City School Enrollment Slightly Off

In figures released by Glenn Cox, Associate Superintendant of the Greenville City Schools, enrollment for the 1972-73 school year was shown to have dropped very slightly from last year's figures.

Effective September 11, enrollment totals from kindergarten through senior high in Greenville showed a total of 5,792 pupils. This is only 27 less than last years 5,819 student enrollment.

Taking a look at the breakdown by grade levels, the biggest loss is in the number of first graders, 64 less this year than for 1971-72.

For the second grade there are only 31 less this year than last. Other grades in which losses in number of students this year were registered in comparison with last year's figures are: fourth grade, 30; sixth grade, 15; seventh grade, 10; eight grade, 8; and for the senior class, 3.

Five grades showed gains over last year's figures; all of them relatively substantial. For the kindergarten the increase amounts to 45 students. In the third grade the increase is 41; the fifth grade, 22; the ninth grade, 20; and the largest gain of all is registered for the 11th grade, an increase of 56.

In both the special education and trainable classes there are less this year than last, with 29 in special education as compared to 73 last year; and 30 in trainable classes versus 36 for the 1971-72 school year.

The tenth grade is the only grade to have the same number of students enrolled for each of the two school years, at 530 students.

Concur On Formula Of Revenue-Sharing

By EDMOND LeBRETON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional fashioners of a revenue-sharing program say they have resolved a big-state, little-state rivalry and cleared the way for $5.3 billion to start flowing in October to statehouses and city halls.

Senate and House conferees agreed Thursday night on a formula which, one aide said, means that everybody wins.

While that does not appear to be literally true, there seems little doubt that the two chambers will accept the compromise and send the bill to President Nixon—who asked for it—in time for October disbursements.

The conferees expected to dispose of other aspects of the $30-billion, five-year measure at a final session today, pointing to final passage next week.

Senate and House versions of the bill disagreed on the weight that should be given different factors in determining states' revenue shares.

The House version rewarded states relying on their own income tax. The Senate formula allocated more funds to 33 small states, less to 17 big, industrialized states.

This is how the conferees resolved the problem:

They left both formulas in the bill and provided that each state's share should be figured by the one more favorable to that state. But since this would have required more funds than the $5.3 billion budgeted for this year, the compromise provides that each share be scaled down by about 9.1 per cent.

After this year, the reduction will no longer apply.

Another difference had to be compromised. The Senate tacked onto the bill provisions designed to curb what has been criticized as a runaway program of federal three-to-one matching of state expenditures on social services, mainly to welfare recipients.

The Senate bill would have abolished the program, except in specified fields for which $600,000 a year would have been permitted. By way of compensation, it would have put another $1 billion a year into revenue sharing.

The conferees took another tack. They would let the matching program continue, but set a $2.5-billion-a-year limit on it and confine it first to programs of day care for children, help for the retarded and family planning, and after that to services specifically for welfare recipients.

The basic compromise formula for revenue sharing, according to preliminary figures, would mean lower allocations for a few states than they would have received under either Senate or House versions—but only for the first year.

The distribution of funds among local governments within states would follow the Senate guidelines.

South Viets Gain Quang Tri Control

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese forces today regained control of Quang Tri City, ending North Vietnam's 3½-month occupation of South Vietnam's northernmost provincial capital, U.S. officials in the field informed the American Embassy.

Lt. Col. Do Viet, a spokesman for the South Vietnamese Command, said that at 5 p.m. (5 a.m. EDT) South Vietnamese marines "completely controlled" the Citadel, the 19th century fortress in the heart of the city.

The North Vietnamese forces withdrew to the west outside the Citadel, and fighting is continuing near the province headquarters along the river that marks the western boundary of the city, Viet said.

"The fighting is still going on, but the main target is already taken," he reported.

Quang Tri fell to the North Vietnamese on May 1, the first provincial capital to be captured in South Vietnam. President Nguyen Van Thieu in a speech last June 19 gave his troops three months to recover all territory taken by the North Vietnamese in the first two and a half months of their offensive.

Saigon launched a 20,000-man offensive on June 28 to retake Quang Tri. But a month later South Vietnamese paratroopers were pulled out of the battle after heavy casualties in an unsuccessful attempt to storm the Citadel. The marines replaced them.

The marines, too, have suffered heavily in six weeks of slow clearing operations under savage, sustained artillery bombardment.

U.S. fighter-bomber support at Quang Tri was curtailed today by the approach of Typhoon Flossie, which produced rain, high winds and overcast skies. But U.S. B52 bombers made nearly 50 strikes on both sides of the demilitarized zone, including within a mile of Quang Tri.

In other developments:

Three South Vietnamese infantry battalions were reported overrun with heavy losses in fierce fighting earlier this week near the district town of Tien Phuoc, 40 miles south of Da Nang.

Tien Phuoc fell to the North Vietnamese earlier and government forces retreated to its outskirts.

In the air war against North Vietnam, the Navy reported that two Marine fliers from the carrier America who were shot down last Monday—Maj. Lee T. Lasseter, 38, of Lakes Wales, Fla., and Capt. John D. Cummings, 36, of Olathe, Kan.—destroyed one North Vietnamese MIG three miles north of Hanoi and damaged another one before a surface-to-air missile brought down their F4 Phantom. The two Americans were rescued.

Kissinger And Le Duc Tho In Secret Talks

PARIS (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger is meeting again today with Le Duc Tho of the North Vietnamese Politburo, the U.S. Embassy announced. But the Embassy refused to say where or when they would meet or even if Kissinger had arrived in Paris from London.

It did announce that the meeting was the 17th secret talk on the Vietnam war between President Nixon's national security adviser and the North Vietnamese leader. And it said Xuan Thuy, the head of the North Vietnamese delegation to the Paris peace talks, would also attend.

"In accordance with our agreement with the order side, we have no further information to provide you on this meeting," the embassy announcement said.

The language of the announcement mirrored that of an earlier statement issued by Presidential Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler in Washington.

The announcement added that Kissinger would meet with President Georges Pompidou late this afternoon to "report to him on the talks in Moscow and discuss other matters of mutual interest." Kissinger is on his way back from talks in Moscow on trade arrangements and other matters. He was in London Thursday and is due to fly back to Washington this evening.

The last non-public peace session was on Aug. 14.

Bigger Checks Ahead

RALEIGH (AP) — Checks totaling more than $27 million will be mailed out this month to 429 cities and towns in North Carolina for their share of the 1971-72 gasoline tax revenues.

The funds, allocated under the Powell Bill, are more than double the $12.5 million allocation made to local governments last fiscal year.

The big jump is due to legislation passed by the 1971 General Assembly at Gov. Bob Scott's request increasing the local government's share of gasoline tax collections from one-half cent to one cent per gallon.

The Highway Commission divides up the money by a formula in which population counts 75 per cent and street mileage not on the state-maintained system counts 25 per cent.

The biggest check, as usual, will go to the state's largest city, Charlotte — $2,730,241. Other big checks will go to Greensboro, $1,721,377; Winston-Salem, $1,552,911; and Raleigh, $1,424,149.

The smallest allocation — $1,-148 — will go to Love Valley in Iredell County. The town has a population of 40 and 1.2 miles of non-state roads.

Big Oil Slick Off N.C. Coast May Dissipate

BY DAVE RILEY
ASSOCIATED Press Writer

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP)— The Coast Guard said today a five-mile-long oil slick released in the collision of two freighters 10 miles off North Carolina coast may dissipate before reaching the pristine beaches of Cape Hatteras National Seashore.

A spokesman said the 150-foot-wide slick was drifting toward the beach "very, very slowly."

The oil began leaking into the Atlantic Thursday afternoon when the bulk carrier Republica de Colombia was rammed amidships in calm seas and clear weather by the American freighter TransHawaii.

One man was missing and believed dead in the demolished engine room of the Republica de Colombia. Four injured crewmen from the vessel were taken by Coast Guard helicopters to a hospital in Elizabeth City, N. C.

At midmorning today, 16 hours after the collision, the two ships still were locked together by a tangle of wreckage, and the Coast Guard said if they were separated the Republica de Colombia would be in danger of sinking.

The ships were drifting northeastward and at the last report from a helicopter at the scene were about 19 miles northeast of Cape Hatteras, a Coast Guard spokesman said.

Although the Coast Guard classified the oil spill as "major," it said the slow drift of the slick and the ocean currents off Hatteras made the chances it would reach the beaches of Cape Hatteras National Seashore "rather unlikely at this point."

"Those are very curious currents out there," the Coast Guard spokesman said, "and we have great hope the oil will dissipate."

A commercial tug from New York was en route to the scene to determine whether the two ships could safely be separated. But the Coast Guard indicated a decision might be made before the tug's scheduled arrival Saturday. Two Coast Guard cutters were standing by.

Mrs. Cox Will Head UF Group

A Greenville businesswoman has been selected by United Fund campaign chairman Karl Faser to head the 1973 UF Business I Division.

Faser announced that Mrs. Janice Cox will head one of the business divisions for this year's appeal. The chairman earlier named Lester Brown to chair the Business II Division.

Mrs. Cox, wife of Greenville Mayor Pro Tem and City Councilman Percy R. Cox, is vice president of Cox Armature Works here. Her husband serves as president of the firm.

A New York City native, Mrs. Cox attended schools in Washington, D. C. and New York City. Currently a member of the Greenville Service League, she attends First Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Cox is the mother of five children including 19-year-twin sons.

Commenting on the annual campaign, she reflected, "In some way or another the United Fund reaches and touches everyone."

House Approves Large Defense-Spending Bill

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has approved the biggest defense-spending bill since World War II and refused, after 10 minutes' debate, to cut off funds for the Vietnam war.

A two-hour squabble was climaxed by a vote to phase out KP duty from the military.

The $74.6-billion defense bill was passed 322 to 40 Thursday night and sent to the Senate.

The war-money cutoff, the same as one being pressed by Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., in the Senate, was rejected 208 to 160.

"We have stayed too long and paid too great a price," said Rep. Joseph P. Addabbo, D-N.Y., author of the House amendment. "It is time to come home and heal our own wounds."

But House Armed Services Committee Chairman F. Edward Hebert, D-La., noted the House repeatedly has refused to vote congressional restraints on the war and said there was little left to debate.

There were shouts of "Vote! Vote!" and the House rejected Addabbo's amendment after ten minutes of debate.

It would have cut off money for all U.S. operations in Indochina, except for withdrawal, in four months providing Hanoi had released American prisoners by then and given an accounting of missing GIs.

The major House debate was over military programs to phase out KP, derided as making life too soft for GIs and defended as a major incentive for attracting an all-volunteer military by next June 30.

Overriding an Appropriations Committee recommendation to terminate programs aimed at turning KP over to civilian workers, the House voted 265 to 117 to authorize continuation of the programs.

The amendment was offered by Rep. Robert L.F. Sikes, D-Fla. It would authorize the military to divert $92.5 million from other programs for the civilian KP workers.

Backers of his amendment contended the KP programs create jobs for 45,000 low-income civilians.

The House rejected with voice votes and little debate amendments by Rep. Sidney R. Yates, D-Ill., to cut from the spending bill all $445 million for the advanced B1 bomber and $10 million for more-sophisticated nuclear warheads.

The House also rejected amendments to cut the bill $4 billion across the board, require 35 per cent of Navy ship work to be done in private shipyards and limit chauffeured limousines for military officials.

10,250 Students

East Carolina University today reported the largest student enrollment in the school's history for the fall quarter.

Worth Baker, ECU Registrar, and Dr. C.Q. Brown, director of Institutional Development, reported a total of 10,100 on-campus registrants and 150 University Evening College students for a preliminary total of 10,250.

Registration for the Fall quarter ended on Wednesday.

Baker said a statistical breakdown on the registered students as to classes, sex, in-state and out-of-state and the like will be available as soon as the statistical data is processed.

Last year's Fall enrollment was 10,102.

Insurance Rules Jam Courts

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — What's more jammed than a San Francisco freeway at rush hour?

A San Francisco traffic court.

Presiding Municipal Court Judge Joseph Kennedy said Wednesday the backlog of contested traffic violations is so bad that a motorist who decides to contest his ticket now has to wait five months to get into court.

Kennedy blamed the new wave of fighting motorists partly on insurance regulations. "The insurance companies raise your rates if you're convicted of any moving violations," he said.

Drop Charge Of Nixon Threat

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The federal government has dropped charges that Black Panther chief of staff David Hilliard threatened President Nixon's life rather than disclose the wiretap information on which the charge was based.

Hilliard was accused of threatening Nixon's life during a speech in Golden Gate Park on Nov. 15, 1969.

Scott Avers 'No Apology' For Alamance Funds

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Bob Scott said today he has "no apology to make whatsoever" about the amount of money he has allocated for road improvements in his home county of Alamance.

"Most of these needs I am personally familiar with since I have traveled these roads myself," Scott added as he released an accounting of the $29.9 million in unappropriated highway funds he has allocated since July 1, 1969.

Scott's list of projects confirmed what had been published previously to the effect that Scott was very generous with his home county.

News articles last week said Scott has approved projects calling for paving more than 100 miles of secondary roads in Alamance and that the Alamance projects cost a total of $4.3 million—more than the combined total allocated 54 other counties.

Discussing the Alamance projects, Scott said "I am proud of every foot of blacktop that has been put on the ground there just as in other sections of the state. I am proud of every substandard bridge improved, every home, church, volunteer fire department or business served."

"It is interesting to note that those who criticize already live on a paved road or street and do not have to contend with dust and mud," Scott continued. No complaints come from those who have had their needs met by the use of unallocated funds."

Scott said that as governor "I cannot be aware of all the needs in the individual counties. This is the responsibility of the individual members of the state Highway Commission. I have provided commission members with funds from the unappropriated account for them to program highway projects in those counties having the greatest need."

Allocation of unappropriated highway funds in the sole province of the governor. These surplus funds build up when highway fund revenues exceed the sums specifically appropriated by the General Assembly.

Scott pointed out that this year a total of $11.5 million is being transferred from the unappropriated balance to the highway fund "for programming by the commission along with its regular program and on the same basis as all other highway funds."

Miss Rebecca Bright Weds Sunday Afternoon

Miss Rebecca Lynn Bright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bright of Winterville, became the bride of Charles Vernon White on Sunday at 5:00 p.m. in the Red Oak Christian Church.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon E. White of Winterville.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Ronald Nichols, pastor of the bride. Mrs. Paul Braxton, organist, presented a program of wedding music. "I Love You Truly," "Because" and "The Wedding Prayer" were sung by Jerry Cribbs, soloist.

The chancel of the church was arranged with a background of wedding palms. Two fifteen branch spiral candelabra were used on each side of the altar with baskets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums. The couple knelt on a white prie-dieu for the blessing and benediction.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length white taffeta gown designed with a high neckline and long lantern sleeves trimmed in chantilly lace. The empire bodice and modified A-line skirt were also enhanced by chantilly lace. The hemline featured a ruffled flounce of matching lace.

She wore a formal length white illusion mantilla edged in chantilly lace attached to a tiara headpiece also styled with lace. She also wore an heirloom lavaliere that belonged to her greatgrandmother. The bride carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses, white miniature carnations and baby's breath.

MRS. CHARLES VERNON WHITE

Miss Bonnie Bright, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Mrs. Janit Black, cousin of the bridegroom, was matron of honor. They wore gowns of magenta crepe designed with an empire waist accented with lace entwined with matching velvet ribbon. The short puffed sleeves, and full skirts were featured with a long ruffle. They wore picture hats of pink trimmed with the same lace and velvet ribbon.

They carried nosegays of miniature varigated pink carnations and baby's breath.

Bridesmaids were Miss Patsy Rozell of Richmond, Va., cousin of the bride, and Miss Ludie Black of Winterville, cousin of the bridegroom. They wore gowns and hats identical to those of the honor attendants and carried nosegays of miniature varigated pink carnations and baby's breath.

