DuPont Plant Expansion Expected Add 400 Jobs

Work will begin immediately on a multi-million dollar expansion at the DuPont Company's "Dacron" textile yarn production facility at Kinston, the company announced.

Edgar S. Woolard Jr., plant manager, reported, "This expansion of our textile yarn facilities will approximately double the capacity of this site to produce continuous filament yarn for the textile market."

The plant manager said that the expansion is expected to be completed by the first quarter of 1974, and will create about 400 new jobs when in full production. Current employment at the plant is approximately 2,600 people.

Woolard added that the major construction program will be handled by the Engineering Department of the DuPont Co.

products at Kinston have undergone several expansions since production began.

The Kinston facility began production of "Dacron" polyester fiber for apparel and other textile uses in 1953 and for industrial uses in 1964. Production facilities for both

In addition to the Kinston plant, other DuPont facilities producing major quantities of "Dacron" yarn for the textile market are located at Wilmington and Old Hickory, Tenn.

Showdown On Minimum Wage Increase Scheduled In Senate

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate expects today to conduct a showdown vote on a bill to raise the minimum wage, pitting the prestige of Democratic nominee George McGovern against President Nixon.

McGovern planned to interrupt his rest-and-campaign-planning sessions in South Dakota to fly here for the vote.

His decision came after Democratic leaders advised him the vote could be close and that defeat of the Nixon proposal was of great concern to the AFL-CIO.

The test came on a Republican substitute for a Democratic-sponsored wage bill.

The Democratic version, approved by the Senate Labor Committee with some Republican can liberals backing it, would boost the $1.60 wage floor to $2.20 in a series of steps.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today rejected 47 to 46 President Nixon's proposal that the $1.60 an hour minimum wage be raised to $2 rather than the $2.20 supported by Democrats.

It also would bring 8.4 million additional employees under the act and repeal a series of exemptions which now block overtime pay for various groups of workers.

The other measure sponsored by Republican Sens. Peter H. Dominick of Colorado and Robert Taft Jr., of Ohio would raise the minimum to $2 in two steps, but provide no new coverage. It also would establish a $1.60 differential for many youths.

The Dominick-Taft bill follows the lines of President Nixon's recommendations to the Congress.

Democrats contend the $2.20 minimum is essential to cover increases in the cost of living since the $1.60 wage floor was approved in 1966 and to remove millions to low wage workers from poverty.

Republicans argue that $2.20 will be inflationary and destroy job opportunities or some young persons and blacks because marginal employers cannot afford to pay it.

Democrats made it clear they were engaged in an all-out effort to defeat the substitute in as effort to smooth the ruffled feathers of some labor leaders.

But they conceded the outcome could be very close and predicted Vice President Spiro Agnew would be on hand to put over the substitute if the Senate vote was a tie.

Lower Call-Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The smallest draft callup since April, 4,800 men, has been announced for September by the Selective Service.

The draft will extend to men with lottery numbers no higher than 75, the same ceiling as in August.

Acting draft director Byron V. Pepitone said Wednesday that sufficient men are available at number 75 and below. They include men classified as 1A and 1AO who recently lost deferments or whose initial postponements of induction expire during September.

Men with numbers through 100 are being ordered for pre-induction physical exams, although officials say the ceiling could remain at 75 through the year.

The September callup raises the total for the year to 35,900. The Defense Department has put its 1972 draft needs at 50,000. The Army is inducting all draftees.

Russian People Finally Told Soviet Advisers In Egypt Are Returning

By ROGER LEDDINGTON
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government says the military personnel it sent to Egypt have done their job and now they're coming home.

A statement by the government news agency Tass Wednesday night was the first disclosure to the Soviet people of something President Anwar Sadat of Egypt announced 24 hours before. But while Sadat made clear that he had told Moscow to get its military advisers out of Egypt because the Kremlin hadn't given him more advanced offensive weapons to use against Israel, the Soviet statement gave no hint of this.

Tass said a "number of Soviet military personnel" had been in Egypt at the request of the Cairo government, and they have finished teaching the Egyptians how to "master Soviet military equipment."

"Now the Soviet military personnel in the Arab Republic of Egypt have completed their functions," the news agency said. "With the awareness of this, after an exchange of opinions, the sides deemed it expedient to bring back to the Soviet Union the military personnel that had been sent to the Arab Republic of Egypt for a limited period."

Tass said the advisers had been on temporary assignments to help ensure Egypt's "defense potential in the face of Israeli aggression."

"Both sides have many times expressed their satisfaction with the effectiveness of such measures," Tass said, adding that Moscow "plans to continue developing and strengthening in every way its relations" with Egypt.

Like Sadat's announcement, the Soviet statement gave no indication of the number of Russian personnel who are leaving Egypt and the number who will remain. Sources in Cairo estimated that 10,000 to 20,000 military advisers would go, but nearly as many civilian advisers and experts would remain.

South Viets Battle Red Battalion That Flanked Advance

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese forces battled a North Vietnamese battalion of 200 to 300 troops today that outflanked the forces closing in on Quang Tri City.

The fighting was just south of the My Chanh defense line, about 10 miles south of Quang Tri and 20 miles above Hue. The attack threatened Highway 1, less than a mile to the west.

The South Vietnamese turned their tank guns on the North Vietnamese force, and U.S. F4 Phantoms swooped down with bombs. The North Vietnamese slammed mortars into the South Vietnamese infantrymen.

The fighting was continuing at midday, and no firm casualty figures were available.

Col. Le Ba Khien, a South Vietnamese regimental commander, said he believed an entire North Vietnamese regiment numbering up to 1,000 troops had moved south below My Chanh in an attempt to cut the north-south Highway behind the task force at Quang Tri.

In Quang Tri, meanwhile, South Vietnamese paratroopers advanced to within 50 yards of the Citadel despite a counter-attack by North Vietnamese infantry and tanks. But informants said there would be no attempt to storm the walled fortress until more government troops reach forward positions and more North Vietnamese tanks are knocked out.

In a delayed report, the U.S. Command disclosed that an explosion, apparently of a bomb that detonated prematurely in the air, knocked two U.S. Navy A7 bombers and an Air Force F4 fighter-bomber out of the skies on the northern front Monday. Three of the four fliers were rescued and one is missing, the command said.

Harsh Criticism Of Defense Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird today attacked Sen. George McGovern's military budget philosophy as "dangerous for our country at this time."

Laird said it would be dangerous and jeopardize chances for success in a range of negotiations with the Soviet Union "if we take unilateral action to reduce our forces in Europe, if we take unilateral action to cut back further on our military establishment."

Ceremonies marking the dedication of a picnic shelter constructed at Elm Street Park by the Greenville Jaycees were held Wednesday afternoon.

Jaycee president Don Brady presented the dedication plaque to the city with Mayor S. Eugene West accepting. The plaque, it was noted, was designed and constructed by Mrs. Barbara Wooten, an employee of Wachovia Computer Center.

According to J. B. Surles, Jaycee project chairman, the chapter became interested in assisting the Recreation Department when reviewing the budget allotment in July of last year that indicated funds of just over $5.00 per person in the Greenville area.

"We hoped that by helping the Recreation Department by providing a facility such as this, the department could use their funds in developing other recreation areas such as Evans Park and the L. S. Hardee property," Surles explained.

The chairman reported that the shelter was a joint effort between the department and the Jaycees. The chapter constructed the shelter, he said, and the Recreation Department furnished the concrete slab and picnic tables.

In addition, Greenville Utilities Commission provided surplus poles for use in the construction. Carolina Telephone assisting in setting the poles, and Dick Haut Contractors assisted in the framing of the structure, Surles added.

Mayor West expressed appreciation for the efforts of the Jaycees in providing the shelter for the city and also cited the chapter for the continued service it provides in the Greenville area.

No Results Seen In Secret Peace Talks

By DAVID MASON
Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP) — The United States and North Vietnam remained split today on the issue of a cease-fire and political settlement for Vietnam despite a new round of secret talks.

There was no indication at the 151st session of the peace conference that the secret rendezvous in Paris Wednesday between Henry A. Kissinger, presidential adviser, and North Vietnamese leaders had made progress in settling the basic issue of who should control power in Saigon.

Debate on the issue of a cease-fire marked much of the argument in the plenary session.

U.S. Ambassador William J. Porter asked the Communists to say "what is wrong" with President Nixon's May 8 proposal for an internationally supervised cease-fire throughout Indochina.

In another mild speech similar to his new style of last week, Porter asked the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong: "Why not tell us frankly why it is difficult for you to entertain this proposal, which would end the killing promptly?"

"We would also like to hear more from you on the subject of the four-month period we have proposed for the withdrawal of all our forces from South Vietnam once such a cease-fire has begun and the prisoners of war are released. It appears logical to us to create an atmosphere which would facilitate, not hinder, political discussions among Vietnamese."

The Communists held fast to their position that a political settlement must come with the ceasefire.

Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh, leader of the Viet Cong delegation, said the political and military settlements "should be settled simultaneously," she declared.

House Unexpectedly Kills Huge Public Works Bill

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The unexpected defeat of a $5 billion emergency job-making bill may be seized by House Democrats as a campaign issue.

The bill, rushed to a vote by Democratic House leaders confident of victory, was killed Wednesday by a roll-call vote of 206-189.

It would have made available $5 billion in grants to states, communities and rural areas for public works projects, mainly water and sewage plants. Its sponsors said it would have created 500,000 construction jobs, many within 90 days of enactment.

Priority would have been given to economically depressed areas.

Teaming up to kill the bill were 148 Republicans and 58 Democrats. Voting for it were 165 Democrats and 24 Republicans.

All North Carolinians voted against the bill with the exception of Rep. Alton Lennon, who was recorded as not voting.

South Carolina Reps. Mendel Davis, Thomas Gettys and John McMillan voted in favor of the bill, Bryan Dorn and James Mann voted against, and Floyd Spence was listed as not voting.

The measure was doomed before that, however, by an amendment barring use of any of the money during a fiscal year in which the projected federal deficit exceeded $20 billion. This would have eliminated it for the current year since the projected deficit is $30 billion. The vote on the amendment was nearly identical to the final vote.

"It was a very short-sighted partisan vote," said Democratic Leader Hale Boggs of Louisiana. "Every community in the country desperately needs water and sewage facilities. How can the Republican leadership in the House say it is against pollution? How hypocritical can you get?"

Boggs and other House leaders sped the bill to the House floor confident of enough votes to pass it and perhaps override a presidential veto.

Several Democrats said privately the defeat provided them a good issue for the November congressional elections.

Republicans led by Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan claimed the bill was unnecessary and duplicated existing programs.

Some GOP legislators accused the Democrats of pushing the bill for political purposes.

IDEAS FOR SAFE AND EXCITING COOKOUTS
The urge for a change of scenery seems to come simultaneously with the onset of summer. As naturally as the warm summer breeze, thoughts of food are readily followed. The luscious aroma of outdoor cooking tempts an appetite at any time whether its for lunch, dinner or even breakfast. Your outdoor meal does not need a lot of frills to be a success.

Planning the outdoor meal is one of the first things that is needed. Be it a picnic, campfire cookout, or a meal on an outdoor grill or a fireplace; the foods should fill the days nutritional needs with an appealing variety of flavor, texture and color. To save time, plan to prepare as many foods as possible in your kitchen before carrying it to the patio or backyard. Observe the food preparation and the cooking practices necessary for serving quality outdoor meals, both in taste and in nutritive value.

There are countless ideas that may be put into effect for outdoor meals. Dewy morning air mixed generously with the unmistakable aroma of food can only mean breakfast in the open. You may cook anything from delicious roasted apples filled with orange marmalade and topped with chopped nuts (prepared, wrapped in foil, and stored in the refrigerator the night before) to crisp brown sausages with eggs and buttery hot bread.

Hamburgers remain a favorite for outdoor cooking and eating. Tasty, nutritious low in cost, and easy to fix, this popular choice is ideal to use your imagination for flavor combinations. Turn the tasty patties into delicious blue burgers. Top the browned hamburgers with a generous spoonful of blue cheese and continue cooking until cheese melts slightly. You can also prepare doubleburgers. Place blue cheese or another family favorite between two uncooked meat patties, press together and cook. Use your imagination. Other combinations include grated cheddar cheese, pickle relish and peanut butter, and grated cheese and grated onion. Mixtures tucked between two patties require a little longer cooking so the ingredients can melt and mingle with the beef. Shrinkage of our patties will depend upon the amount of fat present.

Try a different approach and slash a weiner almost through lengthwise; fill opening with a bit of cheese and grill. Or wrap the cheese-filled weiner with a bacon strip and then grill it.

With warm weather, the potential danger of food poisoning accompanies each outdoor meal whether its a backyard cookout or a family reunion potluck. Precaution and common sense can prevent a disaster to your family and guests. Germ capable of causing severe gastrointestinal upsets thrive in picnic foods which have not been adequately refrigerated. Food is safest at temperatures above 140 degrees F. and below 45 degrees F. If possible, food should be served immediately after cooking. Careful handling and preparation of food are important.

Foods to be served cold should be kept cold and hot foods should be kept hot. Food taken on picnics often stays just warm, not cold or hot, for several hours. This moderate temperature is ideal for the rapid reproduction of micro-organisms which produce harmful toxins.

Bacteria grow best in non-acidic foods like meats, fish, poultry items, eggs, dairy products, and foods made from

Mannes Speaking . . . To Foil That Hijacker

By MARYA MANNES
NEW YORK (WNS) — Perhaps the airlines are already working on it, perhaps the instrument is already in use or already rejected as useless. If so, its originators need only smile at the presumption of an amateur outsider daring to proffer at least one weapon against the hijacker: too often "murderer," always lethal threat.

The weapon that could bring him down would be a refined adaptation of the tranquilizer gun used to capture wild animals without killing them, or to anesthetize them while treating them for wounds or ailments.

Basically, it is a propelled syringe which enters the skin and tissue, rendering the victim — in approximately twenty minutes — first drowsy, then immobilized for a period of time depending on the strength of the drug.

There would seem to be little difficulty in adapting this instrument for use on humans, and with quicker effect. The ejected pellet could not pierce the aircraft "skin," nor — if deflected from its target — inflict lasting harm on an innocent bystander.

It could be made virtually soundless, and effective at close range. It could be small enough to be unnoticeable in the hand of the user.

