Cost Of Living Takes Big Jump

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of living rose four-tenths of one per cent last month, faster than any month since February, the Labor Department said today.

At the same time the department reported that the average weekly earnings of rank-and-file production workers rose eight-tenths of one per cent, twice the increase in consumer prices.

This left an increase of four-tenths of one per cent in buying power for July, the highest rise since the department began keeping figures on real earnings in 1964.

A big increase in consumer prices was due mainly to a sharp jump in the cost of food. This went up a full one per cent in terms of the housewife's dollars, which the department said was six-tenths of one per cent more than usual for July.

There was no increase in the average price of commodities other than food. These prices usually drop this time of year, due to summer sales and other factors, so nonfood goods showed a three-tenths of one per cent increase on a seasonally adjusted basis.

Price Index put the indicator at 125.5 for July. This means it costs $12.55 to buy a cross-section of goods and services that cost $10.00 in 1967.

The largest single price increase was for the group including meats, poultry and fish. These increased 2.8 per cent in July putting them a full 10.1 per cent higher than a year ago.

This was more than twice the increase for any other food group.

Many nonfood groups actually decreased in price last month. Apparel fell nine-tenths of one per cent as summer wear went on sale at retail stores. New cars decreased three-tenths of one per cent in price as dealers began discounting 1972 models in anticipation of the arrival of higher-priced 1973s.

On the earnings side, the department figured that workers earned $1.09 more a week in July than in June, for a total weekly pay check of $136.47.

The department said this increase was attributable to a penny-per-hour increase in average hourly earnings and an increase of 12 minutes in the average work week.

The four-tenths of one per cent increase in the Bureau of Labor Statistics' Consumer

July's increase in the cost of living means consumer prices were 3 per cent higher in July than a year earlier. But workers' earnings are keeping substantially ahead of that, the department said. Even discounting the effect of inflation on paychecks, workers have 3.5 per cent more buying power on the average than they did a year ago, the Labor Department said.

The department also released some statistics intended to illustrate the behavior of consumer prices under President Nixon's wage and price controls.

Consumer prices were shown to have risen at a yearly rate of 2.9 per cent in the 11 months for which figures are available since Nixon declared a freeze on wages and prices Aug. 15, 1971. This is less than one percentage point lower than the 3.8 per cent yearly rate at which prices advanced in the eight months before the wage-price freeze.

However, it is barely within Nixon's goal of getting inflation down to between 2 and 3 per cent by the end of this year.

If the sharp rise in food prices levels off and if the prices of other goods and services remain at or slightly below their levels of the last few months, the goal will be reached.

Floor Fight Looming Over Large And Small State Representation

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
AP Political Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The battle between large-state moderates and small-state conservatives over the shape of the 1976 Republican Convention appeared headed for a floor fight today in the only visible rift of a united GOP poised to renominate President Nixon tonight.

Conservatives from the South and the smaller, traditionally Republican states seen favoring a potential 1976 presidential bid by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew pushed their delegate-apportionment plan through the convention's Rules Committee in a nine-hour session that lasted until late Monday night.

"They've asked for a floor fight and they're getting it, as far as I'm concerned," said William McLaughlin, Michigan's Republican chairman and a leader of the GOP moderates.

Others indicated their enthusiasm for a floor battle was waning, though the full convention loomed as a more favorable forum than the committee, on which each state has equal strength.

While different party factions and potential 1976 presidential hopefuls such as Agnew and Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois concentrated on the GOP's post-Nixon era, the convention proceeded along its carefully constructed path toward the main 1972 business: renomination of Nixon tonight and Agnew Wednesday night and approval of the party's platform.

Reluctance of Sen. Charles McC. Mathias Jr. of Maryland to press a minor dispute over ending the military draft apparently assured unanimous approval of the platform at today's third session.

Only one vote, captured in the New Mexico primary by Rep. Paul N. McCloskey of California, is expected to be withheld from Nixon in tonight's presidential balloting. The 1,348 delegates will vote after the President's name is formally presented by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, a longtime rival turned enthusiastic booster.

The platform, like most of the speeches to this 30th GOP convention, combines praise of Nixon's accomplishments with attacks on the views of Democratic nominee George McGovern.

McGovern, meanwhile, was in Austin, Tex., for a visit at the LBJ Ranch with former President Lyndon B. Johnson, who recently endorsed the Democratic candidate while acknowledging their differences on issues.

Johnson and another former Democratic president, Harry S. Truman, were praised Monday night by Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas, the Republican national chairman, as part of the concerted GOP effort to convince anti-McGovern Democrats to desert their party and back Nixon in November.

Several thousand foot-stomping, banner-waving young Nixon supporters in the spectator stands, breaking often into chants of "Four more years!" and "Nixon now!" hailed each blast at McGovern, showing considerably more enthusiasm than did the delegates on the convention floor.

At one point, Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe appeared at the rostrum with a resolution, quickly passed by voice vote, which invited the support of disenchanted Democrats. Its approval brought, on cue, a rousing band version of the Democratic theme song, "Happy Days are Here Again."

Though dissent was seemingly confined to the rules battle and McCloskey's doomed

Violations Are Found

WASHINGTON (AP) — Violations in the handling of nearly $500,000 in campaign funds by President Nixon's re-election committee have been found by the Government Accounting Office, the Washington Post reported in today's editions.

The Post attributed the report to "several reliable sources" and said that among the irregularities found by the GAO was a $100,000 "campaign security fund," from which $25,000 was deposited in the bank account of one of the suspects in the Democratic party headquarters break-in in June.

But Republican sources said any violations would be nothing more than administrative oversights, the newspaper reported.

The Post said that violations cited by their sources include failure to report receipts and expenditure of funds received by the Committee for the Re-Election of the President after April 7

At Least 1 N.C. Trip

RALEIGH (AP) — President Nixon is planning at least one campaign trip to North Carolina this year, his state campaign manager said Monday.

Charles R. Jonas Jr., chairman of the state Committee for the Re-Election of the President, also said Vice President Agnew would come to North Carolina on two campaign trips.

Jonas disclosed plans for the presidential trip in an interview in Miami Beach. The interview was reported today by the Raleigh News and Observer.

He said the state campaign would involve setting up 14 district headquarters, organizing 15 to 20 campaign groups and raising some $500,000 for Nixon.

McGovern Goes To Honor LBJ

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Sen. George McGovern, declaring he was here to honor a former president "who deserves all the honor his countrymen can give," came to Texas today for a long-sought unity meeting with Lyndon B. Johnson.

But Johnson, whose Vietnam policies gave McGovern the issue that helped carry him to the Democratic presidential nomination, apparently assured the meeting would be held in private and without the fanfare that could help drive home a message of harmony.

All newsmen and photographers were barred from the scheduled midday meeting of Johnson, McGovern and vice presidential candidate Sargent Shriver at the LBJ Ranch 65 miles west of here.

There was some confusion, especially among McGovern's staff people, about why newsmen were barred.

But McGovern sought to dampen any speculation about the continued coolness between the two, praising Johnson lavishly at an airport rally attended by 8,000 to 10,000 people.

Scott Associates Under IRS Fire

RALEIGH (AP)—Attorneys for the Internal Revenue Service have called for criminal prosecution of 13 persons, including state Democratic Chairman John T. Church, involved in the 1968 campaign of Gov. Bob Scott.

IRS attorneys in Atlanta recommended the prosecution in a report climaxing an investigation into financial dealings in the 1968 Democratic gubernatorial campaign.

In its report, the Atlanta office recommended charges that the 13 had conspired to impair, impede or otherwise defeat the purpose of U.S. income tax laws dealing with political campaigns.

Eleven of the individuals also were cited for alleged involvement in a conspiracy to evade corporate income taxes on donations the IRS said were made to the Scott campaign.

In addition to Church, individuals named by the IRS attorneys were:

—Charles W. Crone of Clayton, owner of a Raleigh advertising ageny that publicized Scott's campaign.

—Roy E. Wilder Jr. of Raleigh, an account executive with the Crone agency.

—John A. Williams Jr. of Raleigh, who was Scott's campaign treasurer.

—James V. Johnson Jr. of Charlotte, a bottling company executive and former Democratic party chairman.

—Roy G. Sowers Jr. of Sanford, one of Scott's campaign managers and a former director of the Department of Conservation and Development; first secretary of the Department of Natural and Economic Resources and unsuccessful candidate for his party's nomination for lieutentant governor and now deputy secretary of the Department of Transportation and Highway Safety.

—George T. Webb Jr. of Graham, a printing firm owner. His firm produced some campaign literature for Scott in the 1968 race.

—A. H. Parker of Greensboro, a bottling company executive.

—William J. Leath of Burlington, a businessman.

—B. Tate Horton of Burlington, who is associated with a hosiery mill.

—William B. Joyce of Sanford, who is associated with a tobacco company.

—Glen W. Bowers of Raleigh, who is associated with a construction company.

—John W. Thompson Jr. of Greensboro, who is associated with a paving company.

The IRS recommendation involving corporate income taxes cited Crone, Johnson, Sowers, Williams, Joyce, Church, Thompson, Parker, Bowers, Leath and Horton.

According to the IRS, the companies involved were

Jets Ravaging N. Viet Coast

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Navy jets ranged along North Vietnam's coast from Vinh to Haiphong Monday, wrecking bridges, supply depots and army barracks, the U.S. Command reported. But overcast skies inland cut the total number of U.S. strikes to about 150, less than half the number flown on recent big days.

The Navy pilots said they knocked out 10 bridges and in one raid destroyed 100 stacks of war material eight miles northeast of Vinh.

A6 Intruders from the carrier Kitty Hawk zeroed in on the Son Duong supply depot northeast of Haiphong, and the pilots said they left the installation in flames and exploding. Other Kitty Hawk pilots reported two big explosions after a raid on the Tho Vuc army barracks 50 miles southwest of Thanh Hoa.

Meanwhile, in South Vietnam, the North Vietnamese kept up their heavy artillery bombardment in and around Quang Tri, shot down a U.S. F4 Phantom over the city, hit another one and made several rocket and mortar attacks in the Saigon region.

Two American pilots aboard the downed F4 are missing, the U.S. Command said. Associated Press photographer Neal Ulevich reported that the plane was hit just as it was dropping a canister of napalm and exploded in flames.

Another U.S. Air Force Phantom at Quang Tri accidentally dropped 500-pound bombs on government marines a mile and a half north of the city Monday night, the U.S. Command said. It reported that one marine was killed and 13 were wounded.

"The incident is under investigation," the Command said.

Thirty miles south of Da Nang, scattered fighting was reported by South Vietnamese forces trying to block North Vietnamese troops from pushing out of the Que Son valley toward the populous coastal lowlands and Highway 1.

The Saigon command reported that its infantry and armored units killed 31 North Vietnamese troops, found the bodies of 11 others apparently killed by air strikes and captured four prisoners in fighting east of Que Son.

The Saigon command said the only South Vietnamese casualties were five wounded.

In a drive on the southern front aimed at regaining control of the former U.S. base in the Quan Loi rubber plantation east of An Loc, South Vietnamese forces claimed they killed 32 enemy and seized a stockpile of munitions. Two South Vietnamese were reported killed and 22 wounded.

Farmville Prices Still Up

The Farmville Tobacco Market completed its limited schedule Monday and moved into today's full opening of the 17 Eastern Belt markets with two sets of buyers.

According to Louis Williams, sales supervisor of the Farmville Tobacco Board of Trade, the market sold its allotted amount of tobacco each day during the early opening schedule and "prices broke all previous records."

Williams reported that during the eight days of limited sales, stablization did not receive a single pile of tobacco, a record for the market.

Volume of sale remained heavy Monday, Williams said, with offerings consisting mostly of primings and lugs. For the first time, he added, the volume of leaf grades showed an increase in sales. Volume of nondescript offerings reflected a slight decline Monday, compared with Thursday's sales, he said.

The market yesterday sold 249,190 pounds for $216,244, an average of $86.78. To date, he noted, the markets has sold 1,991,696 pounds for $1,722,490 an average of $86.48 per hundred pounds.

For the next three sales days, the poundage allottment has been increased from 249,040 pounds daily to 578,320 pounds, Williams continued. Selling time has been increased from three hours, 17 minutes to three hours, 48 minutes per set of buyers.

No New Moves In Land Acquisition By Board

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

Nothing new came out of the hour long closed session Monday of the Greenville City School Board relative to action on acquisition of the site for the proposed new middle-junior high school.

"The situation hasn't changed," Dr. Badger Clark, chairman of the board said. "We will still pursue our present course to obtain the site. We met with our attorney (Louis Gaylord Jr.) and our decision is to continue our present efforts."

A proposal to purchase a 30 acre tract of land adjacent to Kearney Park and off Hooker Road for $150,000 was disallowed by the Pitt County Commissioners as being excessive. Clerk of Court H. L. Lewis, acting as Review Authority between the school board and the commissioners, recommended a compromise price of $135,000. Owners of the property have not agreed to sell the tract of land for the $135,000 figure, and the situation remains stalemated at this point, with board members seeking alternatives to work out a solution for the purpose of the site.

School board members, under state law, have the prerogative of taking the matter to court, but to date have declined taking this course in an effort to break the stalemate.

A total of 293 prefessional personnel, including central office personnel, shared personnel in art, music and special education fields, principals and teachers were approved by the board for the 1972-73 school year. This number included the reinstatement of five personnel in special categories (bank, audiovisual, etc) whose reappointment had been held in abeyance pending a final budget decision outcome.

The amendments tentatively adopted at the last board meeting to adjust the school budget to meet cuts in the budget were given final approval at the Monday night meeting. Basically, the current expense portion of the budget was trimmed approximately $135,000 by the county commissioners. To make up for this amount, the school board members carried forward a little more than $64,000 from unencumbered funds from the current expense reserve, and cut a little over $70,000 in line items from current expense budget.

