Political Shake-Ups Result In Primaries

PTI Funds Approved By Pitt Board

Funds were approved by the Board of County Commissioners this morning to add an elevator, additional air conditioning and two restrooms to serve the third floor of the new classroom building at Pitt Technical Institute.

Commissioners approved appropriating an additional $13,259 over what funds are currently available in the PTI budget to finance the $45,147 project that includes installing an elevator, restrooms and additional air conditioning to serve the third-floor library in the school's newest building.

Commissioners were told that about $14,400 of the $45,147 would be funded by the state.

The county board also appropriated $2,966.60 from surplus to help pay for utilities at the school for the remainder of the fiscal year.

PTI trustees chairman Vernon White told commissioners utilities at the school would cost an estimated $4,100 more than had been appropriated due to increases in utility rates during the past year. Other money to defray the increase utility costs was transferred from other PTI budget line items.

The county board also approved the transfer of about $5,900 to defer added costs incurred by the Board of Elections over the past several months.

The additional funds were needed, according to elections board chairman J. B. Spilman, to pay costs of a meeting required by state law of registrars and judges prior to the May primary (71,300); fund a meeting on absentee ballots ($400); pay for registering voters outside the Board of Elections office prior to the May primary ($1,100); and defray expenses caused by the second primary.

In other business, commissioners this morning heard reports from various county departments and agencies.

Solicitor Has Not Yet Received Probe Reports

Eli Bloom, Solicitor for the Third Judicial District of North Carolina, this morning said "I have not yet received the investigative report on Mr. Tripp and cannot therefore make any comment at this time."

Bloom was contacted in Beaufort, where he will be for the remainder of the week in connection with cases being heard in the Craven County Superior Court.

RALEIGH (AP) — Old-line party favorites were brushed aside by North Carolina Democrats in Saturday's runoff primaries as Rep. Nick Galifianakis won nomination to the U.S. Senate and Hargrove "Skipper" Bowles received the nomination for governor.

State Rep. Jim Holshouser of Boone, who had the backing of old-guard Republicans, won the GOP nomination in a hotly contested runoff with hamburger king Jim Gardner of Rocky Mount.

Galifianakis, a first-generation Greek American from Durham, unseated incumbent Sen. B. Everett Jordan in an election he said showed that North Carolina voters "wanted to move to a better tomorrow, rather than backwards to a rerun of the past."

A three-term congressman, Galifianakis received 334,426 votes from "blacks and whites, east and west, urban and rural" while Jordan had 268,558. It was the first serious opposition Jordan, 75, had had since being appointed to the Senate in 1958.

Galifianakis, 43, will face Raleigh broadcast executive Jesse Helms in the November general election. Helms won the Republican nomination May 6.

Bowles, a 52-year-old millionaire from Greensboro, topped the candidacy of Lt. Gov. Pat Taylor as he carried the populous, vote-heavy counties of the Piedmont as well as much of the East.

"I think the people of North Carolina have shouted from the rooftops they want a change," said Bowles, who had backed the administration of Gov. Bob Scott and the political traditions associated with it.

Bowles outpolled Taylor 335,797 to 281,798.

Holshouser, runner-up in the first primary four weeks ago, smashed Gardner's dream of a second nomination with a victory margin of 1,564 votes—69,417 to 67,853.

"We'll be getting under way right away to make sure the party stands united," Holshouser said Sunday.

Holshouser, a 37-year-old Boone attorney, said he was "confident that the great, great majority of the people who didn't work for us in the primary will be there this fall."

Gardner, 39, said the defeat meant he would "leave the political arena." A former congressman, Gardner won the nomination in 1968 but lost to Scott in the general election.

In other runoffs Fayetteville attorney Charles Rose III won the Democratic nomination for the 7th Congressional District seat by beating veteran legislator Hector McGeachy 31,577 to 25,258.

State Rep. Ike Andrews of Siler City captured the Democratic nomination for the 4th Congressional District by topping state Sen. Jyles Coggins of Raleigh 35,603 to 32,705.

Rose will face Republican Jerry Scott of Whiteville and American party nominee Alvis H. Ballard of Wilmington in the general election. Andrews will be opposed by Republican Jack Hawke of Raleigh.

Bowles, who ran on a promise of no new taxes, renewed his pledge in claiming victory. "We can run this state and we can run it well without putting any further burden of taxation of any kind on anybody in this state," the former state senator said.

Taylor, a 47-year-old Wadesboro attorney and the state's last part-time lieutenant governor. (Continued on page 8)

Rouse Is Out

RALEIGH (AP) — The Republican nominee for governor, Jim Holshouser says the party probably will want to replace its state chairman, Frank Rouse, who left his post to campaign against Holshouser in Saturday's runoff.

"I expect that we'll want someone who is in a position to bring unity to the party and I think that, under the circumstances, that will require Mrs. (Grace) Rohrer to stay on or we'll select someone else," Holshouser said Sunday.

Holshouser defeated Jim Gardner in the runoff, winning the nomination by less than 1,600 votes. Rouse had taken an unprecedented action in dropping the traditional cloak of neutrality and jumping into the campaign on behalf of Gardner.

Mrs. Rohrer, the party vice chairman, took over as acting chairman when Rouse joined Gardner's campaign. She said then that if the party should decide to replace Rouse, she would not be eligible to take the chairmanship since she is the GOP nominee for secretary of state.

use on highway projects in the Greenville area.

The investigative reports mentioned by Governor Scott are those relating to the allegations made by the News and Observer. Scott pointed out the attorney general's investigation "rightly do not state guilt or innocence but only the facts involved," and that they were being submitted to the respective solicitors having jurisdiction.

Tripp was out of town this morning and not available for comment on his resignation.

Miss Pam Moye Weds Sunday Afternoon

The wedding of Miss Pam Moye, daughter of Mr. H. B. Moye of Washington, D.C., and Mrs. J. G. White of Windsor, to Michael Julius Kachmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kachmer of Greenville, was solemnized Sunday at 2:00 p.m. in the Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church.

The Rev. Troy Barrett and the Rev. Bronson Matney officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Paul Toll, organist, furnished the wedding music for the ceremony.

The chapel was decorated with green and white. In the background was a communion table with a cross and single candleholders, flanked with tall standards of greenery. At the altar was a profile prie-dieu where the ceremony took place and the couple knelt facing each other for the closing prayer and benediction. Tall pyramidal candelabras preceded the altar. These were designed with bouquets of white mums and pom poms between the 20 lighted candles. Pews were marked with white satin bows.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a full length gown of white silk organza. The bodice was designed with a high neckline with lace edge trim. Cluny lace was featured on the empore waist front and back with long gathered slightly puffed sleeves fitted at the wrist, softly gathered skirt accenting lace trim at the bottom of the skirt falling into a full cathedral train in the back with lace trim. The bride carried a full cascade tapered bouquet of phalaenopsis and white orchids with yellow sweetheart roses tied with a yellow and white bow with long streamers.

Mrs. Arlene Guenther Winston-Salem was matron of honor. She wore a maise dotted swiss sleeveless dress, embellished with white medallions styled with high Venise lace neckline and square yoke accented with laced ribbon embroidered with flowers. The waistline was enhanced with a wide crushed belt. She wore a solid maise bow in her hair.

The matron of honor carried a nosegay of summer flowers, consisting of lavender, fuchsia and yellow miniature carnations, yellow and white daisies in a cloud of white baby's breath tied with summer green velvet with hem length streamers.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Julie Walker of Winston-Salem and Mrs. Willie M. Rhinehardt of Charlotte. They wore dresses identical to that of the matron of honors and their bouquets wre also fashioned after the matron of honor's.

The bridegroom's father served as best man. Ushers were Allan Moye of Windsor, brother of the bride, Edwin Hice of Greenville, and Gene Berry of Durham.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. White wore a light blue suit with long coat and matching accessories.

Mrs. Kachmer, mother of the bridegroom, wore a pink suit with short jacket fitted at the waist and matching accessories. Both mothers wore white orchid corsages.

The bride is a graduate of ECU and is employed by North Carolina National Bank, Greenville. The bridegroom, also a graduate of ECU, is employed by U. S. Industries, Farmville, as personnel director.

Reception

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at Brook Valley Country Club. The refreshments table was covered with bridal white satin cloth and centered with an arrangement of yellow and white snapdragons designed in a five branched silver candelabra.

The bride's table was covered with white satin centered with a decorated cake knife and toast glasses flanked with arrangement of yellow and white daisies.

The rehearsal dinner was held at the Holiday Inn on Saturday night preceding the rehearsal. Afterwards a cake cutting was held at the home of Mrs. Mike Kachmer.

Engagement Announced

Mr. Garland Rogers and Mrs. Mildred Rawls of Robersonville announce the engagement of their daughter, Janie Lou, to Leslie Rhodes Speller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leslie Speller of Williamston. The wedding will take place June 25.

