Kissinger, North Viet Spokesmen Confer Today

By GAYLORD SHAW
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) —

Presidential adviser Henry Kissinger is conducting another secret Vietnam negotiating session in Paris today with North Vietnamese officials, the White House said.

The meeting, 16th in a series of secret sessions Kissinger has conducted with Communist negotiators, is the third secret session in the past six weeks.

White House press secretary Ronald Ziegler made the brief announcement, saying the President's assistant for national security affairs was meeting today with Hanoi politburo member Le Duc Tho and the chairman of the North Vietnamese delegation, Xuan Thuy.

Ziegler turned aside all questions on the renewed secret talks, saying, "That's all I have to tell you."

Among the questions he declined to answer was one based on a Time magazine report that recent Kissinger-North Vietnamese meetings have prompted U.S. officials to seek a means by which Hanoi could be assured of the resignation of South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu.

The White House spokesman would not say when Kissinger left Washington, or when he would return. He did say, however, that Kissinger would go from Paris this evening to Laax, a small town near Zurich in Switzerland, where his parents are celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary.

He said Kissinger would leave Switzerland Tuesday evening, but would not say if he would return to Washington from there.

The new secret trip to Paris continues the pattern of private negotiating sessions between Kissinger and the North Vietnamese officials at the same time semi-public sessions are held.

There has been no apparent progress in the weekly semi-public sessions, and on the basis of the public record, Kissinger's private diplomacy seems to have produced little movement.

Kissinger's last trip to Paris was Aug. 1.

Eighty Per Cent

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Eighty per cent of both Democrats and Republicans are registered to vote, according to the latest Gallup Poll.

The poll, released Sunday, indicated a rise in the percentage of Democrats registered. A similar poll taken in the first three months of the year showed 80 per cent registration by Republicans, compared with 72 per cent by Democrats.

The Gallup organization said the poll was the first since it began "registration audits" in the mid-30s that showed the Democrats, the larger party, with as high a percentage of registrants as the GOP.

The figure is based on interviews with 4,149 persons over 18 during June, July and the first week of August.

The poll attributed the gains among the Democrats to sharp increases in registration of nonwhites and young voters.

The percentages of all white adults registered increased four points — from 71 per cent to 75 per cent — and the percentage of nonwhites registered increased eight points, from 66 per cent to 74 per cent.

The poll reported that it was the first time it had found nearly equal registration figures among whites and nonwhites.

Among those 18 to 29 years old, the poll found 54 per cent were registered, an increase from 47 per cent in the earlier sampling.

County Commissioners Have Several Political Promises To Consider

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Members of the North Carolina Association of County Commissioners can ponder several campaign promises made by political candidates during a two-day convention in Pinehurst.

Republican nominee for governor Jim Holshouser told the commissioners Saturday that if elected, he would provide free telephone service for local governments to call state agencies. In making his promise, Holshouser blasted Democratic gubernatorial nominee Skipper Bowles' proposal for a mobile "mini-Capitol."

In a talk Friday night, Bowles told the commissioners he would have a trailer staffed by his aides which would travel around the state to keep in touch with local governments and their problems.

Holshouser termed this proposal "pie-in-the-sky" and "cotton candy fluff."

The GOP nominee said a better solution would be an "in-WATS" telephone system for local governments to have immediate, free access to state agencies dealing with the majority of local problems.

Holshouser said this would get results "in a matter of minutes, rather than days," and would put a network of state resources, including a computer data retrieval system, "at your fingertips instantly."

He also said he plans to appoint "very shortly, a special commission to take a hard look at all phases of the property tax in North Carolina."

Another candidate, Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor Jim Hunt, told the commissioners he would recommend creation of an "ombudsman" for local government at the state level.

"It is the opinion of many informed people," Hunt said, "that a strong state office, responsible for liaison with local governments, is needed to bring together in one place the administration of the many federal-state programs that involved local governments."

Other speakers at the closing session included Gov. Bob Scott; Jesse Helms, Republican nominee for U.S. Senate; Rep. Nick Galifianakis, Democratic nominee for Senate, and Johnny Walker, Republican nominee for lieutenant governor.

Galifianakis told the commissioners "nothing could do more instrumental to the reinforcement of our local governments than the revenue sharing bill" pending in Congress. He estimated North Carolina would gain $35.8 million under changes the Senate recently made in the bill already approved by the House.

Helms told the commissioners not to be tricked by labels, noting that the "big daily newspapers have labeled me a conservative."

"Take a good look at those who are doing the labeling," Helms said. "George McGovern labels himself a moderate."

Scott said funds collected by the state for distribution to local governments have increased "rather dramatically" in the last four years. In 1968-69, he said, the state collected and distributed $44.9 million to local governments. By 1971-72, this had increased to $103.8 million.

Fresh Division Is Under Attack

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — U.S. B52

bombers today attacked units of a fresh North Vietnamese division apparently trying to cross the demilitarized zone to reinforce the Quang Tri Front. Far to the south, Saigon forces fanned out in an effort to ward off an assault on South Vietnam's southwestern borders.

Heavy fighting was reported in both areas, and the Saigon command claimed 113 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed. It announced 28 South Vietnamese troops killed and 71 wounded.

About 30 B52 bombers hit inside the DMZ and just above it, releasing 750 tons of explosives on North Vietnamese troops and supply stockpiles, U.S. sources said.

The Saigon command reported 61 North Vietnamese were killed Sunday in a series of fights from the edges of Quang Tri City to the western and southern flanks of Hue. South Vietnamese losses were put at 11 men killed and 43 wounded.

On the southern front, about 20 U.S. B52s struck at enemy troop concentrations between Saigon and the Cambodian border and also to the north and northwest of the South Vietnamese capital.

In Cambodia, 50 miles west of Saigon, South Vietnamese forces clashed in a day-long battle with the enemy near Kompong Rau.

A communique said 52 of the enemy were killed and two prisoners captured, while South Vietnamese losses were 14 men killed and 28 wounded.

Viet Cong terrorists also kept up their attacks to undermine the Saigon government's hold on the provinces.

Three Vietnamese were killed and 20 were wounded in a grenade attack on a militia office in Qui Nhon, on the central coast.

Between 2,000 and 10,000 tons of ammunition were destroyed in a sapper attack on the ammunition depot at Long Binh, 12 miles northeast of Saigon, the South Vietnamese said.

A series of explosions also ripped through two ammunition dumps outside Pleiku in the central highlands, but the cause was not immediately known, the Saigon Command said.

In the air war against North Vietnam, pilots from the carrier Saratoga reported that they attacked barracks and storage buildings Sunday at the Hoi Doi military complex—20 miles southwest of Haiphong, but smoke and darkness prevented them from making an accurate assessment of damage.

The U.S. Command also announced revised Vietnamese casualty figures for the crash Saturday of an Air Force C130 transport in the Mekong Delta. It said more than 24 Vietnamese were killed, instead of seven as announced earlier. The American casualty figures—six killed and five injured—remained unchanged.

Demonstrators Ousted Briefly At Miami Park

By TERRY RYAN
Associated Press Writer
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) —

Police today briefly forced about 50 demonstrators to abandon a makeshift campsite they had established in Flamingo Park in anticipation of the Republican National Convention.

The youthful protesters, who set up the camp at dusk Sunday, left peacefully when police ordered them out of the park before dawn. They were allowed to return about sunrise, when the park normally opens each day.

The demonstrators were camping without a permit from the City Council, which allowed several thousand protesters to sleep in the park during the Democratic National Convention in July. The council has scheduled a meeting today to decide whether they will be allowed to camp there during the Republican convention opening Aug. 21.

The demonstrators have said they will remain in the park, regardless of whether they receive the camping permit.

The protesters had been told Sunday they could remain in the park as long as they did not sleep there. Capt. Fred Kobelin of the Miami Beach police later said he ordered the park vacated "because those people actually were sleeping in the park."

"They were supposed to have some sort of meeting going on and as long as they had the meeting we didn't bother them," he said. "But about 3 a.m., practically all of them were sleeping so we ordered them out."

The demonstrators returned at daylight, bringing with them a breakfast of coffee and scrambled eggs with raisins. Within an hour of the earlier police order to disperse, the park was deserted.

Bus Hit 2 Cars

APEX, N.C. (AP) — Three members of a Raleigh family were killed late Sunday when a Greyhound bus crashed into two automobiles on U.S. 64 just north of Apex.

Twenty other persons were injured in the crash on the rain-slick highway.

The Highway Patrol identified the victims as Johnny Wesley Purkerson, 34, his wife, Polly, 30; and son, Jonny, 4.

State Trooper D. R. Leazer said the bus was traveling west and the two automobiles were approaching from the east. The bus apparently ran off the side of the road, then crossed the center line and struck the two cars head-on, one after the other, Leazer said.

The injured included bus driver Leroy Love, 25, who police said was thrown through the windshield, suffering a back injury. An investigation is continuing.

Nine of the bus passengers were Mexican students on an Experiment in International Living Tour of the United States. Police said they were all treated for minor injuries.

It took rescue workers nearly two hours to remove the dead from the wreckage of their car.

A member of the Apex Rescue Squad, Nicky Winstead, said the impact of the vehicles sounded like an explosion.

GOP Chairman In Plane Mishap

SWANSBORO, N.C. (AP) — State Republican party chairman Frank Rouse of Kinston ran into a four-foot wooden fence while landing his light plane near Swansboro Saturday night, but neither he nor his two passengers was injured.

Rouse said today he was on a personal trip to the coastal area at the time of the crack-up at the Star Hill Airport. He said he came into the runway too fast, and tried to apply power but couldn't clear the fence.

The GOP chairman said he didn't know the exact amount of damage caused to his Piper craft, but the landing gear and the wings were banged up.

Geneva Parleys Slated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Russia have decided to hold the second round of the strategic-arms-limitation talks (SALT) in Geneva, probably in October, sources have disclosed.

In Bern, the Swiss government announced today it has accepted a joint request by the Soviet Union and the United States that the talks be held in Geneva.

A Foreign Ministry statement mentioned no date for the opening of SALT II.

A formal announcement is expected in Washington and Moscow today.

Plans for the second phase of the bilateral disarmament talks came as the first-phase interim agreement neared final approval in the U.S. Congress.