By eliminating the 20 cents Greenville supplemental school district tax, county commissioners chopped about $206,000 from the capital improvements portion of the school budget. They added, however, an additional $40,000 from county funds, resulting in a total cut back of about $166,000. School board members approved their tentative earlier action in earmarking the $40,000 for three capital improvement items — $15,000 for cafeteria equipment, $10,000 for transportation; and $15,000 to add to the fund for purchasing additional land for the Sadie Saulter school. It was noted that

Eastern Belt Markets Open Full Leaf Sales

With a successful two-week limited opening session behind it, the 17-market Eastern Belt began full operating this morning.

Today, markets in Ahoskie, Clinton, Dunn, Robersonville, Tarboro, Wallace, Washington, Wendell, Williamston and Windsor opened for the first time this season and joined Greenville, Farmville, Wilson, Goldsboro, Kinston, Smithfield and Rocky Mount, which opened on Aug. 8.

Monday's sales in Greenville remained high although the final day of the limited schedule saw a decrease in poundage over last Thursday's totals. Operating yesterday with two sets of buyers, the local market sold 453,349 pounds for $393,142 for an average of $86.72 per hundred pounds.

Season totals through Monday, according to the Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade, reflected sales of 3,984,788 pounds for $3,449,786, an eight-day average of $86.57.

Operating now with four sets of buyers, the poundage allotment for Greenville has been adjusted to 1,491,410 pounds daily, compared with the allocation of 498,080 pounds allowed through yesterday. Poundage allotments are set by the industrywide Flue-Cured Tobacco Marketing Committee.

According to the Federal-State Tobacco Market News Service in Wilson, the seven markets operating yesterday sold 2,712,326 pounds for $2,353,347, an average of $86.76 belt-wide.

Season totals for the limited operation amounted to 21,971,096 pounds which sold for $19,006,852, an average of $86.51. Stabilization receipts have been small, the News Service reported, and yesterday no receipts were recorded on the belt.

Wilson topped the seven markets Monday in poundage with sales of 514,186 while Smithfield posted the highest average, $86.91.

Free Lunch Policies Are Given

The free lunch program for the Greenville City Schools for the 1972-73 school year has been announced by the Greenville City Board of Education.

In accordance with guidelines established by state and federal agencies, eligibility for students to receive free lunches or lunches at a reduced rate has been based on income and number of people in a family.

In adopting the policy, it has also been provided that there will be no identification or discrimination against any student unable to pay the full cost of a meal.

Under provisions of the policy the individual school principals will review applications for reduced or free lunches and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling made by the principal he may request a hearing to appeal the decision. Glenn Cox Associate Superintendent, P.O. Box 1009 has been designated as the Hearing Official to hear any appeals.

To qualify for reduced or free meals for students, parents may file an application on forms sent home in a letter to parents. Applications may be submitted any time during the school year. The form is a simple one and only requests information needed to determine the economic need based on income and number of persons in the family plus any unusual circumstances that may affect the family's ability to pay for school meals.

The basic scale on which the 1972-73 free or reduced lunch program is based is as follows:

FAMILY	FREE LUNCHES	FREE OR REDUCED PRICE LUNCHES	NUMBER OF CHILDREN IN SCHOOL, PRESCHOOL, OR DAY CARE CENTERS
			1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11

Young Cheerleaders Marching To GOP Beat Given Red Carpet

By DEE WEDEMEYER
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Republicans have spiced their convention with a goggle-eyed young cheering squad which marches to the GOP beat as avidly as protesters on the outside march against it.

On cue from party organizers, the young volunteers clap and cheer at the convention hall.

The organizers, in turn, provide them a swimming pool, tennis court, rock bands and games to while away the hours until their next assignment.

Their cheering, foot-stomping and banner-waving through the evening session Monday livened up the proceedings and frequently delayed them.

Several of the speakers, including Pat Nixon, took note of the young people's presence with waves, smiles and "thank you's."

Their activities are managed by seven main organizers equipped with walkie-talkies for "more efficient manpower movement," said one of them, 24-year-old Tom Bell.

Some 3,000 strong, the GOP youths paid their own way to Miami Beach to cheer President Nixon and in the process, experience a smidgen of national politics.

The Nixon volunteers contrast sharply with the youthful delegation drawn here by the convention to protest Nixon administration policies, particularly on the Indochina war.

The "young voters for the President" stay in hotels. Their opposite numbers camp in Flamingo Park.

The Nixon group is bused daily to what they call the "holding area" at Nautilus Junior High School. There they wait until they are assigned to a team being dispatched to the convention hall or Republican functions elsewhere in the area.

At the holding area — dubbed "the pen" by an occasional cynic — there is no aroma of marijuana wafting through the air. In Flamingo Park, marijuana is widespread.

Whatever the GOP young people want has a way of turning up. When they needed a tennis court for a celebrity tennis match, a portable one was flown in from New York.

There are four rock bands taking turns at entertaining the young people while they paint signs welcoming Nixon to Florida. One band leader complains that the manpower managers keep interrupting the music to make announcements and once even pulled the plug on their equipment.

Inside the school there is a shower room and cots for quick naps. In the press room, workers mail news releases to the volunteers' hometown newspapers.

Each day top members of the administration drop in to speak to the group.

Bobby Threatens Another Walkout

By JULIE FLINT
Associated Press Writer

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — Bobby Fischer threatened to forfeit the 17th game of the world chess championship today, and perhaps the match, unless something is done about the audience noise in the auditorium, a source close to the American challenger said.

Referee Lothar Schmid said he received a letter of protest from Fischer early today. He declined to disclose the contents, but said it "was not in the rules and would have to be considered very carefully."

Schmid added that the game would be played tonight unless one of the players was ill.

After a drawn game Sunday, Fischer leads the Russian champ 9½ - 6½ and needs only three more points to take the crown. Spassky needs another 5½ to keep it. A win counts a full point, a draw a half.

Fischer asked referee Lothar Schmid twice on Sunday to transfer play to a private room because of the noise, but Schmid refused.

"You can expect to hear much more about this," a source close to Fischer said Mgnday. "The noise in there was terrible Sunday."

The auditorium has 2.500 seats, but the Icelandic Chess Federation brought in 10 extra rows of wooden benches Sunday and packed the house with paying customers. Enthusiasts stood in the aisles and lined up at the entrances.

The benches creaked, and the spectators talked aloud and whispered. Adults and children in sneakers streamed in and out. Whenever Fischer left the stage for a break, there was an explosion of coughing.

The referee repeatedly asked for quiet but to no avail.

There was no protest from Spassky. A Fischer aide said, "We wish he would. But he probably has bigger things on his mind."

The general feeling is that the Russian hasn't a chance. With a maximum of eight games still to be played he must win at least three and draw the other five. But Spassky has beaten Fischer only twice in the 15 games they've played, and Fischer has won six. Spassky was awarded the second game on a forfeit.

A local manufacturer has printed hundreds of "Bobby Wins" T-shirts but not one "Boris Wins."

Practical Nurses To Graduate

Nineteen Practical Nurse students will be graduating from Pitt Technical Institute, Wednesday.

Graduation exercises will be held in Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church at 7:30 p.m.

Addressing the students will be Dr. J. Elliott Dixon, M.D., of Ayden, who is on the staff of Pitt Memorial Hospital.

Other highlights of the exercises will be the pinning ceremony and conferring of the diplomas.

Friends and relatives of the graduating practical nurses and the public are cordially invited to attend the exercises honoring these students.

Grant To Aid Reading

RALEIGH (AP) — A $185,125 federal grant will be used for programs to improve reading skills and for guidance and tutoring programs in the state's eight youth correctional schools, Commissioner James M. Paige of the state Office of Youth Development announced Monday.

Paige explained that diagnostic and remedical reading laboratories would be continued at the eight schools and that individualized reading programs for severely academically retarded students would be started at the Stonewall Jackson School.

Serving As Nixonette

Becky Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Clark Jr. of 413 Winchester Drive in Greenville, is presently serving at the Republican National Convention in Miami Beach.

Miss Clark, 18, has been chosen as a Nixonette, working in support of President Richard Nixon at the convention.

Meet Tonight

The members of Morning Light Tent No. 458 and Loving Union Tent No. 464 will meet tonight at eight o'clock at Flanagan and Parker Funeral Home for the ceremony for Sister Carrie Wardell.

Langdale Will Be Speaker

Dr. Noah Langdale Jr., the president of Georgia State University, will be the featured speaker at the "School Appreciation Dinner," being sponsored Thursday by the Greenville Chamber of Commerce and Merchants Assn.

Harold Creech, Chamber manager said today "Dr. Langdale is in great demand as a speaker and has spoken in 48 states. He heads a rapidly growing State University and is well aware of the problems in education. He was appointed by Presidents Eisenhower and Kennedy to serve on the U. S. Avisory Committee for Education. Several Greenville citizens who have heard Dr. Langdale speak state that he is one of the most effective speakers they have ever heard."

George Shoe president of the Chamber of Commerce and Merchants Association said any parent or other interested citizen is eligible to attend the appreciation dinner.

A native of Valdosta, Georgia Dr. Langdale attended the University of Alabama and Harvard University.

Before entering the field of education, Dr. Langdale served in the U.S. Navy during World War II and practiced law in Valdosta.

New Teachers Are Appointed

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wilkinson are to be the new teachers at Brookhaven Seventh-day Adventist School.

The Wilkinsons come from a background of Christian education. Both have their degrees from Southern Missionary College in Tennessee.

Mrs. Wilkinson is originally from Fresno, Cal., and Mr. Wilkinson is from Washington, D.C.

Two Injuries In Four City Wrecks

An estimated $3,400 property damage from a series of four collisions here yesterday that also injured two persons.

Police reported Miss Deannie Boone Hasket of 206 South Elm St. was hurt when struck by a car about 7:37 a.m. at the intersection of Tenth and Elm Streets.

No charges were made by officers who identified the driver of the vehicle involved as Edwin Forrest Martin Jr., 35 of 509 East Second St.

Thomas Euel Sugg, 21 of Route 2, Farmville was reported injured when his vehicle went out of control at the intersection of Dickinson and Grande Avenues about 9:30 p.m. and collided with a utility pole.

Sugg was charged with careless and reckless driving. Damage to his car was placed at $2,000.

Harold Lee Watson Jr., 21 of Stokes was charged with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of a 10:41 a.m. collision on Greene Street, 35 feet South of the Moore Street intersection.

Police identified the driver of the second car involved as George Clifton Butler, 26 of Route 4, Greenville and estimated damage at $350 to the Butler vehicle and $450 to the Watson car.

Cars driven by Jessie Thomas Jones, 20 of Route 4, Greenville and Elijah Bynum, 27 also of Route 4, Greenville, were reported involved in a 7:34 a.m. collision on Fifth Street, 50 feet West of the Memorial Drive intersection.

Damage was estimated at $425 to the Jones car and $175 to the Bynum auto by officers who charged Jones with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety.

No Foul Play In Death

FARMVILLE — Preliminary reports from an autopsy on the body of Mrs. Frances W. Riles, 40, of Farmville reveal no signs of foul play, according to Pitt County Coroner and Medical Examiner E. W. Harvey.

Harvey said suspicions of foul play in Mrs. Riles' death Sunday night apparently were unwarranted. Toxicological examinations are being made by the State Medical Examiner now to try to determine the cause of death, he added.

Mrs. Riles' body, which apparently had been lifeless several hours, was found by her husband, Willie Riles, when he went home early Monday, according to Farmville Police to whom Riles reported the death.

THE STRAIGHT-UP MARTINI DRINKER. VICTIM OF THE ICE AGE.

It is a sad fact that the last of America's Straight-Up Martini Drinkers are disappearing in a glacier of ice cubes. Once again, expediency and convenience are destroying tradition and style.

We at Canada Dry are doing our bit to stem the tide. By making a gin so dry and smooth that it gives the Straight-Up Martini Drinker the courage to go on. And let the on-the-rocks crowd remember: a gin good enough for the Straight-Up Man is good enough for any man.

If you know a Straight-Up Martini Drinker, tell him to take heart. And some Canada Dry Gin.

Babysitters Need Union

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I am boiling! I just read an article in The Los Angeles Times entitled, "The Pride of Being a Single Mother."

In that article the writer said, "Paying the little old lady down the street $2 an hour for plunking the kids in front of the TV all evening is highway robbery."

How about the little old lady who is hired to look after children who have never had any discipline, seldom get a decent meal [they "snack" all day] and have no set bedtime? She's supposed to be housekeeper, nurse, referee, help with the homework and entertain them.

I baby-sit and was never paid $2 an hour. I was paid 75 cents an hour, and I've had as many as four kids to look after at one time for the same 75 cents! When I recently upped my price to a dollar you never heard such an uproar!

I think we need a good baby-sitter's union. I'd gladly join. If women can't afford to pay someone a decent fee for looking after their children for an evening, let them stay home. That's what we did. Edit this and print it, please.

LITTLE OLD LADY BABY-SITTER

DEAR LADY: What's to edit? You've said it beautifully.

DEAR ABBY: My sister in law thinks she knows everything just because she's a college graduate. I am not a college graduate. In fact I only went thru the tenth grade, but I do have common sense which I wouldn't trade my sister in law for her college diploma.

She and her husband [my brother] sneak out of the house while their 14-month-old baby is being distracted by the baby-sitter because if the baby knows the parents are leaving he will make a fuss and cry.

I say this is wrong. Parents should prepare the baby for their departure and say goodbye, and even if the baby makes a fuss, at least the baby will know they are leaving. [I have baby-sat with lots of children of all ages, and I have noticed that most babies will cry when the parents say goodbye, but as soon as they are out of sight the babies stop crying.]

Please put this in the paper with your comments.

