Record-Setting Prices

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — Prices continued a record-setting advance as South Carolina and Border North Carolina to-bacco markets wound up their second week of sales Thursday.

The Federal-State Market News Service reported a $1 increase to $87 per hundred pounds for a large number of cutter, lug and primer grades. Most other grade averages held steady.

Some improvement in quality was noted. Sales continued heavy, with most markets remaining blocked.

South Carolina markets sold 4,923,835 pounds at an average of $86.15, while North Carolina markets sold 3,991,968 pounds for an average of $85.88.

Wednesday's sales brought a record high average of $85.64 for a combined 9.6 million pounds. The new high was 38 cents above the Tuesday mark.

New GI Bill Is Passed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed a measure sharply boosting the benefits for veterans to attend school under the GI Bill.

The Senate passed the measure 89-0 Thursday. It provides an increase of 43 per cent — more than the amount the Nixon administration requested and approved by the House.

If the difference can be worked out by a House-Senate conference committee before the fall term, a single veteran attending a college or vocational school would receive $250 a month. Currently the GI Bill pays $175 a month.

Married veterans would receive $297 a month, compared with the current $265, and if he has a child, $339 instead of $305.

Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., chairman of the Veterans Affairs Committee which approved the bill unanimously, said the increase takes inflation into account and is proportionate to what World War II veterans received.

No Answer In Planets

RALEIGH (AP) — A specialist in population research said today interplanetary movement of humans would not aid efforts to curb Earth's population.

Arthur H. Jones, a staff associate of the Carolina Population Center at Chapel Hill, said one couple traveling from earth to the closest solar system would have 10 quadrillion descendants by the time their ship arrived.

Jones said the figure was based on the United States' rate of two per cent increase in population annually. According to Jones, space ships traveling one million miles an hour would require 3,000 years to reach the solar system.

Jones suggested that Earth people work instead to reduce population growth.

He discussed the population situation in an address prepared for the North Carolina and South Carolina Chamber of Commerce Executives.

New Presidential Car

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — President Nixon's new $500,000 armor-plated limousine rolls out of a closed shop today and will be trucked to Washington in a closed van with a Secret Service escort.

"It's as strong as a tank. It is so strong that a bomb would only roll it over," the Detroit Free Press quoted one workman as saying.

The taxpayer is only picking up a fraction of the tab for the President's five-ton Lincoln, — about a $5,000-a-year lease fee. Because of the prestige involved, the manufacturer does not charge the full cost.

Ford Motor Co. has cloaked the hand-made, option-loaded, black Lincoln Continental in a veil of secrecy. The Secret Service also is declining comment.

But the Free Press in today's editions gave these details:

The 365-horsepower engine displaces 480-cubic inches. The car weighs 10,000 pounds, compared to 5,200 pounds for the usual Continental.

Much of the extra weight comes from the quarter-inch of armor plate on the bottom, roof and doors.

The windows and metal reinforced tires are bulletproof and so is the plexiglass bubble which can be hydraulically raised when the President wants to stand up and wave.

The limousine was three years in the making but never was near an assembly line. It was hand-crafted by 10 metal model makers, two welders and one stockman who worked from special plans prepared by Ford and the Secret Service.

Pitt Project

RALEIGH — Pitt County has been allocated more than $26,400 for one secondary road construction project, according to the State Highway Commission.

The project includes paving 1.10 miles of secondary road 1743 from secondary road 1744 to a dead end.

Approval of the project was voted at the regular August meeting held in Hendersonville.

Southport Ferry Is Sidetracked

SOUTHPORT, N.C. (AP) — The state-operated Southport-Fisher ferry was sidetracked by mechanical trouble today, the Highway Commission said.

A spokesman for the Highway Department said the ferry may not be restored to service until after this weekend. The ferry is the only direct access to Fort Fisher from Southport.

Espionage Trial Begins

TYNDALL AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP) — An Air Force intelligence officer says M. Sgt. Walter T. Perkins went to Mexico City twice before being nabbed with top secret documents that he planned to turn over to the Russian embassy.

Maj. Joe Nunez of the Office of Special Investigation (OSI) gave the testimony Thursday at a preliminary court-martial hearing where Perkins, a 20-year Air Force veteran, is facing espionage charges.

The Air Force contends that Perkins intended to turn over the classified papers, including a document on ballistic missiles, to Soviet agents at the Russian embassy in the Mexican capital.

Defense attorney Henry Rothblatt said Perkins' acts were "excusable under the law" because his client was an alcoholic who demonstrated a "psychotic condition, an inability to adhere to the right when the acts were being done."

Perkins, 37, the top ranking noncommissioned officer at the Air Defense Weapons Center here, was arrested last Oct. 18 at the Panama City, Fla., airport as he was allegedly preparing to make a third flight to Mexico City.

He is charged with attempting to pass national secrets "to persons not authorized to have them."

A motion by Rothblatt seeking to prohibit the secret documents from being entered as evidence on the grounds that they were obtained in an illegal search is still pending before the court.

As soon as Judge Advocate Col. Joe Peck rules, the actual court martial is expected to get under way.

Post-Campaign Letdown Cited

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton says that his bout with depression in 1960 came in the letdown from the frenetic pace of a campaign for the office of Missouri attorney general.

Eagleton, who formally withdrew as the Democratic vice presidential nominee earlier this week, recalled Thursday that he overworked himself, lost 22 pounds and "became terrifically keyed up and terrifically exhausted" during that campaign.

He described the void that followed the endless round of rallies and appearances during a taping of the Dick Cavett show for broadcast on ABC-TV.

"There aren't any more speeches to give. There aren't any more airplanes to catch — you just sit around," he said. "I'd sort of mope around. I was sort of aimless. My judgment wasn't impaired — I could answer letters."

But he became lethargic, somewhat withdrawn and irritable, more interested in watching television than in socializing, Eagleton said.

"It was the kind of situation that if you let it linger too long, it can get progressively worse and get too hard to cope with," he said.

"We really don't know ourselves, especially we politicians," he said. "I used to be an individual who knew very little about myself. I've become much more introspective."

Eagleton's disclosure that he had been hospitalized in 1960, 1964 and 1966 for depression and nervous exhaustion led to his withdrawal as Sen. George McGovern's running mate.

Asked whether he felt any bitterness, the 42-year-old senator replied firmly, "No, I really don't. I think I ended up with more friends after it was over than when I started."

Key Missile Treaty Ratified By Senate

By LAWRENCE L. KNUSTON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has ratified a historic treaty limiting the spread of Soviet and American defensive missiles.

The 88-2 roll-call vote Thursday cleared the way for later consideration of the more controversial five-year SALT agreement on offensive nuclear weapons.

The treaty was opposed only by Sens. James B. Allen D-Ala., and James Buckley, Con.-R-N.Y., who contended it is immoral because it causes the United States to forego an available means of defending its population against potential nuclear attack.

Signed by President Nixon and Soviet Premier Leonid Brezhnev in Moscow last May 25, the treaty limits each nation to 200 antiballistic missiles and just two sites—one at the capital and one in the interior defending an offensive-missile site.

The White House said Nixon was pleased with the ratification vote and "looks forward to prompt action" on the companion interim agreement.

Heated debate is likely as the Senate moves on to consider the agreement which allows the Soviet Union to surpass the United States in the numbers of land- and sea-based nuclear offensive missiles.

The treaty needed only Senate approval, but the agreement must be acted upon by both chambers.

The agreement places ceilings on both nations' nuclear arsenals, and the Nixon administration has contended it will have the effect of breaking the momentum of the recent Soviet arms buildup.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., challenged that view and announced he will seek to amend the agreement, by adding a warning to the Soviets that any move to increase their offensive capability so as to threaten the American nuclear deterrent would be considered a threat to the United States.

Jackson sought also to put Congress on record as directing the President to seek equality of numbers in the next round of SALT negotiations with the Soviets.

Foreign Relations Committee Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., and other Democrats expressed surprise and dismay when told the Jackson amendment had the backing of Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott and the Nixon administration.

Administration witnesses asked for no such provision when testifying on the agreement Fulbright said.

The agreement limits the United States to 1,054 land-based missiles, but allows the Soviets 1,618. It restricts the United States to 41 Polaris submarines with 16 missiles each, and the Soviets to 62 Y-class subs with 16 missiles each.

But there is no limit on the number of warheads for each missile, or on modernization of the weapons covered. The United States is considered ahead of the Soviets in multiple-warhead technology.

Wholesale Prices Post Sharp Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices posted in July the sharpest rise in five months to continue increasing at a faster pace than before President Nixon's Phase 2 wage-price controls, the government said today.

Last month's increase in prices of food and a broad range of industrial raw materials and manufactured goods was eight-tenths of one per cent, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

The report said wholesale prices in the eight months of Nixon's Phase 2 controls rose at an annual rate of 5.7 per cent compared with 5.2 per cent in the eight months before the Phase 1 wage-price freeze imposed a year ago.

The bureau also reported that the nation's unemployment rate remained unchanged in July at 5.5 per cent of the work force and total employment was virtually unchanged at 83.4 million.

"The jobless rate in June and July was substantially below the rates of around 6 per cent which had prevailed since the close of 1970," the report said.

It added that average hourly earnings of some 50 million rank-and-file workers rose one cent per hour to $3.62 and were up $1.09 per week to $136.47.

Average earnings were up $8.53 weekly or 6.7 per cent over the past year, and after education for the 2.9 per cent rise in living costs, the average paycheck was $4.58 per week above a year earlier, the report said.

The report on wholesale prices said food prices rose 2.2 per cent in July; finished goods ready for retail sale went up one per cent; and industrial raw materials rose two-tenths of one per cent.

Chicod Creek Project Injunction Is Dismissed

NEW BERN, N. C. (AP) — Federal District Judge John Larkins Jr. has dissolved a temporary injunction which for the last three months blocked plans of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service to channelize Chicod Creek in Pitt and Beaufort counties.

Five environmental groups obtained the temporary order May 16. They contended that the project would do great harm to the region's natural resources. They regarded the case as a testing ground on opposition to channelization.

When Larkins issued the injunction, he stipulated that the five groups post a $75,000 bond to cover any damages incurred by a delay in the project.

When a motion to reduce the bond from $75,000 to $100 was denied, and the groups were unable to come with the $75,000 figure, the injunction was terminated.

The five groups which brought the suit were the National Wildlife Federation, Friends of the Earth, the Natural Resources Defense Council, the Pamlico-Tar Conservation Coalition and the North Carolina Wildlife Federation.

Attorneys for SCS argued that each month's delay in the 66-mile project cost the federal agency $7,650. They also pointed to preliminary expenditures of more than $200,000 by SCS and to $130,000 indebtedness by private landowners.

According to Frank Wooten Jr., Greenville attorney for the defendants, six items still pending in the Chicod Creek Watershed Project cases are:

- plaintiffs motion for partial summary judgement;
- defendants motion to dismiss;
- plaintiffs motion to compel production of the documents;
- intervenor's motion for summary judgement and alternative motions;
- defendants renewed motion to dismiss for failure to comply;
- intervenor's renewed motion to dissolve preliminary injunction and to dismiss.

The trial on the merits of the cause will not be held until the above motions are heard and all evidence has been submitted for judgement.