Diploma Is The Starting Point

Thousands of graduates are receiving their diplomas at Rose High, Pitt County Schools, Greene and Martin County schools, East Carolina University, and Pitt Tech.

Whether the graduation is on the high school or the college level it is a once-in-a-lifetime experience for the young men and women who have successfully completed their courses.

They have now begun new lives with many of the high school graduates going on to college, others taking up careers in business and still others going on to military service.

For the college graduate there is a new problem that did not exist even a few years back. It is more difficult to find a position now in a number of fields. Hopefully this will be only a temporary problem and certainly today's college graduates can look forward to developments which will open entirely new fields of endeavor during their lifetimes.

That brings us to the thought that getting educated is a lifetime process. Finishing high school or college does not complete our learning. It merely gives us a basis for continuing to acquire knowledge.

As each of us moves into a life's work we find that we must continue to study and grow, sometimes by attending more classes and seminars, sometimes by learning on the job.

This has always been true, but with the fast changing world in which we live, with the onrushing technology which is engulfing us it is going to be even more important that our young people graduating now make an even greater effort to keep up with the knowledge explosion.

With all the problems, it is a challenging and exciting world which these new graduates face. There are ample opportunities for satisfying careers. It is a good time to be a graduate.

Aims To Build Jaycee 'Image'

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH. — Fred Morrison is the Jaycee type. He's bright-eyed, under 35, and full of ideas for improving things.

He's also the newly-elected president of the North Carolina Jaycees, an organization of 240 chapters and 11,700 members.

Morrison, red-haired and energetic, is legal counsel to Gov. Bob Scott. He lives the involvement in politics and government that he talks about for Jaycees.

His goal is to give the organization an achievement image, to show it can make things happen for good causes such as prison and juvenile correction reform, mental health and drug abuse.

The public doesn't always get that picture, he admitted. The usual view is that Jaycees are smart young men on the make, a gang that goes for parties and having a wild time at state and national meetings.

Somebody summed it up by describing Jaycees as "youthful strivers with Middle American enthusiasm for beauty pageants, Mother's Day corsages, and business success."

"That won't fit the North Carolina Jaycees this year if I have anything to do with it," Morrison declared.

Image Affects Future

Public image is important for the future of Jaycees, he said, because it will determine whether there is growth or stagnation. "We can have prospective members coming to us if we hold out the image of a vibrant organization that gets things done, things that mean service to people," he argued.

Government is where the action is that touches the most people. To get into the action, Morrison proposes creation of a Jaycee Task Force which would lend the resources of the organization to state and local officials for assistance on worthwhile projects.

Coordination can save duplication and concentrate efforts. He advocates establishment of Civic Action Councils, composed of presidents of all civic clubs to get things done without wasted energy Jaycees could take the lead in their communities, he said.

Up Through the Ranks

Morrison, born in Tennessee, moved to the top of the heap through eight years of Jaycee activity. He joined in Thomasville where he settled to practice after earning his law degree at Wake Forest University.

He's been president of the Thomasville chapter, a state vice president, legal counsel to the state organization, and for the past two years served as co-chairman for the Governor's Prayer Breakfast and Jaycees Day in the Legislature.

He met his boss at a Jaycee function. Scott, a charter member of the Haw River Jaycees, brought Morrison to Raleigh at the start of his term.

As legal counsel, Morrison handles matters relating to the quasijudicial state agencies and other duties delegated by the governor. He's been in the thick of the prison reform movement, serving on the bar association study committee as well as the Jaycees commission on the subject.

Loose On Plans

Morrison said he's staying loose on plans when Scott's term ends next January. "Whatever I do, it won't interfere with serving as president of the North Carolina Jaycees," he promised.

The Superior Court bench is a good possibility. Gov. Scott has left open an appointment as a special judge. There is speculation he intends to name Morrison to fill it.

Why should anyone join the Jaycees?

"Because it gives an opportunity to develop leadership ability and gain experience in decision-making," replied the state president. "As a member of a group, among your peers, you can accomplish more than you could ever do on your own."

Age, between 21 and 35, is the only qualification. That may be lowered to 18 this summer. Since the legal age has dropped from 21 to 18, it would be a logical step, Morrison explained.

An aspect of image that needs to be changed is the view that all Jaycees are junior executives and middle-income young men, Morrison said. He promised efforts to reduce costs through more efficient operation and fewer weekend meetings. "We simply cannot continue to price Jaycees out of our organization," he said.

All The Violence Has Not Brought Solutions

Everyday, news of tragedies come from the trouble spots of the world, and so often innocent people are the ones who die.

Last week 25 persons were killed and 78 injured as terrorists opened fire in Israel's international airport. In Ireland, people die in pub explosions and of course the civilian deaths in Vietnam are well known.

Society should learn that wars and violence settle nothing. Differences should be settled around the negotiating table, not by the deaths of innocent people.

An Albatross For Mc Govern

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK
LOS ANGELES

Anticipating a nomination-clinching victory in Tuesday's California primary, the old pros who have infiltrated Sen. George McGovern's new politics campaign want to quietly jettison his radical, politically self-destructive socio-economic policies once he is the party's nominee.

McGovern's daring new blueprint to remake America would not be repudiated but merely superseded by a far less radical Democratic national platform adopted by the Miami Beach convention. Such a quiet transition, these McGovern old pros hope, will move toward their goal: to soothe the established leaders of the Democratic party, attacked all year long from one end of the country to the other by George McGovern — a goal of reconciliation deeply resented and opposed by McGovern's army of ideologically rigid activists.

The desperate last-ditch California campaign by Sen. Hubert Humphrey has underlined the political folly in the radical policy positions taken by McGovern earlier this year and ignored until quite recently. While claiming Humphrey's attacks are too strident to be effective, McGovern's old pros privately admit McGovern's policies constitute an albatross which must be shed soon if he is to have a chance against President Nixon.

The ultimate choice is up to McGovern, who more than most candidates is his own campaign manager. Part pragmatic politician and part left ideologue, McGovern must risk either becoming the Goldwater of the left or alienating his hard-core support. Politicians who know him best believe he would choose the risks of pragmatism as less menacing than the risks of ideology.

Of critical importance is Humphrey's attack on McGovern's radicalism coinciding with the sudden emergence inside the McGovern campaign of a few older, more conventional politicians well-known in the Kennedy political apparatus. Frederick G. Dutton, a 15-year veteran of big-time California politics and Robert F. Kennedy's influential traveling companion in 1968, began playing a similar role for McGovern here. Don O'Brien, a Kennedyite politician from Iowa, has arrived to run the southern California campaign. Lt. Gov. William Dougherty of South Dakota, another long-time Kennedyite, is emerging as McGovern's most intimate adviser.

These and other old pros are bitterly resented as bandwagon-jumpers by McGovern zealots — particularly young middle-level staffers — who endured the long, dark days of 1971. In response, the old pros view the vaunted McGovern organization as a flimsy concoction of media publicity with numerous flaws. The lavishly praised system of door-to-door canvassing, begun in New Hampshire, in their opinion, is scarcely applicable to California and not at all to a nationwide campaign.

In sum, the old pros believe the secret of McGovern's phenomenal rise is a vacuum demanding a new face. But his rise will stop, they feel, if McGovern is perceived against Mr. Nixon as not merely a fresh face but a radical.

To prevent this, Dutton and Dougherty are quietly working with established party leaders throughout the country to convince them that McGovern, their sworn enemy, really has no horns. Dougherty plans a pre-convention McGovern trip into Southern and Border states and makes telephone

Strength For Today

IN PROPER HARMONY
"Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven."

A great scholar who has recently written a book on the Lord's Prayer says of these words that they indicate how "we must bring our praying lives into harmony with eternal."

Our lives are fluid, restless, continually changing. The power of God and the moral principle supporting this power are eternal. Our changeable lives lie within the cradle of eternal principles. Or, to change the figure, our restless existence constantly operates within a circle of principles and powers which rise above time and human limitations. The eternal order of God has always existed. It is now and ever shall be, world without end.

The assurance which above all others our souls need and desire is security. There is no security in the life of this world, but there is security in the eternal rule of God. Men and women of faith live their lives within the protection of this eternal rule. They are sure nothing can overwhelm them because they rest in the hollow of a hand in which abides all power. They move in a realm where there is neither time nor any human limitation.

This is sometimes called the kingdom of God. It is the vast eternal order. Faith enables us to bring our passing lives into harmony with the eternal.

A 'New Humphrey', Too

WASHINGTON — We always knew there was an "Old Nixon" and a "New Nixon," but very few people were aware that there was an "Old Humphrey" and a "New Humphrey" — that is, until the California Democratic primary campaign.

The other day the Old Humphrey was waiting in his hotel suite for the New Humphrey to come back from his debate with Sen. George McGovern.