The House and Senate are expected to vote this week on a five-year moratorium on offensive missiles. A defensive-missile treaty was approved by the Senate on Aug. 3.

The chief U.S. negotiator, Gerard C. Smith, has said the second-phase talks will consider limitations on bombers and forward-base systems and a more precise and permanent limitation on missiles.

Administration spokesmen, including Smith, have said they would not accept the first-phase interim agreement on missiles as a permanent solution.

The SALT talks started in the fall of 1969 with meetings held alternately in Helsinki and Vienna. The United States felt the arrangement was both cumbersome and costly and considers Geneva a better location.

The first-phase agreements were announced during President Nixon's trip to Moscow on May 26. While the offensive-missile moratorium is only an interim agreement, Nixon wants Congress to act on it before the second round of talks begins.

The United States and the Soviet Union are limited under the interim agreement to those offensive missiles already built or under construction as of July 1. The defensive treaty limits each country to two antiballistic-missile defense systems, one around the capital city and the second at an offensive-missile site.

Claims POW Terms Await

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Former Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark said Sunday night that he had "both written and verbal assurances" from North Vietnamese leaders that American prisoners of war will be released "when we stop this senseless bombing and get on with the business of peace."

He did not elaborate except to say that the North Vietnamese foreign minister was among those who gave him the assurances.

Clark, returning from a trip to North Vietnam, described the American prisoners of war he saw there as "strong and good men who want to come home."

He said the treatment of POWs he saw was "very humane and very good under the circumstances."

Arriving here on a flight Sunday night from Honolulu, Clark met with newsmen briefly amid tight security provided by airport police. He scheduled a news conference for Monday morning.

Clark touched upon his accusations made earlier during stopovers on the way back to the United States that he had seen extensive damage from U.S. bombing raids and said, "As an American, I am disturbed at the number of schools, churches, little villages and people," allegedly destroyed by U.S. bombs.

Asked whether he expected any trouble as a result of his trip, Clark said he was "not the least concerned with what the new Justice Department might do."

Arrested 22 In Drugs Roundup

ATLANTIC BEACH, N.C. (AP) — Three months of undercover work resulted in the arrest over the weekend of 22 persons on drug charges in a four-city area, police reported.

Fourteen were arrested at Atlantic Beach, four in the Morehead City area, three at New Bern and one in Kinston.

"You couldn't buy an aspirin here Sunday," said Atlantic Beach Police Chief W. W. Moore. "We made a big dent in the drug business on Atlantic Beach."

Moore said those arrested ranged in age from 17 to the lower 20s.

He said his department had received harassing phone calls and abuse from youths at the beach following the arrests Saturday and Sunday.

Two cars were impounded in the raids. Police said the charges were distributing drugs and possession of drugs with intent to distribute. The drugs included marijuana, hashish, LSD and amphetamines.

Officers said about 21 warrants remain to be served.

Pay Board, Price Commission Meet Today On Rules Decision

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) —

The Pay Board appears to be leaning toward retaining its 5.5-percent wage standard for the time being, even though a review of the ceiling is under way.

Nixon administration officials privately doubt there'll be any change in the figure up or down anytime soon. For the record, they say the decision is up to the board.

The board meets jointly with the Price Commission today in a session that probably will trigger debate on changing the standard. Spokesmen emphasize a decision is not likely soon.

Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson last week said the board has taken a look at the 5.5-per-cent standard and feels it can "meet the President's objective without changing that."

The arguments for keeping the standard at the present level center around the difficulties of next year's big round of labor negotiations.

"All the heavy hitters are up" is the way one member described the situation. Contracts in a number of the Organized labor, which now is felt by some insiders to be tacitly accepting the wage-price-control system, might actively fight the program if the standard were lowered.

The board, as it has done from the start, is considering public acceptance, apparently feeling that too much tightening could well cause an outbreak of strikes, damaging the economic recovery.

Another argument against changing the standard is that the price picture, although greatly improved from a year ago, is still not good enough to justify lowering the figure. Of particular disappointment is the continued rise in wholesale prices, which probably will be translated into higher consumer prices in the next several months.

The Pay Board's standard assumes a 2.5-per-cent price rise and a 3-per-cent gain in productivity—worker output per man hour. Productivity rose 6 per cent in the second quarter, but the seven-member board appears inclined to await figures for later months. For the year, the productivity gain is expected to be closer to 4.5 per cent.

The 5.5-per-cent wage figure was adopted last year for the Phase 2 economic program that began Nov. 14.

The Price Commission, meantime, is continuing its emphasis on enforcing its profitmargin rules requiring that all price increases be justified by costs. The basic allowable cost is wages, but a company can't claim more than the 5.5-percent Pay Board standard unless specifically approved by the board.

Other permissible costs, within limits, can be used to justify price increases, such as for pollution control, general and administrative costs, for research and development, and interest on long-term debt.

Couple Exchanges Vows In Saturday Ceremony

BREVARD — Miss Carolyn Frances Ramsey and Robert Richard Musselwhite II were united in marriage Saturday, at three o'clock in the afternoon at the St. Philips Episcopal Church here.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earle Gene Ramsey of Brevard. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Charles Musselwhite, of Winterville, and the late Mr. Musselwhite.

The Rev. Phillip Thomas, pastor, and the Rev. Frederick Valentine, former pastor, of Cary, officiated at the ceremony.

Wedding music was presented by Douglas Wauchope of Brevard.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a long white gown of bridal crepe with a self-train yoke of re-embroidered lace and long full chiffon sleeves. Her floor length mantilla of bridal illusion was bordered with hand-made French re-embroidered lace. Both the gown and veil were made by the bride. She carried a bouquet of daisies and baby's breath.

Mrs. Charles R. Saleeby of Wrightsville Beach, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a long gown of pastel floral chiffon over blue with an empire waist and butterfly sleeves and a picture hat of beige circles with matching organdy band. She carried a bouquet of mixed flowers in blues and pinks.

Miss Diane R. Fletcher of Chapel Hill, cousin of the bride was maid of honor. Miss Bonnie Harris of Accokeek, Md., cousin of the bridegroom, was flower girl.

MRS. ROBERT RICHARD MUSSELWHITE II

Their attire was the same as the matron of honor, except pink in color.

Kenneth Dewes Jr. of Winterville was best man. Ushers were John Wilson Brewer and Michael William Dale, both of Burlington.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Colonial Inn, Brevard. Those assisting with the reception were Miss Judith Fletcher, cousin of the bride, of St. Augustine, Fla., Mrs. John Woods, sister of the bridegroom, of Winterville, Miss Sarah Musselwhite, sister of the bridegroom, of Winterville, Miss Kathy McGuire, of West Jefferson, Mrs. Edward Mitchum and Mrs. Keth Galloway, both of Brevard.

The couple plan to reside in Carrboro.

The bride is a rising senior at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, majoring in English. The bridegroom is a rising senior at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, majoring in political science.

Croom Family Reunion Planned

KINSTON — About 300 persons are expected to assemble at the Croom Meeting House Sunday, Aug. 20, for the 42nd Croom reunion.

The Croom family has been traced back to Ireland by Mrs. Doris C. Outlaw as outlined in her book "The Croom Family," which will be on display this year, along with old pictures, coat of arms and other items of interest.

The Croom Meeting House is over a 100 years old. Once a church pastored by the Rev. Joseph R. Croom, the Meeting House contains its original furnishings and is owned by the Croom family. It is located about eight miles southwest of Kinston at Sandy Bottom.

The morning program will begin at 11 a.m. with special music by the Richard Croom family, followed by a devotional service by Norman Smith and special music by Shirley Croom. A memorial service will be held with music by the Webb Methodist Adult Choir.

B. W. Croom will recognize the oldest and youngest attending and those traveling the greatest distance to attend. A business meeting and committee reports will conclude the morning session.

Those attending are asked to bring a picnic or covered-dish dinner for lunch which will begin at 12:30 p.m. Beginning at 2 p.m., the group will assemble for the showing of slides from Ireland where the early Croom family resided.

Man Takes Assault, Then Proposes

HAMBURG, West Germany (WNS) — Adolf Bergmann, 32, proposed marriage to Gertrud Metz, 31, the day after she hit him over the head with a beer bottle and blackened both his eyes. "She had a little to much to drink and mistook me for the ex-husband whom she is trying to forget," he explained. "The proof that she loves me is in the fact that she is now nursing me back to health. She has also booked us a honeymoon in Venice and has paid for it in advance with her own savings."

Homemaker's Haven By Evelyn Spangler Pitt Home Agent

"Call the Bay Sitter!"

How do you feel when your teenager goes off to babysit? Do you worry about her abilities to cope with an emergency? Does she know what to do if the house catches on fire? Or if there is a prowler or prank telephone call? Does she know how she will get back home and at what time? These are questions every parent of a baby sitter should ask.

And what about those of you who hire the baby sitter! You should ask the above questions plus many more. Does the sitter know how to deal with children? Does she know how to care for their physical needs? Is she mature, responsible, friendly, and understanding?

We at the Pitt County Extension Service feel that there is a real need for education and training in the care of small children — not only for the sake of the child, but also for the sake of the baby sitter, her parents, and the parent-employer. For this reason, we are offering a one-day course in baby sitting geared to the 12 to 16 year-old. The program will include responsibilities of the sitter, the sitter's parents, and the parent-employers; getting along with children; physical care of children; safety and emergency tips; and play activities.

The Greenville Police Department, and the Greenville Fire Department, and the Pitt County Health Department will assist me in teaching this course. Those attending the class will receive a baby sitting manual and a certificate.

So tell your teenagers; call your baby sitter; encourage them to take this course. It will be offered Wednesday, August 16, from 9:30 a.m. until about 3:00 p.m. at the Extension Office on the corner of Third and Greene Streets (beside Planters National Bank). Each person should bring a bag lunch and 25 cents for a drink and craft materials. (Or bring a drink and just 5 cents for the craft materials.) Please call our office (758-1196) to pre-register.

