Massive cleanup, relief and rebuilding efforts have begun as the flood waters recede in the devastated East. The death toll from the week-long storm stood at 117 today and tens of thousands remained homeless.

As the rivers returned to their banks, thousands returned to their homes and businesses to clear away silt with shovels and brooms, and there was a break in the crisis that began when the storm named Agnes slammed across the Florida coast on her disastrous course a week ago.

With property damage over the $1 billion mark in Pennsylvania alone, the storm-torn states looked to the federal government for assistance, and a presidential aide promised it would be forthcoming.

The pledge came after the governors of five states and a representative from a sixth met in Harrisburg, Pa., Sunday with George A. Lincoln, director of the President's Office of Emergency Preparedness.

Red Cross officials said 112,000 homeless people were being cared for at 330 emergency shelters in Pennsylvania, New York, Virginia and Maryland, and they launched a disaster fund campaign for $10 million.

While most of the flood threat was past, watches were still kept in several areas including Petersburg, Va., where the Appomattox River was not expected to crest until tonight, and Almond, N.Y., threatened by a 14-mile-long artificial lake of rainwater behind a highway embankment.

There were some local problems in New York and Pennsylvania with spectators and looters.

A lack of potable drinking water was reported in at least 80 communities in Pennsylvania. In New York a shortage of containers for bringing in water was reported in Elmira.

At the meeting in Harrisburg Sunday, OEP director Lincoln told the governors that federal assistance ranging from rent-free, temporary housing to unemployment compensation would be available.

Pennsylvania Gov. Milton J. Shapp expressed concern that the aid would not filter through the red tape quickly enough. Maryland Gov. Marvin Mandel said he feared that not enough funds would be available.

Lincoln said the aid would be swift, sufficient and widespread.

Other governors attending the meeting were Linwood Holton of Virginia, Russell W. Peterson of Delaware and William T. Cahill of New Jersey. New York's vacationing Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller sent a representative.

Red Cross President George M. Eisey announced his organization's $10 million disaster fund campaign after a seven-hour aerial survey of the affected area. He estimated that more than 30,000 families in five states would need Red Cross assistance.

Federal and state authorities said that of the substantially more than $1 billion damage, a "minuscule fraction" was covered by flood insurance.

The crash of a helicopter on a surveying mission for the Army Corps of Engineers killed three persons Sunday, bringing the known death toll in New York to 23.

In several places, once the rains stopped and the floods began to recede, there was a new problem: sightseers. There were throngs in Harrisburg, and in Pittsburgh one policeman radioed that the curious were "raising all kinds of hell" downtown.

Training Program Paying Off: Scott

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Bob Scott said today a program of training designed to improve the management of state workers "is already paying off in improved performance, better communication, higher morale, and greater concern for improving governmental services."

Scott told the first meeting of his cabinet in a prepared talk

he is confident "my administration has taken the right course of action—both in our reorganization and in our management development program—to accomplish a major breakthrough in the goal we have set for ourselves—to improve government services to meet the needs of the future and to keep the costs commensurate with our people's ability to pay for those services."

"The ability of government to meet the needs of its citizens through established services is being severely tested," Scott told top state officials. "While the strains on service efficiency have been more acute at the federal level, state and local services are also facing problems of runaway costs and failure to do the job expected of them."

Scott said, "on the one hand, our citizens are demanding more and better services across the entire range of human needs, on the other hand, they, as taxpayers, are fast approaching the limit of their ability or willingness to pay for the escalating costs of those desired services. We have reached the point where something has to give. New sources of revenue are drying up, and increasing the tax rates on existing sources encounters more and more resistance. What is the answer?"

Scott said when he became governor he realized "that we should set a course of action that would make it possible for North Carolina to provide the new and better services our people need at a cost they could afford to pay."

He said his administration has taken "some far-reaching, promising steps to bring costs and needs more nearly into line. I now believe we can see some light at the end of the tunnel."

"I became convinced," Scott said, "that we could get a great deal more service from our tax dollar if we could do two things: reorganize our services and improve the management of those services."

Responsibility To Congress

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — On a 5 to 4 vote, the Supreme Court today cut off a major test of the Army's surveillance of civilians.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger said it was up to Congress, not the courts, to sit "as virtually continuing monitors of the wisdom and soundness of executive action."

Burger said the federal appeals court here was wrong when it granted a request by complaining civilians for a full-dress judicial hearing on the Army surveillance system.

The Chief Justice said the four individuals and nine groups who brought the surveillance suit had not proved they suffered any harm or even stood to suffer harm. He cited a 1937 Supreme Court ruling that First Amendment cases must be based on a showing of at least the immediate danger "of sustaining a direct injury."

combination of the four Nixon administration appointees, plus Justice Byron R. White. It effectively bars what would amount to a trial of the way the Army gathered information about individuals and associations beginning in the summer of 1965.

Last March, when the case was argued in the high court, Solicitor General Erwin N. Griswold conceded the Army had been overzealous in its surveillance of civilians. "From my point of view it was poor judgment," Griswold said of the monitoring by some 1,000 Army agents. However, the government lawyer insisted neither the Constitution nor federal law was violated.

Burger's majority opinion expressed no attitude on the wisdom of Army surveillance of civilians, though he wound up with an acknowledgement that the suit against the Army "reflect a traditional and strong resistance of Americans to any military intrusion into civilians' affairs."

Price Commission Mum On Sunday's Discussion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The politically delicate issue of food prices has silenced the Price Commission after an apparent rift with the White House.

The commission, meeting in closed session for more than four hours in an unusual Sunday session, declined to tell reporters anything about the meeting.

"I will speak on the record when I think I should and I won't speak on the record when I think I shouldn't," Price Commission Chairman C. Jackson Grayson told reporters who went to his office for comment.

Grayson apologized for the refusal to comment, but said the seven-member commission reached a consensus that nothing should be said. There were reports earlier last week that the commission was going to discuss a temporary freeze on meat prices. This was discussed at a meeting last Wednesday, but the next day President Nixon told reporters he is considering lifting import quotas on meat to increase the supply as a way to halt the spiral in food prices.

The commission urged the President and the Cost of Living Council to take quick action on the food price issue, but the White House and the council delayed any decision. And spokesmen indicated that the White House was angry because the commission made its recommendations public.

The Cost of Living Council, meantime, is considering options for reviewing controls on food at the request of the White House. There has been no indication on when a decision will be made.

Planning And Zoning Meets Wednesday

Two items for the Joint City-County Planning and Zoning Commission and six items for the Greenville Planning and Zoning Commission are slated to be heard on Wednesday night at City Hall.

The joint commission, the first to meet, will take up a committee report on U. S. 264 bypass East-West rezoning under old business and then under new business act on a request for rezoning. The request is by J. T. Manning, Jr., for property located on the north side of U.S. 264 bypass west, about one mile from the intersection of U.S. 264 and N.C. 11. The request is to rezone from RA-20 rural-residential to highway commercial.

Two committee reports form the old business agenda for the Greenville Planning and Zoning Commission. One is on proposed amendments to Zoning Ordinance No. 322; the second is on the thoroughfare plan.

Under new business the City Commission will discuss a preliminary plat by W. E. Dansey for a subdivision located in West Greenville; followed by a public hearing on rezoning from R-6 residential to R6-MH (residential-mobile homes) of property north of Mumford Road.

Two rezoning requests will complete the agenda. The first is that of Wheelless and Moore for two lots bordered by Cotanche Street and Ninth Street, for rezoning from office and institutional to downtown commercial fringe. The second is a request represented by Fred T. Mattox to rezone from office and institutional to downtown commercial fringe property located at the northeast corner of Tenth and Cotanche Street and other lots in this vicinity.

McGovern Says Pledge Of Black Bloc Assure Win

By GREGG HERRINGTON

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George S. McGovern said today he has received assurances of enough added support from blacks to assure him of a first-ballot nomination at the Democratic National Convention.

McGovern, Rep. Walter Fauntroy of the District of Columbia, Rep. Louis Stokes, D-Ohio, and other black delegates to the convention told a news conference they have pulled together in the past several days 96% previously uncommitted delegate votes for the South Dakota senator.

"There is no question now," McGovern said, "that this is enough to put us over the top in July on the first ballot. It gives us a generous margin of 1 1/2," he said.

In return for the commitments of black delegates from 12 states and the District of Columbia, McGovern said he has assured black leaders that blacks would be appointed to federal judgeships and posts within a McGovern administration "in reasonable proportion" to their numbers in the population.

Fauntroy told newsmen the new McGovern delegate strength includes:

Alabama, 1 vote; Connecticut, 4; Louisiana, 14; Ohio, 8; Mississippi, 16; Illinois, 5; Missouri, 8; New Jersey, 3; New York, 2; Virginia, 12; South Carolina, 7; Georgia, 6; and D.C. 12 3/4.

The figures added up to 98 3/4, rather than 96%. There was no immediate explanation for the discrepancy.

The announcement culminated several days of meetings and long-distance telephone calls seeking the previously uncommitted black delegates.

At an earlier news conference this morning, Stokes, head of the congressional black caucus, said the new McGovern delegates appeared to insure a first-ballot victory.

"We are confident that our bloc of votes will assure Senator McGovern the nomination on the first ballot," Stokes said.

"Sen. McGovern has pledged to support and work for the goals outlined in the Bill of Rights of the Congressional Black Caucus," Stokes said at a news conference. "He has pledged to fight with us for full citizenship and equality of opportunity for all citizens in every sector of our national life.

"We shall work in our own communities and all across the land to bring together the political support needed to assure the election of Sen. McGovern."

Stokes said one of the group's immediate goals is to have nine million blacks registered "and ready to march" in November.

Tobacco Meet Warned Congress Might Vote A Protectionist Policy

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP) — Congress might return the U. S. to a protectionist policy unless the U. S. and the Common Market can quickly reach a better understanding on trade relations, Archie K. Davis said Monday.

Davis, chairman of the board of Wachovia Bank and Trust Co., and immediate past president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, said Congress could well pass the Burke-Hartke Foreign Trade and Investment Act "in retaliation if the Common Market countries continue to erect barriers to American exports."

Davis said the Burke-Hartke Act "is highly restrictive and would stifle this nation's international trade and investment potential."

"The export of American leaf tobacco could be one of the first casualties of such a trade war," Davis said in a talk prepared for a joint meeting of the Tobacco Association of the United States and the Leaf Tobacco Exporters Association.

"Already the common agricultural policy of the Common Market nations is pricing our tobacco out of their markets," Davis said. He noted that Common Market countries import about 600 million pounds of tobacco annually, much of it from the United States.

The elimination of this market could be disastrous for American tobacco growers, Davis said.

"Compounding the problem are the preferential import rates the Common Market nations have worked out with Greece and Turkey, associate members of the market, and with associated overseas countries such as the former French colonies in Africa, Tunisia, Morocco, Israel, Spain and Malta," Davis added.

"It would follow that with Great Britain's entry into the Common Market, the possibility exists that Rhodesia and other British colonies would also import tobacco into Common Market countries at preferential rates," Davis stated.

Defer Judgment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today put off for another year a judgment on the anti-abortion laws of Texas and Georgia.

Evidently closely divided, the justices announced they would hear argument again next term on the question of whether it is unconstitutional for government to interfere with women's control over their own bodies.

At stake are the laws in these and other states that restrict physicians in performing therapeutic abortions. The court also has on its docket cases testing abortion laws in Maryland, Illinois, North Carolina, Louisiana, New Jersey, Utah and Mississippi. They also remain undecided since they are intertwined with the Georgia and Texas cases.

Part of the Georgia law was declared invalid two years ago by a district court in Atlanta. The Texas law, meanwhile was declared invalid by a three judge panel in Dallas.

Holmes-Tucker Vows Are Said

In a double ring ceremony Sunday at 4:00 p.m., Miss Susan Brooks Tucker became the bride of Keith Duayne Holmes Jr. in St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

The Rev. Lawrence Patrick Houston performed the ceremony. Mrs. E. Robert Irwin presented a program of organ music.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Brooks Tucker of Winterville, was given in marriage by her father. She wore a formal length white Schiffler embroidered silk organza gown designed with a high neckline encircled with Venise lace threaded with white satin ribbon. Matching lace and ribbon formed a V-panel overlaying the sheer yoke which featured circular floral Schiffler embroidered medallions centered with embroidered white rosebuds and miniature green leaves. The ribbon threaded lace also banded the short puffed sleeves. A large bow of embroidered fabric with long streamers edged in the scalloped Venise lace finished the gown back.

She wore a bouffant illusion veil attached to a Venise lace cap featuring daisies centered with pearls. The bride wore heart shaped diamond earrings, an heirloom gift from the bridegroom's mother, and a platinum and sapphire brooch, which belonged to her great grandmother. She carried a colonial nosegay of mixed summer flowers in pastel shades with multicolored satin streamers.

The bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Keith D. Holmes of Greenville.

The altar of the church was decorated with two five branched candelabra holding white tapers and vases of mixed spring flowers. A white needlepoint wedding pillow was placed at the altar rail where the bride and bridegroom knelt for the blessing and benediction. White satin ribbons marked the family pews.

Miss Janet Rose Tucker of Winterville, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a maize organza gown designed with an empire bodice and short puffed sleeves of white chantilly lace over organza. Ruffled maize organza edged the scoop neckline and sleeves. Patch pockets of lace with ruffles were featured on the full skirt. She wore a white picture hat with maize streamers. She carried a lace basket of miniature multicolored carnations, pompons and gypsophelia garlands with streamers of matching satin in pastel shades.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Linda Tucker Schmit of Greenville, sister of the bride, and Miss Mary Karen McLawhorn of Winterville. The bridesmaids wore powder blue organza gowns designed as the honor attendant and wore white hats trimmed in powder blue ribbon with streamers. Their baskets were identical to that of the honor attendant.

The bride's mother was at-

tired in a robin's egg blue knit dress styled with a mock bolero effect bodice with long sleeves. She wore matching accessories and a corsage of white pixie carnations.