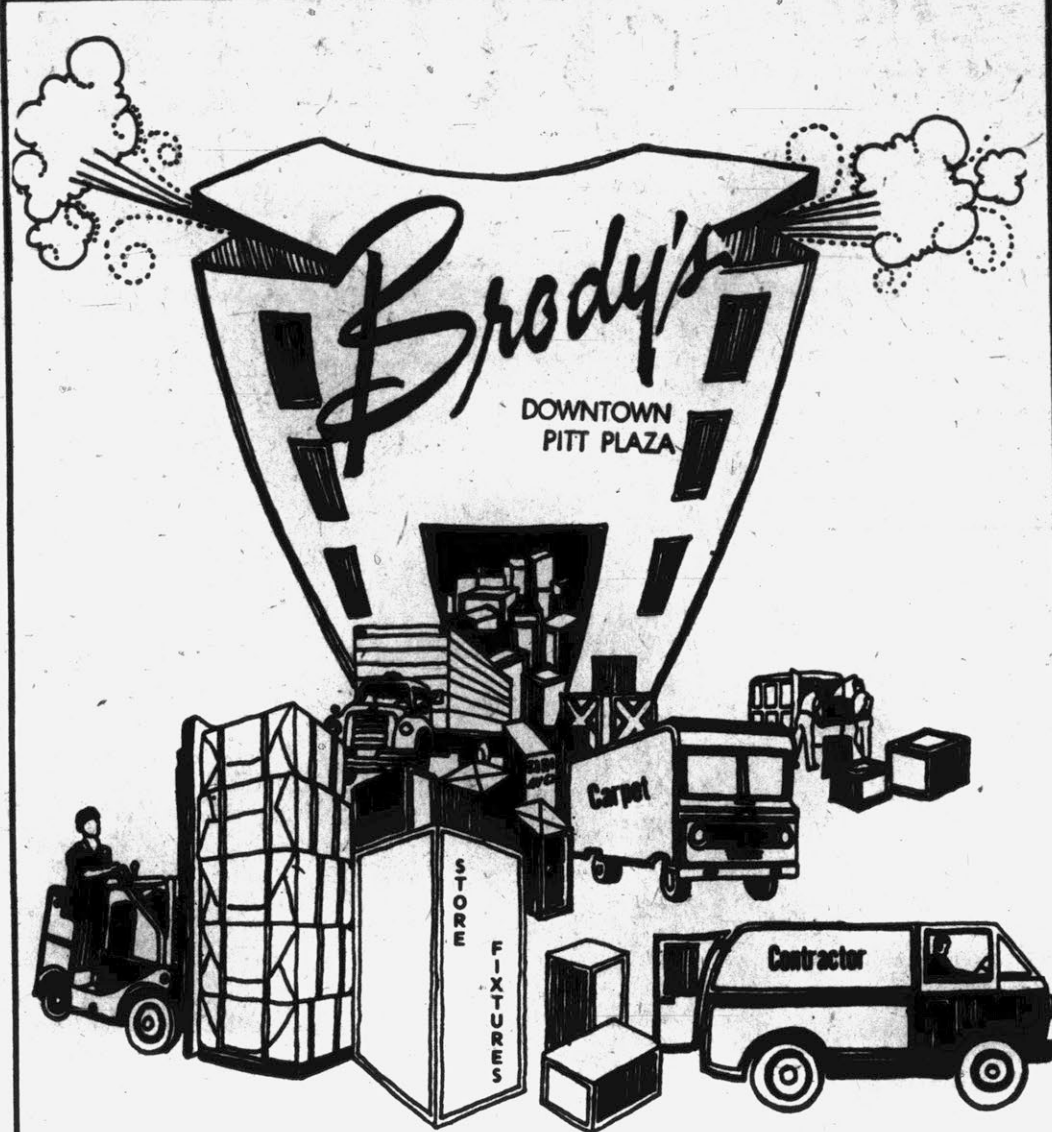

If these assumptions could become fact (and it seems unlikely that our technology could not realize them), the tranquilized hijacker would be helpless for whatever period was needed to land the plane, deliver him to federal agents, and immobilize him legally as well as physically.

Flight crews and stewardesses would be trained to use this weapon with ruse and concealment, from two feet to twenty depending on his position and movements in the plane.

If this weapon is not the answer, the airlines had better come up quickly with a better one. As one who flies frequently I have boarded several long-range flights recently where neither carry-on bags nor checked luggage were subjected to any electronic scanner, and where "the passengers were far too many to be properly identified (for personality traits)" by anybody.

The assumption, in any event, that an airline employee could make a revealing one-minute psychiatric analysis on the basis of a ticketholder's fleeting appearance seems preposterous. Hijackers seem to come in all shapes and sizes and few of them twitch.

In the meantime, how many hijackers get away with hundreds of thousands of dollars for putting them there?

Infant's Cry Provides Help

NEW YORK (AP) — Does your new baby seem to cry too often?—or does he strain to cry, but make very little sound?

A pediatrician specializing in congenital disorders believes an infant's cry can provide valuable help in diagnosing problems such as cretinism, central nervous system damage and congenital heart disease—and has authored a new cassette tape program to train other pediatricians in this method.

"So many disorders result in a characteristic cry—or a crying impairment—that physicians examining an infant should make him cry at some point in the examination, if he doesn't do so spontaneously," explains Dr. Murray Feingold, director of the Center for Genetic Counseling and Birth Defect Evaluation at the Boston Floating Hospital for Infants and Children.

"The sound of an infant's cry offers audible confirmation of many rather rare disorders most practicing pediatricians don't see very often," says Feingold. "Most of these disorders are some form of mental retardation—such as cri du chat ('cry of the cat'), hypothyroidism, etc. Other ones may indicate some larynx deformity. The examining physician should observe the quality of an infant's cry, the effort involved in crying and the ease with which the infant can be made to cry," Feingold said.

"The pitch of a normal infant's cry isn't screechy," he elaborated. "Intensity varies as the baby inhales, cries, and then trails off as the baby runs out of breath. When he's angry or upset the volume tends to be louder than when he's merely uncomfortable."

Threesomes Should Be Foursomes

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I have been married one year, but like everyone else who writes to you. I have a problem:

This is my first marriage, out Edwin's second. He was a swinging bachelor for five years before he married me.

Edwin keeps inviting his former girl friends over to our home for dinner. They are all friendly and attractive, but I feel so awkward entertaining my husband and a young woman he has known. None of these ladies ever brings an escort altho I've asked Edwin to please suggest it when he invites them.

They all come alone and stay late. I have even gone to bed and left my husband chatting with the lady guest. [Wouldn't you say 2 a. m. is late enough for the hostess to entertain a dinner guest?]

How do I put an end to these cozy threesomes dinner parties? Or am I wrong to feel the way I do?

ONE OUT OF THREE

DEAR ONE: You're not wrong. Tell Edwin that when he invites a former girl friend to dinner, just to make sure everything is "kosher," if she doesn't know a man she can bring, you dig up a fourth.

DEAR ABBY: I am 83 years old, and here is my problem: What if I should win that million dollars on the big contest which pays you $50,000 a year for life, over a period of 20 years? I sure don't expect to live another 20 years, so if I win the money and die in the meantime, what happens to the money?

Could I will the rest of it to someone? Or could I just take the full amount right now?

I may never win, but it could happen.

CURIOUS IN MASS.

DEAR CURIOUS: Does the contest advertise "A million dollars, at the rate of $50,000 a year for 20 years"? Or does it state, "Fifty thousand a year for LIFE"? If it's the former, should the winner die, the balance of the unpaid prize money would become part of the winner's estate.

If it's the latter, only $50,000 a year would be paid to the winner as long as he (or she) lived. For the most authoritative answer, inquire of the sponsors of that contest.

DEAR ABBY: I am getting married soon, and Abby, I am so happy, I could fly. But something is spoiling everything. He is a Catholic and I am a Baptist.

He is not at all strong in his religion, but his mother is, and she refuses to come to our wedding unless it's in a Catholic church.

To make matters worse, altho I am not strong in my religion, my mother is a very strict Baptist, and she says she won't come to my wedding if I don't get married in the Baptist church.

It doesn't make one bit of difference to me where we get married as long as it's in a church. A church is a church, and we all worship the same God, right?

Abby, I just hate to hurt my mother. And he hates to hurt his mother, but we'll do anything you say. Please help us decide.

CHURCH PROBLEMS

DEAR PROBLEMS: The decision should be yours and your fiancé's. Since you obviously cannot please both your mother and his, you would probably be wise to select a compromise church, invite whomever you want, and let them either accept or decline.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L. A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Shower Given Miss Scales

On Tuesday evening, Miss Ginger Scales, bride-elect of August, was entertained by four of her bridesmaids at a kitchen shower at the Branch home on Forrest Hills Drive.

Upon arrival the hostesses, Miss Linda Branch, Miss Brenda Branch, Miss Deborah Cannon, and Miss Jackie Minges presented Miss Scales with an apron to be worn at the party in lieu of a corsage.

The guests played several games and then were invited into the dining room for refreshments.

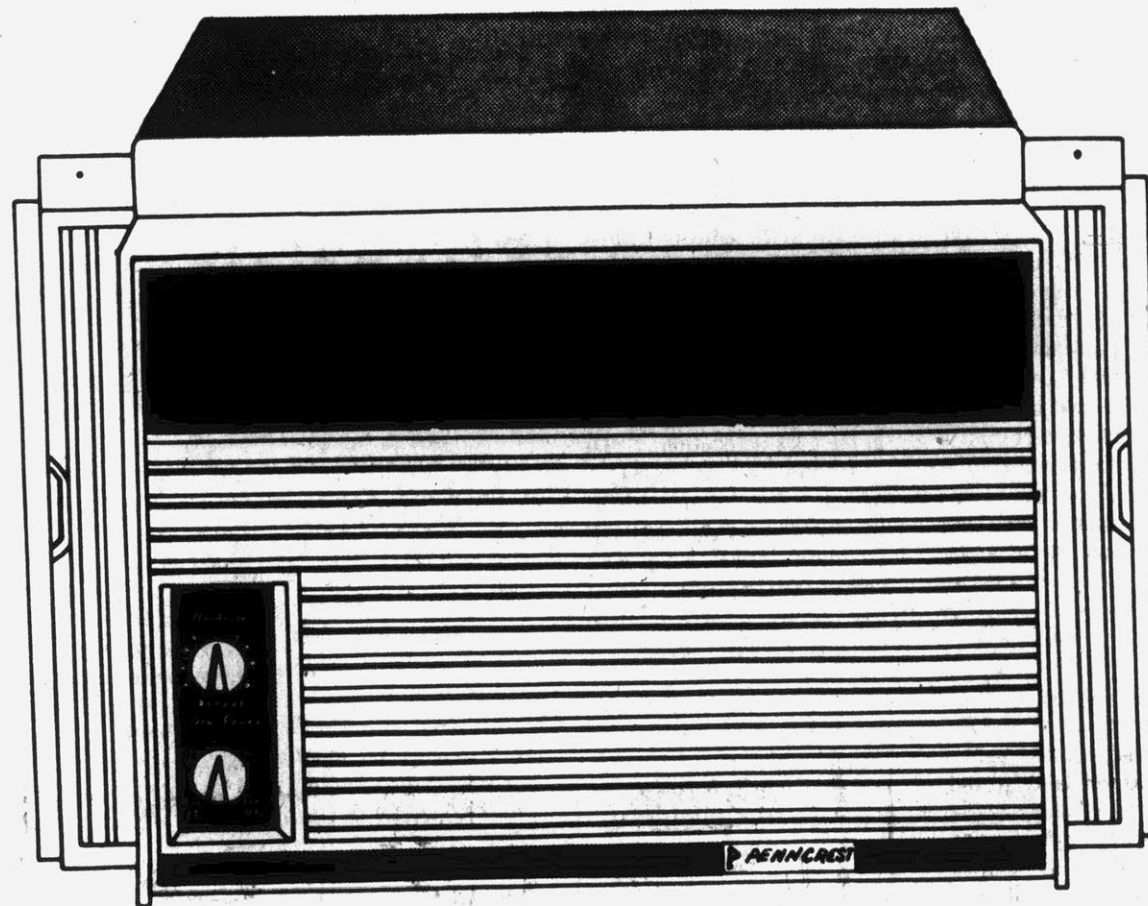

After refreshments, Miss

Scales opened her gifts. The hostesses' gift to Miss Scales was an electric blender, which had been tied with crossed cooking spoons.

Approximately 25 guests attended the shower.

Reports Sense Of Unity Felt

By BRYAN HAISLIP
GREENSBORO, N.C. — Days and nights are just getting sorted out for Jane Patterson, one week after the Democratic National Convention.

She came home sleepy from Miami Beach and the marathon sessions which nominated George McGovern and Tom Eagleton to head the party's ticket for the fall general election.

What made up for the loss of sleep was the excitement of living through history and the exhilaration of seeing her candidate win.

"That last hour, an incredible sense of brotherhood filled the hall. You could feel the surge of unity," she recalled. "Dan Rather was standing near me. He remarked he had never had that feeling before at a political convention."

One delegate's impression, as brought back by Mrs. Patterson, was that of many persons of diverse background, often in disagreement but working together agreeably. Work they did, she added, through sessions that ran into early morning hours.

"They listened long and well, and they participated responsibly in debate and decisions," she said.

A Working Delegation

"The North Carolina delegation voted its full strength every time but one," reported Mrs. Patterson, who served as secretary. "Six delegates were absent for the vote on the abortion plank of the platform, and it came at 6 a.m. after meeting all night."

Like most of the delegates, Mrs. Patterson was attending her first national convention. She also was in the majority as a supporter of Sen. McGovern for the presidential nomination.

That allegiance put her with the minority in her own delegation. Among the Tar Heels, she said, positions on McGovern were modified if not reversed after three days' exposure to the South Dakotas' personal magnetism and phenomenal organization.

"At the start, some delegates were saying things like McGovern's nomination would be a disaster," Mrs. Patterson said. "At the end, they said it would be difficult to carry North Carolina, but at least they would go home and try."

Optimistic For McGovern

She came back revved up and optimistic. McGovern may lack enthusiastic boosters high in the party hierarchy, but a grassroots cadre is ready for action, she said. "That's more than we had for Humphrey four years ago," she added.

