

Easily Takes Nomination On First Ballot

McGovern Turns To Running-Mate Choice

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Sen. George McGovern, climaxing his dramatic rise from political obscurity by winning the first-ballot nomination of a divided Democratic party, was considering a broadening list of vice-presidential possibilities today after Sen. Edward M. Kennedy rejected his bid.

Soon after the votes of Illinois sent McGovern's total soaring past the magic 1,509 mark in the jammed, brightly lit convention hall, and even before the official result had been announced, Kennedy phoned McGovern from Hyannis Port, Mass., to offer congratulations. During their 15-minute talk, McGovern offered Kennedy the

No. 2 spot for the race against President Nixon. Kennedy rejected it "for very real personal reasons," according to McGovern spokesman Richard Dougherty.

Earlier in the evening, Florida Gov. Reubin Askew, another prime prospect, told McGovern through aides he didn't want to be considered.

McGovern aides said the nominee would make no announcement about a running-mate before midday.

One close adviser said he felt the list of those under consideration was expanding as the victorious nominee sought the counsel of Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey and Edmund S. Muskie, his defeated rivals whose withdrawal from contention a day earlier had signaled Wednesday night's triumph.

Those being mentioned include five senators — Thomas F. Eagleton of Missouri, Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut, Philip A. Hart of Michigan, Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin, and Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota; two governors, Ohio's John J. Gilligan and Wisconsin's Patrick Lucey, and labor leader Leonard Woodcock.

Within minutes after clinching the nomination, McGovern received congratulations and promise of support from all the candidates he had conquered, except Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace. But labor leaders in particular remained bitterly opposed to the senator, as did many delegates.

One sign in the hall read: "McGovern Will Bomb—in November."

After two straight all-night sessions, the climatic round of nominating speeches proceeded swiftly, with little semblance of the old-time hoopla and floor demonstrations. At last the roll call was reached and, as the clock struck midnight, McGovern's nomination was assured.

Behind him, in order, came Sen. Henry M. Jackson, who inherited much of Humphrey's labor support, with 486.65; Wallace 377.50; Rep. Shirley Chisholm 101.45; former Gov. Terry Sanford of North Carolina 69.5; Humphrey 35; Rep. Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas 32.8; preparation of budget requests. Commissioners made it clear that the county would not pay to keep personnel or programs initially funded by state or federal grants which have since been terminated, or restricted in use.

In the area of capital improvements for the county schools, commissioners last night seemed to favor a $403,750 budget which included, among other things, $300,000 for additional classrooms and lunchroom facilities at A. G. Cox school in Winterville, $18,000 for lunchroom expansion at G. R. Whitfield school in Grimesland, $17,500 for additional office space and lunchroom expansion at Falkland Elementary school at Bruce, $26,000 for equipment at Ayden-Grifton and Farmville high schools and $20,000 for equipment and machines for occupational classes.

Among capital outlay items not approved by commissioners was a $134,000 item for athletic fields and a $350,000 item for construction work at Bethel Middle School.

Budget requests of the city school system — including both current expense and capital outlay items — are expected to be acted upon by commissioners at their Monday meeting as is the budget for the county bond debt service fund which will include money for payment of interest and retirement of bonds for the new county hospital.

Muskie 20.8; Kennedy 10.65; Rep. Wayne L. Hays of Ohio 5; former Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota 2; and Sen. Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota 1.

As he sat in his hotel suite, surrounded by family, friends and aides, the victorious McGovern took phone calls from Kennedy, Humphrey and Muskie. Jackson sent a telegram pledging support. Mrs. Chisholm, the first black woman ever nominated for president, took the rostrum to pledge a coast-to-coast campaign to oust President Nixon.

Wallace, whose supporters sat silently while the McGovern backers whooped it up in the hall, remained in seclusion at his hotel.

Earlier in the day, his campaign manager, Charles Snider, said chances of a repeat of the governor's 1968 third-party race for president were growing "stronger and stronger every minute." But Dolph Briscoe of the Texas delegation said Wallace had told him there would be no third-party movement in 1972.

Busy Agenda Is Scheduled For City Council Meeting Tonight

Members of the Greenville City Council will be taking up numerous items on the agenda scheduled for the July meeting to be held tonight at 8:00 p.m. in City Hall.

Under old business, up for consideration are: Appointments to boards and commissions; rezoning of Phillip E. Carroll property Arlington Boulevard west of Evans Street; rezoning of Phillip E. Carroll property on North Greene Street extended; annexation of Pinebrook Associates; rezoning to R6MH an area in North Greenville, the Meadowbrook area; rezoning of Wheless and Moore property on Contanche and 9th Street; and driveway repairs in the Lincoln Park area.

Items listed for new business include: Sale of parcels C4 and D5 in the Newtown Redevelopment area; mobile home requests by Joe Pechels and Marvin Cox; an agreement between the City of Greenville and the Seaboard Coastline Railroad Company; a report from the Joint City-County Board of Adjustments and the Greenville Board of Adjustments concerning a convenience mart at 810 E 10th Street; participation of the Greenville Fire Department in the Pitt County Mutual Aid Group; taxi permit request by Johnny Ray Moore; amendments to Zoning Ordinance No. 322; refunds for a cemetery lot and for privilege license; and application for a taxi franchise.

One increased item in the health budget included $59,941 for solid waste disposal.

The proposed solid waste budget includes $18,898 for subsidy payments to various municipalities in the county such as Greenville and Bethel; $15,000 for purchase of equipment for use at the county's Littlefield sanitary landfill site and more than $7.88 for salaries for personnel to operate the landfill.

Tentative approval was also given to a list of expenditures amounting to $202,176 for the Mental Health Department — an increase of $24,990 over the past year's budget.

The biggest items facing commissioners last night — and some of which they still have to confront — involved expenditures for both city and county school.

Board members gave tentative approval to a county schools current expense budget totaling about $3.48 million (including a tentative $452,565 turnover to the Greenville city school unit). This was somewhat less than the $3.75 million listed in the "requested" column of the commissioners budget work sheets. And even the "requested" figure was less than the Board of Education had hoped for, but early in GRIFTON — A $163,803 budget for the 1972-1973 fiscal year was given tentative approval by the town board at its regular meeting Tuesday, according to town clerk Mrs. Nannie Smith. The proposed budget of $163,803 carries with it a decreased tax rate. Grifton's tax rate for the 1971-1972 fiscal year stood at $1.55 per $100 valuation, whereas the new rate as proposed is $1.50, resulting in a five-cents per $100 valuation decrease.

Expenditures in the budget included: General Fund, $95,154; Water and sewer, $24,756; Debt service, $22,675; power, $21,218.

In other action at the meeting, the board decided to hold the water and sewer rates at the present level. They also decided to bring in a speaker to discuss retirement plans for city employees at a future meeting.

The board also agreed to pay rent for the magistrate's offices now that the police station was added to the town building.

Officers Are Chosen By Human Relations Council

Members of the Greenville Human Relations Council have elected officers for a one year period effective July 1.

Tommy Payne, a public relations specialist, was elected chairman of the council. Roderick Phillips, Greenville mortician, was elected vice-chairman, and Mrs. Jean Darden, a teacher at Rose High School, secretary.

The council is currently composed of ten members. In addition to Payne, Phillips and Mrs. Darden, the members are Miss Eve Clark, Clarence Stasavich, Miss Jane Joyner, Father High Mulholland, Lemuel Clemens, Howard Sherrin and O. J. Roofs.

Earlier this year, the Greenville City Council (Continued on page 10)

Final Approval Of Pitt County Budget May Come Monday

By STUART SAVAGE

Commissioners, who were unable to finish a review of the proposed 1972-1973 county budget as they had hoped to do last night, are still hopeful they will be able to give final approval to the list of appropriations in a special meeting Monday.

Unless other major cuts are made, however, the budget for the new fiscal year will amount to about $7 million as compared with the $6.52 million budget for 1971-1972.

Commissioners were looking at expenditures for the county Health Department last night totaling about $435,000, including salaries and related expense.

One increased item in the health budget included $59,941 for solid waste disposal.

Leaf Crop Estimate Is Down From 1971

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Agriculture has issued its first estimate of the 1972 flue-cured tobacco crop, forecasting a harvest of 1,019,284,000 pounds, down 5 per cent from last year.

Estimates released by the Crop Reporting Board Wednesday did not include burley and other types of tobacco. These will be covered in August.

However, 1972 burley plantings were estimated at 228,000 acres, up 7 per cent from 1971. Based on that acreage and recent yield trends, the burley crop this year could total 571 million pounds compared with last year's 473 million pounds.

Officials said the flue-cured tobacco crop was retarded early in the season by cool, west weather, followed in mid-June by a shortage of moisture.

Rains from tropical depression Agnes and recent showers helped remedy that situation.

Based on July 1 indications, this year's flue-cured crop is expected to average 1,963 pounds per acre, compared with 2,050 last year.

Production estimates by states this year as compared with last year included:

Type 11 — Virginia 97,900,000 pounds, and 94,785,000; and North Carolina 239,400,000 and 260,440,000.

Type 12 — Eastern North Carolina 329,700,000 and 354,570,000.

Type 13 — North Carolina 88,200,000 and 97,680,000; and South Carolina 128,000,000 and 133,245,000.

Former Food Editor Favors Traveling With Youngsters

By JEANNE LESEMI
UPI Food Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—Two years of traveling with her children in Europe and Asia Minor convinced Jan Linn that trips abroad are for the young — parents as well as children. "So many people wait until they retire to go," said Mrs. Linn, a former newspaper food editor from Cincinnati, Ohio. "I think you should travel while you're young. You have more energy and stamina. You get more out of trips."

In her own case, Mrs. Linn already has put her experience in traveling with small children to good use. She is a public relations agency account executive here for a baby food manufacturer, Gerber Products Co.

Travel Rigors

In an interview, she said her younger son was only 11 months old and her older one, nearly four years, when she and her writer-husband, Alan, left for Europe.

They lived on an Ionian island for a year and traveled widely for another year. During that time, they ate many meals in restaurants. Mrs. Linn said she also cooked under conditions so primitive that she had to take batter for a birthday cake to the local baker on one island because their house had no oven. "We had a portable bottled gas stove and no refrigerator," she said. "We ate a lot of canned tuna, eggs, oatmeal or rice for breakfast, and cheese, olives, fresh fruit and bread for lunch. "Greeks have meat only once or twice a week, and you don't really need meat everyday when you can get eggs, feta (a salty white Greek cheese), lentils and other dried beans."

Mrs. Linn said their four-year-old took readily to some staples of Greek cookery, including souvlakia, or shish kebab, which is sold widely by street vendors. Another of his favorites was Greek gyros, or sandwiches served in round rolls that are mostly soft crust.

They're filled with small chunks of meat, raw tomatoes, raw onions and parsley and often eaten with a side order of garlicky yogurt. Baby's Survival Kit Food serving wasn't much of a problem, even for the baby, said Mrs. Linn. Her "survival kit"—a soukoulia, or handwoven wool shoulder tote—held everything from diapers and packaged disposable wash cloths to a baby spoon, a paring knife for fresh fruit, a bottle opener-punch for canned juice, half-length drinking straws cut from standard ones for use by the toddler, and a plastic bag of animal cookies for emergency food. "We carried split plastic bags to use as placemats for the children in restaurants to keep the tablecloths clean," she said. "Restaurant people appreciated that."

Familiar foods weren't entirely missing, said Mrs. Linn. "Spaghetti with meat sauce is fairly universal, and macaroni dishes are common in Greece."

