Early Shots By Eagleton And Agnew

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic and Republican vice presidential candidates are getting in some target practice in advance of the official beginning of the election campaign.

And the new chairman of the Democratic party says the party's financial position is much improved for the 1972 campaign, although they still haven't figured out how to pay all of the multi-million dollar debt left from the 1968 campaign.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, who was named Saturday by President Nixon as his running mate for November, criticized Democratic positions on amnesty, the draft and marijuana in a speech at Anchorage, Alaska Sunday.

He said voters will have a "clear voice" between candidates for the first time, adding, "It would be a tragedy if, after four years, the voters did not return Richard Nixon for another four years."

The Democratic vice presidential candidate, Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, went after Agnew in an appearance on ABC television's "Issues and Answers" program, saying the Vice President "gets right down into the grassroots of a campaign, sometimes into the mud."

He said he would welcome a debate with Agnew.

Eagleton also indicated he has so far been rebuffed in attempts to meet with AFL-CIO President George Meany to try to win him to the Democratic side. But he held out the possibility that Meany still would take "a second look."

Jean Westwood, new chairman of the Democratic National Committee, told newsmen in Custer, S.D. that the 19-hour Democratic telethon earlier this month netted only about $1.5 million instead of the $5 million that had been forecast.

But she said the party is trying to pay off or settle as much of its $9.3 million debt as possible.

Of the total debt, $6.3 million is from the 1968 campaign. But Mrs. Westwood said the party is in much better shape now and the entire cost of the 1972 convention has been paid, along with all operating costs so far.

In other Sunday political developments:

—Sen. McGovern repeated on CBS' "Face the Nation" program an earlier declaration that, if elected, he would maintain U.S. military forces in Thailand and Southeast Asian waters until American prisoners of war are returned from North Vietnam. He also said he would take advantage of the Nixon administration's invitation for a Vietnam briefing.

—Former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally, a Democrat, said on NBC's "Meet the Press" that his support for Nixon does not extend to Republican candidates for Congress and state offices. He said McGovern represents "an ideological splinter group," and "I don't think he represents the Democratic party as I know it."

Sofa-Bed Folds Up . Traps Him

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP) — When firemen arrived at Thomas Burdela's home, they found him trapped in his sofa.

It was a sofa-bed, actually, the kind that folds out into a bed and folds back up into a sofa. He was lying on it as a bed when it suddenly folded up into a sofa, Burdela explained to the firemen Sunday, only his head showing.

A friend who was with Burdela was unable to free him and called the firemen. Burdela, 18, wasn't hurt.

Area Fires Attributed To Lightning During Sunday Thunderstorm

Greenville firefighters were kept busy in the wake of a severe thunderstorm that hit the local area last night.

Fire officers reported responding to four calls between 7:34 p.m. and 9 o'clock.

First of the calls was to a home at 1614 Greenville Blvd. Firemen said lightning apparently struck a tree in the back yard of the residence, followed a clothes line to the house and knocked a brick from the dwelling before going into a storage room and knocking the door to the electrical panel box open.

At 7:40 p.m. fire units were called to 112 Osceola Dr. where a new, unoccupied home was struck by lightning.

Moderate fire and water damage was reported there when a fire erupted in the attic of the dwelling.

At 7:45 p.m. firemen were called to 219 Belvedere Dr. when lightning struck a tree.

A packhouse containing several thousand sticks of tobacco was destroyed by a fire reported at 9 p.m.

Fire officers, who listed the cause of the blaze was "undetermined" said the wooden building was located off Hooker Road.

Owners of the tobacco in the building said lightning might have caused the fire.

In addition to three Greenville fire units, two Winterville Fire Department trucks also responded to the call.

According to the Greenville Utilities Commission's weather station, 1.48 inches of rain fell during the 24-hour period from 8 a.m. Sunday until 8 a.m. today — most of it within a relatively short period of time during the storm.

Electrical power was also interrupted in several sections of the county due to the electrical storm which was credited with starting the several fires in Greenville.

Damaged In Storm

According to Malcolm Greene, assistant director of the Greenville Utilities Commission, last evening's electrical storm caused major damage to power lines along N.C. 43 and N.C. 11.

Greene commented that there were many cases of blinking lights, but a transmission line north of Winterville took a direct hit from a lightning bolt and knocked out power in the Ayden, Winterville, and ECU area.

The area along 43, stated Greene, lost power for twenty minutes, but the Ayden-Winterville lost usage of electricity for nearly two hours.

Power was also lost in the Clayroot section near the Craven County line.

Other scattered calls were received, and power was lost in the Tar River area for a length of time.

Saturday's high temperature was 95 degrees with an overnight low of 74. Sunday's high reading was 96, while the overnight low was 71.

The Tar River was slowly rising with a height of 1.5 feet.

Wild Weekend

DETROIT (AP) — Police said today 41 persons were arrested over the weekend in connection with incidents of looting, window-smashing and sporadic violence which erupted in the city's downtown area.

Police said seven adults were arrested and four juveniles taken into custody early today in the third straight night of disturbances.

Twin Advances By South Viets

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese troops made major advances on two fronts today, fighting their way to the walls of Quang Tri Citadel in the northern counteroffensive and recapturing a second district town on the central coast.

In the air war, American jets bombed the southern sector of Hanoi on Sunday for the second successive day, setting a battery plant on fire and triggering a dozen explosions, the U.S. Command reported.

Associated Press correspondent Dennis Neel reported from Quang Tri that government paratroopers pushed through a hail of North Vietnamese artillery on the approaches to the Citadel, then encountered withering fire through two breaches in the 40-foot walls of the 19th century fortress.

"The North Vietnamese are funneling their firepower into the gaps in the walls, and it's murder in there," one officer said.

Officers said the South Vietnamese were taking substantial casualties but refused to say how many.

Neel said the paratroops launched their assault at dawn from a string of bunkers within 50 yards of the Citadel walls, moving behind a heavy artillery and aerial bombardment. The two breaches in the walls had been made two weeks ago by U.S. jets with laser-guided 2,000-pound bombs.

Meanwhile, in Binh Dinh Province, on the central coast, more than 1,000 South Vietnamese rangers moving on foot and by helicopter recaptured the district town of Tam Quan, Associated Press photographer Neal Ulevich reported. He said the North Vietnamese put up only light resistance.

Government forces were not so successful in the Que Son Valley, 25 miles south of Da Nang, where the North Vietnamese reportedly launched a series of heavy assaults.

Field informants said an outpost called Lion was overrun and two of the government defenders were killed, 17 were wounded and 61 were missing.

NEW PIPELINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon sources report that fresh supplies of motor fuel apparently have started flowing into North Vietnam through a new pipeline from South China.

Northeast's Fumes Fade

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Winds drove a stubborn mass of hot, stagnant air from the Northeast today, blowing away weekend automobile exhaust and industrial pollution that irritated coastal cities last week.

Washington was the only metropolitan area on the Atlantic Coast still on pollution alert but environmental engineers said it might be cancelled this afternoon if the winds keep up.

Authorities extended the week-old alert after measuring exhaust fumes of autos returning from Maryland and Virginia beaches. Commuters were urged to leave their cars home today if possible.

Wind gusts stirred the air over New York City on Sunday and lowered the smog reading to a level deemed "good" by the city Air Resources Department. The department forecast "acceptable" air quality today.

Winds were 15 miles per hour in other parts of the Northeast as the week-old stagnant air mass, weakening somewhat, blew south and west.

However, a high-pressure hot air dome, holding a two-mile layer of haze to the ground, continued to hang over the Carolinas, and officials in the two states doubted the system would break today.

In Ohio, near the western edge of the dissipating air mass, the state Department of Health lifted a pollution alert that had threatened to close 125 industrial plants with incinerators.

Stagnant Air Perfectly Safe

North Carolina air quality officials say that the dirty air you're breathing is not yet dangerous. But the U.S. Weather Service says it's not going to get any better for the moment, either.

The stagnant high pressure system which has brought the uncomfortable air to the state and kept it there will not break up today, the weather service says. Temperatures will again be in the 90s and humidity will be uncomfortably high.

Nor will there be any winds to blow pollutants away.

W. E. Knight, chief of the Air Quality Division of the Office of Water and Air Resources, said readings taken across the state indicated the air is still "perfectly safe to breathe."