Permanently set wrinkles occur often in polyesters when "Delicate" or "Permanent Press" cycles on washing machines and dryers are not used. A method that may be used to try and remove the wrinkles are:

1. Recycle by washing the wrinkled garment through the washing machine.
2. Remove the garment from the washing machine immediately after the total cycle is completed. Do not allow the garment to remain in the washing machine.
3. Place the garment into the dryer with two or three wringing wet terry towels. Set your dryer on the lowest heat possible.
4. Remove the garment before the drying cycle is completed. Immediately hang the garment up in as wrinkle free state as possible; let dry completely.

Herring-Malloy Vows Solemnized

ROBERSONVILLE — Miss Betty Jean Malloy and Cecil Neal Herring were united in marriage Sunday at four o'clock in the afternoon in the Hickory Grove Free Will Baptist Church. The Rev. Hubert Burress officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Addison Malloy Sr. of Robersonville. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Herring of Fremont.

The nuptial vows were spoken before a background of palm arrangements of jade greenery with a fifteen branch candelabra and nine branch tree candelabra on either side. Baskets of white gladioli, mums and pom poms were also used. A brass prie-dieu with a candelabra on each side decorated the altar. The aisle was carpeted with white and pews were marked with white ribbons and wedding bells.

A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Robert Whitehurst, pianist, and Mrs. Sam Keel soloists, who sang "How Do I Love Thee," "Because" and the "Wedding Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an empire A-line gown of organza and chantilly lace. The gown was fashioned with a high neckline, chantilly lace bodice accented with pearls and long sleeves tapered at the hands. The skirt was enhanced with lace appliques and lace borders around the hemline.

She wore a long mantilla, edged with matching lace, flowing chapel length. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of miniature white carnations and roses centered with a white orchid.

Miss Susan Ford of Ayden cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a formal length lavender gown styled with a high collar, empire waistline and short puffed sleeves. The waistline was accented with a lavender velvet ribbon belt. She wore a lavender hat accented with velvet ribbon and carried an arm bouquet of Forever Yours roses.

Miss Shirley Whichard of Bethel, Miss Debbie Manning and Miss June Whitehurst of Robersonville, and Mrs. Sylvia Malloy of Greenville, sister-in-law of the bride, were bridesmaids. Their gowns and headpieces in pastel colors were styled identical to that of the maid of honor. They carried arm bouquets of Forever Yours roses.

The father of the bridegroom was best man. Ushers were Ronnie Boque of Fremont, cousin of the bridegroom, Clayton Malloy, brother of the bride, Allen Moye and Dal Morton, all of Greenville.

Mrs. Malloy, mother of the bride, chose a blue polyester knit princess styled dress with matching accessories. Mrs. Herring, mother of the bridegroom, wore a navy blue polyester dress with matching accessories. Both mothers wore white carnation corsages.

The grandmother and sister of the bridegroom and sister of the bride were each presented white carnation corsages.

The bride is a graduate of Bethel High School and is a senior at East Carolina University majoring in speech pathology. The bridegroom is a graduate of Charles B. Aycock High School and Wayne Community College. He attended North Carolina State University and is now employed by Kwik Pik Markets, Inc.

After a wedding trip to Florida and Georgia, the couple will reside in Greenville.

Mrs. Mary Jenkins directed the wedding.

After Rehearsal Party Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Malloy Sr. entertained at their home in Robersonville for members of the Herring-Malloy wedding party following the rehearsal Saturday night.

Guests included members of the wedding party, relatives, friends and out-of-town guests.

The bride's aunt, Miss Delores Ford, of Bethel served the cake after the bride and bridegroom cut the first slice. Mrs. John Nelson of Robersonville, aunt of the bride, poured punch.

Guests were greeted by the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Campen, of Goldsboro.

The refreshment table was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with white gladioli, pom poms, carnations and candelabra on each side.

Throughout the house were arrangements of summer flowers.

The bride and bridegroom presented members of their wedding party with a gift of jewelry.

On Wednesday, the bridal couple was entertained at a dinner party at the home of the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Robert O. Campen, of Goldsboro.

The house was decorated with wedding bells and lily-of-the-valley. The dinner table was covered with a white Irish linen cloth and centered with silver candelabra with a miniature bride and bridegroom, wedding bells, lily-of-the-valley, doves and white tapers.

The honored couple was remembered with gifts.

Wife Tells Of Their Realistic Approach

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Charles Tilton—N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I read a letter in your column from a man who had been happily married for 26 years. He told how they "worked" at it.

He said his wife always got up first, made up her face and served him breakfast in a fresh dress. And when he came home in the evening she was always there to greet him with her hair combed, makeup retouched and wearing something glamorous.

Well, all marriages aren't the same. My husband declares that if he came home and didn't see me with a smudge on my nose and flour on my apron he'd wonder what I'd been doing all day.

Like most married folks, we can't afford a nurse, chauffeur and cook. That's MY job. My husband has his job, too, which causes him to get pretty grimy, but I don't expect him to shower, shave and put on clean clothes before he presents himself to me in the evening.

Some husbands, including mine, come home to find their wives aren't even there. They're out collecting for the Cancer Fund, or United Crusade, or working as a hospital volunteer.

We work at our marriage, too, but we don't necessarily work at being glamorous.

HAPPILY MARRIED, TOO

DEAR HAPPILY: Thanks for a realistic look at the other side of the coin.

DEAR ABBY: I have a reoccurring dream that bothers me. Can you possibly explain it?

I see myself as a pregnant nun roller skating. Some boy knocks me down. I then yell that I'm about to give birth and I want the Pope. Some kind lady helps me and the crowd keeps yelling, "You can't be pregnant, you're a nun!"

I am a 20-year-old girl, single and Catholic. I am not, and never have been pregnant, and I don't even like roller skating. Please help me.

When I told a priest about my dream, he laughed. It may sound silly, but I wonder if I am losing my mind, or something to that effect. Please give me some reason for my dream.

WICHITA, KAS.

DEAR WICHITA: When I showed your letter to the psychiatrist whom I felt best competent to analyze your dream, he laughed, too. But he said it's impossible to accurately interpret such a dream without knowing more about the dreamer. In any case, almost everyone has wild dreams and reoccurring ones, so don't worry about yours.

DEAR ABBY: Glad you told that 49-year-old woman who was worried about getting pregnant not to take any foolish chances. A few years ago I read in the newspaper that a 72-year-old Mexican woman gave birth to a baby! The item stated that down there they eat some kind of weed that keeps the women fertile, so 72 is not too late for them.

M. B.

DEAR M. B.: My medical authorities doubt the validity of that item. Just because something was "reported" in the newspaper doesn't necessarily mean it's true.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "INNOCENT, BUT NOT BELIEVED:" The next time someone says, "I'll tell you something very confidential if you promise not to repeat it,"—YOU say, "Please don't tell me. I'd rather not be suspect if the word gets out."

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L. A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Functionalism

The modern housewife wants beautiful things in her home, but she demands that they serve a useful purpose and can be cared for easily. In this manner they earn their way in the space-saving room decor which is so important these last few years. Old-fashioned roomful of same design furniture is a thing of the past. # Recreation Tax Awaits Voters

The City Council voted Thursday night to call a referendum for Sept. 30 on adding four cents per $100 valuation to the city tax to be used for swimming pool and other capital improvements construction.

The vote came about after Councilman Bill Dansey last month proposed a tax for construction of three pools. This brought protests from the Recreation Commission which favored a pool, but as a part of a total program approach to building recreational facilities.

In a letter to the council, Recreation Chairman Sidney Caraway said the commission "would endorse putting to the people a vote for a tax with the purpose of constructing major recreation facilities for a total program. The construction of a swimming pool would be given the top priority."

Caraway saw the need for arts and crafts, physical fitness centers, baseball field, tennis courts; facilities for teenagers and senior citizens alike.

"The Recreation Commission is charged with providing facilities for everyone; therefore, we must at all times consider a total program approach," Caraway wrote. "We must never stray from this approach when considering a new undertaking."

The proposal which the council voted to put before the voters appears to us to meet the desires of the Recreation Commission.

Voting a continuing tax for capital improvements seems to us to be a new approach for Greenville. In the past capital improvements have been carried out in the normal budget, or bonds have been voted to be paid off by a special tax.

This tax will be earmarked for recreational capital improvements. Still it has the desirable feature of providing a pay-as-we-go system of financing the facilities we need for recreation. Swimming pools would have priority but other facilities which the Recreation Commission feels are needed can be provided through the years.

All things considered, it looks like a good plan to us and we hope that the voters will approve the additional tax at the September referendum.

Airport Levy Interest Grows

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH — Major airports in North Carolina are eyeing with interest the possibility of a levy on passengers going through the turnstiles.

One is ready to begin imposing the tax on Sept. 1. Three others are receptive to the idea in varying degrees, but will wait for legal and are clearly answered. "I don't think it is oppressive as long as the charge isn't too much," said Mayor Richard A. Wood. Its advantage, he added, would be to shift a greater share of the cost of operating a municipal, airport to those who use it. D.," said Councilman Joe D.

Opinion is divided on the Charlotte City Council. Some members shy away from the boarding tax as too controversial, and look instead to higher landing fees as a means of increasing revenue at Douglas Municipal Airport.

"It's clear that the public doesn't like the boarding fee idea," said Councilman Joe D. Withrow. On the other hand, Councilman James D. McDuffie said it has merit. "We can't let the opportunity pass by just because the airlines are lobbying against it," he said.

Agreement in principle with the levy was expressed by Executive Director Roger Sekadlo of the Greensboro-High Point-Winston-Salem Airport Authority which operates Friendship Airport serving the area. It is fair and a rich potential source of income, he said.

Tax Is Misnomer
Tax is a misnomer, said Sekadlo. It is more accurately described as a "passenger use charge" since it falls on those who benefit from the service, he explained.

Sekadlo said it offers prompt relief to those airports facing financial crisis. Friendship is not at that point, and can afford a wait-and-see attitude, he said.

Long-range, there should be a thorough study of financial needs of the nation's airports, Sekadlo added.

The Raleigh-Durham Airport, balked by voter refusals on bond issues for the purpose, is looking to the boarding tax as the means of financing improvements. The immediate use would be to match federal funds for a badly needed second runway, costing some $28 million, Manager Boyd said.

The airport must have the runway to accommodate new, larger airliners, he explained. Moreover, because of current maintenance problems on the existing runway any deterioration could "easily shut down the airport for six months," Boyd said.