Mrs. Blanche Stocks, maternal grandmother of the bride, wore a dress of pink raw silk, matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The father of the bridegroom was best man. Ushers were Stephen E. Holmes, brother of the bridegroom, and John D. Langley Jr., both of Greenville, Rex D. Roberts of Watkinsville, Ga., and John E. Neal of Benson.

After a wedding trip to the coast, the couple will reside in Decatur, Ga.

The bride attended the University of North Carolina at Greensboro and will continue her education in the fall at Georgia State University, Atlanta, Ga., where she plans to major in early childhood education.

The bridegroom is a graduate of East Carolina University and is presently a graduate student in chemistry at Emory University, Atlanta, Ga.

Reception

A reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church immediately following the ceremony.

The bride's table was covered with a cloth of white lace and centered with a six branch candelabra holding mixed summer flowers in pastel shades with white tapers.

After the bride and bridegroom cut the first slice of the three tiered cake, cake was served by Mrs. J.D. Langley of Greenville and punch was poured by Mrs. Alton G. Tucker of Greenville, great aunt of the bride.

Mrs. Austen L. Hoffman Jr. of Baltimore, Md., aunt of the bride, presided at the bridal register.

On Saturday, an after-rehearsal dinner was given by the bridegroom's parents at the Candlewick Inn.

The table was covered with a cloth of white linen and centered with an arrangement of mixed summer flowers.

The bridal couple presented gifts to members of the wedding party.

Time Off For Husband Is Work For Wife

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Do you know how this new idea of working a four-day week is going over? Several men where my husband is employed recently went on that four-day workweek and now my husband is considering going on it.

I suppose there are some advantages, but I'm not so sure how I would like that setup. It would mean having my husband around the house an extra day, and in the past some of those long holiday weekends have seemed awfully long to me.

I would like to discourage it in a subtle way, of course, but I don't want him to get the wrong idea. Anything you can tell me about it will be appreciated.

N. Y. POST READER

DEAR READER: If your husband gets the wrong idea, you're in the clear. It's the right idea you don't want him to get. Malcolm S. Forbes [Editor-in-Chief of Forbes magazine] says the men love the four-day workweek, but their wives aren't so crazy about having their husbands home that much. Malcolm must be reading your mind, Lady.

DEAR ABBY: Parents are warned repeatedly to keep cleaning fluids, drugs and poisons locked away where children cannot reach them. But nowhere have I seen a similar warning concerning iron tablets, which can be fatal if taken in large quantities.

Recently a beautiful 19-month-old child crawled up on to a chair and took a bottle of iron tablets out of the cupboard. Thinking they were candies, he screwed off the cap and before he could be stopped, swallowed some 50 tablets. He was rushed to the hospital but died 45 minutes later.

From iron tablets, Abby? But that child is just as dead as if he had swallowed rat poison. Please, please, warn others.

DEAR STILL GRIEVING: If your letter saves one child, it's well worth printing. Thank you for warning others.

DEAR ABBY: I just boiled when I read the letter from the mother who said, "A man should realize that he doesn't have to stop being a good son in order to be a good husband."

I wonder how many married sons are good to their mothers only because their wives insist upon it?

I've been married for 18 years, and my mother in law lives only a few blocks up the street, and I have to beg my husband to drop in and visit her. And he would never call her up and ask her how she is or if she needs anything if I didn't dial the number for him.

When it snows, I'm the one who makes him go to his mother's and shovel her sidewalk. And I'm the one who sends him to take off her storm windows and put on the screens even before he does our own. And I'm the one who always suggests we invite his mother to go out to dinner with us, or for a movie, or a ride. If it were up to my husband, he'd see her Christmas and Mother's Day.

I suppose all mothers want to think their sons are perfect. Well, I have news for them. In many cases, the daughter in law deserves the credit.

If you print this, no name or town, please. My mother in law thinks her son is perfect, and I wouldn't want to disillusion her.

ONLY A DAUGHTER IN LAW

DEAR ABBY: A woman wrote in saying she didn't want to have anything to do with her husband at night because he came to bed smelling like a brewery. You sure didn't give her much help. You should have told that woman to put a glass of mouthwash by the side of his bed, and also a spittoon. The reason this world is so messed up is because we can't meet each other half way.

CHICKEN ALGERIAN

Each serving is only about 245 calories.

- Broiler-fryer chicken, cut up
- Paprika
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1/2 cup chicken broth
- 1 garlic clove, crushed
- 1 medium eggplant, pared and diced
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 2 tomatoes, peeled and chopped
- 1/4 teaspoon dried crushed thyme
- 1 tablespoon minced parsley

Sprinkle chicken with paprika, 1 teaspoon salt and the pepper. In a large skillet melt the butter. Add chicken and brown on both sides. Remove from skillet; add broth and over low heat scrape brown particles from bottom of skillet.

Add garlic, eggplant, onion and tomato. Sprinkle with remaining 1 teaspoon salt, thyme and parsley. Return chicken to skillet. Cover and simmer until tender—about 30 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

New Magazine Cover Girl Is 40-Year-Old Mother

By ALINE MOSBY

PARIS (UPI)—France has a new heroine who has stolen the limelight even from Brigitte Bardot.

The new magazine cover girl of Paris is no young jetsetter but a 40-plus-year-old mother of four, the new wife of Prime Minister Jacques Chaban-Delmas.

Micheline Chaban-Delmas has charmed the French as Jacqueline Kennedy did the American public back in the New Frontier days in the United States.

France's Second Lady (after Mrs. Claude Pompidou, wife of President Georges Pompidou) appears quite removed from the traditional image of political leaders' wives. She and the handsome premier were married about the same time that the American film and book "Love Story," won wild popularity in France. Mrs. Chaban-Delmas looks remarkably like an older version of the "Love Story" star, Ali McGraw.

Micheline Chaban-Delmas has the same wholesome yet warm and sensual look. Her long black hair, parted firmly in the middle, hangs loose in a girlish style or is drawn into a chignon in back. She rarely puts cosmetics on her usually suntanned face with its wide mouth and natural, thick eyebrows.

Dresses Casually

Although Paris is the world high fashion capital, the premier's third wife receives callers at the Hotel (mansion) Matignon, the official residence for French premiers, in a skirt or trousers, white blouse with open collar and sweater. Her only jewelry is a gold medallion on a chain around her neck. Sometimes she wears tailored white shirtwaist dresses. On state occasions she wears the creations of Paris designers, such as on her first official voyage abroad 20 days after their September marriage, to the Shah of Iran's party at Persepolis. The Chaban-Delmas marriage was a real love story. His second wife was killed in an automobile accident in 1970. He and Micheline, divorced from a Paris doctor, met on a tennis court in the Basque country of France. He, too, is photogenic. Elle magazine once nominated him as one of France's "sexiest men." The couple was wed in a surprise ceremony in Bordeaux last September.

The bride shies from the press but recently gave an interview to the luxury magazine Realities, France's sales-man abroad for its culture.

Mrs. Chaban-Delmas told Realities she was born in Indochina and studied medicine, Chinese and archaeology. Since becoming France's Second Lady "nothing has changed very much although I have been able to come into contact with extraordinary people."

Both Love Sports

Both she and the premier are avid sports fans. They play tennis regularly, plus 18 holes of golf when they fly twice monthly to Bordeaux where the premier also is mayor. Three mornings a week they both go to an exercise gymnasium before breakfast and she often plays tennis with his eldest daughter. She likes music from Beethoven to the Beatles.

The couple lives in a four-room apartment in the wealthy 16th district of Paris, refusing to live in the formal Hotel Matignon. She described their apartment as "a mixture of modern and antique. Everything is terribly comfortable."

The Second Lady shops for groceries in neighborhood shops as any Paris housewife and picks up her youngest son, 12, at school. The Chaban-Delmas have four children each from their other marriages so the household swarms with youth. The premier's wife cooks many of the meals herself, "steak or grilled fish, none of the complicated casseroles."

Afternoons Mrs. Chaban-Delmas spins around Paris in her gray Peugeot to visit art shows. She watches the evening television news so she can fill in her husband who returns from his office around 9:30 p.m. He changes into turtleneck pullovers and slacks for their "plain and healthy" supper. But they enjoy good Bordeaux wines.

"He's teaching me. He usually can identify the years and the vineyard," the bride said.

Personal

Mrs. J. Vance Perkins is a surgical patient in Pitt Memorial Hospital.

Charity Begins In The Cab

PARIS (WNS) — Pierrette Zede, 28, was educated to be a teacher but preferred an easier life of vagabonding and requesting charity. "I'm too bashful to ask for a job," she explained. However, she was not too bashful to hail a taxi to drive her from St. Germain des Pres to the Austerlitz railroad station. The policeman who heard her tell the cabdriver that she had no money to pay the fare arrested her. The judge sentenced her to one week in jail, but the cabbie refused to sue her for his $1.60 fare. "Drivers never sue me," said Pierrette. "They are gentlemen of generosity and understanding."

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. T.C. Walton of Elizabeth City announce the engagement of their daughter, Carla Joy, to Jimmy Rogers Bright, son of Mrs. Frances Gardner and Mr. Jimmy Bright, both of Ayden. The wedding will take place July 16.

Couple Exchanges Vows In Double Ring Ceremony

Miss Barbara Gale Cherry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Dallas Cherry Jr., became the bride of Joseph Burton Stox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Lee Stox, Winterville, Sunday afternoon at 3 p.m. in the Grace Free Will Baptist Church.

The Rev. James Lupton officiated at the double ring ceremony.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Ruth Taylor, organist, and Mrs. Jane Randlett, soloist, who sang "Whither Thou Goest," "I Love You Truly" and "The Wedding Prayer."

The church was decorated with a background of bridal palms and seven branch candelabra holding lighted cathedral tapers. The altar was centered with a large standing basket filled with mixed summer flowers.

The couple knelt for their vows on a profile prie-dieu. Family pews were marked with bridal satin.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of embroidered silk organza and venice lace trimmed in satin. The dress was designed with a high neckline and mandarin collar, full length camelot sleeves and wateau chapel train. Venice lace circled the collar, cuffs and illusion yoke. The hemline of the lightly gathered skirt and the wateau train were bordered with venice lace.

Her three tiered veil of silk illusion was attached to a face frame designed headpiece of organza and lace etched with seed pearls.

She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations and pompons with matching streamers.

Miss Carolyn Rose Coghill of Greenville was maid of honor.

She wore a yellow full length gown designed with an empire waistline and long sleeves of chiffon over taffeta. She wore a matching brimmed picture hat with long streamers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Barbara Grimsley and Miss Delores Tripp, cousins of the bride. They wore lavender dresses and hats styled identical to that of the honor attendant.

The attendants carried a single long-stemmed mum of yellow and orchid with long satin streamers.

Miss Susan Cherry, sister of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a formal length gown of white organza and carried a basket filled with white, lavender and yellow spring flowers.

Jepp Stox, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Mike Robinson, Ray Briley and John Stox, brother of the bridegroom.

Dal Cherry, brother of the bride, was ring bearer.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Cherry chose a rose pink double knit dress accented with matching lace and matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a blue knit dress trimmed in lace and matching accessories. Both mothers wore white carnation corsages.

The wedding was directed by Mrs. Dot Dail and Mrs. Rebecca Davenport.

The bride is a 1972 graduate of Rose High School and plans to attend Pitt Technical Institute in the fall. The bridegroom attended Winterville High School and is currently employed by Hines Amoco.

For a wedding trip to unannounced points, the bride changed into a yellow double knit dress with white accessories and the corsage lifted from her bouquet.

The couple will reside at Rt. 1 Winterville.

After-Rehearsal Party
The wedding party was honored at an after-rehearsal party Saturday night.

Mrs. Margaret Walston greeted the guests.

After the bridal couple cut the first traditional piece of wedding cake, Miss Pam Carraway served cake and Miss Judy Dail poured punch.

The appointed table was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of pink and white summer flowers.

The bride was presented a pink corsage.

Miss Emma Jean Smith Is Wed

AYDEN — Miss Emma Jean Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Smith of Winterville, became the bride of Creft T. Haggins Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Creft Haggins Sr. of Fairmont, on Saturday, June 17, at 4:00 p.m.

The Rev. J. L. Wilson, pastor of the bride, performed the double ring ceremony in the Little Creek Free Will Baptist Church. A program of nuptial music was presented by Rodger Ingram, organist, and Calvin Henderson, soloist, who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a formal length silk organza gown fashioned with a high neckline and re-embroidered lace bodice with lace trim at the throat and repeated on the cuffs of the full length sleeves.

Her shoulder length veil was of matching lace. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white pompons.

Mrs. Evelyn Lee of New Haven, Conn., was her sister's matron of honor. Grossie Smith of Winterville, sister of the bride, Thomsene Bennett of Wadesboro and Nancy Brown of Ayden were bridesmaids. Ilanda Smith of Farmville, cousin of the bride, was flower girl.

Joseph Smith of Farmville, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

Michael Gaddy of Fairmont served as best man. Ushers were Danny Carl Smith, Johnny R. Smith, brothers of the bride, and Annias Smith all of Winterville, cousin of the bride.

The bride is a graduate of North Carolina Central University and was a member of Phi Beta sorority. The bridegroom is also a graduate of North Carolina Central University and is presently employed by the Tri-County Community Action program.

Fairmont.
After a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will reside in Fairmont.

Reception
Immediately following the ceremony, the parents of the bride entertained at a reception in the church fellowship hall.

The refreshment table was covered with a satin cloth and centered with an arrangement of white and yellow daisies and snapdragons. The bride's table was covered with a white imported lace cloth and held the three tiered decorated wedding cake.

Assisting in serving and receiving were Mrs. Alice Dixon, Mrs. Emma Barrett and Mrs. Eula Cannon of Ayden.

Mrs. Vivian Hines register the guests.

After the Haggins-Smith rehearsal on Friday night, a party was given for the wedding party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Waters of Farmville. The bridal couple remembered their attendants with gifts.

The wedding was directed by Mrs. Elinor W. O'Neal of Greenville.

School Girls Ask For The Whip

ROTTERDAM, Netherlands (WNS) — Thirty high-school girls here have formed a committee that demands the return of corporal punishment for misdeeds in class. "Discipline is falling apart in our schools, even though it is as important as subject to learn as mathematics," declared founder Elly Huissen, 17. "A good whipping for many of the boys would make decent gentlemen out of them. That would encourage girls to become gentle ladies."