Knight said the highest reading of nitrogen dioxide was taken at Wilmington, where beach traffic clogged the roads. It was 64, and the state recognizes 282 as the level at which action to cut pollution must begin.

In Raleigh, the U. S. Weather Service Sunday night was predicting that the stagnation would linger through today. A spokesman said there was some hope that increased wind flow might partially ease the situation beginning in the eastern part of the state Monday evening.

Across the state, air conditioners were added to food, shelter and clothing as one of the necessities of life Sunday. In Charlotte, local hospitals said the weather had not had an appreciable effect on health problems, except that "people are more irritable."

Sales To Begin On Border Belt

RALEIGH (AP) — Tobacco auctions open Tuesday on the 19-market South Carolina-Border North Carolina Belt amid predictions of record first-day prices averaging $77-$78 per hundred pounds.

For the first time, the belt's warehouses will begin sales on the same day that auctions start in Georgia and Florida.

The early start is expected to relieve Georgia-Florida markets of some of the congestion caused previously by leaf being shipped southward before sales opened in North Carolina and South Carolina.

Sales will start Aug. 8 on the big North Carolina Eastern Belt. Limited auctions are scheduled Aug. 22 on the North Carolina Middle Belt and the North Carolina-Virginia Old Belt, with full sales starting Sept. 11.

John H. Cyrus, coordinator of crop services for the North Carolina Department of Agriculture, predicted first-day sales of 5.1 million pounds on the 11

South Carolina Border Belt markets Tuesday. He said eight North Carolina Markets would sell about 4.2 million pounds.

Border Belt sales averaged $74.36 on opening day last year as 12.7 million pounds went under the auctioneer's chant. Cyrus said good quality leaf was expected to boost the average this year.

He said bottom leaves on tobacco grown in the Border Belt area "are definitely going to be on the medium to thick thin bodied side. That's the kind of tobacco the companies desire."

About two-thirds of the crop is still in the field.

South Carolina markets on the Border Belt are at Conway, Darlington, Dillon, Hemingway, Kingstree, Lake City, Lamar, Loris, Mullins, Pemplico and Timmonsville.

North Carolina markets are Chadbourne, Clarkton, Fair Bluff, Fairmont, Fayetteville, Lumberton, Tabor City and Whiteville.

Rescue Work Delayed

BLACKSVILLE, W. Va. (AP) — Rescue workers encountered problems today which delayed drilling of a five-inch hole into a burning coal mine where nine men have been trapped since Saturday night.

Meanwhile, hope faded that the miners would be found alive.

A pre-dawn equipment breakdown caused one delay in the drilling. Then, later in the morning, the bit became stuck and the drilling again came to a halt.

When the bit stuck, the shaft had been drilled to a depth of 624 feet, and a hole 730 feet deep was needed to intercept the mine at the point where the men were believed to have been trapped.

There has been no word from the mine since shortly after the fire started. Officials of the Consolidation Coal Co.'s Blacksville No. 1 mine said Sunday night chances the men would be found alive were "quite dim."

Officials said 31 of the 40 men doing maintenance work in the four-mile mine reached safety within minutes after the fire broke out.

The bore hole was being drilled in an attempt to reach the men or possibly communicate with them. Failing that, officials hoped to learn something about conditions in the mine 650 feet below the rolling hills of this West Virginia-Pennsylvania border community.

An official of the U.S. Bureau of Mines said temperatures in the immediate area of the fire probably were between 2,500 and 3,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

Rescue efforts have been hampered by the fire which continues to burn in the soft coal veins that underlie the area.

Astronaut Avers Space Agency 'Had No Choice'

DALLAS (AP) — Air Force Col. James Irwin says space agency officials had no choice but to reprimand him and two other astronauts for taking unauthorized stamped souvenir envelopes to the moon.

"We did this as three men who thought we were doing the best thing for our families, but we were wrong," Irwin told the Dallas bureau of the Baptist Press News Service in a telephone interview Sunday. He is a Southern Baptist.

The other Apollo 15 astronauts involved were Al Worden and David Scott. All three decided last fall not to accept their share of a reported $150,000 from sales of the envelopes in West Germany.

The incident was reported about 10 days ago. But Irwin said the decision to refuse the money came about eight months ago. He is the first of the three to comment publicly on the incident.

The money would have gone to the three astronauts' eight children through a trust fund arrangement.

The three astronauts carried 400 souvenir stamped envelopes, known to stamp collectors as postal covers, with them on their moon mission a year ago. They also took along 232 envelopes approved by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration as personal mementos.

The astronauts had arranged before the flight to give 100 of the postal covers to a friend in Germany for sale after completion of the Apollo program. But a West German stamp collector sold them prematurely for $1,500 each.

"We did not intend to make a secret of the additional postal covers," Irwin said.

"I feel certain NASA would have approved us taking them as personal mementos if they had been listed properly," Irwin added. "But, as it turned out, NASA had no choice but to reprimand us. We should not have allowed them to be used for commercial purposes."

Visit By Jim Hunt

Jim Hunt, candidate for Lieutenant Governor, will be in Pitt County on Thursday as part of his 100 county "thank-you" tour of the state.

Hunt, a Wilson attorney and economist, will be at the Holiday Inn in Greenville from 4:00 to 5:30 for a reception.

Larry Graham, one of Hunt's supporters in Pitt County, said the main purpose of the visit was to let the candidate meet and thank the voters here.

Hunt's schedule calls for him to visit every county in the state during July and early August.

All residents of the county are welcome to come by and meet Hunt, Graham said. He added that he especially hoped that the supporters of all other candidates in the May primary would take this opportunity to attend.

Couple Weds Sunday Afternoon

In a candlelight ceremony on Sunday at 3:00 p.m., Miss Teresa Marina Harrell became the bride of James Edward Simpkins in the Mount Pleasant Christian Church. Ronnie Woolard of Elizabeth City, youth minister of the church, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. James M. Harrell and Mr. and Mrs. N.E. Simpkins, all of Greenville.

A program of wedding music was presented by Miss Teresa Thomas, pianist, of Greenville. Mrs. Trish Woolard of Elizabeth City, soloist, sang, "A Time for Us," "When Adam was Created," and the "Wedding Prayer."

The wedding scene was centered with a fifteen branch semi-circle candelabra holding white cathedral candles with white stephanotis and bridal greenery attached. On either side was a nine branch standing tree candelabra with arrangements of white summer flowers. The wedding scene was completed with a brass profile prie-dieu where the couple knelt for prayer.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal length gown of chantilly lace, made and designed by her mother. The gown was fashioned with an empire waist, short puffed sleeves, and a high Victorian neckline. Embroidered daisies of pastel colors were dispersed over the bodice of the gown. The gown swept into a chapel train.

The bride's veil of illusion was held in place with a Juliet cap of white seeded pearls. She carried a bouquet of multicolored Marguerite daisies centered with a purple hybrid orchid.

Mrs. Deborah Harris of Greenville was matron of honor. She wore a formal length gown fashioned after the bride's.

Embroidered daisies of pastel colors were dispersed over a background of white organza. The empire waist was accented with a pink velvet ribbon. The headpiece was of matching velvet ribbon attached to a veil of pink illusion. She carried a colonial nosegay of white daisies with matching ribbon streamers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Tyresia Pollard, Miss Linda Cannon, Mrs. Kay Barnes, Mrs. Dolores Barnhill and Mrs. Judy Carter, all of Greenville. Their dresses were identical to the honor attendant with the exception of the backgrounds. Their dresses featured backgrounds of yellow, pink, blue, green and lavender, respectively. The bridesmaids carried colonial nosegays of mixed daisies with matching ribbons.

Miss Dianne Chambers, cousin of the bridegroom, of Independence, Ky., was junior bridesmaid and Miss Sheri Stokes of Greenville was flower girl. Their dresses were identical to that of the honor attendant. Miss Chambers carried a miniature colonial nosegay like those of the bridesmaids while Miss Stokes carried a basket of daisies.

Mr. Simpkins served his son as best man. Ushers and groomsmen were Ray Harrell, brother of the bride, John Simpkins and Bruce Simpkins, brothers of the bridegroom, Howard Stocks, all of Greenville, Richard Haddock, Levy Gladson, and Ed Graham, all of Raleigh.