Hard on the heels of the national convention, McGovern forces have scheduled meetings in Charlotte, Winston-Salem, Greensboro and Chapel Hill to shape up the North Carolina drive.

"I'm not sure we'll get that many party leaders who will identify themselves directly with the campaign," she admitted. "But a very high state official called me for buttons and literature. I mailed them right to him."

The convention set a milestone for women in Democratic politics. North Carolina was on the forward wave of the tide, Mrs. Patterson noted.

N.C. Women Represented

For the convention as a whole, women made up about 36 per cent of the delegates. The Tar Heel voting delegates included 46.5 percent women, a decided contrast from the 10 per cent in the 1968 delegation.

On the abortion plank, a priority for advocates of women's rights, North Carolina gave a higher percentage approval than any other state, Mrs. Patterson observed.

The tally was 46 in favor, 11 against, one abstention, and six absent.

The next step for women who want to consolidate gains is to support McGovern, she said. "He's put his money where his mouth is by appointing Jean Westwood as national chairman. He has promised to name women to the Supreme Court and other levels of government," she argued.

Mrs. Patterson said it was a misconception the first time delegates were political novices. "They were not the kingmakers from their states, but they had learned the ropes in local politics. They knew what they were doing, and they did it well," she said.

An even more open convention is her forecast for four years from now. By then, she predicted, delegates will be ready to select a vice presidential nominee on the floor.

While delegates went along with McGovern's choice of Sen. Eagleton of Missouri as his running mate, a flurry of other nominations showed a restiveness with the old procedure, she remarked.

North Carolina got in the act by offering the names of Jim Hunt, Skipper Bowles, Nick Gaffanakis, Lt. Gov. Pat Taylor (two votes), Terry Sanford, Wilbur Mills, and George Wallace. It was a gesture that may have been a portent of things to come.

their opinions and information on the public.

This most recent addition to the ranks casts his own shadow of doubt as to his integrity as well as quality of information he offers.

Claiming to be 26 years old, he says he briefed Vice President Humphrey in 1967. Without knowing customs and procedures of the NSA, it is incomprehensible that an obscure 21-year-old would be given such an assignment by that agency. Nor does his statement that the government listens in on all transatlantic telephone calls ring true.

We would like to think that American information-gathering techniques pitted against our avowed enemies and would-be enemies were every bit as encompassing as the anonymous babblers would have it. But his obvious lack of credibility works against him there, too.

It would be more alarming should some official governmental source issue a long and vibrant disclaimer. Then we would suspect a tender nerve had been touched.

But as of today, the sensible response of "no comment" is so sensible it is reassuring.

Major Effort Toward Employing Of Veterans

The current job fair being held at Camp Lejeune is one of the major efforts in this direction ever.

Its object is to help find employment for an estimated 4,000 men who will be leaving service there this summer.

Some 400 employers are expected to be represented at the job fair.

No doubt many young men currently leaving the service will be finding jobs because of this fair. It is being coordinated by the Regional Development Institute of ECU and it is something of which we can be proud.

Skepticism On Sadat's Action

By LEWIS GULICK

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials are keeping close watch on Soviet deployment in Egypt amid some skepticism here over how many Russians actually will pull out.

President Anwar Sadat's surprise announcement of an end to "the mission of Soviet military advisers and experts" underlined the most serious Moscow-Cairo dispute since Russian military personnel were invited into Egypt two years ago.

Sadat also said that "all the military equipment and installations set up within Egyptian territory ... are to be the exclusive property of the Arab Republic of Egypt and under the administration of our armed forces."

But the Cairo announcement gave no figures on how many of an estimated 15,000 Russians in Egypt were supposed to leave.

While Sadat was quoted as saying the move was "actually implemented in full" Monday, there was no independent word here yet of any large scale Russian withdrawal.

The authoritative Cairo newspaper Al Ahras said today that the pull-out will not apply to Soviet military men who are training Egyptian forces.

Of the 15,000, approximately half are rated here as "advisers and experts" and the rest are believed to be in Soviet units assigned to the Mediterranean and to Egypt's air defense.

Cairo's wording about "military equipment and installations," some experts suggest, may be ambiguous enough to be carried out by only a symbolic Egyptian takeover while continuing to permit Russian use of bases.

Nonetheless, Sadat made plain Egypt's disagreement with the Soviet Union, her big power supporter and supplier of billions of dollars worth of arms aid.

He said the two remain friends. But he complained of Soviet failure to deliver promised arms in 1971, the year he said was to have been "decisive" against Israel. And he indicated Moscow turned him down further this year on weaponry for an offensive against Israel.

How far the Kremlin and Sadat will go to patch up this still-in-the-family dispute is going to be of prime interest to Washington strategists.

Moscow's fortunes have run unevenly in the strategically important, oil-rich Mideast in recent times while U.S. authorities say America's stock is rising from its low in the Arab world after the 1967 war.

Yemen resumed diplomatic relations with the United States July 1. The Sudan is expected to follow suit shortly. Both broke ties with Washington in 1967. Both received sizeable Soviet aid before veering away from Moscow.

What impact the Cairo-Moscow friction may have on the stalled diplomatic effort for an Arab-Israeli settlement is among the questions still unanswered here.

Sadat spoke as if departure of the Soviets would free Egypt for battle with Israel. But some here ask, how could the Egyptians expect to defeat Israel without a lot of Soviet help?

Strength For Today

EASY WAY NOT THE BEST

It is a striking fact of history—both ancient and modern—that nations which do not have to face up to hard things practically never achieve greatness. There are primitive peoples who eat the fruit that drops off trees and need to do nothing but live pleasant lives and indulge themselves. And these people remain primitive.

The same is true, of course, in the case of individuals. Occasionally a person born with a golden spoon in his mouth arrives at greatness and dies with a commendable list of helpful achievements behind him. But this is rare.

The life of Abraham Lincoln makes such a tremendous appeal to people the world over because it embodies the important principle that difficulties and crises make men. What Lincoln would have been had he been born into a wealthy home and had had everything he wanted, no one, of course, can say, but it is hard to believe that he would have been the man whose memory is so universally revered.

Whom the Lord loveth, He chasteneth. Maybe you have wished at times that He would try improving you with less rigorous methods than He usually employs. But the principle that difficulties and crises produce character continues to operate as infallibly as the law of gravitation.

Don't lose heart. Don't become bitter. There is meaning to life, to the whole of it.

A Doctrinaire Platform

Party platforms have this in common with the great English classics, that everyone talks of them but no one ever reads them. The "Silas Marner" sanctioned by the Democrats last week joins a dusty and distinguished shelf: It is likely to endure chiefly in the recollection of aging editorial writers, who have the memories of elephants, and a neat sense of ambush.

The document deserves something more. Its specific pledges (I bespeak a conservative view) are bad enough: They make every particular hair stand on end.

But the specifics are less sobering than the tone. To take this declaration by its four corners, which is what we are advised to do with last wills and testaments, is to feel goose bumps of the spirit. A rabble they say, is crossing one's grave.

The party's platform for 1972, to sum it up in a word, is wholly doctrinaire. It has a uniform flavor, as if it had been smoked over old populist fires. There are some fatty passages, to be sure, but these are remarkably few; there is a garnish of parsley — the Democrats believe a system of free enterprise must remain — but the parsley is merely ornamental. If this platform truly represents the party's deliberate program, the party has pulled up its old stakes. It has moved to new ground.

The platform opens with a ritual recital of the social, economic and political disasters that afflict the nation today. For these, one should understand, Richard Nixon and the Republicans are largely to blame, but with a debater's stratagem the platform generously yields a lost point: "We are honest enough to admit that we are part of the past and share in its mistakes." The gesture is too small. Except for four years, the Democrats have controlled both houses of Congress for the past 40 years; at the federal level, the mistakes are their mistakes.

And the curious thing, in the light of this experience, is that much of the platform is devoted to compounding these mistakes. "There must be an end to inflation," says the first plank. The avowal is followed by a staggering checklist of measures that could serve only to make inflation worse.

If there is one failure of liberalism more glaring than all the rest, it is the failure of federally subsidized housing; but the platform calls for more housing. The price of consumer goods is in part a function of labor costs and of taxes on business; but the platform demands a $2.50 minimum wage, bumping up labor costs all down the line, and it demands heavier tax burdens on industry. It demands rigorous enforcement of health and safety laws on all jobs, "regardless of number of employees" and it would require all employers to provide, among other things, free maternity benefits. This is how one keeps prices down?

None of this conveys the document's tone. The melody line combines the shrillness and the dullness of the European socialism, but the theme is accompanied by a recurring beat in the left hand. "We must restructure the social, (Continued on page 5)

How To Create Enemy

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Are you tired of clinging friends? Would you rather have more good, clean-cut 100 per cent enemies who can't stand the sight of you?

Well, this is one of the easiest things in life to arrange. All you have to do is loose the cutting edge of your tongue, and before you know it, it will create enough feuds, vendettas and dislikes to keep you busy for several generations.

Here are a few remarks guaranteed to cut down your number of pals and add to the rankled ranks of those who would be glad to hang you up by your thumbs:

"I wouldn't marry you if you were the last man on earth."

"I know this is Tuesday and that I promised you on my word of honor that I'd pay you back on Tuesday, but I don't have it now, but I'll give you my word of honor that I'll pay you back next Friday."

"Didn't I invite you to the party? I knew there was somebody I missed, but I couldn't think who it was."

"Yeah, it's a sweet new bug-gy okay, but I know a guy who got the very same model for three hundred bucks less."

"Which one of those kids is yours—not that funny-looking one on the left, is it?"

"You ought to do something about getting rid of that watermelon. It makes you look old."

"I don't know why it takes you so long to do anything. Any other man would have been able to get three taxicabs by now."

"You pay it, Fred. The smallest I have on me is a $20 bill."

"So you want to see my hole card, do you? Well, put another $15 in the pot and I'll let you take a look."

"How can you go around saying you're 6 feet tall, when I'm taller than you are, and I know that I'm only 5 feet 10?"

"He may be bald now, but when we were going to college together his nickname was 'The Hairy Ape.' Tell them about it, Fred darling."

"I like your new hat. Too bad they didn't have one your size."

K.W. Cobb, supervisor of the Greenville tobacco market, has just completed a fifteen hundred mile tour over eastern North Carolina. He states that since the rains of the week end, all crops are coming out and looking much better.

Employees of the court house went to Morehead City this afternoon for their regular summer picnic and outing. The court house closed at the noon hour in keeping with the half holiday closing plan observed here on Wednesday during the summer months, and immediately afterwards officials and assistants headed for the cooling breezes of the beach.

Possible Changes In Life-Style

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Trends and directions in the American economy that might affect your pocketbook and life style now or in the future:

—The two-year boom in housing continues with only a slight tendency to soften. During the first five months of the year builders were erecting living quarters at an annual rate of 2.4 million units a year, double that of a few years ago.

Many people incorrectly assume that units mean singlefamily houses, but it isn't so. At the end of the first quarter there were 547,500 units of that type under construction. But there were 816,000 units in multiple dwelling.

Multiple housing means anything of more than one apartment, but generally much more. Large apartment houses, condominiums, cooperatives and furnished rental units make up a larger than normal percentage in recent years.

—If you are an ordinary consumer, your confidence in the immediate economic future is now almost completely in the grip of the electioneering. And it is falling.

That is the interpretation offered by Sindlinger & Co., which telephones American households every day of the week to determine their views on present and future income, employment and business conditions.

Albert Sindlinger, who operates the poll as part of a larger marketing and research operation, claims that the economic outlook has been entwined with political hopes and fears since May. Confidence rose almost steadily from recession level in June 1971 and peaked in March, according to the Sindlinger figures. Since this is a forecast index, or a measure of expectation six months into the future, it suggests an economic peak in August and September.

The index charts an almost steady economic decline from there to the end of the year, with the sharpest downturn coming right after the election.

—Do union members have rights in management decisions? Labor union officials feel that they not only do but that it is an inevitable, logical development of the union movement. Management thinks otherwise.

"An ominous new direction for collective bargaining," says the Chamber of Commerce of the United States in reaction to comments on "industrial democracy" by a United Auto Workers official. Irving Bluestone, director of the union's General Motors Department, said the goal of organized labor was to "extend workers' rights and responsibilities in the management of his work and in the decisions of the enterprise."

Dollar Value Goes Up After Bolstering By U.S.

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Moving boldly to keep the six-month old international currency agreement from collapsing, the United States has begun intervening directly in the money-exchange markets to prop up the dollar's value.

The Federal Reserve Board, the nation's central bank, started selling German marks and other foreign currencies from U.S. reserves for dollars in foreign exchange markets Wednesday in a sudden departure from its previous monetary policy. The dollar moved up sharply on European foreign exchanges today in the wake of the Federal Reserve action. It rose to 3.1725 marks in Frankfurt, half a pfennig higher than Wednesday night's closing of 3.1670 marks. In Zurich, it jumped from 3.7755 Swiss francs to 3.79, and in Paris it reached 4.74 francs on the free market, up from 4.7225.

"We are moving to play our part to restore order in exchange markets and to do our part in upholding the Smithsonian agreement as others have done," said a board spokesman in confirming the U.S. action. Major non-Communist nations agreed on a new set of money exchange rates last Dec. 18 at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, including the first devaluation of the dollar since 1934 and upward revaluation of other currencies.

But that bargain threatened to fall apart in recent weeks because the British government bailed out and cut its pound sterling loose from the agreed upon exchange rate, floating it against other currencies.

The resulting uneasiness overseas put the dollar under new pressure and several foreign governments, mainly West Germany, were forced to buy dollars to protect the value of their own money and support the Smithsonian agreement.

The United States has never directly intervened in exchange markets. It formerly used its gold stock to settle dollar claims, but President Nixon ended that last Aug. 15. Now, the United States has nothing to convert foreign currencies since the gold window will remain closed until a new monetary system is worked out.

The Federal Reserve Board is doing what other countries have been doing for years to protect their currencies when the money of another country, primarily from speculators, floods in.

The board's gave no estimate on how many marks and other currencies it sold in the first day of intervention Wednesday.

The action was carried out by its New York regional bank, the main bank for determining monetary policy.

The board spokesman said, however, that the decision "was entirely on our own initiative," meaning that the United States did not act under demands from other countries.

