

Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace is the best-known write-in candidate, and the only one with an organized campaign.

The other 18 include two persons who say they are running for the presidential nomination of all four parties recognized in California, and three candidates who have been running unsuccessfully for one office or another for up to two decades.

Will Slocum, a 4-foot-10 jockey, is running on the platform "the country needs a president it doesn't have to look up to."

His "No Hocum with Slocum" candidacy is certified on the Republican ticket against President Nixon and Rep. John Ashbrook, and on the Peace and Freedom ticket against pediatrician Benjamin Spock.

Another write-in candidate is Lar Daly, a Chicagoan who campaigns in an Uncle Sam suit on an "America First" platform. He ran for mayor of Chicago in 1959 and for president in 1960.

Walter R. Buchanan, a driving school owner who started running for Congress in the 1950s, is one of nine Democratic write-in candidates.

But most of the certified write-ins are unfamiliar names, and the secretary of state isn't certain who some of them are.

Two persons identified only as Evilyn Evelyn and Charles C. Compton are certified as candidates in all four primaries — Republican, Democratic, Peace and Freedom and American Independent.

This will be the first California election in which write-in votes for president will be officially counted, and officials say efforts to streamline the system may not be as effective as they had hoped.

The 1968 revision of the election code said write-in votes will be counted, but only for persons who notify the secretary of state in writing 10 days before the election that they are genuine candidates.

The law received little publicity, and it was hoped by election officials it would limit the counting or write-ins to votes for serious candidates such as Wallace.

"I don't know if it's going to work out that way," Deputy Secretary of State Thomas Quinn said after the report of 19 certified write-in candidates was issued.

"At least it will only be real people who exist — we think," Quinn added. "It will be better than having to count every write-in."

He explained that the list of certified candidates was compiled from the letters received by his office. But he said he had no idea, except for the signatures on the letters, who any of the certified candidates are, except Wallace.

Mrs. Bowles In City Yesterday

After Saturday's primary, Mrs. Hargrove "Skipper" Bowles, while visiting in Greenville yesterday, said, "I am looking forward to seeing our new grandson, Hargrove IV, who was born on May 23."

The baby is the son of Hargrove III and Jo Lynne Bowles, who live in Greenville, S. C.

Mrs. Bowles said, "Since the second primary was announced, I have zigzagged over the state visiting places a second time as requested and some places for the first time.

"I still prefer not speaking out on issues. Instead I am still telling people what kind of man Skipper is, giving a little about his background and character."

"I am very optimistic over Skipper's prospects in the second primary and hopeful that everyone who voted for him the first time will vote for him again." she added.

Mrs. Bowles and her party arrived here later than scheduled due to events in Elizabeth City including a breakfast, visits to two community colleges, radio, television and newspaper interviews.

While in Greenville, she visited the local headquarters and had two radio interviews in addition to television and newspaper appointments. A tea was held in her honor late yesterday afternoon before she left for Raleigh.

Her schedule today includes a visit to the headquarters in Greensboro and a tea in High Point.

Agnew Declines Join Delegation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has declined an invitation to join Maryland's delegation to the Republican National Convention.

Victor Gold, Agnew's press secretary, said Wednesday that the former Maryland governor will not be a member of the state's 26-member delegation.

Four years ago he went to Miami Beach at the head of the Maryland contingent and left as President Nixon's running mate.

ChavezWeakens In 20-Day Fast

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Cesar Chavez, the United Farm Workers leader, has been taken to a hospital, weakened by a 20-day fast.

Chavez, his face hollowed and drawn, was taken to the hospital by ambulance Wednesday. Dr. Augusto Ortiz, the physician who has attended Chavez during the fast, described his condition as serious and said he urgently needed medication.

The UFW leader began his fast after the Arizona Legislature earlier this month adopted a farm labor bill which forbids secondary strikes by farm workers at harvest time.

Mrs. De Valera Is 94 Today

DUBLIN (AP) — Sinead De Valera, wife of President Eamon De Valera, celebrates her 94th birthday today.

The couple have been married 62 years. Mrs. Valera, who always shunned the limelight her husband loved, has written 30 books for children in the native Irish tongue.

Boys Club . . .

Club of America Olympics, to be held in Raleigh on June 17; a bicycle race; and the traditional Summer Tournament of Champs, slated to begin August 1 and continue to August 10.

"Probably the biggest thing we have planned is the Fishing Rodeo on June 24," Wilcox commented. "This will be our big fund raising project, and we feel it's going to be something the entire community will enjoy."

Out of town trips and special activities however, are but one part of the overall summer program. There's much to do in the day by day activities at the Greenville Club.

In sports, or the Physical Department, for example, the boys will have a chance to play baseball, basketball, to roller skate and swim, pitch horseshoes, play volleyball or putt-putt, or add some new muscles with a course in weightlifting.

Boys who like to be members of junior size clubs can join a Torch Club, Keystone Club or be active in the Camping or Bicycle Club. There are also Group Clubs.

The Games Room will, as usual, feature a number in indoor games that are expecially enticing on a rainy day or when a day of intense heat makes being outdoors a bit uncomfortable.

For boys inclined to keep abreast in reading and studying, the Educational Department features a reading program and offers the services of a small, but growing library. There will also be cooking classes and local field trips, as well as the usual challenge in making things by hand in the Arts and Crafts Room.

Wilcox revealed that again this year the Boys' Club will have a program at Aycock Junior High School. This opens on Monday, June 12. The director noted that boys interested in taking part in the Aycock program can join up a tthe Skinner Street unit any time or at the Aycock Unit on June 12.

Bus transportation will be furnished for the boys living some distance from the Skinner Street club. Plans are for a pick-up in Winterville at 9:45 a.m. and in the Meadowbrook area at 10:15 a.m. daily.

Membership in the Boys' Club is open to any boy between the ages of six and 16. Fees vary for different age groups. For boys under ten the fee is 50 cents; for those 11 to 13, it is 75 cents; and older boys in the 14 to 16 age group, $1.00. Membership for "alumni" or older boys who were former members is $2.00.

Operating hours for the summer have been scheduled for Monday through Friday of each week. At Skinner Street the hours will be from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., and at Aycock from 1:00 to 4:30 p.m.

At the Skinner Street building, hot dogs and other snacks will be on sale during the lunch hours, noon til 1:00 p.m.