The New Humphrey swept in with his advisers, exhilarated and slightly out of breath.

"Well, how did I do?" the New Humphrey asked. "Okay, I guess," the Old Humphrey replied, "but I thought you were kind of mean to George. After all, he was one of your best friends in the Senate."

"That's easy for you to say," the New Humphrey replied angrily. "But this is a fight to the finish, and nice guys finish last."

"But," the Old Humphrey said, "you look slightly hysterical swinging out the way you're doing it. You're going to make people afraid of you."

"Look who's talking!" the New Humphrey said to his advisers. "He blew the whole thing in 1968, and now he's telling me how to run my campaign."

"That's not fair," the Old Humphrey said. "I didn't blow it. No one who was nominated could have recovered from the Democratic convention in Chicago."

"Baloney," the New Humphrey sneered. "You were Mr. Nice Guy, trying to please everyone. You were for the Vietnamese war, and you were against the Vietnamese war. You defended Johnson's policies, and you attacked Johnson's policies."

"Wishy-Washy Hubert. That's what you were, and that's why you lost. Well, I'm going to tell you one thing, brother. I may lose, but at least people know where I stand."

"Where do you stand?" the Old Humphrey asked.

"I'm against the war in Vietnam. I've always been against the war, except for the times I spoke out in favor of it. And I'm for a strong defense budget with lots of muscle but against fat. And I'm for the workingman—yes sir, that's who I'm for — the little guy."

"I was for the little guy, too," the Old Humphrey said defensively. "I was for the little guy before you knew there was a little guy. Just look at my record. As a senator, I was responsible for some of the most progressive legislation of our time. And I did more for the workingman than any Vice President in history. Where do you and I differ?"

"You smiled too much," the New Humphrey said. "And you talked too long. Nobody wants a President who smiles and talks all the time."

"People liked me," the Old Humphrey said.

"Of course they liked you," the New Humphrey said. "You were a patsy. We're in an age of new politics, Hubert. You have to be tough and strong and virile. Look at all the gray in your hair. Now look at my hair. The young people identify with me."

"Muriel likes me the way I am," the Old Humphrey said.

"Hubert, baby," the New Humphrey said, "everyone likes you. I like you. You like him, don't you fellows?"

All the advisers chorused: "We like you, Hubert."

"But being liked," the New Humphrey said "is not going to beat George McGovern in California. I have to make the voters out here believe George is a wild-eyed leftist who is going to

Learn It All By Mail

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail: Did you make more than 779 local and long-distance phone calls last year? Then you were above the national average, that is, if every man, woman and child used the phone equally. But of course 779 calls represents only a busy weekend for a hyperactive teen-ager.

HAL BOYLE

One of the things that makes department store owners glum is the estimate by store detectives that one out of every 16 customers is a shoplifter.

Malnutrition in the elderly, caused by eating too much sugar and other empty calorie foods, often leads to alcoholism. "Let no more than 10 per cent of the calories you consume day by day be 'naked' or 'empty' calories," warns University of Texas biochemist Dr. Roger J. Williams. "If 90 per cent of the calories one consumes are in the form of wholesome food, malnutrition will never become a rule of life, and individuals will never pass through the 'period of preparation' (drinking) which is the sine qua non of becoming an alcoholic."

Quotable notables: "Science without religion is lame; religion without science is blind." — Albert Einstein.

Rebirth: Figuratively speaking, it is possible for the meek, self-effacing middle-age man to turn himself into a tiger. The answer is physical fitness. Tests by a Purdue University research team found that after four months of physical conditioning middle-age men tended to improve their personalities by becoming more self-confident, extroverted and emotionally stable.

Worth remembering: "These days the girls don't marry a man to reform him. They simply want to get in on the fun themselves."

Will the good new days ahead be as good as the good old days before? Well, it will take more money to pay for them if they are. Economic forecasters predict that a man who made $10,000 a year in 1970 will have to earn nearly $60,000 to live as well in the year 2000. Better start rolling up your sleeves now.

Folklore: If you cut your nails on Saturday, you'll go on a journey soon. Don't hire a maid on Friday—you'll both argue. A ship will have good weather if it sails on Sunday. Wednesday is the best day to launch a new business, but Tuesday is a good day for that purpose, too. Don't move into a new house on Monday. Thursday has only one lucky hour, the one before the sun rises.

It was Bertrand Russell who observed, "To be without some of the things you want is an indispensable part of happiness."

Prices Should Please Farmers

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Good news about prices is rare today, for in defiance of all the powers of the land, those prices seem to have a plan and a course of their own.

Farmers will be happy because the prices they receive have been rising in recent weeks. And the highly regarded Wharton School economists might foresee a drop in the inflation rate for the remainder of the year.

For the most part, however, there is growing distress about this economic virus which apparently accommodates itself, like the flu, to man's most sophisticated defenses.

Perhaps the most significant comment on the situation was delivered in two words by Dr.

Herbert Stein, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers. It's "a problem" he said.

This seemingly meaningless comment followed announcement that wholesale food prices had resumed their climb in May, by six-tenths of a percent, or five-tenths of a percent on a seasonal basis, or about 6 per cent on an annual basis.

But not to be forgotten is that this is the same man who, when presented during previous months with the most discouraging economic reports almost always responded by saying he was encouraged.

Now, however, there is a sense among ordinary Americans that time is running out—that results of the economic controls, if they were to come with any significance, would be here by now. But few signs are apparent.

Instead, Americans are asked to have faith that in the future price rises will indeed begin to moderate. But to maintain that faith, one must ignore the natural sequence of higher retail prices following higher wholesale prices.

Those who operate the computer models of the economy or who otherwise involve themselves in scientific analysis claim they do not have to rely on faith. They insist that the numbers forecast a cooloff.

At Wharton, for example, they believe the inflation rate for the remainder of the year should be about 3.6 per cent, "and it is a long time since the American economy has moved in that range."

The freeze has been over for more than six months now and results are disappointing. A strong impact had been hoped for within four months.

Ironically, there does seem to be a broad consensus among professional economists that, except for inflation and an equally stubborn 5.9 per cent jobless rate, the economy is booming.

But even Wharton, while optimistic about prices for the rest of the year, sees a possible resurgence of inflation to 4 per cent by the end of 1973.

In fact, it even hedges its forecast with the suggestion that price rises might be so unsatisfactory as to call for stronger controls.

There is, it appears, something mysterious, something still inadequately understood about the inflation virus. That much may be assumed when Stein admits to "a problem."

Lack of funeral is no cause to mourn

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Recently a dear friend passed away, having requested no funeral services whatsoever. She did this in order to spare the family and friends the stress of a funeral. To me that was the height of unselfishness, and an expression of real love.

Funeral services may be a comfort to some, but the full treatment usually makes the final farewells far more painful than comforting. Any method of reducing such pain is a gift of love to those left behind, and the one who plans ahead in this way is to be commended. NO MOURNER

DEAR NO: I have been privileged to know only one such unselfish person. She was a beautiful newspaper woman, and her name was Maggie Savoy.

DEAR ABBY: I agree wholeheartedly with the person who wants no funeral. I have arranged for a private church service before the notice of my demise goes into the paper. Life has been good to me, and my wonderful friends need not take time out to attend my funeral. I would rather have them go about their business and think kindly of me.

I never send flowers to a funeral. I donate a book to the library instead. But lest you think I am depriving the florists of business, be assured that I am a steady customer because I believe in giving flowers to the living.

J. N. N.: OKLAHOMA CITY

DEAR ABBY: This is for M. M. B. of Greenwood, S. C., who says that she is not going to attend her own funeral.

Well, I am sorry to inform you, but this is impossible. If there is one thing in life we cannot get out of, it's attending our own funeral. Even if the body could be taken out to the city dump and burned, it is still a funeral.

I agree, grief is no fun, and no one goes looking for it, but death is a fact of life, and to try to run it under the rug is decidedly unhealthy.

To deny our loved ones the opportunity to pay their last respects at our funeral shows a lack of consideration for them.

When someone you love leaves town, do you go to the airport to bid him a fond farewell? Or do you call on the telephone and leave a message?

THE REV. J. P. G. IN CLEVELAND

DEAR ABBY: Mrs. M. M. B. of Greenwood, S. C., indicated that she would like to hear from others relative to her ideas on her funeral. I wonder if she has ever thought of the gift of sight to two blind persons by her donating her eyes; the gift of health and even life to two persons who need a kidney each; the gift of normal growth to doomed children who are in need of serum from the pituitary glands of donors.

It is possible for anyone to perform such miracles after death by getting in touch with the local eye bank or Lion's Club, the National Kidney Foundation, 116 E. 27th St., New York, N. Y. 10016, the Human Growth Foundation, 307 Fifth Ave., New York, N. Y. 10016.

