$8.9 Million County Budget Approved

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer

Pitt County Commissioners, meeting in a special session Monday afternoon, gave their final approval to a countywide budget for 1972-1973 totaling $8,921,942.52.

This year's budget, which represents a substantial increase over the 1971-72 initial figure of about $6.52 million, is based on an estimated tax base of $241,357,391, with a projected collection estimate of 90 per cent.

Commissioners approved a tax rate necessary to fund the proposed expenditures in the budget of $1.52 per $100 valuation, plus an additional ten cents per $100 valuation for debt service requiremtnts to offset the issuance of bonds for the new hospital.

The $1.52 tax rate, it was emphasized, is the same as last year and the additional ten cents per hundred is necessary to fulfill the debt service voted by the public on the hospital bond issue.

As usual, the major item in the budget involves the school systems allocation and the board approved a $3,519,024.34 current expense budget for 1972-73. The capital outlay funds total $663,250.

On a countywide level, Greenville City Schools is earmarked for $450,135 in current expense funds prorated from county sources and $259,500 in capital outlay from county sources. Commissioners yesterday trimmed $156,000 from a $166,000 city school request that was labeled "undesignated." The board had resolved earlier not to approve undesignated requests or requests that were not justified. An additional $10,000 was shaved from a request for $46,000 to make "additions to existing sites," also submitted by Greenville Schools.

Of the $3.5 million schools budget, Pitt County Schools gets some $3,068,899 in current expense funds and 403,750 in capital outlay. The County School's debt service allocation is $748,692.

Pitt Technical Institute's total budget from the county amounts to $163,576.

Other aspects of the budget include $1,329,256 for the general fund; $1,800 for the County Home; $32,346 for Outside Poor and Relief; $1,185,047 for Public Assistance; $437,312 for the Health Department; $200,354 for Mental Health; $33,966 for industrial development; $56,586 for revaluation; and $361,733 for the county's debt service.

Major items in the General Fund include: $241,207 for the Sheriff's Department; $91,338 for the Tax Department; $102,445 for county buildings; $52,830 for Pitt County Extension Service; $177,165 for data processing; and a miscellaneous allocation of $198,988.

Commissioners voted yesterday to discontinue the supplemental capital outlay tax levy for Greenville, Arthur and Pactolus, the only three districts being assessed the levy. All were paying 20 cents per $100 valuation. Greenville residents also pay 25 cents current expense tax and that will be the total assessment for 1972-73. Other district rates remain the same.

Last-Minute Changes In Apportioning Outlays

Levy Dropped; City School Budget Cut

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

Members of the Greenville City School Board were faced with the necessity of wrestling with last-minute changes in budget directions and choices as the result of cut backs in both current expense and capital outlay allocations by the County Commissioners.

At the Monday night meeting, board members were informed by Dr. Cleet C. Cleetwood, Superintendent of the Greenville City Schools, that commissioners at a late afternoon meeting Monday had unexpectedly scratched the 20 cents supplemental district levy for the Greenville School District — one that has been in force for the city school district for a number of years as a supplemental source of income for capital outlay purposes.

"This came as a real jolt," Dr. Cleetwood remarked, "and there was not one word about this possibility until today. We had asked the commissioners to continue this at least one more year, but they scratched it."

The school board request for the capital outlay budget had been for $219,500 from county wide fund sources and $206,000 from anticipated funds based on the 20 cents Greenville district levy.

Commissioners approved a total of $259,500 for Greenville City Schools capital outlay funds from countywide sources — an amount of $40,000 above that requested. But in failing to authorize the continuance of the Greenville district levy, the net result is $166,000 less than what had been planned as a working capital for the 1972-73 fiscal year.

School board members, following discussion of alternatives, approved Dr. James Bearden's motion to apply $219,500 of the approved $259,500 to capital improvement projects detailed as most urgent in priority in the proposed budget; and further to apply the additional $40,000 to top priority items in the second most urgent group of projects. (In it's initial budget, capital outlay items had been presented in three categories of priorities.).

As a second part of the motion, Dr. Bearden recommended the board further review a suggestion proposed by the administration at the meeting that the $40,000 be applied to three items — $15,000 for new buses; $15,000 for new cafeteria equipment; and $10,000 for land purchase for Sadie Saulter.

To balance the deficit of $166,000 members approved a motion to delete an item of $156,000 for a new administrative building listed under local district resources, and also deleted $10,000 of the $25,000 listed under district levy funds for purchase of land for Sadie Saulter. (The dual transaction relative to land purchase for Sadie Saulter could still leave a total of $31,000 earmarked for that purpose, as $21,000 was approved by the commissioners under countywide funds; and $10,000 of the $40,000, if approved, will go to that particular fund).

In a budget summary report presented to school board members, it was noted that the Greenville City Schools ended the 1971-72 fiscal year with an operating balance of $54,728.28 in capital outlay; with $148,681.77 in site escrow funds for a new middle-junior high school, and $46,486.92 from fire insurance on the old Junior High School.

Current Expense Funds

In the category of current expense funds for fiscal year 1972-73, County Commissioners approved $450,125.36 of the $586,050.00 requested in the current expense budget for 1972-73 for Greenville City Schools.

The gap of $135,924.64 between what was requested and the amount approved was met in two separate actions approved by board members.

The first was a reduction of $70,200 in four areas — secondary teachers, $7,500; instructional supplies, $12,000; teacher aides (a total of 12) $45,700; and employee health benefits, $5,000.

"The only reason we can consider this reduction," Dr. Cleetwood told board members in proposing this action, "is that last Thursday Congress passed a bill for federal aid. Even though there were no appropriations Congress did pass a continuing resolution for ESEA Title 2 funds to be effective through January 31, 1973."

The superintendent, in recommending this reduction to help meet the gap, said "In proposing this, we are gambling, guessing, hoping that the extent of continuing aid will make this deduction workable."

The second action approved to meet the remaining

Egypt Asks Soviet Pull Its Advisers

CAIRO (AP) — President Anwar Sadat has asked the Soviet Union to withdraw its military advisers from Egypt, informed sources said today.

Several were seen leaving on Sunday and Monday, shortly after Premier Aziz Sidky returned from a one-day visit to Moscow.

Sadat informed the 150-member Central Committee of the ruling Arab Socialist Union of the action today and several heads of foreign missions here were called in to see top Egyptian officials Monday—including the chief U.S. diplomat here, the informants said.

It was not immediately clear how many Soviet military advisers were to leave or how soon.

Estimates of the number of Soviet military advisers in Egypt range from 10,000 to 20,000.

They came after President Gamal Abdel Nasser's secret visit to Moscow in January 1970 in which he agreed to Soviet military presence. He went to the Soviet capital during Israel's deep penetration bombing raids against Egypt.

Two months later badly needed surface to air SAM missiles, manned by Soviets, began arriving in Egypt.

The withdrawal of military advisers, perhaps because they have finished their job and trained the 500,000-man Egyptian army, was expected to be popular among the masses.

Student demonstration blocked Cairo streets last January for nearly a week with participants questioning Egypt's relationship with the Soviet Union.

Removal of the military advisers may be considered by many a sign of Egypt's independence from the Soviet Union. It would ease complaints of those who fear domination by any one foreign power and could open the door to a freer foreign policy in Egypt where everyone is fed up with the continued state of no war, no peace, observers said.

Those who oppose the Soviet military presence in Egypt contend the Soviets did not want a peace settlement in the Middle East because it would remove the justification for their presence in the area.

Considered of interest is that one of the few ambassadors known to have met with the premier Monday was the Sudanese ambassador.

Sudan, largest country in Africa and the Arab world, expelled thousands of Soviet advisers after an unsuccessful Communist-led coup last July and has since made enormous diplomatic efforts to be friendly with everyone—including the United States and Communist China—as well as its African and Arab neighbors.

A New Job For Jordan's Aide

Govm't Files Pollution Suits

NEW YORK (AP) — The federal government today filed complaints against New York City and the Passaic Valley Sewerage Commission charging them with discharging nearly 1.9 billion gallons per day of raw or inadequately treated waste into the New York Harbor area.

The federal Environmental Protection Agency moved against the city and the PVSC under the Water Pollution Control Act. The suit gives the city and the commission 180 days to submit updated abatement plans or face further Justice Department action.

$3 Billion Deal

LONDON (AP) — The Occidental Petroleum Co. announced today that it has signed a five-year agreement with the Soviet government to supply the Russians a wide range of scientific and technical services.

Informants in London estimated the value of the contract as high as $3 billion and said it was the biggest ever signed by a U.S. corporation with the Soviets.

Occidental's chairman, Dr. Armand Hammer, gave no indication of the financial arrangements, but some experts speculated that payment would be in crude oil and gas from the Siberian fields. Occidental's stock jumped 19 per cent Monday when rumors of the agreement reached American markets.

Cease-Fire Feelers Are Reported In Northern Ireland's Gun Fights

By COLIN FROST
Associated Press Writer

BELFAST (AP) — New feelers for a cease-fire in Northern Ireland were reported today after guerrillas of the Irish Republican Army halted their attacks in the bullet-scarred Lenadoon district of Belfast.

David O'Connell, chief strategist of the IRA's Provisional wing, said in Dublin that overtures for a new truce with British forces were being made. O'Connell, who led negotiations for the cease-fire that collapsed nine days ago, declined to elaborate.

British authorities would not confirm his statement.

Despite the hint of peace, 100 shootings and gunfights were reported across the province between midnight Monday and 8 a.m. Tuesday.

The British Army said soldiers hit eight guerrillas in gunfights in Belfast and Londonderry, where three big bombs caused heavy damage in the commercial district Monday.

Three soldiers were reported wounded by snipers. Two bombs blasted the predominantly Protestant town of Portadown, southwest of Belfast. One wrecked a tavern.

Protestant vigilantes and Catholic guerrillas battled in Duncairn Gardens, a no-man's land in North Belfast, the Army said.

The IRA Provisionals agreed late Monday to halt their bomb and bullet attacks in the Lenadoon area of Southwest Belfast. They yielded to demands from Catholic residents to stop shooting after the British army said it would pull out most of the 700 men it had stationed there if the guerrillas quit first.

Some British units were expected to withdraw today, after William Whitelaw, Britain's administrator in Northern Ireland, conferred with his security chiefs.

Wheat Subsidy To Set Record

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sweetened billion-dollar farm subsidy plan by the Nixon administration is expected to bite into huge surplus stockpiles next year even if the Soviet Union decides not to buy any U.S. bread grain.

The plan, announced Monday by the Agriculture Department, could pay farmers about $1.1 billion for trimming wheat acreage next year, a record high subsidy for the crop and about $100 million more than payments for 1972.

It is basically the same as for this year, but includes additional incentives to entice more acres from wheat production. The basic government price support loan will remain unchanged at $1.25 per bushel.

A department spokesman, noting the build up of wheat surpluses to the highest level in nearly a decade, told reporters the 1973 acreage "set-aside" program benefits could run $100 million more than the billion spent on payments this year.

"It was drawn up without taking into consideration the possibility of the Soviet sale," Glenn A. Weir, deputy administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service said.

Weir referred to a recently announced $750 million sale of U.S. grain to the Soviets over the next three years.

"But if exports, and sales to the Soviet Union materialize, then farmers stand to gain and cost to the government will be lower," he said.

The program is keyed partly to markets, meaning that if farmers get higher prices for cash sales they will rely less on government payments.

The program is aimed at taking 25 million acres from wheat production next year, compared with about 20 million idled this harvest.