Inventors Suffer From Clean

PARIS (WNS) — What is the major problem of inventors? "Wives," declared Jacques d'Aubarede, delegate of the Inventors Association to the Foire de Paris here. "Inventors have pieces of new inventions all over the house and suffer every time the housewife insists on tidying up the place." Among the new items shown at the Salon de l'Invention: direction signals for pedestrians to wear and manipulate on crowded sidewalks; a ping-pong table with attachments that return all balls that fall to the floor; and an automatic pocket knife for opening oysters.

Face Track Goes Topless

LEICESTER, England (WNS) — Ron Hallam has hired strip star Jane Siddons, 21, to make a topless tour of his 17 betting parlors. She wears only high heels, a mini skirt and a smile and posts results of horse races on the big betting board. "After the first shock, not many men notice me," reported Miss Siddons. "They are far too interested in their bets." She is also tired of the obvious feminine comment: "What happened, love? Did you lose your shirt with the bookies?"

She Is Leading Crusade For Couples With Sex Problems

By RENA PEDERSON
DALLAS (UPI) — Dr. Emma Lee Doyle's friends call her "the Joan of Arc of Texas Sexes," because she is leading a crusade for couples with sex problems.

The vivacious blonde is a family counselor with the experience of having been the first female research assistant with Masters and Johnson, the famous sex research team.

"Unfortunately, business is good ... it is estimated, some 50 per cent of all American marriages have some form of sexual dysfunction," she said.

"Fortunately, because of Masters and Johnson and the flurry of books on understanding human sexuality, more and more people—even the most conservative of Texans—are realizing something can be done about sex problems."

Looking a bit like actress Hope Lange, the 37-year-old therapist can create quite a stir in a restaurant with her unabashed talk about the most intimate sex problems. But she's not the least bit embarrassed.

"My gosh, that's the problem," she said. "People are afraid to talk about their problems, even to their own marriage partners. Almost all of the problem is mental, not physical, and usually it is caused by lack of communication."

"Sex and money are the most secret topics of conversation in the world."

EDUCATION
Mrs. Doyle received her bachelor of science degree and a master's degree in education from East Texas State University and did graduate studies at Colorado State and Florida State University. She was about to begin post-doctoral work at the University of Minnesota when the chance came to work with Drs. Masters and Johnson.

"They have done a great deal to enhance the knowledge of professionals and lay people," she said. "They have been controversial, but they have clarified many of the myths about sex. The therapy and the techniques they developed will eventually help millions of people."

A native of Paris, Tex., she said that coming from the "Bible Belt" of Texas ethics hasn't always made it easy to be known as a "sex therapist." She recently staged a workshop, "Talking About It Helps," for the American Psychological Association, which was meeting in Dallas, and she invited her parents to come hear her speak.

"They've never heard me give one of my lectures and I just knew they'd be calling for a stretcher to carry them out," she said with a mischievous laugh. "But they understand now this is my work."

She said the recent publication of "clean sex" books has encouraged more and more Americans to be open about sex therapy. As she put it: "Once people find out I'm a sex therapist—even passengers on planes—they immediately start telling me their problems, their parents' problems, their bosses' problems. Everybody has a problem and they have found out they can talk about it."

Sauerkraut Cake—Why Not?

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
DEAR CECILY: Would you tell how to make Sauerkraut Cake? Yes, there is such a recipe! It was in the paper but I neglected to cut it out.—CURIOUS.

DEAR CURIOUS: The original Sauerkraut Cake was in institutional size and was developed by Mrs. Geraldine Timms, lunchroom supervisor of Waller High School in Chicago. In 1962 all Chicago lunchroom people were asked to find new uses for kraut, then on the USDA Surplus Commodity List, and Mrs. Timms came up with the cake. Her recipe was tried in the test kitchens of the Chicago school system and became an instant success because of its moistness and good flavor. The homesize Sauerkraut Cake recipe, given below, was devised by a test kitchen in New York that works out recipes featuring kraut. Yes, I've tasted the cake and I doubt that anyone would guess kraut is an ingredient!—C. B.

SAUERKRAUT CAKE
2 1/4 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup unsweetened cocoa
2-3rds cup butter
1 1/2 cups sugar
3 eggs

1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup water
2-3rds cup rinsed, drained and chopped sauerkraut
Mocha Whipped Cream, see below
Grease and flour two 8-inch round cake pans.
On wax paper sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt and cocoa.
In a large mixing bowl cream butter and sugar. Thoroughly beat in eggs, one at a time, and the vanilla. Stir in dry ingredients in 4 additions, alternately with water, until smooth

Obedience Could Be Fatal
PORT BOU, France (WNS) — Charlotte Semene, 22, posed prettily for her picture in a rubber boat and obeyed the photographer's order, "Don't move." Unfortunately the boat was blown out to sea in a sudden gust of wind. The poor girl was not rescued for 11 hours. Rescuers found her 12 miles from home port. "The worst of it was that I had been blown into Spanish waters without my passport on me," cried the bathing beauty.

Place on wire rack to cool for 10 minutes. Turn out on wire racks to cool completely. Fill and frost with Mocha Whipped Cream. Store in the refrigerator.

Purpose In Press Conference

The press corps is growing restless in Washington because of the failure of President Nixon to hold more press conferences.

An Associated Press story reported last week that the president has not held a full-scale news conference, including television and radio coverage for more than a year. A presidential press conference was held following release of the story.

The Washington News Committee of the AP Managing Editors Association sees the outlook for the remainder of the year as "rather bleak."

The committee reported.

"It might be thought that in a presidential election year, a leading candidate—even an incumbent—would feel a need and a responsibility to present himself for questioning by the press on his views, actions and record...

"This has not been the case to any great degree so far this year, and if the statements of Mr. Nixon's political managers and advisors are any indication, he is unlikely to submit to much questioning between now and the November election."

A Nixon aide has been quoted as saying that the president did not think much of press conferences because the questions were "flabby and dumb."

It is true that some of the questions are trite because not all reporters present are top flight. At the same time, some other questions are sharp and penetrating and come from some of the top journalists in the nation.

The presidential press conference serves a major purpose in a democracy. It is the one time when news men and women can throw questions at the president and expect unrehearsed answers. The conferences are very open and often now are relayed across the nation by radio and television.

The president must make it a point to meet regularly with the press and answer some of the questions which should be put to him. He perhaps can learn from the questions what is bothering the public as much as from any other source.

Continuance Of Boys' Club Concerns Many

It is our hope that the Pitt Greenville Boys Club will continue to perform its valuable services to the community.

The untimely death of David E. Wilcox, its dedicated director, caused concern for the continuance of the Boys Club. However, its board of directors met immediately and named Raymond Williams as interim director for the summer.

R.W. Howard, first president of the club, said, "We're going to keep it going." We believe the entire county feels that way and hopefully a permanent director will be found before the summer's end.

A Frail Hope In California

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON—The last frail hope of stopping Sen. George McGovern's first-ballot nomination new rests with the desperate challenge to the McGovern-pledged California delegation, a prospect confronting many non-McGovern party leaders with conflicting emotions that reflect the tumultuous state of the party today.

Two of the last chances to stop McGovern at Miami Beach evaporated this week. In New York Tuesday, McGovern easily cleared his final primary election hurdle. In Washington Wednesday, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy finally issued a Shermanesque statement, destroying lingering hopes he might yet run for President. That leaves Sen. Hubert Humphrey's challenge of the winner-take-all California primary, won by McGovern June 6, as the last gasp.

If all non-McGovern delegates coalesced behind the challenge, the California delegation might well be split up in Miami Beach to reflect the sizable percentage of the vote won by Humphrey. That, in turn, could conceivably stop McGovern, and herein lies the internal anguish. Much as they fear McGovern's nomination brings catastrophe in November, many thoughtful party regulars dread even more the holocaust if they deny him the nomination at this point.

Just such political considerations, not legal arguments, will decide the challenge that California's primary law violated the spirit of one-man, one-vote party reform. The challenge will likely be rejected by the McGovern-controlled credentials committee, setting up a showdown on the convention floor.

With McGovern's own count now 100 delegates short of the 1,509 needed for nomination, he would seemingly be able to beat back the California challenge. But Democratic convention rules forbid California's 271 McGovern delegates from voting on their own credentials.

Therefore, Humphrey might maneuver a convention vote splitting the California delegation if he could combine all non-McGovern delegates. In that credentials test, he probably will have aid from Gov. George Wallace's delegates. Humphrey's campaign believes it also has backing from Rep. Shirley Chisholm. Several uncommitted leaders, such as Gov. Jimmy Carter of Georgia, support the challenge.

The question mark is the somewhat revived campaign of Sen. Edmund S. Muskie. The two governors who helped prevent Muskie's endorsement of McGovern two weeks ago—Warren Hearnes of Missouri and Wendell Ford of Kentucky—are expected to throw their combined 100 delegates behind the challenge. So are local leaders controlling Muskie's Pennsylvania delegates.

Moreover, there are pro-challenge elements inside Muskie's high command. In one major state, a Muskie delegate informed a Muskie lieutenant here he was

Lonely Life In Central Prison

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH—Life in Central Prison is an endless march of lonely hours, isolation from family and friends, and the frustrating feeling that nobody really cares.

The view from inside the walls is related by John Campbell. He's been there. Prison was the place where he hit bottom and turned upward. He came in early in 1970 to serve 15-to-18 years for armed robbery.

"I'd reached the point where I couldn't make any worse go-offs. I had to begin to examine my own values fashion to problems in my personal life. I was having trouble in my family. The business wasn't as successful as I thought it would be.

No, I never thought what would happen if I didn't get away with it.

Life In Prison

Q: What's it like to be in prison?

A: Certainly not very good. The endless stretch of time is the worst part. You're separated from your friends, without the luxuries a free citizen is used to, and confined with a large number of people you wouldn't normally associate with. It's hard to handle frustrations.

I never saw guards abuse prisoners. The usual complaint is that you are ignored so much.

Q: Is prison a school for crime as it is sometimes described?

A: Yes, to an extent. Some brag about their crimes. I've listened to many plans for operations inmates intended to pull when they got out—which undoubtedly would prove as unsuccessful as the last one.

The man who's trying to change doesn't talk about what brought him to prison. He wants to put it behind him.

Hate Holds Them Back

Q: Why do some prisoners find a new direction and others do not?

A: They hate too much. No one has shown them the love and attention they need in order to change.

There are good programs in the system now, but they need to be expanded to give opportunities to all inmates. The man working in a ditch under a gun breeds hostility. He has no incentive to change.

Q: Can those of us outside help those inside return to society?

A: Community volunteers can be so effective. If every inmate had somebody interested in him, he'd have a better chance—especially for the difficult transition when he's released from prison.

A volunteer is assigned as sponsor for an inmate, to take him out on nights or weekends. Let him go with you to church, a ballgame, dinner at home—what you usually do. Let him get used to a normal environment.

Q: What change would you make in the corrections system?

A: One statistic speaks for itself. Twenty-one per cent of those paroled return to prison. It is 70 per cent for those released at the end of their sentence. Inmates should be released under some form of supervision to help them adjust to life outside.

BRYAN HAISLIP

and motives," he said.

At the right time he grasped a helping hand. The North Carolina Jaycees, as part of its support of rehabilitation in the state's corrections system, established a chapter for Central Prison inmates. Campbell was its founding president.

Officials observed his resolve to make a fresh start. He was moved to an honor grade center outside the Central Prison walls. He was given a place in a new program to train selected inmates, upon their release, to work as counselors with other prisoners.

From Inmate To Employee
Last Christmas Gov. Bob Scott reduced his sentence by commutation. The outlook now is that Campbell, 30, will be paroled next fall and make the transition from inmate to employee.

State Jaycee President Fred Morrison recently appointed Campbell associate secretary of the organization. Morrison said it indicated not only faith in Campbell as an individual, but commitment to expand the Jaycee involvement in prison reform. Doubling the current 22 Jaycee chapters in correction units is a goal for the coming year.

Campbell faced a panel of interviewers recently on an educational television broadcast over station WUNC-TV to talk about prison life and how those inside can be helped to make it on the outside.

Question: You seemed a solid citizen, married and with a job. What led you to crime?

Answer: That's a very difficult question. I couldn't respond in an appropriate

"Oh, you're very, very funny... So, you wouldn't send a knight out on a dog like this?"

'Protective Reaction

WASHINGTON—The arrest of five men in the Democratic National Committee headquarters last weekend has caused a great deal of consternation in high Republican circles. All leading officials deny they had any knowledge of the incident, which was planned and executed by the same people who gave us the Bay of Pits.

While most people are mystified as to how it was possible that high Republican figures did not know of the raid, it was easily explained to me by a friend who is very close to the Republican Party.

"The decision to raid the Democratic National Committee headquarters in Washington was made as a protective reaction strike. We knew the Democrats were massing a buildup for an attack on the Republicans in July, and it was in our interests to destroy their files before they were used against us."

"But wasn't this raid a violation of the presidential orders not to bug the enemy's telephones unless the Republicans were attacked first?"

"The general in the field who made the decision may have gone beyond the literal intention of the rules, but he believed his actions were justified on the basis of intelligence reports that the Democrats were going to invade Miami."

"But at the time the raid was made, the Democratic Party headquarters was considered off limits as a target area," I said. "Surely high Republican officials must have been aware of what was going on."

"As far as the high officials were concerned, they had no knowledge of the raid. In fact, they had given out strict orders that illegal strikes against the Democrats had to be cleared with them. Somehow communications got fouled up, which can happen during an election year."

"Do you believe a raid of this type, if successful, could have changed the outcome in November?"

"We are fighting a tough, ruthless enemy who will stop at nothing to impose its type of government on the American people," he said. "We cannot sit idly by and allow them to take

Other Editors Say Tar Heel Economy

(Fayetteville Observer)

On the Tar Heel economic scene during the past few days, the news has been both good and bad. The good news came from the North Carolina Department of Revenue. Revenue Commissioner G. A. Jones released a set of statistics which showed that personal income jumped 44 per cent and per capita income increased 41 per cent in the state from 1966 until 1970.

