

Endorsement Of McGovern Rumors Fly

Muskie May Tell Plans Today

By LAWRENCE L. KNUSTON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie scheduled a major announcement today amid reports he will provide the endorsement Sen. George McGovern needs to lock up the Democratic presidential nomination.

Muskie, who said Thursday he is still a candidate and has not decided to release his 166 delegates, planned to address the National Press Club today. He met with McGovern for what was described as a "friendly and neighborly" sounding-out session.

McGovern holds at least 907 of the 1,509 delegate votes he needs to secure the nomination. He said Muskie asked for more time to consider his campaign role.

"There was no pressure from me to get him to withdraw or to release his delegates," McGovern said.

Asked if he expected an immediate endorsement from Muskie or the release of delegates pledged to the Maine senator, McGovern said "no."

There was something of a family-reunion air during a photo session where the two men were joined by McGovern's chief rival for the nomination Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn.

"So this is what I have to do to get back on the front pages," Muskie remarked with a rueful grin as he posed between the two active candidates.

McGovern, who has said his chief role now is to conciliate party chiefs uneasy about his winning the nomination, also plans a private meeting with Humphrey.

In a copyright story today, the New York Daily News said Muskie's name has been raised by McGovern as a possible running mate.

"In an exclusive interview with the News, as he flew back from his California primary victory, McGovern heaped praise on his former rival ... and said he would add strength to the Democratic ticket—where strength is needed, in the populous Northeast and among Catholics, ethnics, party regulars and organized labor," the newspaper reported.

Elsewhere Thursday, Bob Hurwitz, Humphrey's campaign manager in Florida, said he was disenchanted by the Minnesota Democrat's announcement that he might, under certain circumstances, accept Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace as a running mate. Hurwitz said he is ready to "desert the ship and ask others to do the same."

In Atlanta, Gov. Jimmy Carter of Georgia said McGovern is moving toward a position more acceptable to the South and to Wallace supporters.

Carter said while he does not yet concede McGovern the nomination, the candidate's recent restatement of his views on prisoners of war, amnesty for draft evaders and equal treatment under law for all states are important steps to reassure the South.

In another meeting of candidates, meanwhile, Rep. Shirley Chisholm said she and Wallace might have more in common than was suspected.

Still confined to Holy Cross Hospital in Silver Spring, Md., where he is recovering from wounds suffered in an attempted assassination May 15, Wallace was visited Thursday by Mrs. Chisholm.

"We both in our way fight for what we believe," she said, adding she and Wallace have similar concern over the power of large corporations, unfair taxes, and the "unresponsiveness of the government."

She said she couldn't work with Wallace because of his views on school integration. But if he moderated his stand, she said, "maybe he might be acceptable" as the Democratic party's vice-presidential candidate.

Mobile Homes Permitted In Certain Areas Zoning Districts Designated

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer
Ordinance Number 322, Greenville's zoning blueprint, has a new dimension as the result of the passage Thursday night by City Council of an additional zoning district designated Residential 6-Mobile Home (R6-MH).

Council members unanimously adopted the new zoning district that is designed to permit mobile homes to be placed within certain designated residential areas as a permitted use rather than as a special use.

This addition to the zoning laws will not automatically permit inclusion of mobile homes in all the city's R-6 classified zoning districts. Authorization of an area or part of an area in which the R6-MH zoning will apply must be determined by the City Council in public hearings.

Conformity standards are similar to those for permanent homes, with the exception that a minimum of 5,000 square feet will be the basic space criteria rather than 6,000 required as the minimum for individual permanent homes.

Relative to the new ordinance, the council conducted a public hearing on what will be the first area to possibly be zoned R6-MH, an area in Meadowbrook located north of Mumford Road, west of North Pitt Street, south of the canal, and extending east to the city limits.

Action was deferred on taking a vote. This will be done at the July meeting of the council.

The abandonment of portions of five streets in the Newtown Redevelopment Area was approved by the council after taking note of opposition to the abandonment of two of these streets, Factory and Wade. The other three streets to be abandoned are Mill, Center and Cross Streets.

David and Plato Evans and R. S. Pollard registered opposition to the closing of Factory and Wade Streets. City Attorney David Reid noted that in having opposition registered in the minutes of the meeting, opponents had a legal recourse for seeking action at a later date if the abandonment action affects the use of their property.

Mayor S. Eugene West noted, during discussions, that at a recent meeting with authorities of HUD in Greensboro, failure to abandon these streets in the redevelopment project was holding up approval by HUD for further action on the Newtown Project, which is slated to contain 78 housing units.

Rezoning of the W. J. Moore property was approved to make the 14 acre site a shopping center zoned area. The property, on the south side of Greenville Boulevard opposite what would be an extension of Hooker Road, borders on Belvedere Subdivision.

Philip E. Carroll, spokesman for the rezoning request, asked councilmen to amend the original request stipulating a 25 foot buffer zone between the site and the subdivision to a 50 foot buffer strip.

John Bell, representing residents of Belvedere, asked that the minutes show no specific objection to the rezoning action provided that if the purchase by the contracting parties failed, that action could be taken to revert to the original zoning.

Another major rezoning action was taken when councilmen approved rezoning of the Ralph Tucker property on the west side of N.C. Highway 43 opposite The Carriage House Apartments.

Ralph Tucker, Jr., spokesman for the rezoning request, asked that the council consider a change in the original request, with rezoning to shopping center being applicable for a depth of 600 feet from the highway, leaving the remaining property RA-20.

Councilmen accepted the change, which results in approximately 17 of the 25.5 acres being rezoned to shopping center instead of the entire area.

Three resolutions were approved by councilmen at Thursday night's meeting. The first is a resolution attesting that the State of North Carolina is acquiring land on the open market in behalf of East Carolina University. The purpose of this resolution is to clarify a misconception that the land was being purchased from a public agency.

The second resolution authorizes the undertaking of surveys and plans for the initial application of funds to move into a rehabilitation program for an area north of the river.

To be known as the Northside Rehabilitation Project, the project will encompass an area bounded by Greene Street

Scott Lauds ECU Course

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina Gov. Bob Scott said today he hopes the state's next governor will have an "enlightened attitude" toward prison reform.

"Public support, along with dedicated leadership at the top, is essential if we are to modernize our prison system and make it second to none in effectiveness and efficiency," he said.

His comment came in a speech prepared for graduation exercises for 100 correction officers who completed a nine-week correctional administration course sponsored by East Carolina University.

Scott said he was not "talking about coddling criminals."

"I am talking about a correctional system that actually 'corrects' rather than brutalizes."

"I am talking about not only punishment, but rehabilitating them, so that, hopefully, they can return to society as responsible, law-abiding citizens," he said.

Scott noted that until ECU developed the correctional administration course in early 1970, the state was sending a few selected members of its correction staff to American University in Washington for a similar course.

Busing Proviso Cleared

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has sent a $21.3-billion education bill to President Nixon and a message to the courts that it wants a halt in busing for school desegregation.

The big education bill with its antibusing rider was passed by the House Thursday, 218 to 180. It had passed the Senate on a 63-15 vote.

The bill combines funding authorization for a wide variety of educational programs with a provision that would prevent federal court desegregation orders from taking effect for 18 months unless all appeals have been exhausted.

By the end of the 18 months, supporters of the provision hope, the Supreme Court will have fixed limits for busing for the purpose of school desegregation.

The White House has said Nixon is dissatisfied with the busing provision—he is said to want a stronger moratorium— but sponsors of the bill expect him to sign it.

Civil-rights liberals contended the busing provision signals a retreat from the nation's commitment to racial equality.

The educational provisions were all but overlooked in the strident debate over busing.

The main bill would:

- Launch a new program of direct federal aid to colleges and universities that could provide them with as much as $1 billion a year.
- Entitle every college student to a grant of $1,400 a year, minus what his parents could afford to contribute toward his education.
- Authorize $1 billion a year to help elementary and secondary schools desegregate.
- Establish a national institute of education to foster research into all aspects of the learning process.

The money figures in the bill only set the ceilings for the program. The actual funds would have to be appropriated in separate legislation and could be considerably lower.

City Councilmen Appoint Two To Greenville School Board

Edward E. Carter and Mrs. Theresa Shank were appointed by the City Council as members of the Greenville City School Board to succeed present members John Bizzell and Mrs. Robert Kittrell.

Confirmation of the two new members, made Thursday night, is for five year terms. Mrs. Shank's nomination was unanimously approved. The nomination of Carter, following an original motion to reappoint Bizzell, resulted in four voting for approval. Council members Dr. Frank Fuller and Clarence Gray abstained from voting on Carter's nomination.

In nominating Carter, Councilman William Dansey noted that Bizzell had completed a total of nine years on the School Board and that reappointment would result in his having 14 consecutive years as a school board member. The policy for membership is a maximum of ten consecutive years. Dansey said Bizzell had been an excellent school board member, but that reappointment would put him in line to exceed the ten year period.

Carter, a native of Havelock is now employed as a staff specialist in the Packing Department of Burroughs-Wellcome. He completed eight and one half years of military service in September 1971, and located permanently in Greenville at that time. While in service, he obtained the rank of Captain and served in Vietnam and Korea, and is the recipient of the Bronze Star, the Vietnamese Cross of Gallantry, three Army Commendation medals and other awards and decorations.

Carter is married to the former Evelyn Jean Simpson of Greenville. The Carters have three young daughters, Regina, Tonya and Jacquelyn.

A graduate of Virginia State, Petersburg, Virginia, Carter also attended schools in Havelock and Beaufort, N.C. and did post graduate work at City University, New York and Queen's College in Long Island, N.Y., as well as attending numerous military schools while in the Army.

Carter is a member of the House of Representatives Democratic Committee; is publicity chairman of the Pitt County Chapter of NAACP; is a member of Cornerstone Missionary Baptist Church where he is chairman of the Layman's League and a member of both the senior choir and the J. A. Tillett Gospel Choirs.

The former Army man lists bowling, softball, fishing and hunting as his favorite sports.

"I'm indeed delighted that I have been appointed as a member of the City School Board," Carter said. "I feel that as a new member, in my opinion the major task facing the schools is to devise a system to establish and maintain discipline in our schools. I think the three basic ingredients for discipline are fairness, firmness and flexibility."

