'Substantial' Gain In U.S. Employment

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) —
The Labor Department today

reported a substantial rise in the nation's employment, boosting the total number of Americans with jobs to 83.5

million. At the same time, the unemployment rate rose from 5.5 to 5.6 per cent, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

The report said actual employment rose 61,000. But on a seasonally adjusted basis the bureau figured the rise at nearly 300,000 and called it a continuation of strong growth evidence since the middle of last year.

The number of unemployed actually fell 316,000 but since it normally drops more in August the bureau figured the slight rise in the unemployment rate on a seasonally adjusted basis.

The bureau also reported average wages of some 50 million rank-and-file workers rose two cents an hour to $3.64 and $1.12 per week to $137.23.

In the past year, the report said, average pay has risen $8.20, or 6.4 per cent per week. Living costs have risen three per cent over the same period.

The bureau said the nation's total employment has increased by 2.6 million in the past year.

Virtually all of the August rise in jobs was among women working part-time, the report said. Over the past year, the rise in the number of job holders included 1.1 million men, 1 million women and 500,000 teenagers.

The total unemployed included 1,738,000 men with a jobless rate of 3.9 per cent; 1,772,000 women for a rate of a rate of 5.5 per cent; and 1,347,000 teenagers for a rate of 16.9 per cent, the bureau said.

In a racial breakdown, the bureau said the jobless rate for white workers edged up from 5.0 to 5.1 per cent with a total of 3,894,000 while the unemployment rate for other races—mostly blacks—edged down from 9.9 to 9.7 per cent with a total of 963,000.

Both employment and unemployment can go up at the same time if the rise in the labor force is greater than the increase in employment.

In August, the labor force rose 390,000 on a seasonal basis to 86.9 million. Thus, the bureau figured both a 290,000 increase in employment and a 102,000 increase in unemployment on a seasonal basis.

McGovern Complaints Considered

WASHINGTON (AP) — Laurence F. O'Brien will stay on as one of the top strategists in George McGovern's campaign, the Democratic presidential candidate said today.

"Oh yes, there's no question about it," McGovern told newsmen when asked if the former chairman of the Democratic National Committee would stay on with the McGovern campaign or quit as he indicated he might do in an interview with the Knight Newspapers published Thursday.

McGovern and his running mate, Sargent Shriver, held a brief news conference in McGovern's front yard following a 1-hour, 45-minute meeting.

McGovern said everyone agrees with O'Brien that there is still some disorganization in the Democrats' campaign. "We want to get that cleaned up this week," McGovern said. He added that O'Brien and Gary Hart, McGovern's campaign manager, were meeting this morning and "I don't have any doubt at all that" campaign problems bothering O'Brien "will be worked out."

McGovern added in response to questions, however, that Hart will remain as the campaign manager and that O'Brien will not assume any new responsibilities.

O'Brien, whose title of campaign chairman is generally considered more impressive than his actual authority within the campaign, serves chiefly as a McGovern liaison with Democratic governors, state party chairmen and other so-called old-line party leaders.

McGovern said he and Shriver agree that their No. 1 issue against the Republicans in the last 65 days of the campaign would be tax reform.

Outwardly, McGovern appeared undaunted by the latest Gallup poll which showed him 34 per cent behind President Nixon.

"It's obvious Mr. Shriver and I are underdogs" who are outspent by the Republicans and who "desperately need money," McGovern said. But, McGovern said, he was an even greater underdog in Democratic primary elections early this year and "I have no doubt that by November 7" he and Shriver will be on top.

Shriver said he believes public enthusiasm for the Democratic ticket is high. He cited recent large crowds in Austin, Texas, where he and McGovern appeared last week and in Milwaukee where Shriver appeared this week.

ROBERT JAMES FISCHER, the man who brought the U.S. its first world chess title, still holds, at 29 years old, much the same theory of aggressive chess he held at 14 years. "Chess is like war on a board", he says. "The object is to crush the other man's mind." — AP Wirephoto

Spassky Surrenders His Crown To Bobby Fischer

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP)— American challenger Bobby Fischer won the world chess championship today when Boris Spassky of Russia telephoned his resignation in the 21st game, which had been adjourned overnight.

MaX Euwe, president of the International Chess Federation, said Spassky had telephoned Lothar Schmid, match referee, shortly before the game was to resume with Spassky in a probable losing position.

It is the first time an American has ever held the title, although Paul Charles Morphy of New Orleans, who lived from 1837 to 1884, dominated play in the 1850s and came to be known as unofficial world champion.

The title match here had a limit of 24 games. Today's victory gave Fischer 12½ points to Spassky's 8½. Fischer won seven games, each worth a point. Spassky took three, including a forfeit—thus he actually won only one out of 10 games at the playing board. Each of 11 draws was worth half a point to each contestant.

Fischer, who is 29, is from Brooklyn. He stood to win $156,000 in prize money, counting a bonus put up by a British fan. He will reap further thousands in book royalties and other fees before he has to defend his title in 1976.

Spassky, who is 35, is to receive about $100,000 as runner-up. He had won the title in 1969 from Tigran Petrosian, a fellow Russian—indeed Russians have almost monopolized title play most of this century.

Referee Schmid announced on the stage where the players were to have resumed their 21st game at 3:30 p.m. that Spassky had telephoned his resignation at 12:50.

Schmid took the call and informed the American camp, but the Americans initially refused to accept the resignation as official. Schmid's announcement made it official.

Fischer arrived at the playing hall 15 minutes late after Euwe ruled that he would have to appear to claim the title.

Fischer walked on stage and stood looking at the chess board with one hand on his hip.

Then Schmid stepped forward and declared him the new champion.

The capacity crowd of 2,500 Icelanders cheered and some began a slow handclap. Fischer walked off and the ceremony was over.

Spassky did not appear. The U.S. challenger told friends he thought he had a winning position on the board when the Russian champion sealed his 41st move and play was adjourned Thursday night.

That was also the consensus among the gallery of grandmasters and other experts outside the Soviet camp. The Russians as usual weren't talking.

At that point, Spassky had four pawns and a bishop and Fischer a rook and two pawns. International Grandmaster Isaac Kashdan, analyzing the match for The Associated Press, said: "The material is considered about even, but Fischer's king is far forward, and he has a passed pawn ready to advance to decide the issue." The Icelandic Chess Federation announced that a prize-giving banquet will be held in the playing hall two days after the end of the match.

The match began on July 11 times what it was when Tigran Petrosian won the championship from Mikhail Botvinnik nine years ago. Spassky won the first game and was awarded the second on a forfeit.

Tanaka, Nixon Wind Up Their Hawaii Parley

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

HONOLULU (AP) — President Nixon and Japanese Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka wind up their mid-Pacific summit today, reaching accord on a one-shot Japanese effort to ease the plight of the dollar.

The agreement, to be spelled out in a joint communique, envisions Japanese orders for an extra $1 billion-plus of American goods, with the bulk to be paid for in advance.

American officials had hoped to leave Honolulu with a similarly specific meeting of the minds on longer-range solutions to a chronic and growing deficit in U.S. trade dealings with Japan. Such matters, however, are being left largely to future negotiations.

Nixon and Tanaka were said to have spent a third of their time in private talks Thursday discussing trade matters. Sitting in on their initial discussion were Henry A. Kissinger, the President's foreign policy adviser, and Nobuhiko Ushiba, Japan's ambassador to Washington.

While they met at the Kuilima hotel on Oahu's north shore, Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Japanese Foreign Minister Masayoshi Ohira presided at a companion conference of other officials from the two countries. They were joined for an hour by Nixon and Tanaka before all summit participants took a break prior to an evening working dinner at the hotel.

After the dinner, American sources disclosed that Tanaka has been invited to visit the United States mainland. He may go to Washington early next year.

The dinner lasted two hours and in what was described as a "private and very informal toast," Nixon paid tribute to Tanaka in terms of baseball — a sport popular in Japan.

Likening the new Japanese prime minister to a pitcher, Nixon said he and his team are "in the big league," adding, "He has all the pitches. He has a fastball, a curve, a slider and a knuckler."

An American official who was present said Tanaka talked of handling problems in a "family spirit" at the summit and declared all difficulties between the two nations could be solved by frank and constructive talks.

After a final meeting and issuance of the communique, Nixon flies back to his San Clemente, Calif., home Friday night. Before departure he will participate in a ceremony marking the retirement of Adm. John S. McCain Jr. and his replacement as commander in chief of U.S. forces in the Pacific by Adm. Noel Gayler.

'Fine Opening' Of New School Year

By BLANCHE HARDEE
Reflector Staff Writer

The Pitt County Schools began the 1972-73 school year with a "fine" opening yesterday.

According to Arthur Alford, superintendent of Pitt County Schools, principals throughout the county reported that things went well during the orientation days and again on the first official day of school yesterday. (Thursday was the first of the 180-day term)

Teachers reported to work on Monday while orientation for high school students was held on Tuesday and Wednesday. Orientation for elementary students was held on Wednesday only.

School dismissed early this week and Monday will be a holiday due to the Labor Day weekend. The first full day of school will be held Tuesday and cafeterias will begin operating that day, too.

The central school office, maintenance and transportation departments will also be closed Monday for the Labor Day holiday. The Pitt County Board of Education is scheduled to meet Tuesday afternoon for its regular monthly meeting.

Tom Craft, associate superintendent, visited the schools yesterday to check the maintenance and operational aspects and reported that things were in good shape, except for a few minor problems.

Alford reported that one fourth of the county buses have been painted chrome yellow. The new color is recommended by the National Highway Traffic Administration in its attempt nationwide to cause people to become more aware of the buses on the highway. The new color is also in keeping with the color of caution lights and signs.

A portion of the county buses will be painted yellow each summer until the familiar "Omaha orange" bus is no longer seen on the county highways.

Alford reported that all teaching vacancies have been filled except for one math position. The superintendent said teachers have used three of their seven work days this week. One was on Monday when no students reported to the schools and two days during the orientation period.

An additional work day will be observed on Nov. 10 at which time school will be closed for personnel to either attend the district NCAE meeting or to report to school for work. The fifth day will be used at the end of the first semester to allow teachers an opportunity to work on records and semester reports. The final two week days will be observed after students have been dismissed for the year on June 4-5.

