Nat'l Democratic Committee Facing Seating Challenges

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic National Committee today opens an extraordinary three-day meeting to nominate a running-mate for presidential candidate George McGovern.

But first the party must decide a number of seating disputes including one involving a slate headed by Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley.

Chicago Alderman William S. Singer, who led a successful fight to unseat the Daley delegation at the Democratic National Convention in Miami Beach last month, filed a challenge early today against the mayor's Illinois slate of committee members.

Some forces in the parth were talking of a compromise that would avoid antagonizing Daley again. Daley, who has not been an avid McGovern backer, has welcomed McGovern's recommendation of Sargent Shriver as the vice-presidential nominee.

Challenges have been filed by dissidents in Wisconsin, New Jersey, Ohio and Virginia, and New York Democrats have been given until midnight tonight to say whether they plan to lodge a challenge with the nine-member Credentials Committee.

The full national committee meets at 2 p.m. Tuesday to nominate a replacement for Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton. He quit the ticket July 31 because of the public discussion arising out of his disclosure that he had undergone shock treatment for mental depression in the 1960s.

The fight over seating the Illinois members of the national committee stems directly from the Miami Beach convention where Singer's 59-member group replaced Mayor Daley's delegation.

Under the new rules by which the Democratic National Committee was expanded from 110 to 303 members, members are chosen by the state's delegation to the previous national convention or, in some states, by joint action of the convention delegates and the state executive committee.

The complication in Illinois is that, although the Singer slate was seated at Miami Beach, a Cook County judge last week ousted Singer's challenge group from the Illinois convention which was choosing DNC members and put Daley's forces back into the delegation.

The six additional DNC members from Illinois were elected as part of a coalition constructed by Daley and a McGovern operative, the Rev. James M. Wall. In contrast to Daley's Miami Beach slate, his Illinois delegation to the DNC complies with party guidelines encouraging minority representation.

The Ohio credentials dispute pits McGovern supporters against those who had backed Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey's presidential candidacy.

The other state disputes revolve largely around local issues.

Ulster Violence Claims 3

BELFAST (AP) — Two British soldiers and a youth were killed early Monday as the violence in Northern Ireland increased again, bringing the three-year death toll close to the 500 mark.

The Catholic guerrillas of the Irish Republican Army were reported to have regrouped following the British Army's sweep into their barricaded strongholds in Belfast and Londonderry last week.

Troops manning an army post in Belfast came under fire from an anti-tank bazooka and immediately raided nearby homes in the Andersonstown area but failed to locate the weapon.

Two soldiers were killed and two others were injured when their armored jeep was hurled into a ditch by a mine on a country road in County Fermanace, near the border.

In Belfast, the body of a youth of about 17 was found on a street, apparently the victim of an assassination squad. He was not immediately identified, but both Catholic and Protestant execution squads have been active in Belfast in recent days.

The three deaths raised the confirmed fatality toll in Ulster since August 1969 to 492, with 283 of them recorded this year.

The IRA's militant Provisional wing warned that its members are ready to resume operations after a lull. Guerrillas who took refuge across the border in the Irish republic last week were reported filtering back into the Londonderry area.

Catholic resentment triggered a major riot in Belfast when a mob stormed an army post in a sports ground, tore down an iron fence with their hands, set an armored car ablaze and stoned troops.

After a peaceful demonstration to protest the army's takeover of Casement Sports Park, about 1,000 men and youths attacked the army post, cheered on by hundreds of bystanders.

The pro-Catholic Social Democratic and Labor parties cancelled talks today with William Whitelaw, the British administrator of Northern Ireland. The party leaders apparently feared loss of Catholic support if they met with Whitelaw while anti-British feeling is running high.

Shriver Choice Generally Liked By N.C. Demos

RALEIGH (AP) — Democratic leaders in North Carolina are generally pleased with George McGovern's choice of Sargent Shriver as his running mate, although some would have preferred a southerner in the vice presidential spot.

"I think he's absolutely the best choice and I'm delighted," said Mrs. John McCain of Wilson, one of the two state party vice chairmen.

"Of course, I think all of North Carolina was hoping for a southerner," she said Sunday. "But we realized there wasn't much of a chance of that."

Mrs. McCain called Shriver a "fine, hardworking, longtime Democrat."

The other party vice chairman, Chapel Hill Mayor Howard Lee, said, "I like him very much. I've always had a great deal of respect for the way in which he's carried himself. He has many ties with many sections of the country that McGovern does not."

But Lee said, "I'm concerned that he may not give the party the strength it may need in the South."

Lee, a strong backer of former North Carolina Gov. Terry Sanford, said, "Of course, I would have preferred Sanford or perhaps Sen. Hollings to Pat Lucy of Wisconsin."

"But overall, the fact that he has chosen Shriver hopefully will take the campaign away from personalities and back to the issues," he added.

Democratic National Committeeman Dr. Gene Posten of Shelby said, "I think it's a good selection. He's done a lot of good work and been successful at whatever he's underatken."

He added, "I wish they'd chosen a southerner, but they made a good choice."

Lee, Posten, Mrs. McCain, state party Chairman John Church and National Committeewoman Mrs. Bern Bullard of Raleigh will go to Washington Tuesday for a Democratic National Committee meeting to act on McGovern's choice.

Gov. Bob Scott also expressed support for McGovern's choice.

"I think the selection of Sargeant Shriver will do much to erase the concern expressed by the Democratic party regulars. I am confident he will add strength to the ticket," Scott said.

Jim Hunt of Wilson, the Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor, said he thought Shriver would be a "strong running mate" and a "net plus for McGovern in the state."

But the Democratic Senate nominee Congressman Nick Galifianakis said he did not think the vice presidential choice made much difference to any ticket. He indicated his intention to continue to keep at arms length from the national ticket and talk only about state issues.

Early Tobacco Sales For Greenville Mart Tuesday

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer

Farmers who sought an early Eastern Tobacco Belt opening this year are in a position to take advantage of such a situation as some markets prepare to open—on a limited basis—tomorrow morning.

Following a guideline set by the industrywide Flue-Cured Tobacco Marketing Committee, seven of the 17 Eastern Belt markets will begin sales tomorrow with a combined total of 11 sets of buyers.

J.N. Bryan, sales supervisor for the Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade, said that Greenville warehouses are scheduling tobacco for the opening sale with two sets of buyers expected to be on hand.

In addition to Greenville, other markets having two sets assigned are Kinston, Rocky Mount and Wilson, while Farmville, Goldsboro and Smithfield are preparing to open early with one set of buyers each. The rest of the Eastern Belt will open Aug. 22 on a full schedule.

After scores of farmers flocked to committee hearings to express their dissatisfaction with having to wait for late Eastern Belt openings after their crops were ready for market, earlier openings in several belts were set. Many farmers said they were forced to haul their harvests to distant markets because of late opening dates in the east.

With the July 25th opening of the Georgia-Florida Belt and since buyers for the Eastern Belt are rotated out of the Georgia-Florida section, the reduction in buyers two weeks after the Georgia opening makes them available for the Eastern Belt.

The Marketing Committee earlier allocated tobacco sales totaling 331,470,000 to the Eastern Belt. This year's crop was forecast at 329,700,000 pounds, compared with last year's output of 260,440,000.

"We're ready. Everything is lined up for Tuesday's opening," Bryan commented. He said that preparations are being made for a smooth opening and warehouses are scheduling their tobacco for a full sale based on market allotments.

Bryan said that Greenville's poundage allocation for the eight days of limited sales will be 249,040 per set of buyers or a total of 498,080 pounds per day. The allocation will be adjusted when the full 17-market operation begins on Aug. 22.

The supervisor reported that first sales have been assigned to Keel's Warehouse for set number one of buyers while New Independent will have second sales. Raynor, Forbes and Clark Warehouse has been assigned the third sale.

For the second set of buyers, Bryan explained, the first sale has been assigned to Farmers Warehouse with Star-Planters scheduled to handle the second sale with that particular set of buyers. New Carolina Warehouse has been assigned the third sale and Cannon's Warehouse will have the fourth on Tuesday.

Bryan said that local warehouses will rotate selling positions through the 21st. Sales cards will be available to farmers, he added.

After the 21st, the Greenville market will have four sets of buyers and a fifth set will be assigned here later in the season, the official continued. Until the additional set arrives, sales equivalent to five sets of buyers will be handled, he said.

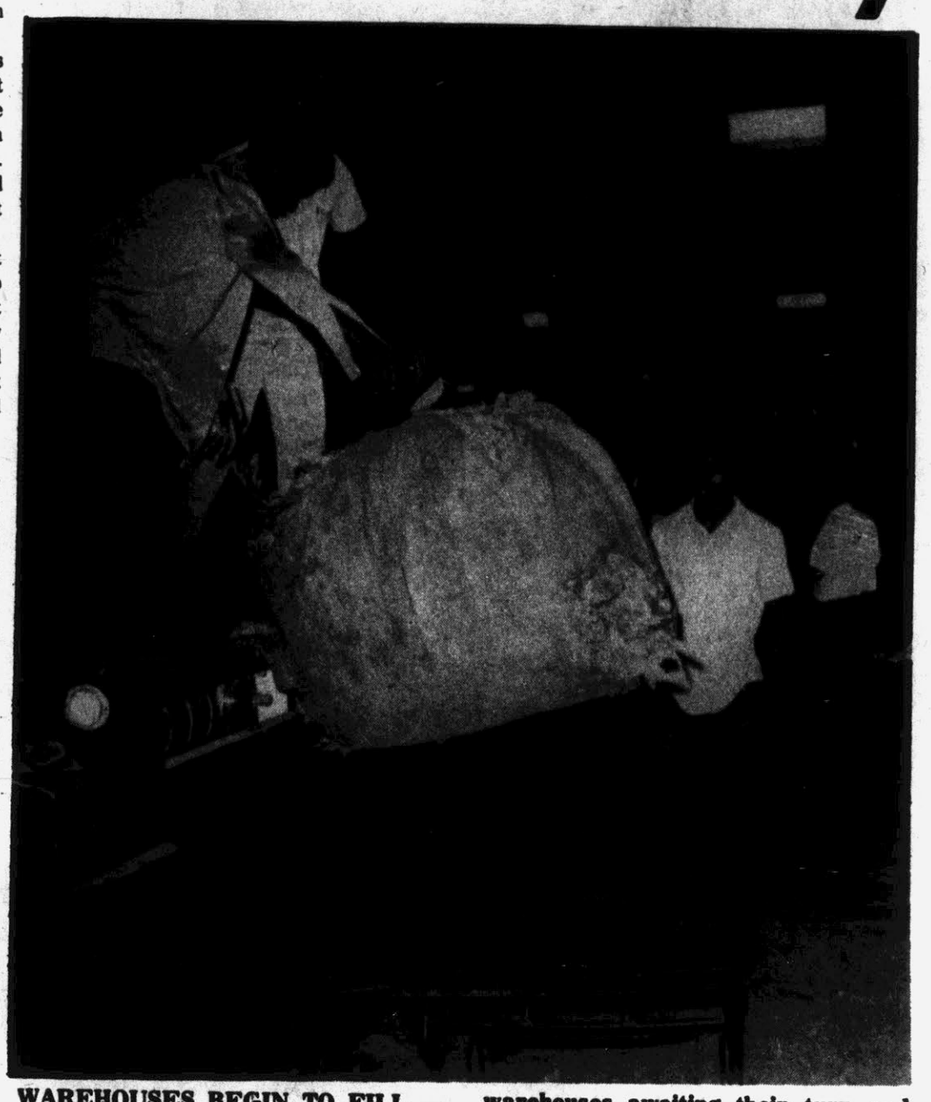

Bryan asserted that last year's overall practice of scheduling tobacco ahead of time for sales was "one of the biggest improvements ever made by warehousemen. The system worked fine," he said.

He predicted that market "prices will be higher this year. The farmers have a good quality tobacco in the area served by the Greenville market."

In Farmville, warehouses began flooring tobacco Thursday in preparation for tomorrow's opening, according to Louis Williams, sales supervisor for the Farmville Tobacco Board of Trade.

Williams reported that for the first eight days of the season under the limited operation, the

Candidate Helms Claims Whispering Campaign By Rival

By NOEL YANCEY
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH (AP) — Jesse Helms, Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate, has accused Rep. Nick Galifianakis, his democratic opponent of waging a whisper campaign of "rumor, misrepresentations and fabrications."

Helms said Galifianakis had been reported in a newspaper article as calling Helms a "hate monger." The Republican candidate said a Concord druggist had said the congressman described Helms as a "racist."

The druggist said Galifianakis also told him that Helms had moved his church membership in Raleigh "when blacks joined," Helms asserted.

Galifianakis promptly denied that he had made the remarks.

Both the senatorial candidates and Republican Gubernatorial nominee Jim Holshouser had their say Saturday at a meeting of the North Carolina Associated Press Broadcasters.

Helms' voice broke as he told the broadcasters the real reason he moved his Church membership was that the church he now attends is near his home—close enough for his crippled son to walk to Boy Scout meetings and other activities.

Helms, a Raleigh TV editorialist before he entered the Senate race, presented Galifianakis with an affidavit signed by Preston F. Forrester of Concord which said the congressman entered his drug store and "told me that Jesse Helms is a racist and that Mr. Helms had left his church when blacks joined." Helms wrote Forrester that so far as he knows the First Baptist Church from which he moved never has had any black members.

In response to questions, Galifianakis said he does not know Forrester and "I have not made any statements like that."