Maurice Harrell, brother of the bride, was junior usher. Ring bearers were Kevin Harrell, brother of the bride, and Rex Simpkins, nephew of the bridegroom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Harrell chose a powder blue sleeveless knit dress featuring an empire waist and mandrian collar. She wore a matching coat of lace polyester. The coat featured an empire waist and long sleeves. Mrs. Harrell wore matching accessories and a white carnation corsage.

For the wedding, Mrs. Simpkins chose an aqua blue knit dress featuring short sleeves and a natural waistline. Tiny daisies of white, blue and green accented the sleeves and belt. Mrs. Simpkins wore white accessories and a white carnation corsage.

Mrs. J.J. Briley, maternal grandmother of the bride, and Mrs. Sarah Harrell, paternal great-grandmother of the bride were remembered with white carnation corsages.

The wedding was directed by Mrs. Faye Stocks. Miss Nancy Spain presided at the register. For a wedding trip, the bride changed into a beige print knit dress and wore the orchid lifted from her bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Belvoir-Falkland High School and East Carolina University with a B.S. degree in health and physical education. The bridegroom is also a graduate of Belvoir-Falkland High School and Pitt Technical Institute. He is presently employed by Paul B. Williams, Inc. Raleigh.

After a wedding trip to the mountains of North Carolina, the couple will reside in Raleigh.

Reception

After the wedding, a reception was given in the church community building by Mrs. Fay Cobb, Mrs. Thelma Clark, Mrs. Pearly Buck, and Mrs. Dolores Pollard, aunts of the bride.

To the right of the entrance was a table with a portrait of the bride along with an invitation featuring tiny flowers which was hand-painted and given to the couple by Mrs. O.J. Stancill. The bride's candle was also placed on the table.

After the couple cut the first traditional slice of the cake, which was made by the bride, Mrs. Clark served cake and Mrs. Cobb poured punch.

The table was centered with an arrangement of spring flowers. A color scheme of pastel colors was carried out throughout the room. The children in the wedding party gave each guest a packet of rice from a rice tree as they said their good-byes.

Those assisting with the reception were Mrs. Betty Lou Edwards, Mrs. Kay Cobb, and Miss Judy Clark.

Following the rehearsal on Saturday night, Mr. and Mrs. J.M. Harrell, parents of the bride, entertained the wedding party and guests in the church community building. A color scheme of pastel colors was carried out. The bride and bridegroom remembered their attendants with gifts.

Good-byes were said by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lanier.

MRS. JAMES EDWARD SIMPKINS

Wife Nominated To Take Charge Of FBI

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I trust that President Nixon reads your column. Just in case he does, and hasn't appointed a replacement for J. Edgar Hoover, I would like to recommend my wife. She has had 46 years experience, and I can guarantee you that if she is appointed head of the FBI, within 90 days she will have rounded up all of the ten most wanted criminals.

UNDER SURVEILLANCE FOR 46 YEARS IN BATON ROUGE, LA.

DEAR UNDER: The acting director of the FBI has been appointed. He is L. Patrick Gray. Prudent man, Mr. Nixon, he chose neither Black nor White.

DEAR ABBY: My parents read your column faithfully, so I hope you will publish this. It's an open letter to Parents of a Single Woman:

Dear Mom and Dad: I'm 26 and single. I live my life day to day, trying to find purpose, peace of mind, a way to conquer loneliness. I'm frightened of being alone, never marrying or having a child, or being labeled a spinster. I'm filled with guilt for disappointing you, not giving you grandchildren, not giving you a chance to say, "My daughter is getting married."

But it takes strength to make it today, and to feel that I am a worthy person... single, but worthy. I'm reasonably happy. Dating sometimes, hurting at other times. I start to think that I am somebody even if I'm not married.

Then comes a phone call from Mother or Dad, and for "my own good" I am reminded that I am single, getting older, wasting time, not looking hard enough for a husband. And there goes my self-esteem. The guilt returns and suddenly I am more alone than before. Can't I be your daughter, married or not? I'll never shame you. I want to marry someday, but only if I find someone who loves me as I love him, and not because you want grandchildren to talk about when your friends talk about theirs.

Instead, say, "Come for dinner tomorrow night and we'll enjoy your company." If you can't do this for me I will have to widen the gap to protect my own peace of mind, and that would cause me great pain and loneliness, because I love you.

YOUR SINGLE DAUGHTER

DEAR ABBY: What do you do about a boss who pockets the waitresses' tips from signed tabs off dining room and banquets?

Abby, the boss is the owner, and this is a high-class supper club. To confront him would mean our jobs, and other than this problem, it's a good place to work.

Maybe if he sees this in the paper, he'll know we are wise to him. Sign us... "CHEATED IN MISSOULA"

DEAR CHEATED: Here's your letter. And I hope this is the last "tip" your boss takes.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HEARS TOO MUCH IN BIRMINGHAM": If you honestly want to discourage gossips from telling you things you'd rather not know, cut them off abruptly with, "That's really none of my business"—then quickly change the subject. It works every time.

Gutsy Actress Does A One-Woman Show

By PEACE MOFFAT
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Vinie Burrows is a gutsy actress who has the nerve to think she can stand on a stage for an hour and a half and entertain an audience all by herself.

But the amazing thing is—she can—and won't great acclaim from New York critics for her one-woman show, "Walk Together Children," which she calls a "journey into the black experience."

In her apartment here that looks almost like a country home—with plants hanging from the ceiling, tomatoes ripening on the terrace, warm, wood-grained furniture and stacks and stacks of books, Miss Burrows settled her tiny frame into a rocking chair and discussed her work.

With her hair wrapped in a turban, and wearing a blue shirt and slacks, she looked more like a housewife—which she is, with a husband of 19 years and two children—than an actress, director, producer and businesswoman, which she also is and has to be to keep her show going.

"I was born and grew up in New York City," she begins. "I remember when I was about 6—I must have been something I said, but a lady said to my mother, 'Oh, she's going to be an actress.' After that I was so inspired I went to Central Park and practiced speaking with pebbles in my mouth."

school with a beautician's license, however, because her mother felt an actress's career wasn't entirely respectable. Miss Burrows also learned as a teen-ager about the special problems black actresses have to face.

"When I was in high school, I read about a woman who tutored actresses," she relates. "I wrote for an appointment, and went to her Park Avenue apartment. A butler opened the door, and ushered me upstairs. The woman was floored that I was a black. She said, 'I've never taught one before,' and refused to teach me. I said, 'Well, I won't cry in front of you,' walked down the stairs and the butler let me out."

Miss Burrows didn't give up, although she was later told she would end up playing only the roles of maids. She majored in pre-law at New York University, but later became associated with the American Negro Theater, made her Broadway debut with Helen Hayes in "The Wisteria Trees" and appeared in six other Broadway shows and several off-Broadway.

The actress's career as a monologist began in 1963. "I had done the shows, but I still wasn't getting any real satisfaction," she says. "So I thought I could assemble a one-woman show. It took a lot of courage and work. The first one was a series of vignettes from theatrical literature. I made no money but it was received well. Then I did a show called "Shout Freedom," about all kinds of personal freedom, and "Dark Fire," about the folklore of Africa.

Her present program, which has closed in New York, but will be taken to other cities, began when Miss Burrows was asked to perform for a church here. "I'd thought of doing a peace show," she says, "but they told me they'd had a lot of those, and suggested I do something about the black experience. So I did, and it was a great success. I worked on it for a year—expanded it—and the show really opened in 1968." Since then it has appeared across the country, and off-Broadway.

"Walk Together Children" is a mix of prose, poetry and song, using the actual words of ex-slaves, historical figures and the writings of modern black authors. "The program keeps changing to reflect how I think and feel," its creator says.

One thing Miss Burrows feels is a strong reaction to the question of her "black militancy."

"That's a press word—it's like waving a red flag in front of a bull," she exclaims. "Did you call Patrick Henry a militant?"

I am certainly more conscious now of the fact that everything we do has political overtones. We have to realize how inter-related all aspects of our lives are. There are bigger problems than that I'm black and you're white, but if we can't solve those human relations problems, how can we begin to cope with the larger ones, like taking care of our world?"

Use a swivel-blade vegetable peeler to cut carrots, lengthwise, so slices are very thin. Roll up the slices, secure with picks and chill in ice water until carrots are crisp and hold their shape. Drain and use as a garnish for a tossed green salad.

