

Proposed City Budget Is Over $3 Million

Gift Pushes Planetarium Project Funds Over Top

Greenville businessman Wilbur Hardee today presented the East Carolina University Foundation a gift amounting about to $60,000 to be used toward construction of a planetarium on the ECU Campus.

The president of Little Mint, Inc. Hardee donated 8,500 shares of his company's stock — valued at the close of business yesterday at $6.875 per share — to push the fund drive for the proposed planetarium project over the top.

Estimates of the cost of the building to house the planetarium have been set at $350,000, while an estimated $100,000 in equipment would be installed in the building.

According to Reynolds May, ECU Foundation director, Hardee's gift is the largest single gift ever given by an individual to the university.

The first gift given toward construction of the planetarium was a $100,000 donation made by the American Credit Co. of Charlotte — the result of the efforts of state senator Herman Moore of Charlotte. That gift was contingent upon the Foundation's raising an additional $200,000.

For the past two and one-half years, May said, the Foundation has been endeavoring to raise this (Continued on page 8)

A new record high proposed budget for Greenville that nosed past the three million dollar mark received tentative approval by members of the City Council at a special call meeting on Thursday night.

The proposed 1972-73 fiscal year budget (July 1, 1972 through June 30, 1973), amounting to $3,082,653, represents a "hold the line" proposal.

This budget, if approved in its present amount, will be $373,234 more than the actual budget expenditure of $2,709,319 for the fiscal year just ended on June 30.

Council members also took action to approve a tax rate of $1.54 per $100 property valuation. Of this, $1.45 is earmarked for the general fund, and .09 cents for the city's debt service. The $1.54 per $100 rate is unchanged from last year.

Figures for the two divisions show $2,998,090.50 in the general fund category, and $84,562.50 in the city debt service category. Since this is a tentative approval, the figures are subject to change, both in individual allocations and in the budget total.

As required by state law, council members authorized City Clerk William Moore to place a copy of the budget for a period of 20 days at the disposal of any citizen who may wish to review the budget. The date of July 27 was set for the next special call meeting for council members to take final action in approving a city budget.

Between now and July 27, council members will further study the budget, make recommendations for changes, if any, and meet in workshop sessions with heads of the various departments within the city.

In the budget estimates prepared by City Manager Harry Hagerty, the recommendation figures for each department represents a total figure for salaries, repairs and maintenance, services, and capital outlay.

A breakdown by divisions, departments, and special budget categories show:

Department	Total Recommended
Mayor and City Council	$ 31,100
City Manager	$ 38,698
City Clerk and Tax Collector	$ 149,206
Building and Grounds	$ 32,795
City Planner	$ 20,381
Engineering Department	$ 52,633
Police Department	$ 701,266
Fire Department	$ 450,828
Rescue Department	$ 31,532
Public Works Department	$1,084,441
Recreation Department	$ 232,343
Building, Housing, Code	$ 33,171
Special Appropriations	$ 110,750
Contingency	$ 245,724
City Debt Service	$ 84,562

The Public Works Department includes eight divisions budgeted separately: These are—administrative $47,106; garage $45,944; street maintenance $356,883; signs and paint $41,474; street cleaning $47,567; malaria control $7,489; sanitation department $501,915; and cemetery department $36,063.

Within the nearly quarter of a million dollar contingency budget item, $20,000 is recommended for resurfacing city streets outside the Redevelopment area; $30,000 to improve the Town Common; $61,842 for the Newton Project; and $86,370 for the CBD Project.

The portion of the budget dealing with revenue estimates, with anticipated receipt of funds based on the past year's receipts, the major item of income is current taxes at $1,213,970.

Other major sources of income anticipated are: Greenville Utilities Commission, $336,061; N.C. Sales Tax Local, $280,000; the Powell Bill, $313,500; N.C. franchise tax, $1,566,000; beer and wine tax, $71,000; and intangible tax, $60,000.

If the action of city council members follows the pattern of recent years, the tentative budget will receive the stamp of final approval on July 27 with only relatively minor changes.

New Surge In Wholesale Price Index

WASHINGTON (AP) — A renewed surge in livestock and meat prices led an over-all rise of five-tenths of one per cent in wholesale prices of food and industrial products in June, the government said today. The unemployment rate dropped during the month.

It was the second straight substantial month price increase, following a three-fifths of one per cent hike in May for the largest two-month increase since last January and February.

The Labor Department also reported that the nation's unemployment rate dropped from 5.9 to 5.5 per cent of the work force last month for the lowest figure in more than a year and a half. The improvement was entirely due to seasonal factors.

But the actual total of jobless Americans climbed 1.1 million to 5.4 million in the annual summer flood of school youngsters seeking work.

Because the rise in the work force was not as large as expected, the department's Bureau of Labor Statistics figured it as a decline in the jobless rate on a seasonal basis.

Livestock prices climbed 4.7 per cent, poultry rose 6.9 per cent and processed meats, poultry and fish rose 3.6 per cent, the report on wholesale prices said.

Industrial raw materials rose three-tenths of one per cent and consumer-finished goods—those ready for retail markets—increased five-tenths of one per cent.

The increases pushed the government's Wholesale Price Index up to 118.8 of its 1967 base, meaning that it cost wholesalers $118.80 in June for every $100 worth of goods five years ago. The index was 3.9 per cent above a year ago.

The report said wholesale prices had climbed at an annual rate of 5.3 per cent in the seven months so far of President Nixon's Phase 2 wage-price controls, a larger increase than the 5.2 per cent rate of increase in the eight months prior to the Phase 1 wage-price freeze imposed by Nixon last August.

Mayor Advises Vacation

Mayor S. Eugene West, at the Special Call meeting of the City Council on Thursday night, said he had recommended that City Manager Harry Hagerty take a month's vacation after the work he has done to complete the city's proposed budget.

"Hagerty has worked very hard, putting in long gruelling hours on this project," the mayor remarked. "I'm very much concerned about his health, working long hours like this so soon after recuperating from a heart attack."

West added that for that reason he had urged the city manager to take a well deserved rest. "He's doing a great job, and we don't want to take unnecessary chances on his health," Mayor West said.

The mayor also expressed his appreciation to Mrs. Lois Worthington, Mrs. Charlotte Wells and "all the other girls at City Hall who worked so faithfully in helping Hagerty get the budget ready."

EXPECTED CHOICE

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Elder Harold B. Lee, a former city commissioner, school principal and businessman, was expected to be named president of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints today.

Forces of Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley also have asked the court for a special term to attack another section of the same lower-court decision, which upheld the committee's authority to reject 59 Illinois delegates, including Daley.

In asking for Supreme Court action, the party maintained that the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia "has provoked a fundamental constitutional crisis which can only be settled by this court."

"Reversal of the judgment below is necessary to ensure that hereafter the federal courts will stay out of the American political process rather than seize its center stage," the petition read.

Among 45 effectiveness claims for the cold remedies evaluated, the academy's National Research Council judged four as effective, eight ineffective as fixed combinations, five effective with reservations, 15 possibly effective and 13 probably effective.

Rated effective without reservation were Isophrin nose drops for nasal congestion; Fedrazil for hay fever; and Chlorophrine Nyscaps for hay-fever nasal congestion and as a time-release capsule.

At the request of the Food and Drug Administration, NAS studied 420 OTC drugs as part of an effectiveness review of about 3,000 prescription drugs.

"The 27 products are broadly representative of cold preparations on the market since most are similar in composition to the drugs studied," the FDA said in releasing the data.

About 25 per cent of the OTC drug claims were judged effective, compared with about 60 per cent of the prescription drug claims rated effective or probably effective.

Saigon Claims Task Force Has Taken Large Part Of Quang Tri

soldiers indiscriminately, hitting both banks of the river and landing in the water, but all missed the bridge. (AP Wirephoto)

SAIGON (AP) — The Saigon command claimed today that elements of a South Vietnamese paratrooper task force spearheaded by tanks had forged into the heart of Quang Tri City, and seized control of two-thirds of the northern provincial capital.

But field reports and senior U.S. military source sharply disputed the announcement made in Saigon.

Associated Press correspondent Dennis Neeld reported from the front he had no information to indicate a thrust into the northern half of the city. A senior military source said there were no South Vietnamese units of any significant size in the city. He left open the possibility that reconnaissance teams might be operating there.

Field sources said South Vietnamese paratrooper and marine units were closing in on the city but were meeting tough resistance. (Continued on page 8)

Patriarch Athenagoras I Dies At The Age Of 86

ISTANBUL (AP) — Metropolitan Meliton, the archbishop of Chalcedon, is being mentioned as the likely successor to Patriarch Athenagoras I, the leader of the world's 250 million Eastern Orthodox Christians, who died early today at the age of 86.

Meliton, 59, was to preside over a meeting today with the 11 other archbishops of the Greek Orthodox Ecumenical Patriarchate to decide on funeral arrangements for Athenagoras. Later, at a date still to be announced, they will elect the new Ecumenical Patriarch, who is also Archbishop of Constantinople.

Another prospective choice is Metropolitan Kallinikos, who was named acting vice patriarch today after the death of Athenagoras.

Athenagoras died at Balikli Greek Orthodox Hospital in Istanbul, succumbing to kidney failure following a massive loss of blood pressure, his doctors said. He broke his hip in a fall a week ago and was to have been flown to Vienna today or Saturday for orthopedic surgery.

His 24-year reign was most notable for his efforts toward reunion with the Roman Catholic Church after more than 900 years of schism. He and Pope Paul VI met three times, in Jerusalem, Istanbul and Rome.

The Jerusalem meeting on Jan. 5-6, 1964, breached barriers of silence and hostility that had existed since the Great Schism of 1054, when the two churches separated over questions of authority and forms of the creed. The Pope and the bearded 6-foot 4-inch Patriarch met on the Mount of Olives, exchanged a symbolic "kiss of peace" and talked in two private sessions.

Red Tape Won't Slow Reunions With Families For Viet POWs

By COLLEEN TEASLEY
WASHINGTON (WNS) —
When and if American prisoners of war are released by the North Vietnamese, military red tape will not slow down reunions with their families.

Maj. Nick Rowe, who escaped from a Viet Cong prison after five years in shackles, and his wife Jane Caroline are working to make sure of that.
The Army, at Rowe's
prodding, four months ago

stepped up an all-out plan to reunite families and prisoners as soon as the men set foot in the U.S.
"Families will be a part of the Army's debriefing sessions to help them understand what their husbands and sons have been through," said Mrs. Rowe in an interview.

"There are hospitals on call ready to take prisoners at a moment's notice. Army psychiatrists are being prepared to ease the prisoners back into American society and to help their families adjust to a man who will not be the same as when he left."

No Trials

"There will be no shameful court martials like those that followed the release of prisoners from Korea," said Mrs. Rowe. "Although military regulations call for court martials of soldiers who speak out against their country's cause, the POWs will not be brought to trial."
"Many have allowed themselves to be filmed saying they think the Vietnamese war is unjust, only to let their families know they are alive. Others have said the same things people are saying here at home — 'we should never have gone there in the first place' — just to stay alive. Who can judge them for this?"

Mrs. Rowe is especially sympathetic toward the plight of POW families.
Although she was not a wife who waited — she met her husband after his escape — she said she understands the families' heartache.

"POW families are desperate to get their men back any way they can," she said. "As time goes on, they know the chance of ever seeing them again is less and less."

"Before 1969 the government told POW families to stay home, be quiet and pray.
But thanks to those who refused, the country knows what's going on. The POWs are not getting swept under the rug like in Korea."

Split

"POW families have united, although there is a definite split between those who think we should pull out no matter what and those who say we should stay until we get our prisoners."

"I realize the conflict. How many boys do we send to fight and maybe get killed to bring back prisoners who might be dead already? However, if we leave without POWs, we may never see them again."

Mrs. Rowe, who worked in the war zone air-lifting soldiers for Seaboard World Airlines, met her husband four months after he had escaped from North Vietnam.

He and his 12-man Special Forces team and a battalion of South Vietnamese were attacked by the Viet Cong in 1964. Three Americans survived — Rowe, Rocky Versace and Dan Pitzer. The VC killed all wounded South Vietnamese and took Rowe and his buddies prisoner.

Versace was later executed by the VC for refusing to repeat anti-U.S. propaganda. Dan Pitzer was mysteriously released four years later. "No one knows why," said Mrs. Rowe.

"There is no reason to their (VC's) actions."