Pie-Eating Opens Board's Meeting

Pitt County Commissioners this morning opened their monthly meeting in a bit of a different way — conducting a pie eating session complements of Commissioner Burney Tucker of Winterville.

Tucker, who last month told other members of the board about his capabilites as a pie-baker "got up about a quarter to seven" this morning "peeled the apples ..." and made it all including the home-made crust.

He didn't however, make the ice cream that topped the flavorfull pie.

After the pie-eating session, commissioners accepted a low bid of $18,250 for a new ambulance for the Pitt Ambulance Service.

The low bid was submitted for an M and M Sales coach and was $750 less than a second bid of $19,000 submitted for a Superior Coach Co. ambulance.

The new vehicle will replace one of three ambulances in operation at the present time.

Pitt Memorial Hospital administrator Jack Richardson told the board that plans are being considered to turn the present doctors' lounge at the hospital into an ambulatory surgical care unit.

Richardson explained that this would allow persons to come into the hospital for minor surgury and leave the same day, thus reducing their cost for a minor operation. He noted that there are three other similar units in operation in the state.

Richardson also told the county board that the average stay for patients in the local hospital is less than the state average.

According to the administrator, the average patient in Pitt stays 5.6 days as compared with an average stay of 7.5 to 8 days average in the state.

He said this too reduces the patients' cost for hospitalization.

County forest ranger Ben Hardison, reporting to the commissioners, said so far this year only 21 fires involving 69 acres of land have been reported. Last year, he explained, the Forest Service responded to 61 fires which involved 554 acres of timber.

He cited "debris burning" as the "primary cause of our fires" and said the rural fire departments in the county reduce the number of Forest Service fires because they respond to such fires and extinguish them before they spread to woodsland.

Hardison told commissioners that there are an estimated 40,000 acres of land in Pitt that need to be planted with trees. He said during the last planting season about 125 to 130 acres were planted.

The cost to prepare the land and plant one acre of pines, Hardison said, is about $60 to $70 per acre. He explained that site preparation accounts for about $30 to $40 per acre while planting amounts to about $20 to $25.

Mrs. Whitehurst Fills Vacancy Left By Sigmon

Mrs. Audrey (William) Whitehurst, formerly head of the Art Program at Rose High School, has been named Director of Secondary Education for the Greenville City Schools.

In making the announcement, Dr. Cleet C. Cleetwood, Superintendent of the Greenville City Schools, says Mrs. Whitehurst has assumed her duties to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Bob Sigmon, who resigned to take a position in Richmond.

A native of Louisiana, Mrs. Whitehurst has been teaching in Greenville Schools for the past five years. A graduate of Norfolk College of William and Mary and East Carolina University, Mrs. Whitehurst previously taught in schools in Yorktown, Poquosin and Norfolk, Virginia before coming to Greenville.

Her husband, William B. Whitehurst, a retired U.S. Navy officer, is supervisor of buildings and grounds at East Carolina University and was recently appointed to the Greenville Board of Adjustments. The Whitehurst's are the parents of four sons, Robert, Frederic, Mike and Mark.

MRS. AUDREY WHITEHURST

Dr. Cleetwood said "Mrs. Whitehurst is a person of great personal and professional depth. Her credentials when considered for a teaching position some years ago were among the most outstanding ever reviewed in this office and her performance has justified the recommendations." He added that Mrs. Whitehurst has "the personal and professional qualities so necessary for success in this type of work."

Mrs. Whitehurst's first official duty following her appointment is the attendance today, Tuesday and Wednesday at the principals staff workshop being conducted at Wrightsville Beach.

Contend Sergeant Was Attempting POW Deal

TYNDALL AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP) — Defense witnesses were expected to support the contention today that M. Sgt. Walter Perkins was a chronic alcoholic who thought he could free American prisoners of war by giving defense secrets to the Russians.

Henry Rothblatt, Perkins' civilian attorney, told newsmen that the defendant's actions were "in his own sick mind" a form of protest against American involvement in the Southeast Asia war.

"He apparently thought some kind of deal could be worked out involving the exchange of prisoners of war," Rothblatt said.

The lawyer said he would put three medical specialists on the stand to "show that the requirements and demands the service placed upon Master Sergeant Perkins caused him to deteriorate into alcoholism."

Perkins, who was the top noncommissioned intelligence officer at the Air Defense Weapons center here at this Northwest Florida base, has pleaded innocent by reason of temporary insanity to espionage charges.

The defense has announced it will not contest evidence that Perkins — who had access to all sensitive information at Tyndall — stole the documents.

'Healthy Trend'

RALEIGH (AP) — At a time when states across the nation are confronted with a "fiscal crisis," North Carolina has booming tax collections that resulted in a $62.4 million surplus at the end of last fiscal year.

This was reported Saturday by Dr. W. L. Turner, secretary of administration, who said that the state's general fund collected $1,093.7 million last fiscal year while general fund expenditures amounted to $1,031.3 million.

"If 1972-72 general fund estimates of $1,139.8 million are realized in full, the 1971-72 over-collection will become a part of the credit balance available to the 1973 General Assembly for the 1973-75 biennium," Turner said.

"We have every expectation that this healthy trend will continue, at least for the immediate future," Turner added.

Couple Exchanges Vows Sunday

Miss Sherry Long Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Davis Jr. of Greenville, became the bride of Phillip Lee Laughlin on Sunday at 4:00 p.m.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A.J. Laughlin of Burlington.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Lawrence Kepler in the Mt. Pleasant Christian Church.

The church was decorated with two standing baskets of white mums, gladioli and pom pons. Two seven branch candelabra holding white cathedral candles were used on either side. The wedding scene was completed with palms of emerald greenery. The bridal couple knelt for prayer on a brass profile prie-dieu. After kneeling, the couple participated in a candle ceremony. Family pews were marked with bows of white satin ribbon and greenery.

MRS. PHILLIP LEE LAUGHLIN

A program of music was presented by Mrs. William Harvey Whitehurst, organist, and Mrs. Dennis Davis, who sang "We'll Walk With God" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of silk organza and peau d'ange lace with a tubular chapel train. The empire bodice featured a high neck with a mandarian collar and short puff sleeves. Peau d'ange lace encircled the hemline of the gathered skirt and bouffant tubular chapel train of silk organza.

She carried a colonial nosegay of white daisies, with yellow and white streamers, centered with a corsage of yellow roses. Her elbow length veil of soil illusion was attached to a headband of baby's breath and lace flowers.

Miss Bunny Davis of Greenville, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Vicki Andrews of Greenville and Miss Angela Laughlin of Burlington, sister of the bridegroom. Miss Lisa Laughlin of Burlington, sister of the bridegroom, was junior bridesmaid.

The attendants wore formal length gowns of lavender floral print in a striped design. The gowns were fashioned with scooped necklines, empire waistlines and short puff sleeves. They wore picture hats with lavender satin streamers and each carried a long stemmed yellow rose with matching streamers.

The mother of the bride selected a light blue dress, matching accessories and wore a corsage of white carnations. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a pink dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Davis, grandmothers of the bride, and Mrs. Laughlin, grandmother of the bridegroom, were remembered with corsages.

The bridegroom's father served as best man with Boyd Williams of Haw River, Rick Webster and Walter McDaniel, cousin of the bridegroom, both of Burlington, and Chip Davis of Greenville, brother of the bride, as ushers.

For a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will live in Burlington.

The bride graduated from J.H. Rose High School and attended Pitt Technical Institute. The bridegroom graduated from Graham High School and attended East Carolina University and the Technical Institute of Alamance. He is employed by General Electric, Burlington.

After-Rehearsal Party

The bride's parents entertained the wedding party and out-of-town guests at an after rehearsal party at their home Saturday night.

After the bride and bridegroom cut the traditional first slice of cake from the three tiered wedding cake, Mrs. Bill Howard of Charlotte, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Cleveland Paul of Goldsboro, aunt of the bride, served refreshments to the guests.

A color scheme of pink and white was used in decorations.

Flake-Bunting Vows Solemnized Sunday

The wedding of Miss Donna Gail Bunting of Beaufort and Jerry Allen Flake of Durham was solemnized Sunday at 2:00 p.m. in St. Paul's Episcopal Church in a double ring ceremony with the Rev. Laurence P. Houston Jr. of Greenville officiating.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. David Lynwood Bunting of Beaufort, and Mr. and Mrs. James W. Flake of Durham.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length white silk organza gown desinged with a high neckline encircled with embroidered lace. Matching lace edged the scooped, sheer yoke and accentuated the empire waistline. The embroidered lace also banded the sheer puffed lantern sleeves and edged the hemline which extended to an attached chapel train.

She wore an elbow length bouffant illusion veil attached to a Camelot cap of shirred silk organza accented with crystals. The bride carried a nosegay of phalaenopsis orchids, pastel blue baby's breath and tips of Baker's fern tied with narrow satin with long streamers.

Miss Jackie Marie Bunting of Beaufort, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. She wore a formal length gown of mint green dotted swiss designed with a high neckline, bishop sleeves, and ean empire waistline. It was trimmed with Venise lace interlaced with satin ribbons. She wore a white straw picture hat with long green streamers. She carried a nosegay with mixed summer flowers accenting green daisies and Baby's breath tied with apple green velvet.

Miss Ellen Anna Daugman of Greenville was the bridesmaid. She wore a fromal length gown of pastel blue dotted swiss with a square neckline, empire waistline, and short puffed sleeves. The neck, sleeves, and waist were trimmed with white lace and ribbon, and the skirt was finished with a deep full ruffle. Her white straw picture hat had long blue streamers. She carried a nosegay fashioned after that of the honor attendant of blue daisies, tied with heavenly blue velvet.

Serving as best man was James Willis Flake, father of the bridegroom, of Durham. Ushers for the ceremony were James Herbert Flake and Robert Albert Flake, both brothers of the bridegroom, of Greenville and Durham, respectively.

The bridegroom is presently employed in Durham and has attended ECU. The bride is a graduate of J.H. Rose High School. She has attended East Carolina University for the past two years, and is transferring to the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill this fall.

MRS. JERRY ALLEN FLAKE

Reception

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Parish House.

The room was decorated with mixed garden flowers. The serving table was decorated with white lace tablecloth and centered with a silver candelabra.

Mrs. Richard M. White of Greenville and Mrs. Lorene Phillips of Grifton greeted the guests at the door.

Mrs. Darrell Daniels of New Bern and Mrs. Joseph Eubank served wedding cake. Mrs. Susan Smith of Thomasville and Miss Kathy Smith of Greenville poured punch.

After a wedding trip to Virginia, the wedding couple will reside in Durham.

Mrs. Larry James, great aunt of the bride elect, entertained Miss Donna Gail Bunting and her bridesmaids at a luncheon at her home in Greenville on Saturday.

Marriage Announced

Mrs. Claude Wharton Rankin announces the marriage of her daughter, Louisa Rankin MacIlwinen, to William Erskine Duff, on Saturday.

Personal

Mrs. Thelma Sheppard, of 201 Ford St., Greenville, is a patient in Duke Hospital, Durham, room 3603.

Lasting Style

When selecting furniture for your first home, an important thing for the bride to remember is to choose a style that not only pleases her at present, but one that will stand a good chance of successfully passing the test of time. This can be said of many different styles, but of course you must like it as you will live with it a long time. Make the upholstery selections carefully. Remember you want to enjoy it but you will also have to take care of it. Carpet selections are just as important as furniture selections. Make them carefully. Miss Jacqueline Lang Weds On Sunday

AYDEN — Miss Jacqueline Lang, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Amos Lang, of Ayden and Tony Lynn Harris, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thad Harris Jr., of Maury were united in marriage at 3:00 p.m. Sunday.

The Rev. Jim Trader officiated at the double ring ceremony in the Ayden Christian Church.

Miss Virginia Cooper played the organ and Steve Reynolds sang "Because," "We've Only Just Begun" and "Wedding Prayer."

The chancel of the church was arranged with a background of wedding palms, an altar basket of white mums and gladioli with jade greenery accented by seven branch candelabra holding cathedral candles on each side. The couple knelt on a silhouette prie-dieu for the blessing and benediction.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal length white chantilly lace gown designed with a high neckline encircled with lace, jeweled by pearls. Matching lace and pearls outlined the sheer yoke. Chantilly lace fashioned the long sheer sleeves and corded satin accentuated the natural waistline. The full skirt, which extended into an attached chapel train, featured tiers of chantilly lace.

She wore a bouffant illusion veil attached to a tiara headpiece of chantilly lace and pearls. The bride carried a formal cascade of white roses and baby's breath with a white orchid.

Miss Deborah Smith of Ayden served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Sandra Cox, Mrs. Ruthie Merritt Harrington, Miss Debbie Tripp and Miss Gayle Tripp, all of Ayden, and Miss Linda Crawford of Grifton.

The attendants wore formal length gowns of blue organza designed with scoop necklines edged with ruffled organza. The empire bodices and short pouf sleeves featured an overlay of white chantilly lace over blue organza. They wore blue crocheted garden hats and carried colonial bouquets of daisies and baby's breath.

Miss Suzanne Colwell of Fayetteville was flower girl. Her dress was identical to the attendants' dress and she carried a basket of petals.

MRS. TONY LYNN HARRIS

The bridegroom's brother, Kenneth Harris, was best man. Ushers were Mitchell and Jimmy Hughes of Maury, cousins of the bridegroom, Sammy Gay of Walstonburg, Charles Miller of Kinston, and Charles Hill of Raleigh. Mike Colwell of Fayetteville was ring bearer.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Lang selected a dress of gold floral print chiffon with matching street length coat and matching accessories. Her corsage was of green cymbidium orchids.