The entrance to the Greenville Golf and County Club was decorated with political posters, made by the debutantes, urging the approximately 300 delegates to vote for them at the political affair.

Music for the gala event was provided by The Band of Oz from Greenville.

The base of the bandstand was enclosed in a red, white and blue banner to the floor and above, a red, white and blue festoon hung from the ceiling.

The buffet table was decorated with a swag of matching material. The centerpiece was a three-foot long raised platform with American flags in the center and red, white and blue carnations banked on either side. Tiny flags were also used to decorate several of the hors d'oeuvre trays.

Huge handmade flowers in red, white and blue containers decorated the auxiliary tables inside the ballroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt A. Minges of Kinston, Mrs. Martha Minges Bass of Farmville, Mr. and Mrs. Max E. Minges, and Dr. and Mrs. Ray D. Minges of Greenville honored their niece, Miss Jackie Minges, at a pre-dance dinner party Saturday night at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Minges on Longmeadow Road.

A non-partisan political theme was emphasized in decorating the pool area, the site of the party, with political posters of state and national candidates.

The pool, dotted with floating plastic pillows, was not exempt from political urgings. Personal choice of campaign buttons, bumper stickers and "vote" decals were used for favors.

After cocktails, the 95 guests were served a formal seated dinner of lobster and filet-mignon.

Black wrought-iron candelabra lanterns, decorated with small American flags and red candles, centered the white clothed tables. Even the red napkins sported political decals to help carry out the Political Convention theme.

Miss Minges received a gift of gold and cultured pearl drop-earrings from her aunts and uncles as a remembrance of her debutante summer.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Minges.

Early Sunday morning, Mr.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market, cheered by continued reports of a brightening in the economy, mounted a sharp advance today in moderate trading.

Among issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange, advances ran ahead of declines by near 4 to 1. The advances ran throughout the list.

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Two robbers found more resistance than they bargained for when they attempted to hold up an elderly Charlotte shopkeeper Saturday.

James Gibson, 76, owner of the Goody Sweet Shop on W. Trade Street., was alone in his store when two boys, who are still being sought, walked into the store and pulled a knife. Gibson pulled a gun.

Police said a struggle ensued and Gibson was stabbed. People in the neighborhood told police they heard two shots.

Gibson apparently lost the gun in the struggle and one of the boys turned it on him, wounding him in the left arm.

An attendant at a nearby station heard the shots and saw the two youths running out. Gibson was found on the floor with a knife stuck about four inches into his left shoulder.

Donny Samuels, the attendant, said Gibson was trying to lock the door to his store.

Samuels said, "then he asked me to take the knife out of his back." He did so and waited with Gibson until an ambulance came.

Beginning with the fall quarter of the 1972-73 school year at East Carolina University, seniors in Greenville and Pitt County high schools will be permitted to take courses for credit during the academic year September through May.

In order to be eligible, interested students must meet certain requirements. There are also a number of circumstances which each student should be aware of before making a decision to consider enrolling for one of the courses.

Under requirements for enrollment, the principal ones for eligibility of rising seniors are:

—A Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) of 1,000 or higher achieved during the junior high school year.

—Grades earned through the junior year of high school must place the student in the top quarter of his class at the end of the junior year.

—Each student must have the recommendation of the counselor and the secondary school teacher of the subject the student plans to take at the college level, as well as approval by the principal.

—Eligibility to take courses in college level math or foreign language will be determined by the above requirements plus the pretest required of all freshmen enrolling at ECU. (Students may elect a language, e.g. Russian, not offered in high school).

—Students must complete the ECU applications blank before being permitted to enroll. No application fee will be charged for this program, but the student will pay the regular tuition fee for the course.

Special circumstances prospective students should be aware of include:

—If a student enrolls for a course and receives a failing grade, the student will be ineligible for further participation in the program.

—A failing grade in a course will also jeopardize a student's admission to any college.

—Courses successfully completed through this program will be awarded appropriate college level credit as stated in the current ECU catalog.

—No high school credit will be awarded, nor can the credit be used as a substitute for any high school graduation requirements.

The courses will have classes which will meet at 1:00 p.m. or after. Students must make arrangements with their high schools for arranging attendance in with their high school classes to avoid conflict. Students will not be permitted to enroll in any class unless there is sufficient space to accommodate regular college students as well as high school seniors wishing to enroll.

Yancey Wins In Sudden Death

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Golf Writer AKRON, Ohio (AP) — "I guess maybe missing those two cuts in a row was a blessing in disguise," Bert Yancey said.

The former West Point cadet had just outlasted surprising Tom Olozas in a sudden-death playoff for the title and the $30,000 first prize Sunday in the American Golf Classic.

He was discussing a recent slump which hit rock bottom when he falied to qualify for the final two rounds in recent tournaments at Chicago and Cleveland.

"It jolted me," said Yancey, for years one of the steadiest players on the tour. "I said to myself, 'Hey, you better start getting some blisters on your hands, start working some.'"

So he went on a regimen of practice, work, practice, work. It paid off in the innervating muggy heat that settled over the 7,180-yard Firestone Country Club course like a hot, wet blanket.

He blew a three-stroke lead on the final day with a two-over-par 72 and found himself tied at the end of the regulation 72 holes with Olozas, a 29-year-old tour sophomore. Each had a four-under-par total of 276, Olozas after a final round of 68.

On the first playoff hole, a 230-yard par three, both reached the green. Yancey lagged up two feet short. Olozas, putting from about 30 feet, boldly ran his first putt three feet past, then missed it coming back.

The 33-year-old Yancey tapped his in and the slump was over.

"I never wanted to win a tournament more than I did this one," said Yancey, who had scored the last of his previous six victories some 18 months ago in the 1970 Bing Crosby.

Hale Irwin took third place with a 68-277, Canadian George Knudson was next at 70-278 and Jim Wiechers was the only other man under par after four rounds at 66-279.

Rookie Chuck Thorpe, who once threatened for the lead until he made double bogey seven on the 625-yard 18th hole, slipped back to 69-280. Arnold Palmer struggled in with a 74-282 and wasn't a factor in the final round.

British Open champion Lee Trevino, Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player, Billy Casper, Tony Jacklin and Doug Sanders did not compete.

Semi-Pros Split Doubleheader

Greenville's Semi-Pros split a double header with Farmville yesterday. After being edged out 8-7 in the opener the locals came back to take the afterpiece 8-0.

Greenville took the lead in the first game in the second inning. Farmville tied it up in the third as they pushed over their first run of the game. Greenville moved ahead again in the bottom of the third with a lone tally.

Greenville built up their lead in the fifth by coming up with four runs making it 6-2. Farmville cut it to 7-6 in the seventh as they struck for five runs. They took the win in the eighth as T. Tripp walked and J. Dickinson singled. A single by Al Piland drove in Tripp and a double by B. Wooten scored Wells.

Greenville got one in the bottom of the frame as R. Phillips doubled and scored on Ken Beaman's hit. Greenville had less trouble in the second game getting all they needed in the first as Grant Jarman crashed a home run. Greenville got two in the second and added a third in the third on another homer by Jarman. Four more came over in the sixth on five hits, one a double by Al Gurganus.

Charles Vincent had four hits during the afternoon for Greenville while B. Wooten had five for Farmville.

'Namath Follies' Rehearse Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The latest edition of The Joe Namath Follies at Training Camp gets its first rehearsal today.

The controversial star quarterback for the New York Jets of the National Football League reported to the Jets camp in Hempstead, N.Y. Sunday. He said he "felt good" and wanted to "get everything under way."

Namath is scheduled to test his much-operated on knees in a workout today and hold a press conference.

His appearance brought a new spirit to the Jets camp.

"When Joe's around there's an added incentive," said tight end Rich Caster. "Spectators at our practices will triple and the guys will start working harder."

Elsewhere, the Baltimore Colts traded wide receiver Eldridge Dickey to the Kansas City Chiefs for an undisclosed draft choice and the Dallas Cowboys dealt linebacker Tom Stincic to the New Orleans Saints for a high draft choice next year.

Disputes over some players contracts still existed as the official opening of the pre-season exhibition season approached. That will pit the Super Bowl championship Cowboys against the College All-Stars in Chicago Friday night.