Alford reported that four area meetings; one held yesterday at North Pitt and one this afternoon at D.H. Conley, have been planned to discuss with professional personnel the implementation of the new law enacted by the General Assembly in 1971 concerning teacher tenure and a fair system of employment and dismissal of personnel.

The area meeting for Farmville Central will be held Wednesday afternoon at 3:45 and the Ayden-Grifton area meeting will be Thursday afternoon at 3:45.

Alford said an attendance report will be given early next week when a more accurate enrollment figure can be obtained.

NEW RESCUE TRUCK gives Bethel Division, the remainder raised by rescue squad members and contributions.

New Truck Is Received By Bethel Rescue Squad

The Bethel Rescue Squad has received its new rescue vehicle. The Rescue truck, a new Chevrolet van type, has been made possible through savings accumulated by the Bethel Rescue Squad and from donations by businesses and citizens.

Approximately half the cost of the new truck was furnished by the North Carolina Highway Safety Division. With this assistance and with money furnished by interested individuals and groups, the town of Bethel was not required to obligate any tax money to provide this newest community service.

Sammy Carson, Captain of the Rescue Squad, said the vehicle would handle light emergencies involving treatment and rescue for heart attacks, strokes, cases of poisoning, broken bones and other emergencies, including delivery of babies.

The new truck will be listed as Bethel Rescue Unit Number One. The present older rescue truck will remain fully equipped and be kept in a state of readiness. Carson noted the old truck would be used in cases where heavy jacks and other heavy duty equipment is needed. It will also be used to respond, along with the fire department, to fire calls. The old truck will be available as a back-up rescue vehicle if the need arises. The old truck will be redesignated as Bethel Rescue Unit Truck Number Two.

The new truck features the latest in rescue vehicle improvements. It is fully air conditioned, equipped with central oxygen with two main outlets; has two portable oxygen units; is equipped with a rear exhaust fan system and intercom; a system to monitor blood pressure; equipment for emergency treatment of broken neck, back, hips; and many other modern emergency features. The truck can handle four patients at one time, providing oxygen for each. The rescue truck's radio communications cover an area of approximately 35 miles with direct frequencies to both Pitt Memorial Emergency Room and Pitt County Fire Control.

Carson expressed a "heart-felt thanks" to the mayor and town commissioners for their cooperation and assistance, to the Highway Safety Division, and to each person who by their donations made the new Bethel rescue vehicle possible.

Draft Calls

WASHINGTON (AP) — Selective Service announced today that men with lottery numbers through 95 will be drafted this year. About 15,900 men will be called during the last three months.

Setting the yearend ceiling at No. 95 assures "almost three-fourths of the men who faced induction during 1972 that they will not be called this year," the announcement said.

The ceiling was raised from No. 75 being used for the August and September callups.

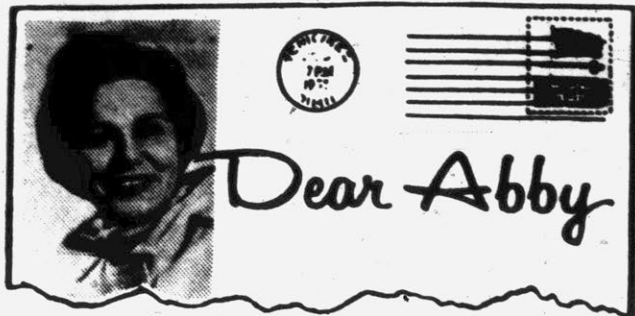

The 15,900 will raise the year's total to the 50,000 that Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said the Army would need this year to fill its ranks.

This compares with more than 94,000 men inducted during 1971 and 163,500 in 1970. The peak Vietnam year was 330,000 in 1966.

Too Old To Drive? Readers Say 'Never!'

By Abigail Van Buren

(c 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR READERS: A 65-year-old Minnesota woman recently wrote, asking if I thought she was too "old" to learn to drive an automobile. [Some of her friends laughed at her and said she was.] Here are some of the responses:

DEAR ABBY: When I was 70, my husband had a stroke, and he couldn't drive anymore, so I made up my mind I was going to learn.

I got a driver's permit, took lessons from a neighbor, and in three weeks I took my oral and written examinations, and passed both with flying colors!

I am now 81 years old, and I am still driving. [P. S. I have never been involved in an accident.]
OLD, BUT GOOD, ST. CLOUD, FLORIDA

DEAR ABBY: Of course that "Minnesota Widow" can learn to drive. My grandfather learned to drive at 77, and he got his license two weeks ago, and by the way he has only one arm!
PROUD OF GRANDDADDY

DEAR ABBY: I hope that Minnesota woman who wants to learn to drive at age 65 will take lessons from a professional teacher.

I was her age when my husband tried to teach me and we never came so close to a divorce in all our 44 years of marriage. [He later confessed it was the only time in his life he wanted to hit a woman!]

I ended up taking lessons from a Driver Education School, which is what I would have done in the first place. Please don't use my name or town. My husband is a minister.
LOVES TO DRIVE

DEAR ABBY: Please tell the Minnesota woman that at 65 she is still young enough to learn to drive if she really wants to.

I was a lot older than that when I learned, and I have been driving for over 15 years. I am not going to sign my name because I am well-known here in Palm Beach, and it's nobody's business how old I am.
GETS AROUND IN FLORIDA

DEAR ABBY: Tell that 65-year-old widow to learn to drive. It will improve her chances of getting another man. That's how I got mine. I was 73 and he was 74. He was an attractive gentleman, and a real goer, but his eyes were bad and he couldn't drive. Well, he started inviting me out—and I did the driving. Another woman had her eye on him, but she didn't drive, so I had the edge on her!
GLAD I LEARNED IN TUCSON

DEAR ABBY: Please tell that 65-year-old woman that she is not too old to learn to drive.

I learned at 67, and it's the smartest thing I ever did. I am nearing 80, and I drive on freeways, mountain roads, and in all kinds of weather, and it doesn't bother me one bit.

I've been involved in only one accident. [A teen-ager with faulty brakes rear-ended me.]
GRANDMA AT THE WHEEL IN BOSTON

DEAR ABBY: When my aunt was 67 she learned to drive, and a whole new life opened up to her. She lives in Granada Hills, Cal., and she's driven to Canada twice to visit her older sisters!

She just celebrated her 85th birthday, at which time she received her new driver's license, which is good for another two years.

Fashion Coordinator Selects Trends A Year In Advance

FASHION PRO, Virginia Sorem, shown here at work, must forecast fashion trends over a year ahead of time.

By PEACE MOFFAT
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Virginia Sorem's job is to publish 12 books a year showing fashions women will want to buy. Sounds easy enough, but there's one hitch—she has to work over a year ahead of time—forecasting fashion trends long before clothes are off the designers' sketch pads, much less in the stores.

How does she do it? The fashion coordinator, catalog division of JC Penney Co. explains: "I talk to a lot of fashion sources, read a lot of domestic periodicals and go to all the fashion showings. Just looking at people helps. And I'm familiar with the mark-down racks at the stores—what hasn't sold. Fashion makes sense, too. You don't have to be the smartest graduate of Radcliffe to know that certain seasons will bring on certain colors and styles."

Mrs. Sorem, a bright blue-eyed woman, with a trim tailored look, wryly notes that, "there are no erasers in a catalogue," so she has to be sure she knows what she's talking about. She's quick to point out that her work is a team effort, but nevertheless, she's the one who is responsible for the $11 million in paper and $2 million in ink alone that go into those catalogs each year.

The way fashion trends are born has changed in the past 10 years, Mrs. Sorem says. "There used to be a filtering down process," she points out.

"The couture houses in Paris would originate trends that would then find their way across the ocean to New York City and the expensive stores on 57th Street. Eventually, those same looks would end up at the cheaper stores, but it was months after the original had appeared in Europe."

"This started changing a decade ago," she goes on. "People in the United States needed clothes to wear for their active lives. In England, there was an uprising of youth. Fashions started coming from the young people on the streets. As a result, trends today come from all over the world."

According to this fashion expert, today's look has two main ingredients—individuality and a casual manner. "Women don't want to all look alike," Mrs. Sorem says. "Now they can buy separates, put them together and change the look for a job, or for a date."

quality partly to the ill-fated midr skirt. "When designers tried to foist the midr off on women, and found it didn't work, they realized they couldn't make women buy something just to be fashionable. We don't wear our sleeves the same length, so why should women have to wear their skirts the same length?"

"The casual look can be misunderstood," she goes on. "It doesn't mean torn sneakers. It can actually mean elegant, and the same care and planning should go into a casual look as it does into a formal one. It does mean a life style that fits what we're doing today, with do's and don'ts replaced by politeness and consideration."

Mrs. Sorem became interested in fashion at an early age. At 14, she was a model in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area where she grew up. She attended the University of Minnesota, but says with a laugh, "I was absolutely uninterested in the whole thing." She married, moved to New York City, had two daughters and stayed at home until the youngest was in school all day.

"All that time, though, I was planning what I was going to do," she says. She worked in commercial photography for eight years before joining Penney in 1962.

cific about her fashion forecasts — "That would be giving information away to the competition" — Mrs. Sorem is willing to talk in general terms about future fashion trends.

"There has been a marked trend towards menswear fabrics for years," she says. "Men have always had a neat, tailored look, so women have taken what is attractive about that style. You didn't have to be very smart to know that meant a layered look, with chunky-heeled shoes."

"Now the signs are out for a softer look, in two piece outfits and pants. I do think dresses will make a comeback, like the short cocktail dress. In 1973 there is going to be a different look for shoes and sleeves. And women will wear their shirts open at the collar—with just a hint of jewelry showing."

Another 'Watergate Breakin' Said Indicated By Testimony

MIAMI (AP) — State Atty. Richard Gerstein of Miami says the testimony of a photographer points to a second break-in of the Democratic National Headquarters where correspondence between party leaders was secretly filmed.

Gerstein said Thursday that a Miami commercial photographer had testified he developed prints of what appeared to be hand-written letters between Democratic leaders one week before five men were arrested inside the party's headquarters at the Watergate complex in Washington, D.C.