One that children like is pastisio, a macaroni, meat and egg custard casserole. Mrs. Linn said their sons also enjoyed grilled meat, rice, omelets and the abundant fresh fruits and vegetables.

In the bigger cities, they shopped for bottled formula and regular canned baby food and toddler food packed by subsidiaries or licensees of American manufacturers.

Spartan living made her more appreciative than ever of American conveniences such as supermarkets and prepared foods and mixes, Mrs. Linn added.

The experiences abroad with her small fry also convinced her that children are flexible and good travelers.

"It's the others who get uptight,"

Souvlakia Recipe

Jan Linn's recipe for souvlakia is from the Ionian island of Lefkas, where vendors made the shish kabob-style snack from suckling pig instead of the more common lamb.

Cut one pound of boneless lean pork shoulder or fresh ham into 3/4-inch skewers. Using 8-inch skewers, place 4 cubes of meat on each and grill over charcoal, turning often until meat is well done. Brush meat with oil occasionally as it

The Boy Next Door Can't Be Ignored

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: We love the house we moved into last spring, but there is a problem with the boy next door. He is almost 16, and I have seen him looking into our windows with binoculars during the day time as well as at night. He also used to stare at me when I was sunbathing on our deck over our porch.

I thought perhaps it was just a young boy's normal curiosity, so I made certain the shades were drawn while I was dressing, and I never went around the house half-clothed.

It gave me a rather uncomfortable feeling to wonder if I were being watched, but I didn't really become upset until last week when I received an obscene letter from this boy. He wasn't even ashamed to sign his name.

Should I speak to him? Or should I go directly to his parents? Or should I just keep my shades drawn and my doors bolted and pretend that nothing has happened?

ANNOYED

DEAR ANNOYED: Go directly to his parents and tell them what you have told me. The boy appears to be disturbed, and needs to be psychiatrically examined. For his sake, and the sake of his family and society, please follow my suggestion at once.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the employer who made it a policy never to hire a teen-ager whose parents lined up the job reminded me of my own experience.

My father was well-connected in our town, so he would get me a summer job every year from the time I was 15. [I later learned that my father even paid my salary, which was a terrible blow to my ego.]

I was an average student, but my father used his influence to get me into his college which was way over my head. It took me five years to graduate, but it made my father very happy.

After graduation my father continued to run interference for me, and to make a long story short, in his well-intentioned efforts to help me, he all but destroyed my self-confidence.

Abby, please tell parents that unless kids are allowed to try their wings, they'll never learn to fly on their own.

STILL LEARNING AT 35

DEAR STILL: You did it very well. Thanks for writing.

DEAR ABBY: Your idealistic philosophy of "sharing and caring" is beautiful in theory, but it doesn't work. I learned that 15 years ago.

We took our young family to a public park, hoping to enjoy an outdoor picnic supper. We were all set to have a lovely time when a family of loud, crude characters moved in next to us and started to get friendly. They had a bunch of dirty looking children and a couple of mangy dogs sniffing everybody and everything in sight.

This unattractive carload of people soon took over the whole area. We had no privacy, and could hardly wait to pack up and head for home.

When we arrived home, we discovered several things were missing from our car. Then I remembered that a couple of the children had engaged us in conversation in order to distract us while some of the others were looting our car.

That cured us! Sorry, Abby, I am not interested in "sharing and caring," and chumming up to loudmouthed characters, thieves, juvenile delinquents, and dogs that urinate on my picnic basket. "JUST ME" IN N. Y.

DEAR ABBY: Pardon me while I laugh at the foolish 47-year-old woman who refused to be called "Grandma." I married a widower with three lovely children 10 years ago. Today I am probably the proudest Grandma in the world, and I am only 29! GRANDMA [STEP OR OTHERWISE]

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L. A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

cooks. To serve, squeeze fresh lemon juice over the meat and sprinkle with mixture of 2 teaspoons of salt, 1/4 teaspoon of crumbled sage leaves (not powdered sage) and a dash of coarse black pepper. Serve with chunks of crusty bread.

Next year's reunion of the Lowe family will be held in North Carolina.

Family Reunion Held Saturday

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. — The Lowe's annual family reunion was held Saturday at the Lincoln Jefferson Avenue and Sixth Street Park here hosted by relatives.

About 100 relatives from various parts of the country attended the ninth reunion. The District of Columbia, New York, Maryland, Virginia, and North Carolina were represented.

Dinner was served buffet style. The Rev. E.R. McNair of Greenville gave a prayer of blessing.

Various games and sport activities were held including fishing, horse-shoe throwing, soft ball, tennis, swing rides, seesaw, checkers, and the flying saucer.

Woman Truck Driver Combines Job With Being A Homemaker

By KAY JONES

Asbury Park Press Writer
NEPTUNE CITY, N.J. (AP)

Women school bus drivers have become commonplace on the local scene. Their ranks have swelled to where, if they do not now outnumber the male drivers, they are certainly nudging them for first place.

But cross-country or long haul women bus drivers—that's something else again, with long haul women truck drivers an even rarer sight.

Florence Gaffney, who combines being a homemaker with driving a school bus, has had two runs as a truck driver.

She was working as a school bus driver at Coast Cities

Coaches, Inc., making four trips a day when James Calhoun, the company's coordinator, mentioned that their affiliate, Coast Cities Truck Sales, Inc., needed a driver to bring in a new truck from Atlanta.

Mrs. Gaffney volunteered. She flew to Atlanta and drove the truck back, staying overnight with friends in Greenville, S.C.

Later she drove a travelog camper from Bangor, Me., to here.

"I had no trouble," Mrs. Gaffney said, "except I didn't know how to change to the auxiliary gas tank so that I wouldn't have to stop so often."

"But a man truck driver I met at a lunch truck stop showed me how to do it. I found the men drivers were very considerate."

Trucks have a double gear shift, a rarity for drivers used to automatic transmission, but as Mrs. Gaffney said, "The school buses have standard shift and I didn't find it too difficult."

Two of Mrs. Gaffney's fellow bus drivers for Coast Cities have driven in new school buses from the factories in Indiana and Ohio. Mrs. Helen Haeger and Mrs. Frances Lambertson, both of Ocean Township, drove in a convoy arrangement with two regular drivers.

The quartet flew to the factory and drove back, with a man driver as lead and another bringing up the rear.

"This way we had no fear of any mechanical problem," Mrs. Haeger said, "because we had the company of experienced drivers."

A Fair Test For Mail-Handling

While no one likes to see mail handling de-emphasized here, the new system of mail handling at Rocky Mount should have a fair test.

If it speeds up mail delivery and brings about more efficient mail handling then there can be no quarrel with the decision to centralize mail handling there.

On the other hand if the new system simply adds another layer of handling and tends to delay local mail delivery, then post office patrons will have the right to demand better service.

Basically, as we understand it, all mail collected here, with the exception of that deposited for strictly local handling, will go to the Rocky Mount center for processing. Even local letters dropped in the regular slot would go to Rocky Mount for return here.

Not only Greenville and area post offices are affected but offices as far away as Roanoke Rapids and Englehard will see their mail going to the Rocky Mount sectional center.

It is a radical change from the old system whereby each post office carried its own post mark. However, it is well to recognize that there has been a great increase in the amount of mail handled and steadily increasing cost will mean that mail must be handled more efficiently.

We have long felt that the Postal Service could be operated more efficiently and therefore we cannot quarrel with this new system which is designed for more efficient mail handling.

The public, however, has the right to see tangible results in more rapid handling of their mail. That will be the proof that the system is doing the job it was designed to do.

Malnutrition Tied To Money

By BRYAN HANSLIP
RALEIGH, N.C. — Malnutrition and money are related problems in North Carolina.

Malnutrition costs the state in the loss of human resources, children who do not develop their full potential, and a heavier burden of health care.

Money will be required to encourage good eating habits for Tar Heels and to place a balanced diet within their economic means.

What's in the pocketbook has a direct correlation with substantial.

Putting into effect the task force recommendations will fall into several state departments, he explained. The expectation is that these departments will include the items in preparing the next biennium's spending requests.

Dr. Levine said Gov. Scott, who named the task force to follow up the findings of a nutrition survey, has given enthusiastic support to the recommendations. The governor's influence should be helpful, Dr. Levine added, in securing advisory budget commission approval for the increased expenditures.

Ultimately, the fate of the recommendations will rest with the 1973 General Assembly. How well the legislators see the connection between expanding the minimum wage and raising welfare payments — both of which have been resisted in the past — and combatting malnutrition will determine the outcome.

Question of Priority
"The question is really one of priority," said Dr. Levine, director of community health with the state board of health. "Our children are the future of the state. In light of the high incidence of malnutrition among children, it is essential that we try to solve the causes of the problem."

The 1971 nutrition survey showed that 37 per cent of the households covered had diets lacking in proper nutrition, based on a rating scale developed by the survey staff. Among preschool children, the figure rose to 43 per cent. Family purchasing power emerged as a significant factor; 43 per cent of households with per capita income under $1,000 had inadequate diets, compared to only 24 per cent of those with per capita income over $2,000.

Nonwhite households were more than twice as likely to have inadequate diets as were white households.

Regardless of income, education is a key element in good nutrition, Dr. Levine said. The proposal for community nutrition workers, he explained, envisions efforts to involve homemakers at middle and upper income levels as well as poor families.

Combating malnutrition is both short-term and long-range. Specific steps need to be taken now, and continuity must be assured for programs, he said.

"The new office of food and nutrition would serve as the focal point for concern," he said, "to keep attention directed to the problem in future administrations and legislatures."

Sign-Shooting In Unbelievable

By JOHN KILGO
Rep. Jack Rhyne of Gaston stood up in the North Carolina legislature last year and said: "I keep seeing all these bullet holes in our road signs..."

I began observing the road signs as I traveled across the state and about 80 per cent of them have been shot at. It's amazing that no one has been killed.

Clyde Honeycutt, head of the road sign department in North Carolina, says: "People shoot the signs with pistols, with rifles. It's a serious problem in North Carolina and has been for quite some time."

Tom Staton is another worker in the road sign department. He still can't believe some of the things he sees.

"People take target practice by shooting at the road signs," Staton told me. "It's not just on the rural roads, either. Check it out on I-85. They shoot those signs up, too."

There is some evidence that sportsmen like to warm up on the signs before the head for the fields to hunt or fish.

"If you go down around creeks and rivers," Honeycutt said, "you're not likely to find a sign that hasn't been shot pretty bad. Apparently, people who go to fish like to shoot signs before they drop their line into the water."

It costs the State of North Carolina $20 to put up a STOP sign. Some of these signs have been shot up so bad that they had to be replaced.

"Some of the bullets passed right through the aluminum signs," Staton says. "And some of the bullet holes are angled towards houses. It's a miracle that some of these people who shoot at signs haven't killed someone."

The State Highway Patrol hasn't been able to make many arrests in these cases and the public doesn't do much to help. The license number of a car seen shooting at signs would help but the State gets very few calls from people willing to go to the trouble.

It costs the State about $2,000 a month to replace signs that are so badly mangled that they can't be used anymore. Other signs with bullet holes in them are allowed to stand until the damage becomes more severe.

Staton's sign territory covers Mecklenburg, Cabarrus and Gaston counties.

He was riding home recently and almost wrecked his car when he noticed someone had sawed off a state STOP sign and placed it in his private drive.

Other people seem to get their kicks by painting over the signs.

"College communities really give us a fit," Honeycutt said. "It seems to be status symbol for a college student to have a state road sign hanging on his dormitory wall."

"It's amazing what people will do. The signs are put up for safety purposes. But we have people trying to shoot them down. Others stop and paint them. And a good many people must steal them out of the ground. We definitely have a problem. Yessir, and you can quote me."