Persons interested in further information, either for membership or for information on assisting in the Boys' Club program can be obtained by calling Wilcox at 758-4029.

Bowles Says Arm Is 'One Solid Ache'

By RAY ROLLINS
For The Associated Press

HIGH POINT, N.C. (AP) — Hargrove "Skipper" Bowles, confiding that his right hand and forearm are "one solid ache," was still reaching for hands to shake in High Point today.

Bowles is near the end of campaigning in his runoff Saturday with Lt. Gov. Pat Taylor for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Plane hops across the state have taken Bowles to Wilmington, Elizabeth City and Asheville and points in between this week, including a stop over in his hometown, Greensboro, Wednesday night.

Bowles spent the night in Greensboro, his first night at home in 10 days. But he still did not get to see other members of his family, who were out campaigning elsewhere in the state.

Bowles met with supporters and newsmen in High Point today and then left by car for Chapel Hill and Raleigh. He was to fly to Charlotte late in the day.

In Asheville Wednesday, Bowles refuted a Taylor claim that he is a part of a Sanford-Scott machine by citing names of former Sanford supporters who are closely allied with Scott and Taylor.

"He (Taylor) has got the machine," Bowles said.

Greene Central Bows In Opener, 4-0

CONCORD — Northwest Cabarrus took the lead in the best-of-three series for the Class 3-A Baseball Championship last night with a 4-0 victory over Greene Central.

The Rams were manhandled by left-hander George Marshall, who fanned 15 of them. He allowed only three hits by the Greene Central nine.

The loss was the first of the year for Greene Central's ace hurler Johnny Earl Johnson, who was tagged for only four hits. One of them was a two-run homer, however, and that helped to do the damage.

For the Rams, hitting was the key. They were able to get men into scoring position, but were unable to bring them across. Four times, men got to second or third without scoring.

Northwest Cabarrus put men as far as second only twice aside from the fifth inning when all the scoring took place.

The Rams got off their first threat in the opening inning. Robert Ivey led off with a walk and stole second. Bob Scott then ripped one out of the park, but it curved foul and the last second, and the threat ended there.

The next nine men went down in order to Marshall and his teammates.

Finally, in the fifth innning, the Rams got another man on base. Danny Whitley singled, but was forced at second on Donald Taylor's grounder. The ball was thrown away at first, however, and Taylor was able to move on the second. Again, however, the threat died.

The sixth and seventh also saw threats. Ivey walked to open the sixth, and with one away, Stevie Williamson got a hit. Then in the seventh, with one away, Taylor cracked out a triple but waited in vain at third.

Northwest got its first threat going in the second inning, when Gerald Marshall singled and moved to second on an out, only to wait there.

In the third, another threat was halted by a double-play by the Rams. Dennie McAnulty walked and Alton Conwell singled, moving him to third. On the next play, Russ Hartsell hit a line drive to Billy Williamson, who then threw to Taylor to double off McAnulty, ending that threat.

Finally, in the fifth inning, Northwest scored to push ahead. Gary Marshall led off with a walk, and McAnulty followed on base the same way. Conwell listed a single to center that just fell in for a hit. The ball bounced by Whitley, however, and on the play, both Marshall and McAnulty both came around to score. Conwell moved on to third before the ball was finally relayed back in.

Hartsell followed that up with a homer, scoring Conwell ahead of himself for the 4-0 total.

The victory raised George Marshall's record for the year to 12-0. Johnson is now 13-1.

Tonight, the series continues at 8 p.m. Billy Williamson will go to the mound for the Rams, taking a 4-0 record with him. He'll face Gary Marshall, 3-1.

A Greene Central victory tonight would send the game into the final contest, to be played Saturday afternoon. A Northwest win would, of course, end the series, giving them the title.

Aaron Slams 648th Homer, Ties Mays, Takes Aim On Babe Ruth

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Welcome home, Hank Aaron, you've just caught Willie Mays. Next stop: Babe Ruth.

"The biggest one is still ahead," said the Atlanta Braves' slugger after tying Mays for second place on the all-time home run list with No. 648 Wednesday night and setting his sights on the Babe's record 714.

Aaron's first-inning belt, a typical line drive rocket into the left field seats at Atlanta Stadium, started the Braves to a 5-4 victory over the San Diego Padres.

"I haven't been hitting the ball well at all this year," said Aaron, who could have fooled some. He's hit nine out of the park so far.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Los Angeles Dodgers nipped the San Francisco Giants 5-4 in 10 innings; the St. Louis Cardinals topped the Chicago Cubs 1-0; the Montreal Expos beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-2 and the Cincinnati Reds bombed the Houston Expos 12-4. Rain washed out the game between Philadelphia and New York.

American League results: Detroit 5, Cleveland 4 in 10; Oakland 5, Texas 1; Minnesota 3, Kansas City 2; New York 5, Milwaukee 4 and California 4, Chicago 3. Boston at Baltimore was postponed by rain.

After Aaron's blast gave Atlanta a 1-0 lead, the Braves added another run in the first on Earl Williams' run-scoring single. They tallied a pair of unearned runs in the third on a hit, an error and three walks and another in the eighth on pitcher Ron Reed's sacrifice fly that proved to be the winning margin.

Reed gave up a run in the second and another in the eighth before relinquishing Larry Stahl's two-run homer in the ninth and taking a shower. Cecil Upshaw then came in to get the final three outs.

Manny Mota's tie-breaking triple in the 10th pulled Los Angeles past San Francisco and gave the Dodgers a 1½-game lead over Houston in the West race. Mota's hit scored Willie Davis, who had led off with a walk.

Hank: Biggest Is Still Ahead

Hammerin' Hank Aaron of the Atlanta Braves has tied the flamboyant Willie Mays for second place on the all-time home run list at 648, but says, "The biggest one is still ahead."

The soft-spoken slugger caught Mays Wednesday night in the first inning of Atlanta's 5-4 victory over San Diego when he belted a 3-2 pitch from left-hander Fred Norman into the left field seats along the foul line.

It was his ninth homer this year and left him only 66 away from one of baseball's most revered records—Babe Ruth's 714 lifetime homers.

When Aaron cracked his 600th against San Francisco last year to cut Mays' lead to 33, the Atlanta star quipped, "It's kind of tough to catch a moving target."