Photographer Michael Richardson identified the men who paid him for the "special rush job" on June 10 as former CIA agent Bernard L. Barker and Frank Sturgis. Both were charged with the June 17 break-in at the Watergate, Gerstein said.

"The only conclusion you can reasonably draw is there was another break-in at the Watergate or somewhere else where these people came into possession of documents they shouldn't have had," said Gerstein, a Democrat who is running for re-election this fall.

Gerstein said his investigation of the Watergate affair is "continuing," but declined to say if formal charges would be filed. He said the probe was "totally nonpolitical."

Richardson was subpoenaed by Gerstein and gave a sworn statement last week. Gerstein said the 29-year-old photographer passed a 2½-hour lie detector test Thursday "with flying colors."

However, the state attorney refused to say how Richardson's story came to his attention. Martin Dardis, Gerstein's chief investigator, said only that Richardson's role came to light with a tip from an unidentified third party.

In his statement, Richardson said Barker and Sturgis came to his father's firm, Rich Photos, on June 10. He said the two men described the photographs as "legal documents and notes, stuff like that." But Richardson said when he began to develop the 8x10 prints, he started to suspect "some sort of hanky-panky." The commercial photographer told investigators the 38 pictures from two rolls of 35mm film showed what appeared to be personal correspondence between Lawrence F. O'Brien, then chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and other Democratic leaders. He said many of the letters were signed simply, "Larry."

Richardson testified he first thought the onion-skin copies were being held by "deformed hands" on a "deep shag rug" background. He said he later realized that the hands actually were ill-fitting surgical gloves.

Richardson said when he finished the job, "they were happy with the results ... seems like they said somebody was going to be happy to see them."

Barker paid him $93.30 for the prints, including a $10 tip, Richardson said. He added he thought little else about the incident until June 19 when he saw Barker's picture in a newspaper identifying Barker as a suspect in the Watergate break-in.

"I saw the pictures in the paper and wham, that's when everything jibed together," said Richardson. "I ran my fanny in right down to the FBI. When I saw something wrong, I did something about it."

After giving the FBI Miami office his statement, Richardson said "they told me I might be called to testify before a grand jury in Washington." But he said he has not been called yet.

A spokesman for the FBI in Miami refused comment on the case Thursday night. But Gerstein, in confirming published reports about a possible second break-in, said, "We are willing to share our information with any other federal agency and have in fact cooperated with the FBI."

Gerstein's office said the Dade County prosecutor's investigation was based on possible violations of Florida state law, including conspiracy in Dade County to commit a felony (the Watergate break-in). A spokesman said the probe also involved possible violations of state law "in connection with checks that entered" Barker's bank account in Florida.

North Viet Troops Step Up Series Of Attacks

By GEORGE ESPER Associated Press Writer SAIGON (AP) — Communist sappers and gunners stepped up their attacks today on the eve of North Vietnam's national day, killing 24 rangers and wounding 23 in one assault.

The Saigon command reported four attacks along a 150-mile stretch of Highway 1, the country's main north-south road, between Da Nang and Qui Nhon on the northern and central coasts.

The heaviest assault hit the town of Tam Quan, 50 miles north of Qui Nhon.

The Saigon command gave this account: Simultaneous assaults were made shortly after midnight against the district headquarters, which was defended by a militia unit, and against a ranger command post 500 yards south of the town.

Moving behind a 100-round rocket and mortar barrage, a number of sappers blasted their way into the ranger post. The attack was repulsed, but 24 rangers were killed and 21 were wounded. The command said 21 of the enemy also were killed.

Meanwhile, a 500-pound barrage of rockets, howitzer shells and mortars hit the district headquarters but only two militiamen were wounded.

The spokesman said government troops looking for the enemy batteries after the attack caught up with an enemy force a mile southwest of Tam Quan, killed eight and captured one prisoner and two weapons.

Forty miles to the south, enemy troops attacked militiamen guarding a bridge near the town of An Nhon. Reinforcements were rushed in, the attack was driven back, and 34 of the enemy were killed, the Saigon command claimed. It said one militiaman was killed and four were wounded.

Sappers blew up the half-mile-long Cau Lau bridge 15 miles south of Da Nang, and closed highway 1 there. Government engineers hoped to have the highway open by Saturday afternoon.

In the Que Son Valley 30 miles south of Da Nang, government troops reported recapturing the district headquarters military compound. The block-square compound has changed hands four times since the North Vietnamese first captured the town Aug. 19. Field reports said pockets of enemy resistance remained in the northwestern end of the town.

Military sources said another government task force of several hundred troops spearheaded by an armored column was advancing toward Fire Base Ross, just northwest of Que Son, which also fell Aug. 19. The government column was reported about 400 yards south of the base and meeting heavy resistance.

Heavy fighting continued in the stalemated battle for Quang Tri. The Saigon command reported 63 more North Vietnamese and 12 government troops killed and 38 South Vietnamese wounded.

In the air war against North Vietnam, bad weather kept American planes out of the Hanoi region again Thursday and reduced the attack to about 210 strikes, most of them in the southern panhandle.

The winds at the center of a tornado sometimes hit 300 miles an hour or more.

Very Aware Of The Youth Vote

Eighteen to 21 year olds can find a new source of comfort this year. The politicians know they exist. That is true because for the first time those persons in the 18 to 21 year old age bracket are eligible to vote in a national election.

This new found source of votes is intriguing to the politician and there has been a new emphasis placed on the youth vote. The young people were prominent at the Republican National convention held in Miami last week. And, of course, in the opposition party claims have been made regularly that the youth vote was going McGovern's way.

At this point no one can really say how these young people will vote in their first election. This is true because they come from as diverse backgrounds as their elders. Those in colleges and schools no doubt get the most attention, but hundreds of thousands in the 18 to 21 age group go to work upon completion of high school.

This huge group of voters interests the politician, because it is a new group. The way they lean in the November election could determine the outcome of a number of races.

The 18 to 21 year olds will come in for a lot of attention in the two months ahead. They will be beckoned by those seeking office as no one in their age group ever has in the past.

Even Enemies Should Aid Skyjacking War

Algeria is showing a sensible attitude toward air liner hijackers that speaks well for that country. Algeria's government last week returned a $1 million hijack ransom to Delta Airline after it was taken from hijackers who landed there.

Every nation is vulnerable to airline hijackings and the way to eliminate them is for every nation to cooperate in making them unprofitable.

Even enemy nations should cooperate on this matter. It is the only way we will see an end to this dangerous practice.

Big Legislative Issue Dwindles

By BRYAN HANSLIP
RALEIGH, N.C. — Liquor-by-the-drink may shift from major to minor as an issue for the next legislature.

It touched off one of the big battles in 1971, and observers looked for a re-run on a similar scale. Now, it begins to appear the proposition will have a lower status on the General Assembly agenda.

issue as in the previous session. "There are other issues I want to give my attention to," he explained.

Leaders in Charlotte, the state's most populous city, have been aggressive in seeking changes in the system of alcoholic beverage control as a boost for convention traffic and business development.

The last legislature approved local acts for liquor-by-the-drink votes in Mecklenburg and Moore counties. The question failed at the polls in Moore, but passed by a healthy margin in Mecklenburg.

A subsequent lawsuit nullified the result on the ground that the local act was unconstitutional.

The court ruling means that any scheme for liquor-by-the-drink must have a statewide basis, Knox agreed. He said that could be achieved by a bill, statewide on its face but restricted to counties of a certain population.

Privette said it was his understanding from attorneys that such an approach still would have a cloud on it.

Two Options Open
The two possible approaches that would be legally sound, he contended, would be either a statewide referendum on the question or a statewide local option plan open to every county or municipality.

"If there is to be an election, let it be one in which every citizen can vote on the issue," Privette urged.

South Carolina has a liquor-by-the-drink election set in November. Its outcome could have a bearing on the course of events in this state.

Its passage undoubtedly would encourage advocates to fresh efforts, while its defeat would be a psychological handicap.

The Christian Action League queried candidates on their stand in advance of the spring primaries. Privette said it is satisfied with the position of candidates for governor and lieutenant governor.

Among legislators who supported liquor-by-the-drink defeated in the primary, he noted, were Sen. Norris Reed of Craven, Senate ABC chairman last session, Sen. Henry Milgrom of Nash; and Sen. O'Neill Jones of Anson.

"We are convinced we are in the best position we have ever been to fight any move to liberalize the liquor laws in North Carolina," Privette declared.

"We also are in the best position to do something constructive for highway safety," he said. Mandatory breathalyzer tests for persons arrested for driving drunk and repeal of limited driving privileges for persons convicted of driving drunk are high on the list of goals, he added.

BRYAN HANSLIP

As the session approaches, proponents have yet to gear up a renewed drive to overhaul North Carolina laws which say you can buy a bottle but not a drink.

Meanwhile foes are convinced that results at the polls in legislative races have strengthened their battle lines against any change.

"We gained considerable ground in the spring primary," said the Rev. Coy Privette of Kannapolis, a dry leader. "If we do as well in the general election, liquor-by-the-drink will be a dead issue for the '73 session."

He'd welcome that outcome, he said, so more attention can be given to highway safety and laws to keep drinking drivers off the roads.

Privette, a Baptist minister, is president of the North Carolina Christian Action League. The rallying organization for anti-liquor forces, the League also has taken up the cause of highway safety.

Leadership Void
So far, leadership has not emerged for liquor-by-the-drink advocates in the coming session.

The North Carolina Travel Council, which twice carried the ball, has decided against active participation. Two legislators who had leading roles last time said they will be less involved.

Rep. Claude DeBruhl of Buncombe said he will not sponsor a bill, although he is still favorably disposed to the idea. He said the Mecklenburg delegation would be the likely source for legislation.

Some statewide plan for liquor-by-the-drink is in North Carolina's future, DeBruhl predicted. "If not in '73, then in '75," he added.

Sen. Eddie Knox of Mecklenburg said there has been no discussion as yet on drafting a bill. Such planning would be premature, he indicated, before the general election.

Lee Active Role
Which he will honor the wishes of constituents in supporting legislation, Knox said he does not expect to be personally involved in the

How The System Works

WASHINGTON — The Republicans seem to be having some problem explaining how they collect donations for the party. The General Accounting Office (GAO) had accused the party of mishandling their campaign funds, to which the Committee for the Re-Election of the President has replied, "Nonsense!"