L.D. Holt Resigns As CBD Project Manager

Joe M. Laney, executive director of the Greenville Redevelopment Commission, announced that Lawrence D. Holt has tendered his resignation as Central Business District project manager.

Laney said that Holt, who has been with the commission approximately four years, submitted his resignation July 12 to become effective on July 26.

Holt, it was pointed out, is leaving the local commission to accept a position with the Asheville Redevelopment Commission as administrative assistant to the executive director.

Laney pointed out that he notified Holt through a brief letter that the resignation was accepted, but with much regret. The letter, he added, noted that Holt "assisted greatly" in helping to accomplish the objectives of the commission during his tenure on the staff.

"Again, I want to say that we accept his resignation with regret," the director continued,

"and we wish him well in his future work in the fields of urban renewal and housing." He added that Holt is "one of our oldest employees in terms of service" and he "helped in getting our concepts across to Greenville businessmen."

Laney said he understands that Holt, who is from Raleigh, will have an opportunity in Asheville to work in the area of housing as well as renewal and should be able to broaden his experience in various phases of his career. Holt moved up here from his initial position as management trainee to real estate officer and was later named project manager for the CBD program following the resignation of John Messick.

Laney reported that his intentions are to, through reorganization of the present staff, fill the position of CBD project manager with someone on the staff rather than hire a new person for the job.

political and economic relationships throughout the entire society in order to ensure the equitable distribution of wealth and power. The party is committed "to bringing about a more equal distribution of power, income and wealth." The aim is "a more equitable distribution of income."

The platform sees American industry wholly in terms of "the power of corporate giants." It dwells again and again on economic classes: The rich, as contrasted with the "working people" and the "poor." Its aim is to bring down "the wealthy the privileged, and the corporations."

Here is egalitarianism, torch in hand: "All official discrimination on the basis of age must end." The platform also demands, in terms of high-level federal appointments, "an equitable ratio of women and men." Tenants must stand equal with landlords in the control of private property. At all levels of the party itself, poor people must henceforth have proportional representation. This is the platform. To stand on? Or to fall down on?

Divorce To Cost $3 Million Cash

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)

— Bruce B. Dayton, the department store magnate, will pay $3 million cash as part of the settlement in a divorce with his wife Gwendolen.

Under the divorce granted Monday in Hennepin County District Court, Mrs. Dayton, 52, will get the couple's home in Wayzata and its furnishings plus other property.

Dayton, 53, is chairman of the board of Dayton Hudson Corp., which operates department stores in Minneapolis, Detroit and elsewhere. He was sued for divorce by his wife of 28 years on the grounds of a "course of conduct detrimental to the marriage relationship."

The settlement, which calls for no alimony, stipulates that Mrs. Dayton will receive $800,000 within 15 days and eight subsequent payments of $275,000 each on the anniversary of the divorce.

Hits Limit Of 210 Pounds Per Tobacco Sheet

JESUP, Ga. (AP) — State Sen. Roscoe Dean, D-Jesup, charged late Wednesday that a decision by the Georgia-Florida Tobacco Warehousemen Association to limit tobacco sheets to 210 pounds is "grossly unfair."

Dean said in a telegram to the association's president, Frank Pidcock of Moultrie, that the decision to impose a $1 per pound fine on sheets of tobacco over 210 pounds is "a further encroachment on the already burdened tobacco farmer."

Dean said he included in his telegram a call for warehousemen to denounce the practice and "let the Georgia farmer know that his business is appreciated."

He said "most farmers have no way to weigh the harvested sheets of tobacco before getting to the warehouses, and said the limitation would "slow down the process of getting Georgia leaf on the warehouse floors."

Dean, a member of the Georgia Tobacco Advisory Board and vice chairman of the Senate Agricultural Committee, also said he felt additional selling days will be necessary if the Georgia farmers are to dispose of their 1972 crop.

The tobacco sales markets open in Georgia on Tuesday. The 36-man industry-wide Flue-Cured Tobacco Marketing Committee has allotted time for sales of 160 million pounds of tobacco for the Georgia-Florida belt.

Last year more than 181 million pounds were sold in the Georgia markets and more than 137 million pounds were grown in the state. About the same size crop is forecast this year and State Agriculture Commissioner Tommy Irvin has warned that a heavy influx of North and South Carolina tobacco would take up sales opportunity time needed by Georgia growers.

The problem was resolved last year when the marketing committee agreed to keep the Georgia-Florida markets open an extra two to three weeks to allow all the tobacco to be sold.

Agriculture Department tobacco specialist David Newton said the 23 Georgia and five Florida markets traditionally have opened earlier in the year, giving Carolina growers opportunity to sell their crop in Georgia.

Nineteen of the Georgia-Florida markets will be open four weeks and nine for seven weeks.

Portugal's Election Is 'No Contest'

By JOSEPH E. DYNAN
Associated Press Writer
LISBON (AP) — Portugal is also electing a president this year, but you'd hardly know it. There are no posters, no rallies, no speeches.

The country's only authorized political formation, the National Popular Action, supports Adm. Americo Thomaz for another seven-year term. Premier Marcello Caetano has urged Thomaz's re-election.

That more or less wraps it up. The president is chosen directly by an electoral college. It meets July 25.

The college includes members of parliament plus delegates named by local councils in continental Portugal, Madeira, the Azores and in the "overseas provinces" of Africa.

The provincial legislatures in Angola, Mozambique, Portuguese Guinea, Macao, and other overseas areas also send delegates. Even Goa, whose annexation by India is contested by the Lisbon government, is entitled to 10 seats.

Only these 620 electors may propose a candidate.

Since virtually all electors are affiliated with the authorized party, Thomaz, now nearing his 78th birthday, can scarcely fail to win a third term.

The president has constitutional power to appoint and dismiss the premier and members of the Cabinet.

Bouncing Ball Will Be Public Reminder

GRIFTON — "Keep the Ball Bouncing" will be the battle cry coming from Queen Street in Grifton when the clock strikes three on Friday afternoon.

The cry will be matched by continuous bouncing, with the thump-thump-thump of basketball leather on pavement going non-stop through the weekend or until one thousand tickets are sold out, whichever comes first.

The ball bouncing idea is not a war of nerves or the enactment of a tom-tom ritual, but is the means being used by members of the Grifton Jaycees to call attention to their sponsorship of the tenth annual Boys Home All Star Football Game to be played at Ficklen Stadium in Greenville on August 5.

Sam Jones, local project chairman for "Keep the Ball Bouncing," has announced that the Grifton Jaycees hope to have a sell-out of 1,000 tickets. "All proceeds from this game will go to the Jaycee cottage at Boys Home at Lake Waccamaw near Whiteville," Jones stated. "The Jaycees believe that a boy saved is a man made and in accordance with this belief we will keep the ball bouncing."

Jones also commented that "the Grifton Jaycees are proud to announce that John Hoover of Ayden-Grifton High will be the starting center for the annual Boys' Home All Star Game."

Tickets on sale along Queen Street will be sold for $2.00 each.

For those who cannot take time to see the ball bounce in Grifton, tickets can be purchased from any North Carolina Jaycee chapter or member.

Tickets will also be available at the gate, Jones notes, but will cost an additional 50 cents or $2.50 if purchased at that time.

DAUGHTER-TROUBLE — Elders of the Hobbs Street Church of Christ in Athens, Ala., fired their minister Charles Marshall, because his daughter appeared in swimsuit competition in a July 14 beauty contest. She's being kissed by singer Johnny Tillotson for winning the Spirit of America Pageant. Some church members are trying to oust the elders. (AP Wirephoto)

Dust, Dirt, Filth—Is Everywhere In Wilkes-Barre

Only Known 'Liger' Dies

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The world's only known liger — half lion, half tiger — died here Wednesday.

Shasta, the rare female feline, apparently was the victim of kidney problems and arthritis.

"She helped build the zoo into a popular attraction because visitors would come from all parts of the United States and foreign countries to see this rare animal," said LaMar Farnsworth, director of Hogle Zoo.

He said that since lions and tigers usually live to be only about 13-15 years old, Shasta's age was the equivalent of 120 years in humans.

Shasta had been the key attraction at the zoo since her birth May 6, 1948.

Farnsworth said the offspring of a male African lion and a Bengal tigress had recently been taken off display because of poor health. Shasta, who had weighed more than 300 pounds, weighed 90 when she died.

Farnsworth said the University of Utah will receive the carcass, have it stuffed and display it in its natural history museum.

A 'Gospel Sing' Set Saturday

Pastor Stanley Wingard and the church congregation extends an invitation to the public to attend.

By GERALD STORCH
Associated Press Writer
WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — The dust, the dirt, the filth are still everywhere.

Walk in any low-lying area of this hilly city of 60,000, and you get a choice — depending on whether it's dry or raining — between becoming engulfed with dust that mixes with sweat and pastes clothing to skin, or being slopped with mud.

A full month after one-third of this eastern Pennsylvania city was inundated by floodwaters from tropical storm Agnes, the community retains the appearance of a disaster area.

Lawns, sidewalks, shrubs, walls and just about anything else left standing are blanketed with a coat of tannish grime, the residue of 20-foot flooding by the Susquehanna River.

In the city's well-to-do residential section along Riverside Drive, homes lie scattered. One house sits in the middle of a street, swept there by the waters. Others tilt precariously, their foundations and plumbing innards exposed.

The hub of downtown, a grassy diagonal known as Public Square, is filled with information trailers and Salvation Army food trucks. Of some 50 retail establishments that surround the square, just two — a newsstand and a drug store — have reopened. Heaps of boards, rubble and slime adorn the curbsides.

No doubt about it, Wilkes-Barre looks awful.

And yet ... amidst all this, a bustling spirit of renewal is undeniably in evidence.

A lot of the city's dirt, for example, is encrusted on the arms and faces of people who have determinedly shoveled four to six inches of mud from their floors.

You see the spirit of renewal in the eyes of people like 81-year-old William Jayne, hosing down an old American flag that was defaced when three feet of water lapped into his second floor bedroom on the flood night of June 23.

You see it as well on scores of homes and stores bearing signs that vow, "Rebuild We Will."

Indeed, Nicholas H. Souchik, Luzerne County's executive director for civil defense, says the flood-stricken sections of the city are now 70 to 75 per cent back onto their feet.

"Not as nice as before," he remarks, "but we're recovering."

Souchik gave this status report:

HOMELESS—The biggest problem. Temporary Red Cross shelters are accommodating about 2,300 persons, with perhaps double that number staying with relatives.

ELECTRICITY—Restored to about 25 per cent of flooded homes.

TELEPHONES—About 75 per cent back.

WATER—Some reports of low pressure, but otherwise not a major problem.

SEWAGE TREATMENT—Still completely out. Sewage is going straight into the river. But tons of mud have been removed from the city's treatment plant, and it should be operable in another 30 days.

Contamination Of Lake Water Said Declining

Elected To Fellowship

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Mercury concentrations in fish samples taken from Pickwick and Kentucky lakes are declining, the Tennessee Valley Authority reports.

TVA officials noted the mercury in fish caught in the two lakes in 1970 and traced the apparent source to mercury discharged into the Tennessee River by the Diamond Alkali Co. plant at Muscle Shoals, Ala.

The company installed improved waste controls at its plant to eliminate the discharge.

Since then, TVA said Wednesday, there has been a gradual reduction in the amount of mercury that reaches the fishes' food chain in the lakes.

The problem should disappear in five to seven years, the authority said, as new sediment seals off the mercury-bearing deposits on the bottom of the lakes.

EVANSTON, Ill. — Ben G. Shappley of Greenville N.C., is one of 219 physicians elected to Fellowship in the American Academy of Pediatrics at a recent meeting of the AAP executive board.

The academy is the Pan-American association of physicians certified in the care of infants, children and adolescents and has approximately 13,500 members.

To qualify as a Fellow in the Academy, a pediatrician must be a citizen of one of the countries of the Americas, and must have been certified by the American Board of Pediatrics as a fully-qualified specialist in the field of child health.

Certification requires a minimum of five years post-medical school experience.

Geo. Meany Demonstrates Firmly In Command

By NEIL GILBRIDE
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — George Meany, steering the AFL-CIO to a fence-sitting position of neutrality in the presidential campaign, showed he is still firmly in command of the nation's House of Labor and a power to be reckoned with in national politics.

"He's invincible," grumbled one union opponent after the 77-year-old Meany led the 35-man AFL-CIO executive council to a 27-3 vote Wednesday against endorsing neither Democratic nominee George McGovern or President Nixon.

"I will not vote for either one of them," Meany told a news conference.

"Meany was calm, cool, responsible, effective and well-prepared," said another reluctant admirer on the labor council who had urged endorsement of McGovern as the AFL-CIO has done with every previous Democratic presidential nominee.

Meany has sharply attacked Nixon on economic policies, while reportedly disagreeing with McGovern's views on the Vietnam war.

Meany, who said McGovern was not "good material" for a president, shrewdly avoided a direct vote on whether to endorse McGovern and made it clear the AFL-CIO's 117 affiliated unions and their 13.6 million members were free to do as they wished. This blunted opposition from several McGovern supporters on the labor council.

Typical was President Floyd Smith of the 900,000-member Machinists union, who endorsed McGovern but voted with Meany's position of neutrality for the AFL-CIO.

"Let them do as they like," Meany told a news conference.

AFL-CIO sources said that had the vote been directly on whether to endorse McGovern, the vote would have been virtually split down the middle.

Despite his victory in bending the labor council to his wishes, the issue produced more division in labor's ranks than any in recent memory and raised the possibility of a later, stronger challenge to Meany's dominance of the labor federation.

"The vote reflects personal loyalties that exist within the AFL-CIO, rather than a true index of support for the Democratic ticket by American trade unionists," said President Jerry Wurf of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees. Wurf, a member of the AFL-CIO council and a McGovern supporter, was one of the three votes against the position of neutrality.

The other two were presidents Paul Jennings of the International Union of Electrical Workers and Al Grospiron of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers.

But many more union presidents have endorsed or are leaning toward McGovern.

Meany and other labor leaders have never claimed to be able to deliver labor union votes in a bloc, but their influence is believed to be considerable.

More importantly, the position of neutrality deprives McGovern of the support of the AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education, which raises some $3 million in voluntary union members' contributions and provides thousands of volunteer political campaign workers for labor's friends in congressional and presidential elections.