A major change for 1973 is in an "optional" provision intended to entice farmers to remove 10 million acres from wheat production in addition to their basic idled acres.

Summer Grads

For the first time in the history of Greenville's city schools, a graduation exercise for students completing their requirements at summer school will be held.

On Friday, July 21, at 8:00 p.m., approximately 15 seniors are expected to receive their diplomas in a graduation ceremony scheduled at the Fellowship Hall of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church.

"There's a total of 26 who have met the requirements to graduate at summer school," Robert Alligood, Rose High principal, stated. "However, as some of the students needed to move on out into jobs or for some reason or other could not be here, we will have 15 or 16 students at the graduation ceremony."

Dr. Badger Clark, chairman of the Greenville City School Board, encouraged all school board members to be present for the first Greenville summer graduation exercise.

Underwater Explosions Damage U.S. Destroyer

By GEORGE ESPER

SAIGON (AP) — Two underwater explosions heavily damaged the U.S. destroyer Warrington on Monday in the Tonkin Gulf where it was trying to intercept cargo from three Chinese freighters, U.S. military sources reported today.

The Navy said the cause of the explosions was under investigation. Spokesmen declined to speculate whether the 390-foot ship might have been hit by U.S. mines that had broken loose from the fields U.S. Navy planes planted around North Vietnamese harbors.

No enemy fire was reported, at the time of the explosions, spokesmen said.

One sailor among the destroyer's 270 crewmen suffered minor injuries, was treated on board and returned to duty, the Navy said.

The 3,400-ton Warrington sustained heavy shock damage and there was flooding in its engineering spaces, which was quickly brought under control, a spokesman said.

The Warrington left the Tonkin Gulf on her own power for the U.S. naval base at Subic Bay in the Philippines but later was taken under tow by the salvage ship Reclaimer because full extent of the damage was not known, spokesmen said.

Sources said the Warrington was part of a 7th Fleet task force posted off Hon La island about 85 miles north of the demilitarized zone to fire on barges and craft attempting to ferry war materials ashore to North Vietnam from three Chinese Communist freighters.

The sources said none of the freighters had ever been attacked.

The U.S. Command reported that American fighter-bombers flew more than 310 strikes against highways, bridges, supply barges, fuel depots and warehouses inside North Vietnam on Monday.

Maness-Tharp Vows Are Solemnized On Sunday

The wedding vows of Miss Sandra Kay Tharp and Gary John Maness were solemnized Sunday at 2:00 p.m. in a Communion blessing at the First Wesleyan Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Bryce Whitney Tharp of Greenville, and Mr. and Mrs. John Lloyd Maness Jr. of Rt. 9, Greenville.

The Rev. H. A. Lewis assisted by the Rev. Leonard P. Baxter, uncle of the bride, officiated. A program of music was presented by Mrs. H. A. Lewis, organist, and Mrs. Alva Lee Evans, soloist.

The church was decorated with two baskets of mixed yellow and white flowers flanked by a pair of tall single candlesticks. Greenery extended along the altar rail on each side. A white kneeling bench completed the setting.

The bride and bridegroom entered the church together. She wore a formal length white silk organza gown styled with a scalloped princess neckline. The empire bodice was designed in rosepoint chantilly lace embellished with pearls. Matching lace in deep panels accentuated the A-line skirt in a redingote effect and extended into a chapel length train. The full sleeves were trimmed in lace and finished at the wrist in ruffled cuffs.

She wore a fingertip length veil of tulle attached to a headpiece of pearl encrusted lace flowers. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of yellow and white mixed summer flowers accented with Marguerite daisies and French ivy tied with streamers of matching satin and tulle.

The bride's mother wore a yellow polyester dress with a matching lace sleeveless coat and accessories. The mother of the bridegroom selected a peach dress with matching accessories.

After a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will reside in Greenville.

The bride and bridegroom are both graduates of J. H. Rose High School.

Reception

Stockert, from a table covered in white organdy over yellow with a centerpiece of yellow and white flowers in a brass bowl flanked with brass candelabra. The corners of the table were adorned with yellow bows and daisies. Greenery surrounded the wedding cake and the punch bowl.

Homemaker's Haven

By Evelyn Spangler

Pitt Home Agent

A local homemaker called me the other day to say that she had canned her green beans by the boiling-water bath method. A friend told her later that she was supposed to have used the pressure canner. The homemaker was naturally upset — would she have to throw all those beans away and waste all the time and effort, not to mention those good beans and the money involved!

Her friend was right. Most vegetables are low in acid, and the steam-pressure canner should be used for canning all vegetables except tomatoes and pickled vegetables.

No matter how hard or long you boil water it only reaches a temperature of 212 degrees F. Low-acid vegetables need to reach a temperature of 238 degrees to 246 degrees F. in order to be sure of killing bacteria that cause dangerous spoilage.

The type spoilage we are most concerned with is that due to toxin formed by the botulinus organism. The organism itself is not harmless until in a low-acid, no air environment where it produces the poisonous toxin. The high temperature of pressure canning prevents development of the toxin by killing the bacteria.

There have been cases of botulism reported from eating foods which appeared to be all right. There are some signs which may indicate botulinus spoilage:

. an odor of rancid cheese
. gas (many other organsims also cause gas)
. a soft, disintegrated condition of the food.

If you have already canned low-acid vegetables by the boiling-water bath method, you can reprocess them in the pressure canner —

. leave the food in the jars
. but use new lids
. process the full length of time as recommended or cold pack

As a further precaution, always boil all non-acid canned foods 15-20 minutes before tasting. Leave the lid off. Then if there is any toxin present, it will go off in the steam.

Call (758-1196) or write the Home Economics Extension Office, P.O. Box 1427, Greenville, for a free copy of our canning booklets.

Acquaint Parents WithContemporaries

By Abigail Van Buren

[© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.]

DEAR ABBY: Do you think retired parents should spend EVERY day with their married daughter? Mine have rented an apartment near us and they use my home to store all their "hate-to-part-with" treasures. My closets contain their off-season clothing, and they use my house as theirs, which doesn't upset me, but I resent more and more the lack of privacy.

They come here at 9 a. m. for "coffee" and stay for lunch, then they wait for the children to come home from school. They are still here when I start dinner, and since they never have any plans, I ask them to stay. They don't sponge off us. In fact, they're always bringing steaks, fresh fish or something for the family.

They do many things to "help" me. Dad works in the yard and Mom sews and darns and bakes. I go to nothing alone. Not even a dental appointment. They like to go along "for the ride" and are content to just sit in the car and wait for me.

Altho there are many retired couples in this community, my folks want no part of them. We are their only interest. Several years ago our friends were very good about including them in parties, etc., but they grew tired of this, and now our social life is very sparse.

Well, Dear Abby, my problem is somewhere in this rambling letter, so if you can find it, perhaps you'll offer a solution. TRAPPED

DEAR TRAPPED: Your problem wasn't hard to find. You lack the courage to extricate yourself from a situation which has become stifling. The only solution is to try harder to acquaint them with their contemporaries, and introduce them to other interests.

DEAR ABBY: This is in regard to that lady whose husband is always gawking at women with big bosoms while she is made to feel inferior because she is small.

I have what is considered a "sexy" bosom, and I hate it! Ever since my teens I have been conspicuously large. Even today I have an entire bureau drawer filled with expensive bras of every description because I have never found a comfortable one. I am sick and tired of bras which cut and bind and torture me.

I am seriously considering surgery to reduce the size of my bosom. I envy the woman who is lucky enough to enjoy the freedom and comfort of a small bosom. And if her husband is a male chauvinist pig who humiliates her by constantly gawking at big-bosomed women, any psychologist could tell him that he is still a little boy looking for his Mommy. BIG IS BURDENSOME

DEAR BIG: Your feeling has been confirmed by many. But one woman's "burden" is another woman's booby prize.

DEAR ABBY: Three cheers for that wife of 50 years who was married to Herman, and felt that after 50 years of "for better or worse" she was entitled to a few years of "better" before she died.

She probably raised a family and helped Herman in his business, while Herman [on his off hours] charmed the ladies and pursued his hobbies. Then Herman grew old and the ladies were no longer charmed.

Herman's wife probably got tired of hearing Herman tell people what a great father and husband he was. And how hard he had worked all his life to become a big success from such a humble beginning.

Hooray for Herman's wife who had the courage to call it quits after 50 years. I hope she's living it up in Palm Springs, and still has the health to play a few games of canasta.

I wish I had her courage. "A FORTY-NINER"

CONFIDENTIAL TO "EMPTY ARMS": Stay with the husband to whom you have been happily married for the last 15 years. Number One missed the boat 20 years ago.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L. A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Mother Of Five, Friend To Two

CAEN, France (WNS) — Colette Blondel, now 28 years old and the mother of five children, began writing fan letters to Empress Farah Diba of Iran five years ago. The empress replied immediately, and their continued correspondence culminated in an invitation to Mme. Blondel to visit Iran and the royal court. "The empress sent me some beautiful material for a dress I could wear during the all-expenses-paid visit," reported Mme. Blondel. "When I arrived in Teheran, she was wearing a suit made from the same material. How thoughtful!" On her return to Paris after the two-weeks vacation, the French mother was immediately invited to the Maison de l'Iran by the Princess Ashraf, sister of the Shah, for a cocktail party in her honor. "You never know what a fan letter may do," marvelled Mme. Blondel.

"There is no longer a hard trend in haute couture," said American-born designer Tiziani, normally one of the pacesetters for the jet-setters.

Despite what he said, Tiziani's style is a classic sportwear look for daytime or evening wear. Coats are looser with modified kimono-type sleeves.

Designers are trying to eliminate such superflous features as padding, and to keep the lines simple and sober. But they have made up for it in other ways.

Fancy jewelry is an eyecatching feature of many collections.

Also in vogue are the soft cloche hats.

Talitzine offers fur turbans as an option.

Some designers still favor trousers, baggy for evening wear. Others feature the easy-to-wear shirtwaist dress. Dresses have the last word in a bid for greater femininity. Skirts are mostly knee length, in daywear at least, but one designer plans to lower hemlines at the back into a sort of train.

Garbage Man Has Choice

LEAMINGTON SPA, England (WNS) — Ray Stanley, 46, earns $60 a week working for the sanitation department and can no longer afford two homes: one for his wife and their four children, the other for his mistress and her two children. He has asked City Councilor Robert Coombes, chairman of the housing committee, for one dwelling for both families. Mistress Pat Higgins said, "The arrangement would suit me fine." Wife Lilliam Stanley said, "Okay, but I'm going ahead with my divorce action anyway." Councilor Coombes said, "Mr. Stanley's unusual request will be treated on its merits."

Faircloth Would Brief Commissioners On The Law

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina's Highway Commission chairman said in an interview published Monday that future members of the controversial road board should be thoroughly briefed on laws governing their business conduct.

Commission Chairman Lauch Faircloth, in a copyrighted article published by the magazine "North Carolina," said this "matter of conflict-of-interest hasn't received enough emphasis."

"From now on I suggest that every new Highway Commission, when it is sworn into office, have a long meeting with the attorney general's staff and he intensively informed about the laws in question, and have a chance to ask questions," Faircloth said.

"I would say there's no foolproof way you can keep people from breaking the law. I suppose the best answer is to give commissioners the intensive briefing I mentioned and to remind them frequently of their obligations under the law."