A letter from the National Resources Defense Council, Inc., of Washington, D.C., dated for release on Aug. 1, 1972, stated the environmental organizations suing the SCS in the Chicod Creek Project, have again advised the court that they are not in a position to post bond of $75,000.

A spokesman for the environmental groups said, "our groups simply do not have that kind of money."

The purpose of the channelization is to improve stream flow, reduce flooding and drain land so that it can ultimately be used for agriculture.

Clearing Highway

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese infantrymen drove the North Vietnamese from their last two major strongpoints along Highway 13 north of Saigon today, military sources reported. They predicted the road between the capital and An Loc, which has been out for 119 days, would soon be open all the way.

The Saigon troops killed 28 North Vietnamese in fighting that cleared bunkers American forces had left at a fire base they abandoned two miles south of Tau O. The bunkers were so sturdy that U.S. air strikes failed to smash them, the sources said, and the South Vietnamese had to flush out the North Vietnamese with infantry and tank assaults.

No South Vietnamese casualties were reported.

The South Vietnamese overran a second North Vietnamese strong point on the highway just south of the destroyed Tau O bridge and nine miles south of An Loc.

Western Union Office Closed

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

Western Union Thursday officially closed its Evans Street office and the telegraph company's local operations were taken up by a contract agent. The Country Store, at the intersection of Fifth and Cotanche Streets.

Through the contract agent, Western Union will continue a full line of services to area residents, officials noted.

Western Union, established more than 100 years ago in the United States, has provided telegraph service to the Greenville area since at least the 1890's and has occupied the Evans Street office, which closed yesterday, for more than 20 years.

At one time, Greenville and much of the rest of the nation was served by another telegraph company—the Postal Telegraph—which merged with Western Union in the 1940's.

According to Mrs. DeAnne Schell, an employee of the local contract agent, Western Union service will be provided from 8 a.m. until 9 p.m. During hours when the contract office is closed, she explained, customers may dial Raleigh toll-free—800-622-7310—for service.

Mrs. Schell said the office in the Country Store will provide over-the-counter acceptance and delivery, telephone acceptance and delivery and arrange for physical delivery of telegrams. They, too, will also handle telegraph money orders and other services provided by the company-maintained office.

Telephone acceptance and delivery will also be provided through Raleigh, she noted.

In the past, the company-operated office was opened from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. The Country Store provided contract agency service from 5 p.m. until 9 p.m.

The changes, according to officials, are part of a modernization plan for the company.

ECU Again Is Rated Most Efficient In Facilities Utilization

East Carolina University continues to make more use of its instructional facilities than any other university among the 16 public universities in North Carolina, according to this year's report on facilities utilization completed by the N.C. State Commission on Higher Education Facilities.

ECU has the lowest ratio of space per student among all North Carolina universities, both public and private.

Three to four square feet for each scheduled student hour of instruction being the ideal capacity-enrollment ratio, North Carolina's private four-year institutions average between five and six square feet per student hour.

Public institutions, with the exception of ECU also tend to have higher than desirable capacity-enrollment ratios. They include:

UNC-Asheville, 8.6; Appalachian State, 4.16; UNC-Wilmington, 5; UNC-Chapel Hill, 4.4; UNC-

Greensboro, 4.69; N.C. A&T, 5.3; and Winston-Salem State, 4.15.

The larger universities in the UNC system have an average ratio of 4.62, an increase over their average last year of 4.0.

ECU, which has maintained its ratio of 3.05 for two years, makes most use of instructional and library facilities for its student enrollment, indicating that the ECU campus has the most intensive utilization of facilities among the universities.

Dr. Leo Jenkins, ECU chancellor, commented that ECU has always aimed to utilize all its resources to the fullest extent possible.

Community colleges in the state showed slight increases in their capacity-enrollment ratios, but still indicate, with a ratio average of 2.6, that existing classroom and laboratory facilities are inadequate.

The report is to be issued as a guideline to administrators in managing their institutions more efficiently, said Charles L. Wheeler, Director of the Commission on Higher Education Facilities.

Its immediate aim, however, is to serve as a higher education facilities inventory which will inform the State Board of Education, the Board of Governors and other state agencies of the number and kinds of facilities needed by individual educational institutions in North Carolina.

The 135-page report was prepared with the support of a grant from the U.S. Office of Education and with the assistance of several state agencies and 112 state institutions of higher learning.

The Worry Clinic Preaching Is Like Selling

By GEORGE W. CRANE
 Ph.D., M.D.

Satan grins gleefully whenever a clergyman puts his congregation to sleep! For soporific preachers are the Devil's great ally! Pastors, good orators zoom attendance; poor speakers empty a church! So get hep to modern platform psychology, even if you must learn it belatedly from this newspaper!

Case R-596: Lew Sarett was our famous speech professor at the Northwestern University School of Speech.

But he was also a superb Applied Psychologist. "To win the greatest degree of cooperation from your audience," he always warned us, "use 'we' instead of 'you.'"

"In fact, any minor obstacle separating the speaker from his listeners will reduce his ability to persuade them. For example, even eyeglasses are a minor symbolical barrier. "Same goes for a lectern or pulpit."

Speech Psychology Recently I listened to one of America's outstanding preachers. But it must have been his "off" day for he wasn't up to par.

So Prof. Sarett's warnings came back to me and I began to analyze why he was failing to hold his congregation's attention.

His black gown with its crimson academic decoration thus obscured his suit underneath, and thus interposed an austere extra barrier.

Billy Sunday used to shed his coat and orate in shirt sleeves! Besides, this clergyman stood behind a massive pulpit and lectern, so only his head and shoulders were visible.

A microphone likewise obscured some of his face. And he looked down at his notes too often, thereby hiding his features till he revealed only the bald spot on his scalp.

Since he employed a fixed microphone, he didn't walk around at all, thus losing the attention attracting value of such movement.

If he had shed his formal black robe and stood out in the open, in the middle of the pulpit, with no lectern or stand in front of him, he would have held the audience much better.

Program Sunday By Youth Choir

The Winterville Missionary Baptist Youth Choir, under the direction of Jerry S. Cribbs, will give its last performance of the folk musical "Goin' Somewhere" on Sunday.

The program will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Greenville Free Will Baptist Church, located on the corner of Forbes and 11th Street.

The group of 30 young people is assisted by guitar, Benny Thompson, percussion, Abbott Hunsucker, and piano, Mrs. Paul Braxton.

The group recently toured in Raefore, Fayetteville and Autryville, giving the program. They have performed in their home church also.

The public is invited to attend.

"Preaching," warned former U. of Wisconsin President Glenn Frank, "is a form of salesmanship."

How many orders do you suppose even a star salesman could produce if he hid most of his body behind a big square block of wood and lectern while talking to the housewife at her front door?

And what salesman could earn a living if he repeatedly kept looking down at written notes, thus hiding all his face and revealing only his bald head?

If such a salesman also stood still, never moving to either side, would he be able to persuade his prospect as successfully?

You readers know he definitely would not!

Next Sabbath day just analyze your own clergyman (as I did last Sunday) and try to imagine him trying to sell cosmetics or magazines or newspaper subscriptions in the same manner as he tries to purvey religion!

Dr. Peale steps out from behind the lectern and stands boldly in the open center of his pulpit.

Many other superb orators do likewise.

Preachers, if you MUST stay behind an intervening wooden cage, why not lower it so it is not higher than your belt line?

After middle age, most of us need glasses to see the audience more clearly.

But let's reduce this excessive dependence on notes!

Imagine a star salesman of the door-to-door variety who had to consult his written notes every 15 seconds!

Clergymen, why not join Toastmaster's Clubs or take a Dale Carnegie Course and get hep to modern platform psychology?

Alas, the head of Garrett Biblical Institute recently stated that a seminary student may finish all 3 years there without ever taking a single course in preaching!

No wonder Bishop Raines invited me down to address all his Methodist Conferences in Indiana on "Public Platform Psychology!"

SINGING
 A singing will be held at Grindle Creek Church of God Saturday night at 7:30.

Featured on the program will be the Whitman Family Trio of Benson.
 The Rev. Wilbur Franks is pastor.

TOWER OF STRENGTH

Maybe you know her as Miss Lizzie or Granny Hill or Aunt Mary Jones. Through the years she's been a tower of strength in her community . . . helping with the sick, sharing with the poor . . . a friend to all.

She doesn't seem to worry about the future, just looks to the brighter side and is happy. You envy her, thinking she gets much out of life that you miss. Does she have a secret, a magic formula?