COPE is generally credited with almost turning the tide for 1968 Democratic nominee Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey against Nixon.

Wurf planned a separate labor fund-raising drive for McGovern and predicted many other unions would participate.

One union leader, Patrick Gorman of the 500,000-member Amalgamated Meat Cutters, wired COPE Director Al Barkan that his union would no longer funnel money contributions to COPE. Gorman supports McGovern.

Try To Join China Sale

WASHINGTON (AP) — McDonnell-Douglas Aircraft Corp. is trying to join a competitor, the Boeing Co., in selling jetliners to mainland China.

The Commerce Department approved a temporary export license Wednesday for McDonnell-Douglas to ship a $21 million aircraft to China as a sales demonstration.

The department declined to name the company but McDonnell-Douglas later confirmed that it was trying to follow Boeing. Seattle-based Boeing recently received approval of an export license covering the proposed sale of ten 707 airliners for $150 million.

McDonnell-Douglas said it has yet to receive permission from China to ship a demonstration plane, apparently a DC-10.

But its efforts indicated that competition may be increasing among American companies to tap the substantial Chinese market even though the Nixon administration says it may be years before substantial trade between the two countries develops.

Boeing has yet to close the deal with Red China, but approval is expected within the next few months.

Killer's Mother Claims Threats

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Mary Sirhan, mother of the convicted killer of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, says she is being threatened by two other sons.

Mrs. Sirhan told police, who stepped up patrols near her home Wednesday, that her son Saidallah, 40, came to the house Tuesday and threatened to burn it down. Another son, Sharif, 39, had threatened her over the telephone, she added.

Mrs. Sirhan told a newsman she believed her sons were upset because they had been unable to find jobs.

Her son Sirhan was convicted of fatally wounding Kennedy in June 1968 after the senator had won the California Democratic presidential primary. Sirhan is serving a life sentence in San Quentin Prison.

Declines led advances by a small margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

activities as a squire and on to ceremonies accompanying his appointment to knighthood.

The final of the three films, a French made film with out narration, covers the drama and artistry of automobile racing.

"L'Homme Vite" (The Fast Man) follows a race from preparation to finish using photography and music to capture the excitement and dangers of racing.

Show times for the films are: Friday, East Branch, 4:00 p.m.; Tuesday, Carver Library, 3:30 p.m. and Wednesday, Sheppard Library in the Children's Library Room, 7:30 p.m.

Argues N.C. Death Penalty Still Valid

RALEIGH (AP)—Deputy Atty. Gen. Jean A. Benoy contends that the U.S. Supreme Court decision striking down the death penalty in the United States is not applicable to the crime of rape in North Carolina.

Benoy outlined the state's position in a brief filed in the appeal of James Howard Waddell, who is asking the State Supreme Court to overturn his conviction in Sampson County.

The U.S. Supreme Court ruling held that the death penalty as now administered in the United States constitutes cruel and unusual punishment.

The 5-4 ruling saved from execution 10 men at Central Prison in Raleigh. Their sentences are expected to be reduced to life imprisonment.

Benoy said the court ruling "is not applicable to the North Carolina statutory scheme of imposing the death penalty for the crime of rape."

He claims the death penalty should still be in effect in this state because it "has not been imposed in North Carolina in an arbitrary and random manner."

According to sources, Benoy apparently is basing his contention on the 1971 capital punishment statute enacted by the General Assembly. Sources said the death penalty could not have been imposed arbitrarily here because nobody has been executed under the law.

The 1971 General Assembly repealed the right to plead guilty to capital crimes. This was to comply with a U.S. Supreme Court decision overturning six North Carolina death cases.

The Waddell case is scheduled to be heard by the State Supreme Court in September.

Probe Break-In Attempt Here

Police have started an investigation into an attempted breaking and entering at a service station last night.

According to Chief of Police Glenn Cannon, police responded to a phone call stating that a window had been broken out of Stancill's Etna on West Fifth Street.

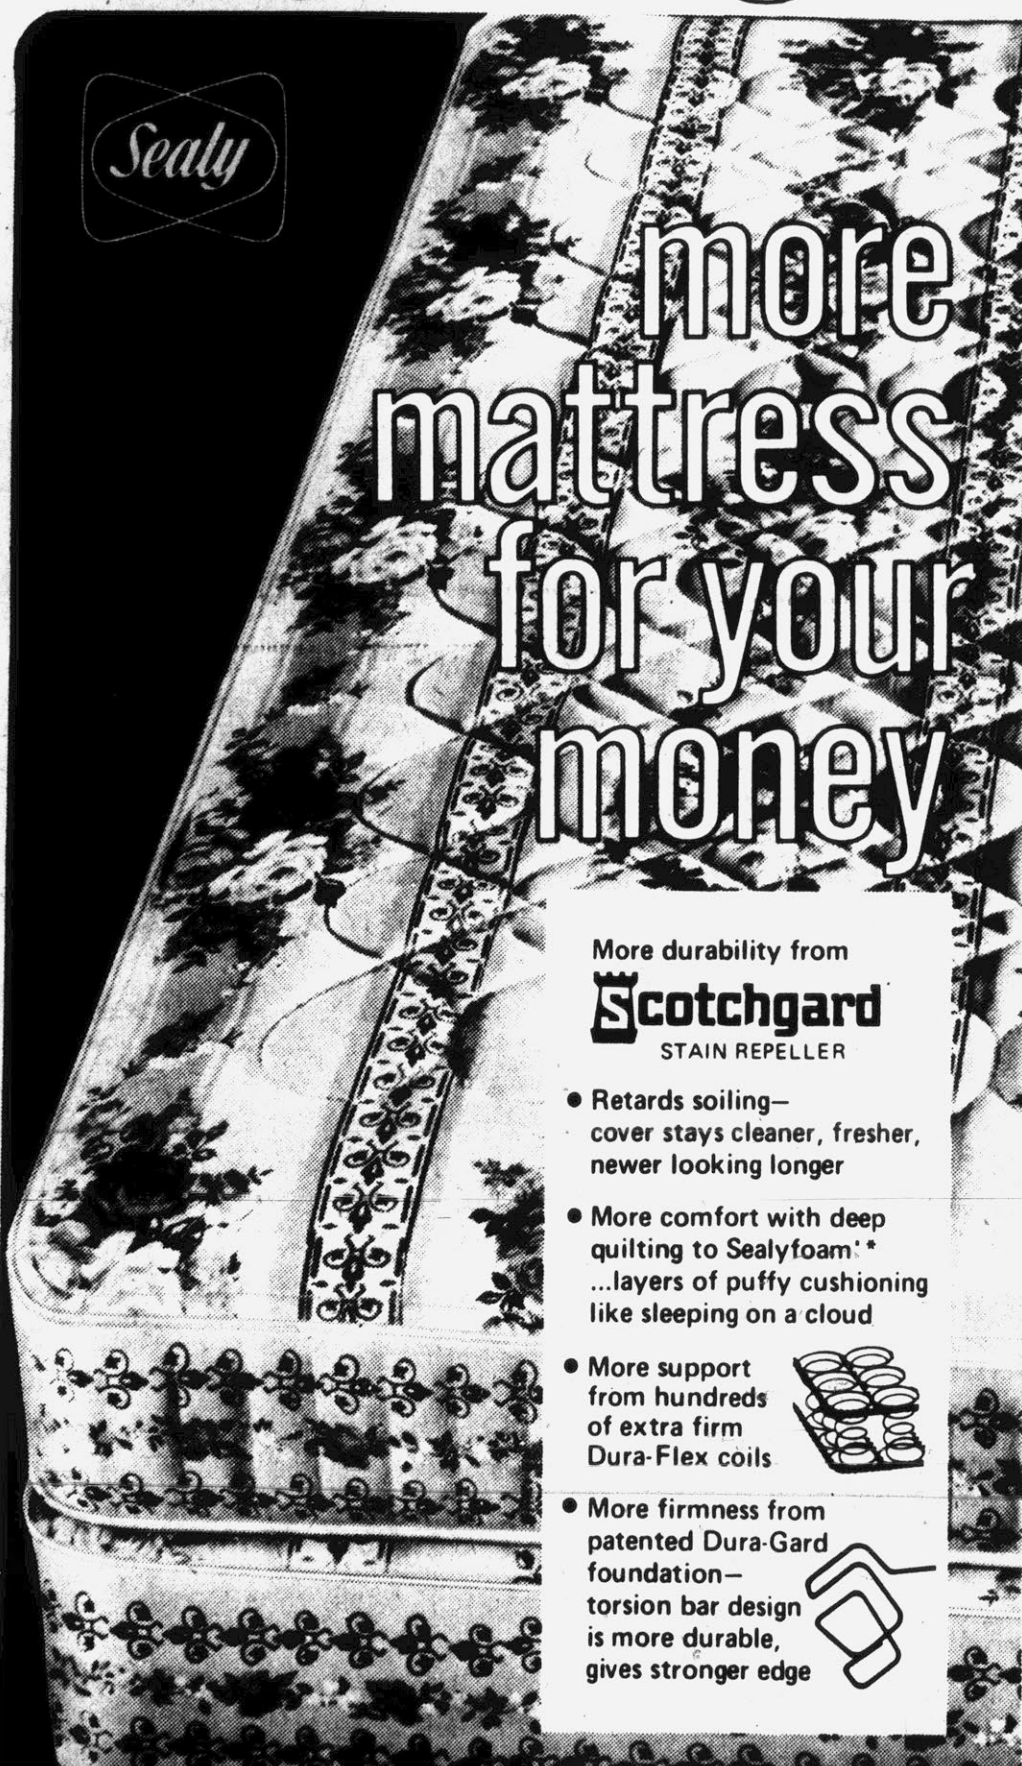

IN MEMORY

One year ago today when you passed away, we never thought we would miss you so. Lonely is our heart without you, for the one we loved so dearly has forever passed away. Our hearts filled with sadness as tears fall from our eyes. For many a night I'm so lonely. Many a night I cry. But dear husband and Daddy you can't die for we will all meet again in the sweet by and bye. We loved you so, but God loved you better, for now you are free from trouble and pain. One day we pray we will meet on the Golden Shore and be together forevermore. Even though we are still weeping, you keep on sleeping our love and take your rest. Soon we will all be together forevermore.

In memory of our loving Husband and Daddy.

Clark Griffith Captures State Senior Babe Ruth Tournament

By CHIP LAMBETH
Reflector Sports Writer

Clark Griffith's pitcher, Robert Yopp, stole home in the bottom of the sixth inning of the Senior Babe Ruth State Tournament last night putting his team ahead of Smokey Mountain 4-3 and eventually giving them the championship.

Yopp's battery mate, Mike Smith, had been the first man on in the frame as he drew a walk. Yopp, however, hit into a fielder's choice getting Smith at second. Yopp tried to steal second but a bad throw bounced past the Smokey Mnt. second sacker into right letting Yopp go to third. Dean Hyatt walked and then the two runners tried the double steal. It worked perfectly and Yopp helped himself, getting the winning run.

Yopp went all the way for Clark Griffith, striking out 11, walking two and giving up five hits. Smokey Mnt. called on two hurlers. Steve Hyatt started but was pulled out in the fifth with one out. Cary Brackley who had thrown a no-hitter in the opening round Saturday night against Catawba Valley, came on to pitch. He gave up the winning run.

Clark Griffith finished the tourney as the only unbeaten team in the double elimination affair. They had downed South Buncombe in the first round and slipped by Statesville 2-1 in the second. They next had to face Smokey Mtn. and they won that one. Smokey Mtn. won another shot at Clark Griffith by knocking Coastal Carolina out of the competition.

Clark Griffith had edged into the lead wasting no time in their first chance at bat getting a pair. Smokey Mtn. countered in the second and forged ahead as three runs came across. It remained that way until the fifth when Steve Tucker tied it up for Clark Griffith by smashing a home run. They came the sixth and the win for Clark Griffith.

After setting Smokey Mtn. down in order in the first, Mustang Bruce Boeger got the first hit of the night and moved around when Tucker was safe on an error. The ball got away from the first baseman as he tried to put the tag on Tucker and Tucker moved into second. Carlos Reed slapped a hit back through the box to drive in both runners.

Smokey Mtn. roared back in the top of the second the go ahead. Jerry Cagle and Mike Gentry walked. Billy Wilbert hit an opposite field double to right to bring both Gentry and Cagle around. A single by Jackie Lansford scored Wilbert.

Earl Armstrong singled for Clark Griffith in the second and stole second. Smith walked and both advanced on a passed ball. The next two batters went down, one on an interference call, to end the threat.

Clark put two men on again in the third as Boeger walked and stole up. Reed also walked but they died with out scoring.

Van Smith got a hit in the Smokey Mountain fourth but was thrown out trying to go to third on Wilbert's hit. Randy Chastain doubled in the fifth but was left at second. Then came the bottom of the fifth and Tucker's smash over the left-center field wall to tie the contest at 3-3.

An close play at first resulted in an error on Cagle's grounder put a man on for Smokey Mtn. in the sixth. Yopp didn't like the call and sent the next three batters back to their dugout swinging. Yopp was still not ready to accept the ump's ruling and so he scored the winning run in the bottom half of the inning.

Smokey Mtn. was set down in order again in the seventh and Clark Griffith had the win.

Wilbert had a pair of hits for Smokey Mtn. and Reed and two for Clark Griffith.

The Mustangs will travel to Cocoa Beach, Fla. a week from Friday to represent North Carolina in the tournament to be held there.

Smokey Mtn. had won the right to meet Clark Griffith with a 7-4 win over Coastal Carolina.

Coastal Carolina had broke "the ice in the second with a pair of runs but SM tied it up in their half of the frame. Smokey Mtn. moved in front with a run in the third. The winner came in the fourth for Smokey Mtn. as Billy DeHart was safe on an error and Steve Hyatt walked Randy Chastain brought them both around with a triple.

Smokey Mtn. added two more in the sixth and two came in for Coastal in the seventh.

Chastain and Craig Cable led the Smokey Mtn. attack with two hits apiece. No one had two for Coastal Carolina.

Heels Move Into Tie For First In Summer Baseball League

CHAPEL HILL — UNC's Tar Heels moved into a tie for first place in the Summer Collegiate Baseball League last night as they beat the East Carolina Pirates 4-1.