Rowe, a West Point graduate, survived by lying to his captors. "He told them he was an engineer in the Army only to get a free education, that all he wanted to do was go home and build bridges," said Mrs. Rowe.
"In fact, he acted downright dumb so they figured he was of no use to them."

After four years of surviving under his fake cover story,
the VC found him out.
Ironically, a peace group trying to find out if he was dead or a prisoner sent Hanoi a copy of his biography. After that he was put on the execution list for lying.

Beard

While being moved to his execution site, Rowe made his escape. American B52 bombers flying overhead caused his guards to scatter.
Rowe ran through the jungle barefoot, wearing black VC pajamas, swinging a mosquito net over his head to get the attention of U.S. helicopters.

They spotted him but thought he was a VC and came down closer to fire.
When they saw he had a beard (Vietnamese rarely have facial hair) they knew he was a GI and rescued him.

Mrs. Rowe has played a key role in her husband's readjustment to a society he had left five years before.
"He had never heard of the Beatles and never seen a mini skirt," she said. "One of the first things he said was, 'If I had known about mini skirts,
I'd have gotten out sooner.'"

She took him to peace rallies "to see the kids and help him understand why they were so upset about the war." "But when he saw VC flags flying around the Washington monument, it was too much for him to take.
He told me how devastating it had been for him to sit in a VC prison camp and have them read anti-war speeches from the Congressional Record..."

Mrs. Rowe admitted she is not optimistic the POWs will ever come home. But she won't give up.
This summer she will take a group of 25 college students to Paris, Laos, and Cambodia to ask the Communists for a list of living POWs.

Bride-Elect Entertained

Miss Teresa Harrell, bride-elect of James Simpkins, was honored at an informal party at the home of Mrs. Jack Taylor.

Miss Harrell was presented a corsage of yellow carnations to compliment her yellow dress upon arrival.

The living room was decorated with an arrangement of lilies and gardenias accented by wedding bells. Other bridal decorations were used in the room. The refreshment table was covered with an organdy over taffeta cloth and was centered with an arrangement of mixed summer flowers.

Miss Harrell was remembered with a gift by the hostess, Mrs.
Taylor.

Special guests for the occasion were Mrs. James Harrell, mother of the bride-elect, and Mrs. Noah Simpkins, mother of the bridegroom-elect.

There's Nothing Funny About TV's Sick Humor

By Abigail Van Buren

(c) 1972 by C. Village Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Please write something in your column about the sick humor that has become so popular on television. I refer to the skits in which they make fun of old people.

This type of come dy mocks and ridicules the feeble walk, faltering speech and the failing sight and hearing of the aged, many of whom have no other entertainment than watching television.

The elderly have earned a place of dignity in this land which they have built with their labor and supported with their money during their productive years. Sign me...

FORTY-EIGHT AND GETTING THERE

DEAR FORTY-EIGHT: Nothing can become popular unless the majority of the people want it, which is a pretty sad commentary on our times. However, our humor has improved since comedians ridiculed foreigners and minority groups. We've come a long way, but we still have a long way to go. For immediate action, complain to the sponsors or the network.

DEAR ABBY: I am 32 years old, have been married for seven years, and have three children. My problem arises from my night out.

I bowl with the boys on Monday nights. On Fridays I bowl with my wife. I belong to one civic organization which meets every other Wednesday night. I have a sales job, which means I sometimes have to make a call in the evening, maybe once a week, but when this happens, I am always home by midnight.

Abby, when I come home from any of these evenings my wife throws the book at me like I came home at 4 a.m. smelling of booze and women. My wife always knows where I am and who I'm with.

She treats me like a mother would treat a son. I am a good husband, and I don't appreciate being bawled out and yelled at.

What do you think?

A GOOD BOY

DEAR BOY: If you refer to yourself as a good boy—that could be part of your problem. Start thinking of yourself as a good MAN. Let your wife know that you will not be intimidated. Stand up to her, MAN-style, and she may treat you like one.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell me how to solve an embarrassing situation without losing some friend's we have known for years. They are a couple in their mid-sixties who visit in our home for a week at a time.

We are happy to have our friends visit us, but I am so embarrassed by the actions of the husband I fear I will lose my temper and tell him off.

He comes to the breakfast table in his undershorts for one thing. And for another, if the bathroom is occupied, he knocks loudly on the door until he gets the other party out.

I have asked my husband to speak to this man, but he says he doesn't want to insult a guest in our home. The wife is a lovely patient person, but she will not criticize her husband either.

Have you any suggestions?

UPSET HOSTESS

DEAR HOSTESS: If anyone is going to criticize him, it appears that you are elected.

CONFIDENTIAL TO WONDERING: One who considers having a marriage without sex should also consider that it could lead to sex without marriage.

Park Has Great Possibilities

The Jaycee and City of Greenville-sponsored Independence Day celebration, held on the Town Common July 4, is an outstanding example of how a community can provide wholesome entertainment which will not prove costly to its citizens.

By any standards the festivities would have to be judged as an outstanding success. The greased pole, with cash waiting at the top for those agile enough to climb it, was busy all through the day.

A number of fishermen lined the rail on the esplanade and pulled in fish.

There was hog calling, husband calling, horseshoe pitching, sack racing, as well as many other activities which characterize an old fashion July 4 observance. It was all capped off with a brilliant fireworks display over the river after dark.

There was no question that the day was a huge success and plans are already being made to repeat it next year.

Once again we have an example of what can be done in an area which was once covered with shacks. Now the city has a large park area leading to the river front and its uses are as numerous as the imagination will allow.

There could be band concerts in the park on Sunday evenings. Even folk dancing could be staged on the wide esplanade.

Some civic organization might consider an event similar to the July 4 celebration as a means of welcoming university students and faculty in the fall.

Greenville has a valuable asset in its Town Common. The Jaycees, co-sponsoring with the city, have demonstrated how appealing it can be with successful Independence Day program held there last week.

Confrontation Is Possibility

By BRYAN HANSLIP

RALEIGH, N.C. — Should the next lieutenant governor appoint the members of Senate committees, as he has done in the past?

"Yes," said Jim Hunt of Wilson, Democratic nominee for the office.

"No," said Sen. Gordon P. Allen of Person, in line for the post of President Pro-Ten in the 73 session.

That division of opinions points the way to what could

Sen. Allen is one more and more states have taken in recent years in the effort to develop viable legislative bodies.

It was recommended strongly by a national study sponsored by the Citizens Conference on State Legislatures.

"If a Senate is to have any real control over its own activities, and to develop any genuine sense of esprit and cohesion, only leaders elected by the Senate should have any important powers," its report stated. "The role of the lieutenant governor in a state Senate, if he has one at all, should never be more than ceremonial."

Incidentally, it was that study which ranked the Tar Heel legislature 47th among the 50 states.

At the present time, 19 states allow the President Pro-Ten to appoint Senate committees. Nineteen others use the device of a "committee on committees." Only 12 of the 50, including North Carolina, give the appointive power to the lieutenant governor.

"Those states, like ours, have had a lieutenant governor who was, in fact, a legislative officer," noted Allen.

Committee Route Proposed
He proposed that North Carolina take the route of a committee on committees, rather than resting the power of appointment with a single individual.

The strategy to bring about the change would be to put it before the Democratic on the eve of convening the Senate. Should it gain majority favor, an early motion would be made to adopt old Senate rules with the amendment for creation of a committee on committees.

How the issue will develop remains to be seen. It is certain to be the object of some intensive pre-session politicking among incoming Senators.

Hunt observed that the question received attention in the primary. Mrs. Margaret Harper of Southport, one of the eliminated candidates, embraced the idea of placing appointive power in the hands of the Senate.

"I was asked about it a number of times," said Hunt. "I got the reaction of many, many people. Every large majority expressed to me a preference to keep the system as it is."

If he is elected, Hunt said, he will come to the first day of the 73 session ready with committee appointments. The goal will be to get started without wasted motion, he said.

Allied Health, Social Programs Given Help

Three more grants will help the growing Allied Health and Social Professions program at ECU.

Grants of $78,120 for mental health training, $46,490 for environmental health and approximately $12,000 for medical records. HEW made the environmental health and the medical records grants and the National Institute of Mental Health made the mental health grant.

These funds will accelerate the growth of health field programs at ECU. They will mean that more trained health personnel will be made available more quickly.

Dismayed Over Mitchell Loss

By ROWLAND EVANS

AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — While

John Mitchell was privately informing President Nixon last Friday that he could not continue as his campaign manager, the impact of that decision was brought home by a speech distributed by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's office.

In the bludgeoning style he has perfected these past four years, Agnew's speech eviscerated Sen. George McGovern as a "fraud" and a "radical" who is "repugnant to the tradition of a free people." Mitchell had determined that Agnew definitely should not unleash such overkill but, in his recent personal torment, had no opportunity to so inform the Vice President. Now, in his new indistinct role as a part-time adviser to the campaign, Mitchell may never really impose this restriction on Agnew.

That is a principal reason why thoughtful Republicans around the country are so dismayed by Mitchell's departure and desperately hope he maintains behind-the-scenes power. If not, who can muzzle Agnew in the campaign against McGovern? Beyond that, who can curb Mr. Nixon himself?

Behind these questions is the gnawing fear among Republicans that their golden opportunity this year could be lost by rhetorical excesses such as Agnew's anti-McGovern tirade. Republican strategists now believe McGovern will reflexively mouth left-wing clichés just as Barry Goldwater destroyed himself with instinctive right-wing rhetoric in 1964. McGovern's almost unbelievable declarations last week that "begging is better than bombing" and that Mr.

Nixon's Indochina bombing policy compares with Hitler's genocide, these strategists deem, are sufficiently self-destructive without embellishment from Agnew or anybody else.

In fact, almost everybody in top-level Republican politics understands this—everybody, that is, except Ted Agnew. Though it strains the outside world's credulity, the Vice President is a free agent. His rhetorical onslaughts (including last Friday's against McGovern) are not cleared by the White House and occasionally contradict recommendations of Presidential aides. Mr. Nixon, disliking confrontations, cannot be imagined laying down the law to his Vice President even though he is increasingly disturbed by Agnew's outbursts.

That was the role for Mitchell, who has regularly performed unpleasant chores for Mr. Nixon. Considered Agnew's most enthusiastic booster in the Nixon inner circle and an advocate of his renomination for Vice President, Mitchell is considered the only man capable of muzzling him.

Similarly, Mitchell is the only campaign manager in Mr. Nixon's 26 years of electoral politics capable of restraining him. Mitchell has made clear to friends he played no role in the disastrous 1970 mid-term campaign ("What campaign?" asks Mitchell) when Mr. Nixon embarked on his ill-conceived cross-country tour. Mitchell long ago decided that disaster could not be repeated in 1972; if Mr. Nixon addressed one big rally during the entire campaign, that would be plenty.

This view, that Mr. Nixon was an excellent President but an

Lament By The Old Pros

WASHINGTON—The Old Democratic Pros were sitting in a smoke-filled room. No one was smiling.

"Is anyone here going to Miami?"

There was silence. "I ran for delegate," one pol said, "but I was beaten by a kid who plays drums with a rock group called the 'Meat Grinders.'"

"Huh. I ran for delegate and was beaten by a 19-year-old girl who turned out to be a guy, after the votes were counted."

"I've been going to Democratic conventions for 30 years. 20 of them as chairman of my delegation," a white-haired pro said. "I've given my all to the party. There isn't a judge in my state who doesn't owe his job to me. There isn't a federal marshal or a postmaster who can't say Big Al wasn't the greatest friend he ever had. When the people wanted roads, they came to me; when they wanted housing, Big Al was there; when they wanted a little something to tide them over, they knew my door was never closed. This time, when it came to choosing a delegate to the convention, what did they do? They elected a black woman jockey."

"Jeez, Al! It's not going to be the same Democratic convention without us."

"What happened to all of us?" a bold, florid man asked. "What happened?" "I'll tell you what happened!" a man with a diamond stickpin in his tie shouted. "We did it to ourselves!"

"How's that, Charley?" someone asked.

"Remember when the kids were acting up and raising hell around the country?"

"Who doesn't?" "Remember what we told them? We told them instead of demonstrating in the streets and closing down the schools that they should work within the system."

"That's right," Big Al said. "I remember myself saying this country was so designed that you could get anything you wanted by working within the system."

"Well that's what the little stinkers did. They decided to work within the system, and now we're out on our butts."

"But we didn't really mean for them to work within the system," the bald man said.

"That was just a figure of speech—like 'Have a nice day' or 'Give my best to your wife.'"

"Of course we didn't mean it," someone else said. "We meant they should work within the system, but do it by working for us."