The Colts reported they were "as far apart as you can be from lineman Bubba Smith who wants to renegotiate his contract" which has a year to run.

Allison Wins Dixie 500 In Junior Johnson Chevy

By ED SHEARER

Associated Press Sports Writer HAMPTON, Ga. (AP) — Bob Allison got a break from a late shower at Atlanta International Raceway Sunday and took advantage of a rare mistake by the Wood Brothers pit crew to coast to a 12-second victory in the Dixie 500 stock car race.

"I guess we got lucky," said the Hueytown, Ala., veteran who recorded his third victory in the past three weeks. "When we were trailing a half lap, we had to hope for a little help somewhere. We got it when it started to rain and when the Wood Brothers car made that late pit stop."

The shower brought out the yellow caution flag with 150 miles remaining. Allison quickly went to the pits in the Junior Johnson Chevrolet and Richard Petty was right behind him in a Dodge.

However, the Wood brothers elected to leave David Pearson on the track in the powerful Mercury that had won four of six races since April and rated a solid favorite to win this 500-mile event.

"It was a gamble that backfired," said Glen Wood. "We gambled on the weather. Suppose the rain had come and stopped the race. Then we'd have won."

"Petty and Allison had nothing to lose by coming in when they did," Wood said. "We did because we were leading the race and could have lost it coming in and then having them stop it."

By the time the Wood brothers decided the rain wouldn't wash out the event and signaled for Pearson to pit, track officials were signifying that only one lap remained under caution. As Pearson moved down pit row, the green flag fell and Allison and Petty opened a huge lead over the Spartanburg, S.C. driver.

Petty, the million dollar winner from Randleman, N.C., spurred past Allison with 142 miles to go, but Allison regained the lead down the back stretch of the following lap and led the rest of the way.

Allison opened a five-second lead over Petty during the next 70 miles and had a 12-second advantage at the checkered flag.

Pearson, meanwhile, began falling even further off the pace when his Mercury began failing from what later was announced as a broken valve spring. He eventually finished third, three laps behind Allison.

Benny Parsons of Ellerbe, N.C., was fourth in a Mercury and LeeRoy Yarbrough, the veteran from White Rock, S.C., was fifth in a Ford.

Allison earned $16,000 for the victory and lifted his 1972 earnings to $149,000, best on the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing (NASCAR) circuit this year.

The race, run in intense 90-degree heat until the cloud cover cooled the area, was never more than a four-man affair, although nine different drivers held the lead.

Besides Allison, Petty and Pearson, the only other serious threat came from Bobby Isaac of Catawba, N.C., who was running second in his Dodge when he was forced from the race at the 222-mile mark with a broken valve spring.

One Killed, Four Injured In Wreck

WAYNESVILLE — Stan Sloan, 17, of Franklin died in an Asheville hospital Sunday morning as a result of injuries received in a traffic accident early Thursday morning.

Sloan was a member of the Smoky Mountain Senior Babe Ruth baseball team which finished second to the Clark Griffith team in the Senior Babe Ruth Tournament in Greenville last week.

According to Patrolman Fred Davis, a car driven by Coburn William Dehart of Hazelwood ran into the rear of a tractor-trailer owned by Central Motor Lines of Raleigh. He also stated that visibility was poor at the time due to fog.

Others injured in the wreck included Gerry Cagle, 18, of Hayesville, and John Larry Turner, 18, of Blairsville, Ga. Cagle is listed in critical condition, and Turner is listed in poor condition. Jackie Lunsford, 17, also of Hayesville, and Dehart were released over the weekend.

All the boys, with the exception of Turner, played for the Smoky Mountain team.

Torre, Aaron Want To Change All-Star Jinx

By KEN RAPPOPORT

Associated Press Sports Writer ATLANTA (AP) — Joe Torre and Hank Aaron try Tuesday night to atone for poor past performances in the annual mid-summer baseball classic between the American and National leagues.

"I've been a lousy All-Star," said Torre on the eve of the game's 43rd renewal at Atlanta Stadium, a home run hitter's paradise dubbed the "Launching Pad."

Aaron, who has launched many of his career homers here with the Braves, also continues in a perplexing All-Star slump which he can't explain.

"I don't know what it is in All-Star games ... I just haven't done much in them," said Aaron, a National League slugger for 19 years who has a unimposing .186 batting average in this star-studded affair.

Torre, the third baseman picked by the fans, and Aaron, one of the outfielders, are among the National League swingers who hope to pad the senior circuit's advantage in the series that began in 1933. The NL leads 23-18 with one tie.

The other National League starters include catcher Johnny Bench and second baseman Joe Morgan of the Cincinnati Reds, and outfielders Roberto Clemente and Willie Stargell of the Pittsburgh Pirates. Lee May of Houston will be at first base and Don Kessinger of the Chicago Cubs is the shortstop.

This year's American League team shows no power shortage, either, with a group of fence-breakers who can easily reach those tempting dimensions here—330 feet down the foul lines and 400 feet to straight-away center field. Included among the AL musclemen is Reggie Jackson, the Oakland A's outfielder who started the AL to victory in last year's game at Detroit with a mammoth homer.

First baseman Dick Allen of the Chicago White Sox, second baseman Rod Carew of the Minnesota Twins, Oakland shortstop Bert Campaneris, third baseman Brooks Robinson of Baltimore, Detroit catcher Bill Freehan, New York Yankee center fielder Bobby Murcer and Boston Red Sox left fielder Carl Yastrzemski fill out the Americans' power-laced lineup.

American League Manager Earl Weaver and National League Manager Danny Murtaugh name their starting pitchers along with their batting orders today.

A capacity crowd of 52,744 is expected while millions more watch on NBC television beginning at 8:15 p.m. EDT.

Clemente May Be Best Player For One Day

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Roberto Clemente, according to Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson, "might be the best player in baseball for one day. When he has to perform—like in the World Series when he wanted to prove he was the best—you see what he does."

Sunday was one of those days for Pittsburgh's brilliant right fielder, his first lame in two weeks since being knocked out of action by an intestinal virus. Clemente knocked in the game-tying run with an eighth-inning single—his second run batted in of the battle between the National League's division leaders—and moments later scored the winner on Willie Stargell's double as the Pirates slipped past the Reds 3-2.

Elsewhere, in the National League, Philadelphia downed Los Angeles 2-0, San Francisco defeated the New York Mets 5-2, Houston beat the Chicago Cubs 6-5, Atlanta edged St. Louis 3-2, and in a double-header, Montreal swept San Diego 2-1 and 9-1.

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox took two from Cleveland, 2-1 and 4-3, Minnesota did the same to Milwaukee, winning 3-0 and 6-5, Baltimore belted Kansas City 8-4, California whipped the New York Yankees 6-3, Oakland beat Boston 6-3 and Texas topped Detroit 3-1.

The victory by the Bucs—and Cincinnati's setback, of course—gave each team a 55-33 record for a winning percentage of .625, the best in the majors.

A year ago at the All-Star break, Pittsburgh owned a nine-game lead in the East Division while the Reds were stumbling along in fifth place in the West. Now the Pirates' lead is 5½ games and Cincinnati's is six.

But for Clemente, who won the Babe Ruth Award as the outstanding player in the 1971 World Series, the '72 series wasn't foremost in his mind after Sunday's game. The All-Star Game was. He's scheduled to be a starting outfielder but isn't sure if he'll play.

"I don't know," the 38-year-old star said. "It's day-to-day—but if I go to the All-Star Game, I'm going to play. I won't make the trip for nothing."

Clemente, who dropped nine pounds below playing weight during his bout with the virus, added: "Right now I don't feel tired. But I have to wait until tomorrow to see for sure. I haven't played in a long time."

Steve Carlton raised his record to 14-6 with his ninth straight victory and fourth shutout of the season, a five-hitter. The Phillies' ace left-hander also raised his strikeout total to 201, best in the majors, by fanning six Dodgers.

And as if that wasn't enough,

Carlton drove in the only runs of the game with a two-run, two-out triple in the seventh inning.

Tom Seaver was sailing along with a 2-0 lead and a one-hitter until the Giants jumped on him with two away in the fifth inning on Ken Henderson's solo homer, singles by Chris Arnold and Pitcher Ron Bryant and Bobby Bonds' three-run clout.