According to the figures personal incomes in 1970 averaged $3,208, while per capita incomes ranged from a low of $1,668 for residents of Hyde County to a high of $4,144 for persons living in Mecklenburg.

Thus, it is easy to see that an income increase of 40 per cent during the past five or six years wouldn't even keep pace with the hike in the cost of many food items. And inflation is not confined to food.

There is another important statistic in the state's economy which also needs to be borne in mind. It is that nationally in the all-important field of manufacturing wages, North Carolina's ranking has fluctuated between 48th and 50th during the same general period.

Thus, while some progress has been made in recent years in attracting comparatively progressive and responsible new industries, this state still has a long way to go in improving its overall industrial wage scale.

The income gains announced by the Department of Revenue should not be discounted. Obviously, it were not for them, the average Tar Heel worker would be unable to cope with the ever-rising cost of living.

But citing the income increases without also pointing to the upward spiral of inflation would not be presenting an accurate picture of the economic facts of life in this state.

Formidable Topics For Summit

By LEON DANIEL
NEW DELHI (UPI)—When Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi and Pakistan President Zulfikar Ali Bhutto meet at Simla on Wednesday the differences between them will loom as formidable as the surrounding Himalayas.

The most difficult problems to solve will be the Kashmir dispute and the repatriation of some 93,000 Pakistani prisoners of war, about 1,500 of whom Bangladesh Prime Minister Sheikh Mujibur Rahman insists must be tried as war criminals.

The historic summit meeting, which seeks to settle differences which have torn the two nations since their birth a quarter of a century ago, will be held at a Himalayan hill station 240 miles north of this capital city.

After India's stunning victory over Pakistan in the December war, Mrs. Gandhi has the strongest negotiating position, but Bhutto will not come to the table empty-handed.

He could, if he were so inclined, offer concessions regarding Kashmir that could relieve India for years of apprehension and permit this nation to divert some of its resources from defense toward such pressing problems as massive poverty.

Bhutto's Willingness Doubted
But diplomatic observers here doubt if Bhutto is yet prepared to give up all claim to Kashmir. He might, however, be willing not to disturb the present cease-fire line and demilitarize the border between the two countries.

A de facto agreement defusing the explosive Kashmir issue might hold considerable appeal for Mrs. Gandhi.

It could pave the way to opening the border and restoring trade and diplomatic relations between the two nations.

It also could prepare the ground for the release of the prisoners.

India already has demonstrated its interest in a workable peace by moving quietly to suggest to Mujib that he should dilute his demands regarding war crimes trials.

If Pakistan recognizes Bangladesh—and Bhutto has indicated that it might soon—Dacca would be under some pressure to make a concession of its own, perhaps trying for a show trial of only a few Pakistani prisoners as war criminals instead of the entire 1,500.

If some basic agreements can be hammered out at Simla, it is considered certain that more talks at various levels will follow.

Few Good Cards
Bhutto will be holding few good cards when he sits down to talk.

"He can't very well walk out in a huff and go back to war," said a foreign diplomat. "Who would support him? China? The United States? Not again." The summit meeting is expected to be over when

Choice Facing Beirut

By GERARD LOUGHRAN
BEIRUT (UPI)—Lebanon is facing a dilemma as a result of renewed Israeli air attacks on its border areas. It must choose whether to take action against Palestinian guerrillas, thus risking widespread civil strife, or allow the situation to continue as at present, laying its citizens open to ever tougher Israeli reprisals.

Its reactions at present seem to have been more concerned with the effect of the latest fighting on its tourist trade.

No foreign correspondents have been allowed to the stricken areas, communiques on attacks have been delayed several hours and the French language Le Jour newspaper quoted government officials as reminding local editors to think of the tourists and tone down their reports.

A Bemusing Policy
This attitude has bemused newsmen who see the story as a remarkable opportunity for Lebanon to exploit its claims of Israeli attacks on civilian targets.

There is no doubt Lebanon faces a real problem. It is the only Arab country fronting on Israeli-held territory which allows Palestinian guerrillas any real freedom.

King Hussein has expelled all commandos from Jordan, and they do not exist as a fighting force in Egypt. In Syria, the guerrillas are closely controlled.

But guerrilla attacks from Lebanese territory have provoked increasingly tough Israeli reprisals, and villagers in border townships who suffer as a result are clamoring for protection.

In Hasbaya, only two days before Israeli attacked on Wednesday, they demanded the guerrillas withdraw.

Rightist Views
Right-wing politicians are now calling for abrogation of the 1969 Cairo agreement which allows guerrillas to operate in certain areas under certain conditions. There is certainly sympathy in some political circles for an ultimatum to the guerrillas to stop action against Israel.

One right-wing newspaper, Al Hayat, said a formula was suggested in official circles under which guerrillas would pull out of border areas and confine their activities in Lebanon to training.

However, the guerrillas are unlikely to accede easily to government requests to draw in their horns. Their position and influence in the conflict with Israel has been vastly eroded by Hussein's action and their failure to make any military mark on the Israelis. A surrender to the Lebanese government would render them just about impotent.

At the same time the government is understandably hesitant to take action against the guerrillas if they refuse requests either to draw or to coordinate their activities with the Lebanese army. There is still considerable Moslem sympathy

WRONG SLANT ON LIFE

A certain friend of mine has carried his head on one side all his life, giving the impression that he was suffering from a curvature of the spine. Just recently he had an eye examination which disclosed that he has a most unusual maladjustment of the focusing power of his eyes and that all these years he has carried his head on one side not because there was anything the matter with his neck but because he could only focus his eyes on an object when his head was in this distorted position.

Throughout the whole of his life he has conveyed the impression of being twisted as regards posture. And all this because of a condition that neither he nor any physician for a moment suspected. Psychologists are constantly telling us that many a twisted personality is due to some hidden cause. Men often manifest criminal tendencies not because they are criminals at heart but because their lives were given some peculiar twist in formative years and their lives forthwith were enlisted in antisocial endeavors. They began to get a wrong slant of life. Like his friend of mine, they viewed life from a distorted posture. And all this came not because their hearts were bad but because there was something the matter with the eyes of their souls and they could not see anything clearly save from an unnatural, twisted, crooked posture.

over the White House.

"Perhaps we didn't play by all the rules of the game, but I can assure you the Democrats are not playing by the rules either. This incident has been blown all out of proportion.

"Had the raid succeeded no one would have said a word. But because it failed, everyone is up in arms. Instead of criticizing the people behind the attack, I think they should be congratulated for putting their party first."

"But," I said, "aren't you escalating the election by bugging the Democrats, and photographing their files?"

"We did not escalate the election. They did. They're the ones who are trying to kick us out. Their leaders have said as much. The President has said many times he would agree to a cease-fire, providing the Democrats give up their political ambitions. But the honor of the Presidency is at stake, and Mr. Nixon has no intention of giving the country away."

"Will the Republicans court-martial the people responsible for the raid on Democratic headquarters?"

"No, but they will be demoted and put on a pension."

"That's tough," I said. "Perhaps. But their worst punishment is that they will never be allowed to bug for the Republican Party again."

promised a seat on the credentials committee in return for switching to McGovern. Do it, he was told— and then vote in the credentials committee for the California challenge.

But there is another view in the Muskie campaign. Sen. Harold Hughes of Iowa, Muskie's convention manager, unsuccessfully pushed for a rule inside the McGovern reform commission to prohibit California's winner-take-all system. Having fairly lost that battle, Hughes is not supporting the challenge.

Muskie himself is undecided. He knows that if the convention were to open by repudiating McGovern on a precedential question, the McGovern bandwagon might come to a shattering stop. But is that what Muskie really wants?

The question is deeply involved with the reasons Muskie decided to remain a candidate. To some intimate advisers, his role now is to modify McGovern's positions and shape an acceptable party platform, not actually stop his nomination. For with Kennedy unavailable and McGovern stopped, the nominee would confront hordes of embittered, hostile McGovernites, and the nomination would be worthless.

This view, widely held, was deepened by the New York primary results. McGovern's two weeks of campaigning there were unimpressive, his handling of issues unclear and his appeal at least questionable. But with a light turnout and comatose opposition, his devoted volunteers wound up with probably 252 of the 278 delegates. Thus, New York failed to remove doubts of McGovern's national viability, but decreased the chances of stopping him in Miami Beach.

In the old days, McGovern would have faced determined, vigorous party regulars in New York. Similarly, the California challenge would have been eagerly grasped as the last chance to stop him. But in 1972, party regulars worry less about how to stop McGovern than about whether they want to stop him. That alone brings his first-ballot nomination close to a foregone conclusion.

Auto-Train To Florida Suffers Lots Of Headaches

By VERN HAUGLAND
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The brochure for the Auto-Train between here and Florida tells the traveler he will ride in luxury and comfort while his car is brought along on a special auto-carrier. Movies, a delicious dinner and a continental breakfast are included. So is live entertainment in the night club car.

But the train ride, which costs $190 for a car and up to four passengers, has suffered from a lot of problems. The Auto-Train Corp. acknowledges problems and says it is working to correct them.

Among the headaches on the 15-hour, 900-mile overnight run: long waiting lines in the buffet car; erratic car temperatures; fouled plumbing; cancellation of entertainment; complaints about food; and overbooking. Auto-Train service started last Dec. 6. Besides the basic fare, a passenger can pay $40 extra for a bedroom for two with television. At 8 p.m. nightly, Auto-Trains leave from the Washington-area suburb of Lorton, Va., for the south and from Sanford, Fla., for the north. The trains are scheduled to arrive at their northern and southern terminals at 11:30 a.m. the next morning.

"In general, we are pleased with our schedule performance," said Richard Goldstein, Auto-Train Corp. director of marketing. "From time to time we have run late though, when there's been a derailment or other trouble ahead of us."

"We have had terrible over-booking problems at times that should never have happened," he said. "But we have hired a highly experienced woman from Braniff Airlines to run our reservations system. We are getting computerized, and we think we have the difficulties resolved."

Cars are loaded aboard between 5:30 and 7 p.m., but passengers may board until shortly before the 8 p.m. departure time.

The automobiles are loaded in special enclosed carriers. Passengers do not have access to them at any time during the trip.

Two Washington couples recently agreed to share an Auto-Train trip. One couple would provide the car, and the other couple agreed to pay $95 for their share of the train fare to the carowners.

Because of a major traffic tieup, the carowners arrived at 7:02 p.m. Train personnel refused to load the car on the basis that it was against union rules, and the switching process was already under way.

Since the other couple had paid-in-advance hotel reservations and important appointments in Florida, train directors agreed to take them and their baggage aboard, however.

The couple boarding the train received ticket stubs marked NC. "Does this mean 'no charge?'" they asked.

"No; it stands for Night Club," was the reply.

An attendant took the couple to the night club car and gave them the last remaining seats, next to the piano.

Over the public address system came the announcement: "The night club car upstairs is closed. We lost one of our coaches, and had to put passengers there. We are sorry, but there will be no night club entertainment."

The train pulled out precisely on schedule. The Washington couple found the buffet car cafeteria line long. It became longer when the train lurched on a curve and about 20 trays laden with food spilled out onto the aisle, blocking it.

Seating for dinner was scarce. The attendants were attractive and cheerful, but the young woman serving the coffee with one hand had a lighted cigarette in the other and tended to forget her customers while chatting with her working companions.

A voice on the P.A. system boomed out: "We have 50 seats for the movie. First come, first served."

A 50-seat movie, and no night club, for perhaps 400 travelers. The adults could buy drinks, but there were many disappointed children.

In the coach lounges the lights went low. Passengers stretched out in comfortable, almost fully reclining seats, and were soon asleep.

But in the night club car the overhead lights, artistic little blue stars, were undimmed and twinkled down relentlessly all night on the travelers occupying stiffly erect, unyielding club seats.

Passengers found that fixed cocktail stands in front of the night club seats cut off leg room and blood circulation. The car became unbearably cold. Attendants deposited pillows and blankets at both ends of the car, leaving passengers to get them on a first-come-first-served basis. Half an hour later the heat came on—so intensely that all windows fogged up and moisture rolled down the panes.

Aching from the upright position in the low-backed chairs, passengers who could find space rolled up in blankets on the floor.

Something in the food or water began to upset many travelers. Lines at the restrooms grew long and urgent. The water supply ran low, toilets failed to flush, and water in the wash basins dwindled to a trickle.

The train was an hour and a half late getting into Sanford, but there a happy surprise awaited the disgruntled trippers. Tables on the station platform were laden with trays of hot roasted chicken, sandwiches, pastry, coffee, soft drinks, all free. Passengers lunched under tent and awnings, waiting for their cars to be delivered.

Interviewed later in Washington, Goldstein said "some problems with bathroom facilities are being corrected. He added that:

"Food service was being changed from beef Wellington or lobster newburg to more popular menus.

"A maitre de buffet system was being introduced so that passengers could relax in the night club car while waiting for the dinner call.

"The train's water supply is now being obtained at Rocky Mount, N.C., rather than from a condemned source at Florence, S.C.

Political Power Said Solution

By WILLIAM J. WAUGH
AP Education Writer
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)

—The new president of the National Education Association says the only way to meet the educational needs of all children is with "raw political power."

Mrs. Catharine Barrett, a Syracuse, N.Y., inner city elementary teacher for more than 40 years, takes over leadership of the 1.2 million-teacher organization Friday at the conclusion of the NEA's 110th annual meeting.

In an interview, Mrs. Barrett said her two top priorities will be to "make teachers recognize political force" and to "achieve legislation which by 1976 will see the federal government contributing one-third the cost of education."

With teachers already organized politically in 42 states, Mrs. Barrett said she is hopeful that they will have an impact on presidential balloting and congressional elections in November.

For the past year, as president-elect of the NEA, Mrs. Barrett has spent much of her time touring the United States advising teacher groups on how to organize politically.

Here are her answers to specific questions: Q. Can teacher groups or yourself support President Nixon in the November election?