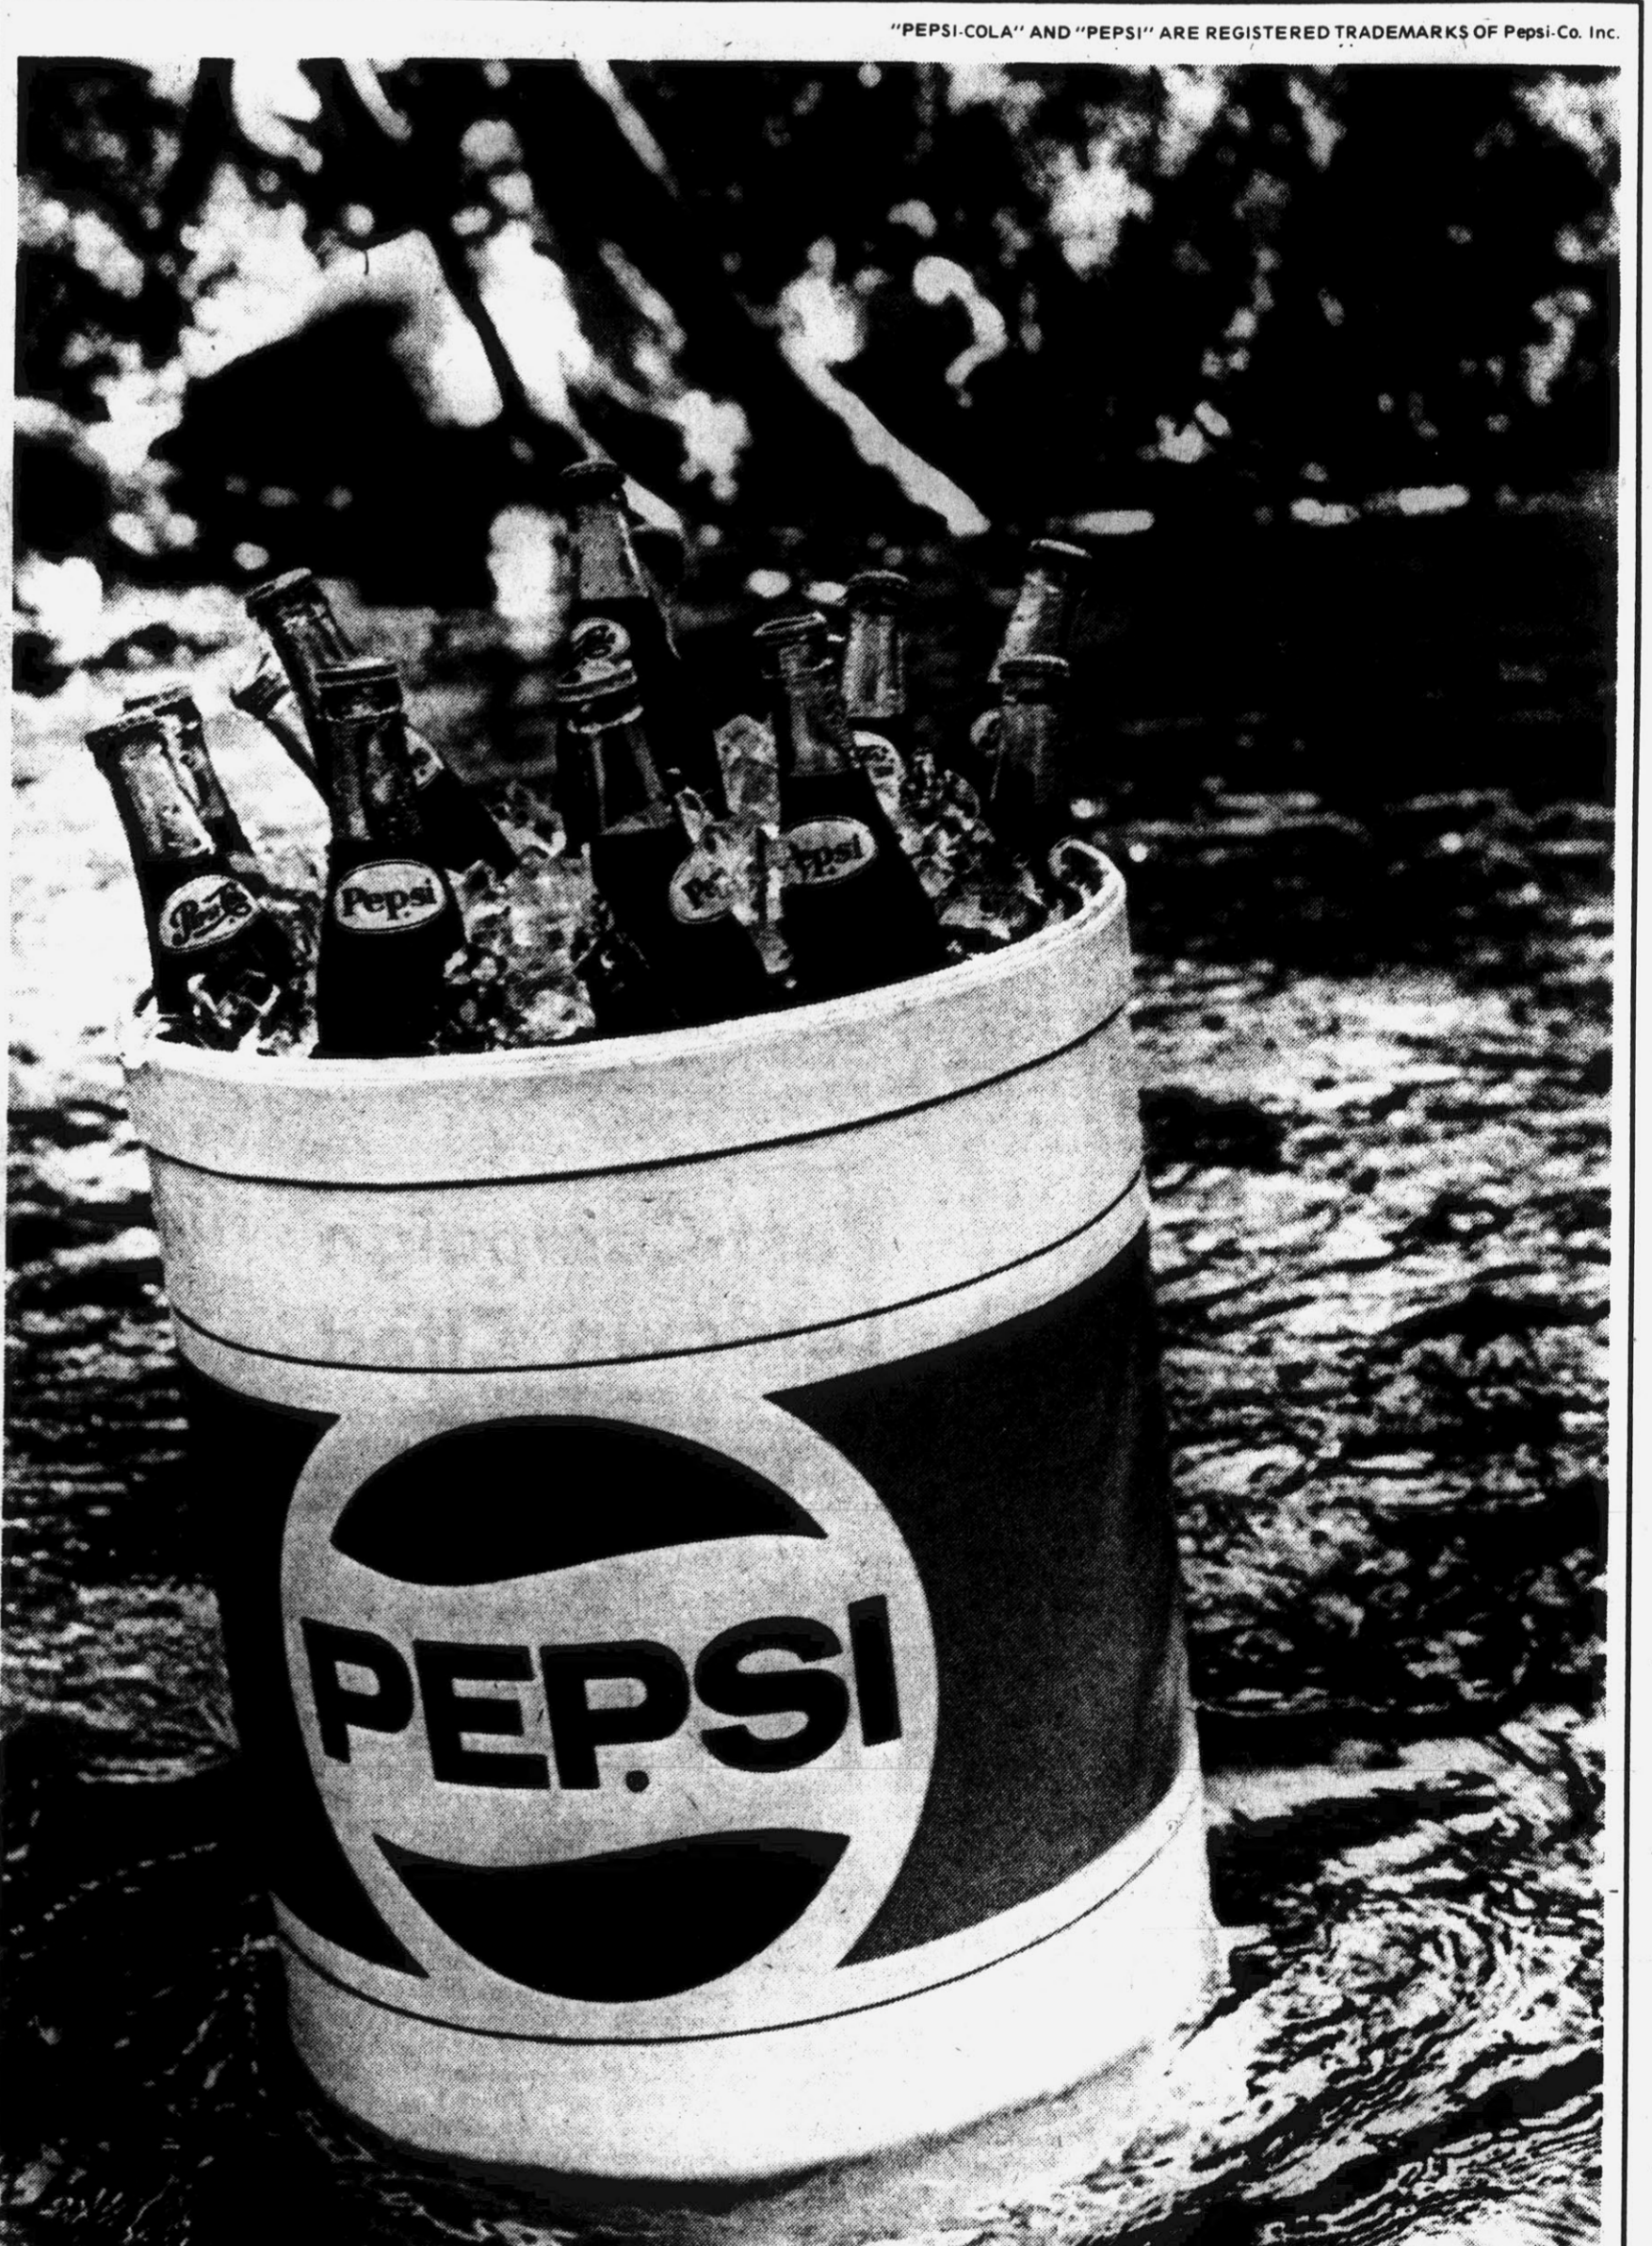

No, you can't say that her fellowship with God is a secret, for God is for everyone!

Would you like to possess some of her strength to look ahead, to face danger and conquer fear? The Church can help you reach this goal. All through the years it has strengthened mankind and helped him find the best in himself and in others.

Rouse A Lawyer NEA President Gives Views On Issues If Neighbors Keep You Up

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am at my wits' end. I live in a four-flat building, but my landlady and her two grown, unmarried sons live here, and those sons make so much noise I am about to go stark mad!

What happened to the ordinance about disturbing the peace? I called the police after 10 p.m. to report this racket and they said, "Take a shot, lady, and go to sleep."

I am not a drinking woman, and I am not going to "take a shot" so I can get some sleep.

I have gone to my son's home when things have been so noisy I wasn't able to sleep here, but why should I pay good rent money to sleep somewhere else?

I am a widow and have been under a doctor's care since my husband died a year ago. This landlady told me I could tear up my lease and move any time, but the apartment I want to move to isn't available for another 90 days. So what am I going to do in the meantime?

GOING MAD IN CHICAGO

DEAR GOING: Talk to your lawyer. You shouldn't be expected to pay rent for an apartment in which you cannot sleep.

DEAR ABBY: My older sister Nancy has been married to Joe for a year. About a month ago Joe joined the Navy. He'll be in the Navy training program for nine weeks, during which time Nancy is staying with me and my husband. It's a break for me because I am expecting a baby next month and Nancy is a big help right now. But here's the problem:

My husband's best friend Lenny, who is single, has been dating Nancy regularly. My husband thinks it's okay; in fact, he is pushing it. It's plain to see that Nancy and Lenny are very much interested in each other.

I don't approve of married women dating, and told Nancy how I felt about it, and she said, "Joe told me to have a good time."

I'm afraid if I kicked Nancy out, she'd go stay with Lenny. Yet I don't feel right letting her date. What should I do?

NANCY'S SIS

DEAR SIS: Having told Nancy that you disapprove of her dating, you have done all you can do. Your husband appears to have been the "architect" in this deal. Shame on him. I wonder how he'd like it if YOU dated?

DEAR ABBY: How would you cope with people who barge in on you unexpectedly after 9:30 in the evening? We have these so-called friends who spend every night of the week "dropping in" on victims like ourselves. I say "victims" because in my household (and most others I know about) by this hour we are already preparing to go to bed. Naturally when friends call, you have to act pleased and sit around entertaining them until they are ready to go home. What would you do?