LIZ VS. DOTTY

DEAR LIZ: You're right on target. When parents sneak away from little ones, when the little ones discover they're gone, they feel abandoned and betrayed—which is the most traumatic and punishing treatment a child can experience. [Ask any psychoanalyst.]

DEAR ABBY: Would you kindly comment at your earliest convenience regarding the policy of sending a 5-year-old boy across the United States alone by plane. He is to visit his father who is divorced from his mother.

The boy is perfectly normal, but if I were he, I would want more than a couple of pretty stewardesses grinning at me like two Cheshire cats for six and a half hours. He has never taken an airplane trip alone and insists that he wants to go and he will be all right. [He will return alone, too.]

I am his grandfather, and yes, I have all my marbles, but I am not so sure about his parents who are not in the slightest worried.

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Don't worry. The stewardesses do more than just grin at young passengers who are traveling alone. They insure their safety and comfort. If the boy is put on the plane and met, there is no reason to be concerned about him.

Friendship Is As Important As Food In Program

By JEANNE LESEM
UPI Food Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Friendship is as important as food in a senior citizens' lunch program in Massachusetts schools.

Social contacts made in school lunchrooms are the real bonus, says Marion L. Cronan, who has helped supervise the program since its inception as a prepilot project in the Brookline school system in 1968. Miss Cronan is director of homemaking and school food services in the Boston suburb. Her district was one of the first selected because it had the highest percentage in the state of persons 65 years and older.

The program is funded by a special federal grant to the State Council on Aging, and it receives donated foods from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service.

Low cost Meal

As a result, senior citizens pay only 50 cents per meal. So far, no one in the Brookline program has been unable to afford this token sum, and Miss Cronan is confident that agency assistance could be found if needed.

The ability to pay is an important part of the program, because it avoids the stigma of charity, but Miss Cronan said in a letter that she sees other equally important social benefits.

Before the lunch program began, some elderly men and women wouldn't even dress and leave their rooms during the day. Now they eagerly don their best clothes five days a week to meet new friends over a hot lunch at school.

A similar reaction is reported from other cities that have tried the program, including Santa Fe, N.M., Eau Claire, Wis., and Avon, Conn. In Santa Fe, several friendships even led to marriage.

A growing number of cities provide home delivery of meals for the elderly, but Miss Cronan feels that eating together in school lunchrooms has several advantages over the other system.

For one thing, the aged enjoy watching the children whose lunch hour precedes theirs, and the youngsters relate well to the older group. Miss Cronan said she thinks the young people respond better to the elderly than they do to many middleaged persons, who may represent the authority of parents or teachers.

Many Curious Visit

The Brookline project attracts outside visitors.

"Schools of nursing send students who are studying geriatrics," she wrote. "Students in public health or nutrition often visit, and people from other communities come to see how it works."

A representative from the Brookline Multiservice Senior Center is there daily to chat informally with the men and women. She refers those with medical problems to the health department or sends a visiting nurse to their homes. She has helped some find new living quarters and she arranges psychiatric and social help for those who need it.

Many older persons' eating habits are notoriously poor, but Miss Cronan said the program quickly demonstrated that some of the elderly are eager to learn about good nutrition.

She added that older people generally tend to eat too much bread, cereals and sweets, and too little meat, fish, poultry, fruit and vegetables. One woman told Miss Cronan that her lunch, before the school program was launched, had consisted of an English muffin and coffee at a fast food service restaurant. The cost was 40 cents—only 10 cents less than she now pays for a full hot meal.

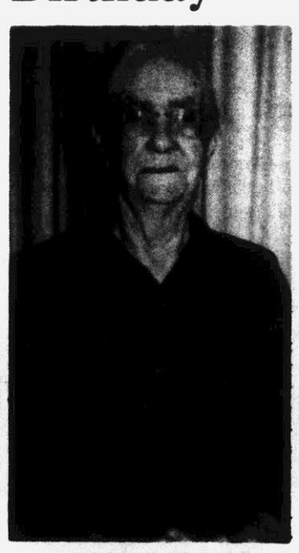

The school program is continued during the summer session, but five meals a week during the school year isn't adequate, in Miss Cronan's view, and she hopes the Older Americans Act of Congress soon will make possible delivery of meals to the housebound and those on special diets. She'd also like to see it expand to include breakfast and-or supper.

"Schools should be open to serve the community—not just for children—for also adults at all hours," she wrote. "We have an obligation to care for those who need our service, to provide adequate nutrition in attractive surroundings, seasoned to give pleasure to the palate and warmth and joy to the heart."

Chair Almost Took Her Dress

HAMBURG, West Germany (WNS) — Elsie Delaney, a 68-year-old tourist from Boston, was shocked at the rootic nudity of the nightclub revue and wanted to leave. "But when I tried to stand up, I found that I was literally glued to my chair," she reported later. "My skirt ripped almost completely off; and I would have made a spectacle of myself if waiters hadn't bundled me into a tablecloth." The management apologized for its newly-painted chairs, sent Mrs. Delaney to her hotel in a chauffered car and promised her a new dress.

About 75 per cent of the food used in school lunch programs in the United States is bought by schools locally. The remainder is donated by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Stickley Was Good Appointment

We applaud Gov. Scott's appointment of Jack Stickley of Charlotte as the Republican member of the State Board of Elections, and also Stickley's decision to serve in that capacity in spite of the Republican State Chairman's demand that he resign.

The best interest of North Carolina voters, both Democrat and Republican, will be served by those two decisions.

Jack Stickley is a well-known and well respected member of the Republican Party in North Carolina. More important than that he is a well-known, well-respected and capable leader who has devoted his energies and ability in serving this state in a number of capacities.

In choosing Stickley for the Republican seat on the State Board of Elections, Gov. Scott chose a man of proven ability and unquestioned integrity. He chose an outstanding member of the Republican party. Certainly there was no reason for the Governor to seek prior approval of Republican State Chairman Frank Rouse or anyone else in choosing a man of Stickley's qualifications for that important post.

Republican Chairman Rouse's demand that Stickley resign the post is an example of petty politics in its worst form.

A Pattern For Orderly Growth

By BRYAN HAISLIP

RALEIGH — Orderly growth as a goal for North Carolina's future would be promoted by an amendment to the state constitution on the fall general election ballot.

It would erect a barrier to the haphazard creation of new municipalities in the fringe area of present cities.

The urbanizing trend, and state efforts to contain it within a pattern of planning, makes significant the pending decision by voters on the amendment which so far has attracted little attention.

BRYAN HAISLIP

"It makes good growth sense," said Leigh Wilson, executive director of the North Carolina League of Municipalities.

Too often in the past, he said, the logical extension of a city's boundaries and services has been stymied by a new incorporation in the surburbs. The result has been multiple local government units where one could perform better and more economically, he said.

"To insure sound development for the entire state," Wilson continued, "we strongly believe it is necessary to control the indiscriminate incorporation of new municipalities."

Limiting Zones Fixed

What the amendment would do is fix zones around cities, according to population, within which new incorporations would be made more difficult.

For example, a one-mile zone would apply for towns of 5,000 or more; three miles for those of 10,000 or more; four miles, 25,000 or more, and five miles, 50,000 and over.

Creation of new municipal units within the zones would not be prohibited. However, getting a charter would require a three-fifth vote of both House and Senate in the state legislature. Normally, it takes only a simple majority.

There is another route to incorporation, through the state board of municipal control. The procedure is more complicated, and most would-be towns prefer the legislative course.

Five Born In 1971

Five new towns came into existence as a result of legislation in the 1971 session. Two of them, Woodfin adfacent to Asheville and Mint Hill in the vicinity of Charlotte, could have been affected had the proposed amendment been in force.

Although the municipalities league is giving strong support to the amendment, it did not originate the proposal.

It was introduced in the '71 General Assembly by Rep. Hung Warlick, Catawba Republican. A number of other House members joined in its sponsorship, and legislators serving on the Local Government Study Commission aided its smooth passage.

Thus far, no organized opposition has surfaced. Some negative feelings may be stirred up among surburbanites inclined to resist encroaching municipal growth.

It might be argued that the amendment would encourage the big to get bigger at a time when there is discussion of the desirability of limiting urban size.

Orderly Growth Assurance

In answer to that, Wilson said the procedure under the amendment would work to assure orderly growth where growth is inevitable. "All experience indicates that an on-going, established unit can provide necessary services at less cost than a new, smaller unit," he explained.

Actually, he said, the amendment would favor the urban cluster pattern of dispersed population advocated by state planners since it would aim the location of new communities at a comfortable distance from present cities.

North Carolina is a state of small towns. For example, only 69 of its 400-plus municipalities had 5,000 or more population in the 1970 census and would be at all affected by the amendment. Only eight cities of 50,000 or more population would be affected by the maximum five-mile limit on new incorporation.

The incentive to incorporate has increased in recent years with fund-sharing programs such as the Powell Bill which turns over a portion of state gasoline tax to municipalities for street work. Federal revenue-sharing now before Congress could make it more attractive.

So far, North Carolina has escaped the galloping incorporation that has caused problems in urban areas of other states. Metropolitan Atlanta, which embraces 53 governmental units and spreads into three counties, is cited as an example that should be avoided.

McGovern Should Win Before He Negotiates

Sen. George McGovern should concentrate on winning the election first and then negotiating with the North Vietnamese.

Recently Ramsey Clark has journeyed to N. Vietnam where a voice identified as his appeared on the controlled radio there. Clark was not identified as a McGovern envoy but Clark has admitted he is a McGovern supporter.

Then Pierre Salinger showed up to talk to North Vietnam delegates in Paris. McGovern first denied any connection, then he admitted that Salinger was representing him.

The United States can be represented by only one government in such delicate negotiations. Until and unless Sen. McGovern can get elected he should do nothing to interfere.

Didn't Bother With Analysis

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

MIAMI BEACH — The low opinion within the White House of President Nixon's reelection campaign organization sank even lower last week when Presidential aides made a startling discovery.

They found that the campaign staff had failed to make even a routine analysis of delegates attending the 1972 Republican national convention. Expecting no floor fights, they had not bothered. And with some 70 per cent fo the Republican delegates attending their first convention, the campaign staff confessed to the White House it could not accurately forecast the outcome of a possible convention floor fight over the nature of the 1976 convention.

"I couldn't believe my ears," a White House aide told us. "What have those guys (the reelection campaign committee) been doing over there for the past year?" Southern and Western states fighting the proposed increase in 1976 delegate strength for the big Eastern industrial states learned weeks ago they could not count on practical help from Mr. Nixon's political operation even though his campaign aides quietly support them.

Consequently, staffers of conservative Republican Congressmen were brought here to run a delegate-counting operation out of the Eden Roc Hotel suite of Mississippi state chairman Clarke Reed. They have been wooing conservative delegates from such large states as New York, Illinois, Ohio and Indiana for a possible floor fight.

Similarly, the Southern-Western coalition has had to make its own decisions without Nixon campaign help. Its high command — State Chairman Reed, D. Jack Gibson of South Dakota, David Kennedy of Wyoming and Earl Davenporty of Washington — decided their plan to retain the power balance in the smaller states would fail in the rules committee unless it were revised to enlarge the number of convention delegates.

For hours Wednesday, they awaited approval from Nixon campaign headquarters at the Doral Hotel. When one came, they made the decision themselves, just before the rules committee convened to decide the question.

Westwood's Pyrrhic Win

A tart letter of resignation from Olga (Bobbie) Gechas, hired during the regime of former Democratic national chairman Fred Harris to build up the National Committee's list of small contributors, is the latest sign that Jean Westwood, the new national chairman, is cleaning house from top to bottom.

But Sen. George McGovern may find that the housecleaning of Bobbie Gechas and former party vice chairman Mary Lou Burg will prove to be a pyrrhic victory for the McGovern-stamped new regime at the National Committee headed by Mrs. Westwood.

Held in highest regard by former national chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien and treasurer Robert S. Strauss (who succeeded the Harris regime), Miss Gechas sent her boss, National Committee treasurer Donald Petrie, a scorching "memo" explaining her reasons for quitting.

"It has been dismaying and in some instances demeaning to have been confronted with questions of confidence in my sense of responsibility, my judgment as well as my sense of concern for the financial needs of the DNC and the tasks at hand," she wrote Petrie, with copies ot Mrs. Westwood, O'Brien (now McGovern's campaign chairman) and Strauss.

During her 2-½ years at the committee, Miss Gechas built the list of direct-mail contributors from 16,000 to more than 80,000 assuring the committee money enough to keep its current bills paid despite the hugh overhang of

Strength For Today

STOP!

Loneliness is one of the tragic realities of life. Some people go through life with their hearts continually heavy with loneliness. Perhaps a loved one whose companionship could never be replaced died years ago. Perhaps a loved one has to live in an out-of-the-way place. Undoubtedly the most poignant suffering from loneliness is experienced by those who know their personalities are not particularly attractive. So they go through life wishing they had friends and knowing they have very few.

Yet there are many lonely people who are radiantly happy. These are the folks who appear to take hold of an unpleasant situation and do nothing but grieve. But occasionally a person destined to loneliness becomes a very satisfactory musician. This of course requires some natural talent. But it does not require natural talent for someone to read widely to join organizations and participate in their activities to go out of the way to meet human needs.

It may seem rather cruel to say so but when people are painfully lonely they usually deserve what they have to endure. For they can be up and reading up and working up and serving on committees up and going about in a hundred activities if they will.

Stop being lonely! There is no excuse for it. Stop!

Talk Centers On 1976

This ought to be Richard Nixon's convention, and by all the ordinary rules, the talk ought to focus on the election of '72. Such is the nature of news that most of the conversation turns to Spiro Agnew, and the talk is talk of '76.