Opinions In Brief

"Young folks are discouraged when they believe that nothing good is happening, and old folks are pleased when things are no worse than usual." — Charleston (S.C.) News and Courier.

"One gubernatorial candidate hurt his arm from too much handshaking in the recent campaign. There are probably some sprained tongues among the survivors, too." — Raleigh (N.C.) News and Observer.

"Comprehension must be the soil in which grow all the fruits of friendship." — Woodrow Wilson.

"Happiness is the full use of your powers along lines of excellence in a life affording scope." — John F. Kennedy.

"Grant us brotherhood, not only for this day but for all our years—a brotherhood not of words but of acts and deeds." — Stephen Vincent Benet.

"Waste no tears over the griefs of yesterday." — Euripides.

IMPORTANT THAT WE UNDERSTAND
The Christian doctrine of Vocation. Did you ever hear of it? Simply stated, it means that every one of us is called to serve God in whatever work one happens to be doing, in whatever position one happens to hold.

There is, of course, a certain honor and privilege to fulltime Christian service, and this the world gladly accords those who enter this service. But the plain teaching of the Bible is that the place to serve God is wherever we happen to be, and the way to serve Him is through the work we happen to be doing. If our work is one thing and our Christian service another, then there is

Better Get On The Ball

MIAMI BEACH — One uncomfortable thought—uncomfortable from a conservative point of view—rises hazily from the steamhats of liberalism here in Miami Beach: The Republicans, bless their Whiggish hearts, had better get on the ball.

That hortatory observation is offered free of charge, and without regard to the Democratic ticket for 1972. As this is written, the universal assumption is that the nominee will be Senator George McGovern, and that the convention will provide him an ideologically compatible running mate.

Several other assumptions have universally bandied about all week. Some of them have much validity; others have little or none. Let me sort a few of them out.

There is, first off, the prediction that the Democratic party will drag itself from Florida in a state of "fatal disarray." Republicans will buy this happy thought at their peril. The Madisonian era of good feeling ended nearly 150 years ago; the Democrats have been in fatal disarray ever since. Factions within the party fought over tariff; they fought over nullification; they fought over slavery; they fought over silver and gold; they fought over Prohibition; twenty years ago they almost disemboweled themselves on issues of civil rights.

The party history, in brief, is not a history of unity, but a history of disunity. Democrats have fallen upon one another with shilleaghs, bowie knives and bung starters. They have fought like so many alley cats in quest of a mackerel prize, and ordinarily they have fought on gut issues where wounds are deep and slow in healing.

My thought, this time, is that the quarrel is more over form than substance. No gut issue appears. There is busing, of course, on which the embattled factions are indeed passionately at odds, but other disputes are mostly matters of degree—how much for welfare, how much for defense, where to shift taxes. The big fight is over control of the party structure itself, and this is not a fight that lends itself to deep public concern.

What I am suggesting is that this notion of "fatal disarray" is spurious. The Democrats, possessed of a ravenous appetite to recapture the White House, may squall for time like petulant children; but in the end, come November, they will eat their nastyokra before they go to bed hungry.

A second assumption is that the Democratic party, through its various reforms, is undergoing a significant overhaul and reassembly. The assumption is quite valid. A great deal has been

Proud Title Awaits

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Do you want to be an old-timer? Some people tend to think that being an old-timer also makes one an old fogey. It doesn't.

There is all the difference between being thought of as an old-timer or as an old fogey.

An old-timer is regarded with respect and usually affection. An old fogey is treated with disrespect, ridicule, or even contempt.

An old-timer is someone who has had a lot of experience with the ways of the world and has learned something from it. An old fogey is merely a stick-in-the-mud who thinks that anything that happened yesterday is better than anything that can happen today or tomorrow.

An old-timer can still be sowing his wild oats at 70. An old fogey probably went to seed before he was 40.

An old-timer is still willing to say to life, "Let me see what else you've got in the old grab bag." But the old fogey says, "No matter what else you show me, I already know what is best."

An old-timer and an old fogey are alike in that they both have seen a lot. But where the old-timer still keeps his eyes open, the old fogey keeps his mind shut.

If the old-timer goes to the office Christmas party he may get a bit tipsy or even come home with a lipstick mark on his collar. If the old fogey goes to the office Christmas party, he either leaves unnoticed after 15 minutes or remains as a disapproving skeleton at the banquet.

The story-exchanging gang around the office water cooler opens up to admit the old-timer. But when the old fogey approaches, it breaks up and melts away.

The old-timer enjoys keeping in step with the times. The old fogey marches only to the echoes of stilled drums.

Of course, even the best-ad-

Relief organizations pushed desperately into the mud covered valleys of the Paint and Armstrong Creeks in West Virginia today in efforts to save the lives of more than 1,000 persons left without shelter, food or pure drinking water by Monday's flood.

Amelia Earhart Putnam landed in Newark, New Jersey at 11:06 A.M. EST establishing a new women's transcontinental flight record. Mrs. Putnam beat the time of Miss Ruth Nichols, the previous record holder, by almost ten hours. Miss Nichols held a time of 29 hours, 1 minute and 43 seconds. Mrs. Putnam's time was 19 hours, 14 minutes and 4 seconds.

Convertible Dollar Ideas Lacking

By LAURANCE F. STUNTZ
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Almost everybody agrees the United States ought to do something about making the dollar convertible, but almost nobody comes forth with any ideas about how.

One of the few open proposals openly advanced has come from Harry E. Ekblom, president of the European-American Bank Corp., which is the American banking agent of a group of big European banks. As an American working for overseas banks in the American environment, Ekblom is peculiarly fitted to be a bridge between American and Continental thinking.

Convertibility means that foreigners can exchange their dollars for gold. It was halted last year when the dollar was under heavy pressure. Meanwhile, dollars have gone out of the United States but they are little more than IOUs, although IOUs backed by the credit of the United States.

Overseas holders of dollars are anxious to see convertibility restored. This is not so much that they want to cash them in for gold, but they like the security of knowing they can get the gold. But the United States cannot restore convertibility because it has only about $10 billion in gold and there are around $80 billion in overseas dollars which could absorb all this gold without being satisfied. If only 15 per cent of the overseas or Eurodollars were cashed, it would wipe out the gold stocks of the United States.

Up to now, the hope of the dollar owners has been that the U.S. trade balance will improve so much that no more dollars will go overseas. Then, as foreigners send dollars to the United States to invest in American business, the Eurodollar pool would gradually disappear.

This is still the main hope for the solution of convertibility, but Ekblom outlined a temporary measure to a recent meeting of the New York Financial Writers Association.

The main problem of convertibility is psychological, he emphasized. If the Eurodollar owners could be sure of getting the same value for their dollars when they sell as they had to pay for them, they would be content to hold them indefinitely.

"The United States might discuss with foreign central (government) banks how it could help them in their intervention in the dollar market," he said. These banks have agreed to maintain a fixed value for the dollar in their own currencies, and they do this by buying dollars when the value goes down.

"There might be something like a policy statement by the U.S. government," Ekblom said. "Maybe the United States could offer long-term, high-interest bonds to cover its trade deficit. These securities might be redeemable in dollars or special drawing rights (of the International Monetary Fund) or other currencies, maybe even partially in gold."

"That would give the other countries something to work with. A favorable U.S. balance of payments is not enough without a solution of the dollar balances overseas."

McGovern Faces Demonstrators

By TERRY RYAN
Associated Press Writer
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — "We didn't want a repetition of Chicago in 1968," Sen. George McGovern said after facing 300 noisy, pushing demonstrators just hours before winning the Democratic presidential nomination.

McGovern attempted to reassure the crowd of antiwar and civil rights demonstrators in the lobby of his headquarters hotel: "I'm not changing my position on any of the fundamental stands I've taken."

As McGovern spoke, more than 1,000 protesters gathered peacefully at Convention Hall to hear antiwar activist David Dillinger and other speakers urge them "to keep the pressure on McGovern."

The demonstrators in the Doral Hotel lobby had been blocking staircases and elevators for more than six hours when McGovern appeared surrounded by Secret Service agents. Security was tight following the arrest of two men on concealed weapons charges at the Doral earlier in the day.

"I don't have any doubt that within 90 days of my inauguration every American troop and every American soldier will be home, and that's a pledge I make," he said.

Casually dressed in an open-necked sports shirt, McGovern was grim and firm as he talked and listened to the demonstrators for 30 minutes.

"Don't you realize that most people here are for you," shouted a young man. "We love you, but you are losing your credibility..." The rest was drowned out by a girl yelling, "That's not true."

Responding to questions shouted by the demonstrators, McGovern reaffirmed his support for amnesty for those who refused to fight in Vietnam and his opposition to legalizing marijuana.

Cheered when he arrived and often as he spoke, McGovern was booed loudly when he said he would not sign a proposal calling for life imprisonment for any police officer who murders a black, Mexican-American or other minority group person.

"I am opposed to racism in all of its forms," he said. "Why leave out any American?"

McGovern also was hooted when he rejected a proposal backed by civil rights and welfare groups calling for a federally guaranteed $6,500 minimum income for a family of four. "I'm not going to sign it," he said.

Most of the demonstrators in the lobby were members of Vietnam Veterans Against the War, Students for a Democratic Society and the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. They said they were concerned about a reported softening of his antiwar position and his refusal to fight harder in the convention for the $6,500 minimum income proposal for poor people.

"It's better to hear people out than to drive people out," McGovern said after the session. "Nobody got hurt," and nobody got roughed up.

"I think the symbolism is more important than anything that transpired," he said. "We didn't want a repetition of Chicago in 1968. I felt I might release some of that anger by talking with them."

McGovern's aides told him

later he had done well. "All I can say is we survived," McGovern responded. Secret Service agents, who earlier in the day had arrested two men at the hotel for carrying concealed weapons, said they had opposed McGovern's decision to meet the crowd.

The scene outside Convention Hall was much as it had been other nights of the convention: a phalanx of riot-equipped police, protesters with loudspeakers on the other side of a six-foot fence, "Jesus people" and ice cream vendors wandering through the crowd and delegates perturbed to find they had to walk a half mile to the rear of the Convention Center complex to find an open gate.

U.S. Lost 4 To Fighting

SAIGON (AP) — Four Americans were killed in combat last week, five died from nonhostile causes and another five were missing in action, the U.S. Command announced in its weekly casualty report. Eighteen other Americans were wounded.

The week before, the command reported 14 combat dead, seven dead from nonhostile causes, four missing and 23 wounded.

The South Vietnamese command reported 661 government soldiers killed and 2,585 wounded last week. It claimed 3,320 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed. These represented increases of 15 to 25 percent over the previous week, due largely to the fighting in Quang Tri Province.

The allied commands now have reported these total casualties for the war: American—45,810 killed in action, 303,208 wounded, 10,234 dead from nonhostile causes, 1,639 missing or captured.

South Vietnamese—149,526 killed, 384,396 wounded. North Vietnamese and Viet Cong—861,420 killed.

The Amazon area of Brazil covers from 1.7 to 2 million square miles, almost 60 percent of the country.

Demo Convention Rules Reduced Demonstrations

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — There were no parading demonstrators, no cheerleaders—just the ear-splitting hubbub of more than 10,000 people jammed into a hall to nominate a candidate for president.

Yet it was George McGovern's hour. George Wallace had been nominated. Terry Sanford had been nominated. Shirley Chisholm and Henry Jackson had been nominated.

For Wallace the cheers came from the half-dozen delegations where he had strength. They tried mightily to raise their voices and banner when Alabama State Sen. Bob Wilson placed him in nomination.