The bride is a graduate of Ayden-Grifton High School and will attend East Carolina University this fall. The bridegroom graduated from North Carolina State University at Raleigh with a B.A. degree in political science. He is currently employed with Starr Beaton Chevrolet, Inc., Kinston.

Reception

The parents of the bride entertained the bridal couple at a reception in the fellowship hall of the church.

The bride and bridegroom cut the traditional first piece of wedding cake. Mrs. Tom Wheless poured punch and Mrs. Mary Frances Hardee, aunt of the bride, served the cake.

The bride's table was covered with a white cloth and a silver eprgne of white carnations, snapdragons and chrysanthemums graced the table.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. J.L. Padley.

After a wedding trip to Myrtle Beach, S.C., the couple will reside in Maury.

The bridal couple, attendants, family and friends were honored at a rehearsal party Saturday night.

The chemise definitely is back for fall. This will please women who have difficulty keeping control of wandering waistlines.

Miss Claudia Barnhill Is Bride

In a candlelight ceremony on Sunday at 3:00 p.m., Miss Claudia Barnhill became the bride of Michael Anthony Hodge in the Oak Grove Church of Christ. Harold C. Turner, minister, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

MRS. MICHAEL ANTHONY HODGE

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Barnhill of Stokes. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Travis Leon Hodge of Sumter, S.C., and the late Mr. Hedge.

A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Gail Crisp, organist, of Stokes. Miss Katherine Hardison of Wilmington, sang "We've Only Just Begun" and "This Is God's Love".

The nuptial altar was centered with a fifteen branch semi-circle brass candelabra holding white cathedral candles marked with sprays of white gladioli, mums and fern. On eigher side was a matching nine branch standing tree candelabra complementing the center scene. A brass profile kneeling bench was used by the bridal couple at the closing of the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of white organza over taffeta. The empire bodice was styled with a high neckline and fashioned with a sheer yoke along with fitted sleeves and flared organza cuffs. Re-embroidered alencon lace motifs with accents of pearls highlighted the gown. The A-line skirt was designed with a detachable chapel train edged in alencon lace seeded with pears.

The bride's veil of illusion was attached to a lace Juliet cap adorned with pears. Her bridal cascade consisted of stephanotis, pink and white mums, centered with a white orchid.

Miss Lynne Craig of Bassett, Va., was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Jack Chinery of Sumter, S.C., Mrs. Tracy Barnhill Jr. and Miss Judy Leggett of Stokes, Miss Deana Duncan of Dunn, Miss Minnette Roberson and Miss Susan Edmondson, both of Robersonville.

They wore formal gowns of petal pink designed in the empire style with white lace bodice featuring long sleeves with matching lace cuffs. For the headpiece, they wore matching petal pink satin streamers except the maid of honor distinguished with white. The bridesmaids carried cascade bouquets of white daisies with matching ribbons.

Of Damascus, Md., Louis Hodge, uncle of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Tracy Barnhill Jr. and Spencer Barnhill, brothers of the bride, Jack Chinery, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, of Sumter, S.C., Paul Higgins of Greenville, S.C., and Vander McCormic of Pascagoula, Miss.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Barnhill chose a pastel pink silk organza dress featuring matching chantilly lace. She carried a pink rose.

Mrs. Hodge wore a light blue dress with matching lace and accessories. She, too, carried a pink rose.

Mrs. Lester Edmondson, maternal grandmother of the bride, wore a fitted light aqua dress of silk chantung accented with matching brocade. She was remembered with a corsage of pink carnations.

The wedding was directed by Mrs. Alton Johnson of Stokes.

For traveling, the bride selected a kelly green knitted dress with a matching bolero coat. The dress was complemented with navy accessories. She wore a white orchid lifted from her bridal bouquet.

Following the wedding trip, the couple will make their home in Greenville, S.C.

The bride has attended Meredith College, Raleigh, and will complete her education at Furman University, Greenville, S.C.

The bridegroom is a graduate in chemical engineering of Clemson University, where he served as president of the A.I. Che. He is employed with the Owens Corning Fiberglas Corp., Anderson, S.C.

After-Rehearsal Party

Mr. and Mrs. Georgie Glynn Edmondson and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Roberson of Robersonville, entertained at an after-rehearsal party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roberson Saturday night.

Honored were Miss Claudia Barnhill and Michael Anthony Hodge.

The house was decorated throughout with seasonal flowers.

The table was adorned with a bridal arrangement flanked by tiered silver candelabra with glowing tapers.

Reception

After the wedding, the bride's parents entertained at a reception at their home. Mrs. Barnhill greeted the guests and introduced them to the receiving line composed of the bridal couple and parents.

The house was arranged throughout in a wedding motif. From the entrance room, Miss Deana Du can directed the guests to the sitting room to register. Upon the registration table were the bride's portrait, her bronzed baby shoes, and glowing white tapers.

From this room, Miss Lynne Craig invited the guests to view the gifts on display. Other bridesmaids received guests and directed them to the regreshment table. It was covered with a white organdy cloth over pink, accented with clustering miniature wedding bells and centered with a tall tiered white and pink bridal arrangement of stock, mums, and carnations, flanked by silver candelabra with white tapers.

After the bridal couple cut the first slice of the five tiered wedding cake, aunts of the bride, Mrs. Eugene Roberson, served the cake while Mrs. Louis Worsley poured punch from a silver punch bowl.

Miss Claudia Barhill and Michael Anthony Hodge were honored at a bridal breakfast today.

Hosts and hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Worsley of Washington and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Barnhill of Goldsboro.

The party was given at the Holiday Inn, Greenville, at 11 a.m.

Joyner-Moore Vows Exchanged OnSunday

Miss Amy Moore became the bride of Douglas Joyner Sunday, at 5:00 p.m. in the Liberty Advent Church. The Rev. Yates Webb officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Moore of Rt. 2, Walstonburg. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis Joyner of Rt. 1, Farmville.

The vows were spoken before an altar banked with white summer flowers. On either side of the white prie-dieu, where the couple knelt for prayer, were two brass candelabra holding lighted cathedral tapers. Palms of emerald greenery completed the setting. White satin bows marked the reserved pews.

A program of nuptial music was rendered by Todd Brown and Tom Brown, soloists, whose selections were, "Whither Thou Goest" and as the couple knelt for prayer, "The Lord's Prayer."

Escorted and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white organza over English net and rosepoint lace. The gown was empire styled with a high neck, lantern sleeves and a full skirt with a detachable train. The bodice was of rosepoint lace, which was also featured on the sleeves and two panels on the front of the skirt. Rosepoint lace applique was used on the train to form flowers. Dainty pale pink satin ribbons adorned the neck, sleeves and waist of the gown.

The waist length veil of double layered white silk illusion was attached to a tiara of flowers and pearls with loops of pink satin ribbon. Her Dutch colonial bouquet of white daisies was highlighted with a corsage of pink sweetheart roses, greenery and pink satin streamers.

Mrs. Bobby Avery of Rt. 1, Farmville, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Her attire was a formal gown of pink organza over peau de soie, which was styled with a high neckline, empire waist and full sleeves. Three rows of val lace and satin ribbon trimmed the bodice, waist and sleeves, and topped a full skirt. She wore a matching picture hat of pink bridal braid trimmed with val lace and satin ribbon, and carried a summertime arm bouquet of white pom pons and pink sweetheart roses suspended on a pink velvet handle.

Flower girl was Miss Beth Oakley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marl Oakley of Rt. 2, Walstonburg. She was dressed in a floor length dress of pink organza trimmed with white lace and pink ribbons and a pink ribbon for her hair. She carried the rings on a white lace covered pillow.

The father of the bridegroom attended his son as best man. Ushers were Ricky Moore of Farmville, brother of the bride, and Bobby Avery of Farmville, brother-in-law of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Moore chose a blue linen dress with matching long lace coat, white accessories and a corsage of white glamellias. The bridegroom's mother wore a yellow knit dress, trimmed with gold braid, white accessories and a corsage of shasta daisies.

Mrs. Roger Moore presided at the bride's guest register. Mrs. were said by Mr. and Mrs. David May of farmville.

James E. Lewis of Greenville directed the wedding.

Following the ceremony, the bridal couple and their parents received guests in the vestibule of the church.

For a wedding trip to Niagra Falls, Canada, the bride selected an ivory voile printed dress with matching smocked jacket. She wore matching accessories and the corsage of pink roses lifted from her bouquet.

The couple will reside in Farmville.

The bride is a graudate of Greene Central High School and is employed with Pitt and Greene Electric Membership Corp., Farmville. The bridegroom is a graduate of Farmville High School and is employed with Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company, Greenville.

After-Rehearsal Party

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Avery entertained the bridal couple, members of their wedding party, parents and friends at an after-rehearsal party at the Shamrock on Saturday night.

The table was covered with a pink linen cloth, overlaid with a white lace cloth. A silver epergne of pink carnations and white pom pons was used for the centerpiece, along with pink tapers in three branched silver candelabra.

After the bridal couple cut the traditional first slice, the bridegroom's mother served cake, and the bride's mother poured punch.

The bride and bridegroom remembered their attendatns with gifts at this time. Good-byes

Earliest Start In Many Years

It may come as a shock to those who are not connected with the tobacco industry, but tomorrow the big Eastern Belt markets are opening for sales.

Greenville, which usually opens with five sets of buyers, will have its early opening with two sets. Farmville, Pitt County's other tobacco market, will open with one set rather than its normal two sets of buyers.

Kinston, Rocky Mount and Wilson will also open tomorrow with two sets of buyers, while Goldsboro and Smithfield will open with one set.

The remainder of the Eastern Belt will open on Aug. 22 and the early opening markets will have their buyers increased later in the season.

The outlook for the sale of the huge flue cured tobacco crop this year is hopeful. Observers feel that our farmers have produced a superior crop this year and the outlook is for record prices on tomorrow's opening.

This is the earliest that the local markets have opened in many years. The procedure for early opening on the Eastern Belt was worked out after many farmers complained about having to wait for the market opening when their crop was ready for sale.

As is well known, many area farmers took tobacco to Georgia for sale in years past because of the long wait.

Thus a solution has been worked out that could be satisfactory for everyone. With the early opening here farmers will not have to go to the expense of hauling their tobacco to distant markets for sale. Since this is the first year of the new system, however, the proof of its efficiency will be in how it works out in the next few weeks.

Tobacco has kept many family farms going in our area in recent years. Without its cash income, many farm families would have had to give up and move to towns and cities to seek other jobs.

All signs point to a successful selling season for the tobacco producers. Based on hard work, if any group deserves it more, we are not aware of them.

State And Local Debt Is Major

By BRYAN HAISLIP

RALEIGH — North Carolinians are carrying a total state and local debt amounting to some $1,627,859,149 (B).

That figures out roughly to $325 for every man, woman and child numbered in the state's approximately 5 million population.

In light of economic conditions and current budget, the debt load is modest and within the ability to pay, said State Treasurer Edwin Gill.

"We are in excellent position," Gill continued. "The fact is, North Carolina is better able to take care of its debt today than was the case 10 or 30 years ago."

The state compares favorably with its sister states in the level of debt. It ranks within the lower half-dozen in the combined state and local per capita debt. It is among 15 of the 50 states whose bonds are triple-A, denoting a superior credit rating.

Local government accounts for two-thirds of the current debt load. At fiscal year-end on June 30, total local government indebtedness in North Carolina stood at $1,202,499,149 (B). That showed an increase of about $56½ million for the year.

The state's bonded debt was $425,360,000, up about $10½ million over the previous year. The total does not include two bond issues approved by voters last spring, but not yet marketed. They are $150 million clean water bonds, and $2 million for development of a zoological park.

New Proposals Pending

The legislature which convenes next January will review carefully the figures on state debt in considering proposals for new bond issues.

It's probable that lawmakers in 1973 will have before them bond bills equal to the amount of state bonds presently outstanding. Purposes for which bonds have been discussed include aid to public school construction, mental institutions, beach erosion, and land purchase for state parks.

Amounts have not been fixed for the various proposals, but it is obvious the total will run to several hundred million.

However the legislature orders priorities among the bond proposals, it won't be able to authorize bonds except subject to a vote of the people.

Legislative Borrowing Limited

Under a formula aimed at caution in borrowing, a legislature can issue bonds or its own motion only in the amount equal to two-thirds of the debt reduction in the previous biennium. The 1971 General Assembly followed that route in providing nearly $46 million for capital improvements.

Since the debt will rise rather than fall in the present biennium that path will be foreclosed to the next session.

Historically, North Carolina has been wary about borrowing and shown a preference for pay-as-you-go financing. The law requires operation on a balanced budget, and the procedure for bond issues assures deliberation.

Back in the flush days after World War II, the legislature put $51 million into a sinking fund to retire its bonds.

The money market has a long memory, said Gill. The state's traditional attitude towards creditors and its aggressive repayment policy are factors in its high credit standing, he said.

Local Bonds Rising

The pressure of growth, particularly for cities, has brought an increase in local government debt. The total remains reasonable and well within economic means, Gill said.

For fiscal 1970, the latest year for which comparative statistics are available, total debt at the state level in North Carolina was $342.49 per capita. Only four states—South Carolina, Montana, Idaho and South Dakota—were lower. The national average was $706.43, and the median was $603.38

Analysis of a state's debt must take into account the percentage of its budget required for debt service, Gill said. For North Carolina, only 2 per cent of its General Fund appropriations goes towards bond reitrement, he pointed out. "That is regarded as very low," he remarked.