A. "Mr. Nixon is very negative as far as education is concerned — whether it be a budget proposition, whether in vetoing a proposal, whether in failure to support funds for education and whether to support busing. He would take society back to an era we got rid of years ago. There is nothing in the Nixon administration to indicate his support of education or that he's prepared to take action to give every youngster an equitable opportunity."

Q. Have teachers become more politically active? Do you think they can be united at the polls on the local and national levels?

A. "Teachers in 42 states have organized teacher political action committees. In New York State, teachers are organized in all key legislative districts and are now endorsing candidates after intensive study. They also are organizing in congressional districts and will issue report cards on candidates' educational voting records so that teachers are able to make a complete judgment. Whether the NEA will endorse a presidential candidate will depend on the membership. It is more than possible that we will."

Q. What will be your top priority this coming year?

A. "I have two priorities and they are side by side. I want to make teachers recognize political force and to achieve legislation which by 1976 will see the federal government contributing at least one-third the cost of education. The highest it's ever been was 8.8 per cent and this past year was only 7.1 per cent."

'No-Fault' Plan Ass'n Opposes

MYRTLE BEACH, S. C. (AP) — The North Carolina Bar Association is on record as opposing a national no-fault automobile insurance system. The association approved a resolution Saturday which stated "national no-fault insurance is not in the best interest of a non-urban state such as North Carolina."

Joseph C. Moore Jr., Raleigh attorney, was elected president-elect of the association succeeding Harold K. Bennett of Asheville.

Bennett was installed Friday as president of the association. The president-elect serves one year before assuming the presidency.

William M. Storey of Raleigh was reelected vice-president and secretary at the closing session of the association's convention and Fred Parker, also of Raleigh, was reelected executive secretary.

Helms Cites New Support

RALEIGH (AP) — Headquarters for Republican senatorial nominee Jesse Helms said Sunday the widows of two former U.S. senators and the wife of a state Supreme Court justice have joined the ranks of Helms supporters.

Helms' campaign manager, Tom Ellis, said prominent Democrats backing Helms include Mrs. J. Melville Broughton, Mrs. Willis Smith, and Mrs. I. Beverly Lake.

Mrs. Broughton's husband was North Carolina's governor during World War II and later a U.S. senator. Mrs. Smith's husband was also a U.S. senator, and Mrs. Lake is the wife of Supreme Court Justice I. Beverly Lake, who twice ran unsuccessfully for governor.

Helms' headquarters said other Democrats for Helms include Mrs. George Ross Pou, widow of a former state auditor, and John P. Stedman of Lumberton, a former state treasurer and former president of the North Carolina Bankers Association.

Demo Platform Drafters Avoiding Intraparty War

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The speedy Democratic platform drafters, who neatly avoided intraparty warfare on their job-prices-taxes plank, headed into storms and slower going today on Vietnam, defense spending and school busing.

Spokesmen for Sen. George McGovern and Gov. George C. Wallace indicated that minority proposals would be introduced, precipitating floor fights at the drafting sessions of the full 150-member Platform Committee today and Tuesday.

Sen. Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma also urged platform drafters to revolt against their 15-member drafting subcommittee by demanding stronger tax-reform and antitrust planks and a denunciation of strip-mining.

A spokesman for Wallace said the Alabama governor considers the subcommittee's proposed busing plank—still not disclosed to the public or the full drafting committee—is unsatisfactory.

And a number of supporters of front-running Sen. McGovern reportedly felt aggrieved that the South Dakotan's positions were inadequately reflected in the planks being drafted.

The small drafting subcommittee labored almost all Saturday night to produce three domestic planks. The policies started with a "guaranteed job" proposal and federal income supports not unlike McGovern's share-the-wealth plan—but far less specific.

The three planks won general approval from spokesmen for Democratic presidential candidates. Back at its labors all day Sunday, the subcommittee planned to present a complete eight-plank draft to its parent committee by this morning.

That body in turn had 48 hours to rewrite and approval a final draft which must be in the mail to every delegate 10 days before the Democratic National convention opens in Miami Beach on July 10.

Sunday's draft planks called for a guaranteed job for everyone, plus replacement of the present welfare system by "an income-security program" providing federal payments to insure every family an income at or above the poverty level.

McGovern has urged a $1,000-per-person income grant for the poor and elimination of the $750 personal income-tax deduction—plus tax reform aimed at corporations and affluent individuals.

There are big hurdles ahead. Ten per cent of the drafting committee—any 15 members—could enter a dissent and each could be debated on the convention floor.

The draft planks released Sunday have these titles and these further basic provisions:

Jobs, Prices and Taxes:
—Endorsement of the Mills-Mansfield tax-reform plan, under which all preferences and loopholes would be repealed in groups from 1974 to 1976, unless retained after full consideration in Congress. This would thwart a McGovern plan: he has urged some immediate loophole-closings to help pay for his income-grant proposal.

—Converting Social Security into a progressive tax, bearing more heavily on the well-to-do, by increasing the basic amount of annual pay on which the payroll tax is levied. Cost-of-living increases in old-age pensions would be automatic.

—Property taxes would be reduced and school spending equalized by "substantial increases in the federal share of education costs and general revenue sharing."

Rights, Power and Social Justice:
—Endorses both national health insurance and no-fault automobile insurance.

—Legalization of class-action suits by which consumer groups can go into court on behalf of all consumers.

Cities, Communities and Environment:
—Devotes six pages to environmental recommendations which, according to platform drafters, will safeguard air, land and water from pollution without sacrificing economic growth or jobs.

—The highway fund would be broadened to include funds for other transportation forms, including city mass-transit systems.

Four Killed In Plane's Crash

CASHIERS, N.C. (AP) — All four persons aboard a single-engine plane were killed when it crashed Sunday in rugged, densely wooded mountains near the North Carolina-South Carolina border.

Spokesmen for the Jackson County Sheriff's Department said the bodies were found badly burned.

The bodies were taken to a Sylva hospital.

Jackson County Medical Examiner Dr. Emil H. Jennings Jr. said after an investigation that he has asked the FBI to assist him in making a positive identification. "I'm not satisfied with the identification we have," he said.

In Asheville, however, the owner of Asheville Flying Service, which leased the small plane, said the pilot was Freddie Taylor, 20, of Asheville. Lacey Griffin, the flying service owner, said the three passengers hired Taylor to fly them over some property near the area of the crash.

Griffin said the four-place craft left Asheville-Henderson-

Propane Fire Burned Out

NORTH WILKESBORO, N.C. (AP) — The last flicker of fire burned itself out at a propane storage company Sunday, more than 36 hours after explosions wracked the plant and a multiblock surrounding area.

There were no injuries, and there has been no estimate of the loss.

Two of the three propane tanks at Essotane Gas Co. were ruptured by the blasts late Friday. The force knocked out windows along four blocks of a nearby business district and sent flames hundreds of feet high.

Six trucks parked in the firm's lot burned, as well as a small racing car and a luxury sedan belonging to company owner William R. Grimes.

Firemen were unable to get near the blazing tanks until the next morning. They decided to let a leak in a small tank slowly burn out the last of the propane at the plant.

Ease Strain On Reservoir

HENDERSON, N.C. (AP) — Water being released from record-high Kerr Lake on the North Carolina-Virginia border is expected to cause some flooding of low areas along the banks of the Roanoke River this week.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, which operates the reservoir, said backed-up water from Tropical Storm Agnes' rain is being sent downstream to enable the lake to hold additional floodwater if necessary.

The lake was at 313 feet above sea level Sunday, and forecasts were that it would rise another foot or two before cresting. The dam is 322 feet high.

Some flooding was also reported along the Cape Fear, the Neuse and the Dan.

In the Madison-Mayodan area, high water from the Dan covered the towns' sewage treatment plants and forced officials to release untreated wastes into streams. The two Rockingham communities, along with nearby Eden, were hard-hit by flooding last week.

TREES NO FAIR GAME
ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Two men were arrested recently on charges of "causing injury to trees."

Police said the two men were seen throwing knives at trees in Yale Park near the University of New Mexico campus. The men violated a city ordinance.

Hit Police Car, He Didn't Stop

It was a bad day for Levi Green, Friday.

The 41-year-old man of 508A Raleigh Ave. was identified as the driver of a truck which collided with a Greenville Police Department car—the department's Volkswagen—and didn't stop.

Green later was taken into custody and charged with driving under the influence, leaving the scene of an accident, having no operators license, failing to stop for a stop sign, and larceny of the truck.

Many Facets To Environmental Needs

(Editor's Note: The Greenville-Pitt County League of Women Voters sent Mrs. Edith Webber, chairman of its subcommittee on Solid Waste Disposal, to a workshop in Chapel Hill on June 22 and 23. Mrs. Webber has furnished the following report on the two day workshop session.)

The Chapel Hill workshop, on environment, was sponsored by the Bureau of Audiovisual Education of the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill under the direction of Kenneth M. McIntyre. The workshop was also partly supported by a grant from the Mary Reynolds Babcock Foundation.

Jane Sharp, N.C. LWV Environmental Quality Chairman, headed the Planning Committee. Marian Odom, State President of the North Carolina Garden Clubs, was among the members of conservation groups, garden clubs, and leagues participating.

Five areas of environmental interest were highlighted: Land Use, Water and Air, Industrial Development, Solid Waste Disposal, and Environmental Education.

The importance of research so that land could be allocated to its optimum use was emphasized in a film, "Multiple and Subdue the Earth." The point was made that planning means putting industry where it could cope with its pollution problems, for instance, and farms where there was fertility in the soil.

John Scott, Senior Regional Planner with the Research Triangle Regional Planning Commission, noted that people generally favor zoning to prevent depreciation of their property by the advent of undesirable neighbors and facilities—but want to keep the option of putting their own property to more lucrative uses than quiet farming and living.

The next round in the process of stream reclassification will take place in Hickory on June 28, according to Emil T. Chanlett, Professor of Sanitary Engineering at UNC. The meeting is open to the public. Chanlett said the Board of Air and Water Resources will need a great deal of volunteer help to make the standards meaningful.

The number of the toll-free hotline for reporting violations of air or water standards anywhere in North Carolina is 800-662-308.

James Wallace, recently appointed to the Air and Water Resources Board, commended the 1971 Environmental Policy Act, which requires a number of government agencies (Fish and Wildlife, Soil Conservation, etc.) to comment on any building project paid for by N.C. funds. The comments lead to better environmental planning without the necessity of law suits.

The Environmental Bill of Rights proposed by Skipper Bowles should be supported, according to Wallace. The measure will be presented to the voters for approval in November.

Barry M. Moriarty, Director of the Institute for Industrial Development, supplied figures on the major industries of North Carolina, showing the relative amounts of pollution of water, air, and land associated with each.

The need to develop markets for recycled materials was emphasized by Mrs. Jill Goldman of the Raleigh LWV. The manufacturer of recycled paper will not buy more "raw" materials unless he can sell his finished product. At this time recycled materials are at a disadvantage. They lack volume, technology, and instead of financial incentives they are likely to have the opposite. For instance, those who mine virgin ore are given depletion allowances—while those who deal in scrap face higher freight rates.

Mrs. Goldman suggested that the state should commit itself to recycling, which would involve recycling its own wastes and buying recycled material.

Others speaking at the meetings were C. Ritchie Bell, Chairman, University Committee on Environmental Education Extension; Arthur W. Cooper, Assistant Secretary for Resource Management in Raleigh; and Milton S. Heath, Jr., Professor of Public Law and Government.

recycling projects in the state. Winston-Salem is recycling sewage sludge and has an experimental city pick-up of old newspapers. Greensboro delivers old appliances to salvage merchants and old newspapers to a buyer. The Jaycees there have a glass recycling project started.

The Kinston AAUW has a newspaper recycling project, encouraged by the city fathers who fear the filling up of their sanitary landfill.

Laurinburg is recycling paper, glass, and tin cans on a purely volunteer basis. Chapel Hill provides space for collection of glass and paper and delivers the material to buyers.

Nelson New Instructor

MURFREESBORO—Charles Thomas Nelson, a 1965 graduate of Chowan College, has been named instructor in the college's famed School of Graphic Arts, according to an announcement released this week by Dr. B. Franklin Lowe, Jr., Dean of the College, and Herman W. Gatewood, Director of Graphic Arts. Nelson assumed his duties on June 15.

James Wallace, recently appointed to the Air and Water Resources Board, commended the 1971 Environmental Policy Act, which requires a number of government agencies (Fish and Wildlife, Soil Conservation, etc.) to comment on any building project paid for by N.C. funds. The comments lead to better environmental planning without the necessity of law suits.

The Environmental Bill of Rights proposed by Skipper Bowles should be supported, according to Wallace. The measure will be presented to the voters for approval in November.

Barry M. Moriarty, Director of the Institute for Industrial Development, supplied figures on the major industries of North Carolina, showing the relative amounts of pollution of water, air, and land associated with each.

Two Wins Tighten Greenville Grip On First Place

Greenville's American Legion team strengthened its hold on first place in the Area II Standings this weekend, with a 14-inning, 5-3 victory over Wilson. They also downed Oxford, 5-1, in a non-league game. The Wilson game was played Saturday night in Wilson, and upped the Greenville conference record to 6-1. They have five remaining league games, all scheduled this week. After Sunday's Oxford victory, also on the road, the Greenville overall record climbed to 13-5.

Wilson, in losing saw its record fall to 5-5 overall and 4-3 against league opposition. The Saturday night game was a scoreless deadlock until the sixth inning when Greenville finally pushed over the first runs of the contest. But Wilson had made strong efforts to score earlier.

Their first threat came in the first when an error and a double put men in scoring position. Again, in the third, a hit and a walk put Wilson into scoring position. They also got a man to second in the sixth, on a walk and a stolen base. But by then, Greenville had taken the lead on its first threat. Robert Brinkley led off the sixth with a bunt single and Bill Lee sacrificed him to second. Johnny Barwick singled him to third and moved up on a wild pitch. Dale Manning walked, loading the bases. Stanley Cobb grounded to the infield, scoring Brinkley, and an error on the play let Barwick come around too for a 2-0 lead. Wilson came back to tie it up in the seventh inning. Billy Williamson led off with a single and Doug Dickens walked. Tony Langston sacrificed them up and Tommy Hayes singled to drive in Williamson. Robert Ivey hit into a fielder's choice, scoring Dickens with the tying run.