Sanford's supporters were few. They banded together at the north end of the hall, waving their signs.

But when Sen. Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut finally said: "I nominate Sen. George McGovern for the presidency of the United States," the hall became a sea of blue and white signs bearing his name.

Kilpatrick . . .

(Continued from page 4) written about the differences that mark this convention—the sharply increased representation given to women, to the young, to minority groups. It is strikingly true. You have to see some of these delegates to believe them. Within the party, the shift of power is dramatic, and this broadened base provides a new foundation for the support of new political machinery.

It is not yet possible to predict how well this new machinery will work in terms of winning elections. One production goal, obviously, is to mobilize a black vote. As various studies make it clear, Negro America offers a tremendous political potential: Thirteen States have more than half a million blacks of voting age. In 19 States that Humphrey lost in 1968, a fully activated black vote could have reversed the returns. Another production goal envisions the enrollment as card-carrying Democrats of 15 million young people. In key states their impact also could be decisive.

Republicans need to think upon these things. The putative black vote is not monolithic: A large black middle class is repelled by black radicals. Neither is the youth vote automatically assigned to a Democratic future. But if Republicans fail to respond with energy and appeal and ideas to the ferment of this born-again Democratic party, they could be sadly surprised in November—and not merely this November. In other Novembers to come.

CBS Announces New President

NEW YORK (AP) — Arthur R. Taylor, a young businessman and newcomer to the field of broadcasting, has been named president and member of the board of directors of the Columbia Broadcasting System. CBS announced Wednesday that the 37-year-old vice president and chief financial officer of International Paper Co. had been elected to the post, succeeding Charles Ireland Jr., who died June 8.

The Democratic convention, vintage 1972, was different from its predecessors on the nominating night.

In the past, each candidate had his own band, his own paid demonstrators. The nomination of a major candidate could — and often did — take an hour or more.

But the new rules put limits on the speeches and the demonstrations. Fifteen minutes. No more. The clock was observed, making the nominations the first convention event that didn't run overtime.

This new party had used an auditor's tally sheets and a jeweler's eye to insure that women and blacks and young people were involved in the process.

justed old-timer now and then gets so windy with his reminiscences that the younger heads around him begin to nod. That, unfortunately, is something of an occupational disease among old-timers, and the wise ones are aware of it and try to curb their remembering tongues. But, on the other hand, the old fogey isn't just a bit of a bore at times. He is a big bore at all times and to everyone, including himself, even when he is silent.

So don't mind if the passage of years makes you an old-timer. It's a proud title. Just be sure, old-timer, that the milk of human kindness in you doesn't turn sour. That will make you just another dull old fogey.

Grain Harvest Expected To Be Below 1971 Levels

By DON KENDALL

AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers are expected to harvest five per cent less wheat than a year ago and—based on acres they planted—ten per cent less corn in 1972, according to the Agriculture Department.

In all, farmers planted 308 million acres of crops this year, down three per cent from 1971. Sharp cutbacks for wheat and feed grain were partly offset by increases for soybeans and cotton, crops both in demand for export and domestic use.

Wheat production was estimated at 1.55 billion bushels, down from the record harvest of 1.64 billion last year.

The estimates were included in a report issued Wednesday by the USDA.

There was no field estimate for corn, but officials said the 1972 crop could be 5 billion bushels, based on average conditions and yield trends.

Both wheat and corn are currently in surplus supply mainly as the result of record outputs last year.

The 1971 corn crop was more than 5.5 billion bushels from 63.8 million acres of corn for harvest.

Soybean plantings, 45.6 million acres, are eight per cent larger and indicate a possible crop of 1.277 billion bushels, nine per cent more than last year, officials said.

Cotton planting totaled 13.8 million acres, up 12 per cent from 1971. There was no production estimate.

Field estimates on 1972 production of corn, soybeans and some other major crops will be available next month.

Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Carroll G. Brumthaver told newsmen he was pleased by the reduced outlook for wheat and feed grain. Government acreage set-aside programs were tightened this year to encourage less production of those crops.

Although noting the recently announced $750 million grain sale to the Soviet Union over the next three years, Brumthaver said he could not predict now whether government control programs might be eased next year as a result of an expected larger demand for U.S. grain.

Brumthaver indicated, however, the outlook for grain use over the next 18 months indicates there will be some reduction in surplus stocks.

Farm exports rose to a record $8 billion last fiscal year, up $200 million from the previous high in 1970-71, including new value marks for U.S. soybeans and animal products.

The new export value record was for the year ended June 30. Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz said farmers are "well on their way" to reaching a goal of $10 billion in overseas sales annually.

Exports of soybeans, meal and oil totaled more than $2 billion last season, the first time any U.S. commodity has reached that mark, Butz said.

Soybean shipments amounted to 430 million bushels, up about three per cent from a year earlier, but higher prices pushed the value up 14 per cent to $1.4 billion. Meal and oil accounted for the remainder.

Grain exports, including mixed feed, were down six per cent to about $2.5 billion, with wheat accounting for most of the decline. Feed grain exports were up slightly to 20.5 million tons, aided by purchases last fall by the Soviet Union.

Rice exports, at more than 36 million bags, were about the same as a year earlier. Cotton shipments totaled 3.3 million bales, down from 3.7 million, but the value was up 7 per cent because of higher prices.

Tobacco exports, including bulk smoking tobacco, totaled $570 million, about the same as in 1970-71, but the quantity was down to 560 million pounds, compared with 584 million a year earlier.

Officials said the figures were preliminary and that a full report will be issued later this month.

Jim Hunt Plans Begin Campaign Tour Monday

RALEIGH (AP) — Jim Hunt, the Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor, plans to leave Monday on a campaign tour that will take him into all of the state's 100 counties by Aug. 16.

A spokesman said the purpose of the tour was "primarily to let Jim thank the voters of the state for their support in the first primary."

Hunt said Wednesday he would try to talk to as many persons as possible, and for this reason few speeches had been scheduled.

He will kick off his tour with a press conference at 10:30 a.m. Monday a reception at 11 a.m. in Raleigh's Sir Walter Hotel.

Hunt led a five-man field in the May 6 Democratic primary.

Blown 75 Feet In Plant Blast

SOUTHPORT, N. C. (AP) — Leo Jones, superintendent of the North Carolina Menhaden Co., says he was blown about 75 feet by an explosion at the fish meal plant Wednesday, but was not injured.

Jones was the only one at the plant during the noontime explosion of a tank of acid and water.

The acid tank, and an oil tank also used in the preparation of fish meal, were between two buildings. The buildings were badly damaged, and oil drained into the Inland Waterway. It was sopped up with hay.

Jones said he didn't know what caused the explosion.

Flames Destroy Old Building

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP)—A fire early today damaged the old Gastonia Ice Cream factory, a big frame building abandoned a year ago to make way for removal of railroad tracks from the center of town.

The factory building on West Airline Avenue had been sold to the Redevelopment Commission.

The tracks, which impeded motor-vehicle traffic, are to be put in a tunnel.

The cause of the fire has not been determined.

$36.5 Million Goal For McGovern Election Effort

Editor's Note: H.L. Schwartz III and Dick Barnes, two members of The AP Special Assignment Team, sat in this week on a strategy meeting called by Sen. George McGovern's presidential campaign fund-raisers. Following is their report.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Sen. George McGovern's financial advisers quietly are planning to raise $36.5 million for the presidential election campaign, depending in part on successful big-donor techniques perfected by Republican fund-raisers for President Nixon.

Even before the South Dakota had sewn up the Democratic presidential nomination, the money strategy for the fall campaign had been outlined to about 35 select McGovern fund-raisers.

The private meeting was held this week one floor above the candidate's command complex in the Doral Hotel. That session alone reportedly netted $1.3 million from its well-heeled participants.

Two newsmen who identified themselves attended.

More than 80 per cent of McGovern's money since he announced for the presidency 18 months ago has come from thousands of small contributors, federal records show.

But McGovern's people hope to raise $15 million — or nearly half — of their projected campaign budget in the category known to both parties as special gifts.

This generally means contributions of $5,000 or more.

Miles Rubin, a New York lawyer heading the special-gifts efforts, told the finance committee meeting: "Sen. McGovern now realizes the vital need to move into the special-gifts area."

Increasing public awareness of campaign finance has brought mounting criticism of dependence on large contributors.

"He didn't fully realize it until a week ago when Morris and Henry talked with him and explained the full costs of a national campaign," Rubin confided to the meeting.

Morris is Morris Dees, a Montgomery, Ala., lawyer who raised $4 million in small contributions for McGovern's pre-convention campaign. Henry is Henry Kimelman, a Virgin Islands importer and campaign finance manager as well as the

Whisked Away After Brief Athens Funeral

ATHENS (AP) — Actress Melina Mercouri, who attended the funeral of her mother after receiving special permission from the Greek military government for a 24-hour stay in her native land, was whisked away by plainclothesmen after the ceremony was over.

Miss Mercouri, 43, was accompanied by her husband, movie producer Jules Dassing, during the brief funeral Wednesday at an Athens cemetery.

For more than five years she has been in virtual exile because of her strong views against the Athens regime. The actress has faced an arrest warrant out for her in Greece since July 1967 when the military-backed Greek regime stripped her of her Greek citizenship.

Premier George Papadopoulos personally waived the warrant for 24 hours so Miss Mercouri could attend the fusecond-largest campaign contributor to date.

As outlined, McGovern's financial blueprint is to raise the $36.5 million from these sources:

- $15 million from special gifts and loans.
- $10 million from direct mail and television appeals.
- $5 million from special events such as concerts.

- $4 million from national and state committees and din-
- $1 million from a special young-people's effort.
- $1 million from industry.
- $500,000 from merchandizing such items as T-shirts.

The industry effort is being headed by Donald A. Petrie, former head of Avis Rent-a-Car who is now a partner with the investment banking firm of Lazard, Frés & Co.

"We want to do what Maurice Stans has done for the Republicans," Rubin told the finance meeting. Stans, financial chairman of Nixon's re-election effort and a former secretary of commerce, raised more than $20 million for Nixon's 1968 campaign.

There have been some predictions McGovern would not be able to raise money from the wealthy because of his tax proposals. But Kimelman and Rubin displayed no such apprehension.

The $36.5 million compares with what Stans has said would be a $30-million Republican budget, of which more than $10 million has been raised so far, according to public records.

Kimelman, however, said, "I think the Republicans will spend $55 million to $70 million."

Black Income About Same

WASHINGTON (AP) — There was little change in the financial status of the country's 23 million blacks last year, although blacks are making impressive education advances, the Census Bureau reports.

The bureau said in its annual report on the social and economic status of black Americans that 7.4 million or 32 per cent of blacks lived below the official poverty level of $4,137 annual income. This compared with 7.5 million, or 34 per cent, in 1970.

Black families below the poverty level totaled 1.5 million, or 20 per cent, which was no change from a year earlier. Median income increased slightly from $6,279 in 1970 to $6,440 last year.

The bureau said a black family received $60 for every $100 in income received by a white family.

The number of whites living below the official poverty level increased by 300,000 last year to 17.8 million or 10 per cent of the white population. The number of white families below the poverty line was 3.8 million, or 8 per cent, compared with 3.7 million a year earlier.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Kurt Waldheim, the U.N. secretary-general, has found a home.

A wealthy New Yorker, Arthur A. Houghton Jr., 65, is donating his town house in fashionable Sutton Place for Waldheim's use, informed sources said Wednesday.

Houghton, president of Steuben Glass in New York City and a director of Corning Glass Works in Corning, N.Y., will give the property to the U.N. Association of the U.S.A. The association then will sell it to the United Nations, the sources reported.