ANNOYED

DEAR ANNOYED: I would greet them with, "I am so sorry you didn't call earlier to say you were coming. We were just going to bed. Good night."

CONFIDENTIAL TO "JUST ASKING": Technically, the only brother in law you have is the husband of your sister, or the brother of your wife.

NAOMI HACKER'S CLAM DIP
A delicious new version of a popular recipe.

1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese

1 can (10½ ounces) minced clams

Radishes

4 large or 6 small scallions, minced (including green tops)

8 drops hot pepper sauce

½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

¼ teaspoon salt

Let cream cheese stand at room temperature about 1 hour to soften. Drain clams well, reserving liquid. With a fork, vigorously mash together cream cheese, drained clams, 4 minced radishes, scallion and seasonings. Add reserved clam liquid a few drops at a time to desired dip consistency—only a few tablespoons should be needed. Place mixture in serving dish and decorate top with 2 thinly sliced radishes; dip looks especially pretty when edges of radish slices are pushed into dip about one-quarter of the way, so that radish edges are exposed. Serve with crackers, potato chips, carrot or celery sticks.

Drain crushed pineapple added to sweetened whipped cream makes an excellent filling for white or yellow cake layers. The cake may be covered with plain whipped cream or with a vanilla-flavored frosting.

By PATRICIA MC CORMACK
UPI FAMILY NEWS EDITOR
NEW YORK (UPI)—Mrs. Catherine Barrett wears two important hats. The one says grandmother. It makes 11 children of assorted sizes around Syracuse, N.Y., take notice. "It's just beautiful being a grandmother," she says.

The other one says "madame president". It draws salutes from hundreds of thousands of school teachers nationwide. Mrs. Barrett, an inner city sixth grade teacher from Syracuse, is president of the National Education Association (NEA).

In an interview, she discussed cooperation between parents and teachers, federal aid to local school districts, and other issues along the academic trail.

Here's how Mrs. Barrett feels about some major issues:

— PARENTS HELPING TEACHERS TO HELP THEIR CHILDREN. More involvement

on the school scene before youngsters go to school. More regular meetings between parents and teachers discussing what each wants for children once the youngsters go to school. Pre-programs, orientation for parents and new students, a good idea. Sees no reason parent-teacher conferences can't be scheduled evenings or Saturday mornings for parents who work. Parents also help by making sure children are neat and clean when they leave for school. At home—have an atmosphere where the whole family is engaged in learning at some period in the evening. Mrs. Barrett recalled the old-fashioned homework plan—everyone working around the dining room table. It was not a bad scene. To recreate the atmosphere one, of necessity, would have to black out the television, radio, phonograph during the homework hour. If you don't have a dining room, use kitchen table.

— OVERSUPPLY OF TEACHERS. Mrs. Barrett maintains that there is no oversupply of teachers even though many, including newly trained ones, are jobless. She said the nation has seven million youngsters mentally and physically handicapped. If that group is to have adequate education Mrs. Barrett said there would be no oversupply of teachers. The needs of the handicapped are not being met in school.

— TEACHER DEMANDS. An oversupply of teachers and the taxpayer revolt (causing the curbing of some education programs and even the school year in some places) makes the times seem poor for teachers to ask for more money. Mrs. Barrett said it is a fact that all over the country schools are going bankrupt. But she said people forget that school teachers are taxpayers too, and consumers. As the cost of living advances, the salaries of teachers must advance, she said. Where is the money coming from? Mrs. Barrett said the federal government, which now puts up 8.8 per cent to pay the public education bill. The NEA intends to push for more from Uncle Sam. One third of the school funds from federal sources is what the NEA has in mind.

— NUMBER ONE PROBLEM IN THE NEW SCHOOL YEAR. Money. Around the country programs are being cut back. Frills they're called. But it makes Mrs. Barrett see red to hear art, physical education, health, guidance called frills. Amputating such things affects the quality of education. But that's not all. Large blocs of teachers are being separated by some school systems. That

The Daily Reflector, Greenville, N.C.—Friday, August 4, 1972—3 means more pupils per teacher, larger classes. In Detroit, 8000 teachers were separated. In New York City, 5,000; in Los Angeles, 2,000.

One subject Mrs. Barrett had only positive words about was students. Her words: "Most youngsters are responsible and responsible. They are knowledgeable and mature. On account of advanced communication, they have it all over the

Two Candidates On Right Track

An interesting exchange is going on between the Democratic and Republican candidates for governor in our state.

GOP Candidate Jim Holshouser asked, in a well publicized announcement, that Democratic nominee Hargrove "Skipper" Bowles agree to a $44,000 ceiling on each candidate's spending in the gubernatorial race.

It would have been bad politics to agree expressly to an opponent's proposition, but Mr. Bowles did express interest in the idea.

He said he felt "some reasonable, practical agreement" could be worked out. "...I'm taking his idea seriously," Mr. Bowles said. "I am accepting his proposal at face value. I hope we can, even at this late date, bring about some agreement that will save his friends and mine some money."

Mr. Bowles suggested a meeting of campaign managers to work out an agreement.

Naturally both men are going to maneuver on the matter in hopes of appearing in the best political light, if an agreement is ever reached. Nevertheless they are on the right track. Campaign costs are simply too high now and they can only be brought down if each side agree to some limitations.

Both candidates are now on record as favoring some sort of limitation on spending in this year's gubernatorial campaign. If they can come to an agreement, they will not only save an expensive campaign this year, but perhaps set a precedent in future years for sensible campaign spending.

A Shortage Of Veterinarians

By Bryan Haislip
RALEIGH—Twenty-seven young Tar Heels who wanted to study veterinary medicine this year had to turn to other career choices.

There wasn't a place for them, under North Carolina's compact with southern states

Study Verified Need
A study by the Southern Regional Education Board verified the need for a school of veterinary medicine in the upper South. The demand for enrollment and the shortage of practicing vets throughout the area is greater than present schools can handle, the study concluded.

North Carolina State University has the location and resources to recommend itself as the site for a new school. Prospective students in this and neighboring states could promptly provide sufficient enrollment.

What stands in the way is the cost of developing such a facility. Estimates range from $40 million downward to half that amount.

The commitment represented by a decision to establish a veterinary medical school will cause Tar Heel lawmakers to ponder long and hard. The first step along the road probably will come in the 1973 General Assembly, when a request is expected for planning funds.

Long-Range Project
Even if that money is granted, the actual opening of a school would remain a long way off. Educators estimate it would take six to eight years to be ready to accept the first class. That much time would be required to develop academic programs, recruit faculty, and construct and equip necessary buildings.

Meanwhile, a diligent search goes on to open more opportunities for DVM study elsewhere.

For more than 20 years, North Carolina has participated in the SREB program which allocates spaces among the states in the region's schools of veterinary medicine.

Until the mid-60's or so, the arrangement proved adequate. The state could place all its qualified students prepared to enter school.

The crush became acute in the past couple of years said Dr. Ed Galzener at NCSU, secretary to the board which certifies students under the contract arrangement. Now, there are twice as many students who want to study as there are spaces.

As many as 160 to 170 NCSU students are pursuing pre-vet courses of study, an indication that the high demand will continue in the immediate future, he added.

One measure of relief is the veterinary medical technology program at Central Carolina Technical Institute, which trains assistants to veterinarians. As valuable as it is, Commissioner Graham said, it cannot fill the need for a school of veterinary medicine in the state.

B-W Plays An Active Role In Adopted Home

The progressive Burroughs Wellcome Co. announced Wednesday that it was giving $30,000 to Pitt Memorial Hospital for the Brooks Memorial Hemodialysis unit planned for the new hospital.

It is another example of how this major drug firm is taking an interest and responsibility in the community where it chose to locate its manufacturing facilities.

The funds donated by Burroughs Wellcome will provide an important medical service at the new Pitt Memorial. It is a generous move on the part of this firm.

Staff Furthers Democrat Rift

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — When public support and sympathy for Sen. Thomas Eagleton gained enough momentum Monday to possibly threaten his removal from the ticket, members of Sen. George McGovern's staff responded in keeping with their week-long performance — by putting out palpably false reports intended to discredit Eagleton in the political community.

McGovern operatives spread among Democratic politicians two variations of the same story. Variation No. 1: Eagleton had agreed to give McGovern records of his three hospitalizations but never produced them. Variation No. 2: Eagleton had declined when McGovern requested to see the records.

Both variations were untrue. In fact, Eagleton had not volunteered to submit the records and McGovern had not requested him to do so. With only one of the hospitals agreeing to make records available and, in that case, only to Eagleton personally, Eagleton and his staff decided not to try putting medical documents into lay hands. But they did make Eagleton's doctors available to McGovern, who conferred with them as recently as Monday evening.

Those conversations satisfied McGovern about Eagleton's health, further undercutting the credibility of his subordinates' hospital records story. But his incident and others through the week reinforced the belief of party regulars that George McGovern simply cannot control a staff that is congenitally and ferociously hostile to the regulars.

Thus, besides getting the campaign off to the worst possible start, the Eagleton affair is having one important effect that could not have been predicted: the chasm between McGovern and the party regulars is still wider.

This originated Wednesday of last week when it became obvious to McGovern at his Black Hills retreat that political and press reaction to the Eagleton disclosures were far worse than anticipated. As we reported, McGovern ordered that Eagleton should not be pushed off the ticket but, instead, should perceive the message himself and voluntarily withdraw.

But Eagleton's energetic campaigning encouraged him as the week wore on without negative advice from McGovern or his staff. Accordingly, staffers began to spread word among politicians that Eagleton would have to go and that McGovern's public statements should not be taken too seriously.

A prime example is Los Angeles industrialist Miles Rubin, assigned to solicit big money contributions for McGovern. Through the week, Rubin assured McGovern fat cats not to worry about McGovern statements of support for Eagleton. In truth, Rubin told them, Eagleton was finished. Other McGovern operatives pledging eternal fealty to Eagleton in reality spent the week plotting how to force Eagleton off the ticket.

But as Eagleton effectively campaigned in his own behalf, he picked up growing support from party regulars — led by Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago. Peter Camiel, the Philadelphia regular leader, had not been enthusiastic about McGovern's nomination and had regarded Eagleton as a second prairie liberal. But on Monday morning, he telephoned Eagleton in Washington to commend his courage and pledge his support.

Uncle Teddy The Sailor

WASHINGTON — Whenever the Democrats start searching for a vice-presidential candidate, Teddy Kennedy gathers up all his nieces and nephews at Hyannis Port and goes to sea in a sailboat. In this way, he can be sure that the press knows he is not on the phone giving serious consideration to the offer.

All during the Democratic convention, Uncle Teddy sailed back and forth like the man without a country, awaiting word by signal lamp from shore that McGovern had selected a running mate.

The nieces and nephews love their Uncle Teddy, but four days at sea is a lot for anyone, and Teddy, had his hands full preventing a family mutiny.

When his wife Joan finally singled Teddy that McGovern had chosen Tom Eagleton, Teddy pulled into port and gave everyone his solemn word that they would not have to sail with him again for the rest of the summer.

You can imagine the spot Teddy was in last week when the Eagleton furor was at its height, and Teddy was once again being discussed as the only candidate to be second man on the Democratic ticket.

As soon as the news broke, Teddy ordered his sailboat ready and provisioned for a month. Then he started rounding up his nieces and nephews.