As Sept. 1 approaches, the airport is keeping a flexible stance and a close eye on Congress. It will be prepared to begin collecting the fee, if the way is clear, or postpone implementation if that becomes necessary.

legislative clearance before a decision.

Meanwhile, airlines are engaged in a massive lobbying effort in Washington to block the local fees.

The Raleigh-Durham Airport is prepared to begin collecting $2 from each boarding passenger next month. Officials expect the new source of revenue to yield something like $1 3/4 million per year.

The alternative to the passenger charge is a heavier burden on the local property tax, said Airport Manager Henry Boyd. It makes sense, he argued, for those who use the airport to share its cost with the local property owners who may not.

N.C. Congressmen Contacted
Boyd has been busy rousing Wake and Durham county elected officials to enlist Tar Heel Congressmen in opposition to the airlines' attempt to close the door opened last spring by a U.S. Supreme Court decision which ruled valid boarding taxes in several cities.

At the moment, the situation is muddled and the eventual outcome in doubt. The House last week put off a vote on an 18-month moratorium on the tax. A Senate committee has a bill to ban it altogether, accompanied by an increase in federal aid to airports.

Around the country, 19 airports are presently collecting such a tax and 12 more municipal governments have indicated they are considering joining the trend. While Raleigh-Durham has its collection booth set to open for business, airports elsewhere in this state are giving the boarding tax proposition more thought.

Asheville Will Wait
The consensus of the Asheville City Council was that serious consideration will be given for such a tax at the airport there once all questions about its validity

Election Day Holiday Won't Increase Votes

The Senate has voted to make election day, starting this Nov. 7, a national holiday.

The idea is that people, being off that day, will find it easy to vote. Unfortunately, people being off that day will also find it easy to take trips which will carry them away from their polling places.

The proposal, has gone to the House for action and it should be defeated.

The Politics Of Defense

By ROBERT EVANS and ROWLAND NOVAK
WASHINGTON — As the Senate neared a decision late last month on the new fleet of missile-firing Trident submarines, President Nixon was confronted with a policy decision of profound importance for both national security and domestic politics.

To prevent the Senate from cutting Trident production money, Mr. Nixon desperately needed help from Democratic Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, normally energetic for defense spending but less than enthusiastic about Trident. To get Jackson's support, it was made clear, the White House ought to go along with his hard-line amendment to the U.S.-Soviet nuclear arms agreement. But Jackson's language, White House political operatives feared, might smudge Nixon's image as peace President.

The President chose the hard line. By accepting the Jackson language, he insured approval of the Trident. But beyond Trident, Mr. Nixon was making clear he wanted no real break with the Senate's pro-defense spending bloc.

That, indeed, was a major goal of the bipartisan group supporting the Jackson amendment. Whether the amendment directly affects the second phase of strategic arms limitations talks (SALT) as Jackson intends is subject to debate. But there is no doubt Mr. Nixon has had to choose between friends and enemies in the Senate.

After Mr. Nixon returned from Moscow June 1 with his first-phase SALT agreement, there was resentment inside the Senate's defense bloc that he was relying too much on his enemies. The sight of Republican Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois (a consistent opponent of Nixon defense programs) serving on national television as defender of the SALT agreement did not sit well in the Senate Republican cloakroom.

Conservative Republicans felt Mr. Nixon had relied on them for the grimy business of passing defense projects but now ignored their wishes while his foes on defense collaborated with him on arms control.

Republican Senators (including Sen. Gordon Allott of Colorado, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee) were eagerly receptive when Jackson proposed an amendment to the Senate resolution approving the nuclear arms agreement. His amendment suggested the treaty would be abrogated if the Soviet Union took advantage of the agreement to build nuclear weapons threatening the U.S. ability to survive.

The first White House reaction was negative. Besides worrying about the Kremlin's reaction, Mr. Nixon's national security officials told Republican Senators the President's political advisers wanted no hawks-vs-doves Senate confrontation over SALT. One top Nixon political operative was quoted as saying such a fight would keep the President's Moscow trip from remaining "an unblemished political plus."

The White House mood perceptibly changed, however, when it considered the seriousness of the Senate drive against Trident. Some Republicans backing

TRAGIC DECISIONS
There is such a thing as shutting the door against life.

The Bible had a great deal to say about closed doors. Jesus said, "I am the door; by me, if any man enter in, he shall be saved." In the Parable of the Wise and Foolish Virgins we have the picture of the door being shut. Jesus spoke about the closed door in terms which we may well ponder with deep anxiety. There is such a thing as shutting the door on life. There is such a thing as saying No with such finality that thereafter we mean it and stick by it as long as we live.

Christianity is the religion of the open door. It is an inviting religion. In it we see God extending his hands. Through the words of Jesus we hear a gracious invitation to enter — into larger life, into deeper faithfulness, into the heavenly type of life here on earth, and into heaven itself after death.

We should ponder the seriousness of shutting doors. People shut doors when they say No to love. They shut doors when they reject what is right and accept what is evil. They shut doors when they set themselves to hating someone and go on with their hating through the years. They shut the door when they give way to their passions with abandon and thrust God and his demands for righteousness aside.

It is a fearful thing ever to shut a door with finality. Leave the door open to new truth, to forgiveness, to love — to God.

The Plans For Fischer

WASHINGTON — As reported in this column several weeks ago, President Nixon planned to telephone Bobby Fischer and invite him to the White House for dinner. The White House has just announced that the President intends to go ahead with this plan whether Fischer wins or loses his championship match with Boris Spassky. It turns out that this is not just a friendly invitation by a President to an American chess personality. Mr. Nixon has definite plans for Fischer which I can reveal today. The President has decided to ask Fischer to take over the Paris peace talks with the North Vietnamese. Since Fischer has driven everyone in Iceland crazy, the President feels he can do the same thing in Paris. This is the President's game plan:

First, he will announce that he is sending Fischer to Paris on Sept. 1. All the reporters will be waiting for him at Andrews Air Force Base to take off in the President's plane. No Fischer.

The newsmen find him in his hotel room. His lawyer announces Fischer will not go to Paris to meet with the North Vietnamese unless the French, who are the hosts to the peace talks, pay him $100,000 to attend the conference. Cables go back and forth. The North Vietnamese are waiting at the table, prepared with a series of attacks on the Americans, but there is no one to deliver them to. They win by default, but it's a hollow victory, and it is obvious they are unnerved by the events.

Fischer is finally persuaded to go to Paris, and another meeting is set up with the North Vietnamese. They arrive exactly at 10:30 a.m., the time agreed upon by both parties. Fischer shows up at noon.

The North Vietnamese are agitated by this discourtesy, and they launch into a diatribe against the United States. Fischer ignores them and complains about the shape of the table and the chairs. He says he cannot conduct negotiations unless a new table and chairs are built to his specifications. He also tells the French he cannot continue the peace talks unless the lighting is changed.

The North Vietnamese are frothing with rage. They haven't had a chance to deliver their attacks on the Americans. They decide to

Other Editors Say A 'Technical Foul'

(Jacksonville Daily News)
Those of you who have been thinking about taking up a collection for Wilt Chamberlain can relax.

Chamberlain, as you'll recall, is the Los Angeles Lakers' 7-1 center who has been scraping along on a salary of a mere $250,000 a year, which is barely enough to keep a man his size in T-shirts let alone the timber wolf fur he needs to carpet his $1.5 million personal castle.

But now, thanks to the recent Cost of Living Council ruling that exempts professional athletes from the wage freeze, Chamberlain has told the Lakers he thinks his multi-year $250,000 contract ought to be more generous. This came not long after the Lakers' Jerry West signed a two-year contract at $300,000 a year.

There are those, however, who may wonder why it is that Chamberlain should be permitted a raise of, say, $50,000 a year, when the average working person may well be refused a boost of $250 a year.

The Cost of Living Council said that restricting athletes' wages would have involved too complex a system of accounting, that the athletes have such a short earning life that freezing their wages now would be unfair and that the economic impact of exempting them from controls would only be a trifle, anyhow. The answer to the first argument is easy: It is the Council's business to figure out a way to police wage increases and it seems unlikely that it could not have worked out a reasonably equitable plan if it had tried.

Secondly, everyone has a relatively short earning life. Given the progressive income tax and the fact that most athletes make ultracomfortable livings in the first place it is probable that the extra $10,000 or $25,000 or $50,000 they may receive does not mean any more to them than that $250 might to a less prosperous employee.

Finally, the economic impact of controlling athletes' wages would be far less than the symbolic one. Raising the wages of workers in an industry, except perhaps the giant ones like the trucking and auto industries, would have a relatively insignificant effect on the economy. But if athletes can have unlimited raises, why not teachers or mechanics or postmen or secretaries?

The Cost of Living Council's ruling was unfair. It should be rescinded.

Life's Little Quirks

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Some driving instructors say that it is easier to teach women than men to drive. The women, they say, are more amenable to discipline and willing to admit their inexperience — and also have less of a know-it-all attitude than men.

Early California Indians had a lovely legend about butterflies. It held that swarms of the beautiful insects arrived in autumn to wait for the souls of people who would die during the winter. Then, when spring came, the butterflies would escort the departed souls to a restful island far across the Pacific Ocean.

But other kinds of insects aren't so solicitous about the welfare of man. Each year, according to the National Geographic Society, they damage more than enough timber to build 1,330,000 homes.

Doughnut dunking is the latest American food fad taken up by the Japanese. A U.S. doughnut chain is planning to build 100 shops throughout the island kingdom by 1975.

A recent survey showed that the health of most Americans, particularly those with incomes above $7,500 a year, improved during the second half of the 1960-70 decade, but the health of the poor got worse.

Long-lived: What can you do to help yourself live to be 100 or more? A study of some of America's 7,000 centenarians showed that many had had health habits, some slept a lot, some slept little, some ate sparsely and some overate regularly. But most seemed to share these traits: an easy-going disposition, a quick sense of humor, and the desire to keep as busy as possible, both physically and mentally.

Short-lived: But in any case, your chances for a long life are better at birth than those of the blue crab. Only five out of every million of these creatures lives to reach maturity.

