Says Hanoi Encouraged To Stall

Bombing Critics Duped: Nixon

By GAYLORD SHAW
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Counterattacking in the war of words over U.S. bombing, President Nixon says his critics have been duped by Hanoi's propaganda and should recognize that he has held in check "the great power that could finish off North Vietnam in an afternoon."

He also told a news conference Thursday that congressmen who vote for end-the-war resolutions are signaling the communists to stall in peace talks at a time when "the chance for a negotiated settlement is better ... than it has ever been."

The President stopped short of denying that any U.S. bombs had damaged North Vietnam's dikes and dams, but singled out United Nations Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim for seizing "upon this enemy-inspired propaganda which has taken in many well-intentioned and naive people."

As he faced reporters in his Oval Office, Nixon plunged into a spirited defense of his Vietnam policies, setting the stage for continuing debate in an election campaign he predicted would be "close ... hardfought ... right down to the wire."

He declined to discuss the disclosure of Democratic vice-presidential nominee Thomas Eagleton's past psychiatric treatment, saying he would not "interject myself into that problem" and that he would not campaign on personalities.

"The issues that divide the opposite side and this administration are so wide—in fact, the clearest choice in this century—that we must campaign on the issues," he said.

One major campaign issue is Vietnam, and Nixon indirectly took Democratic nominee George McGovern to task for saying he would halt the bombing immediately and bring all U.S. troops and prisoners of war home within 90 days—proposals which Republicans say hurt U.S. peace efforts.

"The fastest way to end the war and the best way to end it is through negotiation," the President said. "We would hope that public figures in their comments will not do anything to undercut the negotiations."

Wide-Ranging Views Exchanged

City Budget Adopted In 2-Hour Meet

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer
In recent past years, final adoption of Greenville's city budget has been a brief ceremony giving official sanction to what had already been accomplished by the tentative budget adoption that precedes by several weeks the act of final adoption.

The special call meeting Thursday night at City Hall to adopt the 1972-73 budget ordinance was a radical departure from the customary brief procedure.

Approval of the $3,082,653 budget for July 1, 1972 to June 30, 1973 occurred only after approval of an amendment and reflections on a number of issues that probed into current policies and the quality of city services as well as fiscal matters.

Nearly two hours elapsed from the time Mayor S. Euguen West called the meeting to order and the approval of the budget on a motion for acceptance made by Percy Cox with an amendment by Mrs. Mildred McCreth took place.

The McGrath amendment was to transfer $30,000 from the $245,724.50 contingency fund to bolster the Police Department budget item from $641,236 to $671,236. A total of $50,000 had been slashed from $701,266 listed in the tentative Police Department budget.

In the adoption ordinance, the budget approved is for $2,998,090.50 in the general fund with a debt service fund of $84,562.50. The tax rate of $1.54 per $100 valuation of taxable property carried, with the breakdown of $1.45 for general fund and nine cents for the debt service fund remaining the same as projected in the tentative budget.

From the discussions there emerged a consensus of agreement among Council members to take a cautious approach in approving budget items representing an accelerated increase (i.e., the Recreation Department budget) or, on the other hand, cutting back too drastically on city commitments to public projects involving joint city, state and federal funding — the Town Common, Newtown, West Side, North Side and Central Business District projects.

Council members further agreed that in light of certain problems that might arise in efforts to hold the line on the adopted budget, it will be necessary to make a close scrutiny of the entire budget again in October to determine revisions or shifts that can feasibly be made at that time.

Policy issues were touched on several times during the course of the far-reaching comments, reflecting concern over matters as diverse as the current program for controlling dogs to better utilization of personnel in the Sanitation Department.

In analyzing factors behind budgetary considerations, some of the thoughts expressed on several phases of the city's operations show:

Garbage Collection
Mayor West: "Allen (Public Works Director Mayo Allen) has indicated to me he is making a closer watch on the eight hour a day work situation. In some cases use of trucks are three and one half to four hours a day. This does not make sense. Some years back these men were told if they could do the job, and do it well, in five or six hours, this would be acceptable. But some of these men are working three to four hours and taking on other jobs."

Cox: "Allen is working on a system to insure there's no skipping made in collections. In some cases now, two men work on one side of a truck, one at the back and one on the other side. That one man working alone on one side cannot keep up with two on the other side. I'm sure Allen will correct this situation."

Cox also questioned how it would be possible to purchase three 18 cubic yard garbage trucks for $14,000. Mayor West replied that Allen had indicated that with better use of trucks the job could be done with two instead of three new trucks, which had resulted in cutting back to two trucks of this type in the budget.

The major also revealed that beginning salaries in the Sanitation Department have been raised from $66 to $73 weekly.

Possible Recourse
Cox: "It looks like we're cutting ourselves short on some equipment we need." (Cox had mentioned concern also on a

Markets Idle Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Markets on the North Carolina-South Carolina border tobacco belt were closed today after another strong increase in prices on Thursday.
The Federal-State Market News Service said most grade averages increased $1 and $2 per hundred pounds Thursday following an average of $81.90 on Wednesday.

More than 85 per cent of the sheets of tobacco sold Thursday were bringing $80 or more per hundred pounds, the Market News Service said. Primings and nondescript continued to reflect most of the increases.

Quality of offerings improved some Thursday after falling off a little Wednesday. There were less primings and nondescript and larger percentages of lugs, cutters and leaf.

Refrigerator Death

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A 3-year-old boy suffocated in an old refrigerator and the owner of the abandoned appliance has been arrested on a felony charge, police said.

A spokesman for the Dade County Public Safety Department said Ulysses Simpson Davis Jr. was found dead in the refrigerator near his southwest Miami home Thursday after his mother notified police.

The police spokesman said Earline Clark, 33, was booked into Dade County Jail on a charge of "abandoning a refrigerator with the door on, resulting in the death of a child." Police said the refrigerator had been abandoned in Mrs. Clark's backyard.

The charge carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

British Ports Closed

LONDON (AP) (AP) — Dockers shut down British ports today with a national strike and the government promised "immediate consideration" of emergency moves to head off an economic crisis.
Any extended dock strike would imperil the foreign trade earnings by which this island nation lives, and drive down further the already weak pound sterling.

possible price rises for imported food. Stores were already reported increasing prices for imported fruits and other staples like Danish bacon.

More than 150 ships were idled at ports in England, Scotland and Wales by the walkout by 42,000 dockers who claim that plans for port modernization and various pay arrangements are inadequate.

The government is known to have drawn up plans for declaring a state of emergency.

There was also concern about

Okay Costliest Ship

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has handed the Nixon administration a victory by voting to speed development of the Trident submarine, the most expensive ship ever built.

Opponents objected to accelerating development of the cruiser-sized atomic-powered vessel and its 24 nuclear warhead missiles, but not to the concept itself.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., paraphrasing a former Pentagon official's "fly before you buy" policy, said, "We should swim before we sink." A rush to construction could mean costly overruns, he said, but his amendment to cut some $500 million in Trident funding was defeated 47 to 39.

U.S. Advisor Is Slain

SAIGON (AP) — A senior U.S. official with a decade of service in Vietnam was killed in a Viet Cong ambush Thursday while accompanying South Vietnamese militia forces in the Mekong Delta.

The U.S. Command said the official was Rudolph Kaiser, 53, of Colorado Springs, Colo., a civilian who was the senior adviser in Go Cong Province.

U.S. sources said the militiamen were investigating reports of a Viet Cong battalion operating in the sparsely populated area 25 miles southwest of Saigon.

Eagleton Refuses To Bow To A Lie

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton says accusations by columnist Jack Anderson that he has a record of drunken driving are a "damnable lie" and probably will hurt him.

Eagleton also said he is "doubly determined" to remain on the Democratic ticket as the vice presidential candidate and called Anderson's charges a "low blow."

Eagleton flatly denied a report by Anderson that photostatic records show the Missouri senator was arrested a half-dozen times for drunken or reckless driving.

Anderson made the allegation in a radio broadcast Thursday. The columnist told The Associated Press that he did not have the records himself but learned about them from a "high Missouri official." A check by The AP turned up some past speeding citations in Eagleton's name, but no trace of any arrest for drunken or reckless driving.

Eagleton angrily told a news conference Thursday in Honolulu that he had never been arrested for drunken or reckless driving, and that Anderson's report appeared to him to be a politically motivated attempt to drive him off the Democratic ticket.

In an interview while flying here from Hawaii, Eagleton underscored his newly strengthened resolve to stay on as running mate of Sen. George McGovern.

"I want to pursue this vice presidency with the greatest degree of determination that I possibly can," Eagleton said.

Senator Allen Ellender Dies; Eastland Named New President Pro Tem

By VERNON A. GUIDRY Jr.
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Allen J. Ellender, the country lawyer who graduated from Huey Long's storied brand of Louisiana politics to become dean of the U.S. Senate, is dead at 81.

A heart attack felled the Senate president pro tempore at Bethesda Naval Hospital at 7:20 p.m. Thursday after he had interrupted his home-state campaign for a seventh term to be present for a Senate vote on an agriculture appropriations bill.