CHARLOTTE R.

DEAR ABBY: I am going to go Mrs. M. M. B. one better—I am not going to my own funeral, and neither is anyone else! I have made arrangements with the San Diego Memorial Society to cremate my remains and scatter the ashes over the ocean. (It's now legal.)

There will be no services for me, but later, if and when my family wish to gather to recall the happy times we had together—and offer their prayers for the living—it's up to them.

Won Race On Auto Insurance Reform

By NOEL YANCEY
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH (AP) — A young Asheboro lawyer who sports vividly colored clothes and stylishly long hair is the Democratic nominee for state insurance commissioner.

State Rep. John Ingram, who says he wants to reform the auto insurance setup in North Carolina, won the nomination in Saturday's runoff primary by defeating Russell Secrest of Cary, a former deputy insurance commissioner.

In another Council of State race Saturday, W.C. "Billy" Creel, longtime safety coordinator in the State Department of Labor, defeated a young Raleigh attorney John Brooks.

Ingram defeated Secrest 282,204 to 272,275 and Creel outpolled Brooks 297,010 to 253,242.

Ingram will be matched against Republican L.W. "Bud" Douglass, an insurance agent at Maiden, in the November general election and Creel will go against Frederick R. Weber of Lumber Bridge, a retired Army colonel who is director of placement at Pembroke State University.

Ingram, 43, made auto insurance reform his platform when he campaigned for the General Assembly and won election in normally Republican Randolph County.

Ingram spoke out loud and long on auto insurance changes in the General Assembly, but was unable to get anything done. He then got into the race for insurance commissioner, a job being vacated by Edwin C. Lanier.

The young lawyer said he would junk the present assigned risk setup and promised to increase the safe driver discount on auto insurance from 10 per cent to one-third. He said he would change the situation under which a person convicted of drunk driving can buy insurance cheaper than a young driver with a perfect record.

At the start of the campaign, Ingram voiced strong doubts about no-fault auto insurance, but he changed his tune after Secrest led him in the first primary by 161,000 to 156,000. He then said he would support a "responsible no-fault" plan that would reduce the cost of auto insurance.

Ingram accused Secrest, who had worked 14 years for the Insurance Department, with being the tool of the insurance industry.

Secrest struck back charging that Ingram was backed by a group of trial attorneys opposed to no-fault insurance.

Creel headed into the runoff campaign after leading a field of six in the first primary. He had a margin of better than 153,000 over Brooks in second place. Brooks staged something of a comeback in the runoff but it fell short. He accused Creel of being the candidate of management interests.

Avers Nixon To Visit In Ireland

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — An Irish-American industrialist says President Nixon has accepted an invitation to vacation in the Irish Republic this fall, but Florida White House spokesmen say they know nothing of such a trip.

John A. Mulcahy, who was host to the President and Mrs. Nixon during a trip to Ireland two years ago, said Sunday the Nixons would return to Ireland for two weeks in September, after the Republican National Convention.

calls to party leaders as he travels through California with McGovern. The Senator himself gets on the phone to such non-liberals as Gov. Warren Hearnes of Missouri. A McGovern peace conference with Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago is envisioned.

Beyond tours and telephone calls, however, there is the need to shed the albatross of McGovern's radical positions. The process, in fact, is underway. The remarkable full-page advertisement in the Wall Street Journal, purchased last week by McGovern to reassure worried businessmen, certainly departed from the spirit, perhaps even the substance, of his share-the-wealth nostrums.

McGovern's hard core of anti-war activists, militant minority spokesmen, student rebels and radical intellectuals is becoming restive about his nudging rightward and may grow rebellious as this movement continues. That is because McGovern's radical proposals, now clearly a political liability, compose the philosophical orthodoxy for this hard core.

But the Duttons and Doughertys are fond of stressing just how practical a politician McGovern truly is and how easy it would be for him to move toward the center. Humphrey's attack in California, though its success seems doubtful at this writing, has clearly hastened that process.

MOREHEAD CITY, N.C. (AP) — A preliminary hearing is set for June 27 in Carteret District Court for five persons, including four high school pupils, charged with a series of bombings in the area.

The five were arrested Saturday after a team of federal, state and local officers raided a house in Morehead City, and confiscated two boxes of materials used in making bombs.

Officers said that additional arrests were expected.

There have been 14 bombings and two cases of arson in the county since last July. The latest incident involved a bomb placed in a wall locker of West Carteret High School May 19 while classes were in session. Later the same day a house under construction was also damaged by bombs.

No one was hurt in either explosion. James Thomas Fields, 16, and Calvin Eugene Garner, 17, of Morehead City were charged with the destruction of the vacant house by using incendiary devices. Bond was set at $3,500 each.

Dennis Ray Wollard, 16, and Charles Jefferson Sheppard, 15, of Morehead City were charged with bombing the high school and damaging a house under construction. Their bonds were set at $13,500.

The resident of the raided house, Terry Wayne Wilson, 22, was charged with three bombings involving two houses and Canada banned fishing in Lake Erie March 31, 1970.

No Disagreements Among Jurors Of Angela Davis

ANGELA DAVIS

By EDITH LEDERER
Associated Press Writer
SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — The jurors who acquitted Angela Davis on murder-kidnap-conspiracy charges had no major disagreements on her innocence from the start of their deliberations, the forewoman said.

Mary Timothy revealed the lack of discord while attending a festive party celebrating Sunday's verdict. A Mexican-American on the jury said he related to defense arguments about the persecution of blacks.

Another source said the all-white jury voted at least three times before handing in its verdict. On the first ballot, taken Friday afternoon shortly after they began deliberating, the jurors voted nine for acquittal and three undecided. There were no votes for conviction during the balloting, the source said.

Hysterical sobs of joy intermingled with shrieks of happiness in the courtroom when the verdict was returned.

Miss Davis wept quietly, tears streaming down her cheeks.

She was found innocent of engineering the bloody Aug. 7, 1970, Marin County courthouse escape attempt in which a judge, two convicts and their accomplice were slain. She had spent 16 months in jail before she was freed on $102,500 bail five days before the trial began Feb. 28.

The tall, black Communist hugged and kissed members of the seven-woman, five-man jury when they met for the first time at a news conference shortly after the verdict was announced.

"This is the happiest day of my life," she told a crowd of 300 supporters outside the courthouse who had been chanting: "The power of the people—it set Angela free."

The jubilant Miss Davis declared the acquittal "a people's victory"—not a triumph for American justice.

At a private post-verdict party, the lone Mexican-American on the jury, Louis Franco, told attorneys he was moved by the defense's final arguments, which centered on persecution of blacks in America for centuries.

Franco said he related it to the problems of Mexican-Americans.

Prosecutor Albert Harris Jr., an assistant state attorney general, declined comment on the verdict.

During the private celebration at the home of friends here, Miss Davis toasted her acquittal and the jurors with champagne.

All but three of the jury members showed up at the private party, and Miss Davis told The Associated Press that the jurors received her warmly and brought along their husbands and wives to meet her.

The verdict climaxed one of the longest, costliest and most controversial criminal proceedings in California history.

Miss Davis said she had not changed her bitter feelings about American justice, commenting: "The very fact of an acquittal means that there was no fair trial—because a fair trial would have been no trial at all." She said the state had no case against her.

It took the jury 13 hours to reach a verdict after a 13-week trial. The prosecution put 95 witnesses on the stand and introduced 201 exhibits in its seven-week presentation. The defense put 12 witnesses on the stand in its three-day "abbreviated case."

Mrs. Timothy, a women's lib fan who wrote after her name on some of the verdict forms "ForeMs," refused to discuss the jury's thinking in reaching the verdict. She explained this might have an effect on the upcoming trial of convict Ruchell Magee, who was indicted on the same charges as Miss Davis.

During seven weeks of testimony, the prosecution tried to prove that Miss Davis was driven by passionate love for convict-author George Jackson to engage in a conspiracy to free him and that she plotted with George's brother, Jonathan, 17, toward that end.

But the plans went awry, the prosecutor said, and violent death was the result for Jonathan, convicts James McClain, 37, and William Christmas, 27, and Superior Court Judge Harold Haley. Magee was wounded.

Four guns found in the van in which the escape was to be made were registered to Miss Davis. She had vanished, and on Aug. 18 she was placed on the FBI's list of 10 most-wanted criminals. On Oct. 13, she was arrested in a downtown New York hotel.

Sees Promise In Summit Talks

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI says the Moscow summit talks of President Nixon and Soviet leaders seem to "promise a great new direction of international life."

But the pontiff warned a crowd at St. Peter's Square Sunday that terrorism may be creating what he termed a horrible world for tomorrow.