The state's $425,360,000 in outstanding bonds breaks down to $217 million in the highway fund, and $208,360,000 in the General Fund. The highway bonds are, in effect, self-liquidating through a one-cent per gallon gasoline tax dedicated to their payment. "The amount is more than ample for the purpose," the treasurer said.

Bond proposals which survive legislative scrutiny generally have fared well with Tar Heel voters. The one notable exception of recent years was an issue of $61,665,000 for various capital improvements which was defeated in 1961.

Prior to this year's clean water and zoo bonds vote, the last substantial borrowing by the state through bonds was $300 million for highways in 1965, and $100 million for public school construction in 1963.

The Real Problem Is In Merging 2 Nations

It is not surprising that a merger between Egypt and Libya was announced following the expulsion of the Russians from Egypt.

The major step, however, will be in bringing about the merger of the two nations. It is significant that the announcement said plans for the union are still to be worked out.

Union of Arab countries has been tried before, but their differences have always been too great to make it lasting.

'Opium King' First Link

By PETER O'LOUGHLIN
Associated Press Writer

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — A mysterious Chinese who operates in the mountains of northern Burma, in a wild area called the Golden Triangle, has qualified as the opium king of Asia. Narcotics agents describe this man, Lo Hsing Han, as the first link in the drug chain that ends with sales on U.S. street corners.

In recent weeks, from his sanctuary at Tachilek, a small Burmese town just over the border from Thailand, he has seen Thai and U.S. narcotics agents striking at the heart of the Asian drug traffic.

In June and July agents seized 3,853 kilograms of raw opium, 212 of morphine base, 353 of prepared smoking opium and seven of No. 4 pure heroin. A kilogram is 2.2 pounds.

Judging the value of the hauls is difficult, agents say, because the prices rise sharply the farther down the pipeline it moves.

But the raids did not hurt Lo Hsing Han. He had already sold the drugs to dealers who were caught before they could make their runs to Saigon, Bangkok and Hong Kong for further sales.

Still, the message must have been clear: The heat is on and that may be bad for business.

There are no photographs of Lo, no physical description. Thai authorities do not even know his age, although they have heard he is a superb organizer and a charismatic leader. He is thought to have been born in China.

Intelligence that trickles over the border is sketchy.

But it is known that he operates in that northeast corner of Burma which borders China, Thailand and Laos. The whole area, including parts of Thailand and Laos, is a no-man's land called the Golden Triangle because of the estimated 1,000 tons of opium produced there annually.

Intelligence reports say Lo is the leader of a private army of at least 1,000 men—eumphemistically called a self-defense force.

He organized this army with the tacit approval of the Burmese government. It wanted him to help fight Burmese Communist party guerrillas.

Lo Hsing Han promised to fight these guerrillas but informants say he established an accommodation with them, so as not to disturb his trading.

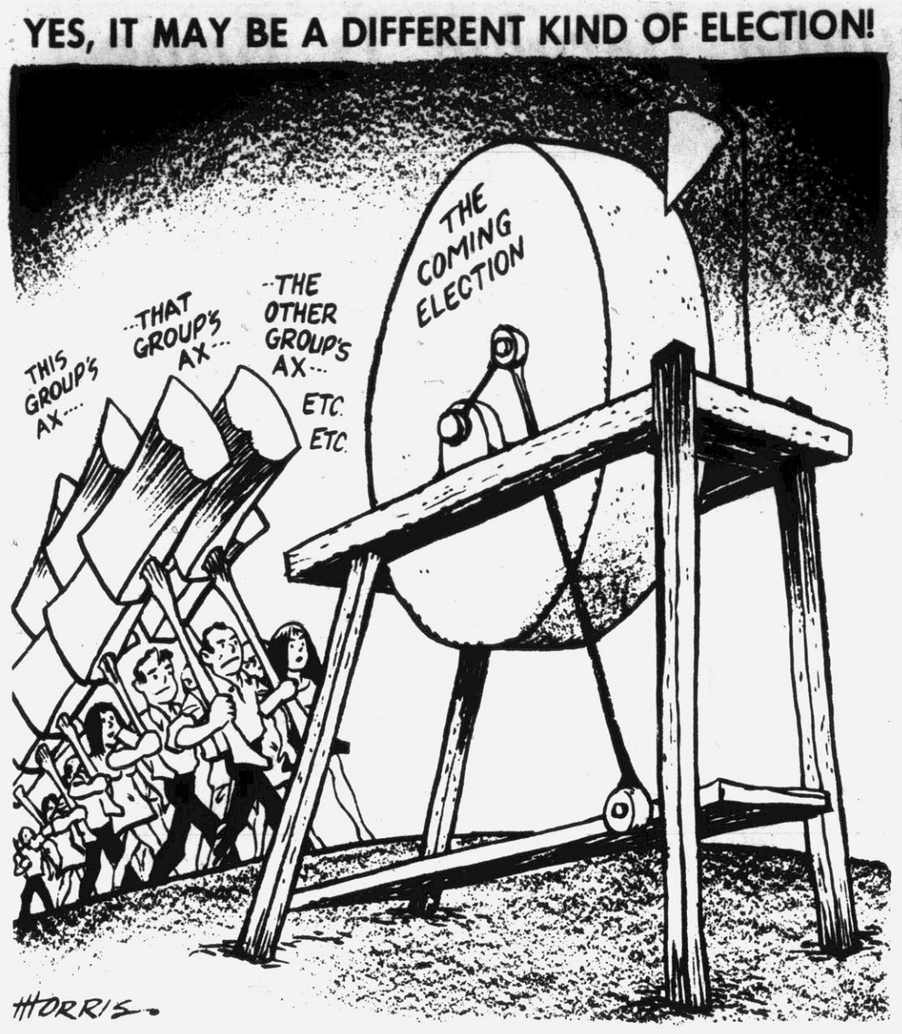

Lo's army is regarded as the best equipped and most cohesive fighting force in the mountains. The Burmese army, confined to the main towns, will not tackle it.

Lo also deals in the lucrative border trade, smuggling everything from truck engines to bolts of cloth into Burma to feed a black market created by the Burmese governments nationalization program.

Intelligence reports say Lo buys opium from the hill farmers and transports it to his own refineries by pack horse and mule caravans. His troops provide the armed

1,000 Percent Support

WASHINGTON — There has been a great deal of rumor about what made George McGovern decide to drop his vice-presidential running mate, Sen. Tom Eagleton, from the ticket.

This is what really happened, as pieced together from a reliable source very close to Jack Anderson.

When it first was revealed that Eagleton had been hospitalized for depression and had not told McGovern about it, the McGovern force called a hasty meeting in Custer, S.D., to decide what to do about it.

Sen. McGovern said he thought he should back Eagleton 1,000 per cent. His staff, more cautious, suggested he announce he was backing Eagleton 800 per cent or 700 per cent.

"You can always go up to 1,000 per cent" one staffer said, "if the reaction is favorable."

But McGovern was adamant. "When I back a man it's 1,000 per cent or nothing.

Someone did some fast calculating on a sheet of paper.

"One thousand per cent really locks you in, Senator. It will be impossible to come down if the going gets rought."

McGovern shook his head. "I believe it's a question or credibility. If I'm going to give everyone in this country $1,000, then my Vice President should get 1,000 per cent support from me."

"Would you settle for 750 per cent?" someone asked.

"No, no, a thousand times no!" McGovern said heatedly. "I'm going out and say it now."

McGovern announced he was behind Eagleton 1,000 per cent, which gave the senator from Missouri a big boost. Eagleton went off to Hawaii and the West Coast figuring that with that percentage margin, he would not be dumped from the ticket.

But there were forces at work in the land that McGovern hasn't figured on. The reaction from Democratic leaders and moneymen was against retaining Eagleton.

Pressure was building up to dump him, and while McGovern kept reassuring Eagleton that he was backing him 1,000 per cent, he told the staff privately he could afford to back him 600 per cent.

The staff suggested that McGovern publicly announce he was behind Eagleton 500 per cent. "In that way," one of his managers said, "you can get him to quit."

To complicate matters, Jack Anderson broke a story a few days later, which turned out to be untrue, that Eagleton had a drunk driving record.

McGovern was as outraged by this lie as Eagleton was.

The presidential candidate called Eagleton and told him, "I'm backing you 1,000 per cent against Anderson, 550 per cent on the health problem and 412.3 per cent on not telling me in advance about it."

Eagleton's staff put these figures into a computer and were heartened. "When Nixon got into trouble, Eisenhower only backed him 200 per cent. You're way ahead of Nixon at this stage," they said.

Unfortunately, McGovern's staff wasn't working with the same figures. They had McGovern supporting Eagleton on the Anderson controversy 1,000 per cent, but they only had him supporting the health issue by 220

Other Editors Say To Tougher Autos

(Rocky Mount Telegram)

There's more truth than poetry in the oft heard complaint that things are not built as durably nowadays as they used to be. This is true, at least of certain features of modern automobiles. of course, cars run longer and more reliably than in the days of the Model T, but they are also more fragile and more fragile.

A contemporary $4,000 to $6,000 auto resembles a piece of delicate glassware — grille, bumpers, fenders and decorative accessories collapse upon the slightest impact, and the bill is horrendous.

This has been one of the major factors contributing to the higher premiums that must be paid for auto insurance. The average cost of fixing damaged cars soared 111 per cent between 1960 and 1971, and repair of wrecked cars is the biggest single item auto insurance pays for.

In fact, insurance against vehicle damage accounts for about two-thirds of the total insurance premium for the typical owner of a late model car. Through claims payments, insurance companies are actually purchases of huge quanitites of vehicle parts, auto repair service, etc.

Since insurance companies dislike seeing premiums rise, just as do car owners, large segments of the property and casualty indurance industry have been publicizing the need for less fragile auto designs.

Certain states have passed laws requiring all cars sold in those states after a specified date to be equipped with energy-absorbing bumpers capable of sustaining front and rear-end crashes into a plywood-covered concerte barrier at five mph without damage to any part of the car.

Authorities have estimated that if all cars could be built to withstand a 5 mph crash — walking speed, really — without needing repairs, insurance rates could be reduced 20 per cent. By advocating state laws requiring more crashworthy autos in surance companies are working to save their clients money when premium payment time rolls around.

Dullest News Show

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Al Morgan, who was the producer of the "Today Show" for seven years, says that political conventions "are the dullest show in the world."

He says "ABC decided it didn't have to cover everything from the opening gavel to the closing gavel. It just goes on with its soap operas and 'Marcus Welby' and beats the two giants hollow in the ratings.

"NBC used to have a motto, 'CBS plus 30.' That meants we had to stay on the air 30 minutes after CBS did. Some nights there wouldn't be anybody on the floor except people sweeping and picking up debris."

When he watches the conventions this year, now that he isn't working in television any more, Morgan says, "My hand automatically turns, out of loyalty or something, to NBC. But I think Walter Cronkite is the best. NBC tends to nitpick a story and expert it to death. That's all right if it's an important story—you can learn a lot. But if it isn't anything anyway, you're just led down the garden path by a lot of comments. Actually, you probably see the convention best by switching back and forth between networks."

One convention which wasn't dull from a news standpoint was 1968, with the Democrats in Chicago. Morgan was there, producing the "Today Show" out of Chicago. When he left NBC, to write a novel, his seventh, "I was settling old scores, getting even for old wounds, but the Chicago convention kept getting in the way." So that convention week, as he lived it, became the "central character" of the novel, "The Whole World Is Watching."

Morgan says he thinks some lessons were learned from the riots in Chicago. Miami allowed young people to sleep in Flamingo Park during this year's Democratic convention; Chicago wouldn't let them sleep in Grant Park. Now, at events that are potentially violent, there is no red light on the TV cameras, so that people around can't tell whether they're on. There was criticism in Chicago that some of the violence occurred because TV was there, that both police and protestors "played" for the red light of the cameras.

"I don't know whether it's just a man getting older and grouchy, but I don't think so — I don't think television news is as good as it used to be," Morgan says.

"Television news goes in cycles. After all, news is only a tiny part of a medium devoted to entertainment. And sometimes it only takes an attack like the one made by Agnew for TV news to pull back and get soft. All it takes is somebody in an administration willing to act like a bully boy, and Spiro Agnew is willing. But it isn't a partisan thing. There was no greater bully, no greater ego, than LBJ. He was either kissing you or killing you for how you made him look.

"You know every television station has to get its license renewed every year by the Federal Communications Commission, which is appointed by the President. And an administration can make it tough for a TV network other ways—tell news sources not to talk to TV reporters, make it hard for reporters to get visas, etc. It's hard to be a crusading newsman.

Strength For Today

LEARNING HOW TO LIVE

Most of us rebel at discipline. If we have to submit to it we snarl and complain. Our idea of a happy life is a life free of discipline.

But such a life would not be a happy life at all. It would be a hellish existence. The word discipline comes from a Latin word which means "to learn." Discipline involves the learning process. The significance of life depends upon our ability or willingness to grow. Some people stop growing mentally and spiritually very early in life. Across the faces of some people of middle age and beyond there is written a peace of soul which has come because that person knew the meaning of discipline and accepted it. The truly happy person is always a disciplined person.

This does not mean that one is not happy unless every urgent desire is his life is suppressed. Discipline may at times involve suppression, but that suppression should be the first step in the process of growth. We may have to suppress certain evil impulses within us until we can control them. Discipline means the capacity to control. The person who has finally learned the lesson of discipline is the person who has finally brought his desires under control.