"I want to express my thanks to members of the City Council for evidence of faith shown by appointing me and I guarantee 100 percent participation in all matters affecting the school board."

The new woman member, Mrs. Theresa Totzauer Shank has been a resident of Greenville for 11 years. A native of Ridgewood, New Jersey, Mrs. Shank majored in music at Oberlin College, Ohio, and was further educated at N.Y. University and Hofstra College in New York.

She is married to Barry Shank, faculty member in the School of Music, East Carolina University. The Shanks are the parents of three school age boys, Michael, Mark and Timothy.

A professional musician, Mrs. Shank is violinist in the ECU Symphony Orchestra and has also been a member of the Birmingham Symphony. She has taught in public schools in North Carolina, Massachusetts, Ohio, Alabama, Alaska and New York, and is currently a private music teacher and a licensed and active real estate broker in Greenville.

Mrs. Shank is a member of the Elmhurst School PTA, a representative to the Citizens Advisory Committee to the

Threaten Ground Airlines

LONDON (AP) — The International Federation of Airline Pilots Associations threatened Thursday night to ground most of the world's airlines for 24 hours June 19 unless the United Nations takes effective action against aerial hijacking.

The strike threat came a few hours after 10 Czechs hijacked a Czechoslovak airliner to West Germany, killing the pilot in the struggle to take over the plane. A West German prosecutor said he will try to put the Czechs on trial.

The U.S. Air Line Pilots Association has asked all union workers to join in a boycott of the airlines of all nations that give refuge to skyjackers.

The international federation said it supported proposals to set up a special commission to recommend measures against nations that harbor or fail to prosecute hijackers, and warned: "If the United Nations fail to take effective action, then IFALPA has initiated plans to institute a worldwide stoppage of air services on June 19, 1972."

Smoking Habits Talked

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. (AP) — Approximately 30 million Americans have quit smoking since 1966, and about five to six million of them found it easy, a speaker told the New England Smoking and Health Conference Thursday.

Dr. Daniel Horn, director of the National Clearinghouse for Smoking and Health, U.S. Public Health Service, told the health personnel gathered for the two-day conference that many quitters started to put on weight. Mastery over smoking then becomes a problem of mastery over food, he said.

Psychiatrist John Tamerin, director of research, Silver Hall Foundation, New Canaan, Conn., said nicotine is an unusual drug, all things to all men. He said it is both a sedative for the nervous and a stimulant for the depressed.

If only it didn't kill people, it would be a perfect drug, he said.

A key problem in quitting, then, he explained, is realizing that nervous tensions might build up after quitting and must be considered as normal. These symptoms disappear in about a month, he said.

The statement added that "associations representing over half the pilot members of IFALPA have already agreed to this course of action." The federation includes 64 associations with a total membership of 50,000 pilots.

The group said it was threatening a strike "in view of the failure and ineffectiveness of measures so far taken by the United Nations, the International Civil Aviation Organization, governments and other bodies and of the continued exposure of passengers, crew and aircraft to intolerable hazards." It called on the U.N. Security Council to discuss the situation no later than June 16.

The federation said it also expects the Algerian government to extradite or adequately punish the two Americans who hijacked a Western Airlines jet to Algiers last weekend after the pair extorted $500,000 in ransom for the passengers.

Social Security, Welfare Overhaul Nears End

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Almost a year's labor designed to massively overhaul two of the government's biggest people programs—Social Security and welfare benefits—nears an end today in the Senate Finance Committee.

Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., said he would try to wrap up work on the reform bill today, though a final vote may be postponed until Monday.

The committee has made hundreds of changes in the programs since it first began voting in March. Work began last July.

Still to be decided is how large across-the-board increases for the nation's 27 million Social Security recipients will be and how the new benefits will be financed.

The best guess is for a general increase of 20 per cent in benefits, although Long said the committee cited a possible figure of 15 per cent.

The bill makes far-reaching changes in Social Security, welfare, and two big health programs, Medicare for the aged and Medicaid for the poor.

The most controversial change voted so far knocks out of a bill as it passed the House

President Nixon's welfare-reform plan for families with dependent children. The senators substituted tough work requirements for the heads of these families.

Nixon's plan contains a guaranteed annual income of $2,400 for a family of four and supplementary federal payment for the working poor.

The committee rejected both of these features, precipitating an almost-certain bitter floor fight.

The bill contains broad new Social Security benefits for widows, persons who work beyond 65, and retirees whose incomes are impaired by inflation; brings 1.5 million disabled persons under Medicare health protection; increases assistance substantially to aged, blind and disabled persons on welfare; and seeks to control spiralling Medicare and Medicaid costs.

In a major decision Thursday, the committee decided to extend, for the first time, Medicare coverage to many prescription drugs taken by aged persons at home.

The government would pay an estimated $700 million of the annual $1-billion cost, though stopping short of covering $1.4 billion worth of other prescription drugs used mainly to treat short-term illnesses.

Miss Mary Alice Williams Weds

In a candlelight ceremony on Saturday at 4:00 p.m., Miss Mary Alice Williams became the bride of Alfred Gilbert in the Mount Calvary Free Will Baptist Church. Dr. W. L. Jones, pastor of the bride, officiated at the double ring ceremony assisted by Rev. J. N. Gilbert, uncle of the bridegroom.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Johnny Wooten, organist, Mrs. Ella Harris and W. L. Morris Jr., soloists. They sang "Because," "The Wedding Prayer," "O Promise Me" and "The Lord's Prayer".

The church was decorated with the traditional green and white decorations. In the center of the background of the church, between two stained glass windows, was a fifteen semicircle candelabra flanked by two standards of greenery and two cornet candelabra each holding twenty chaste candles overflowing with massive bouquets of white mums, trailing carnations and pom poms.

The entire church was aglow with candlelight burning from several candelabras. Proceeding to the altar was standards of greenery. At the altar was a profile prie-dieu where the vows and rings were exchanged and the bride and bridegroom knelt facing each other for the closing prayer and benediction. Pews were marked with white satin and the entire church was enclosed with satin ribbons. A white runner was rolled out for the wedding party.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Williams of Greenville, was given in marriage by her father. She wore a formal length candlelight gown of silk organza over taffeta, enhanced with a chandelier lace high neckline, empire bodice, lace and organza camelot sleeves with lace cuffs, and a matching border of lace on the silhouette skirt. It was highlighted with a pearl trimmed tiny bow at the front empire and butterfly bow on the cummerbund in back. The back of the dress flowed into a full chapel length train with matching shoulder length candlelight headpiece.

The bride carried a full cascade bouquet of white miniature carnations, phalaenopsis and white orchids outlined with fern, green velvet leaves tied with ivory satin ribbon.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Gilbert of Ayden.

The honor attendant was Mrs. Gloria Carmon, sister of the bride, of Baltimore, Md. She wore a formal length maize chiffon gown with a ruffled neckline of chantilly lace with a floral pattern. The laced also trimmed the long chiffon sleeves at the cuffs. The front of the bodice featured rows of the lace which extended down and bordered the skirt. She carried a white princess basket filled with an assortment of spring flowers tied into a yellow bow with long streamers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Patricia Williams, sister of the bride, Miss Carolyn Robinson, Mrs. Geraldine Reid, Mrs. Carmilla King, Mrs. Sandra McLawhorn, Miss Flossie Dixon, cousin of the bride, Mrs. Betty Jo Patoms, all of Greenville, Miss Pansy Gilbert, sister of the bridegroom, of Ayden, Mrs. Pearl Marrow of Winterville, and Miss Lola Speight, cousin of the bride, of Kinston. They wore dresses similar to that of the matron of honor.

The bridesmaids carried baskets identical to the honor attendants with five tied with mint green bows. While the other five were tied with yellow bows.

Charles Ray of Snow Hill served as best man. Ushers and groomsmen were Lonnie Norcott Cerey Williams, Arthur King, Melvin McLawhorn, cousin of the bride, Bardell McLawhorn, cousin of the bride, Michael Reid and John Williams Jr., brother of the bride, all of Greenville. David Gilbert, brother of the bridegroom, of Ayden, Kenneth Whitfield and John Sutton of Kinston. Andre Worthington of Greenville served as ring bearer.

Mrs. Williams selected for her daughter's wedding, a formal length pink gown designed with long fitted sleeves which featured lacing to the wrist. The empire bodice was also laced to waistline with a long streamer. She wore a matching headpiece in pink silk leaves with a pink velvet bow and a white orchid.

The bridegroom's mother chose a dress of orkad polyester lace knit with v-neckline and empire waist. She wore matching accessories and a white orchid.

Mrs. Alice Darden of New Haven, Conn., grandmother of the bride, wore a blue A-lined silk organza dress overlaid with blue imported lace and matching coat, corresponding accessories and a white orchid.

The wedding was directed by Mrs. Rosa Harris of Greenville. After a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will reside in Greenville.

The bride is a graduate of Robinson Union High School and is presently employed at the Greenville Nursing and Convalescent Home. The bridegroom is a graduate of South Ayden High School and is employed at DuPont, Kinston.

Reception
After the wedding, a reception was given by the parents of the bride at the Masonic Lodge.

The reception table was covered with a white satin cloth centered with an arrangement of yellow and white pompons. Serving were Charles Gatlin assisted by Mrs. Rosa Lee Jones, Mrs. Doris Hensley, Mrs. Ruby Taylor, and Mrs. Lorraine Guthrie. Miss Ruby Reese poured punch.

Mrs. Studie M. Moore presided at the register.

Guests were received by Mrs. W. L. Morris Jr. and William Guthrie. Good-byes were said by Mr. and Mrs. James McLawhorn Jr. of Charlotte.

Following the rehearsal on Friday night, Mr. and Mrs. James McLawhorn Sr. entertained the wedding at a rehearsal party at their home.

The wedding party and friends were entertained at a wedding breakfast Saturday morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Farney Moore Jr.

Shower Honors Bride-Elect

Miss Sherry Hopkins, bride-elect of Tommy Little, was honored Tuesday night at a floating bridal shower at the home of Mrs. Bobby Coggins.

Guest were greeted by Mrs. Coggins and directed to the bridal table which was covered with a white linen cloth and featured a centerpiece of green and white summer flowers flanked on either side with white burning tapers. Punch was poured by Mrs. Coggins.

The bride-elect was remembered with a corsage of white daisies which complemented her yellow crepe ensemble.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Coggins, Mrs. Larry Paramore, Mrs. Jimmy Little and Mrs. Billy Coggins.

