

Nixon Says Peace Talks To Resume In Paris July 13

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has announced the United States will return to Vietnam peace talks in Paris on July 13 because he sees "a chance for more serious discussions."

Holding his first television-radio news conference in 13 months, Nixon gave no clue Thursday night to the nature of presumed secret dickering that is bringing both sides back to the conference table.

In fact, he coupled his veiled optimism with a statement that "we have been disappointed in the past with regard to these discussions"—suggesting history might repeat itself.

The Paris talks have been in the deepfreeze since early May. During a 43-minute session in the floodlit East Room of the White House, the seemingly relaxed chief executive also:

—Repeated high praise for Vice President Spiro T. Agnew but declared he won't make known his choice of a 1972 campaign running mate until the Aug. 21 Republican National Convention draws nearer.

—Expressed hope the courts will uphold the death penalty as a deterrent to such federal crimes as kidnapping and sky-jacking.

—Endorsed, in perhaps stronger language than before, legislation to tighten controls over cheap and readily available handguns.

"I have always felt there should be a federal law for the control of handguns.... The problem there is to write the law... in such a way that it is precise and deals with that kind of handgun which ought to be controlled."

—Cautioned Congress against any inflationary or inadequately financed increase in Social Security benefits.

—Saw the economy making great strides, while cautioning that he plans to do more to reduce unemployment.

Vietnam was the dominant topic.

Nixon said the United States "will return to the negotiating table... on the assumption that the North Vietnamese are prepared to negotiate in a serious and constructive way. We will be prepared to negotiate in that way."

He reaffirmed a May 8 offer to withdraw all Americans within four months in return for a supervised Indochina cease-fire and the return of American prisoners plus an accounting for those missing.

At another point, Nixon again claimed success for his Viet-namization program while declining to say exactly when Saigon forces might be able to operate effectively without U.S. supporting airpower.

"We expect, perhaps, some more North Vietnamese offensive," he said, "but I believe now the ability of the South Vietnamese to defend themselves on the ground, with the support we give them in the air, has been demonstrated."

Nixon said the action of Air Force Gen. John Lavelle in approving unauthorized bombing strikes against Northern targets "did not affect the diplomatic negotiations." But he said the forced retirement and demotion of Lavelle was proper and "will assure that kind of activity may not occur in the future."

In defending his request for money to fund new offensive-weapons programs, while seeking congressional approval of his Moscow-summit arms accords, Nixon contended both countries understand the other will go forward with new weaponry pending hoped-for broader arms curbs.

While discussing Vietnam, he philosophized about East-West negotiations in broad terms that apparently could be given broad application.

Senate Votes Big Hike In Social Security Checks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate adopted today a 20 per cent across-the-board increase in Social Security benefits—the biggest such boost in history.

The vote was 82 to 4. The Senate action came in the face of a warning by President Nixon that such an increase would either strain the economy or push taxes up for millions of workers.

The increase was added as a rider to a bill extending for four months the present $450-billion national debt ceiling.

The amendment, sponsored by Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, also would raise payroll taxes in 1973 and further in 1974 to pay for the boost.

In addition, it would put into effect for the first time automatic cost-of-living adjustments in Social Security.

The Church amendment would provide $8.5 billion in annual additional benefits for the 27.8 million recipients, the largest increase since the system was first set up in 1935.

The effective date for the 20 per cent would be Sept. 1 so that it first would be reflected in checks received Oct. 3, a month before the presidential national elections.

The debt limit legislation was expected to clear the Senate by mid-day and go back to the House.

There Republican leaders were threatening to block any action on the 20 per cent today although they said they might be willing to take 10 per cent.

The adoption of the Church amendment represented a Senate decision to lift the general Social Security increase out of the big Social Security increase of the big Social Security-Welfare bill which passed the House last year and which has been pending more than 12 months in the Senate Finance Committee.

South Viets Advance On Quang Tri

SAIGON (AP) — Helicopters leapt hundreds of South Vietnamese paratroopers over their supporting armor today and landed them within four miles of Quang Tri City as Saigon's forces pressed ahead with their offensive to recapture South Vietnam's northernmost province.

Associated Press correspondent Holger Jensen reported that the assault zone was so heavily pounded by U.S. B52 bombers before the dawn lift that some of the helicopter pilots couldn't see through the clouds of dust and smoke. They had to land several hundred of the troops at alternate sites.

Officers said they encountered no heavy organized resistance, but the troops clashed sporadically with small groups of North Vietnamese soldiers and five enemy tanks were reported knocked out.

South Vietnamese tanks and armored personnel carriers advanced up Highway 1 behind the paratroopers, about three miles north of the My Chanh River. They found the shattered hulks of four enemy tanks which South Vietnamese marines had knocked out when Quang Tri Province fell on May 1.

Infantrymen with the armor collected a number of abandoned heavy weapons.

Small groups of North Vietnamese snipers still lurked in bombed areas behind the paratroopers' front lines, and several South Vietnamese positions along Highway 1 took sporadic artillery fire.

President Nguyen Van Thieu flew to Hue and conferred for an hour and a half with his senior commanders in the drive to retake Quang Tri, now in its third day. He was smiling as he came out of the conference.

Government military spokesmen reported more than 250 North Vietnamese killed in fighting on the Quang Tri front and southwest of Hue on Thursday. South Vietnamese casualties were 29 killed and 93 wounded, they said.

Heavy clashes were reported by paratroopers and marines who made a pair of large-scale helicopter landings on the coast east of Quang Tri City on Thursday. Spokesmen said 90 Communist troops were killed in one of the battles and 73 in another.

On the An Loc front north of Saigon, meanwhile, a South Vietnamese regimental commander once accused of killing two American military policemen was killed by an enemy rocket that made a direct hit on his bunkered command post.

Allot Funds For Pitt Road Work

The State Highway Commission has allotted more the $61,600 for construction projects on Secondary Roads 1762 and 1764 in Pitt County.

Base will be added and paving will be done on 1762 one and two-tenths miles from Secondary Road 1755 to the northeast. The same will be done to 1764 one and five-tenths miles from Secondary Road 1762 to the Norfolk and Southern Railroad.

Chancellor

As of tomorrow, Dr. Leo Jenkins will be chancellor of East Carolina University, rather than president.

Under the new North Carolina University System, Dr. William Friday of Chapel Hill is president and there is a chancellor for each university under the system. "I've been called worse," Dr. Jenkins quipped when he was asked to comment on the new title.

McGovern Counts On Rule Reversal

WASHINGTON (AP) — George McGovern said today the Democratic Credentials Committee's action slicing his California delegate strength may actually work in favor of his getting the party's presidential nomination.

"In the sense that it's so flagrant and such an obvious inside deal to subvert the will of the people...I think it may rebound in our favor," the South Dakota senator said.

McGovern, who was angry Thursday about the committee's decision to strip him of more than half of the 271 California delegates, appeared calm while being interviewed on the CBS Morning News. "I've had a short night's rest," he said.

Thursday, McGovern had threatened to withhold support from the Democratic ticket if he loses the presidential nomination because of what he called "shabby back-room dealing."

Today McGovern said he is sure the Democratic National Convention will overturn the Credentials Committee's decision.

The committee's 72-66 vote to apportion the 271 delegates among nine candidates, rather than awarding them all to McGovern, fueled the unrest simmering in a party searching somewhat uncertainly for harmony between regulars and reformers.

That decision and another due today on a challenge to one of the pre-eminent old-liners, Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley, portended further acrimonious debate at the Miami Beach convention opening July 10. The full convention will vote on accepting or rejecting Credentials Committee decisions.

In his initial burst of anger, McGovern called the committee decision "the rottenest political steal I've ever seen in my political career" and blamed Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, his nearest rival and chief beneficiary of the ruling, for engineering it.

"I couldn't possibly support a convention that would sustain this kind of shabby back-room dealing," he declared. "I wouldn't have any part of any convention nominee who would support this."

But he tempered the assertion later when he told a news conference in Atlantic City, N.J., that his initial outburst "doesn't reflect what I want to say about this matter."

PTI Trustees Order Exploring College Parallel Program Action

Corey Stokes, the chairman of the program committee of the Board of Trustees of Pitt Technical Institute, announced today that PTI's president, W.E. Fulford, Jr., has been directed to explore the possibilities of offering a one-year college parallel program under contract with Lenoir Community College at PTI.

According to Stokes, this directive to president Fulford was motivated by numerous inquiries by many citizens in Pitt County.

He said citizens have been questioning if Beaufort, Martin, Craven, and other technical institutes could offer a one year college parallel program under contract with East Carolina University or other institutions, why has Pitt Tech not provided the same opportunity to people in Pitt County."

In an interview today, Stokes said, "The Program Committee of the Board of Trustees is charged with the responsibility of studying and evaluation any new curriculum program to be considered for offering at Pitt Tech. Once the committee formulates its recommendations, it then makes recommendations to the Board of Trustees.

"At the current stage, we are in no position to make a recommendation to the full board until the matter of fering the college parallel program under contract with a community college or senior institution is fully explored," according to Stokes.