"Who wants to go sailing with their Uncle Teddy?" he shouted in the Kennedy compound. The older kids ran and climbed up on the roofs. The younger ones hid under Ethel Kennedy's and Eunice Shriver's skirts.

"You said we didn't have to go any more," one of his nephews, Anthony Shriver, shouted from behind the chimney.

"How did I know the nominations weren't over?" Uncle Teddy protested. "It will only be for a few days, maybe a week at the most."

"Why do we have to go with you?" Christopher Kennedy asked from under his mother's skirt.

"Because if you don't, it will look as if I'm just going to sea to avoid accepting the Vice Presidency. If I have my nieces and nephews along, it will look as if we planned the sail as a family holiday."

Ethel, who was holding on to four of her children, asked, "Why can't you stay onshore? The press can't reach you if you hide in the house."

"It isn't the press I'm hiding out from. It's George McGovern. The only place he can't get to me is one the sailboat."

Eunice Shriver said, "We gave our children in July. Why do we have to give them again in August?"

Teddy climbed the roof of Ethel's house and tried to grab Bobby Kennedy Jr. by the leg. "We sail in an hour," he yelled. "I don't have time to fool around."

Ethel and Eunice started to cry. "I guess we have no choice," Ethel sobbed. "Stop chasing them. We'll give them to you, but this is absolutely the last time."

The mothers took their screaming children down to the dinghy. "Go with Uncle

Raquel Likes Image

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — If you think Raquel Welch hates being a glamor symbol and a sex goddess, you've got the wrong girl.

She likes wearing the mantle handed down by such previous renowned screen beauties as Jean Harlow, Clara Bow, Rita Hayworth, Kim Novak and Marilyn Monroe.

"I don't think that the public has a mistaken image of me—only that it is too limited," she said frankly during a luncheon at Orsini's, where her skimpy halter and bare midriff attracted far more interest than the chef's speciality of the day, pollo con peperoni—chicken with pepper.

"I don't find it unflattering or immoral to be regarded as a sex object. I want to go on playing sexy roles, but I want them also to be more than one-dimensional.

"I'd like to play more many-dimensional roles, as Julie Christie and Jane Fonda do. My image simply needs to be updated rather than changed."

Raquel hopes that her latest film, "Kansas City Bomber," will help do this. It allows her fiery temperament full reign, as she portrays the tempestuous star of one of America's seamier sports spectacles—professional rollerskate racing.

Famous beauties, like ordinary women, often are as aware of their defects as they are of their loveliness. Remember that the Venus de Milo couldn't even drink a bowl of soup without someone holding the spoon for her.

Raquel is sometimes uptight too. She feels that her biggest handicap is lack of self-confidence.

"It's my worst fault," she

Strength For Today

NEVER GIVE UP

Last summer I met one of my elderly friends on the street and remarked with enthusiasm how well he looked after a vacation. His answer was quite pertinent. "Looking well? Why shouldn't I? I didn't have one foot in the grave before I left either."

Spoken with the spirit that some of the eighty-year oldsters we all know are accustomed to manifest! No, they don't have one foot in the grave, and they bristle at any suggestion that they do. They are not going to live many decades longer, that's for sure. But as long as they do live they intend to be up and coming. They are determined every day to live one day longer, and every year to live one year longer.

There is an amazing impulse built into the human soul in the beginning to hold on to life just as long as possible. It is expressed in the declaration that self-preservation is the first law of nature. We can substitute "perseverance in living" for "self-preservation" and come up with the same result. The healthy-minded want life and more life and will not think of its termination without remonstrance. It is the emotionally and mentally sick who lose interest in life.

One of the best ways to insure length of days is to cherish an unyielding determination that it just has to be this way, God willing. Hang onto life and it will hang onto you.

Grain Sales To Soviet Welcome

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) —

First shipments of U.S. surplus grain soon will begin moving into a new farm-export pipeline to the Soviet Union, a link government officials say could herald a new production era for American farmers.

The grain sale to the Soviets, announced last July 8, involves $750 million worth of wheat and livestock feed grain over the next three years. It will be financed under credit arrangements handled by the Commodity Credit Corp. in the Department of Agriculture.

If sustained, and further export doors such as China are opened, dramatic shifts in U.S. government crop-control programs may be in the offing, changes which could enable farmers to raise more crops for cash markets and less for taxpayer-owned storage bins.

One of the more immediate impacts, however, will be on employment, primarily at port facilities where grain is loaded onto ships, in yards where ships are fitted for such cargoes and in the transportation industry generally.

Nixon administration officials estimate between 3,000 and 5,000 additional jobs are created each time grain exports are increased $100 million.

At the Agriculture Department, officials say enough grain probably is in position at Great Lakes and Gulf ports right now to handle Soviet shipments in the next few months.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz predicts could exceed $1 billion over the next three years, will be handled by private traders. Thus, Meade said, it is difficult at this time for the government to estimate just how much of which grains will be sold.

Under an "export credit" program operated by CCC, a private exporter can receive government credit financing. Interest charged is at commercial rates, with the recipient foreign buyer carrying back the loan plus carrying charges.

According to USDA officials, two export firms have applied for CCC credit. They were identified as Continental Grain Co. and Dreyfus Grain Co., both based in New York.

Sources said three or four other firms also are likely to seek CCC credit soon. Regardless of whether the Soviets give priority to U.S.

wheat, corn or other feed grains, American farmers and taxpayers have mountains available as a result of recent record crops and a dip in some exports, particularly wheat.

Last year farmers raised a record wheat crop of more than 1.64 billion bushels; about 1.5 billion were needed to meet domestic needs and export commitments.

Thus, on July 1 this year as another bumper crop was being harvested the wheat carryover—including earlier surpluses—was about 865 million bushels, one of the largest supplies in a decade.

Feed grain, fed by a record corn crop of 5.5 billion bushels last year, also is in superabundance. Estimated at around 53 million tons, it is the most surplus since the mid-1960s. The corn surplus alone by Oct. 1, when another new crop will be binned, is expected to be around 1.3 billion bushels.

 Chicod Agriculture Teacher's Home: One story building of frame construction. The frame exterior structure is covered with composition asphalt shingles. The frame exterior walls are of asbestos siding. The building is located on Chicod School campus, and contains approximately 1473 square feet. The building is to be sold and removed from the property of the Pitt County Board of Education. The opening bid will be $1283.75.
 This property will be sold for CASH and the sale shall remain open for ten (10) days to permit the making of an upset bid. A ten per cent (10) cash deposit will be required of the highest bidder on the date of sale.
 A description of the building may be obtained from the office of the Superintendent of Schools, A.S. Alford, in the Pitt County Courthouse, Greenville, North Carolina.
 The Pitt County Board of Education reserves the right to reject any and all bids on said property.
 This the 28th day of July, 1972.

 Teddy," Eunice said tearfully. "He'll give you a nice sailboat ride."
 After tying his nieces and nephews to the gunwales, Teddy rowed to his sailboat while the photographers took pictures with telescopic lenses.
 Several people reported seeing Teddy's boat sailing around and around Nantucket Island last weekend. They're sure it was Teddy's because every once in a while a child jumped overboard and tried to swim ashore. But Teddy managed to drag them back.
 There must be an easier way to turn down the vice-presidential nomination, but so far, Teddy Kennedy admits he hasn't found it.

1,500 Men Work To Encircle Big Blaze

BIG SUR, Calif. (AP) — Aided by photographs snapped by a U2 reconnaissance plane, a force of 1,500 men worked today to encircle a blaze that has blackened 4,100 acres in the coastal Big Sur country.
 A blanket of dense fog and dwindling winds helped Thursday night as fire fighters wielding axes, shovels and hoses tried to halt the fire along three miles of open line.
 The fire was about 70 per cent contained and could be fully contained tonight, officials said.
 Six fire fighters have been injured, including one hurt seriously when he tumbled 200 feet down a cliff.
 The photographs made by the reconnaissance plane, loaned by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, have been used in plotting a map of the fire's progress so that men along with planes and helicopters dropping retardants and water can be used in the most important areas. It was believed the first time a U2 has ever been used for forest fire reconnaissance.

 the enemy of my enemy is my friend. McGovern's granting permission for Democratic national chairman Jean Westwood, anathema to party regulars, to deliver an attack against Eagleton on national television further stimulated old guard sympathy for Eagleton.
 But beyond this, Eagleton during his brief tenure on the McGovern team showed much more interest than anybody else in enlisting the regulars behind the ticket. In the midst of his travail last week, Eagleton — in person and by telephone — made strenuous efforts to involve Los Angeles super-fundraiser Eugene Wyman, in the campaign. It was first post-convention approach to Wyman, a key figure in Sen.

 said. "I get in a panic that I won't be able to do things as well as I want to. I could do with less panic and less inside hysteria. I have to fight it every time."
 What does she feel is her best character asset?
 "I forgive easily," she replied. "I'm not very cynical. I'm still vulnerable. But I'd rather be pushed around and taken advantage of than become cynical."
 "I am hopeful and optimistic. My philosophy is to enjoy everything that happens, the good times and feelings, but also the bad times and feelings—because of the experience and knowledge they bring you. I believe that you can have happiness in a lifetime. I believe we should become immersed in life and not try to fight off our emotions and impulses for fear of where they might lead us."

Hubert Humphrey's 1968 and 1972 campaigns. It may well be the last.
 The regulars are interpreting the Eagleton affair as further proof that the McGovern staff, operating without much control from McGovern, believes it can win the election without help from the regulars. Indeed, for all the embarrassment that McGovern headquarters about the events of the last week, there seems little worry that McGovern has lost in Tom Eagleton a potentially effective high-level bridge to the party's alienated old guard.

These villages are not official border crossings. The barrier at Moerbisich never lifts to let travelers pass. And, after some 50 yards of no man's land, a six foot high fence—which locals insist is electrically charged—marks the start of the Communist East.

The local residents, mostly farmers and wine growers, also say the Hungarians have their side of the fence mined. But, officially, Hungary is supposed to have dug up the mines as a token of goodwill in this period of East-West calm.

'Cold War' Continues
"Don't talk to me about the end of the Cold War and all that stuff," grumbled a Moerbisich newspaper store owner.

"If you can't even walk out of your own village without seeing barbed wire fences and minefields... ah well, what's the use?" he sighed.

"Nope, nothing's changed around here," said a veteran

Superhighway Study Given Approval

'Verboten' Is Quickly Known

By PHILIP J. TILL
MOERBISICH, Austria (UPI) — One German word foreigners learn quickly in this tiny wine-growing village is "verboten." It means forbidden and the visitor can't miss the abundance of "verboten" signs just outside village limits—that's where Hungary begins.

Places like this along Austria's borders with three Communist countries are common, where a red and white padlocked barrier blocks the road saying "Achtung! Frontier" and more notices announce that going beyond the barrier is "verboten."

The pistol-carrying Austrians with their German shepherd dogs are supposed to keep the Communists from smuggling spies to the West.

But the Austrians are short staffed and, according to one border officer, "It's impossible to keep our eyes on every inch of ground 24 hours a day. If they want to get somebody across, it's hardly a problem for them."

The guards are chiefly at the main border crossings, searching trucks coming from Yugoslavia — where drugs are brought in from Turkey—and the fruit and vegetable trucks coming from Hungary and Czechoslovakia and other countries within the Soviet Bloc.