As federal flags dipped to half-staff, praise rose quickly for the man whose stamp long marked the Senate Agriculture Committee and more recently the pivotal Appropriations Committee as its chairman.

He was "a splendid American" who left "a deep imprint on the legislative history of this century," said President Nixon.

To Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, Ellender was "one of the most respected and distinguished members of the United States Senate, a man who combined dignity and simplicity. He was revered on both sides of the aisle."

At a Democratic caucus called by Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, Sen. James O. Eastland of Mississippi was designated to succeed Ellender as president pro tem of the Senate.

Election of Eastland is a formality as Democrats have a majority of the membership.

Sen. John L. McClellan of Arkansas is expected to succeed Ellender as chairman of the Appropriations Committee.

Jim Hunt, Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor, says he plans to do something about mental patient care in North Carolina if elected and he will start by appointing "committee chairman who will really look critically at what our needs are."

Hunt, in Greenville Thursday on another leg of his 100-county "thank the voter" tour, said that he would expect his appointees to examine the needs "as to whether or not the problem is administration ... and whether, in fact, is top heavy."

He added that they would look critically at "whether or not we are putting the resources where we need them, whether or not too much is going into administration and not enough going into actual doctors and psychiatrists and nurses and things of this sort, the people who really care for patients."

Emphasizing that the lieutenant governor is in a position to act on the matter, he pointed out, "I can do something about what kinds of appropriations we get for these institutions in this whole area and I intend to appoint committee chairman who will be very concerned and who will be dedicated to making the kind of financial commitment that we must make ... to give adequate care to these people that we all are concerned about."

"I'm going to see that we do something about it in terms of putting our money where our mouth is," Hunt continued.

The nominee cited the current lieutenant governor Pat Taylor as being "a real champion of mental health in this state," noting that he served as chairman of its board. "I certainly intend to show the same kind of concern about it and I intend to see that the state ... does what it ought to do."

Hunt said that the lieutenant governor "can operate effectively in three vital, important areas. One is this whole legislative area and one of the things that we ought to do is streamline the procedures in the General Assembly."

He explained, "I presented a very major program for modernizing the General Assembly last year; making committee work more effective, having standing committees who work in between sessions. A number of things, including an ethics bill to make sure we don't have conflicts or the appearance of conflicts, electronic voting," Hunt mentioned as part of the program.

There are also things that the lieutenant governor can do on his own, he asserted. He noted that he plans to appoint his committees in the State Senate on the first day of the session to

Confirm One-Time Mao Heir Died Fleeing China

ALGIERS (AP) — The Chinese Embassy today confirmed long persistent reports that Lin Piao, once Chairman Mao Tse-tung's political heir, died last year in a plane crash, fleeing to the Soviet Union after an unsuccessful plot to assassinate Mao.

It was the first official explanation of Lin's disappearance from public view last year. It was contained in a statement made to the Algerian government newspaper El Moudjahid.

The Peking correspondent of a Canadian newspaper, the Toronto Globe and Mail, reported Thursday that Mao had told two recent foreign visitors — Prime Minister Sirimavo Bandaranaike of Ceylon and Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann of France — of Lin's plot against him and his death.

The Chinese Embassy's statement said:

"Lin Piao died Sept. 13, 1971. The Lin Piao affair is a reflection of the battle between two lines which was taking place within the party for a long time. Lin Piao committed repeated errors and Chairman Mao Tse-tung fought many battles against him ...

"He indulged in antiparty activities and in a planned and premeditated way with a clearly determined program with the goal of usurping the leadership of the party, the government and the army. Chairman Mao Tse-tung unmasked his plot and aborted his maneuvers. Chairman Mao Tse-tung made efforts to rehabilitate him. But Lin Piao did not change his perverse nature one iota. He attempted a coup d'etat and sought to assassinate Chairman Mao Tse-tung.

"His plot was foiled and he fled on Sept. 12 toward the Soviet Union in an aircraft which crashed in the People's Republic of Mongolia."

BANK BRANCH OPENING... Greenville Mayor S. Eugene West cuts a dollar bill ribbon to formally open the new North Carolina National Bank East End Office this morning as the branch's manager Les Turner and Curtis Hendrix vice-president of NCNB's Greenville office look on. The new branch, located on Greenville Boulevard near the Washington Highway intersection, is a complete service office offering four inside teller windows, two outside drive-up teller stations, safe deposit boxes, as well as commercial and personal loans. The new office also houses the bank's main Consumer Credit Division offices for Greenville. The new office contains about 2,256 square feet of space and provides ample off-street parking. Hospital Power Failure Said 'Taken In Stride'

"We were fortunate that there were no emergencies and our staff and patients took yesterday's power failure in stride," said Pitt Memorial Hospital Administrator Jack Richardson. The hospital was without electrical service for from 30 to 40 minutes shortly after 4 p.m. yesterday, the result of a main switch's burning out at the same time maintenance was being done on one of two standby generators.

The one standby generator left in service could not begin to carry the load, he said. There was no surgery in progress, no one on a respirator, and no hemodialysis being done at the time, he said. The maintenance was planned for late afternoon, so scheduled work of this type would be over.

There were 211 patients in the 200-bed hospital at the time and of course, the halls which housed the extra patients were in almost complete darkness. There was also discomfort from the loss of air conditioning in the 86-degree weather. Several passengers had to be assisted from elevators which stopped between floors.

The switch, located in the basement near the front of the building, smoked considerably when it burned and caused some fear of fire at first.

Richardson complimented hospital employees for the way they kept each hospital unit functioning and also praised crews from the Greenville Utilities Commission which responded immediately and restored services rapidly considering the large amount of damage.

The maintenance was being performed in an effort to insure that a general power failure or reduction would not throw the hospital out of power, Richardson said.

"This is still our aim," he said. "because another failure might not come at such an opportune time and could actually endanger patients."

Fills Vacancy

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Bob Scott today appointed John L. "Jack" Stickleby of Charlotte to fill a Republican vacancy on the North Carolina Board of Elections. Stickleby, a businessman who lost to Jim Gardner in the 1968 Republican gubernatorial primary, will serve a term expiring May 1, 1974. He succeeds Hiram H. Ward of Lexington, who resigned to accept a judicial appointment by President Nixon.

Hunt Pledges

avoid the wasted time that sometimes characterizes the early days of the session. He said that he is going to push to see that bills are introduced early in the session. "In the past the Legislature has established a deadline for the introduction of local legislation. I'm going to ask that we establish a deadline for the introduction of agency bills. These are bills from state government itself. These people have plenty of time to prepare them and I want them to bring the bills over early in the session."

A second area that the lieutenant governor can be effective in is the "whole area of education," Hunt continued. Noting that the lieutenant governor is a member of the State Board of Education, he said that he intends "to be a very active and vocal member of that board such as they have never had before, perhaps in history."

Another area, he added, includes working with the 15-member State Council of Goals and Policy that is now meeting across the state. Hunt was recently appointed to the board.

"Gov. Scott has suggested that the lieutenant governor ought to work with the governor in, effect, giving guidance to that council. I hope I'll have that opportunity because my background has been in economics in large measure."

"This is an area I hope to work in a great deal because we simply must do a better job of planning for the future of this state if it is going to become the kind of state we want it to be instead of the kind of state we stumbled into," the Wilson attorney added. "I want North Carolina to continue to be a state that we enjoy living in."

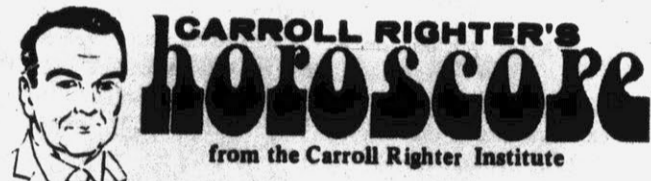

Hunt said that he plans to "work as cooperatively as I possibly can" with Skipper Bowles if they are elected in November. "We are going to have a good relationship, very good," he contended.

Pitt County marked the 46th stop for Hunt on his statewide tour. He said that after spending "a year and a half going around asking people for their help," it seemed to me that I could take four weeks to go around this state ... and thank people for their help."

"I want to take this opportunity to thank all of the people of this county who did vote for me and who worked hard for me," he said.

Hunt polled nearly half the votes in Pitt County in a five-candidate field and carried 85 counties statewide in the May primary. He received 44 percent of the vote overall but a runoff was not called.