Approximately 40 guests attended.

Phooey To Skin And Bone Beauties

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Why do those televised exercise and diet programs always have well-built muscular men, and beautifully shaped women doing the exercises?

We fat women would probably get up and do the exercises right along with them if they were fat and out-of-shape like we are.

We are sure those beautiful people were never fat, so what is the point? It's a lot easier to stay THIN when you've been that way for 25 years.

I would like to see a woman who is 30 pounds overweight like I am doing those exercises! It would give me hope. And if she talked about dieting, I'd diet with her. And if after a month I could see some improvement in her, I would be inspired to follow her example.

Phooey on these skin and bone beauties! I don't even turn on the TV to watch them anymore!

FAT AND DISGUSTED

DEAR FAT: I get your message. Now if some sharp-eyed advertising agency would pick up the cue! [P. S. It would be a short-lived TV career. They'd be looking for a new "Fatso" every year.]

DEAR ABBY: I recently had a very upsetting experience. I failed to recognize an important businessman who occasionally visits our office. As a result, my boss, who has a vile temper, reprimanded me harshly. Anyway, that episode caused me to spend the entire weekend in bed with a migraine headache.

Perhaps I should have recognized the man, but he wasn't dressed as he usually is.

Now I live in absolute terror that it will happen again. Abby, why can't men realize that we receptionists see many people during the day and we don't really "see" anyone.

Also, if these egomaniacs would tell us their names instead of saying, "Please tell your boss that I am here," it would save a lot of frayed nerves.

So how do I tactfully ask a man what his name is without shattering his colossal male ego?

RECEPTIONIST

DEAR RECEPTIONIST: Forget the male ego and use a little moxie. When a man comes into the office, smile your brightest smile and routinely ask, "—and whom shall I say is calling, sir?" [He'll probably think you're kidding, but it's ten to one he will pompously tell you his name.] P. S. If you are "living in absolute terror" of repeating such a minor offense, maybe you ought to look for a new boss or another line of work.

DEAR ABBY: I read something in your column that made me laugh out loud. Then I suddenly realized that it was the answer to my problem.

You said, "If you pick a lemon, make a lemonade." For years I hung on to a husband who wanted a divorce, but I wouldn't give it to him. [He fell in love with someone who worked for him.] I kept hoping things would change. Now I realize things will never change, so I am letting him go.

If ever a woman picked a lemon, I did. And before I waste any more precious time on my lemon I am going to take your advice and make a great big lemonade. And I shall drink a toast to you and your wise advice.

Hanoi-Haiphong Military Complex Gets Pounding

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — American fighter-bombers gave the Hanoi-Haiphong military complex on Thursday its hardest pounding since the resumption of full-scale bombing more than two months ago, U.S. military spokesmen announced today.

Pilots said they hit barracks, storage depots and vehicle maintenance facilities four and five miles west of Hanoi, left a fuel depot in flames a mile northwest of Haiphong, wrecked war materials at the Cat Bi airfield on the southeastern edge of the port city and dropped two railroad bridges within 25 miles of the Chinese border.

More than 200 strikes were flown over the North Thursday, considerably fewer than the total of more than 300 the day before. But spokesmen said more targets were hit in the Hanoi-Haiphong area than on any previous day.

While the fighter-bombers were hitting the northern end of the country Thursday, B52s were pounding the southern panhandle for the first time in nearly two months.

The targets today were supply depots scattered from inside the demilitarized zone to 31 miles north of the DMZ. One senior officer said he could find no evidence that American bombing has deprived the North Vietnamese of supplies in South Vietnam's northern provinces. But he said it is "only a matter of time."

Radio Hanoi reported that an F4 Phantom was shot down Thursday over Vinh Linh, just north of the DMZ, and the pilot was captured. The broadcast did not give his name, nor did it say if he was injured or what happened to the second crewman. Earlier Hanoi claimed that three U.S. planes were downed Thursday.

The U.S. Command announced no losses in the North Thursday. But it said a Navy RAS reconnaissance jet crashed into the Tonkin Gulf 17 miles southeast of Haiphong Wednesday and the two crewmen were rescued unhurt.

One U.S. Air Force Phantom flying a night mission in defense of besieged An Loc, 60 miles north of Saigon, accidentally dropped a bomb on South Vietnamese troops in the city and killed 10 of them, the U.S. Command said.

One Injured As Cars Collide

One person was injured and an estimated $500 damage caused when two cars collided about 3:43 p.m. yesterday on Memorial Drive, 100 feet South of the Fifth Street intersection.

Police identified drivers of the vehicles involved as Hazel Basnight Dixon of Williamston and Peggy Fornes Peaden, 28, of Fountain.

Damage was estimated at $300 to the Dixon car and $200 to the Peaden vehicle.

Officers, who reported a passenger in the Dixon car was injured, charged Mrs. Peaden with failing to reduce her speed enough to avoid an accident.

Forward Step In Enforcement

It is no secret that crime has been on the increase in this nation, and it has meant that law enforcement agencies have had to turn to more sophisticated means of combatting it.

There are offices still working who can recall when city and county law enforcement agencies had no two way radio for communication. Now there is a complicated network of police radios operating on a number of frequencies.

The county took another giant step in the field of police communication when the county commissioners authorized Sheriff Ralph Tyson to have a Police Information Network terminal installed at the Court House.

Included will be a cathode ray tube and typewriter type keyboard by which the Sheriff's Department will secure and send information from and to other law enforcement agencies in North Carolina and the nation.

The system will be able to handle information on stolen autos and other articles and obtain instant identification of vehicles from the N. C. Department of Motor Vehicles.

It will also print out the information which is viewed on the screen.

This is another step forward in speeding up the flow of information which can be so essential to police officers. The first year's rent on the equipment will be paid wht Law Enforcement Assistance Administration grants through the Mic-East Economic Development Commission's Law Enforcement Planning Division. After that, however, we feel that the system will have proven so effective that it will be continued. This is another tool to make oue law enforcement agencies more effective.

Many Activities Are Available To Citizens

Earlier this week a story in the Daily Reflector outlined a number of summer programs available to our citizens through the Recreation Department.

Such things as baseball, theater, tennis, swimming, horse back riding and other programs are available.

There is a variety of activity for local citizens through our city recreation program. Now is the time for each of us to look into those programs which appeal to us.

The Governors vs. McGovern

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
HOUSTON—Worried Democratic governors who grilled Sen. George McGovern until 1 a.m. Tuesday, though impressed by his salesmanship and pleasantly surprised by his flexibility, hardly revised their bleak view that a McGovern-Nixon contest for President portends calamity for the Democratic party.

That means the goal of Gov. Patrick J. Lucey of Wisconsin, McGovern's agent among the governors, in arranging the visit to the National Governors Conference here was only half-achieved.

McGovern dramatically demonstrated he cares about establishment governors as well as anti-establishment insurgents. But he failed to convince them that he or his ideas are politically marketable.

Thus, unable to prevent McGovern's nomination by forces outside the party structure and through processes mysterious to them, the governors see making of a catastrophe for the entire ticket this year.

Lucey, a canny veteran of Presidential politics and one of several top-level Kennedy operatives taking over McGovern campaign strategy, accurately sized up the situation when he arrived in Houston Sunday: his fellow governors, despite forebodings over McGovern's nomination, lack the will or power to try stopping it.

Gov. Jimmy Carter of Georgia, envisioning a stop-McGovern movement, discovered the same thing. His colleagues agreed with him but flinched from the risk of getting involved. The two most possible alternatives, Sens. Hubert Humphrey and Edmund S. Muskie, excite few governors.

So, Lucey's task was to convince the governors to not only accept the inevitability of McGovern but actually like it. Entering a Democratic governors caucus Sunday afternoon, Lucey stuck a McGovern campaign pin in Carter's pocket, telling him:

"Keep it. You'll need it later." Contrary to expectations, Carter did not mention McGovern during the caucus.

But McGovern was mentioned in private talks among the governors, worried sick that a McGovern-led ticket would elect Republican Senators, Congressmen and governors in their states.

Governors controlling uncommitted delegates—Warren Hearnes of Missouri, Wendell Ford of Kentucky, John West of South Carolina—hardened in their anti-McGovern hostility.

Consequently, when Lucey received his 7 a.m. call Monday from the Shamrock Hilton Hotel operator, he decided to recommend a McGovern visit that very night. The breakfast caucus of Democratic governors 45 minutes later only confirmed Lucey's judgement.

Gov. Mike O'Callaghan of Nevada, who lost a leg fighting in Korea, was furious over "that s.o.b. McGovern" demanding a Vietnam pullout without first negotiating the release of American prisoners-of-war. Hearne joined in, as did Carter and Gov. William Waller of Mississippi. When Waller asked how many governors thought McGovern would carry their states, only three raised their hands.

Lucey replied that he, too, once doubted McGovern's vote-getting ability but was convinced by the Wisconsin primary. McGovern is riding an anti-establishment tide, Lucey added, that is as strong in the South as elsewhere.

"But Pat," responded the sardonic Gov. John J. Gilligan of Ohio, "WE'RE the establishment." The sense of the establishment at bay pervaded the remarkable two-hour interrogation of McGovern that night. Gov. Frank Licht of Rhode Island grumbled that though McGovern won his state's primary with only a 10 per cent Democratic turnout, McGovern forces there are now pushing everybody around. Gov. James Eon of Nebraska, who has endorsed SHALL I BE A MINISTER?

Only one man in several hundred would answer Yes to that question. Although we need more ministers and will get more as time goes on, there probably will never be need for more than one out of three hundred persons becoming a minister. But the choice to that one person, to the groups he serves, to his country and to the Church is a matter of vast importance.

If a man is suited to the ministry—if he feels a "call"—there is no other work so pleasant, helpful and rewarding both to him and to the people he serves. The minister deals with the most important issues of life. He spends his adult years among the choice people of every community. He helps

Abridging The 'Right To Die'

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH — Modern medical technology has abridged the human right to die.

A recent magazine article told of a man kept alive, semi-conscious, for eight years at a cost of $300,000 to his family. At any point, according to a physician, the apparatus sustaining life would not get well.

That night they said the usual prayer. Then they said, "No God, we didn't mean that. Help him not to have too much pain. Help him to know we love him."