The honorary bridesmaid was Miss Gail Mansfield of Coral Springs, Fla. She wore a gown of floral pink print crepe designed with an empire waist, accented with matching ribbon and an A-line skirt. Her picture hat was pale pink accented with a band of velvet ribbon. Her flower was a long-stemmed varigated pink carnation.

Miss Christianna Black, cousin of the bridegroom, was flower girl. Her gown was identical to those of the honor attendants. Her headpiece was made of the same lace and ribbon that trimmed the gown. She carried a basket of rose petals.

Vernon White served his son as best man. Ushers were Steve Bright of Ayden, cousin of the bride, James Black, Arthur Black, of Winterville and Ben White Jr. of Fayetteville, cousins of the bridegroom.

The mother of the bride wore a seamist green dress of polyester knit designed with long, sheer organza sleeves. An organza bow centered with pearls trimmed the high neckline and matching accessories. She wore a white cattleya orchid corsage.

The mother of the bridegroom selected an ice blue crepe dress with lace bodice and sleeves and matching accessories. A white cattleya orchid corsage complemented her ensemble.

The bride's grandmothers, Mrs. Jennie Bright and Mrs. Nora Jolly, wore pink and blue dresses with white Georginia orchid corsages.

Mrs. Dot Dail directed the wedding and wore a white Georginia orchid corsage.

After a wedding trip to Florida, the couple will reside in Winterville.

The bride is a graduate of Winterville High School and attended Pitt Technical Institute. The bridegroom attended Hargrave Military Academy and graduated from D.H. Conley High School. He is now engaged in farming.

Reception

Following the ceremony, a reception hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bright, parents of the bride, was held in the Red Room of the Moose Lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bright, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rozell and Mrs. Leslie Mansfield, uncles and aunts of the bride, greeted the guests and directed them to the refreshment table.

The bride's table was centered with a three-tier wedding cake with smaller cakes on either side. After the bride and bridegroom cut the first slice of wedding cake, the guests were served cake and punch by Mrs. Hal Edwards of Ayden and Mrs. Leo Jolly of Winterville.

Good-byes were said by the bride and bridegroom and their parents.

Pre-Rehearsal Dinner

The bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon E. White, entertained the White-Bright wedding party, out-of-town guests, family members, and friends at a pre-rehearsal dinner at the Winterville Community Building Saturday night.

Assisting Mr. and Mrs. White were Mr. and Mrs. Offie Stancill, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Hobgood, Mrs. J. S. Liverman, Mrs. Vernon Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Linwood Hooks, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Spain, and Mr. and Mrs. Lexton Keeter, Miss Alice Graves Hunsucker and Mr. and Mrs. Preston Corey.

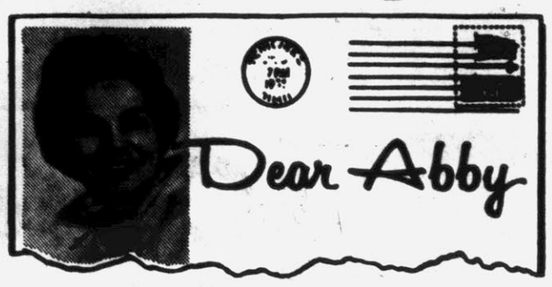

A yellow and white decorating scheme was used throughout the room. The mantel featured five-branched candelabras and an arrangement of yellow dahlias and snapdragons. Yellow candles were used on all the tables. The bride's table was decorated with yellow candles, southern smilax, and a miniature bride and bridegroom.

The bride was presented a pink chrysanthemum corsage by the bridegroom's parents.

Following the wedding rehearsal on Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. White, parents of the bridegroom, entertained members of the wedding party and out-of-town guests in their home. Arrangements of mixed summer flowers were used throughout the home.

The bride and bridegroom remembered their attendants with gifts.

Doctor Hesitates On Teen Request

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: A rather unstable 14-year-old girl has asked me to provide her with birth control pills. That this girl is having intercourse is a fact, and I know she would continue whether she had the pills or not.

Without preventative measures she will surely get pregnant, and in her circumstances she couldn't get an abortion because it's illegal in Nevada, and she is poor, so there would only be another unwanted, innocent child.

So, if you were in my place, what would you do?

ON THE SPOT

DEAR ON: I would consider the options, and choose the lesser of the evils—which is obvious. Since the girl is relying on you for help, I hope you realize that she desperately needs counseling. I also hope that you have explained that while "the pill" prevents pregnancy, it offers no protection whatsoever against venereal disease.

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago my husband and I built our dreamhouse. We designed it ourselves, wanting something different from the run-of-the-mill floor plans. We also searched far and wide for our furnishings.

We now have a very original and unusual home. It's so unusual, in fact, that we have had a steady stream of visitors who come by just to see it, and get "ideas" for their own homes. Some have had the nerve to take notes, and ask us about where we got this and that, and how much did it cost? I mean, everything from our light fixtures, hardware, carpeting, draperies, wallpaper to our lamps and furniture!

Abby, please don't tell us that imitation is the sincerest form of flattery. This goes beyond imitation. It is more like "stealing."

Thanks for letting us express ourselves. Print this, but don't use our names or town.

HATES CHISELERS

DEAR HATES: One is more or less helpless against friends who turn out to be copycats. But if you permit strangers to tour your home, you're lucky if all they steal are "ideas."

DEAR ABBY: There is a very pushy woman in our town who greets all the men with a kiss on the lips. I have watched her go from man to man pollinating and contaminating at least 20 men, one right after the other. [Some of these men she hardly knows.]

My husband is one of her victims. I have told him he did not have to hold still for a kiss like that, but he insists there is nothing he can do about it.

Abby, when people come at me with an unwelcome kiss, I quickly extend my hand to indicate that I will shake hands, but want no kisses, and I can't see why my husband couldn't do the same. What do you think?

HATES KISSING STRANGERS

DEAR HATES: When the kissing creature approaches, your husband could turn his head, so her kiss would catch him on the cheek instead of on the lips. And if she tried again, he could take his cue from the Good Book and turn the other cheek.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L. A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Couple Speaks Vows Recently

RALEIGH — Miss Tharon Young Sapp of Raleigh and Lee Hannah Dunn of Greenville spoke their vows Wednesday, Sept. 6, in the Chapel of the Annuciation, Christ Church here.

The Rev. B. Daniel Sapp officiated at the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her brother, B. Daniel Sapp Jr., the bride is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. B. Daniel Sapp of Raleigh. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Worth Dunn of Greenville.

The bridegroom's father served as best man.

After a reception at home and supper at the Angus Barn, the couple left on a wedding trip to Nanntuckett, Mass., where they will make their home.

The bride is a graduate of the University of North Carolina and attended St. Mary's High School and Emory University, Atlanta,Ga., where she was a member of Alpha Delta Phi sorority. The bride was presented at the 1969 Debutante Ball.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of North Carolina, where he was a member of Sigma Nu fraternity.

Reception Given Couple Sunday

GRIFTON — On Sunday afternoon, members of the First Christian Church entertained at a reception honoring their new minister, the Rev. Edwin Respess and Mrs. Respess, in the fellowship hall.

Miss Bertha Johnson greeted guests and presented to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rose and the honorees.

Mr. and Mrs. John Coward directed guests to the refershment table which was covered with a white net with lace trim over a satin cloth. A silver and crystal epergne filled with carnations, snapdragons and painted daisies in shades of yellow, lavender and pink with yellow candles in silver holders centered the table.

Punch was poured by Mrs. Sallie Johnson and Mrs. Claude Kennedy served cake squares. Assisting in serving were Mrs. L. D. McCotter, Mrs. Dewey Wall, Mrs. J. E. Smith, Miss Penny Sumrell and Miss Stephanie Jackson.

Good-byes were said by Mr. and Mrs. Mark Phillips.

Nice for a garnish for salmon or some other dish—cucumber twists. To make them, slice a cucumber thin; cut each slice from one outside edge to the center. Zwist the cut pieces in opposite directions to form S-shape twists.

October Trip Planned By Club

GRIFTON — Plans for a trip to Lenoir Community College in October were discussed at the meeting of the Grifton Garden Club Monday.

The club members will meet at the home of Mrs. John Glenn with Mrs. M. B. Hodges as joint hostess and then travel to Kinston. They will visit the greenhouse and department and will be addressed by John Deme.

Mrs. H. B. McIver, president, conducted the meeting. Mrs. F. L. Cox, Mrs. H. C. Oglesby, Mrs. Joe Bass and Mrs. McIver were named to a committee concerning the annual plant sale which is sponsored by the club.

Mrs. Sam Nelson, program chairman, gave the first in the "show and tell plant" programs.

Mrs. O. H. Young was welcomed as a new member.

Mrs. McIver and Mrs. Nelson were hostesses for the meeting which was held in the social hall of the First Christian Church.

N.C. Women's Forum Set For Early November

RALEIGH — "The Family of the Future" will be the theme of the North Carolina Women's Public Affairs Forum to convene in Greensboro on Thursday, Nov. 9.

The announcement was made today by Mrs. Phebe Emmons, chairman of the 1972 forum, and Mrs. Bert Tyson, of Greenville president of the North Carolina Council of Women's Organizations, which sponsors the annual forum.

The forum will feature a mid-morning address by Dr. Lillian Mohr, president of the American Council on Consumer Interests, and associate professor of family economics at Florida State University.

Mrs. Margaret A. Haywood, associate judge of the Superior Court of the District of Columbia, and former member of the District of Columbia Council by appointment of the President of the United States, will be the luncheon speaker.

In addition to practicing law, Mrs. Haywood has been a licensed real estate broker. She has held offices in the Cosmopolitan Business and Professional Women's Club and the Council of Churches of Greater Washington and has been a member of the Board of Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authroity.

Other program participants will be announced later, Mrs. Emmons said.

Reservations for the program and luncheon at the Holiday Inn Four Seasons in Greensboro should be sent to Mrs. Marse Grant, 1428 Ridge Rd. Raleigh.

Members of the planning committee in addition to Mrs. Emmons and Mrs. Tyson are: Dr. Frances Dawson, vice chairman, Elon College; Mrs. Irby Walker, secretary, Raleigh; Mrs. Leslie Barnhardt, treasureer, Charlotte. Also Mrs. A. R. Collins, Durham; Mrs. Elizabeth Hartsell, Kernersville; Mrs. W. F. Redding Jr., Asheboro; and Dr. Gloria H. Blanton, Raleigh.

Quarantine Cooperation Vital

Regrettably hog cholera is again a problem in Pitt County. The disease has been prevalent in recent months, not only in Pitt County, but in other areas of the nation.

A quarantine was declared this week for parts of Pitt County in the Eastern Pines Community area by order of James Graham, commissioner of agriculture.

Under the order, all swine in the area in under state quarantine and farm-to-farm and farm-to-market movement of swine within the area must cease. Movement of slaughter swine is permitted only under rules prescribed by the state veterinarian.

Officials asked that anyone with sick hogs report it to the county agricultural office or the federal veterinary service. Permits for movement of slaughter hogs may be obtained from the federal veterinary service, 752-6354 or the local agricultural office.

It is important that hog growers cooperate with the authorities in curbing these outbreaks of hog cholera. Farmers were reminded not to feed raw table scraps to hogs and to make sure that the hogs do not have access to table scraps.

Observing the regulations during a quarantine period is essential if this disease is to be brought under control.

Driver Is Key To Prevention

By BRYAN HAISLIP

RALEIGH, — People drive as they live; nothing magical happens to change mental attitude or physical abilty when they get behind the wheel.

Therein lies an angle of attack for highway safety which Col. Charles A. Speed is convinced holds life-saving promise.

BRYAN HAISLIP

"The primary cause of traffic accidents is people," said the retired State Highway Patrol commander. "Certainly motor vehicle design and roadway engineering are factors. But the driver who controls the machine as it moves along the highway is the key to accident prevention."

Death has gone for the ride almost from the day the horseless carriage appeared on the road. Now it has reached the chilling proportions nationally of 50,000 killed each year. North Carolina contributed 1,846 of the total in 1971, and so far this year the toll is running about 80 ahead of the same period last year.

For the American male between the ages of three and thirty, the leading cause of death is motor vehicle accidents. One out of every eight beds in the country's general hospitals is occupied by an accident victim.

The statistics clearly define highway accidents as a major public health problem.

It Can Be Licked

The magnitude and persistance of traffic slaughter might make it seem unconquerable to some, but not to Col. Speed.

"Sure it can be licked," he said. "Maybe we can never eradicate it, but we can have an impact. We already have made tremendous strides."

He joined the patrol in 1935. That year, 1,095 persons were killed in North Carolina traffic mishaps. The state registered some half-a-million motor vehicles, and travel totaled some four billion miles. The death rate was 26.4 persons per miles of travel.

Last year, vehicle registration was more than three million, and travel was 23 to 24 billion miles. The 1,846 deaths figured out to a rate of 5.9 per million miles.

"If the 1935 rate had applied in 1971, we would have had 8,000 deaths," he observed.

As impressive as the acheivement is, he added, it admits of no sense of pride or satisfaction as long as the loss of life and property remains so high.

The Forth "E"

Highway safety efforts have emphasizes what Speed calls the three "E's" — education, enforcement, and engineering.

It's time to add a fourth "E" for evaluation of drivers, said Col. Speed.

A study by the National Safety Council in 1966 indicated that drivers were instrumental in causing 98 percent of all reported accidents. Half of all fatal accidents involve a drinking driver. The implication is clear, said Speed, that efforts to reduce accidents must focus on the driver.

The resource for such an approach is a Nation Driving Center proposed for the Research Triangle Park near Raleigh. It would draw together the staff and facilities for in-depth study and research to identify the factors which make some drivers habitual violators, to set standards for licensing with restrictions to keep the accident-prone off the road, and to explore remedial and preventive programs.

State Supports Goals

Speed serves as consultant to a committee developing the concept for the center. Gov. Bob Scott has endorsed the aims, and the last legislature gave evidence of state support by appropriating $500,000 towards the project.

Duke University has agreed to operate the center, which would utilize resources of other institutions within the area. The medical Society of North Carolina and the North Carolina Bar Association have pledged support.

Although the center is four to five years and some $5 to $6 million away from reality, planning is well advanced, Speed said.

In operation, it will subject the human element in highway accidents to the same kind of scientific analysis and corrective action that engineers give to vehicle and roadway design.

The great majority of motorists are law-abiding, alert and aware of the responsibility involved in operating an automobile, Speed said. These are the qualities they display at home, work, and in the community.

There is a minority who drive as they live, with disregard for others and in spite of attitudes, mental or physical deficiencies which make them unfit drivers, he added.

"If we can identify this small group and direct them to rehabilitative programs or else restrict their driving privileges, we can prevent many accidents," he predicted.

Brought Recognition To East Carolina U.

East Carolina University can be proud of Constance Anne Dorn, the Kinston beauty who has completed her freshman year at ECU. She was first runner-up in last week's Miss America Pageant.

Miss Dorn performed like a professional in the talent competition which was seen by millions of Americans on national television.

Her appearance brought recognition to ECU.

The school received further recognition when Dr. Wellington Gray was introduced on television. The popular dean of the ECU School of Art was one of the nine pageant judges.

It was double exposure on television for the local institution.

A Portent Of Illinois Trend

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

CHICAGO — The continued decline of Sen. George McGovern among the white ethnic working class of Mayor Richard J. Daley's Chicago, showing no sign of reversal, threatens a massive landslide for President Nixon in vitally important Illinois.

Our interviews with 61 registered voters (31 Democrats, 20 independents, 10 Republicans) in two barometer blue-collar precincts on Chicago's mid-Southwest Side defy belief. In answer to a questionnaire drafted for us by pollster Oliver Quayle, these were the astonishing results: Nixon 47, McGovern 8, undecided 6.

These voters, though less than pleased with Mr. Nixon's performance on Vietnam and the economy, simply cannot entertain the thought of George McGovern as President. Instead of rallying, McGovern seems still dripping. "I kind of liked him when he was speaking his mind," a young salesman told us, "but now he's wishy-washy."