N.C. Weather Trend Improving

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
An improving trend in North Carolina weather has begun. The tropical depression has moved out of the state.

The depression moved slowly northward through central North Carolina Wednesday giving most areas another day of rain and showers. The heavier rain pattern shifted northward over the east portion. And the south coastal area that had received heavy rainfall the past couple of days began drying out during the day.

Light rain continued into the afternoon over the west portion, outside the mountains. With the rain and cloudiness persisting there, afternoon highs were mostly in the upper 70s. In the mountains, mostly sunny skies were the rule and readings were in the 80s. Asheville with 87 again was one of the warmer reporting points.

As the system moved up through the central part of the state, the heavier rain advanced into northeast North Carolina and into Virginia. Cloudiness began breaking up over the southeast and eastern interior portions. And it became really tropical as warm, humid conditions and frequent showers and thundershowers developed in the afternoon and into the evening hours. Temperatures soared upward with the return of sunshine. Afternoon readings from the Triangle area southeastward to the south coastal area were in the mid to upper 80s.

Rainfall during the 24 hours ended at 2 o'clock this morning showed Cape Hatteras and Raleigh-Durham with the larger amounts, both with 1.78 inches. Elizabeth City was next with just over an inch and one-half inches.

Warm, moist air will continue over the state today. And with afternoon heating, scattered showers and thundershowers will develop again. Temperatures will climb well into the 80s in all sections.

The weather map shows the remnants of the tropical depression over central Virginia, with a trough southwestward through the central portion of the Carolinas. A broad, flat area of high pressure covers the eastern third of the nation. A cold front stretches from the eastern Great Lakes southwestward to southern Colorado.

Another cold front extends from western Montana to northern California. Weak areas of high pressure are centered over eastern South Dakota, southwest Wyoming, Nevada and Eastern New Mexico.

Four Composers To Be Featured

Robert Helmacy will conduct the Guilford Symphony Orchestra in a concert beginning at 8:15 p.m. Friday in Dana Auditorium at Guilford College.

Four composers have been selected to be featured in the second GSO concert of the Eastern Music Festival. The student musicians will open with Mozart's "German Dances." Dvorak's "Bohemian Suite" will follow.

The fugue from "Symphony No. 4" by Charles Ives and "Parade" by Eric Satie will complete the program.

Individual tickets will be available at the door prior to the concert.

Cannon Display At Hamilton Is Called Off

The planned public display of three Civil War cannons taken from the Roanoke River near Hamilton has been cancelled, according to Martin County Sheriff Raymond Rawls.

Plans had been announced yesterday for public viewing on Friday, Saturday and Sunday of the three cannons.

"Because of the weather conditions, the rain and mud," Rawls said, "it will be impossible. We cannot even get our equipment in to lift the cannons out." The cannons have been stored in a fresh water pond for preservation against deterioration.

"It would expose the earth works at the fort to serious damage to have large numbers of people come in at this time," Rawls stated. "As soon as weather conditions permit, we will announce another date for public display of the three cannons."

Academy Names Potter Principal

Greenville Christian Academy today announced the appointment of Joshua Edward (Muff) Potter Jr. as principal.

A native of Lowland, Potter has served in the Pitt County School System as physical education instructor at Sallie Branch School and as principal of Falkland Elementary School. He has also taught drivers' education at Pitt Technical Institute and at the Greenville TEC in Greenville, S.C.

In Greenville, S.C., he served as recreation leader at the Shriner's Hospital.

Potter holds a B.S. degree in Physical Education and a M.A. degree in education from East Carolina University and a M.A. degree in Christian Education from Bob Jones University in Greenville, S.C.

While enrolled at ECU, Potter was the pitcher on the 1966 ECU championship baseball team. He is a member of Phi Delta Kappa, professional education fraternity and is a past president of the Falkland Ruritan Club.

He and his wife, the former Alberta Jenkins of Jacksonville, have one daughter, Janna Renee, six months old. They live in Azalea Gardens and are members of People's Bible Church.

Greenville Christian Academy will operate Grades K-7 this fall. The academy is located on the 264 By-Pass, west of People's Bible Church.

established the Human Relations Council, naming Jesse Harris as full time director. At the same time, the City Council terminated the Good Neighbor Council, and sent letters to members of that council, offering them an opportunity to serve as the new Human Relations Council.

Payne said one of the primary missions of the Human Relations Council is "to work closely with school people, the police department and other agencies in trying to anticipate any needs in the field of human relations. We are very much concerned about solutions to any of these needs."

He mentioned also that a meeting was planned with representatives of the Kate B. Reynolds Foundation of Winston-Salem. "We are hopeful this meeting will result in determining specific proposals to help meet some of the pressing health care needs in Greenville," Payne said.

Mrs. Darden, in addition to providing regular secretarial assistance to Harris, is spending the summer months working a brochure for the community. "This will be designed to acquaint people with the services that are available," Mrs. Darden commented.

As the Human Relations Council moves into its first year of existence, attention has been focused on items such as jobs for the young. "We are working with the Chamber of Commerce," Harris said. "In an effort to get all information available on job openings for young people in a summer youth employment program."

Payne added that the main role of the Human Relations Council in Greenville is that of a place where "anyone can have a complaint heard. This covers every aspect of the community. We hope that all of us involved in this council can be effective in dealing with any problems involving human relations, and that we will be able to come up with valid recommendations."

Hopes For A Southerner

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — Democratic National Convention alternate delegate John Taylor of Greenville reported this morning that he is not optimistic about Terry Sandord's getting the No. 2 slot on the Democratic ticket, as he and other North Carolina delegates had hoped yesterday.

"We believe now that McGovern will pick his own running mate," he said. "We're still trying to establish positive communication with him through his highly efficient organization. We're letting him know we think he should pick a Southerner if he expects to carry the South. 'Personally, Terry Sanford is my first choice and Gov. Akew of Florida is my second. Gov. Askew may have a better chance.'"

Taylor said Hubert Humphrey and Edmund Muskie's withdrawals, in his opinion, were calculated to enable Sen. Henry Jackson to get enough votes to prevent McGovern's nomination on the first ballot.

"McGovern's forces just tightened up some more and overcame this attempted coup, however," Taylor said.

A contract for construction of North Carolina National Bank's new Circle Drive office has been awarded to J. Leo Hawkins, local building contractor.

John T. Marston, senior vice president and NCNB's city executive here, said that construction of the new office should begin within two weeks. Completion, he said, is expected in early November.

The U.S. Comptroller of the Currency earlier granted approval for NCNB to move its circle drive office about two blocks to the West End Shopping Center.

The city executive reported that the new office will serve the same area as the existing office, but will be more convenient for customers because of less traffic congestion and more adequate parking.

The 1,700-square foot structure, Marston reported, will have three teller positions with space for an additional position if needed. The drive-up window will be equipped with one pneumatic tube teller system with provisions for an additional unit in the future.

A white marble-chip exterior will have contrasting black building trim and gray, heat-absorbing glass will be utilized, Marston explained.

Ferebee Walters and Associates of Charlotte is the architect.

Senior Babe Ruth Tourney Set Here

The State Senior Babe Ruth Baseball Tournament will be held in Greenville, beginning Saturday.

The double elimination tournament will be played at Guy Smith Stadium, and is scheduled to last through Wednesday.

Four games will be played Saturday, with four more slated for Sunday. Three will be played on Monday, with two on Tuesday and either one or two on Wednesday.

The first game is scheduled for 11:30 a.m. and will end send the Coastal Carolina and the Stateville teams against each other. Following that will be South Buncombe and Clark Griffith at 2 p.m.

At 4:30 p.m. Smokey Mountain will face Catawba Valley, with the final game sending Greenville against the Parkway Conference team at 8 p.m. Sunday, the first game will be at 1 p.m. and will pit the losers of the first two games against each other. The second game, at 3:30 p.m. will feature the other two losing teams from Saturday's games.

The winners of the first two games will meet Sunday at 6 p.m., with other two winners facing each other at 8:30 p.m.

The three Monday games, at 4, 6, and 8 p.m. will send the four teams in the losers bracket against each other in the first two, while the final game will pit the two unbeaten teams against each other.

The losers' bracket outcome will be decided by 6 and 8 p.m. games on Tuesday, with the finals of the tournament at 6 p.m. Wednesday. A second game, if needed, would start at 8 p.m.

Huey's Rallies To Get Victory

Regular season champion Huey's, along with Parker's and Harbin's advanced into the winners' bracket in the City Softball League Tournament last night. Huey's nipped the Jaycees, 9-8, while Parker's rolled to a 9-0 win over Shirley's and Harbin's nipped Hardee's 3-2.

Tonight, Burger King meets Four Seasons in the last of the first round games. Friday, four games are scheduled. In the losers' bracket, Greenville Utilities meets the Jaycees and Shirley's takes on Hardee's. The losers are eliminated. In the winners' bracket, Huey's takes on Parker's and Harbin's meet the Burger King-Four Seasons winner.

Parker's pushed over four runs in the first inning of play to get all the runs it needed. William Nichols singled and Johnny Carraway got a hit. Wayne Avery singled in Nichols and Tommy Meeks doubled to score Carraway, Charles Meeks then singled to drive in both Avery and Meeks with the fourth runs.

Parker's added two more in the third and then got three in the fifth.

In the other game at Guy Smith, Harbin's pushed into the lead with a run in the third and then got another in the fourth. Hardee's came back with one in the fifth and then picked up one in the sixth to tie it up.

But Harbin's pushed over one in the seventh to win it. Kim Harbin singled and Jim Brewington singled. Bob Allgood reached on a fielder's choice and Bud Phillips singled to score Harbin with the game ending run.

In the game at Evans Park, Huey's got a run in the second, but the Jaycees came back to score four in the third to take the lead. Huey's got one in the third and one in the fourth to close the gap to 4-3, but the Jaycees pulled away again in the sixth, scoring two more.

They added two more in the seventh, taking an 8-4 lead.

But Huey's came roaring back in the bottom of the seventh to score five to pull it out. Charles Draffin singled and George Williams walked. Jim Grimsley got a hit and so did Stu Rhodes. Jim Hicks singled, but Rhodes was thrown out trying to score on the play. Ken Hungate then doubled in Hicks with the tying run. Mike Saylor singled and a hit by John Bobo brought in Hungate with the winning run.

All-Stars Rained Out

Greenville's Babe Ruth teams in the District Tournament at New Bern were again rained out yesterday.

They were scheduled to try again today. The 13-year-olds were scheduled to play Pitt County this afternoon, in the losers' bracket, while the All-Stars meet Seymour Johnson at 9 p.m. tonight in the winners' bracket.

Play in the tournament continues until a champion in the double elimination field has been declared. The winner goes on to the State Tournament, scheduled to begin on July 20.

Also rained out yesterday was the Pitt-Martin Semi-Pro League game between Williamston and Greenville.

Optimists Ease Past Pepsi To Lead Series

The Optimists slipped to a 2-1 victory over Pepsi-Cola in the first game of the best-of-three series for the City Little League Championship yesterday.

The game, a tightly pitched duel between John Coffman of Pepsi and Greg Lee of the Optimists, saw it decided in the third frame, when the Optimists got both of their runs.

Pepsi got its lone run in the fourth.

Lee, who took the victory, retired Pepsi in order until the third, when Timmy Eubanks got the first hit. He was thrown out, however, trying to steal, and the next two were retired in order.