The trouble seems to be that the GAO and the Democrats don't understand how the Republicans process their money. If they did, there would be no question of impropriety.

This is how the system works: When someone gives a $25,000 donation in the form of a check to the Committee for the Re-Election of the President, a party official is sent to pick it up. He then cashes the check at a bank in Houston.

Another official picks up the cash and flies it to Portland, Me., where it is placed in a safe in the office of a Lawyer for Nixon.

After a week the money is taken out of the safe by another Republican official, who takes it to Wall Street and purchases a cashier's check with it. The cashier's check is turned over to a public relations man, who carries it to Minneapolis and hands it to a courier, who flies the check to Seattle, where it is cashed and used to buy short-term municipal notes at 6 per cent.

These notes are then placed in a special bra of a Republican national committeewoman, who flies to San Francisco.

The Republican committeewoman turns the notes over to Gov. Ronald Reagan's chauffeur, who drives to Los Angeles and delivers them to John Wayne's business manager.

He takes them to the First National Bank of San Clemente, where he cashes them. The cash is handed to a close friend of Maurice Stans, who buries the money in a cigar box in his back yard under an avocado tree.

ART BUCHWALD

A week later, at midnight, Frank Sinatra and Efrim Zimbalist Jr. dig up the box and fly it to Palm Springs, where it is turned over to a caddy on the eighth hole of the Thunderbird golf course.

The cash is then converted into diamonds, taken by Sammy Davis Jr. to New Orleans and placed in an old grandfather clock on the plantation of a Democrat for Nixon.

Two weeks later the diamonds are removed from their hiding place and converted into soybean futures. The soybean futures are then sold for ITT bonds at 8 per cent. These bonds are taken by Greyhound bus to El Paso, where they are placed in a waterproof packet and turned over to a frogman, who swims the Rio Grande with them on his back.

A Mexican for Nixon, on horseback, picks up the packet on the other side of the river and rides to Mexico City, where the bonds are cashed for pesos. The pesos are placed in a bank.

Two weeks later a bank in Miami sends a draft to the bank in Mexico City for $25,000. The money is cabled to Miami, where it is put into the bank account of a former CIA man.

Strength For Today

GROWING UP

We have had occasion to remind ourselves a number of times that the word "liberty" goes back through a number of languages to the basic languages, Sanskrit, and is derived from a Sanskrit word meaning "to grow." Liberty is, above everything else, the opportunity to grow.

If we could be absolutely sure of good dictators, one following the other with never a bad apple in the barrel, we could also be assured of efficient government. The casual, easy-going ways of democracy often threaten to drive us, to distraction. Yes, despotism would, if it were honest, give us efficient government. But it would never give us the opportunity to grow. A thousand years from now people living under despotism would still be the stunted little intellectual and moral midgets they were to begin with. At best they would be like innocent children following the command of a stern parent.

We make plenty of mistakes with democracy, but in the process we learn to grow. It is with toddling, staggering, bumping into chairs and falling down that the child learns to walk.

It is by making many mistakes, picking ourselves up and starting over again that we learn how to conduct government.

Liberty gives us the opportunity to learn — to grow up.

Public Forum

Letters submitted for public forum must be limited to 300 words

To the editor:

I would like to make a few notes in reference to Mr. Woody Peele's review of "What's Up Doc?" My main observation is that it is by no means a review. It is a summary — a partially inaccurate one at that — of the movie. First, Mr. Peele is highly elated by the "cleanness" of the movie. He seems to have forgotten the tradition in comedy set long before the Marx brothers. Second, Mr. Peele compliments the screen-play by Buck Henry and the direction of Peter Bogdanovich. The screenplay and direction are both wholly original, being merely the ordinary grind of a host of other comedies — the formula of confusion in comedy is as old as the genre itself. Third, as for the performances, Streisand does well enough, but O'Neal was wretchedly miscast. His best performance as a befuddled professor is a wooden face. Finally, the summary of a movie is fine for a review, but Mr. Peele goes to excessive lengths. Incidentally, if he had paid close attention to the dialog, Mr. Peele would have noted that the "spy" was not a spy but a Daniel Ellsberg-type (he says "the people have a right to know").

The movie itself can in no way compare to "Mad World" because of the differences in plot structure, rhythm, continuity, and casting. Any comparison is merely one of personal preference. My wife does not like chase scene; thus she preferred "What's Up Doc?" (a short chase scene) to "Mad World" (all chase).

Finally, I would like to add one word as to originality. "What's Up Doc?" was a rapid sequence of one-liners and sight-gags — many were effective and many were not (partly due to the weak timing of the actors). However, most of the gags are old hat — just watch NBC's "Laugh-In" once or twice.

Let's hope that future reviews in "The Daily Reflector" can concentrate on the artistic presentation and purpose of cinema whether it be comedy or tragedy. For the film should always offer more than mere escapism.

Profitable If Not So Palatable

By DEBORAH RANKIN
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The popularity of health foods has prompted cosmetics manufacturers to incorporate natural substances in some products on the theory that if they're good enough to put in the mouth they're good enough to put on the face.

Many of these new products have proved profitable if not palatable, a check of manufacturers shows.

Most manufacturers link the growth of food-based cosmetics to youthful consumers who are fed up with synthetics. They claim their products are made from simple, unadulterated substances that are pure enough to be eaten if it were not for the addition of preservatives. Labels on cosmetics counters often read like those on supermarket shelves. There are tangerine soaps, cucumber skin masques, peach talcum powders, and carrot bubble baths.

"We're essentially dealing with food products," said one manufacturer. "The only difference is that the essences of the fruits and vegetables are extracted and then treated so they can have a two-year shelf life like other cosmetics."

Revlon has introduced a line of skin care products based on skim milk and a spokeswoman says the "milk" is just like the kind you get from a dairy. You could drink it, if you wanted, before the other stuff was added.

on honey. Azuree, a Lauder division which last fall introduced a hair care line based on herbs and natural protein, reports these products now account for 25 per cent of total sales.

Helena Rubenstein will bring out a line this fall that includes body rubs and scrubs made out of such things as polyunsaturated safflower oil and sesame seed. The marketing director predicts the line will do "several hundred thousand dollars worth of business" within the first three months.

No manufacturer will admit to using synthetic fruit or vegetable oils in cosmetics billed as ones based on fresh foods. But some accuse unidentified lower-priced competitors of indulging in the practice.

Watch Charter Flights

By LEWIS GULICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Two government agencies predict many more Americans who have taken charter tourist flights to Europe this year will find themselves without a ticket home.

But the State Department says it's not at all sympathetic with demands that it bail the stranded travelers out by giving them free rides.

One group of 122 U.S. tourists finally flew home from London Thursday—their way paid by British businesses—after three nights camping in a Gatwick Airport lounge and countless exchanges with the American embassy.

They were stranded because the charter company handling their flight—Daedulus Travel Inc.—announced it was "suspending operations."

"The U.S. Embassy has been totally useless and negative," said tourist Ruth Jacobs of New York. "We feel very hostile towards them. The British, on the other hand, have been absolutely marvelous over this."

State Department spokesman Charles Bray disputed the charge. He said the U.S. Embassy in London did what it could, including offering loans to those who might claim they were destitute, but drew the line against demands for a free ride home at U.S. taxpayers' expense.

"Those Americans who can afford to go to Europe are, on the face of it, not destitute," Bray said.

A Civil Aeronautics Board spokesman estimated that, over-all, more than 10,000 persons will have found themselves overseas this year without the homeward flight they had expected.

But the rate of stragglers is dwindling because of government curbs against illegal charters, he said.

According to State Department and CAB officials, most of the trouble stems from cut-rate flights offered in violation of CAB rules.

The CAB allows special low fares for bona fide groups that have been in existence at least a year.

John A. Staton and Bob Keel, managers of the Staton farm, yesterday entertained a number of friends and all the Staton tenants at a festival at the Staton farm. With the completion of the tobacco curing on the farm, Mr. Staton stated, and with good cotton and other crops in the offering, it was suitable that the occasion should be celebrated by those who had had a part in it. The celebration feast consisted of a barbecue dinner and was greatly enjoyed by all.

The Greenville Kiwanis Club baseball team won its second straight victory over the Greenville Rotary Club team yesterday afternoon. The score was 21 to 10. The game, played for the benefit of the local Salvation Army unit, attracted only a very small crowd due to the excessive heat.

Like most manufacturers, Revlon declines to provide sales figures on individual product lines. But Stanley Kohlenberg, vice president of the Ultima division, said the skim milk products are "probably the hottest single group in the division." They account for one-third of the volume of the division's skin care products, a major share, and are moving so well two more items will be added next month, he said.

Other foods that were the major ingredients of many home made beauty preparations years ago are making their first appearance on the assembly line. Max Factor is using avocado and lemon extract in its Giminess group of face products. Revlon has a masque based

Announce New Full-Time Role

The members of Hollywood Presbyterian Church announce that the Rev. William S. "Bill" Forbes becomes their full-time minister Sunday.

The Rev. Forbes is a native of Chocowinity, where he was a member of Wayside Presbyterian Church. He graduated from East Carolina University with a B. S. degree and received his Master of Divinity degree from Union Theological Seminary in Richmond in May of this year. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ola Forbes Sr. of Chocowinity.

The public is invited to attend any of the services of the church.

Youth Crusade Set Saturday

The New Covenant Temple Holy Church of Grifton will hold its Night Youth Crusade Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

The speaker will be the Rev. Mattie Ann Smith of Winterville. She will be accompanied by Choir No. 3 of Saints' Rest Holy Church of Winterville. The public is cordially invited according to the pastor, the Rev. Ollie Harris.

Bray said organizers of illegal charter flights often flout the CAB rule by asking passengers "to sign an affidavit that they have been members of the fraudulent, nonexistent club for at least six months and then giving them a back dated membership card."

The CAB spokesman said the most effective remedy against Americans getting stranded in foreign lands "is for people to try to stop getting something for nothing."

"America will not make a mockery of their sacrifice and devotion," he said, "by talking of amnesty for deserters while some of their comrades are held captive in brutal North Vietnamese prisons."

