

Justices Uphold Baseball Reserve Clause

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today upheld a lower court decision and refused to throw out professional baseball's reserve clause.

The decision was made in the celebrated Curt Flood case on a 5-3 vote.

In its decision, the court did, however, conclude that baseball is a business engaged in interstate commerce.

The decision, delivered by Justice Harry A. Blackmun, said

"if there is any inconsistency or illogic in all of this, it is an inconsistency and illogic of longstanding that is to be remedied by the Congress and not by this court."

The suit was argued in the court by former Justice Arthur J. Goldberg. He said there was no logical reason to treat baseball differently than other professional sports which have less-rigid player contracts and are subject to the antitrust laws.

Blackmun agreed that the exemption granted baseball is "an aberration" and "an exception and an anomaly." But, he said, Congress has had a long time to do something about it and the fact that it did not indicates more than "mere congressional silence and passivity."

In fact, he said, the Court "has concluded that Congress has had no intention to subject baseball's reserve system to the reach of the antitrust statutes."

The target of Flood's suit was the reserve system which binds a player to the team which holds his contract. If a professional ballplayer refuses to agree to the salary offered by that team, he cannot play for any other.

Until this year, in fact, he would have to sit out the season. But St. Louis Cardinal catcher Ted Simmons caused an innovation this spring when he was allowed to continue with the team without agreement to the salary terms offered by owner August "Gussie" Busch.

Dating Routine Changed For Miss N.C.; Her Time Belongs To Jaycees

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Hello, North Carolina. And goodby, Billy, at least for a while.

That's the situation for the new Miss North Carolina, Constance Anne Dorn, of Kinston.

She has been dating Bill Chambers, a former University of North Carolina basketball player, but now her time belongs to the state's Jaycees for speeches and promotional appearances.

Miss Dorn talked with Chambers by telephone Sunday morning, telling him about some of the restrictions, such as the Jaycees preferring that she double date, if she has time.

She said she told Chambers she would find out all the rules soon.

"Send me a copy," she quoted him as saying. She added, however, that Chambers was pleased that she won. "He seems to be very proud of me she said.

The 18-year-old hazel-eyed brunette, who was named the 1973 Miss North Carolina Saturday night at Charlotte, will be changing more than her dating routine.

"I belong to the Jaycees now, and the state, and there are too many obligations I have to them," she said. She says she will have to drop her dance instruction for a year, and she might not attend East Carolina University this fall where she is to be a sophomore.

There are other restrictions, such as not being able to smoke or drink in public. She says neither rule should be a problem since she doesn't smoke and takes only an occasional drink. She says she doesn't mind the rules.

"Every girl likes to be an idol," she said. "I'd like to use my talent to be that. If I can brighten people's lives, then I think I'll be accomplishing things."

Miss Dorn was a double winner in the preliminaries, winning her division in both talent and swimsuit competition. The 5-foot-8 daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Dorn weighs 120 pounds and has a 35-24-35 figure.

Miss Wake County, Barbara Aletha Ballew, another double winner in the preliminary competition, was runnerup.

Third place went to Miss Hickory, Marcia Patrice Burton. The other finalists were Miss Winston-Salem, Susan Gayle Moore, and Miss Caldwell County, Angela Jean Cooke.

Pitt Democrats Reconvened To Select Delegates, Alternates

Pilot Strike Only Partial

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Airline pilots launched a worldwide 24-hour strike today to protest hijacking, but only three U.S. carriers were grounded and one of those resumed flights at midmorning.

The strike forced 19 foreign airlines, including most of those in Canada and Western Europe, to cancel service.

In the United States, only Eastern, Northeast and Southern airlines shut down, and Southern said it resumed service at 10 a.m. EDT.

A spokesman for Southern in Atlanta said its 300-plus pilots had voted this morning to end the walkout. Southern serves 67 cities in the eastern half of the United States.

Federal court orders against a strike, including one upheld by the Supreme Court, were a factor in keeping American pilots on the job. But many had voted not to take part before the courts acted.

Saigon Passed Its Test: Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon says the North Vietnamese offensive in South Vietnam not only has failed, but also has demonstrated that Saigon is the legitimate government of South Vietnam.

Writing in the latest issue of U.S. News & World Report, Nixon said "the way in which the people of South Vietnam have rallied to their nation's defense should persuade even the most committed apologists for the enemy that Saigon, not Hanoi, speaks for the South Vietnamese people."

The President said that ending U.S. involvement in the war—"in a way that leaves our purposes intact, and that will contribute to a lasting peace in the Pacific"—is the major step in carrying out his goal of building a "structure of peace" in the world. Nixon's 10-page copyrighted article was said by the magazine to be the first he has prepared exclusively and specifically for any publication since becoming President.

The President said both Russia and China have gone through a policy change of "profound importance" after recognizing that "old tactics would not work."

"Neither the Soviet Union nor China abandoned its particular view of the world," he said. "But both accepted the idea that their own best interests would be served better by negotiation than by confrontation."

Demo HQ Break-In Draws Inquiry By FBI

By DICK BARNES and H. L. SCHWARTZ III Associated Press Writers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Disclosure that a saiaried Nixon-campaign security expert was one of five men arrested during a break-in at the Democratic National Committee headquarters has prompted Democratic accusations of "political espionage" and Republicans denials of involvement.

Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien said Sunday the affair raised "the ugliest questions about the integrity of the political process that I have encountered in a quarter-century of political activity."

O'Brien fired off a telegram to Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst urging "an immediate and full-scale investigation" by the FBI to determine "what organization or individuals are behind this incredible act of political espionage."

A Justice Department spokesman said, however, the FBI had already begun an investigation as a "routine matter."

Former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, chairman of the Committee for Re-election of the President, said in a statement that the five men were "not operating either on our behalf or with our consent."

The White House refused comment and referred newsmen to the campaign committee.

The statements came after The Associated Press found the name of James W. McCord Jr., one of the five seized inside DNC headquarters early Saturday, listed in campaign-spending reports filed by the Nixon committee June 10.

The reports listed McCord as receiving a salary and other expenses for April and May as "security coordinator" for Nixon's main campaign committee.

McCord was being held Sunday in lieu of $30,000 bail, charged with attempted burglary.

The other four also were charged with attempted burglary. They were held on $50,000 bail each.

When seized by plainclothes man, said he would "just wait and see what happens" after putting plywood over his windows.

About 20 residents of Dog Island, a tiny spit of land two miles off the fishing village of Carrabelle, refused to leave their still-legged homes Sunday night and watched the last ferry to the mainland wallow away through heavy seas.

Wildlife Protector Scott Beasley of Chocowinity identified Wilcox as operator of the boat at the time of the accident.

Wilcox, employed by the Greenville Boys Club for several years, had been director of the organization since August, 1971.

Hurricane Agnes Bears Down On Fla. Panhandle

APALACHICOLA, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Agnes picked up her pace today as she bore down on Florida's Panhandle coastline, with 12 dead and scores of injured already in her wake.

As Agnes moved northerly to within 150 miles of Panama City, Fla., her speed increased from 12 to between 15 and 18 miles per hour.

The National Hurricane Center in Miami said the center of the storm was expected to strike near here some time this morning.

Several tornadoes apparently spawned by the hurricane ripped into Okeechobee, Fla., early today, sweeping through several mobile home parks and killing at least four persons.

Seven other persons were killed as the storm swept past the western tip of Cuba Sunday.

Police said the extent of the tornadoes' fury was impossible to determine immediately.

The hurricane center said the threat of more tornadoes would hang over the state this morning.

More than 1,500 persons were evacuated during the night on the Gulf Coast hundreds of miles south of here, from the Venice area and keys off Sarasota, civil defense officials reported.

But some residents the Florida Panhandle were refusing to leave their homes and places of business.

Combing Pamlico

WASHINGTON, N.C. — A search continued this morning for the body of a Greenville man lost in the Pamlico River near here Saturday afternoon following a boating accident.

Members of the Washington Rescue Squad and state Wildlife Protectors searched Saturday afternoon and Sunday morning for the body of David Wilcox, director of the Greenville Boys Club who fell from a boat about 1:30 p.m. Saturday near Whichard's Beach.

Rescue squad spokesmen said dragging operations were stopped about 1 p.m. Sunday because of rough water. They noted that searchers were not dragging today, but were patrolling the river hoping to find the body when it surfaces.

Wildlife Protector Scott Beasley of Chocowinity identified Wilcox as operator of the boat at the time of the accident.

Wilcox, employed by the Greenville Boys Club for several years, had been director of the organization since August, 1971.

Rouse Reinstatement Viewed As N.C. Republican Unity Effort

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Frank Rouse of Kinston is back at the helm of the Republican Party in North Carolina despite the opposition of GOP gubernatorial nominee Jim Holshouser.

Rouse was elected by the state Republican Executive Committee which met in Greensboro Saturday following a harmonious state convention. "I think that Republicans are ready to stand united in the fall," Holshouser commented after the committee session at which he had moved that the reelection of Rouse be made unanimous. His motion came after it became clear that Rouse would win a majority of the sharply divided committee.

Holshouser had called for Rouse's resignation after the Kinston contractor had taken a leave of absence as chairman in order to campaign actively for Jim Gardner who lost to Holshouser by only 1,700 votes in the June 3 runoff primary.

Asked if he considered the committee action a rebuke, Holshouser said he did not. "I've seen enough of them now and have heard them enough to know that they are genuinely sincere in the belief that he (Rouse) can unite the Republican Party," Holshouser said.