Some patrols are necessary in places such as Moerbisich, however, to stop foolhardy tourists who ignore the "verboten" signs.

Unsung Heroes Of The TV Industry

By RICK MEYER
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Millions go into producing television's daily fare, but there are times—ah, yes, those times—when it would be all for naught if it weren't for the industry's unsung heroes of the panel truck and tool box: repairmen.

Seen from the other end of the screwdriver, theirs is a frustrating, sometimes funny, world.

"Like the lady customer we've got," says Herb Levine at Ridge Radio and TV in Greenwich Village, "who's got—and I swear this is true—25 cats. There's another one who's got 15 dogs. No kidding. What does a TV repairman do

Fears Riots After Flood

MANILA (AP) — President Ferdinand E. Marcos warned today that food riots and related violence may follow the month-long rains and floods on Luzon Island now that the water is going down. He reported severe shortages of food and fuel in the stricken areas and ordered the army to seize hoarded stocks.

The Philippine News Service said a woman storeowner in Samal, Bataan Province, was hacked to death by flood victims after she raised her prices.

Agriculture Department officials said persons, were cooking rats and feeding them to their starving children.

The food shortage caused looting in Arayat, just north of Manila, and a curfew was ordered.

"People say they will take matters into their own hands if there continues to be a shortage of food," Marcos told newsmen Thursday night. "When they see their children hungry, they would apparently be determined to see to it that hoarded food is brought out."

The death toll from the Philippines' worst natural disaster climbed to at least 412 with the report of 33 dead from cholera in Manila, Arayat and Pangasinan Province. American and Philippine medical teams have inoculated nearly 70,000 persons, the disaster center said.

American and Philippine military personnel continued to airlift food and medical supplies to flood areas.

Water levels were reported dropping in some areas and remained high in others. Scattered rain fell across Luzon today, but the weather bureau said it was "hopeful" of a letup over the weekend.

POWER SALES SOAR
KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The Tennessee Valley Authority reports its power sales have hit new highs each month since January, closing the fiscal year ended June 30 with 91.9 billion kilowatt hours.

CAVETT STAYING
NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Cavett's nightly talk show on ABC-TV has been renewed through December, but after that his show will be limited to a one-week appearance each month.

HENDERSONVILLE, N.C. member of the 23-member commission.
Leonard Sutton, a Richmond, Va. elementary school principal, presented his case involving drainage complaints on his property in Duplin County. Sutton implied the drainage problems stemmed from a washout of State Road 1506.

In introducing Sutton, Commission Chairman Lurch Faircloth showed his obvious displeasure that Sutton had insisted in bringing the case before the entire commission after having consulted with numerous SHC officials from the maintenance superintendent in his area through to Faircloth.

Sutton cited written notices making the commission "available to the public." The commission took no action after Sutton's 10-minute presentation.

The commission awarded $26.1 million in contracts on 46 projects in 32 counties which had an original estimated cost of $18.7 million. The largest contract was to S. T. Wooten Construction Co. of Stantonburg for almost 3.5 miles of work on Interstate 95 in Nash County.

Among bids rejected as too high was that of $2.8 million for work on .8 mile on the East-West freeway in Durham.

The meeting was preceded by the swearing-in of T. A. Sandlin of Bryson City as the newest

Refused Place On N.C. Ballot
RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina Elections Director Alex Brock says that the Board of Elections has unanimously rejected a bid by the Communist party for a place on the November general election ballot.

Brock said that only 1,216 names on the petitions submitted by the party were certified by county elections boards as being bona fide registered voters.

State law requires that a minimum of 10,000 signatures of certified voters be submitted.

Brock said the board members voted against the request for recognition at a meeting Wednesday.

Wanted Endorsement By Steelworkers
PITTSBURGH (AP)—The leadership of the United Steelworkers of America, the nation's third-largest labor union, has aligned itself behind the AFL-CIO and voted to sit out the November presidential election.

The decision, embraced in a terse resolution passed almost unanimously late Thursday by the USW's International Executive Board, was viewed as a blow to Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern if for no other reason than the fact he will be denied USW campaign money.

The union has a membership of 1.2 million.

Hunt Wants Ceiling, Too

LEXINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor Jim Hunt wants a ceiling of $50,000 placed on the expenditures each candidate in the race will make in the general election campaign.

"I propose that we agree in principle on a limit in the cost of the campaign, and I suggest that a reasonable limit for television, radio, other electronic media, newspaper advertising and billboards is $50,000," Hunt said in a statement issued at Lexington.

Opposing Hunt in the general election are Republican Johnny Walker of North Wilkesboro and American Party candidate Benjamin G. "Ben" McLendon of Charlotte.

Later in a speech at Statesville, Hunt said he will support the equal rights amendment to the U.S. Constitution when it comes before the North Carolina General Assembly.

Hunt told the Statesville Business and Professional Women's Club that appointments and promotions in state jobs should be on the basis of ability and not sex.

The equal rights amendment would prohibit discrimination because of sex.

Study Possible Underway Life
DALLAS (AP) — Can the underwater continental shelf be made habitable by man?

A University of Texas at Dallas scientist is currently making three dives a day in a "Deep Diver" submarine to probe this possibility.

Asst. Prof. James B. Urban is serving as chief scientist in the mission at East and West Flower Gardens Coral reef on the continental shelf in the Gulf of Mexico 110 miles south-southeast of Galveston.

Urban is one of a four-man crew on the mission to select possible sites for an open ocean campus and the United States' first continental shelf laboratory.

Carolina Drops Pirates, Claims Title South Seeks Third Win In Row Saturday

South All-Star Team For Boys Home Game

Havelock's Frank Ciamillo and Jack Holley of Hallsboro, will lead the South All-Stars into the Boys Home All-Star Game Saturday night at 8 p.m. in Ficklen Stadium. The 10th annual game is being sponsored by the North Carolina Jaycees, in benefit of the Lake

Waccamaw Boys Home. The South will be shooting for its third straight victory in the series. They trail overall, however, 6-3. (Reflector Photo)

Late Rally Gives Win

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
The University of North Carolina spotted East Carolina a three-run lead in the first inning, then slowly inched back to finally take a 4-3 victory and claim the N.C. Summer Collegiate League's 1972 championship.

The victory left the Tar Heels with a 23-11 record with only one game to play. East Carolina and Louisburg, now tied at 21-13, have no chance to catch them now. Only one game remains for each team.

The victory also gives Carolina the right to entertain the top four teams in the second and third rounds of the league's double-elimination playoffs, which get underway Monday. Should the Pirates win tonight in their final regular season game, they would gain the right to entertain Louisburg in the first game on Monday.

The Bucs rapped Jim Chamberlain for four hits in the first inning, getting three runs, but after that, the Tar Heel hurler shut the door on the Bucs, not allowing them another hit until the seventh inning.

Only twice more in the game, after the first, did the Pirates get a man as far as second.

Carolina, meanwhile, kept plugging away, getting single runs in the second, fifth, eighth and ninth innings to pull out the victory.

Mike Bradshaw led off the first inning with a double up the alley in right center. Then, with one out, Ralph Lamm singled to right, driving in Bradshaw. Lamm moved on to second when the ball was misplayed on the relay. With two away, Ron Staggs singled to center, scoring Lamm, and Staggs moved up on the relay home. Staggs then came in as Ronnie Leggett slapped a single into left, making it 3-0 for the Pirates.

But that was to be all the Bucs would get. They threatened again in the fourth when Staggs led off with a walk and moved to third on a sacrifice and two fielder's choices, but the rally died there.

The only other Pirate to reach second came in the seventh inning when Tommy Toms got a one-out double. He also died at second.

The Bucs put men on base in the last two innings, but the Tar Heels got the breaks to get them out of the jam. In the eighth, Larry Walters got a one-out single, but a line drive that appeared going over the head of first baseman Jack Leachman was just caught and he came down on the bag for an unassisted double play.

Then, in the ninth, Leggett led off with a single. With two away, and a full count, Leggett was then caught by Chamberlain an extra stride off first and he was put out in a rundown to end the game.

Carolina got into the scoring in the second with a run. Russ Niller reached on a fielder's choice and then scored when Chamberlain helped his own cause with a double to left center, cutting the lead to 3-1.

In the fourth, the Heels threatened when Tom Kennedy singled off Toms' glove and moved up on an infield out, but died at second.

But in the sixth, Carolina scored again. Bobby Guthrie singled and Kennedy sacrificed him to second. Mickey Hickerson followed with a single, driving Guthrie over to trim the lead to 3-2.

The tying run came in the eighth. Guthrie led off with a double to center and with one down, Leachman got another two-bagger, and that brought in Guthrie to make it 3-3.

The payoff run came in the ninth. Chamberlain led off with a single and was sacrificed to second. He took third on a wild pitch and scored on John Danneman's sacrifice fly to right field.

The Bucs conclude the regular season tonight at 7:30 p.m. at Harrington Field, playing host to Appalachian State University.

They then enter the double elimination playoffs which begin Monday. Most likely, the Bucs will play host to Louisburg on Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the first round, while Carolina hosts Wilmington.

North Dominates Series With Six Wins

The North will be out to snap a two-game winning streak by the South Saturday night at 8 p.m. in Ficklen Stadium as the 10th annual Boys Home All Star Game gets underway.

The North holds a 6-3 advantage in victories in the event, having won the 1964-69 contests. But the South has captured the past two and would like nothing better than to continue doing so.

Both head coaches, Frank Ciamillo of the South and Roy Boyles of the North, anticipate good games, but each has a different outlook on the contest. Ciamillo of Havelock, likes to go to the air, and he would like to see a high scoring game. "This is the type game people like to see," he said.

Boyles, of High Point Central, prefers the more conservative type game, moving the ball on the ground to control both the ball and the clock. This tends to make a contest low scoring, and that's what he wants.

Both coaches feel that all has gone smoothly during the week of drills, and both should have 27 healthy players come 8 p.m. Saturday. "We have the normal amount of bruises and injuries," Ciamillo said, "But everyone should be ready to do."

Boyles echoed this statement, saying he expected everyone to be ready.

"I look for the South team to be very much like us, although they will pass more. It should be a very well matched pair of teams," Boyles said.

Ciamillo also feels that both teams have the ability to score. "I just hope there's a lot of scoring," he added.

Ciamillo also joined in Boyles earlier statement in the week that three coaches are necessary to properly prepare the players for the game. "We're fortunate enough to have an assistant of Jack Holley (the South assistant) join us. But to really do it right, there should be three coaches."

Boyles listed his starting offensive unit as Orsure Stokes of Greensboro Page or Troy Slade of Burlington Williams at split end and Andy Thomas of Person Senior at tight end; Ray Hawkins of Thomasville Senior and Joe Brigan of High Point Central at tackles; Tom Anderson of Central Davidson and Jimmy Forbes of Hibriten at guards; Robert Jones of Northeastern at center; Roscoe Batts of Rocky Mount Senior at quarterback; Ricky Joyce of Alamance at fullback; Gale Scales of M.M. Morehead at tailback; and either Gregg Foxx of Randleman, Julius Branch of Raleigh Enloe of Phil Porter of Gates County at flanker.