Such portents of disaster come from two precincts (selected for us by elections analyst Richard Scammon) whose voters are overwhelmingly white ethnic Catholics and preponderantly Democrats and labor union members. Moreover, they have recently proved a barometer of the entire state —having been carried narrowly by President Nixon in 1968 and overwhelmingly by Democratic Sen. Adlai Stevenson III in 1970.

Some Nixon voters here, however, may be a little shaky. Nearly half his supporters in these blue-collar neighborhoods feel he favors big business over the working man, about half disapprove of bombing North Vietnam and many complain he has not ended the war as promised.

Nevertheless, Mr. Nixon is decidedly the lesser evil to them. A retired machinist who is a lifelong Democrat grumbled that the Nixon economic controls favor big business. "But McGovern gave Daley awful rough treatment at the convention," he added, "and I don't like that business of begging for peace." His choice: Nixon.

Although a few voters still claim they know little about McGovern, the majority now have an image of him — an unfavorable one, particularly after the Eagleton affair.

A young teacher told us McGovern "nearly lost my vote" because of his "poor move on Eagleton" but he decided to stick with him because of the war. McGovern did lose the vote of a 19-year-old factory worker who said he just switched to Mr. Nixon: "The thing that really turned me off was the way McGovern treated his first Vice President. He didn't level with him."

The result is a crisis in credibility. While McGovern argues that Mr. Nixon cannot be believed, the voters interviewed think otherwise. We tested their trust in eight candidates on this year's Illinois ballot with surprising results. Most trustworthy: Richard Nixon. Least trustworthy: George McGovern.

Indeed, these voters obviously think Mr. Nixon has performed satisfactorily as President, giving him a 78 per cent performance rating — easily the highest given him in any interviews we have conducted the last four years.

The reasons stated for their approval are that Mr. Nixon has tried and, at least in foreign affairs, has succeeded. While apprehensive about Mr. Nixon's Vietnam and economic policies, a union plumber supported him because of "those trips he took around the worlk."

Simultaneously, McGovern's massive attack on the Watergate caper and fishy Republican campaign financing has flopped. None but a few hard-core McGovern voters took any credence in these charges.

Nor can McGovern rely on inbred Democratic loyalty. Some voters voiced intense

MARKS OF A TRUE CHRISTIAN

What are the marks of a true Christian?

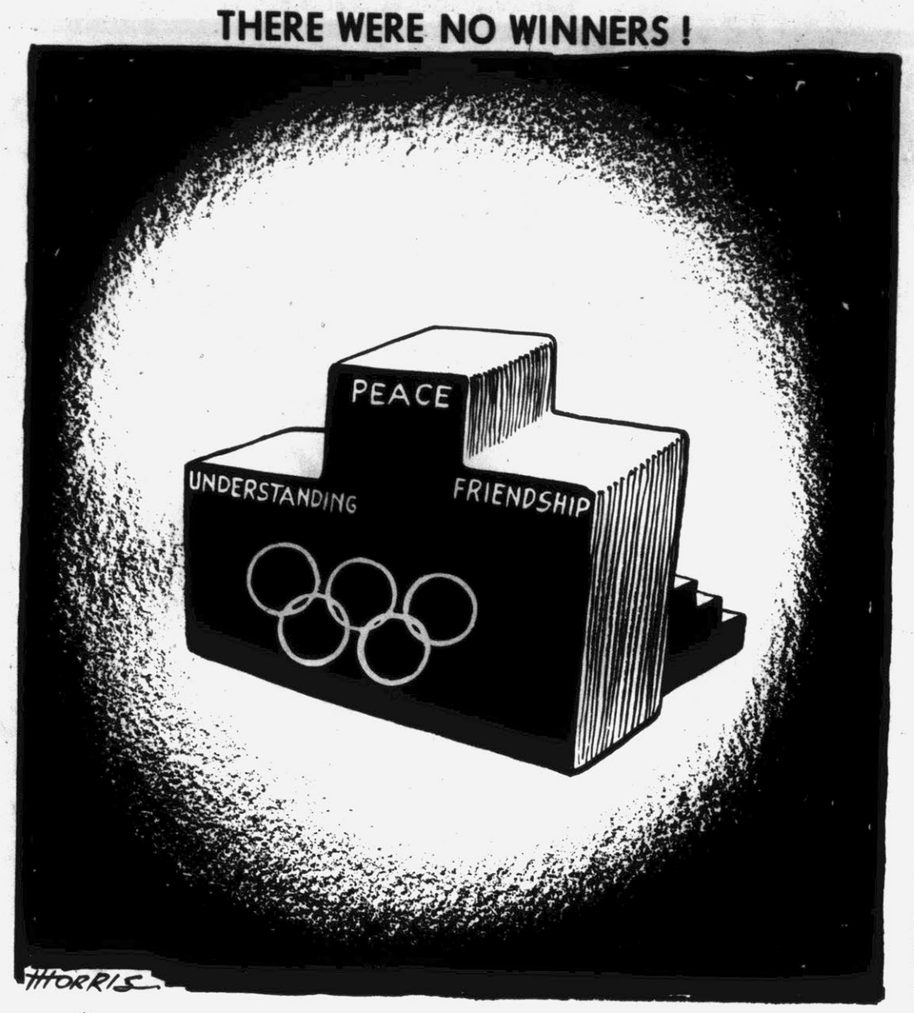

The first, of course, is faith, for all religious life begins in faith. But the life of a Christian believer must not end in faith. It must end in love. So faith is at the beginning of the Christian life and love is its goal, or climax.

Between this beginning and this ending there are qualities which everyone must have if he is worthy to bear the name of Christian and assume its responsibilities. A christian must have courage, patience, loyalty, humility, generosity, penitence and a zeal for hig and noble living. The Christian does not at all belong to himself—he belongs first to God and then to his fellows. When he became a Christian the center of his life ceased to be within the circle of his own interests and was faithfully and courageously placed at the center of his neighbor's interests. Best all, the life of a Christian abide in the will and love and presence of God. When a man becomes a Christian he moves out of the hovel of himself and into the heaven of his Creator. He moves out of selfishness of his own desired and into the glorious requirements of his neighbor's interests.

At the very center of all this stands the Divine Being whom he calls his Lord and to whom he accords the fullness of his love. In this Divine One is life and power and peace and joy.

Why Hoffa Couldn't Go

WASHINGTON — There has been criticism in governmemt circles over the handling of Jimmy Hoffa's trip to Hanoi, which was canceled at the last moment.

For some reason the White House, the Justice Department and the State Department, as well as Hoffa's lawyers, all had different versions as to what actually happened.

By piecing together a bit here and there, I think I can reveal what took place.

When Jimmy Hoffa was serving time in prison, he decided to study the Vietnamese language, in hopes that someday when he got out he could organize the truck drivers along the Ho Chi Minh Trail in the Teamsters Union.

Somehow the word got to the White House of Hoffa's proficiency in the language. (It was first beleived that Hoffa's cell was bugged, but this was later denied.)

In any case a White House staffer at a meeting said: "Why don't we send Hoffa to Hanoi to unionize the North Vietnamese truck drivers? Then he could call a strike and cut off all the supplies to the south."

"What a great idea," President Nixon said. "How does it sound to you, Henry?

Henry Kissinger replied, "It doesn't bother me, as long as I can keep going to Paris."

"But Hoffa is in prison," another White House staffer said.

"The President can parole him," someone suggested. "We'll leak the story that the President is paroling Hoffa so the Teamsters will support the Republicans during the election year. No one will know the real reason is so he can go to Hanoi."

A call was put in to the attorney general, who said it would be no problem to parole Hoffa, but he raised the question as to how Hoffa would get a passport to leave the country.

ART BUCHWALD

"We never thought of that," a White House assistant said. "We'll have to inform Bill Rogers, the secretary of state, of our plans."

"Absolutely not," Kissinger said. "If we tell Rogers about this, we'll be setting a bad precedent. He'll want to know about other things we're planning to do in foreign affairs, which are none of his business."

"Henry's right," a White House staffer said. "If we clue in Rogers on this, he'll be coming around all the time wanting to know what we're cooking up. A little knowledge for a secretary of state is a dangerous thing."

The President asked, "Why can't Hoffa just go down to the passport office and apply for a passport without Bill knowing about it?"

"Good thinking, Mr. President," John Ehrlichman, his special assistant, said.

The machinery was put into motion. Justice got Hoffa his parole, Kissinger told the North Vietnamese Hoffa was coming and the White House press office prepared an announcement revealing yhe Presidents 1,987th secret plan to get us out of Vietnam.

But somebody goofed, and the announcement was made before Hoffa took off for his mission.

Because Secretary Rogers was not in on the plan he thought someone in the passport office had erred and without checking with the White House, Rogers canceled Hoffa's passport and announced that the Teamster boss couldn't go.

The President was urged to

Other Editors Say Makes Sense

(Rocky Mount Telegram)

The suggestion made the other day by the chairman of the North Carolina Council on Crime and Delinquency concerning the handling of "victimless crimes" makes sense.

Briefly, the suggestion by Chairman Harold Essex is that public drunkenness, gambling, vagrancy, drug usage and disorderly conduct should be dealt with by social and health agencies since they are affiliated with social and moral problems.

In the opinion of Chairman Essex, the General Assembly could cut the crime rate in the state by 30 per cent simply by removing public drunkenness from the criminal category. It is no secret that the courts of the state are clogged with criminal case backlogs to the extent that speedy justice simply isn't possible, despite the North Carolina effort toward court reform.

Providing some figures, Chairman Essex said most of the 50,000 or more arrests for drunkenness in the state every year are the "revloving door" variety, in that the offenders repeat their offense time and again. Studies, Essex showed, have determined that an average cost of $228 fo the taxpayer's money is required to arrest, try, hold on bail for a period and then a local jail term for a public drunk. The estimated cost each year is placed at $11.5 million.

The Essex recommendation is that such cases be diverted to social agencies to help rehabilitate alcoholics rather than repeat the cycle of arrest, jail and release. Bearing this out is the fact that right in our own community there are instances where defendants spend so much time locked up that they give their address as the county jail.

While the drug abuse problem may be somewhat different, it also might well be handled by agencies other than the courts where some pretty miserable botches are often made of young lives which might be averted if agencies more familiar with the problem were given the task. Of course, no effort should be made to protect the drug pushers, who deserve all that is coming to them and whose activities constitute crimes which certainly are not to be classed as "victimless."

Experience Proves A Teacher

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analysts

NEW YORK (AP) — The combination of a 1969-1970 credit crunch and a recession in 1971 has left many small- and medium-size businessmen much wiser in managing their assets, more sophisticated in handling their money.

That assessment was made this week by executives of Walter E. Heller & Co., a major security lender. According to Allen Kerr, senior vice president, the corporate finance officers his company contacts are now a lot sharper.

The legacy means that such businesses likely will remain more competitive and less crisis ridden when one or a combination of the same circumstances develops again, as perhaps they will.

One of the most observable effects, says Franklin A. Cole, president, is that "there isn't a treasurer worth his pay who isn't putting his money to work."

Before the combination credit squeeze-recession, a good many treasurers permitted their excess funds to lie in checking or savings accounts or certificates of deposit, Cole states.

The money in the checking accounts earned no interest. Funds left in savings accounts earned interest but usually were tied up for 30 days. Funds invested in CDs at a higher interest rate might be tied up an entire year.

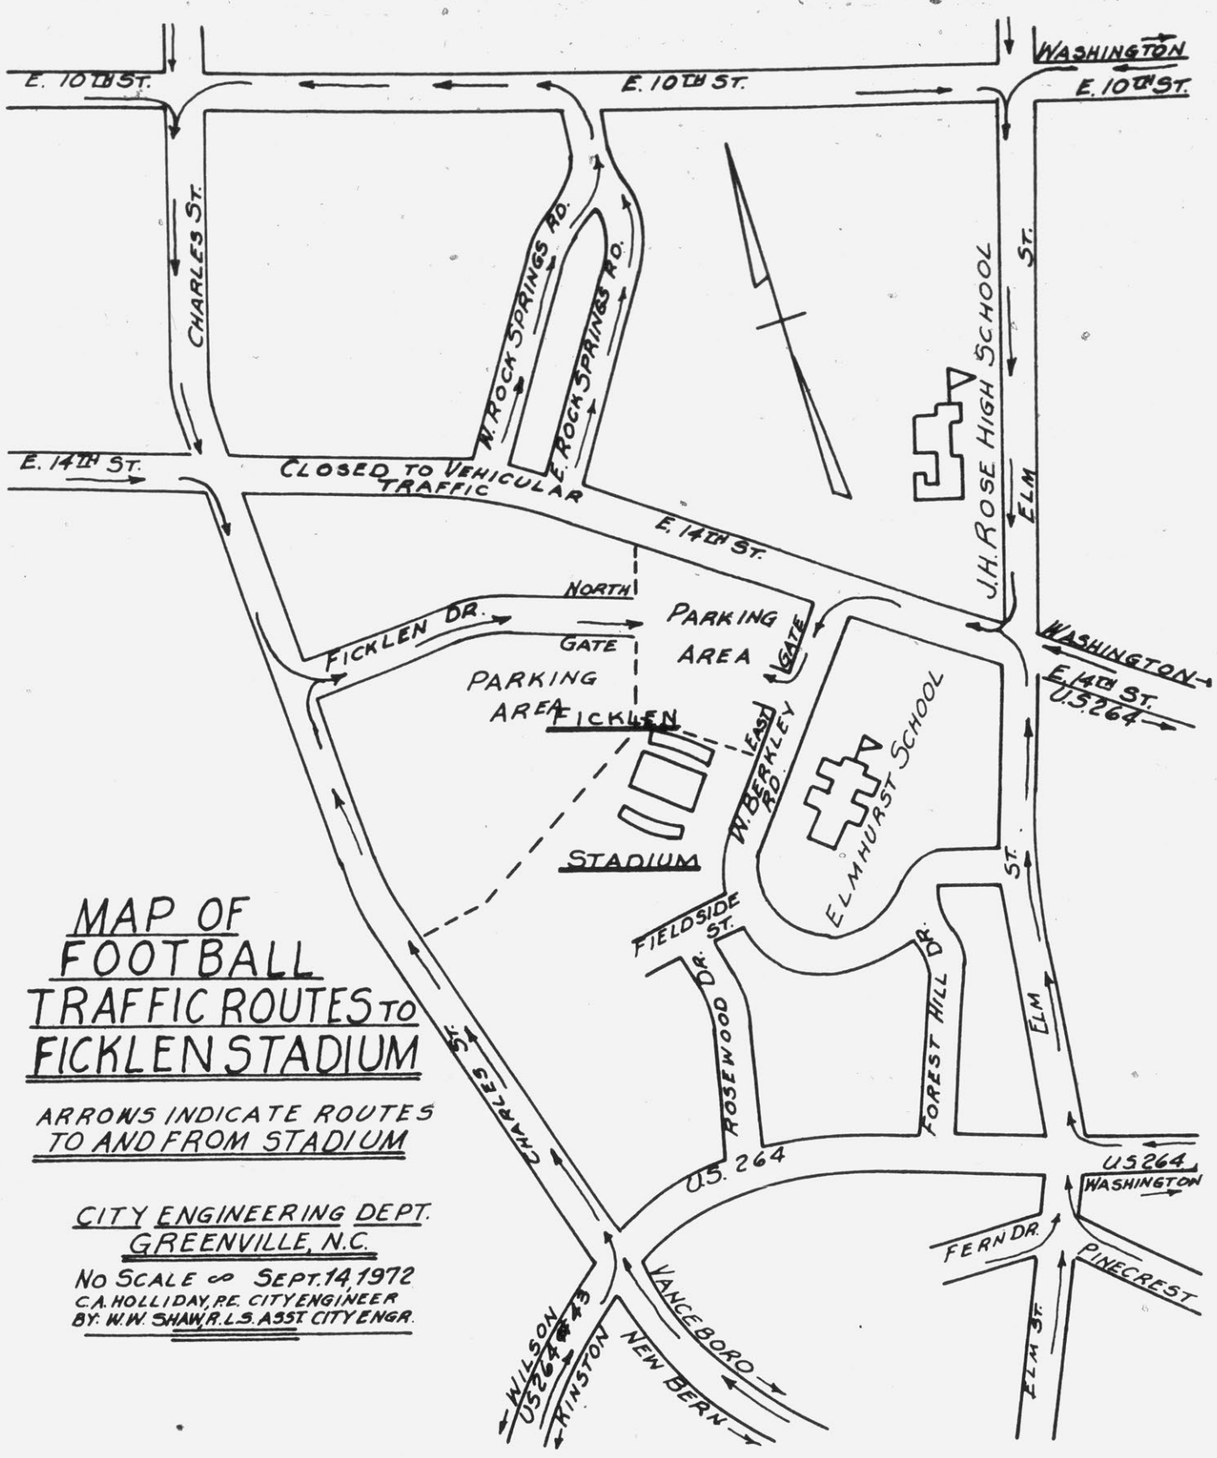

Cole claims that treasurers who found their assets thus unavailable to them when credit emergencies arose are now more likely to deal in the commercial paper market, where interest can be earned for as few as five and as many as 270 days.