In apparent reference to the recent massacre of civilians by Arab-paid Japanese terrorists at Tel Aviv's Lod Airport, the pontiff said:

"The positive events are in contrast with the tragic and infamous episodes of terrorism and crime which in recent days have been multiplying as if they were a usual matter to which we must accustom ourselves."

"Contempt for such episodes and crimes increases in proportion with the terror that they spread, and the amazement of those who ask in what a horrible world we over-civilized persons may live one day."

Expansion By Texas Gulf

NEW YORK — Texas Gulf, Inc. has approved a 50 per cent expansion of the company's phosphoric and sulphuric acid plants at its phosphate mine and fertilizer materials complex at Lee Creek, N.C., it was announced today.

The expansion will cost about $23-million and will increase production capacity of phosphorus pentoxide (p205) by 170,000 tons to 510,000 tons. The new addition is scheduled to be completed early in 1974 in time for the spring fertilizer season.

The expansion of the acid facilities will enable Texas Gulf not only to better meet the needs of customers for phosphoric and super phosphoric acids, but also to maintain full production of dry fertilizer products including diammonium phosphate, granular triple super phosphate, ROP triple super phosphate, phosphate rock and calcined phosphate rock.

Pakistan Moves On Brand Names

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN
Associated Press Writer
RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP) — There's an old story about the man who goes into a drugstore and asks for acetylsalicylic acid.

"You mean aspirin?" the druggist responds.

"Never can remember that name," the customer observes.

Pakistan plans to put a reverse twist on that by banning the manufacture and sale of medicines under familiar brand names. The Pakistani with a headache would ask for acetylsalicylic acid. Attacked by what is known on the subcontinent as "Delhi belly," he would call—if there was time—for lodochlorhydroxyquin.

These are generic names, the labels scientists put on the drugs. According to manufacturers here, Pakistan would become the first country to ban completely the making and the selling of drugs under brand names. Some consumer advocates in the United States have suggested similar action there.

Manufacturers with subsidiaries in Pakistan have threatened to close unless they can use brand names they have pushed.

Sheik Mohammed Rashid, a Lahore lawyer who is health minister, said the government will not back down despite what he calls the pressure of "vested interests...coming out with flimsy pretexts...in a futile attempt to perpetuate the exploitation of the consumer in which they have freely indulged so far."

Sheik Rashid said some drugs were sold up to 30 times more cheaply as generics than the same items under trade names. According to a list he provided, branded aspirin at $5 for 1,000 tablets was priced at 61 cents per 1,000, generic. Branded Vitamin C cost $14 per 1,000, generic vitamins $3.20 for 1,000, generic capsules $3.20 for 1,000 capsules sold for $2 in its generic form.

Makers said some branded prices were higher because items sell in small lots.

Rashid predicted that in the long run cheaper prices will boost companies' business fivefold. According to industry sources, more than 85 per cent of Pakistan's 55 million people are too poor to buy drugs; the room for expansion is vast, they admit.

Methodists Begin Meet

DURHAM (AP) — The four-day annual meeting of the North Carolina Conference of the United Methodist Church was to open in Durham today with a Holy Communion service for the 1,200 delegates.

The session will mark the 200th anniversary of Methodism in North Carolina. The Rev. Joseph Pilmore, a Methodist missionary sent from England by John Wesley, preached the first Methodist sermon in the state at Currituck Courthouse on Sept. 28, 1972.

Bishop Lance Webb of the Illinois Area was to conduct the communion service in Duke Chapel on the Duke University campus.

Duke President Terry Sanford was to welcome the delegates at the opening business session this afternoon. Business at the first session was to include election of a new conference secretary to replace the Rev. W. Carleton Wilson of Raleigh, who is retiring.

Of major interest during the conference will be the realignment of districts, the creation of a 12th district and the appointment of the first black district superintendent.

Berlin Pact Is In Effect

BERLIN (AP) — Travel to both East Germany and West Germany became easier for the 2.2 million people of West Berlin as a result of the Big Four Berlin Accord activated over the weekend.

East Germany's 17 million citizens remained walled in. Their hopes for free movement hinged on future developments, starting with negotiations to normalize relations between the two Germanies due to begin in two weeks.

The 1971 Berlin Accord went into effect Sunday, 12 hours after a final protocol was signed by the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union.

As a result of the accord, West Berliners can apply for up to 30 visiting days a year in the East under the new agreement.

Symbolizing the new understanding between the Soviet Union and West Germany, Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko flew from the Berlin signing to Bonn where he met Chancellor Willy Brandt and Foreign Minister Walter Scheel. It was the first time a Soviet foreign minister had visited the West German capital.

West Germany during the weekend also exchanged ratifications with Russia and Poland of their treaties confirming German territorial losses in the war.

nor, offered Bowles his congratulations and promise of support.

"You've run a first-class campaign," he told Bowles, "and I want to say right here and now I pledge to you my support in the fall election in November."

The Bowles-Taylor campaign was the most expensive in North Carolina history. Bowles has reported expenses in excess of $800,000 and Taylor about $600,000.

The Holshouser-Gardner race developed into a bitter test of party loyalties as the candidates traded allegations and counter-allegations dealing with the 1968 election, when Gardner was a candidate and Holshouser was the state GOP chairman.

Early in the runoff primary state chairman Frank Rouse of Kinston startled Republicans by taking a leave of absence from his party post to join the Gardner campaign. Holshouser said Sunday Rouse probably would be replaced as state chairman.

Galifianakis' victory, mirroring his surprising lead in the first primary, came in the first serious senatorial primary in North Carolina in two decades.

He said it indicated North Carolina "wanted a change, wanted to move upward, not downward; wanted to move to a better tomorrow, rather than backwards to a rerun of the past."

In Saxapahaw, Jordan complained Sunday of "distortion of the facts which I wasn't able to erase." He added, "But I harbor no bitterness and I'll support the Democratic ticket in the fall."

"I just don't think I was seen enough," Jordan said.

Jordan, who has turned over control of his textile plant to his sons, said he does not expect to re-enter the business world. "My wife and I may travel around the world after my Senate term is up," he said.

In Raleigh Helms told the Associated Press, "I share the disappointment of Sen. Jordan that his campaign was marred by inaccurate statements. It would be equally disappointing if the public should dismiss these tactics by the senator's opponent as just politics."

"Sen. Jordan conducted a high-level campaign, a campaign consistent with his character," Helms said. "I intend to do the same in the fall election."

Both said, however, they favor providing Israel with whatever weapons it needs and standing by that country if it is attacked.

On another subject, Humphrey and McGovern said they would support the party nominee. Mrs. Chisholm and Mayor Yorty said they couldn't pledge that in advance, while Hardin emphasized that Wallace has devoted all of his energies toward winning the Democratic party nomination.

Greenville Legion Team Wins Two Of Three Starts

Greenville's American Legion baseball team captured two victories in three starts over the weekend. Saturday night, they downed Hamlet, 5-4, and then lost to Richmond County, 11-6. Sunday afternoon, Greenville beat Smithfield, 8-0, on a three-hitter by Mike Weaver.

The three games brought the Greenville record to 3-2 for the season.

In the opening game, Locke Conrad tossed the victory going all the way. But it took a three-run rally in the fifth inning to pull out the win.

Greenville took the lead in the first inning with a run. Robert Brinkley singled and moved around to third on a pair of passed balls. Duncan Charlton walked and Randy McKinney hit a sacrifice fly to score Brinkley.

In the second, however, Hamlet came up with two runs to take the lead. Greg Allen singled and scored on Henry McDuffie's double. He moved on to third on the relay. Terry Clark brought him in with a sacrifice fly for a 2-1 lead.

Greenville tied it up with one in the third. Charlton singled and McKinney reached on an error. Mike Weaver reached on a fielder's choice, loading the bases. Steve Fuchs then brought him in with a ground out.

Hamlet went back ahead with one in the bottom of the inning. Mike Wall doubled and moved to third when Greg Allen reached on an error. They worked the double steal with Wall scoring for a 3-2 lead.

They added another run in the fourth. Terry Massagie singled and stole second. He scored on Don Marston's double.

Greenville rallied for three runs to take the lead for good. McKinney reached on a fielder's choice and stole second. Fuchs walked and Mike Bundy singled to score McKinney. Sonny Smithwick singled to drive in both runners.

Neither team was able to score after that as Greenville held off any further offer by Hamlet.

In the second game, against Richmond County, however, it was a different story.

Richmond County took the lead in the first with a run. Charlie Wall walked and stole second. Ben Howe moved him to third, reaching on a fielder's choice, and Paul Faulk sacrificed Wall over.

Greenville tied it up with one in the second. Dale Manning singled and moved up on an error on the play. Robbie Cox reached on a bunt single, and Bill Lee was safe on an error, scoring Manning.

In the bottom of the second, Richmond County came up with two more. Gerald Dutton walked and stole second. Lewis Breeden singled and also stole second. Mike Hopkins followed with another hit, scoring both runners for a 3-1 lead.