In the eighth, Wilson pushed over another to take a 3-2 lead. David Whitley singled and moved up on Will Flower's hit. Both advanced on a passed ball and Terry McGatter reached on an infield hit, loading them up. Dickens got a bunt single scoring Whitley with the go-ahead run. Greenville came right back in the ninth to tie it up. Cobb tripled and Blount followed with another three-bagger, scoring Cobb, but Greenville couldn't push Blount over too. The game continued into extra innings with Greenville offering threats in the 11th, 12th and 13th without scoring. Wilson also got off threats in the 10th, 12th, 13th and 14th, also in vain.

Then, in the top of the 14th Greenville pushed over two to take the victory. Brinkley walked and stole second. Lee followed with a run-scoring triple up the right-center alley and he came home on Lee Cherry's single to left.

Cherry, who came on in relief of Cobb in the 13th, got the victory, his second against no losses.

Sunday, it wasn't quite as close. Greenville pushed over its first run in the third, then saw itself tied, but no extra innings were necessary.

After threatening in the second, Greenville finally scored in the third. Robbie Cox got a walk with one away and moved up on a passed ball. Manning singled to drive him for a 1-0 lead.

Oxford, which had failed to threaten earlier, tied it up with a run in the fourth. David Morton tripled and scored on a sacrifice fly by Hargrove.

It was to be their only run, despite threats in the fifth, sixth, seventh and ninth innings.

Greenville failed to get anything else going until the seventh, when they threatened, but didn't score. Then, in the eighth, they got a run to push back ahead, this time for good.

Mike Weaver reached on a infield hit and Blount singled. An error on the play allowed Weaver to come all the way from first to score, giving Greenville a 2-1 lead.

In the ninth, they pushed over three more runs to wrap it up. Barwick reached on a fielder's choice and Vic Corey singled. An error in the outfield, let Barwick come around and moved Corey to second. Cox singled, scoring Corey and a passed ball moved Cox up. Jerry Griffin walked and Weaver doubled to drive in Cox with the final run of the game.

Greenville returns home tonight to play host to Ahsokie in another Area II game. It will be played at Guy Smith Stadium at approximately 8 p.m. following a Babe Ruth League game between Carolina Dairy and Home Builders.

Orioles Take 2 Of 3, Moving Back Into A Tie With Detroit

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON Associated Press Sports Writer Martin and Lewis and Rowan and Martin are among the more prominent comedy teams of recent vintage and Martin and Weaver aren't bad, either.

The rival baseball managers—Detroit's Martin and Baltimore's Weaver—were in top form Sunday after the Orioles nipped the Tigers 2-1, capturing two of the three weekend games and moving back into a tie with Detroit atop the American League East.

"Oh, yeah, we're going to win," needed Martin. "I'm more sure than ever after seeing the Orioles." "I guess if we had won all three games he would have been surer," retorted Weaver. "Tell Weaver I'll get good seats for him in the playoffs and the World Series," Martin shot back. "If he's not coming, tell him to get a TV set." "I got him nice seats the last three years," Weaver replied. "It's about time he reciprocated."

Elsewhere, Oakland swept a doubleheader from California 6-1 and 6-0, the Chicago White Sox outslugged Texas 10-5, Cleveland took two from the New York Yankees 4-3 and 5-1, Minnesota downed Kansas City 5-3 but dropped the nightcap 8-3 and Milwaukee blanked Boston 2-0 after the Red Sox won the opener 8-1.

Baltimore's Jim Palmer yielded a first-inning home run to Detroit's Gates Brown but shut the Tigers out thereafter, finishing with a seven-hitter. It was Palmer's eighth consecutive victory, but Martin wasn't impressed.

Catfish Hunter stopped California on three hits in the first game and Blue Moon Odom and Darold Knowles combined for a six-hit shutout for the A's in the nightcap. Odom was helped by Gene Tenace's three-run homer and a two-run shot by Bando, who collected five hits during the twin bill, including a run-scoring triple in the opener.

The sweep put the A's four games ahead of the White Sox in the AL West. Carlos May's grand slam home run highlighted a seven-run fourth inning that powered Chicago past Texas.

Cleveland ended New York's six-game winning streak with three runs in the eighth inning of the opener, making Gaylord Perry the first 12-game winner in the majors, and wrapped up the nightcap with three runs in the first inning.

Ray Fosse's tie-breaking double and John Lowenstein's pinch two-run double were the key blows in the first game. Gerry Moses delivered a two-run single in the second game after a two-out throwing error by catcher John Ellis kept the first inning alive.

Harmon Killebrew's three-run homer enabled the Twins to win their opener from Kansas City but the Royals exploded for seven runs in the fifth inning of the nightcap, three on Lou Piniella's double and three more on John Mayberry's homer.

Reggie Smith's three-run homer and Marty Pattin's six-hit pitching sparked Boston's opening game win over Milwaukee. Milwaukee's Earl Stephenson, making his first major league start, hurled seven scoreless innings in the nightcap and Ken Sanders completed a seven-hit shutout.

Signs Contract

Mike Aldridge, former Greenville and East Carolina University baseball player, has signed a contract with the Kansas City Royals baseball club.

Aldridge was assigned to the team's farm club in Billings, Mont., and reported there over the weekend. Aldridge is a graduate of Rose High School, where he played football and baseball. He played four years with the East Carolina University baseball team before signing his pro contract last week.

Jamieson Wins Western Open

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN Associated Press Sports Writer NORTHBROOK, Ill. (AP) — Jim Jamieson's victory in the Western Open was one of those beautiful happenings.

It was his first golf tournament triumph in four years on the PGA tour and it came in the friendly confines of his home state with 2,000 followers from his native Moline area forming the most enthusiastic army since Arnie's.

His parents, an uncle, the best man at his wedding, his old pro pal, Bob Fry of the Crow Valley Country Club in Davenport, Iowa, his wife, his 16-month-old son—they all were at the Sunset Ridge Country Club Sunday to see Jimmy Boy win.

And nobody has won by as big a margin this year. The chunky Jamieson, who has trimmed his weight to 217 pounds, finished with a 60 for a 271 total—13 strokes under par and six strokes ahead of his nearest rival, Labron Harris.

Harris charged with a closing 65 for 277, followed at 280 by Hale Irwin, Jim Wiechers and Bob Lunn. Five others were grouped at 281, including Tommy Aaron who was second, eight strokes behind.

The largest winning margin previously this season on the tour was Lee Trevino's four-stroke victory in the Memphis Open.

Jamieson, who came up from the caddy ranks at Oakwood Country Club in Moline and won the 1964 Chicago District Amateur and 1967 Illinois State Amateur, pocketed $30,000 in becoming the first Illinois player to join the Western Open since Chick Evans in 1910.

It boosted his 1972 earnings to $77,603 and his total as a pro to $149,458.

"I couldn't let them down, but I'll admit I was nervous when I started," he said of his "army."

Jamieson started the final round as if it shook him up. He bogied two of the first three holes, scuffing a shot in the rough and three putting.

Was his staggering eight stroke lead going to melt?

"The turning point came on the long fourth," he said. "I trapped my second shot, came out six feet from the cup and dropped the putt for a birdie. Then I knew I was on my way."

Jamieson birdied the seventh with a 16-foot putt from the fringe turning in 35, then birdied the 10th and 11th with 10 and 18-foot taps. A sliced drive cost him a bogey at No. 12, but he reached the 535-yard 14th in two for another birdie and did a little scrambling to match par on in for a 34.

Jamieson wound up the beautiful happening beautifully.

He donated $2,000 to the Evans Caddy Scholarship Foundation, for which the Western Open was held.

He Really Didn't Mean To Bean

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
It's not likely to make Montreal's Tim Foli feel a whole lot better now, but Steve Carlton didn't really mean to bean him. "I'm sorry I plunked Foli on the head," said Carlton of the fourth inning pitch that precipitated a baseball free-for-all between the Montreal Expos and Philadelphia Phillies Sunday. "I was trying to get him in the ribs, but the ball got away on me." Foli bounced up off the ground and started after Carlton, singling both dugouts to empty with Montreal Manager Gene Mauch leading the charge. He went after Carlton and wound up getting thrown out of the game when the umpires decided he had thrown the first punch in the ensuing brawl.

Catcher John Bateman's fifth inning homer accounted for the only run of the day as Carlton's four-hitter blanked the Expos 1-0. In other National League games, St. Louis swept a doubleheader from the New York Mets 7-1 and 2-1, Pittsburgh battered Chicago 9-2, Cincinnati edged Houston 5-4 in 10 innings, San Francisco whipped San Diego 6-5 in 14 innings and Los Angeles shut out Atlanta 5-0. Rick Wise, the man the Phillies traded to get Carlton, tossed a four-hitter of his own as St. Louis swept a doubleheader from the Mets. Wise took the second game after Scipio Spinks doled out six hits and struck out 13 batters to win the opener. The nightcap was tied 1-1 until the ninth when Ted Simmons doubled, moved to third on a sacrifice and scored as ex-Met Donn Clendenon beat out an infield single. Bernie Carbo had homered earlier for St. Louis. In the opener, Lou Brock, Matty Alou, Joe Torre and Luis Melendez had two-hits apiece for the Cardinals.

The double loss dropped the Mets three games back of Pittsburgh in the National League East. The Pirates ripped the Cubs, sweeping the three-game series from Chicago, as Manny Sanguillen hit his first career grand slam homer, triggering a late-inning comeback.

Pittsburgh was trailing 2-1 with two out in the eighth inning when Roberto Clemente and Willie Stargell singled, knocking out starter Burt Hooton. Al Oliver walked and then Sanguillen walloped his grand slam homer, giving the Pirates the lead. Pittsburgh wrapped it up with four more runs in the ninth. Cincinnati regained the lead

Lady Umpire Resigns And Now Hiding

GENEVA, N.Y. (AP) — It took Bernice Gera six years to battle her way to her goal of umpiring in professional baseball. Then after seven dispute-filled innings it was all over, and the petite New York housewife dropped out of public view, unavailable for comment or explanation.

Mrs. Gera resigned in tears Saturday night after serving as base umpire in a New York-Pennsylvania League game between the Auburn Phillies and Geneva Rangers—her six years of effort and legal wrangling to break baseball officiating's sex barrier apparently at an ironic end.

"We don't know where she is now," Barney Deary, chief of umpire development for pro baseball, said Sunday while watching the teams play in Auburn.

During Saturday's night game the heat was turned on in the fourth inning of a seven-inning contest when Auburn Manager Nolan Campbell was evicted from the proceedings by the 40-year-old lady umpire for protesting too loudly one of her calls.

"It really wasn't anything I said. She put me out before I had a chance," Campbell explained to the Auburn crowd Sunday.

The heated moments came when Auburn's Terry Ford slid back into second base from a lead. Mrs. Gera first called him safe, then thumbed him out seconds later. According to Campbell Mrs. Gera admitted she had been mixed up on the play.

Two other contested calls followed.

When it was all over and Auburn had won 4-1, Mrs. Gera walked into the office of Geneva General Manager Joseph McDonough and in a tearful voice said:

"I've just resigned from baseball. I'm sorry, Joe."

Then, still clad in her blue umpire's suit, she stepped into a car and was whisked away.

Near Accord On A Return Bout

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Muhammad Ali's financial negotiator, Bob Arum, said today, "I believe the terms are pretty much agreed on" for a return bout against heavyweight boxing champion Joe Frazier.

Frazier outpointed Ali in their March 8, 1971 battle and Ali has been clamoring for another shot ever since. Currently he's in Las Vegas where he fights Jerry Quarry Tuesday night with a $500,000 guarantee for the ex-champion.

"There are two remaining things," said Arum, who is president of Top Rank Inc. of New York. "The date and the site."

Harry Groves, a native of Trenton, N.J., is in his fourth year as Penn State track and cross-country coach.

Little Mint's Skein Goes On

The Little Mint continued its unbeaten swing through the Senior Babe Ruth League Saturday night with a 12-5 victory over the Greenville Fire Fighters. In the other games, Moore-King-Sullivan downed Taff Office Equipment, 11-9, and in a game at Kinston, Kinston beat Big Value Discount, 5-4.

The Little Mint now holds an 8-0 record for the year.

In the opener at Greenville, Moore-King-Sullivan pushed into the lead with three runs in the first inning. Rodney Perry doubled and Herb Wilkerson walked. Steve Fuchs singled Perry to third and he scored on a passed ball. Mike Wallace singled in Wilkerson and Fuchs.

In the third, three more came over. Wilkerson singled and a wild pitch put him on second. Wallace singled him in and stole second. Rick Boles also singled to score Wallace and then stole second. A wild pitch let him go to third and Phil Dash singled him over. That made it 6-0.

In the fifth, Taff came up with two runs to get into the action. Jack Jones walked and stole second. Gene Vincent doubled him across and came around on a single by Cleve Averett.

In the sixth, however, M-K-S put it out of reach with five more runs, taking a 11-2 lead. John Causey walked and Wilkerson singled. Bobby Jones reached on an error and Wallace doubled in two runs. Boles singled to score Wallace and moved up on an error. He scored on a passed ball with the final run.

Taff added six in the sixth and then got another in the seventh for its total. Four of the runs in the sixth came on a grand-slam homer by Jones.

In the second game, the Little Mint pushed over five in the first to take the lead. Doug Phillips walked and stole second. Greg Nelson singled and Tom Craft got a hit to score Phillips. Jim Herring reached on an error and James Willis ending the innings scoring with a home run.

In the third, the Little Mint got what proved to be the winning run. Craft singled and stole second. He scored when Herring reached on an error.

In the fourth, the Fire Fighters came up with five runs. Paul Carr singled and Greg Chapman was safe on an error. He stole second and Bryant Hines singled in both runners. Hines stole second and scored when Bill Carraway singled. He also stole up and Fred Lemmond walked. Mike Reilly singled to score both runners.