Prayer For Patience

My prayer is that he be conscious of God's love, and that he have the patience to face his condition.

And I think that has been answered. Not once has he complained or shown any bitterness. He has been an inspiration to all of us.

Q. Isn't it a temptation to ask why?

A: Naturally, the questions come. The farther I have gone along in life, the stronger my faith has become.

I no longer ask why. I ask, "Lord, what lesson do You have for me to learn from this experience?"

Yes, I have learned. We don't learn a great deal from fun and pleasure. We learn from trial, disappointment, and trying again.

Q. Is Christian faith relevant in meeting personal tragedy?

A: Christ is as relevant to life today as He has ever been, and just as capable of meeting our needs.

could have been disconnected and the end would have come in three days.

"That kind of thing, I think is wrong," said Dr. Perry Crouch.

"We must fight disease and its causes. When a person, through disease, faces a future in which life with purpose and meaning is impossible he ought to be allowed to die with dignity."

Dr. Crouch spoke from a background of Christian faith and intimate experience. Twenty years pastor of First Baptist Church of Asheville, he has been general secretary-treasurer of the Baptist State Convention since 1964.

His son, Dr. Robert Perry Crouch of Asheville, is fatally ill with a brain tumor.

At 42, Dr. Bob Crouch had everything to live for. A surgeon of wide reputation, he was a civic leader and father of five children.

Tragedy Out of The Blue

Out of the blue he was stricken last January. Rapidly the tumor exerted its dominance. Now, only the time required for it to waste away his strong athletic body remains.

The ordeal is one the father has faced before. Five years ago his first wife died with cancer. So did a brother. Last November, a grandson was killed in a plane accident.

In the hope that others might be helped to find resources to bear personal tragedy, Dr. Crouch granted the following interview.

Q. What can one pray for when a loved one has incurable illness?

A. I put Bob's 10-year-old twin sons to bed several nights. At first they prayed, "Make Daddy well." One day we had to tell them Daddy

SELF DEFEATING ARGUMENT !

$1,000 For Everybody

WASHINGTON—One of the most intriguing parts of Sen. George McGovern's tax-reform plan is that he would give every man, woman and child in the United States $1,000 a year in cash. The money would be taxable, and the majority of Americans would have to return it. But those in a low enough tax bracket or no tax bracket could keep the money as guaranteed income.

It blows one's mind to think what would happen if everyone in this country received a check for $1,000. It is "check" day and Mr. and Mrs. Amberson and their three children—Robert, 17,

Sarah, 14 and Todd, 9—have just received their $1,000 allotments from the government with a short note:

Dear American:

Enclosed please find a $1,000 check as part of my tax program. If you don't need it, please send it back to the treasury, as we can use any surplus money you can spare.

Sincerely,
President George McGovern

"Oh boy," Robert says, "Now I can buy a new motorcycle."

"Wait a minute," Mr. Amberson says. "I want all those checks. I have to pay taxes on them, and since

Other Editors Say Common Sense

(The Wilson Times)

The landmark order by a U.S. District Court judge has been reversed by the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in a 5-1 decision. The original order by Judge Robert R. Merhige Jr. changed the boundaries of Richmond Va., and two adjoining counties. This was the first time such a step had been taken in the assignment of pupils to public schools.

The district courts have handed some decisions that even to the layman do not carry legal reasoning. The original decision compelled the State of Virginia to restructure its internal government for the purpose of racial balance in the public schools.

The appellate court reversed the decision of Judge Merhige who had ordered separate governmental entities merged—the schools of Richmond city and those of suburban Henrico and Chesterfield counties. The supporting of the schools would cause a problem as well as transportation. This is the first ruling in which separate governmental entities have been ordered merged to attain racial balance in schools.

Judge Merhige will go any distance to bring about racial balance. The Richmond public schools are 64 per cent black, the Henrico County schools are 92 per cent white and those of Chesterfield County 91 per cent white.

The reasoning on which the decision was made did not stand up as is evident. And it appears some of the decisions are based on the dimmest of reasoning.

The appeals court also discounted one of the key contentions of the Richmond School Board, which filed the suit for consolidation on which Merhige ruled.

Facts do not support the contention that the heavy white population in Henrico and Chesterfield counties is the result of flight from Richmond. The Richmond white school population decreased from 17,203 in 1970-71 to 13,500 in 1971-72, a net loss of 3,703 in a total school enrollment of 48,824. But the students did not go to Chesterfield or Henrico counties. Both counties show a net white enrollment loss for the same period.

There isn't anything in the Constitution which requires racial balance by restructuring the lines which separate the counties and local boundaries.

As to busing, this has gone further, especially in this case, than common sense dictates. It is fortunate the Merhige decision has been reversed.

Amberson replies. "You're not going to spend your $1,000 on bubble gum."

"Sean Reilly's mom lets him spend $1,000 on anything he wants to. Last year he bought his own Coke machine."

"No one," Mr. Amberson shouts, "is spending any of his money on motorcycles, tapes or bubble gum!"

"Would you believe a new washer and dryer?" Mrs. Amberson asks.

"No, not even a new washer and dryer. This is not our money. It belongs to the government," Mr. Amberson cries. "Why can't you get that through your heads?"

"Why would the government send it to us if it didn't want us to have it?" Robert demands.

"Because President McGovern believes it's easier to give $1,000 to everyone and then have them give it back. In this way you don't have a welfare mess."

"If I can't buy tapes with my $1,000," Sarah says, "I'm going to buy an airplane ticket to Japan, and you'll never hear from me again."

Little Todd says, "I think I'll buy a color television set for my room with half of it, and with the other half I'll buy Sean Reilly's baseball cards."

Life's Good Things

NEW YORK (AP) — Things that make life worth living:

The look of wondering what to do next on the face of a small child after he takes the first two steps of his life without falling down.

The feeling of bedtime drowsiness after a day filled with outdoor activity.

Having someone to console you in a time of grief, and realizing that this someone makes it worthwhile to stay alive.

Walking at night from a

You hate to go to the 25th reunion of your high school class because you're fat, and you feel that when you meet your former sweetheart there you'll look ridiculous. So you diet off 30 pounds and when you finally do meet your old flame you discover she has three chins and outweighs you by 15 pounds.

Admiring the soaring flight patterns a hawk makes against the blue sky on a windy day.

Running for shelter with a pretty girl just as the raindrops begin to patter on the picnic.

Being told by your friends that you actually look a lot handsomer and younger than the picture the local paper printed of you after your election as neighborhood chairman of a charity drive.

Coming upon a really tasty new soft drink that pleases you after you've been on the wagon for three whole months and see nothing but a palate-palling future ahead.

Deciding that pride alone won't permit you to die now because you haven't achieved enough yet to make a respectable brag on your tombstone.

A county-wide sing will be held in the Austin Building at East Carolina Teachers College Friday night at 8 o'clock, it was announced today by Miss Ethel Nice, director of the Pitt County Home Demonstration Department. Miss Nice said between three or four hundred people representing seven or eight communities would take part in the sing. The theme will be "A Trip Around the World in Music."

Thieves, operating extensively in this community for the last several months, are turning their attention to porch furniture, according to latest reports of their activity made public today. Thieves carried away virtually all porch furniture at a home on Greene Street Tuesday night leaving only one piece of furniture behind.

Tribal Slaughter

KIGALI, Rwanda (AP) — The slaughter of Hutu tribesmen is continuing in neighboring Burundi despite government reports that the situation is returning to normal, informed sources in Rwanda say.

All members of the Hutu tribe who can read and write are being taken from their villages at night by members of the Tutsi tribe and killed, one source said.

The Hutus make up 85 per cent of the four million population in the landlocked little East African nation. But the Tutsis have run the country for generations and fear the Hutus will exterminate them if they ever start to get the upper hand.

Since an attempt by the Hutus to overthrow the Tutsi regime six weeks ago, 100,000 tribesmen have been killed, according to missionaries and relief officials.

The government admits to 50,000 deaths and claims that all were Tutsis. It said that any killing of Hutus were "isolated acts of individuals settling old scores."

Assails French Nuclear Testing

STOCKHOLM (AP) — New Zealand's environment minister assailed France today for carrying out "intolerable" nuclear tests in the Pacific and urged the U.N. environment conference to condemn the blasts.

The minister, Duncan MacIntyre, said the tests have outraged New Zealanders and other peoples in the region. He pledged to work with other Pacific nations to force the environment conference to pressure Paris for a halt.

"To me it seems strange that a conference called to protect the environment should try to put the question of the misuse of nuclear energy into a cupboard," he said. "What other form of pollution has so much power to change the world and has so little known about it?"

MacIntyre drew attention to a joint statement offered by Pacific delegations in a committee on identification and control of pollutants.

MacIntyre was referring to French nuclear bomb tests on the French-owned Mururoa Atoll near Tahiti in the South Pacific.

The French and the Chinese have refused to abide by the 1963 agreement banning nuclear testing in the atmosphere. Paris has continued to test bombs as part of its program of building the nuclear force de frappe demanded by former President Charles de Gaulle.

The tests have met with frequent protests from countries in the South Pacific. Backing the New Zealand protest today were Japan, Ecuador, Fiji, Canada, Peru, Malaysia and the Philippines. Australia, although not a part of the protest, also has complained to France about the tests.

Land-Measuring Service Can Still Be Asked

Stacy J. Evans, Pitt County Executive Director for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, points out that little time remains for farmers to request set-aside inspection and acreage measurement.

Requests for the services are still being accepted at the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office, according to Evans. He urged Farmers who have any question about their set-aside land to get the correct answer before certifying.

"Farmers can come in as soon as their 1972 plantings are complete and certify their acreage. Of course, the earlier a farmer certifies, the earlier he will receive payment," Evans said.

Set-aside inspection and measurement service must be requested early enough for the county office to perform the work by June 20th.

He was convicted of breach of the public peace and advocating acts of violence at the parade in November 1970.

Mrs. Amberson says, "but I'm not giving this one back. I earned this $1,000."

"How did you earn it?" Mr. Amberson asks.

"By working 18 hours a day, 365 days a year!"

"Please," Mr. Amberson begs, "endorse the checks and give them to me. I'll put them in the bank and on April 15 we'll send them back to the government. Otherwise, I'll wind up going to jail."