McGovern does not favor amnesty for deserters. Although the line drew huge applause, one campaign aide later shook his head. "That is pure demagoguery," he said, "and that is the one thing Nixon does not need this year."

World Service Appeal To Begin

The Greenville World Service Appeal opens on Sept. 2 and will end in October.

The World Service Appeal is an annual campaign by Seventh-Day Adventist churches begun in 1903. Funds collected help support Adventist welfare, disaster relief, educational, medical, and mission work in 193 countries. The goal for the local church is $1,900.

All solicitors for the Greenville campaign will be identified, unpaid Seventh-Day Adventist volunteers. By using volunteers and already existing channels for handling the funds, the church is able to eliminate overhead expenses. All money

Church Sets Homecoming

The University Church of Christ will be observing annual homecoming Sunday.

The services will include Sunday School at 10 a.m. and morning worship at 11 a.m. meeting at the New Austin Building, East Carolina University campus.

Ray Giles, missionary to Ethiopia, will be the guest speaker. Following the service, the congregation and friends will assemble at Elm Street Recreation Center for the homecoming dinner.

Giles served the Mt. Pleasant Christian Church here prior to his entry in the Ethiopian mission field. He has served a term of four years there and plans to return to this mission following a one year furlough. The Giles family are residing in Johnson City, Tenn., while in the United States.

The Sunday evening service will be conducted in the New Austin Building at 7:30 with the minister, Lawrence Kepler, bringing the message.

Hold Quarterly Church Meet

Quarterly meeting will be held at Corey's Chapel Free Will Baptist Church this weekend.

Quarterly conference will convene Saturday night with Elder F.C. Mitchell and congregation of Burney's Chapel, Free Will Baptist Church in charge.

The pastor, Elder J. N. Randolph of Bolivia, will render the 11 o'clock service. Elder J. Randolph and congregation of Joe's Branch Free Will Baptist Church will be in charge of the 3 p.m. service.

The public is cordially invited.

SPECIAL FILM

A special film will be shown at the conclusion of the Sunday School hour at 10:15 a.m. Sunday at Sycamore Hill Baptist Church.

The film is entitled "Does Christ Live In Your Home?"

goes to further the church's humanitarian activities.

Contributions are allocated to local, state, national, and international programs according to needs. Overseas the church supports mission schools, leper colonies, clinics, dispensaries, hospitals, and relief units that are often the only facilities available to thousands of needy persons.

The annual World Service Appeal is the only public appeal for funds made by the Adventist Church. Each year less than seven per cent of the total budget for Adventist world welfare programs is received through community in gathering campaigns.

In 1971, the church worldwide welfare and relief activities included 9,147,113 persons helped and 10,861,100 volunteer hours given.

Six Receive Life Sentence

RALEIGH (AP)—The State Supreme Court has ordered life sentences for six Central Prison inmates who are under death sentences for capital crimes.

The court's decision Thursday was an outgrowth of a recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling outlawing the death penalty as cruel and unusual punishment.

The six inmates who will be returned to the counties from which they were convicted in order that they may receive life terms instead of the death sentence are:

—James Nathaniel Westbrook, sentenced in Mecklenburg County for murder.

—Danny Chance, sentenced in Cumberland County for rape.

—Owen Swanson Doss, sentenced in Pitt County for murder.

—Roger Vernon Miller, sentenced in Duplin County for murder.

—Ray Hamby and Craig Barry Chandler, sentenced in Lincoln County for murder.

In another case the court found no error in the conviction of James Ray Hoffman who was sentenced in Lenoir County to a life term for murder.

The California gold rush was touched off by discovery of gold at Sutter's Mill near Coloma, Calif., by James W. Marshall on Jan. 24, 1848.

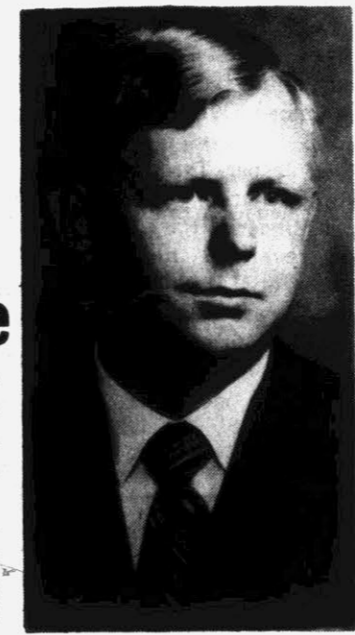

Will Speak On Sunday

The Rev. John L. Speight will be the guest speaker at the Calvary Pentecostal Church, located on the Belvoir Highway, Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

A native of Greenville, Speight is a graduate of East Carolina University. He will return to Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, Va., this fall to complete the requirements for his Master's of Divinity.

He has been the interim pastor of the Grove Presbyterian Church, Dunn, for the past year. He is married to the former Harvey Marie Bradshaw and they have two children.

The pastor, Rev. T.R. Bradshaw, and church membership extends an invitation to the public to attend. Special music will be provided.

REV. JOHN SPEIGHT

Singing Program Slated Sunday

A singing will be held at the Meadowbrook Pentecostal Holiness Church Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

The Crusaders Quartet will be the guest singers. The Rev. G.S. Holliday is the pastor.

Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy, and President Abraham Lincoln, were born within 100 miles of each other in Kentucky.

On Sunday, September 3rd, Men's Day will be held at Allen Chapel F.W.B. Church. Each and every one is invited to attend.

To Fight Litter

NEW YORK (UPI)—At least 150 top U.S. corporations are actively involved in litter prevention and related programs, reports Keep America Beautiful, the national environmental improvement program.

One state hotel association distributed 355,000 litterbags to guests during one year. More than 2.5 million children are members of Captain Cleanup Clubs sponsored by a national shoe company. Another company used anti-litter messages as bill inserts to 1.2 million customers.

The heavens declare

People are so busy here and there that they often fail to perceive the beauty and grandeur of Creation.

A storm at sea, a beautiful sunrise or a full moon riding in a clear sky are but commonplace aspects of the weather. Towering mountains, a great waterfall or a far-spread fertile valley are but features of the landscape.

Blessed is the man gifted with the vision and understanding to see the deeper meaning of Nature's matchless wonders.

For behind all the wonderful phenomena of earth and sea and sky is the pattern of a sublime plan which stirs the awe and challenges the imagination of man. There can be but one answer to the marvels and wonders of the universe—God! The Church brings man into spiritual relationship with his Creator.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued a sort of end run today chalking up surprising yardage amid light trading, and leaving analysts surprised by the extent of the gains.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up 6.02 to 969.75. Advances outpaced declines 698 to 333 on the Big Board, with 1,381 total issues exchanged.

The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,400 common stocks was up .24 to 61.31. At the American Stock Exchange, the price-change index was up .03 to 26.65.

Most-active on the Big Board was Curtiss-Wright, which had gained nearly eight points in three days after General Motors announced its plans regarding use of the Wankel rotary engine.

Today it ran into profit taking and was down 1/8 to 53 1/2. The company owns North American rights to the Wankel.

Second-most-active was Bankers Trust, up 1/8 to 63. It has marched up more than 10 points in price in three weeks, following a record earnings report.

Chemicals were broadly up. Du Pont was up 1 1/4 to 182. Union Carbide advanced 3/8 to 49 1/2. Eastman Kodak gained 1 to 129 1/4, and Allied Chemical was up 1/8 to 29 1/2.

Stolen Cash Is Soon Recovered
OFFENBACH, Germany (AP) — West German police recovered $562,000 about 12 hours after it was stolen in an armored truck holdup in which the driver was killed.

Police said they found the money in the home of a girl-friend of one of the truck's drivers, Robert Plumblohm.

Plumblohm, a university student who worked part time for the armored truck service, gave himself up earlier but denied he had anything to do with the robbery.

The body of the driver, Guenther Biard, was found locked inside the abandoned truck in a suburb. He had been shot four times in the head.

This summer, 50 million Americans will go camping on wheels.

Rebel Is Captured

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — Raul Sendic, leader of the Tupamaro guerrillas, was wounded and captured today by a platoon of police and soldiers after a gun fight in a Montevideo suburb, authorities reported.

Sendic and several other guerrillas reportedly were challenged by the platoon, and Sendic pulled a gun and began to fire. The platoon returned the fire, hitting Sendic, and the other guerrillas escaped.

A former law student and union leader, the 45-year-old rebel chief helped organize the Tupamaros in the early 1960s. He and eight of his lieutenants were arrested in August 1970 in a suburban apartment in which police found the passport of Daniel A. Mitrone, the adviser to the Uruguayan police from Richmond, Ind. who had been kidnaped and murdered that month.

Last September he and 105 other guerrillas tunneled out of a Montevideo prison and escaped.

Elder Jasper Tyson will officiate and burial will follow in Sunset Memorial Park.

He received his early education at H.B. Sugg School. Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Ethel Mae Murphy of Farmville; his father, Earlies Murphy Sr. of Ohio; one sister, Miss Ethel V. Murphy of Goldsboro; one brother, Baby Ray Murphy

Two Banks Are Robbed

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Two banks were robbed in Charlotte Thursday, bank robberies No. 33 and 34 in North Carolina this year. The record is 42, last year.

Hit first Thursday was the North Tryon Street branch of the Wachovia Bank and Trust Co. A bank spokesman, Charlie Law, said three men, two of them wearing ski masks, burst in through the back door at 9:10 a.m. and escaped with $29,313.

Law said the bandits, whom he described as "very loud, very noisy," swept up money from two teller windows and the vault, then fled. They were gone in 35 to 45 seconds, he said.

The second robbery, also on the city's north side, was shortly after mid-afternoon at the North Graham Street branch of First Union National Bank. The FBI said two men figured in the holdup. The amount of money involved was not disclosed.

No Parking Regulation

Parking on sections of Meade and Third Streets has been restricted according to an announcement this morning by Chief of Police Glenn Cannon, who said the action is being taken to improve the flow of traffic in the affected areas.

Cannon said no parking will be allowed on Meade Street, from Third to Second Streets.

The chief explained that there has been no parking on Meade Street from Fifth to Third Streets and the new move will extend the no parking zone from Third to Second Streets.

In addition, no parking will be allowed on the North side of Third Street from the Lewis Street intersection to Elm Street.