Not only have they learned the importance of putting their money to work intensively, says Cole, but they have learned also how to make better use of their assets in borrowing.

He and Kerr claim that corporate finance officers are far more intelligent now in using their inventories and accounts receivable to secure short-term loans that otherwise wouldn't be available to them, thus providing liquidity and smoother expansion.

Such businessmen, say the Heller executives, now realize that the interest rate, rather than being the sine quo non, or essential element, of a deal, is perhaps one of the least important factors.

More important, they add — and they maintain also that treasurers of small-and-medium-size companies with annual sales of $1 million to $20 million agree — is to have money when needed and in sufficient quantity for the needs.

FOOTBALL TRAFFIC PATTERN...Fans driving to East Carolina University football games this fall will follow the same routes to parking areas as they did last year. Arrows on the above map indicate traffic routes to stadium parking areas for this year's games. Fourteenth Street from Elm to Charles Streets will be closed to through traffic from about 6 p.m. until game time for night games (from 12:30 p.m. until game time for day games) and again from about 9:45 p.m. (4:45 p.m. for day games) until traffic has left the stadium following the games. About 40 men are required to handle traffic at major intersection and on streets in the area of the stadium and in parking cars in stadium parking lots. (City Engineering Department Map)

Some Additional Sales Time For Leaf Marts

RALEIGH (AP) — Some additional sales times has been granted to the South Carolina and North Carolina Border Belt flue-cured tobacco markets, but not as much as farmers in the area wanted.

The industrywide Flue-Cured Tobacco Marketing Committee granted the extra time during a 3½ hour session in Raleigh Thursday. It also adopted a compromise on the rate of sales in the Eastern Belt compared with the Middle and Old Belts.

The committee also agreed that the starting time for all auctions will be 9:30 a.m. rather than 9 a.m. beginning Monday and continuing as long as daylight savings time is in effect.

At first the committee turned down a plea from the Border Belt for 3,450,148 pounds in extra sales allocations for its final two weeks of auctions, which begin Monday.

Later, however, it approved a proposal to add 458,407 pounds to the belt scheduled during each of the next two weeks.

Spokesmen from the Border Belt had estimated that 10 to 12 million pounds of unsold tobacco would still be on farms when the area's selling time had been fully utilized.

Daily selling time at Lumberton and Whiteville will be upped from 3.3 hours to 3.75 hours, and at Fairmont from 4.4 to 5 hours. These are the only remaining active Border Belt markets.

South Carolina's markets were granted an extra one million pounds of sales allocation to take care of the 1971-crop tobacco held over on farms. But sales on these markets may not exceed five hours a day. If the extra quota is not fully used before the markets close, the rest will be carried over to next year.

At the request of buying interests, a limit of 82 million pounds per week was set on sales opportunity. But action giving the Border Belt and South Carolina increased selling time boosted the total weekly volume for the next two weeks to 82,653,000 pounds.

Most of the meeting was devoted to a discussion of the progress of sales on the Eastern Belt in relation to those on the Middle and Old Belts.

Spokesmen for the Eastern Belt said their farmers have had 10.5 million pounds less sales opportunity in the first eight weeks of the season in 1972 then in 1971. During this same period, they said, growers in the Middle and Old Belts have had 9.6 million pounds more sales opportunity this year than in 1971.

The committee adopted a compromise providing for a schedule that will allow the Eastern Belt to sell 100 per cent of its sales opportunity by the time the Middle and Old markets have sold 92.2 per cent of theirs.

Last year the Middle and Old Belts had sold 93.08 per cent of their sales allocation by the time the Eastern Belt reached the 100 per cent mark.

Hunting Safety Is Discussed For Club

WINTERVILLE — Pitt County Wild Life Protector Kay Dunn spoke to the members of the Winterville Ruritan Club Tuesday night on the subject of "Safe Use of Firearms for Hunters".

The speaker illustrated his talk by the use of color slides depicting unsafe practices.

He warned hunters to carry their guns in a position that could not harm companions. Dunn said that many accidents occur when taking guns from cars, when climbing over fences or when shooting without a clear view of the target.

He said that it is best to unload your gun when the situation calls for caution. Dun also advised wearing a red cap or shirt while in the woods.

The Wild Life Protector said that 30 states already require four hours of supervised instruction before issuing hunting licenses. He predicted that North Carolina will pass such a law at the next session of the legislature.

In other business the work of the D. H. Conley High School bosster Club was lauded by Ronald Carroll. He urged the people of Winterville to support the football and other teams by attending as many games as possible.

J. L. "Leck" Keeter, chairman of the Ruritan Calendar committee, reported that the sale of advertising for the calendar was complete. Persons who were missed in the drive for birthdays to go on the calendar may get in touch with any club member.

Proceeds from the Ruritan Calendar will go toward repair of the B. Vernon Cox Memorial Building, which was purchased recently from the Pitt County Board of Education.

Ruritan District Governor John Bishop, who presented his report to the group, announced that the district convention will be held in Bath in November.

President Sammy Hodges presided at the meeting.

Solid Gain For Personal Income

WASHINGTON (AP) — National personal income showed a solid increase of $6.9 billion last month, the Commerce Department said today.

This brought personal income to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $939.8 billion. A month earlier, personal income rose $10 billion.

Most of the August increase was centered in higher payrolls, up $5 billion. More than half of this gain was in commodity-producing industries.

There was also a $1.2-billion increase in government payrolls and a $2 billion rise in manufacturing payrolls, the department said.

Banquet For Sr. Citizens

The Grimesland, Simpson and Galloways Cross Roads Communities entertained their senior citizens at a banquet Sunday in the Simpson Community Building.

Mrs. Vera D. Gatlin, chairman, presided at the session and Mrs. H. G. Thompson was the guest speaker.

Mrs. Thompson spoke on "Helping Our Senior Citizens." She quoted excerpts from works of Billy Graham.

Four persons were remembered with corsages or boutonnieres for being the oldest persons attendeing the banquet. The were Mrs. Roxie Moore, Mrs. Mary Little, Jessie Kennedy and the Rev. Lee Williams.

Music was presented by Mrs. Lillie T. Parker, organist, and Mrs. Annie Hardy and Mrs. Jaunita Johnson, soloists.

About 40 persons attended the banquet. They ranged in age from 62 to 83.

The banquet will be an annual affair for the three communities.

Indians Helped Keep Rain Away

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Rain from the heavy clouds seemed imminent as Mrs. Tricia Cox, daughter of President Nixon, began a tour of the New Jersey State Fair.

To keep the rain away Thursday, Winneabago Indians from Wisconsin Dells, Wis., spread tobacco around their village at the fair. And the sun came out.

Open Forum On Schools Sunday

The Citizens Advisory Committee for the Greenville City Schools has announced a special Open Forum to be held Sunday from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. at E. B. Aycock Junior High School.

Virgil Clark, publicity chairman for the committee, says the meeting is designed for parents of seventh grade students. "The purpose of having this forum," Clark commented, "is to make every effort possible to bring into the open and to cut down unknown areas that concern parents.

"We hope to have meaningful discussions on any area that parents are particularly concerned about, "whether it is about drug problems, curriculum or whatever it may be."

The program will be in two phases. The first will consist of 17 different groups of parents and committee members getting together in classrooms for group talks. At the end of about an hour's time, the groups will be called into a collective meeting in the school's cafetorium.

"In this general session," Clark said, "a panel will consider questions, recommendations and suggestions from the individual groups and will try to provide answers to any problems that may be raised at the time."

Nine persons, representing committee members, school administrative and faculty personnel, PTA personnel and others will be on the panel.

These include Paul Rasberry, principal of Aycock; Dr. John Ball of the School of Allied Health, ECU; Mrs. David Barnhill, Home-School coordinator for the Greenville City Schools; Glen Cox, Associate Superintendent of Greenville City Schools; Mrs. Ann Harrison, Coordinator of Programs and Services for Exceptional Children; Dr. Steven White, president, Aycock PTA; Raymond Williams, a counselor at E. B. Aycock Junior High School; Joseph Frankfort, Administrative Director of the Coastal Plain Mental Health Center; and Joe Godette, attendance officer for the Greenville City Schools.

"This is an innovative approach in an effort to air and solve problems," Clark stated. "If it works out well, we will carry it into other grades."

Dollars Leaked

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — It was raining silver dollars on the Interstate 80 freeway, and highway patrolman Dave Howe knew that wasn't right.

So Howe pulled over the armored car up ahead, and sure enough, it had sprung a leak.

About $4,000 in silver dollars bound for Nevada gambling casinos were missing, scattered out the truck's partially open back door.

Howe and seven other highway patrol officers, three guards on the truck and two State Division of Highways employes worked about an hour Thursday picking up the spilled silver dollars. Patrol Lt. John Pedri said all but a handful was recovered.

Five Hurt In 2 Accidents

Five persons were reported injured in two mishaps investigated by Greenville Police officers yesterday.

Investigators reported four person were injured when cars driven by Robert Earl Pittman, 25, of Route 6, Greenville and David Daniel Harrell, 22, of Stancil Trailer Court collided about 4:50 p.m. at the intersection of Greene Street and Gum Road.

Damage was set by police at $800 to the Pittman car and $1,100 to the Harrell auto, and Pittman was charged with failing to see his movement could be made in safety.

Investigators reported both drivers and two passengers in the Harrell vehicle were injured.

Wayne Douglas Smith, 31, of 108 Manhattan Ave. was reported injured when he fell from a car driven by Lula Bryan Smith of 108 Manhattan Ave. about 6:35 p.m. on Church Street, 300 feet East of the Pitt Street intersection.

Officers said Smith was apparently hanging out a window of the vehicle and fell.

Mrs. Smith was charged with allowing a passenger to hang out of her car.

Some Exercise, But Take Care

NEW YORK (UPI)—Middle-aged and under-exercised? Get some exercise but get it sensibly, says the Life Extension Institute.

"Don't drive yourself relentlessly.. on the golf course or tennis court, and don't race your son swimming," the Institute cautions.

Registration At PTI Extended

Registration for the fall quarter at Pitt Technical Institute has been extended through Friday, Sept. 22, according to George McRorie, PTI director of student personnel.

"Due to reports that many students were desiring to register for fall classes but for various reasons had not been able to do so," McRorie state, "we felt it was necessary to extend registration for the benefit of the citizens of the community.

Students desiring to register for fall quarter should go directly to McRorie's office to make application for enrollment.

According to McRorie, the fall student enrollment is expected to be about the same as last year, with perhaps a slight increase in the number of new students.

Three new curriculum programs have been added at Pitt Tech this year—Air and Water Resources Technology; Heating, Refrigeration, and Air Conditioning; and Electrical Installation and Maintenance. "Student registration in these curriculums is good," McRorie commented.

Groucho Taking Hospital Rest

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Groucho Marx, the 81-year-old comedian, is resting in Century City Hospital for exhaustion caused by lack of sleep since the killing of 11 Israeli athletes at the Olympic Games in Munich, a spokesman says.

Erin Fleming, Groucho's secretary and producer, said Thursday that the last of the Marx Brothers entered the hospital Saturday for a routine checkup. But, since he had not slept much since the Olympic tragedy Sept. 5, his physician, Dr. Morley Kert, ordered a two-week stay for rest, she added.

George C. Scott Wed A 4th Time

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Academy Award winner George C. Scott has married actress Trish Van Devere in a brief ceremony conducted by a judge in his chambers here.

Scott, 44, and Miss Van Devere, 31, were married Thursday by Superior Court Judge Laurence J. Rittenband. It was Scott's fourth marriage and Miss Van Devere's second.

Scott won an Oscar for his role as Gen. George Patton in the movie "Patton" in 1971 but refused to accept it.

Recreation For Milkwaukee Urbanite Is Garden

CITY GARDENERS — Milwaukee County residents (above) weed and plant their small garden plots on land leased from the county. City dwellers who have little chance to grow vegetables in their own yards pay $5 a season for the privilege of using 900 square feet of county land to try their hand at producing their own food.

By PETER B. SEYMOUR
Associated Press Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The newest fashion in summer recreation for the Milwaukee urbanite is to become a suburban vegetable gardener.

Milwaukee County has set aside a three-acre tract in an isolated corner of its rambling parks network for amateur horitulturists whose city residences lack adequate yard space for tillage.

Apartment dwellers and factory workers, some of them poking seeds into the soil for the first time in their lives, say they are leasing the 900-square-foot plots for the tonic value rather than for grocery-budget profit.

"You relax yourself," Rudy Christen said. "You don't need a head shrinker in the daytime if you come out here in the evening."

The 150 plots which the county plowed, harrowed and fertilized rent for $5 a season. They were snapped up by city folk in a few short days after the project was initially advertised.

Some plots are producing tidy rows of well-hoed corn, beans, beets, lettuce and onions while others, reflecting their tenants' lack of experience, are choked with weeds and frost-nipped disappointments.

Christen, a director of school construction in suburban Greenfield, came equipped with memories of a childhood on a farm. He said he hadn't dipped his hands into agriculture since 1929.

Jon Praxel, who lives in a Wauwatosa flat, said he learned about gardening by reading a book of instructions. He expects to make no money on the new hobby, and his wife said she has joined the battle against the weeds as a means of exploring a new environment.

"I love to come out here and just sit," she said. "The air is very nice out here. And the people are so much fun to watch."

Gardeners admit keeping a competitive watch on their neighbors' talents and tastes. Christen scowled at a nearby patch of weeds; Mrs. Praxel delights in observing social behavior.

"When people were first putting them in, everyone was doing it differently," she said. "The eating habits of some people: swiss chard and kale?"

The new experiment in congested gardening has produced some debate over the merits of organic gardening as contrasted with faith in pesticides and chemical fertilizers.

Emma Carter of Milwaukee chuckled and contentedly philosophized over the issue while scratching at the earth with a hoe.

"They taste better without fertilizer, but you grow more with fertilizer," Mrs. Carter said. "We're going to try it without fertilizer."

Robert Lindstrom, a sheet metal worker, says the project reminds him of the World War II victory gardens which were planted near the factories in the suburb in which he was raised.

"This is our first attempt at real gardening," he said, grinning and poking a rake at an ominous cluster of infant weeds.

Retired School Personnel To Meet Sept. 21

The Greenville-Pitt Chapter of Retired School Personnel meets Thursday, Sept. 21, at 12:30 p.m., at the Greenville Woman's Club Building.

A "dutch" buffet luncheon precedes the combination informational-business meeting, announces Mrs. Jeannette Clapp, chapter president.

Reservations may be made by telephoning Mrs. Clapp at 756-2516; Miss Deanie Boone Haskett, 752-2996; Mrs. H. L. Croom, 752-7789.