The magazine's interview with Faircloth was conducted shortly after Gov. Bob Scott announced the resignations last month of two highway commissioners whose conduct had come under questioning for alleged conflict of interest by doing business with the highway department.

Scott said the resignations and newspaper articles dealing with activities by former Commissioners Arthur Tripp of Greenville and E. J. Whitmire of Franklin had been turned over to authorities for official investigation. No charges have been filed.

In the interview Faircloth said "almost any sort of business or profession I can think of has the potential of doing indirect highway business. . . It just wouldn't be possible to put good people on the Highway Commission who didn't have some indirect avenue to business dealings with the highway program if they wanted ot use it."

Asked to what extent politics plays a role in the highway program, Faircloth replied:

"Well, those who think that every mile of road we pave represents a political payoff of some kind won't change their minds just because I say it isn't so. But it isn't."

Faircloth said, however, that politics does figure into road decisions, noting that "the men the governor appoints to be highway commissioners are usually men who supported him."

"And it's true that every commissioner can allocate a certain amount of funds toroad programs in his district as he sees fit. But that's such a small percentage of the total money spent—no more than five per cent at the outside," Faircloth said.

Faircloth continued, "The state highway program is structured in such a way that it's downright impossible to go around giving major roads in return for votes or political favors."

"By and large," faircloth said, "the highway program in North Carolina from one administration to the next shows a high degree of continuity that has little to do with partisan politics."

The "North Carolina" magazine is published monthly by the North Carolina Citizens Association, which has its headquarters in Raleigh. Former state Revenue Commissioner Ivie L. Clayton is executive vice president of the association and publisher of the magazine.

Harry Truman Is Home Again

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — Harry S. Truman is back home after 15 days at Research Medical Center in Kansas City for examination and treatment of the gastrointestinal tract.

The former president left the hospital Monday. A spokesman quoted Truman's personal physician, Dr. Wallace H. Graham, as saying that Truman is in good health for a man of 88.

Teamsters Union Gives Its Support To Nixon

By LYLE W. PRICE
Associated Press Writer

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon returns to Washington today with the endorsement of the leadership of the 2-million-member Teamsters Union.

Nixon smilingly thanked and shook hands with Teamsters chief Frank Fitzsimmons and other members of the independent union's executive committee after it endorsed the Republican President's re-election bid Monday.

The Teamster president did not disclose whether there was any split in the committee vote, but a source said it was almost unanimous.

But a Teamsters historian later said that although the union had supported Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey and other Democrats dating back to Depression days, it backed Nixon's losing campaign in 1960 against John F. Kennedy.

In a prepared statement to newsmen at the union's conference and recreational complex 25 miles south of the Western White House here, Fitzsimmons declared that Teamster leaders "felt that the backing of Mr. Nixon was in the best interests of labor and the country." Fitzsimmons was the only labor representative on Nixon's Pay Board who remained after others walked out in protest of the President's policies.

The Teamsters president cited complaints about McGovern on Monday ranging from support of the "right-to-work" law which labor opposes, to his stands on marijuana and the Vietnam war.

Presidential press secretary Ronald Ziegler flatly denied as "untrue and absurd" a speculative Washington report that linked the Teamsters' endorsement with the early release from prison last Dec. 23 of former Teamster leader James Hoffa by presidential clemency.

The events were not connected.

In Washington, the Justice Department denied further that the endorsement had any ties with the department's recent decision not to prosecute Fitzsimmons' son, Richard, in Detroit on allegations of mishandling Teamster funds.

Schedule Is Given For Pamlico Ferry

Ferry crossings over the Pamlico River below Washington now total 20 a day, ten each from the south shore and the north shore.

The first run daily, 30 minutes after midnight, is from the south shore at Hudles Cut, about six miles north of the town of Aurora. The first north shore departure, from Gaylord's Bay near Bayview, is at 5:30 a.m. daily.

Other scheduled crossings are: From the South Shore—6:15 a.m., 8:30 a.m., 10:00 a.m., 12 noon, 2:00 p.m., 4:45 p.m., 6:15 p.m., 8:00 p.m. and 10:00 p.m.

From the north shore departure times after the initial 5:30 a.m. are: 7:00 a.m., 9:15 a.m., 11:00 a.m., 1:00 p.m., 3:00 p.m., 5:30 p.m., 7:00 p.m., 9:00 p.m., and 11:00 p.m.

The crossing, one of approximately five miles, require about 30 minutes time. The capacity of the Pamlico River ferry is about 18 cars. This is a free crossing, and service is given on a basis of first-arrival, with no arrangements for reservation service.

Two passenger lounges and a passenger sight-seeing deck are provided for passengers.

The Pamlico River Ferry is one of several free ferry services blanketing the eastern coast from Currituck to Knotts Island near the Virginia border, on south to the newly opened ferry from Minnesott Beach across the Neuse to Cherry Point Marine Corps Air Station and Havelock.

A free ferry service also transports vehicles and passengers across Hatteras Inlet between Hatteras Island and Ocracoke Island.

Ferry services between Ocracoke and Cedar Island on the mainland north of Beaufort-Morehead City and between Ft. Fisher and Southport below Wilmington are both toll services with fees varying according to the size of vehicles.

During the summer tourist season, persons planning to use any of the ferry services are advised to arrive as far ahead of sailing time as possible to avoid having to face delay in getting onto the ferries.

Border Belt Dissatisfied

LUMBERTON, N.C. (AP) — Border Belt Warehouse Association members voted Monday to go along with an industrywide committee's recommendation for auction sales to start July 25 on the belt's eight North Carolina markets.

The association, however, expressed dissatisfaction with the 1972 sales allocation of 109.4 million pounds made by the Flue-Cured Tobacco Marketing Committee.

Border Belt markets sold 118.8 million pounds of tobacco last year, down from 137.3 million pounds the previous year. A suit pending in U.S. District Court alleges the warehouse association was the victim of discrimination by the industry committee's sales allocation last year.

Allocations are down on all flue-cured belts this year, in line with forecasts of decreased production.

J. L. Townsend of Lumberton was re-elected president of the eight-market Border Belt association. Joe Coleman of Tabor City was named vice president and Bob Thompson of Lumberton was elected secretary-treasurer.

Who Will Vote Radical Change?

The Democratic National Convention is concluded and, while we disagree with Sen. McGovern on many things, we must recongize that he has out maneuvered the political pros of the party.

More than anyone else he was involved in the reorganization of the delegate selection system and he carried on his reorganizational work in full view of the old pros. Thus it should come as less of a surprise that the convention turned to the man who organized it as its presidential nominee.

However, winning the nomination in the controlled atmosphere of the Democratic National Convention is far from the same as convincing the public that Sen. McGovern is the man to lead the nation for the next four years.

The senator's record in the senate has not been radical and efforts are now underway to convince the voters that Sen. McGovern is not of radical persuasion. However, it is well to keep in mind that the senator's base of support has been radical. There can be little doubt that the radicals camped out at Miami Beach were held in check because they got what they wanted from the Democratic National Convention—namely the nomination of Sen. McGovern. It will be interesting to see if the radicals exhibit the same reserve when the Republicans meet in Miami.

It is possible that there has never been a political situation such as we see in this year's presidential race. The nearest comparision, is our opinion, would have been if Henry Wallace, once Franklin Roosevelt's vice president, has won the Democratic nomination in 1948. He did not, of course. Instead Harry Truman won the nomination for reelection and Wallace went on to run on an independent ticket, which the then young George McGovern supported for a time.

Sen. McGovern may be billed as a non-radical, but he proposes radical changes for the nation. It remains to be seen whether the United States great middle class, which will decide the election, wants radical change, or whether it will become a little more aware and appreciative of what we have even with all the problems.

A Recourse In Magistrates

By BRYAN HAISLIP

RALEIGH — If you're like most folks, at some time you felt you came out on the short end of a transaction with no choice but to burn and bear it.

You had a case, but you didn't know how to get in court without the expense of an attorney and entangling legal proceedings.

You ought to know about the magistrate's court.

Sometimes called the small claims court, it is an arm of the state's judicial system little used but with large potential for the redress of consumer grievances, said Eugene Hafer.

BRYAN HAISLIP

"The magistrate's court is designed for the people as a place where they can get an impartial hearing, in an informal atmosphere and with a minimum of expense and procedure, for claims involving less than $300," he explained.

That's the theory of the structure. In practice, the courts have been used primarily by business against creditors and landlords to collect rent.

Vacuum Of Information

The reason is that the average Tar Heel is unaware and apprehensive about taking a claim to court, said Hafer, an assistant attorney general in the consumer protection division.

He intends to fill the information void with a booklet which will explain in simple, do-it-yourself language how to go about using the magistrate's court.

The project is now near a final draft. When it is completed, Hafer will look for financing to print and distribute it. "Our budget just doesn't have the money," he said. "I hope to find a foundation or other source for funds."

How well the booklet serves its purpose depends upon getting it to those who need it. Hafer wants it placed in the hands of all consumers, including farmers, blue collar workers, housewives, and the poor.

"We aren't talking about a few thousand copies, but hundreds of thousands," he said. It should be distributed, he added, through agencies such as better business bureaus, consumer groups, social services departments, and any other medium to reach a wide public.

Trend In Consumer Movement

Educating the public on small claims courts is a facet of the consumer protection movement. New York and Florida are among other states where a similar handbook has been produced, Hafer said.

"The frustration is very real for a citizen who feels he has suffered an injustice," he observed. "We need to give him information on how he can go about finding a fair settlement."

The booklet will cover such topics as who can sue and be sued, how to prepare the forms to get a case in court, preparing for the trial, and what to do when someone sues you.

Within the $300 limitation, cases tried in magistrate's court can run the gamut from shoddy or unauthorized repair work, faculty merchandise purchased from a store, withheld pay, or other property loss or physical injury.

No Lawyer Necessary

A suit is initiated through forms obtained from the clerk of courts office. A citizen does not have to engage a lawyer to pursue a claim, though he may do so, Hafer pointed out.

Some states go so far as to prohibit the appearance of lawyers for either side in small claims courts.

Appeals may be taken to the district court. Proceedings there are more complicated, lengthy and expensive and more apt to call for the services of an attorney.

While most consumers remain oblivious to the magistrate's court as an avenue of relief, Hafer said some notable instances of success have come to his attention. "We know it can work," he said.

The magistrate's court replaced the old justice of the peace system in the unification of North Carolina courts some 10 years ago. Magistrates are salaried, with no relation between fees and pay. They are nominated by court clerks, appointed by the resident Superior Court judge, and supervised by the chief district judge.

There have been complaints that magistrates are underpaid, ill-trained, and disposed to favor the side of business over the consumer.

The system has shortcomings, Hafer agreed. Experience can best point the way to improvement, he said.

"The state should have facilities for the resolution of consumer grievance. The magistrate's court is the best we have now. If we can encourage citizens to use it, we can see what changes they think should be made and arrive at a better system," he said.

Choice Was On Ideology Basis

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

MIAMI BEACH — The revolutionary change now sweeping the Democratic party was dramatically evident when Sen. George McGovern passed up a bold ticket-balancing maneuver in choosing his Vice President and then permitted minor supporters to veto Mayor Kevin White of Boston, his first choice among the availables.

The fascinating story of the selection of personable Sen. Thomas Eagleton of Missouri starts with McGovern's long-ago private decision not to take a Southerner on his ticket.

Although McGovern had dropped repeated hints that four Southern governors were eminently suited as his running-mate (a common political ploy) neither they nor Rep. Wilbur Mills of Arkansas ever had a chance.