And that was more than enough for Bryant, who won his sixth straight game with a four-hitter. But he also helped the Mets a bit, committing three errors, one short of the modern major league record for errors in a game by a pitcher.

"I was trying extra hard 'cause I was going against Seaver," the San Francisco hurler said.

Jim Wynn wrecked a bit of Chicago strategy with a game-winning hit for the Astros.

third. The Cubs' hurler then walked Roger Metzger and Cesar Cedeno intentionally to load the bases, but Wynn followed by slashing a single off shortstop Don Kessinger's glove.

Hank Aaron drove in all three Braves runs two of them with a first-inning single and the winning one with a tie-breaking single in the eighth to drop the Cardinals.

Montreal's Mike Torrez tossed a four-hitter, then rookie Balor Moore went him one better with a three-hitter in the nightcap against the Padres. Torrez struck out six batters while Moore fanned 13.

Killebrew Wants To Attack Old Records

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
Harmon Killebrew won't be going to Atlanta for Tuesday night's All-Star Game but the next stops on his home run itinerary are Jimmie Foxx and Mickey Mantle.

Homerin' Harmon brought back memories of the American League's 1971 All-Star triumph Sunday—he hit a key two-run homer in the AL's 6-4 victory—by blasting a home run in each game as the Minnesota Twins swept a doubleheader from Milwaukee 3-0 and 6-5.

That gave him 15 for the season and 530 for a career that finds him sixth on the all-time homer list, four behind Foxx and six in back of Mantle.

"I don't think much about that," he told newsmen, "just when you fellows ask me about it, really. We're struggling over here trying to win and if I can hit one now and then to win a game, that's what important."

Elsewhere, Texas cooled off Detroit 3-1, Baltimore trimmed Kansas City 8-4, Oakland downed Boston 6-3, the Chicago White Sox took two from Cleveland 2-1 and 4-3 and California beat the New York Yankees 6-3.

In the National League, Pittsburgh edged Cincinnati 3-2, San Francisco dropped the New York Mets 5-2, Houston nipped the Chicago Cubs 6-5, Atlanta shaded St. Louis 3-2, Philadelphia blanked Los Angeles 2-0 and Montreal swept a pair from San Diego 2-1 and 9-1.

Killebrew, who will be missing the All-Star Game for the first time since 1962, has a .308 batting average and three home runs in 11 such contests.

His sixth-inning solo homer in Sunday's opening game broke up a scoreless duel between Minnesota's Jim Perry, who needed ninth-inning relief from Jim Strickland, and his solo shot in the fifth inning of the nightcap became important when Milwaukee's George Scott walloped a three-run homer in the ninth to trim the margin to one run.

The hard-hitting first baseman doesn't often play both ends of a twin bill but asked to do so Sunday. Manager Frank Quilici was happy to oblige.

Texas stopped Detroit's three-game winning streak and trimmed the Tigers' lead over Baltimore in the AL East to one game by scoring three times in the first inning and protecting the lead behind the four-hit pitching of Rich Hand and

Bobick Has Been Called All Kinds Of Names

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Somebody asked Duane Bobick if he minded being called "The Great White Hope" of heavyweight boxing. He smiled, yanked off a blood-stained jersey, and replied, "It doesn't bother me, I've been called all kinds of names."

Whether Bobick will be a box-office pleasing challenger to the rule of professional heavyweight Joe Frazier and challengers Muhammad Ali and George Foreman, all black, remains academic.

But one thing became certain during the finals of the U.S. Olympic Boxing Trials in Fort Worth Saturday night: he's Uncle Sam's prime hope to capture a gold medal in the Summer Olympics in Munich.

Bobick, a Navy quartermaster third class, knocked out all three of his opponents in the trials but his climactic bout was far from a piece of cake.

Airman 1.c. Nick Wells, a southpaw, landed several shots on Bobick's chin that would have sent a lesser man to the canvas. His nose bloodied, Bobick of Bowling, Minn., shook off the blows and battered Wells with a fistful barrage which opened a nasty slice over Wells' right eye at the end of the second round.

The fight was stopped.

Like Foreman, Ali and Frazier, Bobick wants that Olympic gold medal so it will up his bargaining price on a professional career.

The 11 division winners from Fort Worth must all meet a selected challenger in a boxoff Aug. 5 at West Point, N.Y. If the Fort Worth winner again triumphs, he is the United States nominee for the Olympic Games. Should the challenger win, a third and deciding bout will be held.

Besides Bobick, the other most impressive fighters in the boxing trials were flyweight Tim Dement, a deadly jab artist from Bossier City, La.; and lightweight James "Bubba"

Buscene of Beaumont, Tex., who has a 114-10 record and appears in the best form of his career.

The Worry Clinic Rich Rewards In Happy Mind

Rev. Nance urges us to fill our minds with happy thoughts. So make yourself memorize at least 25 of the cultural gems of the ages. They will serve as superb "openers" for speeches and school themes, but will also be a "soul tonic" in your old age!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.
Case S-584: W. A. Nance is the popular Chaplain for Holiday Inns, Inc.

Rev. Nance is a close friend of Wallace E. Johnson, head of Holiday Inns.

"How do you dare start on a long trip," asks Wallace Johnson, "without a good road map?"

"So you must have a goal in mind to become successful."

Then Mr. Johnson adds this splendid bit of advice:

"If you have happy thoughts superb gems that everybody might well memorize.

And you good mothers should thus encourage your kiddies to learn by heart some of the great truths of the ages.

"Ulcers," says Rev. Nance,

"are caused not so much by what you eat as by what's eating you!"

Another of his quotations is this:

"It takes a child 2 years to learn to talk, and a man 50 years to learn to keep his mouth shut."

Here's another that illustrates the advice by St. James of the Bible, when he warned us: "Faith without works is dead."

Sympathy, when expressed in words, soothes the troubled heart; but sympathy, when expressed in action, takes the trouble away from the heart."

In my college textbook, "Psychology Applied," I thus have appended some 200 brief quotations that enrich the soul and also serve as splendid "openers" or final "clinchers" for public speeches and essays.

When my 3 sons were all in Military Service, I urged them to salvage some of their idle time by memorizing at least 25 to 50 of these choice gems from the wisdom of the past.

But it adds more credibility if you can also name the source of your quotation.

Instead of saying, "Somebody once said..." be sure you actually cite the name of the "Somebody," as:

John Erskine once stated, "Music is the only language in which you cannot say a mean or sarcastic thing."

Lincoln urged: "When you see a wrong, hit it!"

"A man without a purpose," advised Carlyle, "is like a ship without a rudder."

Epictetus: "Choose the best life, for habit will make it pleasant."

Wendell Phillips: "How proudly we proud men compete for nameless graves, while now and then some starveling of Fate forgets himself into immortality."

"Endowed cats," warns Prof. L. B. Arey, "will catch no rats!"

Michelangelo: "Trifles make perfection but perfection is no trifle."

"An acquaintance that begins with a compliment," wrote Oscar Wilde, "is sure to develop into a real friendship."

J. H. Thompson? "Don't brag; it isn't the whistle that pulls the train."

"Flowers," commented H. W. Beecher, "are the sweetest things that God ever made and forgot to put a soul into."

Parents and teachers, urge your kiddies to go to the library and memorize 25 to 50 of such quotations!

They will enrich the soul in old age and be valuable aids in public speaking or writing!

Send for my 200-point "Test for Parents," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Four More Arrests In High Point Probe

HIGH POINT, N. C. (AP) — The continuing investigation into charges of police crime in High Point has yielded four more arrests.

Four former High Point patrolmen were arrested Saturday, and new charges of larceny and dereliction of duty were added to the ones made against them in May. All four were released on $200 bond.

A. L. Pilkenton was charged with the theft of $100 in furniture from a store and $352 in tires from a service station.

James M. Kelly was charged with a residential burglary which netted $305. J. M. Howard was charged with burglaries netting $350 from a doctor's office and $352 from a book store.

George Burton was charged with willfully failing to discharge his duties when he was on the force; that accusation has been made against policemen who allegedly knew of the crimes of their fellow officers and failed to take action.

In the original investigation in May, Pilkenton was charged with breaking and entering at a miniature golf course. Kelly, Howard and Burton were charged with theft from a coin laundry.