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, JULY 29, 1972

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Use this day to find out the cause of what is holding you back, especially where intimate problems and anxieties are concerned. If you get involved with people today, tempers are apt to be short, so be on the lookout for this wherever it appears.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Private anxieties can be annoying but if you talk to others you find they will soon straighten out. Do what you can to improve your appearance. Take health treatments and feel better.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You are not certain just what you want to do in the future, so don't make any definite decisions while in such a mood. Study those persons who are truly happy and emulate their methods.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Work on your own personal ambitions instead of trying to see influential persons who are busy right now. An unpleasant situation arises, but handle it wisely. Show that you are capable.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Not a good day to visit new places since you could meet with delays. Do what will make you feel stronger and more sure of yourself. Take health treatments you need.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Do away with whatever is unwanted and you can have real progress in the future. Being more willing to do what friends desire is wise now. A spirit of cooperation brings fine results.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Keep the promises you have made to associates and gain their respect. Try not to involve yourself in any civic problems that may arise, but keep a close watch on all activities.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You feel nervous today and should do some reading or resting instead of bustling about. Do only work that is important, then relax. Await a better time for doing work you had planned.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You are anxious to do the things you like to do and have fun, which is all right provided you don't use too much energy. Take exercise that is helpful to your health. Avoid one who bickers.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Delve into whatever will put you in a happier frame of mind and make your life more interesting. Avoid argument at home. Don't spend too much time on unimportant matters. Be wise.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) An associate may want a big loan from you, or may want to take you to an expensive activity, so use willpower and refuse. Study your personal budget and cut down on your expenses.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) If you do something about improving your budget, you need not worry about finances in the future. Not a good day to ask for advice from a business expert who is in a bad mood.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Your most accurate judgment is not quite good now, so don't decide on anything that is important. Do more analyzing of your life. See where to make improvements for a fuller life.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those charming young people who has to be taught early not to be a spendthrift, and to depend more on orthodox systems. Make sure to include courses in psychology in the educational curriculum because your progeny requires knowledge in how to deal with others successfully. Give early ethical training.

Impertinent Question Needs No Answer

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are adopting a baby. What can I say to friends and casual acquaintances alike (even clerks in stores, etc.) when they ask my husband and me which one of us is sterile?

I've been at a loss for words, and have fumed about this for days. EVA

DEAR EVA: An impertinent question doesn't deserve an answer.

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago I lost my wonderful 44-year-old husband.

A year before his death I was treated for a rare gum disease. I sat in a dentist's chair for endless hours, for weeks, but despite the enormous expense, pain and time, my teeth could not be saved.

Since my husband's death I have been out on dates, but no one appealed to me until I met this one person I think I could really care about.

My problem: I have never told anyone that I have dentures. [I hate the very thought of it!] I am terribly sensitive about the fact that I wear them, altho they look very natural and fit perfectly.

Could you please ask your male readers how they feel about women with false teeth? Thank you. FEELING LOW

DEAR FEELING: I'll ask, but I'm sure that no intelligent man would think anything of it. Just keep your mouth shut. [P. S. In one way, he'd be getting a break. He'll never have to pay your dentist bill.]

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a new mother who breast-feeds her baby in mixed company—and strangers at that. She is my daughter. It wouldn't be so bad if she did it in her own home, but the other night she was a guest in our home and she did it at the dinner table in the presence of our guests.

You would think she would have more modesty than this, but apparently it didn't seem to bother her. We wouldn't ask her to leave the room in front of the other guests. Please tell us how to handle this. The only thing we can think of is not to have her to our home again until the baby gets older. UPSET

DEAR UPSET: Of necessity, mothers have nursed their babies in public places with such subtlety and efficiency with the use of a blanket or shawl that they were hardly noticed. But sitting at the dining room table at a dinner party seems a bit brash. Tell your daughter how you feel.

DEAR ABBY: There are places to go for a drinking problem. And places to go with a mental problem. But where does a person go with a mother in law problem?

I have practically turned myself inside out trying to get along with her. Nothing works. My mother in law just doesn't like me.

I've been a good wife to her son, and a good mother to her grandchildren. I'm a good housekeeper and cook, and when it comes to pinching pennies, I can do that, too. I'm a loyal church worker, and I'm not boisterous or gossipy. So how can I solve my problem? TRIED EVERYTHING

DEAR TRIED: If you've "tried everything," and can't get along with her, try getting along WITHOUT her.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L. A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

MRS. AND MRS. BRYCE W. THARP

Couple Honored On 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Bryce W. Tharp of Greenville observed their 25th wedding anniversary Wednesday.

The couple was entertained at several events in honor of their anniversary. The Rev. Leonard P. Baxter of Xenia, Ohio, and the Rev. Adrian Brown of Greenville recorded special prayers.

On Tuesday evening, their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Maness, entertained at a dinner party at the Three Steers Restaurant.

The couple's children, Mr. and Mrs. Maness and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew C. Stockert of Greensboro entertained at an open house at the Tharp's home Sunday afternoon.

The reception table was covered with a white lace cloth adorned with white doves at the corners with ribbon streamers. A pair of white bells were suspended above the table.

A centerpiece of summer flowers in the wedding colors of 25 years ago, white, pink, blue and yellow, were arranged in a silver Revere bowl flanked by a pair of silver candelabra holding white candles. The three tiered anniversary cake featured the Tharp's 25 year old bride and bridegroom ornament.

Mrs. Stockert served the wedding cake and her husband poured punch.

Several Of New Cookbooks Provide Interesting Reading

By JEANNE LESEM
UPI Food Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—People who read cookbooks like novels are in luck this summer. Several new publications are as interesting to read as they are for their cooking directions.

Best of all is "James Beard's American Cookery" (Little, Brown), 3 1/2 pounds of Sybaritic pleasure for anyone who enjoys good food and beverages. Beard borrowed part of the title from America's first cookbook, written by Amelia Simmons in 1796. Recipes run the gamut from that period to the present. A few are reprinted or updated from historic, regional, church and women's club cookbooks.

"Things You've Always Wanted to Know About Food & Drink" by Helen McCully is in the question and answer format of an earlier book by this author, and it promises to be just as helpful in broadening general knowledge of the subject.

"The Cook It and Freeze It Book" by Margaret Deeds Murphy (Hawthorn) is valuable not so much for recipes as for the clear freezing and storing directions for basic ingredients. They include maximum recommended storage times and yields from specific quantities of raw foods.

For Sailors and Campers
Some sections of "Feasting Afloat" by Nancy Winters (Simon and Schuster) would be equally useful for campers. They include a list of perishes with their storage times; work savers and a substitution list. Fancier recipes include chicken Marengo, beef stroganoff and Danish meatballs.

"The Complete Fish Cookbook" by Dan and Inez Morris (Boobs Merrill) really is. The authors even developed a method of cooking unthawed blocks of filets so they are moist and flavorful. Shopping, cleaning and cooking advice is excellent.

If you are appalled at the thought of children under foot in the kitchen, read no further. If not, and if you want your children to develop an early appreciation of good cooking and eating habits, see Barbara Wyden's "The Cookalong Book" (McKay) and "The Mother's Cook & Cope Book" by Carolyn Lane and Pamela Zapata (Viking).

Mrs. Wyden's style is likely to amuse parents as well as children. She speaks youngsters' language without condescension and her recipes are uncomplicated. The Lane-Zapata style is more serious and suggested participation by children is minimal, compared with Mrs. Wyden's book. The co-authors provide many re-proper laundering is important to the appearance and performance of fabrics.

Breathing Spell Can Be Used

Reports from around the nation indicate that there are vacancies in most colleges and universities for next fall.

The National Association of College Admissions Counselors reported that 87 percent of the institutions of higher learning still have openings for the fall. It is estimated that there are 300,000 to 500,000 openings.

It appears that the great crush of college bound students is over. While this might be disturbing to some institutions it need not be.

Now is the time for all institutions to examine their programs with an eye toward improving them—something that they have not been able to do during the growth years.

This breathing spell can be a time for reviewing programs and developing methods that can be most beneficial to the students.

Too many of our institutions have been obsessed with growth during recent years. Now the educators should have the time and resources to attack some of the problems that have been plaguing higher education.

Long-Running Railroad Dispute Appears Ended

A long running dispute between the railroads and the United Transportation Union has apparently been settled.

The 35-year-old dispute involved what to do with firemen on trains which have been converted from coal to diesel. Reportedly the union has agreed to allow the reduction of firemen on freight trains by a process of attrition.

The agreement should serve to reduce cost for the nation's hard pressed railroads and in the long run it may preserve jobs in the overall rail employment picture.

Paints Spirit Of N.C. Coast

By BRYAN HAISLIP
WILMINGTON, N.C. — Claude Howell uses pencil and paint to capture the spirit of the North Carolina coast.

His artist's vision translates the common sights of the shore into drawings and paintings of windswept beaches, stalwart fishermen at their work, the rhythm of surf and sail.

"This is the life I know," he said. "Art has to be the result of experience."

Because Howell knows his region so well, many North Carolinians know it better.

BRYAN HAISLIP

One of the half-dozen leading Tar Heel artists, he has won many honors and awards. His work is in the North Carolina Museum of Art and other public and private collections. His sketches have illustrated several books on coastal subjects.

Howell, lean as a bean at the age when most men are paunchy, lives in the Wilmington apartment building where he was born. "It seems I never got very far," he observed wryly.

All Roads Lead Home

He means travel always leads him home. He has studied in New England and toured the museums of Europe. He returned recently from a visit of several weeks to France.

What he sees abroad rarely shows up directly in his paintings, though it has influence on style and approach. As an artist, he keeps the focus on the world around him.