Winning pitcher Dannerman hurled a one-hitter at the Bucs. He struck out eight walked four and hit one. Norman Davis started for the Pirates but was relieved in the fourth by Dave LaRussa. LaRussa was then pulled for Russ Smith in the sixth. Smith finished the game for ECU.

The Pirates went on the boards first but Carolina came back with three in the fourth, two on wild pitches, to take the lead and they added one more in the fifth in getting the win.

East Carolina went down in order in the first and when Carolina came to bat they went right to work. Russ Niller walked and was sacrificed up by Bobby Guthrie. He moved to third on Bob Kennedy's hit but could go no further as a fly out ended the inning.

ECU then broke the ice pushing over a run in the second. Troy Eason walked and scored as John Narron laced a double for an RBI.

The Heels put two on in the third as Guthrie singled and Kennedy walked. They died, however as the next two batters were retired.

Ralph Lamm moved into third for the Bucs in the fourth on a walk a sacrifice and a wild pitch but could not score.

Carolina came up with a pair of scores in the bottom of the frame to go ahead. Davis slapped a one-out single and John Dannerman, who pitched his first complete game, against the Pirates, singled also. Niller doubled in Davis and Dannerman came over on a wild pitch. A second wild pitch scored Niller.

The fourth UNC run came in the fifth. Micky Hickerson opened the inning with a double and Peter Franklin singled him in.

The Pirates put only two more men on during the rest of the game in the seventh. Larry Walters, who went three for three against Carolina Monday night, walked but was cut down in a fielder's choice. Jimmy Paige walked in the ninth but was also nailed on a fielder's choice.

The Pirates return home Friday night hosting the Seahawks of UNC-Wilmington. Game time is 7:30 at Harrington Field.

Legion Out Of Playoffs; Lose At Hands Of Wilson

Wilson's American Legion baseball team knocked Greenville's Post 39 out of any further competition in the playoffs by giving them a 14-5 bat-lashing.

Tommy Hayes went the distance for the winners, fanning eleven and scattering six hits. His infield made only one error, but four of the five Greenville runs were earned.

Wilson led off with four runs in the first. Successive singles by Robert Ivey, Hayes, and Will Flowers, along with a walk, a passed ball and a wild pitch scored three runs. David Fulghum walked and moved around to score on another single by Danny Whitley.

Greenville countered for a brief threat in the bottom half. Bill Lee led off with a walk and moved to second on a passed ball. Locke Conrad followed with a walk. Then with runners on first and second, Randy McKinney slapped a single to score Lee.

Wilson came back in the top of the second to place three more runs on the board. With one out, Ivey singled and stole second. Hayes then singled to score Ivey. Hayes moved to second on a fly ball. Fulghum singled to score Hayes, and then Fulghum came home on two errors in the infield.

Greenville nibbled away at the lead in the third, scoring four runs to get within tying distance. Conrad singled, and Phil Blount reached on an error. McKinney walked to load the bases, but they were soon emptied when Robbie Cox singled to score Conrad. Blount soon came home to score on a wild pitch. Pinch-hitter Duncan Charlton reached on an infield hit, followed by a double by Mike Bundy which scored McKinney and Cox.

Wilson then played possum for two innings, getting one baserunner as far as third. But eventually, Wilson erupted for their remaining seven runs, scoring three times in the fifth, once in the sixth, and another three-spot in the ninth.

Hayes bore down on his charitable ways and allowed only one more hit in the entire game, a single in the ninth by Blount.

Greenville used four pitchers in the contest, but to no avail as they were tagged for 15 hits and eight earned runs.

Wilson will next meet the winner of the Durham-Siler City playoff in a best-of-seven series. From there, the winner will get to play the western winner, either Richmond County of Wilmington Post 10.

SJAFB, Robersonville Move Up In Area II Meet

Little League teams from Seymour Johnson and Robersonville took victories yesterday to advance in the Area II playoffs.

Seymour Johnson scored three runs in the top of the last inning to beat Warren County 3-1. Robersonville scored all their runs in the second to edge Tarboro 5-3. Both games were sandwiched around the Greenville game (see story elsewhere on the sports pages.)

Warren County's Delton Green had a three hitter going until the fifth when he tired and was relieved. Douglas Criswell had gotten the first hit off him in the third as he rapped a double. He saw the next three batters retired and Criswell failed to score. In the fourth Seymour Johnson loaded the bases as Samie Solman reached on an error. John Wells walked and James Chevious singled but all were off as they tried to advance.

Warren County was knocking at the door from the first inning. James Alston had led off the game with a walk and had moved up on Green's hit. Both stole up but a pair of strike-outs ended the inning.

In the fourth, Chip Capps singled but was thrown out trying to go for two. One out later Johnny Channing walked but did not advance.

Then in the top of the sixth, Seymour Johnson surged ahead with three runs. Rusty Jackson doubled and moved to third on an hit by Soloman. Wells grounded back to the box and the play went to home to get Jackson for an out. Chevious got a hit to move Jackson and Wells up. An error on the play let Soloman score and a passed ball brought in Wells. Another passed ball scored Chevious.

Warren County threatened to do some damage in the bottom of the frame as Green reached on an error and went to second on a passed ball. He advanced to third when Capps was safe on an error. Vicroe Coleman singled to drive in Green. Bob Curie got a hit but Capps was cut down as he tried to score.

Chevious and Criswell each had two hits for Seymour Johnson. No one had more than one for Warren County.

Tarboro inched ahead in the first. Keith Parieshee walked and a balk put him on second. A wild pitch moved him to third and he scored on a hit by Bill Wilder.

Tarboro added another run in the second. Timmy Crisp walked and went around the horn on a passed ball and a wild pitch. An error let him score.

Robersonville then broke loose for five runs and the lead. Henry Roberson walked. Charlie Smith got a hit and both advanced on an error on the play, with Roberson scoring and Smith going to third. Durwood Leggett grounded out scoring Smith, after Jeff Williams was safe on an error. A hit by David Wilson drove in Williams. Ken Gurganus was safe on another Tarboro miscue and an error let Wilson score. Cliff Keel slapped a double to drive in Gurganus.

The last Tarboro run came across in the third when Wilder walked and was aided by a wild pitch. An error let Wilder score from second.

No one had more than one hit. SJAFB will face Roanoke Rapids at 3 p.m. and Greenville's Tar Heel League will meet Robersonville at 5 p.m.

Semi-Pros Drop Tar Heel League Stars Edge North State Stars

ROBERSONVILLE — Greenville's semi-pro baseball team absorbed an 11-8 loss at the hands of Robersonville here last night. Robersonville scored six times in the third inning to insure the victory.

Greenville opened the game with a run in the first. H. Wilson got an infield single, moved to second when K. Beamon walked, and scored on an error by the third baseman.

Robersonville countered with a run in the bottom half of the first when Warren reached on a walk, went to second on a single by Knox, got to third on a fielders choice, and scored on an error by the third baseman.

Greenville scored three more in the second. Dickens singled, and moved to second on an error which put Jordan on base. Vincent loaded the bases on a walk. Evans then ripped a single which scored two runs, and Wilson hit a single to score the other run. Three more runs in the third pushed Greenville further ahead, 7-1.

Then in the bottom of the third, Robersonville scored six more runs on just two hits, three walks, and a fielder's choice. They also batted around, sending eleven men to the plate.

Greenville was shutout for the final four innings, while Robersonville inched forward into the lead. James led off the fourth with a double and scored on an RBI-single by Leggett. In the sixth, Warren's triple to right field scored the final three runs. Robersonville needs for insurance.

Rogers was the winning pitcher, while Jarman was the loser for Greenville.

Michael Shank robbed the North State's Creg Lee of a home run that would have put the North Stars ahead in the fifth inning to save two possible runs and the game as the Tar Heel All-Stars hung on to squeeze past their Greenville rivals, 2-1.

As luck would have it, the two Greenville teams were pitted against each other as a result of pairing picks. The Tar Heel team will move up in the Area II tournament to meet Robersonville who beat Tarboro 5-3, (see story elsewhere in the sports pages.) In the first game of the afternoon, Seymour Johnson edged Warrenton 3-1.

Another fine play got the Tar Heel team out of a jam in the last inning as the North State nailed one runner as he tried to score. The North State had moved Jeff Aldridge to third and he tried to tie the score on a hit by Ricky Bolonde. William Brewington made the tag on Aldridge as he skid into home under a cloud of dust.

The game was marked by outstanding pitching from both sides. North State's Jeff Aldridge went the distance fanning seven and giving only three free passes. He saw the Tar Heel team rap out six hits. John Coffman, his opponent on the mound, struck out the same number of batters. He also walked three and gave up four singles.

The Tar Heel Stars broke the ice in the second and added another score in the third. North State pushed over one in the bottom of the third but that was all they could get.

The Tar Heel team put a man on in the first by an error but failed to bring him around. Then in the second they inched into the lead. Steve McClanahan walked and went to second on an out. He took third on a wild pitch and Brewington slapped a single back through the box to drive him in. Brewington, rounding first saw the center fielder bobble the ball and he dug for second but was thrown out. Coffman and Micky Finn got hits but a strike-out snuffed out the rally.

The Tar Heels got the winner in the next inning. Singles by Reggie Spain and Brewington, along with a wild pitch, put men on first and third. The ball got by the center fielder on Brewington's hit allowing Spain come across. Brewington went to second on the play but a pair of swinging strike-outs ended the frame. North State made it hot for the Tar Heels in the bottom of the third as they got their first tally. MacDonald Avery made a good play on Danny Hester's hard hit ball to short for one out but Bill Collier followed with a base hit to left. The ball skittered out of the fielder's glove going all the way to the wall. Avery pulled up at second and went to third when Eric McCormick reached on an error. Greg Lee laced a hit into the hole at second to score Avery.

Coffman opened the fourth with a hit but did not score. The North State put two men on with none out in the bottom of the sixth and were threatening to go ahead. Aldridge singled and Jerome Ross walked. Coffman whiffed Danny Boyd for the first out but Bolonde got a hit. The North State base coach waved Aldridge on as he rounded third but he was cut down on a perfect throw by Richard Hunt from left. Chris Moye picked up Gary Chapman's slowroller and fired to first for the last out of the game.

Collier led the North State All-Stars with two hits. Spain and Coffman each had a pair for the winners.

Seymour Johnson will meet Roanoke Rapids, who drew a bye in the first round today at 3:00 and Greenville will play Robersonville at 5:00.

Rose Not Tired Of 'Big Red Machine'

By KEN RAPPOPORT

Associated Press Sports Writer
Tired of hearing about the Big Red Machine? Pete Rose isn't tired of talking about it.

"We've got the name," says the Cincinnati Reds outfielder. "We've got guys who can hit the ball out of the park. We hit and run, we steal ... we've got pitchers who can pitch and we've got a bullpen."

Because of all those things, the Reds also have the lead in the National League West. They fattened it to six games Wednesday after whipping the Chicago Cubs 6-1.

Despite all the recent success, though, Cincinnati isn't a replica of the well-known "Machine" that won the league pennant in 1970. That version ran on pure power while this year's model is built for speed.

In the other National League games, the Pittsburgh Pirates trounced the Atlanta Braves 8-

3; the St. Louis Cardinals stopped the Houston Astros 6-0; the Montreal Expos trimmed the San Francisco Giants 3-2; the Philadelphia Phillies took a 3-2 decision from the San Diego Padres in 11 innings and the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the New York Mets 5-0.

American League results: Boston 8, California 2; New York 13, Minnesota 3; Oakland 9, Milwaukee 6; Cleveland 6, Kansas City 1; Texas 3, Baltimore 2 and Chicago 3, Detroit 2.

Bobby Tolan, one of the heroes in Cincinnati's pennant-winning season two years ago, delivered a tie-breaking single with two out in the sixth to help Wednesday's triumph. Tony Perez, also a member of the 1970 blasters, drove in two runs with a single and double.

"We got it all," said Rose, with obvious visions of pennants dancing in his head.

The East's version of the "Machine"—the Pirates—meanwhile, continued to hit on all cylinders. Gene Alley, Willie Stargell and Richie Hebner each drove in two runs to lead their triumph over Atlanta and build their East lead to six games.

Somewhat overshadowed in the show of Pirate power was Hank Aaron's accomplishment. The Braves' fine outfielder smashed his 659th career home run to tie Babe Ruth's record of most homers with one organization.

Upon catching that portion of Ruth's monumental record with the New York Yankees, Aaron was asked if he considered himself lucky to be with the Braves all his major league life.

"No," he quipped. "I consider them lucky."

Rick Wise fired an eight-hitter and batterymate Ted Simmons unloaded a three-run homer, leading St. Louis past Houston.

Ken Singleton cracked a tie-breaking home run in the top of the ninth to power Montreal over San Francisco. Singleton's blast over the left field fence at Candlestick Park made a loser of reliever Randy Moffitt.

Philadelphia came up with a run in the 11th on Bill Robinson's double to defeat San Diego. Robinson, a seventh-inning replacement, drove home Denny Doyle from first base. Doyle was on with a single.

Claude Osteen outpitched Tom Seaver in Los Angeles' victory over New York. Osteen collected his third shutout of the year with a six-hitter as the Dodgers defeated the Met ace for only the fourth time in 17 career decisions.

his complete-game triumph.

Ron Blomberg and Roy White each hit two-run homers as the Yankees pounded Minnesota for 12 hits. New York erupted for seven runs in the fourth, including two driven in by Celino Sanchez' double. Five Twin pitchers were used while Mike Kekich, 9-8, was the Yankee winner with help from Fred Beene.

Dick Billings' single with two outs in the eighth provided the Rangers with the tying and winning runs against Baltimore. Oriole starter Mike Cuellar, 8-8, gave up two walks and committed a throwing error to load the bases for Billings' safety. Ted Ford's eighth homer gave Texas its first run.

Reggie Jackson stroked a bases-loaded, three-run double in Oakland's six-run seventh-innings. He finished the game with four RBI as Blue Moon Odom, 9-2, was the winner of his sixth straight. Milwaukee rallied for three runs in the ninth, including two on Mike Ferrero's homer. Ollie Brown also hit a two-run circuit for the Brewers.

Cleveland's Gaylord Perry won his 16th game to tie the Tigers' Mickey Lolich for high in the major leagues. Perry gave up seven singles.

Parkers Wins

Parkers pended the Jaycees last night 30-2 to move up in the City League Tournament. Hardee's had lost to Four Seasons earlier in the week 7-3.

