

Hanoi Area Pounded By U.S. Jets

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — U.S. jets made some of the most devastating raids on the war against Hanoi and its suburbs Sunday, wrecking North Vietnam's biggest and most important bridge and smashing four military installations covering more than 300 acres, the U.S. Air Force announced today.

But the Air Force's report of heavy damage in North Vietnam was offset by a revised field report that explosions Sunday at a bomb storage dump at Bien Hoa Air Base, 15 miles northeast of Saigon, destroyed or damaged 70 South Vietnamese helicopters.

It was the worst aircraft loss of the war for the South Vietnamese and will severely restrict their operations at a critical time, when renewed North Vietnamese offensive action is expected.

On the political front, the Viet Cong issued a new peace statement saying it would agree to a coalition government dominated by neither the Communists nor the Saigon regime provided the United States gets out of Vietnam completely and takes President Nguyen Van Thieu with it. U.S. analysts were studying the statement to determine if it contained anything new.

"We don't see anything particularly new in it," said a spokesman for the U.S. Embassy. "And in view of the rather vitriolic language it doesn't seem particularly conciliatory."

The Viet Cong statement declared: "The bombs and shells, the insolent threats, the perfidious political and diplomatic maneuvers of the U.S. imperialists cannot possibly conquer the Vietnamese people."

A spokesman for the 7th Air Force said the U.S. air attack on the Paul Doumer Bridge at Hanoi, the biggest in North Vietnam, was "the most damage we've ever done to it in the war." The bridge across the Red River was repeatedly attacked in the 1965-68 bombing campaign and again last May 10-11, but it was repaired each time.

The four military installations were attacked for the first time in the war. They included an aircraft assembly and repair plants, storage and distribution depots for war materials, and barracks.

The U.S. Command announced the loss of one plane Sunday, a Navy A7 jet shot down by an anti-aircraft missile 14 miles southwest of Hanoi. It said the pilot is missing.

In other major action on the bill, the committee: —Scrubbed military plans to attract more volunteers by turning KP and other chores over to civilian employees. The committee rejected $125 million for the program and recommended it be phased out by next April 30 in all services.

—Granted President Nixon's request for full funding of the long-range missile-firing Trident submarine and advanced B1 bomber to keep U.S. nuclear-strike forces modernized while seeking further U.S.-Soviet arms limitation.

—Cut the Air Force request to buy 30 of its new swing-wing F15 jet fighters to 15 until questions about the weight and performance specifications of the engine are dispelled.

The committee attributed its $101-million cut from the $426.1-million F15 request to caution, not lack of confidence in the plane.

—Rejected $190 million for three Boeing 747 jumbo jets to be turned into airborne command posts from which the president would operate in a nuclear war.

—Over $40,000 Allocated For Pitt Road Work
More than $40,000 was allocated by the North Carolina State Highway Commission for three secondary road projects in Pitt County at the commission's meeting in Jacksonville last week.

Most costly of the projects — at an estimated $19,150 — is grading, draining, and paving a half-mile section of rural road number 1728 in southeastern Pitt County.

The other projects include grading, draining and stabilizing .36 mile of road at an estimated cost of $6,000 for an access road to the county landfill at Littlefield, between Ayden and Grifton; and adding base and paving to rural road 1565 from the Beaufort County line to rural road 1783, at a cost of about $15,000.

Kissinger And Russians Hold Moscow Talks

MOSCOW (AP) — Henry Kissinger began meetings with Soviet officials today, but speculation that he would also talk peace with Le Duc Tho of North Vietnam collapsed when Tho flew on to Paris.

The North Vietnamese said on his arrival in the French capital that he had not seen Kissinger in Moscow, but he did not rule out an early meeting with him in Paris.

"You will know in a few days," he told newsmen.

Kissinger, President Nixon's adviser on national security, arrived Sunday. He told newsmen that "We are here to continue talks," an apparent reference to Nixon's meeting with the Russians in May.

But one of the five aides with Kissinger was John Negroponte, a former member of the Paris peace talks delegation who is fluent in Vietnamese. Tho arrived in the Soviet capital Saturday on his way back to Paris. He is a member of the North Vietnamese Politburo and has met repeatedly with Kissinger in Paris.

The North Vietnamese would not comment on the possibility of meeting Kissinger here.

During the American's three-day stay, he is to meet with Leonid I. Brezhnev, the Soviet Communist party boss, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

U.S. officials said they would review Soviet-American relations, including European security, Vietnam, the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks and trade.

Kissinger stopped in West Germany en route and briefed Chancellor Willy Brandt. He also extended Nixon's condolences for the Arab attack last week on the Israeli Olympic team.

German sources said Brandt in turn briefed Kissinger on the talks between West and East Germany on normalizing relations.

Two Killed By Pilotless Plane

GRANTS PASS, Ore. (AP) — A woman and a 3-year-old child were run down and killed Sunday by a pilotless plane taxiing out of control at the Josephine County Airport.

Police said Stanley Bruce Walker, 42, Roseburg, Ore., had just hand-cranked the 1941 single-engine plane to a start when it suddenly lurched forward.

The victims, Katherine Ann Barnes, 24, and her niece, Teresa Lynn Goldt, both of Rogue River, Ore., had been observing a forestry equipment display on the airport's parking lot.

Five 'On The Run' In Island Slaughter

By NAT CARNES
Associated Press Writer
CHRISTIANSTED, St. Croix, V.I. (AP) — Five men charged with murdering eight persons during a robbery at the posh Fountain Valley Golf Course still are on the run as police keep a heavy guard on two others jailed in the killings.

Bench warrants for the five fugitives were issued late Sunday by Judge Warren H. Young of U.S. District Court, Atty. Gen. Ronald Tonkin said. Gov. Melvin H. Evans identified the five as Warren Ballentine, Ismael Labeat, Raphael

Joseph, a man identified only as Sanchez and another identified only as "Pepe" or "Pablo."

"The men being sought are armed and should be considered dangerous," Tonkin said, reading from a statement by Evans.

Two others charged in the slayings — Meral Smith and Beaumont Gereau — have been jailed on the neighboring island of St. Thomas, where they were taken following their arrests Saturday night.

Smith, 21, of Estate Grove Place, St. Croix, and Gereau, 23, of St. Thomas, were arraigned in secret shortly after their arrests, and Municipal Judge John Marsh set bond at "more than $1 million," according to a statement issued by the governor's office Saturday night.

However, Evans said Sunday night said charges against all seven had been filed in U.S. District Court for the Virgin Islands by acting U.S. Atty. Frederick Watts and Young set bail at $200,000 each.

Tonkin's meeting with the press on the terrace of the club — site of four of the eight killings last Wednesday — squelched rumors of the possibility of more arrests Sunday.

Throughout the day, witnesses said, at least 14 men had been moved in and out of the Rockefeller-owned clubhouse. Two of the men left the command post in handcuffs and accompanied by police, raising the arrest speculation.

Tonkin refused to discuss them.

Small squads of FBI sharpshooters, Virgin Islands police and U.S. marshals continued chopping through tangled tropical brush surrounding the club in an effort to flush out the five believed still in a 15-square-mile area surrounding the course.

Tonkin ordered all newsmen and investigators traveling between Christiansted and the murder scene five miles south to go in caravans of two or three automobiles.

U.S. Second Veto Blocks Demand

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States cast its second veto in the history of the U.N. Security Council Sunday night. It killed a resolution demanding a halt to Israeli reprisal raids but making no mention of the Arab terrorism that provoked the raids.

Bush got applause from the gallery for his veto. And Israeli Ambassador Yosef Tekoah, absent because of the Jewish New Year, told newsmen by telephone that the U.S. vote would be "applauded by the people of Israel."

Soviet Ambassador Jacob A. Malik spoke of "the distressing events which occurred in Munich" but said to put them on the same footing as the new Israeli raids would be "condoning the aggressive policy of the Israeli maniacs."

Chinese Ambassador Huang Hua, presiding over the council for the first time since Peking entered the world organization late last year, also referred to "the unfortunate incident" in Munich but then said that the Palestinians and other Arabs had been "compelled to take up arms ... to recover their homelands" from Israel.

Ambassadors Haissam Kelani of Syria and Edouard Ghorra of Lebanon, who had asked for the meeting, registered dissatisfaction. Ghorra said he was "deeply disappointed" by the U.S. veto and could not let the matter rest. But both he and Kelani called the resolution that failed too weak.

The resolution, sponsored by Somalia, Guinea and Yugoslavia, noted "the deteriorating situation in the Middle East" and called on "the parties concerned to cease immediately all military operations and exercise the greatest restraint."

Adjourning the meeting, President Huang said the Security Council still had before it the Syrian and Lebanese complaints against the Israeli attacks and he would consult the other members on when to meet again.

Storm Weaker

MIAMI (AP) — With her winds barely reaching the 40 miles an hour required for tropical storm status, Tropical Storm Dawn began edging back down the Florida Coast today from a position about 475 miles east of Jacksonville.

The National Hurricane Center said Dawn's position at 6 a.m. (EDT) was latitude 30.2 north, longitude 73.8 west. The storm reached hurricane proportions last week but was downgraded Friday.

A hurricane center spokesman said Dawn was moving west southwest at 12 m.p.h. and described Dawn as "a small storm of minimal strength."

He said the storm was expected to continue on its present course until it turned toward the west sometime tonight.

Dawn was not expected to reach any land area until late Tuesday, the hurricane center said.

"The storm doesn't pose any threat at the present time," the spokesman said. "Sometimes these storms die pretty hard, with a lot of rain and squalls, but this one is barely hanging on to tropical storm force."

Cabarrus Voters Rejected Bonds

CONCORD, N. C. (AP) — Cabarrus County voters have rejected a $9.75 million bond issue by nearly two-to-one.

Election officials said the vote Saturday was 4,735 against the bond issue and 2,512 for it as about one-fourth of the county's registered voters cast ballots.

The money would have been used in renovations and capital improvements of existing schools and the construction of a new school.

Dowd Again To Aid UF Drive

The Advance Gifts Division of the 1973 Pitt County United Fund will be headed by Orren E. Dowd Sr., it was announced by UF campaign chairman Karl Faser.

Dowd, whose 40 years in education included positions as a teacher, principal, and college administrator, retired in July of 1970 from his post as Dean of Students at Methodist College in Fayetteville.

Currently serving as Pitt County chairman of the 1972-73 American Red Cross, the division chairman is vice president of the Brook Valley Home Owners Association and a past district governor of the Lions Club.

Dowd and his wife, Elizabeth, attend Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church where he is a member of the official board and a men's Bible class teacher.

He is a graduate of Duke University, earning both the A.B. and M.A. degrees there. Dowd is a native of Chatham County.

The chairman, noting that he has assisted in the United Fund drive for many years, said the UF is "one of the most worthy causes we have. Every citizen has both a responsibility and an obligation to aid in community enterprises."

Dowd asserted, "All agencies involved in the United Fund are in necessary part of our society."