Mrs. Clapp urges all chapter members to attend and issues a special invitation to retired school personnel of Greenville and Pitt county, as well as to retired faculty and staff of East Carolina University, to be present at this important session.

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1972

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You want to get everything now on a very solid and secure structure and it seems difficult to do so because delays and odd conditions are happening. Nevertheless, if you use your good common sense and are persistent and do not argue with others, results are better than you had thought possible. Keep poised.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Listen to good suggestions given you by those in positions of power and follow through on them, then you can advance more quickly Get that bill paid before you have trouble with your credit. Show that you are dependable.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You have fine new ideas and want to put them through quickly, which is fine, provided you study them more carefully first. A new contact may give some ideas that are pure fantasy, so discount them. Show you are clever.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have much work to do, so be sure you do not run out for pleasure just because others are pressuring you to do so. An attachment is out for a fight, but don't fall into the trap. A calm attitude is best.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Take care you do not start an argument with one who is a valuable associate. A spirit of cooperation is best with everyone, then this becomes a fine and productive day, p.m. for you. Have fun with a good friend in p.m.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You are able now to get those duties performed that have been difficult for you to handle in the past. Spend some time taking health treatments, exercise that is most helpful. A good evening for the theater.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You are able to have the recreation you want but it is wise to spend wisely instead of extravagantly. Use a more gentle approach with the one you love Get the results you want and be happier.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Instead of arguing at home, get busy and make those improvements that are necessary there and all works to your benefit. Entertaining at home would not work out well now, so postpone. Not an ideal day to shop for furnishings, either.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have to exercise care with regular allies if you are to have more harmonious relationships with them. Go over statements for errors and see to it that they are letter perfect. Relax in p.m.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Handling monetary matters wisely is possible now as well as finding the right system for advancing in the near future The adviser you trust is not thinking very clearly today, so avoid. Use own good judgment.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You feel upset and want to make radical changes, but this would be wrong and you could ruin what is really an ideal set-up It is better to stay home than to go out socially now. Enjoy closest ties.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Study your goals well and know what has to be done to reach them more quickly and successfully. See if you have been using the right methods. Consult an adviser instead of some good friend who may be well-meaning, but not have the know-how.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Perfect day to handle those civic affairs that are just your cup of tea and to get the right results That debt can now be paid and you can stop worrying it to death. Show others that you are a friendly person.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those charming young people who is apt to be very timid early in life, so will need encouragement and praise to bring out the fine qualities and become a part of the social life in school and later in business. The education should be slanted along practical or business lines, and the importance of paying attention to details should be taught. Sports are a must here.

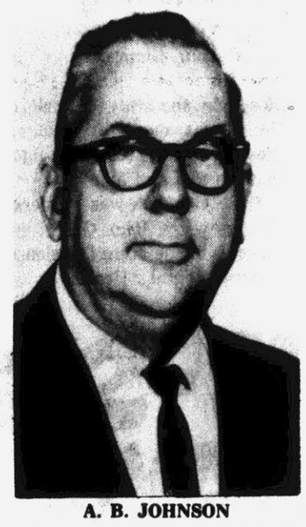

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Rotary Governor Here On Monday

A. B. Johnson of Dunn, governor of Rotary District 773, will make his offical visit to the Rotary Club of Greenville on Monday, Sept. 18.

A. B. JOHNSON

He will address the Rotary Club, one of 44 clubs in this district, and prior to his club address will confer with President Kenneth M. Watkins, Secretary-Treasurer James G. Sullivan, and with other officials concerning the group's plans for service activities and offer suggestions for administrative matters.

Mr. Johnson is one of the 333 Rotary governors throughout the world who are serving as representatives of Rotary International, an international men's service organization with more than 720,000 members in 15,385 clubs in 149 countries.

A member and past president of the Rotary Club of Dunn, Governor Johnson has retired from the field of public education. He was elected to office at the Rotary convention in Houston, Texas, June 15, and will serve until June 30, 1973.

BORDER CLASH

Tel Aviv (AP) — Arab guerrillas killed two Israeli soldiers and wounded another in a clash Thursday night on the slopes of Mt. Hermon, near the Lebanese border, the Israeli military command reported today.

A Second Date, But Lacks Visa

CINCINNATI (AP) — Judith Silver Shapiro has been granted a second date by the Soviet Union on which to marry her Jewish activist husband but, as in the first case, has not been granted a visa.

The former social worker said she she learned Thursday that the new date is Nov. 1.

She was married earlier this year in a Jewish religious ceremony in Moscow to Gabriel Shapiro, an engineer who will begin serving a one-year term in an automobile factory for "corrective labor." He has been convicted of avoiding military service.

Soviet authorities recognize only the civil marriage ceremony.

Mrs. Shapiro had to leave Russia in June when her visa expired. She was unable to return for their Aug. 30 civil wedding date when her request for a return visa was denied.

NEW YORK (AP) — As on Thursday, stock market prices moved in a narrow range today, a little on the downside. Trading remained sluggish.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 1.06 to 946.49. On the New York Stock Exchange declining issues had an advantage of about 5 to 4 over advancing issues.

Crowell-Collier pulled into first place on the active list on the strength of a large block. The issue was unchanged at 11¾. The block of 173,900 shares traded at 11⅝.

Also active were Occidental Petroleum, ahead ⅛ to 15½; Gulf Oil, off ⅜ to 23⅞; Cavanagh Communities, off ⅛ at 7⅛; and UAL, Inc., down ⅛ to 32⅝.

On the American Stock Exchange the volume leader was Berven Carpets, off ⅛ to 16½. In second place was Hartz Mountain Pet Foods, which continued its downward course by dropping ⅝ to 32⅞.

The Big Board's best advancing issue, on a percentage basis, was City Investing Co. warrants, which gained 18.8 per cent on a rise of ¾ to 4¾.

On the American Stock Exchange the biggest gainer was Cellu-Craft, ahead ¾ to 4½ for a gain of 20 per cent.

At 11 a.m. the New York Stock Exchange index of more than 1,400 common stocks was off .04 to 59.76.

The Amex's price change index was unchanged at 26.17.

IRA Leader Recaptured

BELFAST (AP) — British troops rammed a hijacked car Thursday night and captured an Irish Republican Army chief who escaped from a prison ship eight months ago.

Meanwhile, terrorists set off a bomb in a car parked outside a hotel in a Catholic district of Belfast, killing a man driving by in another car and injuring 49 persons in the hotel. It was the first fatality from a guerrilla bomb in two weeks and raised Northern Ireland's confirmed toll in three years of violence to 557 dead—344 of them in this year alone.

There was some speculation that the bombing was the work of Protestant guerrillas and not the Roman Catholics of the Irish Republican Army, since the hotel was popular with IRA men and members of the Catholic Civil Rights Assn.

Elsewhere, gunmen wounded three British soldiers and an Ulster militiaman. But troops claimed they hit some guerrillas. Belfast also had eight bomb blasts, but no one was hurt in those.

Jim Bryson, regarded by army officers as the second most wanted man in Ulster, was grabbed with five other IRA men after an army armored personnel carrier rammed their car in a Catholic district of Belfast.

Bryson got out and ran down an alley, firing at pursuing troops. He ran into another patrol, and a soldier tackled him. Two of Bryson's companions were also captured, one wounded.

Bryson was a battalion commander of the IRA's Provisional wing in Belfast and is known as a sharpshooter.

He has been on the run since late January when he and six other guerrillas sawed through the iron bars on a porthole on the prison ship Maidstone, stripped to their underpants, smeared themselves with shoe polish and butter and swam through the icy waters of Belfast harbor to freedom.

Gunfire crackled throughout the night in the Catholic districts of Andersonstown, Ardoyne and Falls Road.

The fiercest was around the Royal Victoria Hospital in the Falls. At least a dozen gunmen pumped shots and hurled bombs at army posts circling the 50-acre hospital complex.

Two soldiers were wounded, but troops said they hit several gunmen. Shooting continued until after midnight.

N.C. AFL-CIO Backs From McGovern Stance

RALEIGH (AP) — Under pressure from national leadership, the North Carolina AFL—CIO has backed away from an endorsement of George McGovern and will concentrate instead on a "Dump Nixon" drive.

The state AFL—CIO convention Thursday unexpectedly sidetracked a resolution drafted nearly a month ago in support of McGovern.

Instead it unanimously voted for a last-minute resolution to continue its anti-Nixon work.

State President Wilbur Hobby said the action came because of pressure from the national organization, which has adopted a strict neutral stance in the 1972 presidential race, and because of fears that a pro-McGovern position might "divide the labor movement."

Hobby said he was contacted last Friday by Al Barkin, national director of the Committee on Political Education, the political arm of the national AFL—CIO and a close aide to national President George Meany.

"Barkin told me that he understood that our group had a resolution from one of our locals that supports McGovern," Hobby said. "He then asked me if I understood what could happen to our union if that resolution were adopted, and that some type of action against us might be taken.".

After the Colorado labor group endorsed a similar pro-McGovern resolution the national union took over the administration of the state group and threw it into receivership.

The North Carolina group had been expected to endorse a strongly worded resolution backing McGovern and calling for the retirement of Meany as AFL—CIO president.

A substitute resolution was prepared during a luncheon meeting of the union's state executive committee.

"We wrote it during lunch today. It expresses our feelings, and it lets the national AFL—CIO off the hook, unless they really want to press it," Hobby said.

The resolution calls for the group to "continue to expose the anti-labor, anti-people and pro-big business record of Richard Nixon."

Today the group was to vote on endorsements for U.S. senator, governor and lieutenant governor on recommendations from its executive committee.

Heavy Sales At Farmville

FARMVILLE — Volume of sales continues heavy on the Farmville Tobacco Market reports Louise Williams, sales supervisor of the Farmville Tobacco Board of Trade.

All warehouses are selling their full allotment each day, he said. Offerings continue to consist of mostly leaf grades. Priming and lug grades showed a sharp increase in volume yesterday, as compared with the previous sale days. Cutter grades appeared in larger volume than on any day this season. Nondescript grades remained steady. Practically all grades were sold for seven to 25 cents above support price. Top price continues to be 95 cents a pound for quality leaf grades.

Yesterday some 462,040 pounds were sold for $412,064.50 for an average of $89.18 per hundred pounds. To date, the Farmville Market has sold 8,930,761 pounds for $7,883,061, averaging $88.27 per hundred for the season, Williams said.

Red Tide Stops Shellfishing

BOSTON (AP) — Shellfishing areas from Gloucester to the New Hampshire line have been closed by the state because of the appearance of what is thought to be "red tide," algae toxic to fish and humans.

The closing was ordered Thursday by John C. Collins, director of the state Division of Environmental Health.

Special Items On Agenda For School Board

Three special items are on the agenda for the September meeting of the Greenville School Board to be held Monday at 8:00 p.m. in the Board room of the Administrative Office on West Fifth Street.

The special items are: a board decision on a course of action on the new proposed middle-junior high school site; a board review and approval of the professional personnel appraisal document; and consideration of lunch prices for student lunches in light of new federal guidelines for reimbursement.

Other agenda items for the meeting include regular ones on personnel, budget-finance and school facilities.

Annual Barbecue Sale Saturday

The Eastern Pines Volunteer Fire Department will hold its annual barbecue sale this Saturday, September 16, from 11 a.m. until 7 p.m.

Barbecue pork or barbecue chicken plates will be $1.25 each and may be purchased at the Eastern Pines Community Building, located just east of Greenville off the Washington Highway.

May Still Give Via Cannisters

Pitt County citizens who may have been missed responding to the United Cerebral Palsy appeal last weekend will contribute through coin containers in various business places, Mrs. Jane Davis, the campaign chairman reminded.

They may also send checks to the campaign chariman: William Ross, N. C. National Bank at Five Points, P. O. Box 1807, Greenville.

"It's not too late to give," Mrs. Davis said. "When you think of the 750,000 children and adults in this country with disabilities ranging from inability to use muscles to handicaps in speech, vision, hearing, and intelligence, you will want to take part in helping prevent this condition through your contribution, I know,"

Attica Riot SaidPlanned

NEW YORK (AP) — State Correction Commissioner Russell G. Oswald says in a soon-to-be-published book that he believes the bloody Attica prison riot was planned and executed by skilled, revolutionary inmates.

Oswald's view is directly opposite to the finding of the State Special Commission on Attica which concluded in its final report that the uprising which cost 43 lives was spontaneous.

In the book, "Attica — My Story," to be published Oct. 13, Oswald states that the rebels fought the swiftest and most skillful revolutionary offensive since the 1968 Tet attack in South Vietnam.

"They had manufactured literally hundreds of weapons (such as homemade knives, bludgeons, etc.) during what must have been weeks of supervised imprisonment. They had worked out an attack plan while in captivity under the eyes of our corrections personnel."

Tough Salukis Foe For Buc Home Opener

Last week, it was the inexperience of the East Carolina University Pirates against the inexperience of Virginia Military Institute.

This week, it's the slightly experienced East Carolina University Pirates against the totally experienced Southern Illinois University Salukis.

The Bucs gained a lot from their 30-3 victory over the Keydets last week, but they have a tough game awaiting them Saturday night in their 1972 Ficklen Stadium opener against Southern Illinois.

Quarterback Carl Summerell

Running Back Carlester Crumpler

The Salukis return 35 seniors to this year's team, including 33 lettermen and 16 of the 22 people who started for last years 6-4 club.

All of this tends to make the East Carolina coaching staff somewhat nervous as game time approaches. One of the few things that the Bucs can be happy about is that they have a game under their belts and this will be the opening contest of the year for Southern Illinois.

Buc head coach Sonny Randle was "pleasantly surprised" by his team's performance in last week's game with VMI. "Some of our youngsters grew up in a hurry," he said.

The Bucs had to grow up quick, expecially on defense. Throughout the first period, the Pirates turned the ball over to VMI on fumbles well within the shadow of the goal posts. But except for a 34-yard field goal, the Keydets was humbled by the Pirate defenders, who allowed only three first downs, one of them by penalty, during the first three quarters of play.

"I was scared to death over the fumbles," Randle said in referring to the three quick first period turnovers. "I felt I was responsible. I got the team up too high prior to the game and I feel this was what caused us to be overanxious."

Randle also felt that once the Pirates did get going offensively, they would be able to take control of the game, as they did late in the period when quarterback Carl Summerell tossed a record-shattering bomb of 83 yards to flanker Tim Dameron. After that, it was all Pirates.

"They didn't do another thing against us after that," Randle said. "The only time they were able to move the ball at all was in the final period when we had the second unit in there."

And even then, the Buc defense proved too tough when the ball got inside the 10-yard line, holding the Keydets and taking over on downs.

Randle was pleased by the play of Summerell, who has shown vast improvement since last season. He hit on seven of 17 passes for 162 yards and several of the incomplete passes were just dropped.

The coach also singled out the running of Carlester Crumpler and Les Strayhon, and the play of Dameron, who caught two touchdown passes.

But on defense, he had praise for the whole unit. "We played a lot better as a unit," he said. "There were 11 defensive standouts and to single out any one of them would be unfair to the others."

But the lack of experience by the Pirates did show up from time to time. "I can't fault their effort," Randle added. "The experience they got and the success we enjoyed has got to help the team."

The Bucs will have all their work cut our for them this weekend however with the Salukis.

"They are big and stong and physical," Randle said in reference to the first visitors to Ficklen. "I don't know how we can match them—on paper—both offensively and defensively."

Butch Strawderman

The Salukis return lettermen at nearly every position this year. On offense, they have seven starters back. The remaining four are all lettermen. Defensively, there are seven starters returning, plus one man moved over from offense. Only one of the remaining three is a non-letterman, sophomore Bill Crutcher at right tackle. Offensively, there are eight seniors starting, while the defense has six seniors.

Chief among the offensive starters are running backs George Loukas and Thomas Thompson. Loukas rushed for 1,052 yards last year and 11 touchdowns. Thompson has 641 yards and seven touchdowns.