"The business of art is to reflect what's going on, not the creation of another world," he explained.

"If you condemn the art of today, you really condemn today."

Contemporary art has facets of violence, depersonalization, and monotony because those are characteristics of current society. The artist visual expression of protest can show man where he is lost and help him find his way again, Howell suggested.

Art His Only Goal

The making of an artist is a life-time process. Howell can't remember when it began. "I never wanted to do anything else," he said.

How to achieve the ambition was the problem in the Depression years as he grew up. He studied first with a local teacher; something of a mystic, but quite a good painter, he recalled.

Art didn't offer economic security. To pursue his studies, Howell went to work as a secretary in a railroad office.

"My life insurance," he called the employment. "You know, it's kind of good for an artist to have a job like that. It keeps your feet on the ground."

He still has a practical attitude on money matters. Some artists today get uptight about commissions, for fear the prospect of payment will infringe their freedom to create.

Nonsense, said Howell. "Most of the great art of the past was produced on commission," he pointed out.

No Compromise On Standards

That doesn't permit any compromise with standards of quality, he added quickly. His first recognition came with awards won in the early '30s as a youth of 17 or so.

Later, a Rosenwald Fellowship gave him the chance to go to Europe. He studied art there, he said, "mainly by looking in the museums."

Howell has an individual style that borrows little from current trends. At once abstract and literal, his work presents subject matter readily recognizable to the viewer but strongly shaped by the artist.

"I don't kow-tow to fashion," he said. "In clothes, it may be all right but in your personal statement it's something else again."

His career as a teacher began with night courses at Wilmington college. Today he is head of the art department on the campus, now the University of North Carolina at Wilmington.

Teaching is a drain on energy, but stimulating in the contact with young people. "College age students today are not apathetic, but almost violent in their search for something," said Howell. "If they keep looking, I believe they will find it."

The goal of the search is a religion, he said, whether you call it that or not. Man needs something larger than himself in which to find meaning, he speculated. For him, art is that unifying force.

Spiro's Critics Spurred Nixon

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Although many political realities dictated President Nixon's decision to run again with Spiro T. Agnew, the most important was probably Democrat John B. Connally's all but total refusal to run for Vice President himself.

"Connally just didn't want it," a top-level confidant of Mr. Nixon told us, "so the discussion came down to one thing: the absence of serious alternatives."

With Connally unavailable and nobody else desirable, President Nixon's decision to keep his explosively controversial Vice President was ordained many weeks ago, but his announcement of that decision last Saturday definitely was not.

To the contrary, Mr. Nixon desperately wanted some element of uncertainty to enliven what looks to be the dullest nominating convention in this century. So he quietly passed a word to political advisers that he would say nothing until mid-August — on the very eve of the Aug. 21 Miami Beach convention.

What disrupted that Presidential timetable was the sudden, uncontrollable surge of "anybody but Agnew" appeals from moderate and liberal Republicans.

These public attacks on Agnew came from such obvious sources as liberal Sens. Jacob K. Javits of New York and William Saxbe of Ohio. But the anti-Agnewites actually embraced a far wider political spectrum, reaching into the White House staff itself: a silent minority of Republicans fearful that Agnew will exploit the Vice Presidency to gain control of the party and the Presidential nomination in 1976.

Jumping the gun on his timetable, President Nixon effectively stopped this anti-Agnew tumult before it picked up momentum. In doing so, he sidetracked a potentially divisive struggle between the party's left and right wings which could have left debilitating wounds.

Containing that left-right split, in fact, has been one of Mr. Nixon's enduring political occupations since last December, when right-wing Rep. John Ashbrook of Ohio confounded the White House and announced his own Presidential candidacy.

Ashbrook's decision to offer himself as a rallying point for conservatives unhappy about Mr. Nixon's welfare reform plan and his nuclear arms control negotiations with Moscow triggered secret negotiations between conservatives and top White House political aide Charles Colson.

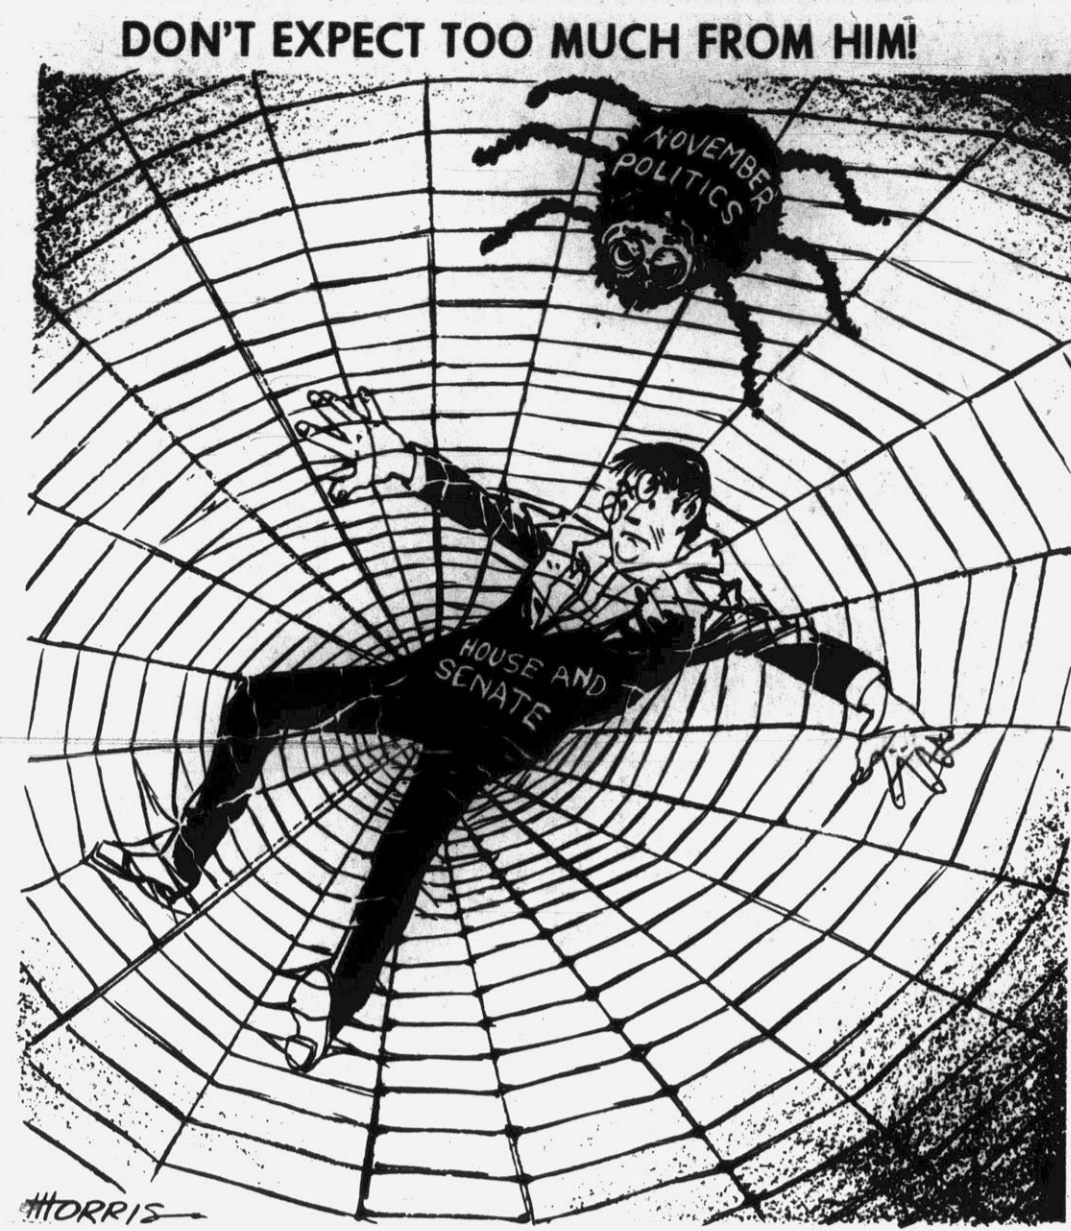

Using the threat of all-out support for Ashbrook, the conservatives made three demands: first, keep Agnew on the ticket; second, drop the family assistance section of the welfare-reform package; third, step up arms spending. Some of the President's chief advisers, notably former Atty. Gen. John Mitchell, counseled acceptance of all three.

Although the President refused to budge on welfare reform, he quickly caved in on the other two demands. That was the real explanation of his sudden, unexpected plug for Agnew in his long television interview with CBS reporter Dan Rather Jan. 2. (It would be foolish, said the President, to "break up a winning combination.")

Despite the Jan. 2 embrace of Agnew, however, Ashbrook kept running for the Republican Presidential nomination. He lit no fires in the primaries, but Nixon agents still worry over possible right-wing defections, particularly in crucial California. They want a strong Ashbrook endorsement of Mr. Nixon the sooner the better. The premature announcement that Agnew will remain on the ticket could appease these anti-Nixon conservatives and defuse the party's platform fights at Miami Beach.