In the fifth, the Little Mint added six more runs to finish the scoring. Willis walked and stole second, going to third on an error. Dalton Williams singled him in and took second on a passed ball. Ed McCullen was hit by a pitch and Phillips singled in Williams. John Willis singled in McCullen and Phillips and moved to third on a passed ball and a wild pitch. Ron Salmon walked and stole second and Craft walked to load them up. All three scored on Herring's single.

No details were available on the Kinston-Big Value game.

Fifteen-Year-Old Eyes World Swimming Title

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (AP) — A 15-year-old challenger has sent a warning down under to Shane Gould, Australia's wonder of the swimming world.

"I think we're catching up real fast," said Shirley Babashoff Sunday after winning her third event in the Santa Clara International Swimming Meet. "But she'll get better too."

The high school girl from Fountain Valley, Calif., added, "We don't expect her to stand still." Miss Gould, also 15, is the dominant figure in the sport, the world record holder at all four women's free-style distances. She made her only U.S. appearance to date in last year's Santa Clara meet, sweeping the freestyles and setting a world mark of 4:21.2 for 400 meters. But Miss Babashoff backed up her warning with a 9:01.5 best time in the world this year, to win the 800 freestyle Sunday. Earlier in the three-day meet, she won the 200 and 100 frees.

Jenny Wylie, a 14-year-old member of the Santa Clara Swim Club, won the 400 freestyle Friday with a time just 2.7 seconds off the year-old world record.

Gary Hall, the Indiana University star, was the only other triple winner in the meet. He took the 200 individual medley Sunday in 2:10.4, also a world best for 1972, after earlier winning the 400 freestyle and 400 medley. Hall, an Olympic veteran, and other members of Indiana's NCAA championship team, are spread around the country in training this summer. But in a reunion here, they won eight of the 12 men's events, with Sullivan Award winner Mark Spitz taking two titles.

Tony Jacklin of England won three automobiles in closest-to-the-pin contests in his first three months on the PGA tour this year.

Petty Blitzes Lone Star 500

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Richard Petty Overcame all the obstacles thrown in his path to win the Lone Star 500—three yellow flags, one wreck and a jackrabbit on the backstretch.

Petty took command in the final 60 laps Sunday to blitz the field in his 1971 Dodge with an average speed of 144.185 miles per hour as scorching Texas temperatures claimed his challengers at Texas World Speedway.

Petty, who added his fifth victory on the current NASCAR Winston Cup circuit, lost ground after one yellow flag, narrowly missed being caught during a crackup but finally pulled away from Bobby Isaac because he avoided trouble in the pits. "That was the difference between me and Isaac today," Petty said after collecting $12,120 in the $95,000 race. "I think I'm the only one who ran all day and didn't have any trouble, and that was the difference."

Petty and Isaac, of Catawba, N.C., chased each other much of the afternoon as temperatures rose to 140 degrees at track level and many drivers had themselves doused with water hoses when they came into the pits.

Isaac slowed in the stretch drive and was fifth, six laps behind Petty at the finish. Bobby Allison of Hueytown, Ala., was second. Coco Marlin of Columbia, Tenn., was third and Benny Parsons of Detroit, Mich., was fourth.

Petty and Isaac were having one of their close-quarters duels on the 164th lap when Richard Childress of Winston-Salem, N.C., flipped his 1972 Chevrolet on the second turn. Childress was treated for bruises.

"I was in the lead and Isaac was second," Petty said. "We were right beside him when the guy blew his engine. Isaac was the last one to get by."

Another yellow flag cost Petty several seconds off the 13-second lead he held at the time. The yellow flag went up when Raymond Williams spun out on the third turn and a metal object was discovered on the first turn.

Another yellow flag occurred on the 60th lap when Marty Robbins blew his engine.

Petty said he was able to run faster than he had expected. "The heat really didn't bother the cars that much. It wasn't as much of a factor as I thought it would be."

"Me and Isaac saw him back there, too," Petty said. "But he was going the wrong way."

Gives Quarry 'No Chance'

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Eddie "Boss Man" Jones, who once fought unsuccessfully for the light-heavyweight title, gives Jerry Quarry no chance in his bout against Muhammad Ali on Tuesday night.

Once he worked with Quarry in sparring sessions, but now he trains with Ali, so Jones has had the opportunity to study both the heavyweights.

"Ali's so fast you can't block his punches," Eddie says. "I'm known to be a pretty fast man myself, but I can't do anything with Ali. I work with him and I'm a 10-round fighter and I'm tired after three."

Jones' comments don't make Quarry happy.

"I did work with him, but you can bet I won't work with him again unless it's to break his head," said the California heavyweight. "I always went easy with him and he's spouting off like this. And for the main thing, he isn't fighting me."

Jones, long recognized as the No. 1 light-heavyweight challenger, lost to Vicente Rondon at Caracas in a World Boxing Association title match last year.

Quarry and Ali are slated for 12 rounds at the Las Vegas Convention Center on the same card in which Jerry's brother Mike challenges Bob Foster for the light-heavyweight title.

Former boxing champion Sugar Ray Robinson plays a ship's officer in the film, "The Poseidon Adventure," and is drowned when the ship capsizes.

Farm Tips

By Dr. J. W. Pou
Agricultural Specialist
Wachovia Bank & Trust Co., N.A.

A mechanical sweet potato sizer that should bring dramatic changes to the Tarheel yam industry has been developed at North Carolina State University.

Considered a major breakthrough in potentially removing much of the hand labor and human decision from the laborious task of sizing the odd-shaped vegetable, the new machine has come through practical application tests with flying colors.

A few of the machines will be used commercially this year.

The sizer was developed by Dr. D. D. Hamann and S. A. Brantley, research engineers with the Department of Food Science at N. C. State University.

The food science engineer describes the machine as a "multiple belt sizer than can sort sweet potatoes into desirable grades with minimum mechanical injury to the potatoes."

Skinning, which leads to sharp quality deterioration, is one of the major problems in handling sweet potatoes. It hasn't been a problem with the sizer in laboratory tests and in extensive trials at a commercial shipping operation in Wilson.

Hand labor is a serious and costly problem for the $15 million Tarheel sweet potato industry. In the field after the yams are plowed out, workers sort them into boxes according to size and other quality factors. Much labor is needed for this and the results are far from uniform.

One size — the smallest — goes to the canner at harvest time. The "medium" size usually goes into storage to be cured, and is then taken out of storage and packed for the fresh market. The third size, normally called "jumbos," is marketed primarily to institutional users.

"We believe the sizer can be fitted into a washing-grading-packing line at the farm with a substantial reduction in hand labor," commented Henry Covington, extension sweet potato specialist who works closely with the state's yam growers and shippers. Some estimates indicate that field work could be speeded up dramatically by removing the need for human decision in the field as the potatoes are picked up. There would be no need to put the canners in one box and the fresh market grade in another, for example.

Dr. Hamann and Covington suggested that the sizer could be used at practically any place in the long trail between grower and consumer — such as at repacking stations when the potatoes come out of storage or at a retail outlet's central packaging station.

"It has many potential applications," Covington said, "and is certainly a major development in the overall effort to mechanize the sweet potato industry."

Tobacco TIPS

By SAM J. WEEKS

At this time of the tobacco growing season we usually are on the lookout for hornworms. Some control programs are improperly applied and improperly timed.

A control program is not justified unless the hornworm is causing more damage than the cost of an insecticide application. To justify control, hornworms must eat about one whole leaf per seven plants. The number of eggs and small worms give very little indication of the number of big worms that will be produced because wasps and other predators destroy them. Ninety percent of the damage is done by the large worms.

The proper time to apply insecticides is when the hornworms are about two inches long. It would be a good idea to check the hornworm infestation before applying a recommended insecticide. As a guide, examine 50 widely scattered plants throughout each field and count the number of worms that are from one to two inches in length. If five or more worms of this size are present the cost of insecticides, machinery, and labor would be justified. Fields should be examined weekly as discussed above in order to know just what the hornworm situation is at all times. The hornworms are much easier and more economical to kill when they are small than when they get large. If treatment is delayed until several large worms are present, they should be killed quickly with a more complete coverage using a full dosage of the recommended fungicide.

Occasionally, when emulsifiable concentrates are used, bud and foliage injury occurs. There appears to be more risk of plant injury when the more concentrated low gallonage sprayers are used. Recommended rates should not be exceeded, spray materials should be mixed thoroughly, and June is bustin' out all over — and so is Cocklebur!

For soybean growers, these sunny, breezy June days are tinged with gloomy thoughts of those giant weeds that can slash bean yields, clog up combines, and which usually have to be dug out by hand.

Butyrac 175 is the one soil way to control cocklebur, morning glory, and other tough weeds in any area of the county. And the real beauty of Butyrac is that it can be used from the time beans are eight inches high right up to mid-bloom.

The cost for a directed spray application, is about 45 cents per acre.

Of all the cultural practices necessary for growing good soybeans, weed control is one of the most important. However, these is nothing magic about weed control and it will not replace other necessary cultural practices.

Soybeans yields will be no better than the weakest link in the chain of cultural practices. With the choices of mechanical and chemical methods available, weed control should be a strong link in this chain.

Wilderness Too Crowded

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—The American wilderness is getting so crowded that beginning July 1 the U.S. Forest Service is requiring permits for entry into 14 wilderness areas of Oregon and Washington.

Regional Forester Rex Resler of Portland said the free permits are not intended to limit access to wilderness areas but to provide more contact with the public and thereby more opportunity to put across the greater understanding of wilderness values and conservation.

The Forest Service said public use of the 10 wilderness areas in Oregon and 4 in Washington has doubled since 1966.

Permits will be required for both one-day entry and overnight trips. Groups will be encouraged to observe a limit of 20 persons and 20 head of saddle and pack animals.

In addition to requiring permits, the Forest Service also will place some new restrictions into effect — closing some trails to horses, closing some areas to overnight use by livestock and banning camping near some streams and lakes. Resler said by sheer weight of numbers large groups have been found to be especially destructive of delicate wilderness environments.

The permits will be obtainable at district ranger offices, forest headquarters and the regional Forest Service office here.

Selassie Closes Four-Day Visit

PARIS (AP) — Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia has ended a four-day trip to France with a visit to the tomb of President Charles de Gaulle at Colombey-les-Deux-Eglises.

De Gaulle's son, Rear Adm. Philippe de Gaulle, greeted the African ruler during the visit Sunday.

Selassie's next stop is Yugoslavia.

all equipment should be in good working order and adjusted to produce a uniform spray pattern.

Since the hornworm population varies from year to year and from field to field, it is essential for growers to examine their fields frequently and treat them when necessary; but treat only when necessary to avoid excessive insecticidal residue and to save money.

Spending By Bowles Sets A State Record

RALEIGH (AP) — Former state Sen. Hargrove Bowles spent a record $875,671.08 in winning the Democratic nomination for governor of North Carolina while his major opponent, Lt. Gov. Pat Taylor, shelled out $610,625.72.

Both candidates filed expense reports Friday with Secretary of State Thad Eure. Bowles reported he received contributions totaling $820,615. Taylor said he received $571,645.94.

Final expense reports were due Friday, 20 days after the June 3 runoff primary.

Others who filed were Congressman Nick Galifianakis and U.S. Sen. B. Everett Jordan.

Bowles, who piled up a 53,689-vote margin over Taylor in a runoff, said he spent $55,671.08 and received $45,615 in the final 10 days before the June 3 runoff primary. His largest contribution during that period was $2,500 from Joe Hamilton of Greensboro.

Bowles listed $1,000 contributions each from Caesar Cone, Ed Armfield and Griswold Smith of Greensboro and Frank Conner of Charlotte.

Taylor's contributions included an advance of $5,000 from the Political Action Committee for Education (PACE), political arm of the North Carolina Association of Educators.

Among others were $10,000 from James A. Hardison of Wadesboro, $3,000 from K.G. Clark of Lincolnton, $3,000 from Harriet Kaplan of Charlotte, $3,000 from F.A. Huntley of Wadesboro, $2,500 from David Clark of Lincolnton, $2,000 from Luther Hodges Jr. of Charlotte, $2,000 from Clarence Leatherman of Lincolnton and $1,000 from the North Carolina Political Action Committee.

Galifianakis reported he spent $148,854.05 in defeating Jordan for the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senate. His contributions amounted to $138,239.05 of which $37,000 was in bank loans.

Jordan reported expenditures of $203,736.05 and contributions totaling $177,260.50. The contributions included $2,500 from the Business-Industry Political Ac-

CHAPEL HILL — Paul Tardif, pianist, of the Artist Faculty at Eastern Carolina University, will be featured on the Summer Concert Series at the University of North Carolina here Tuesday, June 27, at 8 p.m. in Hill Hall.

First prize winner in the International Piano Guild Competition and concert artist for the U. S. State Department in Poland, Tardif has been teaching and performing at East Carolina since 1971.

For the UNC concert he will perform Sonata in C Major by Haydn; Barcarolle, Op. 60, by Chopin; Five Etudes by Scriabine; and Le Tombeau de Couperin by Ravel.

Tommy Tucker, Now 68, Retires

WEST LONG BRANCH, N.J. (AP) — Tommy Tucker, popular band leader during the 1930s and '40s, will retire at the end of this school year from full-time teaching at Monmouth College here. He is an associate professor of music and is 68.

His biggest hit during the big band era was "I Don't Want To Set the World on Fire." Stars Edie Gorme and Gerry Mulligan got early schooling with his orchestra.

Family Income $6,448 In Pitt

Average family income was $6,488 in Pitt County, in 1969, compared with $7,774 for the State, according to a report on the 1970 census by the Bureau of the Census, U.S. Department of Commerce. Per capita income for the county amounted to $2,108, the report shows.

The 1970 census counted 73,900 residents in the county; 0.4 percent were foreign born and 0.8 percent native born with one or both parents of foreign birth. Among the county's 68,007 inhabitants age 5 and over in 1970, 8,220 were living in a different county within the State in 1965, and 3,635 in a different State.

In the population age 16 and over, 69 percent of the men and 43 percent of the women were in the labor force. Among the employed, 40 percent were holding white collar jobs, and 19 percent were government workers.