Let us never forget that discipline is related to learning It is the process by which we learn how to live.

Food Prices Again In Spotlight

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Right when the nation's economic referees were about to congratulate themselves on bringing order to the consumer price game, those incorrigible food prices are stepping out of bounds again.

Based on latest wholesale figures, supermarket prices could become the center of attention again. Meat, poultry, eggs, fruits and vegetables seem destined to go higher. And coffee prices too.

The rise forecast in retail coffee prices represents an unexpectedly diabolical blow from nature in the form of a freezedie situation in the Brazilian coffee growing areas, where you must remember, it was winter in July.

The wholesale food price problem can be seen as especially irascible when it is contrasted with the prices of other wholesale items which now appear to be conforming to exhortations and expectations.

Eliminate food prices from the Wholesale Price Index and it shows for July a rise of only two-tenths of one per cent, which makes a yearly average of 2.4 per cent, a figure that by modern standards is acceptable.

Include the prices of agricultural goods, however, and the WPI rise comes out to eighttenths of one per cent, a yearly average of 9.6 per cent, a rate that could bankrupt a family of hungry, growing children.

The signals being sent out by this ominous turn are directed in sharp focus at:

—The Price Commission, which has been hesitant to tangle with farmers.

—The administration and its election advisers, who must know that consumer attitudes can become politicized in election years.

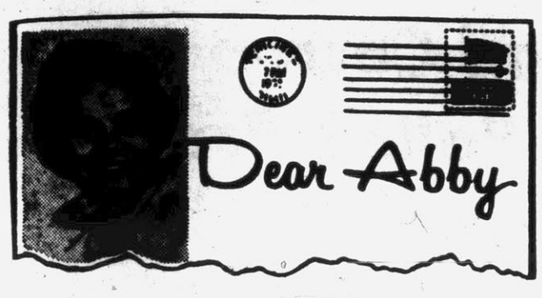

It is nearly too much to believe or bear, but while the nation still wrestles with inflation, albeit while enjoying benefits of a sturdy expansion, some economists are talking about recession.

This dismal outlook may have something to do with the psychology or the politics of the forecaster. Some economists are by nature as dour as their subject; most economists, like others, lean to the left or right in politics.

Whatever the reason for the recession talk, this is the reasoning:

The country is overspending. We'll have a three-year federal budget deficit of more than $80 billion. Everyone knows that deficits are inflationary. Nobody knows this more than the Federal Reserve Board.

The Fed, therefore, will be goaded into action. It will seek to restrain the economy by restricting the money supply. And down goes the economy, into a corrective recession, in the latter part of 1973.

Divorce action only way out?

By Abigail Van Buren

[© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.]

DEAR ABBY: When I was barely 16 I had to get married. George [made up name] was 18. It was a mistake from the start, but I stuck by him because of our kids who are now 8, 9, 11 and 12.

George always ran with other girls. He still does. I never denied him love or affection, but it was like a sickness with him. Even he admits he can't help it. They are the worst kind of girls, too. I can't count the times George brought home a social disease.

Two years ago I kicked him out for that reason and I started divorce action. Our oldest daughter became so upset she wouldn't eat. She always idolized her father but I don't know why. He hardly ever looked at her. Anyway, this girl was practically starving herself to death, so the doctor advised me to let George come home. I gave him one more chance.

Last week I kicked him out again for the same reason, and this time I made up my mind to go thru with the divorce. Abby, I just can't live with this man any longer. Now the same daughter is sick again. She can't keep any food on her stomach. She says if I don't take Daddy back she will run away or kill herself.

If anything happens to my daughter, I will never forgive myself, yet I don't want to spend the rest of my life with a man like George. What should I do?

IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR IN: Get some professional counseling for your daughter and proceed with your plans. Tell her that your mind is made up, and she will have to be a big girl and accept your decision.

DEAR ABBY: I recently served on jury duty and I was shocked at what went on.

One woman said the man must be guilty or he would never have been arrested. Another man urged everyone to vote guilty so we could all go home. Another man suggested we should all vote guilty and close the case because the court costs are paid for by tax dollars.

The case ended in a 7-to-5 vote of guilty which prompted one juror to suggest that we make it a unanimous vote because the judge "got awful upset" over hung juries.

Abby, if any of your readers can tell me that my experience was unique, please have them write to you. Thank you. WAITING IN COOLVILLE, OHIO

DEAR WAITING: All right. Former jurors?

DEAR ABBY: "Disgusted" wanted to keep people from going to movies which showed "raw sex."

I am a healthy-minded 23-year-old woman who wants to know why "disgusted" complains about "raw sex," but the sickening sights of war, shoot 'em-ups, bloody violence and other forms of raw murder don't seem to bother her.

Children, if educated honestly by their parents about sex, will be able to cope with movies containing sex. If children don't learn that sex is a healthy normal part of their lives, they will do their research with dirty books and in the back seats of cars.

"Disgusted" needn't worry about blushing. The theaters and drive-ins are dark. I am more worried about throwing up! DISGUSTED WITH DISGUSTED

CONFIDENTIAL TO "BORN LOSER IN CARLSBAD": Think about the man who said, "I complained because I had no shoes . . . then I met a man who had no feet." . . . Feel better?

A BIG SPILL .... occurred Sunday afternoon at 3:30 p.m. when a large tractor-trailer jackknifed about 12 miles south on Greenville on N.C. 43. The cab of the truck is hidden in trees. Trooper Spencer Badgett, investigating officer, reported the driver, 26 year old Douglas Eugene Lee of Route 1, Vanceboro, has been charged for driving under the influence. Lee was admitted to Pitt Memorial Hospital with injuries. One passenger was not injured. The truck failed to make a curve. (Reflector photo by Jerry Raynor)

Second Part Of TV Series On Tuesday

The second part of a University of North Carolina television series on Tar Heel school desegregation begins tomorrow night at 8 p.m. over WUNK-TV, Channel 25, Greenville.

The 14-program series called "Thursday's Child" debuted this spring and is divided into a three-part presentation, the university reported. The final portion of the series is planned for this fall.

Five programs are scheduled for the second portion of "Thursday's Child" beginning tomorrow night and continuing at 8 p.m. each Tuesday, Aug. 15, 22 and 29, and Sept. 5.

Tuesday night's program will concern "alternative or private schools," highlighting the Carolina Friends School and the Southern Council Academy in Durham, the Black Arts Cultural Center in Chapel Hill and an interview with L. C. Adcock, superintendent of the Granville County Schools.

The remaining programs in the second part of the series will explore pre-school education and curriculum changes and features talks with students about school integration.

In addition to WUNK-TV, Greenville, "Thursday's Child" is broadcast over six other university television facilities including WUNC-TV, Channel 4, Chapel Hill.

In Tachilek, Lo is reported to have a refinery complex, one of about 15 dotted along the border, where he produces morphine, smoking heroin and No. 1 heroin.

Drug-suppression officers in Thailand would like Lo's scalp, but see little chance of that. The Thais won't cross the border for fear of creating an incident with Burma. The Burmese government cannot act because its writ does not extend fully to the territory where Lo operates.

Officials say they plan to keep choking off big shipments when they cross the Thai border. This is difficult because of the hundreds of trails and rugged mountainous countryside.

"If he can't sell it because the dealers think they run too heavy a risk of getting picked up on the Thai side, we'll have done him a lot of damage," said one official.

"The next season from November through to February should see him hurting."

Tire Came Off Car, Hit Glass

A freak accident caused an estimated $125 damage to a window at the Belk-Tyler Co. store at 114 East Fifth St. here last night.

Police reported the right rear tire came off an East-bound car, struck the curb and bounced into the window about 8:55 p.m.

Driver of the vehicle was identified as Paul Adrian Zurav, 17 of 205 North Elm St.

per cent and 125.7 per cent for not telling McGovern. They put this word out to the press, who realized support for Eagleton was waning in the McGovern camp.

The only one in the country who didn't realize what was going on was Eagleton.

Finally, the famous meeting on Tuesday night took place, and the first words McGovern said as he put his arm around his running mate's shoulders were: "Tom, I want you to know I support you 100 per cent."

Eagleton had no other choice but to resign.

Reports Seeing Damage To Dike

TOKYO (AP) — Former Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark has toured dikes in North Vietnam which were damaged by U.S. air strikes, according to the official Vietnam News Agency.

A broadcast monitored Sunday said Clark toured Phu Vang, a village in Thai Binh Province, on Aug. 3, and later told a correspondent for the Voice of Vietnam: "We visited one site yesterday where dikes had been bombed. The bombs directly hit the top of dikes ... The bombing should be stopped immediately, should have never been done in the first place and should never be done again."

Clark, attorney general under President Johnson, left Washington July 24 for a two-week tour of North Vietnam at the invitation of the North Vietnamese government.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market entered the second week of a summer rally today, as prices were up for the fifth straight session.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up fractionally, in moderately active trading. Precise information was not available due to calculation problems.

Advances outnumbered declines by a narrow margain.

The New York Stock Exchange Index of some 1,400 common stocks was up .5 to 60.80, and the American Stock Exchange price-change index gained .02 to 26.94.

Stocks of mobile-home manufacturers were lower, after an advance leak of a forthcoming report by the Mobile Homes Manufacturers Association which will show a slowdown in orders for June.

On the Big Board, Fleetwood Enterprises was down 1⅜ to 37⅝, Redman Industries was off ⅝ to 26⅝, and Skyline Corp. had fallen 2⅝ to 57½. On the Amex, Champion Home Builders was off 1⅜ to 19⅛, while Mobile Home Industries was down 1 to 20½.

H & R Block was up 1¼ to 14.

Matshushita Electric was up ⅞ to 25⅝ after publication of a favorable article in a financial magazine. Gulf Resources was off ¾ to 8¾.

LESS CONTAMINANT

RALEIGH (AP) — A recent market survey of shell eggs has revealed a big reduction in the amount of the industrial chemical contaminant PCB since 1971, N.C. Agriculture Commissioner Jim Graham said Saturday.

Tobacco . . .

Farmville market will be allocated 249,040 pounds per day for its set of buyers.

Selling time each day through the 21st, he noted, will be approximately three hours and 17 minutes.

The regular poundage allocation will be received on Aug. 22, Williams continued, and for the first three days following the 22nd, the market will be allocated 578,320 pounds with selling time for two sets of buyers set at seven hours and 36 minutes.

Williams said that daily poundage after the first three days of full operations has been tentatively set at 473,172 pounds with selling time set for six hours and 14 minutes for the two sets of buyers. The Marketing committee will meet Aug. 10 and adjustments could be made in poundage, he said.

Fountain and Monk's No. 2 Warehouse will have the first sale tomorrow morning and Planters will have the second sale at 10:22, the supervisor reported. The third sale will be at New Blue Warehouse at 11:44 and Bell's Warehouse has been assigned the fourth sale at 12:45.

New Blue is an addition to the Farmville market and is owned and operated by W.A. Allen, Williams said. Located on the 264 Bypass at Fields Street, the facility contains some 65,000 square feet and is 650 feet long.

He said that this year's crop "looks excellent" and the leaf appears to be the light, high quality product buying companies generally look for. Border Belt prices have been encouraging to the eastern markets, Williams said, and overall the market prospects appear bright.

Ed Yancey, Pitt Extension chairman, said that, "We've got an exceptionally good quality crop throughout the county. Most of the tobacco I've seen looks bright and has cured well."

He added, "Farmers seem to feel generally that they have a high quality leaf with good weight." Yancey did note that there have been a few problems with tobacco not ripening as fast as hoped for but, overall, the maturing of the crop was adequate.

He said that, in terms of total poundage, he still feels that "we'll be a little light," but not enough to cause problems.

Last year's opening average in Greenville set a new high for the local market with $77.14 per hundred pounds while poundage on the market here paced the 17-market belt with 1,574,725. Farmville's opening day mark of $77.34 per hundred also broke all previous marks there.

AEC Signs Big CPL Contract

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission has signed a $634 million contract with Carolina Power and Light Co. of Raleigh, N.C., to provide enriched unranium for three nuclear generating stations over the next 30 years.

The AEC says the fuel will be for seven nuclear reactors to be operated by CP&L and that it is the largest contract since the federal agency began its toll enrichment program in 1969.

The reactors to be fueled are at Hartsville, S.C., Southport and Bonsal, N.C.

At Least 10 Die In N.C. Traffic

At least 10 persons died in traffic accidents on North Carolina highways during the weekend. The deaths brought the toll for the year to 1,070 persons, compared to 1,025 for the same period last year.

The death toll included three pedestrian fatalities. The State Highway Patrol said Jessie Thorton, 40, was struck by a car as he walked on U.S. 301 two miles north of Elm City in Wilson County.

Horace W. Chase, 21, of Rt. 6, Kinston died when struck by a hit-and-run vehicle on N.C. 11 seven miles south of Kinston.

Seventeen-year-old Patricia Ann Ingram of Rt. 6, Asheboro was killed when a car ran off a rural road just east of Asheboro and struck her.

Other fatalities included that of 17-year-old Keith Trogdon of Franklinville. The youth died when his car ran off a rural paved road 4.3 miles east of Asheboro. The Highway Patrol said Trogdon was pinned in the car.

A Fayetteville man, 23-year-old Harold R. McLead, was killed when the car in which he was riding went off a rural paved road south of Fayetteville and hit a building.