Everybody knows whom the Republicans will run this time. But whom will they run next time? That was the underlying question behind last week's skirmishing over new rules for delegate selection. It seems a doubtful complement, but it is a tribute to the Vice President's eminence within the party that a "stop Agnew" movement already is taking shape. The gentleman will spend four years before the mast.

Party liberals had some merit on their side when they pleaded for larger representation for the industrial Northeast. On paper, at least, States that cast 52 percent of Nixon's popular vote in 1968 should be entitled to something more than 37 percent of the delegates at the national convention. Southern and Western conservatives had a more convincing argument in return: Popular votea are good, but electoral votes are better. South Carolina, for example, had delivered; Connecticut had not. It's performance that counts. The conservatives prevailed.

It was a good omen for Agnew and a mild setback for the opposing forces that are identified, however loosely, with Senator Charles H. Percy of Illinois. If the reform faction had won, Percy presumably would have been in a better position to seek the nomination in 1976.

What about Agnew four years hence? The Vice President was born in November of 1918. He would then be 58 years old. That is getting on up there, to be sure — only seven Presidents have been older at inauguration — but Agnew's age would count as a secondary factor. In a good many quarters, the man who was not even a household word in 1968 has become a household epithet in 1972. It is Agnew's singular talent that he royally stirs up the animals. He holds the Order of the Ogre, first class, with palms; he is the boo-hiss champion on almost every campus.

This caricature of Agnew, as some sort of abominable no-man, is wholly unwarranted. In many areas of social concern, Agnew has attitudes and instincts more liberal than those of Richard Nixon, which is saying a good deal. His great sin is that he has dast to criticize the media, and for this the media will not forgive him. Agnew thus appears as a bloated and ominous figure, bulb-nosed and slit-eyed, whose particular pleasures lie in oppressing the blacks and censoring the press.

The cartoon image belies the reality. Agnew is a strong man, unflappable, possessed

Other Editors Say Meritorious Action

(The Cartaret News-Times)

Commendation is due all of the officers who participated in the weekend roundup of persons charged in connection with drug traffic.

The recent development was not merely a spurt of activity, on the part of law enforcement officers, to control the drug trade. County, town and state officers, in cooperation with military authorities, have consistently been making drug arrests in this area.

The courts, rather consistently, have been putting first offenders on probation and few, if any, sentences have been meted out which involved imprisonment.

We have no quarrel with that, especially if the judge feels convinced that he has made a mistake and indicates that he will avoid drugs in the future.

We do quarrel with the courts when they turn loose those in the drug trade who sell. There have been instances in our courts where this has happened.

Of what use is a roundup of drug traffickers if nothing is done with the traffickers after they're caught? Yet law enforcement officers week after week, in many cases of law violation, see their efforts go down the drain, when courts "cut a hole in the net" and let the fish, many of them fat on ill-gotten grains, get away.

There has been indication that, where law-breaking involved the young, the judges have sometimes been swayed more by parental arguing and anguish, than by sincere belief that the youngster himself is going to mend his ways.

Drugs are insidious. Many persons have tried to equate drug use with liquor, another underminer of physical and mental wellbeing, but we have yet to learn of an 18-year-older consistently stealing to support a liquor habit!

The drug problem is baffling. It's a problem that will never be solved. The only hope is to curb and control it. Vigorous law enforcement helps.

Life's Big Payoffs

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — The big payoff in any life is its memories.

They have a lasting value. Unlike money, you can spend them more than once.

A happy memory is indeed above price. Since it proves that you were happy once, it holds out the hope you can know happiness again.

HAL BOYLE

You've had your fair share of memories if you can look back and remember when—

Milton Berle was on the television screen so much that you wondered if your set was stuck in a rut.

You stayed awake almost until dawn on your first Boy Scout overnight hike, fearful that a snake or wild animal would creep or crawl into the tent.

It made you sad the first time you noticed your father's hair was getting gray. All at once he seemed to be smaller and older.

As a child you felt cheated when you went to a big circus, because, no matter how hard you tried, you could never watch the things going on in more than two of the three rings at the same time.

Mothers didn't think it was unsanitary if a kid wanted his dog to sleep on his bed with him.

The biggest satisfaction in getting the measles as a youngster was to poke a pocked face out the window and give a melancholy wave of your arm, like a dying swan, to the hushed, sympathetic circle of young friends below. No stage tragedian never put on a better act.

You hopped aboard a freight train and then, after clinging to the side for five miles, leaped off because running away from home didn't seem so romantic after all.

All old people ever talked about was who had just died, or who was mortally ill and soon would, and you wondered if death really had to happen to you, too, or whether you might become the first person to fool

After capturing three silver loving cups and fifteen ribbons for meritorious service, Battery A of the 113th Field Atillery, returned to Greenville yesterday morning from a fifteen day encampment at Fort Bragg. In addition to winning laurels in practically all fields of activities, the battery sustained its record as the "Best unit in the regiment" and won favorable comment from commanding officers for its splendid record of service.

New Incentives For Lenders

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The recurring problem of housing is the irregular manner in which the money flows. In a flush economy the mortgage channels are filled to bursting; in tighter times hardly a dribble passes through.

It is an industry, therefore, that must be irrigated. Because lenders generally can obtain higher rates from other loans, they must be offered incentives to put it into housing.

The most recent of these is the variable interest rate, now being pushed by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, which regulates the biggest mortgage lenders of all, the nation's savings and loan associations.

Under such plans the borrower pays the lender a higher rate of interest if interest rates in general go up. The payment can be handled in two ways: By increasing the monthly note, or by adding to the loan's length.

In either case the effect is to give lenders assurance that if general rates rise they won't be locked into mortgages that could prove very costly.

This development is one of several recently that is bound to provide far more stability to the housing market while at the same time making it easier for Americans to own their own homes.

Earlier, the 5 per cent down payment was introduced, and while it may take some lenders a while to get used to the idea of such a large loan for a long time, the increasing stability of the market is expected to lead them that way.

One incentive to do so is the enormous potential of the housing market. More than 60 per cent of all units today are owner-occupied, and the rate continues to increase, notwithstanding the huge apartment houses that have changed the appearance of much of urban America.

Simultaneous with this rise in home ownership is the development of the second home market. And while it is unlikely that 95 per cent loans will be made on second homes, the trend in all probability will be easier terms.

The fact is that, despite interest rates that are held by regulatory officials to levels that are sometimes lower than those offered to blue chip corporations, the housing market is attractive to lenders.

The chief attraction is security. The delinquency rate on mortgages is minute. And even if the lender is forced to foreclose, he generally can recoup the greater part of his investment.

Allende Declares Chile Emergency

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — President Salvador Allende declared a state of emergency in Santiago Province Monday night in an attempt to quell mounting protests against food shortages brought on by his socialist policies.

Most of Chile's 150,000 shopkeepers closed in a one-day protest strike Monday, housewives in Santiago staged another pot-banging demonstration, riot squads clashed with anti-Marxist demonstrators and antileftist youths put up flaming barricades along 10 blocks of Santiago's swank Providencia Avenue.

Sixty demonstrators were reported arrested in Santiago when police used tear gas and clubs against groups shouting slogans against Allende's regime and its efforts to break the shop strike.

The shopkeepers' strike was the biggest show of protest by private enterprise since Allende took office 22 months ago on a platform of gradual government takeover of trade and industry. The government branded the strike illegal and politically motivated. An executive order authorized government officials to break into shops handling essential goods and sell them to the public.

Serious food shortages have developed during Allende's reign as a result of a slump in agricultural production that followed the takeover or the threatened takeover of private farmlands. Beef is sold only three days a week and long queues are seen at shops. In addition, many imported items are disappearing from store shelves because of foreign exchange shortages due to a drop in copper production.

Six Dead In New Ireland Bombing

BELFAST (AP) — An explosion in a customs post in the border town of Newry today killed six persons, police said. They said two of the dead apparently were guerrillas who brought the explosives into the building.

A third man waiting outside in a car drove off when the blast ripped through the concrete building.

Two other persons were seriously injured.

It was the biggest terrorist toll in Northern Ireland since July 31, when three bombs killed nine persons in the village of Claudy, near Londonderry.

The six dead raised to 524 the confirmed death toll in Northern Ireland's three years of violence.

The customs post is on the main Belfast-Dublin highway, about 30 miles southwest of Belfast and three miles from the border.

Security sources speculated that the guerrillas were carrying a charge of nitrobenzene, a highly volatile chemical which the Irish Republican Army is now using extensively. The guerrillas turned to this explosive after British troops captured large stocks of gelignite in the sweeps they have been making since they invaded Roman Catholic areas of Belfast and Londonderry three weeks ago.

In the 1920s your mother marched into a man's barber shop, and had him snip off her long tresses and give her a short hair bob. That evening Dad took one glance at her and said, "What in the hell is getting into women these days, anyway?", and your mother said, "Oh, shut up, you old stick-in-the-mud. It looks better this way, and it's lots cooler."

of an inner serenity and a keen sense of humor. He has learned much in these four years as Vice President. This was evident last month, when he submitted to 45 minutes of wide-ranging questions before the International Platform Association.His answers were responsive, knowledgeable, and clear. Agnew has the stuff of which Presidents are made.

What of other porspects? Percy will be 57 in 1976. He has first to win re-election in Illinois, and then establish the solid reputation that has eluded him in his first term in the Senate. If the times favor a moderate liberal, he probably would be in the best position to battle Agnew for the prize.

Other names are tossed around. John B. Connally, if he came all the way over to the Republicans, would be a hot prospect even at 59. Senator Howard H. Baker, Jr., of Tennessee, and Senator John G. Tower of Texas are possibilities. There is talk of Senator Robert P. Griffin of Michigan, and of Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird. The next four years might see the emergence of Maryland's Senator Charles McC. Mathias and New York's Senator James L Buckley.

If the Nixon-Agnew ticket shoud lose in November, it will be anybody's ball game in '76. Agnew would than rank as no more than the Republicans' Hubert Humphrey. But if the team wins, Agnew will be heir apparent. This year's GOP convention may be full. The next one won't be.

a $9 million debt.

A somewhat similar letter of resignation was sent by Mary Lou Burg, Wisconsin national committeewoman, to Chairman Westwood late last week, but Miss Burg refused to discuss it. Mrs. Westwood had confereed the title of "deputy chairman" on her, but the title proved to be meaningless. Miss Burg, after two years as National Committee vice chairman, was given absolutely nothing to do.

Although the forced resignations of these two political experts has gone unnoticed, they are one reason why pro-McGovern politicians worry so deeply about the McGovern campaign. With all its other problems, they feel, it is squandering talent in a way that will haunt the fall campaign.

Directories To Go Out

Delivery of Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company's new Greenville, Ayden, Bethel, Farmville, Fountain, and Snow Hill directory is scheduled to begin August 26, according to Don A. Collier, local manager for the company. About 36,300 directories will be mailed, he said.

"Subscribers should have their directories by September 1st. If they are not received, the telephone business office should be notified," he said.

"When you get the new directory, please throw away the old one to avoid using the old directory and possibly getting a wrong number," Collier said. He also suggested that subscribers can save time by consulting the directory before calling directory assistance.

The new directory has about 26,250 alphabetical listings, 3,000 more than last year's, Collier said.

Admits Oil Spill

FOREST CITY, N. C. (AP) — An Environmental Protection Agency official, Denny Dobbs of Atlanta, says a Forest City, N. C., company has admitted causing an oil spill which covered a portion of the Broad River in North Carolina and South Carolina.

Dobbs, chief of the oil cleanup section of the EPA emergency branch in Atlanta, said Jim and Jack Robbins, brothers who own B&R Transport Co., said Monday their firm started the oil slick late last week.

Dobbs said asphalt in one of the firm's contract hauling trucks was thinned with fuel and dumped into a ravine on property owned by the Robbins' several miles from Harris, a community nearly 10 miles south of Forest City.

Dobbs said the liquefied asphalt seeped out of a ravine, ran into a small stream and then into Richardson Creek, a tributary of the Broad River.

The EPA official said the cleanup operation will probably be completed today. It was begun Saturday. Dobbs said the operation will probably cost the hauling firm $5,000. He also said the slick caused no permanent damage along the 20 mile stretch of river.

Obituaries

Collins

Mrs. Mae Lancaster Collins, 84, widow of Roger M. Collins Sr., died at Pinehaven Nursing Home in Farmville Tuesday morning at 4:10 after several months of illness.

Funeral services will be conducted at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Wilkerson Funeral Chapel by the Rev. Percy Upchurch, a former pastor of the Memorial Baptist Church. Burial will be in Forest Hill Cemetery in Nashville.

Mrs. Collins was the daughter of the late William J. and Lula Moore Lancaster of Edgecombe County. She attended the County School at Littleton, N.C., and Female College and the Wilkerson Private School in Tarboro. Her husband died January 19, 1957. She was a member of the Memorial Baptist Church and since 1956 had made her home in Greenville.

Surviving are two sons, Roger M. Collins Jr. of Greenville and Wyatt A. Collins of Tampa, Fla.; three daughters; Mrs. C. Stanley Clevenger of Winchester, Va., Mrs. Albert L. Russell of Flagler Beach, Fla., and Mrs. William S. Russell of Jacksonville, Fla.; 13 grandchildren; 14 great grandchildren; two brothers; Luther L. Lancaster of Wilmington, Calif., and W. Berry Lancaster of West Miflin, Pa.; and two sisters; Mrs. Maude L. Stallings of Rocky Mount and Mrs. Nora L. Andrews of Raleigh.

The family will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Collins, 125 N. Harding Street.

Waddell

Mrs. Carrie Waddell died Saturday morning at the home of her sister, Mrs. Lenora Howard, 903 Douglas Ave., after a lingering illness. Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday at 4:30 p.m. at Sycamore Hill Baptist Church with the Rev. B.B. Felder, pastor officiating. Burial will be in the Brown Hill Cemetery.