"The Lenoir Community College Board of Trustees has approved in principal the idea of offering the college parallel program at Pitt Technical Institute for the next academic year.

"If the committee feels that

Today Is The Longest Day In Your Life

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Today will be the longest day in your life.

Every other day since man began recording time has had 86,400 seconds. At 8 p.m. EDT, midnight Greenwich Mean Time, today the world's timekeepers will add an extra second.

The purpose is to correct a discrepancy in time-keeping due to tiny changes in the earth's rotation.

The changes were discovered in 1958 with the development of atomic clocks so accurate it would take 50,000 years for one of them to gain or lose a second.

Conventional clocks measure time based on the assumption that the earth takes exactly 24 hours to rotate on its axis. Atomic clocks record time by registering vibrations of atoms making up a molecule of a special gas.

These clocks have noted a tiny slowing in the earth's rotation. To compensate, the world's master clocks since 1958 have been subject to fairly frequent, very minor corrections of a thousandth of a second here and there.

But astronomers of the U.S. Naval Observatory, the nation's official timekeeper, say the necessity for such frequent changes poses potential dangers.

"Every time you correct a clock, you stand a chance of correcting it the wrong way," said Dr. R. Glenn Hall, assistant director of the Observatory's time division.

His chief, Dr. Gernot M.R. Winkler, said navigators at sea or aloft, who need accurate clocks in navigating by the stars, "must be protected from (clock) errors of possible fatal consequences."

So, by international scientific agreement reached more than a year ago, the world's official timekeepers today add a full second just before midnight GMT.

"Future action," said Dr. Hall, "will depend upon how the earth rotates. It could be that it will speed up again, in which case we'd subtract a second. In any case, we'll be making bigger changes, but less often than heretofore, possibly once a year.

Communists Seek N.C. OK As Political Party

RALEIGH (AP) — A campaign spokesman for the Communist party says a petition will be presented to the North Carolina Board of Elections Monday requesting the addition of the party's presidential and vice presidential candidates to the fall general election ballot.

A petition was filed with the Wake County Board of Elections Thursday calling for legal recognition of the Communist party as a political organization in North Carolina.

The action was a prelude to plans by party members to get the names of Communist presidential candidate Gus Hall and vice presidential candidate Jarvis Tyner on the Nov. 7 ballot. Susan Matthews of Charlotte, who said she was a spokesman for the Hall-Tyner Campaign Committee of the party, said petitions bearing more than 10,000 names would be submitted to the state board Monday.

"We have complied to the best of our ability with the difficult requirements of putting a third party on the ballot," she said.

She said 1,260 names were on the petition filed with the Wake County Board.

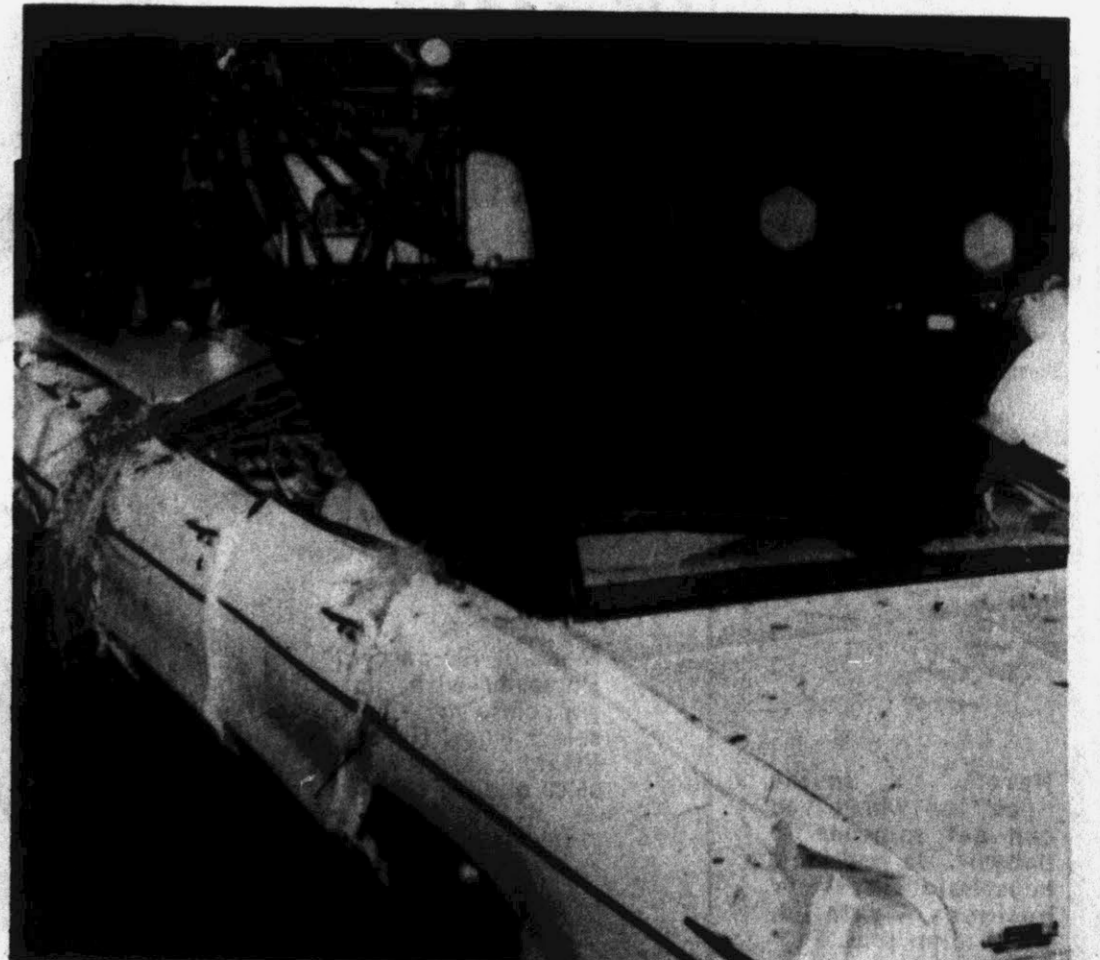

At Charlotte, the FBI denied that its agents had tried to get the names of persons on petitions turned in to the Mecklenburg County elections board.

The secretary of the board, William A. B. Culp Jr., had said on Wednesday that he had received a telephone call from a man who identified himself as an FBI agent and who asked for copies of the petition. Culp said he refused the request after talking with the state director of elections, Alex Brock of Raleigh. Brock said the petitions are not public records until they are filed with him.

On Thursday, the FBI said none of its agents had called Culp. "We do not have any interest in these petitions, anyone could call and say they were agents."

Culp also said that fewer than one-third of the approximately 5,000 names on the Mecklenburg petition were checking out as qualified registered voters. "One problem is that we're getting a lot of obviously fictitious names, like John Doe and Donald Duck," Culp said.

Fifteenth Pitt Fatality

DRIVER KILLED... The driver of this car, identified by Pitt County Coroner and Medical Examiner E. W. Harvey as Milton Baker, 49, of Route 1, Fountain, died of a broken neck when this car overturned about 9 p.m. yesterday on N.C. 121 about 2½ miles North of Farmville. Highway Patrolman S. F. Padgett said the vehicle left the roadway, ran down a ditch, hit a stop sign, crossed a dirt road, then ran into a canal before overturning in a field. Coroner Harvey ruled the death accidental. It was the 15th traffic death in the county so far this year. (Reflector Staff Photo)

Women's Lib? Bos Is Vos?

By LUCIANNE GOLDBERG
KUTZTOWN, Pa. (WNS)—
"Women's Lib? Vos is Vos?
(What is that?)" asks almost any Pennsylvania Dutchman (or Dutchwoman, for that matter), at the Kutztown Fold Festival. A frau can do the work of any man, and likewise a man can take over the duties of any frau, and these earthy people point to men expertly making bonnets and quilts, knitting and weaving, dipping candles and the like.

As for the women, any old day in the week, they're out pitching hay, helping to mend fences, roll cigars, and lend a hand with the threshing.

"It's a bunch of fiddlesticks in our end of the country, even considering which sex is tops," says Lillian Diehl, who since the Kutztown Festival, started 23 years ago, has been out with the hay wagon, helping to pitch large piles of it for the kids to jump in. "My man is good in the kitchen when he has to be," she declares, "and I can equal him any day in the barnyard (scheierhoff) or out in the fields (feldts!)"

The Pennsylvania Dutch Folk Festival was started in 1949, and ever since it's been a two-way street, with men and women, boys and girls all pitching in and working together (as they do on their farms) to portray the life and crafts of their ancestors.

This summer, from July 1 through July 8, the same spirit will endure, and not just on the Commons, where the old crafts are demonstrated, but in the Festival's kitchens and the exhibition halls. Men and women will equally share the spotlight.
The large family-style menus will have men working through the night, cooking up hams and frying chickens.
The women will be in charge
during the daytime hours, getting help from the young folks in the serving and dishwashing departments.