There is dead silence in the dining room. Suddenly Sean Reilly comes in waving his check. "Hey Todd, I'll buy your roller skates for $1,000."

"Sold," Todd says. "Hurry up!" Sean yells, "before my dad finds out where I am."

HONEYMOON

The wedding bells rang, the bride was radiant, the groom's mother cried, just a little, and the maid of honor caught the bouquet. It was a perfect wedding, and the honeymoon has been ideal.

Tomorrow, this young couple will be going home to begin a new way of life. In it, reality will be combined with romance. There will be the blending of two temperaments under a single roof. There will be all the frustrations of daily living, and the pain as well as the pleasure that comes with just being alive.

How will they adjust? That depends on the basics that were taught to them years ago, in their own homes—and in church.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, continuing the decline of the past four sessions, slipped moderately today. Trading was slow.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which had dropped some 20 points in previous sessions this week, was off 5.57 at 935.73 by noon. Declines led advances on the New York Stock Exchange by nearly 2 to 1.

Analysts continued to cite as a major reason for the weakness concern about the economic proposals advanced by South Dakota Sen. George McGovern in his bid for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Other depressants, they said, were signs that inflation and unemployment were resisting new economic policies and the possibility of international monetary problems raised by the soaring price of gold abroad.

The losers included aircrafts, chemicals, and tobaccos. Mail order-retail were higher. All other groups were mixed.

Levitz Furniture was off 1 3/4 at 36 1/4 in active trading. The stock was the biggest loser on the Big Board Thursday, when it dropped 2 1/2.

The company announced Tuesday the resignation of its president, Leon J. Levitz. Last week the Securities and Exchange Commission accused the company of violating federal securities laws.

GMC Seeks Court Delay

WASHINGTON (AP) — General Motors Corp. has gone to court in an effort to gain a one-year extension of the Environmental Protection Agency's 1975 deadline for auto-emission standards.

The nation's largest auto maker Thursday asked the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Washington, D.C., to review the Environmental Protection Agency's rejection of GM's request for a one-year delay.

In New York, GM Chairman Richard C. Gerstenberg issued a statement saying the firm disagrees with the EPA decision to stick to the 1975 deadline.

"We believe that the record of the hearing establishes that effective control technology and systems durability is not now available and cannot be available in time."

The EPA turned down the request May 12.

In Detroit, Chrysler said it also had requested a court review of the EPA decision.

'Bargain Booze' In Ohio Sales

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans will get a shot of bargain basement booze this month.

The state Liquor Control Department is planning a "remnants day sale" beginning June 16 at 25 stores around the state.

Prices will be slashed $1, $2 or $3 a bottle on 137 items, liquor Director Richard E. Guggenheim said today. The sale items are being discontinued as regular stock at state liquor stores.

"We are cutting prices and getting rid of slow-moving merchandise just as any good merchant would do," said Guggenheim.

Guggenheim expects to make about $2.5 million, coming "out above cost" on the sale.

First Lady At CampDavid, Too

THURMONT, Md. (AP) — First Lady Pat Nixon has joined the President for his postsummit rest at nearby Camp David.

Nixon flew here by helicopter Tuesday and his wife drove up Thursday, accompanied by Mrs. Roger Johnson, an old family friend and wife of a presidential aide.

The White House said Nixon, who recently returned from the Moscow summit meeting, continued to work on domestic matters—a broad category that spokesmen declined to make more specific.

Upheld Legality Order Fines Of Wiretapping For Airlines

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The 8th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals has upheld the legality of wiretapping in affirming the convictions of four men charged with possessing and transporting illegally imported heroin.

The action came four days after U. S. District Court Judge Joseph S. Lord III of Philadelphia ruled in another case that the 1968 federal wiretap law was "unconstitutional on its face." Judge Lord said it violated the 4th Amendment's protection from unreasonable search.

The ruling by the appeals court came Monday and was disclosed publicly Thursday.

Woody's Ramblin's

By WOODY PEELE

Apparently, the Philadelphia 76ers are in no hurry to choose their new head basketball coach.

Yesterday, it was publicly revealed that East Carolina University Head Basketball Coach Tom Quinn was one of two or three people being considered for the job.

Quinn's name was first linked with the 76ers in late April, when he had his initial interview with the club. General Manager Don DeJarden, contacted by the Daily Reflector at that time, said he hoped to have a decision in "10 days to two weeks."

In the meantime, however, he would not comment on anyone's name except that of Al McGuire, coach of Marquette University, who's name had been made public by the owners of the 76ers.

DeJarden did say that five or six people were being considered for the position.

As the weeks dragged by, however, it began to appear that the problem of finding a new coach was not going to be an easy one.

Now, reportedly, DeJarden feels it will be "about two weeks" before the team is ready to name a coach, although it could come earlier.

Aside from McGuire, Quinn doesn't know who the others are, although he does have a few ideas. Reportedly, a late entrant into the group is New York Knickerbocker Coach Red Holtzman, but again, there has been no confirmation of this.

The well-kept secret of Quinn's candidacy finally slipped out late last week in the Philadelphia area when someone asked Tom about it at a basketball camp he helped with near there.

Then, earlier this week, he was contacted by the Philadelphia papers regarding it. He referred them, as he has others back to DeJarden, saying he was in no position to make any comment.

Quinn's current contract with East Carolina doesn't become effective until July 1, so apparently it would not be difficult for him to leave should the job be offered him.

Should Quinn move on to the pros, it would mean a complete change-over in the basketball staff at East Carolina. Assistant Coach Tom Crump has already resigned, and it is reported that Harry Brown, the other assistant, is leaving to take a head coaching position.

East Carolina would then be in the position of having to start a "new season" quite late, although Quinn has done quite a bit of recruiting already, and is continuing to do so.

"I like my position here," he said yesterday. "I'm working for East Carolina University right now."

Hopefully, the 76ers will make their decision soon. When they do, East Carolina will then know its future.

But we hope this time that DeJarden's "Two weeks" will not stretch out into nearly two months again.

Carolina Dairy Edges Builders

Carolina Dairy outlasted Home Builders, 12-9, last night to pull within a half-game of first place in the Babe Ruth League.

The Dairymen now hold a 5-3 record, a half-game out of first. Home Builders is now 2-6.

Carolina Dairy pushed into the lead in the first inning scoring a pair of runs. Dickie Johnson walked and moved up on an out and a steal. Wayne Miller also walked and stole second. Both scored when Jimmy Peszko doubled.

In the third, Carolina Dairy scored one more. Griff Garner singled and stole second. He scored when Peszko reached on a fielder's choice.

Another crossed in the fourth. Edwin Clark singled and stole second. He moved up on an out and scored on Dickie Johnson's single. That made it 4-0.

Two more crossed in the fifth. Kevin Walker led off with a homer. Wesley Deal then doubled and after moving to third on Leonard Williams' error, he scored on a double steal.

Home Builders then rallied to score six runs in the bottom of the fifth to tie it at 6-6. Mose Stocks walked and Jon West reached on an error. Chris Manning walked to load the bases. Ricky Harris doubled in all three runners and Jim Wilkerson reached on a fielder's choice. Carlton Walls walked, loading the bases and Joe Godette singled in Harris and Wilkerson. Stocks got another hit, scoring Walls with the tying run.

Carolina Dairy went back out with one in the sixth, but Home Builders got two to take the lead, 8-7. Two by the Dairymen put them ahead in the top of the seventh, but the Builders got a run in their half to tie it and force extra innings.

In the eighth, however, Carolina Dairy moved ahead to end it. Deal singled and stole second. He moved up on a passed ball and scored on an error. Williams walked and took second on a passed ball. Chris Garrett also walked, and passed balls let both runners come around to score. Johnson and Deal led the Dairy hitting with three each while Garner and Walker each had two. Wilkerson and Godette each had two for Home Builders.

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Key To The Mint will be backed by one of the great winning Belmont Stakes teams—trainer Elliott Burch, Jockey Braulio Baeza and owner Paul Mellon—when he goes after the final jewel of the Triple Crown Saturday.

Key To The Mint, Kentucky Derby winner Riva Ridge and Jersey Derby winner Smiling Jack were expected to oppose seven or eight other 3-year-olds but not Preakness winner Bee Bee Bee who is skipping the 1 1/2-mile Belmont.

Entries for the $125,000-added classic were scheduled to close at 10:30 a.m., EDT, today and to be followed by the draw for post positions.

Post time for the 104th Belmont will be 5:35 p.m., with television coverage from 5 p.m.-6 p.m. and radio coverage from 5:25-5:45 p.m., both by CBS.

This will be Burch's fourth Belmont and he won his previous three, with Brookmeade Stable's Sword Dancer in 1959 and with Mellon's only other Belmont horses, Quadrangle in 1964 and Arts and Letters in 1969.

Baeza, a veteran of 10 Belmonts, won with Sherlock, who returned $132.10, biggest payoff in the history of the race, in 1961; Chateaugay in 1963, and Arts and Letters.

Checking For Television

A crew from ABC Television visited Greenville recently to check on preparations for the October 14 telecast of the East Carolina University-Citadel football game over a regional network. They are shown here talking with ECU Business Manager Cliff

Taff Office Takes 12-8 Victory Over M-K-S; Little Mint In Win

Taff Office rolled to a 12-8 victory over Moore-King-Sullivan in the Senior Babe Ruth League last night. In another game, played in Kinston, The Little Mint took a 13-5 win over Kinston.

In the Greenville game, Moore-King-Sullivan led off with a run in the first inning as Herb Wilkerson cracked out a homer.

They added four more in the second frame. Steve Evans reached on an error and Steve Fuchs walked. Wilkerson singled in Evans and Wayne Bailey's double brought in Fuchs. Rick Boles reached on an error to score Wilkerson, and Mike Wallace was safe on another miscue, bringing in Bailey for a 5-0 lead.

Taff Office got going in the bottom of the second, scoring two runs. Jack Jones reached on an error as did Jeff Daniels. Gary Hall walked, loading the bases. Dean Phillips reached on a fielder's choice, scoring both Jones and Daniels.

M-K-S picked up another run in the fourth. Wilkerson was hit by a pitch and Bailey singled. An error on his hit let Wilkerson score, making it 6-2.

Taff came up with four in the bottom of the fourth to tie it up. Hall reached on an error and Dave Clifton walked. Don Cannon singled and Cleve Averette singled in Hall. Gene Vincent drove in Clifton and Cannon with a hit, and a wild pitch scored Averette with the tying run.