But Mills might have been different. He privately agreed to run when McGovern sent an emissary to see him, bringing the ticket the same geographic-ideological balance that Lyndon B. Johnson gave John F. Kennedy. More important, he would have appeased frightened businessmen.

What finally knocked him out of contention was not so much his Southern base but his views on the war. As a McGovern aide told us:

"How could we sell our troops Wilbur when he still supports the Nixon position on the war? Answer — we couldn't."

With Sen. Edward M. Kennedy closing the door, McGovern Thursday morning made his second effort to persuade Sen. Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut, a Senate intimate. Ribicoff again said no and McGovern then confided that Mayor White was his choice.

White had been in the front of the Senator's mind for weeks as an attractive, urban Catholic who, while not helping in the hostile South, might have appeased embittered big city Democrats. With Kennedy and Ribicoff unavailable, frantic calls to clear White poured from McGovern's command post here.

By one account, Kennedy, a Massachusetts factional opponent of White, cleared the mayor without hesitation. By a contradictory account, Kennedy said things: he had no objection to White, but Eagleton was preferable and McGovern should sound out the Massachusetts convention delegates.

That's where the trouble started—and where the veto came. The Cambridge intellectuals, led by such liberal ideologues as Prof. John Kenneth Galbraith, an economist with little political experience, were furious. They reminded McGovern emissaries that White had been chairman of the ill-fated delegate slate pledge to Sen. Edmund Muskie. Moreover, he smacked of the old politics.

That finished White and McGovern tapped Eagleton, also big city and Catholic but cut from a Midwestern upper middle-class cloth that lacks White's old politics image.

Even then, trouble continued. In the interest of party harmony back home, Eagleton asked Gov. Warren Hearnes, an implacable McGovern foe all year and still deeply skeptical, to place his name in nomination — a routine act with symbolic significance. Hearnes agreed.

McGovern lieutenants, however, had other plans not confided to Eagleton. Their choice for the nominating speech was black Mayor Kenneth Gibson of Newark—a highly deserved tribute to Gibson's skillful mediation of platform disputes. Naturally, Hearnes's passion to work for the ticket, not now over-

Strength For Today

WHAT IS FREEDOM?

Some people hold that the way to be free is to be free of any restraint. A person who has this point of view believes that to be free means to be free to follow one's own desires, to do as one wants to do on all occasions and in every situation.

The truth of the matter is that freedom of this sort is not freedom at all but servitude. There is no one more in slavery than the one who is constantly being scourged by his own impulses. The victim of any appetite is a slave—whether that appetite be for food, liquor, narcotics or sex. On the other hand, the person who can take an objective view of life, who has himself well in hand, and who can manage his desires as a good horseman manages the animal he rides is free in the highest sense of the term.

The more a scientist conforms himself to natural law, the more successful he is. In fact, science is the quest men make to discover the way natural law works. Suppose natural laws were unpredictable. Life would not only be a chaos, but human existence would be a continuous, agonizing hell.

The person who has no control of himself is lost. He is lost because he has never found the true secret of life. For at the very core of all life's happiness lies the capacity of a human being to adapt himself to the world in which he lives. The more he obeys law, the more does he adapt himself to society, to the natural world and to the kingdom of God.

All pure and undefiled satisfaction has its roots in self-control.

WHAT WERE THEY SAYING ABOUT OUR SYSTEM?

By J.J. KILPATRICK

Wallace And Humphrey

One of the most dramatic moments in recent political history came a little before 10 o'clock on Tuesday night, when they rolled George Wallace in his wheelchair to the bright blue podium of the Democratic National Convention. It had been a day of poignant moments: I ask leave to speak to them.

Earlier in the afternoon, we had jammed into the littered room, snaked with television cables, where Hubert Humphrey made his last hurrah. The happy warrior was close to tears. So were some of the correspondents who had covered his long labors on the campaign trail.

They offered a great contrast, at once ironic and moving: The abandoned Humphrey, the crippled Wallace. Tuesday brought an end to the road for both of them. The city is full of bellicose rumors that Wallace will yet lead a third-party bolt, but the prospect is largely discounted. He will go back to being governor of Alabama. Humphrey will return to a role of public service as junior senator from Minnesota. The stage empties. New stars emerge.

The curious thing is that both of them, Wallace and Humphrey, approaching from opposite sides, could have plucked so closely at the heart strings of America.

Wallace was not at his best Tuesday night. This ought to be made clear to those who saw him for the first time on television and may have wondered about the governor's reputation for igniting a crowd. His terrible wounds plainly have taken a terrible toll. He is drained of the twinkle, the strut and the swagger. Two months ago, before the assassin struck, Wallace had a pool-cue thrust to his strokes, a perfect spin on the ball. He used to say "pseudo" as if he were spitting out the bitter end of a wet cigar: Psuedo-intellectuals. These were the professors who couldn't park their bicycles straight.

Tuesday night, he lacked the old zing.

Yet Wallace was essentially right in his brief presentation to the convention. He sat there quietly, those black brows tented over a drawn face, while the Wallace banners waved in a handful of states. Then he spoke to an alien audience of the part of America he came to understand so well in recent years: Wallace country, where the people are "fed up to the ears" with busing, with wasteful foreign aid, with loafers on welfare, with costly bureaucracy, with permissive attitudes toward thugs on the streets.

It is true, all of it, and though the convention rejected each of the Wallace minority platform planks, the day will come this fall when George McGovern of necessity will make some of the same appeals.

So, too, with Humphrey. One saw him through a blur of reminiscence. In the days when he first emerged on the national stage, I was a Southern editor. That may say it all. He was the ardent, uncompromising liberal from Minnesota, a founder of Americans for Democratic Action, a foremost proponent of what was known then as the Fair Employment Practices Commission. We used to grind the syllables in our teeth: Eff, eee, pee, cee. When we weren't scourging Dean Acheson, we were flaying Hubert Humphrey.

Yet he was right, too. Out of the essential goodness of his heart, out of his humanity, out of his love of people, came some of the towering landmarks of American law today. Because of Hubert Humphrey, because of his

Other Editors Say Cost A Lot More

(Jacksonville Daily News)

The inevitable has happened.

Back many years ago now it became apparent that skyjackings were not going to be a few isolated incidents, a passing threat to the traveling public that would run a brief aberrational course and go away.

As the pattern progressed from the early forced flights to asylum in Cuba to seizures for a variety of political causes to the current skyjackings for escalating ransoms, it was increasingly apparent that eventually the public was going to suffer much more than inconvenience.

At San Francisco it happened — the death of a passenger in the shoot-out between FBI agents and skyjackers.

There are many who, while regretting that death and the several injuries in that and previous incidents, will nevertheless approve the FBI's decision to meet the challenge by a frontal assault. Just as there were many who earlier applauded the Israelis in setting the hard-line precedents for the storming of hostage airliners.

Not many of those speaking up for force, however, are themselves involved in the business of flying passengers. Even fewer are likely to have had the personal experience of a skyjacking.

Those who know it best, the flight crews, insist the skyjacking threat be met on the ground, by adequate passenger screening and other security measures.

This was the demand, directed at governments and airline managements, that took pilots out on a spottily effective worldwide strike in June.

Whether due to the strike, the obvious threat to passenger life and limb or cold economics — the financial pain to the airlines in the ransoms — the demand now seems to be getting a more attentive hearing.

Several federal agencies, the airlines and outside experts are newly and energetically committed to developing effective procedures and equipment to thwart the skyjackers. Passenger screening may be expected to be employed more widely and concientiously and use of weapon detectors, financed by $3.5 million voted by Congress, greatly expanded.

That likely is only the down payment.

Skyjacking, which was unacceptable in the early milkrun flights to Havana, is now intolerable.

Effectively ending the threat to public safety will be an expensive proposition for the airlines, the government and quite possibly the ticket-buying public.

But we cannot afford to do otherwise.

Congress Joining Disease Fight

By CARL C. CRAFT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is moving to intensify attacks on America's chief killer and communicable diseases despite Nixon administration opposition to key parts of the billion-dollar battle plans.

Two comprehensive healthfund authorization bills, similar to measures which the Senate passed without dissent, were due for House action today.

One would provide a three-year, $1.29 billion program aimed at curbing heart, blood vessel, lung and blood diseases—America's leading killers. The other would extend the communicable disease control program for three years under a $270 million plan to combat venereal diseases, German measles and tuberculosis.

The heart bill is envisioned as a companion to the recently enacted $1.6 billion anti-cancer law. The Senate's version of the heart legislation authorizes $1.47 billion over three years, about double the present rate of spending. The Senate-passed bill on communicable diseases contains a five-year authorization of $759 million.

The House Commerce Committee approved a more conservative funding level in both bills but retained several organizational features such as grants to states and local communities in the communicable disease control bill, and the handling of research and treatment programs through federal facilities in the fight against heart and lung diseases.

The administration has opposed organizational features of the legislation and contends the earmarking of funds would limit flexibility. It objected to the categorical grant programs on grounds there is sufficient legal power already available for control of communicable disease.

The key features of the heart bill include creating new research centers, speeding up the federal grant process, setting up a national heart and lung advisory group, and requiring a national plan covering a wide range of prevention and research programs.

The communicable disease control bill would focus $150 million on venereal disease, which officials call an epidemic. Reported cases of gonorrhea rose from 260,468 in 1962 to 624,371 in 1971.

$65,724.64 deficit in current expense was that of carrying forward that amount from unencumbered current expense funds on hand from the 1971-72 fiscal year.

The total unencumbered amoung for 1971-72 in capital outlay (subject to a final audit) is $115,923.51. Earlier, in presenting the budget summary, Dr. Cleetwood had noted "it has been a good year for us budget-wise, with tax collections coming in good, plus some unanticipated income."

For the three new members on the board, it was explained that the recommended changes and shifting of funds to meet the budget were not on the spot dicisions, but were alternatives prepared in readiness to meet any possible cut-back in either or both budgets.

Following action on the budget, Henry G. Dunn Jr. asked: "How can the County Commissioners scratch the 20 cents levy without consulting the people of the district."

Dr. Cleetwood said that "North Carolina has a weird system, at least for us. Board members don't have one bit of fiscal authority. The board ought to have the responsibility of setting the budget and presenting a levy, but unlike many other states, we don't have the authority."

The superintendent added, however, that "schools are the only agency in the county that can appeal a budget decision by the commissioners.

"If the Board of Education feels strongly that the commissioner's action has crippled our educational system, you can take it to court. But this is a dangerous route to follow. What judge is going against county commissioners fighting to protect the tax dollar?"

Mrs. Teresa Shank, one of the three new board members, expressed a strong desire "that the citizens of Greenville be made aware that the 20 cents levy is being stricken by the commissioners, and not as a result of any board of education action. I feel this loss can only result in good things not happening, things that the poeple wanted for their schools," she said.

Family Planning Meeting Slated

Avers McGovern To Carry N.C. Votes

RALEIGH (AP) — Sen. George McGovern's campaign coordinator in North Carolina said Monday the South Dakotan will carry Tar Heel balloting in November by more than 100,000 votes.

In an interview reported by the Raleigh News and Observer, Ed Graham of Charlotte said his prediction was based on confidence that McGovern could carry Eastern North Carolina.

"If we don't carry the eastern part of the state, we won't win," Graham said.

McGovern's nomination by the Democratic convention last week has drawn lukewarm responses from some high-ranking party members in North Carolina. McGovern did not enter the state's presidential primary in May.