Mrs. Wadell, daughter of the late Andrew and Diana Moore, was born in Pitt County and spent all her life in the Greenville Community. She was a member of Sycamore Hill Baptist Church and Morning Light Tent No. 458.

Surviving are three sons, William Waddell of Brooklyn, N.Y., David Waddell of Hampton, Va., and Lennie Waddell of New York; one sister, Mrs. Lenora Howard of Greenville; four grandchildren.

The body will be at Flanagan & Parker Funeral Home until one hour prior to the service. The family will be at the funeral home from 8 to 9 p.m. tonight.

Crandell

ROBERSONVILLE — Mr. and Mrs. James Stewart Crandell announce the birth and death of a daughter, Jamie Malinda Crandell, Monday afternoon.

Graveside funeral services will be conducted Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the Robersonville Cemetery by the Rev. Jerry Smith.

Surviving the child besides the parents are the paternal grandmother, Mrs. Hallie Crandell of Robersonville; and the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Thea Dalton Lewis of Tarboro.

effort to seat a New Mexico supporter who would be able to express his views to the convention as well as voting for him, party officials were unable to stick precisely to their carefully drawn timetable.

The first two sessions of what Dole termed "the on-time convention" began 11 and three minutes late, respectively, and the night session ran more than an hour overtime. It still ended at 11:36 p.m. EDT, a far cry from the all-night marathons of last month's Democratic convention.

It was marked by a mixup over one of a series of films on the program. A technician's error caused those in the brightly lit, flag-decorated hall to see a movie on Nixon's career that had been scheduled for tonight while home television viewers saw the scheduled opening-night film on administration accomplishments.

While the session proceeded placidly inside Convention Hall, some 3,500 persons demonstrated in the climax of a peaceful day of protests, marred only by scuffles between militant Cubans and Zippies and several arrests after an antiwar march.

Few of the delegates, most of them leaving from side and rear exits, saw the protestors.

The formal session Monday night featured five speeches — by California Gov. Ronald Reagan, the convention's temporary chairman; Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and the three convention keynoters, Sen. Edward W. Brooke of Massachusetts, party Co-chairman Anne Armstrong of Texas and Mayor Richard G. Lugar of Indianapolis — plus a filmed tribute to Mrs. Nixon.

Brooke, the only black senator and an acknowledged foe of Nixon's Vietnam policies, hailed the President's "bold and decisive leadership" in seeking closer ties with China and the Soviet Union and said his administration had produced "a recovery of confidence" at home.

Mrs. Armstrong urged Democrats "deserted by McGovern and his extremists" to back the GOP, while Mayor Lugar called for the South Dakota senator's defeat "to prevent unparalleled disaster at home and abroad."

After his speech, the 40-year-old mayor, who has used his keynoter spot to project himself into the 1976 race, told a news conference he hopes "I'll be considered for president of the United States.

"This is a long-term objective but obviously some of the things we're doing this week are going to be steps along the way," he added.

To Take Applications

FARMVILLE — Farmville Commissioners agreed yesterday to accept applications for town administrator to fill the vacancy created by the death of Carl Beaman last Monday.

Tax collector W. A. "Andy" Martin Sr. was named town clerk and treasurer on a permanent basis. A Wake County native, Martin came to Farmville in 1935, where he served as a policeman for seven and a half years, worked two years for other firms, and then began to work in the town office. He and his wife, Gray, have a son, Andy Jr., and a grandson.

The commissioners also certified a canvas of votes in last Tuesday's municipal water bond election.

Reopen Lake

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — Winston-Salem officials say they will reopen Salem Lake if tests continue to show nothing toxic by late this afternoon.

The lake, which supplies half of the city's water, has been shut down for several days following discovery of about 1,000 dead fish in the lake last week.

Water and sewer Superintendent Stanford Harris said Monday the reason for the fish kill is still unknown.

He noted that the Environmental Protection Agency laboratory in Athens, Ga., had tested the water and said it was "one of the best quantities of raw water they had analyzed."

One more tests will be taken today, Harris said and if it shows nothing, the lake will be reconnected to the city water system.

Harris said city residents had apparently responded to a plea to avoid unnecessary water use with usage Monday running about 10 million gallons below normal.

the elimination of the Greenville supplemental tax had made necessary postponing some hoped for improvements, particularly air conditioning for the schools.

Associate Superintendent Glenn Cox reported to the board that the situation on insurance for the schools now looked more hopeful. He noted that there were indications that insurance for some of the buildings which in recent years have been under a high risk policy might now be procurable under more favorable terms. The board accepted his recommendation for the committee working on insurance to continue negotiations before making a final choice.

Rose High Principal Robert Alligood reported that negotiations had been worked out with East Carolina University officials for continued use of Ficklen Stadium on Friday nights for high school football games for the coming season. In the opening rounds of the negotiations, university officials had proposed that the high school games be held on Thursday nights. Alligood reported the fee for each game this year would be $231.40 as opposed to $80 in past years. "We feel the increased costs for use of the stadium on Friday nights will be far offset in the difference of revenues we will receive on Friday nights instead of Thursdays," Alligood commented. The principal also pointed out that it was not generally understood that the athletic budget was a unified one that supported all athletic activities in the schools from grades seven through 12.

Bids for milk and bread for the city schools have been let. In a report on this, Cox revealed that successful low bidders for bread were Dainty Maid for rolls, and Franklin Baking Company for sliced bread and other type rolls. Three companies, Carolina, Coble, and Sealtest, submitted identical bids on milk. The three will share equally in supplying milk to the schools. Cox reported the bid system in each instance resulted in lower prices that that paid for the items last year.

A comparability agreement required for continuation of approximately one quarter million dollar ESEA Title I funds was approved by the school board. This agreement pledges the board to insure that all children in the school system will receive the same level of services from funds provided by the ESEA program.

The board also approved for another year participation in the annual National Assessment of Educational Progress program, one that evaluates knowledge, skills and attitudes in different areas at different age levels. The city schools have participated for a number of years in this study, one in which 118 geographic areas throughout the country are taking part.

Asked by Mayor S. Eugene West to provide an opinion on a petition to reopen Watauga Avenue between Myrtle Avenue and Chestnut Street, the school board went on record as opposing the proposed reopening. The street was closed in May 1958. The area that was formerly a street is now used by the school as part of the playground. Opening of the street would separate the area and result in vehicular traffic going through what is now used for playground area.

In policy matters, the school board adopted a one file policy effective July 1, 1972 for teacher personnel. This means that both pre-employment files and performance files on teachers will be maintained in one individual file rather than being separated in two files.

48 Lost In Collision

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Forty-eight sailors are reported dead or missing after the collision of two supertankers in fog Monday off the southern tip of Africa. One of the ships, the 100,613-ton Texanita, exploded and sank four minutes after the collision with the 95,608-ton Oswego Guardian.

The Oswego Guardian was standing off Cape Town while officials studied the pollution hazard. Reports indicated the ship, carrying a full cargo of crude oil, had been holed forward and the captain had emptied the forward tanks to raise the bow.

Asked about the report today, state IRS director J.E. Wall of Greensboro declined to confirm or deny its existence.

In Raleigh, U.S. Attorney Warren Coolidge said he did not "desire to comment at this time."

He issued a statement saying, "It is the policy of the Department of Justice not to comment on impending investigations. In the event the federal grand jury returns indictment in these cases, the indictment will be a matter of public record and made available to the press. The IRS investigation has been in progress for several months and was believed to have also involved the campaign of Scott's 1968 Republican opponent, Jim Gardner of Rocky Mount. The IRS recommendations on the Scott case do not mention the Gardner campaign directly.

Gov. Scott said he would have "no comment" on the report.

Wilder referred a reporter to his attorney. The attorney, Newman A. Townsend, who also represents Crone, was asked if he would have a statement on his clients' behalf. He replied, "I don't think so."

Church said his personal income tax returns and those of Rose's Stores had been audited and that any differences between them and the IRS could be resolved through bookkeeping methods. He would make no further comment.

Webb said today his firm printed a brochure used in the Scott campaign. "Actually (we) printed the brochure for the Crone agency," he said.

Webb replied no to a question on whether his firm received a discount for the work, and yes to whether he billed Crone and was paid in full.

"We have done business with the Crone agency for a number of years. It was just another printing job as far as we were concerned," Webb said.

Leath, asked if he were aware of the Justice Department investigation, said today he was not. "I won't have any comment on that," he added, referring inquiries to his attorney.

Johnson said he has "no comment on any of this at any time."

Crone said he was aware of the investigation but said, "I can't comment at all. You'lll have to talk to my attorney."

Thompson, Marker, Horton and Joyce could not be reached for comment.

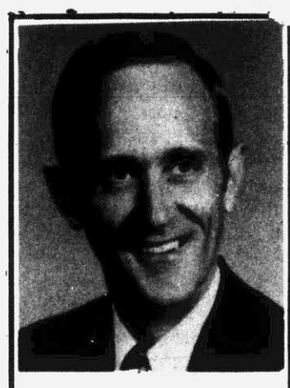

Johnson Is Honored

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The momentary tribute the Republican National Convention paid to former President Lyndon B. Johnson Monday night was more than Democrat Johnson got last month at his party's convention.

Republican National Committee Chairman Robert Dole of Kansas asked for the tribute to Johnson and Harry S. Truman, the nation's two living ex-presidents, in recognition of their national service.

Large pictures of the two were shown on triple screens at the front of the convention hall. Delegates applauded politely.

At the Democratic National Convention, Johnson's picture was relegated to a rear corner of the convention hall and his name was seldom mentioned.

Pirate Tankmen Add 4 To Team

Ray Scharf head swimming coach at East Carolina University, announced recently that four outstanding high school swimmers had been awarded grants-in-aid.

The Pirates, who will be gunning for their seventh Southern Conference Championship in the past eight years this season, are coming off what was probably the best year in the school's history despite not winning the conference championship. But, there is an explanation. There was no conference meet last season so there was absolutely no way East Carolina could claim the championship despite the fact that the Pirates beat both Florida State and Army.

Scharf announced that Christopher Vandenover of Lancaster, Ohio; James Hadley of Wilmington, Delaware; Larry Green of Penns Grove, N.J.; and Tim Batterson of Norfolk, Va. had all been awarded grants-in-aid.

Vandenover is an outstanding freestyle prospect in the middle distances and won All-District and All-State honors this past year in Ohio.

Hadley was the Delaware state champion in the 50-yard freestyle and the 400-yard freestyle and won All-State honors.

Green is an exceptional distance freestyler and is probably the most outstanding freshman prospect ever to come to East Carolina. He was named All-American last year and finished fourth in the 200-yard freestyle and second in the 400-yard freestyle in the Eastern Collegiate Championships. His time in the 1,000-yard freestyle as a high schooler is already better than the East Carolina school record.

The last prospect is Tim Batterson, a diver who last season was one of the most outstanding divers in the state of Virginia.

Scharf expects 20 freshmen this season along with 22 returning swimmers when the Pirates begin workouts this fall.

A group of prospective East Carolina football players go through the opening drills of fall practice which began yesterday. The Pirates will begin practice with pads later this week. The Buc season opens on September 9 against VMI. (Reflector Photo)

U.S.'s Blacks May Pull Out With Africa

By DAN BERGER
Associated Press Sports Writer

MUNICH (AP) — The head of Africa's Supreme Council for Sports said today that all black American track athletes have agreed to join Africans in pulling out of the Olympics if Rhodesia competes.

Earlier, Clifford Buck, president of the U.S. Olympic Committee, said he had received assurances from a number of black athletes that they would compete regardless of the outcome of the Rhodesian-African controversy.

The International Olympic Committee continued to wrestle with the question of what to do about Rhodesia, but a decision was expected today. The IOC Executive Board asked Rhodesian officials to appear before it again as it struggled for a solution.

Black African nations stood firm against white-dominated Rhodesia.

Jean-Claude Ganga, general secretary of the sports council, said black American athletes had given him this statement:

"After the declaration of the Supreme Council of Sport in Africa, we the American black athletes of the United States Track and Field Team confirm out position taken on the 18th of August. We have assured Mr. Ganga that we shall stand with our black African brothers."

Ganga said the statement was signed by "the American black track and field atheltes" and that "we aren't giving out any names but all the American black athletes signed this statement."

"They want to treat us like children," Ganga said of the organizers of the Games. "They want us to make compromise after compromise. We have made enough compromises already. But the government of Germany—no compromise; the IOC—no compromise; the organizing committee—no compromise; and Rhodesia—no compromise."

Strike May Affect Standings

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

You are, no doubt, familiar from past pennant races with the infamous "all-important loss column" in the daily baseball standings.

Welcome to 1972 and the all-important win column.

In pennant races past, the best indicator of a team's chances has always been the games lost column. That's because once you've lost a game, you can't recover it. Games that haven't been played yet can always be won, but games you've lost are gone.

That, of course, assumes that all teams play the same number of games. But they won't this year. Because of the player strike last April and the decision not to make up games canceled during the walkout, it is the games won column that becomes important.

In the American League East, for example, Detroit will play 156 games this season, one more than both New York and Boston and two more than Baltimore. That's extra opportunities to win games and ultimately the pennant.

The unimportant loss column is all even among the first three teams today after Detroit lost 5-1 to Oakland Monday night and Baltimore topped California 3-1. That cut the Tigers' lead to one-half game over the Orioles and 1½ over idle New York. The margin is all in the games won column. Detroit has one more victory than Baltimore and three more than New York. Boston, also idle Tuesday, moved within 3½ games of the leaders.

In the only other AL game scheduled Monday, Cleveland whacked Minnesota 10-3.

In the National League, Atlanta edged Philadelphia 2-1 in 11 innings, ending Steve Carlton's 15-game winning streak, Cincinnati dropped Montreal 4-1, New York Topped Houston 4-2, St. Louis shut out Los Angeles 4-0 and San Diego nipped the Chicago Cubs 6-5.