Cars, Chief Cannon noted, may still park on the South side of Third Street.

The chief noted that the enforcement of the no parking regulations along the two streets will begin in earnest September 5 and vehicles found illegally may be towed away at the owner's expense.

Ulster Rioters Hit Army, Police Units

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Rioting Protestants hit army and police units with rocks, bricks and bottles early today when they moved in to protect a Roman Catholic family complaining of intimidation.

Army headquarters said trouble broke in the Protestant dominated housing estate of Edgarmstown in the city of Portadown, county Armagh.

Portadown, with a population of 12,000 was the scene of bitter Catholic riots last week.

A military spokesman said soldiers who answered the Catholic call for aid arrested a man carrying a gun.

The following services have been scheduled: Monday night, the Rev. W. H. Mitchell, Good Hope F.W.B. Church; Tuesday night, Dr. W. L. Jones and Mt. Calvary F.W.B. Church; Wednesday night, Rev. Vance; Thursday, Rev. Jasper Tyson and Allen Chapel Church; Friday night, board meeting.

Holy Communion will be observed Saturday night. Sunday services include morning worship at 11 a.m. and afternoon service at 3 p.m., conducted by the Rev. J. N. Gilber and St. John Choir at Farmville.

Puccini's opera "La Fanciulla del West," was inspired by David Belasco's play, "The Girl of the Golden West," which Puccini saw on a visit to New York in 1905.

Postponed

Mrs. Verona Cratch, chairman of the Beaufort County Democratic Executive Committee, announced that the rally scheduled for Sept. 16 in Washington has been postponed until a later date.

Mrs. Cratch said that the postponement was due to a conflicting seven-county rally in western North Carolina and the first football game of the season at East Carolina University.

It predicted that if the provisionals kept up their offensive "there will be one horrible accident."

Yankees Blast Texas, Pull To Within 1 1/2 Games Of East Leader

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Fritz Peterson is as surprised as anybody, but here it is September and the New York Yankees are in a pennant race.

"I'm surprised all right, but now I think we've got a good chance to stay in it," says the Yankees' southpaw.

Believe, believe. The Yankees, not given much of a chance at the beginning and as much as eight games behind first place halfway throughout the American League season, are only 1 1/2 games back as the result of Thursday's 7-0 victory over the Texas Rangers.

"Our pitching can straighten out, nobody has a sore arm," said Peterson after pitching the Yankees' fifth victory in six games with a five-hitter.

During the next 30 days, the Yankees play two series apiece with the three other bona fide contenders in the Eastern Division—Baltimore Orioles, Detroit Tigers and Boston Red Sox.

"Since we all play one another in September, I guess we can't all stay hot at the same time, can we?" said Peterson. "We're going to be the ones, I have a feeling."

Two clubs are currently ahead of the Yankees. Baltimore, idle Thursday, took over first place by a half-game after California beat Detroit 4-0 and dropped the Tigers to second place. The Red Sox are behind the Yankees in fourth, two games off the pace.

In the other American League game, the Milwaukee Brewers defeated the Kansas City Royals 7-3. Only two games were played in the National League in an abbreviated schedule. The Houston Astros trimmed the Philadelphia Phillies 5-1 and the Los Angeles Dodgers turned back the Chicago Cubs 5-3.

Horace Clarke gave Peterson a 1-0 lead with a home run in the first inning and then Bobby Murcer put the game out of sight with a three-run blast as the Yankees scored four times in the second inning. It was Murcer's 100th career homer.

Nolan Ryan pitched a three-hitter for his third straight shutout and ninth of the season as California stopped the stumbling Tigers.

The Angels' right-handed ace extended his scoreless string to 34 innings while helping his team complete a three-game sweep over Detroit. Ryan struck out 10, including the last three batters in the ninth, to push his American League-leading total to 244. Ryan's victory was his 15th this year.

Dave May's two-run single sparked a decisive, three-run outburst in the second inning as Milwaukee rallied for its victory over Kansas City. Winner Skip Lockwood had yielded three runs to the Royals before his teammates came back with three runs in the first and three more in the next inning.

Doug Rader's two-run single capped a four-run rally in the third inning and Larry Dierker scattered seven hits in leading Houston's victory.

"This club is really playing great now," said Houston Manager Leo Durocher, who's undefeated in four games since he took over the club last Sunday. "They have enthusiasm on the bench—I don't see much of that anymore."

Claude Osteen pitched a six-hitter and took care of the winning run himself with a sixth-inning single as Los Angeles beat Chicago and kept alive its flickering pennant chances in the National League West. The third-place Dodgers trail the first-place Cincinnati Reds by 1 1/2 games.

After Wes Parker doubled home a run and Bobby Valentine singled in another to key a three-run Dodger first, Osteen singled home a runner from second base in the sixth for his team's fourth run.

Tennis Club Sets Tourney

The Greenville Tennis Club has set up their schedule for the fall tournament slate. A total of eight tournaments are scheduled by the club, beginning immediately.

Tonight at midnight is the closing date for the first of the tournaments, the women's open singles. The posting and drawing date is September 6, with play on September 9-10.

The second tournament is the Women's Open Doubles, with a deadline on Sept. 8. Play begins in this on Sept. 16-17.

The women's single and doubles tournament for women 35 and over closes on Sept. 14, with play Sept. 20-22.

The Men's Open Singles closes on Sept. 15, with play on Sept. 23-24. The Men's Open Doubles closes on Sept. 22, and play will be Sept. 30, and Oct. 1.

The Men's Singles (35 and over) will close on Sept. 29, with play Oct. 7-8. The doubles for men 35 and over closes on Oct. 6, and play will be Oct. 14-15.

The Open Mixed Doubles tournament will close on Oct. 10 and play will be held on Oct. 21-22.

Three flights will be held in each event. The championship level is open to all entrants. Losers in the first round drop into Flight A, while losers in the first round of Flight A will form Flight B.

Trophies for the winner and runner-up in each flight will be awarded. A $1 entry fee per person per event is being charged to offset expenses. Tom and Ann Sayetta, 1117 Hillside Drive, are serving as tournament chairpersons.

Juniors are encouraged to enter the open events also, the Sayettas said.

Conley, With New Coach, Finds Some Problems, Some Experience

By CHIP LAMBETH
Reflector Sports Writer
(One of a series)

HOLLYWOOD — D. H. Conley has a new head football coach and an almost new program which they will be trying to turn into a winning combination this year as the Vikings move into their second season on the gridiron.

Ken Treadway is the new captain of the Viking ship. He comes from Lake View, S.C. where he was a coach for three years. Before that he coached at Pageland for a year. Treadway attended Appalachian State University and played as an end for the Mountaineers.

One problem that has been evident from the first day of practice is not having all the players together at the same time. This has hurt the Vikings slightly but the other members of the team have been giving as Treadway puts it, "a lot of fine effort."

Conley has 11 lettermen returning; all were starters last year. Six of those are on offense. Speed in the offensive line is not up to what the coach would like. "Line-wise, we're average; maybe slow," Treadway said. "We feel the backs are pretty quick but it comes out as average. Calvin Clemons may be the fastest runner on the team. Leonard Cox is also pretty fast. We hope to be able to use Cox, mainly as a linebacker. Clemons can move."

One of the keys to a successful offensive team this year will be the play of returnee Vic Corey.

Howard Is A Tiger

DETROIT (AP) — In an effort to get some power into the lineup for the September stretch-drive in the American League East, the sagging Detroit Tigers have acquired Frank Howard from the Texas Rangers.

"I'll do the very best I can and I just hope I can help the team make into the playoffs," said Howard, who was contacted at his Irving, Tex., apartment.

Howard will apparently need all the help he can get. The 6-foot-7, 250-pounder is currently in one of the worst slumps of his fading 13-year career. At present he shows only nine home runs, 31 runs batted in and a .247 batting average in 94 games for the Rangers.

But Howard claims his hitting "has picked up a little lately."

Corey played defensive halfback some last year and will be the starting quarterback this year. Corey may play in the defensive secondary but only sparingly. The rest will depend on the line. There are three veterans in the line in Keith Gould, Johnny Smith, and Stencil Hines. Gould and Hines are guards while Smith is an end. Treadway pointed out that, "If the line can come through we'll have a good year. Smith and Lawrence Harper both are good receivers. We will be relying on the running game mostly."

Turning to the defense, Treadway stated that the secondary had a lot of experience in Wayne Maness, and Douglass Haddock. The linebackers will be the strong point, however. The three will be Bobby Bryant, Norman Marable, and Milton Hawkins. Bryant was called by the coach, "a real stickler." Alton Nicholson, a wrestler, will be anchoring the line at defensive guard. Calvin Hawkins and Gould at the ends will, "Have their work cut out for them."

Referring to a scrimmage held against Rose recently, Treadway felt that the casual observer would not have thought the ends were there as Rose ran around them consistently. "You could tell how poor the ends were. When we changed from a 4-4 to a 6-3, we found people to fill the weak spots."

Treadway also singled out Dallas Wade and Charles Tyson on their line play. Wade is an offensive tackle and Tyson a center. "Gould played center for us last year. Now that we have put Tyson in at center we have moved Gould to a guard spot and we think this will help the line a great deal," the coach explained.

Bryant seems to be the man to be doing the kicking for the Vikings. He has been used in practice for extra points and field goals. Corey who did some punting last year, may work in that department but it looks as if Bryant may have to do it all in order to save the Conley QB from any possible injury.

Conley's chances for a good season boil down to one point — the offensive line. "If the line can come through, and we don't outmistake ourselves, we can have a good season. It is the same way on defense."

Asked who he thought the teams to beat would be this year in the Eastern Carolina Conference, Treadway replied, "From what I've heard and seen, it will be Greene Central and Southern Wayne. Southern Wayne will have a lot of rookies up from an undefeated team and a halfback from Japan who is supposed to look real good." The coach also felt that "the kids from Eastern Wayne will give somebody some trouble. Farmville Central will be tough also."

Treadway believes the conference to be a well balanced league with Ayden-Grifton Chargers being a possible darkhorse.

The season's home opener with Southern Wayne will probably see Maness and Johnny Smith at the ends, Wade and Bryant at tackle, Hines and Gould as the guards and Tyson rounding out the line at center. Corey will start at quarterback with Willy Hawkins at the wing and Harper at fullback.