Gordon Franklin Rhom, 43, of Rt. 1, Nebo was killed when the car he was driving was hit by a car which ran a stop sign on a rural road 13 miles south of Marion, the Highway Patrol said.

Thirteen-year-old Melvin McPherson of Rt. 1, Clarendon, died after falling from a farm tractor. The patrol said the youth was run over by the vehicle.

An accident on Interstate 85 killed two young people. The Patrol said Sharron L. Brannon, 20, of Collingdale, Pa., and Steve Sinski, 20, of Lincolnton, were killed when their car ran off a bridge on I-85 three miles west of Hillsborough.

Russell Hayes, 16, of Washington, D.C., was killed and 10 other persons injured when the car in which they were riding ran off U.S. 301 four miles north of Wilson.

Anniversary Observance

AYDEN — The first anniversary of the death of William Earl Murphy, a black farm laborer shot to death on August 6, 1971, was marked Sunday by a small demonstration led by Golden Frinks.

Frinks, active in the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, was joined by two other persons in a silent march from the site where Murphy was shot by white highway patrolman Billy Day. About 15 other joined the three when they reached the Ayden City limits.

In what Franks called a symbolic march, no signs or placards were carried. "It was a peaceful march, one without incidents," Ayden Police Chief Tommy Burney commented.

Following the August 1971 shooting of Murphy, Ayden was the scene of unrest a number of demonstrations requesting that Day be fired. Day had shot Murphy after picking him up on Hanrahan Road, charging him with public drunkeness. Day said Murphy had been shot during a scuffle following the arrest.

A Pitt County grand jury last December cleared Day of any wrongdoing. Later, Day was reassigned to patrol headquarters in Raleigh.

Widespread Corruption Found In Police Probe—

NEW YORK (AP) — A special commission reports finding "widespread corruption" in a two-year probe of the New York City police department and recommends appointment of a special deputy state attorney general to root out corruption among policemen, prosecutors and judges.

The Knapp Commission said in a report Sunday that it found graft ranging from well-organized, monthly gambling payoffs to narcotics "scores" of as much as $80,000 to small but numerous payments to uniformed patrolmen from construction sites, bars and businesses.

The commission urged Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to appoint a special prosecutor to head a new, independent watchdog agency "staffed by persons wholly unconnected with the police department" to investigate and prosecute "all crimes involving corruption in the criminal process."

Neither the public nor honest policemen feel they can trust the city district attorney's offices or investigating commission to handle the job, it said. All those agencies rely on policemen to do the legwork and New Yorkers "just don't trust policemen to investigate each other."

The five-man special commission headed by Whitman Knapp, a Wall Street lawyer since recommended for the federal bench, also advocated these reforms:

—Repeal of antigambling laws and laws barring certain business activities on Sunday to reduce the exposure of policemen to potentially corrupting situations.

—Relieving policemen from enforcing the laws covering construction activities, tow truck operations, bars, nightclubs and businesses. "It is ridiculous to have an armed police officer wasting his time checking restaurant washrooms to find out whether they are properly supplied with soap," the report said.

—Creation of an independent anticorruption group within the police department in which an officer might spend his entire career.

There were also recommendations for more than 30 administrative steps within the department including revision of the Civil Service laws to permit the police commissioner to punish captains, lieutenants and sergeants by reducing them a rank if found guilty of a serious charge.

Grifton Club Was Robbed

Pitt County deputies are investigating a break-in and theft at the Grifton Golf and County Club over the weekend, rather than at the Greenville club as reported in Sunday's edition.

Sheriff Ralph Tyson said this morning that Grifton club Professional Joe Bullins reported the theft of $6,805.45 in golfing equipment including some $1,400 worth of clubs and two electric carts valued at $650 each.

Sheriff Tyson said that the theft, which was reported around 9 a.m. Saturday, included an assortment of golf clothes, 65 dozen golf balls valued at $1,000, 25 putters valued at $500, ten manual golf carts valued at $160, and approximately $1,026 worth of tools from a repair shop. Also reported missing was an AM-FM radio and keys to several of the electric carts.

The sheriff noted that thieves apparently gained entrace to the pro shop after removing a screen from one of the windows. No damage resulted to the building, he added.

Sheriff Tyson said that the break-in occurred sometime after midnight Friday.

Avers Report Is Favorable

GOLDSBORO, N.C. (AP) — The acting director of O'Berry Center for retarded children at Goldsboro, Dr. Nicholas Stratas, says a recent State Bureau of Investigation report on the center is favorable to the institution and should be made public.

Stratas made the comment Saturday, a week after he took over for Dr. Vernon Mangum at O'Berry. The SBI investigated charges of mistreatment at the institution and turned the information over to Gov. Bob Scott.

Scott has said he will not release the report.

Stratas said the report indicates that where incidents had occurred, corrective measures were taken before the investigation, and that many complaints were unfounded.

FIRE VICTIMS

BOSTON (AP) — Five children and three women died in an early morning fire today which swept through a wood frame building in Boston's Roxbury section.

Writers Club Meets Tuesday

The first meeting in the month of August for the Greenville Writers Club will be at 8:00 p.m. Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oral Parks, 1609 Oaklawn Street.

Persons interested in any form of creative writing except poetry are invited to attend and to bring brief manuscripts or portions of longer manuscripts for reading and discussion.

Meetings are informal and usually last for approximately two and one half to three hours. There are no membership fees involved.

Obituaries

Middleton

The Rev. Diston Middleton, a former Farmville resident, died Sunday morning in Mrs. Rosa Bradley Home Caring For Adults in Greenville. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Adkins

ROBERSONVILLE — Funeral services were held at 11 a.m. this morning for Mr. Robert Knight Adkins, 71, who died in Pitt Memorial Hospital Saturday morning. He was the son of the late Willaim Henry Adkins and Mrs. Lina Knight Adkins.

Mr. Adkins served as a member of the First Baptist Church for the past 60 years, and served as deacon and Sunday school superintendent for the past 40 years. He was also a senior active member of the Rotary Club for 30 years.

He graduated from Robersonville High School, then attended Bingham Military School, Randolph-Macon College, and Massey Business College. Mr. Adkins then returned to Robersonville to join his father in the tobacco warehouse business.

Mr. Adkins is survived by his wife, the former Julia Elizabeth Hunt of Oxford, and one sister, Mrs. John H. Edwards of Williamston.

TALLADEGA, Ala. (AP) — "It has been a long time coming, and I think I got a message across to a few people, at least to my own satisfaction."

That was the reaction Sunday from perennial also-ran James Hylton after he had won only the second major stock car race of an 8-year career, the rich Talladega 500 at Alabama International Speedway.

Hylton, who will be 38 in two weeks, drove a Mercury to which he holds the title across the finish line half a car length ahead of Ramo Stott, 37, of Keokuk, Iowa, as 68,000 spectators stood and cheered him on.

"I proved that I can build a winning stock car and that I could drive it as well as anyone else," said the slender blond, who pocketed the biggest first-place check of his career—$24,865.

But Hylton's victory was no fluke. He drove for the front from the start and when he got there, he made his presence felt—particularly over the long haul.

Third place went to Allison, fourth to Red Farmer in a Ford, fifth to Buddy Arrington in a Dodge. Petty came in sixth, 11 laps off the pace.

Luman Harris Fired By Braves

ATLANTA (AP) — Luman Harri was fired today by the Atlanta Braves and replaced as manager of the National League baseball club by Eddie Mathews, owner Bill Bartholomay announced.

Mathews, 40, was in his second season as coach with the Braves. The former slugging third baseman, who retired as a player in 1968, takes over the club immediately.

A spokesman for the Braves here read a statement from owner Bartholomay in Cincinnati where the Braves are concluding a five-game series tonight:

"After careful evaluation, director of player personnel Eddie Robinson strongly recommended a change had to be made.

"Eddie Mathews has been named manager of the Braves."

The spokesman said the contract extends through next season.

Harris was in his fifth year as manager of the Braves, who this season are mired in fourth place in the Western Division, 16 games behind the Cincinnati Reds.

The 57-year-old Harris led the Braves to a playoff spot in 1969 before dropping three straight games to the New York Mets. That year, Harris' club had a 91-69 mark, his best record with Atlanta. This year the Braves were 47-57 under Harris.

Rumors had been flying around Atlanta since early in the season that Harris would be replaced by his first base coach, Mathews. The most recent talk was that Mathews would take over at the All-Star break.

The Braves won seven of nine games, however, and the talks subsided. But then came a seven-game losing skein, snapped only Sunday by a 4-3 triumph over Cincinnati.

"Harris did a fine job in the five years here and we wish him well," Bartholomay said.

"I am pleased that a man of the caliber of Eddie Mathews is available to take over the lead of our club. I feel we will be able to work closely together and that he can make the Braves pennant contenders," Robinson said in Cincinnati.

Player Conquers The Monster; Wins '72 PGA

By LARRY PALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer

BIRMINGHAM, Mich. (AP) — Gary Player, one of golf's mighty mites, has mastered The Monster and suddenly recouped his fading prestige.

Four months ago, Player was eating humble pie after pulling within a stroke of the lead in the Greensboro Open heading into the final round, then being disqualified for not signing his scorecard, which read 67.

Today the crewcut South African is the new Professional Golf Association national champion and $45,000 richer. His second PGA title, his first coming in 1962, will probably reinforce the belief that he is one of golf's "Big Three" along with Jack Nicklaus and Lee Trevino.

"It just goes to show you what a humbling game golf is," said the 5-foot-8, 159-pound Player on Sunday. "But it all seems to even out."

Player harnessed a balky putter on the key holes down the stretch to salvage a two-over-par 72, destroying Jimmy Jamieson's dream of glory and finishing with 281 for 72 holes — one-over-par at the 7,054-yard Oakland Hills Country Club south course, dubbed "The Monster" by Ben Hogan in 1951.

The cherubic Jamieson, who won the Western Open this year, bogeyed the last three holes to drop out of a brief lead and end up with a 70 for a four-round total of 213, two strokes behind Player.

Veteran Tommy Aaron came in with a 71 to tie Jamieson for second, both earning $20,850 of the $225,000 purse.

Three-time champion Sam Snead, now 60 and always a sentimental favorite blitzed the front nine in three-under 32 enroute to a 69, good for a $9,275 and a share of fourth at 284 with 1969 winner Ray Floyd and Billy Casper. It was the best round of the day, equalled only by George Archer who finished far down the list.

Bunched at five-over 285 were second-round leader Jerry Heard, Doug Sanders, Canadian Open champ Gay Brewer, and Phil Rodgers.

Pretournament favorites Trevino and Nicklaus were far off the pace, with Trevino and Hale Irwin at 286, and Nicklaus finishing at 287 with Dan Sikes.

The 36-year-old Player, who was the leader by a stroke over Casper heading into Sunday's round, boosted his money winnings this year to $119,000.

Bucs To Play

East Carolina opens the first round of the Summer Collegiate League playoffs tonight as they host Louisburg.

The Bucs finished second on the regular season behind Carolina, the host team for the second and third rounds. Louisburg wound up the season in third place. It is a double-elimination affair.

The Heels are playing UNC-Wilmington tonight in Chapel Hill.

Game time at Harrington Field is 7:30.

Williamston Wins Doubleheader

Williamston finished in first place in the area Semi-Pro League Sunday as they beat the Greenville team in a playoff game.

Greenville had won the first game of the afternoon to bring about the second game.

In the opener, Greenville spotted Williamston their only score of the game in the 5-1 win in the first. Greenville came back in the bottom of the frame to take the lead as Grant Jarman and Kenny Beaman both reached on error's. A wild pitch moved both runners up and a hit by Charles Meeks drove in the two runs.

Greenville got three more in the second as Jarman slapped a homer with two on.

The second game was more close than the first as it went 11 innings before it was decided. Greenville, by winning the first game, equaled the 18-5 record of Williamston.

Williamston got on the boards first again as they pushed over a score in the third. They added another in the sixth.

Greenville took the lead as they rallied for four in the bottom of the sixth. The tieing runs came over for Williamston in the seveth.

It stayed that way until the 11th when Williamston got the winner.L. Coltrain walked and R. Wynne was hit by a pitch. P. Smith reached on an error that scored Coltrain and moved Wynne to third. After Smith stole up. W. Williams hit into a fielder's choice that scored Wynne to make it 6-4. Greenville failed to score in their half of the frame and finished second in the standings.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — An unidentified racing fan is holding a winning ticket worth $9,068, the amount of the record jackpot of Saturday night's "Big L" at Louisville Downs.

Officials of the harness racing track said that the single winning ticket of the double-perfecta had not been cashed at the conclusion of the program attended by 4,022 fans.

The "Big L," or double-perfecta, requires picking the first two finishers in each of two races in exact order. The previous records was $8,518.

Third baseman Joe Torre and outfielder Lou Brock are co-captains of the St. Louis Cardinals.

A total of 991 delegates, officers and directors attended the 1972 ABC bowling championships in Long Beach, Calif.

Eight Inducted Into Hall Of Fame

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Baseball's Hall of Fame opened its doors today to pitchers Sandy Koufax and Early Wynn, catcher Yogi Berra and five other great names from the past.

The eight new entries were officially inducted into the shrine in ceremonies near The National Baseball Hall of Fame and Museum while thousands of fans watched the annual mid-summer pageant.

Along with Koufax, Wynn and Berra, pitcher Lefty Gomez and first baseman Buck Leonard were on hand to receive the honor. Three of the new members were honored post-humously—outfielder Ross Youngs, American League President Will Harridge and catcher Josh Gibson.