Sale Of Ten Jetliners To Red China Approved

SEATTLE (AP) — The Boeing Co. has announced the signing of an agreement to sell 10 jetliners to mainland China, the largest sale of heavy equipment to the Chinese since trade barriers fell earlier this year.

The giant aerospace firm said the agreement for sale of the Boeing 707s, worth about $150 million, was signed in Peking Sunday after nearly five months of negotiations with Chinese officials.

A Boeing spokesman said details were being withheld pending the arrival in Washington Tuesday of Byron H. Miller, Boeing's international sales director and head of the team that negotiated the contract.

In Washington, a State Department spokesman said he could not confirm or deny whether the deal had been made. But he added that, if it had, "it would not be unexpected."

Boeing's spokesman said, the long-range, intercontinental jetliner, with a passenger capacity of about 180, sells for nearly $10 million. But, he said, with spare parts, training and other equipment, the Chinese sale probably would total $150 million.

An export license with a limit of $150 million was granted Boeing by the Commerce Department last July 5.

The largest previous single sale to China was $2.5 million worth of RCA communications equipment for a television station in Shanghai. U.S. officials estimate Chinese sales to the United States this year will be between $40 million and $50 million.

U.S.-China trade last year amounted to about $5 billion.

The Chinese government reportedly showed interest during the talks in all Boeing models, including the 747 superjet. But a spokesman said that, because of "strategic" problems, a sale of the superjet is unlikely.

New Air Ace 'Too Busy' To Get Excited

By BRUCE DUNFORD
Associated Press Writer
HONOLULU (AP) — Scoring his fifth MIG kill to join an elite club of U.S. air aces brought a brief burst of pride to Capt. Charles D. DeBellevue, but he says he was too busy at the time to dwell on the accomplishment.

"The MIG I shot down had a friend up there, and we didn't get a chance to get too excited. We were too busy trying to keep him from getting one of us," said the 27-year-old weapons system operator, the first "back-vice commander of the U.S. Pacific Air Force.

He also received the Distinguished Flying Cross, with two oak leaf clusters, and the Silver Star, with two oak leaf clusters.

With him was another Vietnam ace, Capt. Richard S. Ritchie, DeBellevue's normal flying partner. Ritchie was receiving the Air Force Cross at Tan Son Nhut airbase near Saigon while DeBellevue and Madden, 31, of Jackson, Miss., were in the air action over North Vietnam.

Until Saturday, Ritchie of Reidsville, N.C., had a one-kill lead over DeBellevue, who was on leave when the 30-year-old Ritchie downed a MIG21 May 31. Ritchie and DeBellevue bagged another MIG two weeks ago, giving Ritchie five kills and making him the first Air Force ace in the Vietnam air war.

"All we did was shoot the MIGs down ... We're getting the medals for it, but it's all the crew chiefs and maintenance troops that work on that aircraft that keep it peaked up," DeBellevue told newsmen. Asked about a pilot's conscience, DeBellevue said: "We have feelings just like everybody else. I don't think you can say we're heartless killers. We're just doing the job."

Ritchie, pressed by newsmen on the issue of the war, said: "I think war is a terrible thing and something we all despise. I think there's something that's worse, and that's somebody that's not willing to fight for something he believes in."

Couple Exchanges Vows Sunday Pressly-Smith Vows Solemnized Saturday

MRS. MELVIN EDWARD LANG

CHARLOTTE — Incarnation Lutheran Church here was the scene of the Sunday wedding of Miss Edith Juanita Tucker and Melvin Edward Lang.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Mack Francis Tucker of Rt. 3, Connelly Springs, and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Lang of Rt. 3, Ayden.

The double ring ceremony was performed by J.A. Harbinson at 4:00 p.m. Mrs. Roy Shook presented a program of organ music for the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of delustered satin with high neckline, bishop sleeves with pointed cuffs and A-line skirt with detachable chapel train. The sleeves, bodice, skirt and train were appliqued with chantilly lace.

Her headpiece of chantilly lace, seed pearls and crystals framed her face and was attached to a triple elbow length veil of silk illusion. She carried a bouquet of white roses, daisies and carnations.

Mrs. Joseph A. Keiler of Beeville, Tex., was matron of honor. She wore a floor length dress of yellow worsted silk with an empire waistline and A-line skirt trimmed with white satin lace at the neckline and waistline. She carried a nosegay of yellow and white daisies.

Bridesmaids were Miss Donna Breeden and Miss Brenda Teasley, both of Charlotte, Mrs. John Dover of Matthews and Miss Catherine Lang of Raleigh, daughter of the bridegroom.

The attendants wore gowns styled identical to the honor attendant's dress in lavender, pink, baby blue and Nile green. Their nosegays combined colors of their dresses.

Roger D. Jolley of Charlotte was best man and ushers were R. Dwight Tucker, brother of the bride, and Frank E. Turner, both of Charlotte, and J. Michael Rouse of Durham. Melvin Edward Lang Jr. of Raleigh, son of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.

After a wedding trip to the southwestern United States, the couple will reside in Raleigh.

The bride is a graduate of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro and prior to her marriage was a secretary with the Associated Press, Charlotte.

The bridegroom attended East Carolina University and is a graduate of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. He is a correspondent with the Associated Press, Raleigh.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church social hall.

GRIFTON — Miss Brenda Sue Smith became the bride of James Liston Pressly in a double ring ceremony Saturday afternoon at three o'clock in the First Christian Church here.

Dr. Thomas H. Hamilton officiated at the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Nannie Wethington Smith and Luther Woodrow Smith, both of Grifton. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. J. Earl Pressly of Kinston.

A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Sandra Hardison of Grifton, organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of ivory sata peau and Alencon lace. The empire A-line dress was styled with a high neckline, Bishop sleeves with matching lace accented with tiny seed pearls and a detachable train. Her headpiece was a candlelight cluster of bows trimmed with tiny seed pearls attached to a triple-tiered veil of matching illusion. She carried a bouquet of creme-colored roses and daisies sprinkled with baby's breath.

Mrs. Faye McDaniel of Ocala, Fla., sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Miss Paula Kay Bradley of Grifton was a bridesmaid.

The attendants wore dresses of orchid chiffon over taffeta trimmed in deep purple. The peasant style dresses were designed with lace bodices and long sheer sleeves. Their headpieces were clusters of orchid bows and flowers attached to shoulder length veils of illusion. They carried nosegays of lavender, purple and red flowers.

J. Earl Pressly of Kinston was his son's best man. Ushers were Tommy Pressly, Allen Pressly, both of Kinston, Joe Pressly of Raleigh, all brothers of the bridegroom, and Gordan Lucas of Kinston.

The wedding was directed by Mrs. Lawrence W. Kessler of Broadway, aunt of the bride.

After a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will reside at 1123-B Morningside Place, Kinston.

The bride is a graduate of Ayden-Grifton High School. The bridegroom is a graduate of Grainger High School, Kinston, and attended East Carolina University. He is presently associated in business with his father at Pressley's Laundry and Drycleaning Service, Kinston.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was given in the fellowship hall of the church. The wedding party and guests were entertained at an after-rehearsal party Friday night, given by the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Earl Pressly, at their home.

Fortune Won, All Is Forgiven

MANCHESTER, England (WNS)—Maggie Smith, 41, who has spent 26 years pushing her cart through Market Street and selling fruits and vegetables, has retired suddenly after just winning $320,000 in a sports pool. She learned about the pool when her husband Jim forgot to fill in his coupon one week and telephoned her to do it for him. Granny Smith, as she is known to her customers, won $16 for her investment of a few pennies, then staked half of it on the jackpot. "I didn't tell James and felt horrible because it's the first secret I've kept from him in 22 years," she confessed. Gentleman Jim has forgiven her.

Attorney Pleased With Divorce Rate

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Regarding marriages between Baptists and Catholics: I am a practicing attorney, and I handle many divorce cases.

For the past 10 years I have kept a record of the number of divorces between couples of mixed religions, and my records show that 6 out of 10 marriages between Baptists and Catholics end in divorce. I don't know the reason, but thought you'd be interested in the statistics.

Being a small-town lawyer, I would appreciate your keeping my identity confidential as I would not want to lose all the good divorce trade between Baptists and Catholics.

Best wishes from,

A GALVESTON, TEX. ATTORNEY

DEAR ATTORNEY: Altho your mail survey on Baptist-Catholic divorces is hardly representative of the nation, if 4 out of 10 marriages make it in Galveston, you're doing better than the state of California, where I'm told they had more divorces last year than marriages!

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for stating that a return address on a sympathy card was indeed proper. It is also very helpful to the elderly who must acknowledge a stack of condolence messages, which is not an easy task with tear-filled eyes. How well I know.

IOWA GRANNY

DEAR ABBY: A female requested opinions from male readers regarding how they feel about women with false teeth. Abby, you gave her the most intelligent advice I ever read: "Keep your mouth shut."

But you failed to explain why. The reason being, "Many false words are spoken thru false teeth."

Sincerely,

A LUCKY DEAF MALE

DEAR LUCKY: And many true words are spoken thru false teeth. And many false words are spoken thru real teeth. So what have teeth to do with the veracity of one's words?

British Climate Expert Says New Ice Age Ahead

NORWICH, England (AP) — A new Ice Age is creeping over the Northern Hemisphere, and the rest of this century will grow colder and colder, a British expert on climate has claimed.

Prof. Hubert Lamb, director of climate research at the University of East Anglia, had a few comforting thoughts in an interview Sunday:

"The full impact of the new Ice Age will not be upon us for another 10,000 years and even then it will not be as severe as the last great glacial period."

"We are past the best of the interglacial period which happened between 7,000 and 3,000 years ago," he continued. "Ever since then we have been on a downhill float regarding temperature. There may be a few upward fluctuations from time to time but these are more than offset by the general downward trend."

Lamb said temperatures had been slowly dipping for the past 20 years.

"We are on a definite downhill course for the next two centuries," he declared. "The last 20 years of this century will be progressively colder. After that the climate may warm up again but only for a short period of decades."

Lamb said climate changes come in cycles determined by astronomical and physical factors. He said one main cause is the amount of radiation received from the sun.

"We know that the behavior of the sun changes at intervals and these changes have their effect," he said. "The distance between the earth and the sun also varies through the ages as the earth's orbit increases or decreases its elliptical path. The tilting of the earth as it rotates round its own axis also makes the polar ice cap grow, and this affects the air masses round it."

The last great ice age took place about 60,000 years ago and was the sixth over a period of about a million years. The great ice sheets covered most of the British Isles and in America covered what are now New York City, Cincinnati, St. Louis and Kansas City. The ice was at least 5,000 feet thick.

"I don't think it will be quite as serious this time," Lamb said. "But there will be a lot of glaciers on high ground which do not exist at present."

Arrest 3 In Heroin Raid

Three young women were arrested here early Saturday morning on drug-law violation charges after Greenville Police Department officers found a quantity of heroin during a raid on their home.