Taff then charged into the lead with five more in the fifth. Hall walked and Dean Phillips reached on a fielder's choice. Clifton singled in Hall and Averette walked to load the bases. Vincent grounded out, but Phillips scored on the play. Jones was intentionally walked and Howard Leggett also walked, forcing in Clifton. Daniels singled to score Averett, and Pete Cullup singled to score Jones with the 11th Taff run.

M-K-S scored two more in the sixth, while Taff got another in the bottom of the frame to end the scoring.

Wilkerson had three hits and Bailey had two for M-K-S, while Cannon had two to pace Taff.

In Kinston, The Little Mint took the lead with two runs in the first inning as Danny Tripp tripled in one, then scored the other on a base hit.

Greg Nelson tripled in another run in the second, and scored on Eddie McCullom's single. McCullom later scored on an out, and Tripp got another triple to score a third run in the inning, later scoring himself again for a 6-1 lead after two innings.

Kinston came up with three in the third, while Little Mint got two in the fifth and one in the sixth. Kinston scored one in the fifth.

Finally in the seventh, Little Mint capped it off with four runs in the seventh. They scored on a pair of two runs singles by James Willis and Doug Phillips. Jim Herring led the Little Mint scoring with three, while Phillips and Tripp each had two.

Optimists Nip Coca-Cola, 5-3

The Optimists boosted their lead in the North State Little League by edging past Coca-Cola, 5-3, yesterday in seven innings.

The win left the Optimists with a 6-2 record, while Coca-Cola fell out of a tie for second place into a 4-4 record.

The Optimists pushed into the lead in the third inning. James Shoe singled and moved up on Keith Ward's hit. Eric McCormick singled, scoring Shoe for a 1-0 lead.

Coke came up with a run in the third to tie it at 1-1. Mark Berbert walked and Will Sanderson singled. Jerome Ross then got a double, driving in Berbert to tie it up.

Coke then added two runs to their score in the fourth to take a 3-1 lead. Ronnie Chapman walked and Marshall Crumpler reached on a fielder's choice. Passed balls then brought both runners around to put Coke into the lead.

The Optimists struggled back in the fifth inning, getting one run. Greg Lee reached on a fielder's choice and moved up on Jeff Aldridge's single. Passed balls brought him around, cutting the Coke lead to 3-2.

In the sixth, the Optimists pushed over the tying run. Randy Hodges doubled and took third on a passed ball. Ward then singled to drive him in and tie it.

In the seventh, two Optimists came over, giving them to win. Lee doubled and scored when Aldridge followed with another two-bagger. Aldridge moved on to third on a passed ball and scored when Bubba Rowlette singled.

Lee Aldridge, Hodges and Ward each had two hits for the Optimists. No one had more than one for Coke.

Little Mint In Ninth Win

The Little Mint won its ninth straight Ladies Softball League game last night and began the championship countdown. Little Mint beat Piggly-Wiggly, 3-0, while Coca-Cola beat Three Steers, 6-0, and Beltone ripped Azalea Mobile homes, 28-2.

The combination of the Little Mint win and the Three Steers loss eliminated the latter from the championship race. Azalea and Piggly-Wiggly can now only tie at best. The overall magic number for Little Mint is five.

In the opener, Coke got all it needed in the first inning. Connie Summers singled and Linda Summerlin doubled. Rhonda Mills singled in Summers and Kathryn Phillips reached on a fielder's choice, scoring Sum-merlin for a 2-0 lead. Coke then added two in the third and two more in the sixth.

Beltone also picked up all it needed in the first inning, scoring six runs. Georgia Potter singled and Joyce Sawyer walked. Both scored on Cynthia Averette's triple. Sandy Barnhill singled in Averette and Donna Harry got a hit. Peggy Morris doubled in Barnhill and Harry and Julia Gurganus singled. A passed ball scored Morris with the sixth run.

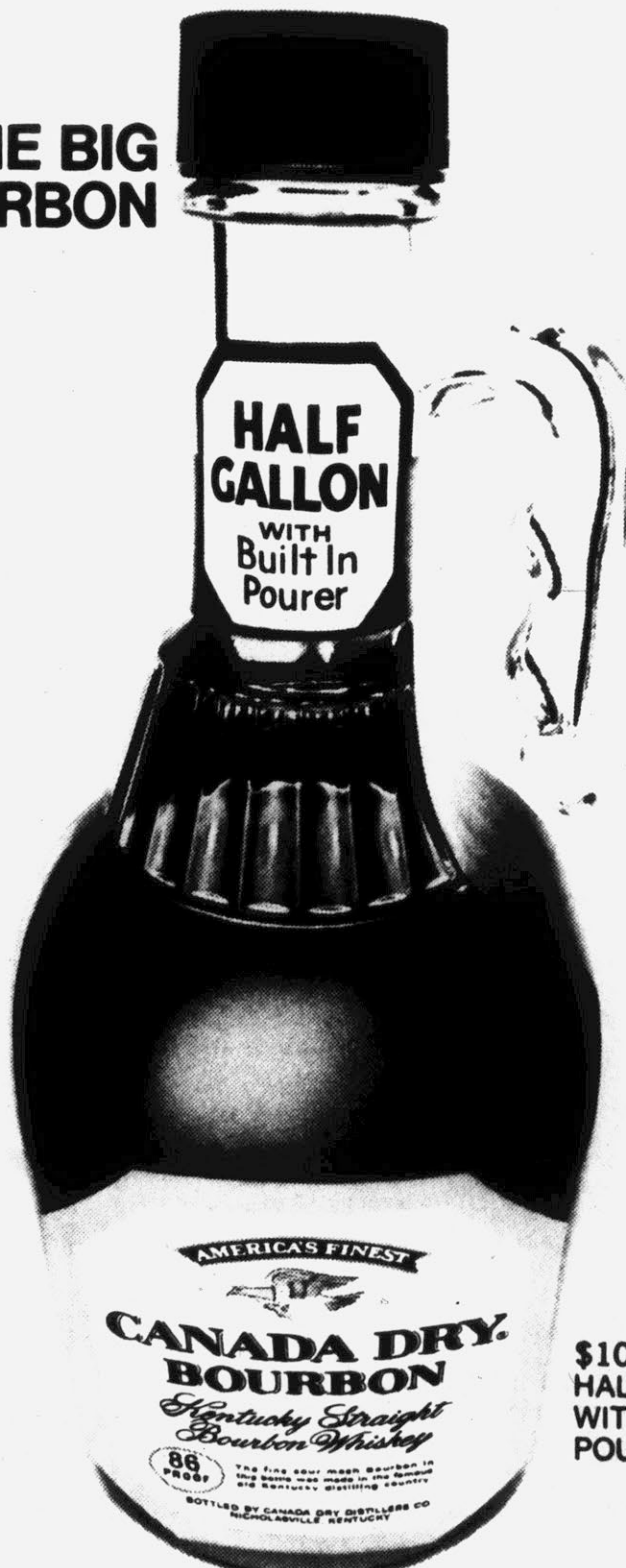

Beltone added 11 in the second with a homer by Debra Pfeil, then picked up three more in the third as Pfeil homered again. Five more scored in the fourth and three in the fifth with another Pfeil homer. Both Azalea runs came in the third inning.

In the final game, Little Mint put all of its scoring into the third inning. Winkie Phillips reached on a fielder's choice and Carol Manuel doubled. A passed ball scored Phillips and Linda Tripp homered to drive in Manuel ahead of herself.

Jeff Head had a pair of hits to pace Kinston.

Bucs, LA Warm Up For Meeting Some Idea Of Future Of ABA May Come Soon

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Pittsburgh Pirates and Los Angeles Dodgers, picked by most experts to win the National League division races, warmed up for their weekend confrontation in their respective time-honored fashions Thursday night.

The heavy-hitting Pirates crashed three home runs among their 15 hits and buried San Diego 11-2 while the speed-conscious Dodgers scored the winning run without a hit—Billy Grabarkewitz racing all the way home from second base on a wild pitch—to nip the Chicago Cubs 2-1.

Combined with Cincinnati's 5-3 triumph over New York, the Dodgers remained one-half game ahead of the Reds in the NL West while the world champion Pirates climbed to within 1½ games of the Mets in the East.

Elsewhere Atlanta nipped Montreal 3-2, Philadelphia tripped Houston 7-2 and St. Louis shaded San Francisco 6-4.

In the only American League game, Texas trimmed the New York Yankees 6-2 and Milwaukee took Kansas City 4-3.

Tommy John of the Dodgers and Juan Pizarro of the Cubs were locked in a 1-1 struggle—Jose Cardenal singled home Chicago's run in the fourth and Steve Garvey homered for Los Angeles in the seventh—when Manager Walter Alston made his move in the eighth and sent the little-used Grabarkewitz up to bat for John.

Grabarkewitz walked and Bobby Valentine sacrificed him to second. Pizarro then uncorked a wild pitch and catcher Randy Hundley was unable to pick the ball up when he slipped and fell at the box seat railing, allowing Grabarkewitz to score.

In the dressing room, the Dodgers' self-styled Kangaroo Court gave Grabby the Winged Foot Award for the baserunning error of the night—sliding into the plate head first although no throw was forthcoming.

The Pirates, on the other hand, are more used to trotting than running. Willie Stargell, Richie Hebner and Jackie Hernandez all produced their home run trots in a 15-hit attack that routed the Padres. In addition, Al Oliver drove in four runs with a pair of singles and Vic Davallillo lashed two run-scoring doubles.

Cincinnati jumped on Mets' ace Tom Seaver for four runs in the first inning on singles by Pete Rose and Joe Morgan, Johnny Bench's sacrifice fly, a single by Tony Perez and Joe Hague's two-run homer. Perez homered off Danny Frisella in the eighth.

Larry Bowa drove in three runs and Tommy Hutton belted a two-run homer as the Phillies whipped the Astros and made it two victories in a row for the first time in more than a month. Billy Champion held Houston to one hit over the first six innings but needed help from Joe Hoerner in the seventh. Bob Watson of the Astros hit his 10th home run in the ninth inning.

Felix Millan drilled a tie-breaking double in the fifth inning and then scored what proved to be the winning run on Darrell Evans sacrifice fly as the Braves downed the Expos. Rico Carty homered for the first Atlanta run while reliever Jim Hardin picked up his first National League triumph.