"Gentlemen," Charley said. "Our biggest mistake was not that we told them to work within the system, but that we never knew what the system was all about. Not one man in this room ever dreamed someone else could use the system as we did—to control the party."

"Well," said one pol, "I think it's a pretty lousy system if anyone can take it over just because he has more votes."

"You're damn right it is," said Big Al. "If I had known what they had on their minds, I would have advised them to go into the streets and have their heads bashed in!"

"The thing to do now," one pol said, "is to change the system so it can't happen again."

"It's too late," said Charley. "They have control of the party, the convention, and the system."

"Well," said Big Al, "we can't sit around here blowing cigar smoke at each other. What do we do?"

"This is what we do," Charley said. "We go down to Miami next week and demonstrate!"

Nursery School Ordeal

By F. RICHARD CICCONE

Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — If the research groups who scare American parents about three times a week by reporting the projected cost of a college education in the 1980s really wanted to be useful they'd look into nursery schools.

It probably serves some sadistic instinct to let parents know that by the time their 3-year-old is too big for Sesame Street it will cost $93,000 or some other absurd figure to put him through college.

But what about nursery schools with the bills that come every month, now?

One theory is that nursery schools were started by people who loved children and tolerated money. A second theory is that it works the other way.

Wives, of course, endorse nursery schools. Where else can they find daytime baby-sitters?

Husbands who pay for nursery schools don't have too much to say about it. They probably have been flatly informed that their precious darling will be introverted if she doesn't learn to play with other children at an early age.

So, for $25 to $50 a month, depending on how often the child goes and whether the "kiddie kar" picks up and delivers, the modern American daddy has the joy of knowing his child is enjoying life.

However, he never knows for certain because when he asks, "What did you do in nursery school?" the only response is, "I played."

"What did you play?" "Can I have a cookie?" "I never heard of that game."

"Daddy, you're silly."

End of conversation about nursery school.

July 7, 1932

The weather, usually fickle as an old maid at this season of the year, set a new record in Greenville yesterday when the mercury staggered up to 98 degrees. The heat wave reached its peak about three o'clock, B.T. Clark, local government weather observer stated, and the temperature was relieved at that time by clouds which furnished very little rain.

The Greenville Recreation Association, operators of the Westbrook pool, this morning received reports on the first two weeks of operation and the plans were completed for the raising of funds necessary to the operation of the pool for the present summer. The plan of operation places a charge of five cents per hour for children to swim and those boys who are unable to pay can find sufficient work at the swimming pool grounds to pay for their swimming pool ticket.

Strength For Today

YOUR GIFT

Jenny Lind, the great Swedish singer who was at the height of her career seventy-five years ago, was also a Christian saint. She regarded her voice as a gift from God, and although she made tremendous sums of money and was eager to do so, she spent practically all of it in philanthropic work. She was particularly interested in the education of the poor children of Stockholm. When she was on last tour she said, "My daily prayer is that I may be spared three years in order to carry out my plans for these poor children."

Every person has a gift. For most people the gift is the ability to do some humble and necessary work efficiently. There are a goodly number of people in the world who can do some one thing well. Geniuses are rare. They are generally twisted personalities, but most of them are able to scale mountain heights of achievement far beyond the strength of ordinary men and women.

The Parable of the Talents found in the New Testament clearly indicates that God gives some people a few talents and others many talents. We may not like this arrangement and call it discrimination. That, however, is the way it is and there is nothing to do about it. But God is just as pleased with the one-talent man who uses his talent well as He is with the genius who serves the world magnificently.

What are you doing with the gift you have, be it great or small?

Institutional Trading Spurred

By LINDA RUBEY

AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Stock Market System, widely touted by securities industry leaders as a boon for the small investor, may instead help the phenomenal growth of institutional trading some money managers say.

"I think whatever might provide an easier method of trading large blocks of stock will produce greater concentration of ownership in the hands of big pools of money like banks, mutual funds and insurance companies," says Elmer Lyle Nicholson, chairman of CNA Financial, a Chicago financial holding company.

"I'm not 100 per cent in favor of that," he says. "I don't want to see the little guy squeezed out."

According to the New York Stock Exchange, institutional trading in the first half of 1971 accounted for 59.7 per cent of public share volume and 68.2 per cent of public dollar volume.

The exchange says that by 1980, institutional trading at the NYSE will equal all the trading done there last year.

The central market system now being assembled should facilitate the trading of institutions' large blocks through a consolidated trade-reporting system giving price and volume information on listed securities in all markets. This should give all investors, large and small, a better idea of where to find the best deals.

Other recommendations of the Securities and Exchange Commission would permit institutions to hold exchange seats through brokerage subsidiaries, if the subsidiaries do most of their business with the public.

This would give the institutions a way to save on commission charges on their sometimes mammoth trades and also would give them a greater voice in the actual running of the exchanges.

"Looking down the road, there is also no reason why institutions couldn't act as a principal, making markets in stocks sort of like a glorified superspecialist," says Bob Hendrickson, vice president of investments at the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States.

Exchange specialists are floor traders charged with making fair and orderly markets in stocks they handle. They frequently must do this by buying or selling against the market trend and some specialists find they lack the money to handle the increasing amounts of big trades.

Money managers point out that institutions would be natural for the job because they've got the money that a market maker needs to provide depth and liquidity in a stock-making sure the stock is available for buying or selling at a price not far from the last one paid.

Actor Brandon de Wilde Dies Of Injuries From Traffic Accident

LAKEWOOD, Colo. (AP) — As the stranger who helped his father ride off into the bleak frontier plain, the tousle-haired boy shouts after him, "Shane? Shane, come back!"

That scene at the end of the 1953 film classic "Shane" remains for many one of the most moving in Westerns, and it secured a lasting fame for its child star, Brandon de Wilde.

De Wilde, 30, died Thursday evening of injuries suffered several hours earlier in a traffic accident in this Denver suburb. He had recently completed an appearance here in a stage production of "Butterflies Are Free."

The Brooklyn-born actor who lived in Century City, Calif., was alone in a van truck when it glanced off a guard rail during a heavy rainstorm and slammed into a parked construction trailer.

De Wilde was pinned in the wreckage. He suffered a broken neck, back and leg. He died four hours later in a Denver hospital.

De Wilde's career had waned somewhat in recent years. He atrocious campaigner, is held throughout the White House. But the President, obeying his own irresistible yearning for the campaign trail and heeding pleas from local candidates anxious for help, may well abandon the Oval Office for balloon-filled rallies without dour John Mitchell there to restrain him.

Mitchell's successor, former Rep. Clark MacGregor of Minnesota, has no license to lecture either the President or Vice President. His standing in the Nixon apparatus derives from sponsorship by Mitchell, who recommended him last year as chief White House lobbyist and last week as campaign manager.

Moreover, MacGregor must start from scratch in building relationships with state party leaders. Heart-sick over Mr. Nixon's inattention to party matters since his inauguration, these leaders have regarded Mitchell as their one link to the President. Now that link is gone, replaced by a stranger.

Nor will MacGregor inherit a going operation at the luxuriously furnished Nixon reelection headquarters catty-corner from the White House. Preoccupied by the ITT affair and more recently by his family problems, Mitchell had not yet put that house in order.

Finally, there is MacGregor's relationship to the senior White House staff, particularly the powerful H.R. Haldeman and John Ehrlichman. Even Mitchell had trouble maintaining an autonomous campaign free from White House staff interference. MacGregor's relationship, with the senior staffers, though warmer than Mitchell's, is now one of a subordinate. That worries state party leaders, who have a low esteem for the Haldeman-Ehrlichman political wisdom.

Many such leaders early last week saw Mitchell's resignation as the only answer to his tragic family problems. They realize that Mitchell, as a part-time adviser, cannot maintain the tight direction he did in 1968. They only hope he might yet restrain the President and Vice President sufficiently to keep them from offering an avenue of salvation for a Democratic party now seemingly intent on ripping itself to pieces.

Expresses Concern Over NCSL Future

Charles I. Bunn, Jr., president of the North Carolina Student Legislature, recently expressed concern that not many people were aware that the Student Legislature existed.

Bunn stated, "We once were allowed to meet in the legislative chambers like so many of our counterparts in other states. The reasoning why we are not allowed to meet there now has not been made clear to me!"

Bunn emphasized that NCSL would like to help those students who want to participate in this educational experience. He said that the students wanted to do their part in helping the state by gaining knowledge and experience in legislative government.

The president of the NCSL also started out as a 7-year-old in 1950 with a Broadway debut in Carson McCuller's "Member of the Wedding" that won critical raves.

That performance led to the role in "Shane," in which he played an impressionable youngster learning the meaning of violence on the plains of Wyoming during the American frontier.

Because he continued to look younger than his age, he often played a similar role in later motion pictures, notably "Hud" in 1963, in which he portrayed a teen-ager growing up in the shadow of a strong-willed uncle.

Other film credits included roles in "Blue Denim," "All Fall Down," "The Deserter," "In Harm's Way," and "Those Calloways." He starred in his own television series, "Jamie," in 1953 and 1954.

Although he was born into a show business family, De Wilde got his own start quite by accident. A friend of his parents, actor Frederic de Wilde and actress Eugenia Wilson, was looking for a young boy to play in "Member of the Wedding."

Brandon, then a student at Baldwin Public School in Baldwin, N.Y., auditioned. Despite a shaky tryout, he won the part and then almost stole the show from Julie Harris and Ethel Waters.

One of the men nominated to the advisory post is Jaycee President Fred G. Morrison, Jr. He has performed other advisory services to the NCSL as legal counsel to Gov. Bob Scott.

The other man nominated to the board is the present Republican nominee for governor Jim Holshouser. Holshouser has also provided valuable assistance to the NCSL, Bunn said.

Ken Hammond of Winterville and East Carolina University serves as Minority Affairs Assistant to the NCSL.

NCMVDT to Make It Easier To Detect Mileage

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — The North Carolina Motor Vehicles Department is going to make a change in its vehicle title forms that will make it easier to detect when the mileage on a used car has been altered.

James H. Stamey, director of the registration division, said Thursday that a space will be provided on title forms so that owners of vehicles can fill in the mileage when they sell to a dealer or an individual.

Later, persons interested in buying a used car will be able to call the Department of Motor Vehicles and find out how far the former owner said he had driven it.

"It will take a little while to build up something, that's meaningful on a car, but I think it's a big step in the right direction," Stamey said.

The change will be made later this year when the current supply of title forms is exhausted.

They don't serve cookies and fruit juice at 10 a.m. every day at the University of Illinois.

Some nonsmokers said the smell of marijuana floated through the air 20 minutes after the concert started, and that by intermission they were feeling the effect just from breathing.

The doors of the coliseum were locked shortly after the concert began, but some 500 youths began beating on the plate glass in an attempt to get in. Policemen began to disperse them, and several youths began throwing wine bottles.

Five policemen were hit but none as hurt.

Police Sgt. L. B. Wallace said of the incident and the whole plying of the concert: "I think it went real well. The men took a lot of mouth, but they tried to keep from making arrests."

There were some arrests. Six youths 16 and older were charged with trespassing, nine with public drunkenness, one with possession of marijuana and one with failure to obey an officer. Some of those charged with trespassing were found hiding in broom closets inside the coliseum before the concert.

As the crowd entered, policemen searched large pockets, books and padded shirts, and confiscated beer and bottles of wine.

Dozens of counterfeit tickets also were confiscated, most of them for the same four seats.

After the Charlotte concert the Rolling Stones left for an engagement in Knoxville, Tenn.

Famous U.S. Women Ski Team Diet

During the non-snow off season the U.S. Women's Alpine Ski Team members go on the "Ski Team" diet to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. That's right — 20 pounds in 14 days! The basis of the diet is chemical food action and was devised by a famous Colorado physician especially for the U.S. Ski Team. Normal energy is maintained (very important!) while reducing. You keep "full" — no starvation — because the diet is designed that way. It's a diet that is easy to follow whether you work, travel or stay at home.

This is honestly a fantastically successful diet. If it weren't, the U.S. Women's Ski Team wouldn't be permitted to use it! Right? So, give yourself the same break the U.S. Ski Team gets. Lose weight the scientific, proven way. Even if you've tried all the other diets, you owe it to yourself to try the U.S. Women's Ski Team Diet. That is, if you really do want to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. Order today. Tear this out as a reminder.