According to Chief Glenn Cannon the three charged with possession of a controlled substance were Patricia Ann Clark, 20; Janice Maxine Pippins, 20 and Janice Lee Moore, 21; all of 408A Howell St.

The women were arrested about 3:30 a.m., Cannon explained, after officers found three packs of heroin — valued at about $20 — during a raid on their home.

In addition to the heroin charge, Miss Clark was charged with possessing a hypodermic syringe.

Bond in the heroin possession cases was set at $2,500 each, while bond in the syringe possession case was placed at $500.

Spassky Now No VIP In Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — Boris Spassky didn't show it if he was bothered by the non-VIP treatment he received on returning home after losing the world chess championship to American Bobby Fischer.

Spassky, who in Reykjavik, Iceland, let the title slip from Soviet hands for the first time in 24 years, arrived home Sunday night on a second-class Aeroflot ticket from Copenhagen.

He had to wait in line for passport control, get up for his bags and fill in a declaration that he was carrying no arms or ammunition. The only concession was that he didn't have to open his bags for customs inspection.

Spassky, who won $92,812 as loser in the match, said all he wanted to do now was rest. "I will spend a week or so in Moscow and then take the vacation I've wanted to take," he said.

Ordinance Fills Important Gap

The City Council has filled an important gap in its street regulations with an ordinance passed Thursday night.

The new ordinance govern weight limits on local streets. The ordinance requires that trucks or other vehicles be limited to loads of less than 6,000 pounds per wheel on secondary or local streets within the city. The effect of the ordinance will be to limit leads on secondary streets to a total of 24,000 pounds per vehicle.

Throughfare streets, like major highways, are built, in most cases, to carry heavy loads such as trucks impose. However, secondary streets are not built for these loads. Like secondary highways, they are constructed to carry moderate traffic loads and when heavy trucks use them, damage to the pavement is likely to result.

The city has long needed an ordinance such as this which would protect secondary streets from excessive loads.

Needed Road Projects Appear On The Way

Two more needed road projects are likely to get underway in Pitt County as the result of State Highway Commission action.

Commissioner Henry Oglesby announced that funds have been designated for a 2.514 project of road improvements on U.S. 264 at Farmville. The out-of-town portion of the work is estimated to cost $1,205,400 while the part in town is expected to cost $188,600.

In Greenville funds were approved for improvements to Airport Road between Greene Street and U. S. 13-N. C. 11. Cost of this project was estimated at $157,000.

If everything goes well, the bids will be opened Sept. 26 and contracts could be let in October.

Both these projects will be welcomed by Pitt County citizens.

Schools Mean Lots Of Money

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH, N.C. — A profile of North Carolina's public schools takes in people and programs, buildings and buses, and money — lots of money.

Operation of the system meshes together the efforts of local, state and federal governments — sometimes with a grinding of gears — in the most far-reaching activity undertaken by a democratic society.

15,362 pupils at the elementary level, and a 2,025 increase at the high school level for a net drop of 13,337. Falling enrollment has not occurred uniformly over the state: 101 of the 152 local units last year reported an overall enrollment decrease while the others had gains.

Private School Enrollment
Private schools, including kindergartens, had a total enrollment of 49,016 students by the latest count. It amounted to about 4 per cent of the school population.

Current operating expenses in 1970-71 was $725,349,611.55. The state provided $492,774,184.64 or nearly 68 per cent; federal sources accounted for $106,418,549.48 or about 15 per cent; and the remaining $126,156,877.44 or some 17 per cent was locally supplied.

Buses hauled some 718,000 Tar Heel students to public schools last year. Local units must buy the original vehicle when its bus fleet must be increased; the state purchases replacement buses with state funds.

Contracts through the state division of purchase and contract assure the best price for buses. Requisitions for new buses on the last contract, as of last August, have amounted to the purchase of 994 buses for the state board of education and local systems. The buses are expected to be delivered late this fall.

Career Education Emphasis
Among new program developments, none has attracted more attention than the shift to what is called career education.

School officials call it a comprehensive approach to education "with a purpose geared to preparation for economic independence, an appreciation for the dignity of work, and a satisfying productive life." It is aimed to cultivate "career awareness" in the elementary grades, encourage "career exploration" in the middle grades, and give opportunity for senior high school students to pursue selected career preparation areas.

For further implementation of career education, the state board of education last July set up a task force with instructions to prepare a recommended program during the current school year.

What happens to the children who enter school? Approximately 40 of every 100 never complete high school. In 1970-71, there were 29,000 who dropped out.

The 1971 graduating class numbered 68,821. A survey showed that 41 per cent went on to college, nearly 18 per cent enrolled in nursing, trade or business schools, nearly 3 1/2 per cent went into military service, and 26 per cent got a job and went to work. The other 12 per cent is unaccounted for.

BRYAN HAISLIP

Despite its scope and complexity, the focus of the entire enterprise is no greater than a little child. Remote as it may seem to the individual citizen, its touch is as close and personal as your own son or daughter.

That may be a boy or girl entering kindergarten or first grade; it may be a voting young adult who is a senior in high school. Whatever the age or stage, it is for them and their future that the schools find a reason for being.

"It's the kids that count." The theme has been sounded at the start of the new school year by Gov. Bob Scott and Dr. Craig Phillips, state superintendent of public instruction, to give emphasis to the primary business of the schools.

They're talking about 1,165,251 youngsters, the estimated enrollment this fall for schools in the state's 153 local administrative units.

Schools Cost Money
It is for them that some $725 million per year is spent to operate the system, employing a professional force of 56,543, and utilizing school property representing an investment of $1,215,000,000 (B).

To assure them an education relevant to the world they live in, educators are engaged in re-examination of old methodologies and experimentation with new concepts such as the open school, emphasis on early childhood learning, and career education.

Facts and figures from an information kit prepared by the state department of public instruction give perspective to the large undertaking that is the public schools in North Carolina.

This year's projected enrollment reflects a decrease of 6,100 from the preceding year, a downward trend in evidence since 1968. Smaller first grades over the past three years resulted from a birth rate decline.

There were 1,171,351 pupils enrolled at the start of the 1971-72 school year. The figure showed a decrease of

Ramsey Clark's POW Charade

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — During his two hours in Hanoi with ten carefully selected prisoners-of-war, Ramsey Clark lectured on American politics — indicating to the prisoners their early freedom depends on electing as President Sen. George McGovern, who he said "can win by a big vote."

These pronouncements, previously unpublished, reflect the bizarre flavor of Clark's full meeting with the POWs. While the prisoners were ominously uncomplaining about their treatment and harshly critical of their own government, Clark delivered the repeated homilies on the virtues of North Vietnam.

Simply put, the Aug. 10 meeting was a charade, giving the dubious impression of American POWs splendidly treated by their captors and infuriated by U.S. war policies. Clark has not publicized how Hanoi rebuffed his efforts to see a wider cross-section of prisoners. Indeed, the full two-hour tape leaves no doubt Clark was meeting a small, cohesive group of POWs actively opposing U.S. policy.

Clark revealed his problems in contacting prisoners only during private meetings in Washington with families of POWs. He told them he asked to see specific prisoners believed in North Vietnamese hands but was refused. "I wanted to go into Laos and into the South (Vietnam) to see what they had there." He was refused. He requested a list of POWs and was refused. Reducing his request to 20 prisoners, he finally got to see ten. The Communist officials noted the famed prisoners are repeatedly "trotted out" for visitors, Clark bristled with indignation. But, he was asked, "why aren't the North Vietnamese showing the rest? Clark's reply: "I asked for new faces, and you take what they give you because they have the power."

The 30-minute segment of the Clark-POW meeting broadcast by ABC radio is dominated by the prisoners' testimony of their humane treatment. It does not contain Clark's gushing interjections. Devotion to freedom, he told the POWs, "is written deep in the hearts of the North Vietnamese people" who "believe that their cause is just."

Once the prisoners related their experiences, they asked about American politics. Clark's answer, also omitted from the ABC segment contained the hope for a "big" McGovern victory. When a prisoner referred to President Nixon's bombing policy as "idiotic," Clark delivered a denunciation of bombing.

"If McGovern were elected," Clark told the POWs, "the war would end on the day he came into office . . . there can be no question that the prisoners would be returned immediately." He then agreed with a prisoner that Mr. Nixon would not accept Hanoi's "seven points," adding that Hanoi "won't settle for anything less."

Asked why Sargent Shriver replaced Sen. Thomas Eagleton for Vice President, Clark produced a bowdlerized account. "Tom had some mental health problems" that he kept from McGovern but which columnist Jack Anderson published (untrue) based on "a plant from FBI files" (also untrue). "But McGovern then did what I think was the strong thing to do. He talked it over with Tom Eagleton. He said, 'I'm going to change.'" (If not untrue, at least distorted.)

The POWs next returned to their own problem. Clark later told prisoners families that the POWs "had complained in a number of areas." In fact, none complained about their captors. Instead they expressed fear (Continued on page 5)

The Candidate's Wife

(Mr. Buchwald was so exhausted from the excitement of the Republican National Convention that the doctor advised him to take a rest. He has left behind some of his doctor's all-time favorites.)

WASHINGTON — It is regrettable that when the wife of a candidate for public office is interviewed, she can't say what is really on her mind. In order to be a good candidate's wife, she must show a stiff upper lip and stick with the standard clichés about her husband, her home and her children.

Now, for the first time, thanks to a new extrasensory perception process, I can reveal what really is going on in the mind of the wife of the candidate. Her thoughts are in parenthesis.

"Mrs. Goodfellow, what is the most important role a wife must play in her husband's political career?"

Republicans outnumbered McGovern expects to make Ohio practically a second home. "He and Sargent Shriver will be in here at least once a week through Oct. 6," reports Sklar. "Ohio is pivotal to us, and Sen. McGovern will be here more times than in any other state with the possible exception of New York."

"She must give him moral support when he is discouraged. She must be his ears and eyes when he isn't around, and she must be able to help him relax at the end of a hard day's campaigning."

(—as well as keep him off the bottle and away from all the skirts who think he's God's gift to women.)

"You have four children. Do you find they miss their father when he is out making speeches all the time?"

"I imagine they do. But Charlton is a wonderful parent and he always makes time for the children, no matter how many political commitments he has."

Grandma Was Right

Two independent British scientific studies now have been reported proving that drinking a cup of hot milk before retiring does induce a good night's sleep.

Thus Grandma again has been vindicated. Any day now science will confirm the value of sulfur and molasses, asafetida, camomile and sassafras — all of which she recommended so highly but which have long since gone out of fashion. — Memphis (Tenn.) Commercial Appeal

Very Wrong For A Politician

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Herbert Stein is absolutely correct. Herbert Stein is terribly wrong.

Stein the economist — he is chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers — is factually accurate in saying that the average worker's ability to buy food has increased in the past year.

But as a politician — he doesn't claim to be one, but in an election year the public gratuitously applies the label — he wins no votes by, in effect, telling food buyers they are better off than they realize.