The defensive line will have Gould and Clemons at ends, the tackles will be Hawkins and McGowan, Hines and Nicholson at guards. The linebackers will be Bryant Willie Hawkins and Marable with Maness and Haddock in the secondary.

Treadway looks for a wide open ground attack with the team running from an "I" formation.

'Skins Win On Knight's Kick

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Curt Knight pulled a Garo Yepremian Thursday night while Yepremian looked like Jan Stenerud.

Yepremian's field goal last season ended the National Football League's longest game as Miami defeated the Kansas City Chiefs for the American Conference title. The Dolphin's three-pointer came after Kansas City's Jan Stenerud missed an "easy" field goal attempt.

Thursday night, it was Yepremian's turn to miss as the little booter was wide from the 33-yard line.

Knight, who led the National Conference in scoring last year, split the uprights with a 24-yard field goal with 36 seconds remaining in the game to give the Washington Redskins a 27-24 exhibition victory over the Dolphins.

Knight also kicked a 51-yarder to give the Redskins a temporary 24-21 lead. The other Washington scores came on a pair of one-yard runs by Charley Harraway and a 17-yard pass from quarterback Sonny Jurgensen to running back Larry Brown.

Miami scored first on a 10-yard dash by Mercury Morris. Larry Csonka added a one-yard plunge, Yepremian kicked a 16-yard field goal and Charley Leigh excited the capacity crowd of 53,039 with a 101-yard dash with a kick-off return.

The Baltimore Colts battle the Detroit Lions at Tampa, Fla., tonight. The exhibition will be nationally televised over the NBC network.

Moye Tourney This Weekend

The 20th annual W. S. Moye Memorial Golf Tournament will be held this weekend at the Greenville Golf and Country Club.

The three-day, 54-hole tournament runs Saturday through Monday at the club, and is open to all members who have reached their 16th birthday.

The tournament was first played in 1953, and was conceived by Simon Moye Jr., in honor of his father. At the elder Moye's death in 1954, the club instituted the tournament as an annual affair in his memory.

The younger Moye said that this tournament is one of the first in the area for amateurs using medal play. At that time, nearly all amateur tournaments were match play affairs.

The defending champion is Jim Ward, a great-grandson of W. S. Moye, and Ward is favored to win again this year. Other challengers include Frank Hill, Ben Harrison, Molt Massey, and several of the recent club champions.

No entry fee is charged and players can make up their own foursomes for the first two rounds of play. Following these, the field will be flighted for the final rounds. Prizes will be awarded to the winner and runner-up in each flight.

Gordon Fulp, the club's new pro, said that he expects the largest field in the history of the tournament.

Triumph And Tragedy For Americans

By BOB JOHNSON
Associated Press Sports Editor
MUNICH (AP) — "I'm very thrilled—yes, I'm proud," Mark Spitz said after beating the clock twice to become the greatest swimmer in Olympic history.

But there was no joy for Eddie Hart and Ray Robinson. The clock had beaten them.

Spitz, America's human torpedo from Carmichael, Calif., churned to glory with a world-record clocking of 54.27 seconds in the 100-meter butterfly for his fourth gold medal of these 20th Summer Games. And barely an hour later, he won his unparalleled fifth, anchoring the United States' victorious 800-meter freestyle relay team.

It brought him within two of his unspoken but determined goal of an unheard of seven golds here.

Spitz' five golds broke the record of four in the swims held by such Olympians as Johnny Weismuller and Don Schollander. And it equaled the Olympic record of five won by any competitor. Italian fencer Nedo Nadi did it in 1920.

He goes after No. 6 Sunday in the 100-meter freestyle. The climax comes Monday in the 400-meter medley relay—or will it? "If I win the 100," Spitz casually remarked after his remarkable performance, "I might not swim in the 400. I'd rather win six of six than take a chance on six of seven."

To this his coach and coach of the U.S. women's team, Sherm Chavoor, replied: "If he drops out of one, I'll break his damned neck."

The only things broken as far as Hart and Robinson were concerned were their hearts. They won't have a chance to break any records here because of a monumental scheduling foul-up that threatens U.S. domination of track and field's sprints.

Everybody, it seems, was blaming everybody else Thursday after Robinson, of Lakeland, Fla., and Hart, from Pittsburg, Calif., were so late arriving at the stadium that they missed their 100-meter dash heats.

Robert Taylor of Houston was late, too, but he managed to rip off his sweat suit, jump into his shoes and onto the starting blocks and, without a warmup, qualify for the semifinals in his heat.

Sprint Coach Dan Wright initially took the blame. "I gave them the wrong time. It was my fault," he said, explaining he had told his charges the heats began not at 4:15 p.m. but at 7 p.m.

Several hours later, though, American officials called a news conference and, displaying an apparently outdated schedule book, said the fault lay with the German Olympic organizers, who, the U.S. speakers insisted, had provided the wrong times.

But Hans Klein, Olympic Press Chief, and one of his aides, Ulrich Pabst, responded by producing a track schedule showing the events set up to run in the sequence in which they were conducted.

That schedule, dated Sept. 20, 1971, was mailed to all Olympic officials within a few days of publication, they said—and Klein, commenting on Wright's statement that the U.S. officials could not obtain an up-to-date schedule, replied: "I guess that's a good one—but why were all the others there?"

Spitz' performance in the 100-meter butterfly, in which he beat out Canadian silver medalist Bruce Robertson and bronze winner Jerry Heidenreich of Dallas, was a personal triumph—but he saved his kudos for his relay teammates, particularly Steve Genter of Lakewood, Calif.

Genter gave Spitz a 15-meter head start on the anchor after heroically wiping out a seven-meter lead held by West Germany at the halfway mark.

"His 200 meters today," Spitz said of Genter, "was one of the most outstanding swims I've ever seen. Steve has to go down as pretty tough, especially after what he went through." What Genter had gone through, just one week ago, was surgery for a collapsed lung.

In other U.S. track events, meanwhile, Munich-born Frank Shorter set an American record in the 10,000 meters as he qualified with a third-place time of 27 minutes 58.2 seconds.

Larry Young was the best U.S. finisher in the 20-kilometer walk, coming in 10th, and Willye White was 11th in the women's long jump with 20 feet 7 inches.

Defending champion Madeline Manning Jackson America's top female hope for a gold, qualified in the 800-meter run and Dave Wottle, overcoming an ailing knee, qualified in his 800 meter trial.

The United States made its best showing ever in wrestling with three golds, two silvers and a bronze. "I predicted six medals," overjoyed U.S. Coach William Farrel of New York crowed, "but that was to psyche the team up. This is beyond our wildest hopes!"

One of the golds went to Dan Gable of Waterloo, Iowa, in the 149.5-pound class. It climaxed three years of three-a-day practices without a miss. "This is undoubtedly the happiest moment of my life," Gable said.

Wayne Wells, a 27-year-old Norman Okla. lawyer, also won a gold in the 163-pound class while Ben Peterson of Comstock, Wis., got his in the 198-pound class. "Great, great!" Ben cheered, hugging his brother, John, who earlier had nabbed a silver in the 181-pound division.

Tough Russians dominated the event as expected, taking five golds. One of them went

Allison Leads Southern Field

By BON CULLEN
Associated Press Writer
DARLINGTON, S. C. (AP) — When you own the car that's won more money on the Grand National stock car circuit this year than any other, a blown engine is not a catastrophe.

Leonard and Glen Wood, owners of the No. 21 Mercury driven by David Pearson, are in that enviable, winning position. When Pearson went into the pits Thursday, Leonard quickly diagnosed the problem as a dropped valve.

But rather than rush to replace the engine and qualify immediately, Leonard checked the entire car — oil lines, bearings and carburation. The Woods can afford to bypass the free tires and $1,100 bonus that go with winning the pole.

With the Mercury temporarily out of the running, Bobby Allison had no serious competition in winning the pole Thursday with a Southern 500 qualifying record speed of 152.228 miles per hour in his red and gold Chevrolet.

Fred Lorenzen, in another Chevy, was second, more than three miles per hour slower than Allison. The Petty-STP Dodge, with Richard Petty and Buddy Baker driving, occupied the second row, scant hundredths of a second behind Lorenzen.

Meanwhile, in the Wood Brothers' garage stall, the atmosphere resembled a hospital operating room more than a raucous, noisy pit.

Besppectled Leonard, his blue shirt carefully tucked into his pants and his black hair slicked into a straight part, hunched solidly under a fender. He worked deliberately, turning his wrenches with measure pressure.

That's why the 14-year-olds are so fantastic in women's swimming. They begin the true rigors of training at age 12 and two-years later they are at a peak.

Then, when you pass 16, boys come into a girl swimmer's life. She also grows up mentally and begins to question her coach's tactics. Sometimes, she revolts and refuses to carry the previous training load.

That is also when she begins to fade.

I couldn't believe it when he kids like Shane began creeping up on me and my accomplishments. Then, I recalled the exhausting work under Sherm all those years ... how I had bled for my shot at glory.

the car and worked from there. Glen, elder of the brothers and the team's spokesman, talked quietly about how two pious, church-going brothers from Stuart, Va., have become the most feared competitors on the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing circuit.

"If you do it like it's supposed to be done, you stand a chance to win some money," he said. "If you don't do it right, you might as well not race."

"A lot of guys here just like to be in the race and make their expenses. They have fun and they're messy, but we feel like our appearance reflects the way we do our jobs. We're here to win money."

David Pearson is cut from another cloth, but he doesn't argue when the Woods tell him to take a shower rather than go for the pole.

"You can't argue with success," said the man who has won five major races in the Mercury this season. (A. J. Foyt won two others in the same car.) "After watching those guys operate, how could anyone want them to do anything but what they wanted to do?"

Glen admitted the car had been running "close to Allison, but not faster" before the engine mishap. He allowed that the new engine installed by Leonard was supposed to be just a bit more powerful than the one it replaced.

So, when Pearson wheels the car out onto the Darlington oval today, he'll be the favorite not only to win the 13th qualifying spot that is now the best available, but to surpass Allison's record-setting performance Thursday.

That's the way it is when you drive for the Wood brothers.