Oakland's victory moved the A's one-half game ahead of idle Chicago in the West race. In that division too, the unimportant loss column is all even. The A's have the ultimate games played edge with a 155 game schedule to 154 for the White Sox.

Previously Unbeaten KC Stunned By Formerly Winless Colts By 23-17

By ROBERT L. MOORE
Associated Press Sports Writer

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Kansas City Coach Hank Stram hung his head in humiliation.

"I am disappointed and ashamed," Stram said after his previously undefeated Chiefs had been soundly beaten by the hitherto winless Baltimore Colts, 23-17, in Monday night's only National Football League exhibition game.

"I can't remember when we've played a lousier football game," Stram continued. "Thank God, it's a preseason game."

The Colts clobbered the Chiefs without Johnny Unitas, their 39-year-old quarterback, who received a neck injury on Baltimore's second play from scrimmage and was taken to a hospital. X-rays proved negative but Unitas did not return to action.

The Colts, with Marty Domres at the controls, couldn't do much on offense the first half, but the Baltimore defense was superb. Safety Rick Volk intercepted a Len Dawson pass in the first period and returned it 29 yards to the Kansas City 9, setting up a 12-yard field goal for Jim O'Brien.

O'Brien shortly thereafter booted another three-pointer from the 38-yard line. With 39 seconds left in the half, Jan Stenerud kicked a 27-yard field goal for the Chiefs.

The Colts struck for 10 points in 47 seconds of the third quarter, getting three on Boris Shlapak's 27-yard field goal, and a touchdown—their first of the season—on lienbacker Ray May's 16-yard run with a recovered Wendell Hayes fumble.

A 42-yard pass from Domres to Don McCauley gave Baltimore a first down on the Kansas City four, putting the Colts in position for their last score. On third down, Norm Bulaich swept left end for two yards and the touchdown.

John Huarte, who rarely gets into a game, took over at quarterback for the Chiefs late in the third quarter, and guided them to two touchdowns in the final 3:52.

He flipped a 52-yard pass to rookie running back Jeff Kinney of Nebraska for one score, and passed the Chiefs 68 yards in 11 plays, with Jim Otis going over from the one with one second remaining.

Elsewhere, running back Lee Bouggess of the Philadelphia Eagles sprained his right knee in a practice scrimmage and will be out two weeks.

Running back Calvin Hill and tight end Billy Truax of the Dallas Cowboys sat out Monday's practice with bruises, but are expected to play against the New York Jets Saturday.

'More Work'

East Carolina began football practice yesterday but there is still a lot of work for those players who did not show up in good shape.

Head coach Sonny Randle greeted eighty-four varsity candidates as the Pirates began preparations for their September ninth opener against VMI. Randle commented after looking over the group, which included 19 freshmen and seven junior college transfers, that "the people who played here a year ago knew what to expect from us and showed up on real good shape. The others need a little work, which we will give them."

The Pirates lost 23 players last year by graduation, 17 of them were starters. The first workout in pads is planned for Thursday with a scrimmage set for Saturday.

Chargers May Be Stronger Than Ever

By LEE MARGULIES
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN DIEGO (AP) — After a trading blitz by Coach Harland Svare, the San Diego Chargers are the strongest and best balanced they've been in years and loom as a potent challenger for the title in the American Football Conference West.

Yet the schedule they face is foreboding.

On successive weekends in October the Chargers meet Oakland, Baltimore, Miami, Detroit and Kansas City. Then they start November off against the world champion Dallas Cowboys. Other opponents include Cleveland and San Francisco.

But the Chargers of 1972 are not the Chargers of 1971, whose 6-8 record included losses to Pittsburgh, Houston and Denver. Svare has seen to that with his trading.

The 41-year-old coach who served as San Diego's general manager until Sid Gillman resigned last year has made 18 trades since taking the helm.

The Charger offense led the AFC in gaining yardage last year and should be even better this season now that Svare has added the running power of ex-Cowboy Duane Thomas and ex-Cardinal Cid Edwards to the outstanding passing ability of quarterback John Hadl. Thomas, however, has yet to report for work.

And the defense, third worst in the NFL last season, received a complete overhaul by a former linebacker and defensive coach.

The Chargers boast a new front four featuring ex-Ram David "Deacon" Jones and ex-Packer Lionel Aldridge at ends. Jones, 33, is a former all-pro who was injured last season.

Linebackers Bob Babich and player-coach Rick Redman have been joined by ex-Eagle Tim Rossovich and ex-Patriot Ed Philpott. However, an injury may sideline Rossovich for the season. And while the defensive backfield remains intact from last year, it is reported much improved under the guidance of rookie assistant coach and former all-pro Willie Wood.

At 32, quarterback Hadl is coming off the finest of his 10 years as a pro. Last year Hadl led all NFL passers in attempts with 431, completions with 233, yards gained with 3,075 and touchdowns with 21.

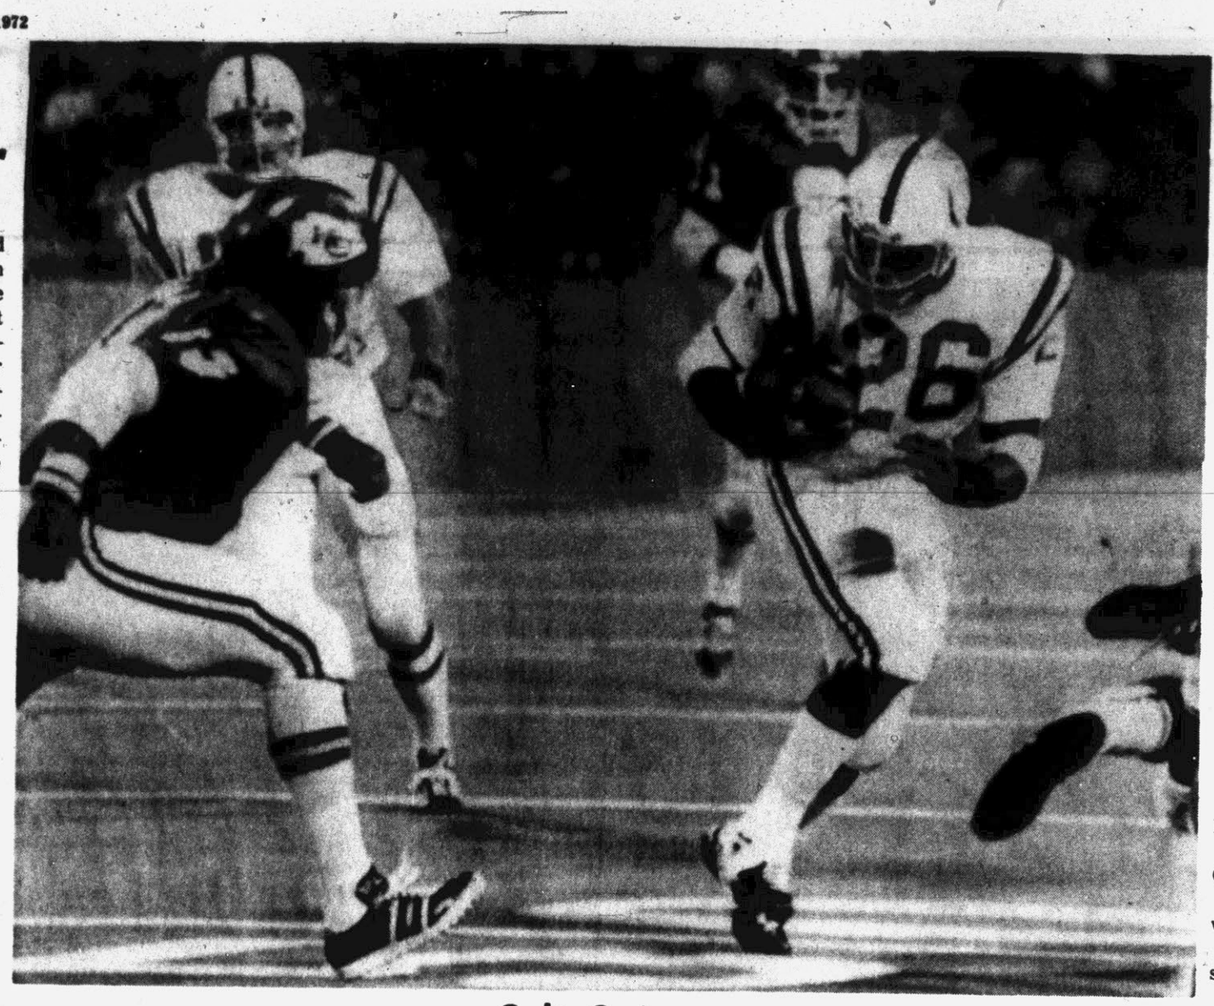

But Hadl probably won't be passing as much this year under the ball-control emphasis stressed by new offensive coach Bob Schnelker, for seven years an assistant at Green Bay. And he shouldn't have to with Thomas, Edwards and Mike Garrett in the backfield.

When he does, however, he won't be hurting for targets. Gary Garrison in six pro seasons has never caught fewer than 40 passes and has averaged better than 20 yards per catch in each of the last four years.

Ex-Cardinal Dave Williams will likely alternate with Charger veteran Jerry LeVias at the other wide receiver spot. They'll be backed up by Chuck Dicus.

In addition, the Charger offense has an all-confernece guard in Walt Sweeney and an able, experienced tight-end in Pettis Norman.

And there is confidence and high hope on the team despite the fearsome schedule.

Carlton's Win String Broken At 15 As Braves Squeeze By, 2-1

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

"It was a curve ball that got me in trouble," sighed a disconsolate Steve Carlton. And it was two of them that gave Jim Beauchamp "a pretty good birthday."

Carlton, Philadelphia's phenomenal left-hander who had won 15 consecutive games, finally lost his seventh of the baseball season—and his first since May 30—and it took Atlanta 11 innings to do it.

"Sometimes you just get bested," he said after Dusty Baker doubled and Mike Lum singled to give the Braves a 2-1 victory over the Phillies Monday night.

Beauchamp, the New York Mets' reserve first baseman, celebrated his 33rd birthday in high fashion against Houston, clubbing his first two home runs of the year, the latter a two-run shot with two out in the bottom of the ninth inning that propelled the Mets to a 4-2 triumph over the Astros.

Elsewhere in the National League, Cincinnati beat Montreal 4-1, St. Louis shut out Los Angeles 4-0 and San Diego stunned the Chicago Cubs 6-5. Pittsburgh and San Francisco were idle.

On the abbreviated American League slate, Oakland whipped Detroit 5-1, Baltimore clipped California 3-1 and Cleveland bombed Minnesota 10-3.

"You ought to talk to Phil Niekro," Carlton said after the Braves' knuckleballer had outdueled him. "He's the guy who did a hell of a job—a super job."

Niekro gave up nine hits to Carlton's seven with each pitcher striking out 10 batters and walking three. Still, it was the Phillies' 20-game winner who faced the waves of writers.

Carlton insisted at first that "I really hadn't thought that much" about the winning streak. Then he shrugged and acknowledged: "I wish it had continued. It's a shame. I really wish I could have won it for the fans—the record and the streak."

There were 52,662 fans on hand and they cheered as if their Phillies were in the seventh game of the World Series, rather than the team with the worst record in the majors.

Beauchamp was looking forward to a long and unproductive night after making out in the second inning on a fly ball that Cesar Cedeno flagged down with a leaping catch at the 396-foot sign in left-center field.

"I thought, 'Here we go again. That'll be my best shot of the night'," Beauchamp said. "I had a good cut at a fastball on that one. I'm known primarily as a fast ball hitter, so I decided to look for breaking pitches after that."

Houston starter Jerry Reuss served him a curve in the seventh inning and Beauchamp promptly parked it in the Mets' bullpen in left, giving them a 2-1 lead.

But Cedeno, whose 19th homer of the season had produced the Astros' first run, tied it again with a double in the eighth off winner Jon Malack.

Jim Ray was on the mound for Houston in the ninth and he had the misfortune of issuing a two-out walk to John Milner, bringing up Beauchamp again.

Beauchamp proceeded to plant Ray's curve ball even deeper into the bullpen. And as he trotted around the bases, drinking in the peers of the 24,242 Mets fans, "I was just thinking: 'That's a pretty good birthday'!"

Joe Morgan hit his 15th homer of the season and backup catcher Bill Plummer smacked a two-run single to lead the attack that enabled the Reds to open a 7½-game lead over the second-place Astros in the West. Jim McGlothlin scattered eight Montreal hits, including Mike Jorgensen's homer that wrecked his shutout bid in the ninth inning.

Bob Gibson, recording his 14th victory and fourth shutout of the season, stymied Los Angeles on seven hits, struck out six batters and chipped in with a run-producing double. Bernie Carbo homered for the Cards.

In a wild, see-saw affair in San Diego, Joe Pepitone and Ron Santo hit fourth-inning homers for the Cubs, Clarence Gaston tied it with a two-run double in the seventh, Billy Williams hit his 25th homer to give Chicago a 5-2 lead in the top of the ninth, then John Jeter capped a four-run rally in the bottom of the inning with a three-run, game-winning blast—before a meager crowd of 4,511 fans.

Richmond Suffers Pair Of Injuries

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

In discussing Richmond's chances of repeating this season as Southern Conference football champions, coach Frank Jones repeatedly has pointed to the problem of replacing seven of the Spiders' 11 defensive starters of last year.

Now Jones may face a problem of sorts in the offensive line.

Two players went on the injury list Monday as Richmond wound up its third day of two-a-day practices in shorts—and both were offensive tackles.

One was senior Russ Croom, one of three lettermen at the position, who showed up with a twisted knee. The other was junior nonletterman Bill Schneck, who has a shoulder injury.