In the May investigation, 12 officers were accused. Six, including the four arrested Saturday, were accused of actual crimes. Six others were charged with failing to act on knowledge of those crimes. Three of the latter six have since been reinstated.

Pilkenton, Kelly, Howard and Burton, along with another officer who was charged in May, are due to appear in court in High Point Tuesday.

BRIDGE QUIZ ANSWERS
Q. 1 — Opponents vulnerable. As South you hold:
♠A74 ♠K105432 ♠AJ105
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Dble. Pass 1 ♠ ?

Q. 5—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠109 ♠63 ♠KQ7 ♠AQ1043
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♣ Pass
2 ♣ ? Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Three clubs. While the normal procedure is to rebid a six card suit before showing a four carder, exceptional treatment is recommended in the present instance for if the bidding reaches some higher number of spades when it gets back to you, you may, rightly or wrongly, show the clubs. By showing both suits now you will place partner in a better position to take appropriate action should a competitive bidding sequence develop.

What do you bid now?
A.—Four spades. This is admittedly an underbid but it would not be good tactics for you to take any action that would carry the bidding past the three no trump level since you have indicated that he has at least six and very probably seven spades. He will thus be able to stand repeated diamond forces much better in his longest suit.

Q. 2—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠863 ♠J104 ♠63 ♠KQ952
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♠ Dble. Pass 2 ♣ Pass 2 NT Pass ?

Q. 6—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠10 ♠63 ♠K1086 ♠AKQ43
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ 1 ♠ 1 ♠ Pass
2 ♣ 2 ♣ 3 ♠ Pass
3 NT Pass 4 ♣ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Four spades. This may seem like a strange preference with but one spade; however, partner's jump rebid in spades before even bidding two hearts indicates that he has at least six and very probably seven spades. He will thus be able to stand repeated diamond forces much better in his longest suit.

Q. 7—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠K ♠AKQJ98 ♠Q943 ♠A2
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♣ Pass
3 ♠ Pass 3 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Five hearts. Prospects for slam are excellent if partner has any sort of diamond control. The sudden leap beyond game, when all other suits have been mentioned, clearly asks him if he can take care of the diamond situation.

Q. 8—Both sides vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠863 ♠KQ ♠A72 ♠AKQ65
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ 3 ♣ Pass 3 NT ?

What do you bid?
A.—Two hearts. While you have the values for a redouble, such action is not recommended due to the void in partner's suit. However, a mere bid of one heart might be treated by partner as an effort to show some mediocre hand containing a reasonable heart suit. A jump bid is, therefore recommended which in our system is considered to be a one round force.

What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. You have the opponents in a contract that is virtually beaten off the top so why push them into one that might be a laydown? East's vulnerable three no trump bid makes it pretty certain that your partner has a totally worthless holding for you.

Top $2 Million In Flood Relief During Telethon

BALTIMORE (AP) — Pat Nixon, Bob Hope and a stageful of celebrities raised more than $2 million in pledges and donations to the Red Cross for flood relief operations, telethon coordinators say.

The 6½-hour benefit ended Sunday morning and was broadcast live to television stations in 19 cities affected last month by Tropical Storm Agnes. WBAL broadcast the event from Baltimore's Morris A. Mechanic Theater.

The money will be used to help replace the $20 million the Red Cross says it has spent on flood relief along the East Coast and in Rapid City, S.D.

Hope, one of the hosts, called Vice President Spiro Agnew on the telephone during the show and couldn't resist a reference to President Nixon's announcement that Agnew would remain his running mate in November. "I heard they've picked up your option," Hope quipped.

By LEROY JAMES

There is a new soybean insect on the move in North Carolina! A potential new soybean pest the cerambycid beetle or soybean stem borer was first found in North Carolina on a farm near Pantego in Beaufort County in December of 1968. Before this time the insect had been found in soybean fields in Missouri.

During the past three years the pest has been found on other farms in Beaufort, Washington, Tyrrell, Hyde, and Bladen counties. Major areas of infestation so far have been on organic soils.

The general life cycle is as follows: the adult insect apparently moves throughout soybean fields in late July and early August laying eggs on the plants. Larvae emerge from these eggs and soon penetrate the stems of the soybean plants and then work their way down into the base of the plants. Insects remain in the soybean stems below the soil surface where they overwinter. Adults emerge from the old stems the following spring and the process is repeated.

Control with regular soybean insecticides such as Sevin has been very limited so far. This is because the insects are located inside the soybean stems during the principle feeding period.

Systemic control measures have been partially effective when the systemic insecticide was applied during July. A systemic material such as DiSyston is taken up by the soybean plant similar to the way fertilizer nutrients move into the plant.

Dr. W.V. Campbell, research entomologist at N.C. State University, began a series of treatments last year as a means of controlling this insect. He plans to continue treatments involving the systemic insecticides described above and regular insecticides which would be applied to the foliage in a conventional manner during July and August. Campbell is also looking at cultural practices such as deep plowing as a means of controlling this new and potentially dangerous insect.

Regional Meet Scheduled Today

HENDERSONVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Gov. Bob Scott and the Council on State Goals planned to meet today in Hendersonville in the first of three regional sessions this week to discuss major policy issues and exchange ideas.

The governor and the council will be at Mooresville Tuesday and in Williamston Wednesday. Two meetings for other sections of North Carolina will be held next week.

Flood Insurance Rates Are Lowered By HUD

MOREHEAD CITY, N.C. (AP) — A top North Carolina official says he hopes improved rates for national flood insurance "will motivate the public to pressure local officials to enter their area for qualification under the program."

Charles W. Bradshaw Jr., secretary of natural and economic resources, said Saturday the program provides subsidized insurance protection to

Mission Making Illegal Appeals

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina Commissioner of Social Services Clifton Craig says that Salesian Mission of New York is making illegal solicitations in the Tar Heel state.

Craig said the mission, which claims to support 150 orphanages and trade schools in 52 countries, has been sending sweepstake tickets through the mails for chances on automobiles.

He said the organization has never received a license to solicit in North Carolina.

"We do not question the worthiness of the cause for which Salesian Mission is soliciting contributions," Craig added. "Our only concern is the failure of this organization to comply with North Carolina law."

residents and small businesses in areas certified by the Department of Housing and Urban Development as flood prone.

Bradshaw told a news conference HUD reduced policy rates for the program almost 40 per cent this month. A resident can now receive $10,000 of protection for $25 per year, he said.

Only 20 areas in North Carolina have applied for the program and been approved by HUD, Bradshaw said in a prepared statement.

He noted that only 1,100 North Carolinians have become policy holders since the program began in 1969.

"Many people believe they are covered for flood water damage under their homeowners policies," Bradshaw said. "They're not. No such homeowners coverage exists except in California."

He said the North Carolina areas eligible for emergency flood insurance include Forsyth County, Winston-Salem, Ocean Isle, Sunset Beach, Carteret County unincorporated areas, Beaufort, Nags Head, Kill Devil Hills, Manteo, Beaufort County unincorporated areas, New Hanover County unincorporated areas and Atlantic Beach.

Bradshaw said those areas must adopt flood plains plans and controls within a year of initial protection or the residents will no longer be qualified for insurance coverage.

The areas eligible for permanent flood insurance are Greensboro, Wrightsville Beach, Franklin, Long Beach, Holden Beach, Dare County (South Shores only), Carolina Beach and Rosman. Bradshaw said these areas have adopted the necessary flood plains controls.

No Charges In Traffic Mishap

No charges were placed by officers following investigation of an 8:01 p.m. collision here yesterday on Memorial Drive 50 feet north of the Stantonsburg Road intersection.

Investigators reported cars driven by Linwood Earl Herring, 19, of 715 Mumford Rd. and Faye Brewer Pogoda, 27, of Route 8, Greenville, collided, causing an estimated $800 damage to the Herring vehicle and $900 damage to the Pogoda vehicle. No injuries were reported.

Poetic Consultation

LOUISVILLE, Ky (UPI)—Louisville missed out on its bid to land either the Democratic or Republican National Convention for 1972, but Kentucky's largest city did win the poets.

The National Federation of State Poetry Societies Inc., held its four-day national convention at the University of Louisville's Kentucky Southern campus.

Burn 'Epidemic' Tops Polio Toll

By C. G. McDANIEL
AP Science Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — A "silent epidemic" of burns in the United States is killing and crippling more people than polio did in 1954, its peak epidemic year.