The pageant, "They Remain Unchanged," portraying Amish history, will again have men and women receiving equal billing, and elsewhere throughout the Festival—on the hoedown stage, in the big 4th of July parade, in the one-room school and the country church—it will be a comradeship between the sexes, and equality which has been the Pennsylvania Dutch way of life.

Says Dr. Herbert Lambert,

the Festival's physician and one of the last of the area's practitioners to deliver "Plain Dutch" babies in the farmhouses, "The only difference between men and women is their anatomy, and

Make Grape Tart With Wine

By TOM HOGE
AP Newsfeatures Writer
A friend of mine recently made an automobile tour of the French chateaux region along the Loire Valley and returned bewitched by the beauty of the ancient homes and the surrounding countryside. He also learned something about French wines.

He was enchanted to discover that there are many chateaux where one may both dine and obtain lodgings. Since he returned he has been telling everyone he sipped wine on the same terrace where Cardinal Richelieu reportedly dined.

One of the loveliest chateaux along the river, he thinks, is Amboise which was begun in the 12th century. It lies close to the Vouvray area which is known for its great sweet wines.

It is here, the Chenin Blanc, the noted white grape, grows in chalky soil. The wine produced by these vineyards is honey-like, sweet, and distinguished for its long life.

Close to Amboise is a small castle with a fine view of the Loire known as the Chateau de Pray which dates back to 865
A.D. Now run as a hotel, it serves a fine dinner topped off by an excellent grape wine tart, my friend says.

The produce of the Loire vineyards is notable for its lightness and appetizing quality. The wines range from the dry whites to the east such as Sancerre and Pouilly, the Mus-cadet of the west and the sweeter wines of Anjou and Touraine in the middle. Much of the wine of Anjou is pink.

My friend also traveled through the Sevre-et-Maine area, home of Muscadet, the popular wine that is moderate in price but ideal for drinking with fish. It is dry, yet soft rather than acid.

Hugh Johnson, the British-born wine authority has described Muscadet, which was a virtually unknown local wine until four decades ago, as the modern success story of the Loire. A French critic once declared, "It casts its pale glow over the purple of lobsters and the pearl of oysters, the pink of shrimps and the red of mullet."

The excellence of the Loire wines has been matched by the fine quality of the local dishes.

For instance there is spinach cooked with beaten eggs to make a fluffy omelet-like dish, chicken breast poached in wine,
and pike cooked in butter.

Here is the recipe for tarts that caught my friend's fancy
at the Chateau de Pray:

- 2 cups red or purple grapes
- 4 ounces red wine
- 2 tablespoons cognac
- ½ cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 6 baked tart shells
- 2 tablespoons orange marmalade
- 1 cup whipped cream

Place grapes and wine in a saucepan. Heat slowly about one hour until the grapes burst and the seeds rise to the surface. Skim the seeds, and stir in brandy. Mix sugar and cornstarch and stir into mixture.

Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Remove from heat and cool. Spread each tart with a teaspoon of orange marmalade, divide grape mixture among the tarts. Spread with whipped cream.

Stocks-Brooks Vows Said Relationship Prejudiced By Parents

In Double Ring Ceremony

PACTOLUS — Miss Deborah Darlene Brooks became the bride of Marshall Glenwood Stocks in a double ring ceremony Saturday afternoon at 4:00 in the Pactolus Missionary Baptist Church.

The Rev. Tommy J. Payne officiated at the candlelight ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Jesse R. Brooks of Raleigh and Mr. and Mrs. Zeno Marvin Stocks of Grifton.

A program of wedding music was presented by Miss Neta Faye Bowers, cousin of the bride, of Pactolus.

The altar was decorated with two baskets of chrysanthemums and greenery.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white satin styled with long sleeves and an A-line skirt. Her chapel length mantilla of nylon tulle was trimmed with acetate and nylon lace. She carried a cascade of white mums. Mrs. Sue Ellen Hill of Rt. 1, Hookerton, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a formal gown of yellow satin designed with an A-line skirt and long chiffon sleeves. She carried one long-stemmed mum with matching streamers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Sharon Kay Brooks of Kookuk, Iowa, Miss Carol Jean Brooks of Kinston, and Miss Marie Edwards of Aurora, all cousins of the bride.

They wore dresses and carried flowers identical to those of the honor attendant.

Marvin Stocks of Grifton was his brother's best man. Ushers were Allen Hill of Rt. 1, Hookerton, Johnny L. Craft and Jimmy Ormond, both of Grifton.

After a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will reside in Raleigh.

The bride is a graduate of Garner High School and is employed by Winn-Dixie in Raleigh. The bridegroom attended Grifton High School and is employed by Coca-Cola Bottling Co. in Raleigh.

After-Rehearsal Party
The Stocks-Brooks wedding party, family and friends were honored at an after-rehearsal party Friday night at the home of Mrs. Sam Bowers Jr., aunt of the bride.

The appointed table was covered with a white lace over yellow cloth and centered with an arrangement of white daisies and candles.

After the bridal couple cut the first traditional slice of cake, Mrs. W.R. Stocks, mother of the bridegroom, poured punch and Mrs. J.R. Brooks, mother of the bride, served cake.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 16-year-old girl and I don't think I've ever seen a problem like mine in your column.

I am dating a guy who is a member of a minority group, and to make a long story short, my father would make Archie Bunker look like Abbie Hoffman!

This guy is no bum. He's a college freshman who is working hard for his education, and someday he will amount to something. He's the kind of guy my folks want me to go with, except for the fact that he belongs to this minority group which my parents despise.

I hate to lie and sneak around to see him, because I am really proud of him, but my folks are so bigoted and prejudiced it's unbelievable.

Altho he likes me a lot, he has never let our relationship get out of hand, if you know what I mean. His folks like me and I like them, but there is no way I can get my folks to agree to letting me go with him. Can you help me?

PARENT PROBLEMS

DEAR PROBLEMS: At age 16, your relationships are your parents' concern, and advice from a third party, unless sought by both sides, is out of order. I think your parents are unfair to judge a person without meeting him, but unfortunately until you are old enough to do as you wish, you will have to play by their rules. Time will solve your problem.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please settle an argument? How should I introduce my father's second wife? I introduced her as "my father's wife." My roommate contends that this is poor taste and I should have introduced the woman as "my mother." Since I was raised by my mother who is still very much alive and well, I think it would be a slight to her. Please advise me.

WHOSE DAUGHTER [?]

DEAR DAUGHTER: Your roommate flunked this one. You will always be your mother's daughter regardless of who your father's wife is.

Under the circumstances you introduced the woman properly. If your father's wife had reared you, and you addressed her as "Mother," then she should be properly introduced as "my mother."

DEAR ABBY: That lady who says her husband can't hear without his glasses can relax. He's not crazy.

Many near-sighted people who have worn glasses for a long time depend upon lip-reading and facial expressions in order to "hear," and without their glasses they can't see the speaker clearly enough to catch what he's saying. It happens to me all the time.

MRS. MYOPIA

DEAR ABBY: I'll bet I know why that man can't "hear" when he takes his glasses off. His hearing aid is in the frames!

Averting Open Confrontation?

The Universities board of governors' decision to turn the ECU second year of medical school question over to a study committee is being interpreted as a move to avoid an open confrontation.

Ned Cline, writer with the Greensboro Daily News, saw the move as one which "could avert any open confrontation over the future of a two-year medical school at East Carolina University."

"The Committee (board of governors) unanimously agreed to the appointment of a committee to study the ECU med school question—and most probably iron out any political or regional disagreements—before making a recommendation to the full board," Cline wrote.

The 32-man board of governors was chosen from the trustees of the various institutions of higher learning in the state and is has been operating as a planning committee since. It will officially become the board of governors on July 1 and from then on it will have full control of all the state's universities.

Gov. Scott is chairman of the board through his term and it will fall to him to name the committee which will study the second year of physician training at ECU.

Naming a committee to study the matter appears to be the best way for the board of governors to handle it. If the committee is fair,—and we believe one appointed by Gov. Scott will be—it will see the logic of expanding the present one year program to two years.

It has been documented that increasing the number of students and adding the second year will actually decrease the cost of training per student. Also the addition of the second year is but another step in the entire field of health care training which has been building at East Carolina University for a number of years.

Finally the medical school's location at ECU places it in the best possible location to serve the largest area of the state and the optimum number of Tar Heels.

North Carolina legislators have been convinced on three different occasions that the development of a medical school at ECU was in the best interest of the state. We feel that a fair minded committee and ultimately the full board of governors will see the need for adding the second year of medical school, when the facts are properly presented.

Golf Is Part Of N.C. Scene

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH — Golf and North Carolina go together like variety and vacationland.

Once a pastime of the rich, the game now gives year-round pleasure to natives of means modest or ample and serves as a compelling attraction for a growing stream of visitors.

Recognition of golf's importance to the travel economy is "North Carolina, Golf State, U.S.A.," a new publication from the state's Smallwood, author of the golf history included in the new brochure.