Exit lines: "I am dying with the help of too many physicians," complained Alexander the Great. Anaxagoras, the philosopher schoolteacher said, "Give the boys a holiday." Archimedes told the impatient Roman soldier who slew him, "Wait till I have finished my problem." George Washington said, "It is well, I die hard, but am not afraid to go."

It was Blaise Pascal who observed, "All the troubles of man come from his not knowing how to sit still."

Institutions Adjust To Change

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Do you remember when your life insurance agent warned you, like a parent advising a child, not to invest in securities but to put your funds in life insurance instead?

"There's no risk in life insurance," he'd say, "but you could lose everything you put into stocks. We're selling security. Insurance pays you a fixed dollar, guaranteed no matter what the condition of the economy."

Well, a couple of weeks ago Aetna Life & Casualty, one of the largest, boasted of selling a policy that promises not a fixed return but one based on the condition of the economy, as reflected by stock prices.

You don't need a long memory to remember when everything about your home mortgage payments was fixed either, because that's the way most of them still are. You pay the same amount each month for a stated number of years.

Well, that also is changing. A plan is now being considered by regulatory officials that would permit savings and loan associations to vary the monthly payments or the length of the loan, based on changes in the economy.

These are just two of a growing number of instances that show America's changing view of the dollar. Once we tried to convince ourselves that a dollar is a dollar. Now we know it can be a half-dollar too.

Purchases of life insurance, for example, found that, as stated in the contract, they were paid $10,000 at age 65. But they found too that buying power was probably half what it was when the policy was purchased.

It worked the other way too. Lenders found they were locked into mortgages for 20 or 30 years at 5 per cent interest when they could easily have obtained 8 per cent for their money elsewhere.

Under a proposal of the Federal Home Loan Bank

Board, which regulates savings and loan associations, a fluctuation in interest rates would now permit a fluctuation of monthly payments or an adjustment in the loan's length.

Does all this indicate that America has given up hope of defeating inflation? That statement is probably too strong, but certainly there is much evidence that major institutions are adjusting to that possibility.

Large corporations conduct their affairs on that assumption. So do many pension and profit-sharing plans. Realistically, they can do little else, because the history of money has been one of value erosion.

show up late themselves the next day.

The next day Fischer shows up exactly on time and when the Hanoi delegates walk in, he is playing a game of chess with himself. He tells them that if they can't show up on time, he would just as soon break off the negotiations.

As the North Vietnamese start talking, Fischer turns on a chess clock and warns them that if they don't make 40 major points within two-and-one-half hours, they'll lose the match for the day.

The North Vietnamese trip over themselves trying to get in everything they want to say in the two-and-one-half-hour time allotment. They adjourn until the next day to decide what to do. That evening they work out their attacks and without sleep show wearily the next day to pursue their strategy.

But Fischer sends word, accompanied by a doctor's certificate, that he has a cold and can't show up for the meeting. The North Vietnamese stagger out not knowing what to do.

Three days later Fischer appears but insists he can't negotiate in the hall and wants the talks adjourned to a smaller room.

By this time the North Vietnamese can't take it any more, and scream at Fischer, "What do you want from us?"

At this moment Henry Kissinger steps from behind a curtain and says, "Gut, now we will begin."

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, AUGUST 15, 1972

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are determined now that you are going to produce the results that are vital to your feeling of accomplishment, but you need to doublecheck every single detail for there is a tendency to make errors. Smile and show others you like them if you want to get the best results from today's activities.

ARIES (Mar 21 to Apr. 19) You have to plan your time cleverly if you want to handle both personal and business affairs well today. Be sure you do not get into anything hastily so you have to repent at leisure. Social events should be very gratifying in p.m.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Make sure you keep associates and kin separated or there could be big arguments resulting that are best avoided. Take care you do not criticize others, if possible. A kind word works miracles, though.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You had better have all facts and figures ready and accurate if you want to get that work done in a most efficient way. Use ingenuity so you add to present goodwill you enjoy. A favorable evening for relaxation.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You can be your determined self, but keep a smile very much in evidence if you want to make this a successful day. Cut down on expenses. Think big, but keep an eye on the pennies. Devotion to mate is a must.

LEO (July 22 to Aug 21) You have to be careful you do not talk so much at home that you get on others' nerves. Improve your wardrobe and appearance. Do some reading that develops your mind, thoughts.

VIRGO (Aug 22 to Sept 22) You are able to get the cooperation of associates for expansion, so do just that instead of hesitating. You can postpone those personal duties to a better day. Keep appointments on time.

LIBRA (Sept 23 to Oct. 22) Don't be so concerned with financial matters just at a time when a good friend is able to help you gain some personal goal that means much to you. The social side of life is your best bet now. Do some good friend a favor.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Keep busily occupied at personal chores and avoid that tendency to criticize those in power or you could get into much trouble. Take the charm and health treatments that are helpful. Make a fine impression socially in p.m.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 22 to Dec 21) Don't give into that temptation to downgrade one toward whom you feel unfriendly, but plan something constructive that makes your own life more successful. Consult an expert about something you know very little about. Get exact data.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22 to Jan 20) Listen to what an expert has to say about making your life more prosperous and stop worrying so much about your credit and other problems. Accept a social invitation for the evening. Make night contacts.

AQUARIUS (Jan 21 to Feb 19) Now that you understand what a partner wants get busy and coordinate efforts and forget that outside affair. Save some time to help one who is having rough sledding. Relax at that hobby you like in p.m.

PISCES (Feb 20 to Mar. 20) Getting a new slant on present interests can make them far more successful now. Become more expert at them. Try not to argue with co-workers and keep busy at your work for best results.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those charming young people who will brook no interference in gaining what is wanted, so be sure to teach the finest precepts and ideals early so that only right interests will be pursued and there will be no confusion or regrets later. Give as much education as your offspring desires and prepare well for the future. Some discipline is necessary early in life to prevent this youngster from getting into trouble. Spiritual training needed.

Farm Scene

By STEVE C. RIDDICK

The prices of foods, and of farm products, are getting a lot of attention these days. Many folks, including some farm folks, think prices are too high. There is disagreement, however, about who is responsible for the high cost of eating. To help settle this argument, it may be helpful to outline the basic facts about food pricing — who, what, and how.

The pricing process used for different types of foods is quite different. Bread and beef provide extreme examples. Bread is priced by adding on to the amount farmers receive for the wheat and other ingredients. The price of beef is determined by consumers at the retail counter, and the price of cattle is established by "subtracting" the cost of retailing, processing and transportation.

Bread prices are maintained by varying the amount that is baked daily. If too much is left unsold, less is baked for the next time. This system does not guarantee a profit for each flour mill, bakery, or retail store. Only the more efficient survive. Beef is priced quite differently. The supply cannot be adjusted to maintain prices. Beef production is a long-time, continuous process. It requires about two years from conception to consumption — nine months for gestation, ten for growing and five for fattening. When the cattle reach market weights and grades they must be slaughtered and the beef must be sold.

It is the consumers — housewives and restaurant operators — who will force the changes. If retailers mark prices too high, it will not be consumed as fast as it is produced. But if prices are set too low, consumers will buy so freely the supply will run short. Then, prices will be raised at the retail and wholesale levels and on the hoof.

The point is that consumers as a group set the price of beef. From the retail price, food stores and meat packers subtract their operating costs, and any profits the competition permits. The remainder is the price paid to farmers for cattle.

Over the past few months consumers have paid prices averaging $1.16 a pound for beef. Processing and distribution costs took about 41 cents. This left 75 cents to be returned to farmers. That amount was equal to 33 cents a pound for choice cattle. About 2.28 pounds of live cattle are needed to get one pound of choice grade beef for retail.

Begins Hearing Alaska Pipeline Ban Arguments

By JOHN KAMPS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge begins hearing arguments today on whether he should make permanent his temporary ban on a proposed 789-mile oil pipeline bisecting Alaska.

U.S. District Court Judge George L. Hart Jr. in April 1970 granted a temporary injunction against the pipeline which the Alyeska Pipeline Co. wants to build to carry oil from the frozen North Slope to the ice-free port of Valdez on the southern shore.

Environmentalists have stalled construction, on grounds the Interior Department has not complied with the National Environmental Policy Act which they say requires an adequate statement of the project's environmental impacts compared with reasonable alternatives.

Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton Jr. submitted in March an environmental impact statement which he has said is final, but which environmentalists say is only the first draft. Morton has announced his intention to grant permits to a consortium of seven oil companies for construction of the pipeline.

The environmentalists have asked Hart to enjoin the Interior Department from issuing the permits until Morton has adequately studied an alternative trans-Canada pipeline and has complied with the letter of the environmental laws.

Morton has voiced hope that the injunctions would be lifted before Labor Day, but said the decision probably would be appealed.

Many members of Congress wrote Morton demanding more hearings and further consideration of the trans-Canada pipeline.

The Canadian pipeline, carrying oil from the North Slope to the Midwestern U.S. border, Jackson's language on the SALT agreement were listed in the Pentagon headcount as opposing Trident. Once the White House privately signalled it would not oppose the amendment, these Republicans and Jackson came around. Thanks significantly to Jackson's efforts, the anti-Trident drive failed, 47 to 39.

When the White House announced Aug. 3 that Jackson's amendment is consistent with U.S. policy, there was instant outrage—by Sen. J.W. Fulbright of Arkansas, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, by chief negotiator Gerard Smith—and by the Russians.

Jackson did get backing over the telephone from Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird. But the White House worried about agitation by Soviet diplomats here, whose complaints to Senate staffers were quickly relayed to Administration officials.

To reassure the White House, Jackson drafted a second version—less overtly anti-Soviet but still seeking assurance that the Soviets do not achieve dangerous nuclear superiority. That cosmetic change calmed things down at the Soviet embassy and won positive endorsement by President Nixon.

But it did not satisfy Fulbright and his allies in the Senate Democratic leadership. At this writing, they warn Senate consideration of the arms agreement might not come before the recess for the Republican national convention. That delay might blemish the "political plus" of the President's peace initiatives, just as his aides feared.

Having it both ways on national security was proving difficult, even for Mr. Nixon.

Says Waldheim 'Interfered'

BANGUI, Central African Republic (AP) — President Jean-Bedji Bokassa, who recently ordered convicted robbers to be beaten, has charged that U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim is interfering in the country's affairs.