After Pepsi scored in the fourth on three hits, Danny Carmon led off with a hit in the fifth for Pepsi, but also was cut down stealing, and the next two went down in order. Two reached in the sixth on hits to open the inning, but Lee fanned the next two and got the final man to ground out to him.

Overall, he struck out seven and walked none.

Coffman, meanwhile, was doing an equally good job for Pepsi. He retired the Optimists in order for the first two innings, but was hit for two runs on three hits in the third. He then retired the Optimists in order in the fourth and fifth innings.

He also did not walk anyone, and struck out nine.

The Optimists got both of their runs in the third. Bubba Rowlette led off with a single and Jame Shoe got a hit, moving him to third. Shoe moved up on a passed ball and Randy Hodges was hit by a pitch, loading the bases. Eric McCormick then singled in Rowlette and Gary Allen reached on a fielder's choice, bringing over Shoe with what proved to be the winning run.

Pepsi's lone run came in the fourth. MacDonald Avery opened the inning with a single and moved up on a pair of outs to gain third. Steve McClanahan followed that up with a double, driving in Avery with the run.

But the Optimists cut them off

Pirates Host Seahawks In Ladies' Night Game

It'll be Ladies Night tonight at Harrington Field when the Pirates of East Carolina University meet the Wilmington branch of the University of North Carolina.

The evening is being sponsored by Brody's of Greenville, and all Ladies will be admitted free with a ticket available from that store.

The Bucs will be out to snap a two-game losing streak, but it will be against one of the teams they've had the most trouble with. Of their four previous meetings, Wilmington had won three of them.

The three losses account for nearly half of the Buc total this summer. So far they've won 13 and lost seven.

The Bucs go into the game hitting well as a team. They have a .258 batting average so far this year, while their opponents are hitting at a .255 clip.

Larry Walters is the leading hitter among the regulars with a .342 average. He's picked up 27 hits in 79 trips to the plate. Walters leads the team in runs, with 23, and is the team leader in homers, four; total bases, 45; and walks, 14. He is tied with Ralph Lamm in triples, each with two.

Lamm and Mike Bradshaw have made the most trips to the plate, 91, while Lamm has the most hits on the team, 28. Ron Staggs leads in runs batted in with 18. Lamm leads in doubles with five, while Bradshaw paces the team in stolen bases with five.

Troy Eason had been hit more than anyone else, three times. Rick McMahon leads the team in sacrifices with three and has the high in strikeouts, 12.

Rounding out the regulars batting averages, Ron Leggett is hitting .218; Bradshaw, .253; Lamm, .308; Staggs, .288;

Eason, .203; and Jimmy Paige, .294.

The other regular starter, John Narron has a .370 average, but lacks the required number of times at bat for this point in the season.

In the pitching department, Steve Herring has the best record a 2-0 mark, while Russ Smith is 1-0. Tommy Toms has the most wins, however, claiming four in seven decisions.

Bill Godwin, has thrown shutouts in the last two outings, has the best earned run average now, 2.50. He's followed by Smith at 2.65, and Herring at 2.66. Toms is next at 3.42.

Toms had the most innings, 65 2-3, nearly twice as many as the next man, Godwin, who has 36.

Herring is allowing the fewest hits per inning, giving up 0.74 per inning. Godwin is the hardest to get a walk off of, allowing only 0.11 per inning. And Smith strikes out the most, 1.12 per inning.

Following tonight's game, the Pirates will play host to Campbell on Friday, then travel to Roanoke Rapids on Saturday to meet Louisville.

Brown Wants Game Dropped

By BILL WINTER
Associated Press Writer

CINCINNATI (AP) — Coach Paul Brown of the Cincinnati Bengals says the National Football League should consider cutting ties with the annual College All-Star Game.

The game, which puts last year's top senior players against the Super Bowl champion is sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities.

Brown says the pro teams put their interests in jeopardy when they expose prize rookies to the chance of injury in the game, not to mention the time the first-year players lose from pro training camps.

"I don't see where any of our kids have any obligation" to the All-Star game, Brown said Wednesday.

Brown noted that at the last NFL meetings he voted to withdraw from affiliation with the All-Star Game. Some other football executives "came up to me afterward and asked why I didn't tell them what I planned to do," he said, indicating they agreed with his view.

Brown noted three Bengal rookies will play in the All-Star on July 28 at Chicago.

"Say Sherman White (a defensive end from California who was the Bengals' top draft choice) gets hurt there and can no longer play," Brown said.

"Considering the bonus and salary he would get ... say they—the games sponsors—are willing to stand for $25,000, but we may be stuck for $50,000."

A rookie who is selected for the game and already has signed a pro contract, Brown said, must play in the charity game.

Legion Has Exhibition

Greenville's American Legion baseball team will play an exhibition game tonight at 8 p.m. in Guy Smith Stadium.

The team will play playing the Williamston Senior League in the game.

Greenville is currently awaiting the outcome of the Wilson-Rocky Mount series before continuing play in Area One. Greenville will meet the winner in a best-of-three series to determine one of the two finalists.

We put a lot into it.
You can put a lot in it.

What you can put in: over 60 cubic feet. Put the rear seat down and there's 60.6 cubic feet of carrying space. For comparison: VW Squareback and Vega Kammback both give you a bit over 50 cubic feet.

The basic $2265* model.

It's the ideal choice for people who want an economy car that carries more—or a wagon that costs less. The white sidewall tires (shown here) are $28.00.

Some Details.

1. The lift gate swings up and out of the way.
2. The rear passenger windows flip open.
3. The spare tire doesn't take up any load room because it has its own well under the floor. And beneath it all, the rear suspension is specially designed for load carrying.

*Slicker Price. Excludes dealer preparation charges, if any, destination charges, title and taxes.

Front Disc Brakes. Standard. And there's precise rack-and-pinion steering, which is normally found only in some of the more expensive sports cars.

2000cc Overhead Cam Engine. It's rugged, economical, peppy—and standard equipment. A 4-speed floor mounted all-synchromesh transmission is also standard.

Chips and putts from area golf courses:

Ayden

A Scotch Foursome tournament was held at the Ayden Golf and Country Club last weekend.

Low gross honors in the tournament went to Warren Kinlaw and Pat Joyner. Low net was taken by Ray Joyner and Mary Frances Loftin. Bill Loftin and Dean Manning took honors for low putts.

Emmett Koonce had a hole-in-one at the club recently. He got the ace on the par-three 17th hole, using a seven iron.

Brook Valley

Charles Gaskins Jr. had four birdies on the front side on a recent Brook Valley Country Club round. He was playing with Ed Dickson, Andy Warren and Julius Budacz.

Marion Gardner, Henry Coleman, Big Daddy Moore and V.A. Shrive of Tulsa, Oklahoma, recently had a round that included nine birdies among them. Gardner led the way with six of the nine.

Doug Morgan had a 52-43-95 while playing on Saturday, then came back with a 43-43—86 on Sunday.

Ten-year-old Ashley Taylor had his first birdie on the par four third hole at Brook Valley. He was playing with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Taylor, at the time.

Farmville

The Farmville Golf and Country Club held its annual Kiwanis Golf Tournament this past weekend. Johnny Ross of Raleigh finished on top, carding a two-day round of 139. Farmville's Jimmy Hillard finished in second place with a 142.

A field of around 80 participated in the tournament.

Wood Captures 13th Victory

By KEN RAPPOPORT

Associated Press Sports Writer
Wilbur Wood is going places—and his knuckleball is going someplace else.

"I don't know myself where it's going," said Chicago White Sox left-hander after winning his 13th game Wednesday night, a 5-4 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

Wood had his favorite pitch dancing in the dark in the first inning, successfully eluding Cleveland hitters. But then the Indians discovered its whereabouts in the second, scoring three runs.

Wood literally held on by his fingertips, giving up just one run the rest of the way while his mates tallied once in the fourth and once more in the ninth on Carlos May's tie-breaking single to pull it out.

In the other American League games, the Detroit Tigers downed the Texas Rangers 3-1; the Kansas City Royals defeated the Baltimore Orioles 11-4 in 10 innings; the Boston Red Sox trimmed the Oakland A's 7-6; the New York Yankees clouted the California Angels 5-0 and the Minnesota Twins ripped the Milwaukee Brewers 7-1.

National League results: Houston 10, Chicago 6; New York 4, San Francisco 0; San Diego 6, Montreal 5; Los Angeles 9, Philadelphia 5; St. Louis 7, Atlanta 0 and Cincinnati 6, Pittsburgh 3.

Wednesday night's performance wasn't one of Wood's better ones. The White Sox southpaw lost a 3-0 lead and then a 4-3 lead when the Indians came back to tie the game in the second and fifth innings.

Rookie Tony Muser led off the Chicago ninth with a single and took second on a sacrifice bunt off Ray Lamb. Tommy Hilgendorf replaced Lamb on the mound and was greeted by May's single to center that made a winner out of Wood. The White Sox ace finished with a nine-hitter.

Rookie Bill Slayback scattered eight hits while his Detroit mates took advantage of Texas errors for a pair of unearned runs enroute to victory over the Rangers.

It was Slayback's fifth start since moving up from the minor leagues on June 26. He boosted his record to 2-3 and helped the Tigers jump their East-leading margin to two games over Baltimore.

Cookie Rojas' grand slam homer highlighted a seven-run rally in the 10th inning that helped Kansas City hand Baltimore its sixth loss in the last seven games.

The Royals first broke a 4-4 tie when Baltimore reliever Eddie Watt forced in a run by hitting Lou Piniella with the bases loaded. John Mayberry knocked in the second run of the rally with a sacrifice fly.

After a walk loaded the bases again, Rojas delivered his home run. Bobby Knoop capped the rally with a run-scoring hit.

Carlton Fisk drove in two runs, one with a seventh-inning homer that provided the margin of victory, to give Boston its 10th victory in 12 games.

Fisk's 12th homer in the seventh gave the Red Sox the run they needed to withstand Dave Duncan's two-run homer in the Oakland ninth.

Mel Stottlemyre continued his mastery over California, shutting out the Angels for the third straight time this year with a seven-hitter. The victory lifted Stottlemyre's career advantage over California to a lopsided 17-3 mark.

The Yankee righthander helped himself at bat, driving in two runs with a single as the Yankees scored four of their runs in the second inning to beat Lloyd Allen.

Bert Blyleven, who had pitched without a run from his Minnesota teammates for 25 straight innings, rode the fifth-inning home run barrage of Rick Renick, Bob Darwin and Eric Soderholm past Milwaukee. Coasting on the Twins' biggest inning of the season—six runs—Blyleven won his ninth game against 10 losses.

Grandma and grandpa were there—so little Johnny gave them something to brag about to the gang back home.

Johnny Bench's grandparents, Verda and Lon Chaney, were in the Riverfront Stadium stands Wednesday night when Cincinnati collided with Pittsburgh in the battle of National League divisional leaders.

"Grandma wanted a couple of home runs," Bench commented matter-of-factly after he'd given them just that—his 23rd and 24th round-trippers of the baseball season to power the Reds to a 6-3 victory over the Pirates.

In other National League games, the New York Mets shut out San Francisco 4-0. Los Angeles hammered Philadelphia 9-5. St. Louis blanked Atlanta 7-0. Houston outsluged the Chicago Cubs 10-6 and San Diego edged Montreal 6-5.

In the American League, Minnesota mauled Milwaukee 7-1. Detroit defeated Texas 3-1. Boston beat Oakland 7-6. Kansas City clobbered Baltimore 11-4 in 10 innings. The Chicago White Sox slipped past Cleveland 5-4 and the New York Yankees silenced California 5-0.

Grandma and grandpa weren't the only people in the stands that Bench had on his mind. Lou Fonseca, his batting instructor, was also on hand "to point out any of my mistakes," Bench explained.