Both can also catch the ball. Loukas pulled in 16 passes for 241 yards, while Thompson caught seven for 103 yards.

At quarterback is Larry Perkins, who saw only limited duty last year, but still managed 48 yards on the ground and 130 through the air. Randle compares him to Tampa's Freddie Solomon, rated as one of the best in the South.

"There are not too many like him around," Randle said. "He can run with the ball too. He's the type who can break a game open at any time."

Southern's staff claims the relative inexperience of Perkins and the lack of depth could be their biggest weakness, but Randle doesn't believe it. "They don't have any weaknesses," he said. "They all have experience, and they have all kinds of depth. They have everything you'd want."

The coach went on to point out that the Southern game will be one of the toughest the Bucs will have all year. "Their football program has changed a lot in the past few years. They have gone out and done something about improving it instead of just talking about it."

If there are advantages to having played a game as compared to none for Southern, and in playing at home, Randle feels that this will be more than offset by the fact that Southern has been able to scout East Carolina. "We saw them last spring, but a lot can change in between," the coach said.

It will be the fourth meeting for the two teams, who have split, each winning two in their previous meetings.

Three members of the Pirate team will definitely sit out the game. Terry Cumberworth, a starting offensive lineman, and John Williams, a reserve, were injured last week and won't be ready to go. Addison Bass, another lineman, has been lost for the season due to a pre-season injury.

Randle plans to start Mike Shea at split end and Stan Eure at tight end. The tackles will be Greg Harbaugh and Dan Killebrew, while the guards will be Greg Troupe and Fred Horeis. Jimmy Creech will be at center, while Carl Summerell will be the quarterback. Tim Dameron will be the flanker with Carlester Crumpler and Les Strayhorn as the running backs.

Defensively, the front four will be Robin Hogue, Joe Tkach, Kirk Doll and Buddy Lowery, while Butch Strawderman, Jim Post, Danny Keply and Billy Hibbs will be the linebackers. Terry Stoughton, Mike Myrick and Rusty Markland make up the secondary.

Game time in Ficklen Stadium is 7:30 p.m.

Rose Cubs Bow, 34-12

WILSON — Wilson High School's junior varsity gained a 34-12 victory over Rose High School's Rampant Cubs yesterday. It was the opening game of the season for the Cubs.

Rose dominated play in the first period, moving to the two yard line before Wilson held them in the period. It was scoreless at the end of the period.

Midway through the second period, on third and long yardage, Wilson unleashed a long pass that put them on the scoreboard. Shortly afterwards, Rose quarterback Mike Ball was injured and had to leave the game. A fumble later allowed Wilson to score again.

The Baby Titans scored twice more in the third period and once in the final frame.

Rose came back in the second half with Ball recovered, and picked up two touchdowns. Jeff Hagans scored the first, going over from four yards out, while Lindberg Morris scored the other on a 32-yard reverse.

Rose will open its home schedule next Thursday playing host to Jacksonville. Game time will be 4 p.m. at Eppes Field, site of all home games this year.

Roberto's Sure Now: Pittsburgh Will Win National's East Crown

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Now that the Pittsburgh Pirates are 15 games ahead of the pack, Roberto Clemente will go out on a limb.

Yes, he thinks his team will win the National League East.

"I think we'll clinch first," said Clemente after socking two hits to lead the Pirates over the runner-up Chicago Cubs 5-2 Thursday. "If we don't do it in St. Louis, I think we'll do it in New York."

It's a good bet that the runaway Pirates will win their third straight division pennant in one of those two cities within the next week or so. Any combination of Pittsburgh victories or Chicago losses totaling three will secure the title.

While the Pirates roared toward another pennant by slashing their "magic" number to three, Clemente himself zeroed in on a personal magic number—the 3,000 career hit level.

Clemente collected eight hits as the Pirates swept a three-game series from their closest competitors and now is 14 shy of the 3,000-hit plateau.

In Thursday's other National League games, the Houston Astros defeated the San Diego Padres 10-6 and the St. Louis Cardinals turned back the Montreal Expos 6-2.

Only two games were played in the American League Thursday night. The Milwaukee Brewers nipped the Cleveland Indians 4-3 in 15 innings and the California Angels beat the Texas Rangers 4-0.

The AL East race picks up steam again tonight after a day of rest. New York and Baltimore, tied for third place 1½ games off the pace, start a three-game series in Yankee Stadium while the first-place Boston Red Sox host the Cleveland Indians and the second-place Detroit Tigers, one game behind, visit Milwaukee.

Winning Pirate pitcher Bob Moose gave up only three hits before being literally knocked out of the box. Moose left the game in the seventh inning when Jose Cardenal ripped a single off the pitcher's right hand. Ramon Hernandez finished for the Pirates.

The Astros kept their flickering hopes alive in the NL West with their triumph Thursday. They picked up a half-game on idle Cincinnati and now trail the front-running Reds by seven games.

Trailing 5-0 after a five-run Padre outburst in the top of the third inning, the Astros came back with six runs in their half in a rally keyed by Tommy Helms and Rich Chiles. Each knocked in two runs with singles.

Bob Gibson notched his 16th victory with a seven-hitter to lead St. Louis over Montreal.

George Scott raced home with the winning run when Cleveland catcher Jerry Moses threw wild past third on a pick-off attempt in the 15th inning to give Milwaukee its victory over the Indians. The marathon affair lasted four hours and 31 minutes.

Jones Goes For New Duke Mark

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Steve Jones, Duke's workhorse tailback, needs only five yards to set a career rushing record for the Blue Devils, who play the Washington Huskies Saturday in Seattle.

His 82 yards against Alabama brought his total to 1,797 yards. The record of 1,801 yards was set by Jay Calabrese in the 1965, 1966 and 1967 seasons.

The Duke squad flew to the West Coast Thursday to give the players time to adjust to the three-hour time difference, and get in a work out this afternoon in Huskie Stadium.

Two other atlantic Coast Conference football teams, North Carolina State and Wake Forest, meet intersectional opponents Saturday.

The North Carolina State Wolfpack polished its kicking game and reviewed offensive assignments Thursday as it tapered off for its home game against Syracuse.

Wake Forest finished preparations for the game at Southern Methodist with a light work out which included drill on recognition of SMU offensive and defensive formations. The team left for Dallas today.

North Carolina emphasized defense against the passing of Maryland's Al Neville. Coach Bill Dooley told his squad that the throwing of Neville to receivers Frank Russell and Jamie Franklin was deadly.

Maryland Coach Jerry Claiborne was pleased with the Terps' knowledge of the game plan for the home opener. But he said the squad still lacked the mental toughness and concentration he was looking for.

Virginia's regular quarterback, Harrison Davis, is doubtful for the home game against Virginia Tech because of a shoulder separation. George Allen Jr., a transfer from UCLA, ran the first unit during drills.

Tough Games On Slate For Panel

Last week's games didn't present too much of a challenge to our panel of experts, but this week's may find them all wishing for better things.

The 12 games on the chart this week constitute some real toughies. There are only a few that seem to be clear-cut, while most appear to be toss-ups. In some cases, the panel reveals that, while in others they all hang together.

First however, a look at the high school games of the area.

Robersonville plays host to Aurora in a key Tobacco Belt Conference game. The Eagles are still winning, but Aurora may be their biggest stumbling block toward another title. The winner of this one will likely win the championship. We'll stick with Robersonville.

Southern Nash visits Farmville Central. The Firebirds appear to be among the elite of the conference, while for the Jaguars, this is definitely a rebuilding year. Southern Nash is the pick here.

Ayden-Grifton, another of the teams on top of the league, visits Conley in a key game. The Chargers thrashed Conley last year and the Vikings may pull out some extra incentive to win this one. But the Chargers must be the favorites.

Eastern Wayne visits North Pitt in another Eastern Carolina League game. The Panthers badly need a victory to prove to themselves that they can play with anyone. But it isn't likely to come this weekend.

Southern Wayne is at Greene Central in another important contest. Southern and Greene both lost last weekend and lost their role as favorites in the Eastern Carolina. Now they have to win to stay in the race. The Rams may be halted by injury, and we pick Southern.

Williamston plays host to Scotland Neck in an Albemarle Conference game. The Tigers appear to be rolling along well now, and we'll go with them to take this one.

Now, for the panel's choices.

First, Rose plays host to Wilson Fike in a very important game. Wilson is the league's favorite, and is unbeaten. The Rampants come in without a loss, too, and they haven't been scored on. It looks like a dream game for the spectators, and it could be a real corker.

Our pick, by a five to one ballot, is Wilson. Tradition dies hard.

Then, turning to the East Carolina home opener with Southern Illinois, there is much to consider. The Bucs looked pretty good in winning over VMI, but Southern is a tougher team. But they haven't played, and this must count too, along with the so-called "home field" advantage.

Our choice, by a four to two vote, is Southern Illinois.

The current standings: Peele and George Holland, 9-2; Jack Whichard, John Trotman, and Sandra Spivey, 8-3; Tom Baines, 7-4.

The rest of the poll follows:

Peele	Spivey	Trotman	Holland	Baines	Whichard

Davidson-VMI Clash Could Be For Southern Conference's Basement

By MARSHALL JOHNSON
Associated press Writer

As proud as he is of his own team's performance in defeat last week, Davidson Coach Dave Fagg isn't about to claim a victory when his Wildcats play at Virginia Military Institute in one of two Southern Conference football games Saturday.

Fagg's Wildcats went down to a 26-20 defeat at the hands of Wake Forest last week in a game that could have gone either way, while the Keydets took a 30-3 drubbing from East Carolina's Pirates.

"VMI is much better than that," says Fagg. "They had two or three missed chances early and wereplaying what I consider one of the top two or three teams in the conference."

Most observere—and the league's coaches too—feel the Davidson-VMI clash is for the conference basement. VMI has lost 11 straight since beating Davidson in last year's season opener, while the Wildcats didn't win a league game in 1971.

A more crucial game is on tap Saturday night when the Citadel's Bulldogs invade Appalachian State, which is eligible for the league championship for the first time this year.

The Citadel, which dropped its opener last week 13-0 to Clemson, is rated the top threat to defending champion Richmond in the conference race. Appalachian, which opened with a 7-6 victory over Western Kentucky, is ranked as a dark-horse contender.

The four other league teams have dates against nonleague foes.

Richmond's Spiders, who lost 28-18 to North Carolina, will be at West Virginia, and William and Mary's Indians, who trounced Furman's Paladins 31-7, will meet Navy in afternoon games. Night action has Furman playing host to Presbyterian and East Carolina to host against southern Illinois.

Scotty Shipp, who came off the bench to complete 14 of 22 passes for 232 yards and two touchdowns in Davidson's loss to Wake Forest, will start at quarterback for the Wildcats.

"He went into the Wake forest game and did what we wanted, says Fagg. "He had a fantastic game, especially in view of the fact that he had been sick and lost a lot of weight."

Fagg also expects big things of running backs John Webel, who had 98 yards on 23 carries, and David Gold, who had 73 yards on 10 carries that included a 55-yard scoring run.

The Keydets will try to match Shipp with sophomore Tom Schultke, who wound up with 10 completions in 16 attempts for 131 yards. VMI will be in trouble, however, if senior running back Mac Howman—who carried only three games because of an ankle injury—isn't healthy.

To coach Red Parker of The Citadel, the game at Appalachian State "is the most important game we'll play this season" because the Bulldogs will be seeking their first victory, it's their first league game and it's Appalachian's first coanting conference scrap.

Appalachian coach Jim Brakefield says the Mountaineers will have to be ready against All-Southern Harry Lynch of The Citadel, who "may be the best quarterback we'll face this season." But Brakefield feels his team will "move the ball a lot better" than last week.

Despite last week's defeat, Richmond coach Frank Jones says "I know that we have a good football team." He feels the Spiders, inexperienced at some points, will have to eliminate mistakes to compete with West Virginia.

William and Mary showed a offense and an improved defense last week and will be catching Navy in its opening game. The Indians last met the Middies five years ago and at that time scored their first victory over Navy in 25 years.

Top Games For NFL's Openers

By BEN THOMAS
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The schedule-makers of the National Football League came up with some dillies for the opening Sunday of the 1972 campaign.

There's the battle between Kansas City's Chiefs and Miami's Dolphins, first meeting of the two teams since last December's long sudden-death playoff game, which the Dolphins won on Garo Yepremian's field goal.

And Pittsburgh, which is expected to shine in the American Conference's Central Division, has always-tough Oakland as its initial foe.

Then, just to keep things hopping, and make it tough for pickers, there's the Monday night game featuring the rejuvenated Redskins from Washington against the Minnesota Vikings.

Enough of the preliminaries. It's time to do or die as the NFL gets down to the business of deciding who'll wind up in Super Bowl VII. Here's how the Fearless Football Forecaster calls them:

Pittsburgh 27, Oakland 21—This is a pick-it game where the action is, but Terry Bradshaw should outduel Daryle Lamonica, and have a wide enough margin at the end that the Raiders can't win on a George Blanda field goal.

Kansas City 24, Miami 21—The Chiefs have been waiting for this one. So has Miami. But Len Dawson will prevail, because the Chief's defense will stop Bob Griese and the Dolphin runners just enough.

San Francisco 31, San Diego 28—Or it could be a tie. With John Brodie throwing for the 49ers and John Hadl performing the same feat for the Chargers, there will be offense for all. But Brodie will be the best.

Atlanta 21, Chicago 7—The Falcons, so says Coach Norm Van Brocklin, have their best outfit ever. This isn't a true test of the Dutchman's forecast because the Bears have nothing but memories with the exit of Gale Sayers.

Cincinnati 21, New England 14—The Bengals have a healthy Virgil Carter and he's got a line to protect him. Jim Plunkett of the Patriots doesn't have one.

Cleveland 17, Green Bay 14—The Browns have a fine running corps in Leroy Kelly and Bo Scott. The Packers counter with MacArthur Lane and John Brockington. Cleveland, however, can also mount an aerial attack.

Denver 30, Houston 27—this marks the debut of two more college coaches to the pro ranks, the Brancos' John Ralston and the Oilers' Bill Peterson. The home stadium should provide the margin here.

Los Angeles 30, New Orleans 20—Roman Gabriel will riddle the New Orleans secondary and when he gets tired, Willie Ellison can lug the ball. Archie Manning may have to get some help from backup quarterback Edd Hargett when he tires from his scrambling.

Detroit 35, New York Giants 17—the Lions will roar with Greg Landry at the throttle and Steve Owens gobbling up yardage on the ground. The first game of a long season for the Giants.

New York Jets 26, Buffalo 18—Broadway Joe is healthy and so are the Jets. Buffalo has O. J. Simpson. No contest here.

Dallas 42, Philadelphia 14—Figuring the Eagles for two touchdowns is probably over generous. Craig Morton won't have any problems this time and the Cowboys will win big.

Baltimore 28, St. Louis 21—Johnny Unitas is at the controls for the Colts. The Cardinals will run the ball. But the Colts will move it both on the ground and in the air.

Washington 21, Minnesota 20—The upset special of the week. Last-quarter heroics by Sonny Jurgensen will pull it out for the Redskins.

Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Kansas City Given AFC Favorites' Role

By BEN THOMAS
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A good way to describe the division races in the National Football League's American Conference this year is to call them lively.

It might be better to call them torrid:

There will be down-to-the-wire battles for division championships in the East, Central and West and when it's all over the winners, at least in this fearless forecaster's peerless prognostication, will be: Baltimore, Pittsburgh and Kansas City.

The Miami Dolphins and the New York Jets will fight Baltimore's Colts tooth-and-nail in the East and if Johnny Unitas doesn't remain healthy, it's good bye Colts.

Cincinnati will make it tough for the Steelers in the Central Division but Pittsburgh shall overcome. And the Oakland Raiders as well as the San Diego Chargers will challenge Kansas City's Chiefs all the way. The San Diego Chargers?

Yes, the Chargers should be the surprise team in pro football this season.