Koufax, the youngest player ever to make the Hall at 36, re-

Things Were Popping Around The AL Sunday

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sparky Lyle, left-handed pitcher, New York Yankees, felt something pop Sunday but it turned out to be only a scare.

Denny Riddleberger, left-handed pitcher, Cleveland Indians, heard something pop and it turned out to be the late-inning home run bats of Detroit's Willie Horton and Mickey Stanley.

When all the popping was done, the third-place Yankees had swept a doubleheader from Milwaukee 3-0 and 6-4 in 10 innings while the Tigers, four games ahead of the Yanks atop the American League East, had salvaged a 1-2, 6-5 split with Cleveland that set up a key four-game series beginning Tuesday in New York.

Elsewhere, Baltimore battered Boston 11-2, Oakland downed Minnesota 6-3 in 13 innings but dropped the nightcap 5-1, the Chicago White Sox took two from Texas 10-1 and 7-1 and California swept Kansas City 4-3 and 3-2.

In the National League, Atlanta edged Cincinnati 4-3 in 10 innings, Houston beat San Francisco 7-3 before losing 6-2, Los Angeles blanked San Diego 6-0, Pittsburgh won a pair from Montreal 8-0 and 7-2, the New York Mets bombed the Chicago Cubs 12-2 and St. Louis shut out Philadelphia 6-0.

John Ellis had socked a two-run homer and Steve Kline had hurled eight scoreless innings against Milwaukee when New York skipper Ralph Houk signaled for Lyle to start the ninth and almost regretted it when his relief ace seemed to be in pain following a pitch.

"I caught my spikes on the back of the mound and I felt something pop," Lyle said. "There was no pain or anything and it was down in the lower part of my back, but for a few seconds I didn't want to throw the ball."

"I saw him stumble and raise his arm," said Houk with a sigh of relief, "so I went out to see if he was okay. He said he was and he proved it."

Lyle proved it by notching his 24th save and then coming back to hurl two scoreless innings to win the nightcap as the Yankees rallied in the late innings. Trailing 4-2 after Tommy Reynolds belted a three-run homer for the Brewers in the first inning, New York got a run-scoring single from Jerry Kenney in the eighth and a game-tying homer from Bernie Allen in the ninth.

Kenney then opened the 10th with a single, stole second with two out and scored on Thurman Munson's single. Bobby Murcer doubled home an insurance run.

The Tigers, who lost a rain-shortened game to Milwaukee last week, almost were done in again by the weather. After they dropped the opener to Cleveland on solo home runs by Jerry Moses and Chris Chambliss and the clutch relief pitching of Steve Mingori for their fifth setback in six games, Stanley's two-run homer and double powered them to a 3-1 lead in the nightcap.

But the rains came after Chuck Seelbach took his warm-up pitches prior to the Cleveland seventh and when Seelbach finally got back to the mound almost 1½ hours later he was peppered for four runs on Del Unser's sacrifice fly and Eddie Leon's three-run homer.

But in the eighth, Bill Freehan singled and Horton tagged Riddleberger for his first home run since June 30 to tie the score. Stanley then smacked another home run to settle the issue.

Meanwhile, the second-place Orioles ended a four-game losing streak on the hitting of Merv Rettenmund, Boog Powell and Paul Blair and Jim Palmer's six-hit pitching ... and the absence of batting practice.

"It didn't seem like it was helping us too much anyway," said Manager Earl Weaver, whose club is hitting only .226, "so I said the hell with it."

The Birds banged Boston pitching for 15 hits. Rettenmund, crashed a two-run homer in the fifth and doubled a run across in the seventh. Baltimore iced it with six runs in the eighth, two on a home run by Powell and three on a double by Blair.

The White Sox climbed to within 3½ games of Oakland in the AL West when Wilbur Wood stopped Texas on five hits and Tom Bradley fired a seven-hitter in the nightcap.

The Sox exploded for six runs in the second, their largest inning of the season, as Wood tied Detroit's Mickey Lolich and Cleveland's Gaylord Perry at 18 victories and won for the ninth time with only two days' rest. Dick Allen, who delivered a two-run single in the opener, belted his 28th homer in the second game and Ed Herrmann chipped in with a two-run shot.

The A's withstood Harmon Killebrew's game-tying homer in the ninth inning of their first game, his 534th, and pushed across three runs in the 13th on Tim Cullen's tie-breaking single and a two-run double by Bert Campaneris.

Killebrew, who was joined in the home run column by teammate Steve Braun and Oakland's Sal Bando, tied Jimmie Foxx for fifth place on the all-time list—two behind Mickey Mantle—and 534 is the most ever for a right-handed hitter in the AL.

The Twins won the nightcap behind the six-hit pitching of rookie Dave Goltz and a three-run burst in the first inning.

California's Ken McMullen and Kansas City's Ed Kirkpatrick hit solo home runs in their opener before Lee Stanton doubled and came home on Sandy Alomar's two-out single in the ninth to lift the Angels to victory.

Bob Oliver, an ex-Royal, drove in two runs for the Angels in the nightcap with a single and homer to back Clyde Wright's six-hit pitching.

Heels Picked To Win

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — North Carolina looms as the Atlantic Coast Conference football team most likely to win the league crown again, if sportswriters preseason all-star picks are an indication.

The Atlantic Coast Sportswriters' committee of 17 chose top players for each offensive and defensive position and selected seven Tar Heels. Duke and N.C. State each got four spots on the 25-man squad.

In another poll — this one of ACC head coaches — released over the weekend, North Carolina ranked No. 1. The Greenville, (S.C.) News annual survey of coaches' opinion.

Clemson, Duke and Maryland, in that order, were given the best chance to keep North Carolina from its second title in a row.

Four Tar Heel players made the defensive squad and three were placed on offense. But the only player to be a unanimous choice was Duke defensive back Bill Hanenberg.

Here are the preseason all-ACC players, with votes in parentheses:

Offense

Ends-Dave Sullivan (12), Virginia; Pat Kenney (7) N.C. State; tackles Jerry Bain (11), North Carolina; Rich Druschel (9), N.C. State; guards-Willie Clayton (16), Duke; Ron Rusnak, (13) North Carolina; center-Bob Thorton (7), North Carolina; quarterback-Al Neville (10) Maryland; backs-Steve Jones (16), Duke; Willie Burden (9), N.C. State; Kent Merritt (9), Virginia; Ken Garrett (9), Wake Forest; kicking specialist-Eddie Seigler (11), Clemson.

Defense

Ends-Gene Brown (9), North Carolina; Chris Cowdrey (7) Maryland; tackles-Ed Newman (16), Duke; Eric Hyman (11), North Carolina; linebackers — Bruan Wall (13), N.C. State; Mike Mansfield, (10), North Carolina; John Hardin (10), Wake Forest; backs-Bill Hanenberg (17), Duke; Ben Anderson (16), Clemson; Lou Angelo (16), North Carolina; Bobby Johnson (8), Clemson; Gerard Mullins (8), Virginia.

Aaron Clouts Pair; Beats Ruth's Record

By ALEX SACHARE
Associated Press Sports Writer

Hank Aaron broke Babe Ruth's home run record Sunday.

No, not THAT record.

Aaron clubbed two home runs, including the game-winning shot in the 10th inning, lifting the Atlanta Braves to a 4-3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

His first homer was No. 660 for his illustrious career, the most ever hit by one player with one team. Ruth had held the record, having belted 659 with the New York Yankees.

But Aaron downplayed his achievement, preferring to look ahead—to that other record.

"This club record does not have too much significance for me," declared the 38-year-old slugger, who came up with the Milwaukee Braves in 1954.

"That 714 is still the big one to me—or maybe 715."

Ruth, of course, holds the major league homer record of 714, having hit 659 with the Yankees plus 55 more with the Boston Braves and Boston Red Sox.

Aaron's pair against the Reds boosted his season total to 22 and his career figure to 661, just 53 short of the Babe.

In other National League games, Pittsburgh swept a doubleheader from Montreal 8-0 and 7-2; Houston and San Francisco split a pair, the Astros taking the opener 7-3 and the Giants winning the nightcap 6-2; the New York Mets clubbed the Chicago Cubs 12-2, and Los Angeles blanked San Diego and St. Louis zipped Philadelphia, both by 6-0 scores.

In the American League, the New York Yankees swept a doubleheader from Milwaukee 3-0 and 6-4, the second game going 10 innings; the Chicago White Sox took two from Texas, 10-1 and 7-1; California swept Kansas City 4-3 and 3-2; Detroit and Cleveland split, the Indians winning the first game 2-1 and the Tigers the second 6-5; Oakland split a pair with Minnesota, the A's winning 6-3 in a 13-inning first game and the Twins winning the second 5-1, and Baltimore walloped Boston 11-2 in the lone American League single game.

Aaron hit a solo homer off starting pitcher Wayne Simpson, a right-hander, in the fourth to give Atlanta a 3-0 lead.

After the Reds tied the score in the sixth on singles by Joe Morgan, Bobby Tolan and Johnny Bench and Tony Perez' two-run double, Aaron hit his game-winner, a solo shot with two-out in the 10th off lefty reliever Don Gullett.

"It was a fast ball," the Hammer said. "All he threw me was fast balls, so I was looking for a fast ball on that pitch. Gullett was throwing the ball real good, but I just got around on the pitch."

Another slugger who "got around" on a pitch—or, more precisely, three pitches—was Pittsburgh's Willie Stargell.

Mike Torrez gave up Stargell's two first-game homers. Stargell smacked a grand-slam in the fourth to break up a scoreless tie, then added a solo homer in the eighth.

In the second game, he homered to lead off the second inning, erasing an early 1-0 Montreal lead. Richie Hebner, picking up his teammate's cue, blasted a three-run shot in the fourth for the Pirates.

Gomez was called "El Goofy" because of his sometimes-eccentric behavior on the mound — he'd occasionally stop a game to watch airplanes fly over Yankee Stadium. These actions, however, could not obscure a fancy 189-102 lifetime record.

Youngs, a flashy base runner for the old New York Giants, was described by Manager John McGraw as a mini-version of Ty Cobb. He produced a .322 lifetime batting average before dying of Bright's disease in 1927, a year after he completed his 10th season in the majors.

Harridge, who died last year, was president of the American League for almost 28 years — from 1931 to 1959. He guided the circuit through the trying depression years into the explosive 1950s and was one of the most successful of all baseball presidents.

Leonard and Gibson were stars of the old Negro League, an organization of blacks that existed prior to the breaking of the color line in the majors in 1947. They'll be inducted into a special wing of the Hall honoring players of that league.

After the morning induction ceremonies, the Yankees played the Dodgers in the anual Hall of Fame game.
tired prematurely from baseball because of an arthritic left arm. But before leaving the Los Angeles Dodgers, he established himself as the best pitcher in the game from 1962 through 1966.

Once he was able to harness his fastball and curve, the boy from Brooklyn dominated the National League. He led the senior circuit in earned run average those last five seasons, winning the Cy Young Award three times and Most Valuable Player once.

Koufax struck out 300 batters or more three times, including a record 382 in 1965, and pitched four no-hitters, also a record.

While Koufax was the golden arm of the Dodgers, Berra was a golden bat for the New York Yankees. The Yankee catcher had a modest .285 lifetime batting average, but was one of the game's best clutch hitters.

Five times he drove in 100 or more runs and in his 18-year career, he walloped 358 homers. He was also known as an instinctive catcher and peerless handler of pitchers.

Wynn had waited several years for his election to the Hall, despite an amazing career record of 300 victories with the Washington Senators, Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox.

He was frankly annoyed at having been bypassed earlier.

"I was disappointed the first year and disappointed the second year. The third year I just shrugged it off."

Wynn retired in 1963 after 23 years in the majors. A player becomes eligible for the Hall five years after retirement.

Gomez goes back considerably more years than Wynn. He was the stopper of the New York Yankee staff in the 1930s, pitching his best in the tough games.

Farm Tips

By Dr. J. W. Pou
Agricultural Specialist
Wachovia Bank & Trust Co., N.A.

A Tarheel tobacco grower pulled a slip of paper from his pocket and began reading.

"It says I can bring in 12 sheets of tobacco Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock."

"I should be able to get my tobacco unloaded and be on the way back home in 30 minutes. This is quite a change from the time I spent three days and two nights waiting to get my tobacco on the floor of a warehouse."

The ease with which this grower sold his tobacco last fall is the result of a long-debated and Slow-to-be-adopted practice called "scheduling," according to Tom Byrd, N. C. State University agricultural information specialist.

John Cyrus, tobacco marketing specialist for the N. C. Department of Agriculture, says scheduling has gained widest acceptance on the Eastern Belt. Up to 85 percent of the warehouses there had some form of scheduling last year.

Scheduling basically permits farmers to deliver their tobacco to the warehouse in an orderly manner.

Farmers ask the warehouse for a delivery time. They are told when to arrive with their tobacco, just as they would be told when they could see their doctor.

Under the traditional system, warehouses served farmers on a first-come-first-serve basis.

With the advent of loose-leaf selling and the usual drop in prices late in the season, the scramble to get tobacco on the warehouse floor has been hectic for a number of years.

The commissioners of agriculture in the five flue-cured states recommended last winter that warehouses adopt a scheduling system similar to the one worked out by Albert Graves, a U. S. Department of Agriculture engineer stationed at N. C. State University.

Other endorsements of scheduling have come from the Board of Governors of the Bright Belt Warehouse Association and the Flue-Cured Tobacco Marketing Committee.