Three Texas physicians make this assertion in calling for a national drive to reduce burns "similar to that which was required to control poliomyelitis."

"It is evident that burn prevention should be of high priority in our society," they wrote in an editorial in the July 24 issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

The physicians are Drs. Armond S. Goldman, Duane L. Larson and Sally Abston, all of the University of Texas medical branch in Galveston.

The doctors said a single government agency should spearhead a coordinated program to seek to reduce burn injuries and deaths.

The suggested steps include: better design and regulation of open space heaters, hot-water heaters and kitchen stoves; education programs through the mass media, and government action to require manufacture of flame-retardant clothing.

"The incidence of burn injuries in the United States exceeds that of every industrialized country, and deaths and crippling due to burns in this country currently are considerably greater than the mortality and morbidity due to poliomyelitis in the peak epidemic year of 1954," they wrote.

National Safety Council statistics show that 6,700 persons died in fires and of burn injuries in 1970, and 250,000 suffered disabling injuries. By contrast, in 1954, about 50,000 persons contracted polio and 1,500 died of it.

The physicians note that a person burned over 50 per cent of his body requires intensive hospital care for about four months, at a cost of about $36,000. Half of the patients so severely burned die, they added.

The doctors studied 368 children treated at the Shriners Burns Institute in Galveston between 1966 and 1970.

Ninety per cent of these suffered burns at home or in the home neighborhood, they reported. More than half of the cases were found to have been caused by space heaters, usually gas, matches, outdoor fires, gas hot-water heaters and kitchen stoves.

Find Body Of Unknown

GATESVILLE, N.C. (AP) — State and local authorities are trying to determine the identity of a woman whose nude body was found tied with ropes and weighted down with lead bars in the Chowan River Saturday.

North Carolina State Bureau of Investigation Director Charles Dunn said Sunday that a fisherman found the body in the river about four miles south of the Virginia border.

The state medical examiner, Dr. Page Hudson of Chapel Hill, said in a preliminary report that the woman had seven stab wounds in her chest and had been dead from two weeks to two months.

The badly bloated body was afloat despite two 25-pound lead weights tied to the left arm and the legs.

Dunn said the SBI and the Gates County Sheriff's Department are seeking information from the public in North Carolina and Virginia about the possible identity of the woman.

He said she was a blonde in her 40's, about five feet, three inches tall, slender and of medium build. He said she had three scars—two-inch scars on her abdomen and under her chin and a one-inch scar on her forehead.

More Newsmen Die In Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — Four more newsmen have been killed in Vietnam, bringing the death toll to six in the four-month-old North Vietnamese offensive.

Canadian photographer Gerard Hebert was hit Saturday by an artillery shell as he ate with South Vietnamese paratroopers near Quang Tri City.

Two television cameramen from Singapore, Terence Khoo and Sam Kai-Faye, and a South Vietnamese army photographer, Tran Van Nghia, were cut down by rifle fire 200 yards off Highway 1 last Thursday. Their bodies were not recovered until Sunday.

Another newsman is missing and 30 have been wounded since the North Vietnamese offensive started March 30.

Brazil has the heaviest concentration of Negroes outside of Africa.

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, JULY 25, 1972

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Today's Full Moon is a strange and unusual one. Although surface conditions may seem to be okay, it is necessary you make no changes without considering all aspects of new beginnings. As time wears on you will be able to handle any threatening conditions. Be exact.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You are able to get others to see your own views much better now, so speak more clearly and come to the point. Don't do anything now that you would be ashamed of later. Be wise.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Look into the ulterior motives of others before you jump into any new activities. Don't get caught in any trap. Make new contacts but be sure they are truly worthwhile. Relax tonight.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Complete any obligations that you can and get suggestions from experts. Showing true devotion to mate brings fine results now. Don't jump into anything too readily. Study all aspects first.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You have made promises to associates that are best kept now or you could get into trouble. Think over philosophically how to straighten out disagreements with others. Be poised.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) With all those duties ahead of you, get an early start and clear the slate for bigger projects ahead. Relax in the evening and restore your energies. Do some reading that is worthwhile.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Show a happy exterior to others and let your own worries become lighter. Work on a particular talent you possess and perfect it. Evening is fine for meeting an important personality.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You can get those tasks done better with the assistance of others. Keep the appointments that bring you right results. The situation at home could be strained early, but clears up later.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) If you do research work, be sure you are thorough, otherwise wait until a better day when you are feeling sharper. You have a goal to reach. Don't permit an associate to deter you from such.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have financial

Farm Tips

By Dr. J. W. Pou
Agricultural Specialist
Wachovia Bank & Trust Co., N.A.

The dominance of crops in North Carolina agriculture will end in the next five years and the state's $2 billion farm industry will strike a close balance between field crops and animals.

While King Tobacco will continue to contribute more than any other single commodity, it will, for the first time, lose ground.

These are conclusions reached in what is described as the most thorough study ever made of North Carolina's agricultural problems and potentials.

The study went into the formulation of the new five-year program of the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service, "Impact '76."

Each county in the state has planned, with the help of local citizens and under the direction of county extension agents, its own five-year development effort under the umbrella of the statewide program.

The agricultural segment of the state program projects major gains in income from livestock and poultry while predicting a status quo position for field crops, although gains are possible for some individual crops.

Projections indicate the highest degree of diversification ever for Tarheel farming. Income of the animal segment is pegged at $914 million and that from all crops at $990 million. A total increase of 19 percent is predicted, giving the state a gross farm income of $2.1 billion in 1976.

Planners indicate that income from poultry will approach the half-billion dollar mark by 1976, increasing nearly 42 percent. Broiler income could increase 55 percent.

Big gainers in livestock are expected to be hogs, 42 percent, and beef cattle, 25 percent. By 1976, income from these commodities and milk should total $424 million.

The field crops outlook is dominated by the projected slight decline — 7.3 percent — in income from flue-cured tobacco. This projection is based on the anticipated decline in acreage and pounds sold, even though an average price per pound of around 83 cents is foreseen by 1976.

The growth of soybeans and grain is tied closely to the state's rising position in animal agriculture. Corn income could climb 26 percent and soybeans 24 percent in the five-year period.

Larger farming units will be required for an adequate income from the major field crops and livestock commodities. But this doesn't mean small farmers necessarily have to leave the farm. There are opportunities for them, principally in certain speciality fields.

These opportunities are in the area of fruits, particularly strawberries, grapes and apples; vegetables; and ornamental and greenhouse crops.

Income from sweet potatoes could increase $6 million in five years to $22 million. Strawberries could jump 25 percent. Acreage of muscadine grapes could increase from 600 to around 2,000 acres with a tripling of income from this commodity to $1.5 million.

Trellised tomatoes continue to represent an opportunity in certain areas, particularly with respect to increased yields per acre. These could increase by 5 to 10 tons through better production practices.

Other substantial income gains are anticipated from forestry, Christmas trees and seafood.

Sea Otters Said Killed

AMCHITKA Island, Alaska (AP) — Biologists studying Amchitka Island nine months after it shook from a five-megaton underground nuclear test say shockwaves may have killed as many as 1,000 sea otters in the nearby Pacific Ocean and Bering Sea. But Karl Schneider, Alaska state game biologist who first asserted that the Atomic Energy Commission blast killed more otters than the AEC estimated, said Friday there is "no significant long-term damage" to the remote Aleutian Island's otter population.

Scientists estimate the island is home for 6,000 to 8,000 sea otters.

problems and are able to make better arrangements for solving them. Seek advice from an expert about a particular affair that has you stymied. Stop worrying.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You can now easily put to use those ideas that will make your personal life more as you want it to be. Visit good friends tonight and have a good time. Cultural outlets are best now.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Make plans that will supply your practical needs adequately for a long time to come. An expert can be helpful in this. Show others that you are a sensible person. Be poised.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Being with earnest friends is fine since they can give the advice you want and need. Pursue this course as much as you can. You must be practical if you wish to reach your goal.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those delightful young people who can be most successful in life because of the ability to penetrate deeply into whatever has once been undertaken. Teach early to adhere only to worthwhile allies, otherwise all the fine promise here could be thwarted. Ideal chart for whatever has to do with big business. Give fine ethical training.