To counteract the unfavorable reaction, Graham said McGovern forces plan to field at least 11,500 volunteers for a canvass of 85 per cent of the homes in North Carolina. The worker, would be seeking an indication of voter strength while carrying Mcgovern's message to the people.

"We're going back to the old-style campaign, from the precinct up," Graham said.

He noted the dissatisfaction expressed by some North Carolinians who opposed McGovern, and added: "I don't think they will be bad-mouthing us by the time we get down to the fall campaign."

Graham said an effort would be made to register 225,000 to 310,000 new voters, with at least 75 per cent of them favorable to McGovern.

Scott Cites Switch In Service Emphasis

BUTNER, N.C. (AP) — North Carolina's mental health program has begun shifting its emphasis from institutional care to community based treatment facilities, Gov. Bob Scott said Monday.

Scott, speaking at a 25th anniversary service for the John Umstead Hospital, said it appears the patient population has begun leveling off at Umstead and the state's other three mental health hospitals.

"The community mental health facility is coming more and more into the picture," he said.

"While there is growing acceptance and usage of mental hospitals for short-term intensive treatment, potential patients are finding community mental health services more widely available to them.

"This is in keeping with our emphasis on the value of the mental health center, and is a step toward our goal of providing this service within the community, as close to the patient's home as possible," Scott said.

North Carolina treated more than 63,000 persons at 60 community clinics during the last fiscal year, the governor said.

Scott said the state "must never lag in our support of our mental institutions and in our efforts to make life more comfortable, are meaningful and more productive" for the mentally ill.

Sees No Change

TOKYO (AP) — Chou En-Lai said Monday night that the strategic arms limitation agreements President Nixon signed in Moscow was not a step toward disarmament, it was a new stage of the arms race between the United States and the Soviet Union.

"The ink on the agreements was hardly dry before one announced an increase of billions of dollars for military expenditure and the other hastened to test new-type weapons, clamoring for seizing military superiority," the Chinese Communist premier said in a speech in Peking Monday night.

"The superpowers have not ceased their expansion and aggression against other countries, and the international atmosphere is far from truly relaxed."

Chou's speech was reported by Hsinhua, the official New China News Agency.

Saw Minimum Of Disorder

MONTREAL (AP) — The Rolling Stones' concert at the Montreal Forum went off with a minimum of disorder Monday night despite a bomb explosion earlier in the day that damaged some of the British rock group's sound equipment.

As 20,000 fans cheered the Stones inside the auditorium, police outside drove persons without tickets into a nearby park to prevent trouble.

Bottles were thrown, two windows were broken and two cars were set afire but the fires were quickly extinguished.

Three persons were injured, 30 others arrested and 500 bogus tickets seized. The bomb, which exploded under a truck outside the Forum building, was the second of the Stones' tour. The other one, in Akron, Ohio did no damage to the group's equipment.

Montreal, Canada, has more than 4,000 taxis.

Mattress Fire In Pitt Jail

A fire of yet undetermined origin caused heavy smoke damage to the county jail early this morning, according to firemen.

Firemen responded to a call at 12:15 a.m. to find that a mattress was a blaze in one of the cells in the jail. Light damage was reported to that one cell.

One prisoner was transported to the hospital. The extent of his injuries are unknown.

Firemen spent over one hour at the scene containing the blaze.

Paper Delivery Is By Horseback

ESCONDIDO, Calif. (AP) — The pony express clippety-clomps to a stop six evenings a week and also on Sunday, delivering the Times-Advocate.

The rider, Bob Willis, keeps track of the 40 or so papers and watches things—but his gelding, Flashy Lad, knows where the subscribers live and stops there.

In two months, the 13-year-old paperboy has yet to wear out shoe leather on his four-mile route or run out of gas.

A passing dog will bark occasionally. "When they try and heckle him, he just ignores them," Bob says.

"If he tried to handle the route on a bike, it would wear him out," says their father, Sheriff's Deputy Arthur Willis. "I think it's pretty nifty to let the horse do the work.

Charge Driver In Collision Here—

William Wesley Speight of 210 Lewis Street, was charged by police with failure to yield right of way at a stop sign yesterday after his vehicle allegedly collided with a vehicle being operated by Gloria Ann Ward of Murfreesboro.

Damage to the Speight auto was $100, while damage to the Ward auto was placed at $250.

The accident occurred at the intersection of Reade and Third Streets at 9:10 a.m. yesterday. Neither driver were injured.

There were, moreover, other embarrassing oversights that left the traditionalists, bypassed at every turn in this convention, resentful. One Midwestern governor who had endorsed McGovern grumbled Thursday night: "McGovern had Shirley MacLaine in there but not me" when the final selection was made.

Other governors were similarly unhappy at being ignored. A big city politician from the East complained that he was stuck with "an all-prairie ticket," hard to sell his working-class voters.

McGovern operatives, who beat the pros all spring in primary and convention contests, are not dismayed at the flowering of old-pro anger that deeply marked this convention. They truly believe that public humiliation of the traditionalists—a result of their party revolution—enhances McGovern's appeal as a "peoples candidate." Certainly, the McGovernites were true to that the way they chose Tom Eagleton for Vice President.

Six Injured In Monday Accident

AYDEN — A mid-afternoon traffic accident yesterday at the intersection of N.C. 102 and N.C. 11 caused heavy damage to two vehicles, and left six people injured.

According to State Patrolman G.L. Swanson, a car being operated by Mrs. Mae Smith Taylor of 418 Second St. in Ayden had apparently stopped for the warning flasher and proceeded to cross the southbound lane when it was struck by a vehicle being operated by John Arnold Streeter of Rt. 4, Greenville. The Streeter vehicle, according to Swanson, was heading for the DuPont Plant near Kinston.

Injured in the Taylor car were Perry Yates Jackson and his wife, Marjorie, both of Hudson, N.C., along with Mrs. Taylor. Injured in the Streeter auto, along with Streeter, were Carrie Williams of Rt. 4, Greenville, and Dink Smith of 1406 W. Sixth St. in Greenville. Jackson, Williams, and Mrs. Taylor were all placed in the intensive care unit of Pitt Memorial Hospital. Smith and Mrs. Jackson were treated and released.

Jackson was pinned in the Taylor auto for nearly 20 minutes before the Ayden Rescue Squad could remove him.

The Streeter auto skidded 90 feet and travelled another 30 feet after impact, Trooper Swanson reported. The Taylor car travelled 142 feet upon impact.

None of the passengers were wearing seat belts, he reported.

fight for the public accommodations section of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, more than 700 black delegates to this convention were sleeping and eating in peace in one-time white hotels. One thought of Lear: How sharper than a serpent's tooth it is to have a thankless child. Humphrey could not hold the blacks who owe him so much. In the shattering of his presidential dreams, one heard a breaking heart.

Well, they say, this is how the cookie crumbles. Wallace got five minutes of applause when he finished. The band might have played Dixie, but it didn't. Everyone rushed from the Humphrey conference: Muskie had a meeting coming up. By midnight or one or two or three in the morning, in the blazing tedium of Convention Hall, the moments had been embalmed in stale smoke. But years hence, when we want to remember the convention of '72 we are likely to think of Wallace in his wheelchair, and Humphrey in his tears.

Group Conducts Weekend Trip

WINTERVILLE — Members of the Strongs Jewels No. 5 of the Order of the Eastern Stars and members of the Clark Street Recreation Center went on a weekend trip which included stops at Atlantic Beach and Fort Macon.

According to Miss Denise Anderson, the group traveled down to the beach and visited an amusement park at Atlantic Beach. They were supervised, she said, by Simon Hemby and Monty Frizzell. The trip was part of the North Winterville Recreation Program.

"We hope that more parents in the Winterville area will cooperate with us to make our program more successful next year," Miss Anderson said.

Pirates Lose To UNC 4-1

CHAPEL HILL — UNC Chapel Hill stopped the East Carolina Pirates last night 4-1 to move with in a game of the Pirates.

The Pirates are still on top of the Collegiate Summer Baseball League with a record of 16-8. Carolina is 15-9.

UNC went to work in the first putting three men on. Russ Niller singled but was thrown out trying to stretch his hit into a double. Bobby Guthrie reached on a fielder's choice and moved around to third on a hit by Tom Kenendy. The Pirates got the next two batters to pop up and ground out respectively to end the inning.

ECU then went on the boards in the top of the next frame with a run. Larry Walters led off with a single and scored when Ron Staggs doubled.

Carolina's Micky Hickerson walked to open the bottom of the second and stole second but Pirate pitcher Dave LaRussa got a strike out and a pair of flies to leave Hickerson stranded.

The Bucs threatened to add another run in the third as Ronnie Leggett doubled with one out but he was also left standing at second.

Another Pirate double, by Walters, in the fourth put a man in scoring range with none out. The Pirates could not bring Walters around.

Then in the fifth, UNC broke loose for three runs and the lead. Ron Merritt hit into a fielder's choice that nailed the previous batter at second. Niller singled to move Merritt to second. The Pirate first baseman dropped Guthrie's foul pop to move Merritt to third and Niller to second. Tom Kennedy stepped up and slammed a triple to clear the bases and put Carolina ahead.

Walters got his third straight hit in the sixth with two out but a line drive to the box ended the frame.

Carolina added another run in the sixth as Hickerson singled and went to second on an out. Merritt brought Hickerson across with a base hit.

East Carolina had a runner in the seventh but a double play prevented a possible score. Carolina got a pair of hits from Kennedy and Peter Franklin but they failed to add to the UNC total.

Ralph Lamm singled and Walters walked putting men on first and second with none out in the ninth but three strike-outs gave Carolina the inning and the game.

Winning pitcher Chamberlain fanned nine Pirates while walking one and hitting two, He scattered six hits. LaRussa struck out two walked one and gave up five hits before being relieved in the fifth by Russ Smith. Smith whiffed two walked one and gave up four UNC hits.

Legion Drops Second

WILSON — Greenville's American Legion team fell behind by two games last night as they were edged 4-1 by Wilson. Wilson leads the best of five series 2-0 as they beat Greenville Sunday 3-1.

The winner of the series will advance to play the Western winner for the Area One title.

Greenville put a man into scoring position in the second. Phil Blount singled but was caught at second as Robbie Cox hit into a firelder's choice. Cox stole second but the next two batters were retired to end the frame.

In the third another Greenville runner went to second as Robert Brinkley singled to right and stole up but a strike-out ended the inning. Greenville finally got on the boards on the fourth. Blount drew a one-out walk and went to second on a wild pitch. Randy McKinney brought him around on a single.

Wilson tied it up in the fifth as Tony Langston reached on an error and stole second. Robert Ivey drove him in with a single.

Greenville threatened to take the lead in the top of the sixth as they loaded the bases. Bill Lee walked as did Blount. McKinney also drew a walk but a pop fly ended the inning.

Wilson took the lead in the sixth pushing over three runs in their half of the frame. Will Flowers and Bob Scott drew walks. Danny Whitley doubled to right scoring Flowers and an error on the play let Scott score. Whitley scored as the throw to the plate was errored.

Greenville put two runners on in the eighth. Stanley Cobb walked and Blount's grounder was errored. That was as far as they could get as the next two batters went down.

The series returns to Greenville after a day's rest on Wednesday. Play will continue at Harrington Field.

13-Year-Olds Are Out

NEW BERN — Greenville's 13-year old All-Stars were eliminated from the Babe Ruth Tournament yesterday by Seymore Johnson, 6-2.