There was, moreover, one other powerful factor working for Agnew. To capture, New York, now better than a 50-50 prospect, Mr. Nixon needs the support of that state increasingly powerful Conservative Party. The Conservative Party threat to run Mr. Nixon as the party's Presidential nominee in November unless Agnew is renominated was taken seriously at the White House.

The major political concern of the silent minority of anti-Agnew Republicans now is

Calling Bobby Fischer

WASHINGTON — In a few weeks President Nixon will have to make one of the most important decisions of his Administration. He will have to decide whether or not he puts a telephone call through to Iceland if Bobby Fischer wins the World Championship Chess Tournament.

There hasn't been an antihero like Bobby Fischer in years. His behavior before and during the tournament caused one Washington Post reader to write, "Fischer is the only American who can make everyone in the United States root for the Russians." Based on what Fischer has been doing in Iceland, the President's call could do something like this:

"Hello Bobby, this is President Nixon. I just wanted to call and congratulate you on your victory in Iceland."

"Make it short will you? I'm tired."

"This is a great day for America, Bobby."

"It's a greater day for me. I won $150,000 and I showed these Icelandic creeps a thing or two."

"You know, Bobby, I almost made the chess team at Whittier College."

"Big deal."

"But I went out for football instead."

"Is that what this call is all about?"

"Now wait a minute, Bobby. I always call anyone who wins a championship for America. I would like to give you a white-tie dinner at the White House when you come back."

"How much will you pay me to come?"

"Pay you? I don't pay people to have dinner at the White House."

"Then what's in it for me?"

"I'll invite the Cabinet, the Supreme Court, the leaders of Congress and every rich Republican chess player in the country. I'll get Guy Lombardo to play after dinner. It's the least I can do for someone who beat the great Spassky."

"All right. I'll come, but these are my demands: You send the presidential plane to Iceland to pick me up. You personally meet me at the plane and provide me with a limousine, a suite of rooms, a private tennis court, my own swimming pool and 10 Secret Service men so I'm not bugged by the press."

"I think I can do that, Bobby."

"And no television cameras."

"No television cameras?"

"I hate television cameras. They send me into a frenzy. If I see one television camera at the dinner, I'm walking out."

"Don't worry, Bobby. There won't be any television

Lionel Heeds Values

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — "Everything has a guideline," said Lionel Hampton, the bandleader. "Once we find that guideline, we have to adhere to it."

Religion and music have been the two guidelines of "The Hamp." Together they inspired him to rise from the bleak future of a black slum kid to recognition as "King of the Vibrant" and one of the dominant figures in modern jazz.

HAL BOYLE

They came to the musician's rescue last year when the crippling death of his wife of 35 years almost drove him into retirement.

"I idolized Gladys since the days we were childhood sweethearts," he said, at a luncheon here during his engagement at the Rainbow Grill.

"She was everything a woman could be to a man. She was my wife, my friend, my inspiration and my business manager. I could come toher with any problem, big or little."

"She set up things for me so well that I'll never have to go to a breadline whatever happens."

"When she died—her heart just blew out—it was like the end of the world. I didn't want to play another note. I just wanted to quit everything."

It was his daily reading of the Bible, Hampton said, that convinced him he should resume his life work of "making a joyful sound for the Lord."

"I'm a great believer in the Bible. I get substance out of it. It is meaningful in my life."

Not too long ago when an elderly hotel chambermaid returned to Hampton an envelope containing $500 which he had

Other Editors Say Day Of Reckoning

(Henderson Dispatch)

What one ponders the far left legislation now pending in Congress, it is to wonder. The Federal government is up to its neck in red ink and continues to move nonchalantly into new and still greater depths. According to Senator Ervin, the deficit over the four years ending with the close of the present fiscal year will be about $113 billion. But proposals now in House or Senate would add multiple billions more.

One item is a plan to distribute to the States over a five-year period some $30 billion in aid, and at a time when the Federal government itself is in financial straits, which most people and politicians especially, choose to ignore.

A new minimum wage bill would place requirements at $2.20 an hour. That would tend to cripple many industries, small business in particular. Another bill would virtually establish a system of socialized medicine, also adding to deficits and tax burdens.

Unfortunately, and even tragically, neither politicians nor the public appear to be in the least concerned over trends. The United States is a rich country, but not rich enough to support programs now in the cards. The fact that a day of reckoning sometime in the future is inevitable makes no visible impression upon the country. The handout habit is so ingrained in government that it would be almost impossible to change it sufficiently to make a sizable dent in annual Federal spending.

One thing as sure as that the sun will rise tomorrow morning is that government cannot stand these colossal outlays. By ordinary economic standards, Uncle Sam is already insolvent. Addition of measures now pending will only intensify the likelihood of crushing new taxes, which would leave the average citizen in worse financial condition than he is without them. Office seekers continue to offer the world with a fence around it to all people, giving little or no thought to the inevitable consequences. We would just like to be on record as having voiced a warning.

40 Years Ago Today

By GWYN COGHILL
July 28, 1932

Greenville, North Carolina, the county seat of Pitt County, has a population of 11,890 as of 1932. It is situated on the Tar River, near the center of Pitt County, and is the largest town. Transportation facilities, natural and otherwise, are good. The river is navigable for steamboats a good part of the year, and until the advent of the railroads, regular boat service was maintained. The Norfolk and Southern Railroad crosses the county in an east to west direction. The Kinston-Weldon branch of the Atlantic Coast Line passes through the center north to south. Truck lines also operate in and out of Greenville on seven highways. The climate of Greenville is ideal. The summers are quite long and sometimes seemingly warm; the winters are short and very mild.

includes an on-site check of facilities, an analysis of how the money is to be used, a study of financing, marketing, production and personnel, a discussion with key people "during which we also size them up," and opinions of the company by competitors and customers.

Much, much more is involved, and in great detail, such detail that one wonders if such a mass of information has any meaning at all to a nonexpert, a doubt shared by Brown.

The due diligence report then becomes the basis of the registration statement that is filed with the SEC and which investors supposedly use to assess the value of the company.

The investment bankers must stand behind that registration statement which would, under present proposals, become far more detailed—including in fact, much of the due diligence report itself.

It could discourage a lot of hot issues.

'Due Diligence' On Stock Issues

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Investment bankers who underwrite the public appearance of privately held companies—new issues, as they are called—are expected to exercise "due diligence" in examining the credentials of clients.

Whether or not they have been doing so is another thing. Certainly even the closest examination can't give complete assurance that what looks good today will be a star performer tomorrow.

But Securities and Exchange Commission figures suggest that in the past not all underwriters were duly diligent either in examining their young clients or in telling the public about them.

In a study of 49 new issues brought public between January, 1968, and July, 1969, the SEC said earlier this year, five were bankrupt, three out of business, six with liabilities exceeding assets, two merged because of money problems and 21 with retained earnings deficits.

Now the SEC is calling for stricter guidelines that some securities men say are unduly diligent in efforts to discourage a rash of hot issues, whose most identifiable characteristic is their peculiar rate of cooling.

The proposed requirements pertain mainly to the emerging company's registration statement, the document supposedly scrutinized by smart investors but which often is ignored. Among the details proposed:

—An estimate of how long proceeds will sustain the company.

—Report on operating plans for a year.

—Detailed information on competition.

—Background of key employees.

While adverse comments already have been heard, other investment bankers appear hardly disturbed at all. "We're not concerned," said one, "because these guidelines already are covered in our due diligence reports."

The investigation always

Strength For Today

MORE THAN EYE CAN SEE

We go out on a clear, starry night and look up into the heavens. The scene, probably, must appear to us as it did to our forebears. But the scene is not the same. Great broadcasting stations all over the country and the world are sending messages out over the air. We come into the house again and turn on the radio and strains of music and the voices of announcers and commentators fill the room. Pictures appear on the TV screen.

These five senses of ours are thoroughly inadequate to comprehend the whole of the universe. We are said to hear in eleven octaves, but there must be vibrations beyond these. The eyes and ears evidently take in but little of the created universe. Certainly there are vast realities that these five senses of ours can never touch.

How narrow and little, therefore, is the skeptic! How pretentious is the materialist who insists that there is no reality beyond what we can see, hear, touch, taste or smell. Modern science has revealed so many wonders that man need not be overwhelmed with doubt as he reads the Bible about miracles and great spiritual powers in which we are invited to put our trust.

Science should not destroy religious faith. Rather it should strengthen it. If what we apprehend with five limited senses is so marvelous, how great may be the things which a good God has laid up as a destiny for those who trust Him.

Attend National Ass'n Workshop

Four members of the East Carolina University School of Music faculty are attending a National Association of Teachers of Singing workshop at Salem College in Winston-Salem this week.

Beatrice Chauncey, Gladys White, Antonia Dalapas and Dr. Charles Moore, representing ECU, are participating in workshop sessions conducted by teachers and performers. Mrs. White is current NATS regional lieutenant governor and Dr. Moore is current vice president.

Jackie Rausch, David Faber and James Powers, advanced voice students at ECU, will participate in a master class conducted by Elena Nikolaidi, member of the Metropolitan Opera Company.