Un-Freedom Of Press Is Cherished Soviet Tradition

Millard Fillmore Is Whig Choice

By DAVID GOELLER
Associated Press Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Whigs have nominated Millard Fillmore as their 1972 presidential candidate. No. 2 spot on the ticket was won by Robert E. Lee Moxley, who happened to be passing by.

"The Constitution doesn't say the candidate has to be alive," Jeffrey Amdur said after 15 delegates acclaimed Fillmore the standard bearer of the Resurrected Whig Party at an outdoor convention in a park Thursday night.

The Resurrected Whigs are an offshoot of the Students' Committee for the Glorification of Millard Fillmore, a Whig who served in the White House from 1850 to 1853 after the death of President Zachary Taylor.

Amdur, cochairman of the committee, says the selection of Fillmore was a long-overdue restoration to party favor for the man who was dumped by the Whigs in 1852.

Party leaders say they know little about Moxley, 70, the Baltimore man chosen for the No.

2 spot.

"He happened to be passing by and we asked him if he wanted to be vice president," said Amdur.

Moxley won out on the first ballot over P.T. Barnum, Chester A. Arthur, W.C. Fields and others.

What does the Resurrected Whig Party stand for?

"Motherhood, the flag, apple pie and Millard Fillmore," said James A. Seidel, a Frostburg (Md.) State College student who organized the convention.

Discussing the party's platform, Seidel said one of the planks calls for an immediate freeze on wages and prices, followed by federal action to roll them back to 1853 levels.

Another urges the cutting off of federal aid to school districts where pupils are transported against their will.

"This is based on the Whig philosophy that stage-coaching is inherently wrong," said Amdur, who teaches junior high school French in Ferndale, Md.

Is the Whig party ahead or behind the times?

"Yes, we are," was Amdur's equivocal reply.

Suggests Boycott For Poor Security

WASHINGTON (AP) — An officer of the Air Line Pilots Association suggested today that travelers boycott air lines that are unwilling to spend enough money for strong ground security against hijackings.

Al Bonner, ALPA first vice president, said a boycott of such air lines would bring about a definite improvement. He did not identify the air lines ALPA considers to have inadequate ground security.

"Last month air line crews throughout the world stood up to the hijack menace in a one-day shutdown of air service," Bonner said in a statement.

"The public, we feel, should stand up with us by refusing to fly on airlines that continue to put economic gain before the security of their passengers," he said.

"Many carriers are demonstrating a sincere effort to tighten up their security," Bonner said.

"Yet others are holding back. Safety costs money, and they apparently are not willing to spend it."

Bonner said that, although President Nixon ordered an increase in airport security four months ago and the airlines were directed to step up passenger and baggage screening measures, air crimes are still increasing.

And he said there has been some progress toward more effective antihijack laws, both in Congress and on international fronts.

"But, while these wheels have been set in motion, the brittleness of our domestic ground-security shield continues to be an open invitation for further acts of air piracy," Bonner said.

Singapore consists of the island of Singapore and about 54 small islands within its territorial waters.

MOSCOW (UPI)—You can read it in the newspaper: unfreedom of the press is a tradition the Soviets cherish.

They give journalism awards for it.

Pravda, the flagship newspaper of the Soviet Communist Party, won the Order of the October Revolution on its 60th birthday for its performance "as a militant assistant of the Communist Party."

The giants of the Soviet media are quite candid about defining their job. They do it each year when they mark "National Press Day" in May.

First Move For Spassky

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP)

Bobby Fischer lost the draw Thursday night, giving Boris Spassky the first move, and the world championship chess match will finally start next Tuesday.

Unless the American challenger or the Soviet champion pleads illness and gets another postponement.

The confusion of the past week was summarized by the old woman selling cigarettes who asked in the beginning: "Fischer come?"

Near the end it was: "Spassky go?"

"I'm very pessimistic," Dr. Max Euwe said at 10 a.m. At noon: "It's a very delicate situation." At 7 p.m., the president of the International Chess Federation sighed: "There's hope."

That was Tuesday. It could have been any day in the garbled prelude to what chess lovers say is the match of the century — Spassky of the U.S.S.R. vs. Fischer of the U.S.A.

Spassky arrived early to wait for Bobby. Saying "I came to play," he philosophically accepted the first postponement when Fischer didn't show.

Later he demanded an apology or he wouldn't play.

At one news conference, one of Fischer's lawyers said he'd come to say he had nothing to say.

Yefim Geller, Spassky's second, fielded questions with: "Kak Gavari po Angliiski," or as you say in English, "No comment."

Then there's the "Eavesdropper," a man approaching middle age with a shock of graying hair combed in careful disarray onto his forehead.

He takes voluminous notes, for a magazine piece, he says. On scraps of paper he records conversations he's overheard. He carries the scraps in a red plastic shopping bag as he moves soundlessly about the hotel lobbies.

One final quote, from Gudmundur Thorarinnsson, president of the Icelandic Chess Federation, who was under pressure from Fischer to give up a share of the gate receipts:

Says Pravda: "It is the duty of the mass propaganda media to ensure that the ideals of the Party and total opposition to any manifestations of bourgeois ideology become a matter of life and honor to everyone."

Says Izvestia, the daily voice of Premier Alexei N. Kosygin's government: "All the mass media are a mighty weapon for the Party to use in the tremendous job...of shaping the new man."

Competitors Banished

The job of shaping the new man in his views of the world is aided by the banishment of any competing news source.

No foreign, non-Communist newspapers or magazines are allowed to circulate in the Soviet Union. Even the controlled journals of the Soviet bloc states are swept under the counter if they print bad news, as was the case with Poland's papers when they reported the riots that toppled Wladislaw

Gomulka in December, 1970.

Only the Russian-language broadcasts of the Voice of America, the British Broadcasting Corporation and similar radio stations break the armor, but the Soviets jam them and only citizens with short-wave sets can hear what filters through.

The result, for most Soviet citizens, is a picture of a restive and riotous outside world that is crumbling approximately—if somewhat stubbornly—according to Karl Marx's game plan.

Soviet publications also say there is no such thing as a free press in the West. The general explanation is that the financiers who run western nations also boss and control the media.

One Russian journalism textbook puts an even finer point upon it, for students who are accustomed to understanding things in terms of exactly which Soviet agency controls which publication.

Official Ties Shown

It says United Press International speaks for the U.S. Congress, the Associated Press represents the State Department and the New York Times is "the semi-official newspaper" of the White House.

This approach runs into bumps every day, when the Soviet press quotes the U.S. press as its source for criticisms of U.S. policies.

The Soviets ignored the contradiction until the Pentagon Papers, came along. Then, ideology produced a rationale.

Moscow's media gave major, daily publicity to the Pentagon Papers and their revelations of secret U.S. policy in Vietnam, reprinting blocks of material from U.S. papers and finally publishing their own book from this material.

When that book was published, it was accompanied by an explanation of how the controlled U.S. press could have hatched such a scandal as the Pentagon Papers.

"What is involved here is not freedom of the bourgeois press," the Tass news agency said. "What is involved here is a complex political struggle among the U.S. ruling circles, which became aggravated because of the impasse which U.S. policy has reached in Southeast Asia."

"A number of influential organs of the U.S. bourgeois press, supported in secret by the powerful economic forces, dared to defy the government by publishing the secret documents."

The reason for that defiance, Tass said, was this: Everyone knows, or ought to know, that the big U.S. press lords support the Vietnam war and hate to see President Nixon end it.

Writer Begins Tour Of China

HONG KONG (AP) — American author Barbara W. Tuchman, whose historical books have won two Pulitzer prizes, crossed the Hong Kong border today en route to Peking and a six-week tour of China.

Mrs. Tuchman won her first Pulitzer in 1963 for "The Guns of August," a book chronicling the start of World War I in Europe. She won the award again this year for the book "Stilwell and the American Experience in China."

Name Black To Embassy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has made good on a promise and assigned James E. Baker to South Africa—the first black American diplomat assigned to the nation.

A State Department spokesman announced Thursday that Baker, a 37-year-old career foreign service officer, has been assigned to the U.S. Embassy in Pretoria, where he will be economic and commercial officer.

Other black American diplomats and diplomatic couriers have served on a temporary basis in South Africa, but spokesman Charles W. Bray said Baker will be the first one on a permanent basis, probably spending two to three years in the country.

Top State Department officials have repeatedly told congressional committees the administration intended to appoint a black diplomat to the embassy in South Africa at an appropriate time.

Bray told the news conference Thursday that the department does not expect Baker to be subject to any restrictions in South Africa, where the government's official policy is separation of blacks and whites.

Few Administrators Expected To Sit On Teacher Dismissals

RALEIGH (AP) — A spokesman for the North Carolina School Board Association says the state's new Teacher Tenure Act makes it possible that no administrator will ever get to sit on an appeals panel that will decide the fate of dismissed teachers.

The criticism came Thursday from Dr. Raleigh Dingman, executive secretary of the association, before the state Board of Education.

After hearing Dingman's objections, the board unanimously accepted a list of 121 members to serve on the Professional Review Committee that will hear cases of teacher dismissals.

The list includes only 22 administrators, along with 44 teachers and 55 laymen.

The new tenure law provides that any Tar Heel teacher who is dismissed from her job may appeal to the review committee. Five members will be chosen from the list to make up a panel to hear the teacher's appeal.

But the teacher has a right to disqualify 40 of the 121 from the list before the panel is selected.

Dingman, representing school board members, superintendents and principals across the state, said this means that in each case a teacher could eliminate all 22 administrators on the list, as well as the few former school board members and any current board members that might be appointed to the list in the future.

"It is not the intention of the N.C. School Board Association to escalate the adversary relationship that exists between the teaching profession and school board members," he said. "But it does seem that a panel that represents only one position will tend to exacerbate the differences that now exist."

The list of 121 was drawn from about 1,000 nominees named by superintendents, professional teacher organizations, legislators and special committees. In other action Thursday, the board accredited Craven, Edgecombe, Robeson and Sampson county technical institutes and the Lenoir County Community College.

G. Herman Porter, in charge of institutional evaluation for the Department of Community Colleges, said the board has now accredited 16 institutions in the system and that 29 institutions have been accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

The board also reappointed Dr. Edgar J. Boone of Raleigh, Craig Allen of Lumberton and Dr. Howard E. Thompson of Wilkesboro to the Accreditation Screening Committee for three-year terms.

Will Vote On Unionizing

DURHAM (AP) — Employees of the Environmental Protection Agency in the Research Triangle area will vote Wednesday to decide whether to unionize.

The election, supervised by the Department of Labor, will determine whether the American Federation of Government Employees Local 3347 will be recognized as exclusive bargaining agent for the workers.

EPA members in the Raleigh-Durham-Chapel Hill area chartered the local last fall. There are more than 1,000 EPA employees in the area. The local organizers presented the Labor Department with a petition signed by 40 per cent of the employees asking for the election.

Weather Bureau employees will vote in a similar election Tuesday.

Federal employees are prohibited from striking but can negotiate on personnel policy and working conditions. The AFGE has 325,000 members nationally and about 10,000 in North Carolina.

Baseball is one of the few experiences of life in which you learn immediately and unquestionably whether you're safe—or out. In other pursuits we can go on for years thinking we're safe when we're not.

Of course, in life as in baseball it is what a man attempts and decides to do, and how well he fulfills his aim, that determines whether he'll be safe. And in life, too, each venture calls for determination and a knowledge of the rules.

For many youngsters in our community the church is the sandlot of life. In the church's youth activities they find their training and experience—for one day on the "diamond" of life they'll be making decisions and pitting their strength against serious challenges, relying on the religious convictions and moral principles they gained on the way up.

In weighing your child's need of spiritual development remember this: In life, each day doesn't offer a new ball game!

$51 Million Suit Brought

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Billionaire industrialist Howard Hughes is accused in a $51 million damage suit of slandering Noah Dietrich, his 83-year-old biographer and former aide.

It was the second slander suit filed as the result of a televised news conference last January in which a voice identified as Hughes said of an associate: "He's a no-good, dishonest son-of-a-bitch and he stole me blind."

Dietrich's suit, filed Thursday in Superior Court, alleged that Hughes made the statement about another associate and likened Dietrich to that individual.

In February, Robert A. Maheu, who was fired by Hughes as the $500,000-a-year head of Hughes' Nevada gambling and hotel empire, filed a $17.5 million libel and slander suit claiming the statement referred to him.

Also named as defendants were Hughes Tool Co., parent organization of the Hughes empire; the public relations firm of Carl Byoir & Associates; and Richard Hannah, a Byoir account executive.

Hannah said there would be no comment because he had not seen the suit.