Defensively, the North will have John Barker of High Point Central and Alvin Kennedy of R.U. Reynolds at ends, Dal Burnette of Hillside and Paul Wilder of Sanderson at tackles; Wayne Williams of South Granville at middle guard; Norman Kennedy of Allen Jay, Ricky Foster of Trinity and Ron Johnson of Andrews at linebackers, with Stokes, Slade and Tim Turner of Roxboro in the secondary.

The South offense will have Rose High School will open the 1972 football practice schedule Monday at 6 p.m. at the school. Coach Dave Bumgarner announced that all players, both candidates for varsity and junior varsity are to report at this time.

Physicals for all Rose High athletes, both football and other sports will be given Sunday at 6 p.m. at the school field house. Any boy planning to go out for a sport at Rose this year is requested to report at this time.

Rising sophomores or those students who have not previously participated in a sport at Rose are requested to bring their birth certificates with them when they report for physicals.

Greenville In Semi-Pro Loss

Hamilton inched past Greenville, 6-5, last night in a Pitt-Martin Semi-Pro League contest, knocking Greenville out of a chance to tie the Williamston for the league's title.

Hamilton broke the scoring ice in the fourth inning with a run. Gulleddge walked and stole second. He scored when Perry singled.

Greenville came right back to tie it up. Grant Jarman walked and also stole second. He moved to third on Byron Dickens' double and scored on Ken Beaman's ground out.

Hamilton went back on top in the sixth, scoring twice. Carlisle walked and moved up on an out. Scott also walked and Perry doubled in Carlisle. Scott came over on an error to make it 3-1.

In the eighth, they added three more. Gulleddge led off with a homer and Scott reached on an error. Perry singled and Hardison doubled in Scott. Perry scored when Coffield reached on an error, giving Hamilton a 6-1 lead.

Greenville rallied for four in the bottom of the eighth but just fell short. Jarman reached on a fielder's choice and Dickens doubled. Charles Meeks singled in both runners and Ken Beaman singled. Tommy Jordan doubled in both runners, but the rally ended there.

Colbert Adds To Homers, Records

SAAD'S SHOE SHOP

By TOM EMORY
Associated Press Sports Writer
Nate Colbert of San Diego has opened another page of the National League record book but Chicago's Bill Hands has discovered he should let his fingers do the walking.

Colbert, who slugged two homers in Houston Sunday and five more in a doubleheader in Atlanta Tuesday, blasted a two-run circuit in the Padres 6-5 victory over Atlanta Thursday night to tie the league record for most homers in a week.

Hands, a Cubs' right-hander, couldn't handle a ground ball off the bat of Montreal's Ken Singleton in the seventh inning and lost his chance for a no-hitter as Chicago beat the Expos 3-0 in the second game of a doubleheader. Montreal won the first game 2-1. In other NL games, Los Angeles blanked San Francisco 3-0, Philadelphia beat New York 4-1 and Pittsburgh edged St. Louis 2-1.

In the American League, it was Minnesota 9, Texas 1; Boston 7, New York 2; Cleveland 4, Baltimore 3; Milwaukee 6, Detroit 3 and Chicago 4, California 2.

"I just hope I can keep my stroke," said Colbert, who is tied with Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh in 1947 and Ted Kluszewski of Cincinnati in 1956. "I hope it never ends."

The Padres' first baseman, who leads the majors with 31 homers and 84 runs batted in, said he actually was more impressed with the feat of Dale Long of Pittsburgh in 1956, who hit homers in eight straight games.

Colbert's five homers and 13 RBI Tuesday night tied the mark for circuits in a doubleheader and broke the mark for runs batted in and total bases in two games.

The Padres won the game in the 11th inning on three singles, the last was a broken-bat hit by Dave Roberts.

Hands didn't live up to his name. He had pitched perfect ball through 6 1-3 innings before he gave up a walk to Clyde Mashore. Singleton then hit a chopper, which bounced off Hands' glove and went into right field.

After the hit, Hands walked Ron Fairly to load the bases. Manager Whitey Lockman visited the mound and Hands settled down, getting Boots Day to hit into a double play.

"If that doesn't beat everything, Poppy (second baseman Paul Popovich) told me if I had let the ball along we would have had a double play on Singleton."

A bases-loaded walk to Rick Monday in the first inning gave the Cubs the lead. They scored two more runs in the sixth on an RBI-single by Ron Santo and a passed ball charged to catcher Terry Humphrey.

In the opener, Ron Woods pinch-hit single in the 13th inning drove in the winning Montreal run. He came to bat with the bases loaded after a single, a hit batsman and an intentional walk. Montreal starter Ernie McAnally gave up just

Baker To Be Speaker

John Baker, former pro football player, will be the featured speaker for the Players Banquet for the Tenth Annual N.C. Jaycee sponsored Boys Home All Star Football Game. The banquet concludes the week of preparation for the annual classic to be held tomorrow night at 8 p.m. in Greenville's Ficklin Stadium.

Baker, currently internal development representative with the N.C. Department of Conservation and Development, is a Raleigh native. He attended Ligon High School, and North Carolina Central University. John has been a Raleigh Jaycee, served on the board of directors of the Red Cross and the Boys Club and the budget committee of the United Fund.

From 1958 through 1969, Baker played professional football with the L.A. Rams, the Pittsburg Steelers and the Detroit Lions. He was defensive captain, received the M.V.P. Award and, as a Steeler, was a member of the N.F.L. All-Pro Team. He also participated in the 1958 College All Star Game.

East In Grid Win

GREENSBORO (AP) — The East rallied in the final quarter to score a touchdown and a safety for a 9-3 victory over the West Thursday night in the 24th annual North Carolina High School All-Star game.

Dennis Wilkerson of Wilson Fike engineered the winning drive for the East, which for the first time gained its second victory in a row in this West-dominated series.

The West holds an edge of 15-8-1.

The West went ahead 3-0 in the first period on a nine-yard field goal by Lee Boddie of Lenoir.

In the closing period, the East got the ball on the West 44 on a punt and moved for a touchdown in 10 plays with Wilkerson going over from the two.

James Wood of Pamlico County and Cary Godette of Havelock dropped Brevard's Denny Griffin on a pass attempt in the end zone for the safety.

9-3, came on to relieve and get the victory.

Los Angeles' Tommy John pitched a three-hitter for his first complete-game shutout of the season. Willie Davis and Manny Mota had RBI singles and Wes Parker hit a sacrifice fly for the Dodgers. San Francisco collected two singles by Dave Rader and a double by Tito Fuentes. John, 9-5, hurled five innings of no-hit baseball before Rader singled leading off the sixth.

The Philadelphia victory over the New York Mets was their third straight. Denny Doyle hit a home run and scored twice for the Phils. Willie Montanez doubled in a run and Tom Hutton had a sacrifice fly for the winners. The lone Met run came on an infield groundout.

Vic Davallio stroked a two-out single in the 10th inning to drive in Pittsburgh's winning run. The Pirates hit three singles in the 10th after St. Louis starter Rick Wise had given up just three safeties in the first nine innings. The Cards' Lou Brock tied the game 1-1 in the fifth after Pittsburgh scored the first run in the second inning on a walk to Willie Stargell and a triple by Dave Cash.

Washington Is Winner

GRIFTON — Washington captured the Little Tar Heel League's South Area Championship last night in Grifton, downing Farmville, 11-0.

Chandler tossed a two-hit shutout at Farmville. His own team scored five runs in the first to put it out of reach, then added four in the third and two in the fourth.

Parker and Chandler each had two hits to lead the Washington attack.

Washington will now face the North Area winner in Grifton on Wednesday. The winner of that game goes into the state championship, to be played at Fuquay on August 14.

Following the game, the Washington team was presented with the championship trophy, and Billy Mitchell of Washington was named the tournament's Most Valuable Player.

CARROLL RICHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Richter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The daytime finds you restless and nervous and pretty eager to get out from under whatever you have promised to do. Later in the day and evening you find basic considerations become most important to you, so that they cause you to study a well-rounded plan for the future that can make your dreams come true.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Use that fine smile and do whatever will please others today who are in a pretty grumpy mood and need cheering up. Handle outside affairs during day hours. Evening should be devoted to kin, home.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Handle practical affairs early that will add to present security and then off to the amusements that really please you. Avoid topics, persons who could start serious arguments. Keep poised.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Relieve anxieties early by doing whatever you most like in the a.m., and you know later how to handle whatever is of a financial nature. Don't add to present expenses, if possible. Be more analytical of conditions about you.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You can get ahead in a personal way now provided you use that fine smile you have in dealing with others. Temper could be most destructive. Amusing close ties brings fine results.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Contact those fine friends who have the information you want and get it. Plan the future more intelligently in p.m. Do those things that give you the greatest amount of personal happiness.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21) Gain those favors from others that give you advancement where the public is concerned. A friend extends an invitation which would be to your benefit to accept. Put away your big doubts and all is fine.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Studying new ideas or planning a trip is best in a.m., then get busy delving into new information you need. Experts can be most inspiring now. Get all pieces of your pattern of life to fit in satisfactorily.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Morning is a good time to complete any obligations you have assumed before you start on or look into new interests later. Being most encouraging with others is good. Don't permit another to push you around, even if it is a relative.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Strive for the goodwill of partners before you sit down and make new arrangements with them. Show that you will do your share of any work necessary. Try not to quarrel with them, or there will be trouble.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get busy; improve conditions around you so you're happier and more successful in the future. Your health, vim and vigor can be improved also now that the planets are favorable. A person of wisdom can be most helpful in p.m.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Show more consideration for those around you and have better rapport with them in the future. See to it that your wardrobe is improved so you look more charming. Your health needs invigorating so you can accomplish more.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Not a good day to force any work obligations, but fine for entertainment or making plans for such later. Anything of a creative nature is okay, also. Don't permit some neighbor to put one over on you.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those charming young people who can be a force for good in whatever the forte may be here. Teach early to be on the positive side of life instead of feeling that others are imposing on him or her. Ideal chart for whatever has to do with dealing with the public in general in some way and making a big name for self. Slight the education along these helpful lines, and give good ethical training early. Sports are fine.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel" What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Opening lead: Jack of ♠ North's holding appeared quite mediocre when his partner opened the bidding with one spade and he properly responded with one no trump; when the latter rebid two hearts, North's hand which began as a mere seven high card points, revalued to nine points in support of hearts and with five trumps. He was well within himself in raising to three hearts. This was an invitation which South promptly accepted by carrying on to four hearts.

West opened the jack of clubs which was covered by North's queen, East's king and declarer's ace. The ace of hearts was cashed to test trumps. A spade was led to the king and a small one returned to the ace. A third spade was ruffed in dummy and overruffed by East with the jack of hearts. The latter returned a small club which West overtook with the eight to lead a fourth spade. North trumped with the ten of hearts, but East topped this with the queen to complete the defensive book and they could not be prevented from scoring the setting trick subsequently in diamonds.

North criticized his partner for not drawing a second round of hearts before he began to ruff out the spades, however East can counter this play by refusing to over-ruff dummy on the third round of spades. If he merely waits until dummy exits with either a diamond or a club, he can get in to draw a third round of trumps. This leaves North with only one trump and the South can subsequently ruff out a second spade to establish that suit, he must now lose two clubs tricks on the deal which along with one diamond and one heart, still spells a one trick setback.