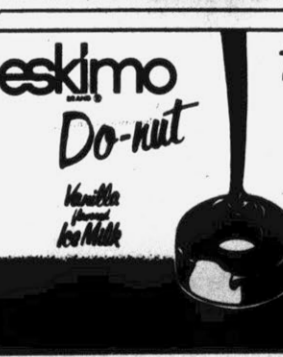

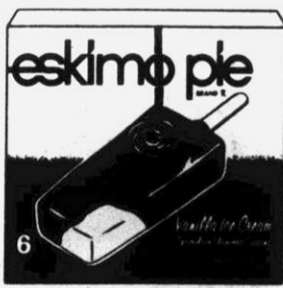

Waldheim sent a message to Bokassa following the recent beatings of convicted robbers. The victims were exhibited in the center of Bangui. Some died.

Bokassa also has ordered that thieves have ears or hands cut off, or executed for a fourth offense.

He said it was Waldheim's role to solve problems of peace in the world, and not interfere in the internal affairs of the Central African Republic.

OIL MAKES NEWS IN NORTH CAROLINA

Take a good look at the newspaper you're holding. Without oil, it might not be there.

From the film in the press camera to the rollers in the presses—today's newspapers depend on products that come from oil. Even the ink comes from oil.

To get a newspaper out takes a lot of energy too. And 75% of all our energy comes from oil and natural gas (including 40% of our electricity).

But today, we're using these petroleum fuels faster than we are finding them. That's why America faces an Energy Gap.

We're your local oil companies. Working to bridge the growing Energy Gap. Because it shouldn't be news to anyone that a country that runs on oil can't afford to run short.

Workshop For New Substitute Teachers Set

A workshop for new substitute teachers in the Greenville City Schools has been announced. Charles Ross, Director of Elementary Education for the Greenville City Schools, today said the workshop would be held at 10:00 a.m. Wednesday in the auditorium of Wahl-Coates Elementary School.

"All people who would like to consider substitute teaching should come to the workshop," he commented. "Forms will be available for filling out at that time and instruction will be given for interested persons who have not previously served as substitute teachers in the school."

Ross also added that former substitute teachers who are interested in substitute teaching for the coming school year should call to reaffirm their willingness to be on the substitute roster. The number to call is 752-4192, the Central School office.

Short Weekend At Camp David

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's last quiet weekend before the Republican National Convention was a short one.

Nixon made an earlier than usual return from his Camp David retreat to get in some work Sunday afternoon at the White House, according to deputy press secretary Gerald L. Warren.

The President and his wife, along with two top presidential aides, had gone to Camp David Friday afternoon.

Daughters and sons-in-law, David and Julie Eisenhower and Edward and Tricia Cox, joined the Nixons at Camp David.

ABC Violations Charge Driver In Wreck

Two men were charged by officers for ABC law violations during the weekend.

ABC Officer J.M. Ward said David Jones, 30, of Rt. 2, Ayden and Pete Hooks, 50, of Rt. 1, Winterville were charged with possession of tax paid whiskey and beer in a public place for sale. Both were released under $200 bond for trial in District Court Aug. 29.

Ward said the arrests were made at an old pack house near Venter's Cross Road.

ABC officers, deputy sheriffs and members of the Greenville Police Department participated in the arrests.

William-Adrian Jefferson, 20, of Route 3, Greenville was charged with driving under the influence and driving without a license following investigation of an 8:50 p.m. mishap here yesterday at the intersection of Fifth Street and Line Avenue.

Police reported the Jefferson car collided with a vehicle operated by Louis Albert Edwards, 52 of 1209 Battle St. causing an estimated $600 damage to the Edwards car and $250 damage to the Jefferson vehicle.

Three passengers in the Edwards auto were reported injured.

Happy Aura At Richmond

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

The choice of about everyone in the Southern Conference to win the 1972 Championship is the defending champs, the University of Richmond.

Coach Frank Jones appreciates being put into that role, and admits that his team has a chance at it, despite some problems.

"We have a lot of people back on offense, but we lost six of our defensive starters, and this will be a problem."

Five more additional starters, off the offense, are gone, but Jones apparently feels that these holes can be more readily filled.

"We have a good nucleus despite the fact that among the losses are tight end, quarterback, flanker and center. We have a little more depth than we've had in the past and this helps too."

One of the biggest hurdles the Spiders have to overcome is their schedule. They open against North Carolina, the defending ACC champion, then play tough independent West Virginia. After that come Northeast Louisiana, and a pair of Southern Conference foes, VMI and East Carolina. Rounding out the non-conference games is always strong Southern Mississippi.

"We expect to be a good football team," Jones announced. "I hear we're going to win the title easily, but it never works out that way. I do feel we can have a winning year, however."

The quarterback position is one that worries Jones. "We've been fortunate in the past in always having a good quarterback," he said. "You can't win without a good one. We think we could have a good one in (sophomore Harry) Knight. He throws the ball like we want to. We still like to throw a lot, but we want to run too. I hope that Knight will allow us to do both."

One of the brightest spots among the Richmond returning backs is junior fullback Barty Smith. An all-conference performer last year, Smith rushed for 630 yards, including one of eight touchdowns scored on the ground by the Spiders. He also caught 23 passes for 262 yards and another touchdown, also one of eight through the air.

"He's an excellent fullback," Jones said. "I think he's the best in the country, and can be an All-American. Besides his running ability, he's a top blocker, too."

Besides Smith there are three other All-Conference selections back, linebacker Pat Killy, defensive end John Nugent and kicker Keith Clark.

Also returning is another fine runner, Billy Meyers, who averaged 5.1 yards per plug for 84 trips last year, 427 yards. Joining him is tailback Weldon Edwards, who for 164 in 46 carries, and split end Joe Sgroi, who caught 20 for 417 yards and four touchdowns.

Other lettermen include Jay Jones, split end; offensive tackles Russ Croom, Joe Flora and Joe Brocato, and guards Jim Amrhein and Tommy Shifflet.

Back on defense are backs Ken Taylor, Drew Tryens and Mark Shelton, middle guards, Vic Moye and Scooter Burgess, end Lee Pearson, tackle Terry Hogan and linebacker Walt Prillman.

Top new receivers include Mike Mahoney, Bob McKowan, Trib Hammer, Billy Harris and Steve Pavlick. Also up for the quarterbacking job are Dave Yount, Phil Burckhalter and Rich Muccarella. Top new linemen include Ramon Perez at center and Bill McDaniel at tackle.

The defensive line will depend a lot on sophomores. Among them are Steve Bischof, Pat Mahoney, Ace Owens, and Billy Mock. In the secondary, one of the areas which might be weakest, newcomers include Scott Mustain, Ken Renfro and Bobby Sanders.

"This team may well be an overall better team than that of last year," Jones said. "But it all depends on the quarterbacking situation."

Jones, in response to a question regarding the ACC's possible dropping of the 800 rule and going to 1.6, said that he didn't think this would affect his recruiting. "Most of the people they (the ACC schools) want, they are going to get one way or another, so it doesn't make much difference."

The Richmond schedule: Sept. 9, at North Carolina; Sept. 16, at West Virginia; Sept. 23, Northeast Louisiana; Sept. 30, VMI; Oct. 7, East Carolina; Oct. 14, Southern Mississippi; Oct. 21 at Furman; Nov. 4, at The Citadel; Nov. 11, Davidson; Nov. 18, William & Mary.

Rich Westchester Helps Nicklaus Dreams Of $300,000 Season

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — The glory dream of golf's Grand Slam is gone—at least for this season—but Jack Nicklaus is flirting now with a new goal: $300,000 in winnings for a single season.

"It would be great to win $300,000," Nicklaus said after pushing his winnings to $240,000 Sunday with his victory in the rich Westchester Golf Classic, "but I just don't know if I'll be able to play enough to do it." "You always want to try to better yourself," said Nicklaus, who won a record $244,000 last year, "and I'd probably like to do it this season for one reason: I feel that I'm a better golfer this year than I ever have been before in my life."

The record would back him up. In only 15 starts on the American tour this year the Golden Bear has won five—the Masters, U.S. Open, Bing Crosby Pro-am and Doral-Eastern prior to the Westchester—lost in a playoff for the title in the Tournament of Champions, failed by a stroke in the Jackie Gleason and tied for second at New Orleans.

And, of course, he lost by a single stroke in the British Open.

He's averaging $16,028 per start in the United States.

His record of $244,000 seems certain to go. But $300,000 could be difficult.

"I'd have to win at least one more, maybe two, to do it," Nicklaus said. "I'd like to, but I really don't know if I'll play enough."

Nicklaus won the Westchester with almost casual ease, forging a beautifully-played "four-under-par 68 in the final round on the Westchester Country Club course. The 18-under-par total of 270 was the best on the tour this season.

He was never headed in the hot and muggy final round and won by three strokes over Jim Colbert, who had a hole-in-one and an eagle three en route to a 65 and 273.

Dwight Nevil, the soft-spoken former Dallas fireman who was the surprise of the tournament, held on with a 71 and third place at 275. He later donated $2,000 from his purse of $17,750 to a Newburgh, N.Y., hospital.

Homero Blancas, with a 65, was alone at 276 with George Archer and DeWitt Weaver next at 277. Each had a final round 68.

Arnold Palmer, who scored his last individual triumph in this one a year ago, didn't qualify for the final two rounds, British Open champ Lee Trevino didn't compete. South African Gary Player, the PGA titleholder, closed his regular American schedule with a 72-285 and was far back.

Nicklaus held a two-stroke lead starting the final round and never faltered. He didn't miss a green—in fact, didn't miss one for the last 36 holes—strayed from only two fairways and made only one putt of any distance, an 18-foot effort for a birdie on the 17th hole.

Lays Claim To Speed Record

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A sophomore at Miami Junior College can lay claim to a world record in the Ski racing runabout speed boat class.

Duffy Dailey, 19, powered hi Oh Mona IV to a record in the fourth annual Tar Heel Regatta at Lake Wheeler Sunday.

Dailey, leading from start to finish in the three-lapper, averaged 89.241 miles an hour around the 1.23-mile course in the second class heat, eclipsing the old mark of 87.891 m.p.h.

Argue Athletes' Scholarship

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP) — The Atlantic Coast Conference says 354 of its athletes had a grade average of "B" or better during the last school years.