The Greenville team was held to only three hits during the game while Seymore Johnson rapped out eight. Winning pitcher, Alan Odom fanned six Greenville batters and walked three, also.

The locals jumped unto the lead in the second inning getting three runs. After being hit by a pitch, Joey Cherry stole second. Joe Goddette singled but Cherry was thrown out as he tried to come home. Billy Ellington got a hit to move Goddette to third. Mark Conway was safe as the ball got away from the Seymore Johnson catcher on Conway's third strike. Goddette came around to score on the play. Both Ellington and Conway stole and scored on a hit by Wright.

Seymore Johnson cut the lead to 3-2 in the third. With one out, John Millcoutis singled and Dan Schalk got a hit. Steve Wells walked to load the bases. Odom got a hit to score Millcouits and a hit by Williams Billings brought in Schalk.

After setting Greenville down in order in the bottom of the third, SJ grabbed the lead forging ahead with four runs. Bruce Rowlands reached on an error and Thomas Houston was also safe on an error. Millcoutis walked loading them up. Wells singled to drive in Rowlands and Houston and a passed ball let Millcouits score. Billings got a hit to bring Wells across.

Greenville could not get a rally going in any of the remaining innings. Seymore Johnson put a man on third in the seventh as David Keply singled and stole second. He went to third on an throwing error but could not score.

Wells and Billings each had two hits for the winners.

Suffers Collapsed Lung, Could Be Out For Season

By EARL GERHEIM
Associated Press Sports Writer

Roman Gabriel's lung collapsed and—at least temporarily—has punctured the quarterbacking strength of the Los Angeles Rams.

Gabriel, veteran of 10 National Football League seasons and star quarterback of the Los Angeles club, was hospitalized Monday as the first major casualty of preseason training.

Roman Gabriel

His condition was diagnosed as a spontaneous pneumothorax of the right lung—a condition caused by rupturing of a small air cyst at the top of the lung. The attending physician, who asked not to be named, said the condition could afflict any healthy individual, regardless of physical activity.

Gabriel had been firing passes in the first drill of veteran players at the Rams' Long Beach State College training camp when he said: "I don't think I can practice any longer. I can't breathe."

First reports indicated Gabriel could be out from five weeks to the entire season. Later reports, however, said the former North Carolina standout could return to action within a month.

In Gabriel's absence, the signal-calling burdens have been delegated to reserves John Walton and Jerry Rhome.

Elsewhere around pro football, Speedy Duncan, the NFL's leading punt returner last season, was the only veteran who failed to report to the Washington Redskins' training quarters. Duncan will be fined $100 a day unless he produces a valid reason for his absence.

Cincinnati Bengals Coach Paul Brown, heartened by the experience and depth of his team, called Monday's session "the best first day we've had in five years of existence."

Duane Thomas, the elusive, fleet-footed running back who sparked Dallas' drive to the Super Bowl championship last season, was still missing from the Cowboys' camp. Also absent was another Thomas—Bill Thomas, the team's No. 1 draft selection from Boston College, who hasn't yet signed a contract.

Lou Michaels, who hit on eight of 14 field goal attempts after being persuaded out of retirement last season, failed to report to the Packers' training site and Coach Dan Devine said the team probably would waive the veteran place kicker.

Colwell Into Lead

HOUSTON (AP) — Air Force Sgt. Paul Colwell of Tucson, Ariz., surged into the lead Monday night and won the $37,500 Houston-Sertoma Open Bowling Tournament.

It was the second win in a row for Colwell, stationed at Davis Air Force Base in Tucson. The 23-year-old right-hander took first in an event there last week.

He beat out veteran pro bowler Jack Biondolillo of Houston to take the $4,000 first prize Monday night.

Going into the final game, Colwell held an 83-pin lead over Biondolillo and wrapped it up by downing the Houston pro 209 to 207 in a head-to-head game.

The final totals, with 30 point bonus pins figured in for winning each of the match games, showed Colwell with 9513 and Biondolillo with 9398 for second place and $2,200 in prize money.

SPORTS SHORTS

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Vitas Gerulatis of New York City, the No. 3 seed in the 18-and-under division of the National Junior Clay Court Championships, was overpowering in his first-round match, easily downing Rick Schaeffer of Louisville 6-1, 6-0.

John Whitlinger of Neenah, Wis., the defending 18-and-under champion, also had little trouble gaining Tuesday's second round, defeating Robert Wright of Fullerton, Calif., 6-3, 6-2.

Jockey Eddie Arcaro won the Delaware Oaks four times at Delaware Park between 1940, and 1955.

Game Washed Out Of Tourney

One game of the Senior Babe Ruth Tournament was washed out last night, but one game was completed and another will be continued this afternoon.

In the only complete game of the day, Coastal Carolina eliminated Statesville from further play be winning, 6-2. The South Buncombe-Parkway contest was called after three and one half innings due to rain. The score was tied at 2-2 with Parkway scheduled to bat. The game will be completed this afternoon at 4 p.m.

The Coastal Carolina team wasted no time in game one, scoring two runs in the second. John Bullard singled to left, as did Frank Floyd. A ball hit by Sammy Carter was errored by the third baseman allowing Bullard to score. Mitch Ivey hit into a fielder's choice which scored Floyd.

Coastal picked up three more in the third. Phil Honeycutt singled to right and Butch Martin singled to left. Tommy Johnson then unloaded a double which scored both Honeycutt and Martin. Johnson moved to third on a passed ball. With one out, Carter hit into a fielder's choice, on which Johnson tried to score. He was thrown out at the plate, but Carter moved to second on the play. Mitch Ivey then lofted a fly ball which the third baseman could not handle. Bullard scored, Carter reached third, and Ivey went to second on the error. All of them, however, were left on their respective bases.

Coastal picked up their final run in the fifth inning on successive singles by Bullard, Floyd, and Carter. Carter picked up an RBI when his single scored Bullard from second.

Statesville finally scored in the bottom half of the fifth. David Poplin, pinch-hitting for Mark Mock, rapped a single, reached second on the catcher's error, and scored on a pinch-hit single by Ernie Riddle. Their second run came in the seventh when Poplin singled, went to second on a single by Mike Alexander, and scored with two outs on a single to left by Randy McDaniels.

Honeycutt, Bullard, and Floyd led the Coastal attack with two hits each. Bullard also scored three of their six runs. Terry Johnson and David Poplin each had two hits for Statesville.

In the rain-shortened second game, South Buncombe and Parkway traded scoring threats for two innings, the most serious of which came in the South Buncombe first. Frank Brown singled, reached second on an error, went to third on a wild pitch, but was thrown out at the plate as the second half of a double play.

Parkway threatened in the second. Tommy Smith reached on an error, went to second on an error and got to third on a single. Smith died there as the side was retired on a strike out and a ground ball.

South Buncombe was the first to tally. Randy Rogers walked, went to second on a single to left by J.D. Hinson, and scored when Tim Fore lashed a double to the power alley in left-center field.

Parkway posted two quick runs to gain a momentary lead. Barry Cook led off the inning with a single to left, which was followed by a walk by Johnny Lee. Cook went to third and Lee to second on a passed ball. Brent Williamston reached on a fielder's choice which scored Cook, and another fielder's choice by Ernie Lasher brought across the second run of the inning.

South Buncombe managed to tie the game up before the clouds opened up. Floyd Arrowood and Rick Houghton reached on walks. A single by Robers brought Arrowood home with the run—and the rain.

14-Year-Old Wants To Be Top Wrestler

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — "I know there are some limitations in me," 14-year-old Mike McGinty concedes, but he is not about to give up his dream of becoming a top notch wrestler.

Even if he does have to crawl out of his wheelchair to get in position on the wrestling mats.

Mike was one of 30 wrestlers attending the Ohio School of Wrestling at the Hiram House camp in suburban Chagrin Falls this summer. His greatest "limitation" is being partially paralyzed.

"My goal is to wrestle for my high school team," said McGinty, who lives in Fairview Park but attends Greenbriar Junior High in Parma because the school has an elevator.

The 5-foot-6½, 130 pounder started wrestling this year and held a rummage sale in his garage to raise $40 toward wrestling camp.

"I sold off my clothes," he admitted. The Kiwanis Club gave him another $30 toward the camp costs.

"I can't stand up without my braces," said Mike, who also has suffered cerebral palsy, "but I can move around on my knees pretty fast.

"Wrestling is something I can compete in. I get tired but I keep on wrestling. I'm not an easy quitter."

McGinty's coach, Frank Fiore, says he's picked up enough so that he can at times show other youngsters what they are doing wrong.

"He gives the other kids a lot of inspiration," said Fiore. "He's something special."

Fiore said McGinty has about "75 per cent usage in the upper part of his body and none in the lower part." He has some problems with balance and coordination, and loss of use of his legs is a "great disadvantage."

But Fiore thinks that with McGinty's determination he has a chance of overcoming his handicaps sufficiently to wrestle in competition.

Third Or Fourth Involved In Fight

MONTREAL (AP) — An old political adversary took a run at Prime Minister Trudeau for being the third man, or possibly the fourth or fifth, to join the fight over Bobby Hull's participation in the Canada-Russia hockey series next September.

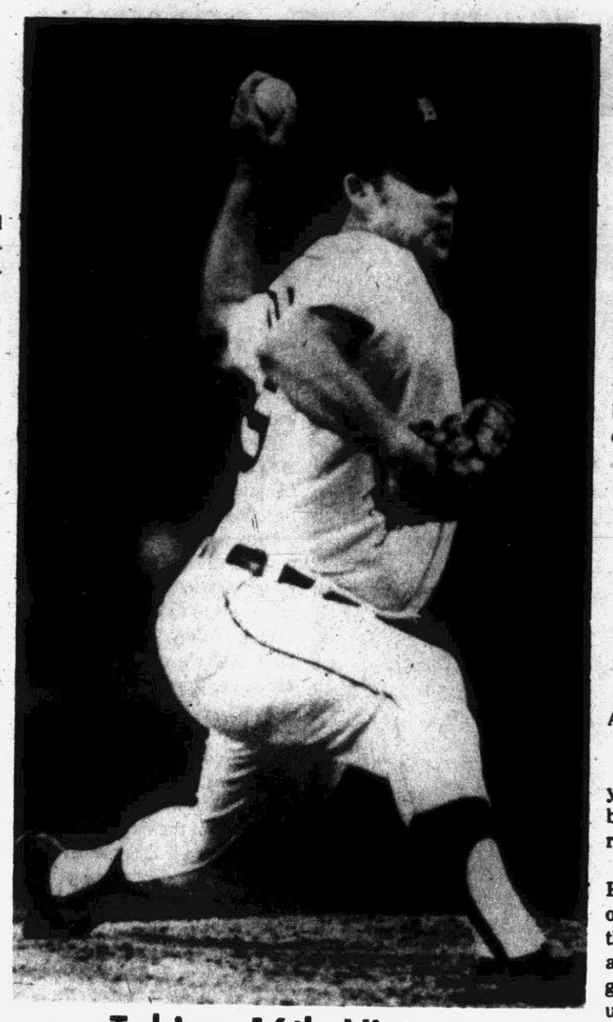

"The trouble started when Trudeau got involved," said Alan Eagleson, legal counsel for the National Hockey League Players' Association and for a number of its more prominent members and a former national president of the Progressive Conservative party.

At a news conference Monday night before his departure for Moscow with Coach Harry Sinden and other Team Canada officials to work out details of the four games to be played in the Russian city, Eagleson said the prime minister's intervention in the dispute was a political move.