The public relations firm arranged the February conference with seven newsmen in Los Angeles while Hughes was in the Bahamas.

Dietrich asked that the defendants pay $1 million in general damages and $50 million in punitive damages "or a greater amount according to the proof of his wealth."

Dietrich's suit said Hughes is a resident of Los Angeles County and "has been living in various parts of the Western Hemisphere for the past 15 years for the purpose of avoiding service of court process." Hughes Tool Co. officials say the billionaire is now living in a hotel suite in Vancouver, B.C.

Students On Dean's List

RALEIGH — Six Pitt County students have been named to the Dean's List at Meredith College, according to Dr. Allen Burris, vice-President and dean of the college.

For a student to be named to the Dean's List at Meredith, she must have a grade average higher than B and must have completed a minimum of 12 semester hours and passed all courses taken at Meredith.

The following area students are among 373 named to the Dean's List:

Kathryn Lewis Carson, wife of Don C. Carson, III and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge R. Lewis of Bethel; Mary Blanche Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Regan Jones of Greenville; Judy Brenda Little, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Little of Greenville; Susan Carter McDonald, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Maylon E. McDonald of Greenville; Sylvia Jean Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Morris of Greenville; and Debra Virginia Sugg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart W. Sugg of Ayden.

Advisory Group Meets Monday

The regular monthly meeting of the Citizens Advisory Committee to the Greenville City School System will be on Monday at 8:00 p.m.

At that time, members will meet in the new air-conditioned wing at Rose High School to take up several agenda items.

All community representatives are urged to be present for this mid-summer meeting. Interested members of the public are also invited to attend.

A huge American air and naval armada covered the advancing South Vietnamese.

South Vietnamese marines were closing in on the city from the east. One task force was reported to have advanced half a mile to the eastern outskirts and was a little more than a mile east of the Citadel, at the center of the city.

A second marine task force made a helicopter landing 2 1/2 miles southeast of the city.

Lt. Col. Do Viet, a spokesman for the Saigon command, said that elements of a South Vietnamese paratroop battalion backed by tanks had pushed into the northern part of Quang Tri a few hours before dawn.

"They are right next to the Citadel," he said.

Viet reported that resistance appeared to be light; although the forwardmost troops of the battalion were shelled by 107mm rockets and long-range 130mm guns.

"We control at least two-thirds of the city," Viet told newsmen.

Heavier fighting was reported on the southern and eastern fringes of the city. Viet reported 58 North Vietnamese killed and eight tanks destroyed on the outskirts.

Paratroopers on the southern side battled heavy counterattacks Thursday night from North Vietnamese forces making a stand in a line of old French villas.

Scores of U.S. Navy jets from 7th Fleet carriers off the coast scrambled into the night skies to attack the North Vietnamese, their tanks, artillery and automatic weapons.

It was the first stiff resistance the South Vietnamese paratroopers have encountered since they began tightening their grip on the southern edges of the city three days ago.

Associated Press correspondent Holger Jensen reported that South Vietnamese tanks knocked out two Soviet-built PT76 light amphibious tanks used by the North Vietnamese and a paratrooper knocked out a third with a hand-fired anti-tank missile.

ROBERSONVILLE — The Rev. James Zachary Alexander will deliver the Men's Day sermon at the Providence Baptist Church here Sunday at 11 a.m.

The Rev. Alexander is dean of the Divinity School, Shaw University, Raleigh. He received a B.A. degree from Shaw University, Bachelor of Divinity and the Master of Sacred Theology Degrees from Andover Theological School, Newton Centre, Mass.

He has also studied at the Ecumenical Institute, Chateau de Bossey Cerny, Switzerland, under a scholarship from the World Council of Churches.

The public is invited to attend the service.

REV. ALEXANDER

Straight A's By Five From Pitt

Five students from Pitt County were among 226 undergraduates at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro who made straight A's and attained the Dean's List on courses completed during the spring semester.

Those students who made straight A's at UNC-G are: Rebecca J. Bosley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David E. Bosley of Grifton; Chrisanthie C. Kares, daughter of Mrs. Chris Kares, early childhood education major, and Valencia Willoughby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H.W. Willoughby, French major, both of Greenville.

The two students who made the Dean's List during the second semester are Pamela A. Carter, a French major, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Carter and Katherine A. Inman, a French and Spanish major, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Clifford Inman, both of Greenville.

amount, but was short of the goal until Hardee offered his gift.

May said Hardee's success is probably without parallel in Eastern North Carolina.

A Pitt County native, May said Hardee only completed the seventh grade in school. After serving in the U.S. Navy during World War II, he opened a small restaurant here in 1945.

He married Kathryn Roebuck of Robersonville and their business, Hardee's, became on the largest hamburger chains in the nation, May explained.

While the chain still bears his name, all interest was sold to a group of Rocky Mount businessmen several years ago.

According to May, Hardee then formed a new chain known as Little Mint.

Little Mint stock, May said, which started selling for $3.50 a share two years ago, was selling for $13 per share by July 1 of this year when it split one for one, and is now selling for between $6 and $7 per share.

Commenting on his gift, Hardee said, "It is a pleasure for me to give this to East Carolina so that they can complete their plans for building a planetarium."

He continued, "I think a planetarium will be a tremendous asset not only to the university, but to Greenville and all of eastern North Carolina as well."

ECU Chancellor, Dr. Leo Jenkins said "On behalf of all the faculty and trustees of the University, I want to thank Mr. Hardee for this generous gift."

"It is a dream come true for all of us... especially to Dr. Floyd Mattheis and all the faculty in the science education department."

Dr. Jenkins said too, "I would also like to take this opportunity to thank Sen. Herman Moore of Mecklenburg and the Directors of the American Credit Co. of Charlotte for giving us such a good start toward this project."

"We are very grateful to them."

The building, as proposed, will contain about 10,000 square feet and would house the planetarium projectors, an exhibition room and a small observatory.

Some objectives of the planetarium will be to provide instruction in astronomy and space sciences for college, elementary, junior and senior high school students; to provide in-service and pre-service instruction for teachers; provide general educational programs for members of the surrounding communities; provide general educational programs for members of the surrounding communities; and provide space for exhibits pertaining to astronomy and other space sciences.

According to Dr. Jenkins, planning for the facility will begin immediately.

Present plans call for constructing the facility behind Joyner Library.

Offering Course In Scuba Diving

A non-credit evening course in scuba diving will be given by the East Carolina University Division of Continuing Education July 20-Aug. 15.

Consisting of eight three-hour sessions, the course meets Tuesdays and Thursdays, 7-10 p.m. in Minges Coliseum on the ECU campus.

The course is designed after the Los Angeles County Basic Scuba Certification Course.

Further information and registration forms are available from the ECU Division of Continuing Education, Box 2727, Greenville.

MUSIC PROGRAM

Johnny Wooten and his Spiritual Singers will present a program of gospel music at Sweet Hope Church Sunday night at 7:30. The program is being sponsored by the ushers of the church.

The public is invited to attend.

Pirates Outlast Campbell By 13-12

Perry Gets 13th Win; Coleman Notches 10th

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

"If you can't win 20 games with this club, you don't deserve to win," said Detroit's Joe Coleman, who then predicted he'll do just that—with a little help from his friends.

Coleman, the Tigers' ace right-hander who won 20 games a year ago, reached the halfway point toward that magic number Thursday night with a six-hit, six-strikeout performance, a 7-0 shutout over Kansas City that halted Detroit's four-game skid.

In other American League games, Baltimore nosed out the Chicago White Sox 2-1, the New York Yankees beat Oakland 6-2, Milwaukee clipped California 6-5 and, in a two-night doubleheader, Cleveland swept Texas 4-3 and 6-5 in 12 innings. Boston and Minnesota were not scheduled.

In the National League, Los Angeles bombed Montreal 11-3, Atlanta edged the Chicago Cubs 4-3, San Francisco topped Philadelphia 6-4 in 10 innings, San Diego slipped past the New York Mets 1-0 in 14, and Pittsburgh belted Houston 7-3 in a 17-inning affair. Cincinnati and St. Louis were idle.

The Tigers battered five Royals pitchers for 13 hits en route to the triumph that kept them within two games of the front-running Orioles in the East Division.

Aurelio Rodriguez, with two singles and a double, and Tony Taylor, with two singles and a triple, led the assault while Bill Freehan drove in three runs with a single and a double.

The Orioles won three of three from the White Sox in their midweek series, thanks to superlative pitching that held Chicago to a measly 13 hits in the 27 innings. The only runs scored by the Sox in that stretch came on a pair of solo homers by Dick Allen.

Thursday's victory extended Baltimore's winning string to five games—all of them complete games by Orioles' moundsmen. The latest was the five-hitter by Mike Cuellar, who also singled home the deciding run in the eighth inning Thursday night.

Cuellar, who has rebounded from a dismal early season to raise his record to 7-6 with victories in five of his last six decisions, outdueled Tom Bradley, who also had a five-hitter. "Cuellar was great and so was Bradley," Chicago Manager Chuck Tanner said, stating on both sides was the best in any series I've seen this year.

Yankees Manager Ralph Houk did a little stating-of-the-obvious himself as he spoke of relief ace Sparky Lyle.

"Maybe I use him too much," Houk said, "but when you have someone like him in the bullpen, you bring him in. He's a good relief pitcher 'cause he has good stuff and gets the ball over the plate."

Lyle did it well enough to pick up his 17th save of the season after the A's had knocked out starter Mike Kekich with four straight hits and two runs in the sixth inning.

Sparky squelched Oakland on just one hit in his 3 1-3 inning stint. New York, meanwhile, got all the scoring it needed with a four-run fifth inning, two of them coming on Felipe Alou's double, to keep the A's from widening their five-game West Division lead.

Graniteers Rip Integon, 22-9

The Graniteers finished their regular season with a 22-9 romp over Integon yesterday in the Tar Heel Little League.

The playoffs in the league begin today. The Moose meet the Exchange at 4 p.m. at Guy Smith, while the Elks take on Integon at 6 p.m. Saturday, Pepsi-Cola, the regular season champ, takes on the Moose-Exchange survivor at 2 p.m., while the Graniteers take on the Elks-Integon winner at 4 p.m. The finals will be held Monday at 4 p.m. at Elm Street Park.

Integon pushed into the lead in the first inning, coming up with five runs. Jeff Miles singled and Sandy Abbott reached on an error. Bobby Wiggins walked, loading them up, and David Woodard singled in Miles. David Houston walked to score Abbott and Jimmy Miles walked to bring Wiggins over. A passed ball scored Winstead and Robin Smith singled to score Houston.

The Graniteers came back with two in the bottom of the frame. Timmy Allen singled and stole second. He took third on an error and scored when Chris Moye singled. He moved up on a passed ball and Mike Moye reached on an error. Another passed ball scored Chris Moye with the second run.

In the second, the Graniteers came up with four more to move into the lead, 6-5. Sam Hardy was hit by a pitch and Wade Dead walked. Passed balls brought Hardee around and Allen reached on an error to score Dean. A wild pitch put Allen on third and Kevin Haut singled him over. Haut stole second and came around on errors on the relay.

Integon tied it up in the third. Wiggins walked and Winstead singled. A passed ball then scored Wiggins for a 6-6 tie.

In the bottom of the fourth, however, the Graniteers blew it open, scoring 13 runs to put the game out of reach, 19-6. Wayne Stokes walked and moved to second on a balk. Micah Dixon walked as did Allen. A passed ball scored Stokes, and Haut singled in Dixon. Chris Moye reached on a fielder's choice, scoring Allen. Mike Moye then doubled to drive in Haut and Chris Moye for an 11-6 lead, enough to win.

Eight more runs crossed before the inning was finished, and they added three more in the fifth.

Integon scored one more in the fourth and two in the fifth.

Cain, Hollis Get Promotions

Several administrative changes in the East Carolina University Athletic Department were announced recently by Clarence Stasavich, Director of Athletics.

The changes included the promotion of Bill Cain from business manager of athletics to the newly created position of assistant director of athletics; Earline Hollis was named to succeed Cain as business manager of athletics and Franc White was named new sports information director succeeding Jim Young, who resigned to continue his education at the end of May.

In making the announcement, Stasavich also mentioned Ira Norfolk, who was named earlier this year as the full-time director of the Pirates Club,

Hardee's Is Victor

Hardee's gained 12-8 victory over the Jaycees last night in the City Softball League as both teams completed their regular season schedule. Hardee's finished with a 9-9 record while the Jaycees were 2-16.