And how, pray tell, could the Cincinnati slugger, batting a solid .291 with 24 homers and 69 runs batted in—both tops in the majors—possibly be making mistakes?

"Oh, we had some kind of a signal," Bench said, "where I'd look over at Lou and he'd indicate to me any mistakes I was making. Yeah, he pointed out a couple of things," he added—but he wouldn't say what he was doing wrong. Nobody else has been able to figure that out either.

Tony Perez countered a Pittsburgh first-inning run with his 14th homer in the second. Then, two innings later, with a runner on third, Bench leaned into Luke Walker's outside fastball and parked it over the right field wall to put the Reds ahead to stay.

The Reds, beating the Bucs for the second straight night, maintained their 1½-game lead over Houston in the West while Pittsburgh's East Division edge over the Mets was trimmed to 3½ games.

Jon Matlack regained his rhythm with a four-hit, nine-strikeout performance for the Mets. "I've had trouble lately," the young left-hander said. "I've been overstriding. The upper part of my body has been fighting my legs."

"I went out there today hoping to rebuild myself . . . I guess I was doing something right," he added. Bud Harrelson did something right too, against the Giants, knocking half the Mets' runs with a two-run triple off Sam McDowell in the second inning.

"Pitching and the outfield," groaned Phillies Manager Paul Owens, "they killed us." The five Phillies pitchers gave up 18 Los Angeles hits and the outfielders, running the wrong way at inopportune times, let the baseballs fall in for extra-base hits. Wes Parker and Bill Buckner led the Dodgers' assault with three hits and two RBI apiece.

Bullet Bob Gibson, who lost his first five decisions of the season, reeled off his ninth straight victory with a six-hitter and chipped in with a home run, his third of the year, to lead the Cardinals past Atlanta for their 17th victory in 21 games.

Jim Wynn belted two home runs and Norm Miller and Lee May added one apiece for the Astros, overcoming homers by the Cubs' Billy Williams and Jim Hickman.

Larry Stahl and Clarence Gaston clubbed homers for the Padres, who overcame a three-run Montreal first inning to overturn the Expos.

Fischer Reported Threatening To Quit Championship Chess Match

By STEPHENS BROENING
Associated Press Writer
REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — Bobby Fischer today was reported threatening to break off his world championship chess match with Boris Spassky unless all movie cameras are removed from the playing hall.

"It's quite serious. He may not play at all," said a member of Fischer's entourage who asked not to be identified.

Fischer was scheduled to meet the world champion from the Soviet Union later today — at 1 p.m. EDT — for the second game of their 24-game match. The American challenger lost the first game Wednesday night.

Fischer staged a 30-minute walkout shortly after the play began Wednesday, complaining that a movie camera 150 feet away was making him nervous. The camera was hardly visible in the dimness outside the lighted players' circle, and it could not be heard by Fischer, but aides said the knowledge of its presence unnerved him.

Chief referee Lothar Schmid of West Germany, who makes the decisions on all contested points in connection with the match, told Fischer during his walkout there was nothing he could do about the camera. Film and television rights for the match have been sold to an American promoter, and Fischer and Spassky are to get a share of the proceeds, estimated at a minimum of $27,500 each.

"It's up to Lothar Schmid whether Bobby plays," one of Fischer's advisers said today.

Contacted at his hotel, Schmid said: "There will be a match tonight. If Fischer doesn't appear, he will take the consequences."

A member of Fischer's camp said the "legal aspects are being studied."

Richard Stein, a lawyer for the promoter who bought the TV and film rights, Chester Fox, said he was up all night with Fischer's second, the Rev. William Lombardy, and Fred Cramer of the U.S. Chess Federation.

Stein said that at one point Fischer walked in on the meeting, listened for a few minutes and then in a few sentences indicated he was adamant about expelling the cameras. Then he went to bed.

In agreement with Lombardy and Cramer, Stein wrote Fischer a letter at 5 o'clock this morning appealing to the challenger to accept the presence of the cameras and go on playing.

"I hope the letter will move him," Stein said.

Schmid said he was prepared to invoke two rules of the match against Fischer.

Rule 17 prohibits in the name of "the highest principles of sportsmanship" that either player "distract or annoy his opponent."

Rule 21 allows the taking of pictures during the match by official photographers as long as the cameras are "neither visible nor audible."

Bethel Student Received Award

R. Gregory Michaels, of Bethel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Phillip Michaels, Jr., a rising sophomore at Episcopal High School in Alexandria, Virginia, was recently awarded the Whittle Prize for imminent excellence in four major subjects. The prize was established in 1872 to honor Bishop Whittle of Virginia.

Michaels also was awarded

The William Holland Wilmer Gold Medal for the highest academic average. This medal is given in memory of William Holland Wilmer, founder of the Wilmer Clinic of the John Hopkins University.

The Quentin Roosevelt Memorial Prize was awarded to Michael for character. This award was endowed by Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, wife of the late President, in memory of her son, Quentin. The recipient is chosen by the faculty.

Jodie Pledged Street Work, Was Elected Mayor

By CHERYL ARVIDSON
AYRSHIRE, Iowa (UPI)—Nestled obscurely amid rolling, lush Iowa farmland, the tiny town of Ayrshire hardly seems the place where political precedent would be set, but that's just what happened last fall when the people of Ayrshire elected Jody Smith their mayor.

At age 19, Jody is the nation's youngest mayor, but this summer he's just like any other 19-year-old looking for odd jobs between terms in college.

During the school year, Jody attends nearby Iowa Lakes Community College in Emmetsburg, a two-year junior college. He is a sophomore with two quarters left before he transfers to a four-year school to complete his education. Ayrshire has no major industries and few businesses. The population is between 275 and 300 and although there are few young people in the area, jobs are scarce. Often Jody helps his father, Elmer Smith, by pumping gas at "Elmer's Gyp Joint" on the edge of town, but if there's farm work available, Jody jumps at the chance.

On one recent sweltering day, Jody Smith was found about eight miles from town helping a crew of farm hands shell last year's corn crop. His job was driving a grain truck loaded a little too full with more than 26,000 pounds of shelled corn. No, he didn't have time to stop, but he'd be glad to talk while tooling down the road in his truck.

Pledged Good Roads

Casting a wary eye for Iowa highway patrolmen who are "tough" on overloaded farm vehicles, Jody freely discussed his first six months in office and confidently boasted of "no trouble at all" in running his town. Running his hand through longish but out-of-style hair, the gangly mayor noted that the night before, the Ayrshire Town Council accepted his recommendation for a $2,400 street improvement program that will fulfill his one and only campaign promise—fixing the streets in Ayrshire.

"I only wanted to fix the streets when I ran for mayor," he said. "I had no idea all this would happen."

"All this" includes a congratulatory telephone call from President Nixon before he was even sworn into office; an active role in a young voters group made up "mostly of sports heroes" seeking to re-elect the President; a Nixon appointment to a special advisory committee that recognizes outstanding work in ecology; and a bevy of photographers and newsmen invading Ayrshire to catch a glimpse of the nation's youngest mayor at work.

Jody is a devout Republican although both his parents are independents. He is assisting Republican Gov. Robert D. Ray as well this summer in his campaign with an assignment of coordinating young voters.

Political Fascination

"I love politics. Anything that's involved with politics I thoroughly enjoy," Jody said while trucking down the road.

His future plans are uncertain but they tentatively include at least a bachelor's and possibly a master's degree in government. Where he decides to transfer to complete his college work will hold the key to Jody's future as mayor. "If it's close enough to home, I'll run again. I really love the job," he said.

His adventures in politics have convinced him that he's in the right field, but the big question now is where to pursue his political career. "I love the small town, but I also love the challenge of a big city," Jody said.

The street program is the major accomplishment of his first months in office, Jody said, but he also has taken it upon himself to remodel the town hall, a two-room converted school house that also houses the ancient Ayrshire fire truck. The outside of the building is a shambles—"We'll fix that next year"—but the inside is bright blue, newly paneled and sparkling clean, all for $350.

"It was a real mess, just unbelievable, before we started," Jody said. "There was no labor involved, though, because I did it all. The marshal helped me with the paneling and the clerk with the painting."

Ayrshire has a $25,000 annual budget, and Jody has accomplished about as much as he can this year without overspending. "I don't know of any new projects. I've about spent our allotment this year, and I'm contented for now."

People Sought Change

The people of Ayrshire weren't thinking about a blow for young voters last November when they elected Jody, and most residents say they are pleased with what Jody has done so far. The townsfolk wanted a change, they say, and they've had one.

"I'm sure they were expecting something different than they got when they elected me mayor," Jody said. "I hope they're pleased with what they got, but you'll just have to ask them."

"It's a little different to have a mayor that young," commented Floyd Peterson, who farms southwest of Ayrshire, "but I think it will work out all right because he's a good boy."

Mrs. Lois Graham, 51, who works in the only grocery store in town, said the whole town is "very proud of him. I've never heard an unfavorable comment at all on what Jody's trying to do."

"He's a level headed young man, and I'm sure he'll do a good job for us," Mrs. Graham added. "It wasn't the young people who put him in office, people you know, because there aren't very many of them. It was the people my age who voted for Jody. We're satisfied because this is a small town and you can't do it all overnight."

Jody's family is not interested in politics and they like the attention brought to them by Jody's public office even less. Mrs. Smith said her biggest hope is that the whole thing "doesn't go to his head. He hasn't changed yet."

Elmer Smith just runs his 28-year-old gas station and ignores the whole thing. "I'm clear out of this thing," he said. "I just told him to shut his damn mouth about it."

Jody gets mail from all over the country and has a stack of clippings which his mother claims stands three feet high. Included in the daily mail are several "nasty letters" which Jody says mainly deal with his support of President Nixon. "I just wish they'd sign those nasty letters so I could write them back," he said.

The mayor, himself, is unshaken in his support of the President and considers his reelection a certainty. Although many of his peers criticize the President for the war in Vietnam, Jody says, "I figure the President knows more about the war than we do."

JODY SMITH, 19, is the nation's youngest mayor. Here he stands surveying the main street of his home town, Ayrshire, Iowa. (UPI Telephoto)

'Appetite Like A Bird' Is A Plague To Farmers

By AHMED LUTFY
CAIRO (AP)—The peasants of Africa and the Middle East are plagued by unwanted little helpers at harvest time.

In Egypt alone an estimated 50,000 tons of wheat and corn are gobbled up annually by the little harvesters.

"Passer domesticus niloticus," is the scientific name for the Egyptian Nile sparrow, which appears at harvest time each spring and fall to eat the ripened grains.

The birds, and their cousins, the Quail Quail bird, who has similar tastes and travels in flights of hundreds or thousands across Africa in search of new grain, have defied international efforts to destroy them.

Abdel Hakim Mohammed Kamal, Egypt's chief agronomist, estimates the birds number 30 million in Egypt alone. Their appetites cost the government about a dollar a bird, or $30 million annually, because the grain they eat must be replaced by imports.

The birds are increasing in numbers as the expanding use of DDT and pesticides tips nature's balance by destroying some of their natural enemies, including crows, vultures and the Nile ibis.

The enemies eat DDT-infested worms and die. The Quail Quail are not worm eaters and only eat the grain at harvest—which is not spraying time—and thus are not bothered by DDT.

Paradoxically, the Nile sparrow has been regarded for decades as a symbol of love and freedom, is protected by Egyptian law, and is admired by the fellah (Egyptian peasant) because it helps combat worms and other grain pests.

The United Nations has a $700,000 regional anti-Quail Quail bird project based at Fort Lamy, Chad, which operates in 11 countries.