App Quarterback Key To Success

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Appalachian State's Mountaineers will be eligible for the Southern Conference football championship this year for the first time, and a key to their success may be quarterback Steve Loflin.

"I feel like I know what I'm doing this year more than last season," says the 6-foot, 185-pound junior from Rustburg, Va. "I've learned a lot in the last year."

Loflin directed the Mountaineers to a 7-3-1 record in 1971, Coach Jim Brakefield's first season at Appalachian State in which the school was a provisional league member and not eligible for titles.

A former high school quarterback who began as a defensive back at Appalachian State, Loflin started all 11 games last year at quarterback. Although the Mountaineers' rushing attack was very successful, the passing attack was mediocre at best.

This year, however, Brakefield is much more confident about his aerial game, and Loflin feels he knows why.

"We don't expect to pass much more," says Loflin, "but we do expect a higher completion percentage."

"Part of this is because we're not going to be as predictable in our passing. Last year we passed only when we had to. This year we're going to do a lot more passing on first and second down."

Loflin also feels there has been an improvement in personnel—"our receivers are 100 per cent improved over last year." And he says "I know I'm a better quarterback. My arm is stronger, and I understand the philosophy of the wishbone offense a lot better."

William and Mary's Indians scheduled a game-type scrimmage today which Coach Jim Root said would be the Indians' most important preseason workout. The Indians will end two-a-day drills Saturday, then start working Monday for the Sept. 9 home opener against Furman.

Coach Bob King of Furman was pleased Thursday with the improvement in the Paladins' offense, which has been hit by injuries and inconsistency during early practice sessions.

"Maybe it's because they had so far to go, but the offense has made a great deal of progress this week," said King.

There was a light workout Thursday at The Citadel, which scrimmaged Wednesday and plans another heavy scrimmage Saturday.

"We tried to correct some mistakes," said Coach Red Parker. "At the same time, we spent some time working with a wet ball."

The Richmond coaching staff was pleased with the performance of the defensive line, in which the only newcomer is 225-pound sophomore tackle Ace Owens. The Spiders have led the conference in rushing defense three of the last four years.

Darden Elected YDC President

In elections held earlier this week, Carl Darden, was elected president of the Pitt County Chapter of the Young Democratic Club. Also elected to the position of secretary, was Mrs. Judy DeBoard.

Darden, noting that the club had been relatively inactive for the past two years, said "we are reorganizing to become fully active again." Currently, members of the Young Democratic Club hold monthly meetings at 8:00 p.m. on the fourth Monday night of each month at the Baptist Student Union.

between the ages of 18 and 35, Darden said: "The potential for the Pitt County Young Democratic Club is greater perhaps than in any other Eastern North Carolina county. Just now the time factor is important, but we have the material, that is the young people, to work with, so I feel we have much we can offer the Democratic party."

All interested young people are urged to attend one of the meetings. Further information can be had by calling Darden at 758-1183.

CARL DARDEN

Darden, a Greenville realtor, and Mrs. DeBoard, an assistant librarian at East Carolina University, are at present the only two officers of the reorganized club. "We will have elections soon to elect an entire slate of officers," Darden commented. "We are going to rebuild, restructure, reorganize and mold the YDC into a club of strength and numbers. I think our ideas and performance will generally be accepted by the Pitt County community."

Some of the immediate future plans for the club include a scheduled meeting on September 12 to elect delegates to the state convention. Members also plan to participate in the annual YDC convention in Wilmington on September 22 and 23.

Chinese Beer Is Arriving In U.S.

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A load of 1,300 cases of Chinese beer — the first containerized shipment from the People's Republic of China to the United States — was scheduled to arrive at the port of Oakland today.

The shipment is believed to be the first major cargo movement in decades on a through bill of lading between China and the United States, a port spokesman said.

The cargo, imported by Tsingtao Imports of Oakland, will be marketed to specialty San Francisco Bay Area restaurants.

MUST

GENERAL TENDENCIES: There is a good chance today that you can work out some new course of action whereby you can round out whatever information or improved program you wish. An influential man with the necessary know-how to show you how best to put across your plan for advancement will work with you on this.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Give proof to one at home that you are sincerely working toward mutual aims. Show you are steadfast, dependable. Shop for those items that will help you be more efficient.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Out of that easy chair early and get to places that will give you the amusement and other good aims you may have for advancement. Take the treatment you need that will make you look and feel more charming. Avoid one who is a moocher.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Get those monetary matters well handled with kin during a.m. so that the future will be brighter and frustrations avoided. Put that new plan to work that will do away with poverty and make you free and successful. Early to bed in p.m.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You have to decide what your true aims are and how to gain them by approaching the right key people. A social approach is best now to get the wheels of fortune rolling nicely. Show your true capabilities.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Think that plan over carefully again that will take you out of the slough of despair and into the happiness of wealth you dream of. Believe in yourself. Contact that key person who can help you gain success.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) This is the day to talk for some time with that fine friend who can open the door to greater success for you in the future. Accept that social invitation that will help you meet the right people. Dress attractively.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) A good day to state your aims to a bigwig and gain the backing you need to gain them. Find the right means for improving your present position, your credit. Show you have considerable ingenuity.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Getting off to some new site with a loyal pal and discussing subjects important to you both brings fine results. Communicating with out-of-towners also brings the benefits you are seeking. Be active, not passive now.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Study your obligations well and then plan just how you are going to discharge them to the best of your ability. Stop worrying about them and gain the approval of bigwigs. More thought should be given to mate in p.m.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have to state your aims clearly if you want an associate to understand them properly and then you get the cooperation you want. A situation arises that gives you a better philosophy of living. Follow it.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Sit down and plan the work you want to do in the future as well as the new allies you want to make. Study your assets and bills well, and then you know what to do to have a more successful life. Avoid one who is trying to fool you.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Gad about and have fun with a close tie today and make this a most happy and delightful day. Coming to a finer understanding with a partner is possible while at fun places. Stop being so silent.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be one of those young people who operates pretty much on the emotions, but will also be reticent at times, and others will be attracted to your youngster very easily and quickly. Slant the education along lines of pleasing the public, whether in the entertainment, fashion, food fields, or in investigative work, or especially where the pulpit is concerned, since there is a deep understanding of the spiritual in this nature. Ethics early.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Local Man Is Named Timetable For Student News Director For Who Aims For College WITN Television

WASHINGTON, N.C. — Roy Hardee has been named News Director for WITN-TV, according to an announcement made today by W.R. Roberson, Jr., President and General Manager of North Carolina Television, Inc. (WITN-TV).

Hardee, a veteran newsman, joined the staff of the Greenville Daily Reflector as reporter photographer in 1949; entered broadcasting with WGTC (now WNCT) in Greenville in 1954 and in 1957 moved into Television at WNCT-TV as Chief News Photographer and News Director. In 1965 he was appointed Eastern Regional News Bureau Chief for the Raleigh News and Observer, headquartered in Greenville, and from which post he joins WITN-TV.

He has completed advanced courses in journalism and photography at the University of North Carolina and has been recipient of many awards for his journalistic and photographic excellence, including: National Press Photographer's TV Southern Photographer of the Year in 1959 and 1961; one of 12 National Picture Winners in the UPI national competition in 1958; top winner in the Television Spot and General

News categories in the Southern Photo Contest in Chapel Hill in 1959, and winner of the School Bell Award from the North Carolina Education Association in 1970.

ROY HARDEE

Hardee, active in community affairs, was named Greenville's "Man of the Year" in 1959. He is a past secretary of Eastern Firemen's Association (Volunteer), and a past State Commander of North Carolina Association of Rescue Squads. He is an active member of the National Press Photographer's Association, and the North Carolina Press Photographer's Association.

NEW YORK (UPI)—As soon as a teen-ager hits high school there's lots to do if college is ahead.

According to Bernice W. Einstein, author of "Einstein's 1972-73 College Entrance Guide" (Grosset and Dunlap), the plan goes like this:

—Ninth grade. Develop the habit of working to capacity in all school subjects. Learn how to study. Try to improve reading comprehension and speed. Improve vocabulary. Start a college savings account into which you put money from after-school and summer jobs.

—Tenth grade. Read college bulletins and catalogs. Get them at the library or write for those you want to keep longer. Read about entrance requirements of colleges in which you are interested. Go over your schedule with your guidance counselor and plan to add necessary courses to your schedule next year. Continue working on reading and study skills. Read an extra book a week or a month.

—Eleventh grade. Check the most recent college bulletins. See which programs or majors you'd like most to take and figure if you meet the requirements. Take tests recommended. These may be the College Entrance Examination Board's Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) and/or the Achievement Tests (known to your parents as College Boards or the American College Testing Program) (ACT). For regular admissions it is advisable to take the achievement tests in the spring or summer in the subjects you are completing in your junior year. In the second half of the 11th grade make a list of colleges to which you want to apply. If possible visit these colleges in late April or early May when classes are in session.

—Twelfth grade. During the summer preceding your senior year, send for applications for admission and if you are applying for financial aid, also get those applications. Discuss college choice with high school adviser. Vary your selection to that you do not apply only to highly competitive institutions. By December 15 file your college applications. Take the required college entrance tests at an early testing date so your scores will reach the colleges in time. Inquire about Educational Loans—federal, state, college, private. Keep in mind that loans are granted only after acceptance by the college. By April you will know where you have and have not been accepted.

Back-To-School Meeting For Parents Slated

A "back-to-school" meeting for parents will be held at the Ayden-Grifton High School Thursday, Sept. 7, at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

The purpose of the meeting is to organize a parent-teacher-student association to foster better communication between the school and the home and to hear a presentation of school regulations and policies.

All parents are asked to read the student handbook which was given to each student during orientation session earlier this week.

Parents are requested to certify the fact that they have read the handbook by signing the back page which is to be returned to the school by all students enrolled.

Members of the faculty will be present for the meeting.

Those backyard scrimmages with that boy of yours can get a little rough—on you. But rough-and-tumble fun is a big part of living... a big part of growing up. Make Pepsi-Cola a part of the fun. Pepsi's got the big taste... the big energy... that gives a lift to young scatbacks and, just as important, to their dads.

You've got a lot to live. Pepsi's got a lot to give.