Smallwood is managing editor of The Greensboro Daily News and a dedicated golfing enthusiast.

How It Began

"There is some question about when and where golf first made the Tar Heel scene," Smallwood related.

"Legend has it that a pioneer resident of Fayetteville was observed swatting at a feather ball in a field near town in 128, although this is more than 150 years ahead of the recognized debut of the game in the U.S. Some say the first North Carolina course was built at the now-defunct resort of Hot Springs up in Madison County around 1894. Others say it was about the same time near the site of the present Highland Country Club in Fayetteville. Still another report says it was the Asheville Golf Club in 1893.

"No matter, really, for the single most important occurrence in the history of golf in North Carolina was not the construction of the first course. It was the arrival in 1895 of James W. Tufts to take possession of 5,000 acres of cut-over sandhills timberland he had purchased at a dollar an acre.

Pinehurst Started It All

"This was the birth of Pinehurst, which now, three quarters of a century later, is recognized as one of the great centers of golf in the world."

Pinehurst provided the facilities to stimulate an early interest in golf in North Carolina. More important, it attracted the people.

Donald Ross came from Scotland in 1900 as the resort's golf professional. He became this country's premier golf course architect. By the time of his death in 1948, Ross had designed some 600 courses across the nation.

"When the visitor to Pinehurst today winds his way among the stately pines for a round of golf," wrote Smallwood, "he is walking the same ground once covered by nearly all of the game's immortals — Walter Travis, (Harry) Vardon, Chick Evans, Bobby Jones, Francis Ouimet ... across the years to Hagen, Sarazen, Nelson Hogan, Snead, Palmer, Nicklaus, et al."

From the Sandhills, golf rapidly spread the length and breadth of the state. The golfer today can play a course lapped by the waters of the Atlantic Ocean, over the rolling terrain of the Piedmont, or a mile in the sky of the western mountains.

travel and promotion division. Illustrated with color photographs, it includes a history of golf in North Carolina and lists the approximately 330 courses from coast to mountains.

While it is impossible to isolate the dollars golfing accounts for in the $850 million annual travel income, it clearly ranks among the top factors, said Charles Heatherly, editor for the publication.

There are significant spin-off values. National television coverage of major tournaments played in Tarhella, Heatherly explained, "give us favorable exposure you couldn't buy for any price."

Too, when the Dad of the tourist family is out on the green, Mom and the kids are apt to be shopping for crafts, swimming, or otherwise stimulating the local economy.

Slogan Fits Facts

The title for the publication fits the facts. North Carolina has more golf courses than any Southern state except Florida. Tournaments with purses valued at more than $700,000 each year bring the best players to the state.

"Geographically, topographically, climatically — North Carolina appears to have been designed by St. Andrew himself as a golfing state."

That observation was made more than 30 years ago by O. B. Keeler, a legendary golf journalist. The years since have enhanced rather than dimmed the judgment.

What makes it so is the combination of quantity, quality and variety of courses plus a rich heritage in the game," wrote Irwin

George Passed Platform Test

By ROWLANE EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — The surrealistic harmony enveloping the Democratic Platform Committee concluding its work at Washington's Mayflower Hotel Tuesday afternoon was typified by a paenegyric in praise of Lyndon B. Johnson delivered by the Rev. Joseph Duffey of Connecticut, a militant member of the 1968 dump-LBJ movement.

"President Johnson did more domestically in a short period of time than any other President," erstwhile LBJ-hater Duffey told the committee. What's more, Duffey, as chief platform whip for Sen. George McGovern, was rounding up votes against a move to expunge Johnson's name from the platform. He succeeded. The McGovern-dominated committee overwhelmingly rejected the effort.

That would have been inconceivable when Platform Committee members arrived here Saturday in a pugnaciously independent mood. For McGovern's lieutenants just four days later to control fervent anti-war activists enough to vote praise for Lyndon Johnson is a measure of the amiability and unobtrusive discipline imposed by McGovern.

This week's platform drafting must be judged in that light. Although it could have been much worse, the platform substantively does give President Nixon ammunition on amnesty for Vietnam draft-dodgers, school-busing and other issues. What could be more important, however, is McGovern's control over his delegates to establish a facade of party harmony. Whatever chaos lies ahead in Miami Beach, McGovern passed his test of drafting a platform.

The brief furor over the LBK amendment showed this. The amendment praising "domestic progress and enlightened internationalism" of Johnson, among other Democratic Presidents, was drafted by Ben Wattenberg, platform adviser to Sen. Henry M. Jackson and onetime LBJ speechwriter. During Monday night's marathon session, it slipped into the platform.

By Tuesday morning, rank-and-file McGovernites realized they had implicitly endorsed LBJ policies—perhaps even the Vietnam war. Deeply alarmed, they prepared to remove the amendment and probably had the votes but only after a predictably rancorous televised debate against party regulars.

The foresight of Ted Van Dyk, McGovern's platform coordinator, paid off. He had made sure McGovern delegates were not seated together but scattered through the room, preventing emotional solidarity among them. By Tuesday afternoon, moreover, the unbossed McGovern amateurs had become accustomed to bossing from staffers.

So, on the motion to expunge Johnson, Van Dyk gave the high sign to Duffey for a "no" vote. Duffey, in turn, grabbed the floor mike to praise Johnson. In the show of hands, less than ten opposed the McGovern line.

What made this possible was quiet educational work with McGovern delegates by Van Dyk, Duffey and other McGovern operatives. Lacking formal disciplinary powers, they could only lecture fervidly devoted McGovern delegates that a platform containing their own views would only insure President Nixon's reelection. In other words, the McGovern delegates scarcely represent a cross-section of the Democratic Party, much less the nation, and, consequently, should sublimate their own far-out opinions.

The effectiveness of these instructions became apparent in the small hours Tuesday morning during an emotional struggle over abortion. McGovern's lieutenants would have preferred no abortion plank at all but were being coerced by women's lib forces to do something or else. So, McGovern backed a compromise plank by actress Shirley MacLaine, a California delegate and McGovern insider.

Just Keep The Change

WASHINGTON—My friend Duncan is worried: "There is too much loose talk in this country lately about billions of dollars. Not very long ago, we talked about millions of dollars, but all of a sudden we lapsed into billions. No self-respecting politician now will ever mention a million when a billion will do."

"I guess," I told Duncan, "for the average person it doesn't make much difference. He's never seen a million dollars, and he's never seen a billion. As far as he's concerned they're interchangeable."

"That's just the point, no one has ever seen a billion dollars," Duncan said. "Not one of the men who has ever asked for a billion knows what it looks like. He rolls it off his tongue like he's talking about a dozen eggs. Until the people in power know what a billion dollars is, they will never stop playing with the taxpayers' money."

"But what's the solution?" I asked.

"I believe a law should be passed that says anyone in the government who asks for money for a project that costs over a billion dollars must personally count it by hand."

"You're out of your mind."

Duncan."

"For example," he said, "suppose Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird says he wants $10 billion for 10 new Trident submarines. Good. We tell him he can have it, but he must take it in cash. Laird must go to a bank with

Other Editors Say Broader Inspection

(Raleigh Times)

A broader state automobile inspection program would be a real favor for all concerned—the owner of the car inspected and the occupants of all other cars which use the same highway.

This was proved in a special study which has just been completed under the direction of Rolin R. Barrett and John K. Whitfield of N.C. State University for the Governor's Highway Safety Program. The study showed many things, not the least of which was the fact that a third of the 4000 vehicles given the special inspection had unsatisfactory brake linings. It's hard to imagine anything which could be more dangerous than bad brakes.

Yet under the present state inspection system, brake linings aren't checked. Brakes are checked by the simple process of pushing them down. But, this process doesn't indicate whether the brake lining is so worn that it could fail to function the next time the brakes are applied. Only inspection of the lining itself could show that it is badly worn.

Dr. Barrett, who directed the study, would like to see the next legislature enact an inspection law to include checks of 47 pieces of vehicle equipment, as compared with the eight which are presently checked. Such an expanded program, he feels, would give North Carolina one of the best inspection programs in the country.

The cost of the proposed inspection program would be about $4.50, Dr. Barrett says. But, he adds, "You would pay twice as much, but you would get five times as much. It would be worthwhile."

It would indeed be worthwhile, to everyone concerned. The owner of the car being inspected would know exactly what his vehicle needed to be put into safe operating condition. He could have the defects corrected and know that he had done all possible to bring the vehicle up to standard.

There would be opposition to the higher charge of $4.50. But, the legislators should be willing to take this step toward greater highway safety despite opposition.

The North Carolina inspection law has been expanded little by little since Governor Moore secured passage of the measure during his term of office. Each expansion has strengthened the program. The 1973 General assembly should go all the way and approve a really good inspection program.

a hit from Congress and present it to the cashier. The cashier will hand it over to him in tens and twenties, and he will be required to make sure it is the correct amount.

"After Laird finishes counting it, the Joint Chiefs of Staff would have to count it to make sure he didn't make a mistake. If Laird made a mistake he would have to count it all over again."