This spring the U.N. experts were drawing on the aircraft, spraying experience and communications facilities of the East African Desert Locust Control Organization to test new techniques for killing the birds.

A fine spray, which the birds breathe, is best for killing them, one expert says, but the problem is getting a plane over a hungry flock.

Catching them by hand, or clubbing them, is another way, but it is not very effective in combating a flock of hundreds of thousands which is capable of denuding a ripe grain field almost as effectively as locusts clean the landscape.

In Egypt, where the law protecting the grain eaters is ignored by worried agronomists, Agriculture Minister Mustafa al Jabali favors the method used in China.

The Chinese, he says, have found the birds are capable of flying only 15 minutes at a time. Intense noise forces them to fly further, until they literally fall out of the sky, dead.

Under the Chinese method, a volunteer force from several villages disperses over a wide area and commences beating on cans and drums, blowing horns, and shouting, hopefully driving the birds aloft on their last flight.

Longevity Aids Drug Industry

NEW YORK (UPI)—The growth of the over-65 population in the United States is creating a promising outlook for the drug industry, says a research report by Hornblower & Weeks-Hemphill, Noyes, investment banking and brokerage concern.

An estimated $7.7 billion drug manufacturers' shipments in 1971 was up 10 per cent over 1970 shipments, and is expected to rise another 10 per cent in 1972 to $8.5 billion, the report says. Government estimates indicate industry shipments should reach $10.8 billion in 1975 and $15.4 billion in 1980.

They're Still Struggling To Save Egyptian Temples

By C.C. MINICLIER
Associated Press Writer
PHILAE ISLAND, Egypt (AP) — Pneumatic drills are shattering the stillness of the temples of Philae, as Egyptian engineers blast and dig where armies have trod softly for more than 2,000 years.

The temples, which date back to 350 years before the birth of Christ, are to be moved to rescue them from the waters of the Nile River.

Although built among the granite islands that mark the Nile's dramatic surge into Egypt, the temples of Philae never witnessed the battles fought among the ancient tribes, or between Egyptians and Nubians from neighboring Sudan.

The island of temples is said to have stood as a neutral ground, where rival armies paid homage to gods and goddesses.

When Greek and Roman soldiers came to the island, they, too, built temples.

When Napoleon's army visited the island, some of his men left their names inscribed on the temple walls.

For the last 70 years the island has been under water most of the year, and with it part of the temples, giving tourists a unique opportunity to study nearly 2,000 years of art in relative comfort.

Temple viewing, be it of ancient Pharaonic, Greek, Roman or Coptic art, is normally a neck-craning, pavement-pounding exercise, with the best art often beyond viewing above one's head.

But here one can view all four eras at pillar top level, sitting quietly, carefully not rocking the boat.

Instead of straining to see the decorations atop the soaring pillars, one merely gestures to the oarsman to gently alter his course, and drifts closer for a shoulder-level inspection.

One is awed by the size of the huge stone pillars and the boulders atop them, by the silence and agelessness of it all, as water laps gently against the side of the rowboat.

Here the ancient pharaohs worshipped Isis, best-known of Egyptian goddesses. Later, Ethiopians, Nubians, Greeks and Romans added their places of worship. Among the temples to be moved is the one to Isis, first started 350 years before Christ, and later rebuilt and added to over the next 900 years by many, including the Greeks, Romans and Copts, who made it their own place of worship.

Also to be moved are Hadrian's pylon, the Kiosk of Trajan, and temples of Hathor, Horndotes and Augustus.

"Look long and well at this island and its temples, for it conveys a more adequate impression of how an Egyptian temple actually appeared in the days of the pharaohs than any surviving building on the Nile," wrote James Henry Breasted, one of America's leading Egyptologists.

"It is ... only a matter of a comparatively short time, when this lovely spot will become a mud-covered, desolate waste, with the ruins of its once picturesque temples rising in shapeless heaps and eventually disappearing," he warned in 1908, after the British built a dam below the island to help control the Nile.

The dam, completed in 1902, did eventually flood the island and temples for up to nine months a year, and tourists were restricted to temple-viewing by boat, after a pleasant half-hour row from a downstream road-end jetty.

In the 1960s, Egyptian and Soviet engineers finished another dam, about 4 1/2 miles upstream from the old one, and currents flowed faster in the minilake between the dams in which Philae Island stands.

Today an international rescue operation, reminiscent of the five-year rescue of the temples of Abu Simbel in the 1960s, is under way at Philae, a bit below the Aswan High Dam, to save it from the rushing waters.

UNESCO has launched an international appeal to finance the rescue of the temples of Philae, which are to be moved to a dry site atop a nearby island after each piece has been photographed, marked and fed injections of a reinforcing material to enable them to be moved safely.

An initial work force of 600 is expected to swell to 3,000 as the four-to-five-year project moves along, the government press reports.

Two Italian road-building companies, merged for this venture, have signed contracts to dismantle, move and re-erect the temples at an estimated cost of $5 million.

Total cost of the project is estimated at roughly $12 million.

Clinician At Special Course

Dr. Michael R. Schweisthal, professor of anatomy in the East Carolina University School of Medicine, will be one of two guest clinicians at a special course for oral surgeons at the University of Tennessee July 13-14.

The course is sponsored by the oral surgery staff of the University of Tennessee's Memorial Research Center and Hospital, Knoxville.

Gripes At Last Heard By Soviet Automakers

By DAVID NAGY
MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet automakers are catching on to the little things that please the fussy consumer.

They listen to his gripes about defects in the old gas-eater. They try to convert what he says into improvements in the new models. They show him some respect.

The only thing the auto czars cannot do for the customer right now, at the dawning of Russia's automotive age, is let him buy a car.

Russians and Western economists say the waiting lists for new automobiles are closed, and have been for some time.

New applicants are out of luck for the moment.

The fellow who has just scraped together enough cash for a down-payment—say 2,500 rubles ($3,000) for a Volga, the working man's auto—cannot even put his name down at the end of the long, long line.

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, JULY 14, 1972

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE
from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: An adverse day and evening — one in which there are many disappointments and delays. If these setbacks are taken in a philosophical fashion, you will be able to perfect your plans better and then forge ahead when the planetary aspects improve late tonight.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You must apply yourself so that you do your finest work now, whether at office, shop or home. You are now capable of handling a civic affair. Take health treatments.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) A plan of yours may be delayed today, but don't let this bother you since greater happiness is coming your way, later. Give comfort and aid to mate and bring greater harmony at home.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Your home needs much more attention now, so attend to chores without grumbling. You can handle a problematical affair with kin and have more happiness. Avoid persons who like to argue.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You have to be more careful in travel if you wish to avoid unexpected trouble. Look for the good things in people instead of accentuating their faults. Be more cheerful.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Look into new activities that bring you added income instead of spending foolishly at this time. Take better care of small expenditures and the larger ones will seem smaller. Be wise.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Showing others that you are independent can bring respect from others. Do not even think of going along with a situation that a friend proposes. This would be very bad for you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Personal duties require quick handling now. Talk over with experts how to get ahead in the future. A good friend may come to you for assistance. Give help without spending money.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Be careful not to argue with good friends who refuse to along with your ideas, since they have personal reasons. Put extra effort on a certain desire if you wish to attain it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Show discretion in handling whatever public duties you may have. Getting bills paid on time will safeguard your credit now. Evening is fine for the social side of life.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Forget about going off on a tangent today and get busy handling daily routines that are important. Any untold ideas should be forgotten now. Show that you have good common sense.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You could get into trouble now if you fail to handle your responsibilities well. Try not to irk mate or there could be serious difficulties following. Show that you have wisdom.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Associates are in a strange mood today, and so are you, so take care you don't get into arguments or there could be a severance of connections. Handle a civic affair diplomatically.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be on of those delightful young people who has the ability to solve difficult problems and would do well in any of the professions. Teach early not to argue with others and to use energy in the right manner. Direct education along the humanities. Give religious training early.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Physical Therapists At Recent ECU Workshop

Thirty-eight physical therapist from North Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, and Maryland gathered at the ECU School of Allied Health & Social Professions Building July 7, for a three-day workshop on Electromyography and Nerve Conduction.

The workshop was developed by George Hamilton, Chairman of the ECU Department of Physical Therapy, and sponsored jointly by the ECU Division of Continuing Education and Regional Medical Program for Allied Health Continuing Education.

Principal instructors for the workshop were: John Echter-nach, Chief Physical Therapist, U.S. Public Health Service Hospital, Norfolk, Virginia, and Dr. Alfred Szumski, Associate Professor of Physiology, Medical College of Virginia.

Lectures, discussion and laboratory procedures were conducted over the three-day period which presented in-depth review of the neurophysiological basis for electromyography, and orientation to the sights and sounds of the electrical potentials emitted by normal and diseased nerves and muscles as well as practice sessions on the operation of the instruments and needle in- sections essential to the conduct of electromyography testing.

DURING WORKSHOP ... Physical therapist Bill Engle of Charlotte, instructor John Echter-nach, chief physical therapist, U.S. Public Health Service Hospital, Norfolk, Va., and Pat Davis, physical therapist of Asheville work with nerve conduction techniques.

Electromyography has been a diagnostic tool used in medicine since the early 1900's and has been a valuable tool in the accumulation of information concerning normal and abnormal muscle function during human motion.

By using this apparatus, ex- perimentors have analyzed the actions of muscled during walking and during daily activities such as eating and dressing. This information has contributed to improved techniques in the rehabilitation of severely injured or diseased persons.

The physical therapist at- tending this meeting have returned to their communities with improved abilities to assist physicians in determining the extent to which patients have changes in their nerves and muscled following injury and disease according to Hamilton.

Many times the surgeon can use information obtained from the EMG and nerve conduction to better determine needs for an operation and to predict return of function following operations. The emphasis in the workshop upon use of instrumentation and patient response should improve the physical therapists' skill to a point where they can make a more meaningful contribution to the overall medical needs of persons in their communities, Hamilton emphasized.

Milk Commission Decisions Deferred

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Milk Commission has postponed until July 27 a decision on charges against six dairies.

Three of the dairies — Pet Inc. of Charlotte, Maola Milk and Ice Cream Co. of New Bern and Sealtest Foods' Wil-son plant — were cited for not making certain records such as profit and loss statements available for inspection by commission auditors.

Long Meadow Farms of Dur- ham and Dairymen Inc. of Wil-kesboro were cited for certain infractions of fair trade regu- lations and for failure to pro- duce records. And United Dairies of Greensboro was cited for alleged fair trade viola- tions.

The commission considered the cases at its meeting Wedne- day.

During the session, David ing hanging heavy drapes she had just cleaned in a coin-oper- ated machine.

The Mecklenburg County medical examiner, Dr. Hobart Wood, says an autopsy has dis- closed that she died of asphy- xiation. But the state medical examiner will have to run addi- tional tests to determine wheth- er the dry-cleaning fluid contrib- uted.

Hall of New Bern, attorney for Maola, told the commission the firm's refusal to make records available did not constitute a violation of commission regu- lations since no one was present with authority to make certain records available to the commission when they were re- quested.

Hall suggested that the com- mission notify dairies in ad- vance when it is making an in- vestigation so that the company could have personnel available with authority to produce records.

He said then "we will make available the records we feel are necessary for that investi- gation."

Commission Chairman F. Rockwell Poisson of Charlotte suggested that the agency's staff prepare a notice to be used in obtaining dairy records for examination.

In other business Wednesday, the commission reelected Poi- son chairman and reelected Mrs. B. C. Langston of Grifton vice chairman.