Three more crossed in the third. Faulk singled and David Roper singled. Both stole up a base and scored when Chuck McLean singled. He took second on the relay and stole third. A passed ball scored him. That made it 6-1.

Two more scored in the fourth, putting it out of reach. Hopkins walked and Wall singled him to third. They worked a double steal for the score, and on the throw back to home, the ball was errored. Wall kept going, and came home when the ball was again thrown away at third. That upped the score to 8-1.

Greenville was able to rally, scoring three in the sixth and two in the seventh. But Richmond County got one in the sixth and two in the eighth to pad their lead.

Greenville's runs in the seventh came when Duncan Charlton singled and Stanley Cobb cracked a homer to right center.

In Sunday's game, Weaver had little trouble in getting past Smithfield. He scattered five walks and three hits in hurling the victory.

Greenville scored first in the second, getting two. Phil Blount led off the frame with a triple and scored when McKinney also tripled. Lee walked and the two worked the double steal with McKinney scoring the second run.

In the third, two more came over. Robert Brinkley walked and Charlton singled. Cobb also walked, loading the bases. Blount sacrificed Brinkley over and Charlton came home on an error.

Two more crossed for Greenville in the fifth. Blount walked and Cox doubled. McKinney followed with a double, scoring both runners.

The final two came in the ninth. Charlton singled and moved up on an error. A passed ball moved him to third. Cobb singled to score him. Blount reached on a fielder's choice that cut down Cobb, but an error let Blount move up. Another passed ball put him on third and he scored on Manning's single with the final run.

Greenville's schedule game with Rocky Mount tonight, has been postponed. Their next outing will be Thursday when they travel to Ahoskie for their first conference game.

Baltimore Blanketed Twice By A's

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
They don't call the Baltimore Orioles the O's for nothing; they got 18 of them Sunday.

You know—zeroes, goose eggs, O's. The Orioles got nine of them—0-0 000 000—in the first game of Sunday's double-header against Oakland and nine more—000 000 000—in the nightcap.

The A's got 16 O's themselves but had the presence of mind to score twice in the first inning of each game en route to a 2-0, 2-0 sweep of the beleaguered Orioles. The double defeat dropped Baltimore's three-in-a-row American League champs into third place in the East Division, three games behind Detroit and one percentage point in back of Cleveland.

Elsewhere, the Tigers blanketed Minnesota 3-0, the Indians turned back California 6-4, the Chicago White Sox took a pair from the New York Yankees 6-1 and 5-4, Boston defeated Kansas City 4-0 after dropping the opener 7-5 and Texas blasted Milwaukee 10-0.

Baltimore has played 41 games and has managed to win only 21. One of the reasons is such feeble batting averages as Ellie Hendricks' .114, Boog Powell's .156, Mark Belanger's .159, Andy Etchebarren's .189, Don Buford's .203, Brooks Robinson's .236, Paul Blair's .246 and Dave Johnson's .248.

Catfish Hunter squelched the Orioles on two hits in the opener while rookie Dave Hamilton, Rollee Fingers and Darold Knowles combined for the shut-out in the nightcap. Sal Bando's two-run homer off Mike Cuellar decided the first game and the A's touched Doyle Alexander in the first inning of the nightcap on a walk, singles by Joe Rudi and Reggie Jackson and Bando's double play grounder.

Detroit's Tom Timmerman blanked the Twins on four hits and Mickey Stanley broke up a scoreless duel with a two-run homer in the seventh off Bert Blyleven, only the second hit off the hardthrowing right-hander.

The Indians piled up a six-run lead against the Angels with Alex Johnson homering and pitcher Milt Wilcox socking a two-run double, but had to hold on to win. Leroy Stanton homered for the losers.

Dick Allen smashed a dramatic three-run pinch homer off Sparky Lyle, the Yankees' ace reliever, in the ninth inning to lift the White Sox to their sweep before a crowd of 51,904. Mike Andrews and Carlos May delivered two-run singles off Mel Stottlemyre in the opener and Bill Melton homered. Ron Blomberg connected for the Yanks.

John Curtis pitched the Red Sox to victory in their second game with a seven-hitter after Paul Schaal's grand slam home run capped a five-run rally that enabled the Royals to win the opener. Tommy Harper homered for the Red Sox.

Texas kayoed Milwaukee's Skip Lockwood, who pitched a one-hitter his last time out, with six runs in the first inning and Rich Hand, Mike Paul and Horacio Pina tamed the Brewers on six hits.

Sanders Happy 'Can Still Win'

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — There was just a trace of a smile around the lips as Doug Sanders announced in obvious but restrained delight:

"I've proved I can still play. And I've proved I can still win. You can't imagine what a wonderful feeling it is."

The dapper guy had just scored a dramatic, one-stroke victory over Lee Trevino with a long birdie putt on the final hole of the $175,000 Kemper Open Sunday, confounding the critics who had written his golfing obituaries scores of times.

He'd been derided for his admitted playboy attitude toward life, complete with late hours and liquor. Purists said his unorthodox, short swing would fail him with his advancing years. He lost his exempt status when he failed to play well enough to make the top 60 money winners last season. He hadn't won in two years.

And he's been forced into a month layoff earlier this year because of tendonitis in his wrists.

His 19th career victory, worth $35,000 and a congratulatory telephone call from sometimes playing partner Vice President Spiro Agnew, solved it all.

"When that putt dropped, it was like a blessing from heaven," said Sanders. "I don't know how long it was. Some people say 40 feet. Some say 20, but I think it broke that much."

His winning birdie on the 72nd hole, before a huge gallery of some 23,000 basking in the bright, warm sunshine and sweating out one of the most exciting finishes of the year on the ppo tour, gave the 38-year-old Sanders a four-under-par 68 on his final round.

His 13-under-par total of 275 on the 7,278 yard Quail Hollow Country Club course was a single stroke better than Trevino, who missed a 10-foot birdie putt on the final hole that would have tied it. Trevino had a 69.

Labron Harris was next at 277, with South African Gary Player, Australian Bruce Devlin and Cesar Sanudo tied at 278. Ray Floyd, Dave Hill and Tom Shaw followed at 279 in the closely bunched field.

Gibby Gibert, who led the second and third rounds, went to a 75-281 and was tied at that figure with defending champ Tom Weiskopf. Billy Casper had a 282 and Arnold Palmer was far back in the field at 288. Jack Nicklaus did not complete.

Sanders played in the group just in front of Trevino and was tied with the dangerous, gritty Super Mex where he went to the final hole, a 448-yard par four, uphill and with a dogleg left.

Sunday Win For Semi-Pro Club

Greenville's Semi-pro baseball team picked up a 4-1 victory over Williamston Sunday afternoon.

Byron Dickens hurled the win for Greenville, allowing only four hits. He struck out 14 and walked none.

Greenville took the lead in the second inning of the game. Grant Jarman walked and was sacrificed up. He scored when Harry Wilson tripled.

In the third, another run came over. Dickens reached on an error and moved to second on a wild pitch. He scored when Al Gurganus reached on another error.

The final two came in the fifth inning. Gurganus opened the frame with a double and Jarman singled him in. Jarman moved up on an error and scored when Charles Meeks reached on a base hit.

The lone Williamston run came in the seventh inning. Haislip reached on an error and moved around on a double by R. Andrews. He scored when H. Bryant grounded out.

Revenge For Billie Jean

PARIS (AP) — Billie Jean King avenged an earlier defeat and won the only major crown that has eluded her when she defeated Evonne Goolagong 6-3, 6-3 and captured the women's singles title Sunday at the French Open Tennis Championships.

It was her first triumph after six years of competition in this tournament, rated as the world clay court championship, and avenged her loss to Miss Goolagong in the final at Wimbledon last year.

Mrs. King said after the match that both she and Miss Goolagong aimed for their opponent's forehead and that she was attempting to keep the Australian away from the net.

In a dozen years on the international circuit, Mrs. King has won the Wimbledon title three times, the U.S. championship twice and the Italian, German, Australian, South African, Irish, Argentine and Austrian crowns.

Miss Goolagong, who won the French title last year, had won every set this year in her matches through the semi-finals.

Andres Gimeno won the men's singles title with a 4-6, 6-3, 6-1, 6-1 victory over Patrick Proisy of France.

Jim Leighton is in his 10th year as Wake Forest tennis coach.

Wood Rot in Houses
According to Dr. Michael P. Levi, Extension Forest Resources Specialist, wood is one of man's most useful and durable building materials. If you ignore a few simple rules, however, wood decay fungi can attack wood. Control can then be very expensive.

Dr. Levi gives several hints about controlling wood decay.