"He'd have his work cut out for him," I said.

"Yes. And, whenever the President figures out how much money he will need to run the country, Brink's trucks would bring it over to the White House in sacks and the President's wife and family could start counting in the upstairs quarters."

"I believe if a President saw his wife wearing green eye shades, sitting on the floor of the Lincoln bedroom counting billions of dollars, it would have a very sobering effect on him."

"Duncan, you have proposed a very radical solution, but I must admit it does have merit."

"I think," he said, "that once we start giving out our appropriations in cash instead of checks, a new era of fiscal responsibility will be upon us. All we have to say to the people in charge is, 'If you want the money—count it.' And you'll see how fast all this loose talk about billions comes to a halt."

Parley Up To Hanoi

By LEWIS GULICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — In reviving the Paris peace talks, President Nixon is vague about what evidence he may have that Hanoi will change its stand on the war.

Nixon told newsmen Thursday night that "we will return to the negotiating table" July 12 "on the assumption that the North Vietnamese are prepared to negotiate in a constructive and serious way."

But when asked "what took you back to the Paris peace table?" he said it would not be useful to indicate what has taken place in various diplomatic discussions.

It is enough, he stated, to say that both sides considered it in their interests and "we thought there was a chance" for negotiating progress.

However, he acknowledged "we have been disappointed in the past" with "no significant results" from 149 meetings in the Paris parley begun 3½ years ago.

Nixon may have had in mind, most recently, his April 26 announcement of resumption of the Paris sessions "with the firm expectation that productive talks leading to rapid progress will follow through all available channels."

But, after two public sessions April 27 and May 4 and a May 2 secret meeting between presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger and North Vietnam's Le Duc Tho, Nixon reported that "all we heard from the enemy was bombastic rhetoric and a replaying of their demand for surrender."

Administration sources have been saying that North Vietnam now is reviewing its policy, as evidenced by the return from Paris to Hanoi of Politburo member Le Duc Tho and chief negotiator Xuan Thuy.

These sources say that: —North Vietnam's all-out spring offensive has failed to collapse the Saigon government or even to hold on to much of the South.

—Moscow and Peking are displeased with Hanoi's heavy-

GOD SPEAKS TO BUSY PEOPLE

It is interesting to note how often in the Bible God is pictured as giving some great commission to men busily employed at some humble task. Moses was tending sheep in Midian when God called to him out of the burning bush. David was tending sheep also when called to take the crown. Gideon was treading the wine press when the angel of the Lord came to summon him to a great responsibility. Elisha was plowing when God touched him with the spirit of eloquence and power. Andrew, Peter, James and John were fishing when the Master came with the promise to make them fishers of men.

A very popular writer has prophesied that the day will come when the human race will have but few tasks to perform and can then turn from work, which degrades, to the right and creative use of leisure, which elevates. What nonsense! There is a place for leisure in every well-regulated life, but man finds his salvation more often in work than in play.

If God cannot speak to you in the office, there is little likelihood that He will find you in a receptive state of mind in the church. If He does not reveal Himself to you on the street, there is little to be expected from a sojourn in the sanctuary.

Language Betrays Wall Street

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Wall Street's efforts at selling itself to the public are being betrayed, a distinguished securities official has charged. The traitor: the language.

Wall Street's vocabulary is, so to speak, the language of the street. It is unique, quaint, mysterious, slangy. And, in the opinion of Leon Kendall, "it binds our thought processes."

Kendall is president of the Securities Industry Association, a trade group that represents many of the large stock market firms. As he sees it, street talk reveals more about the user than it communicates to the listener.

"The customer can have a round lot or an odd lot," says Kendall. "He can have a Big Board stock or perhaps an over-the-counter stock. If he's lucky, maybe even a hot issue."

"If he's a little more sophisticated, perhaps we can offer him a put or a call, strips, straps, straddles, spreads, or maybe a discretionary account."

"Of course, if he's looking for growth, we're likely to just offer him ordinary common stocks, certainly not preferred stock. Perhaps we might talk to him about mutual funds."

"Here he can have an open end fund or a closed end fund, or maybe even those one-time wonders the dual-vest funds. Whatever the type, he will be offered the load fund or the no-load fund, or perhaps a front-end load fund."

The vocabulary of Wall

Street is spoken swiftly and with assurance that only those who should know will understand.

Naturally enough, a member of the buying public seldom dares to penetrate this world lest he be revealed by a foolish question. Language of that sort is meant to discourage questions. Some of it can be traced back to the day when the public wasn't needed. Now it is.

Kendall reminded a recent marketing meeting of the New York stock exchange that a poor vocabulary not only limits the capacity to think, but more importantly, it limits the ability to pick up new business.

"What do we do about it?" he asked. And he answered: "Get a new language."

Not every word need be changed, he said, "but every word should be systematically examined to determine if it is consistent with the tenets of good marketing communications."

He then proposed formation of a professional marketing committee to explore the words used in dealing with the public. Needed, he said, are "new, fresh, positive, descriptive, modern terms."

That would be the beginning. "When a successful new vocabulary is developed, it will take reprogramming of our salesmen, our operations people, even our owners and managers to implement it. It may even take law changes."

Then, presumably, the public will understand, and that conceivably could be the next crisis facing Wall Street.

noticed that the Van Dyk-Duffey apparatus was not all that aggressive pushing the MacLaine plank. They also listened closely to floor arguments that any platform mention of abortion would cripple McGovern. "You would kill it if you had any kind of political sense," argued State Rep. Harout Sanasarian of Wisconsin, a McGovern delegate. They did, and the McGovern camp could not have been happier.

Such pragmatism ended with endorsement of a busing plank and no retreat on amnesty. Moreover, what McGovern accomplished with 15 platform committee members will be much harder with 3,01 delegates. Nor does the facade of amiability mean true unity. "We got along just fine with the McGovern people, but I think we'll all end up voting for Nixon," a delegate for Gov. George C. Nevertheless, the platform process was far from the self-destructive nightmare party regulars expected. It was not the first surprise by McGovern's skillful weapons, conventional-warfare assault, and Hanoi is unhappy with the lack of more forceful Soviet and Chinese support in the face of the new U.S. bombing and mining of North Vietnam.

—The U.S. air and sea attacks are effectively curbing North Vietnam's outside supplies and severely damaging her war potential internally.

They note, too, that Nixon took up the Vietnam issue in Moscow, that Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny has just been to Hanoi and Kissinger to Peking.

Yet, as late as last Saturday, both Kissinger and Secretary of State William P. Rogers were reporting—as Kissinger put it—that "we have not yet had any clear indication . . . that the North Vietnamese were interested in serious negotiations."

When Nixon first broke off the weekly Paris sessions March 23 on grounds they were being used by the enemy mainly as a propaganda forum, the United States set forth these terms for a resumption:

—Indication of Hanoi interest in "serious discussion," or —whenever the United States felt it would be useful to discuss particular subjects.

As for the U.S. position on a settlement, Nixon Thursday reaffirmed his offer for a U.S. pullout in four months provided the enemy agrees to a cease-fire and return of American prisoners.

Hanoi has spurned this offer to date.

And Nixon specifically rejected negotiating for a coalition government in Saigon. A central enemy demand has been replacement of the Thieu regime.

Women Rocking Religious World

By GEORGE CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The drive for women's rights is rocking the religious world. Not only are women gaining new ground in church administration and the Protestant ministry, but they've won a foothold in the Jewish rabbinate, are pressing for the Catholic priesthood and some hope this summer to elect the first Methodist bishop.

They've even stirred theological rethinking about the "gender" of God.

The image of an "exclusively He-God" has been used for sexual oppression, writes Catholic theologian Mary Daly of Boston College in a recent issue of Commonweal. She adds that getting rid of the primitively instilled view of a "masculine divinity" may bring a more authentic language of transcendence for God.

Although Judeo-Christian theology always has recognized that God transcends sex or other human objectification, some thinkers suggest that the concept, in human understanding, might better be as both "father-mother".

In the arena of church officialdom, the possibility that there might soon be a "Madam Bishop" turned up in advance of a heavy concentration of episcopal elections scheduled in July in the United Methodist Church.

"We look forward to the very real possibility of electing a woman a bishop," says Carleen Waller, of Nashville, Tenn., a woman's caucus leader.

At the United Methodist Church's recent governing convention, it ordered all "male oriented" language removed from its Book of Discipline, specifically in regard to the office of bishop.

Other current developments on the women's religious front include:

—For the first time in American Judaism, a woman, Sally Priesand, was ordained a rabbi in June, after completing studies at Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion in Cincinnati.

—Several denominations are pushing new policies to increase the proportion of women on executive staffs. The Christian Churches (Disciples), which originally set a goal of one-half women officials, recently cut that to one-third for practical reasons.

—A joint consultative unit of Roman Catholic, Presbyterian and Reformed scholars has urged that women be given "full and equal participation" at all levels of church decision making and power, and that they be admitted to ordination. At the urging of women's groups, a committee of the U.S. Catholic bishops is studying whether the priesthood should be open to women.