Much of the practice time at Richmond was spent working on the passing game with Jones looking over his four quarterback candidates—Dave Yount, Rich Muscarella, Phil Burkhalter and Harry Knight.

New coach Jim Root, who underwent surgery for kidney stones last Friday, was absent as William and Mary opened drills Monday with 60 upperclassmen and 25 freshmen on hand. The Indians held one drill at 6:30 a.m., another in the afternoon.

The Indians practiced without pads but will don them Thursday. Root is expected back by the end of the week in time to supervise most of William and Mary's contact work before the season opens.

Virginia Military's Keydets, who've held five practice sessions, put on pads Monday for the first time and began hitting. A total of 120 varsity and junior varsity candidates are on hand.

The passing of sophomore quarterbacks Tom Schultze and Bruce Torbett was especially pleasing to coach Bob Thalman, who also commented on the over-all tnthusiasm of the squad.

Coach Sonny Randle of East Carolina greeted 84 candidates, including 19 freshmen and seven junior college transfers. Like William and Mary, East Carolina will wait until Thursday to put on pads. The Pirates will hold their first scrimmage Saturday.

"The people who played here a year ago knew what to expect from us and showed up in real good shape," said Randle. "The others need a little work, which we plan to give them."

FBI Probing Drugging Incident

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) — The FBI is investigating charges by the owner of Riva Ridge, considered by many to be the best 3-year-old race horse in the country, that the colt was drugged when he finished fourth in the $100,000 Monmouth Invitational Handicap on Aug. 5.

Mrs. John Tweedy made public her charges involving the winner of the Kentucky Derby, the Belmont Stakes and the Hollywood Derby, here Monday. She directs the operation of the Meadow Stable for her ailing father, C. T. Chenery in whose silks Riva Ridge runs.

Mrs. Tweedy said that a blood test and an urine sample, taken after the return of Riva Ridge to Saratoga from Monmouth Park at Oceanport, N.J., both showed traces of phenothiazine "or what amounted to a tranquilizer." The tests of the samples were made by Dalare Associates in Philadelphia.

"It was a great shock. I wouldn't have believed it possible," said Mrs. Tweedy.

Mrs. Tweedy said she and trainer Lucien Laurin turned the matter over to the Thoroughbred Racing Protective Bureau, headed by Spencer Drayton.

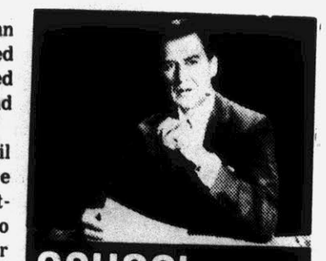

Drayton said the TRPB learned of the case last Tuesday and it "was turned over to the FBI and the case is under investigation."

Phil Iselin, president of Monmouth Park, said "nothing can be said until the investigation is completed."

Riva Ridge was the 3-10 favorite in the Monmouth Invitational under top weight of 126 pounds, but finished fourth, beaten six lengths by the $24.40 winner, Freetex, under 117 pounds.

Wildfowl Split Season

RALEIGH (AP) — Wildfowl hunters in North Carolina will have a split season this year with daily bag limits of five ducks and one goose.

First portion of the season will open on Nov. 23 and close on Nov. 25 and is designed to give hunters the opportunity to shoot during the Thanksgiving holidays.

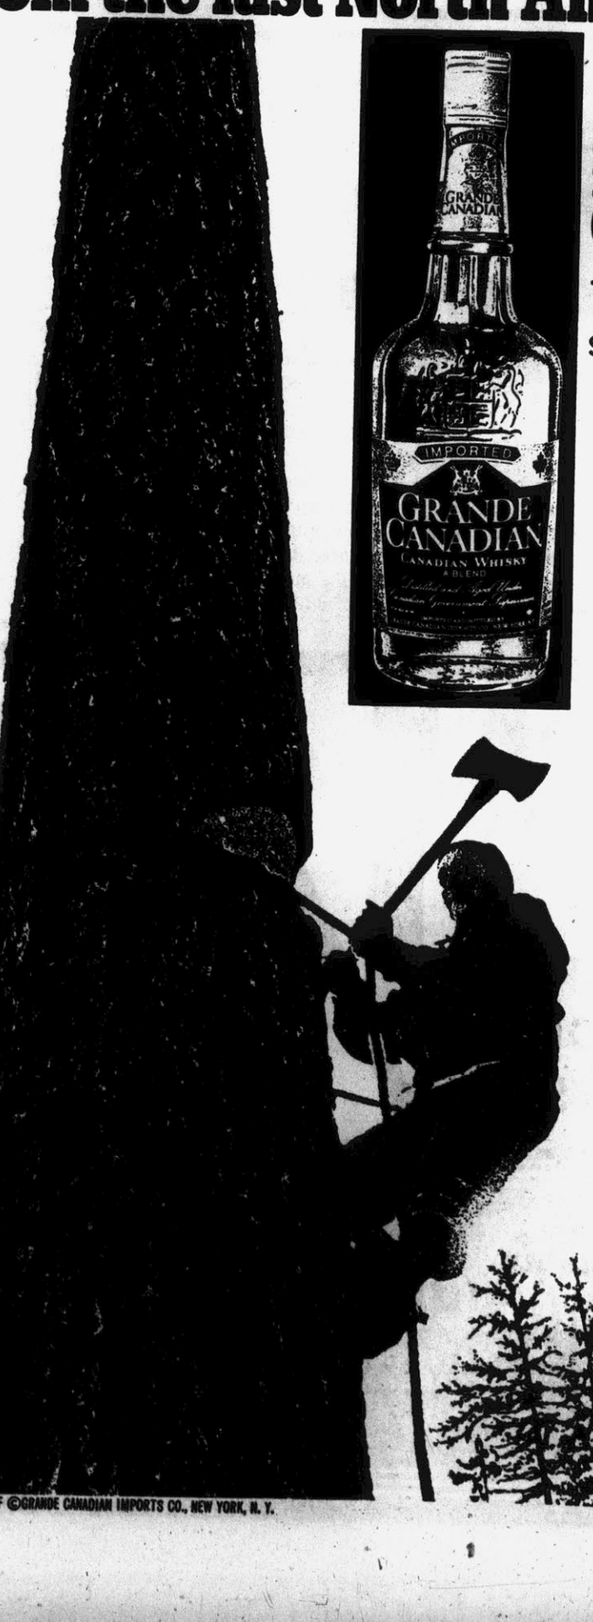

The second part of the season will open on Dec. 5 and end Jan. 20, the latest hunting dates federal regulations allow.

The dates were approved by the North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission Monday by telephone on recommendation of its waterfowl committee headed by Orville Woodhouse of Grandy.

The season adds up to a total of 50 days. The commission had a choice between a 50-day season with a daily bag limit of five ducks or a 60-day season with a daily bag limit of three ducks.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2 ♠	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: King of ◇

Lest the reader assume that he has been made the victim of some typographer's whim, let me hasten to reassure him that the bidding sequence not only is reported correctly, but—more to the point—meets with our full endorsement. One of the changes recently made in the system is that the opening demand bid is no longer unconditionally forcing to game.

This is one of the modifications presented in the new edition of Goren's Bridge Complete which tho it has been on the market barely a year, is already in its third printing.

The opening bid of two in a suit is still forcing on partner and he is expected to bid two no trump if he is unable to make a positive response. A simple rebid in the same suit such as South made in today's hand is however, no longer unconditionally forcing. Had he bid three of a new suit, North would be required to bid again. Over three spades, the latter may use his own judgment. With any excuse for bidding [such as possession of two or three trumps and a possible ruffing value or one or two high cards] responder should strain to find another call.

With the above hand, North had no reason to carry on once he was relieved of the obligation and when the opener merely rebid three spades on the second round, responder properly passed.

West opened the king of diamonds against the final contract and in response to East's encouraging signal, he continued with the three. East played the ace and declarer ruffed. The king of hearts was returned, West followed suit with the three and East won the trick with the ace.

West had played the lowest outstanding heart which indicated that he had an odd number of cards in the suit —possibly five. With four hearts, it is proper to signal partner by following with the third best to begin an echo. If South had only two hearts, it was quite likely that they were the king-queen, especially since he started that suit before playing trumps.

If declarer regained the lead and cleared the queen of hearts from his hand, the question arose in East's mind whether there was a quick entry to dummy. The only card that might conceivably serve this purpose was the ten of spades, so in order to kill this card before it might be utilized, East promptly shifted to a trump.

Observe that if East leads back anything but a spade, South can indeed clear the queen of hearts from his hand, cross over to the ten of trumps and then sluff a club on the jack of hearts to score 10 tricks on the deal.

Declarer won the spade return in dummy, ruffed another diamond and led out all his trumps but one. East held on to his clubs however and in the end, South was obliged to surrender two club tricks. He did end up with 90 points below the line and a clear cut edge toward successful completion of the rubber on the next deal.

The Worry Clinic

'Clinic' Has A Service Aspect

Dr. Peale and I are occasionally critized for the big lecture fees charged for our speeches. But we donate them to underwrite the costs of our psychiatric counsel to people like Jack, in today's case. For we believe in that maxim from Confucius!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.

Case U-566: Jack F., aged 23, is an inmate of a state prison.

"Dr. Crane," he asked when I spoke at the chapel service, "I wish I could get a copy of your booklet on 'How to Stimulate Bible Reading.'

"For our prison Chaplain has let me study his copy and I'd like to mail one back to my wife.

'But I have no money so could you donate it?"

Mental Health Aids

This "Worry Clinic" newspaper column is an ally of your local Mental Health Association.

For it dissects common human problems and then shows you how to solve them by your own efforts.

Confucius thus would certainly have approved of this newspaper "Worry Clinic"

"Give a hungry man a fish," Confucious advised, "and you feed him for one day.

"But teach him how to fish, and you feed him for 100 years!"

This "Worry Clinic" is thus saving you taxpayers millions of dollars that otherwise would need to be spent on extra Divorce Court costs, prison expenses, mental hospital upkeep, etc.

For via this daily "print clinic" in the vital field of "Human Relations," newspapers prevent hundreds of divorces, school dropouts, criminal behavior and even insanity.

For herein we show timid wallflower teen-agers how to become popular.

This prevents their developing a persecution complex which, carried to its frequent extreme, leads to commitment to a State Mental Hospital!

And family feuds that would often terminate in divorce, are resolved, so husband and wife again offer a happy, harmonious home for their kiddies.

By showing the psychological strategy for improving memory and studying more efficiently, we have helped keep thousands of children in school, when they would otherwise have become dropouts.

And for 25 cents, plus a stamped, return envelope, you obtain scientific booklets covering both psychological and medical aspects of human problems.

In case some of you think this mail service is profitable, just contrast it with 35 cent to 50 cent charges of many other columnists!

The only reason we can still offer you scientific counsel by means of the mail service and booklets attached herewith, is the fact I donate all my lecture fees each year to the Hopkins Newspaper Syndicate to underwrite the $20,000 annual deficit on this mail service.

For thousands of booklets go forth to worried grammar school boys and girls, as well as prison inmates and men in Military Service, as a courtesy, even when they fail to enclose their 25 cents.

If and when I grow too tired to make these nationwide lecture trips to finance the mail service connected with this "Worry Clinic," then we'll drop the mail service entirely.

So you better take full advantage of it while I am still full of vim and vigor.

Dr. Peale also donates speaking fees for his splendid religious and psychiatric clinic and I do the same for this nationwide newspaper clinic in "Human Relations."

Though very high lecture fees are charged for both of us, we donate them for the relief of distraught people who seriously need expert advice!

Mining Town Is Disincorporated

BINGHAM CANYON, Utah (UPI)—Bingham, a one-time booming mining town of 10,000 residents, officially went out of existence July 1, 1972, when only nine people remained. They had voted in the previous fall election, to disincorporate the community because there no long were enough residents to support it.

Israeli Finds Placed On View

CHARLOTTE — Archeological finds from a five year period of excavations carried out jointly by the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill and the Hebrew University of Tel Aviv Israel have been placed on exhibit at the Mint Museum of Art in Charlotte.

The excavations were carried out during five seasons from 1963 to 1967 under the direction of Yohanan Aharoni head of the Department of Archaeology at the New Tel Aviv University and Bernard Boyd Department of Religion the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

In the extended excavations carried out at Tell Arad in southern Israel the two professors were assisted by about 100 volunteers predominately from America and Israel. Additional aid was supplied by the Ministry of Labor the Jewish Agency and the Near Eastern Archaeological Seminar which is sponsored by the Institute for Mediterranean Studies.

Arad is located about 20 miles east-northeast of Beersheba and is due south of Jerusalem. It is a dual site with two distinct settlement areas in the same location. The first is the Canaanite site which was inhabited down to the early bonze age (to about 2700 B.C.) The second site is the Isrealite Citadel from which the artifacts being shown at the Mint Museum comes. The Citadel area was inhabited with some gaps from the 10th or 11th century B.C. down to the early Arabic period (about A.D. 750).

The joint UNC—University of Tel Aviv expedition centered on the period of the Monarchs (1000-587 B.C.) as this was an era in which rich remains resulted from the destruction and rebuilding of fortresses six times over a period of about three and a half centuries.

The most significant find was the discovery during the last days of the second year of the dig of an Isrealite Temple dating from the time of King Solomon. This find astonished the scholarly world as it was the first Israelite Temple ever uncovered. Prior to the discovery it had been necessary to rely on tradition and biblical references to architecural design of temples of the period.

Bowls cooking pots decanters storage jars and lamps are included in the exhibition at the Mint Museum. The exhibit of the historic items will be on view through Sunday.

Station Robbed

Greenville police today are continuing their investigation into an armed robbery reported about 11:28 p.m. yesterday at the Spur Station at 1025 Dickinson Ave.

According to Chief of Police Glenn Cannon, two Negros, armed with a pistol, took about $60 and a .22 caliber revolver from the station.