"I've got to catch my own targets now," Aaron said Wednesday night. "I just haven't been hitting the ball well at all this year."

Aaron attempted to play down the significance of catching Mays, one of the game's all-time greats who at age 41 is in the twilight of a career that saw him traded from the San Francisco Giants to the New York Mets early this season.

"I've never had a rivalry with him," Aaron said. "If there was any at all, it was just a friendly one.

"I have my job to do and Willie has his," Aaron added. "Anyway, I put myself in a different category. He's 41 and I'm 38 and that makes a difference, no matter what you might think."

The blast Wednesday night also enabled Aaron to reach another major milestone in his 19-year career as he became only the second player to attain 6,-000 total bases. It moved him to 6,001, trailing record-holder Stan Musial, who has 6,134.

South Alabama Is NCAA Choice

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP) — The University of South Alabama, with a 33-6 mark, carried the best record into today's National Collegiate Athletics Association District 3 baseball playoffs. It faced Florida State in the opening contest of the three-game first round.

Florida State put a 44-21 record on the line. The record included a two regular season victories over the Alabama team, and four losses.

Southern Conference champion Richmond faced Atlantic Coast Conference Virginia in the second game today. And the evening's windup of first round action matched Mississippi against Jacksonville.

The winner of the double-elimination tournament at Gastonia's Sims Legion Park will represent the Southeast at the NCAA's College World Series at Omaha, Neb.

Virginia won nine of its last 11 games, but coach Jim West expressed concern, going into the district playoffs, over the fact his Cavaliers have been idle since May 10. Virginia stakes a 16-13 record against Richmond's 21-6 mark.

Their scheduled regular-season game was canceled by rain.

Mississippi won the Southeastern title with a 23-13 record, while independent Jacksonville compiled a 36-12 mark. The two clubs did not meet during regular season.

Smith Seeks To Beat Jinx

PARIS (AP) — Big Stan Smith, a terror on grass courts who has always had trouble adjusting his game to clay, meets Andres Gimeno of Spain today in the quarter-finals of the French Open Tennis Tournament.

Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia, the French champion in 1970 and 1971 and No. 1 seed this year, had a run of wildness Wednesday and lost the first set of his quarter-final match against Patrick Proisy of France, seeded No. 9. But Kodes held a 2-6, 8-6, 6-2 lead when play was interrupted because of darkness. The finish of the match will be the first center court action today. The winner will meet Manuel Orantes of Spain in the semi-final.

In another quarter-final, Adriano Panatta of Italy meets Alex Metreveli of France.

The semi-finals of the women's doubles also will be played today with Mrs. Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., and Betty Stove of Holland playing Mrs. Judy Dalton of Australia and Francoise Durr of France, and Winnie Shaw and Nell Truman of Britain meeting Helen Gourlay and Karen Krantzcke of Australia.

Lyle Posts Tenth Save For Yankees

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sparky Lyle, who picked up his out pitch during a sleepless night six years ago, is doing his best to see that Ralph Houk spends as few sleepless nights as possible.

Houk wig-wagged Lyle in from the bullpen for the 14th time Wednesday night and the left-handed relief ace, acquired from Boston during spring training, posted his 10th save, preserving the New York Yankees' 5-4 victory over Milwaukee.

The 27-year-old Lyle has one triumph, giving him a hand in 11 of New York's 17 victories. He sports an impressive 1.16 earned run average.

Elsewhere in the American League, Detroit edged Cleveland 5-4 in 10 innings, Oakland, trimmed Texas 5-1 Minnesota nipped Kansas City 3-2 and California shaded the Chicago White Sox 4-3. Baltimore and Boston were rained out.

National League scores: Montreal 3, Pittsburgh 2; St. Louis 1, Chicago Cubs 0; Los Angeles 5, San Francisco 4 in 10 innings; Cincinnati 12, Houston 4; Atlanta 5, San Diego 4. The New York Mets and Philadelphia were rained out.

Lyle was struggling along at Pittsfield, Mass., in the Eastern League in 1966 with "only a fast ball and a sometimes curve. Ted Williams, who was the Red Sox batting instructor, came to Pittsfield for a couple of days. I asked him to explain how a slider moves and how it appears to a batter. Ted gave me a detailed account of a slider from a batter's viewpoint.

"I was lying in bed that night, but couldn't sleep. I got up and tried holding a baseball in a variety of ways to envision how I'd have to hold it to get the type break Ted spoke of. I finally decided that there was only one way to do it. I got up and started throwing the ball against the house at 5 a.m."

He's been throwing the slider it ever since.

The Yanks jumped to a 5-0 lead Wednesday night as John Ellis and Gene Michael delivered two-run singles in the first inning and Roy White homered in the third. The Brewers chased Mel Stottlemyre in the seventh and Lyle came on with two runs already in. He promptly wild pitched another one home, gave up a run on three singles in the eighth and then slammed the door.

The Tigers took over first place in the AL East by one-half game over rain-idled Baltimore when Eddie Brinkman hit a sacrifice fly in the 10th inning after reliever Fred Scherman worked out a bases-loaded, none-out jam in the Cleveland ninth.

It was the seventh loss in a row for the Indians. Norm Cash and Mickey Stanley homered for the Tigers.

Oakland scored three times in the seventh inning on Sal Bando's sacrifice fly and singles by Mike Epstein and Ollie Brown and went on to defeat Texas behind Catfish Hunter.

Reggie Jackson, who homered for the A's off Dick Bosman in the first inning, was struck in the face by a pitch from reliever Mike Paul in the seventh. Jackson walked from the field under his own power and was taken to a hospital, where X rays proved negative.

Eric Soderholm, hitting just .183 at game time, slammed a three-run homer in the sixth inning following singles by Rod Carew and Harmon Killebrew, lifting Minnesota past Kansas City. It was Soderholm's third home run of the season and second game-winner.

Chicago jumped to a 3-1 lead over California after 5½ innings with Rich Morales accounting for two runs with a home run and single. But Bob Oliver drove in a run for the Angels with a sixth-inning single, Leroy Stanton tied it with a single in the eighth and they won it with two out in the ninth.

Sandy Alomar singled, raced around to third when first baseman Dick Allen muffed a pick-off throw, Mickey Rivers and Vada Pinson walked, loading the bases, and Oliver came through with a single.