Courses Added By University College

The University College, the undergraduate evening program of East Carolina University, will offer eleven courses during the fall term of the coming school year. Three courses are new additions to the schedule. These three are Art 15 (Color and Design), Political Science 11 (Contemporary Political Issues), and Spanish 1.

Contemporary Political Issues focuses upon foreign and military policy and on modern management of the economy. It is designed for persons not majoring in political science and should be of special interest during this election year. Spanish 1 offers intensive training in the basic skills of understanding, reading, speaking and writing Spanish. Art 15 focuses upon color theory and design principles.

In addition to the three courses listed above, the fall schedule also includes Business 10 (Introduction to Business), English 30 (Composition), History 50 (American History to 1865), Math 45 (General College Mathematics), Music 120 (Music Appreciation), Psychology 50 (General Psychology 1), Sociology 110 (Introduction to Sociology), and Speech 119 (Voice and Diction).

For a brochure describing the University College, interested persons should write the Division of Continuing Education, Box 2727, Greenville, or telephone 758-6321.

Jaycees To High Point

Don Brady, president of the Greenville Jaycees, announced that several local representatives will be attending the North Carolina Jaycees annual summer board meeting in High Point Saturday and Sunday.

Accompanying Brady will be Bruce Thompson, Roger Collins, Jack Cox, Mark Meltzer, Don Fidler, Rich Rados, Melvin Hoot, Mike Peters, Marvin Buck and Doug Mewborn.

Brady said that the meeting will be held at the Top of the Mart in High Point and will be a planning session for the 11,500 Jaycees from across the state.

While attending the session, the president pointed out, Greenville Jaycees will be voting on and planning programs that will continue to provide leadership in local communities. Training seminars and forums covering various subjects will be conducted at the meeting.

William McDonald III of Hickory, past president of the North Carolina Jaycees, will be the keynote speaker for the banquet.

whether a typically bombastic Agnew campaign this fall will cost Mr. Nixon millions of votes. Mr. Nixon may share the same worry. At last Friday's Cabinet meeting, he praised his Cabinet officers for "positive accomplishments" and urged an "affirmative" high-road campaign.

Sitting silently across the table from Mr. Nixon, neither speaking nor spoken to, was Agnew. Those present thought the President was making a not-so-subtle point to his Vice President. Whether he got the message, only time will tell.

Benny Goodman and Louis Armstrong helped him up the ladder when he was playing in sawdust-floored Los Angeles night spots at $3 a night. Later, Hampton and his band earned up to $10,000 for a single concert.

COFFEE, TEA AND CORNPLASTERS

There aren't many of us left who remember Sixbey's General Store. It was more than a store; it was a gathering place, a news bureau, a bright spot in a boy's summer afternoon.

You would come in from the hot dusty street, and the shaded store was cool. Immediately you encountered a tantalizing blend of scents — apples, licorice, spices and smoked ham. Grown-up conversation enhanced your feeling of excitement as they viewed and reviewed town happenings. You always took a long time to decide between a chocolate or a lemon drop, so that this exciting visit could be prolonged.

Our town has changed since then. For those of us whose memories linger in Sixbey's Store, it hardly seems the same place.

Yet one thing's the same. At the corner of Elm and Main, St. Mark's steeple still points skyward. Man's need for God never changes. And the Church remains constant as it teaches the truths of God's love and presence.

Weir and Kalas just improved on Mother Nature.

Weyerhaeuser forester Selby Weir has compiled a remarkable growth rate for the loblolly pine seedlings which he was responsible for planting on one of Weyerhaeuser's Southern forest plantations last year. Because of excellence in planting, Selby and his crews achieved a 97.5% survival rate on seedlings planted.

In the Pacific Northwest, forester Vaclav Kalas aerially seeded a Douglas fir plot in 1962. By 1968, the trees had already reached a height they weren't supposed to attain until 1971.

Both foresters have been awarded the 1971 President's Plantation Award — the highest honor in the Weyerhaeuser forestry program.

Their work, plus that of 11,000 fellow Weyerhaeuser employees in planting 75 million seedlings on 117,000 acres and seeding 40,000 acres in the 1971-72 planting season, helps make sure there will always be wood for the many useful products America needs.

"Pay increases come all through the year. The cost of living increase this year is 2.4 percent. Congressman Jones said 2.4 percent is the increase for the First District."

Moore revealed this compared with a five percent cost of living increase for each of the past two years since this concept was first used to give city employees this type of increase in salary. Cost of living increase will be reflected in pay checks the first of August.

Merit Pay
 Taylor: (Referring to a remark about some members of the Police Department having received a merit pay increase in January). "I have questions on merit raises. Is it true some are getting this regularly while others are not getting it at all?"

West: "We have to depend on department heads for recommendations on what to do. Your question was that some don't get it. That's true."

Taylor: "Merit raises have to be determined by an individual. There is such a thing as favoritism. This makes merit increase questionable. There's nothing in the budget to give us the kind of information we need on this."

Mrs. McGrath: "I have objections to the methods used. Merit pay should be based on tests, objective reports, on several different means."

Dr. Fuller: "We need to study the whole personnel picture. It involves many things. We're talking off the tops of our heads, we're speaking like educators."

Following additional remarks on merit pay, Cox made a motion that the budget ordinance be accepted. His motion at that time died for lack of a second, and the discussion moved into the budget item for the Recreation Department.

Recreation
 Mrs. McGrath opened this subject by saying a spokesman for a citizens group had proposed to furnish labor etc. for a ball park on the Hardy property adjacent to Eastern Elementary School provided the city approves $12,500 for installing lights.

West: "There's no way to argue against recreation. But if you don't watch out, we'll have the tail wagging the dog. Once a program is established, that's only a down payment. There's maintenance, personnel and equipment from there on. Recreation should expand, but gradually."

"Eventually it might be wise to put to a vote of the people the allocation of so much tax money for this. If we didn't have the Greenville Utilities to fall back on, we'd really be in a bind."

Dr. Fuller: "The Recreation Department requested $100,000 more this year than last year. Even with cuts, it amounts to some forty to fifty thousand more. I would not term this a gradual increase."

Development Projects
 Ways of possibly cutting back, at least for this fiscal year, some of the various city commitments to development and redevelopment projects were touched on. Summing up, Mayor West commented: "Actions to cut back would seriously affect our projects. If we roll back too much, we don't get approval."

Taylor: "I feel we must keep our commitments on West Side, Newtown, North Side, CBD, the Town Common. If we don't continue to move forward, I think there would be serious questions to be asked on the part of those we have made commitments to."

Questions on Taxes
 Dr. Frank Fuller: "What would added taxes buy?"
 Mayor West: "Every one cent increase gives us about $8,000 in added funds."
 Cox: "So two cents would pay for a side mount truck."
 West: "We can buy by down-payment. I hate to see a raise in taxes. With revaluation I think we can hold rates as they are. People are paying more taxes with the rates staying the same."

Pay Increases
 Mrs. McGrath: "The most valuable asset is people. Don't they get a pay increase in July. Is this not the time frame for that?"

East Carolina Throttles Appalachian, 9-3

Wild Pitch Costly

RED SPRINGS — East Carolina pulled within a half game of the Summer Collegiate Baseball league leaders Carolina last night with a 9-3 win over the Mountaineers of Appalachian.

Pirate Dave LaRussa took the win striking out seven, walking three and giving up seven hits. The Pirates started things off in the first getting three runs. Mike Bradshaw led off with a double and Russ Smith was safe on an error that let Bradshaw come around for the first Buc score. Ralph Lamm walked and both he and Smith moved up on a passed ball. Ron Staggs singled to drive in both runners.

The Mountaineers tied it up in the bottom of the frame as they got all their runs. Mike Ramsey singled but was cut down as Mack Clark hit into a fielder's choice. Butch Dzaidus singled him up and a hit by Steve Anspaugh scored Clark. John Brockmier was hit by a pitch and an error let Evans Crocker reach base as Dzaidus scored. Anspaugh moved into third. Whitte walked, forcing in Anspaugh with the tying run.

East Carolina put two in scoring position in the fourth as Ronnie Leggett and John Narron each got hits and were sacrificed up. They failed to score.

Then in the fifth the Bucs pushed over a pair of runs to take the lead for good. Lamm singled and Larry Walters walked. Staggs hit into a fielder's choice getting Lamm at third. Narron singled to drive in Walters and a double by Leggett scored Staggs.

Bradshaw doubled for ECU in the sixth but could not come around. The Pirates did get four more in the eighth to insure the win. Leggett singled and LaRussa beat out a bunt. Bradshaw reached when his bunt was errored filling the bases. Smith flied out to sacrifice Leggett over and LaRussa singled bringing in LaRussa. Walters got a hit to Bradshaw and Lamm who had got to second on an error.

LaRussa shut out the Apps after the first inning allowing only two men to reach base. That was in the fifth as Clark singled and Bob Gentry walked. That was as far as they could go.

Leggett paced the hitting with three while Bradshaw, Lamm, and Narron each had two. Anspaugh had two for ASU.

The Pirates return home to host the Tar Heels of UNC in a game to decide the host team for the playoffs. The game is also "Pepsi night" with all who attend the game receiving a free Pepsi and being eligible for prizes. The Bucs travel to

Belton Is Ladies Champ

Belton won the Ladies Tournament Championship last night with an 11-8 win over Little Mint.

Little Mint broke into the lead in second inning with one Belton tied it up in the third. Belton moved out on four runs in the fourth making it 5-1. The score was again knotted up as Little Mint pushed over four in the top of the fifth. The four runs came on a grand slam by Linda Tripp. Belton took the lead in the bottom of the fifth with another four runs including a homer by Flash Flanagan.

Joyce Sawyer had reached on an error for Belton and then Flanagan slapped her homer. Sandy Barnhill doubled and scored on a triple by Debra Pfiel. She scored on a passed ball.

Little Mint got three more in the sixth but Belton added two in the bottom half of the inning giving them the win and the championship.

Seymour Johnson Knocked Out

Seymour Johnson was held to two hits yesterday by a tough Morehead City team and went on to lose 5-0.

Morehead City will now advance in the division playoffs to meet Fort Bragg American this afternoon for the Division championship.

Morehead City got all they needed in the bottom of the first as they pushed over a lone score. That came as David Williams slammed a homer.

Morehead City put two more men on in the frame but could not score. That was the way it stood for the next three innings as both teams went down in order twice and putting a man on once. Seymour Johnson's James Chevious singled in the fourth and Bruce Norman got one for Morehead City in the third but both failed to score.

Morehead City finally broke the game open in the fifth as they rallied for four runs. Jamie Frost reached on a bunt single and went to second on a passed ball. Williams reached on a fielder's choice that failed to get Frost. Eugene Lockhart walked and Norman smashed a grand slam to bring in all three runners.

SJAFB put two on in the sixth as Craig Terry walked and John Wells was safe on an error. A strike-out ended the game.

George Hall was the winning pitcher striking out 11, walking two, and only giving up two hits. Norman had three hits to pace the Morehead hitters.

The final game of the series will be at Elm Street park this afternoon beginning at 5:00 p.m.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Gurry, 26, has been named freshman football coach at Columbia, replacing Dick Sakala, who was recently promoted to assistant athletic director.

Gurry, a varsity baseball and football standout at Boston College, was an assistant coach and defensive coordinator under Sakala last year, when the Columbia freshmen posted a 3-3 record.

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP) — New Orleans Saints running back Jim Ford, who was injured last November, was scheduled to have a pin removed from his knee today.

Coach J. D. Roberts said Ford, the team's leading rusher last season, probably would be out of action for about two more weeks.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies have placed right-hander Jim Nash on the 21-day disabled list because of a recurring sore shoulder.

Viridon Is Pessimistic While Berra Reminisces

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Yogi Berra likes to think fondly of his New York Mets' tumultuous 1969 season. But Pittsburgh's Bill Viridon, glancing back over his shoulder, is more concerned with the more negative aspects of baseball's recent history.

"We've still got a long way to go and anything can happen," Yogi said Thursday night after the Mets split a two-night doubleheader with the Pirates to remain 5½ games back of the front-running Bucs in the National League's East Division.

"I remember in '69 we were 9½ games out in August and we ended up winning it," the Mets' manager said. "We've got eight more games with them," he said of the Pirates, "so we'll get our chances."

For a couple of hours, the Mets were within 4½ games of the top, thanks to Jon Matlack, who pitched a four-hitter, and Wayne Garrett, whose 10th-inning sacrifice fly gave them a 1-0 victory in the opener.

But a few hours after that,

Pittsburgh was back where it had been before the night's action got under way as Willie Stargell and Jackie Hernandez drove in two runs apiece, leading the way to a 7-5 triumph in the finale.

Elsewhere around the National League, the Chicago Cubs split a pair with Philadelphia, winning 4-0 before the Phils took the nightcap 3-2, Cincinnati clubbed San Diego 8-2, Los Angeles beat Houston 6-3, St. Louis mauled Montreal 8-2 and San Francisco's game at Atlanta was rained out.

In the American League, Detroit swept Milwaukee 3-2 and 8-5, the Chicago White Sox beat Kansas City 7-3 in a twinbill opener before losing 3-0, the New York Yankees defeated Boston 6-2, Cleveland edged Baltimore 4-3, California silenced Texas 5-0 and Oakland nipped Minnesota 4-3.

Viridon, who inherited a World Championship club when former manager Danny Murtaugh retired after the '71 season, was hardly optimistic when talking about the Pirates' lead.

"Look at the Phillies in '64," he said. "They were seven games ahead with 10 games to go and they lost it."

Matlack, who had won only one game in his last three starts, despite yielding just one earned run in that stretch, was in a buoyant mood. "We won the ball game and I was around at the finish. That's what counts," he said after raising his record to 10-5.

He won it because Cleon Jones led off the 10th against Pirate starter Nelson Briles with a double, took third on Ed Kranepool's bunt single and scored on Garrett's fly ball.

But the second game belonged to the Bucs, who amassed a 7-0 lead before Duffy Dyer hit a three-run homer and Teddy Martinez had a two-run single.

Stargell's 20th home run gave them their first two runs and Hernandez doubled and singled for two more. A Jerry Koosman wild pitch and Vic Davalillo's infield single provided two more runs.

Whitey Lockman, debuting as the Cubs' manager following Leo Durocher's resignation, got off to a rousing start as Ferguson Jenkins fired a one-hitter, allowing only Willie Montanez' looping double to center in the fourth inning of the opener.

"When they drop in, they're hits," Jenkins shrugged. "They made a good effort to catch it but Don Kessinger missed it by inches ... centimeters."

Lockman's fortunes didn't last long. In the second contest, Greg Luzinski hit a two-run, game-tying triple in the eighth inning and John Bateman singled home the winner in the ninth for the Phils.

Black Jack Is National Champ

Black Jack won the National Division Church League Tournament last night as they overpowered Oakmont in the second game of a doubleheader 12-0.

Oakmont had won the first game 8-1 bringing about the second game. Going into the final round of the tourney, Oakmont had to win both games from Black Jack while Black Jack had only to win one.

In the opener, Oakmont got all it needed in the second. D. Perry singled and scored as Hersey Smithson doubled. Phil Martin singled to drive in Smithson.

Oakmont added one more in the third, three in the sixth, and two in the seventh. Black Jack kept from being skunked by pushing over a run in the sixth.

The loss fired Black Jack up and they went to work in the first inning of the second game getting all they needed. P. Smith singled and S. Peele drove him with a triple. Tal Adams slammed a home run scoring Peele.

B. Elks singled and R. McCaster did likewise. R.

Hardee hit into a fielder's choice getting McCaster but a hit by George Holland scored Elks. A hit by Bill Carson scored both Hardee and Holland.

Black Jack pushed over three more in the third, one in the fifth, and two in the seventh.

Black Jack will meet Meadowbrook on Monday night for the Church League crown in a best-of-three series starting at 7:30.

Ryan, Bahnsen Miss Immortality By Two Outs; One Loss, One Win

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
Nolan Ryan and Stan Bahnsen, two pitchers who were sent packing by New York teams last winter, came within four outs of baseball immortality Thursday night but had to settle for one victory and one defeat.

Ryan, California's smoke-throwing fast-baller, lost his no-hit bid on Larry Biittner's two-out double in the eighth inning and finished with a two-hit, 14-strikeout 5-0 triumph over the Texas Rangers.

Bahnsen was locked in a scoreless struggle with Kansas City's Roger Nelson until the eighth when a walk and two-out singles by Nelson, Cookie Rojas and Steve Hovley sparked the Royals to a 3-0 decision over Chicago in the second game of a doubleheader. The White Sox took the opener 7-3.

Elsewhere, Detroit took two from Milwaukee 3-2 and 8-5, Cleveland edged Baltimore 4-3, Oakland nipped Minnesota 4-3 and the New York Yankees downed Boston 6-2.

In the National League, the New York Mets shaded Pittsburgh 1-0 in 10 innings but the Pirates bounced back to take the nightcap 7-5, the Chicago Cubs blanked Philadelphia 4-0 and the Phillies won the second game 3-2. St. Louis whipped Montreal 8-2, Cincinnati trounced San Diego 8-2, Los Angeles best Houston 6-3 and San Francisco and Atlanta were rained out.

Ex-Met Ryan, hit hard in three straight losses on the road, boosted his record to 9-2 in friendly Anaheim Stadium.

"It was the first time in my life I felt I had a shot at a no-hitter," he said. "It was the longest I've ever gone without allowing a hit."

The Angels provided all the offense Ryan needed in the first inning when Billy Parker, just up from the minors, tagged loser Mike Paul for a two-run single. Ryan doubled across the final run in the seventh.

Dick Allen smashed his 23rd and 24th home runs in Chicago's first-game triumph over Kansas City, tying Cincinnati's Johnny Bench for the major league lead and helping Wilbur Wood to his 16th victory despite a two-run homer by Hovley in the first inning.

While ex-Yankee Bahnsen was holding the Royals hitless for seven innings in the nightcap, his teammates threatened three times but failed to score. With two out in the eighth and a runner on first, Nelson bounced a single past third baseman Ed Spiezo for KC's first hit and Rojas and Hovley followed with run-scoring singles, chasing Bahnsen.

The Tigers had to come from behind in both games to stretch their lead in the AL East to 2½ games over Baltimore. Trailing 1-0 and held to one hit for eight innings by Bill Parsons in the opener, they took advantage of an error by Milwaukee third baseman Mike Ferraro. With two out, Willie Horton singled and Norm Cash walloped his 19th home run.

Detroit wiped out a 4-0 deficit with four runs in the third inning of the nightcap, then came from behind once again with four more in the eighth, highlighted by Eddie Brinkman's two-run tie-breaking single.

Cleveland took a 2-0 lead against Baltimore's Pat Dobson in the first inning on John Lowenstein's bases-loaded single but trailed 3-2 in the ninth. With one out, though, Frank Duffy singled and pinch hitter Tom McCraw slammed a two-run homer.

Oakland's Vida Blue displayed his 1971 form for eight innings—a four-hit shutout—but needed help from Rollie Fingers in the ninth after Cesar Tovar doubled, Steve Braun singled and Harmon Killebrew homered.

Bobby Murcer and Johnny Callison homered for the Yankees against Boston, with Murcer driving in three runs and Callison two.

Cowboys Picked To Beat College Stars By Three TD's

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — Nebraska's Bob Devaney will try to conjure his Cornhusker coaching magic, which produced two straight national collegiate titles, against the heavily-favored Dallas Cowboys in the 39th All-Star Football Game tonight.

The National Football League champion Cowboys, making their first start since their 24-3

Super Bowl conquest of the Miami Dolphins, are rated almost a three-touchdown favorite in the Soldier Field contest which will be televised nationally (ABC-TV at 9 p.m., EDT).

Devaney, first college head coach to direct the All-Stars since 1954, has a spirited collegiate squad, bulwarked with his entire Cornhusker coaching staff and a flock of 1971 Nebraska stars, headed by starting quarterback Jerry Tagge.

For the past three weeks,

Devaney has conducted a no-nonsense camp at Northwestern and directed his hand-picked squad to impressive game-type scrimmage victories over the Chicago Bears and St. Louis Cardinals.

Coach Tom Landry of the Cowboys is wary about the fact that Devaney has not only one, but two of his own Cornhusker quarterbacks—Van Brownson is Tagge's backup—to run his Nebraska I formation.

"That's the big advantage of this All-Star team," said Landry, adding the 17½-point Cowboy favoritism was typical in this Chicago Tribune Charities series. The pros have won eight straight, including last year's 24-17 triumph by the Baltimore Colts, and hold a 27-9-2 record.

"The pros should be favorites, but this should be an interesting game," said Landry, whose attack will bombard the All-Stars with Roger Staubach's passing to such skilled receivers as Bob Hayes and Lance Alworth, and the running of Duane Thomas, Cal Hill and Walt Garrison.

The All-Star game marks the official opening of the pre-season NFL slate. The first game between two league teams will be played Saturday in Canton, Ohio with Kansas City meeting the New York Giants in the Hall of Fame contest. The other teams swing in action Aug. 4-5.

Before the Chiefs and Giants take the field at Canton, four persons will be inducted into the NFL Hall of Fame. They are Gino Marchetti, former defensive end for Baltimore; Ollie Matson, a gifted runner with Los Angeles; Clarence "Ace" Parker, triple threat star of the old Brooklyn Dodgers; and Lamar Hunt, owner of the Chiefs and a founder of the AFL.

Aaron, Coody Lead Team Match

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
LIGONIER, Pa. (AP) — Veterans Tommy Aaron and Charles Coody had the lead, Arnold Palmer had a satisfied look and Bert Yancey had a warning going into today's second round in the $200,000 Professional Golfers Association National Team championship.

"If we played that good with a double bogey, I think we're going to rip it up," Yancey said after he and partner Tom Weiskopf posted an eight-under-par 63 despite a double bogey 6—in Thursday's first round.

"We're going to be tough," said Yancey, winner of the American Golf Classic, last stop on the tour.

Aaron, a drawing veteran of 12 years on the pro tour, and Coody, a former Masters champion now in his 10th season, blended their talents almost perfectly for a leading 62 in the opening round of this 72-hole competition in which scoring is based on the better ball of each two-man team.

Palmer, meanwhile, got help on at least four holes from youthful partner Jack Lewis who was rung in at the last minute for Jack Nicklaus. Nicklaus, the dominant figure in the game this season, had combined with Palmer to win the last two team titles on the 7,045-yard, par 71 Laurel Valley Golf Club course but had to withdraw after undergoing minor surgery on his infected right index finger Tuesday.

"He did fine, just fine," Palmer, said of his partner after he and Lewis, an obscure 25-year-old who went to Wake Forest on an Arnold Palmer scholarship, had posted a 66, five under par. They were among the 10 teams tied for fifth and very much in contention.

Outsiders Steve Oppermann and teaching pro Chuck Rotar took third with a late-finishing 64 while Alabama neighbors Hubert Green and Mac McLendon were alone at 65.

Among the big bunch tied with Palmer and Lewis at 66 were brothers Dave and Mike Hill and the uncle-nephew team of Sam and J.C. Snead. Former champions Bobby Nichols and George Archer, along with South African Gary Player and Bob Rosburg were in another large group at 67.

But British Open champ Lee Trevino and former PGA titleholder Ray Floyd, among the favorites when Nicklaus had to pull out, had their problems. They could do no better than match par 71 and must improve if they are to survive the cut for the final two rounds.

Polarized By Their Music

Stanley's remarkable experience should be of double interest to clergymen! For the usual Music Director is sabotaging the preacher! Instead, he should polarize the heterogeneous audience, changing it into a congregation with memories of mother and teenage idealistic dreams!

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph.D., M.D.
Case U-547: Stanley Q., aged 28, was a police officer.

He was a student in my psychology class at the Northwestern University Traffic Institute.

"Dr. Crane," he told me one day, "we narrowly averted a serious riot on State Street last week.

"For about 1,000 men had congregated on the near South Side.

"They were out of work and in an ugly frame of mind.

"A glib young rabble rouser began addressing them.

"He urged them to march into the center of Chicago's Loop, where they were to smash the windows of Marshall Field's and other large stores.

"Then they were going to loot the merchandise.

"We were tipped off about the forthcoming march just an hour or two before it was to start.

"And we didn't want a pitched battle between 1,000 desperate rioters versus our police.

"So, as a last chance, we thought we might resort to psychology.

Several sound trucks were quickly dispatched to the area where the rioters were assembling.

"And these trucks began to play a variety of old church hymns.

"Without realizing the transformation that was occurring, these irate men began to revert to their childhood.

"Early memories of their mothers and possible church events began to fill their minds.

"Meanwhile, they became suffused with emotions that were the opposite of the warlike mood that had prevailed a few minutes before.

"So we were able to disperse the mob without firing a shot.

"This was a classic example of the power of music to combat violence, don't you agree, Dr. Crane?"

Music Hath Power
Yes, and I often wish this police lieutenant could lead the choirs in some of our present large city churches.

For he would utilize that same strategy to help unify the congregation and thus turn it over to the pastor in a polarized mood.

At present, many talented Music Directors are wasting the time of their church audience by scheduling music to which the congregation is largely inert.

For strange music fails to resurrect thoughts of mother and teenage idealism.

The standard old hymns, however, are richly entwined with emotional memories to bring a lump in our throat and even a tear to our eye.

This type of familiar church music then polarizes the congregation.

Instead of letting the audience drift away in 1,000 different directions while a "pyrotechnical" choir performs with strange anthems, the familiar anthems focus everybody's attention on idealism.

The audience becomes suffused with uplifting emotions, and doesn't fidget or idly turn the leaves of the church bulletins.

So PLEASE remember that the primary purpose of church music is psychological!

It should revive memories! But it requires FAMILIAR hymns to do that!

Surveys at military camps both at home and abroad always list the same half dozen favorite hymns of men who know they may soon face the Grim Reaper!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.) Copyright 1972.

Psychologist Is Grant Recipient

Dr. Larry Means of the East Carolina University psychology faculty has received $2,988 from the N.C. Dept. of Mental Health to continue his studies of nerve cell damage and learning and memory losses.

The project, "Korsakoff's Psychosis and the Dorsal Medial Thalamus," involves research and laboratory animals to discover whether or not there is a behavioral, medicinal or surgical procedure which will alleviate the learning and memory deficits resulting from brain damage in humans.

You've got a lot to live

Pepsi's got a lot to give

What we mean is this: living isn't always easy, but it never has to be dull. There's too much to see, to do, to enjoy. Put yourself behind a Pepsi-Cola and get started. You've got a lot to live.