The hold-up men, according to officials, left the station on foot.

The station was the scene of another robbery several weeks ago.

Observing Anniversary

Pastors anniversary is being observed this week at Clemons Grove Church.

The following pastors are expected to attend this celebration this week: Tonight — Rev. J. D. Brown of Goldsboro; Wednesday — Rev. Lanier of Parmele; Thursday — Rev. Elliott; Friday — Rev. Roland Newton.

TAKING OFF?

HAVE FUN!

WE HOPE you'll have a great time on your vacation. We'd be happy to help make this vacation more enjoyable for you. Here's how:

WE'LL SEND the newspaper to your vacation address while you're away. Just give us your vacation mailing address, and we'll mail every issue to you whether it's for a few weeks or several months.

WE'LL SAVE the newspapers for you, if you've going to be on the go this year. Your newspaperboy will deliver the back copies when you get back. It's fun to catch up on what happened while you were gone.

WE'LL START delivery again when you return if you will let us know the date you plan to get back.

ONE CALL to our Circulation Department can do it all. Why not call us as soon as your vacation plans are set? (BY THE WAY, DON'T FORGET TO PAY YOUR NEWSPAPERBOY BEFORE YOU LEAVE. HE'LL APPRECIATE IT.)

Protest Lodged Over N.C. Corpse

LAURINBURG, N.C. (AP) — A New York congressman and a North Carolina funeral home are embroiled in a bizarre controversy over the embalmed body of an Italian-American carnival worker who died 61 years ago—but hasn't been buried yet.

Rep. Mario Biaggi, D-N.Y., is asking a proper burial for Frezzo Consceppo, whose embalmed body has been on display in a plywood box at McDougald Funeral Home in Laurinburg, N.C., since his death in 1911.

The funeral home says the body was not buried because the family of the dead man never paid the full $40 burial fee. But a 25-cents-a-day storage charge for 61 years has pushed the total bill to $5,512, the funeral home says.

Biaggi, an Italian-American whose staff says he is concerned about ethnic overtones in the issue, has written letters of protest to funeral home director Hewitt McDougald, U.S. Rep. Earl Ruth, R-N.C., in whose district the town of Laurinburg is located, and Democratic U.S. Sen. Sam Ervin of North Carolina.

Peter Ilchuk of the New York congressman's staff says there has been only one reply: a polite refusal from Ervin to intervene. Ilchuk said the embalmed body has been nicknamed "Spaghetti", and that Biaggi maintains the whole ambience of the display is ethnically objectionable.

If current efforts to obtain burial are unsuccessful, Ilchuk said, Biaggi may ask the Italian ambassador to the United States for help.

McDougald counters that somebody has to pay burial expenses. Biaggi offered to do so, he said, but retracted the offer when he learned the bill was over $5,000.

The funeral director said he sees nothing wrong with displaying the body, and he will not promise to bury it even if he receives permission from relatives—none of whom has yet been found.

Daily Bread Is Slightly Higher

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bakers, claiming wheat sales to the Soviet Union have triggered higher flour costs, say our daily bread is on the verge of going up two to three cents per loaf.

"The wheat market went ape and the Russian situation added fuel to the fire," said Richard W. Daspit, president of the American Bakers Association.

While he declined to predict flatly what might happen to bread prices, Daspit said the higher flour costs alone add one cent to the cost of producing a loaf of bread. By the time sales commissions and retail mark-ups are added, the increase to consumers could be at least two cents and perhaps three cents per loaf, the bakers say.

Large baking firms will have to seek price increases from the Price Commission but smaller and regional companies can increase prices without government approval.

Bakers claim the Soviet Union, which reportedly is buying up to 400 million bushels of wheat to make up deficits from crop losses, are responsible for much of the increase in flour costs.

Wheat in Kansas City in mid-July sold for $1.57 per bushel. By last weekend, it was $1.86. Flour at Kansas City sold for $6.70 per one hundred pounds in mid-August compared with $5.40 a year earlier. In early July—before the Soviet deal was known, it was $5.85 per one hundred pounds.

Daspit said it cost a baker about 23 cents last year to produce a loaf of bread. That includes, he said, a cost of about 4 cents per loaf for flour. Flour now costs about 5 cents, he said.

Profits before taxes, he said, averaged slightly more than one cent per loaf.

"It's a low-profit business," Daspit said. "And when flour goes up so sharply, it makes one hell of a squeeze."

According to the Agriculture Department, the average retail cost of a one-pound loaf of bread—many sold today are 24 ounces—was slightly less than 25 cents in June. Farmers received about 3.6 cents of that cost with bakers and other middlemen getting the rest.

Cosmetic Course At Rose

The curriculum at Rose High School is getting a face-lifting this school year with the addition of a new occupational training course — cosmetology.

School board members Monday night approved the addition of the course to the curriculum. The 780 hours course is being made available through the cooperative planning of Pitt Technical Institute and Mitchell's Hair Styling Academy.

Arrangements set up for the course include stipulations that the cosmetology student will attend Rose High in the morning to take courses needed for graduation; attend Mitchell's Academy from one o'clock until five on weekdays and Saturday; be given two units credit toward graduation for the 780 hours instruction given at Mitchell's; be granted tution through Pitt Technical Institute; and receive no curriculum credit from Pitt Tech.

Enrollment in the course will be limited to a maximum of 20 students, with senior having priority in enrollment. The course will be made available to all students, male and female.

Robert Alligood, principal of rose High School, commended Pitt Technical Institute personnel for making the course available. "We hope that this will lead the way to other developments," that can provide needed course of vocational instruction for high school students."

State Out To Improve Mental Health Facilities

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Department of Mental Health will ask the 1973 General Assembly for $5.2 million to improve the lot of patients in state hospitals during the next two fiscal years.

Dr. Eugene Hargrove, state mental health commissioner, said Monday part of the $5.2 million would be used to provide such basic facilities as storage lockers for patients and partitions between hospital beds.

He said $1.8 million would be used for higher pay to patients working in hospitals, to aid indigent patients and to provide funds for patients being released from hospitals.

According to Hargrove, some $1.3 million would be used to hire 44 new employes in housekeeping and other administrative services.

The $5.2 million package is part of a $293.3 million budget proposal the Department of Mental Health will present soon to the Advisory Budget Commission and later to the General Assembly.

Hargrove said most of the provisions of the $5.2 million package were called for the so-called "patients' bill of rights" proposal that was turned down by the 1971 General Assembly.

Hargrove said that he expects a similar bill to be introduced next year.

The $5.2 million for patient care expansion is part of a $74.7 million "change budget" recommended by the Mental Health Board to improve programs and services of the mental hospitals.

Final Lunar Flight Is Set

By VERN HAUGLAND
AP Aviation Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — American astronauts are scheduled to make their last lunar landing in the Apollo series of space flight exploration on Dec. 11, the space agency says.

It will be the sixth moon visit by man and will also represent the longest stay yet on the moon's surface. And it will be the first night launching of a manned spacecraft.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Monday the evening launch hour was scheduled to make possible a lunar landing at the desired sun angle just south of the moon's Taurus mountains and Littrow crater.

Taurus-Littrow, a combination of mountain-dotted highlands and valley-strewn lowlands, was labeled by NASA as a keystone site to fill in major gaps in the developing model of the moon. The site was selected on the basis of Apollo 15 orbital photography and on the recommendation of Apollo 15 astronaut Alfred M. Worden.

The Saturn V rocket is scheduled to blast off from Cape Kennedy, Fla., at 9:53 p.m. EST Dec. 6. The lunar landing is scheduled for 2:55 p.m. EST, Dec. 11.

Mission commander will be Navy Capt. Eugene A. Cernan, 38, a veteran of 264½ hours in space. His two companions—civilian geologist Dr. Harrison H. (Jack) Schmitt, 37, the lunar module pilot, and Navy Cdr. Ronald E. Evans, 38, command module pilot—will be making their first space flight.

Cernan and Schmitt are scheduled to make three seven-hour ventures onto the moon's surface. They also will use the lunar rover, as did the astronauts on Apollo 16.

Named To State Post

James Bryce Cummings, director of the state's first Leadership School for high school youth sponsored this summer by the Department of Public Instruction, has been apointed Associate Director of the Division of Human Relations for the Department, according to State School Superintendent Craig Phillips.

In this position Cummings will continue to direct the activities of the Leadership School, but will also be responsible for coordinating the Task Force on Student Involvement and the Youth Councils throughout the state. He assumed his new duties as of August 1.

A native of Greenville, Cummings received both the A.B. and M.A. degrees from East Carolina University. He served for two years as assistant principal and teacher at Bertie High School in Windsor, and was principal of Lillington High School for two years. Cummings has directed the Leadership School, designed to develop leadership potential in high school students across the state, since April and received his doctorate in Educational Administration in May.

Cummings is married to the former Jane Willis of Greenville, and the couple has one son now three years old.

New Changes In Meat Laws

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumers soon will see the undraped form of bacon and the unexpurgated list of ingredients used to cure hams when they visit supermarket meat counters.

Beginning next Feb. 19, says the Agriculture Department, bacon packages will have to feature a window showing at least 70 per cent of the length of a strip.

Also, the department announced Monday, labels on cured meats such as hams will have to include lists of ingredients used in processing. These will include two commonly used and controversial chemicals, nitrates and nitrites.

Both regulations, under consideration for months, had been sought by consumer spokesmen, including Virginia Knauer, special assistant to the President for consumer affairs.

Nitrates and nitrites have come under suspicion as possible causes of cancer when chemically altered into other compounds. Both have been used for many years in the meat-curing process.

Come To Aid Of Student

The Pitt County community has come to the assistance of the Indian graduate student, S. K. Shaikh, and his fiancee, Miss Avis Nathaniel, written about in The Daily Reflector Sunday, Aug. 13.

A used range was located for them in Ayden the same day the article was published and six others were offered by persons from throughout the county. A new refrigerator was purchased for them by the First Presbyterian Church of Greenville and individuals have given them many household articles including a kitchen table and chairs, a cabinet, and curtains for their apartment.

The couple will be married Tuesday, Aug. 29 at 8 p.m. at Grace Free Will Baptist Church here by the Rev. Chester Phillips.

Holshouser Speaks Here

Jim Holshouser, Republican candidate for Governor, has scheduled a speech on the courthouse steps in Greenville on August 29 at 11:15 a.m.

The Republican hopeful said the Greenville visit is part of a 10-day tour of 46 counties in Eastern North Carolina.

Holshouser said the east, "like a lot of ladies, has been wooed by almost all of the candidates for governor, and all too often, has been left in the lurch by elected governors."

The tour will begin in Raleigh on August 24 and will end at Oxford on September 2.

Marijuana Arrest Made

BETHEL — Guy Anderson, 50, of Route 1, Bethel was arrested this morning by county and state law enforcement officers on charges of manufacturing controlled substances after a number of marijuana plants were found growing near his home.

Pitt County Sheriff's Deputies, Pitt ABC officers and agents of the State Bureau of Investigation said 17 marijuana plants ranging in height from about six inches to about four feet were found growing in a corn field about 100 yards from his home 2½ miles South of Bethel on N.C. 11.

They said Anderson had allegedly transplanted the illegal "grass" in the field about two weeks ago and was in the process of watering the marijuana this morning.

The raid was conducted about 9:05 a.m.

A FIRST

TORONTO (UPI)—Environment protection inspired the first slogan to be put on motor vehicle license plates in this Canadian province. "It's "Ontario—Keep It Beautiful" and it will be on the plates next year. It was selected from a list of suggestions aimed at keeping the traveling public ecology-minded.

THAT FLUENTLY

MOSCOW (AP) — Specialized schools in Moscow take pride in their teaching of foreign languages. The news agency Tass, in one of its ventures into English, says: "Many graduates speak English or German so fluently as if they have lived for several years in New York or Hamburg."

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 23, 1972

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A wonderful day and evening to get together with friends. You can join with them in mutual interests that can now result in success by uniting your capabilities with theirs. Go out socially in the evening and have a delightful time Be happy.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Go to amusements with business contacts and combine business with pleasure for a constructive day well spent. Repay a social obligation and reap fine benefits. Show you have poise.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Improve your public image through civic and cultural channels today. Be sure to get an early start. Show that you are a humanitarian. Stop pinching those pennies so tightly

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Making new contacts with those of different background and experience from yours is the best way to make the most of today's fine aspects. Engage in your favorite hobby tonight.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Try to gain the advice of higher-ups today so that you can make headway in your line of endeavor. Talk over with kin how to have more harmony in the future Be reasonable.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Talk over at length with associates what is best to do in the future, and then go ahead and do your part of the necessary work. There are fine opportunities now for you to advance.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Study your surroundings and see what needs to be done to make them more charming and functional. Take time for exercise and you will feel revitalized. Do some entertaining tonight.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) This day can be particularly happy for you so become enthused early and engage in activities that are important. The evening is fine for romance. A smile goes a long way now.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Conversations with kin can bring fine results now, with increased harmony for a long time to come. Entertain in the evening, but make sure guests are congenial. Avoid extravagance.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Talk over with associates just how far they will back you in a business venture or some important personal matter. Avoid one who has an eye on your assets. Relax at home tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan 20) The Full Moon ahead gives you far better judgment than you've had for some time. Seek advice from those who have had much experience in your particular line of endeavor.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can get started on a new plan of action that will add considerably to your prosperity in the days ahead Do those things that will make an excellent impression on others.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) In the quiet of your study you find the intuitive answers you want to solve present perplexities. Have a more romantic attitude toward your mate and come to a better understanding.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . you can have a meeting with family ties and discuss possible plans for the child's future. This could prove most helpful in your progeny achieving success because he or she will have fine judgment and an innate understanding of others. A love and belief in mankind is evident in this chart. Give religious training early.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!