English Driver Trying Stocks

By Boys BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer

DOVER, Del. (AP) — Diminutive Jackie Oliver is the international star in residence at the Dover Downs auto racing track this week, and he couldn't be happier.

"I feel as if I'm a member of a big family," the 30-year-old Englishman said on his arrival Wednesday night, to drive a Ford in Sunday's Mason-Dixon 500 stock car race.

"The drivers are very friendly, unlike at some of the major road courses in Europe. I walk in the pits at a stock car race and I'm immediately a member of the club," said the former Grand Prix and endurance star.

Oliver, co-winner with Belgium's Jacky Ickx of the 24 hours of LeMans in 1969, and who shared the winning car with the late Pedro Rodriguez in the 1970 Daytona 24-hour race, has driven in five stock car events this year.

Aside from the fact that the money is good, his status as a "graded" driver in the current listing of the Federation Internationale D'automobile (FIA) helps a domestic track qualify for full FIA international listing, and consequently for full exchange of drivers from other circuits.

Dover Downs, a one-mile banked facility and one of the newer tracks on the stock car circuit, hopes to qualify for international listing of at least one of its 500-mile races next year.

Oliver, who came to Dover after three days of testing his new Can-Am racing car in Mosport Park, Ontario, is entered in Sunday's race in a car owned by Junior Donlevy of Richmond, Va.

His performances thus far have been spotty. He doesn't show on the current list of the 35 top money winners. But he feels he is coming along.

"I feel confident I have the ability to compete with the best of the stock car drivers. It has taken a while to conform, but I love it and the money is adequate. The other drivers are helping me and I'll make it."

Oliver says he gave up his ride in international Formula 1 racing because the Grand Prix cars "were getting a bit too fast for my liking."

Previs To Join Cougs

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Steve Previs, University of North Carolina defensive star and playmaker, signed with the Carolina Cougars of the American Basketball Association Wednesday.

The 6-foot-3 guard from Bethel Park, Pa., who holds the record for career assists at North Carolina, was the Cougars' 14th-round draft choice, and the seventh-round choice of the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Association. He said, "North Carolina is now my home, and this is where my friends are."

Palmer, Despite Age, Still Drawing Crowds

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — He's a middle-aged man wearing glasses. There's a history of bursitis and a hint of a roll around the middle. His hair is turning gray and thinning.

But Arnold Palmer, eight years past his last major triumph and a non-winner this season, still ranks as pro golf's most dynamic performer, its greatest gate attraction and a threat for a title every time he plays.

"I know I can still win. I wouldn't be here if I didn't think so," the fiercely competitive Palmer said before starting the first round in the $175,000 Kemper Open Golf Tournament today.

"I could have won a couple of times, but I got a little overanxious," said Palmer.

Although he has yet to notch his first title of the season, the 42-year-old Palmer ranked high among the favorites in the extremely strong field arrayed for this 72 hole event.

"My man hits it as good as ever-maybe better," said Palmer's long-time touring caddy, Creamy Carolan, "There ain't nothing wrong with him.

""Oh, he has some putting troubles sometimes, but so does everybody. He could have won several times this year already.

"But he didn't and he gets down on himself.

"I tell him, 'look, you're the same guy that won all those tournaments. You're as good as ever, maybe better. Look at all those kids you're beating every week. Sometimes the breaks just don't go right."

They haven't gone right this year.

Palmer blew a lead when he took a triple bogey six with two holes to play in the Greensboro Open. He was making a run for the title when he hit one out of bounds on the ninth hole of the final round at the Bob Hope Desert Classic. In the Byron Nelson at Dallas he was making one of his patented charges that sputtered and failed on a pair of consecutive bogeys on the last nine holes.

Still, he finished 10th or better in six of 11 previous starts this season and has won almost $41,000. But he hasn't won in almost a year and it deeply disturbs this intensely proud man who has scored some 60 tournament triumphs.

He has an excellent chance to remedy the situation this week on the 7,278 yard, par 72 Quail Hollow Country Club course.

Other leading contenders in the chase for the $35,000 first prize include Lee Trevino, South African Gary Player, defending champion Tom Weiskopf, Billy Casper, George Archer, Jerry Heard and aging Sam Snead.

Jack Nicklaus is not competing. The season's leading money winner is taking time off to prepare for the United States Open Championship.

Pepitone To Rejoin Cubs

CHICAGO (AP) — Joe Pepitone's retirement has ended abruptly, and the colorful first baseman will be back with the Chicago Cubs early next month.

Pepitone's decision to return to baseball, announced Wednesday, came as quickly as his decision to leave the game.

Pepitone visited the Cubs' locker room at Wrigley Field last Saturday and bumped into coach Pete Reiser, who asked: "You're going to come back, aren't you?"

Pepitone answered, "Yes, I will.

"I really hadn't given it a thought until I bumped into Pete in the Cubs' clubhouse," Pepitone later commented. "When he asked me, it was just something that came out."

Cub Vice President John Holland called Pepitone Wednesday and asked if he was serious about returning, because the club was looking for another first baseman, reportedly Atlanta's Orlando Cepeda or Philadelphia's Deron Johnson.

"Pepi told me, 'I've already thought it over, and I want to play as soon as possible,'" Holland said.

As soon as possible means July 2, because league rules require a 60-day interim before a player can return to the active list once he has announced his voluntary retirement. Pepitone announced his retirement May 2.

Pepitone will begin working out informally with the team this Sunday in Los Angeles.

McLain Has 1-1 Record

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Denny McLain, who once had a 31-6 record in the major leagues, now has a 1-1 record in the minors.

He picked up his first victory Wednesday night, allowing three hits in seven innings as the Birmingham A's defeated Knoxville 2-1 in a Southern League baseball game.

The righthander was relieved after the seventh, apparently on orders from Oakland. He struck out the last two batters he faced.

It was McLain's third start for Birmingham after being sent to the Southern League from the Oakland Athletics two weeks ago. His record for Oakland was 1-2.

His first two starts, both against the Montgomery Rebels, weren't successful. In the first game he allowed nine hits and nine runs, including three homers. And in the second, he was laced for seven runs, but the A's rallied after he was relieved, saving him from a second defeat.