The solution to South's problem was quite simple. Instead of ruffing the third spade, it is suggested that he discard dummy's deuce of clubs, thereby transferring a potential loser from one suit to another. Altho East can overruff the fourth spade with the jack of hearts, he is doing so with a natural trump trick and South retains enough trumps in dummy to take care of his club losers. All he loses is one diamond, one spade, and an overruff in spades.

Offer Incentive To The Voters

UNION CITY, Tenn. (AP) — In the past, the reward for voting has been a feeling of participation in government. Now something more tangible is being added in hopes of luring more people to the polls.

One person who votes Thursday in Obion County will be rewarded with a new color television set, courtesy of the Union City Jaycees.

Project Chairman Bob Stephens said voters will be numbered when they cast their ballots. After the election, he said, a stub will be put into a box for each voter number, and a drawing held to select the win-

DAUGHTERS OF ANOMALY
DANGER! IF YOU SHOCK EASY, THIS FILM IS NOT FOR YOU!

PEANUTS
HOW COME YOU GET TO BE ON THE TEAM, AND I DON'T?
I'M A SUPERSTAR, SWEETIE!
YOU STUPID BEAGLE!!!
I THOUGHT SHE'D ENJOY BEING KISSED BY A SUPERSTAR...

B.C.
WHERE'S B.C.?
HE'S OUT CANNASSING THE NEIGHBORHOOD.
HE TAKING A POLL OR SOMETHING?
NO, HE'S SELLING 'TARP'!

NUBBIN
TWINK IS FEELING SAD! TODAY'S HER BIRTHDAY AND YOU DIDN'T EVEN SEND HER A CARD!
MY LANDS! I PLUMB FORGOT!
MISS TWINK... GET YOUR PAD AND PENCIL...
TAKE A CARD...

BLONDIE
I FEEL GUILTY ABOUT TAKING A NAP WHILE BLONDIE'S OUT THERE VARNISHING THE HALL STAIRWAY.
IT'S HARD TO SLEEP WHEN YOUR CONSCIENCE IS BOTHERING YOU.
THANK GOODNESS, I FINALLY FINISHED THAT WAS A BIG JOB!
GOOD! NOW I CAN SLEEP WITHOUT MY CONSCIENCE BOTHERING ME.

BEETLE BAILEY
WHERE DID YOU GET THAT LITTLE TRAY?
I HAD IT MADE IN THE METAL SHOP FOR OTTO.
NOW HE DOESN'T HAVE TO HAVE HIS MEALS ALL MIXED TOGETHER IN ONE DOG DISH.
RAH DE DAH! FIVE SECTIONS OF DOG FOOD!

THE PHANTOM
AT THE EDGE OF THE DEEP WOODS...
THE PHANTOM IS NOT IN THE DEEP WOODS...
IT WAS NOT OUR CARAVAN, NOT OUR AFFAIR.
ATTACK US? WAMBESI? WE ARE MIGHTY, THEY ARE SMALL, RIDICULOUS.

JULIET JONES
WHEN!! IS SHE ALWAYS THAT WAY?
SORRY, WELL... IS SHE - IS HER "GRACE" ALWAYS THAT WAY?
OBVIOUSLY YOU HAVE HAD LITTLE CONTACT WITH ROYALTY, THOSE PEOPLE BORN TO THE PURPLE ALWAYS ACT THAT WAY.
AND YOU... ARE YOU FRIGHTENED OF HER, TOO?
I AM AN INTELLIGENT MAN, MISS JONES... ERG, I AM FRIGHTENED OF HER, TOO!

EVER WONDER WHAT IT WOULD BE LIKE TO TRY EVERYTHING? MARCY DID!

Greenville Tobacco Mart Ready For Record Season

Award School $96,193 Grant

A federal grant of $96,193 has been awarded the East Carolina University School of Allied Health and Social Professions to develop a curriculum program for community health educators. The award, originating from the Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare, is the first of several to support the program for a five-year period. Dr. Ronald L. Thiele, dean of the ECU school, said receipt of the award will allow the development of the community portion of a new degree in School and Community Health Education now conducted jointly with the ECU Department of Health and Physical Education. Students majoring in the program will participate in a three month internship program, in addition to on-campus studies. Graduates will be prepared to assist in the planning, implementation, coordination and evaluation of health and health-related services provided by school and community agencies. Dean Thiele noted that there is considerable demand for persons trained in the area.

Ga.-Fla. Leaf Mart Prices Still Rising

VALDOSTA, Ga. (AP) — Prices continued upward in the Georgia-Florida flue-cured tobacco auctions as the second week of trading ended. Grade prices were up 37 cents Thursday over the previous day, the Federal-State Market News Service reported. Some 10,143,895 pounds were sold at an average price of $86.68 per hundred pounds. On Wednesday, 11,261,854 pounds went for an $86.31 average.

Prices have increased each day in the record upward trend since the auction opened two weeks ago. Total sales for the eight days were 74,249,123 pounds for an average of $84.60 per hundred and a total of $62,813,708 for the season to date.

In another development Thursday, Tommy Irvin, commissioner of agriculture, asked Georgia tobacco warehousemen to give Georgia farmers a priority on floor space for sales. Irvin said the space problem was caused by an influx of Carolina tobacco.

Two Want To Build Hospitals

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Two private hospital chains are contending for permission to build a hospital in Charlotte.

The Hospital Corp of America of Nashville, Tenn., notified the North Carolina Medical Care Commission Thursday that within a few weeks it intends to apply to the agency for a certificate of need for a 150-bed general hospital in an urban renewal area.

Earlier this week, Extencare Corp. of Louisville, Ky., had appealed to the commission for authority to build a 124-bed hospital in another area of the city.

He also asked the flue-cured Tobacco Marketing Committee for more selling time for markets that handle only Georgia tobacco. Irvin said that 17 per cent of the tobacco sold last week in Georgia came from the Carolinas.

Hobby Cleared By Breathalyzer

DURHAM (AP) — President Wilbur Hobby of the state AFL-CIO was acquitted in Durham District Court Thursday on a drunken driving charge.

The acquittal verdict was entered after the court heard testimony that Hobby took a breathalyzer test after his arrest July 24 which showed a blood alcoholic content of 0.07 per cent. This is less than the 0.10 per cent that state law says creates a presumption of drunken driving.

J. N. Bryan, Supervisor of Sales, said today that the Greenville Tobacco Market will open on August 8 with a limited sale of two sets of buyers and on August 22 will its regular allocation.

August 8 is the earliest that the Greenville Market has ever opened. This is the result of the farmers requesting an early sale for their tobacco. There will be eleven sets of buyers operating on the Eastern Belt with two sets on the Greenville Market for the convenience of farmers wanting to sell early.

The most sought after varieties and the most superb quality of tobacco will appear on the warehouse floors in Greenville. Representatives of all the major tobacco buying companies in the world will be here awaiting their chance for competitive bidding for this outstanding quality tobacco to be offered for sale during the 1972 season.

Counts 58 Fire Calls In County During Month

According to Pitt County Fire Marshal Bobby Joyner, rural fire departments answered a total of 58 calls in the month of July. Of those 58 calls, 52 fires actually occurred.

A breakdown of fire department responses shows that there were nine house fires, 30 fires in buildings, eight auto fires, one woods fire, three false alarms, six mutual aid calls, and one miscellaneous call.

There was a total of $156,600 worth of property damage involved in fires, and $82,000 lost due to fires. Fire departments saved a total of $125,000 in property value.

The Farmville Fire Department responded to the most fires, with a total of ten.

Boasts Cuba Has Rocket Boats

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cuban Armed Forces Minister Raul Castro has revealed that the Soviet Union earlier this year provided the Communist island with up-to-date rocket-firing boats.

In a Radio Havana broadcast monitored today in Miami, Castro, Prime Minister Fidel Castro's younger brother, said the boats had double the firing and anti-aircraft capacity of older models.

HAROLD WATSON
President
Tobacco Bd. of Trade

J.N. BRYAN
Sales Supervisor
Tobacco Bd. of Trade

The following buying companies are located in Greenville (also listed are the presidents and branch managers): American Suppliers, Homer Compton, branch manager; Export Leaf Tobacco Company, Joe Gaston branch manager; Carolina Leaf Tobacco Company Inc. (E. B. Ficklen Tobacco Company Division), William B.

Glenn, president; Greenville Tobacco Company, C. W. Howard, Jr., President; Imperial Tobacco Company, Ltd., Paul Dupree, buying supervisor; International Tobacco Company, Inc., P. K. Andresen, president; Liggett and Myers Tobacco Company, B. T. Harper, head buyer; J. P. Taylor Company, Carter Bell, buying supervisor; and R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Gene Averette, branch manager.

Many years of satisfactory business dealings with the tobacco trade over the world has built up for the companies in Greenville and enviable reputation of being the finest purchasers, graders, handlers and processors of leaf tobacco in the world. Knowing the world's finest smoking tobacco is grown in Pitt County and the area served by the Greenville Tobacco Market, Greenville's tobacco companies have taken advantage of this fact. By constant improvement, over a period of many years, they have succeeded in adding perfection in tobacco purchasing and processing to an already perfect natural product. There are 20 tobacco warehouses and seven warehouse firms in Greenville with the largest one of these warehouse floors covering over 11 acres.

The floor space in Greenville devoted exclusively to the sale and processing of leaf tobacco is well over three million square feet.

The names of the owners and operators of these warehouse firms are as follows: Cannon's Warehouse, W. T. Cannon, Carlton Dail; Farmers Warehouse, W. Arthur Tripp, Jack Warren, T. P. Thompson, Harold L. Watson and Willie Edwards, Sales manager; Keel's Warehouse, J. A. (Buddy) Worthington, J. B. Worthington, Fenner Allen; New Carolina Warehouse, Laddie Avery, Larry Hudson and C. C. Harris; New Independent Warehouse, J. B. Belcher, W. A. Pruitt, T. W. Pruitt, W. E. Pruitt and Harold Forbes; Raynor-Forbes and Clark Warehouse, Noah Raynor, A. A. Forbes, Billy Clark and Bill Zachman; Star-Planters Warehouse, B. B. Sugg, Sr. and Harding Sugg.

should schedule their tobacco for sale with the warehouseman of their choice in order to sell it in an orderly manner and said that most of the warehouses have further mechanized this year to speed up getting tobacco on the sales floors.

Bryan called attention to the fact that last year the Greenville Market recorded the highest average in the 81 years of its operation, which was $5.09 per hundred above 1970. The total sales for 1971 were 46,203,489 pounds for $36,142,794, a seasons' average of $78.23. The Greenville Market paid out over a million dollars per day on 23 of its sales days during the season of 1971, Bryan noted.

There is every indication that 1972 will be an even better season than 1971, which was the most successful season in the history of the Greenville Tobacco Market.

Boasts Cuba Has Rocket Boats

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cuban Armed Forces Minister Raul Castro has revealed that the Soviet Union earlier this year provided the Communist island with up-to-date rocket-firing boats.

In a Radio Havana broadcast monitored today in Miami, Castro, Prime Minister Fidel Castro's younger brother, said the boats had double the firing and anti-aircraft capacity of older models.

"Close ties between Cuba and the Soviet Union have been strengthened more than ever, while Cuba plays an important role as the first Socialist state in America," the broadcast quoted Castro as saying.

Castro was speaking at a ceremony in Havana to commemorate the establishment of the revolutionary naval forces nine years ago.