Former State Sen. Ted Dent of Asheville, who nominated Rouse at the closed-door committee session, told a newsmen afterwards, "This was the only way we could ever get the party back together. Frank Rouse represents the Gardner voters and we must have them."

Rouse, who had resigned at Holshouser's request last Wednesday, was not present for his reelection.

Mrs. Grace Rohrer, state vice chairman who served as acting chairman while Rouse was on leave to campaign for Gardner, was the only other candidate for the chairmanship.

At the convention, Holshouser had told the Republicans that despite the primary "wounds that are still sort of tender, I pledge to you today that we will be together this fall."

He acted on his pledge by calling John A. Walker, Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, to the podium. Walker had proclaimed his support of Gardner during the camaign.

Holshouser took Walker's hand and said, "This fellow and Jim Holshouser are going down the trail side by side this fall. We are standing here today just like it's going to be—as a team."

When asked if he agreed, Walker said, "That's right Jim."

Holshouser said he plans to conduct a campaign this fall that will "prove it's time for a change, a time for new concepts, new faces" in North Carolina's government.

Holshouser thanked those who supported him and "those of my opponent" in the primary and said, "Together we have brought about a new era. No longer is the governor of North Carolina elected at the other party's convention."

Harry Dent, a presidential assistant, was the convention keynoteer, replacing Vice President Spiro Agnew who had originally been scheduled to speak.

Dent predicted a "big breakthrough in North Carolina this year for Republicans. He said it would be a sweep that would extend from the Potomac River all the way around to the Perdenales-River in Texas.

The convention selected 10 delegates at large to fill out the North Carolina delegation to the GOP National Convention. Twenty-two delegates were chosen at district conventions two weeks ago.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Cedric D. Pierce. A program of nuptial music was presented by Randy Buck, organist and pianist, and Miss Louise Hardee, sister of the bride, and Randy Buck who sang a duet, "A Time For Us." Jimmie Page sang the theme from "Love Story," and "The Wedding Prayer."

The chancel of the church was decorated with a profile priedieu where the ceremony took place. Precious Books Aren't For Lending

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by CHLOE TITUS-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem which I have been unable to solve, and I'm hoping you can help me.

The September before last I loaned one of my precious books to a member of our social group. Three members of our group had read it and returned it, but this person refuses to return it to me altho I have asked her no less than a dozen times.

The last time I asked her for it, she said, "Oh, do I still have that book? I'll have to look around and see if I can find it." That was six months ago and I haven't heard a word about it since.

What can I do, Abby? I really want that book!

BURNING IN AUBURN, ILL.

DEAR BURNING: It's a pretty good bet that your friend [a] misplaced it; [b] let someone else read it, and she can't remember who; [c] just plain lost it.

You could call on her and offer to wait until she locates the book. And if that fails, you will have learned a valuable lesson. Precious books are not for lending.

DEAR ABBY: A friend and I have been sharing a mistress for the last year. It's been a good arrangement for all of us as I am there [another city] Monday morning thru Wednesday noon, and my friend is there from Wednesday noon thru Friday. [Then she has the weekend off.]

We pay all the expenses and give her spending money. The cost is about $400 a month from each of us. We are both salesmen and we save on hotel and meals.

The problem: She wants to report this for income tax. It comes to $1,518 per year, and we will have to give her extra money to pay it. We are both on salary and pay the full rate and can't deduct her or any of our expenses as they are paid in cash and we have no receipts. Besides, our wives would find out.

What do you advise? HONEST TAXPAYER

DEAR HONEST: Since you travel for business, you'd be ahead to stay in hotels and eat out. Business expenses are deductible. But NOT monkey business.

CONFIDENTIAL to "The Lovely Young Couple Who Recently Moved into an Apartment in Erwin, Tennessee": Your neighbors inform me that your bed squeaks!

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L. A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Reasonable Beginning Is Made

It would not take an expert tobacco farmer, warehouseman or tobacco buyer to find flaws in the proposal for early market openings recently approved by a subcommittee of the industry-wide Flue-Cured Tobacco Marketing Committee.

Even with its flaws, however, the proposals adopted by the subcommittee offer a reasonable beginning for earlier tobacco sales in other than the southern-most markets. Certainly the proposals do not meet all the needs seen by individuals in the six tobacco marketing belts. The full committee which met with the subcommittee obviously was wise in reserving final decision on the new marketing rules for another two weeks. There may well be constructive changes recommended in the meantime which will improve the plan.

Even so, the proposals adopted by the subcommittee of the industry-wide committee make a reasonable start toward resolving one of the most serious problems in the flue-cured tobacco region. They provide a reasonable means for opening the more northern markets earlier on a limited basis. They do so without unduly penalizing the more southern belts. The proposals impose additional burdens on the purchasing companies, and warehouses but they are burdens which can be shouldered. The proposals do not mean that every farmer will be able to sell as much of his tobacco as close to home as early as he might like, but he will be in a position to begin moving his crop to a market close by earlier than usual.

Considering the many complex factors involved in the problem presented to the subcommittee, the proposals they have suggested represent as practical an initial plan as could be expected. It may not meet all the needs seen by any segment of the industry or any of the market belts. With time and experience, the plan likely will be refined and improved.

But for whatever shortcomings may be seen in the proposal, it represents a reasonable beginning for limited openings of the more northern tobacco markets at an earlier date. The plan that is finally adopted by the full industry-wide committee should subsequently receive the full support of all segments of the industry in each of the tobacco belt areas.

A Potential Campaign Issue Is Now Removed

With the resignation of W. Eugene Simmons as director of the N. C. Department of Conservation and Development it appears that state Democrats are further removing campaign issues from the November election.

Simmons appointment to the $25,500 post was controversial, and it entered into the Democratic primary race.

It seems the Democrats expect to present a united front for the fall. The Simmons resignation removes a possible arguing point in the gubernatorial campaign.

Secret Parley With Kennedy

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — A mysterious meeting between President George Meany of the AFL-CIO and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy had planted a seed of hope, no matter how unrealistic, inside big labor that the dreaded but seemingly inevitable Presidential nomination of Sen. George McGovern might yet be averted.

What was said between Meany and Kennedy at their meeting last month is shrouded in secrecy and conflicting reports. Nevertheless, word has circulated at AFL-CIO headquarters that Meany candidly asked Kennedy to run for President to stop McGovern and that, to Meany's amazement, Kennedy political reality. Those account has nourished wistful thinking among top labor leaders that McGovern can still be stopped.

The strange story reflects big labor's desperation more than political reality. Those closest to Kennedy are confident he has no intention to run for President, much less sabotage George McGovern.

Many and close associates decided weeks ago that Kennedy was the only alternative to McGovern. Although last year Meany was complaining privately about Kennedy's militant opposition to the Vietnam war, he now regards him as vastly preferable to McGovern, who would be the first Democratic Presidential candidate since the 1920s without intimate ties to organized labor.

There is no proof this was actually discussed between Kennedy and Meany. Indeed, Meany's top aides, out of ignorance or a desire for secrecy, deny knowledge of the meeting.

In fact however, the meeting was held at Meany's request late in May. Sources close to Kennedy claim the discussion involved issues, with no mention of Presidential politics — a most improbable omission. However, one knowledgeable AFL-CIO staffer has written a memorandum which gives this account of the conversation:

Meany stressed to Kennedy that McGovern was totally unacceptable to big labor. If McGovern was nominated, he predicted a battle over whether the AFL-CIO would endorse him. But even if an endorsement were voted by the AFL-CIO Executive Council, he made clear that George Meany—and presumably Meany's major allies—would not work for McGovern against President Nixon.

Although the pivotal California Democratic primary was then two weeks away, Meany told Kennedy that he had lost hope of a second nomination for Sen. (Continued on page 5)

LOOK IN THE BIBLE
Let your conscience be your guide.

Good advice? That depends on what kind of conscience you have. The Bible speaks of a good conscience before God and of an evil conscience. People of evil conscience are certain that the evil things they choose to do are right. The communist has a conscience—a very evil conscience, but a conscience. He believes that the classless society, as he calls it, and the abolition of private ownership, and the party discipline, and the slave camps, the murder, the lying, the betrayal—all these things he holds are thoroughly justified considering the end in view. This is an example of an evil conscience.

The word conscience means "with knowledge." If your knowledge of right and wrong has come about through sinful experiences, then your conscience is the worst of all possible guides. Even if you have a good conscience this conscience can do nothing more than ring the bell when you turn to the right and blow the whistle when you turn to the left. It does not tell you why to go to the right or to the left.

Right and wrong are based upon moral principles, and the most extensive, useful and authoritative set of moral principles ever collected are found in the Bible. In fact this Book is called The Word, or the Message of God.

Mail On Father's Day

Dear Dad,
Just wanted to wish you a happy Father's Day. Been thinking a lot about you lately. Did you send the money order in care of American Express in Madrid or in care of American Express in Barcelona? American Express here in Madrid says they never received it, so you better raise hell with them because they're being very loose with your money.
I'm pulling out from Madrid for the Costa del Sol, and then will probably go over to Morocco. There's American Express in Casablanca and a friend told me they're really good on receiving money orders. Hope you're not working too hard. I'll wait here two more days, just in case the money order comes through. I'm real sorry I can't be with you on Father's Day, but I didn't want to let it pass without saying hello.

Love,

George
Dear Dad,
I'm taking the opportunity of Father's Day to tell you something important. I've decided you were right—there's more to life than having a good time bumming around and not caring about the world.

I've decided my attitude has been selfish and unrealistic, and hasn't helped me or you. I know you warned me that I would come to this realization, but I had to find it out myself. And so, Dad, next week, on my 47th birthday, I'm going to go out and look for a job.
Sincerely,
Edward

Dear Pop,
With Father's Day coming up on Sunday, I thought I ought to get a short note off to you and tell you I think you're the best daddy in the whole world. Also, I think I'm pregnant.
But don't get excited. Tommy said he'd marry me when he gets out of law school which should be in three years.
I hope you have a wonderful and relaxed Father's Day.
Love,
Inger
Dear Dad,
I don't know how to say this to you. It's probably the (Continued on page 14)

Europe Hurt By Its Space-Lag?

By JOHN BRACKEN
London Financial Times—UPI

LONDON — Europe's relative lack of progress in space exploration could be delaying solutions of urgent economic and social problems and weakening efforts to modernize and strengthen industries.

A report prepared for the Commission of European Communities, in making this point, finds that America's space program has directly and indirectly been a major stimulus to the whole United States economy.

The report, of nearly 1,000 pages, was prepared by the organization SORIS, of Turin. It listed the ways in which various sectors of the American economy had benefited from the United States space programs.

In medicine and biology, for example, the report pointed to the fact that astronauts on space flights are kept under continuous clinical observation, with the data recorded transmitted by remote control to ground stations.

The introduction of remote transmission of clinical data, when applied in hospitals, will enable many patients to be kept under constant observation from a single center.

Need Fully Reflected
In the electronics field, the report continued, the need for the highest possible reliability in equipment used in space vehicles has been fully reflected in developments in the industry. While in 1945 there were 400 electronic tubes in a complex unit the comparable unit of 1965 had 40,000 components.

New sources of electrical power have been developed. These include the conversion of solar energy, new applications for atomic energy and the production of electricity from new chemical sources in fuel cells.

The report devoted considerable attention to a little-appreciated aspect of the American space program—the development of sophisticated management techniques.

The best known of these techniques is PERT (Program Evaluation and Review Technique), based on a flow diagram of time sequences. The crucial points and events in the project are analyzed and shown on a graph with all their interdependent relationships. The time required to complete each operation between crucial points is estimated, with a margin of uncertainty, and filled into an optimum flow for the completion of the project.

The program thus arrived at is monitored continuously by means of computer systems, which display critical paths in order to complete the whole project on time, and calculate all uncertainty factors relating to the separate stages of the project.

Aerospace technology, the report says, has made a highly significant contribution, at management level, to the solution of important social and economic problems. These are:

- The Contributions
1. Inability to decentralize decision-taking.
 2. Lack of integration and coordination between programs.
 3. Level of management too low to carry through complex, interrelated programs.
- In the light of these facts and in order to avoid being overwhelmed by the weight of the social and economic problems created by the changed structure of urban communities (53 per cent of American citizens are concentrated on 0.7 per cent of the metropolitan territory), local and state authorities and the new regional organizations began to introduce computers and more sophisticated management systems derived directly from the aerospace industry.

In solving America's economic and social problems direct use is already being made of the programming and management experience accumulated by aerospace firms.

On Europe's aerospace potential, the report said that at least 50 per cent of the European aerospace industry is currently controlled directly by the government.

All the necessary conditions existed for the concerted programming of investments, production and marketing to achieve growth targets set for the industry by governments themselves. Well directed government intervention (at both national and community level), the report said, could raise the European aerospace industry to the American level of efficiency.

O'Brien Tells Mayors That Nixon Ignored Problems

By MICHAEL J. SNIFFEN
Associated Press Writer
NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien today accused the Nixon administration of ignoring the cities and told a national mayors conference that the city is the bedrock of the Democratic party.

O'Brien spoke to the U.S. Conference of Mayors annual meeting here, where many among the 350 mayors and city representatives complain that both Democrats and Republicans have ignored the cities in this presidential election year.

In his prepared text, O'Brien set out to allay some of the concern typified by Boston Democratic Mayor Kevin White's comment Sunday: "It would be a very serious mistake for the Democratic party to assume the permanent allegiance of a constituency like the American city. We expect a response before our support is given."

O'Brien's response was: "I fervently hope and I deeply believe that the party I represent will once again recognize in 1972 that the city is its bedrock; that it cannot claim to represent and to lead the American people until it has sought them out and helped them where they hurt the most, fear the worst, breathe the dirtiest, enjoy the least, and live the most briefly."

O'Brien went on to assert that Nixon had failed to provide the legislative leadership to win approval of revenue sharing, a bill long-sought by the mayors which would pump $3.5 billion of federal money to the cities in each of the next five years. The bill comes up for a vote in the House this week and the Senate later.

O'Brien reminded the mayors that the he had set up the meeting a year ago between the conference's current president, Henry W. Maier of Milwaukee, and House Ways and Means Committee chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., in which Mills was convinced to drop his opposition to revenue sharing.

He claimed the bill was bogged down in Congress "because the Nixon administration had forgotten about the cities."

Nixon's original bill, O'Brien said, contained a "double bias against the cities: It would have given most of the money to the states instead of to local governments, and it would have given most of the local money to the richest suburbs instead of the central cities."

Citing the changes made in the bill by Democrat Mills, O'Brien said, "With the Democratic commitment, the bill now moving through Congress will contain a better formula to respond to the urban crisis."

In his attack on Nixon, O'Brien went right for a sore point among a number of mayors here: Nixon's refusal to address the conference makes him the first president since the U.S. Conference of Mayors was founded in 1932 never to have visited one of their annual meetings during a four-year term.

O'Brien said "the deliberate absence of the President of the United States from this conference is also symbolic."

"Mr. Nixon has gone to Peking to meet with Mao, and to Moscow to share his thoughts with Brezhnev. Why, then does he refuse to come to New Orleans to share his thoughts with the leaders of his own cities?"

Nixon's failure to appear provoked Maier to comment publicly on Saturday: "I think he should have come. These are the elected representatives of the most important economic sector in America and I could add 16 other reasons, but the base we represent ought to be paid the respect of the President being here."

Meantime a telegram from the President arrived Sunday. After detailing his support for revenue sharing and welfare reform and his accomplishments in housing, mass transit and waste treatment, Nixon wrote:

"Together we can rebuild and maintain our cities as desirable, pleasant places in which to live. I pledge to you my continued personal commitment to this objective."

According to the memorandum, Kennedy did not say yes and did not say no. That account may be attributable to Kennedy's sometimes ambiguous articulation. In any event, Many was pleasantly surprised that Kennedy did not reject his suggestion out of hand.

The report from the AFL-CIO staffer is that Meany confided this information to two key members of labor's inner circle—Lane Kirkland, AFL-CIO secretary-treasurer, and Joseph Beirne, president of the Communications Workers of America, enjoining strictest secrecy on both.

The top labor leaders look to Kennedy to stop McGovern tells much about their anti-McGovern sentiment. Kennedy shares most of McGovern's views on Vietnam, foreign policy and defense and space spending so strongly opposed by Many and other labor leaders, many of them strongly and traditionally anti-Communist. There is little policy difference between Kennedy and McGovern.

Rather, the difference lies in personal relationships! Whereas big labor harbors grievances against McGovern dating back to the early 1960s, AFL-CIO contacts with Kennedy have been warm. So clearly is McGovern perceived as an enemy that some labor leaders believe four more years of Richard Nixon might be the lesser of two evils.

Nor even Kennedy on the ticket as Vice-Presidential nominee, devoutly desired by McGovern, but persistently disavowed by Kennedy, would appease big labor. And despite labor's spotty performance in backing Humphrey during the primaries, inactive support or non-support from Meany and friends in the autumn campaign might well ensure Republican victory. Thus, the significance of the Meany-Kennedy meeting is not that it heralds a quixotic effort to stop McGovern but shows how dangerous his present relations with big labor really are.

Environmental Hearing Set On Delayed Waterway

ABERDEEN, Miss. (AP) — A long-delayed courtroom battle over the environmental impact of a proposed 253-mile waterway gets under way today in federal court here.

The hearing on the $386-million Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway appears to be the only remaining stumbling block for the project, which was authorized by Congress in 1946. The hearing is before U.S. district Court Judge William C. Keady.

Environmental groups contend the project would damage the ecological balance in Northeast Mississippi, disrupt nesting areas for the already endangered American Bald Eagle and possibly destroy certain species of fish.

The government and the five-state Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway Development Authority counter that the project was approved by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

The Corps says the project represents "a great opportunity and a major step in this nation's new determination to protect and enhance the environment, while at the same time enhancing the quality of life" for persons in a 23-state area.

A federal judge in Washington issued a preliminary injunction in September, 1971, blocking construction on the waterway until it was determined whether the corps had complied with the Environmental Protection Act of 1969.

That act requires the agency to file an environmental impact statement on new projects.

The Environmental Defense Fund and the Committee to Leave Our Environment Natural (CLEAN) asked for a delay until further studies could be carried out.

The suit centered on seven areas of complaint, six of which have subsequently been ruled out by federal judges. That leaves only the question of whether the corps followed all procedures established by the act in compiling its report.

No actual work has been done on the waterway, but Congress has appropriated $7 million for early development, and the President has included $12 million for construction in the next fiscal year.

Keady issued a memorandum earlier this month saying the question of content in the corps' impact study "presents a question unreviewable by the courts" under the federal act.

The ruling was considered a major setback for the environmental groups who charged the study did not go into enough detail on potential dangers of the project.

The environmentalists' argument challenging the actual economic benefit of the waterway was also set aside.

Keady said the corps' report was "produced upon the most recent economic analysis of a 50-year life at 3.25-per-cent interest and produced a benefit-cost ratio of 1.6 to 1.0 with benefits allegedly derived from navigation, recreation, fish and wildlife enhancement and area development."

The environmental groups, he said "sharply dispute the correctness of the cost-benefit ratio," and they had planned to present witnesses claiming the benefits were substantially overstated.

But Keady said that "if the plaintiffs are permitted to weigh and consider new economic data for the structure of a cost-benefit ratio," the court would face "varied factual elements" on which to base a decision.

Keady said the hearing would be aimed at the Corps of Engineers' duty to comply with procedural requirements for a sufficient impact statement.

Among those expected to testify at the hearing are Mississippi Gov. Bill Waller and Sage Lyons, Speaker of the Alabama House of Representatives. Lyons will testify on behalf of Gov. George Wallace, chairman of the Tennessee-Tombigbee Development Authority.

The hearing was moved to Aberdeen by order of U.S. District Court Judge John Lewis Smith Jr. of Washington. He said he granted the change of venue so the hearing would be closer to witnesses involved and because it has special interest in the Mississippi area.

During testimony in the case last year, environmental witnesses said there were several detrimental side effects to the planned project.

Dr. Clark Hubbs, a professor of zoology at the University of Texas at Austin, testified the Tombigbee River's fish population would change from a bass-oriented makeup to one dominated by carp and other "rough fish."

Hubbs also said the change in the rivers would destroy the population of small fish that feed on insects. He said this would cause a rise in the area's mosquito population.

Dr. Jerome A. Jackson, assistant professor of zoology at Mississippi State University, testified the proposed waterway would damage the area's bird population.

He said the region is suited for five birds currently on the endangered species list—the bald eagle, peregrine falcon, ivory-billed woodpecker and Bachman's warbler—and that three of the rare birds had been sighted in the area in recent years.

The Tennessee-Tombigbee Development Authority said economists report the project would attract many new, heavy-type industries and would aid agriculture with savings in transportation time.

It also said the project would be a boon to recreation, providing a shorter route for pleasure vessels between Florida and the Tennessee, Cumberland and Ohio rivers.

Officials said the channel would be nine feet deep and 170 feet wide, not including passage places. It would have five combined locks and dams, in addition to five separate locks.

The waterway would extend from the Tennessee River at Pickwick Lake to the Tombigbee River and south to an existing waterway at Demopolis, Ala., then down to the port of Mobile on the Gulf of Mexico.

Will Select Wallaceites

RALEIGH (AP) — Joe Brown, an unsuccessful Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate in this spring's North Carolina primary, says he will nominate 16 supporters of George Wallace as national party convention delegates.

Brown says he will make the nominations Tuesday on the floor of the state Democratic convention.

The Greensboro resident whose platform included support for Wallace said Saturday that the Alabama governor got 51 per cent of the vote in the May 6 presidential primary but that he has few supporters among delegates picked so far to the Miami Beach convention.

Brown said if the Wallace slate is rejected, "Many Republican candidates are going to reap the benefits of blunders made by the Democratic party...If Wallace people walk out, they are not leaving the Democratic party, but are simply letting the party know that they will not vote for Democrats who do not allow 51 per cent of the people of our state representation."

"The Democratic party needs us in November to win," he said.

Pick Delegates For Convention

BOONVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Delegates to the national convention of the American party were chosen Saturday at a meeting of the North Carolina party's state executive committee. North Carolina gets 52 delegates to the convention, scheduled Aug. 3-5 at Louisville, Ky.

A party official said the list includes gubernatorial candidate Arlis Pettyjohn of Boonville and lieutenant governor candidate Ben McLendon of Charlotte. Both were also named to represent the state on the national platform committee.

Re-Elected Ass'n Prexy

Thurston R. Perry, assistant director of personnel at East Carolina University, has been re-elected president of the Higher Education Personnel Association, a group composed of personnel officials at the state-supported campuses.

Other re-elected officials are: Bill Calloway, NCSU personnel director, program vice president; Larry Nance, ASU personnel director, information vice president; and Doris Canada, A&TSU personnel director, secretary-treasurer.

Packaging Fails To Pass Customs

NEW YORK (AP) — Alice Cooper, the five-member rock group, has gotten into a flap with Customs officials over 750,000 pairs of ladies panties.

The group packaged their latest record album, "School's Out," in disposable panties that failed to pass the Federal Trade Commission's Flammable Fabrics Test.

Consequently, Customs officials don't want the English-made panties to enter the country.

Ashley Pandel, an official of Alive Enterprises, the New York management firm for Alice Cooper, said the first shipment of 250,000 pairs already had been shipped to record manufacturing plants where the albums are being packaged. Another shipment of 500,000 reached Philadelphia about a week ago.

However, distributors hope they have a solution to the problem—a spray which renders the panties fire resistant.

Weekend Traffic Takes 22 Lives

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
At least 22 persons were killed in traffic accidents in North Carolina over the weekend, surpassing the total killed during some longer holiday periods when more traffic flooded highways.

Five of those deaths were in Moore County as the toll for the year rose to 808, compared with 768 by the same time last year.

The worst wreck was a one-car accident on N.C. 705 in Moore County that killed three. The car went out of control and hit a tree. The victims were Mrs. Pearl Maness, 36, and Randy Wayne Maness, 19, both of Robbins, and Johnny Ray Smith, 19, of Rt. 1, Eagle Springs.

A passenger on a motorcycle, Christie Mauldin Tucker, 22, of Troy, was killed when the motorcycle overturned several times after going out of control on N.C. 211 just west of Eagle Springs in Moore County.

A third Moore County wreck, this one in West End, killed a teen-age girl. The Highway Patrol said Trudy Rush, 19, of Elberbe, was killed when a car in which she was riding struck a brick wall.

Another motorcycle accident killed Harold Dean Pollard, 32, of Elkin. The patrol said Pollard's cycle failed to stop at a stop sign on a rural paved road in Forsythe County seven miles east of Winston-Salem and hit another motorcycle.

There were two double fatalities.

A two-car wreck at an intersection of two rural paved roads 11 miles south of Kinston killed one person in each car. The victims were Virginia Taylor Cox, 41, of Rt. 2, Richlands, and Lydia Smith Stroud, 50, of Rt. 1, Albertson.

Two men were killed when two cars hit head-on about three miles south of Fayetteville. The victims were John Roger Tew, 16, of Rt. 3, Fayetteville, and Willie Foster Sampson III, 24, of Lillington.

A car struck a cement culvert in Cumberland County. Roxie Costner, 49, of Fayetteville, was killed.

A car went off a rural paved road in Caswell County and hit a barn. John Clarence Gallo-way, 43, of Rt. 7, Reidsville, the driver of the car, was killed.

A teen-age boy was killed when he was thrown from a car crushed by it on a rural paved road in Cabarrus County. The victim was Darrell Scott Luck, 18, of Gold Hill.

Another man was killed when he, too, was thrown from a car that overturned 13 miles east of Greensboro. The victim was Kenneth R. Mansfield, 21, of Burlington.

overturned off N.C. 24, three miles west of Roseboro in Sampson County was killed. She was Cathleen Louise Pope, 23, of Jacksonville.

A car overturned several times on a rural road seven miles west of Laurinburg, killing George Alexander Moore, 15, of Rt. 1, Laurinburg.

Storm's Toll Around 150

HONG KONG (AP) — More than 150 persons were feared dead today after three days of torrential rains, floods and landslides on Hong Kong island and the adjoining Kowloon peninsula.

Avalanches roared down two hillsides Sunday night, wiping out an area of squatter huts on Kowloon and demolishing three apartment buildings in a chain reaction on Victoria Peak, on the island.

Floods, landslides and rock falls were caused in the British colony by the three-day storm that dumped more than 25 inches of rain on the area.

The chain reaction on the Peak started when an old, unoccupied, two-story structure on an upper-level road collapsed onto a six-story apartment building on the next level down. This building had been ordered evacuated earlier when torrential rains undermined part of its foundation, but it was not known whether all residents had moved out.

The two-story and six-story buildings formed the nucleus of the avalanche that roared on down the hillside and demolished a 12-story apartment building, then veered and hit a 14-story apartment house.

Demo Plans Advance On Reshaping Party Ranks

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — While most Democratic politicians are absorbed in the fight to pick a presidential candidate, a far-reaching plan to reshape their party is moving smoothly ahead.

The plan would establish a national Democratic party in which members would formally enroll and voluntarily pay dues, and a national policy conference to map party programs between conventions.

It would make the party chairmanship a full-time, well-paid post, triple the size of the national committee to make it more representative, and bring grass-roots Democrats into the leadership structure.

"We're trying to make the party bigger than its candidates," says Rep. James G. O'Hara, D-Mich., chairman of one of the two reform commissions that drafted the proposal.

"Now it is so oriented to the presidential election that when we lose the party becomes bankrupt and when we win it becomes moribund."

A key aim is to put the party on a stable, permanent financial base.

Despite the explosive force with which such a reform would hit the Democratic party it has attracted little attention and less opposition.

That may all change this week, however, as the plan goes before the Rules Committee of the Democratic National Convention at a meeting beginning Thursday in Washington.

The Rules Committee will be asked to clear the proposed party charter for presentation to the 1972 convention in Miami Beach next month, and any opponents will have a chance to express their views.

The most controversial provision in the plan is the one that would establish a new Democratic party. Only officially enrolled members of the national party could participate in elections for delegates to Democratic conventions or the off-year policy conference.

The plan calls for creation of a national membership and finance council which would be responsible for directing campaigns to sign up members and collect dues on a state-by-state basis. States would be assigned quotas for financial support of the national party, and those failing to meet their quota would lose voting privileges in the national committee.

In the drafting sessions of the Commission on Rules and the Commission on Party Structure, which jointly wrote the charter, the membership and dues proposal drew fire from liberals who said it would shut out the poor and the independent-minded.

Surprise Gift For Small Boy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon has given a surprise birthday present to a small boy.

The President, who flew to his Florida White House on Sunday after spending two days at Grand Cay Island in the Bahamas, had received an invitation to attend a birthday party for 6-year-old Paul Motta.

When the birthday party got under way aboard his father's yacht, a gift arrived from Nixon. There was a card with the White House seal. Inscribed on one side was "Congratulations, Paul," and on the other "Happy Birthday." It was signed "Richard Nixon."

A ball point presidential pen with Nixon's name on it accompanied the card.

Charmanship a full-time, well-paid post, triple the size of the national committee to make it more representative, and bring grass-roots Democrats into the leadership structure.

Special Account To Help Elderly

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — First Pennsylvania Banking and Trust Co. has established a special type of bank account for the aged as the result of meetings with the Gray Panthers, an activist group of elderly persons.

The special account was sought to enable the elderly—often the target of muggers—to carry less cash.

The account provides that the bank will automatically pay standard bills, such as utilities, to the companies. In addition, the bank will offer free of charge four money orders a month to account holders.

Wounded, But Crowd Wouldn't Aid Trooper

SHELBY, N.C. (AP) — A highway patrolman who was stabbed Sunday night in Cleveland County after making a drunk driving arrest had to radio for help as at least 25 persons watched without offering assistance.

The patrolman, L. D. Wagner, was in satisfactory condition early this morning in Cleveland Memorial Hospital with a stab wound in his left rib section.

Two men have been charged, one of them with the knife attack, and another with assaulting patrolman J. S. Bennett who came to Wagner's aid.

A third man charged with drunk driving got away. He was believed to be wearing handcuffs.

Patrolman E. T. Vanhoy said the stabbing occurred about 8:30 p.m. just south of the small town of Casar and about 15 miles north of Shelby.

Vanhoy said Wagner and Bennett, each with a prisoner in their patrol cars, started driving toward Shelby even though Wagner was bleeding badly from the wound.

A third patrol car met the other two about halfway to Shelby and took Wagner to the hospital.

Charged with two counts of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill in the knife attack on Wagner and a scuffle with Bennett is Earl Stewart Allen, 29, of Rt. 1, Casar.

Vanhoy said Allen and Harold Ray Dayberry, believed to be in two different cars, were stopped by Wagner. Dayberry was charged with drunk driving, but got away during the scuffle that ensued.

Allen's father, Edgar Nolie Allen, who lived near the scene of the stabbing, apparently heard the commotion and came to his son's assistance, Vanhoy said.

The elder Allen was charged with resisting arrest and assault on an officer.

Vanhoy said he could not explain the failure of "the 25 to 50 people" who witnessed the stabbing to come to Wagner's aid. Vanhoy said the spectators simply milled around during the 15-minute scuffle.

Greenville Legion Team Wins Two Of Three Games

Greenville's American Legion baseball team gained victories in two of three games played over the weekend. They downed Tarboro in Tarboro Saturday night, 7-5, after coming back from two runs down late in the game, then split with Winter Park of Wilmington, winning 10-3, and losing, 4-1 on Sunday.

Saturday night, Greenville took the lead in the second inning, picking up two runs. Randy McKinney reached on an error and Bill Lee walked. Johnny Barwick singled to load the bases. Robbie Cox reached on an error, scoring McKinney and Duncan Charlton walked to force in Lee. That gave Greenville a 2-0 lead.

They added another in the fifth. Phil Blount tripled and came over on Dale Manning's sacrifice fly.

Trailing 3-0, Tarboro put together a rally in the seventh and came up with five runs. Ralph Elks walked and Mike Massey doubled. Jeff Parish walked, loading the bases. Stan Letchworth singled in Elks and Massey and Johnson doubled in Parish. A wild pitch brought Letchworth in, while another brought over Johnson.

In the eighth, Greenville came up with a run to cut it to 5-4.

Brinkley got an infield single and Lee reached on an error. Barwick hit a line drive to first, and on the attempt to double Brinkley off third, the ball was thrown away, letting him score.

Greenville came up with three more in the ninth to win it. Charlton doubled with one away and Stanley Cobb walked. Blount also walked, loading them up. Mike Bundy brought in Charlton with a sacrifice fly and Brinkley doubled to drive in Cobb and Blount with the winning runs.

Lee Cherry, who went the first six-plus innings, struck out 11 batters. Mike Weaver, who came on in relief and got the win, fanned seven for all the outs after he went to the mound.

In Sunday's opener, Greenville pushed over two runs in the top of the first inning. Robbie Cox led off with a walk and Charlton reached on an error, with both moving up a base on the overthrow. Phil Blount then singled to center, scoring Cox and Charlton with a 2-0 lead.

In the second, another run came over. Bill Lee walked and Barwick was safe on an error. Cox singled, driving in Lee.

Two more crossed in the third. Blount walked and stole second. McKinney also walked and so did Manning, loading the bases. Barwick then reached on an error, scoring both Blount and McKinney. That made it 5-0.

The fourth saw one more come in Charlton reached on a fielder's choice and was wild pitched around.

Greenville made it 7-0 with another in the fifth. Barwick singled and Vic Corey got an infield hit. Both moved up on a wild pitch, and Mike Weaver hit a sacrifice fly to score Barwick.

The final three came in the sixth. Mike Bundy bunted his way on and stole second. Manning walked and Lee reached on a bunt single. Smithwick's grounder was played to second and errored, with both Bundy and Manning scoring on the play. Corey bunted in Lee with the final run of the game.

Winter Park got all their runs in the seventh, when they got two of their four hits off Corey. Thompson reached on an error and Watkins walked. Schupp singled in Thompson and Smith doubled to drive in Watkins and Schupp.

Another crossed in the second. Thompson singled and stole second. He moved to third on a fielder's choice and scored when Clemmons singled.

It stayed that way until the sixth inning when they added the final two. Hicks singled and Thompson walked. With two outs, Schupp singled in Hicks and then Smith reached on an error, scoring Thompson.

The lone Greenville run came in the seventh inning. Steve Fuchs walked and Mike Bundy came on to run for him. Charlton also walked and Robert Brinkley singled. Weaver also singled, driving in Bundy with the run. Greenville plays host to Aoshkie tonight at 7:30 p.m. at Harrington Field.

Ray Elder Didn't Have Fastest Car, But Takes Golden State 400

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — Ray Elder may have learned patience as a farmer, but he's applying it as a race driver.

The 29-year-old cotton and alfalfa grower from Caruthers, Calif., didn't have the fastest car in Sunday's $75,000 Golden State 400 at Riverside International Raceway. But at the finish, it was Elder who took the checkered flag with a lap to spare.

"After the first few laps I knew I couldn't run with the leaders, so I just picked my own pace and stuck with it," he said.

For 95 of the 153 laps the strategy looked only good enough for a third-place check, as Richard Petty, the Randleman, N.C., driver who has won over a million dollars and was the fastest qualifier for this event, opened up a wide lead on the twisting eight-turn road course, with Bobby Isaac second.

But on the 96th lap Petty moved out to lap the third-place driver, Elder, and his crankshaft broke, forcing him out of the race.

Isaac took over and led for 14 laps. On the 110th lap, the Catawba, N.C., veteran left the race with transmission failure.

Elder, who had started seventh, took over and nursed his lead over the final 43 laps, babying his 1971 Dodge to compensate for a brake problem. At the finish, several drivers were gaining on him, including runner-up Benny Parsons and third-place Donnie Allison. But the lead was never in real danger.

ing on their own ground, he returned home to win the Grand National West division of NASCAR for the third time.

This time, the co-proprietor of a 240-acre family farm in Fresno County said, he's sticking close to home.

"I'm going to concentrate on the West Coast races and try to win a fourth championship," he said. "I've got a race Friday night in Medford, Ore., Saturday night in Longview, Wash., and Sunday in Portland."

Taff Edges By Fire Fighters

Taff Office Equipment edged past the Fire Fighters, 6-5, Saturday night in the Senior Babe Ruth League.

The win left Taff with a 7-2 record, while the Fire Fighters are now 1-5.

Taff opened the game with a home run to grab the lead. David Clifton slammed the blow.

In the second, Taff got three more. Gene Vincent singled and Pete Cullop walked. Howard Leggett doubled in Vincent, and Jay Jester singled to drive in both Cullop and Leggett for a 4-0 lead.

Bob Bowles walked to load them up. Hines struck out, but reached, scoring Carr when the ball got by the catcher.

Clifton had three hits to pace Taff, while Vincent had two. Hines had two for the Fire Fighters.

Fire Fighters 003 010 1-5 4 5

"The car ran perfect and when the time was right there I was," said Elder, who collected $11,625. His average of 98.747 miles per hour was well off the track record.

Donnie Allison, whose brother Bobby was the defending champion but finished sixth this time, spun out on the 115th lap and said he felt it cost him the race. The mishap delayed him four laps.

"It was my mistake. I could have won the race if I hadn't done that," said Allison, who was subbing for Indianapolis 500 winner Mark Donohue in a Matador. Donohue was refused U.S. Auto Club permission to drive in the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing-sanctioned event.

Elder won the Western 500 here last year, becoming the first non-factory team driver to win a major NASCAR 500-mile event, and decided to take a crack at the Eastern circuit. Unable to break through Southern drivers' domination of racing.

Cepeda Fed Up With Walkout; Wants To Play

ATLANTA (AP) — Orlando Cepeda, suspended by the Atlanta Braves over the weekend, meets today with club officials in an attempt to resolve the slugging first baseman's two-day walkout.

Cepeda, a 14-year major league veteran and former National League Most Valuable Player, left the club before Saturday's Braves-Montreal night game when his name wasn't in the starting lineup.

He was promptly suspended indefinitely by Atlanta Manager Luman Harris.

"I'm fed up with not playing," the 34-year-old Cepeda said. "I just want to play ball. I show up and I sit. They (the Braves) says it's my knee. If I limp, they tell the papers my knee is bad. But nobody asks me. It's not 100 per cent but I can play regularly."

Chip Beck Wins Jr. Golf Crown

SALISBURY, N.C. (AP) — Chip Beck, medalist in qualifying for the Carolinas Golf Association Junior Championship, came through the weeklong tournament with the title Saturday.

Beck, a 15-year-old rising junior at Terry Sanford High School at Fayetteville, defeated Lee Keesler of Charlotte, 4 and 2, for the title at Salisbury Country Club.

At one point on the front nine Beck held a four-up lead, but he fell to a one-hole lead on the 13th. But Beck had two pars and a birdie on the next holes to clinch the crown.

Clint Atkinson of Siler City won the pee-wee championship over Bill Carlton of Salisbury.

Oakland Bats Help Vida Blue To First 1972 Win

Watch That Base-Stealing!

PURLOINED BASE — Kimberly Johnson, 14-month old daughter of Pirates pitcher, Bob Johnson, lifts a towel used as second base during a father-son baseball game played in Pittsburgh Sunday afternoon prior to the Pirates game with San Diego Padres. Base runner leading off, and unaware of his base being stolen is Steve Leppert, son of Pirates coach Don Leppert.

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
It was Mustache Day in Oakland and, for a change, things didn't get hairy for Vida Blue. Treated to only one run in the first 25 innings he pitched this season, Blue had begun to wonder whether he was wise to abandon the steel business and end his six-week holdout for a return to baseball.

But his faith was restored by an encouraging 16-hit attack that gave the A's a 9-0 romp over Cleveland Sunday. For his part, Blue allowed just four hits and came away with his first victory of the season after three losses. The combination of Blue on the mound and free admissions to anyone wearing a mustache, lured 33,777 fans to the ballpark in Oakland. More than 7,000 of them showed up with hair under their noses and were ushered in to watch Blue operate for no charge. Elsewhere in the American League Sunday, Chicago rapped Boston 8-4, Milwaukee shut out Kansas City 3-0, Minnesota edged Baltimore 4-3 and Detroit shut out California 2-0. Texas' game at New York was rained out.

Royals. George Scott scored two of the Brewers runs—the second one when he reached second base after striking out in the sixth inning. Scott had opened the inning by fanning but when catcher Jerry May dropped the third strike, Scott took off for first base. May recovered the baseball but his throw to first struck Scott and the runner wound up on second base. He stole third and then scored on Ellie Rodriguez' second double of the game. Rick Reichardt hammered a three-run homer capping a five-run Chicago rally in the fourth inning as the White Sox routed Boston.

Baltimore's nine-game winning streak ended at the hands of Minnesota—but barely. The Orioles, trailing 4-1, scored two runs in the eighth before reliever Wayne Granger shut off the rally. Harmon Killebrew drilled a pair of run-scoring singles as the Twins took the early lead. Jim Perry, 6-5, was working on a two-hitter and coasting when he walked Johnny Oates in the eighth. Boog Powell singled him to third and then Brooks Robinson greeted Granger with a double, making it 4-2. Terry Crowley followed with a single that scored one run but the Twins cut Crowley down trying to stretch his hit and then Granger bailed out of the jam by getting Dave Johnson on a fly ball.

Detroit took over first place in the AL East as Mickey Lolich shut out California for his 11th victory of the season. Homers by Jim Northrup and Norm Cash accounted for the Tiger runs and Lolich made them stand up with a masterful seven-hitter.

Monzon Retains

Title In Paris

PARIS (AP) — Carlos Monzon of Argentina still has his world middleweight boxing championship, and Jean-Claude Bouttier of France has a sore eye and a determination to campaign for new model gloves which do not let the thumb protrude. Monzon made his fourth world title defense Saturday night against Bouttier. The Frenchman did not come out for the 13th round, claiming that he was half blinded by pokes in the eye from Monzon.

Nicklaus Stands Atop Pinnacle After Winning 3rd U.S. Open

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent
PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus stood like a blond colossus atop the pinnacle of all golf today—beside the late Bob Jones and halfway home toward an almost unthinkable Grand Slam—the experience isn't exactly what he had imagined. "Bob Jones always was my idol and, as I was growing up, I talked about equalling his record of 13 major championships," the powerful 32-year-old shotmaker from Columbus, Ohio, said after winning his third U. S. Open title and his 13th major crown in gusty Pebble Beach winds that blew down all other challengers. "I thought about it and I worked for it but I never expected it to happen," he continued, discussing Jones' proud record set in the Golden Twenties. "Now that I've got it, I have a funny feeling. "I am proud to be in his company." Winner of the Masters and the U. S. Open, the first two legs of the unprecedented professional sweep which no man has accomplished, Big Jack now must set his sights on the British Open at Muirfield July 12-15 and the American PGA at Oakland Hills in Birmingham, Mich., Aug. 3-6. The final round over the 6,812-yard, par 72 Pebble Beach course that snakes along the crashing waves of the Pacific Ocean was played in conditions too foul for man or beast. The winds whipping off the ocean reached gusts of 30 miles an hour. The postage stamp greens were hard as concrete and slick as marble. All of the competitors, including Nicklaus, found themselves playing out of craggy canyons and off of rocky beaches. Twenty-eight of the 70 survivors failed to break 80. Two-time champion Bill Casper had a score of 300. Two other past winners, Orville Moody and Julius Boros, were at 301 and 305, respectively. Former Masters champion George Archer shot an 87 for 312. Tony Jacklin, the Briton who won both the British and U. S. titles in the space of a year in 1969-70, had a nine on a par four hole, needing three strokes to move the ball four inches in the rough.

Even Nicklaus had a double bogey—on the 10th—in shooting a final round 74 for 290, the second highest winning score in the Open since 1935. He won by three shots over Australian Bruce Crampton, who shot 76 for 293 with the re-surgant but frustrated Arnold Palmer a disappointed third with a 76 for 294. Defending champion Lee Trevino, only five days out of a hospital, played in a two-some with the awesome Nicklaus and finished with a 78 for 295, tying another Mexican-American, Homero Blancas, who closed with a 75.

course and generating cries of "Charge!" from his Army of fans. But there were two earlier birdie putts that stopped within inches of the cup. A last chance to draw even with Jack Nicklaus, who was on his way to victory, trickled to a stop a few spins from the cup at No. 14. "Fourteen could have made all the difference in the world," Palmer said later of the 8-foot birdie attempt. "If I'd made it, I'd have taken a different look at the whole thing." "I'm always on the defensive as far as my putting goes," said Palmer. "If you have confidence in your putting, it takes some pressure off the rest of your game." Right now Palmer lacks that confidence, but "I don't think I have the yips yet," he added, using Sam Snead's term for shaky nerves on the green. Pebble Beach itself, along with winds that made it even more treacherous, made the 1972 Open "the toughest" in Palmer's rating. He closed with a four-over-par 76 and a 72-hole total of 294, four behind Nicklaus.

Probably Toughest Open Yet: Palmer

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Arnold Palmer called it "probably the toughest Open I've played in." And his third place finish Sunday added to a personal record of frustration that includes four runner-up spots since winning the U. S. Open crown in 1960 for the only time. The 42-year-old Palmer was briefly tied for the lead in Sunday's final round of the 72nd Open, after holing a 30-foot birdie putt on the third hole of the windswept Pebble Beach

Biggest Marlin For Virginian

MOREHEAD CITY, N.C. (AP) — A 487 1/2-pound blue marlin caught by Lance Harris of Springfield, Va., was big enough for the championship in the annual Blue Marlin Tournament at Morehead City last week. The runnerup was a 475 3/4-pound specimen caught by Harry Ertel of Charlotte. During the five-day event, the approximately 200 fishermen caught 19 blue marlin, only 15 of which were eligible for judging, and two white marlin. A total of 46 boats were used.

Within 3 Outs Of Big Birthday

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
Jerry Reuss and Steve Arlin gave Philadelphia and Pittsburgh the old 1-2 Sunday while Tom Seaver delivered his knockout punch on Cincinnati. Reuss, 23-years-old today, came within three outs of giving himself a birthday to remember. He held the Phillies hitless for eight innings before Larry Bowa ripped a leadoff double in the ninth, then finished with a one-hit 10-0 victory that enabled the Houston Astros to close in on the Reds in the National League West. San Diego's Arlin fired 1-0 two-hitter at the hard-hitting Pirates, the second straight shutout for the lowly Padres over baseball's world champions, and dropped them into second place in the NL East, one-half game behind New York. The Mets slipped back into first place when Seaver checked the Reds on five hits for his first complete game since April 26 to become the NL's first nine-game winner and also slammed a tie-breaking home run in the seventh inning. The defeat sliced Cincinnati's margin over Houston to 1 1/2 games. Elsewhere, the Chicago Cubs edged Los Angeles 5-4 on Don Kessinger's 11th-inning single, Montreal's Mike Torrez tossed a two-hitter to beat Atlanta 2-1 and San Francisco trounced St. Louis 8-2. Reuss allowed only four base-runners, all on walks, until Bowa ripped a 1-1 pitch down the third base line to end his no-hit dreams. "It was a good pitch," Reuss said, "a low fast ball. I kind of had mixed emotions, but it did take some of the pressure off. I just said to myself it was over and I had to get the next three men out." The Astros backed Reuss with a 14-hit attack, including two doubles and a home run by Cesar Cedeño. San Diego has had little enough to cheer about this season but it was Pittsburgh that had a lost weekend. "When you beat the Pirates two out of three it's got to be a heck of a weekend," chortled manager Don Zimmer.

Farm Scene

By SAM J. WEEKS

The proper use of contact sucker control chemicals followed by an application of Maleic Hydrizide (MH) offers tobacco growers advantages as great as MH-30 did when it became available in the mid-fifties.

Many farmers are already using the combination treatment with good success.

The state has been set for a dramatic increase in acreage treated with a contact followed by MH. Good contact chemicals are available and application know-how has been worked out on numerous field tests conducted by certain companies and 53 on the farm tests conducted by the North Carolina Agricultural Extension Service in cooperation with growers. Some these tests were conducted in Pitt County. In addition to the increase in yield, quality, and net profit, there are other advantages of a good sucker control program that can be provided by the combination treatment program.

Near perfect sucker control is a must for mechanical harvesting. Each mechanical harvester currently for sale or under development requires sucker-free tobacco for proper operation. Hand harvesting is also easier and faster where the stalks are free of suckers. This is particularly true with the last one or two primings.

An effective sucker control job is a vital practice essential to a successful insect control program. Good sucker control reduces the need for insecticides for hornworms and other insects by reducing the availability of tender food for late season build-up of budworms, hornworms and flea beetles. The insects that are produced on suckers are the ones that overwinter and furnish the "seed" for next year.

The control of insect pests by reducing food supplies (suckers) will reduce the need for insecticides and lower the possibility of residues. This will benefit the entire tobacco industry and the consuming public.

Complete information on the application of combination sucker control treatments is available at the Pitt County Extension Office in Greenville.

By SAM J. WEEKS

Each year the potential income from the Pitt County tobacco crop is reduced by plant diseases. A large percentage of these losses can be eliminated if good disease control practices are followed on individual farms.

In order to carry out the disease control practices on your farm, first you need to know which disease is causing the damage to your tobacco crop.

Upon request, we will be glad to visit any farm to help determine the disease or diseases damaging the tobacco plants. Once the disease is determined, recommendations can be made that will help remedy the disease on your farm for future years.

There are some relatively new virus diseases attacking the tobacco plants, such as etch, vein binding, and alfalfa mosaic. An attempt is being made to check these diseases in North Carolina before they cause serious damage. We would especially like to be informed of any abnormal leaf diseases in order to determine if any of the new virus diseases are in Pitt County.

Other diseases that cause serious losses to the tobacco crop are black shank, Granville wilt, nematodes, and brown spot. The severity of the damage caused by these diseases can be substantially reduced by using the recommended control practices.

Farm Tips

By Dr. J. W. Pou
Agricultural Specialist
Wachovia Bank & Trust Co., N.A.

Insecticide usage on tobacco can be sharply reduced on many North Carolina farms without loss of crop yield or quality.

This is one of the preliminary conclusions drawn from results of the first year of a three-year insect scouting program started in 1971 in three North Carolina growing areas.

It is apparent from program results and other observations, that many growers could reduce insecticide applications by around 50 percent and a very high percentage of all growers could eliminate at least one application.

This is the opinion of Robert L. Robertson, extension entomologist at North Carolina State University, who is coordinator of the pilot program.

He pointed out that the benefits of reduced use of insecticides on tobacco are threefold:

Expenses could be cut at the rate of $4 to $5 per acre for each application that is eliminated.

Beneficial insects, such as parasites and predators that prey on tobacco pests, would be allowed to build up and in many cases keep injurious insect levels below "economic thresholds."

Residues and environmental contamination would be reduced.

Some 2,600 acres of tobacco in Columbus and Bladen counties, 4,300 acres in Wilson and Wayne counties and 1,255 acres in Surry County were involved in the study last season.

The major aim of the program is to promote the use of pesticides on the basis of need. Tobacco, because of its high dollar value and economic importance to farm families, receives intensive care. This often includes unneeded and excessive sprayings to control insects.

The good of the program being studied is to come up with a system that will enable growers to treat only as needed, based on the degree of insect infestation.

The program does this by the use of trained scouts who inspect fields weekly to determine insect levels. Professional workers, county extension agents in this case, make treatment recommendations based on scouting reports.

In the Columbus-Bladen area last year, an average of four applications were actually made. The reports indicated only three were needed. Results obtained in the Wayne-Wilson area and in Surry County also indicated more applications were applied than needed.

Robertson said the scouting approach seems to be fairly well accepted by most farmers.

The program will continue this year in the same areas. Sponsors of the effort are hopeful that the concept will catch on and that it will be continued by the growers themselves when the experiment is completed.

Research done at North Carolina State University has also made it possible for apple growers to reduce the amount of pesticides they normally use and still produce high quality fruit.

A. C. Holpp, Wilkes County agricultural extension agent, said growers in the North Carolina Brushy Mountain area spent 36 percent less for pesticides during the 1971 season than they spent in 1969.

Holpp explained that weather conditions last year were not conducive to a buildup of large populations of mites but he felt that substantial progress has been made in using natural predators to control apple tree mites.

Social Security Can Hit $2,360 Monthly Pension

By MIKE FEINSILBER
WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Social Security pension of $2,360.60 a month?

Unlikely as it sounds, that is in store—not for the present generation of working people, but for the next generation—if Congress approves a 20 per cent increase in Social Security benefits and future Congresses gear benefits and taxes alike to match rising wages and a rising cost of living.

Approval of that proposition appears likely. Sixty-seven senators say they will vote for it. Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, proposed it.

Mills is confident he can win the House's concurrence—a safe bet in an election year when pressure for an increase in Social Security's payout comes from 28 million recipients. Genuine Retirement System Approval of a 20 per cent boost will, for the first time since Social Security was created in 1935, convert the system into what it hitherto has always fallen short of being—a genuine retirement system providing a living pension for working people. A single man who goes to work for $12,000 a year next January at age 22 would be assured, the Social Security Administration says, of a monthly pension of $2,360.60 when he retires in January, 2015, at age 65.

That figure assumes: —That his wages keep pace with an average increase in wages of 5 per cent a year. —That the cost of living rises by 2.75 per cent a year. Inflation of course will make the figure seem less staggering.

But even when inflation's impact is taken into account, the analysts say, $2,360 in the year 2015 would be the equivalent of a pension of $735.20 in today's dollars.

10 Per Cent Proposed
The Senate Finance Committee, always cost conscious, has proposed an increase in benefits of only 10 per cent, plus automatic increases as costs and wages rise.

The 10 per cent increase would result in a pension in 2015 of $1,990.40 for a single worker, $2,985.60 for a couple.

If Congress enacted no Social Security bill this year or any time in the future, the single man going to work for $9,000 a year today would retire in January, 2015, with a pension of $295.40.

As for the present retired generation, the average pension check for a single person is now $129. A couple gets $223.

With a 10 per cent increase in benefits, the average check would rise to $142 for the single, $247 for the couple. With a 20 per cent increase, the average goes to $155 for a single retiree, $267 for a couple.

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, JUNE 20, 1972

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Everyone is likely to have a chip on his shoulder, or he or she will be quarrelsome today until sundown and only by maintaining a smile and cooperative attitude does it seem possible to steer clear of some pretty difficult situations. However, the evening finds much better influences at work and you can get bigwigs' support.

ARIES (Mar 21 to Apr 19) If you are argumentative with partners today, you certainly can get yourself into a peck of trouble. Wait the evening before asking favors, etc. Show you have poise and savoir faire with everyone.

TAURUS (Apr 20 to May 20) Try not to argue with fellow workers today and endeavor to work alone as much as you can. Show good friends how much you like them in p.m. and establish a happy rapport. Make better plans for the future.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Although having fun is on your mind, it is best you handle all those important duties ahead of you first and then tonight to go-go. Show you are businesslike in your dealings with others. Forget the personal.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Push through with whatever promises you have made to others and gain their respect and goodwill. Soft-pedal that personal aim. Do some entertaining at home that is worthwhile.

LEO (July 22 to Aug 21) The daytime is best for business affairs and shopping, while the appointments you like are best relegated to tomorrow. Show you are well controlled. Make a fine impression on others.

VIRGO (Aug 22 to Sept 22) You waver between impetuosity and fear today, so find the happy medium that gives you right action and helps you reach decisions. Think over responsibilities in a wise way. Avoid going off on tangents.

LIBRA (Sept 23 to Oct 22) If you try to force others to your way of thinking, you can get into much trouble and lose out on potential benefits possible otherwise. Evening is fine for the social. Make sure you put a curb on your temper.

SCORPIO (Oct 23 to Nov 21) Evening is best time to get night results both in business and where romance is concerned, so take it easy during the day. Keep busy at easy routine work during day. Show you are dynamic in p.m.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 22 to Dec 21) The evening is best for asking favors of others and getting them to join in some fine plan you have in mind. Get busy with detailed work during the day and it will be behind you. Avoid one who is testy.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22 to Jan 20) Doing anything risky during day could lower your respect within your community, so take care and stay on the safe side. Listen to what a high executive says to you. Get out of the town later on in the day.

AQUARIUS (Jan 21 to Feb 19) Those new ideas you have require more study especially where details thereof are concerned, so get busy at that early. Prepare well for any trips you want to take in the near future. Figure cost well, too.

PISCES (Feb 20 to Mar 20) Figure what you really owe others which should be paid right away, and then make the payments and keep credit good. Forget your day hunches, since they are apt to be wrong. They work fine tonight, though.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those fortunate young people who will be most charming and likable and will gain the favor of others easily by the simple expedient of a smile, but is apt to be a fussybug if you do not teach early to show consideration for others. A good chart for whatever work requires cooperating with others a good deal, since your youngster is hardly the kind who likes to work alone. A fine social life here. Ethics early, too.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

The Worry Clinic Harmony Needs Good Balance

Myra probably guessed at my diagnosis before I ever replied to her query. For she was an experienced music teacher. But I'd like to have coached this volunteer choir via the "sandwich method." The piano unbalanced the whole program! See below.

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph.D., M.D.

Case U-506: Myra G., aged 32, is a music teacher in high school. "Dr. Crane," she asked, "how did you like the group of 12 teenagers who sang for us in church today?"

This volunteer group donated their services.

They came from a neighboring town 30 miles away.

In addition to the 12 singers, there was a boy pianist who acted as their director.

attention of the audience to the extent of detracting from the human voices.

My appreciation for the group's volunteered efforts to help promote religion, made me smile and compliment them verbally.

But I should like to have had time to use the "sandwich method" of criticism, in order to increase their effectiveness.

For the pianist hammered the piano till he drowned out the voices of the 12 singers.

And I use that word "hammered" advisedly, for he pounded the keys till the piano almost bounced up and down.

Yet the purpose of instrumental music, when employed with a choir or chorus, is to serve as the "frame" around the "picture."

This means that the piano, organ or other instruments should NOT monopolize the

GOREN ON BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN

(c 1972: By The Chicago Tribune)

BRIDGE QUIZ ANSWERS

Q. 1 — Neither vulnerable as South you hold:

♠KQ985 ♦AQJ543 ♣K8

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
2 ♣	Pass	3 ♦	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Three hearts. This definitely shapes up as a slam, but in order to investigate the full limits of the combined holdings we suggest a rebid in hearts to clarify our distribution to partner. He will know that we have six diamonds and five hearts.

Q. 2—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠82 ♣64 ♦AK842 ♣A952

The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 ♥	Pass	2 ♣
Pass	3 ♥	Pass	4 ♥

What do you bid now?

A.—This is a good hand for a partner who could open the bidding and then jump. We would not abandon hopes for a slam and recommend a raise to five hearts. This will indicate our concern about the spade situation. If partner can guarantee no more than one spade loser, a six contract will be a reasonable undertaking.

Q. 3—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠AQ973 ♦AK82 ♦AQJ ♣3

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	Pass	1 NT
2 ♣	Pass	Pass	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Double. While it is clear that partner has very little if anything in the way of high cards, he might have a modicum of distributional values—enough even to produce a game. In any event, your hand is too rich in high cards and support for all unbid suits to sell out so cheaply.

Q. 4—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠752 ♦K82 ♦AJ1086 ♣A7

The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 ♥	Pass	1 ♦
Pass	2 ♥	Pass	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Five hearts. This hand is worth 25 points in support of any suit partner can bid. Because as little as a king or a long suit in his hand will probably produce a slam, a mere double on your part would be placing too much pressure on him. You must take matters in your own hands and force him to speak.

Digs Humor Out Of Law

VANCOUVER (AP) — Gouging humor out of the law is like digging for gold—tough but rewarding, says David Huberman, professor of law at the University of British Columbia.

He's devoted years to sifting out what little humor there is in the mills of justice and plans to write a book about it.

At one time he was chairman of admissions to the UBC law faculty and he recalled a couple of answers to admission questions, turned in by law students and student accountants.

Question: Define union check-off dues.

Answer: "A famous European author."

Question: "Define a quorum."

Answers: "A place for crushing rock." "A place where the Romans used to sacrifice the Christians." "For a quorum, the directors have to be odd."

"If you really want to laugh," he said, "you'd better remember that some of these people might be your lawyers, your accountants."

Huberman also has a file devoted to letters addressed to lawyers. One says:

Participate In Workshop

Five nurses and one professor participated in the University of North Carolina's School of Nursing Workshop "The School Nurse and Her Work Today" held there June 7-9.

Those who participated in the three day workshop were Assistant Prof. of Health Education Patricia Dunn of East Carolina University, Lillian L. Gradis, Medical Counselor for the Ayden and Grifton Elementary school systems, Carrie G. Oakley, director of School Social Services in Pitt County, and public health nurses Ellen Morton, Marie S. Arnaud, and Evelyn Sigda.

They were among 125 nurses and other professionals from throughout North Carolina which attended the course.

Treatment Tips For Sunburn

CHICAGO (UPI) — Ointments, wet compresses and soothing lotions are items helpful in treating a sunburn. A bland cold cream or lightweight mineral oil may be applied, say health educators at the American Medical Association.

They add this word of caution about commercial sunburn medications: "These products contain ingredients which are intended to reduce pain, but which can cause allergic skin reactions in susceptible individuals. If the pain is excessive or if extensive blistering is present, see a doctor."

But these 12 teen-agers sang at the top of their lungs but still were drowned out by the Piano! Music is the quickest and most universal form of international communication, so it should be fostered, but intelligently.

When I pioneered the teaching of psychology classes at our Northwestern University School of Music, I stressed many of these vital points.

But you don't need to be college graduates to understand basic psychology, whether of music, advertising or counseling!

This column brings you college psychology every day, so study it with care. You can thus be your own teacher!

Fewer All-Night Services Today

By MICHAEL J. SNIFFEN
Associated Press Writer
It's getting easier to buy groceries at 3 a.m. in the United States, but harder to fill a prescription, buy a tank of gasoline or go out for a meal in the early hours.

A rising tide of supermarkets have switched in the past few months from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. hours to 24-hour operation, bucking a trend among other consumer facilities that threatens to remake America's big cities in the image of small towns that roll up the sidewalks at night.

A survey shows that while many more supermarkets are open all night, the number of all-night drug stores, gas stations and restaurants is shrinking.

And the new 24-hour operations are being opened in suburbs, not in central cities. Their trade depends on the more mobile life style and lower crime rates of suburbia.

Last year, four per cent of the 35,000 supermarkets with over $500,000 business a year were open all night, mostly on the West Coast where such operations began several years ago, according to Bill Bishop, head of research at the Super Market Institute.

But in the last six months in the Midwest and the last two months on the East Coast, the number of chains with 24-hour operations has grown so fast that no up-to-date figures are available.

Dominick's, Jewel, and Red Owl food stores in Illinois and Wisconsin are trying 24-hour operations at selected stores.

Food Fair is putting 45 of its supermarkets in Philadelphia on 24 hours. The largely suburban Pathmark chain in New York, New Jersey, Delaware and Pennsylvania has had 92 of its 96 supermarkets open 24 hours since May 7.

Some Safeway stores in the Washington area have gone to 24-hour operation.

Wrigley's put 14 stores in the Detroit suburbs, 5 in Ann Arbor and 5 in outlying Michigan cities on 24-hour operation June 14.

One Pathmark store on Long Island recently had enough business at 1 a.m. to keep nine checkout lanes busy.

What kind of people shop at 3 a.m.? The store owners say they get a cross section—people avoiding the late afternoon jam in the store and on the highways; families with a car available for shopping only at night; women whose husbands are home from work taking care of their children; someone who needs milk or aspirin in an emergency; partygoers buying snacks sometimes several times during the night; men coming off late work shifts; families that want their whole

Press 'Free' If It Backs Regime

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Col. Muammer Kadafi, the Libyan leader, has decreed that the press in his country will be free, provided that all newspapers support socialism, the party and the revolutionary regime.

In reporting the decree Sunday, the Middle East News Agency said in a dispatch from Tripoli that the 29-year-old Libyan strongman has "opened the doors of freedom before the press to accomplish its role, by serving the revolutionary, socialist society."

Newspaper publishers must be staunch believers of socialism, members of the Arab Socialist Union, the sole party authorized in Libya, and they must labor to serve the revolution, the decree said.