Hardee's pushed into the lead in the first inning, scoring seventh runs. They got what proved to be the winning runs in the third, however, scoring twice more.

W. Miller led off the third with a single and with two outs, T. Sugg got a hit to keep things alive. S. Mann doubled in Miller and J. Wingate singled to score Sugg with the ninth Hardee runs.

They then added one in the fourth and two in the sixth to close out their scoring. The Jaycees came up with six in the fourth, then added two more in the eighth.

The league winds up regular season play tonight with Parker's meeting Burger King and then taking on Huey's.

BUIES CREEK — East Carolina outlasted Campbell College last night, 13-12, in a hard-fought North Carolina Summer Collegiate League baseball game.

The victory kept the Bucs in step with league leading North Carolina, with a 12-5 record, a half-game back.

East Carolina took the lead in the first inning, scoring a run. Jimmy Paige led off with a single and moved up on Ralph Lamm's infield grounder. Larry Walters then singled to drive in Paige for a 1-0 lead.

Campbell came right back to score a pair, however, and grab the lead. Ed Harrington walked and took second on a wild pitch. A passed ball then put him on third. John Whitehurst also walked, and a wild pitch scored Harrington and put Whitehurst on second. Ron Hawley followed with a single, driving in Whitehurst, giving Campbell a 2-1 lead.

In the third, the Bucs came back to score two and take a 3-2 edge. Walters walked and Ron Staggs was hit by a pitch. Troy Eason singled in Walters and Staggs scored when John Narron reached on a fielder's choice.

Campbell came right back with a run to tie it at 3-3 in the bottom of the third. Herring singled and was sacrificed up. He stole third and Whitehurst was walked. Hawley also walked to load them up and Mitch Cheek grounded out to score Herring.

Campbell then exploded for six runs in the fourth inning to move into a 9-3 lead. Denver McCullough walked and Ross Lanston singled. Timmy Howell followed with a single, scoring McCullough and Herring singled in Lanston. Whitehurst got a hit to score Howell and Hawley walked to load them up. Cheek singled in Herring and Whitehurst, and Henry Thomas doubled to drive in Hawley to end the scoring.

In the fifth, the Bucs got one run. Walters got it, slapping a homer.

Campbell got another run in the fifth. Herring walked and scored on Whitehurst's single. That made it 10-4.

Wheeler Quits Post

HOLLYWOOD — George Wheeler has resigned as the head football coach at D.H. Conley High School, it was announced today.

Wheeler, a graduate of East Carolina University in 1970, became the first varsity football coach at Conley this past season, guiding the new school to a surprising 4-6 record.

A graduate of Buena Vista High School in Virginia, Wheeler was an all-star tackle for the Pirates while in college.

For his efforts during the past year, he was named as the football Coach of the Year in the Eastern Plains Conference.

Wheeler said that he has accepted a position as head football coach at Albemarle High School in Albemarle. He and his wife, the former Brenda Huffman of Buena Vista, will be moving there in August.

No successor has been named. Pitt County Superintendent Arthur Alford said.

In the sixth, the final two Campbell runs came over. Hawley walked and with two outs, McCullough singled. Langston singled in Hawley and Howell walked to load the bases. Herring also walked to force in McCullough with a 12th run.

East Carolina then rallied for seven runs in the top of the seventh, cutting the lead to 12-11. Walters led off with a double and scored on Staggs' single. Eason also singled and Narron reached on an error, loading them up. Leggett walked to force in Staggs and Glenn Forbes walked to score Eason. Mike Bradshaw hit into a fielder's choice, Narron, but getting Forbes at second. Lamm then singled in Leggett, and Bradshaw moved to third on a wild pitch. Walters walked to reload them, and Staggs singled in Bradshaw with the 11th run.

Then, in the ninth, the Bucs came up with the final two runs they needed to win it. Staggs singled and Rick McMahon came on as a pinch runner. Eason walked and Narron did too, loading them up. Leggett reached on a walk, forcing in McMahon with the tying run, and a wild pitch brought in Eason with the winning run.

The Pirates return home on Saturday at 7:30 p.m., hosting Appalachian at Harrington Field. It will be Larry's Shoe Store night, and free tickets are available from that store.

Chicod Is Pitt Winner

CHICOD — The Chicod team in the Southern Pitt Little League gained an 8-3 victory over Piggly-Wiggly last night in the final game of the regular season.

Adams was the winning pitcher and helped his own cause by leading the team batting. He had two hits, both triples. The last was a bases-loaded one in the third inning when Chicod scored four runs to take an 8-2 lead.

Jackson took the loss. Piggly-Wiggly finished with a 10-2 record, while Chicod is 7-4.

Ryun A Step Closer To Goal

By KEN DONEY

Associated Press Sports Writer
EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Jim Ryun, who said he "felt under control all the way," moved another step nearer his Olympic goal Thursday night with a quarter final victory in the 1,500-meter race at America's Olympic Track and Field Trials.

The former Kansas star, who just missed a U.S. berth in the 800 meters, advanced to the semifinals tonight by turning in a 55-second final lap winning his heat of the 1,500 3 minutes, 45.1 seconds.

Dave Wottle, the leading Green standout who finished No. 1 in the 800 meters weekend, also advanced with winning 3:43.7 clocking, but he is in more danger than Ryun tonight.

Wottle will be in a fast third flight against such threats as Tom Von Ruden of Stillwater, Okla., Howell Michael of the Marine Corps and Jerome Howe of Kansas State.

The three top men from each of the three heats advance to Saturday night's finals.

Oregon star Steve Prefontaine breezed home a heat winner in the 5,000-meter run, coasting to the tape in 13:51.2.

Prefontaine, 21-year-old American record holder at 13:29.8, was followed by former Oregon Stater Tracy Smith in 13:52.8, and the Los Angeles policeman was just ahead of ex-Washington State runner Gerry Lindgren in 13:53.6.

In the other heat, 34-year-old George Young of Casa Grande, Ariz., took it easy and settled for fifth place in 14:11.6 as Tarry Harrison of Club West and Leonard of Hilton of the Houston Track Club earned the top two spots of respective times of 14:06.2 and 14:07.0.

Twelve men altogether advanced to Sunday night's finals. Young won a bronze medal in the steeplechase during the 1968 Olympics, but decided last year to switch to the 5,000.

Willie Davenport of the Texas Striders, the 1968 Olympic Gold medalist, advanced in the 110-meter high hurdles with a 13.6-second time in winning one heat of the quarterfinals.

In another heat, Rod Milburn of Southern University, world record holder in the 120-yard high hurdles, hit six of the 10 barriers but still clipped the tape first in 13.5.

Tom Hill of the Army, formerly of Arkansas State, also turned in a 13.5 as 16 advanced into today's semifinals.

In the 400-meter dash, world record-holder Lee Evans of the Bay Area Striders and John Smith, who holds the world mark at 440 yards, both advanced into today's second round.

Evans, 1968 Olympic gold medalist, finished third in 46.8 seconds in one heat as Tommie Turner of Sports International (45.6) and James Redd (46.4), the Southern University sprinter, finished 1-2.

Smith and runnerup Maurice Peoples of Washington D.C., lead another heat, each timed at 45.7. Wayne Collett, like Smith a former UCLA standout, finished second in 46.1 behind Army's Fred Newhouse (45.4) in another heat as 16 sprinters advanced.

Coca-Cola Is 2nd Place Team

Coca-Cola downed R.C. Cola, 7-3, in the North State Little League yesterday to grab off second place in the league.

The North State playoffs begin this afternoon at 4 p.m. when the Kiwanis meet the Lions. At 6 p.m., R.C. will take on the Jaycees. Both games will be at Elm Street Park.

Saturday at 2 p.m., the Lions-Kiwanis winner meets the Optimists, while Coke faces the R.C. — Jaycee survivor at 4 p.m. The two winners will meet Monday at 6 p.m. for the title and the right to advance into the City Playoffs.

Coke pushed into the lead in the second inning, scoring four runs. Jerome Ross led off with a single and Joe Downing singled him to third. Downing advanced on a passed ball and Rusty Lilly walked to load the bases. David Johnson walked to force in Ross and Downing and Lilly scored on a single by Marshall Crumpler.

Will Sanderson walked to reload the bases and Johnson scored on Mark Berbert's fielder's choice. In the third, R.C. came back with a pair of runs. Reggie Selby reached on a fielder's choice and Junior Hardee singled. Doug Selby singled in Reggie Selby and a balk brought Hardee home.

Coke added three more in the fourth. Sanderson singled and Berbert doubled. Ronnie Chapman walked, loading them up. Ross followed with a double, driving in Sanderson and Berbert. Downing hit a sacrifice fly to score Chapman with the seventh run.

The final R.C. run came over in the sixth. Ricky Bolonde singled and Bryant Morton got a hit. Jay Wood singled to score Bolonde.

Wood had two hits to lead R.C., while Ross had two for Coke. R.C. Cola 002 001-3 6 2

Greenville Legion Sweeps Series, 7-5

AHOSKIE — Greenville's American Legion rallied to take a 7-5 victory over Ahoskie last night and wrap up the first round of the best-of-three series in the Area One playoffs.

Greenville swept the series in two straight games. They must now await the outcome of the Wilson-Tarboro series, and the battle between the winner of that and Rocky Mount to determine the next Greenville opponent. That best-of-three series is slated to begin as soon as the other two have been completed. Ahoskie pushed out into the lead in the third inning and led, 4-1 after four, but Greenville rallied there to tie it up, but it was the ninth inning before they finally pushed over the two winning runs.

Greenville took the lead in the first inning with a run. Robert Brinkley reached on an error and Robbie Cox was safe on another. Stanley Cobb singled, but the runners held up, and then found themselves in a traffic jam with two going for second. Brinkley then headed for home, jarring the ball loose to score on the error.

Ahoskie got off a threat in the first as John Ezzell led off with a single and moved up on an out, but then died at second. Greenville came back with another threat in the second as Mike Bundy singled, Vic Corey walked, and Bundy moved on to third on a ground out. But a double play ended the Greenville hopes there.

Ahoskie came up with a run in the second to tie it up. Keith Renner singled and Gilbert Vaughn got a hit. With two outs, Allen White singled, driving in Renner for a 1-1 deadlock.

Greenville tried again in the top of the third as Bill Lee walked and took second on a wild pitch, but got no further.

Ahoskie then came up with two in the bottom of the third to take the lead. Bob Meyers singled and Tommy Fleetwood drove him over with a triple to right-center. Pete Proctor hit back into the infield, and the ball was played to home to get Fleetwood, but errorer, allowing him to score for a 3-1 lead.

Ahoskie added another in the fourth. Jerry Askew singled and then stole second. Greg Goss walked and with two away, Bob Meyers singled, scoring Askew on a play that started a rhabarb, but didn't change anything, giving Ahoskie a 4-1 edge.

Greenville came roaring back in the fifth, however, pushing over three runs to tie it up. Brinkley led off with a triple and Cox drew a walk. With one down, Phil Blount walked, loading them up. Lee singled in Brinkley and Randy McKinney was hit by a pitch, scoring Cox. Blount came over with Bundy walked, tying it at 4-4.

Greenville got another chance in the sixth when Brinkley singled and was sacrificed up, but two straight outs ended the chance.

Ahoskie came back with a run in the sixth to take the lead again, 5-4. Askew struck out but reached on a passed ball, and an error on the throw to first to try and get him send him on to second. He was sacrificed to third and White walked. Ezzell then hit a sacrifice fly to drive Askew over with the go-ahead run.

But Greenville came back again in the eighth, loading the bases on a single and two walked but nothing came over.

Then, in the ninth, they got a pair to win it. Conrad walked and Brinkley got his fourth hit of the night. Cox then singled to drive in both runners, giving Greenville its 7-5 lead.

Ahoskie came back to put two on a walk and an error, but Greenville got them out to end it.

Padres Hold Mets Scoreless For 14 Frames, Then Get Winning Run

By HAI. BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer Steve Arlin, San Diego's pitching dentist, must have given the New York Mets a dose of sleeping gas Thursday night. And when the Padres finally got around to operating on Arlin's baseball patients, it was anything but painless.

Arlin pitched 10 brilliant innings, allowing only one hit before turning the Mets over to reliever Gary Ross, who permitted just one more hit in four innings. Finally, the Padres pushed across a run on a bases-loaded walk in the 14th inning for a 1-0 victory.

Arlin, who holds a degree in dentistry from Ohio State University, matched zeroes with the Mets' Jerry Koosman for 10 innings before Ross and New York reliever Tug McGraw took over. By then, the Mets were mesmerized and they never did wake up.