This may be so, but the timing of his reminder is terrible, coming as it did on the very same day that government figures showed meat prices to be 11.6 per cent higher than a year ago.

Nothing is more sensitive in households than the handling of money, especially food money. Although the tradition is changing, it is still the man who earns it and the woman who spends it, and neither understands the other.

And so, the President's chief economic aide is now an intruder in millions of households, the catalyst that explodes the smoldering suspicions that wage earner and food buyer hold against each other.

The facts are these: —American families spend a lower percentage of their disposable income on food than they did a year ago. This has been the case year after year since the end of World War II.

Twenty years ago in 1952 the American family spent 23 per cent of take-home pay on food. The percentage fell to 20.7 in 1957, to 19.3 in 1962, to 17.4 in 1967, to 15.8 last year. It continues to fall.

As Stein noted in his address last Friday to the American Political Science Foundation, the ability to buy food — or, to state it another way, the rise in incomes — is greater than the increases in food prices.

—Americans spend more money each year on food. This, too, has been the case year after year since the end of World War II. The nation's food bill, at home and at restaurants, is now well over $100 billion a year.

Clearly, there is no discrepancy in these two statements. Americans simply earn more money than before. It is the American economy, rather than the food industry specifically, which deserves the credit.

But the story is not that simple. Food buying is a complex activity in which the motivations lie deep in the psyche of the buyer. It is the struggle for existence, nothing less.

Moreover, contact with food prices is an every day or every week matter. Price changes of $1 or even $100 might go unnoticed elsewhere, but a difference of a few cents at the grocery store can precipitate a crisis.

Aware that a one-cent rise on scores of items that any family buys in a week can mount into the hundreds of dollars in a year's time, wise shoppers expend great effort in keeping down their bills.

Ohio A Crucial State

By LEE LEONARD
COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Sen. George S. McGovern faces a monumental game of "catchup" in competing with President Nixon for Ohio's rich harvest of 25 electoral votes.

Early newspaper polls show Nixon with up to 60 per cent of the vote and gaining. McGovern forces profess to be far from faint-hearted about the situation, but even the senator's most ardent supporters concede he can't carry Ohio without "a lot of sweat and strain."

"If the election were held today, we'd lose," says Richard Sklar, McGovern's Ohio campaign director. "But we think we're in reasonably good shape, and we expect a dramatic increase in the polls after the first of October."

"Richard Nixon will help us," Sklar continues. "He always does, every time he is smoked out of his little castle."

Ohio Republican leaders refuse to rise to such bait. "We're going to take nothing for granted, campaign like hell and ignore the opposition," says Republican State Chairman John S. Andrews.

"If the election were held today," Andrews says, "Nixon would carry Ohio. But McGovern is at a low point and there are a lot of people who feel there's only one way he can go, and that's up."

The Ohio Committee to Re-Elect the President intends to see that McGovern doesn't climb too high.

Republicans outnumbered McGovern expects to make Ohio practically a second home. "He and Sargent Shriver will be in here at least once a week through Oct. 6," reports Sklar. "Ohio is pivotal to us, and Sen. McGovern will be here more times than in any other state with the possible exception of New York."

Democrats outnumber Republicans in Ohio, but an estimated 30 per cent of the voters are independents.

The GOP is aiming at the estimated 80 per cent of the young voters who are not college students. "And we are aiming at an even split on the college vote," says Andrews, the Republican chairman for Ohio. Andrews describes himself as "cautiously optimistic" about the election. Nixon's showing may have a bearing on whether Republicans maintain their narrow control of the Ohio legislature.

Strength For Today

AMAZING CIRCUMSTANCES

One of the most astounding circumstances in the career of Jesus of Nazareth was that, surrounded by groups of very learned men, Jesus selected not a single educated man as follower and helper. Instead he chose fishermen and others who toiled with their hands.

He undoubtedly knew that it was his destiny to change the course of history, yet he did not ask a single college-trained man (or such equivalent of college-trained men as they had in those days) to assist him. Christianity is the greatest movement that has arisen in human history. The Church has had a greater influence on human life than any other single factor. Yet the man who made all this difference in world affairs was himself only modestly educated. Jesus had what would correspond today to a grammar or perhaps high school education. The scribes and Pharisees had received as much education as our Ph.D's today. The great Greek thinkers had lived several centuries before Christ appeared. Jesus never refers to any of them in his teachings. Philo, a famous philosopher, was a contemporary of Jesus, yet Jesus never mentions him nor does he appear in the least to have been influenced by Philo.

The whole revelation God made through Jesus was so simple that anyone could understand it and so significant that it could change the world.

Bay Area Rapid Transit System Is Opening Today

By JEANNINE YEOMANS
Associated Press Writer
OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — The first regional rapid-transit system built in America in 50 years opens today as transportation experts around the world watch to see if the sleek, high-speed trains can lure an automobile-oriented society to rails.

Bay Area Rapid Transit District (BART) took 15 years to plan, eight years to build and $1.4 billion of tax funds.

It will attempt to do what no other major urban transportation system in the world has done: operate without a deficit through labor-saving automation.

The opening is five years later than originally promised due to BART's history of time-consuming, costly delays.

The 75-mile electrified rail system, which includes a 3.6-mile tubular tunnel under San Francisco Bay, will connect San Francisco, Oakland, Berkeley and Richmond with six outlying suburban cities.

Ceremonies today mark the opening of a 28-mile link from Oakland to Fremont, with eight aerodynamic cars speeding between 12 stations.

The rest of the plush, computer-operated system is scheduled to open in stages through next summer.

Centered in Oakland, BART radiates in four directions with elevated, surface and underground tracks. Passengers entering one of 34 lavish stations will be greeted by murals and will buy magnetically coded tickets from electronic turnstiles.

They will ride in air-conditioned trains designed to reach a top speed of 80 miles per hour and to average 45 m.p.h. A computer at headquarters here can adjust speeds automatically if the trains get off schedule. Attendants riding up front will be needed only in an emergency.

The system is designed to carry as many as 28,800 persons an hour — equivalent to the volume of rush-hour traffic on 10 lanes of freeway. Planners hope it will provide an alternative to city traffic tie-ups and automobile commuting.

BART has been plagued with a history of delays, strikes and rising costs. Originally, BART was budgeted at $1 billion, but mishaps and inflation have pushed the price up 40 per cent to $1.4 billion.

Associated Press Writer
DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — Three Americans have been seen serving with the Viet Cong for at least two years, military sources report. U.S. military intelligence knows them as Pork Chop, Salt and Pepper.

The men are believed to be deserters but could be prisoners of war who defected, the sources say.

Although seen from a distance by Americans and several times close at hand by Vietnamese villagers, they have eluded capture and have not been identified.

Salt and Pepper work together in Quang Ngai Province 70 to 90 miles south of Da Nang. Salt is white, Pepper black.

Pork Chop, a blond 6-footer, works a little farther south in Binh Dinh Province. He is said to have had burn scars on his face and wears bushy sideburns to obscure them.

"They are members of small Viet Cong units, and as far as we can tell they enjoy no special privileges," one intelligence source said. "We are certain they do not command their units."

Investigators say Pork Chop appears the most active and daring of the three. Several times he has flagged down South Vietnamese military vehicles and hijacked them at gunpoint.

He also is credited with having made off with two American armored personnel carriers from a vehicle park, hitching one to the other.

All three of the men are reported to have spent "leaves" in Da Nang, hitching rides into the city virtually under the noses of U.S. and South Vietnamese military police. Two of them were said to have been spotted riding a motorbike in the city last Christmas.

Villagers say the Viet Cong display the Americans in remote villages and tell the people:

"Look at these American comrades. We offer them only a life of hardship and struggle and yet they choose to fight at our side. They are living proof that our cause is just and soon will triumph."

A small U.S. military intelligence team at Da Nang is trying to track down the three men.

A reward for information about them has been suggested, but one source said officials were reluctant to do this for fear of endangering other Americans.

Reports of Westerners serving or traveling with Communist field units have cropped up frequently during the Vietnam War. The closest the Americans ever came to pinning down such a report was in 1969 when a U.S. Marine patrol shot at and apparently wounded a young armed American with a Viet Cong squad near Da Nang.

Firebombings Hit Ga. City

Mayor Joe Stargel and city commissioners met at midnight with Cloyd Hall, special assistant to Gov. Jimmy Carter; assistant Civil Defense chief Bill Clack; and two representatives of the Justice Department.

Hubby-Hunt Seen Over

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — A young British woman who sought a husband "in name only" to avoid being returned by immigration authorities to Great Britain apparently is back in Britain.

U.S. immigration authorities in Norfolk, Va., said over the weekend they believed Linda Jones, 25, has returned to Europe.

Authorities said it usually takes about 30 days to verify such action but that Miss Jones had called authorities to say she was returning.

A spokesman said Miss Jones said she hoped to re-enter the U.S. under the quota system.

Miss Jones, of Wales, sought help in July from The Fayetteville Observer in finding a husband. She said getting married was the only way she could stay in the United States.

At Least Five Die In Weekend Traffic

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
There were at least five traffic deaths in North Carolina from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday, one of the lowest totals for a weekend this year.

The deaths brought the toll for the year to 1,294, 82 more than at the same time last year.

A speeding car overturned several times after shooting off a rural road 10 miles west of Jacksonville, the Highway Patrol said. The driver, Richard M. Zurauski, 21, of the New River Marine base, was killed.

A two-car collision in Catawba County killed a passenger in one of the cars and injured six persons. The victim was Terry Neal Leatherman, 9, of Rt. 2, Catawba.

A Highway Patrolman said one of the cars went out of control on N.C. 16 about a mile south of Newton, crossed the center line and hit an oncoming car head-on.

A man laying in a rural road near Cornelius in Mckelennburg County was killed when hit by a car. The victim was Miles Ragle Gibson, of Rt. 2 Mooresville.

A car struck a utility pole beside U.S. 74 three miles west of Rutherfordton. Edith Crisp Greene, 40, of Rt. 5, Rutherfordton, who was in the car, was killed.

Robert G. Easton, 75, of Winston-Salem was killed when a car in which he was riding hit another car in the side, the Highway Patrol said. The wreck occurred on U.S. 70 a half mile west of Havelock.

Ex-Premier Lets His Hair Grow

TOKYO (AP) — Like former U.S. President Lyndon B. Johnson, retired Japanese Prime Minister Eisaku Sato has let his hair grow.

Sato, 64, who retired in July, became prime minister in November 1964 and built a reputation of personal and administrative conservatism.

Officials say he had his hair clipped once a week while in office. Now, officials say, his hair is beginning to creep over his ears.

Visitors last month to Johnson's Texas ranch were surprised to find the former President's hair fell well below his collar.

(Would you believe he hasn't seen them since the Fourth of July?)

"Do you find the children understand why both of you have to be away from home so much?"

"Oh, yes, They're wonderful about it, and they're as interested in the race as we are."

(They've only run away from home twice — the second time they asked to be placed in an orphanage.)

"Do you get upset at the terrible things that are said about your husband during the campaign?"