Trudeau has appealed to NHL President Clarence Campbell and other interested parties to abandon their insistence that eligibility to join Team Canada be restricted to players who have signed a NHL contract when the team's training camp opens Aug. 13.

Since Hull has left the Chicago Black Hawks to sign a $2.5 million contract as playing coach of the Winnipeg Jets of the World Hockey Association, the requirement effectively bars him from participating in the eight-game series.

Eagleson hinted that a solution might be worked out "if everybody cools their heels and things get to simmer down," but added that it would be unwise to attempt to force the NHL to lift its ban on Hull.

Taking 16th Victory

Tiger southpaw Micky Lolich took over the major league victory lead, picking up his 16th win in 22 decisions, as he pitched the Detroit Tigers to a 3-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox Monday night. (AP Wirephoto)

Babe Ruth Stars Lose To All-Stars Of Havelock

Greenville's Babe Ruth All-Stars were handed their first loss last night as they were edged 8-7 by Havelock in a game that went an extra inning having been tied 5-5 at the end of seven. The Greenville Stars can still win the Babe Ruth tournament being held in New Bern if they can win the remainder of their games. The tourney is double elimination.

Havelock moved into the lead in the top of the first with a run. Bill Rhodes doubled and scored on Rusty Nelson's hit.

Greenville forged ahead in the second with a pair of tallies. Curtis Lee walked and Chris Manning reached on an error. Both stole up and scored on Grif Garner's single.

Havelock again grabbed the lead in the top of the fourth. After one batter had grounded out, Tony Tripp singled and beat out a play at second as Rick Bremmerman hit into a fielder's choice. It looked as if Greenville was going to get out of the jam as the next batter struck out for the second out of the inning. Darrell Johnson, however, was safe on an error filling the bases. Tripp stole home to tie the score, 2-2. Bourrmae grounded to short for what appeared to be the third out but the relay to first was thrown away letting Bremmerman score and Johnson go to third. Rhodes singled to drive in Johnson and Bourream, who had gone to second on the error.

Greenville knot the score again, 5-5 in the fifth. Lee singled and stole up. Dickie Johnson walked and Garner was hit by a pitched ball. Donnie Haddock stepped in and slammed a triple to force all three runners across.

Havelock put up a rally in the seventh as Tom Vincent reached on an error and Roy Toler on a fielder's choice. Neither runner could score.

Greenville's Bobby Dough moved into scoring position in the sixth walking, moving up on a walk, and stealing third. He was picked off there and Greenville failed to move another man around.

Havelock took the lead back in the eighth as Tony Torcass was safe on an error as was Bourream. Larry Moore crashed out a home run to put his team ahead.

Greenville came up with two in the bottom of the frame but fell a run short of retieing it. Keith Jones walked as did Dough. Both stole up and a walk to Kelly Heath loaded the bases. Lee walked forcing in Jones. Garner got a hit to bring in Dough. The rally ended, however, as Heath was thrown out trying to score.

Leaders Widen Game Margins

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Snap ... crackle ... pop.

That's not breakfast cereal you hear. That's three of baseball's four division pennant races falling apart.

All of a sudden, Oakland, Pittsburgh and Cincinnati have opened up healthy leads in their respective divisions and all three added to their margins on Monday's scarce schedule of games.

Oakland, rained out at Milwaukee Monday, picked up another half game on Chicago in the American League West as Detroit knocked off the White Sox 3-1 for Mickey Lolich's 16th victory. The A's now lead the division by a fat eight games.

Pittsburgh came from behind to whip Atlanta 6-5 with Willie Stargell driving in four runs. That gave the Pirates another half-game pickup on idle New York and a five-game bulge in the National League East.

Cincinnati belted Chicago 7-2 and when St. Louis nipped Houston 3-2, it widened the Reds NL West lead to six games over the slipping Astros.

The only race that still seems to have some life is in the American League East where Baltimore stayed one game behind Detroit by beating Texas 3-1.

Cincinnati's race-horse Reds ripped 14 hits including Pete Rose's second home run of the season to batter the Cubs. It was the seventh consecutive victory for the NL West leaders.

The Reds hopped on loser Rick Reuschel, 3-3, for three runs in the fourth inning. Rose's homer came in the fifth and then the Reds added three wrapup runs in the sixth.

Wayne Simpson, 6-3, earned the victory with reliever Clay Carroll picking up his 21st save, tops in the majors.

Meanwhile, pursuing Houston dropped its fifth straight game as St. Louis and Bob Gibson overpowered the Astros. Gibson won his 10th straight game, striking out a season-high 13 batters including nine of 10 over one stretch.

Donn Clendenon's eighth inning homer snapped a tie and moved the Cardinals to the victory.

Willie Stargell slugged a three-run homer in the first inning and then snapped a 5-5 tie with a sacrifice fly in the eighth to beat Atlanta and reliever Joe Hoerner.

Washed Out

The first round of the city Church League tournament was washed out last night. Play will start tonight as the pairings have been moved up. One game in the Sr. Babe Ruth Tournament, Clark Griffith-Smokey Mtn. was also rained out. South Buncombe and Parkway completed three-and-a-half innings of their game. The score was tied at 2 all and the game will resume today with play starting in the bottom of the fourth.

City League Tourney games were also rained out.

Advance In Lawn Tennis Matches

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — All eight top seeds advanced with only a minimum of difficulty Monday in the 32-match opening round of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association's national clay court championship for girls under 18.

The vent continued today, with singles set for the morning and doubles starting in the afternoon.

Top-seeded Mary Hamm, 17, of Mt. Pulaski, Ill., was somewhat critical of her performance, a 6-2, 6-2 victory over Lula LeMaster of Jackson, Miss.

"I didn't play that well, but I'm satisfied for an opening," Miss Hamm said. "I had to get used to these courts. I think I'll play better the remainder of the way."

Dick Allen Paces AL Vote Getters In All-Star Ballot

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Allen, a two-time All-Star in the National League, was the top vote-getter on the American League All-Star team announced today by Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

The Chicago White Sox slugger, who leads the American League with 19 home runs and 61 runs batted in, received 1,092,758 of the 3,171,556 votes cast in the nationwide poll of fans. Allen, acquired from the Los Angeles Dodgers in a major winter trade, easily won the starting first base assignment over Detroit's Norm Cash, the runnerup with 729,753 votes.

Only one other player received more than one million votes. That was veteran third baseman Brooks Robinson of Baltimore, who easily got the nod at third base over Oakland's Sal Bando, 1,041,128 votes to 362,360.

The only team with more than one representative on the starting all-star team is the Boston Red Sox, who placed Luis Aparicio at shortstop and Carl Yastrzemski in the outfield. The 43rd annual All-Star Game will be played Tuesday night July 25 in Atlanta and will be nationally televised by NBC.

Joining Allen, Aparicio and Robinson in he starting infield will be Rod Carew of Minnesota, a starter for the sixth straight time. Carew polled 832,055 votes to 411,253 for runnerup Cookie Rojas of Kansas City.

Reggie Jackson of Oakland topped the outfielders in the voting with 902,421. Joining him in the starting outfield will be Yastrzemski, 603,151, and Bobby Murcer of New York, 506,241.

Detroit's Bill Freehan will be the starting catcher, having outpolled Cleveland's Ray Fosse 767,538 to 483,366.

Carew, Aparicio, Robinson and Yastrzemski also were starters last year. Robinson is making his eighth all-star appearance, Freehan his sixth, Aparicio his fifth, Yastrzesmki his fourth, Jackson his second and Murcer his second.

Sidecars At Laguna Seca

A rare sight in America is motorcycle sidecar racing. "Sidebacks" or "chairs" as they are often called are extremely popular in Europe and provide real excitement for the spectator. There will be a demonstration race for these machines at the Kawasaki Superbike International at Laguna Seca on July 23rd and after that we are sure that machines like this 500cc URS unit driven by German Helmut Fath at Brands Hatch, England will be a familiar sight on the American circuits.

A very special treat is in store for the fans attending the Kawasaki Superbike International road races July 21st through 23rd. As a part of the racing program on Sunday, which will see the running of the 125 mile A. M. A. sanctioned championship event, spectators will have the opportunity of watching a demonstration of motorcycle sidecar racing.

This form of motorcycle competition is very popular in Europe, but virtually unknown here in the United States. The object is teamwork . . . and teamwork of such a critical nature that an error on the part of either the pilot or his passenger could result in a painful loss of control.

Actually motorcycle sidecars are an engineering anachronism. They more properly belong to an era of bicycles built-for-two and breakneck speeds of ten miles per hour. Pushing them around both left and right hand turns at high speed stretches the feasibility of physics.

Negotiating corners where the sidecar is on the outside requires the passenger to lean as far out and as low as he can from the motorcycle. This changes the center of gravity so that the motorcycle does not turn over. Unfortunately, it also often results in asphalt burns for the passenger should he lean too far or too low.

Cornering when the sidecar is on the inside of the turn is a different matter. Here the weight is transferred to the useless sidecar wheel and the rear wheel of the motorcycle, the one supplying power, loses traction. The answer is for the passenger to drape himself over the rear fender increasing weight and traction to the rear wheel.

It's obvious then that on a twisting track such as Laguna Seca the passenger will get a lot of exercise jumping back and forth. This is one reason sidecar racing is so exciting. Another is that often the passengers don't jump quite fast enough and wind up unexpectedly exiting the motorcycle.

Of course, the main event of the three days of racing is the Kawasaki Superbike International which will see the two wheel brethren of the sidehacks, as they are called, roaring around the tough track at speeds in excess of 130 m.p.h. The purse for the Formula 750 event is $50,000.00 and has drawn entries from the world over including factory teams from Yamaha, Norton, and Harley-Davidson, to name but a few.

The race is hosted by the non-profit Southern California Racing Association at Monterey Peninsula, (SCRAMP), and promoted by Trippe, Cox Associates. Sponsoring the event is Kawasaki Motors Corp., a major manufacturer of motorcycles for street and off-road use.

The Worry Clinic

Kiddies Sense Adult Tension

Notice how Danny served as his family's psychiatrist at the age of only 2½ years! For kiddies can "sense" the silent tension and certainly detect the verbal feuding between their parents. But children likewise quarrel every day, so they grow calloused to it!

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph.D., M.D.

Case U-537: Danny Landsness, aged 2½, is the only child of Karolyn and Conrad.

His parents realized they often got irritable and might scold Danny unduly.

So they made a rule that when Daddy came home from the office, tired and short-tempered, then Mama would play with Danny and look after him.

But if Mama were tense and irate from her heavy day's work, then Daddy would take over.

But one night both Daddy and Mama were unduly irritable.

So Danny picked up his little 3-legged stool; took it over to Mamma's chair and placed it at her feet.

Then he sat down and looked up at her, wonderingly.

"What's your problem?" he asked her.

Well, both Mamma and Daddy had to smile at his assumption of the psychiatrist's role, so the tension was instantly broken.

They both played with Danny till time to tuck him into bed.

But I mention this case to show that kiddies very early can surmise tension in their adult environment.

While I was directing our Psychology Laboratory at Northwestern University, I was a guest of one of Chicago's leading surgeons.

Since he had spent a heavy day at Wesley Hospital, performing four major operations, he was tired.

So he "barked" at his 12-year-old son a couple of times.

What's wrong with your Dad? he frutively inquired.