Marketing Specialist Cyrus says that warehousemen who have set up "a real scheduling system and have stuck with it have gotten excellent results."

"I'd quit this business if I had to go back to the old system," said Leo Matthews of the Carolina Warehouse in Fuquay.

Matthews adopted Graves' scheduling system three days after the 1969 sales season began.

"We had to do something," he recalls. "The front lot was full of trucks waiting to be unloaded. The back lot was full of trucks and farmers were mad."

Since that time he said the warehouse had sold over 12 million pounds of tobacco, and not one pile of tobacco has set outside a single night.

Growers are given their delivery time about a week in advance. The schedule book is openly displayed for all farmers to see so that no one feels there is any accommodation of friends.

Matthews said that less than one-fourth of one percent of the farmers fail to show at their appointed time. Farmers who show up early must wait their turn as it would kill the system to do otherwise.

While scheduling makes for orderly delivery, the system still does not permit farmers to sell tobacco as fast as they would like. Growers are generally permitted to deliver about one tenth of their crop during each week of the 10-week marketing season.

"It's a matter of fairness," one grower explained. "I'm not selling all the tobacco that I want to sell, but I'm selling according to what my neighbor is selling. If the market drops, then I don't stand to lose any more than he does."

Farm Scene

By HENRY C. RIDDICK

The hot, muggy weather of the past couple of weeks has brought about extremely fast growth of peanuts, both vegetatively and reproductively. Should this type weather persist for any length of time, the crop could do a lot of catching up. During the month of August 1970, when the weather was uniformly hot for the entire month, this brought about a period of very fast frowth and maturity that resulted in an early harvest. Although we are not likely to have a repeat of this weather patten or early harvest, we could still end up with a good to excellent crop of ground peas if we get the proper climatic conditions.

With this fast growth and hot weather, it is important that peanut growers do not get behind in their leafspot control programs. On the market now are some very good chemicals for controlling this disease, but they will do no good unless they are applied to the crop.

In traveling through the county, I have observed several fields with considerable thrip and leafhopper damage. These insects can be easily controlled by the use of an insecticide.

Growers should mark September 6 on their calendars. On this date will be held the 20th Annual Peanut Field Day and membership meeting of the North Carolina Peanut Growers Association. The field day will be held at the Peanut Belt Research Station at Lewiston, North Carolina.

Shrine's Spring Has Run Dry

ISTANBUL (AP) — One of the most sacred springs in the Christian world has run dry. The spring is at the "House of the Virgin Mary," a tiny 1st-century house near Ephesus in southwestern Turkey, where some believe the Virgin spent her last days.

Until this summer the spring provided ample water for the thousands of pilgrims who visit it each year. This summer only a few drops trickle from the spring.

The Roman Catholic custodian of the shrine, which was visited a few years ago by Pope Paul VI, has forbidden pilgrims to fill bottles with the sacred water.

Widespread drought in the surrounding region is believed responsible for the failure of the spring.

Old Argument In A New Field

Madame "X" claims there are more frigid husbands then there are frigid wives. And she argues that most fat women get that way, due to impotent mates! This is like the argument as to which came first—the hen or the egg. Read the true facts below!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.

Case U-555: Madame "X" recently wrote a caustic letter to the Indianapolis STAR.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "is ill informed on the subjects of sex and women!

"Wives know that there are more frigid men than there are frigid women!

"He is correct in saying divorces start in the bedroom.

"But he places the blame on the wrong sex!

"Most fat women become that way because of impotent husbands.!!"

HEN VS. EGG

You have heard the old debate as to which came first—the hen or the egg.

Madame "X" transfers that argument into the boudior.

We physicians know that many husbands are platonic with their wives.

Yet can function easily with seductive sirens.

A fat, waddling wife may be a jolly homemaker.

But she reminds her mate of a good old motherly soul; not a siren!

Starting at the time of the honeymoon, the usual husband is far more erotically aggressive than is his bride.

But by the age of 40, he is often platonic!

Then his plump wife begins to show the perversity of the female.

For when he was excessively ardent, she tried to hold him at arms length and ration their love making.

But when he grew cold (due continual rebuffs), then she may grumble at his lack of romantic ardor.

If you corpulent wives try to pass the buck and blame your mates for your platonic marriage, try this prescription:

(1) Diet till you get back with 10 to 15 pounds of your honeymoon weight.

Then see how his libido zooms!

(2) Meanwhile , cut out your cigarettes!

For many supposedly platonic men tell us doctors they can't stand to kiss their wives because of the stale tobacco halitoses that kills any romantic notions!

(3) If you formerly obese women will thus slenderize and eliminate you halitoses, your husbands will revive in their ardor.

(4) That's especially true if you meanwhile employ seductive perfumes and wear diaphanous nighties.

(5) And learn how to disrobe SEDUCTIVELY!

It would be very profitable if a group of you fat, maternal dowagers would visit a local burlesque show, just to see the technique that professionals employ to arouse the male libido!

It is true that many men chemically emasculate themselves via cigarettes.

But that's due to the evasion and avoidance of boudoir romancing at home.

If you wives would focus on serving your mates more boudoir cheesecake, and spend less time on roast beef in the dining room, you'd not need to worry about impotent husbands.

The trouble with most of you women is the fact you are "dining room oriented" instead of boudoir oriented.

You concoct myriad recipes to tempt your mates to indulge in excessive gastric calories.

Yet you do little to make him ask for second helpings of boudoir calories!

So send for my booklet "How to Prevent Platonic Marriage," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope plus 25 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.) Copyright 1972.

Population Education

MANILA (UPI)—The majority of teachers in Antipolo, some 30 miles north-west of Manila, have suggested the inclusion of population education in the elementary school curriculum, a university researcher reports.

Mrs. Ester Gaudinez, Centro Escolar University researcher, said the teachers believe population education will prepare girls and boys for a healthier knowledge of their rule as responsible members of their families and community.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

BRIDGE QUIZ ANSWERS

Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠J 7 3 ♡A 8 7 4 ◇K 7 3 2 ♣A 3
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♡	Pass
2 ♡	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 ♡	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four hearts. Your hand has the value of 13 points and partner's return to hearts makes it a moral certainty that he has four trumps. You should contract for game.

Q. 2—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠A ♡A 6 4 ◇K J 7 5 ♣A Q 10 9 4
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	Pass	1 NT	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Two diamonds. Offensive prospects for this hand are outstanding, for when partner responds with one no trump to a club opening that shows a hand of about average high card strength (9-11 points) plus a probable club fit. Since your holding is all controls, a slam investigation should be begun. If your reverse in diamonds elicits a club preference you can cue bid the ace of hearts next to see partner's reaction.

Q. 3—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠A 4 3 ♡A K ◇K 9 2 ♣10 9 8 6 4
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	1 ♠	2 ◇	2 ♠
Pass	Pass	3 ♡	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—A drastic bid is in order at this time. While your hand started out with a value of 15 points, it has increased enormously as the bidding has developed, for you solidify both of partner's suits. The indicated call is, therefore, three spades, a cue bid forcing to game.

Q. 4—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠Q 10 7 2 ♡8 5 3 ◇K J ♣10 9 8 4
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ◇	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♡	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Two no trump. This may seem rather drastic with only six points in high cards, but partner has shown a very powerful hand with a value of at least 19 points, which gives the partnership a minimum of 25 points. It seems to us it is desirable to indicate possession of a partial stopper in clubs.

Q. 5—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠6 4 2 ♡A K J 7 5 ◇A Q 4 ♣8 3
The bidding has proceeded:

East	South

What do you bid?

A.—Pass. This hand tempts many players into a two heart overcall, which is fraught with danger. While prospects of game are remote at the present time, the risk of a sizable penalty is distinct. Beware of hands in which you have three losing cards in the suit with which your adversary has opened the bidding.

Q. 6—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠K Q J 10 9 4 ♡A 6 ◇A ♣A Q 9 3
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
2 ♠	Pass	3 ♣	Pass
4 NT	Pass	5 ♣	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Our choice is six spades. Since partner has made a positive response to your bid without the ace of clubs, he surely has either the king of diamonds or the king of hearts, or both. This solves the problem of disposing of the six of hearts, for surely he must have a club suit as good as five to the king-jack.

Q. 7—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠Q 10 8 6 4 ♡7 3 ◇6 2 ♣A J 8 4
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 ♡	2 ◇
Pass	Pass	Dble.	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Partner is forcing you to bid again at the level of two. He must, therefore, have a powerful holding. If you should respond with only two spades, he will have to proceed on the theory that your hand lacks offensive values. In order to avoid such construction, you should bid one spade more than necessary; in other words, three spades.

Q. 8 — Partner opens one spade and you hold:
♠K 7 2 ♡A J 8 4 ◇K Q 5 ♣A 6 4
What is your response?

A.—There is a response which announces to partner: "I have a 4-3-3-3 hand and could have opened with one no trump had I been the dealer. Take it from here: you know what I have." That bid is three no trump.

Huge Flood Is Receding

MANILA (AP) — The waters from the worst flood in Philippine history continued to recede today, but officials warned that the threat of cholera would increase unless the population "learned the basics of sanitation" as safe drinking water grew scarcer.

Five more deaths today from the disease pushed the total to 108 since July 1 and brought the toll in central Luzon and the Manila area to at least 435 dead from drowning, landslide or disease.

Health teams from the U.S. military, the United Nations and the Philippines have inoculated more than 200,000 persons against cholera, typhoid and dysentery, but Health Secretary Clemente Gatmaitan said 6 million need the shots.

After more than a month of torrential monsoon rains, the sun shone on Luzon for the second consecutive day, and the Weather Bureau predicted sun again today. U.S. and Philippine helicopters stepped up their airlift of relief supplies to the flood victims.

Mexico is divided into 32 political units: 29 states, the territorites of Baja California-Sur and Quintana Roo and the Federal District.

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, AUGUST 8, 1972

CARROLL RIGHTER'S horoscope

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: An interesting day for you now have magnanimous and expansive ideas, plus the ability to put them across. You also are able to tune in easily on whatever plan and procedure that is best for you in the days ahead. Make sure you compliment others for their loyal support.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) If you think on a higher plane you can become highly inspired and know what proper steps to take. Express your creative ideas first. Evening can be very happy from a personal standpoint.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You can handle property and family affairs most intelligently now, so get an early start. State your aims to bigwigs who can help you attain them. Pleasing mate and friends tonight is easy.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) State to associates what you want from them and they will easily go along with your ideas. Show that you are a very constructive thinker. You are able to pick the right words in correspondence.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Analyze your monetary position with others and do the work that makes your whole life more streamlined. Strive for more harmony at home and add to present happiness appreciably.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Go to a financier for the backing you want and need right now. Make sure you dress well. Attend a special social function in the evening and come in contact with people you want to meet.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Meet with a financial adviser and plan the future intelligently, and in minute detail. Improve your health so that you can accomplish more. Get rid of a bad habit you have. Be wise.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Try to set up a better set of conditions between you and friends by using diplomacy. A little favor here and there can be most helpful. Being willing to give more credit to others is wise.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Try to be as efficient as you can now when higher-ups are watching you and benefit much thereby. Getting into civic work may be difficult but will bring success soon. Keep active.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) The planets are favorable today and you can be dynamic and make the right impression on others. A fine personal philosophy of life can be enhanced now. It only needs a little change.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Study your position with others and see where to make improvements so that the future is brighter. Closest tie is most affectionate in the evening. Make fine plans for the future.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Make contacts with others now and gain their respect and achieve the results you want. Listen carefully to what others have to suggest. You can become more popular if you try.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You are confused about how to handle important work ahead of you, but if you talk to a higher-up, you will get the necessary help. Investigate worldly matters and store up knowledge.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those delightful young people who will see the world through rose-colored glasses, and therefore needs no prodding as to the imaginative. Direct education along the right lines to make the dreams come true, otherwise your youngsters will coast along in life doing little but daydream. Give the right religious training early. Don't neglect to give proper exercise.

Korea Harmony Drive Snagged

By K.C. Hwang
Associated Press Writer

SEOUL (AP) — A brief political honeymoon between the governments of North and South Korea appears to have ended in a deadlock over arrangements for negotiations to unite families separated by the division of the peninsula.

It was just July 4 that the two governments surprised their own people as well as the outside world by announcing agreement to work peacefully for reunification.

They even agreed to abandon abusive words while pursuing their diplomatic goals, and each stopped calling the other a puppet regime.

Two weeks later, after nearly a year of quibbling over technicalities, the two Korean Red Cross organizations agreed to get down to business on Aug. 5 and meet alternately in Seoul and Pyongyang, the Korean capitals. Then 10 days before the scheduled first session, the two sides hit a snag. Each insisted that the first session be held in its capital, then Pyongyang proposed that political and social leaders be invited to the first meetings in each capital.

The South reacted vehemently to this and called on the North not to attempt to inject politics into a humanitarian matter.

It was also reported that the North balked at Seoul's proposal to allow a large group of foreign and Korean news representatives to cover the talks.

Two private meetings failed to produce agreement, and the full-dress meeting has been postponed indefinitely

Premier Kim Jong-pil accused the North of trying to turn the negotiations into a political forum.

North Korea charged South Korea with delaying tactics.

Sources in Seoul believe North Korea is slowing the pace of Red Cross talks in an attempt to increase the chances of a resolution on Korea reaching the coming U.N. General Assembly.

Sponsored by Algeria and other pro-Pyongyang nations, the resolution calls for disbanding the U.N. watchdog committee on Korea.