"Oh, no. One must understand that politics is a rough business, and I'm used to it."

(But if I ever see the wife of Charlton's opponent, I'll scratch her eyes out.)

"Mrs. Goodfellow, do you find it tiring to be constantly in the limelight and always on your best behavior?"

"I love it. When we first got married, Charlton indicated he wanted to go into politics, and I knew that although it would place me in the spotlight, our lives would be exciting, thrilling and rewarding. I wouldn't change my life for anything."

(—except to be married to a plumber or somebody else with a respectable job.)

"How do you manage to keep so beautifully dressed all the time?"

"I make do on Charlton's salary. You just have to know where the bargains are."

(If it weren't for the trust fund Daddy left me, I'd be in rags right now.)

"Mrs. Goodfellow, do you ever get any time alone with your husband?"

"Oh, yes. We steal many hours together and talk about the children and the funny things that have happened during the campaign and the intimate day-to-day happenings of our lives."

(The only other people present are his political campaign manager, his pressman, his finance chairman and 43 other volunteer workers.)

"Mrs. Goodfellow, if your husband wins his race for office, will you change your living habits in any way?"

"Oh, no. I'm going to be the same person I was before."

(I'll just take more tranquilizers.)

Poultry
RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—North Carolina hens: Prices steady on heavy type today. Supplies ample, demand good, with most hens moving out of state for processing. Prices paid per pound for hens over seven pounds, at farm, 12 cents; f.o.b. plants too few. Light type too few.
 North Carolina f.o.b. dock broilers: Market steady today. Supplies adequate for a good demand. Weights tending to be heavy. Slaughtered today 1,208,000 head. Average live weight for Sept. 7, 4.11 pounds.

NEW YORK (AP)—Prices were narrowly lower on the stock market today after four straight losing sessions last week.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 2.86 to 958.38, and declining issues had an edge of better than 3 to 2 over advancing stocks on the New York Stock Exchange.

Among the Big Board's most active issues, Donnelly was up 1/4 to 22. RCA dropped 1/2 to 35 1/4, and Winnebago dropped 2 to 29 1/2.

On the American Stock Exchange, Champion Home Builders was off 1/2 to 15 1/2. Mammoth Mart dipped 1/2 to 8 1/2, and DHJ Industries was down 1 1/4 to 13 1/4.

On a percentage basis, the Big Board's best advancing issue was Handelman, up 1/4 to 12 1/4 for a rise of 11.4 per cent. The biggest lower was Outboard Marine, off 4 1/4 to 41 1/2, a drop of 9 per cent. A financial article said investors had backed off this issue.

Chrysler Price Boost Deferred

WASHINGTON (AP)— The Price Commission, which opens hearings Tuesday on the auto industry, including its pricing practices, has rejected an attempt by Chrysler Corp. to raise its prices now.
 Chrysler proposed to boost prices on its 1973 model cars and then refund the increase should the government reject it. It is seeking an increase of $91.32 to cover the cost of safety and pollution control improvements.

The Price Commission earlier had rejected applications by Ford and General Motors for price hikes, but has not made a final decision on Chrysler. Both Ford and General Motors have said they will make new proposals after Oct. 1.

Education Gets GOP Priority

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C. (AP)— The state Republican Executive Committee has pledged to make "quality education" its top priority in North Carolina.
 The committee, at a weekend meeting in Winston-Salem, also overwhelmingly rejected an effort to add a platform plank calling for abolition of the National Teachers Examination in the state.

Israeli Shot In Brussels

BRUSSELS (AP)— A gunman believed to be an Arab wounded an Israeli diplomat Sunday night in a Brussels cafe, the Israeli Embassy reported today.

The embassy said Zakok Ophir, 42, was hit by five bullets in the liver, ear and shoulder. It said he was operated on but was not out of danger.

He was shot by a man who gave his name as Mohammad Rabah, the embassy said. The Israeli State Radio said he might be a Moroccan.
 The gunman escaped, and Belgian police were looking for him.

The embassy gave this account:

A man identifying himself as Mohammad Rabah phoned Ophir Sunday and told him he had information on an attack planned against the embassy.

Ophir asked him to come to the embassy, but the caller said he preferred to meet at a cafe downtown. When Ophir identified himself at the cafe, the man pulled a gun and shot five times.

Other reports said the gunman was accompanied by another man, also believed to be Arab.

The gunman was reported to be short, with a dark mustache and short hair, wearing a brown jacket, green trousers and basketball shoes.

Keep KP And Butt-Policing

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)— Plans to eliminate KP and cigarette-buttpolicing details as an incentive to attract more young men into the new Army were rejected today by the House Appropriations Committee.

Calling the duties "wholesome and character-building," for GIs, the committee cut $125 million earmarked for hiring civilians to do the jobs. The cut was made from a $74.6-billion defense appropriation bill scheduled for a House vote Thursday.

The committee recommended that the civilian kitchen-policing and cleaning-detail programs already under way be terminated by next April 30 in all services, and that the potato-peeling, trash-collecting and latrine duty be turned back to soldiers, sailors and airmen.

The Marine Corps had held off hiring civilians for the jobs

Begin Massive Reclamation

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)— The West Virginia Surface Mining and Reclamation Association has begun what its president, Jim Wilkinson, describes as a "massive land reclamation program."

The surface mine industry in the state has led all other states in the amount of land reclaimed over the past four years, Wilkinson noted.

pending the committee's decision, and the committee said it appreciated that.

The other services, particularly the Army, already have begun to eliminate the onerous tasks as part of the effort to change the military image and attract enough young men for an all-volunteer service by next June 30.

The committee was especially critical of the Army, which it said got $34 million from Congress for hiring civilian kitchen help as a pilot project and so far has committed $73.7 million to it.

The committee rejected the program for all services as too costly, undertaken with no studies of the effect of the duties on military discipline or on how enlisted men really feel about doing them.

They Finally Rooked Americans, Fumes Cage Star

MUNICH (AP) — "They've been trying to rook the Americans in the Olympics and they've finally done it!" United States basketball star Kevin Joyce fumed.

Whether the word "rooked" is exactly proper is up for grabs—about as much, it seems as the we-won, they-won basketball game against the Soviet Union which, as far as the United States is concerned, will somehow symbolize these 20th Summer Games.

The U.S. loss of the basketball game—the first in 64 contests since the American-born sport was introduced to the Olympics in the 1936 Berlin Games—was the ultimate blow to the U.S. spirit which had taken a roller coaster ride since these Games began here Aug. 26.

There were, of course, moments of incredible elation. The magnificent Mark Spitz with his seven gold medals led the way as America's aquakids dominated the swimming.

And there was Sunday's final track-and-field competition, when Larry Black, Robert Taylor, Gerald Tinker and Eddie Hart blazed America to victory in the 400-meter relays and when Frank Shorter, a Munich-born Yale graduate, became the first U.S. winner of the marathon in 64 years.

But as the thoughts of glory fade away, names like Rick DeMont, Vince Matthews and Wayne Collett will linger, along with other distasteful memories.

It was Demont, a 16-year-old swimmer from San Rafael, Calif., who took a medication containing Ephedrine to combat his asthma—and was deprived of the gold medal he'd won in the 400-meter freestyle because U.S. team officials neglected to tell him to change medications since Ephedrine was banned by the IOC.

It was Matthews and Collett, gold and silver medalists in the 400-meter dash, who breached Olympic decorum on the victory stand, chatting and relaxing during the playing of the national anthem, an action which brought out the wrath of the IOC, which barred them from the rest of the Games—and thus kayoed America's entry in the 1,600-meter relays.

There were lesser controversies, too. Some, particularly U.S. boxing Coach Bobby Lewis, felt America's poor showing in the ring—just one gold and three bronzes—was the result of judges who voted not on what they saw but on how their politics ran.

And when Hart and Rey Robinson showed up too late for their qualifying heats in the 100-meter dash, some felt it was the result not of incompetence on the part of U.S.

track officials but of noncooperation and schedule mishandling by Olympic organizers.

But it all ends up as one rather large moot point. What stands out, among other things, is that, after Sunday's competition, the medals race went to the Soviet Union, with a total of 99, including 50 golds. The United States came in second with 33 golds, 30 silvers and 30 bronzes for 93 medals. East Germany was next with 66 medals, 20 of them gold.

The basketball game had all the intrigue and confusion of a Russian-American spy encounter. The United States, trailing the entire game, seemed to have it won when Illinois State's Doug Collins sank two free throws with three seconds remaining. Russia tossed the ball in, called time out with one second left, then tried a desperation shot that never came close. It was jubilation time for Coach Hank Iba and his kids.

Or was it? Some official—some say it was a referee, others claim it was Dr. R. William Jones, the British secretary-general of the International Amateur Basketball Federation—ruled that, because of the confusion, Russia still had three seconds left.

So the Russians tossed the ball in again, this time a length-of-the-floor pass to Aleksander Belov, who outmuscled two Yanks under the Soviet basket and flipped the ball in at the horn for the deciding points.

"We of the United States," said team manager Herb Mols as the protest was filed, "would like to commend the Russians for their play for 39 minutes and 57 seconds. We have never heard, however, of a game being played for 40 minutes and three seconds."

Joyce, a University of South Carolina senior, provided a glimpse of what was to come.

"We voted quickly and unanimously," he said right after the game, "not to take the silver medal since we legally and morally won the gold."

The Yanks stood by their own vote. They boycotted the medal ceremonies. And although the Russians got a few boos and derisive whistles along with their cheers, America was booed loud and long by the spectators when the silvers were "presented" to the vacant U.S. victory stand.

The American relay aces and Shorter took their medals gleefully.

"We are the four fastest humans in the world!" exulted Taylor after he and his teammates had equalled the world and Olympic 400-meter relay record of 38.19 seconds.

Randall Curbs Optimism Over Opening Win

By MARSHALL JOHNSON

Associated Press Writer
Former National Football League star Sonny Randle made his head coaching debut last season at East Carolina and immediately got into hot water when he waxed overly enthusiastic about the Pirates' chances in the Southern Conference race.

Randle learned quickly, and he was overly—well, maybe—pessimistic about the East Carolina outlook this year.

The Pirates began the new campaign Saturday with a 30-3 rout of Virginia Military, dealing the Keydets their 11th straight defeat, and Randle says "I look at our opener with mixed emotions. I still don't know if we're that good or not."

William and Mary's Indians shellacked Furman's Paladins 31-7 in Saturday's other opener matching two league teams, and new W&M coach Jim Root called it "a pivotal game because we didn't know what we had, and we weren't sure what Furman could do."

Bob King, starting his 15th season at Furman, called the Indians "a good football team, big and strong. They didn't show us anything we did not anticipate, but they out-executed us."

Three Southern Conference teams met defeat at the hands of Atlantic Coast Conference opponents. Appalachian State's new league members provided the only outside victory, the Mountaineers edging Western Kentucky 7-6 on Greg Clark's successful conversion.