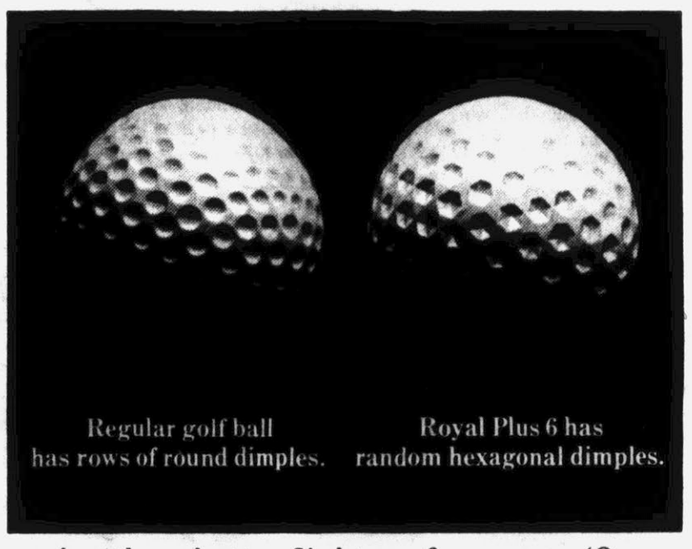
Aerospace professor helps Royal with regulation golf ball that flies 6 yards farther than country's number one ball.



Regular golf ball has rows of round dimples. Royal Plus 6 has random hexagonal dimples.

Three years ago, we at Royal approached Dr. John Nicolaides—Professor of Aerospace, University of Notre Dame, and one of the country's foremost authorities on aerodynamics—and asked him if he'd help us with a regulation golf ball that would fly farther than any other regulation golf ball.

Dr. John Nicolaides, Professor of Aerospace, University of Notre Dame.

It turned out that for years Dr. Nicolaides had been intrigued by the flight of the golf ball, which he describes as completely unique, completely different from a baseball, a football or a tennis ball. ("In flight," says Dr. Nicolaides, "the golf ball literally has wings.")

To understand how Dr. Nicolaides approached the problem, it is first necessary to know a little about the history of golf balls.

In 1848, golf balls had smooth coverings made out of the gum of a tree. When these balls were hit, they flew out, then suddenly dove down into the ground. However, after this ball was played a number of times and its cover was marked up, it flew much farther.

As a result, people began putting all kinds of markings on the covers of balls to give them better flight performance. (Our present dimpled ball is simply a reversed version of a ball with little bumps all over it that was used at the turn of the century.)

So the key questions were: Why do the markings on the surface of golf balls influence flight performance? And, more important, how can we mark the surface of a ball to make it fly even farther?

Dr. Nicolaides' unique sub-sonic wind tunnel proved invaluable in measuring the effects of various types of surface markings on the factors at work in the flight of a golf ball: the velocity and angle the ball is given when it's hit by the club; the underspin that gives the ball its lift force (its "wings" if you will); the drag force (wind resistance) pulling backwards trying to slow the ball down; and, of course, the gravity force pulling down.

All this aerodynamic data was fed into computers, and the exact positions of balls with different surface markings—as they fly through the air from tee to point of impact—were plotted.

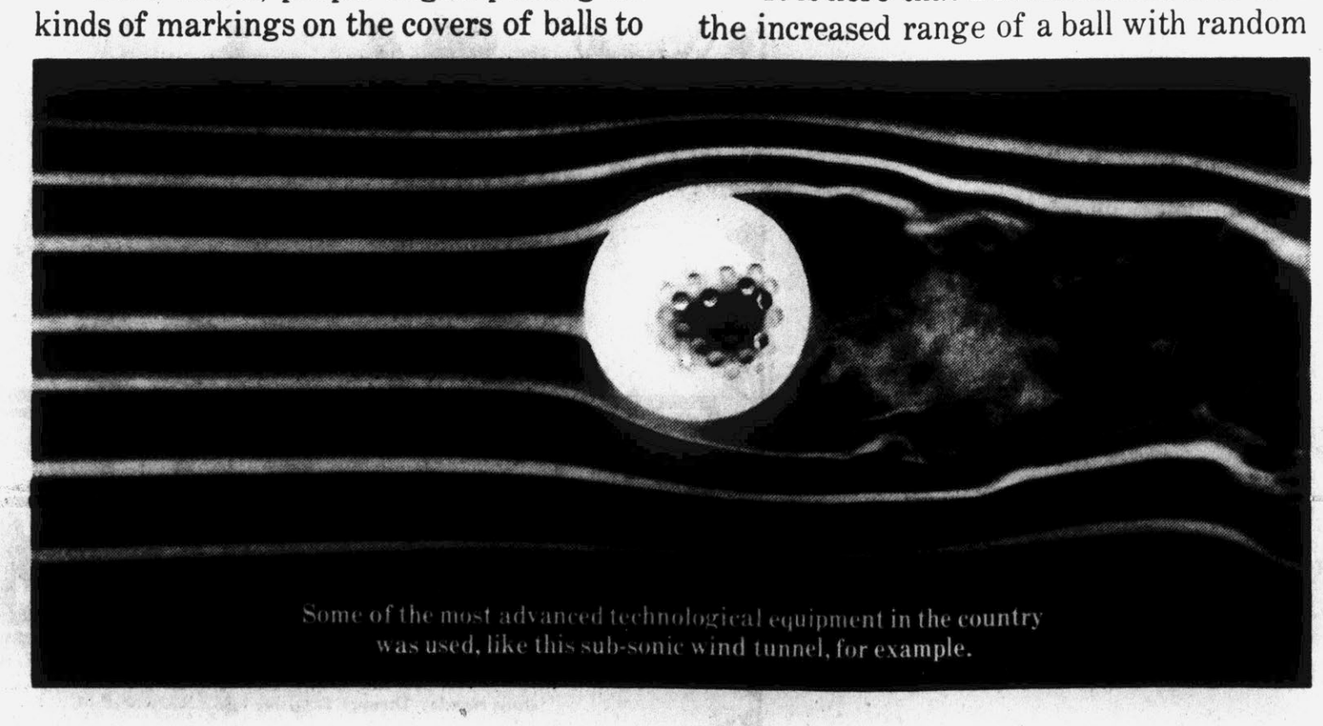
It is here that Dr. Nicolaides first saw the increased range of a ball with random hexagonal dimples as opposed to rows of round ones. (It seems that this type of surface marking produced better lift and less drag.)