The conference is appealing a federal judge's decision that scholastic requirements for athletes seeking entry to ACC schools are illegal.

Duke had 85 athletes with a "B" average or better, Virginia 74, North Carolina 64, North Carolina State 56, Clemson 31, Maryland 26 and Wake Forest 18.

Greenville Divided Two With Hamilton

Hamilton and Greenville split a doubleheader in the first round of the semi-pro tournament yesterday. Greenville took the opener 3-0, but Hamilton took the nightcap, 5-0.

Byron Dicken scattered five hits en route to Greenville's win in the first game. They got all they needed in the fourth, as Al Gurganus reached on an error, moved to second on a walk, and scored on a sacrifice and a fielder's choice. Greenville added two more runs in the sixth for insurance. In the second game, two fielding errors, a base-on-balls, and a triple gave Hamilton three of their five runs in the first inning.

Hamilton added runs in the second and the fifth inning. Greenville managed only four hits, and six batters struck out.

DELAYED WINDUP
INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Bob Hewitt of South Africa, winner of the men's singles in the $60,000 U.S. Clay Court tournament here, teamed with countryman Fred McMillan today for the delayed windup of the doubles competition.

THREE IN A ROW
MILWAUKEE (AP) — Joe Leonard captured his third consecutive United States Auto Club speedway car race Sunday, leading the field by at least three laps at the finish of the Tony Bettenhausen 200-miler at the Wisconsin State Fair park track.

Richmond Tries Lengthen Lead

HAMLET, N. C. (AP) — Richmond County will try to lengthen its 2-1 lead in the best-of-seven series of the North Carolina American Legion baseball championship tonight against Gastonia.

Richmond County beat Gastonia, 8-4, Saturday night at Hamlet. The two teams will play again Tuesday night in Hamlet and will return to Gastonia if necessary for further games.

Dallas Faces Defending Title Without Staubach

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys made plans today to defend their Super Bowl championship without their inspirational leader, quarterback Roger Staubach, who underwent surgery Sunday for a shoulder separation and will be lost two or three months.

Coach Tom Landry said, "The only problem we have is depth at quarterback."

Second-string quarterback Craig Morton filled in for Staubach Saturday night after the second-quarter injury and threw three touchdown passes while completing 9 of 10 in a 27-13 National Football League exhibition victory over Los Angeles.

"Morton played a great game and is a great quarterback," said Landry. "Roger obviously took it as a tremendous blow. He was counting on having a great season. He ran three or four times in the first half, but it is plays like that and his competitive nature that make him great."

Staubach could have stepped out of bounds, but instead, charged into Ram middle linebacker Marlin McKeever on the end of a 9-yard gain.

Dr. Marvin Knight, who performed the 90-minute surgery on Staubach, said the repair of the torn ligament and capsule was "excellent."

"Knowing Roger, he won't be in the hospital long," Knight said.

The only other quarterback on the Cowboy team is rookie Maurice Daigeneau of North-western who played briefly Saturday night against the Rams.

Carlton And Pirates Again Appear 'Untouchable'

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Steve Carlton was once again all but untouchable—and it's getting to look the same for the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Carlton, Philadelphia's veteran left-hander who has been baffling the rest of the National League for the past 2½ months, did it again Sunday, stopping Montreal on just three hits for his 19th victory of the baseball season and 14th in a row as the Phillies won the opener of their doubleheader 2-1. The Expos rebounded to take the second game 8-3.

The Pirates, meanwhile, silenced by St. Louis' Rick Wise 2-0 in their opener, got back in the groove in the nightcap by beating the Cardinals 7-5 to widen their East Division lead to a solid 10 games.

In National League single games, Cincinnati beat Atlanta 9-4, San Francisco edged Houston 4-3, the Chicago Cubs whipped the New York Mets 7-4 and Los Angeles defeated San Diego 5-3.

In American League twin-bills, the New York Yankees swept Milwaukee 5-3 and 5-4, while Detroit beat Cleveland 3-2 before the Indians won the second game 9-2. In single games, Oakland blanked the Chicago White Sox 3-0, Baltimore belted Boston 8-2, the Texas Rangers crushed the Kansas City Royals 13-4 and the Minnesota Twins nipped the California Angels 4-3.

"I didn't have good stuff and I couldn't get the slider over," Carlton said after raising his record to 19-6, best in the league, and fanned eight Expos to raise his strikeout total to 240, best in the majors. "I was lucky to get away with it."

"I'm not thinking about records or strikeouts," he added when reminded that he's just five victories short of Rube Marquard's 19 straight triumphs, set in 1912 with the old New York Giants. "I want the win," Carlton said. "Those other things take care of themselves."

The Phils took care of him with a pair of first-inning runs, coming on Willie Montanez' double and Greg Luzinski's single. Carlton lost his no-hit and shutout bid in the fourth on Bob Bailey's home run.

Montreal pushed across four runs in the fourth inning and three more in the ninth to gain the split, saddling Billy Champion with his 10th straight defeat. Balor Moore and reliever Mike Marshall teamed for a four-hitter for the Expos.

"They're going to be tough to catch," St. Louis Manager Ed Schoendienst said of the Pirates. "They've got too much on the club. Of course, it's possible," he added, "but they've been playing well without Roberto Clemente and he'll be back one of these days. They're 28 games over .500 and you've got to figure the odds are with them."

Steve Blass, who needed last-out relief help to record his 13th victory in the second game, added: "It's a good thing to be able to look forward to Clemente coming back and having us leading by eight, nine or 10 games." And Bucs Manager Bill Virdon chipped in with: "Of course, you can't replace Clemente—but we're not killing ourselves playing some of these other guys who are hitting .330 or .340."

The Pirates fell behind 4-0 in the third inning but, as Virdon put it, "they did a hell of a job coming back. They didn't quit." They scored three runs in the fourth inning, two of them on Milt Mav's double, then scored four more in the sixth, Al Oliver and Richie Hebner each doubling for one run and Bob Robertson singling for two more.

Wise, who came to the Cards in the deal that sent Carlton to Philadelphia, tossed a five-hitter to win the opener. "I don't make comparisons between Carlton and myself," he said. "Sports writers keep bringing it up, but it doesn't concern me. I just want to win for the Cardinals."

The Reds, opening their West Division lead over Houston to 5½ games, got two runs batted in apiece from Pete Rose and Cesar Geronimo and took advantage of 11 walks to beat the Braves.

Rookie Jim Willoughby of the Giants, recently recalled from Phoenix of the Pacific Coast League, scattered five hits to beat the Astros. It was his second victory, each of them coming on a Sunday against Houston. "Yeah, I've got something going," he quipped. "But I really don't know. The only two games I've pitched were on Sunday."

Randy Hundley hit his fifth home run and Ron Santo drove in runs with a sacrifice fly and a bases-loaded walk to lead the Cubs past the Mets, who got homers from Tommie Agee and Willie Mays. The victory pulled the Cubs within a game of second-place New York in the East.

Willie Davis belted his 11th and 12th homers, the latter a three-run shot in the eighth inning, to power the Dodgers past the Padres.

Billy Martin's Hat-Trick Was Signal To Win

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Hats off to Billy Martin!

Hoping to wake his slumping team, the Detroit Tiger manager went with a pot-luck batting order Sunday dictated by a hat drawing.

The names came out spelling success for the Tigers as they stopped a four-game losing streak with a 3-2 victory over the Cleveland Indians in the first game of a doubleheader.

"It served the purpose. It was supposed to relax the guys—and it worked," said Martin, who went back to his regular batting order in the second game and lost 9-2. Ed Brinkman, a .205 batter at game time who usually hits in the eighth spot, opened in the cleanup position and came up with a crucial hit as the Tigers scored twice in the sixth inning to win the opener.

Second baseman Tony Taylor and left fielder Willie Horton were two other batters who helped while hitting somewhere else than their normal positions.

Taylor, usually a leadoff or No. 2 hitter, batted fifth and singled home Brinkman with the winning run. Horton, who has been batting sixth this year, was No. 3 and came through with a homer, triple and single that started the winning rally.

The split dropped the Tigers into third place in the zany American League East race. They are merely one percentage point behind the New York Yankees, the hottest team in baseball who moved into second after sweeping a doubleheader from the Milwaukee Brewers 5-3 and 5-4.

The Baltimore Orioles held first place in the East by 1½ games by crushing the Boston Red Sox 8-2.

Things are no less uncertain in the West, where the Oakland A's climbed into first place by one game after beating the Chicago White Sox 3-0. The White Sox were in the driver's seat for less than 24 hours.

In the other American League games Sunday, the Texas Rangers blasted the Kansas City Royals 13-4 and the Minnesota Twins stopped the California Angels 4-3.

In the National League, the Cincinnati Reds defeated the Atlanta Braves 9-4; the Chicago Cubs stopped the New York Mets 7-4; the San Francisco Giants beat the Houston Astros 4-3; the Los Angeles Dodgers turned back the San Diego Padres 5-3; the Philadelphia Phillies downed the Montreal Expos 2-1 in the first game of a doubleheader before losing the second, 5-3 and the St. Louis Cardinals and Pittsburgh Pirates split a twin bill—the Cardinals winning the first 2-0 and the Pirates the nightcap, 7-5.

A Difference Of $5,800

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — "There's not much difference in one of these matches, except $5,000," sighed Ray Ruffles of Australia Sunday after losing the Cleveland Classic tennis tournament to Mark Cox of Great Britain.

Ruffles claimed $5,000 second-place money in the World Championship Tennis tour event, while Cox picked up a $10,000 check for a 6-3, 4-6, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4 victory over Ruffles in the finals.

Cox took the key first game of the fifth set by breaking Ruffles' serve. Ruffles got the first two points, then failed to handle three straight serve returns by Cox and then lost the game on a powerful cross-court shot by Cox. Cox went on to win all five of his serves.

Ruffles, who had never made it to the finals of a WTC event before, recalled the first game of the fourth set in which he was one point from winning the game and breaking Cox's serve three times.

"If I had been able to win one of them, it could have been like the fifth set," he said. But Ruffles wasn't completely downhearted.

"I got a smell of it anyway," he said of the title in the $50,000 event.