Defending champion Richmond, down 21-0 at halftime, lost to ACC champion North Carolina 28-18; The Citadel, last year's total offense leader, was limited to 201 yards in bowing to Clemson 13-0; and Davidson made a battle of it but fell before Wake Forest 26-20.

Junior quarterback Carl Summerell hit on seven of 17 passes for 162 yards and three touchdowns and junior running back Carlester Crumpler scored once while gaining 108 yards on 29 carries for East Carolina.

Two of Summerell's scoring airmails went to flanker Tim Dameron, who caught four for 129 yards. One was a school-record 83-yard bomb that rallied the Pirates from a 3-0 deficit. Randle especially praised Dameron, who he said "provides a lot of leadership."

"We made a lot of costly mistakes on the field and we can't beat ourselves like that," said VMI coach Bob Thalman, whose squad has a majority of freshmen and sophomores. Senior running back Mac Bowman, who has an injured ankle, carried the ball just three times.

Junior quarterback Rip Scherer hit 10 of 15 passes for 145 yards and All-Southern flanker David Knight caught six for 111 yards, but it was a bevy of sophomores who perked up William and Mary, which won for the 300th time in the school's football history.

Doug Gerhart ran for 119 yards on 14 carries and scored twice, once on a 47-yard run that ended an 80-yard march following the opening kickoff to which Gerhart contributed the last 67 yards.

Quarterback Bill Deery scored twice in the final period, the first time after directing a 76-yard advance that followed Furman's only score, a 27-yard pass from Mike Shelton to Donny Griffin. Terry Regan gained 71 yards, kicked a 19-yard field goal and four extra points.

"The first score was great,"

Davidson never quite caught up after falling behind 13-0, although quarterback Scotty Shipp completed 14 of 22 passes for 222 yards and touchdown strikes of 50 yards to Walt Walker and five to Andy Davis. Dave Ingold ran 55 yards for a score, and John Weibel picked up 98 yards on 23 carries for the Wildcats.

A number of dropped passes hurt All-Southern quarterback Harry Lynch of The Citadel, who finished by completing just eight of 21 for 110 yards. He was thrown for losses totaling 42 yards, and the Bulldogs' net on the ground was only 91 yards.

Pacers Acquire

All-American

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The Indiana Pacers of the American Basketball Association announced Sunday night they had signed Bob Arzen, a former All-American at Notre Dame.

Arzen has played one season each with the Cincinnati Royals of the NBA and the New York Nets of the ABA since he graduated in 1969.

DEAD TURKEYS TELL TALES

If the results of the recent "Dial-A-Turkey" program are any indication, the Piedmont mid-section of the state is the most popular place for hunters to bag a turkey.

This past spring, the North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission asked hunters to use a toll-free telephone number to report turkey kills. The Commission wanted to know when and where the hunters had bagged their gobblers, and also how big he was.

From a total of 133 kills reported, 98 came from the Piedmont, while 24 were from the Coastal Plains and 11 were mountain birds. Caswell County led the state's counties with 21 turkeys. Commission biologists believe the survey accurately reflects the heavier hunting pressure in the Piedmont.

During 1971 an estimated 44.9 million Americans used the waterways more than once for fishing or pleasure boating.

DUCK OUTLOOK IMPROVED

It may not be duck soup this year for "quackers," but Ducks Unlimited is cautiously optimistic that the North American duck population may be a little larger this year.

Somewhat wetter weather up north has provided better nesting conditions, but more rain is needed in some areas. Loss of some prime breeding areas, with more being threatened all the time, is the major factor in the decline of duck populations. However, money provided by hunters through state agencies and such organizations as Duck Unlimited has helped slow the decline, and have even led to increases in some species — particularly wood ducks.

USING THE RIGHT "BAIT"

A charter fishing boat out of Yaquina Bay, Oreon is apparently abreast of the times, and result is that fishermen are clamoring to get on board.

It seems the captain has hired a to-less bait girl. So far, there's no word whether the fishing has improved.

Gamecock Grid Fans Stunned By Loss To Virginia

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Confident South Carolina University football fans who figured their chances against Virginia were better than the lions had against the Christians in the Coliseum, were just as shocked Saturday night as the Romans would have been to see the Christians barbecue the beasts.

The 24-17 drubbing administered to the Gamecocks by Virginia's Cavaliers in Columbia, S.C., reminded Atlantic Coast Conference fans the only predictable thing about ACC football is its unpredictability.

Only the scores were surprising in some of the other games involving ACC teams as the favorites were victorious, with the exception of the 24-24 contest between North Carolina State and Maryland.

Wake Forest, a heavy favorite over Southern Conference opponent Davidson, had to scramble for a 26-20 victory over a Wildcat team that gained 419 yards total offense.

Clemson, which was supposed to tear apart everything not wearing Tiger orange against The Citadel Saturday afternoon, beat the Cadets, 13-0, but were far from overpowering.

Alabama, which is more predictable than ACC teams, beat Duke, 35-12, Saturday night at Birmingham. Alabama Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant said after the game, however, that he thought Duke had "outmeant" his team.

They weren't.

"That embarrasses me," Bryant said. "I hate to think of any team out-meant us." Alabama lost three of four fumbles.

North Carolina, picked by many to be the ACC champion this year, was disappointing in its pass defense as it defeated Richmond's Spiders, 28-18.

The Tar Heels' inside linebackers stopped Richmond's running attack, but the ones on the outside gave up three touchdown passes.

North Carolina's offensive looked a little more solid as it got two quick touchdowns in the first period, the first on a two-yard run by tailback Tommy Bradley following Greg Wards' interception, and on quarterback Nick Vindnovic's 32-yard run.

The Tar Heels led 21-0 on a four-yard run by Johnny Klise that followed a Joe Sgori fumble recovery just before the half.

North Carolina got its final touchdown in the third quarter on a two-yard run by Billy Hite. It was that third quarter in which the North Carolina outside linebackers began to falter.

Richmond's Dave Young hit Weldon Edwards with a 25-yard touchdown pass. Then in the fourth quarter Young passed to Billy Harris for another score and Harry Knight connected with Edwards on a 69-yard pass play.

Virginia was more authoritative in its treatment of South Carolina.

The Cavaliers, passed for two touchdowns, kicked a field goal, recovered a fumble and snatched a blocked punt for scores.

The Virginia defense, headed by Billy Williams, deserved much of the credit. The Cavalier defenders also spilled former Virginia quarterback Bill Troup in the backfield 11 times. The Virginia offensive line gave brick wall protection to quarterback Harrison Davis.

Davis' passing was erratic, as he hit on only 12 of 42, but two of the aeriels went for touchdowns.

Robinson Eyes No. 2 Slot For Dodgers

By TOM EMORY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The top spot in the National League West is pretty far out of sight for the Los Angeles Dodgers, but No. 2 isn't that far away and Frank Robinson thinks it's where the team soon will be.

"We have plenty of time to catch up with Houston," Robinson said Sunday, after the Dodgers beat the Astros 3-2. "It's great any time you can come from behind like that."

The Dodgers are 9½ games behind division-leading Cincinnati but Houston is just two games up on them. Los Angeles came from behind with three runs in the eighth inning to beat the Astros.

Manny Mota led off with a single and Willie Davis followed with a double that chased Astro starter Dave Roberts, who had pitched four-hit ball for seven innings. When Fred Gladding came in, he was greeted by Wes Parker's single to score a run before Robinson singled to tie the game 2-2. Steve Garvey then laid down a bunt which he beat out for a single, but Gladding threw the ball wide to first and the winning run scored.

The Dodgers' winner was Ron Ferranoski, a veteran reliever released by Detroit in mid-season.

In other NL games, Chicago beat Philadelphia 5-3, Montreal topped Pittsburgh 8-2, New York edged St. Louis 3-2. Cincinnati beat San Francisco 8-7 in the first game of a doubleheader. The Giants won the second game 8-2. San Diego shut out Atlanta 1-0 in Game

No. 1 of their twinbill but the Braves came back for a 4-1 victory in the second.

In the American League, it was Baltimore 2, Milwaukee 0; New York 5, Detroit 0; California 5, Chicago 1; Oakland 7, Texas 2; Kansas City 3, Minnesota 1; and Boston beat Cleveland 5-1 in 12 innings and 2-0.

Johnny Bench hit a two-run homer and an RBI single as the Reds broke a three-game losing streak in their opener. Joe Morgan drove in the decisive run in a two-run eighth. Bobby Bonds' three-run homer provided power for the Giants in the second game.

Tom Seaver won his 17th game and John Milner hit his 16th homer for the New York Mets. Seaver had to leave the game after five innings with a pulled back muscle.

Ken Rudolph's homer and single drove in three runs for the Cubs as Milt Pappas pitched his first game since his no-hit performance eight days ago.

Mike Torrez picked up his 16th victory and Mike Jorgensen hit his 11th homer for Montreal. Jorgensen's three-run shot highlighted a six-run rally in the third inning. Bob Robertson hit his 11th homer for Pittsburgh.

Leron Lee hit a home run in the seventh inning of the first Padre game for the only run against Atlanta. The Braves' Ron Reed allowed just four hits. In the second game, Bob Didier tripled in one run and scored another for the Braves. San Diego's Steve Arlin lost his ninth straight.

Mike Jorgensen hit his 11th homer for Montreal. Jorgensen's three-run shot highlighted a six-run rally in the third inning. Bob Robertson hit his 11th homer for Pittsburgh.

'Combination' Boosting Bosox

By BERT ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Sports Writer

Eddie Kasko always has been known for his diplomacy, and he certainly won't change now that his Boston Red Sox have their biggest lead of the season in the tight four-team American League East pennant race.

"I couldn't pick out a single aspect as to why we're in front," the tactful Kasko said Sunday after the Red Sox had swept a doubleheader from Cleveland 5-1 in 12 innings and 2-0, increasing their lead to 1½ games over runnerup Baltimore.

"We've been getting good pitching for quite a while," added the Boston manager. "But if I said the pitchers were doing it, the hitters would get mad. It's been a combination of everything."

Baltimore, winner of the East championship the past three years, blanked Milwaukee 2-0 as Jim Palmer scattered seven hits for his 19th victory.

The New York Yankees, in fourth place, 2½ games back, dropped Detroit from second to third, two games behind Boston, stopping the Tigers 5-0 on Mel Stottlemyre's three-hitter.

Oakland, seeking its second straight West Division title, increased its lead to 3½ games over Chicago, trouncing the Texas Rangers 7-2 while the White Sox were losing to California 5-1.

Kansas City downed Minnesota 3-1 in the other AL game.

In the National League, Cincinnati outslugged San Francisco 8-7 in the opener of a doubleheader, but the Giants took the nightcap 8-2; San Diego and Atlanta also split, the Padres winning the first game 1-0 and the Braves taking the second game 4-1; the New York Mets edged St. Louis 3-2; Montreal battered Pittsburgh 8-2; the Chicago Cubs topped Philadelphia 5-3, and Los Angeles shaded Houston 3-2.