With all the theoretical work done, Dr. Nicolaides then set out to confirm his findings on the golf course. To do this, he designed a completely unique golf-ball-hitting machine, which hits each ball with exactly the same force and at exactly the same angle.

After the ball proved itself in the lab, it was tested on the course.

After many, many hits using regular round-dimpled balls (Titleist K-types were used) and many, many hits using hexagonal-dimpled balls, Dr. Nicolaides saw that the new hexagonal-dimpled ball flew an average of 6 yards farther.

Which is why we at Royal chose to call this revolutionary new ball the Royal Plus 6.



Some of the most advanced technological equipment in the country was used, like this sub-sonic wind tunnel, for example.

Taylor TV Campaign Is Shifted To West N.C.

By JAY HENSLEY
For The Associated Press

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Lt. Gov. Pat Taylor was to shift his television-oriented campaign for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination to the western part of the state today, with programs scheduled in Charlotte and Asheville.

Taylor told viewers of his "Call Pat Taylor" program Wednesday that he has pledged to not only hold the line on taxes for North Carolinians who earn less than $20,000 a year, but also to press for a tax cut for those who make less than $5,000.

Hargrove "Skipper" Bowles, Taylor's opponent for the nomination in the runoff Saturday, promised early in the campaign that he would not ask for additional taxes.

Bowles beat Taylor by some 62,000 votes in the May 6 primary, and Taylor has since taken a hard stand on the tax issue.

"Not only will I not raise taxes for the average and middle class North Carolinians, but I'll actually lower the taxes if I'm governor," Taylor told television audiences in Wilmington and Washington, N.C., Wednesday.

Taylor said if new revenue is needed he would tax corporations and individuals earning $20,000 or more annually, but would also rework the tax structure to exempt persons who earn less than $5,000 a year.

He said he has talked his play over with men who run corporations and with wealthy individuals, "and they think this is a fair sort of a proposition."

Taylor also hit Bowles on his voting record in the General Assembly, and told eastern North Carolinians the former senator supported a five-cent tax on cigarettes in 1969.

"I'm not being critical of my opponent, but I think the people of eastern North Carolina ought to know this: He supported the five-cent tax on a pack of cigarettes and voted for the two-cent tax that was put on cigarettes," Taylor said.

Taylor said that as lieutenant governor and a member of the House he has never supported or voted for a tax on cigarettes.

The first time a tobacco tax got out of committee in the legislature was in 1969. The fight took place in the House, and as presiding officer of the Senate, Taylor never had an opportunity to vote on the cigarette tax.

'Smart Bombs' Doing The Job

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Guided by laser light beams or television cameras, the electronic "smart bombs" U.S. pilots are dropping on North Vietnam have accomplished more in two months against certain targets than the entire 1965-68 bombing did, American officials say.

"We've been able to cut most of the major bridges and roads from the defense lines north of Hue up to the Chinese border," one official claimed. "Both the northeast and northwest rail lines from Hanoi to China have been cut."

Officials report no signs of major movement of war materials from China, either by rail or truck.

The smart bombs had been in the development stage for two years. They were used only on a limited basis in Indochina until President Nixon resumed the full-scale bombing of North Vietnam on April 6 in retaliation for the enemy offensive in South Vietnam.

Generally, two jets operate together in using the laser bombs. One is armed with a laser gun that spotlights the target with the light ray. The beam is narrow, like a rope, and does not widen as a spotlight would.

The second jet drops the bomb, which is fitted with a mechanism in its nose that homes in on the light ray. U.S. officials say the margin of error for a laser bomb is five feet or less, while a "dumb" conventional bomb dropped with normal trajectory has a margin of error of 150 feet due to the plane's speed and altitude and wind conditions.

The laser-guided bombs are generally 2,000-and 3,000-pound blockbusters used on bridges that range in width from seven feet to more than 50.

Among the major targets reported destroyed by these laser bombs was the Thanh Hoa "Dragon's Jaw" bridge, 80 miles south of Hanoi, on May 12. The bridge, 56 feet wide and 540 feet long, stood throughout the 1965-68 bombing despite repeated attacks by more than 1,000 U.S. fighter-bombers.

Thirty U.S. planes were lost in the earlier raids on the bridge. None was lost in the attack May 12.

The other smart bomb is the EO, for electrical-optical. It carriers a television camera in its nose, and electronic corrections from the flier watching a TV screen in the plane put the bomb on the target.

Conventional bombs are still used in saturation raids against warehouses, truck parks and sprawling storage areas where the objective is "to blow the hell out of the place," one official said.

Drivers Collide At Intersection

George Harold Farris, 29 of Cary was charged with failing to stop for a stop light following investigation of an 11:30 a.m. mishap here yesterday at the intersection of Tenth and Evans Streets.

Police reported the Farris car collided with a vehicle driven by Gene Howell Castleberry, 43 of Smithfield causing an estimated $400 damage to the Farris car and about $150 damage to the Castleberry auto.

No injuries were reported.

Recent Grad Gets Award

Darrell S. Vodopich, recent graduate from the East Carolina University Department of Biology, is this year's winner of the Mary C. Helms Award.

Established in 1967 in honor of Dr. Helms's retirement from the ECU biology faculty, the award is annually given to a graduating student on the basis of academic achievement in course work, research activity and contributions to the department.

Vodopich, a member of the N.C. Collegiate Academy of Science, was a research assistant to Dr. Donald B. Jeffreys on a project dealing with the carnivorous plant Venuc Fly-trap. Results of the project were presented to the N.C. Academy of Science at its spring meeting.

For his work with electrical responses of the Venus Fly-trap, Vodopich was given a Sigma Xi Research Award.

He has been awarded a graduate assistant ship at ECU for next year, when he plans to enter a master's degree program.

Savings Bonds Sales Inching Up

Sales of U.S. Series E and Series H Savings Bonds in Pitt County for April were $7,147,746.

This represents 10.6 per cent of Pitt County's goal of $71,700,000, according to R.W. Howard, Pitt County volunteer chairman.

April sales in North Carolina were over $7 million for the fourth consecutive month, setting a record for any April since 1945. Nationally, total April sales were over one-half billion dollars, 8.4 per cent above the 1971 figure. The cash value of Series E and H Bonds and Freedom Shares outstanding on April 30 attained a new peak of $55.9 billion.