Do not, he states, use earth filled porches unless the earth is at least eight inches away from wood construction. Others are: provide adequate drainage to prevent water accumulation under or near the building; cover at least 70 percent of the crawl space in basementless houses with polyethylene; provide adequate ventilation in crawl space areas and attics. These spaces should be cross ventilated and contain at least one square foot of clear vent space per 150 square feet of crawl space.

Proper ventilation and elimination of excess moisture will prevent most of the decay in houses, according to Dr. Levi. He has this information in a bulletin titled "Wood Rot Not Termites." You may get a copy from the Agricultural Extension Office.

Tractor Pulling Contest

John W. Glover, Extension Specialist in Biological and Agricultural Engineering, sends word that a Tractor Pulling Contest is planned for the 1972 North Carolina State Fair. It will be held on Wednesday, October 18. It is sponsored by the State Fair.

According to Glover, the contest is open to any North Carolina farmer owned tractor with rubber tires. Drivers must be 18 years of age. Tractors will be divided into four classes according to weight. A $100 cash premium will be awarded to the winner of each class.

For a copy of the rules, you can contact the Agricultural Extension Service at 203 W. Third Street in Greenville.

Farm Tips

Proposed West German legislation that would ban tobacco treated with maleic hydrazide has created an urgent need for more U. S. farmers to gain experience with other sucker control chemicals, according to Woody Upchurch, North Carolina University agricultural information specialist.

This need is also cited by tobacco specialists who point out that, while there is no completely satisfactory substitute for maleic hydrazide, contact type chemicals are available.

These materials currently are being used on about 35 percent of the Tarheel flue-cured acreage in conjunction with maleic hydrazide, commonly known as MH-30. The contacts kill the suckers on contact while MH, a systemic, is absorbed by the plant and retards growth.

North Carolina State University researchers are stepping up their study of contact sucker control materials. These materials are effective but time and method of application are more critical than with MH.

The NCSU specialists say they will continue to point out to growers the advantages of a combination treatment of one of the contact type materials and MH in separate applications.

MH has been the primary means of chemical sucker control since the 1950's and is used on virtually all tobacco grown in the state.

Tobacco industry leaders are attempting to get West Germany to be less restrictive with the proposed legislation, which in its present form would ban outright the use of MH on tobacco brought into that country after 1974.

This means 1973 would be the last year growers could use MH.

Tobacco leaders are hopeful the Germans will reconsider and set tolerance levels for MH residue in the manufactured product or in the smoke. If the minimum levels were "reasonable," growers could continue to use maleic Hydrazide at set rates of application.

West Germany imports over 100 million pounds of U. S. tobacco annually, much of it from North Carolina. Refusal to import leaf treated with maleic hydrazide would almost certainly cause the chemical to be dropped from use on tobacco.

It is generally felt that loss of this economically important production tool would bring an unprecedented outcry of protest from growers.

There is no other systemic material that could be substituted for MH at this time. If it is lost as a result of West German legislation, it is assumed that growers would have to rely exclusively on contact type sucker control chemicals.

The other alternative, hand suckering, is felt to be too costly. It would also represent a step backward in the growers' efforts to minimize hand labor.

It is estimated that total reliance on contact type materials could result in a reduction in the degree of sucker control of 20 to 30 percent. The reduction could be even greater among growers who aren't experienced in using the contacts.

NCSU specialists believe growers need this experience and need the high degree of sucker control that results from a combination treatment with one of the contacts and MH.

Tobacco TIPS

By SAM J. WEEKS

Blue mold damage has been observed in some tobacco fields in Pitt County. The disease is recognized by round yellow to brown spots measuring in size from 1/4 to 1 inch in diameter. As the disease progresses, the lesions or spots will turn brown and may merge together to form affected areas larger than one inch in diameter. Also, diseased areas will fall out leaving round holes in the leaf.

Farmers that have not destroyed their plant bed sites have provided a place for the blue mold inoculum to build up. The recent cool nights (40 degrees to 60 degrees F.) and damp weather have been very favorable for the development of the disease. By contrast, high temperatures (night temperatures in excess of 60 degrees F. and hot days in excess of 75 degrees F.) check the spread of the disease.

Our experience with past blue mold outbreaks suggests that the tobacco plant has a remarkable ability to recover from early season damage. The lower leaves will be ragged (full of holes), but the total yield may not be reduced too much unless weather conditions favorable for the disease continue for several more days.

Spray materials are available for the prevention of the spread of the disease. These are preventative fungicides and will not control the disease that is already established. If you are interested in using one of the recommended fungicides, we can give you the rates for application. Call the County Agricultural Extension Office.

Sharp Birth Rate Dip Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Liberalized abortion laws, economic decline and women's lib are cited by population experts as some probable causes of the sharpest dip ever in the nation's birth rate.

The rate has almost declined to a point of zero population growth, according to a new report released Friday.

For the first three months of this year, the National Center for Health Statistics said, the birth rate was 15.8 children per 1,000 population. That compares with 17.6 per 1,000 for the same quarter last year and 17.3 for all of 1971.

Those figures mean that prior to the end of the first quarter of 1972 women in child-bearing ages are likely to have had in their lifetimes an estimated average of 2.145 children compared with 2.284 for all of 1971, said the center, a branch of the Census Bureau.

If that dips to a family size of 2.11 children over a woman's lifetime, according to population specialists, the country will level in population growth by about the year 2010.

Libless Engineering

ATLANTA (UPI)—Womens lib hasn't come very far in the engineering field as yet. Georgia Tech University awarded more engineering degrees to women than any other school in the nation during 1971, and the total was 19. Massachusetts Institute of Technology was second with 12.

from the Carroll Richter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Whatever long-range plans you have in mind can now be tackled successfully by a fresh new approach. Do not take unnecessary risks and chances. Show those of experience that you are willing to go along with their viewpoints and sidestep any arguments.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) If you talk over with others what you most desire, you get very fine advice and suggestions. You can make that appointment now that has been impossible to do before. Keep busy and keep happy.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) If you give that financial matter your full attention, you find you can be very successful with it. You have some new idea that requires time before trying to put it across. Study it thoroughly first.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Projects of future importance should be studied well. Try to get the assistance of a good pal so they mature faster. Making new contacts is easy and you can please old friends now, also. Do this.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) If you follow through with what bigwigs expect, you get along well. Do not take that big risk an associate wants of you. Handle any credit matter satisfactorily. Show you are conscientious.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You can easily gain the goodwill of one who has the information that is vital to your welfare, so get busy early on this. If you are forceful with co-workers, you find you can get into trouble. Avoid this.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have obligations to fulfill and should do so with the aid of experts who give you good advice and help. Don't go along with one who is frivolous and could get you into a peck of trouble. Show you have willpower.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) A good friend from afar has a fine project for you to work on wisely, but you are tempted to go along with someone else, which is not good. Get busy and make plans for expansion. Take it easy tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Plan how to meet responsibilities better in the future and clear the slate for bigger things. A good day to think over that situation with an attachment. Do whatever you believe is best.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You want to go out for pleasure but be sure to include an associate for best results. Not a good day to dwell on the monetary side of your life. Await a better day for such and then you will have good results.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get on the good side of a clever person within your family circle and don't force your own views on anyone. Keep them to yourself. Buy the right articles for your home that improve it considerably.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Instead of fretting about what you cannot help, get out to activities where you can sharpen your mind, sense. Find the right people who can be of great assistance to you. Take it easy tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Listen to what a family tie has to say instead of going along with one who paints a very bright picture but is really a phony. Get a good day's work done. Do some entertaining at home in the p.m.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those clever young people who can become quite a success in life because there is the ability to plan and organize well, then carry through efficiently with all the work required. Much exercise is necessary early in life since there is a strong nature in this chart which produces tremendous energy which has to be controlled. The spiritual studies are most important early, too.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Reconvening On Tuesday

The meeting between the Pitt County commissioners and the Greenville City School Board of Education that was recessed on May 16, is being reconvened Tuesday at 5:00 p.m. at the Commissioners Room in the Pitt County Courthouse Annex.

The subject of the recessed meeting is that of the purchase of a 30 acre tract of land from the Evans property, located in the block of farm land east of Hooker Road and adjacent to Kearney Park Housing area.

To date, no decision has been made for a date and time for the County Commissioners to schedule the official presentation of the city's school budget. The commissioners have the budget request and are studying and reviewing it prior to an official presentation hearing. At that time Greenville school officials will be given an opportunity to reemphasize major considerations, to introduce any new concepts or discuss any points that might not be clear.

Little things mean a lot.

Surprisingly enough, our little features don't add up to lots of dollars.

At $1,999.00* a new Volkswagen is easy to buy and even easier to own.

Our warranty† is longer than anybody's except Rolls-Royce, and for efficient service nothing will beat our built-in computer service system starting later this year. Of course, someday you may decide to sell your Beetle. Don't be alarmed.

After 3 or 4 years used Volkswagen Beetles have had a higher resale value than other economy cars.†† Selling it is the final joy of buying it.

†† If an owner maintains and services his vehicle in accordance with the Volkswagen maintenance schedule any factory part found to be defective in material or workmanship within 24 months or 24,000 miles, whichever comes first (except normal wear and tear) and service items will be repaired or replaced by any U.S. or Canadian Volkswagen Dealer. And this will be done free of charge. See your dealer for details.

Gypsy Moth Survey In Pitt County Scheduled

TEMPORARY HOME — Two small children sit in the shade of a straw cover as they wait in baskets for their parents to carry them down Route 13 in South Vietnam. The two children are part of a huge group of refugees who have fled their homes along Route 13. (AP Wirephoto)

Edwin L. Yancey, Extension Chairman of Pitt County, in cooperation with the Plant Protection and Quarantine Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the Entomology Division of the North Carolina Department of Agriculture announces plans for an intensive Gypsy Moth detection survey in Pitt County.

The main tool to be used in this survey will be the newly developed "disparlure" traps. The traps are paper containers, smeared with a sticky substance on the inside and baited with the scent female moths produce to lure males for mating. Prior to 1970, a crude extract made from the last two abdominal segments of the female moth were used to bait the traps. This natural sex attractant was too time consuming and expensive to make; therefore, was not practical. In 1970, Agricultural Research Service chemists developed a synthetic compound called "disparlure" that exactly duplicates the natural attractant chemically and physically. One gram of disparlure costs 40 cents and is enough to bait approximately 50,000 traps. The new disparlure traps have made extensive detection surveys possible.

Plans call for traps to be set every nine square miles throughout the county. Traps set at this density should detect any Gypsy Moth infestation that might be present. Additional traps will be placed in areas where the introduction of Gypsy Moth presents the greatest hazards. An example, is the area at Grifton where an egg mass was found on a camper in August of 1971. A total in excess of 280 traps will be placed in a one square mile area around this site.

In order for this detection survey to be effective it is mandatory that traps not be disturbed or handled and your cooperation is requested in this matter.

N.C. Holiday Weekend Traffic Toll Hits 13

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A pair of two-death accidents pushed the weekend traffic toll for North Carolina to 13 as thousands of travelers kept highways to the beaches and mountains busy.

The deaths brought the toll for the year to 733, 13 more than had been killed by the same time last year.

A car went out of control on N.C. 89 in Danbury in Stokes County and struck a bridge, killing two occupants. The victims were Ronald Ernest Shaffner, 24, and Jesse Carrol Wishon, 22, both of Winston-Salem.

A two-car, head-on wreck about two miles east of Hammond in Iredell County also killed two men. The victims were Robert Smyre, Jr., 35, and Don Dalton, both of Rt. 2, Harmony. The Highway Patrol said one of the cars slid across the center line and hit the other vehicle.

A woman in a car which failed to stop at a stop sign was killed in a wreck on N.C. 210 1½ miles south of Chadbourn. The car struck the side of another vehicle. The victim was Patricia Turbeville Phipps, 19, of Tabor City.

A man was killed when his car ran off U.S. 64 four miles east of Rutherford and hit an embankment. The victim was James Stanley Johnson, 20, of Rt. 2, Forest City.

The Highway Patrol said a car struck the rear of another vehicle that had just turned into its lane on a rural road one mile east of Hildebran in Burke County, leaving one man dead and five hurt. James Claburn Drum Jr., 26, of Rt. 2, Connelley Springs, was killed.

Police said the victim's car swerved across the center line and hit a third vehicle head-on. A fourth car traveling behind Drum's car swerved around the accident and overturned.

A pedestrian, Acey B. Lee, 42, of Goldsboro, was killed when he walked into the path of a car on a rural road about two miles north of Goldsboro.

A one-car accident in which a car traveling at high speed went out of control and overturned killed Peiron Phillips Walton, 24, of Rt. 1, Richlands. The wreck was on a rural road four miles southeast of Jacksonville.

Willy David Staton, 31, of Rt. 1, Vanceboro, was killed when he stepped into the path of an oncoming car on U.S. 17 in Craven County.

A passenger was killed when a car ran off a dirt road 12 miles west of Oxford and hit a tree. The victim was William Pulliam, 16, of Rt. 1, Rougemont.

Norman Lee Tripp, 12, of Rt. 3, Goldsboro, was killed when his bicycle and a car collided on U.S. 70 just east of Goldsboro.

Carl A. Dixon, of Chicago, was killed four miles east of Hoffman in Richmond County when his car ran off a road and overturned.

Miniskirt Said Good For Backs

Anger Five Years After Truce

By C. C. MINICLIER
Associated Press Writer

CAIRO (AP) — The fifth anniversary today of the start of the last Arab-Israeli war finds Israeli troops still occupying the east bank of the Suez Canal and the Egyptians saddened, frustrated, embarrassed and angry.

"Where is the family that has not lost a son on the hot desert sand or has not dispatched one of its children to discharge his national duties," wrote chief editor Moussa Sabry in the newspaper Al Akhbar.

The Star of David flag is clearly visible from the Egyptian positions at Port Tewfik, at the southern end of the canal.

Nearby U.N. observers, bare chested in the heat with blue baseball caps on their heads, maintain a quiet watch.

The possibility of a new conflict, shattering the cease-fire of August 1970, is stronger today than it was a year ago, when Egypt pinned its hopes on Washington after Secretary of State William P. Rogers visited Cairo.

Rogers supported President Anwar Sadat's proposal to reopen the canal in exchange for a substantial Israeli pullback and a promise to withdraw eventually from all occupied territory. But the Israelis dug in, refusing to give up their chief bargaining card, and air conditioned their bunkers on Egyptian soil.

The Arabs lost faith in the Americans.

Egyptians, officially and privately, agree they would prefer a peaceful solution to losing more of their fathers, husbands, sons and brothers in another desert war. But they cannot tolerate the idea of making peace while a third of their country is occupied. An official of the Foreign Ministry commented recently:

"If the Americans were unable to withdraw from South

Vietnam for so many years because it would have been difficult for Washington to explain the move to the thousands of families who lost their men in that far off land, how can they expect us to make peace when so many of our men died fighting Israel and she still occupies our territory?"

President Anwar Sadat has repeatedly refused to sit down with the Israelis to talk peace while their soldiers are on Egyptian soil. He argues that such a meeting would be tantamount to surrender.

Sadat expressed his anger at Washington's continuing to arm Israel by ordering the U.S. diplomatic mission in Cairo reduced by half.

The Egyptians are fed up with the continuing state of no war and no peace.

One paper observed: "Thus the Middle East crisis, after five years, still remains pulsating with danger, threatening to explode at any moment, at a time Israel and its supporters had thought the crisis had abated and was well on its way to being forgotten."

Rites Today For Royster

HENDERSON, N.C. (AP) — Fred S. Royster, known to many as "Mr. Tobacco," was one of the tobacco industry's staunchest defenders for more than two decades.

Royster, born on a farm in Vance County, rose from a tobacco warehouse employee to become managing director of the five-state Bright Belt Warehouse Association, the most influential warehouse group in the country.

Royster died late Saturday in Duke Hospital at the age of 63. Funeral services were to be at 11 a.m. today at the First United Methodist Church of Henderson with burial in Elmwood Cemetery.

In 1945 Royster helped to organize the Bright Belt Warehouse Association and during the next 25 years became one of the industry's strongest supporters, defending it against those he called "anti-tobacco zealots" and speaking against anticigarette legislation.

He served as chairman of the Flue-Cured Tobacco Advisory Council in 1948 and as a member of the North Carolina Farm Bureau Board of Directors from 1948 to 1953.

In the late 1940's and early 1950's he served four terms in the North Carolina House of Representatives and two terms in the state Senate.

At the time of his death he was also chairman of the board of the National Tobacco Tax Council.

women had to bend from the knees to preserve their modesty. "That's the secret of lifting and carrying," Wood says. "Bending from the waist puts a strain on the back."

Luncheon To Be Thursday

Twenty retiring school personnel of Greenville and Pitt County who terminated their teaching duties with the end of the 1971-72 school term will be entertained at a luncheon of the Greenville-Pitt County Unit of the North Carolina Association of Educators on Thursday, June 8.

Mrs. Jeannette Clapp, chapter president, announced the luncheon — a covered dish affair — will be held Thursday at 12:30 p.m. at the Memorial Baptist Church, 312 Greene Street, in Greenville.

The eight Greenville, 12 Pitt County, and 15 East Carolina University retirees are guests at this annual luncheon honoring retired school personnel.

In addition to Mrs. Clapp, members of the Arrangements Committee are Mrs. Myrtle Croom, Miss Deanie Boone Haskett, Mrs. Myrtle Clark, and Mrs. W. W. Howell.