Parkers jumped on the Jaycees in the first inning getting a pair and then pushed over ten in the second for the win. C. Meeks doubled and scored on a hit by K. Beamon. McLawhorn doubled in Beamon and a hit by R. Langley scored McLawhorn. Boswell tripled to drive in Langley and hits by T. Meeks, J. Carraway, W. Avery, and another one by C. Meeks scored the sixth, seventh, and eight runs. A homer by Beamon brought C. Meeks in.

Parkers added six in the third, three in the fourth, and ten in the fifth.

The Jaycees got their two runs in the fifth.

Judge Gets Urge Better Control In Child's Plea Viet Pacification Job

VISALIA, Calif. (AP) — A 10-year-old girl has pleaded in a letter to a judge that her parents be refused a divorce.

The child, who was not identified, wrote: "Honorable Sir, My mom and dad is getting a divorce...please don't let them get a divorce. My momma loves my dad; if you could put him in the hospital he could quit drinking...."

"Sir, you are a judge and this is your job, to divorce people."

"Only where do ones go that still love the husbands? And how do you divorce a 10-year-old? Can you cut out my heart and stop it from hurting?"

The girl pleaded, "Please, please, please help a 10-year-old keep a mom and dad. I know if mom tried you probably wouldn't listen...."

"God bless you and let God be on this day the judge beside you."

Superior Court Judge Jay Ballantyne said Wednesday he sent copies of the letter to the attorneys representing the girl's parents and replied to her, "I am well aware of the tragedy which is involved every time parents separate where small children are involved....I can assure you that if either of your parents petition the court for an attempted reconciliation I will do all I can to help resolve their differences."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional auditors have suggested that Congress find new ways to bankroll the multibillion dollar Vietnam pacification program in order to exercise stricter controls over the funds. The recommendation by the General Accounting Office, an arm of Congress, came after the agency reported finding loose controls and unreliable accounting in the controversial $3.2 billion program.

The GAO Wednesday estimated the United States contributed 74 per cent of the total costs of pacification during fiscal years 1968 through 1971 through the administrative program known as CORDS (Civil Operations for Rural Development Support).

With the phasing down of activities in Vietnam and "in view of the lack of financial and program accountability and information on the use of materials and funds in the CORDS program," GAO said, Congress "may wish to re-examine the need to continue funding assistance to Vietnam under the military assistance service funded (MASF) system."

"By appropriating these funds as military assistance under the Foreign Assistance Act, the Congress would have more meaningful program and cost data on aid to Vietnam and could exercise more control over the ... assistance."

GAO said it found neither CORDS nor the Pentagon had developed a reporting system providing reliable information for budgeting funds needed for the programs or for measuring the aid already provided.

Estimates given Congress in quarterly reports for 1971 on the total MASF program for Vietnam "were about $400 million less than actual costs," GAO said.

CORDS estimated the cost of deliveries "to regional and popular forces, a major element of the CORDS activity, totaled $1.8 billion" for 1967 through 1971, GAO said, but "GAO believes that the actual costs were approximately $900 million—a 50 per cent difference."

No effective controls were set over commodities provided to war victims, GAO added, and large amounts of food spoiled, unneeded items were purchased and items were diverted to ineligible persons.

Solicitor Says SBI Found No Violation By Ex-Commissioner

SYLVA, N. C. (AP) — Solicitor Marcellus Buchanan says the SBI has found "no evidence of any violation of any criminal laws" by former State Highway Commissioner E. J. Whitmire, who had been accused of conflict of interest by a newspaper.

The solicitor said Wednesday that on the basis of the report by the State Bureau of Investigation there is no reason to seek an indictment.

Whitmire, from Franklin, resigned in June following publication in February in the Raleigh News and Observer of a copyright story alleging conflict of interest in the sale of quarry rock.

SHC member Arthur Tripp of Greenville also resigned following publication of the story, which alleged conflict of interest on his part also. In a statement released Wednesday, Buchanan said: "In making my determination — always difficult in situations of this kind where much publicity has ensued not based on the facts contained in the report — I am of course mindful that I could please some people and some newspapers by seeking indictments not supported by evidence."

"I could by innuendo and publicity destroy a citizen, knowing full well when I did it that I could not support the charges with the evidence. I do not conceive this to be the function of my office (which is) making a completely objective determination from the facts available to me and protecting both the rights of the state and the rights of the individual."

Whitmire said in a telephone interview Wednesday night that he was "very happy" about the outcome of the investigation, although "my family and those who know me personally never had any doubt as to my honesty and integrity."

He said, however, that he is especially happy for Gov. Bob Scott, for the thousands of SHC employees and the other commissioners upon whom the stories also reflected.

Eli Bloom of Greenville, solicitor for the 3rd Judicial District, said this week that his investigation of former commissioner Tripp, alleged by the Raleigh newspaper to have sold fill dirt for use on a federal highway project, is still in progress.

Clinton F. Dodson of Cullowhee was named by Gov. Scott June 28 to fill Whitmire's seat on the commission. Henry C. Oglesby of Grifton was named to Tripp's position.

College Intern At Mars Hill

MARS HILL — Mrs. Beverly Vines, daughter of Max C. Stephenson of 118 N. Harding St., Greenville, is a Mars Hill College intern with the college's history department.

The department is conducting a research project in annotating a file of Madison County historical items.

Mrs. Vines is a junior history major.

A total of 62 students are involved in the annual summer internship program which begin in 1969. The interns had to write a learning contract specifying their learning objectives of jobs or experiences and the processes by which they were to accomplish their objectives.

Heavy Damage In Mishap Joey Heatherton Seeks Damages

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Entertainer Joey Heatherton is suing singer Paul Anka for $10.12 million.

The suit, filed Wednesday in Superior Court, contends Anka forced a Las Vegas hotel to break a contract with Miss Heatherton.

Miss Heatherton said Anka told the management of Caesars Palace he would not perform if she was on the bill with him, despite an earlier contract. The suit claims that the hotel then canceled its contract with Miss Heatherton but offered her a booking for next winter.

The suit asks $120,000 in actual damages and $10 million "for damages to the plaintiff's reputation and good will."

Few Streams In Bahama Islands Empty Laughter By Male Hyena

NASSAU-PARADISE ISLAND (UPI)—The Bahamas are surrounded by miles of Caribbean Sea, but the islands themselves are just about streamless. The only waterfall in the Bahamas is located next to the 102 foot high Queen's Staircase, in itself a popular attraction of Nassau-Paradise Island.

CHICAGO (UPI)—Male hyenas may not have much to laugh about.

When in groups, says Encyclopaedia Britannica, hyenas apparently are dominated by females, which is unusual for carnivores.

Two Cyclists

Die In Collision

WILKESBORO, N.C. (AP) — Two teen-agers were killed when two motorcycles collided Wednesday, on a rural road near Wilkesboro.

Bobby Greer, 17, of Rt. 1, Ferguson, was killed when his motorcycle collided with one driven by his sister, Linda, 16. Larry Dean Hodge, 14, of Ferguson, who was riding with Greer, died later at a hospital.

Miss Greer was hospitalized and her condition was reported as serious. A passenger on her motorcycle, Tracy Hoffman, was treated at a hospital for minor injuries and released.

nee George McGovern, moving to offset the impact of his rejection by top labor leaders, flew to Washington today to cast a pro-labor Senate vote and unveil former National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien as his chief bridge to party regulars.

Macaroni Ass'n Chooses Sophia

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — Actress Sophia Loren has been named "Macaroni Woman of the Year."

Robert M. Green, executive secretary of the National Macaroni Manufacturers Association, told the group's 66th annual convention Wednesday that the Italian actress is a dazzling representative of women who eat macaroni.

He took off from Rapid City Regional Airport after getting up 90 minutes earlier at his retreat near Custer for the one-hour drive here.

It was learned that O'Brien, whose departure from the party chairmanship last Friday occurred amidst some confusion over whether McGovern had really wanted him to stay, would appear with the Democratic nominee at a late-morning news conference to outline his plans to join the senator's campaign in a major strategy role.

Press secretary Richard Dougherty, declining comment on what role O'Brien would play in the McGovern campaign, would say only that the news conference was being scheduled to make "an important political announcement" relating to the campaign.

The major announced reason for McGovern's decision to interrupt his post-convention rest in South Dakota's Black Hills

1,400-Ton Roof Is Being Raised

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — The roof being raised for the $30.5 million Hartford Civic Center weighs 1,400 tons and is said by the builders to be the largest structure of its kind in the nation.

The builders say it surpasses in weight and span the cover over the U.S. Air Force Academy dining hall, known for its "great roof."

The civic center roof, as long as two football fields, is being raised slowly, over five days, to a height of eight stories where it will rest on four towers.

was so he could vote today on an amendment by Sen. Peter Dominick, R-Colo., to cut back on a proposed $2.20-minimum wage measure to the $2 voted by the House. The issue was expected to involve more than one vote and possibly last into the evening.

McGovern's initial reaction to the news that the AFL-CIO Executive Council had voted 27 to 3 against endorsing either major presidential candidate was to express disappointment along with confidence that "the overwhelming majority of the rank and file will endorse us."

Later in the day, while talking at lunch with a small group of reporters, he said the decision sets up a major test of the fall of the power of those he called "the union power-brokers."

He said the vote by the labor leaders is either "a calamity or it's a signal that a new day is here." He added that "we're going to test over the next few months whether the union power-brokers are alive or dead."

"I don't know the answer to that, but I must tell you I won the nomination over their active opposition," McGovern said.

Labor, as well as party leaders cool to McGovern, will be major targets of the operation O'Brien will head.

English Is Taught As Second Language

NUNAPITCHUK, Alaska (UPI)—In several tiny Alaska villages, native school children in the first two grades are learning their lessons in Eskimo while English is taught as a second language.

Music Camp Concert Set

The first public concert of the annual East Carolina University Summer Music Camp will be held at Wright Auditorium on Sunday at 3:00 p.m.

The concert will include performances by all three of the bands and the jazz ensemble which are part of the annual student camp for band musicians.

Individual bands will be conducted by Ray Haney of Elizabethtown; Edward Jones of Woodbridge, Virginia and Herbert Carter faculty member of the ECU School of Music.

The Jazz Ensemble will be under the direction of Thomas Smith of Concord. Smith was formerly a faculty member in the Music Department at J. H. Rose High School.

Sunday's concert will conclude the first week of the summer music camp. A final public concert is scheduled for Friday, July 28 at 2:00 p.m. in Wright Auditorium.

The public is invited to attend the concerts, which are free.

English teacher from Michigan, is the counterpart in the bilingual education program and believes the children learn more quickly by starting their lessons in Eskimo.

"They are doing much better as far as concept development is concerned," she said. "They are learning more than they possibly could in English alone."

The Eskimo-English program was introduced in seven village schools last year and it has won the praise of the Alaska Federation of Natives (AFN), Bureau of Indian Affairs and the state's school system for rural Alaska.

AFN officials would like to see the program extended to hundreds of other first and second grade children who are being taught only in the English language.

The AFN leaders believe the English-only classes retard the education process and contribute to the breakdown of the strong family life of Alaska's remote villages.

Donald R. Wright, AFN president, said more bilingual classes are needed along with the programs the state school system has initiated to help close the gap between cultures of the white middle class teacher and the native student.

In a tour earlier this year of three southwestern Alaska villages, Reps. Lloyd Meeds, D-Wash., and Victor Veysey, R-Calif., found that books used in the schools were inadequate.

"There is very little in those books that those children have any affinity with naturally," Meeds said. "These are stories of middle class white America — the kind you find in the suburbs of Seattle."

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You have fine creative ideas that you should make a note of so you do not forget them. Put the most creative to work at once. Try to come to a far better understanding with mate.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Cement better relations with partners by listening more attentively to what they say and getting facts really straight. Put that new idea to work in public life and get right results. Think. Grow.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Have a more enthusiastic approach to whatever work you have to do and get much accomplished. Find the right clothing that will make your appearance more attractive. Arrive on time for some important appointment.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) The evening is excellent for any pleasures you want to enjoy with congenials. Take mate along with you, and show that you are truly devoted. Do not forget to pay any important bills that you may owe.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Make those improvements at home that add to its charm and comfort, and increase harmony with those who dwell with you. Being hospitable to others is fine. Think along more constructive lines.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those delightful young people with a quick mind and much intelligence, who can reason profoundly and will get good ideas from the subconscious which are prophetic. Teach early to overcome that "know-it-all" attitude, or others could turn against this child and the fine success possible here would not then manifest. A good religious background early is very helpful. A certain amount of discipline given diplomatically and with wisdom is fine here.

Safety Tips For BarbecueLovers

BOSTON (ul)—The nonprofit National Fire Protection Association offers the following tips for barbecue-lovers:

- Never add any flammable liquid to a burning fire; use starter fuels sparingly and only before the fire is lighted. Never use gasoline, paint thinners, alcohol or similar liquids.
- Keep fire-starter cans away from the barbecue.
- Better still, use a solid starter, a cake-form chemical which reduces chances of a flareup.
- Keep youngsters at a safe distance from the barbecue.
- Watch lightweight clothing, such as frilly party dresses that little girls often wear.

MILKWEED... more common in Piedmont and mountainous North Carolina, is occasionally found flowering in eastern North Carolina. The one shown in the photograph above, was growing along a roadside in Pitt County near the Craven County line. The unopened buds of the umbellate cluster are wine colored, with the open flowers a light purple. While not as showy as their earlier blooming cousin, the variegated milkweed, it is still one of the loveliest of July's wild flowers. (Reflector Photo by Jerry Raynor)

The Worry Clinic Specific Scent May Stir Male

Girls, heed Halsey's questions! And experiment in line with the data offered by Dr. Freeman! Test various types of perfume on different suitors. For men not only may fall in love with a dimple but also with your subtle erotic perfume!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.

Case U-539: Halsey T., aged 28, is a biology teacher. "Dr. Crane," he began, "you've often mentioned the erotic value of perfume."

"Don't animals and insects grow stimulated by certain sex odors?"

psychological effect. "But do you suppose human beings might be trained to respond to organic chemical odors, much as animals do?"

Erotic Scents

Dr. S. K. Freeman gave a fascinating report on this topic to the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

He mentioned that insects and lower animals give off specific chemicals called pheromones, which act as sex signals.