San Francisco's Sam McDowell had a 4-1 lead over St. Louis in the eighth inning when the Cardinals exploded for five runs on Ted Simmons' bases-loaded triple and Donn Clendenon's two-run homer off reliever Don McMahon.

Dick Billings hit a two-run homer off Mel Stottlemyre in the first inning and singled to start another two-run flurry in the fourth as Texas drubbed the Yankees.

Milwaukee scored two runs on a throwing error by Kansas City second baseman Cookie Rojas and two more on RBI singles by pitcher Bill Parsons and Billy Conigliaro to beat the Royals, despite a ninth-inning home run by Amos Otis.

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Basketball Association begins a two-day meeting next Monday, and among the items to be considered are the reductions of teams and even the possible dissolution of the league.

Sources within the league told The Associated Press on Thursday that Memphis, Pittsburgh and Florida are clubs that may be cut from the 11-team league in order to bolster the financial stability of the organization.

Florida and Pittsburgh appear the prime choices to be cut since the Floridians attracted only $7,000 home fans last year and the Condors drew only $9,000.

Memphis, which had an attendance of 130,000, has a good sports building, and despite its drawing difficulty, the sources said some powers in the league would like to save the franchise in that city.

Dissolving the league would make it possible for the National Basketball Association to pick up the strongest teams from the ABA. It would also allow the leagues to circumvent the restraining order barring a merger of the ABA and NBA.

Hearings before a congressional committee on the merger have been chaired by Sen. Sam Ervin, D-N.C., who is against the merger.

An ABA source said the dissolving of the league might be tried but it was not likely because of the number of lawsuits it would bring from the players and their organizations, which originally obtained the federal injunctions barring the merger.

Brewer, Jamieson Share Philadelphia Golf Lead

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A couple of guys who keep a doctor handy were deadlocked one stroke ahead of the field after one round of the $150,000 IVB Philadelphia Golf Classic.

Forty-year-old Gay Brewer, who gulps milk and antacid to calm a healing ulcer, and 29-year-old Jim Jamieson, who never knows when a shot may trigger a chronic back condition, each shot five under par 67s Thursday at Whitemarsh Valley Country Club Thursday.

Grouped at four under par 68s as the field of 144 started the second round of the 72-hole tournament over the 6,708-yard par 72 course were stout Bob Murphy, Hubie Green and Don Iverson. Don Hendrickson and Jerry Heard were at three under par 69.

Brewer, who has been on the tour for 16 years, was stricken with a bleeding ulcer the day before the Masters at Augusta, Ga., last April. He almost fainted and said that if his wife hadn't been with him and summoned a doctor he might have died.

"My blood count was down to five," he recalled. "Fifteen is normal and four is fatal."

Despite the tournaments he missed this year, Brewer has won $20,085. His best finish was a tie for sixth in the Atlanta Classic two weeks ago. In Thursday's round he had six birdies, an eagle and three bogeys.

The chunky Jamieson, who describes himself as a cherubic or awesome, dropped from the tour for several weeks this year with muscle spasms of the lower back. He said the condition comes and goes, usually lasting two or three days. The last attack, however, kept him idle three weeks.

Jamieson, a former Illinois State champion and member of Oklahoma State's 1963 NCAA champions, scored an eagle with a 35-foot putt at the 485-yard par five 17th hole, and three birdies. He hit 14 greens in regulations and took only 29 putts as he played a bogey-free round.

Lee Trevino, who defends the U.S. Open title at Pebble Beach, Calif., shot 38-36—74, while Gary Player was one of three at 71. Defending champion Tom Weiskopf posted 36-39—75. Dave Hill, who beat Brewer here in a playoff in 1969, was in a group of six at two-under-par 70.

Blalock Holds Share Of Lead

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer
SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — Maybe it was the rain, maybe it was the course, maybe it was the tension caused by the appearance of plaintiff Janie Blalock.

Whatever it was, the net result was the same in the opening round of the $50,000 Eve LPGA championship Thursday at the Pleasant Valley Country Club.

Not a single player in the field of 82, largest in LPGA history, managed to equal par 73 on the 6,130-yard course, a rough start in the 72-hole tournament.

"I was amazed to come off the course with a 75 and find myself just one stroke behind," defending champion Kathy Whitworth said. "I can't recall the last time any of the girls failed to shoot at least par in a round. It certainly hasn't happened this year. I thought I'd be about five strokes behind."

A one-over-par 74 was good for a share of the lead. And Miss Blalock had a piece of it with seven others—Japan's Sayuki Yamazaki, Pam Barnett, Betty Burfeindt, Barbara Romack Carole Jo Skala, Sandra Palmer and Sharon Miller.

Miss Whitworth, favored at one of her cousin courses, conceded that some players may have felt extra pressure because of the entry of Miss Blalock, the former New England champion from Portsmouth, N.H. and this year's leading money winner.

Miss Blalock filed a $5 million suit and obtained a temporary injunction in federal court last week after the LPGA suspended her for one year for alleged "unethical practices."

"I was so nervous I could barely see the ball on the first tee," Miss Blalock said after attracting most of the gallery of 3,605.

Miss Barnett, a seven-year pro from Charlotte, N.C., had a mental lapse when caught in the downpour on the 14th hole. She put her tee shot to within 20 feet of the pin, then picked up her ball without marking it. That caused a two-stroke penalty. Unnerved and angry at herself, she then three putted for a triple bogey six.

Donohue Set For Can-Am Opening

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer
MOSPORT PARK, Ont. (AP) — Selection of the 35 starters for Sunday's opener of the 1972 Can-Am road racing series began today, with Mark Donohue's new Porsche in the limelight.

Donohue, the recent Indianapolis 500 winner, has been testing the new 12-cylinder, twin-turbocharged roadster in Germany and Canada for several weeks. He said he is pleased with the results.

"We clipped more than a second off the lap record here at Mosport," the 33-year-old Brown University engineering graduate said. "All we have to prove now is the car's durability. We know it has the speed."

Because all the Can-Am cars—open cockpit, fendered machines of unlimited horsepower—have been improve from last year, Mosport's qualifying marks were expected to last no longer than it took Donohue and McLaren drivers Pete Revson and Denis Hulme to warm up for the assault.

The starting field will be set from qualifying times today and Saturday. The first race in the $750,000 series drew 42 entries.

Revson, the smooth-driving New Yorker who won the series last year in a McLaren, replaces world driving titleholder Jackie Stewart for this race.

Stewart, who won two CanAm events in a team Lola in 1971, joined McLaren for the current campaign but was stricken with a bleeding ulcer.

Hulme, who has helped McLaren win the Can-Am title five times, personally has accounted for 20 Can-Am triumphs.

And then, the important part... now he'll talk money... what your cost will be and your monthly payments... and how you can reduce your cost... whittle your payments down to a figure you can live with... and still not have a mortgage that will take forever to pay off. He'll show you how you can join right in... actually do some of your own building, not on the outside, but inside where it's easier. You can actually do just about as much of the inside work as you want to... to save money. How much you do is up to you. We'll stop at almost ANY stage of inside completion, then you take over. Whatever you do, no matter how much or how little, will save you money. We'll even add the cost of the materials you'll use to your mortgage.

Aerospace professor helps Royal with regulation golf ball that flies 6 yards farther than country's number one ball.

Three years ago, we at Royal approached Dr. John Nicolaides—Professor of Aerospace, University of Notre Dame, and one of the country's foremost authorities on aerodynamics—and asked him if he'd help us with a regulation golf ball that would fly farther than any other regulation golf ball.

Dr. John Nicolaides, Professor of Aerospace, University of Notre Dame.

It turned out that for years Dr. Nicolaides had been intrigued by the flight of the golf ball, which he describes as completely unique, completely different from a baseball, a football or a tennis ball. ("In flight," says Dr. Nicolaides, "the golf ball literally has wings.")

To understand how Dr. Nicolaides approached the problem, it is first necessary to know a little about the history of golf balls.

In 1848, golf balls had smooth coverings made out of the gum of a tree. When these balls were hit, they flew out, then suddenly dove down into the ground. However, after this ball was played a number of times and its cover was marked up, it flew much farther.

As a result, people began putting all kinds of markings on the covers of balls to Regular golf ball has rows of round dimples. Royal Plus 6 has random hexagonal dimples.

give them better flight performance. (Our present dimpled ball is simply a reversed version of a ball with little bumps all over it that was used at the turn of the century.)

So the key questions were: Why do the markings on the surface of golf balls influence flight performance? And, more important, how can we mark the surface of a ball to make it fly even farther?

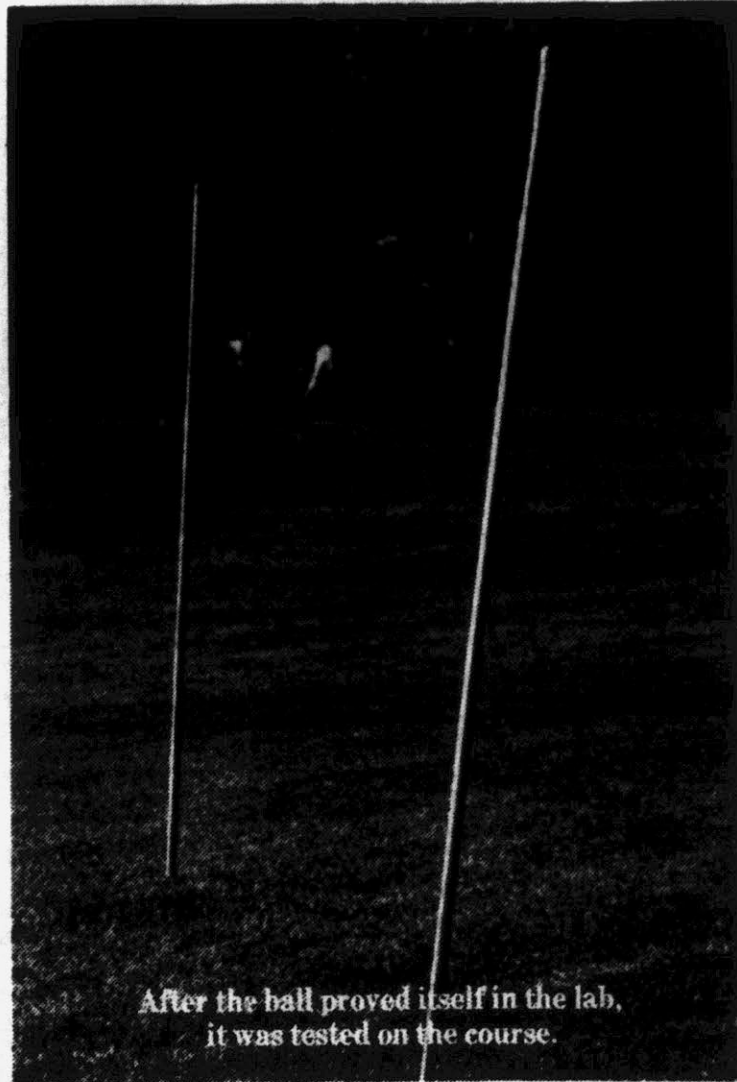

Dr. Nicolaides' unique sub-sonic wind tunnel proved invaluable in measuring the effects of various types of surface markings on the factors at work in the flight of a golf ball: the velocity and angle the ball is given when it's hit by the club; the under-spin that gives the ball its lift force (its "wings" if you will); the drag force (wind resistance) pulling backwards trying to slow the ball down; and, of course, the gravity force pulling down.