Boston's two victories over Cleveland gave the Red-hot Red Sox 14 triumphs in their last 17 games and a 46-26 record since July 1, when they were 7½ games back.

Rookie Carlton Fisk's 20th homer of the season enabled Boston to break a 1-1 tie against Cleveland in the 12th inning of their opener. A walk,

Gale Sayers Is Quitting Game

CHICAGO (AP) — Gale Sayers, the Kansas Comet who rewrote National Football League ball-carrying records in his early years with the Chicago Bears and before that those of the Big Eight Conference, retired Sunday.

He retired with the grace quite expected in a man who bore his success and acclaim with modesty, and the afflictions that robbed him of speed and skills with fortitude and futile determination to overcome them.

He said nothing of his achievements in the past: twice All-American at Kansas, Rookie of the Year with the Bears in 1965, five times All-NFL, three times NFL leading rusher, three times Pro Bowl most valuable player, eight NFL records, selection on the all-time all-pro team.

There was no allusion to the widely held belief that Sayers, 29, the 6-foot, 198-pounder who ran the 100 in 9.7 seconds in his heyday was the greatest ball-carrying halfback ever.

There was no mention of the grinding tackle by Kermit Alexander, San Francisco defensive back in 1968, that wrecked his right knee and began the erosion of the blinding speed, the change-of-pace, the stutter-step and the astonishing change of direction that terrorized NFL defenses for five years.

Sayers said simply: "It's with a great deal of reluctance I am announcing my retirement. From high school, through college at Kansas and on to the Bears, football has been my life. It has given me many opportunities that now assure my future."

"It brought me many new friends, and I want to thank them for staying by me and believing in me these past two years."

He spoke not of the heatbreak of mostly riding the bench since injury to his left knee in a pre-season game in 1970. He played in only two games in each of the 1970 and 1971 seasons and only briefly and ineffectively.

The Worry Clinic

Vital Rule To Gain Friends

Cathy had learned the primary secret for winning boy friends. Yet many of my brilliant, Phi Beta Kappa Northwestern University coed students still were ignorant of it. So I had to teach them to repartee strategy outlined below.

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.
Case U-585: Cathy H., aged 12, is a clever practical psychologist.

Her grandparents were recently visiting Cathy in Florida.

"Grandpa," she began, "I am the fastest runner in my room at school."

"For I can beat all the boys as well as the girls."

"But I found that the boys don't like me if I win."

"So now I stay ahead of them till we are halfway through the race."

"Then I slow down a little to let the boys pass me."

"And the boys now like me!"

Feminine Strategy
Alas, many of my brilliant coed students at Northwestern University still hadn't learned that important rule of psychology which Cathy discovered in the 7th grade.

It is based on the universal law that everybody bears this invisible tattoo across the chest: "I WANT TO FEEL IMPORTANT."

So it is very deflating to the male ego to be bested by any female, especially in athletics.

"But, Dr. Crane," many jilted coeds would tearfully protest in my faculty office, "don't we girls also want to feel important?"

Yes, indeed!
But the popular coeds have discovered the value of inflating the boy's ego at the very beginning!

If they first make the boy feel more important, then he will soon seek their company on future dates.

Thus, the girls will later get their own ego inflated and can then feel important.

Many of my brilliant coed students, beautiful and socially adept in other respects, would try to show off their own importance on the first date.

"For, Dr. Crane," they'd ask, "isn't it true that boys like to associate with social leaders and girls who are prominent?"

True enough.
But an even more vital law states that the boy must meanwhile be made to feel important, even if his girl friend is trying toot her own horn.

If she merely recites all the honors and social assets of herself and family but doesn't boost his ego, she may rebuff him and thus become a one-date coed!

Go to your public library and consult Chapter VI in my college textbook "Psychology Applied" if you wish to see how I taught college coeds the way to win quick popularity with boy friends.

Notice how the following coed focussed attention on the boy and made him feel more important:

She said: "This is a new dance step for me but I find it so easy to follow you, Jack. You must dance a lot! You say you don't?"

He felt thus: "I'm just a born dancer!"
She said: "Seventy miles, Jack, and I'm not a bit scared! But I'd never let my brother Ed risk my life like this."

He felt thus: "She trusts me for I'm an expert driver."

She said: "Oh, yes, I'd love to see you tonight for I need some advice and my family never takes me seriously."

He felt thus: "I'm so understanding; a man of the world."

Chavis And Followers To Go On Trial

BURGAM, N.C. (AP) — Black activist Ben Chavis and 10 of his young followers were scheduled to go on trial for a second time today on charges they conspired to commit arson and assault in connection with racial violence in Wilmington last year.

The prosecution was expected to base its case against the "Wilmington 11" chiefly on the testimony of two young blacks who already are serving prison sentences for other crimes.

The state Attorney General's office assigned a special prosecutor to help New Hanover County prosecutors with the case.

The first trial was declared a mistrial in June when prosecutor James T. Stroud pleaded illness as the selection of the jury was completed.

Chavis and his followers are accused of planning and igniting a fire in a white-owned grocery store in Wilmington and then shooting at police and firemen who came to the scene.

The incident was part of recurring racial violence in the port city last year. The site for the trial was changed to Burgaw, the Pender County seat, after the defense claimed racial tension was too high in New Hanover County for the 11 to get a fair trial.

Sympathizers of Chavis, citing a pattern of conspiracy trials against black militants based on the testimony of other blacks previously convicted of crimes, claim the government is persecuting him.

Chavis was acquitted of conspiracy charges in Raleigh in a different case last spring. He still faces trial on charges of being an accessory after the fact in the murder of a black Wilmington teen-ager last year and with conspiracy in the killing of a white man a few days later.

The state's two main witnesses were expected to be Allen Hall, 18, serving 12 years for rioting, and 17-year-old Jerome Mitchell, serving a 40-year term for robbing and killing a white store owner, not the one whose store was involved in the case to be tried today.

First Tar Heel Woman On Ship

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Peggy Sue Griffith of Canton, N.C., is the first woman to serve on a ship in the U.S. Navy.

The 22-year-old Tar Heel won't be the only woman sailor aboard the ship, the USS Sanctuary. Sixty other women will be joining her while the hospital ship is being outfitted at Hunter's Point Naval Shipyard at San Francisco for duty as a dependent support vessel.

Tobacco Farmer Survey Slated

Flue-cured tobacco farmers in the 33 major producing counties in North Carolina will be asked to cooperate in a special survey conducted for the Economic Research Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The field work will be carried out by the North Carolina Crop Reporting Service, with the assistance of local enumerators.

Statisticians in Charge for North Carolina, Russell Handy, stated that a scientifically selected sample of producers in the 33 counties in the State's flue-cured tobacco belt would be conducted between mid-September and mid-October.

Mr. Handy noted that all information would be held confidential and only summaries used in reports.

Enumerators will visit North Carolina farmers and producers in Virginia, South Carolina and Georgia. These four States accounted for 98 percent of the 1971 flue-cured crop of over 1 billion pounds.

Prompting the survey is the shift taking place in harvesting practices of flue-cured tobacco. The trend to mechanization indicates an impending impact on local labor forces, the economy of a region, and even population movement. Information collected in the survey will afford a base for planning changes in farm and rural development programs that will

BRIDGE QUIZ ANSWERS

Q. 1—Neither vulnerable and as South, dealer, you hold:

♠ J 3 ♥ 10 ♦ A 4 ♣ K J 10 7 6 5 4 2

What is your opening bid?
A.—Best results are usually obtained on hands of this type by taking preemptive action. Our vote would be for a four-club opening. While this bypasses a possible three no trump contract, it is advisable to make it as difficult as possible for the opponents to enter the auction.

Q. 2—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠ A K Q J 3 ♥ A 10 ♦ A J 6 3 ♣ A 6

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East 2 ♣ Pass 2 NT Pass 3 ♦ Pass 3 NT Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Three no trump. This is preferable to bidding four spades since nine tricks may easily prove to be the limit of the hand. Besides, partner can still carry on to four spades if his hand is best suited for that contract.

Q. 3—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠ J 7 3 ♥ A K 10 2 ♦ K Q ♣ A Q 9 6

The bidding has proceeded: East South West North Pass 1 ♣ Pass 1 ♣ Pass 1 ♣ Pass 1 ♣

What do you bid now?
A.—We have a leaning toward two hearts, a reverse, showing 19 points. The more normal call of two no trump may not work out so well because of the doubleton king-queen of diamonds. Partner might raise to three no trump on some hand with three little diamonds and a five card spade suit that would produce a game only in the major. Over two hearts, partner's rebid may serve to clarify the situation.

Q. 4—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠ A K J 5 4 2 ♥ 5 4 2 ♦ K 3 ♣ 4 2

The bidding has proceeded: West North East South Pass 1 ♥ Pass 1 ♣ Pass 3 ♥ Pass 3 ♣ Pass 4 ♦ Pass 3 ♣

What do you bid now?
A.—Five hearts. You only concern is the club suit, and a leap over game in hearts will convey this message to partner. If he has

Farm Scene

By Steve C. Riddick

With new outbreaks of hog cholera appearing across North Carolina and the United States, Pitt County swine producers should be more concerned with taking that extra step on time to observe their hogs for signs of sickness. The hog producer should also increase his restrictions on visitation as well as his own cleanliness as he travels around the County during his day to day obligations.

It appears that a large number of the recent outbreaks have been centered around the feeding of uncooked garbage to hogs. In some cases neighbors have thrown scraps across the fences to hogs not knowing what danger was involved.

The feeding of garbage is illegal unless being fed under permit from the North Carolina State Department of Agriculture. This permit carries with it strict rules on proper cooking of the garbage, as well as sanitation requirements that must be met by the feeder.

Also, as an aid in the prevention of disease from entering North Carolina, a permit must be required from the State Veterinarian by anyone wishing to bring hogs onto their farm from out of state. The violations of this rule have been a major obstacle in preventing the eradication of hog cholera in North Carolina.

Zoo Director Believed Chosen

ASHEBORO, N.C. (AP) — The North Carolina Zoological Authority reportedly has selected a director for the new North Carolina Zoo in Ashboro, which is expected to open in 1974.

Authority members, however, would not disclose the identity of their selection following a meeting here Saturday.

Farm Tips

By Dr. J. W. Pou
Agricultural Specialist
Wachovia Bank & Trust Co., N.A.

The loss of young people by out-migration from rural farm areas has been one of the signs of the times. But it might not continue if there were more dairy farms.

Judging from an apparent trend in some areas of North Carolina, dairies seem to offer the maturing young people the opportunity to stay on the farm and earn what is commonly called a "decent living."

W. E. Mainous, Yadkin County agricultural extension agent, cited recent examples in his county of sons joining their fathers in the dairy business.

"We have had four young men to join their fathers as partners in the business," Mainous pointed out. "And we have had one young man to enter the dairy business as a new producer."

The partnerships and the new producer indicate that here are at least five young adults in one county who see a future for themselves on the farm. This is bucking a strong state and national trend of long duration.