And he states that these pheromones excite brain centers to stimulate hormones that arouse sexual desire in both females and males.

Even the female rhesus monkey produces a sex

And some scientists believe that puberty develops earlier in those teen-agers who are exposed to the opposite sex in social contacts.

For example, it was reported that women exposed to men more than 3 times per week had menstrual cycles of normal length.

But females in less frequent contact with males had longer cycles.

In France, there is a "boarding house syndrome" that may also suggest human pheromones.

For girls living in boarding houses where men were excluded, came into puberty later than girls in daily contact with males.

Could this theory possibly have a bearing on our girls' colleges here in America?

For graduates of such schools were more likely to go unmarried and become spinsters. Or, if they did finally wed, they had fewer children and were regarded as more likely to have platonic marriages.

Dr. Freeman suggests that exposure to pheromones of the opposite sex may be essential for normal biological sexual development.

And the musk odor which is involved in many commercial perfumes is chemically similar to the sex odors given off by insects and lower animals!

Dr. Freeman adds that women in their "pregnancy week" (the middle of their menstrual month) were found to be most sensitive to musk types of perfume.

But purely psychological brainwashing in childhood may also cause sexual excitement in connection with specific scents.

Many girls, whose fathers used a certain type of aftershave lotion, may thus subconsciously link their affection for their dad with this specific scent!

Thus, they may fall in love at first sight with the first young man they meet who may use the same lotion.

Men, too, often grow enamored of women who are grossly unsuited to them, yet these men exclaim that they are madly infatuated by such girls. Yet deeper analysis shows their subconscious love for their mother has merely transferred to the coed who happens to employ their mother's type of perfume.

Until recently, the sense of smell was the "blind spot" in our experimental psychology laboratories.

Nowadays, it is coming into its own.

Girls, pick perfume that appeals to men; not to your own preferences!

Looking For Service Role

Sigma Tau Sigma, a fraternity desiring to serve its university and community, is looking for service projects for the coming year.

In the past, the fraternity has served the community by sponsoring events for the Greenville Boys Club and collecting at Heart Fund and Cancer Drives.

Also, the brothers and pledges have served at functions of East Carolina University by being ushers, guides and information booth workers.

Now, according to service officer Don Trausneck, the fraternity hopes to add new dimensions to its service by spreading out throughout the community.

Any citizen, representative of a civic organization or independent, with ideas for a service the fraternity can perform, may contact Trausneck (PO Box 1887, Wilson N.C. 27893) or telephone the Sigma Tau Sigma house (758-5103).

The bidding:
South West North East
1NT Pass 3♣ Pass
3NT Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Six of ♠
Faulty timing by South, the declarer at three no trump, deprived him of the opportunity to execute the winning line of play and he suffered an unnecessary setback on the deal.

West opened the six of hearts, East covered dummy's ten with the king, and South won the trick with the ace. Declarer surveyed his combined assets and it appeared that he would experience little difficulty in taking nine tricks—six clubs, two diamonds, and one heart if the distribution responded according to expectation.

The queen of clubs was cashed at trick two and another club led to North's king. When West showed out, it came as a rude jolt to the declarer. He tried to get back to his hand in spades to try the diamond finesse, but East rose promptly with the ace of spades and returned the eight of hearts. South covered with the jack, which lost to West's queen. The latter's nine picked up the remaining cards in that suit and he proceeded to cash three more heart tricks to set his opponent down by two.

Instead of committing himself specifically to the club suit declarer was in position to retain the opportunity to test diamonds as well, if the clubs did not respond favorably. All that was required was a slight variation in timing. It is suggested that he lead a club to North's king first and then return to the queen in his hand. If the clubs are divided three-two, he can cross back to the king of diamonds in dummy to run the clubs.

When West shows out on the second club, South must give up on that suit because it is too dangerous to let East in to come thru declarer's heart holding. Instead, South shifts to a small diamond at trick four and when West follows with the deuce the jack is finessed. When this play succeeds, the king is cashed next, followed by the ace of clubs, and the closed hand reentered with the ace of diamonds—dropping West's queen. Two more diamond tricks swell declarer's trick total to nine—five diamonds, three clubs, and the ace of hearts.

By playing clubs first, South deprived himself of the opportunity to run the entire diamond suit. When he is in the dummy at trick three, if he returns to his hand with the ace of diamonds to try the finesse of the jack, North's king will drop the queen on the third round, but now South lacks a quick entry to his hand to cash out his long diamonds and he is unable to prevent East from getting in to make the fatal heart return.

74,000 Animals Were Airborne

WASHINGTON (UPI)—More than 74,000 animals were shipped by air in 1971, according to the Air Transport Association. They were handled by Animalport, which is owned and operated by the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. About 40 per cent of the animals were personal pets, the rest were flown to breeders or zoos.

A person standing 800 feet above sea level can see about 38 miles.

Extra Income For Railroad

TOKYO (UPI)—Passengers left 1.1 billion yen (about $3.6 million) on Japanese trains during 1971, an increase of 16 per cent over money lost in 1970. The Japan National Railways said 100 million yen (about $300,000) remained unclaimed after six months. It was listed by the government-operated railways as miscellaneous income.

More than 45 per cent of Kentucky is forested.

Flying Safaris

GENEVA (UPI)—The World Wildlife Fund reports that 29 airlines now have supported its appeal to stop the promotion of "flying safaris" to hunt animals threatened with extinction.

The latest airline to accept the appeal is Qantas, the Australian carrier, the fund said. Qantas also agreed to a fund request to change the caption on a photograph of a tiger in one of its brochures and which said the tiger "is the greatest trophy of big game hunters."

Religious Discord Threatens Golda Meir's Govm't

Marine Commandant Says Dams No Target

CHERRY POINT — Bombing of North Vietnam, military construction in North Carolina, and drug problems in the service were discussed by General Robert Cushman, Jr. Commandant of the Marine Corps during a meeting with the press yesterday.

The Commandant made remarks at the conclusion of a two-day tour of eastern North Carolina's Marine Air Station, his first visit to the state since his appointment to the position in January.

Cushman reiterated the Defense Department statement that no North Vietnamese dikes or dams have been scheduled on any Marine aerial bombing mission. However, he did state that enemy military targets being bombed had been effectively impaired. He further added that the North Vietnamese often erect their missile sites on or near the dams.

When queried concerning state military construction, he said the service is taking a wait and see attitude on whether Congress passes the proposed military budget. The request for the construction was announced to the public by Rep. Nick Calibanakis.

Drug abuse in the service was discussed at length by General Cushman, who said present Navy policies permit Marines to be free of punishment in the volunteer for drug program to help them break the habit.

The Commandant pointed out that Marines addicted to drugs and requesting help are sent to Navy rehabilitation centers on the East and West Coast, and that the program is helping half the leathernecks who turn themselves in.

"Some Marines don't want to be helped. Others try to use the program in order to get out of the service. But the program is working."

General Cushman, when asked about Marine enlistment, stated that the Corps recruited 100 per cent of the persons needed to maintain the current level of 200,000 which was established during the past fiscal year.

The four-star General departed following the meeting to continue his tour of the east coast Marine stations, which include the Marine Corps Air Station at New River, and the Marine Corps Air Station at Beaufort, S.C.

Associated Press Writer
JERUSALEM (AP) — Religious discord in Israel is shaking Golda Meir's coalition government of Socialists, Liberals and rabbis and prompting talk of an early national election.

While war with the Arabs has served to cement the coalition, religion — the basis for Israel's creation — now threatens to topple the leadership.

The problem is not new. In 24 years, the Socialists have always held the upper hand but have failed to win an outright parliamentary majority. Traditionally, the only suitable partners for a coalition have been members of the National Religious Party, dedicated to rooting the Jewish state in the Bible.

Socialism and the Bible don't always jibe, but the system has somehow worked, although its critics say democracy suffers.

Many nonreligious Jews — by far the majority in Israel — object to religious restrictions: no buses or movies on the Sabbath, no marriage except by a rabbi, segregated swimming on some beaches and other strictures.

Now two heated religious issues have combined to push the government into one of the worst crises it has known. The Independent Liberals, minor partners in the coalition, have proposed a bill to allow civil marriages for Jews barred by religious law from being wed by the rabbinate.

The bill defies a coalition agreement to leave the thorny marriage question alone, so the Liberals face possible expulsion from the government.

But there is widespread support for civil marriage. It could solve the plight of some 40,000 Israelis who want to marry non-Jews, or who have already done so — thus rendering their children non-Jewish — or who can't have a rabbinical wedding for other reasons.

An important segment of Mrs. Meir's Socialist Labor party wants to vote for the Liberal bill. Such defiance of Mrs. Meir's policy would make a mockery of the coalition platform worked out after the last election in 1969.

Coupled with civil marriage, which has not yet faced a vote, has come an attempt by the extremist religious faction Agudat Yisrael to tighten the "who-is-a-Jew" laws of the Bible. This bill threatened to plant obstacles in the path of much-needed immigrants from America and Russia, many of whom are wedded to non-Jews or were not married by rabbis.

The bill was voted down 57-

19, but not before it almost brought down the coalition. The National Religious party, after a stormy caucus, overrode demands by young radical members to vote in favor of the bill against Mrs. Meir's orders. The party abstained in the vote, fearing expulsion from the Cabinet.

Political observers now wonder whether the 74-year-old premier can paper over the cracks and retain public confidence in the coalition until the next election in November 1973.

Many think not. Hence the growing support for an election this year, which could give the government a chance to bargain for a more liberal fusion of church and state.

The Laborites also have in mind Mrs. Meir's pledge not to seek office again in 1973. Party bosses would much prefer to go before the voters now, with Mrs. Meir as the candidate, than face elections next year with a new nominee.

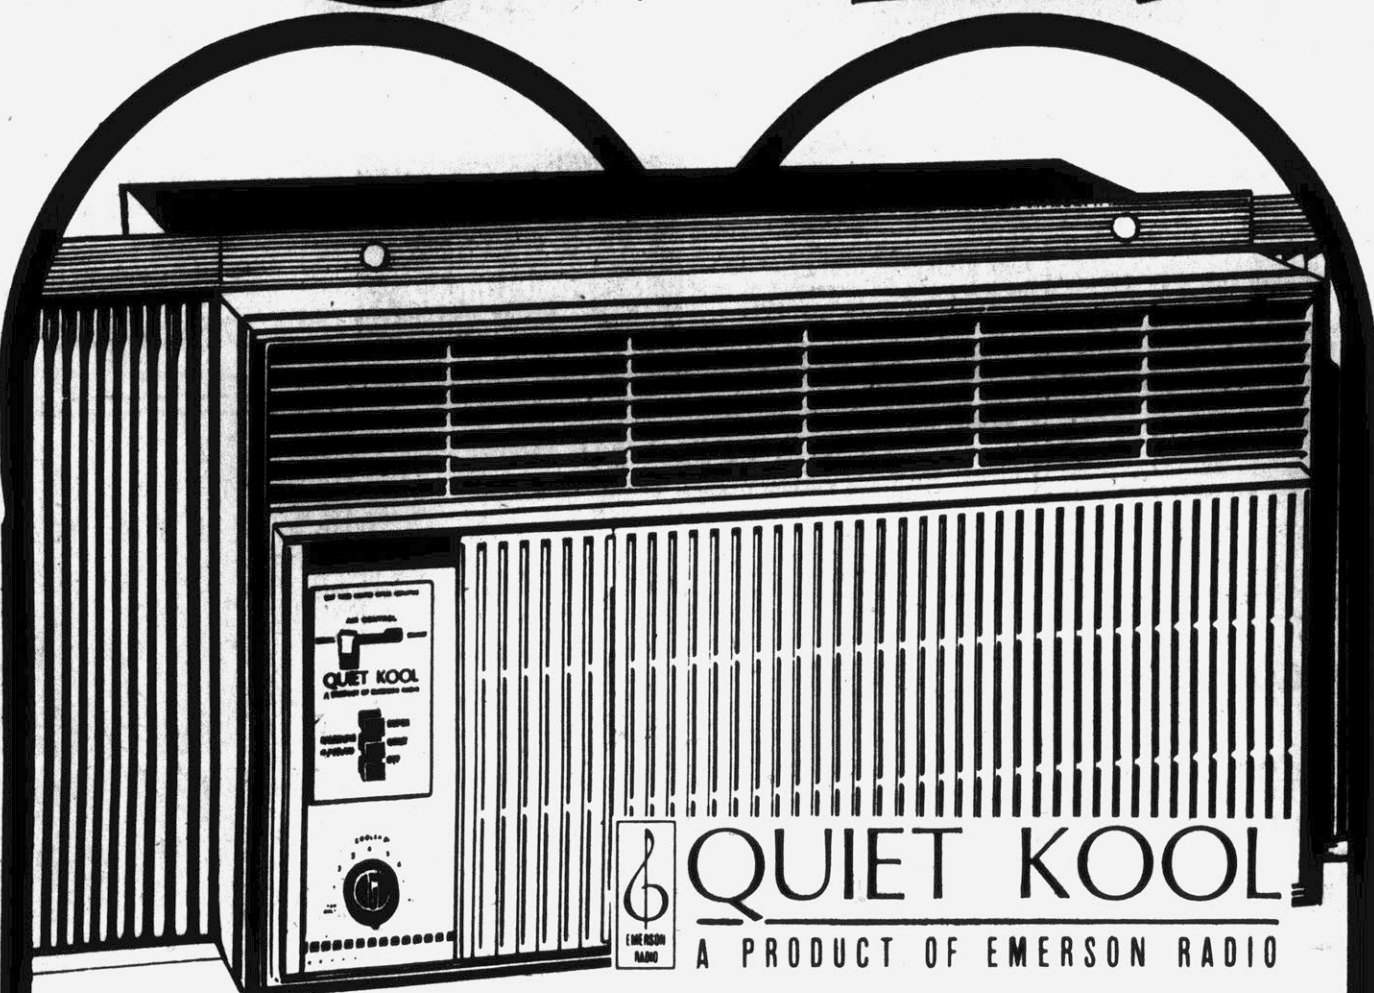

The most likely candidate to succeed Mrs. Meir is Pinhas Sapir, finance minister and one of the most powerful men in the party. Moshe Dayan's chances seem slim. Labor party leaders have never forgiven the defense minister for splitting Socialist ranks in 1965.