—The New York diocesan convention of the Episcopal Church urged it to admit women to its priesthood. It is expected to act on the issue next year.

Already, several women have been ordained as Episcopal deacons, the first stage of the priesthood.

Driver Injured In Car Collision

Peyton Tunstall Anthony, 29, of 114B North Meade St. was reported injured when the car he was driving collided with another vehicle about 12:40 p.m. yesterday on Tenth Street, 250 feet West of the Greenville Boulevard intersection.

Police, who identified the driver of the second vehicle involved as Jesse Thomas Williams, 44, of 300 Oxford Rd., set damage to the Anthony vehicle at $125 and damage to the Williams car at $200.

Williams was charged with failing to reduce his speed enough to avoid an accident.

Reconsider Phone Rates

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Utilities Commission has been told to reconsider its 1971 decision giving Southern Bell Telephone Co. only $13.3 million of the $23 million rate hike which the firm was seeking.

The order came Thursday from the state Court of Appeals. The court said the commission erred in not considering the cost of replacing Bell's North Carolina investment in determining the utility's fair value rate base.

The company contended during almost two weeks of rate hearings last summer that the replacement cost was $44.6 million.

The court did not rule on Southern Bell's contention that the 7.4 per cent rate of return on its investment set by the commission was too low.

The court said that on the basis of the rate of return could be determined "only after the fair value rate base is correctly ascertained."

Ford Recalling 4 Million Cars

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co., in its biggest safety recall campaign to date, has called back 4.04 million vehicles to replace two shoulder belt grommets that cost only pennies apiece.

According to P.E. Benton Jr., Ford's customer service division general manager, a small percentage of the grommets, which fit on the stud that attaches the shoulder harness to the lap belt, have broken with repeated usage.

Breakage prevents the user from clicking the harness into a locked position, but the company said Thursday that no reports have been received of injuries because of this problem.

The campaign covers all the company's 1970 and 1971 model passenger cars except convertibles and 1970 Mavericks. To correct the problem, Ford and Lincoln-Mercury dealers will replace each plastic front seat shoulder belt grommet with neoprene "O" ring retainers.

Ford said that on the basis of a small number of earlier complaints the company converted to "O" rings on its 1972 model cars instead of grommets. The earlier complaints at the time were believed to be isolated cases, the company said.

Try Again To Free Vessel

MOREHEAD CITY, N.C. (AP) — Tugs and Coast Guard cutters tried again today to free the freighter President Adams, aground since Wednesday night with 25 to 30 persons and a containerized cargo aboard.

Coast Guard Cmdr. Dwayne P. Gatto said the freighter, 530 feet long and 9,000 gross tons, was resting in about 13 feet of water two miles south of the Cape Lookout lighthouse. He added that the vessel, owned by the American President Line of San Francisco, was in no danger while the weather remained good, and that she did not appear to have been damaged in the grounding about 9:30 p.m. Wednesday as she headed in from the Atlantic toward Morehead City.

Gatto is commander of the cutter Laurel, out of the Fort Macon Coast Guard Station across Bogue Sound from Morehead City.

He said barges had been called to help take fuel from the President Adams to lighten her.

The Laurel and the tug Socrates were unable to free the President Adams in rather rough seas Thursday.

Two more Coast Guard cutters, the Cherokee out of Portsmouth, Va., and the Chilula out of Fort Macon, were available today to help.

Watkins Becomes Rotary President

Kenneth M. Watkins became Greenville Rotary Club president for 1972-73, succeeding Dr. C. Fred Irons in this office, as a part of Monday evening's program during which five new members of the Rotary Club were inducted.

The new inductees are Phillip Carroll, E. E. "Butch" Grubbs, Joseph Laney, John Thomas, and Dr. Robert Timmons. Informal ceremonies followed the address by Past District Governor James W. Butler, in which Dr. Charles Gilbert John R. Farley, John A. Guy, Bancroft Moseley, and C. Edward Smith, Jr. participated.

Retiring President Irons summarized the Greenville Rotary Club activities during the past year and installed his successor into office. On behalf of the Greenville Rotary Club, Bancroft Moseley, chairman of the club's music committee, presented a silver tray to Mrs. Paul A. Toll, club president for 26 years. President Watkins announced that Major General Ferd L. Davis, adjutant of the State of North Carolina, will address the Greenville Rotary Club at its first meeting of the Rotary year on Monday, July 3.

Committee assignments will be announced at an early date, says President Watkins who has a membership of more than 20 years in Rotary, the past 11 of which have been in Greenville where he is manager of the Blount-Harvey Company, leading department store of this area.

this arrangement is desired and is feasible for the citizens of Pitt County, we will in the near future recommend that the Pitt Technical Institute's Board of Trustees contract with the Board of Trustees of Lenoir Community College to offer one year of college work on our campus," said Stokes.

"In essence, this means that Lenoir Community College would jointly appoint the faculty who would be teaching in the program, provide supervision and maintain records of students enrolled. Pitt Technical Institute would pay all instructional costs and would be eligible to receive funds from the state to pay for such a program."

Stokes further added, "I must again emphasize that no action has been taken relative to this matter, but upon complete investigation of the need and resources to accommodate such a program, the committee will formulate its recommendations."

In the formulation of its recommendations, any agencies, groups or individuals will be given an opportunity to express their opinions, Stokes noted.

Rocky Mount Knocks Greenville Off Top

If You Can't Go Around, Go Over

Cars normally run on the ground, adhering to the law of gravity. But in Monza, Italy, Thursday, "Long John" flew over Roberto Filanino of Italy during the Formula Italia car race. "Long John" (his real name is unknown), also from Italy, and Filanino escaped injury. (AP Wirephoto)

ROCKY MOUNT — Rocky Mount moved back into first place in the Area II American League standings with a 4-0 victory over Greenville last night.

The loss was the third of the season in conference action for Greenville, which is now 7-3 in the loop. Rocky Mount has lost only two games.

The two teams meet again tonight at 7:30 p.m. at Harrington Field in Greenville, and a Greenville win is a must if the locals are to capture first place in the standings. It is the final game prior to the start of the playoffs, which begin July 5.

Larry Daughtridge held the Greenville club in check most of the way. He allowed only three hits, while walking five and striking out 12.

Greenville didn't get a man on until the third when Randy McKinney led off with a walk. He was sacrificed to second to become the first runner in scoring position, but he was unable to advance.

Greenville's first good chance came in the sixth. Bill Lee led off with a bunt single, the first hit of the game for Greenville, and Dale Manning followed with a 'hit to right, Lee moved to third and on the relay to home, Manning moved on to second. Phil Blount walked to load them up, but with two outs, the next batter fanned, ending the threat.

Greenville threatened again in the eighth. Robert Brinkley beat out a bunt for the final Greenville hit, and Lee walked. But a fielder's choice got Brinkley going to third and the rally died there.

One last chance came in the ninth. Johnny Barwick walked and McKinney also drew a free ticket. Rocky Mount tried to pick off McKinney from first, and Barwick broke for third on the play, but was cut down sliding into the bag on the relay.

Rocky Mount threatened in the first, when Ray Davis walked and stole second, but it ended there. They also got a second inning threat when Terry Leonard opened with a double, but got no further.

But in the third, Rocky Mount pushed over a run. Ricky Bullock singled and stole second. Randy Warrick walked and Sonny Wooten reached on an error, scoring Bullock from second base for a 1-0 lead.

They added another in the fourth. Leonard singled and Howard McCullough reached on a bunt single. Jim Lewis, attempting to sacrifice reached on an error, and Leonard came from second on the play to score.

After another threat, from a walk and a single, in the fifth, Rocky Mount pushed over its final two in the sixth. McCullough walked and was sacrificed up. Tommy Warrick singled and Daughtridge walked. Bullock followed with a single, scoring both McCullough and Warrick. Rocky Mount also got one more threat, in the seventh, as Leonard reached on a fielder's choice and McCullough walked, but they scored no more runs.

Following the end of the regular season this weekend, the five area teams will be seeded into the playoffs, beginning next week. Seedings will be based on their finish during the regular season.

Pepsi-Cola Takes Pair Of Wins From Moose; Takes Tar Heel Title

Pepsi-Cola captured the Tar Heel Little League championship yesterday, sweeping a pair of games from the Moose. They won the conclusion of a protested game, 12-7, then took the regularly scheduled contest, 9-4.

The wins boosted the Pepsi-Cola record to 12-2 for the year, leaving only one game left. The Graniteers, in second, were eliminated from the race, wrapping it up. The Moose, losing, fell off to the bottom of the fifth inning with the Moose coming to bat and holding a 5-4 lead. They were unable to score, and Pepsi came up with two runs in the top of the sixth to take the lead.

The runs came after two were out. Mark Shank singled and McDonald Avery cracked a home run, giving Pepsi a 6-5 lead.

The Moose came right back with a run, a homer by William Brewington to tie it up and force extra innings.