HIGHWAY DEATHS UP IN SOUTH AFRICA

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) — The Department of Statistics reported that 8,392 people were killed in 218,925 highway accidents in 1971, compared with 7,948 fatalities in 205,267 accidents the year before.

Strangler Stabbed To Death In S.C. Prison

COLUMBIA (AP)—The convicted "Gaffney Strangler," Lee Roy Martin, was stabbed to death in prison Wednesday where he was serving four life sentences for murdering four women.

Warden J. W. Strickland of the Central Correctional Institution said Martin was stabbed in the chest and back and apparently died immediately. The incident occurred at about 5:15 Wednesday afternoon.

Penal authorities said they are holding another inmate in connection with the slaying. He was identified as Kenneth Marshal Rumsey, 30, of Pickens.

Strickland said both Rumsey and Martin lived in Cellblock Three where Martin worked as a janitor.

The slaying may be the final chapter in one of the most bizarre criminal stories in state law enforcement history.

Martin was serving four life sentences for the 1967-68 stranglings of Mrs. Annie Lucille Dedmond, 32; Opal Dianne Buckson, 15; Nancy Christine Rhinehart, 14; and Mrs. Nancy Parris, 20.

Martin's conviction in Mrs. Dedmond's death resulted in the freeing of her husband, Roger Zane Dedmond, who had been convicted of murder and had served ten months of an 18-year sentence in a Union County Prison Camp.

A parttime textile worker, Martin was arrested in February, 1968, following a huge manhunt set off by an anonymous phone call to Gaffney Ledger Managing Editor Bill Gibbons.

The caller told Gibbons, "If they don't catch me there will be more deaths," and described the locations of the bodies of Mrs. Parris and the Rhinehart girl. The caller also confessed to Gibbons that he had killed Mrs. Dedmond.

Martin was given a psychiatric examination after his arrest and was declared sane. While awaiting trial, in custody at Central Institution, he made a half-hearted attempt at suicide by pulling a slat from his bed and scratching his arm.

Georgia authorities also questioned Martin in connection with the disappearance of Mrs. Mary Shotwell Little from Atlanta in 1965. They were unable to establish any connection between her disappearance and the Cherokee County slayings.

Taylor Endorsed By Mrs. Harper

Mrs. Lindsay W. Bowen, Pitt County chairman for Margaret Harper in the May 6 primary today announced her support for Pat Taylor for Governor.

Mrs. Harper was an unsuccessful candidate for lieutenant governor in the May primary.

Mrs. Bowen who teaches in the English Department at East Carolina University, said, "After careful deliberation, I believe Pat Taylor is the best qualified candidate and will do the most for ECU and Eastern North Carolina, and I urge all former Margaret Harper supporters to vote Taylor on June 3."

Where Russell Secrest and his opponent stand on the important issues in the race for Commissioner of Insurance.

| Russell Secrest | | John Ingram |
|---|---|---|
| Will fight for a constitutionally sound, modified no-fault auto insurance system because recent reports from Massachusetts and Florida show that no-fault has reduced rates in those states and will be in the best interest of all North Carolina motorists. | No-Fault Insurance. | Opposes a no-fault insurance plan. |
| Will use the authority of the commissioner's office to force companies to provide voluntary coverage for older people, younger people—all drivers with a reasonable driving record; will also force companies to remove those drivers from the assigned risk plan who do not belong there. | The Assigned Risk Plan. | Would seek to abolish the assigned risk plan, leaving hundreds of thousands of motorists with no liability insurance and therefore unable to drive their cars. |
| Would use the authority of the commissioner's office to appoint a special study committee to investigate the high cost of hospital and medical insurance because he feels strongly that the people must be able to purchase health insurance at a reasonable price. | Hospital and Medical Insurance. | No position. |
| Would use the resources of the Insurance Commissioner's office to strengthen these invaluable training programs that protect the lives and safety of thousands of North Carolinians. | Firemen and Rescue Squad Training Programs. | No position. |
| Would install a toll free telephone so that every citizen could communicate directly with the Insurance Commissioner on any insurance problems he may have. | Consumer Protection. | No position. |
| Would oppose any effort to increase the premium tax on insurance policies since such taxes are paid by the consumer. | Life Insurance. | No position. |

This comparison shows clearly that Russell Secrest is the only candidate with a positive program to deal with all the insurance needs of North Carolina. This comparison also shows that his opponent does not have a program, but is merely seeking to win on a single, irresponsible promise.

Russell Secrest can offer a positive program for our insurance needs because he is the most experienced candidate. Most of his 16 years in the Department of Insurance were spent policing insurance agencies, making them toe the mark, putting them out of business when they did not, and reprimanding insurance companies when they did not act in the public interest.

Russell Secrest is the only candidate who will bring reasonable, responsible leadership to the Insurance Department. Please vote for him on June 3rd.

Grandmas In Active Mood

LUFKIN, Tex. (UPI)—The only thing a bunch of old grandmothers can do is sit and rock and bake apple pies, right?

Wrong. The grandmothers in this eastern Texas city, who grew tired of paying dues to finance banquets for a national organization, have struck a blow for "Grandmas' Lib."

The women, who range in age from 60 to 87, have turned idealistic rhetoric into positive action, financing construction of a swimming pool and a $1,000 safety fence at the Lufkin State School for the Mentally Retarded.

Two of the grandmothers went to a Lufkin bank and borrowed $300 on a personal note to make a down payment on the safety fence. The women's husbands assumed they would end up paying the note, but the wives paid the 90-day obligation in less than a month.

There are other projects, some of them "grandmotherly." The women make and sell needle holders, afghans, quilts and even provide a taxi service.

"This is the only thing that's held us together," said Mrs. E.O. Brumble, Lufkin's Grandmother of the Year. "If we did not help people with our projects, most of us would have quit and got into an organization that did."

Last year the grandmothers learned of a Lufkin woman who was confined to a Houston hospital with a terminal illness. The woman sometimes had to spend two hours on a stretcher before a nurse was available to lift her to a bed after treatment.

The Lufkin grandmothers underwrote the expense of a private nurse for the woman.

The Worry Clinic

Racketeering In Textbooks

Terence exposes a widespread type of racketeering by some college professors. And there must be many of them for notice the 600 members of the American Psychological Association who browbeat the Northwestern University Press. Is it any wonder teen-age morality has waned?

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph.D., M.D.