All this aerodynamic data was fed into computers, and the exact positions of balls with different surface markings—as they fly through the air from tee to point of impact—were plotted.

It is here that Dr. Nicolaides first saw the increased range of a ball with random hexagonal dimples as opposed to rows of round ones. (It seems that this type of surface marking produced better lift and less drag.)

With all the theoretical work done, Dr. Nicolaides then set out to confirm his findings on the golf course. To do this, he designed a completely unique golf-ball-hitting machine, which hits each ball with exactly the same force and at exactly the same angle.

After the ball proved itself in the lab, it was tested on the course.

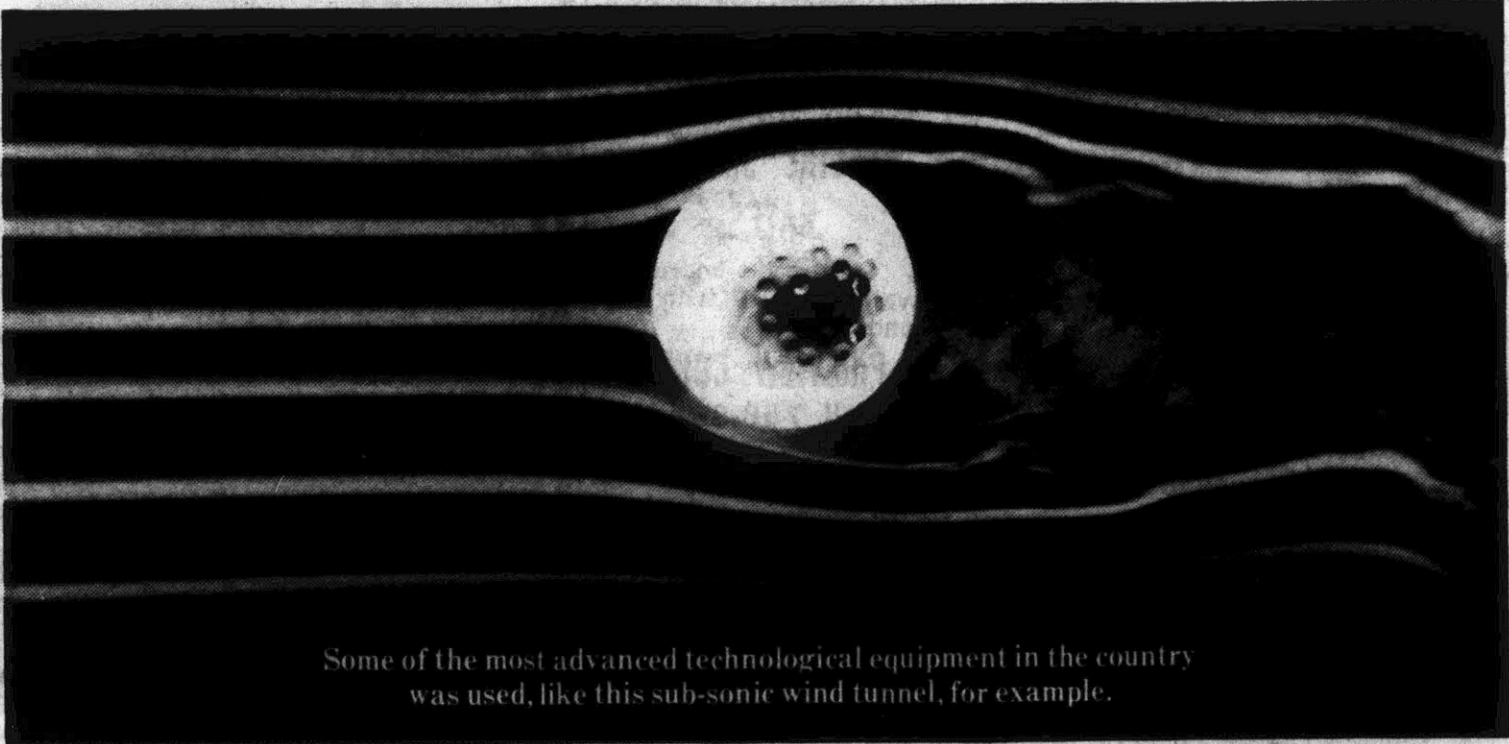

After many, many hits using regular round-dimpled balls (Titleist K-types were used) and many, many hits using hexagonal-dimpled balls, Dr. Nicolaides saw that the new hexagonal-dimpled ball flew an average of 6 yards farther.

Which is why we at Royal chose to call this revolutionary new ball the Royal Plus 6.

he didn't! Although he started the first church picnic by a free meal for the 5,000 men (not to mention the women and children) when he used the lad's loaves and fishes, such welfarism proved inefficient.

For the crowd again descended upon him en masse for another welfare handout. But Christ refused! For when the mob of freeloaders followed him, Jesus rebuked them (John 6:26) saying: "Verily, verily, I say unto you, Ye seek me, not because ye saw the miracles, but because ye did eat of the loaves, and were filled." So Jesus ignored thousands of hungry and starving people who were within a stone's throw of his 3-year itinerant ministry. Moreover, Christ didn't spend his time making house calls upon the sick, to render Socialized Medicine.

Only those who were motivated enough to seek him along the highways, did he heal. Plus some whose friends carried them to Jesus. Please notice, therefore, that Jesus let thousands of lepers and cancer victims, typhus fever patients and polio children remain untreated! With the divine power the Bible ascribes to him, he could have cured every sick person in all of Judea. But he didn't! For unless people had enough faith and initiative to go to Christ

Hospital Wants Liquor License

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Operators of Providence Hospital have asked the state for a liquor license. Wine has been served to some patients since the hospital opened about a year ago, but hospital officials said the permit was sought at the suggestion of the state. The permit would allow the hospital to sell beer, and wine to its patients, or set up a carry-out service. Patients can order wine at no extra cost, and about 6 per cent of them are given wine each day with the approval of their physicians, hospital officials said.

Had the club suit responded favorably, South's somewhat aggressive six diamond contract would have come home with relative ease. As the cards were distributed, the contest became a cliff-hanger that was not decided until the last moment and required a thoughtful play by declarer along the way to assure his success.

Altho South's initial rebid of two diamonds after North's two over one response, left considerable in reserve, the former might have contented himself with making one try without committing the partnership to slam. South's three diamond call shows a second five card suit and when North raises to four, it is suggested that South cue bid the ace of hearts. If partner merely returns to five diamonds, which he will do with no extra values, that should be the end of the auction.

Not A Guideline For All Diners

NEW YORK (UPI) —The servings referred to on packages of instant Idaho potatoes usually measure 4 ounces or 1-2 cup each, unless otherwise stated. But a 4-serving package doesn't necessarily serve four persons. Some diners will have two helpings, another may take less than ½ cup and children like differing amounts. Let experience guide you in deciding how much to prepare for a single meal.

West opened the king of hearts and South won the trick with the ace. It did not appear that there was adequate transportation between the closed hand and dummy to establish declarer's spades by ruffing out his losers, so he decided to work on North's clubs.

A small club was led at trick two and when West followed with the five, the jack was finessed—losing to the king. [While it is clear that going up with the ace would have simplified matters, the chances for dropping a lone king are too remote to warrant consideration.] East returned a heart which declarer ruffed.

The ace and queen of diamonds were cashed in preparation for drawing trump, as both opponents followed suit. Before leading over to North's king, South made a play which slightly increased his chances. A club was played, West put up the nine which was covered by dummy's queen. East showed out, but having no more trumps was obliged to take a harmless discard.

The ace of clubs was cashed on which declarer sluffed a spade and a fourth round of clubs was led and trumped in the closed hand as West's ten appeared. South's remaining diamond was led to the king to draw the last trump and on the eight and six of clubs, he disposed of two more spades.

A spade was led from dummy at trick 12, East followed with the nine and declarer finessed the queen. When this held the last hurdle had been surmounted and the ace of spades took the fulfilling trick.

West opened the king of hearts and South won the trick with the ace. It did not appear that there was adequate transportation between the closed hand and dummy to establish declarer's spades by ruffing out his losers, so he decided to work on North's clubs.

A small club was led at trick two and when West followed with the five, the jack was finessed—losing to the king. [While it is clear that going up with the ace would have simplified matters, the chances for dropping a lone king are too remote to warrant consideration.] East returned a heart which declarer ruffed.

The ace and queen of diamonds were cashed in preparation for drawing trump, as both opponents followed suit. Before leading over to North's king, South made a play which slightly increased his chances. A club was played, West put up the nine which was covered by dummy's queen. East showed out, but having no more trumps was obliged to take a harmless discard.

The ace of clubs was cashed on which declarer sluffed a spade and a fourth round of clubs was led and trumped in the closed hand as West's ten appeared. South's remaining diamond was led to the king to draw the last trump and on the eight and six of clubs, he disposed of two more spades.

A spade was led from dummy at trick 12, East followed with the nine and declarer finessed the queen. When this held the last hurdle had been surmounted and the ace of spades took the fulfilling trick.