So, with considerable trepidation, here's how this crystalball gazer, sees the final standings:

East Division
Baltimore Colts
Miami Dolphins
New York Jets
New England Patriots
Buffalo Bills

Central Division
Pittsburgh Steelers
Cincinnati Bengals
Cleveland Browns
Houston Oilers

West Division
Kansas City Chiefs
Oakland Raiders
San Diego Chargers
Denver Broncos

There are many reasons why Baltimore shouldn't win in the East. And just as many reasons why the Dolphins should.

But it will all boil down to desire—the desire of Johnny U to go out in a blaze of glory. And that's why the Colts should represent the East Division in the playoffs.

There's no argument about Miami's prowess—Bob Griese at quarterback, along with runners such as Jim Kiick, Larry Csonka and Mercury Morris, plus the pass-catching abilities of Paul Warfield. And the Miami defense is going to be better.

So why Baltimore? Strictly a visceral pick.

The Jets, if Joe Namath stays healthy, may make it mighty interesting in the East. This will not be the year for either the Buffalo Bills or the New England Patriots. But both teams may cause some grief later in the season. The Pats have fast-maturing Jim Plunkett at quarterback and the Bills could be awfully dangerous once they get some bodies to go with O.J. Simpson.

This is going to be the year of the Steelers in the Central Division. Coach Chuck Noll has molded Pittsburgh, which has never won a pro football title, into a potentially explosive club.

Pittsburgh's Terry Bradshaw should live up to his college nom de guerre, The Rifleman, this season, his third as a pro. The golden-haired thrower, once the national schoolboy javelin record-holder, has an able pass-catching corps in Ron Shanklin and Dave Hunt, plus Preston Pearson and John Fuqua to lug the ball on the ground.

The defense is young but growing up rapidly.

If Paul Brown had a Terry Bradshaw, the Bengals might go all the way in the Central Division. He doesn't. But Cincinnati will improve greatly over its 1971 showing with quarterback Virgil Carter back in shape. And the Bengals have a rookie defensive back, Tommy Casanova, who'll be making himself heard for years to come.

The Cleveland Browns and the Houston Oilers will field teams in the Central Division. They'll each win a few games, but lose many more.

When it comes time for the AFC to send its representative to the Super Bowl, Kansas City should be making the trip.

The Chiefs must first survive another dogfight with Oakland in the West Division. And this time San Diego will threaten.

The key to the Chiefs' success will be Len Dawson. He's older and wiser, but also more susceptible to injuries. The Kansas City defense will continue as one of the best in the entire NFL.

Oakland's forte has always been a strong offense. A healthy Daryle Lamonica can put a lot of points on the board. And there's always George Blanda to provide more heart-stopping action in the waning seconds and give the Geritol Set something to crow about.

Had Duane Thomas reported to the Chargers, this team could really do something. Even without Thomas, San Diego's offense under John Hadl will more than hold its own. Harland Svare, the Charger coach, has plugged up the defense with a solid line anchored by Deacon Jones and Lionel Aldridge.

The Denver Broncos have Floyd Little ... but little else.

Who's going to make the bourbon when the bourbon makers aren't making bourbon anymore?

Right now, there's more where that came from.

Hello Social Security, goodbye bourbon.

That's the problem.

We can buy more wheat. More corn. More rye. But we can't buy men with 30 years of bourbon experience. And we can't make bourbon without them.

Jimmie Lee Mason will retire. He's had 29.

Who will know how to look at a wagon full of corn and say "buy it" or "forget it"?

Sam Tierney will retire. He's had 38.

Who will have the gift of mixing seventeen batches of five-summer bourbons into one?

We're worried.

So we're training men to take over.

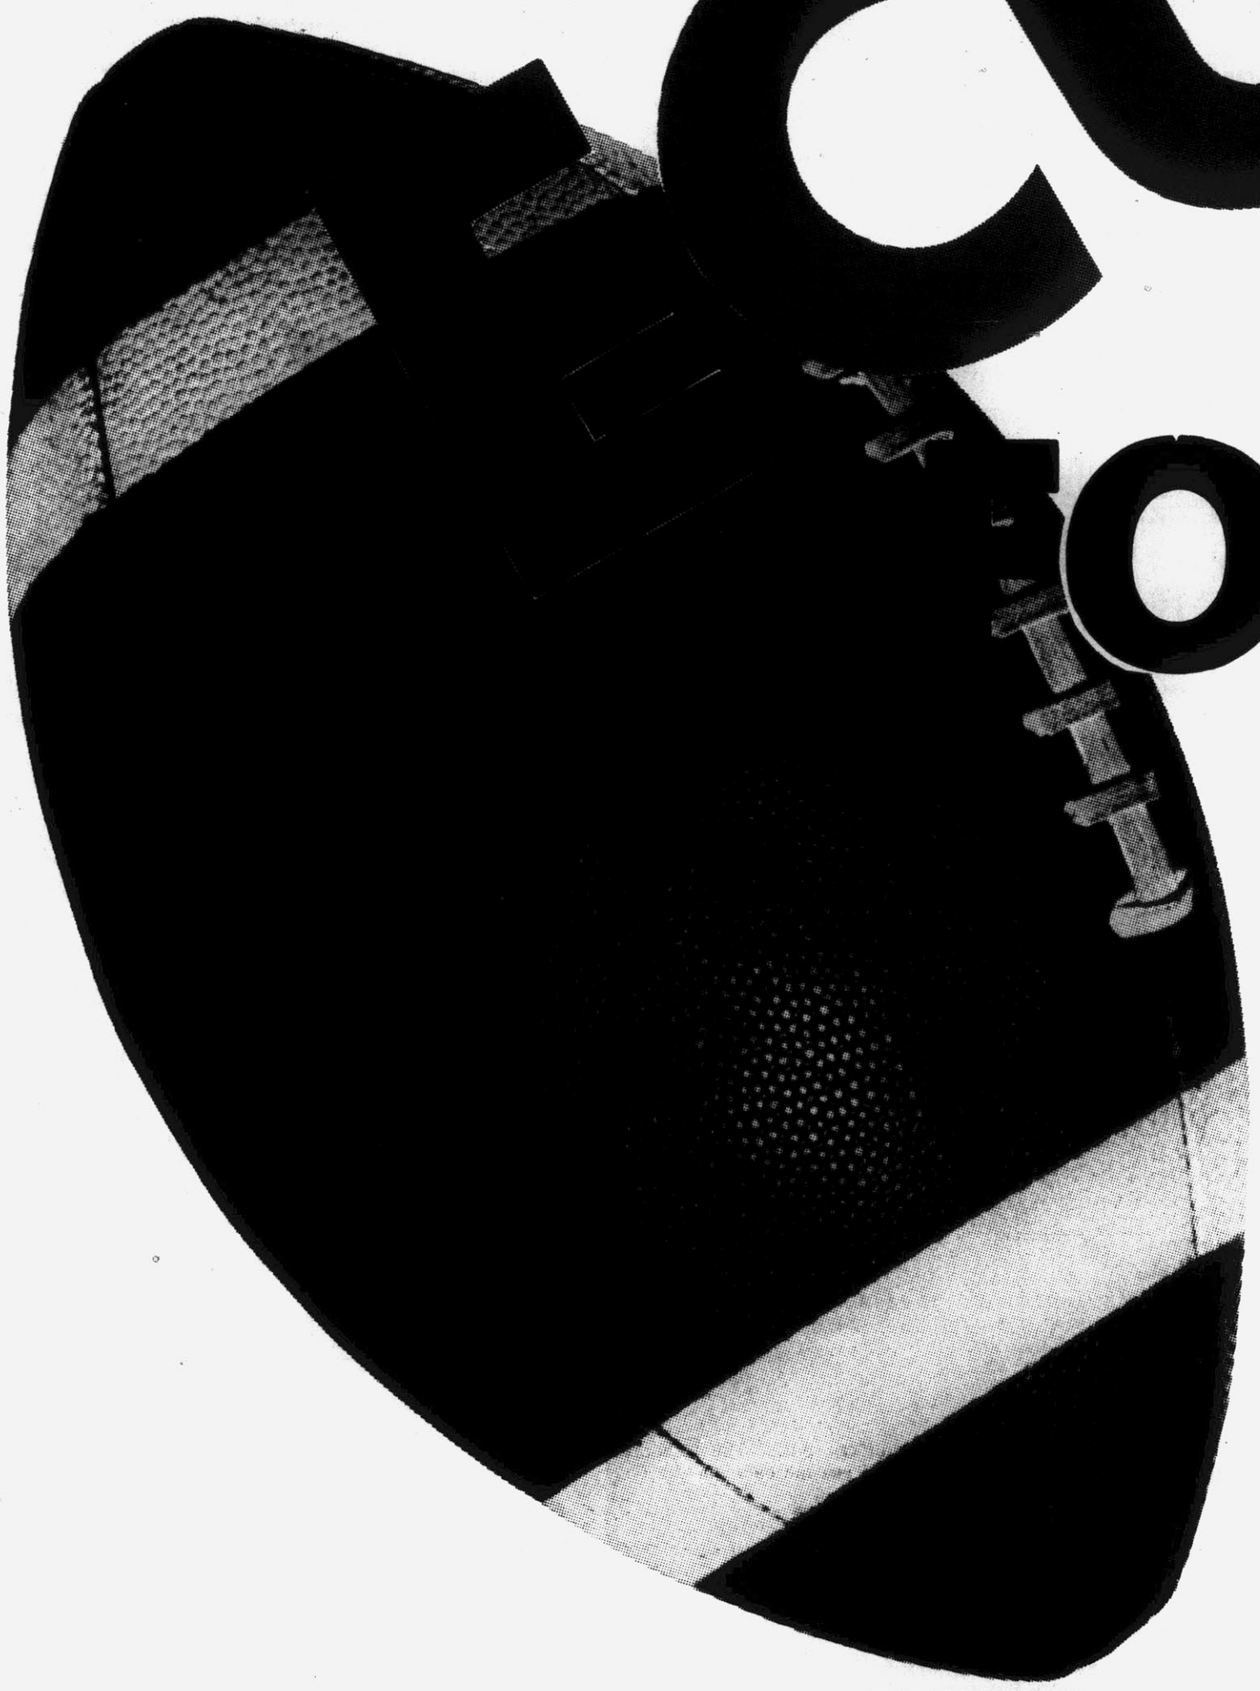

Right now, our bourbon is the best bourbon money can buy.

And we intend to keep it that way. $10.45 Half Gallon

'The Waltons' Face An Uphill Fight; A Sleeper

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Waltons" of CBS have begun their rural Thursday night life on a brave note: they face top-rated city slickers on ABC's "Mod Squad" and NBC's "Flip Wilson Show."

The bucolic delegates from mythical Jefferson County, Va., would have an uphill fight even if they didn't live in the Blue Ridge Mountains. Their opening show had no shooting, fighting or other natural disasters, no song numbers, funny monologues or Geraldine.

And they live in television's version of the Great Depression era.

Despite all this, "The Waltons" may prosper in the weekly ratings. It's a quiet, gentle show about the same kind of farming family, a sort of hard-times "Bonanza" without a .45.

And it nicely catches the Thirties' flavor in big and little ways—the dusty Model A truck, the copy of "Liberty" at the general store, the guy who drives up to the gas pump and orders two gallons instead of a full tank.

Unfortunately, its initial plot was equally aged, a variation on the theme of the unwanted baby left on the front doorstep. This time it was a six-year-old deaf girl found abandoned on the cellar doors.

Naturally, the Walton family—11 strong—takes the waif to its collective heart, despite initial misgivings by John Walton (Ralph Waite), the head of the clan.

The acting, however, was uniformly good and the direction, at least in the first show uncommonly sensitive in spots—such as when the family gathers around the living room radio.

They chuckle at the rural antics of Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy. Then comes a sudden view of the congregation through the eyes of the deaf girl—the sight of people laughing in a chilling silence.

With better dialogue and stories, "The Waltons" could just become the sleeper of the fall television season. It's got everything else going for it.

A night earlier, NBC's "Wednesday Night Mystery Movie" began the season with the first of its trio of private eyes, George Peppard, cast as Banacek, the urbane insurance investigator of Polish descent.

The opening show dealt with a pro football player, insured for $1.5 million. He mysteriously disappears without a trace when gang-tackled in a game seen by millions of television fans.

But Banacek swiftly learns how the villains did it, finds them and retrieves the held-for-ransom grid star unharmed.

All things considered, it was somes pretty good tongue-in-cheek fun, brightened by the appearance of several pro football players, including San Francisco' John Brodie, who played an evil quarterback. Bud Furillo, cast as a sportswriter, brought quiet authority to his role.

"The Paul Lynde Show," which premiered the same night on ABC, regrettably appears to be one of those "Oh, Daddy" family comedy series. That is, it's the kind of show in which a teen-age daughter throws up her hands in exasperation once a week and cries, "Oh, Daddy!"

Lynde is a formidable comic talent, but he can't carry the show without better help from its writing staff.

Junior Samples In Court Today

CUMMING, Ga. (AP) — Junior Samples, star of television's "Hee Haw," is to appear in traffic court today to answer charges of public drunkenness and disturbing the peace.

Samples was jailed Aug. 25 when he went to the Forsyth County Jail to bail out his manager, James Gibson, who had been charged with drunken driving, he said.

According to Deputy Sheriff Norman Peppers, Samples was intoxicated.

"I told him he couldn't make the man's bond because he was incapacitated, and Junior blew his cool," Peppers said.

Samples said his opposition to the re-election of Sheriff Donald Pirkle triggered the incident. He had backed Carroll Tallant, an unsuccessful candidate in the Aug. 8 primary.

Nixon Backs Reducing TV Prime Time Reruns

LOS ANGELES (AP)—President Nixon has backed a move to cut the number of reruns on prime time television, saying unless networks act voluntarily "we will explore whatever regulatory recommendations are in order."

Nixon, in a letter to the Screen Actors Guild released Thursday, said he agrees with SAG complaints that the increasing use of reruns poses an economic threat to the television industry. He promised an investigation into the situation.

"I am convinced that in cutting the amount of original programming the TV networks are failing to serve their own best interests as well as those of the public," the President wrote Guild President John Gavin.

Nixon said he has instructed Clay T. Whitehead, director of the White House Office of Telecommunications Policy, to "thoroughly investigate the problem" with an eye to a voluntary solution by the networks before any "regulatory recommendations" are studied.

Whitehead said Thursday that the "spreading blight" of television reruns could be solved by creation of a fourth commercial television network.

"Creation of a new network may well be the only way to meet the needs of program diversity and audience choice," Whitehead told the San Francisco chapter of the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences.

"From what I've seen already, this will be a good profit year in the TV industry," Whitehead said. "I've also heard that the Hollywood studios are on the ropes — that at any one time there are many craft unions with 50 per cent to 75 per cent of their members out of work.

"It is not clear whether there is a relationship between either of these facts and the spreading blight of reruns, but this is a matter that requires some close scrutiny."

Whitehead said a study by Hollywood unions "hardhit" by reruns claims that reruns constitute 60 per cent of network prime time as a nationwide average. "This has happened slowly, but it is now getting to critical proportions," he said.

"I've read that the networks are working with a 44-week schedule, which contemplates 20 to 22 weeks of reruns, and this doesn't even take the summer weeks into account," Whitehead said.

"We are going to look at the rerun problem carefully and make our recommendations to the (FCC) Federal Communications Commission if necessary or urge the networks to take whatever action is deemed appropriate," he said.

Old Affair Can End A Romance

Frances was just ready for the wedding when tragedy struck! It was all due to her earlier sexual episode, plus a beer party in the fraternity house! So study this case and don't become duped. For a girl is usually regarded as the castoff when romance dies!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.

Case U589: Frances D., aged 20, is a sorrowful coed.

"Dr. Crane," she wept, "I am heartbroken.

"For I have been dating a wonderful boy this senior year.

"His name is Warren and he even gave me his engagement ring, so we had talked about getting married next June.

"Then something terrible happen.