In other National League games Thursday night, San Francisco topped Philadelphia 6-4 in 10 innings, Los Angeles walloped Montreal 11-3, Atlanta edged Chicago 4-3 and Pittsburgh beat Houston 7-3 in 17 innings. Cincinnati and St. Louis were not scheduled.

In the American League, it was New York 6, Oakland 2; Kansas City 7-0 over Detroit; Baltimore 2, Chicago 1; Cleveland sweeping a doubleheader from Texas 4-3 and 6-5 in 12 innings; and Milwaukee edging California 6-5. Minnesota and Boston had the night off.

Despite the outstanding pitching of Arlin and Ross, the Mets were still tied in the 14th because the Padres had been unable to cash in on any earlier scoring opportunities. When they loaded the bases with none out on two singles and a fielder's choice at the start of the 14th, it looked like there was no way they couldn't score. But they almost didn't.

McGraw got Nate Colbert on a force play at the plate and then struck out Clarence Gaston. But Jerry Morales waited out a walk to force home the run San Diego needed.

The Mets almost got it back in the bottom of the 14th when Bud Harrelson walked, moved up on a wild pitch and a sacrifice and then, with two out, tried to score on a short passed ball. But catcher Pat Corrales recovered in time and threw to Ross, covering the plate, to catch Harrelson.

The Giants beat the Phillies in the 10th inning when Tito Fuentes unloaded a two-run triple. The winning rally started with a two-out walk to Dave Kingman and after Domas Blanco singled, Fuentes delivered his big hit.

San Francisco, which has won six of its last seven games, tied it in the eighth inning when Garry Maddox singled, moved to third on two grounders and scored on Mike Ryan's wild pickoff throw.

Don Money and Deron Johnson homered for the Phillies.

Dusty Baker's two-run homer keyed a four-run Atlanta rally in the third inning and the Braves hung on to nip Chicago.

George Stone, 2-6, earned the victory with ninth inning help from his cousin, Cecil Upshaw. Ron Santo's two-run homer knocked out Stone but Upshaw came on to get the last three outs, recording his seventh save.

It was Stone's first victory as a starter this season.

The Dodgers blasted the Expos, snapping a 3-3 tie with a pair of runs in the eighth inning and then wrapping up the victory with six runs in the ninth. Bill Russell drove in four runs with two singles and a triple and Jim Lefebvre laced a three-run homer for the Dodgers.

Mike Jorgensen and Clyde Mashore homered for the Expos.

Pittsburgh tied the score on Willie Stargell's two-run homer in the ninth inning and then struggled into the 17th before pushing across four runs to beat Houston.

Reliever Ramon Hernandez started the Pirates' winning rally with a leadoff double and scored the tie-breaking run on a double by Vic Davalillo.

Little Mint Wins Title

The Little Mint captured the Women's Softball League title last night with a 7-2 victory over Beltona. In the other games, Piggly-Wiggly downed Three Steers, 10-4, and Azalea Mobile Homes won by forfeit over Coca-Cola.

The league starts its double elimination tournament Tuesday, with two games scheduled. In the first game Piggly-Wiggly will meet Three Steers, with Coke taking on Azalea in the second. Beltona and Little Mint received byes into the second round of the winners bracket.

In the first game, Three Steers took the lead with three runs in the first inning, but Piggly-Wiggly came back with four in the second to move ahead. Three Steers added one in the third to tie it up, but Piggly-Wiggly then added four more to wrap it up.

In the bottom of the third, Margie Harris walked and Dolly Johnson got a hit. Carolyn Haddock singled and an error let Harris score. Faye Nichols singled and Maggie Edwards reached on an error, scoring Johnson and Haddock. Linda Ross singled and Sherry Francis walked to score Nichols.

P-W added two more in the fourth for its 10-run total.

In the game that decided the title, Little Mint pushed over two runs in the third for the lead, but Beltona came back with two in the seventh to tie it up.

Then, in the eighth, Little Mint pushed over five to win it. Connie Pearce singled and Bobbie Jones tripled her over. Laura Kilpatrick singled her in and Linda Tripp walked. Pat Kilpatrick doubled and Sandra Kelly singled. Darlene Briley hit into a fielder's choice, scoring Pat Kilpatrick with the final run.

The league had one more round of play scheduled, but since it does not affect the standings, it was cancelled.

Leaders All Claim Victory

Black Jack, Grace and Meadowbrook came up with victories in the Church Softball League last night.

Meadowbrook, which has already won the American Division title, downed Presbyterian, 9-8. Black Jack stayed atop the National Division with a forfeit victory over Maranatha, and Grace remained a game behind Black Jack with an 11-6 win over Oakmont.

In the opening game, Presbyterian took the lead with four runs in the second inning. Meadowbrook came back with five in the third to push ahead, 5-4. They added another in the fourth, but Presbyterian came up with three in the fifth to take a 7-6 lead. They added another in the seventh for a two-run edge.

In the bottom of the seventh, however, Meadowbrook rallied to win. B. Harris singled and L. Owens got a hit. C. Powell tripled in both runners to tie it up and a single by D. Foster brought Powell over with the winning run.

In the final game of the evening, Oakmont grabbed the early lead with a run in the second. In the third, Grace pushed over three runs to take the lead.

Oakmont came back with two in the bottom of the third to tie it up. Oakmont went back out with a run in the fourth, but Oakmont came up with three in the bottom of the frame to take a 6-4 lead.

Grace scored one in the fifth and then came up with six in the bottom of the sixth to take it.

D. Hardee led off the sixth with a hit and R. Thomas, S. Pugh and K. Smith each followed with hits. Harmon reached on a fielder's choice and B. Peede doubled. L. Hardee tripled to drive in the final runs, giving Grace the victory.

Bunky Henry In Canadian Lead

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Golf Writer FORT ERIE, Ont. (AP) — Bunky Henry, who has had three years of deep, bitter frustration since his one day in the sun, shrugged off his six-under-par 65 that was good for the lead in the $150,000 Canadian Open Golf Tournament.

"The only time that leading is important is when you're leading after the 72nd hole," the 28-year-old former Georgia Tech football placekicker said after his opening round Thursday.

"That's the only time I led National Airlines," he recalled of his lone tour victory more than three years ago. He won $40,000 for one week's work in the Miami sun that time—and hasn't totalled that much since. Henry held a one-stroke lead over long-shot Tommy Sanderson, alone at 66, after one round of this national championship being played on the 6,751-yard, par 71 Cherry Hill Club Course.

Sam Snead, the 60-year-old West Virginian who recently won the World Seniors Championship, headed a quartet at 67, four-under-par.

Snead, who first won the Canadian Open in 1938, was tied with former Masters champion Gay Brewer, Lou Graham and rookie left-hander Sam Adams. "I've been working real hard on my game the last few days," defending champion Lee Trevino said after clipping two strokes off par with a 69.

Trevino was making his first start since leaving a hospital bed for a gallant but unsuccessful defense of his U.S. Open title against Jack Nicklaus.

Nicklaus is not competing here. The Masters-American Open title-holder is in Scotland preparing for next week's British Open.

Arnold Palmer rallied with a birdie-birdie finish to match par 71 and was tied at that figure, six off the pace, with South African Gary Player.

Changes In Clause Seen

HOUSTON (AP) — Baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn says he thinks there may be some changes in baseball's controversial reserve clause.

Kuhn told a news conference here Thursday he had not received word from Major League Players Association counsel Marvin Miller, but he suspected the association would want to negotiate a change in the clause.

"In the area of the reserve system ... there's pretty good indication how they're thinking," Kuhn said.

"I guess they feel they'll press the hardest for free agency after a certain number of years, whatever that might be, two years, four, five or six years. The concept would be the same, free agency after a certain number of years.

"I have to think there is a possibility for a change," he said.

Above: all these two waifs have is a stick, a piece of wood, as they play in a Saigon park.
Below: a homeless cripple girl begs on a sidewalk in the South Vietnamese capital.

Living on the street, fending for himself, he drinks and bathes when he finds a public pool.

Toyseller in a Saigon park offers bags of little plastic toys.

On Saigon's streets—above left, the newsboy. Above right, a wistful glance into someone else's world. Below, a small "family" snatches a brief moment of play.

Children Of War

Roaming the streets of Saigon, and other Vietnamese cities, are some of the most pitiful and forlorn casualties of the war. They are the homeless children, street urchins who belong to no one, whom no one protects or cares for. There aren't enough orphanages to provide more than a small percentage of Vietnam's several hundred thousand war orphans with even the modest shelter and services such institutions can usually offer. Adoption is rare, always difficult. Many of the homeless waifs are children whose villages have been destroyed, their families killed or scattered. And so they have fled to the cities where they live and sleep on the streets, and fight to keep alive from day to day, fending for themselves, living by their wits. Their own bitter war is for each small person a desperate struggle for existence. Often the war has mangled not only their lives but also their bodies. The maimed can only hope to survive precariously by begging. At best the able-bodied may do odd jobs, become newsboys. At worst, they become thieves and pickpockets. They have no one and nothing else to turn to.

office practice surprisingly.
"For I order 100 of those superb comic book formats of the great stories in world literature.

"But I don't specify 100 copies of the same book!
"No: I order 100 different novels.

"Then I scribble across the front cover: 'Happy birthday to Mary' and sign my name.

"When Mary compares her book with those of her friends who are also my patients, she finds that they have different books.

"So the children begin to exchange their 'Classics, Illustrated.'

"And other youngsters, not my patients, borrow Mary's book and those of my other patients, till they also begin coming to me for dental care.

"So I have almost doubled my number of child patients.

"And the parents are praising me for helping change their slow readers into avid book fans!

"Thanks, Dr. Crane, for that great idea."

Second Mile
Christ urged that his followers go a second mile.

This means we should do more than just what is required.

So whenever you can offer constructive gifts that will make good readers out of former slow readers and the millions of modern TV ear-minded kiddies, you have stopped a lot of school dropouts.

Besides, you will have opened the minds of youngsters to the 170 world famous novels that are often assigned in college English literature courses.

So you will have enriched their cultural outlook, while you are meanwhile winning friends, patients, clients or new Sunday School pupils!

"Dr. Crane," a mother mentioned recently, "my husband is a children's doctor who follows you plan of giving 'Classics, Illustrated' to patients.

"We have 4 youngsters, all in grade school.

"And when we drive 200 miles to visit the grandparents on a Missouri farm, the children grow irritable and quarrel.

"Often they start picking on each other until a fight starts.
"But now I have found a solution!

"For I take several different books of the 'Classics, Illustrated' and give a different one to each child.

"They may spend about 30 minutes on each one.

"But when they finish, they can exchange with each other.

"Thus, 4 of these wonderful books consume at least 2 hours of driving.

"Because we stop meanwhile for ice cream or soft drinks, just 4 of the 'Classics, Illustrated' colorful comic books will almost cover the entire trip.

But I hold several more in reserve to use on the return trip.
"Meanwhile, our kiddies get a lot of drill in reading English printed words.

"For the pictures are so intriguing that the youngsters simply MUST try to read the words in the balloons.

"Our PTA is now asking my husband to order all 170 titles to place in our school library, to aid the teacher of remedial reading!"

Opening lead: Ten of

When North's opening one club bid was greeted with a two no trump response by partner, he knew that his side held ample assets for a small slam undertaking, inasmuch as he had 21 high card points himself and South's response shows 13-15.

With a slightly unbalanced holding North might have checked back on a suit contract by bidding three hearts. Had he done so, however, the partnership might have landed in six hearts and with the adverse division in that suit there is no way to prevent East from scoring two trump tricks.

We approve of North's decision to proceed directly to six no trump. He holds honor strength in both of his short suits and with the partnership assured of at least 34 high card points, there should be a sound play for 12 tricks in no trump.

West opened the ten of diamonds and dummy's king won the trick. A count of the top tricks revealed a total of 10—three each in clubs, diamonds, and spades and one in hearts. If clubs divide three-two, then South has 12. He tested clubs first by leading to his king and then back to North's ace. When East discarded a diamond on the second round, declarer had a choice on how best to proceed.

He could lead the queen and another club to establish dummy's long card in that suit for his 11th trick, but now the contract would hinge on a successful heart finesse. Similarly, South could abandon the clubs altogether and play the heart suit instead. If hearts are divided three-two, then he can take three tricks there to bring his total back up to 12.

A problem will arise only if the hearts are four-one. However there is a way to protect against such an adversity. East's shortness in clubs suggests that he is the more likely defender to hold length in hearts.