One of the reasons dairy farming might seem to be attractive enough to keep young people on the farm is the economic outlook. Mainous explained that, "Increased income from dairying and increases in number of cows on Grade A farms are expected over the next five years."

Although the number of dairy farms has dropped over the past few years, this trend is slowing. At the same time, individual farm size is growing. In Mainous' words, "Expansion of existing facilities is taking place rapidly."

"One of the challenges individual farmers face during periods of expansion is that they must be better managers. Expansion means large expenditures and larger loan repayments," Mainous explained.

Dairy farmers in the 1970's can't afford to be just milk producers. They have to be businessmen first.

Despite all criticisms, tobacco production means much to the agricultural and industrial economies of North Carolina, and a small group of Martin County 4-H members has started an educational campaign to point out its importance. Using exhibits, posters, newspapers and radio stations, they are "spreading the word" about the role of tobacco.

Here are some things they are pointing out. Tobacco is the No. 1 crop in North Carolina with more than half of the farmers' cash crop income or about a third of the total farm income coming from tobacco.

North Carolina leads the nation in the number of pounds of tobacco produced. Tobacco is grown in 90 of the state's 100 counties.

The taxes at all levels — federal, state and local — amount to more than four times what the tobacco farmer receives for producing the tobacco crop.

Through the educational campaign, the 4-H members and local residents have learned that many North Carolinians are dependent on tobacco, such as fertilizer, seed, pesticide, herbicide and machinery dealers, bankers, warehousemen, farmers, cigarette plant employees, truckers, retailers and many more. Actually, every Tarheel citizen benefits from taxes generated by tobacco, if in no other way.

These are the facts that Martin County's 4-H'ers think every North Carolinian should know.

Gastonia Woman Drowns in River

BELMONT, N.C. (AP) — A 22-year-old Gastonia woman, Brenda Price, drowned Sunday while swimming in the South Fork River south of Belmont with three friends, police said.

Authorities said she was swimming in the area of the "hot hole" near Duke Power's Allen Plant discharge channel when she apparently stepped off a ledge. Her body was recovered.

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1972

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Although you are all stirred up to get much done and have the vitality and the help to do so, nevertheless do not be surprised or disappointed if many delays and restrictions take place. Actually they are giving you the chance to perfect your work so that you can be much more successful when conditions break.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Make sure you plan your activities well before you start out in the morning, or you waste energy haphazardly, get little accomplished. Please mate or fiancée in some new and interesting way. Make the evening a happy one.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Get your personal relationships improved but steer clear of the monetary matters that could make matters worse instead. Do not get involved in any public disagreements that could be dangerous. Take it easy tonight.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Make sure that you are not being conned into something without feeling it is what you want. Study all factors carefully. Listen to what co-workers have to say and go along with the good ideas you need.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Instead of feeling so sorry for yourself, get busy and do something constructive and all is fine for you. Take time to be with interesting personalities and have fun. Get rid of that habit of extravagance you have.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) If you get busy improving home conditions you will not feel so frustrated because you cannot go on a trip, or do outside duties you had planned. Don't bring up controversial subjects at home, though. Keep the peace, as it were.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Improving routines, making and keeping appointments can turn this into a full and constructive day. Don't try to top the boss, or you get in big trouble now. Use diplomacy for best results.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get busy straightening out monetary matters instead of going out to new appeals that are hardly worthwhile. A financial expert could be of great help if you contact this person very early.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Showing others that you are charming and meaningful in your actions is fine, though you may have to delay somewhat where necessary. Doing whatever is thoughtful for good friends is wise and right. Think kindly.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Getting the advice of fine experts is wise in a.m., but do not forget to show your gratitude. Close ties have worries that you can help alleviate. Teach to be more self-dependent.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Show others that you are a loyal friend and add to the goodwill you now enjoy. Some effort you expend on social functions can bring ideal results now. Impress others with your charm and magnetism.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Those amusement ideas you have now are not good, so forget them. Get busy with business and credit affairs and make big headway. Give full attention to what a bigwig has to suggest and you benefit a good deal.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Get on the good side of associates you have just made, but avoid that close tie who is in an angry mood. Anything of a basic nature can be set aside now until you get new information to add to future success. Think logically.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those delightful young people who is apt to be rather nervous and fast moving, so be sure to give the right diet and plenty of rest while young, plus some discipline so that tensions that may arise later in life can be met successfully. The field of investigation is excellent here, or whatever education you can, plus some artistic study for cultural purposes. Religion early.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Exotic Wildlife Pre-School Program Curbs Approved Is Being Expanded

In an effort to curb the growing number of "exotic" forms of wildlife being sold and purchased in Greenville, members of the Greenville City Council last Thursday night approved a motion to have the building inspector deny permission to use buildings for the storage of certain species of wildlife.

Mrs. Mildred McGrath, introducing the matter, explained that concern was not over the welfare of animals that are normally adaptable to domestication, but those that have little chance for survival under urban conditions.

She explained that the Humane Society was working nationally in efforts to curb the growing ownership of wildlife that has little chance to survive in a healthy condition within the confines of homes and pet shops. Police Chief Glenn Cannon cited a recent instance of what can happen in the absence of specific ordinances governing ownership of "exotic" wildlife. "A young man with a snake was recently denied entry to a store downtown," Cannon commented. "So the boy simply stood in front of the door, holding the snake. Nobody would enter the store. The merchant called me, but I had to tell him that we had no ordinance that would cover the situation."

Plans are now underfoot to adopt a city ordinance that will spell out in detail the type of wildlife that the city will permit to be sold in commercial outlets and to be owned by individuals.

Held Discussion In An Elevator

MUNICH (AP) — Henry Kissinger and Rainier Barzel, West German opposition leader, discussed the rise and fall of East-West relations for 10 minutes in a stalled elevator at a downtown hotel here.

Barzel, who received Kissinger in the lobby of his hotel Sunday, was taking President Nixon's advisor to his suite when the elevator stuck, allowing them to get to know each other better at close quarters.

The two continued their talks in Barzel's room after the elevator was freed. Barzel heads the Christian Democratic party.

The Rev. Christian White of Saint James United Methodist Church and the Rev. Gerald Peterson, associate minister, announce the expansion of the Pre-School Weekday Program.

In addition to the present kindergarten and nursery school classes for the four- and five-year-olds, a program for the three-year-old is now offered with fall registration underway. Two classes will be held for the three-year-old. A Monday, Wednesday, Friday group and a Tuesday, Thursday group will be taught by Mrs. Janie Clark. The three-year-old program will provide opportunities for the three-year-old to learn to share, take turns, and play with others.

Mrs. Clark graduated from East Carolina University with a Bachelor of Science degree in Primary Education. She has also taken graduate courses in Primary Education and has had previous experiences in teaching the pre-school child.

Mrs. Helen Kleinert teaches a four-year-old group three days a week and a four-year-old group two days a week. Mrs. Kleinert has a Bachelor's degree in Vocational Home Economics from E.C.U. and has attended two Nursery School Summer Workshops. She has seven years experience in teaching the four-year-old child. The program for the four-year-old is based on the child's having varied first hand experiences in many areas—socially, mentally, spiritually, and emotionally. Children usually progress from parallel play to cooperative play during the year.

Mrs. Martha Moye and Mrs. Margaret Cleetwood team teach in the Kindergarten with 30 pupils using open classroom system.

Mrs. moye has a Bachelor of Science degree in Secondary Education from East Carolina University and attended two summer Kindergarten Workshops and a graduate course in Kindergarten Education. Mrs. Cleetwood has a Bachelor of Science degree in Home Economics and has attended a summer Kindergarten Workshop and has done graduate work in her field.

The Kindergarten has a readiness program geared to the individual child's progressing at his rate through as many sensory experiences as possible. Structured and non-structured techniques are used.

All of the children in the three, four and five-year-old classes attend Chapel weekly with Rev.

White and Rev. Peterson alternating as the teacher. The Bible and related stories are taught on the pre-school child's level of understanding.

A maximum of 75 children will be enrolled for pre-school experiences at Saint James Weekday School

PTA Meeting Thursday Night

The first of the new school year's PTA meeting for Eastern Elementary School will be held Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the school.

A general business meeting will be held in the media center, and there will be an open house visitation of classrooms to meet and talk to teachers.

Students from each grade will be on hand as a reception committee to individual classrooms.

Light refreshments will be served. All parents are urged to attend this first PTA meeting at Eastern Elementary.

The first pulp mill in Canada was built in 1864 at Windsor Mills, Que.

Senior Citizens Met Thursday

The Elm Street Senior Citizens Club of Greenville met Thursday morning.

Mrs. Harriett Roseveare, president, conducted the business session and the Rev. Adrian Brown gave the devotional.

After the business session, a program of "bring and tell" was presented. Several members brought old and interesting articles and others told of interesting trips and places visited during the summer. Rev. Henry Lofquist is program chairman. Hostesses were Mrs. Ruby Parkerson, Mrs. Lillie Rose and Mrs. Rosa Whitehurst.

Friedrick Keller invented the process for manufacturing paper from ground wood pulp in 1843 in Germany.

Seeks New Queen Image

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Terry Anne Meeuwsen, Miss America 1973, has set out to give the nation's oldest beauty pageant a new image — one that places talent over beauty.

The 23-year-old DePere, Wis., beauty said Sunday this is one of the things she hopes to accomplish during her reign, which began Saturday night when she won the title.

Miss Meeuwsen, the only double winner during preliminary swimsuit and talent competition, was the first Miss Wisconsin to become Miss America.

A professional singer, she believed it was her singing talent, not her beauty or 36-25-36 figure or the $7,000 wardrobe with which she arrived here, that gave her the edge over her rivals.

Miss Meeuwsen said she interrupted her singing career to seek the title as a means of gaining scholarships to further herself in the entertainment field.

Her previous training had been "on the job" she said, explaining that she dropped out of college in 1967 to team up with a piano player.

"I worked the small night club circuits in the Midwest for a year and a half ... I feel I have paid my dues," she said.

Police Chief Urges Caution By Drivers

Police Chief Glenn Cannon today urged local motorists to use caution and obey traffic laws while driving on city streets.

The chief's words of warning were based on the fact that during the first seven days of the month, 46 traffic accidents were investigated by police. Included in the toll caused by the collisions were eight persons injured, 28 persons arrested, and property damage estimated at $20,834.

Cannon said 36 of the collisions occurred on public streets while 10 of the collisions were on private property.

The police official suggested that drivers be more courteous and thoughtful. He said persons operating vehicles should not force the right of way, even if by law they are entitled to it. Many times mishaps can be prevented by practicing courtesy...allowing the other driver to go first.

Traffic signals — such as stop signs and stop lights — should be obeyed. And persons, even after stopping for stop signs, should yield to oncoming traffic...not just stop and pull out into the intersection when other cars are approaching, the chief suggested.

Cannon noted too, that rear-end collisions could be prevented by allowing ample stopping distance between your car and the car ahead, and by observing traffic conditions ahead that might cause the driver in front to stop.