Case T-592: Terence Y., aged 32, operates a College Book Store.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "I wish you'd expose a textbook racket that probably occurs in every college town.

"As you know, new texts are usually announced by direct mail advertising to the professors throughout America.

"Professors are invited to send for an examination copy.

"Usually, a 14-day time limit is alloted to them, after which they are to return the book if it doesn't seem suited for use by their students as a classroom text.

"However, if a professor adopts the book, he is entitled to that examination copy as a free gift.

"But if he doesn't adopt and wishes to keep the book for his personal use, he is supposed to pay for it, after the 14-day free examination period.

"But here's how a lot of professors become textbook racketeers.

"A certain psychology professor at our university orders exam copies of almost every new text that is published.

"Thus, he will even request books on Economics, Chemistry, Political Science and other unrelated fields.

"Obviously, many of these are totally unsuited to use as the basic classroom psychology texts that his students are to purchase.

"And after the usual 14-day free examination period, he neither adopts, nor returns the book nor even pays for it at the usual 15 per cent teacher's discount.

"No; he just retains all those books, figuring the publishers will not dare make a fuss over the $10 he owes for any single text, lest he 'bad mouth' that publisher among all the other departments of the university.

"This is not only dishonest but really should be called professional 'blackmail' that is widespread throughout America.

"But what is worse, many of these crooked professors then use similar 'blackmail' on us who operate book stores.

"For example, this local psychology professor came into my store one morning last week with 47 brand new textbooks in a dozen different fields.

"He demanded that I buy them from him at wholesale rates, intimating that if I didn't do so, he'd steer all his students to the rival bookstore to purchase their classroom texts.

"Well, he has over 250 students, so that means I'd lose maybe $2,500 in retail sales, for textbooks now average over $10 apiece.

"Well, I detested the idea and despised him for his cheating.

"But he had me over a barrel!

"So I paid this racketeering professor $312.75 for his 47 new texts!"

Racketeering Professors

This racketeering by crooked college professors is widespread.

The Northwestern University Press thus reported to me that over 600 members of the America Psychological Association had thus ordered exam copies of my college textbook, "Psychology Applied," but then failed to pay for them or adopt or return them!

Luckily, that text has gained over 1,200 bona fide classroom adoptions from the honest professors!

Wants Teachers Live In Slums

MANILA (UPI)—An education researcher has proposed that teachers should live in slum districts where they are assigned to teach so they will learn to care for the slum and its dwellers.

Mrs. Miguela C. Alarcon, who earned her doctor of education degree by writing an in-depth study on Magsaysay Village, one of Manila's slum districts, said in her dissertation that many teachers are not giving their best efforts in their slum teaching jobs because they are not part of the community.

Oakland Police 'Talk In Beeps'

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—The police here have been computerized, "talking" in beeps while headquarters electronically plots the movement of patrol cars in big-brother style.

Twenty-eight of the city's police patrol cars have been fitted with electronic gadgets that transmit the vehicle's location, what's happening, and other messages to a master control—all in less than two seconds.

Floral Outlays RemainConstant

CHICAGO (UPI) —Come boom or bust the percentage of income Americans spend for flowers stays about the same.

Since 1909, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica, the per capita purchase of flowers has been about one-quarter of a cent per dollar of expendable income. Thus in recent years florists' sales have surpassed $700 million annually.

Jonas Supports Jim Holshouser

RALEIGH (AP) — Congressman Charles Jonas has sent a letter of support and a contribution to Jim Holshouser for his campaign against Jim Gardner for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Holshouser headquarters in Raleigh released Jonas' letter Wednesday.

Jonas said, "I have told everyone who asked my advice that I believe our chances for victory in November...would be enhanced by a balanced ticket."

Holshouser has used the idea of a "balanced ticket" as a theme in his second primary campaign against Gardner. He refers to a GOP ticket consisting of him and Jesse Helms, the GOP nominee for the U.S. Senate. Helms is from Raleigh and has strong support in the East, and Holshouser is from Boone in the West.

Casals Missed Opening Program

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — Pablo Casals missed the opening of the 1972 Casals Festival of Music. He is suffering a cold.

A spokesman for the annual musical gathering told a capacity audience of 2,050 at the University of Puerto Rico auditorium on Wednesday that the 95-year-old cellist was expected to be on hand Friday night.

Casals was reported resting at home.

NORTH CAROLINA AND TOBACCO

North Carolina produces about 43% of all the tobacco grown in this country. And 69% of all Flue-cured Tobacco.

Farmers received $576 million for the tobacco they grew in 1970, which was two-thirds of all cash crop receipts.

Tobacco is grown in more than 90 of the 100 counties in the State, and approximately 300000 people are engaged in producing it.

The value of all tobacco products produced in North Carolina totals well over $3.2 billion per year.

Over 36000 North Carolinians are employed in the manufacturing, marketing, and processing of leaf tobacco.

They received over $221 million in wages and salaries.

Total farm receipts plus wages and salaries for people working in tobacco—$787 million.

Tobacco exports comprise over 57% of all exports from this State, more than all other manufactured goods and agricultural products combined.

SENATOR JORDAN AND TOBACCO

Senator Jordan is TOBACCO'S Spokesman in the United States Senate!!!

Senator Jordan is the Third Ranking Member on the Senate Agriculture Committee.

Senator Jordan is Chairman of the Sub-committee that handles all legislation on TOBACCO, PEANUTS, COTTON, CORN, WHEAT, AND OTHER CROPS.

Senator Talmadge, Chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee Had the Following to Say About SENATOR JORDAN:

"I wish to express my appreciation for the effective behind-the-scene work you did to defeat the Moss amendment to the Department of Agriculture's appropriations bill.

"I was extremely pleased with our overwhelming victory in defeating this vicious amendment, for it would have destroyed our tobacco program and the honest God-fearing people who participate in that program. The amendment would have literally confiscated tobacco farmer's property by government fiat and it would have made paupers out of tobacco farmers in Georgia, North Carolina and other states.

"In large part, our margin of victory is attributable to your persuasive work with other Senators. Your powers of persuasion with your colleagues in the Senate are unsurpassed because of your position as chairman of the Committee on Rules and Administration.

"I know that the farmers of the nation can depend on you to use the full measure of your influence and prestige in the Senate to defeat the growing attacks on our farmer's pocketbooks."