First, South cashed the ace of hearts to see if either opponent held a singleton honor. When only small cards appeared, he continued with the seven of hearts from dummy. East could not afford to put up the king or else he would establish both the queen and jack. He covered with the nine and South played the queen. West showed out, discarding a spade.

With his 11th trick safely in position to revert to the club suit. He played the queen and another club putting West in with the jack. Since the latter was out of hearts, he was obliged to surrender the lead on the return and North's eight of clubs scored the fulfilling trick.

In all, declarer took three spades, two hearts, three diamonds, and four clubs.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The daytime is fine for errands and for thinking up ways to make conditions more comfortable and better organized. The evening however tends to give you an inflated sense of your worth, or of how much you can spend, which can cause you loss or embarrassment.

ARIES (Mar 21 to Apr 19) Do your shopping during the day. Then make the important appointments you have been neglecting. Keep them on time and have a happy day.

communicating with others. Exercise care in p.m.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You want to get your financial matters well handled during the day and can do so. Make those repairs to property that are necessary. Investigate new methods of expression later.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Take those exercises you need for vigorous health during day, but take care you keep promises you have made in p.m. Plan how to advance during day hours. This is also true where social matters are concerned.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You can enjoy exciting recreation that makes you happy during day, as well as taking care of chores satisfactorily. But don't irk a fussy associate in p.m. Complete arrangements now for the coming week. Make notes so you forget nothing.

LEO (July 22 to Aug 21) A good day to see congenial friends you like, enjoy pleasures with them. Don't force anything tonight. You can gain some wish during day. Make the evening more delightful with the one you love.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You can handle public affairs well during day. The evening is fine for pleasure, but do not spend much. Handle that civic matter well, also. Pleasing mate should bring happiness tonight.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have fine new ideas and can put them in operation quickly. Take it easy and rest in the evening. Being with mate as much as you can will bring real happiness now. Try not to have clutter around your house.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get errands done with closest tie today and plan the future more wisely together. Relaxation favored in afternoon. Find out what your position is with others and improve conditions. Evening is excellent for reading.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Out to the sports or other recreation that appeals to you during day, but do some resting tonight and restore your energies. Those you like recognize your talents now and appreciate them, give you backing. Think.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You need to carry through with the promises you have made and get the goodwill of others quickly. A good Saturday for some recreation, too. Talk over with an expert new ideas and put them in operation immediately for success.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Prevail upon congenials to accompany you to parties or other recreations that appeal to you and them. Evening is fine for those little tasks that need to be done. Show others how much you really like them.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Home and family affairs are your best bet today so keep busy making everything more attractive and happy. Take time to get the information you want in the evening. You can be more successful in your career.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those young persons with much ingenuity. However, there is also some shyness because of the fear of being ridiculed by others, so start early to encourage this youngster and to provide for him or her opportunities to be with other young people so this obstacle can be overcome. Anything of a creative or artistic nature is fine here. Make sure that you send your child to the right schools and give right religious teachings. Sports are fine.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Plan Destroy Wines, Liquors

KINGSTON, Pa. (AP) — The State Liquor Control Board says it will have to destroy millions of dollars in wines and liquors submerged by recent flood waters.

The order applies to an LCB warehouse here and to 29 state stores around Pennsylvania flooded by water from Tropical Storm Agnes.

The Kingston warehouse inventory amounted to 130,000 cases of wines and liquors, valued in excess of $3 million.

The board has no estimate of the value of the stock in the various stores which must dispose of their supply.

Brazil, unlike the United States, has a "northern drawl" in its speech.

Farmers Disagree Over Set-Aside Effectiveness

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina farmers disagreed over the effectiveness of the "set aside" feature of the present cotton, wheat and feed grain programs during a series of field hearings before two U.S. senators Thursday.

Sen. Lawton Chiles, D-Fla., and Sen. Henry Bellmon, R-Okl., members of a Senate Agriculture subcommittee, conducted the "listening sessions." The sessions were designed to let farmers express their views on the kind of farm bill that should be written in 1973, when current cotton, wheat and feed grain programs expire. The set-aside provision requires a farmer to hold back a certain portion of his land from production in order to qualify for program benefits, but beyond that he may produce non-quota crops on an unlimited basis. Several farmers said they liked the flexibility of this approach. Others said it was not politically feasible because any time the agriculture secretary placed the set-aside requirement at a level high enough to help farmers, he would find himself in trouble with consumers.

"The real ding-a-ling in the set-aside legislation is that it does not provide effective production control," said Bailey P.

Williamson of Knightdale. "It resulted first in a surplus of corn and then in a surplus of wheat. We find we're wearing out our land, our machinery and our bodies—and getting very little in return."

A. C. Lawrence of Apex said in regard to the set-aside feature, "I never believed in trying to close a sack by leaving one end open."

Farm leader Harry B. Caldwell, executive secretary of the Farmers Cooperative Council of North Carolina, said the set-aside provision can not only result in price-depressing surpluses, but can also increase farm program costs to the taxpayer.

No Intention Of Withdrawal

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt Jr., responding to a Soviet-Cuban demand that the United States withdraw from its naval base at Guantanamo Bay in Cuba, says, "My reaction would be: 'Nuts.'"

Zumwalt made the comment while here Thursday for the first East Coast Flag Officers Symposium.

The demand came Thursday in a 4,000-word joint communique as Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro concluded an 11-day visit to the Soviet Union.

Author Receives Nixon Message

RUTLAND, Vt. (AP) — Author Pearl S. Buck, who is recuperating at a hospital here from an attack of pleurisy, has received a telegram from President Nixon.

"As a long-time admirer of your indomitable spirit and unfailing courage, I am confident that you will soon be fully recovered and able to continue your work," Nixon said in his telegram to the 80-year-old writer.

Hospital spokesmen said Thursday that the President also extended his "prayers and best wishes."

Miss Buck, winner of the Nobel and Pulitzer prizes, was reported in very satisfactory condition. Admitted to the hospital last Saturday, she had been working on four novels at her summer home in Danby when stricken with the pleurisy attack.

Agriculture Commissioner Jim Graham called for stepped-up research on animal health. East Carolina University Chancellor Dr. Leo Jenkins urged that attention be given to recreation, culture and other aspects of rural living as well as income. He suggested "a basketball court at every crossroads."

Larry Barbour of Rt. 1, Clayton, suggested statewide lease and transfer of tobacco quotas. At present, leasing must be done within a county.

Billy Fish of Willow Springs was one of several farm spokesmen who proposed that the Agriculture Department conduct a program to educate consumers to the fact that farmers are not making excessive profits.

North Carolina State University Chancellor John T. Caldwell said, "We've got to do more of an educational job with our urban citizenry on where the food comes from."

He also said, "A great deal more needs to be put into the whole complex task of making rural life better."

Tobacco Tour Includes Two Pitt County Stops

A three-day state tour of tobacco disease control test and demonstration plots will get underway Tuesday morning with two stops in Pitt County. Extension Chairman Ed Yancey said this morning.

Billed as the annual Extension-Research on Wheels Tour arranged under the direction of Furney Todd, tobacco disease specialist at N.C. State University, stops will be made at about 20 plots where a wide range of disease control programs are being studied and compared.

Yancey said that the tour, with participation expected from tobacco growers, agricultural extension agents, and industry representatives, will actually begin Monday night with a "Tobacco Talk Fellowship" and kick-off dinner at the Pitt Wildlife Club.

The chairman noted that tickers will be available upon request from the extension office here. The dinner and fellowship have been scheduled for 6:30 p.m.

On Tuesday morning, the participants will leave the Holiday Inn here, area headquarters, around 8 a.m. and will make a stop at the Floyd Mills farm located on Memorial Drive. From there, Yancey reported, the tour will progress to the Eastern Pines community and a 10:30 stop at the Wayne Stokes farm. A noon luncheon at the Greenville Golf and Country Club will follow the morning stops.

Yancey said that the tour will go from Pitt County to Greene County for further stops and from Greene on to Halifax County for a pig picking.

The tour will be by bus this year, it was pointed out, and expenses of the trip, including meals during the day, will be furnished by the participants. He noted that persons in this area who do not wish to make the Greene and Halifax County trips can go by car to the two stops in Pitt County.

Pesticide Board Curbs Use Of Over 60 Poisons

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Pesticide Board has approved a list of more than 60 chemical pesticides whose use will be restricted in the state.

The list was approved Thursday after months of negotiations between farmers, the chemical industry and conservationists.

Chemicals on the list include DDT, Dieldrin, Endrin, Aldrin, Heptachlor, Parathion, Mirex and Vapona. But the board delayed action on adding several more controversial chemicals — such as Landane, lead arsenate, chloradane and toxaphene — to the list pending further study.

The board also delayed action on the enforcement section of the list until its next monthly meeting after several board members and chemical industry representatives objected that the section was unworkable.

The section, which was sent to a subcommittee for rewording, would limit use of pesticides on the "restricted-use" list to those purposes listed on the label. The purpose of the list is to eliminate misuse of chemicals that are judged hazardous to either human health or the environment.

Misuse of these pesticides would be a misdemeanor and would carry a fine of $100 to $1,000 and up to 60 days in jail.

Board member John C. Williamson, representing the agricultural-chemical industry, argued that the section would lead to massive violations. He said identical pesticides can be packaged under different labels, often listing different purposes.

He suggested that the board instead limit the chemicals to those uses permitted by the Environmental Protection Agency.

But boat Secretary Bill Buffalo criticized this proposal, saying that EPA permits pesticides to be used in ways that are not permitted in this state.

Buffalo said Williamson's objections were "minor" and said the list would be meaningless without the enforcement section.

The list is part of a long-range program to regulate pesticide use in the state. It was adopted by the 1971 General Assembly and also calls for the licensing of pesticide dealers and applicators.

An Automatic Raise In Social Security Checks

Social Security beneficiaries need not apply for the 20 percent benefit increase signed into law by President Nixon on July 1. Greenville Social Security District Manager William McClure said today that all social security beneficiaries who are on the benefit rolls in September will receive the increase automatically. The increase is first effective for the month of September and will be included in the checks received on October 3.

The average monthly benefit for a retired worker goes up from $134 to $162; for a retired couple from $224 to about $271. A widowed mother with two children will receive an average social security benefit of about $386, up from $322.

For a disabled worker with a wife and one or more children, the new average monthly payment will be about $354, increased from $295.

The special monthly payments that are made to certain individuals age 72 and over who are not insured for regular social security benefits will also be increased by 20 percent, from $48.30 to $58.00 for an individual and from $72.50 to $87.00 for a couple.

McClure explained that the new law also includes a provision for automatic annual increases in social security benefits as the cost of living rises in the future — a recommendation made by President Nixon in his 1969 message on social security.

Under the new law the contribution and benefit base — the maximum amount of annual earnings that is counted for benefit and contribution purposes — will rise from the present $9,000 a year to $10,800 in 1973 and to $12,000 in 1974.

Thereafter, this amount would be adjusted automatically to keep pace with rising wages. This means that as earnings rise, workers whose earnings are at or above the level of the maximum earnings base will pay contributions on higher earnings — but they also will have those additional earnings counted toward the benefits that will be payable to them and their families in the future.

Will Welcome Demos And GOP

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Gov. Reubin Askew will deliver speeches at both the Democratic and Republican national conventions in Miami Beach.

Deputy press secretary Maurice Harling said Thursday that Askew, a Democrat, plans to accept an invitation to deliver the welcoming address at the GOP parley Aug. 21.

Askew is scheduled to deliver the keynote address Tuesday at the Democratic conclave.

Harling said the Republicans invited Askew to speak because he is the chief executive of the host state.

The annual cost of air pollution in the United States is estimated at $20 billion.

To Explain Rejections

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Board of Paroles has changed a long-standing policy and is now going to inform inmates of why their bids for parole are rejected.

For years the board simply told a prisoner whose bid for early release was denied that he wasn't getting out. He didn't get any explanation.

Now, according to board member Robert Weinstein, "We feel the inmates are entitled to know."

Secretary George Randall of the Department of Social Rehabilitation and Control hailed the board's move as "splendid — I'm behind it 100 per cent."

Randall said inmates turned down for parole could use the board's explanation as a starting point for working to eliminate the objections to their release.

Weinstein said, however, that an inmate won't be told everything about a rejected parole application.

"We don't disclose the names of local opposition," he said, "because the man or woman could get out and seek revenge."

But he said the three-man board still goes "as far as we can to let inmates know in detail" why a parole bid is turned down.