In the top of the seventh, however, Pepsi came up with six runs to put it away. Michael Shank reached on an error and Steve McClanahan singled. A passed ball scored Shank and Tim Eubanks singled in McClanahan. Danny Carmen walked and Stuart Bowman singled. Avery singled in both Eubanks and Carmen, and Perry Worthington reached on an error, scoring Bowman and Avery with the final runs.

The Moose tried to get a rally going in the bottom of the frame. Scott Peele singled and David Kirk got a hit. They moved up on a passed ball and Mickey Finn reached on an error, scoring Peele, but the rally died there.

took second on a passed ball. He scored when Farmer doubled, making it 4-0.

But Pepsi put on a rally there, scoring nine runs in the bottom of the frame to get the win. Mark Shank singled and Avery reached on a fielder's choice. Worthington singled and Michael Shanks singled in Mark Shank. John Coffman singled over Avery and Worthington, and Eubanks singled. Carmen reached on a fielder's choice, getting Michael Shank at home, but passed balls brought the three baserunners around to score. Mickey McGrath reached on an error and Mark Shank did too. Avery doubled them in and Worthington reached on an error, scoring Shank and Avery with the final runs. Michael Shank and Coffman each had two hits to lead Pepsi, while Farmer had two to pace the Moose.

Harbin's In City Victory

Harbin's gained a 7-3 victory over Parker's last night in the lone City Softball League game played. In the Church Softball League, Presbyterian took a forfeit victory over First Christian.

Harbin's pushed over a run in the second to take the lead, but Parker's came back with two in the third to move ahead.

Then, in the top of the fourth, Harbin's pushed over five to wrap it up. D. Holton singled and K. Harbin got a hit. B. Alligood and B. Phillips each singled and B. Byrd got a hit. D. Bumgarner tripled to drive in the runs, giving Harbin's a 6-2 lead.

They added one more in the seventh, while Parker's got one more in the bottom of the fourth.

Bucs Are Rained Out

Bill Godwin lost a home run last night, but he didn't mind at all.

Godwin, the East Carolina University hurler, had given up a home run to Louisburg's Wayne Pyrtle in the top of the first with one on to give the Hurricanes a 2-0 lead over the Bucs.

But before the required five innings of play could be finished, the game was washed out by the heavy rains which fell last night.

The game will be replayed on Monday, July 10, at 7:30 p.m. at Harrington Field.

Merchants Appreciation Night, sponsored by the Greenville Chamber of Commerce, was rescheduled for the next home game, Tuesday against Wilmington.

Errors Cost Dodgers Loss To Houston; Cincinnati Is Beaten

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

For the Los Angeles Dodgers fans in the audience today, there is some good news and there is some bad news.

First, the good news. The Dodgers are cutting their fielding errors. They made five boobos three games ago but reduced that total to three on Thursday.

Now, the bad news. They're still losing ball games in the field.

Ninth inning errors by Bobby Valentine and Steve Garvey delivered a gift run that tied Thursday's game for Houston and then Bob Watson rifled a single for two more runs and an 8-6 victory for the Astros, who moved to within one-half game of first place Cincinnati in the National League's West Division.

In other NL action Thursday, San Francisco edged Cincinnati 3-2, Philadelphia ripped New York 9-4, Pittsburgh shut out Montreal 9-0, St. Louis topped Chicago 4-2 and San Diego out-slugged Atlanta 8-6.

In the American League, New York nipped Baltimore 4-3, Milwaukee dropped Cleveland 3-1, Detroit knocked off Boston 8-4, California routed Texas 12-4, Chicago split a doubleheader with Oakland, winning 4-0 before losing 3-1, and Kansas City swept a pair from Minnesota 5-3 and 12-4.

The Dodgers wiped out an early 5-1 Houston lead, tying the score on Jim Lefebvre's three-run pinch homer in the sixth inning. Then, Los Angeles took the lead on Garvey's homer in the bottom of the eighth.

That's when the Astros played a dirty trick on the Dodgers. They started hitting the ball to Garvey instead of pitching it to him.

Norm Miller opened the Astro ninth with a pinch single and Jim Brewer relieved for the Dodgers. One out later, Cesar Cedeno, who had a two-run homer earlier, grounded to Garvey. The third baseman's throw got by Valentine, covering second, for an error and Miller wind up on third base and Cedeno at second.

Next, Jim Wynn bounced another grounder to Garvey and this time, the third baseman threw the ball away himself, allowing Miller to score the tying run. Cedeno stopped at third and Wynn wound up at second.

That was all the help the Astros needed. Watson followed with his two-run single, giving Houston the victory.

Jim Barr spaced eight hits against Cincinnati and helped build San Francisco's winning run with a seventh-inning sacrifice.

Tito Fuentes opened the Giants' eighth with a single and moved up on Barr's bunt. Then hot-hitting Chris Speier lined a single to left, delivering Funes with the winning run, Speier's single was his 14th hit in the last six games.

Barr's only rough spot came in the fourth inning when Johnny Bench and Tony Perez ripped consecutive pitches for home runs. The homers were Bench's 20th and Perez' 12th.

In the East Division, Pittsburgh opened its lead to one game over New York. The Pirates rode Nellie Briles' three-hit pitching to an easy victory over Montreal while the Mets bowed to a 17-hit Philadelphia attack.

Briles permitted only three singles—all of them by Boots Day—in disposing of the Expos. He also contributed an RBI-single to the Pittsburgh attack which was paced by Richie Hebner's three-run homer.

Steve Carlton tamed the Mets on seven hits and struck out 13, but he had to throw 171 pitches after surviving a shaky start.

The Phillies pounded 17 hits against four Met pitchers with Greg Luzinski and Larry Bowa collecting three apiece and Don Money and Bill Robinson tagging home runs. Even Carlton had a pair of hits including a clutch two-run single that gave Philadelphia the lead for keeps in the fifth inning.

St. Louis rallied for all its runs in the sixth inning to beat Chicago. Ron Santo's two-out error permitted the Cards' winning run to score.

Burt Hooton was working on a 2-0 one-hitter and had retired 13 batters in order before Rick Wise opened the Cardinals' sixth with a broken-bat single.

Lou Brock, hitting safely in his 15th consecutive game, doubled Wise to third and the pitcher scored on an infield out. One out later, Joe Torre singled the tying run home and after Ted Simmons followed with another hit, Santo booted Jose Cruz' hopper, allowing Torre to score St. Louis' lead run.

Rookie Dave Roberts cracked four hits including his first major league homer and Leron Lee drove in three runs as San Diego whipped Atlanta.

Henry Aaron had his 15th homer of the season and No. 654 of his career for the Braves, leaving him 60 behind Babe Ruth' record 714.

Value and Kinston was rained out.

The victory leaves Little Mint with a 10-1 record, while Moore-King-Sullivan is now 5-7. No details of the game were available.

McLain Traded To Atlanta For Cepeda; He's Glad To Be Back

ATLANTA (AP) — "Armwise, weightwise, controlwise and mindwise, I'm back in the groove," says Denny McLain.

And today McLain also is back in the Major Leagues.

"I am happy as hell. It's super," said McLain Thursday when informed that the Oakland A's of the American League, which sent the pitcher to the minors five weeks ago, had traded him to the Atlanta Braves of the National League.

"I hear they (Atlanta) need pitchers," he said from Birmingham. "And if that's what they need, I'll do it for them. All I want is a fair shot at the big league again."

The deal also sent Orlando Cepeda, a $95,000 a year first baseman for the Braves, to Oakland for an undisclosed amount of cash and the right to purchase McLain.

McLain, a 31-game winner in 1968 for the Detroit Tigers, had early season problems at Oakland and, with a 1-2 record and a 6.05 earned run average, was sent to Birmingham of the Southern League. He had a 3-3 mark with a 6.32 ERA there.

McLain reports to the Atlanta squad tonight at Houston where the Braves are playing the Astros.

Cepeda, who has played 14 seasons in the National League with San Francisco, St. Louis and Atlanta, said he was happy to be going to Oakland. "It's a challenge and you can't look back."

The 34-year-old Puerto Rico native, who won the National League's MVP award in 1967, walked out on the Braves two weeks ago and was suspended for two days. Upset because he wasn't playing, Cepeda asked to be traded or released.

Cepeda, a .298 lifetime hitter with the pros, has a .296 batting record this year with four home runs and nine runs batted in.

McLain, who owns a 128-86 major league lifetime pitching record, has had his problems since the glory days of 1968-69 when he won two Cy Young Awards. He was also the league's Most Valuable Player in 1968.

The 28-year-old right-hander filed for bankruptcy and then was suspended for one-half a season in 1970 by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn for allegedly carrying a gun. With a 3-5 record in Detroit in 1970, he was traded to Washington, where he posted a 10-22 chart last year.

In March, he was traded to Oakland, and last month he was shipped to the minors.

After being bombed for 16 runs in his first two Southern League starts, he settled down to win three games.

What ham did for Virginia, Old Crow did for Bourbon.

Even before Virginia's George Washington became President, Virginia was famous for the good taste of her country hams. Not long after, the good taste of Old Crow made Bourbon famous.

Before 1835, Bourbon was made every which way. That year, Dr. James Crow took it out of the hit-or-miss league and created the process that gave Bourbon its mellow taste and good name: Old Crow.

Arrest Boys Wallace Supporters For Break-In Could Go To Court

Four teenagers, including one juvenile, were arrested early this morning by Greenville police, after they allegedly forced their way into a service station and took about $200 worth of motor parts.

Police Chief Glenn Cannon said those charged included Ronald Langley, 17, of 411 West Roundtree Dr.; James Everett Edwards, 16, and Leroy Perkins, 16, both of 119 West 16th St.; and a 14-year-old boy.

Cannon said the four were taken into custody about 2:20 a.m. after a break-in was discovered at the Evans Street Texaco service station at 1:03 a.m.

The four allegedly forced their way into a side window and took $196 worth of motor parts from the building.

The four were arrested at 119 West 16th St. and the property recovered the chief noted.

Bond for those charged was set at $1,000 each pending hearing of the case in District Court July 17.

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Joe Brown, a leader of the Wallace-for-President organization in North Carolina, says the group is considering court action if its challenge to the seating of the state delegation to the Democratic National Convention is not properly considered.

He said at a news conference Thursday that "unfair, unethical and undemocratic tactics" were used at the state Democratic convention in Raleigh June 30 to prevent the nomination of Wallace delegates to the national convention.

Sixteen of the 64 delegates were chosen at the state convention. The others had been selected in county conventions.

Brown said that A. D. Folger, a lawyer from Madison, was donating his services to assist in the challenge.

Brown has maintained that in view of the results of the North Carolina presidential primary on May 6, Wallace should control all 64 members of the state delegation. Only four members have said they back Wallace.

Wallace easily defeated former North Carolina Gov. Terry Sanford in the primary, and as a result will get 37 first-ballot votes from North Carolina at the convention to Sanford's 27. The North Carolina delegates are not committed after the first ballot.

GOSPEL SINGING

There will be a gospel singing at Meadowbrook Pentacostal Holiness Church this Sunday starting at 2:30 p.m.

Chicken, fish, and pig's feet dinners will be sold at Mt. Calvary Baptist Church on Hudson Street tomorrow from 12 noon until 7 p.m. Plates are $1.00 each.

Arrest Pair For June 12 Bombing

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP) — The assistant manager of Shoney's restaurant in Gastonia and the janitor were arrested Friday night, police said, and charged in a bombing at the establishment, allegedly to cover up the theft of $1,900.

An explosion about 2:40 a.m. on June 12 ripped out the concrete block walls of a small room at the rear which housed air-conditioning and refrigerating equipment.

Police quoted the assistant manager, William R. Little Jr. of Gastonia, as saying at that time that he was alone in the restaurant counting the day's receipts, ran outside to investigate, and found $1,900 missing when he returned.

Det. Sgt. B. V. Posey said Little had been charged with larceny and with malicious use of explosives.

The detective said that the janitor, William F. Small, 38, had been charged with these counts and additionally with malicious damage of occupied property by explosives.

Little and Small are to be given preliminary hearings on July 14. Posey said Little was put under $7,200 bond, and Small was placed under $20,000 bond.

"YELLOW SUBMARINE"

Hank is a victim of what we call "phantom pain." It affects many veterans who have lost an arm or leg in the war. But I once had a millionaire banker whose phantom pain was a convenient method of keeping his younger wife away from possible rivals.

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph.D., M.D.
Case U-523: Hank V., aged 28, is a Vietnam war veteran. "Dr. Crane," his wife complained, "Hank often complains of severe pain in his right foot. 'It even wakens him from a sound sleep in the middle of the night."

"But that leg was amputated in Vietnam!"
"So how could it be hurting him now, several years later?"
"For Hank doesn't have any right foot any more!"
"Yet he may cry out with pain and reach down with his hands to try to massage that injured spot!"

Phantom Pain
Hank's problem is common among amputees.
For the nerve centers in Hank's brain, that formerly received pain sensations from his right foot, are still intact.
So any stray nervous impulse from an adjacent area of the brain may activate that incoming center that used to receive impulses from the severed foot.

This situation is similar to what occurs in our ordinary dreams.
For we may dream of people or situations that we haven't seen for maybe 10 or 20 years.
Yet in our dream, everything seems clear and we may be talking with friends who have been dead for years.

What happens is merely a first cousin to Hank's phantom foot pain.
The brain cells in the cerebral cortex (gray covering of the brain) that contained those earlier impressions, are now stimulated by a stray nerve impulse.

So we vividly experience those former sensations and for the moment may believe they are real and up-to-date.
Memory is like a modern electronic computer.

When we see or feel or taste or touch or hear, the corresponding nerve centers in our brain are affected.

At a later date, if a stray nerve impulse activates those brain cells that received the original impressions from our eyes or ears or Hank's missing right foot, then the early sensation is reinstated.

Actually, the apparent pain that Hank suffers, is not in the foot, long ago buried way over in Vietnam.

No; the pain is in his own mind, due to a stimulation of the incoming nerve center for that missing right foot.

Hank's pain is very real to him.
But sometimes a patient can cultivate a supposed stump pain to browbeat his family.
and could walk easily thereon.
But he was jealous!
So he subconsciously developed this terrific stump pain to keep her at home and away from social affairs where younger men might outbid her for her affection!

Thus, I was begged by the head of our medical department at Wesley Hospital to hypnotize a prominent Chicago banker.
"Dr. Crane," my medical colleague pleaded, "can't you do us a favor for a few nights and put this millionaire to sleep?"
"For he cries out in apparent agony; rubs the stump of his right thigh, but even our morphine shots will not quiet him."
"Surgeons have cut all the nerves, too, so he surely can't be having any real stump pain."
"As a last resort, can't you please use hypnosis on him for he is driving us medics almost crazy?"

So I hypnotized him for a few nights, but found that he was married to a charming woman, half his age, who liked to attend parties occasionally.
He had a good artificial leg

Opening lead: King of ♠ East and West put up a strong preemptive effort against South's opening one diamond bid in today's hand and the auction had reached the level of three spades before the latter had a second chance, he refused to be shut out, and carried on to four hearts. When this bid was passed around to East, the latter doubled—in the hope that his opponent had committed an indiscretion.

West opened the king of spades on which East played the seven to offer maximum encouragement to his partner to continue that suit. He reasoned that another round of spades would reduce the dummy to three trumps. Inasmuch as South had bid hearts secondarily, there was a good chance that he held a four card suit. If that were, in fact, the case, East could hold off twice when trumps were led and—after winning the third round with the ace—another round of spades would force out declarer's last trump, while East retained the master card in the suit and South would lose control of the hand.

The queen of spades was led at trick two and ruffed by North. A heart was led and when East followed with the deuce, South put up the king which held the trick. The latter now paused to assess matters. East's double tended to indicate an adverse stack in trumps, in which case even a second lead of hearts might jeopardize declarer's prospects.

South decided to shift his attentions to the club suit in order to pose a counter threat to East. The king of clubs was led—putting East in with the ace. In an effort to attack his opponents trump holding, the latter returned a spade and declarer accepted the force in dummy, discarding a club from his hand.

The queen of clubs was led on which South discarded the jack of diamonds. The suit was continued and when East ruffed with the eight of hearts, declarer overruffed with the jack. The four of diamonds put North in with the ten to lead a fourth round of clubs. East discarded a diamond and South did likewise. When West showed out but did not have any more trumps, the hand was in declarer's control. He continued to lead clubs. East ruffed with the nine of hearts and South overruffed with the queen. Diamonds were now led and the East scored with the ace of hearts, that was his last trump and the defense was limited to three tricks on the deal—one spade, one heart, and one club.

Discusses Laws About Animals

Greenville Chief of Police Glenn Cannon, led a discussion on laws concerning the ownership and treatment of animals in the City of Greenville at the Monday meeting of the Pitt County Humane Society.

According to the city code, it is unlawful for anyone to injure, torture, kill or deprive of necessary sustenance any living animal. Chief Cannon went on to present the procedure for taking a case of inhumane treatment of an animal to court.

The following are some of the city ordinances:
1. It is unlawful for any person to keep or allow more than four dogs to be kept on any premises under his control within the residential zones of the city.

2. Between the hours of 9 p.m. and 7 a.m., a dog owner is required to keep his dog in a secure enclosure or else the dog must be accompanied by a person who has him firmly under control.

3. The owner of a female dog is not to allow the dog to run at large when in "heat."

4. It is the lawful responsibility for any person injuring a dog by collision with an automobile, motorcycle, bicycle or other vehicle to immediately notify the owner of the dog or the police department.

5. It is unlawful for any person to tease, molest, bait or in any way bother any dog not belonging to him or legally under his control.

Chief Cannon further explained that violation of any of the city ordinances constitutes a violation of the law and can be prosecuted.

Other topics discussed by Chief Cannon were the sale of animals and laws governing the dog pound.