About 48 percent of the married women with husband present were in the labor force, and 42 percent of these wives had children under six.

There were 25,546 persons 3 to 34 years old enrolled in school in the 25-and-older population, 37 percent of the men and 39 percent of the women were high school graduates.

Copies of the report, "General Social and Economic Characteristics, North Carolina," PC(1)-35C, are available for $2.50 each from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402, or from U.S. Department of Commerce field offices located in major cities.

Claim A Record In Recordings

NEW YORK (AP) — The Osmonds, five brothers, Alan, Wayne, Merrill, Jay and Donny, claim they are the all-time gold record earners.

They have received 10 in a one-year period. This goes ahead of Elvis Presley, who achieved eight, and the Beatles, who gained nine, within 12 months. Creedence Clearwater Revival was presented 11 gold records at one time, after their record company joined the Recording Industry Association of America. But the records came out in a period longer than 12 months.

The Osmonds have four albums and six singles gold. An album needs more than $1 million in manufacturer's sales and a single more than one million copies sold.

SUNDAY ESCADRILLE

The Black Baron in his Fokker DR-1 triplane strikes again! And is challenged by the valiant Sir Percy Goodfellow in snarling, wheeling and vicious aerial combat. Mock combat—each Sunday, during summer and early fall, over the peaceful Hudson Valley at Old Rhinebeck Aerodrome, near Rhinebeck, N.Y. When the aerial show is over, the Black Baron takes off his oil-spattered goggles and leather flying gear to become Cole Palen, founder and inspirer of the whole operation. He's an airplane buff who's spent years not only flying but also building and refurbishing planes of World War I vintage. He owns the airstrip at Old Rhinebeck and a small farm nearby where he's set up an air museum. He's also collected together a group of enthusiastic amateur flyers who form the rest of the cast of his weekly spectacles. And at weekends he draws a crowd of several thousand who get their thrills vicariously as they watch the daredevil exploits overhead, and boo the Black Baron, and cheer Sir Percy who predictably wins through . . .

The Black Baron, alias Cole Palen, zooms over Old Rhinebeck Aerodrome, in his Fokker DR-1 triplane, during the air show each Sunday.

The Worry Clinic Foundation Is An Aid To Cupid

Notice Rev. Joel's dilemma! With 20 attractive girls to pick from, he still didn't dare show romantic interest in any of them. And this same problem confronts many talented men! Pass that "SMF Questionnaire" along!

By DR. CRANE, Ph.D., M.D.
Case U-518: Rev. Joel, aged 37, is a very successful pastor. "But, Dr. Crane," he telephone me, "I lost my wife 6 months ago."

"She was a wonderful woman and I attribute at least 50 per cent of my success in the pulpit to her charm and popularity with parishioners."

"We have 3 children, ranging age from 5 to 12, who miss her terribly."

"Oh, I have a fine housekeeper to look after the youngsters, but she is 60 years of age and thus not close enough to them in interests to replace their mother."

"Now, Dr. Crane, I am calling you to see if the Scientific Marriage Foundation could introduce me to a prospective wife, between 30 and 35, who would be willing to take over a ready-made family."

"In my parish, I have probably 20 charming women in this age bracket who are either single or young widows."

"But if I show special attention to one of them, I'll alienate the other 19."

"So I must treat them all alike or produce friction."

"Could you please find somebody outside my parish who might make me a congenial mate?"

"If she were even half as wonderful as my first wife, I'd consider myself most fortunate!"

SMF Aids Cupid

It was rather easy to solve Rev. Joel's problem, for the Computer dropped out the names of 3 women in the age bracket he mentioned, who matched him on all 10 basic personality traits.

Since men usually restrict us to a radius of only 200 miles, we picked a beautiful music teacher, aged 31, who belonged to the same church denomination.

She had a popular personality and taught a teen-age Sunday School Class.

Besides, she was an active leader in Girl Scouts, too.

So they were introduced by mail.

After several exchanges of letters, during which they learned enough about each other to have many fields for conversation, they met in person. Since they were both attractive and harmonized on the 10 basic traits needed to prevent serious post-marital debates, they soon fell in love.

Within 6 months they were married.

Rev. Joel's children soon took to her as if she were their original mother.

She also became a great aid in the church affairs, too, for she played the piano and coached a teen-age chorus.

SMF has had 10,000 successes (with less than one per cent divorces) in the past 1 year of its operation.

It is an interfaith, charitable foundation, with leading Catholic, Jewish and Protestant clergymen on its Advisory Board.

Up to age 35, we often need more young women, for we have more young engineers, teachers, advertising or business executives, scientific farmers, Airplane personnel, etc., than we have women.

Alas, above the age of 45 to 50, the women than begin to outnumber our male registrants by as much as 3 to 1, so we can't promise romance to anybody.

Send for the "SMF Questionnaire," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents, if you are eligible for marriage and of good moral character.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.) Copyright 1972.

More Bottles Being Recycled

NEW YORK (AP) — More than 211 million used glass containers have been reclaimed and recycled into new bottles and jars during the first three months of 1972, it is reported by the Glass Container Manufacturers Institute.

This compares with 96 million bottles and jars collected by the public in the January-

March quarter of 1971. The institute also reported that more than one billion bottles have been recycled into new glass containers and other secondary products since the reclamation program began about two years ago.

Computer Is Domino Star

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — If you like dominos, stay away from an opponent named 2000B.

Your opponent would be a small computer that already has beaten some of the world's domino Giants.

Mike Smith, senior in electrical engineering and computer sciences at the University of California, recently took the computer to the annual World Championship Domino Tournament in San Francisco.

Smith, who knows little about the game himself, teamed up with the computer and beat two veteran masters 66 to 36 in a test match.

N.C.—Monday, June 26, 1972—13

The computer was not entered as a full competitor in the tournament itself because of doubts about the rapid relay of plays and information. Nevertheless, the machine won two-thirds of its games.

There are about a billion times a billion possible plays in dominos, Smith estimated.

Smith says the computer doesn't consider all these possibilities but operates on a system of strategies that depend on the likely results of opponent's plays.

There's another reason the computer can't win every game, the student said.

Dominos is partly based on chance.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN (c 1972: By The Chicago Tribune)

BRIDGE QUIZ ANSWERS

Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠AJ953 ♥76 ♦K63 ♠AKQ
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 3 ♣ Pass
3 ♦ Pass 4 ♠ Pass
5 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—It is evident from the bidding that partner's real concern is with the heart situation. Obviously, he does not have first round control or he would have mentioned it. And if he has second round control, he would have bid a slam himself. You are obliged to pass because the loss of two heart tricks stares you in the face.

Q. 2—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠10943 ♥52 ♦A932 ♠KJ9
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
Pass Pass 1 ♣ Pass
2 ♠ Pass 3 ♠ Pass
? Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—The suggested call is three diamonds, a temporizing bid. It may prove that partner is probing for big things and, if his next bid happens to be three hearts, we would suggest a four club bid to show the fit in that suit. After that he should be on his own.

Q. 3—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠J3 ♥K43 ♦Q974 ♠K852
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 NT Dble. ?

What do you bid?

A.—Redouble. You have nine points, assuring your partnership of a minimum of 25, giving the adversaries a maximum of 15 points. You are therefore prepared to punish them when they escape at the two level, and if permitted to play one no trump redoubled, you will of course score an easy game.

Q. 4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠A94 ♥KJ86 ♦82 ♠8732
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♥ 1 ♠ 2 ♥ 2 ♠
3 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. The full strength of your hand was shown on the first round with your free bid of two hearts. If this is all partner needed to produce a game he would have bid four hearts himself.

Q. 5—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠63 ♥J109753 ♦2 ♠AK104
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
Pass Pass 1 ♥ Dble.

What do you bid now?

A.—Four hearts. If partner has opened somewhat light in the third seat, the hand may easily belong to the opponents. In that case your jump bid will make it more difficult for them to get together. Furthermore, if West should now bid four spades, you will be in an excellent position to decide on a subsequent action. If partner doubles four spades, you have adequate defensive values and, if he passes, you can bid five hearts with the assurance that the save will be inexpensive and you may even be able to fulfill an 11 trick contract.

Q. 6—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠6 ♥10987 ♦KQ63 ♠A865
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass
3 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—We recommend an ace showing bid of four clubs at this point. While it is true that partner may, for the time being, interpret this as showing a club suit, we intend to raise hearts at our next turn to bid. This will make it clear that we are looking for a slam.

Q. 7—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠5 ♥Q6542 ♦10863 ♠J94
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass
2 ♠ Dble. Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. To bid three hearts would be quite out of order. Partner has undertaken to defeat the contract of two spades by himself. It is not your position to act as nursemaid to him.

Q. 8—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠AJ1075 ♥Q862 ♠973
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
Pass Pass 1 ♥ 2 ♦
2 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. You have opened third hand in the hope of obtaining a part score and should make no further move. Partner should have a self-sustaining spade suit to bid at this increased level.

ORECAST FOR TUESDAY, JUNE 27, 1972

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: After a morning when things seem to operate in a negative fashion, you are able to find the answers you want. Then, you can put your best interests on a more secure structure in which the goodwill of one in high position can be of valuable assistance to you.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) A higher-up can assist you in gaining more prestige if you ask for assistance. Taking care of a credit matter now that has been worrying you for some time is wise. Relax tonight.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Obtain the data you need that will be necessary to put a new project in operation very soon. Planning a trip now for the future is wise. Study all the facts and figures.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Improvements must be made on plans you have made so that they can be made successful in the future. Strive to have more harmonious relations with the one you love. Show kindness.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You need to be more objective and less emotional now if you are to handle your affairs more intelligently. Plan time for civic duties. Show that you have wisdom.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You have much work to do now and if you do it efficiently, you gain the respect of higher-ups as well as co-workers. Find the right apparel for yourself, but be conservative.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Plan early to have the amusement that you really like. Your creativity is high now and you can accomplish a great deal. Make sure you are not extravagant, especially tonight.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Put artistic touch you have to work at home and make everything more charming there. Show that you are most loyal to kin. Make a fine impression on a bigwig. Seek happiness.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) If you study the data that is available, you can gain the answers to problems that are bothering you. Confer with experts concerning a business matter that is important to you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Put into motion a new plan that will add much to your present abundance instead of deliberating any further. Listen while working to what an expert has to suggest.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have fine ideas and can reach a cherished goal and help good friends as well. While out socially express any aims you have. Others can help you reach them more easily.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Joining with others is your best bet now since you can reap fine benefits, both spiritual and monetary. Add to your present circle of acquaintances. Avoid arguments.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) A good friend who is of serious nature can give fine advice on how to advance in business. Contact this person early. Forget going off on a tangent. Show that you are sensible.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those young people who wants to live an organized life, and therefore will always make concrete plans before undertaking any project. Teach early that there is apt to be a fly in any ointment, and to be prepared to act quickly and well in any such emergencies. The field of psychology could be excellent here.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

80th Birthday For Pearl Buck

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Author Pearl S. Buck, whose "The Good Earth" won both a Pulitzer Prize and a Nobel Prize in literature, celebrates her 80th birthday today.

The only American woman ever to win the Nobel in literature, Miss Buck has turned out a total of 84 books during her writing career.

Born in Hillsboro, W. Va., Miss Buck spent most of her first 17 years in China with her missionary parents. She also served as a Presbyterian missionary herself in China, from 1914 until 1935.

"The Good Earth," the story of a Chinese peasant's rise to power, was an offshoot of her Chinese experience. It won the Pulitzer in 1931 and the Nobel seven years later.

Killing Selves At Record Pace

The Associated Press
North Carolina drivers continued to kill themselves at a record pace over the weekend. At least 13 people died in various wrecks and accidents.

The deaths brought the toll for the year to 855, according to the Highway Patrol. In 1971, when the current record for fatalities was set, the count stood at 796 on June 26.

A Gaston County teen-ager, Doris Ann Welch, 17, died when the car she was riding in careered into a ditch near her home in Stanley on N.C. 27.

Two people were killed and eight others injured when a pickup truck slammed into a detour barricade on I-85 in Charlotte. The dead were identified as Vincent Martin and Lilly Boyce, both 60, of Charlotte.

49-year-old William J. Emory of Asheville was walking when hit by a hit and run driver. Another pedestrian death was that of Leonard Van Wiggins, 33, of Middlesex, who died on a rural road in Nash County. And, Lee R. Evans, 19, of Enfield was struck by a car while walking on a rural road near Ida in Halifax County.

Harold F. Holliday of Nashville, Tenn., and Charles Bradley of Anderson, S.C., died when the car they were riding in overturned on I-85 near Kings Mountain.

Teddy Wayne Vance, 15, of Mt. Holly, was a passenger in a car that ran off a rural road in Catawba County and hit a tree. Michael Thornburg, 18, of Maiden died in a three-car pileup on U.S. 321 near Lincolnton.

Myrtle Fowler, 28, of Zebulon was killed when her car ran off the road and hit an embankment four miles north of Clayton.

Hartford Lee, 29, of Polkton, was killed when his car ran a stop sign and collided with another vehicle near Ansonville, the patrol said.

Albert Gay, 76, of Fountain was killed in a head-on crash of two cars on U.S. 258 about 12 miles west of Jacksonville.

MIZELL OPPOSED HIGH POINT (AP)—Rep. Wilmer Mizell, R-N.C., told American Legionnaires at High Point Sunday he opposes unilateral disarmament for the United States.

"GREATEST BREAK-THROUGH SINCE THE AUTOMOBILE ITSELF"

No more flats or balancing problems to worry or shake your brain. We have a breakthrough product you simply insert into tube or hubless tires which puncture, proofs and balances for life of tire. Our product has been tested on the moon and earth. Would you like a ground-floor opportunity exclusive distributorship for your area? We will invest three dollars to you one if you qualify in your area. All trucks, tires, auto parts, service stations, auto dealers, garages, and farm implements are big users. To qualify, you need $5,000 to $10,000 investment depending on size of territory. This is not a franchise fee but is secured by product and equipment. For complete details phone (904) 296-5856, Mr. Jim Shelton, or write:
