Gift With A Purpose

THE HEMODIALYSIS UNIT . . . of the new Pitt Memorial Hospital to be financed by a $30,000 gift from the Burroughs Wellcome Company is pointed out by W. W. Wooten, Pitt Memorial Trustees chairman, who accepted the gift. Those discussing the unit with Wooten are G. Henry Leslie, Burroughs Wellcome Greenville Division manager; Charles H. Pressel, Burroughs Wellcome Vice President of Production; William W. Speight, Pitt County Attorney; and Charles Gaskins, chairman of the Pitt County Commissioners. (Reflector Photo by Tommy Forrest)

Pitt School Bd. Accepts Budgets For Fiscal Year

By BLANCHE HARDEE
Reflector Staff Writer

The Pitt County Board of Education yesterday accepted a $3,068,898 current expense budget and $403,750 for capital improvements for the 1972-73 fiscal year as approved by the Board of County Commissioners two weeks ago.

The capital outlay budget includes a total of $35,000 for additions to the Falkland Elementary and G.R. Whitfield schools and $300,000 for additional classrooms and other facilities at A.G. Cox Grammar School.

The current expense budget includes $1,499,324 for instructional service (including the Grifton Resource Center, instructional supplies, various special teachers' salaries and migrant worker education programs); $167,476 for fixed charges (such as workers compensation, insurance); $300,785 for maintenance of plant (repairs to buildings, replacement of furniture); and $182,618 for operation of plant (janitors and maids, fuel, utilities and janitors' supplies).

Arthur Alford, superintendent of Pitt County Schools, told the board that David Plummer Jr. had requested a hearing before a review panel which will be appointed by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Plummer, principal of the A.G. Cox Grammar School, Winterville, was suspended last month by the Pitt Board of Education for "neglect of duty and insubordination."

Plummer was principal at A.G. Cox for the past two years.

Alford was given permission to name a "substitute principal" at A.G. Cox with the recommendation of the local advisory council.

School fees for the 1972-73 school year were accepted. The fee for elementary school children will be $9 (including $3.50 for insurance which is optional). The fee shows an increase of 75 cents over last year's amount of $8.25. The increase is due to an extra 50 cents for workbooks and a 25-cent increase in the insurance premium.

The general school fee for high school students is $3. An additional fee will be charged for students enrolled in such classes as typing, agricultural, home economics, aviation, distributive education and shops. Students will also be charged extra for caps and gowns and diplomas.

Board members approved maintaining the 30 cents per lunch rate for students and 40 cents for teachers.

Fall Term

Both elemntary and high school students will report for work on Aug. 28 to begin the 1972-73 school year.

An orientation period for high school students will be held Aug. 29 and 30. Seniors will report for orientation on the morning of Aug. 29 and juniors will have orientation that afternoon. Orientation for sophomores will be held on the morning of Aug. 30 and freshmen orientation has been set for the afternoon of Aug. 30.

Transportation for high school students will begin on Thursday, Aug. 31.

Orientation for elementary students will begin on Wednesday, Aug. 30. Transportation for elementary students will begin on Aug. 30.

School will be dismissed at

$30,000 Given To Hospital By B-W

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

Burroughs Wellcome Co. announced today a donation of $30,000 in support of construction of the new Pitt Memorial Hospital.

The contribution is to be specially used for the six-bed Brooks Memorial Hemodialysis Unit planned for the new hospital. It will constitute the only one of its kind available in Eastern North Carolina.

In making the announcement at Pitt Memorial this morning at 11 o'clock, Charles H. Pressel, Burroughs Wellcome vice president of production, said, "Our company views this planned new hospital as an essential element in the future health care needs of Greenville and Eastern North Carolina. We are pleased to participate in this endeavor."

W.W. Wooten, chairman of the Hospital Trustees, said, "We Pitt Countians are grateful for such a fine corporate citizen willing to participate in the building of our new hospital in such a generous manner. Each life saved by the new hemodialysis unit will be a tribute to the Burroughs-Wellcome spirit, the plant here and all its employees."

Beside Pressel and Wooten, those attending the presentation ceremony were Harry Leslie, Plant Manager of the Greenville B-W Division, Charles Gaskins, chairman of the Pitt County Board of Commissioners, W.W. Speight, County Attorney, and Jack Richardson, Hospital Administrator.

Also announced at the hospital gathering was the establishment of a Memorial Gifts committee for the new hospital. This committee will assist the Board of Trustees of the hospital in making known to interested contributors that donations to the Hospital Building Fund are tax exempt contributions. Recognition of these contributions will be identified by a memorial plaque to be displayed in the lobby of the new hospital.

Citizens who have indicated a willingness to serve on the committee are John C. "Jack" Bircher, Joe O. Clark, Leroy James, G. Harry Leslie, Joe W. Pou, Mrs. David O. Speir, W.H. "Bill" Watson, and Mrs. J.B. Spilman.

The estimated construction cost for the new 315-bed hospital and the 55-bed rehabilitation unit is $13,461,852. Funds committed to the project include $9 million from the Pitt County Bond Issue, $1,143,000 from a Federal Rehabilitation Grant, and $350,042 from a State Rehabilitation Grant. These funds total $10,493,042. The difference of $2,968,010 is expected to be raised from Hill-Burton grants and contributions made to the new hospital. Assistance is expected from the Duke Endowment and contacts are being made to other foundations to secure assistance in this contribution. Memorial gifts have already been received to the D.L. Moore Memorial Fund and the Dorcas Highsmith Memorial Fund.

Inquiries concerning contributions to the Hospital Building Funds should be addressed to Memorial Gifts Committee, P.O. Box 6028, Pitt County Memorial Hospital, Greenville, N.C. 27834.

Procurement Bill Is 'Peace Vehicle'

By JOHN LENGEL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate war foes planned a multi-leveled attack on the Indochina conflict today, using the $20.5-billion Pentagon procurement bill as their vehicle.

The Senate is scheduled to wind up eight days of work on the bill tonight after refusing on Tuesday to accept a proposal by Democratic presidential candidate Sen. George McGovern that the spending authorization be cut by $4 billion.

But the end won't come without a fight over troop withdrawals, and the first amendment scheduled for consideration backs the administration.

Written by Sen. George Aiken, R-Vt., it would write into the bill what are essentially the White House conditions for withdrawal: an internationally supervised cease-fire, release of prisoners and an accounting of missing in action.

An amendment by Sen. Edward Brooke, R-Mass., calls for withdrawal from Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia within four months provided prisoners are released. The amendment was attached to the foreign military aid bill, but the Senate later killed the entire measure.

Withdrawal advocates had a fallback position prepared with the latest amendment by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield.

It would start Vietnam withdrawal immediately, and Indochina withdrawal when an agreement with Hanoi for a cease-fire and release of prisoners is reached.

If these fail, Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., was prepared to offer an amendment which would halt bombing of North Vietnam with the intent of preserving the dikes.

In votes on the procurement bill Tuesday, McGovern failed 59 to 33 with his amendment to cut back Defense spending by $4 billion. Opponents called it a meat-ax approach to national security.

By a vote of 64 to 25 the Senate defeated an amendment by Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., which would have ended the military draft Dec. 31.

By voice vote, the Senate approved an amendment by Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., which makes it a matter of federal policy to deny funds for federal experiments with humans unless they are fully warned of the risks.

Kennedy said, for example, that the experiments started in 1932 by the Public Health Service with Alabama syphilitics would have been banned if the men were not apprised of the dangers.

By a vote of 82 to 4 the Senate approved a one-time recomputation of retired benefits for military retirees who have reached age 60.

Eyes Resigning

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has repeated his intention to resign on Jan. 20, and believes Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York and former Secretary of the Treasury John Connally would be qualified to succeed him.

Laird left the impression during a talk with newsmen in St. Louis Monday night that he personally favors Rockefeller. He mentioned Kenneth Rush, a deputy defense secretary, as a third possibility.

He told newsmen he was not "advocating any particular candidate" and said he has not discussed the choice of a successor with President Nixon.

Laird said he agreed to take the job for only one four-year term. Asked if he would stay on if Nixon asked him, he said, "In order to serve the country best I should have a few months off, but that would not be very practical."

Awards Go To 3

Distinguished service awards were presented last night to three members of the Greenville City Board of Education who are retiring from the board.

Dr. Raleigh Dingman, executive secretary of the North Carolina School Boards Association made the presentation of the awards to Mr. Robert Kittrell, John Bizzell and Dr. E. B. Aycock at a dinner in honor of the three board members.

The certificates recognized the three for "a sustaining interest in and contribution to public education."

Dr. Badger Clark, board chairman presided at the meeting which also included an orientation session for the three new board members, including Mrs. Barry Snak, E.E. Carter and Edmund Waldrop, Sr.

Tobacco Prices Continue Soar

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — Prices moved upward Tuesday for the fifth consecutive day in flue-cured tobacco auctions on the South Carolina and North Carolina Border Belt.

Two thirds of the grade averages advanced $1 per hundred pounds above Monday's record levels, according to the Federal-State Market News Service.

The news service said more than 80 per cent of the leaf was selling in a narrow range of $85 to $87 per hundred pounds. Overall quality dropped slightly, but sales remained heavy with all markets having more leaf than could be sold in the alloted time.

South Carolina markets sold 4,954,809 pounds Tuesday for an average of $85.44 per hundred pounds, while North Carolina markets sold 3,983,282 pounds for an average of $85.04.

Combined sales Monday amounted to 9,521,615 pounds for an average of $84.73, up $1.88 from Thursday's sales and a record broken by Tuesday's sales.

Dollar Day

Thursday August 3 has been designated as Dollar Day for the city of Greenville.

According to Harold Creech, manager of the Chamber of Commerce and Merchants Association, the semi-annual Dollar Day is the biggest trade event of the year. Merchants have been preparing for this day for some time, he stated.

Creech also commented that this Dollar Day is the second day of its type this year, and that most merchants will be having their summer clearance sales.

Free parking will be available throughout the city, and Creech urged that all persons take advantage of the bargains.

Farmville Bd. Discusses Publicizing Bond Vote

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

FARMVILLE — The Farmville Commissioners discussed last night ways to publicize the Aug. 15 bond election for water improvements.

Commissioner Irvin Morgan reported that he has made tapes telling what's involved in the election and brochures are being printed, also, he said. Some $388,000 is needed for two new wells, a storage facility, and new lines. With an $310,000 anticipated from an Economic Development Administration grant and Farmville's share of the N.C. Clean Water Bond money, the voters need vote only $77,000. Water and light director J. A. "Bud" Wooten said water tap fees and service charges should pay back the loan in a relatively short time.

A representative of the Farmville Recreation Department appealed to the Commissioners to provide trophies for various sports events. The cost will be less than $100 he said. The Commissioners concurred.

Increasing employees' retirement beneifts to include a benefit of a year's salary to the person's beneficiary was approved. The extra cost will be 79 cents per month per employee.

A public hearing was set for consideration of the rezoning of a lot on the north side of Highway 258 beside Red's TV Repair Service from R-8 single family dwellings to R-6, multiple family dwellings. Advertisement of the hearing will begin immediately. It is set for the September 5 meeting.

The Commissioners discussed with Alex Allen the extension of the city limits, as recommended by the Town Planning Board, to include Wright Drive, a street within a subdivision developed by Allen. Also considered is the extension of Perry Street so it will connect with Fields Street. No action was taken.

J. A. Wooten reported that the new well on 264-A is operating and that there has been no shortage of water this summer, as was experienced in summers past.

Approval was given for the Fire Department to use the radio equipment no longer needed by the Police Department which changed this week to a higher frequency that demanded new equipment. The provision of a new restroom for judges serving in the Farmville District Court was discussed. Attorney John Lewis said Farmville should "fix up" its courtroom before it loses its court day.

Building inspector H. P. Norman reported that W&W Wrecker Service of Winterville has agreed to pick up any cars that the town can get clear title to. He said Wall said he will pick up the cars where they are if he someone to go with him to identify the right ones. Norman

On The Verge

CAIRO (AP) — Egypt and Libya are on the verge of proclaiming the formation of one state, the official Egyptian news agency reported today from Benghazi, where the leaders of the two countries are meeting.

The agency said President Anwar Sadat and the Libyan leader, Col. Muammar Kadafi, would make a "historic declaration" to be broadcast by Cairo and Tripoli radios this afternoon.

The agency dispatch did not make clear whether the merger would be immediate or in phases. Sadat and Kadafi have been discussing since Monday the Libyan leader's proposal to unite.

Woman Killed

DURHAM (AP) — A 45-year-old Williamston woman was killed this morning when she was hit by a car on a Durham street.

Police said Mrs. Ruth Steele was struck while walking along a street near its interchange with I-85. Officers said she had spent the night in a nearby motel, visiting relatives.

Director Of Secondary Education Resigns Post

The resignation of Bob L. Sigmon as director of secondary education for the Greenville City Schools was announced today by Superintendent of Schools Dr. C. C. Cleetwood.

Sigmon is resigning, according to Dr. Cleetwood, to assume the position of Education Specialist with the Richmond (Virginia) City Schools where he will be charged with the responsibility for developing a middle school program in conjunction with John Marshal Senior High School and its feeder schools.

Dr. Cleetwood praised Sigmon for his "effective work over the last several years" in secondary school curriculum development and expressed the opinion that the new position "offers a professional challenge to a most capable person and reflects a well-deserved promotion."

The resignation, according to the school superintnedent, is effective August 4.

"A decision on filling the Sigmon vacancy or restructuring the central office staff organization will be made and announced as soon as all viable options are studied for carrying on and enhancing the important work of secondary school curriculum direction and coordination," Dr. Cleetwood explained.

In commenting further on the status of professional staffing for the 1972-1973 school year, Dr. Cleetwood said some difficulties have been experienced in obtaining releases of certain personnel who, by the time contracts could be offered, had moved within the time restrictions for resignation under the new professional employment and dismissal statute.

However, the school official explained, the only critical vacancies are for an industrial arts instructor for Aycock Junior High School and for one special teacher for a recently-approved ESEA Title III project.

U.S. Officials Hopeful Algeria Will Return Extortion Money

ALGIERS (AP) — U.S. officials were hopeful today that the Algerian government would return the $1 million paid to the hijackers of a Delta Airlines jetliner. The DC8 and its crew spent Tuesday night in Barcelona, Spain, on their way back to the United States, and the Algerian government was holding the hijackers and the money.

Allan Davis, acting head of the U.S. diplomatic mission in Algiers, said Algerian officials have not yet replied to the American request for return of the money but added, "We are encouraged by what has happened in the past."

Two months ago, the Algerian government seized and returned $500,000 collected in the hijacking of a U.S. airliner. Since then, it has indicated it dislikes the idea that it is running a hijackers' haven.

In New York, Bernice Jones of the Black Panthers said the Panthers' delegation in Algiers had telephoned that the government had decided to return the ransom money to the United States and was considering also returning the three men and two women who took over the plane on a flight from Detroit to Miami Monday. The hijackers also had three children with them.

Miss Jones said the hijackers were connected with the Black Liberation Army and the Black Panthers in Algiers were pressuring the Algerian government to give them asylum.

The Black Liberation Army is described by New York police as a loose nationwide organization of black urban terrorists not formally connected with the Panthers.

The State Department asked the Algerian government to return the ransom and either prosecute the hijackers or return them. The request was made via the Guinea Embassy, since Washington and Algiers have no formal diplomatic relations.

At the cluttered frame house the group occupied in Detroit, authorities found a mound of dirt in the living room topped by a naked plastic doll with a penknife in is back. Alongside were seven pennies in a semicircle around a small piece of bone.

Give Husband Tip, Tell Him To Watch Tips

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I feel like such a fool writing this, but you might be able to help.

I am a grown woman, [college educated] and have always been able to handle any situation, but this one has me stumped.

My husband [also college educated] is friendly, outgoing, and people like him immediately. Especially waitresses. He overtips to an embarrassing degree [waitresses—not waiters] but my main objection is his familiarity toward waitresses when we are out together. He hugs and squeezes them, and calls them "Honey, Sweetie and Darling." I find this extremely offensive.

I keep hoping a waitress will put him in his place, but no such luck. They seem to like it. My husband is 60 and so am I.

Would it be wrong of me to slip one of these waitresses a note with a ten-dollar bill, asking her to please chill the old fool? TEMPTED

DEAR TEMPTED: Resist the temptation. Simply tell your husband that his behavior makes him conspicuous, and you'd appreciate it if he'd keep his hands off the waitresses and dispense with the sweet talk.

DEAR ABBY: My ex-husband recently remarried. He had a church wedding with a champagne reception at the country club afterwards. In other words, "all the trimmings." I did not find it unusual that our children attended because after all, he IS their father. However, when I heard that my own sister attended, danced until dawn and is planning to entertain for the newlyweds, I felt a stab of disloyalty.

Tho I am happily remarried myself at this point, I think my sister could have been a little more considerate of my feelings. Do you blame me for feeling. . . .

HURT AND BITTER

DEAR HURT: I see no reason why your sister shouldn't attend your ex-husband's wedding, and even entertain for the couple if she so wishes. I think your "hurt" and bitterness is uncalled for since you are presently happily married.

DEAR ABBY: I had some guests over one evening, and while we were eating dinner [between the soup and the fish] the gentleman at my left asked, "Do you mind if I smoke?"

I smiled very politely, and replied, "I'd rather you waited until after dinner." He then took some cigarets out of his pocket and proceeded to smoke!

I want to ask you, what on earth could have been the matter with this man? APPALLED

DEAR APPALLED: He was either hard-of-hearing, or hard of listening. [Or possibly just plain rude.]

DEAR ABBY: In your answer to my question, you said the only thing that was 100 per cent safe was "ABSTINENCE." Where do you buy it? SHIRLEY D.

DEAR SHIRLEY: You don't "buy" it. You practice it.

A Local Woman Attends National Convention

Mrs. Arlene B. Mallison, of Greenville, was among 3,000 women representing every state in the nation plus the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, who attended the recent annual convention of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc. in Atlantic City, N.J.

The convention keynoter was Miss Lisa Sergio of Washington, D.C., nationally known lecturer and author, who spoke on "New Dimensions for Feminism." Miss Sergio urged women to bridge the differences in social, economic and political life and emphasized the importance of accepting the new opportunities now available to women.

The convention focused direct attention on how women can help women and what can be done to assist states to ratify the Equal Rights Amendment (ERA) BPW's legislative priority.

Delegates and members heard speeches by key national figures. In "Speaking Out," Congresswoman Martha Griffiths (D-Mich.) encouraged women to play a more active and meaningful role in the political process.

Mrs. Jayne Baker Spain of Washington, D.C. vice chairman of the Civil Service Commission, highlighted the importance of "Women Helping Women."

The major role of women as consumers was discussed by Mrs. Julia Montgomery Walsh of Washington, D.C. member of the Board of the American Stock Exchange, in her talk, "Buying and Investing Wisely," Dr. Paul Stephen Ello of Centerville, Va., Associate Professor at Georgetown University, talked on "The Art of Motivation."

Mrs. Mallison participated in business meetings, workshops, passage of 1972-73 BPW Legislative Platform, and the election of new 1972-73 national officers.

Mrs. Arlene B. Mallison

A convention highlight was the BPW Foundation's program, "New Strategy for Better Careers," last Tuesday evening. A panel of participants explored the employment avenues which will effect changes in the career status of women.

Prominent career women who served as panelists in the discussion were: Mrs. Fran Berger of Armonk, N.Y. manager of Special Programs, Equal Opportunites Department, IBM; Mrs. Mary Estill Buchanan of Boulder, Col. management consultant, arbitrator and lecturer; Mrs. Elizabeth Duncan Koontz of Washington, D.C. deputy assistant secretary of labor for employment standards; and Mrs. Helen Krauss Lelsle of St. Petersburg, Fla. trustee of the BPW Foundation.

The panel was moderated by Miss Margaret Hickey of St. Louis, Miss. public affairs editor of the "Ladies Home Journal" and past national BPW president (1944-46).

The BPW Foundation, created in 1956 by the National Federation, is non-profit organization dedicated to enhancing and strengthening opportunities for all working women through education and research.

More than 40 young careerists from across the nation participated in the Young Career Woman Program during the convention. Sponsored by the Nationla Federation since 1963, this program demonstrates BPW's emphasis on encouraging young business and professional women to play a rewarding and valuable role in their business community and hometown.

Mrs. Mallison said these young careerists, selected by their state federations, represent community conscious citizens with outstandings business possibilities.

Miss Osta Underwood of Nashville, Tenn., served as the chief presiding officer at the convention. Mrs. Jeanne C. Squire of Berea, Ohio, took office as national president for 1972-73 at the closing ceremonies on Thursday.

Miss Underwood told delegates, "It is interesting to note that the National Federation formally endorsed the Equal Rights Amendment (ERA) at its convention in Atlantic City in 1935. Since then there has been a march of progress for women. The U.S. Congress successfully passed ERA in March and sent this legislation to the states for ratification. I am happy and proud to say that we have reached the halfway mark — 20 states have already ratified ERA. The pendulum is swinging in women's favor. It's about time."

The N.C. Federation entertained at a Tar Heel breakfast, members of the National Board of Directors. Fifty-two members of the N.C. Federation of Business and Professional Women were hostesses to the annual breakfast at the Nation convention.

The N.C. Federation also honored Elizabeth Koontz, deputy assistant secretary of labor for employment standards, at a reception on July 25 in the North Carolina Suite. Mrs. Koontz is a native of Salisbury.

Couple Exchanges Vows In Saturday Ceremony

MRS. DWIGHT WILTON STROUD

RALEIGH — Miss Jacqueline Deborah Shiver and Dwight Wilton Stroud were united in marriage Saturday at 6:00 p.m. in the WRAL gardens here.

The Rev. Howard Cunningham of Raleigh performed the double ring ceremony.

A program of wedding music was presented by Derrick Newsome, organist, and Mrs. Edith McDougal, soloist.

The bride is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Shiver of Greenville. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Stroud of Raleigh.

Given in marriage by her uncle, the bride wore a white formal gown of organza accented with lace on the high neckline and wasitline. The full length sleeves had wide lace cuffs. Her full length veil was bordered with lace which matched her gown.

Miss Emma J. Edwards of Raleigh was maid of honor. She was attired in a formal gown designed with a pink bodice and floral skirt in shades of green, orchid and pink. The full length pink sleeves were finished in lace cuffs. Her pink veil was attached to a floral headpiece.

Bridesmaids were Miss Mary Mayo of Weldon, Miss Yvonne Wilder of Fuquay, Miss Geraldine Pugh of Greenville, Miss Thereas Thompson, Mrs. Gloria Smith, sister of the bridegroom, of Raleigh. Miss Felita Lewis of Raleigh was junior bridesmaid.

Miss Voncycle Lewis and Miss Angela Smith, both of Raleigh, nieces of the bridegroom, were flower girls.

The bridesmaids wore gowns styled identical to that of the maid of honor with orchid bodices and skirts of green, orchid and pink. Their floral headpieces were attached to orchid veils.

The children in the wedding each wore floor length gowns of orchid.

Derrick Edwards of Raleigh was ring bearer.

Larry Adonis Stroud of Raleigh, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Mordecai Stroud of Raleigh and Edsel Stroud of Washington, D.C., brothers of the bridegroom, Xavier Artis, James Walker and Joseph Winters Jr., all of Raleigh.

After a wedding trip to Atlanta, Ga., the couple will reside in Raleigh.

The bride attended North Carolina Central University and Hardbarger Business College. The bridegroom attended St. Augustine College.

Mrs. Bessie M. Lewis of Raleigh, sister of the bridegroom, directed the wedding.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the lounge at WRAL. Miss Ethel G. Barnhill of Greenville served as head hostess.

After the reception, a party was given by the bridegroom's parents at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Stroud.

On Friday evening following the rehearsal, a dinner party was given for the wedding party and out-of-town guests by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Lilli Shiver, in Raleigh.

The bride presented her attendants with gifts of jewelry.

Bride-Elect Entertained

Miss Sherry Davis, bride-elect, was entertained at a miscellaneous shower Thursday night at the home of Miss Vicki Andrews.

Miss Andrews and Miss Dunny Davis were hostesses.

A color scheme of lavender and yellow was used in decorating. The refreshment table was covered with a white cloth and centered with an arrangment of summer flowers.

The honoree was presented a white carnation corsage upon arrival.

The gifts, which were collected in a laundry basket, were presented to the bride following refreshments.

Pads of paper, pencils, crayons a few new puzzles and toys all make an auto, train, bus or plane trip less boring for children.

Eagleton's Future Looks Good

Sen. Thomas Eagleton's withdrawal from the Democratic ticket Monday night hardly came as any surprise.

The Missouri senator withdrew at the urging, perhaps orders, of presidential candidate Sen. George McGovern.

Sen. McGovern's 1,000 percent support of his vice presidential running mate had dwindled away during the weekend to such statement's as "I really don't know at this point whether he's a plus or a minus." In additon two officials, Democratic National Chairman Jean Westwood and Vice Chairman Basil A. Paterson had gone on television to urge that Sen. Eagleton drop out.

So it was almost a foregone conclusion that Sen. Eagleton would be forced off the ticket during his Monday night meeting with Sen. McGovern.

Ironically, the end of Sen. Eagleton's candidacy came when there was some indication that he was winning his fight for public support. In several television appearances he came across as a highly articulate and sound man who could take the punishment brought on by the greatest crisis ever faced by a Democratic vice presidential candidate. He answered his questions forthrightly and with candor. The contrast with Sen. McGovern's vacillating on the matter cannot have been lost on the American public. Sen. Eagleton was mistaken in not making it clear to Sen. McGovern and his people that he had been hospitalized for psychiatric treatment in years past. More important, the McGovern camp made a serious blunder in not checking and fully discussing the matter prior to rushing into the decision to nominate Sen. Eagleton.

Sen. Eagleton has served well in the U.S. Senate for his state of Missouri. He is obviously in sound mental health to continue serving. We hope he will put this unhappy association with Sen. McGovern behind him and go on to an outstanding career as a U.S. Senator.

So Far, Only A Money Plea

By BRYAN HAISLIP

RALEIGH, N.C. — The North Carolina Democratic Party, like the girl who first said "No," is leaving the next move up to the suitor.

It was one of the few states which gave a zero to George McGovern in the National Convention balloting for a presidential nominee.

Now, Candidate McGovern has the task of wooing Tar Heel party leaders for their support in the fall general election.

The only overture so far, said State Chairman John T. Church of Henderson, has been a long telegram with a message that could be put in two words: "Send money."

The remainder of the summer will find the state's Democratic candidates and party officials meditating on the appropriate attitude towards the presidential ticket. "It will take a lot of meditation. I imagine most candidates will make their own observations and look at polls closely before they take any firm position," Church said.

Youth Holds A Key

McGovern's chances to carry North Carolina rests on the ability to organize and to involve young people and minorities, Church speculated. He saw both factors operating at Miami Beach, and came away impressed.

The way the McGovern team went after the nomination, Church said, shows "They've got something than can happen." As a party leader, he added, he supports the ticket.

Arm's length independence between state and national campaigns won't be anything new in North Carolina. "It's been done successfully before," the chairman pointed out.

How the strategy develops won't be up to Church. Within a couple of weeks or so, he expects to bow aside from political activity and concentrate on business interests as an executive of a fast-growing chain of departmnet stores.

Getting along with the national party, including the delicate matter of accomodating to the presidential ticket, is one of the leadership roles that falls to Hargrove (Skipper) Bowles as the gubernatorial candidate.

Change Coming Soon

Bowles will get the chance to put in his man as state chairman when the state Democratic Executive Committee meets later this month.

Indications are it will be Jake Froelich of High Point, a wheelhorse in Bowles's successful primary campaign. Froelich at the helm would give continuity through the general election drive.

Froelich hasn't shown an inclination to keep the party post on a long-term basis, and might not serve beyond the first of the year.

Financing the fall campaign will be one of the jobs for the new chairman. It spite of pleas from national pols, it isn't likely to include dollars for the presidential effort.

Church, who spent seven months as chairman under appointment by Gov. Bob Scott, said he will leave with party finances in good shape. He wouldn't mention figures, but he said there is money to operate state headquarters and give a leg on the fall campaign for the state ticket.

Church and the governor cancelled a summer fund-raising affair on the coast which would have fattened the treasury. The date fell between the state convention and the national convention. "The timing was bad," he explained.

Unity Barbecue Proposed

He'd liks to see it replaced with a unity barbecue, perhaps staged in Raleigh, with a price tag of no more than $5 or $10. Functions with a $50 ticket tend to create resentment among less well-heeled party elements, he explained. "It shouldn't be priced out of the range of young people and minorities," he said.

If the idea is favorably received, Church said he'd be glad to lend a hand in planning the affair.

Church, a state senator cut from the Establishment cloth, had some qualms about open politics when he began as chairman. He had the ticklish task of implementing rules to assure proportionate participation by women, youth, and blacks.

"I've learned a whole lot," he said. "Our party's plan of organization can work. The delegation at Miami Beach showed we can work together with unity and respect for each other."

He wrote each member of the delegation, congratulating them on their work and praising the spirit of unity with which they performed.

Family and business will get his first attention in the months ahead. Politics, which took him twice to the General Assembly and to the party chairmanship, will get a lower priority. That doesn't mean, he added a door closed to other roles in the future.

Chess Will Never Be The Same After Bobby

Any of us who have ever thought of chess as a remote game played in sedate silence have been awakened by the chess spectacular now going on in Iceland.

American Bobby Fischer might be exhibiting bad manners, but his antics have resulted in worldwide enthusiasm for the game of chess, not to mention making it quite profitable for himself.

And now we have a postponement due to Russian Bovis Spassky's cold.

Chess will never be the same.

Hot Fight For A Speakership

By JOHN KILGO

RALEIGH — There's still a battle going on for the Speakership of the North Carolina House, with both of the major contenders claiming enough votes to win when the lesgilature convenes next January.

The candidates are Rep. James E. Ramsey of Roxboro and Rep. Dwight W. Quinn of Kannapolis.

We talked with more than a dozen Democratic members of the House and the majority of them said they felt Ramsey would end up with the Speaker's position.

Rep. Quinn, however, isn't buying that talk.

"It looks pretty good," Quinn told me when I asked him about his chances of being elected Speaker. "Things are definitely looking up."

Quinn says he expects about 95 Democrats to take their seats in the 120-member Tar Heel House next year. He has been working hard at drumming up support for his candidacy for Speaker and he tells me:

"I can count enough votes to win if they stay hitched."

Quinn says he's been busy with the Advisory Budget Commission for the past three weeks, but plans to do a lot of campaigning for the Speakership in the days just ahead.

It was generally conceded that Ramsey of Roxboro started off behind in the race for Speaker but made great headway midway through the last session of the General Assembly.

Ramsey looks for 92 to 95 Democrats in the House next time and he told me in an interview: "It looks real good for my candidacy. But I plan to continue to work hard."

Ramsey has gone after the Speaker's post with vigor. He has been in touch with House members by phone, letter and has visited them in person. He plans to continue his trips around the state to talk with Democratic House members.

"The people who are committed to me are strongly committed," Ramsey said. "They will be in my corner with their votes. I'm sure of that."

Ramsey doesn't want to blow the matter out of proportion, but he feels very confident that he's going to be the winner in this race. Quinn, almost without question, has been hurt to some extent by the politics of transition.

Several Democrats who were to line up with Quinn have left the House to be nominated for the State Senate. They are Ken Royal, Jack Rhyne, Harold Hardison and McNeil Smity. At least two others who were going to vote for Quinn have died, and two more were defeated in primaries this year.

Ramsey is to the point now that he is formulating plans that he would use from the Speaker's podium. He wants to see the Democratic caucus moved from the second week in December to Nov. 17. In other words, he would like to see the House organized faster this year than it was in 1971.

"It was two weeks before I knew where my office was last session," Ramsey said. "It was three weeks before the House was really organized. I would like to see us be organized the first week in Raleigh so the legislature

Strength For Today

FACING FACTS

One of the hardest things in life is to confront our limitations. We try to hide from them — all of us do. Some seek the narcotic refuge, deadening themselves with alcohol, or with some other variety of habit-forming drugs, to the realization of what they really are.

He alone is happy who faces what he is, even though it may take courage to look facts fully in the face. Some people are keenly aware that they lack beauty and physical grace. Many people — and they are happy indeed — take such situations with a big laugh. They are not good-looking and that is all there is to it. But others grieve over it and are frustrated, their lives turning in upon themselves to the point of injury. Still others are humiliated that some are more successful than they. And others are bitter over a continual lack of money. Those who are short want to be tall, and those who are too tall want to be short. And obesity — well!!!

About the last-mentioned, something indeed can be done. But about most of the others, nothing can be done.

Lincoln once said that people are about as happy as they make up their minds to be. Certainly that applies to this situation. Face facts and be happy with what you find. Don't grieve over your limitations — surmount them.

NOT TO BE OVERLOOKED!

By ART BUCHWALD

A Dike-Bombing Impasse

WASHINGTON — Is the United States bombing the dikes in North Veitnam or isn't it? That is the question. President Nixon and Secretary of Defense Laird say we are not. The secretary general of the United Nations, the president of the World Council of Churches and Jane Fonda say we are.

Whom is one to believe?

To find an answer to the problem, I called Wellback Fishbind, the world's leading authority on dike bombing.

Wellback told me, "I believe both sides are telling the truth. The Americans are not bombing the dikes in North Vietnam, but the dikes are bing bombed by the Americans."

"How can that be?"

"The Americans have strict orders to bomb only military installations, power plants and moving targets. They have specific orders not to bomb the dikes. Therefore, President Nixon and Secretary of Defense Laird are telling the truth.

"Unfortunately, these dikes are located next to the military targets. So, when the Americans bomb the military sites, they can't help but hit the dikes. The secretary general of the United Nations, the president of the World Council of Churches and Jane Fonda, therefore, are also telling the truth."

ART BUCHWALD

But there seems to be a credibility gap somewhere," I protested.

"I t depends on where you are. If you're sitting in the White House, you obviously feel the North Vietnamese should build their dikes farther away from their military targets, so American planes won't hit them.

"But if you're in a bomb shelter in North Vietnam, you feel that the dikes built close to military sites should be spared."

Wellback said, "The thing to keep in mind is that no one likes to bomb dikes. There's very little satisfaction in it. You hit an oil refinery with a bomb, and you get a helluva thrill out of seeing it go up with a whoosh. But when you hit a dike the bomb lands with a dull thud, and you have no idea if you're doing any good or not. It's the same thing with a dam. There's no thrill to shooting rockets at a dam. But if you can shoot up a military barracks or a moving convoy you know

Other Editors Say Need Airport Levy

(The Raleigh Times)

The Raleigh-Durham Airport is wise in going ahead with plans to collect its $2 boarding levy since it wasn't able to persuade the airlines to handle the collection job. The levy will begin September 1, and will be paid by each passenger boarding a flight here. Incoming passengers don't pay the levy.

The airlines have refused to help collect the boarding levy at other airports. The carriers are fighting the levy by lobbying for congressional legislation that would outlaw it.

The Raleigh-Durham Airport needs the estimated $1,000,000 which the boarding levy will bring in each year. The money will be used to help modernize the Airport, to make it possible for the facility to handle the larger new planes now in service. The improvements also will enable the airport here to continue to give the kind of service this whole area of North Carolina needs. Included in the construction will be a second runway.

The boarding levy is a practical way for the Airport Authority to raise the revenue it must have to finance the improvements it must have if it is to meet the travel needs of Raleigh, Durham and the surrounding section. Of course, the passengers won't be happy over having to pay the levy, but if it isn't used, the airport won't be able to give the passengers the kind of service they want.

The voters of both Wake and Durham counties voted against a bond issue for this project. One of the arguments used against the bonds was that those who used the airport should pay for the improvements. That is a shallow argument, to be sure, but it was used effectively, and the new levy would knock out that argument in the future.

The Authority has set up a collection system which should cause the least possible inconvenience to the traveling public. The airlines will continue to sell tickets as usual, then will refer passengers to another counter between the lobby and the departure gates. There the passengers will pay the $2 levy and a receipt will be attached to their ticket folders.

Passengers who haven't paid the board levy will be sent back from the boarding gate to the levy booth.

'Undermined' By Energy Crisis

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — While the United States strives desperately to correct its foreign trade imbalance in order to save the dollar, its efforts are being undermined by a developing energy crisis.

The impending crisis, which energy experts say is now almost inevitable, is forcing the country to import millions of barrels of foreign oil and, consequently, export billions of dollars in payment.

Meanwhile, because of a web of environmental, economic and political factors, combined with a failure by industry and government to produce a unified, far-sighted energy policy, corrective action is stymied.

It results in this contradiction:

The United States is estimated to have within its borders enough energy resources to meet its need for at least 200 years at current consumption rates.

But, while allegedly doing all it can to stop the dollar outflow, the country leaves much of its domestic resources untapped and, instead, imports oil and natural gas at a current rate of $5 billion a year—and growing.

Moreover, energy experts claim the situation has developed so much momentum that dependence on foreign supplies will rise from 30 per cent this year to 40 in 1975.

Because of the long "lead" times needed to develop domestic supplies, and because of high costs, "the hour is now too late," in the words of one authority, John McLean, to escape the myriad effects of a vast energy problem.

The facets of that problem include power blackouts, possible higher prices, disputes between ecologists and domestic energy suppliers, and a vulnerability to the demands of the Arab producing nations.

It is the effect on the dollar, however, that probably offers the most ironic illustration of the dangers inherent in the nation's inability to coordinate corrective action among producers and 60 governmental agencies.

Despite the growing trade deficits that already have led to an unprecedented devaluation of the dollar and currency disruptions among the world's trading nations, the Federal government estimates that the deficit from energy imports alone could reach $25 billion by 1985.

Says McLean, who heads Continental Oil Co. and is chairman of the National Petroleum Council Committee on the U.S. Energy Outlook:

"If the deficit in our balance of trade in fuels should run as high as $25 billion, we would need to increase our exports by roughly 40 per cent, a quantity equal to about 1¼ times the total volume of goods Japan is now moving into the world markets."

Clearly, such a challenge is one that the United States could fail to meet, if not because of a failure to produce such a volume of goods then because of the inability or refusal of the rest of the world to absorb them.

The most popular alternative among energy suppliers is to encourage domestic production. These are among the suggestions McLean made last month to the American Chamber of Commerce in London:

—Speedier approvals of nuclear power plant sites.

—Relaxation of price controls on natural gas.

—Opening up of the Outer Continental Shelf to exploratory activities.

—Improved tax and other economic incentives for natural resource development.

But that's only one point of view. Illustrating the dilemma, every one of these suggestions can be attacked, as they have continually in the past, by legislators, consumers, ecologists, homeowners and so on.

And while the country seems paralyzed by the awesome, painful decisions it must make, the trading power of the dollar—its energy, so to speak— drains away.

Career Woman Speaks

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — "If women ran the world, it would be the worst possible place for other women," said Mimi Green, perhaps the youngest and certainly one of the most attractive stock salesmen on Wall Sreet.

Starting as a $75-a-week trainee only four years ago, now at 25 Miss Green is a registered broker wih Brukenfeld, Mitchell and Co., a New York Stock Exchange firm. In a single day she may sell up to $750,000 worth of stocks and bonds in lots ranging from 100 to 10,000 shares or more.

Most of her sales are to large institutional investors—banks, insurance companies, and mutual funds. The typical buyer she faces is 40 or more years old, realistic, practical — and male.

"There is no handicap in being a woman in Wall Street except for the fact that there are other women there," she said. "Everything else is on the plus side.

"But I don't have much of a desire to deal with other women. They are instantly competitive. They are biased against each other. If the woman is older than you or unhappy in her private life, she resents you on sight. In any case, if she is a buyer, she'd rather buy from a man than from another woman.

"You can discuss business with a man and he'll accept

40 Years Ago Today

By GWYN COGHILL
August 2, 1932

Thursday, August 4th has been designated as "Dollar Day" in Greenville and shoppers of this great trade territory will be offered some of the best values in recent years. "Dollar Day" is a semi-annual bargain event sponsored by the Merchants' Association for the last several years and a time when the leading merchants will share their profits with patrons. Six merchants will take part in "Dollar Day" this year and each one was busy today arranging stocks to take care of the rush expected.

The effort being made by interested citizens to get the State Highway Commission to pave the link on Highway 11 between Bethel and Oak City is certainly important enough to receive consideration on the part of the highway body. The paving of this road, about fifteen miles, will shorten the route from this section to the north by more than ten miles.

you're earning your money."

"I never thought of it like that."

"As I see it," Wellback said, "it's really North Vietnam's problem. They have too many dikes. It's almost impossible to hit anything worthwhile in the country without hitting a dike. The way the North Vietnamese can avoid having their dikes bombed is to take them down so we can't destroy them."

"That would be one solution," I agreed.

"It isn't our fault that Hanoi built so many dikes. We'd be grateful if they didn't have any at all. They're absolutely useless to us. As a matter of fact, they're hurting our entire bombing strategy."

"But if they didn't have dikes their land would flood."

"That's their problem. Do you know that not one country club in North Vietnam has been destroyed by our bombing? Why do you think that is?"

"I have no idea."

"Because there isn't a country club in North Vietnam. Now if they didn't have any dikes in North Vietnam, then we wouldn't destroy any, would we?"

"I guess not," I said.

"Since the North Vietnamese insist on having dikes, and we insist on bombing North Vietnam," Wellback said, "we won't stop building dikes until we stop the bombing."

"That sounds like an impasse," I said.

"Exactly. And there is nothing to prevent us from bombing impasses. President Nixon has made that perfectly clear."

Adopt Criteria For Alcoholism

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Council on Alcoholism has established for the first time a set of medical criteria to help doctors determine whether a drinker is an alcoholic.

The council, a voluntary health agency founded to combat alcoholism, asserted that only about one out of 300 physicians is currently capable of accurately diagnosing the problem.

"There is no single symptom, laboratory test or physical sign which is in itself specifically diagnostic of alcoholism," Dr. Samuel C. Kaim told a news conference Tuesday.

Kaim headed a 14-member committee of experts that drew up the criteria after a year's study. They said the major criteria for diagnosing alcoholism include:

—Withdrawal symptoms — gross tremor, hallucination, seizure or delirium tremens when deprived of alcohol.

—Abnormal tolerance for alcohol, indicated by the failure to appear intoxicated despite very high blood levels of alcohol.

—Continued drinking despite strong medical advice not to or such social reasons as the loss of job or breakup of marriage.

—Daily consuption of a fifth of whisky or an equivalent amount of wine or beer.

Among the minor criteria are such physical disorders as irregular heartbeat and behavior patterns such as gulping drinks, drinking of the sly, morning drinking and drinking to relieve anger, insomnia or depression.

could go to work immediately."

Ramsey said if elected Speaker, he will do what he can to see to it that the state's business is conducted in the open.

"I favor open forums and no closed meetings, especially when it deals with appropriations," Ramsey said. "State issues ought to be discussed and debated in the open for the people to see.

"I think this would instill more confidence in the legislature and everyone agrees that the people have a right to know what is going on in their state government."

Quinn and Ramsey are fighting for the Speaker's position which is presently held by Phil Godwin. Godwin toyed with the idea of running for lieutenant governor but ran for the State Senate instead and won nomination. Godwin does not have opposition in the general election.

you as competent, if he feels you are. But a woman only sees you as another woman and a possible rival."

Miss Green, who studied at Briarcliff and the University of Lausanne, is 5 feet 8, has dark eyes, shoulder-length wavy brunette hair, and a striking figure.

But it is her aggressive spirit, her ready wit and ready tongue, as well as an encyclopedic knowledge of the stocks she sells, that won her the respect she has and the success she is making on Wall Street.

"Anybody can be a success here if he has ideas that make money for people," she said. "I believe in investing in areas that are going to expand the most. Right now, for example, I don't feel an investment portfolio is oriented toward the growth of this country if it doesn't contain a leisure time stock, a cable TV stock and an ecology stock."

Mimi dates "several boy friends," and says she doesn't want to marry until 30 because, "I don't believe in young marriages."

For a young career woman she has a number of rather unorthodox opinions. One of them is an antipathy to the women's liberation movement.

"Its leaders alienate me, and probably most women," she remarked. "Women's lib is a dead issue, and a lot of it is emotionally unhealthy.

"It is a very destructive element in our society. It has left too many women unhappy and feeling that life has passed them by. They are left distressed and discontented at holding positions they used to honor — positions as housewives and mothers.

"The truth is that many women aren't structured for business world careers. They don't have tough enough skins. They can't put up with being occasionally cursed at or called a fool to their face. They don't really want to be treated equal. They'd rather be molly-coddled."

Convicted In Baby's Death

WINSTON-SALEM (AP) — Two teen-aged parents, Coley James Mason and Belvia Jean Mason, were convicted Tuesday of involuntary manslaughter in the death of their infant daughter last January.

The Superior Court jury of nine men and three women deliberated 50 minutes. Judge Frank M. Armstrong deferred sentence until later in the week and ordered the parents held in jail until then.

Mason, 19, and his 18-year-old wife were charged with murder after welfare employes found the body of 23-month-old Antonia Elaine Mason in the couple's unheated apartment.

After the Masons were charged in January, their second child, a boy, was taken from them and placed in a foster home.

Mrs. Mason appeared in court pregnant, which could be a major factor in the determination of her punishment.

Anniversary Program Sunday

An anniversary program will be held Sunday at 3 p.m. at the Sallie Branch School on behalf of Elder D. L. Payton.

Appearing on the program will be: Gospel Chimes of Greenville; the Zion Travelers of Stokes; the Chowan Gospel Singers of Greenville; and the Mighty Rock Islanders.

Dinner will be served.

The public is invited to attend.

Old Folks Home For An Elephant

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — Minnie, the Tulsa, Okla., zoo's 61-year-old elephant, is on her way to an "old folks home" here.

Minnie reigned over the Mohawk Zoo pachyderm area for 18 years but zoo director David Zucconi recognized in recent months she was getting crochety enough to be somewhat unpredictable.

She's being transported to a wild animal farm near here by truck and trailer.

Originally a circus elephant, Minnie's age began catching up with her and her knees turned arthritic. She was demoted to a smaller circus, but had an accident and lost an eye. Her owner then gave her to the Tulsa zoo.

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, AUGUST 3, 1972

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The morning finds you able to put your affairs on a much better foundation, so consider how to handle material concerns. Afternoon and evening bring you some confusing condition requiring you to use your best experience and thought to keep from irritating someone you like.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Making collections, paying bills should be first on the agenda in a.m., but later drive with care and zip your lip when you are tempted to criticize others. Get good advice you need from experts. Stop being so belligerent.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Make yourself as attractive as possible in a.m., then handle those monetary matters with utmost care. Don't give in to some temptation to go off on a tangent. A persevering attitude wins the game now.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Plan the day's activities early so you can push right through without loss of any kind, including time. Sit down with associates in p.m. and discuss how to expand. Give credit where credit is due.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You are able to get the help you need from a good friend in a.m., then you can go ahead with the plans you have. Being of assistance to another is wise, too. There is much happiness for you in the evening.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Morning is the best time to gain the favor of higher-ups, so that you can get busy and do important work later in the day. Evening is then fine for being with friends you like a great deal. Don't lose your temper with anyone.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Handle those high-minded affairs early, and then gain the backing of influential persons you know. Seek the information and facts you need from some new source and you will get it. Do not waste time with those who gossip.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Be very sure you handle all financial accounts and affairs well and quickly today before you look into new interests. Your intuition is good where practical matters are concerned. Follow it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Cooperate more with a partner whose ideas are good and with whom you want to be associated far into the future. Come through with promises you have made. Handle carefully some situation that comes up suddenly.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Some new course of activity is wise to follow now for results difficult for you to get before. Show more enthusiasm for pleasing others. Find right articles of apparel to bring out your particular charm. Make a new personal friend.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Take the time to plan some amusements early before you get right down to the work at hand. Make sure you do that favor for one who deserves it. Have a more enthusiastic attitude for everything that you have to accomplish.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Stop being so opinionated at home for good results, and be more cooperative with those who dwell with you. Anything that causes inharmony should be eliminated. Evening is fine for fun.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Morning is a good time to show you are most productive at your work and then enjoy more happiness at home. Plan the future better with associates and family as well. Get their okay.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . he or she will be one of those charming young people who is very deliberate during childhood and early youth, but will upon maturity suddenly speed up a great deal and will then need more rest and more food and will accomplish a great deal that was not possible earlier in life. The mind here is logical, the ideas noble, and the hands wonderfully productive. The reading habit is good early, but supervise whatever is read.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Bishop Will Convene Session On Friday

FALCON, N.C. — A Greenville, N.C. native, the Rev. J. Floyd Williams, now presiding bishop of the Pentecostal Holiness Church, will convene the 62nd annual session of the North Carolina Conference on Friday, August 4, at 9 o'clock a.m., in Falcon. Attendance at the conference will exceed 3,000 persons during the week-end.

The conference territory includes all of North Carolina east of U.S. Highway 1 except a few counties northeast of the Chowan River and Richmond and Scotland counties along the South Carolina-North Carolina state line.

First order of business Friday morning will be reports of conference officials headed by the Rev. J. Doner Lee, conference superintendent, of Falcon. Committee reports will be received, proposing the program of work for the new biennium.

Several church administrators from general headquarters at Franklin Springs, Ga. will address the conference sessions on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

A communion service will be held Friday morning at 11 o'clock, special rites for receiving newly licensed ministers and advancing ministers for ordination, will be conducted Saturday. A World Missions Rally, directed by Assistant General Superintendent B.E. Underwood of Franklin Springs, Ga., will be held Sunday afternoon.

Bishop Williams will announce ministerial appointments for the next biennium at the final session of the 1972 conference to be held at 3:45 p.m. Sunday, August 6.

There will be more than 150 pastoral appointments and assignments of near 250 ministers to be announced.

Soviet Gift To Arrive

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — President Nixon's new 28-foot hydrofoil, a gift from the Soviet Union, is scheduled to arrive here Thursday aboard the Soviet freighter Bratsk, port officials say.

The Volga 70 hydrofoil was given to the President by Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev during Nixon's recent visit to the U.S.S.R.

The President gave Brezhnev a Cadillac.

A spokesman for the Baltimore Stevedoring Co., which will supply longshore labor, said Tuesday that the hydrofoil will be trucked the 40 miles from Baltimore to Washington, D.C.

William Haile, president of the Baltimore local of the International Longshoremen's Association, said the union had a longstanding policy of refusing to handle freight from Soviet vessels, but he said he believed there would be no difficulty in unloading the President's gift.

Sanford Has No Illusions

RALEIGH (AP) — Former Gov. Terry Sanford does not expect to be offered the Democratic nomination for vice president.

Sanford said in a telephone interview Tuesday from his summer residence near Boone he has "no illusions" about the possibility of being selected for the second spot on the Democratic ticket.

"Nobody has talked to me, nobody has offered it to me and nobody in the McGovern camp, so far as I know, has even suggested it," Sanford said.

Some North Carolina Democrats had suggested Sanford Tuesday as a possible replacement for Missouri Sen. Thomas Eagleton, who withdrew Monday night as the Democratic vice presidential candidate after conferring with Sen. George McGovern.

Sanford, president of Duke University, stated prior to the Democratic National Convention last month that he would not consider the vice presidential nomination "under any circumstances."

He declined to say Tuesday whether or not he would accept an offer to join McGovern on the Democratic ticket.

Breznev And Allies Confer

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Communist party boss Leonid I. Brezhnev has ended a meeting with leaders of the eight Warsaw Pact nations with a special session with Nicolae Ceausescu of Romania.

The Communist pact leaders met Tuesday at Brezhnev's Crimean vacation residence and the Soviet party leader later held a private discussion with Ceausescu, who has often taken an independent line in Warsaw Pact matters.

The Soviet news agency Tass reported only that Brezhnev and Ceausescu talked about economic programs and questions of Soviet-Romanian cooperation.

Irish Tourism Hurt By Violence In The North

By DENNIS O'CONNOR

DUBLIN (AP) — Northern Ireland's bombings and shootings have shattered the tourist industry in the Irish Republic to the south, and there is no glimmer of hope for the foreseeable future.

Hotels throughout the Emerald Isle are virtually empty as foreign visitors generally pass Ireland by.

Many hotels keep a skeleton staff on to cater to the chance guest. In remote regions several will have to close Aug. 31, once the peak of the season.

"The tourist season this year is just a nonevent," one hotel operator complained. "We can blame it entirely on the Northern troubles. Many people abroad just don't realize that the Republic is peaceful."

The Irish Tourist Board estimated that perhaps a million visitors have been lost. It said there are 31 per cent fewer visitors from Britain this year, and 18 per cent less over-all.

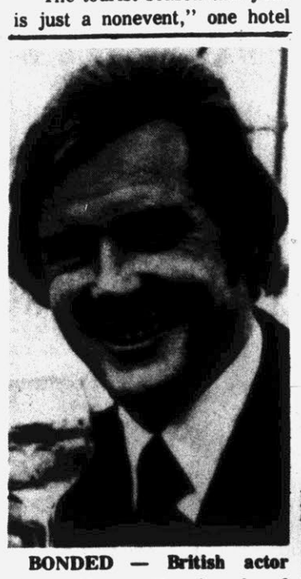

Several big sports events scheduled for Dublin were canceled after a mob burned the British Embassy last February.

Joe Malone, head of the Irish Tourist Board in the United States, reported a 10 per cent drop in the number of American visitors.

"American travel agents keep writing and phoning us, asking, 'What about the insurrection in Dublin?'" Malone said. "We are fighting for every scrap of business and then wondering whether we can hold it."

The violence has been restricted to the six counties of Northern Ireland, which is under British rule. Irish tourist officials say it is hard to convince Americans that the trouble rarely spills over the border.

One bright spot in the gloom is that Irish vacationers can now have reasonably priced holidays in their country's best resorts. And the bargains are being snapped up by thousands of Irish living in Britain who know that the violence is confined to the North.

BONDED — British actor Roger Moore, 42, who played title role in television series "The Saint", salutes with a cocktail and cigar at a London Press conference to announce he will play the new secret agent James Bond. Moore starts filming "Live and Let Die" in October and has signed for at least three 007 movies. (AP Wirephoto)

House School-Busing Foes Win Chance To Vote

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Busing foes in the House have won a long-sought chance to vote on a constitutional amendment designed to ban busing for the purpose of desegregating the public schools.

The Rules Committee, by a 9-6 vote Tuesday, took the bill out of a Judiciary Committee pigeonhole where it had been buried for nearly a year and cleared it for House action.

Rules Committee Chairman William Colmer, D-Miss., said he will call it up as soon as possible. That is most likely to be sometime next week.

Rep. Wilmer D. Mizell, R-N.C., commenting on the committee action, said, "I introduced this amendment 16 months ago immediately after the Supreme Court handed down its Charlotte decision (that busing is a legally permissible tool for desegregation.)

"I took this step in the belief that it was the only means available to me that could be truly and lastingly effective in bringing order out of chaos in the field of public education in America.

"Now, at last, it appears we may be ready to rechart our course and return to the business of educating our children rather than experimenting with them and imposing on them a burden they should not have to bear."

But although a vote now is assured on legislation that ultimately would stop all busing, antibusing forces are still pressing for action on bills designed merely to limit it.

One of those measures, which would fix guidelines for the courts to follow in desegregation cases, was on the agenda of the Education and Labor Committee today.

It would prohibit cross-town busing of elementary-school children and severely limit its use in higher grades. Courts would have to rely on other measures, such as redrawing attendance zones, permitting transfers and building new schools, to overcome segregation.

A struggle is shaping up in the committee over efforts to add to the bill a provision authorizing $1.5 billion to upgrade the quality of education in ghetto schools which would be left predominantly black if cross-town busing were prohibited.

President Nixon originally proposed a similar provision—without authorizing any new money to carry it out—but it was stricken in a subcommittee. Busing foes argued successfully at that time that the provision would endanger passage of the busing guidelines.

Several other amendments are due to be offered and it is unlikely the committee will complete action on the bill until Thursday.

Still another antibusing bill—Nixon's proposal for a freeze on new court busing orders until next July 1—was left in an uncertain state by Rules Committee refusal to clear it for a House vote along with the constitutional amendment.

The bill, which is also stymied in the Judiciary Committee, was intended by the administration to stabilize the busing situation until Congress could enact permanent legislation to guide the courts.

Now that the Education and Labor Committee is moving on such permanent legislation, the Rules Committee decided to wait, at least until next week, and see whether any freeze will be needed.

Carpenters Meet Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Recording stars Karen and Richard Carpenter have assured President Nixon that they carry enough amplification equipment on their singing dates around the country as "The Carpenters."

Meeting with the young brother and sister Tuesday to thank them for their efforts in the fight against cancer, the President asked Carpenter about the amount of sound equipment the duo carried with them on tour.

Carpenter said it amounted to about 10,000 pounds.

"We can probably hear you all the way here," the President replied, referring to The Carpenters' current stand at Columbia, Md., between Washington and Baltimore.

Presidential Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Miss Carpenter, national youth chairman of the American Cancer Society, and her brother donate royalties from the sales of their concert programs to the society. He said they have already donated $25,000 and have pledged another $35,000.

Watch Tropical Depression

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The outer Bahama Islands were put on alert today as a tropical depression located about 400 miles north of Puerto Rico moved westward at 15 miles per hour.

The National Hurricane Center in Miami said a military aircraft would monitor the depression today "even though conditions do not favor rapid strengthening."

Forecasters said the depression, with highest winds of about 25 m.p.h., was moving toward the west southwest but was expected to take a more westerly course during the day.

New Manager Of ESC Here

James E. Hannan has assumed duties as manager of the Employment Security Commission here.

He replaces Lloyd Nooe, who has been assigned to the ESC central office in Raleigh.

A native of Bellaire, Ohio, Hannan retired from the U.S. Marine Corps in 1969 after 25 years of service. During his tour of duty, Hannan spent 13 years in the Pacific and two years in China and 14 months in Vietnam. He served during World War II, the Korean conflict and the Vietnam War. He retired with the rank of major.

JAMES E. HANNAN

Hannan received the bachelor of science degree from the University of Omaha, Neb., after attending night classes at East Carolina University for two years (Extension Division at Jacksonville) and one year at the University of Hawaii. His final year was spent at the University of Omaha.

He began working with ESC in June, 1969, and was manager of the Roanoke Rapids office before coming to Greenville.

He is married to the former Elaine Schlanz of Neffs, Ohio and they have three children, Emma-Lou, a sophomore at ECU, Deana-Marie, a junior at Rose High, and Eric, an eighth grader. They reside at 111 Greenwood Dr.

Hannan is very much interested in scuba diving and is a member of the National Association of Underwater Instructors. He also enjoys hunting and fishing.

'Profile' Is Confidential

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The profile used by airlines to pick out potential hijackers before they board the plane is confidential material, a federal judge says.

U.S. District Court Judge Gordon Thompson Jr. ruled Tuesday that the government does not have to release the profile which it claims was used as the basis to arrest Edward Martin Rothman at San Diego International Airport on May. 5.

Rothman, 24, is accused of attempting to smuggle 39 kilos of marijuana to Hawaii. Authorities said he purchased his plane ticket under another name and that they found the marijuana in his luggage.

Thompson's ruling prevented an airline employe and a U.S. marshall from being questioned about what aroused their suspicions about Rothman.

Rothman's attorney, William Owens, said he would appeal the decision on grounds that the profile is unconstitutional and that failure to produce it in court deprives the defendant of his right to crossexamine his accuser.

School Bd. . . .

12:00 noon for elementary students for the first three three days of school. High School students will be dismissed at noon on Thursday and Friday.

Monday, Sept. 4, will be a holiday in observance of Labor Day and the first full day of school will be Tuesday, Sept. 5.

Alford told the board that students and teachers will be polled at the beginning of the school term to see when they prefer to have mid-term examinations given.

Board members expressed a desire to have the exams given before the Christmas holidays. A decision will be reached after the poll has been taken and the results studied.

It was announced that exams will be given in 90-minute periods rather than two hours as in the past. No more than two exams will be given each day and school will not be dismissed early during mid-term exam days.

However, it was agreed that an early dismissal will be given to high school students during the final exam period.

During the final exam period, high school students will be dismissed at 12:30 p.m. The early dismissal will allow teachers an opportunity to grade the test papers and be ready for graduation exercises on Friday night. This will avoid graduation exercises on Monday night following the final day of school on Friday.

The board approved early dismissal for all first grade students in the county school system. The first graders will be dismissed each day for the entire school year at 2:15 p.m.

Both first and second graders at Grifton Elementary School will be affected by the early dismissal due to an open classroom concept in connection with the state kindergarten program being conducted at Grifton Elementary.

E.P. Bass, retiring after teaching in public schools for 40 years, was presented a certificate of merit by the board of education. He taught for 25 years at Farmville Central.

Ralph Hall, who worked for the board for two and one-half years as construction supervisor during the building of the four new high schools, was also presented a certificate of merit.

The board established the 23rd of each month as the fixed pay date for all county school personnel.

The final payment of fees on the Farmville Central and Ayden-Grifton High Schools, totaling $4,886.50, to Dudley and Shoe Architects, Inc., was approved by the board.

Bids for the proposed addition to A.G. Cox Grammar School will be opened on Aug. 24 at 2 p.m. in the conference room of the Pitt County Board of Education office.

The bid will include eight classrooms, a cafetorium, kitchen and equipment.

Would Require Seat Belt's Use

By MARGARET GENTRY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Motorists would be required by law to fasten their seat belts or possibly risk a jail sentence under national highway-safety standards proposed by the Transportation Department.

The proposal announced by the department Tuesday would require states to enforce the new standards or lose millions of dollars in federal highway funds.

Calling the plan an effort to eliminate the state-to-state variations in safety regulations, the department invited public comment during the next 90 days. The department said it intends to implement the plan next April.

The rules, somewhat tougher than the department's first standardization effort in mid-1967, would:

—Follow through on the current regulation requiring all new cars to carry seat belts by also requiring motorists and passengers to buckle them.

—Prohibit modification of safety-related equipment on cars, including a ban on disconnecting buzzers which sound if seat belts are left unfastened.

—Permit right turns on a red traffic signal unless a sign specifically prohibits it.

—Make it a crime to drive with 0.10 per cent or more alcohol in the blood, the percentage already considered the level of intoxication in most states.

—Require a driver to submit to a preliminary breath test if an officer suspects he has been drinking.

The department also would allow officers to make traffic arrests without a warrant.

States would be required to set a minimum age of either 16 or 18 for the first driver's license, depending on the level of driver training the applicant had completed. States also would have to mandate some form of instruction for new licensees.

The standards would set stiff penalties for a person found guilty of driving on a suspended or revoked license or violating the limits of a provisional license.

The penalty for driving with an unbuckled seat belt usually would be no more than a reprimand or fine, although in cases where death or injury resulted, a jail sentence might be imposed.

A spokesman for the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, a department agency, acknowledged enforcement of the seat-belt rule might be difficult, but said that if it were law, drivers would be more likely to comply.

Promotion For Veteran Lawman

A.G. Whitaker, a veteran of 11½ years service with the Greenville police department was promoted yesterday to the rank of lieutenant.

The announcement of Whitaker's promotion was made by Chief Glenn Cannon who said the officer would continue his duties with the department's detective division where he has been assigned for a total of 8½ years.

A native of Pinetown, Whitaker graduated from Bath High School in 1953, then served time in the U.S. Army and worked in the auto service field before joining the Greenville police department April 1, 1960. In 1963 the officer was transferred from the uniformed division to the detective division and three years later was promoted to sergeant.

Whitaker, who left the department in April 1967 to become a Drivers License Examiner with the N.C. Department of Motor Vehicles, returned to the department as a senior patrolman with the detective division December 1, 1967 and was elevated to sergeant again July 8, 1968.

A.G. WHITAKER

Whitaker has attended a number of schools dealing with the enforcement of laws, including among other things the Coastal Plains Law Enforcement Academy, narcotics workshops, bomb disposal school, and criminal investigation, interview and interrogation course.

Whitaker is married to the former Linda Hill of Greene County.

Three Hogs In His Home

BELMONT, N. C. (AP) — It was kind of a Goldilocks and the Three Bears story with a reverse twist. It involved three hogs found in his bedroom by a 60-year-old man.

One of them was sleeping in Joe Thomas Hunt's bed Monday.

He also found the inside of his recently remodeled home in shambles. The dining room table overturned, chairs and the couch in other rooms tipped over, the living-room carpet rolled up, the floor covering in the kitchen torn, and bureau drawers in the bedroom pulled out and the contents scattered.

The radio was playing music.

No, the hogs hadn't done all this.

Farmville Bd. .

To Audit Finances

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government auditors have begun an examination of President Nixon's campaign finances to determine whether the Republicans had anything to do with a break-in at Democratic National Committee headquarters.

The General Accounting Office announced Tuesday that it will conduct a full audit of the finances of the Committee for Re-election of the President. The committee has pledged to cooperate, said Philip S. Hughes, director of the GAO's office of federal elections.

Hughes said he ordered the audit because of possible links between committee financing and the break-in and alleged bugging of Democratic headquarters on June 17.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., wrote the congressional watchdog agency earlier Tuesday requesting the probe after the Washington Post reported that a $25,000 check, apparently intended for the Nixon campaign, ended up in the bank account of one of the men charged in the break-in.

Jarring To Hold Mideast Talks

NEW YORK (AP) — U.N. Special Envoy Gunnar Jarring has arrived in New York for a new round of talks aimed at a possible peace settlement in the Mideast.

A U.N. spokesman said after the Swedish diplomat's arrival Tuesday night that Jarring plans to confer with U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim and representatives of Israel, Egypt, Jordan and Lebanon over the next two weeks.

He will then draft a special report on the Mideast for presentation to the forthcoming meeting of the General Assembly.

Bucs Ease By Campbell, 11-9

BUIES CREEK — East Carolina University's Pirates rallied in the eighth inning to score seven runs and take an 11-9 victory over Campbell College last night.

The victory enabled the Pirates to keep pace with the University of North Carolina, which took a 5-1 victory over UNC-Wilmington. The Bucs and Tar Heels are tied for the league lead with 21-11 records, with three games remaining.

East Carolina plays Louisburg tonight at 8 p.m. at Harrington Field, then hosts the Tar Heels on Thursday and Appalachian on Friday.

Walks were almost the downfall of the Pirates last night, as they issued 11 to the Camels, who got only four hits off the Bucs.

Dave LaRussa was rolling along with a 4-0 lead and a one-hitter going into the sixth inning when the Pirate breakdown occurred. During the inning, Campbell got only two hits, coupled with eight walks, to push over eight runs and take the lead.

But the Bucs put together six hits in the eighth and that did the trick for them.

The Bucs threatened in the first with Jimmy Paige and Ralph Lamm both drawing one out walks before the next two grounded out.

Then, in the second, the Bucs tried again, as John Narron and Ronnie Leggett both singled. A missed bunt however, caught Narron trying to come home, and that killed the threat.

Campbell got off its only threat in the first four innings, in the second when Whitehurst led off with a double, but got no further.

In the third, the Pirates finally broke the scoring ice, scoring three runs. Pagie reached on a one-out walk. Lamm then reached on an error and Larry Walters brought both of them home with a triple making it 2-0. Walters came around with the third run as Ron Staggs followed with a single.

Another chance faded in the fourth when Mike Bradshaw singled and stole second, but got no further.

In the fifth, the Pirates scored again, taking a 4-0 lead. Walters walked with one down and Staggs singled. Both moved up on an error on a pickoff attempt, and a passed ball let Walters score the run.

After a threat in the bottom of the fifth on a walk and a wild pitch, Campbell finally got things going in the sixth.

Powell led off with a walk and Herring singled. McCullough walked, loading the bases. Thomas and Whitehurst both walked, forcing in Powell and Herring. Cheek followed with a triple, driving in three runs, and he scored on an error on the relay. Smith walked, and with one finally out, Hess drew another walk. Powell walked to load them again, and a passed ball scored Smith. Hess then came over on a wild pitch to finish up the scoring and give Campbell an 8-4 lead.

The extended that to 9-4 with another run in the seventh. That also started off with a walk. Whitehurst drew it and moved up on an out. Smith walked, and with two down, Hess singled in Whitehurst.

But Campbell was cut down right there, and didn't get another man on base the rest of the evening.

East Carolina finally got going again in the eighth, putting together the winning rally.

Russ Smith led off and was hit by a pitch. Leggett followed with a single and Joe Heavner singled to load them up. With two down, Paige singled to score both Smith and Leggett. Lamm followed with a hit up the alley, and that brought in Heavner and Pagie. Walters singled to score Lamm and that tied it up. Staggs then cracked a two-run homer, scoring Walters ahead of himself to give the Bucs the victory.

Church Finals Set For Tonight

Black Jack and Meadowbrook split a pair of games last night in the Church Softball League tournament finals to set up a final game tonight at 8 p.m. at Evans Park.

The two teams had gained the finals by winning their respective league divisions. A best-of-three series will decide the title.

In the first game, Black Jack inched to a 6-5 victory, while Meadowbrook came back to deadlock the series with a 9-4 win in the second.

Meadowbrook started the action in the first game with three runs in the first inning. They added two more in the third to hold a 5-0 lead before Black Jack finally broke the ice.

That came in the third inning, when they got a run. Another crossed in the fourth and two scored in the fifth.

In the sixth, the tieing and winning run came across. Billy Elks singled and moved up when Ray Hardee walked. George Holland got a hit, driving in Elks with the tieing run, and with two outs, Phillip Smith reached on an error, scoring Hardee with the winning run.

In the second game, however, it was a different story. Black Jack got the lead with a run in the second, then added another in the fourth, breaking a 1-1 tie. Meadowbrook had scored once in the bottom of the third.

Then, in the bottom of the fourth, Meadowbrook exploded for eight runs to take a 9-2 lead, and that held up. Carl Powell led off the inning with a single and Dwight Foster reached on an error. Victor Wade singled in Powell with a hit and Wayne Nelson hit a home run. Gordon Bunting kept it going, reaching on an error and Buckey Roebuck also was safe on an error. Roebuck went down at second when O. H. Roebuck reached on a fielder's choice and Linwood Owens singled. Bob Harris got a double, and Joyn Huber singled in Harris with the final run.

Black Jack added one run each in the fifth and sixth innings, but couldn't put enough of a rally together to get back into the contest.

That tied the series and forced the final game tonight.

Perry's 2-Hitter Stops Baltimore

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Detroit Tigers finally got to come in out of the rain Tuesday night after umpire Frank Umont put a damper on their stalling tactics.

After a 51-minute rain delay in the middle of the third inning with the Milwaukee Brewers leading 2-0, the teams resumed play. The rain resumed, too, in the fourth inning as the Tigers fell farther behind en route to a six-inning 9-0 setback.

Despite the defeat, the Tigers remained 2½ games ahead of Baltimore in the AL East when Cleveland's Gaylord Perry blanked the Orioles 2-0 on two singles. Elsewhere, the New York Yankees battered Boston 10-4, Oakland shut out Kansas City 4-0 and Minnesota blanked Texas 3-0. California and Chicago were rained out.

In the National League, Cincinnati downed Houston 3-1, San Francisco nipped Los Angeles 4-3, San Diego took two from Atlanta 9-0 and 11-7 as Nate Colbert drove in a record 13 runs and hit a record-tying five homers, St. Louis beat Pittsburgh 7-4, the New York Mets edged Philadelphia 3-2 in 18 innings but dropped the nightcap 4-1 and Montreal shaded the Chicago Cubs 3-2 in 10 innings.

The Tigers' fun started in the top of the fifth with Mike Ferraro on first base and one out and the contest five outs away from becoming official. Relief pitcher John Hiller threw to first several times with Ferraro standing on the bag.

Manager Del Crandall yelled to Ferraro to take a big lead and the Tigers promptly picked him off as he made no attempt to avoid the tag.

Detroit Manager Billy Martin then pulled his anything-you-can-do-I-can-do-better trick and brought Fred Scherman in to pitch.

Ellie Rodriguez lifted a pop fly into short right field and it dropped untouched as second baseman Dick McAuliffe and right fielder Jim Northrup stood and looked at each other.

Rodriguez ambled casually toward second, just aching to be tagged out, as the ball was relayed to shortstop Eddie Brinkman, who held the ball for a while and Rodriguez had no recourse but to step on second base with a gift double.

All that exertion on the mound filled Scherman's spikes with mud and he slowly started to clean them. That's when Umont went into action.

With raindrops still falling on everyone's heads, he called Martin and Crandall out and told them he'd recommend a $1,000 fine to American League President Joe Cronin if any more foolishness took place.

Skip Lockwood then flied out to end the inning and the Tigers were retired in order in their half, making it an official game. One inning later, the game was called.

The Tigers managed only one hit off Lockwood, Mickey Stanley's leadoff double in the sixth. Milwaukee drove rookie Bill Slayback from the mound in the first inning, scoring two runs on four hits. The Brewers scored four times in the fourth on Joe Lahoud's two-run homer and a two-run single by Dave May.

Cleveland's Perry tied Detroit's Mickey Lolich as the only pitchers in the majors with 18 victories and got all the offense he needed when Buddy Bell smacked a two-run homer off Baltimore's Dave McNally in the second inning.

New York's Mel Stottlemyre and Boston's Sonny Siebert battled through five scoreless innings before Roy White singled in the Yankees' first run and then stole home for a 2-0 lead. They added five more in the seventh and Bobby Murcer crashed a three-run homer in the eighth.

No Problems For North Coaches

The North ran off six straight victories in the Boys Home All Star Game after the South won the initial contest, but the North is in a two-year tailspin right now.

Coach Roy Boyles would like to stop that tailspin and put the North back on the winning track. So far, he feels that the team might just be ready to do that.

"Things have gone real nice so far," he said yesterday prior to the final workout of the day. "We're real pleased with the way the drills are going."

Boyles feels that the selection committee for the 10th Annual Boys Home All-Star Game did a fine job in putting together a team for him.

"We've had to replace three boys so far," he said. "None of them for injuries. One didn't pass the physical and two just didn't show up." Named to join the team were David Turner, a split end and defensive back from Roxboro, Paul Wilder, a tackle from Sanderson of Raleigh, and Billy Carter, a center from Gates County.

Yesterday morning, the North went through a 45-minute scrimmage and Boyles said he was quite please with the results. "We didn't have any injuries and we got a lot done," the coach said.

Working in a game such as the Boys Home, the coaches have only a limited amount of time to get ready. "The most difficult thing we have to do is get our timing down, especially in blocking and tackling. This means extra work in getting the offense down. So far we've had three practices with mostly offensive work. One has been strictly defense," Boyles siad.

He did note that some defensive work went on at each of the four sessions prior to yesterday.

"We expect to alternate out emphasis from now on out," he added.

Boyles noted that the biggest problem he'd faced so far was the filling out of the team. "Some of those who didn't show up didn't let us know until after practice started that they weren't coming," he said.

The North will be running a pro-set I formation sometimes, and then moving both ends in tight with a full-house I backfield at other times, he said.

"We are limited to two defenses except inside the 10, where we can do anything," Boyles said.

The coach said that a lot of the players are looking good, but he doesn't want to single out any one player this early. "It looks like we're going to be two deep in backs and we should be able to play a full-two-platoon game with no one going both ways. Some of the players are sure starters now, but I'm not going to say who now."

While he continues two a day drills, Boyles expects to begin tapering off on Thursday.

As to his game plan, Boyles says that he tends to be conservative. "We'll try to be a ball control team," he said. "We don't plan to have any wideopen passing game. We'll establish a running game if we can, but his is a hard thing to do in a game like this."

Boyles is being added by Noland Respess of Robersonville, but he feels that two coaches are not enough for a game of this type. "You really need three. Most of the coaches bring along an assistant, as I did, but to insure that there are three, three should be named."

The North and South square off in the game Saturday at 8 p.m. in Ficklen Stadium.

Colbert Puts On Magic Act He Didn't Believe

By TOM EMORY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Nate Colbert performed a magic act in Atlanta Stadium but when it was all over, not even he believed it.

Colbert blasted his way into the record books Tuesday night with a slingshot baseball bat that hurled five home runs into the stands and drove in a record 13 runs during San Diego's sweep of a doubleheader against the Braves.

The five homers in the 9-0 and 11-7 Padres victories tied the mark of Stan Musial of St. Louis in 1954. The 13 RBI eclipsed the major league record of 11 shared by Cleveland's Earl Averill in 1930, Boston's Jim Tabor in 1939 and Baltimore's Boog Powell in 1966; and the National League standard of 10 by Enos Slaughter of St. Louis in 1947.

He also broke the NL record of 12 RBI in two straight games by Jim Bottomley of St. Louis in 1924, and Musial's mark of 21 total bases in a doubleheader.

Colbert, who now leads the major leagues with 30 homers and 82 RBI: hit a three-run homer and a solo shot in the first game as well as driving in a run with one of his two singles. Clay Kirby scattered seven hits in coasting to his shutout victory.

In the second game, Colbert pounded a grand slam in the second, a two-run circuit in the seventh and his record-tying and breaking two-run homer in the ninth. The fifth homer came on a high inside fast ball from Cecil Upshaw, who Colbert said always got him out.

"I was shocked when I hit the fifth one," said Colbert. "I told the umpire at second (Bruce Froemming) 'I don't believe this.' He said 'I don't either'."

In other NL games, Cincinnati beat Houston 3-1, Montreal edged Chicago 3-2 in 10 innings, St. Louis defeated Pittsburgh 7-4 and San Francisco trimmed Los Angeles 4-3.

New York and Philadelphia split a doubleheader. The Mets won the opener 3-2 in 18 innings, while the Phils captured the second 4-1.

In the American League, it was Cleveland 2, Baltimore 0; Minnesota 3, Texas 0; New York 10, Boston 4; Milwaukee 9, Detroit 0 (six innings, rain); and Oakland 4, Kansas City 0. The California at Chicago game was postponed because of rain.

Cleon Jones drove in all the New York runs in the opening game of the twinbill. He hit a sacrifice fly and a homer in the first nine innings, then smashed a bases-loaded single in the 18th to beat the Phillies. Don Money homered for Philadelphia.

In the second game, Bill Robinson hit a three-run double in the ninth and Steve Carlton won his 16th game for the Phils. Jones drove in the Mets' single run in this contest.

Joe Morgan's two-run homer in the fifth broke a 1-1 tie for Cincinnati. Morgan, a former Astro, had walked in the first and scored the Reds' first run on Johnny Bench's double. Houston's run came in the fourth on Jimmy Wynn's 18th homer.

Tim Foli stroked a game-winning sacrifice fly in the 10th inning as Montreal beat the Cubs. Expo starter Bill Stoneman and Cub starter Burt Hooton each singled in a run for their teams but neither was involved in the decision.

St. Louis scored six runs in the fifth against Pittsburgh, including two driven in by former Pirate Matty Alou, who doubled. The Cards belted Pirate pitchers for 14 hits, while Al Santorini, 5-7, controlled Pittsburgh, including retiring 16 batters in a row at one stretch.

Ken Henderson's eighth-inning sacrifice fly drove in the winning San Francisco run. Tito Fuentes raced home from third as Los Angeles second baseman Lee Lacy caught the looping pop running toward the outfield. Bernie Williams earlier had contributed a two-run pinch homer for the Giants. Wes Parker drove in two runs for the Dodgers.

Lucas Pops 31 Points

GREENSBORO (AP) — John Lucas of Durham Hillside scored a game-high 31 points as he paced the East to a 102-78 victory Tuesday night in the 24th annual East-West high school all-star basketball game.

The West, seeking its fifth straight victory, jumped to a 27-19 first-quarter lead, but the East pulled within a point, 46-45, at halftime.

Then with Lucas and Vadnay Cotton of Chapel Hill leading the way, the East began the second half by scoring 12 straight points during a West scoring slump that lasted nearly four minutes.

Larry Gooding of Goldsboro followed Lucas in the East scoring with 14 points. Cotton was next with 12.

Norton Barnhill of West Forsyth led West scoring with 17 points, followed by Salisbury's Sheldon Shipman with 14.

While falling behind in the first quarter, the East outscored the West 26-19, 30-15 and 27-17 in the remaining three quarters.

Teams To Seek Title

GRIFTON — Farmville and Washington advanced to the finals of the Little Tar Heel League District Eight tournament finals with wins in last night's play.

Farmville downed Beaufort County, 6-2, and Washington was a 1-0 winner over Southern Pitt. The two will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. at Grifton for the area title.

Hackney Yelverton was the winning pitcher in the Farmville-Beaufort County contest. No one got more than one hit for either team.

In the second game, Willaim Lee Mitchell hurled the win, stroking out 10. He also got the lone run with a homer. Anthony Christiano led the Washington hitting with two.

Mike Teachey, in losing, also struck out 10. Tim Corbett had two hits for Southern Pitt.

Chargers Add Moore

LITTLEFIELD — Ayden-Grifton High School has completed its coaching staff for the coming year, principal William Wiggins has announced.

The latest addition is Bill Moore, a recent graduate of East Carolina. Moore will handle the Chargers' wrestling program and serve as an assistant in the football program.

A native of St. Paul's, Moore is a 1968 graduate of the high school there. He lettered 11 times at the school and was twice All-Conference in football. He was selected to the Class A All-East team and was named his school's Most Valuable Athlete his senior year.

He received his B. S. degree in georgraphy this past spring at East Carolina.

Mike Overton, as previously announced, has moved up to head football coach at the school.

The other members of the staff return from last year. They include Bob Murphrey, basketball; Debra Pfeil, girls basketball; Claude Kennedy, baseball; and Johnny Davis, track.

Europe Press Opines McGovern Chances Damaged

LONDON (AP) — Many European newspapers agree that Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton's forced withdrawal as the Democratic vice presidential candidate hurt the image of Sen. George McGovern and worsened his chances of defeating President Nixon in November.

Several editorials blamed McGovern for the crisis resulting from Eagleton's belated disclosure that he had received physchiatric treatment.

The London Daily Telegraph commented: "Sen. McGovern's blunder in picking Sen. Eagleton, with his undisclosed record of shock therapy ... confirms the worst suspicions of the Democratic establishment ... His prospects of beating the entrenched, relaxed, successful, moderate President Nixon ... now are plain awful."

The London Times said damage to McGovern's campaign is likely to be heavy but added "If McGovern can find a new vice presidential candidate who can command the support of his party, he may recover the ground he has lost. President Nixon's own vice president is hardly a model for the job. Indeed, had it ever come to the point, Mr. Eagleton would probably have measured up to the presidency better than Mr. Agnew."

The London Evening Standard said the Eagleton episode had exposed "McGovern, the candidate of principle ... as a man who, in his tight corner at least, put money and votes first, and declarations of undying loyalty second."

Il Tempo, organ of Italy's dominant Christian Democratic party, said defeat seems "virtually inevitable for the Democratic ticket" and McGovern's most admired qualities — "sincerity to the public and an unusual idealism — are up to question ...."

West Germany's Frankfurter Rundschau criticized McGovern for engaging in what he most criticizes opponents for — politics behind closed doors. The paper was also critical of McGovern's selecting a running mate for his ability to heal party splits rather than his qualities as a potential vice president.

Dutch newspapers said Eagleton's withdrawal was sound for political reasons.

"Whether it is morally justified to treat someone in this way because of his medical past is not relevant," said the Catholic De Tijd. "It is not the objective right of the candidate but the subjective evaluation of the voter that matters.

The first Soviet report made no mention of Eagleton's psychiatric history but said his withdrawal from the race was the culmination of a campaign "to distract the attention of Americans from really urgent questions ... above all continuation of aggression in Indochina."

"Another unpleasant episode," said the Hong Kong Standard. "President Nixon's chances of re-election get brighter with each Democratic party squabble."

Solicits Views On FBI Work

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Acting Federal Bureau of Investigation Director L. Patrick Gray III says he has been "actively soliciting the views of the field directors and their staffs" about the FBI's operations since taking over from the late J. Edgar Hoover.

Gray came here Tuesday to inspect the local FBI office and meet with newsmen.

Asked if Hoover was too concerned with the threat of communism, Gray declared, "I don't believe the late director had a phobia concerning communism. We're on the alert for all 'isms,' but I don't feel any one of them is entitled to preference over any other 'ism.'"

"Our top target now is organized crime," he added.

Butterfly Now Official Insect

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The California dog-faced butterfly — a yellow, orange and black beauty — has fluttered to new heights by becoming the official insect for the Golden State.

Gov. Ronald Reagan has signed a bill designating the butterfly, known formally as Zerene eurydice, to join other official state symbols. They include a state flower — the California poppy, state bird — the valley quail, state fish — golden trout, state tree — coast redwood and state animal — California grizzly bear.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Rep. John Schmitz, R-Calif., is expected to announce by Thursday whether he will become a candidate for the presidential nomination of the American party.

Larry Abraham of Olympia, Wash., describing himself as Schmitz' advance man, indicated that the congressman from President Nixon's home district is on the verge of doing so and thus cutting ties with a party in which he unsuccessfully sought renomination last June.

Schmitz was expected to make a statement in Washington before any journey to Louisville, where the American party begins its three-day convention Thursday in Freedom Hall at the state Fairgrounds. About 2,000 delegates and alternates are expected.

A number of American party sources said Schmitz, a member of the John Birch Society, has the inside track for the nomination.

However, Lt. Gov. Lester Maddox of Georgia did not count himself out. "I'm still deliberating whether there is sufficient time to mount an effective campaign," he said by telephone from Atlanta.

Maddox said he is reserving a decision until Friday, when he flies here to address the convention.

Alabama Gov. George Wallace, the favorite by acclamation for the third-party prsidential nomination, announced last weekend that he would not run for health reasons.

He is recuperating from wounds sustained in an assassination attempt.

Richard Kay, a Cleveland attorney, is the only other serious candidate so far.

Abraham, a book publishing executive who described himself as a close friend of Schmitz, said if the lame duck congressman runs and is nominated, "We're going to make the American party a permanent and attractive part of the scene."

Schmitz, 41, was born in Milwaukee. He was a Marine aviator for eight years and has taught history and political science at Santa Ana (Calif.) College.

He entered politics in 1964 by winning a California state Senate seat, then won an unexpired congressional term in 1970.

Meantime, the party platform committee was putting the finishing touches on proposals which, at least domestically, seemed milder than anticipated.

A 22-point plank arranged in a lengthy meeting of leaders of two factions omitted some points included in an ultraconservative positon paper drawn up by certain party officials last year.

Left out were demands for revision of the 14th Amendment of the U. S. Constitution guaranteeing equal rights, repeal of the 17th Amendment providing for popular election of U. S. senators and a so-called right-to-work act.

The platform committee chairman, John Couture of Muskego, Wis., had been chairman of the group drawing up such proposals.

The rival he defeated for the post, William Shearer of Lemon Grove, Calif., was known to advocate an approach stressing everyday problems of people.

After conferring for almost three hours Tuesday, they emerged with the domestic plank, which Shearer said "struck the happy balance." Couture said it yielded "more agreement than we had thought."

Opposition to school busing is included, but both sides had been in harmony on that.

In addition, there are proposals to elect federal circuit judges, allow states to retain the death penalty overturned by the Supreme Court, permit citizens to own and exchange gold and enact "necessary and reasonable" consumer protection laws.

Bahamas' Name Easy To Fathom

NASSAU-PARADISE ISLAND (UPI)—Skippers of glass-bottom boats that take Nassau-Paradise Island visitors to the nearby Sea Gardens, explain that "Bajamar," Spanish for shallow water, eventually led to the name Bahamas for the more than 700 islands in the western Atlantic. At any depth, the warm sea is noted for its clarity.

The Worry Clinic

Heaven Must Offer Growth

Fred Lowe at this very moment may be Promotion Manager of an exciting newspaper in the Great Beyond! For it doesn't seem God's Plan for us to vegetate! So consider this dynamic concept of heaven. Scrapbook this column!

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph.D., M.D.

Case U-551: Fred Lowe was a superb newspaper Promotion Manager.

He served at several famous newspapers, including the Detroit FREE PRESS, Pittsburgh POST-GAZETTE and the New York JOURNAL AMERICAN.

When I was in Denver addressing the State Dental Society there, I received an urgent midnight phone call.

"Dr. Crane," Mrs. Lowe implored, "Fred just passed away suddenly, apparently of a heart attack.

"You two were such good friends, do you suppose you could fly back tomorrow and conduct his funeral?

"For Fred would want you to do so, since he liked your dynamic concept of heaven."

Dynamic Heaven

Several widows of editors and publishers have asked me to do the same, although I am not a clergyman.

It was a shock to me to lose Fred, for he was one of America's most astute newspapermen, with a keen sense of what readers like.

So I flew to New York for the Service.

In my 15-minute address, I mentioned that Christ stated (Matthew 10:32):

"Whosoever therefore shall confess me before men, him will I confess also before my Father which is in heaven."

Fred had made such a confession so he could be assured of entrance into the Beyond.

But heaven must be a busy, exciting realm, if we may try to visualize what happens in the next classroom up ahead in God's Cosmic School System.

Since we confront millions of interesting problems here in Earth's classroom, then I remarked that we may expect to face similar millions of problems in Heaven, though possibly of a slightly higher degree of complexity.

"Fred's former newspaper friends," I added, "who have graduated ahead of him, plus his many relatives, may thus be giving him a reception banquet at this very moment.

"For Jesus was so fond of dinner parties down here on earth that I can't imagine such a joy being denied us in that next classroom.

"Besides, even after Christ's death and resurrection, we know that He still relished food.

"For, in that Upper Room, when His disconsolate Apostles couldn't recognize Him via His expounding of Scripture, nor from the nail prints in His hands, how did Jesus clinch His identity?

"He asked His Apostles if they had anything to eat!

"When they offered Him a fish and an honeycomb, the Bible says He did eat in their sight.

"Then they knew Him! Why?

"Well, I personally feel they had teased Him good naturedly about always knowing when it was meal time, even though they were often scared out of any hunger pangs.

"So Christ's request for food was probably His recourse to His 'trademark,' as it were, to clinch His identity when logic and the nail prints wouldn't do so.

"Besides, Jesus also pioneered an Easter sunrise breakfast for His Apostles who had been fishing all night!

"So I told the assembled family and friends that Fred would probably be groomed (after the original welcome banquet) for a superb heavenly promotion job!

"For God's universe prescribes growth and expansion of our powers, so we certainly shouldn't expect to vegatate in Heaven."

If you wish a further expansion of this dynamic concept of the Hereafter, send for my booklet "So Long George IV" (Solace for the Bereaved), enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.) Copyright 1972.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	2 ♡	Dble.	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	5 ♠	Pass
6 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: King of ♡

The United States whittled away at Italy's margin in today's hand taken from their match in the finals of 1972 World Bridge Olympiad recently held in Miami Beach—and won by Italy.

The bidding is presented at the table where the Americans held the North-South cards. Bob Goldman opened the South hand with one spade and the Italian, seated West, overcalled with two hearts. Mike Lawrence's double on the North cards is not the conventional penalty double, but is a specialized call which in their methods indicates a respectable hand containing values in the unbid suits.

South's jump to four spades shows considerable playing strength and suggests that little trump support is required from partner. Looking at several controls himself, in the form of the black aces as well as the king of diamonds, North felt warranted in making a slam try and his action took the form of a raise beyond game to five spades. This call suggests that everything is under control except for the opponent's suit and that if South has no more than one loser in hearts—he should bid a slam. Goldman appeared to hold what his partner was seeking, so he carried on to six spades.

There was little to the play. West opened the king of hearts and continued with the queen which declarer ruffed. A spade was led to the ace, the closed hand was reentered by trumping another heart and when the king and queen drew the opposing trumps, South had the rest of the tricks.

At the other table, the Italian player seated South opened the bidding with one spade, however West did not choose to overcall on the deal and passed. North responded with two clubs and South now jumped to three spades. When North merely carried on to four, South decided not to look for slam and contented himself with a mere game undertaking. Twelve tricks were routinely taken and the net swing to the United States was the margin of the nonvulnerable slam bonus, or 500 points.

Thinks Scott Could Air Inquiry Details

RALEIGH (AP) — Democratic candidate for Governor Hargrove "Skipper" Bowles says Gov. Bob Scott apparently could have made public more information on a controversial highway probe.

Bowles said this at his news conference when he was asked about Gov. Bob Scott's refusal to release a state investigative report into the affairs of former Highway Commissioner E. J. Whitmire of Franklin.

"It does appear to me there is something he (Scott) could do, short of releasing it," Bowles said.

The gubernatorial nominee said he was suggesting "perhaps a synopsis that could tell the people" what the investigation uncovered.

Whitmire resigned from the Highway Commission after the Raleigh News and Observer published reports about his ownership of a quarry. Solicitor Marcellus Buchanan of Sylva said there was no evidence of wrongdoing by Whitmire, but refused to make public the report.

The governor said state law prohibits any disclosure of the report.

The Godfather To Ride Again

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "The Godfather" will ride again—to many more millions at the world's film box offices.

Paramount Pictures announced the other day that "The Godfather, Part II" will be filmed early next year with Al Pacino as star and Francis Ford Coppola as producer and director. The premiere date already is set: March 27, 1972.

A sequel to the Mafia saga appeared inevitable. "The Godfather" has proved a phenomenon of movie history, increasing the fortunes of Paramount and its parent company, Gulf and Western.

"Charles Bludhorn (head of Gulf and Western) has said that 'The Godfather' will earn between $125 million and $150 million in rentals," said Robert Evans, Paramount production chief.

"'Gone with the Wind' now holds the record with $114 million, followed by 'The Sound of Music' with $112 million. But 'Gone with the Wind' took 30 years to make that much, and 'Sound of Music' seven years. 'The Godfather' will break their records in one year."

AL PACINO, who held a leading part in "The Godfather", will star in the movie's sequel. (AP Wirephoto)

Evans reported that "The Godfather" had drawn $101 million in theater grosses during its first 18 weeks in release.

When "The Godfather's" hit status seemed apparent, the Paramount production minds began thinking about a sequel. Mario Puzo, author of the original novel, was commissioned to write a continuation of the history of the Corleone family, fictional leaders of a faction of the Mafia.

Figures have not been disclosed, but Puzo earned far more than his returns from the film sale of "The Godfather."

"Mario got about $75,000 for the book," Evans recalled, "plus a small percentage of the profits. At the beginning, we had a one-year option on the book for $10,000; we bought it before it was written.

"After the book was finished, we were offered a million dollars for our option. That was one profit we're glad we didn't make."

"The Godfather, Part II" will carry the Corleone fortunes from the end of the first film, 1956, until 1972.

"The new film will have the same look, the same integrity of the original," Evans said.

Another Draw In Chess Play

By JULIE FLINT
Associated Press Writer

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — Bobby Fischer inched toward the world chess title with another draw in a dull ninth game with Soviet champion Boris Spassky Tuesday. The score now is 5½-3½ in the American challenger's favor and the 10th game is scheduled for Thursday.

The ninth game "might actually be considered the so-called 'grandmaster draw,' since neither player made any great change from standard play," said international grandmaster Isaac Kashdan, analyzing the play for The Associated Press.

With a win counting one point and a draw half a point, Fischer as the challenger needs 12½ to take the title while Spassky must score 12 to retain it.

A maximum of 15 games remain to be played, and Fischer can lose one and still win if he draws the other 14. But Spassky must win at least two games and draw the rest to keep his crown. So far he has won only one of the first nine games in play, the first, while Fischer has taken four.

Playing first with the white pieces, Spassky opened Tuesday with his usual pawn to queen four. Fischer responded with knight to king's bishop three and the game developed into the Tarrasch variation of the queen's gambit.

"By the 14th move, most of the major and minor pieces had been traded off and, two moves later, everything was virtually dead even," said Kashdan.

USSR Today Is Moving Toward Naval Supremacy

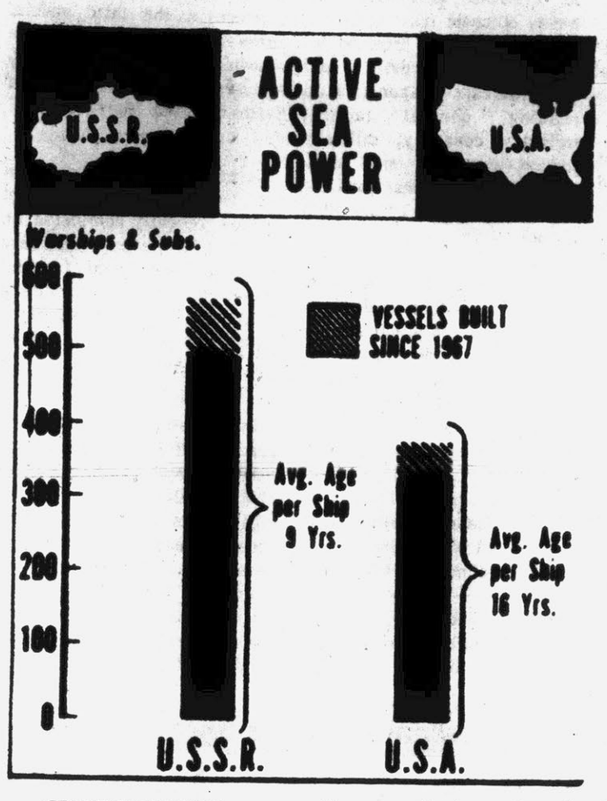

CHART SHOWS comparative naval strengths of the U.S. and the Soviet Union. The Soviet Navy is reported on the verge of a new surge in warship construction. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

Editor's Note—This is the second of three articles assessing the comparative military strength of the United States, the Soviet Union and their allies in Western Europe.

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Navy, which has outbuilt the U.S. Navy at a rate of 2 to 1 in recent years, is reported on the verge of a new surge in warship construction.

This is a trend that senior U.S. admirals say is running against the United States in the struggle for naval supremacy, which parallels Soviet advantages in ground forces and missile numbers.

The missile race is continuing, despite the new agreement to limit strategic arms. The emphasis will shift to increased numbers of warheads and improved methods of delivery. On the ground, this country has conceded the Soviets a wide lead in combat forces by cutting the U.S. Army to its smallest size in a generation.

Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt Jr., the Navy's chief, warns that "unless we continue a dedicated and determined naval modernization program, expanding Soviet naval capabilities could, in the not too distant future, put the Soviet Union in a position to disrupt our use of the seas ..."

Critics dispute such grim forecasts, accusing the Navy of trying to scare Congress and the country into accepting bigger Navy budgets.

"The Pentagon buildup of the Soviet Navy is a strange but well-known technique," said Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., who is leading forces bent on blunting the Navy's bid for about $3.6 billion in new shipbuilding money.

Proxmire claims the U.S. Navy is far superior to Russia's and will stay that way under current building programs.

The U.S. Navy's concern has had some support from the outside.

Raymond V. B. Blackman, editor of the authoritative British publication Jane's Fighting Ships, wrote last July that "the situation for the U.S. Navy is serious."

"By any standards, the Soviet fleet now represents the supernavy of a superpower," Blackman said.

According to the latest U.S. Navy estimates, Russia is operating 568 major surface warships and submarines while the United States has 378 in its active fleet.

Both navies have been retiring older ships but the Russians are credited with building 89 new war vessels since 1967 while the United States was constructing 42.

This constructing gap has contributed to the U.S. Navy's obsolescence problem. Its ships average 16 years of age while the Soviet average is only nine years. Older ships generally are slower, their armament and other equipment less sophisticated.

During the past five years, the Russians have sent about 10 new classes of major surface combat ships and submarines to sea.

And the pace of Soviet naval modernization appears to be accelerating. This year alone, U.S. intelligence has spotted three new classes of Russian destroyer, frigate and cruiser.

Cost increases have hardened even hawkisk senators and congressmen against the Navy's pleas for more shipbuilding money.

The price of a new destroyer is around $90 million. The bill for a new attack submarine adds up to about $220 million. The cost figures that really staggers Congress is the $1-billion estimate for a fourth nuclear-powered aircraft carrier.

In their defense, Navy admirals recall that they were appealing for modern ships years ago when prices were much lower but that the Pentagon's civilian leaders made them wait.

When he was secretary of Defense, Robert S. McNamara foced the Navy in the 1960s to accept a new oil-burning carrier instead of a nuclear-propelled ship because it cost less—about $277 million.

If they had been able to build that ship with atomic engines the admirals say, they would already have had their fourth nuclear carrier and at half the current $1-billion estimate.

Faced with a balking Congress, the Navy has put its designers to work on a variety of ship innovations featuring relative simplicity and hoped-for lower cost.

These include a "sea-control ship" which would carry vertical and short-takeoff airplanes and cost about $100 milliion.

Because of a Navy blind spot the Russians are years ahead in ship-killing missiles.

Back in the 1950s and 1960s, when Russia's surface fleet was less than formidable, U.S. Navy leaders concentrated on arming their vessels to deal with the Soviet submarine and air threat.

The U.S. Navy woke to the potential of antiship missiles only after the 1967 sinking of an Israeli destroyer by a Soviet-made Styx missile fired by Egyptians.

Meanwhile, the U.S. Navy has been straining to catch up. So far, the Navy has only a temporary expedient ready to install until the Harpoon missile is ready, perhaps in about three years.

The Soviet and U.S. navies traditionally have differed in their composition because of their differing geography and naval strategy.

Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, outlined the contradicting U.S. and Soviet naval objectives this way:

"Because of our great dependence on overseas sources of raw materials and because of our strong ties to our overseas allies, we must insure our access to the seas in both peace and war. Consequently, U.S. Navy general purpose forces have been designed primarily to control the sea lines of communication and to project our seapower across the oceans.

"The Soviets, in contrast, are less dependent on overseas sources of supply and are less involved with overseas allies. Their long-term objective, apparently, is to weaken our ties with our overseas allies and prevent us from coming to their assistance in time of war.

"Accordingly, the Soviet Navy general purpose force has been designed primarily to disrupt our sea lanes of communication and obstruct the projection of our sea power."

Therefore, analysts say, the United States has built its naval striking power around aircraft carriers and has sought nuclear propulsion for surface ships so they can operate for longer periods in far distant areas of the globe.

The Russians, on the other hand, long have stressed attack submarines and surface warships armed with ship-killing missiles.

But in recent years the Russians have widened their naval operations to a virtually worldwide scale. This has led to construction of the first Soviet aircraft carrier, relatively small but suitable for vertical takeoff and landing planes.

Still unfinished, this carrier is expected to join the Soviet fleet within a few years.

Looking back, Ad. Zumwalt has said that the Cuban missile crisis of 1962, "was very definitely a turning point in the development of the Soviet navy."

In that U.S.-Soviet confrontation nearly 10 years ago the Russians found their Navy had "very limited capabilities to conduct distant operations," Zumwalt said.

But that has changed.

Most importantly, the Russians have broken out of geographical bottlenecks which once gave the United States a big advantage, when the Russian fleet was tied to home ports in the Baltic, Black and Japan seas.

The Russians also acquired rights to use ports and airfields in friendly countries in the Middle East, the Indian Ocean area and on the west coast of Africa.

The Soviet navy still suffers from a number of weaknesses, in the U.S. view. It lacks air cover in operating far from its homeland, and it has not yet acquired the ability to resupply the fleet on the open ocean.

But these deficiencies may be overcome, or at least minimized, as the Russians gain more port and airfield footholds around the world.

Holsteins Ride Twice Each Day

By DAVID L. LANGFORD

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI)—When Truman Smith's cows took their first merry-go-round ride, it was a traumatic experience for the herd of holsteins, perhaps as disturbing as the day automatic milking machines replaced warm hands.

"We had to pick some of them up and muscle them on there," said Smith's 34-year-old son and partner in the dairy business, Kenneth Smith.

But after a month of twice-a-day rides, the Smith cows are growing accustomed to their carrousel. Some of them, especially the younger ones, have decided it's not a bad trip after all.

"We've got three or four that just refuse to get on the thing," said Smith. "Just like with some humans, they won't adjust to something new. They're just too stupid."

Bovine Merry-Go-Round

A carrousel for cows may sound like a strange idea to a lot of humans, but there's a method in the merry-go-round madness.

The Smiths are pioneering the latest innovation in dairy barn automation, a rotating milking platform designed to save manpower. It shuttles the cows to the milker, assembly line-style, freeing the man from working his way down the line.

Smith, a 59-year-old longtime Florida resident who was born and raised on a farm on Sand Mount in northwest Alabama, got the idea while on a trip around the world last year. In Sydney, Australia, he got his first look at a rotary milker and later his son, Kenneth, inspected a similar unit built a few months ago by Jum Hudlow, a dairyman in Chattanooga, Tenn.

While several dairy equipment firms are developing rotary milkers, only three are in operation so far in this country. The third is a homemade device built in a converted silo out in the Pacific Northwest.

Will Save Manpower

It's the hottest topic in the dairy industry today," said Smith, who is president of the Tampa Independent Dairy Farmers Assn., which has 92 members in 13 counties. He figures that when his cows are trained he can cut his manpower in half.

About 500 cows a day are milked at the 400-acre T.S. Smith & Son dairy farm, located just off Dale Mabry Road, a few miles northwest of Tampa. Smith, who came to Florida in the late 20s and went to work at odd jobs around dairies in Dade County, said he has been offered $1.4 million for the land alone.

With the urging of the younger Smith, and an investment of $50,000, the Smiths built a concrete block building outside their old "flatbarn" milking shed and installed the rotary milker, equipped with automatic "prepping stalls."

It works this way: the cows are herded into a pen where lawn sprinklers give them a preliminary bath. Then they go four-abreast into a concrete stall where water jets give them a second wash-down on the underside.

Next stop is one of the 13 stalls on the continually rotating platform. It's a 6½-minute trip and the milking is complete by the time the cow gets back around to the gate to the pen.

Charterhouse Is Big Attraction

SALERNO, Italy (UPI)—A short drive from the Salerno-Eboli highway is the restored Charterhouse of San Lorenzo in Padula (Salerono). Construction of the Charterhouse began in the early part of the 14th century and continued through the 16th century. The Charterhouse was abandoned after World War II and since its restoration is rapidly becoming a major tourist attraction.

Jacques Charles and M. Robert flew successfully for one hour in an hydrogen-inflated balloon in December 1783.

Links Drugs To Murders

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The rate of handgun murders decreased drastically here four years ago when Toledo became the only major city in Ohio with a gun control law.

But now the ratio of handgun murders to other methods of murder is about the same as before the legislation was passed.

During the 12 months prior to passage of the law in August, 1968, Toledo had 36 murders, 22 committed by handguns. Last year, there also were 36 murders, but only 14 were by handguns.

Now the report for Aug. 1, 1971 to July 31, 1972 shows there have been 27 murders with 16 committed by handguns.

John Burkhart, the city's chief counsel and architect of Toledo's gun control law, says there is a direct relationship between the increased problem of controlling narcotics and handgun murders.

"Drug trouble wasn't such a big problem in 1968," said Burkhart. "When we find a solution to it, we'll find a solution to handgun murders."

To buy or possess a handgun in Toledo, a person has to be 21 years old, a resident and have a gun control identification card.

TAX DEDUCTION

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — All except $100 of the $1 million ransom paid for the safe return of Mrs. Harry C. Piper Jr. probably is tax deductible, according to an Internal Revenue Service spokesman.

Old-Time Arctic Trapper Has A Cache Of Stories

By DAN TURNER

INUVIK, N.W.T. (UPI)—At a time when it is difficult to find a grizzled, old-time trapper in the Arctic, Slim Semmler represents a real discovery for a southerner schooled in romantic yarns of the North.

The streets of most communities in the Northwest Territories aren't really paved with adventure anymore—too many public servants have come here on their civilizing mission for that.

But a cache of the old North lies hidden on Inuvik's Main Street, in a modest wooden building bearing a sign reading: L.F. Semmler, general merchant and raw fur dealer.

"Get the hell out, I'm closed!" is likely to be your greeting if you walk through the door at lunch hour.

Time for Talk

But if you don't want to buy a tin of condensed milk or a wolf pelt—but just want to talk about the old days—well there might be time for that.

Semmler forgets the exact year he set out for Canada. "It's so long ago I forget," he says, but the year 1919 sticks in his mind.

He homesteaded in Alberta, relieving the summer stump-pulling with winter fishing and trapping.

"An only Finlander there used to say that Alberta was a school—as soon as you learned to fish and trap and everything then you went North."

He earned his passage on a schooner heading north down the Mackenzie River by piloting the boat and helping to haul it across blocked passages.

Semmler's voyage ended many months later at Young Point on Coronation Gulf, deep in the frigid heart of the Northwest Territory.

"There wasn't a soul there," he says wistfully. "I stayed there 19 years."

He didn't see anybody for several months, but when he came out of the local trading post with the white fox pelts he had trapped during his first year, he met Agnes, now 60, the daughter of a white trapper and an Indian of the old Crow tribe.

They eventually married and had four children.

He summarizes those 19 years cryptically: "They didn't do much for me. I made a lot of money trapping and trading —some years as much as $12,000—but I stayed too long.

"I should have got out when the going was good."

The going got bad when he was caught in a hurricane at Tuktoyaktuk in 1945, losing a schooner and $25,000 worth of supplies he had been bringing into his frozen hinterland.

It got worse when he left the supplies he managed to rescue with an unscupulous fellow who ran off with them. His losses totaled $100,000.

"If I wasn't broke after 19 years of work I was badly bent," he said.

Semmler's misfortunes were not over. Although he decided that it was time to move into the safer environment of the Mackenzie Delta, near where Inuvik is today, he tried to get another load of fox pelts out of his trap run.

"We tried to overhaul the boat in open sea and had got it done just as the storm hit, but the engineer had put the rods in wrong and she wouldn't go.

"There were waves higher than this house going by the cabin just like express trains. We hit the ice and I flew into the water and the next wave sucked me way up.

"The others were on the shore and I waved goodbye as it caught me, but God must not have wanted me to die just then because it put me down right on top of the ice cake."

The boat had been smashed to bits. It was fall in the Arctic and the snow was coming cold and wet.

But Semmler, his partner and the engineer walked 30 miles until "as luck would have it" they ran into an Indian family were they got "a few dry beans and some half-rotten Arctic char."

That was enough of the traplines. Semmler started a mink ranch in the delta and "did very good" with it until the government made him quit hunting whales to feed the mink.

In 1957 he came to Inuvik and set up a store in a tent.

"When they made roads in them days they didn't have much gravel and after they got into the permafrost everything became soupy mud.

"They'd drag this mud into the tent and we'd have to shovel it out every hour because it was up to our knees."

President Of Railrod Is Engineer

By WILLIAM L. CHAZE
Associated Press Writer

LOUSVILLE, Ga. (AP) — Engineer B.D. "Billy" Gibson was moving his big diesel across the century-old Ogeechee River trestle when he felt something shift sickeningly beneath him.

He slammed the throttle forward and, with the old timbers creaking and popping beneath him, made it to the Wadley side of the river. When he went back to see what had happened, his suspicions were confirmed. The ancient trestle had slipped in the muddy river bed.

The problem would not have been insurmountable for a big railroad. The trestle would have been rebuilt and it would have been business as usual.

Gibson, however, is a one-man railroad and the business with the trestle is typical of the problems he faces every day. Nine months after the trestle shifted, it is still broken, and Gibson is able to use only two of his 10 miles of rusty, wavy track.

But he is making a living as president, engineer, brakeman, fireman, mechanic, section hand, electrician, oiler and chief brush cutter of the Lousville and Wadley Railway Co., one of the nation's tiniest, commercially run railroads.

"If there's a title a railroad can give you, I've got it," says Gibson. "The funny thing is, I've never had much interest in trains. I bought this railroad as a challenge because everybody said it couldn't be run at a profit."

Gibson recalls that when he was growing up in Lousville, southwest of Augusta, he wouldn't have given two cents for a train—or even looked twice at the L&W when it pulled into Lousville at the end of its run to Wadley.

But, as things have a way of working out in small towns, Gibson was part-time stationmaster when the local owners put the railroad up for sale in 1964.

Gibson bought it by out-bidding a dozen steel companies that wanted to melt down the rails. He forked over his savings, agreed to take on the L&W's debts to 31 other railroads, and shut down his television repair business. He had been fixing sets on the side.

"A lot of folks laughed and told me I had shut down the wrong thing," grins ths 39-year-old Gibson.

Before long, he had trimmed the railroad's overhead to nothing by finding jobs elsewhere for time L&W's nine employes and doing their jobs himself. He kept only one helper.

He worked seven days a week for a long while, but lately has been able to cut back.

"I don't know whether this is a unique operation or not," says Gibson. "The railroad buffs all tell me that I'm the only president of a railroad in the country that is the whole show. I mean everything."

Gibson mostly hauls wood from a woodyard outside of Wadley to a point two miles down the track where the cars are transferred to one of the big railroad's locomotives. He used to haul freight the full 10 miles between Wadley and Lousville, but when the trestle went out, he was limited to using track on only the Wadley side of the Ogeechee.

The L&W president is an independent man. When his train derails, he and his helper, Sug Jackson, put it back on the tracks themselves by using muscle, jacks and ingenuity. The big railroads use cranes, but Gibson doesn't own one.

Old-Fashioned Campout Slated

LITCHFIELD, Conn. (UPI)— The Connecticut chapter of the National Hikers and Campers Association (NHCA) will host "an oldtime primitive campout" featuring only tents—with campers with trailers, pickup campers, motor homes and the like outlawed during the weekend gathering.

"We are trying to recreate the way we used to go camping, and even if you have to borrow a tent, come on along," said a spokesman for the NHCA.

The "tent-out" will be held Aug. 18-20 at the White Memorial Foundation in Litchfield. For information write to Jesse Mariner, 80 Walnut St., East Hartford, Conn. 06108.

Close-Up Look For Yacht Fans

KIEL, Germany (UPI)—A restricted number of yachting fans will be able to anchor inside the Olympic harbor for the seven day yachting competition in August-September.

The organizers have built five special harbors to accommodate an expected armada of 600 private yachts. Visitors, however, will not be allowed to watch races in their own yachts. The organizers have chartered 14 steamers which can carry a total of 4,000 fans to the three regatta courses.

The South China Sea is shaped vaguely like a huge peanut with two large bumps along its western edge. They are the Gulf of Thailand, bordered by the Malay Peninsula, Thailand, Cambodia and South Vietnam, and the Gulf of Tonkin, bordered by China and both North and South Vietnam.

Still Mines On Japan's Coast

TOKYO (UPI)—Japanese military officials estimate there are at least 2,000 mines from World War II in Japanese coastal waters.

These officials say that the United States laid about 11,000 mines around Japan during the war and most of those remaining are in the area of Kanmon Strait. Japan's Maritime Defense Force carries out periodic mine sweeping operations.

FLOOD INSURANCE RATES RECEDE.

If you think you can't afford flood insurance, chances are you're all wet.

Because now the federal government's National Flood Insurance Program — administered by Fireman's Fund American in this state — is offering flood and mudslide insurance at sharply lowered rates.

EXAMPLE: A$10,000 policy on a single-family home that used to cost $40 per year now costs $25! And rates for other residences, businesses and contents have tumbled too.

For more information, simply contact your insurance agent or broker. He'll quickly tell you whether flood insurance is available in your area and how much it will cost you.

But do it soon. Now that rates have receded, he expects to be flooded.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S horoscope

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is a day and evening to use much caution, for most everyone is in an argumentative frame of mind and is apt to state strong opinions contrary to those of others and to lose the favor of those able to be of greatest helpfulness. Take care of your health. Anger can stir up poisons in your system now.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Take it in your stride if you are not able to have the recreation you want today, for one reason or another. Forget temper tantrums. You have a good idea, but it can be pooh-poohed by one who is too stingy with money.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Use diplomacy with everyone today, especially at home where tempers are apt to be pretty touchy. Get busy early at important duties, even though you want to get into personal affairs. Think.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Exercising great care in motion is most important now, or there could be serious trouble, cost. Control that temptation to be extravagant. Evening can be a happy one with your mate.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Suggestions made by good pals should be listened to carefully today, tonight. One who is idealistic can be particularly helpful to you. Steer clear of one who has an eye on your assets.

LEO (July 22 to Aug 21) Do nothing that can bring forth criticism in the business world; this is particularly true where your reputation is concerned. Do not disagree so much when handling that civic affair. Cooperation is the right key.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get out to places where you can come in contact with people who reason and are of a very high moral character. Don't fuss over petty affairs. Get right ideas for travel or advancement from clever persons.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You can now go to that fine friend for the advice you want and need and get it, as well as data you have long wanted. There are several avenues open to you for greater success. A greater happiness with mate depends on your attitude.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Make sure you remain neutral during an argument between associate and an official, or you become the shipping boy. Take care of own personal affairs and all is fine for you. Out to some charming social affair in p.m.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You want to be blunt with one you feel is not doing right, but you had better be diplomatic for best results. Study new ideas well and get the information you need from proper sources. Think.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You are able to put advice that experts have given you to use now with excellent results, so do so before going off to fun places. Buy a thoughtful gift for the one you love. Reach a fine understanding.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have committed yourself to do a big favor for another, but be sure you know exactly what is expected before you go to all that trouble. Handle those important matters well at home, also.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Plan how to gain the favor of an associate and show you are most efficient at your work. Stop fussing and fretting over what you can do nothing about. Data is important now, so get it. Early to bed tonight.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those young people with a very strong willpower, who needs most careful handling early in life in order to prevent a temperamental attitude and personality from developing. Encouragement is necessary here for best results. There is much ability to whittle the visionary down to a practical level and thereby make a real fortune during the lifetime. Give religious training early. Sports are good.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Earns Eagle Scout Badge

DONALD TUCKER, Jr.

Donald H. Tucker Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Donald H. Tucker of Greenville, received his Eagle Scout award Sunday morning at Jarvis Memorial Church.

Tucker is a member of Troop 205, sponsored by Memorial Baptist Church. He has been active in the troop for the past two years, having served as patrol leader of the Flaming Arrow Patrol. In addition, he has gone to summer camp the past two summers, has been active in troop camping activities, and participated on mountain hikes to Linville Gorge in 1971 and to Appalachian Trail this year.

The scout's special Eagle project involved planning and beginning construction of an archeological display showing recent excavations done by the Department of Archeology at East Carolina University.

Further work by him will be carried out on the project in future months, he reported. The display can be seen in the Archeology Department at ECU.

In addition to scouting activities, Tucker has been a member of the Aycock Junior High basketball team, active on the Greenville Swim Association swimming team, and active as a member of Jarvis Memorial Church.

Canada Will Reduce Marijuana Penalty

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada's Health Minister says the government won't legalize possession of marijuana and hashish for personal use but it is taking steps to reduce the penalties.

There is "no intention to legalize possession of cannabis (marijuana) or hashish in any form," Health Minister John Munro said in a statement Monday.

Munro said the government is attempting to separate marijuana cases from cases involving hard drugs such as heroin.

The government has instructed prosecutors to urge the courts to give "absolute or conditional discharges" to a person found guilty of possessing soft drugs if the offender has not been charged with other offenses and has no criminal record, the statement said.

Laws that took effect July 15 allow judges to grant such discharges and thus spare the offender a criminal record.

Munro added that the government intends to transfer all offenses and controls relating to marijuana from the Narcotics Control Act to the Food and Drug Act or other legislation with less severe penalties.

Munro's statement in effect rejected the recommendation in May of the government's Le Dain Commission that marijuana be legalized. The commission, headed by Dean Gerald LeDain of the York University law school, said the present legal penalties for use of the drug were more damaging to young people than the short-term effects of marijuana.