"He got a new roommate at his franternity house, whose name is Bill.

"And when I was a sophomore, I dated Bill steadily.

"In fact, he gave me quite a rush, and one weekend he coaxed me to drive up to Wisconsin to spend the holiday with him at a motel.

"He registered us as man and wife.

"But we broke up afterwards and he then dropped out of college for a year.

"Now Bill is back and he blabbed about our affair to my fiance.

"They had been drinking beer, so maybe that was what made Bill boast about how sexy I was.

"He didn't know, either, that I was engaged to Warren.

"But Warren is old-fashioned and has now broken our engagement.

"Do you think I can ever get Warren to come back to me?"

Women's Lib

Women's Lib members try to prove that they enjoy equal rights with men.

That's malarky!

For men realize they can win any of a dozen girls to marry them.

But most women are lucky to get even ONE husband!

They know this, even though they try to deny it via their brash talk about "freedom" and "equal rights."

"But, Dr. Crane," they may protest, "a girl can get a lot of men to date her."

True enough, but how many will put a wedding band on her ring finger?

Even in Russian Communism, men chafe and demand "Private Property" signs over their wives.

And in capitalistic America, that it trebly true.

You girls might as well wake up to reality and stop being deluded by this "free love" fad that has been sweeping many college campuses.

Free love and "trail marriage" are not new innovations in society.

They are as old as mankind.

And they are eagerly adopted by men for their make it that much simpler for a man to have affiars without accepting the obligations of real marriage.

Moreover, a man may "swap dates" for a weekend rendezvous and thus trade off his current sweetie for a friend's paramour.

But the normal male does not do such things when he has placed a wedding band on a girl's finger.

"Wife swapping" is an abnormal trait of American males, as Frances is learning, to her sorrow.

She can still win Warren back to a wedding ceremony, but it will be no easy task.

For most men don't care to pay full price for used merchandise, unless the other man originally paid the similar price via a wedding.

Widows and even divorcees rate above single girls who cohabit with a man without his public payment for the merchandise via a marriage cermony.

Windows can thus win second mates easily, but that is not as true of castoffs from "free love" nests!

And the public usually regards the girl as the castoff after the breakup.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

EXTENDED WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR N.C.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
2 ♠	Dble.	Pass	4 ♣
Pass	6 ♣	Pass	Pass
Pass

Opening lead: Ace of ♠

North and South reached a reasonable contract of six clubs after West's preemptive opening bid of two spades. The so called "weak" two bid" is similar in principle to an opening bid at the three level, however the suit is usually six cards in length rather than seven.

North's double is for takeout and South's jump to four clubs designates a reasonable holding since a response of three clubs would sound forced and might be based on little or nothing. In this position, South cannot pass the double unless he expects to defeat the opponent's bid.

Once his partner showed signs of life, North felt warranted in contracting for slam since he had a wealth of controls as well as excellent distribution. The high level of the auction made scientific exploration difficult and it was reasonable to play partner for additional high card strength outside of the club suit so that a 12 trick contract appeared to be within reach.

West opened the ace of spades felling dummy's king, and he continued with the queen which declarer ruffed with the ace of clubs. The deuce of clubs was led to the seven to ruff South's remaining spade with the ten of trumps. The queen of clubs was overtaken by the king as both opponents followed suit to account for the outstanding cards in that suit.

Inasmuch as West was marked for length in spades, it appeared that the burden of protecting the red suits would fall on East and declarer decided to apply pressure against his right hand opponent. First he cashed the king of hearts, led over to the ace and then ruffed a third round in his hand as hearts appeared on each round, but the queen remained outstanding.

South led out his last two trumps, discarding diamonds from dummy. West discarded two spades, while East—in order to retain the queen of hearts—gave up two diamonds. A diamond was led to the ace and the jack was returned. When East followed with the eight, declarer went up with the king to drop West's queen. The nine of diamonds took the fulfilling trick on the deal.

Annual Reunion At ARC Sunday

The second annual patient-staff reunion of the Walter B. Jones Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center will be held here Sunday on the center's grounds.

U. S. Congressman Walter B. Jones will attend as "special guest," and Joe Byrd, chariman of the State Board of Mental Health, will be the guest speaker.

The day's activities, planned by a patient committee, will begin at 11:00 a.m. and conclude at 6:00 p.m.

Invitations were mailed to 2,316 alumni (persons who have been treated at the center during the past three years) and their families and friends.

Activities will include a picnic lunch, formal ceremony, and an "open forum" for family members and guests. Also, group meetings for patients (according to geographic areas) and children (according to ages) will be held. Costs of the reunion will be paid from registration fees of $2.00 for alumni and staff and $1.00 for each guest. Children under 6 are free.

"A reunion such as this can be a meaningful and motivation experience for both staff and alumni," Dotty McLaughlin, staff spokesman, said, "Also it can give each of us an opportunity to become part of the ongoing fight against alcoholism in our communities."

D.H. Conley HIGHLIGHTS

By MARY L. BRANCH

Hi! And away we go with another school year. Even though D.H. Conley's clubs have not been completely organized yet, students are getting their plans together. It will be about another week before all the club officers are elected, but this column will cover "clublicity" as it happens. Watch for it.

FBLA

Three of D.H. Conley's students attended the Future Business Leaders of America National Convention during the summer. They were Lorraine De Cuzzi, Steve Evans, and Bennie Thompson. At the convention, Mrs. Richard Nixon shook hands with approximately 1700 people.

The FBLA has two projects each year. One is for making money and the other is a service project.

The SCA officers this year are as follows: president, Glenda Denton; vice-president, Gwendolyn Suggs; secretary, Pam McLawhorn; treasurer, Phyllis Mobley; and inner-club chairman, Diane Cayton.

I'm sure they will do a good job for a fine school Homeroom representatives to the Council are being elected this week.

D.H. Conley Varsity cheerleaders are Beverly Little, Beth Hunsucker, Linda Cannon, Lorraine De Cuzzi, Diane Arnold, Deborah Mills, Loretta Adams, Sandra Carmon, and Brenda Mills, headed by co-chiefs, Cathy Phelps and Barbara Ward. The two alternate cheerleaders are Kim Kilpatrick and Barbara Carmon.

Parking Stickers

Students who drive to school this year must purchase a D.H. Conley parking sticker sporting a picture of our courageous-looking viking. These tickets can be purchased in the office for 50 cents after you fill out a form, registering your vehicle.

JROTC

One of Conley's outstanding educational courses offered this year is Junior Reserve Officers' Training Corp. The course includes instruction in drill, teaching techniques, ceremonial drill, manual of arms for infantry weapons, and various aspects of basic drill instruction.

ROTC also includes lessons in discipline, courtesy, and all phases of military tactics. If a young man is drafted, he will at least be prepared, and he will have gained knowledge which can help his educational progress.

A total of 1,000 four-year ROTC scholarships will be awarded army-wide. Scholarships are reserved predominately for males; however, 20 are reserved for females.

The two teachers for this course are LtC. Allen M. Applewhite and Sergeant William D. Shivers. We welcome these new teachers along with the others to D.H. Conley High School.

The VALKYRIAN

The yearbook staff, under the direction of Mrs. Barbara McLawhorn, is getting sales underway for the 1973 VALKYRIAN. This year's editor, announces that the desposit is $3.50 for the $5.50 book.

Good luck, Vikings, against Ayden-Grifton!

Ask Wearing Wigs In Drill

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Four Reservists asked a federal judge today to order the Army to let them continue wearing wigs to cover their long hair at drills.

U.S. District Judge James B. McMillan heard their complaint against a military directive that they get haircuts.

The complaint said they have been drilling with a unit of the 108th training Division in Charlotte for about six months, wearing wigs to cover their "modishly medium long fashion (hair), falling about their ears and in the rear about their shoulders." The complaint noted they spend only about 5 per cent of their time at military drills and the rest in civilian society.

The Army allows wigs of "neat and soldierly appearance" only to cover natural baldness or physical disfiguration due to accident or surgery.

The four are Revel Bellamy and Thomas Rudisill, each 22 and of Charlotte, and Michael Stroud and Richard Marshall, each 23 and of nearby Matthews.

They sought a preliminary injunction against the order for haircuts, and a temporary restraining order to allow them to attend drills without the barbering.

Flea Market On Saturday

A "Flea Market", sponsored by the Greenville Chapter of the Women of the Moose opens Saturday at the Moose lodge from 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.

Other organizations taking part are the Humane Society, the Pilot's Club, Woman's Club, Senior Citizens and the St. James Methodist Church Ladies.

Purpose of the Flea Market is to help finance various projects of the organizations taking part.

The Women of the Moose project is the replacing of draperies, a part of the redecorating program being undertaken by the Moose.

Door prizes will be given away at the end of the day.

Church Readies A Homecoming

Homecoming services will be held Monday through Sunday nights at Mount Calvary Free Will Baptist Church, with the Rev. E. L. Hardy of Brooklyn, N. Y. leading the services. The public is invited.

The church pastor, Dr. W. L. Jones, also announced a special trustee meeting to be held tonight at 8 p.m.

NOTICE OF COMMISSIONER'S SALE OF FARM LAND

Under and by virtue of an order of the Superior Court of Pitt County, signed and entered in that Special Proceeding No. 72 SP 127, and entitled "Helen G. Arnold (widow); Nannie G. Rouse and husband, J. B. Rouse, Petitioners, vs. Earline G. Phillips and husband, Zell Phillips, Margaret G. Stocks and husband, Edward A. Stocks, et al.," the undersigned Commissioner will, on Friday, the 6th day of October, 1972, at 12:00 o'clock, Noon, at the courthouse door in Greenville, N.C., offer for sale to the highest bidder for cash the following described tract or parcel of land, to wit:

That certain tract or parcel of land located in Grimesland Township, Pitt County, North Carolina, and lying on both sides of State Road No. 1764 about ½ mile southeast from State Road No. 1762, bounded on the north and northwest by the lands of Lizzie Williams, on the west and southwest by the L. R. Hardee-John Elks lands, on the east by Nannie Rouse land and the Virginia Hudson land, and beginning at a point in the center line of State Road No. 1764 in the line of the Lizzie Williams land and running thence North 19 deg. 30 min. East, 850 feet; thence running North 52 deg. 10 min. East, 204 feet to a point in Reedy Branch; thence running along the west property line of the Virginia Hudson land, South 6 deg. 40 min. West, 1108.8 feet to a point in the center line of State Road No. 1764; thence running along the center line of said Road, South 60 deg. East, 68.4 feet, cornering; thence running along the west line of the lands of Nannie Rouse, South 6 deg. 15 min. West, 2378 feet, cornering; thence running with the line of the L. R. Hardee-John Elks land, North 19 deg. 25 min. West, 2244 feet to a pine; thence running North 56 deg. East, 222 feet; thence North 69 deg. 50 min. East, 244 feet; thence North 60 deg. 50 min. East, along an old ditch, 163 feet; thence running North 27 deg. 30 min. East, 164 feet to the point of the beginning in the center line of State Road No. 1764, containing 33.5 acres, more or less, according to map or survey, entitled "Plan of Land Surveyed for Agnes Gladson Estate," by W. B. Duke, R. L. S., dated January 10, 1972, and being the land conveyed by J. B. Gladson to Agnes Gladson in remainder after the life estate of Emma Gladson by a deed dated September 17, 1923, and recorded in Book N-15 at page 41 of the Pitt County Registry.

Tobacco allotment under Farm Contract Serial No. G-5514; 4.1 acres (or 8954 pounds) tobacco base for the year 1972. Since no tobacco was cultivated on this land during the year 1972, the base tobacco allotment for the year 1973 only will be 7.7 acres (or 16,815 pounds), subject to any increase or decrease by the Department of Agriculture for the year 1973. Cotton, 3 acres; corn base, 3 acres.

Buildings located on said land: 4-tobacco barns; and 1-packhouse.

The successful bidder at this sale will be required to make a deposit in the amount of 10 per cent of his bid with the Commissioner as a good faith deposit pending confirmation of the sale by the Court.

This the 4th day of September, 1972.
R. B. Lee
Commissioner

Shortage Of Grain Cars

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina Agriculture Secretary Jim Graham is calling on federal officials and the state's congressional delegation to do all they can to help alleviate an "extreme shortage" of railroad cars for handling the state's grain harvest.

Graham sent telegrams Thursday to Transportation Secretary John Volpe, Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz, Interstate Commerce Commission Chairman George Stafford and members of the congressional delegation.

"An extreme rail car shortage in North Carolina has developed because of the largest corn crop in history," he said. "Also, disease and weather are causing our farmers to have to harvest the crop as rapidly as possible."

He urged the officials to do all they could to "prevent tremendous losses to our farmers and grain handlers."

The state's corn crop is currently estimated at 104.5 million bushels, about the same as the previous record crop of 1967. Hot, humid weather has brought on a complex of stalk rot diseases which is forcing farmers to harvest rapidly to save their grain.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Called Liar

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Bob Scott says Deputy Atty. Gen. Jean Benoy is a liar for suggesting that Scott attempted to influence two electric power rate cases before the North Carolina Utilities Commission last year.

"This is one time Jean Benoy doesn't know what he's talking about. I say flat out, he's a liar," Scott told reporters Thursday. Scott said the suggestion was based on circumstantial evidence and as an attorney, Benoy "ought to know better."

Benoy, told of the governor's comments, said: "Gee whiz, I stated the truth and I'll stand by it."

The exchange was touched off by two briefs filed by Benoy with the North Carolina Court of Appeals in an action aimed at striking down interim "emergency" rate increases totaling $26.1 million for Duke Power Co. and Carolina Power & Light Co.

The controversy involves an April 15, 1971 meeting between Scott and the five-man commission during which Scott mentioned that he had been contacted by several "responsible financial institutions" about the fiscal health of the electric utilities serving the state.

Scott said at the time, when the matter caused a controversy, and he repeated Thursday that he had not tried to influence the commissioners in their decisions.

In February, 1971, the commission had granted general rate increases to both utilities, but gave both of them less than they asked for. Within weeks after the Scott meeting, both Duke and CP&L filed for "emergency" increases.

Benoy, in his briefs, did not charge Scott with attempting to influence the commission's decisions on the interim rate requests.

But he suggested executive influence on the commission by stating, "Apparently, on April 15, 1971, the governor advised the commission of his concern over their recent decision" of February in granting the companies less than they wanted.

Benoy talked to Scott by telephone Thursday, but he would not disclose anything about his conversation with the governor.

Meanwhile, Utilities Commissioner Hugh A. Wells, one of the most outspoken members of the panel, said Thursday that the ratemaking process was explained to Scott during the 1971 meeting.

"He seemed entirely satisfied with the answer and that closed the subject altogehter," Wells said.

He said the meeting only strengthened his conviction "that Wall Street bankers will not tell me how to determine rates in North Carolina."

He said any communications to Scott from financial houses "were bound to be inspired by officials of the power companies operating in this state."

Wells also said the meeting had no effect on his decision in the interim rate cases.

Pilots Try To Save Civilians

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The Air Force's first Vietnam aces say U.S. pilots are going to great lengths to avoid hitting civilian facilities in Southwest Asia.

"There are no dikes targeted," said Capt. Richard S. Ritchie. "We have not even come close to a dike. We are after targets like bridges which affect the flow of supply to South Vietnam."

Ritchie, 30, from Reidsville, N.C., and Capt. Charles DeBellevue, 27, of Lafayette, La., told newsmen Thursday that U.S. pilots have gone to more trouble in the Southeast Asian conflict to avoid striking civilian targets than in any other war.

They agreed that present military policies are the quickest way to end the war. Both also said most American protests have lengthened it.

Ritchie became the first Air Force ace and the third U.S. ace in the Vietnam air war late last month, and DeBellevue scores his fifth MIG kill last Saturday to join the elite group.

"We found ourselves in the aerial combat arena," Ritchie said simply, "and we consider ourselves fortunate."

They were here for the 11th reunion of the American Fighter Aces Association, which opens today.