The two southpaw players were surprise finishers in a week-long tournament marked by upsets. Cox, 28, a Cambridge graduate, was only sixth-seeded among 32 players and Ruffles, 26, was 11th of the 12 seeded players.

The doubles title went to Roger Taylor of Great Britain and Cliff Drysdale of South Africa, 7-6, 6-3 over Frank Froehling of New York and Charles Pasarell of Puerto Rico.

Baseball Loses George Weiss

GREENWICH, Conn. (AP) — George Weiss, for more than 50 years a master builder of championship baseball teams, died Sunday. He was 78 and had been in ill health for some time.

Virtually unknown to the general public, Weiss was the man behind the scenes who as general manager laid the groundwork for the phenomenal success of the New York Yankees and later the New York Mets.

He was inducted into baseball's Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y., a year ago this month for his achievements as club executive in developing championship teams in the minor and major leagues from 1916 to 1966.

He developed a minor league chain as Yankee farm manager under Ed Barrow, when the Yankee general manager, from 1932-1947 before becoming general manager himself for a 13-year period, 1947-1960, during which the Yankees won 10 pennants and seven World Series.

He hired Casey Stengel to replace Bucky Harris as Yankee manager in 1949 and the two ran the Yankees until their mandatory retirement in 1960. A year later they were back in baseball as president and manager of the newly organized New York Mets.

Weiss and Stengel didn't win any pennants in their five years with the expansion National League club, but their building efforts paid off in 1969 when the Mets astounded everyone by winning the NL pennant and then beating Baltimore in the World Series.

Born in New Haven June 23, 1894, Weiss has been named four times the "major league Executive of the Year" by the Sporting News and had been awarded the Bill Slocum Memorial Plaque by the New York Baseball Writers Association for long and meritorious service to baseball.

"Lonesome George" as he was sometimes called, formally retired from the Mets on Nov. 14, 1966. He and his wife, Hazel, lived in Greenwich since their marriage in 1937.

Funeral services and burial will be private.

Williams Is Staying On

OAKLAND (AP) — Oakland Athletics manager Dick Williams, who piloted the A's to the American League playoffs last year, has won a vote of confidence and a new two-year contract from club owner Charles O. Finley.

The contract, announced in the midst of the A's tight pennant race with the Chicago White Sox, includes a "substantial increase in salary," Finley said.

"In my opinion, Dick Williams is one of the most outstanding managers in the game today," Finley said in a Saturday telephone interview from his Chicago office. "I feel that I am well qualified to speak on this subject as I have certainly had my share of managers in the past."

Williams, who took the A's to a Western Division championship and the American League playoffs last season with a 101-61 record, called the agreement "the best contract I've ever had in baseball."

Williams was named American League manager of the year in 1971. He won the same honor in 1967 while leading the Boston Red Sox to a pennant.

Pros Edged By Olympic Squad

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Tom Henderson's basket on a goal-tending call against Jim Chones with 43 seconds left Sunday night led the U.S. Olympic basketball team to a 65-63 victory over a pro all-star team.

The shot by the 6-3 Henderson was blocked in mid-air by Chones, the former Marquette star who has signed to play for New York's Nets in the American Basketball Association.

The goal-tending call brought the Olympians back into the lead, 64-63, after Ralph Simpson of Denver had put the All-Stars ahead by a point on a rebound shot.

Henderson, a 6-foot-3 guard from the Bronx, N.Y., scored 17 points to lead both teams. He is a sophomore who attended San Jacinto, Tex., junior college.

Dwight Jones, a 6-9 junior from Houston, scored the final point for the Olympic team on a foul shot with eight seconds left.

GOP Platform Begins To Take Shape At Miami

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Writer
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Support for a strong national defense plank rejecting Democratic proposals to slash the Pentagon budget and pull two divisions out of Europe was expected to emerge at Republican platform hearings opening today.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers was the Platform Committee's featured witness, and Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas, GOP national chairman, planned to greet the committee.

Rep. John J. Rhodes of Arizona, GOP platform chairman, told reporters Sunday that the budget cutting plank of Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern is "an isolationist document" that would leave Israel in peril and endanger American interests in other troubled areas.

The defense and foreign policy plank of the GOP platform will be made public next Friday if the committee keeps to its schedule, Rhodes said, and other sections will be released on Saturday and Sunday.

The Republican National Convention opens next Monday and the completed platform will be presented to the convention Tuesday.

Approval was expected to be virtually automatic, Rhodes said, and a news conference on the eve of the four-day platform hearings that a 98-page working draft of the platform, which had been reviewed and revised by the White House staff and himself, already was in the hands of his committee.

"The finished document will, we hope, bear a close resemblance to the draft," Rhodes said.

Rhodes calmly answered charges that sessions of the 108-member committee, which will hear some 300 witnesses, will be largely perfunctory because an unpublished draft already exists.

Such a working draft is standard procedure, Rhodes said, and in this case the White House made so many suggestions that the document grew to 211 pages before it was boiled down again by Rhodes and platform committee aides.

Rhodes said the $30 billion cut in defense spending proposed by McGovern would reduce the United States to a second-class power.

"The Vietnam war is being wound down, but there are many other tensions in the world," Rhodes said. "One of them is the Middle East. Yet under McGovern's plan we would probably have no aircraft carrier in the Mediterranean."

"Our troop strength in Europe would be reduced to a point where we could not rely on a sufficient force to transport to the Middle East if necessary," he said.

"Delivering the commencement address will be Dr. Douglas Reid Sasser, president of Pfeiffer College. Presiding over the exercises will be Dr. Arthur D. Wenger, president of the college. Presenting the graduating class will be George Harry Swain, director of the ACC Summer School."

Graduating At ACC On Friday

WILSON — Ronald Nichols of 102 W. Queen St. in Grifton, will be one of 75 seniors receiving baccalaureate degrees in the arts and sciences at Atlantic Christian College's Summer Commencement to be held on the college campus Friday night at 8 p.m.

Delivering the commencement address will be Dr. Douglas Reid Sasser, president of Pfeiffer College. Presiding over the exercises will be Dr. Arthur D. Wenger, president of the college. Presenting the graduating class will be George Harry Swain, director of the ACC Summer School.

Pitt Student At Campus Seminar

WINSTON SALEM — Miss Charlene Edwards of Farmville was among 500 students from 13 states attending a special seminar for yearbook staffs on the Salem College campus here this weekend.

Sponsored by Hunter Publishing Company of Winston-Salem, "Seminar Two" was initiated last summer to teach yearbook staffs new ideas in editing and development.

Highlighting the seminar were discussions headed by Joan Fenton, art director of "Seventeen" magazine, and Roy Thompson, feature writer for the Winston-Salem Journal.

At Least 26 Persons Die In N.C. Weekend Traffic

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

North Carolina experienced a bloody weekend of traffic accidents with at least 26 persons killed in highway mishaps during the 6 p.m. Friday through midnight Sunday period.

The deaths pushed the toll for the year to 1,124 persons, compared to 1,059 at the same time last year.

Three members of a Raleigh family died when a Greyhound bus collided with two cars on rain-slick U.S. 64 north of Apex.

The dead were identified as Johnny Wesley Purkerson, 34, his wife, Polly, 30; and son, Jonny, 4.

Four teen-agers were killed when their car failed to make a curve on U.S. 15, eleven miles north of Oxford and struck some trees, the highway patrol said. They were Bobby Ray Currin, 16, of Stovall, his brother, Dean Currin, 14; Tim Capps, 16, of Bullock; and Jeffrey Colina, 16, of Oxford.

A 37-year-old Rockingham man, Marcus Eugene Morris, was killed in a collision of two vehicles on U.S. 74 three miles west of Laurinburg.

A six-year-old boy playing on a Cartaret County road was struck and killed. The patrol said the youth was Todd Anthony Martin of Waterbury, Connecticut. The accident took place 12 miles east of Beaufort.

Robert Lee Young, 36, of Rt. 1, Castalia, was killed in Franklin County when he was struck by a car as he was lying in the road, the patrol said. The accident occurred on N.C. 58, two miles south of Centerville.

A Rt. 2, Clarkton resident, George W. Spaulding, was killed when he fell against a moving car on a rural paved road 1/2 mile north of Whiteville in Columbus County.

The Highway Patrol said a drag race on a rural paved road four miles east of Cherokee in Jackson County resulted in the death of Richard Ned Bushyhead, 27, of Pittsburgh, Kansas. The Highway Patrol said Bushyhead was driving in a drag race and his auto ran off the road and was struck by another car.

Shirley Ann Murray, 16, of Dudley, was killed when a car in which she was a passenger ran off U.S. 117 about one mile south of Goldsboro and struck a utility pole.

Harris Turner, 40, of Roxboro, died when a car ran off a rural paved road 11 1/2 miles north of Durham and struck a tree. Turner was a passenger in the car.

Other fatalities included 20-year-old Jerry Lynn Webster of Long Beach. He died when his car struck the rear of another car in Long Beach. Terry Joe Watson, 22, of Rt. 2, Mt. Airy, was killed on N.C. 89 in a head-on wreck.

Twenty-seven-year-old Ed Augusta Brake of Rt. 1, Nashville, died when his car overturned on a rural paved road near Nashville. Ben Merritt, 72, of Raleigh, was killed in a head-on wreck on U.S. 258 near Kinston. The Highway Patrol said William Manly Marsh, 28, of Pittsboro, was killed when his car struck a culvert.

Charles E. Holland, 18, of Rt. 1, Pinetops, died when his car hit a utility pole north of Pinetops. Eighteen-year-old Darrell Franklin Kelly of Raleigh died when the motorcycle he was driving struck a car that turned in front of him on U.S. 70 east of Raleigh, the patrol said.

Two Rt. 2, Monroe residents, Dora Williams, 62, and Clemon Aaron Williams, 66, were killed when another vehicle crossed the center line on N.C. 200 four miles north of Monroe and struck their car head-on, the Highway Patrol said.

Walter Mitchell Jackson, 17, of Mooresville and Francene Willoughby, 13, of Red Springs, died when a car in which they were passengers ran off a road north of Red Springs.

A Lexington resident, 61-year-old Gladys Lambeth, was killed when the car in which she was a passenger was involved in a three-car collision in Lexington.