"Oh, he's just in one of his moods," replied the son. "Tomorrow he'll be all right again!"

A Chocago Domestic Relations Court Judge once asked me what I though about delaying a divorce where both parents were feuding and quarreling.

"Dr. Crane," he inquired. "does it do more harm to the youngsters to let them live in such a home than to grant a divorce to the parents?"

So I agreed to make a survey of a number of children in homes where divorce was inniment.

And almost without exception the children voted againt having their parents separate!

When I asked for their specific reasons, they said they didn't want their classmates to know that "Daddy doesn't live with us any more."

Besides, children, even in the best homes, will feud and quarrel and even resort to fist fights almost every day.

Youngsters thus are accustomed to such conflicts among themselves so they apparently become acclimated to such feuding between their parents.

Some of these kiddies whose parents had already obtained a divorce, then told me:

"We invite the other kids to come over to play with us during the daytime.

"But we don't want them here at night, for then they'd wonder why Daddy doesn't live with us anymore!"

Grammar schoolers thus are still quite sensitive to such social attitudes of their playmates.

To reduce parental quarrels, send for my "Tests for Parents," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

Many PTA and PTO groups use them for a monthly discussion clinic!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Adopt Penalty For Long Hair

MANILA (UPI)—The municipal council of Agusan del Norte, some 500 miles south of Manila, recently approved a resolution penalizing male residents sporting long hair.

Mayor Florentino P. Magalianes said violators would be fined about $8 or imprisoned for 15 days. Transients are exempt.

BABIES BANK

TOKYO (UPI)—Tokyo now has round-the-clock baby care service called "Babies' Bank" where experienced personnel look after babies for about $2.25 a day.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2 NT	Pass	6 NT	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Queen of ♣

A slight oversight at the outset proved disastrous to South's prospects in today's six no trump contract. The bidding was routine. South holds the 22 high card points required for an opening bid of two no trump. North has 13 points including two aces and with the partnership assured of at least 35, there seemed little purpose in probing for a suit contract so he proceeded directly to six no trump.

North might have bid a suit as a temporizing measure with the intention of leaping to six no trump on the next round. This action invites partner to bid seven if he has a maximum two no trump opening. Observe that if South, in addition, had held the jack of spades and the jack of diamonds, the combined holdings would produce 13 top tricks.

West opened the queen of clubs, the four was played from dummy, East discarded the four of spades and declarer won the trick with the king of clubs. The adverse club break did not augur well for South's prospects. Altho he had 11 top tricks, three spades, three hearts, three diamonds and two clubs—his 12th would hinge on finding an even division in either spades or diamonds, which did not appear likely in view of what had already transpired.

Still there was nothing to do but test his luck. The king of spades was cashed on which West dropped the jack. A small spade to the queen produced a club discard from West. The latter threw a second club on the ace of spades. The ace and king of diamonds came next, followed by a third round to the queen. West showed out again, this time on the third lead, discarding a heart.

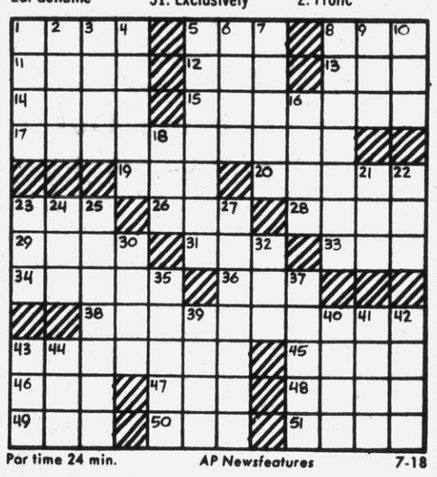

Three rounds of hearts were taken next, North discarding a diamond and South then exited with a small club. West put up the ten to cover North's eight and then returned the five which was won by dummy's nine. South was obliged to retain the king of clubs in his hand, for if he overtook the nine, his seven of clubs would lose the last trick to West's jack. As it was, he was no better off because North was obliged to surrender the setting trick to East's ten of spades.

South could have come to 12 tricks by unblocking early in the club suit. At the opening gun, he must play North's eight of clubs under the queen. When he leads a small club at trick 11 and West puts up the ten, dummy again unblocks with the nine. Now when a club is led back away from the jack-five, North follows suit with the four and South takes the last two tricks with his ace-seven.

Insurance Matters Studied By City School Board

Insurance coverage for the city schools and pupil insurance were two items under consideration at the meeting of members of the Greenville City School Board Monday night.

In a status report, Associate Superintendent Glenn Cox reported that "all but $775,000 of the $8,382,500 in school insurance is now up for renewal."

He explained that in the past, coverage has been provided under four types of policies — public and institutional; blanket coverage; specific coverage; and assigned risk.

Cox said that Bancroft Moseley, insurance agent for the schools, had informed him that he would not likely be able to renew the public and institutional portion of coverage soon to expire.

Cox further revealed that on July 13 a representative of the Quincy Mutual Insurance Company, one of eight companies now insuring school property in Greenville under 11 different policies, had offered to make a study and proposal for coverage up to $9.8 million under specific coverage rates. "This is more expensive coverage," Cox commented.

School board members expressed a concensus of opinion that a committee should study the Quincy Mutual offer and also make additional efforts to solicit offers from other companies before making a final decision.

Chairman Dr. Badger Clark appointed himself, Les Turnage and William Myers as a committee to gather information on this matter and report back to the full board.

On pupil insurance for the coming school year, board members again approved the Walker Insurance Company as the agency for student insurance coverage. The company has offered a premium rate of $4.00 per pupil to cover the schoolday (up from the same firm's premium of $3.75 for the past school year) and $16.00 premium for 24 hour pupil coverage — as opposed to $15.00 for the past year.

After noting that there had been a couple of delays in the company's settling individual claims, Cox said the compamy had completed all claims recently. The Walker Company, it was pointed out, is the only agency that will furnish football coverage within the $4.00 range rate. Other companies with comparable and competitive coverage are asking much higher rates for students who play football — one rate cited was $37.00 per person playing football. To avoid non-football playing students having to help defray insurance on players, the Athletic Department contributes 50 cents per student as its share of the insurance premium.

In a brief report on the status of the site selection for the new middle-junior high school, Board Chairman Dr. Badger Clark said that a new school attorney has been engaged — Louis Gaylord, Jr. "We have filed a notice of appeal," Dr. Clark said, "and discussions are still going on. Negotiations remain open, but there are no significant new developments to report."

Approval was also given to school lunch rates, which remain the same as last year with the exception that lunches for teachers will be raised to 50 cents — as opposed to 45 cents for last year. Prices for elementary lunches are 35 cents, those for junior and senior high are 40 cents. In each case, additional food items at individual prices will be available to students.

Board members endorsed a school proposal to let bids for food items in three categories—milk, bread and processed foods (canned and frozen foods). "This action is possible because for the first time our Food Supervisor is employed for 12 months and because we now have sufficient storage space to move into this program," Cox explained.

Bids for milk will be let on a one year basis — those for bread and processed foods will be let every 12 weeks. Purchase of fresh meats and vegetables will continue to be on a non-bid basis.

A resolution requesting State approval of the continuation of the 24th of each month as pay day for school personnel was approved.

In the field of school personnel, two were released from contract for pressing personal reasons; seven resignations were accepted; and 12 new persons were elected for the coming school year.

Releases and resignations are: Sarah T. Dunn, James Gorst, Nancy H. Bissette, Peggy M. Douglas, Betty C. Scoopmire, Carole Whitaker, Judy W. Clark, Julian L. Cleveland and Louise W. Hoffler.

Elections are: Emily S. Pascoasio, Wanda R. Wentz, Marjorie A. Bennett, Gaynelle W. Mills, Sue D. DeCuzzi, Barbar S. Richardson, Cecelia A. Smith, Gail W. Chambers, Barbara H. Privette, Leroy Winstead, Jr., Stanley Bastian and Patsy S. Bozman.

Remarking on those nominated for election, Dr. Cleet C. Cleetwood, superintendent, said "these elections will not pre-empt vacancies in case we run into budget problems."

School board members were furnished draft copies of policy matters to review during the next few weeks, and were asked to be prepared to move into discussion of policy formulation at the August meeting.

GOP 'Concern' Over Behavior

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Expressing concern about reports of public pot smoking and skinny dipping by demonstrators, during the Democratic National Convention, local Republican leaders have called for strict enforcement of laws when the GOP conclave opens in Miami Beach next month.

Robert Rosasco, Dade County Republican chairman, said Monday the party's Miami attorneys have been instructed to take whatever action is necessary to assure that no special treatment is afforded convention protesters.

"Our position is that everyone, delegate and nondelegate, be treated equally under the law," Rosasco said. "During the Democratic convention, there was only lip service given to this equal treatment concept."

Particularly distressing, said the GOP chairman, were reports that some of the 1,500 youthful demonstrators who camped out last week at Miami Beach's Flamingo Park were permitted to smoke marijuana and swim nude in the park swimming pool.

Rosasco said the party's attorneys are considering a legal move to block protesters from using the 36-acre fenced park during the Republican convention, which convenes Aug. 21.

"Letting them assemble there gives them added opportunity to plan and organize. If they are kept dispersed, they won't be such a threat," he said.

Protest leaders have said they will again seek camping space for nondelegates next month. City Manager Clifford O'Key said last week that while he has made no commitment for the Republican meeting, he was generally satisfied with the conduct of demonstrators during the Democratic convention.

ARCHIE W. McLEAN, chairman of the board of directors of Planters National Bank and Trust Company, will be guest speaker at the Kiwanis Club of Greenville, Inc. on Wednesday evening at 6:30 p.m.

Marine Unit Home Again

CHERRY POINT — A Marine attack squadron, flying from the Coral Sea, operating off the coast of Vietnam for eight months, returned home this morning.

Members of the Marine All-Weather Attack Squadron (VMA) (AW-224) began arriving home around 9:30 to be greeted by hundreds of friends and relatives.

Commandant of the Marine Corps, Gen. Robert E. Cushman, on his first visit to eastern North Carolina since obtaining the position in January, was on hand to greet the airmen.

During their tour of Vietnam, VMA-AW-224 pilots flew over 2,600 sorties against enemy targets in both North and South Vietnam. Several airmen have been cited for heroism in the past eight months.

VMA-AW-224, member of Marine Air Group 14, Second Marine Air Wing, has been stationed at Cherry Point since November, 1966.

An advance party of six squadron pilots and radar intercept officers (RIO) arrived yesterday afternoon, with another 200 arriving this morning.

Meredith Quits Political Role

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — James Meredith says he is dropping out of politics because it has become "clear that I am not in tune nor in step with either the black bourgeois nor the black masses."

Meredith, who desegregated the University of Mississippi in 1962, said Monday that he was also "resigning from any role of public leadership because there is perhaps nothing more futile than trying to project an idea whose time is not at hand." Meredith sought the Republican nomination to the U.S. Senate but was defeated in the June primary. He then announced he would run as an independent candidate for Congress from the 4th District, which includes his home area of Jackson.

Arson Charge

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — A 19-year-old seaman will be charged with arson as a result of a fire which caused an undetermined amount of damage last Monday aboard the aircraft carrier Forrestal, the Atlantic Fleet Naval Air Force says.

Jeffrey G. Allison of Oakland, Calif., is being held "pending the filing against him of formal charges of arson," a spokesman said Monday. He said Allison is being held in connection with the major fire that struck the flag officers' quarters and took eight hours to extinguish.
